$25,000 REWARD FOR CHILD MURDERERS

Governor Hopes "May Cause Someone Who Knows Something to Squeal" to Lindberghs

ABILITY OF FAIR SEX IS PROVEN, MRS. PUTNAM

Latest Conqueror of Atlantic States Was Main Reason of Trip

JOURNALISTS OF BRITAIN TOAST HER

Ambassador A. W. Mellon Salutes Remarks Most Profoundly

LONDON, May 23 (AP).—Amelia Earhart Putnam shopped today for clothes to augment her flying togs, was toasted by British journalists, and gained one of the points of her solo flight across the Atlantic—an admission by a man that women could do something valuable.

The slim, blonde flyer, whose tousled hair and frank smile have captured the fancy of the British public, said feminine resentment at all the "catty things" men say about women drivers and women pilots was the driving urge behind her ocean flight.

"Where there's a traffic jam on Fifth avenue, men always comment, 'Oh, it's a woman driving,'" she explained.

"I have gone up with a mechanic who doesn't know the controls from the altimeter, and when I've come down I have heard people say he probably did most of the flying.

ADDED NOTHING ELSE

"So I determined to show them. And outside of demonstrating that a woman can fly the Atlantic alone I don't see that I've added anything to aviation, science, or anything else."

Ralph D. Blumenfeld, editor of the Daily Express, said, however, when he proposed a toast to her at a luncheon of the Institute of Journalists:

"I hereby retract my pet theory—that a woman never did anything really valuable."

The newspaper men gave her an ovation of hip-hip hurrahs.

Sir John Simon, secretary of state for foreign affairs, congratulated the smiling flyer on her feat in flying alone from Harbor Grace, Nfldl, to Culmore, northern Ireland. Mrs. Putnam responded gracefully to the toast.

"I am happy to be in London," she said. "My trip is just informal, and I hope while here to poke about the city and see some places I missed when I was here before."

EXPECTS A TRANSATLANTIC SERVICE

She said she expected to make the trip again some day in a regular transatlantic air passenger service which she was confident would be established.

At a luncheon Miss Earhart drank a toast in water to the King and another to the president of the United States. Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon, sitting beside her, performed the ceremony with the aid of whiskey and soda.

Nationalization Radium Deposits Urged in House

OTTAWA, May 23 (CP).—Nationalization of the radium deposits in the region of the Great Bear lake was urged upon the government today by Milton N. Campbel (U.F.A., MacKenzie) in the house of commons. The house was in committee of supply with the estimates of the interior department under review. The facilities in the hospitals of Canada for dealing with cancer were inadequate, Mr. Campbell said, due to lack of radium. The cost of this was $70,000 a gram; and at present only one pound of radium was available in the whole world. Of this amount Canada possessed 16 grams.

Development of Churchill Should Be Done Orderly

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 23 (CP).—The view that the development of the port of Churchill must be orderly in order to avoid losses which might result from too-rapid development, and that responsibility for its future now rests upon the public, was expressed in a statement here today by E. B. Ramsay, chief commissioner of the board of grain commissioners for Canada.

RESCUERS AND WORKMEN DIE, MINE DISASTER

One of Six Working in Gutter of Lead Mine Escapes Unscathed

BAKEWELL, Derbyshire, Eng., May 23 (C P cable)—Eight men—five of whom were mine workers and the other members of a rescue party—are dead tonight folowing an explosion in the Shinning Gutter lead mine at the nearby village of Youlgreave.

Six men were in the mine when the explosion occurred late this afternoon. One man who was near the mine shaft gave the alarm and escaped unscathed.

The trapped men's comrades, led by Kenneth Seville, manager of the mine and president of the local branch of the British legion, immediately organized rescue parties. Three members of the rescue squad—including Manager Seville, whose wife tonight gave birth to a child—were killed in the attempt to save their frends.

Every man n the vicinity has volunteered to help in the search for the bodies. No explanation of the explosion has yet been given.

TRAIL SMELTER MAY HAVE PICNIC IN NELSON, 1932

Appoint Committee Chairman and Officers at Meeting Monday Night

TRAIL, B. C., May 23.—If they get the financial support which they believe the picnic warrants, employees of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, Limited, will hold their second annual picnic at Nelson on Saturday, July 23.

Voluntary subscription lists will be distributed throughout the plant at once, in order to ascertain the actual sentiment of employees toward the picnic.

Officers were elected at tonight's meeting, and it turned out to be practically a reelection of last year's officers as follows: J. Hart, chairman; T. O. Davies, secretary; . W. Guillaume, treasurer; W. Ramsay, financial secretary.

The chairmen this year will pick their own committee workers. Chairmen of the various committees will be as follows: P. H. Partridge, transportation; F. J. Sammons, refreshments; R. W. Savage, sports; W. Davies, first aid; and Herb Jackson, ground.

Last year the picnic cost close to $3000, which was raised by voluntary donations, and the meeting was very optimistic that the same success would attend its efforts this year as last.

ROME, May 23—General Italo Balbo, Italian air minister, today was elected president of the transoceanic flyers in convention here.

Winnipeg "Jungle" Inhabitants Stage Young Nude Parade

WINNIPEG, May 23 (CP)—It was warm and wet in Red river "Jungletown" today, just a stone's throw from Winnipeg Central police headquarters, and the homeless hundreds who live there staged their first nudist demonstration of the season.

It was a strictly private affair, however, and unlike the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors who parade on the highways of British Columbia the men of the jungle hung up their dripping clothes on trees and dried their bodies with a short run under the brief sun that followed an early-morning deluge of rain.

The rain was so heavy that even the river-bank dwellers who had cut out cave-homes in the high bank were soaked. A strong wind blew the rain inside their flimsily-doored hovels. The scores who sleep under trees or just lie down beside the rushing Red were drenched.

It took about an hour to dry out the watered clothing today, before noon "Jungletown" was back at its favorite pastime—crap shooting.

WEEKEND TOLL OF TRAINS ACCIDENTS INCLUDES A GIRL

KAMLOOPS, B. C., May 23 (CP)—Three dead, including one girl, and two injured, was the toll of train accidents occurring in this district over the week-end. The victims were transients, riding on freight trains.

Julia Selinsky, 22-year-old Saskatoon girl, was killed instantly today when the axle of an oil car broke, precipitating the girl on to the tracks, where the train crushed her to death. A companion, Hazel Kellar, of Moose Jaw, received a cut hand and broken collarbone. A youth named Belaney, travelling on the same car, received a broken leg. The accident occurred 60 miles west of here, and the injured were rushed to Kamloops hospital.

Jack Levine, another transient, was killed instantly when bumped off an eastbound freight train, near here, on Sunday.

Another Moose Jaw resident, Norman Fenton Holbrook, 45, was found dead near Ashcroft. It was believed he had been riding on a freight.

Doukhobor Movement From Nelson Awaits Accommodation Space

VICTORIA, May 23 (CP)—Further movement of Doukhobor prisoners from Nelson to Oakalla will take place as soon as the provincial authorities can arrange necessary accommodation for the change, it was intimated at the legislative buildings today.

Federal advices are awaited in provincial circles as to the final disposition of those sentenced to date. A flat for the prosecuton of the late group arrested will be requested immediately from the attorney-general, it was stated.

LUMBER AND COPPER HIT BY U. S. EMBARGO

Senate Virtually Votes Embargoes Against Canadian Commodities

WASHINGTON, May 23 (By Ken Clark, Canadian Press staff correspondent).—The United States senate tonight voted virtual embargoes against Canadian lumber and copper.

The vote on increasing the duty on lumber, except hardwood flooring, from $1 to $3 per 1000 cubic feet, was 36 to 24. The vote to place a tariff of four cents a pound on copper was 42 to 25.

Hardwood flooring was exempted from the lumber duty; it carries now an 8 per cent tax.

The increases are now provided for in the $1,000,000,000 revenue bill, and unless they are removed when the bill goes to compromise between house and senate, Canada stands to close a trade worth $28,000,000 in 1931. During that year Canada sold $13,000,000 of copped to the United States, and lumber valued at $15,000,000. Much of the copper was sent across the line in a raw state, refined, and shipped back again.

PROMISE OF RAIN CHEERS MANITOBA FIRE FIGHTERS

Desperately Battling Worst Forest Fire of North, Province

WINNIPEG, May 23 (CP).—Promise of rain this afternoon gave hope to weary fire-fighters of the Porcupine Mountain reserve area, who have been battling desperately for several days to check the worst fire that has yet struck Manitoba's northern forest lands.

For days the flames, carried by high winds, have been sweeping through the timber, leaving destruction in their wake. Buildings of the T. A. Burrows Lumber company, near Bowsman, Man., four miles east of the Saskatchewan border, were destroyed. Company officials said the loss of the buildings was not serious.

Today the fire was racing through timber owned by the Cavely Lumber company, near Bowsman, close to the timber limits of the Burrows company. Toward nightfall the wind was reported to have died down, and cloudy skies and occasional rumbles of thunder encouraged belief that the progress of the flames would soon be checked.

The fire which broke out in the Valley river district of Duck Mountain reserve last week was brought under control as the result of a drenching rain. Many minor fires are burning throughout the north country, but it is thought they can be checked.

Japanese Supreme at Shanghai, Dead

SHANGHAI, May 24 (AP).—The vernacular and foreign newspapers here today carried the report that General Oshinori Shirakawa, supreme commander of the Japanese army during the battle of Shanghai, who was wounded April 29 by a bomb, died at 9 p. m. last night of his wounds. The statement was made without qualification.

NARROW ESCAPE MARKS ARRIVAL DO X, ENGLAND

Caught in Fast Flowing Tide With Engines Stopped

SOUTHAMPTON, England, May 23 (AP)—The German flying boat DO-X narrowly escaped disaster on arriving here this evening after an uneventful flight of 630 miles from Vigo, Spain, in six and a half hours.

The giant plane alighted perfectly on Southampton water and was taken in town by the Royal Air Force ship Pinnacle, which was to bring her to her moorings. When she was in a position to be moored and the tow ropes had been cast off, one of her navigating officers leaning over the bows to grasp the moorings fell into the water.

With all her engines shut off the plane was caught in the grip of a fast-flowing tide and carried toward the Calshot air station Jetty.

The DO-X mechanics, standing on the wings, strove frantically to get some of her 12 engines working. First one, then another, stuttered and failed.

ONLY A FEW FEET

Finally, when only a few feet lay between the DO-X and the shipwreck, an engine sprang into life and the huge ship was slowly taxied out of danger.

Meanwhile the officer who had fallen into the water was rescued by a Royal Air Force dinghy.

Tonight, an hour or so after her arrival at 7:15 p.m. (15:15 p.m. eastern standard time), the plane lay opposite the air station in the glare of searchlights. Some 3000 gallons of fuel were put aboard her so she can resume her flight toward her base at Lake Constance tomorrow.

MYSTERY PRISONER AT NEW YORK IS BELIEVED TO BE WANTED BOMBER OF SHIP TENNYSON OFF COAST OF BRAZIL

NEW YORK, May 23—A mystery prisoner, described by the police as Captain Fritz Joubert du Quesne and by himself as Frank de Trofford Craven, was held here today at the end of a world-wide search for a former Boer rebel wanted in England for a ship bombing. The man, denying he was due Quesne, was taken into custody at the Quigley Publishing company, where he was employed as a critic.

The charge against du Quesne is that he had a part in the bombing and sinking of the steamer Tennyson, off Bahia, Brazil, in February, 1916. He escaped from Bellevue hospital in 1919, while awaiting extradition to England charged with murder in that connection.

From London, after the arrest, came cable information that du Quesne, who recently wrote a book making the claim he was responsible for the death of Earl Kitchener in the North sea when H. . S. Hampshire went down mysteriously, had been reported clearly of that office.

He had been interviewed by Col. Norman Thwaites, former head of the British intelligence service in the United States, the message said, who stated, "my records show that in June, 1916, when the Hampshire was sunk, du Quesne was in America."

RECOGNIZED BY NEWSPAPERMEN

The prisoner was taken to police headquarters where he was recognized by newspapermen who had worked with him years ago. To them he insisted they were confusing him with another person.

Du Quesne, records show, also was known as Claude Storeghtos and Fritz Fordham. He blazed a trail of adventures around the world, which were woven into the volume "The Man Who Killed Kitchener," by Clement Wood.

Arrested here in 1919 for the Tennyson sinking, he charged it was a subterfuge to return him to Great Britain to avenge his anti-British activities. A woman aided his getaway.

The activities Col. Thwaites summed up thus: "Du Quesne was a spy (during the war) and a good one from the German point of view, but whatever else he did he certainly could not have had any hand in the loss of the Hampshire."

The British consul general was notified of his arrest today and the request made that he be held.

B. C. BORROWS MILLION AND HALF POUNDS

Underwriting Completed in London; for 35-Year Period

BEARS INTEREST FIVE PER CENT

To Be Used Retire Treasury Bill, Defray Road, Bridge Costs

VICTORIA, May 23 (CP)—Hon. J. W. Jones, minister of finance, announced today that a loan had been negotiated in London for £1,500,000.

The loan, which bears interest at five per cent, was sold at 99 and is for a period of 35 years, callable in 25 years. It will be used to retire treasury bills and to defray cost of roads, bridges, university endowment and the Pacific Great Eastern railway. It was borrowed under powers granted at the last session of the legislature.

The principal and interest will be payable in London, according to Hon. Mr. Jones, who stated that the flotation was negotiated through the province's agents in London.

British Columbia is the first province to go to the old country for money during this period of financial stringency, stated Mr. Jones.

The last loan floated by the province was for $5,000,000 at 6.77 per cent, and was disposed of in February to Canadian banks.

CONFESSION OF MURDER GUILT TOLD, EVIDENCE

Sham Kour on Trial for Murder of Husband; Victim Dies at Sea

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 23 (CP).—Evidence that Sham Kour, 26, stated from a verandah of the Sikh temple, Vancouver, that she had killed her husband, Mahar Singh, was given in assize court today by Pal Singh, in the trial of the woman and Puran Singh Dial, 26, charged with conspiracy to murder Mahar Singh. The latter died under mysterious circumstances at sea on April 5, 1931, while en route to the Orient.

"Why you people making noise?" was the question addressed to the crowd in front of the temple by the accused woman, according to Pal Singh. "That was my man and I killed him. That's not your business."

Chee Singh, a Sikh priest from Hongkong, identified letters that had been sent him by Puran Singh Dial for delivery to Sham Kour, but which she did not get as she disembarked at Shanghai.

Sham Kour appeared in court on a stretcher, as she is suffering from a form of asthma.

Previous evidence has been to the effect that the accused tried to buy strychnine in Vancouver.

The trial is continuing.

The vote was 232 to 24.

The house was expected to sit only until the second week in July in order to let the British delegation to the Imperial economic conference reach Ottawa by July 20.

QUEBEC, May 23.—Rain which fell generally all over the province over the week-end, together with the decided drop in the temperature has stamped out forest and bush fires which for two weeks have been raging in different districts, and which caused damage estimated at close to the $1,000,000 mark.

Earl of Inchcape

MONTE CARLO, May 23 (AP).—The Earl of Inchcape, one of the great shipping magnates of the world and father of the Hon. Elsie MacKay, who perished in an attempt to fly the Atlantic in 1928, died today of a heart attack on his yacht Rover off Monte Carlo. He was 79 years old.

The earl, who was chairman of the Peninsular and Oriental Steamship Line, frequently gave of his services and his fortune to the British nation.

After the disappearance of their daughter and her pilot, Capt. Walter G. H. Hinchliffe, on the ocean flight, Lord and Lady Inchcape gave $2,500,000 to the British treasury to accumulate for 50 years at compound interest and then be used to reduce the national debt.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH IS JURY DECISION OF TRAIN VICTIMS

Fireman Dies of Burns Sustained in Attempt to Rescue Engineer

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., May 23 (CP)—Death of Rodney Donaldson and Alfred Connelly, victims of a train wreck near here early Friday morning, was accidental, declared the verdict of a coroner's jury here tonight after hearing evidence from witnesses and railway experts.

Donald, the engineer, was killed instantly when pinned beneath the engine and Conolly, the fireman, died late Friday night from burns and scalds suffered when he fought burning crude naphtha and steam in an attempt to rescue his running mate.

Evidence at the inquest failed to disclose any cause of the accident which occurred when an oil tanker immediately behind the engine jumped the tracks and fell over into a ditch, pulling the engine with it. Experts said the rails, engine and tankers, en route from Coutts oil field to Calgary via Lethbridge, were in good condition.

Witnesses told how the crude naphtha caught fire immediately after the wreck and how some of the tankers were pulled to safety from the flames.

Pacifists Should Urge Disarmament Within Five Years

GENEVA, May 23 (AP)—Prof. Albert Einstein expressed the impatience of anti-war leaders with the international disarmament conference by urging today that Pacifist people of the world demand direct and total disarmament within five years.

Lord Arthur Ponsonby of Great Britain joined the eminent German physicist in condemning to a gathering of newspapermen from all nations the current debates here of so-called experts.

They agreed with the recent statement of Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, British delegate, that disarmament never would be realized through the discussion of generals and admirals.

"There is plenty of intelligence at the arms conference, but little evidence of character," Professor Einstein said.

The famous scientist and his companion came to Geneva, they explained because of anxiety over the prospect that the disarmament conference might fail. They said they hoped to stir the peoples of all lands to demand total disarmament within five years.

"We think we represent a very large body of impatient public opinion," Professor Einstein said.

"The methods used at Geneva would be amusing if they were not so tragic. No technical method evolved by experts can prevent war, but only the will of people not to have more war."

New Jersey State Legislature Cleared for Reward Bill Passage

MOORE APPROACHED BY CAPONE GANG

Schwarzkopft Flatly Denies Curtis Recants Confession of Hoax

HOPEWELL, N.J., May 23 (By Francis A. Jamieson, Associated Press staff writer)—A $25,000 reward loomed ahead of the man-hunters engaged in pursuing the Lindbergh baby killers tonight as they opened up new channels of enquiry by mail.

At nearby Trenton leaders of the New Jersey state legislature, which reconvened during the day, cleared the way for passage of a bill empowering Governor A. Harry Moore to order a reward. The governor was prepared to act immediately.

"We think," said the governor, "and hope the reward may cause someone who knows something to squeal."

While he pointed out the state of New Jersey could not make a grant of immunity he said the measure authorizing the reward would have "more latitude" regarding its payment than the statue limiting routine rewards of $1000.

U. S. FLYING BOATS ON WAY TO B. C.

Represent Michigan Syndicate; Plan to Stake Claims, Scurvy Creek

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 23 (CP).—Four United States flying boats which cleared Canadian customs at Detroit on Saturday, ostensibly bound for Great Bear lake, are actually on their way to British Columbia with a party of prospectors, it is reported in Vancouver.

The party, headed by J. H. Eastman of Detroit, represents a Michigan syndicate which plans to stake claims in the Scurvy creek area southeast of Atlin, B. C.

The boats, it is reported, obtained Canadian licences on payment of duty at Windsor. They are being flown by Canadian pilots, and are expected to reach Prince George about the end of this week.

The Detroit party has been attracted to northern British Columbia by reports of a placer strike made on Scurvy creek by an Indian several weeks ago.

Other eastern United States parties are interested in the Scurvy creek area, it is said.

Scurvy creek is situated at the headwaters of the Liard river, and is reported to have been the goal of the late Capt. E. J. A. Burke's operations out of Atlin. The pilot lost his life through exposure and starvation in December, 1931, after his plane was forced down on a prospecting flight.

COUNCIL TELLS RELIEF MONIES DWINDLE, TRAIL

Grant Staging of Tag Day; Name Delegates to Nelson

TRAIL, B. C., May 23.—E. Foyle Smith waited on the council tonight to urge that the sidewalk on Oake street be replaced.

A letter was received from the superintendent of lands stating that information was expected shortly on the assistance available to put men on the land.

TAG DAY GRANTED

The council granted permission to the I.O.D.E. to hold its annual Alexander Rose day tag.

Allotments of plots in the new city cemetery by the Trail-Tadanac parks board was approved by the council.

DELEGATES NAMED

Mayor Bruno LeRose, Ald. E. L. Groutage and City Clerk W. E. B. Moneypenny were named by the council tonight as delegates to the Union of British Columbia Municipalities convention to be held in Nelson in June.

The question of whether licences were to be collected from unemployed canvassing or doing odd jobs in the city was debated by the council members. While the council had power to collect licences the aldermen felt that it would not be fair to do so.

BACK INSURANCE SCHEME

The council endorsed a resolution from Niagara Falls, Ont., urging the government to introduce an unemployment insurance.

Action was again deferred in the proposal to restrict parking on Bay avenue.

Dr. F. S. Eaton reported that there were no communicable disease in the city.

FUNDS DWINDLE

Just what action will be taken by the government to ensure citys to finance relief work was discussed. No action was possible as no word had been received. Trail would shortly be faced with the inability to provide work if nothing was forthcoming.

City Engineer McDiarmid was given the authority to build a shed in East Trail to house the city's equipment and supplies.

COUNCIL PASSES RESOLUTIONS ON NATIONAL TOPICS

For Unemployment Insurance, Alien Deportation, and Talkie Safeguards

Resolutions on provincial and national matters were freely passed by the city council Monday night.

On the motion of Alderman Ross Fleming, the council recorded itself as opposed to any change in the provincial regulations regarding theaters which would reduce the number of projectionists on duty to a smaller proportion than one to every projection machine. Alderman Fleming explained that the light used for projecting talking pictures created a heat of 600 degrees, to which the highly inflammable film was subjected, and that it was essental that there should be an operator for each machne, so that the one actually projecting could receive instance attention if something went wrong, with a consequent danger of precipitating fire.

This motion will be sent to Hon. R. H. Pooley, attorney-general, and will probably be submitted in more extended form to the convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities when it meets here in June.

Acids in Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Sourness, Gas and Pain. How to Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness burnings, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia, (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

CAROSELLA GETS PERSONAL SALES, LOSES ON OTHERS

All Assisted Sales Are Found Against Him; He Will Pay Costs

While the counsel in the suit of Carmin A. Carosella to recover commissions from Dominick Priore and the Union Garage of Trail on the sale of cars, by an hour's conference out of court Monday forenoon eliminated nearly half of the points in issue, the case in the end went to trial to settle the remaining points, and at the conclusion of the case late in the afternoon Mr. Justice Mrughy gave a mixed judgment, finding on the whole for the defendants and awarding them their costs, but finding one one point for the plaintiff.

Carosella, who was employed by the Union Garage in 1930 as a car saleman on a written contract, which at the beginning of 1931 was extended by verbal agreement to cover that year also, claimed he was entitled to collect 5 per cent commission on five sales he had affected personally, and similarily on five sales in which he claimed to have assisted.

POINTS IN ISSUE

At the conference between counsel, Donald MacDonald of Trail, on behalf of the defendants admitted four direct sales effected by Carosella—to Fred Parker at $90, George Beregon at $1960, L. A. Pratt at $40 and Ivor Jones at $1109.

This left a claimed sale to Lin Sing at $125 and five assisted sales, respectively to Trail Meat Market at $1410, Joe Rose at $1960, C. A. Broderick at $1565, J. D. Anderson at $2840 and A. Degusti at $2190, to go to his lordship's adjudication.

H. W. McInnes of Trail called two witnesses, Carosella himself and Lin Sing, the Chinese who had bought a used truck.

NINE DEFENCE WITNESSES

For the defendants Mr. MacDonald placed on the stand Mayor Bruno Lerose of the Trail Meat Market, Joe Lerose, J. D. Anderson, and Renaldo Degusti, as to four of the alleged assisted sales; Mike Verzuh and L. McGonnigle, as to a $5 payment alleged to have been made by Verzuh to Carosella; L. Maddison, bookkeeper of the Union Garage; Steve Walley, proprietor of the Dominion Garage, who recently employed Carosella as a car salesman; and Dominick Priore, manager of the Union Garage and one of the defendants.

Mr. Justice Murphy found that Carosella bought from it a car paid for it in part by his 1930 commission, but still owed a balance on it. The commissions on the four sales awarded him by the court will amount to $166.20. It is thought when the accounts are taken, including costs there may be a balance of a few dollars in his favor.

This case concluded the assizes, which opened here May 16, and which disposed of three damage suits, one commission suit, and two divorce petitions.

UNITED STATES HAS PEACE KEY SAYS ARCHDEACON

World Future Depends on Empire and States Being Hand in Hand

BANKS BEST LEADERS HE TELLS ROTARIANS

Britain Has Lost Sea Power and Insularity Has Gone; a New Situation

In an Empire Day address before the Nelson Rotary club Monday, Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham made the assertion that the future of the world depended on the future of the British Empire, and he suggested that the success of the British Empire in a large way depended upon a close cooperation with the United States.

Queen Victoria, said the archdeacon had two great passions, one for peace, and the other for the preservation of the Empire, and her reign of over 60 years had a powerful influence in shaping British world policy.

WAR ALTERED FACTORS

Up to the time of the Great War, he said Britain experienced a steady development of her leadership in world finance, of her international influence, and in development of the dominions, and growth of Empire solidarity, but two things arising out of the world war affected her position greatly and adversely.

One of these was the loss of her supremacy in sea power. While "Britania Rules the Waves" was still patriotically sung, the song no longer had its solid force. The second factor was that it was discovered that the insularity of the United Kingdom or of the main portion of it, no longer gave immunity from attack—due to the development of air transport, attack being possible from three sides, even the west, for it must be admitted that circumstances were conceivable under which Ireland might become the base of hostile operations. Since the war, difficulty had been added to difficulty for Great Britain, the speaker said. Some of these arose from the League of Nations.

Now the League, the archdeacon, contended, had one great advantage—it was a standing effort for peace, a magnificent object lesson, through whose agency no small work had been done, and no small influence exerted. But it had the disadvantage of having been brought about in the wrong way, and it could not possibly do the most effective work in great crises until it its basis was radically changed. If the League had been constituted differently, Japan would not have been able to thumb its nose at it—which was practically what Japan had done. The League had a Parisian birth of cynical intrigue, and France had monkeyed around with it and denuded it of much of its worth. Truly the Treaty of Versailles was one of the worst blunders of the pages of history.

Archdeacon Graham suggested that the peace conference could have handled the problems before it by following the Swiss plan, under which its three racial elements were practically self-governing, and presented a united national front to the world. But instead of that, the Versailles Treaty embodied a perfectly ridiculous gerrymander of boundaries. The maps of Poland and Czechoslovakia were monstrosities, and troble areas were manufactured, areas that even to the best-intentioned must have been foreseen to be inevitable trouble areas, such as the free city of Danzic and the Polish corridor.

BRITAIN SHORN SHEPHERD

And who was to shepherd these new national entities? Great Britain. And as she had lost her sea power and consequently prestige, these new countries could suit themselves about taking her advice.

No one country that he knew of was satisfied with the Treaty of Versailles, the speaker said, and in many there was a burning sense of dissatisfaction. That was the condition of Europe today. One of the reservations obtained to enter Germany at any time without it being considered an act of aggression, and the Locarno pact expressly provided that it could not abrogate any powers given to any country under the Treaty of Versailles. Thus France through clever and cynical politics had managed to obtain a predominant place among the powers.

EMPIRE OPTIMISM FOOLISH

What of the Empire, asked Archdeacon Graham, answering that it would be simply foolish to express an optimism that was not justified. Those people who said prosperity was just around the corner—what did they know about it? They must know the disease before they could prescribe.

In the course of Providence it had come about that the world had become one neighbor, remarked the speaker. Nothing happened today that was not known to the whole world tomorrow. The whole world was being linked together. If one member suffered, all the other members suffered with it. In order that peace and progress could obtain there must be one controlling factor.

The control could not be left to politics, for at its best politics exhibited a spirit of opportunism. It could not be left to the professors because they were idealogues. It could not be left to the merchants because they were innately selfish, and too much occupied with their own business. But one class of which not much was heard was really dominant in world affairs, the banking class. The Dawes plan was successful not because it was liked but because the bankers of the world were behind it. The big bankers of the world had shown a unity of conception and action in the present situation that proved that they were the ones who that control, and the center of world in the general interest should exercise finance, he said, had shifted from London to New York.

UNITED STATES STRONGEST POWER

There was no question, said the archdeacon, but that the United States of America was the strongest power in the world today. Through the most stupendous blunder in history it had been lost to the British Empire. But it had common ideals with the British Empire, and therefore it was essential for the integrity of the British Empire that Great Britain and the United Sates be in the closest touch in the matters of world policy and the comity of nations.

Take the case of the British dominions. Though they were actuated by an intense loyalty, it would not take much of a blunder by the British house of commons to make them greatly concerned as to their rights and the matter of independent action. He did not mean, he said, that any of them would necessarily be driven to an allegiance with the United States.

CLOSES CORRESPONDENCE NEEDED

But in any case there should be the closest possible correspondence between the British Empire and the United States, whose lines of progress were parallel to the British lines, whose ideals of world peace were the same, and which was progressing toward a broad internationalism.

Touching for a moment on the fiscal policies of the world, Archdeacon Graham said the individuals of the British Empire were paying through the nose for them. He did not want to enter into the controversy of protection versus free trade, but in a world given more and more to armaments there could be no permanent peace on a basis of protective tariffs, and of national boundaries that had to be defended. There must inevitably come a day when there would be a parliament of the world.

AMERICAN BANKERS CONTROL

The future of the Empire, Archdeacon Graham asserted, involved the future of the world, and no greater force could be conceived to assure such than the amity of the United States and the British Empire. Individuals could help this cause in no better way than by doing everything possible to cement this international delationship. The future of the Empire depended on recognition of the fact that there must be on control of world policy, acting in unison. The bankers of the United States held not only the destiny of Canada and of the British Empire, but of the whole world, in their hands in the not distant future.

DIFFERENCE IN TAXATION

Those who grumble a the new income tax should take a squint at what the people of Great Britain pay. A married man without children earning $50 a week in Canada will pay $2; in the old country he would have to pay $203.12. And just remember how the Britishers queued up this spring to pay their income taxes in order to help the country. — St. Thomas Times-Journal.

MORE ABOUT, REWARD

cies throughout the nation were sent specimens of handwriting contained in two ransom notes believed to have been received from the abductors of the infant through the aged Dr. John F. Condon.

CONDON ON STRANGE DASH

Two interesting adelights were another strange New England dash by Dr. Condon, the ransom payer, and a detailed story from Governor Moore of how ambitious agents of Al Capone approached him personally with a proposal regarding the case.

Governor Moore said that while walking home near midnight a short time before the finding of the baby's body, four men suddenly appeared in front of him and told him who they were.

The quartette proposed to render assistance in obtaining the baby's return provided "full credit" should accrue to their imprisoned leader. The governor said he told them he would convey the offer to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, which he did.

Travelling at a high rate of speed which had characterized his (?) which had characterized his motor journey into that section Saturday, Dr. Condon left his New York home in the morning and was driven to the summer home of a friend at Becket, Mass., where he said he planned to fish.

APPROACHED BY AL CAPONE GANG

TRENTON, N. J., May 23—Gov. A. Harry Moore today confirmed reports that three weeks ago four reputed agents of Al Capone, imprisoned Chicago gang leader, approached him at midnight with an offer to aid in the Lindbergh case.

"They said they believed Al Capone could help get the baby," the governor reported. "I promised to give their information to Colonel Lindbergh, which I did."

DENIES CURTIS RECANTS CONFESSION

TRENTON, N. J., May 23—Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police, flatly denied today John Curtis, jailed as hoaxer of the Lindbergh kidnap case had recanted his confession.

After a purported interview with W. C. Pender, Curtis' counsel was published (not by the Associated Press) Prosecutor Anthony Hauck questioned both Pender and Curtis. Then Col. Schwarzkopf issued the denial.

ROWING CLUB IS LENDING DOUBLE TO KELOWNA MEN

W. R. Carruthers and W. N. Kennedy Give Views on Rowing Clubs

WILL USE SHELL N.P.A.A.O. MEET

Extend Invitation to Kelowna Regatta on August 17-18 This Year

An executive committee from Kelowna, consisting of W. R. Carruthers, secretary of the Kelowna Aquatic association, and W. N. Kennedy, late of the Victoria Rowing club and now coach of the Kelowna Rowing club, were in the city yesterday afternoon for the purpose of obtaining a double shell from the Nelson Rowing club which they plan to use in the N.P.A.A.O. regatta this year, as the only double from the interior of British Columbia.

A meeting of the Rowing club was called, and both Mr. Carruthers and Mr. Kennedy gave their views on the manner of managing an organization such as the Nelson Rowing club. Both upheld the theory that the female body was a very valuable asset to any rowing club, and that although they were often a nuisance when it came to "toting" their boats up and down the ways, they were vigorous members of the club in the boats, and in several proven cases have made very good placings in the regattas. Not only this, but they are very active in raising funds for the organizations, and giving its fetes a finishing touch in the manner of decoration, etc.

However, before a woman member of the club is allowed to row she must have a certificate from her doctor stating that she is fit to row and do strenuous exercise.

KELOWNA REGATTA

They also extended from the Kelowna Rowing club an invitation for the Nelson Rowing club to enter into the regatta at Kelowna on August 17-18 of this year. They want several swimming and diving members of Nelson to enter into the aquatic sports, which are in connection with the regatta.

Mr. Carruthers stated that he had been in communication with Chelan, Wash., which is situated on the southern end of Lake Chelan, and that he had them interested in interior rowing. He thinks that it should be possible to make an interior rowing association with at least four entrants, Kelowna, Nelson, Vernon and Chelan, and possible to enter crews from this association into the N.P.A.A.O. regattas.

He mentioned that blazers with the Nelson colors and cloth badges give the club an appeal to the citizens of the city in which the club is situated, and gives them more publicity in arousing interest in a great sport.

"Competition is hard to get in the Kootenays and the Okanagan, and I think that there should be more intercourse between these two in the sports line in the future," he stated.

Mr. Kennedy told the members that he had two very good oarsmen who were entered in the N.P.A.A.O. this year, and that it was for them that he wished to obtain the double shell, as it had been impossible for him to obtain one from any other place soon enough for the regatta. He hopes that these men may be able to enter for the Olympic trials at St. Catharines later this year.

The rowing clubs at the coast are filled to capacity, and are pinched for equipment this year, and it appears this year will be one of the greatest in the history of Pacific coast rowing.

A motion to the effect that the Nelson Rowing club should lend their double shell for an indefinite period to the Kelowna Rowing club was made. The conditions were that the Kelowna Rowing club should effect all repairs necessary to the craft, which is subject o recall by the members of the Nelson club at any time.

They gave a brief lineup of the events in the regatta which is being held in Kelowna on August 17-18 of this year.

Vancouver, Victoria, Kelowna and Nelson, and perhaps other entries, will probably be competing in the racing fours. All the large interior towns in southern British Columbia will probably be entered in the swimming. Ordinary canoe racers will consist of singles, doubles and fours. All classes of outboard motors and other water-craft will be able to enter in the events.

The pavilion of the Aquatic club will be the scene of big dances, and the midway should prove quite an attraction this year.

SOFTBALL GETS OFF TO FLYING START MONDAY

Junior High Girls Defeat Midgets 36-5; Good Fielding Is Feature

The Girls' Softball league got away to a flying start last night at the junior high when the junior high defeated the Midgets 36-5.

The junior high girls played a more superior brand of ball all through the game than did the Midgets. The Midgets were handicapped by lack of practice this being their first year playing softball and many errors were chalked up against them. The heavy hitting and splendid fielding of the junior high girls were the feature of the game.

Gladys Jarrett pitched for the Midgets while Arla Saare and Jessie Gow handled the twirling for the junior high team. Gladys Jarrett was the star of the Midgets getting three of their five runs one of them being a home run with one on base.

The lineup with individual scores were:

Junior High—M. Stephenson 4, A. Saare 2, E. Smith 5, V. Matheson 4, E. Dinney 4, A. Smith 4, J. Gow 3, C. Talberg 3, G. Horstead 5, W. Lutes 2.

Midgets—L. Limacher 1, G. Jarrett 3, M. Burnett, J. Cull 1, G. Woods, F. Morris, V. Harlow, I. Mills, M. Roynon, J. Riddock.

G. Goucher umpired the game.

Baseball's Big Six

(By the Associated Press)

Continuing his drive toward a .450 batting average, an almost unheard of figure at this stage of the race, Jimmy Foxx of the Athletics was a bare three percentage points short of his goal today. The A's powerhouse pounced two singles in four trips against the Yankees yesterday to gain two points and boost his mark to .447. His closest rival, Tony Lazzeri of the Yanks, fell off to .409 when he went hitless in his only time at bat.

BOSTON 6, WASHINGTON 22

WASHINGTON, May 23—The last place Boston Red Sox turned into a formidable hard hitting team today behind the effective pitching of their left hander, Welland, to down easily the second place Senators 6 to 12.

Bobby Burke, left hander, who pitched a no hit game against Boston last year started and the first batter, Van Camp, sent a whistling triple to right center. Burke was removed in the second, but neither Marberry, nor Crowder, his successors were particularly effective.

NEW YORK 6
PHILADELPHIA 5

NEW YORK, May 23—A bit of sparkling pinch pitching of the kind the Yanks were supposed to do without this season beat the champion Philadelphia Athletics 6 to 5 today, helped even the first two games of the series, and kept the Yanks sailing easily along at the head of the American league.

Big Red Ruffing stepped in to the breach in the ninth inning with one out, a run already in, Al Simmons perched on third with the tying run, Jimmy Foxx on first and forced Roettger to pop futilely and Williams to fly to the outfield.

George Pipgras held the A's in check up to the ninth with the exception of a three-run burst in the fifth.

Ruffing came in to save the day after Cochrane walked with one out and Simmons and Foxx singled.

Knight Gets Decision Over Charlie Belanger

BOSTON, May 23.—Joe Knight, Cairo, Ga., light-heavyweight, tonight gained a decision over Charlie Belanger of Winnipeg in the Argonne A.A.'s 10-round feature. Knight weighed 177 and Belanger 182.

Knight piled up an impressive lead in the first four rounds, but appeared to take terrific body punishment during all the other six sessions. The decision was highly unpopular.

Big League BASEBALL Warming Up

(By Al Demaree)

The way a pitcher warms up before a game has a great deal to do with how he pitches in the ball game.

The young pitcher should always remember to pitch to certain "spots" and have his catcher hold his glove at these "spots."

After the first few, limbering up balls have been thrown, have a definite objective for every fast, curve or slow ball you throw. Have your catcher hold his glove for high fast balls, both out and inside the plate and then low fast balls in the same manners.

Keep all your curves and slow balls low, at least below the batter's waist and outside the plate if possible. In this manner you will get the habit of pitching them there. Always remember in high curve or a high slow ball never fools any batter.

When you wish to change from curve balls to fast ones in warming up, notify your catcher of your intention by either a hand or word sign. If he is looking for a curve and you throw him a fast one you may injure him, especially his hands.

Al Demaree has prepared an illustrated leaflet on "Base Running" which he will gladly send to any reader requesting it. Address Al Demaree in care of this paper and be sure to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Canzoneri was credited with a knockout.

National Baseball

BOSTON 5, BROOKLYN 4

BOSTON, May 23—Rabbit Maranville came to bat with two out in the last of the tenth inning today and came through with a scorching single that defeated Brooklyn, 5 to 4, in the series opener and planted the Braves back at the top of the National league standing.

Robert (Red) Worthington was perched on third base when the Rabbit, veteran of a score of years of big league baseball, stepped to the plate. Worthington had doubled with one away and reached third on Art Shires' outfield fly. He scored easily on Maranville's blow, the fourth of the day for the Rabbit.

SMITH BEATEN IN DEFENCE OF GOLF TITLE, SCOTLAND

Leonard Martin Does Trick; Four U.S. Entries Turned Back

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 23—(AP)—Eric Martin Smith, defending titleholder, was quickly eliminated today in a surprising defeat of the opening day's play in the British amateur golf championship.

Smith fell before Leonard Martin, champion of metropolitan New York, who was four down at the 11th but rallied to win one up.

In four other matches that carried an international flavor, British golfers turned back four players from the United States.

Andrew Jamieson, young Scotsman who defeated Bobby Jones here in 1926, won from Paul Azbill, an American, though entered from Sunningdale, six and five; E. Watson, another Scottish player, defeated Clive Alvord, of Greenwich, Conn., by the same score; Col. P. G. M. Skene defeated Stuart Scheftel, an American now living in London, two and one, and A. J. Peech of Worplesdon won from Frank Sweeney, American student at Oxford, six and four.

Among those eliminated today were E. C. Bowen of the Ladbrook Park club, who fell before Ross Tompson, of Uniontown, Pa., two up; W. S. Peacock, of the Kilmacolm club, was defeated by Douglas Grant, a former California champion, long resident in England, two and one; and Captain J. R. Pelham-Burn of the Royal and Ancient, who was defeated by Robert Sweeney, brother of Frank, two and one.

Several matches were postponed until tomorrow when darkness called a halt to play.

B. C. Lawn Bowling Association Asked Form Team, Trials

VANCOUVER, May 23 (CP)—The British Columbia Lawn Bowling association has been authorized by the Canadian lawn bowling council to organize the official Canadian team of four rinks to take part in the nations game in the world's lawn bowling tournament at Los Angeles at the time of the Olympic games.

The British Columbia association has undertaken this task and is now calling for applications from members of affiliated clubs as well as from other provincial associations. The closing date for clubs in British Columbia has been set as June 8.

A election committee has the authority to chose from among the applicants those who are deemed suitable material to represent the Dominion in the game against other British dominions and the United States team. Should there be insufficient applications or should the applicants not measure up to the standard of international players, the selection commitee has the authority to rule that no team be formed and that Canada be not represented.

THEY LIKE HAFEY

Cincinnati has taken Chick Hafey, former Cardinal slugger, into its arms. In his first appearance he indicated there was nothing at all the matter with his eyes, when he backed unerringly up the slope in the Red's left field for a long drive And has he been hitting!

• • •

ST. LOUIS SORRY

It might seem far-fetched to say that when the Cardinals traded Hafey to the Reds they put some silver into the pocket of Phil Ball, owner of the Browns. But that is exactly the case. A large group of St. Louis fans, in protest at the handling Hafey received, deserted the Card and now unhoard their nickels to watch the Browns.

• • •

KRESS GETS WISH

Ralph Kress, traded to the White Sox for Hadley and Campbell, was dissatisfied at St. Louis. He did not try to keep that fact a secret, either. St. Louis club officials looked upon the redhead as a "disgruntled ball player." And for several years Bill Killefer has been sweet on Bump Hadley as a pitcher, though Hadley inevitably disappointed Washington, where a great deal was expected of him.

• • •

THE SOX INFIELD

Now the White Sox infield compares favorably with any in the league, with Lu Blue at first, Johnny Hodapp or Luke Appling at second, Kress or Appling at short and Carey Selph at third. Appling has shown great improvement. It is the belief of Lew Fonseca that he will become one of the best infielders in the league.

• • •

SEEDS CAN GO

The speed of Bob Seeds will add much to the White Sox outfield. Just to make a brash prediction, they will be ranking Seeds very soon with such outfielders as Mule Haas. And they are ranking the ule pretty high. In some parts of the bleachers you can pick up the information that Haas is the greatest center fielder since Tris Speaker.

• • •

SAVING BALL GAMES

A great many ball games are saved in center field. Mule Haas saved two this year from the Yankees. A couple of long drives of Ruth's to the remotest reach in center field, would have broken up the game in which they were made if Haas had not been there.

EXCESS FAT AND SCIATICA
Short of Breath—Used to "Puff and Blow"
NOW GOES UP HILLS LIKE A STEAM ENGINE

"Fourteen weeks ago I had an awful attack of Sciatica in my hip. I took a large dose of Kruschen Salts every morning, and after a week the pain disappeared, and since then has not returned, thanks to Kruschen. Well, when I saw what Kruschen had done for my hip, I said to myself, 'What about trying to lose some overweight.' I am 5ft. 5ins. in height and 22¼ lbs. in weight, or 70 lbs. more than I should be. Well, this last 13 weeks I have taken Kruschen Salts regularly and I feel a different being. My wind and action improved wonderfully—can go like a steam engine up a hill—whereas I used to puff and blow, and had no breath. Now I never know I am on a hill, they are all the same, and I am not nearly as stout as I was."—R. S.
Curious, you may think, this double effect of Kruschen in ridding the user of sciatica and excess fat, too. Curious until you realise that sciatica and excess fat are twin brothers. They have their common cause in sluggish eliminating organs which allow waste products to collect and generate dangerous body poisons. Amongst those poisons is uric acid, which is invariably associated with sciatica, rheumatism, and kindred complaints. Nature endeavours to relieve the system of this poison-breeding waste material by storing it up in the tissues in the form of fat. The six salts in Kruschen stimulate the internal organs to proper elimination. They allow no particle of waste matter to remain unexpelled and to be transformed by the body's chemistry into excess flesh. Your inside is kept clean and serene; uric acid is afforded no chance to form. Internal cleanliness, moreover, means the circulation of clear, refreshed blood to every cell of your system, converting every vein of you into a tiny torrent of energy, filling every fibre of you with that "Kruschen feeling" of fitness.
Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle.

Fighting a Winning Battle

The speech of S G. Blaylock, General Manager of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., at Trail on Thursday evening will dispell wild rumors which are from time to time spread regarding the intention of the company, upon whose operations the whole of this district depends for its business and employment to such a large extent.

Mr. Blaylock stated frankly the difficulties under which the company was being operated. Metal prices have fallen to such a low figure that the actual cost of producing lead and zinc, the chief products of the company, is higher than the market price.

But the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. has the "best mine in the world," it has the "best processes in the world," and the "best men in the world."

With all these assets, Mr. Blaylock is positive that the company "can finish up on top of the heap."

He looks for a "hard, hard fight," but he does not expect that the company will have to lay off "many, if any, more men, except those who do not give everything they can to the battle."

The Japanese Situation

Through the cable censorship exercised at Tokio comes news of the latest outrage of the Japanese jingoes, the assassination of Premier Inukai and the bombing of a half dozen places of political importance in the Japanese capital. The probability appears strong that the affair was of greater significance than the dispatches are allowed to indicate. It is a fair inference that where there is a censorship, the worst is not allowed to become known and it seems likely that when correspondents are allowed to intimate that constitutional government is threatened the fact is that it is seriously endanged and may be overthrown at any moment.

It is stated in some dispatches that the slaying of the Premier was a protest against the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Shanghai and the lack of what is described as a "firm policy" in Manchuria—though what the policy lacks in firmness is difficult to discern at this distance.

All the available evidence tends to bear out the assertion that the whole affair, including the Manchurian adventure, is a development of Japanese internal politics. It has no rhyme or reason when explained in any other terms. It is revolt, revolt against the parliamentary system, perhaps even against the rule of the Mikado. Its aim—described as "Fascist military dictatorship"—is a modern name for an ancient Japanese institution, the Shogunate.

Japan needs no ideas borrowed from Germany or Italy for setting up a military government; she had such a government for some 700 years, and it was abolished as recently as 1867, within the memory of many living Japanese. The military leader, with the aid of a feudal system, governed in the name of the Mikado, who reigned—without ruling—in seclusion. In all probability it is the memory of that time rather than the philosophy of Mussolini and Hitler which is the chief inspiration of the present retrograde movement.

That the jingoes, or militarists, may have temporary success in seizing the government seems quite possible; that they will be able permanently to reverse the evolution of the Japanese nation is hardy conceivable. Several insuperable obstacles bar the way to that goal; the fact that evolution is irreversible; the fact that Japan has changed from the self-contained and self-sustaining economic set-up of the Shogun era to a nation largely dependent upon foreign trade; and the impossibility of financing such an adventure, are among them. In no country has the rise of a middle class, of bankers, traders and manufacturers, to the principal power on government, been successfully prevented. It is this rise of the commercial class that is objected to by the jingoes, but it will surely beat them in the long run.

For the present, however, the revolt and its possible effects must be looked upon as grave threats to world peace. In what direction the militarists may strike is questionable, though China of course, is the most probable victim. Japanese military prestige suffered a severe blow in the costly and futile Shanghai drive, and its restoration probably is considered paramount in army and navy circles.

These young hot-bloods, resentful and disdainful of commence and finance is indispensable. That Japan has war is not carried on by men alone, and that the aid of commrece and finance is indispensable. That Japan has no long purse, and probably will be unable to get credit in any volume, is the saving factor in the situation. Yen dropped sharply in the international exchanges on the news from Tokio, and the Japanese currency now stands at but little more than half of its nominal value. It would drop out of sight if Japan became engaged in a real war, even with such an adversary as Russia.

German is being restored to the curricula of many high schools, but from the looks of things in the Far East, it might be better to teach Chinese and Japanese.

The rest of the world may be suffering from a depression, but China is certainly back to normal. Another revolution has broken out in South China.

The militarists must have had a good laugh when they read that peace envoys in Manchuria were escorted by a company of Japanese marines.

Life's a funnny thing, observes a prominent author. Maybe it's not so funny to the millions of jobless.

The mild coffees of Central America find their greatest popularity in the countries of South America. Even countries like Brazil and Colombia, where coffee is the principal crop, import large consignments from the Central American states of Guatemala, El Salvador and Nicaragua. The demand for Guatemala coffee in Chile was particularly strong until the market was interrupted because of trade embargoes and reduced purchasing power during these past years of economic reverses. The consul of Guatemala in Valparaiso reported a few years ago that coffee drinkers in Chile were willing to pay twice as much for Guatemalan coffee as for the best product of South American countries. The price of Guatemalan coffee on the wharves at Valparaiso was 4.80 pesos per sack, while that from Colombia and Brazil cost but 2.30 pesos. —Excelsior, Guatemala City.

What Do You Think?

A Vancouver Opinion of the Doukhobor Matter

To the editor of The Nelson Daily News:

One of the most serious mistakes made by an attorney-general in British Columbia for many years is the commitment of 780 Doukhobors to three years in Oakalla, and the transferance of their children to coast cities where they are to be taken care of, fed, housed and educated during the three years of their parents incarceration.

The action is especially drastic when it is shown that the taxpayers of the province must pay $4,500,000 during that time for the subsistance of the 780 persons, and more so when, at the present time the estimated assets of the Doukhobor communities in the province is $16,000,000.

The Hon. R. H. Pooley, attorney-general, is sadly out in the favor of the people of the province as a result of his saddling the taxpayers with this additional burden, when we have so many unemployed on our hands, that of necessity must be taken care of.

Surely the attorney-general, a person whose qualifications for that position are supposed at least to be fairly good ,realizes what such action means on his part, not only to himself but to his party in the forthcoming elections.

While the men nad women incarcerated, fed and clothed "by kind permission of the attorney-general" their children are likewise being unemployed, even those willing to of the influences which are withheld from others, not so fortunate.

On the other hand we have over 10,000 Canadian unemployed in the province, many of them with families who are on the verge of starvation, and great majority of these unemployed, even those willing to accept the most menial of tasks in order to eke out a living, are in rags and a disgrace to the government of the day.

It is the concensus of opinion that the attorney-general should first look out for the citizens of his own country before filling the jails with foreigners who refuse allegiance to the country they are making their living from.

Some of the men arrested, press reports state are wealthy in their own right, and have left their sons and daughters to run their extensive farms and continue to derive a revenue while they are saving living expenses. Is that right?

The Doukhobor is supposed to be a hard working person, even their womenfolk working side by side in the fields. If this same policy were to be followed during incarceration it might have a good effect on nude parades.

With reputed assets of $16,000,000, it might be a wise policy if a certain section of the community were turned into internment camps for those three years, forcing the rest of the community to support the prisoners, who would be under the wardenship of provincial officers, whom the Doukhobors profess to like.

In this way the money which the taxpayers would otherwise be forced to pay for the upkeep, at the pleasure of one government official, of 800 men and women, would be saved. One would think that that official, no matter what his politics or creed, would hesitate in taking such a step at this time, and especially in the absence of his chief, the premier.

If the communities were formed to pay for the subsistance of the prisoners instead of the taxpayers, the government would have that $4,500,000 to alleviate some of the distress and suffering now rampant among those of our own white race, which is sorely enough needed, without going to the extreme of extending a "glad hand" to those who, after all, are not our own blood, and who are well able to care for themselves.

It would be wise if Hon. Mr. Pooley were to re-consider his move, even after his trip to Nelson and his speech to those foreigners about "playing cricket," a game which they no doubt know nothing about and don't care to.

Perhaps, on the other hand, the Doukhobors are just two jumps ahead of Mr. Pooley in finding a way out of the depression and British Columbia, because he fell for it, is the sucker to the tune of four and a half million dollars. Smells like an old oil-deal. One could not be surprised at such a thing for Hon. Mr. Pooley has been known to have fallen before now.

THE "DEFENCE" OF PARIS

The authorities of Paris are preparing elaborate plans for the defence of the city against aerial bombardment. The French public is never left for long without some reminder of the "imminent" danger of attack from Russia, or Italy, or Germany. The real danger, unless provoked by France herself, must, in the present state of the world, be extremely slight. It may perhaps still be the duty of the war department or the new ministry for national defence, to envisage it and to guard against it. But this constant harping in public on the likelihood of France's being attacked is not calculated to increase that feeling of security which the French government professes so earnestly to desire.—The Manchester Guardian.

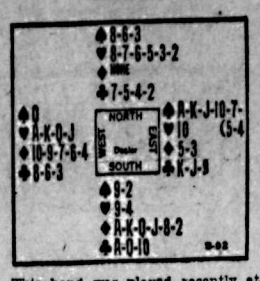
Auction and Contract Bridge

By the World's Leading Authority, MILTON C. WORK

TRUMPING PARTNER'S TRICKS



This hand was played recently at nine tables of Duplicate Contract with both sides vulnerable. At the tables where South bid two Diamonds, West passed gladly, North passed sadly, and East called two Spades. South passed and West declared his powerful Hearts. North passed, and East's four Spades concluded the contracting. If South started with one Diamond, West bid one Heart, East two Spades, South three Diamonds and East four Spades. At Auction South would try to pre-empt with four Diamonds and East would overcall with four Spades securing the contract.

At five of the nine tables Declarer made game. South led the King and Queen of Daimonds to tricks 1 and 2 an North discarded two Hearts. Then South led his Ace of Clubs to trick 3 and Declarer had a showdown for the remaining tricks by discarding his Jack of Clubs on one of dummy's high Hearts. Did North and South adopt the proper defense?

THE CORRECT PLAY

It was South's lack of imagination that spilled the garden seed. He needed a Club lead from North and, when North refused Diamonds, South knew that East held but two Diamonds. South's second lead should have been the Diamond Deuce instead of the Queen. This lead was made at three tables and of course North was forced to ruff. North wouldn't lead a trump, shouldn't lead a Heart and couldn't lead a Diamond; so he led a Club on which East played the Jack, and then South set the contract one trick by winning with his Ace and Queen.

At one table Declarer was set two tricks by foresight on the part of North. The bidding had indicated Club strength in the hands of South and East, and this clever North reasoned that South might desire to have Clubs led twice toward his hand. North figured that game could not be saved unless South had the Ace-Queen of Clubs, and he might have the Ace-Queen-Ten. So North ruffed South's Diamond King on trick 1 and led a Club to trick 2; then a second Diamond ruff (trick 3) and a second Club lead (trick 4) netted North and South three Club tricks and two Diamond ruffs, setting the contract two tricks. North's first ruff may have been based a little upon reasoning of the Sherlock Holmes order; it would have presented East with an extra trick had he held the Ace of Clubs; but in that case, it was not likely that game could be saved.

U. S. WANTS NO MORE IMMIGRANTS

The tide of immigration has been turned back to the Old World for the first time since records have been kept, with the full approval of the public. It is improbable that unrestricted immigration will ever again be permitted. The United States is now a grown-up nation. It does not need vast numbers of immigrants to develop the country. What it really needs is opportunity to digest and nationalize the excessive number of aliens who are already here.—Washington Post.

THE ROARIN' GAME

Played by peers and commoners no sport is as democratic as curling. On the ice no social distinctions are known or admitted. It is essentially a game in which all men are equal and authority is vested as singly as it is completely in the "skip." He is the captain of his side, and regardless of who may compose it his word is law. Perhaps no other race but the sturdy independent, granite-principled Scot could evolve a sport that bears its particular characteristics. — Ottawa Journal.

APPLES

When we were youngsters apples were considered a real treat, particularly if they were gathered in an orchard where there was a watch dog or other methods of protecting them.

Today it is quite a common sight to see thousands of apples lying under the trees, sometimes, but not always, to be food for farm animals.

It is true that certain varieties are carefully picked and find a good market abroad, but hundreds of thousands of barrels of apples go to waste every year in North America.

It is hard to understand why apples are not used more, eaten raw, in salads, in pies, baked or roasted. The old saying that an apple a day keeps the doctor away is really true, yet it would seem that because other fruits, some of them coming from distances of thousands of miles are brought to our attention by advertising or other methods, that the real value of the apples is forgotten.

Aside from its vitamin and food value, which compares very favorably with most other fruits, it has an especially helpful action on the intestine.

J. W. Schrieber, Berlin, shows that in acute and catarrhal intestinal ailments including the common dyspepsias, an apple diet causes a change in the large intestine so that the helpful organisms were increased and the harmful ones decreased.

This means that those miserable symptoms that accompany some forms of dysentery, diarrhoea, gas formation, and severe gas pressure, are relieved by the use of apples.

Of course it cannot be denied that there are some individuals who cannot eat raw apples without getting a stomach ache. If the apples is chewed slowly this can often be overcome However the majority of people can eat a baked apple without feeling the slightest distress.

Just as vitamins have the power to make two foodstuffs give more nourishment when taken together than when taken separately so the apple seems to have the power to strengthen the helpful working organisms in the large intestine to act with more strength on the waste matter of the large intestine, and to lessen the power of the harmful organisms.

It would be a good health habit wherever possible to include apples in your daily fruit intake.

Lindbergh Case a Crime Against the Nation

(By Virginia M. Cummings)

United States is on trial before the world as never before. Will she bring to justice all the kidnappers and highjackers in the Lindbergh case, or will she not? Charles Lindbergh has performed many a signal service for his country. In his Gethsemane he seems to have found no one who would do a whole-hearted service for him. One trusted intermediary is admittedly shielding someone closely allied to the criminals. (Even should this prove to be laudable, it is not what Lindbergh engaged him for!) Another lured him and held him for days away from the trail of his child, just for the money that was in it! In some ways this is worse than the original theft for Curtis did it knowing that every day the baby might be with the kidnappers was a potential death for it, so precarious is the life of a little child. He did it knowing that every day Lindbergh was away from his wife increased her strain to the point where she might well have brought forth an abnormal child.

This case is peculiarly a crime against the nation because of Lindbergh's courage and his being such a man of action. He did not know what fear was. The disappearance of his child was the one thing that had power to strike him with terror, to inject fear into his subconsciousness and at the same time to hold him helpless, inactive. What a particular hell! He may never have that sublime fearlessness again!

No wonder Lindbergh takes his wife to France! It's a wonder he doesn't take her to Zululand, or among the African headhunters, where any treatment she might receive would be relatively kind!

Is the United States, or is it not, going to be a country where men who can give their sons extra large craniums and high foreheads may have a reasonable hope of raising them? The world is waiting to be shown!

GERMAN MUSIC PATRONS

Suspension of government-operated opera houses in two German cities is among the economies undertaken in the latest drive for balancing the national budget. If doing without subsidized opera should strike the outsider as a minor hardship, he would be overlooking the extent to which music has long been in Germany not a luxury but almost a necessity of life. American singers returning from Germany report the people there cutting down on essentials but still going to concerts and the opera.

Soon after the war, and particularly during the years of currency deflation, impoverishment of the middle classes was brought about. There followed drastic reduction of food budgets and the most painful economies in dress. In the provincial opera houses the traditional parade during the intermissions offered an exhibit of apparel that was simultaneously eloquent of poverty, courage—and a love for music.—New York Times.

Miss Campbell's Recipe for Cup Cakes

½ cup butter — 2 cups pastry flour
1 cup sugar — (or 1½ cups bread flour)
2 eggs
½ teaspoon vanilla extract — 3 teaspoons Magic Baking Powder
½ teaspoon salt — 1 cup milk

Cream butter thoroughly; add sugar a little at a time, beating well. Add yolks of eggs and vanilla; beat well. Sift flour with baking powder and salt, and add, alternately with milk, to first mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in greased cup cake tins, or in paper baking cups, in moderate oven at 375° F. about 25 minutes. Serve warm from the oven, sprinkled with powdered sugar. Or cool, and frost the tops. You will find many delicious frosting recipes in the Magic Cook Book.

"Cup Cakes are delicious when made with Magic Baking Powder,"

WINNIFRED BEALE AND THOMAS WEIR UNITED, MARRIAGE

Many Friends Attend Wedding of Popular Couple of Cranbrook

CRANBROOK, B. C., May 23.—One of the prettiest and most perfectly appointed weddings to take place in Cranbrook occurred on Saturday afternoon at Christ church when Winnifred Ariel, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Areal Beal was united in marriage to Thomas Niven Weir of Invermere, Rev. F. V. Harrison officiating.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, was very lovely in a white georgette and lace model over which was worn a handsome veil of old Brussels lace. Silver shoes were worn and a bouquet of pale yello roses was carried. The bride was attended by her only sister, Miss Barbara Beale, who wore a handsome frock of yellow georgette with matching hat and white iris. The groom was attended by Mr. Kenneth Marpole of Invermere.

The church was decorated by friends of the bride, was fragrant with myriads of apple bloom, lilac and yellow tulips. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Edmondson, organist of the church, and a full choir was present. During the signing of the register A. S. Manson sang "'Tis Not For Me."

RECEPTION AT BRIDE'S HOME

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Lumsden avenue when about a hundred guests assembled to express good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Weir. Mr. and Mrs. Beale received with the bridal party, Mrs. Beale wearing a mauve ensemble with black hat. The rooms were profusely decorated with lilacs and Darwin tulips.

The health of the bride was proposed by Dr. Green in his usual happy vein. He stated that he had known the bride at a very early age and humorously warned the groom that he had noticed that she had rather slurred one of the important words of the marriage ceremony. The groom made an appropriate response which was heartily applauded. Punch was dispensed by Mrs. C. O. Staples with friends of the bride acting as serviteurs. These were Miss Betty Green, Miss Eleanor Green, Miss Phyllis Thompson, Miss Kathleen Staples, Miss Susanne Staples, Miss Nora Miles, Miss Nancy Nisbet, Miss Mary Green and Miss Rachel Green.

A shower of rice and confetti accompanied the departure of the happy pair.

ANSWER TO INQUIRIES

Lucking Experience: "Please tell me how clarify fat."

Answer: To two cups of fat add two quarts of water. Put this into a pan and bring to a boil over a slow fire. Then add two cups of raw potato parings and one-half cup of crushed eggshells; let boil two hours, adding more water as the original amount evaporates. There must be two quarts of liquid at the end of the two hours of boiling. Now strain all through a colander into a shallow pan, set aside till hard, then remove the sheet of fat (which has formed, floating on top of the water, and place this fat in your oven in a pan, letting it stay there till all water has evaporated from it. Strain it through a fine sieve into a crock to be stored away till needed. Dark fat, full of food particles, used for frying doughnuts and other deep-fat foods, may be clarified again by this method.

Miss R. R.: "We have cherries in our yard, and I would like to learn to candy them, for use next winter in decorating iced cakes and desserts. Can you help me?"

Answer—To Candy Cherries: Pit firm cherries and cover them with vinegar. Leave them 24 hours in this vinegar, then drain off the liquid and weight the fruit; to it add an equal weight of ganulated sugar; let stand (no cooking) for seven days, stirring each day. Then put into clean jars and seal airtight over new rubbers. No processing. (The vinegar soaking preserves them.

Mrs. Q. Z.: "Would you advise valances across tops of my windows, as well as the side-strip overdrapes?"

Answer: It depends upon the height of your windows. Very tall windows look more "homy" with the ruffled or straight valance across the tops; short windows, on the other hand, appear too short with a valance—unless you desire a very informal, cottage-like effect.

The Beauty Box

By Helen Follett

From the purely aesthetic standpoint, eyes are the most beguiling feature. They beckon and they repel. They shine with the warmth of affection, they assume the steely glint of scorn. Questing for beauty, one should have ones' eyes well in hand, as it were, make them behave prettily. While shape and color and surrounding tissues have much to dowith the good looks of soul orbs, it is the expression that makes them interesting. Natural amination lights up the lanterns. Good nature softens them. Humor puts the sparklers in 'em.

Posture is a thread-bare subject, the beauty class hates any reference to it, but once again the preacher of pulchritude must stress the need of carrying the body tall, throwing back the hips, flattening the tummy. Remember that the spinal column has 34 joints. Between the joints are cushions that lose tone and elasticity if the body does not have exercise or if it is not carried splendidly. When these cushions harden there is no graceful movement, only slow motions that are characteristic of advanced age.

If the neck is short and thickset, beware of the rounded neck line on frock or blouse. The V cut is flattering and the neck will serve. The habit of throwing the head forward will ruin the youthful contour of the throat, bing along that extra chin which is so hateful, and so difficult to demolish without professional treatment.

Singeing the hair is nothing more than a beauty superstition. We used to hear that if the hair were cut it bled, which is a fine kettle of bunkum. Since there are no veins in the hair, it can't bleed. Cutting does nothing to the growth one way or another; it doesn't make the hair thicken or thinner. If it thickened the hair, we'd have no baldheaded men among us. And how much handsomer then the human race would be.

When pimples are opened a sterilized needle should be used; hold the needle in a flame for a moment. When expelling pus, wrap the fingers in gauze so the skin will not be damaged. Careless treatment of blackheads and pimples results in scars, blemished that can be removed only by means of plastic surgery.

Hands of housekeepers get waterlogged. Flash fall into wrinkles, skin surface becomes rough. The dish washing mop and a pair of rubber gloves will give mitts a chance to restore themselves, get back to beauty par. And a hand lotion—our olf friend rosewater and glycerine isn't bad—applied three times a day is worth the time and trouble.

"No," Gigi looked up at him sideways; "but I have the right to think. I am sure. She played too long with D'Arblaye, and he tried to force her, and she killed him in sudden panic. I am sure. She would always shrink from paying her debts She did not like the conversation, yet she began it. She did not show any real sympathy with Monsieur Staire. She felt uncomfortable. She tried to get away from it. She shivered, yet it fascinated her. Why did she do all these things? This woman . . oh . . . I tell you, she makes me sick in my stomach!"

Ravel looked down at his little guest in amazement. Gigi's slender body was actually shuddering. Presently, annoyed at the silence, Gigi looked up.

"Why don't you speak?" she said. "Why do you not say you do not believe?"

"Because I think I do believ you." Ravel said slowly. "But wait, Gigi, what can be done? I cannot go to her and say: 'You murdered this man—I believe you killed him, and you met Monsieur Staire near the place and put the blame upon him.' That is impossible. One can't do those things."

Gigi gave a violent twist of her slender little body.

"Oh! One cannot do this—one cannot do that" she exclaimed. "Very likely not; but are you going to let him rot out his life in an English prison? Bah! You have no feeling."

"I have a great deal of feeling, on the contrary," Ravel said patiently. "But I must think. You must give me time, Gigi. This is a very great difficulty."

"Leave her to me. I will find out. she said boastfully. "I discovered what none of you so clever people discovered. She shall confess herself. Just wait; but ask her—" she waved her cigarette in the direction of Toni's portrait—"Ask her to come too. I am sure there is something she will be able to tell me."

INSTALMENT XXVI.

"Mother, how very odd of Monsieur Ravel; I didn't know he went in for this sort of thing." Toni passed a note across the luncheon table. She and her mother were having dejeuner alone a few days later. It was an invitation, very charmingly worded, for Toni and Greta to attend a small fancy-dress party that Ravel was giving in his studio to a few friends, to celebrate the opening of his new exhibition.

"I should like you to go, Toni, dear," she said. "It's only right that you should go about a little, and Monsieur Ravel has been very charming. I want you to go, dear, and I think both you and Greta would enjoy it; it will be amusing. Supposing you drive around in the car and take the reply yourself? I will wait for you, and you can go to the studio and accept personally.

Toni's acceptance was sweet-tempered and patient. It was her patience and her extreme reasonableness that frightened her mother. Toni had never been irritable, never been difficult to manage, but she had bee nheadstrong, and always too alive to be exactly even-tempered. Lady Alice was beginning to realize at last that the mainsprings of the young life were broken—that unless some miracle could occur, Feodor's release from prison would be years after Toni's death.

Toni entered Ravel's studio to find him painting Gigi, who was lying full length on a couch, a lovely, slender, ivory figure, with a wonderful purple silken scarf flung about her. She did not break her pose as Toni entered, but her eyebrows went up and a broad smile flashed across her young face, and Toni, after greeting Ravel, walked across and held out her hand.

Bad Case of Pimples Over a Year. Healed by Cuticura.

"I had a bad case of pimples and blackheads. The pimples were very hard, large and red and were all over my face. The itching and burning caused me to scratch, and bothered me at night. I had the trouble over a year.

"I tried different remedies but they did not help me. I started using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and the pimples began to disappear. I continued the treatment and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Leander Gerrior, Charlos Cove, N. S., Aug. 12, 1931.

ROYAL ACADEMY ACCEPAS WORK OF FORMER ERIE MAN

Etching by C. W. W. Hansen, Retired Rancher, Is Hung at Exhibition

A former rancher of Meadows, near Erie, B. C., and now resident of Margate, England, C. W. W. Hansen has had one of his etchings accepted and hung at the Royal Academy exhibition in London, according to an account taken from an English newspaper by S. Brewster of Fruitvale. Mr. and Mrs. Hansen ranched at Meadows for many years, retiring about six years ago. Both were widely known in the district, Mrs. Hansen especially, for her musical talent.

The account reads as follows:

"Congratulations will be extended to C. W. Wohlford Hansen, of 16, Lower Northdown-road(Cliftonville, who has been fortunate in having an etching hung at the Royal Academy exhibition, in London.

"Mr. Hansen, who is a retired rancher, is a student at the Thanet School of Art, Hawley-square, Margate, and has studied under the principal, A. Moody, A.R.C.A., for a number of years.

"Mr. Hansen's achievement reflects great credit upon the Thanet School of Art as the judging for accepted works becomes more and more severe every year. Roughly 15,000 works are submitted every year, of which considerably fewer than 5000 are hung.

"The etching, entitled 'Phantom of Past Glories,' depicts a view of the interior of the ruined Tintern abbey, looking toward the east window. Notable features of it are the bold masses of sunlight and shadow making a very interesting design. The etching shows great ingenuity of drawing and craftsmanship.

"Some of our readers may remember that Mr. Hansen also had a beautiful sympathetic study of a tree, called 'Awakening Spring,' in the Kent Arts and Crafts Federation exhibition held in August, 1931, in the Thanet School of Art—a critique of which appeared in the Advertiser and Echo at the time."

JUNIOR PLAYERS OF ST. PAUL'S TO REPRODUCE PLAY

While Francis Hodgson Burnett's "Little Lord Fauntleroy" and Lewis Carrol's "Alice in Wonderland" are the favorites of young and old the world over, an equally attractive companion story, also written by Burnett, is "The Little Princess." With a cast of 22, St. Paul's Junior Players will reproduce this story on the stage.

The story tells of a young heiress who is at a boarding school in England. As long as her fortune is assured she experiences nothing but kindness. But after her father dies, she is sent to live in a dark and lonely garret. At the close, however, events happen which bring happiness to the "Little Princess" again.

CRESTON, B. C., May 23.—Some urprise has been felt in the busiess section at the week-end with he sending out of notices by the mperial Bank that it is closing its reston branch at the end of May, nd that, unless otherwise instructd, all accounts will be transferred the Creston branch of the Bank Commerce. It is understood that e closing of the Imperial branch Creston will be accompanied by e closing of the branch of the ank of Commerce at Golden on e same date, with the Commerce ccounts at Golden going to the mperial branch in that town. The ansaction follows closely on the eels of the saw-off at Kimberley month ago, when Commerce withrew from that town in favor of he Bank of Montreal, while at rmstrong the branch of the Montal closed in favor of Commerce.

CHICAGO WHEAT RISES BUOYANTLY

Is Six Cents a Bushel Higher Than Last Week's Prices

CHICAGO, May 23 (By John P. Boughan, Associated Press market editor).—Wheat rose buoyantly today to about six cents a bushel over prices current last week.

For the fourth day in unbroken sequence the wheat market went soaring as a result of broader speculative demand together with reported startling losses of domestic winter wheat. One authoritative summary today estimated the 1932 maximum production of the five hard winter wheat states, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Colorado and Texas, at 164,000,000 bushels, where as the same state last year raised 444,000,000.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1⅝-1¾ above Saturday's finish corn ⅜-⅝ up, oats ½-⅞ advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

WINNIPEG WHEAT CLOSES HIGHER

Persistent Reports of Winter Wheat Damage Brings Buying Flurry

WINNIPEG, May 23 (CP).—Wheat opened ⅜ to ¼ down, fluctuated actively 1⅛ to 1¼, and then settled down ot a very steady session to close ⅝ to ¾ higher. Persistent reports of damage to winter wheat in the southern United States brought a flurry of buying by continental interests followed by liberal purchases on the part of Chicago and New York interests, and coupled with firmer Liverpool cables, accounted for wheat's material gains.

May and July each gain ⅝ to close at 64⅛ and 65, respectively, while October advanced ¾ to 67¼.

Export trade was distinctly limited, etc. One bullish influence during the morning was a private estimate of United States winter wheat crop placing it at about 75 per cent of last year's yield.

Cash wheat sales were very limited and actual sales of coarse grains negligible, with future prices practically unchanged near the close of the session.

AUTOISTS ARE REGISTERING AT CRESTON CAMPS

CRESTON, B. C., May 23.—Registrations at Creston View tourist park, Creston, up to the middle of May, show 29 autos, carrying 98 passengers, as having made the overnight stop. This is slightly less than the business done up to the middle of May, 1931. Fourteen of these cars were from British Columbia, and six were from across the line, with Alberta and Saskatchewan contributing the others. A second auto camp has just opened for trade, being known as the "Bide a Wee," and is located at Erickson, at a likely site on the Red Trail. It is in charge of Mr. and Mrs. K. Knott, who came here last fall from Cripple Creek, Colorado, and were so taken with the district that they have invested in a campsite of about two acres, on which they have erected five quaint log cabins, as well as residential and office quarters for their own accommodation.

FLAG DAY TODAY CITY OF TRAIL

Rev. Mr. Wallace to Speak; Munsy to Present Ensign

TRAIL, B. C., May 23.—Monday will be observed as flag day in Trail. Shortly after 2 o'clock Monday afternoon pupils of Central and East Trail schools will parade to Butler park to take part in the ceremony, which is being fostered by Trail Rotary club. Pupils from Tadanac school will be provided with transportation from the school. Trail Boy Scouts in uniform will take a conspicuous part in the ceremonies of the day.

At Butler park the children will be addressed by Rev. Bryce H. Wallace on "The Flag." On behalf of the Rotary club, Rev. Mr. Wallace will make presentation to Trail-Tadanac parks board of a large Union Jack, measuring 9 feet by 18 feet. The flag will in future be flown from the new flagpole which has been erected at the park by the Rotary club and Consolidated Mining & Smelting company.

Trail Boy Scouts have agreed to take over custody of the flag and George Murray, chairman of the parks board, will present it to them. Mr. Murray will also address the children on the care of civic parks and improvements.

Following the presentation of the flag, the Scouts will formally raise it on the new pole. It has been arranged that the flag will be flown Sundays and holidays and each troop of Scouts will take over the duty of raising and lowering it in turn.

The general public is being invited to participate at the ceremony and in addition members of the Rotary club.

CARROTS BRING $3 PER SACK COAST MARKET

Business Quiet, Calgary; Washington Lettuce Selling

VANCOUVER, May 23—There is still a further reduction in the list of fruit and vegetables available on the street. Strawberries are coming in from Washington and are offered at $4 per crate. The quality is fair. A car of celery which arrived from Florida last weekend was quickly cleaned up. Another car is due from the same place about Monday. A car of bunch carrots is also due on Monday from Texas. Okanagan Stayman Winesap apples are off the list. A car of extra fancy Winesaps came in from Yakima on Wednesday to a Chinese produce merchant. A rather strange situation has developed in the carrot deal. Carrots which were shipped south from here weeks ago are being returned to meet the local shortage and are offered at $3 per sack. Lemons have gone up in price during the past week and are now quoted at $6.25 per case.

CALGARY— Business is rather quiet. A straight car of Arkansas strawberries arrived here on Monday. This is the first car to come by freight, with only five days consumed in trip. Jobbers are saving approximately one 15 per cent crate difference between freight and express. The coast head lettuce is not being enthusiastically received, resulting in the local and Washington leaf lettuce getting considerable play. It is unlikely any Washington head lettuce will come here as the dump duty is too high. It is reported that a car of Kennewick strawberries will arrive tomorrow

EDMONTON—The apple market is unchanged. British Columbia hothouse tomatoes are of good quality and are quoted at $4 to $4.75 per crate. Cucumbers have a fair movement at $2 to $2.25. Cabbage coming from British Columbia is of inferior quality, being very light heads. This is quoted at 2 cents per lb. Spinach is arriving in good quality and condition but some complaints are received of a light pack. This product is selling at $1.25 per crate. Rhubarb is quoted at $1.25 to $1.30 per box. Local offerings of rhubarb, leaf lettuce, radishes, hothouse tomatoes and cucumbers are increasing. Car arrivals: British Columbia, one apples, one rhubarb, two new vegetables, two mixed, one car of celery from Florida and one car of Mexican tomatoes.

SASKATOON—Weather is fine and warm with wheat seeding nearly completed. Early sown fields are coming through strongly. Business is better and demand increasing. Apples are moving steadily and the deal is now more satisfactory as all the cheap stuff has been cleaned up. Arkansas strawberries are retailing at 35 cents per quart and moving quite freely, with a lower price expected as the wholesale price is open. British Columbia hothouse tomatoes are selling at 30 cents per lb., while the Mexican field tomatoes are quoted at 20 cents per lb. No leaf lettuce available and British Columbia head lettuce supplies limited.

BULK APPLES AND RATES TO BE THRESHED

Railway Commission Will Sit at Vernon, June 7 and 8

PENTICTON, B. C., May 23—The bulk apple situation in its application to freight rates will be considered by the railway commission at a sitting to be held in Vernon probably on June 7 and 8. The dates have been suggested to the B. C. F. G. A. and other interests and will probably be confirmed.

The railways have made an application to the commission to change the bulk apple classification from the 8th class freight rate to the 5th class rate, which is the present boxed rate. Thus the rate for bulk and for boxed apples would be the same. It is this application which the board will consider at Vernon.

The bulk apple committee representing the fruit interests has made a counter-proposal that both rates be changed, in short that the bulk rate be raised and the boxed rate brought down. The committee takes the view that British Columbia shippers should not carry the burden of making the bulk apples dearer in consuming centers and not making the boxed apples cheaper. An increased bulk rate, with a reduced boxed rate, it considers, would give the carriers just as much revenue as before and would be more satisfactory to consumers.

Whether the railway board will also consider the application of the bulk committee as well as the original proposal of the railways at the one sitting has not yet been determined.

PENTICTON, B. C., May 23—Late winter apple pools are now closing in the cooperatives of the Associated, and another week or 10 days should see the distribution of large sums of apple money.

It is understood that Winesap, Stayman and Rome Beauty pools have closed at the Penticton Co-op and the Yellow Newtown, Delicious and Spitzenberg are to wind up the season very soon.

The Associated reported last Saturday that it had only 25½ cars on hand, being 14 in the valley and the balance at destination. Of these 15 were Yellow Newtown and 7½ Delicious. A substantial reduction in the number has already been made during the first three or four days of this week. Movement last week was not as heavy as in the previous week.

Yellow Newtowns are likely to thin pretty well to the end of the month.

Delicious have continued to move to New York from Toronto at improving prices.

PENTICTON CO-OP RETURNS

While no statements can be obtained from the Penticton Co-op at present on final returns, it has been rumored that, including rebates, etc., Yellow Newtowns will probably bring 90 cents to the grower, instead of 80 as was expected some time ago. The improvement is alleged to be due to good export sales.

Delicious are expected to average 90 cents.

It is reported that Winesaps have averaged 80 cents, Rome Beauties 60 cents and Staymans about 65. These are unofficial figures.

It is said that no money will be paid out for another week or so, when a substantial amount is to be turned loose.

POWER COMPANY ACCEPTS TERMS CRANBROOK CITY

CRANBROOK, B. C., May 23.—Mayor T. M. Roberts was today in receipt of word from the East Kootenay Power company that the proposition submitted by the city, stating that they would agree to the present rates paid for electrical energy for a new contract to be signed on the expiration of the old agreement, but would not agree to the proposals of the company to raise the rates, would be accepted by the company. This brings to an end negotiations which have been carried on between the two parties for about 10 months. Beside an increase in rates the power company stated that the city would be required to purchase a sub station on the outskirts of the city at a price of $10,000. The last agreement submitted by the company still held this stipulation though a virtual reduction in rates was agreed to. The city fathers, however, had looked into the matter of power for the city from the St. Mary's river at Wycliffe and felt in a strong enough position to dictate terms.

GENERAL PRICE LEVEL FALLS ON VANCOUVER LIST

Pioneer Gold Shows Upward Tendency in Charp Contrast

One Jockey Is Killed as Five Horses and Riders Pile in Heap

Other Has Possible Internal Injuries; on Brainbridge Race Track

CLEVELAND, May 23 (AP).—One jockey was killed and two others hurt as five horses and their riders went down in a heap at the Bainbridge race track late today.

Charles Pegg of Baltimore, up on Chorister, died of a fractured skull and internal injuries. William Carroll of Covington, Ky., suffered possible internal injuries, an examination at the hospital revealed.

Jose Herandez of New Orleans, up on Phi Delta, and leading the field in the third race, was found to have received a fractured left arm as well as severe bruises. Both Carroll and Fernandez remained in the hospital tonight.

Two other jockeys, Lee Hardy and Tracy Reno, were involved in the pileup, but escaped with a shaking up. Reno's mount, Erin Go Bragh, was killed. Spectators said that apparently Phi Delta cut out from the fence, and with the next four horses went down in a struggling mass. None of the riders, however, was able to give a clear account of what happened.

CRANBROOK GYROS PLAN BARN DANCE

Swimming Pool Reported Cleaned and Filled; May Have Guessing Contest

CRANBROOK, B. C., May 23.—S. F. D. Roe and H. Kennett were guests at this week's Gyro meeting. A. W. Parker was also a guest and rendered two solos which were well received. V. C. Edwards accompanied him. It was reported that the swimming pool has been cleaned and filled, the filling time being about 120 hours. It is possible that the pool will be filled and drained again and a guessing contest as to the time required, as has been done with the filling on the past two seasons.

Plans for the barn dance to be held by the organization in the new McCrindle barn were discussed. The members will spend an evening next week in clearing the floor and decorating the building. The streets leading to the barn will be well marked and lights along the top of the barn will mark the way for those not familiar with its locality. Preparations are being made to serve buttermilk, milk, hot dogs and other refreshments. Joe downs and old time dance numbers will be on the program. Clothing suitable to the occasion will be worn so that hard times need deter none from attending. It is the first event of the kind to be held in the city.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23 (AP).—The draw to determine the order of play in the first day's Davis cup matches Friday between the Australian and the United States tennis teams will take place Thursday noon in the Racquet club, it was announced today by Fitz-Eugene Dixon, American captain.

The question of whether Wilmer Allison, Texas star, or Frank Shields, of New York, will represent the United States in one of the singles matches remained undecided today after Shields had defeated Allison, three sets to one, in a test match at the Philadelphia Country club. Ellsworth Vines will be America's other singles representative.

After watching the Australian stars, Jack Crawford and Harry Hopman, in practice matches today, Bernon S Prentice, chairman of the United States Davis cup committee, predicted that the antipodeans will give the American players a stirring battle. The Babe, who has been trained hince infancy by his father, a former boxer, hopes to have $25,000 in cash to help him along. OTTAWA, May 23 (CP)—Nationalization of insurance was urged upon the government in the house of commons tonight by William Irvine (U. F. A. Wetaskiwin.. The house was in committee on the two insurance bills which originated in the senate and passed that chamber several weeks ago.

In his scheme of nationalization Mr. Irvine would include banks. The prime minister and the government had made the continuance of these institutions possible in Canada, he said. But for the administration, both insurance companies and banks would have been nationalized before this.

HOSPITAL WORK IN CANADA IS MEETING TOPIC

Need for Trained and Consecrated Nurses on Frontier Told

ROSSLAND, B. C., May 23.—"Hospital Work in Canada" was the topic at the meeting of the Women's Missionary society of St. Andrew's United church, held at the manse Thursday afternoon. Mrs. William Arrowsmith presented the need for trained, consecrated nurses on the frontiers of this country, where the duties of a nurse were manifold. Not only did a nurse have to carry out the ordinary duties of her profession, but at times she had to be doctor as well, and it had been necessary for her to even bury the dead. Mrs. Robert Rankine read a paper on "Life Saving and Soul Winning" which told of evangelistic work being carried on in the frontier hospitals by the consecrated men and women who have given their lives to this work. Mrs. Edgar Jamieson and Miss Josephine Roscorla told stories of interesting cases which had been treated in the mission hospitals.

REDUCE MATERNAL MORTALITY

Mrs. C. H. Daly spoke of the way in which the high rate of maternal mortality in Canada had been reduced of late years through the pre-natal care which had been made available for Canadian mothers. Paying tribute to Florence Nightingale, who had first agitated for trained women nurses, the speaker gave several instances, some humorous, some pathetic, of experiences which had come to the nurses sent out by the United Church of Canada as they went about their duties in the far north of British Columbia. A very fine model of the recently completed hospital at Burns Lake, the work of Mrs. J. S. Gordon of Vancouver, was displayed on the table. A solo by Mrs. H. A. Bathie added to the enjoyment of the afternoon. Refreshments were served by Mrs. C. H. Daly, assisted by Miss Ruby Rogers and Miss Josephine, Roscorla. Those present were Mrs. C. H. Daly, Mrs. D. Bangor Jones, Mrs. James S. Robertson, Mrs. Samuel Stevens, Mrs. William McKay, Mrs. George W. Urquhart, Mrs. H. H. Johnstone, Mrs. R. H. Davis, Mrs. Robert Rankine, Mrs. W. F. McNeill, Mrs. C. Corbett, Mrs. Douglas V. Wood, Mrs. Edgar Jamieson, Mrs. William Y. Palmer, Mrs. R. D. Mitchell, Mrs. T. P. Rogers, Miss Mary Rogers, Miss Ruby Rogers, Mrs. H. A. Bathie, Mrs. H.
