BOOST MEAT RATIONS SLIGHTLY

Seeks Federal Action End Strike

By The Canadian Press

With indications the two-weeks holiday of 9000 Western Canada miners would end this week, Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta Wednesday urged immediate action by Federal authorities to end the walkout which he declared has "precipitated an extremely serious situation" and which "borders on the criminal." Coal company officials and dealers also painted a somewhat gloomy picture for coal-short householders.

The Premier released a telegram he sent to acting Prime Minister Isley asking the Dominion Government to take "whatever immediate action is necessary" to break the deadlock and warned that unless the strike is "terminated immediately it will make inevitable unprecedented suffering and hardship through a coal shortage this Winter."

Mr. Manning said the "imperative necessity and responsibility to provide coal supersedes all other considerations involved in this stoppage of production which under the circumstances borders on the criminal."

HEAVY WAGE LOSES

Edmonton coal dealers, "swamped" with orders since the miners walked out in protest against meat rationing, said it would take at least a week after settlement of the strike to start deliveries to homes. One dealer has 1200 orders on file from private individuals and about 100 carload orders totalling 4400 tons.

"We were three weeks behind on our orders before the strike started," he said. "Now we won't get all our carload orders out at all this Winter. We've lost about 6000 tons by the strike and to make any headway we must get more men in the mines.

"Hospitals and public buildings will get first call on piled-up orders and private individuals are next in line," he added.

Dealers in other Western cities face similar situations.

Meanwhile, the walkout is proving costly to the men with estimates ranging between $750,000 and $1,000,000 lost in wages.

MEETINGS TODAY

A series of sub-district meetings of miners, members of the United Mine Workers of America (CCL) will be held Thursday to consider recommendations of the union executive that they end the holiday. A meeting of 300 Edmonton district miners involved in the strike was held Wednesday but no action was taken.

Peter Collins, secretary of the U.M.W.A. for the Edmonton district who spoke to the men behind closed doors, said another meeting would be held Thursday. He refused to comment further.

NATAL, B. C., Oct. 10 — Special meeting of Michel local is planned for Thursday at 4 p.m. to hear Board member Weaver's report on meat rationing question held at Calgary by District 18. Fernie local is to hold a similar special meeting tomorrow.

Immigrants Ambush Police; Troops Called

JERUSALEM, Oct. 10 (CP)—A British constable was reported killed and an Arab and a Jewish policeman wounded today when police were ambushed in the hills near Haifa by 200 Jewish illegal immigrants who had escaped from a detention camp.

Following the attack several thousand British reinforcements were landed tonight from the liner Duchess of Bedford, reports from Haifa said.

FREE BOYS

The attack occurred after the police had seized eight Jewish boys, reported to have been among the fugitives. The attackers, armed only with sticks, freed the boys and took them to a nearby Jewish settlement.

The police took up posts nearby and sent for troops, but made no immediate attempt to recapture the fugitives.

A number of Jewish workers left their jobs in Haifa factories during the day and were reported to be on their way to assist the fugitives.

The immigrants, all survivors of European concentration camps had been detained at the Athlith clearance camp South of Haifa for entering Palestine without authorization.

Sympathy Strikeks in Other Motor Plants Under Consideration

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 10 (CP)—A general strike involving more than 20,000 workers in the automotive and allied industries in Windsor area was under consideration tonight at a meeting of the joint policy committee of the three Windsor locals of the United Automobile Workers of America (CIO).

The Committee was expected to decide whether the 8000 members of Amalgamated Local 195, organized in 33 plants employing some 12,000 workers, would strike in sympathy with employees of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, whose 10,000 production workers have been idle for 28 days in a strike called on the union security issue.

The Ford workers are members of U.A.W. Local 200. Also represented on the committee is Local 240, organized among Ford office workers who have been kept from their jobs since Sept. 13 by Local 200 pickets.

The policy meeting was to be followed by a mass general meeting tomorrow night of general membership of unions in this area, whose approval would be needed before a strike could be called. Should the strike action be decided on, union officials said it was unlikely it would be called before next Monday.

BURNS WORKERS TO HOLD STRIKE VOTE

TORONTO, Oct. 10 (CP)—S. S. Hughes, Ontario representative of the United Packing House Workers of America (CIO), said today a strike vote is to be taken among all union employees in packing houses of Burns and Company across Canada.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 10 (CP) — A strike vote will be held tomorrow among 1200 employees of Burns and Company packing plant here, Adam Borsk, field representative for the United Packing House Workers of America, announced tonight.

Mr. Borsk said the vote would be held with the aim of bringing about an immediate meeting with Burns and Company officials for the purposes of drawing up a master agreement based on union demands for a 40-hour week and a 30 per cent wage increase.

This follows a union announcement from Edmonton that 400 Burns and Co. workers would take a strike vote tonight or tomorrow.

Employees at three other Burns plans in Regina, Prince Albert and Vancouver will probably hold a similar strike vote within the next week, Mr. Borsk said.

"Indications are the Company is stalling," said Mr. Borsk.

F. C. B. Vance, Vancouver police analyst, told a coroner's jury here today at the inquest into Price's death.

Two .38 calibre bullets were blasted into the taxi driver's back and two others were shot into his head, Inspector Vance continued.

CLOSED POLL FOR LUNCH INQUIRY IS TOLD

MELVILLE, Sask., Oct. 10 (CP)—The rural poll in the Goodeve District known as Poll 50, and supervised by a deputy returning officer who said he had a grade two education closed for lunch June 11, date of the Federal general election, witnesses testified at an inquiry here today, but their evidence of what happened during the noon hour conflicted.

Thomas Forster of Duff, a Liberal scrutineer, testified he thought it improper the poll should close, but during the time it was closed all books were closed also and no votes were taken.

George Rathgeber of Goodeve district, a CGF scrutineer, said he went home during the lunch hour. When he returned he found a number of people had voted, but could not say how many when pressed for the number.

PRESENT BILL TO NATIONALIZE BANK ENGLAND

LONDON, Oct. 10 (CP)—Britain's new Labor Government moved today to convert the Bank of England into public property.

Nationalization of the famous 250-year-old institution—"The Old Lady of Threadneedle Street"—was the first major measure in Labor's far-reaching program of social legislation.

Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchequer, presented in the House of Commons a bill designed to:

1. Bring the bank's capital stock into public ownership;

2. Place the bank under public control;

3. Blueprint future relations among the Treasury, the Bank of England and other banks.

TO EXCHANGE STOCK

The bill provides that holders of bank stock surrender their shares for three per cent Government stock, issued in an amount sufficient to assure an annual interest equal to the average annual gross dividend declared in the 20-year period ended last March 21. Gross dividends have been 12 per cent since 1923.

The measure also provides for putting the bank under the administration of a Governor, Deputy Governor and a Court of Directors, appointed by the King. Members of Parliament and other Government office holders would be ineligible to serve.

The bank's capital now is £14,553,000 ($74,760,000), a level to which it was raised in 1816, nearly a century and a quarter after it came into existence in the reign of William and Mary.

The Labor majority is potent enough to carry the bill through Commons, but in the House of Lords there's a 4-to-1 Conservative majority. The key there lies in whether the bill is termed a money bill or non-money bill. The Lords can hold up a non-money bill for two years, but may not delay a money measure.

STATES SHE SAW MAN FIRE AT DAUGHTER

MURRAYVILLE, B.C., Oct. 10 (CP)—Mrs. Dorothy Ryan told in police court here today the story of the fatal shooting of her 10-year-old daughter, Doreen Rose, Sept. 26.

Mrs. Ryan testified at the preliminary hearing of Nobel Monahan, 53 on a charge of murder in connection with the girl's death. At the request of the Crown Counsel the hearing was adjourned to Oct. 17.

Mrs. Ryan said she heard a noise in the milk house on the farm the Ryan family shared with Monahan and a few seconds later found Doreen Rose lying on the milk house floor.

Mrs. Ryan added that she saw Monahan fire a shot, leave the milk house and then return and fire two more shots at the child. The witness testified Monahan later fired a shot at her and another at a second daughter, Phyllis.

The girl's father testified Monahan was Doreen's "constant companion" and was always bringing presents from town. Ryan said a few days before the shooting he asked Monahan not to buy his daughter too many presents because he was spoiling her.

JAP PARADERS TURN BACKS ON PALACE

Lawyer Claims End of Emperor System Solution to Problems

TOKYO, Oct. 10 (AP) — Japanese anti-Imperialists headed by a Communist leader exercised their new-found reedom of expression today in a "banzai" parade before Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters, where Allied financial sleuths were probing into Japan's war money secrets.

A new Allied directive placed the country's import business on a strict cash or commodity-exchange basis, confining imports to items necessary to maintain the minimum standard of living.

The Cabinet of Premier Kijuro Shidehara, chosen four days ago to take over the post, met for two hours today and scheduled another extraordinary session Thursday for discussion of pending issues.

Shidehara was received by Emperor Hirohito to report on general administrative affairs.

The Emperor's sacred position in traditional Japanese life was given a jolt by the paraders, who carried Red banners and Korean independence flags. The paraders, numbering about 600, turned their backs to the Imperial Palace — a direct affront to the custom of bowing to the edifice.

The marchers, led by Inosuke Akanishi, Communist leader and one of 16 political prisoners just released from long imprisonment, tied up traffic in front of Gen. MacArthur's while they shouted "banzais" in appreciation for the release order.

WOULD END EMPEROR SYSTEM

In a Communist meeting before the parade, Akanishi tearfully related how he had been beaten during his imprisonment, and Totsuzi Fuse, liberal-thinking lawyer, criticized Japanese militarists and declared the overthrow of the Emperor system was the only solution to Japan's problems.

Killer Gives Warning, Police Investigate

VANCOUVER, Oct. 10 (CP)—Police today investigated a complaint from Mrs. M. H. Armstrong that a man wearing a leather jacket told her last night that he would stab her with a knife if she allowed her son to give evidence in the wounding of Don Kolot, 13, who was injured Saturday night.

Mrs. Armstring's son Bill was with the Kolot boy when a man jumped from between two buildings and stabbed the latter, inflicting a foot-long slash in his back.

Changes Effective Today; Aim to Cut Wastage

OTTAWA, Oct. 10 (CP) — Canadian meat rations were increased slightly today as the Government moved to quieten the protests of butchers and other groups against the new rationing system with an upward revision in the coupon value of meat pies, canned meats and a number of cooked and uncooked meats.

A Board statement said the changes, based on the experience of the first three weeks of rationing, followed recent conferences between Board officials and groups of meat processors, wholesalers and retailers and trade Union officials.

HOPE TO END WASTAGE

The revisions are not expected, however, to result in any considerable increase in the individual ration as they are aimed more at inducing consumers to buy certain cuts and portions which have tended to waste in butcher shops because the amounts allotted per coupon were too small.

All changes becomes effective tomorrow, when this week's meat ration coupons become valid.

Under the adjustment, the ration value for meat pies will be doubled to 16 ounces for one token against eight ounces at present. The coupon values of most canned meats in sealed containers also will be increased but this adjustment is not expected to have much effect as most meat canned in Canada is shipped overseas to liberated Europe.

The changes in cooked and uncooked meat follows:

COOKED MEATS

Moved from group "C" (two pounds per coupon or four ounces per token) to group "D" (three pounds per coupon or six ounces per token)—meat loaves, jellied meats, bologna and wieners.

Moved from group "D" (2½ pounds per coupon or five ounces per token) to group "E" (three pounds per coupon or six ounces per token)—headcheese, liver sausage and cretons francais.

UNCOOKED MEATS

Moved from Group "C" (two pounds per coupon or four ounces per token) to group "D" (2½ pounds per coupon or five ounces per token)—beef flanked trimmed, bone in.

Moved from group "D" (2½ pounds per coupon or five ounces per token) to group "E" (three pounds per coupon or six ounces per token)—beef shank knuckle end; veal shank hind, veal shank front and veal flank together with lamb flank, breast and neck, all bone-in cuts.

Foresees Opposition if Board Set Up

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 10 (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner said today in the Commons that if the Federal Government passed legislation establishing a Board of Livestock Commissioners action likely would be taken by some section of the trade or by the Provinces to have the legislation declared ultra vires.

Those who were familiar with law claimed that the legislation which set up the Board of Grain Commissioners in 1901, was ultra vires of Parliament, but it never had been contested because most of Canada's wheat was marketed outside the country.

Mr. Gardiner was one of nine speakers heard during a debate on a resolution of William Bryce (CCF—Selkirk) calling for the establishment of a Board of Livestock Commissioners.

Debate on the resolution and the answering of questions on the order paper occupied practically the whole sitting, devoted to private members' business.

WANT MORE MARKETS

Sole opposition to the resolution came from Mr. Gardiner and Mr. McCubbin who said they favored more markets rather than more agricultural boards.

Mr. Gardiner said the Boards now *operating under the Federal Agri*cultural Department were in a better position to do a better job than a Board of Livestock Commissioners. The Department had in its employ some of the best agricultural authorities in Canada.

While it was true the Board of Grain Commissioners had done a good job, there was a vast difference between the handling of meat and the handling of wheat.

He felt that if livestock boards were set up they could best be operated constitutionally by the Provinces in such places as Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver, Winnipeg and other large cities where the major part of marketing was done.

Mr. Bryce, in moving his resolution, said that a board of livestock commissioners should be given power to licence, regulate and control the facilities for assembling, transporting, yarding, slaughtering, processing and packing, together with facilities for grading and selling livestock and carcass products designed for human consumption.

95 Die in Indo-China Clashes

SAIGON, Indo-China, Oct. 10 (AP)—Eighty Indo-Chinese were killed and 150 wounded in a new outbreak of fighting between Nationalists and Japanese troops today as negotiations between Annamese leaders and French officials were reported deadlocked.

Fifteen Japanese were reported killed and 20 wounded.

The clash took place at Dalat Hill Station near Saigon following what Field Marshal Count Juichi Terauchi, Japanese Commander in Southeast Asia, described as an "unlawful challenge" to Japanese sentries.

The fighting, an Allied spokesman said, resulted from "a more marked inclination" on the part of the Japanese to obey Allied instructions and maintain law and order. The Japanese are required by the Allies to disarm all persons carrying unauthorized weapons, but only in the course of "defensive" action.

Deterioration of the Annamese-French conferences followed a Nationalist demand for complete independence and surrender of all French arms in Indo-China. The French were reported to have refused even to consider this.

EXTRA! MEN FLEE FROM STEAK

At a time when most of us would walk miles for a glance at a piece of steak, these men are fleeing from it as if their lives were in jeopardy, which they were. For the steak, personified by a wild Brahma bull, was on the prod. It happened at a Wild West Rodeo at Madison Square Garden, New York. A news cameraman, to whom the Brahma was just a discontented cow, made the picture.

Avalos Takes Over . . .

Argentina Replaces Peron Backers

By RAFAEL ORDORICA

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 10 (AP) — Gen. Eduardo Avalos was named Minister of War tonight replacing Col. Juan Peron, Argentina's "strong man," whose resignation Avalos forced Tuesday. It was reported that lifting of the state of siege imposed by Peron was imminent.

Avalos' appointment was announced following a 2½-hour Cabinet meeting. Two other men also were named to key posts formerly held by Peron supporters.

Commodore Edmundo Sustaita was appointed Secretary of Aeronautics replacing Brig.-Gen. Bartholome de la Colina; Col. Aristobulo Mittelbach was made acting chief of police at Buenos Aires succeeding Col. Folomeno Valazco.

It was not disclosed officially whether the Cabinet considered ending the siege, under which hundreds of government opponents have been arrested during the last two weeks, but observers believed it a likely step.

The siege was ordered by Peron Sept. 26. The wave of opposition it provoked was one of the immediate causes of his ouster, engineered by Gen. Avalos, Commander of the big camp de Mayo garrison in suburban Buenos Aires.

DEMOCRATIC LEADER WANTS CLEAR MANIFESTO

VANCOUVER, Oct. 10 (CP) — William Smith, founder and leader of the Democratic Party of Canada and himself a candidate in the Oct. 25 British Columbia elections, said today that he will be forced to withdraw his support of Premier Hart "unless his manifesto is made clear and concise."

"It says nothing definite about settling more people in B. C.," Mr. Smith said. ". . . Nothing definite about credits for Britain through trade. . . . We should be able to advance Britain any amount of credits on the security of future trade shipments."

Mr. Smith is a Democrat candidate in Vancouver Point Grey.

Turn Down 6-Man Lacrosse Proposal

VANCOUVER, Oct. 10 (CP)—Delegates to the annual meeting of the Canadian Lacrosse Association here today turned down a suggestion of the Quebec Association to play six-man lacrosse in place of the present seven-man game.

Quebec delegates said six-man lacrosse was played in that province during the last season and probably would play the same next season, reverting to a seven-man game in the Mann Cup playdowns.

A grant of $50 by the C.L.A. to each of the Quebec, Ontario and B.C. Lacrosse Associations was voted for the promotion of minor lacrosse among the Indians. The Provincial Association will donate similar amounts.

Account for All of Hong Kong Force

OTTAWA, Oct. 10 (CP) — Defence Headquarters announced tonight that all Army personnel of the Hong Kong force, known to have been taken prisoner as of VJ-Day, now have been accounted for.

Of 1,461 known prisoners as of VJ-Day, 1,417 had been liberated and 44 are known to have died of wounds or other causes while in Japanese hands, the announcement said. One liberated prisoner had died at sea while enroute to Canada.

Of those liberated 757 had arrived on this continent to date.

To Continue Efforts to End U.S. Coal Strike

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—United States soft coal industry and labor representatives decided in Washington tonight to extend for another day their talks seeking a compromise plan for ending a six-State strike.

Their agreement to meet again came after futile sessions through*out the day and into the night,* after which Labor Secretary Schwellenbach said the conferees were "about in the same position as Tuesday night."

BREAK UP PICKETING

The coal walkout, involving 188,000 miners and nearly half of the soft coal production of the United States, is the biggest of scores of labor disputes keeping 451,000 American workers off the job.

Other developments of the day:

1. Armed Sheriff's deputies broke up mass picketing in the Hollywood motion picture studio strike and arrested several hundred unresisting pickets without violence.

2. The New York longshoremen's strike tied up more than 350 ships and the Army said soldiers might be used as stevedores to prepare the Queen Elizabeth sailing.

3. Some 42,000 textile workers resumed work at 284 shops in three Eastern States after compromising on wage-increase demands.

Two hundred armed Sheriff's deputies broke up mass picketing at the Warner Brothers Studio in Hollywood without violence by arresting several hundred unresisting pickets on charges of unlawful assembly.

Since Friday more than 100 persons had been reported injured in clashes at the Warner gates resulting from the eight-month-old jurisdictional dispute between two A.F.L. unions over representation of 77 set decorators.

The pickets submitted to arrest peaceably on orders of their leader who declared "there will be 10,000 to 20,000 pickets tomorrow, because we are closing down Lockheed." There was no immediate explanation of his reference to the Lockheed Aircraft plant where there have been no strike threats from A.F.L. unionists.

Meanwhile, the strike of 2700 Overland Greyhound bus drivers in seven Western States continued. The dispute is over union demands for higher wages.

Prepare Rink For Winter Sports Program

While football and Pro-Rec activities fill the gap between Summer and Winter sports, preparations are proceeding apace in the Civic Arena with an eye to the Nov. 1 opening date for the rink.

Two cutoff valves are being installed so that the skating and curling ice sheets can be operated independently of one another. This will facilitate ice-making in the curling rink during the July Bonspiel. Repairs are being carried out in the ice-making plant by Art Read, operator, and testing of pipes for leaks will start Monday.

The Civic Commission meets Tuesday night and organizations planning Winter activity are expected to send representatives. Those planning to do so are asked to get in touch with Ed Kelter, Secretary-Manager.

TOAST and TEA

BY E. A. McARTHUR

When Lincoln Steffens was a school boy of fifteen or sixteen he got hold of a book on war. "That book," he says in his autobiography, "told as a story of idiotic waste the history of all the wars in the whole history of man. I called for pencil and paper. I had to write an oration for my graduation day and I wrote one out of that book on the stupidity of war. But what I did not write was a conclusion, tentative but emancipating, that men, the superior grown-up adults that I had always respected, were and always had been mostly ignorant fools whom a boy, even a little fellow like me, need not look up to. I had long felt, deep down, that they did not see straight, that they could not explain things to me because they did not understand them, and now I knew that, if I was to learn anything, I had to find teachers who knew, and even at that, look out for myself."

Turnouts to pro-rec classes conducted by Physical Instructor Ed Kelter at the Civic Centre have been excellent, Mr. Kelter said Wednesday. There have been large classes of men, boys and girls, but the women's classes have not been as large as anticipated. Quite a number of ex-servicemen are in the men's classes.

Boys are being trained for boxing with a view to future inter-city competition between Nelson and Kimberley boys. The Civic Commission has decided to have constructed a boxing ring which can easily be moved in and out of the recreation hall.

A business men's class, popular last year, is being arranged or Monday and Thursday evenings. Exercises, calisthenics and volley ball will be enjoyed. So far, 25 men have signified intention of joining the class.

Burrards Down St. Catherines To Take Crown

VANCOUVER, Oct. 10 (CP) — Vancouver Burrards won the Canadian lacrosse championship tonight by defeating the defending champion St. Catharines Athletics 14-5 in the third game of the scheduled best-of-five final.

As in the first two games, Burrards outsped and outplayed the Eastern champions in every period. The game roughened considerably in the last two quarters and several major penalties were handed out.

Burrards slammed in three goals in the first quarter while holding St. Catharines in check and made the count 6-3 in their favor by half time. Again in the third stanza St. Catharines were unable to count and managed to snag only two goals in the final hectic session.

AWARD TROPHY

Frank Lee, classy Burrard forward who played a stellar part in winning tonight's game by scoring four goals and assting in 2 others, was awarded the Mike Kelly trophy after the contest. The trophy is awarded annually to the player judged most valuable to his team in the Mann Cup finals.

Bill Whittaker, St. Catharines goalie, turned back 27 direct shots during the game compared with 20 stops by Walt Lee, Burrard custodian. Altogether during the series Whittaker stopped 103 shots, as against 72 by Lee.

Other Burrard goalgetters were Pat Theale, with three, to give him individual scoring honors in the series with eight goals in the three games. Roy Cavallin netted two and Bill Harris, Johnny McDonald, Johnny Cavallin, Ernie Smith and Harry Buchanan scored the other

George Urquhart topped St. Catharines marksmen with two goals and Bill Nelson, Stu Scott and Punk Morton got one apiece.

All production of war equipment in South Africa has ceased, according to a government announcement. Tells of Efforts Of Technocracy

Lecturing to a good sized gathering in the Legion Hall Tuesday evening, Ray Argyle, speaker for Technocracy from Vancouver, outlined what he and his associates were doing in an effort to achieve orderly transition to the next "most probable" form of social operation which the Technocrats have termed the "Technate of North America."

He envisioned doom for the people if the measurements of physical science were not applied to the "social mechanism." He cited the futility of the politicians in their attempts to provide jobs stating that jobs mean work and toil and that is impossible in an economy wherein 98 per cent of the energy involved in producing goods and services is converted from sources outside the human body.

The men of science and technology, the speaker continued, have placed before the people of this Continent the greatest plethora of goods and services of all times.

Mr. Argyle stated that "potential abundance" has not been provided by the expenditure of human toil using hand tools. "It has been given to us by the continuous and smooth functioning of our technological equipment." It is that machinery, he said, which must continue to operate when the present price system interference controls fall away and the new social mechanism comes into being. He outlined how important was the continuous operation of this Continent's technology, stating that "a cessation of the functioning of our technology would see the death of millions of citizens from famine, fire and hysteria."

Technocracy Inc. wanted to take over nothing, Mr. Argyle continued. Technocracy realized that a grave crisis would soon envelop the Continent, and it is for that critical period that Technocracy was organizing. He explained that his organization must be sufficiently widespread, trained and disciplined at that time to give intelligent direction to the masses of citizens on this Continent so that an orderly transition might be effected into the new America of plenty.

At the conclusion of the address several of the audience joined the movement.

Petitions Ask Added Lights For Rossland

ROSSLAND, B.C., Oct. 10—Two petitions for street lights were presented to the City Council Tuesday night and were referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee for investigation. The first was presented by Mrs. P. Maher personally, who was accompanied by Mrs. E. L. Walker and Mrs. J. Bradley. They asked for lights to be installed on First Avenue between Davis and Earl Streets. It was signed by E. Beaulieu, Mrs. A. Phillips, Mrs. Ife, Mrs. J. Greigg, N. J. Cook, D. McMillan, E. L. Walker, Mrs. P. Yarmoluk, J. Bradley and P. Maher.

The second petition asked for a light at Second Avenue and Georgia Street, and was signed by L. C. Nyman, E. Cleverley, H. Hoyte, H. Reimann, D. Reimann, and L. E. E. Hamilton.

Ald. W. Darby, Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, reported that 12¾ man-days had been expended by that department for cleaning up services and water boxes and fixing leaks.

It was decided the Committee would make a tour of inspection of the city on Oct. 17 to investigate the locations of street lights petitioned for, and also the trees that are obstructing street lights.

Ald. H. W. Lefevre, Chairman of the Board of Works, reported that 34½ man-days had been spent for street maintenance in the last 15 days of September, 12 on general work, 12 for garbage collection, 4 for street repairs, 4½ for repairs to equipment, 5 for drainage and 2 for shingling roof.

Ald. Lefevre stated the Board of Works would attend to repairing of the Fire Hall roof.

Ald. Cunningham reported nine persons had received social assistance during September as compared with 10 the preceding month, the cost of assistance being $192, of which the city's share was $38.40.

The City Foreman was granted a week of his holidays, to start next week. City Clerk J. A. McLeod was also granted leave of absence during the week of Oct. 21-27.

Rossland Board Of Health Acts On Milk Tests

ROSSLAND, B.C., Oct. 10—Ald. H. W. Lefevre, Chairman of the Board of Health reported to the City Council Tuesday night on the Board of Health meeting held Oct. 1.

The Board's report showed the report of Miss F. A. Kennedy, Health Nurse, for duties performed in September, was approved.

The Board of Health received the report from the Nelson Laboratories and the Palm Dairies, on the tests made of Rossland milk supplies tested for B coli and Butter Fat. The Sanitary Inspector, R. W. Haggen, was instructed by the Board of Health to see several dairymen in regard to lowering the B coli content in their milk supply.

Sanitary Inspector Haggen expressed disapproval of any additional cabins being erected in the Squaw Basin near the City watershed, stating the City water was in danger of being contaminated.

He reported inspecting the Dog Hospital premises, and said it was no menace to health, although not altogether a suitable location as only one lot was available.

The Council adopted the Board's report, and ordered it incorporated in the Council minutes.

The Council signified its willingness to meet the Trail Parks Board to confer on the new cemetery policy.

CHILD'S SULKY SPELLS WORRIED HER UNTIL . . .

If your child has moody, cross, irritable spells for what seems to be no reason, watch for "hidden" constipation. Oftentimes, youngsters' bowels, altho moving regularly, do not move completely. As a result, harmful wastes remain in the intestines, making the child listless, peevish and not feeling like eating. What may be needed is Children's Own Tablets. They help give the thorough evacuation that quickly helps make most children feel like their usual happy selves. Pleasant tasting, small, easy to swallow, Children's Own Tablets are especially prepared for kids from 2 to 12. Only 25¢ at your druggist. Get a box today.

The Kidneys Filter the Blood

Any poisonous waste materials, which the liver has failed to eliminate from the digested food before it is taken up by the blood stream, must be looked after by the kidneys if the blood is to be rid of dangerous poisons.

When the kidneys fail there comes a poisoning of the system with headaches, tired feelings, loss of sleep and such painful ailments as backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago and other ills.

The use of Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills is suggested because they help in three ways to get rid of this condition.

(1) By arousing the action of the liver which prevents certain poisons from getting into the blood stream.
(2) By stimulating the activity of the kidneys in their work of filtering poisons from the blood.
(3) By ensuring activity of the bowels in eliminating the poisonous waste materials from the body.

Surely this must be a thorough system of protecting the body against the poisons which result from the digestion of food. Such treatment is required by almost everybody at one time or another.

Using Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills once or twice a week, will help to keep you regular and well and free from unnecessary pains and discomforts. 35 cts., a box.

KRAMER'S WIFE SAYS HE REALIZED GASSING WAS WRONG

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

LUENEBURG, Germany, Oct. 10 (AP).—Frau Josef Kramer testified under cross-examination today that her husband realized that the gassing of concentration camp internees was "very wrong." Kramer and 44 guards and attendants are on trial before a British military court for mass killings at Belsen. A defence attempt to inject discussion of the atomic bomb into the hearing was balked by the court, which ruled it had nothing to do with the questions at issue.

A small woman, the mother of three, Frau Kramer said her husband told her at Oswiecim that "of those responsible for destroying so many persons in the gas chamber, I don't think they can be sleeping easily."

"Did you ever head of your husband beating anyone?" asked Defence Counsel Thomas Winwood.

"No," Frau Kramer replied softly. "He told me many times his duty was to care for internees at Belsen day and night. He worried because so many had to sleep on bare floors in huts."

Fritz Klein, 57-year-old S. S. doctor, testified that selections for the gas chamber were made by physicians "on orders from Hoess" (Commandant of the whole Oswiecim camp.)

Recalling Kramer to the stand for reexamination on his protestations yesterday that he had no hand in the slaying of prisoners, Defence Officer Thomas Winwood asked the former Belsen Commandant:

ATOMIC BOMB

"You were questioned yesterday as to whether you would rather carry out mass murder than be put in prison yourself. Have you heard of the atomic bomb?"

"Lately, from the papers," Kramer replied.

Judge Advocate C. L. Stirling demanded sharply:

"What have we to do with the atomic bomb?"

Laval's Account of the Defence Made Public

By MEL MOST

PARIS, Oct. 10 (AP).—Pierre Laval's written account of the defence he intended to make to the court which condemned him to death yesterday was made public today by his counsel, who permitted access to a manuscript which painstakingly documents his replies to all the original counts in the treason indictment against him.

The document was written by Laval with his papers spread before him on the floor of his dungeon cell.

In the manuscript, the former Vichy chief of government, who 14 times was a Minister and thrice a Premier of France, took up the charges against him one by one, and these were some of his replies:

To the charge he sought to negotiate a peace during the "phoney war" before the German 1940 blitz of France, Laval replied:

That Mussolini furnished the initiative in this through an emissary. Laval said he offered to undertake a mission which Premier Daladier could later disavow if it failed, but M. Daladier rejected the idea. A second secret emissary arrived from Mussolini the day before Italy attacked France, but never reached the Government, Laval wrote.

To charges (withdrawn in court) that he participated in deciding upon the armistice with Germany and the Government's failure to move to North Africa:

Laval said he was not in the Government at the time. He said he believed moving to Africa merely would invite the German blitzkrieg there, causing Britain to lose Suez and the United States to lose a landing platform for a later invasion. On the other hand, he wrote, "events have proved De Gaulle was right" in moving to London.

Concerning the charge that he organized the Montoire meeting between Hitler and Petain and arranged subsequent collaboration, Laval replied the armistice itself rather than anything he did brought about collaboration, and added:

"If the armistice had lasted several weeks—nay, several months—we would not have had to suffer so many exactions and harshnesses from the occupiers. But it lasted four years and we had no power whatever, no means other than negotiation—now termed intelligence with the enemy—to try to dam German rapacity and cruelty."

SHIELD FOR FRANCE

To the charge the Germans wanted him in power when he was restored to office March 1, 1942, Laval said Reichsmarshal Goering wanted the contrary. He said he first refused to return and then accepted, because he felt he would be a shield for France.

He said he never ordered the scuttling of the fleet at Toulon, and that its disposition was not in his province, but that when he was told it was going to take place, the German official who brought word stood guard outside his door until after the seizure.

HITLER IN RAGE

To the charge he urged resistance to the British-American landings in North Africa he replied with the texts of several telegrams he said he received from the Germans, asking France to declare war on the United States. He said Hitler was in a rage when he told him France would not do so.

City Without Fire Loss, September

Nelson had no fire loss in September, Fire Chief G. A. McDonald reported to the City Council Tuesday night, the three fires occurring not affecting buildings, and not involving damage.

Back-firing of an auto up the hill on Falls Street, Sept. 7 set the car afire but the flames were put out before damage occurred. A brush fire on Fourth Street, Sept. 16 originated by wind-carried embers from a rubbish fire. A fire the same date in the sawdust pile below the C.P.R. track, opposite Cherry Street was of undetermined origin.

Forty inspections in the interests of fire prevention were made during the month and both the department and the schools carried out the usual fire drills, the Chief's report said.

Grand Master Of I.O.O.F. Visits Nelson

Monday night was a gala night for Nelson members of the Odd-Fellows Order, when Verne Whitworth of Vancouver, Grand Master of the I.O.O.F. Grand Lodge of B.C., paid his official visit to Kootenay Lodge No. 16, I.O.O.F. There was a large attendance of Odd-Fellows, Rebekahs, and Theta Rho Girls. The lodge session was followed by a banquet, with speeches and music, Mrs. J. Clements being pianiste.

The Grand Master, now on his tour of Kootenay lodges, has fared further afield than any other Grand Master of recent years, as he was up North of the 60th parallel, the first visit paid to the Odd-Fellows there for 11 years.

He presented Fred Jeffers, Nelson Odd-Fellow, with a 50-year jewel.

Bad Idea . . .

Is She a Snake!

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

The case that has been put up to me for decision is almost as difficult of solution as the one King Solomon was asked to decide between the two mothers. You remember that case, of course. If you don't, look it up in your Bible, 1 Kings 3, verses 16 to 27.

This present-day problem concerns two girls doing war work. They were joint tenants in the tinlest of apartments, the arrangement being that if the special beau of one of the girls called, the other would have an engagement elsewhere. We'll call them Violet and Jonquil—not their real names.

Violet said to Jonquil one afternoon: "I'm expecting Ted this evening and I hope to make a little more headway. Ted, for some reason, seems to be slackening, so please make yourself scarce."

"O. K.," grinned Jonquil, "I'll see if I can bum a dinner off of someone myself. But be sure, whether he commits himself or not, to get rid of him by 11:00; I'm pretty tired."

Jonquil dabbed on a new mouth with her latest lipstick and closed the door. On the way out she met Ted, who for some time had been looking at her lightning-like disappearances with a shade of disappointment. "Hello," he said, "is Violet in?"

"Sure, she's in," Jonquil lingered.

Ted didn't pursue the question of Violet further. He asked Jonquil if she'd have a run around the block with him. She agreed. They had refreshments. He then said: "What would you think of dinner and a movie?"

"Oh, would that be right, with Violet expecting you?"

Ted countered with: "Haven't you ever heard that everything's fair in love and war?"

"Don't drive me to saying this is so sudden." Well, they dined, they went to the movies and they got back quite late. Jonquil didn't invite Ted in. Violet was in tears.

"He never showed up," she moaned from a tear-drenched sofa pillow.

"Didn't he send you any word?" Jonquil asked, just biting her tongue to keep from saying he left her to telephone.

"Yes, he did, but I didn't believe a word of his excuse."

Now, is Jonquil a snake, as Violet has written me? Violet was not actually engaged, you see, but on the point of it. Had Jonquil taken unfair advantage as she slipped in and out of the apartment when Ted called?

Intestines . . .

Overwork Can Contribute to Ulcer Cause

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Ulcer of the stomach and first part of the intestine, known as the duodenum seems to be increasing in frequency. This condition is a dangerous one. For example, in the ten-year period before the war more than 43,000 deaths from ulcers were recorded in England and Wales. The number of deaths among males has risen steadily and since the outbreak of the war the process has been speeded up. In addition, these ulcers, because they produce pain and discomfort, interfere greatly with efficiency.

The symptoms of ulcer consist of pain which appears from one to three hours after meals and is relieved as a rule by taking food or some alkaline preparation such as baking soda. It is interesting to note that while the number of deaths among males is rising steadily, in women the reverse is true. The increase seems to be particularly in men over 45 years of age.

The exact cause for ulcer of the stomach and of the duodenum has not been determined. However, the fact that during the depression years and the war, the number of cases increased, would indicate that nervous strain and overwork are at least contributing causes for the condition.

In the prevention of ulcer, the important things are, first, to attempt to slow down and avoid worry and emotional upsets in so far as is possible. Second examination by the doctor should be made at regular periods once or twice a year, so that any infections present may be discovered and eliminated. Third, care should be taken to a well-balanced diet that does not contain too many highly seasoned foods.

Should symptoms which are like those of ulcer develop, an examination should be made, including an X-ray of the stomach and first part of the bowel, in order to make a diagnosis. If an ulcer is found to be present, treatment should be started at once.

Exercise for Flabby Fat

BY IDA JEAN KAIN

Muscles form the bounday lines of the figure and the gal who is slightly on the solid side as far as weight goes, usually has a better figure than the normal weight gone bulky. That's the dismal dilemna of the girl who writes, "I do not weigh too much, but I am just too fat." Flabby muscles, lacking elasticity billow out.

She asks if she should diet. Definitely not. It might make matters worse. It stands to reason that diet is hardly the solution to a problem that is directly due to a lack of exercise. Exercise puts tone in flabby muscles and, without increasing the size of the muscles, improves the shape. Firm muscles are compact and the figure looks trimmer and measures smaller.

But if setting up exercises are not your favorite pastime, you might like to put some rhythm in your workout and take them to music. Rhythmic exercises are more fun and so graceful! You might like to join a rhythmic exercise class. Here is a sample exercise. This stretch helps to banish bulk amidships.

Start from the position of standing erect, feet apart, arms upstretched overhead. Now lunge sideways, bending right knee. Then, flinging right arm across in front of chest, bend to the right, arching the left arm overhead; stretch, pulling from the left fingertips to the left toes. Make a long stretch. Reverse positions, lunge to the left, bend left knee and pull all along the right side. Done to waltz music, it's easy to put rhythm in the movements.

Now some swing . . . Stand with both knees slightly bent, feet wide apart, ams held straight out in front of chest. Lunge to the right, bending right knee, and circle rhythmically, reaching out with the hands to describe a circle parallel with the floor. Sway to the right, up, around, slightly back and around, swaling toward the left and bending the left knee, straightening the right knee. Swing around and complete the circle. That exercise really makes a willowy waist.

If the above is a bit strenuous stretch both arms overhead, then bend sideways, centering the stretch through the middle of the figure; back to position and bend to the other side.

Finish with a bobbing exercise to unkink . . .

Standing up, fet apart, arms stretched overhead. Let trunk drop forward from the waist, with the muscles of arms, back shoulders and neck, very limp and relaxed. Bob up ad down gently, letting go with all the muscles as the arms dangle toward the floor.

Hints for Housewives

By BETSY NEWMAN

Did you ever eat raw beets in a salad? You'd probably like it, as it has a flavor that ties in well with those of cucumber and onion, which are the other ingredients of the salad suggested to serve with today's menu. Some folk prefer their salad vegetables cooked, but others (including me) prefer theirs raw and like to experiment with different vegetables in their native states.

TODAY'S MENU

Barbecued Frankfurters
Hashed Browned Potatoes
Raw Beet-Cucumber Salad
Fresh Fruit Coffee

BARBECUED FRANKFURTERS

2 tablespoons fat
½ cup diced onions.
½ cup diced celery.
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 tablespoon vinegar.
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2-3 cup catsup
2-3 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash tabasco sauce.
1 pound frankfurters cut in pieces

Melt fat and saute onion and celery in it until onion is lightly cooked and transparent; add remaining ingredients except frankfurters, and blend well. Add frankfurters, stir to coat with sauce. Pour into casserole and bake in a 375 degrees F. oven for 1 hour. Serves 4.

RAW BEET AND CUCUMBER SALAD

4 beets, washed and peeled
3 tablespoons chopped onion
Dash of pepper
1 teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons salad oil
2 tablespoons vinegar

Grate washed and peeled beets into a bowl with a coarse grater, making about 2 cups, add onion, pepper, salt, sugar, salad oil and vinegar and mix well. Cut two short, thick cucumbers in half, lengthwise, with a knife, cut around the edge of the cucumber, loosening the centre, leaving a thin shell. Dice the flesh portion and combine with beet mixture. Blend quickly, then heap into the cucumber "boats". Serve immediately. Serves 4.

Oak Ridge Has Outstandingly Low Crime Rate

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Oct. 10 — (AP)—This atomic energy town of $75,000, which might have been expected to become a notorious type of boom town, had an outstandingly low crime rate. There have been two homicides since 1943, against rates of 10 or more for most comparable communities.

The administrators had some advantages not open to municipalities. Everyone entering Oak Ridge was screened. Every resident over the age of 12 had to wear a conspicuous identification badge.

ALL WAGE EARNERS

Oak Ridge citizens were all wage earners, mostly in their twenties and thirties. Their dwellings ranged from 5500 trailers to very nice bungalows perched on hills among the Oak Ridge groves, with family rents ranging from $15 a month to a top of $73.

Particular attention was paid to building, equipping and staffing good schools. Trailer and hill-top children alike attended the same schools and parents appreciated this.

17 RELIGIOUS DENOMINATIONS

Seventeen religious denominations shared the available church structures and more than 10,000 regular churchgoers attended.

LABOR TROUBLES AVOIDED

Nineteen unions cooperated with the construction companies, and labor troubles were avoided. William Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, and other labor leaders took a hand in the more difficult problem of the operating forces of the uranium plants and plutonium laboratories. There were more than 44,000 of these employees. Labor organizers voluntarily remained aloof from these workers to minimize security risks.

The Army set up a voluntary medical care insurance or prepayment plan that was designed to be feasible anywhere.

Rates are $24 a year for one person and $48 for families. This includes full hospital care for 30 days and half payment for 90 days more and covers nearly all medical and surgical care.

Brazil Wants to Import From Canada

Brazil has need of many types of Canadian products. It is one of the large export markets which this country can develop.

In a publication of the Brazil Government Department of Trade and Commerce names are given of firms in various cities of Brazil and their immediate needs of Canadian goods are stated as follows:

1—Wishes to contact Canadian exporters of hardware, tools, building material, agricultural implements, household electric appliances, radios, freezers, refrigerators, foodstuffs, canned goods, novelties.

2—Wishes to get in touch with Canadian importers and exporters of general merchandise.

3—Also wishes to get in touch with Canadian exporters of machinery in general.

4—Importation from Canada of the following metals and their products: iron, copper, zinc, brass; also pipes and tubes, cement, tools, etc. Wish to contact Canadian importers and exporters of general merchandise.

5—Desire to import a Canadian tea; also interested in the importation of upholstering materials, interior decoration and hangings. In addition, wish to get in touch with Canadian tool manufacturers or exporters and manufacturers of iron and steel products in general, etc.

6—Import and export of general merchandise.

7—Wishes to import woodpulp and newsprint.

8—Wishes to import metals, chemicals, codfish and other foodstuffs.

9—Importation on a large scale of metals, particularly copper, zinc and aluminum.

Hope for Quinine Supply Soon

Dr. Pieter Honig, member of the board for the Netherlands Indies, who recently returned to New York from a survey of the liberated section of the Indies, stated that his observations and last-minute underground reports show the Japanese maintained all quinine producing equipment that were not destroyed by the Dutch early in 1942.

"Our men on the occupied islands report that quinine in the form in which we processed it is steadily being produced by the enemy to fight malaria," Dr. Honig said. "While we also know that no Dutch or Indonesians are getting this precious quinine, even though we left some equipment intact for that purpose, we realize that the Japanese have not destroyed trees or processing machinery because they, too, needed quinine desperately and know that they would still require it after they were defeated."

Jobs for Veterans as Proposed in One Town

The American Legion post at El Paso, Ill (pop. 1600), has a $100,000 program to provide postwar job security for the town's 364 men and women in the services. A companion objective is to help develop a permanently profitable agricultural and business community. El Paso's plan is quite similar to that of Albert Lea, Minn. (pop. 12,000), which has a widely publicized Jobs, Inc., also with a $100,000 budget for postwar jobs and community development.

The Illinois town proposes to sell 1000 shares of $100 preferred stock to businessmen and farmers and to offer one share of Class A stock of $100 par value to each serviceman who participates in activities of the "Veterans' Industries" corporation. The initial project will be manufacture of materials for the building industry. A modern woodworking shop is proposed, as well as a plant to manufacture concrete blocks, culverts, and tile. Community services, such as landscaping, farm surveying, and crop harvesting, are proposed. Processing plants may be established also. Legion officials would restrict business to lines not competing with established industry in El Paso.

Frozen Nazi Cash Should Be Pursued to Neutral Countries

Assets of captured Nazi hierarchs are being frozen by the American Military Government in Europe. This means that they will not be able to live in luxury while awaiting trial for their war crimes. We should, however, look farther afield for hidden riches.

For the last few years there have been persistent and convincing stories that Hitler's chief henchmen—he himself was left comparatively free of the indictment—had been caching away millions in foreign lands against the day when they would have to flee. Those hoards should be dug out and confiscated. Even if they are in neutral countries, they can be seized as stolen goods, for the charge of theft would not be difficult to support.

Some of the looters will have no opportunity to enjoy the fruits of their ill-gotten gains. Some are on trial as war criminals. Some are dead.

Monopoly?

(The Canadian Chamber of Commerce)

There is a very evident desire on the part of state socialists to prove that our economic system is no longer competitive—that free enterprise has long since ceased to exist and we are left instead with unrestrained monopoly. The argument is very well stated in Professor F. A. Hayek's brilliant book, "The Road to Serfdom" as follows: . . . "that technological changes have made competition impossible in a constantly increasing number of fields and that the only choice left to us is between control of production by private monopolies and direction by the government". To disprove that large scale production necessarily causes the disappearance of competition, Professor Hayek quotes from a monograph prepared for the American "Temporary National Economic Committee."

"The superior efficiency of large establishments has not been demonstrated; the advantages that are supposed to destroy competition have failed to manifest themselves in many fields. Nor do the economies of size, where they exist, invariably necessitate monopoly. . . . The size or the sizes of the optimum efficiency may be reached long before the major part of a supply is subjected to such control. The conclusions that the advantage of large-scale production must lead inevitably to the abolition of competition cannot be accepted."

We must go on record therefore that private enterprise does not lead inevitably to monopoly. Furthermore, the impression which is being created that private enterprise is in favor of all forms of monopoly is entirely false.

What do we mean by a "monopoly"? It is often said that any company which is big enough to control both supply and price is a monopoly. It can also be said that any business which operates without competition is a monopoly. It is obvious that there are certain types of enterprise operating under government regulation which are limited monopolies in the light of the above definitions and we wish to have them that way. Unregulated competition is neither desirable nor necessary. There is, of course, a competition which must be met by monopolies from enterprises of a different nature. Railways and tramways compete against the automobile. The telephone competes with the telegraph. Hydro electric systems compete with coal and oil as sources of power.

It would seem, therefore, that we are not so much concerned with the existence of monopolies as such, but rather with combinations of two or more persons or firms to raise prices and restrain trade. Here then is the function of government—to regulate business so that unfair and dishonest practices will not be tolerated. Canada has on her statute books a Combines Investigation Act which provides that any six citizens may lay a complaint against any concern they believe is indulging in such practices. The following extract is taken from "Canada 1944" the official handbook of "Present Conditions and Recent Progress" issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa.

"The Combines Investigation Act (R.S.C. 1927, c. 26) provides for the investigation and prevention of trade combinations, monopolies, trusts and mergers formed or operated against the public interest through agreements affecting the supply or price of any class of goods in unlawful restraint of trade. Such organizations are described by the law as combines. Participation in the formation or operation of a combine is an indictable offence. Methods of unlawfully lessening competition and controlling trade include arrangements among competitors or others to enhance prices, to fix common selling prices or resale prices, and to unduly limit production or facilities for manufacturing or distribution. Provisions with respect to similar offences are contained in the Criminal Code of Canada.

"Investigations of alleged combines are conducted under the direction of a Combines Investigation Commissioner reporting to the Minister of Labor. Proceedings under this statute by way of investigation negotiation and in circumstances where deemed warranted, by prosecution, have been instrumental in checking undue private trade restrictions and in reducing excessive prices arising from monopolistic restrictions and agreements."

The way to eliminate monopolistic practices, according to the State Socialists, is to establish a huge state monopoly! It is argued of course, that this monopoly would be owned by the people and would operate for the benefit of the citizens as a whole. The flaw is that when the government is the chief employer or perhaps even the only employer and owns most or all of the machinery of production, then the matters to be dealt with become too numerous and complicated to be manageable by the democratic process. If we place upon Government the responsibility of assuring jobs, incomes and a high standard of living, that government must have power and authority to command, to dictate and to implement a policy with certainty and continuity once it is adopted. That is only reasonable. Authority must go with responsibility. But by delegating our authority we shall have created a monopoly responsible only to itself and the rights of the individual must be submerged. This is the Frankenstein monster which the state socialist would create to take the place of the monopolies which exist today.

All this is not intended as a defence of monopolies; on the contrary, we contend that free competition is the best and safest foundation upon which to build a better Canada of tomorrow.

Curious, Trail — Did the Scotch invent the bagpipes?

The bagpipe is said to have been introduced into Scotland by the Norsemen. It is of very ancient origin, as representations of it are found on the Grecian and Roman sculptures, and it has long been well known among various Eastern nations. The Italians have a form of bagpipe that is more simple than the Highland and the Irish.

Says Brush Burning Would Lessen Forest Destruction

To the Editor:

Sir:—In your paper the other day I read: "612 Fires in Nelson District."

Listening in on two local residents, not women, men:

"Well, it's a blessing fires did not break out on L—— Mountain; the whole of Salmo would have been wiped out. No Forestry could have done anything. There are brush piles on that mountain from four or five years working."

"Wonder what's wrong that the Forestry don't make those fellows burn 'em!"

Well, lot's of us wonder, too. Why does not the Forestry do something now? They know what hazard these piles from clearing are. These piles of years' standing are left and nothing is done, and so, with a cig.-end or lightning, away goes the beauty of these glorious mountains.

The Forestry should do something now, not wait until next year and commence worrying when the fires start. It is as that man on the street said: "No one could stop it. Away she'd go!"

Socialists Expected to Top Polls in French Elections

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Oct. 10 (CP Cable). — With France's general election only 11 days away it was generally forecast here today that the Socialist Party will win the most seats, although it will probably fail to gain a majority.

While no one here expects a Socialist landslide such as the victory of its counterpart in Britain — the Labor Party—it is a foregone conclusion that the voting trend will favor the left wing parties, although it will probably be divided between several leftist groups.

Such a situation seems likely to result in a coalition of leftist parties in the new parliament.

Political experts predict the Communists will run second to the Socialists and the popular Republican movement, a new left-wing party, will probably be a close third. The Radical-Socialists, a left-centre group which once was the leading party in France but now is fading can hardly do better than trail in fourth place while right-wing groups seem fated to end at the bottom of the list.

SOCIALISTS STAND OUT

From the results of the recent provincial elections the Socialists stand out as the most important political group. The Socialists have refused to merge with the Communists for political action and probably will lean on the poular Republican movement and even the Radical-Socialists in the new assembly to obtain sufficient strength to dominate parliament, it is predicted.

Observers in Paris assume too that Gen. de Gaulle, head of the provisional French Government, will be chosen by the new assembly to form the new government. Despite France's problems, Gen. de Gaulle is head and shoulders over his rivals as the leading French public figure.

WHAT DE GAULLE WANTS

The electorate also will vote on a constitutional referendum on election day, Oct. 21. A detailed public opinion survey published here indicates the voters will favor a constituent assembly with limited powers which will draft a new constitution. This is what Gen. de Gaulle wants and he is supported by the Socialists and the popular Republicans.

Nearly 600 members will be elected to the new assembly and from Marseille to the English Channel coast the candidates are out on the hustings. The French view the election as one which may decide whether France remains among the great powers or slips from that position through political squabbling and instability at home.

Thoughtful Frenchmen see the country, struggling hard to recover from the bitterness of defeat and occupation by the Germans, at a fork in the long road of history.

Magic of Sight Makes World Gay For a Once Blinded Girl

By JOHN D. HAMILTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (CP).—They say there's a broken heart for every light on Broadway but to Bernice Biggs, the gay white way means new life and happiness.

Bernice was blind—for nearly 18 years. It was only the other day that she was able to wander down Manhattan's garish streets and enjoy the riot of color that is the city's symbol after dark.

ARMSTRONG GIRL

Bernice comes from Armstrong, B.C., in the Okanagan valley. Growing up in such surroundings of natural beauty, it seemed all the more tragic to her that she should lose her sight while still in high school. It wasn't just the mountains and the sea, either. Bernice wanted to be a teacher and worked hard at it.

When she was 17, the doctors told her that her eyes weren't good. She kept on at school and took her matriculation. Then the doctors told her she could never see again because she had keractaconus, a disease that made the corneas of her eyes become conical. Gradually she lost her vision until, 10 years ago, she could barely distinguish light from dark.

Bernice refused to quit. She learned braille and finally became a teacher in the Canadian Institute for the Blind school in Victoria.

Last Spring she came to New York. The doctors had finally decided to try something rare and dangerous—the transplanting of two healthy corneas to her eyes. The operation took months. It wasn't until the middle of August that they took the bandages off. Even then it took a while for her eyes to come back to normal.

Besides that, Bernice had a hard job adjusting herself. She couldn't get used to seeing people instead of just hearing them. She couldn't get rid of her timidity—her fear of being caught all alone. Then she realized she could take care of herself.

"But the biggest thrill was seeing people's expressions again. I always wondered how people's voices stacked up with their looks. . . ."

But one thing that bothers Bernice is how worried other people look. "That's what impresses me most," she says. "They all seem to be unhappy. They should enjoy themselves more. After all, it's a lot of fun just looking at things."

COLORS IMPORTANT

Colors are important to her now. Everything seems vivid and bright and cheerful. She went up on top of the Empire State Building the other night and spent hours just looking down at the magic carpet of New York's lights beneath her.

But she was disappointed in musical comedy. "After you've been used to getting along with the music alone, the plots seem pretty flimsy," she says.

BIGGEST THRILL TO COME

Her biggest thrill—next to just seeing again—will come in a few days, as soon as the doctors say she can go home. Then she'll see the Rockies again, something she has looked forward to ever since she went blind.

The future?

"Oh, I'm going back to teach for the blind. Maybe I can help them a little. But I'm going to try to really get something out of life. Most people seem to go along without taking very much real interest in the world around them. I want to play games and look at scenery and read books. I've lost a lot of time!"

he Cubs' fans gave the vet- ympathetic cheer when he ed to leave the game in th inning after a foul tip e little finger on his right e had played a great World rom first to last, his superb of the Tigers' pitching staff possibly having been the deciding factor in the hard-fought battle for first money.

The final game lacked many of the thrills of Monday's terrific 12-inning struggle in which the Cubs fought back to deadlock the series at three wins apiece. The Tigers were dominant from the moment that Skeeter Webb, their lead-off man and Manager Steve O'Neill's favorite son-in-law, drove a single to right in the first inning until Newhouser throttled the Chicago gasp in the ninth.

Eddie Mayo followed Webb with a single into the same field, and when Doc Cramer dropped a single into left to score Webb with none out, Manager Charlie Grimm realized that he had called upon Borowy for a little more than the human frame would stand and brought in the veteran Paul Derringer from the bull pen.

RICHARDS SCORES FOUR

Hank Greenberg, first batter to face Derringer, sacrificed the runners along, and then Roy Cullenbine was passed purposely, filling the bases. When Rudy York popped to Hack it looked like the Cubs might escape serious damage, but it was not to be. Jimmy Outlaw worked Derringer for a walk, forcing Mayo across and leaving the sacks loaded, and Richards came through with a tremendous clout into the left field corner to bring everybody home.

Newhouser, ninth Detroiter to bat, finally ended the shambles with an infield out, but by that time the game was wrapped up and it didn't matter. A pitcher of Newhouser's stature, given five runs to play with, will be beaten but very seldom, and this was not one of the days.

MATCH HACK

The Cubs got the first of their three runs in their half of the first on Don Johnson's double and Phil Cavarretta's single, but the Tigers came right back to match it in the second when Derringer went completely wild and walked three straight batters after Cramer had produced his second hit of the day, a single into right field.

Cramer, an old-timer who had said frankly before the series that he was playing his last year of baseball, and Cavarretta banged out three hits each to run their total safeties to 11 for the play-off, the same number delivered by Stan Hack, veteran Chicago third baseman.

Hack began today's game needing only one hit to tie the all-time record of 12 hits in a series held jointly by Pepper Martin and Sam Rice, but in five attempts to solve Newhouser's slants he got only one ball out of the infield.

Derringer was derricked after his walking spree in second and for the next three and one-third innings Hy Vandenberg pitched excellent ball, allowing the Tigers only one hit and whiffing three men before he gave way to a pinch hitter in the Cubs' fifth.

Chicago reduced its deficit to 6-2 with a run in the fourth on Cavarretta's single through the box and Andy Pafko's triple over Cramer's head in centerfield. Cramer made a quick recovery and a beautiful throw to the plate, the ball, in fact, arriving just before Cavarretta did, but Richards couldn't hold on to it.

The Tigers made it 7-2 in the seventh off Paul Erickson, fourth Cubs' hurler, when Cullenbine drew a walk and scored all the way from first on Richard's clout to the wall in right. They made it 9-2 in the eighth when Claude Passeau yielded a walk, Eddie Mayo doubled and Hank Greenberg produced a long fly to left on which Mayo scored.

Greenberg, around whom the big argument swirled after Monday's game, could contribute no more than a sacrifice and a couple of walks to the final Tiger victory. It was learned that he had injured his right wrist late in the Monday conflict and there was some doubt right up to game time that he would start today. Luckily, he had little to do, and he retired for Ed Mierkowicz in the last inning.

Trail, Nelson Men in C.P.R. Express Changes

WINNIPEG, Oct. 9 — Changes and appointments in the Canadian Pacific Express Company's officiary between Medicine Hat, Alta., and Vancouver are announced by H. Y. Knox, General Superintendent of the Company, following the retirement of G. H. Taylor, District Representative, with headquarters at Vancouver, after 40 years with the company.

Mr. Taylor is succeeded at Vancouver by K. H. Newinger, formerly District Representative, Calgary, who will be followed there by Robert H. Taylor, agent at Trail. J. M. Castle, Medicine Hat, has been appointed agent at Trail and A. D. Bruce, general clerk and cashier at Nelson, will be transferred to Red Deer, Alta., to take over the duties of agent for the company.

ONCE AT CRANBROOK

Mr. Taylor began his railway work as a messenger in British Columbia in June, 1905, and 10 years later became agent at Wetaskiwin, Alta. He also filled posts as agent at Cranbrook and Lethbridge and in August, 1918, was promoted to the position of District Representative at Vancouver.

Mr. Taylor, with the company since 1921, has been in messenger service in British Columbia and Alberta and also served as relief agent in several offices.

Mr. Castle entered express service at Medicine Hat in 1916 and Mr. Bruce has had 21 years' experience with the company.

Lard, Smoked Meats, Eggs Still Scarce

Lard was temporarily scarce Nelson wholesalers said Wednesday and there was still a shortage of smoked meats. Egg receipts were also falling off, although the sales volume was very good.

"The Government has announced that 80 per cent of Canadian hogs have been set aside for overseas shipment," the wholesalers said. "This has not made any difference here yet, but may do so next week."

A car each of barley, alfalfa hay, tins, oranges and grapes, and one of flour, cereals and millfeeds arrived here during the past week.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (CP)—The Canadian dollar was up ⅛ at a discount of 9⅞ per cent in terms of United States funds in closing foreign exchange dealings today. (Ottawa Foreign Exchange Board rates 9.09-9.91 pc. dis.) The pound sterling was unchanged at $4.03½.

Largest P.O.W. Camp in Canada . . .

Finds Germans Not Pampered; Treated Firmly

By GEORGE A. YACKULIC
Canadian Press Correspondent

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Oct. 10 (CP) —Shortly before starting this article I walked out of the largest prisoner of war camp in Canada.

In that camp, located at the edge of this city and having 13,634 German captives on its strength, I studied how German prisoners of war are treated in Canada and how they live, how they have changed during their captivity and how they are preparing themselves for the return to civilian life, and what they hope for and what they fear.

Of the camp's total strength, 8094 German servicemen were living within the guarded barbed wire fences. The others were part of the 13,660 German prisoners of war employed in various work projects across the Dominion.

Criticism has been voiced in some quarters that many of the 30,700 German prisoners of war in the dozen detaining camps in Canada are being pampered and handled with kid gloves.

Notwithstanding the fact that I was the first and only non-captive reported permitted to go into the Lethbridge camp and its associated manpower hostels, I was permitted to make a thorough and painstaking inspection.

FOUND NO PAMPERING

And I found no "pampering". Rather, I found German captives being treated fairly but firmly by their Canadian guards. There was not a single visible sign of Nazism or Hitlerism within the barbed wire enclosure or in the hostels, although the captives are granted the privilege and responsibility to pretty well "run their own show" under constant and strict Canadian army supervision.

Canadian officers charged with detaining the captives explained the German prisoners of war were treated with "military correctness" according to the traditional British manner and according to the spirit of the Geneva Convention.

DISCIPLINE GOOD

"Discipline inside the camp is good," explained Col. E. D. B. Kippen, commandant of the establishment, who himself was a prisoner of war in Germany for 15 months during the First Great War, and then returned to Canada to become a broker in Montreal. "I give them an order and they obey it precisely or else. . . ."

Many have found out "or else what?" by ending up in "The Hotel" for disobeying orders. Most of the 45 "guests" I saw in detention barracks landed in "The Hotel" for disobeying camp regulations.

MAKE GOOD PRISONERS

Generally speaking, officers explained, German captives make good prisoners in detention, striving to obtain the remission of four days in every 28 for good behavior so they can earlier rejoin their comrades in the enclosure.

Since Germany's unconditional surrender, food rations have been reduced twice for prisoners not employed on work projects. Exacting regulations state what may be given captives and what may be sold them in their canteens—but that is another story in itself.

"The fact is, however," officers pointed out, "that contrary to the belief of many Canadians, the prisoners of war in this camp get nothing which is in short supply on the civilian market, even if they are allowed such items by regulations. It is because such things as candy and gum are short on the civilian market that the prisoners cannot buy these and many other articles."

The men are vastly different from the arrogant and bullying men I watched go into the Lethbridge camp nearly three years ago.

They are defeated men with all the arrogance gone, and they are filled with worries.

SOMETHING TO CROW ABOUT: L. A. Olsen, of Fruita, Colo., holds the head of his rooster, "Mike" in his left hand. He holds an eye-dropper with which he feeds "Mike" in his right. No. We aren't crazy. The headless rooster lives on, apparently not missing his head. Olsen cut it off two weeks ago when he had a yen for a chicken dinner. But decapitation was merely a mild inconvenience to the bird. There was no blood and the Rooster walked about as usual. Scientists of the University of Utah are going to investigate the phenomenon.

REPLACES PATTON?: Lieut.-Gen. Lucien K. Truscott, who, according to report, has replaced Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., as commander of the Eastern half of the U. S. occupation zone in Germany.

RESIGNS; WALKS OUT: Leo T. Crowley, shown here, has resigned as Foreign Economic Administrator and Chairman of the Board of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Although the resignations do not become effective until Oct. 15, Crowley left the current British-American loan negotiations flat. The fact that he walked out on the negotiations is viewed as evidence of disagreement with President Truman over loan proposals now under consideration. Reliable sources are quoted as stating that President Truman took sides with officials who oppose Crowley's view that United States should go slowly on loan to Britain, and should insist on the British "placing all their cards on the table."

BORN IN BANGKOK INTERNMENT CAMP: Col. G. C. Carpenter, of Windsor, Eng., officer of the British Army holds Baby Elizabeth Marshall, eight months old, who was born in Japan's Bangkok Internment camp and was therefore the youngest of the Jap prisoners. With the occupation of Malaya and the liberation of British prisoners of war, civilian internees are also among those who now take freedom for the first time in as many as three and a half years. All were flown from Thailand camps to hospitals in Rangoon.

5673 Jobs for Men Listed at Vancouver

OTTAWA, Oct. 10 (CP)— The Labor Department, in reply to questions by Lt.-Col. Cecil Merritt, V.C., (PC-Vancouver Burrard) today tabled in the Commons a breakdown of employment vacancies listed in the Vancouver Employment Office Sept. 28.

The Department said of 5673 jobs listed for men 793 were in logging, 388 in mining, 2148 in manufacturing and 628 in construction. There were 1545 other vacancies for unskilled workers.

George Goddard, Old-Timer of Trail, Dies

TRAIL, B.C., Oct. 10 — George Goddard, resident of Trail for the past 42 years, died in Trail-Tadanac Hospital today at the age of 84. Well-known throughout the district, Mr. Goddard was an ardent fisherman. He served all the 32 years he worked in Trail in the refinery department of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. Ltd. He retired in April, 1935, but continued to live in Trail.

He was a member of both the Emulation Lodge, A. F. & A. M. of Trail and Brighton Park Lodge of Chicago, and also the Sons of St. George of Chicago.

Mr. Goddard came to the United States in 1891, from Yorkshire, England, where he was born in December, 1861, and he worked for 12 years as a departmental superintendent for Armour and Co., at Chicago. In 1903 he came to Trail on holidays and remained here.

He is survived by his wife in Spokane, two brothers; James in Trail and Robert in England, and two sisters, Eleanor, and Mrs. W. R. Smith, both of Trail.

DAGENHAM, England (CP) — Four hundred workers at the Ford works here went on strike when early morning tea and toast at the canteen was discontinued. Tea and toast were reinstated by the management.

Canada Faces Winter With Housing Problem Unsolved

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 10 (CP). — The war was fading reluctantly into the past, but today, as Canadians felt an ominous chill in the Autumn air, they faced their first Winter of peace with the most pressing reconversion problem—housing—still unsolved.

By unnumbered tens of thousands, there weren't enough homes.

In unnumbered millions of dollars, unnumbered thousands of blueprints, greatest building splurge in Canadian history was being held back by twin bottlenecks of men and materials.

VETS SURPRISED

From sea to sea, the veterans were flooding back, inevitably surprised at what they found, inevitably swallowed by the hosts of people seeking homes or shelter, inevitably taking what they could get.

From sea to sea, homes still sold somewhere near 35 per cent higher than in 1939 and nobody who knew housing was ready to predict a drop within a year, often a lot longer.

That was invariably the dominant note of reports produced from every corner of the country in a survey by The Canadian Press. Briefly, these were some of the salient facts:

Halifax—For normal replacements alone, between 1000 and 4000 new homes were needed. High prices might last as long as five years throughout Nova Scotia. Few houses for sale.

Montreal — Canada's greatest city needed 50,000 new houses or apartments.

Toronto—Almost every type of house being sold with about 1-3 of price asked as down payment.

Ottawa—Said Canadian Legion: "Wartime Housing is the only agency doing anything to provide houses for veterans." Said private enterprise, trying to build 400-500 houses of 4-5 rooms at $5000-$8000: "Government regulations only make the situation worse."

Winnipeg—Shortages slowed construction of 1000 homes now building. Plenty of houses for sale but prices were 45 per cent above 1939, with large cash down payment asked.

Regina—Most houses for sale were older, larger ones with prices up about one-third. Owners often wanted all cash or heavy down payment. Memories of 30's induced many sales for current prices.

Saskatoon — Dischargees bought most houses, many for cash . . . housing registry had 575 applications for living quarters.

CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY

Vancouver—Five-six room houses sold for $4000-$6000, prices $1000-odd above 1939. Chief reason for sales: Chance to make money. Wartime Housing building 1000 homes, but potentialities of building boom held back by lack of permits. Wartime influx of prairie people, without war-end exodus complicated the situation.

Royal Navy Used Human Minesweepers to Clear Harbors

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (CP). — "Human minesweepers!" of the Royal Navy in specially-designed diving suits since D-Day have cleared major harbors in Northern Europe from Brest to Bremen of mines which could not be removed by ordinary methods, it was disclosed today.

Groups of these mine disposal experts, known as "P" parties, speeded the liberation of Europe by enabling Allied forces to use the ports in short order, the British Information Services reported.

Lieut. George Gosse of Adelaide, Australia, in the Royal Australian Naval Volunteer Reserve, was the first to render safe the little-known enemy "oyster" mine in Bremen's harbor.

"The mine was resting on a body —there were plenty of bodies in the harbor," he said. "It was very dark and I had to work by my sense of touch in about two feet of mud. I tok off the primer and brought the mine up to the surface. It was like taking the spark plug out of a car —you can do it in the dark if you know what you are lookikng for."

The Royal Navy undertook the training of "human minesweepers" after charges ready for laying in deep-water berths were discovered at Bizerte, North Africa, during the 1943 Mediterranean campaign.

DIVING UNIT

An Admiralty experimental diving unit designed a special shallow-water diving suit, and shortly after D-Day the two "P" parties went into action, one at Caen in Normandy, the other at Cherbourg, to open those ports to Allied shipping.

Market Trends . . .

NEW YORK— Renewed demand for Rails and Steels again advanced the stock market prices to eight year highs. Gains of fractions to around a point also spread to other sections of the list and included Motors, Rubbers, Aircrafts, Oils, Specialties and some Farm Implements.

MONTREAL—Papers moved into new high ground in the indices in trading on the stock exchange and curb market and while there were strong spots in other groups trends were fairly well mixed.

TORONTO—Stocks were moderately weak on the exchange session and trading volume tapered off to a trickle of trades in the cheaper Gold issues chiefly. At mid-day the Industrials were up but part of the gains were dropped later while the Golds widened their margin of losses over gains. Western Oils held to the up side while trading lightly. Volume for the day was around 2,600,000 shares.

CHICAGO— Announcement that the Government is back in the wheat market at substantially increased bids caused buying which boosted wheat futures around two cents a bushel at times to new seasonal peaks.

Some of the buying apparently was hedge removals aganst sales of cash wheat to the Government at Minneapolis, where the Government agency was accepting offerings at $1.73 to $1.74½ a bushel. The agency said it would entertain offers of wheat for export here at current market prices, which are about 11½ cents a bushel above its previous bids of $1.67.

Wheat hit the highest levels in about 20 years on the upturn, with the December delivery selling at $1.78 a bushel at one time.

Wheat closed ⅞ to 1¾ cents a bushel higher than the previous finish, corn was up ⅛ to ½, oats were unchanged to ⅝ higher, rye was unchanged to 1¼ up, barley was ⅛ to ⅞ higher.

LONDON—The stock market was steady.

WINNIPEG— Rye futures prices on the grain exchange were irregular. The local market ignored strength at Chicago with nearby futures, especially December, inclined to be easier. There was some selling in the December for American account and light support credited to shippers in October. Dealings were moderately active.

At the close prices were 1¼ lower to ¼ higher with Oct. $1.71B; Dec. $1.67-01.67¼; May $1.66⅝B and July $1.58B.

There was a substantial export business in wheat and flour with 6,500,000 bushels taken for the United Kingdom. Of this, 5,000,000 bushels were wheat and 1,500,000 in the form of flour. There was also some export business in flour to the West Indies.

VANCOUVER—Mines held steady and Oils made some gains on the stock exchange. Sales totalled 51,795 shares.

NOTICE

To Registered Owners in District No. 9

Arrow Lakes, Nelson, Trail

The Annual meeting of the REGISTERED OWNERS for the purpose of electing one (1) delegate to represent them during the coming season will be held in the CITY HALL, NELSON, B. C., on Saturday, November 3rd, 1945, at 2:00 p.m.

ALL REGISTERED OWNERS are urged to attend this meeting at which a Member of the Board will be present. The B. C. Interior Vegetable Scheme requires that all owners register with the Board as any person (including any person as holder of the last agreement to purchase any land) owning one-quarter acres or more of land in the Area to which the Scheme relates, upon which land the regulated product is grown for sale, and who has registered with the Board.

ALL OWNERS are required to register with the Board. Those persons not registered may obtain the necessary forms by writing to the Secretary, B. C. Interior Vegetable Marketing Board, Kelowna, B. C.

By Order of the Board.
Secretary.
G. T. JEWELL,

Advertising in Canadian daily newspapers averages about twenty-five million lines a month, of which about one-third promotes nationally advertised products.

TO THE NELSON-CRESTON ELECTORS

As the present disorder among political parties in this riding does not promise to help solve our urgent local problems, therefore, in response to numerous requests I am allowing my name to go forward as an independent candidate. Twenty-one years in this district as a working man have enabled me to become thoroughly familiar with the problems of this riding, and I offer for your consideration and support the following platform:

PEACE EFFORT

I am aware that even more energy, foresight, and planning than were expended on the war effort will be needed to solve the problem of peace. I will press for a vigorous government attitude, and combat any tendency to revert to the "laissez-faire" outlook of the thirties.

REHABILITATION

A square deal for the returned man. Our national resources were spent ungrudgingly for military training; the same resources must be made available in the refitting of the veteran for civilian life.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

I will work for a pension of $50 per month at sixty-five years of age, and the abolition of the means test.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

I favor an amendment of the Workmen's Compensation Act to provide full silicosis benefits BEFORE the third stage of the disease is reached.

TOURIST TRADE

Good roads and improved fishing are needed to develop the tourist trade of the Kootenays. The present strips of political disease now termed highways must be transformed without delay into standardized highways capable of handling comfortably the anticipated post-war traffic. I would work for the construction of fish-ladders at power plants so that the present interference with the natural re-stocking of the lake be ended.

FARM PRODUCTS

I will work to secure efficient marketing of farm products so as to eliminate the present price spread between producer and consumer.

INDUSTRY

I advocate legislation designed to encourage the establishment of new industries both in the Kootenays and B.C. generally, and urge the provision of adequate funds for industrial research.

LABOR CODE

I support the principle of collective bargaining, and stand for the right of Labor to organize.

MINING

I would urge the prompt withdrawal of wartime restrictions on mining operations, so that the full development of our local mining resources may be resumed.

FORESTRY

I stand for the better management of the timber wealth of British Columbia, and an expanding programme of reforestation and conservation.

EDUCATION

To do everything possible, by such means as the consolidation of rural school districts, standardization of taxation, and cooperative boarding houses to raise the standard of rural education, and give the country child opportunities equal to those of the urban child.

If elected, I would make the service of this Riding a full time job.

ELECTORS: Look to the future
