HITLER MUST NOT CONTROL SEA SAYS KNOX

U.S. Orders Nazi Consulates Closed

To Curb Propaganda and Other "Inimical" Activities; German Nationals With Consulates Ordered From U.S.

By J. C. STARK, Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—In a drastic move to curb Nazi propaganda and other "inimical" activities, the United States today demanded the closing of all German Consulates and three semi-official Nazi agencies in this country by July 10.

A formal note to the German Government also called for the removal from "American territory" of all German nationals connected with the Consulates and the three organizations—the German Library of Information in New York, the German Railway and Tourist Agencies, and the Trans-Ocean News Service.

In announcing the action which was taken on orders of President Roosevelt, Sumner Welles, Under-Secretary of State, said it did not imply a break in diplomatic relations nor affect in any way German diplomatic officials in this country. It stirred speculation, however, that it might serve to hasten a formal rupture of relations.

In any event, it was considered certain that Germany would retaliate promptly, at least by forcing the remaining American Consular officials out of the Reich and German-occupied territory.

On Capitol Hill, Rep. E. V. Izac (Dem., California), said the German Consuls were centres of Nazi espionage and should be closed.

Rep. W. E. Hess (Rep., Ohio), asserted: "It seems to me like the preliminary step to breaking off diplomatic relations, as happened in 1917."

Baron Edgar von Spiegel, Consul-General at New Orleans, declined to see reporters.

Von Spiegel created a furore June 14, 1940, by asserting in an interview that "Germany will not forget that when she was waging a struggle for her very life the United States did everything in its power to aid her enemies." Later he said that he had been talking off the record. The State Department protested his remarks.

Welles said the Government did not contemplate similar action at this time against Italy or any other country.

HONOLULU, June 16 (AP). — "Don't disturb me. Get out"; snapped R. F. Lange, German Consul in Honolulu when told of the State Department order for evacuation of all German Consulates in the United States Without another word Lange resumed work at his desk, dominated by a large picture of Adolf Hitler.

PERSECUTION OF PRIESTS BEGINS IN YUGOSLAVIA

"Resisted Nazis"; In Other Countries Unions Fight

SPY CELLS HIT AT INDUSTRIES

LONDON, June 16 (CP)—Ruthless persecution of priests has begun with the descent of German culture on Yugoslavia, it is reported here.

Wallace King, former Berlin correspondent of the Daily Herald, in an analysis of conditions in Yugoslavia, Norway and Belgium, writes that a "considerable number of orthodox Serbian priests have been hanged because they are alleged to have led the resistance to the Germans."

Others have been arrested and transported to concentration camps.

King continues:

It is now disclosed that when the Germans marched into Yugoslavia they were given valuable assistance by members of the Ustashi Youth Organization—the Croatian Black Guard.

Members of this organization wear a uniform similar to that of the Nazi militant organizations.

Many a motorized German column was guided to its objective by members of the Ustashi. Many a bridge which should have been blown up to hinder the advance remained intact because the explosives had been removed by members of the Croatian Black Guard.

Spy cells in all works, factories, shops and offices in Norway have been created by the Nazi-controlled "Nasjonal Samling" or puppet government, in a new and desperate attempt to break down the resistance of the population.

In Oslo alone there are 230 such cells already active. A large number of officials and managers have been arrested. Unaware they were being spied on, they had criticized the Quisling government or the Nazis.

News has reached London that in Belgium attempts to Nazify the trade unions are meeting with the strongest opposition.

In isolated cases the Germans have succeeded in "reorganizing" some branches, but generally the Belgian workers have refused to continue their subscriptions, remaining loyal to their old leaders and officials.

LYTTON RANCHER KILLED

LYTTON, B. C., June 16 (CP)—Eddie Dunstan, 35, Lytton district rancher, was killed when the car he was driving left the highway 2 miles West of here today and plunged several hundred feet down the side of the mountain.

Late Flashes

OTTAWA, June 16 (CP). — A Rumanian-language broadcast heard by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's short-wave listening post here said tonight 25 German divisions are massed in Rumania.

CINCINNATI, June 16 (CP).—Senator Gerald Nye, North Dakota Republican and one of the leading isolationists in the United States, made it plain today that he desires Great Britain to lose the war.

In an interview, he said that while he has "no desire to see England crushed", a German victory might improve United States foreign trade "by removing our chief competitor."

SHANGHAI, June 17 - (Tuesday) (AP). — Chikayuki Akagi, Japanese Special Deputy Commissioner of the Shanghai Municipal Council and Consular body appointee was shot to death today by two gunmen who fired into his car in the Western district.

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., June 16 (CP)—Premier T. D. Pattullo said on his arrival here today he had no statement to make regarding an announcement of a British Columbia election date.

VOTE CHILD BEST SAILOR OF ALL SURVIVORS

CAPE TOWN, June 16 (AP)—The stoutest and most unafraid of all the 35 survivors of the Robin Moor reaching here today was by common consent the smallest — two-year-old Robin McCullough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. McCullough.

Robin, his parents and all the others were 13 days in open boats and he was the only one who enjoyed it.

The first day of scorching sun burned the childs face but he was otherwise unharmed and only he could stomach the hard tack. In a hotel tonight, still clutching a dried biscuit, he murmured repeatedly: "Robin want tack."

Must Hold on to British Isles Says Col. Knox

MONTREAL, June 16 (CP) — Asked if he thought the British Isles will be made to hold against Nazi onslaughts, Col. Frank Knox, United States Navy Secretary, today replied emphatically: "You bet."

The Navy Secretary answered the question at a Press conference held shortly after his arrival here to address a Victory Loan rally. He came here by plane.

He was questioned first about the Germans' successful invasion of Crete and asked if he thought British possession of the Mediterranean was vital to winning the war.

"The United States doesn't regard the British holding the Mediterranean as vital—but it's important," he said. "But the British must hold the British Isles."

Domination of the seas must also be maintained, Col. Knox added. He said Germany's victories so far have all been "land victories".

"So long as control of the seas rests with the British, Germany can't win the war."

He said that lack of air support was responsible for the British failure in Crete. He described naval power as "not vulnerable" if adequately supported in the air.

B.C. Closing On Victory Quota

VANCOUVER, June 16 (CP). — British Columbia and the Yukon tonight had only to raise another $8,000,000 to fill a Victory Loan quota of $60,000,000.

A sudden weekend surge raised sales of bonds to a total of $52,000,000 with another five days to go before the drive closes June 21.

A total of 63,000 have already subscribed toward the Loan, Provincial headquarters here said.

"The general public must subscribe the remaining $8,000,000 as virtually all the heavy subscriptions have been collected," Loan officials said. "It is hoped, however, that B. C. and the Yukon won't stop at the $60,000,000 mark. It is hoped that this area will demonstrate its patriotism and its loyalty to the cause of Empire by oversubscribing many millions of dollars."

McNaughton Calls on Canada's Youth

LONDON, June 16 (CP)—Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Commander of Canada's Army overseas, appealed to the Dominion's young manhood tonight to enlist for active service.

"Under our voluntary system of recuiting," he said in a broadcast message to Canadians, "a grave responsibility rests with the individual. Accept that responsibility, and come forward for enlistment now."

Gen. McNaughton spoke over a national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in the regular weekly feature "With the Troops in Britain".

He described how mechanization had become the dominating factor in army composition and declared the Canadian educational system had fitted Canadians particularly well for this type of fighting.

"You have a higher level of intelligence and initiative than the enemy. You have that spirit of co-operation or team play which is so essential and in physical fitness and endurance you need defer to no one."

Gen. McNaughton said there was "full scope for every conceivable kind of talent" in the modern Canadian army and young men should not hesitate to offer their services because the Empire could not afford to lose a "single day".

Leary to Represent Gov't in Hearings on Rail Abandonments

VICTORIA, June 16 (CP).—Hon. C. S. Leary, Minister of Public Works, will leave here tonight en route to Nelson where he will represent the Provincial Government before the Transport Board in opposing two applications for abandonment of branch line railway services.

The hearings open next Monday. In one case the Canadian Pacific Railway has applied to abandon the Lardeau-Gerrard service, a distance of 30 miles. In the other the Nelson & Fort Sheppard Railway, a Great Northern subsidiary, has applied to abandon passenger service between South Nelson and Waneta.

H. A. MacLean, Departmental Solicitor for the Attorney-General, will act as counsel in submitting the Government's briefs opposing abandonment of the services.

B.C. Liquor Situation Is "Worst in Canada"

VANCOUVER, June 16 (CP). — Rev. R. J. McIntyre, General Secretary of the British Columbia Temprance League, addressing its annual convention here today declared that "we have the worst liquor situation in Canada in British Columbia."

Calling alcohol a "baby killer," Mr. McIntyre said $200,000,000 was spent on liquor in Canada in 1940.

"At one of the most critical periods in our national history our vital interests are being sacrificed to the enemy of efficiency and democracy," Mr. McIntyre declared.

D. R. Gill, Cranbrook, Awarded His Wings

Pilots who graduated today are ready to proceed overseas for active service with the Royal Air Force.

Among those graduating was D. R. Gill, Cranbrook, B. C.

LOAN HEADS ARE OPTIMISTIC AT LATEST RESULTS

516,000 Individual Subscribers Reported

CANVASSERS OUT TO GO OVER TOP

OTTAWA, June 16 (CP).—Individual subscriptions to Canada's $600,000,000 Victory Loan have reached a grand total of 516,355, National headquarters announced tonight after weekend returns had been compiled.

Total subscriptions at the close of Saturday's business reached $473,984,150 and today's business will be tallied overnight and totals announced tomorrow.

Meantime the army of Loan canvassers is out to carry the campaign over its minimum objective by the end of the week.

"Upon definite oversubscription of the Loan, Canada's Torch of Freedom, symbol of the campaign, will start its trip through Atlantic skies by bomber to Prime Minister Winston Churchill in London," said the Loan Committee.

Loan headquarters said reports were coming in from different sections of the country of "unusual results" and one Toronto canvasser reported making 1535 calls and obtaining 743 applications for a total of $458,000 in bonds.

"Renewed emphasis is this week being placed on the installment arrangements which have been made for purchases of Victory Loan Bonds, by which purchasers can participate in the drive for the tools of war at no additional cost to themselves for a period of six months," said the committee. "Financing is available at the coupon rate of the bonds with a cash payment of 10 per cent of the principal amount.

Tomorrow the Torch with its escort of an officer from each of the armed services is scheduled to arrive in Charlottetown for its third last dedication ceremony. From there it will proceed to Halifax and Sydney.

National headquarters today was besieged from all parts of the Dominion for honor pennants, symbol in each sales units of 25 per cent oversubscription of local objectives. Scores of units now have as many as 10 to a dozen pennants flying below their pledge flags.

A feature of the campaign, the committee said, was the manner in which municipal officials across Canada were renewing thier subscriptions to Victory Loan Bonds.

64 Survivors of Two British Ships Safe, Newfoundland

By The Canadian Press

Sixty-four survivors of two British ships sunk in mid-Atlantic by enemy action are safe in Newfoundland.

Adrift for five days in a small boat, 18 men comprised the survivors of one of the ships which was torpedoed by a submarine. The third engineer was killed and five or six others were injured, crewmen said. The captain and his boatload of 20 men are still unreported and are believed heading for the Azores.

The other ship was both torpedoed and shelled and the crew of 26 was picked up after 36 hours adrift.

58 Volunteers to Active Army From Vernon Camp Report

VANCOUVER, June 16 (CP). — Recruiting officials said here today that not a single man enlisted in Vancouver during Saturday and Sunday. They said recruiting is generally low on weekends but that it was the first time since the start of the campaign that two days had passed without someone joining up.

They said they had received a report from Vernon, B. C., that 58 young men taking their four months training at the Interior city had volunteered for the active force.

Premier to Receive Degree at Princeton

NEW YORK, June 16 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King will make his first public appearance in the United States since Canada entered the war when he speaks before the Associated Canadian Organizations in New York tomorrow night.

Earlier in the day he will receive an honorary degree from Princeton University, Princeton, New Jersey.

VICTORIA, June 16 (CP)—"I can tell you with confidence that the Battle of Britain is not going to be lost; but it does depend on support from here," Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, British High Commissioner to Canada, told the Canadian Club of Victoria today.

In a luncheon address he said there had never been a time so testing as the present for the British people, but that their hearts never could be broken.

"Their hearts are calm, serene, confident, even jubilant," Mr. MacDonald declared, "because they know through all their suffering that their cause is good."

Gibraltar Stengthened Against Attack

The historic fortress of Gibraltar is being further strengthened to combat any attempt by the Axis powers to wrest the guardian of the Mediterranean from British hands. At top one of Gibraltar's big guns points a frowning muzzle from its emplacement cut into the Rock's solid walls. Below British and Empire soldiers swing pick and handle drills as new defences are bored and old defences strengthened. Former hardrock miners from Canada now with military units overseas were sent to Gibraltar to utilize their skill in these operations.

Fight for Damascus and Beirut Intensifies

Offensive Taken by Vichy Troops One Claim

REPORT PLANS TO INCITE THE ARABS

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 16 (AP).—The Allies were reported unofficially tonight to be almost at the gates of Damascus and Beirut while the campaign which they had hoped to hold to a minimum of bloodshed became more serious with each passing hour.

That the defence of Damascus would be a die-hard struggle was indicated by a Reuters News Agency dispatch from Vichy relaying a claim that Vichy troops had taken the offensive in three directions in the Damascus sector.

In the Beirut and Damascus areas, the two main sectors of the Syrian-Lebanese front, British, Imperial and Free French Forces had broken through or forced evacuation of outlying defences by the Vichy forces and tonight the storied capitals of Syria and Lebanon were almost within their grasp.

The Allies encountered fierce resistance as they thrust within five miles of inland Damascus and within 12 miles of Beirut, on the Lebanese coast—their positions as given in unofficial reports.

"In spite of strong opposition offered by Vichy troops," Allies forces captured Kissoue on our right sector and Sidon on the coast," said the Cairo communique of the British Middle East command.

"Although every effort had been made to avoid unnecessary bloodshed in the operation, of which the object was to counteract German infiltration and to forestall arrival of more important German forces, heavy fighting has also developed on our central sector."

By the central sector was meant the river-furrowed uplands between Damascus and Beirut, more particularly the sparsely-settled area 10 to 15 miles inland where the Allies thrust through Djezzine, flanking Sidon on the East. Vichy acknowledged loss of Djezzine.

The Royal Air Force raided the airdrome at Aleppo, Northern Syria, bombing grounded planes and runways. Defending fighters were beaten off. The airmen also covered operations in the Kissoue area, 10 miles South of Damascus, before that strong point was captured.

An authoritative spokesman on the Jerusalem radio said that on account of the steep hills and orchards offering natural defences for Damascus on the Southeast, the Allies may have to encircle the 4000-year-old capital to enter it from the North.

This source said French medium tanks and artillery had been taxing the Allies in the Sidon sector but that British warships in the nearby Mediterranean had bombarded the Vichy defences behind Sidon, halting one column of mechanized forces and putting it to disordered flight.

ANKARA, June 16 (AP).—New German and Italian schemes for inciting the Arabs against British authority in the Middle East to counteract strategic reverses of the Axis in Iraq and Syria were reported today.

The Italian Minister to Iraq, Melleni, who was ordered from Baghdad by the pro-British Iraq Government, arrived in Ankara by plane and had expected to continue to Rome, but he now has been assigned to Teheran, capital of Iran (Persia), as "observer" with the fugitive Rashid Ali Al Gailani, the pro-Axis former premier of Iraq, who fled when British authorities took control.

Melleni was accused of having acted as Axis paymaster in Iraq, financing Rashid Ali's revolt and of arranging to supply arms from Syria for Iraq guerrilla tribesmen.

Axis informants in Ankara said that when he rejoins Rashid Ali he will be in a position to "reinspire the Iraq independence movement."

British pacification of Iraq is nearly compelte. Royal Air Force units have been established as far North as the Mosul oil fields, strong military control has been placed over rail and highway communications, and the roundup of desert bands is proceeding.

A huge German propaganda campaign was reported launched in the Arab world, based on alleged documentary evidence that Britain is negotiating to open Syria and Iraq to Jewish colonization, as in Palestine.

Institutes' Work Stronger Than Ever

OTTAWA, June 16 (CP)—Emperor Haile Selassie in reply to congratulations sent by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Senator Raoul Dandurand on the occasion of his reentry into his capital of Addis Ababa, said he was "greatly touched" by the message.

Mr. King and Senator Dandurand met Emperor Selassie during a trip to Geneva.

U.S. Determined to Keep Seas Free He Tells Great Crowd

Montreal Rally Told War "Has Taught Us" Must Be Joint Rule; Hundreds Jam Aisles to Shake Hand of Navy Scretary

By WILLIAM STEWART, Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, June 16 (CP)—Cheering crowds swarmed about Col. Frank Knox to shake his hand after the United States Navy Secretary told a Victory Loan rally tonight in the Montreal Forum that "The ultimate aim of the Nazis is domination of the high seas," and "This domination, we are determined Hitler must never attain."

Col. Knox spoke to the crowds from a platform bearing huge United States and British flags—side by side. He asserted: "The war has taught us unmistakably that the power to control the seven seas must be a joint rule by sea and air power supported by a sufficient land army to seize and hold the bases essential to the exercise of such far-flung sea and air might.

"To the swift achievement of this purpose, we are on our way," he added as applause swelled from the floor before him and the banked seats.

Col. Knox was introduced by Canada's Navy Minister, Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, who said the Dominion and the British Commonwealth face a "moment of unexampled danger."

"The hearts of the overwhelming majority of Americans beat in sympathy with ours," said Mr. Macdonald.

Rt. Hon. Arthur B. Purvis, Chairman of the British Supply Council in North America, thanking Col. Knox, said the British peoples know that with United States support "we will win."

The present Nazi threat will continue to exist "for the next six months—after that we begin to see the daylight," added Mr. Purvis.

Col. Knox, whose departure from the forum after the rally was delayed because of hundreds jamming the aisles to shout greetings, said that the peoples of North America are confronted with their "gravest threat."

They "must again show the world," he emphasized, "how free men can, and will, cooperate to protect their common way of life."

He reviewed Canada's war effort and the results of the United States' defence program, and added "you have gone further than we have, and yet we have gone a considerable distance."

The United States and Canada faced a "common danger" and Canada had already taken its decision to fight, and is fighting, the "ruthless, brutal force that scoffs at freedom."

"That we are determining to travel the same route—the same self-respecting route—that you are travelling, has been left in no doubt by the recent declarations of my commander-in-chief, the President of the United States.

"I think I know the mind and the purpose of my commander-in-chief. . . . He meant just what he said, that the United States will not stand idly by while Germany defeats the British Empire."

"When your hour of decision came to you and you found, as have we in a similar hour, that there were timid and blind citizens of your country arguing against pursuit of the all-out defence policy in which you believed, we did not, as your neighbor, attempt to tell you what you ought to do.

"I want you to know, however, that the overwhelming majority of the people of the United States hoped in their hearts, and expected, you would make the very decision you did make. . . .

"The people of my country now are at the very hour of decision, when a similar choice must be made, and I should like to express appreciation that Canada respects our right to make our own decision without interference from without. Yet I know in my heart of hearts that you feel now, as most of us in the United States felt in your time of choosing, sure that the decision, when made, will be on the side of human liberty, and its defence—come what may!"

The Navy Secretary paid tribute to the French-Canadian people. He said he made his reference with "especial emphasis, because of the unhappy and terrible situation in which France itself is involved."

Discussing the United States' defence program, Col. Knox said that in the short space of one year, the United States "made over the greatest industrial machine in the world from a peace production to a war production basis."

"We have already spent on this task in actual cash outlay more than $12,000,000,000 and we have available $28,000,000,000 more or a total of $40,000,000,000.

"We have subordinated all else in our way of life to the supremely important requirements of national defence and of aid to the British Empire.

"Spiritually," said Col. Knox, "our people are grimly accepting and understanding the realities of the world situation. All but a few who are either too timid, or too dominated by partizanship to see clearly, have come to recognize that those things which were bought of us by our forefathers with courage and sacrifice, may only be kept for us and the generations to come by a fresh display of these same qualities of the human heart. By a determined exhibition of the spirit of sacrifice, buttressed by resolute courage, we will gain this final victory over the forces of hate and injustice. . . .

"To argue that we must not go to war, even in a just cause, because if we do, we may be licked, is one of the best ways I know of to awaken that fighting spirit that has taken us into every war in which we have engaged and brought us through to victory in the end."

Western Germany Again Attacked

LONDON, June 17 - (Tuesday) (CP). — British bombers again attacked targets in Western Germany during the night, authoritative sources reported today.

BERLIN, June 17 - (Tuesday) - (CP) — The Royal Air Force struck again at Western Germany during the night and German sources claimed today nine British planes were downed.

Bombs fell in residential quarters in several places and caused some civilian casualties these sources claimed.

LONDON, June 17 - (Tuesday) (CP). — A major British bombing attack upon the invasion ports of Occupied France in daylight yesterday brought on a spectacular series of dog fights in which the Air Ministry early today listed 11 Nazi planes as downed.

Then as the light was fading a squadron of the Fighter Command shot down three enemy fighters and a seaplane.

Early today it was learned that another three German planes were shot down over Britain during the night.

C.C.F. WANTED CONTROL OF ALL WAR INDUSTRIES

VANCOUVER, June 16 (CP). — David Lewis, National Secretary of the C. C. F., said on his arrival here today from Ottawa that Canada's major contribution in the war must be in providing Great Britain with the supplies and tools of war.

"To make this contribution effective," he said, "the C. C. F. held it was necessary from the start to take over control and planning of all war industries. This would have avoided bottlenecks and interference caused by the scrambling for war profits and the determination of monopolies to safeguard their interests both during and after the war."

Redmen Scalped by Bruins 24 to 8 in Lacrosse at Trail

TRAIL, B. C., June 16—The Rossland Redmen met the Trail Golden Bears Monday night for the second time, this time in the Bears' den, and again were battered down, the score being 24-8, even a wider margin than in the 20-11 defeat suffered on the Rossland floor last Tuesday night.

The smaller visitors showed obvious lack of practice, both in their teamwork and their shots on goal, as well as checking, but made the game plenty interesting with their fighting spirit, and daring, but abortive attempts to pull down the steadily widening margin.

Archie Anderson, a Rossland newcomer, was the only Anderson on the floor, the redoubtable little Rossland veteran, Georgie Anderson reported to be giving up lacrosse for wedding bells, the exchange taking place next week.

Phil Thatcher, one time Trail junior, who played on the Rossland team last season, made his debut in goal and defended his citadel valiantly, despite weak support from out front.

It wasn't until the second period that the boys settled down to team play, and the play roughened up, Trail drawing 10 minutes. Jim Laface tangled with Jim Kendall in a small scale fight that was nipped in the bud, both men being given a two-minute rest.

Rossland made several nice tries, plucky little Joe Laface capitalizing on one of his sizzlers. Jim Laface added one to Rossland's score in a neat underhand throw past Gallicano, whose impetus to head off the Rossland winger led him head over heels at the precise moment the ball sailed past the Trail goalie.

SPECTACULAR GOAL

Marcus Smith scored a spectacular unassisted tally after corkscrewing his way through a horde of Redmen in front of Thatcher's citadel.

Trail left the floor after the second gong with 10 goals to Rossland's five.

What Rossland lacked in teamwork and practiced efficiency was made up in spirited but ineffectual play which kept the third period hot and exciting until almost the end, when the boys tired.

Rossland's surge play for an opening goal in this stanza looked good, but Doug Finnie sneaked up on a back eddy and popped Trail's 11th goal in from the side.

Ray Scott scored a goal almost two minutes before his teammate Joe Laface got himself surrounded by four husky looking Bears, and left them slightly dizzy contemplating his super-goal, Rossland's sixth.

Marcus Smith again gained attention by scoring on another great effort. This was when the Rosslanders were showing obvious signs of tiring, and Trail was all around the Rossland goal, with little opposition. Gallicano, who got five goals and three assists during the game, gathered up a loose ball and threw it past Thatcher about two minutes after Smith's counter, and Trail's 15th goal, which closed the third session, came from Bob Kendall, who swooped down from one side, across the goal mouth, and up the other side in a perfect arc.

In the last period the Bears added another nine goals to two retaliations, one by Ralph Scott from Joe Laface, and the other by Archie Anderson. Score was 20-8 for the home team when the two Rossland James', Laface and Scott, trotted off the floor for penalties, and Marcus Smith, Jim Kendall and Nick Turik waltzed from centre to the Rossland goal in one-two-three order. The final count was made by Doug Finnie.

Five of Seven Centres in East Kootenay Now Over Victory Loan Quota

Fernie-Michel-Natal and Creston Go Over Top

Two more East Kootenay subcentres, making five out of seven, are over the top in the Victory Loan campaign and East Kootenay Unit has increased its margin over the quota to $70,300.

Fernie-Michel-Natal soared up to $189,900 Monday, $14,900 more than its objective; and Creston climbed to $115,650, exceeding its quota by $650.

Subscriptions for the entire Kootenay-Boundary reached $1,793,850 Monday with the addition during the day of $89,700. East Kootenay reached $720,300 with $51,200 added during the day; Nelson Unit $514,850 with the addition of $23,150; and Trail Unit $558,700 with the addition of $15,350.

Nelson Unit needs $185,150 to reach its objective and Trail Unit needs $191,300, a total of $376,450. With East Kootenay over by $70,300, the net needed for the district quota of $2,100,000 by the end of the week is $306,150.

In Nelson Unit the honor subcentre, the Slocan, was within $10,000 of reaching its self-set goal of doubling its $45,000 quota, having added $3000 Monday. Nakusp added $450, Kaslo $300, Salmo $4000 and Nelson $15,400.

Heading single contributions reported from East Kootenay is the $140,000 subscription of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company in two per cent, five-year bonds. This is a "special names" subscription.

TRAIL UNIT $558,700

TRAIL, B. C., June 16 — Trail Unit Victory Loan total, reported from Trail headquarters, Monday afternoon, is now $558,700.

Trail, with a gain of $7600 Monday, totals $398,800, exclusive of $33,500 conversions, and $68,000 special names.

Rossland's total is $86,750. Conversions total $6000, and special names $10,000.

Grand Forks' official total is $52,400, which shows a $4600 gain. Conversions total $11,000 and special names $5000. Although general information has been received that Grand Forks has reached the $63,000 quota, no official confirmation has yet been received at headquarters.

Castlegar's standing is now $15,600, not including $1000 conversions.

Beaverdell still remains at $200, and Carmi, unreported until Monday, has reported $50, one per cent of the $5000 quota set.

Statistics compiled at the Trail office show that 80 per cent of Trail and vicinity has been covered, sales ratio is one sale to three calls made, and sales average $257.

In order for Trail to reach her $525,000 quota by Saturday, June 21, closing day of the campaign, the salesmen will each have to make daily sales of $385, and total daily sales of the entire Trail crew will have to amount to $21,700.

Figures show that by far the largest group of installment buyers is among those purchasing $50 to $100 bonds, sales in the $500 and upper brackets being few by comparison.

R. R. Burns, M.L.A., was third speaker to send the salesmen off to a new week Monday morning, giving the men an inspiring "pep talk" in the headquarters office. He stressed the necessity of urging those canvassed to put aside "imaginary necessities' for the sake of helping their friends, relatives and fellow countrymen who were standing ready to sacrifice their lives for those now being asked to supply the materials of war."

German-Russian Crisis Seen, but "Face-Saving Formula" Expected

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP)—A "face-saving formula" probably will be worked out by Russia and Germany in regard to German demands on the Soviets, Martin Agronsky, N.B.C. correspondent in Turkey, said tonight in a broadcast from Ankara.

Quoting usually reliable sources, Agronsky said the German Ambassador in Moscow is handling negotiations there personally while the Russian Ambassador in Berlin is under a special representative from the Kremlin.

He added Russia might permit Germany to send expert technicians into the Soviet to regulate Russian factories, with the explanation, he added, that the technicians were given control in exchange for German equipment that will help to increase factory production.

LONDON, June 16 (AP)—German demands on Soviet Russia have created a strain between Berlin and Moscow which will burst in open hostility unless an arrangement for closer economic collaboration can be worked out, a reliable foreign source declared today.

The crisis is approaching rapidly, said this source who has underground contacts with agents all over Continental Europe.

He attribted the situation to German pressure for more oil, grain and ore from the Soviet Union and, on the other side, the conviction of some Russian leaders that broadening German influence through the Nazis' European victories was endangering Russia's own position.

This was said to go so far among anti-German Russians that they fear that Nazi domination of the Balkans and Black Sea, if further extended, might cut Russia down to a second-rate status as a world power.

Russian diplomatic sources refused to go beyond the statements of the Soviet News Agency, Tass, which insist that German-Russian relations continue to be amicable.

This foreign sorce, however, asserted reports from agents throughout the continent tally on the point that the Germans have upward of 1,000,000 troops either massed on the German-Russian frontier or moving toward it to reinforce Nazi diplomatic demands.

United We Stand Divided We Fall Churchill Tells U.S.

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP).—Following is the text of Prime Minister Churchill's Transatlantic radio address accepting an honorary degree from the University of Rochester, N.Y., as transcribed by the National Broadcasting Company:

I am grateful, President Valentine, for the honor which you have conferred upon me in making me a doctor of laws of Rochester University in the State of New York. I am extremely complimented by the expressions of praise and commendation in which you have addressed me—not because I am, or can be, worthy of them but because they are an expression of American confidence and that, may I say, affection which I shall ever strive to deserve.

But what touches me most in this ceremony is that sense of kinship and of unity which I feel exists between us this afternoon.

As I spak from Downing Street to Rochester University and through you to the people of the United States, I almost feel I have the right to do so because my mother, as you have stated, was born in your city and there my grandfather, Leonard Jerome, lived for so many years, conducting, as a prominent and rising citizens, a newspaper with the excellent 18th century title of "The Plain Dealer."

A great poet has sutely said, "people will not look forward to posterity who never looked backward to their ancestors." I feel it most agreeable to recall to you that the Jeromes were rooted for many generations in American soil and fought in Washington's armies for independence of the American colonies and the foundation of the United States. I expect I was on both sides then, and I must say I feel on both sides of the Atlantic now.

At intervals during the last 40 years I have addressed scores of great American audiences in almost every part of the Union. I have learned to admire the courtesy of these audiences, their love of free speech, their sense of fair play their sovereign sense of humor, never minding the jokes that go against themselves, their earnest, voracious desire to come to the root of the matter and to be well and truly informed on all world affairs.

And now in this time of world storm when I have been called upon by King and Parliament, and with the support of all parties in the state and the gobd will of the people, to bear the chief responsibility in Great Britain, and when I have had the supreme honor of speaking for the British nation in its most deadly danger and in its finest hour, it has given me comfort and inspiration to feel that, as I think you do, our hands are joined across the ocean and that our pulses throb and beat as one.

Indeed, I will make so bold as to say that here at least in my mother's birth city of Rochester, I hold the latchkey to American hearts. Strong ties of emotion, fierce surges of passion, sweep the broad expanse of the union in this year of fate.

In that hour of travail there are many elemental forces. There is much heart searching and self-questioning, some pangs some sorrow, some conflicting voices, but no fear. The world is witnessing the birth throes of a sublime resolve. I shall presume to confess to you that I have no doubts what that resolve will be. The destiny of mankind is not decided by material computation when forces today are on the move in the world, stirring men's souls, drawing them from their firesides, casting aside comfort, amusement, wealth and the pursuit of happiness in response to impulses at once all-striking and irresistible. Then it is we learn we are spirits—not animals and that something is going on beyond space and time which, whether we like it or not, spells duty.

A wonderful story is unfolding before our eyes. How it will end we are not allowed to know. But on both sides of the Atlantic we feel—I repeat all—that we are part of it that our future and that of many generations is at stake. We are sure that the character of human society will be shaped by the resolves we take and the deeds we do.

We need not bewail the fact that we have been called upon to face such solemn responsibilities. We may be proud and even rejoice amid our tribulations that we have been born at this cardinal time for so great an age, so splendid an opportunity of service here below.

Wickedness enormous, embattled, seemingly triumphant, casts its shadow over Europe and Asia. Laws, customs, traditions are broken up. Justice is thrown from her feet. The rights of the weak are trampled on. The grand freedoms of which the President of the United States has spoken so movingly are spurned and shamed.

The whole stature of man, his genius, his initiative, and his nobility is ground down under a system of mechanical barbarism of organized and scheduled terror.

For more than a year, we British have stood alone uplifted by your sympathy and respect, sustained by our own unconquerable will power and by the increasing growth and hopes of your massive aid. In these British islands, that look so small upon the map, we stand the faithful guardians of the rights and cherished hopes of a dozen states and nations now gripped and tormented in a base and cruel servitude.

Whatever happens, we shall endure to the end. But what is the explanation of the enslaving of Europe by the German Nazi regime? How did they do it? It is but a few years ago since one united gesture by the peoples great and small who now lie broken in the dust would have warded off for mankind the fearful ordeal it has had to undergo. But there was no unity. There was no vision.

The nations were pulled down one by one while the others gaped and shuddered. One by one, each in his turn, they let themselves be caught. One after another they were felled by brutal violence by poison from within, by sutble intrigue. Now the old lion, with her lion cubs at her side, stands alone against hunters who are armed with deadly weapons and impelled by desperate and destructive rage. Is this tragedy to repeat itself once more? Ah, no. This is not the end of the tale. The stars in their courses proclaim the deliverance of mankind. Not so easily shall the onward progress of the peoples be barred. Not so easily shall the lights of freedom die. But time is short. Every month that passes adds to the length and the perils of the journey that will have to be made. United we stand. Divided we fall. Divided the dark ages return. United we can save and guide the world.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., June 16 (AP) —Eulogized as the "symbol of Britain aroused," Winston Churchill received today an honorary degree of doctor of laws from the University of Rochester.

In a two-way transatlantic radio hookup, President Alan Valentine of the university presented the degree in absentia to the Prime Minister who accepted the diploma in a broadcast to America.

Accepting the award for the Prime Minister, at the university's 91st annual commencement exercises, was Noel Hall, Minister to Washington.

In his commencement address, Robert P. Patterson, Under Secretary of War, predicted the current war would be a long one.

Asserting that peace "is the greatest blessing possessed by man," Patterson said, however, that "we have to work for it, and once we have it we must keep on working in order to hold it."

"Some day, whether in our time or not, whether next year or a thousand years from now, there will be peace," he said. "On what sort of world will it dawn? No man can say. But of one thing we may be sure. It will be a world a great deal worse than ours, or a great deal better. Every wheel that is turning today in the cause of national defence, every soul that is facing the future unafraid, is helping to determine that fateful alternative."

In his citation, Dr. Valentine praised Mr. Churchill's war efforts and added: "May peace with freedom be your crowning work."

"We who remain here," he said, "must dedicate ourselves to the great task that this government by the people shall not perish from the earth."

The text of the citation:

"Winston Churchill: From our cities, hills and plains, sprawling between two oceans; from this new nation, conceived in liberty, our hearts speak out to England. Mine-laden seas cannot divide us from that ancient stronghold of free men nor bombs drown out their steady voices. England and America—our common cause is freedom. You lead that cause in England resisting infection and the hand of war. Your skies are darkened while ours are safe and clear; your coasts beleaguered while our long shores lie open in the sun.

"No need for us to offer comfort, for your bluff words cheer England and cheer us. No need to do you honor, for even time hastens to write high your name. No need to cry 'courage' to the sons of England. When Marlborough goes off to war, no one knows when he will come back, but we know he will not give up. Come the three quarters of the world in arms, and England shall shock them.

"Rochester is an English name and the birthplace of your mother. From England we of Rochester learned the democracy of truth. To England go our scientists and our weapons to help our democracy and yours. And we who remain here,—we must dedicate ourselves to the great task that this government by the people shall not perish from the earth.

"Winston Churchill, no longer historian and statesman, but symbol of Britain aroused,—stout in heart, direct in speech, cheerful in reverses, calm in confusion,—America admires you. No turn of fortune can make us forget.

"To few men has so much been given; of no man has more been asked. Your countrymen have placed on your hands the fate of England at war; your fellowmen will turn to you to help create a world of peace. Can you and Britain, can we in America, acquire the greatness of heart, and vision, the magnanimity for that? Lead Britain to that end, and generations the world over will rise to bless you. May peace with freedom be your crowning work.

"By virtue of the authority vested in me by the board of trustees of this university, I confer upon you, the spokesman of liberty and justice in the old world, the degree of doctor of laws, honoris causa, and with it the hopes of free men and women across this continent."

East Indies Says 'No' to Japanese New Order Offer

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, June 16 (AP). — The Governor General of these Netherlands Pacific possessions, speaking in the midst of an evonomic crisis with Japan, declared today his government had notified Tokyo it emphatically rejected "any thought" of including them in the Japanese-proposed "New Order for East Asia."

Addressing the opening of the Legislative Assembly, Governor-General A. W. L. Tjarda van Starkenborgh Stachouwer recalled Japan's entry into the Rome-Berlin Axis and declared an Axis victory "would spell destruction of the Kingdom of the Netherlands."

He asserted further the East Indies Government would guard carefully against direct or indirect "leaks" of war-important raw materials to Germany.

The Governor General said the Indies are producing war materials essential to the Allied cause, delivering them, and guarding them against diversion.

Reviewing the negotiations with Japan, the Governor General said the Batavia Government had refused to grant the Japanese extraordinary concessions because "a change in our line of conduct, or half-hearted applications thereof, could not be considered."

Italian Order Freezes U.S. Funds

ROME, June 16 (AP).—The Italian Government froze United States bank accounts in Italy today. The Bank of Italy instructed other banks to block the accounts of Americans.

Those who sought to withdraw funds this morning were turned away.

The only United States property in Italy is the Embassy which enjoys extra territorial privileges, but Americans thought the decree would mean the property in Italy of all Americans.

(The speed of the Italian counter-action prevented Americans from replenishing their case by withdrawals from accounts.

No Italian estimate of American property holdings and credits will be available until it appears in the the registrations, but Americans were understood to own shares in about 60 Italian companies. (Washington dispatches estimated the value of U. S. interests at about $142,000,000.)

American circles expected an agreement to be reached for transfer of enough funds for their living expenses after the Italian and U. S. Governments have ascertained exactly what measures each is taking.

The newspaper Il Popolo di Roma declared the United States probably would lose more than Italy from freezing credits which it called "insane stupidity" on Washington's part.

Calling the United States "in fact allies of England," the newspaper declared it was not surprising that Washington took what it described as "robber" action before going openly to war.

BERLIN, June 16 (AP). — A Nazi spokesman today declared the freezing of German and Italian funds in the United States is regarded at the Wilhelmstrasse as "unjustified." He said the entire question is being studied carefully—both as to effects of the American measures and possible German counter-measures.

Ilsley Sends Prize Fish to Officers

OTTAWA, June 16 (CP).—Officers of the Cape Breton Highlanders, stationed here, dined sumptuously today on 23 pounds of Pacific salmon caught yesterday off Vancouver.

The silver-flecked fish which won the first prize of a $50 victory bond in a contest sponsored by the West Vancouver Victory Loan Committee, was presented at noon today to Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Minister of Finance, after having been flown East by Trans-Canada Airlines.

Mr. Ilsley, who was joined by W. C. Woodward of Vancouver, now Special Assistant to the Minister of Munitions and Supply, motored to the airport here to accept the salmon. It reached Ottawa less than 24 hours after it had been caught. Mr. Ilsley issued instructions that the fish be forward to the officers of the famour Maritime regiment.

Terrific Explosions Follow R.A.F. Attacks Across the Channel

A SOUTH COAST ENGLISH TOWN, June 16 (CP)—Heavy explosions were heard across the mist-shrouded channel this afternoon and British bomber and fighter planes crossed and recrossed high above, indicating a heavy daylight attack on Nazi-held bases.

Shipping off the French coast was believed to be among the targets.

The bombarding appeared to be all out to sea, not from coastal guns. The sounds of battle were so heavy people rushed to the seashore to see what was going on.

After one series of heavy explosions coastal watchers saw British planes roaring home out of the haze. There was an incessant drone of many planes high above the Channel. Early this afternoon there was a battle between considerable forces of British and German fighters. Bursts of fire from air cannons and the chatter of machine-guns were heard over the Channel and German Messerschmitts which apparently tried to get over the British coast were driven back.

LONDON, June 16 (CP). — The Royal Air Force swept over the Strait of Dover and the German occupied French coast in daylight today, bombing targets at Boulogne, the Air Ministry announced.

The Ministry said it was unable to give detailed results at the time save that several German fighters were shot down in combat and some British planes were lost.

By FOSTER BARCLAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

LONDON, June 16 (CP Cable).—Following up successful attacks against enemy shipping, the Royal Air Force hammered at Western Germany for the fifth consecutive night last night, causing extensive damage among vital industrial targets.

The Ruhr and the Cologne area were singled out for the brunt of the attacks, carried out by strong forces. Waves of bombers showered high explosives and incendiaries over the targets, starting large fires before the height of attack was reached.

Detailing shipping attacks, the Air Ministry News Service said a vessel of 1000 tons was cornered between Emden and Borkrum, off Northwestern Germany, and bombs were dropped as the planes passed 300 feet over the ship. The mast was carried away and a boat was seen leaving the vessel filled with members of the crew.

Later the flight of bombers sighted supply ships steaming off the hook of Holland.

"When we reached the convoy we chose a 4000-tonner and climbed just above the height of the masts to make the attacks," said the observer aboard one bomber. "As the bombs let go, I was sure they were going to hit. We flew through an avenue of Flak (anti-aircraft fire) and, looking back, the rear gunner saw smoke curling up."

Debris was thrown up by the bomb explosions and the vessel undoubtedly was lost, the news service said. Other ships in the convoy, as well as escorting anti-aircraft ships, were attacked with bombs and machine-gun fire.

Several motor torpedo boats were sighted in the same area. The leading vessel was bombed and set afire. A cargo ship of 6000 tons was attacked as it crept along the Netherlands coast between Vleiland and Haarlem. A bomb hit the prow with a glancing blow and the explosion must have caused serious damage.

A smaller force of bombers attacked docks at Dunkerque, on the Nazi-occupied coast of France, and fighter craft smashed at German airdromes in occupied France.

From all operations three aircraft of the bomber command were reported missing.

(Nazi sources in Berlin admitted that several Northern and Western German cities were bombed by the R.A.F. overnight in "widely scattered raids.")

Meanwhile, enemy activity over the British Isles during the night was on a small scale. One Nazi bomber was destroyed. Bombs were dropped at two points in the South of England but no casualties or damage were reported.

A Nazi E-boat (torpedo-boat) was "believed to have been sunk" as the British planes pressed their week-end search for enemy shipping along the French and Netherland coasts and in German territorial waters.

Fairy Tales Can Benefit the Child

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph. D.

Frequently a parent will write to ask me to settle a dispute over some mode of dealing with a child. Sometimes the letter says, "We have agreed to abide by your decision." Occasionally I am asked to be the umpire between a child or youth on one side and the parents on the other.

Such requests almost frighten me at times, for, as my information about the facts involved must be very limited, undoubtedly I make some bad decisions, just as I must err at times in offering advice by letter on the hundreds of problems submitted to me. I promise to do the best I can and hope my "batting average" will be good.

PROBLEM SUBMITTED

"Dear Dr. Myers: My husband and I have agreed to let your advice govern our decision in regard to the following situation concerning our three-year-old boy. I say that a child's life is filled with make-believe. My own was particularly entrancing because of Santa, the Easter Bunny, the Sandman, fairies, etc. My husband particularly objects to the Sandman because Johnnie awaits him nightly after he is tucked in and actually believes there is such a person. He has asked me to draw the line at Santa and the Easter Bunny and to make him forget the Sandman. His reason for this is that he believes it might cause him to be frightened later on. A self-addressed envelope is enclosed."

DOCTOR'S DECISION

I decided with the mother. Mrs. Myers and I encouraged make-believe in our children during their early years, and the Sandman was among the choicest of their fairies. These children, now 26, 24, 18, recall no fears nor any other unhappiness in relation to their childhood world of fancy. I particularly recall the expression of interest and joy ever reference to the Sandman.

Going to bed for our children was always a happy experience. Bedtime scenes were unknown to them. M. however, going to bed were often an unhappy experience, the word "Sandman" might arouse unhappy association in the youngster's mind. It also could arouse fear and anxieties.

PLEASURE IN IMAGINING

Any creations of the little child's imagination can become a source of unhappiness to him. It need not be. It should not be. It can and ought to prove and endless source of pleasure to him. And what pleasure it can be when we parents exercise good sense and manners, when we are hosts or guests, with the little child, of his fairies!

A word more. The moment your children asks you of the Sandman, Santa Claus, or any other creature of imagination, "Is he a real person?" you should calmly, frankly answer, "No, he is not. We have just been playing that he is." As a rule, the child will not be shocked but will choose to go on pretending.

SOLVING PARENT PROBLEMS

Q. My child is twenty-six months old. He will play with his food or throw it on the floor, How should I punish him?

A. Not exactly a matter for punishment. Have just one food on his plate at a time, and a small portion of it. The moment he plays with it or drops it to the floor, remove the food, say nothing, but let the meal end there and see he cannot get any more till the next regular meal time. This will help make the food more attractive. To slap his hands might make him quit dropping the food but it also might cause him to dislike the food. Physical punishment in connection with food-taking had better be ruled out.

Waistline . . .

Exercises for "Spot" Poundage

By ALICE WADE ROBINSON

If your extra pounds have settled in spots, it's spot exercise for you! By making use of the positions and movements which put the fat-enmeshed muscles to work, you can have a figure as lovely as any movie star's.

Let's say you want to put pressure on the spare tire around your midriff. You can do it with a combination of stretching and twisting, varied with stretching and bending. These exercises are so effective for the waistline muscles that they will trim half an inch off your waistline in a week.

First, the tretch-twist: Stand with hips squarely to the front, arms held straight out to the sides, shoulder-level. Pull yourself slim through the middle of your figure, then, moving the hips as little as possible, twist around to the side. Face front again and twist to the other side.

ALSO BENDING

Now, the stretch-bend: Hold the arms overhead and stretch through the middle—that usually slack region between ribs and hips. Then bend acutely to the side as far as you can without toppling over, come back to position, and bend to the other side. This is not a forward bend, but a side-bend and the trick is to keep your figure pulled up slim, hips in line as you concentrate the muscular pull at either side.

But those waistline slimmers won't do a thing for your diaphragm. A diaphragm bulge calls for another technique and here it is: Lie on the back on the floor, stretched to full extension with legs straight down on floor, arms on floor overhead. At the beginning, you may find it necessary to anchor the toes under a heavy chest of drawers or the foot of the bed. At any rate, practice coming up to sitting position. As soon as you can work without anchoring the feet, progress by bending forward and touching hands to toes. Repeat three times each day the first week, and slowly increase the number.

To trim down the hips, do rolling and leg swinging exercises. A good beginning exercise is to lie full length on the floor and simply roll from side to side, making a point of rolling well over on the fat pads on the sides of the hips. For a leg-swinging exercise that is different lie face-downward on a heavy table with legs straight down, feet on the floor, and raise alternate legs backward to a 45-degree angle.

A slight variation of this leg-work will perfect the thighline. Stand with the back to the table, hips slightly out but hands back on table for support, then raise one leg up as high as you can get it, and swing from one side to the other.

To develop legs that are spindly, walk on the toes—or take up toe dancing. You don't see overdeveloped legs among the toe dancers any more, but you certainly never see them with legs that are too thin. For slimming the legs, the technique is to stretch the muscles of the calf by pointing the heels. It takes patience and persistence to change leg contours, but they can be greatly improved.

EVELESS EDEN

CHAPTER THIRTY-EIGHT

"BILL'S PROBABLY long since gotten over me, and Joel looks upon me as a sister, or a cousin, or something like that," Rita remarked to Eve.

"Wrong, Rita!" said Joel. "Didn't you know that I fairly worshipped you once upon a time? Didn't you know that I had all sorts of delightful plans for the two of us—for establishing you in the old house I'm remodeling just outside Ardendale?" That's it, Joel, old thing! Joke about it, do anything to give the party a lift. It's dying on its feet—it's slumping something scandalous! Go on, poke fun at what was once a sad and lonely period of your life. "Yes," he said aloud, "I used to tumble and toss half the night, sleepless and heart-sick, because you had eyes for Bill only."

Rita looked at him.

Of course she had known that Joel was fond of her, and she had been fond of him also—but Bill had put an end to any sentimental feelings she may have been on the verge of developing for the older of the two cousins. And now, sitting there with both of them on top of a silent and isolated mountain, she was puzzled, not a little uncomfortable, Joel's voice had a tone in it she couldn't understand at all. He sounded a little as though he were making light of the feeling he had once had for her. And it annoyed her. She didn't like it a bit.

"My goodness, Joel, why didn't you speak your heart?" she said presently, deciding to address him in a manner that matched his own way of speaking. "Who knows but what it would have been you I decided to marry and—"

"And jilt?" said Joel.

Rita was shocked. "Joel—please," she said.

"Oh, it's quite all right," Eve said. "I know all about it. You see the boys have made a sort of mother confessor of me."

"You mean Bill actually told you about—us?" said Rita.

"Why, yes. I hope you don't mind."

"Certainly not. Only I didn't expect him to do such a thing. I rather thought it was something he wouldn't want to discuss with a stranger."

"I wasn't exactly a stranger when he told me about the jilting," said Eve.

"And I had to talk to someone," said Bill. "It did me good." He smiled at Eve. "It was comforting to talk to a girl who could understand so well."

"Really?" said Rita.

"Perhaps I understood so well," said Eve, "because I had also been jilted."

Joel frowned.

"I don't think there's any need going into that, Eve," he said.

"Oh, yes, there is!" said Rita. "I'm tremendously interested."

"Anyway," said Eve, "I want to be as honest about myself as I was about Bill. So you see, Miss Linwood, I could comfort Bill so nicely because we'd been through similar experiences."

"Misery loving company," said Rita. "Is that it?"

"No, hardly that," said Bill. "I wasn't especially miserable, to tell the truth about the matter. Were you miserable, Eve?"

"At first," Eve replied. "But I was getting over it slowly when we had our talk. I was reaching that point where I could get a perspective."

Joel pushed back his chair.

(To Be Continued)

Greenwood W. I. Plans Lectures

GREENWOOD, B. C. — At the June meeting of the Greenwood Women's Institute the Directors reported that the final payment on the piano had been made.

Mrs. J. Roylance reported that the Red Cross urgently needed all types of clothing for bombed victims in England.

Modern Methods to Tame a Shrew

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Dear Miss Chatfield: I don't understand women and I don't think they understand themselves. My girl is hard to please. She says she loves me but nothing I do suits her. If I go home early she says I don't love her or I wouldn't want to leave her. If I bring her a box of candy she wishes it had been flowers and the other way around. If I forget to tell her something that seems unimportant to me and refer to it later she wants to pick a fuss with me for holding out on her, when I hadn't even realized I hadn't told her. A married man tells me they are all like this, only most of them hide it until after marriage. It this true? PUZZLED.

Answer: It is not true that every girl is born with a bad disposition, which is the affliction your girl suffers from. Certainly all girls are not selfish and pettish.

However, every girl child is born with certain propensities which, if uncurbed, are calculated to annoy the men. For instance every girl is anxious to be in the know about everything that touches the life of the man she loves and she's dissatisfied if she isn't. She has, too, a fatal facility for trying to get her foot on the neck of the man who will permit it. After she had trodden him down she despises him. This incidentally is one respect in which women do not understand themselves. Any one of them will tell you that she likes a strong man better than a weak one, yet she will nine times out of ten, wrestle for the stranglehold which she doesn't want.

Shakespeare wrote a comedy, "The Taming of the Shrew", which is a classic not only as a comedy but as a pattern to be followed by every man who discovers he has a shrew on his hands. According to his theory the girl who complains that the box of candy should have been flowers should have the box of candy taken away from her and should have no gifts of any kind bestowed upon her until she has made proper amends for her bad manners and humbly begged the boy friend for another chance to show how much she can appreciate a gift.

According to Shakespeare, the most vicious vixen can be tamed if the man in the case goes about it in the right way. The right way being to show her that she can go so far, no farther; to make it clear to her that so long as she's amenable to reason, amiable and apparently pliable she can get the best out of him, but the minute she becomes unreasonable, disagreeable and hard to handle, his ire is aroused and the fight is on.

No man should make bold to marry a shrew unless he has what it takes to tame her and is very sure she can't take what he has away from him.

Woman Describes Adventures With Makeshift Mobile Canteen Taking Comforts to Troops in Outposts

By GLADYS ARNOLD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP). — Describing her adventures with a makeshift mobile canteen, an Englishwoman has written Canadian friends that "the mobile tea canteen is second only in importance to the ambulance" and "if you don't know what to buy — we don't begin to have enough of them."

"They are the 20th century version of the biblical miracles of fishes and loaves," her letter said. "And there are some strange contraptions now serving in emergencies.

For many months she has been driving her own "contraption" in the service of more than 50 searchlight and anti-aircraft gun camps in a Midland county. The men in this area are widely separated and isolated so that they rarely get a chance to get into towns to buy comforts and cigarets, she said.

"There wasn't a canteen available even if we had the money to buy one but we were determined to get things to the men just the same. We fitted up an old car as a canteen, stocked it with oddments such as razor blades, soap, toothbrushes, electric torch batteries as well as 'smokes', sweets, chocolate, biscuits and beverages.

"Just as we were ready to start out a spell of bitter weather set in. I was accustomed to the ordinary English Winter, bu. with the roads deep with snow and covered with sheets of black ice I wasn't very enthusiastic. However we thought about the men out there in their camps and this gave us the courage to start out."

800 MILES A MONTH

In the first month, accompanied by another member of the W.V.S. she covered more than 800 miles. When they could go no further on snowblocked roads they would get in touch with members of the W.V.S. ski-runners in the community and deliver the things from the car.

"It was not long before our services to the outposts increased and we have travelled many thousands of miles and our old car is getting pretty shaky," she said.

The canteen now carries a circulating library of books and gramophone records. The crews use it for posting letters and sending telegrams, while stationery and writing materials are supplied, socks collected for washing and mending or "replaced if they get too bad."

Black Widow Bite Is Very Painful

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I have been asked whether the use of whiskey is a good thing for snake bite or black widow spider bite. In fact, I have been asked in print about it. There seems to have been some controversy between two bankers, one of whom saved a valuable bird dog by giving it whiskey after a snake bite, and the other of whom had a black widow spider bite and was told by his attending physician that whiskey was too much of a stimulant.

I agree with the doctor that whiskey is about the worst thing you can use in either case. It promotes the circulation and distribution of the poison and probably furnishes a good means of solution of the poison.

According to Dr. F. C. Hodges, the treatment of black widow spider bite consists in the application of antiseptics locally without any surgical interference. The muscular pains, which are very severe, should be treated with sedatives. Ten cc. of 10 per cent magnesium sulphate in the vein is the best antidote and a good hot bath for one-half to one hour assists in relaxing the muscular tenseness.

The number of cases of black widow spider bite is small considering the number and distribution of the spiders themselves.

THE NINTH CHILD

Because of the high death rate among both mothers and children, the bearing of the ninth child is apt to be too dangerous to be undertaken. Statistics show a tremendous jump in maternal and child mortality from the eighth to the ninth child, and because of the transcendent value of the mother to a family of eight children, it is officially warned that that size of family is big enough and danger looms ahead.

DIET FOR DYSPEPSIA

Many digestive disturbance of widely different kinds are successfully treated by about the same kind of a diet, which is generally called a "smooth diet." We gave a sample of one day's diet of this kind a few days ago and append herewith another:

Breakfast: Bananas; cream of wheat; scrambled egg; crisp bacon; honey; toast; butter; cream; weak tea or coffee.

10:00 a.m.: Eggnog and crackers.

Dinner: Cream of pea soup; roast lamb; baked potato; beets; rice pudding; bread; butter; milk; weak tea.

3:00 p.m.: Milk and bread and butter

Supper: Cream of tomato soup; creamed asparagus or toast; pears; lemon cake; bread; butter milk; weak tea.

9:00 p.m.: Cocoa and plain cookies.

Britain's Diet Still Nourishing but Food Minister Looks for Canned Imports to Put 'Kick' Back Into Diet

By RUSSELL LANDSTORM
(Associated Press Staff Writer).

LONDON, June 16 (AP).—Britain's diet still is nourishing enough but it lacks the things that "give a kick to life."

That's the latest report from Britain's Ministry of Food.

"We have enough meat to keep up our health though not enough for happiness," explained Lord Woolton, the Food Administrator "The shortage of meat is affecting us more than anything else, because the English meal is built around meat. It's hard to get any real substitute.

"And our diet today is dull, a matter of real concern. It's not enough to have foods high in nutritional value. We must have tasty foods served as colorfully as possible. We must have that to keep up morale."

Lord Woolton is hoping for quantities and canned meats and fish from United States to put the "kick" back in British eating.

The Government has found that, as people eat less meat, they also eat fewer vegetables. A campaign has been launched to increase consumption of vegetables other than potatoes, as a means of giving variety to a diet which permits only four shillings (about 90 cents) worth of meat a week for a family of four.

"One thing is sure," Lord Woolton told me, "there'll be no shortage of onions. We'll have so many onions you Americans won't be able to stand it in Britain."

Despite a cold, late Spring's delay of the growing season, and the impact of shipping losses on the food supply, the Ministries of Food and Agriculture reported Britain is not confronted with a shortage of vital foods.

As to the fundamental foods essential to maintaining physical life, Lord Woolton asserted the nation is generally as well off, and as secure, as a year ago.

"Notwithstanding the unhealthy lives we have been living," he added, "the King's physician tells me the health of the country has been maintained."

Here is a survey, based on offiial reports, of Britain's foods:

Meat—Shortage. Strictly rationed. Cattle production lowered, partly by inroads of hoof-and-mouth disease in several localities. Disease has brought to a standstill exports of livestock from Eire. Hope for replacements in stocks of canned meats and canned fish from United States. Supply of fats adequate.

Milk — Anxiety over possible shortage next Winter. Lord Woolton has appealed to United States for ever-increasing supplies of milk products, especially milk in powdered form.

Dairy Products—Cheese has become rarity. No longer sold in pubs, and most dining places either haven't got cheese or guard supply carefully. Ration hardly enough to satisfy British taste for cheese.

Cereals—No shortage of bread. Campaign, earlier in war, to get people to eat oats was too successful. Oats supply depleted, and oats urgently needed for milling consumption and for feeding horses. Pamphlets now calling on farmers to produce more and more essential foods—especially wheat, potatoes and sugar beets for housenold use; and barley to meet beer requirements. Farmers producing on own land more food for their livestock, especially for cows.

Vegetables — Potatoes plentiful, but Ministry campaigning for more varied vegetable diet to bolster morale. "Dig for victory" drive has resulted in innumerable small gardens.

Fruits, sugar—Banking on large quantities of dried fruits with other non-perishable produce from abroad. Proposed ban on serving sugar for sweetening hot drinks in restaurants postponed. Sugar needed for sweets, particularly for the young.

Rotary Club Sees Moving Pictures of World Voyage

Colored moving pictures of part of a trip around the world, taken two years ago by W. G. Norrie Lowenthal of Vancouver, formerly of this district as Manager of the Relief-Arlington Mines Ltd., were shown by Arthur Gilker to the Nelson Rotary Club at its Monday luncheon at the Hume.

The pictures depicited leaving Vancouver to cross the continent, boarding the Queen Mary at New York, and then scenes in London and in South Africa. The remainder of the films, showing New Zealand, Australia and Hawaii, will be shown next Monday.

Included were scenes of Chamberlain leaving No. 10 Downing Street to interview the King shortly before war broke out. Capetown and the diamond mines of South Africa were dealt with at considerable length.

Norman Bell of the Vancouver Rotary Club was a guest. He is organizing War Savings committees, and he commended the Nelson Club's plan of conducting monthly sales and drawings.

The tentative organization will include the City Council, School Trustees, a Red Cross representative, St. John's Ambulance representative, medical men, utilities men and representative citizens.

Women's Institutes Reminded Food Production May Help Win the War

FREDERICTON, June 16 (CP).—Realizing that food may be even more a decisive factor in the present war than in the last, country homemakers, who form the largest part of Women's Institute membership have stressed the importance of increased production and conservation of food, Mrs. H. Ducie, Dundurn, Sask., reported in her national review of W. I. agricultural activities for the past two years at the annual convention.

"The increased production is for home consumption, the surplus to be cured and canned and donated to Great Britain or the needy at home. Commercial supplies will not be disturbed, more vitalizing foods will result and a substantial reserve created," she stated. Production of certified seeds is an objective of Institutes in British Columbia, Ontario, Prince Edward Island and Manitoba.

PROVINCIAL EFFORTS

Alberta members have a food conservation campaign in full swing with the slogan "not an empty sealer in the pantry." Saskatchewan, Manitoba and British Columbia and Nova Scotia are "going in" for community canners. The Czech settlers near Prescott, Ont., are raising goats to start a glove industry

Quebec and Ontario Institutes have carried out successful rural home beautification projects. Nova Scotia is asking every citizen to enlist as a "soldier of the soil." Prince Edward Island is stressing the importance of better quality for produce.

Blackouts Under the Regulation of Federal Minister

Providing authority for blackouts, either for practice purposes or for actual defence against enemy attack, the Defence of Canada Regulations have been amended to give the Minister of Pensions and National Health control over "the display of lights, the emission of flames, sparkes or glare, the making of noise and the regulation of traffic."

The Minister of Pensions and National Health is responsible for the regulation of civilians in the event of air raids. His powers are outlined in a newly-drafted section replacing No. 35 of the Defence of Canada Regulations.

PROHIBIT OR REGULATE

The section provides for "prohibiting or regulating the display of lights"; for establishing warning signals; for "prohibiting or regulating the use of roads by any particular class of traffic", and "for preventing or minimizing the emission of flames, sparks or glare, or the making of noise so far as appears . . . to be necessary for the purpose of preventing the conveyance of information useful to the enemy or interference with measures taken for the safety of the state."

In the event of a hostile attack police officers may prohibit or restrict the display of any light which would otherwise be lawful under the order.

AREA MAY BE LIMITED

Orders made under the new regulation "may be made so as to apply either throughout Canada or to any area or premises therein."

Occupants of premises or those in charge of vehicles or vessels are responsible for seeing that orders are compiled with.

Provision is made for the designation of "any whistle, siren or other apparatus for making sound" as a warning "of hostile attack or the cessation of danger therefrom."

Significant is the seventh subsection of the new regulation, under which practice blackouts could be held:

"Any order issued in pursuance of this Regulation may extend to exercises and tests for the purpose of perfecting the organization necessary for and facilitating the taking of the measures and steps set out in this Regulation."

TODAY'S SPECIAL FEATURES

Leading a long list of special broadcasts today is the talk to be given by Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Pensions and National Health, at 3:30 p.m., entitled "Health as a War-Time Objective" .The Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, will speak on the C.B.C.'s national network at 5:30 p.m. This address will occupy the time usually held by Fibber McGee, whose programme has been cancelled.

Among musical features headlining today's program schedule is "The Dream of Gerontius", Sir Edward Elgar's masterpiece, which will be presented on the CBC nets from 4 to 4:55 p.m. by the Montreal Musical Festival under the direction of the noted English conductor, Sir Thomas Beecham. Lillian Knowles, contralto, Benjamin de Loache, baritone and William Hain, tenor, will be the soloists, assisted by the Montreal Elgar Choir. The work is based on a poem by Cardinal Newman. Its theme is the dream of the dying Gerontius of his souls' passing to the unseen world, of its reception by the angels, and the mysteries of that world. The music embodies the poignant struggle between life and death, the divine judgment, and the beauteous vision of the immortality of the soul.

Willson Woodside's commentary, heard daily on CKLN at 4:55, will provide local listeners with another of these interesting and informative commentaries on the news of the day from a Canadian's point of view. Pupils of St. Joseph's Academy will present another in the series of Victory Loan studio programmes from CKLN—the seventh which the Daily News station has broadcast freely in the interests of Canada's No. 1 cause. Along with several transcribed programmes and talks, and ten or twelve talks delivered by local speakers, the total time given to the campaign by CKLN has grown to an impressive amount. At least five more programmes are lined up for the campaign. It is hoped that one of them will be given by the Nelson Happy Crew, whose first programme in the series was outstanding. St. Joseph's pupils will be heard tonight at 8:30.

Sir John's Policy

"If you would see his monument, look about you," was said in Latin on the walls of St. Paul's Cathedral, of Sir Christopher Wren, the architect.

It could be well said in Canada of Sir John A. Macdonald, whose passing half a century ago was recently commemorated at Ottawa. For the Dominion, which he formed, could well be said to be his monument.

Apart from the other characteristics of the structure which he, more than any other man, wrought, we may note that he shaped it, after a decade's experience, to have a development on industrial lines. In the 63 years since he made that the National Policy of the young Dominion, every party that has been given political power has continued that policy of having Canada a country of manufacturing and of working men as well as of primary producers.

From a weak country that was almost entirely dependent on the United States for its manufactured goods, and whose own small manufacturing projects were liquidated in every period of severe competition, Canada has developed industrially to a point where it produces almost an infinite variety of manufactures, and its manufacturing capacity is to be reckoned with in world production.

Only a country that had developed powerful industrial machinery could handle war orders recently summarized by the Director of Public Information, as having been placed in Canada up to March 31 last.

Here is the table:

| | |
|---|---|
| Contracts placed, Canadian account—including plant extensions | $ 841,637,206 |
| Contracts placed by Civil Aviation Division for airport construction under Air Training Plan | 17,200,000 |
| Contracts placed, United Kingdom account | 467,000,000 |
| Contracts placed on United Kingdom account under plant extension program, and some orders for output from such plants | 198,000,000 |
| Total contracts on Canadian and U. K. account, excluding some yet to be placed under plant extension program | $1,523,837,206 |

Could any such development have been achieved under a national conception that remained contented with Canada producing raw materials only?

A Mass Give-Away

An interesting sidelight of the exploded Nazi propaganda alleging British peace proposals, is that a plain trail has been laid for all to see, between the Nazi agents, and the portion of the United States press that spreads whatever doctrine Berlin wants spread.

In denying that Ambassador Winant had brought from Britain a peace offer, or "the tenth cousin of a peace offer" President Roosevelt said he had on his desk the proofs that Germany was giving direct orders to its agents in the United States "to spread false rumors of Britain's willingness to make peace."

When in various parts of the United States, on a set day, papers of German affiliations, and papers playing the game of the isolationists, by a remarkable coincidence, come out with practically identical stories, alleging that a peace offer from Britain was flown across the Atlantic with Ambassador Winant—news that only papers of their peculiar stripes have— the source is pretty easy to diagnose.

The papers in question might as well have publicly tagged themselves with a Berlin label; for that in effect is what they did.

And the American people will bear these self-revelations in mind in appraising any counsel they may give respecting relations between the United States and Hitler.

Curious, Nelson—What happens to the property of interned enemy aliens?

Provision is made by order-in-council under by virtue of the War Measures Act for a custodian of enemy property, who is the Secretary of State in Canada. The regulations provide: (1) All property in Canada belonging to enemies at or subsequent to the commencement of the present war, and whether or not such property has been disclosed to the custodian as required by these regulations, is vested in and subject to the control of the custodian; (2) This regulation shall be a vesting order and shall confer upon the custodian all the rights of such enemies, including the power of dealing with such property in such manner as he may in his sole discretion decide. The definition of enemy in such regulations includes "any person who has been detained under the Defence of Canada Regulations during the period of such detention."

H. F., Procter—How can you destroy ants on your lawn?

Ant colonies outdoors may be destroyed by puncturing the surface with holes and pouring in a small quantity of carbon bisulphide. Heavy gas is given off by this liquid, and its effect may be enhanced by covering the nests with sacking. Carbon bisulphide is inflammable and must be kept from contact with fire. Some authorities advocate the use of gasoline in place of the chemical named.

M. N., Nelson—Why are orange blossoms linked with weddings?

The story runs that many years ago the King of Spain brought a few expensive orange trees from Asia. His old gardener cared for the trees till the death of the flower-loving king. The next monarch ordered the garden destroyed. The king's son, who loved the orange trees, asked the gardener's daughter to plant a few roots secretly near her home—save them—and he would reward her. Fearful of the new king's displeasure, the girl decided to go to the queen and tell her the story. Impressed, the queen presented her with five potted trees, and the prince paid her so handsomely that she was able to marry her penniless sailor suitor. When she was dressing for the wedding, the young girl saw a little spray of orange blossoms on her father's garden clothes. She twined it into the wreath that held her veil, explaining to her surprised attendant that she wore it in gratitude, for it was really the orange blossoms which had made her marriage possible. This story quickly spread through Europe and the Americas, and soon it became the custom for brides to wear orange blossoms.

K. R., Creston—How can I rid my steamer trunks of the smell of dampness? They have been stored in the cellar for about ten years.

Plenty of fresh air and sunshine should remove the odor. Paradichlor-benzine (moth crystals) is an excellent deodorant. Place a few handfuls of the flakes in the trunk, then leave it closed for about a week.

M. H., Nelson—Could you please give me a recipe for dandelion wine? I would also like the horoscope for April 1.

Dandelion Wine—Take one gallon of dandelion blossoms and two or three roots and one gallon of water and boil together until the flowers are quite soft, about one half hour. Then strain and add enough water to make one gallon and add four pounds of granulated sugar and six lemons and put in an earthenware crock. Dissolve one half yeast cake in a little water and add to the other ingredients. Place the crock in a warm place until it works. Strain through cheese cloth and bottle. Do not cork tightly and leave until ready for use.

Horoscope for April 1—Favorable influences are operating this year for those born on this date. Make the most of them. You will have financial gain, domestic felicity, also the goodwill of many during the year. Those born on this day usually make rapid progress in anything that they undertake. The lucky day is Thursday.

Press Comment

FISHING STORY

One of President Grover Cleveland's favorite sports was fishing. One day two of his colleagues heard that he was going to a favorite haunt of his to fish, and begged to come along. Aware of his prowess, they suggested that the first one to catch a fish should treat the crowd. The President agreed.

"Do you know," Cleveland later related to a friend, "these fellows were so downright mean they both had bites and let their fish get away."

"I guess you had to treat, then," suggested the friend.

"Oh, no," replied the president, with a twinkle in his eye, "I didn't have any bait on my hook.—Chicago Daily News.

Things Are Not So Bad After All, Says Wife of Trail Worker

To the Editor:

—I have noticed recently several letters comparing the situation of the Trail worker to that of the farmer. Let me state my own case. My husband and I are the ordinary couple with one child. We have been married eight years. My husband goes to work his eight hours at the smelter and comes home so tired he eats and drops in bed for a couple of hours sleep before doing anything else. He is not complaining and neither am I so please don't misunderstand, He does not work from dawn to dark but no human could do the work the Trail man does for more than eight hours. The farmer has the advantage of fresh air. He does hard work, yes, I am the first to grant you that, but does it, on a yearly basis, compare to that of the Trail man?

Has the farmer the expenses the Trail man has to put up with? Many people of Trail are in debt to a certain extent. Can they pull out and go on a farm, leaving them behind? Many people I know would like to go on a farm but cannot for the above reason.

I believe the thing that is lacking (in my humble opinion) is contentment. If we look around and see those worse off than ourselves through misfortune we can't help but be content.

We personally have had several set-backs —hard ones—but I am not complaining—it could be worse. I have farmers in my family, too. A visit to or from the convinces me we are in the same boat. So let us thank God that we live in a fre country and by His grace may it be kept free. Aren't we lucky that we have such minor things to argue about, in the meantime live a free life? If we have a dollar we have fun spending it, if no dollar, we have fun without spending it. The object is to enjoy life but before we can do that we have to learn to be content and appreciate our good fortunes (even if we have to look around for them).

A TRAIL WIFE.

HISTORY REPEATS

"The Law of the Kaiser", which appeared in the Nelson Daily News during the war of 1914-18, might be applied equal force today to Hitler.

This is the law of the Kaiser, and ever he makes it plain
No matter what the dishonor, or the dark indelible stain—
I will be the king of Europe; my domain shall be wide as the sea
No matter the cost to my country's sons, they were born to fight for me.
Make me no "Scraps of Paper"; them will I break in two
And the country that helps me make them shall be the one to rue.
They shall be my door-mat; my soldiers I'll feed with their meat,
And their grey beards, their women, their children, I trample under my feet.
Where they dared to teach their children, be it college or holy site,
I'll leave such rack and ruin, none shall doubt my regal right.
And none shall doubt the help I've had from the God of the Christian man
Whom I took as a partner to help me out in this damned despairful plan.
Wider and wider my borders, black as hell is my way,
From my noble throne I rule alone and have since Bismarck's day,
Hugging my fighting treasure, waiting the time to come
When I'd sweep like a boiling torrent, thro' the land leaving nothing—but scum.
I'm wading thro' blood to my shoe tops, what care I, the blood is not mine.
I must be king of Europe, tho' blood should flood the Rhine.
Why else did I make my soldiers, why else did I make my laws
But to kill the Bear in my triumph, then to smash the Lion's jaws.
One by one I had thought to betray them into my mighty maw,
But one thing I had not figured out was the weight of the Lion's paw.
But what matter, the end will be the same; the Briton's day is done,
He has done pretty well in the past, I'll admit, but no more; his valor's gone;
I'll burst with my masses upon them, scaring them stiff at the sight—?
Of the fighting machine I have welded, that puts every foeman to flight.
Staggering blindly before me, running like hare from my path,
The Briton I'll wipe from the face of the earth, for daring to face my wrath.
And the others—the French and the Russians —I'll grind beneath my heel,
They will not amount to a hill of beans before my rows of steel,
This is the law of the Kaiser and ever he makes it plain
That his country must be pauperized and the sons of his country slain.
But there's things he hasn't reckoned on, such as who is to foot the bill
For making the widows and orphans, by serving the Kaiser's will.
And what of the devastation such as never (praise God) was known,
Must we look for a settlement of that from the foot of the Kaiser's throne.
His plans are falling to pieces, what else could they have done?
His mighty machine arrested, the flower of his army gone.
And what of the jaw of the Lion, was it smashed as it should have been?
Where did he ever learn to say, its bite remains to be seen?
He the mighty transgressor; his the enormous wrong
That has made of a country of heroes, an outcast, homeless throng.
But chickens always come home to roost; they did before Bismarck's day,
And surely the end of this mighty war will end a despot's sway.

Yankees Beat Indians for Eighth Straight Win; Giants Blank Reds

(By The Canadian Press)

Storming toward the top of the American League, New York Yankees bagged their eighth consecutive victory Monday with a three-run eighth-inning rally that downed Cleveland Indians 6-4 at New York.

It was New York's seventh win over Cleveland in 10 games this season and pared Indians first place margin to one game. Johnny Murphy, who pitched only one inning, became the winning hurler. Lefty Gomez was removed for a pinch hitter.

At Washington Ken Chase pitched Washington to a 3-1 American League victory over Detroit Tigers today. Big Buck Newsom, pitching sensation of last year, was pounded for nine hits in six innings and lost his eighth game of the season.

Three-hit hurling by Bill Lohrman gave New York Giants a 6-0 National League victory over Cincinnati Reds at Cincinnati. Johnny Vander Meer opened for the Reds by walking the first four men to face him. He was relieved by Junior Gene Thompson who walked the first man he faced to give Giants their second run.

Jockey Is Suspended

WINNIPEG, June 16 (CP). — Jockey Alex Haller, leading rider at Vancouver tracks last Summer, was under indefinite suspension for rough riding in the feature race at Whittier Park last Friday.

Haller was up on Camp Spur, which finished second to pass Forward. In the same race, the fifth, Taveka, with Jockey E. Stalling up, fell and Devil's Peak came right behind to toss Jockey A. Sylvester off in swerving to avoid a collision. Neither jockey was injured.

St. Paul's took over first place in the Boys' Church Softball League by drubbing the previous leaders, the Prospectors, 25-14, at the Junior Park Monday evening. This climax was a great drive by the St. Paul's players that carried right up from the League cellar.

The victory assured them of at least a tie for first place, for even though they should lose tonight to Trinity in the last League game, they will be no worse off than tied with the Prospectors. A victory, however, will give them the lead with a full game to spare. A win by Trinity will result in a tie for third place between Trinity and T. Y. O.

BILLIARDS HOMER

A father and son act produced a pair of home runs for St. Paul's in the second inning, when an eight-run splurge just about cinched things. Rev. Foster Hilliard, fourth man up in the inning, belted out a long clout, and son Joe, ninth St. Paul's batter in the frame, duplicated the feat.

Ernie Colman, who caught for the Prospectors, hit a homer for the losers in the sixth inning.

Len Bushell pitched for St. Paul's and fanned four. F. Swanson, Prospectors' second-string twirler, struck out six.

Scheme Is to Promote Interest for Senior and Kid Boxla

A new publicity stunt to increase interest for kid lacrosse among Nelson children as well as perhaps promote better attendance at Senior games has been devised by T. A. Wallace, staunch lacrosse follower, with the cooperation of Denis StDenis, Secretary-Manager of the Nelson Civic Centre.

Wallace has been working for some time now trying to reorganize kid lacrosse. He has not met with too much success as far as the kids are concerned, but he is not willing to throw in the towel yet, for he realizes players in kid leagues are the future Seniors.

So his new scheme, which met with the approval of Mr. StDenis, is that every boy with soft-soled shoes and a lacrosse stick should be admitted free to Friday night's Senior game between Trail and Nelson here. And it won't hurt the Leafs at all to have a young cheering section in the stands pulling vociferously for them. Wallace figures this move will entice a few more adults in the relatives of the boys.

He has permission to play a kid game prior to the Senior game. The lineups for this game will be chosen at practices tonight and Thursday. The bantams will practise at 6:30 and the midgets at 7:30.

G. Gelinas Catches a 15-Pounder During Past Week for Trout Derby

No reports have yet been received of the past weekend of catches made over the past weekend for the Gyro Club's Kootenay Lake Trout Derby, while the forms from the various weighing depots about the Lake do not usually come in to committee headquarters until the middle of the week, the fishing was not expected to measure up to the successes of previous weekends this season.

A few older report have come in during the past few days, but the largest fish was a 15-pounder caught by A. G. Gelinas of Nelson at Queen's Bay last Wednesday.

Babe Herman Hits Ball at Fast Clip

LOS ANGELES, June 16 (AP) — Hollywood's Babe Herman is still clubbing the ball at a fast clip and Pacific Coast League batting averages released today showed him with a .385 average although third in the standing he actually is the leader, based on full-time playing performance.

Sacramento's league-leading Solons are still the team batting leaders with .310. Eddie Mayo, Los Angeles infielder, is the home run leader with 12, but his teammate, Johnny Moore, is right behind with 11.

Bomber Still Favored to Win Wednesday Bout

By SID FEDER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP)—The "fight mob" moved in today with all its ballyhoo and fanfare for Wednesday's heavyweight title tussle between Joe Louis and Billy Conn.

As both fighters put the finishing touches on their training — Louis at Greenwood Lake and Conn at Pompton Lakes—Promoter Mike Jacobs estimated the fight would be a success, with 40,000 fans contributing to a gate of $400,000.

Speed and sharpening up were the chief factors in the final workouts. Rain cut Conn's workout down to two rounds. He will limber up in a gym tomorrow. He boxed 67 rounds in his 13 days at training camp.

Louis wound up with four rounds with his two speediest sparmates, George Fitch and Jim Ritchie. This gave the last-day watchers just another indication that Joe will be playing for keeps Wednesday in what shapes up now as his toughest night's work in four years.

He was still 2 to 5 favorite to come through in the 16th defence of his record run as heavyweight champion, and 5 to 8 to do it the hard way—by putting the Pittsburgh pretty boy to sleep. But Conn says these prices are all out of line.

Conn picked himself by a decision, but indicated he won't be surprised if he cut Joe up and the referee has to stop the fight.

To all of which, Louis yawned "That Billy boy he talk too much."

Mixed Doubles Tennis at Trail Next Sunday

TRAIL, B. C., June 16—Play for the Chesser Cup, West Kootenay Tennis Association mixed doubles trophy, postponed Sunday, on account of rain, will take place next Sunday.

Salica Weathers Forte's Punches Then Goes On to Capture Decision

PHILADELPHIA, June 16 — (AP).—Giving a superb exhibition, Lou Salica of Brooklyn retained his bantamweight championship tonight by taking everything Tommy Forte had to offer, then coming from behind to win a 15-round decision over the Philadelphia challenger before 14,500 customers at Shibe Park. Salica weighed 117¾, Forte 117¼.

Forte's best round was the fifth when he battered the champion from the ropes with hard rights and lefts. But Salica weathered the storm and turned the tables completely in the last eight rounds with jab after jab that stung the favored challenger. Salica kept getting stronger while Forte flung caution to the wind and kept throwing desperate punches, hoping for a lucky knockout.

Forte, who closed Salica's left eye in their first round title bout here in January only to lose in the last two rounds, was a sorry mess at the end. His chin and cheeks were cut in several places and there was a lump over his left eye. Salica was virtually unmarked.

The champion's strong showing in the last eight rounds earned him the unanimous decision of Judges Eddie Loughran and Harry Laskey and Referee Irving Kutcher.

Loughran gave Salica seven rounds, Forte six and called two even. Laskey gave Salica nine rounds and Forte six while Kutcher awarded Salica nine rounds, Forte five with one even.

Salica kept backing away during the first three rounds with Forte centring his punches on the champion's stomach, ribs and back. In the fourth Forte landed several hard lefts and just before the bell smashed home a left that spun Salica around on his heels.

The punch spurred the challenger to a two-fisted attack in the fifth. He jumped off his stool and drove home a savage left and right, then brought the crowd to its feet with a series of blows that drove the champion across the ring into the ropes. In close he landed numerous hard rights to the body that obviously hurt the Brooklyn titleholder. But Salica's ring experience kept him on his feet and in the sixth and seventh Forte was unable to follow up his advantage.

The tide turned in the eighth when the champion smashed a hard right to Forte's cheek that brought blood. From there on Salica's jabs kept Forte off balance and made the challenger look foolish on several occasions with wild swings.

The gross gate was announced as $27,693 and the net at $26,308.

Al Nettlow of Detroit, chief petty officer, at the Jacksonville, Fla., navy base, won a close eight-round decision over Irwin Kaplan of Los Angeles in the main preliminary.

Mike Belloise, veteran former welterweight champion from New York, punched out a clear-cut decision over southpaw Frankie Donato from Philadelphia in the first eight-rounder. Belloise, weighing 129¼ pounds to Donato's 122¾, was particularly effective at close quarters and brought blood to Donato's nose in the fifth round.

In an opening four-rounder Frankie Carto, 122, Philadelphia, won a close decision over Johnny Aiello, 121, Wilmington, Del.

Savoy Hotel Ties for Softball Lead by Flogging Puckster Squad 11 to 3

Fisher Gives Three Hits and Fans Sixteen

Cutting loose with big seventh and ninth inning assaults to back up Jack Fisher's three-hit twirling, Savoys moved into a tie for first place in the Men's Softball League with the Pucksters when they cut down the hockey players 11-3 at the Recreation Grounds Monday evening.

The teams battled through six innings on rain-soaked grounds, with the Savoy Hotel hanging on to a slim 4-3 lead. But in the seventh the Savoys salted the game away by smashing across four runs, a homer with one on by Fisher himself leading the attack. Then in the ninth, Savoys brought in three more runs, Sid Ball and Glen Scribner hitting a triple and a double respectively to spark the rally.

Lanky Len Bicknell went the route for the Pucksters, and in the first four innings poor support cost him two runs. Jim Cherrington hit a towering fly that appeared an easy out for Freno in right field but Freno misjudged it badly. While Freno was going after the ball, Cherrington went all the way around the bases. An error by Kapak at third put Walt Gillett on base in the third, and he came around on two passed balls and a wild pitch by Bicknell.

Bicknell drove a double into right centre in the last of the third to drive in Ty Culley, and Bicknell in turn scored to tie the count when Jimmy Allan fumbled Seaby's ground ball to second base.

RUSSELL HOMERS

George (College Joe) Russell, making his debut, rifled a tremendous home run deep into left field in the fifth to put the Savoys ahead again, but in the last half of the frame Seaby got a life when Cherrington failed to hold on to Allan's throw to first. Heady base-running put the Pucksters' Manager in position to score on a wild pitch.

Sid Ball scored the winning run in the sixth when he singled into right field, and eventually came home on a passed ball.

Fisher, winning his fourth game of the season without a setback, found trouble with his control in the early innings, but he finished like a house afire. He issued 10 bases on balls, but he pitched his way out of nearly every hole.

In the ninth he got into trouble by walking Haines and Scribner in succession. Then Ty Culley loaded the bases when the Savoy infield was unable to make a force play at third base on Ty's grounder. With the heavy end of the batting order coming up, Fisher was on the spot, but he struck out Younger, Bicknell and Seaby in a row to end the game.

Altogether, Jack fanned 16 batters, three fewer than last Friday when he tied a League record.

The only other man besides Bicknell to get a hit was Albert Leverington, new Pucksters' outfielder. He secured an infield hit and then was held to one base by fast fielding by McBride later in the game.

Jurges Again Out of Play; Feels "Lousy"

CINCINNATI, June 16 (AP) — Billy Jurges, the shortstop sparkplug of New York Giants' infield, was out of action today for the second straight game and may have to return to hospital for a physical check-up.

Jurges, whose batting average has declined from .390 to .266 in little more than a month, had to be benched after the opening game of yesterday's doubleheader. He was still out today and told Manager Bill Terry he felt "just plain lousy."

Terry told Jurges he should again visit the Mayo Brothers Clinic at Rochester, Minn., where he spent 10 days in March and was discharged in A-1 condition. He entered the clinic at the time because of dizzy attacks he suffered as a result of a "beaning" last Summer.

TRAIL, B. C., June 16—Mercos moved into first place in the Trail City Softball League with a pair of easy wins Saturday and Sunday.

They routed Annable 19-3 Saturday and trimmed the Sasks 8-1 yesterday. The weekend sweep shot them into first place ahead of the Warfield Aces.

Mercos staged a real slugging spree in the first game getting 18 hits from Annable's Ben Marder, Lorne Tognotti did the flinging duties for Mercos and limited his opponents to five safe hits.

The winners played tight ball and booted only two chances, while Annable committed seven miscues.

Pagnan and Tognotti of the Mercos smashed out round-trippers and Ab Cronie a double. Demore, Broverman and Pagnan rapped out a double apiece.

Sunday's struggle was a little more interesting to watch, Harry Broverman, who crashed the City Softball League "Hall of Fame" a few days ago by pitching a no-hitter, sparked the Mercos with a neat five-hit effort.

Steve Jankola and Ken Lawn split the Sasks' mound assignment, Jankola issuing seven safeties and Lawn one. Lawn took over in the fifth frame, allowing two walks and fanning two batters. Jankola struck out one and walked five. Broverman whiffed 14 and walked none.

Ken Stanton clouted at a three-for-four clip for the Sasks and Roy Scheppert banged out a double. Broverman socked a two-baser for the Mercos.

PASTOR EASILY DEFEATS SCOTT

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP).—Bob Pastor, touring the heavyweight division's comeback trail, took a one-sided decision over Buddy Scott, young Washington hopeful, in a 10-round bout here tonight. Pastor weighed 179¾, Scott 181.

Pastor hit Scott almost at will in the early rounds, but ran into trouble in the fifth, when Buddy dropped him with a short right to the head. Bob got to his feet without taking a count. It was the only knockdown of the fight.

Pastor piled up a huge margin in points, and lost only the fifth round.

Hitting with equal effectiveness with either hand, Bob had Scott almost helpless at the final gong. The decision of Referee Ray Bowen and the two judges was unanimous.

Pastor, of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., kept throwing short straight rights to Scott's head most of the distance, and pummelled Buddy's body when Scott tried to take the offensive.

Scott's principal weapon was a hard right to the body, a blow that hurt Pastor in the second, fifth and the eighth.

TAKES MILWAUKEE CLUB

MILWAUKEE, June 16 (AP) — George Trautman, American Association President, assumed direct charge of the Milwaukee Brewer Baseball Club today and launched a program to rebuild the team, now floundering in the Association cellar.

The 1884 baseball guide reports on the first night baseball game as follows: "Among the season's novelties was the experiment of June 2, 1883, of playing a game at Fort Wayne, Ind., by electric light. Quincy won 17-11, in seven innings. The inclosure was lighted by 17 lamps suspended from masts. The seven-inning game lasted two hours due to the lamps going out twice."

E. A. Pothecary, Hampshire professional cricket player, has joined the Royal Air Force as a physical training instructor. Aged 55, Pothecary played for his country since 1927 and represented Southampton in association football on many occasions.

Night baseball is forcing many ball players to wear protective helmets. Beanings are more numerous under the lights because the sailing spheroid is harder to see.

British Cross Libyan Frontier in Slashing Drive Against Enemy

CAIRO, June 16 (AP). — The British forces have launched a slashing offensive against the Germans and Italians along the Egyptian-Libyan frontier and the mop-up of East Africa has advanced a major step with the surrender of an Italian general and 2000 troops in Southern Ethiopia, the Middle East Command announced today.

Plunging across the Libyan border, where the Suez-bound Axis drive stalled two months ago, British and Imperial forces destroyed 13 Axis vehicles in the Gambut area, just across the frontier West of Bardia.

"The operation is continuing," today's communique said succinctly. Axis positions South and Southeast of the border outpost of Salum are bearing the brunt of the offensive.

(The border curves to the Southwest in this region and apparently action occurred on both sides of the line. Neither the communique nor London sources indicated the depth of the British penetration.)

The push into the Gambut area, which some observers took to mean a new British campaign to recapture Cirenaica from the Axis, started last night, 24 hours after advance patrols attacked an Italian column West of the Libyan border.

On the East African front, the Middle East command said Italian General Pralormo with 2000 troops had surrendered in the Soddu area, some 160 miles South of Addis Abba, the Ethiopian capital. This force constituted one of the major islands of resistance in Ethiopia.

After the Battle of the Lakes in the Southern part of Ethiopia the general and the remnants of his divisions took to the hills where they were harried by native patriots and finally forced to capitulate because of lack of supplies.

Farther North, in the Jimma area, Imperial forces, aided by the natives, were pressing hard on the heels of main Italian concentrations.

In the North African air war, the Royal Air Force reported three Messerschmitt fighters and one Italian craft were downed yesterday over Libya.

South African airmen pounced on a fighter-escorted formation of German Junkers bombers, forcing them to jettison their explosives and turn tail.

A number of Axis vehicles were disabled, the R. A. F. communique said, in machine-gun attacks on German and Italian columns near El Bazala, Fort Capuzzo and Barce.

Continued night raids were reported on Axis-held Libyan ports, Bengasi, Bardia and Dernio being the targets particularly heavy Saturday night attacks.

A fire visible for 70 miles was started in the harbor area of Bengasi.

LONDON, June 16 (CP). — The advance of the Imperial forces across the blistering desert into Libya was believed in some quarters to be the start of a "wasting" campaign in which Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell hopes to harry and raid the Axis forces without risking a pitched battle.

Others thought it might be the beginning of a campaign to recapture Cirenaica from Axis forces which drove across Eastern Libya and pulled up at the Egyptian border last April 13.

Informed quarters here believed British and Indian troops were better able to operate in the withering desert heat than any of the Axis forces.

Some informants here were of the opinion that Gen. Wavell's intention is to "bleed" the Axis troops to that gasoline and ammunition, laboriously brought from Europe, would be expended in the defence of isolated posts and communication lines.

ROME, June 16 (AP). — The Italian High Command today said a battle is in progress on the Salum front, on the Egypt-Libyan frontier, where the British launched an offensive action yesterday.

The communique claimed the British forces had been "repulsed everywhere with considerable losses." Several days of preparation preceded the offensive, the war bulletin said.

BERLIN, June 16 (AP). — The German High Command claimed today 90 British tanks were destroyed and that a British attack on the Salum front in North Africa "collapsed" under the combined resistance of Axis troops and planes.

(British advices did not confirm these Nazi claims.)

While this land battle continued, the German High Command claimed the German Air Force sank a British light cruiser and damaged a heavy cruiser — the second story in as many days — in the Eastern Mediterranean.

Comiskey Knocks Out Ritchie in First Round

PITTSBURGH, June 16 (AP) — Patrick Edward Comiskey, 215, of Paterson, N.J., tonight was awarded a technical knockout decision over Babe Ritchie, 205, of Lubbock, Tex., two minutes and seven seconds after the start of the first round of their scheduled 10-round bout.

Ritchie was floored three times and suffered a deep gash on his upper lip.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP).—For the life of us we can't see why, but plenty of people around this man's town are giving Billy Conn a better than fair chance to become the heavyweight champion of the world next Wednesday night. . . . Today's sports quiz: Why do baseball historians call 1925 the "year without an equal?" . . .

Forget that stuff about Greyhound being lame. Trainer Sep Palin says his great trotter is as good as ever. . . . Sports quiz answer: "Because it's the only season in National League history in which not a single ball game ended in a tie. . . .

Trim Suntan Dress and Bolero

Marian Martin

PATTERN 9743

Sun 'n' fun days require a cool, casual style that's easy to make, easy to wear, easy to launder. Pattern 9743 by Marian Martin is the answer—it fills every need for Summer sportswear. That saucy back buttoning means that you can get in and out with lightning speed—and it allows you to open out the dress in a single piece for sewing and ironing convenience, too. Notice the nice cut to the suntan back and the becoming sweetheart shape of the front neckline. A set-in band encircles your waist to make you look willowy, and a panel down the front skirt gives graceful flare. To add to this style's usefulness for day-long wear, there's a matching or contrasting bolero.

Pattern 9743 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 ,20, 30, 32, 34, 36 38 and 40. Size 16, dress, requires 3½ yards 35 inch fabric.

Send twenty cents for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address and style number.

Send your order to The Daily News, Pattern Department, Nelson. Pattern will be sent to your home within 10 days.

Celery Culture in Small Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Celery Culture in Small Garden

Many gardeners are agreeably surprised to discover that they can grow good celery in their own small vegetable plot. The main requirements are a rich, moist but well-drained soil.

Celery culture in small garden

As illustrated in the Garden-Graph, celery to be good, should be transplanted repeatedly. That is why it is better for the average amateur gardener to purchase his plants ready for their final transplanting. Fig. 1 shows a plant not transplanted, with a long top root; Fig. 2 shows a bushy root, the result of one transplanting.

When planting celery plants, prune the top roots, leaving them only two or three inches long. It is also advisable to cut back the tops about three inches to check evaporation, and give the roots a better chance to become established. Place the plants a little deeper than they formerly stood and protect them from drying out above and below ground.

Mozambique's only air service carried 2688 passengers last year.

CONTRACT . . . By Shepard Barclay

SHORTEN DUMMY TRUMPS

ORDINARILY a defender likes to prevent the declarer from ruffing tricks with the short trump holding, which usually is in the dummy. For that purpose, trumps are led, so the declarer will have to use two trumps on a trick. But there is one kind of situation in which defenders should wish to make the dummy ruff. That is when the trumps seem likely to become re-entries for a side suit. Making the dummy ruff will then keep the declarer from using those trumps as late enough entries after the dummy's suit is set up.

North: ♠ K 10 8 6 3 2 ♥ None ♦ A 10 ♣ A K J 9 3

West: ♠ A Q ♥ A Q J 8 3 ♦ 7 4 ♣ 7 5 4 2

East: ♠ J 9 5 4 ♥ K 6 5 4 2 ♦ J ♣ Q 8 6

South: ♠ 7 ♥ 10 9 7 ♦ K Q 9 8 6 5 3 2 ♣ 10

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

| West | North | East | South |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♥ | 1 ♠ | 2 ♥ | 3 ♦ |
| 3 ♥ | 4 ♣ | Pass | 4 ♦ |
| 4 ♥ | 5 ♣ | Dble | 5 ♦ |
| Pass | 6 ♦ | Pass | Pass |
| Dbl | | | |

Here was a deal on which two duplicate declarers furnished neat play, one making his contract by one method, the other by a different one, due to a different defense. Where West led his club 2, Dummy won with the K, used the A for discard of the heart 7, then led a third, ruffing it and so eliminating the Q. The diamond K and A then put the declarer in position to play the last two clubs for discards of his last two hearts, so that he lost only a spade trick.

At the other table, West reasoned that North, with two rebiddable suits and enough diamonds to support them to slam, might be very short of hearts, probably blank. He led his heart A purposely to make the dummy ruff, so a late round of trumps could not be won in the dummy as re-entries after clubs got set up. The declarer ruffed this with the dummy's diamond 10, laid down two top clubs for disposal of his second heart, ruffed a third club to get into his own hand, then led his heart 10 for a ruff by the diamond A.

A third declarer got the same club lead, won by the K, then made the silly lead of the spade 2 to the Q. West led back the heart A to be ruffed by the diamond 10. The club A furnished a discard of the heart 9, the club 3 was trumped by the diamond 2 and the last heart ruffed by the diamond A. Had West returned a trump when he won that trick, South would have been beaten. Both sides analyzed the situation badly.

Charge Aluminum Company Worked to Halt Production

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP).—Interior Secretary Ickes told a Senate Committee today that if history records the war as lost, "it may be because of the recalcitrance of the Aluminum Company of America."

Testifying before the special committee investigating the defence program, Ickes said the company had worked to prevent aluminum production by other companies.

Ickes said the aluminum company "would prevent the dissemination of the facilities of aluminum, regardless of the consequences to the United States, in order to get all the aluminum sources under its control."

"The company uses many cunning methods," the Secretary added. "It all adds up to obstruction."

Ickes said the office of production management had "under-estimated" the aluminum shortage, and commented that "under-estimating seems to be a habit with them."

Trucks, automobiles and other vehicles bulked large in the export shipments, amounting to $16,652,000 in value. Mr. MacKinnon said these vehicles were sent to points where they would be useful in attaining victory.

"Food also for the British people is of extreme importance at the present time," the statement added. "We are sending food in an ever growing volume. Our export of meats in May was valued at over $10,000,000, the bulk of which went to the United Kingdom. This is about two and a half times more than we sent a year ago."

Weather Prevents President From Attending Meeting

TORONTO, June 16 (CP).—J. P. Bickell, Toronto mining magnate who has been in England for some time working with the Ministry of Aircraft Production, advised Toronto associates today that bad flying weather had interrupted his plans to make a surprise appearance at the annual meeting of the McIntyre-Porcupine Mines in Toronto.

Bernard E. Smith of New York, Company Vice-President, revealed a wire from Mr. Bickell showed the latter had been grounded in Newfoundland.

In honor of its President, who had not missed an annual meeting of the company since its foundation, the 29th annual meeting adjourned until Friday when it is expected Mr. Bickell will be present.

Wall St. Price Trends Irregular

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP). — Price trends were hazy in today's stock market and, with a few exceptions, leaders generally shifted listlessly over an extremely narrow range. Transfers approximated 300,000 shares.

Growing Government spending and the brightening business picture provided some comfort for the bullish ranks.

Canadian issues were quietly lower. Canadian Pacific and Distillers Seagram each lost ⅛ of a point.

Small Gains Feature at Coast; Golds Lead

VANCOUVER, June 16 (CP) — Small gains were general during light trading on Vancouver Stock Exchange today. Golds accounted for the majority of sales as transfers totalled 7150 shares.

Home Oil at 1.96 climbed 10 and Anglo Canadian was up 2 at 53. Other oils and base metals were inactive.

Minimum Trade on Winnipeg Mkt.

WINNIPEG, June 16 (CP).—General lack of interest held trading to a minimum in both wheat and coarse grain futures on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. The quiet session was more than half over before the only wheat future—July—traded at its pegged price of 77½ cents a bushel.

No export business was reported in Canada wheat and flour and the July option made no attempt to move off its peg.

Except for flax values, which gained about a cent, all coarse grain prices held about unchanged.

In the cash wheat market, shippers and mills were credited with taking small quantities of Nos. 1, 2 and 3 Northern.

Irish Steamship Bombed and Sunk Off Welsh Coast

LONDON, June 16 (CP). — The Irish Sea mail steamship St. Patrick was bombed and sunk off the Welsh coast early June 13 with reported loss of 23 lives, it was announced today.

Several women and children were among her 44 passengers.

It was feared all first class passengers except one were killed. The crew numbered 45.

Among the 66 survivors were women and children who leaped overboard and found rafts to cling to until they were picked up by warship and other craft.

The vessel was en route from Rosslare, Eire, to Fishguard, Wales, and carried several women and children among the passengers, most of whom were in bed at 2 a. m. when four bombs struck the boat amidships. She sank almost immediately.

Preferred accommodations housing first class passengers ranged along the upper decks amidships where bombs from a diving plane struck in a tight line.
