Mackenzie King Has Betrayed Trust—Bracken

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 (CP) — John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative Leader, said in a statement tonight that Prime Minister Mackenzie King "has betrayed his trust and deceived both the army overseas and the people at home."

His statement following the address in which the Prime Minister last night supported voluntary overseas service, Mr. Bracken said it was "more than evident now" that Mr. King never did intend to implement his undertakings given to Parliament.

The overseas army was in dire need of trained reinforcements and of rest and help. Men must be sent overseas to the entire extent available in Canada, Mr. Bracken said.

"This is an immediate national duty."

Since he assumed leadership of the Progressive Conservative party, "we have repeatedly urged that these men be sent overseas to fill the gap which now is so tragically revealed. The past is past. The situation now far transcends any partisan politics. It is of the deepest concern to every Canadian man and woman regardless of political creed."

In the gravest hour of the nation's history the people awaited the release of information given to Mr. King by Defence Minister Ralston, who resigned last week after recommending conscription for overseas.

"Mr. King has refused to release the information that Col. Ralston must have anticipated he would," said Mr. Bracken.

Instead of taking the advice of Col. Ralston the Prime Minister had preferred the advice of "one who but a few days ago admitted that he knew nothing about the situation."

(Mr. King said last night that he had sought the advice of Gen. McNaughton, who succeeded Col. Ralston as Defence Minister, when the latter's recommendation for conscription for overseas was made).

Mr. Bracken said Mr. King had "indulged in the revolting sophistry that the volunteers would not welcome draftees," although he knew that the 1st Canadian Army were draftees from other countries making up the bulk of the "international force."

Text of Mr. Bracken's statement follows:

Since the resignation of Col. Ralston and the appointment of Gen. McNaughton as Minister of National Defence, I have on two occasions demanded that the Prime Minister frankly and fully discuss to the Canadian people the facts and reasons behind the move.

After many days of waiting, this has not yet been done. The Prime Minister's radio speech last night took care to make no disclosure of Col. Ralston's report of conditions overseas and reasons for his resignation at this supremely critical time.

All the pleasant words the Prime Minister could proffer to his former colleague mean nothing at all in the light of the big truth that he rejected Col. Ralston's recommendation to send trained draftees overseas. He rejected the advice of the man who had lived intimately with the situation for almost five years and who had just returned from the scene of the struggle and contact with our fighting men.

He preferred to take the advice of one who but a few days ago admitted that he knew nothing about the situation. Even Mr. King now, at last, admits the imminent need of reinforcements but is going to rely on the methods that his late Minister says, and that the country knows, are inadequate and exhausted.

He is going to see now, in the sixth year of war, that the men in the draftee army are told that they are needed. He indulged in the revolting sophistry that volunteers would not welcome draftees, although he knew thoroughly well that in what is called the first Canadian Army there are draftees comprising British, American, Czech, Polish, Belgian, and Netherland forces, fighting along with our men and making up by far the largest portion of the numerical strength of what the Canadian field commander, Lt.-Gen. Crerar, has today referred to as "an international force."

Last night's speech will certainly provide cold comfort to the men in the lines and their parents and relatives in Canada. What can be thought of it by the tremendous majority who voted "Yes" in the 1942 plebiscite?

What is needed, and needed now, is not rhetoric but trained reinforcements. The business of "remustering" has been overdone. Are we to be told at this hour that the new Minister of National Defence must take another trip overseas to find out what everybody knows and then have the Cabinet give further "anxious consideration" to the problem for "many days"? The attitude of the government is now disclosed as wholly cynical and unrelaistic.

It is crystal clear that Mr. King has betrayed his trust and deceived both the Army overseas and the people at home. It is more than evident now that he never did intend to implement his undertakings given to Parliament. The whole question is reduceable to one simple proposition: Our Army overseas is in dire need of trained reinforcements, in dire need of rest and held, and men must be sent to the entire extent available in Canada. This is an immediate national duty.

Having recognized the amenities of the situation, Col. Ralston gave the Prime Minister the first opportunity to inform the Canadian people. Mr. King has refused to release the information that Col. Ralston must have anticipated he would. In this, the gravest hour of the nation's history, the people will be eagerly awaiting Col. Ralston's statement.

I need not restate the strong stand that the Progressive Conservative Party has taken in regard to overseas reinforcements. Since I assumed leadership, we have repeatedly urged that these men be sent overseas to fill the gap which now is so tragically revealed. The past is past. The situation now far transcends any partisan politics. It is of deepest concern to every Canadian man and woman regardless of political creed.

Japs Pouring Men Into Leyte Island

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Nov. 10 (Friday) (AP) — American forces drove for extensive gains South of Carigara Bay today as the Japanese poured reinforcements into Leyte-island to replace an estimated 35,000 men lost in the campaign which Gen. MacArthur termed the key to the Philippines.

"Extensive gains on a wide front" along the road leading to Ormoc, Japan's last stronghold on the island, roaring with fires set by bombs and artillery shells, were reported by Gen. MacArthur.

Japan's 16th Division, conquerors and torturers of Bataan, has been smashed as a fighting unit.

Ralston Doesn't Intend to Run in Next Election

SUMMERSIDE, P.E.I., Nov. 9 (CP) —Col. J. L. Ralston, who resigned last week as Defence Minister, today informed the Liberal organization of Prince County that it was his present intention not to run in the next Federal election, it was learned tonight.

Col. Ralston, who represents Prince in the House of Commons, attended a meeting of executives of the East and West Prince Associations.

Col. Ralston is in the Maritimes for a visit with his constituents in the Prince Edward Island Federal Riding of Prince and could not be reached for further comment.

The Liberal Executive adopted a resolution expressing "sincere regret" that Canada was "losing the services of such an outstanding man."

"We have firm faith," the resolution said, "that in coming to his momentous decision to resign his position of National Defence Minister, in view of his intimate knowledge of Army conditions at the battlefronts, he was prompted by the highest principles of patriotism and love of country, and we admire him for his sincerity of purpose and for having the courage of his convictions."

After being entertained at a dinner of Liberals here tonight, Col Ralston left by plane for Moncton on the way to Montreal and Ottawa.

NEW AND OLD ROBOTS HIT

LONDON, Nov. 10 (Friday) (AP) — The new and the old flying bombs fell on England during the night—one crashing on a factory killing three men, another blasting an ancient unused castle.

The bombs came in from the North Sea. Some were shot down before getting overland. The sky was lit up with an orange flare for a long time after two bombs exploded in mid air in quick succession.

London had a short alert.

LEGION CALLS FOR ALL OUT CONSCRIPTION

Discuss Views With Prime Minister and Defence Minister

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 (CP) — The Canadian Legion Dominion Council today presented a brief urging immediate conscription for overseas to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and remained to discuss their proposal for an hour and 20 minutes.

Council members said they left with their views unchanged.

Following the interview with the Prime Minister, who was accompanied by Defence Minister McNaughton, Reconstruction Minister Howe, Veterans Minister Mackenzie and Health Minister Claxton, the Legion issued a statement saying that their presentation called "for immediate action to enforce compulsory military service for overseas."

"The Legion's action was prompted by a unanimous and wholehearted belief that a critical situation exists that can only be met adequately by sending overseas immediately the trained troops of the Home Defence Army now in Canada.

"The Prime Minister laid before the delegations his reasons for wishing to continue a voluntary system of reinforcing the Army overseas, and his reasons for not instituting conscription measures.

"No reasons not made public before were given. However, at the end of an hour and 20 minutes of discussion, views of Legion members were unchanged."

The Legion brief said the Government should act on the mandate of the 1942 manpower plebiscite and use its authority to send all fully trained Home Defence Army personnel overseas immediately as essential reinforcements.

The delegation, headed by Alex Walker, Dominion President, said there was bitterness in Canada because of "a tragic waste of manpower when the issues of civilization are at stake." The bitterness was found also among fighting men of the services overseas.

Reports from the front indicated that troops with inadequate infantry training were being sent to the front and those in the front lines had abnormally long periods of service without corresponding days of rest. The dangers of battle fatigue were mounting.

"All this is taking place despite the fact that we have some 70,000 trained and equipped soldiers in Canada who are performing no useful service," said the brief.

Multnomah Turns Tide in F.D.R.'s Favor

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 9 (AP)—Returns from 1807 of Oregon's 1829 precincts tonight gave President Roosevelt a lead of 236,070 to 217,123 votes over Governor Dewey.

Ballots in populous Multnomah County turned the tide in Roosevelt's favor after Dewey built up a lead in counties outside Portland.

The Congressional delegation, however, is solidly Republican.

The only two State offices filled in the election also went to Republicans.

The G.O.P. swept the State Legislature as usual, gaining two more seats in the House than in 1943 but losing two in the Senate. The Legislature shapes up as 25-5 for the Republicans in the Senate, and 53-7 in the House.

Oregon carried out its traditional election action of defeating the sales tax, and also turned down the "Little Townsend" bill furnishing $60 pensions through a gross income tax.

LOST AIR BASES IN CHINA: The reported differences between Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and U. S. Gen. Joseph Stilwell, former commander of U. S. forces in the China-India-Burma theatre, highlights the recent loss of American airbases near the China coast. When the Japs pushed southward in an effort to cut China in two and form a junction with Jap forces moving northward, a number of strategic airfields were overrun; others were neutralized. Points leading from the star show these former Allied bases. Enemy forces near Kweilin (1) are now reported to be about 60 miles from a juncture.

Roosevelt Will Make Triumphant Return to Washington Today

By DOUGLAS CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Late and complete returns from Texas tonight pushed President Roosevelt's popular majority over Gov. Thomas E. Dewey beyond the 3,000,000 mark.

With 8588 of the 130,789 districts still unreported, the fourth-term President had a total of 24,249,098 to Mr. Dewey's 21,195,298.

The electoral count remained at 432 to 99, the Democrats scoring in 36 of the 48 States.

Mr. Roosevelt returns triumphantly to Washington tomorrow to a tremendous reception and to tremendous tasks.

Waiting for him at the end of a parade from Union station to the White House is a hefty array of problems that will cram his schedule from now till his fourth term starts.

They centred on:

Another Roosevelt-Stalin-Churchill conference on war and world security, vacancies in the administration, possible cabinet changes and whipping together annual and budget messages for Congress.

And those weren't all.

Just for the record, still incomplete tallies showed Mr. Roosevelt and Vice-President Harry S. Truman topping challengers Thomas E. Dewey and John W. Bricker by 36 States to 12.

Along with the Democratic victory at the top of the ticket went retention of the party's comfortable majority in the Senate, a firm grasp on a House of Representatives majority, and more Democratic governors. The few races still in doubt couldn't alter that picture.

As for the President's docket, some things can wait, but a decision must be made promptly on the date and spot for the parley with Britain's Prime Minister and Russia's Premier.

Tied closely to this projected get-together is the forthcoming United Nations meeting to implement the Dumbarton Oaks plan for a world peace organization.

Russian-Polish differences, a ticklish Argentine situation, a program for handling a conquered Germany, and an invitation to visit Paris are among additional foreign affairs.

Washington harvested the usual crop of post election rumors about cabinet shakeups, including the persennial that Secretary of Labor Perkins was quitting. Whether well founded or not, there also has been talk that 73-year-old Secretary of State Hull might resign because of his health.

Interior Secretary Ickes handed in his resignation, as he does every four years, just in case Mr. Roosevelt might want to make a change. But there was no indication the President had one in mind.

The most likely development would be the resignation of Postmaster General Frank Walker to make way for Robert E. Hannegan, the Democratic National Chairman. The chairman customarily has gone into the cabinet to head up the postal department. Mr. Walker, himself a former Chairman, did that. So did James A. Farley.

Complete returns from New York State, home of both Mr. Roosevelt and Gov. Dewey, gave the former 3,292,869 and the latter 3,032,856.

It was the biggest ballot in history for New York.

Ohio now complete, went for Mrs. Dewey, 1,588,045 to 1,572,735.

Iowa, with all precincts heard from, stood Republican 547,823 to 497,376.

All the other complete states were little ones: Connecticut, New Hampshire and Vermont. Vermont went Republican, the other two Democratic.

Terror Gangs in Italy Rounded Up

ROME, Nov. 9 (AP)—Two gangs, composed in part of deserters from the United States and Canadian armies and the French Foreign Legion, have been rounded up by military police after terrorizing Rome and Naples for several weeks, it was announced today.

Allied Headquarters said in an official announcement that the gangs were charged with kidnapping military policemen, stealing their motorcycles and committing "many other hold-ups and robberies."

One of the gangs, led by a 23-year-old American soldier from Pennsylvania, was made up entirely of soldiers — six Americans and two Canadians — all absent without leave.

The American and Canadian soldiers face court martial.

10,000 MEN FOR CIVILIAN AIR RESERVE

May Get Chance to Volunteer for Pacific Service

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 (CP) — The last aircrew graduate from the big Commonwealth Air Training Plan has gone overseas, but some 10,000 men now in the training stream will complete their courses and join those who have just graduated in a civilian air reserve, a usually well-informed source said tonight.

A huge surplus of aircrew built up by the Air Plan that was gauged on higher casualties than has resulted has brought about this latest decision which follows reports the Air Force will be cut by a third Jan. 1 and the Training Plan agreement will not be extended beyond its March 31 deadline.

Previously, Air Minister Power had announced the discharge of 4200 aircrewmen waiting to start training, the amalgamation of training commands, a cut in the Air Council and the closing down of many air stations.

The new move of sending trainees and recent graduates back to civilian life will be explained to the men in an official letter now in the course of being prepared, a source said. The men will wear a distinctive button showing they are Air Force reserves and they will not be subject to military draft regulations.

Meanwhile, a large number of aircrew members on operational training overseas, who may never get a chance of taking part in active service, will be given first opportunity to join the Pacific expedition which will be raised on a re-volunteer basis and which may consist of about 15 squadrons, a source said.

He also said it was likely that the civilian reserve, if needed, also might be given a chance to volunteer for Pacific service.

Regarding the reported demobilization of a third of the force Jan. 1, it was recalled Maj. Power has already indicated that a "first in, first out," mustering out principle would be followed. Navy Minister Macdonald has already supported this program for the Navy and last night Prime Minister Mackenzie King, in his reinforcement speech, indicated the plan would be general for all three services.

In connection with Pacific plans, Air Vice Marshall L. F. Stevenson is home from the East Asia theatre with a report on needs and conditions there and planners are going ahead with preparations for the switch of effort to the Pacific which will follow the end of the war with Germany.

With a third of the Air Force going to the Pacific and a third being demobilized early in the New Year, it was understood the remainder would be used in home establishments and also for European occupational duty with the possibility of some day being included in an international police force if one finally materializes.

A source said that a greatly modified Canadian plan would continue to the end of the war and into the peace to meet the needs of normal replacement and to keep at least a skeleton of training machinery active.

Hurl 3 Divisions on 55 Mile Front

Crack Armored Unit Storms Into Fighting Southwest of Metz

By HOWARD COWAN
Associated Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP) — The U.S. 3rd Army hurled a crack armored division and three more infantry divisions today into an offensive along a 55-mile front, breaking across the Moselle River at two points North of Metz and threatening to outflank this mightiest fortress left to the Germans short of the Rhine.

For the first time the U.S. 4th Armored Division—veteran of the St. Lo breakthrough in the Battle of France—stormed into the righting, driving North more than four miles to near Delme and Viviers, 18 miles Southeast of Metz.

Nine more towns fell as the drive on Viviers cut across the main highway from Metz to Chateau Salins, 25 miles to the Southeast.

A front dispatch from Ross Munro, Canadian Press War Correspondent, said the battle for Southwest Holland ended at dawn today in the Winter's first snowfall as bayonet-wielding Polish troops of the 1st Canadian Army wiped out the last German rearguards South of the Maas River at Moerdijk, seizing 350 prisoners and several self-propelled guns.

After a bloody three-day battle the Poles reached the wrecked Moerdijke bridges and the last of a band of 500 Germans left to make a suicide stand behind a ring of concrete defences surrendered meekly.

"The fall of Moerdijke could well mark the end of a phase of the war in the West," Munro wrote.

Lt.-Gen. Patton had committed seven divisions, at the most 105,000 men, to the attacks which are shaping up an assault arc some 35 miles from Saarbrucken— heart of the Saar Basin with its coal fields, iron works and war plants.

Berlin propagandists called the attacks the opening phase of an Allied Winter offensive, and said it was designed to outflank Metz and to crush the big Saar industrial basin—whose borders lie but nine miles East of advanced American positions at Berg.

One of the divisions planted two bridgeheads on the East bank of the formidable barrier of the Moselle against an astonishing lack of resistance.

A second division, adding to the momentum of a drive which in its inaugural day yesterday overran 16 towns and villages and captured 1000 prisoners, pushed across a tributary of the stream at another unidentified point North of fort-ringed Metz.

Farther South, the three infantry divisions which ground out gains of three miles in opening the assaults yesterday were slogging ahead over a sleet-covered battleground without encountering the violent counter-blows with which the Germans normally react to such attacks.

A front dispatch said small gains were registered on this sector, whose Southern end is at Moncourt, 33 miles Southeast of Metz. Advances also were scored at the Northern end of the front at Berg, 22 miels Northeast of Metz.

Berg, on the West bank of the Moselle, is three miles Southeast of a juncture of the French, Luzembourg and German frontiers.

RUSS HIT ANEW AT BUDAPEST ON NORTHEAST

Punch 20 Mile Hole in Nazi Tilsza River Line

MILE FROM CITY

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP) — Russian troops, in a new threat to besieged Budapest from the Northeast, broke the Germans' Middle Tisza River line on a 50-mile front today and advanced 17 miles beyond to within a mile of the vital Budapest-East Slovakian Railway, Moscow announced tonight.

The Soviet bulletin also said that Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2nd Ukraine Army had killed more than 100,000 Germans and Hungarians and had captured 42,160 for a total of 142,160 since October when the invasion of Hungary began.

Berlin implied that the Russians already had cut the Budapest-East Slovakian Railway, a development which might force the Germans to begin a slow withdrawal into Central Czechslovakia and hasten the expected fall of Budapest.

In a wide encircling move on Budapest other Soviet troops were reported by Berlin to have crossed the Danube River at Dunafoldvar, 43 miles South of the bomb-battered capital whose reinforced defenders still are holding the Russians on the Southern rim of the city.

French radio reports said Russian units attacking in Budapest's outskirts had crossed the Danube and penetrated into the Buda district, but neither Moscow nor Berlin told of any Soviet entry into the prize city on the road to Austria and Germany.

In Yugoslavia another Red Army once more was on the move. Berlin's communique said, without Soviet confirmation, that units of Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's 3rd Ukraine Army had crossed the Danube at Apatin, 15 miles South of the Hungarian frontier and gained a foothold on the West bank only 15 miles Northeast of the big communications centre of Osijek and 142 miles East of the Croat capital of Zagreb.

Halts German Fire to Rescue Wounded

WITH AMERICAN INFANTRY IN HURTGEN FOREST, Germany, Nov. 9 (CP-Reuter) — Forty-four badly wounded American infantrymen, apparently isolated in a snow-swept ravine and beyond all hope of salvation, were rescued today by a medical officer who walked through an avenue of shell-fire and across a German-held bridge to demand that the Germans hold their artillery fire while half-track ambulances evacuated the wounded.

Five times, rescue columns, attempting to reach the wounded, had been halted by German fire that killed a number of first aid men and wrecked the leading ambulances.

The wounded men were down in the Kommerschiedt ravine, cut off from the American lines by German advances, in a first-aid station.

When the fifth attempt failed to get through, Maj. Albert L. Bernot, of Portsmouth, Ohio, picked up a Red Cross flag and, holding it above his head, walked 500 yards through no man's land, past six astonished German soldiers, who were guarding a small bridge with a machine-gun, and up a hill to the German command post.

He told a lieutenant there that he was coming into the ravine with six "weasels" (small tractors used for carrying wounded in otherwise inaccessible locations) and that, under the Geneva conventions, he wanted the German artillery to hold fire.

The German lieutenant agreed that he would send word that any clearly marked Red Cross vehicles should not be fired on.

Maj. Berndt then returned and a convoy of "weasels" made their way through the snowstorm and rescued the 44 wounded men.

8 Saskatchewan Employer Bodies Ask More Study Trade Union Bill; Law Society Protests Absolutism

REGINA, Nov. 9 (CP)—The Saskatchewan Employers' Association, representing about 200 firms in the province, announced tonight Labor Minister C. C. Williams had agreed to consider a request that the Trade Union Act be referred to the Legislature's Law Amendments Committee

Secretary H. O. McLennan of the Association said the request was made by representatives of eight Saskatchewan employer bodies to Mr. Williams and Premier T. C. Douglas, head of the Provincial C.C.F. Government.

The delegation sought to have the Act held over until the next session of the Legislature.

Similar representations were made yesterday by Ross Kennedy of Winnipeg, an official of the Prairie Division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. An attempt today in the Legislature by Opposition Leader W J. Patterson, (L—Cannington) to have the Bill given the six-months hoist met with failure.)

TIME FOR STUDY NEEDED

Spokesmen said if the Act were held over, interested parties would be enabled fully to absorb significance of the Bill and to make representation to the committee after due consideration had been given to the contentious matters involved.

Organizations represented in the delegation included the Saskatchewan Retail Merchants Association, Saskatchewan Motor Transport Association, Saskatchewan Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages, Saskatchewan Motor Dealers Association, Saskatchewan Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Saskatchewan Employers Association, Wholesale Implement Dealers Association, and Wholesalers Association.

COURTS RULED OUT

The Law Society of Saskatchewan announced today that it had submitted to Labor Minister Williams a statement protesting against the power to be given the Labor Relations Board under the Act.

The Law Society wishes emphatically to protest against the ousting of the jurisdiction of the courts in matters pertaining to the rights and liberties of the subject," said the statement, issued by Chairman Gordon Forbes of the Society's Legislation Committee. "Apparently an attempt is made to remove the Board from all restraint by the Court, even if the Board is exceeding the jurisdiction and powers conferred on it by the proposed statute."

The statement said the "matter is made worse by Section 15, which provides that there shall be no appeal from an order or decision of the Board ,and that the proceedings of the Board are not reviewable by a court of law or by prerogative writ or otherwise.

Says Canadians Get Discarded Old Equipment

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (CP) — H. J. Symington, President of trans-Canada Airlines, told the Daily Press conference at the international civil aviation conference today that Canadian proposals for control of world aviation are practical.

In a direct reply to earlier suggestions from A. A. Berle, principal United States delegate, that control proposals are idealistic and not practical at present, Mr. Symington said,

"I'm supposed to be a hard-boiled air line operator and I see nothing impractical in it. I have yet to meet an airline operator who considers it impractical. The Minister (Hon. C. D. Howe) who has most to do with the presentation of this plan is one of the biggest businessmen in Canada."

Mr. Berle, who was present, remarked that in his opening speech to the conference last week he had been commenting on the original Canadian draft convention as announced last March and not on the revised draft as presented to the conference.

As the conference ended its eighth day of meetings the issue between control of routes and frequencies by an international authority as favored by Canada and the United Kingdom and no control in these fields as favored by the United States and, probably, most Latin-American Republics, remained as sharp as ever.

Asked if he were more or less hopeful of an agreement on principles close to those of the Canadian plan than when he came, Mr. Symington said, "I am not less hopeful."

"I am hopeful," he said, "that the principles of the United States, Canadian and United Kingdom proposals will be drafted into a conference document which will give hope of a proper control of the air."

TOAST and TEA
BY J. V. McAREE

Wendell Willkie's death recalls naturally his campaign for the presidency of the United States in 1940 when popular demand made him the Republican candidate, against the wishes of the managers of the party. In that campaign Mr. Willkie naturally emphasized the fact that he was born on a farm and worked his way up to the head of a great industrial corporation by the homely virtues of frugality, industry and enterprise. He made a great impression on the nation, as he deserved to do, as he emphasized his humble origin and his toil on the farm, which he suggested by his rather rough and ready and even tousled appearance. Harold Ickes, a veteran politician of many a campaign, and a master of cutting phrases, commented on Mr. Willkie: "Yes, just a barefoot Wall Street lawyer." It was devastating, and Mr. Willkie was a good enough sport to laugh at the description himself.

Mullett Gets 5 Yrs. on Two Armed Robbery Charges

VANCOUVER, Nov. 9 (CP)—Flying Officer William S. Mullett of Vancouver was sentenced to five years in prison on each of two charges of armed robbery and one charge of attempted armed robbery when he appeared before Magistrate H. S. Wood in Police Court here today. Sentences will run concurrently.

Mullett pleaded guilty to the charges after being arrested while attempting to rob the Kitsilano Branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce Oct. 25. After his arrest he confessed two successful bank robberies in Vancouver last year which netted him approximately $10,000. He said he held up the banks to get money to pay gambling debts.

Stewart S. Tufts, Mullett's counsel, told Magistrate Wood today that he would have preferred having a further report from psychiatrist before sentence was passed but his client considered it "nonsense."

Magistrate Wood then commented that "from evidence we have had here, the jobs he has done and the rank he had held, I think it is a lot of nonsense."

90,000 Majority Piles Up in Wash.

SEATTLE, Nov. 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt, on the basis of returns early today, piled up a majority of approximately 90,000 votes from Tuesday's election to lead his party on a landslide reminiscent of 1932.

Republicans, Gov. Arthur B. Langlie and Rep. Fred Norman, in the thir Congressional district, both conceded the election of their opponents, Sen. Mon C. Wallgren and Charles Savage, respectively, last night.

Rep. Warren C. Magnuson, Democratic candidate for the Senate, swept into office over Lt.-Col. Haryr P. Cain, Mayor of Tacoma, by a majority of more than 40,000 votes.

Ralston's Letter Not Available for Release

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 (CP) — Prime Minister Mackenzie King's office said today that correspondence between Mr. King and former Defence Minister Ralston was not available for release at the moment. No indication was given as to whether it would eventually be released for publication.

The correspondence includes Col. Ralston's letter of resignation, written last week when he left the Cabinet, after setting forth his view that conscription for overseas should be placed in effect.

In a statement issued Monday evening, Col. Ralston said he assumed Mr. King would inform the public of the circumstances of his resignation by making available his letter of resignation and "any further correspondence between us in the matter." The correspondence would "speak for itself."

VANCOUVER, Nov. 9 (CP)—The News-Herald said in a newspage story tonight "resignation of E. H. Adams, Vice-President and Treasurer of the B.C. Electric Railways Co. Ltd., appeared imminent today, close on the heels of rumors that he was leaving due to differences of opinion over management of the company.

"Neither Mr. Adams nor W. G. Murrin, President of the Company, would make any statement on the subject.

"—Although without direct knowledge of the subject, other officials of the company said they had heard Mr. Adams was leaving."

Step Up Release of Men Fit for Combat Duty

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 (CP)—As part of Defence Minister McNaughton's drive for reinforcements, Defence Headquarters anonunced tonight that release from home war establishments of all service personnel in categories fit for training for combat service is being accelerated.

It was understood that nearly 1,000 men, would be made available at Defence Headquarters alone.

The releases will take place as soon as C.W.A.C. or low category personnel are available, Defence Headquarters said.

Also in line with Gen. McNaughton's newly-outlined policies, lower category men are being substituted as rapidly as possible on certain works projects which have been employing men seconded from the Home Defence Army.

"It has been necessary," the announcement said, "to provide service personnel on some hospital construction projects to expedite the completion of the accommodation for returning casualties."

It added that as long as this assistance is urgently required low category men will be furnished.

It continued:

"For the present no further commitments to loan personnel will be undertaken. Every effort will be made to give effect to the policy of getting into military training as expeditiously as possible, all those who are physically fit."

Nazis May Be Using Holland Bases to Launch Robot Bombs

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP) — A sharp flurry of robot bombs, which kept Southern England anti-aircraft and fighter defences busy during the night and killed at least five persons, stirred speculation today that the Nazis have established new launching sites in Northern Holland.

The German radio again declared that the "flying telegraph pole" long range rocket V-2, was being used against England.

One couple and their two children buried under the wreckage of their home were rescued.

Blast damage to houses was heavy over a wide area. Rescue work continued all night.

Sask. Special Session Indemnity Set at $400

REGINA, Nov. 9 (CP)—The Saskatchewan Legislature today gave second reading to a bill setting the members' indemnity for the special session which opened Oct. 19 at $400.

The indemnity allowable under the act is $2000 for each session and the bill before the House, it was stated, would not mean a reduction in the $2000 indemnity for the regular session next Spring.

On two previous occasions in Saskatchewan when special sessions were held indemnities of $250 were granted. These special sessions were only of three days duration.

Allies Drive 3rd Prong Into Northern Burma

KANDY, Ceylon, Nov. 9 (CP)—The Allies campaigning to open a land route to China have driven a third prong into Japanese-held territory in Northern Burma, crossing the Irrawaddy River midway between Bhamo and Katha and threatening to outflank both of these enemy strongholds, Southeast Asia Command Headquarters announced today.

Chinese troops carried out the new drive, occupying the town of Schwegu on a high cliff on the South bank of the Irrawaddy. The newly-won position is 40 miles Southeast of Mawlu, where British troops are operating in the first prong of the new offensive, and about the same distance Southwest of Myothit, where Chinese forces thrust the second prong.

Calif. Pension Scheme Defeated

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9 (AP)—California gave President Roosevelt a majority of better than 400,000, reelected Democratic Sheridan Downey for a second term and put Democrats into at least 14 and possibly 16 of the State's 23 Congressional seats.

The next California delegation likely will be made up of 16 Democrats and 7 Republicans. Two years ago it was 13 Democrats and 10 Republicans.

The voters overwhelmingly defeated a proposal to pay $60 monthly pensions to persons over 60 years of age, and also turned down sharply a measure which would have guaranteed workers against interference with their jobs because of membership or lack of it in union organizations.

Available returns indiacted the Republicans would again control the State Assembly.

Liberal Amendment to Sask. Trade Union Act Beaten 41-5

REGINA, Nov. 9 (CP)— C. C. F. member of the Saskatchewan Legislature voted solidly tonight in support of the Trade Union Act on second reading while Opposition Leader W. J. Patterson (L-Cannington) moved an amendment to the motion afterward to refer the act to the Law Amendments Committee.

The vote on the second reading was 41.5.

Debate on the Opposition Leader's amending motion is continuing.

Earlier Mr. Patterson declared there was no rush to change labor laws as Dominion regulations had been made applicable to the province and five other provinces in Canada and were working satisfactorily. He moved a six-months hoist which was lost on a recorded vote 38-5, all the Liberals opposing.

Mr. Patterson sought the six months hoist to permit the three soldier-members of the Legislature to take their seats and speak for members of the armed forces.

He maintained the act would be "unfair" for men overseas and that no official of veteran organizations had come forward to support the bill.

Mr. Patterson said Dominion labor regulations enacted for the province at the last session by Liberal government gave employees all the rights Labor Minister C. C. Williams spoke of in moving second reading of the bill last night.

The reason for the new bill, the Opposition Leader claimed, was to "promote C.C.F. political welfare in other parts of Canada." Mr. Williams jumped to his feet with a denial.

Mr. Patterson read an article in the Saturday Night, a Toronto weekly publication, to the effect the labor bill would promote the political aims of the C.C.F. in industrial sections of Canada.

The bill should be considered in the light of long-range effect on labor, said Mr. Patterson, adding he had not seen any serious criticism by large "national labor bodies of the National Labor Code".

He charged interference by an "outside" organizer to induce the Saskatchewan civil servants to join a particular union and mentioned "labor racketeers." Municipal Affairs Minister J. H. Brockelbank asked "who are labor racketeers?"

Would he (Patterson) say all C.C.L. (Canadian Congress of Labor) men are racketeers?"

"No," replied Mr. Patterson. "But I will say the civil servants were browbeaten and intimidation was attempted by one man who came from outside Saskatchewan."

"That is untrue, the civil service was never intimidated," said Premier T. C. Douglas. "Are you referring to Mr. McAuslane (J. McAuslane, Vice-President of the Canadian Congress of Labor?)" asked Mr. Douglas.

"I refer to the man who came here from outside to organize civil servants," replied Mr. Patterson.

Power of the cabinet to appoint a controller had been termed the "most unimportant" by Mr. Williams, but it might be "important" to any owner of a business, said Mr. Patterson.

"If the bill contains features that employers regard as unfair and unequitable, their protests should not be passed over and given no consideration."

(Ross Kennedy, Winnipeg, an official of the Prairie Division, Canadian Manufacturers Association, announced representations had been made to the government to have the act referred to the Law Amendments Committee and not be passed at the present session.)

Mr. Patterson objected to powers of the Provincial Labor Board, to be appointed, to impose indirectly fines and imprisonment on employers who disobeyed orders to discontinue unfair practices. The decision should rest with the courts.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 9 (CP) — Maj.-Gen. H. A. Young, recently-appointed quartermaster general for the Canadian Army, arrived here yesterday from Chilliwack on a soft drink truck. When Gen. Young's staff car broke down the only thing left for him to do was thumb a lift with the passing truck.

Churchill Warns Against Optimism

LONDON, Nov. 9 (CP) — Prime Minister Churchill warned today that the "full exertions" of Britain, the United States and Russia will be needed to defeat Germany, "this military antagonist at last beaten back to his own lair."

Britain's dominant thought was to end the "frightful slaughter and devastation" in Europe within the shortest time, he said at the Lord Mayor's luncheon at the Mansion House.

"It is high time we had another triple conference" of President Roosevelt, Marshal Stalin and himself, the Prime Minister told a distinguished audience.

He hailed the operation to clear the Schelde estuary, carried out by armies under Field Marshal Montgomery's command, adding that the hard-fought battle which opened the Port of Antwerp cost heavy British and Canadian casualties.

He said the victory in the Netherlands opened the Schelde River and "will very shortly place the great port of Antwerp at the disposal of the Northern flank which will presently move into Germany for the final struggle."

"Now we stand on the threshhold of Germany and it will take the full exertions of the three great powers, every scrap of strength they can give, to crush down the desperate resistance that we must expect from this military antagonist at last beaten back to his own lair."

At another point he said: "Although it is our duty to work hard—and we have worked hard—to produce large schemes of social improvement and advance, although it is our duty to make preparatibins for the change-over from war to peace, or from war in Europe to war in Japan, in far distant Asia, although we are bound to work as hard as we can, nothing shall stand in the way of the prosecution of the war to its ultimate conclusion."

He said a Churchill-Roosevelt-Stalin meeting "might easily bridge the sufferings of mankind and stop the fearful process of destruction which is now ravaging the earth."

"The prospects of such a meeting," Churchill said, "have vastly improved by results of the Presidential elections in the United States."

Pausing while the audience applauded, Mr. Churchill added, "And for which we waited so breathlessly on Tuesday last."

Mr. Churchill said "it is hard to remember how long ago this war began. One can never be quite sure whether it has lasted a flash or an age."

Following the colorful ceremony in which the new lord mayor, Frank Alexander, received his guests, Mr. Churchill said: "When I look back, over these wartime years, I cannot help feeling that time is an inaccuratt and even a capricious measure of the duration of it. At one time, it seemed so long, at others, so short."

Mr. Churchill declared the U-boat menace had "for the time being" been practically effaced. There was one month, he said, when the Germans did not sink a single ship until the last day, then they got one."

U. S. ELECTION REMARKABLE

Turning to the United States elections he said:

"When I was here last year I appealed to the British and American public to be very careful that election year did not in any way ruffle the good will that existed throughout the world, and which was so great an aid to our armies.

"It is certainly remarkable that all this turmoil of the United States election should have carried through without any disturbing of the ancient, moth-eaten, threadbare controversies which are to be found in the history books between Great Britain and her American kinsmen, now brothers in arms.

"We must be very careful to avoid political affairs. I offer my thanks mixing ourselves up in American to parliament, press and to the public and no parties—perhaps especially to them—for the care and restraint which have made all potential indiscretions die upon their lips."

Mr. Churchill praised Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for sportsmanship in defeat, saying: "What a model this would be to those states where political differences are not solvable by word or vote, where the question of who is to be in and who is to be out, may be one of life and death, to be settled by violence and intrigue and where there may be but a short gap between being the ruler and being the victim."

Describing air attacks upon Germany, the Prime Minister asserted: "We have not suffered one-tenth, and we shall not suffer one tenth of what is being meted out to those who first started and developed this cruel and merciless form of attack."

He said no one could be blamed for hoping that victory would come to the Allies and peace to Europe in 1945, provided "he does not slacken his or her efforts for a moment."

Mr. Churchill expressed "great joy" that his cooperation with President Roosevelt would be continued.

"These are months profoundly interwoven with the future of both our countries" he said, "and also we trust that the future association of our two countries will be interwoven with the peace and progress of the whole world."

Mr. Churchill said that the United States had given an example to the world of how Democratic institutions can be worked "with the utmost vigor and freedom without injury to the permanent interests of the state."

"We know," he continued, "that we in Britain have in the Republican party of the United States vast numbers of friends and well-wishers and the upholding of Anglo-American friendship is cherished by tens of millions in both great parties over there.

ELECTION IN 1945

The Prime Minister said it seemed certain that Britain would have a general election in 1945. He expressed belief it would be conducted "with all the liveliness and robust vigor which will gratify the political emotions of our public, without destroying that marvelous underlying unity and sense of brotherhood which has long existed in this country and has reached its highest degree among the perils from which we have been delivered."

The Prime Minister warned against over optimism with these words.

"How many times when a great battle has been won has its result been thrown away. . . Here we have seen the highest result surely and firmly seized and held at every stage. There comes a time when the pursuers outstrip to the utmost the limits of their supplies. The enemy falling back on his own territory is enabled once again to form a front and this shows itself very plainly by the furious and continuous fighting which has broken out on the Moselle and in the neighborhood when the Americans advanced forward with so much vigor and so much impetus and then came up against a hard core of recovered enemy resistance."

The Prime Minister warned it was no moment now to slacken.

"Hard as it may seem after five long years of war every man and woman in this island must show what they are capable of doing and I am sure our soldiers at the front will not be found incapable of that extra effort which is necessary to crown all that has been attained and above all to bring this frightful slaughter and devastation in Europe to an end within the shortest possible period of time."

BRUSSELS, Nov. 9 (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower told the Belgian parliament today that the Allies were fighting "an enemy who understands only one thing—force—and we intend to apply force to the utmost."

The Allied supreme commander received a tumultuous ovation as he entered the packed chamber of deputies to address both Houses.

He was accompanied by top Allied Army, Navy and Air Force commanders including Lt.-Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, Admiral Sir Bertram Ramsay, Air Marshal Sir Arthur Coningham, Lt.-Gen. W. B. Smith, Maj.-Gen. S.W.E.J. Erskine and Maj.-Gen. F. W. de Guinang.

"We are sensitive of sacrifices you have made," Gen. Eisenhower said, "and as far as possible consistent with military operations I pledge that you will get everything back we can bring you. I only ask that you understand we are doing our best."

The General's promise of aid was interpreted as indicating his concern over the shortage of civilian supplies in Belgium, where the bulk of the people face the prospect of a heatless and hungry Winter.

The ornate chamber was crowded to the top tier of its white columned balconies and it resounded with spontaneous cheers at the mention of President Roosevelt's reelection.

"The fact that the American people have elected him to a fourth term as head of the United States is definite proof that the country will support him in the task of international reconstruction," said Frans van Cauwelaert, President of the Chamber of Deputies.

Premier Hubert Pierlot stressed the long period of suffering of the Belgian people under German occupation and, in a voice ringing with emotion, said to Gen. Eisenhower:

"General, you launched the greatest battle of all times and you won it . . . you conquered in three weeks what was occupied by the enemy during 52 months. Belgium, for the largest part, was liberated in eight days."

Robert Gillon, President of the Belgian Senate, emphasized German barbarism in his speech of welcome, declaring the Nazi overlords were "the most frightful oppressors who tried to impose on us the new order which ignored human dignity and individual liberty."

Canadian Railway Troops Get Things Going in France

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, Nov. 9 (CP) — Canada's railway troops are making things hum in France.

A company of the 1st Canadian Army Railway operating group, under Maj. H. T. Alcorn of Melville, Sask., has worked with railway troops of Britain and the U.S.A., to get things under way.

Maj. Alcorn, formerly with Canadian National Railways, has had his H.Q. in a German shack, brought complete from several miles away. From this office he supervises all work done in the yards, roundhouses, and blockhouses of the area.

At a main round house, locomotives are overhauled and serviced by Canadians who formerly worked for the C.N.R. and C. P. R. in Canada.

Some of the Canadians like Sgt. John James of Vancouver live in old boxcars where they claim to have all, or practically all, the comforts of home.

The company includes firemen like Spr. Arnold Fredlund, Calgary and Engineers like Spr. Johny Layman of Fort William.

Boeings Expect Sea Island Plant to Run Till 1946

VANCOUVER, Nov. 9 (CP) —Officials of Boeing Aircraft of Canada Ltd., today announced that their Vancouver Sea Island establishment is expected to be "fully occupied" on Superfortress bomber production until well into 1946, following fresh orders for 1000 additional aircraft obtained by the company's Seattle plant.

Despite the extended program, additional staff will not be required, it was disclosed in an official announcement. Current layoffs at the Sea Island plant will continue.

United Grain Growers Show Large Profit

CALGARY, Nov. 9 (CP)—United Grain Growers Ltd., showed a profit of $475,152 for the year ended July 31, it was revealed in the financial report of R. S. Law, President, presented to the annual meeting which opened here today.

After appropriation of $230,000 for income and excess profits taxes there is a net profit of $245,152. Provision for a five per cent dividend for the year on paid up capital amounted to $157,342.

Baby Out of Danger After Mercy Flight

VANCOUVER, Nov. 9 (CP)—The infant daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Sidney Waldman was out of danger here last night, hospital officials reported after the arrival of an RCAF plane which had taken part in a mercy flight from the Waldman home in the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Two R.C.A.F. aircraft brought the baby and her mother in from Beatty Anchorage 500 miles northwest of here. One of the planes flew the sick child to a point along the Northern coast of British Columbia where a plane piloted by Flt.-Lt. "Ritz" Ritzell took over and flew the party here in a record three hours.

Casualties in Schelde Fighting Heavy—Churchill

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 (CP) — Canadian Army casualties for the Schelde Estuary fighting, which Prime Minister Churchill said in London today had cost heavy Canadian and British losses, won't be available until early in December, Defence headquarters indicated today.

The last casualty figures covered the month of September and were issued Nov. 6. This lag is observed for security reasons and it is assured October figures— reflecting the heavy Schelde fighting— will be issued about Dec. 8.

The September figures showed the Army had suffered 8445 casualties for the second highest monthly total of the war. The highest total—9338—was suffered in August during stiff engagements in France which led up to the invasion of Belgium and Holland. Army casualties since war started to Sept. 30 were 51,022.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King mentioned the Schelde fighting in his reinforcement speech last night. he said:

"The recent victories on the Schelde are the answer to those who say that, because of insufficiently trained reinforcements, the Army is not being adequately supported."

A factor which must be considered in any study of casualties is the salvage work performed by army medical services. Medical officers have declined to estimate the reclaim rate as it varies according to the type of fighting and other circumstances.

One said, however, "You can safely say we are repairing men to fight again at a very much greater rate than the last war."

Another military source, recently returned from overseas, said they had heard estimates as high as 25 per cent of wounded men reclaimed for battle.

Child's Budget . . .

Plan Spending of Pocket Money

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

Many parents pay the growing child for regular jobs about the home, such as for washing dishes and tidying a room. They aim to let the child earn the money he gets for free spending and to motivate him to do the chores.

The few parents who feel they have been successful with this plan should go on with it. But very few really are successful: They set the pay up as a reward for doing the job and then find themselves nagging at the youngster to get him to earn the money. As a rule, the child gets the money regardless.

Anyway, the child who is paid for a few regular jobs is not very likely to volunteer to do other jobs which are not paid for. And if he is always paid for sharing in the chores and drudgeries of the home, how is he to learn to feel a healthy obligation to do his part in the family?

As a rule, I advise that each child as soon as he is old enough, shall have a few simple, regular jobs he can't escape doing; that these jobs at first be only one or two in number, with a few more gradually added as he grows older.

Then let this youngster have a regular allowance to cover a few days at first, a week later and a month or more still later (say at high school age). Let this allowance at first take care of just "pocket money" and gradually also include money for regular needs.

If this child has, in addition to his regular duties at home which are not paid for, a job such as a paper route, let his earnings be budgeted on the same plan and, if necessary, be supplemented. In case these earnings exceed what would be a reasonable allowance, he should be made to set aside a portion of his earnings each week as savings or approved investment in other than passing pleasures.

This certainly should apply to the youth from 12 to 17 who is working part time or full time. One of the most pernicious practices, very widely prevalent, is that of allowing the child who earns far more than would be warranted by a wise allowance, to spend all his earnings for mere passing pleasures. These children need parents who guide them, even require them when necessary to abide by a budget when practices thrift and wise spending.

In a family of several children the jobs assigned and the allowances given or budget to be followed, should vary with each child's age, of course. In any home, boys as well as girls should be required to share in the regular home duties. As a rule, they do better in taking turns at such jobs than in doing the jobs together.

Rumors . . .

Food Notions Often Foolish

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Deliver us all from the food crank. They usually are on the dyspeptic side and look far from healthy. They never seem to be enjoying life or to want anybody else to enjoy it.

Being a nutritionist, I have a hearty respect for the right eating but I'd much rather a person would be like Benjamin Franklin, who couldn't tell 30 minutes later, what he had had for dinner than for him to get so tetched on the subject of victuals that food lectures are the only recreation and foolish notions about food are accepted as gospel.

Did you ever hear that:

Fish is a brain food.

Raw onions will cure insomnia.

Proteins and starches cannot be eaten together.

Cheese is hard to digest.

Celery will cure neuralgia and is also a nerve tonic.

Egg white is tough on the kidneys.

Tomatoes clear the brain.

Oranges and lemons cause acidity.

Well, there isn't a grain of truth in any of it. Fish is good protein food and it contains a high percentage of phosphorus, and since the brain contains prosphorus somebody leaped to a connection. The terrible part is that a survey showed 32 per cent of the school teachers in 14 states concurred in that idea. But any good food can be said as a brain food. The idea that onions would put a body to sleep no doubt originated with some onion sandwich eater nobody would talk to, so he had to go to sleep. Any food that is digestible by itself is digestible in combination with other digestible foods—and that goes for lobster and ice cream and milk and oranges.

The theory that protein and starches should not be eaten at the same meal is disapproved by the fact that Nature combines them. It is an old tale that cheese is difficult to digest. Cheese is a protein and stays by you longer but it is one of our best protective foods. Celery is no tonic. Because eggs contain albumin they're supposed to be tough on the kidneys—which is ridiculous.

Everyone should have an egg a day, four per week at the least.

Tomato is a good eye-opener but it doesn't seem to clear any heads. As for oranges and lemons causing acidity, they produce an alkaline reaction in the body and, therefore build up the alkaline reserves.

If everyone will just forget all such notions and plan menus around the seven basic food groups, we'll be a healthy nation.

Doesn't Make Sense ...

Just Won't Come Home

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Miss Fairfax:

We have been married a year and a half, and my husband is now stationed in California. We have a lovely baby girl whom we both love. Everything was going along fine until I received a letter from my husband about a month ago, telling me he didn't intend to come back to me, although he didn't want me to get a divorce.

I don't understand his attitude at all because I never had an inkling of this in previous letters. He always wrote he couldn't wait to get home to the baby and me.

I've written him several times since I received that letter, saying we both want him back, but have never had any more letters. Shall I continue writing?

—Sailor's Wife.

Unless your husband has been seriously injured, or has contracted some disease, or become involved with another woman, to whom he has not confided he has a family, his letter doesn't seem to make sense. He doesn't want a divorce and yet he refuses to come back. Why not write his commanding officer or his Chaplain, and try to get some real light on the situation?

Mother, With One Son in Belgium and One in India, Makes Striking Appeal for Victory Loan

To The Editor,

Sir—Inspired by the splendid concert given by the Naval Band last night, the interesting talk from Lt. Freeman, and the few words spoken by Col. Hoover, I felt very much inclined to have gone on the platform that night and added my plea to all those of you who are hanging back from taking out applications for Victory Bonds. Some are unable t financially, as I am myself, but those who can sacrifice a little more will you please do so?

This past Summer I have watched the stream of cars going along the North Shore and wondered if I were dreaming that the war had finished and peace was here again! No doubt, some were up for business, but most were pleasure cars and while the owners and friends were sitting in comfort our boys overs as are going through discomfort and more; crawling long miles to escape from the enemy's lines, staying for 12 hours continuously, without making any movement except to breathe, in order to lull the suspicions of the enemy and then finishing their objective the next day in order to capture mountain the enemy had left unguarded, thinking it was impregnable. Others have been prisoners for many years, caged behind wire fences like animals, eating their hearts out for a sound of a voice from home, a sight of familiar scenery, a longing to be free again, even being menacled like slaves; that, I believe, is aganist the Red Cross regulations for prisoners to be treated.

Civilians need to be rescued, too, homes rebuilt, families reunited, food and clothing supplied to the people and other help to aid them to begin a normal, peaceful life again. I feel sure that a great many mothers, wives and kin of the men overseas will agree with me, that I sincerely hope it will be possible, when dictating the terms of surrender to the Germans and their allies, to force them, with money, men and supplies to help rebuild the many towns they have so ruthlessly destroyed. The works of stolen art should be delivered up to the authorities in charge of the surrender terms and returned to their original galleries or collections, as far as possible. Little children have been malmed and crippled for life and will need assistance to become useful citizens.

HELP GET THE BOYS HOME

Cannot those of you who are holding back, come and give in an application at any bank or with a canvasser from the loan committee, so that we can get these boys home, help to get peace in Europe and other continents and get back to a normal life for everyone?

Even here, though it hardly seems possible there is a war on, we are feeling its effects in frayed nerves, owing to working longer hours, men doing their own repairs, owing to labor shortage, working 10 hours or more a day, Sundays included, in their endeavor to satisfy customers, who have to take their turn and wait a long time, some very impatiently.

The boys are getting very homesick after being away for two to five years fighting in order to keep those here in comfort, with cars, radios, comforts of home, etc., all the amusements that can be obtained in this lovely country, waiting to welcome tourists when everything is settled.

I have only two boys to represent me in this war, Max who is 24 today, being with a tank regiment in Belgium, and Ian, with the R.C.A.F. in India. Those boys left home when I was ill and it has been a real anxiety to me that I have not been able to cheer them on with letters, etc., while away, as frequently as I should. Now I am feeling quite well again, and after a very peaceful Summer spent close to the lovely Kootenay Lake, that was a great aid to my recovery, my happiest moment will be when I hear familiar footsteps, and those boys say, "Hello, Mum."

Max's medical record between the ages of 7 and 17 shows infantile paralysis and three attacks of rheumatic fever but now he is 6 feet tall and weighs 185 pounds, enlisting in Feb. 1941.

Ian joined up before finishing school in April, 1941, had suspended leave and then trained as a radio-gunner. He had promotions and is now Flt. Lt. and O. C. Signals Sections.

"I AM VERY PROUD"

I am very proud of my Corporal and my Lieutenant and they are doing their work every bit as well as the lowest or highest in rank in all services, but their part in life is to come back home as soon as possible and get into a normal stride.

Please help to bring them back, we want them so much.

Extracts from Cpl. M. H. Carne's letters while in France and Belgium.

Sept. 26—"Here's that prodigal son again still fit and raring to go. Every thing is going fine even though our fine weather has finally come to an abrupt end. It has been raining the past two or three days and it sure doesn't help this country any. It's poor tank country at the best of times, but after a few days rain, it's nearly impossible. The roads are fair and we have pretty good going on them. Most of the roads are all cobble- stones, and the tanks sure rattle and bang when we drive over them.

TOUGH SCRAPS

"Things are fairly quiet around here but we don't mind that very much. The British are having pretty tough scraps in Holland just at present, but they should clean it up pretty soon. Up until I came to this country I thought that wooden shoes were a bit out of date but I see everyone on the farms from the smallest kid up to old women clopping around in them. They look a bit heavy to me but they seem perfectly happy with them.

"I would like to be home now as the hunting season is in full swing We have been getting pretty good hunting over here, but it is a little bit different. There is no limit to stick to, anyway!"

THE COLONEL IS KILLED

Oct. 5—"Everything is still going fine around here. Pretty quiet here, but we don't mind that. I even managed to get into Ghent for a day's leave the other day. It is the largest city I have been in over here and found it quite a nice place. We were all very sorry to lose Col. Worthington as we all thought he was pretty good. He was a damn good guy to drive for anyway. Col. Worthington was killed the day I lost my first tank. We lost quite a few good men that day."

"I have often wondered how long it will be before I get home after the last shot is fired. I wonder if they will send us over to fight the Japs. I wouldn't mind it very much as I would like to see that part of the world. I would much rather see some of the Zombies in Canada sent over though, and I think most of the boys over here think about the same as I do. They haven't been doing anything except sit around in Canada waiting for us to finish this business, so that they can go back to all the good jobs. Personally, I'm not worrying about that, as I don't as a rule cross my bridges till I come to them. I might head North, as I think there are some good prospects of something doing. It should be really opening up in the post-war years.

CRAWLS THROUGH GERMAN LINES

"We haven't been doing very much lately. I have been on a couple of patrols up into Holland and found the people quite nice. There were dikes, windmills and wooden shoes wherever I looked. I think I will get a pair of those cloppers, as they are known around here, as a souvenir."

*This reference was to his first day in action, when this tank (30-ton) was shot up early in the day. The crew usually only have seconds to get out, and that night Max had to crawl five miles through the German lines to return to his headquarters. He was the only one of this crew in camp again.

Signs 7th Will Be Largest Loan

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 (CP)—National Headquarters of the Seventh Victory Loan said tonight indication pointed to this being the largest Victory Loan in Canadian history, providing the results of the first 16 days of canvassing continued in the final two days.

Officials said it was possible, when today's figures have been recorded, that the total of the Loan will reach $1,200,000,000, just $100,000,000 short of the minimum objective of $1,300,000,000. Subscriptions in the Sixth Victory Loan last Spring totalled approximately $1,400,000,000 against an objective of $1,200,000,000.

Highlights of reports today was the purchase by the Sun Life Assurance Co., of Canada, which signed an application in Montreal, of $22,000,000 in bonds.

The National Loan total now stands at $1,119,576,500, of which individual Canadians have purchased $513,750,350. An analysis shows that at the end of the 15th day of canvassing, 2,032,000 applications have been received, compared with more than 3,000,000 in the full period of the Sixth Loan.

Officials said that if these additional 1,000,000 applications are received the Seventh Loan should be the best in Canada's history.

The Canadian National Railways system reported their employees have gone over the $10,000,000 mark. This figure exceeds the total at the same stage in the Sixth Victory Loan by $3,161,350, while the number of purchasers is an increase of 8101.

Continue Taxation of Corporations, Retain Sliding Scale on Individuals, But Abolish Dual Taxation

In both Canada and the United States a strong demand, supported by labor leaders whose primary consideration is employment, is developing for the abolition of corporation taxes, so as to avoid double taxation of company earnings.

Canada has had dual taxation of company earnings for 20 years, the United States has gone in heavily for the same practice since the war began.

In effect, in this country we have triple taxation of company earnings. Companies are taxed from 30 to 100 per cent, with 20 per cent of the 100 per cent rate refundable after the war. Recipients of dividends pay Income Tax on the graduated scale on the dividends they receive. The third tax is a surtax of 4 per cent on all dividends in excess of $1500 to any one person. Thus, if the Income Tax totals 37 per cent, it becomes 41 per cent on dividends over $1500; if 65 per cent it becomes 69 per cent.

To provide full employment after the war we must have plenty of new enterprises, and our present taxation structure discourages the average man from investing or speculating in such enterprises.

Abolition of dual taxation would speed up the flow of money, cause it to pass as quickly as possible through a maximum number of hands, create more business, create more opportunities for employment.

Of that there is no question, but there is a question as to whether abolition of corporation taxes is the best solution, because it could only be accompanied by a tremendous and enterprise-restricting volume of new regulations to ensure that corporations distributed dividends, instead of piling up the money in undistributed reserves. For company earnings to serve best the national interest they must, within the bounds of business prudence, be distributed so that the flow of money will be maintained, and so that it can become taxable in the hands of the shareholders who receive it.

Dual taxation can be abolished by a method which would not involve new government controls, new bureaucratic interference with business, new political controls — all of which would stifle initiative and defeat the purpose of abolition of dual taxation, which is to stimulate business so that business can employ more people, turn out more goods to increase Canada's standard of living, ship more goods to foreign countries.

The method, which does not yet seem to have been advanced in any of the financial papers, or by experts like Beardsley Ruml in the United States, is to retain the principle of taxation of corporation profits, but to credit dividend recipients with an allowance proportionate to the taxation which has been paid on the actual dividends before the corporation issues the checks.

This would not mean that the man with a large income, and who consequently would be in a higher Income Tax bracket, would get a greater proportionate allowance than the man with a small income. The allowance would represent only the tax that had already been paid once. Our sliding scale of Income Tax rates is a surtax system. We start at 37 per cent — made up of 7 per cent normal tax and 30 per cent Income Tax — and we go as high as 92 per cent, or 96 per cent on dividends in excess of $1500.

Under the present minimum tax on corporations with earnings over $5000 a year, it requires net earnings of $100 to provide dividends of $60 to the shareholders who have risked their money. That is to say, the taxes already paid by the corporation represent 66.66 of the dividend received.

If the individual taxpayer were assessed on the basis of his total income, including dividends, and then allowed a deduction to the extent of the amount which the dividend-paying corporation had already paid on the dividends, dual taxation would be avoided, the merits of taxation of corporations retained, and encouragement to invest in new enterprises and the expansion of existing businesses would be provided without absolving those in possession of high incomes from paying the scale provided for in the high brackets of Income Tax.

Something of this sort, though it is an allowance for depletion, is done in the case of dividends from mining companies—which are exempt to the extent of 20 per cent in the hands of the shareholders who receive them.

It is to be assumed that after the war there will be reductions in rates of taxation, but this would not affect the principle of the plan under which dual taxation of employment activating investments could be removed.

Says C.C.F. Ban on Herridge Destroys Unity of Socialists and Labor

To the Editor:

Sir—To the controversy that has arisen over the refusal of the C.C.F. Provincial Executive to accept Mr. H. W. Herridge's nomination, I would like to add some important points which as yet have not been mentioned. While the statement issued by Harold Winch as to the executive's reasons for their decision may seem logical enough, it however does not answer the basic conditions involved.

The C.C.F. Nominating Convention at which Mr. Herridge's nomination was unanimously accepted, did so mainly as a result of the endorsation of Mr. Herridge by the Trail local of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union representing the largest labor organization in the district, and, as an effort to unite the various labor forces in this district including the Labor Progressive party. It is true that Mr. Herridge's policies on the war, and for unity, have been supported b ythe L.P.P., however some malicious attempts being made to represent Mr. Herridge's nomination as purely L.P.P. influence, deliberately confuse people and act as a cover for anti-unity forces in the C.C.F. leadership today. Mr. Herridge's statements on the war and the immediate measures involved have also coincided with the great achievement of unity of all classes and sections of the people necessary to win this war.

Hitler's rise to power in Europe was not only as a result of the political and economic conditions which existed in Germany, but of similar conditions in other countries, notably Britain, France and the U.S.A. which allowed and in some cases, even assisted Fascism. The tremendous struggle of democracy and freedom has brought about a complete realignment of forces in most of the democratic and freedom loving nations of the world.

In their independent struggle for survival, Socialists, Communists, Liberals, Labor and Progressive capitalist elements have welded themselves into a common bond of necessity. This unity today stands ready, and must be continued, to solve those conditions of unemployment, wages, depression, starvation and suffering which made fertile ground in the development of Fascism. However today this coalition stands threatened by C.C.F. policy, and as a result of the considerable swing to the left of the masses in the last few years, a very serious threat.

At the beginning of the war, the C.C.F. proclaimed their support and willingness to cooperate in government measures to prosecute it. This at a time when in Britain the Chamberlain Government policies prevented an effective unity in winning the war. When Churchill took over the reins of government he immediately revised the war cabinet for national unity taking in direct substantial labor representation and set about to obtain collective security with the other great powers (U.S.A. and the Soviet Union) which along with war developments resulted in the present grand coalition. Since that time the C.C.F. leadership has embarked upon a studied policy of exploiting every government weakness for partisan political advantage. To say the least, such a policy endangers the fruits of victory and Canadian democratic progress and prosperity for the future.

Here are the real issues involved, for Mr. Herridge's nomination for Federal candidate in West Kootenay is supported because of his stand for unity, and of being known and liked throughout the district. There are no constitutional barriers or others preventing the acceptance of his nomination by the C.C.F. Provincial Executive. It is a clear cut question of whether the wishes of the people in this district for unity as expressed in his nomination are to be refused. The struggle within the C.C.F. for a policy of unity is no longer the sole property of the C.C.F., but is of direct concern to every progressive person. Partisan politics can have no place where the future success and progress of our country are concerned.

The Labor Progressive Party has stated its willingness to forgo nomination of a candidate in this district against Mr. Herridge in the interests of unity and are supporting the petition now being circulated on this basis.

H. DRAKE.

Reader, Kimberley—Could you please inform me on the following: (1) Is a mortgage void after seven years in B. C. if no money has been paid in that time? (2) How long does a mortgage hold good? and (3) If the property goes to tax sale and is purchased by another party, does the mortgagee still have a claim, or does the city issue a new deed and the mortgagee has no claim?

The answer to your first question is, No. In case of (2) the mortgage holds good for 20 years after the last payment has been made, and (3) A new deed is issued, but there is still a claim against the mortgagor for the money owing.

Merchant, Trail—Would you be kind enough to advise why oleomargarine is not for sale in B. C. or in any other part of Canada. Maybe you could advise why it is for sale only in some states of the United States.

Shortly after the last world war, oleomargarine manufacture in Canada and the importation of this product into Canada were banned by a Dominion statue, as a measure of protection to Canadian agriculture. It has never been repeated.

Wandering, Castlegar—What is necessary to have to go for a visit into the U. S. for a person born in Sweden, but migrating to Canada with his parents? He has not a birth certificate but a sworn document signed by a lawyer and older brother confirming who he is and age, also a proof of father's naturalization from Ottawa, under which he received citizenship. He came to Canado at the age of 11, his father being naturalized in August 1914. Would these papers be enough or what else would he need?

If he was included with his father's application for naturalization all he requires is proof of the naturalization, and proof of his own identity.

Interpreting The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Berlin assertions that the United States 3rd Army has launched a full scale break-through effort against the Metzwa guarded Lorraine gateway to the upper Rhine must be accepted with caution. That it has some definite relationship to Allied preparations to turn or blast a way through the German Rhineland defence wall goes without saying.

There is good reason to doubt, however, that the next Allied main power blow in the West will fall on the Netherlands extension of the Siegfried line. That has been implicit in every Allied move since the sweep through France and Belgium reached German frontiers too far ahead of its supply lines to push on immediately to the Rhine.

The objective for which the 3rd Army is reported to have seven divisions in battle on a 50-mile-wide front from North of Metz to East of Nancy could be to turn the powerful Metz defensive barrier he failed to take by assault.

The mere fact that army censors permitted disclosure that six divisions had been thrown into the attack is significant. Resort to close support use of heavy bombers further indicates the importance of the third army drive in relation to overall Allied assault plans at this stage.

The capture or isolation of the Metz fortress would unquestionably put Patton's forces in a position to strike toward the German frontier and the Saar River just behind it.

Dennis George Recovering From 3rd Wound

Sgt. Dennis George of Nelson, who was wounded for the third time this year last month, is recovering, his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth George, 416 Silica Street, has learned in a letter from Sgt. George.

Sgt. George, paratrooper with hard-hitting Special Service Corps composed of Canadians and Americans, received bullet wounds in both ears in France Sept. 13. The other occasions on which he was wounded were in June and December, when he was serving in Italy.

He enlisted in July, 1940, at the age of 17, eventually receiving training in Helena, Mont. A year ago he spent a furlough in Nelson after seeing service at Kiska.

Two other brothers are in the services. Sgt. Pat George served with the Air Force in India and is now in England. Another brother, Lawrence, is stationed at the Coast with the Canadian Army. He is taking a course at Vancouver following a period of eight months' illness in Shaughnessy Hospital.

Both Dennis and Pat were born in Nelson, the former attending Hume, Junior and High Schools. Pat received most of his schooling here, concluding his High School education at Anacortes, Wash., where he resided with his sister, nursing there.

Netherlands Gov't Claims Part of Prussia

LONDON, Nov. 9 (CP)—Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee told the House of Commons today the Netherlands government, in an official communication to the British Government, had reserved the right to claim as compensation for damage and destruction caused by the Germans a "suitable part" of the adjoining Prussian territory.

The House cheered when Mr. Attlee declared, "so far as the British government are concerned, all just claims for territorial compensation at the expense of Germany which the Netherlands government may decide to put forward will be given energetic support."

Over 250 Boys Out for Kid Hockey in Trail

TRAIL, B. C., Nov. 9—Over 250 boys, 118 of them bantams, are all set to fight for positions on juvenile, midget and bantam Booster club teams just as soon as the curling club's pre-season bonspiel is over.

After the bantam teams have been chosen, the players remaining will be formed into a pool and these layers will be given special coaching in skating, stickhandling and passing. As they improve, various players will be moved up to bantam teams.

As the present hours, 4-10 Mondays and 4-7 Fridays, are felt to be inadequate to cope with the huge turnout, an attempt will be made to get more ice.

Three juvenile and four midget clubs will operate in Trail this Winter and at the end of the season an all-star team will be picked from each division to represent Trail in the provincial playdowns.

Capt. Byrnes Appointed Member O.B.E.

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 (CP)—The Defence Department announced today that Capt. Henry Judson Byrnes, 32, of Edmonton, member of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, has been appointed a member of the Military Division of the Order of the British Empire. Capt. Byrnes' wife lives at Nelson, B.C.

Capt. Byrnes only last June was liberated from internment in the Vatican following his capture in Sicily by the Germans, and later escape. He was interned in September, 1943. Mrs. Byrnes, who resides with her parents, Mr and Mrs. T. McMillan, 519 Carbonate Street, has received letters telling her of "the wonderful treatment" accorded him by Vatican officials.

Capt. Byrnes was captured and his driver, an Albertan, was killed while on reconaissance in Sicily at the time the Nazis were in full retret. How he later escaped has not been revealed.

Former member of the Seaforth Highlanders at Vancouver, he joined the Army Service Corps in 1937 at Calgary following his transfer there He went overseas in May, 1940.

Not "Impressed" by Mackenzie King's Statement

VANCOUVER, Nov. 9 (CP)—Robert Macnicol, Executive Secretary of the B.C. Command of the Canadian Legion, in a statement issued here today said he was not "impressed" by Prime Minister King's address last night announcing the Dominion Government will continue the voluntary service system.

"If," Mr. Macnicol stated, "there are only 8000 draftees ready for service, will Mr. King explain to the taxpayers of Canada what his Government has been doing with their money.

"Last night's address has not changed my mind.

"It was packed with evasions and apologies—principally an apology to Quebec.

The speech was branded by Angus MacInnis, C.C.F Member of Parliament for Vancouver East, as a "possible threat of coercion."

"I am afraid now," he said, "that extra pressure will be put on them in the services by their superior officers in order to make them volunteer for overseas duty . . .

"Mr. King's general tenor was apology and an attempt to smother facts."

Survey Research Work Being Done in B. C.

VICTORIA, Nov. 9 (CP) — A survey of existing research facilities in the Province will be made immediately by the B.C. Industrial and Scientific Research Council, it was learned today. At the same time the Council plans to extend contact with individual B.C. industries.

It is expected the proposed survey will indicate how existing facilities can be used to undertake research for industry and how the Council can best serve the Province at the present time. Eventually it is the aim of the Council to establish central laboratories in a coordinated plan to supplement existing facilities of their own with a nucleus staff which will be able to carry on research for B.C. industry on a cost basis.

Encouraging progress is being reported on all research projects being undertaken by the Council. Research of the charcoal properties of softwoods obtained in Zeballos Valley has been complete and a report is being prepared.

All dairymen in the Province now are receiving a pamphlet containing practical suggestions that may help to prevent the spread of mastitis—a dairy cattle disease causing heavy financial losses each year. This pamphlet is being distributed through the courtesy of the milk distributors and veterinarians.

Gracilaria plants (seaweed) growing twice as large as have been reported elsewhere, have been found in the Gulf of Georgia in the last two months. Gracilaria has a high commercial value, as it is a source of agar, an important food and medicinal product.

Prairie Units Take Part in Schelde Battle

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN HOLLAND, Nov. 9 (CP Cable)—Two Prairie infantry battalions, the South Saskatchewan Regiment and the Regina Rifle Regiment, took part in the great battle of the Schelde Estuary which led to the opening of Antwerp, it was permitted to disclose today.

The South Saskatchewans operated on South Beveland Island, on the North side of the Estuary and before that in battles fought North of Antwerp to clear the causeway to Beveland and its approaches.

The Regina Riflemen shared in the epic struggle on the Leopold Canal and later took part in attacks from the Breskens area which drove the Germans Westward through the Schelde pocket South of the Estuary.

It was the Saskatchewans who made the difficult assault over the ship canal cutting across South Beveland Island in the drive for Walcheren, crossing the waterway at night in canvas and wood boats.

Capt. Vic Schubert of Weyburn, Sask., led his company across the canal, crushing German machine-gun resistance on the far side. Maj June Thomas of Vancouver, who fought with the Vancouver Seaforths in Sicily and Italy, followed up the initial assault with his company.

Election Bets Paid Off

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 9 (AP)—The film colony was its old uninhibited self yesterday as freak election bets were paid off. Red-headed Ann Sheridan paraded through the town wearing a ragged costume and burnt-cork make-up, after betting on Gov. Dewey with make-up man Perc Westmore. Yvonne de Carlo lost an unspecified bet to Martha O'Driscoll and paid off by kissing the first 50 servicemen she met on the street.

B.C.-Yukon Loan Investments Hit Record High

By The Canadian Press

With public and armed forces investments at $58,575,150 at noon Thursday, British Columbia-Yukon territory reached an all time high in the Seventh Victory Loan.

Six out of ten divisions and 25 out of 43 units are over the top.

In the public campaign $2,982,850 poured in from 10,785 applications Thursday. On the corresponding day in the last loan sales were $2,372,500. Large applications stand at $48,959,650.

Vancouver Island and New Westminster-Fraser Valley were over the top Thursday. Armed forces are still the leading division at 129 per cent of quota.

Units reporting success included Kerrisdale-Dunbar, Greater Victoria and North Okanagan. Others likely to make the grade Friday include Kitsilano-West Point Grey, Surrey-Langley-Delta, Abbotsford-Mission-Haney, Chilliwack, Revelstoke-Golden-Field, Kamloops-Clinton-Salmon Arm, Nelson, Quesnel-Wells-Williams Lake, Prince Rupert and district, and Saanich-Esquimalt-Gulf Islands.

Vancouver South dislodged Ladysmith and took the lead among all units in the province at 138 per cent of quota. Ladysmith holds second place at 134 per cent, followed by Dawson-Mayo 133 per cent.

More than doubling its $10,000 quota, Stewart and Premier in Northern British Columbia set a mark for sub-units to shoot at.

Helping North Okanagan unit over the top, the Vernon sub-unit reported sales of $476,350—$11,350 over quota. North Okanagan investments stand at $821,500. The quota there was $810,000.

Field, sub-unit of Revelstoke-Golden-Field, reached 125 per cent of quota to qualify for a second honor pennant.

Pte. Stone, Cranbrook, Wins 100 Yd. Dash at Army Games in Belgium

WITH THE CANADIAN ARMY IN BELGIUM, Nov. 9 (CP)—Residents of a little town in Belgium saw a softball game for the first time when a company of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps ran off a sports day on a recent sunny afternoon.

The townsfolk didn't understand what it was all about, but they turned out in large numbers and watched and cheered enthusiastically.

The day included races, a tug-of-war, a horseshoe pitching competition and other games. Cpl. Kenny Reardon of Radville, Sask., former star with Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League, was the individual star. He was a member of the winning relay team, he ran second in the 100-yard dash and he won the rugby throw.

For the softball game, one team borrowed the sweaters of the local soccer club, and called themselves the "Belgians" and the other club named themselves the "Canadians." The "Belgians" won 4-1.

The line-up of the "Canadians" included Cpl. Reardon, 2nd base and Pte. T. N. Britton, Mudie Lake, Sask., 3rd base.

Former Nelson Girl Praised for Work in Fire

Former Nelson and Slocan Valley resident, Marie Soucey has won commendation for her action in arousing sleeping occupants of a burning house in Vancouver Monday. Fire Chief J. H. DeGraves had praise for Miss Soucey's action.

Miss Soucey was late in leaving for work and, smelling smoke, succeeded in rousing the occupants in time to escape. Police said four people in the upstairs portion of the house might have burned to death if it had not been for her action. Fifteen people occupied the house, which was extensively damaged.

Mrs. Emil McKay, 74, invalid, rescued from a smoke-filled room by Capt. R. H. Sowden, died Tuesday.

Miss Soucey was a former employee of the Nelson Daily News and came to Nelson from the Slocan Valley. She moved to Vancouver early this year.

Gnr. Peter Pearce, D.C.M., Carried on for Wounded Officer Under Heavy, Continuous Fire

Citation accompanying the Distinguished Conduct Medal awarded to Gunner Peter Lancelot Pearce, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Pearce of Nelson, for gallantry in action has been received by his parents. It follows:

"Gnr. Pearce was acting as Observation Post assistant during the attack by Camerons of Canada on Fontenay le Marmion which commenced on the night of 7-8 Aug., '44. His officer was wounded but was able to carry on until hit a second time at about 1100 hours. From then until relieved about eight hours later, Gnr. Pearce took command of the Observation Post and maintained communication with the guns, engaged many hostile targets, kept contact with the infantry and throughout kept his regimental commander informed of the tactical situation. These duties of an O. P. officer were performed by Gnr. Pearce under heavy and continuous machine gun and mortar fire. Often under direct observation by the enemy.

"For several hours the position of Camerons of Canada was completely surrounded, and all their means of communication had been put out of action. The fact that Gnr. Pearce remained at his post and kept contact with his regimental commander was the sole means by which the Brigade Commander was enabled to learn of the desperate situation and plan necessary steps to restore it.

"The performance of Gnr. Pearce was an outstanding example of the greatest courage, presence of mind and ability to take responsibility in a most critical and dangerous situation. It was in keeping with the highest traditions of the service, and earned the admiration and gratitude whose ultimate safety he was largely responsible."

Vernon Collects 96 Per Cent of Year's Taxes

VERNON, B. CQ., Nov. 9 (CP)—Vernon has struck an all time high record in 1944 tax collections having collected nearly 96 per cent of the current years levy or $125,301. Satisfaction was expressed by Mayor D. Howrie.

Paper Reports War Assets Corp. Marketing Plans

VANCOUVER, Nov. 9 (CP)—The Vancouver Sun, in a newspage story today said:

". . . Marketing plans of the British Columbia Office of War Assets Corporation . . . form part of a Dominion-wide picture in which between three and four billions of dollars an "agressor nation," surprised and equipment will be made available to the public.

"Already across Canada the Corporation is selling $1,000,000 worth of surplus materials, equipment and goods a month. At its peak the volume may reach a monthly volume of $6,000,000."

The story said sales of surpluses in B.C. on the open market included $1,000,000 worth of logging equipment operated by Aero Timber Products Limited "and a warehouse full of aircraft material from Boeings."

". . . John B. Carswell, head of War Assets Corporation, said this Government Advisory Board operates on two cardinal rules: (1) to make it impossible for the speculator to do business in Canada's war goods surplus; and (2) to dispose of the goods without creating economic problems, particularly unemployment as a result of industrial inactivity in a glutted market . . .

"The Corporation also sells through established trade channels . . . preventing unfairness to regular wholesale and retail outlets . . . no lush commissions are paid. Money realized on the sales goes back to the Dominion Treasury to be applied to the national debt . . ."

American People Show Confidence in Electing F.D.R.

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP) — The Times said in an editorial today that "comfortable Democratic majorities" in the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives "are a striking testimony to Mr. Roosevelt's hold on the confidence of the American people."

"Crude attempts to invoke the 'Communist' bogey — whether in the form of Mr. Roosevelt's alleged subservience to Marshal Stalin abroad or to Mr Hillman's political action committee at home seem to have conspicuously missed fire," the Times added.

Market Trends . . .

LONDON, Nov. 9 (CP-Reuter) Rather quieter conditions prevailed although the undertone continued firm. Selective support appeared for Industrials with Radio finding favor on post-war prospects, while Building issues looked steadier following yesterday's dullness and there was some investment inquiry for tobacco issues.

NEW YORK Selected Aircrafts, Rails and Specialties tilted upward although many leaders displayed notable rising reluctance.

The recent Boeing order for Army planes, revival of long war talk and expectations of heavy demand from foreign nations apparently spurred the Aviations. Wishful thinking regarding possible generous yearend dividends brought some Transportations into popularity.

CHICAGO—The heaviest corn bookings of the season were too much for the grain futures trade and, all except the wheat market developed a weak undetone.

Cash dealers reported more than half a million bushels of corn bought since last night for deferred shipment. Shipping sales at noon totalled 145 thousand bushels.

MONTREAL—Majority of securities were slanted up.

TORONTO—Three of the four index groups posted a margin of gains over losses and volume was down moderately. Golds weakened slightly.

Labrador gained 10 cents to 2.50 and Steep Rock was down 5 to 2.83. Other Base Metals held steady.

WINNIPEG—Wheat exports in excess of 800,000 bushels were reported. French interests took 600,000 bushels, Switzerland 250,000 bushels and South American millers a small quantity of milling grades.

Other dealings saw United States buyers purchase 200,000 bushels of malting barley.

Rye futures exhibited independent strength advances were scored early on good shipper support. Offerings were not heavy but well absorbed.

VANCOUVER—Golds were featured again. Total turnover amounted to 24,100 shares.
