CANADIANS AGAIN ON RAMPAGE

24,000,000 Cast Ballots . . .

Britain's Choice Not to Be Known for Three Weeks

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, July 5 (AP)—Great Britain chose a new Government today to finish the war with Japan and to lay the foundations for the peace to come, but the result will not be known for three weeks.

The election was orderly and quiet, in sharp contrast to the rancor of one of the bitterest campaigns in decades.

The Press Association said between 70 and 80 per cent of the registered electors were estimated to have cast ballots. On the basis of 30,000,000 eligible voters this would mean a total vote of between 21,000,000 and 24,000,000.

Voters decided whether their immediate future would be shaped by the free enterprise system advocated by Prime Minister Churchill and the Conservatives, or by the Labor party with its announced goal of a "Socialist Commonwealth of Great Britain." The chief hope of the Liberals was that they might hold the balance of power.

RESULTS JULY 26

The ballots will not be count until July 26, after the service vote is returned from all the battlefronts. The results are expected to be announced about noon that day.

The world watched the election for an indication of whether Europe's post-war political pendulum would swing to the left or the right.

In one of the last speeches of the stormy campaign, Mr. Churchill asserted that defeat of his Conservative "caretaker" Government would cast many European countries into Communism.

The Labor Party Leader, Clement Attlee, and other Labor heads have demanded the nationalization of coal mining, power, inland transport and the iron and steel industries of Britain.

"Labor will organize the economic life of the country in order to insure good homes food, clothing, social security, employment, leisure, freedom and the amenities of life for everybody," Mr. Attlee said in a final speech.

Mr. Churchill himself, like thousands of others, was unable to vote because his name was left off the register. The mixup and confusion resulted from enemy bombing and the shifting of wartime populations.

Mrs. Churchill, however, cast her ballot, and the waiting crowd outside shouted "good luck Winnie" when she appeared.

Foreign Secretary Eden was forced to remain in bed because of illness, but his wife visited the polling districts in Warwick and Leamington carrying a message that Mr. Eden hoped to be well enough "to be with you soon."

It was Britain's first general election since Nov. 14, 1935. After such a long abstinence from politics, the country made the most of the six weeks' campaign and candidates showered each other with abuse.

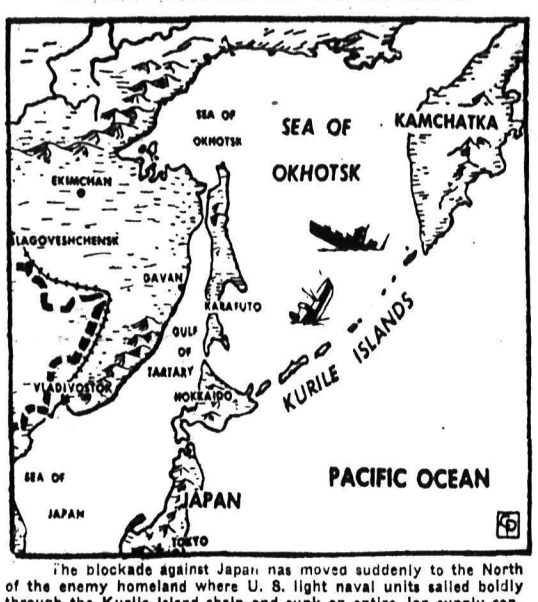
CARRY BLOCKADE TO KURILES



The blockade against Japan has moved suddenly to the North of the enemy homeland where U. S. light naval units sailed boldly through the Kurile Island chain and sunk an entire Jap supply convoy. Efforts to isolate and starve out Japan while bombers hit industrial areas, reached a peak in the South with Okinawa's fall.

SEEK SOLUTION IN STREET CAR WORKERS' STRIKE

TORONTO, July 5 (CP) — A three-man Board of Arbitration was handed today the task of finding within 24 hours some solution to a wage dispute that reached its climax in a 2½ hour strike that brought most of Toronto's 900 street cars to an involuntary halt in the streets and left thousands with the alternative of walking or hitch-hiking to work.

From about 9:10 a.m. until 11:35 a.m., E.D.T., the cars stood still, powerless to move after about 75 electrical workers of the Toronto Transportation Commission shut off switches in four sub-stations as a gesture of "disgust with buck passing" in a dispute that dates back to May, 1944.

Representatives of the T.T.C. and the National Organization of Civic, Utility and Electrical Workers (C.C.L.) will sit with Mayor Robert Saunders—father of the temporary truce—or some other representative of the Board of Control on the Board of Arbitration which, it was stipulated, must meet within 24 hours.

STRIKERS BACK TO POSTS

T. F. Stevenson, Secretary of the Workers Union, stressed that the "strike is not over." The "principal object" was to get the street cars mobile again and the strikers went back to their posts to make that possible.

While the strike was at its height, tying up a system that daily accommodates an average of 1,000,000 persons in Toronto and environs, both the T.T.C. and the union issued statements.

The T.T.C. termed the strike "illegal" and said that in "fairness" to the more than 3200 other employees it "can't yield to intimidation and unlawful action." It pointed out that the action "came without notice" and was taken "while active negotiations were being carried on" to solve the dispute.

The union charged that the T.T.C. was "not playing fair" with the electrical workers by requesting an appeal against a ruling of the Ontario Regional War Labor Board which granted five cents an hour wage increases in certain classifications. Reviewing the history of the issue, it was pointed out that the National War Labor Board had revoked the Regional Board's decision once, that negotiations had been reopened and that the Regional Board's decision now stood.

Britain, U.S.A. and China Ready to Establish Relations

LONDON, July 5 (CP) — Britain and the United States jointly recognized the reconstituted Warsaw Government of Poland tonight, cutting adrift the London regime with which they have dealt throughout the war. China also announced recognition.

In both London and Washington, however, it was emphasized in the announcements that establishment of the expanded Warsaw administration constituted only a "step" in fulfillment of the Yalta "Big Three" agreements.

The Foreign Office said the Government had been advised by Edward Obuska-Morawski, Prime Minister of the Polish Provisional Government of National Unity in Warsaw, that the Government was established June 28 and that it had recognized in their entirety the decisions of the Crimea Conference on the Polish Government.

ELECTIONS SOON

The Crimea Agreement of Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin called for broadening the base of the Moscow-sponsored Warsaw Group, to take in other Democratic Polish elements and for "free and unfettered" elections to be held later. The Warsaw Government has undertaken to arrange for these as soon as possible.

Diplomatic comment here and in the United States has laid emphasis on the elections and the circumstances under which they are held as the finally important step in letting the Poles work out their own Democratic course.

Pending appointment of a British Ambassador to Warsaw, Robert A. Henkey will be Charge d'Affaires there. President Truman said Arthur Bliss Lane had been named Ambassador and "will proceed to Warsaw as soon as possible."

Stanislaus Mikolajczyk, former leader of the London Polish Government, has been included in the new Warsaw set-up as Vice-Premier.

FORESEE ARGUMENTS

(Washington diplomats did not expect any formal withdrawal of recognition from the London Poles. Rather the organization was expected to be treated as if it had simply ceased to exist diplomatically. Whatever happens in that direction, there probably will be arguments over disposition of Polish assets claimed by both regimes.)

Polish troops, who have fought under British Command in Europe, and whose loyalty the London Poles still claim, constitute another problem.

Open Inquiry Into "Schoolboy Action"

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ALDERSHOT, England, July 5 (CP Cable)—A military court of inquiry opened an investigation at this garrison town into a disturbance by 500 Canadian soldiers "impatient and restless" at a delay in their repatriation.

The court inquiry into the demonstration, which drew a stiff rebuke from one of the Generals who led the men in battle, was closed to the public but a statement probably will be issued when the inquiry is completed tomorrow or Saturday.

Shopkeepers in the heart of the business district of this Hampshire town cleared the debris from around their premises and opened for business as usual after the 2½-hour demonstration Wednesday night and early today.

At least 25 shops were damaged and 87 large windows broken by troops estimated by Canadian Military Headquarters to number about 500—men who with other thousands were stationed at repatriation centres here awaiting shipping space to return to Canada.

While broken glass was still being swept from the streets, Maj.-Gen. Dan Spry of Winnipeg, Commander of Canadian reinforcement units, addressed the soldiers drawn up in a hollow square in the barracks parade ground. He termed the incident "a schoolboy action" by "20 or 30" soldiers which was the sort of thing to "undermine the good reputation the Canadians built up on the battlefield."

3 MAIN REASONS

Gen. Spry said he understood there were three main grounds for complaint—shipping, food and pay.

He explained the reason for the shortage of shipping which was delaying repatriation of Canadian troops from overseas and said that as far as food was concerned they were on home establishment rations, which were less than they got in the field but far more than British civilians were getting.

Gen. Spry acknowledged the men had a legitimate pay grievance.

The men had drawn pay when they left for embarkation leave and had no money left when they found their sailings delayed. He promised they would be able to draw more money.

LITTLE LOOTING

Smashed windows made up the main damage during the demonstration. Some were broken with bricks, others smashed with heavy boots or with bottles of jam taken from other smashed storefronts.

No one was injured.

There was no looting other than removal of a few jam jars. Florists and leather goods stores, grocery shops, pubs, theatres and general stores all suffered. No attempt was made to enter any premises except at an open amusement arcade where some men pulled pinball machines onto the sidewalk and pushed them over, causing damage estimated at £1,000 ($4,500).

Citizens surveying the damage termed the outbreak "nonsensical". Men in the barracks told reporters there had been rumblings of discontent for weeks. Some civilians said they heard criticism by the Canadians of "fleecing" tactics adopted by some Aldershot storekeepers.

The Mayor of Aldershot, Alderman J. W. White, said: "We attribute this to an irresponsible few. On the whole, the behavior of the Canadian troops has been excellent and the Town Council commended them after V-E Day when not a single window was broken."

LONDON, July 5 (CP Cable) — Canadian soldiers rampaged through Aldershot's streets and smashed windows tonight for the second successive night to show their resentment at delays in repatriation, the Press Association reported.

After an unidentified officer appealed to the men to return to barracks, the disturbance, which started at 10:12 pm. died down but it broke out again after midnight and lasted until 1 a.m.

The outbreak came at almost the same time and same place as the one 24 hours previously—at an amusement arcade damaged in the first disturbance but reopened tonight.

The Press Association said they entered a brewery store to help themselves to beer and spirits.

Most of the damage this time was done in Union Street, where not a single pane of glass was reported left, and Wellington Street.

Last night's disturbance was concentrated around the High Street intersection.

"GIVING US A BAD NAME"

The officer who urged the men to return to barracks said: "You are only giving us a bad name. The Canadians are getting their fair share of boats but the shipping position is most difficult. If you have a grievance see your officer about it in the morning."

Military police, who did not intervene in last night's disturbance, were said to have done so tonight. The Press Association said one of the men who entered the brewery store was hit on the head with a bottle by an M.P.

The Press Association said the man ran out of the store, blood streaming from his face, and others followed him. It was the first report of an injury in the two nights of disturbances.

Every window on the ground floor of the principal hotel in Wellington Street was smashed.

Morning newspapers here again gave front-page play to the disturbances, the News Chronicle topping the story with a six-column streamer which declared "Canadians Again Run Amok in Aldershot."

The Daily Mail described it as "Second Night of Terror in Aldershot" and said the townspeople had sent a deputation to the camp to appeal to military authorities for adequate protection.

The paper said the troops "who claim they nearly all are volunteers for the Far East war, say these demonstrations are the only way they can protest against being held up in England."

APOLOGIZE FOR COMRADES

The Daily Herald Banner said "Town Beaten Up in Second Night of Riots" and said Thursday night's disturbances were far worse than Wednesday's. The Herald quoted many Canadians as apologizing for their comrades with the plea: "Don't judge us by this gang of toughs."

CHINESE CLOSE ON 3 FORMER U. S. AIR BASES

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, July 5 (AP)—Chinese troops have closed within five to 15 miles of three more former United States air bases which were abandoned to the Japanese in 1944, and in the Southern tip of China have recaptured Fahsien, highway hub on the approach to enemy-held Hainan Island, the Chinese High Command announced today.

The new thrusts threatened the enemy grip on former 14th Air Force bases at Shaoyang, 235 miles Northeast of Liuchow; at Tanchuk, 100 miles Southeast of Liuchow, and at Kanhsien, in Kiangsi Province 210 miles Northeast of Canton, the Chinese said.

Lichow, site of one of the lost bomber bases, already has been retaken.

A triple-pronged Chinese attack had carried by last Sunday to points five miles West, six Northwest, and 9½ Southwest of Shayoyang (Paoking) and fighting continues with the Chinese gaining, a Chinese communique declared.

Shaoyang is a communications centre 58 miles West of Hengyang, a major rail junction where the Hunan-Kwangsi railroad crosses the Canton-Hankow line. Sixty miles Southwest of Shaoyang, other Chinese punched to within two miles of Sinning, the communique added.

Chinese headquarters said enemy troops at Kanhsien to the Southeast had pushed out Eastward to a point six miles from the airfield city, and that fighting was in progress there.

First Death Penalty in 50 Years in Denmark

LONDON, July 5 (Reuters)—The first death penalty given in Denmark in more than 50 years was meted out to 19-year-old Torben Willy Wulf yesterday, convicted of being an informer to the German army and causing the death of a member of the underground.

"Just the Start" of Raids From Okinawa

MANILA, July 6 (Friday)—Air forces which operated in the Philippines have been turned against the Japanese homeland for the first time, operating from Okinawa, a communique disclosed today.

Thirty six hours after they landed on Okinawa, fighters and bombers roared off on an unchallenged sweep over the Southern Japanese island of Kyushu.

"This is just the start," declared Gen. George C. Kenney, Commander of the U. S. Far East Air Forces. "We will continue to hammer Japan until she accepts unconditional surrender."

The raids were staged July 3. The first blows landed on the cities of Tojimbara, Byu, Izumi, Chiran and Omura.

3,260,000 Displaced Persons Returned to Homes

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—Of nearly 5,800,000 displaced persons found by the Allies in Germany, 3,260,000 have been returned to their home countries. They include 1,243,600 Frenchmen, of whom 142,693 were returned by air, and 1,393,[illegible] Russians.

31,772 Pass Through Halifax

HALIFAX, July 5 (CP)—Military authorities announced today that during the period between V-E Day and June 30, 31,772 service personnel passed through this port. They arived here in 14 ships and left the city in 87 trains.

NEW HIGH IN NOTE CIRCULATION

LONDON, July 5 (CP)—The condition statement of the Bank of England for week ended July 4 issued today disclosed a new high for note circulation with an increase of £8,915,000 to the record total on £1,294,071,00.

Capture Airfield, Control Oil Port

By SPENCER DAVIS

MANILA, July 6 (Friday) (AP)—The Australian 7th Division has captured Manggar airfield with its two 4,000-foot runways and won control of all of the big oil port and refinery town of Balikpapan in Southwest Borneo, a communique announced today.

Capture of the airfield, second taken in the Balikpapan area since the invasion of July 1, was accomplished on the afternoon of July 4, against light opposition.

It is 10 miles by air and 13 by road Northeast of Balikpapan.

An Australian column, pushing past the airfield along the bomb-cratered paved road, could see raging fire at Koeala Sambodja, once-great refinery and pumping station.

The Japanese apparently were methodically destroying all of the oil installations in Borneo's richest petroleum belt. Their fighting-resistance to the Australian advance was spotty, with a profusion of land mines and booby traps as the principal hazards to the hard-slogging Aussie troops.

The main Japanese force in all Southeast Borneo was retreating up the coast under Australian tank and artillery pressure and constantly harassed by Allied tactical planes.

Both carrier-based and land-based planes participated, and one failed to return. They shot down two Japanese reconnaissance planes and also neutralized air fields across Makassar Straits in the Celebes and in the Halmaheras. Twenty five heavy bombers hit the Oelin and Tabanio oil areas Southwest near Bandjermasin.

The Japanese had apparently abandoned to its fate a small force in the Pandansari refinery district directly Northeast of Balikpapan. The Australians penetrated the defences there, the communique said, and enemy fire slackened as the Aussies hammered away with their potent 25-pounders.

Powerful guns of the United States 7th Fleet added their weight of destruction to the offensive against this pocket of the enemy.

Reporters Not to Cover Actual Sessions of Meet

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—The White House announced today that newspapermen will not be permitted to cover actual sessions of the forthcoming Big Three conference in the Berlin area.

Astonished at Rise in European Birth Rate

LONDON, July 5 CP) — The British Medical Journal Lancet expressed astonishment today at the rise in the European birth rate since 1941-42, calling it one of the most unusual accompaniments of the war. "It is paralleled in the field of human endeavor only by the unexpected high level of mental stability shown by the mass of the people," the magazine said.

Ask Inquiry Into Expenditures on Political Advertising

OTTAWA, July 5 (CP)—David Lewis, C.C.F. National Secretary in an address to a party rally tonight called for a Royal Commission inquiry into the Public Informational Association to learn whether large businesses were evading income and excess profits tax by making "political contributions through an Association which set itself up as a public relations agent."

"Hundreds of thousands of dollars must have been spent by the Public Informational Association during the Federal (election) campaign on newspaper and radio advertising and in distributing the tabloid 'Social Suicide,'" Mr. Lewis said. "Was all this money subscribed in such a way as to evade the income tax?"

The C.C.F. Secretary said he had photostat copies of a letter sent on May 1 by B. A. Trestrail, head of Public Informational Association, to business firms asking for support "through retaining the Public Informational Service as Public and Industrial Relations Counsel."

One of the services offered to those who paid the retaining fee was stated in the letter as "public relations activity, including educational campaigns to combat confiscatory economic programs."

Crerar First Canadian Named to Order

OTTAWA, July 5 (CP)—Gen. H. D. G. Crerar 57, Commander of the 1st Canadian Army, has been named to the Order of the Companion of Honor, one of the highest orders in the British Empire, and three senior officers of the Army also have been decorated for distinguished service, Defence Headquarters announced today.

Maj.-Gen. Bert M. Hoffmeister, 38, of Vancouver, recently named Commander of Canada's Pacific force, and Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, 41, of Ottawa, Commander of the Canadian Occupation force in Germany, have been appointed Companions of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath.

Maj.-Gen. Harry W. Foster, 43, of Halifax, and Pictou Ont., Commander of the 1st Canadian Division, has been appointed Commander of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire. He commanded the unopposed invasion of Kiska Island.

Gen. Crerar is the first Canadian to be admitted to the Order of the Companion of Honor, the Defence Department statement said.

Instituted in 1917 and awarded only to those who have rendered conspicuous service of national importance, the Order is limited to the King and 50 members. It ranks above the Distinguished Service Order, immediately following the First Class of the Order of the British Empire, and above the Knights Commander of the British Empire.

Gen. Crerar, promoted a full general on November, 1944, won the D.S.O. in the First Great War. In the campaign fought in 1944 in France, Belgium and Holland, he "proved himself one of the ablest Allied ranking officers," Headquarters added.

The statement said the latest honor to Gen. Hoffmeister, who joined the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada in 1927, was in recognition of "his outstanding service in Sicily, Italy and Northwest Europe where he led Canadian combat units until the collapse of Germany."

GEN. H. D. G. CRERAR

Gen. Hoffmeister won the D.S.O. for his courage and leadership in the Sicily campaign and was awarded a bar to this decoration for outstanding service in the early months of the Italian campaign while still a Brigadier. For his leadership and planning in the campaign that broke the Gustav and Hitler Lines in Italy last year, he was awarded a second bar to the D.S.O.

In October last year Gen. Hoffmeister was made a Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

For a month in the late Fall of 1944 he was Acting Commander of the 1st Canadian Corps in Italy. In December he was appointed Commander of the 4th Canadian Armored Division and led it until chosen for the occupation force post.

Gen. Foster was appointed a Brigade Major at the beginning of the war and went overseas with the first contingent.

Fighters Rake Tokyo Airfields

GUAM, July 6 (Friday)—(AP)—Nearly 100 Iwo-based fighters raided airfields in the Tokyo area yesterday for the second straight day and ripped dock and warehouse targets in Tokyo Bay.

The 7th Fighter Command reported the raid at the same time that Fleet Headquarters announced Navy planes on July 4 made their first sweep over South Eastern Korea, disrupting a main railroad line.

The Japanese Air Force defending Tokyo again failed to show up against the fighters.

Sustaining a daily attack on Japan and empire waters which now has been joined by planes of the Far Eastern air force, the fighters strafed Shimodate and Yatabe airfields Northeast of the capital city.

AMERICAN DOLLAR WORTH 2700 CHINESE DOLLARS

CHUNGKING, July 5 (AP)—One American dollar was worth about 2700 Chinese dollars in the black market today after a brief spasm during which the ratio topped one-to-3001. Chinese authorities said they were gravely concerned over the situation and feared that commodity prices might likewise jump to new high levels.

WINNIPEG, July 5 (CP)—Berry Richards, member of the Manitoba Legislature for The Pas, has protested in a letter to Premier Stuart S. Garson that the constituency he represents "is being left off the map," it was learned today. He complains that every time a Government department issues a map it usually does not show his part of the province.

QUEBEC, July 6 (CP)—Two Canadian destroyers, the H.M.C.S. "Restigouche" and "Kootenay" docked in the Quebec harbor today with more than 300 naval men aboard bound for leave in Canada before joining the Canadian forces in the Pacific theatre.

CANADA SHIPS FIRST CARGO TO GREECE

MONTREAL, July 5 (CP)—The first cargo, part of Canada's contribution to the relief of Greece's hungry population under the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration plan, was shipped from here today to Piraeus, port of Athens, aboard the freighter Argolikos.

Venus Pulls Fast One on City; "Jap Balloon" Turns Out to Be Planet

Nelson "enjoyed" its second Jap balloon scare in recent weeks on Thursday.

When a little white speck was noted in a position above the small section of the moon that is visible in the daylight hours the "Jap balloon" cry again went up. The novelty gradually wore off during the day as the speck remained in the same position in relation to the moon although there were a few "believers" who by mid-afternoon had four balloons floating high in the sky.

A check with W. G. C. Lanskail Nelson astronomer, relieved the tension at the Daily News office.

Mr. Lanskail said that it happened to be the day that the planet Venus reached its closest conjunction with the moon, and that the planet was most brilliant at this time.

Viewed with the naked eye Venus can now be seen as a tiny white speck, and when seen through binoculars or telescope appears crescent shaped. It reached its greatest brilliance May 21, but is still sufficiently bright to be seen with the naked eye as it diminishes in brilliance very slowly.

At about 7.27 p.m., July 5, Nelson time, the planet reached its closest conjunction with the moon, Mr. Lanskail said. This phase was not visible here, of course, because the moon had set long before that time.

Thus Nelson's second balloon scare was cleared up. A few weeks ago a "Jap balloon" was observed on the horizon of the hill just South of the City. Investigation by Police proved this balloon to be a patch of snow.

MAY SEEK REARRANGEMENT FREIGHT RATES

VICTORIA, July 5 (CP) — It appeared certain here today that the B.C. delegation to the Dominion-Provincial Conference to open in Ottawa Aug. 6 will open up the contentious freight rate question with demands for equalization—a move which would have an important bearing on the future of B.C. industrial development.

An announcement from Premier Hart's office said today that Trade Minister E. C. Carson is directing a study of freight rates with a view of presenting a case to the Conference. The study is being made with the aim of bringing about a re-arrangement that will contribute to the development of the Province and effect more equitable prices for certain essential products, said the announcement.

Return to Meat Rationing to Provide Heavier Shipments Likely

BY JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, July 5 (CP)—Canadian bacon and beef production, lavish in comparison with pre-war days, has been insufficient to keep pace with urgent domestic needs of the United Kingdom and liberated countries and a return to rationing is an early probability, it was learned today.

In spite of Canada's inability to meet all the demands of her production, the United Kingdom will probably receive the minimum supply of bacon promised her in 1945 and beef shipments may be three times as much as the minimum required.

Meat rationing in Canada was dropped in 1944 after being in effect for about a year. Unrestricted sale of meat was made possible by vast increases in Canadian cattle and hog populations assisted by rich production of feed crops.

HOG PRODUCTION DOWN

Behind the existing crisis is a sharp reduction in hog production, inspired by good prices for grain, shortages of labor and a feeling of officials call unfounded that the end of the war would mean a major loss of markets.

Authorities said they looked for improved beef marketings in near future and maintenance of hog production with the result that the situation should not grow worse.

But the United Kingdom is going short on meat supplies because she has been shipping her reserves to starving Europe. Meat rationing in Canada would conserve meat supplies in the domestic market and make possible greater shipments overseas.

MacDonald Ousts Gill in Civic Centre; CKLN May Broadcast the Open Finals; Push Bonspiel to Conclusion Tonight

When Donald MacDonald of Trail eliminated Donald Gill, of Leader, Sask., the sensation of the Mid-Summer Bonspiel, at 11 o'clock Thursday night, 9-7, in a sensational finish after a brilliant neck and neck race, in which the 16-year-old Saskatchewan ace was cheered time and again, the Civic Centre competition was assured an all B.C. final. In the other bracket, Jack Jenkins of Princeton ousted C. H. Marshall of Nelson 12-7, in a contest in which he came from behind in the latter half of the game.

One of Gill's feats was to score a three-end which put him three-up after the half-way mark. It was Gill's first defeat in eight games, and his fifth time on the ice during the day.

Extraordinarily close play characterized the Civic Centre eights generally. Gill eliminated G. A. Rawson of Flin Flon by a tee shot to break an 8-8 tie; Jenkins advanced into the fours by defeating Dr. W. Laishley of Nelson, 8-7; and C. H. Marshall eliminated his fellow Nelsonite, H. M. Whimster, 11-10. The only game in the eights that did not have a close finish was in the top bracket, where MacDonald ousted J. H. Flynn of Dawson Creek, 9-5.

WIND UP TONIGHT

By working the five sheets to the limit, and having a 1 a.m. draw Friday morning to make 10 draws for Thursday's record, the huge Mid-Summer Bonspiel which has centred all sporting eyes on Nelson this week, will be brought to a close Friday night.

Whether the finals in the Civic Centre and Kootenay Challenge events will be curled in the afternoon or the evening, Bonspiel Secretary George Horstead had not determined Thursday night.

There is a probability that Radio CKLN will broadcast these finals, play by play.

Some time Friday night will see the close of the 'Spiel, with the final of the Consolation, in which play was pushed hard all day Thursday.

CARAVAN TO AINSWORTH

Again a scenic drive was the day's formal entertainment feature, and this time Ainsworth, with its famous Hot Springs, was the objective. Some 55 visitors registered for the four-hour return trip, and a fleet of 11 private cars looked after them. Curlers and their families who had been on the steamer cruise Wednesday evening again saw the lake scenery, headland upon headland, curving shores, and beautiful water stretches, but from the land, and at some places, as between Queen's Bay and Ainsworth, from the cliff tops.

At Ainsworth, of course, practically everyone put in a couple of hours in the Hot Springs Pool, swimming and floating, or exploring the steamy tunnel. Some curlers found it so hard to tear themselves away that they had to make the home trip at high speed in order to keep their dates at the Rink.

FRIDAY DRAWS

Friday's early draws are as follows:

7 a.m.—Crawford vs Greenwood, Lee vs Johnson, Woodland vs winner of Gray and Marshall, all in Consolation; MacKinnon vs Woolf, Wallace vs Evans, both in Kootenay Challenge.

Bonspiel Overwhelming, Good Says at Dinner Given in His Honor

A modest young newspaperman and radio sports commentator whose enthusiastic commentaries on Nelson's Midsummer Bonspiel caused many a Prairie curler to head for Nelson, was honored at a dinner given by Mayor Stibbs at the Big Seven Thursday night.

Bill Good, Winnipeg Tribune reporter and sports commentator for the C.B.C., was the guest of honor. Members of various Nelson sporting organizations were there to pay tribute to Mr. Good and question him on sporting activities on the Prairies.

Mr. Good, whose popular sports column is followed by Nelson fans over CKLN Wednesday evenings and who delivered this week's column from the Nelson station, told the gathering that if he had it all to do over again, he'd arrange to spend two weeks instead of just a few days, in Nelson. He had never been in a prettier or better town, he said.

SMART PUBLICITY

Many people of other centres had asked him why he kept putting the Nelson Bonspiel on the air. The reason, he said, was because Ed Kelter, Civic Centre Secretary-Manager, who was present at the dinner, sent him newsy stories about the 'spiel. A different story with a different slant came regularly every week. Because of this a lot of credit should go to Mr. Kelter, "one of the smartest publicity men I've known."

The Bonspiel was a smart idea. "How else," he asked, "could you have got such a large number of tourists to stay in one spot for a week and spend all their money in one centre?"

He was overwhelmed by the whole thing.

Introduced to Mr. Good by the Mayor were Jimmy Ringrose, popular Fairview sportsman just returned from overseas, Slim Porter, Ty Culley, Jesse Seaby, Walter Duckworth, Pat Aitken, British Columbia A.H.A. Secretary, Gordon Allan, Kinsmen Club President, Mickey McEwen, Rod and Gun Club President, Lt.-Col. G. A. Hoover of the Civic Centre Commission, A. B. Gilker, T. R. Wilson, Alderman A. H. Allan, R. L. McBride and Ed Kelter. Others unable to be present were named.

PRAISE PORTER

Mr. Good recalled a five-year friendship with Jesse Seaby. He had heard about Slim Porter before he came to Nelson—"there's a fellow like Slim in every town. The fellows who take the kids and promote sports for them. The same kids that in five years are running your sports. Men like Slim don't get the credit they deserve for this work," he declared.

He also paid high tribute to men like Art Wallace of Nelson and Ken Watson of Winnipeg who promoted junior curling. He urged that this sort of work be kept up here and said junior bonspiels were among the most enjoyable events he had ever attended.

Watson spent hours with the kids, every Wednesday and Saturday, he said, and it was a treat to see them throwing their rocks in Watson style. Mr. Watson was one of the finest men he had ever met. He sent a 12-page sheet to the boys overseas regularly and scores of lads wrote to him.

Mr. Good recalled the thrill he got when he received a letter from Alan DesChamps of Nelson telling him about the High School Bonspiel here.

In his coming Sunday broadcast, to be heard over CKLN at 11:15 a.m., he planned to tell about the Civic Centre. The Centre was a wonder, he said. All it needed was a swimming pool and "then you'll have everything."

Only one thing was lacking at the Bonspiel according to Prairie curlers, he said. They had all referred to lack of scoreboards for the spectators' benefit.

Several dinner guests praised Mr. Good for his assistance in putting over the Bonspiel.

Others got up to remind the meeting that Mayor Stibbs had left himself out of the list of men who were behind everything that was progressive for the city. The Mayor was usually "two jumps ahead of the rest of us all the time," they said.

SENTENCED TO DEATH

LOS ANGELES, July 5 (AP)—Otto Stephen Wilson, 31 year old waiter, was sentenced today to death in the San Quentin gas chamber for the mutilation slaying of two women in downtown Los Angeles hotel rooms last Nov. 15. Trail Teachers to Receive Salary Increases

TRAIL, B.C., July 6—At its July meeting Wednesday night, the Trail-Tadanac Board of School Trustees, adopted a new schedule of salaries for Trail teachers, providing increases all along the line, although complete approval for the schedule was not forthcoming from the teachers.

A letter from four teachers, representing a meeting of all teachers in the city, thanked the Board for its consideration of the salary question, but said the new schedule could not be accepted by the teachers. The letter pointed out that the teachers hoped to re-open the negotiation on salaries in the Fall.

The schedule will replace one adopted in September, 1942, from recommendations of the teachers at that time. In June of this year the teachers recommended considerably increased rates of pay, the adoption of a system of single salaries, no distinction between single and married teachers, or between men and women, and also that junior and senior High School teachers be paid at the same rates.

The School Board prepared the revised schedule following this request, and it accepts the teachers' suggestion of a single salary with no distinction between men and women, or between married and single teachers, but provides higher salaries for the senior high teachers as compared to those in the junior high. This was retained, the Board pointed out, because the Department of Education gave higher grants for senior High School teachers.

Increases provided in the new schedule include an increase of the minimum salary for elementary teachers, of $190 for women and $90 for men, for Junior High School teachers, of $300 for women and $200 for men, and for the Senior High School of the same amounts.

The maximum in the new schedule are $1860 for elementary, $2425 for Junior High and $2900 for Senior High. These compare with a maximum in the old schedule of $1500 for women and $1600 for men, in the Elementary schools, $1900 for women and $2000 for men in the Junior High and $2300 for women, and $2400 for men in the Senior High.

We'll Be Back, Say Curlers From Rosetown

"If there's another next year, we'll be back. And there'll be far more curlers who'll want to come when they hear more about it."

That was the reaction of J. E. Franklin and members of his rink of Rosetown, Sask., participating in the Midsummer Bonspiel, when asked how they liked the 'spiel. Len Palmer, J. D. Lang and J. A. Stewart are the other members of the rink.

"It's a real 'spiel," said Mr. Franklin, "and we certainly plan to come back next year. It's the most marvellous ice we've ever curled on. We've curled in Eastern championships, but the ice was never as true and fast as it is right here."

NEED SCORE BOARD

The curlers had one complaint, heard many times. That was lack of means whereby spectators could follow the games properly. He suggested the big Briar boards could be used to show progress of games for benefit of the spectators, or that the system whereby colored buttons strung on wires indicated scores, might be put into effect.

He thought too, that the games were rushed a little. A little more time should be allowed, for instance, so that 10-end games could be played through to the finish.

Matched rocks were being used by many Prairie and Eastern clubs and he suggested that the Nelson Club would be wise to invest in matched rocks when the war was over. Every rock was exactly the same and they were beautiful to use, he said.

Expect Japs to Go East Only When Jobs Waiting

VANCOUVER, July 5 (CP)—T. B Pickersgill, Commissioner for Japanese Placement in British Columbia, revealed today that he has written the Japanese Committees in Interior B.C. Housing Centres that "we did not expect Japanese-Canadians to go East of the Rockies unless we found employment for them."

Mr. Pickersgill's announcement was in connection with a recent editorial in The New Canadian, Japanese-Canadian newspaper published at Kaslo, B.C. The editorial claimed that many Japanese who registered for voluntary repatriation to Japan "had done so against their wishes . . . that they were doing so because they didn't want to accept the alternative," which was "that those persons who did not sign would be more or less forced to move East of the Rockies."

Japanese-Canadians who do not want to go to Japan will go to Jobs in the East, Mr. Pickersgill said. They will not be sent "unless" the jobs are awaiting them.

He added that Japanese in Eastern Canada who seek repatriation can return to B.C. as soon as housing is available, or can stay at their Eastern employment until their ship is ready to sail.

For the moment Japanese nationals will be left in B.C. The Federal Government has advised the B.C. Security Commission to "concentrate" on the relocation of Japanese-Canadians who have not signed for repatriation.

TOAST and TEA

BY L. V. McARLT

In his introduction to the life of Balzac, Leon Gozlan remarks: "It is rarely that men of distinction, arrived at a serious age, do not concern themselves, even unconsciously, with the picture which the world will paint of them when they exist only in name. The truth of this becomes apparent when one considers the care with which Montaigne, Rousseau, Voltaire and a thousand others groomed their shadows, Montaigne in those marvellous essays, Rousseau in his scandalous confessions, Voltaire in his admirable correspondence. They become obsequious courtiers, frank and imperturbable lovers of posterity. One might accuse these anxious sovereigns of sending their portraits to the majesties of the future, in order to learn, or rather to conjecture—for they never will really learn—how they will be received by them."

Asylum Hides Atrocities . . .

Hundreds Killed by Slow Starvation

BY ARTHUR OAKESHOTT

KAUFBEUREN, Bavaria, July 5 (Reuters)—A wholesale extermination plant in which hundreds of men, women and children—all Germans—allegedly mentally defective or physically deformed, were killed by intramuscular injections or slow starvation had been operating here until two days ago, it was disclosed Wednesday.

The ghastly system was uncovered by two American doctors, Maj. Marvin Linick of New York City and his assistant, Capt. Loyal S. Murphy of Memphis, Tenn., both members of the Munich Military Government Public Health Office.

A group of 18 American soldiers who accompanied the investigators were so outraged by what they saw that they volunteered to serve on an execution squad for those culpable.

The plant functioned in this idyllic Swabian town, 60 miles South-East of Munich, and virtually every inhabitant of Kaufbeuren was aware of the fact that human beings were both being used as guinea pigs and being systematically butchered.

The perpetrators or passive collaborators were in no way conscious of a sense of guilt and, with few exceptions, they were Germans, not Nazis.

The Chief Nurse, who confessed without coercion that she had murdered "approximately" 210 children in two years by intramuscular injections asked her captors simply, "Will anything happen to me?"

The Chief Doctor, Valentin Falthauser, was captured and his Second-in-Command, Lothar Gaertner, hanged himself the night before the investigators arrived. Another sister confessed with a stony grin that she had poisoned "at least 30 to 40 persons."

The plant which operated under the title of a "lunatic asylum" had a maximum capacity of 3000 persons and received its orders from the Reich and Bavarian Ministries of the Interior. Experiments were made there "for the improvement of the race."

Starved bodies which had been living beings less than 12 hours before the American investigators arrived weighed about 60 pounds apiece.

As proof that local inhabitants knew of the atrocities, a boy selected at random was asked what the buildings were and said, casually, "Oh, that's where they kill them."

"Out of Bounds" signs and "lunatic asylum" notices abounded and concealed the work of extermination for many weeks after the Americans took the town.

Among children still living was a 10-year-old boy weighing 22 pounds with calves 2½ inches in diameter. Scabies and lice were rampant and quarantine was non-existent. The investigators were not convinced that all patients were completely mad as some on seing the staff pushed aside by the Americans laughed at the changed status of their jailers.

The head nurse, Sister Woerle who confessed to the killing of 210 minors, drew a monthly bonus of 35 marks for her added grisly task.

When arrested, Sister Olga Rittler who grinned when confessing killing between 30 and 40 persons was asked whether she believed in God. She answered, "I'm a Lutheran, and this is a personal matter which does not concern you."

Others arrested included Franziska Vill, Falthauser's secretary who was also Gaertner's mistress.

Primary methods of extermination practised at Kaufbeuren and its branch institute at Irsee were scientifically-directed starvation and the administration of chemicals. Those to be starved were divided into two categories, those receiving a rapid starvation diet and those receiving slow starvation. The former killed in about three months while the latter took considerably longer.

Poisoning was handled by injections of scopolamine and doses of luminal or veronal, given in food, death occurring after two to five days, the patient normally contracting a lung ailment or pneumonia which was usually given as cause of death on certificates sent to parents or other relatives. Sturdier patients were given overdoses of both poisons. Woerle freely confessed that where luminal or veronal failed she administered injections.

Recover 930 Bodies of Persons Killed In Death March

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

PRAGUE, July 5 (AP)—Bodies of 930 persons — possibly including some Canadians—who died in a Gestapo march of death have been recovered by Czechoslovak authorities who completed opening of eight mass graves near Karlsbad yesterday.

Czech officials said some Canadian and New Zealand prisoners of war almost certainly were among the victims, but that none had been positively identified as such. Some 587 bodies still are unidentified.

The march of death took place in the last weeks of the war as the Germans emptied their central and Eastern prisons and concentration camps and tried to mass thousands of prisoners in the giant Theresianstadt camp North of Prague.

There was evidence from several sources that a small number of Canadians and New Zealanders were among those who started on the forced marches from several quarters.

Ghastliest part of the weeks-long 100-mile march was between Geogenstadt, near the Czech border, and Theresianstadt. Many who reached Theresianstadt said hundreds were slain near Karlsbad because they were too weak to hike farther, and that others had died of fatigue.

Sixty Gestapo men were forced to open the graves during the past week. Identified last night were the bodies of 120 Poles, 87 Russians, 38 French, eight Italians, 15 Belgians, 12 Slovenes, six Czechs, one Greek and one Lithuanian. Forty-four were women and one was a child.

Airman Has Proof of His Saboter Work

BOURNEMOUTH, Eng., July 5 — (CP)—WO. V. J. Bastable of Winnipeg, bomber pilot who was shot down over France more than two years ago, has retr e dnouthlit years ago, has returned to England carrying with him indisputable proof of his ability as a saboteur—and he's proud of it.

His "Union Card" into one of the greatest train-wrecking, bridge-destroying and Hun-harrassing outfits of the war is a worn sheet of paper bearing the official stamp of the National Council of the town of Bohuslavice, Czechoslovakia, an RCAF release said. The certificate speaks for itself—

"National Council in Bohuslavice at Kyjov confirms that WO. V. J. Bastable, RAF, Winnipeg, Canada, took part in sabotage acts of our units, as blowing up railway tracks, cutting telephone lines and similar acts.

"While the German Army was retreating he took part in occupying and securing the passes over mountains at Chriby and after our unit made the connection with the Rumanian Army, commanded in this section by Maj. Jordan, he and our Partisans guided and advanced units of this army over forests to the town of Korycany.'

On his arrival at this RCAF release prisoner of war centre, the 30-year-old Winnipegger told how he was taken prisoner after being shot down and how he and a Czech prisoner Sgt. Paul Svoboda, succeeded in escaping after six attempts from a prison camp at Lamsdorf. They went to the Czech prisoner's home near Kyjov, Czechoslovakia where Svoboda organized a guerilla band and made the Canadian his second in command.

The Czech underground bands were supplied with guns, ammunition, clothing, food and other necessities by the RAF which dropped bundles to them from low-flying planes.

Shortly before Czechoslovakia was liberated Svoboda was captured by the Gestapo. His six partners were immediately shot but Svoboda claimed he was a British officer and was taken to jail. However, when the Germans evacuated the area, they burned down the jail with all the prisoners in it.

Bastable said he fears his Czechoslovakian companion perished in the blaze.

MAYOR LA GUARDIA'S SISTER IMPRISONED BY THE GESTAPO

BERLIN, July 5 AP) — American soldiers chipped in today from their own rations to provide a banquet for Mrs. Gemma La Guardia Gluck, sister of New York City's Mayor, and her homeless family.

Mrs. Gluck, whose presence here was disclosed last night, said she had been imprisoned for 11 months by the Gestapo because of the anti-Fascist reputation of her brother.

Lieut. Alvin M. Shapiro of Brooklyn, N.Y., presented the gifts of food and other essentials to the New York-born grandmother who was freed by the Soviet conquest of Berlin.

Thought Report on Jolliffe a Lot of Rot

TORONTO, July 5 (CP)—Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell, appearing before the Royal Commission probing Edward B. Jolliffe's charge that the Drew Government maintained a "political Gestapo", today testified under cross-examination on police reports submitted to him concerning CCF Members of the last Ontario Legislature.

Subjects included CCF Members William Dennison (Toronto St. David), William Robertson (Wentworth), Robert Thornberry (Hamilton Centre), Mr. Jolliffe, then Opposition Leader, and Sam Lawrence, CCF Mayor of Hamilton. Mr. Blackwell said he had not known that the signature D208 on the reports, which were delivered to his office in late 1943, was that of a member of the Provincial Police. Previous testimony gave D208 as the code signature of Capt. William J. Osborne-Dempster, named "Gestapo" head by Mr. Jolliffe.

Mr. Blackwell said the report on Mr. Dennison was not on a Legislature Member as such, but on the extent to which the latter was "found in" at Communist meetings.

He was not aware that Mr. Robertson was a member of the Legislature, the Attorney-General said. Questioned on the Thornberry report, he said: "Oh yes, I remember him—he had the worst manners of any Member of the Legislature."

Mr. Blackwell added that he did not recollect reading the report on Mr. Thornberry.

Asked by F. Andrew Brewin, counsel for Mr. Jolliffe, why he had not given closer attention to reports on Legislature Members, the Attorney-General said he had "much more urgent things to do at that time."

Indicating the report on Mr. Jolliffe, Mr. Brewin asked:

"Didn't you think it was rather sensational to get a report on the Leader of the Opposition?"

Mr. Blackwell replied that he had considered the report on Mr. Jolliffe to be "a lot of rot."

"If you thought it was a lot of rot why didn't you stop it?" Mr. Brewin demanded. Witness reiterated that he had not known the source of the reports.

"Nevertheless you didn't do anything about getting it stopped," continued Mr. Brewin.

Mr. Blackwell said it was "obvious" that he had not.

Mr. Brewin questioned the witness regarding the source of his information for a speech delivered to a Progressive Conservative Club Oct. 12, 1944. The Attorney-General was quoted as having said that C. H. Millard, CCF Member of the Legislature for York West, would not remain head of the Canadian Congress of Labor Political Action Committee.

That had been "common knowledge" at the time, Mr. Blackwell replied.

He said a further reference that Labor-Progressives were "boring into" every member P.A.C. Union had been based on "generally reading the Press."

"Is it just a coincidence that the same information appears in the secret and confidential files of D208?" Mr. Brewin asked.

"I can't say that I knew it was contained in the files," Mr. Blackwell answered.

Plot Thickens in Belgium

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BRUSSELS, July 5 (CP Cable)—The Belgian crisis over King Leopold's abdication drags on and the capital is knee-deep in rumors and counter-rumors as the mystery of the monarchy's intentions thickens.

This is how the plot goes:

On Tuesday several Cabinet sources hinted broadly that an announcement of abdication would be made Wednesday. Then on Wednesday Premier van Acker met most of the Cabinet and gave them in confidence the King's message to him and the regent, Prince Charles.

The expected announcement fizzled out as Ministers came from the conference tight-lipped.

Intra-government arguments continue and both the supporters and opponents of King Leopold are handing out "hot tips" which only confuse further the already muddled issue.

Most people in Brussels who have followed the situation closely still believe that the King will abdicate and that some procedure will be settled upon to cushion as much as possible the repercussions from this act, particularly with regard to the Conservative Catholic party which supports the king, and the Flemish people of Northern Belgium, who also lean toward the monarch.

However, Wednesday night a report circulated in Government circles that the king insists both he and the regent be retained until a general election so that the monarch can determine definitely the feelings of the people.

If the Catholic party is returned by a large majority he presumably would return to Belgium. If the Socialists or Liberals, who oppose him, are returned he would abdicate.

However, such a suggestion is receiving a poor reception. Some say a king cannot be subject to election.

Several thousand Canadian soldiers arrived here from Holland and Germany on leave Wednesday and they are having a carnival time without thought to King Leopold.

"We are here for leave and fun and games and not politics," they say.

LONDON, July 5 (CP) — A 17-year-old student was fined £2 (about $9) in a London court today for throwing a firecracker that exploded near Prime Minister Churchill at a political rally last night.

"I don't know why I did it," the youth said. "I certainly do not favor Mr. Churchill, but I had no intention of hurting him."

Mr. Churchill was disconcerted but not injured by the explosion.

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—No more tires will be made entirely of natural rubber. In the future, some synthetic rubber will be used in all tires, regardless of size.

L.P.P. Denies Report of Receiving Money

TORONTO, July 5 CP) — Tim Buck, National Leader of the Labor-Progressive Party, in a statement today denied and "denounced the alleged report of Capt. William J. Osborne-Dempster . . . at the LeBel Royal Commission that the Labor-Progressive Party received $40,000 for election purposes from the Embassy of the Soviet Union in Canada."

Mrs. B. M. Freeman testified yesterday that she recalled a memorandum dictated to her by Capt. Osborne-Dempster referring to a report the Soviet Embassy had contributed $40,000 to the L.P.P. C.C.F. Leader E. B. Jolliffe has accused Osborne-Dempster of heading an alleged political police in Ontario.

The Soviet Embassy issued a denial yesterday.

Hit Inflation in Real Estate

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP) — The United States Government today began an attack against inflation in the field of real estate and securities.

Worried over speculation and rising prices, the 18-man Economic Stabilization Board headed by William H. Davis is reported to have approved a three-point program. The first point was to limit loans for buying stock exchange securities. The Federal Reserve Board did that by raising the margin requirements from 50 to 75 per cent, effective today.

The other two points will be harder to put through. They are:

1. Limiting loans for buying real estate. This needs an order from the White House.

2. Slapping heavier taxes on those who buy real estate or stocks and sell them quickly at a profit. This needs an Act of Congress.

Miss Darling and Mr. Campbell were also admitted as solicitors with Wesley James Scott of Creston.

THE WAR NEWS

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press News Analyst

Gen. MacArthur's declaration that the whole Philippine Archipelago has been freed of the Japanese except for a few thousand scattered guerillas in remote mountain sectors if anything understates the strategic results flowing from the victory for American and Filipino arms.

It was more than "the greatest disaster" in war Japan has ever suffered as the MacArthur review of the campaign said. It has paved the way for earlier total defeat of Japan than could possibly have been foreseen when the critical decision to strike into the Philippines with the limited forces then available was reached at the Pearl Harbor conference between President Roosevelt and American Army-Navy High Commanders in the Pacific.

TERRIFIC COST TO JAPS

There has been much to indicate that at that meeting MacArthur almost single-handed fought hard for his own strategic conception against opposing views of some of the high-ranking Navy personnel present. What the alternative may have been is not so clear but the achievement of the major objectives of the campaign to regain the Philippines as MacArthur cited has utterly changed the face of the war since then.

That battle has cost the foe a minmum of 500,000 known casualties, and a probable maximum of twice that figure. It has cost him, too, the bulk of his once-powerful Navy plus staggering air losses that have laid Japan itself open to virtually unopposed American strategic bombing and ultimate invasion. The MacArthur reference to the reconquered islands as "a great land, sea and air base for future operations comparable to the British Isles in war against Germany" points up that situation.

Whether Okinawa, Formosa or any other Japanese outpost island in the China Sea could have been taken without first retaking Luzon may be open to dispute. There can be no question, however, that not only has the foe been cut off from his trapped armies in the South but also substantially isolated from his main forces in China.

Says Elsie: "KLIM Powdered Whole Milk is just fresh fluid milk with nothing removed but the natural moisture.

"So all you do is to take water, add KLIM, mix and presto! You have creamy milk. Easy, isn't it?"

Pure — nourishing!

KLIM is pasteurized — safe for babies and invalids. And it retains all the vital minerals, vitamins and proteins of fresh pasteurized milk.

Milk made from KLIM keeps as well as fresh fluid milk. But to avoid any waste you need make only as much as you want at a time.

Long after its vacuum-sealed container is opened, KLIM Whole Milk Powder stays fresh and sweet.

Second, it's safe, because it is sealed and sterilized . . . keeps indefinitely in the unopened can. Third, it's readily digestible because heat-treatment makes it a soft-curd milk.

Need for Foster Parents

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

I have always admired women who have taken into their homes one or more homeless children for several months or years. Women, who guide these children well, do far more good than they know they are doing.

There has been a growing shortage of available foster homes and a big increase in the number of homeless children.

The probation officer of a large city on the west coast told me recently, "People are able to rent a single room for more than we can pay for the housing, food and care of a child." Then he added: "Much as I hate to see it happen, we will have to resort to the orphanage again."

When I consider the thousands of comfortable homes with only one child, or where the children are grown, and the number of comfortable, idle wives with no children, the foregoing does not make sense to me. Why don't more women, who don't need the money take on one or more of these children?

Then when I read all the letters I receive from mothers with only one child, and no playmate near, I wonder why they don't consider the opportunity to take into their homes one of these children, for the social education of their own child. Certainly the risk is not so great as that of adoption. Too, after they have had the child for six months and are satisfied with the facts provided by the welfare agency, on his physical and mental status and inheritance; and satisfied, moreover, with their success in managing him, they might wisely decide on adoption, assuming they could not have more children themselves.

Many parents ask about the moral dangers to their child from mingling with the foster child. There may be some such hazards, but the moral gains are pretty certain to be far larger than the moral loss can be. Your child would learn to share and experience useful denials; learn to compete, cooperate and get along with others of his age. See what it might do to a married couple through the resulting self-denial, self-discipline and wider spread of their interest and affection. To a young intelligent married pair, the guiding of a foster child and re-educating him in right habits, conduct and ideals should be a challenge.

While the foster child coming from a very under-privileged home might not adjust himself well to his former environment after spending several months or years in a home of luxury, he should profit from living in a home of moderate comforts. There are thousands of homes with only one or two children, or no children, where the pay received for boarding a homeless child would not be sufficient to be attractive, yet the reward from offered love and companionship might be very attractive, if the couple were to give the matter serious consideration.

Casserole Fowl with Vegetables

4 to 5 pound fowl; salt and pepper; flour; 2 tablespoons fat; 3 carrots; 1 bunch celery; 1 onion; 1 green pepper; 1 cup hot water; 1 cup milk.

Cut fowl up, season with salt and pepper, sprinkle with flour and brown in fat in frying pan. Remove browned pieces to casserole. Chop vegetables, and pour them into frying pan to let them absorb the fat, then transfer them to the casserole with chicken, add cup of hot water and cover. Cook in slow oven (275 degrees F.) 3 to 4 hours, or until bird is tender, adding more water from time to time, if necessary.

Just before serving, remove pieces of fowl and skim off excess fat from mixture of broth and vegetables. With 2 tablespoons fat mixture, mix an equal quantity of flour, and add milk to contents of casserole.. Cook for 10 minutes longer, season to taste and pour the vegetables sauce over fowl, or replace pieces of meat in the sauce and serve from casserole.

Pecan Icebox Cookies

2 cups sifted flour; ½ teaspoon cinnamon; ½ teaspoon baking soda; ¾ cup shortening; 2 beaten eggs; ½ cup brown sugar; ½ cup granulated sugar; ¼ pound pecans, chopped.

Sift flour twice with cinnamon and baking soda. Cream shortening well, add sugars and cream thoroughly; add beaten eggs, mixing well before adding the flour mixture. Stir in chopped pecans. Form dough into roll about 1½ inches in diameter, wrap in waxed paper and chill overnight in refrigerator. Using a very sharp knife, cut chilled roll in very thin slices, place on lightly greased cookie sheet and bake at 350 degrees F. for about 12 to 15 minutes or until brown and crisp. Makes about 50 cookies.

Buying a New Chair

By IDA JEAN KAIN

When a couple shop for chairs for the living room and maybe for a davenport, the thing of first importance is apt to be the color. She wants to see something in blue or rose-taupe to go with the gray or beige rug. He wants comfort. So they try out the various chairs for comfort, but if they have been shopping awhile they are dog tired and their feet hurt and those big, soft, luxuriously upholstered chairs feel so comfortable. The head of the house settles back and thinks of the long evenings when he can sink down in this easy chair and enjoy his paper. And she decides the color will go well with the nice big davenport they have picked to fit the space where it's intended to go in the room. Sold!

A couple of months later they wish they could start over and pick out chairs more nearly the right size.

It isn't color or period or line or fabric that is of first importance, it's the depth of the seat. Of course some men over six feet probably have quite a time getting them deep enough, but as you know, I'm the champion for the little woman because she is the one who has such a difficult time keeping her figure, and certainly those big chairs do nothing to help her. The mamma chair should be just the right depth in the seat so that she can sit with the back of the hips against the back of the chair, and the end of the seat should come just at the bend of the knee and the chair the right height to allow her feet to rest comfortably on the floor. Sitting in that chair amounts to streamlining exercise because the best exercise is the continual practice of good posture! Good sitting posture means resting on the sitting bones, with the trunk at right angles to the hips and head and chest balanced over the hips. That's sitting pretty. But sitting on the middle of the back, collapsed in the middle, makes for a dumpy silhouette.

Chairs that are not too soft in the seat are better than the well padded ones. Soft upholstered chairs are not the best for anyone who has anything wrong with their back and it's amazing how many people do have a bad back. The kind of chair called an occasional chair is a good chair for sitting pretty, and some of those old-fashioned low rockers were wonderful.

Paralysis . . .

Disease of Older Persons

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Parkinson's disease or paralysis agitans is a chronic disorder which occurs in older persons for the most part. However, it may occur following encephalitis or inflammation of the brain, which in turn often develops after attacks of influenza.

In over 200 patients studied by Dr. Roland M. Klemme of St. Louis injuries accounted for few cases of paralysis agitans. Hardening of the arteries of the brain was responsible for the condition in four of the patients while in more than two-thirds the disorder was produced by encephalitis. In about one-fifth of the patients no cause could be found. Men had the disorder about twice as often as women.

The symptoms of paralysis agitans consist of an increase in sweating, a disturbance in walking, an increase in the amount of saliva, a set appearance of the face and stiffness of the muscles. The patients affected with this condition have a tremor of twitching of the hands, shaking of the head and a shuffling gait.

The treatment of paralysis agitans has been carried out by using various drugs with the hope that they would relax the muscles and relieve the twitching and other symptoms. Such drugs as hyosine have been used. Belladonna has been employed particularly Bulgarian belladonna. A part of the vitamin B complex known as vitamin B-6 or pyridoxine has been given in large doses by injection with reported improvement in some cases.

Dr. Klemme used an operation on patients suffering from paralysis agitans, and he found that in more than three-fourths of them, improvement resulted and restoration of the action of the muscles of the brain known as the premotor cortex is the site of the operation. By cutting this part of the brain, he thinks that nerve impulses may be kept from passing down from the brain to other parts of the nervous system.

In carrying out this operation, of course, the premotor cortex must be carefully marked off and then cut. It is necessary to remove part of the skull to reach the brain area.

In outlining the motor area of the brain or the area which controls movement, stimulation with an electric current is employed. An electric knife is used to cut the premotor cortex.

Of course, this operation is one which must be carried out by a surgeon experienced in surgery of the nervous system. However, Parkinson's disease is responsible for such great disability and interference with activity that the operation would appear to be well worthwhile in those cases selected by the surgeon as the type which might respond.

Tragic . . .

A "Taken-for-Granted" Wife

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Miss Fairfax:

When I read your column, I can compare my life to some of those you mention. For nineteen years I've been married to the wrong man. I've never known love. There are those we call peacemakers, but if they could see what goes on in the homes where they try to make peace, they might quit their roles. I've always had a hard time, trying to raise my four sons, taking care of his people, and mine as well. Still I never get one "thank you." Funny, isn't it?

There are husbands like these who are crazy about other women and think more of them than they do of their own wives.

—Unhappy Wife

No, I don't think there's anything funny about the situation you describe. It's tragic to my way of thinking, and I get hundreds of letters from women in the same boat. The recompense often comes from the children, and we'll hope that those four boys who have seen you give up so much, to make their home comfortable, and do for their father's people as well as your own, will appreciate what a fine mother they have.

Bridge-Laying Tanks That Can Be Used Against the Japs

One of the secret weapons that saved untold Allied lives in the invasion of Europe were the bridge-laying tanks. By using them the Allies were enabled to lay bridges across ditches and craters up to 30 feet wide without a single man leaving his own tank or being exposed to enemy fire. In Normandy assault bridge-laying tanks were used to surmount seafront and anti-tank walls.

The bridges consist of two main types; first, those used by the Royal Armored Corps for surmounting enemy obstacles, and second, those used by the engineers in assault.

In the first category is the "scissors" type bridge that is carried folded on top of a Valentine tank; a mechanism operating from inside the tank unfolds the bridge and lays it across the gap. The Churchill bridge-layer is also used by the R.A.C. It consists of a 30-foot span steel trackway mounted on a Churchill hull, that can be raised by a mechanical pivot arm, carried forward and lowered in front of the tank. The bridge can be laid, and the tank withdrawn to make way for other vehicles to cross, in a matter of seconds. The whole operation is performed from within the protection of the Churchill, no outside assistance being necessary.

For assault purposes the engineers use a bridge, mounted on an engineer tank, that consists of two trackways made up of hornbeam sections of a small girder bridge. The trackways are held to the tank by steel wire rope which, when released by the tank crew from inside, lowers the bridge across the gap in one piece.

The engineers also use a specially prepared version of the Churchill tank as a makeshift span for bridging wider gaps. For this role the tank's turret is replaced by trackways on top that are supplemented by additional trackways that project before and behind and are hinged so that they are raised off the ground. The Churchill is driven directly into the gap, the ramps are lowered, and the vehicles are enabled to pass over it.

Tank bridges of all these kinds have been used with great success in North west Europe, Italy and Burma. They may be carried in a landing craft in order that tanks may deploy and fight as quickly as possible after landing. They permit operation with great surprise, speed and good conditions without which enormous casualties might have resulted to engineer personnel.

They are expected to be of immense service in the war against Japan.

Tighten Anglo-American Relations Through Education

The presence of American troops in Britain, and the close relations between the two countries brought about by the war, has stimulated an enormous demand and need in England for more knowledge about the United States.

The British Board of Education has been meeting this need with positive long-term measures that should result in the generation now growing up in England being reasonably well informed about Americans and their country.

It is sound policy. It would be good statesmanship for the United States to do likewise and provide for better education of Americans in the facts concerning the British Empire and its peoples.

To overcome the difficulty of finding time on the already over-crowded school curriculum, the Board of Education has recommended some pruning in the present curriculum and dealing with American history not as a chronological survey but in short tropical subjects—such as regional differences, the Constitution, political parties, etc. It also suggests that the practice be developed of comparing British institutions with American counterparts, e.g., the Cabinet system, trade unions, architecture, education.

Another difficulty has been that the teachers themselves have required some special training. For this purpose a series of short courses for teachers was held with the object of giving a general view of American life and institutions.

In some towns the schools have held an "American Week" during which the whole curriculum is centred around the subject of the United States. American plays are given, lecture and discussion groups held, exhibitions illustrating American civilization displayed and concerts of American music held. Arithmetic lessons are given in American coinage. In the town of Salford all the schools cooperated in "American Week" and addresses were given by distinguished American visitors. Meetings and concerts were arranged, open to the whole town.

Early in 1944 an exhibition was held in London entitled "Young America", which was designed to foster understanding between these two countries. Twenty former British evacuees to America took part in the day's discussions and answered questions by other children.

The B.B.C. school broadcasts and the "Children's Hour" evening broadcasts make a point of putting on a number of American programs. The B.B.C. gives an average of 22 programs a week dealing with the United States.

Despite the paper shortage the number of books published about the United States has actually increased, and His Majesty's Stationery Office has printed a number of official American publications such as "Target: Germany", describing the exploits of the U. S. Eighth Air Force (which has actually reached a sale in England very much greater than the sale of that book in the United States). H.M.S.O. has also produced a book of its own, distributed widely on newsstands, called "Ocean Front". This is a story in pictures and text of the war in the Pacific, which is predominantly an American story.

Although British newspapers have been reduced in size to four or six pages, they are now devoting actually more space to American news and views than they did in pre-war days. This news covers not only American war news but deals with American domestic issues which have now become subjects of interest to British newspaper readers.

Etiquette Hints

If before a boy went into the service he has shown his devotion and willingness to shoulder responsibilities, his girl very properly may share the expense of an entertainment when he takes her out when home on furlough, knowing he has only his Army pay—only, of course, if he permits and is not embarrassed.

Words of Wisdom

Error is not fault of our knowledge, but a mistake of our judgment giving assent to that which is not true.—Locke.

R. H., Jaffray—Would you please recommend a method of drilling holes in glass in the home?

The following are two methods: Make a solution of 1 ounce of camphor, 1½ ounces of spirits of turpentine and 3 drams of ether. Keep the end of the drilling tool wet with this fluid. The sharp corner of a freshly broken point of a file is one of the best drilling tools for this purpose.

To drill a ¼-inch hole in a glass shade, make a hole in a piece of wood or metal of the size that you desire to drill in the glass. Fasten it with beeswax upon the glass for a guide. A piece of brass or copper tubing, quite thin, is supplied with emery and water and twirled between the fingers or with a bowstring. This will cut a hole in a few minutes. You can feed the emery and water a little at a time through the tube.

B. U., Kimberley—How do turtles breathe?

They breathe through their nostrils. When under water they expel the air and come to the surface for more air. When buried in mud, they are dormant for the time being, not requiring air.

Curious, Nelson—Could you please tell me how many miles there are between Russia and Alaska by water?

The breadth of the Bering Strait at its narrowest part, between Cape Prince of Wales on the American Coast and East Cape in Russia is about 36 miles, and its depth in the middle varies from 29 to 30 fathoms.

FEAR IS EVERYWHERE

The removal of the brooding fear of Fascism does not mean the removal of fear. The little nations are afraid of the great powers and the great powers are afraid of each other. In the very act of building a new collective security, every nation is thinking of its own national security. The Russians are building a new Socialist empire, and they want neighboring governments whose cabinets don't cause them any uneasiness, because they still fear a capitalist holy war such as Bullitt more than once hinted at. The British want their lifelines of Empire open because their islands are small and their industrial power now second-rate, and they feel themselves caught between the mastodons of America and Russia. The Americans want to keep the naval and air bases in the Pacific because our sprawling industrial empire cannot afford to be cut off from any materials or markets. The French want to keep Indo-China because without it they fear they will look too small to rank on a level with the other great powers. We shall not have an orderly world until these fears are removed.—New York PM.

THE ART OF LIVING

If all persons were rational, nutritional education would be very simple. They would learn promptly and would act wisely after observing the ill-effects of deficient diets and the benefits to health and development brought about by the eating of the right kind of foods. But in this respect people have not always behaved as rational beings. Many have read and are reading about deficiency diseases and the rewards in health and welfare that fall to those who eat balanced meals. But they cannot be bothered to make the effort to break away from their old habits.

However, the entire human race is not irrational and stubborn in its food habits and many have learned and are learning by experience and education to change their food habits.—Victoria Times.

A LARGE "IF"

If we could be certain that there would never be another major war, or if in case of another major war we could be sure that the United States would not become involved, or if it should be involved that other nations would defend this country until it could complete war preparations, then we could safely dispense with a large defence program, either a peacetime draft or a great standing army.

But since there is no such certainty, adequate preparedness must be maintained and the advocates of universal peacetime military training have the better of the argument.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

NOW, WHERE IS THAT PLACE, TORONTO!

In the Toronto Daily Star's "Answers" column for June 5 was the following:

"F.H.B.: According to 1941 census, the population of Chilliwack, B. C., is 3618. There is no newspaper listed in Chilliwack. The daily newspaper in New Westminster is the British Columbian."

The Progress publisher and staff will be glad to loan their copies of McKim's Directory of Canadian Publications, or Canadian Advertising, to the editor of the Star—as soon as we finish trying to find out where Toronto is.—Chilliwack Progress.

GUESSES ABOUT HITLER

It might be a good idea to have all the amateur sleuths, detective-story readers and mystery drama fans send in their guesses as to what happened to Hitler. After all, these speculations could be no wilder than some of those already going the rounds.—Brantford Expositor.

Queen of Hearts Ends Her Sea Duties

OTTAWA, July 5 (CP)—The Queen of Hearts has made her last vayage.

The Queen is the H.M.C.S. Wetaskiwin, first of the old type corvettes built at Vancouver and with her sisters of the Royal Canadian Navy went through more than four years of grim slogging in the battle of the Atlantic.

Now that the Atlantic convoy lanes at last are safe she and some of her sisters are no longer needed there. They are at rest at the Naval "Scrapyard" at Sorel, Que., awaiting an unknown fate. The war assets corporation will dispose of them.

In telling the story of the Queen of Hearts today, the Navy also told of Steward Jimmy Hill of Saskatoon who was with her through her entire sea career from the time of her commissioning in Vancouver to her decommissioning at Sorel, except for a six month period.

And the Navy noted that Jimmy as well as the Queen probably has made his last voyage. He's 44 now and is eager to get back to Saskatoon where his wife and 13-year-old son await him.

But whether he stays in the Navy or not, Jimmy Hill will always have his memories of the Wetaskiwin which got her Nickname Queen of Hearts from her badge, painted on her by Sig. R. B. (Bernie) Forbes of Montreal. It was in the shape of a playing card with hearts in each corner, and a glamorous young Queen in the middle.

Hill remembered one night on the Iceland convoy run when a wolf-pack attacked the convoy. A British corvette and destroyer, and an American destroyer and 17 freighters went down that night but the Queen came through.

"One torpedo went across our bow", Steward Hill recalls. "We stopped to pick up survivors and saved 42 men but Jerry sent another torpedo swishing past us. The old man sure got out of there in a hurry."

The veteran Steward regrets he was on shore leave for the highlight of the Queen's career when she shared destruction of a U-boat with H.M.C.S. Skeena.

The Queen's first Captain was Lt.-Cmdr. Guy S. Windeyer, an Australian making his home in Duncan, B.C. He was in command from the Queen's commission until 1943 when he took over the destroyer H.M.C.S. St. Laurent and was succeeded by Lt.-Cmdr. J. R. Kidston of Vernon, B.C.

In the 18th century members of royal families annointed their bodies with scented oils, which were supposed cleansing in effect.

Hearing was set in the charges for next Monday before Magistrate H. C. Hall in Police Court.

Hepburn Refuses Offer to Return to Legislature

TORONTO, July 5 (CP)—Mitchell F. Hepburn yesterday refused offers of six Liberal members to vacate their seats in the Ontario Legislature so he could return to public life. "I want to express my appreciation for the offer they so generously made," Mr. Hepburn said after a caucus at which Farquhar Oliver, member for Grey South, was named as House leader of the Liberal group.

Mr. Hepburn, former Premier and Liberal leader who was defeated in Elgin constituency in the June 4 Ontario election said he has no intention of returning to public life.

Flin Flon Rink Veteran of Many Bonspiels

Rows of colored buttons adorn the jacket G. A. Rawson of Flin Flon wears to the Nelson Curling Club rink where he is participating in the Midsummer Bonspiel. Just a quick glance and you know he has seen plenty of Roarin' Games.

Mrs. Rawson is also in Nelson and both expressed enthusiasm over the Bonspiel. Mr. Rawson thought the Civic Centre "a lovely layout" and the ice "grand." Both said they had not met "finer people since we left home", while Mrs. Rawson was enthusiastic over the arrangements for the ladies and the accommodation provided. They are staying at the S. P. Bostock home.

Mr. Rawson's buttons are souvenirs of bonspiels he took part in on the Prairies including the Thistle Curling Club of Winnipeg, St. Paul, Minn., and Flin Flon, where he is an honorary member of the Club there. "Only life member" he stated.

Mr. Rawson, Ole Wick and Wilf Burrows wear valuable wrist watches won at Flin Flon in 1936 when they took the grand aggregate.

ONLY ONE COMPLAINT

Like many visitors, they had only one complaint and that was from the spectators point of view. The spectators here were unable to see the scores as the games progressed. On the Prairie rinks many rinks had wires containing colored beads which were moved along as scores were made so that spectators knew at a glance how the rinks stood. They liked the idea of the crowd being kept off the sidelines, however.

Greenberg Single Gives Tigers Win

The game, which went two hours 53 minutes in actual playing time, was held up for 41 minutes in the first half of the ninth because of rain.

Each club used three hurlers as the Tigers hammered out 17 hits and Boston gathered 14.

Says Civil War in Argentina May Be Desirable

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 5 (AP)—Dr. Pedro Cue, prominent Cuban editor and lawyer, said last night that Vice President Juan Peron of Argentina "told me he felt that civil war in Argentina might be desirable since there was no other way out of the present impasse."

Cue, who arrived in Santiago by plane from Buenos Aires, informed reporters here that he had a 90-minute interview with Peron. Cue quoted Peron as having said:

"I have no fear of civil war because I am a military man and am prepared for it."

He said that Peron had declared that it "probably would be necessary to have fighting in the streets of Buenos Aires and cause some deaths" as a means of achieving the purposes of the revolution which put the military group in power.

Fernie Is Winner in Softball Tournament

KIMBERLEY, B.C. — The Fernie softball nine emerged winner of the first money in the seven-team softball tournament played here over the weekend as a feature of the annual Dominion Day celebration. It could be largely attributed to the three-hit pitching of Sam Marasco, who fanned 12 batters ,and barely gave the fielders an opportunity to stretch. Red Johnson pitched for the other finalists, Polebusters of Kimberley, with only fair backing in the field.

Gamest performance was turned in by Creston High School in the consolation for all teams who were knocked out in the first round. They edged up to an 8-8 tie in the last of the ninth inning and were beaten in an extra 9-8 by the veteran Mill Shop team.

Bowman Wins 6th for Reds

BROOKLYN, July 5 (AP)—With Joe Bowman winning his sixth game since he joined the Reds a month ago, Cincinnati defeated Brooklyn 6-4 today to cut the Dodgers first place margin in the National League to 2½ games over the triumphant Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cards.

A four-run outburst in the fifth inning against Veteran Curt Davis sewed up the game for the Reds and gave them a three to one edge in the series.

Libke, with three hits, led the Reds at bat, which enabled them to move into a virtual tie with Boston Braves for sixth place.

CARDS CLOSE ON DODGERS

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals moved to within 2½ games of the National League lead by defeating New York Giants 7-5 today, as Brooklyn bowed to Cincinnati.

A five-run uprising at the expense of young Jack Brewer and reliefer Ace Adams, in the seventh inning gave the Cards the series three games to one.

Four of the five Giant runs were driven in by 19-year-old Carroll (Whitey) Lockman, who made an auspicious major league debut with a two-run homer in his first time at bat and followed with a double in the fourth which tallied two more. Lockman joined the Giants earlier today, following his purchase from Jersey City of the International League.

PARIS, July 5 (AP) — The Supreme Allied Headquarters war room in the red schoolhouse at Reims where the Germans signed their surrender will be turned over to the city of Reims in a ceremony Saturday.

Acquit One But Not the Other in Rosterg Case

LONDON, July 5 (CP)—A British military court today acquitted Hans Klein, one of eight German prisoners of war on trial for slaying a non-Nazi prisoner, holding that the prosecution failed to prove he participated actively.

The court refused to acquit Herbert Wunderlich, ruling that this prisoner's own statement was sufficient to establish a case. Wunderlich said he helped drag the beaten body of Wolfgang Rosterg, face down, across rough ground to the prison lavatory last Dec. 23 where the man was left hanging from an overhead pipe.

Dr. A. Rintoul testified that a postmortem showed that Rosterg was strangled during the dragging and already was dead when his body was hanged.

Churchill to Rest in France

LONDON, July 5 (Reuters) — Prime Minister Churchill will go abroad shortly for a short rest, an announcement from 10 Downing

The announcement added that Street said tonight.

Mr. Churchill's whereabouts "are not being made public. He will, of course, be kept in constant touch by courier and telegram and thus able to deal with all essential and urgent matters."

It added that Foreign Secretary Eden will preside at Cabinet meetings in the Prime Minister's absence.

Mr. Churchill had planned to have a short rest for some time, the announcement said, but it had to be postponed because of the general election, for which voting took place today.

Thoughts Go Back to Another July 5

LONDON, July 5 (CP Cable)—Hecklers were silent today, resting their voices after weeks of noisy "barracking" at political meetings, but while Britain's millions went to the polls they might reflect upon words of wisdom which appeared upon another July 5 more than a century ago.

They were written by William Williams, in a book entitled: "How To Approach a Political Orator," published July 5, 1835. It was after this book appeared that heckling became an art.

"I don't encourage citizens to be bellicose but the true merits of any orator can only be discovered if he faces a modicum of tribulation," Williams wrote.

Then he advised: "Even if you are aware that a gentleman's wife is not all that the community would wish, it is injudicious to mention this outside. Don't throw missiles with stone, glass or other hard materials in them. Don't throw eggs for they have been known to injure eyes. Once the man has stopped speaking it is ungentlemanlike to set upon him in the street."

Wheat Flour Output 2,107,944 Barrels

OTTAWA, July 5 (CP) — Wheat flour production in Canadian mills during May was 2,107,944 barrels compared with 1,962,264 in the corresponding month of last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today.

Tribesman Led Guerillas

NEW DELHI, July 5 (CP) — An Indian tribesman led a guerilla band in Burma against the Japanese for three years and mobilized resistance among 500,000 fellow countrymen, India Army Headquarters disclosed today. The Army announcement identified him as San Po Thin, about 45, a Keren tribesman who lived in the area West of Rangoon.

Casts Doubt on Churchill, Franco Meeting

LONDON, July 5 (CP)—A published report said today that Prime Minister Churchill would meet Generalissimo Franco of Spain before the Big Three Conference in Potsdam, but a Foreign Office Commentator cast doubt on the report.

The best guess was that Mr. Churchill, President Truman and Premier Stalin would confer at Potsdam, a Berlin suburb, July 14 or 16. They will try to liquidate outstanding European problems.

The Prime Minister, tired from the election campaign, his wife and daughter are expected to take a holiday at the beautiful Chateau De Bordaberry on the French Basque coast just outside Hendaye on the Spanish Border before the Big Three Meeting. Bordeaux reports said telephone and telegraph experts were connecting the Villa direct with London.

The Foreign Office Commentator did not deny or confirm the report of a meeting with the Spanish Chief of State, but expressed "the personal interpretation" that the story stemmed from the political campaign.

Unusually reliable Diplomats said the Big Three would discuss the future of Italian Colonies and the question of admitting Italy to the World Security League.

Relief was general in London that agreement of matters awaiting the attention of the "Big Three" would be speeded by solution of the Polish problem, an issue which British-American recognition of the New Warsaw Provisional Government will automatically eliminate from the Potsdam agenda.

This recognition is expected to be forthcoming within 36 hours.

Outstanding among the questions which Prime Minister Churchill, President Truman and Premier Stalin are expected to discuss are Germany's economic future and the price she must pay for her aggressions.

Tourists Swarm Into Canada

The United States tourist came back to Ontario in almost pre-war strength this holiday week. He came back like a sailor on a spree, eager to spend extra dollars on commodities difficult to obtain at home.

Reports from all but a few communities stressed that tourist traffic, starting in volume on Canada's Dominion Day week-end and continuing through United States Independence Day Wednesday, was greatest since 1939 or the early war years.

An improved war situation, increased gasoline rations and perfect July weather hedped swell holiday crowds. In comparatively lightly-rationed Ontario, these were typical results:

A Sudbury visitor was so thrilled by a tender steak he produced a camera to take a picture "for the folks back home."

In Peterborough, one report said, tourists bought anything in the clothing line "that wasn't nailed down." Overcoats, furs, underwear, handkerchiefs, shirts and dresses were purchased in the city's greatest buying rush.

In London, a china dealer said Americans bought everything from 90-piece dinner sets to individual novelties.

LONDON (CP)—Salaries for the Ministry of Information's press censorship during the fiscal year ended last March 31 totalled £112,873 ($507,928).

Americans Seek Out Steaks

WINNIPEG, July 5 (CP)—Officials of the Manitoba Tourist Bureau said today that 158 American tourists registered in the province yesterday. The stock question: "Where can we get the best and juiciest steaks?"

Jacobs Starts Boxing Talent Hunt

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs, whose boxing discoveries have met with considerable success, starts his annual midsummer talent hunt tomorrow when he matches Tommy Bell of Youngstown, Ohio, against Jacob Lamotta of New York, in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

Although Bell has established a better-than-fair reputation in welterweight circles, it will be his first appearance in the Garden and Promoter Jacobs is concerned only with what takes place on boxing's "Main Stem".

Last Summer Jacobs staged indoor bouts in the big arena and turned up three newcomers whose performances during the indoor season contributed toward the Jacobs income. Ike Williams, Lee Oma and Jimmy McDaniels all developed into first-rate drawing cards for the Winter season as a result of their hot-weather performances.

Bell seems likely to follow the same course if he can make a good showing against Lamotta tomorrow. During 1943 and 1944 the Ohioan rolled up a string of 29 consecutive victories before he was checked this year by Ray Robinson, about the best fighter in his class.

Lamotta, the only boxer who ever has defeated Robinson, is a tough opponent for anyone and has ruined the New York debuts of such good fighters as California Jackie Wilson and Jimmy Edgar. The Bronx belter never has been floored and he'll have a weight advantage of at least 10 pounds tomorrow.

Fruitvale Child Injures Eye With Scissors

FRUITVALE, B.C., July 4— The six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Grimm suffered an eye injury last week and was rushed to the Trail-Tadanac Hospital. The accident occurred when the point of a pair of scissors pierced one of her eyes. The extent of the injury will not be known until later when bandages are removed.

325 ALBERTA WORKERS GO TO ONTARIO

EDMONTON, July 5 (CP)—R. M. Putnam, Director of Extension Service, Department of Agriculture, said today labor requirements for haying and harvesting operations in Ontario have been met and the movement of workers from Alberta has been discontinued. About 325 workers from Alberta have gone to Ontario to assist in harvesting operations.

SAILORS WITH HAIR, CLOTHES BURNING FIGHT FLAMES SUCCESSFULLY.

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—The United States Navy today told how the destroyer Newcomb survived hits by four Japanese suicide planes which "literally disembowelled" the ship and caused 91 casualties. "Superhuman fire-fighting" was credited with saving the vessel.

One suicide plane scored a double hit, skidding across the Newcomb into the stern of the destroyer Leutze which had come to the stricken ship's aid. The Leutze counted 84 casualties—a total of 179 for the two warships.

The 2100-ton Newcomb, veteran of Pacific campaigning, fought the Kamikaze pilots for two hours April 6 near Ie Jima in the Ryukyus off Southern Japan and "is afloat today because her heroic crew, many with hair aflame and clothes burned off, refused to give her up even when all power and communication was lost and more than half the ship was enveloped in flames," the Navy said.

Authorize Three New Air Services Across Atlantic

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board today authorized three United States air carriers to operate air transportation routes across the North Atlantic.

They are Pan American Airways, Inc., American Export Lines, Inc., and Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc.

The certificates authorizing the new services were for a term of seven years.

French in Berlin

BERLIN, July 5 (AP) — French troops today marched into Northwest Berlin occupying the Reinickendorf borough allotted to them. The section is composed mainly of workers' houses and a considerable industrial section which was bombed heavily.

Canucks Suffer One-Eighth of Casualties

LONDON, July 5 (CP Cable — During the two years and five months in which it operated, the Canadian Bomber Group alone suffered one-eighth of the total casualties in R.A.F. Bomber Group throughout the war, an R.C.A.F. statement today indicated.

A Canadian Group statement listed 6,267 men killed or missing since the group's formation Jan. 1, 1943. Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Harris, Chief of Bomber Command, in a recent speech disclosed that "more than 47,000" Bomber Command fliers were lost between Sept. 3, 1939, and V-E Day.

The figures released today concern only the R.C.A.F.'s own group and do not include casualties among Canadians flying in R.A.F. crews, who formed about one-third of Bomber Command strength.

Market Trends . . .

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP) — Led by Rails the Stock Market suffered a post-July Fourth sell-off that cut numerous leaders down one to more than two points.

TORONTO (CP)—Stocks moved in a downward price slant while changing hands in light volume. Industrial and Gold stocks netted the widest losses. Aggregate turnover was a little heavier than on Wednesday, around 600,000 shares.

The Utility and miscellaneous Industrials were lower and other groups had mixed gains and losses.

MONTREAL — Selected key Industrials and Papers were down on average and Utilities were inclined to be higher in trading.

LONDON — With polling day interest tending to distract attention the Stock Market was rather quiet. The recent firm undertone, however, was well maintained.

VANCOUVER — Trading was slightly irregular. Total turnover was 57,012 shares.

CHICAGO—Buying interest dropped considerably in the Rye futures market, attacked in Congress and restricted by new Board of Trade regulations.

Selling was not heavy, but there was no compensating demand and losses were more than two cents a bushel at times in a nervous trade.

Wheat closed ½ lower to ¾ lower than Tuesday's finish, corn was unchanged to ⅛ up, oats were off ⅛ to ⅜, rye was down ⅞ to 3 cents, and barley was unchanged to ½ higher.

WINNIPEG — Rye futures were erratic in moderately active trading and worked lower in sympathy with a sharp price decline at Chicago.

Local and American selling was traced early in the trade but later the market steadied and some local and shipper buying entered the pit.

Closing values were ⅜ to one cent a bushel lower with July at $1.61.

Object to Wage Increase for Objectors

VANCOUVER, July 5 (CP)—Robert MacNicol, Secretary of the B. C. Branch, Canadian Legion, said Wednesday night that Federal Government directives increasing wages paid conscientious objectors will be protested by the Legion.

Speaking to a group of war veterans, Mr. MacNicol said that since the call-up system has been "wiped out the medically fit objectors working at farm labor have received a monthly increase of $45.

He compared the increase with the $10 extra given volunteers who signed for the Pacific War.

He said conscientious objectors employed on farms had previously received $50 a month plus board, $25 of this going to the Red Cross.

"On June 1, the Red Cross assessment was cut to five dollars, and one month later the minimum wage paid was raised to $70 plus board, the five dollar Red Cross payment remaining the same," he said.

The Legion's objection, he added, is that conscientious objectors benefit financially while refusing to fight for their country.
