Canada Seeks Seat On Security Council

Would Mean New Role in Top Bracket Diplomacy; Permanent Veto Procedure Out Says St. Laurent

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Sept. 12 (CP)—Formally announcing Canada's candidacy for membership on the Security Council of the United Nations, External Affairs Minister St. Laurent said tonight that "we realize that if we are elected the people of Canada will be confronted with new and onerous responsibilities."

He said that "we also realize that we shall have the weaknesses and difficulties from which the nations suffers brought home to us in an urgent manner that will test to the utmost our confidence in that organization."

Speaking to the Ottawa branch of the United Nations Association in Canada on the eve of his departure for New York as head of the Canadian delegation to the second session of the U.N. General Assembly, he emphasized that election to the 11-member Security Council would move Canada into the big-time diplomatic arena.

"We shall be forced, as never before in Canada in times of peace, to make decisions on major questions of policy arising from situations which exist far from our shores and which some may feel do not directly affect us."

Mr. St. Laurent said Canada would become involved directly with questions such as the Balkan dispute and the Indonesian problem which do not now come immediately before the Government's attention.

"We shall be endeavoring to find solutions to problems which are complicated by the unresolved differences amongst the great powers and we shall be taking part in the activities of a body which the world knows to be far from perfect."

BEST HOPE

But in spite of the shortcomings of the Security Council, "we in this country continue to believe that the best hope for mankind lies in the establishment of a world organization for the maintenance of peace," he added.

This is why Canada is willing to serve on the Council.

The Minister said he spoke "with reserved optimism," and that "we in Canada regard our membership in the United Nations not as a temporary expedient but as a permanent partnership."

"At the same time, we are conscious of the effort which must be made to offset the danger in which this partnership lies."

Mr. St. Laurent said the Government has informed other members of U.N. that she is a candidate for the Security Council.

"We have not asked any state to pledge its vote to us, because it is not the policy of the Canadian Government either to seek or to give pledges of this nature. We have, however, asked that sympathetic consideration be given to our candidature and that our qualifications be judged on our record. I may say that the response has been most gratifying.

He said it would be a misrepresentation of the situation if it was not made clear, however, that Canada is standing for membership on a body with a discouraging record.

"We must not delude ourselves or anyone else about the fact that membership on the Security Council will embody greater risks and responsibilities and fewer rewards and honors than it seemed to offer two years ago when Canada withdrew its candidacy in order to enable Australia to be elected."

VETO MISUSE

Speaking of the Council's record, he said there has been little evidence in the Council of sincere desire to reach agreed solutions.

"All too frequently, there has been the continual restatement in uncompromising terms of inflexible positions. The misuse of the veto, which we all so much regret, has been a disturbing symptom of the failure to reach agreed solutions on any of the major problems brought before the United Nations."

In seeking membership on the Council, Canada doesn't pretend that it has the remedy for these difficulties, for the remedy only lies in the attitude of the Big Five permanent members of the Council which have the veto power.

"There is no form of words, nor method of procedure, which will be proof against the determination of any state to misuse its position as a member of the Council.

"The Security Council is essentially a democratic political device. It is basic in democratic practice that no member of a democratic community shall so use his privileges that the system by which his community is governed is weakened or discredited.

"In a true democracy there is no end which justifies a means that brings into contempt the instrument of government. It is only by the practice of these restraints that the Security Council can be redeemed."

On the veto issue, which is going to cause heated debate in New York, Mr. St. Laurent said that the Government realizes that the veto provision in the U.N. charter was necessary as a temporary expedient for resolving the problem of voting procedure in a world of unequal powers.

But Canada shall never be reconciled to a permanent situation in which a distinction is made between the five great powers and all other nations which are placed together in a less privileged position.

"The solution of this problem will not be easy, and I do not think that any simple constitutional amendment or any mere reform in procedure will solve it.

"Our difficulties will be removed only by the establishment, over a period of time, of precedents and practices which will lead to a modification of the veto power. We are fully conscious, therefore, that if we are elected to the Security Council, our influence on that body will be limited by the superior voting powers which are enjoyed by some members of that body."

Atlantic Storm Becomes Roaring Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 12 (AP) — The Atlantic storm became a full-fledged hurricane with roaring 143-mile-an-hour winds today, the United States Weather Bureau reported. It was classified as "very dangerous."

An Army plane pierced the disturbance and found its centre at 8:45 a.m. at latitude 17.8 North, longitude 59.3 West, with very heavy rain and severe turbulence.

Barometric pressure at the centre had dropped to 28.85 inches.

A Navy hurricane hunter prepared to fly into the disturbance later to determine temperatures and vertical air blasts as part of a research into a plan to "bust" hurricanes with dry ice and other chemicals.

Blocked Move to Improve Russ Chemical Works

By THOMAS A. REEDY

NUERNBERG, Sept. 12 (AP) — The I. G. Farben Trust blocked a move by Russia to improve its chemical industry with German help on the strength of the non-aggression pact signed with Hitler in 1939, it was disclosed today at the Farben War Crimes Trial.

How the Farben chiefs frowned on the proposal during the period when Hitler and Stalin were negotiating with each other was revealed in a document obtained from the Farben files by American prosecutors conducting the trial of 23 directors of the huge trust.

According to the documents, a delegation from Moscow in November, 1939, sought expert help to build a Russian chemical industry. Negotiations were undertaken but they never amounted to anything after barriers were set up against giving the Soviet union any information.

The document which revealed the situation was signed by two of the defendants at the present trial — Fritz Ter Meer, Farben Chemical expert, and Otto Ambros, head of Farben's Buna (synthetic rubber) works at Auschwitz (Oswiecim).

The two directors pointed out that Russia already had become a large-scale producer of butadiene—a base for synthetic rubber—and commented that it was "of satisfactory quality."

"An inspection of our continuous polymerization method and the finishing process would therefore provide them with such extensive information that they could possibly do without us."

Farben also recommended that if any help were given to the Russians by Hitler, it should be stipulated that the products so yielded be used by the Russians only within their domestic economy with a ban on shipment abroad.

Arab Leader Assassinated

JERUSALEM, Sept. 12 (AP)—Sama Effendi Taha, Secretary-General of the Arab Labor Federation, was assassinated at his home tonight, it was unofficially announced.

The assassins were reported to have driven past in a car, slowed down and sprayed hime with submachine-gun bullets.

Taha has consistently supported Musa El Alami, Director General of the Arab Propaganda Offices, now in London, in opposition to the Mufti and Jamal El Husseini, Deputy Chairman of the Palestine Arab Committee.

Taha had just made a speech at a Haifa Labor meeting in which he assailed Husseini's newspaper, Al Wahda, for its attacks on Alami's supporters and expressed disagreement with the Mufti's followers' position that all Jews arriving in Palestine after 1918 are here illegally. Taha agreed in his speech to permit all Jews now here to remain if Palestine is given independence instead of partition.

Fire Destroys Garage At Edgewood

EDGEWOOD, B.C., Sept. 12 — Fire today completely destroyed a garage owned by David Vrick and Carl Raabis, who purchased it anly last Spring from A. Pegura. The garage was built about 14 years ago.

The fire raged from about 11 a.m., to 1 p.m., and a bucket brogade, later aided by a Forest Service pump, worked desperately to keep the flames from spreading to the nearby home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Vrooman. Forest Service men laid a hose from the lake to the scene of the blaze. Efforts to save the home were successful.

The garage, which was insured, was reported to be valued at from $3000 to $4000. Cause of the fire was not known, but it is known to have started in an engine in the lighting plant.

A car under repair was taken out of the garage and saved, but a truck parked outside was badly damaged.

Another Home Destroyed At Shoreacres

Shoreacres was once again the scene of destruction of property by fire Thursday night, when the home of Mike Nevekshomoff, reported to be a member of the Sons of Freedom, was burned to the ground.

Close to 50 farm buildings, community houses and schools have gone up in flames since the outbreak of incendiarism early in August. Spreading through the West Kootenay Doukhobor settlements and the Grand Forks area, the wave of terrorism was brought to the attention of the Provincial and Dominion Governments and Judge Harry Sullivan of New Westminster was appointed to conduct an inquiry into claims of the Doukhobors involved in the sect war. He will be assisted by Harold W. McInnes of Penticton as counsel.

The owners of the Shoreacres home burned Thursday was not in his home at the tim, and Provincial Police Friday were attempting to find him. He has not been seen around the building for several days, Police were told.

Witnesses told Police that the fire appeared to have started inside the house. Some of the furniture was removed. Investigation of the fire is continuing.

Seek Suspects In Lovers' Lane Slayings

TORONTO, Sept. 12 (CP) — slayings of a married man and his Disclosure that the Lovers' Lane comely, blonde girl friend were due to strangulation tonight sent a picked special squad of detectives on a wide search for suspects in one of Toronto's most bizarre murder cases.

TORONTO, Sept. 12 (CP) — The Lovers' Lane deaths of a married man missing from his home since Wednesday and a young woman, whose bodies were found crammed into the luggage compartment of his automobile provided police with a first-class mystery today.

Police refused to say whether murder was suspected, awaiting an autopsy in the deaths of the two they identified as George Vigus, 39, and Iri Scott, 21, both of Toronto. The car containing their bodies was found early today on a parking lot overlooking Grenadier Pond in West End High Park.

SUICIDE PACT

Inspector of Detectives N. Tinsley remarked merely that "it looks like poisoning of some kind." His remark and the fact that the door of the luggage compartment was of the self locking type led to speculation that the deaths might have resulted from a carbon-monoxide suicide pact, though police also refused comment on this angle.

The parking lot, just off a busy through-road in the West-Central section of the huge park, is used frequently by couples in cars and last night several parked there, unaware of the grisly contents of the nearby automobile.

Detective Tinsley said Miss Scott roomed in a house on Erskine Ave., in Toronto and identified the vehicle as belonging to Vigus, a paper box factory foreman.

The bodies were discovered after police were called by a park attendant who had been told that the car had been standing in the park all day.

Says Religion Barring Economic Development

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 12 (AP) — Professor S. D. Clark of the University of Toronto today told members of the American Economic History Association that "in few countries in the Western world has religion exerted as great an influence upon development of the community as it has in Canada."

Clark, a principal speaker at the opening session of the two-day seventh annual meeting of the Association at ale, discussed the religious factor in Canadian Economic development.

"Religion has placed a sharp brake upon the economic growth of the country," Clark said. "It has done so directly where, for instance, the church has been actually able to direct the movement of population and to prohibit any sort of economic endeavor which has threatened the religious interest.

"Out of such control has developed at most a sort of theocratic-monopolistic capitalism. But it also, indirectly, has served to retard economic enterprise.

"Eeven where emancipation from religious controls has extended furthest, Sharp limitation has placed upon the activity of a purely secular character.

"Canada has been, and remains, a fundamentally religious nation. No great political or social upheaval in the country has served to break the close ties with a past which placed a large emphasis on religious values of life. Insecurity has forced a dependence unon isolation and in isolation, the hold of tradition has been preserved."

"LOGGERS' SPECIAL"

VANCOUVER, Sept. 12 (CP) — The first "loggers' special" air service in British Columbia started operation today when a Chinese-Red seaplane took the air for a flight to Canadian Forest Products Ltd. operations on Nimpkish Lake, Vancouver Island.

11,000 Packers Out; Meat Shortage Looms

C.C.L. Appeals for Provinces to Surrender Jurisdiction for Dominion-Wide Conciliation Move

By The Canadian Press

One of the worst meat shortages in Canada's history was in prospect as the strike by the United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.) continued to spread.

Almost 11,000 of the 14,000 employees of the meat-packing industry's "big three" had walked out by Friday night. Strike votes by the remaining 3000 were expected to be completed by Monday at the latest.

The strikers are demanding a basic wage of 92 cents an hour, a concession which would mean an average increase of 17 cents an hour. The Swift Canadian Company, whose six plants were struck Aug. 27, offered a three-cent boost. Canada Packers Limited and Burns and Company employees, who started their walkouts this week, have been offered five-cent hikes.

Friday's walkouts, reported by The Canadian Press:

Canada Packers plants—1900 in Toronto, 1200 in the Winnipeg area, 300 at Hull.

Burns and Company plants—500 at Calgary, 450 at Kitchener, Ont.

Settlement possibilities apparently were as remote as ever, but there was a new appeal—from the Canadian Congress of Labor—to the eight provinces affected by the strike to waive their jurisdictional rights and vest them in the Dominion Government.

An Ontario Government bid seemed doomed to failure by insistance of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO) upon conciliation or arbitration on a Dominion-wide basis.

Cyprien Miron, Chief Conciliator of the Quebec Provincial Labor Department, said in an interview in Montreal that "the Quebec Government will be able to handle any labor dispute which may arise, including the meat-packing strike, without assistance from Federal authorities." He called a conference of union officials today.

Nation-wide conciliation would entail waiving by the Provinces of their jurisdiction over labor matters temporarily and there was little indication that this waiver would be forthcoming.

Nor did union officials look with favor on the condition in the Ontario settlement plan that workers now on strike return to work while matters in dispute were placed before an arbitrator or conciliator.

The plan, worked out last night by the Ontario Department of Labor and accepted by Canada Packers and Burns and Companies—two of the companies involved in the strike—was discussed by union officers at Toronto last night, but a union official said the proposed formula was unacceptable.

The union's demand for a basic minimum wage of 92 cents an hour, or an average increase of 17 cents an hour, has been countered by offers from Canada Packers and Burns of a five-cent boost and from Swift of a three-cent increase.

To enforce these demands, 6570 workers were idle by last night.

This figure includes 3500 Swift workers who have been on strike for more than two weeks.

5 NEW STRIKES

Five new strikes scheduled for today are: 1900 Canada Packers employees in Toronto; 300 at a Canada Packers plant at Hull, Que.; 1200 Canada Packers employees in the Winnipeg area; 500 Burns workers in Calgary and 400 Burns employees at Kitchener, Ont.

At Winnipeg about 1200 employees of Canada Packers' St. Boniface plant went on strike following an announcement here last night by officials of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO) that the employees had voted to strike.

With the walk-out of the 1200 Canada Packers workers, approximately 1900 packinghouse workers now are on strike in the Winnipeg area. About 700 employees of the Swift Canadian Company have been on strike for two weeks. Employees of a third packing house, Burns and Company, are taking a strike ballot tonight.

MEAT SHORTAGES

Meanwhile, predictions of meat shortages and other repercussions poured in from many points. At Ottawa, some government meat authorities forecast a blanket disappearance of meat within two weeks, if the Dominion-wide walkout continued. In Edmonton, Vancouver and Calgary a stampede of housewives yesterday depleted retail stocks, forcing many butchers to close by noon.

Shipments of meat to hungry Britain will "automatically dry up," said one Ottawa official, while a run on such protein dishes such as eggs, macaroni and fish was predicted for Canadian merchants.

SUPPLY HOSPITALS

William Symington, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL) International representative at Vancouver said that striking workers would be allowed to supply hospitals, mining and logging camps with meat.

"We've never refused permission and as long as we know the meat is destined for hospitals and camps, there will be no interference from us," he said.

Windsor, Ont., had a problem all its own. Shoppers flocked across the border from neighboring Detroit in unusually large numbers, many buying as much as $5 worth of meat each. Detroiters have for months made market-day visits to Windsor stores to take advantage of lower prices but they have been making the crossing more frequently since the shortage became imminent.

In Toronto, where some 2800 workers are on strike, there was little hope that small district packinghouses would be able to ease the impending city shotage. The most optimistic guess in Toronto was that supplies might last until next Wednesday.

NELSON STOCKS AMPLE

While some centres across Canada were suffering acute meat shortages as a result of a nation-wide packers' strike, Nelson butchers Friday said that their stocks were ample for the week-end.

"We don't know what will happen next week," they admitted, "but we have plenty for Saturday shoppers."

Shelves were stocked with beef and a small quantity of pork. There was no smoked meats.

TORONTO, Sept. 12 (CP)—Strike headquarters of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.) said tonight that 10,770 members now are on strike across Canada. The breakdown:

Toronto, 2800; Winnipeg and St. Boniface, Man., 2000; Montreal, 1600; Edmonton, 1500; Calgary, 750; Kitchener, Ont., 450; Moose Jaw, Sask., 450; Moncton, N.B., 300; Hull, Que., 300; New Westminster, B.C., 200; Peterborough, Ont., 200; Vancouver, 150; and Charlottetown, 70.

PAIR ARRESTED AT GILPIN, BARN BURNINGS SCENE

Strict Watch Kept On Sons of Freedom Community

HEARING TODAY

By STANLEY ORRIS

GRAND FORKS, B.C., Sept. 12—B.C. Police arrested Jack J. Lazaroff and William A. Podovinikoff at Gilpin, village near Grand Forks, Friday.

The two, described as Sons of Freedom members, will be charged with arson. They are alleged to have set fire to their barns earlier in the week.

Property on which the barns were situated is under the ownership of the B.C. Land Settlement Board and it is believed this fact made the arrests possible.

Attorney General G. S. Wismer in Victoria earlier stated that charges of arson could not be laid against anyone burning buildings on their own property provided such burnings did not endanger the property of others.

The two accused will appear before Magistrate W. E. Euerby Saturday morning for preliminary hearings.

The reinforced B.C. Police detachment here under Corporal E. F. McKay is keeping a close watch on members of the Sons of Freedom community at Gilpin. Members are allowed out from the colony only for the purchase of supplies and other necessary business.

Hope to Reopen Salmo School Building Question

Nineteen property owners voted against, and 13 for, the Salmo School by-law at Longbeach, it was learned Friday. These figures brought the total of District voters who supported the bylaw to 717, and those who were not in favor to 1053.

Future plans in connection with the Salmo school proposal will be discussed by the District School Board. It is hoped to reopen the issue and find means of paring the cost of building a new school.

In most cases, those who failed to support the school bylaw, were entirely in favor of building a new school, but could not support the estimated cost of $366,000.

Reds Launch Battle for Italy

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Diplomatic officials reported tonight that Italian Communists believed to be working under a Moscow time table have launched their long-awaited "battle for Italy" and that the crisis is outrunning American plans for helping the Italian people.

These authorities say that the spreading strike of 1,000,000 agricultural and industrial workers, the Socialist demand for a vote of no confidence in the De Gasperi Government and other recent developments appear to be part of a Communist campaign to overthrow the Government and capture Italy for the Soviet half of Europe. Much fear is reported to exist in Italy and even in Italian quarters in Washington over the possibility of armed conflict.

High state department and other American officials are exploring every possible means of throwing United States asistance to the present non-Communist force govering Italy in the hope of saving that Nation for the West.

SEES NEED FOR SELF-HELP

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP)—John J. McCloy, President of the World Bank, said today major bottlenecks remaining in the reconstruction of Europe are "food, fuel, and manpower."

In the second annual report presented to the bank's Board of Governors, McCloy stated:

"Europe itself must make the major contribution to the solution of all of these problems . . . outside assistance is vital, but it represents a small percentage of the total effort."

One of the most important steps "is the restoration of finacial stability to the extent such stability can be achieved through a balanced budget of current expenditures, a sound and equitable tax system, and the curtailment so far as possible of unproductive governmental expenditures."

Murder Shows In Death of Ontario Man

TORONTO, Sept. 12 (CP)—A man identified as Cecil J. Hemming of Welland, Ont., died in hospital today of a bullet wound and police said the result of an autopsy showed it was murder.

Hemming was brought to hospital from Maple, 10 miles North of here after what police said was a fight during a drinking party in a shack there. No arrests have been made.

Chief Coroner Dr. Smirle Lawson said apparently two men and two women met in a downtown hotel and went to the cottage. Early today an argument broke out and the fatal shot was fired.

Police said a shotgun was found in the shack at a gravel pit where the party was held.

NO PLANS TO RAISE LUMBER PRICE CEILINGS

TOAST and TEA

BY J. A. McARLE

"Man," says Goldsmith, "little knows what calamities are beyond his patience to bear till he tries them; as in ascending the heights of ambition, which look bright from below, every step we rise shows us some new and gloomy prospect of hidden disappointment; so in our descent from the summits of pleasure, though the vale of misery below may appear, at first, dark and gloomy, yet the busy mind still attentive to its own amusement, finds, as we descend, something to flatter and to please. Still, as we approach, the darkest objects apepar to brighten, and the mortal eye becomes adapted to its gloomy situation."

Redmen Go Two Up on Penalty-Hit Bears

TRAIL, B.C., Sept. 12—The Rossland Redmen took a firm hold on the Interior boxla championship Friday night by gaining a decisive one sided 17-6 victory from the Trail Golden Bears in the Trail arena.

The Redmen now lead 2-0 in the best three out of five series.

The Trailites, already under-staffed due to the departure of several players, had to press Coach Paul Seymour into action as a result of Herb Moon's suspension. Moon was involved in a fracas with O. Neil of Rossland and Referee Al Simms after last Wednesday's game.

Jackie LaFace opened the scoring for Rossland after 59 seconds of a tightly-played first period in which a total of four goals was scored—two by each club.

The penalties also were evenly divided, Ira Page of the Redmen and Graham Roberts of the Bruins each earning two minutes in the penalty box.

Although Rossland had a good edge on the play, Gib Meredith, in the Trail net, was on his toes and gained a draw for the Bruins in the first 15 minute session.

PENALTIES COST GOALS

The second stanza was uneventful until two Trail men, Julie Bilesky and Herb Exner, were banished to the cooler. The Redmen were quick to take advantage and rattled in two goals before the Bruins got back to full strength. Archie Scott from Anderson and Jack LaFace were the marksmen—sending Rossland ahead 4-2. Ray Scott made it 5-2 and Jack LaFace, who can usually be counted on to collect half a dozen goals or so per game, chalked up his third of the night, and number six for Rossland at the 10 minute mark of the second period.

Julie Bilesky then got credit for a Trail goal after Referee Ken Fetherston overruled the goal judge on a goal line ball. The large Rossland contingent rose to the occasion in great fashion and let the referee know that they thoroughly disapproved of his action.

Jim Scott finished the scoring for the period at 14:23 minutes, sending the Rosslanders off the floor for the half time 10 minute rest leading 7-3.

Opening the third period, Rossland added another to its total off the stick of Jack LaFace, with a Trail man again in the penalty box. With Trail suffering from penalties, Graham Roberts added another worry by being waved off for five minutes. Ray Scott lit up the number 9 figure on the score board for Rossland, giving the Redmen a big six-goal lead.

Both teams scored again before the three-quarter time whistle, but the six goal lead remained going into the final session.

NEXT GAME MONDAY

Jim Doig, making his first appearance of the night, promptly scored a goal for the Redmen 49 seconds after the starting whistle in the final quarter. The Redmen continued to build on their total and outscored the locals 6-2 in this period.

Next game in the series is scheduled for Monday night.

The three stars picked by Legion softballer Ted Fowler were, Ray Scott and Jack LaFace of Rossland and Andy Bilesky of Trail.

Lineups follow:

Business Men, Citizens Stand Behind Salvation Army Home Front Appeal; B.C. Head Tells of Need for Funds

Backed by numerous Nelson busness men and service clubs, the Salvation Army's Red Shield appeal here was spurred into action Friday night as many local campaigners were assigned to their duties, and informed of the Salvation Army's "never-ending work for God and humanity."

Meeting at a banquet in the Golden Gate Cafe, Nelson capaign heads and their aides heard Colonel A. Keith, overseer of Salvation Army branches in British Columbia, tell of the all embracing tasks that were met by the Salvation Army funds raised by the Red Shield appeal.

"The Salvation Army has built up a fine reputation for its work of rehabilitating the lesser fortunate peoples of the world," Colonel Keith said, "and part of that reputation has been due to men all over Canada who have supported and campaigned during our appeals."

Likening the Salvation Army's mision to a gulf flanked on one side by willing Army workers and of underprivileged and helpless on the other side by a multitude people, Colonel Keith pointed out that a bridge of funds was necessary to unite the two factions and bring succour to the throng of unfortunates.

The future usefullness of the Salvation Army among the destitute, homeless, lonely and orphaned depended on the donations of those in more favorable circumstances.

It was also dependent on the citizens who canvassed for gifts during the appeal, he stated.

Help, inspiration and guidance were given generously by the Salvation Army in the three wars that it has seen and the intervening times of peace, Colonel Keith added. Its services were not restricted to British Columbia or to Canada, but encompassed the entire globe.

UNFLAGGING DUTY

Men, women and children who have "fallen by the wayside," become sick or incapacitated, are unwanted, abandoned or aged, are all cared for by the Salvation Army regardless of their means, race, creed or color, the Colonel stated. Its religio-social work in this respect was not often brought into the limelinght, but never-theless continues unfalteringly, he said.

The reward of the helper in Salvation Army work, whether he be doner or an actual Salvationist, rested in the satisfaction of having helped his fellow man and God, Colonel Keith said, quoting the Bible words "Isasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these My brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

General Campaign Chairman C. A. Cook thanked the campaigners for turning out to support the drive, and remarked that every person that he had called upon to assist had enthusiastically offered his service. "Nelson should certainly reach its objective in this worthy cause, and may even do better than it has done before," he said.

Overall director of the campaign in Nelson, which opens Monday is Adjutant Frank Pierce. Resides the Chairman, J. R. McLennan is Treasurer. Canvassing of the City business section will begin Monday morning.

Offer Nationhood To West Indies

Received Limply by Representatives From British Islands at Conference

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica, Sept. 12 (CP)—Nationhood within the Commonwealth was offered to the British West Indies today, but the overture was received with limp enthusiasm by some of the delegates attending the conference here on closer cooperation among British Caribbean colonies.

Opening the conference, attended by 22 delegates from British West Indies Islands and the Mainland colonies of British Guiana and British Honduras, Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones said "the time is ripe for a new step to be taken in the political life of the West Indies."

He added: "We must not fail for if we do we hurl a blow against the West Indies of greatest consequence during the next few decades.

"I do not think Great Britain would hesitate, once Federation was realized and a machine responsive to popular needs and demands created, to concede this measure of full responsible government within the Commonwealth."

CHANCES OVERSHADOWED

Time of granting Confederation was where the view of Creech Jones clashed with those of some of the colonial representatives. One dissenting opinion was expressed by C. H. Cuke of Barbarados who said that economic aspects completely overshadowed chances of success of any Federation and that the Home Government should promote, fundamentally, representative government in the West Indies before any step were taken toward it.

Jamaica's D. J. Judah agreed that it was time to start hammering out a plan for union but claimed that progressive responsibility of individual colonies should precede the final move.

Self-government for Jamaica above all other things was the demand of the island's Labor leader and strong man in her government, W. A. Bustamante.

EXTRA VOLUME OF EXPORTS BRITAIN'S GOAL

May Use Direction To Persuade Workers Into Vital Jobs

FORM COMMITTEE

LONDON, Sept. 12 (CP) — British manufacturers and workingmen were told today they had to raise Britain's supplies of goods for export by one-third monthly, £31,000,000 ($124,000,000), that new cuts are to be made in the United Kingdom's armed forces and that slashes are to be made in permitted capital investments.

The three-way announcement in the Government's program to stave off economic collapse was announced by Sir Stafford Cripps, President of the Board of Trade and nicknamed the Cabinet's "Apostle of Austerity."

He was speaking to an assembly of 2000, representative of management and labor in industry, and the press.

Compulsion would be used if necessary ,he hinted, to achieve the industrial target.

"The extra volume of imports represented by £31,000,000 a month is something that we must achieve at the very earliest moment possible. Otherwise we shall be unable to supply ourselves with enough food and raw materials to keep our production machine going and that will mean the collapse of our efforts."

MORE SHORTAGES

Sir Stafford, latest spokesman in the Government's campaign to rouse the country to "the battle of the gap"—the gap being that between imports and exports—warned that the consumer market would suffer further shortages.

Throughout his speech he emphasized that there would be as little compulsion as possible.

Exports will be directed "to those countries from which we must draw our major supplies"—notably North America. There also will be a "measure of direction" in the supply of components for export goods.

"We do not propose . . . to introduce industrial conscription unless it is proved there is no other way out."

"In certain circumstances" direction might be used and "I hope we shall be able to stop the drain-off of labor into less necessary industries and into distribution and to persuade men and women to enter the more vital jobs. We shall tackle too the question of unproductive labor so as to make this available for first-line production.'

A committee would be formed under Sir Harold Wilson to direct the export drive. Sir Harold, 31-year-old Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade is playing an increasing role in government trade affairs and is being watched as likely Cabinet timber.

Over 100 Killed During Communal Rioting in India

NEW DELHI, Sept. 12 (Reuters)—More than 100 persons were killed and 80 injured when troops opened fire during communal rioting at Patiala, capital of Patiala, major Sikh state in India, it was reported today.

Reports from the Eastern Punjab said 60 to 70 were killed in the Tarantaran district outside Amritsar, holy city of the Sikhs,when an armed gang attacked a column of refugees on the march.

Peace in old and New Delhi was broken today only by an occasional burst of machine gun fire or the clatter of glass as looters worked on a shop front.

NEW DELHI, (CP)—The governments of India, Egypt and Iran have decided to establish diplomatic relations at an ambassadorial level, says a communique.

DEMAND SLAVS RELEASE ALLIED PERSONNEL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The United States has demanded the "immediate release" by Yugoslavia" of nine British and American military personnel seized by the Yugoslavs in the vicinity of Trieste.

The State Department said today the demand was made in a "vigorous protest" to the Yugoslav Government against the "unwarranted detention and maltreatment" of 14 British and American military personnel, five of whom already have been released.

The American note was presented to the Yugoslav Foreign Office last night.

Among those reported still held by the Yugoslavs are seven Britons and two Americans.

All were seized near Trieste where Yugoslav, American and British soldiers are occupying this former Italian territory, soon to be internationalized under the United Nations.

Tasty Recipes

By BETSY NEWMAN

I wonder if you women who plan shop for and cook meals for your families ever think of the pattern of life you are setting for your husband and youngsters, which will be a pleasant memory all through the years. The foods need not be exotic, they may be very ordinary, but if they are well cooked and seasoned and there is jolilty around the table that is all that is necessary.

I'm giving you a day's menu that is such a one as I have just mentioned.

TODAY'S MENU

1c. granulated cereal or meal such as farina or corn meal
1 tsp. salt

Bring water and milk to a boil, stirring occasionally. Add salt and cereal and boil gently for about 5 min., stirring frequently. Cover and place over hot water and cook according to directions on package or from ½ to 1 hour. Granular cereals require less time to cook than flaked cereals.

BEEF LOAF

1 lb. ground raw beef
1½ tsp. salt
½ c. finely chopped onion
1½ c. evaporated milk
2 c. soft bread crumbs

Mix meat, egg, salt, onion, milk and bread crumbs; turn into well-greased baking pan, shape into a loaf and bake about 30 to 45 minutes in a moderate oven (350 F.). Serves 6 to 8.

CHOCOLATE CAKE

¼ tsp. soda

Cream shortening and sugar. Add slightly beaten egg and vanilla. Sift flour, measure and sift again with baking powder, soda, salt and cocoa. Add flour mixture, blend until smooth and bake in a greased cake pan in a moderate oven (350 F.) about 45 minutes. This will fill a pan 8"x8"x2", or you can bake in two layers if you prefer. This cake is not too rich for children.

WOMEN FORSWEAR LONG SKIRTS TO AID BRITAIN

MELBOURNE, Sept. 12 (Reuters)—Some 200 members of the Victorian National Council of Women yesterday decided to forswear long skirts—to aid Britain.

A resolution urged "all women in affiliated societies who sincerely wish to give Britain greater help to discourage extravagance, especially in dress, at the dictate of fashion."

The resolution added: "The less we spend on luxuries, the more we may contribute to Britain's need."

33 Years Apart, Nelson Man Meets U.S. Brother

They parted in Regina at the outbreak of the First World War, and are now reunited after a gap of 33 years.

Well-known Nelson capenter John Fordyce was paid a surprise visit Tuesday by his youngest brother, Adam Fordyce of Oakland, Calif. Neither had seen the other in 33 years, so the encounter was doubly "surprising" for John Fordyce.

"I was chopping wood, and when my brother came up and shook hands with me, I took a minute or two to recognize him," Mr. Fordyce remarked.

Both of the Fordyce brothers are Scottish-born. They came to Canada around 1910, both adopted the trade of carpentry, and went their ways from Regina in 1914.

Accompanied here by his wife, Adam commented on Nelson as being "wonderful," and as nice, if not nicer than his home town in California. After renewing relations with his brother to the North, he hopes to visit here more often.

New Drug Triodione Successful In Treating Cases of Epilepsy

Convulsions may come from many causes and differ widely in severity. Medical science is still baffled when it comes to treating the underlying causes of many of the convulsive diseases and so concentrates its efforts on averting or controlling the convulsions themselves.

This is particularly true of epilepsy, which, though known and described by the ancient Greeks, still hides the secret of its cause even from the most discerning of modern eyes.

DIFFERENT FORMS

The fact that epilepsy has different forms only adds to its mystery. In one form, known as petit mal, attacks last only a few seconds. During these attacks, the patient loses consciousness of what he is doing but does not fall to the ground or suffer spasm of the muscles.

Drs. Meyer A. Perlstein and Morton B. Andelman, of Chicago, have treated 75 patients with convulsions and related disorders, using a new drug called tridione. A number of patients treated had petit mal epilepsy. Six out of the seven patients with this condition responded favorable to the use of the tridione. None of these patients had responded to any other form of treatment such as phenobarbital dilantin or bromides.

GRAND MAL ATTACKS

Eleven of the patients had what are known as grand mal attacks of epilepsy, in which there is loss of consciousness together with spasm or contraction of the muscles of the body. Five of these eleven were greatly improved; one improved slightly, while five were not benefited or even became worse.

The drug apparently had no effect with patients with chorea or St. Vitus' Dance, or with brain inflammation known as encephalitis.

Sometimes a child is born with damage to the brain resulting in paralysis and convulsions. This condition is known as cerebral palsy. Twenty-one children with this disorder were also treated with tridione. Eight were benefited to a great extent, four slightly, while in nine, there was no improvement. It would seem that the drug is of value in relieving the tension in the muscles.

ADMINISTERED BY MOUTH

Tridione is administered by mouth either in the form of capsules or in liquid preparation. The dose, of course, must be regulated according to the age and weight of the patient.

Reactions which occur to this preparation usually are mild and consist of blurring of the vision, dizziness, and sickness to the stomach or nausea. These symptoms disappear quickly when use of the drug is stopped. In some few cases, anemia or reduction of the number of red cells in the blood may occur. Thus, it is advisable when tridione is used, that blood counts be made at regular intervals; then if some disturbance is noted, the use of the drug can be stopped at once.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J.M.: Will you please tell me something about varicose veins?

Answer: A varicose vein is one which has become dilated or enlarged. This condition is seen most frequently in the legs. It is caused by obstruction to the circulation, or a weakening of the valves in the large veins, such as is due to pregnancy, or because of inactive living.

The use of exercise and massage, and the wearing of an elastic bandage are helpful in relieving and preventing varicose veins. Sometimes these veins are removed by operation. Recently, varicose veins have been treated by means of injection.

Movie Gossip

Some Producers Can Still Produce Pic for $200,000; Gives Evidence

By HOWARD C. HEYN

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12 (AP) — Even in this era of $3,000,000 movies, Hollywood has half a hundred independent producers who can whip together a full-length feature for $200,000.

Trouble is, these usually look like $100,000 pictures. The real trick, says Frank Wisbar, is to make them look like million-dollar productions.

Wisbar, a slim, ascetic man with an imaginative gleam in his dark eyes and a phenomenal capacity for hard work, demonstrated in Germany and again in Hollywood after 1939 that ingenuity is the best weapon against pyramiding production costs.

He showed me, as evidence, the rushes of his forthcoming production, a quickie only in the sense that it was filmed in 14 days on a rented sound stage.

The cash outlay was $165,000. Contingent expenses may run the total up to $200,000. He estimated that, under conventional studio methods, the same picture would have cost at least $500,000.

The original story, James Fenimore Cooper's "The Prairie" came from the public domain. This means screen rights were free. The cast cost was low except for two "name" players, Alan Baxter and Lenore Aubert.

"The Prairie" concerns the struggle of a band of American pioneers against the forces of nature and human instincts in their trek across the Nebraska flatlands 120 years ago. Wholly an outdoor picture, much of its appeal depends upon vast vistas and cloud effects. Yet every scene was shot inside a sound stage, where the longest distance was only 250 feet between diagonal corners.

Clouds were painted on small glass plates and projected by stereopticon against a backing 50 feet high. For mood effects the clouds were shifted or made lighter or darker by varying the intensity of lights behind the glass plates.

Said Wisbar: "If we have succeeded in producing a film that can stand on its own both artistically and financially, perhaps we will have helped point the way out of Hollywood's present economic dilemma."

Love Problems

By JANE ATKINSON

A Teen-Ager's Sensible Views On Topic of Love and Marriage

A good proportion of the letters I get are from teen-age boys and girls who are quite certain that they are madly and permanently in love. Unless they can marry the person on whom their heart is set at the moment, they are quite sure they will go through life bachelors or spinsters. I spend a great many hours trying to convince young people who write me this sort of letter that they are going to be very much surprised to find this is not the case.

It is a very refreshing experience, therefore, to get a letter from a teen-ager who seems to have rather more mature views on the subject of love and marriage than is ordinarily the case.

Because such letters come my way so rarely, and because, also, I believe that young people are very apt to put more confidence in what those of their own age have to say than they do in the philosophizing of their elders, I would like to devote this column to a letter just received from a 19-year-old girl.

She writes:

"Dear Miss Atkinson:

"I read your column daily and find it very interesting and, at times, very humorous. Letters written by young boys and girls, ranging from 16 to 19 years of age, saying they are madly in love and that they want to know how to win their man or their girl, strike me as very funny. In the first place, I don't think they are really in love.

"Many girls and boys are gretting engaged as soon as they get out of school ,or even while they are still in school, when they should be out having good times and not getting too serious about any one particular boy or girl. Of course it might happen that they would be lucky enough to make a go of their marriage and be happy, but think of the fun they miss! Can't they realize that they ought to enjoy their youth, because they can always get married later on when they are more experienced about life?

"A girl may plan to work after she is married, but she may find that there are other responsibilities that go with marriage that she has not thought of and that may be more than she is ready and willing to accept. I don't think a man so young, either, is apt to take into consideration all the respsonsibilities that will be placed upon him when he gets married. A girl should be able to support her husband and family, if the time should ever come, due to illness or other reasons, when her husband is unable to do so. A girl who has just finished high school, or has quit school to marry before graduating, does not have the experience necessary to hold a good job. I think she should work for a year or two after graduating to get the experience she may need later on. Even when girls have gone to college or business school, I don't think they should get married as soon as they graduate. They may have an education ,but they don't have the necessary knewledge. Education is learning; knowledge is application of what you have learned. A girl who has worked and learned the value of money and how hard money is to earn makes a better housewife.

"I certainly believe in marriage when you are old enough, say 21 or 22 years old. But I think that to get married when you are very young is just a fad that you follow because you see a lot of your friends doing it."

My congratulations to the writer of this letter. If she is wise enough to act in accordance with the views she has expressed, she is going to make some young man a very fine wife.

Put "Muscle Tone" In Your Will Power With Corrective Exercises

If you could only muster up enough will power you figure it would be no trick at all to slim off the extra twenty pounds that crowd the waist and cramp your style.

You're sure you want to slim down to normal? No fooling this time? Then that's all there is to it. Desire. You can slim down, if you want to. We all have enough will power for anything we want to do. Right?

Toning up flabby muscles helps enormously, for this brings a general feeling of determination and confidence. Have you ever noticed that on the days when you have the most energy, your will power seems equal to anything? Toned muscles build energy. The source of energy is the vital organs, but the exercise of the muscles which surround the organs steps up vitality.

The quickest way to get a firm grip on your will power is to put live tone in the muscles that form the abdominal girdle. Corrective calisthenics for this part of the figure can even discipline the appetite by helping to decrease the size of the stomach, inside and out.

The starting position is very important, and the beginning exercises should help to counteract gravity and restore the abdominal organs to their proper position. In fact, no vigorous exercises should be undertaken until the organs are in their normal position; then the muscles should be toned to hold them there. Please do these exercises in the order given:

Position: Take a dining room chair without arms. Lie on back on floor with your legs resting across the seat of the chair sideways and bend of the knees at the edges of the chair. Arms down at sides.

Movement: Pull up snugly with the muscular girdle and draw hips upward as you stretch arms back on floor overhead. Your weight is now resting on shoulders, and the legs resting on the seat of the chair. Hold. Lower hips to floor. Repeat three times. Rest in same position and repeat three more times. Do not arch the back as hips are raised, and keep a firm up and in pull on the abdominal muscles.

From this same position, bring alternate knees to chest, while pulling up and in with midsection muscles.

Position: Lying on back on floor, knees bent, soles on floor, a few inches apart. Arms down at sides, the palms on floor.

Movement: With hips raised about two inches from the floor, swing hips from one side to the other rhythmically, tilting upward at each side as you swing. Don't hold your breath. Try to feel the movement in the side-front abdominals as you swing. Repeat twevle times . . . . relax and continue another twelve times.

Not Doing Full Share of Work Says Peron

By LAURENC F. STUNTZ

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 12 (AP)—President Peron has warned supporters of his Labor Government that they are not doing their full share to make it a success.

At the same time he told Labor that if it continues to let production fall off, he may find it necessary to decrease some salaries in proportion.

The President's warning came in the course of a series of four speeches on his policy, his opponents and his difficulties.

Peron told his Labor supporters that their cash salaries had been increased 73 per cent since 1943 and their total benefits more than doubled. At the same time, the cost of living had increased only 56 per cent.

In addition to the 73-per-cent increase in cash payments to workers, such other benefits as a month's salary as a compulsory year-end bonus, paid vacations, increased severance pay and the like, represented another 56-per-cent increase.

Peron said the average production for each worker had fallen from 100 points in 1943 to 82 points this year.

A Few Facts About the Association

The North Pacific Health and Accident Association, British Columbia's successful plan of voluntary health insurance, was born of the desire of a group of Families to budget against unforeseen bills for sickness or accident.

The North Pacific is not an Insurance Company. The Association is not operated for profit. Dues collected are expended in the form of services for members and dependents. The rates charged are tested and proved by long experience to be actuarially sound. It is a strictly British Columbia organization, controlled and operated by its members. It has the largest premium income of any health and accident association in the Province. Dues of collected are disbursed in the form of services to its members, and every claim is given careful, courteous and prompt attention.

In the past three years the North Pacific has paid back to its members in claims 75 per cent of the premium income.

Nelson Social

By Mrs. M. J. Vigneux

BENEDETTI-PATTERSON

St. Paul's United Church was the scene of a lovely wedding on Monday, Sept. 1, when Rev. A. L. Anderson united in holy matrimony, Nina Elizabeth, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Patterson, and Donald Edward Benedetti, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Benedetti, both of Nelson. The brunette bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Mrs. T. J. S. Ferguson. She looked lovely in a floor length dress of white brocaded satin with long white embroidered veil. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls. She carried red roses and fern.

Miss Pearl Hickey was bridesmaid and Ola Patterson, sister of the bride was maid of honor. R. Benedetti of Trail supported the groom as best man while Ray Benedetti, brother of the groom and Jerry Booth of Kimberley were ushers.

During the signing of the register Miss Kitty Wilson sang "Because." The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Ward St., where Mrs. Benedetti and Mrs. Patterson assisted the young couple in receiving the guests. Mrs. Gillis and Mrs. Cathers, grandmother and aunt of the groom, poured tea. Rev. Anderson proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom fittingly replied.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wilcox and son Monty, Mr. and Mrs. R. Benedetti, Mrs. Clarence Maloney and son Bobby and Lloyd Ridenowo all of Trail; J. BABY INCUBATOR PLANNED FOR ST. EUGENE

CRANBROOK, B. C., Sept. 12 — A baby incubator for the nursery at St. Eugene Hospital was chosen by the non-sectarian Ladies' Aid to St. Eugene Hospital at its Fall quarterly meeting as its third 1947 hospital assistance project. The hospital has no incubator and need for it has been felt several times recently. Cost will be around $300, which is the tag day objective. Mrs. Matthew McCrindle and Mrs. J. F. Scott are tag day conveners, and taggers will be members of the Girls' Bugle Band, and high school girls.

Continued sponsorship of the Easter Ball in 1948 was decided by the organization with the 1948 Spring gift, for which proceeds go, to be a diathermy machine. The present machine, which is used for treatment of rheumatic conditions, is outmoded and must be discarded the end of this year under provincial law.

Tea served in the Nurses' Home concluded the meeting.

Margaret to Head 10 Attendants at Sister's Wedding

By MICHAEL O'MARA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 12 (CP)—Princess Margaret will head 10 bridal attendants—eight bridesmaids and two pages—at the wedding of her sister, Princess Elizabeth to Lieut. Philip Mountbatten in Westminster Abbey Nov. 20, it was announced at Buckingham Palace last night.

Besides Princess Margaret, they are: Princess Alexandra of Kent, Lady Caroline Montagu-Douglas-Scott, Lady Mary Cambridge, Lady Elizabeth Lambart, Hon. Pamela Mountbatten, Hon. Margaret Elphinstone, and Diana Bowes-Lyon. The pages are Prince William of Gloucester and Prince Michael of Kent.

Youngest of the Royal bridesmaids is Princess Alexandra of Kent who is only 10 but who already has been bridesmaid once—at the fashionable wedding last year of Myra Wernher and Maj. David Butler of the Scots Guards.

Her brother, Prince Michael of Kent, was five in July but he, too, knows all about being a wedding attendant, having also waited on Miss Wernher at the 1946 ceremony.

The senior page is Prince William of Gloucester, heir of the King's brother, the Duke of Gloucester. He'll be six this December and also knows the ropes having served as a page at a society wedding while his father and mother were in Canberra in 1945.

Of big interest to British women was the announcement—breaking a closely-guarded secret—that the bride's wedding dress and going away costume is being designed by Norman Hartnell who designed many of the gowns worn by the Queen on her Canadian visit just before the war and who did the Royal wardrobe of the recent South African tour.

BURNED BARN, HAY VALUED AT $9000

Property to the value of $9000 went up in smoke when the barn owned by F. R. Rotter of Salmo burned to the ground Tuesday night.

The building itself was assessed at $5000, and its content of hay was valued at $4000.

The barn was situated 3½ miles from Salmo on the Nelson-Salmo highway, and was competely destroyed despite the efforts of the Salmo Volunteer Fire Brigade.

. . . Will High Benches Be Apple Orchards? . . . Rancher James Johnstone Predicted It

When thinking about the future of the Kootenay, I sometimes wonder whether a prediction that the late James Johnstone, pioneer North Shore rancher, made to me over 30 years ago, will eventually be fulfilled.

His prediction was that when all the shore, low bench, and valley lands that were suitable for orchard were developed for that purpose, the high benches would come in for development for the same purpose.

They would fully repay this development, he contended, though it would involve constructing wagon trails to them, and the work of clearing, for it was well established, he said, that in any apple district, the apples grown at the highest elevations excelled in flavor.

Whether that flavor argument would have force today, under today's marketing methods, when the products of practically all the orchards are siphoned to one bin, so to speak, before rolling under careful control to market, I doubt, though if the production that had improved flavor came to be a substantial part of the total, it would help sustain or improve the demand.

But in those early days, shipping and marketing were problems for the individual, and most established shippers had their regular Prairie customers, and it was their own product, with its excellences or defects, that reached the Prairie storekeeper. The total Kootenay apple production in 1910 or 1911 was estimated by the late Fred A. Starkey at eight carloads. I happened to mention that fact to the late "Pop" Phair, when he was still operating the Strathcona Hotel. He said he would like to see one of the carloads, as he had been unable to buy a box of Kootenay apples in the Nelson stores.

Mr. Johnstone must have got a wonderful kick out of his ranch, across from Nelson. While not the first rancher of record in this district—that honor, the late Capt. C. W. Busk showed, belonged to a pioneer rancher up the West Arm,—he was not later than second; and both of them were antedated, according to Mr. Johnstone's own account to me, by an unknown individual of almost prehistoric times, who planted an orchard that Mr. Johnstone, after he had been here some years, discovered in the bush above his own orchard.

EARLY ORCHARD GROWN TO BUSH

One day Mr. Johnstone happened to go into his bush, and encountered an apple tree of mature age, with the young forest grown up around and through it. Investigation showed another at a moderate distance, and from the line thus given, Mr. Johnstone was able to find a long row of them hidden in the later forest growth. Taking this row as a base, Mr. Johnstone soon established that there was a complete orchard there, grown up to bush. So this unknown, to my mind, was the real No. 1 pioneer fruit rancher of this district, though apparently he did not leave his name to history.

An engineer, and an East Kootenay coal company executive, before he turned rancher in Nelson's cradle days, Mr. Johnstone was constantly experimenting. He rigged up a smoke-house behind the house, and led into it a flue from his study, and early each morning when he would be working there, a hard-wood fire would be delivering smoke to the hams, which visiting big packers, using mass production, admitted were beyond their class.

Mr. Johnstone developed a market of his own with the C.P.R. boats and diners, and invariably filled every order, large or small, on the dot, no matter what labor was involved. I met him once at the wharf with a small item for delivery, I forget what it was, which was his only reason for coming across the lake that evening, in his small ancient inboard, which he claimed should be in a museum. The C.P.R. for its part, showed it had a heart, by giving him exceptional service on occasion, such as setting down a cow for him on the beach across the lake. After the cow was safely disembarked, the Kuskanook returned to the wharf it had sailed past, with its amused, or possibly fuming, passengers.

RANCHER HAD HIDDEN BENCH

When Mr. Johnstone was talking to me about high benches, I mentioned a Slocan Valley rancher who had told me of finding a bench on his property that he had been unaware of all the years he had lived on it, until shortly before. While this could easily be, Mr. Johnstone commented, a practised eye looking at a mountainside from a distance could usually pick up indications of the benches.

After that, on any steamer trips I took, I was always on the lookout for high benches, as indicated by contours and by slight color or size differences in the forest cover.

Finally, late in May, 1912, I think it was, with all the visible snow gone, including that that made the bare spot on "Old Baldie," the strongly-marked summit East of Anderson Creek, show white till quite late, I devoted a Saturday to a bench hunt on the mountainside between Anderson and Five-Mile Creeks, going up from Anderson Creek, below its first tributary. That was 35 years ago.

Yes, I didn't get to my bench, though everything I saw contributed proof that there was one. While the open landscape was free of snow, the forest cover was full of it, and I was able to make fair progress only when walking on fallen timber, my rubber-footed top boots proving to be exactly what I needed. A couple of times I was waist deep in snow.

There were three different levels of forest cover, and I climbed one tree of the middle growth, to discover where I was. My original intention was to make Baldie, and no doubt I could have done it but for the snow. I didn't get another opportunity.

I wonder whether, some day, some determined and innovating rancher or would-be rancher will set out to subdue and bring under production one of our many upper benches, now thought of only for their timber. Machines today make road construction easier, the timber cleared will have a market value, water can be procured for many of these benches by flume or possibly by pump, and the soil, by the forest it now bears, has shown is possesses the fertility required for orchard land.

It would be interesting to have a demonstration made as to the possibilities of our high benches for apple production. I have a hunch that es and rivers as recorded at the four will be vindicated.

Canada's Telephone Industry

Few people use their telephones more than Canadians, and only three of the principal countries in the world exceed the Dominion in telephone installation. Recent unofficial estimates place the number of telephones in Canada well over the 2,000,000 mark or 15 telephones to every 100 persons, with only the United States, Sweden and New Zealand holding a higher proportion.

Statisticians have had a difficult time garnering information on a world-wide basis, because of the disruptions caused by the war. But, for Canada, the latest official figures of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show an actual count of 1,848,794 telephones at the end of 1945.

Canada emerged from the recent war greatly expanded in its productive capacity. Some index of the general growth of the country may be gained by comparing the first year of the war, 1939, when there were approximately 12 telephones for every 100 persons, with today's ratio of 15. If the huge, unfilled demand recorded on the files of telephone companies from coast to coast could be satisfied, that ratio would be considerably increased.

While the country was exerting all its efforts in the successful prosecution of the war, telephone facilities had to be conserved to meet essential needs. A great backlog of orders was mounting during all that time. As soon as hostilities were over, the demand absorbed all available facilities and continued to rise much faster than new equipment could be manufactured and installed to meet it. These facilities had to be shared as widely as possible until the balance of demand and supply could be restored. As a result, virtually the entire increase of residence telephones since 1939 was in party-line service.

More telephones meant more calls, and telephone traffic rose from an average of 234 calls per capita in 1939 to 265 in 1945. In total calls this represented some 2774 million conversations in 1939, against the more recent figure of 3210 million in 1945. Of the latter some 65 million were long distance calls—over twice as many as were handled before the war.

No less than the city dweller, the Canadian farmers and rural families want telephone service. In rural territory the telephone plays a particularly important role in making communities out of widely scattered dwellings and farm establishments. Special efforts have been made in the last two years to extend these vital communication networks throughout the countryside, linking the farmer to his markets and to his neighbors. Although figures are not available for the Dominion as a whole, the Bell Telephone reports that 48 rural families out of every 100 in the company's territory in Ontario and Quebec are now enjoying service. At the beginning of 1946 the figure was 39 per cent.

There are many technical difficulties peculiar to rural telephone projects. For instance, since rural telephones usually require more pole construction, they cannot be installed as quickly as urban telephones in communities high in telephone development. However, exhaustive research by telephone engineers has resulted in application of new techniques which cut the time of rural installations and also improve the technical quality of the service.

No review of telephone development in Canada, impressive as it is, would be complete without mention of the factors that have really prevented it from reaching its proper dimensions. These same factors have plagued all Canadians since the war's end, and have become painfully and tiresomely evident in almost every industrial report that has been made—shortage of materials and scarcity of skilled labor. Considering that it takes even in normal times 13 to 15 months to engineer and manufacture the average telephone product, and that it now requires 16 to 18 months, it can be realized that telephone installations currently being made are the result of plans and estimates conceived almost two years ago. Telephone equipment, now being produced at a record rate, may not get into service before 1949.

Nevertheless, this time lag should not obscure the very real job that is being done right now. When the many telephone projects that are under way throughout the Dominion are completed, Canadians will not only have regained the previous high standards of prewar service, but will be getting a broader and more valuable service than ever before.

BUFFALO EXPRESS

Some one has said that there is nothing as dead as yesterday's newspaper. That may be so, but if it is, it is also true that nothing is more alive than a newspaper of 50 or 100 years ago. At least, those are my sentiments.

They were confirmed again when friend Atkinson Crossley sent over a copy of the Buffalo Express, issue of January 7, 1899. He had found the issue, in wonderful shape, behind a mirror which he is resilvering.

Did you know that Laurier was considering Senate reform back in those days? Doesn't that make the CCF a little archaic?

Did you know that scientific boxing was ruled out as ineffectual and old-fashioned—back in 1899? S'help me, it was. Tom Sharkey had just pounded the daylights out of Kid McCoy, which cinched the matter.

But perhaps the most interesting part of the issue is the Want Ads. Get a load of this:

"MEN AND WOMEN: A Bonanza! Write quick for particulars to So-and-So, Box-Y."

or this:

"$1 to $100 DAILY PROFIT GUARANTEED; no risks; your money secured by trust agreement; refer to business men highly rated in Bradstreet's; costs you $1.25 weekly per share; handicaps wired daily; 'most conservative of a successful group of turf speculators; write today."

The bookmakers are evidently one group of people who can properly peak in awed respect of "the good old days."

The issue teems with the more daring journalism of that period. A couple of American army generals snarl "liar" at each other right on the front page; and the Express regrets editorially that Edward Prince of Wales is spending so much time at the tracks.

Even the jokes had something different. Like this one:

"We must part" he exclaimed, pale with anger. "I have discovered that you have already had twelve husbands."

"Oh dear," she faltered. "I did not think you were superstitious."

Today's Horoscope

You are strong and robust and love all outdoor sports. You work and play with equal strength and strive always to excel in whatever you do. You are amiable, generous, gracious, discreet and have the confidence of your associates. If you marry young, you will be very happy. You are loving and sympathetic. Your birthday will be good in regard to joint finances, and also those of another. You will experience much good fortune and happiness in your next 12 months, the latter provided unwise romance is eschewed. Young friends and associates will greatly help you, and substantially monetary benefits are presaged. A child born on this date will be industrious, independent, optimistic, enthusiastic, sympathetic, refined, fond of and clever in the arts, and fortunate, although minor disappointment in love is threatened.

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE

You must learn to assert yourself and be more aggressive. You are self-reliant and ambitious, but very modest. You could achieve much more if you let yourself. You are musical and literary, and love with your whole heart. Your day is doubtful. Keep in step and much will probably be gained today. This anniversary is most auspicous for you, however, and great good fortune, much conviviality and improved health is foreseen. All your affairs will prosper, so make the most of it. The child who is born today will evince quite outstanding abilities in many ways, also much business acumen and charm of manner. A long, happy, successful career is portended.

Housewife, Nelson—Is it true that dry air in a house is destructive to rugs?

One of the contributory causes of wear in rugs is air without moisture. Wool, in its natural state, holds 35 per cent water. Lack of sufficient humidity causes the rugs to fuzz out, thus losing part of the wool woven into them.

R. W., Nelson—Why do gasoline trucks drag a chain on the ground?

The chain is used to free the truck from static. Static electricity collects on moving objects and on objects subjected to friction. Considerable friction is caused by filling and emptying the tanks of the truck. The dragging chain grounds any electricity thus generated.

Pleased That Halls to Be Built at Public Expense

To the Editor:

Sir—The ad in your paper re a school for Salmo has brought great joy to the residents of this District and no doubt to all rural areas in Nelson School District No. 7.

The part relating to High School accommodation is, of course, routine. The Southern part of the district needs a High School, but what brings so much joy to us is to learn that a part of the $366,000 expenditure is for a "Community" use.

We have worked, saved for and dreamed of a Community Hall at Taghum, but have failed as yet to realize our dream. Imagine our pleasure to learn that it is proposed to erect a hall in each rural district served by a school. There can be no doubt on this assumption, as the building of a hall at Salmo only would cause a near riot in the rural areas denied like treatment.

The cost of these 15 or so community halls, to be paid by all taxpayers need not be high, as we wouldn't expect as much as Salmo, say about $50,000 each rural area, or a total of about $750,000. The taxpayers of Nelson City and rural areas in District No. 7 wouldn't mind having their taxes boosted or maybe doubled. Who cares about expense?

Hurrah for the Nelson School Board and their effort to put us on the map, as the first district in B.C. to have a community hall built at public expense, in every rural settlement in the District!

Trusting this will be of sufficient interest to be spared space in an already crowded paper, and thanking you,

George E. White,
Taghum, B.C.

Why? Asks Theatre Fan of Closing

To the Editor:

Sir—Once again we are greeted by the announcement CAPITOL THEATRE . . Closed until further notice. What is it this time? Surely the Famous Players Corporation has been charging us enough for second run and Grade B films.

I believe we pay more here to attend our own Civic Theatre than the Famous Players charge the people at Trail; again before the war we had a matinee every afternoon whereas now it is only on Saturdays or holidays when the regular prices are charged.

I have attended the Capitol Theatre several times lately and the attendance seemed very fair. Is it closing down to avoid the heating costs for the Winter or the lack of attendance? Perhaps the ODEON THEATRES would be glad of the opportunity to lease our Civic Theatre and give us a better deal, maybe someone can answer these questions and tell me.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

IMPROVE YOUR CHANCES

WHENEVER you can find a way to try a possible squeeze or throw-in play and still preserve your chances to take a particular finesse, you are improving the percentage in your favor. The finesse may or may not work, whereas the other effort may. It gives you two strings to your bow, or two barrels to your shotgun, instead of one.

North: ♠ 7 6 2 ♥ K 8 4 3 ♦ K ♣ A Q 7 5 2

West: ♠ Q 8 ♥ J 9 7 5 ♦ J 8 6 3 ♣ 10 9 3

East: ♠ K J 9 ♥ A Q 10 2 ♦ 7 4 2 ♣ K J 8

South: ♠ A 10 5 4 3 ♥ 6 ♦ A Q 10 9 5 ♣ 6 4

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	4 ♠

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

As soon as South made the diamond rebid, indicating five cards at least in each of his two suits, North realized he had enough spades to support them, so went to game. He had confidence in South's play, and it proved justified.

West led his heart 5 to the K and A; and East returned the Q for South to ruff. Noting the assurance of losing two trump tricks, South realized he could not afford to lose a trick in the minors. So he strove to avoid the club finesse if possible. He led his spade 4 to the 9 and East forced him again with the heart 9, cutting him to two trumps. He led to the diamond K, the spade 2 to the A, the diamond A and Q for club discards, then the diamond 10, covered by the J and ruffed by the spade 7. He now ruffed the heart 8 with his last trump and mused that he had now seen all the defending cards except five clubs and the spade K.

Retaining the two clubs and diamond 9 and the dummy three clubs, he led the diamond, discarding the club 7. He knew somebody would ruff that and return a club. If it was West, he would have to put in the Q as a finesse. But East ruffed the diamond and had to pitch into the club A-Q, giving South his contract, though the finesse would have failed.

Note that West could have beaten him, by playing his Q on the first spade lead, then shifting to a club, compelling South to try the finesse.

Need of Reimposition of Controls To Cope With Finance Problems Herridge Tells Rossland Board

ROSSLAND, B.C., Sept. 12 — Speaking at the September meeting of the Rossland Board Trade on "Federal Affairs and Kootenay Develoument," Mr. H. W. Herridge M.P. ventured his personal opinion that Ottawa would find it necessary to reimpose some measures of control which were recently relaxed, in order to cope with the dollar crisis and increasing living costs.

"The enigma which confronts our government today," said Mr. Herridge, "is to provide security and at the same time maintain freedom." He cited the recent legislation dealing with earlier pensions for the blind and increased allowances for senior citizens as indications of Government concern for the welfare and security of the people.

It was also the speaker's feeling that a lot of good work was being done in the search for peace among nations, but before permanents peace could be established manent peace could be established sary for every nation to surrender some sovereignty to an international body. Mr. Herridge mentioned the fundamental differences in outlook between the U.S.S.R. and the democracies, at the same time however, expressing admiration for the drive and enthusiasm being shown by the Russians in their eagerness to prove themselves to the rest of the world.

Mr. Herridge outlined the last session of the House of Commons. He sketched the 25 major bills which had been passed and strongly supported the present Parliamentary system. "It is admittedly lengthy" said Mr. Herridge, "but out of it all may come some exellent suggestions which are later incorporated into legislation."

A member's duties could be divided into three main lassifications, International or National affairs, district matters and personal problems.

Officers of the Government were most courteous and willing to assist him wherever possible, and he called for increased cooperation frim citizens, particularly in matters of general welfare where unanimity was essential to progress.

Getting nearer home, Mr. Herridge explained the recent $280,000 appropriation for Columbia River Basin surveys and reports, and told of proposed improvements in Lower Arrow Lake Service. The Dominion Government had promised to keep a dredge operating as late as possible this year, while the C.P.. plan to run a passenger launch as well as a freight tugbarge service. It is recognized that the Columbia Basin has perhaps the greatest pulpwood reserves in Canada, but they must remain untapped for the time being on account of transportation difficulties. Many questions were asked during a discussion period which followed.

In the ensuing regular business session, Tim Timbrell, Frank Conci, Al LePage and John Lilburn were formally installed as new members. Guests of the Board for the evening were Al Loft, Sid Potter, Larry Fitzsimmons, Jack Hilton, Bill Harris and Ron Roberts. Mr. Roberts, a visiting Junior Chamber member, brought greetings from his board at Lethbridge, and spoke briefly on Junior Chamber accomplishements in the National field.

A letter from former Board member, Pete Melneczuk, was read to the meeting. Pete, now in Shaughnessy Hospital in Vanouver, reuperating from a long and serious illness, sent best wishes to all his friends and expressed the hope of being out the Hospital by Christmas. He requested members to have all letters addressed to Peter Melwood, since his name had recently been legally changed.

Correspondence between the Board and the local department of Public Works, was read concerning the road sign at the corner of Columbia Avenue and St. Paul Street. Dissatisfaction was expressed because it was felt that while the new larger sign is a big improvement, location still leaves something to be desired. The secretary stated that the Public Works Foreman had informed him the site would be investigated further.

Details were announced of the Gavel Club meetings tentatively scheduled to start on Sept. 15 under the direction of Laurie Nicholson and Howard Bayley. Enrolement was not to be confined to Board members only.

The Entertainment Committee announced that it hoped to have Clare Billingsley of the local C.I.O. address the October meeting.

Hary Stevens, speaking for the Social Service Comittee, outlined details of the coming mass Chest Survey, and called for cooperation from all members. While the actual X-ray examinations were scheduled to start on Oct. 9th and run for 3½ days, a great deal of organiation work would be necessary because of the house to house canvass.

To Mark Completion Of Redecorated Trade Board Rooms

With renovations to the Nelson Board of Trade rooms nearing completion, the Council of the Board, meeting Thursday in the Hume, decided that a "house warming" reception be held when work on the smartly decorated rooms is finished.

President John Learmouth was instructed to appoint an entertainment committee to arrange the opening fete, in which Board of Trade members will participate.

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP) — Gold fever has infected this northern British Columbia community. It all began when a prospector displayed a quart measure of ore heavy with free gold. He said he got the "stuff" somewhere beyond the Yukon boundary and since then a number of persons have been reported heading into the wilds back of Lower Post.

Nelson News Gets Around

The Nelson Daily News gets around. This statement came from W. H. Currie, Commissioner of the Government Travel Bureau, Department of Trade and Industry at Victoria, who has received a letter from a man living near Wrexham, England, asking assistance in settling in British Columbia.

Apparently from a highly-qualified Electricial Engineer, the letter stated that, "I am indebted to the Nelson Daily News for your name and address. The News is sent to my mother's home periodically by an old friend of hers, living in Boswell, B.C.

Church Cavalcade To Give Two-Day Exhibition Here

Something new in religious mission work will come to Nelson Sept. 30. and Oct. 1 when the Crusaders' Cavalcade, an exhibit depicting the world-wide work of the United Church of Canada, is to be shown in St. Paul's Church Hall.

A teen-age rally, church workers' banquet, a "church-at-home" night women's meeting, children's program and cavalcade service will be among the events of the two-day exhibit. Cavalcade speakers will also give talks.

Selected committee of the Nelson churches is making large-scale plans for the exhibit, which is a pictorial presentation of the United Church in action. The exhibit itself will consist of models, panels, maps, charts and curios of Eastern countries, moving picturnes, and other interesting features.

A converted Army van is used to transport the exhibit from place to place in Canada, and a powerful public address system has been installed to announce the events. Neighboring centres will arrange for cars or buses to bring outside families to the cavalcade, and arrangements in Nelson are being handled by Secretary J. H. Coventry and Rev. A. L. Anderson of St. Paul's United Church and Rev. G. G. McL. Boothroyd of Trinity United.

Program for the two days follow:

4 p.m.—Teen-age rally in St. Paul's Church.

6 P.M.—Church workers' banquet in Trinity Church Hall.

8 p.m.—"Church-at-home" night in Trinity Church, n charge of young people and young adults. Cavalcade team speakers.

Kootenay Runoff Below Normal

Runoff of British Columbia's lak- Mr. Johnstone's prophetic vision typical water gauging stations, ranged in August from three-fifths of normal in the Bridge River drainage to slightly below normal in the Kootenay River drainage.

In the Upper Kootenay basin, the station at Wardner reported a monthly discharge of 6040 second-feet. The average discharge for August during the previous 33 years was 6630 second-feet. The minimum for the month was 4850 second-feet compared with 3300 second-feet in August, 1936, and the maximum was 7620 second-feet compared with 14,400 second-feet in August, 1920.

Board of Trade Seeks Upkeep Of Tourist Park

Aroused by action taken by City Council ordering closure of the Tourist Park on High Street, the Council of Nelson Board of Trade Thursday authorized its President, John Learmonth, to appoint a committee to interview the City Fathers, with a view to maintaining and reconditioning the park.

It was felt that the Tourist Park was essential if Nelson was to further its plans as a tourist centre. While agreeing that the park was a "disgrace," the members stated that with repairs and renovations, the park could be converted into a pleasant and comfortable camping site.

At present it was the only place in the City where travellers with camping equipment could spend the night, it was pointed out.

On Monday night the City Council ordered that the park be closed Sept. 15 pending its future as a recreational centre or playground.

Ottawa, Tiger Rugby Tilt to Climax Wrangle Over Status of U. S. Player

OTTAWA, Sept. 12 (CP)—Even before the teams have met on the field of Hamilton's Civic Stadium, next Saturday's Big Four game between Hamilton Tigers and Ottawa Roughriders has taken on the aspects of the biggest football battle in Canadian gridiron history.

The game itself is merely serving as a focal point for a major verbal tussle between the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union and officials of the Hamilton Football Club over the question of what happens if Tiger s carry out their threat to play Frankie Filchock, banned by Canadian and American football authorities.

In this over-all contest, the I.R.F.U. did its most effective paper-cracking previously. Assisted by the Canadian Rugby Union, it expressed the opinion that Filchock, former New York Giants professional, barred for failure to report a bribe offer, should not be allowed to play in Canada. The C.R.U. refused to certify Filchock's playing certificate.

EXECUTIVE VOTE

Last night, however, the Big Four moved into the offensive and started the close in on Hamilton. D. Wes Brown, I.R.F.U. Secretary, announced that a vote of the Executive Committee, with only the Hamilton representative dissenting, had decreed that any game in which the Czech player played for Tigers would automatically be recorded as a win for the opposing team—no matter what the score.

Jack Langs, President of the Hamilton Club, said last night the Tigers will defy the I.R.F.U. Executive and play their import because they don't believe the bar is "constitutional".

VIOLATION

HAMILTON, Sept. 12 (CP)—Hamilton Tigers Football Club "in no way" will violate "any part of the constitution or any regulations" set forth by the Interprovincial Rugby Union, in using Frankie Filchock, Douglas Chilman, President of the Union, said today.

"In my opinion, the Big Four must meet to thoroughly thrash out the situation," said Chilman's statement.

"There is no reason why there should be any talk of Ottawa or any other Club not playing," said Mr. Chilman, commenting on reports from Ottawa that the Roughriders Club there would refuse to play if Tigers used Filchock as they say they will in tomorrow's game.

"My position in the matter as President of the Interprovincial Rugby Union is quite clear," said the statement.

"The constitution requires that any Club shall fine a certificate for each player with the Secretary of the Canadian Rugby Union. This was done in the case of Frank Filchock, so that the Tiger Football Club complied fully with regulations in this respect, particularly so far as the required date was concerned.

"Also the Tiger Football Club signed Filchock and presented his certificate for filing with the understanding that the player was eligible in every respect according to the constitution of the Interprovincial Union, and, regardless of subsequent developments, the Tiger Club has in no way, in my opinion, violated any part of the constitution or any regulations set forth by the Interprovincial Union."

Aussie, Czech, Two Yanks in Tennis Semis

FOREST HILLS, N., Sept. 12 (AP) — Strictly according to the script, two Americans and a pair of sharp-shooting foreign stars came safely throug today's strife and will square off in tomorrow's semi-finals of the National Tennis Championships.

Leading the semi-finalists was Jack Kramer of Los Angeles, defending champion and acknowledged King of the amateurs. With him were Frankie Parker of Los Angeles, a two-time former champion; Jaroslav Drobny, a left-handed slicker from Cechoslavakia, and Jack Bromwich, veteran Australian Davis Cupper.

Tomorrow's line-up pits Kramer against Drobny, and Parker against Bromwich in a baseline spree that could go on forever.

None of today's four matches required an extra set. Kramer blasted young Bob Falkenburg of Los Angeles 6-2, 7-5, 6-1; Drobny outserved and out-slicked Tom Brown, Jr., of San Francisco 7-5, 6-3, 6-4; Parker outsteadied Pancho Segura of Ecuador, 6-3, 11-9, 6-4 and Bromwich levelled Gardner Mulloy of Miami 7-5, 6-1, 6-1.

18-Year-Old Leads Ontario Team in Inter-Province Golf

TORONTO, Sept. 12 (CP) — A slight blonde, 18-year-old Anne Sharpe from the Fonthill Golf Club Welland, Ont., carded a brilliant 83 to spark the Ontario team to the lead in the first 18 holes of the 36-hole Canadian Ladies' Interprovincial Golf Tournament at the Toronto Club today.

The Ontario loss gross was 349, with Quebec in second place with 355. The final 18 holes will be played over the same course tomorrow afternoon, in the sixth Interprovincial Meet which Ontario has won three times and Quebec twice.

Miss Sharpe's nearest competitor was Eileen Price from the Regina Golf Club who turned in an 84.

British Columbia shot a team total of 374 for third spot while Alberta, making its bow in the interprovincial series, finished in fifth place with 383, five strokes behind Manitoba. Saskatchewan finished sixth and the Maritimes last.

Hunters to Have Less Legal Time, Smaller Limits

On Monday most game and birds throughout the Kootenays will become legal targets of sportsmen.

Many bag limits and duration of legal hunting times have been slashed. Perhaps the greatest slash has been in the duck season. Bag limit was cut from 12 to seven ducks per day and closure of the season will be a month and a half earlier this year. For many years ducks were legal game from Sept. 15 to Dec. 15, but the 1947 season will terminate Oct. 29.

The deer season, too, has come in for a cut. The season this year will close on the last day of November instead of the customary Dec. 15 deadline. While in most cases times were sliced off the end of the normal period, goats this year become legal game 15 days later than in 1946.

Open season on grouse has remained the same: from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15 on Blues and Franklins and from Sept. 15 to Sept. 30 on Willow or Ruffed grouse.

The inauguration of the stepped-up conservation policy was an idea of the sportsmen themselves, being a recommendation to the Game De*partment from the B.C. Fish and* Game convention at Harrison Hot Springs last Spring. At that time sportsmen from the entire province were unanimous in their support of conserving game and endorsed the increased limitations now in effect.

Jackie Robinson Gets Rookie Of Year Award

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, the Brooklyn Dodgers' 28-year-old Negro first baseman, was given the Sporting News' Rookie of the Year award today.

The choice of Robinson, described by Editor J. G. Taylor Spink as "spectacularly outstanding," was on the basis of "stark baseball values," the paper said.

"Robinson was rated and examined solely as a freshman player in the big leagues—on the basis of his hitting, his running, his defensive play, his team value," Spink wrote.

"The sociological experiment that Robinson represented, the trail-blazing he did, the barriers he broke down, did not enter into the decision."

Robinson joined the Dodgers last April from Montreal. He has laid down 42 successful bunts, 14 of them beaten out for hits and 28 sacrifices. His stolen base total is 25. And he has hit 10 home runs. He ran his batting average up to .317 in June when he exhibited a 21-game hitting streak, dropped to .253 in July and during August hit at a .311 clip. His present average is .297.

Spokane Indians Drub Trail Cardinals 13-3

TRAIL, B.C., Sept. 12—The Spokane Indians, who won here Wednesday and were held to a 4-4 draw at Nelson Thursday, made it two straight over the Trail Cardinals with a 13-3 score Friday afternoon at Butler Park.

This completes the three-game exhibition baseball series in the West Kootenay by the W.I. League entry.

It was a free-hitting affair Friday. The Indians collected 15 hits, six off the offerings of Clint McNeil, just back from the Wausau, Wisc., Club where he performed as a relief pitcher, and seven off Joe Monaldi, who split six innings with McNeil.

Dick McKinnon, who took over in the seventh inning, yielded two hits. The game was called in the seventh on account of darkness.

Spokane's chunky Sam Latino gave up five hits in four innings on the mound, and his relief Sam Spitzer, yielded three in the three innings that he worked.

The Spokane club played errorless ball, while Trail committed two miscues.

Lack of Fans Delayed Ball Game at Nelson

To the Editor:

Sir—May we through the medium of your paper give the reason for the delay in commencing the baseball game between Spokane and Nelson Thursday evening.

Due to the small attendance the Indian management refused to take the field for the agreed percentage. The local officials had no argument, one look at the faithful few in the bleachers was mute evidence of the lack of support.

After much hesitation the Spokane manager finally agreed to play the game, after which arbiter DeHaney had to change into his umpire equipment. While we apologize to the fans for the hold-up we trust it was worth waiting for and better than calling it off entirely.

The Indians were greatly surprised after hearing so much about Nelson and its achievements (Jubilee, Summer 'Spiel, etc.) not to see more enthusiasm for baseball.

To our few faithful followers who turned out we say "thank you" and to the hundreds who did not consider the Spokane Indians (W.I.L. finalists) sufficient attraction for a trip to the grounds we say, "you missed a good show."

Local baseball officials are wondering what team they have to bring in to draw the Nelson people to the diamond. The reason for bringing in Spokane was to give the local people an opportunity to see this professional team in action.

COBB TO MAKE RECORD TRY

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Sept. 12 (AP)—Gus P. Backman, President of the Bonneville Speedway Association, said he was informed today that John Cobb, London fur broker, will make an official run Sunday in an attempt to crack the measured mile automobile speed record.

Cobb will try to top his own land speed mark of 369 miles per hour over the measured mile.

Herman Won't Alibi for Bucs' Showing

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12 (AP) — Freshman Manager Billy Herman, who may be facing the ax because of Pittsburgh Pirates' sad showing, bent his neck for the blow by refusing "to alibi" — although the club makeup gives him reason to seek a reprieve.

"I wasn't an alibi player and I'm not an alibi manager," said Herman, regarded as one of baseball's greatest infielders during a 19-year playing career which took him to Chicago, Brooklyn and Boston in the National League before he came here as manager. His club was wallowing in last place before today's games.

"Until I talk with Mr. McKinney (Frank McKinney, Pirate President) I haven't anything to say," Herman went on. "I've done my best—that's all I've ever done for 20 years. I never loafed a day as a player and I've never loafed as a manager. I'm perfectly willing to shoulder any blame if the ownership believes it should be pointed my way."

McKinney said in Indianapolis Wednesday he was prepared to buy up Billy's two-year contract by paying the $28,000 due Herman for next year if he decides the Buccos' plight is the manager's fault. McKinney said he was "bitterly disappointed" in the club.

Herman has been roundly criticized by fans and the local press for his handling of pitchers and for his style of strategy. But it's well known by baseball students that Herman has little to work with.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 12 (CP)—Detective Inspector David Nicholson today announced the arrest of William Stawnychko, Winnipeg man wanted by Hope, B.C., police in connection with a robbery with violence charge.

He is alleged to have stolen $65 from A. Fournier of Vancouver in a strong-arm robbery at Hope, Aug. 13.

TO TURN OUT MORE LUMBER

VANCOUVER, Sept. 12 (CP) — An early end of lumber shortages was forcast here today with reports that many mills, now getting all the logs they need, are adding extra work shifts.

Has High Praise For Greenwood Celebrations

Mrs. Paddy George kho attended Greenwood's 50th anniversary celebrations, has returned to Nelson full of praise of the calbre of entertainment staged to mark Greenwood's 50 years existence as a community.

Mrs. George was a one time resident of Greenwood, living there for eight years before moving to Nelson in 1919. The late Mr. George was active in mining circles at Greenwood for 20 years and in that time operated mines at Phoenix and in the Slocan area.

Mrs. George tagged the entire anniversary festivities as "wonderful for a town the size of Greenwood." She was especially enthused with the variety of floats in the parade which opened the ceremony. Persons costumed in old-time dress were a common sight on the streets, Mrs. George said.

While at Greenwood, Mrs. George stayed with old friends and took in the celebrations with them.

P.C.L. Leaders All Win

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Los Angeles won by a mile and San Francisco by a wisker as they retained their positions in the tight Pacific Coast League race Thursday night, the Angels leading by 2½ games.

The Angels smothered Sacramento, 12-1, on the six-hit pitching of Red Adams His mates gathered but 10 hits but they benefitted by 10 walks. Homers by Johnny Ostrowski and Al Glossop, who also had two doubles, and tuck Stainback's triple were big blows off five solon pitchers.

It was something else again in San Francisco where the Seals just barely nipped San Diego 1-0. Seal pitcher Bill Werle and the Padres' Tom Seat each allowed only four hits.

Werle scored the only run in the third. He walked and went all the way home on second baseman Hugh Luby's double.

Oakland enjoyed Will Hafey's five hit pitching in whacking Seattle 8-2. The only hit off Hafey in the first seven innings was manager Jo Jo White's but in the fourth. In the eight the Rainiers bunched three hits for their pair of runs.

The Portland Beavers edged Hollywood, 5-4, in 11 innings as first baseman George Vico whaled a homer over the right field fence in the first pitch of the extra chapter. Portland out-hit Hollywood, 12-8.

Wednesday night's contests in which four first division teams won, left Oakland and Portland tied for third and Seattle and Hollywood tied fifth place in the race.

WILD PITCH TIES SOFTBALL FINALS

VANCOUVER, Sept. 12 (CP)—A wild pitch uncorked by Esquimalt hurler Ken Gunter in the last of the tenth paved the way last night for the run that gave Saskatoon Merchants a 3-2 overtime win over the Tillicums and tied up the Western Canada Senior men's softball finals at one game apiece.

The Markets won the first game Tuesday 2-1. Both games went 10 innings.

As was the case in the opening tilt, last night's game was a pitchers' duel, this time between Gunter and Jim Morin.

Chandler Sets Example After Larry Ungagged

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12 (AP) — Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler has practiced again what he has been trying to preach to Larry *MacPhail—silence—after a confer*ence with the President of New York Yankees in connection with statements MacPhail made about that forbidden subject, Leo Durocher.

As was the case when MacPhail was called on his green carpet last April for criticizing the suspension for the season of the Brooklyn manager, the big shot of baseball declined to discuss yesterday's confab with the fiery Yankee President, which followed a meeting to plan for the 1947 World Series.

Interrupted in his talk about the Series by a question as to what the score was with the New York Yankee president, Chandler cried:

"That's all; that's all."

MacPhail also was silent as to what took place.

Chandler began an investigation several days ago into statements attributed to MacPhail last week concerning the Durocher case.

The New Yorker was quoted as saying it was a 100-to-1 shot that Durocher would not be back with the Dodgers next season, and adding:

"Do you think that Durocher would have been suspended if Rickey (Branch Rickey, President of the Brooklyn club) hadn't wanted him suspended?"

When Chandler suspended Durocher on April 9 he issued an order that *no one in the controversy in*volving Durocher, MacPhail and Rickey could discuss the subject.

Twin Bill Benefit Game for Ted Graham Sunday

Nelson's F.O.E. Seniors will see action again here this Sunday when they meet a rep team of old timers frm the city. Also slated for the baseball attraction will be the Slocan City nine and the F.A.C. Juniors.

The doubleheader is a benefit for Ted Graham, who broke his arm in a baseball tourney at Nelson during Jubilee Week.

It is expected that the seniors will field the same team rallied in opposition to the Spokane Indians here Thursday night. Fred Townsend, who came to Nelson baseball circles from Saskatchewan, will be on the mound.

Slocan City will travel with 11 players. The Slocan squad includes all team members who ousted Silverton from the Graham Cup finals at Nakusp last Sunday. Their lineup includes F. Hufty, Sr., F. Hufty, Jr., L. Hufty, S. Heslip, J. Heslip, E. Clough, T. Hicks, J. Avis, H. Pinchbeck, D. Hood and Groehyson.

Sept. 30 or Oct. 1 Opening For Series

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12 (AP) — The World Series will begin Tuesday, Sept. 30 in Yankee Stadium if the New York American League club and the Brooklyn team of the National League win the pennants in their respective circuits.

Should the St. Louis Cardinals win in the National League and the Yankees in the American, however, the series would open Oct. 1 at Yankee Stadium.

Two games would be played there. Oct. 3 would be an open date to enable the clubs to go to St. Louis. Games would be played in St. Louis on Oct. 4, 5 and 6. Should additional play be needed, Oct. 7 would be an open date so the clubs could go back to New York for the end of the series.

If the Dodgers and Yankees are the World Series contenders, the first two games will be played at Yankee Stadium, the next three at Ebbetts Field, Brooklyn, and the final two, if needed, at Yankee Stadium.

The decisions were reached at a meeting today between Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler and representatives of the leading clubs in the two pennant chases.

Slides Disclose Quantity of Hay Fever Causing Pollen

Medical researchers are shown here on the roof of Brooklyn's Jewish capital inspecting any change slides that disclose the quantity of hay fever—causing pollen floating in the air. Acting as an intelligence staff for the weed exterminating teams in New York during the hay fever season are allergy specialists of Brooklyn's Jewish Hospital, who detect the presence of ragweed in all parts of New York by exposing glass slides to the air at stations located on roofs in and around the city. These slides collect the sneeze-producing grains of pollen released by the plants and reveal their average concentration and the whereabouts of the plant to the weed-killing teams.

Market Trends

TORONTO, Sept. 13 (CP) — Prices moved narrowly and volume dropped sharply in dull trade as mining issues lost most of their activity of the last three weeks on about an equal number of gains and losses while industrials eased off fractionally. The Western oils were firmer but price changes were mild.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13 (CP)—Minuses were in majority among both mines and industrials in dull dealings.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 13 (CP)—Oils and mines climbed slightly while industrials were unchanged.

LONDON, Sept. 13 (Reuters)—Trading was quiet today, buyers and sellers preferring to await Sir Stafford Cripps' announcement of government economic policies before committing themselves.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13 (AP)—A series of heavy selling waves swept over the grain pits, knocking prices down for limit declines at times. Trading was heavy and price fluctuations rapid.

Would Stop Interference With Labor Party

TORONTO, Sept. 12 (CP)—Commonwealth Labor leaders, terming the British Labor Government one on the major revolutions of history, called at a gathering here last night for an end to interference so that it may have a chance to work.

Morgan Phillips, General Secretary of the British Labor Party and principal speaker at the rally, ridiculed the idea that either Prime Minister Attlee or Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin would resign.

"I find that idea popular in the press here, and I would say to the American statesmen who would like to interfere in the internal affairs of Great Britain to leave their hands off."

The meeting sponsored by the C.C.F., marked the close of the second Commonwealth Conference of Labor parties.

M. J. Coldwell, National C. C. F. leader said he knew "of no country more ridden by monopolistic capital than Canada. We have to supplant it with peoples' organizations to build the foundation of the greatest society of our time."

Beavercove Docks at Montreal

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 12 — The 10,000 ton Beavercove, fourth of the Canadian Pacific steamships new fleet of fast cargo liners arrived at Montreal today on her maiden voyage from London and tied up at Shed 7 alongside her sister ship, the Beaverglen.

For Capt. B. B. Grant, R.D., a Commodore in the Royal Navy Reserve, Master of the Beavercove, it was not a novel trip for it was he who was captain of the Beaverdell, eldest of the Canadian Pacific's four newly constructed Beaver ships, when she made her maiden voyage to St. John, N. B., in March 1946.
