London Area Has Air Raid Alarm; No Damage Done

Six Civilians Killed in Southwest Town

LONDON, June 25 (Tuesday) (CP). — The Air Minister announced today that no damages or casualties were reported from the London area in widespread German air attacks over England during the night.

Three civilians were killed in a town in the Southwest of England and elsewhere six civilians were injured.

German bombers raided Southeast and Southwest England and forced London to its first genuine air raid alarm of the war. They roamed as far distant as Wales and the Northwest.

In London night workers and sleepy residents hastened to shelters while great searchlights flung their white beams skyward and managed to pick out one plane. No gunfire was heard in the centre of London.

The cable circuit over which The Associated Press London Bureau normally communicates with New York was inoperative for several hours Monday night because of the raid.

The raids were of the widest extent in any one day since the war began last September 3.

The last air raid warning was sounded in London last October 19. The warning later proved to be an error.

During the raid Royal Air Force bombers returning to their base presumably from a raid on German objectives, almost ran into a large number of German aircraft.

The planes turned back toward the sea and reached home by another route.

NEW YORK, June 25 - (Tuesday) - (AP). — The British Broadcasting Corporation in a broadcast intercepted this morning by the Columbia Broadcasting System, said Berlin had an air raid alarm last night, "the second in one week." It credited the information to "report from a news agency."

FRENCH TROOPS RACING TO SEA

CHANCY, Swiss-French Frontier, June 25 (Tuesday)—(AP).—Down a 50-mile-wide corridor through Savoy, scattered French troops were reported racing for the Mediterranean today in the hope of finding transportation to North Africa to continue their fight against the axis armies.

The cease-firing order 35 minutes after midnight gave them their first chance to drop back from fighting lines and try the dash to the sea.

Until the last few hours of the battle of Southeast France they were hard beset by Italian attacks through Alpine passes and by German mechanized columns from their North flank and rear.

There was no immediate word from the fiercely-defended fort, L'Ecluse, East of Bellegarde, where a large force of French Foreign Legionnaires held out grimly, day after day.

Peasants had said the defenders told them they would keep right on battling—armistice or no armistice.

One weary force of Frenchmen crossed the border last night and surrendered their arms to Swiss troops after nearly a week of steady fighting against overwhelming manpower and equipment.

Fire Near Lumberton Heads for Stand of Valuable Timber

CRANBROOK, B. C., June 24 (CP). — A forest fire four miles long, started by lightning last Friday got out of control today and headed toward a valuable timber stand South of Lumberton.

More than 100 men are fighting the blaze.

The fire was brought under control Sunday but broke out again early today when fanned by a brisk wind.

France Mourns as Triumphant Nazis Celebrate Victory

BERLIN, June 25 (Tuesday) (AP)— The ruffle of drums and the blare of a German bugle was broadcast early today and then came the hoarse, historic command:

"Cease firing!"

Germany's war against France in the West was ended.

Bells throughout Germany pealed out the tidings, their notes picked up by the radio network of all stations in Germany, and those of conquered Paris, and Amsterdam, Warsaw, Copenhagen, Prague, Oslo and Brussels.

The strains of "Deutschland Uber Alles" and the Nazi "Horst Wessel" song filled the air.

It was 1:35 a.m. German time (3:35 p.m. P.S.T. Monday.)

A proclamation, filled with praise for Adolf Hitler and asserting the the victory was one surpassing the highest expectations, was made in German and then in all other principal languages of the world.

And then Germany was ready, single-minded to turn all energies toward the remaining enemy—Britain—in an onslaught which, it was claimed, "will be like nothing the world has ever seen."

The announcement ceremonies were concluded with the fighting song:

"We sail against England".

Hitler directed 100,000 Germans who had been removed from their homes on the Western border so return and promised them that damaged or destroyed houses would be restored.

BORDEAUX, June 25 (Tuesday) (AP)—Vanquished France officially laid down her shattered arms today, victim of the military might of Germany abetted by Italy.

General mourning was proclaimed through the Republic on this saddest day in its history.

The "cease-fire" order, for which the exhausted soldiers of France had waited in the last interminable six hours of sluggish but still deadly battle, came at 12:35 a.m. French time.

France at last was at peace—an uneasy peace that found more than half her devasted soil occupied by the invaders, millions of her people homeless, untold numbers of her finest manhood dead or wounded, and her government a virtual prisoner surrounded by the foe.

A more enduring peace must await the outcome of the continuing struggle between the axis powers and Great Britain, France's erstwhile ally.

("Shame and revulsion fill the hearts of good Frenchmen," declared Gen. Charles De Gaulle in a broadcast from London, where he formed a French National Committee to continue the war.

"Some day, I promise you, our Allied forces, the best of the French army, the mechanized army, by land, by sea and by air, together with Allies, will restore liberty to the world and greatness to our country.")

Recognizing the hard terms to which France has yielded after 46 days of the German "total war" and two weeks of conflict with Italy, the Minister of Interior, Charles Pomaret proclaimed mourning for the day.

"Today France must be silent," he said. "Her heart will bleed, but she will forge a new hope."

The troops, so recently locked in combat, are to be confined to barracks; all flags will be draped; and all stores, cafes and theatrse will be closed; the Government will attend special religious services.

Then France must begin the tremendous task of rebuilding and rehabilitation.

The full armistice terms will be announced approximately 48 hours from the official end of hostilities this morning.

Brings Down War Budget

Finance Minister Ralston yesterday brought down Canada's first billion-dollar budget when he announced heavy taxes to aid Canada's war effort.

Gold Mining Expansion, Tourist Business to Gain Foreign Exchange

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP)—Foreign exchange for the purchase of war materials abroad is to be conserved under the new budget by restricting ordinary buying abroad. A blanket war exchange tax of 10 per cent is imposed on all imports from non-Empire countries, as well as by special heavy taxes on automobiles.

New foreign exchange will be obtained most directly by expansion of Canada's gold mining industry and the tourist business, regarding both of which Finance Minister J. L. Ralston made special appeals.

The war exchange tax, although primarily intended to conserve exchange, will bring in an estimated $65,000,000 in its first full year of operation, of which $50,000,000 will be collected in the present fiscal year.

"As this is intended as an exchange tax and not as a protective duty, power will be taken to prevent unjustified increases in prices as a result of this tax," said Mr. Ralston. The policing of price increases will be under the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

"It would merely add to the post-war problems of adjustment if industry made plans for permanent production in Canada on the assumption that this special exchange tax would be permanent."

This tax will be subject to drawback for export as in the case of customs duties. Provision is also made for remission of taxes under existing machinery where hardship is affected on Canadian manufacturers using some foreign material, in competition against finished products entering tax free under British preference.

However, it is expected such remissions will be small because of wartime costs in Britain and difficulties of ocean transportation.

Col. Ralston said Canada was fortunate in its gold mining industry, expanded so rapidly in the last eight years.

"Further expansion of output," he said, "is the most immediate and important means at hand for directly augmenting our supplies of foreign exchange and I think I can appeal with confidence to those engaged in producing gold to put forward every effort to increase their production as rapidly as possible."

The New Taxes

New taxes to furnish $110,000,000.

A. Taxes designed to conserve exchange:

(1) War Exchange Tax: A tax of 10 per cent on all imports (on value for duty) except under British preferential tariff; Wartime Prices and Trade Board to safeguard against unjustified price increase.

(2) Automobiles; new schedule of taxes as follows: On manufacturers' value up to $700—10 per cent; on value between $700 and $900—20 per cent; on value between $900 and $1200—40 per cent; on value in excess of $1200—80 per cent. This is designed virtually to prohibit purchase of high priced cars and thus conserve foreign exchange.

75% on War Profits

B Tax on wartime profits:

Excess Profits Tax: Option A, i.e. graduated tax on basis of capital employed withdrawn. All must pay under option B which applies to profits in excess of profits in standard or base period. Rate of tax on excess profits is increased from 50 per cent to 75 per cent.

A minimum tax is provided for. For companies the combined Corporation Income Tax and Excess Profits Tax shall not be less than 30 per cent of Income. For unincorporated businesses the minimum tax is 12 per cent.

A Board of Referees to assist in administration of tax is provided for. Special provisions made for adjusting standard profits in the case of new and depressed business and in case of gold and oil producers.

Exemption for small businesses where profits do not exceed $5000. Proprietorships and partnerships allowed deductions for salaries up to $5000 for each proprietor or partner.

C. Taxes designed primarily to secure revenue:

Income Taxes Soar

(A) Personal Income Tax; very substantial increases in schedule rates. Exemptions lowered from $2000 for married persons and $1000 for single persons to $1500 and $750, respectively. No change in $400 allowance for dependents.

Income rates are increased so sharply that a married man with no dependents, paying $36 on a salary of $3000 under present rates, will now pay $195. Exemption is reduced 25 per cent and the rates increased sharply.

Definition of income clarified and extended to make taxable the income of life annuitants. The $1200 exemption for Dominion Government and like annuities withdrawn in the case of war contracts.

Provision that Treasury Board may rule certain transactions to be specious and undertaken for tax avoidance purposes, and that taxpayer may be assessed without regard to such transactions. Numerous other amendments for purposes of clarifying certain provisions and improving the administration of the act.

New Wage Tax

(B) National Defence Tax: New flat-rate tax levied on all incomes over stated minima. Rate is 2 per cent on total income if income exceeds $400 a year in case of single persons and $1200 if married. Rate is 3 per cent on single persons receiving more than $1200. Allowance against tax for each independent is 2 per cent of $600.

Tax deducted at source from earnings, dividends and from interest in case of corporate bonds registered as to interest. Deductions from earnings commence July 7, and from dividends and interest immediately.

Matches, rates increased by one-third.

(B) Phonographs, cameras, radios and radio tubes, new tax of 10 per cent; (C) Carbonic acid gas used in soft drinks: Rate increased from 2 cents a pound to 5 cents a pound. (D) Tires and tubes, rates previously 2 cents and 3 cents a pound respectively increased to 5 cents a pound.

D. Tax changes made for administrative reasons:

(1) Imported malt syrup, increased from 21 cents a pound to 24 cents a pound.

(2) Furs, dressed or dyed, increased from 8 per cent to 12 per cent. (3) Sales tax exemption to home canners limited to 10,000 cans of one pound each and to farmers florists to $500 of sales of flowers.

3. Tariff changes:

Tariff amendments are confined almost exclusively to technical changes intended to facilitate customs administration or to remove inequities resulting from, or aggravated by, the war. Most of these implement recommendations made by the Tariff Board. The additional duties of 5, 7½ or 10 cents a pound imposed on tea last September are being readjusted so that "less" tea will be dutiable at the lowest rate of 5 cents a pound and "more" at the rates of 7½ cents and 10 cents a pound.

Only liquor tax increases were in imported malt syrup which goes from 21 cents a pound to 24 cents.

There was no change in the sales tax rate on any tax or gasoline.

Total expenditure current fiscal year estimated at $1,148,000,000.

Estimated total revenue $760,000,000.

Total deficit for current fiscal year $550,000,000 to $600,000,000.

Small and Medium Incomes Are Hit as Exemptions Drop

Special Defence Tax on All Single Persons' Incomes Over $600, Married Persons' Over $1200, Besides Regular Rates

SMOKES, TIRES, RADIOS AND TUBES, CAMERAS, TEA, AUTOS, IMPORTS, HIT

By FRANK FLAHERTY—Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP)—Canadians must share their incomes, large and small with the Government in order to further the all-important task of carrying the war to a successful conclusion, according to the budget speech delivered in the House of Commons today by the Finance Minister, Hon. J. L. Ralston.

Despite the imposition of new and increased taxes expected to bring $280,100,000 in new revenue in a full year of operation Mr. Ralston budgeted for a deficit of between $550,000,000 and $600,000,000.

The deficit, whatever it may be, will be raised by borrowing.

Persons earning small and medium incomes will be heavily affected by the changes as the rates of exemptions for personal incomes are lowered to bring the tax collector down on more incomes and the rates are increased in the lower brackets.

A special national defence tax was imposed on all incomes of single persons over $600 and of married persons over $1200 in addition to the increases in the regular income tax rates.

Col. Ralston's sweeping series of tax measures had two purposes, to produce revenue and to conserve foreign exchange.

Taxes directed at the former, in addition to levies of incomes, are an amended and increased excess profits tax and additional levies on cigars, cigarettes and tobacco, auto tires, radios, radio tubes, cameras, phonographs, ingredients of soft drinks, and tea.

With a view to conserving foreign exchange Canadians will have to pay highly for the privilege of buying high-priced automobiles, largely imported or made from imported parts, and pay a 10 per cent tax on all goods imported from non-Empire countries in addition to existing customs duties.

"The proposals are an attempt to meet the crisis in terms of taxation," said the minister. "They bear upon all classes in the community.

"If the taxation provisions are the most drastic that have ever been imposed upon this country they are certainly no more drastic than the present hour and the present need demand. The future may well demand still more.

"I ask those who think they are too drastic to bring both their common sense and their idealism to the rescue of their opinions.

"Common sense will ask them what will become of their property or their income if Germany and Italy should conquer the British Empire. Idealism will teach them that money and material things are as nothing compared with the freedom and the dignity which it alone can bring as a benediction to the life of man."

Col. Ralston let the figures speak for themselves in unfolding the magnitude of Canada's war effort and its cost but drew applause when he challenged possible critics to speculate on the value of their goods and money if the German aggression were not stopped.

"I will not dishonor the word sacrifice by applying it to anything except the gift of life itself," he said.

"But, knowing the Canadian people I am confident that they will shirk from no contribution to ensure to the soldiers and sailors and airmen of Britain and Canada all the machines and equipment which can be produced or procured."

Canadians were at their best in days of trial. A farmer had offered all the proceed of a 400-acre wheat crop, a veteran of 1914, living on a small pension sent all he had to give, a collection of gold coins. These voluntary contribution were typical of the spirit of Canadians.

"Britain is giving her blood, her treasure, her all," said Col. Ralston. "We proudly share her courage, her sacrifice and her unshakeable resolution. Britain will not fail. Freedom will not perish and Canada will fail neither the commonwealth nor the cause."

The huge deficit anticipated for the fiscal year 1940-41 follows upon a deficit of $118,000,000 for the last fiscal year, reported by Col. Ralston.

Based on present taxes he estimated revenue for 1940-41 at $650,000,000. While the new taxes would probably yield $280,100,000 in a full year's operations the yield for the remainder of the present fiscal year to March 31, 1941 was placed at $110,500,000.

Thus a total revenue of $760,000,000 was in prospect. Against this expenditures, allowing $700,000,000 for war purposes and $448,000,000 for other purposes as previously estimated, would total $1,148,000,000.

Further war commitments in sight already, however, would run to between $150,000,000 and $200,000,000 and they would not be all.

"This means," he said, "that in spite of the very heavy increase in taxes which I have proposed, it is not safe to count on an over-all deficit of less than from $550,000,000 to $600,000,000. This will be a staggering deficit, larger, indeed than our total governmental expenditures during the depression years."

The sums to be raised by new taxes, however, were evidence of a serious attempt to follow the "pay as you go policy."

A comparison of Col. Ralston's budget with the first full budget of the First Great War in March, 1915, shows at once the growth of Canada and the increased cost of war. Then Finance Minister Sir Thomas White forecast total revenues of $150,000,000 and expenditures of $314,000,000 including $100,000,000 for war purposes.

Revenues in the last fiscal year turned out better than anticipated last September and amounted to $562,000,000 against $516,000,000 anticipated.

Expenditures totalled $681,000,000. As war expenditures amounted to $113,000,000 the budget, except for that item, might have been balanced.

The war period would call for economies on the part of all Governments, Col. Ralston said.

The graduated tax on automobiles, ranging up to a prohibitive levy on the high-priced vehicles would have the effect of curtailing sales of cars and thus make factory productive capacity available for war work.

The imposts on cameras, radios and phonographs would also serve this purpose as the plants producing them could be used in war production.

Of the new taxes the excess profits tax, 75 per cent of profits earned above an estimated pre-war standard, is expected to yield most, $100,000,000 in a full year.

The personal income tax increases are expected to bring in $56,000,000 in a full year, the national defence tax, $35,000,000, and war exchange tax on imports, $65,000,000 and the taxes on tobacco products $15,500,000.

Col. Ralston said the 10 per cent tax on imports was strictly a war emergency measure and involved no departure from the Government's policy of reducing trade barriers by mutual agreement such as the agreements now in effect with the United States, the United Kingdom and other countries.

Display, Program at Junior High Viewed by Many

A large number of parents, relatives and friends of pupils Monday afternoon called at the Junior High School to view the work accomplished by students during the 1939-40 term.

After a program in the auditorium the visitors toured the school, viewing splendid displays of art work, scientific accomplishments, metal work, woodwork, sewing and so on. Many of the articles made during the year were both artistic and practical, particularly in the metal and woodwork rooms and sewing rooms.

This year British Columbia presents the new Big Bend section of the Trans-Canada Highway around the headwaters of the great Columbia River . . . from Revelstoke to Golden, 193 miles of scenic wonderland. The Highway is new but rich in associations with the old, when the Big Bend of the Columbia was the thoroughfare of the Fur Brigades, and Boat Encampment the rendezvous for all the traffic of trail and waterway.

SERIAL STORY . . . By Oren Arnold

HAPPINESS, C. O. D.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

Bill Bailey wasn't quite sure where to start.

He sat down on a straight chair for a minute to be rure nobody had observed his coming, and to accustom himself to the darkness of the room while organizing his thoughts. It occurred to him that he would never make a success at the profession of burglary.

"I'm scared silly, with nothing to be scared of," he admitted to himself—he who had been a crushing All-American football halfback only a few months ago.

After a bit he tip-toed to the room's one window and lowered the shade fully. There was no transom or other opening for ventilation, although sundry unlovely odors had come in. Many of them now were associated with dinner—grease, fish, garlic, mustiness, boiled vegetables. All in a poor boarding house melange.

He decided to start with the bed. There was one pillow, and without ripping it he felt through the ticking at every feather and tiny lump. With his flashlight next he inspected the mattress. The seams showed no evidence of recent opening. It was little more than a cotton pad about three inches thick anyway, and so he could feel in and through it as he had the pillow. All of the covers, the springs, the shabby bedstead, were thoroughly searched, to no avail.

There was a dresser and he started with its two top little drawers. Their contents were woefully scanty. Hairpins. A little jar of cold cream or something like that (it had a fancy name). Some scarlet ribbon neatly folded. Only one pair of stockings. Six plain but dainty handkerchiefs, scented above the usual house odors. A gold and enamel pin of the college sorority type. A pretty little cluster of artificial flowers.

The two lower drawers were all but empty. One held two pairs of pajamas, both badly worn. Neatly in the other were stacked some extremely brief garments which Bill named only as scanty-pants, and some folded things he called shirts. These he moved carefully, pressing each between his hands, looking under the plain wrapping paper which lined the drawers, missing no possible corner, but putting the garments back as carefully as he could.

Then he pulled the drawers all out and looked in their openings, probing into every remote corner of the dresser, front, underside, top and rear. Then he moved to a trunk which, fortunately, he found unlocked. It presented a greater problem because he wished to leave no tell-tale marks of his search, but he labored on.

When he had been there about an hour, he sat down again with a sense of defeat. Except for a tiny table with one drawer, he had, investigated every possible corner of the room and its furnishings. He had even stood on the chair to look carefully along the picture molding near the ceiling, and had taken an ugly brass lamp apart with his pocket knife for a screwdriver, to see inside its head and base. Bill remembered reading a story — by Edgar Allen Poe, wasn't it?—in which just such a search was conducted. He thought it was Poe. Object of the search there was a letter, and it had been right before the searchers' eyes all the time, in an obvious location.

For a moment or two there he grinned to himself, feeling distinctly silly.

"I'm getting to where I believe storybook doings," he thought. "I'm glad nobody knows about this."

Even so, something told him that he wasn't being as childish as he might have thought. He was driven only in small part by a sense of adventure; back of his exploit was hard, common sense. He looked at the little table, then moved to open its drawer.

There were four or five pencils, a fountain pen, blotter, ink paper, scratch pad, a little stack of opened letters tied neatly in a ribbon, two old dance programs, six one-cent stamps, some paper clips, a nail file and a lipstick (out of place, Bill thought), and a rather fat, leather-bound little book with a lock on it. The book had a title: "Thoughts Day by Day." The clasp was of thin brass, held in place by a brass padlock no larger than his fingernail. It was a delicate, attractive novelty, really, and he might have broken into it with one rather firm gull of his finger and thumb. But he must break nothing.

He was reaching for his pocket knife to try to open the lock when he was interrupted—a key was suddenly inserted into the lock on the room door!

Bill's very blood seemed to freeze. Instantly he snapped out his flashlight. He stood and turned, crouched to defend himself—against what? He didn't know.

The key made an unmistakable clicking. Obviously someone was trying more than one key as he himself had done a while ago. He hadn't remembered relocking the door from the inside, but supposed the automatic catch was on. He had, now, to take a breath, and so inhaled slowly, silently. It served to restore his poise.

He looked quickly toward the window. No, this was the third floor. The fire escape was at the end of the hall. Anyway, flight was distinctly contrary to his plan, even if there had been time. He glanced at the door of the tiny closet and ruled it out. Then there remained but one place in the room where a man may hide, and he moved quickly and quietly as possible.

"Nowhere iss happeeness weethout
you-u-u,
My heart cals me to be here—
Love leengers 'round you
Now that I've found you—
Love that's our own, sweetheart
de-e-e-e-ear."

Lola Montesa was singing. Hers was a throaty contralto, with that peculiarly exotic inflection characteristic of Latin voices. The words of her song, overly sentimental and unimportant, were lost in the softly flowing music of them. The others did not sing with her because they did not know her song. She had sung it first in Spanish and now by request, was doing an English version.

When she finished there was generous applause, although Gayle observed that Tempe alone did not clap her hands or otherwise express approval.

"It's a sweet song, Lola," said Gayle. "Are all the songs from Mexico about love and things?"

"Iss a veree romantic countree," Lola avowed, smiling at them. "Thee people seeng because they love to. Iss, not—not artificial."

Old Mr. Merrifield nodded emphatically.

"I have observed that in Arizona," he declared. "When I was younger and spent much time in the mines out there, the Mexican people sang every Saturday night, like this. Groups of them. Sang and danced. Once I remember there was a funeral Saturday morning, with all the Mexican people for miles around present, mourning. After lunch, somebody suggested that it was a shame to waste so fine a crowd just because of a death, and now that the dead was buried, what about a fiesta? So, after supper, there was dancing and singing and laughter until midnight. And I do not think the dead one was any worse off for having been so very promptly forgotten.

"It iss so." Lola nodded. "Iss best to be happee. When one can."

When one can.

Gayle, of all those present, caught that last phrase from Lola. In the semi-darkness there on the beautiful Merrifield, she glanced at the other girl and tried to read something from her expression, but the darkness was just enough to foresta her. On impulse she did reach out and squeeze Lola's hand. She wasn't sure why.

Then, lest peppery little Tempe mistake the gesture, Gayle turned to Tempe with determined gaiety and began teasing and poking fun. The little after-dinner party there on the awn lasted for a full hour longer, with nobody enjoying it so much as Mr. Merrifield himself. In the shifting around after the eating, Jeremy had somehow found himself sitting next to Tempe, and that pretty miss leaned on his shoulder in the night glow. Gayle observed it, without comment. She observed, too, that Jeremy was ill at ease because of it, so that he presently pretended that he needed to stretch walked around a bit and came back to sit near Gayle herself, on the other side.

"You'd think I was his mother!" Gayle told herself, smiling quietly, but feeling somehow sorry for the shy fellow, even so.

It was after 8 o'clock when they arose reluctanty to go inside and, in getting slowly to his feet, old Mr. Merrifield asked about Bill.

"Young Bailey missed an excelent gathering," he addressed Gayle. "Where can he be, I wonder?"

"He—he's downtown, Mr. Merrifield. He—I think he had to do something about the tickets for the play. Everyone of them have been sold, you know. There'll be about $600, with very little expense."

"Excellent! Excellent, my dear. I must compliment him. And all of you. I like to see projects succeed. It's the American way. Working, and thinking, not whining." He paused to chuckle appreciativey. "Tell the young man I wish to see him."

Dress-Alike Twins

By PRUNELLA WOOD

Twins no longer have a monopoly on look-alike fashions. Mother and daughter, big and little sister and even big and little brother are dressing in duplicate. These play aprons sketched today with shorts attached—undies unnecessary—come in sizes from three years to Size. 14.

Completely pique, even to the ruffles, the suits wash beautifully, retaining the Thief of Bagdad figures printed all over the fabric. Red ric-rac runs around the hem and across the bib tip. The matching bonnet is tossed in with the smaller sizes only, from Three to Six and one-half.

TELEPHONE MANNERS ESSENTIAL AS VISITING MANNERS IN MODERN LIFE

By ALICE DENHOFF

What is your T.Q.? Does your telephone do right by you? Do you do right by your telephone?

There was a time when the telephone, like the typewriter, was all business, but in these streamlined days it's different. Nowadays the telephone leads a strenuous social life and has developed a social etiquette all its own. Once it was that no nice girl used the typewriter for her social or private correspondence, just as she never dreamed of extending invitations over the phone. Today, invitations for anything save the most formal event or dinner party are sent over the telephone. For a large party, it is simpler to have cards engraved and to mail them than it is to put in telephone calls. But one should not mix invitation routes. Either phone them or send them, and answer via the same route. Telephone an answer to a telephoned invitation, and write an answer to a note or card.

INNATE SENSE

Those with a high Telephone Quotient have an innate sense in using Mr. Bell's invention. They do not hesitate to telephone a busy household, knowing that it is easier to handle and dispose of a call than to receive a visitor. Whether the occasion be joyous or one of grief, your discreet use of the telephone will be appreciated. There is nothing cavalier about calling by phone to offer congratulations or sympathy—this call to be followed by a warm note.

Good telephone manners are important. There should be a law to deal with the guesser contingent, the bright lights who begin their conversation with "guess who this is?"

And the barked "who's this?" after getting an answer is definitely on the terrible telephone manners list. Identify yourself and ask to be connected with a certain person. It is easy, and it takes the sting out of the initial conversation.

Considerate persons don't wear out the welcome on the telephone mat. By this we mean that they don't make calls and talk and talk, with the person at the other end of the wire, who may be too polite to shut off the stream of chatter. If one wants to have a chat it is civil to ask if the person called has time to spare. This goes for the home and it goes doubly for an office. Incidentally, more than one gal has lost her man because she constantly telephoned him at his place of business. Do this only in a real emergency, or by pre-arranged notice.

DON'T RUIN DINNERS

Many a good dinner has been ruined because of constantly telephone calls. So many folks telephone at this time because they have a lively notion that they are sure to get their victim. They do, and they get him pretty mad. The same goes for the late evening hours, unless your call is expected and you have been asked to call regardless of the hour. One doesn't burst into a house visiting at any old hour. Why do it by phone?

Don't tie up the phone unduly. More than one gal uses her phone to have long meaningless chats or to make foolish calls only to find

Arrow Lakes, Slocan Institutes Urge Headquarters Contact Child Evacuees

Mrs. McLachlan and Mrs. Pitts Guests at Rally

NAKUSP, B.C.—A convention of Arrow Lakes and Slocan Women's Institutes in Nakusp attracted representatives of Silverton, New Denver, Nakusp, Arrow Park, East Arrow Park, Graham's Landing, Makinson's Landing, Burton, Glendevon, Fauquier, Carroll's Landing, and Edgewood. Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan of Victoria, Provincial Superintendent of Women's Institutes, and Mrs. H. H. Pitts of Nelson, District President, were guests of honor.

Mrs. F. Rushton, President of the Nakusp Institute, presided. She spoke feelingly of the European situation and said the people of Canada would be called upon to assume duties which they had never expected. No Canadian worthy of the name would claim exemption from sacrifice.

REFUGEE CHILDREN

The care of refugee children in Canadian homes was discussed. A resolution proposed by Mrs. J. Greer of New Denver was forwarded to headquarters urging that definite steps be taken immediately to contact children coming from overseas.

Reports of the work of the various Institutes were heard from Mrs. J. Lee, Arrow Park; Mrs. J. Graham, East Arrow Park; Mrs. Clark Marshall, Burton, Mrs. J. Greer, New Denver; Mrs. Daly, Edgewood; Mrs. Avery, Silverton; and Mrs. O. Saltrom, Nakusp.

The afternoon session opened with the ceremony of presenting the Flag. The ceremony was carried out by Mrs. A. Stanley, Mrs. G. H. Gardner Jr, and Mrs. S. Jackson, all of Nakusp. Mrs. Pitts, in the chair for the afternoon session, stated that during the time of stress women of the land could best serve by keeping their sanity and by doing their own particular jobs to the best of their ability.

HANDICRAFTS

An interesting discussion on handicrafts was led by Mrs. McLachlan and Mrs. Pitts.

As a final the Nakusp Institute presented a short concert program, which included: piano duet, Mrs. G. P. Horsley and Mrs. A. Dunn, song and tap dance, Doreen Parent, Beth Rushton and Sonja Dolman, dance "Sir Roger de Coverley," Betty Miller, Margaret Olson, Jean Collinge, Olive Johnson, Selma Soderman, Mavis Barlow, Ruby Berrard and Margaret Chapoel; chorus, Institute members, "There'll Always Be an England"; dance, Irish Jig, Freda Johnson and Kathleen Sutherland; and recitation, "The Legend of Qu'Appelle Valley, Mrs. L Morton.

Obesity and Diet . . .

Decrease Diet With Activities as Age Creeps On

There is a lively controversy among specialists on the subject as to whether obesity is due to what they call an endogenous or in plain language, whether people are fat because they eat too much or whether they are built that way. Being built that way means the influence of the endocrine glands or some X factor or constitutional tendency that makes them store food.

The argument is not so simple as it sounds. Fat people will tell you tearfully that they do not eat as much as thin people and that they can't reduce by dieting. We know that some ductless gland substances such as thyroid, will cause people to lose weight even if they maintain the same diet.

THE OTHER SIDE

On the contrary, we have the evidence of experiments that have been made in different clinics all over the country that if you fix a fat person so he can be on a controlled low diet, which is carefully measured so that he can't cheat; he will lose weight without the use of any ductless substances to help.

The most famous case, I think, is the Ann Arbor one where a man who weighed some 500 pounds was reduced to 187. True, it took two or three years, but there still remains the fact that he did reduce by diet alone. It simply teaches us that fat is removed slowly.

It seems to me convenient to resolve the argument by pointing to an age difference. I think by and large, perhaps with some exceptions, people over the age of 40 are fat because they eat too much and people under the age of 15 are fat on account of some ductless gland disturbance.

ACTIVITIES ARE REDUCED

What the middle-aged person does not realize is that his activities are cut down while his appetite and his intake go on.

Dates Not Everything . .

Check Appearance and Friends to Get Boy Friends

Dear Miss Chatfield:

I'm terribly bothered about something. For the last four months I haven't had a single date. Not that I have ever been terribly rushed but at least I used to have a dance once in a while. The boys I meet seem very nice to me but stop right there. Can you suggest ways and means of capturing boys friends?

BOTHERED.

Answer:

Dear child, I'm heartily in favor of a girl's doing her utmost to make friends among the opposite sex. Nevertheless I think it a great pity for her to imagine that this is all of life and that she cannot be happy without a date now and then. So let's talk first about ways and means of making boy friends and then about ways and means of finding contentment without boy friends if they aren't coming up.

A girl should be careful about her personal appearance.

A well-rounded group of girl friends is a big help in making boy friends.

All sports and games give girl excellent opportunity to show off to good advantage before the boys. No longer can she sit at home and knit and sigh for the Prince because the other girls are buzzing about attracting his attention.

WOMEN'S REGISTRATION RESULTS TO BE KNOWN

VANCOUVER, June 24 (CP)—Results of registration by 32,000 British Columbia women concerning their readiness to aid the war effort will be made known this week, it was announced today by Mrs. L. M. Dryden, Provincial Secretary, voluntary registration of Canadian women.

The information obtained will be placed at the disposal of the Provincial Child Welfare Department, so that officials may use offers of homes for overseas children when they arrive here.

June Brides . . .

Personal Gifts Best for Shower

June showers for brides may seem provincial to some, but they are most important to the average little bride and her girl friends. It is with these joyful little parties they can express their good wishes and take some real part in the ceremony to come.

We have thought for some time, however, that the gifts for showers might be made a bit more interesting. They are usually practical things such as luncheon sets, kitchen things or possibly a vase or piece of silverware. Frequently there is duplication of all these until the individual gesture is lost and there is just a lot o' useful things that most brides will have purchased themselves.

The gift with the greatest appeal to the dainty bride will be some intimate thing—something for herself. And what bride ever donned orange blossoms who would not bless you for a grand bottle of perfume? Let her family give her the durable silver and furnish the house but give her a lot of lovely things she wants so much. Budgets you know, have a way of looking small when considering a trousseau.

Where there is a group it would be nice to get together and give her the very fine big bottle, and possibly a perfume cabinet, too.

Make the whole affair a cosmetic shower and you will be sure to be loved for your thoughtfulness.

Adolescent Problem . .

Train Child From Babyhood Urges a Successful Mother

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

Most will like the following: I certainy do

"Dear Dr. Myers: "There seems to be a plethora of articles in the current magazines upon the subject of the understanding or misunderstanding of children by parents, and vice versa, particularly adolescent children and their problems. In the first place, it seems to me that the problem is much more deep-seated than that and has its foundation from the beginning; including necessary discipline, that adolescence won't present too many probems which can't be solved.

"I am speaking in the light of my own experience, both past and present. I was married at 19 and a baby daughter was born a year later. Two years ago we had a son, and so we feel well on the road to parenthood with a daughter of 5½ and a boy of two.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

"Right now and since the very beginning our children are learning the law of "cause and effect." For instance, Anne is perfectly free to visit her friends in the neighborhood provided she tells me just where she is going and returns when I tell her to. If she doesn't, she spends the next day in her own yard. She dries the dishes and vacuums the living room rug every morning, and receives an allowance of 10c a week.

"She can prepare herself for school with no assistance and sets the table frequently. I expect to increase her allowance gradually, until by the time she is in high school she will be buying her own clothes (and accepting more responsibility.)

WON'T INDULGE WHIMS

"Too many parents makes slaves and doormats of themselves, and where does it get them? Our children have most (not all) of the things children like to make them happy, but I don't intend to go without some necessity just to indulge my children's whims."

Fruitvale Boosts Trail Nickel Mile With a $100 Gift

The Fruitvale Club also has started a tobacco fund. Each member will interest one or two other persons in contributing to a fund to supply tobacco to troops in active service.

Rumanian Troops and Soviets in Frontier Clashes

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 24 (AP).—Foreign military and diplomatic quarters were informed late tonight from Bucharest that Rumanian and Russian troops have clashed at several points along the Dniester River frontier.

More than 100 planes of the Red air force were reported to have made reconnaissance flights over Bessarabia, the Rumanian Province behind the Dniester.

Bessarabia for many years was Russian territory, but after the first Great War when Russia became Communistic, the territory voted through representatives to join Rumania.

Soviet Russia never has recognized the validity of the transfer of sovereignty.

Reports have been arriving here for some time of large concentrations of Red army troops, tanks and airplanes along the Russian-Rumanian frontier.

These advices followed others earlier in the day from Zagreb, Yugoslavia, that Italian troops had arrived at Scutari, near the Yugoslav-Albanian frontier during the last three days and that Scutari had been declared a military zone.

Foreign observers speculated whether there was any connection between the Russian and Italian moves.

Guidance to Be Intensified at Nelson Schools

An intensified program of guidance was projected at the High and Junior High Schools next term by using teachers in their "home rooms" for guidance, with John Fleury, guidance specialist, supervising the program in both schools. Exchange of specialists in both schools would continue, reported L. V. Rogers, High School principal, and Floyd L. Irwin, Junior High School principal, to the School Board Monday night.

In the High School, said Mr. Rogers, classes in music, journalism and practical electricity would probably be dropped since only small groups of students wanted these courses.

The new plan would provide a better program than last year's which failed to satisfy Provincial Authorities. Mr. Fleury would direct vocational and educational guidance and conduct testing. It would be possible, said Mr. Rogers for High School students to be divided into groups for moral guidance.

Republicans Are Urged to Advance

PHILADELPHIA, June 24 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen, Minnesota's 33-year-old governor, called on his fellow Republicans tonight to lead the United States forward on four broad fronts to supplant what he termed a seven-year record of Democratic "failure."

"The saddest chapter of the last four years," he said in the keynote address for the party's national convention, "has been that the national administration instead of keeping its eyes, statesmanlike, upon the welfare of the people of this nation, has turned its political gaze upon a third term."

The youthful official proposed an "advance with a decisive and determined step" in national preparedness, fifth column defence, domestic economic welfare, and governmental effectiveness and integrity. On each of these fronts, he asserted, the Roosevelt administration has failed.

Touching on foreign policy, Stassen said in his prepared speech that "future welfare cannot best be served by simply burying our heads in the sand," but he added:

"We are too woefully weak to give the Allies that material assistance this nation wants to give them.

The drive for Wendell Willkie meanwhile pushed on into new ground, but in opposition there sprang up a "stop Willkie" movement, led by eight members of the United States House of Representatives.

Three Teachers Resign, Nelson

Three teachers will leave Nelson schools, having resigned, with the closing of schools for the Summer holidays.

Resignations accepted by the School Board Monday night included those of Miss Patricia Campbell of the High School staff; and T. A. Quayle of the Junior High staff.

Miss Winnifred Borthwick of Central School resigned previously.

Mr. Quayle resigned to go to a new post at Vancouver; and Miss Campbell for personal reasons, desiring a change.

Teen-Age Girls Form War League in Nelson to Help Canada's War Effort

Claire Hughes Elected President Active Group

Brimming over with youthful enthusiasm to do all they can to help Canada in her war effort, a group of eight active teen-age girls in Nelson have organized a society to be known as the Nelson Junior Girls War League, headed by Claire Hughes, President.

These girls, one of whose immediate aims is the promotion of "a mile-of-nickels" fund, organized last Saturday at the home of Mrs. J. H. Argyle, mother of one of the girls, and elected as their officers:

Miss Hughes, President; Catherine Argyle, Secretary; Evelyn Gunn, Treasurer; Pamela (DeeDee) Dewdney and Isabelle Young, Advertising Committee; and Jessie Paterson and Jean Young, Conveners of Knitting. Mrs. Argyle was named General Supervisor, and E. E. L. Dewdney, Financial Supervisor.

The association of these girls dates back to last Winter when they were all members of the Nelson Figure Skating Club. After skating Sunday afternoons, the "gang" would gather at one of the girls' houses to hold a merry gettogether and social. These terminated at conclusion of the skating season, but Mrs. Argyle saw no reason why the girls should not continue their fraternizing and at the same time do something worth while. Hence the formation of the War League.

As one of their first moves, the girls voted in Miriam Hillsard as a member, whom they regard as a strong acquisition. As for their actual work, they plan to open with a bake sale and candy table at a Nelson store this Saturday, and will commence their mile of nickels drive at once, which will require canvassing. This would realize within $200 of $4600, which they will forward to Hon. J. L. Ralston, new Minister of National Defence, for the purchase of a bomber. In fact, these girls will confine all their operations to themselves and so not be connected with any other organization, and send their funds direct to Col. Ralston.

Between their meetings, the girls will devote a considerable portion of their time to knitting such articles as sweaters, socks and so forth for Canada's soldiers.

Learning of the plans of the girls, Mayor N. C. Stibbs deeply commended the worthy effort the League is setting forth, and wished them every possible success. The girls will continue their work throughout the war, and are devising a number of methods of raising money.

Launch and Boom Ashore After Storm; but Engineer Is Missing

BOSWELL, B.C., June 24—Creston police were in Boswell late Sunday to investigate what is believed to be a drowning accident. A launch with a boom of logs attached, was found partly on the beach at Lewis Point. It is believed to belong to a Mr Myer of Procter, who called at Boswell Wednesday.

When found the engine was in gear, and it is feared that the man may have fallen overboard. A severe storm got up Wednesday, soon after Mr. Myer left Boswell, and it is conjectured that he might have been thrown off balance while attending to his engine. Police were going to communicate with Procter and, if Mr. Myer is missing, were to drag the lake Monday.

Must Stop Talk Against Dominion Thain Says, Gyro

"There are a lot of things we can tell these people who sit back and knock our Government authorities. And one of them is that this British Empire of ours is not defeated and is not going to be," declared H. E. Thain, Secretary-Manager of the Nelson Branch of the Canadian Legion amid applause Monday night when he addressed the Ladies Night meeting of the Nelson Gyro Club at the Hume Hotel.

One of the greatest dangers and menaces to the country was the pessimistic "kicker" who unceasingly spoke subversively against his Government, Mr. Thain said. The "kicker" repeated his rantings at home and made his wife and even his small kiddies, who didn't know what it was all about, glum and morose. "They are actually playing the enemy's game, and though they don't know it, they are speaking subversively," the speaker said. Whenever an enemy country wanted to start Fifth Column activities in a country, it was just this "arm chair kicker" type of person they sought. They encouraged him and fed him propaganda to strengthen his rantings. "When and if it happens in Nelson, I sincerely hope the man who does it, doesn't know what he is doing," he said. "What we've got to do is get on the job to stop this kind of talk."

The Canadian Legion, service clubs and all manner of other organizations had bombarded the Dominion Government with telegrams to "step on it" in its war effort, and the Government had "stepped on it."

URGES UNION GOVERNMENT

"We know the Government was slow in its effort before but it had a great deal to overcome and now it is pushing for all it is worth. In a time like this, we should not have any parties in politics but we should have one big united government," he urged.

"What has put Great Britain where she is today? It is the fellow who sat back and did nothing but talk, and the treacherous Fifth Columnist in other countries. But look at our glorious Navy, look at our wonderful Air Force, look at our great Army. Oh, we've got something that the Nazi hasn't got. We've got that great national spirit," he said.

BEATEN BY FIFTH COLUMN

What had given Germany the breaks in the war were "the trickery within." The Germans would never have got to Norway had it not been for treacherous Fifth Columnists. They would never have gone as far into France if it had not been for the same forces. Bridges that were ordered to be blown up had not been blown up just because of these forces. The flower of Britain's army was taken deep into Germany and then sold by the treachery of Belgium's King.

Mr. Thain appealed to his listeners to think over his words and to put a quick halt to any kicking that they heard.

R. D. Barnes, Program Chairman, thanked him on behalf of the meeting for his talk.

Relief Victor in Eleven Frames in Benefit Softball

SALMO, B. C., June 24—In an exhibition game, proceeds of which went to the construction of the Salmo swimming pool, two of the front-running teams of the Salmo Valley Softball League, Kootenay Belle and Second Relief, put on another great display here tonight before Second Relief came out in front 9-8 in 11 innings.

Dick Hambly was the hero of the battle by crossing the plate with the winning run with one gone in the second extra frame after walking and being pushed on by Tom Matheson's hit.

Kootenay Belle made a great bid in the seventh when they were down 5-1. After the bases were loaded with one out, Ernie Oliver, K. B. pitcher, bombed out a home run to clear the bases and tie the score. Then in the ninth he hammered out another circuit clout with one aboard to again knot the score after the Reliefers had forged ahead again. Each team crossed the plate in the tenth inning, and Relief nearly got another but Fairhurst was thrown out at the plate on Dorey's throw from centre field.

The winners halted a potential rally by K. B. in the second on a fast double play, Rickard to Fairhurst. Nygard popped out to the shortstop, who caught Henderson off base with a throw to first.

Score by innings:

Kootenay Belle .. 000 001 402 10—8

Three Bruised When Car Leaves Cascade Road

TRAIL, B.C., June 24 — Nevy Baldassi, driver, Tom Lauriente and Wesley Parker, suffered bruises and minor cuts when the car in which they were riding left the Cascade Highway about two miles West of Sheep Creek Saturday night. Damage to the car was estimated at $300.

Mr. Baldassi reported to Provincial Police that the accident resulted from poor visibility caused by lights shining in raised dust.

Smokers to Pay About $15 Million Annually to War

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP).—Canadian smokers will contribute an estimated $15,540,000 a year towards war costs, according to increased excise taxes on smokers' sundries announced in the budget today.

Tax on cigarettes has been increased from $5 to $6 per 1000 cigarettes, or about 1-10th of a cent a smoke. Pipe smokers wil pay 10 cents a pound more for tobacco, or 35 cents a pound tax in place of 25 cents. Tax on cigars will be doubled, which means that there will be a rate of $1 per 1000 instead of 50 cents on the cheapest brands.

"To prevent a substantial decline in the revenue from cigarettes and cut tobacco because of these high rates, it has been necessary to impose a tax of 10 cents a pound on the sale of raw leaf tobacco and to increase the tax on cigarette papers and tubes from two cents to five cents a hundred," the Minister announced.

"The tax on raw leaf tobacco will only apply on sales of consumers. The grower may sell to the merchant or dealer or manufacturer without tax." The leaf tobacco tax, however, does not come into effect until August 1.

The smokers' tax rates should produce $11,680,000 in the current fiscal year ending March 31, 1941, it was estimated.

Britain Prepares for Nazi Attacks

LONDON, June 24 (CP).—Supported by a wandering Polish army and die-hard French leaders in exile who announced they spoke for the French fleet and Empire, Britain prepared grimly tonight for Hitler's next move — presumably against this Island.

Britain, taking moves against Germany's latest victim, barred the export of all goods to French territory in Europe, including the Island of Corsica, in order to maintain the blockade.

With the Government pushing steadily to strengthen her home defence, Harold Nicolson, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Information, said in a broadcast "the day wil come, and not so very far distant, when the air will be under our command." British resources, he said, are far greater than Germany's and "our pilots are of far better quality."

Gen. Charles De Gaulle, head of the French National Committee set up in exile, and recognized by Britain, voiced assurance that "all parts of the French Empire will go on fighting."

De Gaulle said in an interview there is no doubt former Premier Reynaud of France would join the Committee and added:

"I have reason to think that the French fleet will not surrender to the enemy."

The French would keep "some kind of representation" in London which has become the "capital of the war", he said. For the time being a French Government-in-exile would not be formed.

Reynaud May Be New War Leader

LONDON, June 24 (CP) — The Daily Mail's diplomatic correspondent, Wilson Broadbent, wrote today that Paul Reynaud, the former French Premier, hopes to reach London and with General Charles De Gaulle reestablish his government with himself at the head "somewhere on French territory"

Besides the possibility that Reynaud will come to London to help continue the fight, it was reported that Yvon Belbos, former Foreign Minister, Cesar Campinchi, former Minister of the Navy, Leon Blum, Premier of the former Popular Front Government, and Edouard Herriot, resigned President of the French Chamber of Deputies, would also join the De Gaulle group

Road Tunnel at Slocan City Is Blown, Dynamite

Some 50,000 cubic yards of rock and debris, blown by 2½ tons of 40 per cent dynamite, went hurtling into Slocan Lake Monday afternoon when the tunnel on the Slocan City-Nakusp Road at Slocan City was blown out by the Provincial Department of Public Works.

Among a large number who turned watching the explosion were Hon. C. S. Leary, Minister of Public Works; O. G. Gallaher, Public Works Engineer for Nelson-Creston; W. B. Johnstone, of Cranbrook, formerly of New Denver; and F. H. Harrison, Victoria; and John Taylor of New Denver.

Two preliminary shots were fired to loosen the rock at 2:45. About 20 seconds later the main blast was fired. The dynamiting was described as "very successful".

The tunnel was not wholly demolished. Work will begin immediately to "bar down" this rock so as to have the road open for traffic by Friday. About 30 yards of the original road bed will have to be rebuilt but most of the original bed remains. Further dynamiting may have to be done to loosen all the rock.

AN OBJECT-LESSON HARD TO MISS

One of the distressing things about the tragedy of France is the loss of their occupation by the numerous lecturers, pulpiteers, peace society members, and others, who have been saying that "we must be kind to Germany when we beat her."

It has been the favorite contention of many alleged intellectuals that Germany was imposed upon and mistreated at the Peace Conference.

With the terms of peace that Germany has granted France, before their eyes, it is hard to imagine even the toughest-skinned claiming that in the end Germany must be treated with consideration of a different kind than she has afforded France.

Maybe now those citizens who have centred their vision exclusively on what to do after the war, will shift their gaze to a more immediate object—the winning of it.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT SELLS OUT

There is abundant evidence that the French armies, the French navy, the French merchant marine, were immesurably shocked at the supineness of the Petain Govment in seeking terms of surrender.

Similar in spirit are the French colonies.

It is to be doubted if the Petain Government at all correctly interpreted the feeling of the French Nation, when, instead of binding every energy to resisting to the last feasible moment on French soil while executing a withdrawal of the fighting forces to a colonial base, it accepted the German victory of the moment as final, and asked for "honorable peace terms."

Now it announces that the terms dictated by Hitler are "hard but honorable," and will be accepted, provided Mussolini can also be satisfied within the compass of French honor.

Honor has a meaning most of us have missed, if it will cover handing over to an enemy all the Country's war fighting equipment, to be turned against the Ally who is left to fight alone the World's battle for freedom.

Yet Field Marshal Petain's Government is preparing to do that very thing, has accepted the condition that the navy must be turned over to the conqueror, with also all the merchant fleet, whether now in French harbors, or abroad or on the high seas, and is even taking action to circumvent any commanders who would sail over with their commands and join the British.

It would be interesting to know just what the Petain Government considers the border line between honor and dishonor.

While it has not been asked to actually take the field to fight against the British—possibly that would be over the boundary of dishonor—it is accepting responsibility for handing over to Germany the one means of warfare, its floating defences and transport, that, joined to the German and Italian navies, could, with the favors of fortune, mean the isolation and conquest of Britain.

And for what is the Petain Government thus selling out its Ally?

For a peace that leaves France without freedom, without its Eastern provinces, without an army except for police purposes, without a navy except for police purposes, without shipping, and with its industries and resources added to the German war machine; and a future dependent on Hitler's word of honor and Hitler's pleasure.

For a peace that leaves France not a ghost of a hope in the future unless the Britain that is being sold out finally defeats the German aggressor.

THE BEST DO THE WORST

DO EXPERTS make the same kind of mistakes as ordinary players? Indeed they do—and how. They may not do it as often, but sometimes they do go so completely haywire that it is hard to understand how they could do so well the rest of the time. Some of their slips are so ludicrous, upon rare occasions, that it almost seems they were trying to think up the worst possible bids and plays, and using their brilliancy to devise worse ones than could be thought up by less gifted mortals.

Almost everybody bid this deal to 3-No Trumps, in the duplicate where it was dealt, none of them failing to make it, and some getting overtricks. The bidding given was at the table where the two pairs considered the strongest in the competition happened to meet. Only one other pair got into the same childish contract, and they made exactly 2-Spades, whereas an almost impossibly bad play on the defense by West here enabled South to get an overtrick.

West led the singleton of his partner's diamonds. The K won, followed by the A and a ruff of the 2. The club 3 was won by the A, then the spade Q finessed. A second club to the A was followed by the 2, ruffed in the South. The spade A was laid down, then another spade settled the outstanding ones, East winning. He led back a diamond to the J. South cashed his last spade, the J, then with two cards left led his heart 8.

West saw the heart Q and club J in dummy. Can you believe it? He played his J from the heart A-J, letting dummy's Q win and, of course, the club. Even if, as he said he thought, East had the heart K, his right play was the A. So cheer up, neophytes. Any opponents you meet have their human lapses, too, as bad as your own.

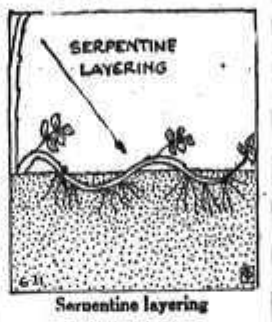
Layering Easy Way Propagate Plants

By DEAN HALLIDAY



Serpentine layering

Propagating new plants by the layering method can be done easily by any amateur gardener. Serpentine layering is a method frequently used with vine-like plants such as climbing roses, honeysuckle, wisteria, clematis and English ivy.

As shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph, serpentine layering consists of bending a branch from a growing plant in a series of curves in and out of the ground. One node of the branch should be placed underground, while the next node is left out of the ground on the upper curve of the serpentine. Remove the leaves from the nodes placed underground, for this will hasten the formation of new roots. Cover the buried sections of the serpentine with about three inches of soil.

The soil used for layering should be friable. The addition of some sand and leafmould or peat to an ordinary garden soil will make it easier for the new roots to take hold. Plants which are being layered should be kept moist. After the buried sections have developed roots, they can be severed from one another and treated as new plants.

RALSTON ESTIMATES $700,000,000 INCOME INCREASE

Deficit of $118,000,000 Equals War Expenditure; Revenue Is New Record

Reaches $562,000,000; to Divert Much of Greater Income to War; Guard Against Price Boosts Due to Civil Buying

PRODUCTIVE EMPLOYMENT FOR EVERYONE IS PROBABLE SOON

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP)—Announcing an over-all deficit of $118,000,000 for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1940, Finance Minister Ralston delivered his first budget address today in the House of Commons and forecast a heavy increase in the national income, "a very large proportion" of which would be diverted to war purposes.

He estimated this increase in national income at $700,000,000 for the current fiscal year.

At a moment when "the enemy of mankind stands with naked sword at the threshold of Britain," Col. Ralston called upon the Canadian people for "the maximum effort which is physically possible."

The deficit amounted to exactly the same figure as the expenditures for war purposes during the last fiscal year. Total revenues were $562,000,000—an all-time record—and total expenditures $681,000,000. These figures were contained in the lengthy economic and financial review with which the Finance Minister opened his budget address.

It was Colonel Ralston's first budget address, and possibly his last. He goes at once to the defence portfolio, succeeding the late Hon. Norman Rogers. Colonel Ralston was appointed September 7, 1939, but was not elected to the House of Commons until some months later, and the budget address at the emergency session in September was delivered by Revenue Minister Ilsley.

Based on methods adopted by the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations, which estimated the national income (aggregate of the incomes of all people in Canada) to be $3,800,000 in 1939, Colonel Ralston estimated this would increase to $4,500,000,000 in 1940.

DIVERT TO WAR

"In the measures which I shall propose we are endeavoring to ensure that at least a very large proportion of the increase in national income shall be diverted to war purposes, while, at the same time, leaving sufficient stimulus to bring the country as rapidly as possible to the maximum use of its labor, plant, and resources," the Minister said.

"In this connection it will be seen that many of our tax proposals will not require immediate payment and that much of the planned-for increase in revenue will not be called for during the present fiscal year."

The Minister warned that some reduction in personal consumption must be made, "and can easily be made by those of us who are above the minimum standard of living."

Imports had increased heavily, not only because of growing war industries but because of the expanding consumer demand.

It would be the Government's intention, in providing foreign exchange for these imports, to give priority to war requirements and to industries which were exporting goods and thus assisting in acquisition of foreign exchange over requirements for the domestic trade.

Colonel Ralston sounded a note of warning against economic collapse that would follow if private spending were encouraged, and prices allowed to rise with increased civilian consumption.

"If an appropriate financial policy is not followed the ultimate result will inevitably be that the Government will be frustrated in its attempt to procure goods for war purposes by the competition of consumers who seek to spend their increased buying power to satisfy civilian wants.

"The Government's financial and economic policies have been so designed as to try to safeguard against that type of situation. They have been evolved with the aim to avoid unjustified price increases or speculative excesses.

The Minister called for cooperation by industry in providing apprenticeships and other training to maintain the supply of skilled labor, and of labor organizations in facilitating the necessary entrance of young men into their trades.

"We must not allow bottlenecks to develop and retard our armament program in this supreme emergency," he said. "Plans are under way to meet such possible dangers. Maximum efficiency, maximum production and maximum speed must be the supreme objective of all of us today."

Colonel Ralston expressed the opinion that war industry and kindred activity in Canada would bring a situation "before very long" when everyone able and willing to work and not needed for military service would find productive employment.

The Minister's opening words reflected the gravity of the world situation in general and the position in which Canada finds itself.

"We know only too well that we are paying the price of long years of wishful thinking," he said. "Fortunately at last I believe our eyes are opened and we see clearly. And if we do, it is not too late."

FUTURE POLICIES

Of the Government's future policies the Minister said the war effort was not to be limited by financial calculations or "by what we can comfortably accomplish."

Financial provision could and would be made for "whatever it is physically possible for us to produce or to procure in the way of war services, supplies and materials."

Yield of both old and new taxes had been considerably in excess of expectations held at the time that the September budget was brought down. Of the taxes announced then only the luxury taxes were collectable in the last fiscal year.

Nevertheless, tax revenues alone increased by $32,000,000 over 1938-39 and for the period from September 1, 1939, to March 31, 1940, these collections were $51,000,000 greater than for the same period in 1938-39.

REVENUE EXCEEDS ESTIMATE

Estimates of total revenue last September was $516,000,000, which was exceeded by $46,000,000 This meant a $47,000,000 increase over the all-time record year of 1937-38.

Expenditures for the fiscal year were estimated in September at $651,000,000, not including the two items of capitalized defence expenditures and further losses in the marketing of wheat.

The actual total ran to $681,000,000, including all defence expenditures and $62,000,000 to cover losses of the Canadian Wheat Board in handling the 1938 crop. The idea of capitalizing a part of defence expenditures and the wheat marketing deficit, initiated in the regular budget delivered in April, 1939, was dropped once the war began. All defence expenditures are included in the total war cost for the last fiscal year, $118,000,000.

As a result of the deficit the net debt of the Dominion rose to $3,270,980,000 as at March 31, 1940. On that date the average interest rate on the Dominion's direct, funded debt, including treasury bills, was 3.40 per cent as compared with 3.52 per cent on March 31, 1939, and 5.02 per cent on March 31, 1930.

HIGHLIGHTS OF BUDGET SPEECH

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP)—Following are highlights of the budget speech delivered in the Commons today by Finance Minister Ralston:

Heavy taxation forecast, but not to extent of handicapping industrial expansion or sacrificing living standards.

Much of planned increase in Government revenues not to be collected in current fiscal year.

Restriction on luxury imports forecast to divert foreign exchange to war needs.

Aggregate individual earnings of Canadians in current fiscal year expected to reach $4,500,000,000, with work shortly for everyone able and willing and not required for military service.

National debt $3,270,980,000 as at March 31, 1940. Average interest rate (including treasury bills) 3.40 as compared with 3.52 March 31, 1939.

Over-all deficit for fiscal year ended March 31, 1940, approximately $118,000,000 as compared with $51,000,000 the previous year.

Total revenue for 1939-40 approximately $562,000,000, about $46,000,000 more than estimated in last September budget, and $47,000,000 greater than all-time record set in 1937-38.

Total expenditures for last fiscal year $681,000,000 including all defence expenditures and a further $27,000,000 incurred in wheat marketing.

Tax revenues from September 1, 1939, to March 31, 1940, were $51,000,000 in excess of same period in 1938-39.

War Financial Policy Designed to Prevent Rising Prices, Hectic Periods and Eventual Collapse

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP). — Finance Minister Ralston in his budget speech said on the basis calculated by the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations our national income for the calendar year 1939 was in the vicinity of $3,800,000,000. Using the same method of computation we consider that our national income for the fiscal year 1940-41 will not likely be less than $4,500,000,000. We must see to it that by far the greater part of that increase is used for war purposes.

I need hardly say that our war export is not in any sense to be limited by such financial calculation or by what we can comfortably accomplish. We must make the maximum effort of which this country is capable. Financial provision can be made and will be made for whatever it is physically possible for us to produce or to procure in the way of war services, supplies and materials. . . .

If an appropriate financial policy is not followed the ultimate result will inevitably be that the government will be frustrated in its attempt to procure goods for war purposes by the competition of consumers who seek to spend their increased buying power to satisfy civilian wants. In that event, also, the familiar spiral of rising prices, then rising wages and costs, and then prices rising still further would begin to work.

Prices would rise more rapidly than wages and salaries, and by this indirect, hidden and most inequitable process, the civilian population and particularly the wage and salary earners and the receivers of fixed incomes, would be forced to curtail their consumption not only of luxuries but of comforts and necessaries as well.

Eventually in such a process, our entire economic life would be disorganized; a hectic period characterized by feverish speculation, waste and extravagance would develop; and a collapse of the inflationary structure would be as inevitable as it was at the close of the last war.

The Government's financial and economic policies have been so designed as to try to safeguard against that type of situation.

They have been evolved with the aim to avoid unjustified price increases or speculative excesses, to keep our economic functioning as effectually as possible and to secure the necessary diversions of man power, equipment and materials to war purposes in a way which would be the least dangerous to the economy and the most equitable as between different individuals and groups. . . .

WORK FOR ALL

There is every likelihood in my opinion that the expenditure of $700,000,000, and more, for war purposes plus the very large amounts which the United Kingdom is spending in this country will bring us before very long to the point where everyone able and willing to work and not needed for military service will find an opportunity for productive employment.

In the relief estimates which have been tabled there is provision for the rehabilitation of unemployed workers and the technical training of young men and women. Already we can see evidence that shortages have appeared in certain types of skilled labor.

To overcome this obstacle we must have the cooperation of Canadian employers in providing the necessary apprenticeship and other training, and of our labor organizations in facilitating the necessary entrance of young men into their trades. We must now allow bottlenecks to develop and retard our armament program in this supreme emergency. . . .

To the extent that we can increase the national income, we can increase our war power without crippling sacrifice in our standard of living. Some reduction in personal consumption there must necessarily be, and it can easily be made by those of us who are above the minimum standard of living.

To sum up: In the measures which I shall propose we are endeavoring to ensure that at least a very large proportion of the increase in national income shall be diverted to war purposes while, at the same time, leaving sufficient stimulus to bring the country as rapidly as possible to the maximum use of its labor, plants and resources.

In this connection it will be seen that many of our tax proposals will not require immediate payment and that much of the planned-for increase in revenue will not be called for during the present fiscal year.

One feature of our economic activity since the outbreak of war, which is of special concern and deserves special mention here, is the great increase in our imports. Most of these increased imports have had to come from countries outside the British Empire. . . .

In normal times we are able to use all excess receipts from our trade with one country to meet any deficits in our trade with another. At this time, however, when Britain has such vital need of gold and United States dollars to purchase planes and other war equipment, we cannot expect her to settle all her trade balance with us in gold or foreign exchange. . . .

PROVIDE DOLLARS

Since the United Kingdom could not supply us with goods to pay for all her purchases here, and since, as I have just explained, the sterling with which she was able to pay for these purchases could not be converted into dollars in the normal way, other measures were necessary. The Canadian Government undertook to accept and use this Sterling in buying Canadian securities from Britain and thus provide her with Canadian dollars with which to pay for purchases of Canadian goods.

While such purchases of Canadian securities held in London will, of course, strengthen our financial position on international account, nevertheless two immediate problems face us.

In the first place, our domestic market must absorb new securities to a corresponding amount. In the second place, the fact that the surplus Sterling rising from our trade with Britain cannot be converted into United States dollars and must be used up by repatriation of securities means that our increased sales to Britain do not help us, as they would in normal times, to pay for the heavy imports of which I have spoken from non-Empire countries.

The result is that we must find from some other source the United States dollars needed to pay for the greater part of our imports from that country. . . .

More recently, and despite the utmost care in selecting as far as possible Canadian sources of supply, the Government's war orders have contributed directly and indirectly to this increase in imports from hard currency countries.

It is apparent that already there has developed, between consumers and private business on the one hand, and the Government and firms supplying Government orders on the other, an active competition for foreign exchange with which to purchase imports. The problem of policy thus posed is not one of maintaining an exchange rate. The powers of the Foreign Exchange Control Board are quite adequate to do that.

The problem is to ensure that, in handling the supply of foreign exchange which may be, from time to time, available, war requirements shall take priority over other requirements, and that to some degree also the requirements of industries which are exporting goods and therefore assisting us to acquire foreign exchange, shall take priority over the requirements of domestic trade.

Coast Air Training to Open Week Early

VANCOUVER, June 24 (CP). — Training of pilots here under the Empire Air Training Plan will begin July 15, a week ahead of schedule, Leslie Martin, head of the British Columbia Air Training Company, announced today.

"Everything is going along a little ahead of schedule, and running marvelously," said Martin, who returned from Ottawa on Saturday night.

Vancouver's "Air Supremacy" drive to buy 10 training planes for use here under the training plan passed the $50,000 mark today, only $30,000 short of the goal set.

Defence Bills Await Signature

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt returned to Washington today to consider problems of national defence made more weighty by London accounts of Germany's peace terms to France.

Awaiting the President at the White House were several bills, just approved by Congress, comprising an integral part of the defence program.

One was an emergency appropriation of $1,700,000,000 to finance the acquisition of additional planes, guns, tanks and other vital equipment for the army and navy.

Another was a measure to raise $1,000,000,000 a year in revenue to help finance huge defence outlays and to raise the national debt limit from $45,000,000,000 to $49,000,000,000.

BRITISH BAN SHIPMENTS TO FRENCH TERRITORIES

LONDON, June 24 (CP) — The British Government prohibited today the export of all classes of goods to French territories in Europe, including Corsica.

17 Cents Out of Tax Dollar for War, 20 for Debt

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP)—Something over 17 cents out of every dollar expended by the Federal Government in the fiscal year 1939-40 went for war purposes, according to a table contained in the White Paper annexed to Finance Minister Ralston's budget speech today.

About 20 cents went to meet debt charges, six cents for Canadian National Railways deficits, 4½ cents for old age pensions, eight cents for war and military pensions and the treatment and care of returned soldiers.

Other outlays, including expenditures of the different Government departments, subsidies to the Provinces and relief, accounted for the rest of the dollar.

The sales tax was the biggest single revenue producer, contributing 24½ cents out of every dollar collected. The income tax was a close second, contributing 24 cents. Customs import duties contributed 18½ cents, excise duties, 11 other taxes, 5½ cents; and non-tax revenues—including special receipts, credits and refunds—the rest.

French Recruits Swarm De Gaulle Office in London

LONDON, June 24 (CP).—Large numbers of volunteers in and out of uniform swarmed today into the new headquarters of Gen. Charles de Gaulle on the Thames embankment.

Soldiers of the present war and of the last were prominent among those who came to answer the French General's radio call to all Frenchmen to join him in continuing the fight at Britain's side.

Gen. de Gaulle himself, still in uniform despite the Bordeaux Government's act in stripping him of his rank, was present as the headquarters were being set up.

Informed diplomatic sources said today, although De Gaulle has the fullest support of the British Government, Britain is maintaining diplomatic relations with the French Government in Bordeaux and with the French Ambassador, Charles Corbin, who remains in London.

Tax Revenues $468 Million in 1940, Says Ralston; Expenditures Set at $681 Million; C.N.R. Deficit $40 Million

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP)—In his budget speech, Finance Minister Ralston said at the time of the September 1939 budget, it was estimated that the total revenues for the fiscal year 1939-40 would be $518,000,000, including $21,000,000 to be derived from new and increased taxes Because business expanded more rapidly than was anticipated, the yield of both our old and new taxes has exceeded our expectations.

It is now estimated that when our books for the year are closed, our total revenue will amount to $562,000,000. (This includes, it is true, a bookkeeping item of $20,000,000 of credits to nonactive accounts for which offsetting or contra items appear on the expenditure side of the statement.) The figure which I have given for total revenues represents an increase of nearly $47,000,000 over the previous all-time record revenue which was received during the fiscal year 1937-38.

Dealing particularly with revenue from taxes, let me say that of the September 1939 tax increases, only the luxury taxes were effective in the past fiscal year. Actual collections under the increased rates of the personal and corporation income taxes would not be made until the present fiscal year. The same is true of the excess profits tax. Nevertheless, tax revenues for the fiscal year 1939-40 are estimated to have been $468,000,000 as compared with $436,000,000 in the previous fiscal year.

In the September 1939 budget, total expenditures for the year would, it was estimated, aggregate approximately $651,000,000, not including the two items of capitalized defence expenditures and further losses in the marketing of wheat.

Our total expenditures for last year are now estimated at $681,000,000. This includes all our defence expenditures and in addition a further $27,000,000, incurred in wheat marketing. Once the war had begun, it seemed that conservative accounting could no longer justify the capitalization of defence expenditures as provided for in last year's estimates, and all such items have been charged to wrr expenditures.

WHEAT BOARD LOSS $62 MILLION

Furthermore, while at the close of the fiscal year there still remained unsold a small amount of wheat of the 1938 crop, it was clear that the losses of the Canadian Wheat Board in respect of the marketing of that crop would amount to at least $62,000,000. Therefore, an advance of this amount was made to the Board, and this enabled the Board to pay off guaranteed bank advances to that amount in respect of 1938 wheat.

As provision had already been made in the accounts of the year 1938-39 for setting up a reserve of $25,000,000 in respect of possible losses in marketing this wheat, the difference between this sum and the advance of $62,000,000 made to the Board, namely, $27,000,000, has as already indicated been included in the 1939-40 expenditures.

When we add to our estimated expenditure of $651,000,000 these two items of $27,000,000 of capitalized defence expenditures and $27,000,000 more for wheat losses, you will note that if we had spent what we estimated the total expenditure would have been $705,000,000. It will be seen, therefore, that since our actual aggregate expenditures were only $681,000,000, we have done considerably better than wra expected last September.

The figure of $681,000,000 which I have given as representing our aggregate expenditures for the year may be broken down by main categories of expenditure as follows (using round numbers):

Ordinary expenditures, $398,000,000; capital expenditures, $7,000,000; losses on and nonactive advances to Government-owned enterprises, $42,000,000; war expenditures, $118,000,000; other special expenditures including unemployment relief and wheat losses, $89,000,000; other charges, $26,000,000.

In the above item of "other special expenditures," the amount for unemployment relief, relief works and Western drought area relief totalled $62,000,000, as compared with $47,000,000 during the preceding year. This includes a net expenditure of $7,500,000 under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act.

Under "Government-owned enterprises," the main item of expenditure was the net income deficit of the Canadian National Railway, which amounted to slightly over $40,000,000 as compared with $54,000,000 for the preceding year.

The net result of the year's receipts and outgoings is that, because our revenues were about $46,000,000 greater and our expenditures about $24,000,000 smaller than were anticipated, our over-all deficit for the year will be about $70,000,000 less than was expected. However, the actual deficit will approximate $118,000,000 as compared with $51,000,000 in 1938-39.

As a result of the over-all deficit of $118,000,000, the net debt of the Dominion rose to approximately $3,270,980,000 as at March 31, 1940. Gross liabilities at that date are estimated at $4,026,573,000. On the other side of the balance sheet, offsetting these liabilities in part, the Dominion had active assets, including cash on hand, sinking funds, and active loans and investments, amounting to $757,593,000.

At the close of the fiscal year there was an outstanding unmatured direct funded debt (including treasury bills) amounting to $3,695,685,000, of which $67,196,000 were held in sinking funds against certain issues payable in London. Bonds and debenture stocks bearing the guarantee of the Dominion and outstanding in the hands of the public aggregated $1,084,479,000 as at March 31, 1940. These guaranteed securities were decreased by $987,000 during the year. There are also outstanding certain other contingent liabilities arising out of guarantees given under relief acts and various other statutes. These are fully set out in the White Paper which is being placed on Hansard.

It will also be of interest to honorable members to know that as at March 31 last the average rate of interest on the Dominion direct funded debt (including treasury bills) was 3.40 per cent as compared with 3.52 per cent on March 31, 1939, and 5.02 per cent on March 31, 1930.

Canada to Continue Pay-as-You-Go Policy Vigorously, Says Ralston; Experience Shows Value of Policy

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP)—A partial text of finance Minister Ralston's budget speech, delivered in the House of Commons today, follows:

I rise to my allotted task today with a sense of heavy responsibility This budget is being delivered at the most critical hour in history. The Hun is hammering at the gate. Backed by almost incredible weight of mechanized power, he has operated with cold-blooded ruthlessness.

We know now only too well that we are paying the price of long years of wishful thinking. There is no doubt that all of us in the democratic countries, governments and peoples alike, have been blinded to the stark potentialities of force and evil.

Fortunately, at last, I believe, our eyes are opened and we see clearly. And if we do, it is not too late. For no one and no event can shake my conviction that in the long run truth must triumph over falsehood, good over evil, justice over might.

Obviously, the message which I must bring today cannot be a pleasant one. I come to you to collect part of the price to which I have referred. Nor can I be dogmatic or definitive in the proposals I make. We live from day to day—indeed, from hour to hour—and our plans must be subject to change in the light of new circumstances.

There will, I am sure, be those who will think that I have not gone far enough and probably those who will contend that I have gone too far. Still others will differ with me on details of specific measures.

All that I can say is that I have spared no pains to ascertain the relevant facts, to weigh the merits of various measures and proposals, and to ascertain the relevant facts, to weigh the merits of various measures and proposals and to reach conclusions in the light of the supreme emergency which faces us today.

In the first war budget of last September, my colleague, the Minister of National Revenue, (Hon. J. L. Ilsley), who delivered the budget speech, laid down the broad principle of the Government's policy of war finance.

"We believe it is the part of wisdom," he said, "to follow as far as may be practicable a pay-as-you-go policy."

Events which have happened since, and particularly those of the last few weeks, have not detracted from the wisdom of that policy, but rather have reinforced the need for a vigorous effort to apply it in every possible way.

The general policy was elaborated further as consisting of two parts: an initial period of quietness and hesitancy, and a second period in which rising business activity and expanding income had acquired momentum.

In the initial period of the war in which business was expected to be hesitant, if not actually depressed, the appropriate financial policy was declared to be one which would facilitate the expansion of national income and the drawing into employment of our full man-power.

In accordance with the declared policies, the Government made its first financing in the form of a short-term banking operation that was definitely expansionist in its character. This was a loan of $200,000,000 arranged with the Banks in November, 1939 on the security of two-year notes at a rate of 2 per cent.

It will be recalled that of this amount $92,000,000 was used to repatriate Canadian securities held in London. This gave the United Kingdom a substantial supply of Canadian dollars which was used to purchase Canadian foodstuffs, raw materials and war supplies.

This borrowing from the chartered banks was facilitated by appropriate monetary policy. Between August and November, the Bank of Canada's assets nicreased by approximately $107,000,000 as a result of the purchase of securities and the increase in the value of its gold and foreign exchange reserves. This provided cash to meet the enlarged public demand for notes in circulation and to increase the cash reserves of the chartered banks by $33,000,000.

With this increase in cash reserves, the chartered banks were enabled to increase their total Canadian deposits by approximately $306,000,000. In the same period, they increased their current loans by approximately $147,000,000, mainly to finance the large wheat crop, and added to their net holdings of securities by $158,000,000 . . .

OFFER FIRST WAR LOAN

By the middle of January it became apparent that business had acquired sufficient momentum to justify going to the public for a loan out of savings. We therefore offered our first war loan in the form of 3¼ per cent 12-year bonds callable by lot during the last five years. Very carefully preparation had been made for the campaign and the success of the loan was even greater than we had expected. Of the total subscriptions of $375,000,000 we allotted $300,000,000 to cash subscribers, and $50,000,000 to subscribers who desired to convert their holdings of one of our issues which was to mature on March 1 . . . .

Even this January borrowing was to a considerable extent expansionist in character in that it converted into Government expenditures a considerable amount of idle bank savings . . .

I come to a further major step in our borrowing operations, namely, the inauguration of our war savings certificates program on May 27. These certificates are issued in small denominations for the purpose of facilitating regular savings and contributions to Canada's war effort by persons of moderate and small means . . .

The stagnation in business which he (Mr. Ilsley) contemplated as probable during the first few months of the war was not in fact realized. It is true that for the first few weeks financial and commodity markets were upset by the shock of war and business itself was retarded by uncertainty and the disruption of certain established channels of trade.

But the financial policies outlined in the September budget and the institution of foreign exchange control on Sept. 16 restored confidence to financial markets and prevented the dumping of securities and the export of capital which might otherwise have produced serious disorganization.

The prompt establishment of other controls through various war agencies, such as the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, the War Supply Board and the Agricultural Supplies Board, also made its contribution to the restoration of confidence and the rapid adjustment of trade and industry to the new wartime conditions.

There were various economic factors which also worked to improve conditions. The large wheat crop of last year, for which the initial price guaranteed by the Government was realized by the producers immediately upon delivery, gave a very important stimulus to business generally.

Almost equally important was the phenomenal rise during the first four months of war of Canadian exports to the United States. Our neighbor to the South experienced an intense forward-buying boom and in that we shared through greatly increased exports. Initial war orders were important in contributing to the early expansion of the textile, boot and shoe, and iron and steel industries particularly.

BUSINESS RECEDES

At the turn of the year, however, business activity in the United States receded very sharply. . . .

But while the rapid increase in Canadian business activity was slowed down somewhat, the cumulative increase in war orders and the recovery in Canadian exports to Britain, which had been abnormally low in October and November, largely offset the influence of the United States recession.

Business activity in Canada flattened out in February and March but generally did not recede. In recent weeks the tempo of United States business has increased sharply and there are already indications that Canadian exports to that country are responding to a more active market . . .

CATHOLIC WOMEN VOTE $25,000 TO CANADA WAR WOR

SAINT JOHN, N. B., June 24 (CP). — The Catholic Women's League of Canada today voted the sum of $25,000 to the Dominion Government to be used for war work in any form the Government may decide. Announcement was made by Mrs. T. H. Hay, Regina, C. W. L. President, during the League's National Convention here.

"This is the first opportunity we, as Catholic women, have had to prove that we truly work for God and Canada," said Mrs. Hay, "In these days when Christianity is at stake we are expected to do our duty."

Government of India Act Amendment to Be Entered This Week

NEW DELHI, June 24 (CP Cable) —Momentous Indian constitutional changes are foreshadowed today in political circles. It is reported that the Secretary of State for India, L. S. Amery, will introduce a bill in the British Parliament some time this week amending the Government of India Act.

The bill is likely to confer full responsibility on the Central and Provincial Governments.

It is anticipated that the announcement is likely to rally all parties to the formation of National Governments and the concentration of India's war efforts. No comment was coming from London.

240 Recruits Found to Have Tuberculosis

MONTREAL, June 24 (CP)—Tuberculosis is one of the most dangerous "agents" of the medical "fifth column" in the ranks of the Canadian army, Col. W. A. Jones of Ottawa, consultant radiologist, said today at the opening session here of the seven-day annual convention of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association.

In the fight against this menace, the principal "ray of hope"—the X-ray—already had meant a potential saving of about $25,000,000 for the first 100,000 Canadian troops enlisted since the start of the war, he said. X-ray examinations for these men had cost only $200,000.

Col. Jones told the gathering of medical men treatment and pensions for tubercular-infected soldiers of the First Great War had cost Canada a total of $150,000,000. Since recruiting began last year, the tests had revealed 240 tuberculosis cases among recruits.

How the Budget Affects Residents of Kootenays

"Lot Easier Than Expected"; 10 Per Cent on Imports Affects Many; Car Buyers Most in Low Price, Low Tax Class

"Well, that's not so bad." . . . "That's certainly a lot easier than we expected."

This was the reaction Monday of business men in Nelson following the presentation of Col. J. L. Ralston's budget in the Dominion House. The actual budget came as a relief to a great many who had anticipated sharply increased taxes on sugar, flour and other household supplies through an increased sales tax. They said that while the new income tax would affect almost everyone earning a wage, even this was not as heavy a burden as they expected the war budget to bring.

10 PER CENT ON IMPORTS

The tax likely to have widest effect, wholesalers stated, was the tax of 10 per cent on all imports except those enjoying the British preferential tariff. It was pointed out this was based on dutiable value of imports, on most of which duty is fixed by the Canada-United States trade agreement of 1939. The duty remains as set in the agreement but the tax will be an additional charge.

First goods affected probably will be oranges, lemons, grapefruit, bananas, watermelon, cantaloupe and so on, currently being imported. Most of the fresh fruit and vegetables currently on the market are supplied locally, but later when imports of these resume they will be subject to the tax. This may result in increased consumption of home produce.

Supplies of fruit jars for this season are already on hand, but should additional supplies be required, they will be subject to the tax, and consequently higher in price. A number of prepared breakfast foods will also be affected, since either the foods or basic supplies are largely imported. For instance, most of the corn for corn flakes is obtained in the United States.

AUTOS AFFECTED TWO WAYS

Automobile prices will be affected in two ways—by the new tax schedule and also by the import tax. In the case of cars manufactured in Canada the import tax will apply only to the parts imported, a comparatively small percentage in the case of popular priced cars. Hence price increases in these cars will be confined largely due to the new direct tax on cars.

But in the case of cars manufactured outside Canada and imported, the import tax will apply in addition to the direct tax, it is expected, and the increase will be proportionately greater.

Up to now sales tax of 8 per cent has been paid on cars. Sales tax is unchanged in the budget.

Cars most common in the Kootenays are the lower bracket, popular priced vehicles, most of which are manufactured in Canada to the extent of 90 per cent or better. Hence most Kootenay residents will pay $70 to $100 more for their new cars than they now do. Persons buying higher priced cars will pay considerably more.

Increased taxes on tires and tubes will mean 5 to 10 per cent advances in prices, according to the grade of tire or tube.

NEW CIGARETTE PRICES PROBABLE

While the higher cigarette and tobacco taxes go into effect immediately, it is the opinion of dealers that it will be some time before the public is affected. They believe that stocks at present on hand will be used up and the higher taxes applied to new stocks.

Just what form the increase may take is a matter of conjecture. In the September budget, when the cigarette tax was increased by $1, the increase was applied by reduction of the number of cigarettes in a package so that nine sold for 10 cents, 16 for 20 cents, and 23 for 25 cents. It is suggested by dealers that the additional $1 per 1000 tax may result in a return to prices of a few years ago—10 cigarettes for 15 cents, 20 for 25 cents, or 25 for 35 cents.

Smoking tobacco, not affected in September, will be higher by 10 cents a pound, represented in the increase of the tax from 25 to 35 cents a pound. This will probably be applied at the rate of five cents per tin for the common half pounds; and by smaller packages in the 10 and 15-cent sizes.

CIGARETTE PAPERS MAY BE DOUBLED

Cigarette papers and tubes may be doubled in price, dealers say, since the present tax of two cents per 100 is being increased to five cents. A package of papers now costing five cents will probably be 10 cents.

The tax on cigars is doubled, but the number affected will probably not be great since there is not a widespread consumption of cigars.

Increase of one-third in the tax on matches represents an advance of a little more than 8 per cent, and will chiefly affect purchases in quantity, it is expected.

Almost everyone will be affected, to greater or less degree, by the new 10 per cent tax on phonographs, cameras, radios and radio tubes.

It is believed unlikely that soft drinks will be increased in price, although the tax on carbonic acid gas introduced in September has been increased from two to five cents a pound. Previously $1 a tank, the tax will now be $2.50.

Comparatively few will be affected by the increase from 21 to 24 cents a pound in the tax on malt syrup, except as beer prices are affected. The previous demand for malt syrup for making "home brew" beer faded to an extremely low level when the September budget introduced a 21-cent tax. This represented 52 cents for the common 2½-pound can. The addition will bring the tax to 72 cents a can.

TEA MAY BE REGRADED

Adjustment of tea taxes will effect many individuals. It is believed the effect of the adjustments announced by Colonel Ralston will be to reclassify grades so that fewer teas come in the lower tax bracket, and more in the higher brackets, providing increase in the total tax collected.

Dressed or dyed furs will be higher this year as a result of an increase in the tax from 8 to 12 per cent.

Flour and feed houses will be affected only slightly and indirectly. Chief import of these houses is South African corn, which enjoys the British preference and hence is free of the 10 per cent tax on imports. Coconut oil meal, soy bean meal and oyster shell may be affected, since they are largely imported.

VITAL STOCK GREATER THAN AT ANY TIME IN BRITAIN SAYS WOOLTON

LONDON, June 24 (CP)— Food Minister Lord Woolton said today that "until I impose fresh restrictions, the public need not fear about supplies."

Nelson Schools Close Tomorrow Last Work Today

"No more pencils,
"No more books . . ."

One more day and this is the cry Nelson students will utter, for on Wednesday begins two long, glorious months of Summer holidays.

Today the remnants of regular school work will be cleaned up and tomorrow will be the last day to attend school until September. At the High School most exams have been written but a few students are to write their last ones Wednesday.

At the Junior High School the last regular work session will be held today and class parties will be held this afternoon. The Grade IX students may go for picnics or parties away from the school grounds, while the Grade VII and VIII students will stage softball games and other entertainment on the grounds.

Wednesday morning they stage their graduation exercises with a program in the school auditorium, following a graduation class picture.

Hume and Central School pupils will have their own class parties. At the Central School the pupils have lined up a program to be staged by them this afternoon in the auditorium.

Wilson Jailed 3 Months, Retaining Possession Money

Pleading guilty to a charge of retaining possession of stolen money Frank Wilson, transient, was sentenced to three months in the Provincial Jail at Nelson when he appeared before Police Magistrate William Brown Monday morning.

Wilson, who was arrested by City Police with David Hamilton, after the homes of B. C. Poulsen and C. R. Wiebe were broken into in Fairview Friday, was charged with retaining possession of $9 belonging to Mr. Poulsen and Mr. Wiebe. Hamilton is charged with theft.

Wilson told His Worship that he had no criminal intention in accepting the money as he did not know it was stolen. He said he was on his way to Vancouver to enlist for active service. He did not join at Nelson as he wanted to see his sister at Penticton en route to Vancouver, he said.

Creston Cherry Crop Below '39

CRESTON, B.C.—Creston Valley's 1940 cherry crop will be 7000 crates, according to the fornightly crop report of C. B. Twigg, District Agriculturist. This is a falling off of 40 per cent, as compared with 1939, when cherry shipments were close to 12,000 crates. Unfavorable weather at the time of pollenization is said to be responsible for the decline, which is heavier amongst Bings than the Lamberts.

With the other stone fruits the 1940 yield will be on a par with last season. Plums are estimated at 4000 crates, and prunes at 7000.

Cherries are coming in earlier than in most years and the sweet varieties will be on the shipping list this week. Plums and prunes are sizing nicely. Some Black Tartarians have already moved.

Raspberries in limited quantity were available at the weekend, but it will be July before picking is general. Young canes have made rapid growth recently and a good crop is in prospect with an average moisture supply.

Strawberries are past their peak, the heat of last week bringing them along rapidly. They have been of exceptional quality but reports are contradictory as to the volume being up to expectations.

IDEAL SEASON

This has been an ideal season for bush fruits. Black currants are showing color and are of good size and should be available before the week is out, to be soon followed by the reds.

Pears have set well and should provide a normal crop. Very few reports have been received of fire blight up to the present. The pear slug has hatched out ten days earlier than usual.

Growers had the best of weather for putting on the final spray for apple scab last week. Up to the present very little scab is in evidence. With the exception of McIntosh reds in some orchards North of town, all varieties have set nicely and a good crop of apples may be expected. With Wealthys, Duchess and the early Fall varieties thinning is under way.

Early vegetables are now on the local market. New potatoes can be expected any time to be quickly followed by green peas. Tomatoes have set their first trusses of fruit and growth is excellent in spite of the appearance of the flea beetle.

Grain on the flats looks well. Winter wheat is now all headed out. The pea vine growth is spreading out.

Blewett Ladies Plan Strawberry Social

BLEWETT, B. C.—The June meeting of the Blewett and City Plant Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. A. Nelson, with the President, Mrs. R. Greyson, in the chair. In summarizing the Auxiliary's Red Cross work, the Secretary-Treasurer Mrs. J. E. Riley, reported the following completed articles were turned in to Nelson headquarters:

12 pairs Regulation Army socks; 9 pairs Seamen's socks; 11 sweaters; 24 pillow cases; 6 mattress pads; 24 Hampton bed pads; 12 abdominal binders; 36 triangular bandages; 12 pneumonia jackets and 18 hospital bed gowns. The Auxiliary also assisted the Nelson Branch with some of their alteration work.

Final arrangements were made for the strawberry social to be held at the home of Mrs. R. Greyson at the City Power Plant. It was decided to have refreshments both afternoon and evening. In conjunction with the social there will be a sale of aprons, home cooking and candy, and local talent will provide a musical program. Rossland Plans a Rod and Gun Club for Boys

ROSSLAND, B. C., June 24—The organization of a Junior Rod and Gun Club is well under way in Rossland under the supervision of George Nixon, Jr., Ernest Chesham, president of the Rossland Rod and Gun Club, and Frank Thorpe. The idea was brought forward several times among the club members by Mr. Nixon, who felt that the youngsters should be taught how to handle fire arms, and learn the laws of the woods.

"Take these youngsters," commented Frank Thorpe. "They are not allowed to carry a gun until they are 18, unless they have a companion of age with them. They sneak out and fire at anything and everything, and are not given an opportunity of learning how to handle guns, or taught a respect for and knowledge of animal life. Consequently they are dangerous, not only to themselves, but to every one in the vicinity."

The youngsters are all for it, and a meeting is planned to form the club and elect the leaders.

Trail Bears Are After Scalps of Indians Tonight

TRAIL, B. C., June 24—"I can't figure it out," puzzled Ace Bailey, colorful member of the Rossland Redmen when he visited Trail the other day. "We can lick the Bears up there but we can't beat 'em here."

If Rossland's ability to skin the Golden Bears is as definite as that, the Bruins are in for a hiding in the Golden City Tuesday night in another battle of the West Kootenay Lacrosse League. But that is only looking at it from one side. Hugh Miller's loop leading teddies have been working on some new angles from which to approach the Tribesmen in their fresh air arena and are betting two to one that they'll be scalping Indians in their own camp Tuesday night.

The last meeting of these two quads in Rossland was no tea party and the Bruins plan on victory even if it has to be rougher than the last time.

Miller has been carrying the same squad right along and the same thing that beat Rossland in Trail will make Tuesday's invasion.

The lineup follows: Moro, goal; Turik, Merlo, Jim Kendall and Casey, defence; Bob Kendall and Sampirook, rovers; Booney Sammartino, Temple and Pagnan; Smith Rolando, Sammartino and Hood, forwards.

REMEMBER WHEN?

Maxie Rosenbloom became undisputed light heavyweight boxing champion of the world 10 years ago today, winning a 15-round decision over Jimmy Slattery at Buffalo. The title was thrown into open competition when Champion Tommy Loughran resigned undefeated in August, 1929. Slattery claimed the title by virtue of a win over Lou Scozza, but Rosenbloom's victory cleared the crown.

Mrs. Minton Is Trail Softball Batting Queen

TRAIL, B. C., June 24—The trophy donated by Fred Lauriente for batting competition in the Trail Ladies' Softball League has been won this season by Mrs. Nellie Minton, T. H. Negus, Secretary, announced on completing the batting averages after conclusion of league play on Sunday.

Mrs. Minton, who captained the East Trail team, has been credited with 22 hits in 45 times at bat for an average of .488. She has consistently played a good game, making 22 putouts and getting 28 assists. She made 14 errors.

Second in batting was Jeanette LePage of Teahan's, with an average of .417, having amassed 20 hits in 48 times at bat.

Mr. Lauriente, in presenting the trophy, stipulated that a player must have been at bat at least half as many times as the player having the most times at bat charged against her, to compete for the trophy. Hazel Weir of Strands went to bat most times during the league. She was charged with 57 times, consequently only those players at bat 38 times or more were eligible to compete for the trophy.

Mr. Lauriente also has donated a special prize for the girl making the highest average in batting during the league playoffs, the same proportion of times at bat to apply.

Playoffs commence on Thursday when Strands and East Trail tangle in the first game of a best of three series.

Owing to the hot weather, no Sunday morning games will be played until further notice, Mr. Negus states. Tuesday evenings have been reserved for Rep team practices under the coaching of Jimmie Burrows.

Bombers to Play Savoy Wednesday in Men's Softball

Through a slip-up somehow or other in the schedule, Monday evening's game between the High School Blue Bombers and the Cycles went unplayed when only two Bombers and seven Cycles showed up. It was not known last night what the Nelson Softball Association officials would do about it.

The next league game is slated for Wednesday evening when the Bombers play Savoy Hotel. A loss for the Bombers will knock them out of the running for a playoff berth.

The Chicago Nationals are due in 1941. They have won a pennant every third year starting in 1929.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 24 (AP). —Brooklyn Dodgers announced today Pitcher Van Lingle Mungo has been placed on the voluntarily retired list and will go to Baltimore this week to consult with surgeons concerning a possible operation on his arm.

Senior C.Y.O. Is Back In Lead of Church Softball

A six-run splurge in the fourth inning gave Senior C. Y. O. a 13-10 victory over Trinity and sole possession of first place in the Nelson Church Softball League's men's division at the Junior High Monday evening. Previously the two teams were tied for the leadership with Junior C. Y. O. close behind in third place.

Les Trainor went the route for the winners, and got by except for trouble in the middle innings, third to fifth inclusive. He struck out 11 men, one more than his mound opponent, Ernie Colman, who last Friday had pitched Trinity into the first place tie.

Pete Kuntz exploded a home run for the Catholics, and Bud Emery and Jack Clements each hit for the circuit for the Trinity nine.

Score by innings:

Leafs, Redmen Offer to Play for Red Cross

The players of the Nelson and Rossland senior lacrosse teams have placed their services at the disposal of the Red Cross for a pair of home-and-home games for war patriotic purposes in the first week of July, Mayor N. C. Stibbs, President of the Nelson Maple Leafs, said Monday night.

A game will be played in the open air Rossland box Dominion Day for sure, and a return game is likely in Nelson the following Thursday, according to tentative arrangements. It is believed that both games would draw well, because besides special attractions for the games, there would be a large influx of visitors in each city on the two days. Many Americans would be in town on the night the Nelson game is played since it is an American holiday.

These games will be played during the interval between the first and second halves of the West Kootenay Lacrosse League.

Colman Pitches Trinity to Win

Registering 15 strikeouts, Ernie Colman hurled a 15-3 victory for Trinity over Junior C. Y. O. at the Junior High Friday evening that stretched Trinity's second place lead over their evening's opponents to three points, and enabled the winners to climb into a temporary tie at the top of the Nelson Church Softball League with Senior C. Y. O.

Colman pitched a fine game for Trinity, permitting single runs to be scored in the fourth, sixth and seventh innings. George Frocklage worked on the mound for the Catholics, and held Trinity to two runs in four innings, but then a nine-run storm broke loose in the fifth frame. From then on Trinity merely coasted to victory.

Frocklage had eight strikeouts to his credit, but he was combed for a home run by Ted Huyck.

Score by innings:

Trinity	101 091 102—15
Jr. C. Y. O.	000 101 001— 3

Lineups follow:

Calgary Stamps Sign Brother Clint Smith

CALGARY — Biff Smith, colorful defence player from Yorkton Terriers of the Saskatchewan Senior League, has been signed to a Calgary Stampeder contract for the 1940-41 hockey season, it was announced this morning by Marty Burke, coach of the Calgary club.

Smith is 27 years of age, stands five feet 10½ inches, and weighs 172 pounds. He was the highest scoring defenceman in the Saskatchewan loop last Winter with 24 points. Near the close of the season, as the Terriers drove their way to first place in the league, he filled practically a 60-minute role.

In 1937-38, Smith was with Perth Black Hawks, who lost the Scottish championship by just one goal. The following season he played with Dundee Tigers, who won their league title and the Scottish championship as well.

Clint Smith, star centre of New York Rangers, is a brother of Biff.

NAZIS CLAIM FORCE OF 22,000 SURRENDERS; GAIN MUCH BOOTY

BERLIN, June 24 (AP). — The German High Command today issued the following special communique:

"Surrounded enemy forces on the Donon River in the Vosges laid down their arms at noon today. Over 22,000 prisoners, among them one commanding general of an army corps, three divisions commanders, and about 1000 officers and 12 entire artillery units, including six motorized, fell into our hands in tremendous booty."

BERLIN, June 24 (AP). — Today's German communique:

"The Atlantic coast was occupied as far as the mouth of the Gironde. La Rochelle and Rochefort were taken.

"Farther East the region North of Poitiers was reached. Among the tremendous amount of steadily growing booty a big store, with artillery munitions, fell into our hands here.

"In Alsace-Lorraine a number of scattered enemy groups surrendered and additional fortifications of the Maginot Line were taken.

"Southeast of Lyons our troops are breaking through enemy resistance to advance toward Grenoble and Chambery.

"During the night of June 23-24 our speedboats off Dunjeness sank an armed English steamer of 3500 tons and another steamer of 8000 tons. One U-boat reported sinking 23,500 registered tons of shipping.

BAG BRITISH PLANES?

"The activity of the Air Force was limited to North Sea reconnaissance. German chasers bagged two British fighting planes at Calais. Of about nine British altplanes which in the afternoon attempted to enter the Netherlands, six were shot down by chasers and anti-aircraft fire.

"Under the protection of heavy clouds, two or three of seven planes penetrated as far as Westphalia where they bombed the cottages of the little village of Wieschenbeofen and machine-gunned the tenants. Two civilians were severely injured and four others slightly wounded.

"During the night the enemy continued flights into Northern and Western Germany. Bombs dropped at many places on non-military targets caused material damage, killed a number of people and injured civilians. Several bombs fell on a prisoners' camp on the Baltic coast, killing and injuring a number of Frenchmen.

(While London officials did not comment on these fantastic claims, it was recalled that the Germans have persistently accused the R. A. F. of attacking civilians, apparently in an effort to justify similar action by the Germans.)

Troops Gain "Notable Successes" in Offensives Italians Claim

ROME, June 24 (AP). — Today's Italian communique:

"Further raids were carried out in Macasca yesterday. Two buildings were destroyed and several fires started.

"Active reconnaissance took place on other fronts. Despite strong enemy fortifications in high mountains and strong enemy resistance as well as bad weather conditions, our offensive could not be held by the enemy and our troops gained notable successes.

"A series of forts were taken: Brancon, Isere, Tiriere and others.

"The advance of Italian troops is being continued on all fronts, our troops penetrating into enemy fortifications and threatening him from the rear.

(The French communique said that in the Alps Italian attacks "were broken by our advance posts and nowhere reached our line of resistance.")

CLAIM SUB SUNK

"In the Southern part of the Tyrrhenian Sea an enemy submarine was sunk by our submarine chasers.

"Italian aviation carried out intense activity despite unfavorable atmospheric conditions.

"The bases of Malta and the arsenal of Bizerte were bombed. Two Italian planes failed to return.

"In Nortir Africa' the bases of Mersa and Matruh were attacked and British formations of troops and tanks were bombed. All our planes returned to their bases.

"In East Africa the bases of Jibuti and Berbera and enemy troops at Kenya were successfully attacked. Enemy raids on Massowa, Assab and Diredawa were driven off.

("Considerable damage was done to barracks" in these raids on Ethiopia, said an R. A. F. announcement in Cairo.)

"Yesterday afternoon enemy planes bombed Palermo without damage to military objectives, but 25 persons were killed nd 153 injured. One enemy plane was brought down by anti-aircraft gunfire."

Italians Suffer Heavy Losses in Attack on French

BORDEAUX, June 24 (AP)—The French high command reported today that Italian attacks in the Alps had been thrown back with "serious losses."

At the same time "lively fighting" was reported in the environs of St. Etienne, 31 miles Southwest of Lyon, as the Germans continued to drive Southward through France.

Another German colmun, advancing along the Rhone Valley, was said to have reached the region of Culoz, 3 miles Southwest of Geneva and 48 miles East of Lyon.

MR. LINDGREN TO MAKE LAST VISIT TO ROSSLAND FRIDAY; GOING SEATTLE

Rev. Earl E. Lindgren, with other members of the Scandinavian Quartette of CKLN Radio Nelson singers, will pay his last visit to Rossland Friday evening. With Mrs. Lindgren, he leaves about September 1 for Seattle, where he has been transferred by the Scandinavian Church. They have been in Nelson almost eight years.

Others making the trip to Rossland and Trail will be Mrs. Sylvia Laakso, Mrs. Knute Franklin, Miss Annie Busk, of the radio entertainers, and Mrs. Helga Saare. From 2:15 to 2:45 the quartette will broadcast over CJAT Trail in Mr. Lindgren's final broadcast there. In the evening they will go to Rossland for a picnic supper, musical program and meeting in the Gospel Hall.

"WIN THE WAR" SHOWS TO BE HELD JULY 15

TORONTO, June 24 (CP)—Special gala performances in Canadian theatres from coast to coast under auspices of the motion picture industry's "Win the War Campaign" will be held Monday, July 15, the industry's campaign committee announced today

The performances, designed to push the sale of war savings stamps and certificates, will be held at the conclusion of the regular evening shows, entire expenses to be borne by the industry.

There will be no charge for admission, but patrons will be asked to purchase as many war savings stamps as possible. A minimum of two 25-cent stamps will entitle the purchaser to receive a complimentary ticket to the special performance. Stamps remain the property of the patrons.

When first planned, it was suggested that the special performance be held on a Sunday, but the campaign committee decided to stage the show on a week-day in order not to offend any section of any Canadian community.

Island Is to Vote Wet or Dry Today

CHARLOTTETOWN, June 24 (CP). — Last stronghold of prohibition in Canada, Prince Edward Island voters will decide tomorrow whether it remains dry or relaxes its rigid liquor law to permit the sale of beer and wine as beverages.

The old law provided that no alcoholic liquors of any kind may be bought without a doctors' prescription. The proposed alternative would be Government-controlled sale of beers and wine.

FRENCH MEMBERS ATTACK BRITAIN'S "FAILURE TO UNDERSTAND;" CHARGES FAILED IN PROMISES TO AID FRANCE

BORDEAUX, June 24 (AP).—A member of the French Government, in an appeal for understanding in the United States, declared today that France's decision to seek peace with Germany and Italy was taken with full independence of action.

The statement disavowed all former members of the Government who fled the country and urged Frenchmen not to continue resistance by forming a factional Government in London, which, it declared, would only create dissension.

ASK UNDERSTANDING AND RESPECT

In a seven-page apologia, the member of the Government said:

"We ask our friends in America to try to understand France's immense sadness. We do not seek to hide the errors of our country.

"We regret that certain members of the British Government criticize us unjustly. We wish our English friends to respect our sadness and examine their own conscience."

The Minister asserted that Britain, before the war, had promised to send into France 26 divisions (some 390,000 men). Instead, he declared, while France kept men 48 years old under arms, Britain had not yet mobilized men of 28.

He said that last March a French newspaper delegation went to Britain and found proof that the war effort was "insufficient."

The British, the Minister added, carried on a "traditional" form of warfare. On the eve of the great German offensive, he asserted, Britain still appeared to be unruffled, relying on her navy and air force and carrying on a "business as usual" policy with 500,000 jobless men still on her hands.

PETAIN CRITICIZED

By D. E. BURRITT

LONDON, June 24 (CP-Cable)—Marshal Henri Petain, who two weeks ago was heralded as a venerable warrior conscripted to help stem the Nazi tide, bore the brunt of bitter castigation in The Evening Press today for his part in the armistice.

The papers shared in the opinion that no peace is in store for France and The Evening Standard suggested that the armistice was a "declaration of unending war, war to be waged by all the contrivances of the Gestapo against any who dare recall that they once were Frenchmen."

The Star said "senile Petain" may accept peace terms but the "virile spirit of France never will do so." It added: "There is a smell of death in this disgusting, disgraceful surrender. . . It is an appalling tragedy that the most civilized country in Europe should be under the heel of the most barbarian. . . But it is a worse disaster to the spirit of man that a noble democracy like France should be sold by a wretched Judas gang of pro-Fascists and Quisling politicians. . . Take warning from this, Britons all."

The Evening News was the mildest of the three evening papers and, after describing the armistice as a "betrayal", found encouragement in the fact that "millions of brave, determined Frenchmen are refusing to accept a brief respite from the horrors of war at the price of the enslavement of their land."

Lonely Soldier Looks for Friends at the Calgary Depot

CALGARY, June 24 (CP)—A familiar face at the Canadian Pacific Railway depot for the past few weeks has been that of a lonely Seaforth Highlander who meets every train he can, in hopes he will spy some friend passing through from Vancouver.

The soldier doesn't know a soul in Calgary. So every night he's free he goes down to the depot. In all his trips he has only found one former acquaintance, a girl with whom he attended school.

St. Paul's Says Farewell to Old Church Friends

Mr. and Mrs. John Stobo, for many years residents of Nelson were honored at a farewell party by members of the congregation of St. Paul's United Church and other friends at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Foster Hilliard before their departure for Toronto Saturday night. About 40 attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Stobo will stop in Cranbrook to visit Mrs. Stobo's sister, Mrs. Glendenning, before proceeding to Toronto where they will make their home.

On behalf of the Women's Association of the Church, Mrs. J. A. Wilson, President, presented the guests of honor with two framed views of Nelson. Mrs. Stobo responded, stating that they were sorry to leave Nelson where they had so many friends.

ACTIVE WORKERS

Mrs. Stobo was an active worker in church circles, and Mr. Stobo some years ago was Superintendent of the Sunday School, besides being a member of the Board of Stewards.

Mr. Stobo was Master Builder at the Canadian Pacific Railway shipyards for about 20 years, retiring two years ago. He was succeeded by J. A. Curran.

Mrs. Angus Shaw and Mrs. Hector Mackenzie poured tea. Mrs. Robert Smillie and Mrs. R. A. Peebles served tea. Those who prepared the refreshments were Mrs. W. G. Stewart and Mrs. Bella Tait.

NOT TO IDENTIFY UNITS OF MEN ON CASUALTY LISTS

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP)—Canadian soldiers overseas mentioned in casualty lists will not be identified with their units, but with the territorial regiments in which their units are grouped for recruiting and reinforcement purposes, it was learned today.

This became apparent when a casualty list naming three men as dangerously ill was issued. An engineer was identified as belonging to Royal Canadian Engineers, but his company was not given, and two infantry men were identified as belonging to the British Columbia Regiment and the Alberta Regiment, their battalions not being given.

This is in accord with the policy of keeping secret the location and activities of units sent overseas.

Wires Suggest U. S. Take Over French Colonies as Payment

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—The White House has referred to the State Department "several hundred telegraphs and letters" suggesting that the United States take over the French merchant marine, or some possessions as payments on France's war debt of the First Great War.

Stephen Early, Presidential Secretary, said today the communications had been received since the collapse of France.

He said he had no information on reports that a libel might be filed against the French liner Normandie for dockage charges in New York harbor.

"Empire Will Fight and Win" — Menzies

MELBOURNE, June 24 (CP-Reuters) — "Even if the British Empire is left to fight alone, it will still fight and win," Prime Minister R. G. Menzies of Australia said today. "I cannot believe this (the armistice) means the end of French resistance everywhere."

ranby Prepared Build Smelter If Japan Sales End

Cinderella Mine" Is Milling 4500 Tons Ore Daily

VANCOUVER, B. C.—A British lumbia copper property that e mining men considered "all shed up" four years ago is today nning 4500 tons of ore through its centrator daily, employing near- 300 persons with a payroll of 000,000 a year, and bringing to nada valuable foreign exchange rough export sales.

Copper Mountain, operated by the anby Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Power Company, is British lumbia's "Cinderella mine," the g neglected ore body that is now ming into its own in spectacular shion.

When members of the Vancouver ard of Trade visited the mine ring their swing around the Okanagan into the Princeton area they arned something about the Granby property's unwritten history m C. H. Locke, K.C., a Director the company, and from C. A. tchell, Assistant General Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, whose cooperation helped to t the mine on its feet again. And om A. S. Baillie, Vice-President d General Manager of Granby, ey heard that Copper Mountain ill probably continue to be an important factor in B. C. mining for any years.

LANNING FOR MELTER

"We are trying to get into a position where we can play our part in more significant way," Mr. Baillie ld a dinner meeting at the mine.

He might have added—for it is longer a secret—that Granby is reparing itself for the situation at would be created should the resent contract with Japan be cancelled. Japan now buys Granby's ntire output, paying in U. S. funds. Japan passes out of the picture, ranby will build its own smelter a site already chosen and to hich a road has already been constructed. Because Granby does not roduce electrolytic copper and has cilities only for concentrating, its utput is not at present available r the Canadian or British governments for war purposes.

Forty-three years ago the Granby ompany was founded in Montreal, aking its name from a Quebec own; but not until some time later d Copper Mountain engage the ompany's attention. Primarily, the ranby interests operated in the old hoenix camp, with a smelter at rand Forks from 1897 to 1918. In 921 it went North to Anyox and uilt the big smelter there that as not dismantled until 1935.

Granby acquired Copper Mountain in 1924 after the Phoenix camp as closed. Formerly operated, not ery successfully, by the Canada opper Company, Charles Hayden nd Daniel Jackling played an important part in getting the property nder its new ownership.

Because of the high cost of operation and the low grade of its re, Copper Mountain in the early 0's was considered a poor risk r further development. "Most people regarded it as all washed up," ecalled Mr. Locke, who related ow increased copper prices had hanged the outlook in 1937 and induced Mr. Baillie and the late Nathan Amster to consider the property's possibilities in a new light.

OAL FOR OWER PLANT

Accessibility to large coal deposits to enable the plant to operate n its own power was a big factor n persuading the company to refrain from a winding-up order previously sought. A loan was raised and aillie began his difficult but amazingly competent job of rehabilitation, which so far has resulted in stepping up production from a maximum of 2500 tons a day to 4500, with power plant now being extended to make 5000 the average daily output.

Mr. Cotterell with a smile refers to the Granby "show" as the story of two bluffers who made good, the bluffers being Baillie, whose job was to convince financiers and transportation men that Copper Mountain was worth while, and Locke, the legal strategist.

Mr. Cotterell's own attitude, he says, was one of frank skepticism, for he knew there were 27 bridges on the railroad to the mine, that 70,000 yards of material had fallen on the track since the mine was shut down, and that the property's past record had not been bright.

Yet Baillie's enthusiasm impressed him, and both Baillie and Locke were not to be put off easily. Eventually a deal was made for the reconditioning of the track, the mine was reopened and Granby became one of the Province's biggest payroll-makers.

Trade at New Low as Toronto Waits for Budget News

TORONTO, June 24 (CP). — Prices weakened moderately and trading dropped to a new volume low today on Toronto Exchange while the financial district awaited new budget announcements.

Abitibi pfd. was sold moderately with the price unchanged at 3¼ and the common weakened 10 cents to 50, a new low for this year. The Great Lakes Paper issues also lost ground. Utilities, senior oils and banks took losses and other groups were irregular. Fanny Farmer, Walkers common, Bell Telephone and Ford A declined ⅛ to ½. National Steel Car and Dominion Foundries were firmer spots in the steel group.

There was weakness in the secondary group. Sylvanite, Central Patricia, Chesterville, San Antonio and Hard Rock were lower. Pickle Crow, Little Long Lac and Macassa held narrowly to the up side.

Steep Rock firmed a cent or two and International Nickel added a minor fraction. Eldorado at 29¼ was down ¾ cent.

Wheat Recovers After Setback

CHICAGO, June 24 (AP).—Weekend rains in the Spring wheat belt caused only a temporary setback in the market today and after prices had slumped almost a cent they staged a recovery that wiped out most of the loss.

Although government purchases of wheat flour were believed to have been light, there was sufficient buying from milling interests to support prices much of the time. Continued slow movement of new wheat and reports of rust damage strengthened the market.

Wheat closed ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher compared with Saturday, July 79⅝—¾, September 79⅝—80; corn ⅛—1⅛ lower, July 61¾, September 60⅛; oats ⅜—⅛ lower.

Securities Cut

LONDON, June 24 (AP).—Securities prices were cut severely in the market today following news of the acceptance by France of German armistice terms. British Government bonds lost an outside of 1 point while foreign loans held steady. Industrials declined on a rallying attempt in kaffirs failed. Domestic rails levelled off after morning recessions.

New Permit for Canadian Autos at the Border

In order to facilitate the movement of tourists and to expedite the handling of thousands of automobiles at border points, a new permit form, known as E-60, has been approved by Hon. J. L. Ilsley, and issued by the Department of National Revenue to its Collectors governing the exit and entry of Canadian automobiles. This new form replaces the old forms in use for years, known as C12 and C12 Special. The new form E-60 is issued in the form of a small two-leaved card, the exact size of a motor vehicle permit, and contains space for certain information to be supplied by the Canadian tourist responsible, as to make of car, year and serial number and whether or not the automobile contains a heater, radio, spotlight, seat covers or other extra equipment. The card must be dated and signed by the tourist who also fills in his home address. A Customs Verification Stamp is applied, together with his signature, by the Customs-Excise officer who examines the car. Unlike the former C12, the E-60 card is retained by the Canadian motorist, and is carefully checked by a Customs officer, each time of exit from or entry into Canada, for any changes in the car's equipment, etc.

If additional equipment is installed and when Provincial Motor Vehicle Permit expires, a new Identification Form E-60 is required.

HOW MUCH SPENT

Accompanying form E-60 is a slip of paper known as form E-60A containing three questions which returning Canadians are requested to answer for the use of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics in estimating total tourist travel and travel expenditures. The questions are:

1. Number of persons in your car including driver; 2. Length of stay in the United States; 3. Approximate total amount spent in the United States on this visit by you and those in your car for all purposes (examples: gas, oil, repairs, lodging, food, beverages, merchandise, amusements, etc.); Total $ ..... Indicate whether Canadian or United States dollars.

This information is required for statistical purposes only and no signature is necessary.

In order to ascertain the amount of money spent in Canada by United States and other tourists visiting the Dominion, a similar questionnaire is also presented to them. The sale of services and commodities to visiting tourists has become one of Canada's chief national industries. Most of this trade is, of course, between Canada and the United States, more people crossing that border than move over any other international boundary in the world.

HELP PAY DEBT

Because of the length of Canada's frontier and consequent wide diffusion of the tourist trade, it is a matter of great difficulty to establish the amounts spent by visitors in Canada, and by Canadians in other countries. Yet estimates must be made, and it is a matter of great importance that these be as accurate as it is possible to make them.

For example, Canada's net receipts of foreign exchange on international tourist account have been a substantial factor in enabling her to pay interest and principal on her foreign debt. The amount of these receipts is, therefore, a matter of direct interest to foreign investors. The existence of accurate estimates of tourist expenditures, compiled on the basis of adequate data, can be an important help in maintaining Canada's high credit rating abroad.

In time of war the need for accurate tourist statistics becomes particularly urgent.

Small Gains at New York Close

NEW YORK, June 24 (AP). — While unable to provide answers for the European war and domestic political questions, stock traders generally leaned slightly toward the bullish side in today's market.

At the close, gains of fractions to a point or so were fairly well distributed.

Transfers for the five hours were around 400,000 shares.

Speculative forces were none too happy over the reported terms of the German-Franch armistice. On the other hand business continued to act well and defence spending hopes remained a bolstering influence.

A drop of 1.2 points in this week's steel mill operations, first recession in nine weeks, failed to unsettle stocks in the metal group.

Up at one time or another were U. S. steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Douglas Aircraft, American Airlines, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Great Northern, American Smelting and Texas Corp.

Bonds tilted forward selectively.

The Canadian section was very quiet. Only Canadian Pacific and Walkers were active and they showed fractional losses.

U. S. STEEL MILLS DROP PRODUCTION THIS WEEK

NEW YORK, June 24 (AP). — Steel mills of the United States will trim operating schedules 1.2 points to 86.5 per cent of capacity this week, first reduction in nine weeks, the Ameriman Iron and Steel Institute estimated today.

This compared with 76.9 per cent a month ago and 54.3 per cent a year ago.

Steel circles said the decline was due primarily to suspension of activity on French orders.

17 Veins Opened, Canadian Belle Property at Hall

Canadian Belle Mining Company is proceeding with its development program according to schedule on its property near Hall, R. E. Lindquist of Spokane, President and Manager, reports.

Seventeen veins have been opened by open cuts and tunnels, 16 of them at right angles to the main vein. The number and situation of the veins is unusual but not without precedent in the Northwest. On the 300-level, a crosscut is being extended 70 feet to cut a large right-angle vein. The vein system dips at 70 degrees and the outcropping indicates that an ore supply for many years is available without sinking. It can be handled cheaply because of the nearly vertical position both of the veins and mountainside.

Widths of the veins are from 10 inches on the surface to six to eight feet at greater depths, Mr. Lindquist said. The values are from $22 to $27 a ton at the surface and returns from 16 tons of selected ore shipped to a custom mill at Nelson yielded $33.50 a ton. Great fortunes have been extracted from ores of a gilling grade of lower values and a steady and satisfactory profit is expected from this property, he said.

Four thousand feet of work will complete a road to the mine of which the government bears half of the expense.

A portable sawmill will be installed to cut lumber for the mines from a large supply of timber on the property.

Building Permits Are $945 in Week

Nine building permits totalling $945 were applied for at the City Engineer's office during the week ending Saturday. Largest of these was a permit for $400 to repair roof and interior fire damage at 816 Cedar Street. It was issued to T. H. Waters & Co., Ltd.

Other permits were issued to:

Rev. C. A. C. Story to install two ventilators in the Bethel Tabernacle, $20.

John Ahrens, to change windows from casement to sliding sash, and to stucco exterior, Baker Street, $100.

Lawrence Simpson, to remove old front porch and build new one for Alex Stewart, 720 Victoria Street, $190.

George F. Lynch, to excavate part of basement, 406 Gore Street, $40.

F. Romano, 127 Silica Street, to put shiplap in attic to keep out heat of sun, $30.

P. J. Cote, to renew floor on front and back verandahs, 221 Behnsen Street, $20.

War Picture as Armistice Signed

While their leaders pondered peace terms, these French armies tried to keep Germans and Italians from over-running the country. 1—One army retreated slowly in the lower Seine area to protect Brest. Nazis claimed capture of Cherbourg. 2—Another army held a line along the Loire River. 3—Troops once in Maginot line tried to anchor new defence line in the Jura Mountains on the Franco-Swiss border. 4—The French army along the Italian Alp frontier was intact. 5—Germans tried to capture 400,000 Poilus reported still trapped in Maginot line area. German and British bombers exchanged raids across the English channel (A), mass flights of French planes headed for Africa (B) and 19 German planes were reported shot down in a great aerial battle off Nice (C).

Arabs Pro-Ally but May Change, Says Dixon at Rotary; Tells of Customs

Heavy troop and warship concentrations at Alexandria and in Italy gave travellers an uneasy feeling of tenseness and a fear that Italy might declare war, thereby interning British travellers in Italian ports, said Harold Dixon, Mining Engineer, who returned recently from King Solomon Gold Mines at Saudi, Arabia, when he told Nelson Rotarians at their luncheon meeting Monday of Arabian customs and the climate, and his journey home.

The harbor at Alexandria was packed with warships, and troops from Australia and New Zealand were everywhere. There were also an estimated 500,000 from India, but Mr. Dixon believed this figure was exaggerated. There were also 1,600,000 French foreign troops in Syria. Italian harbors were crowded with light, fast ships. Officers on the American ship on which he was travelling, however, said that the Italian ships were lightly armed and could not stand up to a battle close at hand.

Arabian tribes were pro-British and to some extent, pro-American, but Mr. Dixon feared they might turn from the Allies if the Axis powers offered them more financial enticement than the Allies could offer. Anti-Jewish raids on Jerusalem by the Arabs had fallen off since the beginning of war as the Jews and Mohammedans had shelved their differences for the duration.

COUNTRY HOT

Saudi was in Central Arabia and was dry and hot. Summer lasted from April to November with the temperature ranging from 100 to 120 degrees Fahrenheit. The minimum temperature was from 80 to 90 degrees. The Winters were a little cooler than Nelson's Winters. The climate was depressing on white men both physically and mentally, and they were not allowed to stay more than two Summers without a rest.

The King had supreme command, with a number of Ministers under him. As the religion was Mohammedism, rules against Christians were stringent. It meant the loss of a hand if one were convicted of stealing, and the loss of a foot if convicted of stealing from pilgrims going to Mecca. There was no expert surgery used in removing the limbs. Maraudings of large bands of bandits had been almost stopped in the past few years by the stringent laws.

The Mohammedans were devout in form, and halted work three times daily to pray in normal times and five times daily during a celebration. There was nothing that the mine operators could do about it. About 1½ hours of work were lost each day through the prayers. All those praying prostrated themselves toward Mecca, the centre of religion, as Jerusalem was to Christians.

MINES 2000 YEARS OLD

There were about 30 white men at the King Solomon Mines. From workings in the mines, it was believed they had first been worked about 2000 years ago and were believed to be a source of some of King Solomon's gold reserves. The ancient workers mined the ore by heating the quartz with fire and then cracking it off by putting cold water on it. There were no forests in close proximity and charcoal for the fires was brought from the Jordan Valley far to the North. When the ore was mined, it was ground. Tailings from the ancient workings were about 60 feet deep at one end, tapering to nothing at the other end, and covered an area about 1½ miles square. There was enough to put through a 100 ton mill for about 10 years.

In the ancient days, it was all slave labor and nowadays skeletons turned up in the tailings. The white men had to stand by and remove the skeletons for if an Arabian workman saw a skeleton he would regard the ground as holy and would not disturb it further.

CUSTOMS DIFFERENT

"The customs and laws are remarkably different from ours," Mr. Dixon said. The Arabs were for the most part nomadic desert tribes, driving their flocks of sheep, goats, camels and so on from village to village. Villages covered no more than four square miles and were situated wherever there was any arable land. This arable land was only where the water could be raised from the rivers.

The "pure" Arabs were slowly being educated, but no provision was made for education of the Bedouins.

An Arab was legally permitted four wives and a number of concubines or slave girls. All women were veiled and no white or Arab man must look upon them unveiled. When a man left his house for the day he locked the women indoors and locked up all the food. Mr. Dixon told of a woman whose veil caught fire while she was cleaning clothes with gasoline. She was locked in the house and a group of men gathered but dare not enter. They tried to throw water through the cracks in the walls. Finally a white doctor broke down the door and carried the woman to hospital where she later died. But no matter whether the men had entered the house to rescue her, and if she had lived, her husband would have divorced her for she would have been seen by men unveiled.

To demonstrate the rigidity of Arab rule, he said that a band of about 300 robbers had been caught robbing pilgrims. The King had sent a regiment to wipe out the band, leaving only an old man and a young boy to tell the tale to following tribes.

BELCH FOR SATISFACTION

The present King had few Western ideas except the use of money and he was fond of the American dollar. The only real natural resources were gold and oil. There was little agriculture. The main staples of diet were mutton and rice, the latter brought from India. Dates were mixed with sugar to make a "sticky mess," the Arabs being fond of using a great deal of sugar. Their tea, which was actually far removed from the tea of the Western world, was about half sugar and half water with a little tea in it. The coffee they drank, which was made with a great ceremony, was delicious. The coffee beans were brought in from Coca, at some distance, and were ground while the guest waited, a sort of chant or singing progressing all the while. After a small cup of coffee, the usual custom was, if one had enjoyed the coffee, to emit a satisfied belch, which was a sign of appreciation. Then the host filled the cup several times.

President George A. Hoover thanked Mr. Dixon on behalf of the club for his address.
