Albert Maxwell, Moved to Grand Forks, Lost in Kettle River Tragedy

Not a Strong Swimmer, Believed Carried Under Float; Bank Employee, Popular Boxla, Hockey, Hoop Star at Nelson

GRAND FORKS, B. C., July 22—Albert W. Maxwell, 20-year-old employee in the Royal Bank of Canada here, and former boxla, hockey and basketball player of Nelson, was drowned in the Kettle River at the Grand Forks City Park about 8 o'clock Monday evening.

Going for a swim with two other youths—none of the trio being strong swimmers—Maxwell was believed to have jumped from the diving float and was carried under the surface.

He was transferred here from Kelowna about a month ago after being in Kelowna since April. He was moved to Kelowna from Nelson, his home town for the past several years.

ACTIVE IN SPORT

Albert Maxwell, popular former Nelson athlete who drowned at Grand Forks Monday evening, came to Nelson from Saskatchewan with his family about eight years ago. After living in Nelson for a time, the family went to Fruitvale to a ranch, but later returned to Nelson.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Maxwell, and his two sisters returned to their former home in Saskatchewan in March of this year, about a month before Albert was transferred to Kelowna.

Though of light stature, the youth was one of the shiftiest basketball and lacrosse players in Nelson. From his earlier school days in Nelson he shone in basketball at Nelson High School and was a member of the city champion Hornets Basketball team in 1938-39. He was top scorer in the City league that Winter, netting 170 points in 20 games.

HIGH SCORER IN BOXLA

Rising from a junior lacrosse berth with the Hornets Athletic Club as a goal keeper, he stepped up to become the highest goal scoring wingman in the West Kootenay Lacrosse League in the 1939 season, netting 53 goals in 21 games. He played rover and centre also. In the 1938 season he played a few senior games while still in the junior division.

Hockey was also in his sport realm. He played with the Fairview Athletic Club for several seasons.

After completing his training in the Grade XI commercial class at Nelson High School in the 1936-37 term, he entered the service of the Royal Bank.

His father was a second cousin of Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, famous Australian flyer, who was lost during a flight several years ago.

ALBERT MAXWELL

Greenwood Boy Aged 5 Drowns

Bryce Jorde, five-year-old Greenwood child, was drowned in Beverley Creek, near Greenwood, about 1:30 Monday afternoon, Provincial Police B Division Headquarters at Nelson were notified by radio.

The body was recovered and the coroner stated no inquest would be necessary.

4th $50 Bomber Fund Gift From Mr. and Mrs. E. Arnew

"We want to help. We want to see the campaign reach its objective as soon as possible, for every bit of help now may mean a great deal in Canada's war effort," said Mrs. E. Arnew, 1215 Ward Street, as she brought to the Nelson Daily News on Monday a $50 check—the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Arnew to the Nelson District "Bomber Fund".

Mr. and Mrs. Arnew came to Nelson to reside about two years ago, Calgary being their previous home. Mr. Arnew is a C.P.R. conductor.

Their check was the fourth received for the "Bomber Fund" initiated by Alfred R. Moore of the West Arm. Frank E. Roberts of Sheep Creek and W. W. Powell of Spokane also contributed $50 checks. They will be held in trust by the Daily News until a total of 50 checks for $50 have been received, when the donors will decide the type of war material to be purchased with the fund.

BRITISH TROOPS AWAIT NAZIS IN NORTH IRELAND

Eire's Poor Defences Source of Big Worry

BRITISH MAY AID

By EDWIN STOUT
Associated Press Staff Writer

BELFAST, July 22 (AP).—Northern Ireland was jammed with British troops tonight—prepared for a German blow against Ulster or Eire to the South.

The Southern entrance to the Irish Sea was mined to keep invaders from Ireland's Eastern shore but it was pointed out that Eire's defences might be unable to cope with any West coast sea assault or any large-scale parachute descent.

If Eire is attacked, Ulstermen expect Dublin not to object to quick British aid. But what bothers Northern Ireland is inadequate air defences in Eire and the anti-British attitude of Republican Extremists.

Eire sped defence preparations along the Ulster border and its coastline. The army recruited up to 70,000 men and thousands were joining the part time local security force. But the official cry is "more volunteers."

Eire's security force has not yet been given rifles. Sources close to the banned Irish Republican Army group say it is because the force is honey-combed with I.R.A. extremists itching to get guns.

The Belfast Government has interned 300 extremists without trial for the duration of the war.

Eire maintains publicly its determination to stay neutral. Dublin sources said that if British troops push in from the North in anticipation of a German thrust, the Irish army will put up a mere show of force before yielding. But if the Germans try to land the Irish will make a real fight.

In the face of Prime Minister de Valera's firm neutrality stand, Viscount Craigavon, Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, refused to yield to demands for an end to the partition.

"Neutral Eire harbors enemies of the Empire," Deputy Premier J. M. Andrews declared in an interview.

"The Ulster people wish the South well, but we will not tolerate our affairs being controlled by those who look upon Britain as a foreign enemy."

In Eire, golf courses were dotted with barrels to prevent airplane landings and army units raced over roads in practice manoeuvres against imaginary parachute troops.

Eire has only a small air force—30 planes before the war and an undisclosed number acquired since—and a few tanks.

North of the border, hills were dotted with guns which commanded railway lines and highways. Planes roared overhead in patrol and rehearsal for possible sky clashes to come.

Deaths Mount in U.S. Heat Spell

CHICAGO, July 22 (AP)—Millions of Americans were harassed by intense heat today and harried by advice that no general break in the sultry spell was in prospect.

The cumulative count of deaths attributed directly to the sweltering siege—now nearly a week old in some sections—rose to 29 while 129 drownings were reported.

Nebraska thermometers held around the 100 degree mark for the sixth successive day.

Detroit residents watched the mercury ascend to 95, an all-time record for the date.

Some of the high marks were 112 in Phoenix, Ariz., 110 in Yuma, Ariz., 105 in Rapid City, S.D., 103 in Minneapolis, 102 in Huron, S.D., and Kansas City, 101 in Charles City, Iowa, 100 in North Platte, Neb., and Washington, D.C., 99 in Omaha.

Lost Triplets Turn Up at Home of Pal's Grandparents, Alta.

EDMONTON, July 22 (CP)—Jimmy, Bobby and Billy, the "identical triplet" sons of Mr. and Mrs. James Tully of Edmonton, reached the Hardisty farm today of the grandparents of their fellow-vagabond, Harold Pike.

The four 12-year-old, freckle-faced youngsters left their homes here yesterday to "hit for the open road" after hinting they would like to visit the Hardisty farm, 110 miles Southeast of here, and the search for them was concentrated in that direction.

An Edmonton motorist reported that he picked up the quartet during the forenoon and dropped them at the farm. Where they spent the night was still a secret shared only among themselves.

Nazi Bombers Spread Attacks; 100 Bombs Fall, Scottish Town

Damage Is Reported Slight; R.A.F. Busy

LONDON, July 23 (Tuesday) (CP)—German planes scattered incendiary and high explosive bombs on England, Scotland and Wales this morning but no great material damage was reported.

One Scottish town was struck for the second time in 24 hours. Incendiary bombs set fire to some houses.

About 100 incendiary bombs were dropped on this town in this morning's raid, but officials said damage was comparatively slight. One bomb plunged through a tenement from roof to ground floor, setting a fire which was extinguished. A woman on the top floor was partly overcome and fell out a window, suffering serious injuries.

Anti-aircraft guns maintained a hot fire, and British fighter planes engaged the enemy.

Explosions were heard in Southeast Scotland shortly after enemy planes passed over, indicating the possibility they were time bombs. The sounds indicated that the bombs had exploded some distance from a town.

The barrage of anti-aircraft fire over one Southwest England town was terrific. Bursting shells, tracer bullets and searchlights illuminated the scene.

Waves of Nazi planes, roaring from the East singly and in groups, bombed midland industrial centres and scattered areas from Northeast Scotland to the Southeast coast. At least one German machine was shot down into the sea, making a total of at least 30 in three days.

Oil depots, aircraft factories, barges and airdromes came under attack by the R.A.F., the Air Ministry's statement on the operations disclosed. Coastal command machines carried out the successful attack on a 14,000 ton supply ship of Denmark and other aircraft from this command attacked and set fire to oil tanks at Ghent.

MISSION, B. C., July 22 (CP) — Police here have identified the body of a 50-year-old man recovered from Suicide Creek, eight miles East of Mission Saturday as Peter Crown, a transient.

LA LINEA, Spain, July 22 (AP)—Gibraltar's defence preparations were hurried today with the arrival of more transports carrying material.

The merchantman Gibeldersa left for Tangier with 300 persons removed from "The Rock". Reports said removal of women and children would be completed early next month.

Light gunfire was heard in the Mediterranean today. Warships were believed engaged with planes.

TANGIER, Spanish Morocco, July 22 (AP)—Three hundred persons removed from Gibraltar reached Tangier today aboard the Gibeldersa. Many of 2000 other refugees have been turned back because they lacked necessary credentials.

Small groups have tried to reach Spanish Morocco in small boats. Many have been arrested.

VANCOUVER AIR SCHOOL BEGINS

VANCOUVER, July 22 (CP).—Vancouver's elementary air training school opened today 11 months ahead of schedule, and 24 tyro pilots began preliminary instruction. More will arrive shortly.

Among training planes waiting for the students were eight shining Tiger Moths, part of 12 such planes purchased by the City of Vancouver in its recent "air supremacy" drive at a cost of nearly $120,000. The remainder of the 13 planes will be shipped here soon for assembly.

From the Vancouver school, officially known as Elementary Air Training School No. 8, under the Empire Air Training scheme, students will proceed to advanced schools before being placed on active flying service.

Other schools opening today in conjunction with the Vancouver training centre were schools at Lethbridge, Alta., Prince Albert, Sask., and Windsor, Ont. In all, 26 such schools will be in operation when the $300,000,000 Empire plan goes into full swing.

At the Vancouver school instruction will be given in air armaments, technical training, aircraft inspection, flying, aeronautical engineering, administration and equipment supervision and accounting.

To Have Largest of 12 to Be Built in Defence Push

Chemicals for Explosives, Bombs and Guns Planned; Production From All Plants to Be Over $400,000,000 Annually

OTTAWA, July 22 (CP).—Munitions Minister Howe tonight announced the immediate construction of 12 munition plants at total cost of aproximately $19,000,000.

This is in addition to an $11,000,000-plant for manufacture of chemicals for explosive purposes announced last week.

Largest of these plants will be located "somewhere in Western Canada," where existing facilities are being extended to produce a large tonnage of ammonia and ammonium nitrate. Work has also begun on a plant to produce the chemical used in making smoke screens. It will be in operation in about four months.

Work has started on erection of a plant for manufacturing of bombs which will be completed in six months, and another plant will produce chemicals required in production of gas masks, the Minister said.

One plant will produce thousands of special glass and fire control instruments, and the capacity of the Bren gun plant in Toronto is being doubled.

Capacity of two gun plants—one producing anti-aircraft barrels and the other complete field guns—is also being doubled.

Two firms at present producing machine tools will expand their plants substantially, while the automotive plant facilities are being expanded to permit, among other things, production of 200 trucks daily and greater productive capacity of universal carriers.

Some of these expenditures are for British account. But all are being carried out under the supervision of the Department of Munitions and Supply.

All told, the Minister said, plant expansion now under way or completed in Canada and financed in whole or in part by the two Governments amounts approximately to $80,000,000 involving about 50 firms. The estimated production from these plants will run to well over $400,000,000 annually.

The 12 new plants will increase substantially the capacity of Canada to produce war material and will augment a munitions plant construction program which already includes two explosive plants, equalling in size any development in a similar nature in the Empire, a large shell filling plant, and a large scale chemical development, Mr. Howe said.

Parachuter Taken by Canadians Not All He Claimed

By EDWIN JOHNSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, July 22 (CP). — Capture of a prowler within the environs of the Canadian encampment in a new sector of the home front, is believed to have inspired persistent reports that German parachutists had landed on British soil. These reports, however, have been authoritatively denied.

It all started with apprehension of a shabbily-dressed civilian lurking in the underbrush near the camp. The arrest was made by Lieut. E. Chamberlain, a Montrealer, who served with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for several years.

The prisoner, in fluent English, told of having been dropped into the woods by parachute from a German airplane with instruction to meet an "enemy confidential agent" who would supply him with funds, small arms and explosives.

The man named by the prisoner as the German "go-between," his family, along with several aliens who had been billeted on his farm for several months, were taken into custody.

Investigation, however, disclosed that the self-confessed "parachutist" was a deserter from the British army holding professed anti-British views. He was appropriately dealt with and the other suspects were held for investigation.

Japan's Minister of Home and Welfare, Eija Wasui, said "we cannot doubt that the day will soon come when Japan can share the world with Germany and Italy."

LONDON, July 23 (Tuesday) (CP Cable)—Haile Selassie was transformed from a civilian exile into the resplendently uniformed fighting emperor of Ethiopia in a quick-change act in the men's washroom of the former Italian yacht club in Alexandria, the Daily Mail reported today.

The Mail's Alexandria correspondent said the black-bearded little "Lion of Judah," having flown from England to Egypt, went under cover of darkness to the yacht club, now a British headquarters.

There, in the washroom, he doffed his sombre mufti for the uniform of Ethiopian generalissimo and with a British officer drank a toast in wine left behind by the Italians.

Then he hastened Southward to the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan to direct the fight for Ethiopia's freedom from Italy.

Administration of Unemployment Insurance to Cost $5,250,000 Per Year; $58,500,000 in Contributions

OTTAWA, July 22 (CP)—A draft of the operations of the proposed Unemployment Insurance Legislation under Dominion auspices was presented today to the special commons committee studying the Government bill.

The committee learned from experts of the Labor Department that:

The administrative cost which would be borne by the Dominion, would approximate $5,250,000 a year or about $2.50 for each insured person.

Total contributions to the fund for 1941 are estimated at $58,500,000 of which $9,700,000 would be contributed by the government, the remainder in about equal shares between employers and employees.

About 25 per cent of the persons to be insured would be women.

An advantage the Canadian worker would enjoy over his corresponding worker in the United States, would be that he would pay about $13 against $38. He would have to wait nine days only after losing his job before receiving benefits. In the United States the time of waiting is 14 days.

Coincidentally with the establishment of Unemployment Insurance Administration the Government would set up employment bureaux virtually taking over from the provinces the entire employment responsibility.

G. G. Hansell (ND Macleod) read a statement concerning operations of the Unemployment Insurance scheme in the United Kingdom showing large deficits. He suggested, "history might repeat itself."

Eric Stangroom of the Labor Department agreed it would unless the actuarial basis of the scheme were followed. He noted departure in the United Kingdom from sound insurance practice. The actuarial basis of the scheme, he said, eventually broke down. However, since 1934 when those on relief were separated from those insured, the debt rolled up by the insurance scheme had nearly been paid off although it had not been anticipated it would be paid off until 1970.

At the evening committee session J. S. Hodgson, one of the labor department experts associated in drafting the bill, described an alternative proposal to that of the bill known as the War Savings Certificate plan.

This provided he said, for purchase by the employer and the employee of a War Savings Certificate of a value of $100 through a series of contributions by the employee of 75 cents and by the employer of 25 cents.

When the amount of the certificate had been obtained the arrangement was concluded, the certificate being available as security for borrowing by the employee in case he was without work.

He said this scheme had been proposed by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

It was decided to put over discussion on this phase until it was presented by the C.M.A. to the committee.

Mr. Hodgson explained how by a series of stamps affixed to cards or placed in books it was possible to compute the contributions of employees. Various stamps would indicate a variety in the wages of the worker and as these appeared on his card a precise computation was possible.

First Shipment of Mercury From B. C. Mine on Way East

PRINCE GEORGE, B. C., July 22 (CP).—First shipment of mercury from a British Columbia mine that may produce enough of the vital war mineral to supply Canada's needs and a portion of the Empire's, was en route to Montreal tonight.

The shipment — 400 flasks — was flown from the reduction plant at Pinchi Lake, scene of C. M. & S. operations, to nearby Fort St. James, historic Hudson's Bay post in the North central part of the Province. From there they went by truck to Vanderhoof, B. C., for loading for Montreal.

The 400 flasks represent one month's production at the mine—which started producing June 10—almost four times the previous entire mercury output in the Province.

May Ease Rules for Registration

OTTAWA, July 22 (CP).—Consideration is being given by the National War Services Department to easing regulations for national registration so persons registering may fill out replies to questions at their leisure and bring them to the registry office where they would attest to their accuracy.

This information came tonight from a source closely connected with registration arrangements.

Under the existing regulations all replies to questions, 16 from men and 19 for women, must be filled in the presence of a registration officials. It has been suggested the possibility of congestion at he registry office would be lessened if questions could be answered in advance.

It is proposed to keep registration offices open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. on each of the three days when registration is being conducted. Aug. 19 has been suggested as a likely day when registration will begin.

Canada Sends New Warship to Britain's Navy

By JACK TRACEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, July 22 (CP).—A Canadian-built warship bound for service with the Royal Navy slid down the ways of a Montreal shipyard today in an unique ceremony accompanied by the christening of two similar anti-submarine craft.

Lady Campbell, wife of Sir Gerald Campbell, British High Commissioner to Canada, cut the ribbons, smashing a red-white-and-blue covered bottle of champagne against the bow.

Like the first vessel, all the 200-foot craft of this class designed for service with the Royal Navy are named after Canadian wild flowers. Two others launched previously but unnamed, lay at their docks. Lady Campbell christened these vessels. (Regulations prevented disclosure of their names).

Unlike previous launchings when warcraft slid into the water without the blessing of a woman, today's ceremony was colorful. Lady Campbell posed for news cameramen with a bouquet of roses.

She stood among naval officers who were wearing uniforms of white duck. Among them was Engineer Rear Admiral H. A. Sheridan, Admiralty representative of the British Supply Board in Canada.

Lady Campbell, who selected the names for the craft, stood on a platform crowded with plant executives, St. James Street financiers and naval officers, to name the first vessel. Blessing the ship, she said, "May God guide her and guard and keep all who sail in her."

At a reception which followed the launching, Rear Admiral Sheridan told executives, "Canada and the British Empire owe a debt to Canadian companies building ships to protect the Empire and its trade routes."

A company official said his firm would be able to deliver more vessels than had been required of it within the time limit.

SHANGHAI, July 22 (AP)— A clash between United States sailors and Japanese policemen at Tsing Tao was reported today by Domei, Japanese official news agency, with the assertion that Japanese officials took a serious view of the incident. Several of the policemen were injured.

Domei said the trouble started when two sailors left a cafe without paying their bill, then became involved in a fist fight with the owner and Chinese bystanders. Four Japanese policemen who attempted to arrest the sailors were attacked by a United States patrol, the news agency said.

British Raids in Germany Increase

BERLIN, July 22 (AP)—The German press reports tonight that British air raids on Germany have greatly increased since last Friday when Hitler offered "peace" and showed in advance what Prime Minister Churchill's reply would be.

Informal opinion in Berlin political circles was that today's address by Viscount Halifax, British Foreign Secretary, "changed nothing, and gives no reason to hope that Hitler's peace offer found any response in British official quarters."

D.N.B., German news and propaganda agency, reported that since Hitler made his "generous offer" Britain has fired back increased air raids which "show Churchill wants to demonstrate to the German people what he regards as a proper answer."

The Germans claimed civilians were killed by British bombs in Bremen, Hamburg, Wismar and Schwerin, with other attacks aimed at Kassel, Hanover, Pinneberg, Paderborn, Hagen and Bochum.

(The Air Ministry announced in London that military objectives all over Germany and German-subjugated territory were heavily bombed Sunday night).

U. S. Tourist Travel Off 40 Per Cent, B. C.

VANCOUVER, July 22 (CP) — United States tourist travel in British Columbia is down 40 per cent as compared with last year, the Tourist Travel Bureau here estimated today.

Despite the drop in the American influx, however, British Columbia's tourist industry has suffered little, additional Canadian travellers having made up for the loss, said officials of the Bureau.

Canadian customs officials estimated that Canadian travel into the United States has been cut to one-third of its usual volume.

Hitler Will Wait for British Repy

BERLIN, July 22 (AP)—German sources described as "authorized" today said Hitler is waiting for "official" British answers from Lord Halifax and Prime Minister Churchill to his "peace proposal" before starting a threatened offensive on the British Isles.

German sources said it was likely that Hitler would wait even after receiving a negative reply—which it was taken for granted here he will get—in case the British people should disavow Mr. Churchill's leadership.

Lutherans Affirm Loyalty to King

Rev. Mr. Hopka Gives Report Convention at Edmonton

One of the first items on the agenda of the recent convention of the Lutheran Church at Concordia College, Edmonton, was adoption of a resolution "affirming the loyal support of this convention to His Majesty in this present conflict against the totalitarian powers which threaten our liberty," reported Rev. Erich Hopka, Pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church of Nelson, in a report to his congregation.

Attending the convention were nearly 100 pastors and lay delegates of Alberta and British Columbia.

The speaker at the opening service of the convention was Dr. J. W. Behnken, of Chicago, Illinois, President of the Synod of the Synodical Conference Lutheran Church in North America.

ESSAYS ARE HEARD

A good part of the convention time was occupied with the hearing of two essays, one prepared by Prof. W. Baepler, for many years instructor at Edmonton Concordia College but now of Springfield, Illinois, the other by Rev. W. A. Raedeke of Calgary, well-known speaker over the popular Canadian Lutheran Hour. The first essay dealt with the "Proper Form of a Christian Congregation," and the latter with, "Christian Stewardship."

The work of the church in its various departments of administration, missions, finances, Christian education was reviewed.

"Throughout all the session the thought uppermost in our minds was how we might be better citizens of our heavenly kingdom and at the same time be faithful citizens of our country here below," said Mr. Hopka.

"The lay delegates of their own initiative brought in a resolution urging our district to institute a special thank-offering for having been spared the direct horrors and ravages of warfare," he added, expressing the belief the local Lutheran congregation would join in this.

"PAPERS SHOW FRANCE PLANNED TO DESTROY RUMANIAN OIL FIELDS"

BERLIN, July 22 (AP Via Radio)—The Foreign Office published "documents" today purporting to show that France had drafted plans for destruction of the Rumanian oil industry in the Autumn of 1939.

The papers were the latest of a series on Allied war plane which the Germans claim were seized in a railway car in France.

Lightning Storm Fire Toll Is 54 With 10 New Blazes

Forest fires in the Southern Interior set in the weekend's severe electrical storm reached a total of 54 Monday as B. C. Forest Branch officials counted 10 more fires to add to 44 reported Sunday. Five new fires were reported in Creston area, two in Invermere area and three in Grand Forks area. Six were reported from Grand Forks Sunday.

Creston and Grand Forks area fires were all small and were quickly brought under control by fire fighters. There was no report late Monday from the crews sent out at Invermere. Three of the Creston area outbreaks were located at Crawford Bay and the other two were on Mission Creek near the International Border.

Other fires throughout the District were in "good shape" and fire fighters were being brought in from the Nakusp fire belt, where some of the worst fires of the past two weeks have been fought successfully.

Improvement of Water Service Is Object of $40,000 Bylaw; Main From Reservoir to Fairview Is Proposed

Mains on Government Road and Uphill Also Proposed

Three main projects — installation of an additional main from the reservoir directly to Fairview; installation of a new main on Government Road; and installation of an additional main through the uphill section to enhance the Rosemont supply—will be undertaken by the City of Nelson should ratepayers indorse the $40,000 water system improvement bylaw at the polls on Thursday.

The program proposed under the bylaw includes installation of water distribution systems in Radio Subdivision. It would enable service to be given in the area above View Street which has previously been without City service; it would enable the city to give improved service in Fairview, in the Government Road section, in part of the uphill section of the city, and in Rosemont. In addition the city proposes to replace or repair other mains.

Fire protection will also be improved through installation of additional fire hydrants if the bylaw is indorsed.

2700 FEET OF PIPE

Provision of an additional main from the reservoir directly to Fairview over "the bluff" as proposed would entail the laying of 2700 feet of eight-inch pipe down Williams Street to join the existing main at the intersection of View Street and Douglas Road. A main would also be laid along View Street to Anderson, and along Sixth to connect with the existing Anderson Creek main at Elwyn Street. The laying of mains in the new Radio Subdivision, as yet not serviced, would complete the proposed Fairview work. Most of the new fire hydrants would be installed in the Fairview area.

The new main along Government Road would be laid as far as the oil companies' wholesale section, providing an improved service to that area.

An enhanced water supply, unaffected by heavy demand periods, would be provided for Rosemont with the laying of an additional main to Houston and Falls Streets, completing a circuit.

Providing adequate fire protection to some sections of the city is among purposes of the bylaw, and between 12 and 15 fire hydrants will be installed.

Ball Stars Victors; $51.70 Is Net for Red Cross

TRAIL, B.C., July 22—Bleachers at Victoria Park bulged Monday evening when a bumper crop turned out to see the Baseball All-Stars defeat the Smoke Eaters 7-1 in a Red Cross Benefit Softball game. Net receipts were $51.70.

Lively march tunes by the Maple Leaf Band gave added zest to the game and the announcement of the running play over a public address system by Harry Rothery kept the fans posted on all the details.

It was a tight game until the eighth inning, when Casey Jones poled one of Cal Parkhurst's specials over the right field fence for a home run with three on bases.

The first three innings sped by without a run. In the fourth each squad got a runner over the pate, Jones stealing home on a pitch to the plate for the All Stars; and Gerry Wanless scoring Ab Cronie, who had hit a triple, for the Smokies' run.

"Mush" Anselmo scored on Decembrini's hit to first base for the All Stars third run and repeated in the final frame with three on. The teams were:

Woodworking Industry at Coast at Full Speed, Becker Tells Rotarians

Great Opportunity for Kootenay Industry

Glowing accounts of 24-hour industry at the Coast, with every available piece of machinery working at full speed, and of lumber mills unable to keep up with the demand, were related to the Nelson Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting at the Hume Hotel Monday by Frank F. Becker, Secretary-Treasurer of the Nelson Sash & Door Co. Ltd., who returned recently from a trip to the Coast. He was accompanied by R. A. Patterson, Plant Superintendent.

They went to the Coast to see if they could procure machinery to replace that destroyed in the $75,000 fire that swept through the Sash & Door plant the morning of June 28.

"But all the machinery we could buy was absolute junk—every piece of machinery in 10 places we visited that could be fixed up was going into use in some plant. Every sawmill and woodworking factory on the Coast was working full blast to turn out wood to fill dozens of contracts," Mr. Becker said.

When the Nelson plant was destroyed by fire about half a contract for 3500 seamen's chests was finished. But of the chests completed, many were burned. The contract was for $15,000.

CONTRACT SUB-LET

The Department of Munitions and Supplies was in such a hurry for the chests that it could not wait for the Nelson plant to be rebuilt, so special permission was given the Sash & Door Company to sub-let the contract to a Coast firm in order to rush it through. Local and district work of the Nelson plant has been sub-let to two other Coast firms.

The huge volume of work being done at the Coast was due to Western Canada securing the markets formerly supplied by Sweden, Finland and countries taken over by Hitler. The general feeling among woodworking and lumbermen at the Coast was that "Western Canada is in for a big boom in the next year or two in lumber and wood products."

Most of the work being done was in contracts let by the British Box Board Agency, which had a purchasing office at Vancouver. All work was at fixed prices so that everyone had "a fair deal".

There was a great opportunity share in the business, Mr. Becker for Kootenay lumber firms to said. An agent of the British Box Board Agency told him that if his plant could be rebuilt, he would offer the company a contract to supply 1,000,000 board feet or approximately 48 carloads, of spruce or white pine to be used for reinforcing tea boxes. A great deal of both kinds of wood was grown in the Kootenays. Mr. Becker exhibited a sample of Coast fir but this was unsatisfactory to the Agency because it tainted the tea. Spruce or white pine would not taint it so easily.

WOULD TAKE MILLION FEET

The agent told Mr. Becker that he would take 1,000,000 board feet—or more if it could be supplied—"and I would be tickled to death to get it."

To further illustrate the volume of work being done at the Coast, the speaker said that one sawmill was turning out 5,000,000 board feet of lumber per week. Old sawmills that had not run for 15 years were being put back into commission. There was no shortage of sawlogs. Veneer plants were "very busy" They requested their customers to give four to six months notice on orders so that they could be filled.

In the Okanagan five sawmills were cutting butter boxes and soap boxes for the British agency, to be deliverde to the Indian market. The freight charge on the first shipment to Vancouver from the Okanagan was $67,000, said Mr. Becker.

PROVINCE BUILDING UP

Nearly every city and town between Nelson and the Coast was building up, Mr. Becker said. There were more new homes at Penticton this year than ever before. New stores and houses were going up at Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton. A new city hall was being built at Penticton. A new medical and dental building was built at Oliver, a new post office at Merritt; and a new city hall at Chilliwack.

He had seen a number of recruits from Nelson district, who wished to be remembered at home.

Ald. P. G. Morey thanked Mr. Becker on behalf of the Club.

Premier Suggests Political Contests Be Avoided, Elections

OTTAWA, July 22 (CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King today suggested that political contests might well be avoided in byelections during wartime.

He made the suggestion as Conservative Leader Hanson asked whether the soldier vote would be taken in the byelections in Saskatoon, Waterloo North, Kingston and Carleton, slated for August 19.

The Prime Minister said taking a soldier vote involved a great deal of machinery and was much more difficult in byelections than in a general election. He said Air Minister Power would explain tomorrow "how extremely difficult" this would be.

Canadian Shot When He Fails to Hear Sentry's Challenge

WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, July 22 (CP)—Pte Edwin Sweeney of a Toronto Highland regiment is the first Canadian to receive a "blighty" which won't be scored against the enemy.

Sweeney and two of his pals were walking in the darkness through a restricted zone in the Canadian forward area when challenged by a sentry. Sweeney stopped, but his colleagues apparently not hearing went on. The sentry's rifle barked and Sweeney toppled over, a bullet in his arm, just four inches from the heart. He is making favorable progress.

Amendments to Budget War Tax Finally Approved

OTTAWA, July 22 (CP).—Finance Minister Ilsley withstood a barrage of questions on details in Income and National Defence Tax Collections and obtained final approval of budget amendments to the Income War Tax Act just as the House of Commons adjourned tonight.

Particular interest was shown by members in that section of the act which requires all employers, even those of part time farm laborers and seasonal workers, to deduct the Defence Tax from wages when the rate per day is equivalent to more than $600 a year in case of single persons, and $1200 in the case of married persons, tax rates are two per cent for single persons earning more than $600 and three per cent for persons earning more than $1200 unless they are married when the rate is two per cent with exemption of $400 in taxable income for each dependent.

No amendments were offered to the bill which was finally approved in committee and given third reading.

Earlier the House had put through all stages the bills carrying out budget changes in the Excise Act and customs tariff.

Only budget bills left to be considered are those on Special War Revenue Act and amendments to the Excess Profits Tax Act.

Answering questions on the Income Tax Act procedure Mr. Ilsley said living allowances paid "dollar-a-year" men would be taxable to the extent those allowances are used for actual personal living costs.

The minister said "dollar-a-year" men would be allowed to deduct that part of the living allowance chargeable to legitimate expenditures other than personal living costs.

Provision for exemption for children brought out from the United Kingdom under a Government scheme brought the suggestion this should be extended to all children brought from Britain because of the war. However, Mr. Ilsley held the provision could not be so extended.

Nazis May Strike at Azores

Hitler may send his forces Southward with Spain, Portugal and Gibraltar as their objectives before launching his long threatened attack on England, according to reports from London. If such a move is made by Germany, the strategically important Azores, which belong to Portugal, would be among the primary Nazi objectives. The Azores have long been the key to the trade routes of the Southern Atlantic and would give the Germans a highly important position from which to harass Atlantic trade routes.

'Americas Must Prepare to Protect West World'

HAVANA, July 22 (AP). — The United States advocated to 20 other American republics today a joint trusteeship for any European colonies in the New World threatened with transfer to any other European power and called for cooperation in a sweeping program to bolster and safeguard the economy of this hemisphere.

State Secretary Cordell Hull defined the position of the United States on pressing problems of the American republics in an address at the second meeting of American foreign ministers and prepared to submit resolutions embodying specific proposals for dealing with them.

CORDELL HULL

His address pointed the way for consultations aimed at concrete action by all of the Americas to safeguard the Western hemisphere against military or economic threats from abroad of foreign directed subversive activities.

In a sharp condemnation of the "forces of ruthless conquest" which he said "shrink from no means of attaining their ends," Hull declared it would be "suicidal not to recognize in time and not to prepare to meet fully and decisively" the dangers to the Americans nations.

He said "decisive remedial action" was necessary to combat subversive activities which he called "an attempt to acquire domination of the American republics by foreign governments in their own interest.

Warning again that the United States would not tolerate any effort "to modify the existing status" of European possession in this hemisphere — "whether by cession, by transfer, or by any impairment whatsoever in the control heretofore exercised"—he declared "we must be in a position to move rapidly and without hesitation.

"It has been suggested," Hull declared, "that our action take the form of the establishment of a collecture trusteeship, to be exercised in the name of all the American republics. The Government of the United States endorses this suggestion and is prepared to cooperate, should the occasion arise, in its execution."

He cautioned at the same time that such a plan "must not carry with it any thought of the creation of a special interest by any American republic."

Its purposes, he said, "must be to further the interests and security of all of the American nations, as well as the interest of the region in question.

"Moreover," he said, "as soon as conditions permit, the region should be restored to its original sovereign or be declared independent when able to establish and maintain a stable self-government."

His endorsement of a proposal originally made by Cuba constituted a further warning to Germany and Italy—already made in a formal note—that any attempt to acquire French, Dutch or British colonies in this hemisphere would be resisted first by the United States and, if suported by the other American nations. Would lead immediately to the establishment of a collective trusteeship over threatened territory.

Sydney Decorated

SYDNEY, Australia, July 22 (AP). — Following announcement that H. M. A. S. Sydney sank the Italian cruiser, Bartholomeo Colleoni, in a Mediterranean naval engagement last Friday, Navy Minister A. G. Cameron today announced the sinking of an Italian submarine by an Australian destroyer.

Sydney was ordered decorated with flags and bunting today at the request of the Lord Mayor in honor of the Sydney's victory. The first flag broken was the Australian ensign on the mast of the Sydney's predecessor, the light cruiser Sydney which destroyed the German raider Emden Nov. 9, 1914, at Cocos Island The mast now serves Bradley's Head signal station in Sydney harbor.

Nazi Press Blames Roosevelt for British Attitude

BERLIN, July 22 (AP by Radio). —President Roosevelt is described by the editor of the Further Zeitung as "to a gigantic extent responsible" for the present "adamant British attitude."

The newspaper, the radio said today, blames Roosevelt for the "illusions still prevailing" in Britain with regard to foreign reaction to Hitler's speech and said, "The world at large, apart from England, understood correctly the reason which induced the Fuehrer to make this last and stirring appeal."

"Roosevelt is the man who ought to hang his head if the appeal to reason is to end in the destruction of England," said the newspaper.

"Now that he wants to be elected. He openly admitted that he systematically agitated for years against National Socialism. . . . For seven years it (the United States Government) has agitated . . . and nourished many illusions among those whose belief in active help from America has been their strongest hope—France until the day of her collapse, in England still today."

POLICE CHECK REPORT OF SHOOTING AT COAST GAS STORAGE

VANCOUVER, July 22 (CP). — City Police were checking today a report that six shots were fired late last night at the gas storage tanks of the B.C. Electric Power and Gas Company here, one of which hit the containers.

The shooting was reported by P. F. Crossley, armed guard, who told police two men drove up to the property prior to the shooting and asked him if the guard had been changed.

Relax . . .

Rest Required by the Underweights

By DONNA GRACE

When there is so much said of reducing, with all the advice, scolding and persuading offered the happy overweights, one might think we may be neglecting the little thin girl, but we have her in mind all the time.

She may look very attractive in her slenderness, which may be called thinness, but the really thin girl is far from satisfied with her appearance. Most of them are likely to be discouraged too. They have tried eating more than they want, usually without adding much weight, and they are conscious of angles and bones rather than curves.

The girl or woman who finds it difficult to put on weight and lacks strength should not seek advice of anyone but her physician. He will have no trouble in prescribing suitable treatment and one may have the satisfaction of leaving all the worry and responsibility in capable hands.

There are some who may, through their restlessness and forced energy, never give themselves a moment to add an ounce. It takes all their strength just to keep up with their rapid tempo. They are the ones who need nothing more than to change this tempo to one in a much lower speed. They must learn to relax. They may think they get plenty of rest but they seldom know what real rest means.

The have no patience with the doctor who advises them to stop all activities and go to bed. They haven't time for such nonsense. They think they feel well but say they lack strength. In most instances, according to physicians, they are just driving themselves too hard.

If you are one of the thin ones, keep some check on your movements and you will find you are wearing yourself out needlessly. Just have a daily schedule that includes at least one little siesta, then some exercise, especially a good walk. Stroll along, but keep up deep, deep breathing.

Eat three full meals a day with a snack between breakfast and dinner, and one at tea time. Get from nine to 10 hours' sleep at night and it may be advisable to spend most of the week-end right in bed except for the exercise periods.

Those who find full meals upset the digestive routine will receive the same benefit by calling frequently, such as something every two hours until more food is agreeable.

Fresh air, nourishing food and rest is the treatment.

Growth . . .

How Nature Forms the Human Skull

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

What is the meaning of delayed closure of the soft spots on the baby's head?

The skull before birth is entirely membranous. Bone begins to grow within this membrane and eventually fills it in completely, but the change from membrane to bone is surrounded at the margins by membrane. The places where three bones join indicate large, roughly triangular soft spots, called fontanels. There are really six of them, but only two are obvious in the normal infant. The one in the back of the head closes normally at the second month. The front one at about the 18th month.

But there is considerable variation in this event in perfect health. Even with good nutrition the front one may not close until the end of the second year. The commonest cause of delayed closure is rickets, in which condition it may remain open until the end of the third year. In cretinism closure may not occur until the eighth year. There are some remarkable cases in which the frontal, or great frontanel, remains open into adult life, in one instance recorded until 51 years.

Dinner

One of my friends who is an amateur cook (like most amateur cooks, he himself is the only ardent admirer of his culinary feats) says that the recipes published in this column are dreadful. Well, here it one, and I guarantee that if amateur cooks will learn to make Boulestan's Cucumber Soup well, they will not be embarrassed by so many refusals when they issue invitations to dinners of their own cooking:

Cucumber Soup

Cut a cucumber and two onions into thin slices and toss in foaming butter for two or three minutes. Put vegetables in a sauce pan and pour in five cups of boiling water which will be reduced to four. Season with salt, pepper, nutmeg and a pinch of cayenne.

Simmer for half an hour and add a cupful of clear chicken soup, and, five minutes before serving, a tablespoonful of vermicelli. Finish by stirring in a binding of two egg yolks diluted with a tablespoonful of cream. Serve with croutons.

Pork Chops Nontronnaise

Thin, trimmed pork chops, fried on both sides; add seasoning and a handful of bread crumbs. In Perigord they add a little chopped garlic. When browned add a cup of veal stock, cook to reduce, and before serving add a little vinegar and chopped gherkins.

Vegetables, dessert and coffee, as wished.

SERIAL STORY . . . By Oren Arnold

HAPPINESS, C. O. D.

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

Since the awful moment when little Tempe Hyde forced herself on him in the library—quite taking advantage of his shyness there—Jeremy Tucker had been a man steeped in shame. Not that he had actually done anything sinful, or even anything particularly out of the ordinary, as youthful customs go, but he had, after all, kissed her; returned her kiss when she first kissed him. He hadn't wanted to do that. He hadn't planned it, or thought of it, or done it deliberately. It had just happened.

During the few days that had elapsed since then Jeremy had been forced to associate with the other young people at the mansion, but the old look of soberness and sadness had crept back into his eyes. Gayle saw it on the first day, wondering. She did not question him (for which he was very grateful). But she did take him in hand.

"Jeremy Tucker, I declare!" she chided in a friendly way. "I have just noticed something. You are going downtown right now and get yourself some new glasses!"

"I—I say—"

"Yes, sir, you must- Jeremy, get some rimless ones, or rims that are flesh tinted and don't show, or tiny gold rims. Make the doctor fit you for looks as well as lenses. These rims are black and unbecoming on you and they needn't be.

He inspected himself in the mirror and saw that it was true. So he took her advice. When he had the new rims a few hours later, the improvement was so marked that all the people in the house commented. It became his one ray of brightness in an otherwise week of secret shame.

He came down on call to do his bits in the new play. He came on call to pose for the newspaper photographers. But he declined Bill's invitation to go downtown shopping, and he declined to go swimming with the girls.

Especially did he avoid being with the girls, for he knew Tempe was among them, and he couldn't bear to face her again. He had been kissed by Tempe, had kissed her in turn and then had run.

This strange feeling he had was disturbing all the more because he couldn't understand it. Some weeks ago, when he and Gayle were rehearsing for the first play, he had kissed Gayle. It had been exciting, even embarrassing, but distinctly pleasurable Also, he had repeatedly gazed at Lola Montesa's dark red lips and meditated on the obvious fact that they were kissable. He was not opposed to kissing per se—that is, he recognized its existence, and importance in its proper place. Nevertheless, the library affair with Tempe Hyde disturbed him. He was angry at himself and at her. There had been no pleasure in kissing her, no pleasure in retrospect; only a sudden impulse, followed by lingering anger and shame. He heard and overheard the talk around the house as excitement for the new play grew. He learned that Cholly Farrington was making merry more and more about the "peripatetic drama" at The Oaks, and that other columnists had taken up the campaign of fun and ballyhoo as well. He saw the photos printed in the dailies but was not much interested. Rather did he slip back into a reading of archeological books; he was soon spending hours at a time again in his grandfather's library.

Meanwhile, though, his grandfather was becoming a new man. The old fellow was sensitive to the doings arounds him, the doings of youth. He did not observe Jeremy's morose state, but he did hear more and more of the excitement about the play and the party afterward. A few times he butted in on Bill and Gayle.

"You cannot do all of this work yourselves," he roared at them. "Plenty of capable physical laborers are available, young friend. Hire them. Get professional decorators, make them carry out your ideas. I hired you two to think, not to get in overalls, and labor with hammer and saw."

In due time Bill and Gayle came to him to report the financial status of the play and party.

"If no unforeseen expense pops up, sir," Bill stated, "we should have a total cost of $487.20. But we have a gross cash take, from ticket sales, of $1800. The money is in the bank, sir. I gave the itemized record sheets to Mr. Weems, ready for your inspection; also a check for the full amount taken in."

Mr. Merrifield was beaming.

"That's a good showing, young man, and young miss. I am proud of you. Mr. Weems has already showed me the record sheet. And now what about that, ah, motion picture tryout? The papers were saying—"

Gayle spoke quickly. "Oh, Mr. Merrifield, we have been too busy to consider that."

"There is a talent scout here," Bill nodded. "He telephoned."

"Uh." The old gentleman gazed thoughtfully at the youths. "He will, uh, remain? For a few days?" "He said he would attend 'The Wit to Woo.' We sent him complimentary tickets, sir."

"Um huhm. There are heart breaks in motion pictures. But I do know there is career work in them for people with your talents. Nevertheless, I am forced to say, selfishly, that you are under contract to me for one year. If your tryout is successful and they want you in Hollywood, they would have to deal with me. You hear me, young friends?"

They bodded. For the first time, the very first time since they came, he had appeared quite business-like and serious. They were definitely impressed.

But all at once his attitude changed. He slumped a little, leaning on his desk, shook his head slowly and spoke in low tone. "Happiness . . . must come . . . ahead of . . . everything. Look for happiness, young friends, not fame . . . not fame."

The hours seemed to flow with increasing swiftness for the remaining days before the play. At all times the grand old mansion reverberated with the sounds of rehearsal and preparation. Musicians came to practice. The girls, Lola especially, labored to get their songs just right. Bill and Gayle had to be everywhere at once.

The interest and excitement increased in the old gentleman as well. Downtown one morning he chose three of his cronies — the Reverend Rollo C. Le Baron, a noted minister and author; Myron Tway, capitalist, and P. D. L. Davis, who had been in a president's cabinet and who was a retired financier now—and invited these men to be his guests at the showing of "The Wit to Woo." They had their jokes about it. Mr. Davis alleging that he was never too old to enjoy wooing, and Dr. Le Baron reprimanding him for such "sinful" thought. But they were delighted to accept Ben Merrifield's invitation.

The distinguished trio drove up to The Oaks at 5 p.m. on the day of the play because they also were to have dinner with their host. In the upstairs study both Mr. Weems and Jeremy came to greet them—they had never met the grandson before—and then left them to talk. Jeremy, still suffused with loneliness, edged out of view onto the second floor porch. He could still heard the old men ever though he couldn't see them, but he wasn't much interested in their talk. Thoughts were pulling at his heart tonight.

It must have been only a few minutes later, however, when his grandfather's voice did command his attention again. Mr. Merrifield had the habit of talking too loudly. In enthusiasm he would laugh and roar but most impressively, awing some people by it, amusing other. Plainly he thought Jeremy had gone downstairs.

". . . only grandson I have, but too confounded bookish!" the old man was saying, heartily, to his friends. "So I tell you what I did—I framed up on him. Yes, sirs!"

"Interesting," Dr. Le Baron encouraged. "How did you do it?"

"I knew that Jeremy was extremely shy, so I hired the prettiest girl I could find. Know what I did, then, Rollo? I investigated her carefully, and promised her $10,000 if she made Jeremy propose marriage to her inside of one year!"

There was a burst of laughter within, and it became apparently that the interest stepped up. Jeremy, sitting in the late evening glow alone there on the porch, heard every word of it. And his mouth dropped open in sheer astonishment.

His grandfather revealed everything. Gayle and Bill hired to "draw him out." Gayle hired to make Jeremy woo. Use of the theatre movement as a medium for bringing life and gaiety to the mansion, and of luring Jeremy out of his shell.

For a quarter hour Jeremy sat there and, in effect, saw himself as others saw him; overheard his fine old granddad carelessly, reveal secrets that he had never suspected about himself.

The boy didn't know what to do. The more he listened, and reasoned, the more he realized the truth of what his granddad was saying. Consternation seized him. He wanted to call out and interrupt them. He wanted to flee. He thought of the play, of Gayle, and Lola, and Tempe Hyde, and Bill and the other girls, and everything all at once. His mind was in a veritable whirl of confusion.

But he sat there motionless and in another moment the four old men just inside the French doors from him were summoned by the butler, and so ambled off downstairs to dine.

Mother and Daughter

Separation Cure for Antagonism

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Dear Miss Chatfield:

I am writing to ask you to help me clear up a strange case between my mother and me. I love my mother. I have been the best daughter I know how to be but this does not satisfy her. A day never passes that she doesnt say something about my lack of feeling for her. If her friends come to see her she always cuts me down before them. I am popular with my crowd, hold several offices in clubs and organizations I belong to and in Summer particularly there are a great many parties and picnics to attend. What do I hear? "Young people run around too much. They never stay at home." This has been going on for four years and I have waited, thinking as she grew older she would soften toward me but she gets worse and worse.

WRETCHED.

ANSWER:

Is your father living? Is he living with the family? Is he on good terms with your mother? If she's at daggers with your father? If she's separated from him the trouble probably lies there. If things are right between your parents and you have been as dutiful a daughter as you claim, then your mother's entirely wrong.

It's queer but true that when a woman has trouble with her husband the children bear the brunt of it. If he's quarrelsome and she's disappointed in the love and affection she receives at his hands, she wants double share from the children. The mere fact that she expects and demands more cuts her down and makes its difficult for her to get what would normally come to her. But the woman doesn't grasp this.

Then, too, there are cases where mother and daughter are antagonistic. In such a situation there is nothing but separation that will bring happiness to either one. I've seen a Persian cat with kittens, one of which she adored, licked, mothered, hovered over while she treated another of the same litter as if it were an interloper, trespassing on her time, attention and food supply. Watch the animals to learn about the human animal and know that when native antagonisms exist, nothing can be done until weaning time arrives and then the solution is plain separation.

Interned Nazis Once Under Oath to Hitler to Prepare Canada for Day Nazism Would Take Command

By JAMES A. GASTLER
Evening Citizen Staff Writer

OTTAWA—"Heil Hitler!" shouted a brown-shirted, blond youth as he stood on the platform of a small hall before about 100 other men similarly attired.

"Heil Hitler!" roared back the audience.

The scene was not laid in Germany. It took place in Canada. The time was only a few days before the outbreak of the war.

These men were gathered together for one purpose and one purpose only. They were the men whose duty was to prepare, organize, and maintain the Nazi Fifth Column in Canada.

Today that organization, known as the Auslands organisation, an integral part of the Hitler regime, which is the directing force of the Nazi party abroad, is smashed, in Canada at least. The men at the head now spend their time in internment camps.

The work carried on by that comparatively small group was amazing. Its force was felt in every part of the Dominion. The members had orders from Adolf Hitler to prepare Canada for the day when Nazism would take over.

Each of these men had sworn "allegiance to Adolf Hitler and implicit obedience to him to the leader appointed over me by him."

These men had also undertaken to sign a statement declaring "that I join the National Sozialistische Deutsche Arbeiter Partie. I am of German Aryan descent and free from Jewish or colored racial taint. I do not belong to any Freemason's . . .

"I do not belong to any other party and during the continuance of my membership of the National Sozialistische Deutsche Arbeiter Partie I will not join any such. I pledge myself to further the interests of the party with all my strength."

Before being elected to any office a member has to sign the following declaration:

"I hereby declare that I have been expressly instructed that I must always maintain the strictest secrecy regarding all matters connected with the service of the party in their relations with all persons who are not members of the party service."

This was no foolish and unorganized group that the authorities faced. The group was fully equipped and under specific instructions. It had a definite job to do . . . prepare Canada for the Nazi invasion.

In order to find a mass basis for their activities the leaders proceeded to organize in 1934 what became known as the Canadian Society for German Culture, commonly known as the Bund.

Within a matter of months, branches were set up in practically every German community across Canada. They attempted to bring under Nazi influence the numerous German organizations which existed in Canada. Many of these groups were not political in any sense of the word but were social organizations.

It is refreshing to note that by the majority of the Germans in this country, who had left the Fatherland for Canada in order that they might enjoy the freedom of the democratic system, the movement of these Nazi emissaries was not received with favor. Naturally some joined up, but in the main the naturalized German who had found peace and happiness in this country was in no mood to jeopardize that freedom.

German visitors to this country were frequent. Propaganda originating in Hamburg and Berlin quickly found its way into this country through these visitors. These tourists included school teachers on holiday, journalists supposedly studying conditions in this Dominion and many delegations presumably interested in the scientific development of this country. No effort was spared to knit the German organization in this country into a tight, compact and efficient group.

Late in 1934, a man named Bernard Bott, who became known as a ranking Nazi in this country, arrived in Winnipeg after a trip from Regina to Germany. He at once founded a paper known as the Deutsche Zeitung. This became the mouthpiece for the Bund in Canada.

There is evidence that it was organized and financed by influential Germans in this country, including Dr. H. Seelheim, then German consul at Winnipeg. Bott was named editor and managing director. Dr. Seelheim was the largest shareholder.

Later on it was discovered that the successor to Seelheim as consul-general at Winnipeg, William Rodde, also contributed to the funds of this paper.

In addition to his consular duties, Rodde also occupied the post of confidential agent for the Nazi party for Canada and his frequent trips to German communities in Western Canada are a matter of record.

The Bund also distributed a large number of pamphlets which were brought into this country from Germany.

Representatives of German steamship companies also acted as agents for the Nazis and for a time had considerable success. These individuals operated not only among the German-speaking population but also among the English-speaking.

Arrangements were made by the Bund to have German newspapers delivered free of charge to sympathetic German Canadians.

In 1937 there appeared a proclamation in the Deutsche Zeitung, published at Winipeg, outlining the "four year plan" of the Bund for Germans in Canada. Excerpts from the proclamation follow:

"In accordance with the proclamation of our leader, Adolf Hitler (as implemented by Major-General H. Goering), we hereby make public the 4-year plan of the Deutsche Bund in Canada . . .

"We make it the duty of every German manufacturer and merchant (importers and exporters) to employ only Germans in their plants as far as possible . . .

"All members of the Bund are obliged to notify the employment committee of the local organization of the Bund or the German Labor Front of any job which is available or about to become available. In this manner he will help another countryman to earn a living and to further our movement . . .

"Every member of the Bund, when purchasing merchandise, is to demand German goods at all times and in all places and he is to influence all his acquaintances to do the same thing . . .

"It is the duty, therefore, of every German to take care that he is served with German products when he is making purchases. If we always demand German goods at every opportunity, the stores will find themselves compelled to submit to the wishes of their customers and buy in the German market.

"By these means we fight at the same time the boycott which the Jewish world conspiracy has arranged against everything which comes from our Fatherland . . .

"All parents who belong to the Deutsche Bund are obliged to send their children to German schools in order that the children may be taught the German language and history. Newly founded German schools must receive the support of all German competency and private persons in question, and an attempt should be made to convince them to cooperate with the Bund (for example—youth groups, cultural supervisors, speakers, etc.).

"Furthermore, we impose as a special duty upon parents that they send their children, from the ages of 10 to 18, to the youth groups of the Deutsche Bund and demand that every leader of a local branch install such a group if it does not now exist . . .

"In the coming four years our Press, that is the Deutsche Zeitung for Canada, which is our special organ, must be supported to such an extent that it might be developed towards accomplishing the highest achievements . . .

"Every member of the Bund is to take care to buy newspapers and periodicals (and books) only in such stores that are openly friends of the Third Reich.

"It must not occur that in such stores papers opposed to our aims and efforts be offered for sale. It is the business of our members to take steps against such publishers and stores in order that they either come on our side or else show their true colors. If there is no at proper store in the city, then one should communicate with Mr. B. Bott, Press director of the Bund and editor of the Deutsche Zeitung in Canada . . .

"We must and shall succeed in securing all compatriots who are still not members, whether these people are born in Germany or are Germans born in another country . . .

"The four year plan of the Deutsche Bund comes into force with this publication. We command that the members of the Deutsche Bund place themselves unconditionally behind their leaders in order that we may accomplish the task that we placed before ourselves without any omissions.

"In this spirit we greet all the members of the Bund with:

"Heil Hitler!

"For the leaders of the Bund,
"Hans Grabovski,
"Leader of the Bund,
G. Hittler,
"Secretary of the Bund."

Today all that is changed. The leaders walk slowly around internment camps. Their activities on behalf of Hitler and his gang are over. But every true Canadian must be on his guard for the fifth columnist who may have escaped the net.

Last Week Worst for B. C. Forest Fires

VICTORIA, July 22 (CP). — C. D. Orchard, Assistant Chief Forester, today issued a report of the British Columbia Forest Branch showing that last week was the worst for forest fires in the Province's history. He warned that unless rain falls within a few days, another forest closure may be necessary on Vancouver Island and the Lower Mainland.

The branch contended with 600 separate outbreaks during the week, most of them, however, were spot blazes started by lightning in the Nelson and Kamloops districts so that damage was not as serious as in a major forest conflagration.

In the Nakusp Rangers District there were 90 spot fires in one day.

Showers have relieved the situation slightly but conditions are rapidly reverting to an acute hazard, Mr. Orchard reported.

Last week's huge toll raised to 1258 the number of fires this season — an all-time record at this time of year and more than double the number for the same period of last year.

Nelway Road Oiled Nearly to Nelson; Goatfell Held Up

A coating of dust-abating oil had been laid from Sheep Creek to within two miles of Nelson on the Nelson-Nelway Road, stated O. G. Gallaher, Public Works Engineer for Nelson-Creston, on Monday. Oiling would be continued to Nelson, he added. Roads in the townsite of Sheep Creek have also been oiled.

The Goatfell-Gray Creek Road was oiled from Goatfell to Sirdar, but further work was held up pending arrival of more oil. The work would be done as soon as it arrived, however, Mr. Gallaher said.

Before the oil was laid, a grader smoothed off the roads. A coating 12 feet wide was put down.

Until the oil mixes into the surface, traffic is being curtailed to 15 to 20 miles an hour.

Calgary Bishop Is 'Simply Amazed' at Beauty of Kootenay

With his wife and children, Bishop Sherman plans to rent a cottage on the West Arm or on the Main lake for about two weeks.

'Canadians Proud to Share Burden'

OTTAWA, July 22 (CP)—Commenting on Hitler's "peace" speech, Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the Commons today that "Canadains are prouder than ever to share with the men and women of Britain the rigors of the conflict, and to stand shoulder to shoulder with them in the defence of social justice and of human liberty."

"The speech calls for no words in reply," said the Prime Minister. "It answers itself. The one moment that obviously may fittingly be made upon it is that so far as the future of the war is concerned, deception has run its course.

"Resolute action alone will decide how suffering and misery are to be ended, whether tyranny or freedom is to be annihilated, whether civilization is to be destroyed or to survive."

Referring to Canada's destiny, Mr. King said it will not be decided by Hitler or Mussolini but by the free will of the people of the Dominion" in accordance with their tried and traditional loyalty."

Conservative Leader Hanson said he was glad of the statement made by the Prime Minister. "I am sure the House will welcome the declaration made by the Prime Ministre."

Garland Asks Club Members Assist in Registration Work

A request for "good public-spirited volunteers" to assist him in the registration of Nelson residents was voiced by C. B. Garland, Registrar for Kootenay West in the national registration of men and women, at the Rotary Club's luncheon meeting at the Hume Hotel Monday. One hundred to 200 persons would be needed he said.

Mr. Garland outlined a plan which he said he would introduce to all service clubs, whereby the club would appoint a central committee within itself to determine how much time the members could give in each of the three days allotted for registration.

As Registrar he was allowed to employ only two assistants. They could not possibly cover the entire city in three days, so successful registration would depend on the efforts of public-spirited citizens who would work voluntarily, he said.

He had already received many offers of service from clubs and individuals, he added.

Britishers Keep Cheerful to Swing; Sweepstake Draws on Air Raid Alarms Are Highlight of Factory Life

By MILO THOMPSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer).

LONDON, July 22 (AP).—Swing music, quips as to the danger of German bomb hits, and winner-take-all sweepstake draws on air raid alarms are spicing the monotony of England under aerial siege.

While scattered bombers raked the island, I set out to survey the wartime life of Britons whom the Germans describe as "quaking" at Hitler's threats and so fearful of "fifth columnists" that they sometimes shoot each other.

I went into a rural "pub" on the exact spot which was a target of German raiders in the last war. The door opened into a dark vestibule and, drawing aside the heavy blackout curtains, I witnessed a strange spectacle.

Instead of solemn groups huddled in gloom, I saw scores of couples executing a lively form of swing on the dance floor, while a band played jazz hits. Men grouped about the bars were singing vociferously.

I stepped outside, expecting darkness. Instead, the blacked out street scene was brilliantly, eerily lit by a parchute flare drifting to earth.

Far above, I could hear the drone of the planes but still came the blare of the jazz band and the sound of stamping feet.

Though none knew what might come, motorists cheerfully utilized the light of the flares to find their parked cars. The light also disclosed that the home guard and air raid precautions groups were on the alert.

A factory worker told me that his plant nearby has an electric clock system which stops the moment an air-raid alarm sounds, and that the workers have sweepstakes in which they draw the minutes in an hour at sixpence (about 10 cents) each.

At a london private ballroom, I found a gay "flannel dance" in progress—so called because it is permissible to attend in cricket or boating flannels.

An interesting sidelight of the war is the education it is giving ears. Listening for the distinctive heterdoyne beat of German motors in the sky, one becomes supersensitive to sounds, and many wagers are laid on the kind of vehicle passing on a distant road or the number of planes in a flight somewhere far overhead.

The slogan of the English is "Be ready, keep cheerful." There are plenty of signs they are doing both.

French Decrees Grant Loans to Private Industry

VICHY, July 22 (AP).—A series of decrees granting loans to private industry and certain colonies and rectifying the exchange rate for the French and Belgian franc were enacted today by the Petain Government as a part of its reconstruction program.

Loans up to 200,000 francs may be made to private industries for three months to enable them to pay salaries and buy indispensable raw materials.

(The French franc is not at present quoted on the foreign exchange market. Previously this year, however, it ranged from a high of 2.26 points on Jan. 29 to a low of 1.73.)

Advances of 500,000,000 and 100,000,000 francs were granted respectively to Algeria and Tunisia to assure a food supply in these colonies.

Through an arrangement with the Belgian Government 500 Belgian francs were made equal to 722 French francs.

FAMINE IN GERMAN-OCCUPIED EUROPE — WATCH FOR HUN PROPAGANDA

German-occupied portions of Europe are already famine-stricken as in the case of Poland, or facing famine as in the case of France, from which the Germans are requisitioning everything they want without regard for the needs of the French people.

In Colliers, Walter Davenport writes an enlightening article on the situation quoting information gathered by ex-President Hoover of the United States.

Germany has been so coldly efficient at going to market as she has going to war. Into that portion of Poland not absorbed into the Reich and annexed by Russia, the so-called Government General, Hitler has packed more than 15,000,000 people where fewer than 10,000,000 lived before. These 78 counties are chiefly industrial. They will eat what Germany and Russia give them in payment for their labor.

The Hoover files have it that "almost seven million of these people" are on the verge of starvation and that "one thousand of them are dying daily for the want of food." An influenza epidemic is helping them die. As Germany and Russia took the agricultural sectors of Poland, so may she quarter other conquered lands, including France. She will not starve in Europe's famine. Starvation can solve the political problems she acquired with victory. Poland's great food staple—peas—has been cut in half by crop failures. And Germany has taken most of that to augment her own soya-bean stores—the famous Nazi Food Pills made from soya, the "Magic Bean." Normally Poland raises more than 7,000,000 beef cattle. The fodder failure reduced these herds to 2,400,000. And Germany shipped them to her abattoirs against the black Winter that is to come.

We've cited Poland as a horrible example. Norway is rationing flour at the rate of three ounces a week per person. Germany has forbidden the Norwegians to feed grain to the too few cattle rmaining in thir barns. Norway depended upon imports for seventy-five per cent of her breadstuffs. She is getting less than five per cent of that today and that only by the grace of Adolf Hitler. Her margarine, fats and sugar are exhausted. She is eating fish but no meat. All her whale oils, an important element of her diet, is being diverted to Germany. And the Winter is months away.

Denmark is slaughtering livestock because she cannot feed them. And Germany takes them as they fall. Belgium and the Netherlands are already gaunt. Milk and beef are mere memories.

Even Russia, the nervous neutral, is lying awake at nights wondering about next Winter's food. That's why she demanded—and got—Besarabia. She wants wheat. She can't afford to let Germany and Italy gobble Danubia's food. The Hoover files lack specific information about Russia's food stores. Equally reticent are other sources. But such are the bare facts. The situation has only one direction to travel—downward. A defeated Nature and a triumphant Hitler have seen to that.

No doubt, after having robbed every conquered country in Europe of its food and other necessities, Germany's next step will be to try and persuade the United States that the British blockage is to be blamed for the condition of the starving peoples. After having raped most of Europe Germany will try and make it appear that the British Empire which alone is trying, at terrific cost to itself, to bring criminal Germany to justice, set free its victims and prevent its rule of thuggery from extending further is to blame for the sorrowful condition of the peoples the Germans are robbing.

Rediculous as it will be, the British blockade to keep supplies from reaching the Germans will inevitably be attacked by such propaganda.

CATTLE CURED WITH DYE DRUG

After 693 experiments, British chemists have triumphed in their search for a drug to mitigate the diseases caused to cattle by streptococcal infection.

Already the drug is becoming known in the Argentine, where there are huge cattle raising interests, and breeders in Empire countries can assert with pride that this big advance in venterinary knowledge is an all-British effort.

To commemorate the number of experiments, the drug is now known officially as M and B 693, the initials referring to the firm in whose laboratories near London the drug was perfected.

It is based on a scientific foundation laid as long ago as 1782 by Lord Dundonald, the first patentee of tar extracted from coal by distillation, and the resultant discovery of the germicidal powers of dyes made from coal tar. From this the chemists have now succeeded in securing a sulphonamide drug with dramatic curative properties for animal medicine. It appears similar in its curative effects to suphanilimide, so successfully used by B.C. doctors in human diseases.

For centuries cattle raisers the world over have borne the curse of such devastating diseases as bovine mastitis, equine pneumonia and other diseases due to streptococcal infection. Now the laboratory work has made it plain that the new British drug may ultimately rid the animal world of its chief disease enemies.

The drug's action on equine streptococcal infections has already produced very impressive results; further work on cases of contagious abortion has raised high hopes of yet another victory for British science.

CONTRACT . . . By Shepard Barclay

FAVOR THE NO TRUMP

BIDDING No Trump with a a worthless singleton or doubleton is usually conceded to be bad business. Even having a singleton in your partner's suit is risky, as it gives you only one chance to lead toward whatever tenaces it may contain. But leaving in a No Trump contract bid by your partner is an entirely different proposition. Now singletons, and even voids, should not worry you. In effect, they are assets, because it is their shortness which makes possible your longest suits, whereby the declarer may bring in some small-card tricks. Consequently, your partner's No Trump contract usually should be favored over a minor suit one, if your hand has a worthy amount of high-card strength in it.

North: ♠ 7 5 4 3 ♥ 4 ♦ A K 9 5 3 ♣ A Q 8

West: ♠ A Q 9 2 ♥ K Q 6 2 ♦ 8 ♣ 10 7 6 3

East: ♠ J 10 ♥ J 8 7 5 3 ♦ 10 7 2 ♣ J 5 2

South: ♠ K 8 6 ♥ A 10 9 ♦ Q J 6 4 ♣ K 9 4

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	3♠	Pass
3NT	Pass	4♠	Pass
5♠

Even before seeing the dummy, South was upset at his partner's bidding of diamonds after the No Trump game call, in view of the fact that North did not see fit to go on to slam.

Bidding such as South did showed that he lacked enough power for the strong No Trump being used by the pair for opening bids, and so bid his suit. When he found enough strength in his partner's hand for the jump response, he then showed his partner that he had protection in all suits by bidding 3-No Trumps.

North should have passed that, because nine tricks are easier to take than eleven. Had he done so, game would have been a cinch against any lead, and an overtrick if West led a spade. As it was, the 5 Diamonds contract was set by three spade tricks.

Ban on Book Creates Demand

"The Grapes of Wrath is rotten fruit!" cried Ira S. Gardner, member of Kansas City Board of Education in demanding the exclusion of John Steinbeck's novel from Kansas City public library. Mr. Gardner read selected passages from the book (a procedure which would make the Scriptures "obscene, vulgar and indecent"). The Board voted, 4 to 2, to keep the city's 13 copies of the novel on the shelves, restricting them to the use of adults. Next morning all 13 were in circulation and a long reserve list was building up.—P.M.

J. G. C., Trail—A relative of mine, Canadian born and not naturalized in the United States, has been a resident of that country since December, 1930, but did not make a legal entry. Is he likely to be deported when registration of aliens takes place in the United States commencing September 1 next?

Yes Deportation for illegal entry applies to aliens who entered the United States illegally after July 1, 1924. It may affect many Canadians who will be caught in the registration net and their status exposed. Those who have made legal entry as permanent residents, and not as visitors or under some similar pretext, are of course, safe from deportation.

C. C., Slocan—Where should one write regarding a position in Canada as interpreter of the Swedish language?

Write Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Ottawa, or the Superintendent of Provincial Police, Victoria.

J. M., Kimberley—Can you tell me how to put butter down in crocks for Winter use?

The Department of Agriculture says that pasteurized sweet cream should be used, churned at a low temperature, and the butter washed so that it will be firm and waxy. Rolls or prints of butter should be wrapped in parchment butter paper, placed in a stone crock, and covered with strong brine. Butter should be stored in as cool a place as is available and in a place free from odors likely to be absorbed by the butter.

W. B., Nakusp—If a person does not see his way to enlist but waits for conscription, can he state to which unit he wishes to belong—artillery or air force, etc.—or does the Government decide this?

Preference may be stated but decision as to branch of service will rest with the Government.

H. M., Sheep Creek—Could you please tell me where to write to join the Royal Canadian Air Force?

Write Officer Commanding, Royal Canadian Air Force, Vancouver.

J. G. W., Trail—To what practical use may one put the transformer of an old Majestic radio?

It might be used in building up a homemade radio receiving set.

Which is the most dangerous, the voltage or the amperage of an electric current?

The combinations of low voltage and high amperage, or high voltage and low amperage, have relatively the same shocking effect.

AN EDITORIAL IN LIBERTY

About two thousand years ago, more or less, fortuitous circumstance gave comparatively great power to the city of Rome. The Romans had dull, practical minds that ran to aqueducts and sewage systems, and so their death rate was a little lower than their neighbors'. They had lascivious tendencies that led them to steal women, and so their birth rate was a trifle higher than that of adjacent tribes.

By virtue, then, of sewage and seduction, they grew in numbers and in strength. And, being a brutal, vain and covetous people they used these material advantages to enslave and conquer what little they knew of the earth. They had no civilization to speak of, and they had no culture. What small polish they managed to acquire, they purloined from the Greeks.

So gradually they overran Italy; they subjugated Spain and took over control of what is now Germany and was France. They even pushed down into Africa and over into Britain, bringing, not enlightenment, but slavery and oppression. There was not one single spot touched by the Romans that was not made worse by their presence. Europe and even England are dotted with their stone encampments. And each one remains, not as a relic of an ancient civilization, but as a memento of an ancient blight. Like hungry locusts, they swarmed over Europe. And like locusts, they ravished the country bare.

But there were those in squalid villages who watched the Romans plodding stupidly and relentlessly along their roads and who said to themselves: "How wonderful it must be to have fine uniforms, bronze swords, full bellies, all the right to rape and rob throughout the whole world!" And there were petty chieftains in their foul hovels who thought much of Caesar and imagined him as something like a god to be able to direct and control this cruel and lustful horde.

Finally, to condense the story, Rome fell. It had to fall, because nations, like men, cannot live without souls. And whatever flickerings of soul Rome may have possessed had long since winked out.

This was the Roman Empire and its leaders were the Caesars—men of blood, matricides, incestuous and unclean.

For centuries, through the Dark Ages, Europe lay supine and swinish. But through those dim years the thoughts of men were haunted by the sound of tramping legions and the dreams of petty princelings were colored by the legends of the Caesars and the tradition of world conquest.

Now, there had developed, within this time, two families of Rhine pirates who were more than usually obsessed with the idea of subjecting free people to their will. These were the Hohenzollerns and the Hapsburgs. They had no mentality to absorb the beauty of the Renaissance. They had no conception of a gallant new world set free of slavery and violence by literature and art and learning. They could only hark back to that dismal nightmare of Roman dominance. They talked dramatically of "the grandeur that was Rome"—grandeur built on the invention of sewers; glory based on wholesale illicit love.

And they sought to revive this monstrous thing. This new shadow of imperial power was bandied about among barbarians in Byzantium, among the Hohenzollerns in Germany and among the Hapsburgs in Spain, in Austria, and in the Low Countries. Even the Russians had a go at it, and one Grand Duke of Moscow had himself crowned "Czar," the Russian version of the accursed name of Caesar, as "Kaiser" was the Teutonic form of it. And these fond and fatuous mountebanks had the effrontery to add blasphemy to childishness. The butchers of Roman days were content to call it the "Roman Empire." These upstarts who had scarce cleaned the filth of the barnyard from their buskins made it the "Holy Roman Empire."

Let it be noted that, of all Europe, neither Britain nor France nor Poland subscribed with any zeal to this unhallowed resurrection of the leprous Roman corpse. They went their ways, untouched by the imperial fetish. And let it be noted, too, that of all Europe—with the exception of little Switzerland, whose geography turned her into a sanctuary for fugitive liberal thought — Britain and France and Poland were the only nations of Europe ever to achieve any degree of Democracy, which is merely religion instead of greed applied to government.

This is the background of the present war, with perverted geniuses of ill-will still trying to revive a conception that is as obsolete as flint nad stone. It was the background of the last war. And it will be the background of war eternal so long as the obscene and savage figures of the Caesars continue to haunt the atavistic minds of European tyrants and their European dupes.

We are not fighting men, today, but ghosts. We are not opposing any new philosophy of government, but a tradition of violence that is as old as the seven hills of the infernal city. Europe still reeks with it—this miasmic spirit of hate and bitterness that wells up from ideas and legends and evil men long dead.

It all gives cause to wonder if any democratic spirit can long endure on that continent of wrath. It gives point to the conjectures, that have been made only within the past few weeks by men of judgment and responsibility, that Britain and France may well prepare to finish or revive this struggle between dead Paganism and living Democracy from the shores of this New World, where the tradition is liberty and where the way of life is faith and trust.

EGYPT'S SILVER HAWK FOR LORD SOMERS

CLEANUP CAMPAIGN BONFIRE

A spectacular evening feature of a Spring cleanup campaign of Hamilton, Ont., was the burning of two huge bonfires on Hamilton Mountain, "to call attention to the need of clearing up the Winter's accumulation of rubbish." The fires were tended by Boy Scouts and members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

BLIND SCOUTS HOLD FIELD DAY

Surprisingly like a field day program of Scouts with all their faculties was that of the boys of the 1st Brant (School for the Blind) Troop, of Brantford. Each patrol ran a mile "Scout's pace" (alternately walking and running), lashed and erected a flagpole using five Scout staves and four ropes, treated a patient whose injuries were detailed in a Morse message, built a fire and boiled a pint of water. The afternoon ended with a Scout campfire and singsong.

SCOUTS "CARRYING ON"

Throughout Canada the Boy Scouts continue to carry on their "home front" wartime activities. In various centres, as markets are available, they are collecting waste-paper, scrap metal, rubber tires, lead foil, etc., and contributing the funds to the Red Cross or other war services. Many thousands of magazines have been gathered for the Y.M.C.A., Salvation Army, Legion and Knights of Columbus huts at military camps. Lawns and gardens of soldiers' families are being looked after, and arrangements are being made to assist farmers and fruit growers with their crops, if needed.

SCOUTS AID ROTARY

"We would feel incapable of handling such a large crowd without the assistance of the Boy Scouts" was a tribute paid by Secretary Norman G. Foster when formally thanking the Scouts of Ottawa for services rendered during the recent tri-district conference of International Rotary held at the capital.

RED CROSS News Notes

Sunshine Bay Group to Collect Garments to Assist Refugees

Sunshine Bay Group of the West Arm Auxiliary of the Nelson Red Cross branch met at the home of Mrs. Land Appleton, Mrs. F. Neale being in the chair.

The group decided to send parcels of old garments to Mrs. B. A. Smith to be made over for refugee children. Miss Ruth Orr won the contest.

After the adjournment, Mrs. Cannon and Mrs. Batchelor assisted Mrs. Appleton in serving refreshments.

UNIFORMED HITCHHIKERS

Maybe the country couldn't stand the cost of issuing transportation to sailors, soldiers and airmen going on leave, but it is not an edifying spectacle to see so many uniformed men hitchhiking their way at weekends. They stand a better chance with motorists than ordinary thumbers, but the practice detracts from the dignity of services which are supposed to be vitally important, and will not make a favorable impression upon the tourists we expect to receive this season.—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

Morning Glories as Pot Plants

Morning glories as pot plants.

In Japan morning glories are popular pot plants. The vogue is spreading to this coutnry, and today morning glories are not only used as pot plants on the porch, but are also planted in tubs and trained over wooden or wire supports, thus making decorative terrace materials.

When training these plants, wire paper clips can be useful in holding the tips of the plants in position as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. For this purpose the clip should be bent open, and the bottom half straightened out so it can be stuck into the soil like a miniature stake. These wire clips can also be bent to serve as hooks for holding vines which are being trained over supports.

Many people potting morning glory Scarlet O'Hara, the 1939 Gold Medal winner in the All-America selections. This new morning glory has magnificent bright, wine-red flowers which liven up a shady corner of the porch or terrace.

Rookies Win First Softball Playoff From C.Y.O. Nine

Scoring in every inning of a 5½-inning game, Rookies piled up a 19-10 victory over C. Y. O. in the first game of the Nelson ladies' softball final series at the Recreation Grounds Monday evening. The second game is slated for next Monday, and if a third is necessary it will be played later next week.

The Rookies got off to a bad start, allowing the Catholics four runs in the opening inning. Two runs in their half and eight in the second changed the outlook entirely and the Rookies walked off with the game.

Phyllis Wallace and Vera Matheson hit homers for the winners, and Eva Henrickson a double besides two singles. Iris Johansson hit four singles; and Phyllis Wallace, Josie Elliot and Eva Henrickson each got three hits. Isobel Donovan banged out a homer, double and a single for half the C. Y. O. hits.

Hazel Spiers struck out nine Catholics and walked two; and her opponent, Millie Horrigan, fanned two and passed two.

Paterson Turns Down Coaching Girls' Softball

Bob Paterson said Monday that on account of pressure of work during holiday time he would be unable to take over the coaching of the Nelson ladies' rep team. "Though I would like to," he added.

"I feel that I would not be able to do the team justice," he explained. He has to work nearly every Sunday in August.

However, since the best of seven series for the West Kootenay title with Trail Reps gets under way with a doubleheader in Nelson on July 28, and immediate practices are thereby obvious, he said he would help the team out in Wednesday's practice. Tony Arcure and Carl Locatelli have also offered to help out.

Cincinnati Off on Eastern Tour; Critical Series

By JOHN FRYE
Associated Press Sports Writer

CINCINNATI, July 22 (AP). — Cincinnati Reds, class of the National League, started a critical 16-game Eastern tour today in the best shape in history and enjoying their longest lead of the season.

Tomorrow they meet the Dodgers in a doubleheader which may have great bearing on the outcome of the second half of baseball's statistical year. The Reds' current margin over the runnerup is five games.

Win, lose or draw, the figures add up this way:

Were it Manager Bill McKechnie's way, the champions could coast the rest of the way on .500 ball. Winning 37 of the remaining 74 games would give 92 won, 62 lost, average .597, and many a pennant has been won on less.

Right now, for the information of those who call them the second "hitless wonders," the Reds have added four points to team batting average in five games, bringing it to .267.

Although that's fourth in the league, they're tops in fielding with .980, a good mark for a team of first basemen.

Bahamas Swimmers to Compete at Toronto

TORONTO, July 22 (CP).— A team of 12 outstanding swimmers from the Bahamas Islands will compete in amateur swimming races at the Canadian National Exhibition here this year.

The swimmers will compete in the international meet at the exhibition Aug. 24 against teams from Canada and the United States.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By The Canadian Press

Schoolboy Rowe, the sensational young Detroit Tiger pitcher, was shelved for the season three years ago today because of an ailing arm. He hurled 15 straight victories for the Tigers in 1934. He is making a comeback this season with the Tigers, putting them in line for the pennant.

ZEKE BONURA BOUGHT FOR $10,000 BY CUBS; ALRIGHT WITH ZEKE

CHICAGO, July 22 (AP).—Baseball's vagabond slugger, Zeke Bonura, made a new stopover today.

The big first baseman was purchased for $10,000 by Chicago Cubs from Washington Senators. The Senators got him from the Chicago White Sox, sold him to New York Giants and then got him back from the Giants.

Now Zeke is back in the National League and back in Chicago. It's probably "Jake" with Zeke, for it was here he broke in with the White Sox in 1934.

He's been ordered to report immediately to the Cubs. Zeke hit only .273 but has driven in 46 runs this season and has made 16 doubles, three triples and three home runs. His lifetime major league batting average is .313.

BEARS HAND LEAFS SEVENTH BOXLA DEFEAT IN A ROW; WIN BY 23-11

Temple Leads Fast Bruin Attack With 6 Goals

Making up for the ground they lost early in the second half after piling up a substantial margin in the first section of the West Kootenay Lacrosse League, the Trail Golden Bears powerhoused their way to a 23-11 victory over the down-trodden Nelson Maple Leafs at the Civic Centre Monday night.

The Bears, who gave the pennant hopes of the fast-climbing Rossland Redmen a severe setback Friday, continued where they left off by handing the cellar-dwelling Leafs their seventh defeat in a row. They slashed home six goals in the first period to one by Nelson, and they kept up the fast pace for the rest of the game.

An average-sized crowd saw the game. The fans certainly had their chance to holler, and they did plenty of it. Referees DesBrisay and Wilson came in for plenty of razzing from the fans as they clamped down on the gladiators. In the first period alone the teams divided a total of 27 minutes in the hoosegow.

SIX FOR TEMPLE

Slim Ralph Temple, always one of the leagues top performers, was again travelling at a fast clip. He slipped through for half a dozen goals, a couple of them beautiful plays. Bobby Kendall piled up seven points for the Bears, five of them assists, as the Trail men played a smart-passing game.

Where the visitors showed their great superiority was in fast-breaking attacks. They always seemed to have the jump on the Leafs after they broke up Nelson's attacks, and as they swarmed down the floor the ball snapped from stick to stick with deadly precision for the final carrier to go in on Davey Gibbons time and again.

Even after the Bears piled up their big lead early in the game, the teams played as if they were in a championship battle until the play tamed down in the last period.

CARR SHOWS WELL

The league-leaders were minus Booney Sammartino and Marcus Smith. Nelson trotted out Art Hill and Red Carr for the first time of the season, and they both showed up well. Carr provided lots of additional color with his weird one-handed attacks, his stick high in the air.

Bill Turik, rough and ready Trail rearguard, continued his bid for recognition by being sent to the hoosegow for a total of 13 minutes.

Score by periods:

Trail	6	6	5	6—23
Nelson	1	4	3	3—11

Gibbons	6	10	9	5—30

Lineups:

U.S. Auto Racer Piles Up Marks

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, July 22 (AP)—Ab Jenkins, Salt Lake City's fast-driving mayor, ploughed through the salt of the Utah Desert flats at a rate which bettered world records with almost every turn of the 12½-mile oval course.

As he neared the halfway point in his contemplated 24-hour run, he had surpassed 11 established marks—most of them his own.

Jenkins raised the 50 kilometre mark, unofficially, from 171.38 to 172.915 miles an hour.

The rate reached an impressive 183.041 m.p.h. average for the 300 kilometres, nearly six miles better than the old 177.110.

"STICKS" TO THE CITY

In a recent article, "What Lies Ahead For the Big Cities?", Howard Vincent O'Brien, columnist of the Chicago Daily News, pictures vivid contrast between a city of 13,000, where $20 a week is rated as a good salary, and New York, where express subways take the people to their cliff dwellings, their flats they call home. He compares the town's comfortable two- story houses, with gardens around them, the people with automobiles and radios, with those crowded tenements.

The small town he uses for a comparison is Emporia, Kan. While the city dweller spends his idle hours in night clubs, the Emporia resident does a lot of picknicking in secluded nooks. In the evening a little boy rides a tricycle on the sidewalk. There is a swimming pool nearby. A short walk away are tennis courts and a lake and a municipal golf course.

DON'T WE ALL?

"Life in Emporia seems good at twilight," he states, and sums up his article with this remark:

"I wonder why people leave such places to seek fame and fortune amid the surge and thunder of places where every man stands in the shadow of another man. What, after all, is fame and fortune, anyhow?"

Reading a condensation of O'Brien's article in "Column Review", I could not help thinking of the Kootenay towns. They have practically all those privileges over the big city which Emporia enjoys.

JUST ONE ATTRACTION

Sunday, I managed to get out of Trail for my fourth fishing jaunt of the season. Joe Mallec drove me to Big Sheep Creek, where we met other Trailites enjoying the beauties of the great outdoors. Just an hour and twenty minutes from Trail is one of the finest fishing streams in the country. There had been a shower in the morning and the Cascade Highway was free of dust. The foliage had the freshness of Spring, but the Saskatoon berries, raspberries and Salmon berries had ripened. It made a fellow feel good just to walk along the trail. It was fun wading the creek, and fishing was good. After dusk came we were glad to get into dry clothes.

Supper had a different flavor out there in the woods. It became chilly in the evening and a sweater was comforting. Then we hopped into one of civilization's modern devices of transportation and sped home.

I thought how the man in the city would enjoy such an outing and at so little expense, and I realized why so many city dwellers of both Canada and the United States come to the Kootenays to spend their vacations.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 22 (AP).—Diamond dust: If you think the Yankees are not serious about winning this year's pennant, why do think they cancelled those exhibition games in Toledo, Baltimore and Buffalo?

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

John Keiran, New York Times: "To hear Manager Ossie Vitt of the Cleveland Club tell it in cheerful accents, if there's anything smouldering in the Indians' dugout, it must be smoke from the pipe of peace."

Twenty-eight years ago Charley Howard, the auto man, said, "The horse is gone forever." He's the same guy who paid $15,000 last Winter for Midland! . . .

TWO AND A HALF MINUTE INTERVIEW:

Doc Painter, Yankee trainer: "Know what's the matter with the Yankees? Well, no team ever was under a nervous strain for as long as the Yankees were. For four years, they couldn't let down even in exhibition games because they had to keep in mind the fact they were the Yankees and people expected great things of them. This Spring they just had a reaction."

Lou Young, Dartmouth's football captain for 1940, is the son of a former Pennsylvania coach.

'Hitler's Mad Plans Will Be Shattered on Day of Reckoning'

Sacrifice Worth It to Defend Precious Rights — Halifax Makes Appeal to Keep Faith

LONDON, July 22 (AP) — The text of Lord Halifax's broadcast today follows:

Many of you will have read two days ago the speech in which Herr Hitler summoned Great Britain to capitulate to his will. I will not waste your time by dealing with his distortions of almost every main event since the war began.

He says he has no desire to destroy the British Empire, but there was in his speech no suggestion that peace must be based on justice, no word of recognition that the other nations of Europe had any right to self-determination, the principle which he has so often invoked for Germans.

His only appeal was to the base instinct of fear, and his only arguments were threats.

His silence as to the future of nations whom on one false pretext or another he has subjugated is significant.

Quite plainly his picture of Europe is one of Germany lording it over their peoples, whom he has one by one deprived of freedom. Our picture, drawn once again in bold outline by the president of the United States and General Smuts, is quite different.

With them, we see Europe a free association of independent states; and because of that contrast we remain unmoved by threats unaccompanied by an appeal to our sense of right or justice.

Hitler has not made it plain that he is preparing to direct the whole weight of German might against this country. That is why in every part of Britain, in great towns and remote villages alike, there is only one spirit of indomitable resolutions.

Nor has anyone any doubt that if Hitler were to succeed it would be the end for many besides ourselves of all those things which, as we say, make life worth living.

because the things we are dearly cost us everything, but just

We realize that the struggle fertling are worth any sacrifice it is a noble privilege to be the defenders of things so precious.

We never wanted the war; certainly no one here wants the war to go on for a day longer than is necessary. But we shall not stop fighting till freedom, for ourselves and others, is secure.

What do we mean when we say that we are fighting for freedom? We want to be able to live our own lives as we like; and not have to look over our shoulders all the time to see if the Gestapo is making up a case that will land us in a concentration camp.

We want to worship God as we like and this religious freedom based on conscience we will not let go. For conscience is not something that you can hand over to anybody else.

But in Germany the people have given their consciences to Hitler so that they have become machines, merely fulfilling orders without considering whether they are right or wrong. And what has been the effect on Hitler?

When he first gained power, he was at pains to explain that his aims were strictly limited. He was only concerned with the welfare of Germany. He had no claims against her neighbors. But steadily his appetite grew, until today he assumes the role of a supreme protector.

Already we see him ruling through creatures, pale shadows of himself, that he has established in Central and Northern Europe. Further South, Mussolini, flushed by his triumphs over a France, whom he has not fought, may be allowed the role of master of a Mediterranean which he has not conquered.

For Hitler force has become the final rule of the destinies of men and of nations. Germany has the force. Hence Germany alone must decide how the nations are to live together. What matter if they do not like it?

Man is a frail creature, fallible and made to obey, and will soon learn to obey his master. According to Hitler, old fashioned respect for the pledged word is a sign of weak fibre, and unworthy of robust masterminds.

He would have no nonsense about equality before the law which is an outrage against reason and the all powerful state. Bad faith, cruelty, crime become right by the fact that it is he, Hitler, who ordains them. That is the fundamental challenge of anti-Christ which it is our duty as Christians to fight with all our power.

The peoples of the British Commonwealth, along with all those who love the trust and justice and freedom, will never accept this new world of Hitler's.

Free men, not slaves. Free nations, not German vassals. A community of nations freely cooperating for the good of all. These are the pillars of the new and better order that the British people wish to see.

And I hope that our country which leads the fight today to prevent the immeasurable human tragedy which Hitler's victory would mean will be the one to point the way for all peoples to a better life.

We can be of good heart when we survey the prospect. Hitler may plant the swastika where he will, but unless he can sap the strength of Britain, the foundations of his Empire are built on sand.

In their hearts the peoples that he has beaten down curse him and pray that his attacks may be broken on the defences of our island fortress.

They long for the day when we shall sally forth and return blow for blow. We shall assuredly not disappoint them.

Then will come the day of final reckoning when Hitler's mad plans for Europe will be shattered by the unconquerable passion of man for freedom. And beyond the bounds of Europe, across the wide Atlantic, there are mighty nations who view his works with growing detestation.

The people of the United States did not build their new home in order to surrender it to this fanatic with this narrow and twisted vision, whose gospel is a gospel of hate, whose policy is the policy of brute force, whose message to mankind is the enthralment of the human spirit under ruthless tyranny.

We may take heart from the certain knowledge that that great people pray for our victory over this wicked man and his ways as fervently as any of his present victims. The foundations of their country, as of ours, have been Christian teaching and belief in God.

For this reason, I have no doubt that the King's broadcast last Christmas, when he spoke of putting our hand in the hand of God, went home to them as it did to us.

Where will God lead us? Not, we may be sure, through easy or pleasant paths. That is not His way. He will not help us to avoid our difficulties. What He will do is to give to those, who humbly ask, the spirit that no dangers can disturb. The Christian message to the world brings peace in war; peace where we most need it; peace of soul.

It is that smae Christian message which makes its giver, who is God, the best friend whom a man can share life or death. Those of us who cannot serve in the armed forces must all do our best in other ways to help them. I'm sure we shall.

And there is one thing we can all do, soldiers, sailors, airmen and civilians, men, women and children all together, which may be much more powerful than we know. And this is to pray.

I heard the other day of a Yorkshire village where after all the talk about a fifth column the people had agreed to form a sixth column, in which they pledged themselves to try and give a few minutes each day in God's house to prayer. We shall naturally ask God to take care of those we love and to bless the cause for which our country is at war. We can ask this in confidence because we know that we are trying to resist things that cannot be according to God's will.

But prayers is not only asking God for what we want, but rather the way to learn to trust Him, to ask that we may know His will, and do it with all our strength. If we can really do our work, whatever it is, as well as we can in God's sight, it will become His work, and we can safely leave the issue in His hands.

This then is the spirit in which we must march together in this crusade for Christianity.

We and our great Dominions overseas stand, and shall continue to stand, foursquare against the forces of evil.

We shall go forward, seeing clearly both the splendor and the perils of the task, but strengthened by the faith, through which by God's help, we try to do his service, we shall prevail.

Libyan Airdrome Suffers Damage From R.A.F. Raid

CAIRO, July 22 (AP). — Heavy damage to the Italian Libyan port Tobruk and the nearby airdrome of El Gubi in weekend raids was reported today in a British communique.

It said:

"Tobruk and El Gub I airdrome nearby suffered considerably from raids by Royal Air Force bombers during the weekend.

"Three fires were started at El Gub I as a result of the bombing, one being seen over 60 miles away.

"Tobruk shipping was damaged, fires were caused on a jetty and a direct hit was registered on a large crane.

"Military targets at Bard A. Eastern Libyan port, also were attacked successfully.

"The enemy carried out bombing raids on Sidi Barrani, Sollum, Mersa Matruh and Fuka.

"There were no R. A. F. casualties and damage was very slight.

"In the sudan, R. A. F. bombers pressed home a determined attack on the Asmara airdrome and surrounding buildings. Bombing was accurate and direct hits were registered on a group of three hangars and buildings.

"All our aircraft returned safely.

"Barentu airdrome, midway between Kassala and Massawa, also was attacked. An ammunition dump and naval stores at Assab twice were raided with some success.

"Aircraft of the South African Air Force and a Southern Rhodesian squadron carried out valuable reconnaissances over the widest area, at the same time attacking any motor transport or other military targets discovered.

"A formation of Italian bombers, supported and protected by a large force of fighters, raided Malta twice.

"One bomber was believed to have been vitally hit by anti-aircraft fire.

"Subsequently one of our aircraft reported finding wreckage of this machine floating in the sea.

"One of our aircraft, while searching for a disabled enemy bomber, was attacked by two enemy fighters, one of which was shot down, the other making off."

LONDON, July 22 (CP Cable).—Col. E. L. M. Burns, it was disclosed today, is en route to Ottawa to accept what is described as a new and important post.

A cartographical authority, Col. Burns invented the aero cartograph for making accurate maps from aerial photographs.

Canadian M. P.'s Go to Sea With Navy

By FRANK FLAHERTY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

HALIFAX, July 22 (CP). — A group of naval minded parliamentarians turned towards Ottawa today, convinced the life of a sailor in the Royal Canadian Navy is interesting but arduous.

After a day of sight-seeing, inspecting the harbor facilities at Halifax and some of the coastal defence units the '45 members went to sea with the Navy last night.

Aboard a destroyer they passed through the harbor mouth into the broad waters of the Atlantic and felt the cold spray splash over them as the dull grey craft whooped it up to some 30 knots an hour.

"Bring on that German raider," said a veteran member from the drought area of Saskatchewan as he struggled to keep his feet in the prow of the warship.

The sea was calm but the occasional splash of water over the decks gave the parliamentarians an inkling of what life on a destroyer might be in a rough sea.

Members from British Columbia, the Prairies, Ontario and Quebec kept officers and men on the destroyer busy answering questions about the ship, the guns, the life of the navy.

The veteran Conservative member for Yukon, George Black, was one of the few members of the party who had ridden a warship before. He recalled a visit to the Grand Fleet during the last war.

Growth of Plant Roots Halted by Too Much Water

Ideal irrigation for vegetables consists of supplying only sufficient growing conditions states W. M. Fleming, Summerland Experimental Station. All of the garden vegetables cultivated commercially on a large scale grow without irrigation in their natural habitat. They are therefore accustomed to receiving a good soaking and then to subsist for an interval without receiving additional moisture. They are capable of maintaining themselves even when the moisture content of the soil falls to a very low point. However, once the wilting point is reached the plant begins to suffer.

During an irrigation, the soil near the surface becomes saturated, the moisture then spreads laterally and downward, saturating new areas as it goes. While the soil is saturated air is excluded and growth of roots is temporarily stopped, if the earth is kept saturated by prolonged irrigation or irrigation at too frequent intervals, the growth of the plant is checked. Others like tomatoes are much deeper rooted. In an irrigation of any vegetable, the application of water should be continued only long enough to saturate the soil to the depth of the feeding roots. Much less water is required for a shallow rooted plant like melons than for a crop like, tomatoes. The interval between irrigations should be modified to suit the kind of crop and the retentive power of the soil. The interval should be at least until the wilting point is almost but not quite reached.

Experiments to determine the water requirements of different vegetables have been in progress at the Dominion Experimental Station at Summerland for the last eight years. Different amounts of water are measured accurately on crops at regular intervals, and the results yields. On a light sandy loam soil with a fair proportion of humas, application of one-half inch of water per week has given the largest yield of cantaloupes and also a crop of the highest quality. With tomatoes three-quarter inches per week in the Spring, increasing to one and one-half inches per week as the plants come into bearing gave largest yields.

A good general rule is to apply water at the first sign of wilting in the crop, and to stop irrigating as soon as the soil is well moistened to the depth of the plant roots. A good wetting once a fortnight in cool weather and once a week during hot spells is usually sufficient.

July and August Are Best Months to Sow Biennials

Biennials are plants that flower the year following the sowing of the seed and then die. July and August are the best months to sow the seed. A cold frame or open bed can be used, or, if there is only a small amount of seed of a variety, pots or flats are convenient. A suitable compost is made up of loam, leaf mould and sand. In the open ground the surface soil should be well broken up and made fine as for other seeds. If a place which is shaded from the hottest sun can be found, it is best, but if none is available then some artificial shade should be provided.

The seed should be sown in drills about six inches apart and about one-half inch deep. It should be sown very thinly and the weeds should be destroyed as soon as seen. The young plants should be transplanted into cold frames or prepared beds as soon as they are large enough to handle. If the seedlings have room to develop in the seed bed they need not be transplanted, although it is better to do it. A dull showery day should be chosen for this work, if possible, and the plants should be shaded for a few days.

Some of the best known biennials are Canterbury Bells. The young plants should be kept in a cold frame over Winter in districts where the climate is severe. They flower in June. There are several varieties, some of which have single flowers, while others are double. The cup and saucer forms are described by the name. The seed can be obtained in pink, mauve, white, or in mixture.

Sweet William with its flat clusters of bright colored flowers is well known. The young plants can be planted in the beds in Autumn and will generally survive the Winter. The seeds can be obtained in separate colors or in mixture.

Siberian wallflower (Cheiranthus Allionii) has orange colored blooms which are very showy in June or later, according to the size of the plant. They self sow and the plants may spring up in unexpected places.

Bedding violas and pansies should be sown at this time. At Ottawa these plants are Wintered in cold frames. They require rich soil for best results, and some old manure should be mixed with the soil when filling the cold frame in which they are to grow.

Hollyhocks have tall spikes of showy flowers. If the seed is sown now the plants should be large enough to put out in September. After the ground is frozen some brush or cornstalks should be laid over them, to protect them from the alternate freezing and thawing which is so harmful to plants.

Montreal Leaders Decrease Slightly

MONTREAL, July 22 (CP). — Leading issues dipepd lightly in quiet dealings on the stock market today.

Hudson Bay retreated slightly in base metals while Nickel and Smelters held stationary. Noranda had an upward adjustment of more than four points.

Papers received mild support on the curb market but leading issues generally maintained an even keel.

Farmers Ponder Wheat Problem

BY CHARLES GUNNING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG, July 22 (CP) — Clouds of uncertainty hovered over Western Canada wheatlands today as farmers hurried preparations for the harvest of the new crop.

With less than two weeks remaining of the 1939-40 crop year, agriculture observers throughout the West wondered how the vast Prairie farmlands would be affected by the huge carryover and the stalemated condition of wheat futures prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Wheat prices on the futures market here today started their fifth week of trading without moving from the pegged levels inaugurated May 14 by the Federal Government. The quotations below which no future may drop, and above which no value has climbed since June 24, are 71⅝ cents a bushel for July wheat, 73⅝ for October and 74⅝ for December.

Chicago Wheat Price Slips Down a Cent

CHICAGO, July 22 (AP).—Wheat prices sagged more than a cent a bushel today, July contracts falling to 71⅝, the lowest any wheat delivery here has been quoted since last September 1.

Liquidation of July contracts, in which trading ceases after tomorrow. Hedging sales against the new crop movement, and prospects of showers in the domestic and Canadian Spring wheat belt caused the setback. This was in the face of a sharp advance of corn prices, with December contracts, representing the new crop, up almost 2 cents at one stage due to the hot weather.

Wheat closed ⅛—1 cent lower than Saturday. July 72⅛—¼, September 73⅝—⅛, December 74⅝—⅜; corn ⅜—⅞ higher, September 60⅞, December 56⅝—½; oats ⅛ off to ¼ up.

Calgary Trade Quiet

CALGARY, July 22 (CP). — Oil issues on the Calgary Stock Exchange today continued the quiet trend of recent days with early dealings confined to 100 shares of Calmont at 25 cents.

There was very little bidding to start the week's operations. Volume was the lightest in some time.

Early Cutting of Fall Wheat in Creston Area

CRESTON, B.C.—Fall wheat cutting commenced July 19 on the Herman Adams tract on Nick's Island, to establish an all time Kootenay record for early harvest.

He is reported operating in 200 acres of Red Bobs, and the truckloads reaching the Midland & Pacific elevator indicate that it is of splendid grade and running well over 40 bushels to the acre.

Fall wheat cutting is ten days earlier than in 1939. Mr. Adams was the first to cut last year, but his combine did not get into action until July 23.

Winter wheat is safe, but a soaking rain would be beneficial to late sown crop. Early Spring wheat is standing up well under a dry spell that has gone almost unbroken since July 9th. A. F. Rudd of Wyndel is expected to commence Spring wheat harvest by the end of the week.

First Peaches Good at Creston

CRESTON, B.C.—The fortnightly letter of C. B. Twigg, District Agriculturist, indicates that crops generally are making satisfactory progress despite the prolonged heat wave. On unirrigated lands there has been less than .25 of precipitation since July 9.

Peaches made their first appearance Friday. They are Clingstones from the Sam Moon ranch at Wyndel, showing excellent color and average size for variety. In the vegetable line the Chinese gardeners were offering first of the season's filled tomoatoes and corn at the end of the week. Both were excellent for initial offerings.

Mr. Twigg observes that the dry weather has cut the raspberry crop to 75 per cent of production on 1939 acreage, but new tracts coming into production will better the showing to some extent. Raspberries are over, except some quantity that is being picked for jam.

Strawberries have been ploughed under in the case of the older beds. With the younger plants, leaves have been cut off, mulch removed and fertilizer is being put on in order to induce a later Summer growth to build vigorous crowns for the 1941 crop.

The sweet cherry season is over. Lake points supplied some Black Tartarians to keep this fruit on the shipping list for most of the past week. With the trade showing a preference for bush ripened gooseberries shipping houses can not get enough of the English variety to supply the demand.

Mr. Twigg's survey indicates the plums and prunes are sizing slowly, but early varieties may be ready before the end of the month. Pears are being thinned and trees propped where needed. A good yield is expected as many trees are coming into bearing.

Apples are sizing and showing traces of color. Cookers are moving in light volume as yet. Thinning is over. Restrictions have been placed on the use of water for irrigation but the water supply is still ample to assure an average crop of all tree fruits and most of hte vegetables.

SECOND CROP OF ALFALFA HARVESTED

The second crop of alfalfa has been harvested. It is lighter than the first cutting due the very dry weather of the past six weeks. The hay supply, however, should be ample. The first cut of alfalfa and clover was one of the best ever known.

Cutting of peas is general on the acreage on the Reclamation farm, and a start will be made in Creston Dyking District tracts this week. It is pretty well agreed crops in the latter area are better than on the farm.

Fall wheat cutting will be general before the week is out. Earlier July 25 had been agreed upon as a likely starting date but the prolonged drought has hastened maturity. Fall wheat acreage is smaller than in previous years. Yields are expected to be most satisfactory.

HUDSON BAY MINING NET PROFIT $2,610,732

TORONTO, July 22 (CP).—Estimated net profit of $2,610,732 for the six months ended June 30 was reported today by the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company, Limited. This compared with $2,243,591 for the same period in 1939.

At New York: Pound 3.81; Canadian dollar .88⅝.

NEW YORK, July 22 (CP).—The free pound sterling closed nine cents lower at $3.81 against United States funds on the foreign exchange market today.

The Canadian dollar ended unchanged at 88.75 cents. (Ottawa Foreign Exchange Control Board rate 9.09-9.91 per cent discount). The Swiss franc was off .01 cent to 22.72 cents.

Winnipeg Wheat Hits 23rd Day at Pegged Prices

WINNIPEG, July 22 (CP)—Wheat futures prices completed their 23rd consecutive trading day at their government fixed levels after an inactive session on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

The fixed prices are 71⅝ cents a bushel for July wheat, 73⅝ for October and 74⅝ for December.

Only a few trades in the October future featured the wheat pit.

Fair domestic and export demand was noted in cash grain trading. Offerings were confined to odd carloads.

Oats and rye were fractionally better in the coarse grains, reflecting a stronger American tone in that section. American houses were taking oats and some rye, presumably due to inter-market spreading.

War News Holds Wall St. Down

NEW YORK, July 22 (AP). — Stocks generally remained in a comatose condition today with war influences again receiving principal blame for the apathy. Transfers for the five hours were around 225,000 shares.

A feature of the listless proceedings was the sale of a 29,900-share block of Kennecott at a loss of only ⅛ from a previous transaction.

Bonds and commodities were uneven.

Most issues in the Canadian section were inactive. Canadian Pacific lost a fraction while Walkers gained ¾. In the bond market Canada 4s were unchanged.

Crop Yields to Be Light in Kootenay and Arrow Lakes

VERNON, B. C., July 22 (CP) — Generally good fruit crop conditions despite lack of rainfall was reported today in the fortnightly horticultural news letter of the Horticultural Branch of the British Columbia Department of Agriculture.

Conditions have been ideal where crops are under irrigation in the Kootenay and Arrow Lakes area but otherwise crops are suffering and yields will be light. Strawberries are over and raspberries are at their peak. Blackberries are looking good with shipments likely to start around July 25.

Most orchards in the Grand Forks district look good with the fruit sizing up well. Most crops are under irrigation and have not suffered from the dry spell. The strawberry season is over in the Creston district and red currant picking is over. Plums and prunes are sizing slowly in the district.

Privateer Mine to Reduce Dividend

VANCOUVER, July 22 (CP) — The Board of Directors of Privateer Mine have decided to reduce the quarterly dividend from the previous rate of five cents a share to three cents a share it was announced today.

The announcement said that the change is not due to a reduction in earnings, but is for the purpose of building up a surplus and making provision for increased wartime taxation.

Crops on Irrigated Land Doing Well in Kootenay-Boundary but Others Are Light; Cooking Apples to Move Soon

Spring Grain Suffers In Long, Hot Dry Spell

Crop conditions in Kootenay and Boundary, as reported in the Horticultural News Letter of the Department of Agriculture, are:

Conditions have been ideal where crops are under irrigation, but otherwise crops are suffering very badly and yields will be light.

Strawberries are over and raspberries are at about their peak. Blackberries are looking good with shipments likely around July 25.

The quality of the cherry crop is good in most sections. All tree fruits are sizing quite satisfactorily in the irrigated orchards, but fruit will be small in non-irrigated orchards. Apricots are taking color.

All vegetable crops are doing well under irrigation. Early potatoes are moving quite freely, with a good demand in local markets. The yield on the late potato crop will be very light in non-irrigated fields.

The weather has been ideal for harvesting the hay crop and the second cutting of alfalfa has been put up in good condition, but with a somewhat lighter yield. Spring grain crops have also suffered with the long, dry and warm spell of weather.

GRAND FORKS

Most crops are grown under irrigation and have not suffered to any large extent. However, the Spring grain crop will be very light, and a lot will be cut for hay. Some of the Spring grain on the high benches o rupland looks quite good and a fair crop is expected.

Most orchards look good, with healthy foliage and fruit sizing well. Thinning is copleted and considerable infestation of codling moth was found, pointing to a bad infestation by second brood moths if control sprays are not applied.

Early potatoes, carrots and beets are moving from the district. Early plantings of late varieties of potatoes will move soon. The tomato crop for the cannery looks good, but plant disease is causing some trouble.

Alfalfa hay crops have been good and the second cutting is completed. Fall grain crops have been cut and good yields are expected.

CRESTON

The strawberry season is over. Old beds have been ploughed under and the leaves of young plants have been cut off and they and the mulch removed. Plant rows are being fertilized, cultivated and irrigated. Raspberries are past their peak. Estimated yields may run around 75 per cent, with a slight increase in acreage in the valley to offset this loss. A few late English gooseberries are arriving as the trade prefers them bush ripened. Red Currant picking came to a close last week.

Sweet cherries are over except for a few Black Republicans.

Plums and prunes are sizing slowly, and early varieties may be ready toward the end of the month. Pears are being thinned and trees propped where needed. Many young trees are coming into bearing. Apples are sizing and showing traces of color. Thinning is about over.

Cover crops are being cut and irrigation is in full swing but under restrictions. Cutting of peas on the flats started. Winter wheat is well colored and cutting will begin next week.

Care Is Necessary if Full Benefit Is to Be Obtained by Manure

As manure is so valuable for maintaining crop production and as losses in its plant food can take place so readily, its care and preservation cannot be emphasized too strongly. A number of important points might be suggested which will lead to considerable saving of the valuable nutrients in manure.

First of all, says J. Mooney of the Field Husbandry Division, Experimental Farms Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, precautions should be taken to see that the liquid portion is not lost. In the stable, this includes providing plenty of bedding material to absorb the liquid. Straw is probably the most satisfactory material and is available on most live stock farms. If sufficient straw is not available, sawdust, fine shavings, peat moss or dried peat may be used. Superphosphate scattered thinly on the floors lessens the odours of the stable, absorbs some liquid and improves the balance of plant food of the manure. All cracks or breaks in the gutters should be repaired to avoid seepage through the floors.

Hauling manure directly from the stable to the field and spreading it daily is a good practice. If manure spread o nthe field is subjected to warm dry winds, considerable loss of nutrients may occur. It is recommended, therefore, that the manure be ploughed into the soil as soon as possible after spreading.

It is sometimes desirable to store manure to kill weed seeds or to place it in a pile to prevent washing or sloping land or to meet some other contingency. When stored in this way, leaching by rain may remove large amounts of the soluble matter from the manure. Much of this loss can be avoided by building a well compacted high heap on a relativley small base. The manure at the top will be leached but this will serve as a seal to prevent access of air to the lower layers. Keeping the pile compact and excluding air encourages fermentation and retains fertility elements. nure on a concrete foundation with. A good method is to pile the manure walls high enough to retain the liquid portion. Re-distributing the drained liquid over the pile helps to keep the manure moist and aids the fermentation process. Driving the team and wagon over the pile or allowing animals to trample over it helps to keep it compact.

It is not always possible to follow the ideal method but it is well to keep in mind the principles involved and as far as possible make an effort to avoid losses of fertility elements.

London Traders Await Budget

LONDON, July 22 (CP)— The stock market continued to mark time today as traders awaited tomorrow's message to Parliament on the budget. Such activity as there was centred on home rails and African golds. In the rail group some price gains ranged to 5 points. Support for golds came both from London operators and from Cape Town. Industrials showed a few small gains. The gilt edged list was quiet and slightly lower.

Few Changes in Easy Trading at Vancouver

VANCOUVER, July 22 (CP) — Trading continued light and few changes were listed on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today. Transactions totalled 14,700 shares.

In the golds Privateer lost 1 at 51 and Island Mountain was up 1 at 53.

Home oil at 1.60 gained 3 from Saturday's closing bid while Brown was up a fraction at 7½. Other oils and base metals were inactive.

Armored Train Is Gift From Hitler to Friend Il Duce

ROME, July 22 (AP)—Mussolini received an armored train from Hitler today. It was presented by Gen. Ritter Von Pohl in a formal ceremony during which Mussolini watched its guns shoot at air targets.

Gen. Von Pohl told Mussolini that Hitler gave it to protect "your life which is precious not only to the Italian people, but also to the German nation."

The train's 16 anti-aircraft guns—arranged in four batteries, two on each car—smashed a dummy airplane floating a few yards above the sea coast, then shot shrapnel into the sky while Mussolini watched from a special stand.

Campers Applaud Dramatization of Story of Esther

Happy Day No. 3.

Sunday is a day of complete relaxation around camp and the Koolarians did this in style by taking an additional half hour in bed. The morning Bible Class of Rev. W. M. Cameron was held in the lodge owing to showers as was the morning service. Rev. J. Lyn Cleribue, Director, conducted the service with Mr. Cameron at the organ.

New campers continue to arrive. With the night train came Gordon Allan of Nelson. At noon Miss Joan Austad of Trail arrived, followed by Miss Jean Morrison of Rossland. She is a graduate of Margaret Eaton Physical Education College who will look after the camp sports program. The latest arrival was Miss Connie Green of Trail. The total population of the camp reached 36.

The afternoon started off with the groups preparing worship services, camp fire dramatization and campfire itself. Following this activity the camp assembled for picture taking. Cameras of all sizes and descriptions were brought into action.

DRAMATIZATION

Th Playmate group excelled itself with a dramatization of a scene from the Old Testament story of 'Esther'. The scenes used were those in which Haman plotted to destroy Mordecai the Jew by hanging him on the gallows he had built, the plot being reversed and Haman died on his own gallows.

This dramatization was acclaimed one of the finest ever produced at the camp. The campers were well costumed and acted their parts to perfection. The smoothness with which they shifted from one scene to the other in panorama style appealed to the camper audience.

The campfire program was in the hands of Fred Robins, who devoted most of the time to the singing of Negro spirituals. The value of dramatization as part of the church service and what form the costumes and production could take, formed the basis of a discussion. The various scribes added to the entertainment with their interesting and newsy bulletins.

CONCERTS TO HELP MUNITIONS OUTPUT

LONDON, July 22 (CP)—Labor Minister Ernest Bevin, speaking today at the first "munitions concert" in an English factory, called his audience "mates" and paid tribute to their "marvellous output."

The Minister inaugurated a nation-wide lunchtime musical concert plan designed to increase munitions production.

"The more you keep it up, the quicker we shall get this job over," Mr. Bevin said, "and we are going to get it over on our terms."

"Silver Trail" Adds $12,119 to Victoria Airplane Drive

VICTORIA, July 22 (CP).—Victoria's "silver trail" drive Saturday added $12,119 to the amount collected toward the city campaign to buy training planes, totalling $25,479, more than half the $50,000 objective, officials of the campaign said today.

More than half of the "silver trail" total was taken by Victoria citizens who placed nickels, dimes, and other coins in a line along sidewalks of downtown streets, extending for 14 city blocks. The remainder was taken at drive headquarters.

The money collected on the street was guarded by 50 Boy Scouts, 30 Girl Guides, 30 members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Air Services, sponsors of the drive, and nearly 100 Air Force men. Members of the Auxiliary acted as captains in the blocks the "silver trail" covered.

Today Air Commodore A. Early Godfrey, Chief of the Western Air Command, visited Drive Headquarters and tomorrow afternoon Mrs. E. W. Hamber, wife of the Lieutenant-General, will visit the offices.

Roosevelt Asks 500 Billion More Lending Power

WASHINGTON, Julyy 22 (AP).—President Roosevelt asked the United States Congress today to increase the lending power of the export-import bank by $500,000,000 so that it might be "of greater assistance to our neighbors South of the Rio Grande."

In a special message coincident with the Pan American conference at Havana, Mr. Roosevelt said that war in Europe was preventing the flow of surplus products from the Western hemisphere to their normal markets.

"It is to be hoped," he said, "that before another year world trade can be re-established, but, pending this adjournment, we in the United States should join with the peoples of the other republics of the Western hemisphere in meeting their problems. I call the attention of Congress to the fact that by helping our neighbors we will be helping ourselves.

The bank's present capital is $200,000,000 and the President asked Congress not only to increase this to $700,000,000 but to remove certain restrictions on its operations. These restrictions were not described in detail.

U. S. Relations With French Gov't. Is "Exactly the Same"

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 22 (AP)—Ambassador William C. Bullitt, who is giving President Roosevelt a report on what has happened to France, said today that the relationship of the United States Government to the new Petain Government is "exactly the same" as to the former French regime.

He said no question of American recognition of the government established by Marshal Petain had arisen because "we never had broken off relations."

Bullitt said he had heard no mention of any possibility that the United States might recognize the French Committee formed in England after France's capitulation to Germany. He said he had not discussed it with the President.

BATTER DOOR TO RESCUE MAN FROM ROYAL CITY HOTEL FIRE

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., July 22 (CP).—Firemen were forced to smash down a locked door to rescue James Lonsdale early today, trapped in a fire that destroyed the interior of the Central Hotel here.

Lonsdale, cut off from other exits by the flames, was unable to open the door, locked from the outside, until firemen battered it down and took him to safety. He was uninjured.

The fire, starting from a defective chimney, according to firemen, did damage estimated at $2000.

MODEL PLANE SETS NEW RECORD AT COAST

VANCOUVER, July 22 (CP). — The Canadian Model Airplane flying record was broken here Sunday by a plane that flew for seven minutes and 40 seconds — and kept right on going out to sea.

The model, owned by George McLeod, set the record at a meet held in Connaught Park, and disappeared in English Bay, a mile from the field.

American Ship Is Sunk, Fear Heavy Loss of Life

LONDON, July 22 (CP).—A ship identified as the 1382-ton Frossoula, of Panama registry, was sunk by German bombers last week, an authoritative source said today, adding it is feared there was a "heavy loss of life."

The ship was bombed the night of July 15, about 258 miles Northwest of Cape Finisterre, Spain, in "very bad weather," this source said. Its last port of call was Barcelona.

Eighteen of the crew left in two boats, one in charge of the ship's master, the other in command of the chief officer. Nothing more has been heard from the Captain's boat, it was said.

The source also said that those in the chief officer's boat suffered "terrible hardships." Some were washed over board and others died of exposure.

Other four days three survivors reached a British port. They were the Portuguese chief officer, the second engineer, a Greek, and a seaman who is also a Greek.

The Frossoula is the third ship flying the flag of an American republic to be sunk in this war.

The Argentine freighter Uruguay was torpedoed May 28 within 100 miles of the spot where the Frossoula went down. Another Pan American freighter, the Santa Margarita, was torpedoed off the Spanish coast by a German U-boat July 2.

Lloyd's register of shipping lists the Frossoula as a 230-foot freighter, owned by J. K Vardavas & Co.

National Registration Nothing to Do Immediately With Military Service

Former Latvian President Wounded

LONDON, July 22 (AP). — An Exchange Telegraph report from Goteborg quoted Swedish sources today as saying that Karl Ulmanis, former President of Latvia, was gravely wounded and in a hospital at Riga.

Before transforming Latvia into a Socialist Republic and petitioning for membership in the Soviet Union, the country's new Communist rulers decreed the ouster last week of 62-year-old Ulmanis, who helped write the Latvian Declaration of Independence in 1918.

Stock Taking Human Resources Garland Is Informed

National registration of men and women has nothing to do directly or immediately with the military end of Canada's contribution to the war, but is rather a stock taking of the human resources of the nation conducted in order that all can be utilized in the national interest, so enabling Canada to make the greatest possible contribution to the war. This is pointed out in a letter to C. B. Garland, Registrar for Kootenay West under the National War Service Act, from the Deputy Minister of the War Service Ministry, Ottawa.

"It is true that the information gathered as a result of this registration will be used for the purpose of securing men for military training in Canada, but when it is proposed to use such information for that purpose, then consideration will be given to the question of who should be relieved from military service, and due and proper consideration to claims for exemption from such service will then be given," it is pointed out.

CONSIDER CLAIMS LATER

"Consequently it is repeated that registration has nothing to do directly with military service, and that the claims of persons to exemption from such will, at a later and proper time, be given every consideration."

J. A. Wadsworth of Trail, Assistant Registrar, and Mr. Garland have agreed to divide the territory of Kootenay West between them for the work of organizing for registration. Mr. Wadsworth will cover the Arrow and Slocan Lakes, and work West from Castlegar; while Mr. Garland will take the Eastern section, including the Lardeau, Kootenay Lake, Salmo, Ymir and the territory West to Castlegar, including the Brilliant area.

Ottawa Explains Technocracy Ban

From Hansard is the following setting an dthe reasons for banning Technocracy as an illegal organization:

Mr. Angus MacInnis (Vancouver East): Mr. Speaker, for a number of days I have had a question that I wished to ask of the Minister of Justice (Mr. Lapointe) but I have just learned with regret that he is not likely to be in the House for some time. Consequently I would ask my question of the Government in the hope that an answer may be given, if not now, at some later time.

My question is this: Can the Government give the House precise information why the organizations known as Technocracy Incorporated and Jehovah's Witnesses have been declared illegal? Since the banning of these organizations I have received many letters and communications from people who are puzzled as to why the activities of these organizations were considered illegal.

Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King (Prime Minister): Mr. Speaker, my hon. friend had sent notice of his question to the Minister of Justice, and the minister had a reply which he was prepared to make had he been in the House. In his absence I will read his reply:

"It is not the policy to disclose confidential information upon which a recommendation under the Defence of Canada Regulations is made by the minister. However, the literature of Technocracy Incorporated discloses, in effect, that one of its objects is to overthrow the Government and constitution of this country by the use of force. The literature of Jehovah's Witnesses discloses, in effect, that man-made authority or law should not be recognized if it conflicts with the Jehovah's Witnesses' interpretation of the Bible; that they refuse to salute the flag of any nation or to hail any man; and, that they oppose war.

"The general effect of this literature is, amongst other things, to undermine the ordinary responsibilities of citizens, particularly in time of war."

U. S. Drafts Bill to Stop "War" Profits

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP) — United States administration tax experts brought out today the first rough draft of a bill to "prevent war millionaires."

It was an "excess profits" tax, to be levied on surplus revenue. Treasury and congressional workers indicated the measure of "surplus" would be either "normal earnings" or "reasonable return on capital investment," depending on the individual case.

President Roosevelt had urged last Spring some measure to forestall enrichment of manufacturers who would get huge contracts to build airplanes and other weapons for the army and navy.

Swiss Face Hard Toil and Tightening of Belts as War Wages on Borders

By CHARLES S. FOLTZ
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERNE, Switzerland, July 22 (AP). — Switzerland, rugged little island of Democracy in a Totalitarian Europe, is on the spot — and knows it well.

Once before, in Napoleon's time, the Swiss were cut off, as they are now from all but one side of a war.

Napoleon titled himself "mediator of Switzerland" then and the Government of Switzerland fell for a few years into the hands of the Emperor's men.

The Swiss Government, backed strongly by the Swiss people, is determined not to let that happen this time — if it can be prevented.

With his country hard hit by Golaz summed up Switzerland's the war, President Marcel Pilet-immediate future in these words:

"We must tighten our belts . . . We must take up again the healthy habit of toiling hard for small rewards."

The Swiss have done that before. The Swiss toil with their hands and filled the world's markets with watches, tools, embroidery—whatever skill and patience could make better and cheaper than their neighbors.

On that international trade — augmented by a healthy tourist business — was built Swiss prosperity. Now the trade overseas is cut off sharply, products manufactured for neighboring France are without buyers, and the tourist hotels are empty of paying customers.

The 80,000 foreigners who swarmed across the Swiss frontier into the famous Alpine resorts during June were not tourists, but the wounded, war-weary soldiers cut off by rapidly advancing Nazi troops.

Among them were French, Poles, Belgians, Luxembourgeois, Britons, Algerian Spahis, Moroccan Cavalrymen, aviators engineers, artillerymen.

Few had even a thin French franc in their uniforms. They could buy nothing. Good-hearted Swiss literally swamped them with gifts.

Switzerland's tough little citizen army of 500,000 has been demobilized and sent back to farms and factories.

For a while there was some profit from the war to counter-balance the loss of other trade. Arms industries were expanded. The largest orders, however, came from the Allies — and now that trade is lost.

Germany and Italy are poor customers. They need the same raw materials Switzerland does, and manufacture much the same goods.

Tait Tells Rotary Club of Committee Work, Calgary Club

An outline of the services of different committees in his club was given to the Nelson Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting at the Hume Hotel Monday by Clarence Tait of the Calgary Rotary Club. He was Chairman of the Fellowship Committee in 1937.

About 15 or 20 new members joined the club each year and the committee was kept busy introducing the new men to other members and making them feel welcome. There were about 200 members in the Calgary Club.

He briefly outlined the work of the Visitors Committee, Sick Visiting Committee, Birthday Committee, and the Stunts Committee.

Besides Mr. Tait, other Calgary guests included Maurice L. Brown and his son Keith; and W. T. Knights. Mr. Brown, Past President of the Calgary Club, led the group in singing "There'll Always Be an England", "Land of Hope and Glory" and "Smile and the World Smiles With You".

Other singing was led by Arthur Gilker with Aid. P. G. Morey at the piano.

Other guests included Captain James Fitzsimmons, Nakusp; Dr. Gerald D. Stibbs, son of Mayor N. C. Stibbs; and William Irwin of Minneapolis.

The Club decided to donate $10.50 to help send several Boy Scouts and Cubs to Camp at Camp Busk.

A letter from the Kelowna Rotary Club regarding taking refugee children of English Rotarians was tabled pending receipts of further details. The letter, dated July 10, said that full details regarding the plan would be received soon, but they had not been passed on to Nelson.

President H. W. Robertson said it was possible that since the letter was written, plans for sending refugee children to Canada had been changed.

Nazis Claim Hits in Bomber Raid

BERLIN, July 22 (AP)—The German high command today issued the following communique:

"German fighting planes again attacked airports and harbors, oil tanks and factories in England. Explosions and big fires were observed.

"During a raid on a convoy in the Channel we succeeded in sinking by bomb hits one tanker and four merchant ships totalling 40,000 registered tons.

(No ship was sunk in this raid).

"Bombs dropped by the enemy the night of July 21-22 in Northern and Western Germany as well as occupied territories caused property damage only.

One plane was shot down by the navy's anti-aircraft artillery and another plane by a night chaser. The enemy's losses yesterday were eight planes, among which was one Sunderland flying boat shot down at Trondheim.

(Yesterday's losses of the R.A.F. have not been announced.)

"Four of our own planes failed to return among which was one sea rescue plane which the English shot down over the Nroth Sea.

FARMERS NOT AFFECTED BY EXPLOSIVE CONTROL

VICTORIA, July 22 (CP). — Farmers of British Columbia will not be seriously affected by new Dominion control over the possession of explosives, Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, explained today.

Dr. MacDonald said the Province several months ago put into effect regulations through Farmers' Institutes under which farmers could get stumping powder only on police recommendation.

War Deals Heavy Blow to Trade of Money-Changing

By FREDERICK GARDNER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, July 22 (AP)—Upheaval in Europe has dealt a paralyzing blow to the ancient trade of money-changing.

For the first time in the experience of veteran money dealers in Wall Street, it has become virtually impossible to carry on foreign exchange freely with Europe.

Nazi invasion of such European money-centres as Amsterdam and Paris hit the complex international money-changing machinery in vital spots.

Great Britain has clamped down rigid war-time controls on the pound sterling, long the pivot of world-wide money dealings. What Wall Street called the "free" sterling market has been thinned down to a few scattered transactions.

What this means in everyday terms of changing a few pounds or francs into United States currency soon becomes clear to war refugees and repatriated Americans newly-arrived in the land of the almighty dollar.

Shopping among the money dealers of lower Manhattan, at the foreign money windows of the tourist services, a traveller with a purse of strange currency can find some kind of market. But often he can acquire the dollar only by paying a stiff premium.

Hundreds of refugees in need of ready cash have had to sacrifice their francs or sterling for what the speculative market would offer.

Like the political future, the money outlook is described by dealers as doubtful until peace returns and the future economic system in Europe takes definite shape.

Constables Slater, Youngberg Arrive to Take Up Duties

Constable Frank Slater arrived in Nelson from Yahk Monday to succeed Constable Ralph A. Lees as British Columbia Police Highway Patrolman in this district. He was accompanied by Mrs. Slater and their two sons. They plan to take up residence in the house vacated by Constable Lees at 1123 McQuarrie Avenue. Constable Lees was transferred to Kamloops.

Constable T. M. Youngberg arrived from Kamloops Sunday to take over the position vacated by Constable J. M. Brown, who also was moved to Kamloops.

Constable Slater joined the Provincial Police Force in 1930 at Victoria. He has been in the East Kootenay for the past six years.

Constable Youngberg joined the force in 1936 at Kamloops, where he was stationed until transferred to Nelson.

Former New Deal Officials to Work for Willkie Election

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 22 (AP).—Two former New Deal officials—John W. Hanes and Lewis Douglas—offered to work for the election of Wendell L. Wilkie, and the Republican presidential aspirant immediately asked them to join with others in organizing "Democrats and independents of like belief."

In a telegram to the Republican nominee, the two said they would seek "to enlist in your behalf the support of Democrats who believe with you that loyalty to country takes precedence over loyalty to party."

BRITISH SADDENED AT BALTICS JOINING SOVIET

LONDON, July 22 (CP)—Incorporation of Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania in the Soviet Union was described by authoritative London sources today as a "saddening event."
