How Do Flies Dodge Swats--Why Do Cats Land on Feet?

Scientists Find Out All These Things and Even Tell How a Canary Hovers in the Air; Hammer Used in Fly Experiment

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor).

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 22 (AP).—Solutions of some household mysteries—how a fly dodges a swat, why a cat always lands on its feet, how your canary hovers in air—were shown to the National Academy of Sciences today.

North American cavemen who had now-extinct horses nearly as big as Percherons, but apparently ate them instead of riding, and who seem to have originated a widespread civilization of their own starting in the southwest were described to the academy's closing session in terms of the latest discoveries.

The home mystery problems where explained in pictures, taken up to the rate of 6000 a second by Massachusetts Institute of Technology's new ultra-rapid camera. Flies in the laboratory last summer got to bothering the scientists while they turned their camera on deeper subjects of study. So they began "shooting" the flies, and that led to a series of discoveries.

These were reported to the academy, with the pictures, by H. E. Edgerton and K. J. Germeshausen. They got a fly excited by banging a hammer on the board where he sat, in focus of a 6000-per-second film. The wings beat at 200 times a second.

WOMAN IS SHOT DEAD ON OPERATING TABLE

Seven Are Held by Authorities; Her Mother-in-Law Had Taken an Insurance Policy on Dead Woman Recently.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 (AP) —The baffling murder of Mrs. Reta Gardner Wynekoop, slain with a single bullet as she lay nearly nude on an operating table, brought seven persons into custody tonight.

The seven were members of the houshold of her mother-in-law, Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, in whose home-office the 23-year-old wife of her son met death.

"We suspect no one—and everyone," said Police Capt. John Stege as he ordered their detention.

Suggestive and perplexing elements of the tragic melodrama followed each other swiftly as detectives, coroner's physicians and the father of the slain girl, B. H. Gardner Indianapolis, gathered at the home of Dr. Wynekoop to search for a motive for the crime.

A major development was today's disclosure that the mother-in-law had taken out a $5,000 insurance policy on the victim herself eight days ago.

Dr. Wynekoop clarified one mysterous factor today by saying she was the writer of a sentimental letter addressed to her son Earle but never sent. It was thought that at first his wife had written him before her death. Dr. Wynekoop said she decided not to mail it because it was too sentimental.

PATTULLO'S ADMINISTRATION TO BE MOST SUCCESSFUL OR THE LAST ONE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 22 (CP)—"Mr. Pattullo is in the same position as President Roosevelt. He will have the most successful Liberal administration in the history of British Columbia or the last one," declared Hon. Gordon Sloan, candidate in Vancouver Center, addressing a meeting in Victory hall. Gordon Wismer, his fellow candidate, and three other speakers were also heard.

Although hecklers had interrupted previous speakers, Mr. Sloan received an ovation when he entered the hall, and frequent applause punctuated his address.

"If I am elected no man will ever dictate my policy as long as I have the breath to say 'no'," he said.

High praise for Premier T. D. Pattullo and his cabinet was voiced by the speaker.

"That cabinet will work as a team if a cabinet ever did. All the members know each other intimately and will cooperate to the full," he continued.

The voting freedom of members, enunciated in the Liberal platform, is an answer to the argument that a bigger opposition is needed in the legislature, was the contention of Mr. Wismer.

"The C.C.F. have said they will not cooperate with any party. Do you want to send two men to Victoria who will obstruct legislation?" he asked.

TOKYO, Nov. 22 (CP) —Seventy-year-old Tung Yu-Cho has returned to his native Canton from Canada, where he accumulated a comfortable fortune, and has married Wang Mei-Shun, his childhood sweetheart, now 68 years of age, after a spearation of more than half a century.

In 1880, Yu-Cho and Mei-Shun were betrothed but Yu-Cho determined his bride should live in luxury so he decided to seek a fortune across the seas.

Yu-Cho asked Mei-Shun to marry him at once so they could cross the Pacific to Canada and build up their fortune together; but, to the 16-year-old maiden, such a journey seemed a venture to the end of the earth and beyond. She refused to go but promised to wait for her lover. Faithfully she kept her promise and waited 53 years.

MEXICAN JAUNT CAUSED ARREST

Flies Back to U. S. to Learn Mayer Fired Him

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 22 (AP)—He wasn't nude—he had on pajama pants—and he didn't thumb his nose—he "framed a picture."

That's how Lee Tracy, motion picture actor who had appeared in "play boy" roles on the screen, described the cabaret party in Mexico City that led to his arrest after he arrived here today via airplane and motor car.

The actor explained, carefully, that the Mexico City paper erred in saying he appeared naked on a hotel balcony and thumbed his nose at the cadets.

"I was just helping them celebrate. I'd been on a cabaret party

Announcement of Tracy's dismissal was contained in a telegram which Mayer sent to Abelardo Rodriguez, president of Mexico. It said the actor's five-year contract had been cancelled "as a result of Tracy's deplorable behavior."

"Not only has he been removed from the film, 'Viva Villa,' the telegram continued, "but he has been dismissed entirely from our employ and his contract cancelled."

CURRIE TAKES SERIOUS TURN

Bronchitis Spreads and the General Takes a Chill

MONTREAL, Nov. 22 (CP)—Sir Arthur Currie's condition is "very serious," Dr. C. F. Martin, head of the medical faculty of McGill university and one of four physicians attending the commander-in-chief of the Canadian corps in France, stated in a bulletin issued tonight.

"Generalized bronchitis has developed and Sir Arthur still has some fever," the official bulletin stated, adding: "His condition is very serious, but slightly improved as compared to noon today."

A severe chill suffered early today resulted in a recurrence, more severely, of a bronchial condition which was believed yesterday to have been cleared up. Until this morning the distinguished soldier and principal of McGill university had maintained normal temperature, pulse and respiration.

Sir Arthur has spent 16 days in Royal Victoria hospital since he suffered a blockage of a small brain vessel.

Succession Duties Act Is Attacked

VANCOUVER, Nov. 22 (CP) — Validity of British Columbia's succession duty act was attacked in supreme court today before Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald by Alfred Bull, K. C., who contended that succession duty was an indirect tax and on that ground ultra vires of the legislature.

Mr. Bull based his argument on a recent privy council judgment of Kerr versus treasurer of Alberta, which held invalid the Alberta succession duty tax. He is representing the executors of the Oscar Promis and Sophie Promis Frank estates, both of whom owned interests in Victoria property.

LUMBERMEN IN ENGLAND HIT AT B.C. TRADE

Charge Finland Has Taken Canada's Market Place

PREFERENCE AIDS THE B.C. INDUSTRY

Claim the Dominion Market Rightly in the U.S.A.

LONDON, Nov. 22 (CP cable)—The Canadian complaint about import of Russian timber to Britain was attacked in vigorous fashion tonight by Timber Distributors, limited, chief handlers of the Russian imports, who circulated a 1200-word statement among all members of the house of commons declaring the Canadian case "completely fails to stand the least serious expert examination."

Canada has for a long time protested strenuously that huge imports of Russian timber by the United Kingdom are contrary to the Ottawa-United Kingdom trade agreement. Her last formal complaint was forwarded to Moscow by the British board of trade. Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian high commissioner to Britain, who has taken a prominent part in the case, was laid up tonight with an attack of influenza.

In their statement tonight Timber Distributors charged Canada's place in the British market had already been taken by Finland before Russia entered the export market in appreciable volume; that Canada under the 10 per cent preference was selling wood in Great Britain at prices with which no other producer could compete; and that for various reasons Canadian timber could not anyway compete with foreign timber in the British market, her natural outlet being the United States.

Reports were widely circulated in the past few days that Timber Distributors and agents of Soviet timber exporting firms had already signed a contract for 1934 but the Times today said the negotiations had not yet been concluded. The Times added the negotiations were on the basis of an import quota or maximum of 450,000 standards compared with 435,000 standards this year, and on an increase in price.

Manager of Prince's Ranch Objects to the High Cost of Steak

TORONTO, Nov. 22 (CP) — Prof. W. J. Carlyle, manager of the Prince of Wales ranch near High River, Alta., came to the Royal Winter fair today with a heated word or two about the price of sirloin steaks on train diners.

He paid $1.50 for a steak on the diner of the train in which he travelled east, he said, and "we couldn't get more than two cents a pound for the beef from which that steak was carved."

"The head waiter told me they had to pay 42 cents per pound for Sirloin, and he showed me his bill. That spread is too much."

Lindberghs May Hop Today

HORTA, Azores, Nov. 22 (AP).—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh made their seaplane ready today for another flight, which, it was understood, will take them to Maderia islands, 500 miles closer than the Azores to the mainland.

En route to the continent, their reported ultimate destination, they will fly over St. Michael island, one of the Azores, it was learned.

The plane in which they have toured the North Atlantic and parts of Europe was refueled today. Mrs. Lindbergh checked over the wireless equipment, her special charge, and everything was ready for a take-off, perhaps tomorrow, should torrential rains cease.

Above is the route the flying couple will likely follow.

Fighting Irish Meat Man Fights De Valera

McGrath Stands for Republic, Against Partition

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEWRY, Northern Ireland, Nov. 22 (CP cable)—Thomas McGrath, who runs a small butcher's shop here, has challenged President Eamon de Valera on the broad issue of a republic for Ireland.

He is fighting de Valera in the Northern Ireland election campaign because he doubts the sincerity of the Free State president's republicanism.

The two are candidates for the South Down seat in the polling on November 30, which cannot affect the result of the election at large as the government already has a majority, gained through acclamations.

When McGrath's candidature as a Republican was first announced, and it was known de Valera would run, the affair was smilingly dismissed as a misunderstanding between friends. But McGrath himself looks on the matter differently.

HAS NO CHANCE

And although no prophet grants McGrath much of a chance in this riding, which returned de Valera to the northern parliament in 1921 and 1935, reactions in the Irish Free State may be far-reaching.

A couple of the Free State tricolors fly over the campaign headquarters McGrath has opened here.

NOT EXPECTED AWAIT ACTION BY CONGRESS

Would Restore Silver to Monetary Glory Before January

SEN. PITTMAN IS QUITE CONFIDENT

Wires News to the Indian Delegate to Conference

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—A prediction that President Roosevelt would move to restore silver to monetary glory before congress convenes January 3 came today from Senator Pittman, Nevada.

Pittman disclosed in a cable to Sir George Schuster, at New Delhi, India, his belief that President Roosevelt would aid silver.

The cable congratulated Sir George on approval by India of a silver anti-dumping agreement worked out at the London economic conference, which Pittman attended as an American delegate.

"We deeply appreciate India's action relative to silver agreement," Pittman cabled.

"The president has under consideration action before congress meets. Congress will undoubtedly carry out agreement."

Pittman said later that the Indian ratification of the agreement "shows great confidence in the United States and a wholehearted desire to cooperate with our government in the restoration of the purchasing power of silver money.

"It removes all doubts that might have existed in any one's mind as to what other governments might do with regard to the agreement and it removes the possible threat of anti-dumping from India.

"Our government is obligated under the circumstances to carry out the agreement because it was proposed by the United States delegation on behalf and with the approval of the president.

WILL NOT AWAIT CONGRESS

"The president already has under consideration prior to this announcement in India, action that would have complied with the agreement.

"I have no doubt that, having been granted the authority by congress 'to remonetize silver,' he will not wait for congress to convene but will act."

Pittman indicated the chief executive was considering a suggestion for limited free coinage or remonetization of domestic silver. Pittman proposed this program to the chief executive several weeks ago.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess or secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing, rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.

Chapped, rough Skin!

'Vaseline' Petroleum Jelly is most effective for healing chapped hands and faces; rough, red skin; for cracked, chapped lips or for giving relief from windburn and head colds. Keep a jar handy on the bathroom shelf. You'll find it useful in dozens of ways; heals bumps, scratches, cuts and burns; soothes baby's tender skin.

BE SURE YOU GET THE GENUINE LOOK FOR THE TRADEMARK VASELINE WHEN YOU BUY.

If you don't see it you are not getting the genuine product of Chesebrough Mfg. Co., Cons'd., 5520 Chabot Avenue, Montreal.

ONE OF TRIO SOUGHT FOR THE THEFT OF CAR PULLS GUN ON CONSTABLE SMITH OF NELSON

Three Taken on the North Shore After District Search

Armed and having in their possession fuse and caps and in the stolen car, three young toughs wanted in Kamloops for theft of a sedan taken Monday night, were run to earth near Nelson Wednesday by a snappy piece of provincial cooperative sleuthing. Ranging in age from 17 to 21 a trio, Stanley Landick, Bud Anderson or Storgrys and Fred Jones are now in the provincial jail.

It was Tuesday morning that Sergt. C. G. Barber, on B division headquarters receiving a Victoria radiogram that a Kamloops man named Dalgleish had lost a car of a given make and licence plate, started things by issuing a warning to all his officers in the Nelson police district.

When Constable George MacAndrew of Castlegar received his notice Wednesday morning he recalled having seen the car at Glade Tuesday afternoon. Enquiry established that the men had tried vainly to get oil at both the South Slocan and Pop Inn service stations but had succeeded in getting oil from the government grader at Shoreacres.

TRACED UP LAKE

With these facts known Constable J. G. M. Locke traced the car to store of Charles Holt at Balfour where the men had tried to buy a five-gallon can, probably to hold stolen gasoline. Sergeant Barber joined Locke at this point and, it being ascertained that the car had not taken the main lake ferry, the officers followed it to Kaslo, confirming from the mail driver whom they met that a car, with a licence plate starting with a number starting with 29, had gone through.

At Kaslo the car thieves struck out by the Kaslo-creek road for New Denver. Phoning through to Retallack Sergeant Barber found that they had been seen stalled seven miles out, and started on their trail, which finally turned back after they had twice almost gone over the bank owing to the snow. The Trail led down the south fork and presently back to Kaslo.

The next sleuth to enter the picture was Constable R. C. Gilker of Kaslo who passed the car south bound as he was returning to Kaslo from a patrol to Crawford Bay. On learning from the Nelson officers at Kaslo of the man hunt he recognized the car and phoned through to Nelson and at this end Acting Corp. D. Halcrow started out at 7 p.m. to intercept the returning fugitives.

PULLED GUN

Meeting the Kamloops party about Nine-mile the Nelson officers halted it. As Constable Smith told the driver Landick, who had stepped out, that he proposed to search him, Landick suddenly whipped out a revolver which Smith instantly grabbed. It was empty but shells for it were found on Landick. Anderson or Storgrys, as he later signed himself, had a bowie or hunting knife.

It is probable that Landick will be charged here with possessing an offensive weapon. In any event possession of the pistol automatically adds two years to any sentence he may receive for the indictable offence of theft. The Kamloops police will be communicated with and presumably all three will be tried at Kamloops for car theft. In view of the fact that their efforts included blasting materials there is a possibility that they will be found to be wanted for other offences.

TRAIL HOOP MEN STAGE THRILLER

TRAIL, B. C., Nov. 22—The most spectacular game of the season was provided basketball fans in the Memorial hall Wednesday night when in a senior combat the Elks defeated the Colombos 38-37. To go into first place in the league standing. At half time the score was 26-20 in the Elks favor, but the Colombos ran up a tremendous lead in the second half, only to be beaten at the end of the game by being unable to provide reserve players. Mangerilli was carried off with a strained ankle and held up the game for some time until he could return to the floor.

A short while before the game was finished there was not a regular member of the Colombos on the floor. They received the aid of two intermediates, B. Sammartino and Battestella, who were the only players on the Colombo team at the end of the game.

Having little competition in the last two minutes of the game the Elks scored three points in that time to win. The Colombos played far better basketball, being better shots and using a much faster combination. They intercepted many passes of their opposition from which plays baskets were scored. Penalty shots were evenly divided, but the Colombos made most of their count Jeffries was credited with the greatest number of points on the Elks lineup and B. Merlo and Sammartino on the Colombos.

In the intermediate division the Aces defeated the High School 25-8 in a one-sided game. The Jimmies are retaining their supremacy in the ladies' division. They defeated the Orioles 34-9. Tina Manderville, center for the winning team, was responsible for the most points.

Ash Baillie refereed all three games.

Peter's Death Was Accidental

Rossland Lad Is Buried in Mountainview Cemetery

ROSSLAND, B. C., Nov. 22—The funeral of Samuel I. Peters took place from St. Andrew's United church this afternoon, Rev. C. H. Daily officiating. Interment was in Mountainview cemetery and the pallbearers were Jack Page, Gordon Somerville, William Coulter, James Rankine, Arthur Woodward and Bruce Ackerman.

The deceased, who was 14 years of age, was a native of England and came to the city with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Peters, about six years ago. His body was found Monday afternoon in a shack near the ball park with a gunshot wound in his heart.

Dr. J. S. Daily, coroner, empanelled a jury consisting of W. A. Elletson, foreman, J. N. Cran, James F. Cooper, Klenza Pitt, Jack Taylor and G. Hansen. After viewing the body and the scene of the boy's death, and listening to the testimony of the boy's parents, Dr. E. C. Topliff and the owner of the shack, Richard Turner, the jury brought in a verdict of accidental death.

DEPRESSED BY ACUTE ACIDITY

There can surely be no doubt about the effectiveness of a remedy for acidity that can give such permanent relief as in this woman's case:—

"I suffered for many years from acidity in various forms," she writes. "At last it became so acute that every morning I woke with a gnawing pain and a great depression of spirits. I tried Kruschen Salts, and the effect was magical. The pain subsided and the depression lifted like a cloud. I have taken the daily dose of Kruschen ever since. That was about five years ago, and the Kruschen does not lose its effect." —(Miss) E. M. H.

Kruschen is so effective with acidity because it neutralises acid, takes all the torment out of it, and gently expels it from the system. And by stimulating your organs of elimination to perfect regular action, Kruschen will prevent this harmful acid from ever accumulating again. After that you'll experience no more misery after meals. ***

RODGERS COMPANY TAKES MORE MEN

Plan to Operate on Short Week at Creston Plant

CRESTON, Nov. 22—An appreciated move to reduce unemployment for the next few months has been inaugurated by Chas. O. Rodgers, whose sawmill on the east side of town commenced operations this week. Plans are to operate on a short week, and possibly on a short-hour day and by this means to keep the plant running until possibly March. In addition to the mill crew, the firm has quite a number of men at work on the timber limits west of Sirdar from which point the present supply of logs are coming. A considerable quantity of white pine will be needed for the 1934 make of apple boxes and fruit crates. The firm have also found lumber sales quite active the past year and the yard supply of lumber in all grades is quite low.

B. C. Delegation and Ottawa Ministers Laud Him

Many letters appreciative of the work and worth of W. K. Esling, M. P. for West Kootenay, have been received by the committee that arranged the testimonial reception that was tendered him on Armistice Day, supplementing wired messages that were read at that gathering. Owing to the short time available for sending out invitations, those at a distance mostly received them too late for acceptance or for the sending of wires.

B.C. Members

Olaf Hanson, Liberal M.P. for Skeena, writing personally to Mr. Esling from Prince Rupert, with a copy to H. B. Gore, secretary of the committee, said in part: "Needless to say, nothing would have given me more pleasure than to have been able to be present at the function, but on account of the short notice and infrequency of trains at this time of the year it was impossible for me to attend. However I beg to convey to you through the medium of this letter my heartiest congratulations upon the great popularity you enjoy in your riding. I am looking forward to meeting you again in Ottawa at an early date."

A. W. Neill, Independent M.P. for Comox-Alberni, wrote Mr. Gore from Alberni, saying in part: "I regret the invitation did not arrive earlier although the distance would probably have prevented my attendance, but I would have been pleased to join in the testimonial to Mr. Esling. He is well known and much esteemed by his colleagues in the Dominion parliament, and I trust he may be long spared to give useful service."

D. B. Plunkett, Conservative M.P. for Victoria, in regretting that the inviation reached him too late for him to take advantage of, said of Mr. Esling: "I know of no one more deserving of the appreciation you are tendering him."

Grote Stirling, Conservative M.P. for Okanagan, who got his invitation Armistice night, said: "I am so glad this acknowledgment of his services is being made; there could be no more worthy recipient. There is no member of the house more beloved for his kindness nor appreciated for his efficiency and ability in attending to the requirements of his constituency."

OTTAWA MINISTERS LAUD

Glowing appreciations of Mr. Esling were received from several Dominion cabinet ministers.

Hon. Murray MacLaren, minister of pensions, said: "His steady loyal work in connection with the intests of returned men has been very noticable and praiseworthy. I wish you a very successful meeting, and I am sure it will be a very great gratification to Mr. Esling to know that he is so highly appreciated."

Hon. T. G. Murphy, minister of the interior, who was pleased to learn of the reception which occurred while he was in Manitoba, said that in any case previous engagements would have "made it impossible for me to join in this recognition of public service well and faithfully performed, and let me add that as a member of the house of commons Mr. Esling has shown himself attentive to the interests of his constituents regardless of their race, religion or political affiliations."

Hon. Donald M. Sutherland, minister of national defense, wrote: "Had it been possible I would have been only too glad to have been able to join you in honoring my friend, Mr. Esling. We have no member at Ottawa more highly respected than our mutual friend, this not only by the Conservative party, but by all members of the house. Your constituency is to be congratulated in honoring him in this way."

STEWART'S TRIBUTE

Hon. H. A. Stewart, minister of public works, regretting the invitation had not reached him in time to have at least sent a telegram, desired to join "even at this late date, with your committee and all the friends of W. K. Esling, in expressing their confidence in him and their appreciation of his services.

"I have known Mr. Esling for many years," added the public works minister, "and as time passes my appreciation of him as a man and as a representative of the people grows stronger, as I observe his devotion to duty and his readiness, at all times, to assist, and contribute to everything that is calculated to promote the welfare of his constituents and the public at large. In a peculiar sense he has earned the confidence and good will of all those with whom he has been associated in public life. Please be good enough to extend to Mr. Esling my greetings and good wishes on this occasion."

The committee also received suitable acknowledgements from Hon. Maurice Dupre, solicitor-general; Hon. Robert Weir, minister of agriculture; and Hon. C. H. Cahan, secretary of state. Invitations to Hon. H. H. Stevens, in England for his health, and Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the opposition, were acknowledged by their secretaries, Mr. King's invitation being received November 13, when it was "not possible for him to send a message."

CRESTON POWER FINANCIER DEAD

CRESTON, Nov. 22—The death occurred at Spokane of L. M. Simpson, president of Creston Power & Light company, which three years ago commenced the operation of a semi-diesel plant to supply Creston village with light and power, and which was early this year succeeded by Creston Electric company, limited, in which Mr. Simpson held a controlling interest. He was in his 65th year.

PLANE DOWN SHALE CLIFF

Widening Program on High Street Near Done

Work of widening High street by taking out the larger part of the rock cliff on the upper side, just east of the Front street hill, is now in its last stages.

The shaly rock is very decomposed, so much so that the excavation will not be carried so far as first intended, for fear of making the upper portion, which carries the high wooden sidewalk, unsafe. As the bedding planes of the shale are at an angle to the ground, the bank for 100 feet or so now consists of a series of rocky ribs—the corner lines of the exposed blocks of shale.

With rock of any other character, the lower ends of these ribs could be safely cut out, and the strip added to the roadway widened to eight feet, but under present conditions only about four feet will be added.

AWAIT TURBINE

Exact Date of Operation at Creston Unknown for Time

CRESTON, Nov. 22—J. D. McDonald, general superintendent of West Kootenay Power & Light Company, limited, was here from Rossland most of last week, in connection with power house matters at the company's development at Goat River canyon, as well as attending sessions of the village council at which the application of the company to sell "juice" within the village was up for consideration. The exact date the firm will have light and power available depends upon the arrival of one of its two turbines, which is due about the 25th, and if it comes to hand on time its installation and other connections should be completed by about the fifth of December.

KINGSGATE TO HAVE A HALL

Men Have General Meeting to Discuss Dance

KINGSGATE-ROAD CAMP, Nov. 22—Lester Carson, of Cranbrook delivered a load of dressed lumber here on Wednesday which will be used for a recreation hall and other buildings to complete the community-camp for the Dominion relief base here.

A general meeting was held by the management-staff and the camp-members on Monday to formulate plans for a dance to be held on Dec. 1 at the camp as a means for recreation and amusement for the men.

Hockey was also discussed. Alex Pierre presided while Larry Pieper acted as chairman.

Harry Codshutt, resigned his position as assistant to the civil-engineer in charge on Thursday and left for Cranbrook to recuperate.

A consignment of books containing 150 volumes was received from Calgary recently supplied by the National Defense as reading material for the members in Camp. Books of renowned authors from Homer to the Harvard-Classics are included in the set.

Malcolm Horie, assistant foreman on road construction here has been ill for several days but not seriously.

Doctor Henderson made a professional call here on Friday.

CRESTON BOY SCOUTS ACTIVE

CRESTON, Nov. 22—Creston troop Boy Scouts, which was taken charge of by E. Gardiner at the opening of the fall season, is having a busy season and the weekly meetings at the Scout hall in the Mallandaine building each Wednesday evening are largely attended. The Scouts made their first-ever appearance in an Armistice parade this year, and their smart appearance and bearing attracted attention.

James Wilson of Sirdar was a visitor to Creston Saturday.

RAMSAY STILL WORKS CREWS

In Nelson Area Alone 50 Men Working on Average

Highway work by married men who are given it in lieu of direct relief is still being carried on on a considerable scale by the provincial public works department, District Engineer William Ramsay stated Wednesday.

In the vicinity of Nelson, for instance, about 200 men are on the provincial work roster, receiving so many days work a month, according to the number of their dependents.

Every week-day three highway crews leave Nelson in the morning, for the north shore, Granite road, and the Nelway road, to carry on widening and grading work. The crews vary in size somewhat, as the periods for which the men get work are not uniform, but approximately 50 men are always at work.

MORE EXPERIMENTS

Just two days after William Woodin, as Secretary of the Treasury, and Dean Acheson, his Under Secretary, had yielded to pressure from the White House and issued statements voicing their support of the Roosevelt monetary policies, both were eased out of office to the accompaniment of lusty expressions of good will. It had become known that their declarations were in no sense voluntary, so the value of their stand to the administration had been negated. Both were "sound money" men, in the accepted sense of the word, so they had lost their usefulness to Mr. Roosevelt as he proceeds with his experiments.

For several weeks the probability has been apparent that the new head of the U. S. treasury, Henry Morgenthau, Jr., would take over the office Mr. Woodin has vacated, not so much because of any extensive experience which fits him for the task, but on the strength of the sympathy he has shown for the Roosevelt policies. From his former post of Governor of the Farm Credit Administration, he has served as one of the five men directing the gold purchases by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Mr. Morgenthau, a tall, thin man of 42, has had none of the experience ordinarily expected of a treasury official. His distinctions are that he was able to operate his farm at a profit in 1932, and that he was a student at Cornell under George F. Warren, the professor in Agriculture Economics who has become chief monetary adviser to Mr. Roosevelt. He is in agreement with the astonishing theories that have been put into practice through the influence of Prof. Warren and his associate, Professor James Harvey Rogers, of Yale.

The withdrawal of Woodin—a guitar player and musical composer, who found time, incidentally, to be a successful business man and occasional Secretary of the Treasury—appears to mark the total eclipse of the influence of old-school "sound money" men in the U. S. administration. There is no voice left in the upper strata of the Roosevelt councils to argue that preservation of government credit is more important than gold manipulation. The last real obstacle to direct currency inflation seems to have been removed.

Complete dominance has now been achieved by the advisers who hold, with Prof. Rexford Tugwell, an associate of Mr. Morgenthau, that "sound money" means "different things to different people," and that there is no set definition of the term. Certainly there are grounds for belief that the phrase will mean far less than in the past, in the conventional sense, as a result of the Treasury shake-up. The advent of Mr. Morgenthau as Acting Secretary, can only mean increased experimentation and fresh attempts at manipulation. His appointment is not a step toward stabilization.

THE ONTARIO MARKETING BOARD

Compulsory orderly marketing of fruits and vegetables by the farmers of Ontario has been suggested by the Ontario Marketing Board. Legislation would be required to put the plan into effect and there would be compulsion only after the majority of growers in a country had voted in favor of it.

The idea comes from a board which has done a great deal that has been of material benefit to the agriculturists of the province—the Ontario Marketing Board, of which the chairman is W. B. Somerset. When Hon. Thomas L. Kennedy came into office he found that the farmers of Ontario were suffering chiefly from a restricted market. He therefore set about devising ways and means to assist them. One of the first steps was the creation of this marketing board, whose chief objective is the finding of new markets for Ontario farm products. Agents were sent into the Western Canadian cities, and also abroad, to advertise and push provincial products. They had the active cooperation and assistance of the Government through the marketing board, and were remarkably successful in opening up new avenues of trade. For instance, Middlesex apples and Norfolk tobacco have been going into the United Kingdom market in the past couple of years in record quantities.

WELCOME TO ONTARIO

When a premier is able to announce a surplus in these days it is something to boast about, and the people of Ontario will share Mr. Henry's jubilation over the government's achievement. One hundred and fifty thousand dollars is not a large sum as government finances go, but it is an evidence of careful administration and of improving conditions, and as such it is to be whole-heartedly welcomed.

GRIEF FOR TAMMANY

"Between You and Me"

By J.B.C.

The following should please the Scotch. It is from the Toronto Telegram and I thought it worth reproducing:

"O sing tae me the auld Scots' sangs
—My mither sang tate me."

It's their national music that binds the Scots thegither the warld o'er. Hoo mony times hae ye heard o' concerts o' English sangs advertised heraboots? Michty few, A'm thinkin'. The Sons o' Scotland last nicht held their 39th yearly Scottish concert an' the sons and dochters and, A'se warrant, a wheen o' the gransons and granddochters war there in plenty.

The Gran Chief, Rev. D. Wallace Christie, gied us a welcome on behawf o' the association. "Draw in yer creeple tae the ingle an' mak yersels at hame," said he. Ye ken he wags his heid in a Toronto church poopit, an' it was a bonny sicht tae see him last nicht wagglin' a kilt. Maister John Clouston, the chairman and ither gentlemen on the platform also wore kilts.

A wee callan cau'ed Jackie Carr played the pipes as the folk straichelt in tae their seats. He's the youngest piper in the toon an' is a laddie brocht up in the way he should go, especially as to the pipes. Some day he'll be fillin' the shoes, or the kilt, or baith, o' Pipe-Major George Murray, wha's a grand player.

Then cam four wee lassies that loupit intae oor herts as they danced the Heilan fling and the reel. Lichtfitted linties they war, ther een snapping betimes like their fingers. They stepped the sword dance wi'oot a flaw. In the auld days o' the clans the Hielanders watched wi' care the dancin, for gin a tae touched a sword it was an ill-omen for the success o' the fecht.

Robert McFarlane sang "Hail Caledonia." He's a verra fine barytone wha pits rale vim an' spirit intil his sangs an' makes them rousin' tae the bluid. The words o' "Hail Caledonia" A've aften thocht are a bit boastfu', which is no a usual thing in the Scots. He sang also the "Road to the Isles," the "Pipes o' Gordon's Men" and an auld sang, "Wee Cooper o' Fife" verra finely.

Jean McLachlan, a tall lassie wi' a fine voice that has deeps o' feelin' in it brocht ott the best in that great sang, "Caller Herrin." She sang finely also "Angus Macdonald," "Lochnager," "The McGregors Gathering," an' played on oor hertstrings wi' "Annie Laurie." She is a niece o' the lamented Jessie McLachlan, an' bids fair tae tak her place as a Scottish singer.

Templeton Moore is a rare tenor. He's the kind o' singer that aw the Scotch sangs that are too high for the maist 'o us was written for. His voice is fair meltin' wi' sweetness when he sings "Afton Water" an' "Lass o' Ballochmyle," "My Ain Kind Dearie." We jist couldna get eneuch o' him, and mony an encore he gied us. Mistress Kendrick played aw' the accompaniments wi' oot a falter.

Charles Pooley is a wunnerfu' fella, he can draw fine tunes oot o' a bundle o' sticks cao'ed a zylophone an' anither thing that lookit like a lot o' whustles, only he birled them wi' we drum sticks instead o' blawing them.

But queerest o' aw, he drew sweet music ott o' glasses o' watter.

"Is'na yon marvellous?" says I tae Leesie, who was wi' me.

"Weel, I've heard ye trying tae sing yersel betimes," says Leesie, "but it wasna' wi' glasses o' watter."

"Keep yer dry taunts tae yer wattery tatties," I gies back.

Collin Walker is a muhorsome man wha can mak the folk lauch wi' his readings. He's no like some Scotch comics I ken, who think a kilt an' a twisted stick mak an entertainer.

"Auld Lang Syne" ended a pairfect nicht for us, an' I says tae Leesie as I went tae bed, "I'se want oatmeal pairritch tae my breakfast an' nane o' yer packages o' sawdust."

"Ye'll tak what's set afore ye, ma man," says she.

STAR OF EARTH

By Octavus Roy Cohen

INSTALMENT FORTY

Never before had the private office of Martin Glynn held such a conglomerate gathering.

Glynn himself, pink-cheeked and proper, sat behind the massive desk, nervously drumming with his sensitive fingers. On his right sat the district attorney. To the left of Martin Glynn was Jim Hanvey, toying energetically with his golden toothpick. Dave Robbins was on Jim's left.

Facing the desk sat a tense, expectant group. Iris Randall was most conspicuous in a gorgeous black and white costume.

Bob Kanzler sat in a corner; rough, uncouth and unhappy. Near him sat Stuart Trent, staring owlishly through his thick-lensed glasses, and turning every few seconds to smile reassuringly at Glory Hale, who seemed over-awed by the grim formality of the occasion.

Present, too, was Mary Venable—a mere wisp of a girl—who was squired by the powerful and self-possessed John Devoe. They, alone of the crowd, were talking earnestly.

In one corner was a group of newspaper reporters and feature writers.

Martin Glynn rose and his precise little voice stilled the chatter:

"I haven't much to say. The circumstances which have caused you to be gathered here have been most unfortunate. The case has been handled by Mr. Hanvey; of whom you all know. He has something of great importance to announce."

Jim Hanvey started to rise, changed his mind, and sank back into his chair. He produced an enormous, purple-bordered handkerchief with which he mopped a perspiring forehead. Then he started to speak, his voice gentle, his manner apologetic.

"Folks," he said, "this is sure something new for me. I never done nothing like this before in all my life.

"Anyway, folks, you know what's got us all here. Tanse Wilson and Karl Bergdorf were killed. It was a rotten break for New Art, aside from everything else.

Simply, graphically and without undue homage to the rules of rhetoric, he sketched the circumstances surrounding the killing of Tanse Wilson and the subsequent death of Karl Bergdorf.

"Iris Randall," said Jim, "is in kind of a tough spot. In the first place, she has confessed that she killed Karl Bergdorf. She says she killed him because he was trying to make the public believe that she murdered her husband. She claims that she went riding with him with the idea of calling him off and he laughed at her. She claims that she really didn't mean to kill him when she pulled the trigger. How much of her story is true, a jury can decide. Maybe she'll be acquitted—nowadays nobody can tell what a jury will do. The facts are that she double-crossed Bergdorf and then later killed him when he gave out that interview to save himself from being convicted of a crime he had not committed. I've got my own opinion of Iris Randall and you can form yours. But this much I will tell you: no matter how she comes out of her trial for killing Karl Bergdorf—I don't believe it would be fair to try her for the killing of Tanse Wilson, because, folks, I'm positive that she didn't have anything in the world to do with it."

"You think——" started some one in the crowd, and Jim nodded.

"Sure," he answered, "I believe that Kanzler had slugged her several seconds before Tanse was killed."

Every person in the crowd turned now to stare at the little script girl who held tightly to the hand of her fiance. Mary Venable sat stiffly in her chair, gazing at the enormous figure of the detective.

"Mary Venable," said Hanvey softly, "has sure had me puzzled. It seemed like she started all this trouble, and right from the beginning of the investigation she tried to throw us off the track.

"It was queer, too, because everybody who knew her—liked her. There didn't seem to be any motive. No one would admit the possibility of there having been something between her and Tanse Wilson—and that in spite of the fact that we all knew she spoke to him at eight o'clock on the night he was killed, and that—immediately following that conversation—he started to act funny and went and got the gun with which he was eventually shot.

"There are a lot of things that Mary Venable would not explain to us. She wouldn't explain why she took a ride with Bergdorf the night he was killed—even when we didn't know that Iris Randall had gone out with him again later, and it looked as though Miss Venable had killed Bergdorf.

"She has been a very foolish girl, and maybe if we had listened to the demands for action we could have had her indicted for Wilson's murder. But", and a beatific smile passed over Hanvey's face, "but I'm glad to say that won't be necessary. Fortunately we looked real deep into the matter; fortunately we didn't jump at conclusions too quick—and because of that I'm willing to stake my right arm that Mary Venable did not Kill Tanse!"

There was an almost audible hush—then a quick, eager murmur. Finally one of the reporter's spoke.

"What's the idea, Hanvey? Did you bring us here to announce that nobody killed Tanse Wilson?"

"No," answered Jim. "I sure didn't."

"Do you know who did?"

"I believe so."

"Is the person in this room?"

"Yes," said Jim.

"Who is it, then? You seem to have eliminated every suspect."

"Not every one," said Jim Hanvey quietly. "Not quite every one."

"Who was it?" questioned the reporter. "Let's have it."

"Very well." Hanvey's face was impassive. "The name of the person who killed Tanse Wilson is—"

A tall figure rose from a seat near the wall. He spoke quietly and with impressive simplicity.

"Why continue with this?" asked John Devoe. He faced the newspaper contingent. "Mr. Hanvey will tell you that I confessed several days ago that I killed Tanse Wilson."

There was a gasp of incredulous amazement, through which Hanvey's voice came quietly.

"You sure did, Mr. Devoe. Unfortunately I didn't, at that time, believe that you were telling the truth. Now I know that you were."

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

NOT AS MANY TONSILS REMOVED NOW

It would be interesting to find out if there are as many tonsils removed from children as there were a few years ago.

When it was definitely shown that rheumatism was due in many cases to an attack of tonsillitis, and that heart disease very often followed rheumatism, it was only natural that parents and also the medical profession would be anxious to avoid these two serious ailments, and see that infected tonsils were removed.

And even today the removal of tonsils that are frequently inflamed is considered advisable to prevent rheumatism, heart disease, gall bladder and appendix infection and other ailments.

However there is not the wholesale removal of tonsils now, just because they are large or because there has been one attack of inflamed throat or tonsillitis.

The general feeling among physicians now is that as the tonsils are needed by children until they get into their teens, unless they are giving trouble they should not be removed.

In discussing the treatment of tonsils Dr. T. B. Layton, London, states that in his opinion there is as yet no local treatment of the tonsils that can compare with removing them by surgery. Large size is no reason for removing tonsils.

The main reason why tonsils should be removed is because of frequent attacks of tonsillitis, and this is more important than the appearance of the tonsil.

Children need this tonsil tissue in their throat, and they do not get tonsillitis in the earlier years of life. Therefore, operations on children up to 5, 6, 7, and 8 years of age should not be done unless it cannot possibly be helped, and the need for it is amply proved.

The author thinks the best results come after the age of 12 rather than before.

I believe that most physicians will agree with the above; that is that if there are frequent attacks of tonsillitis at any age the tonsils should come out.

The point is that the tonsils are useful as filters for the air being breathed and to remove poisons from the blood.

Even if they are large, if not obstructing the breathing, they should not be removed. It would appear, taken altogether, that fewer tonsils are being removed today than formerly.

VERSE

FATHER McCREE

Poor old Father McCree, staggered home from a spree
In the wee tiny hours of the morning you see;
While the winds of December went screaming around—
Till Old Dad was unable to stand on the ground.
Sure he met with misfortune on reaching his cot
For his bridget was waiting with a poker red-hot.
And it fell on his head like a limb
from a tree,
O, God bless you! and keep you,
Father McCree.

When the old man came too, sure
he lay on a bed
And a sweet little songster was perched near his head,
When a cute winged angel sat down
by his side
Said the old man, "Begorra,
I'm glad I have died
Sure I must be in Heaven and bridget will swear
When she finds I am flirting with angels so fair
And I know that her cry will eternally be,
O, punish you forever, Father McCree.

Auction and Contract Bridge

By the World's Leading Authority, MILTON C. WORK

THE IMPORTANCE OF THE DEUCE

It is interesting to note that the lowly and despised Deuce at times proves to be a card of inestimable value by reason of the manner in which it illuminates some otherwise cloudy situation. Possibly no card in the pack can be more informative. When it is played by the partner of the leader it negatives a desire by its owner to have the suit continued, the only exception to this broad principle being when it is a singleton or a single accompaniment of a high honor. When it is led by a conventional player, it shows a holding of exactly three higher cards in the suit. In the following hand, it enabled the partner of the leader to make a valuable deduction that resulted in the defeat of a contract that seemed assured.

North: ♠7 ♥A-Q-10-9 ♦7-4-3 ♣J-9-8-6-3
West: ♠K-Q-J-10 ♥K-4 ♦A-2 ♣A-10-7-4-2
East: ♠A-4-2 ♥8-6-3 ♦Q-J-10-9-8- ♣5 (6
South (Dealer): ♠9-8-6-5-3 ♥J-7-5-2 ♦K-5 ♣K-Q
C-78

The bidding was not especially thrilling and yet far from being without interest. South and North passed continually, but West and East carried on for four rounds as follows: West one Club, East one Diamond, West one Spade, East two Diamonds, West two No Trumps, East three Diamonds, and West five Diamonds.

South's original opening lead was the Deuce of Hearts and the Declarer, appreciating that his only chance was to play dummy's King, interpolated that card on the first trick. It was not likely that South had led from an Ace suit, but there was a possibility that he had made that irregular lead, and if North had the Ace he surely had some card which he could finesse to catch the King if the Four should be played. North's Ace won the trick and the Queen of Hearts was promptly cashed, then North paused to consider.

South had shown exactly four Hearts, so that the closed hand had one remaining Heart and it was probably a loser as South would hardly have picked a four-card suit headed by the Eight for his original lead. The bidding showed that East had at least six Diamonds and rather plainly indicated that his suit was not headed by either Ace or King. East, however, almost certainly held the Ace of Spades, and if so, it would be easy for him to make game if permitted to capture South's King of Diamonds. The King of Diamonds can be saved (unless East has seven) by the lead of a third Heart, and success on that line seems far more probable that the remote chance of finding South Clubless. So North led a third Heart and West had to ruff. After that, the hand worked as North had anticipated. South's King of Diamonds won and the contract was set one trick.

TOMORROW'S HAND

The following hand will be the subject of tomorrow's bridge article. Before reading the description make up your mind how it should be bid and played.

North: ♠A-7-6 ♥A-8-6 ♦Q-J ♣A-Q-10-9-8
West: ♠4 ♥K-Q-J-10-7 ♦K-6-4-2 ♣7-5-4

Members of the service club acted as serviteurs and were assisted by several men.

"We kept well last winter"

THOUSANDS of people "kept on the sunny side of life" last winter. They kept themselves free from common constipation—the ailment that so frequently tears down resistance to "colds" and other winter infections.

Stand guard over the health of your family this winter. Correct common constipation the safe way — by proper diet. Serve them frequently with a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. ALL-BRAN is also rich in blood-building iron.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in severe cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN with milk or cream, or cook into muffins, omelets, breads, etc. Sold by all grocers, in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

IMPORTANT!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—because it is all bran with only flavor added, gives you the generous amount of "bulk" needed to promote proper elimination.

It is recommended as much more efficient in relieving constipation than part-bran products which cannot contain as much "bulk."

Keep on the sunny side of life

COLLISION ON WEDDING TRIP

Trip of Robert (Slim) Horswill and Miss Florence Grant, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Horswill and Mrs. William Seaman, to Spokane Monday for the wedding of the young couple was featured practically at the start by a motor collision a mile this side of Hall, when their car and one driven by A. Burgess of Ymir met on a curve, the snow making the going slippery.

The Burgess car went off the roadway, and sustained about $25 damage. Nobody in either party was hurt, E. Zinkie of Ymir being with Mr. Burgess, and the wedding party continued south, the wedding taking place in the Inland Empire city that evening. The accident occurred about 10 in the morning.

INDECISION OF WALL FEATURE

Woodin Stands Up for U.S. Bonds and Security

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—The mood of speculative markets today was not much changed from that of yesterday and indecision continued to rule in most quarters.

Stocks dragged listlessly and irregularly, closing with a small average loss. Wheat and cotton reacted.

Professor Sprague's retirement from his treasury post and the reasons therefor provided financial circles with their chief topic of conversation. Several statements by persons prominent in political or economic fields appeared during the day, one of them by Secretary William Woodin of the treasury who criticized suggestions that United States government bonds were or could offer poor security. Wall street opinion seemed to be the Sprague incident was crystalizing opinion on both sides of the monetary question.

Vancouver Wheat Export Is Down

VANCOUVER, Nov. 22 (CP) — With only 921,347 bushels of grain shipped from Vancouver during the past week, total exports from this port this season are 11,851,892 bushels against 29,011,011 at this time last year.

Elevator stocks are 12,540,757 bushels and railroads report 1,500,000 bushels in cars in terminal yards here or enroute west in British Columbia.

Ships in port today are loading 890,667 bushels and remaining November bookings are 747,333 bushels. Incomplete December bookings approximate 2,500,000 bushels with a probability another million and a half bushels will be added.

U.S.A. DOLLAR UP IN LONDON

Opens Weak; Put Exchange Control Fund at Work

LONDON, Nov. 22 (AP)— The United States dollar, after a weakening tendency in exchange market transactions this morning, improved in subsequent dealings because of an announcement of an unchanged gold price and closed finally at $5.41 the pound.

The United States currency opened weak at $5.44 and moved later to $5.45¼, after which a rally occurred. It closed yesterday at $5.37¾.

Application of the exchange control fund steadied the drooping French franc and, although it subsequently eased to 83.84 to the pound, the quotations improved in late dealings to end at 83.65 francs. It was quoted in first dealings at 83.43.

The dollar's official finish was at $5.41¼ which represented a recovery of four points from the day's worst mark.

On a dull foreign exchange market in Paris the dollar opened and closed at 15.35 francs (6.51 cents to the franc), 20 centimes lower than yesterday's quotation of 15.55 francs (6.43 cents).

MEAT PRICES ARE ADVANCED

Meat Sales Brisker on Wholesale Mart

An increase of a cent a pound on all pork and hog cuts, a cent advance in butter and a fairly healthy market was reported by the wholesalers this week This is the second advance for these products.

While wholesale prices are about on a par with last year, the business is substantially better This is partly due to new camps which have come into being in the district through mining and relief work activities.

Local eggs are coming in in larger volume and are being snapped up immediately Both the fresh and storage egg supplies are pretty well cleaned up.

Christmas goods, which arrived during the past week or two, are now moving into consumption and the demand appears to be fairly brisk. A small quantity of lettuce is being supplied locally but most of it is coming from California. Shipments from south of the line include one of bananas and a small quantity of endives.

The wholesale grocery market is fairly quiet with practically no change in prices The sale of fruit jars and canning accessories is now through until next season.

Feed distributors had a fairly busy week, unloading a car of meat scraps, four cars of hay, including two of timothy and one of alfalfa, and three cars of flour and feed.

GRAIN TRADE IS RESTRICTED

Futures Shuffle in an Uncertain Mood; Close Is Down

WINNIPEG, Nov. 22 (CP)—Futures prices shuffled about uncertainly on the grain exchange today, and despite minor reactions from the low points, finished ⅝ to ½ cent under the previous close.

Weakness in outside markets and lack of export demand, accounted for the easiness here but the range of fluctuations was comparatively narrow. Trading was also restricted, and values idled for long periods

November wheat closed at 64½, December at 63¾, May at 67⅞ and July at 69⅛ cents. Export business in Canadian wheat was relatively small.

Liverpool prices, weakened by bearish Italian crop estimates, finished ⅞ to 1⅛d lower, while Chicago values declined due to political developments at Washington.

Cash grains operations were dull, and spreads closed unchanged to ½ cent easier. Coarse grain prices slipped fractionally.

THEY THROW POP BOTTLES IN JAPAN

Baseball Fans Are Becoming Less Polite as Game Grows Older

Baseball in Japan has finally reached a boiling point, after 36 years of development. The pop bottle throwing fan has appeared showing that the game has reached a point where the fans now take it seriously.

In a recent battle 50,000 fans packed the huge Meiji Shrine stadium, to watch Meiji university hand Waseda university a drubbing.

Right Fielder Iwamota of the Meiji club taunted Waseda rooters in nearby stands. The fans replied with a shower of bottles and apple cores, and the Meiji coach had to replace Iwamoto before the barrage stopped. The incident was declared to be the first of its kind in the annals of Japanese baseball, which has always been carried on with a politeness that made the spirit of the game seem a little alien to American and Canadian visitors to the Japanese games.

Apparently that's all over now.

OFFERS CUP BASKETBALL

Sharpe Has Message for Buckers of Sport

To the Sports Editor:

Sir: This year Nelson seems to be on the down and out as far as basketball is concerned. It is a shame for it is a wonderful game and by all means should be revived, as far as the rest of Canada is concerned it is a major sport. Why Nelson should not be on the map in this respect is really a mystery to me. This city is plenty large enough to have a city league, consisting of at least four teams. Without a doubt there is plenty of playing talent available and all that is needed, probably, is a little activeness on the part of some the old boys to start the ball rolling toward the forming of a league. Now if such a league is formed, I am quite willing to donate a suitable cup to be competed for yearly, and also my time in any way, shape or form to help matters along.

I have found since coming to Nelson that there is a certain element who do not wish to see Nelson on the map as a good sports town, to these in particular let me say a few words.

Ever since history was first written, and probably thousands of years before, every successful nation had its favorite sport or games, and this applies even to our present day. Take Italy for an example, since Mussolini came into power, every lad or girl of a mature age is required to play some kind of a sport. Ask Jack Barbaree how he found conditions when he piloted the V.B.C. on a basketball tour through Italy. Sport is practically enforced, and why is this so?. What's the idea? you may say. Well the reason is this, everybody knows that the youth of today has far too much idle time, there are far too many modern conveniences which have a tendency to make he or she lazy. Now to play a game of sport reduces the idle time, helps build up the lad's body, creates new energetic enthusiasm, takes his mind away from idle thought's that aren't progressive, and on the whole improves his mental attitude towards a higher idealism in life, and after all Canada of the future relies on its youth of today, so why not try to equip the youth of today with a good physical body, along with the wonderful mental training he is receiving in our modern schools.

GATES RETIRES AS A DICTATOR

By PAUL BICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 (AP)—Albert R. Gates, once regarded as dictator of United States professional golf, today decided to give golfers legal advice instead of orders.

Effective January 1 the grey thatched Chicagoan will retire as business administrator of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, a post he has held three years, and act solely as legal counsel for the organization.

Although a move has been on foot to oust Gates from his office as administrator for some time, his decision to retire was voluntary, said George Jacobus of Ridgewood, N.J., president of the P.G.A. Jacobus said the administrator's office would be abolished in an effort to cut expenses.

Ryder cup players henceforth will be exempt from competing in the qualifying round of the P.G.A. Championships in years the international team matches are played against Great Britain. Such exemption was voted after a large number of protests last fall from team players, who said they were not given enough time to get back from the matches in England and enter the qualifying round.

The delegates, representing every section of the United States, today were busy with the new plan to adopt a uniform plan of teaching golf. If the plan is successful, all professionals, members of the P.G.A., will teach the one best way to grip a club, to swing, and other rudiments of the game, which long have been subjects of heated debates among the pros.

Jacobus was reelected president at today's session along with other officers. Walter Hagen and Bobby Jones were also reelected honorary vice-presidents.

NICKEL STRONG TORONTO ISSUE

TORONTO, Nov. 22 (CP)—Accumulation in Imperial Oil, International Pete, Nickel and Ford A and a general note of unsteadiness over the rest of the board characterized Toronto stock exchange operations today. Distillery issues continued weak. Nickel was consistently strong. Close to 33,000 shares changed hands.

Imperial closed ⅛ higher at 14⅞. International Pete added ⅛ and McColl ⅜. McColl pfd. weakened 2 points and British American ⅛.

Distillery issues slipped back in sympathy with the New York liquor group with Distillers Seagram off 1¼ to 18½. Industrial Alcohol dropped ½ to 15, and Walkers common closed unchanged to 36 and Brewers and Distillers steady at 2.20.

Ford A added 1⅛ to 13¼. Brazilian gained ⅛ to 11⅛ and C.P.R. lost ½ to 12. Nickel traded 10,000 shares and gained 35 cents to 22.35 but Smelters weakened in the last hour to 132, off 3.

WHEAT VALUES SWEPT DOWN

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 (AP)—Rapid downsweeps of wheat values early and late today accompanied heated discussions of administration monetary plans following successive changes in United States treasury officials.

Wheat closed nervous, 1¼ to 1¾ under yesterday's finish, corn ⅛ to ⅝ off, oats ⅛ to ⅞ down, and provisions showing five to 40 cents decline.

Corn and oats displayed relative firmness.

FEW B.C. PROS SEEK PURITY

Clarence Boucher Sooner Coach Than Play

VANCOUVER, Nov. 22 (CP)—Ruling by the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada that reformed professionals may reenter competition as amateurs will probably have little effect as far as British Columbia hockey circles are concerned.

"Offhand I couldn't say how many former professional hockey players there are in the province but I don't think there are many," President C. H. Corkum of the British Columbia Amateur Ice Hockey Association, said.

Informed of the ruling, Clarence Boucher, member of the New York Americans in the National Hockey league from 1925 to 1928, said he was more interested in coaching amateurs than in playing himself, and said he did not think he would take advantage of the reinstatement clause.

RUGGER FINAL PLANS MADE

MONTREAL, Nov. 22 (CP)—Out of the fog surrounding the possibility of a Dominion senior football final tonight arose a new proposal which will become effective if one remaining financial detail is settled satisfactorily.

The arrangement, announced here by T. Hicks Miller, president of the Canadian Rugby union, will bring Winnipegs, western champions, into combat with the big four titlists on the grounds of either Montreal or Argonauts, in the Canadian semi-final on December 2.

The survivor would then play Sarnia Imperials on December 9 in the Dominion finals on the grounds of the Ontario Rugby Football union champions at Sarnia.

An if enters into the plan, however, Hicks stated, Winnipegs must agree to the big four offer of a straight 50-50 split of the gate instead of receiving a guarantee of part of its expenses. The custom of the past has been for the eastern team to guarantee half the expenses of the western champions' trip.

NARROW LOSSES IN MINE ISSUES

TORONTO, Nov. 22 (CP)—Mining shares gave a drab performance today on the Standard exchange, registering narrow losses and gains with turnover of less than half a million shares. Gold stocks showed firming signs at one time but at the close losses were boarded. Nickel with 15,000 shares out closed 25 cents higher at 22.05.

McIntyre hit $9.25 but recovered to close at 40.25, up $1. Dome closed unchanged at $33.25, Lake Shore at $46.30, down 20, Bralorne at $9.10, down 20, Teck at $5.60, off 5, Hargreaves at $7.15, unchanged and Pioneer at $8.70, off 5 cents.

Coast Copper dropped 15 cents to $4.70 and Pend Oreille was off 13 to 75. In silvers Eldorado lost 12 to $3.60, Mining Corporation 7 to 1.70, Nipissing 2 to 2.50, and Bear 3½ to 77. Medium-priced gold shares boarded narrow losses.

Oils were irregular with Ajax up 3, East Crest up 1 and Royalite unchanged at $18, while Home Oil and Calgary and Edmonton lost 3.

Three Pro Wrestlers in N.H.L. This Year

Conacher, Starr and Pusie Are Mat Experts

Already Jean Pusie, last year's sensation of the Western Canada Professional Puck loop, has shown his bruising tactics, and his success in the big league seems a foregone conclusion.

His advent into the National loop makes three former professional wrestlers in the league. Harold Starr of the Montreal Canadiens was a professional wrestler for a while. Jean Pusie, became a professional wrestler in Montreal last spring, and has had over 50 bouts, losing only one.

Know Your Nelson Hockey Players

As a hockey player Ty Culley needs no introduction to the Kootenay fans, having played with the Nelson seniors during 1931-32. Last year, there being no senior league, he threw in his lot with the Maple Leafs, an intermediate city squad, and consoled himself with being their leading scorer.

Ty was born in Ontario and moved to Calgary with his parents while still at the "Goo-goo" stage. He earned his first dime caddying for a rather questionable golfer and would have made 25 cents if he hadn't laughed at the wrong time. So Ty became a philosopher and took up shinny.

He first tried goal, but gave that up because he couldn't get near enough to the opposing players. Then he tried center and has been playing that position ever since. He is a tricky pivot man and opponents generally don't rely on trying to outsmart him.

In 1927-28 Ty played with the Calgary Canadians and was with them again the following season when they were beaten by the Winnipeg Millionaires for the junior championship. He moved up next season to the Calgary Bronks, which team he stayed with until coming to Nelson in February, 1931.

Ty would like to have been an artist, but his father hid the whitewash brush after Ty had made an exceptionally poor job of the interior of the hen house. Besides he hasn't the right temperament.

His tree of life has 24 nicks in it and he boasts a wife and one, no two, children.

and had some drinks and, like any drunk, I began yelling," said Tracy.

"Some one yelled back and I shouted, 'Why don't you go to——?' The next day I went to jail, paid a small fine, apologized and that's all there was to it."

GRAND TIME

He drove here from Juarez with Jack Price, of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer company, after they had flown from Mexico City in a plane piloted by Fritz Bieler.

"We stopped in Chihuahua City for the night and continued to Juarez and there was no attempt by any Mexican officials to stop us at the border," Tracy said. He said Bieler flew back to Mexico and he and Price motored here.

"I was having a grand time going to cabarets and night clubs and I hated to leave Mexico," he said.

"That parade business was all a mistake. The prosecutor didn't put me behind the bars and after I had apologized he told me he was sorry he had detained me.

"I told him that since the parade was made up of Democrats, Fusionists and Republicans, I guess anything I yelled would have hurt somebody."

Tracy said he planned to leave here tonight for Los Angeles.

"I'm always 'framing' pictures but that habit won't get me in trouble again. From now on I'm just going to try to act in 'em."

POPPY DRIVE FINE SUCCESS

CRESTON, Nov. 22.—The Women's auxiliary to Creston Valley Post Canadian Legion are exceptionally well pleased with the 1933 sale of poppies and poppy wreaths in Creston valley this year—the income from this source being 50 per cent greater than in 1932, and the showing might have been better had more generous supplies of poppies been bought as the demand in Creston village was in excess of the supply. Total sales were $127, of which $70 was for poppies. In Creston village $40 worth of poppies were sold. At Erickson, $15; Canyon City, $6; Camp Lister, $7.50; Kitchener, $3.50; Sirdar, $2, and the balance of the sale was at Arrow Creek, West Creston, Wynndel, Alice Siding and the airport east of Kitchener. In addition to this revenue the auxiliary also enlarged its bank account by serving the supper at the Legion dance at Park pavilion on Armistice eve.

MORE ABOUT DE VALERA

Through dark recesses of disused rooms one climbs by mysterious stairways to the floor above, to find a worker cutting metal stencils with which "Vote for McGrath" will be painted on the house-walls of indignant tenants.

Other workers, including the candidate himself, are hurriedly addressing a Republican manifesto to the electors of South Down.

"Why are you opposing President de Valera?" the Canadian Press asked McGrath.

"I am not opposing de Valera—he is opposing me," came the disconcerting reply. "I was nominated two hours almost before he was."

"But what's the difference between your policy and his?"

"The difference is I stand for a republic and against partition.

"And doesn't de Valera?"

WHY THE OATH?

McGrath suddenly turned interviewer himself. "If he's against partition, why did he accept the presidency of a state created by the partition?" he sharply questioned. "If he is a Republican why did he take the oath of allegiance?"

The interviewer, thinking of de Valera's abolition of the oath after he was safely in power, asked, "Take what?"

"The oath of allegiance," repeated McGrath. "He took it in the Free state. He said it was only an empty formula. But how do we know he won't say it is only an empty formula in the North of Ireland and take it again. We want to be sure.

"He started as a Republican but he is not going fast enough. He is going back instead of forward."

Mind the stairs as ye go down," counselled McGrath. "And mind ye vote Republican," cautioned the stencil-cutter.

In his manifesto McGrath says his national faith is based on the Easter republic of 1916 "which declared Ireland to be a sovereign and independent state, the right of the Irish people to unfettered control of Irish destinies, to be soverign and indivisible, and which guarantees civil and religious liberty, equal rights and equal opportunities to all citizens."

WANTS FREE NATION

"I deny the claim of the British to suppress a nation's liberties, to partition national territory or to dictate the form of government by which the Irish people may be governed.

"I will not, if elected, take part in the proceedings of the parliament of the six countries which is a creation of the British government imposed and maintained by force. I will not participate in the proceedings of any parliament which is not a parliament of a free and independent Irish nation."

Three miles to the south of Newry lies the Free State boundary.

Trail FROM Day to Day

by A. R. J.

Anyone who has conversed with A. P. (Pete) Levesque, well-known local hotel proprietor, will undoubtedly appreciate this story which Pete has told himself.

A certain business man about town noticed a rash appearing on his chest and where the rash appeared the spots were quite sore to the touch. Baffled as to what it might be he consulted a doctor.

Looking at the rash, the doctor enquired of his patient, "Are you acquainted with Pete Levesque?"

"Yes, I know him quite well," was the reply.

"Oh, well," said the doctor, "the solution to what caused this rash is quite clear. Don't you remember Pete hitting you on the chest during a conversation?"

Topics of discussion in a hotel lobby usually vary from the great national problems of the world to personal matters of those engaged in the conversation. The other night in one of Trail's hotels the discussion went from Hitler and his so-called Nazi reform to ages. There was a young man there around 25 years of age whom everyone thought was about 30 except one gentleman who was 73 who guessed the young man's age correctly, yet none of the others would believe the elderly gentleman's age was what he said it was. Yet the elderly gentleman said the young man would look 30 years of age when he was 40. Probably the elderly gentleman—who was none other than "Daddy" Warren—was speaking from authority.

And, what do you think—the conversation of ages started about midnight, and the young old man was just getting in.

That brings to mind the story of the 60-year-old gentleman, before retiring, said he was going to put the key under the mat for Grandma!

Lukin Johnston, who has recently taken up so much front page space in the newspapers must have been a "great guy."

While conversing with a friend in a local cafe he said the news of Johnston's death was a great surprise and shock to him.

"Did you know him?"

"Yes, while in Vancouver he was a real friend to me, and at that time a friend in need."

Which goes to show that when a man does things to please people and help them, when he is missing or goes beyond, only praises are for him—and there are no adverse whisperings circulated.

A wonderful address was given by Archdeacon F. H. Graham of Nelson at the Rotary luncheon Tuesday.

He spoke on "Idealism". . . unselfishness . . . thinking of the other fellow first. If he had 50 of men devoted to such ideals the archdeacon said, he would accomplish anything in the world.

MORE ABOUT FLIES-CATS

the fly flew upside down. Not as good as a plane, for he was losing altitude rapidly. He righted in about the time of an eye wink. His wings "feathered," by turning sidewise on their upstroke, he stood on his tail in air and flew almost vertical upward by a sculling motion of both wings.

The canary came next. He was spilled out of a closed hand where it took quick work to keep from striking a table. On the down stroke the little fellow's wings folded under him, like a person wrapping his arms across his chest to shiver. Not until the wing tips touched under his breast did the down-stroke stop.

A KNEE ACTION

On the upstroke the canary showed a completed "knee" action in his wings, folding them in close to his sides until they were above his back. Then he spread them wide. He was snapped at 1200 pictures a second.

The cat was dropped upside down a foot and a half above the table. First her back arched upward, so that she had the shape of a crescent moon, its two horns pointing downward.

Then her long tail lashed around in one big arc until it swept the table below, and seemed to start her turn to upright position. Her paws all swept through arcs of a circle in the same direction as the tail and her feet swung under her body for a perfect landing when she was barely more than four inches above the table.
