Germans Launch New Offensive on Kharkhov Front

May Be Beginning of New Big-Scale Drive to Oil Fields; More Heavy Losses Handed Huns at Sevastopol

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, June 11 (Thursday) (AP)—German troops have started another offensive on the Kharkov Front after last month's heavy fighting in which the Nazis had claimed "annihilation" of three entire Red Armies there, the Russians announced early today.

A communique which told of a further firm Russian defence of Savastopol throughout yesterday said:

"On the Kharkov sector of the Front a battle took place against the German Fascist troops which had taken the offensive."

The communique did not indicate the outcome of the fighting in this area, where the Russians recently said they had thwarted Nazi plans for a big Spring drive on Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus.

More heavy losses were inflicted on the Nazis in their repeated charges against Sevastopol, but the Kharkov action may be the beginning of another large-scale Nazi drive to reach the Caucasus oil fields.

The communique gave no hint as to the extent of the Kharkov fighting which rolled along a 100-mile front between May 12 and May 31. After the first major Spring action in that sector the Russians declared they had killed or captured 90,000 Germans.

Red airmen were credited in a supplementary communique with destroying or damaging 300 German trucks with troops and war materials, two railway trains, a hangar, a patrol boat, Tuesday on various sections of the front.

Elsewhere, the Russians said, no imporant changes had occurred.

From all available reports the major fight still centred around Sevastopol, and at the end of six days of increasingly savage warfare the Russians were reported holding their main lines.

Red Star dispatches said the Germans struggled for three days to approach two heights over Sevastopol, bombing the front line from the air and charging the positions from the ground.

ADVANCES CHECKED

With pressure increasing steadily, Nazi infantrymen penetrated this sector at night and tried to press their advances, but were checked. The battle was reported continuing on this terrain, with the Russians so far pinning the Germans down.

This appeared to be the most important sector of the battle, although fighting was raging in virtually every part of the Sevastopol front.

In the air, the Germans pursued their favorite tactics—massing a powerful force above a narrow sector in an effort to obtain full mastery of the skies and pound the ground forces into submission. But the Red air force stayed in the fight, and at the points where the enemy bombers broke through, the Russian ground defenders took shelter under rocks and clung to their positions.

British Bombers Hammer Lannion Field

LONDON, June 10 (CP)—Boston bombers guarded by squadrons of Spitfires hammered the Breton coastal airfield of Lannion this afternoon in resumption of the R.A.F. offensive blacked out last night by bad weather.

Two German fighters were destroyed and one of the Bostons was lost. Earlier, a Spitfire on patrol destroyed another German fighter.

It was authoritatively reported that a British fighter shot a German bomber down into the sea shortly before dark off the Southwest English Coast.

WASHINGTON, June 10 — (AP.)—The United States War Production Board gave permission today for the immediate construction of an oil pipeline from Longview, Tex., to Salem, Ill., to increase the petroleum flow to the East but gave no indication that it would bring any relaxation of the gasoline rationing in the Atlantic States.

The Board announced that the pipeline would provide "an increased supply of oil to the East coast area within six months" but Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the W.P.B., said it probably would be used primarily for fuel oil and secondarily for gasoline.

CONSCRIPTION AT ONCE URGED BY CONS. HEAD

Premier's Policy Is "Skillful, Political Strategy".

SAME OLD POLICY OF APPEASEMENT

By C. R. Blackburn
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 10 (CP) — Demand for immediate conscription of wealth, resources and of manpower was made in the House of Commons today by Conservative House Leader Hanson. (See Premier's Statement on pp. 3).

He said mandatory provisions should be placed in the National Resources Mobilization Act "for principles of compulsory selective service without geographical or other limitation."

Mr. Hanson was speaking in the debate on second reading of Bill 80, which repeals section three of the National Resources Mobilization Act and leaves the government free to invoke unlimited conscription by proclamation.

Mr. Hanson said the Prime Minister's outline of policy indicated that if conscription were to be imposed the Government would not return to parliament for any new debate on the principle.

"That, I submit, is skilful political strategy," he said. "Just such strategy as we would expect from who, above everything else, desires to preserve his political position.

"Such a position is based upon the policy of political expediency which has been characteristic of Government policy in respect to the principal of complete national selective service ever since the war was declared.

"It is the same old policy of appeasement—a game which the Prime Minister has played to the limit with the avowed purpose of maintaining national unity but which, correctly interpreted in its practice, means unity of the Liberal party and nothing else.

"At this time in our political history that policy has failed and today, as a result of the Prime Minister's own political strategy, this nation is more divided than at any time in its history.

Mr. Hanson said he would support the bill but would insist that it be amended to incorporate not only mandatory provisions for immediate action by the government but provisions that action taken by the government would be decided upon in respect of regulations and procedure by parliament itself.

He argued that this was the express wish of the people as indicated in the great plebiscite majority obtained in eight of the nine provinces releasing the government from its pledge against overseas conscription.

He claimed that Mr. King had refused to trust the people on this question of conscription while he made much of his belief in the principle of trusting the people.

Mr. Hanson urged the Prime Minister to say definitely what the government proposed to do regarding use of power for unlimited conscription.

"Let them say they will or they won't," he explained. "That is what the people of this country want to know.

"There will be a roar go up in this country from one end to the other at this policy of appeasement.

question direct— to exercise the powers which this bill will give them, or don't they; yes or no?

"Do they propose — I ask this "Let us know where they stand and not continue to straddle the fence after 32 months of war."

Floods Again Threaten Okanagan District; Homes in Water

By The Canadian Press

High water conditions again are prevalent in some Okanagan areas surrounding homes and flooding basements at Kelowna, covering some sections around Penticton and threatening a Provincial highway near Penticton.

The high water is caused by the continued rise in Okanagan Lake.

One section of Kelowna's sewerage system is threatened, the aquatic buildings are threatened and many homes along Riverside Avenue have a great portion of their premises under water from the still rising lake.

The Simpson sawmill, one of the largest in the Interior is working on a day to day basis, with the expectation of closing anytime due to the threatened flood.

At Penticton the provincial highway has been sandbagged to hold back the waters of Okanagan Lake which have risen above the level of the road. Work began today on the building of a 200-foot cement protection wall.

Two weeks ago high water conditions gave Penticton its worst flood in history and thousands of dollars damage was done. Other Okanagan centres also were flooded.

Force Big Enough to Offset Assault by Big Nazi Ships

King Inspects Battleship, Cruiser and Destroyers; Force Believed to Have Been Overseas for Some Time

By J. WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 11 (Thursday) (AP)—A strong United States naval force has joined the British Home Fleet for a share in the job of keeping Hitler's ships from smashing at Allied shipping lanes.

The first announcement of the presence of United States warships came today with the disclosure the King had inspected a United States battleship, cruiser and destroyers.

Presence of the ships was taken as an indication the force, commanded by Rear-Admiral Robert Giffin, was powerful enough to offset or deal single handedly if necessary with Germany's battleship Tirpitz and cruiser Admiral Hipper if they attempted to sally out of their base at Trondheim, Norway.

It was obvious the American force had been in British waters for some time. The announcement said it was greeted far out at sea by the British cruiser Edinburgh and escorted into port.

That historic duty was one of the Edinburgh's last. She was sunk May 2 during an attack by German submarines, destroyers and bombers on a convoy in the Arctic sea lane to Russia.

An officer who was on the Edinburgh was quoted as saying the first indication that the American force actually was near came when a United States navy plane flew over the British cruiser.

"The weather then was so bad that we were very surprised that any naval aircraft should be flying," he said.

To the Edinburgh the American fleet force signalled:

"We are more than glad to serve with the home fleet and are bending every effort to take our proper place in the battle line of that experienced and gallant fighting force."

Admiral Harold R. Stark, commander of United States naval forces in European waters, personally welcomed the United States force, which is under his direct command.

Admiral Giffin, in an official statement after the colorful ceremony in which King George inspected the American ships, said the king had sent the following message:

"It has given me great pleasure to have had this opportunity of visiting the United States ships and thus being enabled to meet some officers and men of the United States navy task force of the home fleet.

"I have been deeply impressed by the smart and efficient appearance of the ships and ship's companies and I congratulate you and all those under your command upon the alert and cheerful spirit with which you are undertaking your duties in the common cause.

"The enjoyment of my visit has been much enhanced by the presence of Admiral Stark. I send you and your officers and men my best wishes for a safe return to your homes when victory is won."

U. S. NAVAL TASK FORCE BASE IN BRITAIN, June 11 (Thursday)—(AP.)—For the first time in the war the King has visited United States warships in British waters. He was received with the old-time nautical ceremony of the world's greatest naval powers blended with the easy democracy of the nations these ships defend.

King George first was piped aboard one of the United States' most modern cruisers, then went in Rear Admiral Robert Giffin's flagship barge to a battleship.

He made the minute inspection of a man who knows ships and has served aboard them, chatted and joked with officers and men alike, and ranged the ships from the officers' wardrooms to seamen's messes and the sick bays. He poked into big gun turrets and watched the long naval rifles swung and elevated.

"It was a great moment of naval history," commented one observer. "It meant the welding of the two great navies in the world—right in the face of the Axis."

As the King was piped aboard the cruiser, United States seamen stood at attention, a marine guard outdid even its traditional smartness in presenting arms, and the band struck up "God Save the King."

Inspecting the crew's quarters, the King expressed surprise and pleasure at the luxury of the fittings.

Economist Wins Barony in Birthday Honors; Cunningham Honored

LONDON, June 11 (Thursday) (CP.)—A barony to John Maynard Keynes, the economist, today headed the birthday honors. It was the only peerage created in the list, issued on the occasion of the official observance of the King's birthday.

Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham, hero of the Battle of Matapan and commander in chief of the Mediterranean fleet from the outbreak of the war until last month, was given a baronetcy—hereditary knighthood. Admiral Cunningham will shortly take up his new duties as head of the British naval delegation to Washington.

New knights bachelor included Alexander Korda, the film producer, and two aircraft manufacturers, Charles Fairey and Frederick Handley Page. A similar honor went to Robert Watson Watt, pioneer of radio-location.

Acting Air Marshal Arthur Harris, commander in chief of the bomber command and father of the 1000-plane assaults on Cologne and Essen, became a knight commander of the Bath. Air Chief Marshal Sir Charles Portal, chief of air staff, was raised to knight Grand Cross of the Bath.

Sir Gerald Campbell, former head of the British Information Service in the United States, and Sir Frederick Phillips, the Treasury's representative in Washington, were raised to knight Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George.

Harrison Believes Nelson District Could Soon Collect Enough Tires, Scrap Rubber for Second Car

"Canada's objective in the current scrap rubber campaign is 50,000,000, pounds, representing 1700 cars. If each community rallied to the call as Nelson did in shipping a car soon after the recent Red Cross drive, sufficient rubber would be salvaged to fill 2000 cars.

"Nelson District could produce another car in a comparatively short time by a little cooperative effort."

These opinions were voiced Wednesday by H. D. Harrison after he had received a report from federal salvage officials that the general response to date to the appeal for scrap rubber had been good, but that much more could be accomplished.

The report pointed out that one garageman, who noted a slump in receipts of tires after the initial effort, was able to bring receipts up by canvassing each customer coming to his gasoline pump.

VITALLY INTERESTED

"Every service station and garage operator is vitally interested in getting everything in, and will go any reasonable distance to pick up available scrap rubber, because the more sent in, the better the chance of obtaining tires for civilian use," Mr. Harrison said.

"Everyone realizes that the needs of the armed forces must be met first, and everyone should realize that only after their needs have been more than met can we expect rubber to be released for civilian use. It is up to each of us, then, to see that all available scrap rubber is salvaged."

An active campaign was underway among school children to collect odd bits of scrap rubber, and they were doing effective work, he continued. Everyone could assist in this, for everyone had scrap rubber of one kind or another which could be salvaged—old hot water bottles, old rubbers, bits of wornout hose, and so on.

2300 TIRES IN FIRST CAR

Nelson's first car, shipped after the Red Cross drive, contained approximately 2300 old car and truck tires and 485 sacks of rubber boots, rubber heels, and other odds and ends.

"There are quite a few additional tires turned in by customers, now on hand in Nelson garages," Mr. Harrison said, "and still more are available at various points in the district. The West Kootenay Power & Light Company has sent in a considerable quantity, and M. C. Donaldson of Salmo sent in 1500 pounds."

One man collected tires some time ago with a view to selling them. When it was explained that the Red Cross was conducting the salvage campaign in Nelson and would receive any money realized for tires, he volunteered to turn them over.

Mr. Harrison was convinced it would not be difficult, starting with tires and other scrap rubber already on hand, to collect enough for a second carload from this district.

KASLO, B. C., June 11— Kaslo's celebartion, postponed from May 25, went over big Monday. The weather kept fine and a large crowd was out to enjoy the sports. The kids, large and small, entered into the fun to contribute to a most successful day.

After the childrens' sports and lunch were over, the Crowning of the May Queen on the steps of the Government Building took place. Beatrice Fell was the 1942 Queen, her attendants being Alma Obre, Muriel Riley, Nan Abey, Train Bearer; Sally Singel, Crown Bearer. Jessie McLanders presented the bouquet. The retiring Queen was Marion Leveque, her train bearer being Tania Robinson. Flower girls were Audrey Leveque, Evelyh Pangburn, Heather Abey and Inez Lind, Jacqueline Adams, Pamela Robinson, Gerry Palmer, Cookie Abey, Beverly Adams, Carmel Murphy, Gwen Wells, Kathleen Murphy, Esther Helgren, Betty Gopp, Connie Lind, Mary Wone.

JAPANESE TAKE PART

The Boy Scouts formed a guard of honor and after the ceremony the Kaslo band preceded the Queen and her Court to Vimy Park. About 20 Japanese girls in colorful native costumes joined the procession, making a pretty picture. This was the 20th May Queen festival in Kaslo.

The afternoon was taken up with ball games. In the soft ball, Kaslo boys beat the Japanese 9-11, and the Scouts defeated the girls. There were two hard ball games between the local boys. The log sawing contest was won by Fred Spiers and Mack Murphy, first; Bob Westman and J. Robinson, second. The tug of war aroused keen interest, too.

During the afternoon the Kaslo City Band played many selections. The refreshment booth, turned over to the Red Cross by Mrs. Jensen, did a fine business and the Women's Institute served tea and hot dogs.

At night the Kaslo Soft Ball Club dance was attended by 150 at the Odd Fellows Hall, and the Canadian Legion held a bridge and whist in the Legion Hall.

Results in order of finish were:

Canadian Navy Seeks Men From Interior

Canada's navy urgently requires young men for entry into the Royal Canadian Naval Voluntary Reserve and an appeal is being issued by naval authorities in Vancouver.

Men are eligible who are medically fit and over 17½ years old, preferably with at least one year of high school education. They are needed for entry into the seaman branch, and the navy also wants stokers, coders, sick berth attendants, stewards and cooks.

Men leavin

Men living in the interior of B. C., or anywhere outside Vancouver who can go to Vancouver at their own expense, will be given medical and X-ray examination. If suitable they will be sworn in and allowed to return to their homes with ample time to straighten their affairs before being called for duty.

Such men should go to Vancouver at the beginning of a week, if possible, rather than on a Thursday or Friday; and they should be prepared to remain in the city about 48 hours.

All aplications are made to the Recruiting Officer, at the R.C.N.V.R. barracks in Stanley Park, and advance inquiries may be made there by mail.

Recruits are given an eight-week basic training course in Vancouver, followed by a further course of 10 weeks at Esquimalt before being posted for duty in this hard-hitting fast-growing young service, Canada's senior fighting force.

Naval officials point out that there also are openings for skilled tradesmen, electricians, electrical artificers, engine room artificers and ordnance artificers.

Under the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training Plan, a free course lasting six to eight months will begin July 2 in Calgary for men between the ages of 17½ and 23 and with Grade 11 or Grade 12 education. This will be followed by a further course, for those selected, of 12 to 16 months at either Halifax or Victoria.

Men taking this artificer training will be paid $10 a week during the course; and from this $7.50 a week board must be paid. Books, tools, boots, caps and coveralls are supplied.

The training thus received will not only equip each man for work in a vital war job in the Navy, but will fit him for highly-paid skilled tradesmanship in civilian life when the war is over.

Equipment Arrives for Emergency Hospital, Rossland Dads Advised

ROSSLAND, B. C., June 10—Reporting on the Air Raid Precaution organization, Mayor J. E. Gordon told the City Council Tuesday night that most of the equipment for the emergency hospital had arrived. Further recomemndations by the doctor to cover drugs and sundries, also special heating equipment in case present supplies were cut off, amounted to almost $300.

A motion was passed that this amount be spent.

Mayor Gordon read a list compiled by Fire Chief Kenneth Martin, for auxiliary fire-fighting supplies amounting to $276.75. Mayor Gordon explained that the Government was supplying very expensive equipment such as the sirens, $3200 worth of hosing, also other items.

It was decided to order the supplies asked by the fire chief.

Ald. J. R. Corner gave a report on the Rehabilitation meeting held Monday, when the study club was formed. Arthur Drake and Fred Barlee offered to join the club and were accepted. The alderman hoped Rossland would contribute in no small way to the rehabilitation of the Province after the war.

The Council granted Ald. Corner's request that a sum not exceeding $5 per month be used for Washington library data, and other necessary publications.

City Clerk J. A. McLeod reported 48 delegates were present at the Victoria convention of the Municipal Officers Association, and many interesting addresses debates discussions and remarks were heard.

He gave a report, and especially mentioned the Board of Appeal, consisting of two qualified members appointed and paid by the Alberta Government, who are able to settle difficulties relating to properties and save the expense of court cases.

He stated that it was also brought out that the duties of a returning officer did not include questioning the status or qualifications of a candidate seeking civic elections, such as school trustee or councilor; that this was solely the responsibility of the candidate concerned, except in regard to being free of debt to the municipality.

The Mayor thanked Mr. McLeod for his report.

Ald. W. Cunningham, chairman of the Parks' Board, stated that five man-days had been spent on the MacLean School grounds since the last council meeting, an dthat eight man-days had been spent on the High School grounds.

Mackenzie King Says . . .

Conscription for Overseas Service Not Necessary Yet

OTTAWA, June 10 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King, launching the conscription debate in the House of Commons, today said the Government does not believe conscription for service overseas is necessary at the present time.

"Moreover, it may never become necessary," the Prime Minister said.

"But in case it should ever become necessary it is surely the part of wisdom that there should be no doubt whatever of the power of the Government to take the necessary action the moment the necessity to do so may arise."

The Prime Minister moved second reading of Bill 80 which repeals Section 3 of the National Resources Mobilization Act and leaves the Government free to conscript men for service in any theatre of war by proclamation.

The National Resources Mobilization Act given assent June 21, 1940, empowers the Government to call upon Canadians to place their services and their property at the disposal of the Government for the defence of Canada and the efficient prosecution of the war.

But Section 3 limited the power of the Government to compel military service only within Canada or on its territorial waters.

Thus, the Prime Minister said, power to conscript, subject to limitation as to theatre of action, has been in effect since June, 1940, with regard to property as well as manpower.

"That power, where it has been deemed necessary or expedient to do so, has been exercised ever since and is being exercised by the Government today," he said.

"Adoption of the amendment clearly does not mean the adoption of any new principle with respect to the raising of men for military service. . . ."

Mr. King said the original act left it to the Government to make use of the powers conferred upon it as circumstances dictated.

"This will be equally true of the powers of Governor-in-Council under the act as amended," he said. "The discretion of the Government will remain precisely what it is at the present time."

"If we are to judge by what we hear, and what we read in the press from time to time, they include a very large number of our own citizens. They certainly are among the number who are loudest in their utterances."

The plebiscite was wholly an "expression of opinion." It cleared the deck for unrestricted discussion and debate, and if the amendment to the N.R.M.A. were adopted it would clear the deck for unrestricted decision and action by the Government subject only to its constitutional responsibility to Parliament.

The Government still had to obtain a free hand from Parliament.

"To claim that what had been sought or obtained by the plebiscite was a mandate for conscription is to assert that the plebiscite was a mere subterfuge," Mr. King said.

"Such a claim goes farther than that: It is equivalent to saying that those who stated that the issue was not conscription, did not mean what they said; that they were deliberately seeking to deceive the electorate."

Mr. King said he wished to make it clear that the Act was "not mandatory but enabling" and that if amended as proposed "it will continue to be enabling legislation."

The Prime Minister referred to the plebiscite held April 27 when the great majority of Canadians voted to release the Government from promises not to introduce unlimited conscription while the majority of Quebec voters opposed such release.

In the plebiscite campaign, he had made it clear, Mr. King said, that an affirmative vote was "not a vote for conscription."

Result on the vote "did not commit the Government for conscription overseas," he said, but "it equally leaves no doubt as to the freedom of the Government and of Parliament to decide for or against conscription for service overseas either conditionally or unconditionally."

Since the Act had been passed there had been many who said—and others who thought—that conscription did not exist in Canada.

"Extraordinary as it may seem, the persons who say or who would have others believe that we do not have conscription in Canada are not confined to citizens of other countries," Mr. King said.

Such a claim did a particular injustice to Members of the House who, knowing the importance of national unity at this time, had done their best to remove the prejudices which some others were doing their utmost to inflame.

In the endeavor to bring home to the people of their province the truth of Canada's position in the present war, and the need in the interests of national security as well as of national unity for an affirmative vote none fought more valiantly than the majority of the House Members from Quebec "including my former colleague, the then Minister of Public Works and of Transport" (Hon. P. J. A. Cardin), Mr. King said.

In mentioning the resignation of Mr. Cardin, Mr. King said he felt the reasons given by the Minister evidenced a mistaken view of the Govenment's purpose and intention, and he had sought to have Mr. Cardin reconsider his resignation.

In Mr. Cardin's letter of resignation Mr. King believed there would be found an explanation of the misgivings which lay at the root of the reasons for the resignation.

"Similar reasons and misgivings are naturally in the minds of some supporters of the Government, not only from the province which the Minister was one of the representatives in the Cabinet (Quebec), but from other provinces as well," Mr. King said.

"In the case of all but a few of the Government supporters, they account, I believe, for such objections as have been raised to the amendment."

Dealing with these reasons, Mr. King quoted Mr. Cardin's letter stating that in his (Mr. Cardin's) view since hte plebiscite was taken there had been nothing established to indicate that the war situation had rendered necessary the introduction of a measure containing the principle of compulsory military service for overseas.

Those who had seen the plebiscite simply as a clearing of the decks for freedom for discussion had not envisaged the immediate introduction of legislation. The misunderstanding of the situation had been further aggravated by the fact that since the plebiscite result was known a deliberate effort had been made to construe the result as a mandate for conscription.

"Let me make this perfectly clear," Mr. King said. "If the Government has brought in the amendment at the time it has, it is not because of any false intepreation of the results of the plebiscite, but for reasons that are in complete accord with the purpose for which the plebiscite was held."

As long as Section 3 remained in the Mobilization Act, the Government's complete freedom and strength for an utmost effort did not exist. Regardless of whether its removal would make the difference of an additional man going overseas, as long as any restriction remained it would continue to be cited as a bar to a total effort, and a bar which found its expression in the law of the land.

British Hacking at Vital Supply Lines to Rommel's Forces

CAIRO, Egypt, June 10 (AP). — British headquarters announced today a large scale Axis attack yesterday on Bir Hacheim, Southern anchor of the British Libyan lines, had been driven off.

British armored and motorized forces assisted the Free French garrison of Bir Hacheim to repulse the enemy, "who used an increased number of tanks and dive bombers as well as infantry and artillery," a communique said.

"Our mobile columns," it reported, "are continuing to harass effectively the enemy's line of supply from the West."

In the Cauldron Area — where the Axis Army rolled back British detachments West of Knightsbridge —gunners of tanks and armored cars were reported to have engaged Axis armored forces in long range duels.

The R.A.F. Middle East Headquarters reported its fighter and bomber planes ranged far over the Mediterranean and Libyan war theatres, attacking Axis armored units, gun positions and motor transport vehicles in the Bir Hacheim area yesterday; raiding the German-occupied city of Candia on the Island of Crete Monday and Tuesday night and hitting the Italian naval base at Taranto, Italy, Monday night.

(The Italian High Command said today British bombers raided Taranto again Tuesday night. It said known casualties total 20 killed and 75 injured.

The R.A.F. said the enemy airdrome at Candia was raided Monday night but the target of last night's attack was not specified.

Five Messerschmitt fighters were reported shot down in the Bir Hacheim air battles while another German plane was shot down in the sea off the North African coast on Monday night. One British plane was missing.

LONDON, June 10 (CP). — British fighter planes and bombers in Libya destroyed a number of fighting vehicles and supply wagons running into four figures, shot down 47 aircraft and killed hundreds of troops in the first two weeks of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's desert offensive, the Air Ministry said today.

"Monday, in one of the grimmest days of fighting for both services in the present Libyan campaign," it said, "our aircraft capped a three-figure score of Axis transport vehicles destroyed by writing off a number of German tanks."

The tanks were knocked out "with lightning rapidity," it said.

The Air Ministry also disclosed that United States-built Baltimore bombers now were in action in the Libyan fighting.

It said that Baltimores — known as Glenn Martin 187s — made "daring daylight raids" on an Axis airdrome at Barce on Monday.

"The bombing was particularly accurate and effective," it added.

ROME, June 10 (AP). — The Italian High Command claimed today that tank-supported British counter attacks have been "repulsed with substantial losses for the enemy" in the new battle of Libya.

A communique claimed German, Italian fighters destroyed 17 British planes in air fighting. Two Italian planes failed to return. (Following its customary practice, the High Command did not mention German losses.)

Axis bombers again were reported to have attacked Malta and five defending fighters were claimed to have been shot down over the fortified island.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S SON IS MISSING

CAIRO, Egypt, June 10 (AP).—Sqdn. Ldr. Andrew Duncan, 22, son of Sir Patrick Duncan, Governor General of South Africa, was reported missing today after an engagement with enemy fighters over El Adem, 15 miles South of Tobruk, May 31.

Duncan won the Distinguished Flying Cross in the East African campaign. The action in which he was reported missing took place 90 minutes after he assumed command of his squadron.

Close Quarters Counter Balance Speed and Guns on Jap Ships

CHUNGKING, China, June 10 (AP)—The Communist newspaper New China Daily News published today an article said to have been written by a Japanese prisoner of war declaring that "poor nutrition and sleeping quarters more than counter-balance for heavier guns and higher speed of Japanese warships."

"Most Japanese sailors are crowded on lower decks," the article said. "Japanese naval officers scoff at American and British warships as tourist boats but the Japanese seamen have no love for their own slave runners.

"For example, more than 1000 out of 1500 members of the crew of the Japanese battleship Hyuga (completed in 1918) were housed on lower decks in bunks which take up even the passages. The sailors sleep rubbing shoulders with each other. The foul air causes a number of diseases, mostly pleurisy and weak lungs."

A number of collisions, groundings and explosions aboard Japanese warships resulted from decreased efficiency caused by the poor living conditions, the article stated. It said known instances included a collision of the Hyuga and a submarine off Western Japan and an explosion aboard a cruiser of the Myoko class.

The Japanese Navy has a dread of air attacks, the article added because most of the deck armor has been sacrificed for more guns and higher speed.

Heydrich's Death Spurs Nazis Onto New Revenge Against Patriots

BERNE, Switzerland, June 10 (AP). — With 275 Czechs already slain in retaliation, the Germans made known today the assassination of Reinhard Heydrich would mark the beginning of new, sweeping, punitive measures not only in dismembered Czecho-Slovakia but throughout all the restive Occupied Countries.

Continuing attacks against occupation armies in the North, West and East confront Germany with a potential second or third front and require vigorous counter-action, dispatches from Berlin said.

Prague, Paris, Amsterdam, and all Poland and Yugoslavia were regarded here as likely to feel first the effects of the increased death penalties.

Executions up to now have been averaging 10 a day in Occupied France. Czechs have been shot in groups of 26 or more at a time since the attack which took the life of Heydrich, Gestapo hangman.

Figures of the toll being taken in Occupied Yugoslavia rarely are seen in print, but travellers tell of talking to persons on trains who offered to act as guides to villages where virtually the entire population has been wiped out because patriot troops were found to have been quartered there.

Extent of the resistance against the Axis in the Balkans is indicated by the Italian casualty list for May. It said 475 Italians were killed, 783 were wounded, and 28 were missing that month in the Balkans—a loss higher than the Italians reported from any of the active war fronts.

Executions and long prison terms have extended even into Germany proper, covering charges from high treason to forging ration book coupons and listening to foreign broadcasts.

A study of 10 German, one Hungarian and three Baltic State newspapers during 28 days of May showed that of 69 persons tried, 19 were executed and 50 were given prison sentences totalling 168 years—mostly for relatively minor offences. This does not include the Prague executions or reprisal and punitive measures in Occupied France or the Low Countries.

Helping Child to Avoid Fears

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

Hundreds of children are terrified by electric storms. Most of these frights can be prevented.

In order to prevent it, other persons in their presence must avoid showing fear.

We don't, of course, help the child overcome this or any other fears by laughing at him. We help as we are able ourselves to turn our attention and his from thoughts of fear.

Your tot of three or four might have his first fright during a storm by being awakened by a thunder clap. Go to him then, comfort him, talk to him, read or tell him a story or play a game with him.

Some young children acquire strong fears of snakes, worms, toads and turtles. Thanks, on the other hand, to the wise guidance of some teachers, many children learn at school to watch such creatures with profit and enjoyment even handling them with care.

Once the child has learned to think of these living things, in a sensible way he can easily learn to observe necessary caution toward the few that might be dangerous. To one child that has been poisoned by snake or animal bite, ten thousand have been poisoned by needless fears.

SOLVING PARENT PROBLEMS

Q. My baby four years old awakens with the birds and wants to get up. Should I take him up then?

A. No. he needs a few more hours sleep and so do you. Set the clock to ring in the morning at the hour when he should get up. Remind him on going to bed he must not get up till the clock rings. If he stands up or runs about in his crib before this time, go to him and spank him. Tell him he must not get up till the bell rings. Be in a place where he can not see you, but you can see him.. Every time he gets up on his feet or knees give him an instant spanking. Be there always till the problem is solved. It may take several mornings or a week. Once it is settled he will sleep to the desird tim.

SERIAL STORY . . . . . By ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

YOU ARE THE ONE

CHAPTER FIVE

"On Steena! But she wouldn't. . . . You mean she helped herself to my uniform when it came back?" Tibby had to sink down on the couch for support to digest this information.

"She didn't know you'd need it. She got an unexpected call, too—to pose for somepublicity stunt. I suppose she thought yours would look better. Our Steena must look her best, you know."

"She might have asked!" The hot color stood out in Tibby's cheeks. "I suppose I'll have to borrow hers, then, even if it won't be as good a fit and is probably flung in a corner in a ball."

"I'm afraid it isn't even in good condition." Marg's tone still was dry. Steena said she spilled something down its front and so she left it in her locker at the airport, with instructions for the porter to pick it up. You'd be welcome to mine," she added, "if only you wouldn't swim in it. Too bad I'm so bulky and so much longer in the legs and arms—and that you and Steena are both the same pint sizes."

"What will I do?" Tibby asked once more. She woud be late now. She would have to take her medicine for that. But unless she could find a uniform she could not check in at all. To miss a flight was an unpardonable sin. She would not be called down; she would lose her job.

"Maybe yo ucan locate one at the field," Marg said hopefully. "Lots of the girls keep their uniforms there so they can change at the port." But her tone did not hold much hope. Uniforms were a ticklish subject. They had to be kept in readiness, sponged and pressed. Very few girls were willing to risk loaning them. As they expensive, very few owned an extra one.

"I'd hate to borrow," Tibby said. She was so upset her mind wouldn't function. She simply couldn't report without a uniform. She would gladly have wrung Steena's lovely neck. But that wouldn't do any good, either.

"We could try taking a tuck in my sleeves," Marg offered. She would have cut off her right hand if it could have helped Tibby out. She could have killed Steena, no less. She had had a fight with her at the time, giving her a sharp piece of hermind when she saw what Steena had been up to. But she might as well have saved her breath.

"You're scheduled to go out tonight," Tibby said, "so you know I couldnt let you do that. No," She got to her feet. "There's nothing to do except report and try to explain. I don't suppose they'll accept my explanation," she added ruefully. Her brown eyes had lost their shining look. "I suppose I'll get faced." Her tone was grim in spite of the brave effort to meet the situation.

"That would be terribly unfair!" Marg's eyes flished. "Steena's the one who should get fired. Though I don't imagine she will be now that she's in so smooth, playing up to Wayne Courtright the way she has lately. He's head of organizations, the one you'll have to do your explaining to, too—which won't help. But I'd certainly give him an earful in regard to our beautiful roommate!"

"I doubt if that would help." Tibby spoke quietly. She was getting ready to go. No use postponing anything as difficult as this was going to be.

"You don't mean you're not going to tell on her? Put the blame where it belongs, my dear. Anyone with sense—though if Courtright is as taken with our Steena's beauty as she seems to think, he hasn't too much to spare — but anyone ought to believe you, Tibby. Some of the girls get away with murder. But you're not the type . . . and if you need any help, remember you can call on me. I'd LOVE to take a witness stand and testify as to the truth of this affair."

"Thanks—but I hope that won't be necessary." Tibby would stand on her own, fight her own battles, even though she lost. Even if she got fired—and oh! that would mean the end of everything, all her dreams as well as the shame and disgrace—she must meet this in her own way.

Rules Widow Spent Too Much Money on Husband's Burial

SASKATOON, June 10 (CP)—Mr. Justice H. V. Bigelow of the court of King's Bench dug back 259 years into the reign of Willian III to find a precedent which ruled that Tena Hutzal of Sturgis had spent "an absurd and unreasonable amount of money" when she buried her husband, George, a few weeks ago.

His Lordship quoted Sir John Holt, Lord Chief Justice, in 1683 in delivering a written judgment that Mrs. Hutzal was not justified in spending $414.70 on her husband's funeral, since it was out of an insolvent estate.

A reasonable sum, said His Lordship, would have been $181.

Short Parents . . .

Right Foods Will Help Boys to Grow Taller

By IDA JEAN KAIN

When you talk to high school students, you learn something. In talking to a group the other day, I learned to my surprise that both boys and girls take a lively interest in eating—from a nutritional standpoint!

It seems that a considerable percentage of boys have short parents and they want to know about the foods that give them a chance to grow taller. And, just like their mothers, the girls are concerned with the foods that will not make them fat. This article is directed to the boys of short parents.

If your parents are short, the odds are against your shooting up to six feet—but with all we know about nutrition, you shouldn't have to put up with the height your parents handed down to you.

Think of food as fuel, or power. Suppose that — before rationing—you drove up to a gas station that sold high test gas and the ordinary kind for the same price. You know the high test has more power and that's what you would take. It's about the same way with food. Your high test foods are the ones that are high in vitamins, minerals and protein. They are the milk, butter, eggs, cheese, whole grains, fruits, vegetables and meats that should make up the greater portion of your three meals a day.

Fuel is measured by the calorie and you need a lot of calories to grow on. You boys of 13 to 15 need about 3200 calories a day. Those of you ranging from 16 to 20 can use around 3500 calories per day. But most of these calories should be in the form of the high test foods that supply you with vitamins, minerals and protein.

Since it is a building material, protein is especially important. And you need a good quality, such as you get in milk, eggs, cheese, meat, fish or fowl.

Eat lots of bread of the 100 per cent whole grain or enriched kind. When you have a rendezvous at the soda fountain, make yours a glass of milk or some drink made with milk. Don't drink tea or coffee—and don't smoke.

What's the latest on the spice situation? We cooks want to know. There is enough spice, nutmeg, cinnamon, mace and cloves, to last a year or more, we are assured. Cloves are the most plentiful, cinnamon not quite so much so, so use your cinnamon sparingly.

Over 350 Attend Creston Dance

CRESTON, B. C.—Over 350 people attended the V Bundles of B. C. annual cabaret dance staged in the park pavilion and receipts were $300. A floor show at midnight opened with a song and dance—"The Fleet's In" put on by five high school students, Miss Joan Langston, Bill Constable, Ken Weir, Ernie Turk and Charlie Tompkins. A tap dance by the Biccum sisters, Delores and Mary, followed by vocal solos by Mrs. A. Dodd, Mrs. S. Rogers and D. Cobbett all drew encores from the crowded pavilion.

An outstanding feature of the dance was the decorations. Three sides of the hall were almost entirely covered by evergreens in which large mirrors were placed and around the sides colored lights were hung. The ceiling was strung with blue streamers from which myriads of silver stars were hung and around the sides flags from all the united nations were flying. The stage, which was also banked with flowers. Tables covered with red, white and blue were placed around the sides of the dance floor and gaily dressed waitresses attended them.

Requests of the laboratory staff, kitchen staff, dietician and janitor for salary increases were referred by Kootenay Lake General Hospital Board Tuesday night to the Executive for a report. The executive was asked to consult with Miss Vera B. Eidt, Superintendent, in regard to the length of service of the employees concerned. In May the Board granted salary increases to about 30 of the professional nursing staff, to the maids, and to the firemen.

TO WRITE MINISTER

The Board was informed in a letter from Labor Inspector Bliss W. Dysart that a further increase in the salary of the maids would be necessary to bring it within the requirements of Regulation 32, Female Minimum Wage Act. The maid salaries in May were increased to $25 plus maintenance. The Board decided to write to the Minister of Labor to seep dispensation from the Hospital Society was a non-commercial institution, and that the maids in addition to their salaries and maintenance received free hospital and medical service.

It Works Differently in British Columbia

Some parts of Canada suffer much more than others from the regulations under which Category "A" gasoline users have their coupons divided into four quarterly allowances, with coupons unused in one quarter invalid for later use.

In Eastern Canada, and in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, the majority of car users put up their cars in the Winter.

British Columbia and to a very large extent, Alberta, enjoy different climatic conditions. In British Columbia the big majority of car owners are all-the-year round drivers. In the most thickly populated parts of the Province many drivers and this applies particularly to those who drive for business purposes or to convey them to work, drive almost as many miles in the Winter as in the Summer.

It would seem that large sections of the Canadian public would be benefitted, without damage to the gasoline situation, if category "A" users were permitted to use their quota at any time in the year they chose. It would probably tend to discourage the use or more gasoline than necessity requires in the months for which the coupon allowance at present is the largest.

A Little More Sweetness

An interpretation from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, of the ration of a half pound of sugar for every pound of fruit weight, for preserving purposes, is that the weight that counts is the weight of the fruit as purchased, and not its weight as prepared for preserving or canning.

Housewives who have assumed that the weight meant the weight as prepred for the kettle, as in the familiar "pound for pound" formula, will be pleased at this ruling, which allows a little more sweetness to be incorporated in the preserves or canned fruit in the case.

The allowance for jams and jellies is three-quarters of a pound of sugar for every pound of "fruit weight," the aforesaid weight of the whole fruit.

Consumers making purchases of sugar for preserving or canning are required to keep an accurate account of such purchases. Any sugar remaining unused after the preserving campaign is completed must be applied toward the weekly ration of half a pound of sugar per person.

Reader, Nelson—A youth under 17, has been asked, when weighing in fish, to produce his angler's licence, and has been told he requires a licence, as he is 16. Is that information correct?

It is not correct. The Special Fishery Regulations governing sport fishing for British Columbia, promulgated by Dominion Order-in-Council of Feb. 13, 1942, and amendments thereto, provide, in reference to resident licences: "Residents of the Province over the age of 16 shall not angle or troll for fish in non-tidal waters of the Province South of the 2nd parallel of North Latitude, or carry for the purpose of so fishing, any fishing-rods or other device which can be used for catching fish by angling, without a licence, the fee for which is $1." This section just reenacted, has been in force for many years, and fixes 16 as the age at which residents, except in the North Country, require licences in order to take game fish.

J. E. R., South Slocan—Is a boy under 21 years of age requested to pay poll tax? If not, how can he get his money back which has been stopped by his employer?

No, he does not have to pay Poll Tax until 21 years of age. To get a refund, take the tax receipt and proof of age to the office where tax was paid and ask for a refund.

Divining Rod

(So. Thomas Times-Journal)

The villagers of Fremont, Ohio, wanted a new water supply. The board of public affairs had the courage to send to the village of Bradner for a man who was known as a water diviner. So the water diviner came, cut a forked twig from a peach tree and began to march to and from a certain area of ground. At a particular point the twig suddenly dipped toward the ground. The man continued his walks and twice returned to the spot where the twig reacted, and on each occasion it behaved the same way. A member of the board tried the twig without result, but another member took hold and he got the same reaction as the diviner. The board thereupon decided to dig for water at that spot and appropriated $1227 for the purpose of sinking a 300 foot well.

To many people the system of water divining seems of a piece with spiritualism or some other kind of hokum, and have no hesitation in scoffing at it. But water diving, or "dowsing" as it is called in England, has proved its genuineness over and over again. There is, in fact, a Society of Dowsers in England, composed of men and women who have this peculiar faculty. Very few people are known to possess it, but many have it without knowing because they have never been put to test. Hundreds of wells have been dug there through the offices of the dowsers. Best results are said to be obtained by using the twig of a hazel tree. Some years ago a London newspaperman investigated the phenomenon of dowsing. Not knowing whether he had the gift or not he ambled over some country fields, and at one spot the twig reacted in the most startling fashion, the leaves twisting as if blown in a gale, and the twig pulling so hard he was almost dragged off his feet. Water was subsequently found there.

Scientists explain it as due to certain people having sensitive constitutions that react to the presence of water, or of minerals beeath theirfeet. In modern parlance hey beneath their feet. In modern parlance, they well-known "allergies" of people to certain foods, there need be no surprise that some people are "allergic" to water.

NAME 'NEW DEMOCRACY' GOES INTO DISCARD

It has seemed strange to continue to describe as "New Democracy" members those elected to Parliament under that title two years ago. Nothing has been heard for quite a while of the movement so designated, in the initiation of which Mr. Herridge was the principal factor. There has been no indication of late that he was collaborating with his former associates from this province.

Now it is revealed that the term has gone definitely into the discard. The leader of the Ottawa group, Mr. Blackmore, stated on Monday that his party's name was "Social Credit". Accordingly there need be no hesiteation henceforth about using this as was done during the previous parliament.—Edmonton Journal.

Free French See Hitler Hope Gone of British Loss

Hitler's speech of April 26 was described in Free French circles in London as showing evidence of morale in Germany having fallen to a level lower than the most optimistic among the French dared hope for. The French were struck by the fact that there was no mention of offensive action by Germany.

That, however, they considered more important than Hitler's reference to the war—a war which he was boasting a year ago would be won before another twelve months—his reference to the position of Britain at the end of the war in relation to her Allies. This the French here interpret as a definite admission to the German people that there is no longer any hopes of "smashing" Britain and "finishing her off", as has so often been promised. On the contrary, Hitler has told the German people in a roundabout way that Britain will weather the storm and that by so much Germany cannot hope to win.

It is also considered significant that the passage alluding to Britain's position after the conflict was omitted from the reports of the speech broadcast by Radio Paris and Radio Vichy.

In former speeches, the French point out, the Fuehrer threatened his enemies. In this one he threatens the German people. It is a sign that matters in Germany are going badly for the Nazis.

The French in London thought Hitler was going to devote a great part of his speech to France, announcing probably colser collaboration with France through his new Quisling Laval. But France was mentioned quite casually.

GERMAN ARM DUPED

After the first days of easy victory, our friends note, Hitler's army went from deception to deception rather than from victory to victory. An English woman, whose story of her escape from France with her infant son has recently been told in the newspapers, made one interesting point in her talk with newspaper correspondents. She declared the morale of the Germans was low even at the end of June 1940. This seemed incredible. Speaking German fluently, she had been able to talk with many of the young soldiers of Hitler's picked divisions. They confessed to her they were surprised to find no evidence of the wretched state they had been taught to believe the French lived in under their "Jew-ridden capitalism". This had had a curious result. Having discovered they had been thus deceived in one instance, they no longer believed in a degenerate Britain which they would be able to invade with ease.

Nothing since those early days has happened to enlighten the disillusionment. On the contrary ,after this came the battle of Britain, where German airmen who had wrought such havoc against others met with staggering defeat, a defeat all the more morale-shattering since propaganda fostering a spirit of invincibility had been much overdone. To this was added the Russian campaign, when after early victories and talks of having completely destroyed the Russian armies, the Germans began to meet a resistance that tried them sorely, followed by a Winter which, contrary to another of their expectations, brought them no respite.

And on top of all this came the entry of the United States into the war. Hitler, seeing it was too late to avoid this intervention, put up the bluff of himself first declaring war on the great continent across the Atlantic. The entry of the United States into the last war broke German morale. It has done so again in this war, say the French. The R.A.F. raids, they add, are completing the work of destruction of German morale, and Germans now know that whatever their reaction it must inevitably prove vain against two powers who can go steadily forward piling up the odds in armaments, in airplanes and tanks, against a weakening Reich.

Roses Killed by Tar Mist

WINDSOR, Ont.—Traffic Sergeant Emerson Mitchell says every effort will be made to save foliage of some 200 plants at the Ouellette Avenue Coronation Rose Garden, which he says were damaged by tar fumes from a construction job North of Maiden Lane between Ouellette and Pelissier.

He said the foliage was coated with a fine tar mist that would kill several hundred rose buds, between the Detroit-Windsor tunnel exit and the entrance to the parking lot at Park and Ouellette.

The Coronation Rose Garden, started by city police in 1937, year of the coronation of George VI, is being supported this year by the Windsor Junior Chamber of Commerce, and executives have been notified of the damage alleged by Sergeant Mitchell, who looks after the garden.

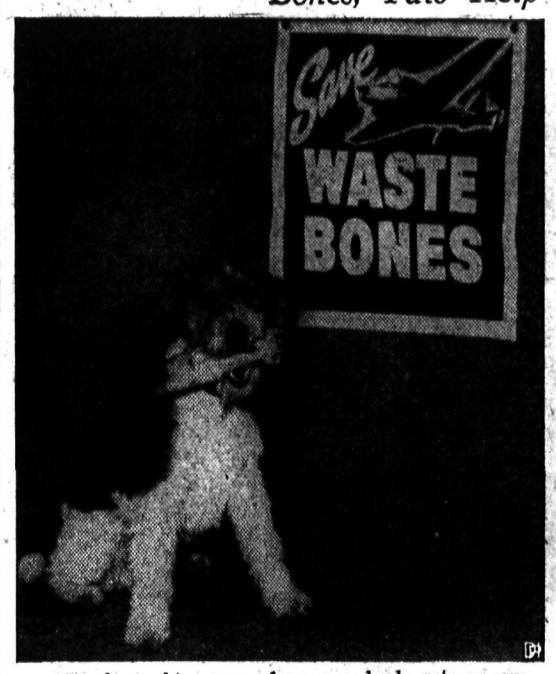
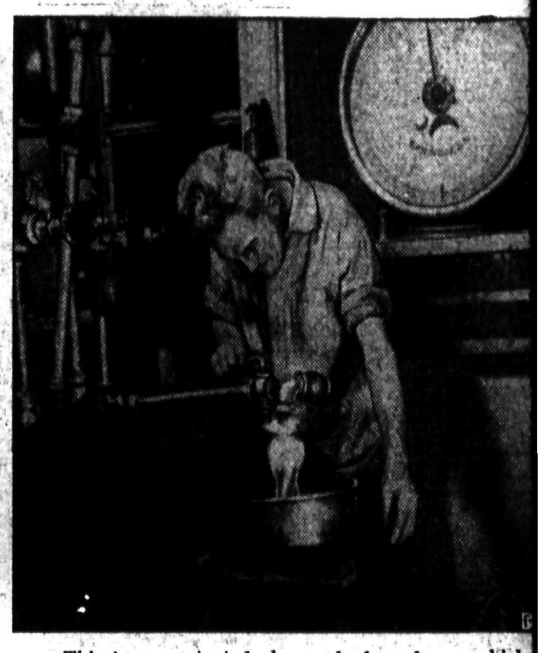
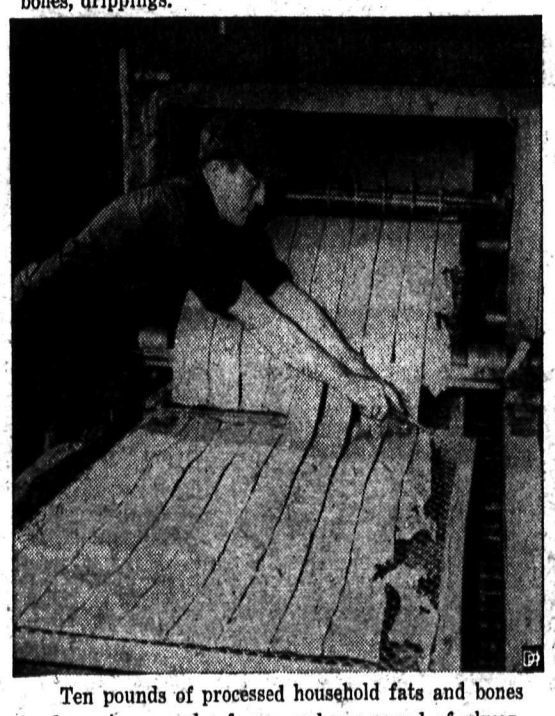
Bones, Fats Help Make Explosives



Sparky, a bone-saver from way back, sets an example for the housewife. Vegetable oil imports are partly cut off. To ensure sufficient quantities of fats and greases for war use, every home in Canada should save bones, drippings.



This is concentrated glue made from bones which the home owner has placed in a paper bag and set out separately for the garbage collector. Drippings are put in old cans. Glue has a multitude of uses throughout war production.



Ten pounds of processed household fats and bones produce nine pounds of soap and one pound of glycerine. This is high-grade glycerine being poured into a barrel. It will be shipped to an explosive plant to make intro-glycerine.

Behind the roar of our coastal defence guns is the grim power of cordite, which like practically all propellents contains nitro-glycerine. Every pound of nitro-glycerine requires a half-pound of glycerine from fats and bones.

Trail Man Gets Bear at Kaslo

KASLO, B. C., — A fishing trip which turned out to be a bear hunt was the experience of Elmer Ringheim of Trail last weekend. With his young son Jackie and a friend, he planned to fish in the vicinity of the Fluit Mine. Luckily he carried his gun, a 25-35 calibre, along.

When well on up the Fluit trail, at about a distance of 200 feet, he spied a grizzly bear. Jackie skinned up a nearby tree to safety. The bear at first did not get the scent, but when he did, he came for the men. When about 20 feet away Mr. Ringheim shot him in the brain. He was around 700 pounds. The hide was in fine condition.

Luckily he rolled right to the trail. Had he gone a few feet more he would have gone over the precipice.

Registration of Unemployed Men 16 to 70 Goes Ahead, Nelson Area

Registration of unemployed men in Nelson district is proceeding apace, with a staff of six at the Nelson Employment and Claims office engaged in the work.

With the exception of students and inmates of institutions, all unemployed men between the ages of 16 and 70 are required to register, whether employable, partially employable or unemployable. This includes men within the age limit who have been superannuated; and all others not gainfully employed. Students must register during their Summer vacations.

CAN REGISTER BY MAIL

C. M. Cole, in charge of the registration in the district, explained Wednesday that all unemployed men living within five miles of the Nelson office should register at this office. Those living beyond the five-mile radius must go to their local postmaster and obtain registration forms to be mailed to the Nelson office.

For persons physically unable to appear in person, provision has been made for them to apply for forms which can be mailed in.

Registration is compulsory, but since the Employment and Claims Office has no contact with unemployed men it is necessary for the men affected to come forward for registration. Employed men were registered through employers.

REGISTER IF BECOME UNEMPLOYED

Mr. Cole stated the regulation applied not only to men now not gainfully employed, but any man becoming unemployed after June 1 must register within a week after leaving his employment.

Purpose of the registration is to obtain data upon men available for industry, and to classify them. Employers have been requested to assist by reporting vacancies and by estimating their labor requirements ahead.

Petain Convinced Axis Cannot Win

By WADE WERNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP). — Two years of war since Dunkerque have convinced Chief of State Marshal Petain the Axis cannot win, authoritative reports from Vichy revealed today.

There was a time after the fall of France in 1940 when Petain regarded a German victory as inevitable; but now, these reports said, the old Marshal is convinced Germany and her allies will be defeated.

Vichy's collaborationist Chief of Government Pierre Laval, however, still holds the contrary view. An American observer who recently talked with him quoted Laval as saying Germany could not be defeated and, moreover, it would be a disaster for Europe if Britain and Soviet Russia won.

Reliable informants in Vichy report Admiral Jean Darlan, Chief of the Vichy Government's armed forces, holds a somewhat similar opinion.

Sources in close touch with developments around Petain pictured Petain as a patriot surrounded by intriguers and exposed to pressure from German authorities, yet laboring to protect the integrity of France.

R.A.F. Personnel Work With A.V.G.

CHUNGKING, June 10 (AP)— Part of the R.A.F. personnel which escaped into China is staying in this country to take ground jobs with the American Volunteer Group which will be absorbed in the United States Army Air Corps July 4.

Some A.V.G. airmen are going home when their contracts expire this month, while others and some ground crew are remaining.

Those who stay have been promised a leave when reinforcements of men and planes arrive. Some planes, including the newest types, already are in China and many more are expected in fulfilment of President Roosevelt's promise to get aid to China.

Although new American-built planes were flown into China recently, officials said this did not signify the arrival of units of the United States Air Corps as the machines were consigned to the Chinese Air Force and are to be operated as part of it—up to July 4 with the A.V.G.

(Reuters reported yesterday in a dispatch from Chungking that British and American air force units had arrived in China.)

Authoritative quarters said no separate American or British air force was yet operating in China.

Present plans, these sources said, provided that the major burden of China's air protection would be undertaken by the United States with augmentation by the R.A.F. possibly taking place at a later stage.

Guards to Patrol Isolated Spots on West Coast

CAMP MURRAY, Wash., June 10 (AP)—On orders from Gov. Langlie Adit. Gen. Walter DeLong has detailed volunteers from the Washington State Guard to duty in observation posts of the air raid warning system at isolated points near Cape Flattery.

Demon Squadron Crew Bag Ship on First Flight

LONDON, June 10 (CP Cable).—Canada's famed "Demon" squadron has added to its impressive score against Axis shipping, this time by a crew on its first operation flight.

Flying a Hudson bomber high above the Frisian Islands, Po. Pat P. Little, 22, of Montreal, sighted a small Nazi merchant ship.

He put his plane into a steep dive through heavy flak, a stick of bombs was released and flames leaped from the vessel.

Nazis Raze Czech Village in Mass Reprisal

LONDON, June 10 (CP)—The Prague radio announced tonight that all men living in a Czech village near Kladno had been shot by the Germans on suspicion of harboring the slayers of Reinhard Heydrich.

The women of the village were said to have been deported to a concentration camp and the children sent to "educational centres."

The village later was razed, the radio said, and its name removed from all official records.

The number of men executed was not stated.

The punishment inflicted on this community, a few miles West of Prague, apparently was the most drastic yet meted out in the campaign of reprisal for the death of the Gestapo purge master and "protector" of Bohemia-Moravia, who died June 3 of wounds inflicted eight days previously.

SECTIONMAN ACQUITTED MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C., June 10 (CP).—Howard Kuryluk, railway section-man from McBride, B.C., was acquitted by an assize court jury here yesterday of a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Mike Hatrak last Oct. 31 at McBride.

Kuryluk's discharge was ordered by Mr. Justice J. M. Coady.

Japs Claim Troops Used in Aleutians; Admit One Aircraft Carrier Sunk and Another Damaged

TOKYO, June 10 (AP).—Japan announced the loss of one aircraft carrier and damage to two other warships in her first report of the Battles of Midway and Dutch Harbor today and headquarters claimed that two United States aircraft carriers and a large transport had been sunk.

(The Navy has reported only one United States vessel sunk in the Pacific fighting last week, this a destroyer torpedoed by a submarine, and an aircraft carrier damaged. The toll on the Japanese fleet was officially listed at two or three aircraft carriers and a destroyer sunk and from 11 to 14 other vessels, including three battleships, damaged.)

Imperial Headquarters asserted United States aircraft carriers of the 19,900-ton Enterprise and Hornet types were sunk by Japanese formations around Midway Island "while 120 enemy aircraft were brought down."

Troop landings were implied in the Aleutian Islands, for the communique said naval forces, in cooperation with army units, "destroyed a number of enemy positions on the Aleutian Islands and are continuing the operations in this area," following up the naval attack upon Dutch Harbor June 4.

"In the area of Dutch Harbor 14 enemy planes were brought down or destroyed and a large enemy transport was sunk," Imperial headquarters said.

"Japanese units furthermore bombed groups of large oil tanks in two places and set them on fire, as well as one large hangar."

While operations were reported continuing in the Aleutians, the communique implied the Midway action was over.

Capt. Hideo Hiraide, Chief of the Naval Press section of Imperial Headquarters, claimed in a broadcast tonight that "Japanese forces had been able to occupy Western Aleutian Islands because the enemy was unable to send strong reinforcements North on account of the strong Japanese attack at Midway."

Early editions of Thursday morning newspapers devoted big headlines to the Dutch Harbor-Midway actions.

U.S. DECLINES COMMENT

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP).—The United States Navy declined to make any comment today on Japanese claims that two United States aircraft carriers and a large transport had been sunk in operations around Midway Island and Dutch Harbor, Alaska, pointing merely to American communiques which admitted the damaging of one carrier and the loss of a destroyer.

Naval spokesmen indicated they regarded the Tokyo claims as another "fishing expedition" to try to bring out information as to the disposal of United States Fleet units—a comment they have made several times after other Japanese claims which later developments proved were unfounded.

The Japanese claims included a statement that naval units "in closest cooperation with troops of the army destroyed a number of enemy positions on the Aleutian Islands and are continuing the operations in this area."

Naval spokesmen said there was no further comment to be made now on Admiral King's description of the situation in that area.

It has been customary for both the army and navy to withhold official detailed comment on major naval and aviation action until it was considered none of the revelations could aid the enemy. No official United States announcement, for example, was made of the army's bombing of Tokyo until weeks after it took place.

Admiral King noted Sunday that detailed information "relating to the so-called 'Battle of the Coral Sea' can soon be released, perhaps during the coming week, depending upon certain developments related to the action now going on to the Westward of Midway Island." The information has not yet been released though this battle ended about May 8.

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—A United States navy spokesman countered Axis claims of Japanese occupation of Aleutian Islands bases today with a categorical assertion that "none of our inhabited areas, islands or rocks are troubled with uninvited visitors up to this time."

Asked for comment on Axis claims that army forces had destroyed positions on the Aleutian Islands, the spokesman said "we have no information about any Japanese on Alaskan soil. Certainly none of our inhabited areas, islands or rocks are troubled with uninvited visitors up to this time."

Germans Claim Two Fishing Boats Sunk Off Canada

BERLIN, June 10 (AP). — The German High Command claimed today the sinking by U-boat gunfire of two fishing trawlers off the Canadian coast.

(These claims are without confirmation of any sort from Canadian or other sources.)

It also claimed eight freighters totalling 41,000 tons have been sunk by U-boats in American waters.

Executions Fail to Stop Norwegian Patriots' Fight Against Nazis

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—To be a patriot in Norway nowadays means martyrdom.

There is virtual civil war in the German-occupied country and the Quislings not only hold all the jobs but also have protection of the Nazi Gestapo.

Nevertheless, the patriots continued to stand by their guns. Story after story of personal courage, of passive resistance to Quisling stooges, of manly facing of firing squads trickled into Germany from Norway.

Executions are the order of the day for helping others to make a getaway to England, or even for young Norwegians themselves attempting to escape to Britain.

One electrician and one attorney were executed for "participating in a secret meeting." Two men were shot for "revealing military secrets and possessing arms illegally." At Trondheim four citizens were condemned to death for listening to foreign radio stations and spreading the news they heard. And so on.

The Lutheran bishop of Oslo and his six fellow bishops in other parts of the country resigned in protest against the Quisling regime. Specifically, they objected to the assault upon the Dean of Trondheim, Fjellbu, whom a mob of Quislingites prevented from delivering his usual Sunday sermon.

Some 9000 teachers in individual leters resigned in March from the Teachers Federation when it came under Quisling control, thereby risking cancellation of their pensions, or rights to pensions, and being drafted for compulsory labor.

The Rector of Oslo University Dr. Seip, was carried off to a concentration camp and put in solitary. For 24 days, in the Grini camp he sat in darkness, living on bread and water.

So did Einar Gerharisen, Chairman of the Norwegian Labor Party, according to reliable information received by the Zurcher Zeitung of Zurich, Switzerland. Gerharisen's "crime" consisted in distributing internee rations too liberally to his fellow prisoners.

The Swiss paper reported the concentration camps of Norway generally overcrowded. In one of them was one of 17 judges of the Norwegian Supreme Court who led the protest of the Supreme Court early this year against the Quisling-appointed Department of Justice naming all jury members without consulting the Supreme Court. His 16 colleagues thereupon resigned and were replaced by Quisling henchmen.

All these measures have not been able to prevent acts of sabotage and other evidence of the populace's disagreement with Quislingism.

CONTRACT . . . By Shepard Barclay

THE CORRECT ORDER

IF YOU and your partner are going to try to ruff a trick in order to try to defeat the declarer, you must usually gain that ruff at the earliest possible moment, so that the declarer cannot drop your trumps before you have a chance to use them as you wish. That doesn't apply, though, when your side has something else to do in order to build up a defensive trick of another kind on which early action is even more important.

North: ♠ A Q 4 3 ♥ 5 ♦ 9 6 5 ♣ K J 9 5 4
West: ♠ 8 6 ♥ K J 9 8 ♦ J 10 3 ♣ A 10 8 3
East: ♠ K 2 ♥ A Q 10 6 4 2 ♦ K 8 7 4 ♣ 6
South: ♠ J 10 9 7 5 ♥ 7 3 ♦ A Q 2 ♣ Q 7 2

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	1 ♥

4 ♠	Dbl

At most doubles of a duplicate game in which this deal was played, West led the heart 8 to the A and East immediately tackled the job of developing what he hoped would be two ruffs. He led back the club 6 to the A, trumped the return of the club 3 with his spade 2 and then led the diamond 4 to the Q. South, seeing his danger, led to the spade A, dropping the K, and then scored the club K and J, discarding his small diamond. He ruffed the club 4 with the J and then led to the spade Q, whereupon the club 9 was good fora discard of the heart 7, thus making his contract.

At another table, a very astute East, Mrs. Margaret Krick, of Easton, Pa., one of the stars of the recent tournament at the Skytop club in Pennsylvania, after winning the heart A, did not go after the ruff. Instead, she reasoned that a diamond trick would be necessary to beat the contract.

So she led her diamond 4 to the Q. Sensing his danger, the declarer led the spade 5 to the A in the hope of dropping a singleton K, but failed. Then came the club 4 to the Q and A and a return of the diamond J to the A. The club 2 to the K was ruffed then by the spade K, whereupon the diamond K was cashed, beating the contract.

C.M.A. Urges Closer Unity Between Employer-Employees

TORONTO, June 10 (CP)—Closer cooperation between employers and employees with the object of achieving an all-out effort to reach maximum war production was adopted as policy by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at the final session fo its 71st annual meeting here today.

After discussing manpower problems among themselves and with Elliot M. Little, Director of National Selective Service, and other Ottawa officials at conferences during the two preceding days of the convention, the industrialists unanimously approved a resolution setting forth the value of close employer-employee relations.

Steel Plate Output Shows Progress

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP).—The Iron Age, trade journal of the United States steel industry, reported today that on the basis of steel plate shipments to shipyards, "distinct progress" has been made in efforts to bridge the gap between ship sinkings and new ship construction.

"Steel plate production in the United States finally has topped the 1,000,000-ton mark for a single month," the magazine said, "an accomplishment which is well worth recording in view of the great demand for ship plates and the rising total of ship sinkings off the East coast.

"May plate shipments totalled 1,012,194 tons."

Senator Makes Rubber Ball in Ten Seconds

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP).—To the expressed astonishment of Senators, who had just been told that the B. F. Goodrich Company planned ultimately to produce 165,000 tons of synthetic rubber annually, a company executive compounded some in 10 seconds today and bounced it on the floor.

K. D. Smith, Akron, O., poured what he called "liquid Ameripol Latex" into a beaker, added acetic acid, squeezed the surplus liquid, and bounced the ball.

Smith said that 20 cents a pound would be a "very fair" price for the synthetic rubber and demonstrated to the Senate Agriculture Sub-Committee a number of tires on which it had been used.

He said that tests showed the synthetic casings had about 90 per cent of the durability of tires made from natural rubber.

Weather Interrupts Raid on Huns for Third Night

LONDON, June 10 (CP).—For the third night this month, bad weather interrupted the R.A.F. offensive against Germany last night.

British bombers opened the month with the 1036-plane raid on Essen and followed with two successive night attacks on Essen and Bremen before bad weather forced the first halt of the month.

Then Bremen and Emden were attacked on successive nights before bad weather again took a hand on Sunday night. Monday night the Ruhr Valley was bombed.

Gov'l. Sets Maximum of $1,265,900 to Assist Apple Growers

OTTAWA, June 10 (CP). — To help apple growers in the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia to market their 1942 crop, following loss of markets and other restrictions resulting from the war, provision for a maximum of $1,265,900 in assistance to growers has been authorized by Order-in-Council, it was announced today in an extra edition of the Canada Gazette.

The Order-in-Council approves under authority of the War Measures Act, an agreement between the British Columbia Fruit Board and the Minister of Agriculture designed to safeguard growers in part "against losses which otherwise seem inevitable."

Similar agreements were approved in October, 1939, September, of 1940 and June, 1941.

It is estimated, the Order-in-Council says, that on the basis of the quantity of apples likely to be subject to the provisions of the agreement, $1,265,900 in assistance to the growers might be required.

A spokesman for the Agriculture Department said this sum does not necessarily represent the amount which actually will be spent on assistance to the apple growers.

In 1941, he said, it was estimated a maximum of $1,000,000 would be required, whereas in that year it actually cost the Dominion Government a little less than half that amount.

He estimated that this year the sum required might run somewhere between $1,000,000 and the maximum amount estimated. It was possible, however, that the entire sum might be required.

Under the agreement the Agriculture Minister agrees to assist in marketing a maximum of 4,750,000 boxes of apples "less any quantity sold by the Board outside Canada."

The Minister will pay the Board "the sum or amount by which the f.o.b. value of all sales by the Board in Canada for fresh consumption at prices authorized by the Minister totals less than an average of $1.25 per box of wrapped pack and $1.15 per box of unwrapped pack for a total quantity of 4,500,000 boxes less than any quantity sold by the Board outside of Canada, and the sum or amount by which the f.o.b. value of any additional such sales not exceeding 250,000 boxes totals less than an average of $1 per box."

The Minister further agrees to purchase from the Board "up to 2,240,000 pounds of choice quality evaporated apples, 22 per cent of moisture, resulphured, packed for export, at 11 cents per pound, f.o.b. shipping point."

Orange Market Advances; Dump Duty Goes Into Effect Saturday

Reports from wholesale row on Wednesday indicated that the orange market has developed very strongly in that there is an advance of over $1 per case in California within the last week, and there are possibilities of a still higher advance. The grapefruit market is also quite strong, and it means a higher price on lavol markets.

The dump duty has gone into effect on head lettuce, cabbage, carrots and beets, with the result that there is a scarcity of new carrots for a week or two until B. C. has some available.

New cabbage, head lettuce, bunch beets and turnips, cauliflower, tomatoes and cucumbers are coming in now from the Vancouver district.

New potatoes have arrived from Vancouver; the price is higher on these and the price on American potatoes will also have to be higher due to the duty of $7.50 per ton becoming effective Saturday, June 13.

Bananas are very scarce and at the present time the local market is entirely cleaned.

The egg market advanced this week and production is very low, Beef is scarce and is liable to be for the next four or five weeks. A wholesaler reported that he was unable to get anywhere near the beef requirements.

Carlot arrivals this week were: two cars of B. C. vegetables, two of California oranges, one mixed car of flour and feed, and one car of oyster shell.

Market Trends . . .

LONDON, June 10 (AP). — The Stock Market closed generally firm today in expanding trading.

British funds ended firm with gains to 3-16.

Industrials finished higher despite profit-taking near the close. Rubbers and teas were up, oils slightly irregular and home rails off.

NEW YORK—Unsettled by a steep fall in American Telephone the Stock Market posted declines over a wide front today.

Losses were moderate in the general run of leaders.

Fractional declines were widely distributed in the final hour.

TORONTO—Both mining groups lost ground while industrials held a moderate index advance and Western oils were slightly heavy.

Junior golds were the weakest in sympathy with lower prices in New York.

MONTREAL — Trends in trading up to the final hour today were generally upward. Brazilian was the strong spot but slipped a little from its highest point in mid-afternoon.

VANCOUVER — Trading continued about normal in volume but prices were lower in golds and oils.

Bralorne dropped 10 to 7.50. Cariboo lost 5 at 1.10, Privateer 3 at 31, and Sheep Creek 1 at 75.

WINNIPEG — After a dull session July wheat closed unchanged at 80⅜ cents a bushel.

No export in wheat or flour could be confirmed.

Offerings were light and scattered buying proved sufficient to give oats and barley a firm appearance in the coarse grain pit. Rye futures averaged higher with Eastern buying reported.

CHICAGO — Wheat led one of the strongest rallies in weeks in the grain market today with gains of as much as 2 cents a bushel.

House refusal to accept a Senate provision of the Agriculture Department Appropriation Bill to permit sale of 125,000,000 bushels of Government wheat at prices below parity touched off the buying.

WAR COUNCIL ELATED OVER NEWS OF MIDWAY

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP).—Members of the Pacific War Council met with President Roosevelt today and left the White House visibly elated over an account of the Japanese defeat in the Battle of Midway Island.

The British Ambassador, Lord Halifax, said Mr. Roosevelt gave the Council what information he had about the Midway engagement but that he was not at liberty to disclose details to the press.

Asked what the Council's reaction was, he grinned broadly and replied: "You can guess that."

Walter Nash, New Zealand Minister to the United States, asserted that the President's account was "full of good news right through."

"It was as good as we've had—perhaps the best we've had," he added. "We could do with another one like it."

BOSTON FINANCIER LOST IN DESERT DIES OF THIRST

KINGMAN, Ariz., June 10 (AP).—Benjamin Pierce Cheney, 76-year-old financier and social leader of Boston, died of thirst on the Northwestern Arizona desert after a futile, desperate, 20-mile trek in quest of water.

Had he walked an equal distance in the opposite direction from his stalled automobile, Coroner E. E. Wilson said, Cheney would have reached water in time to save his life.

The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Between the lines of Tokyo's belated report on the midway-Dutch Harbor battles is virtual admission that a stinging American blow has been dealt Nipponese air-sea power in the Pacific.

If that was not true, there would be no reason for Tokyo to sugarcota the admitted loss of one plane carrier and serious damage to another with a claim that two American carriers had been sunk and 120 planes shot down; and with a vague intimation that a Japanese invasion of the Aleutian Islands is under way.

The official Tokyo hand-out itself made no such claim. As relayed from Berlin—where it probably was accepted with tongue in cheek—it spoke of the "reduction" or "destruction" of American positions in the Aleutians. It required a Tokyo naval press spokesman to translate that into a verbal invasion for the edification of Japanese radio listeners.

With one element of the Tokyo version the official word from Washington seemed to agree, as of the time of issue. Both reported operations continuing in the North Central Pacific. But they were continuing Westward, not Eastward, until broken off Saturday night when contact was lost.

If Japanese forces of any type had been landed anywhere in the Aleutians, they would have to swim a long way to rejoin their retreating comrades.

Since it is probable that no important percentage of the Japanese people have heard American reports of two to four Japanese carriers down with all their planes lost and a dozen other warships or supply train vessels sunk and damaged, Tokyo did not have to attempt to reconcile its own with the American account. It did have to admit some loss; and the most obvious purpose of the method taken was to put those losses into a setting of victory, not defeat, even if that setting had to be manufactured verbally.

To achieve that the midway operations became a mere diversion, to intercept reinforcements. The Dutch Harbor show became the main event although it had already been disclosed as a minor affair involving four enemy bombers and a dozen or so escorting fighters. Seizure of the Aleutian Island bridge to the North American Continent became the reputed objective.

It sounds silly. Harassment air raiding of the Alaskan outpost Island is always possible if Japan can risk the carriers or planes for minor operations of that sort; but while American naval power holds the whip hand in the Eastern and Central Pacific, as it unquestionably does, and can extend its own task force forays far Westward of the date line, as it has done, the notion of a Japanese march on Washington via the Aleutians is pure fantasy.

Farmers Institute Convention at Nakusp Urges One Farm Body; Asks Official for Arrow Lakes

NAKUSP, B. C., June 10—West Kootenay-Boundary Central Farmers' Institute in convention here today in adopting resolutions:

Recommended to Farmers' organizations that the farmers form themselves into one organization to insure strength in post-war reconstruction and to enable them to insist on a standard of living on the same basis of capital and industrial workers, after receiving a suggestion from J. J. Campbell of Willow Point that all Institutes and like organizations become affiliated with the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, a single organization working to these ends.

Recommend to the Government that at the close of the war the Japanese race be expelled from this country.

Expressed sincere appreciation to Prime Minister King for "all the good work you and the government have accomplished to help the allied nations in fighting for freedom in the world war," and in a message conveying this thanks expressed the wish "that our government will immediately make effective an all-out war effort that Canada may do her full share to gain victory for our allies."

Asked the Department of Agriculture to station a resident agriculturist in the Arrow Lakes Districts to assist with marketing problems and to assist in establishing the District as a seed growing area.

WANT DIFFERENTIAL CHANGED

Recommended to the Vegetable Marketing Board that wholesale dealing price, now on a flat scale be put on a percentage basis, and that this percentage be as low as possible.

Recommended to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board that one price be set on dairy products, principally on eggs, butter, and beef, in view of the wide variance in prices in various sections.

And urged the Board to arrange a bonus for producers of butter fats as the difference in butter fat and beef prices made it unprofitable to produce for butter fat.

Some 37 delegates and visitors attended the convention, which will conclude Thursday morning. Farmers Institutes of Kaslo, Robson, Edgewood, Willow Point, Brouse, Boswell, Grand Forks, Winlaw, Nakusp and Burton were represented.

President O. B. Ballard of Robson was Chairman.

Rossland Gets Water Law Digest; Let Gov't Build Temporary Shed

ROSSLAND, B. C., June 10 — A complete summary of the laws that govern the control of water, including surface water coming in a natural way, submitted by City Solicitor R. J. Clegg to the City Council showed that damage done by the heavy rains complained of by Mr. Esphenheim recently would not be the responsibility of the city. The summary was filed for further use when required.

The fire, water and light committee was given power to act regarding trouble between the city stop and main water pipe to the George Fitzer house.

A petition from three residents that the city divert the water from running on to their property was referred to the Works Committee.

Answering a letter received from the C. M. & S. Company placing a price of $37.50 on a lot wanted by the City, the council decided to ask the C. M. & S. legal department to view the lot, as it is felt $5 is sufficient for it. This lot is located at the West end of the South Belt, and is wanted in order to make an additional entry to this section, to serve several houses recently built there, between Manita and Nevada Streets.

GIVE DODDS OPTION

Ald. F. M. Ethridge, Chairman of the property committee, stated that as B. Australia Stock Exchange Prices Regain Lost Ground

BY J. E. HOLDSWORTH

SYDNEY, June 10 (CP Cable)—Having gradually advanced for several weeks, prices on the Australian Stock Exchange now have regained nearly all the ground lost after the fall of Singapore.

This is a notable achievement in view of the fact that throughout the period dealings have been controlled by the Australian Government's economic plan.

Chief factor prompting confidence this week has been the United States success in the Midway naval battle. Recent events in Europe also seem to have made a favorable impression on investors, who also were influenced by upward movements on the London and New York stock markets.

Salmo and Sheep Creek Send In Rubber Scrap

An additional shipment of rubber scrap, collected by M. C. Donaldson of Salmo, and a ton of cut rubber hose pipe from Sheep Creek has been received by the Nelson Red Cross Salvage Committee. Mr. Donaldson recently sent in 1500 pounds of rubber salvage, and this second collection weighs 500 pounds. The rubber from both centres was hauled in by Gilbert Taylor of a Nelson trucking line.

"The Salmo-Sheep Creek area is doing splendid work in war salvaging," one Committee official said. "The people there are consistent and energetic contributors."

ASK FOR SACKS

Householders have been asked to dig into their basements and sheds for sacks. They are urgently needed in packing small rubber articles for shipment. It was pointed out that a sackful of rubber could be slipped into a stack of tires, adding to the amount able to be shipped and to the value of the shipment.

Further cooperation by donors in removing the canvas from running shoes, the leather parts from shoes, and the metal connections from hose was asked.

We've Talked It Over and Have DECIDED TO BUY A USED CAR NOW

We've been reading the ads that the Nelson Garagemen have been running and we're convinced that they are right when they say that we can get more car for our money now than we will later on. We'll look after our tires so that they will probably last us for three or four years, and Category A gasoline ration is plenty for one to go back and forth to work and for the Missus to do a little shopping.

We Think we're wise and, if you are contemplating a new used car it will pay you to see one of these garages today
