RUSS PUSH OVER MINE FIELDS TO NEW SUCCESSES

U.S.-Made Aircraft Aid in Hurling Back Huns

GALES BATTLED

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Feb. 9 (AP). — Aided by United States-made planes, the Russians hurled the Germans back for new and smashing gains on both ends of the 1500-mile front today and Soviet authorities announced the capture of "one village after another" from German forces floundering Westward in disordered retreat.

Slashing through vast, hastily-laid German mine fields Red forces made their most important gains in the Donets Basin where the German withdrawal appeared to be taking on the appearance of a rout.

The drive in this area was all the more impressive because Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's men were battling the Nazis through heavy snowstorms whipped by gale-like winds.

Farther to the South in the battle for the Sevastopol port alone Soviet commanders declared the Germans have lost upwards of 40,000 men killed and wounded.

In the North, the Russians announced that during the last few days the Red army surge had liberated more than 30 villages, destroyed two battalions of German infantry, wiped out a big headquarters and captured important enemy staff documents.

In this area the Germans were falling back rapidly, fighting stubborn rearguard actions. The heaviest fighting raged in the Kalinin sector, where large German forces were trapped in the recent Soviet drive above and below the city.

Additional gains were registered on the central front where the uninterrupted drive toward Smolensk blasted the Germans from 18 more localities between that Nazi-held strong point and Moscow.

A supreme German effort to halt the Russian offensive along the whole front from Leningrad to the Black Sea even at the risk of encirclement of large forces in strongly fortified points, was indicated as Hitler rushed air-borne reinforcements to the Northern front and savagely counter-attacks at many points.

Evidence that the Germans were gambling desperately on retention of their advance bases for a spring offensive was seen in a Berlin claim that the Nazis had fought their way Eastward into the Western outskirts of Mozhaisk, important centre 87 miles Southwest of Moscow from which they were ejected weeks ago.

NEW JAP THRUST AGAIN DEFEATED IN PHILIPPINES

Direct Hits Scored on Concealed Jap Batteries

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—The big guns of Manila Bay's forts and Gen. Douglas MacArthur's land forces jolted a renewed Japanese effort to crush the stubborn defence of the Philippines, the United States War Department reported today.

Heavy artillery of Corregidor and other offshore island fortifications put out of action several hidden batteries of enemy siege guns, while MacArthur's men repulsed in heavy fighting a series of Japanese assaults on the Bataan peninsula.

The forts scored direct hits, a communique reported, on several of the concealed and scattered batteries which from the south shore of the bay had been pounding at Corregidor and other harbor defences for three days.

BEAT OFF ATTACKS

On the peninsula fighting front, where Japanese attacks have been frustrated repeatedly during the last month, the little American-Filipino army beat off several attempts at penetration and infiltration such as have often preceded mass assaults.

Hostile dive bombers were active over the defence lines, the war department said, without mentioning the guerilla force of American fighter planes which several times have scored aerial victories.

Destruction of the enemy siege batteries appeared a substantial triumph in the duel which has been developing since enemy guns on the shore of Cavite Province loosed their initial heavy bombardment on Saturday.

SWEPT BY FIRE, NORMANDIE LEFT LISTING IN MUD

Welder's Torch Starts Blaze; 110 Taken to Hospital

ONE MAN KILLED

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP) — Sparks form a welding torch, landing on life preservers, touched off a fire today which roared through the upper three decks of the former French liner Normandie, once the pride of the French merchant marine.

As the crackling flames were under control at about 6 p.m., after 3½ hours battle by firemen, the $60,000,000 vessel, now the U. S. navy auxiliary Lafayette, listed 16 degrees to port in her berth.

To counter balance the weight of the tons of water pressing her to port, Rear Admiral Adolphus Andrews, commandant of the Third Naval District, ordered a hole chopped into her starboard side and water pumped into the ship's starboard tank.

He would make no estimate of the damage.

The Admiral said the hole was hacked into the Normandie's side after we thought first that it would be best to sink the ship by scuttling her. A plan to open seacocks was abandoned in prefrence for the other method.

Although about 2200 workmen and Navy personnel wer aboard when the fire started, only one workman was known to have ben killed. He was Frank Trentacoss 36, who died in Roosevelt Hospital of a fractured skull and internal injuries suffered when he jumped from a deck to the pier.

At least 110 persons were hospitalized and about the same number treated for less serious burns and injuries.

Fear was expressed in first reports of the fire that 200 men were trapped deep in the vessel but Andrews said after an inspection trip of the smoke scarred interior that no bodies were found.

Following a survey of the vessel, the admiral said "there is nothing to indicate sabotage."

Kai-Shek Goes to India Talks

NEW DELHI, India, Tuesday, Feb. 10 (AP). — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek has arrived in India with his staff officers for consultations, and his meeting with the British and India officials was hailed by the viceroy as one "which bodes our enemy no good and this they will soon learn to their cost."

The announcement today of Chiang's arrival said he had come for talks with the government and especially the commander-in-chief. Chiang is the United Nations' supreme commander of all land and air forces in the Chinese theatres of war.

Meighen Says Gov't. C.C.F. Partnership Cause of His Defeat

TORONTO, Feb. 9 (CP)—Conservative Leader Arthur Meighen said tonight in conceding the election of J. W. Noseworthy, C.C.F. candidate in a York South byelection, that he was "defeated by a partnership of the Dominion Government and the C.C.F., with the Government dictating and directing the whole character of the campaign."

"I want it known that I spared no effort, certainly no sacrifice, and gave all in me. I did everything proper to win the election and am grateful to the many Liberals who supported me. I know what they had to contend with.

"Also thanks to the Premier of Ontario for his earnest efforts on my behalf."

BATAVIA RAIDED BY JAPS; MORE GAINS IN BORNEO

Big Oil Centre in Sumatra Is Bombed

BATAVIA, N.E.I., Feb. 9 (AP). —Japanese planes, making their first invasion stab at this rich Netherlands Indies capital today, inflicted damage on grounded aircraft and wounded 11 civilians, but failed to pierce a heavy barrage thrown up over the vital harbor area, the Netherlands command said.

At least one and possibly two of the six to eight raiders were reported shot down, while two Netherlands passenger planes and some military aircraft at the Kemajoran and Tjilitan airports were damaged by machine-gun fire.

The capital's streets and suburbs also were machine-gunned.

Casualties were light compared with the reported toll of 51 persons killed and 54 wounded in Sunday's attack on Surabaya.

Japanese aerial activity was reported from other parts of Java and Borneo, and in Sumatra to the West where the big oil centre of Palembang was bombed again.

In Borneo, Japanese patrols were said to be pushing South from the charred oil port of Balik Papan on the Eastern coast "apparently planning to reach Bandjermasin," on the South shore not far from Macassar Strait.

BRITISH LAUNCH COUNTER-ATTACK AGAINST JAPS

Fight Rages Through Singapore Swamps and Plantations

SITUATION WELL IN HAND—BENNETT

SINGAPORE, Feb. 9 (AP) — Singapore City anxiously awaited this evening the outcome of a counter attack launched this afternoon by Imperial troops against the strong Japanese force that has landed along a 5000-yard stretch of the Northwest coast of this island under cover of darkness and a powerful artillery barrage.

Early this evening British headquarters had no word of results in the attempt to push the Japanese back toward the mud beaches whence they filtered eastward, pushing back the defenders in some places.

But throughout the afternoon observers saw Japanese planes bombing and strafing positions in the sector where British and Japanese are locked in bitter struggle amid rubber trees, palm groves and mangrove swamps.

By YATES McDANIEL

SINGAPORE, Feb. 9 (AP) — The Imperial British line, breached by strong Japanese landings on a 10-mile stretch of western Singapore island reformed today and counter attacks in a supreme effort to cast out and destroy the first invaders ever to set foot upon this outpost of empire in the 133 years of its existence.

The Australians, into whose positions the enemy had thrust under artillery fire in the darkness held the forward British sectors and their commander Maj.-Gen Henry Gordon Bennett, thus summed up late in the day:

"The situation is well in hand."

"We have taken a stand on a strong line and are organizing an attack which it is hoped will recover as much as possible of the lost terrain."

The enemy had landed from especially equipped boats on the North-West coast of the island between 11 last night and 1 o'clock this morning. He was favored by almost utter darkness; the half moon did not rise until an hour after midnight.

Using the same infiltration tactics with which he had taken the whole Malayan Peninsula, the invader had strewn his forces in the area from the mouth of the Kranji estuary along the Northern shore of Pasir Laba along the West coast.

JAPS LOSE HEAVILY

The invaders' troops lost heavily under a storm of British artillery fire.

Through the thick mangrove swamps and rubber plantations the defenders and attackers today crept in a kind of primitive elemental warfare and overhead the powerful artillery and aviation of modern times freighted the hot, tropical sky with heavy explosives.

The day and hour were fateful. The great necessity of the defenders was to cut up these first Japanese invading forces lest others be landed before another dawn.

The enemy's early assaults were concentrated in the Western section of the island, where the more vulnerable points were protected by barbed wire mazes and other such obstacles.

JAPS MAY HAVE SET UP CACHES ON COAST MAYHEW TELLS HOUSE

OTTAWA, Feb. 9 (CP)—R. W. Mayhew (Lib-Victoria) complimented the Government in the House of Commons tonight on many phases of the war effort but said this praise would have to stop short of the handling of the Japanese situation.

"Japanese are roaming at will on the Pacific coast," Mr. Mayhew said. He said it was quite possible that Japanese fishing boats, supplied by ships far at sea, had cached supplies of arms and war materials along the thousands of miles of coastline in British Columbia.

BRITISH RETURN TO OFFENSIVE ON LIBYA FRONT

R.A.F. Attacks Army as Far West as Tripoli

By EDWARD KENNEDY

CAIRO, Feb. 9 (AP) — Their desert lines finally stabilized after a 250-mile retreat, British forces returned to offensive tactics today by sending out mobile columns to probe the area west of Ain El Gazala and about El Mechili.

The forces of Britain engaged infantry and artillery units as far as 12 miles west of Ain El Gazala and 35 miles west of Tobruk, said today's communique.

Other patrols were reported active in the El Mechili area, 60 miles southwest of Tobruk in the vital crossroads area which guards the shortcut to the British rear as well as the German rear. The communique did not make clear who holds El Mechili.

The Royal Air Force maintained its steady attacks on Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces, blasting at his drawn-out communication lines all the way back to Tripoli.

The R.A.F. made a long-range attack on Salamis, near Athens, Greece, blasting the naval dockyard, munitions factories and submarine wharves, and also started fires at Menidi airdrome near Athens.

The raid on Tripoli resulted in three hits on shipping in the harbor despite a newly developed smoke screen put up by the Italians.

British Stabilize Front in Burma

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 9 (AP). —British forces, aided by Chinese and Indian reinforcements, have stabilized their Burma front along the Salween River, it appeared today, and still are holding the Japanese invaders in check some 100 miles short of their major objective of Rangoon.

A communique from Imperial headquarters mentioned no change in the position along the Salween and made it clear that British forces not only are breaking the invader's attempt to force crossings in heavy strength but still occupied the East bank in the Paan area about 30 miles North of fallen Moulmein.

The 101st aerial combat victory for the United States volunteer group was confirmed.

FOUR JAP BOATS MAY BE USED FOR FIREBOATS

TORONTO, Feb. 9 (CP)—The defeat of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen and the election of his C.C.F. opponent, J. W. Noseworthy, to the House of Commons for York South was conceded shortly after 9 o'clock tonight with the Conservative leader trailing by 1700 votes.

The election of Mr. Noseworthy represented a gain by the C.C.F. from the Conservatives.

The last returns before Mr. Meighen conceded defeat from his campaign headquarters were from 147 of the 211 polls in the Constituency, giving Mr. Noseworthy 12,973 votes to 11,273 for Mr. Meighen. These were unofficial figures and the Returning Officer's official count for 158 polls, available shortly after, showed an even greater lead for Mr. Noseworthy—12,372 to 8,861.

Mr. Noseworthy, Toronto school teacher, became the first member of the C.C.F. to be elected to the House from Ontario and gave his party a total of nine seats in the Federal House.

ELECT LABOR MINISTER

WELLAND, Ont., Feb. 9 (CP) — Hon. Humphrey Mitchell was elected to the House of Commons in the Welland byelection today but before the result of the bitterly-fought campaign became known, the newly appointed federal labor minister was taken to hospital in Niagara Falls, suffering from possible pneumonia.

His election was conceded by Douglas Watt, Independent candidate supported by Premier Hepburn, Ontario's Liberal Premier, at 10 o'clock. At that time 211 of 245 polls gave Mr. Mitchell, the Liberal candidate, 10,936 votes, Mr. Watt 9,528 and Mr. Kriluck, C.C.F. 5,488.

From his hospital room, Mr. Mitchell issued a statement saying "the voice of Welland has spoken for unity and loyalty to the skipper on the bridge."

The new Member of Parliament drew his greatest opposition from Raoul Perillard, representing the newly-formed anti-conscription Canadian party. Next in line was Liberal Marcel Ostiguy, with Liberal Emile Naud in fourth position.

Urges Review of Canada's Political Structures; Neill Asks Union Gov't

OTTAWA, Feb. 9 (CP)—William H. Moore (Lib. Ontario) urged today in the House of Commons a careful review of Canada's political structure which, he said, is undergoing changes comparable to those which have occurred in Fascist countries.

The veteran member, who is a student of and writer of economics and social science, criticized the government's proposal to hold a plebiscite to seek release from pledges against compulsory overseas military service but directed his sharpest barbs at government by order-in-council.

In his objections to the plebiscite he supported A. W. Neill (Ind. Comox-Alberni), another veteran member who called upon the government to enact conscription without a plebiscite, to form a union government and, if necessary, to exempt areas opposed to conscription from the compulsory system.

While these views were expressed in the debate on the Speech from the Throne Prime Minister Mackenzie King gave the house a brief preview of the legislation it will be asked to pass this session. The first measure after the present debate ends will provide for the taking of the plebiscite.

Other measures of the session will largely relate to the war effort and post-war conditions. They will deal with war appropriation bills, wheat marketing, land settlement, borrowing, deft refunding, and possibly amendments to the army, naval and air force laws.

A parliamentary committee will be set up to study redistribution which takes place every 10 years following the holding of a census.

Axis Spring Offensive Aimed at Suez and Gibraltar Is Predicted

By DREW MIDDLETON

LONDON, Feb. 9 (AP). — A great Spring offensive by the Axis to capture Suez and Gibraltar was predicted today by informed military experts.

The object would be to deprive the United Nations of two of the major bases on which Allied strategy rests.

Attacks by the German armies would be timed to coincide with the maximum Japanese effort against Singapore and Burma, in a vast pincer operation to them considerable British forces in treasure-laden India.

To combat these Axis schemes, the British forces would be forced to fight Field Marshal Rommel's African troops with forces now stationed in the Arabian regions.

Reinforcements either from Britain or the United States would be difficult because of the dearth of shipping forced by the spread of the war.

Nevertheless if the Germans aim a drive through Turkey or around the Northern shore of the Black Sea through the oil-rich Caucasus, military experts said reinforcements of British, American or Russian troops must be found.

They pointed out that Axis success against Gibraltar, Suez and Singapore would leave the Panama Canal, Pearl Harbor and the British Isles as the next objectives of the German war plan, rewritten in view of the successful Russian resistance.

These sources were confident that Rommel could be checked at the Egyptian border or before. They warned that when this occurred, the Germans would try to find another way around. The military experts said they believed Germany would attack through Turkey only as a last resort since an invasion would alienate millions of Moslems in Africa and Asia.

British relations with Turkey are "friendly". This was emphasized by the Turks own description. They termed their dealings with Germany as "correct."

The Turkish army, re-equipped since 1939, now is viewed as considerably stronger than last year when Germany's first Eastern thrust sent Nazi forces to within 100 miles of Istanbul.

Nelson Assessment Roll Is Reduced by $900; to Inspect Some Properties

Nelson's assessment roll of roughly $2,000,000 was reduced $900 Monday morning by the Civic Court of Revision, when that body, consisting of all the members of the City Council with Mayor N. S. Stibbs as Chairman, cut $600 from the assessment of the J. T. Bealby property at Three-Mile, in the Nelson School District, and cut $300 from the assessment of Wasil Melnechuk.

There is also a chance of adjustment on four other properties in respect to which regular appeals were entered, which the Court decided to inspect. Assessments as made by Assessor W. E. Wasson were confirmed in respect to the four remaining properties on which regular appeals had been made.

REDUCTIONS GRANTED

The Bealby assessment, on the unsubdivided west portion of District Lot 1316, was $1000 on land and $800 on improvements. Mr. Bealby's letter suggested a further reduction of $600 on the improvements, and this was granted.

Five lots on Chatham Street were assessed to Mr. Melnechuk at $680 for the land and $1800 on the improvements. Mr. Melnechuk figured the improvements were worth $1500 and this view was adopted by the Court with the concurrence of the Assessor.

Mrs. Ethel Adeline Jeffcott, with an assessment of $365 on her lot and $2800 on her house on Mill Street, claimed her taxes were three times what they were when she bought the property 28 years ago. As the assessment was not out of line with those of neighboring properties, it was confirmed.

George Kirby represented Mrs. Ida Thurman, in asking a reduction on both land and improvements, on her Victoria Street property, assessed at $1560 for the two lots, and $1140 for the house. It was decided to make inspection before taking action.

Reduction on improvements asked by Elvin Kraft was not granted. The house, on the corner of Delbruck and Kootenay streets, is assessed at $1400 and the two lots at $215.

Assessment was also confirmed on the property of Percy and Mary Jeffery on Hall Mines Road, at $250 for the land and $2500 for the improvements. It was the latter figure on which an appeal was made.

TO INSPECT PROPERTIES

The only appeal specifically on land was entered by William and Annie Lanskail, who figured $350 was nearer the value of their strip of land across five lots on Ward Street, than the $530 placed on it by Mr. Wasson. They did not object to the $2300 on improvements. The Court will view this property.

Edward and Isobel Boyes asked for $300 reduction on their Carbonate Street property, the land of which is assessed at $360. There will be an inspection.

Leslie and Jean Pickard claimed their property on Victoria Street, assessed at $400 for the lot and $3000 for improvements, was assessed above its sale value. There will also be an inspection in this case.

Five appeals entered too late, that is to say, not a clear 10 days before the first meeting of the Court, were received, respectively from James Gagnon, Silica Street; H. Mansfield, Innes Street; L. E. Staley, Carbonate Street; Mrs. Anna Lang, Victoria Street; and the owner of the old Wardale house on Mill Street.

In the Staley and Wardale cases, it was decided to inspect the properties to see if there was justification for making adjustments. In the other three cases, the assessments were confirmed.

Dodgers Get 7-7 Tie With F.A.C.

Dodger Bantams, youngest team of the Bantam Hockey League, and hitherto pointless, rose to unexpected heights Monay afternoon, to tie the F.A.C. Bantams 7-7 in the final game of the League schedule. Further, the Dodgers led the way, having the lead four times, once by three goals, the F.A.C.'s howevr, squaring the score four times, for a drawn result.

The game gave the Dodgers their first point in the League standings, and also settled the question of which team would get a bye for the Bantam Cup playdowns. Had the F.A.C.'s won as usual, the M.R.K.'s and F.A.C.'s would have had to toss a coin to settle that question. But the tie game leaves F.A.C.'s with 14 points, to M.R.K.'s 15, the remaining point going to the Dodgers. So the F.A.C.'s will meet the Dodgers Friday for the first game of the preliminary series for the Bantam Cup.

Fisher was the heavy gun of the F.A.C.'s, with four goals and an assist. Grimwood had two goals and E. Duffy one, while each of the Breits got an assist. Six Dodgers found the net, Choquette for two tallies, and MacDonald, Kennedy, Maglio, Perrier and Valentine for one apiece. Maglio got the only Dodger assist. The F.A.C.'s used no goalie, playing all six men up the ice.

Don Ross was Referee, Bill Ludlow, Judge of Play, and Caldie Bachynski, Scorekeeper and Timekeeper. Teams were:

Dodgers—Harvey Neilsen, Leo Choquette, Dom Maglio, Bob Pitts, Ray Carmen, Joe Perrier, Arn Kennedy, Jim Valentine, Bob MacDonald.

F.A.C.—Earl Duffy, St. Clair Duffy, Des Mayne, Larry Grimwood, Stan Fisher, Joe Todd, Doug Morris, John Holmes, Fred Brett, Gull Brett, Rich Lawrence.

Declares Plebiscite Comfort to Enemies

OTTAWA, Feb. 9 (CP)—The proposed conscription plebiscite was condemned as "a comfort to our enemies and a humiliation to our friends," by Percy Black (Con. Taking part in the debate on the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, Mr. Black forecast that not more than 25 per cent of the Electorate would answer the plebiscite question.

Decide to Replace Ship Riveting With Welding

VANCOUVER, Feb. 9 (CP)—Vancouver shipyard operators announced today that plans are under way to have all housing above the main deck of steel cargo ships under construction here for wartime merchant shipping welded instead of rivetted.

Decision to replace the rivets with welding followed a vote of rivetters Saturday against acceptance of a system of piece work instead of the present system under which a flat rate is paid.

Clarence Wallace, President of the Burrard Drydock Company Limited, announced that welding would mean that all housing above the main decks of the ships would be built in a separate yard.

The rivetters voted 351 to 29 Saturday against a piece work system.

Under the piece-work system rivetters would be paid by the number of rivets they drive in an eight-hour day. At present, workmen in Vancouver yards receive $21 a day straight for a gang of three men.

Cost of Living Index Declines

OTTAWA, Feb. 9 (CP). — Canada's official cost-of-living index has declined 1-10 point in the three-month period between October 1941 and January 1942, assuring that "there will be no change in cost-of-living bonuses for at least another three months," the National War Labor Board announced today.

Simultaneously the Dominion Bureau of Statistics in its daily bulletin reported that its index stood at 115.4 Jan. 2 compared with 115.5 Dec. 1, 1941.

The index at Nov. 1 was 116.3 and at Oct. 1, 115.5. Thus between Oct. 1 and Jan. 2, the relevant three-month period as specified in the governmne'ts wages stabilization program, the decline was 1-10th of a point.

Under the wage stabilization regulations put into effect Nov. 15, employers who have not previously paid a cost-of-living bonus must do so effective for the first payroll period after Feb. 15 if the index rose at least one point in the last three months of 1941—that is, between Oct. 1 and Jan. 2.

After noting the 1-10 point decrease from Oct. 1, 1941, the National War Labor Board said:

"Accordingly, the Board announces that for the three-month period of Feb. 15 to May 15 there will be no increase or decrease in the amounts of any cost-of-living bonuses now being paid by employers who are subject to the wartime wages and cost-of-living bonus Order (P. C. 8253)."

Girl Would Like Father's Consent to Her Marriage

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My mother died when I was 15 years of age and, as I was the oldest of three children, I kept house. I've been going with a young man for four years and want to get married. I'm 25 now, and my boy friend thinks I've done my share and that my sister should take over now.

I'm sure my father would never give his consent and I'm wondering if he would do anything about it if I decide to marry against his wishes. My sister is 20.

IMOGENE.

To take sides between members of a family is distinctly not my line, but it does seem to me that ten years of service as housekeeper should set you free from the charge of neglect of your duty toward your father, especially since you have a sister capable of taking your place.

I'm sure you'll want to preserve all the pleasant relationships of family life. I presume you're the type of girl who believes that a family should stick together. Why not take up this question with your pastor or some very good friend who might be able to fix up things between your father and yourself, so you may be married with his consent?

Your desire certainly seems reasonable, and you have my best wishes for happiness.

Miss M. Ford Weds Norman Burdett at Kimberley

KIMBERLEY, B.C.—A pretty wedding took place in All Saints Church Wednesday afternoon when Muryl, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ford, of Kimberley, became the bride of Norman William, only son of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Burdett, of Vancouver, former Kimberley residents. The ceremony was conducted by Archdeacon B. A. Rexker.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in a silver beaded gown of white silk georgette with waist-length veil arranged halo style and caught to her hair with traditional orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book from which hung white ribbons adorned with tiny chenille forget-me-nots and fern.

Miss Leona Coleman, as bridesmaid, chose a gown of turquoise net over taffeta, with bolero and cap of matching colored tulle and sequins. She carried a nosegay of pink and white carnation. James Buchanan was best man. Mrs. Potter played the wedding march.

Mrs. Ford, mother of the bride, wore an afternoon dress of rose crepe, with a corsage of pink and white carnations and roses, while Mrs. Burdett, mother of the groom, wore a royal blue afternoon dress and a corsage of pink carnations and roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The room was decorated with white wedding bells and ribbon. Standing under an archway of cedar boughs, the bride and groom greeted their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Burdet left for a honeymoon at Calgary. For travelling the bride wore a navy crepe dress with matching accessories topped with a smart navy plaid sports coat. On their return they will make their home here.

Confidence . . .

Maybe a Change Would Be Better

By IDA JEAN KAIN

If the man in your life is not such that he tends to strengthen your sense of confidence, he is not for you.

That unexpected bit of feminine wisdom is passed along by an astonishingly talented and level-headed young woman known as Margo who flits around in star roles on stage, screen or radio.

While advice to the lovelorn is not one of the specialties of this column, you will see that Margo's observation is part of her philosophy: The man you go with, the colors you wear, and the way you carry yourself should all contribute something to your feeling of self-confidence. If they don't, you might better make some changes.

Being fair-minded, she points out that you should also bolster the self-confidence of the man you go with steadily. That disposes of the romance question.

Women generally, Margo is convinced, need to be more daring in the matter of dress and particularly with regard to color. "Women continue to wear blue, black or brown for years. During this time their skin and hair may have undergone such decided changes that the color around which they build their entire wardrobe may be actually unflattering. I think we should wear more of the bright shades—I find nothing beats the zip of a good strong color."

Like all outstanding actresses, she considers posture one of the big factors in personality. There's no middle road here. You either create the impression of self-confidence by the way you carry yourself, or you don't. "But it's a funny thing," Margo says, "It's like the old puzzle of which came first, the chicken or the egg! If a woman who suffers rom shyness can fake self-confidence in her posture, she takes on confidence. And you never see a self-confident person who doesn't have a fairly good posture! But regardless of how shy she is, the woman who walks proudly erect gives the impression of being poised and is treated accordingly."

What you cannot fake is the way you feel. Unless you feel like holding yourself erect, you will never be able to do it consistently that you get the habit of good posture.

Margo, lovely screen and radio star, sincerely believes that self-confidence is the most important single factor in a woman's appearance, and that it is necessary to her happiness. You'll find her viewpoint explained in today's Ida Jean Kain article.

Castle of Contentment

CHAPTER FORTY-SEVEN

She finished with her luggage, then slipped out of her gold silk taffeta housecoat and into the dress in which she later would travel, an apricot-toned flannel. Expertly she rouged her lips and put Tate's favorite perfume in her hair and on her throat. She looked ahead to when she and Tate would meet at the planned destination. Perhaps he would feel better then, less moody, less irritable.

From her room she walked into Rose's and looked out those back windows into the patio. Carlyle was there already, spotless in a fuzzy white Angora sweater suit, playing in the lily pool. She'll be filthy in no time, Ylena fretted, then laughed to herself. What difference did it make? What was a little dirt? Never would she be one of those heckling mothers who took the play out of a child with constant admonitions. All the same she did groan softly to herself when she saw Carlyle dip cupped hands into the pool and lift out water to stir in a pile of dirt. For several days she had been making unsuccessful attempts at a dam. "Like Scotty used to make, Mamacita. Down where he cut through the orchids with a 'chetty'." From her explanation, Ylena gathered that Scott had been telling the wide-eyed, credulous Carlyle a few tall ones.

Tony found her there. "Don't you want me to watch Carlyle?"

"I think she is all right. You can go down when I do." The blond girl motioned the guard to her side and pointed. "Look."

His strong mouth parted in a grin of admiration as he watched her patting the mud. "She should be dressed in a rubber bathing suit."

"She has to be gorgeous. Mr. Cromwell is coming." The pleasant expression faded from the young Italian's face. Ylena went on. "You'll like him some day, Tony. You'll know it's all right."

He defied her. "No, I won't!" Color raced through his already dark skin. "Never, Miss Vanaroff, she left the kitchen nook.

I know it isn't any of my business except that I love Carlyle — but please, please won't you think twice before doing what you're doing tonight?" She felt weak. "I know you are going to the coast, I also know Cromwell is going—never mind how I found out. And I know, too, that it can't be a coincidence."

The girl turned at him and her features turned cold. "Perhaps you'd better not go down for tea after all. I'll talk to you in your room after Mr. Cromwell has gone."

Heels tapping briskly, she headed for the rose and blue breakfast bar and made certain that everything was in readiness for the tea. Rose was there, fixing sliced bread and butter. Carefully she buttered the loaf, then sliced the bread paper thin, buttered the loaf again.

"Put watercress in some, will you, Rose?"

The gray-haired housekeeper nooded, but said nothing. For a moment Ylena stood waiting for her friend either to say something or at least turn her head. The rather blighting worry that everyone knew her plans, went over her like a flame. Acutely embarrassed,

When she heard Tate's ring, Ylena quickly ran to meet him at the top of the iron steps. "Meet me in the garden, dear." She gave him a short kiss. "I'll be right down." She didn't want him to come to the apartment and perhaps run into the glowering Tony. Too, she wanted Carlyle and her future father to have a few minutes together. Surely, when she loved him so much, Carlyle would too.

Hurriedly she sped to her bedroom and locked her bags against Rose's curious eyes in case she chose to pry. At the same instant, she thought, I'm behaving like a thief. It was beginning to prey on her mind, this subterfuge. She took a deep breath and walked over to look at herself in the mirror. Unconsciously, she picked up a powder puff and ran it aimlessly over her already too-pale face. Then she walked back into the room where she had left Tony. He was still sitting there, his dark eyes on his toes.

The girl moved to the window and looked at Carlyle, still busy with her engineering experiment. Tate lounged in a steamer chair, dressed also, Ylena knew, for their stealthy journey. Immaculate as always, he made a handsome figure, dark hair gleaming in the warm winter sunlight.

Without having heard him move, Ylena sensed Tony's immediate presence, and turned. Over her shoulder he was watching the two in the garden.

Looking into his face, she started to make some mention of the two below them, but stopped and followed Tony's gaze. Evidently Carlyle had skidded in the mud. She had lost her balance and was supporting her self by her dirty hands on Tate's knees.

As swiftly as possible she scrambled to an erect position, leaving two muddy patches on his otherwise fastidious pale biege trousers. The pair at the window saw Carlyle open her mouth to begin an apology but she did not get a chance to speak. Tate had lifted his hand and slapped her across the mouth.

Skillful Modern Eye Surgery Is Great Blessing

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

I have often toyed with the idea of compiling an anthology which would consist of patients' accounts of their own illnesses.

I have in my collection, a famous doctor's account of his own case of sick headache which had been with him all his life. I have the autobiography of a paranoaic. I have the account of a Danish patient who had a brain tumor, called "A Journey Around My Skull."

I have a doctor's account of his own case of angina and Dr. Leonard Marks' description of the development of acromegaly in his own person.

To these might be added an article which I have just found in an old volume of Harper's monthly magazine for Sept. 1873, by the Reverend William H. Milburn which is called "My Blindness and Albrecht von Graefe."

EARLY EYE OPERATIONS

The Reverend Mr. Milburn suffered an unlucky unintentional blow from the hand of a playmate in his left eye when he was five years old. It gave him some trouble in college and kept getting worse in his work in the ministry. He was a friend of Prescott the historian who had a similar experience and records as an astonishing fact that no oculist could do him any good.

He finally went to the great von Graefe in Berlin and after two years of darkness the doctor performed an operation on him which restored his sight. I gather from the account that it was an iridectomy.

Before the operation the doctor said to him. "I have watched you closely and see that you are a man of nerve. There is a slight spot in the cornea which requires great exactness. Chloroform cannot hold you as steadily as your will.

What do you say? I have confidence in your self control."

The patient answered, "Go on without the chloroform."

ADVANCE IN EYE SURGERY

It was before the introduction of local anaesthesia for eye operations. The astonishing and revelatory feature of this report to me is that the short period of less than sixty years such operations have become commonplace for the modern ophthalmologist.

It seems astonishing that such things as eye glasses to correct refractive errors, which we take for granted almost as much as the air we breathe, should have been practically unknown at that time or were in the hands of charlatans. Samuel Pepys closed his diary by saying that he hoped that the Lord would grant him patience in the blindness which was about to overcome him. As a modern oculist has remarked a pair of diopter lenses would have relieved him and made him see as well as ever.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

F. A. "Is bowling an exercise that will be injurious to a woman in later life? Would you advise a woman against such strenuous exercise during her period?"

Answer—I have been brought up in a school that believes that during a woman's period she should not take a bath, have a permanent wave, or take any strenuous exercise. I hear a lot of women who do all these things without any harm but that is their responsibility. Personally I would feel safer to advise you to let all extra activities alone during that time. Outside of this and with the exception of the period of pregnancy, there is no reason why a woman shouldn't enjoy bowling without fear of injury in later life.

VANCOUVER, Feb. 9 (CP).—The Vancouver Youth Council — which counts a number of young Canadian-born Japanese among its membership — believes not only Japanese males of military age but the entire Japanese community should be moved from the coastal defence areas of British Columbia.

Vicious Circle . . .

A Nervous Child Needs More Sleep

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

THE NERVOUS child rarely gets sufficient sleep and he doesn't sleep soundly as a rule. One reason he is so nervous is his lack of sleep. It is a vicious circle. Therefore, the wise mother cultivates good sleep habits in her infant and young child so he will not grow nervous.

In order to cultivate good sleep habits she follows the clock in putting him to bed, feeling him, bathing him.

The amount and quality of a night's sleep depends on how a child spends his waking hours by day. The healthy infant, tot or runabout is protected from too much excitement and fatigue.

The Tired Child

Some parents seem to think that the more tired a child is the better he will sleep. Often he is too tired to sleep or sleep soundly.

Then some unwise mothers suppose the young child will sleep better at night if he doesn't sleep during the day. Even the afternoon nap is discontinued for some children from 3 to 5 on these false grounds.

Some mothers say, My child doesn't need so much sleep as other children do." They are wrong. The very fact that he chooses to sleep less than the average child indicates he needs more sleep. He is too fatigued to sleep.

PARK SIDING

PARK SIDING, B.C.—An enjoyable surprise party was held at the home of Mrs. Wood on the occasion of her birthday. The evening was spent in games and dancing.

Kootenay Undertakes Another War Job

Next Monday Kootenay will commence another war job, that of subscribing its quota to the second Victory Loan, or the fourth War Loan since the war began.

It is a job that will be undertaken with every assurance of success, but with the knowledge that it cannot be accomplished without hard work by the committees and organizers and wholehearted support by the public.

As Chairman Austin C. Taylor of the British Columbia Victory Loan Victory Loan committee has said the reason for the new loan is the absolute necessity for additional funds to continue Canada's war effort. We need money to beat back and defeat the enemy who is out to crush us.

We are in a titanic struggle for survival of democracy or submission to slavery under the Axis heel.

Sometimes we, in our fortunate position in Canada, are inclined to forget all the stern realities of the struggle in which we are engaged and the consequences of failing to win. Perhaps that is because the consequences are too horrible to contemplate.

We will win, but it will be only through a genuine all-out effort. This second Victory Loan campaign is part of it, a very vital part of it.

Don't Intend to Repeat This Error of the Last War

Determination of the Dominion Government that it will not enter the field of regulation of the sale of alcoholic beverages, announced by Finance Minister Ilsley, means that the Federal administration does not intend to repeat one of the cardinal errors of Canada and the United States in the last war.

Prohibition proved the biggest single element in the worst era of corruption and lowering of moral standards that this continent has ever seen.

Equally, it may be hoped that individual provinces will not during the war give way to loudly voiced pressure of minority groups demanding immoderate policies that could only lead to equally immoderate evils.

Our liquor laws today are loaded with enough silly irrational restrictions which accomplish no good purpose and create worse evils than those they were designed to prevent.

CULTIVATION

"The highest purpose of intellectual cultivation is, to give a man a perfect knowledge and mastery of his own inner self."—Novalis.

"Culture would not be culture if it were not an acquired taste."—John Cowper Powys.

"That is true cultivation which gives us sympathy with every form of human life, and enables us to work most successfully for its advancement."—Henry Ward Beecher.

"Nurseries of character should be strongly garrisoned with virtue. School-examinations are one-sided; it is not so much academic education, as a moral and spiritual culture, which lifts one higher."—Mary Baker Eddy.

"That alone can be called true refinement which elevates the soul of man, purifying the manners by improving the intellect."—Coleridge.

?? Questions ?? ANSWERS

Open to any reader. Names of persons asking questions will not be published.

H. C., Nelson—What is the length of the Burma Road? What are the names of the two terminals? How long does it take the Chinese to drive its entire length?

Though the entire 2100 motor route from Chungking to Rangoon is sometimes referred to as the Burma Road, the term is usually reserved for the spectacular stretch from Kunming (Yunnanfu) to the railhead at Lashio across the Burmese border, a distance of 668 miles.

The older parts are not comparable in grandeur to the new road over the Mekong and Salween watersheds. The section from Kunming to Siakwan was built in 1934-35, but the last link in the chain — from Siakwan to the Burma frontier—was forged less than two years ago. This link, though only 307 miles long, is the culminating achievement that has given China front rank place among road builders.

The time taken to travel the road varies, but it is impossible even in a light car to travel more than 15 miles per hour over any part of this narrow, winding road.

Reader, Cranbrook—What are the qualifications and where does one apply for work as a radio announcer?

A good education and general knowledge of affairs with some technical knowledge of radio, a pleasant voice and personality are essentials for a radio announcer. Apply at any radio station or the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Toronto.

Reder—Is it true that the oldest girl in a family of eight stays at home while the younger ones go out to work? If not, what can she do to leave home before the smaller ones, if she is 19 years old?

It would be most unwise for a 19 year old girl to leave home without her parent's consent.

Ford's Brazilian Orchard

Henry Ford's new rubber plantation at Belterra, Brazil, is within a few miles of the spot where in 1876 Henry A. Wickham obtained 70,000 seeds of the Hevea tree and smuggled them out of the country to England. These seeds became the ancestors of nearly all the rubber trees of the East Indies, from which the United States obtains 93 per cent of its rubber supplies.

Although the 3,651,500 rubber trees planted at Belterra (the name means beautiful land) are still quite young, they are already in production on a limited scale. About 750 tons of concentrated latex will be shipped to Dearborn in 1942. By 1950 the estimated production is 7500 tons, and the eventual goal is 38,000 tons annually.

While this is only a fraction of the 600,000 tons the U.S.A. normally consumes in a year, experts believe that in time rubber production in the Western Hemisphere can be brought to the point where bringing rubber half-way around a hostile world will not be necessary.

There is also the Mexican guayule shrub, which grows well in the Southwestern United States and is already under cultivation there. As a quick source of natural rubber, this plant is unrivaled. Rubber can be obtained after one year's growth, although it is better after four years. Without a de-resinating process, the rubber is not the equal of that from the Hevea trees and is more costly. But as a stop-gap until the new Hevea trees get going, it may be a life-saver.

NOSTALGIA

When honey-tongued radio announcers deluge us with lyric good about the r-r-rich, c-r-rrea-amy goodness of Whoozits candy-bar, the glissando smoothness of Bunque's Brushless Shaving Ointment, and the glories of a ham for whose lush-sh-lous savor the butcher takes all the credit and gives none to the pig, we confess to an occasional touch of homesickness for the simpler and more forthright advertisements of our distant youth.

We recall, for example the wailing baby seated in the old-fashioned washbasin—the kind that, with its pitcher, decked the marble-topped stand in grandma's spare room. He sought to grasp a bar of soap eternally beyond his reach. The legend "He Won't Be Happy Till He Gets It" became the hallmark of Pears' Soap.

Then came the jingles about Spotless Town, in one of which the community was shocked by the discovery of a spot on the butcher's apron, followed by the couplet "It were not meet for justice sake to burn the butcher at the steak. And so behind the bars he'll go. Bars of what? Sapolio."

And the pictures of burlesque queens in vivid reds and blues that came with each package of Sweet Caporal Cigarettes!

And what has become of the much more recent Addison Sims of Seattle, who assured us in almost every newspaper or magazine that he remembered us perfectly, having met us at a Rotary Club luncheon some years before, thus proving the virtue of Somebody's course in memory training?

Alackaday! They are one with Nineveh, Tyre, Nellie-the-Beautiful Cloak-Model, Rowland's Macassar Oil and the gaudy individual shaving mugs once racked on every barber-shop wall. Only when some unusually strupy announcer interrupts a report of the fall of a throne by urging a visit to the Graball Installment House do we recall them all with a sense of loss for gentler days.—New Orlean Item.

LITVINOV IN WASHINGTON

When M. Litvinov's airplane seemed to have crashed near the Caspian Sea, the world became aware of the great loss this would have been for the forces of freedom and peace. The "Case Litvinov" is one of the most enlightening features of contemptorary history. When he was sacked in Spring 1939, everybody knew that Stalin had given up the hope that his Foreign Minister's policy of collective security would succeed. To be convinced of its necessity Britain, he knew, would need a few more samples of Hitler's aggressions. Hence Litvinov's dismissal was not surprising. Something else was. Stalin, in the past, had never been slow in liquidating the people who had represented a policy which he liquidated. But he did not liquidate Litvinov. He only put him into a refrigerator, and a well-furnished one. Good food for thought—of course not for professional anti-Russians who believed in a German-Russian alliance and not for the little Comintern agents abroad when Stalin could not take into his confidence. His diplomats knew, and when we asked one of them in London about the Ribbentrop Pact he said simply "We have no illusions about Adolf Hitler."

Now Litvinov has left that refrigerator and we trust he will be one of the most important links between his country and both parts of the English-speaking world, not only in questions of war but also of the peace to come. As Mr. Eden's personal friend, he will find it easy to see eye to eye with the latter's Washington representative. And since he foresaw the sequel of Hitler's conquests, he is unlikely to forget that they began with the seizure of Austria and that Russia can never be safe without the restoration of the Danubian community which the Tsarist regime shortsightedly helped to destroy.—The Voice of Austria.

Today's Horoscope

If your birthday is today, look for young people to bring you gain and happiness during the next 12 months. Elders, the military or those engaged in engineering will bring you the reverse. Avoid extravagance and impulsive conduct in all things. In character you are affectionate, kind, sympathetic, and inspire love and respect from those about you. However, you have an unfortunate habit of carelessness and thoughtlessness toward friends. The child who is born on this date will be most generous, hospitable, independent, ambitious and a great lover of freedom. He or she will be mainly successful, but liable to sudden troubles and loss in business and through correspondence.

Amateur Fighters Ready for Action in Kimberley Ring

KIMBERLEY, B. C., Feb. 9 — With the arrival of a number of new boxers in Kimberley it is expected an amateur card will be lined up shortly.

A natural would be an exchange of fisticuffs betwen Jim Culver, formerly of Lethbridge, and Murdo Morrison, well known reinstated pro. Both are middleweights and have fought the best amateurs in the West. Morrison since his reinstatement a year ago has been more or less inactive, though he is still in fighting trim.

Likely opponents for any enterprising fighters are Earl Green, as lightweight; and Bill Bourdon as middleweight. Both are said capable of extending any amateur at their weights.

Smokies Come From Behind to Take Kimberley Dynamiters 6-4

TRAIL, B. C., Feb. 9 (CP). — Trail Smoke Eaters came from behind tonight to beat Kimberley Dynamiters 6-4 and strengthen their second place position in the A.B.C. senior amateur hockey league standings.

Sam Calles put Kimberley into the scoring column in the first three minutes with a surprise goal, catching the top corner of the net on a pass from Benny Redisky. Trail even the count on a shot by Stanton from near the blue line.

Kimberley made it 2-1 in the second period when Sanderson and Calles got through with Trail playing well up the ice. Trail again even things when Kwong drilled a hard shot into the corner past Goalie Nash. Calles skated through the entire Trail team to pull Scodellaro out of his net and slam in a goal putting Dynamiters ahead.

To open the third period Trail carried the play and Buckna banged an angle shot past Nash. A half minute later Duffy put Trail ahead. Duffy added another at 15:01 and Christenson punched in another two minutes later. Redisky of Kimberley wound up the scoring in the last minute on a pass from Ralph Redding.

HEATH HONORED IN CLEVELAND

Named as the outstanding ballplayer on the Cleveland Indians roster last season, Canadian-born Jeff Heath was guest of honor at a dinner given by Cleveland sports writers. Here the big slugger (right) is shown with the new Indian manager, Lou Boudreau, as they admired a set of left-handed golf clubs presented to Heath by the Scriveners.

Junior High: D. Buchanan, V. Hall 1, Jim McIvor 2, W. Postlethwaite 4, F. Morrow, J. Waldie, T. Walker, H. Sinnerud, G. Rolick, and T. Madden.

"Me, I'm an Ochlophile"

"Yes, ochlophile...that's a word I picked up in a crossword puzzle. Means somebody who likes to have crowds around. After all, what retailer doesn't like crowds?"

1. "You'll find a steady stream of customers in this store every day...customers who are watching the family budget more carefully than ever, now that we're at war, and watching newspaper ads more carefully, too, in order to save money and time."

2. "Every chance I get, I tell manufacturers' representatives how I feel about newspaper advertising...how everybody in town reads the daily paper, and the ads in the paper, too, whether other kinds of advertising reach them or not."

3. "I tell them that newspaper ads have always been a swell investment for me...and for all other retailers in town who amount to anything. So why shouldn't manufacturers take full advantage of this medium, too? After all, their business depends on sales through my store and others like it."

4. "Why wouldn't it be smart, I ask them, to move their goods off my shelves with the kind of advertising that brings in crowds of customers? I guess other retailers have been making the same point...that must be one reason why manufacturers are doing so much newspaper advertising these days."

That's what one successful retailer has to say about newspaper advertising and how it works. Are you getting all of this local support you deserve? Take a tip from this happy ochlophile and remind your manufacturers that they can produce more sales for their retailers...and themselves...by advertising in local newspapers.

CONTRACT . . . By Shepard Barclay

FREAKS BEGET FREAKS

IF YOU indulge a taste for queer bidding, landing you in bizarre contracts, you are likely to find yourself face to face with grotesque playing problems. This is brought out frequently by strained efforts of duplicate players to get scores different from those obtained by the rest of the competitors, in their desire to shoot for top scores. The problems of play which finally develop may call for moves you do not expect to see ordinarily, some of which are odd in the extreme.

South: ♠ A K Q J 10 ♥ Q 7 4 2 ♦ None ♣ A Q 6 3

Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East

3 NT

South violated an almost sacred rule of No Trump bidding, to avoid that declaration when you lack a couple of cards of your partner's suit, but with stoppers in hearts and clubs, plus the solid spades, he decided to make a crazy shot, especially since honors do not count in match-play duplicates.

West led his heart K and, seeing his partner's J drop, decided he would not set up the possible game trick for South by leading the suit again. He switched to the surprise lead of the club J. East did not want to advertise the whole club story to South, so put on the 7 and the declarer won with the Q, convinced that West would not have led the suit with less than five cards and that East therefore probably had the singleton K left.

Now for some funny play, superinduced by sound card reading. Five spades brought from West discards of two hearts and three diamonds. That made six tricks. If the club A were now played, dropping the K, West could then run the setting tricks. So South deliberately led a low club, letting the singleton K win. East had to return a diamond to the dummy, where three tricks were taken to make game. The 10 having been East's lead, he had the Q-3 left. So the 6 was led to the Q and the 5 scored an extra trick. Just imagine having to let a singleton K win intentionally, and making an extra trick by doing so.

Tomorrow's Problem

South: ♠ J ♥ Q 7 6 2 ♦ K 7 6 5 3 ♣ Q 10 3

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

If East takes the heart lead, switches to a club, the J being allowed to win the 10, a second heart is led to the A and the club 8 returned, how should South then play in an effort to make an extra trick at 3-No Trumps?

Sisters in Line for 'Oscar' Awards

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 9 (AP)—It will be sister against sister in the balloting for the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences "Oscars."

Olivia de Havilland and her sister Joan Fontaine both have been placed in nomination by a committee of the Academy. Miss De Havilland for her work in "Hold Back the Dawn," and Joan, who dropped the family name of De Havilland for movie identification because of her outstanding performance in "Suspicion."

Competitors with them will be Bette Davis, twice an Academy winner, for "The Little Foxes," Barbara Stanwyck for "The Ball of Fire" and Greer Garson for "Blossoms in the Dust."

Orson Welles scored a triple with the nominating committee, which chose him as one of the five candidates for acting honors, picked his movie as one of the 10 best, and named him as a candidate for the best direction of the year—all because of "Citizen Kane."

None of the actors named this year has ever won an Academy award. Besides Welles they are Gary Cooper in "Sergeant York," Cary Grant in "Penny Serenade," Walter Huston in "All That Money Can Buy," and Robert Montgomery in "Here Comes Mr. Jordan."

Missing Girls Found Five Minutes After Radio Call for Them

Two Nelson girls, missing Sunday afternoon, were located in five minutes through the agency of Radio Station CKLN.

Shortly after 5:45 the City Police telephoned CKLN that the girls were missing and the following announcement was broadcast at 5:50:

"Here is an important announcement:

"Two little girls have strayed away from their homes this afternoon and you are asked by the City Police of Nelson to help locate them.

"One is June Haynes, eight years of age, wearing a dark snow suit. She is very small for her age.

"The other is Pat Minton, aged 10 years, wearing a brown coat. She is very big for her age.

"Anyone knowing the whereabouts of these two girls please communicate with the City Police or telephone the radio station, 19."

At 5:55 the Police phoned CKLN to state the two girls had been located.

R.A.F. Padre to Visit Here

Chaplain D. H. Howells of No. 34 Service Flying Training School, R.A.F., at Medicine Hat is expected to arrive in Nelson on a visit this weekend.

He will be the guest of honor at a reception tendered by the Citizens' Committee at the home of Mayor and Mrs. N. C. Stibbs Saturday evening. Sunday he will take the morning service at St Saviour's Pro-Cathedral, and in the afternoon will likely take part in the opening program of the Second Victory Loan drive.

Ilsley's Letter Urges Stibbs to Spur Loan Drive

Importance of the work of the local Executive Committee in the forthcoming Victory Loan campaign is emphasized in a letter from Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Minister of Finance, to Mayor N. C. Stibbs, Chairman of the Nelson Executive. The letter follows:

"I am writing to thank you for accepting the Chairmanship . . . . for Unit No. 6A.

"This year, 1942, will be a grim and costly one and we will be faced with heavier financial burdens than ever before. That the people of Canada will meet the challenge there can be no doubt.

"The Executive Committee in each district has a great responsibility and upon the resourcefulness of its members will depend to a large extent, the success of the loan.

"Strong and inspiring leadership is, therefore, very important and I am grateful to you for your assistance and wish you every success."

Mount Zeballos Gold Cutting Exploration

VANCOUVER, Feb. 9 (CP)—Directors of Mount Zeballos Gold Mines announced to day that exploration will be curtailed and steps are now being taken to remove the crew from the mine.

Stating that conditions for the past few months have not warranted further exploration, directors said it would require about two months to carry this policy out. The affairs of the Company will then be wound up.

The greatest bell ever cast is the Great Bell of Moscow which weighs an estimated 198 tons.

Market Trends . . .

MONTREAL — Easier industrials and metals gave trading a downward inflection up to the final hour today.

VANCOUVER — Prices finished slightly lower during light trading. Pend Oreille was the only base metal trader and gained 5 to 1.56.

WINNIPEG—Business was at a minimum with only minor transactions reported in both wheat and course grains. Wheat futures closed ¼ higher with May at 80⅝ cents a bushel and July at 81⅝B.

LONDON, Feb. 9 (AP). — The stock market steadied at lower levels established earlier as buying and offerings dried up coincident with reports of the crisis at Singapore.

NEW YORK—The war news today intimidated buyers but, on the other hand, brought out no urgent liquidation.

Faltering tendencies appeared at the start as rails joined industrials in cutting prices by fractions.

TORONTO—Stocks leaned to the down side and trading was dull most of the session. Industrials led the decline with a drop of a half-point or more.

Lardeau One of Three Possible Big Bend Routes

Projected abandonment of the Lardo-Gerrard railway line and conversion of the roadbed into a highway has enlivened discussion among Kootenay men of the possibility of road connection between the Southern Transprovincial Highway in this District and the Big Bend Highway.

Three alternative routes, two of them involving road construction, and the third the use of a ferry to connect roads already constructed, are being talked over. Each route would bring th etraveller to Arrowhead and thence to Revelstoke to reach the Big Bend Highway, and each would make possible a circle tour via Paterson or Nelway North to Revelstoke over the Big Bend, and South through the Windermere Valley to the Southern Trans-provincial Highway with its connections East, West and South.

LARDEAU ROUTE

To go through the Lardeau the route would be via Kaslo, Lardo, Gerrard, Trout Lake, and Beaton to Arrowhead. On this route the Nelson Kaslo connection is already built; and the Lardo-Gerrard link will be available after the C.P.R. has lifted its rails and the roadbed has been converted into road, which is expected to follow. Trout Lake City and Beaton, are connected by a 10-mile road on a railroad grade a road over which stage coach service was maintained in the early days and which is still in use as a means of access to mines in the Trout Lake area.

To connect these links it would be necessary to build a road from Shutty Bench, a short distance out of Kaslo, to Lardo; to build along the shore of Trout Lake from Gerrard to Trout Lake City; and to build a road from Beaton to Arrowhead along an arm of the Upper Arrow Lake.

The distance from Kaslo to Lardo by boat is 19 miles, from Lardo to Gerrard by rail 33 miles, from Gerrard to Trout Lake City approximately 15 miles, and from Beaton to Arrowhead about nine miles.

Excluding the Lardo-Gerrard 33-mile railway roadbed, a total of 43 miles of new road would be necessary along this route, and considerable reconstruction would probably also be necessary along the Trout Lake City-Beaton link.

NAKUSP ROUTE

To reach Arrowhead via Nakusp by road the construction of a road Northward from Nakusp would be necessary. A mile and a half of road has already been built North from Nakusp. This road would either terminate on the arm of the Upper Arrow Lake with a ferry connecting to Arrowhead or it would skirt the arm to Beaton and back to Arrowhead.

From Nakusp to the shore of the arm, is a distance of about 31 miles, from this point to Beaton about 8 miles and from Beaton to Arrowhead about nine miles, a total for an all-road route of roughly 48 miles, of which 1½ has been built. These distances are "as the crow flies," as are also the mileages for Gerrard to Trout Lake City, Trout Lake City to Beaton and Beaton to Arrowhead.

NAKUSP-ARROWHEAD FERRY

Connection could be given between this district and the Big Bend Road within ashort time by institution of a ferry service between Nakusp and Arrowhead, 39 miles by boat route. Nelson Board of Trade last visited Nakusp, W. F. McLean, C.P.R. Superintendent, indicated the steamer Bonnington, now tied up at Nakusp, was available. Nakusp-Arrowhead run would take approximately three hours.

Advocates of this route argue that the connection could be provided quickly and at a minimum of expense, and that it would provide the desired link between the two transprovincial highways quickly. They suggest development of all-road routes could follow, possibly as a post-war project which would employ a large number of men at a time when such a project could be financed more easily and when employment would be required.

"PILOT OF DEMOCRACY" AT THE CONTROLS

Prime Minister Winston Churchill is shown at the controls of the big flying boat in which he flew from Norfolk, Va., to England, via Bermuda. The prime minister is wearing his air raid siren suit. Churchill learned to pilot a plane in 1913, but he never handled as big a ship as that, in which he returned to Britain. The Churchillian cigar is in evidence, too.

Interpreting The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Savage fighting on Singapore Island itself, with British troops trying desperately to crush Japanese bridgeheads thrust in the night across mile-wide Johore Strait, marks the gravest crisis of the two-months-old Pacific War.

Not days, but hours could decide the fate of the powerful fortress base, second only to Gibraltar as a bulwark of Empire and United Nations defence. The enemy, besides trying to consolidate and expand his bridgehead positions, may launch an attack from Ubin Island in the Eastern mouth of the Strait. There is some indication that the main invasion thrust is to be expected there rather than across the swampy ground west of Singapore causeway where the first landings were effected.

Whatever the future may hold, the grim fact is that the Johore Strait most failed to stem the first assault.

On Luzon, Gen. MacArthur's men and guns appear again to have beaten back an all-out Japnese attack closely synchronized with the attempt to storm Singapore. The twin operations indicate that orders from Tokyo to crush both Allied resistance centres by frontal assault and without delay in order to mass against the Netherlands Indies.

That both Bataan and Singapore would be dangerous positions on opposite flanks of the Japanese surge southward if bypassed and left to slow siege tactics is obvious. There is always the possibility that they could be relieved and become menacing springboards for Allied attacks.

Yet the costly assault strategy against both points suggests that losses in the battle of Macassar Strait and the growing menace of Anglo-American air and other reinforcements reaching the Netherlands Indies and Australia is forcing the hand of Japanese strategists.

They are fighting on too many fronts at too great distance from each other, and paying a price in loss of vitally important time. Their answer seems to be orders to smash Bataan and Singapore regardless of casualties, then concentrate against Java, central bastion of Allied defence.

Heater Pipe in Wall Causes Fire at Swan Home; Damage $10

A pipe from a heater passing through a wall, which caused overheating of woodwork in the partition and set fire to it, gave the Nelson Fire Department a run Monday morning to the home of Charles Swan, 318 Richards Street.

The fire was extinguished with a booster line. Damage, estimated at $10, was covered by insurance. Contents of the house were not damaged.

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Announcing neutral Sweden's third defence loan, aimed at raising 700,000,000 kroner ($175,000,000), Prime Minister Albin Hansson said, "We cannot think of peace without freedom and we want to preserve both peace and freedom for our children."

AIDS IN CURE OF DREAD DISEASE

Sister Elizabeth Kenny, 54-year-old Australian "bush" nurse, is pictured pointing out to a group of trainees that muscle spasm (contraction), on a child's leg is the essential characteristic of acute infantile paralysis, according to her diagnosis. Sister Kenny is performing her daily miracles at the General Hospital in Minneapolis. The "Kenny treatment" of infantile paralysis, recently won the endorsement of the American medical profession and brought fame to this nurse, who came to the U. S. in 1940, to show American doctors how she has saved many patients suffering from this dread disease.

Kantels Held Manslaughter Charge After "Criminal Negligence" Finding

TRAIL, B. C., Feb. 9 — Martha Aileen White, and Frederick William Kantel were arrested on charges of manslaughter, following the verdict "malnutrition brought about by criminal negligence" of the two concerned, read out, Monday morning, by G. G. Cumming, foreman of the coroner's jury, following a two-day investigation last week into the death on Jan. 26, of two-month-old Edward Kantel, registered son of the couple. The child was born on the day following the arrival here of the couple, who were posing as man and wife.

Miss White and Kantel are in the Trail lockup pending arrangements for a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Parker Williams, which opens Tuesday morning, although an adjournment is anticipated. A. G. Cameron is appearing for the accused and the case will be prosecuted, for the city, by C. H. Clegg.

Dr. J. S. Daly presided as coroner at the inquest, and other jurymen were: D. S. Moyns, Fred Morrish, Fred Nichols, J. D. Southworth and F. R. Scott.

Poultrymen in Kootenay Study Best Feed Plans

Kootenay poultry producers, with an improved market for eggs, are expecting in 1942 to exceed their big production record of 1941.

They are studying scientific methods of feeding which have a marked effect on production of eggs, on percent of hatchings and on birds for table use.

A considerable loss occurs annually through the failure of eggs to hatch. With the best of hatching equipment almost forty per cent of the total eggs that are set each year fail to develop to the live chick stage. The hatchability of eggs is influenced by several factors, and one of first importance is the feed supplied to the breeding flock, prior to and during the hatching season. To obtain the best results the essential feeds for good hatchability should be fed four to six weeks before the eggs are to be saved for incubation. The supplementary feeds used with the regular mixtures of hard grain and dry mash should be carefully selected for breeding stock. It is the protein, mineral, and vitamin supplements that influence hatchability, states R. M. Hopper, Dominion Experimental Farm, Brandon, Man.

It has been found that fish meal and milk powder are both superior to meat meal as a protein supplement for use during the breeding season. It is recommended, therefore, that meat meal be used to supply not more than one-third to one-half of the total protein supplement. Equal parts of meat meal, fish meal, and milk powder, included at the rate of twelve pounds in each one hundred pounds of dry mash is satisfactory. Skim milk and buttermilk are excellent for breeding birds and where either is available for supplying drink, the amount of protein supplement included in the dry mash can be reduced.

The vitamins contained in cod liver oil or pilchard oil, and in green feed, are also aids toward improved hatchability, od liver oil or pilchard oil is usually mixed in the dry mash. As fish oils are valuable on account of the vitamins they contain, it is advisable to purchase oils of guaranteed vitamin potency, and mix them with the mash according to their vitamin contents.

Green feed in the form of well cured alfalfa or clover leaves, sprouted oats, or surplus vegetables should be supplied daily.

The density and texture of the shell have been found to influence the hatchability of eggs. Shells of normal thickness and density permit of improved hatching to shells that are thin or of poor texture. A constant supply of calcium should be kept before the birds in the form of oyster shell, and in addition it is sometimes necessary to include two to three pounds of pulverized oyster shell, bone meal, or ground limestone in the dry mash mixture. The use of fish oil, as mentioned, also aids in the formation of superior egg shells. The addition of a very small amount of manganese sulphate in the dry mash has been found to improve the quality of the egg shell and hence improve hatchability. Only four ounces need be added to a ton of feed to supply this need. The best way to get uniform distribution of the manganese sulphate is to mix it thoroughly with the protein supplement before such is added to the dry mash mixture.
