FRENCH TROOPS CUT BLOODY PATH TO SEA

Flanders Fighters Streaming Home Through Hail of Lead

All Declare Swarms of Nazi Planes, Weight of Numbers of Army, Pushed Them Back; Many in Sea Hours Before Rescue

FRENCH, BELGIANS ALSO RESCUED; BELGIANS PLAN TO STAY IN WAR

A SOUTHEAST PORT, England, May 30 (CP).—Thousands of Britain's torn army of Flanders streamed onto home soil today, brought to safety by the Royal Navy and Royal Air Force from the German trap across the bombed and machine-gunned English Channel.

They told of being attacked from the air continually in the 20-day campaign that opened when they advanced into Belgium at the urgent summons of King Leopold.

All declared that it was the swarms of German planes and the weight of numbers of the German army that pushed them off the Flemish Plain after their flanks were exposed, on the North by Leopold's capitulation Tuesday and on the South by the German break-through farther East.

"Our fliers were magnificent," said one soldier. "But it's volume we need."

One soldier thus described the embarkation, at an unnamed French port:

"When we were hit (by bombs) we swam ashore, but when the ship did not go down we swam back to her again to take her out of the harbor. But then she turned turtle and we had to swim again. Some of us were in the water for hours before we were picked up by a British warship."

Another, telling of the Channel trip, philosophically described his troubles with a ship that had been hit:

"I was very thankful when, after swimming seven or eight miles, I was able to get hold of a table. Another fellow and I sat on it until we were picked up. All of us were almost naked and we have had no food since yesterday at midday and no sleep for three days.

"But it's back again now to help the army.

"It's not only British troops we're bringing over, but French and Belgians, too. The Belgians don't want to give up fighting.

"If only we had more planes we could tell the Germans a different story. As it is they have got as much as they have given and we have not been bombing and machine-gunning men in the water."

Five Belgian officers in the party declared they were astounded when the order came for the Belgian army to cease fighting. One Belgian, speaking of King Leopold's capitulation, said angrily:

"I was asked to hand over my revolver. I immediately refused and with my companions I made for the coast and finally we reached the British and French.

"We do not intend to stop fighting on orders of Leopold—and there are thousands of other Belgian soldiers of the same opinion. The British and French are still making a magnificent show in the North."

Over and over these returning men, many blood-stained and black with powder, emphasized the need for planes and more planes. They told of Germans attacking in waves of 50 planes time after time, literally filling the air over big salients.

They accused the Nazi pilots of mass murder of refugees, flying 200 feet off the ground and sparing nobody—not even the children.

A typical reaction of the returning soldiers was the comment of an artillery sergeant:

"We have been bombed night and day until we have got really used to it. The Germans are poor shots and our casualties have not been heavy although they rained bombs on us.

"Their airmen are no match for the R.A.F. and they know it. Yesterday we watched one Spitfire (R.A.F.) pilot take on seven machines and bringing down three of them. German airmen seem to concentrate their attacks with dive bombers, then come down low and let go with machine-guns."

A non-commissioned officer of a line regiment said:

"It's not been a fair fight yet. Our infantry have not had a real chance to get to grips. The Germans have no heart for meeting us in fair and square infantry attacks."

Another Tommy exclaimed:

"I never believed anything like the wall of fire our ships put up to screen troops was possible. Shells fell in a mathematically straight line behind our positions, while beyond the line British planes dropped bombs like hail. Jerry never had a chance to get at us."

An army officer said "our losses in the last few days have been far less than might be expected, but the slaughter among the Germans has been incredible."

Storm Roused as Member Charges Planes Obsolete

Termed Sabotage of War Effort by Power

OTTAWA, May 30 (CP)—Charging a Conservative member with "sabotaging" Canada's war effort, Hon. C. G. Power, Air Minister, in the House of Commons tonight, pointed his finger at the official Opposition and declared the Justice Minister should "intern that fifth column over there."

A. R. Adamson (Con. York West) provoked the outburst when he said he had information that Blenheim bombers being manufactured in Montreal were obsolete and their use in war had caused heavy casualties.

"Will the honorable gentleman, on his responsibility as a member of Parliament, state that Blenheim bombers being produced in Canada are obsolete?" Mr. Power asked.

Mr. Adamson, amid great uproar, said he was merely seeking information.

"Who wants the information?" shouted a member.

"Hitler," another member replied.

Mr. Power repeated his question but Mr. Adamson said again he was only seeking information.

"Then I charge my honorable friend with sabotage of Canada's war effort," Mr. Power declared. "If my honorable friend the Minister of Justice is carrying on the work he should be doing he should intern the fifth column over there."

Earlier Mr. Adamson became entangled with Hon. J. L. Ralston, Finance Minister, when he referred to "alarming reports" that the Bren gun contract was not working satisfactorily using "great unrest."

Britain Gives U. S. Rights to Patents on Airplane Engine

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP).—Britain turned the patents on its prize airplane engine over to the United States today to facilitate production for the American and Allied air fleets.

The announcement was made by Dr. George Jackson Mead, aircraft adviser to Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau.

Mead said the British gave the United States Government full rights to use in any desired manner the patents to its famed "Merlin—a 12-cylinder, liquid cooled Rolls-Royce — the same engine powering the British "Defiants", "Spitfires", "Hurricans" and other speedy ships.

U-Boat Sinking Rouses Argentine

BUENOS AIRES, May 30 (AP).—Resentful crowds of Argentines surged through the streets of Buenos Aires tonight following a long interview of President Roberto Ortiz with German Ambassador Edmund von Thermann over the U-boat sinking of the merchantman Uruguay off the Spanish coast.

The street crowds were in an ugly mood over reports that half the crew on the Uruguay was left afloat in lifeboats 140 miles from the Spanish coast. Fourteen members of the crew are missing.

Police dispersed a group of angry youths headed for the German Club.

A man was arrested after hurling stones through the plate glass windows of the Deutsche La Plata Zeitung, one of the oldest German newspapers in South America.

The Zeitung, pro-Nazi in policy, pulled down an iron curtain over its window, shutting from sight the bulletins on the war it usually displays.

Constable Martin was the Saskatchewan middleweight boxing champion in 1934 and 1935.

Allied Air Personnel Probably Equal With Nazis Due to Losses

NEW YORK, May 31 (Friday) (AP)—Heavy losses inflicted by the Allies upon the German air force probably have enabled Britain and France to achieve equality with the Germans in trained flying personnel, the British Broadcasting Corporation said today in a broadcast heard here.

It said a figure of 5000 Germans lost "is thought to be a low estimate." This was based on the estimated destruction of 2000 German planes, most of them bombers, since the invasion of Belgium and The Netherlands.

"These losses in men in the air are thought to be three or four times as great as those of Britain and France," it added, "and while the Germans have still a great number of planes, the Allies have probably already equality in respect to personnel."

Hitler Calls Goebbels to the West to Prepare Sensational Announcement

ADOLF HITLER

GOEBBELS

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, May 31 - (Friday)-(AP). — Adolf Hitler has summoned Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels to General Headquarters in the West to prepare a "sensational announcement," — dealing perhaps with Italy's entry in the war, a usually reliable source reported early today.

Goebbels' summons was a hasty one. The source gave it as his own opinion that the announcement would have to do with Italy's action.

He said he understood that there was an agreement between Hitler and Mussolini that Italy would enter the war only after Hitler has assured Il Duce that the French air force is so demolished as to no longer constitute a threat to Italy's chief industries.

Most of these are in the Po Valley, in the North of Italy.

It was not known exactly when the announcement can be expected.

Eight Thirty Wins Belmont Handicap

NEW YORK, May 30 (AP). — Eighty Thirty turned an about face in his plan of campaign today and it worked. Before 41,859 fans George D. Widener's big colt, beaten in the Metropolitan Mile a week ago because he tried to make the pace, took his time until the final furlong and won the historic suburban handicap by a length at Belmont Park.

He let Myron Selznick's Can't Wait and Donald P. Ross' Masked General set the fastest six-furlong pace Belmont has ever seen, and then came around both to win. Can't Wait chased him home, and was three lengths in front of Mr. Payne Whitney's favored Third Degree, who headed Masked General for the show spot.

The Widener standard-bearer won $19,850, and paid off at $8.60 for each $2 win ticket.

J. A. Campbell of Nelson Wins Air Honors of Britain

Personal Gallantry, Great Courage, Lauded

By FRED BACKHOUSE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, May 30 (CP Cable) — Feats of magnificent courage and skill by young Canadian flyers in the face of the hordes of Nazi aircraft over the plains of Flanders and

J. A. CAMPBELL

France and Germany became known today with publication of a new list of Royal Air Force awards.

Names of three young Canadians were inscribed on the Roll of Honor of the new generation of aces that is defending the Empire. Two earned the Distinguished Flying Cross and one the Distinguished Flying Medal, highest award for a non-commissioned airman. In addition a Malay-born graduate of a Canadian University received the Distinguished Service Order.

They are:

D.S.O.—Squadron Leader Edward Mollock Donaldson, 28, native of Malay, graduate of McGill University, Montreal.

D.F.C.—Flying Officer James Alexander Campbell, 27, Nelson, B.C. He is listed as missing.

D.F.C.—Flying-Officer Alan Benjamin Angus, 21, Winnipeg.

D.F.M. Aircraftman 1st Class Gordon Nelson Patterson, 21, Woodrow, Sask.

The new "Roll of Honor"—just a terse bulletin from the Air Ministry—contained the names of 54 officers and men awarded either the D.S.O., the D.F.C., or the D.F.M. It reflected the intensified air warfare of the last few weeks.

Flying Officer Campbell, (grandson of J. J. Campbell of Willow Point) the announcement said, on one occasion, when leading a flight of seven aircraft in protection of a group of Blenheim bombers, "showed great personal gallantry" in leading his squadron to the attack against 40 enemy aircraft.

Campbell succeeded to temporary command of the flight just before the German invasion of Holland and Belgium. During the next two days he led it with "great courage and determination and set a fine example by destroying four enemy aircraft."

NORTHAMPTON, May 30 (CP).—The headquarters of the Fascist British Union here were raided today and four men arrested.

Seek Port After Holding Nazis as Comrades Escape

Loss of Flanders Gives Nazis Control of Half of French Industrial Area, But French Keep Chins Up

PARIS, May 30 (AP).—French rearguards of the Allied Northern armies were reported late tonight to be fighting their way, step by step, toward the sea after holding off the Germans in Flanders to permit the mass of their comrades to escape.

Military dispatches said the French troops, under General Jacques Adolphe Piroux, had left their positions along the South wall of the Allied escape corridor and were pushing along the 40-mile road to Dunkerque, where warships and transports are taking aboard the armies of the North.

The Germans attacked across Flanders halfway between Lille and Dunkerque in an effort to cut off the retreat but reports said the rear guard was squeezing through.

Both flanks of the French path to the sea are now held by British troops, taking their stand in turn behind flooded zones North and South of the fortified portion of Dunkerque.

The ancient swamps South of Dunkerque, from Gravelines to St. Omer, which have been dried up by modern drainage, once more are a salty bog, covered by waters admitted by flooded canals from the sea.

The valley of the Yser, East of Dunkerque, also was flooded from Nieuport to Ypres over a width of more than two miles.

The German air force launched violent bombing attacks against the fleeing Allies and against the warships at Dunkerque, but was itself suffering heavy losses. The Germans were estimated to have lost nearly 100 planes today alone.

Late developments indicated the embattled rear gard might still reach the sea despite the German advances on the Southern wall of the Allied armies of the North.

While the Allied battalions which already had reached Dunkerque were being moved across the English Channel under cover of the Allied fleets, others were pouring down the corridor, forcing a bloody passage at points where the Nazi advance guards sought to bar them.

The German advance on the Southern wing had its first success of the day in the capture of Mount Cassel—two miles from the town itself — and was pushing ahead tonight.

Despite the loss of Flanders—which gave the Germans control of 10,000 square miles of rich territory, almost all of France's Northern coal mining region and about half her industrial area — the French authorities took it with chins up.

Homes and buildings lay in black ruins.

But in the face of devastation, the French spoke with pride of the "glory" of the Allied struggle from the beginning of the battle to its present final phases and declared there had not been "a single surrender."

To illustrate the grave peril of the surviving Allied companies, a French authority said they numbered about 270,000 men, in 18 divisions of which 10 were French and eight were British, against 200,000 Nazis — 40 infantry divisions and eight armored columns.

Demonstration of Inhalator Given at Young People's Meet

Fire Chief G. A. McDonald Wednesday evening gave an informative talk on artificial respiration and demonstrated the use of the inhalator, at the United Young Peoples Society meeting. Emphasis was laid on the fact that it should never be presumed a person was dead from drowning or other form of asphyxiation, until pronounced dead by a doctor. Three requirements in reviving an asphyxiated person were air, rest and warmth.

A sum of money to help cover Church costs will be donated to St. Paul's United Church, it was decided. Arrangements for a hard times party to wind up the season next week were made.

Ken Smith, Vice-President, was in the Chair.

A SOUTHEAST PORT IN ENGLAND, May 31 (AP).—British troops retreating in Flanders "have in almost every case succeded in blowing up gasoline dumps and leaving nothing useful to the enemy," a returned officer of the B. E. F. declared today.

LONDON, May 30 (CP). — The small British Expeditionary Force sent to Calais last week in the face of the German mechanized sweep to the coast performed, by its refusal to surrender, invaluable assistance to the main body of the B. E. F., the War Office said tonight.

A SOUTHEAST PORT IN ENGLAND, May 30 (CP)—British soldiers returning from Flanders today told the same story of "Fifth Column" treachery in Belgium as in Holland and Norway. "The country is overrun with spies," said one. "Each time we changed positions we were bombed by enemy planes shortly after.

REGINA, May 30 (CP)—Confidence in final victory and the determination of the United Church of Canada to use every resource at its disposal "to strengthen the high resolve of our people" was expressed in a statement issued here today by Rev. John W. Woodside, moderator.

MONTREAL, May 30 (CP)—The Canadian Legion agreed today, on the suggestion of its newly-elected President, to send a "small committee" of the Dominion Council to Ottawa immediately to discuss in greater detail with Government officials matters taken up at the Legion's eighth Dominion convention.

HAWTHORNE, Calif., May 30 — (AP) —The main electric power line into the Northrop Aircraft Factory here was cut with a hacksaw early today, said police, expressing the belief it possibly was sabotage.

"Mickey" McKay Is Killed When Car Hits Pole at Ymir

Among the "Greats" of Hockey in the Early Days

Mickey McKay, the "wee Scott" who wrote his name in flaming letters across the hockey firmament a few years back, died Thursday night after his car had crashed into a light pole at Ymir at 7:15 p.m. It was understood he had been suffering from heart trouble recently. His car was travelling about 20 miles an hour at the time of the crash. Head and chest injuries were believed to have caused his death.

The accident occurred on Ymir's main street, along which McKay was travelling. His car struck a pole on the right side of the road about 100 yards south of the Yankee Girl mine road.

He was picked up by Dr. C. M. Bennet of Nelson, who was following in another car, but was dead on arrival at the Kootenay Lake General Hospital here.

At the time of his death McKay was engaged in mining.

PLAYED IN BOUNDARY

From Ontario amateur ranks McKay went to Edmonton, and from Edmonton to Grand Forks, when hockey in the Boundary was of exceptionally high calibre. The Patricks took him to Vancouver after the Canadian army discharged him as too young. He had managed to slip past the recruiting officers and was in training at Valcartier Camp, Quebec, when they finally caught up with him and discovered he was only 14 years old.

When he first stepped on the ice at the old Vancouver Arena, the Millionaire Manager, Frank Patrick, privately decided the youngster would never be a hockey player. But the second time out Patrick revised his opinion and declared he would be one of the game's greatest.

Frank was right. Mickey improved steadily and was centre for the famous Fred (Cyclone) Taylor, now Superintendent of Immigration at Vancouver, whom legend credits with skating backward through an entire team of opponents to score.

TO CHICAGO AND BOSTON

When the Patrick brothers—Lester, Manager of New York Rangers and Frank, Manager of Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League—sold their interest in the Coast League in 1925, McKay went east to Chicago Blackhawks and later moved to the Boston Bruins. He played with Boston until the middle of the 1929-30 season, when he became Business Manager of the Club.

Later he retired from hockey altogether and returned to British Columbia to enter mining.

In 1931 Mickey received the greatest ovation ever given a player in Vancouver. It was the third game of the Stanley Cup series between Millionaires and Ottawa Senators. Mickey's daughter was ill and remained at home until she passed the crisis safely, then dashed two blocks to the arena and climbed into his uniform. He stepped on the ice in the third period in time to score the goal that won the game for Vancouver. Senators went on to win the cup but Mickey was still the idol of Vancouver hockey fans.

AMONG "GREATS"

The 155-pound Mickey won his way to stardom among some of hockey's greatest names. With him on the Millionaires besides Taylor were "Smokey Joe" Harris, Lloyd Cook, Art Duncan and Jack Adams, present Manager of Detroit Red Wings in the N.H.L.

Later, reinstated as an amateur, he played in Calgary. When hockey began to climb the heights in the East McKay travelled again, and completed his career in professional hockey with Boston.

He had married a Grand Forks girl, and counted Grand Forks his home. After he had left professional hockey he managed the Yankee Boy mine at Grand Forks for a time. They entered business in Rossland, later at Fruitvale and Salmo.

He was still keen on hockey, and at Grand Forks assisted with local teams. When Spokane Clippers were in danger of collapse a few years ago he attempted to pick up their Pacific Coast franchise. He also was interested in West Kootenay senior teams from the coaching standpoint.

In 1937 he was persuaded to join "Cyclone" Taylor and other old timers in a benefit hockey game at Vancouver, and still showed the greatness of his hockey.

McKay, 45 years old, leaves his widow and a daughter. He was born in Toronto.

The invitation from the Kaslo club stated the meeting was open to any number of members, but indicated voting would be restricted to three delegates from each club.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Tiredness Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did — even look healthy and strong, yet — you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. (Advt.)

CATHOLICS WIN 6-1 IN OPENING BANTAM BOXLA

Honors in the first bantam lacrosse game of the Nelson lacrosse season went to the C.B.C.'s when they ran up a 6-1 score behind the goaltending of Conny Cassios over the Fairview Athletic Club at the Civic Arena Wednesday afternoon. This game will not count in the league and another practice game will be scheduled next week.

Art Choquette scored four of the winners' goals and the other two came from the stick of Len Appel. Jim McIvor scored the lone Fairview counter. Breeze, Waldie and Hall of Fairview incurred penalties and Doyle of the C.B.C.'s was sent to the cooler twice by Referee Jock Walmsley. All the goals were scored in the first half.

A meeting of those interested in kid lacrosse has been called for 5 o'clock this afternoon at the rink to decide what is to be done about juvenile lacrosse. If the turnout for this division does not improve, only a rep team will be formed. The possibility of staging a bantam game before tonight's senior game will also be discussed.

Lineups of Wednesday's game follow:

England's Coast Becomes Front

LONDON, May 30 (CP)—The entire Southeast coast of England became a front line in effect today as women and children were ordered evacuated and belief was expressed the Government would remove all civilians from the area.

The Ministry of Health announced it might be necessary to broaden the areas of the East and Southeast coasts from which children are being moved under Government orders.

The Health Ministry appealed for nurses—as many and as quickly as possible.

Huge billboards across Britain bore the slogan, "Go to It". This symbolized the dedication of the Nation's men and materials to the mightiest task in history. The three words were from an appeal by Supply Minister Herbert Morrison for a full National war effort.

Highway crews started tearing down signposts which would be useful in directing invaders.

The Air Ministry charged German planes had bombed hospital ships plainly marked with the red cross.

Mydansky May Start Pitching Comeback

After a year's absence from the pitching mound, "Lefty" Mydansky may start the comeback trail Sunday at Trail when the Nelson Seniors tackle the Champion Cardinals in a West Kootenay Baseball League game.

This was revealed by Coach Ray Humble after Thursday night's practice when he said that Steve Smith's arm was again on the ailing list. Mydansky, once on the Boston Red Sox negotiation list, "threw his arm out" before he came to Nelson from Alberta four years ago, but he has been looking good in periodical turnouts at practices.

At any rate he will be used in the Nelson Club for pinch-hitting turns and frequent duty in the outfield because of his slugging ability. He throws and bats lefthanded.

LUMBERTON TEAMS SPLIT SOFTBALL

LUMBERTON, B. C. — Last Sunday afternoon the Lumberton ladies' and men's softball teams travelled to Yahk to play exhibition games. In the first game Allan Rundle retired 18 men to help greatly in winning the game 10-4.

Chucker Rundle was wild, although all Yahk's runs were scored on error. Making the trip were "Ace" Jones, Herb Giles, Perry Parent, Allan Rundle, Bob Mitchell, Bert Jansen, Doc Roland, Foox Wood, Joe and Vince Downey. After playing Yahk Lumberton travelled to Eastport where they played another seven innings of ball. Due to a shortage of players the Line Team had to borrow a few of Lumberton's. Joe Downey, Allan Rundle and Bob Mitchell took their turn in the pitching box but Eastport won 12-8.

The Lumberton ladies were beaten by the Yahk Dumb Doras by an 18-16 score. Little Nancy Revans replaced Helen Bradford and Janet Parent on the mound to keep the Doras from running away.

Lumberton was minus one player, so Yahk loaned Mary Cross who played a great game at shortstop. Janet Parent, Nancy and Kay Revans, Kay Romanik, Mesdames: F. Downey, I. Giles, H. Bradford and B. Downey completed the Lumberton team.

Savoy, Hume Will Take Up Feud on Ball Field Today

Climaxing the committee room feuding which has raged between the Hume and Savoy Hotels for the past two weeks, the two arch-rivals are scheduled for their first meeting of the Nelson Men's Softball League schedule tonight at 5:45 at the Recreation Grounds.

There is very little to choose between the tw teams on paper, but the Savoy are leading the league with three successive victories, Catholics coming next with two wins and a loss and the Hume third with a win and a loss. The High School and Cycles rest in the cellar with two defeats in their only starts to date.

Both teams are colorful aggregations, starting from the coaches. Savoy's Bob Paterson and Hume's Bill Freno. For the Hume squad there will be a battery of hockey players, Len Bicknell on the mound and Jesse Seaby behind the plate. Southpaw Eric Packenham, a City League rookie, will hurl for the league-leaders and catching for him is the best backstop in the circuit, Denis Ball.

The remainder of the probable lineups are:

Hume—Ty Culley 1b, Tanny Romano 2b, Al Euerby ss, Sam Pisacreta 3b, Lefty Mydansky lf, Scrub Bialkowski cf and a choice beween Johnny Aurelio, Slim Elliot and one or two others for right field.

Savoy—Jim Cherrington 1b, Bill Kapak 2b, Sid Ball ss, Vernie Ahrens 3b, and three of the following in the outfield: Art Hill, Wilbur Bentz, Albert Daynard Jimmy Niven and Harold Mayo.

Bloodstained Heroes of Belgian Inferno Reach England Safely

Weary, Powder Begrimed Veterans Tell of "Terrific German Losses"—Furious Battles Continue to Rage

A SOUTHEAST PORT IN ENGLAND, May 30 (CP).—Powder-begrimed and bloodstained veterans of the 20-day campaign in Belgium and Northern France told in tired voices tonight of "terrific German losses" as they escaped to this haven in Britain.

LONDON, May 30 (CP).—Thousands of first arrivals from the Flanders battleground reached England tonight in warships, transports and hospital ships — their uniforms torn and their faces grimy, bearded and powder-burned.

The ships were convoyed across the English Channel through a tempest of bombs and machine-gun fire.

One hospital ship was reported to have undergone a strafing while loading casualties in a French port. The funnels were sieved with bullets and the porthole glasses were shattered.

The Ministry of Information declared that "troops not immediately engaged have been evacuated" and that "numbers of troops already have reached this country."

The battle on the French and Belgian Channel coast, base of the Allied withdrawals, still raged, the Information Ministry said, adding that more than 70 German aircraft had been destroyed and many others damaged through yesterday.

"In view of increased German pressure on their Northern and Southern flanks," the Ministry's announcement said, "the British Expeditionary Force and French forces in the North have been forced to fall back towards the coast where the battle is now raging."

"This operation has been carried out with great skill and daring. Troops not immediately engaged have been evacuated with the assistance of the Royal Navy.

"This operation is proceeding with success and numbers of troops have already reached this country.

"The withdrawal and evacuation have been screened by the Royal Air Force who have been constantly engaged with the enemy. Over 70 enemy aircraft were destroyed and many others were damaged yesterday on this front.

"One squadron of new Defiants, fighter planes, destroyed in two sorties 35 of the enemy without loss to themselves. British troops are operating with the French in the sector South of the Somme."

French Minister Arrives in Ottawa

OTTAWA, May 30 (CP).—Rene Ristelhuener, new French Minister to Canada, arrived in Ottawa today to take up his appointment and in an interview expressed his "unshakable faith" in an Allied victory.

"I am coming," he said, "at a painful time but I see that here in Canada you have faithful and united hearts. Together we constitute a democratic bloc which fights for a common ideal. When I left Paris the hour was serious but we trust the future because justice is on our side and also because we know how France is able to restore its strength."

The diplomat was met at the station by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

The French Minister's wife and their daughter, Denise, 21, were greeted by women representing French Canadian Societies in Ottawa.

GERMANY PROTESTS TREATMENT OF ENVOYS PASSING IN FRANCE

BERLIN, May 30 (AP).—Germany protested today through the Swedish Legation in Paris against alleged treatment of the German embassy staff in Brussels while en route home via France and Switzerland, declaring it was contrary to all international usage. The protest alleged the French broke a promise to the Belgians to let the Germans pass through France unmolested.

British Navy Has Some Losses In Protecting Escaping Troops

LONDON, May 30 (CP). — The Admiralty announced tonight that the destroyers Grafton, Grenade and Wakeful had been lost.

One small transport, the Abukir, 689 tons, also was sunk.

Certain auxiliary vessels also were said to be lost in actions covering withdrawals of troops from France and Belgium.

An Admiralty statement said:

"The Royal Navy has been and is giving all possible help and support to British and French land forces which are operating in the vicinity of French and Belgian coasts under enemy pressure.

"Warships are giving support and covering fire to the troops impeding the enemy's movements and have inflicted considerable punishment upon the German advanced forces.

"Wounded and a large number of other elements have already been safely withdrawn.

"These operations are being conducted ceaselessly day and night with coolness and determination in face of fierce opposition, particularly from the air.

"The German High Command has claimed to have inflicted very large losses on naval units and transports which they protect. As usual these bear no relation to facts.

"Operations of this nature cannot be carried out without loss.

"H. M. S. destroyers Grafton, Grenade and Wakeful and certain small auxiliary craft have been lost.

"One small transport, the Abukir, of 689 tons, has been sunk."

The Grafton and Grenade, both 1335 tons, were completed in 1936. Each has a complement of 145 officers and men and is armed with four 7.7 inch guns, six smaller guns and eight torpedo tubes.

The Wakeful, 1100 tons, was completed in 1917, converted into an escort vessel, then re-fitted in 1939 as a destroyer with four 4-inch guns and two heavy machine guns.

Plane Escapes After Bombing Supply Ship

LONDON, May 30 (CP)—The following bulletin was issued today by the Air Ministry:

"The supply ship set on fire by one of our reconnaissance machines yesterday at Bergen (Norway) was one of 3,000 tons. The pilot of the coastal command aircraft then escaped from six Nazi fighters.

"The British pilot was on a reconnaissance flight when he came out of a cloud over the harbor. Seeing several ships below, he dived and drooped a line of explosive and incendiary bombs over them. Two bombs struck home, and as the British aircraft turned away its observers saw a ship enveloped with thick black smoke and burning furiously.

"Six Messerschmitts tried to cut off the British pilot but he flew into the clouds and returned safely to his base."

NAZI BLACK FORESTS IS HOSPITAL ZONE

LONDON, May 30 (CP).—Germany has transformed a vast region in the Black Forest into a hospital zone for the thousands of soldiers wounded on the Northern Front, according to reports received here today from private sources. BRITAIN 'ALMOST FACE' TO FACE WITH ENEMY'

BROADSTAIRS, England, May 30 (CP)—In an address in this town at the extreme Southeast tip of England, Captain H. H. Balfour, Under-Secretary for Air, told the people to "prepare for anxious hours," for they are "almost face to face with the enemy."

Will Take Out Slocan Tunnel

The Public Works Department at New Denver states that owing to the taking out of the tunnel at the South end of Slocan Lake, and a large amount of loose rock, it will be necessary soon to close the Highway beyond Slocan City to traffic for at least one week.

All traffic going beyond Slocan City or coming into Nelson from beyond Slocan City will be routed via Kaslo, with the exception of the Greyhound bus, which will transfer their passengers at Slocan City.

Exact date of closing, which will be about the first week in June, will be advertised in the Daily News.

"Hi, Slim, you're that!"

'I always get a kick out of meeting Ben. He may be fields away; but he's sure to yell, 'Hi, Slim, you're that!' Folks kid us, not knowing what it means . . . Back in '18, Ben's wife was pretty sick. I stuck around and did his chores. One sun-up he came into the barn staring oddly at the package of tobacco in his hand. I said, casual like, 'There's no other tobacco just like Old Chum.' But he was pointing to the name, Old Chum. 'You're just that!' he said . . . I always wave back my package meaning, 'You too, and happy days!' "

Available in packages, pocket pouches and ½ lb. tins.

TODAY'S MENU

Bacon Grill Watercress Salad
Strawberry Shortcake Coffee

BACON GRILL

One pound sliced bacon, one bunch asparagus, two tablespoons butter, six slices pineapple, three large cooked potatoes, one-fourth cup grated cheese

Arrange all ingredients individually on the broiler rack. Dot asparagus and potatoes with butter and sprinkle with grated cheese. Broil at a moderate temperature until bacon is done and the fruit and vegetables heated through and browned. Turn bacon so that it will be evenly cooked. To serve, arrange fruits and vegetables in centre with bacon as a border.

The broiler rack should be placed about three inches from the source of heat to give the best results. Broiled bacon should be crisp but not brittle. Bacon slices which have been placed cold on a cool broiler rack will usually lie fat and can be attractively served.

BRAN PASTRY

One-fourth cup bran, one and one-half cups flour, one half teaspoon salt, one half cup fat, five tablespoons cold water (more or less). Roll bran until fine and combine with flour and salt. Cut in fat. Add water, a little at a time, until dough is moist enough to hold together.

Roll on lightly-floured board to about one-eighth inch in thickness. Place rolled pastry loosely in pan. Trim edge, leaving about one-half inch of pastry beyond rim of pan. Fold under the extended edge and flute. Prick pastry shell with a fork and bake in 450 F. oven ten to 15 minutes. One two-crust pie or two eight inch pastry shells.

LEMON PIE

Lemon pie is made with three-fourths cup sugar, three tablespoons cornmeal, one-eighth teaspoon salt, teaspoon lemon rind, one-fourth cup lemon juice, three eggs (separated), one third cup melted butter, one all-bran pastry shell.

Sift together sugar, cornmeal and salt; add lemon rind and juice. Beat egg yolks well and add with melted butter to first mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold in last. Pour into pastry shell which has been baked for ten minutes at 450 F. Bake in 375 F. about thirty minutes. One nine-inch pie.

PECAN PIE

Make it with a bran pastry shell, three eggs, one tablespoon flour, two cups light corn syrup, teaspoon vanilla extract, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one cup whole pecan nut meats.

Prepare pastry shell. Brush unbaked shell with small portion of slightly beaten egg white. Beat remainder of eggs until light colored.

Combine sugar and flour; add to eggs and mix well. Sprinkle pecans in unbaked pastry shell and add filling. Bake in moderate oven (375 F.), about 45 minutes. Yield: one nine-inch pie.

A LATTICED TOP

Rhubarb pie, according to this recipe, is made with one unbaked bran pastry shell, four cups rhubarb, one egg, one cup sugar, two tablespoons flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Line pie pan with pastry.

Cut rhubarb in one-half inch lengths and scald. Drain and arrange in unbaked pastry shell. Beat egg until light. Mix sugar, flour and salt together and add gradually to egg, beating well. Pour over rhubarb. Put strips of pastry across top, lattice fashion. Bake in 425 F. oven for about ten minutes, then reduce heat to 375 F. and bake about 40 minutes longer. One eight-inch pie.

Skin . . .

Clear Blemishes Before Summer

By DONNA GRACE

The soft lights that shielded the not-to-good complexions during the Winter months will no longer help those who expect to spend their time out in the candid sunlight. We all plan Summer outings, and a good clear skin is absolutely necessary...

It's old-fashioned to have blemished skin when these disfiguring marks can be avoided. They can be cleared up in a sort time and the skin will be just as perfect as it should be.

Most physicians tell us the cause is seldom due to internal physical disturbance but to external infection. This infection usually reacts to simple treatment. The first and most necessary treatment is cleanliness. Scrupulous cleanliness of the skin will generally prevent blemishes.

Young persons find these beauty handicaps embarrassing. Their companions are seldom considerate of their feelings and either avoid them or ridicule their unfortunate condition. We have special sympathy for these sensitive girls and boys and offer them a simple home treatment that has been used successfully by thousands throughout the country.

A thorough soap and water cleansing every night, followed by clear water rinsing, will sometimes be all that is necessary. It should be done this way: Begin with the soap and water cleansing, then the following night wipe the face gently and cover with a small turkish towel that has been wrung out of a solution of boric acid. Use it hot. When it cools, follow with the same solution ice cold.

This may be repeated for several nights. The iced solution will be left to dry on the skin without wiping off.

They will have to train themselves to keep their hands off their face. This rubbing or touching the skin with the fingers is one of the main sources of infection and must be avoided.

Kaolin . . .

Chinese Used Mud Against Cholera

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

I have been asked by several readers to give more details concerning the use of kaolin in the treatment of irritable colons.

Kaolin is a kind of earth or mud, a product of the erosion or igneous rock. Chemically it is aluminum silicate. Its use in medicine was borrowed from the Chinese who used it both in making pottery and in treating cholera. Medical missionaries were impressed with its value in the treatment of the epidemic of cholera in China in 1919. It was given by mouth and also in the form of enemas.

ABSORBS POISONS

Its action is two-fold: First, mechanical, engulfing large numbers of bacteria and carrying them away. Secondly, it absorbs poisons and toxins and prevents them from entering the blood and doing harm.

The addition of aluminum hydroxide to kaolin makes a mixture that is very valuable in all forms of ulcerative colitis. Aluminum hydroxide is now used extensively in the treatment of stomach ulcer. It is astringent and also neutralizes the excessive acidity present in these cases. Many patients with ulcer carry around a bottle of tablets of soda bicarbonate and some other alkali and those who have tried aluminum hydroxide like it better than the soda tablets.

In ulcerative colitis a mixture of equal parts of kaolin and aluminum hydroxide, one to three ounces each, is dissolved in five ounces of warm water. This is used as a retention enema. One or two treatments a day for a week or two are usually sufficient to relieve symptoms.

CALCIUM AID

Another form of treatment in cases of colitis and other intestinal upsets is recommended by Dr. Barton Rhinehart. It is a diet low in potassium and high in calcium. Milk, either cow's or goat's milk, with heavy doses of Vitamins—A, in fish oils; B in yeast, C in liver or fresh meat, are stressed. A high proportion of protein as obtained in milk, cheese, eggs, and meat is obtained in this way and the doctor thinks it is a good thing.

The calcium is given when the stomach is empty, and so impressed is Dr. Rhinehart with the value of calcium in colitis that he gives it in the form of calcium salts, not depending on the amounts ordinarily obtained in the natural diet. It is absorbed best on any empty stomach so he gives about 50 grains before each meal, and advises a wait of half an hour before putting food in the stomach.

The need for calcium is also obtained by ultra-violet radiation and exposure to sunshine. Colitis may occur with either diarrhoea or constipation and there is also bloating, discomfort in the abdomen and lack of appetite.

Dr. Rhinehart does not stress the psychologic treatment of these patients, but it is quite important.

Parasols Mark of Royal Trip

NEW YORK, May 17 (CP).—Parasols are coming back with Summer fashions in the greatest numbers since the 90s, style scouts in the fashion mart report.

In Manhattan's largest shops they are hailed as "tremendous news" and are being shown in gayer designs and fabrics than the 90s ever knew.

What's behind the parasol parade nobody seems to know. Some lay it to the influence of Queen Elizabeth's visit to Canada and the United States last Summer. Others say it's just part of the general trend.

Miss May Redding Becomes Bride of H. Pearson, Kimberley

KIMBERLEY, B. C.— A pretty wedding took place May 24, in the Anglican Church, when May Constance, younger daughter of Frank Redding of Kimberley, became the bride of Henry, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pearson of Kimberley. Rev. B. A. Hesker officiated. The bride wore a short marina wool crepe of Acadia blue trimmed with bands of angora, and white accessories. Her bouquet was of roses and cala lillies. Mrs. Ken Moore, as matron of honor, chose an afternoon frock of gray crepe with white accessories and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. W. Graham, cousin of the groom, acted as best man. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Redding. The happy couple left for a honeymoon to be spent at Banff, Lake Louise and Calgary. For travelling the bride wore a black pin stripe tailored suit. On their return they will take up residence on the Catholic Church Hill.

NELSON SOCIAL

By MRS. M. J. VIGNEUX

• A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized in the Cathedral of Mary Immaculate, May 25, by Rev. Edward Doyle, when Miss Katie Kolinsky of Hillcrest, Alta., became the bride of Nick Szkica of Nelson. The bride was gowned in white taffeta, carrying a bouquet of lilacs and maiden fern. She was atended by her bridesmaid, Mary Kolinsky, dressed in mauve net, and Ethel Zeznek, in yellow net. The groom's attendants were the bride's brother, Jake Anderochuk and John Kolinsky. The reception was held at the couple's new home and the wedding table was decorated with seasonal flowers centred with a three-tier wedding cake made by the bride's mother. Her parents and relatives, and close friends of the couple, atended. The couple will reside at their ranch on the North Shore.

• Mrs. W. H. Smedley, Observatory Street, entertained at bridge and tea on two occasions, honoring Mrs. E. Norman and Mrs. A. T. Walley of Vancouver, who are visiting in Nelson, also in honor of Mrs. J. J. Foote, who has left for Medicine Hat to make her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Colin Moir. BELGIUM'S SHAME ONE MAN'S TREACHERY

Sudden capitulation of the Belgian Army of close to 300,000 men, at 4 o'clock in the morning Tuesday, on the order of King Leopold, abandonment of its territory to the German forces, and abandonment of the British and French forces in Belgium to either annihilation, or a forced withdrawal with unescapable heavy loss, stains Belgian honor that in the Great War stood for the highest courage and invincible determination.

An allied counter offensive was rapidly getting under way, and material progress was being made in squeezing the long and vulnerable German salient, under General Weygand's plans designed to deal with the emergency of the German break through the Dutch and Belgian defences and the turning of the French Maginot Line.

But in a moment, without giving Belgium's allies a moment's warning of what was coming, so they could make some dispositions for defence, the young Belgian King caused the Belgian Army to lay down its arms, thus making the further defence of Belgium impossible, and subjecting the British Army there to overwhelming odds, with all the chances against it being saved.

It was Belgium's tragedy when the late King Albert, of gallant memory, mysteriously met his death on a little mountain-climbing jaunt in his own Country. Had the splendid soldierly figure been alive and leading his forces, there would have been no abject and treacherous surrender, and the Belgian Army would still be adding to the repute it won in the Great War.

We could wish that somewhere in the Belgian command there had been a division commander or a brigadier to refuse to follow the King's order, and to lead his troops to the British sector, to continue the joint defence. But it is easy to understand that in the face of such an order, confusion was complete, and independent action on the part of individual commanders was hardly to be expected.

But the action of the Belgian King was instantly repudiated by the Belgian Cabinet, and Belgium will once more have an Army fighting beside the Armies of the Allies, an Army to be converted from volunteer and refugee material.

Without doubt, Belgian resources in the control of the Government will be organized to contribute to the fight for freedom, and the Belgian people will eventually again enjoy liberty, in spite of the treacherous capitulation to the invader brought about by the King.

NARVIK A SIDESHOW NOW

Cables Wednesday chronicled the capture of the Norwegian port of Narvik, by the British and Norwegian forces, from the German force that, reenforced constantly by parachute troops, has been holding it.

A few weeks ago this news would have been wildly acclaimed.

Today Northern Norway is a sideshow, and the important thing is the saving of the British forces in Belgium, their retirement toward the Channel Ports, while fighting rearguard actions, being already under way.

If General Gort's Army makes its exit from Belgium with a minimum of loss, so it can be moved to reenforce the French, and resume the fight on more equal terms, that is all the British Empire and the on-looking world can ask at this time.

CONTRACT . . . By Shepard Barclay

YOU CAN IF YOU MUST

A COLORED boy told about seeing a rabbit climb a tree, "Go on," said his friend, "How can a rabbit climb a tree?" The first one answered: "This rabbit had to." So it is with some contracts. If you have to make a certain play or plays succeed in order to make the contract, you cannot do otherwise than try it or them.

North and South were using the new Barclay slam convention. After 3-Spades, fixing a declaration for the side, North feared 3-No Trumps would sound like a natural bid, so used 4-Clubs as the lowest possible safe ace-asker. Since 4-Diamonds would have shown none, 4-Hearts one, South showed two with his 4-Spades. North's 4-No Trumps then inquired about kings. With 5-Clubs South would have shown none, with 5-Diamonds one, so his 5-Hearts showed two. The 5-No Trumps then asked about queens and South showed one. That was enough for over-ambitious North to try the grand slam in No Trumps.

North saw his only chance was with a successful diamond finesse and perhaps a squeeze, after East led the heart Q. He took it with the K, cashed five spades, sent the diamond Q through when West didn't cover, laid down the diamond A, then led a heart to the A on the board. Now if one player held four clubs and also the diamond K, the contract was sure, even if the clubs wouldn't break. That is what happened. In order to keep the diamond K guarding dummy's Q, West tossed off one of his clubs, so four club tricks for North completed the contract.

Foamed Rubber Forms Armor for Airplane Tanks; Seals Holes

LONDON, May 30—Foamed rubber as an armor for airplane tanks is a striking adaption of British industrial research to war service.

In peace time this special preparation was applied to a wide range of upholstery from the seats of London's fleet of buses to the fauteuils of the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre at Stratford-on-Avon.

It is produced from the milk of the rubber tree brought in special tankers from Malay which, after being chemically treated, is beaten up by a machine like a huge egg whisk and then run into moulds.

The inclusion of the material in the covering of a plane's petrol tank gives a novel protection against machine gun bullets. When a bullet hits the tank the leaking petrol acts the rubber swelling almost instantly and seals up the bullet's hole.

Will to Victory Is Spontaneous Faith of British Peoples

To the Editor of The Nelson Daily News:

Sir—It seems the hour is drawing near when England and Germany shall stand face to face, with life the prize and death the peril, the inevitable and decisive struggle man to man that through 22 years of unawareness on one side and purpose on the other, has portended.

And man to man, the hour of reckoning can have but one outcome. The one, imbued with an inhuman disregard for his opponent as a flesh and blood being, is himself a machine in the hands of a relentless destiny, to whom life is a means to an end, that end the ultimate projection of a country and a creed over the face of the earth. The other, an Englishman, Just that, call him Canadian, Scotch, what you will, the qualities that go to make him what he is were compounded and tempered when last a foreigner invaded England.

Prone to the virtues and vices of common humanity, bereft of all identity, he is first and foremost a man, his individuality his sacred trust. Part of a rigid and uncompromising discipline, he stands pat in the face of death and destruction, trusting his leader and his own instincts to bring him out on top. Prepared to give his life for his country, he refuses to acknowledge death as the last hope of victory.

This is a struggle of fanaticism against individualism. And where one will pass forever from the earth the other, wherever a life is laid down, in words of Rupert Brooke:

"There is a corner of some foreign field,
That is forever England."

This is our assurance in the time of our greatest peril, that the will to victory is not an incantation of hate, dinned into the brain through years of fear and death and suppression, but a spontaneous faith, compounded of individual confidence and united strength. We have ample room even yet to take a deeper breath, but our opponents must already strain against the last hitch in their national belt.

A country's courage lies in its state of mind, not in the mind of its State.

Jean Davenport Burgess.

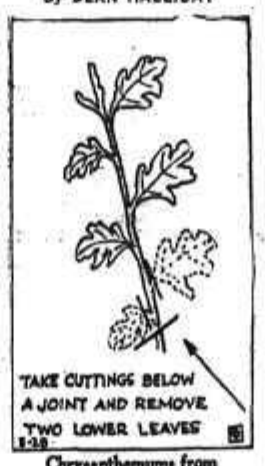
Put 'Mum Cuttings Into Pot First

By DEAN HALLIDAY



Chrysanthemums from cuttings

Gardeners who go in for chrysanthemums have undoubtedly noticed that nursery plants added from year to year are healthier, more vigorous and give more luxurious bloom that divisions made from their own clumps. The reason is that rooted cuttings of chrysanthemums "break" far better than do suckers on their own roots; that is, they make more branches and, in consequence, become bushy plants covered with bloom.

Cuttings can be made from chrysanthemums when the best stems are four to six inches long. As shown in the accompanying drawing, take cuttings below a joint and then remove the two lower leaves. Cuttings can be set out into a cold frame with a glass cloth cover or in a flower pot, flat or pan, in a cool basement. New growth will start in about three weeks, an indication that the cutting is well rooted.

If the weather is warm when growth starts on the cutting, much time can be saved if each cutting is then transplanted into a thumb pot of good soil, and not set out in the garden until the roots fill the little pot.

Ban Car Radio Sets in Britain

LONDON, May 30 (CP) — The Government issued new defence regulations today giving the Home Secretary power "to suppress any newspaper which systematically publishes matter which in his opinion is calculated to foment opposition to the prosecution of the war."

The regulation which also gives the Home Secretary power to "deal with" printing presses used to print offending newspapers, is expected to lead to suppression of "action" organ of Sir Oswald Mosley's British Fascist group, and the Communist newspaper, "Daily Worker."

Sir Oswald was detained last week in the Government's drive against Fifth Columnists.

The new rules prohibit the use of radio sets in automobiles and provide for confiscation of signalling apparatus. Authorities also are empowered to confiscate land for war use.

Another regulation designed to curb would-be fifth columnists forbids any unauthorized person making official uniforms, British or foreign, or any official badge or emblem.

The regulation empowering the suppression of anti-war newspapers is expected also to mean the end of a number of privately circulated news letters or broadsheets with pacifist, fascist or communist viewpoints.

CANADA ALREADY HAS POWERS

OTTAWA, May 30 (CP)—Defence of Canada Regulations of last September give the Secretary of State authority to suppress or restrict publication of newspapers likely to prejudice prosecution of the war.

Several Communist publications in various parts of Canada have already been banned, such as the Daily Clarion, Toronto newspaper, Clarte, French language newspaper of Montreal, and a Russian language paper in Winnipeg.

Organizations suspected of masking Nazi activities under other names are being weeded out. Clubrooms are being raided, 8800 German and Austrian men and women have been interned—although many of them professed to be "refugees" from the Hitler regime—and restrictions have been tightened to prevent aliens from owning automobiles, boats, bicycles or airplanes.

Arrests have increased daily, with charges ranging from studying of maps to taking gas company blueprints.

Sir John Anderson, Home Secretary, said more arrests are to come. He hinted that authorities had information of masquerading pro-Nazi organizations and said the offices of the anti-vivisection society had been raided because of information that British Fascists were operating from there.

He made no reply to a question by Lady Astor:

"Is it wise to lock up a man but leave his wife free??

Last week Sir Oswald Mosley, head of the British Union of Fascists, was interned. Lady Mosley remained at liberty.

BEDOUINS VOLUNTEER TO DEFEND COUNTRY

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, May 30 (AP).—Wandering Bedouin tribesmen from the Western desert bordering on Libya flocked to Egyptian military outposts today to volunteer for defence of their country in the belief Italy soon may make a hostile move.

Many recruits are sons of Bedouin chieftains who fled Italian rule in Libya.

There was a possibility that the Moslem high priests might call all Moslems to a "holy war" if Egypt is attacked.

British Victorious in Grim Rearguard Battles Near Coast

LONDON, May 30 (CP) — The British Expeditionary Force and its French companions fought today toward Dunkerque in a tremendous rearguard battle with the Nazi military machine.

Initial success in the withdrawal was indicated by a statement in authoritative circles that some divisions had reached the safety of a southeast port in England.

Meanwhile the "grim struggle goes on," these claims added.

The southeast coast of England took on a "front line" appearance, with streams of women and children leaving in fear of German bombers, carrying portable possessions with them.

The Government is expected to order all civilians to leave the South east coast if Germany consolidates her air bases on the French coast.

Battling the numerically-superior Nazi air force, British aviators yesterday disabled 69 planes—ratio of seven to one of their own losses.

Success of the rearguard fight in Flanders was seen in the fact that French as well as British were brought to safety, despite the German claim that Dunkerque harbor, from which Allied navies are removing the troops, had been rendered untenable by air attacks.

Many wounded soldiers and refugees are being safely transported across the channel to England, merging with the flow of women and children from the Southeast English coast area to create a huge mass movement toward the West.

Military circles said the expeditionary force still holds its main base depots in Flanders but said "we of course, have lost a great deal of material."

The furious German attack left the battle lines intact and French marines were in strong possession of Dunkerque through which it is believed the troops will have to be embarked before they can be moved back to French held territory and assigned to new battle stations.

Wounded Tommies continued to arrive in England as the battle raged on. They told stories of ruthless German attacks on refugees and fiercely declared their eagerness to go back and renew the fight as soon as they recover from their wounds.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express declared civilians could help the fighting forces by resisting "Hitler's attempt to arouse recriminations between France and Britain about the beginnings of the bulge (where the Germans drove their first salient into the French lines) and the gap" (through which they started their encirclement of the British.)

Asserting "incredible mistakes" were committed by both countries, the Express commented: "The people of Britain lingered long in slothfulness while France was fully mobilized for war."

OTTAWA, May 30 (CP) — Appointments of 20 officers to senior staff and command posts in the 2nd division, C. A. S. F., under Major-General Victor W. Odlum, Vancouver, divisional commander, were announced today by Hon. Norman Rogers, Defence Minister, and include:

A majority of the officers chosen saw extensive service in the last war. A number of them, including General Odlum rose from the ranks.

General Odlum returned to Ottawa from Vancouver by air today and is proceeding at once with the organization and assembly of his staff.

Posters Part of Italy Campaign to Enter War

ROME, May 30 (CP-Havas).—Posters picturing French possession of Tunisia as a pistol pointed at Italy appeared prominently in Rome overnight.

The inflammatory posters, voicing Fascist demands for French territory, were another step in the "unofficial" campaign in favor of Italian intervention in the war.

Premier Mussolini will preside at next Tuesday's cabinet meeting, it was confirmed today.

Rossland Operatic Society Scores Great Successes in "Trial by Jury"

Dominoes Please Too on Program for "the Chest"

ROSSLAND, B.C., May 30—The opera, "Trial by Jury" put on by the Rossland Opera Society, and the Dominoes, a girl troupe show, at the Capitol Theatre Monday and Tuesday evening, lived up to, and beyond the expectations of a packed house each night.

DOMINOES CLEVER

The performances of the Dominoes, on the earlier part of the program were encored without exception. Solos, "Siegfried Line" by Hans Johnson, "Oh! Johnny" by June Leland, and the "Beer Barrel Polka" by Ilda Agazzi were realistically rendered, and backed by the Domino chorus. Two group dance numbers, Polka, by Jean McDonell, Yvonne Langdale, Helen Juba, Jean Erskine, Helen Purcello, and Donna McKenzie; and "Voices of Spring" by Helen Purcello, Yvonne Langdale, and Helen Juba, were brought back for repeat performances by the tremendous applause.

"Boomps-a-Daisy," featuring song and chorus, with Donna McKenzie and Alolse Mara singing the duet, was cleverly done, and proved one of the most popular presentations. Capping the show was a tango by Mrs. Ethel Quinn and Miss Eileen Macdonald.

The show ran through without hesitation, and reflected great credit on Miss Eileen Macdonald, and H. Mellor-Langdale, who trained the troupe. Members were Yvonne Langdale, Aloulse Mara, Peggy McCullough, Dilys Jones, Jean McDonell, Donna McKenzie, Helen Juba, Jean Erskine, Helen Purcello, Ilda Agazzi, June Leland, Joyce Gordon, Annie Yurisich, Ina Irvin, Mary Conci, Ila Purcello, Mona Connor, Helen Schley, Mary Bathie, Margaret Martin, Lila Gooding, Annie Lucin.

OPERA OUTSTANDING

Particularly outstanding in the performance of "Trial by Jury" was the fine individual acting of every member of the cast, including the chorus, and the jurymen.

The scene of the popular opera opened while a motley assembly of spectators and jurymen were finding their seats preparatory to the famous trial of breach of promise between Angelina and Edwin. The variety of custumes and makeup evidenced the thorough way with which the entire cast had entered into the humor of the play. Spectators included market women, widows, teen-age youngsters, young business and society women, and even a Salvation Army lass, and the spontaneity of their arrival infected the audience with a delightful anticipation of the humorous situations to come.

The remarkable behaviour of the jurymen kept all eyes focussed as each man turned an already cheerful plot into a rollicking farce. Another point particularly favorable was the intense attitude of interest carried by the cast throughout. The counsels for both plaintiff and defendant, centred on stage, carried through their attitude of legal demeanor and precise attention during the entire proceedings.

The defendant took his part particularly well, wringing sympathy from the audience by his clever reception of the scorn of the entire cast, who proclaimed him a "heartless monster," declaring in the same breath, that "from bias free to every kind this trial must be tried!"

JUDGE'S SONG

The famous judge's song received an encore, the judge conducting himself well, and explaining his rise to prestige admirably.

Not the least important personage was the court usher, who delighted the audience with his officious manner, and his sly attempts to flirt with one of the bridesmaids, later transferring his affections to the plaintiff. Counsel for the plaintiff took his part well, and his song pleading for sympathy for his client was very well rendered.

The bridesmaids' entrance and song was most effective, their diction clear, and individual acting and facial expressions very well carried out. Miss Jean McIntosh, who took the lead role sang exquisitely, and played the broken-hearted maiden convincingly, bringing an encore to her opening song.

JURY CONVULSING

Highlighting the humor throughout was the superb acting of the jury. The ridiculous way with which they disappeared behind the front of the jury box when told "all jurymen kneel!" by the usher, with the odd hand flashing up to snatch flowers left behind in their haste, and the spectacle of "British jurymen" peering surreptitiously over the ledges of the box carried the audience to near-hysteria. On the appearance of the bride, they convulsed into a huddle, reminiscent of a soccer game, to emerge to the triumphant announcement of the foreman that the answer was "Rapture"! Later, when they cuddled up and went to sleep during the defendant's pleadings, revived with animation and flower-throwing when the bridesmaids knelt before them, and collapsed into sleep immediately the defendant recommenced, they again convulsed the audience.

Another high point was reached when the foreman of the jury, overcome by his emotion, bounded out of the box to console the bride in a "fatherly" manner.

At the point where the dilemma is reached by the suggestion of the defendant that he might marry one girl today and the other tomorrow, which was pronounced by the plaintiff counsel as "Burglarse", the chorus work was outstanding, and received an ovation. The situation was solved suddenly by the judge who announced he would marry the bride himself, and a joyful court sang merrily, "For He Is a Judge, and a Good Judge —o!"

CAST

The cast was A. H. Freeman, the Judge; Ralph Smythe, Trail, Counsel for the Plaintiff; Albert Nichols, Counsel for the Defendant; E. O. Bouchier, Usher; Louis Parisotto, Trail, Defendant; Hans Johnson, Foreman of Jury; Lillas Jarvis, Jean McDonell, Helen Mitchell, Jean McIntosh, Helen Stevens, and Yvonne Langdale, bridesmaids. The plaintiff's role was taken by Miss Jean McIntosh, of Beaver Bend. This part was originally cast for Miss Ina Irvin, of Rossland, who was unable to sing on account of illness.

Spectators and Jurymen were Misses Jean Buick, Dorothy Buchanan, Jean Evans, Pauline Lonzo, Eileen Seccombe, Cynthia Tilson; Mesdames Hugh Bates, Fred Armishaw, E. O. Bourchier, Edith Jure, H. Mellor-Langdale; H. A. Lindquist, E. A. Morris, D. K. Macalister, J. Pennoyer, J. H. Thom, E. Young, and O. Aasland, Floyd Bremer, J. B. Carr, Winston Churchill, F. M. Ethridge, Ronald Eccles, L. E. Hamilton, H. A. Lindquist, George Watson, C. Davidson, Raymond McLeod, John Melville, and A. T. O'Reilly.

Mr. Freeman was Stage Manager, W. L. Gray Acting-Manager, and H. Mellor-Langdale, L.R.A.M., A.R.C.M. L.R.S.M., was musical director

"Whereas Canadians are fired with the way the Old Country has faced the unprecedented emergency and the way she is organizing all her forces, both economic and political, into one great, united and supreme effort, and, whereas we feel that, in this great emergency, Canadians do no less and that as our present leaders still do not respond or understand the aroused Canadian opinion from coast to coast, be it resolved that we strongly urge every effort be made to secure the immediate return of the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett to head and lead a great non-political crusade throughout the Dominion for a more determined effort."

SERIAL STORY . . . By Richard Houghton

THE KILLER SPEAKS

CHAPTER FORTY-EIGHT

The boat landing was a hot place to wait, but it had one great advantage. I didn't have to look at the garden and its terrible memories. I hung my feet over the edge and squinted toward the setting sun. The light on the water was a flame that burned my eyes. Barges and speed boats passed in a distorting mist. Time dragged.

I asked myself, how would I feel in George Markham's place? Suppose I had a lovely sister, and the man who killed my brother wanted to marry her?

No matter that it was not murder—how would I feel?

There seemd to be only one answer. I would not want that man to take my brother's place. Every time we met, the shadow of my brother would be between us.

And even though George Markham might forgive, would Louise forgive? I would have to tell her some day. I could not keep this bottled in my heart.

The sun was close to the horizon. George had said, "I'll come back after sundown with my answer." I wanted this suspense to end, and yet I was afraid of his coming.

What was he doing? Was he going to the police with my story?

The ball of the sun burned red as it sank into the molten clouds. It vanished. Purple shadows stretched long fingers toward me. Warmth died away. I shivered.

A boat came by with lights aglow. I heard the tinkle of glass inside the clubhouse as the tables were set for dinner.

Still George Markham did not appear.

The clubhouse door opened shortly before 8 o'clock. I rose unsteadily and started toward the man who came out. Then I halted. It was Captain McDonald.

He didn't see me. Instead, he walked slowly to the willows by the river's edge and studied the ground near where Calla had attacked me. He removed his hat and scratched his head. In the semi-darkness I could just make out the shadow of his cigar as it moved from one side of his mouth to the other.

Soon the door opened again and Coroner Silver came out and joined him. I remembered with a shudder that the young coroner had declared he would continue his investigation, unofficially if necessary, until the killer of Alfred Markham was apprehended.

The two bloodhounds were engaged in low-voiced conversation. The willows shielded me from them now, so I walked nearer, as casually as I could. My feet made no sound on the soft garden soil.

"That cook certainly is a wiz," the captain was saying. "I wish I'd discovered this place before. And to think that it took a murder to do it!"

"You know," said Coroner Silver, "I was afraid for a time that we weren't going to get along together. This business of two officers of the law pulling in opposite directions isn't at all conductive to good results."

"Right. You've got good ideas, Jim, but you need a little more experience. I can help you, and maybe you can help me."

"What do you mean, 'maybe'?"

"We-ell, it takes an old hand like me a long time to change his methods."

"As long as it will take me to get experience?"

The captain slapped the younger man on the shoulder. "You're okay, Jim." They both laughed.

I moved away, fearful of discovery. The conversation did not seems significant, but on the other hand if they were going to pull together now they might yet break down my alibi. I was alarmed.

Again the clubhouse door opened. I recognized George Markham under the new lights that had been strung between the wings of the building. He strode toward me.

"Sorry I'm so late," he said. "I've been doing a lot of investigating."

He sat down on one of the benches and motioned me to sit beside him. For a moment he was silent. Then, "Perhaps I am old-fashioned, Strickland, but I've always thought of a drug addict as more or less a beast. What you told me this afternoon was a shock. I've confirmed what you said. The dope fiend is a man to be pitied. It's a disease.

"I've talked with St. Clair and others who attended that fatal party. They admitted my brother had been acting strangely in the early part of the evening."

"What have you decided?"

"Not guilty."

My heart leaped. I found his hand gripping mine.

"It was the best thing that could have happened," he continued. "You didn't really kill my brother. The drug killed him. You put an end to his miseries and cut short his life before his disgraceful secret became known—because it would have been a disgrace, for Louise at least. I think the Markham family, instead of prosecuting you for what you did not intend to do, should thank you from the bottom of its heart for what you did do. I think if Alfred were here, he would thank you, too. Did you know that he left a will which establishes the hospital he had long dreamed about?"

I tried to answer. My voice choked up on me.

"I guess that's all," said Markham. He rose. "I—I feel terribly upset tonight, naturally. I have a headache. Louise doesn't know about this, of course, and I had planned to take her to the movies to cheer her up. I—I can't."

"Of course not." I got to my feet.

"So I suggested to her that you might take my place. She, I am sorry to say, liked the idea!" He managed to smile. "You will find her waiting in the car at the clubhouse steps."

I swallowed. His hand was on my shoulder. "Good luck," he said.

As I walked toward the glass doors I was close behind Captain McDonald and Coroner Silver, going in to have dinner together.

"George Markham was in to see me this afternoon," the coroner was saying. "He is willing to have us drop the whole matter. The newspapers have forgotten it already, he points out, and we will not lose as much prestige as though we continued our efforts, kept the headlines stirred up, and then had to admit failure. There certainly are no clues. That's why I say it must have been done in a fit of anger, with no preparation."

"You're crazy, Silver. It was an inside job. I wish I could find who it was planned to switch those lights off at 10:30 in case the cook didn't do it." He growled. "But I guess you're right. Let's forget it. Boy! Do I smell steak!"

Emergency Powers Bill for New Zealand

WELLINGTON, May 30 (CP.-Reuters) — An "all in" war effort for New Zealand was outlined as Parliament opened today with the introduction of an emergency powers bill and Prime Minister Peter Fraser renewed his efforts to obtain the cooperation of the Opposition in the proposed War Council.

The emergency regulations amendment bill provides that all persons should place themselves, their property and services at the disposal of the Governor General.

The speech from the throne announced that more than 53,000 men had volunteered for Overseas service and that more than 32,000 had been accepted.

It said New Zealand would provide 3000 airplane pilots a year and contribute £2,000,000 ($8,900,000) over a three-year period to the Empire Air Training scheme.

Pilot Swims to Safety After 3 Fighters Downed

LONDON, May 30 (CP).—A fighter pilot of a Royal Air Force squadron reported on his day's work yesterday—"shot down three Nazi fighters and a dive bomber, jumped by parachute from my crippled Hurricane, swam until picked up by a paddle steamer, and was landed at Margate."

The Air Ministry made public his report:

"I was in a formation of nine aircraft patrolling Dunkerque. Toward the end of our patrol we sighted about nine Messerschmitt 109 fighters. A dog fight ensued.

"A Messerschmitt 109 started climbing away from me. I opened fire at 100 yards and the second burst set him on fire. I then turned right and attacked another Messerschmitt 109, firing one burst from astern. His port wing folded up.

"A Junkers 88 flew across my path and after an attack his starboard engine emitted black smoke and he half-rolled into the sea.

"I was then hit underneath by cannon shell. As I did a complete turn to the right I saw a Messerschmitt 110 flying past. I made a beam attack on him. His starboard engine smoked and he turned on his back and fell into the sea.

"I then turned to the right and saw a large number of enemy aircraft, so I turned sharply to the left and saw at least 80 enemy aircraft proceeding in the direction of Dover. A number of them immediately turned on me so I headed for home, twisting and turning to avoid attack.

"Whichever way I turned I ran into fire. My Hurricane was hit a number of times. Two shells smashed the instrument panel and three more struck underneath. The engine stopped and flames appeared over the wing roots.

"I was at 400 feet and tried to get out but could not so I pulled the stick back from a crouching position on the seat.

"As the hurricane stalled I got over the portside and took a header. I was being fired at so I delayed pulling the ripcord as long as possible. I left the fighter at 800 feet. My parachute worked perfectly. My lifejacket held me up well with one deep breath in it.

"I was picked up by a paddle steamer and landed at Margate."

U. S. Adds Billion for Defences

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP) — The White House announced today a new defence program of more than $1,000,000,000 to supply needs of the U. S. Army and navy which are regarded as critical in the light of latest developments in the war.

Stephen Early, Presidential Secretary, told reporters President Roosevelt hoped to send to Congress tomorrow a message recommending additional defence expenditures of more than $1,000,000,000. He said it would be used for such things as tanks, guns, planes, and building up reserves of material.

The President, early reported, also will request legislative action to permit expanded training of men for both combatant and non-combatant purposes.

Almost simultaneously with Early's disclosures, Senator Byrnes, acting with approval of the President, proposed that the pending relief bill be amended to provide for training civilian conservation corps enrollees in non-combatant activities essential to the army and navy in wartime.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 30 (AP)—Dapper Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis drove today to his third triumph in the Indianapolis "500," beating out Rex Mays of Glendale, Calif., by 2½ miles in the 28th annual motor speedway race, the pace of which was slowed by sprinkles of rain.

Shaw became the second driver in the history of the speedway classic to win the event three times and the first ever to win twice in succession. Louis Meyer of Huntington Park, Calif., who retired after last year's race, is the only other previous three-time winner.

The 37-year-old Shaw, who first triumphed in 1937 and repeated in 1939, piloted his eight-cylinder Italian-made car to victory today in 4:22.31.16 to average 114.277 miles an hour, far below the record of 117.200 miles established by the late Floyd Roberts in 1938.

After Mays crossed the finish line officials hung out the red flag calling drivers off the track.

Mauri Rose of Columbus, O., won third place behind Mays and Ted Horn of Hawthorne, N.J., fourth. Joel Thorne of Tucson, was fifth; Bob Swanson of Los Angeles, sixth; Frank Wearne of Pasadena, Calif., seventh; Mel Hansen of Los Angeles, eighth and Frank Brisko of Chicago, ninth.

Shaw won more than $30,000. He grabbed the $20,000 first prize and won $5100 in lap awards. He also will receive other cash awards from automobile concerns.

Third Largest Baseball Crowd Sees Yankees and Boston Split Two Games; Giants Oust Dodgers

(By The Canadian Press)

Before 62,457 fans, the third largest crowd in baseball history, the world champion Yankees and Boston Red Sox divided an American League doubleheader yesterday, New York winning the first 4-0 and dropping the second 11-4.

Red Ruffing pitching two-hit ball in the opener, the champions' sixth straight triumph, and had a no-hit game until Joe Cronin singled in the eighth inning.

The Yankees scored three runs in the second off Lefty Grove, including Bill Dickey's third homer, and added another in the fourth. It was the season's first defeat for Grove, who retired in the fifth.

Rookie Herb Hash pitched the Red Sox to their victory in the nightcap with the help of a 14-hit offensive by his teammates. Joe Cronin homered with two on in the third and Joe DiMaggio hit for the circuit with one on for the Yanks in the fourth.

Cleveland Indians made a twin killing against Chicago White Sox, taking both ends of an American League doubleheader by the same score—3-1. Hal Trosky, tribe first baseman, got his 11th homer of the season in the third inning of the nightcap.

After winning the first game 7-6 with a two-run rally in the ninth inning, Philadelphia Athletics lost the second half of an American League doubleheader to Washington Senators in seven innings 14-2. The nightcap was called because of darkness.

Detroit Tigers strengthened their hold on third place in the American League by sweeping a doubleheader from St. Louis Browns. The Bengals won the opener 2-1 and outslugged the Brownies 15-6 in the second engagement before 33,461 fans.

Cincinnati Reds regained first place in the National League by taking two games from Chicago Cubs. The Reds won 4-2 in the first game and then increased their lead to two full games by winning the nightcap 9-8 in 12 innings, as Johnny Rizzo singled home Frank McCormick with the deciding run. Chicago's largest baseball crowd of the season, 30,828, saw the Cubs slump extend to six defeats in seven games.

Eddie Miller's homer with the bases loaded in the 11th inning of the nightcap gave Boston Bees a 5-1 victory and an even split of their National League double-header with the Phillies. Philadelphia took the opener by the same score behind the five-hit pitching of Kirby Higbe.

Before a capacity crowd of 34,548 New York Giants swept a doubleheader 7-0 and 12-5 and knocked Brooklyn from the National League lead.

In the first game old Carl Hubbell came within one single of pitching a perfect game. He was rapped for a single by Johnny Hudson in the second inning. A double play erased him and the Southpaw screwballer faced only 27 batters. He gave no walks and no Dodger except Hudson reached first.

But the nightcap was a riotous 12-inning engagement in which the Dodgers used 20 players and went down battling even after the Giants bombarded eight runs across in the 12th.

Humble Leads in Nelson Baseball Batting, Hurling

Pounding out eight base hits in 15 trips to the plate in four games, Coach Ray Humble is pacing the hitting parade of the Nelson Senior Baseball club with a .533 average. Two of the blows have gone for extra bases, both doubles, and he has driven in five runs, a creditable number, for two of the games were tight pitchers' duels. Besides the R. B. I. column he also leads in run scoring with four.

Ernie Beland, 18-year-old converted outfielder, also a right-handed hitter, is close behind with an even .500 mark, comprising six hits in 12 times at bat. Ernie missed one of the home games. Four of his hits have been singles, one a double and the other a three-bagger.

"Doc" Chodorcoff, the first sacker, leads in extra-base hits with a brace of triples and one double. He has four other hits to his credit for a .412 average, third best on the club.

Humble is not content with superiority in the defensive department, but he is also showing the way for the pitchers. He has won both of the Nelson victories, going the distance in each game, and has compiled an amazing earned run average of .409. Only one run of the earned variety has gone on the scoresheet while he has been on the mound, 12 innings to be exact, the other three innings comprising two relief tricks. He has allowed 14 hits, little more than one an inning. He has struck out 15 batters and walked but two, and hit one.

FORMER SOCCERITE DIES

YORK, England, May 30 (CP.-Cable) — Thomas Dingsdale, 40, former fullback of York, English Rugby League Club, died in hospital today from injuries suffered in a motor car crash. His two companions, Edmund Spillane, 31, Captain of the Bramley team in the same league, and Desmond Day of York were injured. In one season he kicked 100 goals for the York team.

Catholics Ring Up Third Successive Win by Same Score

Some people have lucky numbers, they say, and apparently the Catholic softball teams have too. The Senior C.Y.O. Girls defeated the Baptists 39-28 and the Junior C.Y.O. Girls defeated the Trinity Girls 39-28 in recent games, and now the Catholic St. Joseph's Academy team in their latest victory over the Central School won by the same score 39-28. Margaret Singleton, pitcher, and Marie Stangherlin, catcher, hit two and three homers, respectively, for the Catholics in the Monday game as well as doing splendid jobs in their infield positions.

Leafs Rarin' to Get at Trail in Boxla Tonight

Lakesiders Discontent With Last Place Standing

"We the champions of the last two years—in the bottom of the league. Phooey."

"We'll tear those Trail guys apart tomorrow night."

"It's taking us a little while to get going, but watch us pile up victories now."

With these and other ominous threads emanating from the dressing room of the Nelson Maple Leafs after their practice Thursday night, one would assume the Golden Bears are going to be in for a rough time of it in their first appearance of the season in the Civic Arena tonight. But of course Hughie Miller's Bears, ranking better on paper than the Leafs, are no pushovers and in that event lacrosse fans are going to have plenty of rousing entertainment this evening. Action starts at 8:15.

Fulfilling Coach Jock Walmsley's vow earlier in the week that spectators would see a different Nelson lacrosse team on the floor next time from a "meek and mild" outfit they were, the Leafs came near tearing themselves to pieces at last night's workout so hard and fiercely were they checking their men. And to whelp them to perk up their attack Walmsley will get back into strip as a rover and Pete Bonneville, centre, has recovered from a charley horse which kept him out of Monday's game in Trail.

Tonight's Leafian lineup will be Dave Gibbons, goal; Stan Morris, Everett Kuhn, Stewie Paterson and Bill Townsend, defence; John Ely and Jock Walmsley, rovers; Bing Miller and Pete Bonneville, centres; Ian Dingwall, Harold Mayo, Harold Tapanila and Doug Blais, wings.

ABANDON LOS ANGELES OLYMPIC TRACK TRIALS

Over 40 Golfers Will Play in the Kootenay Tourney

Qualifying Rounds Are Scheduled Saturday Morning

Some 40 golfers from Sheep Creek, Trail, Rossland, Kaslo and New Denver will be competing in the Kootenay open golf tournament on the Nelson Golf and Country Club links this weekend. Entries close at 6 o'clock tonight, when the draws will be made for the qualifying rounds Saturday morning.

The tournament is open to all Kootenay golfers, not merely members in good standing of Kootenay clubs as first planned.

PERHAPS FIVE SECTIONS

After Saturday morning's qualifying rounds, the first rounds in the championship and possibly as many as four other flights will start right after lunch. The second rounds are scheduled for Sunday morning and the semi-finals will be played in the afternoon. The finals will be played either Monday morning or the following weekend to suit the convenience of the finalists.

A feature of this year's tournament will be a long-driving contest early Sunday afternoon. Trail will defend the Schwengers-Wilkinson Cup for competition between four-man club teams. The Club captains will nominate their teams before the qualifying rounds tomorrow morning.

The championship was won last year by Roy Stone of Trail when he defeated his brother Reginald in the final.

Kootenay River From Shoreacres to Beasley Is Closed to All Fishermen

Complete Closure to Be Result Order by Attorney-General

Fishing in the Kootenay River West of Nelson—from the Beasley boom to Shoreacres—is forbidden. This area includes the famed Slocan Pool, a favorite fishing ground of fly fishermen. The restriction is a war measure, the hydro-electric plants of the West Kootenay Power & Light Co. Ltd. being along this stretch of the Kootenay River. The order will complete closure of the area, hitherto partially restricted, to all anglers.

The order received by C. F. Kearns, Game Branch Inspector for B Division, and Provincial Police divisional headquarters at Nelson, follows:

THE ORDER

"Under authority of Subsection 6 of Section 26 of the special fishery regulations for the Province of British Columbia, made by order-in-council on the 26th day of April, 1938, P.C. 869, as amended, under authority of Fisheries Act, Chapter 42, Statues of Canada, 1932, all angling in the Kootenay River from Slocan River to Beasley, in the Province of British Columbia—more particularly described as follows: That part of the Kootenay River lying between the Beasley boom, which extends from a point on the left bank 300 feet, more or less, upstream from the Northwest corner of Lot 7703, Kootenay District, to a point on the right bank, 900 feet, more or less, upstream from the Southwest corner of Lot 10,272, thence downstream to a point where the Slocan River enters into the Kootenay River—is hereby prohibited until further notice."

Carl Hubbell's brilliant 24-game winning streak over a two-season stretch, longest in major-league baseball history, was snapped by Brooklyn Dodgers at New York three years ago today. The Dodgers blasted Hubbell from the box in four innings and won the game 10-3.

Germans Fail in Terrific Drive to Cut Allies in Two

By AXEL DE HOLSTEIN
Havas Staff Writer

PARIS, May 30 (CP-Havas) — Balking the German drive to turn the Flanders pocket into a sieve, Allied troops slowly retreated Northwestward today under the protection of their air forces toward Dunkerque, where British and French warships were helping keep the battered port open as an embarkation point.

The fighting gathered momentum during the day. Furiously launched Nazi drives succeeded in making some infiltrations but failed in their primary purpose—to cut the Allied army in two by capturing the "mountain line" running from Cassel to Ypres, a French military spokesman said.

Simultaneous German attacks designed to choke off the line of Allied retreat midway between Lille and Dunkerque were launched from the Southeast and Northwest.

The spokesman here said the Germans were stopped in the Northern sector along the Yser River. The Nazis won a foothold on Mount Cassel, it was stated, but were turned back when they attempted to drive a deeper wedge into the Allied lines.

WITHDRAWAL IS METHODICAL

Most of the Allied units protecting the flanks of the retreat are British troops. Under their protection, the remainder of the Allied forces deep in the Flanders pocket were methodically withdrawing under the plan being carried out by General Rene Prioux.

Fighting vigorous rearguard and flank actions as they moved, the British and French forces received effective aid from their low-flying aircraft.

The gradual compression of the fronts is compensating for the loss of half the Allied effectives by the surrender of King Leopold. British troops now heroically stemming the German tide along the Yser River and Canal are doing, it was emphasized here, what King Leopold refused to undertake.

BATTLEFIELD HUGE FUNNEL IN SHAPE

The Flander battleground is described here as a huge funnel, with its axis roughly traced by the line between Lille and Dunkerque. The latter port, although under terrific punishment, was still solidly in Allied hands following defeat of a direct push attempted yesterday by German motorized units from the Southwest.

The sides of the funnel are solidly lined by Allied troops, most of them British forming a double and widening lane through which others were methodically withdrawing Northwestward to the coast.

The Northeastward line was drawn roughly between Nieuport and Ypres, then Southwestward between Gravelines and Cassel.

In reality the "mountain line" between Cassel and Ypres consists of nothing more than a series of low-lying hills which, however, stand out sharply against the surrounding Flanders Plain. They afford excellent positions and their capture by the Germans would tightly bottle up the Allied divisions still in the Southern reaches of the Flanders pocket.

Realizing this, the Nazis attempted a Northeastward push from St. Omer toward Cassel. Motorized units meanwhile attempted a secondary diversion movement directly against Dunkerque, but succeeded only in gaining a foothold on Mount Cassel, Westernmost of the Flemish hills.

What few infiltrations the Germans succeeded in making were accomplished to the Southeast of the "mountain line." The gains were not appreciable, however, and the main body of the French force under General Prioux was steadily making its way to the coast.

"NO SURRENDER"

The military spokesman emphasized that there has been no surrender of any troops. Fighting day and night without respite, they were helped from the air by waves of Allied planes. Royal Air Force squadrons operating from bases in England were said to be playing an important role.

Allied planes and anti-aircraft batteries have taken terrific toll, it was said, forcing the German air command to adopt a more prudent strategy. The enemy seems hesitant for the first time, the military spokesman said, to continue his practice of mass operations, cost what they may.

The Allies unbroken grip on Dunkerque was reinforced from the sea by a strong Allied fleet concentrated in the Channel to pound enemy units with their big guns and help in the work of troop evacuation.

STILL HOLD CALAIS

Farther Southwest, French and British troops were reported holding out in Calais after days of unbroken fighting.

In the Dunkerque region Allied naval units were reported to have begun successfully the removal of troops, while at the same time moving in large supplies for forces still in the battle zone.

HUGE ENEMY FORCES

The Germans, the commentator estimated, had thrown into the converging offensive approximately 40 divisions (440,000 to 600,000 men), including the greater part of 10 divisions of mechanized and armored units.

Fighting through an area criss-crossed by canals and streams, many deliberately flooded by the Allies, the Germans were said to be encountering terrific land resistance, in addition to destructive bombardments from the air.

The spokesman reported the Germans had lost approximately 2000 planes with their crews since the Nazi invasion of the Low Countries began May 10.

An estimated 300,000 French and British were backing toward the sea to escape the German trap.

Dunkerque was under constant artillery and aerial fire by Nazis hoping to wipe out the remnants of the withdrawal forces, whose plight became dangerous after the surrender Tuesday of the Belgian army under King Leopold III.

British Move From East Coast Homes

By SAM ROBERTSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

LONDON, May 30 (CP Cable).—The people of the United Kingdom, who once wondered if the fury of German arms would strike at the British Isles, long considered impregnable to invasion, today speculated when the blow would fall.

As evidence accumulated that Hitler might push a thrust at the heart of the Empire, many families which had voluntarily evacuated to East coast homes now seek a haven further inland.

The possibility that the Nazi high command in planning operations against the United Kingdom is discussed in a Paris dispatch to the London Telegraph. Reporting that such a belief is held in the French capital, the correspondent said German military preparations in Zeeland and Norway cannot be explained by local operations.

"Numerous troops lately stationed in Southern Germany and parts of Austria have been withdrawn," the correspondent wrote. "If the Northern offensive had failed, the German command would have tried to seize Switzerland. Now it is determined to stake all its resources in Northern France against the British."

Evacuees are being moved from danger zones Westward across England. They are mostly women and children. Children wearing labels destining them for evacuation centres can be seen at railway stations dotting the coast. Many seafront homes in Kent, which had four air raid alarms in the past week, are empty and boarded up.

Essex Regiment Ordered to Occupy Border Barracks

WINDSOR, Ont., May 30 (CP).—A hundred men of the Essex Regiment (tank) occupied the St. Luke Road barracks early today on orders of Brigadier D. J. MacDonald, Officer Commanding Military District No. 1.

At this barracks, situated strategically near the International border, the troops are in a position to swing four heavy army trucks, each manned by a Vickers machine-gun crew and riflemen, into action.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police also announced the addition of eight men to the local detachment, bringing its strength to 17, strongest ever assembled here. Officers will be placed on 24-hour duty at the bridge and tunnel that link Windsor and Detroit, guarding against entry of enemy aliens. River patrols will also be increased.

Police today reported the arrest of an alleged enemy alien, a Fred Schlechter, 28, who is said to have been wandering around the country. He is being held for investigation.

LITHUANIANS PROBE KIDNAPPING OF RUSSIANS

KAUNAS, May 30 (CP-Havas)—The Lithuanian Government announced today that it had appointed a special commission to investigate Soviet charges that a number of Russian soldiers stationed on Lithuanian soil had been kidnapped.

"Those found guilty will be most severely punished by the Lithuanian Government," the official communique said.

'BRITISH ISLES FACE GRAVEST MENACE'

MORECOMBE, England, May 30 (CP).—The British Isles are menaced "in graver degree than ever before and a desperate effort is required to recover," J. C. Little, member of the new Labor Supply Board told the Amalgamated Engineering Union today.

Referring to Fifth Columnists, Mr. Little said: "There may be a movement here as formidable as that revealed in Belgium, Holland, Denmark and Norway. We have yet to realize the significance and possibility of it."

PATTULLO CONFERS WITH FINANCE MINISTER

OTTAWA, May 30 (CP).—Premier T. D. Pattullo and Finance Minister John Hart of British Columbia conferred yesterday with Hon. Norman Rogers, Defence Minister, regarding war problems and British Columbia's war effort, it was learned today.

"It is the objective of the Dominion Government to bring every person in Canada into line to find their right niche in helping this country to render service in the prosecution of the war to the fullest possible extent," said Mr. Pattullo.

SEVEN BELGIAN GROUPS FIGHT STILL WITH ALLIES

PARIS, May 30 (AP).—A Belgian Government spokesman said today seven groups of Belgian soldiers still are fighting with the Allies despite King Leopold's orders to surrender. The number of men was not known.

Germans Rain Bombs on British Embarking at Dunkerque, Ostend

BERLIN, May 30 (CP).—The German high comand's communique today claimed that "the bitter battle of Flanders and Artois is nearing the end with the destruction of the English and French armies fighting there."

The communique claimed the British Expeditionary Force "since yesterday is also in complete dissolution."

(The B.E.F. remains intact in a military sense. It is fighting stiff rearguard actions as it withdraws, and, while the Germans have fallen heir to considerable supplies left on the field, all supply depots of the B.E.F. are in British hands.)

The communique said:

"Swimming and in small boats, the enemy is attempting to reach English ships lying in the roads outside the harbor, (Dunkerque) upon which our air force bore down with destructive effects, as already announced.

"Over 60 ships were hit, of which three warships and 16 transports were sunk. Ten warships and 21 merchant ships of all sizes were seriously damaged or fired.

"Our anti-aircraft and artillery also sank one enemy patrol boat and damaged five others, as well as five speedboats.

(These claims have not been confirmed in London or Paris.)

"Pursuit and destroyer plane groups, participating for protection of a monster attack of German fighting units, shot down 68 enemy planes.

(Total Royal Air Force losses yesterday were 10 machines.)

"The fight around Narvik (Norwegian Arctic iron ore port, which the Allies yesterday captured) is continuing unabatingly. Our troops occupied mountain positions outside the city and they are being reinforced. Fighting planes raided one enemy airport.

"Several planes were destroyed on the ground.

"Our mountain chasers pushing Northward from Trondheim took Fauske, East of Todoe.

"One of our submarines reported sinking seven enemy streamers with a tonnage of 33,480."

(This claim was not confirmed in London.)

An earlier high command communique said:

"On the afternoon and evening of May 29 strong groups of two flying corps under the leadership of Generals Grauert and Von Richtofen attacked British warships and transport vessels in the harbors and sea regions around Ostend and Dunkerque which were to remove the remainder of the defeated British Expeditionary Force to their homeland.

"The attack, in which units of all the armed forces participated, was aimed at more than 60 ships. Three warships and 16 transports, among them ships of more than 15,000 tons, were sunk by concentrated bomb attacks.

"Thirty-one other ships received full hits and were badly damaged, part of them being made unmanageable and part set afire.

"The locks of the harbor of Dunkerque were completely destroyed and the harbor basins emptied.

"Pursuit fliers, who in common with the bombers carried on the fight against the English transport undertaking, shot down 68 planes. . . . Ten other planes which protected the loading operations were shot down by anti-aircraft fire.

"The anti-aircraft guns sank in addition a smaller warship and heavily damaged five others with direct hits."

ood Crops of Small Fruits, Apples, ears Indicated Kootenay-Boundary; egetable and Hay Crops Coming On

ght Crop Cherries May Be Result of Weather

airly good crops of small fruits indicated in Kootenay-Boundary season, reports of Department griculture officials indicate, but a little early yet to "size up" larger tree fruits. Vegetable and and grain crops are well ad- ced. Cherry crops are likely to light.

rop indications for the three as at this time, as reported in news letter published by the rticultural Branch, Department Agriculture, follow:

OOTENAY AND ROW LAKES

Strawberries . . . appear healthy this time and the indications are a good crop on showing of om. Some weevil damage reports coming in. Raspberry canes are king good growth and a good p is expected. The plants are just ning into bloom.

Sweet cherries appear to have ly a fair to poor set, due to the ry unfavorable weather during blossom period. However, a few the early sections of the district have some good weather at soom time and in these sections set is much better. Just a little early to size up the crop to any gree of accuracy. Pears are show- a heavy crop and apples have a ter showing than last year, with exception of McIntosh Red and ntosh. The best showing is on rthern Spy, Rome Beauty and agener, which are above the av- ge.

"Owing to the warmer weather all getable crops have made good owth. Early potatoes are well up, most of the late crop has been anted. Indications are that a larg- acreage will be planted this year an in 1939.

"Grain and hay crops are well ad- nced and some early fields of al- lfa will be ready to cut around e first of June.

"The small fruit crop is expected be good, with both strawberries d raspberries coming through the inter in good condition. The acre- ge of small fruits is dropping rapid- owing to lack of irrigation water the Doukhobour community nds.

"There has been a heavy set of uit on most varieties and indi- ations point to a very heavy tree uit crop. No frost damage has een experienced so far.

"Indications are that there will be reduction in the alfalfa acreage, a eatly increased acreage of onion ed and other vegetable seed crops, hile other crops remain the same.

RESTON

"If the picking season is favorable normal crop of strawberries can e expected as the beds look very romising at present. Raspberries eveloped slight cane and bud in- ury where exposed to the Spring rost of nearly a month ago in the ower situations of the valley, other- ise the patches are making rapid rowth and are budding out well; ll young canes are strong and vig- rous. Bush fruits have set very ell and a good crop is assured, hough mildew, owing to this dry, arm weather, is affecting most of the European varieties which were ot sprayed this Spring.

"Cherries were affected by poor pollenization as the set is lighter han was expected and the same ondition prevails throughout the alley. On account of the light crop n increase in size might be expect- d to somewhat offset the lesser uantity, but growers are keenly isappointed at this stage.

PLUMS, PRUNES PROMISING

"Plums and prunes show great romise, especially the latter, as so many young trees planted out re- cently are now coming into bear- ing. Pears were just coming into blossom when the Spring frosts oc- curred. Some anxiety was felt about them but up to the present indica- tions are very good as the fruit is sizing and shows no inclination to drop. The danger is not all over as the June drop has still to occur, but apparently the set was much more uniform than among cherries.

APPLES

Early varieties also McIntosh, bloomed heavily. Among the Win- ters, the Rome Beauty and Northern Spy were heavy to blossom, and as favorable weather prevailed a good set throughout can be fully expect- ed. Among the young trees more recently planted out some Winter injury has appeared in a few in- stances where the major portion of the root system developed near the surface, and the dry Spring has caused recovery to be slow.

"Spring vegetables are being planted out rapidly. Tomato trans- planting was practically finished last week, peppers will be going out this week. Acreages going out will be on an average, with early pota- toes showing the greatest increase. Insects, especially the flea-beetle, are causing some damage at present.

"Alfalfa fields are well advanced and a heavy yield is widely ex- pected from the first crop which may be cut a little earlier than usual if the weather continues favorable."

Allies Turn to U.S. for Light Weapons

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP).—Facing the threat of invasion, Great Britain has turned hurriedly to the United States for machine guns, rifles and small arm ammunition.

British purchasing agents, it was reported authoritatively today, have canvassed the stores of dealers in surplus munitions for weapons which experts believed of use only to the home guard units which have been organized since the Ger- man army neared the English Chan- nel.

At the same time, actual orders and negotiations suggested that both Great Britain and France were un- dertaking to build up in this country a second line source of supply for light weapons.

Aircraft, however, continued the prime Allied concern, but the ex- port figures for April did not as- sume impressive proportions. France received only 168 planes and 230 engines; the United Kingdom, 23 planes and 12 engines, and Canada, four planes. Large scale deliveries of the thousands of planes now on order are not scheduled until late 1940 and 1941.

In her urgent quest of small arms in the present crisis, Great Britain has ben able to find virtually noth- ing of value in commercial surplus stocks, experts understood.

The army has upwards of 1,800,000 surplus Lee-Enfield rifles of a modi- fied British design left over from the last war, and hundreds of out- moded Lewis, Vickers and other ma- chine guns, but under administra- tion policy stated by President Roosevelt, sales may be made only to friendly neutrals.

Orders to manufacturers for rifles and machine-guns face long delays.

Application for a $170 building permit to build a garage was made at the City Engineer's office Wed- nesday by W. A. Harrison, 602 Mill Street. The garage, 14 by 20 feet, will have shiplap siding.

Royal Airman Makes Thrilling Escape From Huns

LONDON, May 30 (CP). — The Air Ministry today issued an ac- count of how a Royal Air Force pilot, captured by the Germans, was threatened with death, but escaped and returned to the Al- lied armies.

The Ministry announcement said:

"A fighter pilot, who landed his damaged plane in German- held territory, was arrested and taken to a small courtyard crowded with Belgian civilians. At hourly intervals groups of civilians were ordered out, sum- marily questioned and shot.

"A German officer in charge of the firing squad told the pilot, 'it will be your turn next.' The pilot protested that he was an officer in uniform who had come down behind the German lines as a re- sult of aerial combat.

"The officer shrugged and re- plied: 'You are a spy or a franc- tireur like all these others.'

"Waiting until a new group of civilians, going to face the firing squad, afforded the cover of mo- mentary confusion, he did a fly- ing leap straight through a small closed window and, with only a slight cut on the cheek, landed on all fours outside, dashed through the garden and got clear away. Not one shot was fired by the surprised Germans.

"He slept on top of a haystack and the next day mingled with refugees and was given a lift in a Dutch car. On the afternoon of the second day he got over the border and reached Lille."

Some operations suggested an ex- port business of 150,000 bushels in Canadian wheat.

Moderate mill buying in oats proved almost the only activity in a featureless coarse grain pit. Mills were credited with taking small amounts of Nos. 3 and 4 Northern out of the cash wheat market while export interests purchases a little No. 1 Northern.

Western farmers delivered 344,000 bushels of wheat to country ele- vators yesterday compared with 186,000 unloaded on the same day a year ago.
