SENATE VOTES DOWN BREWING, TAXING BEER

Balloting Not Significant; Gives Personal Views of Senators

THINK CAN BALANCE BUDGET WITHOUT

Retention of Four Tariff Items Is Predicted at Adjournment

WASHINGTON, May 18 (By Ken Clark, C P staff correspondent)—Voting 61 to 24, the United States senate decided this afternoon against permitting brewing and taxing beer of 2.75 alcohol content 24 cents a gallon to provide $500,000,000 for public construction to help the unemployed.

It was the first vote in the senate on beer since prohibition went into effect 12 years ago.

BALLOTING NOT SIGNIFICANT

The balloting, observers agreed, was not significant. If it represented the personal views of senators with respect to 2.75 per cent beer of four per cent beer—an amendment to permit the higher content had been previously defeated—it did not reflect the trend of sentiment throughout the country. One third of the senate must stand for re-election in November, but it is improbable that any of those who voted against the measure, presented by Millard Tydings of Maryland, would lose the confidence of the wets of his constituency. Had the vote been on a referendum to abolish or modify the 18th amendment or the Volstead act, which is the enforcement measure, the result would have been closer.

As it stands the vote obviously means the senate is convinced it will be able to balance the budget on paper without involving the question of prohibition. Tyding's controversial proposal came as an amendment to the revenue bill, and by-partisan forces pushing with all speed toward its enactment, were able to hold enough votes together to quash it without rouble.

RETENTION OF FOUR PREDICTED

Reaching the tariff provision of the bill—oil, copper, coal and lumber—the members debated for hours, particularly the oil question, as leaders took careful polls. Retention of all four items were predicted at adjournament tonight, with a vote due tomorrow.

In the brief lull between voting on the beer proposal and the resumption of debate on the much-disputed tariffs in the bill, the senate approved new taxes on brewer's wort and malt and a levy on grape concentrates.

The levy on brewer's wort was raised from the five cent a gallon voted by the house to 15 cents. Liquid malt, malt syrup and malt extract, fluid or solid, were taxed at three cents a pound.

The tax on grape concentrates was put at 20 cents a gallon, as voted by the committee, with articles sold as soft drinks or incapable of fermentation exempted.

POPE PIUS WARNS WORLD AGAINST EARTHLY EVILS

Lust for Worldly Goods Threatens Anarchy and Terrorism, He Says

VATICAN CITY, May 18 (AP)—Pope Pius XI warned the world today against greed, atheism, Communism and Nationalist imperialism, threatening anarchy and terrorism in this time of "spiritual and economical distress."

Treaties and conferences are in vain, he said, in an encyclical, unless "there triumphs moral law based on God and conscience." Speculators had caused much woe, he said, and from "so much economic distress" Communists and "enemies of all social order" profited.

The pontiff poured out the "bitter grief of our soul" over the "war on God and church," marching under the "Satanical banner" and using, he said, the modern inventions of the cinema, radio and phonograph to corrupt the world.

Tracing the world's evils to "lust of earthly goods," inequality of wealth and "nationalistic imperialism," he established an eight day period of prayer, penance and expiation, beginning June 3 and coinciding with the feast of the Sacred Heart.

SONS OF FREEDOM PROTEST TO THE HAGUE TREATMENT

Ask "Raise Your Voice in Name of Trampled Truth"

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 18—(CP).—Doukhobors facing imprisonment for nude parading have written to the press and various public organizations, including the "Anti-militaristic Bureau of the Hague", protesting against their treatment.

In a letter to a local newspaper the Doukhobors state: "It is a tragedy when one misunderstands another. And this is just what is happening today, without any cause whatever. Innocent people are being sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

"We know that the truth is bought on Golgotha and will ever remain there. We forgive everybody who has mistreated us. But when we come to our children and their mothers, this is where we stop and say: 'There is no excuse for civilized people to force others into conditions that they are not able to bear. The whole world has been aroused by the Lindbergh case. But what is going on in Nelson? This is worse than kidnapping—a drama full of man's inhumanity to man.'"

SEND CABLEGRAM TO THE HAGUE

Representatives of the Doukhobors have sent a cablegram to the "Anti-militaristic bureau at the Hague" protesting against their treatment.

"We Doukhobors—Sons of Freedom of Canada—appeal to you," runs the message. "Please raise your voice in the name of trampled truth. Seven hundred in jail. More than half already sentenced to three years' imprisonment. The same conviction awaits the rest—just for appearing nude in protest against brutality. Our children forcibly taken away from their mothers. Please take this matter seriously or you will be guilty before God and all idealists. Remember our struggle is truth. If you are brothers of some faith you cannot be silent.

"(Signed) SONS OF FREEDOM."

U.S. TARIFF TOO HIGH FOR CANADA TO ENLARGE TRADE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18 (CP).—W. L. McGregor, president of the Canadian chamber of commerce, today told the annual meeting of the United States chamber of commerce that in the face of existing American tariff laws there is no inclination on Canada's part to enlarge its trade with the United States.

Mr. McGregor said he was not entirely satisfied in his own mind that the commercial treatment Canada had been accorded at Washington was in conformity with enlightened business opinion in the United States with the present economic relationships between their country and Canada, he suggested they might make themselves a little more articulate on the subject.

MUNICIPALITIES RECEIVE $50,000,000 IN NINE YEARS

VICTORIA, May 18 (CP).—Disregarding services of which cities and municipalities have taken indirect advantage, provincial disbursements to British Columbia municipalities in the last nine years approximate $50,000,000, it was learned today by the Kidd committee on provincial affairs. The committee has commenced a study of the sums paid to the municipalities as part of a broader investigation into the status of all provincial municipal relations.

END OF STRIKE BELIEVED NEAR, AREA IS QUIET

Miners in Crow's Nest Expect to Return to Work, End of Week

COLEMAN, Alta., May 18 (CP).—Quietness ruled in the Crowsnest mining fields tonight, despite rumblings between supporters of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada and the striking miners who voted yesterday to form a separate union to negotiate with the operators.

Prospects of settlement of the strike and the return of 900 to 1000 miners to the pits of the International Coal and Coke company and the McGillivray Coal company mines, idle since the end of February were nearer with direct negotiations between the newly formed union and operators likely to start before the end of the week. The miners are expected to return to work under the agreement which expired March 31 last.

No date has yet been set for the hearing of assault charges against Carl Bellk, Pete Porunik and Jack Nakoff arrested during the fights that ensued at a miners' meeting yesterday.

Four hundred miners employed by the West Canadian Collieries Limited of Bellevue also out on strike in protest against working conditions, have taken no new steps toward settlement of differences, and the mine is still idle.

DE VALERA HOPES TO OBTAIN FINAL APPROVAL OF BILL

Second, Third, Fourth Section of Abolition Bill Come Up Thursday

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, May 18 (C P cable)—President Eamonn de Valera of the Irish Free State hopes to obtain tomorrow final approval of his bill abolishing the parliamentary oath of allegiance to the British crown. The second, third and fourth sections of the bill will be brought up for the third reading as soon as the dail eireann is in session.

The first section of the bill, providing for actual abolition of the oath, already has had the approval of the chamber. The other three provide for changes which will bring the constitution of the Free State in line with the purpose of the first section.

The second section, on which bitter debate is expected, provides for repeal of section 11 of the Constitution act which now says anything in the constitution which is repugnant to terms of the Anglo-Irish treaty shall be null and void. Official opposition to this proposal has been tabled in the form of an amendment which would maintain the treaty as a superior instrument of policy and preserve its legal status.

The third provides for a technical change in the wording of the Constitution act through deletion of six words "within terms of the scheduled treaty." The fourth section contains the full and short titles of the oath bill itself.

Proceedings Against Eight Communists Is Adjourned Until May 25

HALIFAX, May 18 (CP).—Adjournment until July 23 of habeas corpus proceedings in connection with the detention here for deportation of eight men held as suspected Communists; issuance of an order by the immigration board of enquiry that Frederick Zurcher, a newcomer to the country; and lodging of an appeal detention cells, be sent out of the against that decision with the acting minister of immigration, were today's developments in this city's experience as a clearing house for police activities in supression of the "Red" element.

MADRID, May 13 (AP).—Financial circles said today the Spanish government had approached the local branches of foreign banks in an attempt to arrange payment for the contemplated importation of 100,000 tons (about 3,733,000 bushels) of wheat.

The result of the negotiations was not known, but the government wants to spread the payment over periods of three, six and nine months, it was understood, the wheat to be bought from Canada, the United States and Argentina.

FRESH SPORADIC RIOTING BREAKS OUT IN INDIA

11 More Killed, 98 Injured; Checked by British Soldiers

BOMBAY, India, May 18 (AP)—Fresh sporadic rioting between Hindus and Moslems broke out in Bombay today, despite the presence of alert British soldiers, and before it was checked 11 more persons had been killed and 98 injured.

Thus the toll of the communal fighting, which has flared intermittently for five days, rose to 99 dead and 948 wounded.

British troops frequently opened fire to check occasional street battles. There was still some looting, but the authorities expressed confidence that they were gaining control of the city through the energetic action of the soldiers.

Three Ritchfield Oil Executives Given Sentences

LOS ANGELES, May 18.—Prison terms were meted out today to three Richfield Oil company executives, charged with stealing $1,000,000 and convicted of grand theft of $252,825, with indictments still pending for the other $700,000.

Clarence M. Fuller, president, was sentenced two to 20 years for theft of $130,325.

Raymond W. McKee, former comptroller and vice-president, was meted two sentences, each of one to 10 years, to run concurrently, for theft of $22,500.

Motion for new trial was denied by Superior Judge Leon R. Yankwith. Notice of appeal was filed.

Coast Fisherman Catches Weird Fish

CHEMAINUS, B. C., May 18.—A weird-looking sea monster with a head like a bull terrier, gills like huge ear flaps, and a neck as thick as a man's thigh, is the subject of the latest fish story here. It was caught by William Wilson while he was fishing off Bird reef recently.

So far the creature has not been identified by local residents or Japanese fishermen. It is said that it is not a wolf fish, as the latter has a dorsal fin the entire length of its back, and is of a different shape.

Four feet 10 inches long, Mr. Wilson's catch has a fan-shaped tail, no dorsal fin of any kind, and the side fins are imbedded beneath the skin, which is of a grey shade. The skin is covered with black leopard-like markings. It has been forwarded to the Departure Bay biological station for identification.

Old Unemployment Camp at Greenwood to Be Nudist Jail

VICTORIA, May 18 (CP)—The old unemployment camp at Greenwood, with accommodations for about 50 or 60 men, will be utilized as a jail area and made the temporary abode of Sons of Freedom now under arrest for nudist parading.

FORMER PRO MAT MAN TACKLES ONE TOO MANY, SEATTLE

SEATTLE, May 18.—The half-nelson's and hammerlocks which once served him so well as a professional wrestler in Canada, landed O. D. Lewis in jail here today as an alleged disorderly person.

When Lewis' 14-year-old son Sherwood refused to go to school, Lewis, pere, brought down the refractory lad with a perfect body-slam and kept him there with a "Boston crab." During the combat, however, Mrs. Lewis phoned the police. Patrolmen Otto Cameron and Pat Whalen hurried to the match. Lewis thereupon sought new laurels by making flying tackle at Officer Whalen, police reported later. The wrestler's technique failed, however, when Cameron subdued Lewis with a leather "sap."

DOUKHOBORS CAN NOT BE DEPORTED

Agreement of Government With Colony Prevents This Action

VICTORIA, May 18. — Numerous persons are writing to the newspapers to demand the deportation of law-breaking Doukhobors, but officials of the attorney-general's department explain that this is impossible. They said the Doukhobors had been brought to Canada by the Dominion government under an agreement which prevents their deportation. The undertaking cannot be broken, and covers all the colonists who entered the country at that time.

Their children, having been born in Canada, canrot be deported either. Peter Verigin, the Doukhobor leader, now in jail, is subject to deportation, since he came to Canada years after the original migration and is not protected by the original agreement. If Canada could deport the Doukhobors, the British Columbia authorities would have recommended this course long ago, it is said.

LOWER MAN 50 FEET ON ROPE TO RESCUE DOG

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 18 (CP).—A very mournful small dog who somehow got himself 50 feet below the rim of the upper Capilano canyon was the subject of a heroic rescue yesterday by Lincoln Shores, member of a gang of water board employees, who answered the distressed barking of the imperilled animal.

The dog was on a very insecure ledge of rock, 50 feet below ordinary human reach. Shores, the youngest and lightest of the crew, volunteered to be lowered by a rope, while his comrades held a tight grip on it from above.

Shores was let out into space with 150 feet of emptiness between his dangling feet and the swirling river below. Within five minutes he was back with the forlorn but grateful pup. He said he felt a bit as though he had had no breakfast as he was being lowered down.

DOMINION READY TO EMBARK ON JOINT LAND SETTLEMENT PLAN

EDMONTON, May 18 (CP).—The Dominion government is prepared to embark on a joint land settlement scheme with the provinces and municipalities to relieve the unemployment situation, according to a letter received by Premier John Brownlee of Alberta from Hon. W. A. Gordon, Dominion minister of labor.

Doukhobor Youths Find Apples Cause Gastric Hostility

NEW WESTMINSTER, May 18.—Six Doukhobor youths who arrived at the boys' industrial school at Coquitlam from Nelson on Monday night have found that "hunger striking" is not good for digestion, Superintendent D. B. Brankin reports.

The boys, who are aged about 18, participated in the Nelson hunger strike, and on being entrained for Vancouver decided they would try some apples.

"After such a long fast their stomachs were somewhat disarranged by the apples, and they didn't want to eat anything more for some time," Superintendent Brankin explains.

Doukhobor boys at the school now number 37, and are giving little trouble, the superintendent states. Since arrival of the six older boys, however, they have been more difficult to manage. These seniors definitely refused to work, stating that their crops, on which they labored this spring, are now being neglected, and that if they can not work upon their farms they will not work at all.

FIRES CONTINUE TO THREATEN MINING TOWNS

Elsewhere Quebec Fires Are Gradually Being Controlled

QUEBEC, May 18 (CP). — The situation at Noranda and Rouyn, mining towns in the northwest, was still serious, but elsewhere forest fires throughout the province of Quebec were being brought under control, the Quebec forestry service reported tonight.

Messages from widely scattered counties indicated improvement in the situation, with hopes that the fires would be completely extinguished within the next two or three days.

The department of forests was beginning to count the cost of the destruction. Reports showed that hundreds of families had been rendered homeless when flames swept over parts of villages, while property losses to farms and standing timber were estimated at well over $1,000,000.

More than 1000 fire rangers and volunteers were engaged during the day in battling flames, their task being anxiously awaiting in many places where it was feared that the fires might obtain a new lease of life.

FRESH MENACE

Faced with a fresh menace as bush fires flared anew in this district today, residents of Rouyn and Noranda resumed their battle to save the twin mining towns from destruction. The fires had apparently died down yesterday, and citizens had begun to breathe more easily.

The northern horizon was completely obscured by smoke and fresh alarm was felt as continuing westerly winds fanned the fires.

Meanwhile police continued their search for a man of alleged Communist leanings in connection with the fires.

NOTED CHEMIST AND MILITARY OFFICER DIES

VICTORIA, May 18.—Victoria lost a distinguished military officer and world-noted chemist today in the death of Lieut.-Col. John Albert Hall, aged 63 years, of "Longstone", Esquimalt.

Colonel Hall had been suffering from a malignant ailment for some time. Word of his death, although not unexpected, was received with deep regret by a wide circle of friends. His loss will be deeply felt in military circles here, where he was active.

Born in Blackpool, England, Colonel Hall, a gold medalist in chemistry at Owens college, Manchester, after graduating held a post as lecturer in this subject at the Manchester polytechnical school.

"They always find the answer to their prayers," he said.

ASSERTS DEAN PEACOCK URGED CONTINUANCE OF LINDBERGH DECEPTION

Curtis Voices Scathing Criticism Against Clergyman; Latter Enjoyed Newspaper Publicity He States

DEAN DOBSON-PEACOCK MAKES EMPHATIC DENIAL TO CRITICISM, STATEMENTS

Director of Public Safety Declares Learned Curtis in New York When Condon Paid Money to Supposed Kidnappers

HOPEWELL, N.J., May 18. (By Francis A. Jamieson, Associated Press staff writer, copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press).—The full glare of the Lindbergh murder hunt put John Hughes Curtis in a jail cell tonight and reflected new light on the activity of Dean H. Dobson-Peacock, his associate in the baby negotiations which the boat builder confessed he "faked."

But before he waived a hearing on a charge of giving false information and started toward jail in default of $10,000 bail, Curtis voiced scathing criticism of his Norfolk, Va., ally, who formerly served as a clergyman in Canada.

PEACOCK URGED CONTINUATION

Curtis wished to end the enormous deception, he said, on March 15 "because of my knowledge that the whole thing was untrue," but he said he "carried on because I had been continuously urged and encouraged by Dean Peacock, who was enjoying the publicity he was getting out of the newspaper stories."

At one time, Curtis related, the remark that should the "case break from another angle we can always say we were working on a clue," prompted the clergyman to add, "That's right, we can never get criticized on anything we did."

MAKE EMPHATIC DENIAL

At his southern home, Dean Dobson-Peacock made an emphatic rebuttal to this criticism, as well as the most important police statements regarding him.

Dean Dobson-Peacock said he was skeptical of the authenticity of the latest Curtis statement, and insisted "We did not even start the negotiations until after March 22 when we visited Colonel Lindbergh." Earlier he had unequivocally denied any knowledge of a request that Colonel Lindbergh put up money.

An incidental development was the phrasing of the preface to Curtis' latest statement to police, indicating the authorities were convinced the Lindbergh child was slain between 8 and 10 p. m. on the night of the kidnapping, March 1.

Another angle for investigation was provided by Charles B. Borland, director of public safety in Norfolk, Va., who said he had learned Curtis went to New York on the morning of April 2, the date that Dr. John F. Condon, another intermediary, tossed the futile $50,000 ransom to a man in a Bronx (New York City) cemetery.

"OKAY" OF POWER RIGHTS IS GIVEN WITHOUT QUESTION

Ontario Cabinet Accepts Hydro Electric Commission Bill

TORONTO, May 18—Without ascertaining details, the Ontario cabinet "okayed" a hydro electric power commission bill for $66,000 for "preliminary investigation and survey" of the Madawaska river power rites, Premier George S. Henry told the royal commission on hydro today. Included in this $66,000 was $50,000 which some months previous had gone to John Aird Jr. of Toronto.

Premier Henry told the commission he did not know who had collected Conservative campaign funds in 1929, and Homer Smith, Toronto real estate promoter, reiterated this. In addition, Mr. Smith refused to ascertain who had preceded him as "handler" for the party funds. In 1930, he said, he himself had looked after the party finances, but there was nothing to indicate who had handled them the previous year.

CAPTAIN ROBERT DOLLAR BURIED AT SAN RAFAEL

SAN RAFAEL, Cal., May 18.—Impressive funeral services were held today for Capt. Robert Dollar in the First Presbyterian church while 2000 persons stood outside and heard the services through amplifiers.

At the start of the services the chimes Captain Dollar gave the church played four hymns. The shipping magnate's favorite hymns were sung by the choir.

The body was taken to the family vault in Mount Tamalpais cemetery.

B.C. Still Without Major Bush Fires

VICTORIA, May 18 (CP).—No major bush fires have as yet been reported in the province this year, according to information obtained at the parliament buildings today. The record so far this year is 60, which is about one-third that of last year. A fire in a 160-acre tract near Cranbrook is reported under control.

Mud Slide Buries Fifty Laborers

TEMUCO, Chutin province, Chile, May 18 (AP).—Fifty laborers were buried alive today behind a curtain of mud at the entrance of Last Races tunnel near Longquinay, on the route of the new southern railroad through the Andes.

Eight hundred men sent to the mountain from Temuco were struggling feverishly tonight for rescue, but officiales held grave fears that all of the buried men were dead from asphyxiation or cold.

Loosened by the filtration of water, thousands of cubic feet of thick mud suddenly dropped into the mouth of the tunnel, cutting off escape from all the men inside.

Construction engineers said it might take 10 days to clear away the earth from the mouth of the tunnel.

VEN. ARCHDEACON GRAHAM SPEAKS AT JUNIOR HIGH

Addresses Students on Subject of International Good Will and Empire Day

PROGRAM SPONSORED BY LOCAL I. O. D. E.

Students Talk on Other Countries; Appropriate Music Rendered by Others

At the services held in the junior high school to commemorate Empire day, and at the same time, to foster international good will, Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham spoke on the subject of Empire day, following which, a program was presented by the students of the school.

Rev. Graham, in addressing the students, referred to the origin of Empire day. The observance of Victoria day, as it was originally known, was due to the efforts of Mrs. Fessenden, wife of clergyman of Ancaster, Ont., at that time. A tablet has since been erected at the church in Ancaster in memory of her earnest services. Later, it was suggested by King Edward VII that, due to the wonderful development of the British Empire during Queen Victoria's reign, the name be changed to Empire day, and that the observance be extended to all the dominions.

May 24, the Queen's birthday, was set as the date for this tribute. Mr. Graham referred to the fitness of keeping this date in affectionate and respectful memory of the great queen. He praised the members of the I. O. D. E., with which organization Mr. Graham has been in touch since the days of its inauguration. He quoted the following lines: "What should they know of England Who only England knows?" taken from Dudyard Kipling's "The English Flag."

Mr. Graham spoke of the great war as having been effective in reducing the insularity of people of the motherland, and in giving a better idea of the deep-eated loyalty of all the dominions. He stated that this formed a starting point for consideration of wider loyalties involved in world citizenship which the rapid development in means of travel and communication are forcing upon us with greater insistence every year. Poets and prophets, Mr. Graham told the students, had visioned the future development of a world neighborhood, and this was seen coming to pass in this period. An exaggerated nationalism, he continued, was one of the prime causes of the world war, which wrought such havoc to all nations and showed the detriment of such an exclusive nationalism to international peace and progress. This was recognized in the formation of the league of nations.

Mr. Graham pointed out to the students that their own school was itself a miniature league of nations, and that it would be interesting to trace the ancestry of all the members of his audience and to realize from what a varied national stock their membership sprang.

May 18 had been called Good Will day, but every day, the speaker emphasized, should be a good will day in which it was relized that the needs of each were the needs of all, and that in the world today, if never before, "If one member suffer, all members suffer with it." The true day of good will, Mr. Graham said, was Christmas day, and had been for many centuries. It was the day when angles sang "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men."

He emphasized the privilege and opportunity that the young people had today of realizing their true relationship to all others of whatever race. For all, Mr. Graham stated, in conclusion, irrespective of nationality, were citizens of the world and children of God.

At the conclusion of Mr. Graham's address, some of the students gave reasons why Canadians should support good will between their own and other nations.

In this connection Louise Denoreaz spoke for France, Gordon owell for the United tates, Harold Baskin for Germany and Austria, Brian Gore for Russia, Margaret Patterson for Italy, Lillian Auld for the orient. These short talks were interspersed with choruses by other students.

REV. MR. CRICK IS SPEAKER BEFORE HUME STUDENTS

Urges Moulding of Character That Will Benefit the British Empire

Empire day was an event of supreme importance declared Rev. W. J Crick, speaking Wednesday to the pupils of the Hume school, in connection with the day of goodwill fostered by the Imperial order Daughters of the Empire. He made a short survey of the British Empire, declaring it to be the dominant factor in the world history today. From 1763 to 1910, when the Union of South Africa was consuated the spread of the British people had brought into existence five self-governing Dominions. These Dominions with the Irish Free State occupied one-seventh of the world's surface.

The task of the people of this farflung Empire, stated Mr. Crick, was not only to develop new lands but to mould new stations. At this time of economic stress and world depression it fell to the lot of the British Empire to lead the world back to sane and healthy life.

Empire people must, emphasized the speaker, realize to the full extent privileges of a great brotherhood. The Imperial conference to be held soon in Ottawa should lead to a better understanding and future for the Empire.

Britishers should attempt to understand more the people outside the Empire. He urged his young hearers to build characters which would be a helpful asset to the Empire. Learning and games fitted the young for the great game of life which must be played according to the rules. In the building of chafacter he stated that nothing would play a greater part than religion. He closed with the quotation: "Honor all men. Love the Brotherhood. Fear Go. Honor the King."

Rev. H. W. Guscott also a speaker spoke upon the advantages of international goodwill and the part the Empire is playing in fostering this goodwill.

Arrangements have been made for similar observation at St. Joseph's convent with Rev. J. C. McKenzie as speaker. Owing to Father McKenzie being called from the city the gathering was postponed.

SCOUT BUILDING IS DESIGNED ON GENEROUS SCALE

Another Excavation Bee Tonight; Hold Membership Drive Saturday

Ground dimensions of at least 30 by 40 feet are now planned for the Scout building to be erected by the Nelson Boy Scout association on the site granted by the city at the Recreation grounds. Cedar logs, which are considered very appropriate for such a building, will form the walls, and it is hoped to develop certain accommodation in the basement. Here it is expected that quarters may be provided for a permanent caretaker.

Officers and members of the association, together with groups of Scouts, and assisted by the Toc H group and other well-wishers, will hold another working bee tonight, which will pretty nearly complete the work of excavation.

Saturday the authorized canvassers in the membership drive, who have been allotted their districts, will be accompanied by Scouts and Cubs in uniform, on their rounds.

Some interesting photos of scouting activities in the early days are on view in a Baker street window. These of the visiting of General Sir Robert Baden-Powell, when he made history for scouting in Nelson by inspecting his first troop of Scouts in Canada at this camp.

The number of person killed or injured in automobile accidents last year in the United States reached a total of 1,032,000.

Cotton picking is easy for the mechanical picker above, invention of George R. Meyercord of Chicago. The machine passes over the stalks, and all that are gathered in the opening in front are picked off their cotton bolls, as perfectly as human hands could do it, by a system of cogs. The picked cotton is then delivered to the container at the left. The machine is said to do the work of 60 hand pickers.

PETERSEN SUIT AGAINST, C. P. R. IS BEING TRIED

McMullen, Here From Vancouver, Conducts the Defence

RANCHER CLAIMS FOR FIRE LOSS

Surveyor Anderson Maps the Fire Area and Makes Loss Estimate

Taking of evidence in the action of Simon Frederick Petersen, Poupore rancher, against the Canadian Pacific Railway company, for damages for loss allegedly arising from a fire that burned over his place and that he alleges was of C.P.R. origin, was begun at the assizes here late Wednesday afternoon, before Mr. Justice Murphy. The plaintiff is represented by Donald MacDonald of Trail, while J. E. McMullen, the company's general counsel, is here from Vancouver.

Two witnesses only were examined before the afternoon adjournment, J. D. Anderson, Trail surveyor, and Reuben Krk, of the store at Blueberry.

BURNED AREA DESCRIBED

Mr. Anderson was examined by Mr. MacDonald at great length respecting a map he had drawn, covering the areas which Peterson told him were burned over on his property by the fire in question, the witness stating his only personal knowledge was fro mthe ruins of the buildings, or in some instances of prior knowledge of them, and from the appearance of weadow and other land burned over.

Traversing in detail all the buildings, implements, and crop areas destroyed or denuded, Mr. Anderson gave an estimate of the loss in every case, in general supporting the claims of Petersen as very reasonable. In a few cases he was below Petersen's figures, and in particular refused to make an estimate for timber losses, stating he did not consider there was any timber loss to amount to anything. The total claim of Petersen is in the neighborhood of $2000.

EYE-WITNESS ON STAND

Mr. Kirk gave details of first reporting of the fire, which occurred on April 23, 1931, Nick Sofonoff going to the Bluberry store at 11 a. m. to report, messages being sent to the foreset branch and to the C.P.R., both in Nelson. After attending to this, Mr. Kirk jumped on a passing Doukhobor truck and went to the scene of the fire, which was near mileage 7. He described the fire as he then saw it, and various areas on Mr. Anderson's map, that were affected. He was unable to speak of the timber, as the smoke obscured it, he told Mr. McMullen on cross-examination.

The case will be continued this morning.

HARMONY REIGNS IN HOUSE OF COMMONS AS RADIO BILL IS GIVEN ITS SECOND READING

All But One or Two Clauses Pass Through Committee Stage

REGULATIONS ON MOVE ELABORATE

Provinces to Have Something to Say About Program Selections

OTTAWA, May 18 (CP)—Harmony reigned in the house of commons today when the radio control bill was under review. Party lines were forgotten, suggestions and advice flew back and forth across the chamber and in complete unanimity, the measure was given second reading and all but one or two clauses passed through committee.

The bill would establish a Canadian radio broadcasting commission to control a nationalized system of radio. With headquarters in Ottawa and branch offices throughout the Dominion, the commission of three would regulate boardcasting through its own chain of stations from coast to coast.

Premier R. B. Bennet, sponsor of the bill, said it was designed to give Canadians a broadcasting system "not excelled elsewhere in the world." It would assure Canadian control of Canadian broadcasting, free from foreign interference or influence.

TENTATIVE SALARIES FIXED

Tentative salaries of $12,000 a year for the chairman and $10,000 for each of the two commissioners, one of whom will act as vice-chairman, were suggested by the prime minister. One commissioner will be French-speaking and one will be a radio engineer, possessing the necessary technical training. The commission, said Mr. Bennett should be composed of men "with an excellent appreciation and understanding of the value of broadcasting to the nation and should have some understanding of what is pleasing to the major part of the people of this country in the form of programs."

Indicating the harmony and cooperation that reigned throughout the discussion, the prime minister insisted that politics will play no part in selecting the personnel of the commission, suggested to the Liberals they present a list of men acceptable to them. A further indication of this unusual spirit came when the prime minister asked for suggested penalties for infractions of broadcasting regulations and adopted the proposals of Major C. G. Power, Lib., Quebec south.

PROVINCES HELP CHOOSE PROGRAM

The provinces, the prime minister announced, will have something to say over program selections.

Members of the commission must devote their full time to the work. They will be barred from having any private business ties, especially related to radio or broadcasting. Upon retirement, they will receive pensions. The chairman will hold office for 10 years, the vice-chairman for nine years and the commissioner for eight years.

With an eye to the future, it was incorporated in the bill that control of television and other scientific developments, also would be placed under the commission.

POPULAR WILL AND NEED

"Other and alternative systems may meet the requirements of other countries and in no case is it my purpose to comment unfavorably upon those systems," said Mr. Bennett. "But it seems to me clear that in Canada the system we can most profitably employ is one whose operation and control responds most directly to the popular will and the national need. In this stage of our national development we have problems peculiar to ourselves and we must reach a solution of them through the employment of all available means. The radio has a place in the solution of all these problems. It becomes, then, the duty of parliament to safeguard it in such a way that its fullest benefits may be assured to the people as a whole.

"Furthermore, radio broadcasting controlled and operated in this way can serve as a dependable link in a chain of empire communication by which we may be more closely united one with the other in that enduring fellowship which is founded on the clear and sympathetic understanding which grows out of closed mutual knowledge."

No other system of radio broadcasting can meet these national requirements and empire obligations. Therefore the parliament of Canada is asked to support the principle embodied in this measure.

"Secondly, no other scheme than that of public ownership can ensure to the people of this country, without regard to class or place, equal enjoyment of the benefits and pleasures of radio broadcasting. Private ownership must necessarily discriminate between densely and sparsely populated areas. This is not a correctable fault in private ownerhip; it is an inescapable and inherent demerit of that system.

SOUTHAMPTON, May 18 (CP cable)—A verdict of accidental death was rendered today by a coroner's jury enquiring into circumstance surrounding the death of the Earl of Egmont, former Priddis, Alberta rancher, who di , Monday from injuries suffered in an automobile accident. Viscount Perceval, the earl's 17-year-old son and heir, was not present at the inquest.

IT WORK SBOTH WAYS

OTTAWA, May 18—The cost of transportation is an important factor determining the profitable source through with special crops can be distributed, according to a report just received by the department of agriculture at Ottawa. Taking the early carrot as an instance. Eastern Canada imports its supply very largely from Texas and the British West Indies. The situation is reversed with respect to the Pacific coast area where British Columbia growers export considerable quantities of this vegetable to the Pacific sections of the United States.

Application Against Gas Board Regulation Be Decided, Thursday

CALGARY, Alta. May 18. (CP)—Application for an interim injunction restraining the Turner Valley gas conservation board from imposing conservation regulations on Turner Valley companies probably will be decided in court by Mr. Justice A. F. Ewing tomorrow.

Rejecting the contention of J. J. Frawley, solicitor for the attorney-general's department of Alberta, his lordship today ruled in favor of the applicants, Spooner Oils, limited, and said he would give a ruling himself instead of referring the application to the appelate division of the supreme court of Alberta. The crown contended the judgment should be given by the appellate division, but Mr. Justice Ewing said he would hear argument and give his own decision tomorrow and then the case could be taken to the appellate divisions.

Argument today was chiefly around whether Mr. Justice Ewing of the appellate division should give a decision on the application. During the hearing, it was disclosed that the Spooner Oils and Richfield Petroleums limited, also applicants to bar imposition of the board's regulations, were paying no attention to the regulations and were operating their wells same as usual.

Kimberley Softballers Beat Cranbrook Team

CRANBROOK, B. C., May 18—The Cranbrook soft ball team that went to Kimberley Sunday received two defeats at the hands of Kimberley teams, one by a very narrow margin and one by a very wide margin. The Chapman Camp Arrows allowed the Cranbrookites not one run, the score in that game being 11-0. In the later game with the Maple Leafs they fared better, losing to Kimberley by just one run, with a score of 12-11. This game was a tie at the end and two extra innings were necessary to make a decision. Cranbrook led through the earlier part of the game. Those playing for Cranbrook were E. Baken, S. Baken, Belange, Staples, Hall, Haley, Parker and Quick.

MRS MCADOW IS ACQUITTED OF MURDER CHARGE

Case Remains an Unaccounted-For Death; Quick Decision

VANCOUVER, May 18—With the acquittal in assize court this afternoon of Mrs. Elsie McAdow, 42, colored, charged with the murder of her 6½-year-old adopted daughter, Bernice, the death of the child on February 5 from poisoning remains a mystery.

The woman's husband, John McAdow, 57, colored, was acquitted a week ago of the crime.

"You are not there to solve a mystery," said Chief Justice Morrison to the jury of 12 men. "Let somebody else solve it; that is what detectives are for."

Seven minutes after they retired, the jury signalled that they were prepared with a verdict.

Although Sheriff K. B. Cochrane had previously warned spectators against any demonstration, repressed exclamations of approval and handclapping marked the verdict. Silence was restored after Registrar Aubrey Clark called "order." The gallery numberedy many colored people, men and women.

Mrs. McAdow slumped to her seat in the prisoner's dock on being apprised of the verdict, and was assisted from the court room by her husband, "Johnny Mack," and friends after her discharge was directed by the chief justice.

UNACCOUNTED-FOR DEATH

"It is according to the evidence an unaccounted-for death," said A. H. MacNeill, K .C., crown counsel; in an address, featured by its brevity

The poisoning was not from candy which the child ate before retiring to bed, contended Mr. MacNeill.

"How the poison got there I can't assist you," he said. "That is the position of affairs, gentlemen."

Taking the witness stand in her own defence, Mrs. McAdow stated that she had been married eight years. Because Bernice was not getting on at the Dawson school, Mrs. McAdow and her husband, as she testified, arranged to send her to Mrs. Beatric Robinson, colored, in Seattle, to complete the school term there. A week or two prior to the death, the mother, according to her evidence, paid $30 for an outfit of clothes for the child.

Bernice, she told the jury, attended a Sunday school for colored children on Jackson avenue.

At 11:40 p.m. McAdow arrived home (732 Drake street), testified the accused, who, as she explained, had been for some time in the kitchen cooking fish and talking to Mrs. Beatrice Gray, white, a boarder. The man then cooked the herring, which were left over, and after eating one, announced that he was going upstairs to clean his teeth.

Mrs. McAdow said that she heard him scream the name of Bernice twice. She ran upstairs and found the baby lying flat on its stomach and McAdow holding her head over a pail. As she looked, the head fell and some water ran out of the mouth. At first she thought the child was stomach sick; but soon realized that it was serious and ordered Mrs. Gray to call a doctor.

REQUESTED AUTOPSY

When Dr. T. K. McAlpine told her that the child was dead, Mrs. McAdow, as she swore, requested an autopsy.

Cross-examined by Mr. MacNeill, the accused said she was not jealous of the love existing between McAdow and his foster child. She stated that she could not account for the death, Bernice had no enemies.

"Have you any suggestions at all how the child came to her death?" asked Mr. MacNeill.

"I have not," she replied.

"I will tell the jury she does not have to account for the death of the child," commented his lordship.

In the course of a 25-minute charge to the jury, the chief justice emphasized the testimony of Dr. K. D. Panton, who had stated that death would have resulted in two to 10 minutes from the taking of the poison. Three and a half grains of potassium syanide were found in the child's stomach, which meant, according to Dr. Panton, that a larger quantity had been administered and the balance absorbed.

Wheat Quota Is Not in Producers' Best Interests

WINNIPEG, May 18 (CP).—Establishment of a wheat quota at the Ottawa Imperial economic conference would not be in the best interests of wheat producers, although sale of western wheat is of the utmost importance. This was the chief of six points agreed upon today at a conference of Manitoba agricultural interests called by Premier John Bracken to formulate Manitoba's views for submission to the Dominion government prior to the conference.

EGGS, INSURANCE SUBJECTS FERNIE ROTARY MEETING

Fire Chief Also Speaker; Canada's Egg Industry Grows

FERNIE, B. C., May 18—F. R. Bole, Dominion egg inspector told the Rotarians about eggs at their Monday luncheon.

He said that Canadians eat more eggs per person than any other nation. The average ism oee egg per day per person, while United States have only a half an egg per person to their credit. He attributed the large increase in Canada's consumption of eggs which has taken place during the last 10 years to the confidence that has been created through system of inspection and classification of eggs sold.

Dominion inspection of eggs commenced 10 years ago. There has been an increase of 20 million dollars per year in the value of eggs exported since the year when inspection began, till two years ago when the financial depression set in.

He advised housewives not to just order a dozen eggs and leave it to the grocer to fill the order, but to specify the grade required.

He said that people should now familiarize themselves with the different grades offered, so they could order precisely the kind needed. The local classified egg is usually better than the same grade shipped in. He liked to see the local product specified and classified in the stores for sale.

LIFE INSURANCE

Mr. McTeer of Calgary was also a visitor at the lunch and spoke on life insurance. He said that the first company to offer life insurance was formed in the year 1583. This company provided for and came to grief through early death of its policy holders. The oldest company in existence is a British company which has been doing business for 170 years.

He emphasized the reliability of all insurance companies and the provision for government inspection and regulation which has to be lived up to.

Pointing out the great volume of the insurance business, he quoted 112 billion dollars worth of business in force in North America with two billion six hundred thousand paid in claims in Canada last year, 100 million of which went to living policy holders.

Chief Crawford of the Fernie fire department attended the luncheon, also. He has just returned from the fire marshals' convention in New Westminster where he was made treasurer of the organization. The chief made the trip in his auto.

Th club had a hundred per cent attendance.

PROGRESS SLOW IN AGRICULTURE ESTIMATES

OTTAWA, May 18 (CP)—Agricultural estimates came before the house of commons today and Hon. Robert Weir, the minister, was the target for a barrage of questions and crossfire. Progress was slow and punctuated by criticism of government policies.

Hon. James Malcolm, former minister of trade and commerce, advocated an agricultural commission patterned after the Canada wheat board, to market products. Every possible assistance should be given, he said, to induce the producer to grade and prepare his goods.

What a figure . . . but what a skin!!

By Julia Foster*

So much beauty wasted by failure to heed a few words of expert advice! Tragic!

WHY "tragic"? Because there are so many cases just like hers. Because no one needs to have an unsightly skin. You don't. Your complexion can be kept lovely, youthful.

Beauty experts tell how: Simply, twice a day, apply to face and throat a generous lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water. Work well into the pores with your hands. Then rinse thoroughly with warm water, and finish with a cold rinse. Hot water should never touch your face. After this, in the morning, your make-up. At night, if your skin is dry, follow with oil or tissue cream.

For this foundation cleansing, more than 20,000 beauty experts have specified Palmolive.

*Julia Foster has interviewed over 2,600 beauty experts in the past two years.

INSTALMENT XXII

"I don't know, Uncle James," she said slowly. "I don't want to be a nuisance. I realize that you are all being just as kind as you possibly can, but I feel stupid, somehow. I can't even really think. I don't know what I want, but I suppose that feeling will pass. I know I can't just sit down and wait and do nothing. I know it does no good either to myself or to Feodor, but I wish there wasn't any necessity to decide." A sudden quiver of emotion ran through her voice at the last word," a sudden break. "It's all so useless—" she cried—"so utterly, hideously useless!" and then, springing from her seat, she walked across the floor and out of the room.

For a minute or two there was silence, then her uncle spoke.

"It's true enough, Alice," he said. "She's borne it marvellously. After all it isn't only the fact that the man she loves is in prison for life. That's bad enough, but it has happened just on the eve . her marriage. It's her whole life—she was very deeply in love with him, you say?"

Lady Alice nodded, hardly able to speak.

"Very deeply in love. I knew that Toni would love greatly when her time came, but even I had no idea quite what Feodor meant to her until the beginning of this affair. I don't know what to do for the best, James. Tell me, do you really think we have any chance— odor will have any chance—of an appeal?"

"Frankly, I haven't the least idea, Alice," he said. "It is a most extraordinary thing. There is no independent evidence, and yet all the circumstantial evidence points to Feodor as the murderer. And nothing more can be done now, unless the real culprit comes forward.

Lady Alice covered her eyes with her hand.

"It's a terrible business," said her brother, breaking a long silence.

"Greta feels very upset about it. I never considered Greta a woman to show things deeply. It's rather curious, her horror at Feodor's sentence. It's not like her. She is—if you you'll forgive my saying so—rather self-centred as a rule and . . ."

They both stared, for into the room, unannounced, came St. Maire's elderly butler, his face rather anxious.

"Excuse me, m'lady, excuse me m'lord, he said quickly, "but I wondered if you knew, Miss Toni has just gone out. She told me to call a taxi, and she has driven off by herself. I heard her—I beg pardon, my lord—I heard her say 'Briston Prison.'"

Brother and sister looked at one another. St. Maire dismissed the man with a nod, and suddenly Lady Alice broke down and wept.

"She has gone to watch there— stay outside—oh, my poor little Toni, my poor little daughter— it's too terrible! What can I do for her?"

"Nothing," St. Maire said shortly. "She must face it alone—God help her—poor child."

INSTALMENT XXIII.

Toni went through the first few weeks of her return home to Paris like one in a dream. She ate and drank, slept and waked, mechanically, following her customary habits but without zest or vitality. She had no plans, but lived from day to day listlessly, doing what she had to do, carrying out the ordinary routine of her life, but in a manner that made her mother's heart ache. Lady Alice would have given all she possessed to bring back the old excitable, eager Toni, who had seized life with both hands and wrested from it every moment of joy and excitement it held.

It was as if the tragedy that had befallen both her and the man she loved had taken from Toni all desire for life. Lady Alice tried to interest her by every means in her power, and Toni tried with all her heart to respond; she was docile, willing to do all her mother's or friend's wishes, but docility, her manner of interest and pleasure, were efforts so heart-breaking to those who loved her that after a little Lady Alice grew alarmed.

In January Lady Alice suggested the South of France or the African coast. Then, for the first time, Toni demurred. Then an idea came to her mother one day after a luncheon she had attended, and she spoke of it at once.

"Toni, dear," she said, "I want you to do something for me, even if it is against your wishes. Do you remember Ravel's wishing to paint you?"

Toni looked up from the book she used as camouflage for passive endurance.

"Yes, I remember," she said. And her mother went on: "I want him to paint you now," she explained. "I was sitting next to him at luncheon and he discussed it. Will you sit for him?"

Toni laid aside the book.

"Yes, if you would like me to . . but why? What is the good of a portrait to you? I'm here myself and there is no one else"—and almost in a whisper she added—"now"

Her mother came over to her and kissed her, since she did not wish Toni to see her face at that moment and then going on to the little raised platform by the windows, stood looking out at the Avenue through a blur of tears. When the blur passed and she was sure of herself she spoke cheerily.

"That is sweet of you, dear, for I know how irksome you find it. Ravel wants you to go to his studio, and suggested eleven tomorrow if you were willing to sit. I am going to telephone him now."

"Yes, phone him," she said, quietly, and rose to go to her room. Once there, the studied calm of her face gave way, and clenching her hands, beat them against her forehead . . a portrait . . a portrait of herself . . and for whom? For Feodor? Twenty-five years of prison walls stretched into lonely old age . . for her children? She would never have any. For her mother? Did Lady Alice realy want it? Was there any satisfaction in the painting of a face and body when the heart and soul were dead within. . ?

Standing in the middle of the floor, a shuddering agony seized her, convulsing her face, choking her with the tears she would not shed . . tears would never help again . . they could not free Feodor, or ease by one jot the torment of his life . . and since they could not aid him they should not aid her . . she would not accept relief when relief was denied to the man she loved.

And Now That He's Free

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Several years ago, I met a man at a dance and went out with him for a year before he told me that he was married, and had two children. By that time I loved him so much I didn't care, and continued going with him, and for three years he constantly took me to shows and dances and seemed proud to be with me.

Fourteen months ago his wife died, and it seems since that time he has changed. When I question him about this, he says that he must stay home with the children, who are living with his mother. He repeatedly makes dates with me, and then breaks them. When his wife was alive he always said that if anything ever happened to her, he would marry me the next day; but now he says that he will never marry again on account of the children. Yet, he knows I would love them and do the best I could for them. I am not selfish, and have tried to please him in every way. Miss Fairfax, what do you think I should do? I love him more than anything in the world, and I can't continue the way I am. He is 33 years old and I am 25.

H. W. M.

Well, my dear, you are now face to face with fact that although men encourage women to be unconventional, they are really quite old-fashioned and conservative about the women they marry. This one seems to be very selfish and self-centered. He can't be in love with you. You are young; take up some new interests—and remember in the future not to pin your faith to a married man.

A GARDEN POOL

Although I do not attempt to write on gardening, as cooking and general housekeeping are more "in my line," nevertheless when a reader sends me such a garden-beautifying hint as the following, written by her husband, I am glad to insert it in this column to help other home owners:

"How I Made a Lily Pool: (Contributed by W. Q.) It may be of any desired size, but ours is nine feet in diameter and three feet deep in the middle. It was dug bowl-shape, with sloping sides. Then this hollowed-out space in the yard was almost covered with a layer of stones the size of a teacup, and I "tamped" the stones down with a mallet. When I say "almost covered" I mean that the stones were placed about one-third up the sides of the hollowed-out space, and the spaces between them were filled with a layer of cement and water—four parts of sand to one part cement and water made it firm enough to stay on the stones. I next let this become hard, not touching it for several days. After that I placed more stones (over half the remaining distance), and added more cement, in the same manner, and let dry two days.

"Then I finally finished the top part in the same way. When all was dry and hard, I mixed cement with water to the consistency of thick paint and I "painted" a coat over all of the inside of the bowl with this mixture, putting it on thickly. When dry, I put a load of rich loam in the "pond" and covered this this with a thick layer of sand. Barn dressing is fine for the first layer, and the sand keeps any chaff or straw from floating on the surface of the water. Last, I filled the pool with water and it was ready for two tadpoles, some goldfish, and several aquatic plants. My wife and I estimated the cost, as I finished the job—it came to about five dollars, covering cement, sand, etcetera."

Rhubarb Gets in a Jam

Rhubarb is invaluable as fruit extender, a "stretcher," so to speak. Strange as it may seem, this common garden plant with its characteristic tratness has the peculiar quality of increasing the bulk of jams and conserves made of delicately flavored fruits without materially changing the flavor.

Strawberry and rhubarb jam is delicious and hard to distinguish from all-strawberry jam but the rhubarb increases the quantity and makes for economy.

STRAWBERRY AND RHUBARB JAM

One pound rhubarb, two pounds strawberries, two pounds granulated sugar.

Wash and skin rhubarb. Wash and hull berries. Put rhubarb through the food chopper catching the juice that drips from the crank cases. Combine rhubarb juice and sugar. Add berries and let stand until sugar is dissolved. Stir frequently to prevent sticking and to crush the fruit. Cook until a spoonful tried on a cold plate jellies. Turn into sterilized jelly glasses and cover with paraffine when cold.

RHUBARB AND PINEAPPLE MARMALADE

Two cups finely chopped rhubarb, 2 cups shredded pineapple, 3 cups granulated sugar, ½ cup water.

Cook pineapple in water for 20 minutes. Add rhubarb and cook until very soft. Add sugar, sifting it in slowly, and cook until thick. It will take about 20 minutes. Turn into sterilized jelly glasses nad cover with paraffine when cold.

Rhubarb combined with raisins, dates and spiced vinegar makes a delicious relish to serve with meats.

RHUBARB RELISH

Two pounds rhubarb, ¼ pound seeded and chopped raisins, ½ pound stoned and chopped dates, 3 cups vinegar, 2 pounds light brown sugar, 1 tablespoon chili peppers, 1½ tablespoons salt, 1 teaspoon ginger, ½ cup chopped English walnut meats.

Combine raisins and dates and let stand in vinegar for one hour. Skin rhubarb and cut in half-inch pieces. Add to first mixture with all the remaining engredients except the nuts. Cook slowly, stirring frequently for two hours. Add nuts and cook 10 minutes longer. Turn into sterilized jelly glasses and cover with paraffine when cold.

RHUBARB AND STRAWBERRY CONSERVE

Two cups finely chopped rhubarb, 2 cups shredded pineapple, 4 cups hulled strawberries, 6 cups sugar, ½ cup blanched and shredded almonds.

Cook pineapple in its own juice for ten minutes. Add strawberries cut in small pieces and prepared rhubarb. Bring to the boiling point and sift in sugar. Cook, stirring to prevent sticking, for about 40 minutes. Add nuts and cook 10 minutes longer. Turn into sterilized jelly glasses and cover with paraffine when cold.

The Beauty Box

By Helen Follett

Girls and women who travel along the beauty trail, eager to display complexions of fine texture and healthy color, should be rainy-daisies, get out when the air is moist, walk briskly to kick up a lively circulation of the blood streams. The human hide loves moist air, as it loves oil. Women who live in foggy countries have better complexions than those who live where the air is dry. So don't be a fair-weather darling, but have the umbrella at hand and skip out when the downpour starts.

The fashionable gown maker builds from the skin out. Go to her for a fitting and she will insist upon finding out what kind of a foundation garment you wear. Perhaps, before taking measurements, she will take an anatomical survey and suggest a corsetiere to devise a specially made contraption that will be flattering to the figure, holding in where flesh should be held in, molding the outline to the proper contour.

Blue-grey eye shadows are elegant on some of the blue-grey eyed darlings, being especially seductive on the Irish type of beauty with blue eyes, fair skin and dark hair. Adroitly applied, eye shadows can bestow the modern, sophisticated touch, but painted on with a heavy hand they are a total loss. Best too when reserved for the festive evening; sunlight shows 'em up.

Nothing like a jumping rope to sliver down fatted calves. Twice a day make the old rope fly, at each skip jumping up as high as you can. Running up stairs is a good exercise for legs, thigh and hip reduction. Too bad the bicycle lost out to the motor car, since cycling was an effective way of dissolving fat cells that had settled on slim limbses.

Hair ornaments made of feathers are among the new offerings in beauty shops. Very chic. Not the fluttering plumes of grandma's young ostrich-and-paradise days, but smart clips with flat feathers set in metal frames and covered with some gum-like substance that keeps them smooth and flat. With hair a bit longer as it is now, the hair ornament again becomes a decorative possibility.

What's the Use? Plenty

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
An Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Because her love affair has gone on the rocks, Cora is despondent, or says she is. To friends and family advising her to buck up, she answers: "What's the use?" She'd like to know how to "get Harry back" from the other girl.

And now, my dear girl, set yourself for a shock. If the other girl has him, let it go at that, and with a thankful heart. Let me make the prediction that in a few weeks' time, or less, you will think of this other girl as a friend. In a few months you will be sorry for her.

Here's a homely law that applies to your case. You never can make a faithful watch dog of one that will follow every passer-by who whistles to him. Nor would you buy a runaway horse. No matter how penitent he acted or for how long a period, you wouldn't feel safe; the horse would run when you least expected it, and unless you were 100 per cent lucky, he would do plenty of damage.

And people are not so very different.

The point I am making is that the man who lets you down will do the other girl down. Better that than to take him back and have him serve you the same way a second time. Much rather try a friendship with someone else.

You don't tell me about your job if you have one. In case you lose your job, why don't you set about fitting yourself to take the next step up when the chance comes. Be ready. It will be too late if you are not prepared.

So many girls make the mistake of thinking of their jobs as temporary—a fill-in till they marry or they inherit a million from an uncle or aunt they have never previously heard of. It happens that way in stories.

Marriage and inheritance, my dears, are both wonderful when they happen and bring you happiness. But a really unhappy marriage, after what you expected from it, is a tragic terrible let-down.

Well! Well! Well! Summer's Coming

With bathing suit censors getting out their tape-measures and smoked glasses, it's time to consider just what will be permitted in the way of costumes at Kootenay bathing places this year. For instance, there's the matter of "two-piece" suits, which in previous seasons have been de rigeur at many of the country's watering resorts because of their greater modesty. But one of the two-piece creations, offered by designers this year to women who are wondering what not to wear, consists merely of a brassiere and shorts, with nothing in between but a shudder for the easily-shocked. Such a suit, properly filled, is pictured above. It appeared first at Biarritz, then at Palm Beach, and recently has been approved at Atlantic City. Will it be permitted here?

NASOOKIN FAILS TO MOVE; MOYIE TO PULL ON HER

Workmen Move Big Ship Seven Feet; Likely Back on Run Today

In all likelihood there will be a main lake ferry service today from Fraser's Landing. The regular ferry steamer, the Nasookin, which has been on the ways at the shipyard in Fairview was still stuck fast, high and dry at nightfall Wednesday. Every effort to start the big ship back into the water had failed. C. P. R. officials then ordered the steamer Moyie to Nelson with a steel barge. The Moyie arrived about 10 p.m. and this morning at 4 o'clock with the aid of the barge will attempt to heave the Nasookin down the ways.

C. P. R. ship workers started their grind Wednesday morning at 4 o'clock. By using heavy jacks they moved the Nasookin down the ways about seven feet but the boat did not get momentum enough to slide into the water.

It was then decided that the only way to start the big ship would be to use the Moyie. The after end of the Nasookin is stuck fast and special tackle was placed on this cradle and a line attached for the Moyie to pull. It was expected should the after end get a start that the Nasookin will slide into her natural element without further trouble.

Inspection work on the boat was concluded yesterday and the boiler was lit and steam passing through her pipes in anticipation of getting back into the water and back onto the ferry run on the main lake.

MORE NUDISTS ADMITTED INTO NELSON'S JAIL

In All 416 Doukhobors Inmates of Institution; Continue Quiet

Since Sunday last six adult Doukhobors and five boys and six girls have been added to the Doukhobor population in the Nelson provincial jail. The men and women have given themselves up, and have been identified as nudists while the children have been taken because they were destitute.

There was little excitement in the jail all day Wednesday. Hundreds of fanatics are in the city, and were hanging about the jail fences all day, but there was no threat of a demonstration of any kind.

At present the jail population consists of 416 Doukhobors, including adults and children. Of this total, 77 men and 52 women have been convicted. There are still 56 men and 91 women to come up for trial for appearing in the nude. The number of children in jail includes 60 boys and 76 girls.

The new cooking staff in the Doukhobor section is working well, and for supper they had baked potatoes, bread and soup. There has been no trouble with the prisoners.

While Victoria announced Tuesday that the nudists arrested on Sunday last will come up for trial Thursday, the local officials had nothing to report on the matter. Probably a flat will have arrived by Thursday morning.

A Nelson Asset

Nelson Golf and Country Club has announced its programme of fixtures for the season. With the exception of slight changes in dates, the programme is the same as those which have been so successful in past years.

Nelson has a substantial asset in its golf course. The links are the most attractive in the Interior of British Columbia. It not only provides a recreation for the people of Nelson and district, but is an attraction to visitors from the surrounding territory, and is used extensively by tourists, who often as a consequence, spend longer periods in Nelson than they otherwise might do.

Forest Fires

Forest fires are already breaking out in British Columbia, in spite of the long wet winter and the resulting amount of moisture in the ground.

Many fires are unavoidable, arising out of such causes as lightning, but the overwhelming proportion of fires in the forests are caused by carelessness. Camp fires are left burning or cigarettes or cigar butts or pipe ashes are thrown in dry timber, and cause the terrific damage which every year is done to our timber resources.

When timber is burned up, not only is destroyed a natural resource which in one of the chief producers of wealth in British Columbia, but damage is done to water supply, and to fishing. Everyone who starts a forest fire is causing a very direct injury to the whole of British Columbia.

The Judiciary in Canada

Hon. R. B. Bennett, in a speech in the House of Commons Tuesday, made reference to the criticisms which are sometimes advanced against the judiciary of Canada. He made a statement that Canada had too many judges, and that they were generally underpaid.

With the statement that the judiciary generally are underpaid, most people will agree. A successful lawyer, who has built up a substantial income, make a considerable financial sacrifice when he goes on the Bench. Many of Canada's best lawyers make this sacrifice because they prefer judicial work to pleading or the daily grind of a law office.

Mr. Bennett probably over estimates the amount and the weight of criticism against the judiciary in this country. It is a curious thing, not infrequently commented on by lawyers, that a barrister of mediocre ability frequently, once he has been elevated to the bench, develops into an excellent judge. This is due perhaps, more than to any other factor, to the sound and honorable traditions of British administration of justice. Our judges are beyond political influence. Once on the Bench they are elevated beyond personal sentiments and become an essential part of the great system of administration of justice which has been developed from so many centuries of British history, and upon which the greatest judges that the world has produced have left their mark.

The judiciary of Canada today lives and has its being in an atmosphere created by a long line of judges noted for their intellectual capacities, their complete and undeviating honesty and unquestioned impartiality. No man who becomes a part of a system with such traditions and such a history can fail to be elevated into a mental atmosphere apart from that of everyday affairs.

More New Industries

Reports continue to be made of the establishment of new industries in various parts of Canada.

Plans are being made to construct at Copper Cliff, Ontario, plants to produce annually approximately 15,000 tons of sodium sulphate and 25,000 tons of aluminum sulphate.

The Toronto Industrial Commission reports the establishment of 12 new industries of outside origin in Toronto during the first three months of this year, these new industries to employ 375,000 people. Eleven are within the city limits, and one in the suburban area. Ten are operated as subsidiaries of outside companies, one is an affiliated concern, and one is a factory branch.

At Hamilton, Ontario, enlargement of a steel mill will give employment to an additional 200 hands.

A factory for the manufacture of wool felt for men's and women's hats is being established at Guelph, Ontario. Eight carloads of machinery, chiefly from England, have been installed. The parent company is located in England.

A two story addition to the factory of a soft-drink concern is being constructed at Fort William, Ontario.

At Edmonton, a $100,000 addition is being made to a department store, which which already has $800,000 invested in the Northern Alberta city.

During 1932, fifteen large plants invested more than $2,000,000 in the building of new factories or the enlargement of old ones, in the Greater Vancouver area.

Taking Canada as a whole, 83 new plants or branch factories were established in the first quarter of 1932. In addition, six important plant extensions were made in the Dominion during the same period. Of the new factories established, food stuffs and tobacco accounted for 14, machinery and equipment for 10 and electrical appliances for seven.

There could be no better evidence than the establishment of these new factories of the improvement in basic condition which is becoming evident.

Every vote cast in the average municipal election costs the taxpayers $1, says a political science expert. That's nothing to what they cost the candidates.

Now they're building houses out of steel. If they'll just make the windows of bullet-proof glass, they ought to do a rushing business in Chicago.

There is on Quebec manufacturing firm, occupying a stately building of its own which has been the subject of many rumors of late. An official of the company was asked if there was any truth in some of the stories in circulation. He replied: "The latest rumor about our company is that we have bought the hotel next door."

"But what in the world would you do with the hotel," he was asked.

"Oh, that's were we are going to house the rumors."

What type of face have you?

In a study of 1400 postmortem examinations, Dr. Walter Freeman has come to some interesting conclusions concerning different facial types of humans.

He has classified his subjects into four types—schizoid, paranoid, cycloid and epileptoid.

In the first classification, the average schizoid is physically pale and sharp-featured. He is mentally censorious, non-social, prefers routine habits, is highly nervous and is apt to be susceptible to intestinal troubles.

The second type—paranoid—is usually moody, quarrelsome and suspicious. He tends to have systematic delusions, often of grandeur, and is of the athletic type.

Cycloids are active, round-faced mentally jovial, sociable, but tend toward depressive psychosis in extreme cases. They are apt to suffer from diseases of the heart, blood vessels and kidneys.

The epileptoid type is likely to be badly proportioned physically. Some in this type are inclined toward convulsions and fits sudden bursts of temper and asthma.

Warden of Sing Sing Lets Convicts Emote

Warden Lawes of Sing Sing prison, who last autumn made that institution even better known by permitting his prisoners to organize a football team and play visiting elevens, has written a book about his 12 years at the head of the institution—something in itself to brag about, inasmuch as in the 20 previous years the average term of an incumbent as warden was about eleven months.

The lockstep was not abolished in Sing Sing until 1900; sunlight was first let into the old cell block, built a century ago, in 1912; and it was a historic occasion when, in 1913, Warden Lawes first let the men pass a single day in the open without locking them into their cells.

Lawes is proud of the shops and schools he has introduced at Sing Sing; proud of his hospital, "the only prison hospital in the world that has been approved by the American College of Surgeons"; and of the green grass, the trees and the rose-bushes that Charles Chaplin—who was an editor of the New York World when he shot his wife—brought into Sing Sing under his wardenship; of the theatre and the ball field. He has no sympathy for quick-tongued judges and "publicists" who shout for longer sentences and demand harsher confinement. And he speaks not as a theorist, but out of experience.

PERMITS PRISONERS "NORMAL EXPRESSIONS"

"Normal expressions of emotion within prisons are important," Warden Lawes insists. "If prisoners want to laugh while they eat, let them. If they have the urge to discuss politics or economics or the latest talkie or recent sports events or even the prison menu at the mess table, what harm is there in that? If wearing a tie helps them retain their self-respect, why not? If any popular radio number makes for kinship among the public at large I want my men to be a part of that kinship. If depressed emotions can be revived by a baseball game or smoothed by a game of checkers or chess or an occasional talking picture why not supply those things that help to keep men normal? . . . We want to return men to society as normal human beings."

"Big Shots" the the bane of Warden Lawe's life—men who have been splashed on the front pages of the newspapers and swagger into prison as they have swaggered outside. "Two-Gun" Crowley, as soon as he had an audience, was a cruel braggart; left alone, he tamed a starling that came into his cell and took to drawing. "Rat-catcher" Mike, who had a talent for coaching and making pets of prison rats, a proved "bad one," was one of Lawes most efficient aids at New Hampton. He tells of Roy Sloane the fake "prison law students," hero of a hundred feature stories whom Lawes never trusted, and who was shot and killed when he returned to New York; of the thousands of morbid watchers who stood on the surrounding hills on the night Ruth Snyder died; of scores of other less known men and women.

DEATH SENTENCES FREED MORBID EMOTION

Death sentences only freed a morbid mass emotion, Warden Lawes believes. Free sale of firearms is a crime, which should long ago have been stopped. He believes in more and better probation, and in indeterminate sentences. The real romantic, he says, are the men who fear that "softness" will make men commit crime to get into prison He, the warden, cannot forget that 95 per cen of his charges will be returned to free life; and he wants prison to train them for it.

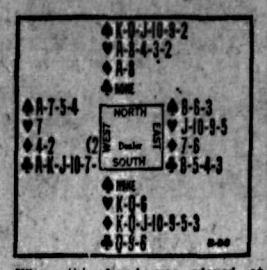
Auction and Contract Bridge

By the World's Leading Authority, MILTON C. WORK

A QUESTION OF SAFETY



When this hand was played at Contract bridge, South with a seven-trick hand containing three high-card tricks, called two Diamonds; West refused to be shut out and bid three Clubs; North scenting a probable slam, called four Clubs. North's bid showed no losing tricks in Clubs as well as slam possibilities. After East's pass South bid four Diamonds. West passed and North bid four Spades; South overcalled with five Diamonds and North bid six Diamonds which concluded the contracting.

With this hand at Auction, South probably would pre-empt to the limit with a bid of four Diamonds, effectively shutting out West, North might declare his Spades, but if he did South would bid five Diamonds.

West, realizing that North had no Clubs, led a small trump. South won and with dummy's Ace of Diamonds ruffed a Club. South was put in with the King of Hearts and one more round of Diamonds exhausted East and West. Declarer then led the Queen of Hearts. He had planned to dicard his two remaining Clubs on dummy's long Hearts, but realized that would be impossible when West discarded on the second round of Hearts. He was forced to lose two Clubs, and was set on trick.

Declarer maintained that he had played the hand soundly, and that the unfortunate and unexpected four-one division of the adverse Hearts had prevented his taking 13 tricks. Do you agree with his contention?

THE CORRECT PLAY

Declarer made the mistake of playing for thirteen tricks when his contract called for only twelve; had the contract been seven, his play would have been correct. A small slam could be made despite the uneven distribution of the Hearts. Declarer should win trick 1 with dummy's Ace of Diamonds, lead the King of Spades from dummy, and with East playing small discard a Club from the closed hand. West will take with the Ace, and his next lead is immaterial. A Club would be ruffed by dummy; a Heart or a Diamond would be won in closed hand. Then Declarer will draw trumps, put dummy in with the Ace of Hearts, and discard his remaining Club losers on dummy's Spades.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON

ANGINA PECTORIS-BREAST PANG

One of the most alarming ailments that comes to man is what is called angina pectoris.

The pain which is very severe comes on suddenly right over the breast bone—a tightness that gives the patient the feeling that death is at hand. The pain usually goes through the chest to the back into the shoulders and left arm. The patient remains "pale, haggard, and motionless."

This condition lasts a few seconds or a few minutes, sometimes longer. When it has passed, there is often a passage of gas upward into the mouth, or out the lower bowel. You can readily see that a patient getting rid of this gas immediately afterward would naturally think that indigestion was the cause of the trouble; which of course is not the case.

How are you to know if you really have angina pectoris or some other condition or pain which resembles it?

In true angina pectoris there is always some trouble with the heart or blood vessels—enlargement or dilation of the left side of the heart, flowing back of blood into the large chamber on left side, weakness of the power of the heart muscle, and hardening of the arteries or blood vessels. Your physician can usually discover the underlying cause.

However there are a number of conditions which resemble angina pectoris—pain along the nerves in the region of the heart, gall stones, asthma due to weak heart, and false angina in which the patient is able to walk and talk and a feeling that the heart is distended or enlarged, and not constricted or tightened down as in true angina.

As it is important that the right diagnosis be made it is interesting to learn of the discovery of Drs. A. Lenn, A Carlton Ernstene and Bernard M. Jacobson, who found that injecting I. C. C. of adrenalin (epinephrin) into the skin that the typical or true pain of angina pectoris was produced in patients who were really suffering with angina pectoris whereas it had no effect on those who did not have the true angina pectoris.

The remedy during an attack is nitrite of amyl, a "pearl" of which may be crushed in a handkerchief placed in bottom of glass tumbler, and inhaled or breathed into the lungs.

Attacks may frequently be avoided by keeping mostly to a milk diet, cutting down on salt, keeping intestine active, and use of heart tonics, and rest in bed.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE ENTERTAINED BY SCHOOL CHILDREN

Present Operetta "Maytime;" Will Hold Flower Show

CRESTON, B. C., May 18—Creston and District Women's Institute met in May session on Friday afternoon in the United church hall, with the president, Mrs. T. M. Edmondson in the chair.

The feature of the afternoon was the entertainment provided by pupils from Divisions 5 and 6 of the public school. The former class, in charge of Miss Hobden, presented the operetta, "Maytime" in very pleasing fashion. The scholars taking part were Donald Truscott, Blanche York, Mary Gabelhei, Doris Gabelhei, Dorothea Schmidet, Doris Bailey, Jean Pridham, Helen D'Zvigola and Katherine Rentz.

Pupils from Miss Holmes' room acquitted themselves equally creditable in the play "The Three Bears" in which the following took part: Norman Husband, Anna Peltzer, Teddy Oliver, Louise Hare, Margaret Timmons, Bertha Gardiner and Rose Morabito.

Mrs. James Cook, for the hospital committee, repored that the donation from Reg. Eastlake had been spent on sheeting, etc., and asked for volunteers to do some of the sewing. First aid kits at the school have been replenished.

WILL HOLD FLOWER SHOW

It was decided to hold the anual flower show in the United church hall on Saturday, June 18. In connection with this prizes will be given in the following competitions for girls: Class 1, modelling, ages 6 to 8 years. Class 2, posters, advertising fall fair, ages 9 to 11 years. Class 3, posters advertising fall fair, ages 12 to 15.

Mrs. Edmondson put before the meeting an offer from Mrs. J. E. Johnston to provide an hour's musical entertainment some Saturday afternoon. It was decided to acept the offer and to have this entertainment in the Parish hall on Saturday, May 28, at 3 p. m.

The institute will provide tea and make a small charge for admission. It was decided to pay a bounty of one cent per tail on gophers killed by school children, as was done last year.

The freewill offering for the crippled children's work amounted to $2.50.

PITCHED GAME A DAY FOR A MONTH

By AL DEMAREE

How, the modern fan may ask, did the teams of former days manage to drive through a pennant race with 11 or 12 men, including pitchers? They did, it is true, but it has been a long time since any modern pitcher has worked oftan enough to win 35 games. Only one or two each year win as many as 25.

"Old Hoss" Radbourne, once in the misty past, pitched a game a day for a solid month.

After the tenth game his arm was so stiff he started warming up with his catcher only five feet away and gradually walked backwards until he was throwing 60 feet.

E. Walsh once worked in 66 games and won 40 of them and saved a dozen others. Then there was Jack Chesbro. A quarter of a century ago Jack worked in over 60 games. He won 40 of them and his speed and "spitter" saved several others.

In 1919, Walter Johnson, now managing the Senators, pitched seven straight exhibition games in as many days after the regular season had closed. And Walter wasn't exactly a youngster then.

Hooks and Slides

By William Broucher

There is probably not a little hypocrisy in a situation which makes it possible for an athlete to live off the fruits of his genius on the tournament field and go under the name of amateur.

But even that sad state of affairs is not undermining the structure of our civilization as the zealots would have us believe. For every tennis player who pokes the ball to the entertainment of the paying spectator, there are 50,000 wielders of the racket whose backhands are charitably obscured from the public gaze.

• • •

HOI POLLOI PLAY, TOO

That is part of the picture of tennis today in the United States ,as clearly etched by O. D. Ellis, writing in the recent expiring issue of Tennis, the official publication of the U. S. L. T. A. Ellis goes on:

"One of the popular delusions is that tennis is the sport of the country's landed gentry . . . the average American tennis club is by no means the establishment voluptuous . . . for every blue blood who owns a tennis racket, there are at least 5000 bookkeepers, refrigerator salesmen and bank clerks who ply the art after working hours."

Concerning the hypocrisy of tennis amateurism, Ellis asserts:

"The criticism directed at our beloved game can, at worst, concern as few players as you can count on your fingers. A player outside the first ten who endeavors to live off tennis is beset by such hardships that few can survive, and the life fails to attract even the most avowed loafer.

• • •

THAT'S TIRESOME, TOO

"When a player reaches the first ten, he probably can support himself for a year or so in the manner to which he is accustomed without indulging in any labor off the court. But, unless he is utterly devoid of imagination, ceaselessly batting tennis balls around soon becomes as irksome as sitting on a stool in a counting house, and he gives it up in disgust.

"The handful of players who rank the top are the sandwichmen of the club, the association and the game itself. They keep the game in the newspapers . . . By attracting the gate, they extract dollars from the public pocket and cause them to be deposited in the treasuries of the game, whence they are ultimately, albeit indirectly, returned to the club player. An invaluable service.

"The fact that in return they receive transportation, found and occasional entertainment is certainly nothing to become alarmed about. It doesn't in any way affect the other 2,000 000 Americans who play the game, and despite cries from the watchdogs of tennis players' souls, a few young men degenerate to the gutter because they do practically nothing but play tennis for a year or so.

• • •

WHERE'S MY RACKET, GEORGE?

"In fact the direct opposite is more apt to result: the star rises in the social and financial scale either through business connections developed while a player or through marriage, abetted at least by his ability on the court. To such remote capitalization of reputation there can hardly be objection."

• • •

THE PARK PLAYER

Ellis gives an interesting picture of the public parks players. Here are a few excerpts:

"The gulf which separates the lad who bats tennis balls in the public pasture and the young man who belongs to a club, be it ever so humble is as wide as the broad Atlantic . . . but, instead of worrying about his backhand and complaining because the lines of the court are not visible, the park player enjoys himself.

• • •

VERY WELL MIXED DOUBLES

"Mixed doubles, anathema to the club player under 50, is the park players' delight. The quartet almost invariably consists of a pretty girl, a dashing young blade who once saw Borotra, a homely fat girl who is the pretty girl's friend, and the freak.

"Sometimes the freak is a man sometimes a woman. If a man, he is the fiance of the pretty girl, wears thick-lensed glasses and lisps. Every time the ball comes anywhere near the freak he makes a pass at it. If he connects it goes on a long journey. This occasions a recess during which all four players set up the cry, "Thank you!" and violently wave their rackets in the air."

You've probably seen them, too.

INCREASED INCOME TAXES IN BUDGET OF U.S. IS PASSED

WASHINGTON, May 18 (By Ken Clark, CP staff writer).—Congress made progress today in attempting to balance the budget of the United States for 1933 when the senate passed bi-partisan proposals for increased income taxes, called "the heart of the billion-dollar revenue bill."

The senate refusing to consider proposals to throw what has been described as an intolerable burden on higher incomes, voted a general increase with the following rates: Three per cent on $4000; 6 per cent on $8000; 9 per cent on $9000; surtaxes of 40 per cent on over $100,000; and increased the corporation tax from 11 to 14 per cent.

TRAIL, B. C., May 17.—S. H. Hopkins, agriculturist with the fertilizer department of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company, will address Spokane chamber of commerce at its luncheon meeting May 24, which has been set aside at Trail's day by that body. The topic of Mr. Hopkins' address will be "Fertilizers and Their Uses."

Members of C. M. & S. Glee party of Trail will be guests at the meeting and it is expected their numbers will be considerably augmented by representatives of Trail board of trade, which has been asked to cooperate.

TELEPHONE TAX ITEM CARRIED

OTTAWA, May 18.—The tax proposed upon long distance telephone calls was under fire in the house of commons Tuesday when the house, in committee of ways and means, considered the budget resolutions. The original provision of a flat rate of five cents for every call in excess of 15 cents was amended by Hon. E. N. Rhodes minister of finance. The amendment sets forth that the new rate will be 6 per cent of the amount charged by the telephone company to the caller. In the case of public stations and automatic phones, the rate will be five cents for calls in excess of 25 cents, this rate to hold up to 80 cents; and five cents for each additional 80 cents. The item finally carried.

EDINBURGH FIREMEN TO COMBA FIRES FROM AIR?

EDINBURGH, Scotland, May 18 (CP cable).—Fire Chief McThven today recommended the corporation of Edinburgh construct a takeoff platform for aircraft atop the city's new fire station.

The fire engine of the future, he said, would be an aircraft of the helicopter type, which is capable of vertical ascent or descent. Firemen would fly over stricken buildings and descend to their work by ladders.

Level Off the Lots Across From Savoy

Investigation proved that a rumor that Nelson was to have another service station opposite the Savoy hotel on Baker street was without foundation, no building permit having been issued and the owner of the property, Bud Stevens, denies any knowledge of such a building.

However, he said that building would probably be erected there before the end of the year but nothing definite had been arranged so far.

The site is now being leveled off and the gravel is being used to fill the gulch on Kootenay street between Silica and Carbonate streets.

TOM JEROME CAN SIT UP

ROSSLAND, B. C., May 18—All cases which would ordinarily have been brought before Judge W. A. Nisbet in county court here this morning were adjourned until next month on account of the Nelson assizes with the exception of the naturalization applications. S. H. Kyle was granted letters of probate in the estate of the late Charles W. D. Carlson of Trail.

Proposed Duty on Hides and Wool Is Heavily Criticised

OTTAWA, May 18 (CP).—Hon. Edgar Rhodes, minister of finance, proposed higher duties against imported hides in the house of commons today, and immediately ran into a peck of trouble. The item finally passed, but not before Conservatives as well as Liberals criticized it from the standpoint of the parmer, tanner and general consuming public.

The duties of free under the British preference, 15 per cent general (United States among other countries), and 10 per cent intermediate (countries having trade treaties with Canada), were to implement one clause of the Canada-New Zealand treaty. Largely because the duty was linked with the treaty, which has been passed by the house, no division was called when the item passed.

WEAKNESS IN UTILITY STOCKS SAGS MARKET

Trading Down to Small Proportions; Bond Market Sinks Again

NEW YORK, May 18.—Weakness in public utility stocks proved mildly contagiou today, and the market sagged to a new low as measured by price averages.

Trading, however, shrank to very small proportions. Among industrial and railroad issues, few net losses equalled or exceeded a point, although power and light company stocks were depressed somewhat more severely.

Volume totalled 684,270 shares, the smallest amount in more than a week.

Net losses of a point or more in United Gas Improvement, Northern American, Public Service of New Jersey, Standard Gas, Pacific Gas, and Consolidated Gas, outstripped declines for U. S. Steel, General Electric, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Union Carbide and numerous rails. Tobacco issues sagged on estimates of a sharp decrease in April cigarette output.

American Telephone sold off after regular dividend had been voted, and closed ¼ lower.

The bond market, for the sixth consecutive session, sank to new low depths for the year today, and support was noticeably lacking in practically all categories.

At the same time offerings were inclined to dwindle under pressure, and there were few indications of urgent liquidation. Sales totalled $3,662,000 par values.

TORONTO MINING CHANGES SLIGHT

Dull Trading Features Market; Interest Lacking in Base Metals

TORONTO, May 18. (CP).—Reactionary prices with dull trading featured the Standard stock and mining exchange today. Price changes, however, were of small proportion. Market leaders held to a close trading circle with no evidence of accumulation in any particular stock. Sales volume dropped to 94,000 shares, with 52 issues traded. The price trend shows 24 losses against 11 gains, with 17 issues unchanged.

Interest was lacking in the base metal issues, and resulted in the majority dipping to lower levels with very light demand. Noranda fell 40c to $14.60; International Nickel, unchanged, closed at $5.60; Hudson's Bay dropped ⅞c to $1.05; and Pend Oreille sold off 5 points to close at a new low of 35c.

2-MILE TRAMWAY WILL JOIN RENO AND NUGGET MILL

Water Power Saving Will Be $20,000 Annually

SPOKANE, Wash., May 18—Gold production by the Reno Gold Mines, interrupted by the burning of its mill in February will be resumed, O. C. Thompson, managing director, Vancouver, British Columbia, said at the Davenport recently. The properties are on Sheep creek, Nelson district of British Columbia.

The ore dressing will be done at the Mother Lode mill, obtained recently in the purchase of the Mother Lode and the Nugget mines. The mill and the Reno mine will be connected by an aerial tramway 12,000 feet long of which 2800 feet exists. Preparation is being made to build the remainder.

More ore has been developed in the Nugget than the Mother Lode, the respective depths of which are 500 and 1200 feet. The properties embrace parallel veins, 1300 feet apart, connected by tunnels, so are virtually one mine. Openings in the Mother Lode are four feet wide, the ore two and one-half feet wide. The average gold content across four feet is about $15.

ADDS TWO PARALLEL SHOOTS

The water power acquired with the Mother Lode will save about $20,000 a year in power costs, Mr. Thompson estimated. The Mother Lode power plant, mill and other equipment cost $300,000 when installed. The mill has a designed capacity of 100 tons daily but 125 tons can be put through and it can be enlarged. Ball mills grind the ore to 200 mesh minus and cyanide completes the extraction which is 97 to 98 per cent of the gold, he said.

Much ore has been blocked on the third and fourth levels of the Reno and the fifth is undergoing development. The fifth level is 278 feet below the fourth and 1000 feet deep, vertically. The width of the ore is greater on each successive level. It is oxidized to the 500-foot depth. The grade is better and nearer uniform in the sulphide. The width is three and one-half feet and has been six feet.

RENO VALUES UP TO $90

For 44 feet, far in the mine, the ore value was $90, but the quality of the mill feed was profitable before the high grade was reached. The length of the ore should be 1200 feet on the fifth level, according to the lengths on the third and fourth levels, the fourth being longer than the third. The ore contains about $40 to $50 to the ton and its width averages three and one-half feet, said Mr. Thompson. But that is not the average value of the mine.

The value of shipments from the Reno are about $430,000, made in 1930, 1931, in January and part of February, 1932. As the property was opened when virtually a prospect, there has been a large expenditure for development, two or to three faces having been run at the same time. Despite these expenditures and others for equipment, the company has a reserve fund of $80,000, nearly all of which was created from the mine, said the manager, who has been director from the beginning.

The stock is controlled by a few persons in England. Among them are Sir Kenneth Crossley, who is president, the Duke of Devonshire and Lord Hartington.

GUIDANCE FROM LIVERPOOL LEADS GRAIN IN DECLINE

Off in Sympathy With English Market; Offerings Liberal

WINNIPEG, May 18 (CP).—Winnipeg's wheat market looked today to Liverpool for guidance, and was led to lower levels. Trading fairly active throughout, wheat prices eased from the opening in sympathy with the English market, and at the close were more than one cent below Tuesday's finish.

Offerings were liberal, and the May delivery eased ⅞c to its close of 62¼. July and October each were off 1⅛ to 1 cent at 62⅞ to 63 and 65⅛, respectively.

The local market opened fractionally lower, and the weakness persisted throughout the session. Lacking news of interest, prices here were forced to follow Liverpool in its declines.

OVERBOUGHT STATE SENDS GRAIN DOWN ON CHICAGO LIST

Loses Earlier Effervescence Associated Before Vote on Beer

CHICAGO, May 18 (By John P. Boughan, AP market editor).—Grain markets late today lost effervescence which earlier had been associated with speculative purchases prior to the senate vote on beer.

Running into an overbought condition, wheat tumbled back about 1½c a bushel from the day's top figures, influenced partly by bearish behavior of securities and by heaviness of the Winnipeg market, as well as by indications that 2,500,000 bushels of farm board wheat had been exchanged for futures at Kansas City.

Wheat closed unstable, ⅜ to ⅞ under yesterday's finish; corn unchanged to ⅝ lower; oats unchanged to ¼ off; and provisions unchanged to a rise of 2c.

TRAIL FAMILY WINS $2005 IN DAMAGE CASE

Paving Contractors to Pay Damages and Also All the Costs

STAGE OPERATOR IS EXONERATED

Counsel for Moncrieff & Vistaunet May Appeal on Costs Award

Verdicts carrying aggregate damages of $2005 were awarded Mr. and Mrs. John Singleton and their little son William, of Trail, against Moncrieff & Vistaunet, contractors, by Mr. Justice Murphy at the assizes here Wednesday afternoon ,when the suit failed as against Frank Campbell, stage proprietor, in whose car Mrs. Singleton and the little boy where when it struck an unlighted plank bridge with ramp approach placed by the contractors over a fill on Victoria street, the accident occuring on the night of April 6, 1931.

The costs both of the plaintiffs and of the first defendant, Mr. Campbell, were given against the second defendant, the contracting firm.

G. E. Housser of Vancouver, counsel for Moncrieff & Vistaunet, intimated an appeal would probably be taken from this allocation of costs.

In giving judgment , Mr. Justice Murphy said the plaintiffs were bound to succeed against one or other of the defendants, if not against both.

CAMPBELL IS EXONERATED

As to the defendant Campbell, the onus being on the plaintiffs to show negligence, his lordship found he was driving at a reasonable rate of speed, and was keeping a reasonable lookout as was incumbent on the driver of a car carrying passengers when he encountered the obstruction on Victoria street. While a driver must keep an eye on the road, Campbell's principal duty was to look out for pedestrians in this particular case, where he was using a section of street where there was a hospital on one side and a nurses home on the other, this embracing the possibility of crossing being attempted.

Considering the nature of the night, the nature of the obstruction, the color of the pavement, and the lighting, his lordship said he could not find that Campbell did not exercise proper care. On the other hand, he found that Campbell did keep a reasonable lookout. His lordship said he was fortified in that opinion by the experience of other motorists using the street at the same time.

"With regard to the other defendants. I have no hesitation in finding them guilty of negligence," stated his lordship, adding that it seemed to him that the putting up of an obstruction of that nature without marking it with lights was extraordinary.

WIFE GETS $1500

The matter of damages, Mr. Justice Murphy said was attended with more difficulty. It was shown that Mrs. Singleton had been healthy up to the time of the accident, and it was also shown that she now suffered from high blood pressure and from kidney trouble, though there had undoubtedly been some improvement. If he understood the medical testimony aright, the lady, unless there was improvement, could expect to find her health was impaired. "The best I can do it to award her $1500 general damages, taking into account her sex, age, and manner of life," he stated.

As to the husband, who had to employ and feed help, his lordship again felt justice would be done if he were awarded $500.

"The little boy was not injured but his nose was cut, just enough adding him as a defendant. I award him $5," concluded his lordship.

COSTS MAY LEAD TO APPEAL

On the point respecting the costs, Mr. Justice Murphy said the plaintiffs were justified in suing two defendants, and under the circumstances of the case he would follow a recent ruling by chief justice of British Columbia, and give the defendant Campbell costs against Moncrieff & Vistannet. He stated he had done the same last week, informing counsel at that time this would facilitate an appeal and clarification of the point, Mr. Justice Clement of the court of appeals having previously given a different ruling.

Mr. Housser, for Moncrieff—Vistaunet, said if Mr. Justice Murphy had not given his judgment on this matter only last week, he would have asked him in this case to have followed Mr. Justice Clement rather than the chief justice, but he could not very well ask him to reverse himself. He did not wish however, to be regarded as admitting the justice of this way of taxing the costs, and suggested an appeal would probably be taken.

The judgement was given at the afternoon session, the forenoon having been largely devoted to the case for the defendants, Moncrieff & Vistaunet.

SECOND DEFENDANT'S WITNESSES

Mr. Houssner placed on the stand four witnesses, the first being S. S. McDiarmid, city engineer of Trail, who discounted largely the theory that the wooden bridge could not be seen under the conditions that existed the night of the accident. Only if the old planks used had been used for concrete forms would they resemble a part of the concrete roadway. He admitted if he had built the bridge he would have put lights on it—not because they were necessary, as there was excellent lighting, but because in dealing with matters concerning the public it was a wise plan to go as far as possible to make everything fool-proof.

Timothy J. Teaham, Trail fuel dealer, told of driving about dusk that evening on Victoria street in his truck during a light rain. When he got to the Memorial hall, he slowed down because he saw Herbert Clark slowing down in his car ahead, an when he got to Cedar street saw something across the road, which he recognized as a bridge when he got within 75 or 80 feet of it. Mr. Teaham admitted to Dugald Donaghy, senior counsel for Mr. Campbell, that he saw workmen at that point in the morning and knew something had been done there.

D. S. Moynes, Trail transfer man, stated he drove four times that evening over the obstruction, with his wife and child, the first time about 7:30, seeing it without difficulty. Cross-examination brought out that he resided on Victoria street within a block and a half of the point in question, also that he worked that day just off Victoria. The witness declared, however, he was unaware that the bridge had been constructed till he saw it that evening when driving.

SUPERINTENDENT TESTIFIES

The last witness was Rupert C. Skelton, superintendent of construction for Moncrieff & Vistaunet, who described the bridge in detail, its top layer consisting partly of new plank and partly of old. He asserted the structure should have been easily visible, and that, driving at dusk to inspect it and see if the workmen had sawn off the ends of the planks or left them ragged, he had seen it from Cedar street. When cross-examined by Mr. Donaghy, Mr. Skelton later stated he would have had red lights placed on the obstruction if he had thought of it.

Both Mr. Housser and Mr. Donaghy made their addresses before the noon adjournment, Donald MacDonald, counsel for the plaintiffs, making his at the resumption of court in the afternoon.

DAVIS CUP PLAY

NEW YORK May 18.—The same United States Davis cup team which defeated Canada and Mexico without the loss of a match today was named to oppose Australia in the North American zone final at Philadelphia next week.

The team consists of Ellsworth Vines, the national champion, Wilmer Allison, John van Ryn and Frank Shields.

In the two series played Vines has won four single matches, Allison two and Shields two. Allison and van Ryn paired to win the two doubles encounters.

The same lineup as has played heretofore probably will play against Australia, with Allison and Vines playing the first two singles matches, Allison and van Ryn the doubles and Shields in reserve for one of the two final singles.

It has been eight years since the United States and Australia last met in Davis cup competition, in the 1924 challenge round.

The Australians have one of the world's finest singles players in Jack Crawford, who also forms a good doubles combination with Harry Hopman.

The battle between the two nations which, together, lifted the Davis cup 16 times, may hinge on the outcome of the doubles if Crawford lives up to his sensational advance notices. His singles match with Vines will be an outstanding feature of the series to be played at the Philadelphia Country club courts, May 27, 28, 29.

The winning team plays Brazil, survivors of the South American zone by default, in June at a site and on dates yet to be selected.

NELSON TO OPEN BALL SEASON IN TRAIL ON SUNDAY

Rossland Travels to Grand Forks on the Same Day

TRAIL, B. C., May 18—Kootenay Baseball league opens Sunday in Trail and Grand Forks, bringing a new league to southern interior baseball fans. The old triangle rivalry between Trail, Rossland and Nelson is to be renewed with entry of the golden city team, reviving baseball at Rossland, Grand Forks breaks into the circuit for the first time with high hopes. Nelson comes to Trail and Rossland travels to Grand Forks for the first games.

League opening ceremonies will be staged at Trail with James Buchanan, honorary president of the Trail club, pitching the first ball, and with Elliott Crowe president of the Kootenay league, on the receiving end. The proposal originally was that Mr. Crowe should do the pitching and Mr. Buchanan the catching, but the former threatened to bowl Mr. Buchanan over. So Trail's honorary president, recalling days when he had command of a fast ball, determined to show the boys how it should be done and dared the league president to stand up to his hurling. The dare was accepted.

NELSON TO FACE DEMORE

Nelson, confident with a 10-5 win over Trail in an exhibition game Sunday, will face its Nemesis once again—Louis (The Rube) Demore. Louis still hopes to better his strikeout record of 19 against Nelson and with victory in the first league game dependent upon him, will be out with everything he has on Sunday. Just what are Nelson's plans has not been announced, but it is highly probable that Kraft and Allison will do mound duty.

The new schedule will consist of two rounds home and home, starting Sunday. The second half opens July 10. Winners of the first and second half are to play off for the league title. Should the same team win each half then first and second will play off, the second team being defined as the one which reached second place by percentage of games won and lost throughout the entire schedule.

Playoff will consist of two out of three games, the team travelling on the third game receiving $25 expense money and the balance of receipts for all three games being split 50-50. Playoff will be under the supervision of the president, who will also handle the financial end.

ALL HOME PLAYERS

This year's regulations limit registration to 16 players, and all must be residents of, or working in, the city for which they are playing. This eliminates the importation of players for games.
