First Strike in 22 Years Closes Maritime Pits

By JOHN TRACY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SYDNEY, N.S., Feb. 1 (Saturday) (CP)—The first general strike in Maritime coal fields in 22 years was effective today after the operators contract with 13,000 United Mine Workers (C.C.L.) expired at midnight.

Following the union "no contract no work" policy miners in scattered colliery areas in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick turned in their lamps at colliery lamp houses last night and went home, leaving only maintenance men in the pits.

Whether they would take their lamps back again within a few days depended on the efforts of conciliation by Mr. Justice W. F. Carroll of the Nova Scotia Supreme Court, appointed by Labor Minister Mitchell in a last hour bid to bring the union and company together in the wage dispute which led to the strike.

INVERNESS, N.S., Feb. 1 (Saturday) (CP)—Fire fighters early this morning were battling to bring under control a blaze which broke out in the abandoned No. 1 mine here.

Officials quickly declared the mine fire had no connection with the general strike in the Maritime pits.

Although Mr. Justice aCrroll declined to give the results of yesterday's conference with representatives of miners and operators he said the situation "doesn't seem too bad."

U.S. Could Not Fight Another War On Own Fuel Supply

New Fees Set for Coal, Petroleum Producers

VICTORIA, Jan. 31 (CP) — A new schedule of fees ranging from $2 to $50 for various operations under its jruisdiction has been set by the B. C. Coal and Petroleum Products Control Board, Dr. W. A. Carrothers, Chairman, announced today.

The new schedule set a non-recurrent fee of $10 to commence business. This $10 's'tarter" fee is refundable if a licence is not granted by the Board.

Annual charges for licenses to engage in business were set as follows:

1. Refiners' license $50.
2. Restricted refiner's licence (refining and cleaning of used lubricating oils), $10.
3. Mine operator's licence, $5.
4. Petroleum wholesaler's licence, $5.
5. Wholesale coal dealer's licence, $5.
6. Petroleum retailer's licence, $2.
7. Retail coal dealer's licence, $2.

As a registration fee the Board up to the present has levied a flat charge of $1 for any licence.

Dr. Carrothers said need for the establishment of a schedule of fees was recognized some years ago, but action was shelved during the war and since the war's end to enable ex-service personel to make a start in business.

Bracken Claims Gov't. Program "Cloaked in Haze"

ADJOURN DEBATE

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP)—The traditional debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne was opened in the Commons today with two Government supporters calling for the conclusion of tax agreements between the Dominion and the provinces.

The speakers were J. W. MacNaught, Liberal member for Prince, who moved the adoption of the speech, and Gerard Cournoyer, his seconder and the newly-elected Liberal member for Richelleu-Vercheres.

The debate was adjurned until Monday by John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, who in a few brief remarks said the Government's program as outlined in the Throne speech often was "cloaked in a haze" through which few could see clearly.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King tabled a letter he wrote yesterday to Premier Duplessis of Quebec saying the Dominion was prepared to arrange to meet Quebec representatives at any time they wished to discuss taxation agreements.

A considerable mass of other documents which had accumulated during the recess also was tabled and most of the ministers handed in annual reports covering the activities of their departments during the 1945-46 fiscal year.

TO FILL ROSE SEAT

Dr. Fauteaux also announced that he had directed the Chief Electoral Officer to issue a writ for a by-election in Montreal Cartier, the seat held up to yesterday by Fred Rose, the Labor Progressive member convicted of espionage.

Trade Minister MacKinnon told the House he would make a statement within a few days on the payment of wheat participation certificates for 1943 and 1944.

Poet Laureate's Verse Marks King's Departure

LONDON, Jan. 31 (AP) — John Masefield, the 72-year-old poet laureate, today contributed six lines of verse as his tribute to the King, upon the sailing of the Royal family for South Africa.

Published in The Times and described by Masefield as "nothing pretentious but an expression of our feelings at a moment when everybody is wishing the Royal family especially good fortune," the poem follows:

Most gracious Sovereign, leaving
England's shore
To bind your peoples by a link the more,
Deign to accept, from one, the hopes of all,
That at your going happy fortunes
fail,
That on your journey blessed stars
may burn,
And fair winds company your wished return.

It is one of the few such ceremonial inspirations of the poet laureate since the coronation.

LONG-SOUGHT PRISONER-OF-WAR CAUGHT AT COAST

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 31 (CP) —Superintendent A. T. Belcher of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said last night that officers of the R.C.M.P. detachment here had arrested a long-sought German prisoner of war.

Supt. Belcher said the man, Wolfgang Vrieslander, was taken into custody in Cloverdale, B. C., and brought here last night. He believed Vrieslander escaped from a prisoner of war camp last Summer.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 31 (CP)—Wolfgang Vrieslander, 29, escaped prisoner of war, might still be a free man if he had shaved off his military moustache.

J. M. Stevens and G. F. Baxter, employers of the captured German, who assumed the appropriate name of Albert Mask, saw a picture of the escapee and recognized the face of their star salesman. They informed city and R.C.M.P. officers, who took the matter in hand.

"It's a wonder he didn't shave off his military moustache," commented Mr. Baxter. I'd never never have recognized him if he had."

The two employers of Vrieslander are sorry to lose "one of our best salesmen," who, R. C. M. P. officials say, will be returned to Germany.

"Albert (Wolfgang) is a fine fellow. We want him back and we'll do everything we can for him. If we can get him cleared with the authorities, he can come right back to work," both declared.

CHARGES U.S.A. GOV'T. SPLIT ON PORTAL POLICY

DETROIT, Jan. 31 (AP) — The Mt. Clemens Pottery Company case was recessed at least for the weekend today after a labor lawyer charged that the Federal Government is split over the national issue of $4,000,000,000 in portal-to-portal pay claims.

The lawyer, Edward Lamb, told a Federal court that Attorney-General Tom Clark has failed, despite "a terrific struggle," to enlist the aid of the wage-hour administration in fighting the theory of portal pay.

L. Metcalfe Walling, administrator for the wage-hour division, has refused to join Clark in fighting the Mt. Clemens case, the pacesetter in the portal conflict, Lamb said.

He drew no inferences in his remarks before Federal Judge Frank A. Picard, but said later:

"The inference is clear, the wage hour administrator is on our side, the Attorney General is on the company's side."

Fails to Get Immediate Milk Subsidy Discussions

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP)—Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) sought unsuccesfully today to have the Commons adjourn its other business to discuss the removal of the Government milk subsidy.

Speaker Gaspard Fauteux said Mr. Knowles would have ample opportunity to discuss the matter during debate on the address in reply to the sueech from the throne.

Subsidy Cuts Jump Prices Some Clothing, Food, Soap

No Further Increases in Textile Consumer Prices Likely; Reduce Subsidies on Cottons, Oils and Fats

BEDDING, HOUSEHOLD COTTONS UP

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP)—The Prices Board announced tonight a series of substantial retail price increase which will eventually boost the cost-of-living as it concerns the Canadian kitchen, bedroom and bath.

The increases, which cover a variety of things from soap chips to shortening and bedspreads and even invade the field of clothing, result from the reduction of Government subsidies being paid on cottons, oils and fats.

The Board said that increases in the products embracing fats and oils are allowable tomorrow. It was emphasized however that no retail price increases will be allowed on cotton products until present inventories of yarns and fabric are used up. A Board spokesman said it was impossible to say when this would be without having a complete inventory of present stocks on hand across Canada.

The Board accompanied its references to textile prices advances with the statement that after this adjustment no further consumer price increases appear likely, disclosed these changes:

CLOTHING

Prices of leather gloves and mitts may be increased from 11 to 16½ per cent on stock bought after Jan. 31 while increases of five to 25 per cent will be permitted in the prices of knitted underwear and outerwear, hosiery, shirts, cotton work clothing and a variety of miscellaneous products when present inventories of yarns and fabrics have been depleted.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS

Increases of five to 25 per cent eventually will show in the prices of bedding and house hold cotton textiles.

SOAPS

Ceiling prices on packaged soap flakes and chips may be increased by amounts ranging from one cent for small packages to five cents for large packages. Toilet and laundry soaps may go up approximately one cent a bar, but on bar laundry soap the increase may be slightly higher, depending on size.

FOODS

Maximum retail prices for shortening, salad and cooking oils now may be increased by approximately 10 cents a pound. A 4½-cent-a-pound increase will be allowed for certain edible animal fats, such as beef tallow and oleo stock. Corn oil and olive oil are not affected. Prices on biscuits and bakery products, excluding bread, may be boosted by 10 per cent over current ceiling prices.

The Board said the ceiling price for industrial soaps sold in bulk and used mainly by laundries and factories also has been increased by 2½ cents a pound for soaps containing a fatty acid content of 80 per cent or more and two cents a pound for soaps of a fatty acid content of less than 80 per cent.

In commenting on the higher soap prices, officials said the new maximum prices were approximately the same as those prevailing in the basic period of September-December, 1941.

"Prices to Canadian consumers during the last five years have in fact been at the June 1941 levels, nine per cent below the base period price," a spokesman said.

COSTS WAY UP

On the subsidy of oils and fats, one official said the Government's purchasing agency now was paying five times the pre-war price for imported oils and fats.

During the last year raw cotton has been subsidized from its market value—a peak of 39 cents a pound—down to a rate of 15.4 cents a pound.

Cold Kills Stock In Alberta; New Storms for Coast

Mercury Ranges From 60 Below at Dawson to 54 Above at Yarmouth; Thaw Brings Relief to Great Britain

By The Canadian Press

New storms headed for the Pacific Coast Friday night while the West underwent severe cold with a ranging blizzard in Southern Alberta. Although fresh snow fell in many section Ontario generally enjoyed a lull after the severe snow and sleet storm earlier in the week, and the Maritimes enjoyed unusually mild weather.

The temperature chart covered wide extremes—from a minimum of 60 below zero at Dawson, Yukon Territory, to a high of 54 above at Yarmouth, N.S. In between, cold spots were Edmonton, 37 below, Calgary at 34 below, Saskatoon 23 below, and Regina 17 below. Temperatures generally were mild in Southern Ontario, but 10 below in the North, while Ottawa had a minimum of 16 and Montreal 18.

BLOW COMING

At Vancouver warnings were posted of a snow-laden gale bearing from the Pacific with a 40-mile wind due during the night. Snow began falling on the Coast Friday afternoon. At Prince George yesterday a low of 52 below zero was recorded.

In the frigid spell on the prairies two men died when fire destroyed their homes—Frank Hood at McQuarrie, 130 miles Northeast of Edmonton, and Stanley Harris at Boyle, 95 miles North of Edmonton. Cattle and other stock were reported dying from the cold in some Alberta fields.

In Saskatchewan railway services were tied up with the mercury ranging down to 25 below in a 40-mile wind. The storm was expected to hit Manitoba shortly.

With a snowstorm headed for the big Western Ontario triangle between Tobermory, Barrie and Sarnia, Ontario Highways Department warned motorists to "stay off the highways." The snow was expected to continue until Saturday afternoon in these areas. The Wingham district North of Barrie recorded almost 18 inches of snow Thursday and Friday, and more snow fell in that area Friday night.

Although not as hard hit as some of Canada, Nelson has had cold weather. Friday the red took a nose-dive down to 2 and hovered near zero. The day's high was 22.1, it was the coldest day of the Winter, although thermometers touched 4.6 Jan. 15.

Crescent Valley was the coldest spot inthe District, registering 23 and 11 below; at Cranbrook it was 14 below and 12 above and at Kaslo five below and 18 above.

THAW BRINGS RELIEF

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 31 (CP)—A gradual thaw brought improvement in the electricity and gas situation for shivering Britons tonight after nine days of mostly sub-freezing temperatures but the delay in coal deliveries caused more industrial shutdowns.

Most housewives were relieved as the power and gas companies brought services toward normal with warmer weather but thousands of other Britons faced a new problem—flooded rooms—as water began to flow again through frozen pipes.

Train services were almost normal and most runs and road conditions better although all services were cancelled at London's Croydon airport on account of a heavy snowfall and low ceiling.

EASE WAY OVER CONTRACT DIFFICULTIES IN VETS HOUSING

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP)—Former servicemen building homes under the Veterans' Land Act now are permitted to move into them on a rental when purchase transactions can't be completed immediately.

An Order-in-Council tabled in the House of Commons today by Veterans Minister Mackenzie permits the temporary arrangement in cases where houses are habitable and there has been delay in concluding the sale because of renegotiation of contracts, litigation or similar difficulties.

The acute shortage of houses resulted in the move, the order declares. It provides that rents paid by veterans under the system will be credited to the eventual purchase price.

A.F.L. OFFERS PALM TO C.I.O.; PROPOSE RE-UNITING TO FIGHT ANTI-LABOR LEGISLATION

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 31 (AP) — The A.F.L. today invited the C.I.O. to return to the Federation in a new peace plan to present a united labor front and combat "objectionable" legislation.

William Green, A.F.L. President, made the proposal "to promote unity and solidarity within the ranks of labor," to Philip Murray, C.I.O. President.

The merger plan was Green's reply to a suggestion by Murray last Dec. 5 that all labor combine a fight against anti-labor legislation. The C.I.O. leader, however, had not proposed complete merger of membership.

Green said the executive council of 15 members had voted unanimously to send the letter to Murray this afternoon.

NAME COMMITTEE

As an indication of the seriousness with which the A.F.L. leaders regarded their proposal, Green said, a committee of five was named to represent the Federation in working out detaiyls of the merger with a similar committee from the C.I.O.

On the committee to work out the solidarity movement are President Green, Secretary-Treasurer George Meany, and Vice-President William L. Tutcheson, Daniel J. Tobin and John L. Lewis.

The C.I.O. was created by Lewis in 1935 as a committee within the A.F.L. to organize mass production industries. Differences of opinion over the wisdom of this move resulted in suspension of the Lewis committee, which then branched out and later changed its name to the Congress of Industrial Organization. After the 1940 election Lewis stepped down as the head of the C.I.O. and in 1942 took his 600,000 United Mine Workers out of that organization. Last January Lewis brought the miners back into the Federation again.

In Pittsburgh, Murray said:

"This is the first I've heard of it (Green's proposal) and I certainly wouldn't have any comment on it now."

Financed Own War Effort, Gave $4 Billion Aid to Others

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP) — Canada, in addition to financing her multi-billion dollar war effort, contributed close to $4,000,000,000 worth of supplies, foods and war materials to warring United aNtions and liberated countries, it was disclosed today.

The Canadian Mutual Board's final report, tabled in the Commons by Reconstruction Minister Howe, showed that materials and supplies furnished the United Nations under the Mutual Aid Act alone from Sept. 1, 1943, to Sept. 1, 1945, totalled $2,471,212,000.

Of the total, $2,112,150,000 went to the United Kingdom. The remainder, in varying amounts, went to Australia, the British West Indies, China, France, Greece, India, New Zealand and Russia.

GIANT GIFT

In addition to mutual aid, Canada made a $1,000,000,000 gift to the United Kingdom, contributed $154,000,000 to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Association, provided $95,000,000 in military relief and gave Greece $19,000,000 worth of wheat.

Actually, said the report, 38 per cent of Canada's total industrial war production was contributed to the cause of the United Nations went into Canada's war effort and the remaining 14 per cent was produced for the United States.

The value of mutual aid to countries other than the United Kingdom was broken down as follows:

Australia, $91,375,000; British West Indies, $5,518,000; China, $39,742,000; France, $25,105,000; Greece, $12,000; India, $18,826,000; New Zealand $15,279,000 and Russia $167,255,000.

The $2,112,150,000 in mutual aid and the $1,000,000,000 gift were not the only assistance the United Kingdom received.

Prior to the inauguration of mutual aid, the United Kingdom was provided with a $700,000,000 interest-free loan. A sum of $200,000,000 was made available to the United Kingdom by Canada's action in repaying Britain for cost of building special war plants in the Dominion. To assist Britain and the sterling area in meeting a dollar shortage, the Canadian Government arranged the purchase of close to $800,000,000 worth of Canadian securities held by residents in Britain.

WIPE OFF DEBT

The report did not mention the $425,000,000 which the Canadian Government wiped off the books last year during negotiations which led to the granting of a $1,250,000,000 loan to the United Kingdom. The $425,000,000 represented the amount Britain was to pay as her share of the British Commonwealth Air Training plan.

Australia and New Zealand's shares in the air traing plan costs, totalling $28,578,000, were absorbed under mutual aid.

The Mutual Aid Board, besides rounding up the mutual aid supplies for the United Kingdom, handled other purchases for Britain. The Board spent $1,407,032,000, which Britain received from transactions with Canada, for various types of materials, foods and supplies needed by the United Kingdom.

MacPhail Child Leaves for Rochester; Nelsonites Raise Funds

CALGARY, Jan. 31 (CP)—Four-year-old Alan MacPhail, Nelson, B. C., today embarked on the most important trip of his life when he stepped on a T. C. A. plane destined for Rochester, Minn. He was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. A. M. MacPhail, who was hoping that doctors in Mayo Brothers Clinic, Rochester would be able to cure her son of Hodgkins Disease, a sickness for which medical science knows no cure.

Little Alan was brought from Nelson to the Holy Cross Hospital Nov. 22, 1946, when it was thought that more specialized treatment might help the boy. A month ago his mother was told her child was suffering from an incurable disease and treatments here could only serve to ease the pain.

Determined to seek health and life for Alan while he still had strength to travel, the mother then planned to take him to the United States. Funds were made available Tuesday through the generosity of some Nelson citizens.

Dr. Haddow Keith, a Canadian physician, will be the boy's doctor in Rochester.

Coal Commission Report Highlights

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP)— Highlights of the Royal Commission report on coal:

MAJORITY REPORT

(By Mr. Justice W. F. Caroll of the Nova Scotia Supreme Court, Chairman, and Mr. Justice C. C. McLaurin of the Alberta Supreme Court.)

The coal industry should be aided in finding Canadian markets through Canadian subventions, plus tariffs on the prevailing basis.

Subventions on the same scale as in the 1930s would be "reasonable."

A Coal Board should be established to "keep Canada's energy requirements under continuous review and to advise upon and administer transportation subventions."

Subventions should enable Western coal for locomotive and industrial purposes to move into Ontario advantageously.

"Overdue" mechanization of Nova Scotia mines should be effected by the operators without capital expenditure assistance from Government funds.

Subvention help should bear a "reasonable relationship" to the cost-per-ton of imported coal that would otherwise be used.

Production subsidies should be withdrawn completely on the abandonment of price control.

MINORITY REPORT

(By Angus J. Morrison, Secretary-Treasurer of District 18, United Mine Workers of America.)

A Coal Board should be established.

Transportation subventions should be reorganized and extended.

Local adjustments should be made to help in marketing coal from specific areas and to minimize such factors as seasonal fluctuations.

Customs duties on mining machinery and supplies should be reduced.

Retirement pension plans for miners should be instituted.

Companies receiving Government aid should be required to adopt standard accounting practices.

AGAINST COMPANY TOWNS

Provincial Governments should take immediate action to eliminate "closed camps" — company communities in Western Canada in which operators control affairs tightly.

SUBSIDIES

In separate reports, Mr. Justice Carroll and Mr. Morrison agreed special wartime financial assistance to the Nova Scotia industry should be continued for a limited time by the Federal Government, if the companies will rehabilitate their operations.

GENERAL

Construction of the St. Lawrence waterway would have both good and bad repercussions on the coal industry.

Little expectations exist on developing large-scale synthetics and chemicals manufacture from coal in Canada.

Average return to Canadian operators from coal mining in the last 15 years has been 10 cents a short ton.

Development of atomic energy won't threaten the coal industry for between 10 and 20 years.

Canada's coal reserves are estimated at 99,000,000,000 tons, enough to last for another 2700 years.

Nelson High Cagers Score Twin Victories

Redeeming their loss to the Creston boys of two weeks ago, the Nelson High School Bombers handed out a 40-27 plastering to the Trail Senior High hoopsters in a doubleheader game Friday night in Civic Centre.

Although constant interruptions prevailed in the last periods through fouls to both sides, the playing could scarcely have been defined as "rough." Skillful passes and checking were evident on either team, but slightly faster teamwork was the chief factor accountable for the Bombers out-manoeuvering of the Trail lads.

Stand-by Dot Wallace and her Bomberette confederates met stiff opposition from the Trail girls, yet managed to squeeze a 22-19 win in the last quarter.

Not so willing to lean on reliable Dot Wallace as on previous occasions, other members of the Nelson squad played an all-out game and received punch-for-punch what they gave the Trail net artists. Proof of this cooperative spirit was Barbara Nield's point total of eight compared with Wallace's six.

Lineups are as follows:

Nelson Boys — Harris, Gilbert, Longden, H. iPtts, Hallbauer, Cathcart, Clark, Wilson, Elmore, Ross, B. Pitts.

Trail Boys — Granstrom, Matthews, Miros, Anselmo, Wilson, Kirker, Raine, Bomben.

Nelson Girls — Wallace, Curlette, DelPuppo, Crosley, Nield, Goodman, Robbins, Stephenac, Welbourne, Hunter.

Trail Girls — Pollock, Brown, Morgan, Secco, Hansen, Weldon, Wright, Wigg.

A banquet and dance were held following the games.

Talk Strengthens for Social Welfare Worker in Trail After Council Meets

TRAIL, B. C., Jan. 31 (CP)—Indications that the City Council was seriously considering obtaining the services of a full time social welfare worker were strengthened yesterday following talks between Council members and J. W. Smith, Nelson, Regional Administrator of the Social Welfare Branch, Department of Health and Welfare.

"Preventative social and welfare work can render a community a saving and service which cannot be computed in dollars and cents," Mr. Smith said, explaining that in many cases, early action by a competent social worker would have been the means of saving many homes.

While social and welfare work covered a wide and diversified field, child welfare cases occupied most of the workers' time. Through the extensive efforts of a social worker, juvenile delinquency could be reduced materially with a resultant decrease in the amount the city was forced to expend annually in maintaining wayward children in institutions.

2900 CASES IN KOOTENAYS

At present, social assistance cases in Trail totalled approximately 180. In the East and West Kootenays there were, he said, a total of 2900 social cases, with only six workers to handle them. This mean that each worker's "case load" was 500. Workers' cars were travelling as many as 900 miles each month.

Should the City decide to engage its own full-time worker, the Provincial Government would pay 50 per cent of the salary and 50 per cent of the operating expenses of a car.

Also, if it was likely that the cities of Rossland and Trail, and the Municipality of Tadanac decide jointly to obtain a full-time worker, the Provincial Government would still bear half the total salary paid and a similar percentage of car expenses.

Surrender Mandate Unless U. S. Joins?

LONDON, Jan .31 (CP)—Winston Churchill urged the British Government today to surrender its Palestine mandate to the United Nations unless the United States joins Britain "on a fifty-fifty basis" in a new policy for the Holy Land.

Churchill, speaking in Commons debate, declared:

"We have broken our pledges to the Jews. Having found ourselves incapable of carrying out our promises, we have no right to say that we have to stay there for motives of honor.

"If there is no call to honor, then the responsibility of stopping civil war in Palestine between Jew and Arab ought to be borne by UNIO (the United Nations) and not by this poor, overburdened and heavily injured country."

The former Prime Minister referred to talks in progress here aimed at reconciling Jewish and Arab claims in Palestine.

"When the present conference is over, unless the United States comes in with us on a 50-50 basis to shoulder an agreed policy, then we should lay our mandate at the feet of the United Nations."

(Britain, which conquered Palestine from the Turks in the First World War, administers it under a 1922 mandate from the League of Nations, held by some to have expired. Churchill made a similar proposal last Fall, but the Labor Party Government has shown no disposition to leave Palestine.)

As the debate raged in the Commons, Jewish sources in London expressed "shock" at the government's evacuation plan. Arabs here for conferences welcomed the step.

Churchill asked that the government make every effort to avoid "squalid warfare with terrorists" in Palestine, with the United States and the rest of the world looking on. But he urged against bowing to intimidation by threats from the Palestine underground, declaring:

"If you are brought into a quarrel, pugnacity and will power cannot be dispensed with. It is a terrible thing to be drawn into a quarrel and to be cowed out of doing your duty.

"Good gracious me! How should we have got through our late struggles if we had allowed our will power to be influenced in this way?

"What would have been said when the Germans were bombing London if we had sent a message to say "If only you will leave off, we will guarantee not to touch Berlin.'

"That is the road of abject defeat. I hate this quarrel with the Jews—but when you are engaged in the matter, at least bear yourselves like men."

Col. Oliver Stanley, Colonial Secretary in Churchill's wartime cabinet, opened the debate. He said Britain should clear out of Palestine and tell the people she could not carry out her mandate rather than suffer any more humiliation like the kidnapping of Judge Ralph Windham and Major H. A. L. Collins last weekend.

For 18 months Britain has had no policy in Palestine, Stanley said, opening the debate.

"Our troops do not know who are their enemies or where they are."

Retreat from Palestine "would be a disaster for Palestine and all the communities there, and such a retreat would only be the signal for a bloody civil war," he said.

Stanley urged the government to reestablish British Authority as an essential preliminary to any final settlement.

Nelson Teachers Better Paid Trail Meet Told

TRAIL, B.C., Jan. 31 — At the January meeting of teachers from Fruitvale, Rossland, Trail and rural schools of No. 11 School District, several members pointed out the neighboring School Districts of Nelson and Slocan have higher minimums, higher maximums and immediate placement of all teachers on the teachers schedule. When the schedule was negotiated at June, last year, it was comparable to any in the Province. That was not so today, they agreed.

Reports ofthe District's representatives on the Provincial and local executives were given by D. G. Chamberlain, Miss E. Laternell, George Bishop and R. Hanna. Mr. Chamberlain reported that 43 out of 71 School Districts in B.C. have adopted a salary schedule equal to or better than the B.C.T.F. salary schedule. The Provincial executive is seeking a union for al lteachers of B.C. If the act is passed, any teacher not wishing to be a member of the Teacher's Federation must state in writing his desire not to join. Miss E. Latornell reported that 108 of the 118 teachers in the Trail District were members of the Association.

Want Increase in Grain Car Loadings

By JACK AVESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG, Jan. 31 (CP)—The 11th annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture concluded here today with President H. H. Hannam of Ottawa, reelected for his eighth term, declaring that Canadian agriculture would be strengthened if convention recommendations were approved by responsible authorities.

The Federation's board of directors, following the conclusion of the convention's open sessions, demanded from the Federal Government that "definite and prompt action be taken to increase the car loadings of grain." The deficiency in car loadings was imperilling the domestic feed position in Eastern Canada and also the Dominion's wheat export commitments, it was said.

Slight twinges and aches should not be ignored, as they may indicate something serious which early diagnosis and treatment can avert.

Spectacular Torchlight Parade Sets Celebrating Rossland Aglow

ROSSLAND, B.C., Jan. 31 — In spite of zero weather and snow, Rosslanders turned out en masse Friday night and witnessed a most spectacular scene when the torchlight parade was held.

Skiers, bearing glowing torches weaved their way from the top of Monte Cristo to Second Avenue where they met the Queen contestant parade also bearing torches. They paraded through the town, led by the Rossland City Band, and onto the rink, where the broom ball game and ice follies were staged.

The broom-ball game, between the Trail City Council against the Rossland City Council, created a great deal of fun, with thrills and spills galore. Rossland won, by a fabulous score, supposedly 19-1. The referee was a Rosslander.

The costumes were fetching, especially that of Alderman Cunningham with his toy broom and false front. Those playing were:

Trail — Mayor Brian, Alderman Fletcher, Montpellier, Wheatley, Jeffaires, Sandborn, Sindell and L. Anderson.

Rossland — Mayor Corner, Aldermen Cunningham, Bacon, Darby, Frazer, Lefevre, Elmes and Civic Clerk, J. A. McLeod in goal. Referee was Ernie Beaulieu.

Mayor Corner introduced the Queen contestants and a very interesting Ice Follies was presented by the Trail Skating Club, with Mike Verzue as Master of Ceremonies.

TOAST-and-TEA
BY J. A. McARRY

Fear rises out of all darkness, fear for us who are diurnal not nocturnal, animals. So says Donald Culross Peattie in An Almanac for Moderns, and he goes on: "But I do not experience this sensation out of doors, as many people do. Night terrors are bred in closets, beds, cellars, attics and all those traps and pits and sinks in which civilized man houses himself, blunts his senses and breeds his own ills. Out in the open night it may be cold, or windy or rainy, but it is never anything in which a bogy could endure. Indeed, if you think of night in its true, philosophical proportion, you must realize that it is the prevailing the absolute, thing. Light, day, burning suns and stars—all are the exception. They are but gleaming jewels spattered on the black cloth of darkness. Throughout the universe and eternity it is night that prevails. It is the mother of cosmos, the capacious womb of light."

Royal Family Leaves London Without Ceremony

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, Jan. 31 (CP) — The Royal Family left London today on the first stage of its South African tour, driving through slushy London streets without ceremony in a closed car because of the discomfort which would be caused the thousands who turned out out to see the state procession.

Knots of people gathered on streets half an hour before the Royal car was due and cheered when it passed with the bright Royal Standard flying.

At Waterlool station, where the King and Queen and the Princess Elizabeth and Margaret boarded a train for Portsmouth, the usually dingy building was gay with the flags of the United Nations.

Propose Tariffs, Freight Subsidy to Aid Coal Industry

Carroll Commission Rejects Nationalization; Would Set Up New Federal Board; Urges Resumption of Pre-War Policy to Save Trade; Finds Self-Sufficiency Possible, But Too Costly

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP)—Continuance of the pre-war Federal coal policy—freight subventions and tariff protection—was proposed to the Dominion Government in the report of the Royal Commission on coal tabled today in the Commons.

The 300,000-word report of the Commission, more than two years in the making and long-awaited as the possible key to rehabilitation of Canada's ailing coal industry, laid down this formula in its majority finding:

1. Payment of transportaton subventions on the general basis of the 1930s to enable Canadian fuel—from the East and West—to push its way into Central Canada markets against the competition of United States coal.

2. Continuance of—but no increase in—the prevailing tariffs against outside coal.

Administration of measures for aiding the industry, the Commission recommended, should be carried out by a new Federal Coal Board which would have wide authority in administering assistance to the industry, except in the formulation of general policy.

Implementation of the report calls for no basic change in Government policy on coal. With the expiration of the system of wartime subsidies and subventions later this year, it had been expected the Government would revert in the normal course to its pre-war subvention basis.

The 663-page report, compiled at an estimated cost of $250,000, was tabled by Reconstruction Minister Howe.

URGES OTHER PROVISIONS

A minority report filed by the Labor Union member of the Commission — Angus J. Morrison of Calgary — agreed with the two majority Supreme Court justices on subventions and a coal board but termed their recommendations not "adequate" and added several more including:

1. Local adjustments to assist in marketing coal from specific areas—such as moving Alberta coal into Northwestern Ontario — and to minimize seasonal letdowns in production.

2. Reduction of customs duties on mining machinery and supplies.

3. Retirement pension plans for miners, financed jointly by themselves. The operators and the Government.

The majority report was signed by Mr. Justice W. F. Carroll of the Nova Scotia Supreme Court, Commission Chairman, and Mr. Justice C. C. McLaurin of the Supreme Court of Alberta.

A "supplementary note" appended by Mr. Justice Carroll, and a clause of Mr. Morrison's report, proposed the Federal Government should continue for a limited time the wartime subsidies granted Nova Scotia mines under price ceiling controls, in order that the industry might adjust itself to peacetime conditions.

Mr. Morrison, Secretary-Treasurer of District 18 (Western Canada) of the United Mine Workers of America, said the Eastern industry was in danger of "collapse" if it did not get this additional aid.

But both he and Mr. Justice Carroll agreed this help should be contingent on the companies putting out efforts to increase productivity through increased production.

WOULD END WAR SUBSIDIES WITH CONTROLS

The majority report itself recommended that wartime subsidies generally should be eliminated when price controls expire, Mr. Justice Carroll added his supplementary note because, he said, Maritime coal might be at a disadvantage in the Montreal market for a time before production rose.

The subsidies were granted early in the war to keep the price of coal under the ceiling when wage increases and cost-of-living bonuses were granted. Up to last March 31, the Commission said, they amounted to $19,200,000 for Eastern mines and $3,500,000 in the West.

REJECT NATIONALIZATION

In laying down their recommendations, all three commissioners—both in the majority and minority reports — rejected completely the idea of nationalization of the coal-mining industry.

"The evidence submitted to us fell far short of establishing that nationalization would result in higher productivity," the majority report declared.

"Nationalization," said Mr. Morrison in his minority report, "would not necessarily improve the position of the mines or prevent ultimate collapse of the industry. An unsound industry cannot survive indefinitely, and nationalization provides no magic lamp."

Rather, the Labor commissioner saw in the condition of the depressed sections of the industry — notably in Nova Scotia — a challenge to private enterprise to use its initiative to get mining back on its feet with the cooperation of the working personnel.

On the two basic recommendations of the Commission in the majority report — subventions and tariffs — they proposed no definite figures as to just what amount to subvention should be paid, but they suggested specifically that the tariff scale should remain at its present level.

The duty on United States coal — chief competitor — is 75 cents a ton on bituminous and 50 cents on anthracite. Under the British preference, United Kingdom anthracite enters free.

During the middle and late 30s, the report said, about 1,750,000 tons of Nova Scotia coal and 650,000 tons of Western coal were aided annually at an average cost of about $1 a ton, or an average annual cost to the Federal Treasury of $2,400,000.

Subventions to Alberta and British Columbia (Crow's Nest) coal fell off heavily during the late war years after the Coal Controller prohibited shipments to Ontario, but they were resumed in 1945.

COAL BOARD JOB

Declaring it was not practicable to fix subvention aid by statute because of varying factors in the competitive situation, the Commission indicated the Coal Board—with a full-time chairman—should have considerable leeway in advising on and administering subventions.

On the question of making Canada self-sufficient as to coal production, the Commission found it would be physically possible but would cost too much — about an additional $100,000,000 annually.

To achieve independence from outside coal, Canadian mines would have to produce 43,000,000 tons per year, more than double the 1945 output of 16,000,000 tons.

The Commission estimated the laid-down cost of coal in central Canada at this production rate would be $5 a ton more than American fuel.

Mr. Morrison suggested these functions for the proposed new body:

1. Administration of transportation subventions.

2. Administration of any direct subsidies extended by the Canadian Government to promote the coal industry.

3. Research into marketing problems and techniques.

4. Technical research on coal mining methods and development of new uses for coal.

5. Co-ordination of the activities of other government departments relating to coal.

6. Advice to the government on policy respecting coal production, distribution and use.

While the report laid down no rules by which subventions should be paid, it apparently felt the payments should be made on their original basis: That is, to the railway companies, which in turn would pass the benefit on to the mining operators indirectly by lowering the freight charges on coal heading for specific areas.

Direct payments to operators in the form of subsidies has disadvantages, the report stated. One was that they gave assistance to the marketing of coal in areas where it would be competitive without help. Another was that, as they were necessarily administered during the war, high-cost producers received most of the assistance and some producers received none.

AID NECESSARY

"Some dislocation in other coal areas in Canada must also be anticipated if additional assistance is not provided," the Commissioners added.

A further argument was that it was in the national interest to encourage as widespread a distribution of industry as possible. And the concluding argument was that maintenance of good production would be of special value in times of emergency.

The majority report, however, said the commissioners did not wish to suggest that freight subventions should be made available to aid the recapture of markets which before the war were served by producers without assistance.

In his minority report, Commissioner Morrison declared operations in the fine main coal zones of the country should be treated as separate industries, each with different problems requiring specific solutions.

He listed these as: Nova Scotia-New Brunswick; Alberta (with British Columbia's Crow's Nest) "steam" coal mines; Alberta "domestic" coal mines; Saskatchewan; and Vancouver Island.

A summary of his findings included:

ALBERTA—B. C.

The production situation in these mines is good, but the problem is marketing. Chief buyer is the national railways, whose demand fluctuates with Prairie agriculture. The difficulty would be met if the railways would plan purchases on a long-term basis so production could be stabilized. If necessary, the government should grant support "of the same nature" as that now extended to promote the stability of marketing of agricultural products.

Adequate subventions also should be paid to ensure the competitive position of Western steam coal in given areas, and these should be on a long-term, rather than a year-to-year, basis.

ALBERTA DOMESTIC

Demand varies according to crop conditions and the resultant ability of the Western population to buy coal, variable Winter weather and other seasonal factors. Mines have to be organized to serve peak demands but in pre-war years sometimes had to close several months a year for lack of demand.

The market area must be enlarged, for which freight subventions are "essential." These should be extended to enable the marketing of Alberta domestic coal competitively in Northwestern Ontario. They should be made available on a seasonable basis to ensure the placing of new production demands on the mines in the season when they are largely closed down. The operators also should set up a central selling agency.

Sometimes, Mr. Morrison said, justified subvention claims were thrown out "merely by the accident that subvention claims filed previously by operators in other parts of the country had exhausted the funds voted for subventions."

URGES BETTER CONDITIONS

He proposed that a "consistent" policy be developed provided with "adequate" finances, and that advance commitments be available to enable producers to plan their sales and develop new customers.

Mr. Morrison made an appeal for the improvement of working and social conditions for the miners. Housing and community facilities in many localities reflected "no great credit on the industry."

Deny Reports Franco Wounded

MADRID, Jan. 31 (AP)—A French report that Generalissimo Franco had been wounded in a recent attempt on his life was flatly denied by a foreign office spokesman, who said the Spanish Caudillo was enjoying perfect health.

(The Conservative Paris newspaper France-Soir said yesterday in a story from Madrid that Franco had suffered a slight wound in his left shoulder Jan. 9 when a Spanish Army Colonel fired three shots as the Generalissimo walked down the steps of his palace.

The foreign office spokesman said Franco had just returned from a hunting trip to Toledo province, that he was in perfect health and had not been the subject of any attack.

(The France-Soir story said the Colonel and another officer were escorting Franco to an officers club when the Colonel pulled out a pistol. A security officer seized his arm, the story said, but three shots were fired, one lodging in the Generalissimo's shoulder.

ASKS REPORT FROM MILITARY STAFF OF U. N.

Says Peace Must Be Assured Before Arms Reduced

NO PROGRESS SEEN

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 31 (AP)—The United Nations must assure the world that they can maintain peace before a single gun is scrapped under a proposed 55-nation arms reduction program, a Security Council delegate said today.

This delegate who declined to permit use of his name, said the first step toward such security would have to be the setting up of an international military force by the U. N.

He added he would demand that the council ask a report from the military staff committee which has been working on the global force for nearly a year without apparent progress.

This development came as the Security Council was called into session to consider taking up Great Britain's mine-laying complaint against Albania. Forty-four sailors were killed last Oct. 22 when two British destroyers struck mines off the Albanian Coast.

The case has been pending more than a week awaiting the arrival of an Albanian representative, but the U. N. said it still had no word that an envoy actually had left Albania for New York.

The U. N. Military Committee includes representatives of Russia, United States, Great Britain, France and China. It began sessions last March and in its latest communique disclosed that it still was studying the principles" surrounding the establishment of global forces.

Military men privately have expressed the opinion that the generals and admirals could reach a speedy decision under ordinary circumstances but that they were stymied by political considerations. Some claim no progress can be made until such political barriers are removed.

MACARTHUR ENDS JAPANESE GENERAL STRIKE

Call Off All Plans Four Hours Before Strike Deadline

CABINET IN OFFICE

TOKYO, Jan. 21 (AP)—General MacArthur killed the Japanese general strike today with an order saying, "I will not permit the use of so deadly a social weapon" in the prostrate nation.

Five hours after the order was issued, and four hours before the midnight strike deadline, the Tokyo Central Strike Committee, composed of Left Wing labor leaders, announced that it had "decided to call off" the strike.

The Committee issued instructions to all locals throughout the country to abandon all strike plans.

Approximately 2,400,000 workers in transportation, light, gas, water and postal services were scheduled to walk out in support of demands for tripled wages and resignation of the Conservative Government of Premier Shigeru Yoshida.

A recognized Cabinet of Conservatives, with six new Ministers included in it, took office two hours after General MacArthur had issued the order.

In his new Cabinet Yoshida tightened the Conservative hold on the Government, which is plagued with increasing economic problems, and sidestepped a general resignation after two failures to draw Socialists into a Coalition Cabinet.

Emperor Hirohito invested the new Cabinet in office in a special ceremony at the Imperial Palace.

Give Fritzsche, Hoffman Long Hard Labor Terms

MUNICH, Germany, Jan. 31 (AP)—German denazification courts todays sentenced Hans Fritzche, former Nazi broadcaster, and Heinrich Hoffman, personal photographer to Adolf Hitler, to long terms at hard labor for aiding the Hitler regime.

Fritzsche, aide to propaganda minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, was acquitted last November by the International Military Tribunal which tried top-ranking Nazis. The German court in Nuernberg, however, sentenced him to nine years.

Hoffman was sentenced to 10 years and the loss of a personal fortune of about $800,000, for being Hitler's personal camerman for nearly 25 years. The Prosecution said Hoffman was to pictures what "Goebbels and Hans Fritzsche were by word of mouth"—top propagandists for the Nazi party. Hoffman contended he was a photographer only to make money and that his prints extolling high Nazis were not propagandistic.

CHARGED WITH THEFT

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP) — John McKenzie, brought from Montreal yesterday where he had been held by police on a vagrancy charge, was charged with theft here last night in connection with $150 in cash and a watch which were taken a year ago from the hotel room of Senator John T. Haig of Winnipeg.

Police said a warrant has been out for McKenzie's arrest for several months.

Order British Women, Children To Leave Palestine

Evacuation to Start Tuesday so Nothing Will Hamper Gov't, Troops In Task of Maintaining Order

JERUSALEM, Jan. 31 (Reuters)—An order for evacuation from Palestine of British women and children was issued today by the Palestine High Commissioner, Lt.-Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham.

The order said "following on recent events in Palestine it has been decided that British women and children and certain other British civilians will be evacuated so that the Government and the armed forces shall not be hampered in their task of maintaining order."

Meanwhile increased security measures were being taken by military authorities. Army clubs and canteens closed in Jerusalem and British service-women were confined to barracks.

It was learned from a reliable source that the evacuation will begin Tuesday, Feb. 4.

Special orders have been issued that, for the time being, no British women are to be allowed to go to Palestine.

This step follows the deterioration in conditions in Palestine resulting from the recent kidnappings of two Britons—Judge Ralph Windham and Maj. H. A. I. Collins.

Conditions in Palestine after the return recently of Gen. Cunningham appeared to be improving slightly until these kidnappings which were followed by a warning by Sir Alan that Military control will be exercised in certain areas unless the Britons were set free.

Both were released later.

All British correspondents have been advised to leave Palestine by the Government.

If they elect to remain, they do so at their own risk, a government spokesman said.

Following the evacuation order, the American Consul-General in Palestine cabled the United States government for instructions regarding the position of United States citizens in Palestine.

Free passage will be given to Britain or any other destination selected by civilians affected by the evacuation order.

Believe P. E. I. Will Sign Tax Agreement

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP)—Belief that Prince Edward Island eventually will sign a taxation agreement with the Dominion which will be hailed with "entire satisfaction" by the people of that island Province was expressed in the Commons today by J. W. MacNaught (L., Prince).

Moving the adoption of the Throne Speech, Mr. MacNaught said it now was "abundantly clear" that the Government's method of negotiating tax agreements separately with the Provinces was "much more satisfactory" than anything hitherto accomplished in a general conference.

"Nothing could be gained by the reconvening of a Dominion-Provincial conference to further negotiate tax agreements," he added. "I believe, therefore, that the decision of the Prime Minister not to reconvene the conference is a wise one."

Turning to the international field, he commended the stand of Prime Minister Mackenzie King at the Paris Peace Conference that the smaller powers should have a say in the peace settlement and said this had brought results at the New York meetings of the United Nations Assembly, where these countries were given greater attention.

He praised the work of the Canadian delegation at the New York sessions and said the method of permitting the leaders of opposition parties to have a share in the framing of foreign policy should meet the approval of all Canadians.

On the legislative side, Mr. MacNaught expressed approval of the Government's decision to repeal the Chinese Immigration Act, which drastically limits the number of Chinese allowed to enter Canada.

Dr. P. Gauthier, in Rose's Room, Has Fought Communism 10 Years

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP)—Room 638 of the House of Commons has, you might say, suffered a split personality in these last few days.

One of the more obscure rooms, it lies down a dark corridor on the top floor of the centre block of the Canadian Parliament.

For some years it was the Parliamentary headquarters of Fred Rose, Labor-Progressive Member for Montreal-Cartier. Today it serves a man of somewhat the same small stature, the same thinning hair, but a man of utterly different views.

"I am," says Dr. Pierre Gauthier (L., Portneuf), "an anti-Communist. For 10 years I have been studying Communism extensively, and fighting it."

He moved into Room 638 one day before the Commons officially declared Rose's seat vacant following Rose's conviction of activities on behalf of a Russian espionage ring in Canada. Outwardly at least, there is no indication that Dr. Gaspart Fauteux, Speaker of the House, realized the irony of his action.

"How," a reporter asked the little doctor from Deschambault, Que., "do you feel about inheriting the room of a Communist?"

Primarily a realist, Dr. Gauthier grinned: "Hah, I have been looking for a single room since I was elected in 1945. I told Dr. Fauteux I would like a single room, and at last I have it."

(As a lone representative of the Labor-Progressive Party, Rose was entitled to a single room. Members of the bigger parties often wish they had them.)

ROBES

Not the least bit furtively, one of the members of the Supreme Court of Canada confided in a reporter the other day that one fraction of Parliamentary tradition had vanished, and he hoped it had vanished forever.

It was after the formal opening of the third session of the 20th Parliament. With his colleagues, the judge entered the Senate in morning coat and took his place on the great red cushion known as the woolsack.

Before the war, he would have worn a traditional cloak of crimson trimmed with ermine, a replica of garments worn by his counterpart at openings of the British Parliament. Such pomp was discarded during the war, and this particular judge hopes it is forever.

For one thing, he contended that the Canadian garments were of an inferior status. What's more important, they were bothersome, and, he seemed to think, just a bit silly.

Captivating Frocks Designed for Small Women

Left, black rayon cocktail dress; centre, butcher linen suit in black and white; right, rayon crepe dress.

Models showing clothes usually are tall and sleek, but statistics show that eight out of 10 women are five feet five or under, and of fuller mold than the models. Stylists recognizing these facts, have designed clothes for women who are small and rounded rather than long and angular. Shown above are three models. The striking cocktail dress, left above, is made of rich black rayon. It has a high round neck, full and somewhat longer skirt, and captivating black lace bands on the bodice and waist inserted over a simulated nude background. The suit, centre, is of butcher linen in contrasting black and white, with a gold encrusted pocket high on the left shoulder. The long-sleeved jacket is slit down the front and almost imperceptibly joined at the waist in a hidden belt effect. An overpleat on each side of the jacket heightens the long, slender line, making it a perfect suit for the short figure. The classic look is achieved by the rayon crepe dress, right, with its full sleeves gathered tightly at the elbow, and its long, softly falling pleats which add slenderness and stature. The collar is high and tailored, and a strap belt of self material slims the waistline.

Parents Write Of Success

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Among all the letters from worried mothers I am receiving, more and more letters are coming which relate to parental successes. Here is an example:

"Dear Mr. Myers:

"I would like to tell you a little about our son who is a joy and comfort to us.

"He is fifteen years old and in the tenth grade at school. When he was just a baby I started reading to him, and he developed a great love for books, which has helped him make good grades in school.

"His dad spent many hours in his job as Y.M.A.C. group leader with our boy and the neighborhood children, teaching them to play and get along together. This helped him very much since he was an only child.

"He is six feet tall, weighs 175 pounds and is quite well developed physically. Active participation in sports and the fact that he doesn't smoke or drink intoxicants of any kind has, we believe, aided in his good physical condition.

"He has always come to me with troubles, joys, failures and successes and I was never too busy to listen and try to help him.

"He, dad and I often have real talkfests and we have some wonderful times together chatting and listening to the fine music on the air or on records.

"It means a lot to us that he is truthful and honest. We have always tried to treat him in such a way that he will not want to lie to us about where he goes or what he does.

"Since he was thirteen years old he has earned enough money for his clothes, amusements and a few other expenses. Also he buys some things for me and has some bonds and cash saved.

"We are trying to encourage him to accept and bear his responsibilities as best he understands them and is able to do so."

Another mother writes:

"Dear Dr. Myers—I would like to tell you about a family who lived out the war with the grandmother's family.

"When their sailor father returned, he took them to their own home. All the time he was in the Pacific area the young twins' mother feared they would not feel acquainted with him. As the mother was ill on his return, he took complete care of the babies. Sometimes at bath time one would hear his voice, 'Let's take a muster; eyes, ears, knees.' Or dressing them. 'Let's take a muster; shirt, socks, shoes, etc.

"The twins helped him and loved him. In the old days they sometimes slid out of their chairs while eating. But no more. At the call, 'Chow,' they run to their chairs while their father sits at the head of the dinette table, a baby on either hand."

Wouldn't you and I like to see this happy group in action?

GIVILIANS IGNORE TRAINING APPEAL

HAMBURG, Germany (Reuters)—Hundreds of civilian employees of the Control Commission in Germany have ignored a circular asking them to volunteer for training in the use of weapons ranging from rifles to armored cars.

Typical of their attitude is that of one officer, from Reading, Berkshire, who said: "I see no reason why I should begin my Home Guard days all over again.

"I have a wife and child here and although Hamburg is regarded as a place where trouble over food might occur I am sure the Control Commission has made a lot of fuss over nothing."

TO AWARD KING'S MEDAL TO WINNIPEG OFFICER

WINNIPEG, Man. (CP) — The King's Police and Fire Service Medal, awarded only on rare occasions in Canada, will be given to a former Winnipeg City Police constable, J. S. Gray, now of Vancouver.

The King approved the award to Mr. Gray for outstanding service performed in Winnipeg in February, 1937. Arrangements for its presentation are not yet complete.

In February, 1937, Mr. Gray, riding in a patrol car in Winnipeg with Constable James Davies, followed a car which, on sighting the trailing cruiser, picked up speed and raced away over icy streets.

The two constables gave chase until the escaping car smashed into a snowdrift and two men jumped out. One man swung a rifle in the constables' direction and ordered them to "stay where you are or I'll plug you." The officers recognized him as an escaped convict.

In complete disregard of the armed man's warning, Constable Gray advanced. The man fired, and the bullet tore through Gray's heavy clothing, but luckily did not wound him.

Constable Davies entered the fray and fired at and fatally wounded the bandit. The second man fled but was captured shortly afterward.

Chief Constable George Smith of the Winnipeg police recommended Gray for recognition, but the award was not approved by the time Gray retired from the force in 1939. The matter was later taken up at Ottawa.

Mr. Gray was advised recently that the award was approved.

Former Strong Man Lives on Goat Milk, Studies Law

ROMANCE, Sask. (CP)—Sixteen goats and a stack of law books provide work and nourishment for 70 year-old Grant East — known as "Harry Muldoon" at the turn of the century when he was a champion wrestler and boxer.

Today he lives in a one-room house at the edge of this town 80 miles north of Regina and thrives on his goats' milk while doing odd jobs and studying law.

A former middleweight wrestling champion of Wisconsin, "Muldoon" as residents here known him, was born at Harrisville, West Virginia, and after a boyhood on a Texas farm came to know the fighting celebrities of the early 1900s including John L. Sullivan, Bob Fitzsimmons, Jake Kilrain and Yussuf The Terrible-Turk.

Muldoon, stil lhale, boasts that in his athletic prime his body was said to be proportionately as perfect as that of the famous Eugene Sandow, bobby-soxers' and older ladies' hero of the day, and model for painters and sculptors.

Leaving home at 16 years of age, Muldoon "bummed" to all parts of the United States as an itinerant painter, steeplejack, boxer and wrestler.

When he staged his own road show the act audiences applauded most, he recalls, was his feat of balancing a plow on the tip of his chin.

He came to Canada in 1906 and put on exhibition matches in Regina, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw, Lethbridge, Prince Albert and other Western centres. But a dislocated knee in 1912 forced him out of the ring and he then settled on his farm near here. However, he is still in demand as a referee whenever there is a boxing match in the district.

Extra Milk Aid To Thin Child

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

The mother of a thin, spindly youngster may often wonder if it is worthwhile to give him milk between meals as a means of bringing him up to normal weight. She is sometimes inclined to suspect that the extra milk may rob him of his appetite at mealtimes and thus lessen his total daily intake of food.

Recently Dr. Irving J. Wolman of Philadelphia has proved by a study of the effects of additional milk feedings on undernourished children, that such fears are without foundation.

In one group of 59 children, an extra glass of milk was given one hour before noon dinner and again one hour before supper. This program was carried out over a period of five months.

The children were given pasteurized milk one day and pasteurized homogenized milk the next. Homogenized milk is milk in which the cream has been thoroughly broken up and mixed with the remainder of the milk. Dr. Wolman found that these before-meal feedings of milk failed to produce in any child such symptoms as loss of appetite, upset digestion or decrease in the amount of food eaten.

Eighteen of the children studied by Dr. Wolman were later subjected to a different type of study. Extra milk was given three times a day one hour before each meal for a period of two or three weeks. Then a careful measurement was made of the amount of food taken during meal times. It was found that the amounts of food taken at mealtimes and the amounts of the various nutriments such as minerals, proteins and vitamins were approximately the same whether the milk was fed before meals or not. The added milk was a real supplement to the diet and it apparently made no difference whether the pasteurized or homogenized type was employed.

From these studies there was no evidence to warrant advising the discontinuance of drinking milk between meals. On the contrary, the study showed that such extra servings of milk are of real value when it is necessary to improve the child's nutrition and increase his food intake.

Booze, Pants Only Some Things Careless Men Lose

WINNIPEG, Man. (CP)—Figures do not lie. Statistics of the Winnipeg Electric Company lost properties department show the male of the species is the most careless. As for the small fry, they trail the field.

Everything that can be lost, from men's long underwear and unobtainable shirts, two-way stretches and ladies' lingerie, to dogs, cats and the occasional child, pass through the lost properties department daily.

Umbrellas, lunch kits and sports equipment of varying types lead the parade of more than 1000 articles monthly. Hats, pens and pencils, gloves, trousers and books run a close second.

Less frequent, though more amusing, items that find their way to the lost property counter are artificial teeth and an assortment of liquors, ranging from cases of beer to the verry occasional bottle of Scotch.

LONDON (CP) — Thieves who broke into a London warehouse stole 90 Army greatcoats — all stamped with prisoner-of-war insignia.

Limber Up To Stay Young

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Many folks don't wear out, they rust out. Joints get stiff, ligaments lose tone and invite neuritis, neurosis, neuralgia and rheumatism! For a fact, your joints can be 10 years older than you are. To prevent this, to grow old gracefully and not too fast, begin now to put your joints through their full range of motion every day. This does not mean to "take exercise." Some cannot take calisthenics, but anyone can keep full range of motion in the joints.

Start with the shoulders, for tension here limits the range of motion. Shrug your shoulders and loosen up; hunch shoulders up around the ears, move them back and down in a lazy circle, and bring forward and up again.

Swing alternate arms in carefree circles; swing one arm forward, up, back and down . . . the full range of motion; then the other arm, swinging rhythmically; then swing both together.

To limber up that joint in the middle called the waist, circle at the waist. Standing, feet slightly apart, stretch arms overhead but keep shoulers relaxed. Keep hips still and circle at the waist, to the side, around, to the other side and up. If you are not up to much exercise, just describe a small circle, pulling the waist up out of the hips. If there is nothing wrong with your ower back, make larger circles, swaying with the trunk like a tree in a hurricane. Centre the action at the midriff, keeping hips perfectly still.

Now the knee joints! If they creak when you bend them, it's a sure sign you need the oil of exercise. The easiest exercise is to sit on a table, and swing the legs freely back and forth at knee joints; then from side to side in unison. The deep knee bend is a more active exercise. Go down as far as you can—with or without support, but keep your back straight. It's a good leg exercise to keep the heels flat on the floor as you bend, but it's tough to do.

Then follow through with leg swinging for the hip joints. Stand gently and loosely from the hip, back and forth, back and forth. Full range of motion of this joint means moving in a circle, so circle outward, making a wide outward circle, then perform with the other leg.

Double-Date Leads to Mixup

By JANE ATKINSON

Dear Miss Atkinson:

I am a 17-year-old high school senior, and am going with a girl from school. My best friend and I often double-date my girl and her best friend.

Recently I have realized that I have become infatuated with my buddy's girl and she with me. The reason we still go out in a foursome is so that my friend's girl and I can be with each other without hurting either my best friend or hers. We cherish the friendship afforded by our respective pals, but we feel we are missing something by keeping our love for each other hidden.

"H.T.G."

So your double-dating results in a doublecrossing, eh? A fine pair you and this girl sound to me, finagling each other away from your respective best friends. If that's your idea of "cherishing" the friendship of a pal, heaven help the pal whose friendship you cease to cherish!

Let's not take things so seriously, though. Let's assume that you and this girl are actually two decent young people who mean to do the right thing but have thoughtlessly allowed yourselves to be swayed by impulsive emotions. In that case, you'll stop building up your attraction for each other as a great love that should not be kept hidden and take it for just what it is—a mutual liking and admiration which you can enjoy, if you'll let yourselves, far more healthily in a foursome, with everything on the level, than if you try to manage things so the two of you can get off in a corner yourselves and pet. Believe me, your pleasure in each other's company is much more likely to last if you leave things as they are, and stop making eyes at each other behind the backs of your "best friends".

Split Big German Firm

BERLIN (Reuters)—I. G. Farben holdings remaining in the United States' zone of Germany after reparations and destruction of war potential will be broken up into 30 separate and independent economic units, James S. Martin, United States Military Government "decartellization" head, announced.

These units are to be operated under trustees, appointed by the provincial governments, until the I. G. Farben property is disposed of under regulations now being formulated, he said.

There are 850 plants in all four zones, Mr. Martin stated, and of these 40 per cent are in the Russian zone. When the I. G. Farben Trust was seized in November 1945, it had a book value of some 7,500,000,000 reichmarks (approximately the same in dollars.)

Measures to set up unit trustees were taken in conformity with decisions of the four-power I. G. Farben Control Committee, said Mr. Martin, who is the United States member of the committee. No similar action had yet been taken in the other zones, he said.

As part of a broad industrial program in the United States' zone, limitations have been placed on the size of the units into which I. G. Farben property has been divided.

The plan is expected to demonstrate that units of enormous concerns like I. G. Farben can be operated as separate, entities. Profits will go to the Allied Control Authority for distribution as it sees fit, while trustees' salaries will appear on cost sheets of the units.

Aussies to See Canuck Exhibit

SYDNEY, Australia, (CP) — Canada will be represented by a $35,000 display at a British Empire exhibition to be staged this year in connection with Sydney's Royal Agricultural Show.

An official of the Canadian Directorate of Exhibitions is expected to come to Australia this month to supervise lay-out of the Canadian section which will feature a map of Canada showing the location of air force centres at which Australians trained under the Empire air plan.

Britain, New Zealand and India will also be represented and if the Empire section is successful it may become a regular department of the show held annually in Sydney.

STRATHPEFFER, Scotland (CP) — Plans to develop this Rossshire village as a tourist centre— base for tours of beauty spots in the vicinity — got a setback when the Scottish Traffic Commission refused a licence for bus service from Glasgow and Edinburgh.

Cranbrook Ladies' Aid To Give Operating Table, Chair to Hospital

CRANBROOK, B.C., Jan. 30 — Gift to St. Eugene Hospital by the non-sectarian Ladias' Aid this year will be a Nesbitt combination operating chair and table, it was decided at the recent annual meeting. It has been ordered. The 1946 gift was special anaesthetizing equipment and supplies which have been in frequent use.

The Lenten sewing will also be undertaken again, with Mrs. F. Bridges, Mrs. G. E. Macdonald and Mrs. Paul Storey in charge. Under this plan hospital supplies and garments are cut out by the Sisters, then distributed by the Aid among members and friends for completion and return during Lent.

During the election of officers for the year 1947, Mrs. Raworth took the chair. Officers elected for the year are as follows:

President, Mrs. H. E. Osborne; First Vice-President, Mrs. H. A. McKowan; Second Vice-President, Mrs. A. C. Blaine; Secretary, Mrs. P. S. Coulter; Treasurer, Mrs. C. J. Litle.

Annual reports were given by the Secretary and the Treasurer, the latter showing a bank balance at the end of 1946 of $162.

Discussion of the Easter Ball was the main item of business. Following committees were appointed in conection with the Ball arrangements:

Ticket handling and distriubtion — Mrs. Coulter, Mrs. Malone and Mrs. Osborne, Door Committee — Mrs. Malone, Mrs. Norgrove, Mrs. W. D. Smith, Mrs. Storey, Mrs. Withenshaw and Mrs. Blaine; Prize Purchasing Committee — Mrs. Osborne, Mrs. Blaine, Mrs. McCrindle and Mrs. Johnstone; Orchestra and floor management — Mrs. Archie Finley and Mrs. Frank Bridges.

Mrs. Raworth reported on Red Cross activities and advised that their campaign for blood donors was coming along most satisfactorily.

At the close of the meeting dainty refreshments were served by the Sisters.

LONDON (CP) — A $400,000,000 Victory Club for ex-servicemen and women will be opened in the West End in the late Spring in premises previously used as an American Red Cross Club.

Calmness Saves Life

THE DALLES, Ore., Jan. 31 (AP) —Phil S. Ryan, 46, Portland, was trapped more than 10 minutes at the bottom of the Columbia River today, but escaped because he did not get rattled.

Ryan's car plummeted into the river at the ferry slip here. He waited in the automobile until enough water entered to equalize the pressure, then opened a car door easily and bobbed to the surface to be rescued by amazed onlookers.

Ryan said he was attempting to drive onto the ferry behind a large oil truck, and the ferry pulled out.

Kimberley P. T. A. Presents Varied Program on "Citizenship"

KIMBERLEY, B. C., Jan. 31—In view of the Dominion wide stress being layed this month on "citizenship," the Kimberley Parent Teachers made this the topic of their regular monthly meeting, and on Wednesday evening under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. Poole, they presented a most interesting and educational programme.

A tableau by High School students, depicted people from various European countries making application for Canadian citizenship. Chosen to represent the land of his own or parents birth, each applicant wore the national costume of his country.

Each stated why he or she desired to become a citizen of Canada. On receiving their papers they held them out to display the letters U-N-I-T-Y.

They also presented a short programme of songs and music of Europe.

Alan Graham, Barrister of Cranbrook, was the guest speaker for the evening, giving a brief resume of the "Citizenship Act" after which he answered in a most capable manner a barrage of questions from the audience and from a number of High School students present.

From the wide variety of questions it was evident that people are keenly interested in the interpretation of this new legislation.

The programme was preceded by a short business meeting presided over by the President, Mrs. J. Shannon.

Plans were completed for monster card party to be held in aid of the P.T.A. Fine Arts Scholarship on Feb. 12.

Mrs. Matson was appointed Chairman of a committee to look into the advisability of widening the terms of this scholarship to include "applied" as well as "fine" arts.

Cranbrook Water Supply Returns To Normal

CRANBROOK, B.C., Jan. 30 — The local water supply, after several days of cloudiness and murk, has returned to its normal clearness since Joseph's Creek, principal reservoir supply, was moved back into its own bed.

Citizens who have derived amusement from the chlorination question in other B.C. cities, were uneasy when the local water dimmed, then began to show sediment.

Investigation by the City Water Department disclosed that ice had jammed the flow of Joseph's Creek high above the reservoir and the creek had developed a new channel several hundred feet away, stirring up dirt in its progress. The jam has been dislodged and the creek is back in the same old rut.

Air Travel Accidents

Public concern over the safety of air travel may not be met by averages, for the passenger killed in an air line crash is not a statistical figure. But since the safety of every human activity is measured, to some extent, by averages, the tables recently made public by the United States Department of Commerce are to the point. These show by a variety of figures the safety record of scheduled domestic air lines and of scheduled American-flag international air lines from 1939 through 1946. William A. M. Burden, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, says that the best index of comparative safety is the number of passenger fatalities for every 100,000,000 passenger miles flown. On that basis American air lines had a better safety record in 1946 than in any year since 1939 and a record nearly as good as that in 1939. American and international lines together had a better record in 1946 than in any year since 1938, no figures being given for any year prior to 1939.

Safety in air travel is relative, not absolute. But so is safety on the ground. In 1946, on the basis of passenger miles, travel on schedule over domestic air lines was relatively twice as safe as travel by automobile was in 1945. This admittedly is a comparison open to question, for the kind of drivers who produce most automobile accidents are no model for airplane pilots or anybody else.

Perhaps the most persuasive figures to come from the files of the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Administration are those which measure the safety record of the air lines over successive three-year periods, starting in 1932. Throughout those years there has been an uninterrupted improvement in the record, with the result that in 1944-46 fatalities for every 100,000,000 passenger miles flown were less than one-fifth of those in 1932-34. But in the whole of that period there was a more than twentyfold expansion in air travel; the number of fatalities, absolutely rather than relatively, did increase over those years.

A Great Canadian-Born Idea

An idea born in the mind of Thomas Alva Edison when he was a young night telegraph operator at the Grand Trunk Railroad station in Stratford Junction, Ontario, led to three of his great inventions, one of which launched the glamorous motion picture industry.

The story of how Edison's Canadian-born idea gave birth to three major inventions was made public today by the Thomas A. Edison Centennial Committee, of which Charles F. Kettering, the inventor and research leader, is Chairman. The Committee is conducting an international observance of the hundredth anniversary on February 11, 1947, of Edison's birth.

Edison was seventeen in 1864 when he devised a crude little machine for automatically sending out a signal over the telegraph wire every 30 minutes. The immediate purpose of the machine, which he hooked up to the office clock, was to permit him to appear to be awake and on the job when, in reality, he was catching catnaps to make up for sleep lost because he used his daylight hours for study and experimentation. But a train dispatcher at a nearby station, to whom Edison was supposed to report on the wire every half hour, discovered his ruse and the young inventor was sent looking for another job.

Dismissal didn't curb Edison's inventive efforts and five years later, in 1869, he expanded the principle of the Stratford Junction gadget into a full-fledged machine for automatically sending and receiving telegraph messages. This invention was the first to bring him any money, $40,000, which he used to finance new experiments.

A few years later, when he was becoming known as the "Wizard of Menlo Park," Edison was experimenting on a new type of automatic telegraph, one that involved use of a turntable upon which an embossed paper disc, when rotated, sent out dots and dashes. One day this turntable inadvertently was rotated at an excessive speed, with the result that the dots and dashes blended into a musical hum. This discovery caused Edison to write in his diary that night that he had uncovered something which, beyond doubt, would make possible the recording of the human voice and its future reproduction at will.

His prediction came true less than a month later when, on August 15, 1877, the world's first phonograph was constructed in his laboratory at Menlo Park, New Jersey. The first recording was Edison's own voice reciting "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

The phonograph was always Edison's favorite invention, and out of it grew his inspiration for his invention of the motion picture camera, the instrument which launched the motion picture industry and led to the founding of Hollywood as the capital of the film world. In Edison's own words, he invented the motion picture camera because he "wanted to do for the eye what the phonograph had done for the ear."

It is not surprising, then, knowing that his idea stemmed from the phonograph, that the first of all motion pictures, which Edison demonstrated at West Orange, New Jersey, on October 6, 1889, was a "talkie." Edison had synchronized the projector with his phonograph.

Thus, a little gadget which caused Edison to lose his job as a night telegraph operator at Stratford Junction, Ontario, started him on a train of experimentation that led to three great inventions — the automatic telegraph, the phonograph, and the motion picture camera.

Edison died at the age of 84 on October 18, 1931. He would have been 100 on February 11, 1947. The hundred years since his birth marked an era of progress such as never before experienced in the history of the world.

Press Comment

REACTIONARY DISTURBER

Meeting at Brighton, England, members of the British Trade Union Congress passed a resolution demanding that Britain sever all political and economic relations with Spain. The resolution was passed following a number of speeches in which the Franco Government was roundly denounced.

Only one embarrassing incident marred the happy occasion. After a platform speaker had described Spain as a "police state," a man stood up in the balcony and shouted: "What about Russia?" Ushers moved threateningly toward him. "What about Siberia?" cried the heckler, as the ushers came nearer. At that point they closed in upon him and shoved him toward the door. But as he went out, he had his final say: "Down with tyranny, in Russia and everywhere else!"

The reporters did not get the name of this man. One assumes, however, that he belongs to that class of people who are generally termed reactionaries. That is to say, he opposes tyranny, not only in Madrid, but also in Moscow. He believes that free speech is as necessary in Leningrad as in London. He dislikes not only those police states which proclaim their devotion to the church, but also those which proclaim their opposition to it.

As we say, a reactionary. The T.U.C. delegates—at least the ones who supported the resolution demanding the boycott of Spain—are more progressive. They realize that while imprisonment without trial in Spain is essentially tyrannous, imprisonment without trial in Russia is essentially democratic. They realize that while Spanish concentration camps are a throwback to the Dark Ages, Russian concentration camps are a glorious example of human progress. They realize that while Franco's secret police are agents of terrorism, Stalin's secret police are guardians of liberty and justice.

No wonder they resented the heckler and sighed with relief when he was tossed out of the meeting. What else can you do with a man who thinks freedom means, or should mean, the same thing at both ends of Europe.—Calgary Herald.

J. S., Kimberley—Could you tell me if I need a regular trade licence to open up a ladies dress and lingeries shop in my own home? Also would you give me the addresses of some wholesale firms for these items of clothing?

It is necessary that you procure a trade licence for your proposed business. The following are some dress manufacturers: British Knitwear, Ltd., Simcoe, Ont., D'Allaird Manufacturing Co., Limited, Montreal, Que., Hatchwear Co., Limited, Calgary, Alta. and Madewell Garments, Limited, Winnipeg, Man. A few lingerie manufacturers are Ideal Lingerie, Limited, Montreal, Que., Stanfield's Limited, Truro, N.S., and Supercraft Limited, Winnipeg, Man.

Reader, Kimberley—Would it be correct to say that Denmark is in Scandinavia?

Scandinavia has two distinct geographical meanings. In one sense it refers to the Scandinavian Peninsula in Northern Europe and comprises Norway and Sweden but not Denmark and Finland. In another sense the term refers to all the countries where the Scandinavian languages prevail; that is, Sweden, Norway and Denmark, together with the neighboring islands, including Iceland.

K. A. J., Rossland—What is the best kind of plaster to use for closing openings between logs in a barn, preferably one that will not crack if this is possible?

Small openings can be filled with a ready made caulking compound, which is pliable and will not crack. Large holes could be filled with brick mortar composed of 1 pound lime, 1 yard sand and 1 sack of cement. But this may crack.

B. D., Nakusp—Would you kindly let me know if it is a breach of religious etiquette or principles to have the Virgin Mary's face showing in play, tableaux or moving pictures?

It is permissible to show the Virgin Mary's face when it is generally known that it is impersonation. The showing of the faces of the Virgin Mary and Christ are commonly seen in Passion plays, etc.

G. A. H., Queen's Bay—Can you tell me if there is anyone in Nelson who can repair a church organ (American)?

Today's Horoscope

A birthday today means you have strong and definite emotions. You make a staunch and loyal friend but a bitter enemy. You speak brusquely sometimes without intention. You should learn to guard against jealousy. Take care that your desire for revenge does not spoil your happiness. You love your home and family life. In the year just starting for you, you will enjoy much success and happiness, the more so if erratic actions are avoided. Expedite all business, travel, make changes, prefer requests, and act upon your own intuitions. This is not a good day for speculation, investment, romance, entertainment, health. It is unfavorable also where associates and outsiders are concerned. Use care. The child who is born today will be exceptionally clever, very successful and popular. He or she will undertake many long journeys, hold advanced ideas, and may be a reformer.

HOROSCOPE FOR SUNDAY

The person who has a birthday anniversary today has a strong personality, much charm, and is capable of great good or evil. You like to dream too much, and so waste valuable time. You are an excellent conversationalist and enjoy culture and refinement. Your work should be active, and you will be very successful if you stick to it. Your next year will be interesting, eventful and fortunate, albeit some domestic annoyance threatens you. Curb impatience; translate plans into action, ask favors and expand business. Today's influences are adverse, tending toward loss, accidents, damage and problems. Watch your step. Go slow. The child who sees earthly life for the first time today will be original, industrious, ambitious, very independent, somewhat eccentric and wayward, but intellectual, quick-witted, fond of scientific and metaphysical subjects, and generally fortunate throughout life. An unusual career is indicated.

Church Workers Tell of Difficulty In Holding Teen-Agers' Interest; Boys Work Board Meets Problem

ROSSLAND, B. C., January 31—Annual meeting of the congregation of St. Andrew's United Church, Rossland, was held on Wednesday in the Church Annex. About 150 sat down to a delicious supper prepared by the Women's Auxiliary members. The tables were decorated with vases of daffodils. Rev. C. H. Daly asked the Blessing.

After the dinner the meeting was called by Rev. T. B. McMillan, Moderator.

In his remarks Mr. McMillan said there were always three kinds of members, those who were unwilling to take part of the load in making the church's place in the Community; those anxious for the progress of the Church, but indifferent in taking their share; and others who were anxious to see the church advance and willing to do their part in this progress.

He said that some thought that when they gave the Minister the call as their pastor and then paid his salary that their responsibilities ceased and it was up to the Minister to carry on the work of the church in the community; but he said no matter how good a minister and how willing he was he could not carry on without the full cooperation and support of the congregation. He expressed high admiration for the various organizations in St. Andrew's congregation, which were working so well and with enthusiasm. He asked those present while listening to the reports of the various departments to try to visualize the work represented and also to realize that if they had not done their share of the work, it had meant that someone else had to do it.

The various reports of the departments of the Church were read and adopted with a hearty vote of appreciation.

309 ON ROLL

In reporting for the Session F. J. Beinder said that there was a total membership of 309 on the roll at the end of December. During the year 19 had been received by profession of faith, 13 by certificate, but that 32 had been removed by certificate leaving the enrollment the same as in 1945. He said 31 were non-residents leaving 278 resident members.

He reported that the quarterly communion services had been held and the session felt that more could and should attend these services, which were so helpful for the enrichment of the Spiritual Life.

He urged all members and organizations to keep the Church constantly in mind, and to be a great stimulus to those who might be brought to lead the better life in this community.

R. T. Fraser, Chairman of the Board of Stewards reported that during the year, the church had bade farewell to Rev. and Mrs. H. K. Johnston, and had welcomed Rev. and Mrs. McMillan as their successors. During the year the Board held 10 regular meetings and two special meetings. They finished the year with a small balance. He said that during the year considerable improvements had been done to the church property, much of which was done by volunteer labor. He mentioned the many hours of work put in by Don Martin in the rock work in the basement. This year the Board hoped to do considerable work on the exterior of the building.

During the year the following trustees were appointed by the Board: L. A. Campbell, E. Jamieson, F. M. Ethridge, C. F. Daly and R. T. Fraser.

Deeds to the Church property had been brought up to date and safely deposited.

He appealed for continued support of the Church as there was a never ending need of funds as there was always some improving work to be done.

$565 TO MISSIONS

R. D. Mitchell reported that during the year $567.50 had been received by the Missionary and Maintenance Committee of which $565 had been forwarded to Toronto. This sum was $65 more than last year. He said there was a greater need for support now as the devastation in the mission fields in the war zones was great and rehabilitation expensive.

Mrs. R. Smales reported that the Women's Missionary Society had had a successful year and they felt they had contributed in a small way to the fostering of God's Kingdom on Earth.

During the year 10 meetings had been held, two special meetings, a birthday tea in February, the occasion being the 18th anniversary and the Thankoffering meeting in October when Rev. T. B. McMillan was the guest speaker.

During the year the members of the W. A. had affiliated with the W.M.S. and with a result an excellent parcel was sent to Burns Lake Hospital also a parcel of clothing to the Unitarian Committee for European Relief.

During the year the members studied the books "Angola Now" and "India at the Threshold" and Mrs. McMillan has given some interesting talks on Missionary Work in India.

She further reported that Mrs. W. Blackwell and Mrs. E. A. Morris had made 200 visits to the sick in the Hospital and 100 visits at the homes.

During the year the W. M. S. lost their President, Mrs. H. K. Johnston and filled the vacancy with the election of Mrs. McMillan.

The allocation of $125 had been achieved and forwarded to the District Headquarters.

In receiving this report Rev. McMillan told of the plane accident in China when Mrs. B. Kitchen, who was joining her husband, Rev. John Kitchen, a Missionary in China, was killed. He showed a calendar prepared by Mrs. Kitchen with some of her paintings.

In reporting for the Woman's Auxiliary Mrs. Benzies said the Auxiliary was composed of 8 circles with a membership of 130 during the year two money making events netted nice sums for the treasury. Contributions were made to Presbytery Fund, Deaconess Fund, Missionary and Maintenance Fund and the Board of Stewards. The Manse was renovated at the expense of the W. A. During the year the members assisted with the annual dinner, the farewell party for Rev. and Mrs. H. K. Johnston and served refreshments after the Induction Services for Rev. McMillan.

FIND DIFFICULTY

The Sunday school report was given by C. F. Daly and his assistants. He said there was an enrollment of 305 with an average attendance of 215 and 20 teachers and officers. He said one disturbing factor in the work was the inability of holding the teen age boys' interest but that recently L. Whittaker had a boys club. There was also no C.G.I.T. leader for the girls. He said the envelope system was being used in the Sunday School to an advantage and was teaching the children systematic giving. Teachers and officers were doing good work, he said.

Mrs. A. Coombes, reported 90 on the cradle roll and 65 on the beginners class. She extended an invitation to all to visit this class on Sunday mornings.

500 BOOKS

Miss Joan Bacon, Sunday School Librarian reported the renovated Library had 500 books and around 130 of these were taken out regularly on Sundays. Donations were received during year from the Women's Auxiliary, Friendly Circle and the Remembrance Fund. A sum of $85 was spent on new books during the year.

NEED EQUIPMENT

In the absence of L. Whittaker, Mr. Fraser reported for the Boys Work Board which was formed in October and included C. F. Daly, R. T. Fraser and W. Woodhouse. The boys were divided into two groups, Juniors from 8 to 14 years, whose program was similar to the Cubs of the Boys Scouts, and the senior group of boys over 14. Mr. Whittaker assisted by A. Nichols and R. Stinson were in charge. The group was in need of equipment and assistants.

Miss Lail Kalhovd, who has attended two sessions at Camp Koolaree gave an interesting description of the camp and its activities.

W. S. Hewgill gave the Jubilee Club report. He reported 200 members chiefly younger adult members of the Church. Their project in the future was to install a new floor in the Annex.

A. Nichol, President of the Senior Choir, reported that the choir had 25 members and that they were greatly appreciative of the task L. Whittaker as Leader and L. Freeman as organist were doing.

TO ENTER FESTIVAL

During the year the choir had visited Knox United Church in Trail and East Trail Church and they had put on a Contata at Christmastime. This year they were planning on entering the Music Festival in Trail and were preparing Easter Music.

Miss M. Wilkie, leader of the Girls Junior Choir, reported that there were 23 girls in the choir. During the year six members had left to reside elsewhere but six new members were acquired. She thanked the Minister and Congregation for their suport and encouragement. She appealed to the parents to encourage the girls by coming out to hear them. The Junior Choir gave special music and led in the morning singing, they were preparing a contata.

NAME STEWARDS

The following stewards were elected on the recommendation of the Nominating Board: Mrs. W. Buick, W. R. Dodds, S. W. Hewgill, R. F. Mitchell, R. V. McHallam and W. N. Woodhouse. The other members of the Board are J. B. Carr, C. F. Daly, F. M. Etheridge, R. T. Fraser, D. Martin, R. A. Munn and J. C. Urquhart.

Worst Experience In 22 Years on Ship Says Coast Master

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 31 (CP) —High seas pounded the old, oak-built Fraser River lightship aground off Canoe Pass a few miles from Steveston, B. C., today, but her veteran master, Capt. E. L. James, was safe.

Seagoing policemen, members of a R.C.M.P. patrol, rescued him late yesterday after he had spent 13 harrowing hours aboard the drifting ship before it was driven aground in the near-hurricane that took heavy toll of Pacific Coast shipping.

Air-sea rescue attempts, crash boats and fishing boats had failed when Cpl. M. J. Olsen and Sgt. W. M. (Tam) Taylor of the R.C.M.P. battled through icy waters, crossing treacherous sand bars, to reach the ship in imminent danger of breaking up.

They waded to within shouting distance, sometimes with the freezing water up to their necks, and then had Capt. James launch a dinghy. As it swirled by in the stormy water, they caught it and brought the 66-year-old captain ashore.

"The seas were boiling around the ship and battered her so hard that the seams opened up," said Capt. James at his New Westminster home. "This was my worst experience in 22 years as master of her."

The Habitants' crack trio of Elmer Lach, Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Hector (Toe) Blake lead all other attacking forces in goals scored with 55 and they have 46 assists. More than half their scoring total goes to Richard, the League's high marksman with 29 goals.

IN REAL COMEBACK

All overseas with the R. C. A. F. and reunited with the Boston Bruins last season, the "Kitchener" line of Milt Schmidt, Bobby Bauer and Woody Dumart, seems to have regained its pre-war magic. Between them they have 101 scoring points, including 50 goals.

Detroit Red Wings' "bargain" line of Billy Taylor, Roy Conacher and Pete Horeck form the strongest challenge to the established threesomes, with a combined total of 94 points. All obtained from other clubs in trades this season, the line rates Manager Jack Adams as the shrewdest dealer of 1946-47.

Under his ...ership things started happening. ...hile hundreds of supporters ...ed in to help build the stadium, Buckley shopped around for a team. He signed nearly 25 players for something like £1400 ($5600) and now can sell at least one of his men for £5000.

This paltry outlay for a big-time soccer club followed the usual Buckley pattern. His system is to discover 'teen-agers, nurse them along, sell them to the highest bidder and still retain a fighting club.

His strategy netted Wolves nearly £750,000 from 1935 to 1939, including highest-ever, £14,000 transfer fee Arsenal paid for Bryn Jones in 1938. Wolves supporters howled when Buckley let the International inside-forward go and he promptly sold two other discoveries, netting another £13,000.

Minus these three stars, Wolves placed second in the League standing and lost 4-1 in the Cup final against Portsmouth.

Buckley brought fame — and riches — to Wolves and now is bringing a resurrection to Hull. Townsfolk, after seven wartime years without football, are crowding into stadium. The team drew 37,000 in one Cup game and the Saturday afternoon gate rarely is less than 20,000 a crowd few other Third Division Clubs can approach.

The team is not so hot in the win column, but the fans have a lot of faith in the major.

Barbara Ann Takes Compulsory Figure Skating

DAVOS, Switzerland, Jan. 31—(Reuters) — Canada's figure skater, Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa, finished top in the compulsory figure skating here today with a total of 1001.9 points and is thus well on the way to lifting the European championship.

Miss Scott demonstrated the utmost sureness and precision in the compulsory figures in a field which the judges deemed of far higher average standing than the best in prewar years.

The Ottawa beauty stood out in a class by herself. Even when she repeated a figure two or three times she left little more than a single trace on the ice—the sign of perfect technique, achieved only by indefatigable practice.

Dressed in a multi-colored skirt and white pullover sweater embroidered in red, and wearing a white woollen cap over her fair hair, she looked even less than her 18 years.

Tigers, St. Mikers In Line for O.H.A. Playoffs

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP)—This being the last day of January, Senior and Junior "A" clubs of the Ontario Hockey Association suddenly realized that the play-offs are rapidly approaching.

All Winter the redoubtable Hamilton Tigers have led the five-team Senior League. They have lost just one out of 18 games played. All Winter the power-racked Toronto St. Michaels Majors have paced the Junior "A" circuit, a 10-team group. St. Mikes record is two losses out of 30 but this is the point standing which gives four points, or two games, in occasional encounters.

No one doubts that it will be Hamilton Tigers and Toronto St. Mikes who will represent the O.H.A. in the arduous struggles towards the Allan and Memorial Cup finals. But they still have to wind up the schedule and then go through the playoffs. And in playoff series anything can happen.

Require Licence To Slaughter Horses in B. C.

VICTORIA, Jan. 31 (CP)—Regulations controlling slaughtering of horses, designed to prevent the unlawful slaughtering of steers for sale as horse meat, rather than to prevent the diversion of horse meat for human consumption, have been passed by Order-in-Council.

The regulations require all persons, other than mink and fox ranchers to have a licence to slaughter horses. A licensee must notify an inspector of his intention to slaughter horses 24 hours before slaughtering, stating number to be killed, facsimile of brands on each horse, kind age sex and markings, place to be slaughtered, date, and names and addresses of persons from whom the horses were purchased.

Cutting of carcasses smaller than quarters, boning of carcasses, and packing of carcasses in boxes or other containers is prohibited.

Department of agriculture officials said the regulations were made to protect ranchers from having their horses and steers slaughtered unlawfully.

He will record them on a special form and forward them to the captain of the Canadian team and they will be air mailed to the captain of the British side for distribution to his players. Moves of the British players will be recorded in the same way.

PREDICTS ST. ANDREWS WILL BEAT U. S. GOLFERS

By MURRAY SINCLAIR

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 31 (AP)—The St. Andrew's course will defeat United States golfers when they try to take the Walker Cup from Britain next Summer, two of Britain's top pros predicted today.

Dai Rees, the Ben Hogan of England when it comes to winning golf purses, and Charley Ward, Great Britain's third highest money-maker last year, have seen many of the top United States amateurs in action since they joined the touring golfers of the Professional Golfers Association last Fall.

In Tucson for this week's $10,000 open, Rees and Ward agreed that man for man the first Walker cup team the United States has assembled since 1938, after which play was stopped because of the war, may be a wee bit stronger than their opponents, but not strong enough to beat the British team and the St. Andrew's course.

PROVIDE FOR FULL-TIME FIRE WARDEN AT TRAIL

TRAIL, B. C., Jan. 31 (CP) —The City Council's Fire, Water and Light Committee was authorized yesterday to include in its estimates for the next year, provisions for a full-time City Fire Warden thus indicating possible inauguration of such a post within the next year. The recommendation was made following the report of the committee and an interview with Fire Chief H. H. Miller.

Fire Chief Miller explained that under the provisions of the Fire Marshall's Act, it was required that public buildings such as theatres, halls, hotels, schools were to be inspected every two months. There was not sufficient staff at present to carry out these duties and he felt that the hiring of another man was essential.

Ald. F. A. Sindell, reporting for the committee, reported that they had under study the installation of fire warnings at busy down town insersections. Quotations had been requested for warnings which would consist of a bell and a four-way warning light to be switched on from the fire hall when alarms were turned in.

Poverty Not Main Delinquency Cause Says Rees at Coast

VICTORIA, Jan. 31 (CP)—Poverty by itself is not the main cause of juvenile delinquency in the opinion of H. S. C. Rees, Borstal expert from England who addressed the Canadian Club today.

He said that the sharp increase in juvenile delinquency evidenced in England during the war years was directly attributable to the blackout, to the poor home conditions caused by war and both parents working, and to the lack of parental discipline. "In the main we found that poverty had little to do with it," he commented, "but badly overcrowded living conditions and lack of home control were the answers to the problem."

Chinese Dignity Wavers as Wife Welcomed

SEATTLE, Jan. 31 (AP)—Traditional Chinese dignity held sway yesterday at the airport as Him Woo welcomed his wife, Tuoi Moy, and the small daughter he had never seen, Sue Jean, after their flight from China.

Him Woo, who married Tuoi Moy during a visit to China before the war, solemnly touched his wife and daughter on the arm. They stood with passive faces, their eyes glistening with held-back tears.

Him Woo, laundryman and ex-G.I., pinned an orchid to the coat of each. He paused a moment, then dug a $10 bill from his coat pocket and turned to a friend.

"Please give this to the March of Dimes," said Him Woo. "It's the only way I can say I am glad to be in America with my family."

Large quantities of shoes and clothing were sold to U.N.R.R.A. for overseas relief, through War Assets Corporation. The initial order was for 261,466 battle-dress blouses, 328,534 battle-dress trousers, 26,137 greatcoats and 252,378 pairs of boots.

Demand Prompt Action in Car Loading of Grain

By JACK AVESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Winnipeg, Jan. 31 (CP) — The Board of Directors of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture today demanded that "definite and prompt action be taken to increase the car loadings of grain." The resolution, approved following the close of open sessions of the Federation's annual convention here, is being forwarded to Agriculture Minister Gardiner and Trade Minister MacKinnon.

The deficiency in carloadings was described as "imperilling the domestic feed position in Eastern Canada and also Canada's export commitments for wheat."

The resolution added that supplies of tough and damp grain, mostly at country points where elevators are at present congested, must be moved promptly to avoid serious spoilage when warm weather arrives.

The resolution was one of several confronting the directors today, many of them concerning livestock hog and feed grain matters, left over for their deliberation by delegates to the convention.

VIVID SALVAGE DRAMA PROCEEDS IN AUSTRALIA

By J. G. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Jan. 31 (CP)—A vivid salvage drama has been proceeding here for the last 12 days as efforts have gone ahead to save the stranded liner Wanganella, stuck fast on a reef at the harbor entrance.

New Zealand's famed diver John Johnstone, who led the successful salvage of $9,000,000 in gold from the sunken liner Niagara during the war, has made a perilous detailed underwater survey of the reef. Based on his findings, nests of kedge anchors have been laid seaward to enable the ship's winches to swivel the liner off the reef with the aid of a fleet of powerful tugs.

Salvage of the liner is of great importance to Australia and New Zealand as it is the only regular liner available at the moment for passenger service across the Tasman Sea.

Frets Cause Mom's Social Life May Bar "Son" From Presidency

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (CP)—In recent weeks one sure way for a dominant United States personality of the masculine sex to get in the headlines has been publicly to declare he does not want ever to be President.

To an outsider, it seems a strange attitude toward the Presidency, and toward the democratic system of this country, that a man like Gen. George C. Marshall, now Secretary of State, should be so widely-acclaimed for bluntly declaring he would not hold a political office and could not be drafted for one.

No one would criticize the General if he said he was too old and too tired from long and valiant service to his country to stand the hurly burly of political strife.

But his statement seemed to carry some implication that political life is not desirable and the statement was seized upon and widely stressed by those who like to criticize politicians.

Gen. Marshall, who would automatically become President if fate removed Harry Truman, has definitely put himself out of the 1948 Presidential picture. Both he and Gen. Douglas MacArthur will be out of the picture in 1952 because they will be past 70 and too old. But Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who has not yet silenced all rumors about his political future, will still be young enough in 1952 if he escapes the draft in 1948.

FRETS OVER PRESIDENT-TO-BE

Meanwhile there is some assurance that the traditional ambition of American parents to raise a son to be President is not dead.

A Washington man whose wife was about to become a mother recently complained that he was worried because his missis was attending so many functions in Embassies. He said he was afraid the child might be born prematurely while she was in an Embassy—and thus born on foreign soil—and would be ineligible to run for President.

For some reason there has been a new flurry of local interest in the Canadian spy story of more than a year ago. Almost daily there are appeals to Canadians in Washington for a copy of the bulky Canadian Blue Book containing the Royal Commission report on the Soviet espionage incident.

Angry Adolf Ordered Fleet From Seas 2 Years Before War's End

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP) — Adolf Hitler, in a fit of anger, ordered the German High Seas Fleet laid up in January, 1943, almost two years before the end of the war, it was disclosed in secret Nazi documents made public here and in London tonight.

A heavy fleet of British warships, reinforced from time to time by American battleships, cruisers and destroyers, maintained ceaseless patrol in the North Sea between Britain and Norway, unaware that their quarry had been immobilized.

That this heavy fleet was not entirely wasted watching the laid-up German fleet was shown by the desperate Northern raid of the Scharnhorst in December, 1943. Although scheduled to be decommissioned by Hitler July 1, Naval officers apparently succeeded in postponing the end of their last crack fighting ship. She was caught by British units and destroyed while running for home.

PLANNED TO SEIZE AZORES

Another long-kept secret also came to light.

Fleet Admiral Ernest King of the United States Navy casually revealed that the United States made plans before the war to seize the Portuguese Azores with the unofficial approval of Portugal.

Anticipating a German grab for the strategic islands located in mid-Atlantic, the United States considered early in 1941 and then laid actual plans for occupying the Azores, as had been done with Iceland.

Since Portugal was neutral "sub-rosa" conversations with U. S. representatives agreed to the occupation, but arranged for an official "protest" to hoodwink the Germans.

The Nazi documents show a three-cornered fight in 1943 among the air force, army and navy ended with Hitler berating his navy chiefs for leaving their ships "idle in the Fjords, utterly useless like so much old iron."

He topped off a series of violent conferences with a flat order that decommissioned every ship in the German Navy larger than a destroyer.

Movie Gossip

British, U. S. Argument Over Import Restrictions Like Opening Guns of Battle

By HELEN BANNERMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The uproar now rising higher in Hollywood and London over proposed British import restrictions on American movies sounds more like the opening guns in a new battle of Britain than the preliminaries to a new trade agreement.

Sir Stafford Cripps, President of the British Board of Trade, has said publicly that unless more British pictures get better presentation in the United States higher taxation will be sought against American films in Britain.

In reply to this Samuel Goldwyn, who had previously put his approval of British films on record, cracked that "if British producers would stay away from Parliament and concentrate on making good pictures, they would be all right."

Eric Johnston, President of the American Motion Picture Producers, Association and spokesman of the industry, tactfully replied to the threat with the reminder that "restrictions are picket fences across the paths of expanding world trade. Increased quotas in England would breed quotas in other countries."

Bosley Crowther, film editor of the New York Times, sums the situation up:

"For all Mr. Johnston's innuendoes and the indignation of American film men — and for all the incidental criticism of Hollywood movies made by Sir Stafford — the whole situation is quite simple and no cause for national outrage; the British economy is not able to buy more films from America than it sells."

CHANGE IN HOCKEY STYLE SEEMS TO LEAVE PRATT AS TOP-SCORING DEFENCE

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP)—As he focuses his eye on a coaching job, from a minor league bench, it looks as though big Walter (Babe) Pratt can recommend himself for hockey's Hall of Fame as the all-time, high-scoring National League defenceman, even if he never returns to the majors.

From the dressing room of the American League Hershey Bears, the "Honest Brakeman" scanned scoring records of the N.H.L., from which he was recently demoted by Boston Bruins, to find that the three high-scoring defencemen in the majors were tied in 50th place.

In only 50 games in 1945, Pratt set an all-time mark when he scored 17 goals and gained 40 assists with Toronto Maple Leafs. With two-thirds of a 60-game schedule completed this season, the three top defenders have only 13 points each.

Some experts figured that with the current helter-skelter type of hockey, young defencemen would topple the mark set by towering Babe. But present indications are that rearguards are kept so busy keeping track of steady waves of incoming attackers, they haven't time to make things uncomfortable for opposing goalies.

Pat Egan of the Bruins, credited with the hardest shot in hockey, leads scoring defencemen with five markers, along with eight assists. Neil Colville, moved from centre to a back position with New York Rangers has three goals and 10 assists, while Wally Stanowski, Toronto Maple Leafs' "Whirling Dervish," has two goals and 11 helpers.

In bygone days when skill played more part in pushing the puck into the net, Boston's Eddie Shore scored as many as 15 goals a season and twice moved past the 25-mark in assists. Bill (Flash) Hollett before he retired from Detroit Red Wings fired 20 goals and added 21 assists in one season, although aided somewhat by taking the odd turn as a forward.

Britain's I. Q. Slipping Article Claims

LONDON, Jan. 31 (Reuters) — Britain's I. Q. may be slipping, an article in the British Medical Journal indicated today.

Commenting on what it called the "distant prospect of a galloping plunge to intellectual bankruptcy" the article drew attention to a booklet by Sir Cyril Burt, professor of Psychology at University College, London.

Burt, the article declared, said that experimental results strongly suggest that if present population trends continue, Britain will face a progressive decline in the level of its national intelligence.

Standard mental ability measurement tests showed that members of larger families have, on the average, lower test scores than those from smaller families. The "only child" tends to do better in tests than those from larger families.

There is no reason to suppose high intellectual endowment and specialized skills or desirable social virtues are mutually exclusive in the same person, the article said.

"Children of the professional classes are found to be on the average (but only on the average) more intelligent in this sense than children of unskilled laborers.

"The maintenance of a steady level of the national intelligence depends on the more intelligent parents contributing enough to the next generation to balance the quota added by parents at the other end of the intellectual scale.

"At the moment, professional families have a net production rate well below that of the working classes."

Accordingly, the British Medical Journal urged an intensive large scale study of the subject by a commission drawn from psychologists, psychiatrists, socialogists and statisticians.

Two Awarded Distinguished Medals

SEATTLE, Jan. 31 (AP)—Capt. William J. Cochran was awarded the British Military Cross and Capt. James F. Luma, of the Army Air forces, the British Distinguished Flying Cross by British Consul G. E. Vaughan at a special investure here last night.

The award to Captain Cochran was for extraordinary gallantry in the field at Ludinghausen, Germany March 30, 1945, during which he captured a strongpoint although wounded, killing four Germans and capturing eight.

Captain Luma, now a university of Washington student, shot down three enemy aircraft as a night intruder pilot with the 418th Royal Canadian Air Force Squadron, his citation said.

Krakauer Gives Self Up in "Fixing" Football

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—David Krakauer, sought in a country-wide alarm on an indictment charging bribery and conspiracy in connection with the investigation into attempted fixing of a professional football game, surrendered today at the District Attorney's office.

Krakauer, accompanied by his lawyer, Harold Cooper, walked into the District Attorney's office while police of 48 states searched for him.

He was one of three men indicted after Alvin J. Paris had been convicted of trying to "fix" the New York Giants Chicago Bears professional football game Dec. 15 by attempting to bribe two Giants players.

LONDON (CP) — Every post office coast station in Britain maintains a constant watch, day and night, for distress and emergency calls from ships at sea.

Withdrawal of Veto Would Peril U. N. Says Martin

QUEBEC, Jana. 30 (CP) — Health Minister Martin said today use of the veto in the United Nations Security Council had been abused but withdrawal of it would "imperil the future of the organization before it is fairly launched in its work."

"Originally designed as a means for keeping the big powers united, it has become an instrument for dividing them," he said. "But we should never forget this all-important fact: Unless the veto right for the major powers had been written into the charter, the organization would never have come into being."

The United Nations had been successful to a degree greater than most people appreciated. But it would be "vain and unrealistic that a civilization wounded by two great wars within a generation could suddenly emerge into the light of enduring peace."

Mr. Martin reiterated Canada's view that the Security Council had failed to do the task entrusted it.

"The Security Council has been used as a propaganda agency. Our stand (at the last U.N. sessions in December) was that it should be a means for promoting settlement of disputes as well as a means to reduce the occasions for such disputes.

Of disarmament, he said Canada's attitude was based on three considerations. She wanted to know what armed forces would have to be put at the disposal of the Security Council as her share of the international police force; she wanted assurance that outlawing use of the atomic bomb would not be treated separately from the question of controlling atomic energy for peaceful purposes, and she wanted an effective system of inspection.

MUST INCREASE GRAIN EXPORTS TO SAVE HUNGRY

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 (CP) — The spectre of hunger and starvation continues to hang over many parts of the world despite the high 1946 world grain crop.

The Bureau of Statistics forecast today that ration in wheat-hungry countries will again be at dangerously low levels unless the rate of bread grain exports from surplus-producing nations is increased in the first half of 1947.

The 1946 world crop was 10 per cent higher than in 1945, the Bureau reported in its survey of the world situation, but geographic distribution of the increased production "limits its most effective utilization in meeting the world's food needs."

Claims Profits Not Required for Business Liable to Taxation

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner Wednesday night told the big corporations of Canada that the profits which were not required for their business were "not your profits," and thus were liable to taxation.

Over the CBC in a program known as the "Nation's Business," Mr. Gardiner added:

"They are the money of those who applied their labor to the natural resources of this country to produce wealth, and if you do not or cannot pay them out in wages, local taxes, widespread dividends—share or patronage—to provide services, then we must tax them.

"The money so obtained must be redistributed through Provincial payments to the areas from which the wealth came."

Where local authorities could not, as in the case of family allowances and old age pensions, make the distribution equitably, the Dominion Government must.

"The Liberal Party is opposed to State ownership and control of all the resources and machinery of production,' he said, "but the Liberal Party is also opposed to any authority within the State attempting to take unto itself the right to tax the labor of the masses for personal or corporate gain or aggrandizement."

Poland Extremely Good in Reconstruction Considering Times

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WARSAW, Jan. 31 (CP)—Poland has suffered far more than most outside countries realize and only now, two years after the liberation of this capital, is she getting into the swing of reconstruction.

Apart from the fascination of the current Polish politics, the most vivid impression a visitor gets of "new" Poland is the immensity of the task to put the country back on its feet.

The basis has been laid and U.N.R.R.A.'s mission chief to Poland, Brig. Charles M. (Bud) Drury of Montreal told the Canadian Press: "I think this government is doing an extremely good job of reconstruction considering the conditions."

U.N.R.R.A. has been a tremendous benefit to Poland. Drury has won the complete confidence of the leading cabinet ministers.

Poland's economy is drastically affected by the shift to the West through the addition of new Western territories in former Germany and the loss to Russia of Eastern areas.

As a result Poland will become a more industrial country than in prewar due to the acquisition from Germany of factories in Silesia.

The Leftist government has inlated a planned economy, based on a three-year reconstruction scheme combined with the nationalization of all heavy and key industries.

Regards Alaska Highway as Emergency Route Only, but Rail Link Feasible

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Jan. 31—(AP)—Col. Frank A. Bogart, Director of Logistics for the Alaska Department, indicated today the Alaska Highway is primarily of value as a means for emergency supply.

This new travel road, running from Edmonton, Alta., to Fairbanks, through hundreds of miles of muskeg which is entirely uninhabited, is now in daily use, even in the recent rough weather.

"To supply Alaska by truck over the Alaska Highway is not economically feasible," he said. He related that the Alaska railroad organization ran a convoy of trucks over the highway during the recent West Coast shipping strike, and it found the costs so high that use of the route would be prohibitive from a commercial standpoint.

Colonel Bogart said, however, that "rail connection with the United States is possible. Such a route has been surveyed."
