ADVANCE 2 MILES ON NEW FRONT

Greek Island of Kithera Captured

Commando Assault Becomes "Camping Trip"; May Be First Step to Greece

By The Canadian Press

A new thrust to liberate Greek territory from German thraldom became known today with disclosure that British Commandos have occupied the Island of Kithera, 5½ miles off the Southern tip of the Peloponnesus.

Commando forces landed on several Greek islands in the Aegean Sea last Autumn at the time of Italy's surrender but later were driven off or captured.

Royal Navy and Royal Canadian Navy warships conducted the expedition to Kithera. Date of the occupation was not given but the Commandos went ashore there to find German troops had pulled out a few days earlier.

Meanwhile there was no further word from Allied sources on the progress of the Allied land operation in Albania, announced last week.

The Axis-controlled Zagreb radio placed the fighting in the Delvino-Argirocastro area in Southern Albania.

The immediate objective of this drive apparently was the seizure of Port Sarande, which would cut off the Italian Island of Corfu, in the Straits of Otranto off the Greek-Albania boundary.

The Kithera landing possibly foreshadowed an Allied drive to clear the Germans from the Greek mainland. Already the enemy is believed to be withdrawing from Greece to escape possible entrapment between Allied forces on the Adriatic coast, and Russian troops now operating in conjunction with Marshal Tito's Partisans in Eastern Yugoslavia.

WITH BRITISH COMMANDOS ON KITHERA ISLAND, Greece—British Commandos made an unopposed landing on this island, 5½ miles off the Greek Peleoponnesus, at 10 o'clock Thursday night.

Natives said the Germans withdrew last week.

The peaceful invasion was made by a task force of the Royal and Royal Canadian Navies.

Left-wing Greek Partisans who welcomed the landing party said the Germans had withdrawn from the island during the week previous but still were present in force in outstretching fingers of the Peleponnesus just across a channel from the island.

Landing with the first assault wave at the tiny fishing village of Avlemonon on the East coast, I saw probably the most un-Commando-like operation on record. Veteran Commando troops approached the shore ready for trouble—but almost at the moment of landing earlier intelligence that the island was clear of Germans was confirmed. The assault turned into a camping trip.

Within 10 minutes of landing, "no smoking" and "no flashlights" rules were abandoned.

German forces in the Peleponnesus, who have little chance of getting out of the Balkans with the Russians and Yugoslavia Partisans crossing their escape lines and mutually antagonistic bands of Greek Partisans occasionally forgetting their own fights and attacking the Germans, must look on the Commando occupation of Kithera as an Allied stepping-stone towards the Greek mainland.

The fishing ports, coves and inlets around the shores of the island, which is roughly 11 miles wide and 19 miles long, afford moderately good hideouts for light warships immediately on the flank of German shipping lanes from Greece to the island of Crete.

We came on this expedition from the stronghold of Mussolini's Fascist fleet, Taranto, and sailed over its graveyard off Matapan, where Royal Navy warships inflicted a crushing defeat two years ago.

Appropriately, the first man to land on Kithera was Commando Capt. Harry Kithera of Sherborne, Dorset, England.

Asks Assurance Civil Service Jobs Be Held for Veterans

CALGARY, Alta., Oct. 2 (CP)—Alex Walker, Dominion President of the Canadian Legion, in a letter today to Prime Minister Mackenzie King called for reassurance that civil service positions are being kept open for war veterans.

Mr. Walker said the announced policy of the government was to make permanent in civil service posts only veterans entitled to preference and civilians who were appointed to the posts prior to the outbreak of war.

"There is a strong belief that the Civil Service Commission is being subjected to a great deal of pressure which, if not resisted with the full backing of the government, will result in a wholesale blanketing-in of civilian war personnel to permanent department establishments," Mr. Walker said.

Indian Troops Threaten Jap Lines

KANDY, Ceylon, Oct. 2 (CP) — Indian troops outflanking Japanese defences at the enemy's Western Burma base of Tiddim are engaged in scattered fighting Northeast and East of Tiddim, headquarters announced today.

These Indian units are threatening Japanese communications between Tiddim and the Chindwin River, 40 miles to the East.

10000 Japs Killed in Southern Palau Struggle

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 2 (AP)—A military government has been established on captured Angauri Island in tht Palau group, said a communique today from United States Pacific Fleet headquarters which also disclosed that only 187 Japanese have been taken prisoner since the Palau invasion began Sept. 14.

More than 10,000 Japanese soldiers have been killed in the Southern Palau fighting where American forces now control Peleliu, Anguar, Ngesebus, Konhauru and five smaller islets, just 515 miles East of the Philippines.

KWEILIN READY FOR DESPERATE FIGHT TO DEATH

Former Gay Spot Evacuated; Troops Take Over

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH
Associated Press War Correspondent

KWEILIN, China, Oct. 2 (AP)—Japanese forces only a few miles away and slowly closing in, this city, once the gayest spot in free China, today was but a grotesque, tragic caricature of its old self.

(The Chinese High Command in Chungking Monday announced heavy fighting four to 12 miles Southeast of Hingan, 31 miles from Kweilin but this dispatch from Farnsworth indicated the invaders were even closer to the strategic Kwangsi province city, once the site of an important United States air base which has been abandoned).

The streets are littered with broken tile, bricks and wooden debris from ruined buildings.

En route into the town, the road was lined with broken rickshas that gave way under their tremendous load of household goods before the refugees could get out of sight of the city. Smashed furniture and cooking utensils lay scattered along the roadsides.

Only soldiers or closely supervised coolies no ware permitted in the town.

The evacuation of Kweilin was an exemplary accomplishment carried out in three days—Sept. 12, 13 and 14. Civilians remaining thereafter were liable to summary execution.

The citys' outer defences consist of a tangle of unbroken barbed wire, some going straight up the walls. The Chinese have several surprises in store for the enemy.

Giant German Arsenal Seized

FLORANGE, Lorraine, Oct. 2 — (AP)—A giant arsenal which the Germans started planning back in 1928 has been seized by American troops in this iron-rich province of France.

Guns ranging from 88-mm. to 12-inch long-range rifles with 25-foot barrels were being turned out here in a massive plant covering 10 acres and equipped with modern machinery.

In the same plant which has a capacity of 1000 guns annually, steel shell cases of the 88's were produced at a rate of 150,000 a month. High grade steel for its products came from a foundry a quarter of a mile away.

Florange has other steel plants yet to be inventoried. It is but a small unit in the vast munitions empire which the Germans had made of Lorraine, both above and below ground.

A Messerschmitt factory, found at nearby Algrange and a buzz-bomb factory at Thil—both built in ore mines—are other evidences of Hitlers' plans to concentrate a big part of his war production in the province he once proclaimed a part of Germany.

90 McGill Grads to Receive Degrees

MONTREAL, Oct. 2 (CP) —Ninety graduates of McGill University's first completed accelerated medical course will receive their degrees at the annual Fall convocation Friday, it was announced today.

The 90 doctors completed the regular four-year course in two years and 11 months of uninterrupted study. In addition, 12 dentists will graduate Friday as the result of the accelerated course.

The gold medal for highest standing in dentistry will be presented to Eric Palmer Gill of Victoria.

HUNS VIRTUALLY STALL ALLIES IN PO VALLEY

British Push Through Gunfire; Hot Fire Harasses Americans

NAZIS DIG IN

By GEORGE BRIA
Associated Press War Correspondent

ROME, Oct. 2 (AP)—German resistance officially described as "very strong" had brought the Allied drive for Italy's industrial North to a virtual standstill tonight along the last mountain rim guarding the broad Po River Valley.

Despite heavy concentrations of Nazi artillery along the entire 8th Army sector near the Adriatic coast, British troops cleared the last enemy snipers from Savignano and struck on across the Fiumcino River. To the Southwest other British units reached the Fiumicino's banks North of Montalbano.

The Germans were dug in strongly along the Fiumicino Northern bank and were supported by many pieces of self-propelled artillery

American troops met particularly violent enemy resistance, fighting off Nazi counter-attacks for the fourth straight day as they clung to Monte Battaglia, a towering height 11 miles from Imola on the Bologna-Rimini Highway, after capturing neighboring Monte Capella.

American troops inching through the mountains toward Bologna had to contend with furious German shelling and seemingly endless enemy minefields.

Front dispatches indicated elements of 27 Nazi Divisions were holding the Italian fronts, with 12 facing the British 8th Army in the Adriatic sector and eight opposing the Allied 5th Army in the centre. Another seven are believed divided between the Ligurian coast and the French-Italian border in Northern Italy.

Accuses Polish Committee of Neglecting Army

LONDON, Oct. 3 (Tuesday) (CP) — An editorial accusing the Polish National Committee of Liberation not only of neglecting to help the underground fight in Warsaw but of standing in the way of assistance, appeared in today's semi-official Polish daily (Diennik Polski.)

It was written as a reply to attacks made by the Soviet-endorsed committee, generally known as the Lublin Committee, on General Bor-Komorowski, recently appointed by the London Government as military Commander-in-Chief.

"On Aug. 6, after six days of fighting in Warsaw, Gen. Zymierski and Mr. Morawski (President of the Committee) declared there was no fighting in the capital," the editorial stated in part.

"Later, when the Soviet press admitted fighting was going on, they began to make charges that the rising had begun prematurely, and they did despite the fact that they bore responsibility for the communique issued by the Union of Patriots from Moscow on July 29, called the population of Warsaw 'to arms.'

"They knew well that Marshal Stalin himself had declared the Soviet forces were expected to be in Warsaw on Aug. 6, six days after the rising.

"M. Zymierski, pretending to the role of C. in C. and endeavoring to create a militarist regime in Poland, did not order the Polish airmen who are under his command to fly over Warsaw, fight the Germans, and drop supplies and that at a time when 105 Polish airmen perished while bringing aid from Allied bases in Italy.

"Worse still, at the same time, he ordered disarming and arrests of detchments which were marching to help Warsaw."

Alfred Smith "Gravely Sick Man"

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP) — Alfred E. Smith, 70, former New York Governor, "is a gravely sick man", despite the fact that his condition is better than when he became ill Saturday, his personal physician Dr. Raymond P. Sullivan, reported late today.

GUN FORTS ON STILTS GUARDED SUPPLY ROUTE

LONDON, Oct. 2 (CP) — The Government revealed today that seven forts bristling with guns, built on concrete stilts above the water in the Thames Estuary, have been guarding the strategic seaborne supply route to London since 1942.

ALLIES BREAK INTO PO VALLEY: After taking the stubbornly defended seaport of Rimini (1), and crossing the Rubicon the 8th Army troops have pushed on into the vital Po Valley. At the same time, 5th Army units captured Firenzuola (2), strategic junction 29 airline miles South of Bologna. The twin victories will enable Allied forces to cut all Nazi communications to the Gothic Line. On the West coast (3) Brazilian troops moved northward after capturing Pietrasanta, 19 miles North of historic Pisa. Large black arrows show eventual direction of present Allied drives.

Russ, Tito's Forces Batter Germans

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Russian troops invading Yugoslavia have linked up with Marshal Tito's 14th Partisan Corps and the combined force is assaulting the German stronghold of Donji Milanovac on the Danube River 80 miles Southeast of Belgrade, the capital, a dispatch from Bari, Italy, said tonight.

Twenty-five miles to the South other Soviet units, fighting in mountainous Serbia, were threatening the big former French-owned Bor copper mines. The Russians on Sunday reached within 12 miles East and Southeast of Bor, and also were within two miles of Zajecar, a rail junction serving the Bor mines and rich coal producing areas near by.

The chances of trapping an Axis force originally estimated at 200,000 men lessened, however. Moscow, in an unusually brief communique, announced there were "no essential changes" on the long front between the Baltic and the Balkans. The Germans were reported making a "masterful retreat" through the Ibar Valley from Greece and Lower Yugoslavia.

Moscow dispatches said the Russians still had a chance of cutting off from 40,000 to 50,000 Germans should they be able soon to reach and cut the Nis-Belgrade railway and roads through the Morava Valley. On Sunday their advance elements were within 43 miles of the railway in the Zajecar area.

A dispatch from Joseph Morton, Associated Press correspondent, at Bari on the Adriatic, told of the German retreat and the junction of Tito's forces with the Red Army near Donji Milanovac.

He said the Allied troops had seized 450 square miles of territory, freeing the big Nanube Bend area Southwest of Turnu-Severin, Romanian border base whence the Red Army drive was launched. Marshal Tito recently conferred with high Soviet officials on the joint operations in his country, the dispatch said.

DRIVE TOWARD BELGRADE

On the Southwestern approaches to Belgrade Partisan troops were within 55 miles of the capital after seizing Lesnica, and on the South had taken Sopot, near the Nis-Belgrade trunk railway at a point only 18 miles South of the capital.

Zajecar is 45 miles Northeast of Nis, important objective of the attacking Russians.

On the front of invaded Southeastern Hungary the Russians lost Mako, three miles inside pre-war Hungary and 15 miles East of Szeged, Hungary's second city, Berlin claimed.

Moscow still has not announced the Hungarian penetration.

The Russians were stalled in the offensive ring almost encircling Riga, Latvian capital on the Baltic, but a Pravda dispatch said the battle there now was entering its conclusive stage, and added: "The hour of liberation is near for Riga."

Inside Warsaw weakened Polish patriot forces were forced to give up the Northern Zoliborz Distric, but still hold points in the centre of the capital, said a communique from Gen. Tadeusz Komorowski (Bor.)

Urges Speedup of Removal of Bulgarians

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—State Secretary Hull prodded Bulgaria today to speed withdrawal of Bulgarian troops from Greece and Yugoslavia.

He said at a news conference that "we can't help but notice reports that Bulgaria doesn't seem in any hurry to get the troops out.

Withdrawal of these forces, it was learned, is one of the terms being prepared for the former Axis satellite. Bulgaria asked for an armistice Sept. 8, immediately after Russia had declared war on her.

However, the European Advisory Commission is still working on armistice terms. Asked what was causing the delay, Mr. Hull said the terms were in process of preparation.

As far as they have been completed, it was reported elsewhere, the terms put Bulgaria back within her 1939 boundaries. Slices of Bulgarian territory claimed by Greece are said to be left as Bulgarian for the time being, with the possibility left open for readjustment at the peace conference.

It appears unlikely at this point that there will be any Allied military occupation of Bulgaria, although Allied troops will demand freedom of passage.

An Allied Control Commission is expected to be established to administer the armistice and direct return of loot and of war criminals to liberated countries.

Eisenhower Warns Dutch Islands

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Oct. 2 (CP) — Gen. Eisenhower warned residents to evacuate immediately the Dutch islands in the Scheide Estuary because "there is every likelihood that a severe and prolonged aerial bombardment" will start soon.

The message said the danger of flooding the islands "also threatens your lives."

The string of six or seven inhabited islands lie off the Southwest Coast of Holland, South of Rotterdam.

CANADIAN GRENADIER GUARDS IN BATTLE

WITH THE CANADIAN ARMY IN BELGIUM, Oct. 2 (CP Cable)—The Canadian Grenadier Guards, from Montreal, have been engaged in operations South of the Scheide Estuary along the Leopold Canal, and were one of the Canadian Army units which advanced into the strip of Holland in that area, it was disclosed today.

2500 BOMBERS HIT HUN LINES, 3 LARGE CITIES

Cologne, Kassel, Hamm Walloped; Armies Supported

WRECK VILLAGES

LONDON, Oct. 2 (CP) — More than 2500 Allied planes hammered at Germany today, blasting a path through the Siegfried Line for the United States 1st Army's new offensive and plastering the great enemy cities of Cologne, Kassel and Hamm.

Twelve heavy bombers out of a force of 1,200 American heavyweights that heaped destruction on the three cities, failed to return, and seven fighters are missing.

About 500 medium and fighter-bombers joined in the barrage against the Siegfried Line before the 1st Army went over to the offensive, and the German Air Force offered little resistance.

About 900 heavy bombers took on the industrial plants of Cologne, little more than 30 miles East of the fighting front, and Kassel's factories farther East.

A force of 300 heavies plastered Hitler's biggest freight yards at Hamm, Northeast of Cologne, through which the enemy High Command would be expected to rush men and material to the new fighting front.

Escort pilots reported flak was intense but there was no air opposition.

R.A.F. medium bombers, escorted by Spitfires, gave close support to the British 2nd Army forces at the tip of their salient in Holland, across the Neder Rhine from Arnhem. They hammered German troop concentrations apparently forming up for counter-attacks.

Two German villages in the path of the 1st Army offensive—Merkstein, about a mile East of the border, and Palenberg, four miles farther North at the frontier — were pulverized by medium and fighter-bombers.

Other forces of speedy Mosquito Intruders bombed a rural factory 30 miles from Handorf, and carried out more than 40 small attacks on rail and canal targets in Germany and Holland during the night. No aircraft were lost in these operations.

The big bombers were over Germany 20 of the 30 days in September, concentrating on railway terminals choked with supplies for the Western front. Reconnaissance reports said their work of sealing off Nazi forces dug in on the Siegfried Line has been highly effective.

Bad weather over the battle area Sunday prevented extensive flying, but one group of French-based RAF Typhoons shot rockets into the concrete fortifications at Dunkerque and blasted at least 19 barges in the waterways of Southern Holland, where there was considerable enemy traffic.

R.C.A.F. Bombers Attack 3 Subs

WITH THE R.C.A.F. COASTAL COMMAND, Oct. 2 (CP) — Three more German U-Boats have been hunted down and attacked by Coastal Command Liberator bombers during recent patrols, the R.C.A.F. announced tonight.

U-boat No. 1 was attacked by a bomber belonging to the famous R. A.F. Dawn Patrol squadron.

Flt. Lt. J. R. Morrill of Kamloops, B. C., was second pilot.

U-boat No. 2 was hunted down and attacked in the English Channel by another Liberator crew captained by Fo. H. H. Cordon Cooper of Medicine Hat, Alta. Other Canadians in his crew included Fo. W. J. Hartrick, Victoria Navigator.

The third U-boat, discovered operating in the North Atlantic, was attacked by a crew captained by Po. Morris Weiner of Montreal who has attacked four subs since joining the Coastal Command.

A Canadian wireless operator air gunner flying with his crew was Wo. 2 R. P. Lesueur of Vancouver.

PLANS FOR VETERANS' UNIT, ESSONDALE, NEARLY COMPLETED

VICTORIA, Oct. 2 (CP)—Plans for a $800,000 addition to the Veterans' unit at Essondale, B. C., mental hospital have been nearly completed by the provincial architect's staff.

The addition will consist of a large central section to adjoin the present wing, and a second wing opposite to that already built. More than 300 additional offices, laboratories, wards and rooms of many types will be included and the addition will double the capacity of the present wing built 18 years ago.

Infantry Hurled Into Huns After Gigantic Barrage

By HOWARD COWAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The United States 1st Army, loosing a powerful drive under an earth-shaking barrage of bombs and shells, smashed two miles into the Siegfried Line on a new front today, and a furious battle raged tonight as the Germans fought from pillboxes barring the way to the Rhineland.

Infantry with bayonets, tanks and mobile guns hurdled the tiny Wurm River North of the frontier fortress of Aachen and fought into Germany on a six-mile front, advancing behind an artillery bararge paced by 10-inch howitzers.

Farther North the British 2nd Army moved up assault forces on an 18-mile front in Holland after smashing back two vicious counter-blows aimed at the narrow Nijmegen corridor.

Thirty miles North of the American thrust, another drive appeared to be gathering as British forces pushed Southeast eight miles from Deurme to the Netherlands town of Meujel, 20 miles East and slightly South of Eindhoven. Meijel is only 10 miles North of Roermond, where a good bridge spans the Maas (Meuse) River on the road to Germany.

CANUCKS GAIN 4 MILES

Formations of the 1st Canadian Army, pounding the South bank of an estimated 200,000 Germans pinned down in Western Holland by the British thrust to Nijmegen and the Neder Rhine beyond it, drove four miles North into Holland at a point Northwest of Turnhout, despite stubborn enemy resistance.

Lt.-Gen. Hodges' 1st American Army infantry jumped off two hours after the first of 500 medium and fighter-bombers came hammering out of the clouds, shattering a comparative lull of two weeks while the 1st Army mustered strength for the blow.

The bombers wiped from the map two German villages, Merkstein, a mile inside Germany, and Palenberg, four miles North, both in the path of the push, which may be aimed at the enemy's fifth largest city, Cologne, 35 miles East of the crossings, or Dusseldorf to the North standing at the gate to the Ruhr industrial valley.

The Americans also threw two other punches at the Germans. One was at Havert, just inside the Reich, 12 miles Northwest of Meijel and the other at Overloon, in Holland just South of British positions on the West bank of the Maas.

The Germans again struck back with flame-throwing counter attacks, striking at Berg, 24 miles Southeast of Aachen.

The focal point of fighting was between Ubach and Herzogenrath, nine and five miles respectively North of Aachen. They were about four miles from the main highway to Julich, a road junction 22 miles from Dusseldorf and an equal distance from Cologne.

Supreme headquarters cautioned correspondents not to expect a quick break-through.

The entire 460-mile front showed signs of restlessness, and indications were that soon the furious fighting would spread.

BRITISH MOVE OUT

British 2nd Army forces moved out menacingly toward the German stronghold of Hertogenbosch, 25 miles Southwest of Nijmegen, and were in assault positions only three miles to the East in what may be a drive against the Germans walled off to the West.

(The Germans asserted this five-mile push was paced by the veteran "desert rats" British 7th Armored Division, which helped to chase Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps out of North Africa.)

Gen. Eisenhower broadcast a warning to the Netherlands to clear out of two islands in the Scheide Estuary which the Germans have fortified to keep the Allies from using the great port of Antwerp. He asserted massive air blows were impending.

There were signs that the Germans, sensing peril in these positions, were preparing to pull out of Western Holland, but a British staff officer emphasized there was as yet no wide-scale withdrawal, only a number of truck convoys moving North.

In Holland the Germans first struck toward the Nijmegen crossing of the Waal Rhine from the area of Huissen, eight miles Northeast of Nijmegen, but their tanks were driven off by artillery and R.A.F. rocket-firing Typhoons.

Another attack came rolling from the area of the Reichswald Forest, Southeast of Nijmegen, the Germans charging with flame-throwers

The Tommies drove five miles North of Oss, a town 15 miles Southwest of Nijmegen, to the Maas River, where it turns West and runs parallel with the Waal Rhine. From there the assault line extends South through Nuland and Berlicum, five to three miles East of Hertogenbosch.

Units of the 1st Canadian Army, hammering against the Southern flank of the Germans in Western Holland, struck a hard core of resistance Northeast of Antwerp but pounded on into Holland.

They were cutting across the Antwerp-Turnhout Canal, a 25-mile water barrier where the Germans had deployed about 25 battalions.

CANUCKS TAKE VILLAGE

In their Northerly thrust the formations under command of Lt.-Gen. Crerar captured the village of Baarle-Hertog (Baergle-Duc) three miles inside the Southern boundary of Holland.

Ross Munro, Canadian Press War patch that the 25 enemy battalions, Correspondent, said in a field disequivalent in combat strength to nearly three German infantry divisions, are a mixed collection gathered together from troops which escaped over the Schelde estuary from Southwestern Holland.

These forces constitute part of the 200,000 Germans still in Western Holland. The enemy forces also are strung along the Netherlands Islands of Walcheren and Zuid Beveland in the Schelde estuary and it is estimated 15,000 still are stationed on the South bank of the estuary, where Canadian formations face them.

The American 1st Army push North of Aachen was the largest of three main attacks levelled by Lt.-Gen. Hodges' troops at the enemy on a 50-mile front extending Northward into Holland.

Farther South, the U. S. 3rd Army swung sharply Northward close to a junction with the 1st Army.

Driving through Luxembourg, the 3rd seized the little duchy's seventh century village of Grevenmacher, only 12 miles Southwest of the German Siegfried fortress of Trier, scene of the 1st Army's original entry into Germany.

At the Southern end of the long front, the U. S.-French 7th Army was slowed to an advance of a few hundred yards at the Southern entrance to the Belfort Gap.

Finns Capture Hun Garrison

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 2 (AP) — Swedish newspaper reports from the Finnish border said German troops were fleeing North of Tornea after Finnish troops had captured the German garrison in the border town.

A dispatch from Haparanda — across the Swedish-Finnish border from Tornea—estimated 2,000 Germans were routed by two Finns who surprised the Nazis by slipping through their defences Saturday night and attacking the garrison early Sunday.

The Finnish communique made no mention of the fall of the town but declared Finnish and German forces had been engaged in battle in Tornea since yesterday morning.

The border dispatch said the Germans had attempted to hold out until reinforcements could arrive from the Nazi stronghold at Kemi on the Gulf of Bothnia several miles South of Tornea, but the Finns cut the road and beat off the relief column.

The Germans were reported to have started demolition of military and port installations in Kemi, now nearly encircled.

In Central Finland, German forces were reported fleeing East of Pudasjarvi with Finnish troops in close pursuit.

Continue Search for Lost Pilot

VANCOUVER, Oct 2 (CP)—The Royal Canadian Air Force continued searching today for the pilot of the Kittyhawk fighter which crashed on the outskirts of Vancouver Friday. No traces of the missing airman were found in the wreckage, officials said.

Planes are scouring the Gulf of Georgia in hopes that he may have parachuted while flying from Vancouver Island to Sea Island. Other searchers are combing wooded areas.

Funds Available for Main Lake Ferry, Premier Assures Banqueters; B. C. Leads in Plans for Post War

Funds for the construction of a new Kootenay Lake ferry and for the provision of an improved Main Lake ferry service were immediately available, Premier John Hart assured a gathering of over 100 business and professional men Monday night at a banquet tendered by the Nelson Board of Trade.

A picture of the Province's post-war plans for rehabilitation and reconstruction was presented as the Premier, clearly and concisely, "rendered an accounting" of the Government's policies of sound business administration and its accomplishments since coalition in 1941. He pledged the continuance of a business administration for the Province.

CITIZEN'S BENEFITS FOREMOST

"We are determined," he said, "to continue to give business administration; to plan for the welfare of the people; and to develop our great natural resources in a manner that will create opportunities not only for our men and women returning from the services, but also for the younger generation of our Province."

No reference to the ferry was made in his report on public works, Mr. Hart explained, because provision had already been made. He reiterated the statement of Public Works Minister Herbert Anscomb, when here recently, that there remained only two considerations, the location of the best possible ferry route, and the obtaining of the ferry's construction at a reasonable price.

This assurance was of great importance to the District, Chairman George A. Hoover, President of the Board of Trade, later replied. An improved service meant a great deal to this section of British Columbia.

NOTHING TOO GOOD

The Coalition Government's accomplishments and plans for the future in humanitarian or social legislation, labor legislation, Provincial - Municipal relationships, post-war planning, rehabilitation, education, aid to farmers, coal and oil, land development, treasury control, financial improvements, purchasing control, and in regard to the war effort, public works were comprehensively outlined by the Premier.

Nothing was too good for the returning men and women who went overseas to fight this country's battle, he asserted. He explained at length the Province's plan to link with the Dominion policy for the settlement of service men on the land. Over 6000 of B.C.'s fighting men, who previously had two years experience in farming, had expressed a desire to return to the land. The Dominion's plan was a generous one and offered a great opportunity for the Province to tie in its own arrangements. The people could look forward with confidence to a beneficial settlement of returned men on the land.

B.C. LEAPS

The end of the war would find B.C. ready to meet post-war conditions, Premier Hart assured. "I think you will find conditions satisfactory in British Columbia when this great war is over," he said, as he explained plans that had placed the Province first in the Dominion in preparations for rehabilitation and reconstruction. A Post-War Bureau had been set up and the reports of a Post-War Rehabilitation Council referred to it were regarded as the "most comprehensive of any compiled in Canada."

RELIEF FOR CITIES

He felt confident, the Premier asserted, that relief would be forthcoming to cities and municipalities from the cost of education, and social services, A survey of municipal expenditures and government contributions would be made by experts, he promised. He felt that it would be recommended that the Provincial Government play a more important part in defraying such expenses.

Betterment of social legislature services had been one of the first considerations of the coalition government, and a leading accomplishment. Old age pensions, mothers' allowances and unemployables assistance had been measurably increased and free medical attention and drugs provided.

Important changes had been made in labor legislation, until B. C. legislation was acclaimed as the most advanced of all the provinces.

The development of new coal and oil resources in the North held considerable promise. Optimism prevailed among oil producers regarding the discovery of oil; while a syndicate engineer's report on coal deposits of the Peace River declared the coal to be superior to most in known fields of the continent. Legislation was passed for the control and development of coal and oil sands and it was not possible under the new Act, he explained, for any company or individual to get title to these lands and hold them out of production.

CONFIDENT OF DEAL

It was his ambition, the Premier said, to have the two great Canadian railways develop the coal deposits and to take over and extend the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to haul out the product. He had confidence that such a deal, which would directly benefit the Province, would come through.

Provision had been made for a large program of public works as a post-war project. For roads $10,000,000 had been provided, and for buildings, $5,000,000. In addition a special bill was passed appropriating $2,000,000 for institutional buildings, some of which were in the course of construction; $1,500,000 for additional road maintenance, and $500,000 for surveys and locations.

To place interior students on an equal basis with those residing at the Coast in obtaining university education, the construction of University dormitories, it was felt should be a first consideration. The University of British Columbia had been advised to work out a policy and when the time came for permanent buildings construction the Government would be prepared to meet heavy expenditures.

British Columbia was prepared to sit in at a proposed Dominion-Provincial conference and discuss "anything in the welfare of the country." He was ready to propose, when the conference was called, that the Provinces be willing to let the Dominion collect income and corporation taxes and that the Provinces receive back a percentage of the collections. He was not in favor, he said, of signing over to the Dominion, the right to collect such taxes on a basis where the provinces did not benefit from normal business increases of from the development of resources.

British Columbia must receive the revenue necessary to maintain and improve its fine standards. "We must bring others up to our standards, not our down to theirs," he said.

He described the "good housekeeping" financial policy followed by the Government to bring B. C. to its present outstandingly sound position.

Changes had been made by the Treasury to bring about greater control of expenditures and purchase of supplies. A Purchasing Commission had been set up charged with the responsibility of purchasing all supplies, thus divorcing such purchasing from political control.

1945 LICENCE REBATE

It had been decided to grant a similar 20 per cent rebate on car licences next year as had been done in 1944, Mr. Hart announced.

Aid had been given to farmers by exempting all improvements on farm land from taxation. Farmers were still allowed, he said, to pay off taxes by working out like amounts on highways.

Consideration of road improvement in the Kootenay was urged by Mayor N. C. Stibbs when he extended the City's welcome to the Premier, "one of the best known figures in Canadian government life." It was a highlight of his career in municipal life, His Worship declared, to welcome such a highly-regarded leader to Nelson.

Nelson and the Kootenay had enjoyed exceptional good fortune in 1944 in having visits by several Government departmental heads, said President George A. Hoover, of the Board of Trade, in introducing the Premier. He recalled the visits of Hon. E. C. Carson, Minister of Mines, Trade and Industry, of E. G. Rowebottom, Deputy Minister of Trades and Industry and of Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Minister of Public Works. These with the visit of the Premier gave a warm feeling that the Kootenay was looming to the forefront in Government consideration.

His appreciation of the welcome by Mayor Stibbs, of the opportunity afforded by the Board of Trade for a chat "away from the atmosphere of politics," and of the banquet, was voiced by the Premier.

Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham said the Grace.

TOAST and TEA

BY J. V. M'AREE

Abraham Lincoln was not a religious man in the ordinary sense. He did not belong to any church; but once he said that, in moments of great perplexity and distress, he had often been driven to his knees bcause "there was no place else to go." Nevertheless his reputation was perhaps justification for a story which he used to tell at his own expense. He said that he heard that two Quakers were arguing as to which side, the North or the South, God would give the victory. One of them insisted that the victory would go to the South because "Jefferson Davis is a praying man." The other objected: "But Mr. Lincoln is a praying man, too." The first Quaker seemed dubious about this, and added: "Well, perhaps he may be, but if he is, God is likely to think he is joking."

Develops Rubber Plant; Sees Vancouver Market

VANCOUVER, Oct. 2 (CP)—Nick Boldt said today that experiments conducted in the last six years in suburban Vancouver have culminated in development of a rubber plant with a potential annual yield per acre of 600 pounds of rubber or almost double the average yield from standard rubber plantations.

Boldt who said his family has been interested in rubber plantations in the Dutch East Indies for many years came to Canada in 1924 in quest of a pure rubber source.

He claimed the plant which grows to a height of 18 feet in about 18 months would put rubber on the market in Vancouver at a cost of 25 cents a pound compared with the present average cost of 60 cents a pound for synthetic rubber.

Tests of the latex extracted from the plant have been conducted in Vancouver and Seattle chemical laboratories and the Dominion Research Laboratory at Ottawa has named the new plant "Lactuca Biennis."

Plans have not yet been made for development of Mr. Boldt's plant, which has been formally recognized by the National Research Council.

Coast Surgeon Performs New Lung Operation

VANCOUVER, Oct. 2 (CP) — Dr. Otto DeMuth, Vancouver surgeon, left today for Philadelphia where he will demonstrate before the International College of Surgeons a new technique in lung surgery.

Believed to be the first time in the history of lung surgery that such an operation has been performed, Dr. DeMuth recently used living tissue as a ligature after removal of a portion of the lung of a Vancouver woman.

Dr. DeMuth invented the instrument which was used to bind the human tissues in lariat style around the edges where the lung was cut to remove an abscessed portion. The instrument looks like a long silver tube with a spindle at one end.

The fresh tissue taken from the thigh is looped through the tube and attached to the spindle. By turning the spindle the loop is tightened around the ends where the lung was cut.

Dr. DeMuth said the advantage of fresh tissue is that it will decrease the chance of hemorrhage. He said he believed the new technique will mean a 90 per cent chance of success in an operation once considered dangerous.

Dr. DeMuth's patient was a young mother who suffered from empyema (pus in the lungs) from an abscess. She is recovering rapidly from the operation.

Beat Resolution Asking Removal of Japs in Company

INGERSOLL, Ont., Oct. 2 (CP)—Town Council, by a vote of four to two tonight defeated a resolution which would have urged that the William Stone Company Ltd. remove Japanese in its employ from Ingersoll at the "earliest convenience."

The resolution was moved during discussion of incidents at the fertilizer plant on Sept. 24 when a crowd of 300 persons attempted to storm the living quarters of the Japanese on the company premises. Three Ingersoll men subsequently were convicted of illegal assembly.

Report Big Stock of Demarara Rum Is Stored at Coast

VANCOUVER, Oct. 2 (CP)—The News-Herald said in a newspage story in its Tuesday edition that British Columbia Liquor Control Board owns a stock of 100,000 gallons of Demarara rum stored at its expense in bonded warehouses in nearby New Westminster, B. C., and in the West Indies, but unavailable to the public because of Federal restrictions imposed before it could be released from bond.

Half of the shipment was in New Westminster warehouses and Liquor Board Chairman W. F. Kennedy had made very effort to obtain its release to help alleviate the shortage of spirits in the Board's stores.

The paper quoted Mr. Kennedy as saying the shipment, equal to 600,000 bottles, would be "more than sufficient to meet public demands for a whole month, even though every liquor store customer took spirits instead of beer."

Release of the shipment from bond would have eliminated the necessity for the curtailment of the October spirits quota to 13 ounces per customer, Mr. Kennedy was quoted as saying.

Warm Clothes Vie for Priority With Guns, Gas on Fronts

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED SUPREME HEADUARTERS, Oct. 2 (AP)—American strategic bombers have taken a major role in the vital battle of supply now being waged in France and Belgium by loading their bomb bays with Winter overcoats and uniforms for shivering thousands of American troops instead of explosives for the enemy.

It is apparent that among the biggest problems confronting Gen. Eisenhower is the race against Winter and the struggle to overcome the handicap of long supply lines.

These obstacles must be measured alongside the problem of German strength. Headquarters now is faced with the question of giving munitions and gasoline higher priority than warm clothes.

Despite the known Allied power, it is apparent that the Supreme Command is preparing for a long Winter campaign.

Aircraft Plant Strikers Vote to Resume Work

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 2 (AP) — Striking workers at the huge Pratt and Whitney aircraft engine plant voted to return to work at midnight tonight after a work stoppage of about 24 hours.

The announcement was made by Thomas F. Lyndon, Executive Committeeman for the International Association of Machinists, Local 314, A.F.L., following a meeting of the membership.

Lyndon said tonight that the union's demands for discharge of four foremen and a group leader and reinstatement of a discharged worker were based largely on the alleged discharge Sept. 16 of a veteran of 28 months in the South Pacific and nine months in the merchant marine "just because the group leader and the foreman didn't like him."

FIND GERMANS COOPERATE WITH INVADERS

Few Violations of Restrictions; Curfew Strict

NAZIS FLEE

By HAL BOYLE

KORNELIMUNSTER, Germany, Oct. 2 (AP)—An officer in the first Allied Military Government unit established inside Germany said today the German populace is cooperating well and that there has been no known case of civilian violence against occupying American troops.

"There have been a few cases of sniping but they were so close to the front lines it is reasonable to assume they were by Nazi soldiers who filtered past our outposts," said Lieut. Shale L. Tulin, East Norwalk, Conn.

Tulin said this section was strongly Catholic and that the Nazi doctrines had never gained the same hold as in the heart of Germany.

So far there have been only six enemy civilians brought to trial in the summary Military Government court.

"Four women were convicted of violating security by entering the combat zone," said Tulin. "They gave the excuse they wanted to go back to their homes to get some belongings. They were fined 1000 marks — about $100 — and paid. Otherwise they would have been given six months in jail. The other two defendants were German men accused of stealing coal owned by the American Government."

The Military Government has established stringent restrictions on civilian movements to safeguard the security of Allied troops.

There is a dusk to dawn curfew and none except those given one-day passes—doctors, nurses, midwives and food agents—are allowed to move more than a few score yards from home, day or night.

A farmer cannot even travel a half mile to pick up a stray cow and if the cow wants to get milked she has to find her way home by herself.

All civilians—men, women and children — between the ages of 12 and 60 have been registered. They also have been required to turn in all guns. Since all Nazi officials have fled with the German troops the Military Government has had to select a burgermeister in each occupied town to act as intermediary and carry out orders affecting the civilian populace.

"They get interpreters for us to arrange for billeting the army personnel and locate stores and materials for us," Tulin continued. "We don't give them anything. Our policy is that the Germans must take care of their own people and it is the duty of the burgermeister to see that food is brought in from the surrounding countryside and distributed so that nobody starves."

Fear 11 May Have Perished in Northern Storm

OTTAWA, Oct. 2 (CP) — The body of a three-year-old Eskimo child washed ashore on the bleak coast of the Beaufort Sea today led to the fear that 11 other persons aboard a native-owned schooner also had perished last month.

Northwest Territories Administration officials said that the schooner Cally, now unreported for almost a month, may have foundered in a severe storm Sept. 9 while en route to Anderson River with supplies for a reindeer station there.

They still hoped that Stanley Mason, a reindeer herd supervisor and the only white man aboard, might have escaped with other survivors aboard a canoe towed by the schooner when it left Port Brabant, a Hudson's Bay Co. post to the Westward early in September.

Mayor of Dover Sends Thanks to Canadians

Funeral services for William John Wilton of Nelson, who died at the Kootenay Lake General Hospital last Monday, were held from the Thompson Funeral Home Saturday afternoon, Rev. W. J. Silverwood of the Church of the Redeemer officiating. Miss Margaret Thompson was organist. Interment was in the Returned Soldiers plot at the Nelson Memorial Park.

Mr. Wilton, an old naval veteran, and also a veteran of the First World War, was born in Cornwall, England, in 1863. He has been a resident of Nelson and District for the past 48 years where he has worked in the mines. At one time he was also employed by the Provincial Government on road work.

Plan No Order to Reduce Coffee, Tea Prices at Cafes

OTTAWA, Oct. 2 (CP) — The Prices Board has "no thoughts at the present time" of ordering restaurants to reduce the price of tea and coffee to five cents a cup, a Bord spokesman said tonight.

The prices charged by restaurants were reviewed when the rationing of tea and coffee was lifted a few weeks ago, and it was decided then that existing prices would be left unchanged, the spokesman said.

More than a year ago restaurants were allowed to increase the price of tea and coffee from five to 10 cents a cup. The Board allowed the increase in an effort to help restaurants to meet the increased price they had to pay for vegetables and other foods.

"The circumstances which existed when the increase was allowed still existed when the rationing was lifted," the spokesman said.

Continue Smashes Against Japs in Philippines, Celebes

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, Oct. 3 (Tuesday) (AP)—Allied forces continued their smashes against Japanese in the Philippines and Celebes areas, today's communique reported, and nine small freighters were sunk or damaged.

Flying boats sank four freighters near Zamboanga; sank two others near Menado and damaged three near Ambon. Meanwhile heavy bombers were punishing the Celebes and Moluccas airdromes with 134 tons of bombs.

The Japnese attempted to raid the American base on Morotai, South of the Philippines, and lost one plane.

Three Japanese interceptors were shot down near Kendari.

Smaller, More Concentrated Bombing Attacks

LONDON, Oct. 2 (CP) — The R.A.F. abandoned saturation night bombing during September in favor of smaller and more concentrated attacks, the Air Ministry said tonight in a statistical review of air operations in Septeber.

"The range of destruction of targets in Germany was increased by the use of comparatively small forces bombing with such accuracy that as much damage was done as in much heavier attacks of the past," the Air Ministry said.

An outstanding example of this is the case of the city of Darmstadt, centre of Germany's chemical industry and base for German armies defending the Upper Rhineland, bombed the night of Sept. 12.

"Almost the whole of Darmstadt was destroyed by a force of a little more than 200 Lancasters," the report said.

Canucks in Italy Quiz Col. Ralston

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY, Oct. 2 (CP Cable) —Canada's Defence Minister, Col. J. L. Ralston, will leave Italy nully aware of the problems Dominion soldiers are thinking about and grousing about as they continue to fight what is already the toughest and most sustained action they have fought during more than a year of campaigning in Italy.

He has made a thorough tour of fighting units and base units, has heard questions and given answers to them. Col. Ralston adopted the tactics of telling the men he knew there were problems about this and that and asking if they had any others.

Generally the Minister found the troops' minds turning on subjects like these:

1. The whole bulky problem of the Pacific war; Will the troops get home leave? What will the Pacific force consist of? How will the men be picked?

His answer: There will be a government announcement following the disclosure of the Quebec conference decisions.

2. The question of demobilization: Will troops called up for home defence who did not volunteer for overseas service be "de-mobbed" first? When will the troops get home? How will they return, via England or straight to Canada?

Answer: The machinery for demobilization has been set up. Canada will get the men as quickly as possible, but "I don't think any of us realize the great demands that are going to fall on shipping after the defeat of Germany." Mr. Ralston could not promise that the home troops would not be demobilized before overseas veterans.

He added that once the machinery for demobilization had been set up it was then a question of keeping it fed. If the transport problem made the return of veterans slow it might be just as well to get the home troops out of the way. As one aid to speeding discharge it might be possible to arrange for the final medical checkup of troops to be made overseas.

What about home leave for troops who have been overseas since 1939-40? (This is one you hear a lot out here among these veterans.)

Answer—A strict eye is kept on compassionate leaves, the Minister said. He had had men ask him why men whose wives and families are behaving should not go home as well as men who get compassionate leave because of domestic trouble. He would take the problem of home leave for the five-year veterans into further consideration but promised nothing.

The peacetime army? Answer: A pronouncement will be made in due course.

Beer? He did not know the men were not getting their half-bottle per week, as arranged. The fact the beer was sometimes British was due to pooling. He would investigate.

Why isn't the Canadian Corps entirely equipped with Canadian vehicles? Why are Canadians sometimes using second-hand British trucks while British units are using new Canadian trucks?

Answer: Like beer, vehicles are pooled. There was a policy of the direct supply of Canadian vehicles to the Canadian corps but it was always subject to "operational requirements".

Cigarets? The answer was that delivery in Italy will be speeded up by the use of vehicles instead of trains.

Mail? The Minister praised R.C.A.F. pilots who had been flying the mails. The system was not perfect and he would try to get more planes.

(Generally speaking, the mail situation in Italy had been good until it slipped slightly in the last few months. Air mail letters average about two weeks from Canada to the front. Parcels are slow in reaching here, but it has been pointed out that thousands go astray because of bad packing and poor or inaccurate addressing.)

The Minister found the men thinking seriously and sombrely of problems that grow more serious and sombre with every month away from home. In one instance a few boos were mingled with the cheers given him by one battalion, but generally the men have listened attentively and appreciatively.

Kaslo Evacuee Centre May Close Says Paper

The New Canadian in a front-page story Saturday said that semi-official credence has been given to rumors that the B.C. Security Commission interior housing at Kaslo is slated to come to an end early next year.

Residents at Kaslo were being notified that they might make plans for their eventual relocation, the weekly said. A relative lack of employment in the Kaslo area that might enable the evacuees to be self supporting and the high per capita cost of maintaining the Kaslo centre had given rise to earlier expectation that Kaslo would be the next centre closed, it said. Sandon was closed as an evacuee centre earlier this year.

Evacuees from Woodfibre, New Westminster, Steveston and Vancouver shortly after first arrivals in May, 1942, numbered close to 1000. Since, the Japanese population has declined to about 821 in 206 families owing to the movement to Eastern Provinces.

ONTARIO LIQUOR RATION INCREASED

TORONTO, Oct. 2 (CP) — The Liquor Control Board of Ontario today announced in newspaper advertisements that the monthly liquor ration has been increased from 26 ounces every two months to 26 ounces a month per permit-holder. The increase is effective today.

The ration of 26 ounces each two months has been effective since last June 1.

The advertisement said the 26-ounce-a-month ration "can be maintained throughout the Winter months." It predicted the ration will be returned to 26 ounces every two months next year unless the Dominion Government rescinds its order restricting liquor sales to 70 per cent of the amount in the 12 months ended Oct. 31, 1942.

Dieppe Was Vital Lesson Says McNaughton

OTTAWA, Oct. 2 (CP) — Gen. A.G.L. McNaughton referred in an interview here today to the Canadian landing at Dieppe in 1942 and said he doubted whether any other military operation had a more profound influence on the future.

He said no operation in the history of warfare had been studied with such meticulous care as Dieppe. The military authorities drew every posible lesson and advantage from the big coastal raid.

Without those lessons succeeding combined operations would not have been supplied the equipment necessary or the inter-service cooperation so essential to victory.

He said the solution to the prevention of future wars lay in the moral sphere. He thought the United Nations should not be vindictive in their treatment of the vanquished, but kindness must not overwhelm good judgment. "They must see to it that these nations are never again in the position to take us by the throat."

Rossland Joint Meeting Proposes "Victory Club" for Service Folk; Victory Day Plans Brewing

ROSSLAND, B.C., Oct. 2 — Friday evening at the invitation of Mayor J. E. Gordon, relatives of the men and women in the Armed Services," and interested citizens met at the Armory with members of the Canadian Legion to formulate plans for the care, comfort and entertainment of the "Boys and Girls" when they return home; also to make plans for the celebration of victory and to consider plans for the building of a "Victory Club" for the returned men and women where they could meet, and have entertainment.

R. J. Portman was Chairman.

Mayor Gordon explained the work already accomplished and planned for by the Legion.

He then called for suggestions of how to raise the necessary funds to build a suitable building for the "Victory Club."

Many suggestions were made. One such was to hold a lottery. Another proposed a display of pictures of those in the services, and having a dollar pinned, by relatives or friends, on them as a donation to the fund.

E. C. Sutcliffe and Glenn Hill, both returned, from overseas, gave interesting addresses on why a "Victory Club" was needed in Rossland.

A recess was called, when all those who were willing to help with this project, were given the privilege of signing up.

Community singing was enjoyed under the leadership of Rudolph Morin.

When Mayor Gordon brought up the plans for a Victory Day Celebration several suggestions were made. Rev. H. K. Johnston, Secretary of the Ministerial Society, and Rev. C. F. Orman of St. George's Anglican Church gave some suggestions.

TO FORM JOINT COMMITTEE

On motion by Ald. J. R. Corner and Mr. Orman, it was carried that the Canadian Legion and the Ministerial Society should form a committee to form plans and submit them to the Mayor and Council as suggested Victory Day Celebration Plans. The Mayor and Council would have power to act and complete them.

Rene Morin, who had just returned from the convention of organized labor at Pittsburgh, pledged the complete support of his organization to cooperate with all Legions on the Home Front.

A social hour was spent with the Women's Auxiliary as hostesses. Dancing followed.

Oranges were first introduced introduced into Europe about 50 years before Columbus discovered America.

Fruit Production and Future Marketing Possibilities

Of British Columbia's estimated production of 6,480,420 boxes of apples this year, the Kootenay-Boundary District is credited with 385,150 boxes. This figure includes Creston with 257,000 boxes.

The total Kootenay-Boundary estimate of 385,150 boxes compares with a production in this District last year of 262,475 boxes.

The increase for this District in terms of percentage is the same as for the whole Province, 46 per cent.

Creston's grape production is up from 1008 boxes to 1600 for this year.

Pears show a big gain, also. In Creston production last year was 6311 boxes and this year's estimate is 24,000 while the immediate Nelson District, classified as Kootenay-Arrow Lakes, is up from 2160 boxes to 5000.

Markets are good today, but there is plenty of reason fo rthe thought is being given by leaders in the fruit-growing and marketing industry to the future.

Growers are now benefitting from war conditions and the Government at Ottawa has announced a post-war policy of floor prices for agricultural products, but the details of the policy are more than nebulous. They have yet to be worked out, and inevitably will depend to a material extent not only upon domestic conditions but, in common with other prices and demands, upon world conditions.

More manufacturing and processing will go far to solve the marketing problems of the future. In this respect Okanagan, which dominates the fruit industry in the Province, is leading the way.

Dehydration plants, expansion of canning plants, development of canning of fruit necessities and delicacies along new lines, wineries, and so forth, together with scientific discoveries in refrigeration technique will all assist in keeping the industry on a sound economic basis, and increase to an extent perhaps at present hardly foreseen our possibilities in the export market.

Junior Red Cross Does Good Work

Nearly $45,000 raised entirely by children has been the contribution of B.C. members of the Junior Red Cross during the 1943-44 school year. From tiny hamlets far up the B.C. Coast to the largest groups in Vancouver, these school pupils have devoted hours of their spare time and a great deal of ingenuity to staging carnivals, bazaars, track meets, concerts, sales and the thousand and one events that children devise to raise money.

There were 58,096 members of this junior group during the term, as compared with 53,789 for the preceding year. But these children raised 67 per cent more money, to bring their donation up to $43,072, an almost unbelievable amount when it is remembered that many of these contributions are in pennies, representing great sacrifice on the part of a child who gives his small savings instead of spending it on himself.

Because of this generosity, prisoners of war have been sent supplies and starving children in Europe and Asia received the first food, milk, clothing and medical supplies they have seen for years, from the $32,124 allocated to the National Junior Red Cross War Fund.

Nearer home is the contribution to crippled and handicapped children who, by a junior fund, are given the chance of health through hospital and medical treatment. This year $7578 went to this work, and 60 children benefitted from the self-denial and generosity of Junior Red Cross members throughout British Columbia. Inspiration and guidance for direction of children in their activities has been supplied by the hundreds of teachers who have directed the 1766 B.C. branches.

Bells

By G. S. REES

Bells should surely be ringing in Canada from Fundy Bay to Fuca Strait, for many another milestone has been safely passed on hard high road to victory, when they can at long last echo age-old message to warring world—"On earth, Peace, Goodwill towards men"! Bells of Britain have been ringing regularly for some time now, putting their minds to a bell's true business. But long blackout of sound—as of light—will resound in history, for silent steeples have been one other reminder of dark days when Britons took it on the chin, gritted teeth, worked and prayed through Blitz, bedlam and Ro-blitz! Their brethren in battledress sweated, fought, and died to keep shining Supermen (!) from goose-stepping through their homeland heritage. Britains' bells clanged in melody to celebrate victory of El Alamein when tide of war turned to beginning of ultimate victory. Churchill, the last steady voice in Europe, then remarked—"The good cause has prospered"! The good cause has been given the Green Light, hence renewed voice of the bells, foretelling journy's end!

Bells belong to remote antiquity, are associated with man's earliest doings; he caused molten metal to flow into intricately curved form-patterns and become instrument of sound to tremble in delicate touch, telling of work and worship, war and woe, peace and Victory. Motherland bells are part and parcel of her rugged history; for centuries, mellow-sweet and solemn, they have sounded over land and sea, across country lea and city street, constant and characteristic as the fog, the lanes and hedges, or the cheerful lilt in the voices of the Islanders themselves!

DARK BEFORE DAWN

Many belfries have been shattered into formless rubble through insensate stupid hate of a mental nihilist with his mocking "Mich und Gott!" One remembers Coventry, particular focus of Nazi wrath as Goebbels gloated and Teuton tide flowed in full flood. When it seemed that the rubbled roofless cathedral in smouldering ruin was an all too faithful representation of the hopes of men of goodwill shattered by evil forces, even as outward signs of that faith has been shattered. But Good Friday of 1941 found a little group of the Faithful fashioning rude cross from blackened timber, a pulpit from block of fallen masonry, and singing bare-headed in drizzling rain:

"O God, our help in ages past,
Our hope for years to come!"

RING OUT THE OLD RING IN THE NEW

And do not wait for New Year's Eve! Bells are ringing in bombed Canterbury again, and in all other towns built about medieval cathedrals; in London's leafy squares and cloistral quadrangles of Oxford and Cambridge-grey spires in a pearl-grey sky; in steeple-tooped hamlets of the South Downs —"In cadence sweet-drowsy chimes lulling distant folds," where "Little lost Down churches, Praise the Lord who made the hills," and along the great North Road—and in Stratford-on-Avon, Shakespeare's own "home town"!

This tonal commentary would be incomplete were mention omitted of heartwarming boom of old Big Ben in Westminster Tower, standing foursquare by Thames riverside; Summer, Winter, rain or shine, its sonorous measured tones keep faithful tryst with Father Time! I never hear its familiar sound booming through radio screen in hillside hacienda without grateful recall of happy days—When all the world was young, lad" in the Old Town across the blue water. Welcome reminder of fine Summer afternoons and London in gala attire during the Season , . . wet wintry nights with mirror-like pavements reflecting gleam from shop-windows . . . hissing of rubber tires, spinning and skidding . . . hollow voices of newsboys shouting their "Extras"—cricket scores in the long, and football tallies in the short days of the spinning seasons—and homing surge of umbrella-holding pedestrians lowered against the rain—London rain!

Big Ben strikes only the hours but resonantly and deeply sure, like the clang of Thor's anvil in Valhalla. Through five long years it has remained the strong heartbeat of warring Britons. Soon let it strike Twelve of the clock, and All's well in tune with the bells of Victory; the tongues of those bells will be moved by the forces of history and, pray we all, usher in the dawn of international sanity. This they can do!

NEW GROUPS GOOD AT JOB MAKING

The office hungry C.C.F.-ers, immediately they secured office in Saskatchewan, increased the number of cabinet portfolios from eight to 12. The Union Nationale party in Quebec has gone them one better. Premier Duplessis has created ministerial jobs for 21 of his 48 followers in the legislature, thus making the largest cabinet in the history of Canada. The speakership will look after supporter No. 22.

It is not only that all these members will draw ministerial salaries and perquisites but they will be given deputies and large staffs, thus placing a further large burden on the shoulders of the taxpayers. Both the Saskatchewan and Quebec governments will no doubt in the near future find other remunerative compensation for their member-followers left out of the cabinets. To the winners belong the spoils seems to be the idea.

As it happens, Alberta is not in a position to sneer at these sister provinces and their new regimes. Although the Alberta cabinet was not enlarged on the advent of Social Credit administration, means were soon found to increase the emolument of several other of its supporters in the House. The Social Credit Board, whose usefulness has never been apparent to the general public of this province, has been a profitable enterprise for five Social Credit members for a number of years. Still other party faithfuls have been rewarded with places on commissions of inquiry from time to time at generous pay and expenses. The value of the reports of most of these inquiries is hard to discover.

From all this it would appear that these new political groups of theorists and caustic critics of the older parties have nothing to learn from the latter when it comes to throwing the taxpayers' money around in order to reward their hungry henchmen. — Calgary Herald.

Ejected Allied Mission May Re-Enter Bulgaria

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP) — State Secretary Hull said today that ejection of an Allied Military Mission from Bulgaria by a Russian Commander had required a little attention but that he thought the matter now was straightened out.

The Mission went into Bulgaria to handle Anglo-American interests, and some authorities here said the Russian military commander had not been properly advised.

Discussing the incident at his news conference, Mr. Hull said he expected the mission would be permitted to re-enter the defeated Nazi satellite as a result of arrangements made by Washington and London with Moscow.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 2 (CP)—The Department of Munitions and Supply today instructed Canadian Pacific Airlines overhaul and repair depot at New Westminster to lay off an additional 450 employees, said G. A. Thompson, Plant Manager.

The layoff, to include men and women, is to be additional to a preliminary layoff of 250, now completed, making a total of 700 employees discharged following cancellation of repair contracts on Canso and Catalina aircraft.

About 500 employees are to be left in the plant to work on repairs and overhaul of other types of aircraft used by the Western Air Command, he disclosed.

"We have received no word from Ottawa of any additional contracts to come to this plant," said Mr. Thompson.

U. S. Air Force Drops Millionth Ton of Bombs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP) — The United States Army Air Forces has dropped their 1,000,000th ton of bombs since the U.S. entered the war, it was announced today. This total was reached on Sept. 28 in the attack on the synthetic oil refinery at Merseberg-Leuna, in the centre of Germany.

Almost half the total, 320,000 tons, has been dropped since D-Day on June 6, Gen. Henry H. Arnold, Chief of the A.A.F., reported.

There have been 72,000 air forces battle casualties — dead, missing, prisoners and wounded—and 5300 non-battle casualties—made up of dead, missing, sick and injured.

Over-all plane losses amount to approximately 42,000. Of these 14,600 aircraft have been lost on combat missions and an additional 9,900 have been lost overseas from non-combat causes. In the Continental United States 17,500 planes have been lost.

$384 Raised at Auxiliary Tag in Aid of Christmas Parcels

Receipts of $384.77 to swell the funds used for Christmas parcels being mailed to every District man and woman in the forces were raised at the tag day sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the Active Forces.

The Auxiliary has sent parcels to the services every Christmas during the war, and this year expects that nearly 800 parcels will be sent out. So far 129 have been sent overseas with more being sent every day All overseas parcels contain cakes made by members of the Auxiliary, over 230 cakes having already been made for the 600-odd parcels the Auxiliary plans to send overseas. The only thing that may hold up the steady dispatching of parcels may be lack of latest addresses of the service men and women which can come only from relations or friends.

Contents of a parcel similar to ones sent to the forces are shown in a Baker Street store display.

Eleven Lots Sold at City Tax Sale

At the annual tax sale of the City of Nelson 11 lots that were in arrears for 1942 taxes were sold to bidders. City Clerk W. A. Gordon conducted the sale.

A. G. Harvey, 907 Third Street, bought lots 16 and 17 in the 300 block on the South side of Latimer Street. Amount asked for lot 16 was $27.23. It went for $31.50 while lot 17 went for $32.50 and the amount asked was $27.23. These are subject to redemption in one year by the owner, Margaret Ann McCorkle.

W. J. Sturgeon, 618 Silica Street, bought lots 18, 19, 20 and 21 in the 300 block on the South side of Latimer Street. Lots 18 and 19 went for the upset prices of $27.23 and $27.24 respectively, while lot 20 went for $32, and 21 for $30. The price asked on both of these lots was $27.23. These also were in the name of Margaret Ann McCorkle.

Mrs. Nellie Dickens, 920 Falls Street, bought lots 7, 8 and 9 in the 600 block on the South side of Latimer Street, for the upset prices of $114.46 and $218.43. The owner is the O. J. Alfsmo estate.

The last lot of property went to Eugene Stangherlin, 110 Silica for $22, amount asked on these was $14.35.

These were two lots 21 and 22 in the 100 block on the South side of Carbonate Street. These are held by a group consisting of M. Hing, C. Goey, A. Sue, A. Way, and C. Wing.

For possibly the first time in the history of Nelson tax sales, no delinquent properties were knocked down to the City, which automatically bids the upset price if no other bidders appear.

Postwar Land of Opportunity

WHERE
Electricity
PLUS VAST NATURAL RESOURCES CAN HELP PROVIDE MAXIMUM EMPLOYMENT

Canada, with its wide territories, favourable location, vast natural resources, and mighty reserves of hydro-electric power, can easily be developed into "a great postwar land of opportunity."

Fortunately, Canada is already electrically-conscious. Nowhere is so much electricity used per person. Today more than seven times as much electric energy is being produced in the Dominion as at the end of the last war. In 1943 our aluminum industry alone consumed enough electricity to supply all the electrified homes in Canada for 3 years.

Yet only one-fifth of Canada's water power resources has been harnessed. This power, increasingly applied to homes, factories, farms and mines, can raise the entire nation's standard of living.

But such development can only be achieved by PLANNING—today! While there must be no slackening of our war effort, we can still prepare ourselves for future action which will create markets and help ensure maximum employment. Planning will establish a firm, sound foundation for Canada's after-Victory prosperity.

For over 52 years it has been the privilege of Canadian General Electric to contribute much to home and industrial electrification. Today the Company's ten thousand skilled workers are devoting all their energies, all their enthusiasm, to war. Tomorrow they will resume their peacetime job of helping improve Canada's civilian economy—through electricity.

London Times Favors Building Up German Economy

LONDON, Oct. 2 (CP) — Taking to task those suggesting that Germany be turned into an agriculture state after the war, the Times of London said today that German production "must be raised to its highest point and modelled and organized on lines which will make it a useful constituent of an organized European economy."

Market Trends . . .

LONDON, Oct. 2 (CP-Reuter)—The latest favorable war news failed to inspire incentive in the stock markets, which again experienced another quiet session today.

British funds were encouraged by satisfactory half-yearly revenue figures.

Industrials met selective support. Among foreign bonds Europeans, Chinese and Japanese were easier, but Brazilians again were supported.

NEW YORK—The market stepped into the new month with a fair amount of bullishness persisting but with many customers still unconvinced that a lengthy upswing was in the making.

Canadian issues were quiet but Dome and Walker gained ⅛.

MONTREAL—Trading was generally along narrowly irregular lines up to the final hour, with some of the leaders in Papers and Utilities getting into higher terrain.

Down in Mines were Sullivan, Aubelle and Joliet.

TORONTO—Golds showed a downward tendency in mid-afternoon trading and other groups were fairly steady with few price changes.

Strong spots in the Gold issues were Belleterre at 9.90 up 25 and Giant Yellowknife at 8.80, up 20.

Base Metals remained fairly firm, although Steep Rock slipped 10 cents at 3.35.

VANCOUVER — Trading was dull with both Mines and Oils holding steady.

CHICAGO—Wheat rallied to regain most of the losses suffered in an early break and the December contract advanced about a cent.

At the close wheat was ⅞ higher to ⅞ lower than Saturday's finish, December $1.64¼-⅜. Corn was 1⅛ to 1⅜ lower, December $1.13½. Oats were off ⅞ to 1¼, December 63⅜. Rye was 1 to 1¾ lower, December $1.07⅜-½. Barley was ¼ higher to 1⅛ lower, December $1.03⅝.

WINNIPEG— Rye futures pursued an erratic course in mixed trading.

Traders attributed the day's declines to liberal selling by commission houses and indifferent support.

BRYDSON TAKES P.G.A. TITLE

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., Oct. 2 (CP)—Gordon Brydson of Toronto today captured the Canadian Professional Golfers Association championship, shooting a one-over-par 82 to whip Gerry Proulx of Montreal in an 18-hole play-off.

The two men, who tied at the end of 72 holes of medal play yesterday, battled all the way until the 16th, when Brydson came up with an eagle three on the 270-yard par-five hole, and followed that with a par on the 17th and a birdie on the 18th. Proulx did the 16th in par, but skidded on the next hole and wound up with a 77.

OTTAWA, Oct. 2 (CP)—Arthur MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service, said today players training with the St. Louis Flyers of the American Hockey League at Port Arthur, Ont., have agreed to work four hours a day to help relieve an acute labor shortage of the Lakehead.

Mr. MacNamara said today a "very satisfactory" arrangement had been made following an offer by Coach Hap Emms to make the services of the players available in any way required.

Coast Plant Wins $1,000,000 Diesel Contract

VANCOUVER, Oct. 2 (CP) — A $1,000,000 contract for diesel power plants for tug building in Ontario has been awarded Vivian Engine Works Ltd., Vancouver, William Vivian, head of the Company, announced today. The order, from the British Ministry of Transport calls for 50 300-horsepower engines, Mr. Vivian said, and assures the plant of enough war work to maintain present production rates until next June.

The plant now is working on a $2,000,000 contract for big generating plants for the 21 maintenance ships now being built in Vancouver yards. Vivian production this year, including diesel engines, generating sets and precision work for the British Admiralty, will total about $6,000,000.

"Warsaw Ceases to Exist"

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—Warsaw, capital of Poland, has been destroyed in the home army uprising against the Germans, a Polish telegraph agency dispatch from London said today. The dispatch quoted the Warsaw underground radio as broadcasting today: "Warsaw has ceased to exist. All that remains are ruins." Warsaw, before the war, was one of the gayest capitals of Europe, with a population of 1,300,000.

Morton Cooper, Potter May Start In Series

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 2 (AP)—Full of fight and bristling with confidence, Manager Billy Southworth and his Cardinals returned to St. Louis tonight with their third successive National League championship eager to battle their American League cousins, the astonishing St. Louis Browns, in the World's Series opening at Sportsmans' Park Wednesday.

It will be the seventh time in history that clubs from the same city have compelted for baseball's highest honor.

Southworth said the series would be a "nice family party."

"I am delighted it turned out that way," Southworth added, voicing the sentiments of the entire team. "We won't have to catch any trains or worry about hotel reservations or baggage. What's more important, St. Louis can now show the world that it can put on a World's Series of it's own."

This staid oil Mississippi River city was confident of that, too.

Broad smiles wreathed the faces at the mention of the Browns, in possession of their first American League pennant in 43 years. Mayor A. P. Kaufmann, in a proclamation, joined in the spirit of the occasion by designating the week Oct. 2 to 9 as "St. Louis baseball week."

Southworth is not ready to name his starting pitcher for the opening game. He said he would reveal his selection tomorrow, or Wednesday morning. When he does break down and tell it is expected that he will name Morton Cooper, a seasoned veteran who has won 22 games this season.

Neither would Luke Sewell, manager of the jubilant Browns, reveal his pitching plans.

Observers generally believe that Sewell's choice would be Nelson Potter, the team's leading pitcher with 19 victories against seven defeats, for the opening shot. Potter has won 13 of his last 15 games to record the best season of his career.

Says Chinese Reverses Due to Lack of Supplies

CHUNGKING, Oct. 2 (CP) — Attributing recent Chinese reverses to lack of essential equipment, spokesman for the Chinese National Military Council said today the actual tonnage of American supplies delivered to the East China forces since 1941 would not be sufficient to sustain an American or British division in combat for a week.

"The only real help afforded the Chinese armies in East China has been in the form of heroic and remarkably effective air support given by units of the U. S. 14th Air Force in that area," the spokesman said.

The spokesman's statement was issued in response to Prime Minister Churchill's speech in the House of Commons last week during which he expressed disappointment over reverses in China.

Convicts Fail Escape Attempt

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Oct. 2 (CP) — Two convicts were back in their cells today and a prison garage instructor was in hospital following an escape-attempt at the Saskatchewan Penitentiary here.

The Instructor, J.W.R. Clarke, was blackjacked by the convicts, prison authorities reported today, and he suffered from shock, contusion and bruises.

While officials refused to disclose the names of the men, it was learned that they were French-Canadians transferred from Kingston, Ont., some months ago.

Interpreting
The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Rolling forward behind a mighty air and field gun barrage, American 1st Army troops have entered Germany at a new spot just North of Aachen. With its fall or complete investment, the First Army would be in a position to resume its push toward Cologne on the Rhine, or to swing Northeastward to take the German trans-Rhine defence system all the way up to the Kleve-Emmerich Southern portal of the Arnhem gateway.

It seems clear that the 1st Army drive is closely linked with expected British 2nd Army renewal of the attempt to crack through the Arnhem-Emmerich gateway farther North. Success in cracking the Nazi front to any depth in the area of Geilenkirche, important secondary road hub, must unhinge the line North of that point. It probably would also force the foe to shift strong forces Southward from the Arnhem-Emmerich gateway to the North German plain and ease the task of the British 2nd Army when it renews the attack there.

Whatever else it indicates, the 1st Army power smash fulfills predictions that the Allied High Command would lose no time in renewing the attack in the North. If the already dented Nazi Siegfried defences are to be broken through before Winter sets in there can be no delay.

One obvious objective of the 1st Army thrust must be to gain position of the Sittard-Roermond section of the Aachen-Hertogenbosch highway. It crosses the Meuse at Roermond where the Roer tributary of the larger river flows into the parent stream from its sources in Germany Southeast of Aachen.

That road, a prime motor highway would be invaluable for Allied use in major operations in the Eindhoven-Neder Rhine salient.

Three Germans Face Treason

LONDON, Oct. 2 (CP) — Three prominent Germans — one of them editor of Hermann Goering's newspaper, National Zeitung—will be tried on charges of treason, according to information today from the German border sources.

The Editor, Count Schwerin, has been accused of complicity in the abortive bomb plot against Hitler. So has Dr. Gessler, a non-Nazi, who once served as Minister of War in the Weimar Republic and who also is facing a Himmler trial.

The third defendant was listed as General Wagner, who allegedly refused to follow a direct order from Hitler to fortify certain Bavarian and Austrian sectors as a last line of defence on the ground that he did not want to see Germany turned into a battleground.

The same sources, amplifying Foreign Secretary Eden's charges that Heinrich Himmler was forming a secret organization to keep Nazism alive, asserted the No. 2 Nazi had set up three different "crews."

"Crew No. 1" was described as picked Gestapo men who had assumed in new localities the identity and paper sof men killed in Allied air raids.

"Crew No. 2" was reported to be made up of picked youths from the 12 "Ordenspurgen" special schools for Nazi youngsters, who are now being trained at secret camps in all the dodges of underground organization.

"Crew No. 3" is to be made up of boys and girls under 16 years of age who would be given special training for harassing occupation forces."

Confirm Death of Po. Jack Lees, Rossland Boy

ROSSLAND, B. C., Oct. 2—Word has been received confirming the report that PO. Jack Lees had been killed in action Sept. 19.

PO. John Clive Lees, RCAF, was the oldest son of Staff Sergeant and Mrs. Barney G. Lees, formerly of Rossland, but now residing in Prince George.

Jack was born in Trail, and was 20 in June. He moved to Rossland with his parents and received his education here, graduating in June 1942.

He enlisted in the RCAF in July, 1942, received his training at Edmonton and Medicine Hat, and in July, 1943, received his wings from his father, Staff Sergeant B. G. Lees, in Calgary.

Shortly after he left for overseas, as a fighter pilot, and was transferred to bombers in England. At the time of his death he had well over 20 operational flights to his credit.

Jack was a popular lad with the younger set, and worked in Davies Drug Store.

He is survived by his parents and one sister, Jean, and a younger brother Billy, who are now residing at Prince George.

Men of Arnhem Had Narrow Escape Margin

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Oct. 2 (AP) — The men of Arnhem who escaped could not have held out another 24 hours, Maj.-Gen. R. E. Urquhart said today.

Gen. Urquhart came here after about 2,000 of 8,000 men in his British Airborne Division escaped annihilation by pulling across the Rhine, where they landed Sept. 17 in a vain effort to establish a bridgehead.

"The Americans put on a really magnificent show, flying in the face of heavy flak, trying to bring us supplies," the six-foot General said. "It wasn't their fault the operation failed.

"The Germans kept tapping away at us. We could cope with their infantry, but not the tanks. They would start down a street and blast every house to the ground.

"We had one outfit trying to hold the bridge and another fighting its way into the town. None of those men escaped."

At one time during the fighting in the suburbs of Arnhem, Urquhart said, the Germans and British were both using the same hospital for wounded.

The General was cut off from his Headquarters for 36 hours and spent the night in a loft, keeping constant watch on a German machine gunner planted 50 yards from the door.
