Russia Against Strong World Police

"Inflated" Forces Are Unwarranted Gromyko Contends; Balkans, Eastern Europe Situation Goes Unmentioned

By LARRY HAUCK

LAKE SUCCESS, June 6 (AP) — Russia said today that the world situation does not warrant maintenance of "inflated armies, navies and air forces" and insisted that the proposed United Nations global police force small.

Speaking to the Security Council, Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, cautioned the great powers against maintaining such inflated forces on the pretext they were needed for use by the peace agency.

"We cannot but take into account that the aggressive bloc headed by Hitlerite Germany and militaristic Japan, had been defeated and that ex-enemy states had been placed under the control of the Allies," he said. "It follows, therefore, that there is no necessity in general that the United Nations maintain excessively numerous armed forces.

Gromyko made no mention of conditions in the Balkans and Eastern Europe.

EXTENSIVE OBJECTIONS

Gromyko stood firm on every one of the major objections raised by Russia in the Military Staff Committee, which finally submitted a widely split report on the global force after 15 months of secret discussions. In the report Russia opposed the United States, Britain, China and France on more than a third of the basic principles.

The Council is debating the report in efforts to reach agreement and start machinery for setting up the international units.

Gromyko also:

1. Declared Russia could not agree to granting bases for U.N. forces because the world charter made no such provision and because acceptance "would be used by some countries for exerting political pressure on other countries, which have provided such bases."

2. Declared there was no reason for any country to have forces stationed outside its own borders.

3. Contended that any forces contributed to the U.N. should be pulled back to home ground within 90 days. Any other system, he added, would be used as "a pretext for continuous presence of foreign troops" and told delegates there were many examples of troops having appeared in foreign territory and refusing to leave even when "they were looked upon as uninvited guests."

Three Seriously Injured After Car Drops 85 Feet Off Road Near Taghum

Three persons are in Kootenay Lake General Hospital with injuries sustained when the car in which they were travelling went off the highway 1½ miles West of Taghum early Friday morning and landed some 85 feet below the road.

Victims are Mrs. Mary Fitchett, 24, and Ralph Symmonds, 21, both of Nelson, and Donald Symmonds, 19, of Beasley, seven miles West of Nelson.

The Symmonds brothers are suffering from severe concussion, possible spinal injuries and shock. Mrs. Fitchett has skull and arm fractures, a broken back, cuts and bruises. Her condition was described as "critical" late Friday.

The accident occurred about 3 a.m. when Ralph Symmonds, driver of the vehicle, attempted to bypass a large boulder lodged in the middle of the highway. In his endeavor to swerve past the obstruction, the car came too close to the edge of the road and dropped 85 feet down a steep incline, Police reported. The car was extensively damaged.

The three were journeying West from Nelson.

A passing motorist brought one of the victims into Nelson and the Thompson Ambulance, the other two.

Mrs. Fitchett, formerly of Harrop and Trail, is employed at the Standard Cafe in Nelson, while Ralph Symmonds is an employee of a contractor's firm on the North Shore.

Voice of Island Kingdoms Raised Against Taxes

VANCOUVER, June 6 (CP) — Rulers of the "Island Kingdoms" of the Coast of British Columbia are here today to protest school taxes, assessed on the Islanders for the first time.

Protests have been made to Judge Ernest A. Dickie in Court of Revision, the Island people objecting to paying for "something we don't receive."

Many of the islands are isolated, have no schools and there is no way of getting the children to classes.

"It is too bad this was not thrashed out in the Legislature," said Judge Dickie. "I hope you realize you are paying toward a high general standing of education in British Columbia."

Premier John Hart has indicated there will be some relief from the high school taxes, but no details were made public.

"You are not alone in this boat," Assessor R. R. Howay told them. "Logging camps and railways are among many protesting the new taxes."

The complaint of Terence J. Corday of Bowen Island was typical. He told the court:

"We have no fire protection, no sewers, no police protection, electric light or any other city conveniences, yet our taxes are more than on the same home in the city."

Some appeals were dismissed while others were adjourned to a later hearing.

LOWER PRICES LIKELY FOR SOFT FRUITS

SEATTLE, June 6 (AP) — Soft fruit growers, particularly producers of strawberries, raspberries and cherries, in the United States must accept much lower prices for their crops this year unless supplies of canned and frozen fruits held over from last year are moved soon, Associated County Agriculture Agent J. A. Johnston said today.

The worst block in the grower-to-consumer line, he said, is in the frozen food market, in strawberries and raspberries. Housewives are not buying frozen berries at present prices.

Short 1400 Pickers

VANCOUVER, June 6 (CP) — Dominion-Provincial Farm Labor Service officials said here today that the current shortage of strawberry pickers was developing into a "critical situation" in both the Mission and Abbotsford Districts in the Fraser Valley.

More than 1400 pickers were required and growers stated that of 350 ordered from the Prairies, only 70 had arrived, with 40 more expected later today.

Demands for 700 pickers on Vancouver Island were expected to be met.

MUST LEARN TO WALK AND TALK AGAIN

VANCOUVER, June 6 (CP) — Four-year-old Mickey Plant arrived home from hospital today, faced with the problem of learning to walk and talk all over again. SEEKS TO HELP YOUTHFUL GUN-TOTER

VANCOUVER, June 6 (CP)— W. A. Donaldson, 16-year-old youth who pleaded guilty in Police Court to attempted automobile theft and possession of a revolver, today was placed on indefinite probation by Magistrate H. S. Wood, who said he did not want to see him go to jail.

"I want to help you and I hope you will respond," Magistrate Wood said. "I wouldn't like to see you go to jail."

Donaldson gave himself up after George Dennis, taxi-driver, persuaded him to surrender his gun following an attempted automobile theft.

New Works

Three-year-old Dennis First of Chicago, Ill., beats loudly on his drums, in his crib at home. And he has a good reason to do so. The boy was listed as a "first" in medical history. His was the first case shown in Chicago medical annals to be treated successfully for infectious tuberculosis with the new wonder drug streptomycin. Dennis was sent to hospital last October suffering from military-tuberculosis, which physicians previously had considered fatal for a child of his age. Shortly before he came to the hospital, medical science began experimenting with streptomycin in the treatment of tuberculosis and because the boy seemed such a hopeless case, the doctors tried the treatment on him. It was completely successful. Dennis went home, his lungs pronounced "as clear as a bell."

Peace 'Twixt Trail Driver and Vancouver Police

VANCOUVER, June 6 (CP) — Breaking a parking regulation here has resulted in an unnamed Trail, B.C., man receiving a special invitation to visit Vancouver.

The Trail motorist sent the Vancouver Police Department a check for $1.90 for a $2 overparking fine, suggesting that the parking meter be opened to recover the other 10 cents.

The check was returned, along with the special invitation from Chief Mulligan in person — just to show that there were no hard feelings on the part of the Police Department.

Penny Strengthens Hold on Life

VANCOUVER, June 6 (CP)— Tiny Eva Longstaffe, who weighed only 27 ounces when born 19 days ago, appeared to be strengthening her slim hold on life today, with a report by St. Paul's Hospital authorities that the prematurely-born infant had gained ¼ of an ounce.

The baby, nicknamed "Penny" by her mother, Mrs. Arthur Longstaffe, who claimed she was "short-changed," was still in an incubator today, being fed minute quantities of her mother's milk through a throat tube.

Doctors said she would be the city's smallest-born infant to survive if she lives through her "borrowed time."

NO AMERICAN MILITARY POSTS FOR CANADA

U. S. Would Be Under Canadian Command; Change is Possible

ALREADY IN NORTH

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 6 (CP) — No United States service posts are to be established in Canada under the joint defence policies of the two countries and any American troops who operate in this country do so under Canadian command, External Affairs Minister St. Laurent said today in the Commons.

In stressing that there was no intention to establish American bases on Canadian soil, the Minister added this warning:

"I hope there will never be anyone undertake to say that situations will not change and that there may not, unfortunately, be some time when all Canadians will be glad to see posts established here."

Mr. St. Laurent spoke in closing a two-day debate on a Government bill to authorize U.S. military courts thing like that, but no man can unto exercise jurisdiction over American soldiers in Canada, a measure criticized by Opposition speakers as meaning a surrender of Canadian sovereignty and giving the Government power to invite into the country unlimited numbers of foreign troops.

APPROVAL

The bill was given second reading—approval in principle — after the House voted 104 to 26 against a C.C.F. motion that it not be read but sent to the External Affairs Committee, an action which Mr. St. Laurent argued would mean the measure would be "killed."

Howard Green, (PC-Vancouver South), one of the leaders in an Opposition drive for more information about the legislation, voted with the C.C.F. Party while other Progressive Conservative members and the Social Credit group supported the Government.

The measure later was approved in committee stage but third and final reading was deferred until next week.

At the House opening, first reading was given to minor bills incorporating the Federal Insurance Company of Canada and amending the Juvenile Delinquents Act. They already have passed the Senate.

The three bills embodying tax changes announced in the budget were introduced and given first reading. They will be debated later.

Once the military bill had reached committee stage, Mr. St. Laurent said in response to questioning that a "certain group" of United States troops was at Churchill, Man., working with Canadians on the testing of Winter equipment while a "few others" were at other places which he did not feel he should identify.

He stressed that the number of American troops at Churchill was "less numerous" than the number of Canadians. All told, there were "very few" Americans in this country.

NOISY PROTEST OF AUSTERITY BY HOUSEWIVES

Screaming Challenges Ring Through Hall; Speaker Overwhelmed

CROWD COMMONS

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 6 (CP) — Members of the British Housewives' League, claiming to represent more than 100,000 women who think the present British standard of living is unnecessarily austere, staged a tumultuous demonstration in London's Royal Albert Hall tonight.

More than 5000 attended and thoroughly enjoyed themselves, yelling down noisy dissenters.

Middle - aged housewives screamed at groups in the galleries which tried to unfurl banners, promptly tearing them down and ripping them to pieces.

League Chairman Dorothy Crisp could not make herself heard even with the help of loudspeakers and Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, Conservative front bencher billed as the meeting's principal speaker, was drowned out during most of his speech. He was principal British prosecutor at the first Nuernberg trials.

Angry women in orchestra seats so forgot their dignity as to yell at gallery interrupters to "come down and fight."

Scuffles drew boisterous applause mingled with noisy protest. United cries of "throw them out" were answered by organized group clapping, which Miss Crisp said was inspired by Communists.

PLAN MARCH

Earlier today the housewives had clogged the corridors of the House of Commons, seeking an audience with Prime Minister Attlee, saying they were from all parts of the United Kingdom and entitled to be heard.

Tomorrow they plan to stage a protest march through London's main streets.

The women at the Albert Hall meeting were out of hand even before their demonstration started. First they declined to obey the ushers' instructions against smoking.

Then ghostly figures in white stalked the aisles, wrapped in banners declaiming: "No food, no homes."

The women cheered every criticism of the Attlee administration.

A bus conductor who took one load to the Hall gasped: "I'd rather handle a cup-tie crowd than this lot."

POLICE POWERLESS

One stalwart woman waded into a crowd of gallery interrupters, swinging a heavy handbag to clear them out.

Even Miss Crisp swung a bouquet of flowers like a club as she yelled denunciation of the Labor Government and demanded the instant dismissal of Fuel Minister Shinwell and Food Minister Strachey.

Labor members have frequently assailed the League in the Commons, claiming it to be Conservative-dominated and not representative of British women generally.

Police appeared in the galleries at the height of the tumult but were powerless. When they silenced one group the uproar broke out somewhere else. Women fainted.

Hamlet Starving After Fire; Aid Delayed

Weather Grounds Mercy Plane; Blaze Wipes Out Food Depot, Radio Station of Labrador Centre of 150

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 6 (CP)—Starvation tonight faced the 150 inhabitants of Three Rapids, Labrador, as a food-laden mercy plane scheduled to take off today for the tiny settlement in the desolate wilderness remained grounded by bad weather.

Food supplies at the hamlet, 80 miles inland from the coastal village of Hopedale, were destroyed three weeks ago by a forest fire which advanced to the fringes of Three Rapids and levelled the food depot. The setlement's sole means of communication with the "outside," a radio station, also was gutted by the blaze.

Improved visibility and light winds were forecast for Newfoundland tomorrow morning and it appeared likely the aircraft would be able to start on his mercy mission. It is about 650 air miles from the U.S. base at Argentia to Three Rapids.

Officials said a rescue mission had not been attempted from Goose Bay, Labrador, some 150 miles South of Three Rapids, because there were not sufficient supplies on hand at the air base there.

CHARTER SCHOONER

At the same time, a schooner chartered by Grieve Brothers, owners of the lumber mill at Three Rapids, was being loaded here.

The vessel probably will leave tomorrow but it would take several days for it to reach the starving settlement.

The Shipiskan River, water approach to the Labrador community, still was ice-choked.

First news of the fire was carried out to Hopedale by a lumber-jack who made his way through the bush.

He indicated that final decision of the Government may result in a general cut in taxes or in some relief being made to individuals confronted with excessively high taxes, far beyond previous levies.

Leafs Jolt High-Flying Boxla Dynamos 18-15

Nelson Kiwanis Maple Leafs short circuited the Spokane Dynamos at Nelson Friday night to the tune of 18-15.

It was one of the closest West Kootenay Lacrosse League matches seen on the Nelson floor to date. The Nelsonites, who have been improving steadily since the formation of the team early in May, reached a pinnacle when they toppled the league leaders in a game that showed with little of the dazzle that is generally associated with the Dynamo colors. The Leafs held an edge for the greater part of the play with the exception of the third quarter when the Spokane club made its final bid to get back into the game.

Al LaFace was a tower of strength in the Spokane nets. He turned aside shots that poured in from the sticks of the pressing Leafs. On one occasion Wassick, Griffin, Mayo and Gallicano were crowded around the Dynamo goal firing away rubber as fast as LaFace could push it out. It was through Al LaFace's efforts that the Dynamos came out of the match with a respectable score.

It was Freddy Graves who led the way for the Leafs. Graves banged in five goals and was in for an assist. Teammate Baldy Mayo was good for three goals while the remainder of the lineup played strong support and almost every *player had a real hand in the over*throw of the Dynamos.

CURB SMITH

The pace of the visitors was set by George Bishop and Marcus Smith, who between them notched up seven of the Spokane goals. Smith was watched closely and it wasn't till late into the second quarter that he was able to storm the Nelson citadel with any success. The veteran of the lacrosse floors put on a great display of last minute tries, but the Leafs were determined to hold onto their lead.

At the opening faceoff Graves for the Leafs led an attack into the Spokane territory. He was outguessed by Al LaFace who forwarded the stilled ball to Smith. Bishop was in the clear to take Smith's pass to slam it into the corner.

Fred Graves again took possession of the ball from the faceoff and after a fake pass fooled LaFace for a counter. The goals were rolling in fast and the next one by Morris bent the twine little after the reverbrations of the referees whistle had died away. The score was 2-1 for Nelson and the game was only a minute and a half old.

George Bishop for the Dynamos scored the equalizer when he registered with a screen shot through a maze of legs. A minute after Wassick and Griffin combined for the third Nelson goal. Wassick took a pass from Griffin in the corner and made no mistake with LaFace at close quarters.

As the game settled down to a more cautious pace it became close and rugged. Flush from almost a clean slate of victories, the Dynamos seemed little concerned of the lead the Leafs were building up. They played sporadic lacrosse well into the first half of the game.

Joe LaFace went the entire length of the floor to tally for the Dynamos as the first quarter was waning into its last minutes. Three fast goals by George Bishop for Spokane and by Graves and Wassick for the Leafs ended the first quarter 5-3 for the Leafs.

As the game continued the faceoffs were constanly featured by Marcus Smith dumping Stan Morris to the floor as he scooped away at a ball he usually drew in behind him. The fans were expecting too see the lid blow off but, the five minutes that Smith drew for roughing it with Griffin cooled him off.

Graves tallied with a tricky flip shot from well out that LaFace never saw as the game picked up tempo. Mayo, Thompson and Kuhn all figured in the scoring too push the Leafs ahead 10-6 at the half way mark.

SCORE FIVE

In the third period the Dynamos put on the heat to notch five counters to which there was no reply from the Nelson camp.

While the Leafs were short the Dynamos pressed hard, to equalize *the game and were wreacking hav*oc with the Leaf lineup until the Nelsonites were back at full strength. They scored five goals in short order, but were stalemated as the Leafs played rough and rugged to keep the Spokane tide out of their territory.

Even so the Dynamos went ahead 11-10 as the whistle sounded to end the third quarter.

The last period push by the Leafs had all the spark and color of sport seen anywhere. The entire team pulled together with surprising efficiency and while the Dynamos made a decided ef*fort to stymie the Leafs attacks* they were unable to answer to the eight goal barrage the Lakesiders presented them with.

Still pressing as the bell sounded, the not-to-be denied Leafs, rode to a 18-15 win over the League rulers.

Three stars chosen were Freddy Graves, Baldy Mayo of the Leafs and George Bishop of the Dynamos. Sammartino.

Rosary was recited in the Thompson Funeral Home at Nelson by Rev. Father E. Martin, C.Ss.R., Thursday evening.

George Sutcliffe Succumbs Near Street Car Loop

George Sutcliffe, resident of Nelson for the past 26 years, died suddenly at noon Friday near the Fairview street railway terminus. He had been in failing health for some time but his death was an unexpected shock to his family and friends.

Members of the Nelson Fire Department inhalator squad and the Thompson Ambulance arrived on the scene shortly after his collapse from heart failure.

Mr. Sutcliffe was born in Burnley, Lanacashire, England, and was 50 years of age.

Joining up in England, he served in the First Great War and was posted in France as a sergeant. Following the end of the war he came to Canada and spent a short time in Regina. He moved to Nelson in 1921 and was employed at the Canadian Pacific Railway freight sheds here until September, 1946, when he retired because of ill health.

Besides his wife, he is survived by one son, George and one daughter, Helen, both of Nelson, and one brother, Herbert, in England.

John P. Fink Of Vallican Laid at Rest

Last rites for John Phillip Fink, former resident of Vallican, were conducted from the Thompson Funeral Home Friday afternoon. Rev. W. J. Silverwood of the Church of the Redeemer officiated.

Two hymns sung were "Abide With Me" and "Rock of Ages." Mrs. J. A. Fraser was organist.

Pallbearers were E. T. Coleman, T. D. Edgar, E. Varney, Roy Varney, Charles Varney and James Varney.

Interment was in Nelson Memorial Park.

Mr. Fink died suddenly at Penticton Tuesday at the age of 64.

Trail Carnival Draws Hundreds

TRAIL, B.C., June 6 — Trail's Gyro Carnival continued today after the two-day event opened Thursday with the presentation by Gyro President R. E. Hawkes of his Club's trophy to Andy Bilesky, who captured top honors in the Track and Field Association's three-mile road race held in conjunction with the carnival.

Hundreds turned out to watch the event and later crowded around entertainment booths and other carnival features.

Posters bearing lucky numbers were showered by aircraft over Fruitvale, Rossland, Castlegar and the greater Trail District in the afternoon.

Proceeds of the carnival go toward the building of the proposed Gyro swimming pool.

Need Coordination Between Members Of Associated Boards

Unless there was closer coordination between member Boards, little would be accomplished by the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern B.C., G. W. Sterling told the Nelson Board's Council at the Hume Friday in a report on the Associated Boards' annual convention at Fernie.

Mr. Sterling said that there had not been a great deal of work to do, and he felt that there would not be unless the Executive met during the year. Until this happened, the Associated Boards was not going to serve a very good purpose. He said emphasis had been laid on the need of a full-time Secretary who could follow up resolutions, and it had been stated that unless Nelson and Trail Boards took the lead in this matter, it was felt little headway could be made.

Mr. Sterling had praise for the Fernie Board in the manner in which it entertained delegates.

Seek Installation of Anscomb Ferry Service Before Bonspiel

Nelson Board of Trade Council asked the Roads and Bridges Committee to take steps to impress the Public Works Department with the serious need of providing new Kootenay Lake ferry service in time to handle the throng of Summer Bonspiel visitors, at its meeting at the Hume Friday.

Roy Sharp, Chairman of the Civic Centre Commission, who instigated the Summer Bonspiel plan, appealed to the Board Council for aid, so that the "bottleneck" at the ferry which occurred last year does not happen again.

Mr. Sharp said some delay was being caused at Crawford Creek, where the bridge was not yet completed.

John Learmonth, President, said he had visited the Kootenay Bay area recently, and had learned that a temporary bridge may be put in, because delivery of steel for the bridge had not been completed. He also understood that it had been found some changes would be necessary on the ferry. A "lovely road" had been built to the new landing at Kootenay Bay.

The Committee will interview O. P. Robert, District Public Works Engineer, to see if a temporary bridge can be installed before the "abnormal traffic" to the Bonspiel. The necessity of having the new ferry in operation by June 28 will also be stressed. It was pointed out that Mr. Roberts was not here last year, when the ferry traffic jams occurred during the 1946 Bonspiel. Mr. Sharp will attend the interview.

TOAST and TEA
BY J. V. McAREE

There are many stories told, none of them exactly unbelievable, founded on the amazing success of the musical comedy, Oklahoma. For instance, the man who wanted the program rights was forced, bitterly protesting, to invest $3000 in the show. At last reports he had made $150,000 on his investment, not including what he made out of the programs. There is also the story of an old man named Scott who had inherited a five per cent interested in the show as well as two million dollars. He was in precarious health and his lawyer figured that he had to break the news gently. Otherwise, he said, the old coot might drop dead. So he began, "Mr. Scott, what would you say if I told you that you had inherited a couple of million dollars?" "Say? Why, Horace, you danged fool, I'd say, Half of it goes to you!" The lawyer dropped dead.

Minister Says Airways Has Not Made Application

A copy of a letter from Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, stating that Capilano Airways Ltd. "has never advised this Department that it is preapred to undertake operation" of an air service between Vancouver and Lethbridge, will be sent to the air company by the Nelson Board of Trade.

This was decided by the Board Council meeting at the Hume Friday after the Minister's letter, answering a Board of Trade telegram pressing for favorable action on any application for the air *charter which met Government re*quirements, was read. The Board wire was sent upon request of W. G. Townley of Capilano Airways, who asked support of negotiations with the Government. The wire did not name the Coast Company.

Mr. Howe said there "seemed to be some misunderstanding of the situation." The Capilano Company had been offered a mail guarantee by the Post Office Department, "which is the maximum the Post Office will undertake. As far as my Department is concerned, if the Capilano Airways Ltd. will submit an application for a scheduled ser*vice, stating that the Company will* undertake service at a definite date, the required licence will be issued immediately."

Fined $25 for Failure To Carry Licence

Took Over Before U.S. "Could Rub Its Eyes"

Only Iron-Fisted Communists Could Do Task Says Hungary's Dictator; Diplomats Refuse to Return Home

By JACK GUINN

BUDAPEST, June 6 (AP)—Matyas Rakosi, Hungary's No. 1 Communist and virtual dictator, has told factory workers that his party took over control of this country "before the United States could rub its eyes."

"We were able to solve the crisis before the foreign press, good and bad, was able to intervene," Rakosi said. "Before the United States could rub its eyes, everything was perfectly put over.

"Such a task could only be carried out when democracy is united and is led by the brave and iron-fisted Communist Party, conscious of its aims.

"This is why the feat has been acclaimed by the lovers of democracy all over the world."

Rakoski's description of the events which culminated in the resignation of Premier Ferenc Nagy was delivered Wednesday, but was not published in the press here. The excerpts were found today in an official text from the files of M.T.I., the official Government news agency.

(With President Truman's approval, the United States State Department Friday drafted a hotly-worded note to Russia protesting the events in Hungary. The note hinted at an appeal to the United Nations.)

President Truman's view—that the coup was an outrage—was not published in any Hungarian newspaper. Brief mention was made that the peace treaty for Hungary had been ratified by the United States Senate, but there were no comments.

In scenes reminiscent of the German occupation, many persons are huddling every night in Budapest cellars to listen to foreign news broadcasts. In cafes, conversations are carried on in whispers. Members of Parliament pass by American correspondents without a word.

A Hungarian who works for a United States citizen said that in the town of Gyombo, about 10 miles Southeast of Budapest, the political police had confiscated all radios and had warned citizens not to listen to foreign broadcasts.

The home of a Hungarian civilian employee of the American Graves Registration Service was searched by political police.

PARIS, June 6 (AP) — Paul Auer, the Hungarian Minister to France, today joined the swelling ranks of Hungarian diplomats abroad who refuse to return to Hungary, where the Communists seized control of the Government.

Auer, following the lead of the Ministers in Switzerland and Washington, announced that he did not recognize the new Communist-dominated regime which deposed Premier Ferenc Nagy and that he no longer was Hungary's diplomatic representative here.

In addition, Ivan Kertezzn, Hungarian diplomatic representative in Rome, is reported to have refused appointment as Hungary's Foreign Minister in the new Government, an appointment which would have obliged him to go back to Budapest.

Stephen Bede, Hungarian Government representative in London, left there for Zurich. A spokesman of his office said the envoy was to see Hungarian Social Democratic leaders, perhaps preliminary to visiting Budapest.

A representative of the Hungarian News Agency asserted that Bede planned "on his own initiative" to visit Budapest and report British reaction to the Communist seizure of power in Hungary.

LONDON, June 6 (AP)—Russia has informed Britain that all the evidence and information which led to the resignation of Premier Ferenc Nagy has been handed over to the Hungarian Government, a Foreign Office spokesman said today.

Britain's political representative in Budapest, A. K. Helm, had asked L.-Gen. V. O. Sviridov for copies of all documents on which the charges against Nagy were based.

TROOPS GUARD BORDER

VIENNA, June 6 (AP)—Austrians in a position to know said today Hungary had sent thousands of new border guards to her Austrian frontier, and it would be difficult for more refugees to cross into Austria. Several hundred refugees are believed to have reached the British occupation zone before the vigilance was increased.

Hungarian sources said they had heard that Bela Varga, a Roman Catholic priest and former Speaker of the Hungarian Assembly, had reached the American zone, but both American and Austrian officials disclaimed knowledge of his presence. Hungarians in Switzerland also said they believed Father Varga was in Austria.

INDIANS RETURN HOME WITH TREATY MONEY

ZEHNER, Sask., June 6 (CP) — Assiniboine Indians of the nearby Piapot reserve broke camp today and headed back to their homes, their treaty money in their pockets and traditional costumes packed away until the next special occasion.

The band of more than 300 men and women and children yesterday received the five dollars each treaty money, allowed in return for relinquishment 63 years ago of their titles to the prairie country.

For the first time since 1945 when Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan was introduced to the tribe as Chief Red Eagle, the reserve, about 20 miles North of Regina, turned out in traditional dress of buckskin, beaded mocassins and feathered headdress and erected seven skin lodges bright with historical design. Nearby however, were the modern tents for protection against the threat of rain.

The "dressing up" was for the benefit of Cpl. F. S. Farrar, famous R.C.M.P. photographer who recorded the event with a technicolor movie camera. Cpl. Farrar filmed the trip through the Arctic Northwest passage of the R.C.M.P. schooner St. Roch in 1942.

Cpl. Farrar was stationed in the West Kootenay when Japanese camps were operated during war years.

CLEAR WEATHER GIVES HOPE FOR SEAMEN SEARCH

FORT WILLIAM, June 6 (CP) —Clearing weather today gave hope that an all-out search might be pressed for the bodies of 10 crew members drowned when the Canada Steamship Lines freighter Emperor struck canoe rocks, 40 miles Southeast of here, early Wednesday and sank with the loss of 12 lives.

The converted navy fairmile Coastal Queen, chartered by the Emperor's owners, sailed again today for the spot off the Eastern tip of Isle Royale, a United States National Park, where the freighter went down. Aboard was a diver, E. J. (Doc) Fowler of nearby Port Arthur.

A driving rain yesterday hampered the Coastal Queen in her search for bodies and prevented Fowler from descending into the hull of the wrecked ship.

Capt. H. R. Baxter of the C.S.L. Shore Office at Toronto also visited the scene aboard the U. S. Coastguard cutter Kimball, the ship which brought 21 survivors to Fort William and recovered the bodies of Mrs. Evelyn Schultz of Owen Sound, a cook, and Mrs. Joseph Tabachuk of Fort William, a porter.

The Kimball, however, will take no further part in the search.

Meanwhile, the U. S. Coastguard, the C. S. L. and the Marine Inspection branch of the Canadian Transport Department are investigating the wreck, one of the worst in recent years on the Great Lakes. All investigations were in camera.

Claims Union an Illegal Association

VANCOUVER, June 6 (CP)—J. S. Burton, counsel for the Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders Union of Canada, Local No. 1, said here today that the Union was an illegal association because it was in restraint of trade for the reason that its bylaws provided a closed agreement. Mr. Burton made the statement in appeal court, claiming that a member had no legal right of action against the Union. He was answering a claim by Myron Kuzych, welder, that he was illegally expelled from the Union.

Mr. Burton added that the Trade Union Act did not affect the situation, but only provided for registration of the Union and did not allow a member to sue for benefits.

He said that nearly all Canadian Unions were in the same category, and added that it was regrettable that the law of Canada was so "archaic."

New Treatment For Tuberculosis

ATLANTIC CITY, June 6 (AP)—An advance in treating tuberculosis by blowing the abdomen up with air so as to push against lungs, was described to the American College of Chest Physicians today.

The name of this stunt is pneumoperitoneum. This treatment is 20 years old, but the recent discovery is that it can be used on other than hopeless cases of tuberculosis. Formerley it was a last resort only.

Vancouver Saw-Filer May Be Heir to Baronetcy

VANCOUVER, June 6 (CP) — Sir Charles Hardinge's search for an heir to a United Kingdom Baronetcy may end in Vancouver.

John Lawson King, a saw-filer, thinks that he may be the heir, sixth in line to the baronetcy after reading a report telling of the search started by Sir Charles, seeking the son and daughter of a near relative of his father.

This near relative emigrated to Canada in the middle of the last century and worked for the C.P.R. "at its farthest west" he was survived by a son and daughter who, if living would be 60 years old.

The description tallies closely with that of the King family. The father came to Canada around 1860, worked for the C. P. R., and after homesteading in Manitoba, came to New Westminster in 1890 where he opened a seed store.

Two sons and a daughter were born. The father died in 1898, the mother and daughter both died in 1915.

"My mother told me that the name king had been adopted by my father on coming to Canada," said Mr. King today. "We were told my father changed his name because of a disappointment in the family when a grandfather refused to take over a title and estate."

King does not know his father's original name, but when he first came to Canada he called himself Sir John King, later dropping the title.

Mr. King believes his father was born in a place called Clearwater somewhere in the South of England—in Essex, Wessex or Kent.

"My father told me a generation would have to die out before we would come back into the title."

LOCKE LEAVES HEARING IN MIDDLE OF CASE

VICTORIA, June 6 (CP) — Appointment of C. H. Locke, K.C., to the Supreme Court of Canada poses a difficult problem for the Provincial Government.

Mr. Locke had been conducting British Columbia's case before the Board of Transport Commissioners against the proposed 30 per cent increase in rail freight rates and discriminatory freight charges.

Now in the middle of the case Mr. Locke has gone to the Supreme Court. The Government has done nothing yet about appointing a successor.

House Collapses

VANCOUVER, June 6 (CP)—The neighbors thought an earthquake had struck last night when the foundations of the two-story house of Mrs. M. E. Nelson crumbled and the house partially collapsed. However, none of the three occupants suffered injuries in the house's three-foot drop.

Britain May Oppose Bulgaria As U. N. Member

BY PAMELA MATTHEWS

LONDON, June 6 (Reuters) — Britain may oppose the entry of Bulgaria into the United Nations, a foreign office spokesman hinted in London today.

He said Britain had been greatly disappointed by Bulgaria's refusal to admit to Bulgarian territory the United Nations Commitee investigating the recent Greek-Bulgarian Frontier dispute, and added that this failure to keep the undertakings to provide for facilities to the commission was in marked contrast with the record of the Greek Government.

This would have to be borne in mind in connection with any request Bulgaria might make for admission to U.N. after the coming into force of the Bulgarian Peace Treaty.

It was learned that the Bulgarian foreign office despatched a telegram after the committee had left its headquarters for its arrival. The committee's request for entry to Bulgaria was telegraphed to the Bulgarian Foreign Minister as May 30.

Letter Bombs for Attlee, Churchill

Other High Officials Receive Letters of Death From Italy

LONDON, June 6 (CP)—"Letter bombs" intended for Prime Minister Attlee, Opposition Leader Winston Churchill and other highly-placed British leaders were intercepted tonight in London's main post-office, it was reported here.

Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council and Deputy Prime Minister, Home Secretary Chuter Ede and Fuel Minister Shinwell were others to receive the explosive-laden packages which have been mailed to various prominent Britons this week in assassination attempts believed to be launched by Jewish Terrorists.

The latest letters bore a Turin, Italy, postmark.

(Earlier Friday, the British Embassy in Rome announced that a number of the earlier letters had borne some postmarks.) Some sources said that Italy now was the centre for European activities of Jewish Terrorists, one segment of which the Stern Gang, has claimed responsibility for sending explosives.

Scotland Yard revealed that nine more bombs had reached England in the assassination plot.

The nine latest letters, the announcement said, all were found in a single mail bag and were turned over to police without mishap.

Officials said the latest letters were brought across the English channel by steamship late last night.

Post office employees, scrutinized mail from the continent, found them in a single mail bag. Home office explosives experts and Scotland Yard Criminal Investigation agents removed them and examined them for further clues to the senders.

The new bombs, it was disclosed, came in slightly larger envelopes than those detected earlier.

Three of the earlier type arrived Thursday but did not reach their addresses because of the vigilance of secretarial workers.

Reports that a letter bomb addressed to the King and Queen was delivered at Buckingham Palace Thursday are current but not confirmed.

Foreign Minister Bevin is the latest recipient of a letter bomb.

One of Bevin's private secretaries became suspicious, deposited it in an empty room and called police.

The so-called Stern gang, Palestine Jewish underground group, was reported to have admitted sending explosive-laden letters to Bevin and several other leading Britons.

Dispatches from Jerusalem last night said the Stern gang declared that the explosive packets had been mailed from Italy by members of its European branch.

Lethal letters so far intercepted have been addressed, among other persons, to Bevin, Anthony Eden, former Foreign Secretary, Arthur Greenwood, Minister without Portfolio, John Strachey, Food Minister, Sir Stafford Cripps, Board of Trade President, Sir Harold MacMichael, former Palestine High Commissioner and Lt.-Gen. Sir Evelyn Barker, former British Army Commander in Palestine.

These letters have consisted in each case of two envelopes. The outer envelope is the cover. The inner contains gelignite, a kind of gelatin dynamite, and a detonator to be released when the inner envelope is opened and pressure is relieved on a coil spring sandwiched between two pieces of cardboard.

Love Problems

By JANE ATKINSON

Chances of Success in Marriage When Differences in Age Occur

Sometimes the problem concerns young girl who wants to marry man much older than she is. ometimes it's a woman who claims o be in love with a man many years er junior. And then again the difference in age between two people who want to get married may be either greatly on her side nor on is, but just enough to make one r the other of them wonder: "Is he oo old for me?" or "Am I too young or him?"

Often, neither one of the two most nterested in doing any worrying bout it, but the family is, as, for nstance, in the case of a girl who vrites:

"I have known the fellow I have een going with for almost a year, ut have been going steady with im only recently. He is beginning o talk about getting married, which vould not be right away, but in bout a year.

"My folks believe that the six-ear difference in our ages is too nuch for a happy marriage—I am 8 and he is 24—but we get along very agreeably and enjoy each other's company very much.

"Do you believe he is too old for ne, or that I should let my parents nfluence me against him for this eason?"

Now this matter of age differences etween two people contemplating narriage is a very tricky one, and o rigid rules can be laid down in egard to it. In the case just cited, s in all others about which similar uestions are asked, the only logical nswer that can be given is "That epends."

For whether or not a man and woman are going to be congenial ompanions in a marriage venture epends on a great many factors, f which the matter of their ages s only one—and not the most impartant one, either. A person need nly read up a little on divorce tatistics to discover that being relatively close to each other in age as very little to do with a husand and wife remaining close to ach other as marriage partners.

There have been cases of women marrying men 10 or 15 years younger than themselves in which they "lived happily ever after." And there have been those in which a girl in her twenties has married a man old enough to be her father, and the two have found each other's company thoroughly enjoyable.

These, of course, it must be admitted, are the exceptions. But there are just enough of them to make it impossible for anyone to be dogmatic about the thing and warn any given couple away from such a marriage. It is far better to hold up a yardstick against which to measure how near each comes to the other in basic considerations of personality, philosophy, habits, interests and hobbies. For the distance a husband is from his wife in any of these, or the wife from the husband, is essentially of far greater significance than their distance from each other in point of years.

There is one more thing, however, that should be taken into account, and that is the period of life in which each of the two may be at the time they are thinking about marrying. For age discrepancies matter much less at one period than at another, which means that a marriage in which an age discrepancy exists is more likely to be successful if the youngest member is not too immature, and the oldest member is not too set in his ways.

That is why I would advise the 18-year-old writer of the letter quoted to wait a year or so before marrying this young man. When she asks me if I believe he is too old for her, I say "No, not necessarily." When she wants to know if she should let her parents influence her against him, I say "No" again. And the reason I say "No" on both counts is because I do not think a discrepancy of six years is too great in itself. But I believe it is too great when the girl is only 18, and knows nothing of life and what to expect of it, and the man is 24, with, almost certainly, a much more sophisticated outlook.

Black Coffee Not Enough to Carry You Through a Morning's Work

"Just black coffee, please" . . .

If that's your breakfast order, hances are you won't get that raise n pay. Some of you honestly believe that black coffee wakes you up better than a regular breakfast. Coffee does react more quickly when taken on an empty stomach, and it is more stimulating when taken black. But it won't carry anyone through a morning's work. Nor s toast, sweet rolls or doughnuts and coffee a high powered breakfast.

If I could sell you working girls on the idea of eating a bang-up breakfast every morning, it might bring that raise in pay for you.

Dr. Henry C. Sherman, one of our foremost authorities on nutrition, promises that good nutrition will help us extend our best years by a good decade and has this to say about breakfast: "Breakfast is the most important meal in setting the pace for the day's activity . . . many persons who have been accustomed to eating a very light breakfast and who think this serves them well, are surprised to find how much less tired they feel, and how much more efficient they work through the morning, when they change to an abundant breakfast."

Lunch is often a sketchy affair due to haste, a spreading hipline or a new frock to be eked out of the slim budget. Perhaps a sandwich, pie and coffee. Lots of calories but pretty poor nutrition. About 3:30 you feel the need of more coffee to pull through the afternoon. Coffee doesn't give energy, it merely releases it. With poor nutrition there isn't much reserve energy to draw on.

Dinner is apt to be the only decent meal of the day. But reason it out, is it a good plan to eat an abundant dinner after the day's work is done? Good nutrition spread over three meals a day brings better returns and more energy. And those who skip breakfast, diet at lunch and eat an enormous dinner are never streamlined!

But back to breakfast—an abundant morning meal need not be fattening. A citrus fruit or juice, an egg and whole grain toast, lightly buttered and coffee, furnishes far more potent energy, but fewer calories, than sweet rolls and coffee.

When it comes to lunch, I don't blame any office girl for not wanting to eat a heavy meal. That always makes me sleepy. But lunch can be nutritious without being heavy. Soup made with milk, a salad, a slice of whole grain bread and fruit is a good lunch. If you need to watch calories, choose the day's special that does not include dessert, and eat only one roll. It's much easier to skip dessert when you do not pay for it. When dessert is included with the price of the lunch, ten to one you take it!

There is a close connection between good nutrition and a good salary. Try eating three balanced meals a day, try it for just thirty days . . . you'll find you have more pounce, feel keener, work better and look lovelier than you have in years.

Its New! Its Here!

"The Authority on Authorities"

COVER ALL VARIATIONS

THERE ARE so many variations in the play of certain suits that the fine declarer must consider a whole series of factors if he is to assure a successful result. The defenders may have at each stage of play a chance to choose one or another option. The ideal way to play that suit, therefore, is one which will work no matter what option the opponents select on each occasion. This can depend on the exact size of the small cards in the suit and therefore on very careful procedure.

North: ♠ Q 7 6 ♥ Q 8 5 ♦ 8 5 4 ♣ J 10 7 5

West: ♠ J 8 2 ♥ J 6 2 ♦ Q J 7 6 3 ♣ 9 2

East: ♠ 10 9 5 4 3 ♥ K 4 3 ♦ 10 9 2 ♣ K 4

South: ♠ A K ♥ A 10 9 7 ♦ A K ♣ A Q 8 6 3

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT
Pass	4 ♣	Pass	5 ♣
Pass	5 ♥	Pass	6 NT

Four very fine players were in action on this deal in a Chicago rubber game. South was Louis J. Haddad, former winner of national championships, who has been retired from tournament play for some years but still retains all his keenness. He admitted to odd bidding, but with a shrewd purpose. If North's raise to 3-No Trumps had been based on some dregs of strength in both hearts and clubs, to solidify those suits, and North also held four hearts, a third-round bid of 6-Hearts by North would have disclosed that situation, and Mr. Haddad would have left it there.

After winning the diamond Q lead with the K, Mr. Haddad saw the contract might depend on the heart play, including the fact that the 8 was higher than his 7. So, after taking in his spade A and K, he led the heart 10. If West played the J, the Q would go on; if East ducked that, he would be in dummy to cash the spade Q and finesse clubs. If East did cover, the heart 8 would be established for an entry to dummy.

West refused to cover the 10, however, whereupon the heart 5 played from the dummy. If East used his K, the Q would be set up; so East played low. Then the 9 was led, the declarer being ready to play the Q if the J went on, but West played low and the 8 was played from dummy. If East took this, the contract would be made by means of the club finesse after leading to the heart Q; if he played low, his K could be dropped and the loss of a club trick could be afforded.

* * *

Your Week-End Question

Why is there really no conflict between the two admonitions to "Play so as to protect your contract against every possible division of the missing cards" and "Play as if the missing cards are divided in the only way which will enable you to make your contract," which are often voiced by veteran advisers?

Certain Gland Disorders Can Lead to a Gain in Weight

Those of us who weigh more than we should seldom like to admit that our stoutness is due to overeating. We search around for reasons and causes elsewhere, some believing it is only "natural" for them to be fat while others think they may have glandular trouble.

And it is true that certain gland disorders lead to a gain in weight. Nevertheless such cases are few and far between. Most doctors, among them Dr. Edwin G. Langrock of New York, state that the only reason for obesity in the vast majority of cases is the eating of more food than is required. In any case, even where overweight is due to glandular disturbances, the treatment consists basically in eating less.

HEIGHT AND WEIGHT

Many height and weight tables have been formulated which show what the average person between 25 and 35 years of age should weigh. According to Dr. Langrock, weights above these levels are detrimental to health and lead to a shortened life span. No additional weight should be gained after 30 years of age.

In planning the diet so as to bring about a loss of weight or maintain the weight at a normal level, steps must be taken to be sure that enough of the various food parts, especially protein, are supplied for body growth.

Protein is furnished by such foods as meat, milk, eggs, cheese and whole-grain cereals. There should also be enough protein for the adult to maintain and repair the body tissues. In addition, vitamins and minerals should be supplied and enough starchy foods and sugars to supply energy and prevent acidosis or a lessening of the amount of alkali in the blood and tissues.

LOSING WEIGHT

In order to lose weight, the number of calories or heat value of the diet must be less than what an individual uses up in his daily activity. Thus a 1200 or 1500 calorie diet is often used. In planning the diet the physician will first determine the number of calories the patient needs. Then he will select foods which furnish vitamins, minerals and proteins and prescribe them in a quantity which will furnish the necessary number of calories. In some instances vitamin and mineral supplements may be utilized to make sure that a deficiency does not occur.

The overweight person can best reduce under the direction of the physician. I have outlined some suggested diets and instructions which may be helpful in following the physician's advice, and I shall be glad to send this information to those who write in enclosing a large self-addressed, stamped envelope, with six cents in stamps. Names will not be used.

For Parents

By GARY CLEVELAND MYERS

Nothing More Provoking to Parents, Teachers Than the Child Who Sulks

There is hardly a child more exasperating to the parent or teacher than the child who sulks. Whereas this trait seems to be more prevalent in the adolescent, it may occur in the child much younger. He will have nothing to say and will barely grunt an answer to a question, even refusing any response at all. Sometimes his father or mother is like that.

When a child so behaves he annoys us, for he really wounds our ego. Provided he discovers we are hurt or angered he may have gained a rich reward by sulking. One's impulse is to chide or even bully him.

NON-COMMUNICATIVE

In case at home he is merely non-communicative, one is prone to say something only to make him feel more irritable or dejected—not with a purpose to help him but to make one's self feel better. It's curious how our very meanness sometimes gives us satisfaction! Here I must confess to being guilty. Although I knew better, I sometimes used to say or do the very thing I should not in such emergencies. My wife did better. Many times have I observed her gentle skill at saying just the magic word to turn a child of ours when young from sulking into smiles and even laughter.

The principle involved in such success is easy to explain, but hard to carry out except in one's imagination. Begin to talk about some matter of absorbing interest to the sulking child, or hit upon some achievement in which he excelled, or anything that will make him feel more self-regard.

THE RIGHT THING

It takes cleverness, of course, to think of the right thing and then to broach it so the child surely will respond. Sometimes it is better to wait silently for several minutes.

Practically always it is bad, I think, to say, "I'm sorry you are out of sorts," or, "Might as well cheer up," or, "No use acting that way." Worse still to say, "You make me feel very bad the way you act."

I guess we parents will go on offending our children in these ways. Yet I believe that as we, in quiet moments, think about such matters and resolve to be on guard against these temptations to do wrong we ought to be a little better able on the next temptation to reveal some gain in moral fortitude. If we can make just a little self-improvement there is progress and encouragement to keep on climbing.

Tasty Recipes

By BETSY NEWMAN

Comes now the time of year when salads claim their own, and when a well-made salad might well be a main dish for luncheon or supper, perhaps even this tangy and different salmon salad.

See that all skin and bones are removed from 2 c. boiled salmon, and break fish into small pieces. Mix with tbsp. chili sauce and ½ c. mayonnaise; set aside in refrigerator for 30 min. Add coarsely ground black pepper, one c. chopped celery, and enough mayonnaise to flavor well.

A CHILLED PLATTER

Form into a mound on a chilled platter; garnish with hard-boiled egg quarters and crisp lettuce leaves; garnish with mayonnaise run through pastry bag tube.

Shrimp in Meat Jelly is ideal when something very special and fancy is desirable. Put 3 c. clear beef broth over the fire and reduce it to 2 scant cupfuls. Add tsp. each onion juice and lemon juice, tsp. chopped parsley and 2 tsp. capers.

SHELL BOILED SHRIMP

Shell one lb. boiled shrimp and lay carefully in a shallow dish with a rim (a shallow baking dish will do). Lay slices of hard boiled egg on top and pour in soup as soon as it is cold, letting it stand ¼ inch above the shrimp. Set in a very cold section of refrigerator for 6 to 8 hours or until the soup is a stiff jelly. Serve very cold with mayonnaise, without removing from dish in which it was molded.

Even folk that don't as a rule care for fish go for this one, a hal*ibut salad. To serve 6* use 2½ c. cold cooked halibut. The fish must be cooked in very salty water, at least 2 tsp. salt to each quart of water.

FLAKE THE HALIBUT

Flake the halibut in rather large pieces. Moisten with French dressing; chill thoroughly. Mix the fish, one peeled and cubed cucumber, tbsp. chopped onion, tsp. salt and ¼ tsp. pepper with sufficient mayonnaise to hold ingredients together. If desired, thin mayonnaise with a little cream. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves, with a garnish of capers and pimiento cut in fancy shapes.

For a hearty fish and vegetable salad for 6 combine lightly 2 c. flaked boiled fish, one c. mayonnaise, one c. diced celery, tsp. piccalilli and one c. cooked peas. Do not break fish into too small pieces. Pile lightly on lettuce leaves and garnish with alternate slices of hard cooked egg and sliced cooked beets using one 1 c. beets and 2 eggs in all.

Steel, Timber Shortage Great In Shipyards

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 6 (CP) — British shipyards face a steel and timber shortage of such gravity that orders are being refused and men may be laid off although business in hand would take two years to finish at full speed.

The present steel allocation is only slightly more than three-fifths of requirements and timber is down to one-half. Electric motors and other components are arriving late because of dislocations caused by last February's industrial fuel crisis.

Some builders express doubt that the Government's 1947 target of 1,250,000 tons of new merchant tonnage can be reached.

Conversion of liners after war service also is affected. The Empress of Canada, C.P.R. Trans-Atlantic liner, was due to make her first civilian crossing May 14 but cannot sail until June 25.

J. Ramay Gebbie, Managing Director of Doxford's shipyard at Sunderland told newspapermen that if the present level of steel supplies continues "the yard will be reduced to about half its normal capacity."

Gibralter is a British crown colony, less than two square miles in area.

HEADS ENGINEERS

REGINA, June 5 (CP) — M. J. Aykroyd of Toronto today was elected president of the Dominion Council of the Professional Engineers' Association of Canada at the closing session of the organization's three-day anual meeting. He succeeds P. Burke-Gaffney of Winnipeg.

Other officers elected include: Prof. Frank Forward of Vancouver vice-president, and M. B. Atson of Toronto, secretary-treasurer.

Resolution adopted by the council included: that it recommend to provincial associations that they accept standardization of qualifications of graduate and non-graduate engineers for admittance of provincial associations; that the syllabi of examinations for admittance into associations be standardized; and that there be freedom of movement from one provincial association to another.

The council agreed to a budget of $3,150 for the coming year for the association which has more than 10,000 members and its represented in all provinces.

The next annual meeting will be held in Ontario at a location to be decided later.

Total bacon purchased and shipped from January 1 to the end of March, 1947, amounted to 76,848,000 pounds. Purchases and shipments of pork offals totalled 1,108,000 pounds in the same period. Total shipments against the 1946 agreement amounted to 272,891,000 pounds, representing a total value of $65,305,000.

Reinforcements Rushed to Manchuria

PEIPING, June 6 (AP)— The governmen tpoured new reinforcements into Manchuria by rail and sea today, and one Chinese Press report said Nationalist troops had launched a counter-drive in a strategic sector of the battle with Chinese Communists.

Red troops continued to menace Mukden, but Chinese dispatches reported a noticeable slackening of pressure on Kaiyuan and Changtu, 50 and 70 miles Northeast.

A new threat appeared East of the Chinese Changchun rail line around Sian, about 100 miles South of the capital city of Changchun. The Nationalists acknowledged evacuating Sian in the face of repeated Communist assaults.

Chinese dispatches from Mukden said government forces in Szepingkai, 70 miles Southwest of Changchun, had opened a counter-drive Northward in the hope of effecting a junction with garrison troops which yesterday reached Kung Chuling, 36 miles Southwest of Changchun.

BLACKPOOL, England (CP) — The annual conference of the United Textile Workers Factory Association rejected a motion for one central trade union for the cotton industry.

All-Stars Voted For By Fans in Nationwide Poll

CHICAGO, June 6 (AP)—Baseball fans in North America go to bat today to select their own favorites for the major league All-Star game at Wrigley Field, July 8, in a three-week poll conducted by 182 newspapers, radio stations and magazines.

The voting for the eight top players, exclusive of pitchers, in both the American and National Leagues, is to continue in 42 states, the District of Columbia, Canada, Hawaii, Panama and among overseas troops until midnight, June 26.

Each agency is to conduct its poll in its own manner, but all tabulations will be handled by the Chicago Tribune, which as the ballot sponsors will serve as the clearing house for the project.

It is the first time since 1935 that the fans have had their own say about the All-Star selections, both leagues naming their own lineups for 10 of the 13 games played to date.

The All-Star pitchers will be picked by Manager Joe Cronin of Boston Red Sox, who will handle the American League team, and Eddie Dyer of St. Louis Cardinals who will boss the National Leaguers.

The Tribune originated the All-Star game in 1933 as a feature of the World's Fair in Chicago and in that inaugural poll rounded up more than 500,000 fan voters.

Win for Minstrel Would Add to Woes Of English Bookies

EPSOM DOWNS, England, June 6 (AP)—Britain's bookies were hedging hurriedly today against a strong possibility that the odds-on favorite Tudor Minstrel would win tomorrow's Epsom Derby and so end a disastrous derby week for the betting boys.

With the French filly Imprudence taking yesterday's running of the 165th Oaks stakes at a 7-4 price, the bookies have shelled out on 12 winning Epsom favorites in the 18 races run since the meeting opened Tuesday.

One Australian professional bettor was reported to have won £40,000 ($160,000) on one race alone, while a large betting firm was said to be out £5000 more than that on one day's racing.

Tudor Minstrel, quoted at 5-6 in the latest call-over, was "in the pink," his Beckhampton trainers reported.

C-54 PLANES GROUNDED FOR INSPECTION

HONOLULU, June 6 (AP) — Pacific division headquarters of the United States Army Transport Command announced today that all army C-54 planes have been "suspended from service" on worldwide orders from Washington.

The four-engine planes were grounded, the announcement said, to permit inspection of vertical stabilized bolts and attached fittings, which, it added, field reports had found "loose and sheared."

A.T.C. said this condition had never been encountered in inspections of the C-54 fleet which was flown more 745,000,000 miles in the last 18 months without a passenger fatality.

Headquarters said inspection of planes in the Pacific was being carried out at Hickam Field here; Johnson Island, Kwajalein, Guam, Tokyo and Shanghai as well as Fairfield-Suisun, Calif., and Great Falls, Mont., Army Air bases. The latter is the A.T.C. Gateway to Alaska.

The A. T. C. said the order actually had little effect on scheduled flights since the special inspection required only about an hour for each plane.

LANIER RETURNS TO MEXICAN LOOP

MEXICO CITY, June 6 (AP)—The Mexican Baseball League announced last night that Max Lanier, former St. Louis Cardinals Stellar southpaw, has agreed to return to the circuit with his old team, the Veracruz Blues, thus ending his long holdout.

A brief league bulletin said "Lanier has accepted terms offered by the League, and will return to Mexico next week."

Lanier came to the Mexican League in May 1946, after pitching six straight victories for the Cardinals against no losses.

During the Winter it was reported Lanier had been offered only $7500 for the 1947 compared to the $15,000 he was reported to have received last year, a sum for which Lanier said he would not accept.

FOOD, POSTURE HABITS CAUSE OF ULCERS

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., June 6 (AP)—Dr. Donald Cook of Chicago declared yesterday ulcers were not caused by worry, smoking or alcoholic beverages, but by food and posture habits.

In an address before the National Gastroenterological Association, he said ulcers result primarily from a pinching of the ulcer-bearing areas of the stomach and the duodenum between the liver and spine.

"Good general health and mental outlook, together with sufficient rest and relaxation, and the regular taking of food and liquids combine to prevent neurogenic influences from acting through the primary cause to produce ulcer."

SWEATS FOR A LIVING AND LIKES IT

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP) — Husky Eugene Belner, dressed in a red rayon sash, a wilted shirt collar and not much else, stepped happily into a heated chamber under Manhattan building today and let his 2,500,000 sweat glands perspire freely.

The 23-year-old Belner, a former soldier, really sweats for a living. He works for a group of textile manufacturers who call him the "human perspirator."

The manufacturers clothe him in the latest fabrics and then stand back at a respectful distance to see what his perspiration does to the color fastness and tensile strength of their products.

They have rigged up a subterranean chamber at a heat of 125 where Belner sits for half hour intervals until he emerges looking like a boiled tomato and surrenders his garments for scientific inspection.

HE LIKES IT

For instance, the manufacturers can dunk that wilted collar into a mechanical "nose" called an osometer and it will measure what even your best friends won't tell you.

Belner, a six-footer, likes his work. Two weeks ago when he took the job he weighed 280 pounds and now he is down to a mere 265.

"I have been going to the doctors getting treatments to reduce," he said. "Why pay for treatments when I can get paid for taking them?"

Emergency for Britain

A crisis in Britain's financial affairs is approaching. On July 15, by the terms of the Washington loan agreement, sterling balances become convertible into dollars. It is reported that Britain will be enabled to weather this test by the willingness of the sterling holders to limit their demand for the spendable currency. With that hurdle jumped, Britain will face the exhaustion of her American and Canadian loans early in 1948. Then, if not sooner, further help will most certainly be needed if the British economy is to pull through. Officials of treasuries and central banks have lately discussed the crisis in London, Washington and Ottawa, but no proposals have as yet emerged.

Though the cause of Britain's distress should now be familiar to everyone, it has to be stated again to make the picture clear, says the Toronto Globe and Mail. Britain is suffering from the losses inflicted by the war and from nothing else. Recent figures indicated that the total cost of the war was $2400 per capita to the United States and under $2000 per capita to Canada. British war budgets alone aggregated more than $3000 per capita; and this naturally does not include the value of houses, docks, railways and factories bombed, merchant ships sunk and foreign investments liquidated. Britain's total losses, not yet computed, were enormously greater than those of any other Ally except the Soviet Union.

The British, in a gallant effort to get back to solvency, have put up with austerity for two peacetime years and have concentrated their energies on exports. By last Fall, they had hoisted exports from a wartime level of 30 per cent to more than 100 per cent of the 1938 level—striking proof that they could still make and deliver the goods. Then last Winter's coal shortage and the worst weather in a century tied up their transport and brought their industry almost to a dead stop. The American and Canadian loans have proved inadequate. They were large, by any standard, but their size can best be gauged by saying that together they were equal to British war expenditures for about three months.

If it be agreed that Britain should be further helped, and our own self-interest dictates that she must, what can the rich nations of the New World do about it? Mr. Herbert Morrison, at the Labor Party conference now in session, declares that Britain "cannot afford" and so does not want another American loan, and hopes for some easement of her situation by a trade agreement, presumably on a barter basis, with the Soviet Union. If Britain can work out a reliable two-way bargain on goods with the Russians, so much the better; but it is sheer foolishness to suggest that the battered and impoverished Soviet Union can (or would particularly wish to) pull Britain out. Britain needs North America as surely as North America needs Britain.

Yet it is true that Britain "cannot afford," as a banker's proposition, another loan; and this newspaper suggests that the true solution is a return to the principle of lend-lease. That is, further instalments of aid to Britain should not be based on any present estimate of ability to pay or calculation of future yearly payments. The situation should be treated as an emergency and Britain should be supplied, according to her needs, as during the war. Later, when Britain is able to pay in goods, there can be an accounting as circumstances suggest.

Canada should take the lead in offering assistance to Britain on these terms; but the cooperation of the United States would certainly be needed to make the plan work. As was pointed out by Governor Graham Towers of the Bank of Canada in his last annual report, this country cannot continue indefinitely to export on credit to Britain while buying heavily for cash from the United States. American lend-lease or credits to Canada (or, alternatively, a sharp cut in our American imports) will be required if the Dominion is to lend-lease goods to Britain. The solution, which has to be triangular, ought to be a return to the mutual aid system of the war years. Then it was axiomatic that the Ally which needed supplies got them at once by merely signing a receipt. In today's equally grave emergency, application of the same generous principle should be possible.

ON TITLES

It is many years ago since titles—the traditional British kind—were officially frowned upon for Canada. Our Prime Minister gets the credit for personally imposing the ban.

I'm not sure that he was right.

Granted that the titular system, as it has operated for a thousand years, more or less, has been badly abused; granted that money has had more to do with procuring and prolonging titles than it should have—the system still has merit.

If you will go along with me in the belief that incentives have much to do with accomplishment, and stay with me while we examine the various incentives extant, I think a case can be made for titles.

The criterion for accomplishment (or public estimation of accomplishment) on this continent, is money, and—to a lesser extent—power. Mostly, the two go hand in hand. Money and power are the prime incentives in Canada and the United States, because they are criteria of accomplishment.

In great Britain there is—theoretically at least—a third measure of what a man has accomplished, a title. And, badly abused as the system may be, there ARE titled men who have neither riches nor power, who have received their titles in recognition of service to the nation, to humanity, or to their calling.

That is a good thing—a mighty good thing.

It is sound idealism to say that men will work their whole lives for the good of their fellow men, without hope or expectancy of reward, material or otherwise; it is sounder practical living to say that more men will give their lives to good works if there is at least recognition at the end. And there is no more sensible nor fitting recognition than that which honorably lifts a man's name from the John Doe with which he started to the Sir John which everyone recognizes as recognition hard-won by sacrifice and service.

Without a facetious thought, I would like to suggest to the Prime Minister of Canada that he consider ending his public career on a reversal of an opinion he so strongly held in his younger days. Canada can use a titular system based upon recognition and credit for services to the nation and the nation's people.

Today's Horoscope

You are impulsive, act quickly, and are easily discouraged, although you are a loyal friend and always anxious to help those in need. You are sympathetic and sensitive, you love with your whole heart and suffer deeply if love is not returned to you with an equal strength. The day will be doubtful. Double check figures and avoid anything in which there is an element of secrecy. Personal expression may be blocked. Untoward events, delays, and a sense of frustration will mark your next year, but grit and determination to succeed may overcome many obstacles. Watch your own health and cultivate optimism. The child who is born on this date will not be very strong physically, and health will need extra care. The life will be more or less humdrum, and subject to disappointments.

HOROSCOPE FOR SUNDAY

You are a just and ambitious person; like to read and travel and are apt in forming new friendships. You are sometimes stubborn in your viewpoints, and are exacting, planning to do all things in meticulous detail. The day's influences are doubtful. Do not force or be forced today. Hurt feelings are likely. In the progress of your next year satisfactory progress will be made and health improved. Better curb expenditures on pleasure and friends; expedite business and prefer requests. Born today, a child will have the perceptive and reflective faculties well developed, be highly intellectual, refined, clever in the arts and occult sciences, popular and fortunate.

Etiquette Hints

It is correct and pleasant to go up to the speaker or singer after a performance is over, to express your pleasure at the act, but do not presume to ask favors of the performer or take too much of his time. A public performance is tiring and the performer needs to rest after it.

Words of Wisdom

We should be careful to deserve a good reputation by doing well, and when that case is once taken, not to be over anxious about the success.—Rochester.

BEARDS

A kiss without moustache or beard
Is like bread when the butter's gone.
—Old saying.

What! Shall man's chin for ever more be skinned
Daily with advertized razor blades and cream?
And ever more shall boys with envy dream
Of reaching full stature only when the blood be thinned?

Seems, too, the sacrifice were often vain:
For, fast as he soaps and scrapes his downy jaw,
So fast, or faster, tresses tower upon the squaw
Whose charm submits to some remote chatelaine.

Or does she hunger for a vanished breed,
And therefore bears banners meet for both?
Or do they mutually themselves mislead,
Wearing too long their spent and famished youth?

Thus permanent waves call to the hollow ground,
And love lies bleeding where no beards be found.

And man is at peace.

Shortages of Beef, Cheese Make Fulfilment of Commitments Doubtful

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 6 (CP)—Canada generally is keeping abreast of her commitments to supply Britain with vitally-needed foodstuffs, although in some essential lines supplies are not as free as might be hoped, a survey showed today.

For instance, shipments of wheat, bacon, eggs, fruits and some vegetables are crossing the seas about on schedule but shortages of beef and cheese make it doubtful whether the Dominion will be able to supply the full commitment.

However, many of the contract figures are "maximums" and the British Government, in making its purchases, understood that domestic shortages may curtail shipments in some lines.

WHEAT BIGGEST

The big contract, both from the standpoint of quantities and dollars involved, is the wheat agreement. To date, Canada has shipped approximately 124,000,000 bushels of her 160,000,000-bushel commitment for the current crop year under the four-year Anglo - Canadian wheat agreement. Expectations are that the full consignment will have been sent within the crop year.

The meat contract, covering both bacon and beef, is less certain.

The bacon commitment is for 350,000,000 pounds, with a minimum "floor" of 285,000,000 pounds. To date, the Dominion has shipped 125,000,000 pounds, 5,000,000 under the quantity which was scheduled to have gone by this time, but hog marketings have improved recently and authorities say the trend is "encouraging."

The beef contract presents a dismal picture, mainly because cattle are not coming to market in the quantities needed and the quantities expected. During the first two quarters of this year, only 20,000,000 pounds were shipped towards the commitment for 120,000,000 pounds this calendar year.

Marketings of beef are reported 20 per cent lower than at this time a year ago and meat board officials have been able to make few purchases. There is a hope, however, that Fall marketings will improve.

POULTRY AHEAD

Poultry is far ahead of schedule. On a contract for 12,500,000 pounds of dressed poultry, Canada has shipped 9,500,000 pounds and officials expect that the remainder will have gone by late this month or early in July.

Eggs, too, are moving briskly. With the contract standing at 1,750,000 cases of shell eggs, government purchasers have sent 470,000,000 cases and have stored another 700,000 cases for Fall shipment. The remainder of the contract will be delivered between September and next January and will depend upon available stocks.

One-half of the dried egg powder commitment of 7500 long tons already has reached Britain.

Some aspects of the dairy products contract, due to the lower production of milk over the last year or so, are lagging.

The Dominion fell approximately 30,000,000 pounds short on her contract to ship 125,000,000 pounds of cheese in the year ended March 31 and official sources are hesitant to speculate how much cheese can be shipped when the cheese-manufacturing season hits its peak this month.

But some 100,000 cases of evaporated milk have been shipped towards a commitment of 600,000 cases while shipments on an order of 8,000,000 pounds of dried skim milk powder were reported to be "moving ahead nicely."

In the line of fruits, more than 600,000 barrels and 12,000 cases of fresh Nova Scotia apples have been sent against an order for only 300,000 barrels while 6400 barrels of fresh Ontario apples and 2,552,000 barrels of fresh British Columbia apples also have been shipped.

Other contracts complete or virtually complete include those covering 70,000 bushels of Prince Edward Island potatoes, 390,000 bushels of dried peas, 500,000 cases of tomato juice, 60,000 cases of canned tomatoes, and a total of 3000 short tons of raspberry and green guage pulp.

By the Starting Gate

A population of 20,000,000 has been accepted by the people of Canada as the ultimate objective for the future. That future will be reached about half a century from now, and it is a tidy little figure for a tidy little Dominion, and Canadians have agreed in their minds it might as well do for all time.

The United States could easily go on to 200,000,000 if it opened its doors wide to Europe, but with the present quota system it is expected to attain a population equilibrium some time in the coming '60's—that is to say, in something under a score of years. With less space to juggle with, Americans are in a good position to pick and choose, and to adopt a population ceiling when they feel there are figuratively no more worlds for them to conquer.

But Canadians figure that about half of the British Isles total is about right for a little country like Canada, and the time to attain it is about half a century from now. By that time, if present ideals of both immigration and family responsibility are maintained, the falling birthrate will take care of exactly balancing immigration with native net increase, and assure that the 20,000,000 ideal, with its permanent proportion of one Canadian for nine Americans and two Britishers will never be exceeded.

By that time, of course, a couple more world wars might be fought, and Canada, under that name, might not be on the map. Its identity might be lost, in an Arctic-spanning Empire, an American Empire, a European Empire, or even an Asiatic Empire. Loss of identity would of course be assured for any little handful of 20,000,000 people sitting placidly in what amounts to a half continent of potential treasure. That is of course necessarily involved—it is the hard and inescapable factual target behind the idealistic target. If you hit a paper target pinned to a tree, you hit the tree, don't you, as well as your ostensible target?

"It's a lie! I'm not against maximum Canadian development!"

Just hear the shout from everybody.

But every one of us has a sieve through which we want the immigrants to pass.

The Little Canadian wants "Canada for the Canadians."

The Little Britisher, often Canadian-born, wants no immigrants except of British origin, notwithstanding that Britain is itself in the market for workers.

Organized labor wants no potential competitors—that is, workers—admitted.

At least two political cults would screen very severely against free enterprise.

Canada's historic parties are in agreement in wishing no ideological stream from the general vicinity of the Urals.

But if we all succeed in screening out elements we would rather see left behind, what paltry remnant will escape elimination?

I say—and I would like to shout it—"Open Canada's doors wide to general immigration, to all racial streams not definitely unsuitable."

As a beginning, we could offer an asylum to displaced persons of all kinds. In our free atmosphere the overwhelming majority would quickly become good Canadians, while their labor, skills and mental abilities would be applied in developing Canada. The second generation, and the portion of the current generation of tender years, would be devoted Canadians from the start.

AIM AT MILLION A YEAR

Personally, I think Canada should aim at a million immigrants per year. Our population today is overwhelmingly native born. The progeny of the added annual million would be native-born. Canadian ideals and standards would be maintained, and would grow stronger roots because of the more intense appreciation of freedom.

Selective immigration is retarded immigration. It provides only a screened remnant absolutely inadequate to our needs, and turns aside the living human streams that would vitalize our country and ourselves, and offer the only hope in sight for adequate national development and eventual national safety.

Fact-Film "I Am an Alcoholic" Has Anonymous Nature of Those Concerned

BY FRED KERNER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Now that the film-makers have run the gamut of plots about what ferments in the alcoholic ward, the producers of "This is America" series have added the final touch. This fitting denouement to the "great drink" is a fact-film entitled "I Am An Alcoholic."

As you've probably guessed, this documentary is about alcoholics anonyous, that courageous group of ex-drunkards who under the cloak of anonymity have been vconverting other dipsomaniacs to a more normal life.

This documentary varies a little from others in the series because of the anonymous nature of the persons concerned. So the screen writers have turned out a fiction piece based on a true "A-A" story and put professional actors in real, on-the-spot lacales to round out the dramatic story.

WHERE TO NOW

What we can now expect from the movie moguls is a grade "A" (they hope) feature on the same topic. That should just about wind up the current trend to alcoholism—with perhaps a hangover..

Actually the psychological treatment of the aloholic was not as finely turned out as that of the schizophernics. Hollywood has tended to treat our "spiritual" friends on much the same fashion as they handled gangsterism-pretty exciting for a starter, but with the final warning that drink, like crime doesn't pay. The warning, no doubt won't deter many!

11,000 Buffalo, 25,000 Antelope Roaming Parks

OTTAWA, June 6 (CP)—National parks in Western Canada contain more than 11,000 buffalo and more than 25,000 antelope roam in Alberta and Saskatchewan, the Senate was told today by Senator W. A. Buchanan (L.-Alberta) when he moved second reading of a bill to amend the National Parks Act.

At one time it was feared these animals were on the way to extinction. To prevent such a disaster the Wainwright Buffalo National Park was set up to protect buffalo and the Nemiskam Park to protect the antelope. Both are in Alberta and are being discontinued as National Parks.

The bill before the Senate provides that these lands revert to the province. The buffalo herd at Wainwright was transferred some years ago to the Wood Buffalo Park in the Northwest Territories where there are herds of approximately 10,000 buffalo and the population is increasing. Another herd of 1000 is at Elk Island National Park and there are two or three smaller herds. Elk Island Park is being enlarged.

The lands of Wainwright Park 200 square miles are being used for military training grounds and experimental purposes by the Agriculture Department. These undertakings will be continued.

Small tracts are being withdrawn from Riding Mountain Park which revert to Manitoba and from Waterton Lakes Park that go to Alberta.

TAXES AND SERVICES

In Banff, Jasper, Waterton Lakes and Yoho Parks where residents remain throughout the year changes are being made in the Act so that these people will pay certain taxes and receive health services from the provinces.

"The National Parks," Senator Buchanan said, "are among the greatest magnets drawing tourists to Canada and any expenditure on them is returned 100 fold."

Lamotto Batters Janiro To End Fix Rumors

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP)—Jake Lamotta, the boxing bull from the Bronx, went on a slugging spree after a slow start tonight to whip Tony Janiro in 10 rounds and explode the rumors of a fixed fight at one and the same time at Madison Square Garden. Lamotta scaled 154¼; Janiro 149¼.

Outgunned and outweighed by the rugged rough slugger they call the Bronx Fire Hydrant, Janiro never had a chance after the first two rounds and was on the point of a knockout from the sixth round on. But the youngster from Youngstown, O., held on until four seconds from the finish, then collapsed, and was flat on his back at the finish — saved by the bell.

The count reached four — then the bell sounded ending the fight with Lamotta an easy and one-sided winner of the unanimous decision. None of the three officials gave Janiro more than three rounds. The Associated Press score card gave Lamotta eight rounds, one to Janiro and called one even.

Game Officials Ask Persons Not To Bother Fawns

Well meaning persons who pick up young deer at this time of the year are not giving mother nature a helping hand with her charges officials of the Game Department said at Nelson Friday. "The Department frowns upon the practise," it was revealed.

The officials explained that the mother deer cached its young at the time of feeding. As the fawns are particularly tame at this stage of life they can easily be picked up by people who think the fawns have been left to their own resources.

Men who have worked with game, maintain that this is not the case and that the parent deer always comes back for its young. The only thing accomplished by the "humanism" is the breaking up of a "deer family" it was pointed out.

Sam Shoots Course Record To Gain Lead

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP) — Slammin' Sammy Snead shot a 65 for a course record today, and his 131 gave him a three-stroke lead at the halfway mark of the $10,000 National Capital open golf tournament.

But the cheering for the Hot Springs, Va., hotshot hardly had died down before his pretty record was broken, too.

Ed Furgol of Pontiac, Mich., tapped in a 20-foot putt on the 18th for an astonishing nine-under-par 63.

Furgol had a 75 Thursday and 138 two-day total left him seven strokes behind the fast-travelling Snead.

There was a two-way tie for second place, at 134, between George Payton of Hampton, Va., and Tom Wright of Knoxville, Tenn.

Bobby Locke of Johannesburg, South Africa, winner of four of the six United States tournaments in which he has played, was having a mite of trouble with his second shot. He added a 68—"and I was lucky to get it"—to his 67 for a 35.

Bums Edge Field, Cards Climb To Second Rung; 15th Homer for Mize

By STEVE ROBERTSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Those baseball Bums from Brooklyn—the Dodgers — had a half-game lead over the field in the National League and the way they've been fighting lately you'd think Leo (The Lip) Durocher was managing the crew.

However, Lippy, suspended by the Baseball Commissioner for a year, has been seeing his ball games from the stands lately but it must be doing his heart good to see the Dodgers battling at the top. The Brooks, ahead by a whisker over Chicago and New York who were tied for second, Friday walloped the Cubs 6-2 behind the nine-hit pitching of left-hander Joe Hatten. Meanwhile the Giants downed St. Louis Cardinals 7-4 in 11 innings to take over sole possession of second place.

And in other National League games, Boston Braves defeated Cincinnati Reds 5-2 on the strength of Phil Masi's two run homer and a ninth inning round-tripper by Howie Schultz broke a 3-3 tie at Philadelphia to give the Phillies a 4-3 triumph over Pittsburgh Pirates.

At New York, home runs by Johnny Mize and Willard Marshall accounted for all New York's runs.

15th HOMER

Marshall broke up the game with a three-run circuit blast in the second extra inning off Ken Burkhart, third Cardinal pitcher. Mize ruined a fine hurling performance by Starter Howie Pollet by clouting his 15th homer of the season with the bases full in the sixth inning. Gene Thompson, third Giant hurler, got credit for the victory.

Base Stealing Is a Trick For Scientist or Daredevil

In this photo it's all over but the tagging for Buddy Kerr, Giants' shortstop, trapped between third and home by Frankie Gustine and catcher Clyde Kluttz of the Pirates.

Ty Cobb and base stealing are paired and inseparable in the minds of most baseball fans, who would deny that anyone ever approached Cobb's skill in this department. Statistics, however, show that in some respects Max Carey was a better stealer than Ty.

Cobb's record of 96 bases stolen in one season (1915) has never been equalled. And his all-time Major League record, 892, also stands unmolested.

Carey's Major League total was 738. Yet on the basis of percentages, Max was far in front. The same year that Cobb stole 96 bases, he also made 38 unsuccessful attempts, certainly costly to his team. Carey, a master of timing, was less likely to gamble than Ty. When he started out to steal, the chances that he would be successful were better. In one season he attempted 53 steals and came through 51 times. Cobb was the daredevil, Cary the scientist.

Canuck, Empire Divoters Pulling For Bobby Locke to Cop U. S. Open

BY RAY TIMSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, June 6 (CP) — The eyes of the empire will follow South Africa's Bobby Locke over every green and fairway when he tees off in the American National Open Golf Tourney.

"Bring 'ome the pork for the British" will be the cry and from the interest shown in Canada recently, the "Bring 'home' squeak may drown out the Star Spangled Banner.

Canadians coast to coast are all agog over the current accomplishments of the divot-digger from below the equator. He has been in the United States only two months, has entered six American top-flight golf matches and triumphed in four.

That's a good average in any man's league, writes Jim (Woodstock Sentinel-Review) McKay who believes "Canucks are pulling for Locke to win that title."

And no wonder. Alex (Halifax Herald) Nickerson says that up until two months ago, U.S. golf writers "were fond of saying that while Great Britain and the Dominions possibly had better amateur golfers, the men who played for keeps in the States—such sensational pros as Ben Hogan Byron Nelson, Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret—far outclassed their fellow pros in the British Empire.

Then Locke arrived. OOO! who gave that man a passport, adds Alex: "Though the American amateurs had taken both the Walker Cup and the British Amateur Championships back to the United States, South Africa and the empire could rejoice in the amazing accomplishments of Bobby Locke, on his record the greatest pro of 1947."

SHATTERED DREAMS

Chick (Stratford Beacon-Herald) Appel has taken exception to the "Dream Games" proposed by the National Hockey League Governors. "We fail to see where this type of game really settles anything, beyond a lot of cash in the coffers of the league," says Chick.

The league proposes to hold the first "Dream Game" in toronto. Oct. 13, with the Stanley Cup Champion Toronto Maple Leafs exchanging the rubber with an all-star team.

"This is a waste of time," declares Chick. "Players who have seldom, ever played together just cannot show their best form. If the league wants to raise funds for a pension scheme for the players or to assist injured players, take a percentage of all the gates or work out some other scheme."

Reunited Louises Have 11½-Pound Son

MEXICO CITY, June 6 (AP) — The birth here of a 11½-pound boy to Mrs. Joe Louis was announced today and, in San Diego, Calif., the heavyweight boxing champion disclosed that he and his wife, divorced in 1945, were remarried a year ago.

Dr. Mario Gonzales Ulloa, head of the clinic where Mrs. Louis is a patient, said the baby was born May 28.

Mrs. Louis said: "I named the baby Joe Louis, Jr."

She said she came to Mexico City last Feb. 1 when her husband appeared here in an exhibition match against Arturo Godoy, Chilean heavyweight.

Louis and his wife, the former Marva Trotter, were divorced in Chicago on March 27, 1945. They have a daughter, Jacqueline, now four.

Interviewed at San Diego, Louis confirmed announcement and said he hoped his son would become a champion fighter.

The couple plan to meet in Chicago when Mrs. Louis is able to travel.

Charlie Grimm Imitates Bird as Umpire Argues

Fight Cricket Plague With Poison Gas

Farmers in several Counties in Oregon are bringing all known means into play to combat the hordes of Mormon crickets which threaten to devastate their crops. In addition to poison-bait traps and various poison fogs and chemicals, they are depending on flocks of seagulls, seldom seen this far inland, to help stem the plague by feasting on the insects. This photo shows poison dust bombs, invented by a resident of Yakima, Wash., being spread over a section of a wheat ranch in a desperate effort to halt the march of the crickets.

SUGGEST FOOD PARCELS FOR SISTER CHURCHES

CALGARY, June 6 (CP)—A suggestion that Canadian congregations adopt sister Presbyterian Churches in England, Ireland and Scotland to implement aid in sending parcels of food and clothing to Britain was urged here today by Dr. John McNab of Toronto at sessions of the 73rd General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church.

The sessions began Wednesday, and are expected to last about seven or 10 days.

As the Assembly began consideration of a detailed 28-page report from the Committee appointed last year to survey the administrative needs of the church, debate centred around procedure in dealing with a report that suggests new and, in some cases, drastic changes in administration. Rev. A. Neil Miller of Brampton presented it due to the illness of the Committee Convener, Dr. Peter A. Dunn of Hamilton. It was decided to consider the report first without committing the Assembly to take action upon it.

Pointing to the alarming increase in the rate of divorce, Dr. C. L. Cowan of Hamilton claimed that one out of three marriages now end in the divorce court. He urged action on this and the alarming growth in juvenile delinquency. He said that certain moving pictures were immoral and detrimental to youth.

He also stated that the Board had barely had time to look into important matter such as the reason why clergymen of one branch of the church were exempted from the income tax that every earning Canadian pays.

Bing in Canada

Laden with tackle and gear, Bing Crosby is a happy fisherman during a recent holiday at the Seigniory Club in the Province of Quebec, Canada. He caught his day's limit of five brown trout in short order, lunched at a small cabin on the lake, then toured through a section of the Club's 104 square miles of Laurentian country, visiting the fish hatchery and guides' base camp where he obliged some of the rangers and woodsmen with their favorite songs.

Argentine steel plants have an estimated capacity of 65,000 tons of ingots a year.

LONDON (CP) — Unscrupulous collectors are helping natural extinction of some of Britain's rare birds, says a Home Office circular, issued recently.

Besides the "pleasure and refreshment" given to mankind by the sight and sound of birds, many of them help food production by destroying pests which eat or damage growing crops.

"There is reason to suspect that some birds, notably the lap-wing, have been killed for food under conditions involving offences against the law. This pernicious practice can only be stopped by the active cooperation of the police and the general public," said the circular.

BLUEBERRY P.T.A. PLANS PICNIC

BLUEBERRY CREEK, B. C., June 6—At a special meeting of the Blueberry Creek P.T.A., held at the home of Mrs. J. E. Marshall, an interesting afternoon was had, Mrs. C. G. McCall, Corresponding Secretary for B. C. Parent Teachers Association, being the guest speaker.

Mrs. McCall gave an outline of the founding of the first P.T.A., and spoke concerning its aims and purposes. She stressed the importance of cooperation between the home and school, and how the community benefits from the added friendliness arising from the P. T. A. meetings.

Sports and basket picnic were decided upon for the closing of school, and committees were elected to take care of catering and planning. Tea was served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Babaeff.

Four new members were welcomed to the P.T.A.

While Mrs. McCall was in the district she was entertained for lunch at the home of Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. S. Walton supplied a delicious supper.
