DE GAULLE URGES CONSOLIDATION OF INDEPENDENCE

PARIS, Dec. 10 (Reuters)—In an 11-minute broadcast to the people of France, President de Gaulle said tonight: "We have finally saved the independence of France; we must consolidate that independence."

"We have for the first time after a long period in our history entered upon the road of national unity," he declared.

In an apparent reference to the United States and Russia, Gen. de Gaulle said two great powers exist in the world today and "we must maintain a rigorous balance between them."

"Our internal quarrels were mainly dictated by anxiety which paralyzed us." These vicissitudes of our long history repeatedly led us into greater danger but we have overcome them."

ESTIMATE RAIDS KILLED 500,000 HUN CIVILIANS

By ELTON FAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—The doctors submitted today a post-mortem report on Germany; they estimated 500,000 city dwellers died in Allied air raids and said fire was the great killer.

The report was made by the Medical Branch of the United States Strategic Bombing Survey, a civilian-military group appointed to analyze the results of the air war against the Axis. The medical experts followed the Allied invasion forces into Germany to make on-the-spot investigations and interview the enemy population.

CREATED PROBLEM

One of the findings had a sardonic touch: "By strategic bombing the conqueror created one of his greatest post-hostilities problem." Allied air raids on German cities brought the health of the civilians to the brink of pestilence and famine. But these Apocalyptic phases did not quite develop during the war; they waited to threaten the post-war occupation authorities.

In the report and in a press conference with Maj. Cortez F. Enloe, Jr., of Manhasset, N.Y., who worked on the survey and edited the report, these were the salient facts:

RECORDS MISSING

The exact number killed by Allied bombs could not be determined and, because of the loss of German records and the confusion attendant upon defeat, "it is unlikely it will ever be known." But the known dead plus an estimated 77,750 missing in the last two years produced an approximate total of 499,750 German civilians. This figure could be wrong by 100,000 either way.

There was no evidence of deliberate Allied effort to break the health of the German people. "Nevertheless, the bombing razed hospitals to the ground and created conditions which interfered with the maintenance of good health."

1475 DEGREES TEMPERATURES

The fire blizzards set by incendiary bombs caused deaths akin to those from the atomic bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, and for the same reasons—intense heat. The victims died from inhaling air super-heated to as high as 1400 degrees, from carbon monoxide, from direct mechanical destruction by flames, from tetanus infection resulting from burns.

The great fire raid on Hamburg in July, 1943, was an example. Fires set off by the incendiary attacks burned uncontrolled for six weeks. Temperatures went up to 1,472 degrees Fahrenheit.

Follows Granddad's Footsteps

Titian-haired, 19-year-old Buff Cobb began following in the footsteps of her famous grandfather, the late Irving S. Cobb, when she started her first picture on the 20th Century-Fox lot. Playing a harem queen in the picturization of "Anna and the King of Siam", Miss Cobb joined a cast headed by Irene Dunne, Rex Harrison and Linda Darnell. She was chosen for the role from a score of girls. Although she was born in Florence, Italy, Buff has lived in Los Angeles, Calif., most of her life.

Putnam Sought Support B.C. Seed-Growing

VICTORIA, Dec. 10 (CP)—Dominion Government subsidization of British Columbia's war-developed seed-growing industry was urged by Agriculture Minister Frank Putnam while he was in Ottawa attending the conference on food production.

Mr. Putnam asked the Dominion to support seed markets for at least two years.

B. C.'s seed industry, developed during the war to replace production of European countries, expanded its output to almost $2,000,000 this year. Value of seed and bulb production in 1943 was $1,287,000.

Chief consumer of B. C. seeds during the war was Britain. Already the pinch of competition is being felt as European countries reenter the market.

While no policy for expansion of the output of these products has been mapped out, Mr. Putnam said the Dominion Government wanted all the eggs, milk products, and beef that British Columbia could produce. The products are needed to supply the British market.

Kimberley Women Make Way for Returning Veterans

Admits U.S. Knew Japs on Move

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — Gen. George C. Marshall acknowledged today the United States Army knew more than 10 days before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor that the enemy was on the move in a direction that might take him past the deadline where American military chiefs believed the U.S. should fight.

The move was the embarkation of about five divisions aboard 40 to 50 transports at Shanghai, headed South. It was reported by Army Intelligence Nov. 25-26, 1941.

Legal History in Making in Elected Director

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 10 (CP Cable)—British legal experts today pored over law books running back hundreds of years in an effort to find a precedent for the treason verdict brought in against William Joyce, the American-born Lord Haw Haw of the German radio, who has appealed his death sentence to the House of Lords.

Five judges of the House of Lords are hearing Joyce's final appeal. Should it fail, he will go to the gallows, probably before Christmas.

Officials said history is being made in the quiet rooms for the rulings and decisions on points of law given by the Lords of Appeal perhaps will be cited hundreds of years from now.

The appeal opened today before bewigged and robed Lord Jowitt, Lord Chancellor, in the red-draped House of Lords. Counsel for the prosecution brought up cases from ancient volumes which listed decisions wherein an alien might be found guilty of treason if he had enjoyed the protection of a British monarch.

Joyce had pleaded innocent in the lower court on the grounds that he was a United States citizen when he started his propaganda broadcasts for Germany in 1939 and therefore could not be guilty of treason against the King.

However, House of Lords lawyers said today that ancient precent indicated that even if an alien went to another land after enjoying the protection of the King, his effects and family might remain under the protection of His Majesty and his responsibility to the British state would continue.

For many years Joyce travelled with a British passport and claimed British citizenship despite the fact he had been born in Brooklyn, N.Y.

4th Canadian Armored Division Begins Movement

HILVERSUM, Holland, Dec. 10 (CP Cable)—Movement of the 4th Canadian Armored Division, last division to come overseas and last to go home, began Sunday with the departure for the United Kingdom of the Lake Superior Regiment of Port Arthur, it was announced today.

New colors will be presented to the Lake Superiors while the Regiment is in Britain, possibly by the King, and therefore it was moved first to allow time for ceremonial drill preparations.

The division will move 1000 a day until divisional headquarters is liquidated Dec. 27.

CALCUTTA, Dec. 10 (Reuters)—Mohandas Gandhi, veteran Nationalist, tonight echoed an appeal for calm and discipline made earlier by Viscount Wavell, Viceroy of India, while Pandit Jawahrlal Nehru, Congress Party leader, told Indians to disregard "threats by British Ministers or highly-placed officers" and to "go on building up your strength peacefully."

Says S.C. Out to Kill Bretton Woods Acceptance

OTTAWA, Dec. 10 (CP)—Three members of the 13-man Social Credit party today carried on in a fidgety House of Commons their opposition to Canadian ratification of the Bretton Woods Monetary Agreement, which the Government is anxious to have approved before the end of the year.

J. H. Blackmore (SC-Lethbridge), Norman Jaques (SC-Wetaskiwin) and Victor Quelch (SC-Acadia) kept) kept up the debate, begun last Thursday, despite requests from all other parties that the legislation ratifying the agreement be allowed to pass to the Banking and Commerce Committee where the testimony of experts could be heard.

A meeting of party leaders with Prime Minister Mackenzie King was held during the day and at its conclusion Mr. King said he held "every hope that the session will end by the end of this week."

He said thought had not been given to enforcing a closure, a procedure under which the debate on Bretton Woods could be terminated within a specified time.

Solon Low, Social Credit Leader, did not participate in the day's debate but in an interview outside the House he said that Parliament would be in session until Christmas if it did not withdraw the Bretton Woods legislation.

"We are out to 'kill,' said Mr. Low. "We want to kill it in the best interests of the Commonwealth, the best interests of Britain."

To Map B.C. Policy on Peacetime Raffles

VICTORIA, Dec. 10 (CP)—British Columbia's policy on conducting peacetime raffles, particularly those to aid welfare and public services will be mapped out by the Provincial Cabinet shortly, Attorney General Maitland said today on his return from Ottawa.

After discussing raffles with the Attorneys General present at the Dominion-Provincial Conference's Steering Committee meeting, Mr. Maitland also discussed proposed amendments to the Criminal Code which would make it easier for the police to obtain convictions of bookmakers.

"The bookmaking legislation has received quite a bit of attention in the East and I am hopeful it will result in amendments to the Criminal Code during the coming session," said Mr. Maitland.

"I think the proposal that the Attorney General's power to say whether or not raffles should be prosecuted has been dropped," he continued. "So far as I can see the law will remain as it is."

Six Fill Offices by Acclamations

Trail, Forks, Slocan City, Greenwood, Kimberley Return Chief Magistrates

Elections will be held in seven of the 13 Kootenay-Boundary centers which held municipal nominations Monday, with four cities finding it necessary to elect Mayor and Aldermen on Thursday, Election Day, and three to elect Aldermen only.

NEW DENVER AND SILVERTON NAME COMMISSIONERS

Mayors reelected by acclamation were Mayor Herbert Clark of Trail, Mayor D. C. Manly of Grand Forks, Mayor Peter Swan of Slocan City, Mayor W. E. McArthur of Greenwood and Mayor Clifford Swan of Kimberley.

Voters of the municipalities of Greenwood, Slocan City, and Tadanac, and the villages of Creston, Silverton and New Denver are "in the clear," having filled all offices by acclamation.

A. L. Irwin was elected as Reeve at Tadanac, succeeding Reeve A. D. Turnbull. James Draper of New Denver and E. D. Cox of Silverton were elected Village Commissioners.

In the mayoralty contests are Mayor N. C. Stibbs and Alderman T. H. Waters at Nelson; Mayor A. J. Balment and Ald. E. W. Sjodin at Cranbrook; Bernhard Albrecht and George S. Baker at Kaslo; and Mayor John E. Gordon and Ald. J. R. Corner at Rossland.

FOUR-WAY CONTEST FOR FORKS EAST WARD SEATS

Aldermanic contests will also be held in these cities and also in Trail, Kimberley and Grand Forks. In Grand Forks, there will be a four-way battle for two aldermanic seats in the East Ward, the two West Ward seats having been filled. Ald. O. Stephenson, Ald. William Huffman, P. Fox and Alfred Price are contesting the two East Ward seats.

Grand Forks will also vote on two bylaws, one for purchase of the Royal Bank Building at $5,000 for the purpose of a City Hall, and a second for expenditures of $25,000 for road and sidewalk re*pairs and building and purchase* of road maintenance machinery.

In the Kaslo mayoralty contest, Mr. Albrecht, hotel operator, is offering for civic office for the first time. His opponent, Mr. Baker, has been a Kaslo merchant for years. Retiring Mayor is Charles W. Webster. W. H. Tonkin, transport operator, completing a year's service on the School Board, is offering for one of the two aldermanic seats along with George L. Morton, fruit rancher, and G. K. Sutherland, merchant, who seeks re-election. Also offering for the first time is William F. Tyers, an accountant who is now fruit farming at Kaslo.

At Cranbrook, Mayor Balment is opposed by retiring Alderman E. W. Sjodin. There are five aldermanic candidates for three vacancies. Both School Trustees whose terms expire were returned by acclamation. They are Dr. W. A. Fergie and H. T. Stiffe.

At Kimberley, terms of three Alderman expire, and F. P. Levirs has retired from office while the other two, Stanley Norton and Wallace Lloyd seek re-election. New candidates nominated for Aldermen are Orin L. Hayden, electrician, and Arthur Bryant, mine foreman. As Kimberley's school is part of a rural Consolidated District, school trustees are not chosen in municipal elections.

23 MAYORS, 15 REEVES ELECTED BY ACCLAMATIONS

By The Canadian Press

Led by veteran Mayor Alex Maxwell of Cumberland, 23 chief magistrates throughout British Columbia today began new terms without the necessity of having to go to the electorate. Fifteen Reeves also begin new terms of office.

This was revealed yesterday when official nominations for next Thursday's civic elections closed. With the exception of Vancouver, where civic elections take place this Wednesday, voting for civic officials will proceed in practically every section of the Province.

In North Cowichan, however, there will be no election expense. This was accomplished when Reeve D. D. Chapman and his entire Council were all returned unopposed for the eighth consecutive year. Two of the Councillors—James Aitken and W. S. Gwyn—are survivors of the original Board elected eight years ago, while Councillors William Spencer and J. R. Jenkins were elected to Council earlier this year in by-elections.

The same situation arose at Enderby, where Mayor G. E. McMahon, his Council and School Board members were returned by acclamation.

At Revelstoke Walter Hardman begins his 10th term as Mayor while Mayor William M. Mott starts his fifth term in New Westminster, Mayor G. H. Savage begins his fourth term as Mayor of Duncan and Mayor Harry M. Dagget starts his third term in Prince Rupert.

VANCOUVER, Dec. 10 (CP) — The Vancouver Sun in a newspaper story today said that "doctors in the East today began the medical examination of some 800 to 900 Japanese nationals who will form the first group to be sent from Canada to Japan."

The newspaper added:

"The Japs are now being vaccinated against smallpox and are receiving successive immuniz*ations against typhoid fever.*

"Then, when they're gathered in Vancouver early next month, they'll be given final pre-sailing test to make sure they are free from any communicable disease including V.D.

"The initial Canadian group will join other Japanese who are being repatriated from the United States. Together they will sail from Seattle about mid-January."

N.S.S. to Aid Jobs-for-All Committee; Reject Plan to Bar Dischargees From Other Provinces

VANCOUVER, Dec. 10 (CP) — Horace Keetch, Vancouver manager of the National Employment Service, today handed Vancouver's week-old "Jobs-for-All" Committee its first definite offer for help.

Mr. Keetch advised the committee he would provide office space and personnel at his downtown office to act as a central bureau for placing jobless persons in touch with home owners anxious to have maintenance work done on their premises.

The committee today elected Ald. Jack Price as chairman.

It also named B. M. Hoffmeister chairman of a sub-committee entrusted with the task of contacting each industrial employer in Vancouver to ask for the provision of more jobs.

REJECT SUGGESTION

Hoffmeister said that he would appoint assistants who were conversant with individual problems of employers.

The committee rejected a suggestion that military officials bar servicemen from seeking discharges in B.C. if they had enlisted in other military districts in Canada.

Instead, it passed a resolution that Vancouver City Council be asked, through advertisements in Eastern newspapers, and direct contact with military discharge centres and Federal Labor Department offices, to acquaint servicemen of the serious conditions in Vancouver.

D. Peers, president of the Canadian Corps Association in B.C., was instructed to contact Mr. Justice Manson, Industrial Selection and Release Board, to ask for "more care" in the granting of industrial leaves to soldiers.

The committee passed a motion urging the Dominion-Provincial and civic governments to study proposals for the 40-hour week.

By a vote of 6 to 4 it rejected an amendment submitted by the Canadian Manufacturers Association delegation, that no action be taken by the group in this direction. It also defeated another amendment that the Federal Government be asked specifically to set a 40-hour week maximum for all Federal departments.

TO URGE PROGRAM

The committee also voted to exert "strong pressure" on all governments to launch public works projects, and Ald. Price was authorized to seek a speed-up in the production and distribution of construction supplies.

A committee was named to ask the timber controller to order a redistribution of logs now in Vancouver waters to permit reopening of sawmills shut down because bad weather has halted log movement through coastal channels into Vancouver.

Delegates from the Canadian Legion, the Trades and Labor Council, and the Rehabilitation Council, reported that their executives had recorded opposition to any compulsory bar to veterans from anywhere in Canada obtaining their discharges in B.C.

QUICKIES ... By Ken Reynolds

"See, George, the radio I got with a News Want Ad—almost like television!"

Tension Mounts in Java

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 10 (AP) — The British Command clamped wartime secrecy on troop movements and communications in strife-ravaged Java today as a prelude to full-scale military operations against rampant Indonesian Nationalist forces.

Tension mounted in the turoulent island, amid reports that large concentrations of natives were massing in the suburbs of Batavia for a march upon the Javanese capital.

Rising British anger with the Nationalists was apparent as rumors persisted that the insurgents planned a new uprising on a large scale by the week's end.

HAMMER VILLAGES

Thirteen Royal Air Force Mosquito bombers and fighters assaulted the mountain village of Tjibadak, 50 miles South of Batavia in what was described as the heaviest air strike of the Nationalist rebellion. The village was reported smashed and burning after an hour-long attack.

The Mosquitos had dropped 1,000 warning leaflets telling the population the village would be destroyed and urging the people to flee immediately.

The other villages near Tjibadak-Kampa and Tjimahi also were blasted by R.A.F. planes.

The air assaults followed a pitched battle between Indonesian and British troops escorting a convoy bringing relief supplies for the summer capital at Bandoeng.

In the sharp fight one British officer, one British private and 14 Indian soldiers were killed, and 30 Indian troops were wounded. Most of the convoy got through, however.

170 Job-Seekers Ask Transportation

VANCOUVER, Dec. 10 (CP) — National employment officials announced today that 170 unemployed persons had applied for free transportation to Eastern Canada under the new arrangement announced last week. Some of these have already gone East. Federal Government officials offered to pay the fares in cases where there is reasonable assurance employment is awaiting at the destination.

To Test A-Bombs Effect on Ships

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—The vulnerability of fleets to atomic-bomb attack will be given a joint test by the United States Army and Navy, the two services announced tonight.

The announcement was a two-sentence statement which failed to disclose what vessels would be used as targets. There has been some speculation that captured Japanese vessels would be used, but Navy officials have said they would not provide a fully satisfactory test since they are not comparable to United States ships in such factors as compartmentation. Hence obsolete American ships may be chosen.

The Navy had expressed informally its desire to investigate the results of atomic explosion against warships, but the effect of tonight's joint announcement was to commit it formally to a joint test with the Army and, presumably, with the Army Air Forces.

Not since Brig.-Gen. Billy Mitchell of the old Army Air Corps clamored for and finally won a test of airplane bombing of battleships in the early 20's has a proposed experiment contained more far-reaching potentialities.

TO MAKE DETAILED RECORD

The announcement said that "planning is already under way for the operation which will involve large problems of logistics including the assembly of many naval vessels, extensive instrumentation for measuring results, and assembly of necessary personnel."

Thi was taken to refer to the use of ships and instruments at the periphery of the anticipated blast area as well as inside to record such things as pressures, heat, radioactivity and other aspects of atomic blast on the surface as well as beneath and above the sea.

Because of the expected wide lateral range of atomic blast at sea, together with other still unknown aspects of nuclear explosion, it was presumed a number of ships would be needed to patrol the outskirts of any test area.

Although results of atomic explosives used against land structures and man were obtained in some measure during the two attacks on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, no chance has been afforded to study the effect on ships. Scientists want to know, among other things, the effect of an A-bomb on a ship's structure, her machinery, her delicate instruments and her crew.

Expand Studies at R.C.A.F. War Staff College

TORONTO, December 10—A wartime institution which shows no signs of having outlived its usefulness is the Royal Canadian Air Force Staff College, training ground for potential senior staff officers, located at Armour Heights, Toronto. Organized in 1943, and known until recently as the War Staff College, the school has extended its curriculum to include material which could not be studied under the pressure of a wartime schedule.

Commandant of the College is Air Commodore A. R. Ross, G.C., O.B.E., and the Chief Instructor is Group Captain C. L. Annis, O.B.E. In stating the aims of the College, G.-C. Annis said, "It must be made clear that our purpose is to instruct future staff officers in clear thinking and expression; the organization and operation of all the armed services; and the relation of these services to each other, to the government, and to the people."

G.-C. Annis said that a country which is capable of Canada's heavy contribution to the United Nations' war effort must have officers trained to direct policy and plan broad strategy, as well as to carry out actual operations. The R.C.A.F. Staff College aims to provide for such officers, not only a thorough knowledge of their own and the other services, but also an awareness of the wider problems of national economy, government and international relations.

Until recently staff college courses were open only to officers of the rank of Squadron Leader or Wing Commander, but Flight Lieutenants of exceptional ability and some Group Captains are now being included. Interest and enthusiasm in the course have spread throughout the service to such an extent that there are hundreds of applications on file for the 30 vacancies in the next course, due to start in February.

Six Prefabricated Houses to Be Brought to England

LONDON, Dec. 10 (CP Cable)—Six prefabricated houses manufactured in British Columbia, will be brought to England as prototypes of homes to be manufactured in Britain as part of a housing scheme sponsored by Woodville, Leics, Burton and District War Products Group, a private organization of commercial firms, an official disclosed today.

L. E. Farmer, representative of the group, went to Canada to place the order and is now believed on his way back to Britain.

In Vancouver last Thursday Mr. Farmer said he had signed a contract for delivery of material to be used in the project and that he expected the first shipment from British Columbia would be started some time this week.

TOAST-of-TEA

From John Morley's Rousseau: "What we all need to have taught us is that we are born not mere atoms floating independent and apart for a season . . . . and sucking up as much more than our share of nourishmen as we can seize; nor citizens of the world with no more definite duty to keep our feelings toward all our fellows in a steady simmer of bland complacency; but soldiers in a boat, citizens of a policy whose boundaries are not set down in maps . . . . We need to be taught that we owe a share of our energies to the great struggle which is in ceaseless process in all societies in an endless variety of forms, between new truth and old prejudice, between love of self, or class, and solicitous passion for justice, between the obstructive indolence and inertia of the many and the generous mental activity of the few. This is the sphere and definition of the social conscience."

"Boy, Am I Ever Glad to See You"

VANCOUVER, Dec. 10 (CP) — Lieut. (SB) Don Menzies, R.C.N.V.R., former Edmonton newspaperman, came back from Japan today with a vivid recollection of the feelings expressed by an American Marine as he was freed from the Japs.

Menzies was standing at a railway station at Wakayama when a train pulled in. It was carrying men from Allied Nations. They had just been brought from a Jap camp.

The American Marine, six feet two inches, jumped from the steps of a car, and ran up to Menzies. The Canadian was the first Allied serviceman he had seen since he was freed.

"He picked me up in his arms," Menzies recalled, "just like you'd pick up a baby. He said to me: 'Boy, am I ever glad to see you. I'm really glad to see you.'

"He held me in his arms and cried like a baby."

And, Menzies added a little bashfully, "I almost cried, too."

Menzies was the only Canadian naval officer to serve with the occupation forces in the whole of Japan. When he reached Tokyo, it marked his third visit there. He was there in 1934 as a travelling student, and again in 1937 and 1938, when he was a reporter on the Japan Advertiser, an English language newspaper.

TO CONTINUE COMBINED FOOD BOARD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—The United States, Britain and Canada agreed today to continue their Combined Food Board to retain control over allocations of scarce foodstuffs.

At the same time, the three governments announced that the Combined Production and Resources Board and the Combined Raw Materials Board will go out of business December 31.

In a statement by President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Prime Minister Mackenzie King, it also was agreed:

That the committees under the outgoing boards which are concerned with cotton textiles, tin, rubber, hides and leather will be continued as long as a shortage of supply remains, and

That the coal committees in Washington and London now under the Boards continue in their present form, although there exists in the case of coal, a European organization.

The three leaders said they anticipate dissolution of the Combined Food Board on June 30, 1946, "or sooner if conditions permit."

Continued shortages of sugar, food fats and oils, and meats undoubtedly prompted the three powers to continue the Food Board.

The Board has recommendatory powers on the division of foods among themselves and other nations so as to assure all minimum needs. Without the Board, they undoubtedly would be competing against one another for available supplies, with the one having the most money getting the lion's share.

Thus, in the case of sugar, all world supplies available to the three nations are pooled and apportioned out among themselves, liberated nations and neutral countries.

Charges Patronage in Hiring of Vets' by Liquor Board

VANCOUVER, Dec. 10 (CP) — "Political patronage" influenced the hiring of veterans by the B.C. Liquor Control Board for the Christmas rush, Robert Macnicol, secretary of the B.C. Command of the Canadian Legion, charged today.

The Legion official complained last week that the Liquor Board did not take advantage of a list of 120 names, including many non-Legion members, that had been prepared by the Legion to provide liquor store employment.

W. F. Kennedy, Liquor Board chairman, replied "there are other 'veterans' organizations' besides the Legion" and added that every man the board did hire was a war veteran.

"Now that there are a large number of veterans unemployed, the Liquor Control Board turns to polical sources for help, thus reviving the patronage system so much condemned in past year," Mr. Macnicol countered today.

He said the Legion had no objection to other veterans' associations listing the names of ex-servicemen for the work. Neither was any reflection meant against veterans who have recently been employed by the board, Mr. Macnicol declared.

"If it was desired to have some neutral source supply help, then why was the Legion not requested to cease taking names and turn its list over to the National Empolyment Service Office in Vancouver when the L.C.B. could have drawn its help through that source," he added.

Mr. Macnicol said the board's method of hiring men might be "the thin edge of the wedge in reverting to a political patronage system in British Columbia."

Tells Young People of Chaplain's Life

Very Rev. Father Wilfred, who recently returned to Canada from England, spoke of his experiences as a Chaplain in the R.C.A.F. to the Catholic Young People's Club at their meeting Sunday night.

He told them of his training in Lachine and of the "Atlantic Fever" that servicemen suffer from in Halifax. Tor-Bay, Newfoundland, the half-way house to overseas duty, was his next posting. His description of the 10-hour crossing to Tor-Bay and the ill but humorous effects he and his friends underwent, brought many laughs. He explained some of the difficulties of travel in Newfoundland and the rough, rocky landscape. The speaker was impressed with the hospitality of the people.

After six months in Tor Bay, Father Wilfred was posted overseas to Bournemouth.

He mentioned the work done on a Conversion base where R.C.A.F. pilots learned how to fly heavy four-motor bombers after they had been flying two-motor planes in their training courses.

The members learned that the Chaplain, or as he is more familiarly known, the "Padre" had a very important role too, in helping the men, and especially in being a friend to them at all times.

In concluding his talk, Father Wilfred counselled them to "help our boys get back on Civvie Street." He said "they have been under a great nervous strain—training, away from home and friends, travelling, black-outs, bombings and fighting have been their lot for two, three or four years and they need your help and your consideration to get back into their ordinary way of life."

Father Wilfred was with the R.C.A.F. for two and a half years, and came over to Nelson from Trail to speak to the Club.

New members, Mrs. Jo Winkelaar, Miss Wanlin, Miss Kokott, Joe DeLucrezio and W. Palmer, were welcomed by President Eugene Maglio.

The other American members included: Frank W. Buxton, editor of the Boston Herald; James G. McDonald, a member of the editorial staff of the New York Times, and William Phillips, former undersecretary of state, ambassador to Italy and personal representative of the President at New Delhi.

In a brief statement, issued simultaneously with a similar announcement in London, President Truman urged the committee to make its report within 120 days after it begins its inquiry.

SEE WIDE BENEFIT FROM LIBRARY PLAN

VANCOUVER, Dec. 10 (CP) — Hon. George Weir, B.C. Minister of Education, today declared an "adequately staffed and equipped" public library in Vancouver would stimulate adult education and the growth of travelling libraries throughout B.C. and benefit the culture of the whole province.

"I hope Vancouver citizens will pass the library bylaw with an overwhelming majority in Wednesday's civic election," Dr. Weir said in an interview.

Further support for the $1,150,000 library bylaw came from Dr. Norman A. M. MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, and from H. N. MacCorkindale, Vancouver's superintendent of schools.

The library board plans to build a new million-dollar memorial library, probably on a not-yet-chosen civic centre site, and three branch libraries if the bylaw is approved.

Pleads Innocent to Killing of 48 Canadians

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

AURICH, Germany, Dec. 10 (CP—Cable)—Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer, former S.S. division general, today pleaded innocent to charges that he was responsible for the shooting of 48 Canadian prisoners of war in the Caen beachhead area in 1944.

The trial of Meyer—regarded as Canada's No. 1 war criminal—opened here today in a panelled court room located in the former German naval barracks with the reading of an 8000-word statement surveying the case by Lt.-Col. Bruce MacDonald, of Windsor, Ont., Chief Prosecutor.

The original seven war crimes charges against Meyer were reduced to six but the indictment remains the same, with the first five indicting the German general for crimes committed while he commanded the 25th Panzer Grenadier Regiment of the 12th S.S. Division. The sixth charge—which will be dealt with later—involves crimes committed when he commanded the division.

The small courtroom was crowded with 85 Canadian officers and non-commissioned officers, along with a group of German civilians. Frau Meyer, who saw her husband last week for the first time in 18 months, did not attend the opening.

Dealing with the first five charges composing the first charge sheet in the indictment, Col. MacDonald told the Canadian Military Court: "We are trying here today a man who, we shall contend, is supremely responsible both directly and indirectly for the killing by those under his command of the 41 Canadian prisoners referred to in the first charge.

"We shall seek to establish that he was the motivating force behind the cold-blooded, deliberate and calculated murder of these prisoners."

These crimes cover the period immediately after the D-day landings in Normandy when Meyer commanded the 25th S.S. Panzer Grenadier Regiment of the 12th S.S. Hitler Youth Division. The second charge sheet consists of the sixth charge, involving the shooting of seven Canadian prisoners of war on June 17 when Meyer was Commander of the Division. It will be dealt with later in the trial.

Col. MacDonald said many of the prisoners were killed far behind the *front line where there was no con*ceivable justification or excuse — other than possibly the brutal punishment of a helpless prisoner who refused to answer improper questions.

"If he was not directly responsible then we do contend that the prisoners lost their lives as a result of wilful or criminal negligence and the failure of the accused person to perform his duties as commander of the troops concerned."

The Chief Prosecutor disclosed* that Meyer denied in interrogations that he had any knowledge of these atrocities. However, several days later Meyer said he only discovered about the atrocities two days after the murders took place when they were reported to him by medical officers attached to his headquarters.

In proof of the first charge, that Meyer incited and counselled the troops under his command to deny quarter to Allied troops, Col. MacDonald said he would call three members of Meyer's favorite company, the 15th Reconnaissance Motorcycle Company, attached to his own headquarters.

He said they would say that during training, in which Meyer took a particular interest, Meyer said to them on more than one occasion: "My unit takes no prisoners" and "I don't care what other units do; my company here has taken no prisoners."

Another witness will testify that on June 6, while on the way to meet the invading Canadians, one company commander went from platoon to platoon telling the men they were not to take prisoners.

"To indicate these seeds did not fall upon barren ground but upon very, very fertile soil we have only to look at the loss of lives as detailed in the succeeding charges," Col. MacDonald continued. "The killings consisted of mass shootings in which as many as nine were killed at one time and of individual and very brutal killings of wounded soldiers in which it is believed that at least one officer participated."

A Polish soldier named Jesoinek who served with the 12th S.S. Division will be one star witness for the prosecution, Col. MacDonald indicated.

He will testify, the prosecutor said, regarding the shooting of 18 Canadian prisoners at Meyer's headquarters at the ancient Abbey of Ardenne.

The prosecution's main endeavor will be to fix upon Meyer responsibility for the murders. If they were committed either directly as a result of his orders or were done in obedience to his re*iterated instructions previous* to the invasion that no quarter be given, that prisoners not be taken or else be shot immediately after interrogation, the responsibility and hence the guilt must be his.

Obtaining evidence which it is hoped will convict Meyer has been the task of Col. MacDonald's unit for the last 15 months.

Col. MacDonald went on to the second charge involving the shooting of 23 prisoners in eight separate instances on the afternoon of June 7 at the villages of Buron and Authie, five miles North of Caen.

It was there that the North Nova Scotia Regiment and the Sherbrooke Fusiliers attacking towards Carpiquet airfield met the 12th S.S. and a terrific battle ensued.

"Urging Japan to Get Into the War in Spring of '41"

By WES GALLAGHER

NUERNBERG, Dec. 10 (AP) — German military leaders were urging Japan to get into the war in the Spring of 1941 but had no idea the Japanese might strike an opening blow at Pearl Harbor, according to a hitherto secret German Command order disclosed today at the Nuernberg war crimes trial.

American prosecutors laid before the four-power tribunal a directive signed March 5, 1941, by Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Chief of the High Command, proposing a Japanese attack on Singapore as a means of "forcing England to the ground quickly and thereby keeping the United States out of the war"

That Keitel was reluctant at that time to fight the United States was seen in his warning that Japanese attacks be extended to bases "of American naval power only if entry of the United States into the war cannot be prevented."

In a court session marked by the plea of innocence by Ernst Kaltenbrunner, once-dreaded No. 2 man in the Gestapo, American prosecutors turned to evidence of collaboration between Japan and Germany in spreading aggression throughout the world.

Kaltenbrunner was brought before the four-power tribunal and declared: "I do not believe that I have made myself guilty."

JOINED CO-DEFENDANTS

The scar-faced Gestapo man joined his co-defendants as the Hitlerite leaders heard themselves accused in their own words of launching the invasion of Soviet Russia in 1941 with the coldly calculated determination to starve the Russian people so that the Germans themselves might eat.

Hermann Goering and Alfred Rosenberg, official Nazi philosopher and head of the Party's Foreign Affairs Bureau, bore the brunt of the prosecution's attack at the opening of the fourth week of the trial.

ROSENBERG'S SPEECH

Disclosing the detailed German *plans to strip captured Russian ter*ritory of food, industries and raw materials, prosecutors introduced as evidence a speech made by Rosenberg June 22, 1941—two days before the invasion—in which the Nazi leader declared: "We see absolutely no reason for any obligation on our part to feed also the Russian people with products of that surplus territory."

Goering, according to official documents, was the director of the ruthless economic policy which called for "seizing raw materials and taking over all important concerns"—a policy described by Sidney S. Alderman, Assistant United States prosecutor, as "economic plunder."

Regarded as a "Great Military Leader"

By GEORGE TUCKER

(Copyright, 1945 By the Associated Press)

NUERNBERG, Dec. 10 (AP)—German Army Intelligence officers regarded Gen. Eisenhower as a "great military leader," above even German generals, because of his skillful military planning and his ability to "over-ride feelings and objections on political grounds in the interest of achiev*ing the one thing that was important*—the successful accomplishment of military operations."

The author of that statement is Maj.-Gen. Erwin Lahousen, star prosecution witness and German Army Intelligence Chief who evaluated the fighting qualities of various Allied Armies from the German viewpoint in an exclusive interview with the Associated Press.

General George S. Patton was looked on as the best and most feared of the United States field commanders by the Germans, Lahousen said.

He said that at the end of the war there was little difference, from a German viewpoint, in the British, United States or Russian Armies, but early in the war the Russians were better at exploiting break throughs and more daring in leadership compared with the British-American combination.

In evaluating the merits of the various armies, Lahousen, who handled or saw all German Intelligence records, had this to say:

RUSSIAN LEADERSHIP

"Russian leadership . . . had undergone a complete change since the last World War. In this war the exploitation of opportunity for success was marked. The Allies learned this exploitation of favorable opportunities toward the final phase of the war. The Russians had it right along. The Russians did not give us a chance to take a breather."

Turning to the efficiency of the various counter intelligence services, Lahousen rated the British authorities first, the Americans and Russians about equal, and the Germans a poor last.

He said it was extremely difficult to get agents into Russia because of counter intelligence measures, and into America because of the Atlantic Ocean.

"The Best Kept Secret of the War"

MONTREAL, Dec. 10 (CP)—Priorities for the repatriation of overseas wives of Canadian servicemen were today described as "the best kept secret of the war" by Mrs Ann Scott and her husband, Group Capt. G. Erle M. Scott. Mrs. Scott arrived in Halifax Friday aboard the S.S. Cavina with a party of 28 war brides and children and reached Montreal Saturday.

A former resident of Bournemouth, she said that she was kept waiting a full month on an hour-to-hour basis with her bags packed.

Finally, she added, she was called at two o'clock one afternoon and instructed to catch a train about five.

Mrs. Scott said she and her husband were mystified as to the system in force for the selection of Canadian servicemen's dependents for what few passages are available. From what she could learn, seven berths remained vacant on the Cavina immediately prior to sailing, and seven women were selected to fill them, purely on the basis of availability.

Want Guarantee Miners 1900 Hours Work Per Year

VANCOUVER, Dec. 10 (CP) — Guarantee of at least 1900 hours of work per year, or its wage equivalent, "sufficient to maintain an adequate standard of living," was advocated for metal miners in an 8-point program on wages adopted by delegates at the concluding session here today of the third annual convention of the B. C. District of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (C.I.O.).

The program, recommended to the convention in a report of the Wages and Policy Committee, calls for a minimum rate of $1.10 an hour for miners and "corresponding adjustments for all other workers" in the industry, a 40-hour week, overtime pay of time and a half, full pay for unworked statutory holidays or double pay if worked.

Also advocated are one week's vacation with pay for each worker with seniority of one year or more and less than two years, two weeks for two years or over and sick leave pay for up to two weeks each year.

Farmers Say Rice Riots Serious Threat; Demand Emperor Act

By RUSSEL BRINES

TOKYO, Dec. 10 (AP)—A warning from influential farmers that rice riots are inevitable without stronger government agrarian policies coincided today with Gen. MacArthur's second demand that Japan's feudal land system be altered immediately.

Fifteen farmer representatives from Akita Province in Northeastern Japan said muddled government policies have produced such lack of confidence that the rich Tohoku district may sell only 60 per cent of its rice crop to the Government.

Meanwhile, continuing his roundup of war criminal suspects, Gen. MacArthur directed the arrest of 57 Japanese accused of committing atrocities against United Nations nationals held in the ill-famed Cabanatuan prison camp in the Philippines, in prisons, camps and hospitals in Japan proper, and on the prisoner of war ship Oryoku Maru during the vessel's nightmarish voyage from the Philippines to Japan.

Also ordered arrested were three Japanese naval officers. Two of the trio are being court martialled by the Japanese.

The newest war criminal suspects included Lt.-Col. Banzo Mori, who commanded the Cabanatuan prison camp from 1942 to 1944, and Col. Gennosuke Noma, who directed Japanese gendarmerie in Hong Kong from December, 1942, to February, 1945.

Also named were a Lieutenant Toshino and a civilian interpreter known only as Wada, both were aboard the Oryoku Maru in January, 1945, when they were accused of atrocities.

Three Japanese named on previous war criminal suspect lists surrendered today at Sugamo prison. They were Gen. Jinzaburo Mazaki, once inspector general of military education; Nagakage Okabe, who was Education Minister in the cabinet of ex-Premier Hideki Tojo and Koichiro Ishigara, businessman.

The newest Allied land directive abolishes absentee land ownership and provides that millions of farmers may buy land on long terms at low rates.

The measure threatens a new crisis for Premier Kiujuro Shidehara's cabinet, which is on the verge of collapse. Gen. MacArthur's first demand last month for agrarian reform resulted in a lukewarm government measure now before a hesitant diet. Today's directive cracks the whip for prompt action on a reform which the landowners are opposing strongly.

Jimmy Ringrose Enters Nelson Aldermanic Race

J. W. RINGROSE

Veteran of two Great Wars and one of Fairview's greatest sport boosters for years, James W. (Jimmy) Ringrose, 802 Nelson Avenue, filed nomination papers for alderman in a surprise move just 15 minutes before nominations closed at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Entering the aldermanic field, Mr. Ringrose who returned to Nelson last August following his Army discharge, will make his bow on the municipal political scene.

Known as the "Father of the Fairview Athletic Club", Mr. Ringrose has played practically every popular sport and after retiring as an active participant, he became one of the most enthusiastic boosters, sponsors and arbiters in Nelson sporting circles. His favorite pursuit has been association with the city's youngsters and encouraging them in their early sport careers.

He stated Monday that he was convinced that one of the best ways to build good healthy citizens and reduce opportunities for the breeding of juvenile delinquency to an absolute minimum was by keeping the youth of the City active in organized sport during their spare time. He would like to see improvement of Nelson's facilities, particularly in the nature of playing fields for softball, baseball and football. This would include completion of the Fairview playground, in its present condition an "eye-sore".

Mr. Ringrose can be seen every Saturday morning and often on other days of the week with a whistle in his mouth officiating at the kid hockey games.

He has played in senior company in such sports as lacrosse, baseball and football, and is an ardent fisherman.

He served for two years with the Canadian Army in First Great War, 18 months of which were overseas, and during the recent world conflict he was overseas for four years and in the Army for 4½ years.

AUSTRALIA FINDS IT MUST WORK HARD STILL FOR NEW ERA

By J. E. HOLDSWORTH
Canadian Press Correspondent

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 11 (CP Cable)—Australians during the last month began to feel the pangs of war's hangover. They found that the end of the war still meant hardships, rationing, high taxes and long working hours. They found, too, that the hangover involved an increase in crime and a decrease in industrial stability.

LOOKED FOR NEW ERA

Many had thought that the end of the war would mean a new era of prosperity. When few signs of prosperity and more signs of continued hardship appeared, some took exception to it in violence.

Violence rose to record heights throughout the Commonwealth. In Sydney, Australia's biggest city with a population of 1,250,000, nearly 40 violent crimes were reported during November.

Sydney police said they were short-staffed and called for 1000 men to join the force. The New South Wales Justice Department said it was considering stiffer legal penalties for violent crimes and for carrying of arms.

Industrially the scene also was uneasy. Every state and every capital city saw instances of what some newspapers termed "industrial lawlessness." In Sydney, Brisbane and Adelaide workers had to walk or hitch-hike their way to work because of periodic strikes affecting bus and street car services. In New South Wales there were strikes of metal-workers, coal miners and printers, tieing up not only their own industries but associated industries in other states.

On matters affecting them more personally Australians had both shocks and pleasant surprises.

Hats, footwear and some woollen goods came off the clothes ration list but this move was followed by a warning that clothes rationing would last at least until the end of 1946.

Distribution of spirits no longer is controlled with the result that whisky and gin can be bought. But there is an acute shortage of beer due to a poor barley harvest. The Government had to buy barley overseas, including 10,000 tons from Canada. Even with these imports the beer shortage is expected to continue.

One announcement, however, brought brightness. This was the removal of all restrictions on lighting by the Commonwealth Government. Colored advertising and display signs went on again in the streets, bringing a pre-war feeling of prosperity.

STATE COLLECTS

When Canadians first came to Australia, they are always surprised by the extent of gambling here, both on race horses and on racing greyhounds. They are even more astonished by the big lotteries run by the State Governments in four of Australia's six states.

Taxation of both the lotteries and the bookmakers, who are state-licenced, bring in large sums of money. A report for New South Wales, the largest Australian State where 2,750,000 of Australia's total population of 7,000,000 live, shows that State revenue from racing and state lotteries brought in the record sum of £621,000 ($2,763,450) for the year ending last June.

Richards Elected Commissioner in First Venture

Making his debut in Nelson public life, A. T. Richards, C.P.R. baggage master, was elected Monday by acclamation to a two-year term on the Police Commission.

Another Police Commissioner seat, for a one-year term, was filled by Herbert Harrop, also by acclamation.

Mr. Richards has been a resident of Nelson since 1917, coming here from Vancouver. He lives at 406 Observatory Street with his wife.

One of his favorite means of recreation has been lawn bowling, and he held the position of Secretary-Treasurer of the C.P.R. Lawn Bowling Club for a considerable period.

In many recent labor disputes, unions and management have presented their case to the public in newspaper display advertisements; both know that the columns of daily newspapers are open to all points of view, thanks to our Canadian tradition of freedom of the press.

Saskatchewan Not to Renew Private Bus Line Licenses

REGINA, Dec. 10 (CP)—Highways Minister J. T. Douglas said today a majority of the private bus line licenses enabling them to operate within Saskatchewan will not be renewed when they expire April 1.

Mr. Douglass announced earlier that privately-owned bus lines will be allowed to continue operating in Saskatchewan only if their routes do not conflict with the areas served by the Government-owned network which is to be set up. Eleven private lines now are operating in the province.

Nelson on Eve of Prosperity Says C. Moore

"Nelson is on the eve of great properity", Charles Moore, district old-timer and guest speaker told an audience at the Rotary luncheon at the Hume, Monday. He prophesied that the population of the city would be doubled in 10 years time.

Mr. Moore, who is at present Assistant City Engineer in Nelson, told of his experiences when he came into the Slocan 54 years ago. He reminisced on his pioneering days, and the surveying he had done in the Kootenays, and told many humorous anecdotes of life in those days.

When he, in company with some other students, left Victoria and came to Nelson in April 1892, Mr. Moore said Nelson was at the transition period from the log house to the frame building, and had a population of something like 2500. They camped somewhere near where the City Hall is at present, and the Silver King mine, and two or three others adjoining it, were some of their surveys here.

NEW DENVER TOWNSITE

Travelling from Nelson to Slocan they had 17 pack animals, at Slocan they had three boats ordered to take them further in that direction. They laid out a townsite at New Denver, and then went on from there to Nakusp and Silverton.

"The country was beautiful in those days," Mr. Moore enthused. "The hills were filled with game, and the rivers were filled with fish."

He told of surveying mines in the Slocan District including the Slocan King, and he mentioned seeing the Galena Boulder. This, he said, was five feet high and six feet in diameter, and looked as though it had come down the mountain in a slide.. It was later cut in sections, and one of these was exhibited at the World's Fair in 1935.

Survey work in those days, Mr. Moore said, was rather primitive. They worked with a link chain 66 feet long, whereas now a chain 300 feet long is used.

Like other places around New Denver was booming then, and the trail was converted into a wagon road, and then into a highway. Most of the towns around had trail roads, Mr. Moore said. Latterly a wagon road was built from Sandon to Three Forks, and then to Kaslo.

RAILROAD SURVEY

Mr. Moore said he helped make the survey for the railroad between Kaslo and Slocan, and they had to race with the Canadian Pacific Railway who were coming in from Nakusp.

Speaking of the changes that had been made, Mr. Moore mentioned that many travelling men had enjoyed the trip from Kootenay Landing to Nelson on the Nasookin.

He spoke of the time the Bluebell Mine and the Albion Mine at Ainsworth were in operation and said the Bluebell was practically all under water today.

He said he was present at what was probably the first hockey game in the Kootenays. This was between Kaslo and Sandon in 1897. He said they often had wonderful games, and they brought in a good deal of money.

Foresee Million Idle by Year's End Unless Aussie Strikes End

By J. D. HOLDSWORTH
Canadian Press Correspondent

SYDNEY, Austrlia, Dec. 10 (CP Cable)—The crippling strikes in the coal, steel and shipping industries of New South Wales today affected Tasmania as well as mainland states of the Commonwealth and threatened to affect New Zealand.

The island Dominion would be hit because it is largely dependent upon Australia for iron and steel supplies.

The number made idle by the strikes was rising daily. Some sources predicted that unless the strikes were ended, 1,000,000 workers in Australia and New Zealand will be idle or facing dismissal by the end of December.

Within Australia it is predicted that nearly 680,000 will be idle by the end of this week because of the strikes and the resulting drastic rationing of gas and eletcricity. It is estimated 550,000 will be jobless in New South Wales by Tuesday night; 70,000 metal workers in Melbourne will be idle by Dec. 14; and 80,000 will be idle in Adelaide by the weekend.

WILL COST $16,200,000 BY WEEK'S END

The strikes will cost New South Wales employers and workers £4,500,000 (about $16,200,000) in loss of production and wages by the end of the week. Nearly 30,000 already have applied for Federal Unemployment Relief in Sydney alone.

Tasmania also is feeling the effects of the strikes. Because of the walkout of coastal shipping seamen she is unable to obtain her full complement of supplies from the mainland.

Only 36,000 men in the three industries are actually on strike. The walkouts stemmed from a dispute at the Broken Hill Proprietary, New South Wales steel plant, over a change of job for an employee. Other steel men quit and then coal miners and seamen also went off the job, partly in sympathy and also because they demanded wage increases and a 40-hour week.

Drastic new cuts in Sydney's gas and electricity supplies left Australia's largest city in almost complete darkness. Each householder now is able to prepare only one hot meal every 24 hours and is allowed to use only one electric light at a time. This light must be out by 9 p.m. One meagre comfort was that it now is Summer in Australia.

Tells of B.C.'s Encouragement to Prospectors

Northwest Mining Association convention in Spokane last week, the largest in the history of the association, was impressed by British Columbia's program to aid prospectors and encourage the finding of new mines.

An outline of British Columbia's efforts in this direction was given the convention by A. E. Jukes of Vancouver, President of the British Columbia Chamber of Mines, who spoke of the $300 grubstake grants provided by the Provincial government for 100 prospectors and in the courses in mining and metallurgy which are being held for nearly 150 returned men in Vancouver, of whom it is expected about 70 will be out prospecting next Summer in British Columbia's mining area.

Mr. Jukes reached Nelson last night via Sheep Creek and will leave for the Coast this morning.

EXTEND INVITATION FOR MEET OF EMPIRE LABOR PARTIES IN CANADA

OTTAWA, Dec. 10 (CP)—An invitation has been extended by the CCF for a conference of British Commonwealth Labor parties to be held in Canada next year, it was announced today. The first such conference was held in London in September, 1944.

"The CCF executive has invited the conference to Canada to be held in the month of September and we have reason to believe that the invitation will be accepted," David Lewis, CCF National Secretary, said today in a statement outlining a week end meeting of the executive.

"The parties which are certain to be represented are the British, Australian, New Zealand and South African Labor parties and the CCF of Canada. Discussions are proceeding with regard to extending the invitations to India and other parts of the Empire. In the meantime our executive has begun to lay plans for the conference in the hope that we shall be the hosts."

At the weekend meeting M. J. Coldwell, National CCF Leader, was quoted as reporting: "The failure of the Government and industry to meet the housing and employment needs of Canada is due to reliance on monopoly enterprise."

Dorksen Is Fined $10 for Lack of Driver's License

Pleading guilty to a charge of not possessing a driver's license, David Dorksen, Nelson City truck driver, was fined $10 by Magistrate William Brown in City Police Court Monday morning.

The charge arose out of a collision near the corner of Ward and Baker Streets, when Dorksen backed a truck into a truck owned by Williams Transfer, damaging the latter's radiator grill.

Sergeant R. R. House of the City Police laid the information.

AWARDED RHODES SCHOLARSHIP

EDMONTON, De c. 10 (CP) — John Dougan, 24, of Lethbridge and Edmonton, who left his studies of history at the University of Alberta to enlist, has been awarded a Rhodes Scholarship, it was announced here today by Ronald Martland, Secretary of the committee.

Dougan, who became a major in the Royal Edmonton Regiment, won the Military Cross twice. He was awarded the $2000 a year scholarship which entitles him to three years study at Oxford when the Scholarships Committee met here Saturday.

He intends to return to Britain as soon as possible to resume study of modern history.

The committee also recommended another veteran for the Rhodes Scholarship for ex-servicemen, of which five will be awarded this year. However, Secretary Martland did not give the other Alberta candidate's name, saying it had to go to Ottawa with those from other provinces, where the selections would be made.

The Coming Changes in Old Age Pensions

Progress is being made on the right lines in bringing about changes in Canada's Old Age Pensions laws.

There are differences of opinion as to age at which pensions should become effective, and the amount to be paid, but there seems to be agreement upon two essential basic principles—one is that they should be contributory for amounts over and above a minimum to be paid by the state, and that they should be paid without regard for the means of the recipient.

Under the contributory principle, pensions can be paid on a higher scale than if solely a state matter, and it should be possible to work out a system under which those who desire to provide for themselves a pension in excess of the basic minimum plus the extra amount produced by the minimum contributory assessment should be able to do so by increasing their contributions to any degree they please. If, for example, the state allowance is $35 a month and the contributory allowance $15, a total of $50 a month, there should be nothing to prevent an individual who so desires from contributing sufficient additional to earn for himself a Pension of say $100 a month.

The means test, though justified when the present out-of-date Old Age Pensions plan was established, causes endless difficulties and is unfair both to those who receive pensions and those who by their own efforts and fortune have been able to save sufficient to provide themselves with some income. Under the new plan the pension will go to all, whether possessing some means or not.

Care for Victims of Jap Cruelties

Flying doctors took appetite-producing drugs to thousands of Allied prisoners and internees in Burma, Malaya, French Indo-China, Siam, Java, Sumatra and Hong Kong. After their long captivity many of the prisoners were suffering from malnutrition, and the digestions of others was greatly impaired by bad feeding. To begin with, some had to be bottle-fed with mashed foods like babies.

Large supplies of the "appetite" drug were carried by the medical rescue teams who parachuted into prison camps. More than 50 teams of doctors and orderlies were dropped. For urgent and special cases were psychiatrists and surgical squads ready to be dropped by parachute wherever they were needed.

The teams consisted of surgeons, anaesthetists, operating theatre assistants and orderlies, and sufficient equipment for each team to operate on 50 cases. More than 225,500 pounds of medical stores, including plasma-giving sets, were parachuted in the first instalment — each medical pack weighed 140 pounds and was sufficient for treating over 500 persons for seven days. Large stocks of mepacrine and quinine were also prepared, for it was known that Japanese malaria precautions, even when they existed, were inadequate.

Special hospitals and hospital ships were also used. Hospitals have been established in liberated areas and Red Cross and welfare workers with tons of such comforts as books, gramophones and sweets augmented the medical and nursing staffs.

This operation had no precedent. Its organizers had nothing on which to base their plans but pre-war health reports from the countries concerned, and the stories of escaped prisoners. Working on the assumption that the rescue teams would find the worst possible conditions, they were prepared for all emergencies. Events proved that the fears were well founded.

Believes Canadian Flag Should Not Suggest Any Colonial Dependency Idea

To the Editor:

Sir:—Is it because Canada has so recently become a nation that so few Canadians seem able to say what they think without first protesting that they are "loyal"? That a Canadian should think as a Canadian would be taken for granted, seems to me. That a Canadian should apologize, as it were, for having done so well would seem of all things unnecessary. There is surely a great deal of the ridiculous in a citizen of a country apologizing for thinking as such a citizen would naturally think, and that he should feel compelled to apologize for doing so surely indicates an unhealthy state of national feeling in his country.

In spite of those remarks, Mr. Editor, since I am going to think as a Canadian, perhaps I should establish my own "loyalty"? My mother's father was born in Lancashire; my mother was born in London. My father's people are, or were, some sort of English gentry who proudly trace their ancestry back to one of those companions of William the Conqueror who despoiled and ravaged Saxon England much as Hitler's hordes have just ravaged and despoiled Europe. I served overseas in the 1914-18 war and my two boys served in this last one. Surely, with this background, I can say what I have to say, as a Canadian-born citizen of Canada, without my "loyalty" being questioned?

But since Canada's "loyalty" seems to enter into this matter too, maybe something had better be said about it? In my lifetime, not yet a long one, Canada has taken part in three wars, two of them world wars, with the rest of the British Empire and the British Com*monwealth of Nations, and I have seen the* fervor with which my fellow-Canadians welcomed Canada's King and Queen. May Canada's "loyalty" then, also be taken as established?

Now, Mr. Editor, having settled those matters satisfactorily, even if unnecessarily, may I proceed to say a few things about Canada's proposed "distinctively Canadian" flag?

No country except Great Britain, its colonies and dependencies, can rightly fly Great Britain's flag, the Union Jack, officially. Should Canada fly the Union Jack officially, she would thereby proclaim herself a colony, a dependency of Great Britain's. Similarly, if Canada's Parliament adopts for Canada's "distinctively Canadian" flag any design in which Great Britain's flag, the Union Jack, is given the position of supreme honor in the upper left hand corner nearest the flagstaff, Canada's Parliament in doing so asserts that Canada is not a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations equal in status with all other members of that Commonwealth, for the placing of the Union Jack in that position on a flag denotes that such a flag is that of a colony or dependency of Great Britain's.

And what use, Mr. Editor, of the Mother of Parliaments passing a Statute of Westminster conferring upon Canada an equality of status with Great Britain herself and with other self-governing Dominions within the world-wide Commonwealth of Nations if, in choosing our Canadian flag, Canada's own Parliament slaps down on that equality of status, rejects it utterly and flouts it, if our Parliament says instead, speaking in our name and for us, that we prefer still the status of a dependency, a colony?

That is one basic objection to the position taken so uncompromisingly by the Progressive-Conservative party. The red ensign cannot possibly be a fitting flag for Canada since the position of the Union Jack in it denotes dependency upon Great Britain, not that equality with her which the Statute of Westminster conferred.

Other suggested designs run up against the same objection. One may wonder, mildly, if one wishes, when The Great Dipper became "distinctly Canadian", but the design proposed by the leader of the CCF has the same basic fault the red ensign has: if Canadians regard Canada as a nation equal with all other members of the British Commonwealth, they can accept no flag for their national flag which proclaims Canada's dependency upon any one of those other nations. That dependency is both affirmed and accepted if in our "distinctively Canadian" flag the Union Jack is given the position of supreme honor where both these designs place it.

Are we Canadians afraid to be Canadians? Do we think of our country as still a colony, a dependency? If we do, it maybe doesn't matter much what kind of flag we have, or if we have a flag at all. Having a flag won't make us a nation if we don't want to be one.

But if we do think of Canada as a nation, and since we have the Statute of Westminster to say she is a nation if we want her to be one, then, if we are to have a flag let us have a flag which says she is one. But, for heaven's sake, if we think Canada is a nation, why should we let our Parliament give us a flag which says she isn't?

But can we find for our flag a design which satisfies all other requirements and still affirms that "loyalty" which always seems so greatly a matter of doubt? Why not use the colors of Canada's King, purple and gold? A large golden maple leaf on a field of royal purple? This would give us a flag of truly royal beauty and one unique in color among the flags of all the world; its use of our King's colors should settle the seemingly ticklish point of our "loyalty", while the maple leaf would mark it as "distinctively Canadian" since the maple leaf (much more so than the Great Dipper) is accepted as Canada's emblem in all her nine Provinces and is already recognized as standing for Canada pretty well the whole world over.

The adoption of such a flag need not prevent any Canadian from still flying the Union Jack. As a nation we would have our national flag, which, as a nation, we are entitled to have. As individual citizens of that nation we could still, with full propriety, fly the flag of Great Britain beside our own and give it equal honor with ours. It may even be possible that the Union Jack would be flown more freely then than it is now, for none of us would need feel then as some of us may feel now, that in so honoring Great Britain we were at the same time belittling our own Canadian nationality

The Citizenship Bill has been laid over till next session. It would be most fitting if the new flag and the new citizenship could both be celebrated on the same day in public gatherings, the new flag then first flown and the new citizenship then first declared effective. And if a special national holiday were not declared, perhaps the most fitting day of all might be Dominion Day, July first.

COMBINED PRODUCTION, RAW MATERIALS BOARD DISSOLVED

OTTAWA, Dec. 10 (CP)—Dissolution of the Combined Production and Resources Board and the Combined Raw Materials Board, effective Dec. 31, was announced today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

BOARD TO CONTINUE UNTIL JUNE 30

Mr. King's statement was issued simultaneously with announcements by Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman. The Combined Food Board will continue probably until June 30, 1946, and special Committees under the Boards being dissolved may remain in being for a time to deal with short supplies.

The continuation of some Committees was considered necessary to handle goods which were in global short supply. For cotton, textiles, tin, rubber and hides and leather it was proposed that the Committees set up under the Board to deal with those commodities should continue.

"It is also proposed that in all cases representation on the Committees should be on an appropriate international basis having regard to their independent status following the dissolution of the Boards," the statement said.

"It has been concluded that conditions do not yet permit the dissolution of the Combined Food Board. Because many foodstuffs are still in world short supply and because of their close inter-relationship, it is believed desirable to retain the Board as a supervisory and coordinating mechanism."

The three Boards concerned all had headquarters in Washington. Munitions Minister Howe has represented Canada on the Production and Materials Committees with G. C. Bateman as his Deputy. Agriculture Minister Gardiner is the Canadian member of the Food Board with Dr. G. S. H. Barton, Deputy Minister, as his alternate.

Justice Minister St. Laurent . . .

May Lead Canadian Delegation to the United Nations Assembly

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 10 (CP Cable)—Justice Minister St. Laurent, who has acted as Secretary for External Affairs when Prime Minister Mackenzie King was away from Ottawa, may lead the Canadian delegation to the United Nations Assembly meeting here in January.

The Preparatory Commission of U.N.O. now is in session with Dana Wilgress, Ambassador to Moscow, as chief Canadian delegate. The Commission is expected to complete its work about Dec. 20 and most of the Canadian delegation probably will return home for Christmas by air. The Assembly may meet Jan. 7.

Most countries are expected to have representatives at the Assembly with the status of Foreign Ministers. Prime Minister King, who is also Secretary for External Affairs, spent several weeks in the United Kingdom recently and there is no indication at present that he intends returning in January.

French and English are the working languages of the United Nations meetings and bi-lingualism is an advantage possessed by Mr. St. Laurent. Paul Martin, Dominion Secretary of State, also bi-lingual and a student of Foreign Affairs, is another possible Canadian delegate.

The staff of advisers which attended the Preparatory Commission's Executive Committee meetings as well as regular sessions, is expected to remain here to aid in Assembly discussions.

Communist Leaders Assail . . .

U.S. Policy as "Mistakenly Imperialistic"

By JOHN RODERICK

YENAN, Dec. 10 (AP)—Gen. Peng Teh-Huei, Vice Commander in-Chief of the Chinese Communist Armies, said Saturday the Communists "definitely oppose" any country obtaining a sphere of influence in any part of China.

Peng said he recognized there were elements and individuals in the United States—such as Patrick Hurley, recently resigned Ambassador to China, former President Herbert Hoover and Senator Arthur Vandenberg — who feared Chinese Communists would affiliate with Stalinist Russia. Peng asserted that their grounds for such an assumption "never have been made clear."

"The position of the Chinese Communists remains still for a free, independent and Democratic China," he told newspapermen.

"Regard the question objectively and you will find that the Soviet Union does not want a sphere of influence in Manchuria. This she stated in the Sino-Soviet Pact. However, there is a growing suspicion among the Chinese people that the policy represented by Hurley and Lt.-Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer in China is mistakenly Imperialist. We hope this is only a suspicion, not a reality."

(Gen. Wedemeyer, Commanding United States Forces in China, has been accused by the Communists of being partisan to the Central Government.)

WAITING FOR GEORGE MARSHALL

Peng said the Communists anxiously awaited the arrival of Gen. George C. Marshall, recently named to succeed Gen. Hurley. They want to learn his policy regarding disarming of Japanese and to mark time until "peace talks" get under way in Chungking before making any belligerent moves against Peiping and Tatung where, they claim many Japanese remain under arms.

"Wherever Japanese and puppets remain armed in China, we are determined to annihilate them," he stated.

Leafs Play Again at Trail Tonight

Ahead in the young Kootenay senior hockey race by the thin margin of one game, Nelson Maple Leafs take to the road again tonight to play Trail Smoke Eaters on Trail ice. This will be Trail's second home game, both against Nelson.

An interesting sidelight of the three games to date, is that the losing team, in each case the visitors, has scored two goals in each game, and each time the margin of victory has become less. Nelson opened the League with an 8-2 win at home, then lost 6-2 at Trail. Last Saturday the Leafs went ahead again with a narrow 3-2 victory.

This will be the first of three games the Maple Leafs will play on the road before they return to the Civic Arena. This weekend they will clash with Kimberley Dynamiters in two games Saturday and Monday. Nelson's next home game is Dec. 22, with Kimberley the opposition.

Both Nelson and Trail are expected to use the same lineups tonight as on Saturday. They will be:

Nelson—Seaby, goal; Barefoot, Krizan, Tatchell and Smith, defence; Vickers, Cook and Arichuk, Kilpatrick, Fargher and Jenkins, and Winlaw, forwards.

Trail—Waddell, goal; Anderson, Crowder, Barnes and Luke, defence; Cronie, Buckna and Marshall, Menzies, Nicol and Kwong, Kwasnie and Bilesky, forwards.

BRANDON, Man., Dec. 10 (CP)—Harry Mummery, 56, one of the best-known defencemen in Canadian hockey, died here last night. PHILLIES GET McCORMICK

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (AP)—Baseball's major leagues, after hours of discussion late today, delayed until Wednesday a decision on the Pacific Coast League's plea to become a major loop, and, away from their meeting room, completed the first important player deal of the Winter gathering.

This ivory transaction saw Frank (Buck) McCormick, first-base slugger, sold by Cincinnati Reds to Philadelphia Phillies for an estimated $30,000 and one player to be named later.

Charles Kinney Gets 12 Years In Penitentiary

VICTORIA, Dec. 10 (CP)—Charles Kinney, who will be 18 years old this month, was sentenced today to 12 years in penitentiary for the slaying of 18-year-old Phyllis Stroud, a school class-mate.

The girl, partially clad, was found dead in the house jointly occupied by the Kinney and Stroud families. She had been suffocated apparently by pushing her face against a pillow. The girl's body was found in a sawdust bin 12 days after she was murdered on VJ-Night.

On the witness stand, Kinney admitted the killing but pleaded he did not intend to do any harm. He said he and the girl had an argument. He slapped her face. Hearing her father, sister and uncle entering the house, he pushed her face-down on the pillow to smother her screams, the boy said.

When he released her, he saw she was dead and in a panic he buried the body in the sawdust, Kinney testified.

F.A.C. Bantams Bury Panthers

Fairview Athletic Club Bantams won their third straight game in as many starts when they buried the Panther Bantams 10-1 in a league game at the Civic Arena Monday afternoon.

Raymond Poulin in the Panther net had a busy time of it, and he worked hard to hold down the score as low as it was. Fairview's second string got their first points of the season, with Ron Ogenski getting his first goal, and Joe Sturgeon his first assist. Jimmy Todd again led his fast skating teammates to victory with six goals and two assists, Rod Carmichael got one goal and three assists, Ron Brown one goal, and Brian Johnston one goal and two assists, to complete the scoring for the winners. Pete Staff scored the lone Panther marker on a pass-out from Gilbert Choquette. There were no penalties, the game being clean throughout.

Teams were:

F.A.C.—Koehle, goal; Todd, Brown, R. Carmichael, W. Carmichael, K. Cooper, B. Johnston, Ogenski, Davis Sturgeon, Brummitt, Langridge.

Panthers—R. Poulin, goal; Ackert, Bialkowski, R. Sanders, G. Sanders, Kuntz, Choquette, V. Grundy, P. Poulin.

Referees were Jack Todd and Al MacDonald; Timekeeper, Norm Hyssop; Scorer, Ted Cooper.

Bottle-Swinging Referee Pay $235 Damages

VANCOUVER, Dec. 10 (CP) — Stopping a quarrel between husband and wife by hitting the husband with a beer bottle is too drastic to be legal, Judge Bruce Boyd commented today, particularly when the blow was so hard the bottle broke. He ordered Benjamin Fleck, foundryman, to pay John Dydsak $235 damages for assault injuries.

Dydsak, also a foundryman, sued Fleck for $665 compensation for facial injuries caused by a beer bottle wielded by Fleck when Mr. and Mrs. Dydsak were having a dispute near a dance hall last June 16.

Market Trends . . .

NEW YORK—Led by steels and industrial specialties, the stock market hit another 13-year average peak although there was sufficient profit cashing to stall many pivotals.

CHICAGO—Grain futures prices continued their upward trend most of the time in light trading on a good early demand for oats as a substitute feed grain for corn and export buying but late trading was nervous and some of the gains were lost.

Rye, which scored advances of as much as 1¾ cents at times, also reacted with the downturn in oats.

Traders noted a report that the U.S. visible supply of wheat has dropped 9,685,000 bushels. Corn increased 405,000 bushels and rye increased 296,000 bushels.

Wheat closed unchanged to ¼ higher, corn unchanged at 1.18½ ceilings, oats unchanged to ¾ higher, rye unchanged to 1⅜ higher, barley unchanged to ½ higher.

MONTREAL — Industrials and banks went to new tops in the indices in trading on the stock exchange and curb market. Papers and utilities were better as groups on average.

TORONTO — Strong issues outnumbered weak ones in the exchange market and all four groups had index gains at the close. Volume crowded the 2,000,000-share mark.

VANCOUVER — While trading was slow on the stock exchange, mines were registering steady gains on the whole. Sales amounted to 63,330 shares.

LONDON—Early activity on the stock market dwindled in late dealings and fractional losses were recorded for many leaders. Political considerations seemed the main deterring factor.

WINNIPEG—Rye futures prices on the grain exchange held to a comparatively narrow range in a moderately active session. Values scored small gains in early trading but lost them as the session proceeded. Modest buying by commission houses and locals found offerings light in the initial stages but some local selling appeared during the last hour and values receded. Chicago prices also influenced the local market.

At the close prices were 1⅛-⅛ lower with Dec. $1.76⅝; May $1.76¼ and July $1.66¾.

C.P.R. Orders Forty Steam Locomotives

MONTREAL, Dec. 10 — Forty steam locomotives of the "1200" class, designed for general utility work in freight and passenger service, have been ordered for the Canadian Pacific Railway, it was announced here today by W. M. Neal, C.B.E., the Vice-President of the C.P.R.

Twenty of the new locomotives will be built by the Montreal Locomotive Works, and the remainder by the Canadian Locomotive Company at Kingston, Ontario. The announcement said all are for 1946 delivery, and will be divided equally between Eastern and Western Lines.

Built to specifications developed from two engines which the C.P.R. designed and built at its own Angus Shops here in 1944 and since improved, the new locomotives are part of the program to replace older motive power.

Flame-hardening process used extensively during the war in heavy tank construction will be used on certain parts of the new engines which have frames of rolled instead of cast steel.

Gen. Patton Lies Paralyzed, Condition Fair

MANNHEIM, Dec. 10 (AP)—Gen. George S. Patton lay partially paralized today in Heidelberg Hospital as prominent nerve specialists were summoned from Britain and the United States to treat spinal injuries which he received in an automobile accident yesterday.

SPENT COMFORTABLE NIGHT

An Army medical bulletin said Gen. Patton's condition was satisfactory, that he was completely rational and had spent a comfortable night but declined to forecast the probable course of a paralysis of the lower limbs resulting from a fracture of the third cervical vertebrae.

Hurrying to his side by Trans-Atlantic plane were his wife and a neuro-surgery specialist, Col. R. G. Spurling of Louisville, Ky. Already at the hospital were Maj. Gen. A. W. Kenner, theatre surgeon, and Prof. Hugh Carnes, a British specialist who had been flown from Britain at the request of Mrs. Patton.

An official army bulletin issued at the hospital said the General had passed a restful night sleeping five hours.

Peggy Ann Garner in "JUNIOR MISS"

During a typical pre-war year, advertisers in Canada and the United States spent well over one and a half billion dollars to sell their products—and they reaped in sales more than fifty times what they spent on advertising!

As early as 1768, an anonymous English writer who wrote brilliant articles and satires under the pen name of Junius said that "the liberty of the press is the palladium of all the civil, political and religious rights of an Englishman."

Tried and True Mayors Should Be Re-elected

The capital city of Canada, Ottawa, has elected its present Mayor, Stanley Lewis, for 11 years.

Elected by a large margin, Mr. Lewis has been given another demonstration of the fact that the voters desire to retain in office a man who has given excellent service. There were similar endorsements of mayors of long service in Hamilton, Winnipeg and St. Boniface. Mayor Clark has served Trail well for many years.

Throughout the Dominion the tendency is to keep in municipal office men who have proven satisfactory and not to experiment with untried material in this respect. Calgary's Mayor Davison has been in office for 15 years and is now retiring only because of ill health. He has made a thorough study of municipal problems and finances, and during his regime the financial position of the City of Calgary has been greatly improved.

The Mayoralty is not an empty honor, but a job which demands skill and training, and a position where experience counts, as the Ottawa Journal observed the other day. The important thing from the viewpoint of the community is to get the best possible man to head the Government, and it should not be counted against a man but rather in his favor that the public repeatedly have shown confidence in him, and that he has justified their confidence.

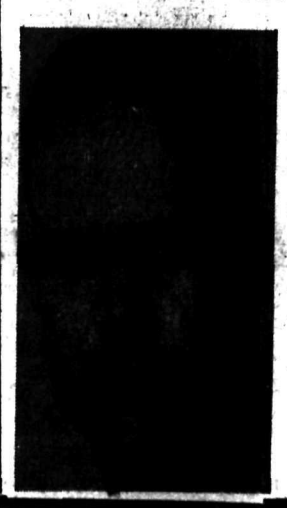
Candidate for Alderman



In offering myself as ca didate for Alderman wish to state that if ele ted I will work towards sound, progressive, ec nomic civic administr tion.

Re-elect STIBBS for MAYOR

Ratepayers are endorsing Mayor Stibbs' program for efficiency, lower taxes, full civic cooperation with all community organizations, continuation of the program of permanent street work, improved recreational facilities, power development, better housing, waterfront improvements, expansion of our civic transportation system, a better deal on sewer construction charges for Fairview and discontinuation of the poll tax.

and in fact
A FAIR DEAL for ALL CITIZENS

Mayor Stibbs, as President of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, is taking a leading part in the fight to get restored $4,704,417 in grants which were discontinued by the Provincial Government in 1933. Progress is being made. H. Carl Goldenberg, considered an outstanding authority on municipal affairs in Canada, has been secured by the Provincial Government to inquire into provincial-municipal relationship, especially into inequalities in financial relationships, claims by municipalities for larger shares in motor vehicle and liquor profits, taxation of crown property and distribution of social service costs and responsibilities, and other related questions. "The appointment has been made with the concurrence of Mayor N. C. Stibbs, Nelson, President of the Union of B.C. Municipalities", says a dispatch from Victoria in the Vancouver Province.

I am not running on a platform of promises that may not be fulfilled. Everyone knows my record of civic accomplishments in the past eight years. This is no time to change when every business man is called upon to give such close attention to his own business.

I solicit your support at the polls Thursday.

Sincerely,
NORMAN C. STIBBS.
