Railwaymen Will Vote on Acceptance of Proposed Wage Cut of 10 Per Cent.

Conciliation Board Shows a Confliction of Opinion

MONTREAL, Dec. 2. (CP)—The 26,000 union members of the running trades of Canada's railroads will vote as to whether they will accept or reject the recommendation of the conciliation board that their wages be cut 10 per cent, Hon. James Murdock, spokesman for the men, said today after a long conference with the 21 grand chairmen representing the diversified brotherhoods of the men concerned.

"Though our general chairmen were distinctly instructed not to accept any form of wage reductions," Mr. Murdock said, "we feel the matter should again be referred back to the men for further consideration before we make any definite decisions."

EFFECT OF OPINION

OTTAWA, Dec. 2. (CP)—Conflict of opinion is manifested in the report of the board of conciliation which heard the application of Canadian railways for a 10 per cent decrease in the wages of certain of the running trades. Made public today, the report comprises two documents, one representing the views of the majority of the board —J. M. MacDonnell, chairman, of Toronto, and Isaac Pitblado, K. C., companies' member, of Winnipeg—and the other the view of the minority third member, Dr. J. C. Hemmeon, of McGill university, Montreal, who was named by the men.

In brief the majority, whose recommendation was that the men

ALFONSO FORCES SON TO GIVE UP HIS SWEETHEART

Had Planned Secret Marriage Until Father Found Out About It

PARIS, Dec. 2 (AP)—Don Jaime of Bourbon has been prevented by his father, former King Alfonso XIII of Spain, from marrying the girl of his choice, it was learned today.

The 23-year-old prince, second son of Alfonso, informed his parents a few days ago he was going on a "little automobile trip" from the residence of Fontainbleu, where the Spanish royal family is established.

Persons close to the family said the purpose of the trip was a secret wedding at Bayonne early this week. Nothing was learned about the girl except she was Spanish.

All necessary papers had been prepared for the ceremony. When friends of the family learned of the preparations they notified former Queen Victoria, who passed the word on to Alfonso.

The former king instructed Don Jaime to write a letter of renunciation to the girl and the prince is understood to have complied with his father's order.

Prince Jaime was a deaf mute until a few years ago when a series of operations succeeded in bettering his hearing and by scientific instruction he learned to talk. He became quite a linguist, learning French, German and Russian.

HYDRO PROBE IS RUMORED TO BE ON WAY IN EAST

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 3.—(Thursday)—The Toronto Globe today says: "A royal commission inquiry into hydro will, it is understood, be announced by Premier George S. Henry on his return from his western Canada holiday.

"The probe is to be entrusted to judical hands—not to a legislature committee, as frequently predicted—because, it is said, of the desire, not only of the government, but of the rank of file of the Conservative membership as well, to rid it before it is ever launched of anything that might smack of the political.

"It is to be given the widest possible scope, and will be underway, it is reported, before the in February.

HELD GUN "TOO TIGHT," KILLING MAN IN HOLDUP

Former Porter in California Inn Confesses Shooting When Captured

SALINAS, Cal., Dec. 2 (AP)—Thomas O'Doud, 22, itinerant farm worker, today confessed to authorities, they said, that he killed Frank C. Wallingford, proprietor of the Alpine inn at Gonzales, Calif., yesterday during a robbery attempt.

Wallingford was shot when he opened the inn door in response to loud knocks at 3 a.m., yesterday. He was confronted by a masked man who pointed a revolver at him and as he raised his hands in response to a command the gun was fired, wounding him in the abdomen. Wallingford, a former resident of Vancouver, British Columbia, was rushed to a Salinas hospital but died at 10:15 a.m., yesterday.

O'Doud said he had been employed at the inn as a porter but had been discharged about three weeks ago. Then, he said, he returned to San Francisco, bought a gun and returned to Gonzales with the intention of robbing the inn as he knew the payroll would be there on December 1.

"I didn't intend to kill him," he told the authorities, why I like Mr. Wallingford. I guess I held the gun too tight—it just went off."

Noland said he believed O'Doud was telling the truth and that he apparently was a novice as far as robbery ws concerned. He said O'Doud probably would be charged with murder tomorrow.

HAWKS UNABLE TO FLY AGAIN WITHIN A WEEK

Poisonous Effects of Monoxide Gas Remain With Famous Speed Pilot

YREKA, Cal., Dec. 2. (AP)—The poisonous effects of the carbon monoxide gas which forced Capt. Frank Hawks down while attempting a record speed flight from Canada to Mexico, Dr. Hart, his physician, said today, probably will keep the flyer in bed for a week.

Increased speed, Hawks said, necessitated while bucking a gale over the Cascade mountains, was responsible for the abnormal amount of carbon monoxide fumes from the motor by which he was overcome. He declared it miraculous that he had been able to land without injury to himself or damage to the plane.

National Prayer Day Observed in Canada

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 2.—(By the Canadian Press)—Members of Protestant churches across Canada joined today in a national day of prayer, called at the suggestion of the primate of the church of England in Canada, Archbishop Worrell and endorsed by heads of the Presbyterian, United and Baptist churches on behalf of the unemployed.

C. P. R. BURNS AT THE FORKS

"Latest Outrage" Completely Consumes 150 Tons Coal

BELIEVE FIREBUG CAUSE OF BLAZE

Flying Material Endangers Oil Tanks and Residences

GRAND FORKS, B. C., Dec. 2—The spark of indignation flared brightly here tonight as the result of what the citizens termed "the latest outrage," the complete destruction of the Canadian Pacific Railway company's big coal chute in the west end along with about 150 tons of coal. A car of coal was also burned.

Breaking out about 11 o'clock, which has been the time of several outbreaks attributed to the fanatical Doukhobor faction, flames enveloped the structure in a few seconds. The city volunteer fire department was on the scene but the tremendous heat rendered their efforts useless. Flames completely lit up the city and flying material endangered the oil tanks of two oil companies and nearby residences.

At midnight it was understood that the west-bound passenger, which arrives in Grand Forks at about 2:40, would be unable to make the usual run to the lower station but would have to take and leave passengers and baggage at the upper station. The chute is situated a few hundred feet from the main line on the branch line that runs to the lower part of the town.

TOO HOT TO INVESTIGATE

Provincial Constables Holliday and E. A. D. Parry arrived at the fire shortly after its outbreak but due to the intensity of the heat they were unable to make an investigation.

Whether or not the fire was of incendiary origin, the citizens here, incensed by the many outrages of the past season including the recent attempts on the Catholic church and the Imperial Oil company property, generally attribute the cause to a firebug. Mrs. Hales, station agent's wife, saw the blaze and turned in the alarm.

VANCOUVER, Dec. 2 (AP)—Jimmy Wedell of New Orleans, holder of the Mexico to Canada aerial speed record which he set up yesterday in a flight from Agua Caliente to Vancouver, will, if weather conditions are favorable, take to the air again tomorrow morning for the return flight to Mexico, he informed the Canadian Press tonight. Wedell stated that forecasts indicated clearing weather and that it might be possible for him to hop off in the morning between 9 and 10 o'clock. He plans one stop en route, at San Francisco.

Rain was falling here tonight.

With the Mexico-Canada flight record ticked away Wedell will soon embark on an attempt to make a transcontinental record flight from Los Angeles to New York, he stated tonight. He is anxious to complete the Canada-Mexico flight as soon as possible, so that he embark on the transcontinental adventure at an early date.

Should the Well Dressed Agriculturist Wear Spats and Carry a Cane?—Not So Long as He Is Minister, Says Atkinson

What—No Spats?

HON. W. ATKINSON

Hon. William Atkinson, who objected to members of his staff appearing at agricultural events wearing spats and carrying canes. After he issued a circular which stated that these articles were to be dispensed with, he received protests from all over the province.

And When He Banned These Articles of Sartorial Display—What a Roar

VANCOUVER, B. C., Dec. 2.—Is a man who wears spats and carries a cane putting on too much dog?

Hon. William Atkinson, minister of agriculture, Victoria says that it would look better if members of his staff discared spats and canes. Members of the minister's field staff, on the other hand believe that spats are a protection for the expert agriculturist's ankles and that a cane is an essential part of barnyard, stockyard or show ring equipment.

Recently Hon. Mr. Atkinson issued a circular letter from Victoria to members of his staff, ordering them to get rid of spats and canes. The letter was written following a plowing match which was attended by one or more provincial employees adorned in grey spats and packing walking sticks.

The minister's explanation for the letter is that plain dirt farmers have appealed to him to change the sartorial get-up of provincial civil servants in his department. Complaints came in that spats were altogether too numerous and that

MACDONALD SEEKS APPROVAL ON HIS POLICY IN INDIA

Shows Sign of Strain of Past Few Months; Opposition in Government

LONDON, Dec. 2. (By George Hambleton, Canadian Press staff writer)—Before crowded benches in the house of commons today, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald sought a vote of confidence in the government's policy of home rule for India, with certain safeguards. "I think," he pointedly remarked as he submitted his motion—"I think most governments would regard disagreement as a vote of non-confidence, and would take steps accordingy.

The prime minister showed signs of the strain to which he has been subjected in recent months. Despite his emphasis that the policy submitted to the round tabe conference had the full approval of his colleagues of the National government, the criticism came not from the official opposition, but from a group of government supporters. It was to them Mr. MacDonald directed his arguments, occasionally turning and facing them when emphasizing some point.

CALL ON HOOVER FOR CONFERENCE

Northwest Mining Association Wants Something Done About Silver

SPOKANE, Dec. 2. (AP) — The Northwest Mining association today asked President Hoover to call an international conference to consider the re-establishment of silver in its monetary uses.

League Greatly Agitated by "Incredible Reports"

HAVE NO COMMENT AT THE PRESENT

Chinese Deny They Are Not Negotiating With Japanese

PARIS, Dec. 2 (AP) (By F. I. Lipsey, Jr., Associated Press staff correspondent)—League of Nations officials were agitated tonight by reports that Japan will demand the evacuation from Manchuria of the Chinese civil government as well as the Chinese army. Disposition was to regard these reports as incredible, and members of the league council refrained from commenting pending confirmation from Tokyo.

But it was recognized that if Japan adopted such a policy the whole league peace program would be jeopardized. The Japanese delegation has said nothing about evacuation by the Chinese civil government. The news came in press reports from Tokyo. A Japanese spokesman said that the council "is not taking seriously our demand about the Chinese withdrawing from Chinchow, but we mean business."

Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese spokesman, explained to the 12 neutral members of the council Nanking's desires in regard to the organization of a neutral zone, and reiterated his government's unwillingness to withdraw troops now in Chinchow to positions behind the great wall without guarantees against Japanese aggression.

The Chinese spokesman told the council he was telegraphing immediately to Dr. Wellington Koo, China's foreign minister, for a further elucidation of his attitude on this question.

MEAT INSPECTION SERVICE

Probably one of the most valuable services carried out by the federal department of agriculture is inspection of meat and canned foods by officers of health and of animals branch. During the fiscal year ended March 31, 1931, a total of 66 meat packing establishments operated under federal inspection. Total slaughter amounted to 991,048 head of cattle, 774,675 sheep, 1,268,657 swine, 234,015 poultry, and 25 goats. The high general quality and health of Canadian live stock is evidenced by the fact that only 1.46 per cent of the dressed carcases were condemned. The round, purple stamp appearing on all meats dressed at plants operating under government inspection is an absolute guarantee that it is fit for human consumption. The meat inspection service is an important safeguard to Canadian health.

WIDE INTEREST SAVAGE-HAYES DEATH MYSTERY

Rumor Has It Cyanide Found in System of Two Dead Saskatoon People

SASKATOON, Sask., Dec. 2.—Police today were marshalling their evidence in the Savage-Hayes deaths for the inquest which will open here next week, but they declined to advance any theory about the mystery.

It is understood that the internal organs of the deceased, sent to Regina for analysis, showed strong traces of cyanide of potassium. But police refused again to admit this fact.

Milo Savage, 47-year-old optician, and Mrs. Alice Hayes were found dead Sunday morning in the optician's office in this city. There were no traces of violence, but a sweet, pungent smell was noticeable.

Police have obtained statements from two persons who were with deceased until 3 a. m. Sunday morning, and at that time both Savage and Mrs. Hayes were perfectly normal, these witnesses said.

Police are investigating every angle of the case, which has caused unusual interest, due to the prominence of Savage, who had lived here for 20 years.

At the same time, officials have been extremely reticent, and would not even admit that a carafe of potassium cyanide had been found in the Savage office, although this was common knowledge on the streets.

Hoyes Lloyd, supervisor of wild life protection, parks branch, of the Canadian department of the interior, Ottawa, was elected a vice-chairman of the American game conference.

Development Is Going Ahead on the Big Missouri

The title of the Big Missouri mines, a gold prospect in the Portland Canal mining division of B. C., is held by the Buena Vista Mining company, which in turn is 53 per cent owned by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company, and 47 per cent owned by the Big Missouri Mining company. It has been under development by Consolidated Smelters and has had a test plant in operation during the past year to bulk sample the ore.

The property consists of approximately 780 acres, situated east of the Salmon glacier in the Portland Canal mining division, about 12 miles north of Stewart, B. C. Development has been conducted through a tunnel driven into the mountainside where indications give promise of a large low grade gold ore body. No official estimate has been made of the possible ore but the test mill in operation about 10 months was recently closed down following completion of this part of the program. There has been no announcement that the cessation of the test plant means that it was not satisfactory, on the other hand, development work is being carried on and indications point to consideration being given to the development of the property as a large tonnage low grade gold producer, when money is easier to get.

Pan-American Union May Ask Canada in

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 1.—(CP)— A movement regarded in some quarters as having for its end the inclusion of Canada in the Pan-American Union, began today when Ambassador Senor Jose Manuel Puig Casuarne, of Mexico, spoke to several of his colleagues at a meeting of the board of the union, suggesting an invitation to send an observer to the full conference at Montevideo, next year, should be extended to Canada. The ambassador did not formally present the suggestion to the board.

FINISH AND PACK POULTRY

Farmers in the Campbell's Bay area in Pontiac County, P. Q., are trying a new system in selling their poultry for the Christmas market. Most of the poultry raised in the district surrounding the Bay has been signed up for the scheme and it seems probable that much added value will be realized. Under the leadership of the resident agronome and of the provincial poultry promoter for the district farmers are crate-feeding and finishing their poultry, and by arrangement with the poultry division of the Dominion department of agriculture it will be graded, tagged and packed in boxes. It will be offered for sale by open bid on Assembly day, December 10, and should prices prove sufficiently attractive the whole lot as a pooled shipment will be shipped to Montreal for sale through the usual channels.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Dec. 2.—Professor John Q. Stewart of Princeton university believes that in 100 years our descendants will travel to the moon in rocket-propelled ships, and he describes such a journey in his contribution to "Science Today." The book is a collection on subjects of current interest, ranging from interplanetary study to race problems and the care of national parks.

Professor Stewart predicts that before 2050 .D. man may travel to the moon in about six days. The scientist explains that vehicle for carrying men to the moon must be designed for a speed of several miles a second and must be equipped with a power plant developing billions of kilowatts.

The scientist estimates the cost of the rocket ship, which he sees taking man on his first trip into deep space, at $2,000,000,000. Such a journey, he prophesies, "is only a step within the cramped confines of the solar system" and should be the beginning of far more ambitious adventures into the far-off heavens.

HENRI COCHET TAKES TO THE AIR

Henri Cochet, famous French tennis star who has thrilled thousands with his wizardy on the tennis court, is now seeking a few thrills for himself in an aeroplane. Although he has often flown as a passenger, Cochet had no inclination to fly himself until he stunted with Michel Detroyat, famous French ace. Now, Cochet is learning to fly and intends to keep his tennis appointments all over Europe by plane. Above photo shows Cochet (right) with Detroyat, as they prepared to leave for an aerial jaunt at Le Bourget, France.

Building in 61 Cities Near Lowest Month

Estimated value of building authorized by 61 Canadian cities during October, as reported by the Dominion bureau of statistics, was $8,713,402. This shows a decrease of $1,609,012, or 15.6 per cent, as compared with the September total, and is 31.7 per cent below the aggregate of $12,756,402 for October, 1930.

The cumulative total for the elapsed 10 months of 1931 ($95,611,669) was 31¼ per cent under the corresponding figure for 1930 and was also lower than the average for the same period in the eleven years, 1920-1930.

In connection with these data, however, it should be noted that there has also been a very decided decline in the wholesale costs of building materials, upon which building values are based, the bureau's index having fallen from 154.4 per cent of the 1926 base in the first 10 months of 1920 to 83 per cent in the same period of the present year, a decline of 46 per cent.

Gold Production Shows Large Gain

Canada's gold production showed an increase of 30.6 per cent in the first eight months of the current year with a production of 1,722,672 ounces, valued at $35,607,630, as compared with 1,319,466 ounces, valued at $27,273,362, in the same period of 1930.

A new high record was established in August with a production of 225,630 ounces, of which 172,301 ounces came from Ontario; 26,336 ounces from Quebec; 13,058 ounces from British Columbia; 7389 ounces from Manitoba and the remainder from Yukon and Nova Scotia.

The following tabulation shows current production and comparisons with similar periods last year:

July, 1931	223,734
August, 1930	170,052
Eight months ending:
August, 1931	1,722,667
August, 1930	1,319,466

INTERESTING INDIAN STATISTICS

The census of Indians in Canada in 1929 gave the total number of men, women and children as 108,012. Thes are of course, not all farmers, some being engaged in hunting and trapping, in lumbering, commercial fishing, and in transportation. However, according to the records of the department of Indian affairs, they had in the above year all told 1,101,175 acres of land fenced and 236,028 acres under actual cultivation. Other figures relating to the whole Indian community are: Brick, stone, or frame dwellings, 9442; other dwellings (mostly log), 11,880; churches, 358; council houses, 124; school-houses, 260; sawmills, 32. In addition to the number of day school-houses there are 78 residential schools, devoted to the education of the Indian population.

SHIP CANADIAN BARLEY

The Ontario marketing board, in co-operation with Dominion seed branch officials, recently forwarded to Mr. W. C. Noxon, Ontario representative in London a quality pound sample on Ontario grown barley as typical of what could be supplied in quantity for marting purposes.

Approval of this sample has been expressed in the very practical and acceptable form of orders for two car loads of barley, one of 2000 bushels for Dublin and another of 1500 bushels for London, both of which will be shipped from Hontreal late in November.

The present freshman class at Ohio Wesleyan University made a higher average in intelligence than any class since the classes were established.

PIONEER PLANS ENLARGE MILL

Production Steadily Increasing; Company Owns 700 Acres

Pioneer Gold Mines of B. C. owns a producing gold property in the Lillooet mining division of British Columbia, which has been in production since 1929.

Production has steadily increased since operations started, and further programs of expansion under way will be completed in October, 1932, and will double the present milling facilities.

Dividends were inaugurated on April 1 last, with a payment of three cents per share, since that time three other quarterly payments of a like amount have been made, placing the stock on a 12 cent annual basis.

The company owns approximately 700 acres at Cadwallader creek, a tributary of the Bridbe river, in the Lillooet mining division of British Columbia, about 50 miles oy road from the Bridge River station of the P. G. E. railway. In 1928 a 125-ton daily capacity mill was placed in operation and plans are now under way to increase this to 300 tons capacity by October, 1932.

Development has been through a series of tunnels driven into the mountainside and from a shaft sunk from a tunnel at the 4000 feet elevation.

SALVATION ARMY HALL IS CROWDED AT FREE CONCERT

City Band and Local Talent Heard at Concert Under Toc H Auspices

The free concert at the Salvation Army hall Wednesday night under the auspices of Toc H, proved most successful, and every available sitting space was utilized. The unemployed turned out en mass, and judging from the hearty ovations of applause they offered, the efforts of the City band and the local artist were well appreciated. Some 300 persons in all attended, and about half of that number were given coffee and doughnuts at the conclusion of the program.

Though all members on the program were well received, the comic songs of Mrs. E. Marsden and F. Webber appeared to evoke the greatest response. The City band was generous in its contribution, giving seven numbers.

THE PROGRAM

March, "Newport News," Biyllone; overture, "Orpheus," Offenback; Mrs. E. Marsden and F. V. Webber, humorous solo, "Husbands and Wives"; romance, "Mountain Maiden's Dream" Sabitsky; F. C. Webber, solo, "And Yet I Don't Know," encore, "Three Trees"; selection, "Reminiscence of Wales," Godfrey; quartette, Mrs. E. Marsden, Mrs. S. Couch, G. Brown and F. V. Webber, "O Hush Thee My Baby," Sullivan; selections, "Sullivan's Gems," Sullivan; march, "Let's Go," H. J. Woods; hymn, "Abide With Me"; "God Save the Kink."

Weather Is Warmest Since Last Thursday; Snow at Midnight

Wednesday was the warmest day for some time when the temperature rose within one degree of frost point, after nearly a week's continuous period of frost. Minimum went as low as 15.

The snow where it had accumulated on the sidewalks was melting under the influence of the sun before noon and continued to remain soft during the early hours of the afternoon. Weather was bright throughout the day. A midnight snow began to fall.

Recovery From Reno Mine Runs $15.71 to the Ton

Reno Gold Mines owns a gold producer in the Kootenay lake area of British Columbia which started production operations in August, 1929. The company is largely owned by English interests. It has been a small but consistent producer with operations early this year showing a higher recovery.

The company owns 17 claims on Fawn creek in the Sheep Creek camp south of Nelson, B. C. In 1929 a 35-ton daily capacity mill, operated by a Diesel engine, was placed in production.

The property is developed through a series of tunnels driven into the mountain side and the Reno vein has been traced for a distance of 1500 feet.

The estimated ore reserves in midsummer 1930 were two years' supply for the present mill, including 8000 tons of broken ore in the stopes.

Production to the end of the last fiscal year, April 30, was $257,953 from the treatment of 16,423 tons of ore, an average recovery of $15.71 per ton.

Capitalization: Common, authorized, $2,000,000; outstanding, $1,816,306; par, $1.

Price range, 1931: High, 28 cents; low, 11 cents.

RENEW APPLICATIONS SUGAR BUSH LICENSE

Applications for sugar bush licenses to operate for 1932 under the maple sugar industry act are now being received by the Dominion fruit commissioner at Ottawa The act requires sugar bush owners who sell their product outside the province of origin to have a license, but application must state name and address of owner, location of sugar bush or orchard by lot number, concession, township and county and must also show number of trees it is proposed to grow. During 1931 a total of 1020 license to sugar bush owners were issued as well as 24 license to manufacturers.

MAGLIO VICTOR IN LIQUOR CASE IN LOCAL COURT

Magistrate's Opinion Not Enough Liquor; Room Living Quarters

Magistrate William Brown Wednesday dismissed the case brought against D. Maglio, Vernon street, of keeping liquor for sale. The charge arose out of a raid by provincial police on Mr. Maglio's grocery store on November 24. Evidence had been heard Tuesday morning.

In summing up the case, Magistrate Brown remarked that while liquor had been kept in an illegal place, the quantity had been small, insufficient, and no more than one might have expected to have for one's own consumption. There had been the presence of the wet whiskey glasses, and also the beer and whiskey bottles, and the concealed rum, against the defendant. The permit of Mr. Maglio showed, however, no liquor had been bought since September 23.

W. E. Wasson, city clerk, had testified to knowing D. Maglio for 30 years, and had always thought him to be a good citizen.

C. B. Garland, acting for Mr. Maglio, argued that the rooms in the back of the store were living quarters. The presence of range and gas stove, dishes, tables, chair, and the couch with a couple of blankets over it, was evidence that they were living rooms.

Taking all the circumstances into consideration, there was not reasonable doubt of guilt, stated Magistrate Brown, and dismissed the case.

C. H. Hamilton, of Hamilton, Wragge & Hamilton, prosecuted.

RAILWAYMEN TO VOTE ON WAGE CUT PROPOSAL

should accept the proposed wage cut, take the stand that the present depressed condition of railway earnings, together with the lowered cost of living, warrants the decrease. On the other hand, Dr. Hemmeon considers the present a most inopportune time to reduce wages, and expresses the conviction that "better times are at hand, better times for both the railways and the employees."

From Montreal came announcement by the general chairman of the 21 railway brotherhoods affected that the men rejected the board's award. A telegram to this effect was despatched to Hon. R. J. Manion, minister of railways. At a late hour today this wire had not been received at the department.

What the next step will be remains for the future. Strong efforts to reconcile the disputants will be put forward. Officials here expressed the hope that some means might be devised of getting the affected parties together and ironing out the difficulties.

The reports indicate an exhaustive analysis of the voluminous statistics dealing with the cost of living, railwaymen's wages, company finances and other cognate elements. The majority report finds a marked decrease has taken place in the cost of living, and even with a 10 per cent cut, the employees would stil be ahead of conditions as they existed in the days of higher wages and higher living costs. It does not accept the railwaymen's views that wages in Canada should be dictated by the schedules existing for similar work on United States roads, Canadian wages should be governed by conditions, not in another country, but in Canada itself.

In presenting their case, the men emphasized the advantages to Canadian railwaymen of the 1919 McAdoo award. But this, the majority report points out, was based very largely on cost of living.

Dr. Hemmeon emphasizes in his minority report that the standard of living among railwaymen has risen, and that many things formerly regarded as luxuries are now necessities. This, he affirms, is a desirable thing, even though its effect has been to increase the cost of living. Annual saving to the railways, should the wage cut become effective, would be between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 each to the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National. Dr. Hemmeon doubts if "this comparatively small saving in expense is worth while under the circumstances, and considering the consequences."

NO STRIKE

MONTREAL, Dec. 2. (CP)—"Anybody who talks in such a strain in these days has not followed closely the recent trends in labor disputes. The period of the iron fist is buried," stated Hon. James Murdock, member of the senate and vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, tonight, when asked if there was any possibility of a strike in connection with the majority award of the board of conciliation.

Automotive and Allied Industries Form Club Membership

The mechanics connected with the automotive and allied industries in Nelson have organized the Nelson Better Service club. The object of this club, which is open not only to those associated with the industry and its various branches, but also to any others who might be interested, is to hold meetings at which lectures and discussions will be held, the purpose being to exchange knowledge of mechanical problems, and to increase cooperation between mechanics engaged in the industry.

At the first meeting, 24 were present, and there is a possible membership in Nelson of 60.

Officers elected were: Chairman, Mickey McEwan; secretary, J. B. Adams; committee, R. Peebles, Roy Heathman, Win Almstrom and Kay Maclean.

Cliffe Reynolds lectured on chassis construction. At the next meeting, H. E. Stevenson will lecture on axles and steering.

The club will meet every Monday evening.

BIG ADVERTISING PLANNED FOR AUTO

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—An example of motorcar manufacturers' optimism is shown in announcement of the Hudson company that its 1932 newspaper advertising budget calls for $5,000,000, compared with $2,500,000 in 1930 and $3,500,000 in 1929.

Studebaker also is increasing its newspaper advertising for next year, estimating it will spend more than $7,00,000. This compares with $4,500,000 in 1929 and only $2,000,000 last year.

Buick already has launched its most comprehensive advertising campaign in the last four years, and the Oakland-Pontiac companies are understood to be preparing a double expenditure in 1932.

Lincoln, with a new 16-cylinder model and Pierce-Arrow with twelves are contemplating big advertising campaigns.

Players at Table of Sweden Win at the Whist Drive

After the cards, Mrs. W. A. Gow, Mrs. J. Worthington and Mrs. E. Edgington served refreshments. Dancing concluded the evening.

ATKINSON BANS SPATS AND CANE FROM HIS STAFF

canes were constantly in evidence at fall fairs, plowing matches and jersey field days attended by servants of the department of agriculture.

No sooner did the circular letter reach the several agricultural districts than protests began to arrive from parties interested.

They alleged that from time immemorial a livestock man has carried a cane over his arm while among flocks or herds.

They point to the ancient shepherds as bearing a shepherd's crook.

From the upper country protests have rolled in that no sane cattleman would enter a bull pen without a stout cane in his hand. From this quarter it is urged that the cane is a weapon of protection, not necessarily an article of sartorial display.

As an example to his staff, the minister has abandoned his cutaway coat, striped trousers, pearl grey tie and kid gloves which he wore during the early days of his period of public service at Victoria. The old slouch hat, familiar to Chilliwack neighbors for many years has again been brought into service by the minister.

TRUCK MANUFACTURERS SEE OPPORTUNITY FOR RAILWAYS

Head of Canadian Automotive Body Warns That Highway Transportation Should Not Be Given Blame for Rail Difficulties

By J. L. STEWART
General Manager, Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce, in The Financial Post

Members of the Canadian Automobile chamber of commerce are concerned, as well as all other citizens, with the problem of the railways of the country, for it is evident to everyone, whether interested in railway or highway transportation, that we cannot have sustained prosperity unless the railways are so organized, or reorganized, as to earn their capital charges.

There is no wish on the part of the automotive industry, or even of that part of it directly concerned with commercial transport, to influence public opinion in such a manner as to add to the problems of the railways. No one who has given any thought to the situation can fail to see the situation of the railways is serious. But that problem will not be solved by attempting to fix the entire blame on highway transportation. Legislation which strangled highway transportation might help the railways, but their fundamental problems would remain.

NOT ON OPPOSITE SIDES

It should not be thought that the railway companies and the manufacturers of highway transport equipment are on opposite sides in this discussion. Sir Henry Thornton, chairman and president of the Canadian National railways, said as recently as last March that highway transportation should be, and maybe is, an adjunct to the railway systems. There is room for cooperation betwen the two methods of transportation, the highway method to work as feeder for the railways." This statement would seem to favor a policy of development of highway transport by agencies owned by or affiliated with the railways.

In the United States there is violent disagreement between railway executives as the ultimate effects on the railways of the development of highway transport. But at least one system, the Pennsylvania, has made considerable progress in coordinating the two methods to the advantage of both. The Pennsylvania's plan, and the results of its operations so far, have been described already in some detail in the Financial Post so it is necessary merely to touch on it, at this time. Briefly, it is that the Pennsylvania railroad has invested in trucking companies. Freight is carried short distances by the trucks and longer distances on the rails. Steel containers which are lifted by cranes from truck to flat car and vice versa eliminate the multiple handling of goods.

PROFITABLE SERVICE

The Pennsylvania, according to the testimony of one of its vice-presidents, J. F. Deasy, has received a satisfactory return on its investment in trucking companies. It has, moreover, been enabled thereby to eliminate profitless train operation of a purely local nature.

Some of the students of the Canadian railway situation aver that the container system for utilizing both trucks and railways in conjunction with one another is not practicable in Canada because of our sparse population. Yet it would seem that the experiment in the United States is worth careful study before it is discarded as wholly impracticable, at least for the more thickly settled parts of central Canada. It is noticed that the Pennsylvania in some instances uses these containers as ordinary box-cars—in other words, it is a system which can be gradually adopted and does not involove a costly and revolutionary change in equipment.

It has been repeatedly stated in discussing the motor transport question in the United States, that the railways of that country do not make a profit on the short-haul, less-than-carload shipments, and that therefore they should not be seriously concerned over the loss of this business to the highways. The object of the Pennsylvania's venture at least, was to reduce terminal expenses and to give the railroad the benefit of the straight line haul on goods turned over to it by the trucks at terminal points.

EQUITABLE RATES URGED

In this country there does not seem to be the same agreement that small freight shipments are the least profitable, tl is widely known, of course, that Canadian freight rates on grain from western points are lower than corresponding rates in the United States and it has been suggested that losses on this business in the past has been offset by excessive profits on the miscellaneous short-haul traffic, a substantian proportion of which has gone to the highways.

It is beyond the scope of this article even to attempt to discuss the highly complex question of railway freight rates for different distances, territories and commodities. But from the point of view of the truck manufacturer, owner and user, it is important that railway freight ates be adjusted equitably between classes rather than that there be restrictive and discriminatory legislation against highway transportation in order that, for financial and political reasons, an unscientific railway freight tariff can be maintained.

Highway transportation has grown rapidly for the good and sufficient reason that highway transportation fills a need. The convenience of such methods of shipment would have built the business to considerable proportions even if there had not been a differential of rates in favor of the highways and against the railways. There are many problems confronting the truck owner and the governments which build the highways for the use of the public. There is already a certain amount of regulation and supervision of the trucking business. There perhaps should not be more regulation than there is at present, but the supervision may be more effective and standardized as experience shows what is necessary in the public interest.

It is quite commonly asserted without any adequate evidence that the commercial vehicles are not paying their fair share of the cost of building and maintaining highways and that this assumed fact constitutes unfair competition for the railways.

At present it can be neither proved nor disproved that the trucks are not paying their fair share of the cost of building and maintaining highways. Before an equitable assessment can be determined it must be decided by public authorities exactly what proportion of the capital cost of a highway should be paid by the users thereof and what proportion should be paid out of general taxation—obviously a highway enhances the value of abutting property.

Engineers have determined with some degree of accuracy what is the wear and tear on highways by vehicles of various weights and sizes. It should then, be possible, to find what is a fair division of taxation between private passenger automobiles and the commercial vehicle using the highway. But first, as already stated, it is necessary to decide what proportion of highway cost should be borne by motor taxation.

GAS TAX DISTRIBUTES COSTS

The five-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax which now is universal in the nine provinces is of some considerable value in distributing highway costs in proportion to highway use. Allowing for some differences in motors and eccentricities in carburettors, gasoline consumption is fairly and definitely proportionate to weight of vehicle and load. There is also a differential in license fees, according to the size and type of vehicle and the use to which it is put. It may never be possible to determine with mathematical or scientific accuracy exactly how much each vehicle should be assessed for the building and maintenance of highways, but, as has been shown in previous articles in this paper, the busses and trucks are paying substantial sums. It is not likely that owners of these vehicles will object to equitable adjustments in fees and taxes. What they will ask is that they not be over-taxed, merely because other transportation agencies see their operation a menace to those other agencies.

The Manitoba and Ontario governments in the current year began more closely to supervise the operation of trucks on the provincial highways. In Manitoba a complete trucking tariff was put into effect on May1, and has proved of material assistance in stabilizing the business there. In Ontario the first step was to impose licenses for public commercial vehicles, dividing them into five classes ranging from private carriers to trucks owned privately by shippers and farmers, dairymen and cattle raisers. The fees are not onerous but the taking out of cargo insurance is made a condition to the issuance of the license. Unless, as is improbable, there is a change of policy on the part of the government, there will be closer supervision over these carriers as time goes on. The effect will be to eliminate the financially unstable from the business. This may result in stabilizing rates to a large extent but it also will improve the service.

The eventual outcome of regulation in the public interest will be that there will be fewer companies in the business, but each will be larger and stronger, perhaps, than any now existing. It is inconceivable that the railways ever will regain all the business which has been lost to the motor vehicles, for it is obvious that the motor vehicle has found a legitimate place in the scheme of things. The railways can share in the development of this business by adopting to Canadian conditions some such plan as the Pennsylvania railroad has in operation in its territory in the United States.

In any discussion of the trucking question it should be constantly borne in mind that only a small proportion of the trucks in use are engaged in inter-urban transport. There were, at the end of September, 63,000 trucks licensed in Ontario, of which only 3471, or less than 6 per cent, were licensed as public commercial vehicles. Although Ontario and Manitoba have perhaps gone farther than any of the other provinces in the matter of supervising inter-urban trucking, it is likely that all the provinces eventually will deem it advisable, in the public interest, closely to regulate this newer type of transportation.

BUSSES ARE REGULATED

The motor bus business gradually has been getting on a sounder basis. This might have come about of its own accord, but it is a fact that in the two provinces mentioned at least, there is close regulation as to rates, routes and financial and legal responsibility. Bus franchises are assets and it may be that eventually franchises may be issued for freight routes also.

With such a development it is obvious that premier transportation agencies of the country, the railways, need to coordinate their activities with those of the highways. It seems that in no other way can those railway problems created by the trucking situation be solved in the best interests of the railways and the public. Apparently it was along these lines that Sir Henry Thornton was thinking when he asserted that there is room for cooperation between the two methods.

SEPTEMBER STREAM FLOW DATA

The Dominion Water Power and Hydrometric bureau, department of the interior, reports that stream flow in the Manitoba district remained low during September and that on the Assiniboine and Red rivers new minima for September flows were recorded. During the month the precipitation was approximately normal. In the English river and Winnipeg river watersheds in northwestern Ontario precipitation was above normal and with careful conservation of water a slight increase in the levels of both Lac Seul and Lake of the Woods occurred during the month. No material increase in stream flow can be expected until increased precipitation has been maintained sufficiently to restore moisture dissipated during the prolonged period of deficient rainfall.

If all the folks would do the few simple things they know they ought to do, most of our big problems would take care of themselves. —Calvin Coolidge.

MUSCULAR—RHEUMATIC PAINS

DRAW them out with a "counter-irritant." Muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness—generally respond to good old Musterole. Doctors call it a "counter-irritant" because its warming action penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. It gets action and is not just a salve. But do not stop with one application. Apply this soothing, cooling, healing ointment generously to the affected area once every hour for five hours. Used by millions for over 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists.

The High Speed Girl

CHAPTER NINE

Strong, black coffee, taken half an hour after the aspirins and bromo-seltzer, pulled Laurel Oakes together.

Presently she was singing in the bath-tub. It was a good old world, after all. The sun was shining gloriously, and there was the hum of bees and crickets outside her window.

A graciousness was on the land today. As though the whole earth were giving thanks for its own beauty and fertility.

She—Laurel Oakes—owed thanks to someone, too. What about that good-looking young man who had been her rescuer?

Would he call her up, to find out how she was?

She wished he had showed some eagerness to make a date with her.

But nothing of the sort. His attitude had been that of a big and disapproving brother.

Well, she'd certainly asked for criticism, what with the wild and unconventional character of their meeting, followed by her unrepentant pertness.

Still, on this heavenly morning of high summer, she couldn't get the stranger out of her head.

She must confide in someone. It would have been wonderful to talk it all over with mother—but then lovely Constance, like nearly all the mothers of the other girls she knew, was always too busy to listen!

Preoccupied they were, with their own lives. Perpetual haste engulfed them.

There was the fear of ridicule, too, which held one back from giving away one's secrets to an older generation.

Mothers showed indifference to their young daughters' problems, shrinking responsibility . . and Constance was one of those whom time was continually pressing.

What with her golf, her dates at the Country club, her eternal bridge and poker parties . . (and mother played quite high) . . her matinees in town and her dress fittings, any attempt that Laurel made to discuss anything vital with her mother had been side-tracked.

It was the same with all the other girls. Youth went unguided at the very time it needed advice most.

Yet Laurel continued to have a sort of blind faith in her lovely mother. "If only Connie would listen, she would tell me the right thing to do. . ."

With all the changing and conflicting standards of the world today, Connie's advice would be worth something . . .

And the only person that tried to be any sort of guide to her was reckless, ultra-modern Imogen!

"The blind leading the blind" . . that was the situation.

But why worry? One was only young once . . and if dad and mother were perpetually busy on their own good times, why shouldn't she make whoopie . . ?

Laurel got out of the bathtub, wrapping a coat of French towelling that was printed with great red roses about her.

From among the perfume sachets in her bureau drawer she drew out a fresh set of underwear.

In cobweb lace and delicate pink silk. She donned long chiffon stockings.

"All glorious within" . . she would be that today. Maybe—who knows? She might see her handsome young doctor?

She had enjoined him to strict secrecy. It had taken quite a lot of cajoling.

From a perfumed hanger in her closet she took down a lovely little sports dress that looked very simple but had cost $40.

It was in pale pink silk, with embroideries in orchid on the natty little belt and cuffs and collar.

She laid it on the bed, and made up her face elaborately.

Then slipped into the enchanting frock, and down on her wavy brown locks drew a little helmet hat—in featherweight felt—of the same delicate pink color.

Oh, show the forehead more. As she moved the hat back from her brow there was a twinge of pain from the cut that was a couple of inches from her temple.

"Ouch!"

Would the darn thing bleed again?

And just then the bedroom door opened, and in came her mother.

"Good morning, dear. You look 'in the pink,' as the English say. Did you go out last evening?"

"Yep."

"Where to? I got back late myself, so didn't look in your room. But I expect you'd been a long time sleeping."

"Probably, mum," Laurel avoided her mother's eye. She became busy with her powder puff at the mirror. "Did you have a good time?"

"M'm. Yes. But I had bad luck at cards—"

"Then you're lucky in love! You know that saying?"

Her mother sat down on the edge of the bed and smiled at the speaker.

'You precocious child! Don't you think I'm long past anything of that sort?"

"No. According to what I read—and hear—you're right at the fashionable age for an 'affaire,' said Laurel, saucily.

"Good heavens!" But Constance seemed pleased, none the less. She said: "Then you don't think falling in love is the flapper's prerogative?"

Laurel swung round on her. Her heart was beating oddly.

What had happened to herself last night? Hadn't she been thinking continuously of the good-looking young doctor? But—because of the distance Connie had always maintained between them—she could not "unloosen" now to her mother. "You sweet thing, for me I consider love's the bunk, and romance 'out,'" she replied airily.

"A young girl like you? Why, Laurel!"

"Yep. No man will ever take the starch out of my spine . . no man'll ever knock me into a coma!"

"You valiant child, throwing a dare like that in the face of providence!"

"I'm not, Connie. I'm merely talking sense."

"Sense? If romance is taken out of the world, what have we got to live for?"

"Fun. High-speed. Thrills. Hundred per cent pleasure."

Her mother looked at her as though she were regarding some strange, queer specimen.

"D'you mean to say that you young girls have lost your belief in love?"

"Yep. I tell you we've de-bunked it. It's all hooey."

"That hateful slang! Your sentiments—or lack of them—are bad enough without draping them in such odd words, darling."

"But they convey the meaning, don't they? Don't weep salt tears over my high-priced but now forgotten education!"

"That's the way Imogen talks. And that reminds me," said her mother, "I've been hearing rather queer tales about Imogen lately."

SLIPPING PUMPS

When pumps or slippers have stretched so that they are too loose at the heels, they can be kept from slipping by the following method: For each slipper use a half-inch wide elastic ribbon, six inches long. Fasten the middle of the strip on the inside of the heel of the pump, stretch the ends a trifle and fasten them to the sides of the shoe. Be sure to place them so they will be concealed from sight by the sides of the shoe.

The Beauty Box

by Helen Follett

Being thin and sliverish has its disadvantages. The girl who is only a half portion, all bones and no bumps, has developed a yearning to be chesty now that frocks are built that way. To add to the measurements of her upper story she must get exercise in the open air, cultivate an appetite, become an addict of the cod liver oil bottle, manage to get nine hours of sleep every night, and cut down on social activities. Massaging the bust at night with lanolin or cocoanut oil, together with cold water applications in the morning, are her special beauty rites.

A fleshy, spreading nose can be trained to assume a more pleasing outline. Stroke gently from top to tip. Blackheads disfigure many little beaks. They give way before applications of thick soapsuds rubbed in well, and hot compresses applied for several minutes. After the warm rinsing, apply cotton which has been dippel in witch hazel. Choose powders with care. Heavy, oily ones aren't good when pores are laden with sebaceous oils capped with atmospheric dust.

When posing for a photograph lay off the rouge; it makes cheeks appear gaunt and hollow. Lips can be tinted lightly, eyelashes touched with mascara, eyelids shadowed ever so delicately, and eyebrows made more prominent by the use of the eyebrow pencil. In a photograph rouge produces a shadow.

A few drops of simple tincture of benzoin added to the tepid rinsing water to be used after the facial tubbing will act as a mild bleach. Benzoin is an effective astringent, desirable when the complexion is oily or pores are large. An ice rub daily improves the texture of the skin.

Soft corns between the toes are caused by moisture of the skin surface. Sprinkle well with boric talcum or powdered prepared chalk and cover with small pads of absorbent cotton. Ordinary corns are produced by pressure and friction of ill-fitting shoes.

All the ministers of the city were also named, and the committee was also empowered to add to its numbers.

The committee will endeavor to get a promise of a day's pay from all those who have steady employment. The Legion will be asked to put on a whist drive and dance for the fund, and the Cinderella club will also be asked to give a dance. The Curling club is planning a Christmas cheer bonspiel. Societies in the city will be asked to donate some of their funds.

MAKING CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Two reader friends have written me about how they make Christmas gifts:

"Coat Hangers with Pockets—Buy unfinished wood coat hangers, and cover these with a deep piece of pretty floral cretonne, measuring about 20 inches in width—or wide enough to cover all of the wood part, making a hole in the center of this folded strip of goods to put the wire hook through. Now, hem the bottom (having it as deep as you please) and in it make two slits, for pockets—one on each side. Bind with cotton tape in a contrasting color, sew up all around bottom and sides (or bind these too) and tie a bow of the colored tape around bottom of hook. The pockets are so handy for gloves, belt with a certain dress, a muffler, etcetera. Your friends will appreciate this gift. Miss T. T. Y."

"Knitted Oblong Rag Rug—Cut rag strips one-half inch wide and use large wood knitting needles. Cast on 45 stitches and knit back and forth till this center part of the rug is 15 by 36 inches in size. (I use white and light-colored rags alternately). Then use darker rags for the following knitted border—Cast on 10 stitches and knit a long strip for one side. Finish off, then cast on 10 more stitches, for other long strip on other side. Next, make two strips for end of rug, also 10 stitches wide and as long as necessary to go across the ends. After sewing these four strips to the rug, make four squares to sew into each of the corners—

To Make One Square: Cast on 10 stitches again and knit a perefect square. Sew it into one corner, in the space left open after you sew on the strips. Then make three other squares in the same way and sew into other three corners. My friends like these useful Christmas gifts better than anything else I could give them. Mrs. W. Q."

"A King in Babylon," Etc

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
An Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I have a husband whom I worship. I try to do everything to please him. I do all my own housework and hold a job. I buy everything for the house and most of my clothes and my child's. He fusses about giving me money and never does anything to please me. He won't take me to church or to see my relatives or friends. But everytime he goes to see his people I go with him rather than stay at home by myself.

Right now there is a girl who lives across the street and she makes appointments to go down town with him every morning. I don't want him to fall in love with her or have the neighbors talk about them. If I say anything about it he calls me narrow minded. Should I say something to her about it? I want the home to be happy for my child's sake. Should I talk to the girl. I feel HELPLESS

The trouble with you my dear, is that you have treated this husband of yours as if "he was a king of Babylon and you a Christian slave," to quote a certain poem.

Can't you see that you've overreached all bounds in the way of giving, doing, blotting out yourself and leaving in the place of a real woman a pale something that might be described as a doormat?

To do as you have done, as described in your letter—holding down a job, doing all the housework, buying your clothes and your child's—just means that your husband takes you too much for granted. You're like a tap in the kitchen sink that can be turned off and on at will. Please snap out of that fatal role, I beg of you, if you want, as you say in your letter, to keep the home happy for your child's sake.

If a country cannot be happy, half slave and half free, how much less can a home be happy under the same adverse conditions? Why does your husband like to be with the girl across th street? Because she isn't the echo of his bullying and repressive instincts. By playing the role of patient Griselda you're bringing out your husband's worst traits. And if you've forgotten about patient Griselda, she was a folk lore lady who smiled the more, the worse her husband behaved.

And there was another of the same ilk—"Sweet Alice Ben Bolt" popularized in "Tribby." The ditty, if memory serves me, ran something like:

"Oh, don't you remember sweet
Alice Ben Bolt,
Sweet Alice with her hair so
brown,
She wept with delight when you
gave her a smile,
And trembled with fear at your frown."

Today, the psychologists would decide that "Sweet Alice" was a border line case for behaving the way she did, and I believe she was dead anyhow before Ben Bolt remembered she'd ever lived.

Study the situation well. If your husband's selfishness (I'm judging only from what you've written) has not weakened his love for the child, tell him plainly that he is depriving the child of its proper environment by the attitude he takes toward you. Don't fuss, nag, or have hysterics. Just state your case as if you were counsel for the defense.

You have a job which is a priceless advantage; but please, my dear lady, have a little independence of character. My best wishes to you, and do write me again.

UTILIZATION OF DEVELOPED WATER POWER IN CANADA

The manner in which water power is utilized in Canada, states the Dominion water power and hydrometric bureau, department of the interior, demonstrates very clearly the extent to which it contributes to the development of the country which, owing to its water power resources, has been enabled to match its agricultural progress with notable advances along industrial lines.

CAMPBELLS ARE DELIGHTED WITH CITY OF NELSON

P. D. Campbell of Winnipeg to Take Position Vacated by R. E. Crerar

Expressing pleasant surprise in finding Nelson, a city with so modern an appearance, and delighted with the picturesqueness of it, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Campbell arrived from Winnipeg Tuesday night, and are preparing to enjoy their new surroundings. Expecting to find little more than a mountain town, it was with genuine pleasure that they greeted their new home.

Mr. Campbell is taking the place of R. E. Crerar with the North American Life Assurance company here.

Business conditions seemed to be improving slightly within the last month in and around Winnipeg, Mr. Campbell observed, and there was an undertone of optimism that had been lacking for some time.

PLAYS RUGBY AND TENNIS

In coming to Nelson Mr. Campbell will be a decided asset in two lines of sport at least. Rugby and tennis are the two recreations. Mr. Campbell played on the University of Manitoba ugby [illegible] during the seasons of 1928 and 1929, when the team toured parts of the west. His height and weight proved a source of strength and made him one of the most valuable men. Had Mr. Campbell stayed in Winnipeg, it would have fallen to his lot to coach junior and juvenile rugby there the coming season.

Mr. Campbell was also in the semi-finals in the "B" class tennis tournament this fall.

J. HOOGERWERF AND MISS DUNN WED AT FORKS

Nelson Man Takes Grand Forks Bride; Honeymoon to Spokane

GRAND FORKS, B. C., Dec. 2.—St. John's United Church was the scene of an interesting event on Tuesday when Miss Lillian Dunn only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Dunn became the bride of John Hoogerwerf of Nelson.

The church was beautifully decorated with cedar, oregon grape and mountain ash. A large arch topped with bells and decorated with greens, flanked on either side with large forest baskets made an interesting setting for the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. J. G. Archibald.

The bride looked lovely as she entered the church on the arm of her father. She was robed in a period gown of ivory satin with silver slippers, and wore the conventional veil with Juliet cap of lace and organge blossoms, and she carried a boquet of pink carnations and white chrysanthemums.

Miss Dorothy Flynn and Miss Catherine Henniger were bridesmaids—Miss Flynn looked very dainty in a gown of rose taffeta with picture hat to match while Miss Henniger chose a costume in Alice blue. B. Hoogerwerf, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

During the signing of the register, Miss Rosamund Buchan of Trail sang "My Prayer", Miss Marjorie Kidd, attired in an egg shell satin gown a la mode, acted as accompanist and played the wedding march.

After the ceremony about 35 guests sat down to lunch at the Grand Forks hotel. The dining room was beautifully decorated with white bells and streamers and pink flowers. An arch made of white crepe paper roses and white flowers was arranged over a table on which stood a miniature bride and groom with a parson.

Rev. Mr. Archibald proposed the toast to the bride which was ably responded to by the groom. Other speakers, offering felicitations and good wishes were Dr. C. M. Kingston, M.L.A., his worship Mayor E. C. Henniger, W. S. McPherson, Mr. Cagnon and Mrs. Gardiner, and others.

Later in the day the happy couple left by motor for Spokane. The bride wearing a brown tweed suit with shoes to match and martin skin coat. Miss Rosamund Buchan was the lucky girl to catch the bride's boquet.

STEADY NEED FOR UNDERWEAR, SOCKS BY INDIGENT MEN

Many Men Are Turned Away Each Day Because Clothing Is Lacking

No less than 25 men were turned away from the relief clothing rooms at the Club hotel Wednesday when they went there to get underwear, a commodity of which there was none. Many wanting socks were also doomed to disappointment and were compelled to go on their way without the needed article.

Of late, there has been an incessant demand for underwear, socks and blankets, and with the weather holding cold, the demand will be increased. So badly are socks needed that the men are even glad to get a pair of ladies' hose and cut off the surplus amount. When they cannot obtain blankets they ask for brown paper, or any old rags which they might use to aid in keeping warm.

Numbers are turned away daily because these articles cannot be supplied. People having old clothing of this kind are urgently asked to get in touch with Captain Cartmell or leave them at the Capitol theater.

STORES BECOME CHRISTMASSY AS DAY APPROACHES

More Early Shoppers Out This Year; District People Shop

With but 18 shopping days remaining until Christmas Nelson and district shoppers are already making their selections for Christmas. Store windows are now decked out in Christmas style and the interiors are gradually taking on their Christmas decorations.

Merchants report that Christmas shopping has started earlier this season and that already numerous customers have had articles laid aside for the great event.

Merchants state that the choice is better this year than ever in practically all lines and that goods are cheaper. Nelson shop keepers have a bigger and better display of Christmas goods than ever before.

District people have been doing a great deal of shopping especially has this been noticeable during the past week.

Stalin's Wife Goes in for Scientific Study Rather Than for Society Affairs

MOSCOW, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Soviet Russia's "first lady," Mme. Joseph Stalin, is setting an example for her fellow countrymen by studying to become an expert in the production of artificial silk.

Instead of devoting a great part of her life to social activities as would be essential in other countries, this 29 year old wife of the head of the Communist party and virtual dictator of the Soviet union, this year is rounding out a three-year course of technical study at the all-union industrial academy here.

She is the only woman in a class of six and she is treated exactly as all other students enrolled at the school.

GOES BY MAIDEN NAME

She is known simply as Nadya Alliluieva, her maiden name. Schoo. officials say she is an earnest and diligent pupil and that she refused to allow her position to react in any way to her advantage.

Mme. Stalin is the mother of two children, but in accord with the Soviet policy of withdrawing women from housework to industry, she does not allow her domestic responsibilities to interfere with her work.

Most of her work now is in the chemical labratory where she may be seen almost any day bending over retorts and test tubes.

After she completes the course this year she will probably be given a combined administrative and technical post in one of the large Soviet rayon industries as is customary for graduates of the academy.

IS SECOND WIFE

Mme. Stalin is the second wife of the 51-year-old communist leader. She is of medium height, inclined to plumpness, and wears her long brown hair combed straight back from her forehead and done up in a knot behind. She wears plain clothes chiefly skirts and blouses and dons socks for her work in the laboratory.

They occupy a simple two-room apartment in the Kremlin. Mme. Stalin's two children are a girl, 6, and a boy of 11. They are now in school at the Kremlin.

AMERICAN BRIDGE LEAGUE MAY BE REORGANIZED

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 2.—Bridge tables at the national tournament buzzed today with discussion of a proposal for drastic reorganization of the American Bridge league, to be submitted at the annual business session tomorrow.

The proposal, sponsored by George Reith of New York, chairman of the card committee of the Knickerbocker Whist club, would abolish individual membership in the league and open the doors instead to the entrance of community clubs as units. Administrative changes also are proposed.

The pair championship will be decided at the conclusion of the third session Friday. Teams of four will play in four sessions, winding up Saturday.

ARTHUR R. JOY TO MANAGE THE LIBERTY, TRAIL

Son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Joy Returns From Coast to New Duties

Arthur R. Joy, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Joy of Nelson, who has been visiting with his parents this week from Vancouver leaves this morning for Trail where he will take over the management of the Liberty theater. H will succeed Mr. Roobottom.

Mr. Joy is well know locally having been educated in the local schools. For the past few years he has been in Vancouver where he worked on the editorial staff of the Journal of Commerce, a trade paper.

Mr. Joy states that conditions are slowly improving at the coast. Indications point to a great deal of building at Vancouver within a short period, he said.

The "Interference" Nuisance

Nelson civic authorities, in cooperation with the Nelson Radio club, are going energetically after the radio "interference" nuisance in Nelson.

The street railway is one offender—many think it to be the chief offender, and there is ground for the belief—but there are undoubtedly other causes.

Experience in other cities shows that radio interference can usually be prevented. Nelson has had too much of it and for too long.

Every radio owner will back the city council in its campaign.

Money from Ottawa

Ottawa has credited British Columbia with one million dollars, as a preliminary allowance for the federal share of relief work expenditures. Half of this sum is apparently for share of municipal work and the other half is for provincial undertakings.

Whether this amount of one million dollars will enable the province to resume immediately the work in relief camps or whether most of it has already been spent is not stated, but it is to be hoped that there will not be much further delay in continuing the good work which was started three months or so ago.

Britain's Show Boat

Britain is launching a show boat that will sail for an eleven-months' cruise from London along the route taken by the Prince of Wales on his recent South American tour. However, the 15,000-ton British Exhibitor will go farther than the Prince and include in her itinerary of 30 ports, Los Angeles and San Francisco. She may go as far north as Seattle. Two hundred salesmen will set forth the virtues of various products in the 500 exhibits carried aboard. It is a follow-up campaign for trade after the royal envoy.

No Monkey Business, Mr. Gandhi

Sir Samuel Hoare, secretary of state for India, has told the mahatma in good plain English that if he and his party start any disturbances in India, as a result of the refusal of the British government to hand over India to them, lock, stock and barrel, stern measures will be taken to restore order.

It was about time that the Gandhi politicians should be told definitely what would happen if they attempted to bring about a revolt in India.

India can be governed kindly and sympathetically, as has been the British policy in the past, but it must be governed firmly. Weakness on the part of the British government would be disastrous, and most disastrous of all to India itself.

Foreign Investments in Canada Grow

Foreign investments in Canada are frequently rated at more than five billion dollars. This great total is growing, literally, every day of the year, so much so that an absolutely exact computation thereof is out of the question. Even in times of world-wide depression and industrial stagnation, Canada has more than held her own as a lure for the surplus funds of foreign countries, as witness the fact that between August, 1930, and October of the present year, 111 firms of other lands have opened branches in the Dominion. Of these, 97 were United States manufacturing or mining concerns, and 13 were of British affiliation. It is estimated that the capitalization of the companies amounts to about $12,000,000.

And $12,000,000 is a tidy sum for non-Canadians to invest in branch-houses in Canada in a period of 14 months. It bespeaks a quiet confidence in the future of the Dominion—the confidence of shrewd business, industrial and commercial concerns with whom hard facts are the yardsticks by which investments are appraised. Attracted by the lure of abundant and cheap power, by the availability of competent and contented labor, and by the commercial arrangements under which Canada has made herself a veritable base of supply to half the world, they come to build, along with Canadians, a still greater and richer country.

The war between China and Japan has extended to the harbor of Los Angeles. Two vessels, one Japanese and the other manned by Chinese, were docked side by side at Terminal Island. Not having any machine guns handy, they resorted to cabbages and other things. If the Reds had just interfered, the setting would have been complete.

A radio fan wishes someone would invent a gadget for his receiving set that would automatically twist off the announcer's neck the moment he begins and then switch the program on again after the dawdling has stopped. This may seem to be too much to hope for. And yet all things are possible.

Since the automobile seat has replaced the parlor sofa for courting, limited parking will create quite a hardship. The young people might be driven indoors and there are the light and heat problems to think of. At least there is a heat problem.

The idea that money is covered with germs is all wrong, says a doctor. In other words, he likely means that any kind of money will be acceptable on bills. It may be but an ethical way of notifying his debtors.

"Between You and Me"

By "J.B.C."

Perhaps the an ents were not so wrong about love philtres after all, says the San Francisco Examiner. A writer in the American Druggist as good as says affection can be secured for a few cents at the apothecary's. He works it out that if mothers no longer love their children, the trouble is pathological. They just need a little more maganese in their diet.

The theory has been tried out on rats. A number of rodents that displayed a lack of interest in their young were given a jolt of manganese, and at once lavished affection on their offspring.

So now mother love is perfectly clear. When Cornelia, mother of Gracchis, said, "These are my jewels," it wasn't maternal affection so much as that the lady had plenty of manganese in her system.

This will certainly be a boon to song writers. "Mother" and "love" have so few words to rhyme with. And "manganese"—though is does sound a little chemical—has 35, according to the rhyming dictionary.

Includes much work and little play.
She washes the tots and keeps them fed—
Nightly she smiles as she tucks them to bed.
Why does she do this? Just to please?
No! She knows her manganese!

Reading a popular magazine the other day I was much interested in an article by Smedley Butler, late of the United States marines. Smedley has received the cold shoulder from the United States' admirality since he went haywire on Mussolini. He is now out of the service, and his article goes after the "stay at home" or landlocked admirals of the U. S. He would still be with the navy, he declares, were it not for the fact that he did not attend Annapolis. He winds up his article with the words "To hell with the Admirals."

Butler has become world famous since his attack upon Mussolini. The head of the leathernecks or marines, in the Philippines and in China has settled down to private life. In discussing this matter in a cigar store recently I learned that D. Foster, painter and decorator, of this city, served under Butler in the Philippines and in China. "Old Gimley-eyes," according to Mr. Foster, was always a go-getter. He loved his men but he loved discipline. One day in China, Butler, then a lieutenant or captain, was assaed by a man in the ranks. Did he court-martial the man? No. He just dropped his Sam Brown, stuck his sword into the mud and administered a sound admonition in the style of Jack Dempsey or Gene Tunney. Yes, folks, we are likely to hear more from the same Mr. Butler. And it is all interesting reading, even though is does not concern this Dominion of Canada of ours.

Birds of the Kootenay and Arrow Lakes

By J. E. H. KELSO, Edgewood, B. C.

SURFACE DUCKS

American Widgeon or Baldpate—Mareca americana (Gmelin):

DESCRIPTION

Adult Male—The bill is blue with black tip, crown white with white feathers. It is no more bald than is the Bald-headed eagle; bald applied to these two birds is a misnomer. On each side and back of the white crown is a wide patch of green, the rest of the head and neck speckled with blackish and buff, breasts and sides greyish lavender or wine color speckled with ducky, back grey with wavey lines of black white and lavender, speculum on wing green framed in deep black.

Adult, Female—A brownish bird, body, head and neck speckled with dusky on light ground color, belly white, wing with dull black speculum. Length of male, 20¼ inches; length of female 18½ inches.

STATUS

Common resident through the province breeding more rarely along the south border. Remains during the winter where there is open water.

HABITS

Unfortunately this fine, excellent tasting, sporting surface duck is not as common on the Kootenay and Arrow lakes as one would desire, owing no doubt to restricted areas of marsh land. Its habits and edible qualities resemble those of its very near relation, the European Widgeon, the latter occurring in vast flocks on the tidal mud flats, and it is the surface duck most frequently secured and sold by the professional wildfowlers on the Dutch and British coasts.

One sometime sees the American Widgeon forming a mixed flock with other surface duck such as Pintails, etc. Not only with surface duck, however, does it associate, but freely mixes with flocks of the diving species such as Golden-Eyes, Lesser-Scaup and even Mergansers. The latter mixed assemblage of surface and diving species is interesting for the feeding habits are disimilar. But it has been mooted that in the process of evolution and changed habits evolved in the coming ages, surface ducks (if any are left) may change their habits, especially as they are sometimes wont to snatch food from the bills of the diving duck when the latter reach the surface.

For years I have been observing widgeon, but never seen one attempt to dive to secure food, but in April, 1923, I was watching one day a male in a beaver dam feeding on some floating feed. Then it got into somewhat deeper water and actually dived to the bottom three times for food. It had only just to completely immerse the whole body to attain its object.

NESTING

The widgeon nests on the ground in grass, etc., lining the nest and packing the eggs in its down like other ducks. The eggs number, it is said, 10 to 11 and are buff white.

GREEN-WINGED TEAL
Nettion Carolinense

STATUS

Common resident through the province, breeds rarely at the coast, commonly in the interior. Winters at the coast in numbers and rarely in the southern interior.

DESCRIPTION

The adult male of this beautiful little duck reaches a length of only 14½ inches and is very brightly colored. The head, light chestnut with the chin and forehead black, a crescent of green and black inclosing the eyes. He possesses a small crest. The wing has a green and black speculum. The adult female is a plain brown colored little duck about the same length as the male.

HABITS

This bird is not uncommon about the Kootenay and Arrow lakes but it is more an inhabitant of marshes, small ponds and slow-running creeks. Teal of all species are very quick, lively little ducks, and can rise vertically off the water. This bird on land can walk quickly with a slight waddling gait. They fly like other ducks with outstretched neck and legs laid back under the tail but, unlike the others, it is often of a wavering character.

NOTES

A gentle sibilant sound, very pretty when heard in a slough, also a low, subdued quack.

NESTING

Nest is on the ground in grass or weeds lined with down. The eggs are nine to 12 of a very pale buff color.

In the intensely hot July of 1921 I had a unique experience with a teal's nest on the bank of a little pond on a lonely branch. There was no likelihood that it was in anyway disturbed by human interference. Of course at that date it must have been a second clutch, the first having been destroyed or forsaken. To put it briefly, the seven eggs were correctly packed and covered by down, but the scant herbage around withered, the eggs were left exposed, thought the little duck did act leave the pond for a few days, never going onto the nest, which meant that she had been frightened off before she had time to cover the eggs and that the eggs exposed to the hot rays of the sun had lost their vitality. All the eggs when opened showed no sign of incubation and though there was no offensive smell their contents were reduced to the consistency of a custard. This goes to prove how important it is for duck's nests to be protected by ample cover of grass, rush, etc.

BLUE-WINGED TEAL
Querequedula Discors (Linnaeus)

DESCRIPTION

Adult male—Sides of head, grey; white crescent in front of eye. This is a very distinguishing mark. Under parts, wine-colored and spotted, back wine-colored and streaked with dusky; wing, bright blue at base; speculum, green; base of tail with a white spot on each side.

Female—Upper parts dusky, under parts grey and mottled with dusky; wing and wing coverts blue, speculum, green.

STATUS

Summer visitant to interior, not common. Scarce breeder in the interior.

HABITS

It may seem unnecessary to deal with the Blue-winged Teal when dealing with the birds of the lakes, for it is decidedly rare, but I do so because (extraordinary as it may appear), local hunters often mistake the Green-winged for the above species. The only way this can be done, to my mind, is that a hunter holds a Green-winged in a certain light and may get a transitory bluish reflection from the speculum. The Blue-winged is a totally different looking bird, even at a distance. Also the female is quite distinct, the blue of the wing being very conspicuous. In habits it resembles the other teal.

THE SHOVELLER
(Spatula Clypeata Linnaeus)

DESCRIPTION

The male is a very handsome bird, showing conspicuous black, blue and white marking. The female is brownish, but the markedly widened beak of both sexes easily distinguishes this species.

HABITS

This handsome bird is quite common on the lakes. Some authorities state that it is not such a good table bird as the other surface ducks but I do not agree with them.

Besides the surface ducks already dealt with we have on these lakes the Gadwall and American Pintail. But the two later are not common. The handsome Cinnamon Teal is extremely rare. I have only one record. That was a beautiful male on our beaver dam.

The next group of ducks, the divers, are commoner and more easily studied on these lakes and to many they are more interesting than the surface species.

THE NEWSPAPERS' SERVICE

From one end of the country to the other, without concerted action, agreement or conference even, the newspapers of Canada published independent eiading articles, setting forth facts and supplying solid reasons for continued confidence in the essential strength of our economic position and financial structure. No one bribed, persuaded or requested the editors to action in this way but, like firemen responding to a call, they set themselves to meet the situation in the light of knowledge and experience, as a matter of course.

Of course, the editor is a fallible man and it may be, in the eyes of the critic, a very ordinary man, but he necessarily possesses a certain amount of professional experience that enables him to make use of sources of definite information, nor does he hesitate to consult the best authorities quickly available to him in an emergency. We suggest then that it may be in order for those who make a practice of sneering at and belittling the press to revise their attitude towards that institution. For nothing is more certain than that if the Canadian people are going about their business tranquilly today and if the banks and brokerage houses are carrying on in safety, they owe this in part at least to the voluntary, public-spirited efforts of the newspapers.—The Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

And it was during the young sailor's first watch in the crow's nest that this happened:

"A red and green light on the starboard bow, sir."

"What is it?"

MILTON C. WORK

CONTRACT BRIDGE

NORTH: ♠ 9-J-10-7 ♥ K-2 ♦ 7-5 ♣ K-J-7-5-4
WEST: ♠ K-8-5 ♥ J-6-4-3 ♦ K-9-8-3-2 ♣ 10
EAST: ♠ A-3-2 ♥ A-Q-10-7 ♦ J-6-4 ♣ 8-6-3
SOUTH (Dealer): ♠ A-3-6 ♥ 9-8-5 ♦ A-Q-10 ♣ A-Q-9-2
A-39

At Contract Bridge the above hand would place some Dealers in quite a serious position. South has a No Trump count of 16, three suits stopped, and three cards in the unstopped suit—and full justification for bidding No Trump; but he also has a biddable Club suit and an unstopped suit, under which conditions some prefer to bid the suit.

If South started with a Club and West bid a Diamond, North would jump the Clubs; and South, knowing that Diamonds might be led through him and with no stopper in Hearts, probably would go on with Clubs. At Clubs North and South would be apt to lose two Hearts, one Diamond and one Spade.

While it sometimes pays to "approach" rather than bid No Trump at once with a hand like South's, and while there would be strong reason for doing so if the four-card suit had been a major, a No Trump bid usually results more satisfactorily when the four-card suit is a minor, the No Trump count ample and the hand evenly distributed. If South bids one No Trump, West will pass and North, with a count of 11, will bid three Clubs or three No Trumps (the latter the sounder bid). If the former, South, with an evenly divided hand, will be apt to bid three No Trumps.

At Auction bridge the bidding probably would be: South one No Trump, followed by three passes.

When the hand was played with a No Trump contract West led his fourth best Diamond and South's Queen won. Declarer, with the adverse suit still stopped and with doubtful Hearts, then took in five Club tricks. Having two Aces left, but needing three tricks for game, he finessed Spades. West won and led a Heart; and East having kept his Hearts took four Heart tricks and saved game.

Could Declarer have made game in spite of the hard-luck distribution of the adverse Hearts?

THE CORRECT PLAY

Impossible to say; but his best chance would have been to win the first Diamond with the Ace, not the Queen; then put dummy in with a Club at trick 2 and lead a Spade to trick 3, finessing when East does not cover. West, winning the Spade finesse, might be fooled into leading a low Diamond on the supposition that East had the Queen; if he did so, Declarer would make game.

OFFICIAL SYSTEM POINTER No. 70

North holding: Spades, Ace-Jack-Ten; Hearts, Queen-Ten-Six-Three-Two; Diamonds, Ace-Queen-Ten; Clubs, Seven-Five, following a No Trump by South and a pass by West, should bid three Hearts. North is too strong to permit the hand to be played at less than a game declaration. It only requires a count of 11 to jump South's one No Trump, to three. North has a high count, but it is safer for him to bid three Hearts (forcing South to bid either three No Trumps or four Hearts) and thus giving South an option. The combined hands will probably produce game at either declaration but South might have bid No Trump holding the King-Queen of Spades, the Ace-King of Hearts, the King-Jack of Diamonds, and no stopper in Clubs, if so extending the Heart option insures game.

WARNS AGAINST THE UPSETTING OF BOB SLEIGHS ON HILLS

To the editor of The Nelson Daily News.

Sir:

To the parents in Fairview:

Will the parents of the lads who use Elwyn street for sleighing please warn them against the dangerous practice of upsetting bobsleighs full of girls when in full motion down the hill?

Some of them seem to think this quite smart. It was the cause of Sunday night's accident.

The boy was not the only one, but two of the girls have nasty bruises. I may say one boy got his leg broken in the same way last year.

A little timely advice to these lads may save further bruised and broken limbs.

"And what do I need one for," rejoined Pat.

"To put your clothes in," was the reply.

"And go naked," exclaimed Pat. "Not a bit of it."

Beggar: "Pardon me, madam! Do you think I'd be relyin' on total strangers for support if I had a wife?"

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON

SORE THROAT, RHEUMATISM AND HEART DISEASE

That rheumatism and heart disease often follow attacks of sore throat and tonsillitis has been known for many years, and yet when rheumatism and heart disease occurs the throat and tonsils appear to be normal and are therefore not blamed for the trouble.

As a matter of fact if the patient or family will think back a little while, they will remember that the throat was sore, two, three or even four weeks before. There was also an increase in pulse and temperature, but it was all over in three or four days, and quite naturally has been forgotten.

Sometimes the attack of rheumatism and heart disease occur at the same time as the throat infection and then of course the cause is apparent.

In other words while rheumatism and heart disease may occur at the same time as acute tonsillitis or other throat infection, it usually follows some time afterward and this point should be remembered.

But what about the tonsillitis or other throat infection, what causes these?

One of the first things the individual with tonsillitis notices even before his throat gets sore is that he is a little "off his food," and that he is constipated.

Your physician will tell you that he has been able to greatly lessen an attack of tonsillitis by giving a purgative— usually epsom salts, and having the patient do without food for at least one day.

There is no question of course, but that throat attacks are due to certain special or specific organisms that can cause trouble are always in the throat must also be admitted.

What then gets them started making trouble, or what enables them to overcome the natural resistance in the throat?

Overwork, overeating, anything where too much waste is being manufactured can give the natural fighting forces of the body so much work to do that they can't fight off the organisms causing sore throat.

The though of course is that if overeating, constipation, and fatigue can be avoided that the tendency to sore throat will be lessen-

Rev. E. H. Shenks, at his residence yesterday afternoon married Howard M. Foster, owner of the Santa Monica ranch at Two-mile, to Miss Annie Hurst formerly of Nanaimo.

The teacher was instructing the youngsters in natural history.

"Can any little boy or girl tell me what an oyster is?"

The hand of Jimmy Jones shot nto the air.

"An oyster," announced Jimmy, 'is a fish built like a nut."

"So you use three pairs of glasses, Professor?"

"Yes, one pair for long sight, one pair for short sight, and the third to look for the other two."

A Jewish scholar claims that jazz is of Hebraic origin. This assertion is probably based on the blast of trumpets that caused the collapse of the walls of Jericho.

Told in Rime

THE PASSING OF AUTUMN

What has become of the glory,
That autumn had strewn far and free?
Now are the fields hard and hoary
Where autumn was won to be.

Whither passed she in her going?
Passed she away in the night?
Never a trace of her showing;
Did frosty winds hasten her flight?

Up by Schiedam where her fires were matching the lowering sun
Were the funeral pyres
I sought, but of blaze there was none.

By the banks of the river the willows,
Show naked and stark in the deep
On hilltops the white snowy pillows
Are laid for a long winter's sleep.

Gone! Autumn so calm and so mellow,
Breathing her calm as a prayer;
Painting the woods red and yellow;
But now they are lonely and bare.

Yet ever the bitter winds shook her,
She yielded her garnered up store.
Silently then she betook her
To brighten some southern shore.

Grim winter has taken possession.
Seasons shall wax and shall wane,
Then autumn again in succession
With wide arms we'll welcome again.

TRAIL AND NELSON REPRESENTATIVE BASKETBALL TEAMS TO PLAY FRIDAY

Trail Team Won Interior Championship for the Past Season

Sparks of the sporting type will be glowing on Friday night when the Nelson Rep basketball team meets the Trail representative team here on the junior high school floor December 4. The Nelson boys have played two games this year, both against Rossland, and have emerged victorious in both cases.

The Trail team is the same that won the interior basketball championship of British Columbia for the 1930-31 season. They fell before the sniping shooters and heady playing Powell River team after a grand display of basketball.

The Nelson boys are playing a good game this year and are anticipating giving Trail plenty to think about. Under Captain L. Vance and with their own floor to play upon, they will be out to upset the Trail applecart.

WHEELER HEADS REFUSE TO LET MILNE UMPIRE

Claim They Do Not Know Westerner's Reputation or Ability

MONTREAL, Dec. 3—The Gazette in its sporting pages today says that J. C. Riddell, president, and A. F. Gayford, vice-president, respectively, of the Montreal Winged Wheelers Football club, declared last night the club would not allow its players to take the field in the Canadian rugby football championship with Regina Roughriders next Saturday if Howie Milne of Regina was to be the umpire.

The club had nothing against Milne personally, Riddell was quoted as saying, but nothing was known here of his reputation or ability. He was a referee in the western Canadian group in which Regina played. Neither of the other officials had any connection with the group in which Montreal played as Joe O'Brien wa an inter-collegiate union referee and Harry Batstone is coach at Queen's university, the paper further quotes Riddell.

T. Hicks Miller, Montreal vice-president of the Canadian Rugby union, the payer says, branded the reported attitude as "ridiculous." It would be unfair to the public, unfair to the Regina team now travelling east and such a decision would certainly mean that Regina would take the title by default, Miller was quoted as saying.

DOEG AND MISS ANDRUS RANKING TENNIS PLAYERS

Vines Inelegible for Eastern Ranking Because of Residence

NEW YORK, Dec. 2. (AP)—John Hope Doeg, former national champion, of Newark, N. J., and Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., are given the top ranking in the 1931 tennis pairings accepted by the executive committee of the Eastern Lawn Tennis association, and made public today.

Although Doeg won no important eastern tournament last year, he was runner-up in the Longwood and Seabright fixtures to Ellsworth Vines Jr., Californian and national champion, who because of his residence is ineligible for eastern ranking.

Miss Andrus, although victor in no important tournament, was well up in all of those in which she played.

Frank Shields, Davis cup star, and Sidney B. Wood Jr., champion at Wimbledon, were given second and third places among the men, followed by Berkeley Bell, former Texan, who now lives in New York.

Baroness Maud Levi, the Italian noblewoman, who lives in New York City, is ranked No. 2 behind Miss Andrus in the women's list.

Mrs. Agnes S. Lamme of Rye is given No. 3 ranking.

MINOR LEAGUE BATTLE STARTS TO OUST OFFICIALS

WEST BADEN, Dec. 2 (AP)—Minor league club owners today formally opened their fight to retire the present officers of their governing body, the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, while the player mart, both major and minor, started to produce business.

A resolution was placed before the convention by the club owners to retire two of its veteran officers, Mike Sexton of Rock Island, Ill., president of the association for 22 years, and John Farrell, of Auburn, N. Y., its secretary-treasurer from the beginning under the resolution, action on which was postponed to tomorrow's meeting, both Sexton and Farrell would be retired with a full year's salary for 1932 and thir duties turned over to a committee of five to three from the class A leagues and two from the leagues of lower classification.

If the noblest man in the world is treated as a scoundrel, he will react to it by being a scoundrel—Boris Pilnyak.

"On the Spot" in Sport

(By "O.J.W.S.")

For the last month or so we haven't had much to say about Pepper Martin, the lad who saved the 1931 world championship for the St. Louis Cardinals. But Pepper is still busy with his theater contracts, even though the life of a national hero, so far as the public is concerned, is about four weeks. When Martin decided to step up before the footlights for $3000 a week, the owner of the Cards decided that the thing might just as well be done right, so he sent along his private secretary to look after the young star. Now when Pepper "goes places" he knows what tie to wear, has his neck and ears clean and conducts himself in a manner that would please even Beatrice Fairfax.

And recalling the major leagues, one remembers, if he has ever though about the subject, that there are no "colored" players on the rosters of the National and American league clubs although every other race in the world has an equal chance. There are no written laws designating that negroes cannot play major baseball— because, I suppose, the high moguls of baseball have never had the nerve to put such a thing on paper. It is not because there have been no great negro baseball players. Their race have produced some of the greatest athletes in many different sports. On scores of college athletic teams there are colored athletes winning their share of the glory for their schools and clubs. Off hand we thing of DeHart Hubbard, one of the greatest broad jumpers of all time, Eddie Tolan, better than most of the present day sprinters, and our own Canadian Olympic ace Phil Edwards—all these three fellows are admired and respected by their teammates. But in professional baseball it is different—the pros feel that they must adhere to the great unwritten law that keeps the black race out of their ranks. Where are the pens of those who prate about every other known kind of sportsmanship under the sun?

Last night the Nelson hockey team gave the fans a taste of what they can expect to see when the season opens here on Monday night, with the Smokeeaters. And after the scrub game Tuesday night there were a lot of smug looks on the faces of the Nelson hockey-minded, as they nodded to each other and said, "They'll do" or "As nice a forward line as I've seen in Nelson for many a day."

But then, of course, there is the die-hard who has a private grudge of some kind who scowls, "I've seen lots faster hockey!"

Maybe he has—this isn't an N.H.L. club.

Babe Ruth Not Worrying Over Prospects of Another Contract With the Yankees

Says Later in the Season He and Col. Ruppert Will Connect

NEW YORK, Dec. 2. (AP)—Now that football is about over, the time apparently has come again for the nation to consider the most serious sports problem of the winter—Babe Ruth and his expired contract with the New York Yanks.

"Aw," said baseball's great man today, "that's no problem. I'll see Col. Rupert sometime in January and we'll talk it over. We never have had any real trouble reaching an agreement before. Why should we now?"

This is all the first hand information available on the subject at the moment, but it is enough to start conjecture as to whether the great hitter hasn't already seen the Yank owner and already talked of the past with its two-year contract at $80,000 per annum, as well as the future, at a decreased rate.

IS CLOSE MOUTHED

As a matter of fact the Babe, as he gets older and wiser, prefers to keep the intimate details of his business problems to himself. In his prime he waged many battles for increased wages in the newspapers. Now, hoping for only two more years of playing life to round out his score of seasons under the ward big top, the Babe is looking far ahead into the managerial possibilities of the future. Diplomacy, rather than public indignation, is his strongest card.

Certainly baseball and the possibility of argument over a new agreement with the Yanks were the farthest things from the bambino's mind today as he bustled about his apartment, aided by his wife, speaking into a microphone one moment, posing for pictures another, talking for movies, and in between times packing for a hunting expedition against the wild turkeys of North Carolina.

Just returned from California and a brief session with the picture makers, the Babe seems in perfect physical condition. He said he weighed 223 pounds and expected to toughen his legs hunting turkeys, then tackle a few weeks of gym work before heading south in February

BLACKHAWKS BEAT THE CANADIENS, 2-1

Is One of the Roughest Games Seen in Chicago in Several Seasons

CHICAGO, Dec. 2 (CP)—Chicago's Blackhawks scored a 2 to 1 victory over the world Canadiens of Montreal tonight after the roughest National Hockey league battle seen in the Chicago stadium in several seasons. The winning goal was scored with less than three minutes to go and Goalie George Hainsworth in the penalty box for having tripped Vic Ripley. Battleship Leduc took Hainsworth's place and within a few seconds Cook slammed the puck at him.

Canadiens had tied it up just two minutes earlier on a beautiful solo by Howie Morenz. The first Blackhawk score was made in the second period, Ripley taking a pass from Paul Thompson.

The contest was furiously fast and just as rough. The officials gave the players all the latitude possible, but even so, had to call 15 penalties. About 11,000 spectators watched the battle.

First period—No score.

Penalties—Abel, Gagnon, Munro, March.

Second period (1)—Chicago, Ripley, (Thompson) 4:30.

Penalties— Coulture, Thompson Jolliat, Adams, Morenz, Abel.

Third period—(2) Montreal, Morenz, 15:20; (3) Chicago, Cook, (Gottselig, Adams) 2:00.

Football Casualties for Year in U.S., 29, With Murphy's Death

NEW YORK, Dec. 2. (AP)—Cornelius Murphy, of Greenfield, Mass., stalwart tackler of the Fordham university football line, died today following injuries suffered November 21 in a game with Bucknell university, bringing to 29 tl list of fatalities from football this season.

Prospective captain of next year's varsity, Murphy suffered a brain concussion in stopping a play of Bucknel 10 days ago.

He was taken to Fordham hospital but released three days later and taken to the college infirmary where he has been confined since for observation. Early today his condition became alarmingly worse and he died within half an hour.

"Character—Golf Don't Mix," Hanley

By AL DEMAREE

Bob Zuppke always said that a football coach is a great coach when he has a great team but a "character builder" when he has a poor one. He has to be something if he is not getting results on the field.

Dick Hanley, who has been turning out some great teams in recent years at Northwestern university, goes in for golf in a big way during the summer and takes the game seriously, What golfer doesn't?

One day this summer he was having a bad day, hooking and slicing and finding most of the sand traps. He was in a hot foursome, too, with quite a little money at stake.

When he found his seventh or eighth trap and was indulging in a bit of profanity, one of his opponents shouted, "Character building, eh?"

"Character builder, h———ll" he shouted, as he swung desperately at the ball, imbedded in a heelprint, "I'm out to win!"

I am convinced that when confidence has been established among all nations of the world, the present capacity for all industrial countries will not be sufficient to satisfy the demand.—Oskar Sempell.

SCHOOL SOCCER CUPS PRESENTED BLAYLOCK, TRAIL

TRAIL, B. C., Dec. 2.—Winners of the trophies in the two divisions of school soccer received their silverware this afternoon at the Central school. The presentations were made by S. G. Blaylock, who was accompanied by E. Mason, an ardent supporter of soccer among the boys. Mr. Mason was responsible for the cups given in the old city junior league being diverted for competition in the school leagues.

The first division (High school league) cup was won by the Eagles, captained by Winston Groom. Second division cup, (Central school league) was won by the Canucks, captained by Tom Doherty.

School football had a successful season. The activity was directed by J. Gagnon of Central school teaching staff.

TRAIL HOCKEY TO START SHORTLY

TRAIL, B. C., Dec. 2.—Opening of the Trail Commercial hockey league, possibly with Maple Leafs and Trail rep juniors tangling, may take place December 8. Keen interest in these two teams and the enthusiastic following each has built up indicates a fairly good attendance.

Maple Leafs are at present in the throes of making arrangements for ice, and beyond the first game it is not known how the league is likely to fare.

Wolgast Wins Decision

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 2 (AP)—Midget Wolgast, Philadelphia flyweight, was given a decision over Speedy Dado, aggressive Filipino, after 10 rounds of furious fighting here tonight.

Wolgast was credited by the referee with having won four of the rounds with his speed and steady punching while Dado won two. Dado cut the Philadelphian over the right eye in the fifth round.

PLAN ORGANIZE INTERMEDIATES

Hockey Meeting Tonight Should See Four Teams in Contests

Intermediate hockey will get its start in Nelson this evening when hockeyists gather to form an association at the city hall. According to A. Wallach prospects look bright for an intermediate league in the city this winter. Already two teams have entered and there are prospects that two more will be in action soon. If a four team league eventuates the games, it is anticipated, will be played once per week, a doubleheader on one night.

Wolves and Fairview have already signified intention of entering teams in the league.

FORT Langley, on the Fraser River—the first post erected under organized direction of affairs by the Hudson's Bay Company—was completed in 1827. It was "forty by forty-five yards and the bastions were twelve feet square, built of eight-inch logs." Subsequently burned, it was re-built as one of the largest of all forts in the North West. Here Sir James Douglas was installed as Governor of British Columbia in 1851.

CANADA'S ARCTIC AIRWAYS

Within the past three years the aeroplane has established itself as a factor in the transportation business of the Far North, according to the North West Territories and Yukon branch of the department of the interior. Today well-equipped commercial airways companies operate in the Mackenzie and Keewatin districts. The planes that pioneered the Arctic airways followed the well-established routes of river and coastal travel but experience has now shown that much of the Arctic coastline is better served by cross country routes. From Coronation gulf west the several routes leading northward are based on Great Slave lake. From this base three recognized routes are followed, one to Aklavik by way of the Mackenzie river; a second to Coppermine via Rae, Great Bear lake and the valley of the Coppermine river; and a third from Reliance across country to the southern end of Bathurst inlet. The district of Keewatin is served from Winnipeg and The Pas, Manitoba, the route followed being the Nelson and Churchill rivers and the western coastline of Hudson Bay.

To Be no Apple Surplus in the Okanagan This Season Despite Early Predictions

Shippers' Council Has Done Fine Work States G. Heggie, M.P.P.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Dec. 2.—There will not be a surplus apple in the Okanagan Valley this year, despite early predictions of a surplus of 2000 carloads, George Heggie, M.P.P., for North Okanagan, declared here today.

"In fact," he added, "we may not have quite enough apples to supply the market. Bulk apple movements largely accounted for this result and the lower price of apples stimulated local consumption. This situation thus is much more satisfactory than seemed possible a short time ago.

"The shippers' council has done wonderful work in handling the situation. Considering general economic conditions and the fact that there was no control of marketing at all this year, things have come out remarkably well."

Mr. Heggie discounted reports that Okanagan fruit growers would come to the legislature again for compulsory marketing legislation. He said he had heard of no move in that direction since the courts ruled that the Fraser Valley Dairy Products Sales Adjustment act was ultra vires.

PURCHASE IN B. C.

The London county council plans to purchase its future supplies of canned salmon from British Columbia, according to advices received today by the markets branch, department of agriculture. Its annual purchases total about 2200 cases, but the diversion of its business to this coast is counted upon to stimulate salmon exports among other buyers.

British Columbia hops will be used in all the beer turned out by a large London, Ont., brewing firm as a result of the efforts of the B. C. liquor board and the marketing branch, department of agriculture.

This company has signed a contract for three years' supplies of hops with B. C. growers, it was announced.

In the past it has brought European and American hops. The new duty on hops and the present exchange situation are combining to operate in favor of the Canadian product.

C. P. R. JUMP IS FEATURE ON THE MONTREAL LIST

Issue Carried to 18 1-2 But Drops Back to a Close of 16 1-2

MONTREAL, Dec. 2. (CP)—A quick upward thrust in Canadian Pacific Railway common, following a conciliation board recommendation of a wage cut of 10 per cent for the running trades employees, provided the feature of an otherwise routing session of the Montreal stock exchange today.

The advance in C. P. R., which carried the stock to 18½, was only partly held, and the issue closed at 16½ for a net advance of ½.

Elsewhere the market provided little interest, only 22 issues appearing, of which five showed gains and five losses.

The financial district heard with interest that the Dominion government's National Service loan was over-subscribed approximately $50,000,000.

Alberta grain sold at 7½, a gain of a point, and its high mark for 1931. The issue dropped as low as 2½ last spring.

Dryden closed at 3, off ½; Brazilian was ⅛ better at 11; B. C. Packers gained ½ at 14½; Nickel lost ⅝ at 9⅞; Massey-Harris was off ¼ at 3¼, as was Steel of Canada at 22¾.

Total sales were 4344 shares.

No bond sales were reported.

WINNIPEG WHEAT GOES SKIDDING

Weak Liverpool Cables and Death of Export Trade Does Damage

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 2. (CP)—Weak Liverpool cables and a dearth of export trade put the skids under wheat prices on the grain exchange here today. Closing prices revealed losses of 1⅝ to 2⅛ lower than Monday's close.

December closed at 59; May at 62⅞ to 63; and July at 63⅝ to 63¾.

In response to strong Liverpool wheat quotations the market pointed upward at the opening to early establish gains of ½ cent to ⅞ cent, and during the first hour had little difficulty in holding the gain. Late selling by Chicago houses and a decline in values at Liverpool, however, forced prices down to the low levels where they remained at the close.

Cash wheat and coarse grains gave a dull performance with little change in price.

RAILS HIT LOW LEVELS ON THE NEW YORK LIST

Day of General Selling With Few Rallies; Pound Rushes Upward

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(AP)—In a day of general selling which was interrupted by fitful rallies, the principle financial markets worked lower.

With few exceptions, railroad stocks went to new low levels. Losses of 1 to 3 points and more were frequent. Wabash and Nickel Plate issues yielded easily. Atchison, Union Pacific, New York Central, Norfolk and Western and Southern Pacific also were under sustained pressure.

Public Utility and industrial stocks also declined. Losses of 1 to 3 and more points throughout the entire list were frequent. United States Steel sold down to its previous low of the year, but rallied fractionally in the closing moments to 52, a net loss of 2¼ points. United States Steel preferred went to a new low, as did Johns-Manville, American Can, Westinghouse Electric and Western Union. Transactions totalled 1,901,608 shares.

The uprush of the British pound sterling attracted wide attention, that currency moving at one time to $3.45 for a gain of 14 cents. In late leadings it reached to $3.38 a net gain of 5 cents.

Steel trade advices showed a slight decline in composite steel prices. Ingot capacity was 29 per cent unchanged from the previous week.

Other trade reports showed little change.

Bonds sank to new low levels, led by the seemingly decrepit rails which showed one of the severest losses ever recorded in a single session. Holders of railroad loans, apparently stampeded by the somewhat unexpected Wabash receivership in many instances offered their securities "at the market" and there were frequently variations of several points between sales.

IMPERIAL BANK PRESENTS FINE ANNUAL REPORT

Strong Liquid Position Maintained; Savings Deposits Grow

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 2.—The figures of the annual statement of the Imperial Bank are particularly satisfactory at this time. They not only fully support the confidence of Canadians in our chartered banks, but give to Canadian business reassurance in the fundamental soundness of Canadian finance and enterprise.

We have now passed through two years of great business depression which was first felt in Canada in the fall months of 1929. The figures of the statement of the Imperial Bank of Canada to October 31, 1931, therefore, record how satisfactorily the bank has come through this trying period.

A strong liquid position has been maintained. Holdings of Dominion and provincial securities have been increased. Call loans are greatly reduced. Current oans have met the requirements of Canadian commerce. Earnings are only slightly reduced and the capital and reserve of the bank remain at $7,000,000 and $8,000,000 respectively.

The liquidity of the bank's position is shown by cash assets of $20,895,270, which are 16.9 per cent of liabilities to the public, while immediately available assets stand at $66,006,066, or 53.6 per cent of public liabilities.

BALANCE GREATER

Profits for the year are $1,328,863.47, and while somewhat less than the previous year, they allowed for the quarterly payment of dividends at the rate of 12 per cent per annum, contributions totalling $47,500 to officers' guarantee and officers' pension fund, a provision of $250,000 for depreciation in securities, and $170,000 for Dominion government and other taxes, leaving a balance carried forward of $761,908, or $21,000 more than in the previous year's statement.

Current loans, while $1,700,000 less than in the previous year's statement, stand at $65,108,364, and clearly indicate the bank's favorable disposition to support Canadian industry. Call loans have been reduced during the past year by $10,000,000, and now stand at $7,500,000.

One of the outstanding features of the report is the large increase in the bank's holdings of the highest class of securities, namely Dominion, provincial and municipal government issues during the past 12 months. These figures have increased from $22,250,000 to $27,115,000.

SAVINGS DEPOSITS GROW

While total deposits have shown a decrease during the past year of some $5,500,000, the total stands at $108,840,260, non interest bearing deposits at $10,435,210, and deposits bearing interest at $90,405,070. During recent months a marked tendency to increase savings bank deposits has been noted, indicating the growing disposition of the public to save.

On the whole the statement may be accepted as a very favorable one, and one to which is particularly reassuring under the depressed conditions at present.

CHINESE COOLIE TO EAT APPLES OF B. C. ORIGIN

Will Distribute Apples Free in Shanghai to Make Contacts

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 2.—To start the Chinese coolie eating British Columbia fruit, the provincial government, through W. W. Duncan, markets director, has arranged to ship 80 boxes of grade C Okanagan apples to Shanghai on the Empress of Japan on Saturday.

These apples will be distributed free among Chinese fruit merchants to acquaint them with the B. C. product.

Shanghai imports some 47,000 boxes of high-grade apples a year, mostly from the United States, but the B. C. industry is anxious to gain contact with the poor Chinese who can not afford the more expensive varieties.

An almost unlimited market for the lower grades of fruit exists in China, Mr. Duncaan declared today, and British Columbia is anxious to get into it in a big way. The present shipment was supplied free by Okanagan shippers and growers and is being sent to China at government expense.

Prize Beef Brings 30 Cents a Pound at Coast Auction

VANCOUVER, Dec. 2.—After spirited bidding, the grand champion beef animal of British Columbia, a 1075-pound heifer raised by James Thurner of Cadboro Bay, Victoria, was sold for 30 cents a pound at the auction which opened this afternoon at Vancouver winter fair, Hastings park. This price paid by George Jackson, city meat merchant, constitutes a record for Canadian beef this year.

The reserve champion, a white-faced steer, also raised by Mr. Turne, was puchased by Mr. Jackson for 25 cents a pound. The grand champion is a cross between a shorthorn and a Aberdeen Angus. At Toronto exhibition 15 cents per pound was the price paid for the grand champion.

A large gathering was present when the auction opened at 2:30 p.m. and interest was at its height when Matt Hansen, auctioneer "knocked down" the animal to Mr. Jackson.

U.S. GOLD IMPORTS OVER A MILLION

NEW YORK, Dec. 2. (AP) — The daily gold statement of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York today showed imports of $1,135,600 from England and $98,000 from Canada. There were no exports, and there was no change in gold earmarked for foreign account.

CHICAGO WHEAT PRICES SLUMP

British Exchange Weakness Blocks Export Business of America

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 2. (By John P. Boughan, Associated Press market editor)—Stop loss seling broke out late today in the wheat pit, largely owing to uncertainties of British exchange locking wheat export business from North America. A gap of more than 20 points, equal to 2½ cents a bushel on wheat, developed between the low for sterling in London today and the high in New York. Stock market weakness was a contributing bearish influence.

Wheat closed shaky, 1½ to 2½ cents under yesterday's finish; corn, 1⅜ to 1¾ down; oats, ¼ to ½ off; and provisions unchanged to 5 cents lower.

Imperial Bank of Canada

57th Annual Report

REVIEWS CANADIAN BUSINESS

Mr. Frank A. Rolph, President,

said, in part:

Since the last annual meeting we have put in a year of stress and anxiety, but, thanks to careful management and good fortune, the bank has come through remarkably well, as the statement presented to you to-day will show, and which I am satisfied will meet your approval.

A New Empire Policy.

Great Britain made a gallant struggle to maintain the gold standard, but found she had attempted the impossible, and on the 20th of September last she very wisely dropped the gold standard, and several European countries followed her lead. It is especially gratifying to see that the British Government, which has recently empowered the Board of Trade to put into effect a tariff policy up to 100 per cent. duty for the protection of British industries, has also intimated that British Dominions will have 100 per cent. preference over foreign countries, a bold and courageous policy, which we Canadians should appreciate.

It is to be hoped that some policy for very material reduction or abandonment of war debts will take place which should work out to the advantage of both the creditor and debtor nations; the recent proposals by Washington indicate a definite move in this direction.

Tide Has Turned.

These last few weeks have seen a betterment in the price of commodities, especially grain and silver. Quite a number of other commodities have also shown slight increases, and some of the best economists and statisticians inform us that the tide has now turned, and, while the upswing may be slow and irregular, it would be better so than have the violent fluctuations which took place in 1920-21.

It seems difficult to think that prices could get much lower, so a definite upward trend in business cannot be very long delayed. Perhaps the greatest factor which will aid in restoring better times is Confidence. It is interesting to note that the press throughout the country is talking confidence and optimism, and this, I am sure, will be helpful.

No Bank Failures in Canada.

Let me say a word here on behalf of the Canadian chartered banks. They have all stood up remarkably well under the strain which they have been called upon to bear. Canada, I think, is particularly fortunate in her banking system. There has not been a single failure in ten years, and they have served the public well. The addresses at the recent annual meeting of the Canadian Bankers' Association were very heartening.

Agriculture Foremost.

Agriculture still forms the largest item in connection with our export trade, and a favorable balance of trade depends largely upon the export of agricultural products. The increase during the last few weeks in the price of wheat will be a great blessing to the farmers in our Western Provinces. Canada had a most unfortunate experience in 1929 which resulted in heavy losses and a large carry-over. In 1926 we had a carry-over of about 35,000,000 bushels. In 1929 we had a carry-over of approximately 112,000,000 bushels. It is unfortunate that in a commodity of this kind such low prices should maintain, but it is only by keeping it moving freely that we can keep ourselves in a sound liquid position.

Burden of Taxation.

The burden of taxation is resting very heavily upon us, especially under present conditions. It is to be hoped that our Government expenditures, Federal, Provincial and Municipal will be considerably reduced.

In conclusion, may I say that the upturn, I believe, has come—that what we need is confidence, endurance and abiding faith in Canada and ourselves.

Sir James Woods, Vice-President,

said, in part:

We have been passing through one of the difficult periods in the history of our country. Canada, in common with all lands, has been in a trough of depression, partially brought about by the abnormal deflation in the price of raw materials and the difficulty of adjusting productive wages and distribution costs to meet these new prices. But, as the abnormal always gives place to the normal, so must the conditions of to-day give place to a gradual return of the world at large to a state in which there will be enough and to spare for all.

Financial Structure Stands Up Well.

We may congratulate ourselves that the financial structure of Canada has stood well in a time of severe testing. Your Bank, the Imperial Bank of Canada, like others, has known how to care for the interests of depositors and shareholders, and at the same time serve the needs of trade and industry. As a country, we are fortunate in the varied character of our industries and resources. Were Canada today as purely agricultural as she was forty years ago, our condition would be one of great difficulty. Since that time, we have seen a remarkable expansion of mining and pulp and paper manufacture, in addition to the establishment of a great

WALTER SHANKS IS GIVEN FOUR MONTHS, NELSON

Tried for Breaking and Entering Store and Stealing Merchandise

Pleading guilty to a charge of breaking and entering the store of Charles Morris Company, limited, on November 29, Walter M. Shanks of Nelson appeared before Magistrate William Brown in city police court Wednesday morning and was sentenced to four months hard labor in the provincial jail.

Merchandise to the amount of about $40 was taken by Shanks. He admitted forcing an entry into the store early Sunday morning by tearing the screening off the window and then breaking the glass by hitting it with his hand, protected by his cap. Silk socks, pair of white cord pants, smoothing iron, haversack, belts and a touque were among the articles stolen. All these were found later in Shanks' room when Chief of Police Thomas H. Long and Constable R. Harshaw investigated.

FIRST OFFENCE

Shanks had not worked for some six weeks. His last job had been with the A. H. Green company, local contractor. He stated that he was four or five months behind with his room rent at his hotel, but had been told he could stay till he got work. The purpose of getting the merchandise was to sell it, he admitted, and confessed that it was his first offence of that kind.

Shanks has been around Nelson for about two years, having previously come from Scotland. He is 26 years old.

CURLERS TO AID CHEER FUNDS

Unique 'Spiel Planned Fernie; Will Decorate City Streets

FERNIE, B. C., Dec. 2.—At the Rotary club on Monday, plans were discussed for the raising of money for the Christmas cheer fund. It was planned to put on a Christmas cheer bonspiel some Wednesday soon. In this 'spiel the curling club's rinks will divide into skip with lead and third man second. Each division will choose two more nonplayers. Each new composed rink will pay a $2 entrance fee, and the spectators will have a 25-cent admission to the rink. The whole 'spiel will be run off in a day, as each rink will only play four ends.

The club also endorsed the suggestion of the board of trade to decorate the city's main street for the Christmas season. Some 40 Christmas trees will be placed at intervals along Victoria avenue, and these will be festooned by vari-colored lights, which will be lighted each night.

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 2. (CP)—With the final shipment of cheese from Montreal today, the produce export season of 1931 was brought to a close. Cheese and butter exports increased, while egg shipments were lower this year.
