Oil-Fed Flames Destroy Slocan Power Plant

Slocan City, Japanese Camps Left Without Light After $15,000 Blaze; Cause of Sudden Fire Unexplained

SLOCAN CITY, July 10—Fire broke out and completely destroyed the power plant, valued at an estimated $15,000, here at 3:15 this afternoon. Starting almost under a 750 gallon tank of crude oil, filled only a few hours previously, it was only a matter of seconds until the fuel container was a blazing inferno. Flames shot 200 feet upwards and spread immediately to the power house where now only cement foundations remain.

Hoses from three hydrants, although unable to extinguish the fire which burned for over an hour, were able to keep the flames from reaching out to nearby buildings, closest of which was 75 feet away. Several young Japanese, protected by the streams of water from the A.R.P. pumps rolled barrels of oil away from the front of the blaze.

CAUSE UNKNOWN

Harry Fukusnima, who was in charge of the plant, was on the spot at the time the fire started. No one was able to offer any explanation of the cause.

The power plant was on the city limits, about half a mile East of the main highway, on the Springer Creek Road. A one-storey wooden structure, it housed the diesel machinery which supplied electricity to the residents of Slocan City and the Japanese housing projects at Bay Farm, Slocan and Popoff. These communities will be without electric light and refrigeration until the plant can be replaced. It was built nine years ago and was owned by the Ottawa Mining and Milling Company who had leased it to the Security Commission for the housing projects.

Crew Parachutes To Safety

PALMER, Mass., July 10 (CP)—The pilot of a Navy plane which crashed in flames on Baptist's Hill here today reported himself and his crew safe after parachuting out when the plane caught fire in the air and a wing and engine were torn away. Police said seven persons bailed out safely.

Youngsters Learn Economic Lesson Buying Lollipops

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP) — Youngsters at Manhattan East Side settlement house have received a graphic lesson in contemporary economics.

Given pennies yesterday to go to a neighborhood store to buy lollipops, the seven- and eight-year-olds returned with the pennies still clutched in their hands.

The man at the store told them lollipops now are three for a dime, they said.

BEEF-EATER: At the age of four-months, Dorothy Ann Lafontaine, daughter of a Los Angeles, Cal., policeman, stands upright on mother's hand—after downing a dinner of beef stew! She has been eating the regular family diet since she was two weeks old, her father said.

Lots Cleared, Excavations Start For Rossland Wartime Housing

ROSSLAND, B.C., July 10 — At the regular meeting of the Rossland City Council on Monday night, Alderman Lefevre, Chairman of the Improvement and Development Committee, reported that the clearing of brush on Wartime Housing lots had been completed at a cost of $415.

R. W. Haggen, City Engineer, stated that the first street of the City's road building program and the excavation for three Wartime Housing Limited had been started Monday.

For the new building sites it was necessary to open up streets and Mr. Haggen asked the Council to name them.

Mayor G. R. Corner appointed the members of the Council as a Committe of the Whole to do this.

New streets in the South East site: Ecling Road; Irwin Street, (after Father Pat); and Kirkup Avenue, (Rossland's first policeman). For the new streets in the Idaho site: McLeod Avenue, (after the City Clerk); Turner Avenue, (after the late Mayor Turner) and Jeldness Way.

Alderman W. Cunningham of the Parks Board reported that the merry-go-round, which the Board has been working on for the last 12 months was completed and installed in the Esling Park this week. The Board felt it would prove a great asset to the Park if it was not abused.

Mr. Cunningham, reported that since 1937 the following equipment has been installed in the Parks: seven swings, four teeter totters, two drinking fountains, one checker board, 18 benches with concrete ends, and one merry-go-round. The wading pool has been repaired and put into operation.

Alderman Cunningham thanked the Rossland Transportation Society for donating $125 to the Parks Board for their projects.

VANDALS BUSY

He also reported that considerable destruction had been done to the Parks Board property. Three weeks ago someone had destroyed a number of plants in Esling Park by tearing them out by the roots and throwing them in the creek. About ten days ago 20 wooden checkers were found floating in the wading pool. On July 1 some young people dismantled one of the benches at the wading pool and threw the concrete ends, weighing 100 pounds each, into the pool and breaking them beyond use.

Alderman Elmes, Chairman of Property Committee, reported that the Committee recommended that the application of Fred Parker for one and a half lots adjoining his property be accepted and the lots be sold to him for $50, and the application of G. Nyman for a lot be granted for $20. Council approved these recommendations.

Alderman W. Darby, Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee reported that new water lines had been installed and old ones repaired.

Fire Chief K. Martin reported that during June there was a fire loss of $35 and that the Department answered three alarms.

During the month the Department tested 11 hydrants and 11 stand pipes. All the hydrants were in good condition and the necessary repairs on the stand pipes has been done by the Board of Works.

URGES HYDRANTS BE INSTALLED

Fire Chief Martin reported that the Department felt the stand pipes should all be replaced by standard type hyrants in order to avoid the continuous trouble the present type of valve caused.

During the month of June 63 inspections were made under the Fire Marshal Act. Twelve electrical permits were issued and 32 inspections were made on them.

The chimney permits were issued and six inspections of them carried out. Nine lights and 31 cut outs were replaced. The Council endorsed the recommendation on stand pipes and adopted the Fire Chief's report.

TO INSPECT STABLES

Alderman R. Allison reported that Alderman H. Elmes said he had conferred with City Solicitor Clegg regarding previous legislation on keeping horses in the City. They found that the sanitary by-law and the pound by-law were sufficient to cover this. Council endorsed their recommendations that the Sanitary Inspector inspect all stables as soon as possible.

City Auditor L. A. Read read the financial statement for the first six months which showed receipts of $86,902.87 and disbursements of $67,219.70. Among the receipts were municipal taxes, current $45,065.13, arrears $6147.74, interest $132.60, totalling $51,345.47; water rates $13660.98; grants $8987.98; trade licenses $1345.50; poll tax $735; road tax $22; police court fines $382; building permits $51; dog tax $702; sale of lots $1440.

Disbursements were administration $3993.53; administration of justice $2694.09; fire protection $4969.31; sanitary department $903.39; health and relief $1812.41; social assistance $6109.96; Board of Works 77884.69; water works $1928.29; and miscellaneous $36,924.03.

The statement was referred to the Finance Committee.

A letter of appreciation written to Alderman Allison from E. E. Kenney of the National Clothing Drive campaign Committee was read. Alderman Allison reported that an additional 500 pounds had been forwarded by the Post Office since the drive closed here. Also that letters of thanks had been sent to all organizations who had assisted in the drive.

Correspondence from S. Martin, Secretary of the Rossland City Band, thanking the Council for the grant of $50 recently received was filed.

W. K. Scatchard of the Provincial Board of Works wrote the City Council and thanked the Fire Department and Fire Chief for the speedy and valuable assistance given at the accident at the garage when H. Cleverly was severly hurt.

S. A. Wise applied to the Council for permission to change the flat roof on his building to a slanting one. The Property Committee recommended that the permission be granted provided he conformed to the Fire by-law regulations.

Petition received from residents on Kootenay Avenue regarding the condition of the Avenue was referred to the Board of Works.

A letter was received from Dr W. K. Massey informing the Rossland City Council that Public Health Unit was to be organized in Trail and outlining the scheme. The unit would be financed entirely from Victoria and the City would pay 30 cents per capita as its share, he said. Council endorsed the scheme, presented by Dr Massey.

Rittinger Found Dead

TRAIL, B.C., July 10 (CP)—A. V. Rittinger, 47, of Vancouver, missing since July 3, was found dead today in Little Sheep Creek near the Silicia Ranch on the Rossland-Patterson Highway.

Mr. Rittinger, an employee of the Vancouver office of the Dominion Treasury, disappeared while in the Kootenay area taking audits of dairies. He lived in Saskatchewan until moving to Vancouver three years ago.

Survivors include his widow, two sons, Jack, 23, and Alan, 21, and two daughters, Yvonne, 15, and Mary Lynn, 11. (For story of search see Page 3.)

The body was found by a group of Boy Scouts camping at Christina Lake, some 40 miles from Rossland. They were pressed into the search by Provincial Police along with Trail and District teen aged youths.

RUSSIA SEEKS TO BAN CANADA A-ENERGY TALKS

Fifth Use of Veto Brings Demand for Airing of Question

ATTEMPT FAILS

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—Russia today sought unsuccessfully, by invoking her veto, to bar Canada from taking part in atomic energy discussions in the United Nations Security Council. Australia simultaneously demanded that the whole veto question be aired at the coming general assembly meeting in September.

Over the objections of Soviet delegate Andrei A. Gromyko, the Security Council invited Canada to the council table today at a session billed to consider rules adopted by the Atomic Energy Commission. Canada is one of three countries which helped build the atomic bomb.

Mr. Gromyko told the Council he reserved his right to bring up the question later. However, Dr. Herbert V. Evatt of Australia in a brief, heated conversation with Mr. Gromyko after the Council session said the question applied only to today's meeting; that Canada would have to be invited each time the Council met to sit at the table if the council held that Canada's interests were involved.

Mr. Gromyko insisted after talking with Dr. Evatt that "the question is still open."

LONG DEBATE SEEN

The United Nations secretariat released a letter from Dr Evatt to the secretary-general requesting that the veto question be placed on the agenda of the general assembly meeting in September.

Developments in the Council, in which Russia has invoked the veto five times and sought to do so today, foreshadow an extended debate.

Mr Gromyko did not choose to carry his stand on the veto to the showdown stage at this meeting.

A. G. L. McNaughton, Canada's representative on the Atomic Energy Commission, sat with the Council delegates during part of the heated discussion over whether he should have that right. Canada and the 11 powers on the Security Council make up the Atomic Energy Commission.

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—Walter Nash, Deputy Prime Minister of New Zealand, expressed disapproval today of the veto power held by the big five powers on the United Nations Security Council.

"You can't forever have a world organization with a veto by any one power," he told newspapermen at the State Department.

Wooden Shipyard Operators May Strike Next Week

VANCOUVER, July 10 (CP)—William L. White, President of the Marine Workers and Boilermakers' Union (CCL), said late last night that wooden shipyards here may be closed next week by a strike which would affect more than 1200 employees.

The threat of a strike looms because of alleged refusal by operators to boost wage raise offers which were recently rejected by the Union. The Union has demanded 25 cents an hour wage increase, a 40-hour week and Union security.

Mr. White explained that operators had recently offered wage increases of 10 cents an hour for helpers and 15 cents an hour for mechanics, with 40-hour week and maintenance of membership provisions.

In the case of the small shops, he said, representatives of the Western Bridge Co. here have withdrawn previous offers of a five per cent wage increase and 40-hour week. The offers had been rejected by the Union when first made, he added.

The only bright spot in the shipyard labor picture is a report that joint negotiations by 14 B. C. shipyard unions with the Shipbuilders' Federation, involving 4500 men, begin here Thursday.

"Peeping Tom" Granted $200 Bail

WHITBY, Ont., July 10 (CP)—Summoned to court on a seldom-used charge of eavesdropping under the old common law of England, Emerson Jones of nearby Ajax yesterday was arraigned on an amended charge as a "Peeping Tom".

A neighbor, Mrs. P. Groves, told court she had seen Jones peeping in her bathroom window after he had peeped in the window of the house next door.

Magistrate F. S. Ebbs reserved decision for one week and granted bail of $200.

Million Tons of Water to Be Blown Into Air by Underground Atomic Test

By ELTON C. FAY

ABOARD U. S. S. McKINLEY, July 10 (AP)—One million tons of water—column nearly a half mile in diameter and 8000 to 10,000 feet high—will be blown into the air by the underwater atomic bomb, Vice-Admiral W. H. P. Blandy estimated today.

The task force commander said ships within the column area "will get an awful working over" and those near the centre are likely to be tossed into the air "in pieces if not altogether."

Admiral Blandy also made these points at a press conference:

There will be high waves, as much as 100 feet, flung out from the column but their height will fall off rapidly and probably will not exceed 10 feet by the time they hit the shore of Bikini Island.

Some ships may be capsized by the wave. "I think there will be considerable damage from the wave action as well as the shock of the bomb."

Scientists estimate the diameter of the water column from 2000 to 2500 feet and figure it will rise in solid form from 8000 to 10,000 feet; a geyser-like spray may reach 20,000 feet.

Radioactive spray may become part of natural clouds, and contamination may be dropped later in the form of normal rainfall.

For this reason Enfwetok Island, West of Bikini, is to be evacuated.

Radioactive contamination of the water and ships will be hundreds of times greater than in the previous blast, scientists estimate.

It now is planned to explode the bomb about 6:30 a. m. Bikini time July 25 (3:30 p. m. C. S. T. July 24), but no definite program has been set as yet pending later weather data.

The bomb will be detonated by radio impulse from a trigger ship about 20 miles away.

Eliminate All but One Flag Design; Retains Union Jack

Quebec Opposition Foretold as Lacroix Walks Out When 'Unity' Design Rejected; Delay Is Likely

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, July 10 (CP)—The Parliamentary Flag Committee today eliminated one of the final two suggested designs for a Canadian national flag—one supported by Quebec members—but sent its competitor back to a sub-committee for further consideration of its exact design.

The only design left in the running at the end of the meeting was the red ensign with a golden maple leaf in the fly. The Sub-Cmomittee was given the job of deciding how the leaf could best be given a white background and just how large its Union Jack should be.

Finally eliminated by a vote of 15-8 was the design of La Ligue Du Drapeau National triangles with a green maple leaf in the middle. In the wake of its defeat, Wilfrid Lacroix (L-Montgomery) walked out, charging that selection of a design including the Union Jack had been "a foregone conclusion."

The meeting climaxed Committee National flag" from the 2400-odd designs that started flooding in when it was named by Parliament's two Houses last Fall. Its job had been handed over to a Sub-Committee about a month ago but that group reported today it had failed to reach a compromise on the question of whether the Union Jack should be included.

Mr. Lacroix's walkout rounded off his efforts to have the Quebec design chosen. He told the Committee it was the only design which would signify the equality of the two major races. It was "a distinctive National flag." Quebec would never accept the redesign with the Union Jack.

URGES DELAY

Warning against haste, he suggested a final decision be delayed until next year.

Senator Norman Lambert (L - Ontario), the Chairman, then revived two motions long before the Committee. One favored one design, one the other.

Again Mr. Lacroix urged that some form of compromise be found. A final decision would "create disunity." But Senator Lambert said the immediate responsibility of the Committe was to report a definite conclusion to Parliament. Fears of disupnity were "not very material to our objective."

J. M. MacDonnell (PC-Muskoka-Ontario) said, however, that Mr. Lacroix' words "fill us with very serious reflections." He would vote for the ensign, but he would vote "with great regret that it isn't possible to get a flag with full recognition for both races."

After Mr. Lacroix walked out, Mr. Harris, Joint Chairman, said he "resented entirely the implication that the work of his Committee has been fixed up." If Quebec would not accept the design chosen by Parliament ,it would be the first time that province had not loyally accepted its decisions.

From there the discussion turned on the point on which it finally ended.

Mr. Beaudoin said he was willing to accept the views of the majority as to a general design, but he raised two points:

1. There should be some white somewhere in it — a statement which met general favor.

2. It had been stated that if the Union Jack took up one-quarter of the flag's space it would denote subservience.

Mr. Harris took issue with Mr. Beaudoin's contention about the size of the Union Jack. From his study, he had found that a Jack of any smaller size would make the ensign "lopsided."

At this point Mr. Hackett came up with the suggestion which eventually found approval. He urged that the Sub-Committee go back to seek a design "to which all men may rally before throwing our Committee report into the maelstrom of the Commons."

KING SUPPORTS JACK IN DESIGN

OTTAWA, July 10 (CP) — The contentious issue of choosing a distinctive Canadian flag was brought up at a Liberal Party caucus today and reports emanating from the meeting indicated that Prime Minister Mackenzie King was told he could not expect the support of the majority of Quebec members on the issue if he advocated adoption of a design containing the Union Jack.

From a source close to Party affairs, The Canadian Press learned that Mr. King appealed to party supporters to accept as Canada's flag the red ensign with a gold maple leaf replacing the coat-of-arms in the fly. The flag is one of two designs chosen by the Parliamentary Committee established to select the design for a Canadian flag.

The second design consists of red and white triangles with a green maple leaf in the centre of the diagonal separating the two colors.

(Later, at a meeting of the Flag Committee the second design was eliminated and the red ensign with a golden maple leaf was referred to a Sub-Committee for consideration of its exact design.)

Mr. King appealed for unity in the party and told how he had grown up to recognize the red ensign as Canada's national flag. He said he was anxious to have the matter cleared up before he leaves for the peace conference at the end of the month.

After Mr. King resumed his seat it appeared for a time as if the caucus might break-up. Then, it was learned, Bona Arsenault, independent member for the Quebec constituency of Bonaventure, arose and for more than half-an-hour pleaded that the Prime Minister change his mind.

Mr. Arsenault, who is invited to Liberal caucuses although he sits as an independent, was reported to have made a "dramatic" appeal that Quebec members not to be forced into a position of having to vote against a design including the Union Jack.

He was said to have understood how Mr. King had grown up to recognize the red ensign as Canada's flag. In Prime Minister King's young days Canada still was a colony.

DUPLESSIS' OPPOSITION FORESEEN

Mr. Arsenault referred to the fact that the Liberal Party at the next election would not be going to the polls under the leadership of Mr. King. He pointed to the possibility that Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec might field 65 Independent candidates to run against Liberal candidates on the flag issue in particular.

He was reported to have said that Mr. Duplessis could point to the red ensign as the flag of conquest which was run up the flag staff by Gen. Wolfe when he won Canada from the French in 1759. The Premier could point to it as the flag that flew during the dispersal of the Canadians and also the flag which had the support of the Progressive Conservative Party.

The caucus broke up without Mr. King giving any indication of future procedure. Some Quebec members were understood to have asked that the caucus be reconvened for a night sitting or for one tomorrow. They were told a caucus could only be called by Cabinet ministers.

It was learned that even Cabinet ministers were split on the issue. Some members estimate that about 40 out of 63 Quebec seats now filled would vote against the Government if Mr. King presses the issue.

One Quebec member said that if the issue is pressed a vigorous campaign will be carried on to prevent it from getting anywhere this session.

If this failed an effort might be made to have the matter delayed until next general election when the people could be consulted in a referendum.

Seize Steel Plants to Avert Strikes

Surprise Move by Ottawa to Protect Winter Fuel Supply, Assure Output

By JACK WILLIAMS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, July 10 (CP)—The Government late today took control of three Canadian basic steel plants in a move to block a strike which would involve 14,000 workers.

Labor Minister Mitchell in a surprise late afternoon announcement in the Commons reported appointment of F. B. Kilbourn of Montreal as controller of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. steel plant at Sydney, N.S.; Steel Co. of Canada at Hamilton and Algoma Steel Corp, at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

He will be assisted by three deputies—Bart Sullivan, Toronto; J. Argyle, Ottawa and H. R. Pettigrove, Fredericton.

The three deputies, all Labor Department officials, will be assigned to individual plants. Mr. Sullivan will act for the controller at the Steel Co. of Canada, Mr. Argyle at the Algoma plant and Mr. Pettigrove at Dosco.

The Minister said the action was being taken "to assure, as far as it is humanly possible to do so, that work will continue in these important plants."

WIDE EFFECT

A tie-up, he said, would curtail vitally-needed coke for next Winter's fuel supplies and would, if prolonged, affect "hundreds of thousands" of workers in other industries.

The United Steel Workers of America (C.I.O.) which had tentatively scheduled a strike next Monday in the three basic plants at Sydney, N.S., Sault Ste. Marie and Hamilton, Ont., tonight had no statement regarding the appointment of a Federal controller and its effect on their plans.

C. H. Millard, National Director of the Union, was conferring with union officials at Hamilton when the Ottawa announcement was received. Mr. Millard withheld comment but Eamon Park, Hamilton representative of the union, stated that the union would make no formal decision until it had studied the text of Labor Minister Mitchell's announcement and of the order-in-council appointing the Federal controller. Park indicated the union's stand would not be formulated until some time Thursday.

The Steelworkers Union has been campaigning for a minimum weekly wage of $33.60 and a work week of 40 hours and at Hamilton today Pat Conroy, Secretary of the Canadian Congress of Labor, stated after a meeting of the C.C.L. Wage Coordinating Committee that a general strike had 'entatively been scheduled for next Monday.

COOL RECEPTION

SYDNEY, N.S., July 10 (CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell's announcement of appointment of a steel controller received a cool reception at the regular meeting here tonight of Local 1064, United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.).

The union local, which represents more than 4000 workers at the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation here, decided to continue with preparations for the complete shutdown pending further word from the National Negotiating and Advisory Committee.

Bracken Hits at New Proposal to Provinces as Ill-Will Breeder

OTTAWA, July 10 (CP) — John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, tonight criticized the Federal Government's proposal to establish new relations with the Provinces on an individual basis. Such a policy, he said, would lead to ill-will and disunity.

Mr. Bracken discussed the new Dominion-Provincial relations in an address over the Trans-Canada network of the CBC and later rebroadcast to the Western Provinces.

The Liberal Government also had failed to accomplish effective reconstruction and in the recent budget had offered only minor tax reductions which were "nothing but political propaganda as far as this year is concerned."

The policy of the Progressive Conservative Party on Dominion-Provincial relations was that there should be adequate Federal aid on the basis of fiscal need to the Provinces. There was need for the Dominion Government to modify its "uncompromisingly rigid attitude" and to open the way for a settlement by further consultation.

"One of its chief weaknesses is that it denies the sole right of even the smallest of taxation fields to the Provinces. I predict that the plan will result in a maximum of ill-will and a minimum of efficient cooperation. It will tend to such disunity in this country as nothing heretofore has done.

NEED ATTITUDE CHANGE

". . . What is needed in Canada today is a different attitude of the Dominion Government towards the preservation of our Federal system —a policy not of usurpation of Provincial rights by coercion, but of strengthening the fiscal position of the Provinces by cooperation, a policy not of maximum centralization and threatened heavy taxation, but of maximum Provincial autonomy strengthened by Federal aid; a policy in the economic field not of rationed scarcity but of full production of needed goods.

"In these ways and in these ways only lies the true destiny of Canada."

Mr. Bracken said there had been failure to accomplish "effective" reconstruction in Canada.

The Government's post-war administration had failed to obtain maximum production of needed goods and had lessened incentive and destroyed initiative. Shortages were apparent everywhere.

MUST HALT EXTRAVAGANCES

Turning to the budget, he said the people had been led to believe that the first peacetime budget would provide for substantial reductions in wartime taxation, but there were "no tax reductions of any kind for 1946."

"This denial of taxation relief and the misleading propaganda that is put out in excusing it, is but a continuation of the war mentality of easy money and extravagance, which the Government seems incapable of getting away from.

"There can be no worthwhile reduction of the income tax, or of other taxation, until the Government puts a stop to its extravagance."

REPORT LAGUARDIA CRITICISM

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—Senators said today Director General Fiorello H. La Guardia had sharply criticized U.N.R.R.A. workers in China for making public a protest that relief supplies were being misused there.

HOLD-THE-LINE IS GENERAL ATTITUDE IN U.S.

Butter Up to $1.25, Hamburger 90 cents, Milk Highest in Years

SOME SCARCITIES

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP) — Newspapers, taking a look at the over-all price picture and prospects in leading cities of the United States since the death of the Office of Price Administration, today found a general "hold the line" attitude despite sharp boosts in some instances and continuing scarcities in a few lines.

Here was the picture in major cities, as drawn by the newspapers:

New York—Milk at 18 and 21 cents, highest in 26 years; butter reported at 80 cents to as much as $1.25; meat up, supplies increasing, good stocks expected in few days; buyers' strike threatened by New York City Consumer Council, claiming 250,000 membership; rents kept at O.P.A. marks by state law.

Chicago — Times survey shows eight of 20 basic food items up since July 1 with hamburger selling at 70 to 90 cents and some merchants refusing to sell butter because of high price with others paying 76½ cents wholesale, renters' courts jammed and bailiffs predicting a flood of eviction hearings; butter quoted at 71½ to 73 cents, moderate meat stocks available and more expected.

MEAT PRICES UP

Los Angeles—Times and Herald and Express expect better meat cuts by weeknd at probable 10-cents-a-pound or more increase, rents pegged generally at 15 per cent above O.P.A. by law; Examiner quotes O. P.A. Food Price Chief, Leonard Kearns, as saying a check showed meat prices up as much as 116 per cent on hamburger, 102 per cent on sirloin, 75 per cent on bacon and 67 per cent on poultry.

Boston—Meat supplies increasing with major chains and independents holding the line, scattered sales at above black market prices; retail trade in other items reflects no change.

Minneapolis — Rents moving upward to a 15 per cent limit urged by realtors, isolated cases of increases of as much as 400 per cent; butter at 85 cents; meat stocks improved.

MINE OPERATORS WITHDRAW WAGE RAISE

States We Made Offer Union Rejected This Is the End

VANCOUVER, July 10, (CP)—C. H. Locke, spokesman for the British Columbia Hardrock Mine Operators, said here late last night that the offer of a wage raise of 6½ cents to striking miners has been withdrawn.

Commenting on an earlier statement by Harvey Murphy, Western Regional Director of the Union who said that the operators' had withdrawn their offer, Mr. Locke said, "There is no such offer outstanding now. We made the offer, the Union rejected it and that is the end of it."

Meanwhile, mediation efforts are still being delayed pending the arrival of documents confirming the appointment of chief justice Gordon Sloan as Special Federal Commissioner for the dispute.

The miners are asking 29-cents an hour increase with a 40-hour week and union security.

No Fires in District; Eight During Week

There are no forest fires burning in the entire District, the B.C. Forest Service at Nelson reported Wednesday, although eight new outbreaks occurred during the week. During the season there have been 71 fires in the Kootenay.

In West Kootenay, four were extinguished during the week, while the total for the season was 28.

The four that were put out in the aEst Kootenay this week gave a total of 43 for the season.

25 Die in Crash of Army B17

HOLYOKE, Mass., July 10 (AP) — Twenty-five United States Army, Navy and Coast Guard men—the entire crew and passenger list of a converted Flying Fortress carrying the homeward-bound service men from Gander, Newfoundland—were killed last night when the plane crashed against 1200-foot Mount Tom.

Salvage crews summoned to the scene of New England's worst air disaster, labored today on the mist-shrouded hill that rises, abrupt and alone, above the Connecticut Valley not far from Westover Field in nearby Chicopee, where the plane was to have landed at 7:27 C.S.T. last night.

The broken bodies of the occupants, whose names were withheld pending notification of next of kin, were scattered among the plane's wreckage along a 400-foot path shorn by the crashing B-17 through dense woods 200 feet from the hilltop.

Army rescue forces who struggled up a steep, cobblestoned road, reported that by daybreak they had recovered about 20 bodies and had taken them to Holyoke Funeral homes.

Five bodies were believed still in the smoking, charred wreckage that was spread in small pieces over the quarter mile square area.

WOODS STILL SMOKING

During the morning, many hours after the crash, the woods still were smoking and occasional bursts of flame kept army guards busy with portable extinguishers.

Army officers speculated that the pilot, possibly unfamiliar with the terrain, did not observe the mountain until it was too late.

Typical "GI" mementos of a happy home-coming—that became a grim tragedy—dotted the charred ground.

There were personal snapshots, obviously of parents, wives and sweethearts. A gold wrist watch, that somehow withstood the shattering crash, glittered among the ashes, its hands stopped at the approximate time of the crash.

PARACHUTES LAY IN PILES

Charred and torn parachutes, unopened, lay in piles. There also were Navy Pea jackets, burned shoes, wallets, blankets, and several letters.

Westover Airfield officials said identification of the dead would be impossible for an indefinite period.

Most of the bodies were badly dismembered by the impact of the crash that hewed down trees a foot in diameter.

The Holyoke Fire Department said a heavy downpour of rain that immediately followed the accident probably prevented a serious forest fire.

GOLD MINES PLEAD FOR TAX RELIEF

Ilsley to Confer With Developers Assoc., Friday

$34 AN OUNCE

By R. K. CARNEGIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP)— J. A. Bradette, Liberal member of Parliament for Cochrane in Northern Ontario, said today he was seeking an interview with Finance Minister Ilsley to see what could be done to extend tax relief to Canadian gold mines to offset, at least to some extent, the loss they are suffering because of the higher valuation of the Canadian dollar.

An association of prospectors and mining developers, meeting in Toronto, also has asked the Minister for an appointment and Mr. Ilsley told them he could confer with them here Friday.

Mr. Bradette, in whose constituency many large gold mines are located, said he planned to ask other members of parliament who represent ridings with gold interests to join him in pressing for relief to gold mines.

These members include J. L. Gauthier, Liberal member for Nipissing, David Gourd, Liberal member for Chapleau, Walter Little, Liberal member for Temiskaming, and a number of members from Manitoba and British Columbia.

Rodney Adamson, Progressive Conservative member for York West also will be asked to the meeting. Mr. Adamson holds a prominent position in the mining industry.

Speaking yesterday in the Commons, Mr. Adamson said the Government's "drastic" action would have harmful effects on the Canadian Mining Industry.

In an interview, Mr. Bradette said big mines were opposed to anything in the nature of a subsidy. They wanted extension of the depletion allowance which allows them a deduction of 33⅓ per cent from their net profits on which federal taxes have to be paid. It also allows deductions of 20 per cent to shareholders on dividends from mines in figuring their income taxes.

Before the Canadian dollar was brought to par with the United States dollar, the mines were paid $38.50 an ounce for gold by the mint. Now it is $35.

TOAST of TEA
BY J. A. McARD

Talk to a blind man, writes Coleridge,—he knows he wants the sense of light, and willingly makes the proper allowances. But there are certain internal senses which a man may want, and yet be wholly ignorant that he wants them. It is most unpleasant to converse with such persons on subjects of taste, philosophy or religion. Of course, there is no reasoning with them, for they do not possess the facts on which the reasoning must be grounded. Nothing is possible but a naked dissent, which implies a sort of unsocial contempt, or — what a man of kind disposition is apt to fall into,—a heartless, tacit acquiescence, which borders too nearly on duplicity.

New Parity May Change Price of Gas and Oil

VICTORIA, July 10—Whether the new parity between the Canadian and United States dollar will mean a reduction in the price in gasoline for British Columbians has not been decided, Dr. W. A. Carrothers, Chairman of the Coal and Petroleum Control Board, said today.

Most of the crude oil for British Columbia gasoline comes from the United States. Elimination of the 10 per cent premium on Canadian funds means that the cost of crude coming into the province is that much less.

Dr Carrothers said the new exchange rate will more than wipe out an increase of 10 cents a barrel in crude, which took place about six weeks ago.

"But it is not possible to state offhand just what the removal of the premium means in relation to the retail price of gasoline," he said.

Different companies import different types of crude, depending on whether they have big markets for fuel oil, he said.

He added that before any change in the price of gasoline is made a complete investigation of the books of oil companies would be required and "it has not been decided yet if this should be done at the present time."

Budget Under Fire; "Spending Spree"

Change in "Billion Dollar Mentality" Seen as Essential

OUTPUT HALTER

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, July 10 (CP)—A flurry of opposition charges that the Government's budget policies would discourage farm output, handcuff business and hamstring the possibilities of employment today headlined an otherwise colorless Commons budget debate.

A quartet of Opposition speakers — two Progressive Conservative, one C.C.F. and one Social Credit —held the floor in the abbreviated Wednesday sitting and bespoke criticism for the decision to tax co-operatives and the failure to do away with excess profits taxes and provide higher taxation exemptions for low-salary earners.

The speakers were John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre), J. A. Ross (PC-Souris), T. J. Bentley (CCF - Swift Current) and Robert Fair (SC-Battle River).

Mr. Diefenbaker recalled that the people had been promised "substantial" reductions in taxation, but said the budget made it apparent that the Government still was on a wartime "spending spree," with a "billion-dollar" mentality.

WOULD END REGISTRATION

To effect economics, he suggested that the wartime national registration be done away with and that there be a tightening in the method War Assets Corporation was using to dispose of surplus war materials.

He said the budget would undermine confidence, destroy hope and create fear.

Mr. Ross said the fact the tax changes outlined in the budget would not come into effect until next Jan. 1 would have the effect of discouraging farm production until that day.

He supported previous criticism of the Government's failure to reduce the size of the Civil Service now that the war was ended and for the way in which price controls had been handled.

Mr. Bentley spoke against the taxation of co-operatives and said Finance Minister Ilsley had disregarded the welfare of the people who made up those associations, which had been formed to protect those in the low-income class.

Mr Fair said if current fiscal policies were continued the country could never hope to get out of debt. A change in the country's economic policy was needed.

He felt all members should do their duty and fight against the budget. The tax relief offered was insufficient.

He criticized plans to tax co-operatives. It was the farmer who would suffer as a result of such action.

He urged also that some income tax exemption be allowed in recognition for the work done by farmers' wife. He asked that farmers be exempt from collecting the income tax of hired help.

Clearwater Residents Worked Up Over German Prisoners' Behavior

VANCOUVER, July 10 (CP) — Mike Sekora, an official of the International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL), last night told the Vancouver Labor Council that 139 German prisoners-of-war have instituted Nazi-like conditions on a logging operation near Clearwater, B.C. and that a state of open drunkenness among the prisoners prevails on the Interior town's streets.

The IWA representative said the citizens of the area are up in arms over the matter, particularly because they claim the Germans are receiving $3 a day for work which ordinarily would go to the town's unemployed workers.

"There may be murder committed there because the residents are all worked up about it," said Sekora, adding that the former Nazi soldiers are employed by a subcontractor for a lumber company.

He told the Council, which decided to send details of the conditions and a protest to Federal Labor Minister Mitchell, that the Government had promised removal of the Germans by May 31 but had failed to carry out such action. He said the prisoners are supposed to be employed only in a logging camp and that a promise to that effect to Clearwater residents had been broken.

MAYOR FINDS BLACK GOLD IN STURGEON EGGS; $27 A POUND

STURGEON FALLS, Ont., July 10 (CP)—You can't tell Roy Coburn, Mayor of this Northern Ontario town, much about caviar. He not only produces it in quantity but has shipped it abroad — even to the Czar of Russia.

From the waters of Lake Nipissing, he and his son annually dump out of their nets a small fortune in tiny, black fish eggs. They come from the bellies of big, ugly sturgeon but a process of drying, sifting and salting renders them as tasty as Russia ever produced — and they sell on the New York market for as high as $27 and $30 a pound.

When he's not tending his nets, Mayor Coburn attends to Sturgeon Falls municipal affairs but, as he looks out over Nipissing Bay, he says: "There's black gold out there."

Salmonellosis Same Type of Disease As Typhoid Fever, Report City Doctors

Salmonellosis, an epidemic of which is threatening Vancouver, is a condition of the same type as typhoid fever, Nelson doctors revealed Wednesday.

It is contacted through contaminated foods and unless immediate steps were taken to protect the milk and water supply, thousands of citizens could be stricken with the infection, warned Dr. Claude E. Dolman, head of the Department of Bacteriology at the University of British Columbia.

To June 21, 122 cases of Salmonellosis had been reported to Vancouver Health Authorities, while in 1945 there were only 48.

Charges U.N.R.R.A. Used as Political Weapon

MOSCOW, July 10 (AP)—Izvestia today declared the United States and Britain had employed United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration food to exert "political pressure" on countries aided, and charged the purpose of Herbert Hoover's recent world-circling famine tour was to spread "anti-Soviet propaganda."

The government newspaper, in an article written by S. Gorodetsky, also quoted "foreign progressive circles" as saying that reactionaries in Britain and the United States were using U.N.R.R.A. as a means of "political blackmail." This so-called "blackmail" was compared with what was described as "atomic politics" in the United States.

The article said that "specific circles" in the two Western nations were "striving to use the help (U.N.R.R.A.) campaign for far-reaching economic and especially political purposes.'

"These aims have little relation to the love of human beings, but are directly connected with the most aggressive side of politics," Izvestia said.

The article said the recent bill passed by the United States House of Representatives, providing that American correspondents must be free to report the use of U.N.R.R.A. funds, was a sample of "political pressure."

(A deficiency appropriations bill passed June 28 by the United States House and sent to the Senate allotted $465,000,000 to U.N.R.R.A., and contained a provision that the funds could not be used in countries which censored news accounts of U. N. R. R. A. activities.)

Izvestia said this bill was "directed at the practical stoppage of U.N.R.R.A supplies to White Russia and the Ukrainian Republics."

Look for Stuart Appointment to Bolster Marshall's Unification Efforts—Diplomats

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP) — Diplomatic authorities predicted today the ambassadorial assignment given 70-year-old John Leighton Stuart, veteran Presbyterian missionary, will bolster Gen. George C. Marshall's struggle to unite China's Communist and Nationalist factions.

The latest development in the tangled Chinese situation came almost simultaneously with President Truman's nomination of Mr. Stuart as envoy to Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek's government.

UNRRA Director-General Fiorello H. LaGuardia announced that effective at noon yesterday all shipments of badly needed relief and rehabilitation supplies—except emergency foods—were being suspended. He acted after more than half of UNRRA's 400 staff members in China had accused Chiang's government of failing to get the materials from China's ports to the millions in the interior who needed them and contended that some relief goods were being diverted for political ends.

Mr. LaGuardia's action cut off shipments to China of farm machinery, fertilizers, fishing boats, trucks, steel rails, locomotives, clothing and textiles.

Cheng Pao Nan, representative here for the Chinese National Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, expressed surprise at what he termed Mr. La Guardia's "unilateral action." He denied there has been an accumulation of UNRRA goods in Shanghai or other Chinese ports.

Mr. Stuart, born in China of American parents and a missionary there since 1905, is regarded at the State Department as highly competent in Chinese affairs and acceptable not only to top Chinese government leaders but also to the Communists. When the war started the Japanese interned him in Peking where he remained until the war ended.

61 Canadian Soldiers on Records Of Being Absent Without Leave Are Still "on the Loose"

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BRUSSELS, July 10 (CP)—Only 61 Canadian soldiers, on the records as being absent without leave, are still "on the loose" in Northwest Europe and by September most of these will probably have given themselves up or been apprehended by the special Canadian Provost section which remained behind to do the job.

In addition, 10 or 15 other Canadian deserters are thought to be living as civilians in Europe, their records stolen, lost or mislaid.

None are believed to be of a desperate criminal type. Indeed, only a few Canadian deserters during the war years took seriously to crime—notably two gangs which gave headaches to military and civil police from the Riviera to the hook off Holland.

The gangs have now been rounded up and are awaiting trial, but their names will not be disclosed until charge sheets are completed.

One gang, with about 10 members, was rigidly disciplined by its leader, who expelled members if they failed to dress neatly or exceeded speed limits. Under his guidance it roamed through France, Belgium and Holland for months, stealing cars and carrying out armed holdups and numerous thefts.

There were only three or four in the other gang, but its criminal record was as bad.

The Canadian total of A. W. L.'s is much lower proportionately than either the United States or British forces in Europe.

Officers estimate that when the war ended there were about 700 Canadians on the Western front and in Italy who were then A. W. L. for periods of from a few weeks to a year or more.

By the start of the year, the number fell to approximately 300. By April it was whittled to 200, scattered principally through Belgium, Holland and France.

"There are no real criminal types in the list of 61 still at large," said Capt. E. V. (Nick) Carter of Vancouver, Commander of the Special Provost section.

"Most of them probably deserted—and some even jumped their drafts for home after they got through the repat camps in England—because they had girls on the continent they wanted to marry, or wives they wanted to stay with until the wives were repatriated too. Most of them are likely in Brussels and Amsterdam."

In the last month or two deserters have been "coming to us on their own in increasing numbers," said Capt. Carter. "I guess they decided Canada wasn't such a bad place after all to live in."

Trail District Teen-Agers, Scouts Take Part in Rittinger Search; Bloodhound Fails to Uncover Missing

TRAIL, B. C., July 10—Trail and district teen-aged youths, many of them boy scouts who were organized by Provincial Police officials this afternoon into search parties were combing the desolate mountain country near Rossland for A. V. Rittinger of Vancouver whose mysterious disappearance last Wednesday has baffled authorities.

Police have almost definitely established that a partly clad man, thought to be a victim of amnesia, who was reported last Friday wandering along the highway near Silica, on the Rossland Paterson highway was Rittinger.

An intensive search yesterday by Provincial Police bloodhound failed to uncover the missing, though the dog picked up a number of strange scents, only to lose them in streams which thread through the rocky area.

A pair of socks, discovered Sunday adjacent to Little Sheep Creek some two miles from Rossland in the direction of Paterson, are believed to belong to the missing man.

Working on the assumption that the socks were Rittingers the search party this afternoon converged on the point and fanned out in all directions to comb over an area of more than four square miles, which embraces the points at which strong scents were picked up by the bloodhound yesterday.

The job confronting the searchers will be difficult. The rough country is thick with almost impenetrable underbrush in many places, though the area is honeycombed with many old forgotten mining trails, any of which Rittinger might have followed.

While Trail and Rossland boys searched in that area, a group of nearly 50 Boy Scouts who left Trail this morning for their Summer camp at Christina Lake, some 40 miles from Rossland, will start working over the rough country in the direction of Rossland, helping in the search.

Mr. Rittinger, employed in the Vancouver office ofthe Dominion Treasury, left the Coast city four weeks ago on a trip which took him through the Kootenays. He was taking audits of dairies in the district.

Alan W. Rittinger, 21 year old son of the missing man arrived from Vancouver office of the Dominion this morning assisting police in organizing the boys into searching parties.

He told a reporter that his father was in excellent health when he saw him last a month ago, but reported he had been advised by the manager of a local dairy that his father took ill last Tuesday and had been forced to leave the firms audit on which he had been working. The manager told young Rittinger that his father had been sweating profusely and seemed to be under a mental strain at this time.

However he was known to have taken an audit of a dairy at Fruitvale, B.C., the day following, the same date that he checked out of a Trail hotel. Rittinger's son said his father had only one more stop, at Grand Forks, before proceeding back to Vancouver.

The missing man, aged 47 was born in Qu'Appelle, Sask., and had lived in Saskatchewan almost continuously until moving to Vancouver about three years ago.

He was auditor for an automobile supply firm in Regina for 15 years and later became minimum wage inspector for the government of Saskatchewan, with headquarters in Regina.

Since coming to Vancouver he has been auditor for the Dominion Treasury Department.

Alan reported that his father had phoned the family from Trail last Wednesday at which time he appeared to have been in good health.

All-India Congress Party Accepts B. Plan for Indian Independence

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press
Foreign Affairs Analyst

The All-India Congress Party, of which Mahatma Gandhi is the guiding spiritual and politieal light, has accepted the British plan for Indian independence, and the Moslem League passed a resolution June 6 accepting Britain's proposals.

Thus Hindustan's 400,000,000 at long last appear to be heading toward the broad highway which it is hoped will lead to self-rule.

(Reuters News Agency in a dispatch from Bombay Tuesday said the Moslem League had decided to "re-examine" the British plan, saying "certain developments have taken place" since the original acceptance June 6.)

The Congress decision was prompted principally by the frail little Gandhi, who once told me the Sermon on the Mount had been the greatest inspiration of his life.

It was a tense situation, for the Socialist wing of the Congress demanded rejection of the plan. The Mahatma, filled with the wisdom of his 79 years, sat at his spinning wheel on the platform of the auditorium as the opponents of the program advanced their arguments. Quietly and shrewdly he spun his yarn until the right moment arrived, and then he made his plea. Opposition wilted before this amazing personality who is the greatest single influence in India.

So Gandhi, who has led his country's fight for freedom through many decades, counseled peace and co-operation at what is probably the crowning moment of his career. Comparisons are likely to be invidious but one can't help looking back four years to another very different meeting of the All-India Congress Party in that same vast canvas pavilion. This was in August, 1942 after the Indians had rejected the British offer of Dominion status brought to them by the mission under Sir Stafford Cripps.

Gandhi launched an appeal for a non-violent campaign of civil disobedience which almost immediately got out of hand, as was to be expected, and there were fierce clashes between the authorities and the natives. There was bloodshed and destruction on a wide scale, and hundreds of Indians were thrown into prison.

If peace really has come to India now it will be a Godsend to the world at large, for there is nothing more certain than that she will occupy a key position in the Far East once she gets her new government firmly established. For that reason she will be entitled to the help and encouragement of the Western world. She should have her place in the United Nations Organization at the earliest feasible moment.

Creston Council Decide to Keep Store Hours Same

CRESTON, B. C. — Discussion of store hours closing, tenders for the laying of 2000 feet of concrete sidewalk on the main street and safety measures on the old park bridge, highlighted the Council meeting last Monday night in the village chambers with Reeve Mallandaine and commissioners Langston and Staples present.

After hearing the solicitation for funds from the village for Board of Trade publicity from a delegation of W. J. Truscott and G. Constable, the Council passed $50.00 towards what the Reeve termed "a very necessary step towards putting Creston out in front."

The second delegation of R. Crawford, V. Mawson and Russ Joyce, discussed the matter of store closing hours, with the final result being the Council announced the hours of retail business would remain the same as they were beginning July 1, 1946. A proclamation to this effect was authorized by the Council.

Clippings from the Nelson News stated that confusion exists at Cranbrook with stores taking arbitrary closing hours and in Nelson some grocery stores will close at 6:00 p.m. Saturday nights.

Guy Constable in a letter to the Council asked for the following in regard to the bridge crossing the gulch enroute to the old park grounds:

1. Clean up the debris; 2. apply motor speed limit; 3. raise planking evenly for drainage; 4. renail planking; 5. secure railings on sides and 6. legislate in order to keep children from playing on bridge.

Discussion brought out that the Council might consider the bridge "a one car-one way" bridge with a plate bolted on the bridge floor planking for pedestrian accommodation.

A letter from Frank Putnam, Minister of Agriculture, in connection with the main street bottleneck as an arterial highway, stated that the Minister, officials and merchants concerned would meet together to discuss the matter. A letter from the Public Works office at Victoria stated the Minister would visit Creston shortly to talk this matter over.

An aplication from the Barnes brothers for a 24-hour coffee snack shop was held over for a proper application and fuller information. A request came from Calgary for information and possibility of opening a combination billiard parlor and coffee counter here. A. Strong and A. Horne asked about the possibility of a portable snack stand and the Council replied that they had no jurisdiction outside of the village limits but not in favor of operating in Creston.

The Council granted, providing it was not held on the busy main street a request from Rev. Hunter of the Pentecostal Church, to have street meetings for the teaching of religion.

Creston Sawmills Limited wrote in regard to odors arising from sewage disposal, and the village will investigate the complaint. In a report from Dr. Murray, the Council concluded that immediate action should be taken in the matter of obtaining a dumping ground for refuse.

The commissioners will write B. C. Affleck, stating they were more than anxious about the sewage and water systems along with other town planning data under the project, asking if he will be available to do the work.

Full information will be needed in regard to the tender submitted by Frank Romano to laying 2000 feet of sidewalk. This tender was receiving favorable consideration and the Council would like to meet Mr. Romano to discuss cement mixture and gravel cushions.

Winnipeg Car Overturned Near Cranbrook

CRANBROOK, B. C. —Pulling too far off the highway near here at approach of another car, Joe A. McEwen's automobile ditched and overturned, breaking glass and injuring its four occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Morrow and Miss Wallet, presumably of Winnipeg, and Mr. McEwen.

The car, licensed at Winnipeg, was travelling homeward after a holiday trip when the accident occured. Apart from the broken glass and bashing when it turned over, it was not seriously damaged.

Madison, one of the former Presidents of the United States, stated: "To the press alone . . . the world is indebted for all the triumphs which have been gained by reason and humanity over error and oppression."

ALIENS ENTER U. S. AT 2000 DAILY

30,000 Arrested By the Immigration

MIAMI, Fla., July 10 (AP)—Since the end of the Second Great War, millions of aliens have turned their eyes and hearts toward the United States and now are pouring into this country—illegally—at the rate of 2000 a day.

That is the estimate of United States Attorney General Tom Clark, who said that of the 60,000 who entered this country unlawfully in a month, 30,000 were arrested by the Immigration and Naturalization Service, better known as the Border Patrol.

In the Southeast, with its long coastline and proximity to islands of the Caribbean, the number of aliens arrested has jumped 800 per cent in eight years.

In 1938, the Border Patrol apprehended 803 aliens in the Atlanta district, which includes eight Southeastern states. In the last six months, the number totalled 3138. If the present trend continues, more than 6000 will be picked up in this district alone this year.

Aliens picked up in the last six months, either unlawfully in this country or attempting to enter, included criminals, stowaways, smuggled aliens and the riff-raff of many countries.

Lumber Workers Uncertain of Wage Increase Results

CRANBROOK, B. C. — Lumber workers in East Kootenay, back at work after the strike since June 24, are still uncertain what the 10-cents-an-hour increase will do to their pay cheks since it is based on revision of certain wage categories established by the Regional War Labor Board. A dime-an-hour increase over their pre-strike wage will leave a net increase in most cases when the work week is reduced, under the agreement, to 44 hours from the current 48 hours, and they have also secured the voluntary irrevocable checkoff.

The Interior wage scale has taken a pushing around during the past three years, and the final benefits will depend on which scale the increase is applied to. Up to 1944 operating competition for labor pushed the wages up to a height which finally attracted Regional War Labor Board investigation, and showed there was a chaotic wage condition in the industry. Orders to set a standard scale, with union and operators unable to come together in drawing it up, produced an arbitrary set scale considerably below what was being paid.

Police court fines for almost every operator in East Kootenay for exceeding this ceiling was followed by sharp cuts when the ceiling was finally accepted. Another take-home pay cut followed Provinical compulsory application in the Interior starting last December of the 48-hour week, replacing the former 54-hour week.

Under the agreement recently reached the wage settlement involves continuing negotiations on "revision of certain categories" and binding arbitration by Justice Sloan where agreement is not reach in such negotiations.

Providing contracts between operators and the International Woodworkers of America are drawn up following this settlement, they will be the first union-management agreements in the district's woodworking industry, despite the fact that the union has been certified bargaining agent in most operations for over two years.

Hints for Housewives

By ALICE DENHOFF

One way to save on fats and oils is to substitute sour cream, cream cheese or mashed avocado as bases in your home-made salad dressings. These dressings are as good with your tossed green salads as French Dressing, or almost as good, and very good with cabbage and cucumbers and mixed vegetable salads.

Do you wash your salad greens when they come from the market? It is a good idea to do so, then dry them somewhat before you put them in the refrigerator. If you have plenty of sour cream on hand, you can also use it when you make corn bread, as per the recipe following.

TODAY'S MENU

Cold Roast Meat
Hashed Brown Potatoes
Salad Greens
Corn Bread Jam
Coffee

SOUR CREAM DRESSING (Cooked)

½ cup sour cream, 2 eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ cup vinegar, few drops tabasco sauce.

Beat the eggs very lightly, add sour cream and other ingredients and cook over hot water until thickened.

SOUR CREAM SALAD DRESSING (Uncooked)

½ cup sour cream, whipped, 1 tablespoon sugar, 4 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons vinegar, a little pepper, 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Mix sugar, salt and pepper in a bowl; add lemon juice and vinegar. Stir this mixture gradually in the whipped sour cream.

AVOCADO DRESSING

1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons evaporated milk, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, ½ teaspoon salt, 6 drops tabasco sauce, ¾ cup sieved avodado.

Add lemon juice to milk and beat well; add salt, mustard, tabasco sauce, and blend thoroughly. Add sieved avocado and beat. The avocado should be pared and the pit removed, and the pulp forced through a sieve. This dressing may be kept in the refrigerator for two or three days.

CORN BREAD

2-3 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 2-3 cup cornmeal, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon baking soda, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, separated, 1 cup sour cream 3 tablespoons melted shortening.

Sift flour, measure and sift 3 times with cornmeal, baking powder, soda, sugar and salt. Combine egg yolk and sour cream, beat well. Add to dry ingredients and stir to blend well. Add cooled shortening and stir well. Beat egg white stiff but not dry and fold into batter. Pour into piping hot 10-in. skillet and bake at 425 degrees F for 25 mins. Serve immediately. Serves 6.

Victoria Couple Believe They Were Over Epicentre of Earthquake

VICTORIA, July 9 (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hilton of Victoria said in an interview today that they believe they were over the epicentre of the earthquake that rocked the British Columbia coastal area June 23 causing considerable damage at several Vancouver Island centres.

The Victoria couple, who have just returned from Great Central Lake, North of Port Alberni, B. C., said they were sitting in the lounge of a house-boat tied with three-quarter-inch cable to trees at the foot of a cliff at the North end of the lake.

"Suddenly there was a great roaring noise and the house-boat started tossing about violently," Mr. Hilton said. "We were thrown to the floor, but managed to drag ourselves to the porch, hoping to get away from the steep cliff above us in our rowboat with outboard engine."

He said fragments of the cliff were crashing down and huge trees and rocks were falling into the lake.

"The water began to boil in a swift current and the cables with which the house-boat was secured to shore snapped and part of the porch onto which we were clinging, was torn away," Mr. Hilton continued.

"The current took the houseboat out towards the centre of the lake for about three hundred feet, and we could see a huge whirlpool forming about twelve hundred feet out. Then there was a terrific waterspout at the point where the water was boiling in this mad whirlpool It was followed by a huge wave."

He said the wave swept the houseboat towards shore and dashed it against the cliff, and that the tremblings of the earth and the whirling fury of the water began to subside.

Mr Hilton said the disturbance lasted from 30 to 40 minutes, and the water around the shore of the lake became thick with mud. He said that at a point about three miles along the shore from the houseboat a steep cliff, 100 feet high, 75 feet wide and 50 feet deep, slid down a 4000 foot mountain, cutting a swathe down the steep slope.

Summer Health Precautions For Children

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph. D.

Although some children rarely exposed to other children have fallen victims to infantile paralysis, exposure to infected persons seems to be a big factor in the spread of this disease.

August and September have always been the bad months. Therefore, during these months, parents of children, especially young children, should aim to keep their youngsters during these months from crowds of children indoors coming from widely-scattered areas as in the movies. Anyway, children under eight or nine would at any time be better off emotionally away from the movies.

Most of all, parents should try to avoid travelling with their children during these dangerous months.

Of course, parents can be overcautious and unduly hamper the social contacts by their growing child. It's hardly wise to keep the child from normal play in his immediate neighborhood unless some cases of infantile paralysis have developed among those children with whom he normally might play. Nor should parents, as a rule, keep their children from church and Sunday School. Usually, the church or Sunday School draws from a limited area and the children there rarely are crowded as they are in places of amusement.

As at all other times of course, it is good practice to wash fruit and vegetables well, which are not home-grown.

Another precaution which parents should observe is to have prompt medical advice about the child who indicates any ailment, especially if there is any stomach or intestinal disorder or a temperature. Early diagnosis of any communicable disease furthers protection of other children.

During last April and May, there were in many parts of the nation, rather serious epidemics of measles and other children's diseases. When children contract these diseases while attending school, some parents are more likely to have medical care of these young patients than if the disease is contracted during the summer vacation.

In spite of our general enlightenment, is is amazing how many parents, particularly in rural areas, will fail to call a doctor when they suppose it is mumps, measles or the like. How selfish this attitude and how dangerous the children with these diseases are to other children.

In the first place, the fatalities from these children's diseases are far greater than most parents suppose. In the second place, many ill-effects may result if there is not proper medical check and follow-up, crippled hearts, impaired vision and impaired hearing, even blindness and deafness. Every wise parent whose child has had any of the children's diseases has a periodic check following his apparent recovery, made by the doctor, no matter how mild the attack appeared to be.

Rings Can Cause Severe Injuries

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

You'd never expect that such severe injuries as sprains, dislocated joints, broken bones or even loss of a finger could result from the wearing of rings. And, yet, Drs. Harold E. Simon and Harry Alban of the U. S. Army Medical Corps, have found they do and rather frequently at that.

They made a survey of a group of one thousand soldiers and found that more than two out of three wore rings. About one out of every thirty had suffered some injury attributed to the presence of the ring. These physicians also noted eleven ring injuries which were so severe that surgical attention was required.

FINGER INJURIES

It is reasonable to assume that there are many minor finger injuries due to rings which do not come to the physician's attention The ring may cause injury in various ways. Most frequently the injury occurs because the ring is caught on a projection. In almost one-third of the cases studied the injury occurred during the course of exit from an airplane.

In these instances as the person was leaving the plane, the ring caught on some projection and thus put pressure on the finger. Six injuries occurred from catching the ring on a nail or a bolt. The remainder ocurred in various ways, such as pushing a swing, crushing the ring against the finger during an over-enthusiastic hand shake or a a result of other crushing injuries.

Some people wear rings after they have become too small. This, of course, interferes with the circulation and may result in some type of trouble after a prolonged period

The injuries which result from the rings include contusions or bruising but more often laceration or tearing of the skin. These lacerations frequently require sewing.

TENDON SEVERED

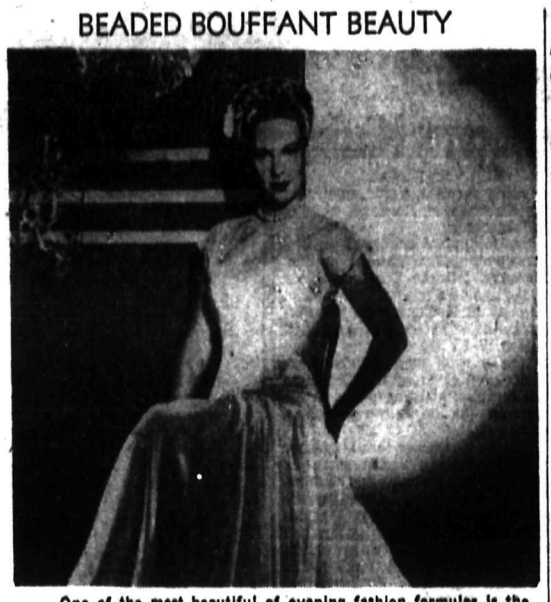
In several instances a tendon connecting a muscle to a bone was severed Following a burn or a broken bone in the finger, swelling of the tissues results, which means a disturbance of the circulation. Prompt removal of the ring by cutting, if necessary, will prevent serious or permanent injury in such cases.

Because of the number of injuries which may result from wearing rings, Drs. Simon and Alban advise that rings be removed during work and at any other time when wearing them might be dangerous.

At other times, of course, there is no reason why rings should not be worn by either men or women, and the habit of removing them while at work not only safeguards against accident but would seem to be common sense care of a valuable ornament.

In 17th century England, the hangman of Dumfries was entitled to dip his iron ladle into each bag of produce as his pay from the inhabitants of the country.

BEADED BOUFFANT BEAUTY



One of the most beautiful of evening fashion formulas is the snug bodice with discreet touches of glitter offset by a bouffant skirt. Andrea King likes this type of evening gown and is shown here wearing a beautiful example of this fashion. It is white, styled with a long, fitted bodice of sheer white lace with delicate circles of iridescent sequins set under the fabric. The bodice extends in pointed detail on the frothy, bouffant skirt of white organdie. The high neck and tiny cap sleeves set a demure note.

R. C. M. P. Continue Search for Army Deserters, Total Number 14,117, Mostly Conscripts

OTTAWA, July 10 (CP)—Almost a year after VJ-Day, Royal Canadian Mounted Police and members of the Provost Corps are continuing the search in Canada for army deserters and absentees — now numbering 14,117. Of the total 5819 are general service personnel and the remainder 8289 are conscripts.

The most recent figure on the number of "draft dodgers" still unaccounted for was given last November by Labor Minister Mitchell when he said the total was about 10,649.

Official statements have repeatedly indicated there will be no general amnesty, but a study of decisions handed down by Military Courts of various types show there has been a relatively high percentage of commutations and mittigation of sentences.

Recently Defence Minister Abbott announced that in Canada between Jan. 1, 1945, and May 1, 1946, there were 4964 army court martial convictions for desertion and 3756 for absenteeism.

In that period, 7710 were sentenced to detention, 686 to imprisonment with hard labor, three to imprisonment without hard labor, 34 to be reduced in rank, 500 to be discharged with ignomy, three were dismissed from the service and three officers were cashiered.

A mass desertion of N.R.M.A. troops occurred during the 1945 Christmas holiday period following passage of an order-in-council conscripting the first draftees troops as overseas infantry reinforcements.

At the time of the mass desertions, 7800 of them conscripted for overseas service failed to report at embarkation points.

On Jan. 20, 1945 it was announced 6300 draftees were still listed as absentees and on April 6, 1945, there were 4082 still at large.

Do You Look Like Your Job?

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Sally Slump is a limp number who has the notion that good posture means to sit bolt upright, and it strikes her as being mighty tiresome and a complete waste of energy. Too bad, because Sal will get a desk-rest droop and look like her job before some man gets around to propose!

It would pay all the Sally Slumps to snap out of it If you get the habit you'll find good posture is more comfortable and less tiring. In erect posture your bones support you and there is no strain on joints or ligaments.

We'll start with sitting, because that can actually be more tiring than standing. It's the poor sitters who get the kinks in the back of the neck. Bending forward in sections throws the body out of kilter and causes strain. The spine should be held straight and the forward bending done at the hip joints. The posture habit doesn't come easy at a desk when you've been slumping, but the best exercise is the practice of good posture.

A Camp Posture authority, Euphemia Cornell, gives the inside story: "When you slump, the space in the chest and abdomen is lessened These cramped quarters make less room for heart and lungs, so there is less oxygen and the result is less energy. That's the way it works Slump in the middle, and the liver and other organs crowd each other, and breathing, circulation and digestion all have to work against interference."

Standing and walking in poor posture make carrying your weight around a lot of extra work, our authority explains. The bony structure is designed to support the body weight with the least muscular effort. But out-of-kilter posture takes part of the job away from the bones and shifts it to the muscles and ligaments. Under strain they protest in fatigue and kinks.

Good posture is not "bolt upright" or rigid. It's easy if you let your bones support you. The only rule is UP Hold your head up and chest is up, then shoulders are no problem This automatically gives an uplift to the lower abdominal muscles that tilts the pelvis correctly, and then most of the weight from the inside is carried on the bones.

You can help yourself straighten out moderate degrees of poor posture. But if you feel too tired to pull out of the slump, check your health habits—three balanced meals a day not top-heavy with carbohydrates, some outdoor exercise, relaxation and enough sleep. It pays!

Alexanders Visit Wild Life Spots Surrounding Banff

BANFF, Alta., July 10—Viscount Alexander, Governor-General of Canada, Viscountess Alexander and their three children, ended their first day in the Canadian Rockies with a visit to the famous wild life spots surrounding this national park town.

The three children, Shane, Brian and Rose, were delighted with the scenes of beaver working at dams and houses in their natural habitat, mountain goat and big horn sheep climbing their ranges, and the buffalo, deer and elk in the park paddocks.

Previous to their twilight tour of the national park immediately surrounding Banff, Their Excellencies visited the Banff Springs Hotel, taking a walk around the grounds. Viscountess Alexander, an ardent golfer, immediately led the way to the hotel golf course, where she looked over several of the fairways.

The Governor General's party arrived at Banff at noon by car, driving from Calgary in company with Major P. J. Jennings, superintendent of Banff national park. His excellency inspected the First Banff Cub pack, which acted as guard of honor for him at the Canadian Pacific stationed where his private railway cars were placed.

Their Excellencies plan to visit Lake Louise and Emerald Lake Wednesday.

Uncover Free Gold on Salmita

New discoveries of free gold on Salmita and adjoining Salmita Lake properties were disclosed in reports from Mine Manager, Lloyd Trembath. The South showing on which a 15,000-foot drill campaign was begun a few weeks ago has also been opened up a further 125 feet by surface trenching.

Three more boxes of samples, 151 in all, covering 1169 feet of mineralized widths, are enroute to Toronto Testing Laboratory for assaying.

Whereas the first 96 samples, all but two of which gave gold values, averaged two and three feet in width, the 151 new samples average almost eight feet each in width, and intersections of mineralization which averaged 30 feet in the earliest drilling have broadened out to an average of 55 feet, the shortest being 15.4 feet and the longest 100.6 and 139 feet.

Considerable pyrite, arsenopyrite, chalcopyrite and blue quartz veins were noted in every hole.

The new free gold discovery on the Salmita property was made in an 18-inch quartz vein on the North showing, which is not scheduled for drilling until the South showing vein has been extended considerably beyond the 325 feet of which it was last reported to have been traced.

Another discovery of abundant free gold on claims one-and-a-quarter miles East of the Susan claim number 56201 could be important to Salmita, Trembath reported, because the general strike of the ground would project this zone across Salmita's 14,000 feet of holdings.

Working on an adjoining property to the South, another crew has been opening up showings with a plugger, Trembath stated, and has traced a vein for 1500 feet with free gold evident in every trench.

The new surface discoveries in the Salmita Lake area follow only by a few months the staking rush touched off by Mike Mitto's discovery of the Salmita property in the Summer of 1945.

Several camps are now operating in the area. The radio station at Salmita staffed by Barbara Trembath, wife of the Salmita mine manager and planes flying to the property with mail are keeping the whole area in touch with Yellowknife, 170 miles to the Southwest.

The efforts to which the British publishers went to distribute their papers on time was exemplified by a Southampton daily that was forced on one Sunday to move 30 miles to Bournemouth and on Monday appeared in Southampton one half hour earlier than usual.

Stays at Home Mourns for Dead Boy Friend

By JANE ATKINSON

Dear Miss Atkinson:

I am 17 years old and am now attending High School. I have a lot of dates, but no ambition to go out. I used to go out and enjoy myself immensely.

About three years ago, I met a boy. I liked him an awful lot. He lived about 18 miles from me and came to see me just as often as he could. Then he went into service. He saw me just as much as possible during the month before he went away and I found out I was in love with him. After he went, he wrote every day and told me that he loved me. Three weeks after he went into service, he died of pneumonia. I never told him I loved him.

I keep thinking of him constantly and can't enjoy myself when I go out, so now I like to stay home by myself. Miss Atkinson, what do you suggest?

"Portage"

If you really want to do as I suggest, "Portage," you'll keep on going out until you begin to enjoy yourself afain, as you certainly will do in time if you're a normal girl. And I'm sure you wouldn't want to be considered anything else.

I'm sorry you have had this sadness so young, but remember that lots of other girls just as young as you are have had similar experiences during these war years. But they will get over it, and be happy again, and so will you.

Don't sit around home and brood over the past. Be big enough to try to forget yourself; to stop concentrating on your unhappiness and begin looking for the good things the future has in store for you.

To keep the morale of the citizens high, throughout the Coventry blitz despite the severity of the attack, the daily newspapers were produced and printed without a break in the continuity.

Hates Hats

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 10, (CP-Cable)—Miss Grace Colman, Labor member of Parliament for Tynemouth, "hates hats" and did not go to the Royal Garden Party at Buckingham Palace Tuesday because she was told by the Lord Chamberlain's office that hats must be worn.

Miss Colman, a cousin of motion picture star Ronald Colman, sat through a debate on colonies in the House of Commons while other women members went to the party, the Royal family's biggest "at home" since 1939. When the other women returned they told her they had seen one woman without a hat and no one had objected.

Tall and fair, Miss Colman said today the only hat she owns is one she bought in 1941 to go to church on a special occasion. This hat was suitable for November but not for a garden party in July.

She says she has worn it four times.

She added: "The plain fact is that I hate hats—no one can say that they are ornamental."

In the House of Commons women members or spectators in the galleries are not required to wear hats.

Pandit Jewaharlal Nehru is chairman of the committee. It is proposed to spend $660,000,000 annually on this scheme and to conscript 250,000 educated Indians to carry out the plan.

DOMEIJ — KRAFT

A double ring ceremony was solemnized Wednesday evening at Bethel Tabernacle, when Rev. J. Ruthven heard the nuptial vows exchanged between, Einar Alfred Domeij and Iris Elaine, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erling Kraft, 509 Fourth Street, an archway banked with flowers and fern an ideal setting for the ceremony. The lovely bride entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of Lohengrins Wedding March, played by J. A. McLeod. During the signing of the register, Miss Nora Dyck of Rossland sang "A Wedding Prayer."

The bride's formal wedding gown of traditional white satin entrain, featured lily point sleeves and sweet neckline, with trimming of pleated self material. She wore a white floral wreath over the softly pleated headdress of the full length veil. She carried a silk headkerchief an heir loom of the groom's family and a small white bible embedded in a shower bouquet of crimson "Better Times" roses. Her only ornament was a double strand necklace of pearls, gift of the groom. She was assisted by Miss Ruby Kline as maid of honor, the brides younger sisters, Miss Junice Kraft and Miss Anna Jane Kraft acted as brides-maids. Little Lillian Anderson, cousin of the bride made a charming flower girl, while the groom was supported by his brother Elon Domeij, best man and John Harvey and Earl Jorgenson as ushers. The groom's gift to the maid of honor and brides-maids were silver cross, pendants, to the best man a wallet, and to the ushers, neckties. The bride's gift to the maid of honor was a pearl necklace and to the flower girls a silver bracelet. The reception was held at the Legion Hall, where the guests were received by the parents of the bride and groom. The bride's table, laid with a dainty lace cloth was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, which was embedded in pink and white rosebuds and flanked by four white lighted tapers in crystal holders. The toast to the bride and groom was proposed by Rev. H. C. Robinson of Trail and was ably responded to by the groom. Mrs. J. S. Anderson of Robson favored the gathering with a solo, "Jesus of Nazareth" and Mrs. J. P. McLaren presided at the tea and coffee urns. Mrs. C. Irvine was in charge of refreshments and was assisted by Mrs. Margaret Salsicciolo, Miss Astrie Storbo, Miss Grace Stainton, Miss Eleanor Vecchio, Miss Pat Gillott and the Misses Judith, Margaret and Esther Anderson. Out of town guests present were Rev. Marshall Ruthven of Grand Forks, Rev. and Mrs H. C. Robinson of Trail, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Anderson of Robson, Mrs. Lancaster and Miss Dolores of Taghum, Mrs. George Talbot of Castlegar, Carl Sahlstrom of Blueberry Creek, A. Duclose of Rossland, Miss Dora Dyck of Rossland, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hoyer of Vancouver, Miss Ida Perge of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Tingesdal and Mr. and Mrs. M. Tingesdal of Shaunovan, Sask., uncles and aunts of the bride and Mrs. L. A. Harlow of Cactus Lake Sask., grandmother of the bride. For going away the bride donned a two piece turquoise crepe ensemble with small blue hat, white gloves and sandals, and wore a corsage of white carnations. Upon leaving, she presented her bridal bouquet to the maid of honor. The happy couple left by automobile for Kelowna, from whence they will travell to Banff, Lake Louise and points of interest in Saskatchewan, and upon their return they will reside in Nelson for a short time, when they will make their home in Victoria.

All Countries Need Promise, a Future Holding Something Better Than Eyeing Gutter for Cigarets

By RELMAN MORIN

PARIS, July 10 (AP)—For the majority of the correspondents who reported it, the foreign ministers' conference has been, to summarize the general feeling, a profoundly depressing experience.

For the people of Europe, it was much worse than that.

A very great distance lies between the Paris of this conference and the rest of the continent. It is the distance between the world of words and the world of flinty fact.

I have just returned to Paris from a trip across Europe. Conditions in all but a few countries are very bad. The people of all countries need—even more than bread and shoes—hope.

They need a promise, a future holding something better than clearing rubble and eyeing gutters for cigaret ends and children asking for food. The present, at best, is difficult. At worst, it is unimaginably black. To millions of people, it seems pointless.

Even so, it would be endurable were any signs of hope on the horizon. None has come from the conference room in Paris.

The basis for the peace with Italy is resented in some countries as "too soft"; the Italians condemn it as "degrading." There is an agreement to internationalize the city of Trieste—and both the Yugoslavs and Italians already have served notice that they only await the moment to cancel it, by force. The demarcation of the Franco-Italian border has angered the Italians and disappointed the French.

Not much hope in this for the plain man who only wants to work and enjoy what he earns.

These are all words. The facts remain that Europe's political problems are almost as timeless as its topography. Trieste was a problem after the last war. Border disputes are centuries old.

What the four ministers have done is what statesmen have always done—gambled for time.

Their compromises have postponed, for the moment, for a few years perhaps, the immediate controversies. In the interim, something new may appear.

The peoples of Europe, like the correspondents in Paris, find it profoundly depressing.

Castlegar-Robson Legion Asks R.C.M.P. or Military Be Sent in To Deal With Fanatic Outrages

To The Editor:

Sir—The enclosed open letter to the people of the Province of British Columbia, re the fanatical Doukhobor situation, is sent to you for publication:

Castlegar-Robson Branch 170 of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., would like to bring to the general public some very important facts, and to bring to the notice of the authorities the seriousness of the situation that is prevalent in the West Kootenay.

We wish, in the first place, to make it clear that there is in the West Kootenay District a very large number of Doukhobors who are law-abiding and are trying to become Canadians; quite a number served with distinction in His Majesty's Forces in the present war.

We would also like to point out that the local police are doing all that is possible, but they are unable to cope with the situation, it would appear that their hands are tied, and they can only do so much when they seem to come up against a stone wall.

The Fanatical Sect of the Doukhobors live at a small settlement on the Slocan highway known as Krestova, but their followers are scattered throughout the district. Every two or three months these Fanatics start out on a pilgrimage, gathering recruits as they go along. Their favorite pastimes are nude parades, dynamiting, burning, and terrorizing the whole district.

The present wave of burnings and dynamitings is the most serious of any that have taken place in the district. During the last two weeks of June these fanatics have blown up a large irrigation and domestic water supply, burned 14 homes and a large community hall, staged a nude parade, and wrecked property, and are on the march with the announced intention of further burnings and destruction of property. The situation has become so serious that the law-abiding Doukhobors and the public in general are living in a state of fear and guarding their homes and property day and night.

Castlegar-Robson Branch 170 of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., has wired the Minister of Justice at Ottawa and the Attorney General at Victoria demanding that the Government act by sending in the R.C.M.P. or a military force to clean this matter up once and for all.

We would ask that all societies, clubs, lodges, Boards of Trade and the general public demand that the Federal and Dominion Government act at once to make this district safe to live in.

Rising Hugh Dalton Seen as Among Leadership Contenders

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 11 (CP) — Hugh Dalton, robust, loud-voiced Chancellor of the Exchequer, literally stole the show from other Cabinet ministers at the Labor National Convention at Bournemouth and earned himself more applause than any other although his subject in addressing the 1100 delegates was the normally dull topic of finance.

Mr Dalton, 59, is high in the Councils of the party but hardly on a par with Foreign Secretary Bevin or Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council, who, with Prime Minister Attlee, are looked on as Labor's top men. But the delegates having greeted Mr. Dalton's speech with shouts of approval—something they withheld from the prime minister—party stalwarts have a measure of his popularity after a year in office and two budgets.

LEADER CONTENDER

It now is evident that if Mr Attlee should unexpectedly leave his office Mr Dalton would have to be considered among the strong contenders for the leadership.

The Chancellor is a son of the Church—his father was canon of the Royal Chapel at Windsor Castle—and he went to Eton. Almost every time this public school was mentioned at the Labor conference some delegates protested that Eton men were out of touch with the times—and the diplomatic Mr. Dalton lifted his bald head and grinned cheerfully.

DREAMS UNFULFILLED

He was made Chancellor of the Exchequer after the Labor victory in election last July, and the story persists that he wanted to be foreign secretary while Mr Bevin wanted just as intensely to be chancellor, which he said he regarded as a "quiet" job.

One more song: Rhys John Davies, Labor member of Parliament for Westhoughton said he lived in Manchester but was more Welsh than most. So when the Welsh delegation to the Labor convention at Bournemouth went out to have its photograph taken he naturally went along — and led it in community singing.

The jovial, white-haired Parliamentarian said Canada was just like another home to him and he'll visit the Dominion and the United States on a lecture tour this autumn.

Cougar Falls to Veteran's Gun

GRAY CREEK, B.C.—The first cougar to be killed in Gray Creek for a long time was shot early on Sunday morning by Raymond King, Air Force veteran.

Raymond King was lying in wait with rifle for a big bear that was haunting the district when he saw a brown shape coming down the road. It leapt the fence into the King ranch (the former Wells ranch.) Raymond shot, the bullet entering by the shoulder and the cougar fell dead.

It was a fine specimen measuring seven foot, four inches from nose to tip. The head bore many battle-scars and hair was gray near the ears and muzzle. The most noticeable feature of the dead beast was its heavily muscled forequarters and immense fore-paws.

Raymond King is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. King of Nelson, who lately bought the Wells place and plans to make Gray Creek their home. P. King served with the Veteran's Guard in this war and was through the First World War.

Despite Foundry, Moulders Continue Strike

VANCOUVER, July 10 (CP)—The Regional War Labor Board today issued a directive granting foundry and pattern shop workers in Vancouver a 10-cent hourly pay boost and the 40-hour week.

This action followed an application from 17 foundries and the American Federation of Labor Moulders Union for the 10-cent increase and another one from the striking Metal and Chemical Workers (CIO) and two city foundries for 15 cents.

Despite this directive the Moulders strike will continue, Harvey Murphy, C. I. O. organizer, said today.

All foundries in Vancouver, with the exception of four which signed an agreement with the CIO group for 15 cents, were closed tight today following disturbances Monday and Tuesday involving pickets and workers who tried to cross their lines, said Mr. Murphy.

He said an executive meeting of the Metal and Chemical Workers would be held this afternoon and a general membership meeting may be called for Thursday to consider the next step.

Mr. Murphy criticized the Regional Board's action, saying it had authorized 15 cent increases for loggers and sawmill workers.

Thirty-two foundries in Vancouver and New Westminster have been closed by the 55-day-old strike called by the C. C. L. Union in an effort to force operations to meet their demands for 25-cent hourly wage increases, a 40-hour week and union security.

At Least One Landlord Likes Children

LEWISTON, Idaho, July 10 (AP)—At least one landlord likes children. Norman McLeod inserted this ad in the Lewiston Tribune:

"Modern house, four bedrooms. Will rent to family with minimum three children, $50 month. Four children, $45. Five children, $40." Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harwick—and their four children—grabbed the offer. Said Landlord McLeod: "Reducing the rent $5 per child should at least pay for the milk."

In spite of the newsprint and manpower shortages during the war, the daily newspapers handled more news, equal advertising and reached more people than ever before.

School Rooms Vacant As Teachers' Strike Enters Into Fifth Month

By MICHAEL ROONEY
Canadian Press Correspondent

DUBLIN, July 10 (CP)—School rooms are vacant and children on prolonged holiday in Dublin as the strike of 1200 city teachers enters its fifth month without signs of settlement.

The teachers are seeking:

1. A common scale for all teachers—primary, secondary and vocational.
2. No sex discrimination.
3. Abolition of the present "rating" system on which salaries are based.
4. Revision of pensions.
5. Applications of Northern Ireland scales for marriage and rent allowances.

The strike to date has cost the Irish National Teachers' Organization £100,000 ($400,000) but a "war chest" is being maintained by 10,000 Eire teachers outside Dublin who contribute one-tenth of their salaries weekly.

There has been no approach to a settlement since the early days of the strike when Archbishop M'Quaid offered to arbitrate. Education Minister Derrig said then, however, that the only way in which the strike could end would be for the teachers to return to work.

J. Beattie, Secretary, Northern Teachers' Executive, told a meeting at Lifford County Donegal, that from a financial standpoint the teachers could carry on for two years.

Pensions Act Amendments Long Overdue

Amendments to the Old Age Pensions Act are to be discussed at a meeting of Federal and Provincial officials Sept. 16.

Changes in the act are long overdue. They should involve making of Old Age Pensions finances a Federal matter. At present both the Dominion and the Provinces contribute to them, with the consequence that the rates of pension vary in the different provinces. The provinces pay a percentage of the basic pension, and then as much more, or as little more, as they please.

Instead of this, the rate should be the same all over Canada, otherwise undue burdens of administration and of contributions fall on the more generous provinces.

There is no reason why provincial social services should not continue to play a part in the administration. The provinces possess the machinery, and capable and experienced officials.

Rates should be higher. Age limits should be reduced. There should be no means test, nor limitation of the income from other sources which the pensioner may earn or receive in any manner.

Obviously Old Age Pensions should be contributory. To provide more adequate pensions there must be contributions by the individuals who will ultimately benefit. There should be a basic rate of contribution from all employers and income-earners which would provide the minimum amount of pension that may be decided upon, and the individual should be permitted to contribute larger amounts if he or she desires to provide for a larger pension.

It should operate very much as unemployment insurance, but with the individual free to fatten his pension if he wishes thriftily to provide for more comforts upon retirement.

Bevin's Unfortunate Remark

British Foreign Secretary Bevin's Bournemouth speech apparently intensified the already existing hostility in some sections of public opinion in the United States, but even within this section it is being argued that the House of Representatives should regard the larger issues involved and pass the Bill. The United States Senate passed it 46 to 34. It is now before the House. In P.M., the New York newspaper of liberal views, the argument for passage of the Bill is thus advanced:

"The British Foreign Minister not only rejected the Anglo-Palestine Commission's recommendation to permit 100,000 Jewish refugees into Palestine, but went out of his way to make a snide remark about Jews and New York. There are a lot of Congressmen from New York, and Bevin's piling up of insult upon injury may yet tip the scales of the vote in the House. If this should happen, and if the loan should be defeated, history may record the Foreign Minister's words as the most expensive ever uttered by a politician.

"It would be a pity, however, if Congressmen permitted themselves to be swayed by indignation, or fear of those who are moved by indignation, to vote adversely on the loan. Whatever one may think of British foreign and colonial policies, one must keep in mind that the loan is a necessary move in the stabilization of the world economy, and not a sentimental gesture. I do not altogether agree with President Truman that the loan is the "cornerstone of the world's structure of peace," but I do believe that it is one of the many building blocks. Moreover, it is important for our own economy.

"Regardless of what we may think of British politics, enlightened self-interest dictates that we approve of the loan. What is involved is the sum of $3,750,000,000 which the British need for imports and for the modernization of their economy. They may or may not spend that money on purchases in the U.S.A. But they are bound to spend, or some of it, in regions—the sterling area and the Commonwealth—with which the U.S.A. does business. Withholding the loan would mean also depriving our foreign customers of purchasing power with which they in turn are enabled to buy from us.

"This is, as a matter of fact, the principal argument in favor of the loan—the strengthening free commerce areas globally. The British, in fact, agreed to relax their restricting trade controls if we granted them the loan. This would mean an important move in the direction of free trade. If the loan, however, should not go through, Britain, which was America's as well as the world's biggest customer before the war, would be forced into a tight economic bloc within its own imperial area. Such a bloc, together with the nearly self-sufficient Soviet colossus, would divide up the world into ruthlessly completing global zones and would do more to imperil the peace than any number of diplomatic mis-steps.

"It is not without significance that the strongest opponents of the loan to Britain are reactionaries, most of them isolationists as well—Langer, Taft, Bilbo, Capper, Knutson, as well as the Patterson-McCormick press. They know that helping Britain at this stage means strengthening international cooperation. Their preference, however, is for a world of isolated 'nationalisms,' perpetually competing, arming, and fighting.

"It would be short-sighted to play into the hands of these people by defeating the loan. I think that liberals, who find Britain's foreign policy distasteful, and Jews, who are outraged by London's Palestine stand, should be careful not to fall into the trap laid by isolationists. They may condemn British policy but they must realize that the loan is more important, for our own country and for the world's stability, than our emotions. There are times when one cannot afford to indulge in the luxury of revenge. I would also like to remind our friends of the words of Woodrow Wilson: 'The economic relations of two great nations are not based upon sentiment; they are based upon interest.'"

P. G., Burton—To whom should I make application to have a certificate of title returned to me, that I deposited for safekeeping in 1918 with Mr. Edward A. Crease, Barrister, Nelson? Would the successors of Mr. Crease still have the document in their possession?

The business of E. A. Crease was liquidated a few years after the above-mentioned date, and as far is known, any certificates of title were released to the owners. However, this title may be in the files of the Land Registry Office, Nelson, as it is not in the possession of any Nelson lawyer.

E. P. M., Thrums—Could you give me a recipe for canning spinach for Winter use?

Wash the spinach carefully, then steam it in a kettle until the leaves are wilted. Cut into required size and pack into sterilized jars, being careful not to pack too tightly. Add one teaspoon of salt to each quart jar, then fill to within ½ inch of the top with boiling water. Put on the caps and screw the bands firmly tight. Place the jars in boiling water for 180 minutes.

R. B., Nelson—Could you give me the name of a Canadian firm which sells supplies for potters?

The Hughes, Owens Co., Ltd., Winnipeg.

Scrapbook, Fernie—Some years ago I read a piece by, I think, Bob Davis about a printing press. Could you quote it in your paper?

Bob Davis published "I Am the Printing Press" in July, 1911, which could be described as a prose-poem in five parts, the chief sections of which are as follows:

"I am the printing press, born of Mother Earth. My heart is of steel, my limbs are of iron, and my fingers are of brass.

"I am the voice of today, the herald of tomorrow. I weave into the warp of the past the woof of the future. I tell the stories of peace and war alike.

"I am the laughter and tears of the world, and I shall never die until all things return to the immutable dust.

"I am the printing press."

E. A. L., Rossland—To settle an argument, does the Crow's Nest train from Nelson to Medicine Hat run just between those points or does it continue on to Montreal? Does the passenger pick up fruit through the Creston valley? At what time did the train leave Nelson for Cranbrook in 1931?

The Nelson-Medicine Hat train does not switch to the main line.

Occasionally, the passenger train will stop to pick up fruit through the Creston valley.

To answer your last question, we suggest that you write to The General Offices Railway and Steamship Service, C.P.R. Flats, Nelson.

LIVE AND LET LIVE

There are no words of condemnation too harsh to apply to the people in the neighborhood of the Runnymede hardware store, who took it upon themselves to protest the employment of a Jewish war veteran as a clerk in the store. Complaint was not based upon discourtesy or inefficiency, which might have been a legitimate reason for objection, but simply because the young man was a Jew. It is a disgrace to the whole community that such bare-faced prejudice should exhibit itself in this manner. It is the negation of everything that the word British should convey.

The proprietor of the store has expressed his regret at the necessity imposed upon him of dismissing the young veteran. He said that since his livelihood depended on the store, he could not afford to disregard the protests. It might be noted, however, that the period of two days during which Joseph Moses was employed was scarcely long enough to determine what effect the protests might have had on business. There are times when a little independence pays dividends. There are customers any business ought to be glad to do without.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

"LITTLE FELLOWS" VICTIMS

Consider well the case of the "little fellow" whom the teamsters' union particularly seeks to subject to taxation and regulation.

The market on Second which teamster pickets blockaded for two days is illustrative.

All who observe in this town know that the independent groceries and meat stores, most of them small, have had a hard fight to live against chain store competition. They keep open long hours and make personal service of known patrons attractive.

Come the teamsters, aiming by brute force to regulate their hours and burden them otherwise.

It isn't fair. It isn't the American way.

It's downright Fascism imposed by a powerful union which, if not checked, will spread.—Detroit News.

The issue (in the U. S. coal dispute) is royalty payments for employees' health and welfare. Properly employed, labor royalties do not work against the common good. Kaiser-Frazer, for example, pays the men $5 per car, which serves both to improve labor relations and to spur higher and more economical production. Employers pay Sidney Hillman's Amalgamated Clothing Workers 2 per cent of gross payrolls, out of which members receive health, life insurance and hospitalization benefits. The fund is jointly administered by union and management. ACW funds have also sometimes tided employers over temporary distresses and helped some of them stay in business with better styles and modernized methods.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

B.C. Pole Scalings in May 4 Times Year Ago; Nelson Gain 10 Times

Nelson Forest District was third in sawlog scalings for May, of the six forest districts in British Columbia, with 12,108,156 feet board measure measured by the licenced scalers. It was next to Fort George, which scaled 14,140,199 f.b.m., and was followed by Kamloops with 9,871,736 f.b.m., Prince Rupert Coast with 8,514,228, and Prince Rupert Interior with 2,666,422. The five districts together had May sawlog scalings aggregating 47,300,651 f.b.m., or about a fifth of the Provincial total. Vancouver Forest District having the rest—181,125,886 f.b.m. The scalings were larger than a year ago for the four Interior districts, especially Fort George and Nelson, but were a decline for the two Coast districts.

Fir, which until two or three years ago was the leading sawlog species in Nelson district scalings, has taken the lead away from larch again with a large margin, in the May scalings, accounting for 4,434,751 f.b.m., to 2,380,232 for larch, other species in order of volume being yellow pine, 1,606,423; spruce, 1,007,793; 990,311 cedar; white pine, 592,940; hemlock, 553,474; cottonwood, 450,574; balsam, 57,987; lodgepole pine, 33,671 f.b.m.

Feature of the month's scalings was unquestionably the quadrupling of the Province's lineal feet totals—representing poles, piling and stulls—which ran 4,082,046 lineal feet for the recent May, compared with 988,855 a year ago. Kamloops district jumped from 56,281 lineal feet to 1,503,032; while Prince Rupert Interior made the moderate increase from 92,048 to 101,004. These Interior increases made up many times over the great drop in the Vancouver forest district, from 692,835 to 540,097 lineal feet. Prince Rupert was without May scalings in this department either last year or this.

Instead of cedar leading the pole procession in the Nelson district as it has generally done, for May its scalings were only one-thirteenth of the district's totals for lineal feet products. Fir, with 656,149 lineal feet, beat out larch, with 655,429 lineal feet, by the proverbial hair, cedar trailing far behind with only 112,697 lineal feet.

HALF B.C. CORDS HERE

More than half of the Provincial total for products measured in cords—such as cordwood and mine props—scaled in May was to the credit of the Nelson district—5259 cords, out of a B.C. total of 10,511. Kamloops scaled 2674 cords, Vancouver 1846, Fort George 703, Prince Rupert Coast 75, and Prince Rupert Interior 54. The Nelson total was 30 cords down from a year ago.

Cedar was ahead in this division, in the Nelson district, being credited with 3106 cords, to 1200 of lodgepole pine, 477 of fir, and 476 of larch—one more instance of the fir-larch rivalry.

B.C. scalings of hewn ties jumped about 150 per cent over the figures for May, 1945—42,099 compared with 16,761. Fort George jumped from 2146 pieces to 12,284 pieces; Kamloops from 1968 to 10,494; Prince Rupert Interior from 2527 to 8497; and Nelson from 5326 to 7968. A blank represents Prince Rupert Coast in this division in both Mays, while Vancouver hewn tie scalings dropped from 6794 to 2856.

Fir and larch accounted for the 7968 hewn ties from the Nelson District, 5152 being of fir, and 2816 being of larch.

Campers Tangle With Hornets; Contest Keen

(Contributed)

As Koolaree Boys' Senior Camp entered its seventh day, competition for the coveted felt letter K's became more and more keen. These felt letters are given out to the winning tribe in such events as softball, volleyball, dish-washing, and cabin inspection. A large blue K is given to the tribe which chalks up the largest total number of points throughout the camp. Letters are also presented to boys considered to be outstanding campers in every way.

Speaking of outstanding campers, we lost one of our most outstanding when our Camp Mother, Mrs. Goddard of Trail, had to leave us two days ago. Mrs. Goddard had done much to make camp life more enjoyable for both boys and leaders and it is certainly hoped that she can be with us again.

This afternoon all campers hiked into the canyon above the camp. Several of the fellows stepped boldly into a hornets nest and returned to camp with ample proof of their escapade.

NEW CABIN RISING

Director Fred Robins praised the boys today for the way in which they have been pitching in on the work projects. Vast improvements have been made on our campfire site and the new cabin is fast taking shape. In less than an hour tonight 10 of the boys laid and nailed the complete flooring of the cabin. At this rate it should not be long before the cabin is completed.

At campfire perhaps the best stunt so far was presented by the "Eskimo" tribe. It was a comedy depicting a duel over a beautiful lady. In acting out his part, each player took either a literal or odd interpretation of the words spoken by narrator Claude MacIntosh. In one instance the chief characters assaulted one another with salt shakers, drawing a big roar of laughter from the boys.

Before the boys went to their beds Big Chief Freddie told the boys about the camp fraternity "The Owls of Laska". This fraternity is composed of campers who are intensely interested in the work of Koolaree and are willing to give of their time to the furtherance of that work. This Labor Day weekend Koolaree will again resound with the hooting of owls after three years of quiet nesting.

In the record books, Tami's age is 26, but he's actually three years younger. It seems that back in '37 when he first started in the pro fight business, he was only 16. As a result, he used his older brother's name and started up the thumping trail.

An orthodox-style, stand - up swatter with a good straight left and a hard right, he's had 77 fights, lost seven, and has flattened 51 opponents.

Although he's been on the deck several times, Tami's never been knocked out.

Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD

Today's golfer has made his swing with wood in excellent shape. He is just a bit too upright here to be in perfect form. Otherwise you're looking at a good job. Notice that the left heel is raised so that the left knee, though bent, is still on an even line with the right knee. Note that point. Remember it. The hips have pivoted in very nearly a horizontal plane, about one-eighth of a circle, while the shoulders at the same time have made a complete quarter turn. This is good golf. The right leg is straight but not locked, the left arm is straight the wrists properly cocked and the player has kept his eye on the ball throughout the backswing. This is all good. Notice that the club shaft in this full swing has dipped just a trifle below horizontal. And that's plenty far. The player can still keep perfect control over it. The left hand is properly closed and our player is now, after a momentary pause in the position pictured, ready to start the downswing.

Record U.S. Crops Seen

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—A record corn crop and near record crops of wheat, oats, potatoes and rice were indicated by a Government report which said today this years' United States farm production outlook has seldom been surpassed.

The condition of all crops July 1 was the best in seven years except for 1942. The combined acreage of all crops has been exceeded since 1932 only in the last three years. Further, the indicated yields per acre of most crops are above average.

Perhaps the brightest part of the report was the forecast for grain, for supplies have been reduced to dangerously low levels by exports to hungry areas and by heavy feeding to livestock.

The department said the production of feed grains may be the largest on record. Should final production turn out as now indicated, production of livestock products could be maintained near last year's levels through 1947.

The wheat crop was indicated at 1,090,092,000 bushels, compared with 1,033,000,000 forecast in mid-June, a record of 1,123,143,000 produced last year, and a 10-year average of 843,692,000. Despite the bumper crop, wheat will be insufficient to meet both unrestricted domestic demands and foreign commitments for the year ahead.

Lack of Motive Power Blocks Ball Trip to Nakusp

Inability to obtain transportation has so far prevented the Nelson Baseball Club from accepting an invitation to participate in a doubleheader diamond show at Nakusp Sunday. Puzzling Yanks Keep Red Sox Fidgetting

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—Boston Red Sox fans are feeling extremely hopeful these days that they'll see a world series at Fenway Park next October, but it would be a mistake to say they are overconfident. Their nerves still twitch at any careless mention of New York Yankees.

No matter that they are 7½ big games in front and winging along like champions, they still spend their odd moments worrying.

"If any other club in the league besides the Yankees was in second place we would know we were in," explained one spokesman for the group. "But you never know what they're going to do. What's keeping them up there, anyway? They haven't got any hitting or pitching, either, except for Spud Chandler."

All of which is more or less true. The Yankees are last in team batting, but they are in second place in the league standing, and since the Red Sox got over their first sensational spurt they haven't won any more games than the Yanks. They still can't beat the Yankees at Yankee Stadium, and even the Sox players worry about that one.

When Ted Williams was congratulated recently on having pounded out some important hits at Fenway Park, he said: "Thanks, but they don't count unless you hit 'em at Yankee Stadium. I can't even beg a hit in that place."

President Larry MacPhail of the Yankees claims he finds the whole situation very amusing.

"If anybody had told me at the start of the season that we would be last in batting at this stage I would have thought he was crazy," he said. "Why, everybody knew we were going to be a great hitting club. What we didn't have was pitching."

"So what happens? We don't hit the size of our hats, and we must have been getting fine pitching from somebody, and not just from Chandler. Something's been keeping us up there."

Visitors Set Pace in Eastern Net Championships

TORONTO, July 10 (CP)—Visiting tennis stars continued to race through the Eastern Canada Tennis championships with little difficulty today in the fourth round of the men's singles at the Toronto Lawn Tennis Club. Jan Staubo, of Norway, was still favored to take the tourney after a convincing 6-3, 6-2 victory over Dave Dyment of Toronto.

The men's singles field was whittled to eight players who will begin the quarter-finals tomorrow. More than 100 entrants started in the competition last Saturday.

Saskatchewan champion Don Hodges of Regina edged out Mel Jones of Toronto 7-5, 1-6, 6-2 after a gruelling two-hour match.

In the second round of the men's doubles Hodges teamed with G. Leclerc of Ottawa to defeat J. Black and P. Adamson of Toronto 6-1, 6-0.

Ceiling Price Holds Back Jam Production

"Jam production here will be less this year owing to the low ceiling price the Government has placed on our goods. It is impossible to make even costs," J. A. McDonald, of the McDonald Jam Company Limited, said Wednesday.

"We are not getting enough strawberries to fill the demands for strawberry jam. Many growers have switched to raspberries and others are shipping their produce elsewhere. This is difficult to understand as we are offering the same prices the Government set last year before the controls were taken off. This is not ver encouraging for a jam factory.

"The price we receive for our jam is the same as before the war while that which we pay to the growers is almost three times what they were getting.

"Our wholesale business, on the other hand, is very good," he added.

The factory is being furnished with up-to-date banana rooms by the Fruit Despatch Company who handle the entire banana industry.

Paterson Holds Title From Runaway Curran

GLASGOW, July 10 (CP)—Jackie Paterson tonight retained his world flyweight title by winning a 15-round decision over Joe Curran of Liverpool. Paterson, a 25-year-old Scot weighed 112 pounds to Curran's 109.

An estimated 50,000 fans jammed the Hampden Park soccer stadium and booed the 32-year-old challenger's efforts to climb on his bicycle and back away through the first two rounds.

At one point, Paterson, disgusted, dropped his gloves to his sides and stopped chasing the Liverpool leaper. And twice Referee Moss Deyong warned Curran he "must stop running away and make a fight."

Paterson, who was twice defeated by Curran before he became champion, floored the challenger three times and at the end of the sixth Curran was so dazed he staggered into a neutral corner when the bell rang.

A Press Association reporter called it "the poorest championship fight ever" and credited Paterson with every round.

Big Card for Cricket Fans

LONDON, July 10 (Reuters)—In addition to a full county championship program, English cricket enthusiasts today had the Indian tourists opposing Derbyshire and the England test trial to choose from. The team labelled England batted first at Canterbury, Kent, and scored 321 runs for seven wickets.

Washbrook, who scored 120, and Hardstaff, 69, both of whom seem assured of places in England's team to tour Australia next Winter, scored the majority of these runs.

The Indian tourists took all day to hit 329 runs for the loss of five wickets against Derbyshire. The Nawab of Pataudi hit 113 but was missed three times before losing his wicket.

Century scores in county matches were Todd of Kent, 134 against Warwickshire, Cox of Sussex, 161 against Surrey and Emrys Davies of Glamorgan 119 against Hampshire.

Only Five Baseballs

WALDEN, N. Y., July 10 (AP)—Only five baseballs were available when Walden met Nyack (N. Y.) in a regularly-scheduled class D North Atlantic League game last night. In the sixth inning, the score deadlocked at 2-2, the umpire-in-chief signalled the contest's end. There were no baseballs left.

VANCOUVER, July 10 (CP) — Noble King, Sam Ross' prairie-bred thoroughbred from Calgary, upset one of the finest fields ever to race at Lansdowne Park here in the $2000 speed handicap, feature race on today's program.

The seven-year-old black gelding, under the clever handling of Jockey Vic Bovine, paid $32.25, $9.20 and $3.50.

Snead to Try Again at St. Andrews

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—Sam Snead, returning today with the prized British open golf trophy, said he plans to go back to Hoylake next year to try it again because "I've found if I win them once I usually win them twice, like Joe Louis."

Slammm' Sammy attributes his victory at St. Andrews to the fact he was driving well, and putting adequately, although not sensationally.

"Those greens are something entirely different from the ones we have in this country," he said in describing the famed Scottish course. "Most of them are double greens, with pins at each end for different holes. You can be on a green and still be about 125 yards from your cup."

Dies After Being Hit by Ball

SYRACUSE, N.Y., July 10 (AP)—John D. Giacobbe, 18, second baseman on a sandlot baseball team, died last night a few hours after he was struck on the head by a pitched ball during batting practice.

Issues Involved in the Metal Mining Strike in B.C.

A STRIKE AGAINST
45,000 SMALL INVESTORS
IN B.C. MINES

Who owns the strike-bound metal mines of British Columbia?

Approximately 45,000 individual shareholders.

They live in British Columbia, on the Prairies, in Eastern Canada and the United States. Some are residents of the British Isles. They are ordinary people.

One typical gold mine has 77 jobholders on strike and 6500 shareholders. Its average shareholder owns between 250 and 300 shares.

Another strike-closed mine has 270 men striking and 5650 shareholders. The average numbr of shares held is slightly less than 300.

A third mine—one of the largest closed by the strike—employs about 450 hourly workers. It is owned by 5700 shareholders.

In all, there are about 1800 strikers—and 45,000 shareholders.

Thus it must be apparent, with shareholders outnumbering jobholders by 25 to 1, that this is no strike of labor against so-called "Big Business". It is a strike—illegal and ill-advised—against small investors, rejecting an offer that covers adequately the recent increased cost of living.

1800 men led by the Mine, Mill & Smelter Workers Union have flouted the law regarding conciliation of disputes and tied up the properties owned by 45,000 persons.

The Union's demand for a general wage increase of $2.32 a day, a five-day week and many other concessions would raise labor costs at the average mine at least 50 per cent. Mine managements, acting as trustees for shareholders, have rejected the unreasonable demands but have offered a general wage increase of 50 cents a shift.

Market Trends

NEW YORK—The stock market dawdled through another waiting session with liquors rising several points on a flurry of demand to provide the only feature.

TORONTO—After showing substantial gains at noon mines were inclined to soften in afternoon action on the exchange. Industrials held wide gains at the close and Western Oils were up slightly. Volume was sizable at about 1,500,000 shares.

MONTREAL—Papers more than retrieved the losses they experienced Monday on the stock exchange and curb market. Industrials and golds continued along the recovery trail but have still some leeway to make up. Utilities extended their weakness. Beverages and metals were firmer, in th sub-divisions of issues boarded.

LONDON—Interest on the stock exchange concentrated on Argentine railways and the higher levels attracted some profit-taking. There was a rather firm tone to markets generally but activity was on a small scale. There was little interest in international dollar stocks though prices were marked higher.

Calgary Livestock

CALGARY, July 10 (CP)—Market active at steady prices.

Tuesday's receipts: 349 cattle, 22 calves, 436 hogs, 255 sheep. This morning's receipts: 245 cattle.

Local Vegetables On Sale Now Wholesalers Say

Okanagan green apples and apricots from South Okanagan were the only fruit shipments received by the wholesalers during the past week, it was reported Wednesday. A car of California peaches and plums are expected Thursday.

Field and hot house tomatoes from Okanagan have been coming in regularly and a car of vegetables was received. Most vegetables, however, have been supplied by district farmers.

Cantaloupes and watermelon have been supplied by district farmers.

Cantaloupes and watermelon have been plentiful in stores and local bing cherries have been selling for some time.

All meats, including fresh and smoked, are still scarce, wholesalers said, as well as cheese and eggs.

Invokes Veto For Sixth Time

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

NEW YORK, July 10, (AP)—Soviet Russia invoked the veto today for the sixth time in security council history in an effort to block a move for Canada to participate in council discussions on atomic energy.

The council became involved in a dispute when Dr. Herbert V. Evatt of Australia offered a resolution to permit Canada, a member of the atomic energy commission, to sit in on council discussions of atomic energy.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, immediately objected, saying this proposal raised new questions and suggested postponement.

However, the council voted 9-1—with Russia casting the dissenting vote—to admit Canada to the discussions on atomic questions. Poland abstained.

Mr. Gromyko then said his negative vote was a veto.

Mr. Gromyko contended the matter was a question of substance, on which the veto power applies, and as such it was lost.

Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera of Mexico, council chairman, however, ruled it was a question of procedure on which the veto right does not apply, and invited Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian representative on the atomic energy commission, to sit at the table.

OKANOGAN, Wash., July 10, (AP)—The bride wept and fled from the house as the wedding vows were exchanged. A tear gas bomb accidentally had dropped from the pocket of her groom, Deputy Sheriff Eldon Barker.

Garson Announces His Province Must Accept the Dominion's Budget Speech Proposal

WINNIPEG, July 10 (CP)—Premier Stuart Garson of Manitoba announced today that his province "of necessity must accept the Dominion's budget speech proposal" for separate fiscal agreements with the provinces.

Manitoba welcomed the Dominion's willingness to deal with the provinces separately. Otherwise the refusal of one or two provinces to agree would condemn the other provinces to the consequences of having no agreement at all. Confederation would be a most unsatisfactory relationship if certain provinces had such a powerful veto with which so to condemn the other provinces.

After careful consideration, we conclude that Manitoba of necessity must accept the Dominion's budget speech proposal.

Canadians should understand, however, that the budget speech proposal is much less advantageous than the modified proposal made by the Dominion to the conference in April which was then accepted by Manitoba and some other provinces but rejected by certain provinces. The Dominion's proposal provided a plan for the co-ordination of Dominion and provincial policies designed to maximize employment and income, and thus to reduce taxation as a percentage of national income. It relieved provinces and municipalities of the major portion of unemployment relief costs. It provided substantially increased Federal aid for pensions, social welfare and public health. It gave definite assurance of Dominion aid to the construction of national highways and access roads to undeveloped resources, and to provincial and municipal public works timed to stabilize employment and business conditions.

These and other benefits have been lost by the failure of the conference to reach a general agreement. The consequences of this loss are serious. To cite but one example, if we have widespread unemployment some provinces and many municipalities will encounter difficulties in providing unemployment relief similar to their difficulties of the 1930's.

The budget speech retains only the Dominion's offer to pay per capita grants to those provinces which will agree not to impose provincial income, corporation and succession duty taxes. Thus each province must now decide whether it will lose the Dominion per capita grant along with the other benefits already lost by the conference's failure to reach an agreement; and whether by so doing it will also condemn its taxpayers to lose the benefit of paying only one set of these taxes and of submitting only one set of tax forms.

This Dominion per capita grant is substantial. For Manitoba the guaranteed minimum grant amounts to 62 per cent more than Manitoba has ever collected from these three provincial taxes. If Manitoba were to reject the Dominion's budget speech offer, it would be forced to make up the loss of the Dominion grant out of new provincial taxes. This would mean that over and above the present high Dominion taxes Manitoba would have to collect 62 per cent more money from provincial income, corporation and succession duty taxes than it did before the war, when the overlapping Dominion tax rates were much lower than now. We do not consider that this is feasible. Surely Manitoba citizens would object to paying heavy new provincial taxes made necessary by our refusal to accept the Dominion's budget speech proposal.

We therefore accept this proposal, for what it is, an attempt to salvage what we can from the failure of the conference to reach a general agreement. We hope that the other provinces will join in this acceptance. By thus acting together we can within the terms of the budget speech proposal itself restore the possibility of securing the much greater advantages of a general agreement between the Dominion and all of the provinces.
