Tunisian Victory Brings Churchill to the White House

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill arrived here tonight against a background of an Allied victory in Tunisia and German jitters over invasion, for more war talks with President Roosevelt.

He was accompanied by a staff of military and naval experts.

His swift trip to the United States after the sudden collapse of Axis arms in Tunisia led to conjecture that he had come for a final checking of plans for hammering open another front on the European Continent and perhaps to project Allied strategy even beyond that point.

The White House gave no details of the exact purpose of the fifth Churchill-Roosevelt parley in 21 months and the fourth since the United States plunged into the conflict. Presidential Secretary Stephen Early issued only this brief announcement:

"Prime Minister Winston Churchill has arrived in Washington. He was met by the President upon arrival and will be the President's guest for the duration of his visit. Mr. Churchill was accompanied by a staff of experts, military and naval."

Lord Beaverbrook, London Publisher and former British Cabinet member, also has arrived in Washington, authoritative sources disclosed, although they said he was not a member of the official party. It was believed, however, that Lord Beaverbrook who has been a close collaborator with Mr. Churchill on industrial problems, probably will participate in the joint talks.

The current Anglo-American conference gave added significance to the secret letter which President Roosevelt entrusted to Joseph E. Davies to deliver to Joseph Stalin in Moscow. The contents of the message have not been revealed and there was no definite indication the Russian Premier might join the talks here, or even that he had been invited to do so.

Nor was there any way of learning whether the conversations will continue long enough for the Russian leader to reach Washington in time to participate.

It was considered likely, in any case, that he and Chinese Gen. Chiang Kai-shek would be kept advised of the meeting as was the case when the British American war leaders met at Casablanca last January.

At Casablanca, the President and Prime Minister charted plans for invading Europe, they announced, and determined to force "unconditional surrender" on the Axis. The current parley was expected to solidify their determination on that point, and at least indirectly, answer peace feelers which had been emanating from Spain.

Ever since the final rout of the Axis forces in North Africa, speculation has been widespread about the next Allied step. Possible invasion points have been mentioned all the way from Norway down through Holland, Belgium, France, Italy and around the Mediterranean to Greece.

There were signs that Mr. Churchill's trip to Washington was arranged somewhat hurriedly since, in contrast with the volume of rumors that preceded his previous journeys to North America, there was a minimum of speculation this time.

The White House did not reveal the membership of the Prime Minister's staff. Presumably if the names became known it might serve as a tip-off on the next major theatre of Allied operations.

The Churchill-Roosevelt meetings have, in the past, come in times of crisis and important decisions have resulted from them.

Earlier, with the African campaign in its last stages, speculation had developed both here and in London that Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt would meet again.

When the African fighting was at its peak, there was considerable speculation here that its conclusion would be followed by Allied moves against Sicily, Sardinia and other Italian islands from which Axis planes could operate against Allied convoys in the Mediterranean.

This was based on the assumption that shipping could not move freely in the middle sea until the enemy was ousted from these islands.

However, Navy Secretary Frank Knox expressed confidence today that German planes from bases on the Italian islands would not be able to halt Allied use of Mediterranean sea routes.

"They will attempt to, undoubtedly, but they won't be able to," he said at a Press conference.

At the same time he acknowledge that possession of Sicily by the Allies obviously would be a tremendous asset."

LOAN DRIVE ON LAST LAP TO $1,100,000,000

Lowest Returns on 13th Day;

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP)—The National War Finance Committee announced tonight that returns on the 13th day of Canada's Fourth Victory Loan campaign amounted to $49,882,800, so that the third week of the 21-day campaign opened with a day $14,368,833 below average.

Returns for the previous 12 days of the drive, which has a minimum objective of $1,100,000,000, had averaged $64,251,633 daily, the Committee said. On the 13th day of last Autumn's third loan, subscriptions amounted to $51,999,900.

In the first 13 days of the present campaign, 1,176,844 individual subscribers have invested $820,902,400 in the loan.

Comparative figures for the Third Victory Loan campaign were 835,404 subscribers and $661,281,700.

Halifax continues to lead all cities still below quota for combined general canvass and payroll savings with 93.8 per cent of its objective. Red Deer, Alta., has climbed into second place with 90.8 per cent, followed by Medicine Hat, Alta., with 87.3 per cent. Other communities reporting to National Headquarters tonight include: Moose Jaw, Sask., 79; Drumheller, Alta., 71.5; Vancouver, 70.5.

Saint John and Charlottetown have become the fifth and sixth reporting cities to reach their gross objective, with 100.3 and 100 per cent respectively. Brantford now tops the list of centres which have yet to attain their gross objective with 97 per cent subscribed.

Other high percentages are: Regina, 77; Fort William, 74.9; Calgary 70.9.

While Monday was far from its best day, the army in Canada produced on the 13th day of the loan 4364 applications for bonds totalling $323,800. This brought its cumulative record to 99,764 soldiers and Canadian Women's Army Corps subscribers within the Dominion for $8,827,700, as compared with the $2,650,950 raised in Canada during the Third Victory Loan.

Churchill's Trip Kept Very Secret

LONDON, May 12 (Wednesday) (CP)—The current Churchill-Roosevelt conference was suggested by the President, a British source said today, and the Prime Minister readily agreed.

Mr. Churchill's departure was more secretive than any of his previous trips.

He motored to a suburban station where he boarded a special train. High officers of the three fighting services who accompanied him were already there.

HUNS ASK FRENCH FOR ARMISTICE

Russ Use All Power to Pound Nazis Along Entire Front

LONDON, May 11 (CP)—The Red Army today captured a German fortified key position in the Battle of Novorossisk and pounded the Nazi foe in the Caucasus with infantry, artillery and aerial power on a day marked by a continuation of heavy air battles and vigorous activity along the entire front.

The Red Air Force, whose recent exploits have caused the Germans to express official amazement, reported downing 35 planes in air combat and 21 more were shot down by anti-aircraft fire during the day, as against Soviet losses of 11 planes.

In an additional announcement Moscow said that Red airmen carried out heavy raids on Monday on half a dozen key rail centres behind the German lines, including Kiev, Bryansk and Orel

The heaviest fighting of the day was in the Kuban, where the remnants of a Nazi Caucasus Army which once numbered 200,000 men are backed up against the Black Sea around Novorossisk. Here, said the bulletin, "Soviet troops continued demolishing enemy fortifications by artillery shelling and air bombardment."

A number of German blockhouses, dugouts and other fortifications were blasted to ruins in the region Northeast of Novorossisk, and German soldiers were taken prisoner, while in the lower reaches of the Kuban River, apparently Northwest of Novorossisk, the German key fortified position fell to the advancing Soviet troops. About a company of Germans was wiped out.

The Russians reported that the Germans on the Leningrad front after a heavy artillery shelling tried to reconnoitre the Soviet positions. "Two German attacks were beaten off by our units," the communique said. "The enemy lost about 700 officers and men in killed alone."

In the air, Allied planes were active over New Guinea.

Near Lae, on the Huon Gulf, attack planes bombed and strafed Lobu Lagoon where the Japanese often try to conceal their supply barges.

ILSLEY GIVES BREAKDOWN OF $1 BILLION

Munitions, Food Account for Bulk of Spending

CANADA'S GIFT

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP) — Two announcements in the House of Commons today set Canada in the front rank of the fighting nations as a contributor of fighting tools as well as fighting men.

1. Finance Minister Ilsley gave a breakdown of the munitions and supplies provided under the $1,000,000,000 to the United Kingdom last year. Using "arbitrary" figures as it was difficult to establish the financing procedure for any individual item sent, the Minister said munitions of war had taken $689,000,000 of the total, and foodstuffs and raw materials $311,000,000.

2. Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced a protocol setting forth the supplies to be furnished Russia by the United States, United Kingdom and Canada now is under negotiation.

The House spent the afternoon in discussion of the $1,000,000,000 Mutual Aid Bill under which the Dominion will make contributions to the Allied cause where needed.

Mr. Ilsley, sponsor of the Bill, termed "a figment of the imagination" the suggestion of J. G. Diefenbaker (Prog. Con. Lake Centre) that the measure gave the Government wide powers to enter into trade agreements which might not be revealed to the House.

Sitting in Committee, the House started its review of the Bill clause by clause.

Explaining the financing arrangements under the 1942 $1,000,000,000 gift, Mr. Ilsley said the Canadian assistance had been paid into the account of the United Kingdom Government in Canada supplementing the dollar resources of the United Kingdom. The dollars thus had been placed in a common fund and it was impossible to say money taken from this fund had come from one source rather than another.

In addition to the portion of Sterling area purchases attributed to the $1,000,000,000 gift, Mr. Ilsley said other sources of financing had covered commodity exports valued at $219,000,000 and services costs of $221,000,000.

Of the total, Canada knew that $61,000,000 in fighting equipment had been transferred to Russia and $71,000,000 in mechanical transport to Australia, New Zealand and other parts of the Sterling area, although they were part of the gift to Britain.

Mr. Ilsley stressed the divisions made in estimating the supplies sent under the $1,000,000,000 gift were "purely arbitrary."

The Minister told Hon. R. B. Hanson (Prog. Con. York-Sunbury) that all the money granted to the United Kingdom, plus the supplementary amount it was able to obtain, had been spent in Canada.

T. L. Church (Prog. Con. Toronto Broadview) said the more the gift was examined the more it became evident that a large part of it was not a gift to Britain at all. Britain had paid Canada prior to the gift nearly the value of all the munitions and food received.

"I fail to see it was much of a gift in view of the protection given this country (Britain)," said Mr Church.

Britain had $3,000,000,000 invested in the Argentine and part of this sum might be turned over to Canada and assist her in obtaining a trade foothold in South America after the war.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he did not believe that commercial considerations should be the chief point in time of war. Mutual aid had won the North African victories. He gave the Bill absolute support as far as it concerned a contribution to the United Nations.

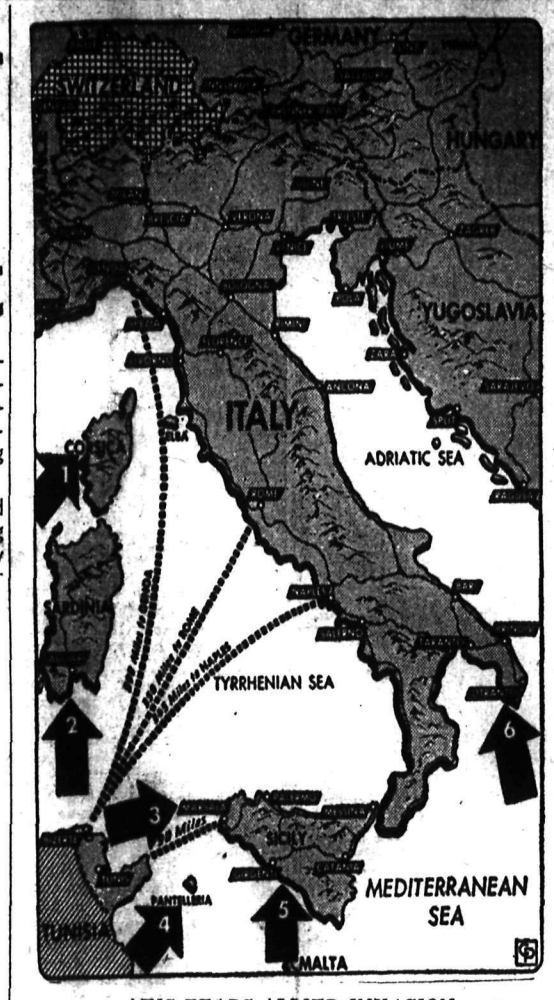
There should be a statement on whether negotiations were under way to have Canada produce only certain materials or munitions of war.

After months of tooling and preparation for the production of Lancaster bombers in a factory in Canada there had been a discontinuance of production without explanation.

"Was that due to the fact that a new plan has been evolved among the United Nations whereby Canada's production will be devoted to agricultural products, certain munitions and shipping?" he asked.

If the Bill were passed it would give Cabinet Ministers the right to determine the commercial policy of the Nation with others of the United Nations. It would prevent House Members receiving information they desired.

Mr. Ilsley said he congratulated Mr. Diefenbaker on his imagination and he had piled "brick after brick" on a "great edifice of apprehension."



AXIS FEARS ALLIED INVASION

Axis radio commentators, worrying about Allied invasion plans, are advertising to the world their jitters over where the blow is going to strike. The German radio insists that the Allies will invade before the end of the Tunisian campaign at (1) Corsica, (2) Sardinia, or (3) Sicily from Tunisia, or (4) the Italian base on Pantellaria, or (5) Sicily from Malta or (6) the lower part of Italy's boot.

Coldwell Urges All Out Loan Support

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP)—When Canadians are tempted to buy unnecessary articles they should remember that millions of their Allies starve in China, that millions have been driven from their homes in Russia, and that other millions of innocent victims of aggressor powers lie in graves across the world, M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said tonight in an address in support of the Fourth Victory Loan campaign.

The refugees of Hitler terror await the friendly aid of Canada and need the food Canada can produce and the goods Canada can make, Mr. Coldwell said in his talk.

"If we had our way, our whole economy would be fully organized for the one great purpose of winning the war and in preparation for its end.

"For when the 'cease fire' sounds in the main theatres of war, the food and peacetime goods that we can produce will be needed in abundance for people who cannot pay for them. This is another reason why we should waste no money now on things we can do without."

Mr. Coldwell said his group would like to see the Canadian financial system more completely an instrument of national policy in the hands of the nation, so more efficient use might be made of its services and powers. But, in the meantime, Canada must make the best use of what Parliament had provided.

Nazis Cut Off by British Meet All French Terms

By WILLIAM B. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, May 11 (AP) — The German troops cut off on the Tunisian mainland by a British break-through across the base of Cap Bon Peninsula surrendered unconditionally tonight and agreed to the immediate transfer of all their materiel.

Pocketed in the Zaghouan Mountains, the Germans asked the French Command for an armistice in the first such request to be made by the Germans to the French since the last war.

Just as the Americans had done in the North, the French followed the Casablanca formula by demanding immediate unconditional surrender and the immediate delivery of all materiel. The Germans accepted.

There was no indication of the number of surrendering forces, isolated when the French 19th Corps drove through to the coast to cut them off from their comrades facing the British 8th Army to the South after the British 1st Army had stabbed across the base of Cap Bon.

Once established across the neck of the peninsula, 15 army armored units immediately moved up both sides of the mountainous strip jutting into the Mediterranean, rounding up 20,000 prisoners during the day and capturing all the territory between Hammamet and Beni Aichoum in an 18-mile sweep up the Southeast side.

Allied airmen carried out another tremendous raid today on the Mediterranean island stepping-stones necessary for a continental invasion. Nearly 200 bombers escorted by more than 100 fighter planes smashed at Marsala, Sicily's closest port to Cap Bon.

Smoke from fires started by today's attack rose as high as 10,000 feet and could be seen by the returning pilots when they were back over the African coast.

Other Allied planes were reported to have hammered Pantelleria in the sixth raid in four days on that tiny island in the Sicilian Strait, smashing this time at the harbor and hitting several ships.

What was described by a military spokesman as "probably the last tank battle of the African campaign" was being fought between the British 6th Armored Division and remnants of a Nazi armored force in the neighborhood of Grombalia.

The round-the-clock aerial attacks making it impossible for the enemy to attempt any organized escape from the Cap Bon death trap also are keeping the Axis forces from distributing what food and supplies they have on the Peninsula.

British officers report that the Germans already are beginning to feel the pinch of hunger and it was believed that the food situation alone soon would be desperate enough to force the enemy to halt all resistance.

The advancing British columns reported seeing many fires on Cap Bon, presumably set by the Germans to destroy their supplies as a prelude to a general surrender.

With all the remaining Axis forces in Tunisia now isolated in two pockets, the only semblance of enemy resistance was in the sector to the South, near the 8th Army position Northwest of Enfidaville. At one point there the Germans even opened a counter-attack which was promptly repulsed.

BRITONS EXPECT ACTION AFTER WASH. MEETING

Allied Offensives Likely to Be Main Topics

POLISH DISPUTE

LONDON, May 12 (Wednesday) (CP)—Britons, recalling the positive military actions after previous conclaves, today welcomed the new Churchill-Roosevelt meeting a prelude to a grand attack on Axis-held Europe.

Best informed observers said flatly that war strategy was the prime purpose of the conference although political problems involved in the invasion plans undoubtedly were discussed, as well as co-ordination of Russian and Allied offensives.

Soothing of the disputes between the Poles and Russians and the intramural arguments of the French also were regarded as likely subjects taken into consideration, together with allotment of war supplies for the global conflict.

President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have met on four prior occasions in the last 22 months, each conference being followed by some major event bearing on the war. Here are the times and places and what came out of them:

Aug. 9, 1941, aboard the United States cruiser Augusta off the Newfoundland Coast, the meeting which developed the Atlantic Charter.

Dec. 22, 1941, in Washington, Declaration of the United Nations.

June 18, 1942, in Washington, drew up plans for North African invasion.

Jan. 14, 1943, in Casablanca, mapped 1943 offensives.

The final report from Windermere, showing the $40,000 objective topped, has not yet arrived at Headquarters, though the quota was reached last week.

Kimberley in its biggest single day of the Fourth Loan had sales of $20,150, which brought the Kimberley total to $196,200, or 84 per cent of the $235,000 quota.

Arrival of the Esquimault Navy Band is anticipated at Cranbrook and Kimberley tomorrow. A parade and outdoor concert are planned for Cranbrook and a concert in the school and a dance at MacDougall Hall at Kimberley. Ban Sale of Seed Potatoes Except for Planting

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP)—Sale of certified seed potatoes for any use other than planting is prohibited in a Prices Board order issued tonight. The order, effective May 13, covers the period until Saturday, June 5, considered the normal end of the potato planting season.

Officials of the Board also said that suspension until June 30 of the 10 per cent War Exchange Tax on potatoes imported from the United States, provided in a recent Order-in-Council, should help to ease the current potato shortage in Canada.

The Order-in-Council exempts potatoes from the tax for the two-month period "to enable this commodity to be sold under the established price ceiling." Officials said the tax amounted to about 25 cents a bushel.

Emergency Radio Saves Many Sailors Lives

VANCOUVER (CP) — A large yellow "suitcase" tags along with men of the Merchant Navy when they set out to sea. And to shipwrecked sailors its contents are more important than clothing or food. It's an emergency automatic lifeboat radio transmitter and already has saved many seamen's lives during this war.

If no radio man is among the survivors, the transmitter can be set in operation by merely pressing a button. This starts an automatic SOS call which continues steadily for two and a half minutes. If attack is from the air, an aircraft distress call—a comparatively new distress signal—can be sent.

When the enemy strikes, the ship's officers must see the transmitter is taken from its locker and put in a lifeboat. It's waterproof, will float and is easily discernible by its bright yellow casing. If necessary it can be used as a raft.

With each transmitter a separate small receiving set is provided and if it can be saved two-way communication is possible.

The radio is equipped with an 8-volt dry acid battery which will not spill and will provide current for 160 two-and-a-half minute messages. These may be sent at whatever intervals are desired.

SUGAR BEET PLANT TO REMAIN IDLE

CHATHAM, Ont., May 11 (CP)—An official of the Chatham Refinery of the Canada and Dominion Sugar Company today announced that the plant would remain idle this year "owing to the very limited amount of sugar beet acreage contracted for by farmers."

Giraud Troops Get Rousing Welcome in Tunis

TUNIS, May 9 (Delayed)—(AP.)—The French troops of Gen. Henri Giraud marched into Tunis today and received an enthusiastic welcome from civilians who only two days ago where under German oppression.

A regiment of Tunis' own troops, many of whom fled to join the Allies at Algiers a few hours before Axis aircraft circled above the capital last Nov. 10, were chosen to lead French forces into the city.

Whatever political differences existed among Frenchmen were forgotten.

Tearful men and women, many of whom wore the Lorraine Cross of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, ran into the streets to kiss soldiers marching alone.

Giraud, himself, was expected to enter Tunis.

Victory Bonds Can Save Lives Says Lieutenant Black at Navy Band Concert; Describes His Convoy Work

"We hear so often these words: 'From all these operations only one bomber failed to return'. That's fine. It's all very happy. It's a great victory.

"But have you ever stopped to think that in that plane eight men are lying dead? And that the lives of eight wives or sweethearts have been spoiled?

"A larger fighter escort, more ammunition, might have saved that plane. When we buy Victory Bonds we are saving the lives of men.

This was the message of Lieut. W. H. Black, R.C.N.V.R., veteran of Atlantic and Mediterranean convoys, when he spoke to an audience of 2000 at the Victory Loan concert played in the Nelson Civic Arena Tuesday night by the Royal Canadian Navy Band from Esquimalt.

He emphasized his message once again when he told of the sinking of his ship at its dock in a Mediterranean port, and asserted Victory Bonds would buy more depth charges, more bombs, to end the war more quickly and to enable such ships to sail the seven seas again.

CONVALESCING FROM WOUNDS

Lieut. Black, in Canada convalescing from wounds, described his training to become a Canadian naval officer, and his experiences as an officer.

He spoke of convoys carrying supplies to Tobruk, under attacks by enemy airplanes and submarines, describing it as 'an extremely warm run."

Names of storied ports and places —Port Said, Haifa, Palestine, and Cypress—were mentioned as he described his work as an officer on board a converted Norwegian whaler, used in convoy duty.

On one occasion when his ship was in port for boiler cleaning he had shore leave and spent the night at a hotel. A stick of bombs dropped nearby and made the building "shimmy". Next night, on shore leave, again, and at the same hotel, the bombs came closer. When he went down to the docks in the morning only part of the funnel of his ship was visible above the sea. The ship and another next to it had been sunk.

Mayor Stibbs, expressing thanks to Lieutenant Black, stated over 700 men and women of Nelson District were now in the services, putting their weight behind the effort to win the war. He asked Lieutenant Black to convey greetings to any from this District with whom he might come in contact.

2000 Nelson District Residents Crowd Civic Centre to Hear Navy Band in Splendid Concert

Approximately 2000 residents of Nelson and District enjoyed a rich musical experience Tuesday night when they heard the Royal Canadian Navy Band of Esquimalt, touring the Kootenays to help boost the Fourth Victory Loan, in a concert at the Civic Centre Arena. Lt. H. G. Cuthbert directed the concert.

From the concert, the crowd moved into the Civic Centre Hall where the swing section of the Band played for a highly popular dance.

It was the Navy Band's third appearance in Nelson, and its success was in pace with the growth of popularity of the band on each of its visits.

Another highlight of the concert was the address by Lieut. W. H. Black, R.C.N.V.R., veteran of Atlantic and Mediterranean convoys.

APPLAUSE FOR CHURCHILL

Ringing applause greeted the announcement by Mayor N. C. Stibbs, Chairman, at the start of the program, that Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill had arrived in Washington.

The band was in Nelson, said Mayor Stibbs to help this city attain its quota of $555,000 and the District its quota of $700,000.

"The City of Nelson has not yet let the Victory Loan down", he said, "and we're not going to this time."

SELLS $700 BONDS

During a brief intermission "Miss Canada" girls circulated in the audience, selling War Saving Stamps, and Victory Loan salesmen, at a table on the arena floor, sold $700 worth of Victory Bonds.

"Let us do our share now," urged Lieut.-Col. G. A. Hoover, Chairman of the Victory Loan Public Relations Committee. "Keep that Nelson touch. Let us 'engage the enemy more closely'. Buy Victory Bonds now."

At the close Mayor Stibbs expressed the deep appreciation of Nelson District residents for the band's assistance in the campaign.

"We'd be very pleased to come back again and hope we have the opportunity to make another visit," said Lieutenant Cuthbert. He paid tribute to the Nelson Junior High School Cadet Band, which assisted at the afternoon appearance of the visiting band.

BAND PROGRAM

Opening the band's program was the stirring new march, "United Nations March to Victory".

From this type of music the band changed tempo and style for the symphonic poem "Mannin Veen (Dear Isle of Man)", emphasizing the wood-winds and horns.

"Three Solitaires", a rapidly moving number in the Herbert style, was played as a cornet trio, by Petty Officer S. Sunderland, Bandsman J. W. Terry and Bandsman M Sinden, with band accompaniment.

Selections from "The Red Mill", well known in the musical comedy field, proved popular. In this Petty Officer Sunderland played the cornet solo.

"Quality-Plus", one of the marches enjoyed by citizens at the Baker Street appearance of the band in the afternoon, was again a hit at the concert.

MALE CHORUS

Putting instruments aside, the bandsmen became a male chorus, an entirely new role in their Victory Loan appearances in the Kootenays. Their first selection was the well known "Song of the Volga Boatmen," unaccompanied, sung with fine appreciation of the story of this song. Even more popular was their rendition of the Negro spiritual "Deep River", this time with Bandsman K. Heselton accompanying at the xylophone. Another complete change of character was the Australian song popularized by war's interchange of servicemen, "Waltzing Matilda". Allan Thompson, formerly of CJOR, directed the chorus.

"Staunch and True," a march, brought the band into action again.

New, and surprising was "Swanee Satire", which to the tune of "Swanee River" adventured from the conventional to Hill-Billy to Mexican to swing; bypassed for presentation as a bedtime story with unrehearsed sidelights, found New York presentation with a bit of Volga Boatman thrown in; and wound up played as it was intended to be played.

"SALUTE TO VICTORY"

For its finale the band played "Salute to Victory", a medley of selections including a variation of "O Canada", "God Bless America" and "Land of Hope and Glory". While "Salute to Victory" arranged incidentally by Petty Officer Cuthbert, brother of the Band Director—was being played the male chorus director, Mr. Thompson, narrated "While Britain Stands", "Brothers in Arms" and the toast to the future from Noel Coward's "Cavalcade."

Canadians "Walk Away" From Collision in Air

WITH THE R. C. A. F. SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—It isn't everyone who can "walk away" from a mid-air crash between two aircraft. That's exactly what Sgts. J. D. MacGillivray, 23-year-old Saskatoon gunner, and M. M. Duncan, 24, Toronto bomb-aimer, did to qualify for membership in the mythical Caterpillar Club.

When their Wellington bomber collided with another machine they didn't waste any time obeying the pilot's orders to "get out fast." The skipper, Flt. Sgt, L. W. Forbes of Hartney, Man., eventually managed to land the bomber at base and escaped without injury. The collision occurred during a return flight.

"We had a good trip," Forbes said, "and were almost back to base when another kite loomed out of the darkness and appeared to crash us head-on."

The impact was terrific and the Wellington went out of control. While his crewmates bailed out, Forbes struggled with the controls and was preparing to jump himself when he managed to bring the plane to an even keel and proceed to base. "I landed quite comfortably," he said.

Turgeon Favors Open Statement on Labor Policy

MONTREAL, May 11 (CP)—Gray Turgeon, Liberal member of Parliament for Cariboo, said in an address to a service club today that "if industry itself and Canada as a nation, would tell Labor now that when the war is over legal labor organizations will be fully recognized, much industrial good would follow, not only for the post-war period but immediately, when all effort is needed for the prosecution of the war."

He added that farming and secondary industry, and farming and government, must have a relationship that has not yet existed. "I fear for the future sometimes when I think of what the farmer is going through today," Mr. Turgeon said.

Pro-Allied Sentiment Flares Into the Open in Occupied Lands

By ERWARD D. BALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 11 (AP.)—While the Impact of the Axis' North African defeat was reflected in reports of soaring revolt in Europe ,the Nazi-controlled Danish radio predicted today "this battle for Germany is about to begin."

It said that behind his fortifications, Hitler had from 14,000,000 to 15,000,000 soldiers set to meet the invader.

The Algiers radio reported that anti-Fascist and anti-war slogans were appearing in many Italian towns. One poster in Venice read: "People of Italy, wake up. Soon the banner of liberty will again fly over Italy."

The Rome radio said Italian Col. Pallaroni and other Fascist military men had been captured and shot by Croat patriots.

A Reuters dispatch from Zurich said increasing anti-German manifestations had occurred in recent days in Alsace-Lorraine.

In Norway, German soldiers were forbidden to appear in public or in restaurants because of the hostility of the population.

Henri Queuille, former French Cabinet Minister, who recently escaped from France, said he had heard a senior Nazi officer say "we have lost the war."

He described Italian occupation troops' morale as "absolutely disastrous" and said he was certain they would not fight.

He quoted Italian officers as asking: "When are the Allies going to attack Italy and get rid of the Germans for us?"

Hit and Run Raiders Kill Many in East Anglian Town

LONDON, May 11 (CP).—The sky over the English Channel was filled today with two-traffic during a day of sharp activity in which Allied bombers and fighters battered the continent anew and the Germans raided an East Anglian town where many persons were killed when an inn was hit.

The bodies of 18 persons were found, 11 girls, members of the Auxiliary Territorial Service, five civilians and two soldiers.

Big Allied formations swung across the Channel soon after noon and for some time many more squadrons headed toward France.

Accompanying the air activity was a short burst of shelling by German big guns on the Channel between Boulogne and Calais.

Raiders began streaming back across the Channel from the direction of Boulogne shortly after noon. It was a fine sunny morning for bombing, but the sky was overcast in the afternoon.

Fifteen German Focke-Wulf fighter-bombers swooped down on an East Anglian town early today, dropping explosives, machine-gunning buses and dropping a bomb on a building housing a number of Auxiliary Territorial Service girls where 11 bodies were later recovered.

Casualties were also believed to have resulted in a building where a number of men were working.

The raid was of the usual recent hit-run type, with the Nazi planes scooting quickly back out to sea following the foray.

R. A. F. Mustangs shot an enemy fighter down in flames from a German formation staging an attack in East Anglia, and damaged several more of the intruders, it was learned.

Churchill Sends Congratulations to Eisenhower

LONDON, May 11 (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill, in a congratulatory message to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, said today "the simultaneous advance of the British and United States armies side by side into Tunis and Bizerte is an augury full of hope for the future of the world."

The text of Mr. Churchill's message:—

"Let me add my heartfelt congratulations to those which have been sent to you by His Majesty and the war cabinet on the brilliant result of the North African campaign by the army under your supreme direction.

"The comradeship and conduct with which you sustained the troops engaged in the fierce and prolonged battle in Tunisia, and the perfect understanding and harmony preserved amidst the shock of war between the British and United States forces and with our French Allies, have proved a solid foundation for victory

"The simultaneous advance of the British and United States armies side by side into Tunisia and Bizerte is an augury full of hope for the future of the world. Long may they march together, striking down tyrants and oppressors of mankind."

C.P.R. Soldiers in London Dinner Guests of Coleman

LONDON, May 11—Five hundred of the 16,000 employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway on active service were guests of D. C. Coleman, Chairman and President of the Company, here last night at the Connaught Rooms, leading London restaurant, in the first President's dinner held for C.P.R. men in this embattled Empire Capital.

A second dinner on Friday night will accomodate another 500 Canadian Pacific employees in the armed services with labor shortage and rationing difficulties having made it impossible to serve at one time all of the railway's fighting employees who were able to get leave.

A cabled message from Mr. Coleman was read by F. W. Mottley, acting European Manager tonight, extending "warmest greetings" to the gathering, while another feature was a "broadcast" of home news, done over a public address system. The script was made up of personal items cabled from all over the great Canadian Pacific system and including a recital of how well officers and employees are doing in their drive for $5,300,000 in the Fourth Victory Loan.

Mr. Coleman's message to his guests follows "to the Canadian Pacific employees in the armed forces assembled in London today, I extend on behalf of the directors, officers and employees of the company our warmest greetings. We are all comrades in a great crusade to destroy the forces of tyranny, cruelty and evil and to rebuild a shattered world. You are serving gallantly in this struggle for human liberty. We who occupy posts in support and on the lines of communication throughout the world offer you best wishes for good fortune and a safe return."

BARBADOS UNIT GOES TO ISLAND NEAR MARTINIQUE

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados, May 11 (AP)—Reuters News Agency reported tonight that a detachment of the Barbados battalion of the South Caribbean force "had embarked for Dominica in connection with the Martinique situation."

Dominica is the nearest British Islan l North of Martinique, 35 miles away.

Martinique is the French possession ruled by Admiral Georges Robert, with whom the United States recently severed relations because of his refusal to cooperate with the Allies.

Train Busting Their Specialty

MALTA (CP)—Fo. Gordon (Gus) Shemilt of Kenora and Keewatin, Ont, and his English observer, Po. Ernest Pullen, are a crack team of trainbusters. In one night, 14 trains of Mussolini's creaking transportation system, four railway stations and a coastal vessel were blasted by Malta-based intruder aircraft and of the total four trains and a station were the bag of the Anglo-Canadian pair. Shemilt and Pullen saw one station on fire after their attack caused an explosion.

Secret Protocol Sets Forth Supplies for Russ

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP)— Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced today that a secret protocol setting forth the supplies to be furnished to Russia in the year beginning next July 1 by the United States, the United Kingdom and Canada now is being negotiated.

Mr. King said the protocol "must remain secret" to avoid giving information which would be of great value to the enemy.

"It is expected that under it the three countries will undertake to make available for shipment to Russia stated quantities of munitions, war materials and essential supplies, subject to modification after consultation in the event of unforeseen developments in the war situation," said Mr. King.

Hitherto supplies have been furnished to the U.S.S.R. by the United Kingdom and the United States under annual agreements of this type to which the United States, the United Kingdom and the Soviet Union have been parties.

"Supplies which have gone to Russia from Canada, except for wheat and some miscellaneous commodities for which special arrangements were made, have been included in the commitments made by the United Kingdom or in some cases in those made by the United States."

Under the new Mutual Aid Bill now before Parliament, Canada's aid to the United Nations will be made directly to the particular nations concerned, allocated according to the strategic need.

S. Africa Gov't Party Settles Few Differences

CAPE TOWN (CP) — Assuring their own "united front" in the light of the coming general election—now not expected till September—Prime Minister Smuts and Finance Minister Hofmeyer attended a caucus of the United Party (Government) where it is believed a settlement was reached on the differences of opinion on the proposed legislation restricting acquisition of property in Natal by Asiatics.

It is believed there is now no question of Mr. Hofmeyer leaving the cabinet, despite his strong views on the rights of East Indians in South Africa.

The Indian penetration of Natal, according to some parliamentary correspondents, has become a major political crisis. The Justice Broome Report, tabled in the Union House of Assembly stated Indians were buying property in and around the South Africa East coast City of Durban on a higher scale than ever before.

RECONSTRUCTION PLANS

It is understood the Prime Minister has decided to create a Ministry of Reconstruction in the near future.

In the immediate post-war period the new ministry will be endowed with considerable executive powers and financial resources and will be South Africa's most important department of State. In the meantime, the Ministry's important function will be to keep in close touch with international developments so that South Africa's own plans can be coordinated with the world trend.

Minister of the Interior, H. G. Lawrence, met organized opposition to the proposals for new colored (negro) advisory councils by declaring that the majority of colored people wanted the councils. He said he would "not be stampeded by a noisy coterie that included both Europeans and Indians." (East Indians).

Graduation Day at Forthare Native (negro) University College attracted an unusually large gathering of people interested in natives' education and the advancement of the race. Two native students became Masters of Arts, one a Bachelor of Laws, 36 Bachelors of Arts, eight Bachelors of Science and one Bachelor of Economics.

Train Pigeons for West Coast

VANCOUVER (CP)—Carrier pigeons are soon going on active service in British Columbia. Aircraft hunting enemy subs off Canada's East Coast carry their quota of birds. Before long pigeons will travel with patrol planes of the Western Air Command with bases from Victoria to Alaska.

In a loft at a West Coast air station are several hundred homing birds. R.C.A.F. recruits are learning to care for them. Flt. Sgt. A. Moore, head man at the Western Air Command loft started training pigeons in England over 30 years ago. "The best birds aren't the prize winners," he explained. "We don't want speed, we want to be sure when a bird sets out for home, it's going to get there."

Jackrabbits have been known to jump a seven-foot fence.

Final Thrust Came as Thunderbolt

LONDON, May 11 (CP).—Clement Attlee, Deputy Prime Minister, told the House of Commons today that Britain's 1st Army had suffered 1200 casualties in the final stage of the advance on Tunis and Bizerte, and a total of 8400 since April 17.

The 8th Army's casualties from April 20 to May 3 were just over 2400, including wounded and missing, he said.

These losses, he said, compared with 50,000 Axis prisoners—mostly Germans—taken since May 5, and the number of Axis prisoners is "continually increasing."

The Deputy Prime Minister gave the Government's appraisal of the "crushing defeat" inflicted on the Axis in the first general war statement given in the House since the review Feb. 11 of the Casablanca and Adana conferences, and it followed a brief secret session of the House.

Mr. Attlee opened the statement with praise for the "very practical example of Allied cooperation" between the armies of the three nations, and ground, air and sea forces obtained under the direction of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and Gen. Sir Harold Alexander.

It was on the central front, Mr. Attlee stated, that British troops achieved the break-through that led to the fall of Tunisia's two principal port cities. Preliminary preparations included strengthening the 1st Army with formations from the 8th, he said.

The 1st Army covered the final 30 miles in 36 hours, demoralizing Axis forces. "It was a real thunderbolt," he quoted Gen. Alexander as describing the final thrust.

At almost the same time American tanks entered Bizerte after a thrust "across extremely difficult country," he said.

On Sunday morning all that was left of the German 15th Armored Division surrendered to the British 7th Armored Division, he said, adding: "These two veterans of the desert had been at each other's throats for the best part of two years."

Praising the results of combined actions by the R. A. F. and American air forces, Mr. Attlee said that "the number of sorties by our air forces compared with those of the enemy was generally something like four to one," and added that the combined Allied air forces gained complete domination of the air. Understanding between ground and air forces reached a "pitch of perfection that we never hitherto attained," he added.

He finished amid loud cheers.

In its secret session the House heard a statement which Foreign Secretary Eden said "the Government considers it ill advised to make public." There was no indication of the nature of the statement or who made it.

Allied Airmen See That Japs on Kiska Get Their Share of "April Showers"

By EUGENE BURNS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AN ADVANCED ANDREANOF BASE, April 30 (Delayed) (AP).—Despite almost daily snow storms and plane-twisting Williwaws, Canada and United States army bombing and fighter pilots dumped 700 tons of explosives on the Japanese at Kiska and Attu during April, 11th U. S. Air Force Headquarters announced today.

The tempo of bombing has been increasing in the Aleutians monthly since the Nipponese began building runways on Kiska and Attu.

April's high makes a total of 3,911,720 pounds(nearly 2000 tons) unloaded on the enemy since last June's occupation. But the Japanese still are digging in.

"The toughest days of the month," the pilots will tell you, are not the 19 days they braved the Japanese AA fire or Aleutian weather but the 11 days "when we were ready at dawn and stood by all day with planes loaded but could not take off and sock the Japanese because of the blank blank weather."

In five raids 119,600 pounds were dropped on Attu—particular attention being paid to the uncompleted bomber runway.

Royal Canadian Air Force pilots made five of the Kiska raids.

The month's losses were one Lightning pilot and plane; a crew of nine and a Liberator, and one man injured. Thirty-five planes received battle damage which, except in case of four planes, could have been repaired by a village smithy.

The "April showers" ranged from one-ton "Japbusters" to 20-pound fragmentation bombs.

To Make History in Soldier Vote in S. Africa

CAPE TOWN (CP)—South Africa at the coming general election will make election history for this country with the new system whereby service men overseas and in South Africa must vote for parties instead of individuals.

It has been decided that in view of the diverse home addresses of men making up various units, the normal system of ballotjng for individual candidates will be impossibie.

Soldiers, sailors and airmen will be given a ballot paper containing the names of all parties and independent candidates. This will be marked with the full name, date and birthplace of the service men voting. The envelopes will then be despatched to the central electoral bureau in Pretoria.

By means of a file index system, the votes will be endorsed with the constituency wherein the soldier was registered. After the count is taken, electoral officers in constituencies will be instructed by telegraph to add so many votes to those given for various party candidates in their constituencies.

Opposition groups have not yet managed to arrange a unifying group program as the Africaner party is demanding several Nationalist seats and Oswald Pirow, Nationalist leader, is represented as "not interested in democratic government and the parliamentary system."

The Labor party is claiming six United (Government) Party seats and planning a big offensive against the "Dominionites" entrenched in the Durban area.

Smuts seeks Release From 1939 Pledge

CAPE TOWN (CP)—Prime Minister Jan C. Smuts in the South African parliament recently defended the action of the government in cooperating with the British in the occupation of Madagascar. He made a statement on government policy after opposition members had reminded the House that the government had excluded South African troops from overseas service in 1939.

The Prime Minister stressed the fact that Madagascar constituted a direct threat to the Union because of the nearness of Japanese activities. He then introduced a motion to release the government from th 1939 restriction, thus enabling the South African troops to volunteer for service overseas. The adoption of the motion would mean that troops could move into neighboring theatres of action after the North African campaign had been concluded.

Empire Aids for Russ Go Long Way

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Remarkable figures showing the extent of the help of Britain and the Empire in supplying Russia with essential requirements were given by an official of the United Kingdom Commercial Corporation, a trading organization backed by the British Government.

Non-military supplies placed through the Corporation already exceed £50,000,000 ($225,000,000) in value and represent hundreds of thousands of tons of merchandise of all kinds.

The spokesman explained that within a fortnight of Germany's invasion of Russia the corporation had become purchasing agent for Soviet orders placed through this country all over the world.

The list of goods supplied ranges from the smallest of tools to large, mobile, self-appointed electric power generating units to replace those destroyed in areas devastated by the Germans or to supplement existing plants, raw materials from aluminum to zinc, and foodstuffs such as wheat or tea. Vast quantities of rubber and some 26,000 tons of tin have been dispatched, and consignments are still going forward.

"Rubber is now being shipped in thousands of tons from Ceylon," the official said. "Cornwall is quest for industrial diamonds for nages, and to meet an urgent request for indutsrial diamonds for Soviet war factories the Corporation sent supplies by air to Moscow.

"The Corporation draws on the varied resources of the Empire and other territories of the Sterling area to meet Russian requirements. Wool is obtained from Australia, New Zealand, Syria, Iraq and Persia, metals like copper and zinc, ferro-chromo and ferro-silicon from Canada, hospital tents and canvas from Paletsine, mohair and tanning materials from Turkey, sisal and coffee from East Africa, and tea and rubber from Ceylon."

India, where the Corporation has set up branch offices, is a major source for the supply of large numbers of goods for Russia. Jute, ground-nuts, tea, hides, shellac and tobacco are among the commodities now being supplied from India, together with a variety of manufactures ranging from cotton yarn to fire hose. One recent order alone was for 11,000,000 gunny sacks, and was for 11,000,000 gunny sacks, and tons.

Floating Mine Blast Kills 20

DUBLIN, May 11 (CP Cable)—Twenty men are known to have been killed by the explosion of a mine which floated in from the Atlantic at Ballymanus, small Eire seaside village in County Donegal.

Five were injured and two are missing.

Some men were blown into the sea and others were so badly shattered that identification was difficult.

A large crowd had gathered near the mine and several men were trying to loosen nuts of the explosive with monkey wrenches. Others were prodding it with sticks. The explosion shattered windows in village houses and was heard for 50 miles.

Rommel Has Been in Germany Since March 11

LONDON, May 11 (CP)—Marshal Erwin Rommel, Axis Africa Corps Commander, has been in Germany since March 11 and will receive "a new task after complete recovery" of his health, the German High Command said tonight in a statement broadcast from Berlin.

The statement, heard by Reuters, said that Rommel was in Germany when the British 8th Army cracked the Axis lines of his Africa Corps in Egypt at El Alamein, to begin its unprecedented 2000-mile advance across North Africa.

"His long stay in Africa had such a serious effect on his health that medical treatment could not longer be avoided," the High Command statement said. "When the first news of the British attack at El Alamein arrived, the Field Marshal, against the urgent advice of his doctors interrupted his treatment which had hardly begun and returned at once.

"On March 11, Field Marshal Rommel reported at the Fuehrer's headquarters and received from Hitler in recognition of his unique merit for service in two years of campaigning in North Africa, the oak leaves with swords and diamonds to the Knight's Cross of the Iron Cross.

X-Ray of Chests Great Help in Diagnosing T. B.

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

In conversation the other day with a group of doctors we got on the subject of foreign bodies—a fascinating topic which does not take up much space in the textbooks of medicine and surgery.

One fellow told about a patient who heard ringing noises which turned out to be a bug in the ear. Another said he had a patient who had a foreign body in the windpipe for 24 years without its being discovered.

I said, "Wait a minute. That isn't so remarkable. Foreign bodies are not easily discovered except by the X-ray, and X-ray of the chest did not come into general use until somewhere about 1917.

"The patient inhaled the foreign body about 1904. Everybody muffed it by physical diagnosis until the X-ray came along."

MANY CASES MISSED

I remember the date 1917 very vividly because when I got to an Army hospital in World War I, there was no X-ray machine capable of taking a picture of the chest or of the stomach. The only one we had would show fractures and dislocations of bones and that was about all.

In that day examinations of draftees—in order to eliminate tuberculosis—were done entirely by percussion and stethescope. The consequence was that about 60 per cent of the cases were missed.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mrs. F. R.:—What is the significance of low blood sugar? Is it a chronic condition and will it cause extreme fatigue and unsteadiness in walking? Can it be cured?

Answer: This is a very interesting question. Sugar in the blood is the energizer of the system. As activities increase, especially muscular activities, the reserve of sugar in the body tends to become depleted. Since the amount of sugar in the blood is a very delicate indicator of the amount of sugar in the body, under these circumstances the blood sugar will be low. It certainly brings on a feeling of fatigue and many people who must be active throughout the entire day find that a pick-me-up of a sugar drink, such as orange juice, for example, is beneficial in relieving fatigue. The reason, of course, is that it raises the blood sugar.

Would Give Women Voice at Peace Conference

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, (CP)—Senator Carine Wilson says that if she has her way the women of the world will have a voice at the peace conference after the war ends.

"Woman are more ready to make adjustments to new situations than men," she told a Canadian Press reporter. "I don't mean that they would sacrifice their principles for the sake of peace. But I think they are more anxious that peace will be lasting. They hate war more than men do. And they take the stamping-out of war more seriously."

Mrs. Wilson thinks that the wives, mothers and sweethearts of the men serving on the world battlefronts would be canny negotiators of a peace.

"They're the ones who really know what war is," she said, and her eyes strayed to the picture of two boys in uniform over her desk. On her desk was a parcel she had been packing to go overseas.

One son, Angus, is in Britain with the Signal Corps. Another, Bob, is a sergeant-observer with the R.C.A.F. Her daughter Anna is a lance-corporal in the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

FOR STUDY GROUPS

Senator Wilson said she was well aware that the average housewife may have some definite ideas on the subject of peace-making and peace-keeping but that she'd be likely to be bogged down in the swamp of international relations.

"That's why we have to educate the women of Canada and all the United Nations," she continued. "Naturally, most of us don't know much about international government. But we can learn. We can study and we can think. That's what we should be doing now while the war is on, then when it's over we'll be able to voice an intelligent opinion about the peace." Mrs. Wilson said she would like to see all women attending study groups.

The vivacious, youthful-looking Senator is proof that women can go into politics without losing any charm or graciousness. She retains the sparkle that made Cairine Reay Mackay the belle of many a ball. It's the same sparkle that caught the eye of Norman Wilson at a state ball at Government House when Lord Grey was Governor-General. They met in a quadrille. "The Lancers, I think it was," said Mrs. Wilson relectively.

It wasn't very long beore they were married and whirling about Europe in a gay honeymoon. That was 1909. "Europe was wonderful then, happy and comfortable. What a tragedy it couldn't have stayed that way," the Senator recalled. They came back to Ottawa to live at Rockland, where Mr. Wilson's business war.

In the next 20 years they had eight children. Mr. Wilson sat in the House of Commons and they moved to "Manor House" in Rockcliffe where they now live. During the First Great War the young mother found time for an enormous amount of Red Cross work. In 1921 she decided to step into public life herself. She started by becoming President of the Eastern Ontario Women's Liberal Association.

Politics were no novelty to her. She had been groomed for this life since she was a little girl. Her father was Senator Robert Mackay and she heard national affairs discussed aplenty at home. At Misses Symmers and Smith's School — "sounds very old world doesn't it," —and later at Trafalgar Institute history was her favorite subject.

Exercise . . .

Give Your Figure a Spring Tonic

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Here it is May and suddenly you are bent on getting your figure out of the doldrums. You are asking for sure-fire exercises to trim the waistline, flatten the midriff and slim inches off the hips—in a hurry. Furthermore you want to know just how long it will take to fix your figure!

All right, here's a promise—with fifteen minutes of calesthenics every day, you can slim a good half inch off your waist in a week, and take a half inch off the hips in two weeks and tone the muscles of the abdominal girdle.

But the fact that exercise will give you a beautiful figure isn't as important today as the fitness part of it. You will feel so fit!

But a word of warning—start easily. You need five days to break into exercise. Begin with five minutes of easy calesthenics, and gradually work up to fifteen to twenty minutes of vigorous exercise.

The exact movements that will pare inches off the waistline are upward stretching, waist twisting and side bending. With any of these movements the twist and bend must be centered smack at the waistline, otherwise it's waste motion as far as slimming goes. It's a good plan to anchor the hips as you twist and bend, as in this exercise:

Position: Sitting on floor, legs stretched wide apart, arms out at sides shoulder level. Stretch slim through the middle, keep shoulders relaxed.

Movement: Twist sharply at the waist and touch fingers of right hand to outstretched left toes. Six times as a starter if you are on fairly friendly terms with exercise, three times if you are rusty. Later work up to 12 counts, then 25, and finally 50.

After you have limbered up your waist muscles, progress by stretching both arms overhead, hands clasped. Now, pulling slim through the middle of the figure, bend acutely sidewards and touch both hands to outstretched toes. That really pulls you out!

The jackrabbit is not a rabbit but a hare.

Program to Start Proper Eating Habits for Child

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

Here are some suggestions which might help the mother prevent some eating problems in her child and correct some such problems after they have developed.

It is always well to consult your doctor.

The mother who is calm and can control her own emotions will have the best results in helping her child enjoy food.

When you begin presenting solid foods to the baby, present one food at a time and a very small amount of it. Remove the food the moment he turns his head or closes his mouth against it.

Show no concern over the child's eating. Always let the child choose —between what you offer him and nothing.

LEARNING TO TOLERATE FOODS

As soon as your child can feed himself with his bare hands, let him do so. There is nothing like self-feeding to cultivate an appetite. When the child feeds himself he takes no more than he wants. He never pushes food into himself when he doesn't want it. Don't worry about the mess; just protect him and the floor.

Expect your child over five or six to eat some of every food served the family, provided all the adults of the family do likewise. Let him serve himself as little of any food as he likes or tell you how much he wants.

Some mothers would do well to refuse any food at all to the child who has been a serious eating problem, for two or three meals.

In case you use any sort of starving method, be sure to stick by your plans and not weaken. Should the youngster, after holding out for two or more successive meals, develop nausea, consult your doctor.

SOLVING PARENT PROBLEMS

Q. What about the child from five to 12 who eats too fast and hurries off to play?

A. Say nothing about his eating fast. Tell him before he begins the meal that he may not leave the table till the end of 20 minutes or till the last person at the table has finished. If he must sit doing nothing he will figure out that he might as well use most of the time eating.

I. O. D. E. Applies for Adoption of Ship Kokanee; Mrs. A. McCulloch Welcomed Back

Kokanee Chapter I.O.D.E. is making application to "adopt" the ship Kokanee in a new undertaking recently introduced in I.O.D.E. work. Members endorsed the application at the Chapter's monthly meeting Tuesday. The City of Nelson was the sponsor for this name, which is to be conferred on a Canadian warship.

If the adoption is accepted, the Chapter will then contact the Commanding Officer of the ship, and supplies needed on the ship will be donated by the fostering Chapter, and letters will be exchanged regularly between the I.O.D.E. here and the Kokanee.

Mrs. E. C. Wragge, War Work Convener, in giving her report, strongly urged members to respond to the appeals for more knitting and sewing. She said that the work done by members in the Chapter had fallen off badly.

Mrs. John Cartmel, Regent, welcomed back Mrs. A. McCulloch, a charter member and former regent of Kokanee Chapter, who has been absent for two and a half years. "My heart has always been in Nelson, and I'm so glad to be back" Mrs. McCulloch said.

Mrs. Leo S. Gansner, Welfare Work Convener, reported that 18 children at the Central School, and 14 at the Hume School were receiving milk, as well as five families.

NEW SALVAGE STORAGE

Mrs. C. Kelman reporting for the Salvage Committee said that a new building, the former warehouse of the Wood-Vallance Company, had been secured for storing salvage.

Mrs. Cartmel, the Chapter's Representative at the annual Provincial meeting of I.O.D.E. held last month at Vancouver, gave her report of the sessions. She also announced that no representative could attend the National Annual Meeting at Edmonton in May, and that Mrs. R. J. Sprott, Provincial President, would act as Nelson delegate.

Mrs. Cartmel stated the I.O.D.E. Church Parade would be held in Nelson May 30.

Mrs. G. S. McIntosh, Treasurer, gave her report, and Mrs. Louis Choquette, Secretary, read minutes. Mrs. Choquette also reported that Mrs. Cartmel had been elected Sixth Vice-President of the Provincial Chapter.

COMMITTEE ON TAG

The committee appointed for the Rose Tag Day, scheduled for June 5, consists of Mrs. H. E. Thain, Convener, Mrs. C. Kelman, Mrs. S. S. Simpson, Mrs. W. J. Waters, Mrs. Harry Burns, Mrs. R. Thompson, Mrs. A. McCulloch, Mrs. C. B. Stark and Mrs. C. V. Gagnon.

Mrs. Roy Pollard and Mrs. L. W. Sells were welcomed into the Chapter as new members.

A committee of five was also appointed to clear out old wool in the I.O.D.E. wool rooms, to be shipped to the Coast for blankets. The ladies are Mrs. H. E. Thain, Mrs. L. E. Hamson, Mrs. W. Fehner, Mrs. M. J. Vigneux, and Mrs. Cartmel.

The Tea Committee was composed of Mrs. Thain, Mrs. S. Hannah, Mrs. F. T. Griffiths, Mrs. D. G. Chamberlain, Mrs. C. V. Gagnon, Mrs. W. R. Grubbe, Mrs. W. A. Gordon, Mrs A. S. Creech, Mrs. L. G. Bartlett, Mrs. T. H. Glover and Mrs. Roy Hood.

The Regent, Mrs. Cartmel, presided.

Would Like to Learn to Dance at Home

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I've always wanted to learn to dance, but my folks won't allow me me to attend the parties given by my friends, where they usually dance. Mother thinks I am too young, and I'm almost 16.

Is there a book published on new dance steps, or something of the sort which will help me to teach myself how to dance?

J. D. S.

There are several very good manuals on dancing. Go to the public library or bookshops and ask for the latest. New editions are published regularly with the latest steps.

Aleutian Activities Have a Meaning

Intensified bombing of Japanese bases in the Aleutians—the latest is of Attu—is showing how unreliable was the impression deliberately created that the invasion of these islands was a matter of little moment. There was an obvious attempt to deride this movement of enemy troops into American territory as something of little benefit to the Japs and of almost no danger to us.

If any such thought is actually in the official mind, then a great many bombs are being wasted, particularly over Kiska. It would be the better strategy simply to let the Nipponese invaders sit in the bleak islands unmolested, taking some little satisfaction, perhaps, from the fact that they are removed from battle zones where they might be doing us real harm.

It is ridiculous, of course, to think that there is no strategic significance to the Aleutians situation. The Japanese are there for a purpose, and that purpose is not merely to hold a few barren bits of land. Undoubtedly, those bases are intended as springboards for an invasion of the American mainland, and it can be taken as a settled fact that the Japs have definite plans for such an assault. It is just as obvious that those directing the defence are fully aware of the menace.

The stepped-up raids show that there is real fear of what may happen in the Alaskan sector. Photographs that have been published show the reason for that fear. Kiska is no mere primitive outpost. It has been transformed, in recent months, into a strong base, showing all the signs of permanency. It is one of our major battle areas, and there is every justification to demand that, now that a highway is open for Allied supplies and equipment, sufficient strength be thrown against the invaders to drive them out in the shortest possible time.

No Cat-Gut Shortage

Musicians in Canada and the United States need have no fear of a shortage of strings for musical instruments. Prior to the war of 1914-18, strings for musical instruments were imported from Germany and Italy, particularly from the latter country, but since that time North America has manufactured sufficient to take care of her own needs. This has been brought about by the great advance in the processing of animal by-products produced in plants under Government inspection. In Canada, the inspection of meats, of meat by-products and of other by-products to be used in manufacture, is carried out by the Health of Animals Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Although the main by-product of sheep and lambs is the pelts used for bookbindings, gloves, purses, and numerous other articles, the small intestine is valuable. A percentage of the intestines go into the manufacture of sutures, violin strings, and other stringed instruments, while the bulk of the casings forms ideals containers for best quality sausage.

The by-products of swine are varied and important. The bristles on the back are used in the manufacture of brushes. The small intestines are valuable as containers for sausages but not so useful as lamb's casings, because the pig's intestines make a wider and larger sausage which is not so acceptable to the trade. The pyloric portion of the pig's stomach is stripped and used as a source of pepsin. As in the case of cattle, the glands are saved for medicinal purposes. The skin of the pig makes gelatin; the feet are cured and put up in casks with bay leaves, and pig tails find a ready market as food in the British West Indies.

DESIRES

"Our nature is inseparable from desires, and the very word desire—the craving for something not possessed — implies that our present felicity is not complete". — Thomas Hobbes.

"There is nothing capricious in nature; and the implanting of a desire indicates that its gratification is in the constitution of the creature that feels it."—Emerson.

"A wise man will desire no more than he may get justly, use soberly, distribute cheerfully, and leave contentedly."—Richard E. Burton.

"Happiness consists in the attainment of our desires, and in having only right desires." —Augustine.

"Desire is prayer; and no loss can occur from trusting God with our desires, that they may be moulded and exalted before they take form in words and in deeds."—Mary Baker Eddy.

Meat Ration Is Ample if Other Foods Eke Out

Vancouver—The amount of two pounds of meat per person per week set by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board as the forthcoming ration allotment was decided on after careful study, say Board officers.

There is an Advisory Committee on nutrition, appointed by the Board, which pays particular attention to food values.

Before it was decided to reduce the consumption of meat from an average of 2½ pounds to 2 pounds, this committee made a thorough investigation.

Members of this advisory body are: Dr. E. W. McHenry, School of Hygiene, University of Toronto; Dr. J. Harry Ebbs, Paediatic Research Foundation, Toronto; Dr. L. B. Pett, Director of Nutrition Services, Department of Pensions and National Health, Ottawa; Wing Commander F. F. Tisdall, Professor of Paediatrics, University of Toronto.

This Advisory Committee's report to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board was as follows:

"A ration allowance of two pounds of meat, plus customary and available amounts of milk, eggs, cheese, fish and poultry, gives more protein from animal sources to satisfy nutritional requirements than is required for a person of any occupation."

The committee adds that meat consumption could be cut as low as 1.5 pounds per person per week and still provide sufficient protein for the building and maintenance of body tissue.

The meat allowance in Great Britain is only 15 ounces per person per week.

GIVE THE NEWS

Editor & Publisher has said repeatedly that the American people can stand the truth, no matter how unpleasant. In fact, it took the disasters of Pearl Harbor and the Far East to get us at fighting pitch, and that advantage was partly lost in the next few months when the Government tried to give the newspapers "good headlines" on minor successes and sugarcoat losses. That only repeated the Allied blunder of the last war, when the generals and admirals had to be blown out of their 20-year sleep by Lord Northcliffe's revelation of their bad management in the London Daily Mail.

All governments have learned since 1916 how to keep bad news out of print—but that hasn't help our side toward victory. We are still taking only the first steps toward that goal, and we'll have to take many more than we should unless our leaders awake to the fact that their treatment of news for the United Nations has too often been amateurish and undemocratic.

Give us the news—and we'll turn out the men, the planes, the guns, and the ships, and all that that implies. Sit on the news, protect incompetents and political jugglers, and the day of victory will be expensively deferred. —Editor and Publisher.

WHAT IS ALTERNATIVE?

Mr. R. R. Stokes thought fit in the House of Commons recently to protest "in the name of humanity" against our "merciless destruction of women and children". He said he was "sick with nausea" at the news of the devastation wrought upon Nuremberg. Forgive us, Mr. Stokes, but you are not in fact striking a very noble attitude. You contribute nothing to our counsels by being sick. What alternative do you propose?—London Daily Herald.

FREEDOM TO GROW

Motley or mountebank, bond or free,
Are we bound by our pride, or servility?
Jailbird and Judge, banker and bum—
Those growing wheat, and those chewing gum.

Millionaires, paupers, burglars and coppers—
Strong men who do things, and others mere hopers,
Sailors to new lands, brave pioneers—
Anti-progressives held fast by their fears.

Students; and know-it-all egos who spurn
New ways or knowledge—they've nothing to to learn:
Jungle men hillmen, each with a view
Of what other humans should be, and should do.

And all of the others whom we haven't mentioned,
With minds each biased, and fully intentioned
To have their own way with their own dog's bone
With scanty pity for those with none.

Each peculiar, in whims and sin—
Yet all are brothers, beneath the skin.
Each, in their sanest, truest mood,
Seek the freedom of human brotherhood.

Each mortal, heir to freedom of will—
Must decide, which way—the good or ill.
Each one may be a brother's keeper—
A sturdy oak—or an evil creeper.

No mortal ruler may so dictate,
The unit must grow to improve the state.
Dictators may rise, and dictators will fall—
The state must service the will of all.
And only God's love and law may lead,
To a brotherhood state, all such motley bread.

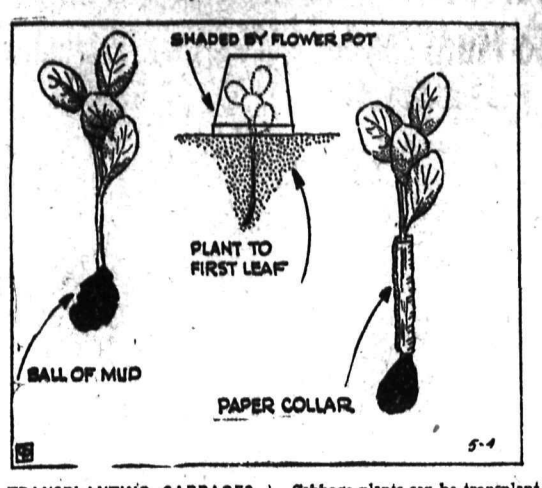
Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

By DEAN HALLIDAY



TRANSPLANTING CABBAGES INTO THE VICTORY GARDEN

Victory Garden beginners are apt to assume that cabbage plants are tough and therefore give them little consideration and care. This, of course, is a mistake, for care in transplanting cabbage plants is needed. If given proper care in transplanting the plants will respond to it and will not wilt down before their roots have taken hold. When properly protected the cabbage plants are better able to withstand insect enemies and disease.

If the young plants are to be lifted from a flat for transplanting it is best to water the plants for a short time before handling them so that the soil will be moist enough to cling to their roots in a ball, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

Cabbage plants can be transplanted with safety even during dry weather if they are set deep in the soil, that is, with the soil coming up to the first leaf, as illustrated. Make the hole deep enough to permit the roots of the plant to be placed straight down without crowding them. Firm the soil against the length of both roots and stem to prevent the formation of air pockets. Water the plants thoroughly and protect them from the sun for a day or two by covering with flower pots, berry boxes or newspapers.

The plants can also be protected against the attacks of cutworms by wrapping a four-inch collar of paper around the stem of each plant when transplanting it, as illustrated. Allow the paper collar to extend about one and one-half or two inches above the soil level about the plants.

What work can a girl do when she has very little education?—G. H. J.

First let me say no one in Canada needs to excuse herself on the grounds that she has very little education. This is one country where you can learn anything you want at practically no cost. If one must work during the day, there are night schools, regardless of age or position in life. There are always types of work which can be had by those of little schooling—but to a great extent your success in life has a definite ration to your education. Many girls who have gone into domestic service have not needed much more than native grace and a heap of common sense, and have graduated into positions as hostesses at hotels, caterers, directors of ceremonies and so on. But there has always been a progressive amount of study on the side! To be "in service" as it is often called, is one of the finest ways to grow in poise, in smooth charm, and into the hearts of those in better circumstances who may delight to put you through a formal education. Other work, such as beauty shop operator, milliner, retail clerk, where no specific learning is required, offers a way out, also.

Approve Silver Price at 71.11 Cents

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—With four members from Silver States concurring, the United States Senate Banking Committee approved unanimously today a bill authorizing the sale of treasury-held silver for domestic purposes at 71.11 cents an ounce.

The committee's action represented a compromise between view of the so-called silver bloc and New England Senators who have sought release of treasury silver at 50 cents an ounce for manufacturing purposes. The bill will be reported to the Senate tomorrow.

"Hitch Hiker's" Husband Missing

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP) — Sgt. Gordon Darling whose wife, Marion, broke all world's records hitch-hiking in order to be near him, has been reported missing overseas.

Mrs. Darling, a member of the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F. stowed away in a Trans-Atlantic bomber and thus got to England, where her husband was serving.

The incident received widespread publicity at the time. It was strictly contrary to rules but whatever disciplinary action the Air Force Authorities took they did not send the hitch-hiking airwoman home.

Confirmation of the fact that Sgt. Darling is the husband of the hitch-hiking airwoman was obtained today at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Darling, in Ottawa.

Pays Tribute to Teamwork in Alaskan Raids

EDMONTON, May 11 (CP)—Col. Dale V. Gaffney, new Officer Commanding the Alaskan wing of the United States Army Air Force, in an interview today paid tribute to the teamwork of the R.C.A.F. and the U.S.A.A.F., in Alaska and the Aleutians and promised that the Japanese in the North Pacific would be "properly dealt with".

He emphasized however the extremely difficult job of flying in the North Pacific where fog and other adverse weather conditions continually harass the flyers.

Gov't to Protect B. C. Fishing

VICTORIA, May 11 (CP)— Premier Hart today took steps for the safeguarding of British Columbia's fishing industry in connection with any proposals for the development of hydro power in this Province when he instructed the water rights branch of the Provincial Service to take every precaution to assure free access of fish from the sea to the spawning grounds, before permitting any future hydro-electric developments, improvements or repairs to be undertaken.

At all times the salmon must be provided with fish ladders or other mode of access to the spawning grouds, and, similarly egress must be provided for the fingerlings the Premier ordered.

Rossland Housewives League Sets Several Probes In Motion; Want Dry Goods; Attack Bread Prices

ROSSLAND, B. C., May 10 — At the monthly meeting of the Housewives' League Friday evening, letters of congratulation upon forming a league in Rossland were read from the Kimberley branch, and from S. E. Welliver of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Trail. Mr. Welliver's offer to address a League meeting was accepted.

Mrs. T. Swift, Treasurer, reported the sum of $3.15 on hand.

30 CHARTER MEMBERS

Mrs. W. C. Brooks, Secretary, reported that last week in Vancouver she had met the Consumer Branch Manager and had been appointed liaison officer to distribute the Consumers' News to the local Housewives' League members. This publication is issued by the Consumer Branch of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board at Ottawa.

The Research Committee, of which Mrs. William Darby is Convener, reported that the price ceiling list, as compiled by the Labor Gazette, as applied to Trail was complete. It was decided to make copies for each member.

RESEARCH COMMITTEE TO CHECK

It was recommended that reports of price ceiling infractions be given to the Research Committee which could make further investigations before turning in complaints to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Members of the Research Committee are Mrs. William Cunningham, Mrs. P. G. Palmer, Mrs. D. E. Smith, Mrs. A. F. Snowball, Mrs. H. M. Willett, Mrs. Trygve Nora, and Mrs. R. E. Irwin.

Mrs. Tom Swift was elected President for the balance of the year, Mrs. William Pollock having acted as temporary President. Mrs. Snowball was elected Treasurer to fill Mrs. Swift's vacancy.

Mrs. R. W. Haggen was appointed Chairman of the Program Committee, with Mrs. W. G. Mara and Mrs. A. F. G. Drake completing the Committee.

The League decided to appeal to the Retail Merchants' Association asking that larger families be given consideration where food shortages exist, rather than continue the present method used in local stores, of a limit of one can per family whether the family consists of one person or 10.

A protest against the high price of bread in Rossland is to be sent to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, pointing out that bread was raised from 8 cents to 9 cents per loaf to cover cost of house to house delivery. This service having ceased some time ago, it is felt that the cent should be dropped. It was also mentioned that bread is sold in Vancouver for 5 cents and cents per loaf.

A motion was passed that the League, apply on behalf of the only dry goods store in Rossland for a better supply of dry goods, mainly flannelette and print, pointing out the increase in population during the past year, and the necessity of having these materials.

PROBES TO BE STARTED

The Research Committee was asked to investigate the high price of oranges in Rossland; also the poor quality and higher prices of men's underwear being sold in a local store; also to investigate the reason for Ontario and Quebec tinned goods being sold in place of the usual B.C. products. The Research Committee was also asked to investigate the reason for apparent discrimination against Rossland merchants, it being pointed out that supplies of foods available to Nelson, Trail, and other cities are not on the local shelves.

It was decided to subscribe to a few inexpensive papers and ask for free literature from the American and Dominion Departments of Agriculture. When funds are available a subscription will be taken for the New York Consumers' Research paper, along with its weekly bulletin," the material contained in this publication to be used as program matter for the regular meetings.

Water Suggests City Purchase of Lots Should Be Put to the People

Suggestion of Ald. T. H. Waters that "it has been proposed to me that we would submit a bylaw to the people" for the purchase of the former Nelson Sash & Door Company Ltd. lots and fire-damaged building, Front Street, produced heated argument at Monday night's City Council meeting. No action was taken.

Ald. Ross Fleming declared "I don't think that is particularly necessary." Mayor N. C. Stibbs, who made the deal for the City at a price of $4500, explained it called for the City to pay $2000 for two lots on which the building stood, and to hold an option on the others until tax money came in, when the purchase could be completed.

The building contained a vault which could be put to valuable service storing city maps and records at present unprotected from fire, Alderman Fleming argued. Mayor Stibbs expressed a similar view.

"DECIDED FEELING AGAINST"

That the purchase should be put to the people was a "new departure", said Ald. George Turner.

"In view of the things I hear repeatedly, I am sure there is decided feeling against that piece of business." To submit the decision to ratepayers would be "a reasonable thing to do," he said. "I don't think we should spend the money if the people are opposed to it, and if they are opposed to it, we should give them the opportunity to say so. After all, this is still a democratic country," he asserted.

Mayor Stibbs stated he had given a great deal of consideration to the value the Sash & Door lots would have for the city. The vault would be invaluable to store records which if they were lost, could not be replaced. He felt the site would be ideal for a city carbarn, and added that a slight accident recently almost caused one of the street cars to crash through the end of the present barn. If it had gone through and had dropped to the ground the damage would have been much greater than the cost of the lots.

MONEY FROM OTHER LOTS

One of the reasons behind the sale of two lots on the opposite end of the block to the Government, for $1200, was to purchase the Sash & Door lots, he said.

"Surely you are not suggesting we should build a carbarn and warehouse there immediately," said Alderman Turner.

"No, but we should consider building at the first opportunity," His Worship replied. It would be necessary to reroof the building and clean it up, he told Alderman Turner.

Alderman Waters, declaring he did not "intend to be choked off", suggested a vault could be built at the City Hall with the capacity of that at the Sash & Door building. He felt that if the city was considering a carbarn and warehouse within three or four years it should be built on Vernon Street, where the city already had lots, using as foundation in part the wall that would be necessary to hold up the street.

Mayor Stibbs asserted the site was not comparable and Alderman Fleming expressed opposition to "anything built on stilts". Alderman Waters countered that such a building would not be on stilts, but on solid foundation.

Nazi Barges Completely Smashed as They Attempt to Flee Bizerte

By HAROLD V. BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE U. S. ARMY IN TUNISIA, May 10 (Delayed) (AP).—Nazi barges pulling out of a harbor in the Bizerte area were utterly smashed today by artillery and tanks of an armored column.

There was no time to call for an air bombing mission when the armored column commander reported the meagre evacuation attempt by the trapped Germans.

"Sink them," was the crytic order that came back from headquarters. A barrage was laid down and a few minutes later, headquarters got this laconic reply by radio:

"Mission accomplished."

The Germans tried several such efforts to flee.

The mountain slopes, the wheat and barley fields of this region still are littered with burned tanks, scout cars, kitchen trucks, motorcycles and command cars — relics of a ruined army.

Most destruction of German military equipment was wrought before terms of surrender went into effect forbidding further sabotage. Soldiers commented that few Nazis surrendered with usable supplies or stores. Even medical instruments and drugs were being sacrificed to flames.

Allied engineers, touring the great Mediterranean seaport of Bizerte in which suicidal snipers and machine-gunners fighting a delaying action had been ruthlessly destroyed in street fighting by French and American infantry, were stunned into silence by the destruction along the waterfront by months of concentrated Allied bombing.

"It looks like the World Fair site a year after the fair was over," one observer said.

As the listing of prisoners continued, it was disclosed that at least six German generals had been bagged. These were:

Lt. Gen. Karl Bulovois, Commander of the Mannteufel Division; Major Gen. von Vaerst, infantry general and leader of the Fifth Panzer Army, who was the highest ranking prisoner; Major Gen. Curt Bassenge, commander of the air force in the Bizerte area; Major Gen. Fritz Krause, artillery commander; Major Gen. George Heuffer, who bossed the Nazi anti-aircraft units which could not stop the Allied air assault.

Connie's Son To Be Next A's Manager

By JACK SMITH
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, May 11 (AP)—Connie Mack confirmed today that his second son and heir apparent, former minor leaguer Earle Mack, will succeed him as Manager of Philadelphia Atnletics "when I retire"—if ever.

The 80-year-old baseball dean, who never before had commented publicly on expectations that his assistant manager would inherit his job, told reporters:—

"Earle is going to be the next manager of the Athletics, if they ever have one, and he'll probably do a better job than his dad."

His comment, he said, does not mean that he is thinking of stepping down

Earle, 51, learned the game at Connie's knee and has been his father's understudy since 1924, when he joined the A's as Assistant Manager for 14 years as a player and manager in the Three-I and Blue Ridge Leagues and the old Carolina Association.

While managing in the minors he won four pennants and discovered and sent to his dad—such stars as Perkins, Fred Heimach and Jimmy Dykes. He himself never was popularly considered a great ball player although his father, commenting today, said "he played first base as well as anyone and hit pretty well."

With the A's he has been a coach and non-playing captain and a sort of a liaison man for Connie and the players, taking their complaints and his requests to his father. He has been offered "high-sounding titles," Connie said, "but he's never wanted them."

Swedish Runner on Way to U.S. To Meet Top Men

STOCKHOLM, May 11 (AP) — Bashful Gunder Haegg, Sweden's record-smashing distance runner, has started on the first lap of a journey to the United States to pit his speed and endurance against America's best athletes "at any place and any time."

Nervous about making his first trip abroad the bashful Haegg took a sleeper to Goteborg where he expected to board a tanker tomorrow for the voyage across the Atlantic, which will take about 23 days.

In an interview before he boarded his train, Haegg said:

"I love to run and it has always been my dream to go to the United States. I have never been outside Europe and I am looking forward to competing with America's greatest runners."

The sandy-haired Haegg, who is a village fireman at nearby Gavle, plans to spend a month in the United States.

Golf Play Opens Saturday at Cranbrook

CRANBROOK, B.C.—Next Saturday was chosen as official opening day for the Golf and Country Club here, when the organization had its annual meeting. A program of two-ball foursomes is scheduled with tea in the clubhouse.

Grounds are reported in good shape with greens to be mowed this week.

The club decided to drop all special categories of membership this season, replacing these with a flat $10 a year resident membership, a reduction from last season's $15. Junior half-price membership will be continued, however.

Officers chosen were Mrs. Archie Finley, President, Mrs. V. C. Brown Vice-President, V. C. Brown, Grounds Chairman and Mrs. W. D. Gilroy, House Committee Chairman. Retiring executive members, all businessmen who have been seriously affected by the help shortage, pledged their full support of the club and volunteered every assistance possible in their limited time both in management and in grounds maintenance.

A secretary-treasurer and men's and women's captains will be chosen this week, prior to opening of play and the start of season's competitions.

The financial report for the past season showed a balance of $175 which includes a small sum for overdue fees for last season.

B. C. Soccerites Shine in Overseas Play

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—Soccer, Britain's time-honored sport, is getting quite a play by the Canadian Army these days. It's much more popular now than when the Canadians first landed.

Leading towards the Army championship, quarter-finals have produced a couple of winners so far with the others to be decided shortly.

In one set, the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders, representing a Canadian division, defeated the 13th Canadian Field Dressing Station, representatives of another division 2-1. L.-Sgt. R. W. Delaney of Winnipeg, and Pte. C. L. West of St. James, Man., scored for the Highland men while Pte. J. B. Vancer of Nanaimo, B. C., stood out for the losers.

Seaforth Highlanders entered the semi-final play with a 4-3 decision over the Canadian Scottish Regiment Both teams were divisional champions. The first half of their game was scoreless and in the last half Ptes. D. J. McLean, C. White, and Jim Keith, all of Vancouver, and W. Wharton of Haney, B. C., tallied for the winners. Three athletes from Cumberland, B. C., Sgt. J. Tantrum, L. Cpl. V. Bono and Pte. T. Somerville, counted the losers' scores.

Says Novikoff Talk Just So Much Chatter

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP) — If there has been any stampede among National League clubs to make a trade for Lou Novikoff, the holdout Chicago clouter, then James Gallagher, the General Manager of the Cubs must be a sound sleeper. He says he hasn't heard anybody knocking at his door.

Gallagher, a truculent Irishman and former sports writer who is called "Laughing Jim" by the scribes ,an example of purest writers' wit, is scornful of the whole affair.

"I haven't had an offer for Novikoff since last December," he declared. "Who would give us anything even if they could? Why, the Cubs haven't got a good ball player in a trade since Cuyler and Hornsby —well, maybe Derringer, but he hasn't proved himself yet.

"We're in seventh place, but nobody would help the Cubs. I found out long ago that the only way we can improve our ball club is to build it up ourselves.

"I'm not making this trip looking for trades, and up till now nobody has said anything to me about one."

Manager Jimmy Wilson, the Cubs' pilot, said last night, however, that he had received feelers from New York Giants, Cincinnati Reds and Philadelphia Phillies and would be willing to trade Novikoff, who batted .300 last year, if he could get a righthanded hitting outfielder.

Brooklyn Dodgers also are believed interested in the "Mad Russian." It was they who proposed the deal that Gallagher rejected during the Winter.

Gallagher said all he knew about Wilson's reported offers was what he had read in the papers.

In Long Beach, Calif., today, Novikoff said he would welcome a trade that would send him to some other National League club. "I want to play baseball, but not for the $6000 the Cubs are offering and would welcome a change of scenery," he said.

Youngster Came to See Ball Game, But No Cooperation

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP) — Richard Miller of Pittsburgh, a baseball fan from way back (he's 11) arrived in New York today with four new baseball gloves, two bats, two official league baseballs and $30 in cash. He came to see Brooklyn Dodgers play.

"The Pirates?" he said of his team back home. "Oh, they're all right, but the Bums are the guys for me. Sure, I like Pittsburgh, but give me 'Pee Wee' Reese anytime."

Despite his enthusiasm for Brooklyn, he won't see the Dodgers in action because (1) the Dodgers don't play today and (2) curious New York Central Railroad policemen took him out of an upper berth in a pullman train at Grand Central and took him to a police station.

His odyssey started Sunday night when he boarded a train for Detroit to see the Tigers play. There was no game in Detroit yesterday, so he came to New York.

Between swings of his bats in the police squad room, he said he'd sure be glad to see his mother again.

CHESS SETS STREAMLINED

HALIFAX, (CP)—And now it's vest pocket chess sets.

Yes, the ponderous chess sets have been streamlined by the war, and now the knights and queens and pawns are going to sea in the pockets of merchant seamen.

It is a brand-new idea, originated by the Maple Leaf Club in New York and given impetus by the women who run the Central Magazine Exchange here, this making chess sets small enough to be taken along with the hankerchief.

The board itself is made of cardboard, five inches by five inches, and inside it are the chessmen, little quarter-inch thick circles of cardboard with the different values printed on them. The board and the men can also be used for checkers, and a third game, check mate, is printed on the reverse side and can be played with the same pieces.

The idea started when the central magazine exchange here, branched out from their basic idea of supplying reading material to merchant ships and started to supply other means of recreation.

Their appeal for games was answered by the Maple Leaf Club with the miniature, but very workable chess sets. And merchant seamen have been grabbing them as fast as they arrive, and yelling for more.

MALTA, (CP)—Fo. Cyril Gosling, six-foot R.C.A.F. fighter pilot from North Battleford, Sask., took the leading role recently during a renewal of aerial activity over Malta by shooting down an ME 109 which later was confirmed destroyed.

"One long burst from dead astern was enough to send him into a dive streaming fumes," reported Gosling, member of a crack Malta fighter squadron.

Fo. Bruce Stovel of South Porcupine, Ont., qualified for membership in the Caterpillar Club. He was forced to bail out over the sea, but was quickly rescued.

Wren Cook Gets Empire Laurels

LONDON (CP)—To Buckingham Palace came 46-year-old Hilda Barham, first W.R.N.S. cook to win the British Empire Medal—but something even more than a medal winner. She is the living symbol of British womanhood at war.

She is not only brave but she is womanly—this chief petty officer in the Wrens who received her medal from the King. She won the medal for bravery. Then she gained further honor by submitting a recipe which was judged the best of all those turned into a competition among all the Wren cooks in the country.

In the First Great War she was a Wren cook in the Marine Barracks at Chatham and in October, 1939, left her job as a cook in a private home to go back into the services.

Her award was for outstanding service, bravery and devotion to duty under gunfire and bombing at Dover. Time after time during three years' service in the "Hell-fire corner" town CPO. Wren Bareham organized the serving of hot meals for 200 naval officers and Wrens when bombs had put mains and chimneys out of action.

Her commanding officer wrote to headquarters: "She is an outstanding example of the very best type to be found in the Service."

"She deserves a medal," was the Navy's verdict. So the recommendation went in. It was approved. And probably the cherry-red B.E.M. ribbon was never more faithfully or more truly earned.

Canadian Fliers Locate Drifting Seamen

WITH THE R.C.A.F. SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—Two seamen drifting in an open boat for hours after their vessel had been sunk were located by Fo. Arthur Sager of Vancouver and Po. Al Fleming of Smith Falls, Ont., members of a Spitfire squadron led by Sqdn. Ldr. Fred Green, D.F.C., of Toronto. The Canadiens flew through cloud and driving snow.

Fleming circled over the lifeboats to fix its position, about 12 or 15 miles off shore, and Sager flew off to look for a ship to pick them up. He located a small freighter about eight miles from the lifeboat and had to circle and signal for 15 minutes before those in the vessel understood what he was trying to tell them.

The two fliers saw the distressed seamen picked up just before they reached the limit of their fuel and had to return home.

SHAPE DIAMONDS FROM OWN MINE

CAPE TOWN (CP) — Bidding high for the diamond-cutting trade formerly held largely by Holland, now in the grip of German occupation, South Africa seeks world supremacy in diamond manufacturing, as well as diamond production.

In 1867, a pebble found by a child on a farm on the banks of the Orange River, South Africa, was identified as diamond and in 1869 a diamond found in the same district and weighing 83½ carats, was proclaimed "The Star of South Africa" and was bought by the Earl of Dudley for £25,000 ($119,000). Later on Kimberley, in the Northeastern part of Cape Colony, became South Africa's diamond centre with greatest development of diamond mines in the world.

New agreements between the government of the Union of South Africa and the diamond interests ensures a steady supply of diamonds to the nation's cutting trade via the Diamond Trading Company or Producers' Association. Delivery and sale of industrial diamonds will not be restricted by quotas.

The Diamond Corporation undertakes to purchase through the Producers' Association all industrial diamonds held in stock by members at minimum price while the Diamond Corporation will be free to purchase industrial diamonds from outside the Producers' Association without restriction.

The agreements which are dated Jan. 1 1943, remain operative till the close of hostilities in the Second Great War. Under the arrangement suplies of industrial diamonds are assured to Allied workshops throughout the world.

Navy and Cadet Bands In Spotlight In Business Section Show

Nelson citizens Tuesday afternoon saw one of the finest open air band expositions staged in this City in a long time. The Royal Canadian Navy Band from Esquimalt occupied the spotlight. The Nelson Junior High School Cadet Bugle Band, assisting, had its full share of the crowd's applause.

It was a grand show. As a preliminary to the appearance of the Navy Band the High School Cadets, led by pipers, and the Junior High Cadets led by their own bugle band, paraded to the intersection of Ward and Baker Streets, each taking position. Another street was taken up by Central School pupils, and the fourth by Hume School and St. Joseph's Academy Cadets and pupils. These school groups closed off the streets in four directions, and the public lined the curbs in one of the largest business-section aggregations in Nelson in many years. Traffic was halted.

The Cadet Band, for 15 minutes before the hour set, entertained the crowd. Then as the Junior High group swung into its parade position the music of the Navy Band was heard two blocks away.

MARCH AMID APPLAUSE

Swinging along Baker Street to the Ward Street intersection, the Navy Band was applauded yard by yard. Then it launched its program of marches at the standstill and on the march.

Coming up to position and turning on the march, the Navy Band played C. Teike's "Staunch and True". Then, facing West, it played two marches, Jewell's "Quality-Plus" and King's "The Goldman Band."

One of the highlights of the Band's performance was the slow ceremonial march to the music of "O Canada", "The Maple Leaf Forever" and "Rule Britannia".

Taking an intermission, the Navy Band rested while the Bugle Band went into action again. Directed by Clarence Ward, and led by its smart drum majorettes, the young musicians marched and countermarched, swinging into one formation and then another, while drums and bugles set the pace.

SPOTLIGHT AGAIN

Then the Navy Band took the spotlight again, first with the popular and well known "Colonel Bogey" march by Alford. Familiar and stirring were the strains of the next march, the "Ship Ahoy" medley, played on the move and including "Lads in Navy Blue", "All the Nice Girls Love a Sailor", and "Sons of the Sea".

"New Colonial", by Hall, was the tune selected by the Navy Band when it marched off.

Even when the visiting band had left, the crowd held its places along the curbs to watch the High School and Junior High School Cadets march away.

Lieut. H. G. Cuthbert paid warm tribute to the Cadet Bugle Band. The young players were "very smart," he said, and showed that they had trained with enthusiasm nd to good effect.

"We enjoyed hearing them and watching them," he said.

Chatter From Air Mess Rooms

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE R. C. A. F. SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—This story that the boys tell in the messes could be a sob story but it isn't—not the way they tell it. It is about the last flight of Flt. Lt. Richard Hope Hillary, Battle of Britain hero and author of "The Last Enemy" who was killed in action.

The boys tell it simply, this yarn about old comrades of Hillary going out on another sortie over the Channel. But they didn't go out to meet the enemy. They flew to scatter Hillary's ashes into the sea where more than two years ago he was shot down in the early stages of the Battle of Britain. At the same time in the old church of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, itself a target for German bombs, Londoners gathered to pay last tribute to "one of the few" who saved Britain in the dark days of August and September, 1940.

A Canadian was on hand when the King and Queen saw the new Typhoon fighter for the first time at a station in East Anglia. He was Sgt. E. A. McGee of Wallaceburg, Ont., one of four pilots who put on a take-off show for their Majesties.

Here's one for Lord Woolton, Britain's Food Minister . . . His son—Ac. 2, The Hon. Roger David Marquis—a member of the R.A.F., is known to his friends in the Service as "Rations."

When one of these 1000-pound bombs whooshes down on a target the "splash" is terrific. Ask Flt. Sgt. Kennedy of Toronto and his Navigator J. W. (Daisy) May of Vancouver. They dropped two of the big felows and two 500-pounders and then fired 2000 rounds from their machine guns from 500 feet over a German town and when the delayed action bombs went off debris was thrown more than 1,000 feet in the air.

Air Raids Follow Former Reporter

WITH THE RCAF SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—They're calling Po. Dick Sanburn, former Winnipeg Tribune reporter, "Air Raid" Sanburn now.

Sanburn, an R.C.A.F. public relations officer, hasn't been overseas long, but his name is fast becoming known throughout the air force. The day after he reached London the capital had its first two alerts in months. Two days later there was a daylight raid.

Sanburn left town and everything was quiet in London. Not so where he went. On his second night there the sirens sounded. Ten days later he was in another city. Two hours after his arrival there was a warning.

Back he came to London. Hardly was he out of bed in the morning when there was a warning. When he reported for duty, a brother officer remarked: "We might've known you were back."

Mica Discovered in Australia

MELBOURNE (CP)—An important discovery of pholgopite mica, believed to be of considerable size, is being developed in Central Australia.

Pholgopite mica is brownish-red, is used in the manufacture of airplane spark plugs, and is regarded as an important strategic mineral. It has a very high heat resistance. The world's other important mica deposits are in Canada and Madagascar.

The Australian deposit was discovered about six months ago by G. A. Johansson, who has been in Central Australia many years. He thought it was ordinary muscovite mica, but when specimens were analysed, the Department of Supply decided on large-scale development and sent up workers under J Peart, a mining engineer, who had been working in Burma until the Japanese occupation.

Books for Servicemen Still Badly Needed

An urgent appeal for more books for the servicemen's libraries was voiced Tuesday by Mrs. John Cartmel, Regent of Kokanee Chapter I.O.D.E., at the monthly meeting

"Sailors especially are asking for more books," Mrs. Cartmel said "Many books have been lost at sea and the ships' libraries need continual replenishing. If everyone would donate even one book towards this campaign we would be able to send a good shipment. There surely must be many books in Nelson homes lying idle, or stored away in attics."

The ladies agreed that they would each ask a neighbor or a member absent from the meeting, to donate books for the boys

Mrs. H. Burns offered space in the office of Burns Lumber and Coal Company for the collection of books.

BIG THEFT "POLITICAL ROBBERY"

CAPETOWN, (CP)—What is described as "political robbery" by an anti-war organization was the holdup and theft of £12,000 ($54,000) by armed men in military uniforms at Johannesburg station. Two railway clerks were forced to surrender the money.

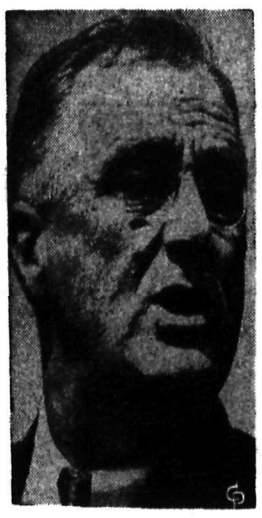
Britain's Young Warriors Toughen for Invasion

Swinging from one building to another may look easy, but a bad landing may mean a broken leg for these young soldiers. By this method they swing right into the room of the opposite building. In the lower picture the soldier in training is leaping from the top storey window of a house.



WAR LEADERS AGAIN CONFER IN U. S.

Prime Minister Churchill, top, has again arrived in Washington for war plan discussions with President Roosevelt, at bottom. His sudden visit led observers to believe that he had come for a final checkup of plans for opening a new front on the European continent.

Contract... By Shepard Barclay

NEW LAWS ARE CLEARER

MUCH GREATER clarity and definiteness have been provided in the new Laws of Contract Bridge on the question of condoning an "improper call" of any kind during the auction. Such a call is deemed to be condoned under any of the following circumstances:

1. If the opponent to the left of the offender announces he is condoning it, before he makes a call himself.

2. If the opponent to the left calls, either deliberately or inadvertently, before all questions in regard to rectification and penalty enforcement, normally settled before he calls, have been determined.

3. If the opponent at the right of the offender, who has no legal right to do so, should condone the irregularity, should endeavor to enforce or select a penalty, or offers advice regarding it. Right-hand opponents's legal rights after an irregularity are limited to his drawing attention to the offense, giving or obtaining the law covering it and asking his partner whether or not he knows his rights.

There is a much better balance, than in the old Laws, in the provisions penalizing a pass out of turn. When the out-of-turn pass (not condoned) is made before the opening bid, it is canceled and the offender must pass when next it is his turn to call. After the opening bid, a pass (not condoned) made when it is the turn of the opponent at the passer's right is penalized the same as a pass before the opening bid; a pass (not condoned) when it is the turn of the passer's partner is canceled, and both members of the offending side must pass thereafter whenever it is their turn.

An opening bid out of turn (not condoned), when it is the turn of the opponent at the bidder's right, is canceled, and the offender's partner must pass on his next turn; when it is the turn of the offender's partner, or of the opponent at the left of the offender, it is canceled, and the offender's partner must pass whenever it is his turn to call.

More Work Hours Lost in March

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP.)—Increased lost time through strikes and lockouts in March as compared with February was reported today by the Labor Department, but the number of strikes was smaller.

The March figures showed 28 strikes involving 17,008 workers with a loss of 30,683 man-working days as compared with 32 strikes in February involving 5243 workers with a loss of 24,306 man-working days. In March, 1942, there were 18 strikes which involved 3770 workers with a time loss of 23,191 man-working days.

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP.) — A sample poll of 33 Canadian plants indicates that absenteeism in January and February was between 7.6 and eight per cent, the Labor Department said today. Since last September the figures have stayed within a range from 6½ to eight per cent.

The sample poll was conducted by the Munitions Department and covered all causes, without any breakdown on the number which were involuntary or justifiable.

HOPE FOR GAS WARNING RATTLES IN NELSON SOON

H. E. Thain, Chief A.R.P. Warden, said Tuesday that as yet there have been no gas warning rattles received in Nelson for A.R.P.

"Small quantities of rattles have arrived at Vancouver and have been distributed to the main Coast points of Vancouver, Victoria and Nanaimo. We expect that the Interior vulnerable points such as Nelson will be equipped with them as soon as possible," he said.

Market Trends . . .

LONDON, May 11 (AP) — The stock market generally closed lower on profit-taking in quiet trading.

Industrials were easier with home rails losing as much as ¾ point.

NEW YORK—Light selling put leading stocks down fractions to more than a point but enough bidding eventually arrived to cut initial losses substantially or switch assorted issues into the plus column.

The morning stumble was attributed partly to the desire of some customers to cash in on the lengthy climb to 3-year peaks.

TORONTO—Mild liquidation tendencies were evident and golds alone of the four groups managed to go ahead.

Winners in base metals were Steep Rock, Ontario Nickel, Hudson Bay, Anglo-Huronian and Smelters.

MONTREAL—Stock exchange and curb market trading today traversed a narrow trail, with losses and gains small and fairly evenly divided.

Ottawa Power was in new high ground in utilities. Firmer in metals were smelters and Noranda.

VANCOUVER—Trading was more active with prices slightly higher in mines and oils.

WINNIPEG—Wheat prices registered fractional gains on local routine buying, the May closing unchanged at 98¾ cents a bushel, the July ⅛-¼ higher at 99⅜-½, the October ⅛ higher at $1.00¼ and the December ⅛ higher at $1.01.

Export sales of Canadian wheat to the United Kingdom were estimated at 300,000 bushels.

In the coarse grain pit American houses took around 750,000 bushels of May and July oats at ceiling prices. American buying absorbed all offerings in rye futures and prices in this commodity climbed more than one cent at the high point of the trade.

CHICAGO—Heavy selling on the part of traders who were inclined to take profits just before the close today converted early gains to as much as ⅞ cents in wheat into losses of more than a cent.

B. C. Agriculture Minister Hopes Kootenay Will Get Relief From Meat Slaughtering Rule

Probabilities are that slaughtering of their own meat animals by farmers for sale by wholesale to retailers may be permitted in Kootenay, it may be deduced from a letter to A. H. Noakes of Balfour from Hon. K. C. MacDonald, British Columbia Minister of Agriculture.

"Representations have already been made," writes the Minister, "to Ottawa urging that rural British Columbia be declared a deficiency area under the slaughtering of livestock regulations and we are hopeful, therefore, that the concession now granted Vancouver Island will be made applicable to the Kootenays".

Mr. Noakes made representations to the Minister when it became known that Ottawa had passed regulations which would prohibit butchering of their own stock by farmers, which would have the effect of reducing production of meat in Kootenay. His letter to Hon. Mr. MacDonald was endorsed by the Nelson Board of Trade, and similar representations were made by the West Kootenay Central Farmers Institute.

It is hoped that action to exempt this district from the regulation is already having its effect. A woman farmer who was at the Nelson market on Saturday and selling meat from a young pig stated that it was one of two young sows which she had intended breeding. But in view of the regulations she had thought it better to butcher them now. She sold the meat from one in Nelson, from the other in Trail. Each sow would normally have later produced six to eight pigs.

Hire Touche Company to Report on Nelson's Financial Position and Office and Accounting System

Audit of the City of Nelson books is to be undertaken by George A. Touche & Co., of Vancouver and Calgary. At Monday night's Council meeting Mayor N. C. Stibbs, previously authorized by the Council to take up this question, reported the Touche Company would undertake a special audit for a fee of approximately $2000, giving the City the benefit of any time or expense saved in making the audit, or charging more if the audit should require further work than indicated. The Company is to make a special report on the financial position of the City and to make recommendations regarding accounting and office system.

The decision to engage the Touche Company was made without a recorded vote immediately after a flare between Ald. T. H. Waters Finance Chairman, and Ald. J. E. McKenzie, Public Works Chairman.

QUESTIONS NEED

Ald. George Turner questioned the necessity of an audit, expressing the belief that "in view of the City's favorable financial situation in view of the fact that the City's books had already been audited, and in view of the fact there is nothing to indicate anything other than changes are advisable, I am inclined to think it is an unwarranted expense."

Ald. Ross Fleming felt that "when you are changing from one man to another, in fairness to them and to the City there should be a complete checkup." Alderman Waters expressed the belief that the annual audit had accomplished this, but Mayor Stibbs said it was not complete.

If an audit was necessary it should have been made at the time City Clerk W. A. Gordon took over from former City Clerk W. E. Wasson, Alderman Waters thought.

FINANCE BETTER THAN WE BELIEVE

"There's no suggestion of wrongdoing," Mayor Stibbs insisted, "but we have had a change of officials and I feel we are justified in asking for a special audit. It is no reflection on our own auditors or on our officials," Such an audit, he believed, would "clear the air." As far as the expense was concerned "two or three thousand dollars is nothing compared to the reputation of these individuals and the City."

Alderman Fleming felt a complete audit would start Mr. Gordon "with a clean sheet."

Ald. George Clerihew also felt a complete audit would be worthwhile. Ald. H. H. Hinitt commented that large firms handling large sums had audits whether they needed them or not, and added: "Probably at the end of the audit we'll find ourselves in better condition than we believe."

The expenditure would make it necessary to reduce the estimates, Ald. Waters said. Alderman Fleming felt that "if we were handling our own money we might be satisfied, but we are handling the citizens' money and we should check."

"It's a good idea. I don't see that it will hurt anybody and it will clear the atmosphere," commented Ald. McKenzie.

"But are you in favor of reducing the Public Works estimates if that is necessary?" Alderman Turner asked Alderman McKenzie.

"I've heard so much about Public Works since I took it over that it looks like someone around here wants to see it scrapped," Alderman McKenzie retaliated.

"It's the only department we can cut," replied Alderman Turner.

"In seven years on the Council I have never seen a year in which Public Works estimates were submitted and passed with such a small reduction," Alderman Waters declared. Mayor Stibbs agreed.

"In those other years you were on Public Works and you fought hard for it. This year you seem to be against it," Ald. McKenzie told Alderman Waters.

"I don't think you know what you are talking about," Alderman Waters retaliated.

"There are more than me who don't know what they're talking about," countered Alderman McKenzie. "I don't speak very often, but when I do I hit right on the head."

Ask Holidays Be Staggered

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP) — The Munitions Department said today a general appeal is being made to Canadian employers to stagger vacation leaves, beginning and ending at midweek periods, to reduce travel congestion through the Summer, particularly at weekends.

A joint statement by Transport Controller T. C. Lockwood and Transit Controller George S Gray said concentrated vacation travel in July and August must be avoided.

"Rail and bus lines will not be able to handle holiday passenger traffic this year if it is concentrated in July and August," the statement said

"The usual midsummer and weekend peaks must be levelled off, and we are asking business and industry to get behind a policy of scheduling employee vacations throughout the year, instead of concentrating them into the Summer months.

"We are also asking them to begin and end all employee vacations on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and on Thursdays from now on."

The policy is being recommended to all employers, and a letter signed jointly by the Transport and Transit Controller is being sent to large employers, executives of trade associations, and similar groups.

London A.R.P. Youth Appreciative of Canadian Red Cross

A Nelson resident with a teen-age nephew actively engaged in A.R.P. service near London, England, recently received news to the effect that the Canadian Red Cross supplies being received, and in which the air raid posts participate, are a wonderful help and highly valued. "You might pass on," the letter says, in part, "our thanks to any you know in the Red Cross for the grand work they are doing . . . all my first-aid kit comes from Canada, while Canadian-made blankets and scarves keep us warm on night watches, when some of us look rather like the knight in 'Alice Through the Looking Glass'—with rubber boots, gas-mask, water-bottle, first-aid kit, anti-gas goggles and a tin helmet with a bicycle to ride it all on." The letter also mentioned that every now and again, a copy of a well-known illustrated American weekly turns up with Red Cross supplies from Canada and is read from page to page, especially the food advertisements.

Allow Half Sugar Asked for Canning Purposes

MONTREAL, May 12 (CP.) — The Ration Administration of the Prices Board announced tonight that 100,000,000 pounds of sugar—approximately half the quantity asked for by Canadian housewives—will be available for home canning this year.

The announcement said the Ration Administration had received applications for a grand total of 209,995,368 pounds and consequently many Canadian consumers would receive less sugar than they applied for.

"Canada produces only about one-fifth of the sugar it consumes," said the Ration Division. "Some of North America's largest sources of sugar supply now are in enemy hands, and war on the high seas greatly curtailed our imports from the remaining sources of supply.

"Despite all these difficulties, the Sugar Administration has been able to secure for home canning purposes 100,000,000 pounds of sugar. This must be divided among the people who have applied for sugar for canning."

Distribution of supplies available for each area is in the hands of more than 500 local Ration Boards. The announcement said housewives will receive their sugar canning coupons from their local Boards by June 1.

Smuts Answers Many Questions

CAPE TOWN (CP)—Prime Minister Smuts' announcement in Parliament that, unless something quite unusual happens to prevent it, the general election will be held this year, has directed the thoughts of the nation to politics and political campaigning.

General Smuts also told Parliament that nothing could be said at the moment about South Africa's policy at post-war council tables of the peace conference; that negotiation for South African lease-lend agreements would start soon; that, as far as any recommendation for mercy was concerned, the appeal case of Robey Leibrandt, condemned traitor, would be considered on its merits and that opposition attacks on Russia and America were simply asking for trouble.

No, Mam, That's for Butter, Not V. Loan Coupons

Some people in Nelson are apparently getting the rules governing butter coupons mixed up with Victory Loan coupons.

Canvassers yesterday ran into a canard that unless Victory Loan coupons were cashed on the due date they would not later be paid. A time limit does apply to butter, tea and coffee coupons but it does not and never will apply to Victory Loan coupons.

If the owner of a 15-year Victory Bond prefers to leave his coupons on the bond until the bond is due for redemption he will, when he turns it in for redemption, receive $100 for the bond and $45 for accumulated interest. Victory Bond coupons are good at any time on or after their due date printed on them.

Another false rumor which Victory Loan salesmen ran into yesterday was that the banks were buying Victory Bonds for $90. The fact, of course, is that all Victory Bond issues are now salable at par or better. The story of the $90 price probably arose from the fact that the banks will always lend up to 90 per cent of the value of Victory Bonds.

DEVELOPS UNITY OF SOUTH AFRICA

CAPE TOWN (CP)—Development of unity and cooperation between the races of South Africa is seen in a meeting in Pretoria of delegates from various parts of the Transvaal to make plans for non-political celebration of Dingaan's Day in future.

Dingaan's Day (Dec. 16) is the anniversary of the decisive defeat of Dingaans, a Zulu war chief, by a small force of Boers under Andries Pretorius in 1838 after a conflict started with the massacre of Boer (Dutch) settlers by the negro natives. More modernly Dingaan's Day is the anniversary of the proclamation of Boer independence in 1880 and a day of celebration for the spread of the white civilization in South Africa.

The meeting in Pretoria decided to form a central committee to take charge of the next Dingaan's Day celebrations so that the Boer victory of the Blood River be observed in accord with the promise made by voortrekkers to treat the day as a Sunday or Sabbath and a holy day of thanksgiving. The English-speaking section has been asked to associate itself with the celebrations. This year Goodwill Day will be observed throughout South Africa March 7 in an endeavor to "promote friendly feelings among all the races for the common good."

(Voortrekkers were Dutch farmers who migrated from Cape Colony to colonize the Transvaal and Orange River areas and whose race ideology involved the supremacy of the White man.)

Interpreting The War News

By GLENN BABB
Associated Press War Analyst

There is strong evidence that Tunis and Bizerte were expected to hold out weeks, perhaps months, longer. But it is more likely that Hitler and Mussolini long ago decided that the Tunisian armies were simply to be expended for whatever time they might buy. It is likely that they are disappointed with what was purchased.

Apparently the Axis chieftains chose not to hazard the air and naval forces which would have been needed to attempt an evacuation, especially when the chances were that all, the warships, the planes and the men, would be lost to no purpose, in view of the tremendous Allied superiority on the sea and in the air.

Some few thousand soldiers, high officers and technicians, probably were withdrawn to Italy before the end, but almost all of the great armies with which the Axis for three years has fought for the mastery of Africa and the Middle East have been lost. Counting the native levies the Italians used in East Africa and the early Italian armies that melted away in the desert fighting, the total loss is not far short of 1,000,000 men.

But Rommel was saved. And Hitler apparently is trying also to salvage something of his reputation for future use. The desert fox, ailing, left Africa almost as soon as he had been chased into the Tunisian hills, according to Berlin's broadcast story, but will be given "a new task after complete recovery" of his health. That assignment may be the defence of Italy, or the Balkans.

The Allies stand now where Hitler stood after Dunkerque. There are some differences in their favor, such as command of the seas and growing superiority in the air, the lack of which were among the factors that made Hitler delay until it was too late. Others are to their disadvantage. Whereas Hitler was looking across some 20 miles of water toward land which—although he did not know it then—was almost undefended, the Allies are faced by 100 miles or more of the Mediterranean beyond which lies a great fortress which has had six months or more to prepare its defences.

Although a master plan was adopted at Casablanca which was said then to be good for nine months it would not be surprising if some revision were necessary at this halfway point.

It may be that we are even ahead of the Casablanca schedule, that some conditions are better than had been anticipated at this stage, that some previously unsuspected weakness has been found in the enemy's armor. Or it is possible that we may have to revaluate our own capabilities and opportunities.

It is even possible that in the light of Joseph Stalin's recent declarations of admiration for and solidarity with his Allies something may be done to achieve a unity of strategic direction among the United States, Britain and Russia such as hitherto has been possible only for the Western Allies.

Russ Send Heart Warming Message to Makers of Valentine Tanks

MONTREAL, Que., May 11.—As the last Valentine tank rolled off the production line at Angus Shops here early this month, with the needs of a global war having dictated a switch to other weapons, Canadian Pacific Railway workers engaged on the contract received a heart warming message from the Russians, who have called the Valentine the best of the imported tanks used in crushing back Hitler's armor.

Maj.-Gen. I. A. Elyaev, Chairman of the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission in the United States wired to H. B. Bowen, Chief of Motive Power and Rolling Stock for the Canadian Pacific, with "congratulations to you and to all your associates and employees on the occasion of fulfillment of your plan of tank production". The Soviet General said "we have always been great admirers of Valentine tanks and have held in high regard your fine work which has contributed so much to our common use, the final destruction of enemy the German Fascists."

This message from General Elyev on completion of contract was in line with an earlier tribute, credited to him by Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply in Ottawa, who had asked for a report on the Valentine's part in the developing Soviet offensive. On that occasion General Elyev's tribute read in part: "I am glad to inform you that the Canadian tanks Valentine VII have shown good results in combat action on our front, and have proved themselves the best of all our imported tanks."

The Munitions Minister's statement revealing this high tribute was made in connection with an announcement that since the outbreak of war Canada has sent over $100,000,000 of war supplies to Russia, over half of which was tanks, there could be no question of "too little" on an output such as that, nor could the stigma of "too late" be attached to the Canadian Pacific's production of Valentines for J. H. Berry of Ottawa Director General Automotive and Tank Production Branch, Department of Munitions and Supply, is high in his praise of prompt deliver.

Suggests Business Principles Might Be Applied to Gift Negotiations

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP.) —Ralph Maybank (Lib. Winnipeg South Centre) said in the House of Commons tonight there was no harm in receiving some return for gifts to the United Nations under the $1,000,000,000 Mutual Aid Bill.

While he did not favor demanding cash on the barrelhead for aid to other nations, Mr. Maybank said sound business principles might well be followed in the negotiations.

He would support the bill even if there were no intention of taking back any Canadian securities in the United Kingdom. But large numbers of Western Canadian residents were "not fooled" by the argument that it was patriotic to leave Canadian securities in the United Kingdom.

Mr. Maybank said there appeared to have been few cases when information was arbitrarily refused the House.

The refusal of information about Prices Board officials liable to military service was not flattering to the intelligence of House Members. But he did not think the cases of refusal had been important. He had confidence in the Government on major issues, but felt Ministers "kidded the House along" on smaller matters.

L. P. Picard (Lib. Bellechasse) said the Ottawa Government should open negotiations for the return of Labrador to Canada under the powers of the Mutual Aid Bill.

Rev. E. G. Hansell (N.D. Macleod) said he was not concerned about the commodities going into the gift, because Britain should have what she needed.

People wondered what they were getting for the assistance to the United Nations.

The farmer wondered how much he received for farm products sent to Britain or the other United Nations. The United States farmer would receive about $1.70 for wheat to the United Nations while the Canadian farmer would get about 75 cents when contributing to the same cause.

E. E. Perley (Prog. Con. Qu'Appelle) said the price paid for wheat shipped to the United Kingdom in 1942 was about 86 cents a bushel, according to figures given by Mr. Ilsley today.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. Leader, asked if commissions were paid on wheat transactions through the grain trade in respect to wheat shipped to Britain.

Mr. Howe said the British cereal import group found it more convenient to buy wheat in the form of options rather than actual wheat.

Howard Green (Prog. Con. Vancouver South) said a Canadian shipping policy should be announced.

Cargo ships numbering 300 were being built by Canada. Many were being operated by other nations, with probably less than 10 operated by Canada. When Canada needed shipping it had to go to a Shipping Board on which it had no representation.

"It is high time Canada had a shipping policy both for the war and post-war period," Mr. Green said. "There is something in turning over all these ships to other nations."

Mr. Ilsley said the point raised by Mr. Green might be discussed at the proper time.
