SHANGHAI FALLS TO JAPANESE

RUSSO-JAPANESE RELATIONS NEAR BREAKING POINT OVER TWO ISSUES

Soviet Defence Chief Believed Rushing to Siberia

ARMY STRENGTH DETERMINE MOVE

TOKYO, Nov. 9 (Tuesday) (AP) —Both foreign and Japanese observers were almost unanimous today in the belief Russo-Japanese relations were nearing the breaking point as reaction to recent strengthening of the anti-comintern pact and friction over fishing treaty negotiations.

Tokyo newspaper Hochi reported the Soviets were making Herculean efforts to bolster their far eastern army and that Marshal Klementi Voroshiloff, Russia's defence commissar, was hurrying to Siberia to engineer a" sweeping reformation" of forces.

Despatches to the newspaper from Vladivostok, Russia's principal Pacific port, said Voroshiloff's "report to the Kremlin regarding the strength of the far eastern army, was expected finally to determine the decision in Moscow."

The Vladivostok sources said Russia had extended the term of service for Siberian troops and rushed others to that region.

Mailmen Cover Routes; Making Up Directories

Letter Delivery Will Begin Wednesday; Few Lack Boxes

Familiarizing themselves with their work, Nelson's newly appointed mail carriers spent Monday covering their routes and making up route directories. They will continue this work today, and Wednesday will begin letter delivery. J. Turner of Vancouver, postal department inspector, returned Monday to Vancouver, leaving everything set for inauguration of delivery. Barring some major development it will start as scheduled.

R. M. Manahan, postmaster, stated Monday most residences within the carrier limits were equipped with letter plates or boxes in preparation for delivery. Most of the few exceptions, he believed, were where tenants were waiting for landlords to make the installation.

The carriers had also found a number of cases where householders had installed letter plates in doors and then had put up winter storm doors, completely nullifying the provision they had made to receive letters by locking the storm doors.

In such cases, the postmaster intimated, carriers would knock until someone answered the door, explain the situation, and urge that the storm doors be left unlocked or that an additional letter plate or box be installed. A number of such difficulties were expected to be encountered with inauguration of the service, and to be worked out by compromise and adjustment until delivery was operating smoothly.

LAUDS FINANCE MINISTER HART ON "GOOD WORK" ON BOND INTEREST

VICTORIA, Nov. 8 (CP)—Verbal bouquets and broadsides issued from opposition benches in the British Columbia legislature tonight.

R. L. Maitland, (Cons.-Point Grey) who joined with E. E. Winch (CCF-Burnaby) in complimenting Premier Pattullo and his ministers, also joined with the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation member in criticizing the administration.

The Point Grey Conservative member termed the last provincial election a "tragedy".

"The tragedy of the last election can be characterized first by huge expenditures without parallel in the history of the province", Mr. Maitland said. "There was an expenditure on the lower mainland of more money than ever seen before."

COULD BE "GREAT BUILDERS"

Mr. Maitland said the new legislature could be one of the "greatest builders" the province had ever seen. "We have unsurpassed revenue coming in and there is a great chance for public administration."

The Conservative member charged the government had had an opportunity to balance its budget, not go deeper into debt, but pay as it went.

MINER PLUNGES 300 FEET TO HIS DEATH IN SHAFT AT ST. EUGENE

Robert Mahon Killed; George Whitehead Escapes Unhurt

TIMBER CRASHED ON THE PLATFORM

Plunging 300 feet from a platform into water filling the bottom of a shaft, Robert Mahon, formerly of Cobalt, Ont., was killed yesterday morning at St. Eugene Extension Mines, Moyie.

Radio report to provincial police divisional headquarters at Nelson yesterday afternoon stated Mahon was working in the shaft with George Whitehead, standing on a platform about 60 feet below the surface to receive timbers which were being lowered from the surface.

One of the timbers slipped from the rope with which it was being lowered and crashed on the platform on which the two men were standing, breaking two planks. Mahon fell about 300 feet into water, but Whitehead escaped uninjured.

At the time of the report the body had not been recovered, the radiogram adding: "Every effort is being made by the company to recover the body and pumping operations are commencing at once."

Mahon was married, his wife residing at Moyie.

"During the year we identified two unfortunates simply because of their past criminal records. In one instance we were able to satisfy an insurance company thus promptly benefiting the beneficiary."

1695 Tons Coal on City Scales During October

Over 1000 Individual Orders; Gain 191 Over 1936

There isn't any doubt about winter's advent now. The final proof—the activity at coal sheds—is amply available and the city weigh scales provided further indorsation.

Exactly 3,391,139 pounds of coal, or if you prefer easier figures, 1695.5695 tons of coal, passed over the scales during October in lots ranging from 500 pounds to six tons, destined for basements and sheds to protect residents of Nelson and vicinity against the chill of near-winter days. These figures take no account of carlot purchases going to schools, business houses and apartment blocks.

Trade Interests Prompted Action

AN EXCITED ARMY OF INVADERS SWEEPS INTO THE GREAT CITY

Retreating Chinese Troops Fire Buildings as Japanese Planes and Shock Troops Race Forward to Wipe Out Laggers

JAPANESE OFFICER SYMBOLIZES CITY'S FALL BY SHOOTING IN FRONT OF BRITISH

SHANGHAI, Nov. 9 (Tuesday)—(AP) — Shanghai fell today to a wildly excited Japanese army which swept across the once bitterly defended Soochow creek on the western fringes of the heavily guarded international settlement.

Before noon Japanese legions captured Hungjao airdrome —China's Sarajevo where the spark fell which started the Chinese-Japanese conflict.

Retreating Chinese troops, who left China's great commercial city within the Japanese battlelines, fired numerous building throughout the Hungjao area as they fell back toward winter defence lines further to the west.

PLANES JOIN ATTACK

Japanese planes, taking to the air quickly in the face of the Chinese withdrawal, heavily bombed the Chinese lines while mobile shock troops raced forward in an attempt to wipe out Chinese stragglers.

Vast clouds of smoke in the vicinity of Nanziang, important railway point directly west of Shanghai, was believed by foreign military observers to indicate that Chinese probably had withdrawn along the entire western line which the had defended valiantly since Japanese captured Chapei Oct. 27.

CITIES NOT ON AIRLINE TO BE GIVEN SERVICE

That a $300,000 airport at Nelson appeared to be a doubtful venture, that the post office department was now considering means of servicing cities off the transcanada air route and that Nelson would not be overlooked were statements contained in a letter from Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of transport, to W. K. Esling of Rossland, M.P. for Kootenay West. The letter forwarded by Mr. Esling to Nelson was received by the city council Monday night.

Mr. Esling some time ago sent to the minister a map and description of the waterfront airport proposed by Alderman N. C. Stibbs, and the minister's letter was the reply. Mr. Howe stated it appeared to be an ambitious project and would require a good deal of engineering investigation.

The Transcanada airline was considerably south of Nelson in any case, he said in connection with arrangements to service cities off the line. The letter asserted considerable danger attended the landing of high speed planes in mountainous country. In view of the probable traffic, he doubted whether an expenditure of $300,000 as estimated would be worth while for a landing field at Nelson.

Alderman Stibbs informed the council he "never had any idea that Nelson would build such an airport", his purpose being "to bring pressure on the government." He questioned whether Salmo and Grand Forks had contributed to the airports at these centres and sug*gested if the government would* spend the same money at Nelson as it had at Salmo "it would be fine."

Vancouver Chief Thinks Peak of Crime Wave Passed; Loot Is $3000

Foster Blames Men From Outside for Robberies

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP)—Police Chief W. W. Foster today said he believed the peak of a "crime wave", which has netted safecrackers and holdup men more than $3000 during the past few weeks, had been passed.

The chief constable said he believed men who have arrived in Vancouver during the last two months were partly the cause of the numerous crimes.

"Of the 2500 persons who arrived in the city a great many have gone to camps and others have started back east," the police chief said. However there is still a residue here."

"OCCUR ALMOST EVERY YEAR"

"We realize we must expect a certain amount of difficulty at this time of year," he said. "These difficulties occur almost every year at this time."

Chief Foster said great difficulty was experienced in tracing the men responsible for the safecracking "jobs" and that it was "practically necessary to capture them at work to secure sufficient evidence against them."

Chinese vegetable stores were victims of the last two hold ups which ocourred today within ahalf hour. A total of $80 was obtained.

Fernie's Tom Uphill Is Legislature's Peter Pan

Tea-Drinking "Flying Dutchman of B. C. Politics (Pattullo) Worries One-Man Party Who Takes Credit for Wismer Becoming Attorney General of the Province

By B. A. McKELVIE

VICTORIA—Fernie's Tom Uphill, is the Peter Pan of the legislature. Tom is an institution. He has been in the house longer than any other member with the exception of the premier himself, but he has caused more merriment in a single one of his many sessions than has the dignified first minister all the while he has dealt doughty blows to his opponents. Tom is a one-man party. His caucus decisions are unanimous. In all the years he has been in the assembly he has never attempt*ed to understand the complex regu*lations of debate. As a result of this acknowledge lack of speaking acquaintance with May's rules of order, Tom gets away with more assaults upon the dignity of Mr. Speaker than do all the rest of the house put together.

He started off this year's participation in debate by loudly demanding that the premier stop all business and have the sergeant-at-arms and page boys search the basements of the parliament building, it being Guy Fawkes day. Tom argued that if "Old Guy Fawkes, three hundred years ago had any excuse for trying to upset the legislature of his day, then on the record of this government there should be grave danger in our cellar."

U.B.C.M. ASKS B.C. GOVERNMENT TO AID MUNICIPALITIES AT ONCE

No Statement From Gov't. as Brief Submitted

VICTORIA, Nov. 8 (CP)— The union of British Columbia municipalities, in a brief submitted to the provincial executive council, today said it was not satisfied with the present financial relations between the province and municipalities, and that it considered some immediate action to remedy the situation was needed, without waiting for the report of the Rowell commission on Dominion-provincial relations.

The brief was presented by a delegation of mayors and reeves from municipalities in the lower mainland and on Vancouver Island.

Reeve R. C. MacDonald of the district of Coquitlam, told interviewers after the brief was submitted that his appeal to Premier Pattullo for definite assurance for increased assistance for municipalities had been answered with the statement his (MacDonald's) attitude was "not getting the municipalities anywhere."

The Reeve said Mr. Pattullo had told the delegation the government was sympathetic but had problems of its own with no means to meet all obligations. The premier said the government would present the U.B.C.M. brief to the Rowell commission when it met here next March.

Mr. MacDonald said "we received no assurance at all the government would assist us."

On the other hand, Harry J. Sullivan, solicitor for the union and representative of New Westminster City in the delegation, said after the meeting:

"The government said it was sympathetic and would do everything in its power to alleviate the situation in which the municipalities found themselves."

No government statement was issued.

He complimented Finance Minister Hart, however, on his "good work" in paying bond interest and restoring confidence in that direction. Yet, in spite of high revenues "we went down $2,600,000 in current expenses."

Quoting a press clipping dated Fernie, last May 8, Mr. Maitland said the Liberal candidate there had told electors the government would undertake a road program totalling $80,000.

"That was one of the most corrupt things that ever happened in British Columbia," he claimed.

Mr. Winch charged that Burnaby was the most "politically-ridden" riding in British Columbia and said that in his riding "you must go to political heelers for jobs."

The C.C.F. member said if occupants of the Home of the Friendless, ousted from their premises in Burnaby, had gone to their buildings in West Summerland, the matter should be investigated. He said the religious-charitable institution should be under government supervision.

TRAILITES SEE FIRST PUCK GO

TRAIL, B. C., Nov. 8—That Trail's last year's players and contenders for this season's team looked good when they tangled in the first senior amateur hockey game in the province at the rink here tonight, was the concensus of opinion of fans who enthusiastically reacted to the battle as though it were a midseason game.

Newcomers beat the Smoke Eaters 6-5, the fixture being tied three times and goals being scored by opposing teams only seconds apart.

Smoke Eaters comprised Scodellaro, goal; Haight, Snowdon, Johnston and Wade, defence; Cronie, Morris and Dame; Cook, Benoit and Brennon, forwards, and Rumak alternating at left wing.

Newcomers were: Buchanan, goal; Casey Jones, Norris, Kwasnic and Jerry Thompson, defence; Duchak, Marshall and Wanless; Roy Forsey, McCready and Kowcinak, forwards, and Kapalka, alternate.

The Forsey - McReedy - Kowcinak line gave the fans a big thrill when they scored five goals of their team's six goals. Kowcinak scored two unassisted, was assisted on another by McReedy and assisted McReedy on the other two.

Bob Marshall tallied the newcomer's other goal on a pass from Duchak, while lying prostrate on the ice and an opposing player on top of him. Ab Cronie came through for two goals for Smoke Eaters, being assisted by Tommy Johnston on one. Mickey Brennan thrust in two counters, being assisted on one by Joe Benoit. Bunny Dame scored Smoke Eater's other goal.

Preliminary to the senior game, two teams of Trail junior material put up a splendid exhibition and in the opinion of most railbirds superseded material for Trail's junior team of past years. Five goals were scored by one squad and two by the other. Church, Calles, Wooster and Buchanan, 2, scored for the victors, Smith, Church and Martinson getting assists. Appleton and Bob Kendall, a graduate from school hockey, scored for the other side.

The teams were Pickell, goal; Church and Smith, defence; Martinson, Calles, Buchanan; Caldwell, Butler and Hemsworth; McDonell and Wooster, forwards.

Sopko, goal; Casey and Hanson, defence; Lloyd Devlin, Bob Kendall and Komesh; Appleton, Nickerson and Jergeson; and Harry Devlin, forwards.

At the conclusion of hockey the rink was opened to skaters who crowded the ice.

JAPAN OPPOSED TO RUSSIA AT BRUSSELS

BRUSSELS, Nov. 8 (AP)—Russia's participation in the Brussels conference loomed today as an increasingly important factor in efforts to end the Chinese-Japanese conflict.

There was mounting evidence of Japan's desire to eliminate the Soviet union from any possible peace discussions.

Japan, a signatory of the nine-power treaty of 1922 concerning China, under which the Brussels conference was convoked, declined to attend. Russia, a non-signatory, accepted a later invitation.

"One delegate said the next conference session, scheduled for tomorrow, might be postponed until Thursday to give time for Japan to reply to the conference's invitation of Saturday.

JAPAN NOT LIKELY TO ACCEPT

TOKYO, Nov. 9 (AP)—A foreign office spokesman said today he saw no reason why Japan should accept the invitation of the Brussels conference to name envoys for discussion of Japan's conflict with China.

He indicated Soviet Russia's membership in the conference was a barrier to Japan's acceptance. Japan, he said, was not consulted when Russia was invited to join the conference.

COST OF THIRD RESERVOIR AT TRAIL WILL BE INVESTIGATED

Pressure Low at High Levels Woodburn Reports

TRAIL, B.C., Nov. 8—Cost of constructing another reservoir, above the present two, to assure sufficient water pressure at Columbia Heights and other high levels will be investigated and estimated by S. S. McDiarmid, city engineer, on instruction of Trail city council. Alderman J. H. "DEATH TRAP"

Expressing concern over what he considered lack of proper exits in a large Trail building used for public gatherings, Alderman H. P. Kingwell asked who would be responsible for having this matter righted. Alderman Kingwell termed it a "death trap". He was advised that it was a concern of the fire chief and fire, water and light committee. The council delegated Alderman Kingwell and Alderman John (Ice) Young to further investigate the matter and report back.

Two fire alarms occurred during October, with damage to property contents of $250. Total value of buildings involved was $4500, the buildings being covered by an insurance of $2500. Value of contents was $4000, covered by an insurance of $2000. Orders served under the Fire Marshal act numbered seven, with no appeals.

Included in the monthly report of A. A. MacDonald, fire chief, was an outline of drills during Fire Prevention week. Six drills were conducted in public places.

Fire Chief MacDonald recommended R. D. Corbett, who has completed four months' probation as truck driver, to be taken on as permanent driver.

Water applications from W. K. Lyons, Second avenue, and Mrs. B. L. Smith, Topping street, were referred to the fire, water and light committee.

An offer of $200 was received by the council from Domenica Filippi for parcel of land on Upper Spokane street.

ASSOCIATED GROWERS ENTERED

The office of the Associated Growers sub-central at Nelson was entered for the second time this year, but where the previous entrants got into the building via a skylight, those breaking in this week-end kicked out the steel wire mesh over a ventilator opening outside the building and crawled in. In the previous entry rubber stamps which were subsequently used to forge checks were stolen. In the latest $45 in cash and $11 or $12 in stamps were stolen after the inner door of the office safe had been broken open.

Entering through a window, the thieves knocked the dial off the safe in the office of James Kerrigan & Co., gasoline and oil dealers, to obtain a $10 bill and a diamond ring left in the safe.

Nothing apparently was touched at the Union Oil of Canada Ltd. nearby. A window was forced to obtain entry.

BECOME GENUINELY INTERESTED IN PEOPLE

"If you would make friends, be friendly. Forget your own interests. Think of other people's interests.
"You can make more friends in two months by showing that you are interested in other people than you can in two years by trying to force other people to become interested in you."

"People are not interested in you—or in me. They are interested in themselves—first, last and all the time.
"When you see a group photograph that you are in, whose face do you look for first?"

"Ask yourself this question:—
"Why should people be interested in me unless I am first interested in them?
"If you merely try to impress people and get people interested in you, you will never have many true, sincere friends. Friends, real friends, are not made that way."

"But you can win the attention and time and cooperation of even the busiest, most sought after people by becoming genuinely interested in them.
"So if you want to make friends, put yourself out to do things for other people."

HAVE YOU SMOKED A TURRET LATELY?
ONE way to show interest in other people is to introduce them to the satisfying goodness of Turret cigarettes. They'll quickly appreciate Turret's original and unique blend of choice Virginia tobaccos, which makes Turret just that much different — just that much better. Show them, too, that the Turret package has a handy calendar on the back! Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited

Italians Build Highways, Begin Bus Service, Develop Crops in Ethiopia

ROME, Nov. 8 (AP)—A civilian army of 50,000 workmen rapidly is getting Ethiopia ready for the start of Premier Mussolini's large-scale colonization program.

It is engaged on a large number of public improvements, including roads, hospitals and schools, to make the new domain livable, probably within a year.

Of an appropriation of $600,000,000 recently decreed by Il Duce to be spent over a period of six years, $400,000,000 was set aside for road building and maintenance.

More than 1000 miles of roads now radiate from Addis Ababa, the capital. Two-day bus service has been established on the new imperial highway, connecting Addis Ababa with Massawa, Eritrean port on the Red sea—reducing Ethiopia's dependence on the French-owned railroad connecting Addis Ababa and Djibouti, port in French Somaliland.

Back in Addis Ababa from an empire-wide tour, Viceroy Rodolfo Graziani said the domain was ready for exploitation on a paying basis.

In four regions—Tessenei, Auasc, Metemma and Cobo—he reported cotton plantations flourishing, aided by a 1,350,000 national ginning corporation.

The viceroy said upland ranchers were increasing and improving their cattle, already estimated at 16,000,000 head.

Grain inspectors reported stimulated sowing among native farmers justified hope the territory soon would be self-sufficient in cereals.

In Argentina's progressive system of handling convicts, a convict is paid for his work and taught a useful trade.

Mother's Favorite For Coughs And Colds

It is hard to keep the children from taking cold. They get overheated, get their feet wet, and do a dozen things the mother cannot prevent.

Mothers should never neglect the children's coughs and colds, but on the first sign get a remedy that will give relief, and for this purpose we would highly recommend Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

It is so pleasant to the taste the youngsters take it without any fuss, and its promptness and effectiveness in loosening the phlegm and healing the bronchial tubes is such that the trouble is checked before anything serious may develop.

MRS. J. STAHL, Solsque, B.C., writes:—"For some years I have been using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for myself and family of four children. I have used lots of other kinds of cough medicine, but I like 'Dr. Wood's' best, as it acts much more quickly than any of the others."

$100 Free Entry Cuts Smuggling

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP)—Petty smuggling has practically disappeared since the change in the customs law permitting Canadian residents to return from the United States with personal effects to the value of $100 free of duty, it was stated in the annual report of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The commercial smuggler, however, remains a problem for law-enforcement agencies although the Mounties who handle all Canada's customs preventive and coastal patrol work are satisfied they cut down activities of wholesale liquor smugglers.

Their operations in stopping the movement of illicit alcohol across the border areconsidered in some degree responsible for an increase in illicit distilling of liquor in Canada.

Big dealers in illicit alcohol, finding it impossible to get enough supplies to satisfy their bootlegger customers, took to making it in Canada.

WRITES OPEN LETTER TO PURSE-SNATCHER

SAN JOSE, Cal., Nov. 8 (AP)—Jobless Hazel Fairbanks, 23, thought if the unknown 12-year-old boy who stole her purse knew the $70 inside was all the money she had he might have a change of heart.

So she wrote this open letter:

"Dear Purse Snatcher: You took all the money I have—money I need to keep me until I can find another job. If you mail it back to me I'll say nothing more about it.

"If you don't I'll keep looking for you. Sooner or later I'll find you."

REVIEWERS COMMENT ON NEW BOOK BY CANADIAN WRITER

Love Has Cooled . . .

Married Lover Has Other "Girl Friends"; Is Untrue, She Finds

By VIRGINIA LEE

Unhappy Babs is unhappy because she is another of those women who thought HER affair with a married man would be "different." It is an odd thing that no matter how brilliant persons are in the ordinary affairs of life, they always think the rules of the game don't hold in their love affairs.

Not so long ago a girl who had been acting the third party in the familiar triangle said to me, "But you wouldn't want to hold a husband who no longer cared for you, would you?" I said no, but I thought how typical that query was of the third woman who felt because she loved someone's husband, and his wife, she was told, "misunderstood" him, said wife should step aside and let the other woman have him.

Well, to go on with Bab's story. She is a widow and feels she is not at all to blame for the affair. The man came to her, and Babs had no idea he cared for her. She was lonely, but always tried to find legitimate ways to banish it. At first she resented this man's attentions, knowing he was married. But he kept coming to see her, and she learned to love him very much.

Now she finds that his love for her apparently has cooled and he has other girl friends. "He is a man who can give a good line," she says, "and is a liar. I think he wants me to give him up. I may be wrong. He doesn't have the nerve to do it himself.

"I hope my letter will help some other women victims of married men."

I hope it will, Babs, but I am afraid it won't. It is the same old story. It is a temptation, I know, when a woman is lonely, to believe in the love of a man who seems so sincere and so attracted to you. But the only safe rule, ever, is to steer clear of married men who make love to you.

Once in a blue moon there is a man who truly is unhappy and mismated and he really cares deeply for some one else. But, then if it is at all possible (meaning, largely, if he has no children) to be honorable, he should free himself before he allows himself to make love to another woman.

And any woman so approached should think of the wife first of all, and how she must feel about a faithless husband. After all, how can a woman have faith in a man who is faithless to his marriage vows? If she allows him to make love to her, she involves herself in a mass of deceit and underhand conduct that cannot help lowering her character, no matter how much she feels she is justified in her clandestine affair.

Why don't you take the initiative and break off this affair, Babs? Don't wait for him to make a move. Even if you feel lonely again, your conscience will be clear and you can look the world in the face again.

Use of Mascara . . .

Make Small Eyes Appear Larger by Correct Makeup

By GLADYS GLAD

"My eyes are quite small, but I have lovely long lashes. I use mascara on them to darken and emphasize them, but that seems to stress the smallness of my eyes. And what's more, the black seems to accumulate under my eyes giving me a worn and dissipated appearance. Have you any suggestions to offer me?

"VIRGINIA."

If your eyes are small, you should not apply the mascara on your lower lashes. If you don't there is no chance that the mascara will flake off and settle on your under-eye skin. As a consequence, that worn and dissipated appearance will not result.

What's more, if you apply mascara to the lower part of your eyes it will show up the size of your eyes too definitely, and emphasize their smallness, My suggestion is, that apply your eyeshadow and mascara to your opper lids and lashes. And on your lower lids, clos to your lashes, draw a thin, fine line with an eye pencil and extend it about one-fourth of an inch beyond the outer corner of each eye. Then blend the line softly with the tip of your finger, so that it is unnoticeable and natural in appearance.

"I intend leaving for the sunny south soon, and expect to pass most of the coming winter there. Naturally, therefore, I shall be wearing a good many short-sleeved and sleeveless frocks. I've noticed however, much to my dismay, that my elbows have become dark, rough, and present a most ugly appearance.

"ALICE."

I would suggest that, when taking your nightly bath, you scrub your elbows with a pure, bland soap, using a small flesh brush. This will help to remove any deadened skin. After the scrubbing, apply lemon juice or dilute peroxide to your elbows to lighten the darkened skin.

Allow either bleach to dry on the skin, and then massage your elbows thoroughly with cold cream or pure olive oil. This will lubricate the skin, and help to make it soft and smooth.

I. O. D. E. CONCERT THRILLS MANY

Vocalist, Musicians Present Stirring Entertainment

A pleasure to every listener and a thrill to the true music-lover was the hour-long pr gram of music and melody presented Sunday night at the I. O. D. E. Remembrance concert in the Civic theatre.

Extended, encore-demanding applause testified to the excellence of entertainment and the feeling in which each rendition was received. Vocal solos, duets, quartettes, and piano solos were all embodied in the entertain.nent.

From the opening address of Most Rev. Martin M. Johnson, D.D., bishop of Nelson, to the closing strai..s of "God Save the King" the concert was run off to perfection.

A great deal of credit for the success of the venture was bestowed by I. O. D. E. members on Mrs. H. E. Thain, who accomplished a great deal in arranging the program.

Male tenor and baritone songs were especially stirring, while the lilt of harmonizing voices of boy sopranos, Donald Brown and Gordon Pickard in a duet and Paul Hielscher in a solo, provided a never-failing thrill. Performance of sopranos in their parts on the program brought forth round after round of pleasure-inspired applause as did the instrumental entertainment.

The aims of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire and their great work were applauded in a splendid opening address by Bishop Johnson, chairman.

Pleasure and appreciation of the I. O. D. E. to the patrons, Calvin Winter, the artists and accompanists was extended at the close by Bishop Johnson.

Proceeds of the entertainment totalled about $76, the profits from which will be devoted to the order's service work.

The program as presented follows: Tuxis Boys' quartette, Don Beattie, Don Wilson, Foster Mills and Syd Horswill together with a boys' quartet, Don Brown, Paul Hielscher, Gordon Pickard and Bob Graham rendered "Praise My Soul"; Colin Baker "Duna" and "Passing By"; Mrs. James Johnston, "Dawn" by Pearl Curran and an encore; Donald Brown and Gordon Pickard "Oh Perfect Peace", a duet by Handel; Paul Hielscher, "Cherry Ripe", an old English solo; Mrs. Margaret S. Fraser, "Prestissimo, Opus 2, No. 1," by Beethoven, and three preludes, pianoforte solos; A. A. Pagdin, "Recessional" by Rudyard Kipling and Beethoven and "Cradle Song, 1915" by Fritz Kriesler and Alice Nattulath; Miss Jessie Anderson of Trail, "Who Is Sylvia" and "None But the Lonely Hear"; Arthur Stringer, "Friend of Mine" by Winifred Sanderson and "The Blind Plowman"; and Mrs. George Wady, "There's a Land" and "Rose in the Bud."

Accompanists were Mrs. T. J. S. Ferguson, Mrs. C. W. Tyler, C. C. Halleran and T. H. Willets.

"Adam and Fallen Man" Sermon Theme

"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in the Church of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday.

The Golden Text was: "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing' (John 6:63.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Serman was the following from the Bible: "And the Lord God called unto Adam, and said unto him, Where art thou?" (Genesis 3:9.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Above error's awful din, blackness, and chaos, the voice of truth still calls; 'Adam, where are thou?' Consciousness, where art thou? Art thou dwelling in the belief that mind is in matter, and that evil is mind, or art thou in the living faith that there is and can be but one God, and keeping His commandment.' "

Church and Home . . .

How the Cleric Can Assist With Family Problems

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.

" The family and the church", is the topic I discussed some months ago before the ministerial association of Butler, Pa., and later before ministers at Camp Mack, Indiana.

After offering a few statements, I answered questions and entertained their contributions, since I prefer the forum method of procedure. We considered ways and means by which the pastor might further family interest in church people and in parents of children who attend Sunday school—preaching special sermons on marriage, family life at home and family togetherness at church; and conducting classes for parents in the church or Sunday school. I told them I believed the hardest place to live a Christian life is at home among our own loved ones, and suggested that our sins at home including our inconsiderateness for one another, our intolerance, our irritabilities, our tendency to nag and find fault with our loved ones and our miserliness with honest approvals and words of endearment, even our proneness to take one another for granted might well be considered often from the pulpit.

Then, as always with ministers, arose the question of the pastor's interview with his parishioners who desire to discuss with him their personal and family problems. We considered the manifest mental hygiene merits of the confessional of the Catholic church. They seemed to see, as certain Protestant leaders have pointed out, that there is need for something similar in the Protestant church; that the pastor who is to conduct most useful interviews must consider the interview as confidential. He should have a good background in mental hygiene and the pschology of family relationships, in all human relationships, indeed. It is well if he is grounded in scientific method. Whereas only one of the married pair is likely to call upon him when there is trouble between the man and wife, he can best iron out their troubles with them when he can prevail upon both to sit down with him and try to look at the matter without hindering emotions. He will have great advantage, of course, if it is known in his church that he and his wife are companionable, and that he is always very gracious to her.

Hard to Diagnose . . .

Stone in Salivary Gland Duct Causes Painful Swelling

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

My attention has again been called to a mistake which is very frequently made in making the diagnosis of tonsilitis. This may occur, somewhat rarely, it is true, in cases of swelling under the jaw.

It is true that tonsilitis causes a swelling of this kind, but occasionally the swelling is due to a small stone which forms in the duct of the salivary gland, and many of these cases go a long time before the right diagnosis is made. In fact, I have a friend, who is a doctor, who went to a medical convention, and got a swelling under his jaw. He consulted a half-dozen high grade specialists who were on the same floor of the hotel he was. None of them fell to the actual diagnosis. About half of them said they thought he had tonsilitis or a swollen lymph node.

WHAT GIVES CASE AWAY

The sympton which is the diagnostic feature and which should give the case away in every instance is that the swelling occurs very rapidly as soon as anything is taken into the mouth. The salivary glands secrete far more material than we realize, and when this material is dammed back by a stone in the duct, it causes quite a large swelling. It is also very painful.

One of my friends recently had a very acute attack, with pain under his jaw, and went to a surgical friend who relieved it by taking five stones out of the duct of the submaxillary gland on one side—stones which were almost as large as gallstones. They are quite easy to take out and the relief is immediate.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

T. Y.: "Please write on the cramping of the feet and legs below the knee, the cause and cure."

Answer: In most instances the cause of cramps in the calf is unknown. It may be nervousness or simply a habit that the muscle gets into of going into cramp when it is in a certain position. This is true of the cramps that occur while in bed and in the early morning. Cramps which come on on exertion and stop the patient while walking are due to spasm of the arteries. The condition is called intermittent claudication. There is no cramp of the muscle itself in this condition. The best treatment is the one enforced by nature—rest. Abstention from prolonged exercise must be carried out for a year or more. The use of hot baths, contrast baths, massage and daily periods of elevation of the feet, alternating with putting the feet in a dependent position, may give relief.

Serial Story . . .

Dead Reckoning

By BRUCE HAMILTON

CHAPTER 28

Then a week-end intervened between Adams' queer actions. Tim spent it, as he now often did, in London, and on Monday morning he drove straight from town to his surgery. He did not exchange more than a dozen words with Adams during the day. Since Esther's death he had formed the habit of taking his lunch in the town, and as he had arranged to dine informally with Harold Arkwright at an early hour in the evening, he did not get back to The Wilderness at all until a little after half past 10.

As he crossed the gravel drive after putting away his car, he noticed that the light was burning in the billiard room. He hung up his overcoat and went along to investigate. Going through the little conservatory connecting the main buliding with the billiard room, he became aware of the click of the balls. It gave him a most curious feeling—as if he were an intruder in someone else's house.

He opened the door. As he had surmised, it was Adams. The shaded lights were concentrated on the green cloth, and Adams was about to make a stroke. He could not have failed to hear the noise made by Tim's entry, but he made no sign. He completed a cannon from hand, which left the balls bunched together against the top cushion, and only then looked up.

"Good evening, sir," he said. "Hope you don't mind me having a knock up?"

His voice was rather thick. Tim at once realized he had been drinking. Yet his manner was not disrespectful. But it was peculiar; it was as though he had been warmed into a conditional geniality, which he would maintain so long as nobody crossed him. He was smiling, but there was a watchful look in his eyes, suggesting that for all his good fellowship, he was ready to take offense on the smallest provocation. Tim had encountered a good many drunks of this type in the army, and he thought he knew how to handle them. It was certainly no time for recrimination, unless he was prepared for a scene.

"Glad to see you enjoying yourself, Adams," he said mildly.

"That's all right, then." Adams moved round to the top of the table, chalking his cue and frowning at the balls. "Trouble about that drop cannon, it's a gamble," he said. "You may find a dozen nurseries on, or you may run into a cover, like this here."

He raised the butt end of his cue. Now for some people it is genuinely possible to play a better game of billiards when slightly under the influence of liquor than when sober. The loss in exactiture is compensated for by the increase in confidence, which is more than half the battle. But the masse shot, the most difficult in the game, requiring the most delicate precision in execution, is not subject to this rule. Adams made a bad mess of it. The end of his cue skidded off his ball and came into violent contact with the table. The cloth was not cut, but the cue tip came off.

"Blast!" said Adams. He dabbed at the cloth with his finger. "That's always liable to happen. . . . Look here, it's no fun playing by oneself. What d'you say to a couple of hundred up, sir? I'll give you a hundred."

Tim realized he had to play or have a row. Physically timid, he shirked an encounter with the man in his present condition. He would defer a consideration of the larger aspects of the situation until tomorrow.

"All right," he said. "Will you break?"

"O. K.," replied Adams. He selected another cue, squinted down it at arm's length, and ran it half a dozen times through his fingers. "Pleasure to play on this table of yours," he added, with condescention. "It's old, but real class. Not that you couldn't do with a new set of cushions. But you can play real billiards on it, not like The Goose Quill. I've always said so."

"You know it of old, then?" said Tim.

"Lord yes. Must have played on it hundreds of times. When you were out to dinner, mostly. You didn't know that, did you?"

"I can't say I did."

"Always left it in apple pie order, though. Nothing for you to complain about. . . . Look here, Mr. Kennedy, we'd better have something on it. Quid about your mark? Or about 10 bob?"

"I would prefer 10 bob." Tim's role of good-humored indulgence was becoming harder to sustain. "I don't claim to be in your class, you know."

"Well, I'm giving you a hundred." They played for about 10 minutes. Then, after making a break of 27, Adams reverted to the servant. "Can I get you a drink, sir?" he asked. "Thirsty game this."

"Not for me, thanks," said Tim. "But help yourself."

"Thanks, I will." There was a decanter and syphons in a small cupboard in the room. Adams helped himself to about four fingers ,and splashed in a little soda. "Here goes!" he said.

It was Tim's turn. He shaped to make an easy in off the white to a top pocket. "Here, wait a minute," said Adams. "If you play that shot you'll only have the white left to play with. Take the red, left-hand side low down, not too hard, and you'll have a nice game on." Tim tried the shot recommended. His ball rocked in the pocket but did not fall.

"Hard cheese," said Adams. "Trouble is you got on too much. That's what's wrong with you inexperienced players. If a shot needs side, you always try to crowd on too much."

They played on. Adams continued to give advice, but Tim generally broke down when he took it. He began to realize that this was his opponent's intention. The advice was good for a player of a fair degree of skill, but it usually involved playing a hard shot for position in preference to an easy one for a certain score, and Tim was just not good enough. All the same, he did fairly well, pushing his score forward by little breaks of 10 or so, while Adams seemed to have lost touch and broke down at the simplest shoes. When the score stood at 150-69 in Tim's favor, Adams grumbled. "Can't get going at all. . . . Look here, I like being up against it, what d'you say to doubling the stake?"

"All right," Tim replied complacently. It occurred to him that he had Adams where he wanted him; that last drink had clearly put him off his game, and it was a good opportunity to teach him a lession. . . . He would return the sovereign the next morning, and in an atmosphere of magnanimity he would be able to administer a very necessary reproof.

But now an unpleasant change came over the game. Adams began to play his shots with a new certainty; he made a break of 19 and then one of 35. Directly the balls ran awkwardly he closed the game up with a safety shot. Tim realized he had been fooled. The knowledge made him angry, and roused all his pertinacity. He still held a substantial advantage and he would win in spite of everything.

He bega nto play with great care and deliberation, giving back safety for safety. After a little fencing of this kind Tim was surprised to see Adams pick up the balls and spot them. "Here, what are you up to?" he protested.

"I'm spotting them," said Adams with a grin. "That was the third consecutive miss, you should have played at a ball that time. . . . Go over and read the rules if you don't believe me."

Tim said nothing, but concentrated the more. A little later he fluked an all-round cannon, which left him well placed at the top of the table. He got to 17, and seemed good for some more, when a clatter caused him to miscue. Adams had dropped his cue. . . .

"Here, I'm real sorry," said Adams. "Can't count that; I put you off. Spot 'em and carry on." The generosity was more apparent than real. Tim had lost a good position, and was confronted with the long white loser from hand, a shot he never found easy at the best of times. He was upset, and missed badly. Thereupon Adams took charge, and ran out at 200-182 with an unfinished break of 40 odd.

Tim paid up with as good a grace as he could muster.

"Thanks," said Adams. "You didn't do so badly, but I guess I taught you a thing or two. One has to pay for experience, you know." His grin was familiar and definitely unpleasant.

"Well, I'm going to bed." Tim tried to regain a little authority, as though the whole affair had been a studied condescension. "Put on the cloth and close up, will you, Adams?"

Adams nodded.

"All right, you go to bed. Thanks for the game, we must have some more."

Tim went out without replying.

English, American Critics Praise Latest Book by Mazo de la Roche

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (CP).—How a contemporary boy and girl, objectively considered, look and sound to a parent with uncommon gifts of reportage, is a feature which appeals to a book-reviewer for the New York Herald Tribune, in her comment on "The Very House" by Mazo de la Roche, the Canadian author now living in England with her adopted children.

"The children. . . have grown just enough older to be articulate without losing their charm," the reviewer says. "Indeed they are just that more charming. . . The impulse to quote what they say is all but overpowering, they say such unexpected things."

Across the Atlantic, the London Times reviewer also speaks of the Canadian's new book. He mentions the two small children of Miss de la Roche's former book "Besides a Norman Tower," grown in "The Very House" to be five and six years old.

"The infant hero and heroine become enchanting to a larger public than their mother, nurse and faithful chronicler. Something of the fleeting grace, the airy, poignant loveliness of early childhood has been captured by another patient worshipper."

The Boston Transcript says of the new book:

"Delicate and deft as is the treatment, the children emerge rounded and perfect, with a solid English background. All the time you are reading you feel the sustained wonder that makes you watch a humming bird, with breath withheld."

This is a menu to show you what trained dietitians eat when they go to a convention. We do not know how many extra calories the girls put on on such a diet, which was only one of the meals served to them. You may get a hint or two from this menu and the recipes, which will help when you entertain. This was a luncheon served to the American Dietitic association at its recent convention held in Richmond, Va.

Today's Recipes

SOUTHERN FRIED CHICKEN—Select fryers of not over two pounds. Dress them carefully and cut into attractive pieces. Chill thoroughly before frying. Add salt and pepper to flour and roll pieces in this. Then drop into a deep layer of hot fat (375 degrees) until golden brown. Remove chicken and drain on unglazed paper. Serve hot or cold. Usually a gravy is made from part of the fat, to which milk and flour are added to thicken.—Janet Cameron.

SPOON SPREAD—Three-fourths cup cornmeal, one teaspoon salt, three tablespoons melted butter, one cup boiling water, one cup milk, two teaspoons baking powder, two well-beaten eggs. Mix cornmeal, salt, and butter, then add boiling water, beating until smooth. Add milk, eggs and baking powder. When well mixed turn into a greased baking dish or pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 40 to 50 minutes.—Sallie F. Hill.

12 Hours From Coast to Coast at High Altitude

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—High altitude flying in sealed, supercharged cabins, with speeds approaching 250 miles an hour, probably will be offered the traveller on United States air transport lines in another 18 months.

Air liners will cruise at 20,000 to 25,000 feet. Operating speeds will range from 235 to 250 miles an hour, as against the current 190 miles an hour.

Thirty-five passengers will be accommodated in seat planes and 20 in sleeper planes. The coast-to-coast elapsed time bids fair to be cut from 17 hours to 14 hours or less westward, and from 15 hours 30 minutes to 12 hours eastbound.

BIG DECREASE IN VANCOUVER RELIEF

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP) — Relief assistance was given to 5144 persons last month, 118 more than in the previous month but a decrease of 1418 from the same month last year.

The amount paid out in relief in Vancouver totalled $163,055 compared with $182,521 during October, 1936.

Free Press Is Right of the People, Dictators Destroy It, Says Hoover

WATERVILLE, Me., Nov. 8 (AP). —Terming free speech, free press and free debate the "very life stream of advancing Liberalism," Herbert Hoover today warned the United States to guard against the "poison" of propaganda.

At the same time the former president asserted in the past 15 years "every dictator who has ascended to power has climbed on the ladder of free speech and free press" and then "suppressed all free speech except his own."

Hoover spoke at Colby college on the 100th anniversary of the death of Elijah Parish, Lovejoy, a graduate of the college and an editor at Alton, Ill., who perished defending his right to print what he wished against slavery.

A free press, Hoover said "is far more than a publishers' privilege. It is a right of the people. But the publishers are its first lines of defense. They deserve the gratitude of the country for the zeal with which they have driven back every attempt at legal restrictions."

Describing propaganda as a "sinister word meaning half-truth or any other distortion of truth," Hoover said it "moves by tainting of news, by making synthetic news and opinions and canards. It promotes the emotions of hate, fear and dissension. . . .

"With still further refinements (since the world war) it has been applied to politics. The great quality of this improved poison seems to be that it must be artistically done. . . ."

"Free speech and free press cannot survive if they are used deliberately to cultivate untruth or half truth," Hoover said.

"In the past 15 years," he continued, the light of "free expression and free criticism" has been "put out in more than half the so called civilized earth. . . .

"So far as it reaches the press our editors maintain hourly battle against it. They have the job of discrimination between propaganda and real news, between untruth and truth. Theirs is a hard job. Considering their difficulties they do it pretty well. They would be assisted if the news services rigidly adhered to the rule that when opinion is news they refuse to quote anonymously. That would be a hard blow to the hate makers."

ATTACK ON BLACK IN U. S. SUPREME COURT IS FAILURE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP). — Three Florida oil companies lost in the United States supreme court today in their effort to obtain reconsideration of recent action on the ground Justice Hugo L. Black was ineligible to sit on the bench.

The court gave no explanation of its refusal to grant reconsideration.

The Florida companies sought reconsideration of the court's refusal on Oct. 18 to interfere with attempts by the security commission to subpoena telegrams sent and received by the companies.

MOTHER HELPED BY KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

"I have suffered from terrible constipation since the birth of my first child. I tried everything. Very reluctantly, I tried your ALL-BRAN with no faith in it at all.

"Much to my surprise, I have not had to take any medicine since starting to use ALL-BRAN."—Mrs. Doris Eyre King (address on request).

Common constipation is usually due to meals low in "bulk." Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies this needed "bulk."

Within the body, this cereal absorbs twice its weight in water, forms a soft mass, gently sponges out the system. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood.

Enjoy this food instead of taking weakening pills and drugs. Serve as a cereal, with milk or fruits, or cook into recipes.

ALL-BRAN is sold by your grocer. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in London. (Advt.)

Policeman Near Death, Two Men Dead, Gun Fight

BEND, Ore., Nov. 8 (AP). — His face shattered by a shot-gun charge in a chicken ranch gun fight, State Policeman E. Ray Pyle lay near death at a hospital here today. Two other men were dead at Redmond, the aftermath of a squabble over cream and egg profits.

Pyle, the right eye and right side of his face blown away, clung to life, sustained by bood transfusion.

Pyle was shot by Gust Olson, 70, a rancher near Terrebonne, 32 miles northeast of here. Olson killed himself with the same weapon after he barricaded himself in a chicken shed.

The body of Andro Dalsgard, about 70, Olson's partner, was found in a bed, his head also managled by shotgun pellets.

He was killed while he slept Friday night.

Tuck and Pyle went to the isolated ranch at the request of A. Q. Stadter, Bend City attorney, who said he had received a telegram from Mrs. M. B. Mitchell, Spokane, asking about a letter she had from Olson, her uncle. Olson wrote "Dalsgard is dead and I'll be dead in a few days."

Tuck said he accused Olson of killing Dalsgard, but the rancher said his companion had gone to town. Tuck turned toward the house. Olson snatched a shotgun from a delivery truck and shot Pyle. Tuck, unarmed, escaped a similar blast when he stumbled and fell as he ran toward his car for a weapon.

"Neighbors said the two old men (Olson and Dalsgard had been quarrelling over division of money from cream and egg sales," the sergeant said.

Television From London to Ship at Sea Gives Perfectly Distinct Pictures

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—The successful reception of television broadcasts by a liner at sea was reported today by Captain A. T. Brown of the Cunard White Star liner Britannic.

The experiments, believed the first of their kind ever attempted, were performed after the ship sailed from London.

The experiments were conducted by engineers of the British Broadcasting Corporation, who set up their receiving equipment in a vacant cabin. Capt. Brown said the Britannic, until it left the English channel, was never more than 30 miles off shore.

"The pictures were extraordinarily clear, and the sound was perfect," he said. "They broadcast special programs from Alexandria palace, in London, and the reception on the ship seemed excellent.

"The pictures were reproduced on a screen about 10 by 12 inches. It was as distinct as if they'd been sending it from the next cabin."

GOOD FOR THE QUINTUPLETS!

Scientists, wise persons, have been looking over the quintuplets, have been arriving at scientific conclusions. One of these is "Adaptive behavior. Very wide variations are noted in their development." There are other findings, which no doubt will be placed on the records and added to the literature that has grown up around these little little ladies, but this will do for the present. The scientists, 200 strong, met in Toronto, discussed the children from many angles, then proceeded to Callander to call on them.

This is where the "adaptive" business became evident. It would seem that the "quints" thought of the visit this way: "Scientists, eh? Well, we'll show them. They may be important in conference, but we're in command here." So each added a little to her usual stunt, simulated a bit of a wrangle, smiled, sang and chattered baby talk until all the eminent visitors could say was: "Great!" "Cute!" "Aren't they wonderful?" and so on. Feeble words; scientific terminology forgotten. Just the exclamations heard every day about the Callander nursery.

The quintuplets rose to the occasion; revealed "adaptive behavior," and made their notable audience forget all about dignity and learning. Children do that kind of thing. They're all little actors, and glad of a chance to "show off" before company; but the quintuplets have had a lot of experience in the entertainment line. It is a talent of capable actors that they know how to "size up the house." The Callander troupe know a scientist when they see one; also the deference due him because of his eminence. Therefore a few extra little touches were given the performance.

"Adaptive behavior: Very wide variations are noted in their development." The little actresses take a bow—and retreat, laughing. Dr. Dafoe is well pleased; but he adds that, while the scientific aspect of his charges' progress is all right, what he is most interested in is the human side of their development. That is a view that will be rather widely held.

MORE ABOUT TOM UPHILL

As leader of the Labor party he complained that he had not been congratulated. He claimed that he and the "sensible people of Fernie" should share in the congratulatory references made to Hon. Gordon S. Wismer upon his appointment as attorney-general. Tom declared that he was responsible—with his constituents—for "My friend Gordon's getting the job." He pointed out that the Liberal candidate opposing him at the election had told the people of Fernie that he would be the new attorney-general if elected. "By beatin' him, I saved the job for Gordon," he explained amid roars of laughter. "And I expect my friend Gordon to treat the people of Fernie right", he added.

* * *

Tom expressed amazement at the premier being made a Doctor of Laws—"not that I don't think it's coming to him"—but "I remember a bill we passed once saying no one but a medical man could be called a doctor". That was to head off the "chiropractors and toe-nail trimmers," and now "I find me old friend, Duff, is breaking the law by becoming a doctor."

He professed to be much concerned over the ways of the premier, for he learned that Dr. Pattullo had taken to tea drinking. He had been tea drinking with President Roosevelt, and now he threatened to start a round to tea parties with all the other Canadian premiers. "It's a terrible thing, this tea drinking habit, when it takes hold of you," Tom warned.

He also deplored the fascination that flying had for "me old friend" and warned the Premier against the fate that overtook the Flying Dutchman in ages past. In times to come, he opined, future generations might know the premier as "The Flying Dutchman of B.C. Politics."

This led to a revelation which had come to him, Tom said. It was that the Liberals got a large Italian vote, because people of that nationality believed that the premier was "a second cousin to Mussolini".

Between the sallies Tom Uphill made pointed attacks at the government, supporting "me friend Rolf Bruhn" who had told of political discrimination in Salmon Arm. The same character of intimidation was practiced in Fernie, he declared.

* * *

Victoria's W. T. Straith, Liberal, supported his Conservative colleagues in a plea for better treatment for municipalities, but just to prove this alliance was not of a permanent character, he went out of his way to praise the Fraser river bridge. This is not a work that is endorsed by Messrs. Anscomb and Hunter. In fact they do not profess to like the manner of its financing, and are, to judge by the number of questions on the order paper, suspicious of its whole set-up.

Mr. Straith also bestowed his blessing on the new department of trade and commerce, and suggested that it was about time that British Columbia stepped out for itself. He did not qualify this, or enlarge upon it, so the house was unable to judge as to either the worth or the reason for the suggestion.

Conservative E. V. (Mike) Finland, successor to R. H. Pooley, K.C., in the domain of Esquimalt, is a quiet spoken, solidly built lawyer. His low, pleasant voice and slowly enunciated sentences, are in sharp distinction from the staccato, machine-gun like words that The Pooley poured out against the Liberal fortifications for a quarter of a century. But the Finland spirit has been trained in The Pooley School. "The government is not one with the people. . . . The voters were promised Santa Claus on June 1, but found that Christmas was a long way off, on June 2. . . . The man on the land must be given more sympathetic consideration. . . . Marketing schemes have not worked well in Esquimalt. . . . Municipalities must receive more aid. . . . Esquimalt, particularly, where two-thirds of the property is owned by the federal government, and is consequently tax free. . . . Vancouver Island must receive equitable treatment. . . . B.C. in asking better terms from Canada, should enter court with clean hands. This would not be so while Vancouver Island suffered injustices."

* * *

Alec Paton, Conservative partner of "Pat" Maitland in Point Grey, which they share with Liberal Hon. G. M. Weir, has had a long experience in municipal affairs. It was natural that in his maiden speech—an address made in the well chosen language of a newspaperman—for Alec was former editor and writer—should be based upon municipal matters. But he went further. He did not see why, if town planning could be successful in municipalities, that proper planning could not be adopted provincially. He suggested how such a scheme could be evolved without cost, by creating a board to study provincial problems; such a board to be composed of departmental heads. Premier Pattullo showed some interest in the proposal, being no doubt excited as its similarity to the now almost defunct—or about to be "defuncted"—Economic council. The council will be merged with several other departments in the new pot pourri that is to be dignified with the name of the ministry of trade and industry. Rumor hath it that Dr. Carrothers, sole survivor of the economic council, is to be deputy minister of the new dish.

* * *

Across the muddy Fraser from Paton's Point Grey is the flat land of Delta. Len A. Shepherd, C.C.F., newcomer to the house from out the mists of Delta, is another good speaker; another quiet, serious man who is interested in municipal affairs, being an official of Surrey. His contribution to the debate dealt further with the worries and anxieties of rural communities. He pictured the meeting of the Union of Municipalities and its difficulties. The influx of poor families from the prairies and elsewhere was a human as well as governmental problem. Its solution was an immediate necessity.

ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers is open to any reader of the Nelson Daily News. In no case will the name of the person asking the question be published.

R. J. W., Nelson—Where is the purest English supposed to be spoken?

It would be necessary to define the meaning of "purest English" which is almost impossible, as a live language is not static; it grows. For example, French-Canadians, whose French is closer to that of Louis XIV. than to that of the Parisian of today, say that their French is purer than that of modern France, but modern France does not agree. Every language may have a pure base but as it grows it becomes a complexity of other languages. English is an outstanding example of this effect of growth.

A. M., Procter—Could you tell me the address to which one must send his application to join the Royal Canadian Mounted Police?

Address it to the Assistant-Commissioner, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Vancouver, B. C.

Quizz, Nelson—Can you tell me what a 'Langshan' is?

It is a breed of small, active Asiatic fowls which are held in esteem by poultry men. There are two approved varieties—the pure white and the glossy black.

P. H., Nelson—What country was called Muscovy in ancient times?

Russia.

SNOW TO HOTHOUSES

In the issue of the B. C. Gazette of November 4 under the heading of "Companies Act" I come across some reference to an application to make a change in temperatures. The paragraph gives notice that G. H. Snow, Limited has changed its name to Hot House Sales Agency. And after considering the whole thing I guess it is only right that hothouses would operate more profitable while there's Snow about.

MOUSTACHES

And this letter from the London Observer will be of interest and of educational value to readers:

Sir,—In your commentary last Sunday on Charlie Chaplin, you mentioned the small moustache as dating from the end of the 19th century. The "nose-warmer" affected by Charlie Chaplin and other funny people was surely born of the war, when subalterns, copied by rank and file, adopted it as a compromise between clean-shavenness and hirsuity.

The "walrus," the "Stanley Holloway," and the very long and spiky sergeant-major type were 19th century. I used to be able to tie a knot in mine. To grow a silky moustache after one has shaved clean for a long time is usually impossible—the "walrus" or the "toothbrush" is usually the best one can manage. The "Viking" is now quite as dead as the shoulder-plaits, ringlets, peruques, and legs-of-mutton. Yours, etc.,

G. Seymour Thompson.

CANADIAN VIEW OF AMERICA

From the Toronto Star: According to the United States secretary of agriculture, two-thirds of the farmers are producing one-fourth of the crops and three-fourths of the children who will be the next farmers. So that if you drop in on an American farm the chances are that you'll find one-third of a farmer raising one-eighth of a crop and three-fourths of a child.

At the age of 3 an Iowa boy milks the cows and drives a span of mules. It would be even more remarkable if he drove the cows and milked the mules.

Texas growers are trying to produce a watermelon that will fit an apartment refrigerator. This is even less sensible than breeding whales to fit a bathtub.

Dr. Telford Has a Great Day Slamming Liberals

Thinks It Fitting Pattullo Should Be Doctor of Laws "Because of Laws He Doctored"; Fears B. C. Heading for "Fascism or Farrisism;" Bruhn Gets in a Few Digs, Too

By B. A. McKELVIE

VICTORIA—After days of hearing itself praised; of being told that it was responsible for all that was good within the province, and even being credited with achievements beyond the confines of British Columbia, the government encountered an entire afternoon of criticism. It was told that it was responsible for ills, real and imaginary of every conceivable character; that nothing about it was good, or praiseworthy.

Two men prominent on the left of Mr. Speaker spent three hours and more in knocking down the pretty figure of a beneficent and glorified government that Liberal members had striven so hard to erect. They said much. They might have said more if Mr. Speaker had not interposed from time to time when he assumed that they were becoming more critical than strict interpretation of the rules of debate permitted.

One critic was the veteran Rolf W. Bruhn, Salmon Arm's Independent, who proclaimed his allegiance to the federal Conservative cause, and gave some comfort to the provincial Conservatives as well, although he declared that he would vote for what he considered to be the wisest and best in legislation, irrespective of who introduced it. The other assailant was Dr. Lyle Telford, C.C.F. stalwart.

Incidentally, Mr. Bruhn was telling the Liberals how they could win Salmon Arm—by good, fair and non-political administration—when Mr. Speaker stopped him, and let the government cat out of the bag. Mr. Bruhn was saying that he had been told that the government might bring in a redistribution bill to eliminate Salmon Arm, and thus remove him from public life, when Mr. Speaker prevented him from continuing on the ground that he could not discuss "proposed legislation" before it was introduced.

* * *

Mr. Bruhn had a grand day. He started by opening Liberal wounds by suggesting that the new portfolio of trade and industry should be given to Harry G. Perry, former speaker, and Prince George's No. 1 Liberal. In the past Mr. Perry has come within sight of the comfortable chairs of the ministry on three separate occasions, but each time his opportunity was snatched from him. Last parliament saw him as a most capable speaker, but this year that too, was taken from him when he hesitated momentarily in accepting it. Now, Mr. Perry is an orphan in the Liberal fold.

From Mr. Perry's troubles Mr. Bruhn turned to his own, and those of his constituency. He charged that Salmon Arm was being discriminated against because it returned him. He had been told quite frankly by his opponents that although he had won the election the Liberal "trinity" in the district would run affairs. It was then that the former minister of public works told the government that if they really wished to force him to retire from public life it could be done by playing fair with the people of the district. In the natural course of events he expected this to be the last parliament in which he would sit, but if the discrimination persisted, then he would again seek reelection.

He charged that the public works department was being used as a club, with which to belabor those who voted against the government. Mussolini or Hitler headed no worse kind of a machine, he said.

It was such things that were turning men from democracy, he warned. He signed for the fairer times when Honest John Oliver headed the Liberals. He would not tolerate the tactics of today

"We are living in a fool's paradise, not caring for the morrow" he asserted when commenting upon the laudatory speeches that had come from the government benches. Resources were being wasted. Patronage was running rampant, and campaign contributions created undue influence.

Mr. Bruhn's criticisms led up to an attack based on an editorial in the Nanaimo Daily Herald charging that the beer barons were able to thwart an attempt to get a new brewery for that place. Such a charge must be met and refuted, or must be admitted by silence, he declared.

* * *

It was Dr. Telford however, who ran the gamut of alleged iniquities on the part of the government. He spoke for two hours and 10 minutes, at times with sparkling wit and again with scorn and satire. In doing so he covered much of the ground that he had ploughed in his radio speeches of the past year. He did, however, announce C.C.F. policy. This had not been done by Harold Winch, who is rival of the doctor for the C.C.F. leadership. The result is that speculation is rife as to wether or not the doctor did not steal a march on his younger colleague

The policies which were wrapped up in the doctor's maiden speech—and a husky maiden it was—were:

Taking over of the liquor business; taking over of public utilities; taking over of grain elevators and the construction of flour mills; a great program of home building; government control of the distribution of gasoline; more and better roads, and compulsory automobile insurance with tests for auto drivers.

The doctor, when challenged in some of his statements, blamed the newspapers from which he said he obtained his information. He apologized for any seeming inaccuracies on his part, and suggested that if the press was at fault that censorship might well be instituted.

He declared that in the present state of roads it was not a highway commision that was required, but a "Cow Trail Commission."

The doctor also gave professional advice to the house on how to raise a baby; "Feed it well; keep it dry and let it alone" he said was the secret of success in the nursery.

In congratulating Premier Pattullo on being honored by the University of B. C., he said that it was fitting that the Premier should be made a doctor of laws, "For," he added, "no man of whom I know has doctored so many laws." This dubious compliment was variously interpreted, according to the viewpoints of the different members.

In another part of his attack on party politics, the doctor said that conditions were leading to "Fascism or Farrisism", a sally that caused much merriment. He further enlightened proceedings by repeating one of the late Dr. Tolmie's stories:

The doctor was addressing a group of physicians at the time that they were opposing professional status for chiropractors, and was contrasting the lot of the medical men with that of his own profession as a vetinerary. "You have an easy time," Dr. Tolmie was reported as having said. "You find your patients in bed, comfortably housed and attended, with everything clean and warm. I find my patients in a dirty stable. But I am not bothered with the competition of a chiropractor, for you can't fool a cow."

Referring to the increased revenues of which the government was boasting, Dr. Telford labelled the ministry "the gold diggers of 1937".

He attacked the voters list, giving instances of names of men long dead; of men who had been absent from the country for years, and those who had moved to other parts of the province, as well as fictitious addresses in support of his plea for reform of voting system. He also charged that the P. G. E. had wasted money in buying timber.

Dr. Telford ha da good day. He enjoyed himself, and a large gallery was amused by his wit and satire—but it seemed to this observer that he used too much ammunition at one time.

NOT SOUND BRIDGE

OTHER THINGS being equal, the man who has two strings to his bow possesses an advantage. If the first does not work satisfactorily, he keeps himself in position to try the second. (Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

Two-Hearts was South's initial bid on this deal and North's response was 2-Spades. South now called 4-No Trumps, North 5-Spades and South took the contract to 7-Hearts.

When the diamond J was led, the declarer immediately defeated his chances of making the contract by discarding a spade from dummy. Trumps were drawn and eventually the declarer was obliged to take the club finesse, which failed, and therefore he was set one trick.

Before playing to the first trick, had South reasoned that if the spades were not bunched, he had a chance to set up the fifth one for a discard of the losing club, his success would have been assured. Had it developed that the suit was not divided four-three, there was still the alternative of trying the club finesse.

SPORTING NEWS

Out of the PRESS BOX

By Eric Ramsden

In reply:

Bill Leaman of Kimberley, peddler of the Dynamiters' dynamite via the Cranbrook Courier, chides the Nelson News thusly:

"This corner at this time takes quite an exception to an editorial appearing in the Nelson Daily News of Monday last, under the caption 'Hockey Again". We don't know, but we have an idea our friend C.B.C. wrote this little item. Notwithstanding the somewhat disparaging to Nelson prophecy that 'fans foresee epic battles between Kimberley and Trail for supremacy of the west', we take our exception to the inference that Kimberley's Dynamiters are a C. M. & S. Co. backed team. This is pretty hard for local fans to digest, when they have on occasion had to dig down, on such times as gate receipts failed to balance expenses. Granted our boys on the team are employed by the Consolidated, at such times that they are not engaged in hockey tilts away from home, but during the intervals, each and every one of them surrenders a true day's labor comparable to that of his non-hockey-playing fellow worker. The C. M. & S. Co. carries no passengers and therefore does not back our hockey team. That, James, my boy, is one of the best known facts in this district, and one we thought you were quite well aware of."

* * *

SOME MORE HOCKEY DOPE FROM BILL

Bill's column is always worth reading and often worth passing along, and we do just that:

". . . Jack Pratt . . . has been in this hockey game for a long while and knows all the ropes, and in addition, despite his experience, is still quite young enough for this robust game. Kimberley and district fans will be delighted to hear that he has been awarded his card.

"Just where Coach Johnny Achtzener will play Jack is something that probably he himself hasn't the remotest idea. Pratt has appeared in fast company both on the forward line and on defence, and now it will have to be decided just where he is most needed and where he fits in the best. This one amateur card should add plently to the strength of the 1937-38 Dynamiters."

FOR MR. KELLY

"While Rossland and Nelson have listed their teams in the press and both show a number of additions that should bolster up these squads until they will be in the thick of the fight all the way, we still think that the Trail Smoke Eaters with most of the old gang back, and several high class newcomers, will be the team the Dynamiters will have to beat. This Trail aggregation can always be depended upon to cause plenty of excitement right up until the last bell.

COLEMAN BOLSTERED

"Coleman Canadians have as their coach this year Jimmy Jepson, a former teammate of Jack Pratt's at Portland. The Crow's Nest Pass town have not been asleep while the other teams have been lining up players and have several imports, the least of whom is not Pat Hill, who worked up a good reputation with Calgary Rangers last year."

Canadians Win in N.Y. Horse Show

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (CP)—Toronto's riding Clelands were at their best today and they brought new honors to Canada at the National Horse show.

They won the first three places in the Brooks' Bright Foundation challenge cup competition, open to British subjects and citizens of the United States. Marshal Cleland, a lieutenant in the Canadian army team, won the event on Margot from the Cleland stables of Troy, Ont.

Marshall also rode Flying Poet and Rosana in the event. On Flying Poet he tied his 21-year-old brother, Lieut. Douglas Cleland for runner-up honors. Douglas was up on Squire, the winner two years ago. After a jump-off failed to break the tie Douglas won the position by the toss of a coin.

Canadian horses also came through with second and fourth places in the class for open hunters, other than thoroughbreds. Marshall Cleland took runner-up honors with Hill Storm, while Margaret Eaton of Toronto, rode the Oriole stable's Cuchulain into fourth place.

In the Brooks Bright Foundation event, only the luck of the toss saved fourth money for the United States. Lieutenant W. P. S. Wright took the prize with Renzo although it was tied in actual competition with Marshall Cleland on Roxana.

Ireland Tackles Scottish Soccer Team Tomorrow

Both Lost in Opening Games of Season's International

ABERDEN, Scotland, Nov. 8 (CP Cable)—Defeated in their opening game in the international football tournament, Scotland and Ireland will meet Wednesday with teams subjected to drastic revision. Wales triumphed 2-1 over the Scots at Cardiff, while Erin's representatives took a 5-1 trimming from England.

Five changes have been made by Scotland's selectors. McKenzie, Brentford and Hastings, Sunderland, replace Massie and Brown, veteran halfbacks, while on the forward line Delaney, Celtic, Smith, Rangers, and Reid, Brentford's sharpshooting winger, are preferred to Main, O'Donnell and Duncan.

ON IRISH HALFBACK LINE

M. Doherty, Derry City and McMillen, Chesterfield, come in on the Irish halfback line for Jones and Brown, and three changes are made in the attack. Brown, Coventry City, McAlinden, Belfast Celtic's inside forward, and Coulter, Grimsby Town, will line up instead of Kernoghan, Stevenson and Madden.

The teams—

MACKENZIE KING

AN INSTITUTION

The message of Mr. Mackenzie King:

"Remembrance day has become an institution in our national life. It is a time of commemoration and of inspiration. It was born of the ideals and sacrifices of the men and women who served in the Great War. It speaks to us of the past; it speaks to us also of the present, and of the future.

"It is most appropriate that the Poppy day campaign should coincide, as it does this year, with Peace Action week (launched by the League of Nations society). Two decades ago the poppy had its immediate association with the fields of battle. It has now become a symboy of commemoration and of service in the ways of peace. It is the visible evidence of our homage to those whose lives were sacrificed in the Great war. It offers at the same time the means by which we may share in an immediate and practical way in helping those who survived but still suffer from the shocks of war.

ENLIGHTENED OPINION

"Peace Action week seeks to develop in Canada an interested and enlightened public opinion on matters affecting international friendship and goodwill. It aims at uniting all who desire peace in an effort to bring into being a world at peace. That surely was the supreme aim of those who served and suffered, and of those whose lives were sacrificed in the Great War.

"A world at peace is obviously the great need of today. As to the future, it must be apparent that early failure of efforts to effect this end is fraught with possibilities of unparalleled disaster to mankind.

"The suffering and destruction which we are at present witnessing on two continents, as a part of the very nature of war, serve the more vividly to recall the sacrifice of the four long years of struggle, and the ideals of peace and security for which those sacrifices were so valiantly made.

"Remembrance day speaks of the enduring place earned for themselves in the mind and heart of our country by all who served in the Great War. It speaks particularly of our continuing obligation toward the dependents of those who suffered and died, and especially toward those returned maimed and enfeebled in health. To many of this number, the purchase of poppies and wreaths for Remembrance day is a very present help in time of need."

Dobbin Starts for Home; Waited Long Enough for Owner

A scene, reminiscent of the horse and buggy days, was staged before the eyes of shoppers on Baker street Monday afternoon.

A dairy horse, left standing by his owner, decided he had waited long enough and away he went, trotting for home.

James Lundy, well known C. P. R. express man, standing across the street, saw Dobbin begin his homeward jaunt, and shouted to every one in general "Stop that horse."

Dobbin's owner, who was entering a store, heard Mr. Lundy's shouts and rushed to the rescue, catching his steed after chasing him for half a block.

ALONG TRAIL'S SPORTS WAY

If you haven't put your long undies on yet, we advise you to do just that. We know all you Trailites are going to take in the Trail hockey club's carnival tonight and although mild autumnal weather prevails outside the rink, it is plenty cold inside. At least it is when your wearing summer underwear. We know, for we're among the few who chanced to learn that the ice was down in the rink and that hockey players were getting their first workout of the season Saturday night.

We were about to enter our room at the hotel when Bob James, boxla goal-getter came dashing down the hall.

"What's the big rush, Bobby?" we enquired.

"I got a chance to practice with the Trail juniors and I'm goin' to dig out the old blades."

In another two minutes Bobby was away.

Thought we. There must be doings at the rink. So, not in quite so big a rush, we also wended our way to the rink. A few persons who had no doubt heard the scraping of blades on ice from the outside of the building, entered ahead.

At least, we thought, it's here. Another great hockey season.

Trail juniors were on the ice and we learned that the Trail seniors, numbering no less than 36, had had a go at it for an hour or so previous. There was a hole in the middle of the ice but skaters managed to avoid it nicely. Another flooding Saturday night, more practice Sunday and more flooding Sunday night, we figured, should put the ice in good shape for Monday's game between Trail and Rossland. Then you will be able to see for yourselves what all this new material looks like.

What a job these coaches have in store for them. Trail seniors, Rossland seniors and Trail juniors each had a turn on the ice with their coaches. the total number of players being nothing less than 100.

As to how these fellows looked. It would be folly to make any statement for besides it being the boys first time out for a year, we must remember that many of them bought tickets to the Trail Firemen's ball Friday night.

* * *

There's one thing we can say that we couldn't help noticing. All new material is young, big and husky. W. S. "Scotty" Ross, junior mentor gets bigger juniors each season.

* * *

Despite Trail having 36 prospects for the team this year we hear that O. H. Nelson, president of the local club was a happy man early Saturday morning when he received a wire from Duke Scodellaro and Joe Benoit, that they would "be back". Having arrived on the 8:30 p.m. train, Joe and Duke sauntered into the rink about 9 o'clock.

Nothing less than the "third degree" would bring out words from these lads. Judging from the way coast reporters got things mixed up the lads couldn't have talked much to them either. Both looked as well as they always do, were quite happy and ostensibly were glad to see ice down in the local rink.

* * *

And we had the pleasure of meeting the man who is to guide the destinies of Smoke Eaters this winter. He is E. F. Piper, who coached the Moose Jaw Millers last season and the North Battleford Beavers the two previous to that. He last played with the Saskatoon Quakers on defence. He seems like a regular guy.

SHANGHAI FALLS

The Japanese advance had no military effect on the French concession, the area packed with foreign refugees immediately adjoining the region evacuated by the Chinese, but it left all foreign and Chinese sections surrounded by Japanese warships and troops.

NOT DEFEATED?

Foreign observers were of the opinion that the Chinese were not defeated south of Soochow creek, where they had engaged heavy Japanese concentrations, but were forced to withdraw to avoid being cut off by a Japanese expeditionary force which was marching up from the south after landing along Hangchow bay.

This expeditionary column was said to be making a strong attack against Sungkiang, a key point in China's communications to the west.

It was believed the Chinese would take new positions several miles from Shanghai in an attempt to bar the Japanese advance toward Nanking.

Japanese forces started crossing Soochow creek west of Shanghai at 8:30 a.m. (7:30 p.m. Monday E.S.T.), meeting with only rearguard action from the Chinese.

CROSSES BRIDGE

A Japanese officer crossed Jessfield bridge—symbolizing the fall of Shanghai—and walked opposite the British defence outposts firing a revolver ahead of him.

A Japanese patrol followed immediately behind him and cautiously examined the first dugout along the railway which the Chinese had evacuated shortly before them. Then warily the Japanese advanced and spread out over the new territory.

Before quitting the region Chinese fired the $7,000,000 Japanese-owned Toyoda cotton mills and several other fires were seen starting on the horizon.

"MOP UP" AT TAIYUANFU

TIENTSIN, Nov. 9 (Tuesday) (CP-Havas)—Complete occupation of Taiyuanfu was left to "mop up" divisions today as the Japanese vanguard drove southwest from the Shansi provincial capital in pursuit of the retreating Chinese army.

Hand-to-hand fighting raged in Taiyuanfu's streets, with the fate of the city's foreign missionary colony in doubt.

According to Chinese claims, Tokyo's most advanced troops reached Singyuan, 22 miles southwest of Taiyuanfu, and were pressing on toward Fenchow, a further 40 miles to the southwest.

The retreating Chinese apparently planned a rally along a line running between Fenchow and Chinghin. Determined to prevent reorganization, the Japanese pressed their pursuit, supported by other divisions which swung south from the Shihkiachwang-Taiyuanfu railway.

A Japanese communique announced Japanese troops entered the Shansi capital at 9:15 a.m. Monday.

Heavy Rain Falls in City on Monday

After the few flakes of snow that fell Sunday night, the Nelson weatherman resorted to rain and cold to make Monday another wet and miserable day.

Chill weather accompanied the rain in the morning and the mercury dropped to the frost point, but towards the close of the day recovered and went to a maximum of 50 degrees. Combined rain and snow totalled .29 inches of moisture.

Slush was to be found on the upper levels of the city early Monday.

M.R.K.'s Teams Filled Without Outside Player

Blue and red colors of the M. R. K. hockey club will again be seen in the Nelson Midget and Bantam leagues when the new playing season opens, and the club has been able to complete its two teams without taking on a single outside player.

The Midget team, almost intact from last year's extremely young but willing crew, has been filled out with ex-Bantams, including most of last year's first string forward line, and the team has age and weight, which it lacked last year, and promises to have speed. The Bantams have completed their lineup with a former M. R. K. boy back from the east, and a young boy attached last year as a learner. Both teams have ambitions with respect to the cups of their respective leagues, including the Bantam cup, which the M. R. K. club has held for the two years the cup has been in competition.

Following are the M. R. K. players:

Midgets — Wilfred Wood, Billy Crossley, Walter Wood, Tom Griffiths, Walter Nisbet, Norman May, Ray Browne, James Brown, John Holland, Jack Argyle, Douglas Winlaw, Victor Graves, John Dunnett.

Bantams — David Slader, Tommy Ratcliffe, Paul Hielscher, Ian Currie, Bernard McNicol, Jack Whitehead, Alex Allan, Harry (Red) Wassick, Bill Holland, Jimmy Ritchie, Robert Percival, Jerry Jerram, Richey Wassick.

SCHMELING TO FIGHT NEUSEL

BERLIN, Nov. 8 (AP)—It was announced here today Max Schmeling, as another step in his tune-up campaign for a heavyweight title bout with Champion Joe Louis in the United States next summer, would meet Walter Neusel over 15 rounds in April, 1938.

Schmeling now is on his way to New York to fight Harry Thomas at Madison Square Garden, December 13. He then will return to Germany and meet Ben Foord at Hamburg, January 30 in a bout that already is a sell-out.

Carnera Victim of Technical Kayo?

PARIS, Nov. 8 (CP-Havas)—Boxing circles were divided tonight as to whether one of Primo Carnera's sparring partners could claim a "technical knockout" over the one-time world's heavyweight champion.

The "man mountain" was working out for newspapermen Saturday with the French boxer Delleau. Carnera, overconfident left himself wide open and was sent to the canvas with an uppercut.

The one-time champion wasn't out but he decided to call it quits for the day and returned to his hotel.

Walter Hammond to Play Amateur Cricket

BRISTOL, England, Nov. 8 (CP Cable)—Walter Hammond, England's greatest all-round cricketer of modern times, is leaving professional ranks and next season will play as an amateur for Gloucestershire. It is thought likely Hammond will be seriously considered as England's captain against Australia next year.

Hammond has been appointed director of a London tire company.

WAR INCIDENTS DESCRIBED TO TRAVELER CLUB

Shu Tong Mar First Hand Witness of Scenes

Victory for Japan in the present far east conflict presaged the downfall of democracy; victory for China would be victory for democracy, reasoned Shu Tong Mar, traveller extraordinary, when addressing the Associated Canadian Travelers, Nelson club, at the monthly luncheon at the Hume hotel Saturday.

Japanese claims that they were combatting communism in China was absurd, asserted the former Chinese student of Nelson schools, as he unfolded a tale of dramatic events in Shanghai when war reared over the horizon. It was told simply, but in actuality it must have been a fearful period.

In Shanghai two years ago, when he began working for the government-owned Chinese Merchant Steam Navigation company, Shu Tong Mar said fear of imminent war was apparent. Japanese marines patrolled the streets, and armored cars were a daily sight. The Japanese were building a concrete, steel-lined fortress, strategically placed to dominate the international settlement, that would accommodate 5000 men. Its strength was demonstrated when heavy bombing by Chinese failed to penetrate the structure.

PREPARATION WIDESPREAD

During those two years "war scare" incidents were frequent and preparation for what all knew was inevitable proceeded. Chinese civilians went under military training, air raid practices were staged and bomb-proof shelters were built for government official residences.

International relationships were strained to the utmost by a series of incidents starting July 7 of this year and first intimation that war was on came to his office when all shipping was ordered to leave Shanghai August 12. Shipping operation ceased entirely August 14, when heavy fighting began.

Shu Tong Mar watched aerial combat and bombings from the roof of his home. All business had ceased and there was no transportation. When he walked to the city he saw citizens become petrified with fear when planes droned overhead while others scurried under shelters that were sometimes no more than doorways of buildings.

SAW TYPHOON

When banks opened again and business reverted to near normal, unable to make himself useful at the front, he decided to leave Shanghai. He had great difficulty in finding accommodation, but, a former Dollar Line employee, he found a place on the crew of the President Hoover. He saw the 150-mile-an-hour typhoon that roared down over Hong Kong and left over 100 steamships wrecked on beaches and streets as well as smashing over 1000 junks to pieces.

He saw more bombings by Japanese planes in which refugees fleeing from a village were machine-gunned by the fliers. Heading for the United States he learned the Japanese were ignoring navigation laws when their craft, passing within a mile of the other ships, gave unintelligible answers to signals asking the reason for breaking of the laws.

Summing up, Shu Tong Mar found everything pointed to pure and simple aggression by Japan, similar to acts of Mussolini. The anti-communism pretext was false, he said. The Chinese government had battled communism itself for 10 years. Diplomatic relationship with Soviet Russia had only recently been restored, but there was no military alliance.

To the statement that Japanese were protecting foreign interests, he merely referred to the Manchurian invasion in 1931-32, when, he said, British and American interests were forced out.

It was a united China now. He outlined the educational and economic assistance given by Britain, Belgium, France and Germany for schools, public works and railroads that were providing transportation for millions in China's interior and reconstructing China.

Air-Conditioned Bed Latest Idea

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP). — Inventors—who already have air-conditioned just about everything else—finally have got around to the bed.

Patent has been issued to Michael Batick of Cold Spring, N.Y., for a sort of pipe full of tiny holes to go across the bottom of the bed, on the same level with the sleeper. Attached to one of the pipes is a tube leading to a pump.

The pump sends air into the tube through the pipe, and from the holes on to the sleeper.

TO BOOT BOOTLEGGERS OUT OF CONGREGATION

ALTON, Ont., Nov. 8 (CP).—If any bootlegger is a member of Altom Baptist church "he is going out on the end of my toe," promises Rev. John Hunter, doughty 31-year-old pastor engaged in a campaign "to clean out bootleggers" from this Peel county district 40 miles north of Toronto.

He charged bootleggers told him to "lay off" them or he would die.

SMALL LOSSES RULE AT COAST

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP) — Small losses were in the majority at the close of Vancouver stock exchange today. Trading was confined mainly to penny stocks as transactions totalled 162,115 shares.

Pioneer Gold was down 5 cents at 3.40 while Cariboo Gold Quartz at 1.61 and Big Missouri at 37 each slipped 1. Minto was fractionally lower at 3½ and Bralorne at 7.80, Premier at 2.23 and Sheep Creek at 94 were unchanged. Viking headed trading and closed up ⅝ at 1¼.

Lucky Jim continued active in the base metal section but closed unchanged at 2⅛. Nicola firmed ¼ at 5¼ and Pend Oreille a cent at 1.61. Whitewater at 6¼ and Grandview at 7⅜ eased fractions.

Prices Steadier Chicago Market

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 (AP).—Helped by 1,400,000 bushels decrease in the United States wheat visible supply, wheat prices made moderate advances late today after numerous setbacks largely responsive to stock market unsettlement.

Both wheat and corn reached seasonal new bottom price records. Scantiness of export demand for American wheat persisted, notwithstanding upturns of sterling exchange.

At the close, wheat was unchanged to ⅞ higher compared with Saturday's finish, Dec. 86⅛—¼, May 86⅞—87, corn unchanged to ½ lower, Dec. 55⅛—¼, May 57½—⅝, and oats ⅛—¼ off.

GOLDS HIGHER

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (CP)—Strength of sterling exchange against dollars again favored the gold share market and moderate gains outnumbered losses in the yellow metal group on Toronto stock exchange.

In the early stage Smelters, Nickel and Noranda slipped back a point or more. Nickel finished the day ⅝ down at 46⅞ compared with a low of 40¼. Noranda dropped a point and Hudson Bay and Smelters came up to show net gains of ½ to ⅝. Sherritt, Falconbridge and Ventures posted minor losses. McIntyre and Dome Golds held gains of fractions.

Walkers common sold down to 42 and closed at 42¾, off 1¼ net. Brazilian and Ford A dropped ¼ to ⅜ each and in the oils International Petroleum slumped 1½ to 29½. British American weakened ¾ and Imperial gained ⅛. Calgary & Edmonton, Calmont, Foundation and Mercury were down and East Crest firmed a cent.

WILL INCREASE MILK PRICES ON COAST MARKETS

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP)— The British Columbia lower mainland Dairy Products board, in a statement issued by Chairman W. E. Williams, K. C., today announced new regulations which would increase milk prices paid to producers.

The statement said the regulations would ensure the producer a price which "will approximate the prices paid to producers of milk for the fluid milk market elsewhere in Canada."

The regulations also aim to "increase the minimum of butterfat content in standard milk sold on the Vancouver fluid milk market substantially over 3.25 per cent, which is the leanest milk permitted by government statute to be sold on this market anywhere in Canada."

The board also proposes to reduce the bacteria count permissible in milk for the fluid market from the present maximum of 500,000 per cubic centimeter to 100,000 per cubic centimeter.

Earlier today the Fraser Valley Milk Producers association issued a statement opposing a previous announcement by Williams that milk prices would be raised from 10 to 13 cents a quart, the present prices.

Winnipeg Prices Lowest in Year

Final quotations were ⅛ cent lower to 1¼ cent higher; Nov. 1.11⅝; Dec. 1.07¾—⅞; May 1.05—⅞ and July $1.00¾.

Carryover of liquidation from Saturday and sharply lower Liverpool prices led to nervous dealings from the start with values sinking around two cents. However, good buying in May by easterners and favorable inter-market spreading lifted that future to higher levels.

NEED INTERNATIONAL VIEWPOINT, D. MacDONALD TELLS ROTARIANS

Statesman of Future Must Think Beyond Boundaries; Hemisphere Is Linked for Peace; Rotary Aim

That the statesman of the future must be internationally minded was the conviction expressed Monday before the Nelson Rotary club, by Donald MacDonald of Trail, member of the Canadian advisory council, in an address on "International Service", timed for Rotary's international service week, which throughout the world coincides with remembrance week, embracing the anniversary of the Armistice. Mr. MacDonald's contention was that world relations were now so intimate that every country's problems went beyond its own boundaries, and that adjustment of international questions required an international viewpoint by governments.

Speaking on a program sponsored by A. B. Gilker, Mr. MacDonald recalled when the Nelson Rotary club, five years after its institution, paid a visit to Trail, and interested a group of Trail business men in Rotary principles, which were expounded by Dr. L. E. Borden, the Trail club growing till it was the largest in the Kootenay.

OUTSTANDING OBJECT FIXER

What attracted men to Rotary was its character with respect to service. Admittedly the original Rotary club formed in Chicago by Paul Harris and four friends was just for selfish mutual benefit, its purpose being to bring each member increase of business. Such an organization could not last long, Mr. MacDonald commented, and it had either to die or to branch out. Fortunately it contained within it farsighted men who saw to it that it branched out. Doing away with the self-interest basis, the young organization, which was spreading rapidly, gradually enlarged its objectives, until in 1918 or 1919 it adopted its famous "sixth object", later renumbered as the "fourth" when the objects were condensed, that of international peace, propounded by a professor at Dalhousie university, Halifax.

"We can well look with pride on this object, which originated with a Canadian—to my mind the whole object of Rotary," stated Mr. MacDonald.

With this banner, Rotary extended to practically every country in the world, Russia alone refusing it. Germany now was dropping out of the Rotary circle, but he believed that was not to the discredit of Rotary; though he admitted it was difficult for the countries of the western hemisphere to understand the principles on which Germany and Italy appeared to be acting.

International service, the speaker pointed out, was a subject engaging much interest, especially this week when linked with remembrance week, and no subject could be of greater importance.

UNDERSTANDING FIRST

Rotary's great object was to foster international understanding, good will and peace. Understanding was absolutely essential before progress could be made. If people understand one another, they seldom quarrelled — which perhaps, was not so good for the lawyers. If understanding of each other by different peoples could be obtained, it was not hard to get good will, and from good will between nations to international peace was but a step. Substitution of good will for hate was surely a worthy object, and the first means to that end was understanding.

What could an ordinary Rotary club do in this direction, and what could international Rotary do? Well, any Rotary club, if it had its classifications all filled, was certainly a cross-section of its community, and if every such club worked ardently to create or foster a public opinion for understanding of and friendship with other countries, their collective influence in their several countries would be beyond computation. Rotary was only 32 years old, but in that time it had spread across the world.

WILL TAKE TIME

It was going to take time to create such a public opinion in all countries as to assure a predominating sentiment for peace, admitted Mr. MacDonald, and he feared it would not be accomplished in this generation, but it was a magnificent ideal to aim at, of the order of Horace Greely's advice to hitch one's wagon to a star.

All would agree, said the speaker, that war never settled anything. Even the war to end war settled things only for a little while. If the treaty of Versailles were being written today, it would be drafted on different lines, and possibly it might be something that could be carried out. He was not criticising the able men who drafted the original treaty, but the temper of the world was against being considerate. Today the nations were preparing for war more than ever before.

COST OF WAR

The cost of war today presented problems that existing countries never had to face before. Great Britains' national debt was $4,000,000,000 before the war, and now was 10 times that size. Of the world's national debts today, 90 per cent of the aggregate was incurred since the war. In its two years of war the United States added $27,000,000,000 to its national debt.

It was at this point that Mr. MacDonald declared that the statesmen of the future must look at things from an international point of view. "You can figure out the answers to local problems," said the speaker, "but when you arrive at a boundary you are stuck." The boundary however, was where the statesmen of the future must start. The world was getting small. Flying reduced distances. One could sit in his home and listen to London or Vienna.

Of course Canadians had never developed the war viewpoint of Europe and Asia. They and the Americans, accustomed to cross and recross their mutual boundary line at will, had no reason to live in a war atmosphere.

BUENOS AIRES CONFERENCE

Mr. MacDonald devoted the last part of his address to the Inter-American conference at Buenos Aires, Argentina, last December, the eighth conference of its kind in a series that began 50 years ago, when the nations of the western hemisphere came together for discussion of common problems. At none of the preceding conferences was the subject of international peace discussed—they dared not go that far—though at the seventh conference, held at Montevideo, went a good distance. But President Roosevelt in 1936 believed it could be discussed, and in issuing the invitations that purpose was mentioned, and he himself, and his secretary of state, Cordell Hull, represented the United States.

At the Buenos Aires conference, Mr. MacDonald related, 21 nations agreed on a policy of international peace as among themselves. Later the points agreed upon were embodied in a convention and executed by all the countries.

CONCILIATION METHOD

It was provided that when two of the countries disagreed, and there was possibility of the disagreement persisting to the point of war, each of the possible combatants was bound to consult every other country in the hemisphere before entering upon the step of war. Further, each country in the dispute must submit to all the others each and every proposition submitted to it in the course of negotiations, so they could offer their views. It was also provided that no country should go to war within six months of arriving at the deadlock.

All the countries bound themselves not to interfere in the others' domestic disputes, in other words, to a policy of non-intervention.

In the event of war between two sovereign countries, however, those not original parties were to exercise their own discretion as to their courses of action.

In concluding, the speaker quoted the conclusion of Mr. Hull, in an address in New York, that there was every reason to believe that the friends of peace throughout the world would take increased hope from the Buenos Aires conference.

J. R. McLennan thanked Mr. MacDonald for his address, at the instance of President A. T. Horswill.

Magda Fontages Barred From U.S.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Dark-eyed Magda Fontagnes, Paris journalist who loved "my sweet Benito" —Dictator Mussolini of Italy— and lost, also lost her first round with the United States immigration authorities today.

Without mentioning Magda's having shot former French Ambassador Count Charles De Chambrun, last March 17, because he allegedly broke up her alleged "great romance" with Il Duce, immigration officials nevertheless denied her entrance to the United States.

They ordered her shuttled from the French liner Normandie to Ellis Island.

Magda was given a last-minute reprieve from spending the night on the island when French line officials agreed to be responsible for her appearance, subject to a $1000 penalty if she should "escape", and permitted her to remain aboard the Normandie.
