Decision to Hold Shipping Debate in Secret Is Criticized

Labor Spokesman Plans Boycott; Says Facts Should Be Given to Public; Situation Grave Ministers Declare

By DOUGLAS AMRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 9 (CP Cable)—Labor House of Commons members tonight gave a cool reception to the Government's decision to hold a debate on the shipping situation in secret.

Emmanuel Shinwell, Labor's leading spokesman on shipping and one of the Government's severest critics, decided to boycott the debate which Sir Stafford Cripps announced would be held during the next series of sittings. A number of other members who believe the public should be told the facts may follow his example.

Sir Stafford, Lord Privy Seal and House Spokesman for the Government when the Prime Minister cannot attend, said the Government did not decide until last night to keep the debate secret and said the sole reason for the decision was the "paramount duty to protect the food and lives of our people and seamen in particular."

Asked by Aneurin Bevan, Ebbw Vale Labor Member whether the speaker would authorize the issue of a fuller report than usual after such debates, Sir Stafford replied that the Government would consider the suggestion carefully.

If a statement is issued, he said, it will be one agreed upon by all parties.

The decision to hold the debate in secret came as a surprise to members who had read in at least two morning papers that it would be public and that Prime Minister Churchill might speak.

The Government planned first to hold the debate in public without giving figures and details, but, Sir Stafford said, "it was then ascertained that other questions might arise and within the rules of the order it would be impossible to prevent any members raising them."

Sir Stafford's declaration that the situation is "grave" though "certainly surmountable" was the third ministerial statement within a week indicating the seriousness of the U-boat menace. Lord Woolton, the Food Minister, and R. A. Butler, President of the Board of Education, previously had spoken publicly on the gravity of the situation.

The Press, on the basis of figures issued in the United States, has done its best to hammer home the seriousness of the submarine threat, stressing the need for more ships and at the same time urging the Government to release figures on losses as a spur to greater effort on the home front.

The Star, saying the decision to hold a secret meeting implied rejection of the call for publication of tonnage losses, expressed the hope that "in the freedom of private debates Members of Parliament will concentrate earnestly upon every means of bettering the position rather than upon criticism and wrangling."

BRITISH WAGING WAR OF NERVES ON DESERT FRONT

Night Patrols Giving Enemy No Rest; Fliers Busy

AXIS AIRFIELDS, VEHICLES RAIDED

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

CAIRO, Egypt, July 9 (AP)—Waging a war of nerves in the desert, Allied air and ground forces were reported tonight scoring a series of successes with continual patrol actions and aerial attacks on the positions of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel west of El Alamein.

Gen. Sir. Claude J. E. Auchinleck is retaining the initiative he took when the present positions some 70 miles west of Alexandria were assumed. The enemy movements of the past week have been mainly to counter Allied threats to the Axis flank.

There are indications that Rommel would like a respite of two or three weeks before making another push toward the Nile but it was by no means certain that he would be allowed this much time to rebuild his strength.

Night salilies by British troops are especially annoying to the enemy, according to prisoners, as the Germans usually base their operatons so every soldier may get a good night's sleep.

Not knowing when a bayonet party will charge out of the darkness at them and having to jump into slit trenches when Allied planes come over, they have anything but a restful night.

Dust is a problem in the aerial operations but fighter-bombers attacked enemy positions on the Axis airfields at El Daba and scored direct hits on planes refueling there. Enemy vehicles dispersed over the desert were also hit.

A fighter patrol downed seven enemy aircraft on one mission and another Axis plane was destroyed by anti-aircraft fire.

Of three enemy aircraft raiding Alexandria last night, with no damage reported, one was shot down and another damaged by night fighters. In all the British reported six aircraft lost.

20 Miners Die In Blast at U. S. Coal Mine

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., July 9 (AP.)—An official of the Pursglove Coal Mining Company reported late tonight that 20 miners were killed in an explosion in the concern's mine on Scott's Run.

Joseph Pursglove, who directed rescue operations for the company, issued the statement giving the definite total of victims almost seven hours after the blast trapped two crews of miners four and a half miles underground.

Rescue efforts have been hampered by fire which followed the explosion and it was hours before the centre of the blast scene could be reached.

About 70 of the mine's 300 employees were inside at the time of the blast. Twenty six were checked off as safe but company officials said at least two dozen, and possibly more, went back to aid in rescue work without reporting.

The Pursglove No. 2 mine about a year ago was given a U. S. Bureau of Mines safety award for producing more than 3,000,000 tons of coal without a fatal accident.

MUST CONTINUE MAKING CHEAP STAPLE GOODS

Loss of Low-Price Lines Might Hit Living Costs

MAY DECREASE HIGHER GOODS

OTTAWA, July 9 (CP) — Continued manufacture of low-price lines of staple goods is compulsory under an order effective July 13, announced tonight by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

The announcement said there was a danger that living costs might be affected by the disappearance of low-price lines of staple goods, even though there was no violation of the price ceiling.

The same policy is applied to sellers, other than manufacturers, and they are required to regulate their purchases so as to continue selling consumer goods in the same price range as during the corresponding seasons last year.

To meet this condition the Board has adopted a policy that manufacturers of consumer goods must continue to produce and sell products of the same or substantially similar kind and quality, and in the same or nearly same price ranges as those produced and sold in the corresponding period of 1941.

There is no objection to their decreasing the proportion of goods in the higher price range but any reduction in volume of goods in the lower price range is approved only if due to unavoidable circumstances, such as inability to obtain materials or a government order restricting production.

Evasion of the price ceiling by marketing new or modified products substantially different in its kind or quality from lines already on the market a maximum price or formula must be established by an administrator for the Board before the goods are sold.

This price will be appropriate in relation to the price and relative value of the comparable goods, the Board's announcement said. The fact that one article costs more to produce than another will not alone justify a higher price.

Say Tirpitz Out of Action for Several Months

MOSCOW, July 9 (AP)—Russian naval authorities said tonight the German super-battleship Tirpitz had been put out of action for several months by the daring attack of a Soviet submarine, but saw her sortie into the Arctic as evidence the Nazis have turned their main naval effort against ship lanes from America and Britain to Russia.

Twice torpedoed and officially declared seriously damaged, the Tirpitz limped back to the shelter of a Western Norwegian fjord with her accompanying squadron. The pilots of Soviet reconnaissance planes reported.

Writing today in the Government newspaper Izvestia, Red Fleet Capt. T. Danilov said "the Battleship Tirpitz is very strong, but now will have to undergo several months' repairs to cure the severe wound inflicted by the Soviet submarine."

Training Given Discharged Men Soldiers

VICTORIA, July 9 (CP)—Here to discuss post-war rehabilitation with the British Columbia Cabinet, Dr. George Weir, former Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education, today told something of post-war plans being made by the Dominion Government for settling discharged sailors, soldiers and airmen—women as well as men—into civilian life when peace comes.

Dr. Weir who is now Dominion Director of Vocational Training for discharged men and women, said discharged fighters are given vocational training for a maximum of 52 weeks, or, under that, for the time they have been in the army. During that time single men will be paid $9 a week and married men $13.

Plans are also complete to allow discharged soldiers to continue University careers, if, in 15 months they can get their senior matriculations and if their higher education is in the public interest, Dr. Weir said. Thus a bright man or woman will have his or her university fees paid by the Government and will be given the $9 or $13 weekly during the years in university.

All Strikers Return to War Plants

MONTREAL, July 9 (CP)—Work was resumed today by all the strikers at the Canadian Car Munitions Company's Cherrier plant near here. The staff numbers about 14,000 workers. Later the workers will voted on whether they want to be members of a Company Association or a Labor Union.

Interpreting The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

German reports from the critical Don front in Russia have reverted from specific claims to sweeping generalizations, lending color to Red contentions that Hitler's mightiest offensive effort of the year has been slowed down if not halted within less than two weeks of its onset.

It is much too soon, however, to conclude that the crisis in the battle of the Don has been reached or passed, though Nazi difficulties must be increasing.

The length of front around the Nazi bulge to the Don from Kursk on the North to Kupyansk in the South is about 300 miles so far as it can be determined. The airline distance between Kursk and Kupyansk is about half that mileage. The fighting front, then, has doubled in length, meaning both armies have had to draw heavily on reserves to man the additional mileage.

But for the fact that Russian armies of the centre or Moscow area, above the Kursk railroad and German break-through point, were still to be reckoned with, Marshal Timoshenko's position would be much worse than that of his Nazi foes. He holds the exterior, long way around lines while the Germans hold the interior communications within the Kursk-Don-Kupyansk triangle.

Even so, armies of the size of those Hitler has thrown into the Don bulge require a tremendous daily flow of supplies and equipment. The military weakness of the sector through which the Germans are seeking to drive a wedge between Russian armies of the South and centre is its lack of East-West railroads or good highways.

There are but two such rail lines, the Kursk-Voronezh road and the Kupyansk-Liski line which reaches the Don 50 miles South of Russian maps, and the farther East and South the Germans progress, the more difficulty becomes the terrain.

Moscow announced evacuation of Staryi Oskol before Berlin could claim its capture by asault. Just how deep a Russian withdrawal is involved is not indicated. It seems probable, however, that in order both to shorten and strengthen his lines from the Don breach to Kupyansk and to take advantage of natural defence positions, Timoshenko has fallen back to the Oskol River valley.

Unless they can drive Timoshenko from his indicated Oskol river front or turn that position down the Don from the North to get possession and use of the Kupyansk-Liski railroad, the whole Nazi effort could bog down short of any decisive rupture in the Russian front from Moscow to the Sea of Azov and the gateways to the Caucasus.

Allied Forces Join in Battle Practice in Ireland

WITH THE ALLIED FORCES IN NORTHERN IRELAND, July 9 (AP)—British, United States and Canadian troops in Northern Ireland completed today eight gruelling days of battle practice, the first in which the great Allied forces in ulster have joined.

It was understood that the Canadians at the manoeuvres were confined to a small liaison group.

British soldiers who have been in the field for almost three years and Americans with about 18 months training in the United States and Ulster "fought" together and against each other in the first such manoeuvres in the European theatre of operations.

Workmen Are Sent to Work on Alaska Highway

EDMONTON, July 9 (CP)—Canadian contractors on the highway from Fort St. John, B. C., to Alaska are placing orders for workmen and these are being sent out to start work immediately, it was learned Thursday.

Orders have been received already for more than 100 men and it is anticipated the calls will be much heavier shortly as the work gets rolling. Eventually several thousand workmen will be employed on the road.

Common laborers, carpenters and others are being shipped out on the project. The rate for common labourers is 60 cents an hour while men will be required to pay not more than $1.25 a day for board.

Name Fliers Killed in Air Collision

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., July 9 CP.)—Lac. R. G. Johnston, son of George Johnston, Vancouver, was one of four airmen killed yesterday when two training planes from the No. 15 Service Flying Training School at Claresholm, Alta., collided in mid-air.

The others were Lac. Edward Ernest Gutteridge, Calgary; Lac. C. M. Stearns, Calgary, and Lac. W. C. MacDonald, Regina.

The Weather

Clouds and a light breeze helped in bringing cooler weather to Nelson Thursday, although the mercury still climbed into the 80's. The maximum temperature was 83, the minimum 53.5 degrees. Though the day was cooler than any in the last 14, toward 5 p.m. the sun shone uninterrupted and set the thermometer climbing again.

Level of the West Arm at Nelson receded .04 foot in the 24 hours from Wednesday's reading. Thursday's level was 9.96 feet above the low water mark

Coast Murder Case to Go to Supreme Court

VICTORIA, July 9 (CP)—Appeal on behalf of the crown, to the Supreme Court of Canada in the Hughes Et Al Murder Case, in which a young Japanese was killed in his Vancouver store some months ago, was announced today by Attorney-General R. L. Maitland, K.C.

"The recent judgment of the appeal court of this province lays down a new principle in murder trials in British Columbia," the Attorney-General said. "It has always been held that where two or more persons arm themselves for the purpose of sallying out to hold up people, and if, during the prosecution of such a criminal adventure, the victim is killed, they are all guilty of murder.

"The Hughes decision seems to hold that if the victim resists and is accidentally killed by a gun carried by one of the holdup men, the offence may be reduced to manslaughter.

"I think this is so important that it should be decided by the highest court, so I have given instructions to enter an appeal, although I am always reluctant to appeal in criminal cases on behalf of the Crown. In this case I feel that the matter is so important that it should be definitely decided by the Supreme Court of Canada."

Mr. Maitland said a definite principle of criminal responsibility, heretofore recognized by the courts of B.C., is involved.

Huns Use Fire to Wipe Out Village on Norwegian Island

MONTREAL, July 9 (CP.)—Information received by the Norwegian Press Bureau here said today that all houses on the island of Bulandet in the Western coastal region North of Bergen, Norway, have been set on fire and wiped out by the Germans.

The announcement said the population of the island, a key point for herring fisheries, have been deported and part of the male population arrested. No reason was given for this new act of terror.

Red Armies Hold Firmly on West Bank of Don River

New Nazi Drive Pushes Right Wing Forward Towards Stalingrad; Manufacturing Town of Rossosh Threatened

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, July 10 (Friday) (AP)—The massed steel might of the German armies in South Russia had driven to within 23 miles of industrial Stalingrad on the Volga today, but the determined Red Armies held their ground firmly before gravely imperilled Voronezh and the upper reaches of the Don, the midnight Russian communique disclosed.

"During July 9 our troops continued their stubborn battles to the West of Voronezh and in the area of the town of Rossosh," the communique said.

Rossosh is 100 miles Southwest of Voronezh and 150 miles directly East of the great steel city of Kharkov. On a tributary close to the Don, Rossosh is 90 miles Northeast of Kupyansk — the first major point captured in this major German offensive of the year. It lies only 235 miles Northwest of Stalingrad, on the broad banks of the Volga commanding the Northern approaches to the oil bearing Caucasus, which apparently is the German goal.

(Russian sources in London conceded the altest German advance is of the gravest importance.)

Rossosh is a manufacturing town about 20 miles from the middle Don area. The new 90-miles German advance pushed the Nazi right wing far forward while the Russians threw in hundreds of thousands of soldiers in an effort to hold the Nazi centre and left along the line of the upper Don farther North.

By the advance, the Germans went a long way toward establishing a new line extending Northward from the Rostov area, the point of their deepest penetration last year, 300 miles North of Voronezh.

The critical nature of the fighting in the Rossosh area was pointed up by the fact that the town lies on the Moscow-Voronezh-Rostov railway, the last remaining North-South link over which supplies are funnelled to the desperately pressed armies of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko.

The assertion that the fighting was "in the area of the town" suggested that the railway might either be cut or at least gravely threatened over a 100-mile length. Already, if not cut, the rail link probably is under attack of dive-bombers or long range artillery.

SINK THREE HUN SHIPS

Three Nazi ships totalling 22,000 tons, a tanker and two transports, were declared sunk in the Baltic Sea. Soviet submarines have been active in that German lake" for nearly two weeks, disrupting German transport lines to their siege lines before Leningrad and the North. They also have interrupted the iron ore and timber traffic with Sweden.

STALL 800 TANKS

A huge mass of 800 German tanks was reported stalled on the West bank of the upper Don and Timoshenko was reported counter-attacking boldly in an attempt to crush the enemy before he could cross the vital water way in force.

The shallow, sluggish upper Don which is 500 to 700 feet wide at the point of battle West of Voronezh, offered only a slight barrier to the German juggernaut, but the determined Russian army was installed in the ravine-cut hills above the East bank and putting up fierce resistance.

The main German armored and mechanized forces have been held five days West of the Don in their supreme effort to thrust a salient across the waterway and cut railway and highway communications between Moscow and the South.

On the Northwestern front, where the Germans have been pressing local attacks for several days, the Red army was reported to have taken the offensive. After withdrawing to a new line, the Russians counter-attacked, recapturing two places.

Hard fighting was reported in progress in three sectors of the Kalinin front Northwest of Moscow with alternate successes. Despatches said 25 German planes were downed in three days and the Russian communique listed 2000 Germans killed in five days.

LONDON, July 9 (CP)—Official Polish sources reported today that Nazis had killed the entire Jewish population of Hrubieszow, a town in Southeastern Poland.

They described the town as of 15,000 to 20,000 inhabitants, of whom more than 5000 were Jewish.

House Approves War Risk Insurance and Compensation Bill

OTTAWA, July 9 (CP.)—The House of Commons tonight gave approval in committee of the whole to the War Risk Insurance and Compensation Bill for the protection of Canadians who suffer property damage due to the war.

The House gave second reading to amendments to the bill, and it was stood over for third reading at the next sitting.

Finance Minister Ilsley, sponsor of the bill, said it would be made operative as soon as possible after receiving final approval.

Mr. Ilsley said that James Matson of Montreal, general manager of the Royal Insurance Company of Canada, would be supervisor of war damage insurance, "an excellent man" whose companies had agreed he should serve for nothing apart from travelling and out-of-pocket expenses. Mr. Matson had been engaged in setting up the scheme for some time.

At the afternoon session of the House, Mr. Ilsley said that within 30 days after passage of the bill it would be possible to issue policies under the insurance plan.

Until the bill is passed there is no authority to accept any obligation under the plan to protect Canadians who suffer loss due to the war, but the Minister said he had gone on with the organization of the scheme.

Under the bill there is no power to institute a compulsory insurance scheme which would enable the government to levy against all Canadian property owners rates which would be used later for indemnity against war damage. If such provision became necessary later a further measure would be required and the government had authority to take such action under the War Measures Act.

Mr. Ilsley asured that there would be no territorial discrimination in rates. Inland points with low risks would obtain no advantage from their position, and coastal points with high risk would not be penalized.

The power given the government to refuse policies would not be exercised simply because a certain area was liable to attack. The House was considering the war risk insurance bill in committee.

LONDON, July 9 (CP.)—Reporting open rebellion among Netherlands teachers against the Nazi educational system in Holland, the Netherlands news agency said today hundreds of teachers had been imprisoned or dismissed and numerous institutions, including Delft College, closed in mid-term.

Hitler Reported to Have Yielded to Demands to Recall Brauchitsch

LONDON, July 10 (Friday). (CP)—The Stockholm correspondent of the Daily Mail reported today that Hitler, who last December assumed the "intuitive" military leadership of the German armies, has yielded to the demands of his High Command and restored Field Marshal Walter von Brauchitsch as Commander in Chief.

Von Brauchitsch now is directing the General Staff work of Hitler's Summer offensive in Russia, the correspondent said he was told by neutrals arriving in Stockholm from Berlin.

Field Marshal Fedor von Bock, who is directing operations on the Central Russian front where the Germans have been reported in a break-through from Kharkov, is said to be answerable to von Brauchitsch, the correspondent said.

Lieutenant Craufurd, Nelson Native Son, Dies of Wound; In Engineers; Scholarship Winner at Nelson High

Lieut. Robert Clifford Craufurd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Craufurd of Nelson, died overseas Thursday.

A cable received by his parents stated: "Deeply regret Lieutenant Robert Clifford Craufurd officially reported died of wound 9th July. Further information follows when received." Mr. and Mrs. Craufurd have no other intimation as to how or where their son was wounded.

Lieutenant Craufurd was born in Nelson July 16, 1918, and attended Central and High Schools here. At the end of his second year at High School he went to Upper Canada College, Toronto, on a scholarship. On matriculation he entered Toronto University, where he obtained his Bachelor of Science degree in chemical engineering.

WITH SOAP MAKERS

From University he went to the Procter & Gamble plant at Hamilton, starting "at the bottom" in the soap wrapping and packing department and working upward until he became supervising chemist in the soap making section of the plant. During this time he spent six months in the company's plant at Cincinnati.

Toward the end of 1939, after war broke out, he joined a non-permanent militia unit; but shortly afterward went on active service with a commission as lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Engineers. He attended various army schools and among other Maritime points was stationed at Debert, N. S., and Sussex, N. B. He went overseas about a year ago.

Lieutenant Craufurd leaves his parents in Nelson and a sister Ruth, Mrs. Robert Waldie, at Robson.

As a lad he was a popular entertainer, particularly when he appeared with his father in comic songs. While in High School he was chosen to represent the school in an oratorical contest at Penticton, and although the youngest competitor, won his way to the semi-finals. He was a Wolf Cub in Nelson, and was in demand around campfires. He carried on in this capacity while working in Hamilton, and was a popular entertainer and song leader at factory social functions.

It will then be sent by truck to the compressor house, where the bulk of the other salvage is stored.

Residents are asked to search in their homes and have any of these items ready.

Kootenay Hotel, Pioneer Hostelry, Fire Gutted; Owner, Family and Tenant, Awakened by Smoke, Escape

Metal Roof Causes Mushrooming Flames

Racked by fire early Thursday morning the Kootenay Cafe and Rooms, 516 Vernon Street, pioneer Nelson hostelry was a total loss. William Bodnaruk, the owner, his family and a lone tenant, William Gibson, escaped with the few clothes they were able to grab after they were awakened by clouds of smoke

Gibson, whose room was over the restaurant kitchen, where the fire started, awakened choking as the smoke rolled into his room. Bodnaruk, in a room on the opposite side of the building, also was awakened by smoke and dashed half clothed through the building toward the telephone in the cafe to send in the alarm, but was forced back by the heat. His wife, their children, Lena, Mary, Mike and Nancy, and a grandchild, Betty Frederickson of Trail, who was their guest, escaped through the back door to the lane. Tenants in the Medical Arts building sheltered them.

The night before the fire a Doukhobor family occupied rooms in the Kootenay.

Insurance of $2000 was carried on the building and $1000 on contents, and owing to the age and condition of the building, fire loss was placed at the total of these two sums, $3000.

KLONDYKE DAMAGE $150

Another pioneer hotel, the Klondyke, its wall only 14 to 16 inches away from the East wall of the Kootenay, was damaged to the extent of about $150. It is owned by the M. Johnson estate. On the West side a single storey frame building, owned by J. B. Olds, England, and used by Joseph Langley as a grocery and candy store, was undamaged.

The fire was not spectacular, a metal roof preventing the flames from breaking through except at the rear. But that same roof made the firemen's fight the more difficult as the flames mushroomed under it and spread through the joists to break out repeatedly in new places. At one stage the mushrooming flames burst through a window over a second-floor door and for a few seconds shot out as if from a huge blowtorch.

The hotel actually was two buildings, separated by a few inches, with hallways and a common roof joining them. Sawdust packing used apparently as weather insulation, added to the thick smoke as it was smouldering.

Hundreds of spectators, many of them with coats thrown on over night attire, watched the firemen battle the flames. They again saw A.R.P. auxiliary firemen prove their worth as they joined members of the Fire Department in the fight. Firemen were on the job from 1:45 to 7:30 a.m.

It was the second fire in the Kootenay within four years. On Christmas Eve of 1938 when Chinese operated a cafe in the West half of the building, a chimney fire damaged the kitchen and one room on the second floor. Damage then was not extensive.

STARTED UNDER RANGE

Investigation revealed that the fire started under the restaurant range. This was the only place the fire went through the ground floor. The stove was set up on bricks and apparently radiated heat charred through the floor. A combination of charring, the heat of the range and suitable atmospheric conditions caused flames to break out, it is believed and in the old building they spread rapidly.

Bodnaruk left the kitchen at 8 p.m. Wednesday night at the close of his day's work; and his daughters, completing the chores, left at 8:15.

When the Fire Department was called at 1:45 a.m. the entire kitchen and rear end of that half of the building was in flames, from the floor to the roof. Two hose lines were laid from a hydrant at Vernon and Ward Streets and immediately were used, with fog nozzles, to shield the Klondyke Hotel.

Fire Chief G. A. McDonald made an inspection of the building to make sure no one was asleep in it, and then directed the laying of four more lines from other hydrants on Baker and Vernon Streets. Two of these were taken to the rear and two to the front. Two of the lines were divided into two each, and protection was provided for the grocery-candy store on the west side as well as the hotel on the east side. By this time the entire building was involved, and eight nozzles were throwing water on the flames.

LONG FIGHT

But it was a long and dangerous fight, for the flames mushrooming under the metal roof, and the split-up nature of the building with its long halls, many room, and connecting halls between the two sections, caused the fire to break through in new places repeatedly. Firemen fought flames overhead as well as in front of them until they had the whole building soaked.

Throughout the fight spectators speculated on the fate of the Klondyke, but there were no "takers" for bets that it too would fall victim. Bettors appeared to be on sure ground when a casing around an upper floor window began to flare, but an A.R.P. fireman took a two-gallon chemical extinguisher from Chief McDonald's car and put it out.

Examination after the fire revealed that at this point on the side of the Klondyke there was some surface charring, panes surface charring, six panes in two windows were out and the window casings charred, one pane in a third window six feet away was cracked, and where water seeped through the siding interior wallpaper was wet. Total damage to the Klondyke was estimated at $10.

Most serious fireman's injury was the cut on the hand suffered by Stanley Lyon, an A.R.P. volunteer, in breaking a window. Chief McDonald suffered for several hours after the fire from the effects of smoke inhaled while he was checking to see no one was left in the second floor rooms. Other fire fighters had minor cuts.

One of the sidelights on the fire was a cascade of water from the second floor down onto Vernon Street during the height of the fight. This water, six inches deep and getting deeper as the floor sagged, was creating a dangerous condition when it was noticed and firemen cut a high door sill, releasing it. They also cut a hole in the floor in a nearby room and another miniature waterfall from the second to the ground floor resulted.

Old Timers Figure Age of Hotel at 51 Years

As nearly as old timers can recall the Kootenay Hotel, destroyed by fire early Thursday morning, was built 51 years ago.

R. G. Joy, Historian of the Nelson and District Old Timers Association, checked with other pioneers and went through his historical notes in an effort to trace its origin. "Kootenay" Johnson, well known card player, owned it in the early days, they said. Later Mrs. Mallette, mother of Napoleon Mallette, owned it.

William Bodnaruk, present owner, purchased it six years ago from Mr. Barnett, now of Slocan City. Mr. Bodnaruk had operated it for 11 years, renting it previously to taking it over.

John Blomberg, another old timer, told Mr. Joy that he was waiting table in the original Kootenay Hotel when John Houston, Nelson's First Mayor, arrived in the city accompanied by Charles Ink and Dr. Allen. They came to Nelson from Balfour, walking along the shore, part of the time on the ice, and arrived tired and wet.

At that time the Hotel was half of its later size. Mrs. Mallette enlarged it, putting up the second half of the building at the time the Crow's Nest Pass Railway was being built and a large number of laborers were in and out of Nelson.

The old building was closely tied in with Nelson's early history.

Andy Wallace, pioneer carpenter, is believed to have worked on it.

SAYS NO NEED FOR U.S. MARRIED MEN AS WAR WILL BE OVER

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP.)—Predicting the war will end "probably in 1942 and unquestionably in 1943," Chairman Andrew May of the House of Representatives Military Affairs Committee said today there will be no need for the United States army to induct married men or youths in the 18 and 19-year group.

The information on which he based the prediction, he told reporters, was "a military secret," obtained since the recent Russian reverses.

Income Tax Deductions to Start From First Pay Day in September

By R. K. CARNEGIE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

OTTAWA, July 9 (CP).—Methods of collecting incor tax imposed in the new budget from salaried persons and wage earners were agreed upon at conferences between income tax officials and representatives of larger employers, it was officially stated today.

Some of the main points are:

1. Deductions from the pay envelopes of the employees at the source will start with the first payday in September

2. Deductions over the year until Aug. 31, 1943, will cover the entire portion of the income tax of the employee that is kept by the Government and approximately one third of the portion which is refundable after the war;

3. The employee must file his tax return by Sept. 30;

4. The employer must file a statement of salaries and wages of his employees by Oct. 15;

5. The employer must tell his employee what return he is making concerning that particular employee early in September, so that the employer and employee returns will conform;

6. An employer must make a return on each employee whose salary or wage is three-quarters of such employee's total income.

The new tax rates are retroactive to Jan. 1 last. The payments beginning in September continue until the end of August, meaning that the tax on 1942 income is not paid in full until that time.

The most important feature of today's announcement is that deductions from pay envelopes include approximately one-third of the refundable portion of the tax, and not the full amount.

The budget provides that taxpayers may offset the refundable or compulsory savings portion of the tax by deducting payments on life insurance premiums, superannuation fund payments and payments on principal of mortgages.

The fear among taxpayers across Canada, as shown by letters flowing into C. Fraser Elliott, Commissioner of Income Tax, has been that the full amount of the refundable portion of the income tax would be deducted at the source and the taxpayer would not get a rebate until adjustments were made a year or so later. Meantime the insurance premiums and payments on the mortgages would have to be met.

Such a procedure would have placed many taxpayers in great difficulty to provide the ready money until they got the rebate.

The National Revenue Department has decided on requiring the employers to deduct approximately one-third of the refundable portion of the tax and the balance will be adjusted between the taxpayer and income tax office after deduction of the insurance premiums, superannuation and mortgage principal payments.

For example, if the refundable portion of income tax is $300, the employer will deduct over the year $100 of this portion and the employee will look after the remaining portion.

If the taxpayer pays more than $200 in life insurance premiums, superannuation and principal payments on mortgage he will be entitled to a refund from the income tax office but if it is less he will have to pay the difference.

As the refundable feature of the income tax is really compulsory savings, the one-third deduction was arrived at in the belief that the average wage-earner already is saving in his insurance and mortgage payments two-thirds of what the budget expects him to save.

At the conferences with Mr. Eliott and his staff were representatives of the railway companies, Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Chambers of Commerce and a considerable list of larger employers.

Wilhelmshaven Is R.C.A.F. Target in Raid on Germany

LONDON, July 9 (CP)—A strong force of Royal Air Force bombers, attacking the German naval base of Wilhelmshaven last night, loosed 4000-pound bombs—the biggest they have ever announced using—the Air Ministry said today.

Returning pilots said that by the time the last of their planes left the target area great fires were raging in the Wilhelmshaven shipyards.

By ALLAN NICKELSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

LONDON, July 9 (CP Cable).—R.C.A.F. squadrons, including some Wellingtons carrying "extra special" bomb loads, aided the R.A.F. in last night's pounding of much-bombed Wilhelmshaven naval base.

Returning crews reported they were able to see growing circles of incandescent flames and dazzling flashes of high explosives after dropping their bombs loads.

The R.C.A.F. said at least two Canadian squadrons participated in the night's operations and it was believed another also took part. Halifaxes and Wellingtons made up the All-Canadian formations while numerous other Canucks flew with R.A.F. units.

The R.C.A.F. report on the operations termed the bomb loads as "extra special." There was no explanation of this phrase but it is believed to indicate that some bombs were of the same super size as some of those which the R.A.F. previously carried into Germany.

"The nicest feeling I've had in a long time was when that big baby dropped," said Flt. Lt. J. D. Pattison of Toronto, who carried one of the extra special bombs for the first time.

The Germans attempted to confuse the attackers with dummy flare paths to draw the fire away from the objective, but it didn't work, said Po. Bill Maitland, D.F.M., of Vancouver, who added he "didn't encounter any night fighters."

The trip was a farewel operation for some time for several Canadians, who will leave before joining the new French-Canadian squadron. Among them was Flt. Sgt. Laurence Swanson, D.F.M., Edmonton.

Fighter Command aircraft at the same time attacked enemy airdromes and other objectives in occupied France. The Air Ministry said they intercepted and destroyed two German bombers.

In offensive-defensive operations, two German bombers were reported destroyed by British "intruder" pilots over Geman-occupied territory during the night.

On the home front, the Government said that "during the hours of darkness there was nothing to report."

BERLIN, July 9 (AP).—Wesermunde and Wilhelmshaven were attacked during the night by R.A.F. bombers, D.N.B. said today. Damage was caused at both places by high explosive and incendiary bombs, it said.

The news and propaganda agency claimed that three of the attacking bombers were shot down.

Trial Continues in Secret

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—The Military Commission trying eight German-born men as plotters against the United States clung tightly to its veil of secrecy today despite continuing discussions on whether to let the public in on at least part of the proceedings.

Efforts to break the impasse on information reached the White House, where Director Elmer Davis of the office of war information and Secretary of War Stinson conferred with President Roosevelt.

UNIONS ASK RAISE IN AIRCRAFT WORKERS' WAGES

LOS ANGELES, July 9 (AP)—A.F.L. and C.I.O. representatives submitted joint demands to a Government conference today for aircraft industry wage increases ranging as high as 50 per cent.

Union and management are conferring with Government advisors on blanket increases covering the entire industry. Such a wage scale would affect more than a million workers if applied on a national scale.

Both the CIO and AFL contend that there must be an increase in aircraft wages or shipyards and other lucrative war trades will pull workers away.

Huns Claim Six Convoy Ships Sunk Off Britain

BERLIN, July 9 (AP)—The German High Command claimed today that a German motor torpedo boat flotilla has sunk six merchant ships totalling 19,000 tons, including tankers, from a convoy off the English coast.

The German craft were said to have "carried out their attack in the face of the British escort.'

(The enemy claims lack confirmation of any sort from British quarters.)

Island of Mayotte Is Occupied by British

LONDON, July 9 (CP)—British forces occupied the French island of Mayotte in the Mozambique Channel on July 2 without resistance or casualties, the War Office announced today.

Mayotte is one of the Comoro Islands. Grand Comoro, Anjouan and Moheili are the other prinicipal islands.

Mayotte, with a population of less than 18,000 and an area of 140 square miles, is an island producing principally rum and perfume.

It is the most strategically situated of the Comoros for control of the Mozambique Channel, being about 250 miles West of Madagascar, the Northern part of which British forces occupied in May, and about 300 miles East of Portuguese East Africa.

(Dispatches from Portuguese East Africa Tuesday reported sinking of three neutral or Allied merchantships in the Mozambique Channel and an attack on a fourth by submarines.)

Under Vichy rule, the Comoros all hava been attached to the Madagascar Government.

In Conference With Eleanor Roosevelt

By MARGARET KERNODLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, (CP)—This is for women who wonder what it is like to go to Mrs. Roosevelt's press conference in wartime.

At first, while you're getting in, it's fairly formal. Preliminaries include obtaining a membership card. I've been here a month but still sport only a temporary White House pass. That required two fingerprints and no photograph, but the permanent pass makes you black both hands and each finger twice, pose for a picture and fill in pages of information about yourself. Maybe I forgot to mention my chicken pox scar.

Anyhow, temporarily we're in, having passed guards at the gate, at the White House door and in the hall. We wait in the famous green room. Frankly it looks like a room that has been beautiful.

ENTER SMILING

A White House atendant comes to get us when Mrs. Roosevelt is ready. We flock up the steps in a feminine flurry behind him. He shows us into the Monroe room. We sit a second or so, jump up as Mrs. Roosevelt smiles herself into the room with her secretaries Miss Malvina Thompson and Mrs. Edith Helm.

This was the sitting room for King George and Queen Elizabeth, the room for Johnson's cabinet meetings and the place where the treaty with Spain was signed.

Mrs. Roosevelt chats her conference into the program for the day. There's a feeling in the room that makes you think "Today she's going to spring something that will make a story."

She tells a good story on herself, the kind you like to read in the little box on the second page of your paper while finishing your coffee. She baits the press for questions the way a good club leader manages to make everybody feel "in on things" by directing discussion.

CONFERENCE COSTUME

Mrs. Roosevelt wears a white dress and black coat, sheer black hose and patent leather pumps, which make her legs look pretty. Sometimes she wears thick stockings and sturdier shoes.

She likes to laugh and does. She seems annoyed only when someone asks a question to which the answer seems obvious or has been given. When she sets the next conference date, she does it so that the press appears to help her decide, despite the fact that she knows she's doing it herself. Her goodby, in an almost musical manner, is a farewell from a gracious hostess.

SERIAL STORY . . . . . By ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

YOU ARE THE ONE

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

Wayne Courtright had been right when he had told Tibby over the phone that she would find that her friend, Marg Baker had become quite a heroine. He had been right too when he said she would read about it in the morning papers.

There was a picture of Marg—and one of Captain Mercer—on the front page. "Only of course, it doesn't do her justice." Tibby commented loyally. "But just look what it says about her, Steena. 'Due credit is attributed to the stewardess,' Tibby read, for her steady nerve and calm fortitude. Captain Mercer had said that Miss Baker was responsible for maintaining order and of keeping up the spirits of the passengers until the rescue planes arrived. This must have been no easy task as by the time help came the weight of the ship having broken through the ice, water stood knee deep inside the cabin. The wings kept the ship from going under but no one knew how much longer they could take the strain.' It must have been awful!" Tibby stopped reading to exclaim.

"I don't suppose it was exactly a comfortable spot to be in," Steena admitted. "I don't envy Marg the experience even if she is a heroine now. Most chivalrous of Captain Mercer to give her so much glory, don't you think? Most men prefer to hog it all themselves, but evidently Marg admires the captain as much as he admires her—and you know how she raves on and on about him. I must say,'" she finished, picking up the paper, "that his picture does do him justice. He's not bad looking at all if you like that stocky, sturdy type." She put the paper down again, with a slight shrug that seemed to dismiss the type for her. Then she added, significantly, "I wonder what the captain's wife will have to say to all this?"

"What could she say?" Tibby had spoken more sharply than she had intended to, but that was such an uncalled for remark. Tibby did not think that Marg raved on and on about Captain Mercer, she merely admired his ability as a pilot, an admiration that appeared warranted now.

Steena shrugged again. "Nothing or lots of things," she said. "She may not be as generous as her husband, as anxious to give Marg all the spotlight. From what I hear, she is the sort of person who likes the centre of the stage all to herself."

"Aren't you talking in riddles?" Tibby suggested. She thought that Steena enjoyed dramatizing things too much. She knew, of course what she meant—that Mrs. Mercer might be jealous of the praise Captain Mercer had bestowed on Marg; a few wives were like that, about their husband's secretaries or any other women who were thrown into contact with them.

"Maybe," Steena admitted. "But as I said before—I don't envy Marg her new position as a heroine. Sometimes it's wiser to keep out of the spotlight, you know. I tried to tell Marg that—when I told her she ought not be seen with Captain Mercer when off duty."

"But that was only that one time" Tibby objected.

"That's what YOU think!" Steena retorted.

"Do you mean there has been more talk?" Tibby remembered what Steena had said about there being a grapevine system that spread all gossip around the field, often distorting the bare truth by embroidering it to much larger proportions. Maybe Steena was not imagining it all.

"I mean that Marg had darned well better watch her step." If Steena knew anything more definite than rumors, she evidently did not mean to pass it on just then. "You will recall that I told her that before. And that Marg lost her temper. She may lose more than that if she's not careful. She's a very foolish girl to have ANYTHING to do with a married man."

Risks . . .

Slight Injury May Have Grave Results

BY LOGAN GLENDENING, M. D.

Trauma is defined in the dictionary as "an injury or wound." Microtrauma is therefore a slight oinjury or a microscopic injury. It is surprising how many patients refer the beginning of their illness to an accident or an injury of some kind. This connection can seldom be substantiated but the possibility of repeated minute traumatisms as a cause of illness is a very suggestive one.

Prolonged weight-bearing has an influence on compression of the cartilages of the joints of the spine and of the legs. A study of the pressure within the knee joint with the subject standing and with heavier and heavier weight-bearing decreases the circulation of tissue fluid in the joints until finally it stops completely.

POSSIBLE RESULTS

Normally this goes on with everybody to a certain extent, but the stoppage of the circulation of tissue fluid in most of us is temporary, with no ensuing disorder of tissue nutrition. The compression and relaxation of the cartilaginous disks between the spinal vertabrae that occurs in breathing and bodily motion also normally results in no disorder. But with any decrease in perfect nutritional health of these structures, any slight increase in traumatism may result in the beginning of arthritis or neuritis.

According to Dr Duschak, soldiers, factory workers, dentists, surgeons, policemen, salesmen, cooks and waiters are particularly liable to microtrauma. Prevention depends upon shortening and interrupting the continuous weight-bearing by intercalated motions, the use of exercise, massage, vibration, heat and often the correction of such deformaties as pronated feet, knock knees, bowlegs, etc.

Herb Edgings Are Useful

By DEAN HALLIDAY

The Victory Garden plot can be made both beautiful and practical by the use of herbs for edging. There are many pot herbs, salad herbs and seasoning herbs from which to choose. Sweet basil or Bush basil, which has smaller leaves, are old favorites.

Basil grows easily from seed to approximately one foot in height, and branches profusely, forming a compact globular bush.

"Dressing up" the victory garden

As illustrated in the Garden-Graph, the leaves can be cut off as soon as the plants are big enough but should not be cut in quantities for drying until the flowers begin to open.

After the first heavy cutting, feed the plants well and they will continue to grow and produce. Roots of strong plants can be potted for a Winter supply.

Basil is used with anything made with tomatoes or cheese. It is fine for flavoring soups, especially bean and turtle. It is also used to make vinegar and to flavor fruit drinks.

Slimming Easy in the Summer

BY IDA JEAN KAIN

Slimming is a picnic in the good old Summer time. Do you like fresh berries, vine ripened tomatoes, corn-on-the-cob, crisp green salads and melons? Well, help yourself! They are high in flavor and low incalories and made to order for reducing.

Seriously, if you need to take off 15 to 20 pjounds, do it this Summer. You will never have a better chance than now. There are three things in your favor. The hot weather takes the edge off your appetite, nature cuts down the calories in the foods in season, and, on top of all that, we have sugarrationing.

Just by exercising your intelligence you can sidestep the calories and be on a delicious menu. Cut down on the heat producing foods—the rich fats and the concentrated sweets—and there you are, on a reducing fare.

Fat in food is the main thing to watch. Beside having the bread slized thin for sandwiches, go light on theb utter and spread the mayonnaise thin. Use mustard instead of mayonnaise in a meat sandwich. On salads, use a small amount of mayonnaise, or vinegar and seasoning. Or use boiled dressings made with skimmed milk—it's delicious. If you go for deviled eggs, use boiled dressing and mustard in place of mayonnaise.

Corn-on-the-cob isn't fattening but the butter you put on it is. So have two medium-size ears of corn and only one pat of butter, one-fourth inch thick.

Drink lots of water between meals but don't take too much with your meals. And step up your salt intake a bit by sprinkling it on melons, salads and such. Ordinarily your reducing diet should slightly restrict salt but not in the Summer because too much is lost from he body through perspiration.

TIPS ON THE NEW RAYONS

The new rayons are grand—but you must handle them gently.

1. Buy wisely—be sure of your size.
2. Put them on carefully—as you did your sheerest silk ones.
3. Don't rub or twist them. Avoid cake soap rubbing. This weakens threads, encourages runs.
4. Dip them in lukewarm Lux the minute you take them off. Lux saves elasticity, helps stockings to keep their fit.
5. When drying—gently squeeze out moisture, then roll stockings in a turkish towel.
6. Don't use clothespins, but do hang them over a smooth rod, away from heat and sun.
7. Dry thoroughly for a full day at least, before you wear them again. Rayons are strongest when perfectly dry.

YOUR glamorous new rayons and bembergs will wear beautifully if you give them gentle care. Be sure you dip them in LUX every night. Lux is gentle—saves elasticity—whisks away harmful perspiration—cuts down embarrassing, costly runs.

ENSURES JAMS AND JELLIES THAT SET PERFECTLY . . TASTE BETTER . . COST LESS!

HOW CERTO SAVES YOU TIME, MONEY WORK, WORRY

So Quick and Easy—For jam you need only a one to two-minute, full rolling boil—for jelly a half-minute to a minute.

Economical, too—Since very little juice has time to boil away you get up to two-thirds more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.

Fresh Fruit Taste—Natural Color—In this short boil the fresh flavor and natural fruit color stay in the fruit.

CERTO is Pectin Extracted from Fruit

When pectin is used in making jam and jelly, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board Order No. 150 allows you to use sugar not in excess of one and one-quarter pounds of sugar for each pound of fruit. On the basis that "fruit" means "unprepared" fruit, this allows you to make your jams and jellies the Certo way which gives you approximately two-thirds more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.

Board Backs Appeal for Transportation of West Arm Campers

Nelson Board of Trade will join in an appeal to W. J. McLean, C.P.R. Superintendent to continue the transportation of campers to Kootenay Lake and Lourdes, on the West arm as in the past few years. Under this plan coaches were attached to eastbound freight trains going out during the day, rather than having the campers wait for the 1:30 a.m. train out of Nelson.

Action was taken at the Board Council luncheon at the Hume on Thursday at the request of H. B. Gore, who stated those interested in the camps desired backing in their representations to Mr. McLean.

Says Free Speech of French Canadians on Trial; Asks Chaloult Acquittal

MONTREAL, July 9 (CP)—Defence Counsel Fernand Choquette asked for acquittal today in the case of Rene Chaloult, saying that "the case is bigger than Rene Chaloult for the privilege of free speech for French Canadians is on trial."

Mr. Choquette said that Mr. Chaloult, charged under Defence of Canada Regulations, had only tried to fight for the rights of his fellow-countrymen, "like Laurier (the late Sir Wilfred Laurier) and Lapointe (the late Justice Minister Ernest Lapointe) had fought during the First Great War for the rights of the French Canadian minority in Ontario." He did not elaborate on his point.

Mr. Choquette said the trial showed in what measure the right of free speech could be restricted in wartime and if free speech regulations were more strict in Canada than England and in Quebec than in other provinces of the Dominion.

A request by the Defence that Crown Prosecutor Gerald Fauteux speak first was denied by Judge Edouard Archambault, as the morning session opened. The ruling was given with Mr. Choquette protesting that in a summary conviction trial the Crown "is supposed to argue first."

Mr. Choquette said that newspapers reports of Mr. Chaloult's May 19 speech had been incomplete and submitted that they did not establish that Article 39 of the Defence of Canada Regulations had been violated. He added that "freedom of speech does not mean that one is allowed to preach uprising and assassination, but allowed one to warn the Government of the inevitable after math of a measure one is combating."

He claimed for his client the right to oppose any measure introduced before Parliament and the right to use any argument before it is passed.

Mr. Choquette said that were Article 39 strictly enforced, it "would be impossible to teach the history of Canada in Canadian schools, as inrecounting the victories of Montcalm would irk the English students, and the description of Wolfe's feats would create animosity among the French students."

However paradoxical it may seem," Mr. Choquette said, "French Canadians are just as determined at winning the war as they are irreductible in their fight against conscription for overseas." He added they were opposed to compulsory military participation.

"French Canadians," he said, "see an attempt at domination in the imposition of conscription by a majority."

Mr. Choquette held that the accused had a right to make a speech opposing conscription at a meeting "organized by an anti-conscription group and attended by two member of Parliament" (Maxime Raymond and Jean-Francois Pouliot.)

The Defence Counsel said the court had to consider that a full text of the accused's speech was not available. He quoted a French author as saying: "give me two words of a person and I'll have him hanged."

Philippe Monette, Associate Defence Counsel, said that Canada was no longer a "colony" and that nothing in the statutes of Westminster prevented a Canadian citizen from claiming his rights."

When the trial resumed, Defence Counsel Philippe Monette brought to the presiding judge's attention a headline in today's Montreal Gazette, topping a report of yesterday's session of the court. The headline read: Chaloult asserts conscription law not Ottawa right." And a smaller headline read: "Declares war an Imperial one, in which Canada is not interested." Mr. Monette said "these headlines are altogether in opposition" to Mr. Chaloult's testimony yesterday.

He added that the smaller head was "false, superlatively false." Mr. Monette added that he could ask that the Gazette "be found in contempt of court" but he would not do it because he was "convinced that such a thing would neither influence the court nor the public."

Defence Counsel Monette said that "the Gazette's reporter was not at fault and that in the body of the story Mr. Chaloult's testimony is accurately reported. However, such a headline certainly was written maliciously."

Police made a check on persons entering the courtroom asking newsmen and lawyers for identification. The check was apparently made to insure there would be sufficient accommodation for the official group.

News pictures were made during the morning session of the trial. It was believed to be the first time a camera was permitted in the courtroom.

Rev. W. J. Silverwood performed the ceremony.

The church decorations featured beautiful crimson roses used with honeysuckle syringa and Spirea.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a bouffant bridal gown of white sheer over satin, featuring a guilted yoke in a design of flowers and bishop sleeves with a coronet of orange blossoms. She wore a pearl necklace and an heirloom bracelet of her grandmother's, and carried a shower bouquet of crimson McGredy Roses.

Five attendants preceded the bride down the aisle. Brenda Hanson and Frances Wyderman, two winsome flower girls in Kate Greenaway costumes of yellow net over taffeta with poke bonnets tied with black velvet ribbons, carried victorian posys of red roses.

Miss Mary Myhre, the bride's sister, and Miss Dorothy James were the bridesmaids and wore floor touching gowns. The former was in Dresden blue point d'esprit with a matching doll hat. The latter was in pink point d'esprit featuring a bolero and sash of blue velvet which was also used as streamers on her large leghorn hat.

Their bouquets were of better times roses.

Mrs. A. Bowden of Trail was matron of honor and wore a powder blue sheer with white halo hat. Her bouquet was of crimson roses. A Cox of Trail was best man and ushers were Norman Kelsey and J. H. Bradley of the C.C.N.

A buffet lunch was served. The lovely appointed table was centred with a four-tier bride's cake flanked with rose buds in silver vases embedded in smilax. Mrs. Harry James was responsible for the decorations of the rooms which were carried out with pink and white streamers, silver bells and a profusion of crimson roses.

A. Cox proposed the bridal toast.

The church decorations were carried out by Mrs. F. H. Russel, who also played the wedding music. Mr. and Mrs. Tremblay will make their home in Trail, the bride travelling in a honey biege frock.

Winter, Spring Runoff High, June Under Par

While the Fraser and Columbia rivers had a better-than-average runoff for all the months from January to May inclusive, the Winter runoff being proportionately high, their June runoff was below average, due to the cold that prevailed, a statement issued by C. E. Webb, District Chief Engineer of the Dominion Water and Power Bureau, dated at Vancouver July 6, sets forth. The statement says:

"The Fraser and Columbia Rivers, the principal streams of the two major drainage systems in British Columbia, give a good general indication of runoff conditions in the Province with the exception of the Coastal area and Vancouver Island. Although heavy precipitation was recorded throughout the Province, the runoff was slightly below the June normal because of the low temperaure.

"The runoff of the Fraser River as recorded at our station at Hope from October to the end of June has been 98 per cent of the past 31-year average. This shows a gradual decrease from January, which showed 151 per cent of the same long-term mean, to 136 per cent for March, 125 per cent for April, and 107 per cent for May. The gauge height at Hope on June 30 of this year was 21.35 feet, compared with 21.70 in 1941, 23.90 in 1940, and 24.60 in 1939. The monthly runoff for June was 85 per cent of the normal for the month.

COLUMBIA FIGURES

"The total runoff of the Columbia River as recorded at our station at Trail from October to June inclusive has been 108 per cent of the past 29-year average. As in the case of the Fraser River, this shows a gradual decrease from 137 per cent in January, to 136 per cent in March, and 112 per cent in May. At this station the monthly runoff was 97 per cent of the average for the month of June, compared with 173 per cent for December, 135 per cent for February, and 86 per cent for May. On June 30 of this year the gauge height at Trail was 27.79 feet, as compared with 25.20 on the same date in 1941, 28.42 feet in 1940, and 27.56 feet in 1939.

"During the last week of June a sudden rise in temperature brought a slight rise in lake and stream levels throughout the Province. These were not up to the previous levels as recorded earlier in the month, however. In the case of the Columbia at Trail the peak was reached on June 11 (36.68 feet), and in the case of the Fraser at Hope the peak was 24.75 feet on June 9."

Sweden requires an increased wheat yield of 30 per cent over last year to maintain its present bread ration.

Empire Bait for Finland

Finland sems wedded to her Nazi alliance. Last Winter, when the Russians had the German war machine bogged down and off balance and retreating to find a tenable line, the Finns were seriously thinking of accepting peace with Russia, but the latest promises by Hitler seem to have assured Marshal Mannerheim's continued cooperation.

It would be interesting to know just the dimensions of the bait that has won the Finnish leader's support. Waverley Root, writing in the Montreal Star, mentions a dream of empire that Hitler is believed to have dangled before Mannerheim, that conceivably involves war upon Sweden—if the idea can be sold to the Finns.

The idea, as put by Mr. Waverley, is to create, as part of Hitler's New Order, a Scandinavian empire, composed of Finland, Sweden, Norway and Denmark. Over this group of states, Finland, as the only one which has allied itself with Germany would dominate. Exact details of post-war organization of the new unit are still to be worked out: it might be a bloc of states, with headquarters at Helsinki, or a single state under Finnish rule. The essential point is that it should represent an aggrandisement of Finland at the expense of the sovereignty of the other Scandinavian countries.

Germany is in a position to deliver Denmark and Norway now. But the formation of such a political unit would require the conquest or assent of Sweden as well. It seems unthinkable that Stockholm would agree willingly. And it is difficult to conceive of the Finns joining in an attack on Sweden. Acceptance of such an objective by Finnish leaders might mean that Germany alone would have to take Sweden first, as a preliminary to creating the Greater Finland she envisages, which might possibly be sold to Scandinavia and the world as a returning of their liberty to captive states.

This would postpone the realization of any such idea to a later date, for Germany is probably far too busy in Russia and Egypt just now to launch any new military expedition on a far front, even such a minor operation as that against Sweden would be.

But it may well be that the realization of this plan is the last thing the Germans are worrying about. They may consider that it will have done all the work they want of it if it inspires Marshal Mannerheim with the dream for empire and thus locks him more firmly into the Axis group. That unsatisfied ambition would serve Germany's purpose better than its realization.

It looks as if Finland has involved itself beyond repair, in the fate of Nazi Germany. Its present role as a Hitler puppet is hardly a good approach to the good will of Norway and Denmark—and it will certainly need somebody's good will when the dissolution of the Hitler regime is recorded.

PAY-AS-YOU-GO 78 PER CENT

In April of 1941 Hon. J. L. Ilsley estimated that in the ensuing fiscal year ending with March of 1942 Canada's war expenditure on her own behalf would be a minimum of $1,300,000. The actual figure announced last night was $1,351,553,00.

He estimated that Canada would pay from 73 to 79 per cent of her own war and non-war expenditures out of revenues. She did pay 78 per cent.—Toronto Star.

Press Comment

ANTI-SEMITISM BOOMERANGS

One thing the Nazis seem to be teaching the rest of us: that we dislike one another less than we imagined. Reports from the Netherlands are illustrative.

The Nazis in the Netherlands, for instance, have been decreeing unpleasantness for Jews. Dutch Quislings have been helping in an attempt to spread anti-Semitism among the Dutch people. What is the result? Let the "Dutch Goebbels," Max Blokzijl, tell it: "All kinds of people now act like Jews and show their sympathy with them." This is part of a complaint attributed to this Nazi follower by Editor Stoppelman of the Netherlands News Digest, who gets frequent reports from Holland.

Other significant developments include a new custom reported from Amsterdam, where it evidently has become a fashion for stout-hearted Dutchmen to raise their hats to Jews forced by the Nazis to wear Star of David emblems. In other towns the people have shown their sympathy with persecuted Jews by helping them to carry their luggage to the station when complying with evacuation orders, and by many acts of kindness.

The reaction of the Dutch people to Nazi anti-Semitism has amounted to much more than an expression of derision for the occupying forces. It has actually helped to protect Jews against sterner measures which have been inflicted on them elsewhere, according to Dutch reports. And it is said to have wiped out the last faint traces of any pre-war Dutch anti-Semitism.

This is understandable to peoples of the United Nations. Governments suspicious of one another are now cooperating on a basis which would have been thought impossible a short time ago. Countries which were once acutely conscious of differences of interest, race and culture are now finding common virtues as they battle the evil of Nazilsm. Not only in Holland but elsewhere, the Jew and the Gentile are findig fellowship in opposing brutal racial fictions, as in France, where gentile youths are wearing yellow handkerchiefs to match the yellow Stars of David worn by Jews.

All these people would probably agree that you don't know how little you dislike your liberty-loving neighbor, or how much you like him, until Nazis move into the neighborhood. In any event, the instinct of free men to protect the weak is a measure of their strength to win, not only this war, but a better world. — Christian Science Monitor.

STETTLER MEMBER CANNOT BE RECALLED

One of the planks of the Social Credit party's platform in the campaign of 1935 was the passage of recall legislation so that any member might be dismissed by his constituents if his course were unsatisfactory. That particular pledge was honored by the new Alberta government, and recall machinery was put into effect.

However, by the irony of events, the first member to be subject to recall proceedings was the member for Okotoks-High River, none other than Premier Aberhart himself. All the requirements of the Recall Act were met by the constituents demanding that he should be unseated. Faced with this highly uncomfortable situation, the social caucus reversed its position and decided to ditch the legislation. The legislature performed a volte face in quick time, causing general laughter—and in some quarters, contempt—throughout the province.

The Premier retained his seat and the government retained the $250 deposit required of the Okotoks-High River petitioners. But how handy that Recall Act would be today to deal with the defiant Social Credit member for Stettler, who declares he is through giving support to the government. He cannot be recalled, and the cabinet cannot punish him except by keeping him out of the caucus, which will not hurt his feelings in the least for he got in the first blow.—Calgary Herald.

433,914 MAN-DAYS LOST

It is not pleasant reading to learn that there were more labor disputes in this Dominion in 1941 than in 1940 and that the number of man-days lost last year was 433,914 as compared with 266,318 in 1940. Obviously the grave implications of the present war have, as yet, not permeated the home front to the degree needed. As to the merits of the disputes which led men to give up work for certain periods in different industries, they should always be a subject of negotiation when the very life of a nation is in jeopardy. There is an instance in point in the recent strike in the shipbuilding yards of Vancouver. If there is any war industry in which there should be no cessation of work until victory is won it is that dealing with the construction of vessels, for these are being destroyed by the enemy faster than they can be built up to date.

What is the mentality that can view such a happening with equanimity and enforce idleness in the face of the destruction of tonnage and the loss of human life? It is almost unthinkable that this should be so, and yet it is the case. Shipbuilding is being halted, has been halted in this Dominion. Meantime the cry goes up from the United Nations for ships and more ships. They are absolutely essential in ever growing numbers for the successful prosecution of the war. Without them there will be no victory for the United Nations. The enemy acts with merciless vigor assured of the solidarity of his own home front in his ruthles purpose. If his total war is to be met with total war, strikes are the very medium which will prevent this imperative necessity being achieved. In any country where strikes occur what is meant by total war is misunderstood. —Victoria Colonist.

CANADA DEVELOPS NEW INDUSTRY

Since the start of this war Canadian industry has tackled and solved many problems of production and, as a result, many items never before manufactured in Canada are now being turned out in large quantities. One of these is the constant speed propeller, which is a mechanical work of art requiring rigid balance tests in all stages of its manufacture. At right a technician checks the balance of a blade in upright position, while, at left, a completed metal airscrew undergoes its final inspection. Small cork and lead weights are used for the final test. If perfect balance has been achieved their weight is sufficient to start the propeller revolving.

Yankees Find Some of Old Power to Blast St. Louis Browns; Brooklyn Edges Out Cincinnati

By The Canadian Press

The New York Yankees, rested after a mid-season intermission for the All-Star games, turned loose some of their oldtime power Thursday to whip the St. Louis Browns, 5-2, in their series opener at New York as Hank Borowy registered his seventh pitching triumph against one defeat.

Borowy, top ranking pitcher of the American League, held the Browns to six hits in seven and two-thirds innings but he had to turn the game over to Johnny Murphy when a blister developed on the middle finger of his right hand.

With King Peter of Yugoslavia among the spectators, the Yankees went to work on Eldon Auker Early, scoring three runs in the fourth inning off the submarine ball pitcher who had beaten them twice before. It was the eighth defeat against 10 wins for Auker, who tops the league in pitching victories.

Joe DiMaggio, Tommy Henrich and Charlie Keller led the nine-hit Yankee attack. Henrich blasted his ninth home run of the season into the right field stands in the seventh inning and Keller followed with his tenth four-master into the Brownie Bullpen in the eighth.

SOX BEAT DETROIT

At Boston, Manager Joe Cronin, pinch-hitting with the bases loaded and one out in the 11th, banged out a long fly that sent pete Fox home with the run that gave his Red Sox a 2-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers as they launched a home stand against the Western club.

The overtime game was a stirring pitchers' duel between Broadway Charlie Wagner and Lefty Hal Newhouser until the latter found himself in his deep hole in the final frame. Wagner turned in a four-hitter to gain his eighth win of the season and the Detroit southpaw held the Sockers to that many blows for 10 innings.

A night game at Philadelphia saw Buddy Blair pace the Philadelphia Athletics to a 5-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians by knocking out a homer in the eighth off relief pitcher Joe Heving.

In another niter at Washington, the Chicago White Sox defeated the Senators 4-2, collecting six of their hits in two innings, three in the first and three in the sixth. A crowd of 7000 saw the game.

In a National League game at Chicago, Buddy Gremp's third home run of the season in the thirteenth inning gave the Boston Braves a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the opener of a three-game series. Earlier in the game Chet Ross' fourth homer of the season in the third inning with one on base had given the Braves a 2-0 lead over the Cubs.

DODGERS BEAT REDS

The Brooklyn Dodgers chased Southpaw Johnny Vander Meer in the second inning scoring twice on a pair of walks and two singles, and went on to beat Cincinnati 3-2 behind the five hit pitching of Whitlow Wyatt who chalked up his ninth victroy in a night game at Cincinnati.

At Pittsburgh, the Philadelphia Phils fell apart at all seams before an Army-Navy relief crowd of 29,488 fans in another night game, after a magnificent seven inning pitching duel, and lost to the Pittsburgh Pirates 9-0.

At St. Louis, the Cardinals exploded in a barrage of extra base blows, pounding out two home runs, a pair of triples and a two-base hit as they went on to defeat New York Giants 9-0 in a night contest behind the six-hit shutout pitching of John Beazley.

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP) — The United States Lawn Tennis Association is offering something new—an invitation Junior Davis Cup series with Canada on OAug. 22-23.

Five U. S. juniors will compete against a like number of Canadian youths at the swank Seignory Club, near Ottawa.

Because the U. S.L.T.A. has no machinery set up to determine the nation's five best juniors, and there is hardly time to sponsor a deciding tourney, a committee of which Dr. S. Ellyworth Davenport, Jr., of New York is Chairman, will make the selections from recommendations by the various districts.

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., July 9 (CP)—Officials of the Province of Quebec Lawn Tennis Association announced here today that selection of players for an invitation Junior Davis Cup series between U. S. and Canada here Aug. 22-23, will be made along the same lines as those decided on by the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association.

The method of selection is to choose five young players whose performance up to the time of the cup tournament has been particularly satisfactory.

Ward Hard Put to Win in Spokane Tourney

SPOKANE, July 9 (AP)— Army Corporal Marvin "Bud" Ward, bidding for his third successive Western Amateur Golf Association title, scrambled through two rounds to victories today but there were times he looked more like a week end dubber than a champion.

The National as well as Western titlist, put out Otto Rosand, Spokane, 7 and 6 in the first round and then had to struggle to beat Fritz Metzger of Tacoma, Wash., 3 and 2 in the second round.

Dave Dixon of Vancouver was eliminated from the championship in the second round.

Corp. Pat Abbott of Lowry Field, Denver, played the Manito layout four under par to defeat Phil Baird, Spokane, 3 and 2.

Abbott, a former National Public Links champion, preceded another ex-Publinx titlist, Bruce McCormick of Los Angeles, into the winner's circle of the second round. McCormick eliminated James Shriver, Spokane City champion, and 3.

Harry Givan of Seattle, ex-Walker Cup player and first day leader in the qualifying with a 69, regained his form to overwhelm Lou Cook, Pullman, Wash., 7 and 5 in the second round.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—One story hereabouts is that Clark Griffith isn't worrying about being turned down in his bid for all night games because there's nothing to keep him from starting them by twilight and turning on the lights after a couple of innings . . . Greg Rice, who has been helping to raise navy relief funds in Montana by running exhibitions used to cover a big newspaper route in Missoula and jog all the way. . . . Word from the war department is that skeet shooting won't conflict with the war effort. Looks like the opposite from the way the army and navy have been grabbing off skeet stars to teach their fliers how to get 'em on the wing.

A pitch, a put, and a player.

Rev. Willis H. Germany of Oklahoma City tells this one about a golfing minister . . . when the preacher, who too, often committed the golfing sin of looking up, started a round he suggested that his caddy should pray for him. . . . as he addressed his ball, the caddy watched carefully . . . "Are you praying for me?" . . . "Yes, suh," came the reply. "Tse praying, but you're gonna have to keep your head down.

Corrado, Gerozzo Win Ping Pong Tourneys; Horseshoes Start

LOURDES, B. C.—Lui Corrado, Leader of the Hurricanes, smashed his way to a hard earned victory in the senior ping pong tournament when he defeated Aldo Desantes of the Spitfires in two of three games. In third place came Mickey Livingston also of the Hurricanes.

LEADER WINS

After the smoke cleared away from the junior tournament we found Danny Geronozzo, leader of the Lightnings, had defeated Dino Maniago, another of the Lightnings crew in two hard fought games. Standing in third place was Richard Pasqualoto, leader of the Hawkers.

Here are the scores of the semi-finals of the senior tournament:

Lui Corrado beat Mickey Livingston 15-6, 15-8; Aldo Desantes beat Ray Lerose, 11-6, 11-4.

In the semi finals of the junior finals we have these scores:

Dino Maniago beat Litton Shat ford, 11-1, 11-2; Danny Geronozzo beat Rich Pasqualotto, 11-0, 11-8.

Danny Geronozzo defeated his opponent Dino Maniago in two hard fought games 21-7, 21-9.

The winner, runner up and three man secured 5, 3, and 2 points respectively for their cabins.

SHOE THROWERS START

Hardly had the victors of the ping pong tournaments received their congratulations when shouts were heard from the horseshoe tournament.

In the first round of the senior horseshoe tournament we had the following winners:

Renato Bomben and Julio Poscent beat Leonard Kambeich and Frank Delmas; Roger Archambault and S. Anselmo beat Gordon Borcas and J. Rizzotti, Aldo Desantes and B. Pasqualotto beat Oswald Desantes and Steve Juba.

Raymond Dominici and Lui Corrado beat Leonard Guglemin and Roland Lerose.

The finals: and what finals it promises to be will be played tomorrow.

Intermediate results were: Dino Decembrini and Raymond Lerose beat Elmo Ferraro and Ronald Cameron, Danny Geronozzo and Valerio Cirotto beat Carlo Paresotto and Mickey Livingston.

By defeating Decembrini and Lerose, Gino Bisaro and Lloyd Pisapio are in the semi-finals.

JUNIORS PLAY

Not only are the larger fellows horse shoe pitchers, but in a slightly shorter pit the juniors are battling a tough tournament. Here are the results of their first round:

Dino Maniago and Romeo Sammartino beat Richard Pasqualotto and Victor Mattiazzi.

Primo Doratti and Raymond Lasota beat Joe Boisvert and Eddy Berno, Leonard Devito and E. Pasutti beat Henry and Steve Lasotto.

John Chesser and John Livingston drew a bye in the first round but were defeated by Henry and Steve Lasota in the second.

All the boys have been pitching great games and we are not picking any favorites for the finals tomorrow.

STAFF TRIUMPHS

This evening the all-stars after a hard week of getting in shape again challenged the camp staff. The staff in spite of the loss of Father Flynn were able to take the All Stars in four out of five games.

Lineups were:

All Stars—Lui Corrado, Steve Juba, Aldo Desantes, Jack Kubin, J. Sammy Anselmo.

Camp Staff—Messrs. E. Gelinas, L. Traipor, A. Maglio, and R. Anderson.

Notable improvements after this mornings' work period were the level volley ball court and the new pathway to the beach. The Spitfires were responsible for the former project while the Lightnings completed the latter.

The Bombers provided an excellent program for this second last camp fire. Solo artists were Leonard Devito, Rio Mason, and Bobby Buckley; others on the program included Litton Shatford, Bobby Ashby and Hugh Loughery.

HURRICANES LEAD

Cabin I, the Hurricanes, are still leading in points but the race is close and only after the final check up will we be sure of the best cabin of the Trail-Rossland 1942 camp.

It is impossible to realize that 10 of the 12 days of camp have sped by. One more camp fire and the Trail-Rossland camp of 1942 will be a happy remembrance. Tomorrow the camp track meet and swimming regatta will be held. Relay, handicap races and dashes will be the features of the track while there will be boat races, swimming and diving contests for the water sports.

American Chiefs to Confer With Free French

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—The State Department announced today the designation of Admiral Harold R. Stark and Brig.-Gen. Charles L. Bolte as representatives of the United States to consult with the Free French National Committee in London.

The announcement made clear that the move involved no basic change in American policy toward the Free French, by emphasizing the military purpose of the decision.

In a memorandum to Gen. Charles De Gaulle in London, the military character of Stark's and Bolte's assignment was stressed and the status of the Free French National Committee headed by De Gaulle was clarified as "a symbol of French resistance" against Axis aggression.

Admiral Stark is Chief of American naval forces in the European waters and Gen. Bolte is the Chief of Staff of Lt. Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower, Commander of American forces in Europe.

Attack on Tirpitz Prevented Action Against Allied Convoy

MOSCOW, July 9 (AP)—Two well-aimed torpedoes from a Russian submarine, which seriously damaged the battleship Admiral Von Tirpitz, Germany's newest and mightiest warship, saved an Allied convoy from her attack and let the merchantmen through to Russia intact, Soviet dispatches said today.

These reports said a German naval squadron in which three heavy cruisers and eight destroyers accompanied the Admiral Von Tirpitz, put out from shelter in Norwegian fjords several days ago aiming to intercept a large convoy carrying arms to Russia from Britain and the United States.

But the crippling attack on the Nazi battleship, made by a submarine commanded by Capt. N. Lunin, a hero of the Soviet Union, was said to have disrupted operations and permitted all ships of the convoy to reach the safety of a Russian port.

The Soviet press today hailed the damaging of the vessel as a great victory for the Red Fleet.

She was surrounded by a protecting ring of destroyers when the two torpedoes were slammed into her hull, Russian dispatches said.

The Russian announcement followed Nazi claims that German sea and air forces had sunk 34 to 38 merchant ships bound in a convoy for Russia as well as a United States cruiser, part of a formidable escort including an Allied battleship.

There was no hint in the German communiques, however, that the convoy had been assaulted by a surface raider. These reported sinkings, all unconfirmed by any source, were ascribed to air and U-boat attacks.

Mention in the Russian communique that a German transport had been sunk in the Barents Sea and that another merchantman had been damaged along with the battleship suggested the Nazis might have been trying to push a convoy of their own to Northern Norway or Finland.

HUNS DENY TIRPITZ DAMAGED

BERLIN, July 9 (AP)—The High Command denied today the Russian report that Germany's biggest battleship, the Admiral Von Tirpitz, had been attacked and damaged.

Rumanian Navy Claims Russ Destroyer Sunk

BERLIN, July 9 (AP).—The Rumanian Under-Secretary of State asserted today the Rumanian Navy has sunk the Russian destroyer Moskva, seriously damaged the destroyer Kharkov and sunk eight Russian submarines and a 12,000-ton transport.

(This Rumanian claim is not confirmed by any other source.)

On the Danube River seven enemy torpedo boats, two auxiliary vessels and two monitors have been sunk, the report claimed.

30,000 Jap Troops Trapped in Fierce Conflict in Kiangsi

CHUNGKING, July 9 (AP)—The Chinese Central News Agency reported today that the Chinese had achieved a smashing comeback in Central Kiangsi province, trapping 30,000 Japanese troops, killing or wounding 2,000 and capturing large quantities of material.

In Eastern Kiangsi the Chinese reoccupied the important highway towns of Nancheng and Ihwang, the Agency said.

A Chinese communique said only that the Japanese were checked at several points in Central Kiangsi province and that 1000 casualties were inflicted on the enemy in a battle that began two days ago and was still in progress.

A Chinese spokesman had said earlier that the Japanese were using 30,000 soldiers in attempts to encircle large Chinese forces, but that these efforts had failed, with the Chinese withdrawing Westward.

Meanwhile, it was announced today that United States bombers attacked Hankow three days ago. Hankow also was attacked July 2.

A communique from United States Headquarters also reported that several Japanese planes were destroyed on the ground in a raid on the White Cloud airdrome July 4 near Canton.

Thirty-six Seamen Saved When Ship Torpedoed

A GULF COAST PORT, July 9 (AP)—Thirty six British seamen were saved and four were killed in the torpedoing of a medium-sized British cargo ship in the Atlantic May 14, the eighth Naval District said today.

The ship was armed and got in one shot at random, although the enemy sub was not sighted until the ship went down, some 25 miles from where it was originally hit by two torpedoes. A third passed under the ship.

CONTRACT . . . By Shepard Barclay

TOO BIG A SACRIFICE

NO SACRIFICE is too big to make, to help your country win this war. But that is so only because what we stand to win or lose is so tremendous. In every case, the sacrifice or hazard of sacrifice should be comparable to the proposition which is at stake. In bridge this may be applied logically by pointing out that a very considerable sacrifice is worth while to prevent a slam, but a much smaller one to prevent a mere game. Being beaten deliberately for an amount of points which is more than the game is worth—that is too big a sacrifice.

Up to and including the call of 3-No Trumps, there was nothing particularly wrong about that bidding, except perhaps that South was a little venturesome in risking the bid with only one stopper in hearts. As it turned out, if South took the second heart trick, he then could have run five clubs, four diamonds and a spade, for a total of 11 tricks or his contract plus two extras.

West went away overboard, however, when he sacrificed at 4-Hearts. With only seven tricks in sight in his own hand, he was overbidding three, hoping to take a trick or two in his partner's hand, which was very unwise in view of the opponents' strong bidding. He actually took no tricks in his partner's hand, but only seven in his own. He was therefore down three, giving the opponents a score of 800, instead of a plain game plus a couple of extra tricks, which would have been worth about 660. If he had been not vulnerable, the sacrifice would have paid, as entailing a loss of only 500 points, less than the value of a game.

50 Per cent of Land Settlers Still Constitute Problem

OTTAWA, July 9 (CP)—Gordon Murchison, Director of Soldier Settlement, said today before the Land Settlement Committee of the House of Comomns that a total of 4165 soldier settlers accounts have been adjusted under the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act.

Of these, 2047 or 49 per cent of the settlers have had good results and now are on the way to financial security and 2118 or 51 per cent still constitute a problem, he said.

Victor Quelch (N.D. Acadia) recommended that of the soldier settlers considered failures, men who were incapacitated should be given a lease for life on his buildings to give him a home and security.

The rest of the farm could be sold or leased. Another alternative, said Mr. Quelch would be to establish a community of low-rent cottages for these men and give them veterans' allowances.

Metal Industry Men Discuss Manpower Plans

VANCOUVER, July 9 (CP)—Representatives of the gold and base metal industries met today to discuss the manpower situation and draft recommendations for the considerations of the Federal Government.

The meeting held under the auspices of the Mining Association of British Columbia, was a result of the recent order limiting gold mines in British Columbia to their present labor supply, denying them access to new sources of labor and prohibiting expansion of gold development. The purpose of this order was to meet the growing shortage of labor in the base metal industries, especially in the copper mines.

Dr. W. B. Burnett, A. E. Jukes, David S. Tait, Victor Creeden, R. H. Grace and J. W. Guernsey were among the gold mine representatives.

A. S. Baillie, T. W. Bingay and C. P. Browning were spokesmen for the base metals.

Mr. Justice Richards to Conduct Royal Commission on Shipyard Problem

OTTAWA, July 9 (CP)—Mr. Justice S. E. Richards of the Manitoba Court of Appeal has been appointed Chairman of a Royal Commission to study the British Columbia shipyard situation, it was learned unofficially today.

It was understood that the Commission, when it is finally established, will consist of five or seven members and that technical advisers probably will be named as well.

Mr. Justice Richards now is in Ottawa.

Labor difficulties have occurred recently at the Coast yards, subsequent to advancement by Labor Minister Mitchell of a proposal for seven-day operation, under a system of staggered shifts by which no man would work more than six days a week.

There was no immediate indication here who might serve on the commission with Mr. Justice Richards. Neither was it known when the Commission might be ready to start hearings.

Lawrence Anderson, spokesman for the Joint Shipyard Trade Union Conference, said today he understood sittings of a Royal Commission to investigate West Coast shipyards would begin here July 20 and would mostly be in camera to "allow full freedom of expression to witnesses."

Appointment of the Commission with Mr Justice S. E. Richards of the Manitoba Court of Appeal as Chairman was reported unofficially in Ottawa today.

Chris Pritchard, President of the Vancouver Metal Trade Council, has been nominated to represent the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada on the Commission, and Alex McAuslane, Regional Director of the Canadian Congress of Labor, will represent that organization

Single Office for Board of Trade and Chamber of Mines Proposed

Suggestion that the Board of Trade and Chamber of Mines of Eastern British Columbia should maintain a joint office and secretaryship for the remainder of the war was placed before the Board Council Thursday by H. Radcliffe, representing the Chamber. It will be studied by the Board's Finance Committee at once.

M. Radcliffe stated Miss Edythe Thomson, Chamber of Mines Secretary, was joining the Women's Division of the Royal Canadian Air Force, and rather than make an appointment for the period she would be on leave of absence, it was felt the Chamber and Board could cooperate to economize both on expense and personnel by having a single office and secretary for the duration.

The proposal was that the Board should move its offices to the Chamber of Mines offices on Baker Street where there was ample space, he continued. Each would maintain its separate identity.

This plan, Mr. Radcliffe said, would bring together in one office the board of trade, chamber of Mines, Tourist Bureau and Automobile Association. The location will be better for the Tourist Bureau, he felt.

The Finance Committee will also study the Nelson Board's participation in the proposal to reestablish a commissionership of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia.

Sweden's present birthrate is the highest, and death rate lowest, since 1925.

Surf Inlet Gold Returns $30,000

VANCOUVER, July 9 (CP)—Output for June at Surf Inlet Consolidated Gold Mines Ltd., was somewhat lower than in May, when from 2790 tons milled, with values of $10.89 per ton, returns amounted to $30,393.

June production was 2329 tons milled with value per ton $11.41, a recovery of 92.89 per cent, giving returns of 708.17 ounces of gold, valued at $24,794.

Market Trends . . .

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP).—The bull market in stocks maintained its rising stride at a moderate rate today despite the interference of considerable profit taking on Wednesday's bulge.

Best gains running to around two points were reduced in most cases at the close.

TORONTO—Prices generally ruled steady to firm as a small trading list moved in narrow range.

Some higher-priced golds showed firming tendencies along with the majority of industrials. Senior base metals, including Nickel and Noranda, advanced fractions while cheaper issues were lower.

MONTREAL—Industrials and utilities expanded Wednesday's rises in trading up to the final hour.

VANCOUVER — Trading was sparse and irregular.

Bralorne recovered 5, selling at 6.05. Gold Belt firmed ½ at 12.

WINNIPEG—A minor export sale in Canadian wheat was transacted during an uneventful session. The market closed with the July wheat future ⅛ higher a 80⅝A and October at 90 cents a bushel.

In the pit the first wheat trade was posted during last hour of trading.

CHICAGO—Renewed buying late in the session today lifted wheat prices more than a cent a bushel to new highs for the past six weeks.

Board to Study Applications to Commission

Applications of the Creston Reclamation Co., Ltd., to reclaim additional Kootenay Flats land near Sirdar, and of the West Kootenay Power & Light Company to continue the storage of water in Kootenay Lake at an elevation of 1747.3 feet, will be studed by a committee of the Nelson Board of Trade to determine whether the Board should make represenations of any kind. The Creston Reclamation Company application will be heard at Creston Aug. 18, and the West Kootenay Company application at Nelson Aug 20.

It was suggested the board should consider the effect of water storage in Kootenay Lake upon beaches, and also the effect of withdrawal in low water periods. In the case of low water, it was said, the water dropped below the level at which water pumps for a number of West Arm properties could be used, unless the system were extended.

Opposing views expressed by Council members were that control prevented flooding of some Summer homes; and that withdrawal of water to low levels during the low water period was a result of wartime demand for power against which the inconvenience suffered by comparatively few persons was unimportant.

Presbyterians of Trail Welcome Pastor

TRAIL, B. C., July 9.—Rev. John Cheshire and Mrs. Cheshire were welcomed by the First Presbyterian congregation in the parish hall Wednesday night, at a social evening. Mr. Cheshire has been appointed pastor of the Presbyterian Church, and came to the city a short time ago from New Westminster.

Rev. E. H. Lewis welcomed the new pastor and his wife on behalf of the Ministerial Association, and Mrs. Sarah Young presented Mrs. Cheshire with a bouquet of white carnations. Mr. Angus Murray gave a welcoming address for the congregation, and Mr. Cheshire replied, thanking the congregation for its kindness. The master of ceremonies for the evening was J. E. Carter, and the short program included vocal solos by Allan Broom, Miss Patricia Dougan and Mrs. Ralph Cook. Miss Patricia Dougan was the accompanist.

Mrs. D. Downie was convener for the reception, and Mrs. John Shaw, Mrs. John Henderson and Mrs. Alex Jackson were the committee in charge of refreshments.

Secret Debate on Shipping to Be Held in House

LONDON, July 9 (CP)—Sir Stafford Cripps announced today that a debate on the shipping situation will be held in secret during the next series of sittings of the House of Commons.

Sir Stafford, leader of the House, said the Government's secrecy in the matter of sinkings was not intended to conceal distasteful facts but to "protect the food and lives of our people, and of our seamen in particular.'

KOOTENAY FOLK SHOULD FILL COAL BINS NOW

Possible shortage of railway cars and of miners later in the year made it advisable for householders in the district to purchase next Winters coal now, as urged by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, stated Harry Burns at Thursday's luncheon of the Board of Trade Council at the Hume. He was replying to a query by W. M. Cunliffe as to whether this district would be affected.

Mr. Cunliffe's letter followed the reading of a Winnipeg Board of Trade resolution urging householders to heed the Government's suggestion that they fill their coal bins now as a means of aiding the war effort.
