Silt-Laden Floods Recede; Roads, Bridges Blocked

Most Evacuations Cease; 1600 Driven From Homes, but "Worst Over"; Muddy Waters Still Churn in Wide Area

SEATTLE, Dec. 15 (AP)—Silt-laden flood waters receded slowly today from a widespread area of inundated lowlands in the White River valley, South of Seattle, as hundreds of homeless residents were heartened by the weather bureau's assurance "the worst is over."

Sharply lower temperatures coupled with a cessation of steady rainfall sent swollen streams back toward their breached banks.

Effects of the flood were still being felt, however. A wall of mud 150 yards in length and 15 feet deep last night blocked a secondary road from Renton to Maple Valley, 15 miles South of Seattle. Unconfirmed reports were being investigated that two small children had been caught in the slide on their way home from a movie.

Approaches to a bridge on an access road to the Boeing plant at Renton were swept away, and choking debris piled against foundations brought fears the span would be washed out.

Families in the vicinity of Earlington Flats, small community near Renton, were still being evacuated today but elsewhere throughout the valley evacuations had ceased.

In the water-soaked Willamette Valley of Western Oregon the crest of the flooding Willamette River swept down from the upper reaches and was expected to roll into the midlands some time tomorrow. The Weather Bureau predicted that water would be six feet above the 20-foot flood level at Salem, the state capital.

STREETS UNDER WATER

Several suburban Portland streets were under water as the swollen Clackamas River poured into the Lower Willamette and added to its already high level.

At Kelso, in Southwest Washington, schools were ordered closed and 100 families were evacuated from the nearby community of Lexington. The Toutle River Valley was reported devastated with big logging trucks, homes and cabins wrecked and a section of the Spirit Lake highway washed away.

The turbulent Cowlitz River continued gouging today at approaches to the lengthy Pioneer Bridge four miles East of Kelso and Longview, and army engineers said the span is in imminent danger of going out. Between 40 and 50 families were evacuated from that area.

In the desolate White River Valley South of Seattle, fore than 1600 families have been driven from their homes, the Red Cross reported. Livestock losses were expected to be high, and damage to farms and homes in the fertile valley was expected to reach $1,000,000. Muddy waters were still churning over a 20-mile-wide area.

Amphibious "ducks," manned by police and army and navy men, patrolled the valley after reports were received of apparently organized looting of deserted homes. Three men were arrested 23 miles South of Seattle and held for investigation when they were found prowling in a motorboat, with trucks parked at the edge of an inundated sector.

Waters in the Upper Willamette Valley in Western Oregon were subsiding slowly with the colder temperatures.

The first report of a fatality—that of a man seen drowning in the Cedar River in King County, Washington, yesterday—was being investigated.

RIVER SWEEPS INTO FERTILE FARMLANDS

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 15 (AP)—The crest of the flooding Willamette River swept into the flat fertile farmlands of the middle valley area today.

In the upper valley, where 3500 were evacuated from their homes in the Eugene area yesterday, the stricken communities braced for a secondary crest moving down the McKenzie River and the Willamette forks.

U.S. Army engineers estimated damage at $300,000 in the Eugene area in a preliminary survey, but admitted erosion damage to the rich Middle Valley could run into more hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The river was rising rapidly above flood stage in the Albany, Corvallis and Salem area today where the crest was due at Salem, the state capital, sometime Monday. The Weather Bureau had predicted a river stage six feet above the 20 foot flood level. The muddy, rain swollen river burst its banks there shortly after midnight.

An unexpected high stage in the Clackamas River pouring into the Willamette at Oregon City just South of Portland, put some suburban Portland streets under water. Many secondary highways along the 100 mile stretch of inundated valley were closed and two of the state's three North-South main highways were cut off in places in the Upper Valley.

There were no reports of casualties.

India To Announce Cut From U.K. In Three Days; "Can't Be Stopped"

BENARES, India, Dec. 15 (AP)—Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, leading minister of the interim government, said today that India would declare her severance from the British Empire within the next three days.

Decisions of the Indian Constituent Assembly will not, in the future, be submitted to the British Parliament, Nehru declared at a reception here.

"We have stopped looking to London," he said. "We shall solve our own problems. Congress has decided to go forward vigorously."

"It is now not even in Britain's power to check India from becoming independent."

Nehru said that leaders of the Moslem League were reactionary, did not wish freedom for India and looked toward Great Britain for guidance.

The Moslem League, spokesman group for India's 100,000,000 Moslems wishes the establishment in India of the State of Pakistan — a partition of India between Hindu and Moslem provinces. Nehru's Congress Party opposes Pakistan.

The Congress Party leader said Greot Britain might want to divide India and remain in power in Pakistan to greate difficulties.

U.N. SPEEDS THROUGH FINAL SESSIONS

"Historic Step" Toward World Disarmament

4 DECISIONS

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (CP)—A world stripped by common consent of the means to wage aggressive warfare was the unanimously-accepted plan of the 54-power United Nations General Assembly as it sped through final sessions today.

Delegates Saturday gave a cheering acclamation when President Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium put the question on the Political Committee's report recommending reduction in national armaments and control of atomic and other mass-killing weapons. There was no necessity of a vote.

Hon. Paul Martin, leader of the Canadian delegation which played an important part in framing the final resolution, described the Assembly's oction as a "historic step" toward general disarmament.

"We have done no more, however, than take the first step," he said.

The resolution places the task of disarmament planning in the hands of the 11-member Security Council.

It will present its recommendations to a special General Assembly meeting on disarmament and the last stage will be ratification by the nations of draft disarmament conventions approved by the General Assembly.

RUSH THROUGH DECISIONS

Delegates, wearied by day and night sessions, rushed through many important decisions in a crowded weekend. In addition to the disarmament action, the Assembly:

1. Approved by a 46-to-7 vote the Site Committee's recommendation to build a sky-scraper headquarters in the heart of Manhattan's East Side on an $8,500,000 area donated by John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

2. Approved a budget of $19,390,000 for 1946, $27,740,000 for 1947 and a working capital of $20,000,000. (Canada's share was assessed at $2,177,245.)

3. Set up a trusteeship counsel of 10 states to supervise the administration of territories formerly under League of Nations mandates.

4. Rejected by a 37-to-0 vote South Africa's request for approval of its annexation of the mandated area of Southwest Africa and recommended that South Africa submit a trusteeship agreement plan for the former Germon colony.

Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Russian Foreign Minister who introduced the arms-limitation proposal Oct. 29, five days after the Assembly opened in the Flushing Meadows Park headquarters, embarked for home on the liner Queen Elizabeth almost immediately after the resolution was carried.

He and his delegates took with good grace a 36-to-6 defeat of their long-fought resolution for an immediate global census of troops and armaments.

A compromise proposal was approved, instructing the Security Council to decide what information member states should be required to submit to implement disarmament.

Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, who with James Byrnes, United States Secretor yof State, and Mr. Molotov, addressed the General Assembly late Friday in support of the disarmament proposal, also sailed Saturday on the Queen Elizabeth.

ISLAND TRAFFIC FROZEN IN HEAVY SNOW, SLEET

VICTORIA, Dec. 15 (CP)—Heavy snow and sleet on highways on Lower Vancouver Island has tied up traffic today and Provincial Police reported about 25 cars stalled on the Shawnigan cutoff between Shawnigan Lake and Duncan.

Two truck loads of sand and gravel were sent from Victoria to spread on the roads in an effort to clear the traffic snarl.

No accidents have so far been reported but the slippery conditions of the roads forced several cars off the roadways.

U.S. Studies Food Problem

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — The United States has begun a study of food requirements abroad to determine whether U.N.R.R.A. shipments should be diverted from some countries to others in greater need. A staff of food experts is assembling dato on foreign crop prospects for 1947 and may complete its work in two weeks.

Officials reported today that at it the conclusions bear out tentative estimates that at least Italy and Austria will need additional food, they will ask U.N.R.R.A.'s nine-power Central Committee to divert shipments scheduled for more fortunate countries.

Any such move by the United States is certain to run into opposition from Russian and Yugoslav Committee members.

Both countries fought unsuccessfully during last week's U.N.R.R.A. conference against American demands for "flexibility" in apportioning U.N.R.R.A.'s remaining $626,000,000. Russian delegates argued that programs for each country should be fulfilled without change.

Yugoslavia, Poland, Czechoslovakia and the two Russian republics of Byelo-Russia and the Ukraine now are slated to get nearly half of the unshipped total.

Officials said the American attitude is that it is more urgent for U.N.R.R.A. to use its remaining funds to avert hunger rather than for industrial and rehabilitation goods for countries not in danger of food riots.

An equally important purpose of the report now being drawn up, said these officials, is to reach a conclusion on how many countries will need direct American financial help next year.

Current estimates are that the Truman administration will ask Congress for $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 to send American food to Italy and Austria and perhaps Greece. Officials said Hungary and Poland also may need American financial assistance for food next year.

The United States survey is being prepared separately from a similar report on 1947 requirements now being worked out by a 10-country United Nations Committee.

Victoria Rejects 20 Year Bus Service

VICTORIA, Dec. 15 (CP) — Greater Victoria Saturday made it unanimous in rejecting a 20-year bus franchise to the British Columbia Electric when Esquimalt, Saanich and Oak Bay all turned the agreement down. Victoria on Thursday defeated the plebiscite by 3227 to 3107; Oak Bay rejected it by 1120 to 862; Esquimalt by 543 to 503 and Saanich failed to cast the required three-fifths majority, those in favor numbering 2063 and against 1822.

While in Ottawa, the Premier also will discuss with Manitoba representatives the Province's campaign for reduction of freight rates.

Declining to comment on Finance Minister Abbott's Saturday announcement concerning removal next April 1 of the three-cent Federal tax on gasoline, Mr. Garson said he expected he would conclude his business here "by Tuesday or Wednesday night."

He expected to meet Finance Minister Abbott and other Cabinet officials tomorrow in connection with relief debt settlements.

TWO SURVIVE MT. BANAHAW PLANE CRASH

12 Killed in Impact; Open Queries

PLANE BURNS

MANILA, Dec. 16 (Monday) (AP) — Only two of the 14 passengers and crewmen aboard a Far East air transport plane survived a crash into cloud-hidden, 7000-foot Mount Banahaw, 50 miles Southeast of Manila, a rescue party reported today. Earlier reports had indicated a dozen survivors.

The pilot, Capt. Roy Wilson of Turkey, Tex., thrown from the wreckage and suffering minor injuries, hiked out to bring word of the plane's location. Rescuers found only Crisante Castro living when they reached the scene of their third attempt.

Capt. Thomas Taylor, Griffin, Ga., Far East Air Transport Operations Officer, said 12 other evidently had been killed by the impact. The wreckage burned, he said.

Filipino air ace Jesus Villamor, now chief of the Republic's Bureau of Aeronautics, began an investigation of the accident — the second this year on Mount Banahaw. Last March an American Army transport struck the mountain while flying blind, and 19 were killed.

Sun of Peace Rising—Bevin

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP) — Foreign Minister Bevin of Britain said as he boarded the Queen Elizabeth Saturday that the Big Four Foreign Ministers Conference just ended had "cleared away a good deal of the debris of misunderstading and conflict and we now can proceed to lay the foundations of a durable peace."

Mr. Bevin, returning home accompanied by his wife and officials of his party, said that after 18 months of effort the Foreign Ministers had completed their tasks on five treaties and "disposed of a number of other difficulties."

He added:

"The sun of peace is rising. May 1947 see it come out in all its fullness."

Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia also boarded the Queen Elizabeth.

Through an interpreter he said the results of the conferences were "as satisfactory to the Soviet delegation as they are to the other delegations."

Mr. Molotov expressed confidence that the forthcoming session of the Foreign Ministers in Moscow, when the peace treaty with Germany will be considered, "will be as much successful."

Dominion Withdraws Three-Cent Gas Tax

B. C. Government to Take Over Tax; Coast Groups Stage Protest; Should be "Passed on to Consumer"

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott announced today the Dominion Government has decided to withdraw its three-cent tax on gasoline sales, effective next April 1.

Explaining the proposed action, Mr. Abbott said:

"The Dominion gasoline tax was put on in wartime in order to meet the urgent needs of war and it was not intended to retain it as a feature of the Dominion tax structure in peacetime any longer than was necessary.

"Indeed, it has been regarded as a particularly suitable tax for use by the Provinces to enable them to finance the construction and maintenance of highways.

Mr. Abbott said that during the last Dominion-Provincial conference it was urged almost unanimously by the Provinces that the Dominion withdraw from this field.

He added that individual provinces with whom the Dominion has been negotiating over the last three or four months for separate financial agreements have again made the same request.

Mr. Abbott's announcement concluded:

"Before his retirement as Minister of Finance, my predecessor, the Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley, had decided that the Dominion's financial position had improved sufficiently to warrant the discontinuance of this tax from the beginning of our next fiscal year and I am pleased to be able to announce this decision at this time."

$2,700,000 FOR B. C.

VICTORIA, Dec. 15 (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott's announcement in Ottawa that the Dominion Government would withdraw its three-cent per gallon gasoline tax, effective next April 1, will benefit the Provincial Treasury by more than $2,700,000, annually.

Simultaneously with lifting of the Federal tax the Gasoline Tax Amendment Act, passed last Spring by the B. C. Legislature, authorizing the government to increase its gasoline tax to 10 cents a gallon, will be proclaimed, it was announced by Acting Premier Anscomb.

British Columbia motorists for several years have been paying 10 cents per gallon tax on all gasoline purchases. Of this tax seven cents per gallon went to the Provincial Government, while the other three cents per gallon went to the Dominion Government, as a source of wartime revenue.

Removal of the gasoline tax of the Dominion Government was understood to have been one of the concessions granted Premier John Hart during his negotiations this month for a new tax agreement with the Dominion Government to supersede the wartime tax arrangement in which B. C. received more than $12,000,000 in lieu of corporation and income taxes.

The Provincial Government this year estimated its revenue from the seven -cent gasoline tax would be $4,650,000.

At the time the Gasoline Tax Act was passed it was announced that the new revenues would be used for road building.

VANCOUVER, Dec. 15 (CP) — Tourist and Automobile Association officials in Vancouver are in opposition to the Provincial Government taking over the gasoline tax, recently dropped by the Dominion Government.

Leo Sweeney, head of the Tourist Association, said that his group wants to see the removal of the tax passed on to the consumer.

"The tax was imposed for war purposes," Mr. Sweeney said. "The war is over and the tax should come off."

The manager of the B. C. Automobile Association, Frank Bird, said that the Association would like to see the benefit passed back to the consumer.

HART STILL SILENT ON B.C. TAX OUTCOME

Indicates No Announcement Till Cabinet Meeting

CONVENE TODAY

VANCOUVER, Dec. 15 (CP) — Still silent on a Federal-British Columbia tax agreement reported to have been reached at Ottawa, Premier John Hart passed through Vancouver today en route back to Victoria from the Dominion capital where he spent two weeks negotiating with Federal officials.

The Premier would say nothing of his negotiations in Ottawa and indicated no announcement on any agreement would be made until after a special meeting of the Cabinet, expected to be held in Victoria tomorrow.

Premier Hart has made five trips to Ottawa in 16 months. In August 1945 Ottawa offered British Columbia $9,800,000 annually in return for the Province's surrender of income taxes but the offer was rejected. Later the Federal offer was increased to $18,000,000 but Mr. Hart still maintained it was not good enough.

The Premier said in effect that if British Columbia could not get more it would have to again levy its own income taxes, raising the possibility of double taxation in the Province.

DAWSON, Y.T., Dec. 15 (CP) — Schools have been colsed, all social functions cancelled, and a shortage of fuel wood is threatened following one of the longest cold spells in 20 years in this far North city.

For 20 days the mercury has held below the 30 below zero mark, with a low of 70 recorded Friday.

A shortage of gasoline and diesel oil has further aggravated the situation, halting the hauling of wood from timber lots, and both now have been rationed to make the supply last the Winter.

Demand Surrender Of Insurgents

CARACAS, Venezuela, Dec. 15 — Airplanes today flew over the Western Venezuelan Province of Trujillo, dropping leaflets demanding that insurgents "surrender or be annhilated." It is in this province that a group of rebels still holds out after last Wednesday's unsuccessful uprising against the Government. Said the leaflets, "It is futile and unpatriotic to fight against the national armed forces. You are alone. Complete calm reigns in the nations." That's what the message to the Venezuelan rebels said.

EIGHT KILLED IN CAR-BUS CRASH

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 15— Eight persons were killed late Saturday night when their automobile collided with a bus North of Eugene, Oregon. Seven of the bus occupants were injured.

Seven persons died almost instantly. The eight died later in a hospital at Eugene.

"It is estimated that the Soviet Union at present holds approximately 3,000,000 German prisoners of war located in the Soviet Union and satellite countries in Eastern Europe. . . . It is not believed that any considerable number of prisoners of war remain in the Soviet zone of Germany at present."

The report said 3,337,000 former prisoners had been discharged into the United States occupation zone.

Plans for Reunion Blocked by Immigration Rules

VANCOUVER, Dec. 15 (CP) — James Thor Peterson of Vancouver hopes there is a Santa Claus in the Federal Department of Immigration. He wants to spend Christmas with two brothers in Centralia, Wash., where the trio plan to meet after separation of 40 years.

Peterson has been refused permission to cross the border for the reunion because he can't produce naturalization papers to prove he is a Canadian citizen. He was born in Denmark, but has lived in Canada since 1911, and is a veteran of the First Great War. Immigration officials refused to accept his discharge certificate as proof of citizenship.

His original naturalization papers were burned in a fire at his Peace River, Alta., homestead some years ago. He made an appeal to Ottawa Saturday and hopes for speedy action.

One brother, Hans, lives in Centralia, and the other, Sofus, is coming from West Virginia for the reunion.

Burglars Strip Coast Store; May Have to Close

VANCOUVER, Dec. 15 (CP) — Burglars have made the Christmas season an unhappy one for Mrs. Lilly Gordon and her bedridden ex-serviceman husband.

She may have to close her man's wear shop after a visit of thieves who stole the entire Christmas stock, valued at nearly $2000.

The store was stripped with nothing left but a bathrobe and a sweater in a display window.

When Mrs. Gordon arrived to open for business Saturday she found the store littered with empty boxes, but two large cartons were gone, used to carry away the loot.

"We were lucky though," she said. "I took all the cash take of a busy pre-Christmas shopping day home Friday night."

"Silly Ginette" Had Dozens of Nylons

PARIS, Dec. 15 (Reuters)—Police said tonight they are holding a 26-year-old Parissienne who doesn't wear stockings—but admits such a fascination for nylons that she stole to buy a hoard of them.

Known to fellow workers as "Silly Ginette" because she went to work early, always left late and never went out at night, the girl was said by police to have confessed regularly stealing money from the office to buy stockings.

She was said to have told police that she did not wear the nylons but spent her evenings just looking at the dozens of packages in her room.

OLIVE NEGRICH, TOLD NEVER TO WALK AGAIN, TO ATTEND CHRISTMAS PARTY

VANCOUVER, Dec. 15 (CP) — Christmas is not going to be just another day for 23-year-old Olive Negrich, who has been in hospital four months.

She is going to a party, something she never hoped to do after she had been paralyzed when shot and wounded during a lovers' quarrel here and told she would never walk again.

Olive, whose home is in Gilbert Plains, Man., now is learning to walk, her paralyzed legs encased in iron braces. The party will be at a doctor's home .

"She will be strong enough to go," said Martin Berry, director of the Canadian School of Physical Re-Education. "It won't be long until she can try crutches. She has none of the spastic difficulties common in these cases."

The pretty, dark-haired girl has twice walked the 16-foot course between parallel bars, aided by the metal braces and gripping the bars.

In her struggle to regain use of her legs she has been helped by sympathetic Vancouverites who have subscribed $1200 to the "Negrich Fund."

Depressed and showing little interest whether she lived or died during many of the early weeks in hospital, she now looks forward to Christmas Day.

"And her spirits are improving daily," said Mr. Berry.

TOAST-and-TEA

BY J. A. McARIE

Of an important branch of literature in which he himself was not a practitioner, John Galsworthy has written: "The virtues of a biographer which most excite admiration are the industrious fidelity with which he unearths the significant relative minutiae' from the Long or Round barrows of history; and the lively but sober selective judgment with which he attaches them to the skeleton, framing out for our eyes an image which we feel to be as near the original as the biographer in limpid sincerity has been able to achieve. A biographer's temperament must in every case color to some degree the recreated figure of his hero. But the less his temper deviates the natural colors of the recreation, the greater the achievement. In a much the art of criticism as of sense, the biographer's art is as creation, and true criticism has a certain divine detachment, a devotion to truth, at the expense of, rather than to the gratification of, the critic's self. That is why the good critic and the good biogapher are almost as rare as the unicorn."

Housing Controls, Priorities Lifted in U. S. in Sweeping Move

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 — President Truman last night ordered the sweeping liberalization of Federal Housing Controls in the United States.

He opened up home building to all citizens . . . wiped out the housing priority system . . . removed the $10,000 sales ceiling on new homes.

The President announced also that a vigorous housing program will be pushed throughout 1947—with emphasis on rental homes.

However, Mr. Truman said that non-veterans may build homes only if the owner plans to live permanently in the new building.

Also included in the order is the revision of the $80 a month ceiling on rentals of newly built homes. New rental limits will now be established on each new home.

As for rental housing projects, $80 will be the average rent for each dwelling unit—instead of the ceiling

The President's statement added that some increase will be allowed in the building of stores, factories and other non-essential structures He said the improved supply of building materials has made this possible.

Dr. W. K. Massey, Clinic Officer Releases Data on T.B. in Kootenays; East Kootenay Case Percentage 'Low"

Having completed an extensive X-ray campaign against tuberculosis in the Kootenays, Dr. W. K. Massey, Travelling Clinic Officer, released over the weekend figures on the number of persons examined and detected cases.

Over the six-week period, a continuation of last year's survey, 8055 persons received X-ray tests in five East Kootenay and two West Kootenay centres.

Of persons examined in Creston, Cranbrook, Kimberley, Fernie and Michel, 50 out of 143 people reexamined were found to be new tuberculosis cases. Five of these were definitely active cases and needed immediate treatment. "These pationts are already showing improvement," Dr. Mossey stated. Another 28 patients are still under observation, but can be classified as "arrested." The remaining 17 persons are "apparently cured and do not constitute any problem."

Ninety of the 143 examined were suffering from a variety of chest ailments including aneurysm, lung cancer, pneumonia, heart disease, silicosis and pleural scaring.

A mere 10 patients in the five East Kootenay centres had any idea that they had contacted the Number 3 disease killer in the Province.

LOW PERCENTAGE OF CASES

Percentage of new tuberculosis cases in the area is .65, "lower than in most city districts."

Greenwood and Grand Forks were the only centres examined by the highly-efficient clinic to the West. Of the 22 persons referred for reexamination there, 15 were new tuberculosis cases. Seven of these were active, and as those in the East Kootenay, were given treatment. The other eight cases were arrested. Remaining cases had chest disorders.

Rev. Gordon A. Sisco, D.D., Speaks To Trinity, St. Paul's Congregations On Possibilities of "Church Reunion"

Addressing joint congregations of Trinity and St. Paul's United Churches in the latter church Sunday night, Rev. Gordon A. Sisco, M.A., D.D., conveyed the steps already taken toward any obstacles facing a "reunion" between the United Church of Canada and the Church of England in Canada.

The movement, an initial indication of a "reunion of Christendom," was invited at the General Synod of the Church of England in 1943. The resolution, later adopted at a meeting of the General Council of the United Church, was accepted by the United Church "because," stated Dr. Sisco, "we are a uniting Church, pledged to unity."

Commenting on the report drawn up ofter three year's work by both Churches, Dr. Sisco cited confirmation, reception into membership and ordination, essential differences in ritual and ministry between the Churches. "Although the ministry of both are parallel in history, they are not identical," stated the experienced churchman, adding that the dissimilarities are "rooted in tradition."

FOUR PROBLEMS

"Our four problems in dealing with the Church of England lie in ministry, common access to the Lord's table, historic episcopy and freedom of worship. A formula must be worked out to suit both sides," Dr. Sisco said.

Of the benefits to be reaped from a reunion, Dr. Sisco mentioned the conservation of manpower in sparsely-settled parts of Canada. At the same time, it "would prevent overlapping on frontiers and help recreate the parish system in cities."

"It is wise to accept even on the basis of compromise, this resolution pertaining to the welfare of Canada," Dr. Sisco concluded.

A reception for the speaker was held in the Church Hall following the service.

To Allow Amateur Goalies to Sub for Pro Teams

MONTREAL, Dec. 15 (CP)—President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League today announced an agreement has been completed between the NHL and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association whereby in case of injury to a goalkeeper of a professional league team during the game, an amateur netminder may be substituted without that player losing his amateur status.

Mr. Campbell explained that this agreement is designed as an emergency measure and only applies to a goaler injured while a game is in progress and that the amateur player will not be included in the NHL team's pre-game lineup.

The amateur substitute will be permitted to finish out the particular game only.

More Cabinet Changes Rumored

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 — Prime Minister Mackenzie King's stage-by-stage reorganization of the Federal Cabinet is keeping capital correspondents on the hop.

Mr. King anounced six shifts within the Council this week. He broke the news in stages at two news conferences. It was thought then that the guessing game was over for the time being at least. But Mr. King let is be known that this wasn't so by a statement on possible future changes. The Premier said, "Nothing is completed until everything is done." The statement produced another crop of reports and speculation which produced such guesses as these:

That Speaker Gaspard Fauteux will go into the Cabinet and will be replaced by Works Minister Fournier. That Reconstruction Minister Howe will succeed Resources Minister Glen who, in turn, may retire. About the only thing that does seem clear is that the next re-shuffle will likely involve Ministers already in the Cabinet. This is because the Government's narrow majority of four in Commons makes it unwise to hold a byelection to bring in outside Cabinet material.

LIFE DIFFICULT FOR BOMBAY DUE TO RIOTS

Business, Industry Forced to Change Hours or Shut Down

DAMAGE HIGH

BOMBAY, Dec. 15—The economic and social life of Bombay has been hard hit by the long-drawn-out rioting between Hindus and Moslems.

Probably everyone in Bombay has felt some effect of the troubles and the tension. And Bombay is a city of about two million persons.

There has been no official estimate of the property loss resulting from the disorders, but there's no doubt it runs into many hundred thousand dollars.

The casualty count runs into the hundreds. The exact figures are kept secret for fear the actual count might inflame the people still further.

Most of Bombay is under an all-night curfew—but the trouble has continued in spite of all the elaborate precautions.

Business and industrial plants have had to readjust their working hours—or shut down entirely. Boycotts have developed between Hindu and Moslem business.

Bombay theatres have been hard hit by the curfew. Some have suspended performances temporarily or for the duration of the trouble.

Many persons living in the danger areas have been forced at times to exist on almost starvation diets, because they are afraid to visit ration centres.

And throughout the city looting continues, even though police shoot all looters on sight.

Kill One of Trio As Police Foil Robbers

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — The burglar alarm in a downtown Toronto tire shop tipped off the police to the presence of marauders Saturday night and may have resulted in the capture of the remnants of the notorious Polka Dot gang of Ontario. This is the gang of bandits which terrorized part of Ontario with its deeds earlier this year. Last night, a policeman's bullet spelt out death to one of the shop-breakers. two other men, said to have been the dead man's companions, were arrested and charged with breaking and entering.

The police explain that the trio broke into the building through the roof and avoided setting off a burglar alarm. However, after prying open the safe and stuffing its contents in their pockets, the men accidentally tripped the alarm. In a short time a ring of police had been thrown about the place. The police cordon was fully armed and the policemen used their guns when one of the men—Harry Peterson—tried to run for freedom. Three bullets bowled over Peterson and fatally injured him. Other law-officers smashed a back window and raced through the building where they arrested Gerald Gouldby and Hubert Chapelle. In the pockets of the trio were $4000 in Victory Bonds, some stocks and $300 in cash—all from the smashed safe.

Urges Castlegar I.O.D.E. to Study Conference

CASTLEGAR, B.C., Dec. 15—At the Lillian Killough Chapter I.O.D.E. meeting in the Community Hall, with the Regent, Mrs. D. Magee, in the chair, a silent tribute was paid to the memory of the late W. K. Ealing.

A letter was read from a family in Italy asking for clothing. A donation was sent by the executive at their last meeting. The sum of $10 was voted to the Salvation Army.

It was decided to send gifts to two members who have left the district.

The Empire Study convener, Mrs. A. T. Horswill, read several items of interest from the month of November. One being Remembrance Day and its true meaning, with the hope that the world should have continued peace. She discussed the U.N.O. conference and stressed the need of making a study of the United Nations Assembly as all had a great part in it, also the part Canada is taking now at New York

Mrs. Horswill then spoke briefly on the incorporation of Castlegar, which concluded with a short biography on the life of Mr. Ealing.

Hostesses were Mrs. D. Magee, Mrs. R. H. Devitt, Mrs. J. Martin and Mrs. R. Foxlee.

King Celebrates Birthday Quietly

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP)—The King Saturday celebrated his 51st birthday quietly with his family.

TO ALLOW SOME GERMANS TO STAY HERE

Follows Requests By Prisoners And Employers

200 INVOLVED

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (CP) — The Federal Cabinet has decided that some German prisoners of war will be allowed to remain in Canada, the Canadian Press learned authoritatively today.

The number of prisoners involved is not known but it is believed to be possibly 200.

It also was not known immediately on what basis the prisoners would be allowed to remain.

This decision results from negotiations between the governments of Canada and the United Kingdom and follows requests made by prisoners themselves and by many of their Canadian employers that they be allowed to remain.

It was considered likely that the prisoners who will stay in Canada will be those who were employed as farm labor during and after the war period. In most cases, those were the men for whom petitions were made by Canadian farmers who had found them satisfactory workers.

The last big batch of German prisoners still in Canada—totalling approximately 2200—are due to sail from Halifax in a week or so. When they go, the prisoners selected to remain will be the only ones left in Canada of the 35,000-odd captured Nazis brought to the Dominion for safeguarding during the war years.

The method of selecting those who will remain was not known but it was thought likely there would be a careful screening process of a group considered to be anti-Nazi and with possibilities of eventually becoming good Canadian citizens. Possibly they would be put on probation, with the promise of citizenship after a certain period of years.

Although there is no comparison as to status, this would be similar to the way in which Polish veterans are being brought to Canada to work on farms, with the promise of Canadian citizenship after a two-year period.

Dominion Revenue Climbs

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (CP)— The Treasury Department reported today a surplus of receipts over expenditures of $202,461,643 during the first eight months of the current fiscal year—April 1 to Nov. 30.

Revenue for the eight months totalled $1,797,699,213, some $82,000,000 better than in the corresponding period last year.

By far the highest revenue came from personal and corporation income taxes and levies on excess profits, all of which totalled $944,615,972.

Ordinary departmental spending for the eight months totalled $758,329,181 and another $836,908,394 went for demobilization and reconversion costs, the expenditures being covered in separate accounts.

In the account of ordinary departmental expenditures, interest on the national debt took $292,658,620 while family allowances totalled $160,430,812.

The biggest saving made this year was in the now-expired mutual aid account which totalled $787,423,880 last year.

The plane, bound for the United States with 28 passengers aboard, crashed soon after the takeoff.

EDINBURGH (CP) — Scottish Command plans to build a new 300 or 600 bed military hospital here.

Believe Coast Crime Wave Broken By Arrest of Three; 15 Holdups

VANCOUVER, Dec. 15 (CP)—Police expressed belief today that Vancouver's crime wave which had resulted in 15 holdups in 14 days with loot valued at $8000 still missing had been broken up with the arrest of three youths. They were charged Saturday with robbery and violence.

Walter Mulligan, chief of the Reinforced Criminal Investigation branch said the wave had been smashed with confessions of James Leo Van Doren, 20, Robert Booth, 18 and Lawrence J. Bertrand, 20, to holdups of grocery stores, dress shops, a laundry and a steam bath.

Bertrand told officers: "I've been waiting two days for you fellows to come and get me."

Police said Bertrand admitted complicity in various armed robberies.

The report showed 30 cases of armed robbery in the city in November, three times the figure for October. Burglaries and auto thefts were down considerably.

Police spent a quiet night with the only major crime reported two burglaries in which $1200 in cash and checks were taken from rooms. Heaviest loser was Dan Machetti who reported a billfold containing $760 was stolen from a hiding place under a hat in his room.

Van Dorn twice arrested by police and the second time, detectives said, he "cracked wide open." First picked up in a roundup of suspects, he was later released. But a short time later police discovered a splintered piece of wood in a downtown hotel room where he and a companion had been staying. It was from an automatic revolver stock.

Later in the same room, hidden under chair cushions, detectives discovered the weapon itself and Van Dorn was picked up again.

C. B. I. spokesmen said undoubtedly some of the bandits implicated in recent robberies were still at large and the police drive was continuing.

FREE CANNED FRUIT FROM RATIONING

Cranberry Sauce Included; Record Pack Is Reason

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (CP) — Canned fruit and cranberry sauce are removed from rationing, effective tomorrow ,the Prices Board announced Sunday night.

Sugar preserves coupons, normally used to purchase these items, now will be available for purchase of the other alternatives — jams, jellies, marmalades, honey, syrups and sugar.

Decision to remove the items from rationing, the announcement said, was in line with the Board's policy of decontrolling as rapidly as conditions permitted. The action was made possible by "record or near-record" fruit packing this year.

The order freeing canned fruit included sweetened and unsweetened varieties as well as those specially prepared for babies. Net effect of the move will be to give consumers an increased amount of about 3½ per cent of the remaining sugar-preserves alternative coupons.

The Board also clarified regulations respecting pie fillers, fruit fillers, baker's fruit fillers and fountain fruits. Any of these items containing more than 66 per cent sugar content are classed as jams and therefore remain on the ration. Those containing less are removed from ration restrictions.

Walker, Wanless And Cheveldave Win Castlegar

The candidates and their standing follows:

O. Walker—183 votes elected for 3 year term.

G. H. Wanless—129 votes elected for 2 year term.

G. J. Cheveldave—88 votes elected for 1 year term.

W. Rigby—86.

J. S. Scott—50.

G. Koehle—37.

There were three spoiled ballots.

C. G. Turner was returning officer with H. Vickers and Mrs. A. Saunders assisting.

SEEK CLOTHING, TOYS FOR NELSON NEEDY

The Salvation Army at Nelson, seeking to serve a number of Nelson families in need of clothing, is appealing for clothing, especially women's and children's. Army clothing supplies are very low at present. Clothing is being left at the Salvation Army Citadel or collected upon telephone requests.

The Army is also striving to supply toys and gifts to a number of children who will do without this year unless aided. Contributors are also being sought for this purpose, being required by Dec. 21 so that they can be repaired if necessary.

Shopbreaker Shot

TORONTO, Dec. 15 (CP) — An alleged shopbreaker was shot and killed and two companions arrested as police officers fired into the darkness of a downtown tire shop late Saturday.

Kenneth Peterson, 23, was killed when detectives fired three shots at the trio cornered in the building. Gerald Gouldby, 21, and Hubert Chappelle, 26, were charged with shopbreaking.

Police said Peterson had been out on $2000 bail on a recent shopbreaking charge.

Police said the rtio had taken $72,200 in bonds and cash from the safe before Peterson was killed and the two others arrested.

An announcement by the Board Saturday said the action was taken following a review of data submitted packers. "General cost increases" was the reason given for the new price.

Charles Cook and Mr. Armstrong, recently returned delegates to the Provincial conference at Vancouver, stated that they had acquired an enlightened insight of the Club's functions and expressed the opinion that the Association may soon expand.

The Nelson club ratified the motion that legislation be put forward to form A.C.T. Provincial bodies in each province. Representation to the Dominion Council, would be limited to two representatives from each province chosen from the Provincial clubs.

Born of the Provincial conference, the A.C.T. slogan "All for Youth" will manifest itself in Nelson and District. Nelson A.C.T. has pledged itself to sponsor the building of a Boy Scout hall here. The required nine to ten thousand dollars for the hall is to be raised through various programs during the following year.

EVACUATE MOTHERS FROM BURNING HOSPITAL

MONTREAL, Dec. 15 (CP)—Fifteen mothers all with new-born babies were evacuated from a private hospital on uptown St. Hubert Street when fire broke out in the basement. One of the women was on the operating table at the time of the outbreak. Firemen quickly got the blaze under control.

War Brides Protest Criticism of Canada by Others

VANCOUVER, Dec. 15 (CP) — British war brides here are indignant at the criticism of Canadian high prices and housing and clothing shortages, voiced by disgruntled brides who have returned to England.

Twenty-five of the brides have voted that they do not agree with statements made by those who have returned home. Only four of them signified unhappiness because of the housing shortage. None of them considered Canadian prices high in relation to wages and only four would rather be living in Britain than Canada, and they said they were homesick.

Mrs. B. Twigger, formerly of Acton, London, summed up the brides' reactions:

"I love England very much, and would like to see England again, but I detest girls who go back and slander Canada."

Allow Jewish Women, Children to Enter Palestine

JERUSALEM, Dec. 15 (AP)—The Palestine Government announced that the British Colonial Secretary had decided to admit to the Holy Land immediately women and children among the approximately 750 Jewish refugees who were shipwrecked Sunday on the Greek island of Syrina.

The Secretary declined, however, to allow the entry of the men in the group, who presumably will be kept in internment on Cyprus island.

FOG CLOAKS CRIME SERIES IN ENGLAND

$22,000 in Jewels, Thousands in Coins, Goods Stolen

MISS $40,000

LONDON, Dec. 15—The navy blanket of fog that all but paralyzed shine broke through the clouds, zed England lifted today and sun-Transportation got back on schedule after five days of interruptions and delays. The weather man said that a cold front from Siberia was moving in to replace the fog.

The fog snarled air, sea, highway and rail traffic, and even has affected London subway service.

The fog also provided an eerie and fitting background for new jewel theft mysteries. Thieves operating in the pea soup atmosphere cut the strap of the handbag of the American-born Marquise De Zahara and got away with $22,000 worth of jewels, including a Russian emerald and diamond brooch, a diamond and rugby bracelet and a ruby sapphire ring. The Marquise is the former Betty Byrne and the widow of a former Spanish Minister to Paris. She believes the robbery occurred when she was jostled in Victoria station upon her arrival from Paris.

The strangest crime was the disappearance of $3600 worth of silver coins from a sealed express car bound for Wales. The rest of the shipment—worth $40,000 was found untouched when the car was opened at Cardiff.

Two trucks with cargoes of clocks and shoes worth more than $40,000 also vanished in the London fog. And the fog played no favorites in disturbing the plans of Britons. Winston Churchill was not able to get home from a banquet. He spent the night in a hotel.

The fog also complicated the guarding of Scotland Yard headquarters and the historic Marble Arch which police encircled afte ranonymous telephone callers threatened to blow up those structures. Scotland Yard declined to speculate that the threats might have some connection with earlier rumors that the Jewish Resistance in Palestine might extend its operations to London.

Police Nab Hit, Run Driver

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — A 27-year-old Toronto man stands accused of manslaughter following a hit-and-run accident in Toronto. James Hugh Wren was taken into custody by police almost six hours after the incident occurred. In the intervening time, Toronto law enforcement officers were combing the city for a car answering the description given by witnesses.

The victim, 78-year-old Patrick Wilson, was struck by an automobile when he attempted to cross a street in downtown Toronto. According to observers, the car pulled to a halt some 30 feet further on and the driver returned to the spot where Wilson had been struck down. After examining the old age pensioner he returned to his vehicles and drove off.

Escaped German Wants to Stay

TORONTO, Dec 15 — Escaped German prisoner of war Teja Eder has been reading the Canadian newspapers. Learning that a number of former Nazi soldiers may be allowed to take up residence in the Dominion, the 24-year-old escaped captive gave himself up to Toronto Police Saturday evening.

Apprehended in the city's Union Station, Eder amiably explained that he had made application for Canadian citizenship while still interned at the prisoner of war camp at Emerson, Man. His request refused, the youthful German decided that he would take things into his own hands. So he escaped from the camp. This was last July. Since, then, he has been working in the bush-country in the district of Port Arthur. Eder, who speaks good English with a pronounced accent, succeeded in his masquerade as a Canadian laborer. But when discovered that there was a chance he would be allowed to remain in the Dominion if he returned to his old status of prisoner of war, he decided to call an end to his escape adventure. Toronto police will turn him over to the commandant of the prisoner of war camp at Monteith, Ont.

No Slick Chick For This Man

MADISON, Ind., Dec. 15 (AP) — Looking for a "good, ole-fashioned girl," Oliver Brooks inserted the following classified ad in a Madison newspaper:

"I would like to have a housekeeper. I am so tired of living by myself, but I do not want a woman that smokes, drinks or goes to shows—shingled back, painted front. She must be dressed up and dressed down, go to church and be a good housekeeper and a good cook."

GIVE FINAL O.K. FOR ARMS LIMITATION

Beat Troop Census; Would Prohibit Atomic Weapons

VOTE 36 TO 6

By MAX HARRELSON

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP) — The General Assembly of the United Nations gave final approval to a basic plan for world-wide arms reduction and then rejected a proposal for an immediate international troop census, Saturday.

The arms limitation plan was approved unanimously amid a wave of applause. In rejecting an immediate troop census, the assembly over-rode vigorous Russian opposition.

By a vote of 36 to 6, the 54-nation body decided to refer the question of troop and arms data to the Security Council with a recommendation that the Council decide what information member nations should be asked to report.

The Russians had insisted on an immediate accounting of all troops stationed outside their home territories.

The Assembly's action thus gave the Security Council the task of formulating a detailed plan of arms limitation, which will be submitted later to a special session of the Assembly and then to individual countries for ratifications, and in addition gave it the final say on the troop census.

The resolution recommends action to prohibit atomic weapons and other means of mass destruction and calls for controls to ensure that atomic energy in the future will be used only for peaceful purposes. It also provides for an international system of inspection free of the veto to detect and prevent violations of arms reduction agreements.

The Assembly's action came after major speeches last night by State Secretary Byrnes of the United States, Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia and Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain all of whom threw their support behind the plan.

Hon. Paul Martin, Canadian delegate, was the only speaker before the resolution was carried.

"By adopting this resolution the General Assembly will have taken an historic step towards general disarmament," he said.

"We will have done no more, however than take the first step."

While expressing complete accord with Britain and the United States in the arms program, Foreign Minister Molotov charged that America's stockpile of atomic bombs had been built up for use against foreign territory and not for defence.

Molotov's declaration was one highlight of a pace-setting assembly session that included these decisive steps along the road toward peace and security.

1. State Secretary Byrnes disclosed to the world the disposition of all American troops outside U. S. borders, setting the figure "at less than 550,000," and thus became the first major power to meet Russia's original demand for such data.

2. Foreign Secretary Bevin said his country was ready to supply any information desired, reported that Britain had slashed its forces from "over 6,000,000 to well below 1,000,000" and observed that after occupation commitments had been discharged the figure would go down even further.

3. The way was paved for setting up U. N.'s latest major body — the Trusteeship Council—with the approval of eight trusteeship agreements for League of Nations mandated territories submitted by Great Britain, France, Belgium, New Zealand and Australia.

"God the Preserver of Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon included the following passage from the Bible: "The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; my God, my strength, in whom I will trust; my buckler, and the horn of my salvation, and my high tower." Psalms 18: 2.

Among the selections from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, was the following: "To those leaning on the sustaining infinite, today is big with blessings."

Man Will Fly Through Air Like Birds if Tests Prove Successful

MOSCOW, Dec. 15 (Reuters)—Man will fly like the birds and grandma in her helicopter will have to watch out for Junior on his personal, self-propelled sky-bicycle, if the experiments of Maj.-Gen. V. V. Colubev of the Soviet Academy of Science prove successful.

For the last four years Gen. Golubev and his associates have been studying the flight techniques of dragon flies, storks, crows and sparrows.

Now they have announced that they have "precise formulae for calculating the mechanics of wing propulsion."

Gen. Golubev adds: "I visualize that in the future man's age-long dream to fly like a bird will come true."

"I don't know when such aircraft will make their appearance but I do know that they will come."

Although the new airplanes—which would be a realization of Leonardo da Vinci's 15th century prophecy—still exist only in their inventor's mind, he has a very definite idea of their place in the coming air-age.

"Aircraft propelled by flapping wings," he said, "can exist side by side with the normal types. They will be used for local flights where high speeds are not required. Such flights will require very little fuel."

He and his associates still are baffled trying to find how the dragon fly manages to hover motionless in the air for long periods, but they are working on that too.

HORSE MEAT DEMAND HARD ON FUR RANCHERS

EDMONTON, Dec. 15 (CP)—European demands for horse meat as food for humans are making things tough for Edmonton district fur breeders, it was reported today. During 1947 fox and mink ranchers in this district expect to find feed for their stock exceptionally difficult to obtain.

For several years the breeders have used horse meat as the main item of feed for their stock. Recently the Horse Co-operative Marketing Association announced its policy of furnishing more meat to the canning plants in the coming year.

Fur men expect this stand will leave them with only 65 per cent of the tonnage available for feed during the last year. This, they claim, would not meet needs in the district.

Hints for Housewives

By ALICE DENHOFF

Here's an assorted batch of recipes more or less on the holiday or entertaining theme. During the evening or for a stirrup cup, mulled loganberry juice is a good idea. To serve 8, combine 4 cups loganberry juice, 2 cups grapefruit juice, 2 cups water, 6 whole cloves, small piece of stick cinnamon and small bit of whole mace. Simmer mixture for 5 minutes. Strain. Serve hot in tall glasses with a cherry and quarter slice of orange.

If you want to serve something special for a holiday luncheon or supper, try alligator pear soup Peel an alligator pear. Cut one-quarter of it into thin crescents. Let the slices simmer in 4 cups of soup stock for 10 minutes. Add salt and pepper. Serve with crisp, salty crackers that have been buttered, sprinkled with paprika and heated in the oven. The remainder of the pear goes nicely for salad at another meal. Serves 4.

HEARTY OYSTER LOAF

For folks who don't mind hearty fare after the theatre or a rubber of bridge, serve an oyster loaf. To serve 4, cut the tops from 4 soft rolls. Scoop out centre. Butter them inside, and place in oven to warm. Drain the liquor from a quart of oysters. Heat tablespoon butter in a large pan. Put the oysters in, keeping them separated. When the edges curl, dust with salt and pepper. Fill the rolls with the oysters and sprinkle with minced parsley. Put teaspoon butter on top, replace covers of rolls, and heat in quick oven for 10 minutes. Garnish with lemon cups. Pass mushroom sauce with them.

To make lemon cups, cut lemons in halves, remove pulp with grapefruit knife. Cut the edges with a fruit decorator or cut into points with a sharp knife. Fill with chili sauce. Cut thin slice from bottom of lemon cup so that it will stand erect. A small loaf may be substituted for the rolls.

THE MUSHROOM SAUCE

To prepare the mushroom sauce wash and slice ½-pound mushrooms. Cook them in tablespoon of table fat in covered pan. Do not brown. Make a cream sauce in double boiler, using 1½ cup milk, 3 tablespoons table fat, 3 tablespoons flour and ¾ teaspoon salt.

Blend the table fat, the salt and a seasoning of pepper, and add the milk next. Place over hot water, stirring well as mixture cooks. Cook for 10 minutes. Beat vigorously. Add the hot mushrooms to the cream sauce, and dust with pepper.

Hot turkey sandwiches take up left-over turkey to everyone's taste, we've found. To serve 4, heat tablespoon table fat in frying pan. Cook 2 tablespoons celery and 2 slices onion for 2 minutes. Add 2 cups turkey meat cut very fine, 2 cups gravy; heat well. Serve on individual plates, spread on thin triangles of fresh, white bread. Beside each sandwich serve a spoonful of cranberry sauce, curls of celery, olives and turkey dressing.

Danger of Too Much Sympathy

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

You and I want our children always to feel free to come to us with their sorrows, worries and anxieties. We want them to know we care. Nevertheless, in our eagerness to comfort them we may go too far and encourage them in self-pity. Our excessive sympathy may cause them to exaggerate the real or imagined ills against them and make them magnify their hurts, even leading them to thing themselves martyrs with nearly all the world against them.

For example, a certain mother told me of her twelve-year-old daughter whom "all her playmates always abused." Every evening, on return from school, this child recited a long account of indignities heaped upon her by other children. "Often," said the mother, "my daughter goes to sleep crying over the way she is treated and I crying with her." You know the child of four or five, even older, always running to mother about the way his playmates have imposed on him, and the mother who encourages this child's tattling by telling him how terrible those other children are or even going out to scold them or their parents.

We parents need to temper our sympathy with reason and discretion. We need to train ourselves to treat all such reports by our children more objectively and to put less feeling into them. An occasional wife encourages self-pity in her husband when she is really trying to help him.

And then you know what happens when a wife or husband begins to tell other persons about his or her marital difficulties. Many a divorce has its beginning here. Tell a friend or relative how you thing your wife or husband has wronged you and the wrong is magnified already.

Wouldn't it be a fine achievement in our self-management if we made it a practice never to discuss such matters with anybody else except one we are sure would look at the matter calmly from all sides? That person may be a preacher, priest, rabbi; physician, psychiatrist, psychologist—or even a disinterested layman. The trouble with us is that we are prone to talk to those who agree with us and make us feel we are entirely right and the other person entirely wrong.

Youth and adults: You can hardly afford to keep your troubles pent up in yourselves. Yet, if you really want to receive help, you need be careful whom you choose to confide in; use your reason and not your feelings—if that is possible.

Had Your Appendix Out?

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Most people today are aware that the best way of treating appendicitis is through operation and hence a good many may wonder just how likely they are to contract this ailment.

By and large, the more frequently a disease occurs, the greater the chance that any given individual may have it but there are other factors, too, which must be taken into consideration in making an estimate regarding any particular disease. Though a person of almost any age may have appendicitis, good authorities believe that 80 per cent of all cases occur in young people under 20 years of age.

That is why special interest attaches to two studies made among university students in recent years. One made over a ten-year period at the University of Minnesota among 15,000 students shows that every year about four students out every thousand had attacks of appendicitis. A diagnosis of appendicitis was made in 504 students but the appendix was removed in only 294.

Drs. K. A. Stiles and Frederick W. Mulsow of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, questioned 2968 students over an eight-year period. About 10 per cent reported that they had had the appendix removed. There were slightly more women than men in this group. In addition, about one out of twenty had been told that they had appendicitis, but did not have the appendix removed.

From these figures it would seem appendicitis is a common condition and that there is about one chance out of five of your developing it at some time during your life.

Appendicitis causes pain in the right lower part of the abdomen, together with tenderness of the muscles in this area. The muscles are also contracted. In some instances there are fever, sickness to the stomach, vomiting, and constipation. In practically all cases there is some increase in the number of white cells in the blood. When a person has these symptims he should, of course, have an examination made by a physician to determine whether or not appendicities is present, so that an operation may be carried out if it is necessary.

It is important to realize that when appendicitis is promptly diagnosed and properly treated it is not a serious disorder. It is only when the condition is neglected and allowed to continue until the appendix bursts that it becomes dangerous. When the appendix breaks, infected material gets into the cavity of the abdomen and a serious disorder known as peritonitis then develops. People who have symptoms like those of appendicitis should not delay in consulting the physician.

PANEL DISCUSSION HELD AT P.T.A. MEET IN NAKUSP

NAKUSP, B. C., Dec. 15—At the monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association Friday in the Public School rooms, a panel discussion was led by High School teachers F. Tracey and H. Bolstad, on overcoming racial prejudices, the brotherhood of nations and equality of all nationalities.

So handy

Letter From a "Problem Bride"

By JANE ATKINSON

Here is a letter that presents such a fascinating and thoroughly revolting study of bare-faced gall and naked, unashamed selfishness that I don't want you to miss a word of it. So I'm setting down the whole thing, long though it is.

"Dear Miss Atkinson:

"I don't know why you always stick up for mother-in-laws. I'll bet you wouldn't if you had to put up with my husband's mamma for twenty-four hours a day! Boy, what an old witch!

"Ever since she came to live with us she has made trouble for me. Joe—my husband—is still in the services in Europe and because of that fact the old gal thinks I should stay home and knit. Oh, I wouldn't go to those downtown barrooms, unescorted, she will chirp—or— Perhaps, dear you shouldn't be seen out so late with the young man next door—his reputation isn't quite what it should be—or—Why not have some of Joe's friends in to dinner and a pleasant evening here at home? Why not! I'm not keen about Joe's prissy friends. They don't mix with mine. And my friends can't have any fun with the old girl hanging around being ever so ladylike and cultured.

"I suppose, Miss Fairfax, you, like everyone else, are wondering why I don't tell my mother-in-law to get going. I would have tossed her out long ago if I could. But I can't, since she owns the nice house we live in and all of the furniture and the car. She has been away in Washington doing some kind of war work when Joe brought me home as his bride. When the war ended, she returned and insisted on living with us. Then Joe went Overseas and she still remained. I consulted a lawyer, but he tells me there is nothing I can do, although Joe comes into possession of the home and a good income when his mother finally croaks.

"You'd think at her age—she's 48 if she's a day—she'd give us youngsters a chance. Not her, though. She is so miserly, she hangs on to every cent—except a small allowance she doles out to me. Far less than it should be, considering the dough she has salted away. And then when I overdraw my account or run up a few debts for necessary clothes a girl should have, she sighs and raises her eyes like a martyr.

"I keep writing to Joe, telling him how awful he is, but he doesn't seem to realize how selfish his mother is. He seems indifferent to my sufferings. And that's what she wants. Boy wouldn't she be glad if Joe and I busted up! Of course I could clear out myself and get a job. But I'm not very strong and I think I would be letting Joe down, such is his social position, if I did so.

"I hope you will advise me what to do and also that you will tell off this old hell cat in no uncertain terms. If you do, I'll see she gets a copy of your answer on her pretty blue breakfast tray. Please let her have it, Miss Fairfax. Give her the works!

"Problem Bride"

My, what a terrible life you're leading, "Problem Bride." A house to live in which doesn't cost you a cent of rent. Free food along with it. A life of leisure, with no lovely job to get up and go to every morning. A car to ride in. An allowance. I certainly do feel sorry for you.

I can't think of anything more selfish than for a mother-in-law to live in her own house and make all this available to her son's wife while he is away. And it's incredible that your husband should be indifferent to such suffering. How can he be so callous? It must have worn you down to nothing when you haven't even the energy to clear out and get yourself a job, but only just strength enough to totter to the nearest bar and try to drown your sorrows, or to run around to all hours of the night with the young man next door.

It's too bad you're so handicapped by your husband's social position too. I wouldn't struggle too hard to keep up with it, though. Somehow, I just don't think you're going to be able to make the grade.

If I were your mother-in-law, "Problem Bride," I'd be far kinder to you. I'd take you by the scruff of your little neck and set you right out on the curbstone, go back into my house and keep the door locked so you couldn't come whining back. I'd cut off that allowance so fast that if you wanted to eat you'd either have to do a little good honest work to get the money to buy some food, or beg a sandwich at someone's back door. And if you ran up any debts for clothes or anything else, I'd let you face the consequences.

Do put a copy of this on your mother-in-law's breakfast tray. I'm afraid it wouldn't do any good, though. I'm agraid she's just too kind-hearted and too fond of her son, and too truly a lady to do any of these things.

She probably won't have to anyhow. As soon as this son gets home and finds out what's going on, he'll likely take matters into his own hands and make sure his mother doesn't trouble you any more. And I'd be very much surprised if very shortly thereafter he didn't come to the conclusion that he wouldn't trouble you any more himself either.

The Perfect Reducing Diet

By IDA JEAN KAIN

The 1000-calorie diet is the standard reducing diet. With sane people it's the most popular means of reducing. It's safe, satisfying and speedy.

On such a limited number of calories, there is little margin for extras and the menus mainly comprise the protective foods. In other words, you cut down sharply on the quantity of the concentrated fuel foods—sugars, starches and fats — and other than that eat as usual, that is, if you usually have balanced fare.

This is the 1000-Calorie Diet given in a large obesity centre:

Milk—2 glasses every day.

Cheese — one serving cottage cheese, 4 large tablespoons.

Egg—one each day.

Fruit — three servings daily . . . two of fresh fruit . . . orange, grapefruit, apple, banana. One cooked fruit.

Potatoes — one each day, not fried.

Other vegetables — about 1 cup of each per serving; green or yellow vegetable frequently. And a choice of another vegetable. Always have two vegetables, plus a potato.

Lean meat or fish or fowl — a generous serving.

Bread — ½ slice dark bread.

That is a perfect reducing diet. It is probably nutritionally more adequate than the one that is piling on weight. Many a reducer is surprised to find that she feels better on the reducing menus than on her usual fare. To insure an abundance of vitamins, I like to suggest one vitamin concentrate with the 1000-calorie diet. The concentrate should furnish vitamins A, B-one, C, B-two, D. A concentrate contains no calories.

Always avoid a diet that does not include all the protective foods. The body has no reserve of the essential nutrients. They must be made available in the daily menus otherwise nature draws them from the vital tissues.

As long as you have excess weight, you have a reserve of calories. So you can lose weight simply by limiting the calorie intake below the number used each day in energy. The calorie deficit, created by restricting the calorie intake, is made up by drawing on the fat stores.

Once the importance of the food nutrients essential for everyday healthful living is understood, the emphasis in diet shifts from what not to eat to what to eat and reduce.

Think of "diet" in terms of actual food needs, rather than as a form of deprivation. With all the scientific information available today on diet, it is utterly foolish to follow a faddy menu. But it is also foolish to excuse excess weight on grounds of harming the health through dieting.

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP)—New Zealand's Governor-General, Lt.-Gen. Sir Bernard Freyberg, V.C., lamented in an address here, the way people are losing the ability to walk. "If we are not careful we shall not be the hardy race we were," he said in warning that the next generation would have to "watch its step."

"The writer is pleased to advise that we are well satisfied with the performance of the 1946 Chevrolet, now in our taxi operation. The question of economy has been discussed and on straight country travel, our car proves very efficient with an average of 24 miles per gallon." T. M. Schmidt, Regina, Sask.

"It is by long odds the easiest car to handle I have ever had. We had no trouble getting through the heavy traffic in Toronto, New York, Boston, Chicago and Cleveland. It gave solid riding comfort and after travelling 600 miles one day, my wife and I did not feel the effects of the journey in the least." W. J. Finley, Vancouver, B.C.

"I have been driving a 1946 Chevrolet Coach bought in August of this year. During this time I have travelled through the United States and Canada and am impressed with the speedy and reliable action of the brakes on my car." Harold Lovere, Examiner for Driver's License, Winchester, Ontario.

"We are glad to report that our fleet of 1946 Chevrolets, used for our police work has given us unsurpassed satisfaction. The Chevrolet steering wheel has been found by our instructors and constantly changing operators to be the smoothest they have come in contact with." J. J. Gagnon, Chief of Police, Quebec, Que.

"Have just run in the 1946 Chevrolet through range where it averaged approximately six miles per gallon. Hill grades easily, no troubles were encountered and riding qualities are desired."

"As the Chevrolet is expected low-price pleasure, I found it a high-priced car on rough roads. Perfect control on washboard."

Have you heard what they say . . . about CHEVROLET?

FROM DOCTORS . . . from farmers . . . from businessmen . . . from salesmen . . . from fleet operators and men who drive a car for pleasure . . . from purchasers in every trade and occupation across the Dominion, comes praise of the new 1946 Chevrolet. To them, Chevrolet's Big Car Quality at Lowest Cost . . . its flawless, trouble-free operation . . . is an actual, proven fact. Throughout their letters, expressing their pleasure and complete satisfaction in the new Chevrolet, certain phrases occur again and again—"Unbelievable that such performance can come from a car as low priced as Chevrolet" . . . "The best Chevrolet yet" . . . "Definitely worth waiting for".

A PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

• Excerpts from actual letters on file at General Motors dealers across Canada.

"I could name many features but will mention just one—quality of workmanship. When particular people drive with me, they invariably remark: "You have a beautifully finished car." I think so too and advise my friends to drive a Chevrolet and combine beauty with freedom from trouble." J. H. Irving, Lethbridge, Alta.

"I am happy to tell you that my 1946 Chevrolet has given me outstanding performance as regards riding qualities and engine durability. In my opinion the 1946 Chevrolet is far superior to anything else in its price class." E. K. MacDougall, Winnipeg, Man.

"I am very much pleased with the 1946 Chevrolet Sedan purchased from you several months ago and have driven it over 20,000 miles. The performance of the motor, ease in driving, and quality of material and workmanship makes my Chevrolet a splendid car for taxi business." Jack Carter, Dartmouth, N.S.

"During our fifteen years in the taxi business, we have never had any car or cars that operated as economically and trouble-free as these 1946 Chevrolets are doing." Rolls Leather, Ltd., Montreal, P.Q.

"The mileage of the present fleet on our Master Chevrolets varies from 9,000 to 27,000 miles. I thought you would be interested to know that despite the heavy loads carried and many changes in operators, we have yet to have any mechanical breakdowns." E. E. Carter, Carter Transportation Limited, Toronto, Ont.

"The nine-year job that I have, does give body with royal blue top to match. I have operated the car for six months and I still get a big thrill when people stop and stare. It is amazing to hear the remarks people make about the car, and they are all in favour." E. Knight, Winnipeg, Man.

News Hawks Imported in Canadian Picture to Make Scene Convincing

By HELEN BANNERMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

"The Stronghold," now in the making at the St. Hyacinthe, Que., studio of Quebec Productions Corporation, is one picture in which scenes in newspaper offices will be authentic. For sequences on a set showing an editor's office backed by a busy city room, the company imported a group of Canadian newspapermen to sit around, pound typewriters and make the scene convincing. The newshawks also doubled as technical advisers for the scene.

The group included Roly Young, movie reviewer of the Toronto Globe and Mail; Henri Polin, head of the Montreal office of Time and Fortune Magazines; Vince Lunny of the Montreal Standard, Roger Champoux of La Presse of Montreal, Ernest Pallascio-Morin and Fernand Denis, both of Le Petit Journal of Montreal, and Marc Thibault, publicity representative for Quebec Productions Corporation. Since they don't speak in their scenes, they will appear in both the English and the French versions.

After three days' shooting the reporters found they had been literally brought in as authentic background. They will be seen only through the glass partition of the editor's office in a scene between the editor, played by John (You'll Get Used to It) Pratt, who was in the R.C.N.'s "Meet the Navy", and Mary Anderson, one of the film's stars.

Some of the reporters had stories and columns to write for their real-life papers, but movie men would not let them do any work on the set. It made too much noise.

Adrian Scott is one producer who is enthusiastic about the policy of making films in England and Hollywood with name stars from each film centre. He has just returned to Hollywood from London, where J. Hilton's "So Well Remembered" was screened with Martha Scott and Richard Carlson of Hollywood, and Patricia Roc, John Mills and Trevor Howard representing Britain.

"We learned a lot about the British film industry during our visit, and I am sure this was reciprocal with the English studio craftsmen."

WILLOW POINT, B. C., Dec. 15—At the December meeting of the Women's Institute Thursday afternoon, it was voted to send a $5 donation to the Crippled Children's Hospital, and also to the "Save the Children" fund.

Correspondence included two letters, acknowledging gifts, and a card from a member, Dr. A. Norrington, holidaying in Mexico.

It was decided to postpone the Memorial Fund card party until January.

Mrs. Hankin, in charge of sale table funds, was instructed to send best wishes and Christmas gifts to seven "shut-ins."

Arrangements for the children's Christmas party were made.

As there are about 60 children in the district this year, it was decided to combine the Institute party with the school one to be held in Crystal Hall next week.

Mrs. B. Townshend, Mrs. H. Hankin and Mrs. N. Denny were appointed to help Miss S. Olsen, teacher, with the arrangements.

A dainty tea was served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. E. Brinley and Mrs. H. Gaskell.

TO BLAST GERMAN PLANTS

MUNICH, Germany, Dec. 15 (AP)—More than 15,000 pounds of dynamite will be used to demolish four buildings of the Ebenhausen powder plant near Ingolstadt next Tuesday, the reparations section of the United States Military Government for Bavaria announced. Another 84 buildings of the huge concern, which once produced nitro-cellulose for the German army, will be blasted in the next three months.

Hub of Smuggling in Battle Area Fantastic

By WES GALLAGHER

AACHEN, Germany, Dec. 15 (AP)—The three famous battle areas of Ardennes, Huertgen Forest and Aachen—engraved into history books two years ago with the blood of Allied soldiers—today have become the scenes of a great smuggling operation.

It is estimated that more than $1,000,000 worth of illicit goods monthly are crossing the German-Belgian-Netherlands frontier.

British border guards say that much of the smuggling is being done by Allied soldiers—British, American, Belgian, and Polish. Some of these men may once have fought in these same areas, although almost all the soldiers who saw combat here either have gone home or are sleeping in nearby Belgian cemeteries.

This battered city of Aachen (Aix-La-Chapelle), is the hub of the smuggling operations, so large that the chief British Intelligence officer of the area described them as "fantastic."

A handful of British border guards aided by regulation-bound German police and none-too-enthusiastic Belgian soldiers, are trying to halt the smugglers.

The loot going into Belgium includes jewels, furs, radios, kitchenware, automobiles and needles. Coming out of Belgium are coffee, food and cigarets.

Three times in the last six months, large needleworks in Aachen have been burgled of millions of needles, which days later popped up in Brussels.

A typical deal works this way: two pounds of coffee from Belgium, smuggled into Germany, are traded for a silver fox fur. The fur, smuggled into Brussels, may bring the equivalent of $100 or more.

Smuggled goods go over the frontier in soldiers' knapsacks, in suitcases and by truckloads. Although mile after mile of the border is mined, the smugglers know paths through the mine fields which the guards do not.

Many U. S. army deserters living by their wits with German girl friends, are reported to be in the area.

Overcrowded cities and huge stretches of forest and lonely roads make it easy for deserters of all armies to hide in safety.

The commander of the British border control said his unit had just been able to "scratch the surface."

"Much of the smuggling is on an individual basis, but the big stealing is organized by international gangs headed in some cases, I am afraid, by Allied soldiers," he said.

Model University In West Australia

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PERTH, Australia, Dec. 13 (CP)—Interest of state Government leaders and a newspaper proprietor in the advancement of education has produced in Western Australia a model university of which the whole country is proud.

It is the University of Western Australia, set up in a group of modern buildings on the outskirts of Perth. It opened just before the First Great War, supported by a state Government which proposed that its facilities should be available to all. Tuition has always been free and original enrolment of 156 has grown to 10 times that number of students paying no fees.

The State University Project first took the attention of the Western Australian Government early in the century and in 1909 a Royal Commission was appointed to explore the possibilities.

The principle of free tuition was laid down. By act of the Western Australian Legislature, the Government committed itself to grant $55,000 a year to the maintenance of the university.

The amounts were increased as the university grew and today the State Government provides about $110,000 of the university's $160,000 budget. The grant roughly covers the cost of teaching staff.

Chairman of the University Royal Commission, Sir Winthrop Hackett provided an endowment for a chair of agriculture and when he died in 1916 bequeathed the residue of a large estate to the university and the Church of England.

The bequest included the West Australian, oldest and largest newspaper int he state, which eventually sold for nearly $2,000,000.

The money went into the buildings which the university now occupies as well as St. George's College, within the university, built by the Church of England.

Boy Accused of Killing Turns Pistol on Self

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—A 14-year-old boy accused of killing a policeman and then turning the pistol on himself during a wild gun battle Friday night was held in a hospital Saturday for observation.

The boy, Townsend Annes, motherless son of a hotel waiter, suffered a scalp wound and was in what hospital attaches described as a "fair" condition.

The pistol duel occurred in a night club section.

Detectives who arrested Annes said in addition to an empty Luger pistol, he was armed with a single-shot air pistol. They said his first words on being captured were:

"Did I kill the policeman?"

Later, they reported, he told them he turned the Luger on himself because "I just didn't want to be arrested."

Police gave this version of the shooting:

Policeman William C. Groomes saw two boys loitering in a parking lot and started chasing them. Annes fired once at Groomes, and missed. Darting between two parked cars, Annes encountered policeman Richard H. Taylor, 47, who had come running up.

Annes' second shot, fired at point-blank range, struck Taylor in the chest, mortally wounding him.

Annes then took flight, only to run into the two detectives who were cruising in a scout car. Detective G. W. Chapman jumped from the car and Annes fired three wild shots at him. The detective returned the fire, but also missed. Then Annes turned the gun on himself.

Police said the other boy, an 11-year-old whose name was not disclosed, had been absolved from all blame in the affair, which had no immediately discernible motive.

Taylor, a veteran of 22 years on the Metropolitan force, was father of three children.

Declines Comment On Disease of Polish Vets

OTTAWA, Dec. 14 (CP)—Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Minister of Labor, declined to comment Saturday on the incidence of disease among Polish war veterans brought to Canada to do farm work. He said a statement would be issued "when we are ready."

Friday, officials of his department said it still was not certain just how prevalent both tuberculosis and venereal disease were among the men, although one of them doubted that it would amount to 10 per cent in all. Any men so suffering will be treated before being allowed to go to a farm.

The Army, in liaison with the Labor Department, has set aside part of its 75 beds in the Queen Mary Veterans Hospital in Montreal. Others were reported slated for Calgary's Currie Barracks Army Hospital.

PATIENTS IMPROVE AFTER DELICATE BRAIN OPERATION

REGINA, Dec. 14 (CP)—About 25 delicate brain operations—known as frontal lobotomy—have been performed at the North Battleford, Sask., Mental Hospital during the past two years with improvement shown of patients in practically all cases, Premier T. C. Douglas of Sas-Katchewan revealed today.

Dr. J. H. McConnell of Saskatoon, specialist in brain surgery, performed the operations, first attempted in 1938 by a surgeon at Lima, Peru. Only some 6000 such operations have been performed.

The technique is used only with persons suffering certain types of mental illnesses and only with permission of members of the patients family.

Provincial Health Authorities were making a study of the operated cases to determine further use of the frontal lobotomy technique.

The operation has been described as a severing of the connection between the frontal lobe of the brain, responsible for planning and carrying out desires and the central portion of the brain, relieving tension.

Developing the Best Qualities in Youth

Youth has its special problems, the treatment of which must be separated from that given adult problems. This has been recognized by all the major organizations working with young people. The meeting in Ottawa of nearly 200 representatives of welfare, educational and Government bodies interested in youth's affairs brings once again to public attention the whole question.

The National Conference of Agencies Serving Youth was held under the auspices of the Canadian Youth Commission and had presented to it the report on the findings of the five-year-old Commission. Important surveys were made which are of great value and which should be of practical interest to all Governments.

The suggestion was made that a youth service division of the Canadian Welfare Council be formed. This idea has a great deal of merit and if followed through should help in tackling the various problems which are concerning not only social agencies, but all educational groups.

Any concerted action, to be really effective, should be taken under auspices and with the full cooperation of Federal and Provincial Governments. Agreement between nine Provinces and the Dominion on courses of action in connection with youth matters is not easy. But when such an important matter is under advisement, when so much can really only be done if the different jurisdictions work together, then the urgency should overcome any minor differences.

It need not be stressed that youth dare not be forgotten now if Canada's future is to be safe. The groups which are most interested in youth are anxious that some concerted action be taken. It would be a sad thing if the opportunity now presented were not exploited to the full.

Why Not Travel One Way Via Kootenay?

An excellent suggestion is being put forward at Toronto, under which a group of 21 to 25 senior boys from Toronto collegiates would be taken on a tour of Canada during the Summer holidays. The first trip, it is hoped, would touch such points as Sudbury, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Turner Valley, Calgary and Vancouver.

Boys with outstanding scholarship and leadership attributes would be selected for the trip, the expenses to be paid by the Toronto Board of Education.

The boys would be expected to keep diaries of their trips and to discuss their impressions while it was in progress. Such a system is in force in various American schools, and often during the Summer we see big busloads of boys and girls touring their own land coming over here.

Too few Canadians know much about their own land. It might be interesting to do as we have done and in some gatherings to ask how many have visited Ottawa and to see how small is the percentage of Canadians who have seen their own beautiful capital. There is a chance that such trips would tend to keep our brightest minds at home, for they would have some idea of the magnitude, the riches of the Dominion, as a result of such trips.

The idea would be even more beneficial if the boys when making the British Columbia part of their tour travelled one way via the main line and one way via Kootenay.

Cards Must Be Face Up on the Table

Sentiment as well as logic was evident in the talk on disarmament with which Foreign Minister Bevin presented the British Government's view to the Political and Security Council of the United Nations General Assembly. He said in effect that in the '20s his country took a leading part in disarmament and — "We were within inches of being wiped out by Hitler."

In the last 30 years, he added, Great Britain has had to be mobilized one day in every three; it is now ready to yield much sovereignty to any effective organization which with the support of all nations can make disarmament possible.

He well may have been thinking of the dark days of Dunkirk and the flame lit nights of the blitz when he said that his country had been through "hell" because it failed to recognize the threat of Hitler.

The strength of Hitler did not come from bases scattered around in any territory outside Germany. "Hitler had no troops in any territory outside Germany, yet this did not stop him from building an army which nearly brought the world down," he declared.

Thus, as Bevin contends and as Senator Connally argued earlier for the United States, the United Nations should be informed of the armed might of its members regardless of how these forces are deployed. No nation maintains armies and stations them anywhere just for the fun of spending its taxpayers' money.

The British spokesman was speaking from his heart in urging disarmament but was logical in insisting that this cannot come until all cards have been placed on the table and some safe insurance against future aggression has been devised.

Pontoon Bridge With Swinging Span Ideal for West Arm Bridge

To the Editor:

Sir—I have noted with interest the recent correspondence in your paper relative to the construction of a bridge across the West Arm at Nelson.

Last Summer I was on the ferry here with a young engineer connected with a prominent mining company of the district. In this last war he had, it seems, served with the Royal Canadian Engineers, and had had a lot to do with the throwing of these Bailey Bridges across a number of rivers in France and the Lowlands, and not excluding the Rhine. Sitting in the car, I said to him that I supposed over there, they would have thrown a bridge across a similar stream in two or three weeks. No, he said, we would have done it in two or three days. These Bailey Bridges, mostly used in conjunction with pontoons, were all prefabricated, and it was simply a matter of bolting the various sections together.

Going a little further in the matter, I then wrote to a friend of mine, who was quartermaster general in the Canadian Army during part of this last war, asking him if it would be possible to get some of these Bailey Bridges and pontoons out of surplus stores; but he advised me that there was nothing available in Canada along those lines, as far as he knew.

If any of the big logging operators on the coast wanted to extend a road across a stretch of water, comparable to what we have here, they would string out a lot of big cedar logs across the gap, anchor them and deck them with plank, and the resulting road would be a going concern. I have seen this kind of thing done in the past.

Looking to the other extreme, where concrete piers, in fairly deep water, put in, very probably, under compressed air, were the order of the day, and where expensive steel trusses with fairly long spans were demanded, the cost would be very high. This is probably the kind of bridge we are to expect from the Government, and only in the distant future, according to a recent pronouncement of the Minister of Public Works.

Something in between these two extremes is clearly indicated. Fifteen or 20 steel pontoons with light steel trusses connecting them and with provision made for a swinging span to permit the bigger boats to pass, at the rare intervals that would be necessary, would be in order. Also the changes in the water level would have to be taken care of. Such a structure would, in my opinion, be an entirely practicable and also a cheap setup There would be nothing temporary about it either, as these pontoons would have a long life.

Without having dug into the cost end of it to any extent, such a bridge as I suggest should not cost more than 10 per cent of the full dress affair previously referred to.

Knowing the approximate amount of travel over the bridge, if a private company were formed to erect it, tolls could be charged which would permit of the total cost being wiped out in a few years, or at any rate in a certain number of years. Again, it must cost the Provincial Government thirty or forty thousand a year to operate the present ferry, while this bridge could be maintained for a tenth of this amount. Some Government assistance might therefore well be in order. Again, as an alternative, the Government might be induced to go ahead along these lines.

I have been in correspondence with a Coast steel company recently, but yet don't know what delivery could be made on the equipment needed; but it is a good bet that it would be coming along many years before we could expect the bridge according to the present stand of the Government.

Reader, Kimberley—What is it that makes soft drinks effervescent?

The property of effervescence is due to the impregnation under pressure of the mixture of water, syrup and flavor with carbon dioxide gas. The raw materials used in the manufacture of this gas are not present in the bottled drink. Only the gas is used, and is a wholesome product, identical with the carbon dioxide found in many mineral springs.

S. P. P., Nelson—What is a good method for tanning buckskin?

A formula for the curing of buckskin has been published twice this season, the latest appearing in the Dec. 6 issue.

D. N., South Slocan—S. J. C. of Boswell has sent us the following recipe for making soap at home:

1 quart water, 1 tin lye, ¼ cup ammonia, ¼ cup borax.

Fill a granite or enamel dish pan with 1 quart of cold water. Pour 1 tin of lye into the water and stir until dissolved. Then add ¼ cup of ammonia and ¼ cup of borax.

When the lye solution has cooled sufficiently to enable you to hold your hand on the bottom of the pan pour in six pounds of melted fat (not too hot) and stir well until mixture thickens. If mixture begins to curdle, keep on stirring. (Do not use fat that has any salt in it. Boiling the fat in water and skimming the grease off when cool will remove the salt.)

When soap thickens, let it stand overnight in a moderately cold temperature. Cut in bars and store.

War Brides Returning Home Only Minute Portion Of Those Settled Here

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (CP) — The honeymoon is not over for the majority of European war brides who have come to Canada.

A Liverpool dispatch has announced the return to England of 50 disgruntled British brides who found themselves unable to cope with Canada's "high prices" and her housing and clothing shortages.

But immigration figures show that these brides and the small groups of others who have returned to their home country represent only a minute portion of the number of those who have settled here and are liking it.

To Nov. 9, 60,250 dependents—40,889 wives and 19,361 children—had arrived in Canada. This number will be further increased with the arrival shortly at Halifax of the Samaria, carrying 500 more dependents.

Senator W. Rupert Davies, publisher of the Kingston Whig-Standard, who has been visiting in Britain, has protested by letter the Liverpool Post's reporting of the return of "disillusioned" brides of Canadian servicemen.

He suggested: " . . . you try to find out something about the thousands of English girls who have come out to Canada during the past two years and who have found there happiness and contentment."

Canadian immigration officials have blamed newspaper reports for spreading the idea that Canada has failed in her duty to brides from overseas. They suggest the spotlight should shine more on the satisfied newcomers.

A recent survey in Vancouver disclosed that British war brides there, many of whom have been in Canada for more than four years, are content with their new homes, and are good-naturedly learning the Canadian way of life.

HOUSING SHORTAGE PLAYS PART

As for the brides who have "given up"—Canadian Welfare Council officials admit the housing shortage has played a "tremendous part" in sending them home.

"However, we feel many of the disagreements which have resulted in some broken marriages are the result of normal difficulties found in the early years of any marriage, and perhaps aggravated by the wife finding herself in the midst of living conditions new to her . . ." concluded Council officials.

At present Canada has received 29,412 wives from the United Kingdom, and 15,592 children. From Holland have come 1477 wives and 226 children; from Belgium, 529 wives, 79 children; from France, 67 wives and five children; from other parts of the world, including Australia and the British West Indies, 60 wives, 16 children.

6117 WAIT PASSAGE

At the moment 6117 wives and 1882 children throughout Northwest Europe — including those now on board the Samaria — are awaiting passage to Canada. Also looking forward to the trip are 26 wives and four childlren in other parts of Europe or the United Kingdom.

The Canadian Wives' Bureau Overseas is sponsoring one more sailing to be made by the Aquitania Jan. 12. After that date servicemen's dependents must come to Canada "under their own steam" but may do so at the Canadian Government's expense until the end of next June.

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 15 (CP) —Rain interfered with play in the second cricket test match Saturday and when stumps were drawn at 4:55 p.m. Australia had lost one wicket for 27 runs in reply to England's total of 255.

Forty thousand spectators saw England resume its first innings with an overnight total of 219 runs for eight wickets. John Ikin, Lancashire left-hander, batted stolidly and added eight runs to his overnight total of 52 when he was caught by Hassett off Ian Johnson's bowling. A. Bedser made 14 when he fell a victim to one of Johnson's spinners and Douglas Wright was unbeaten at the end with 15.

Australia's opening batsmen started warily but with seven runs on the scoreboard heavy rain and bad light stopped play until after the tea interval. When play was resumed Norris was bowled by Edrich after scoring 5 runs out of 24 and Barnes and Johnson played out time. At the close, the former's total stood at 21, but Johnson had been unable to score.

Bearded Hawks Edge Out Saskatoon 5-4

PRINCE ALBERT, Dec. 15 (CP)—Wearing a four-days' growth of beard which they have vowed not to remove until they have won two straight games, Prince Albert Black Hawks edged out Saskatoon Legionaires 5-4 in a Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League game here Saturday night and climbed from the cellar to a tie for fourth place.

Charges Attempt To Bribe New York Player

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—An attempt to bribe a player in this afternoon's National Football League Championship between the New York Giants and the Chicago Bears resulted in the suspension from the contest of a New York fullback—Merle Hapes. The suspension was announced by League Commissioner Bert Bell, after a conference of several hours duration in which Mayor William O'Dwyer took an active part. O'Dwyer had started the proceedings when he notified the Giants President Jack Mara, that he had information an attempt was being made to fix the game. The Bears are ten-point favorites for the playoff at New York's Polo Grounds.

Here is what an authoritative source says happened: An alleged gambler approached Hapes and offered him a sum of money—between $1000 and $5000—if Hapes would not try too hard against the Bears. The alleged gambler—who has not, as yet, been booked on any charge—asked Hapes to approach quarterback Frank Filchock with the same proposition. Hapes has told police that he definitely made no agreement with the alleged gambler, who is identified only as the operator of a midtown novelty shop. Filchock says that neither Hapes nor the alleged fixer approached him with the proposition. A spokesman for O'Dwyer says the Mayor has evidence indicating that two or three others may be involved.

TRAIL, CALGARY TO DECIDE MONARCHS TRIP

WINNIPEG, Dec. 15 (CP) — Pat Lyon, President of Winnipeg Monarchs, said tonight that the team would make the planned trip to the West Coast next month providing that arrangements could be made for exhibition games at Calgary and Trail, in addition to the four already lined up at the Coast.

"On the guarantee quoted us for games with Pacific Coast Junior Hockey League teams we couldn't possibly make the trip," he said. "But if financial arrangements can be made with Calgary and Trail teams, both of whom earlier asked us to play exhibition games, we will be going."

The game with Calgary would probably be played on Jan. 13, he said, with the Trail one taking place after the West Coast series, tentatively listed for Jan. 15-18.

Word from both Calgary and Trail was expected here tomorrow by Mr. Lyon.

Royals Tighten Fourth Place Hold; Beat Tacoma 6-4

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 15 (AP)—New Westminster's Royals tightened their hold on fourth place in the Pacific Coast Hockey League Northern Division by defeating the hapless Tacoma Rockets 3-2 in an overtime game here tonight.

The winning goal was scored by Jack Thomson in 4:01 of the "sudden death" overtime period, after taking the puck on an assist by Walt Dorohoy.

Bob Koch of New Westminster was taken to a hospital with a possible fractured ankle after taking a solo spill in the second period.

The Rockets, firmly lodged in the basement, were ragged in their play after a six-day layoff. They will move to Seattle tomorrow night for a clash with the second place Ironmen.

Has No Arms But Bowls for Hobby

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 — Forty-five year old Harold Carlson has taken up bowling as a hobby. He bowled his first game Saturday and did not do badly. He rolled a 96. It was not bad because—Carlson has no arms. He lost them in an accident in his youth.

Carlson has devised a gadget which utilizes a rubber suction cup and a valve. He attaches the gadget to his artificial hand, picks up the ball by the suction cup and then at the proper instant in his swing, he opens the valve to release the ball.

Carlson things his device will help war amputees take up bowling. Besides, he says, "I get a kick out of watching those pin boys hop to keep up with me."

Canadiens Keep In Line for League Leadership; Bruins Pull 3-2 Triumph; Leafs Whip Hawks 4-3

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (CP)—Montreal Canadiens trimmed New York Rangers 5-3 tonight to keep in the running for leadership in the National Hockey League.

Maurice Richard was the outstanding Canadien with two goals and two assists. Buddy O'Connor, playing centre between Richard and Toe Blake in the absence of the injured Elmer Lach, got one goal and two assists. Glen Harmon and Billy Reay got the other Montreal counters.

Church Russell, with a pair of goals, led the New Yorkers while linemate Cal Gardner got the third. Attendance was 15,726.

As Boston Bruins defeated Detroit Red Wings tonight, New York remained in a fourth-place tie with the Wings.

TWO GOALS IN 59 SECONDS

BOSTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—After spotting Detroit Red Wings a pair of tallies, Boston Bruins pulled out a 3-2 National Hockey League triumph when its famed Kitchener line rapped in two third-period goals within 59 seconds tonight before a packed 13,900 crowd at the Boston Gardens.

The Red Wings opened the scoring during the first minute of play when Red Doran, after being set up by Ted Lindsay, beat Goalie Frankie Brimsek with a close-up shot. Early in the second canto, Roy Conacher, former Bruin, put the Red Wings in a 2-0 lead by blasting in a sizzling 45-footer with Eddie Bruneteau's assistance.

The Bruins, out-played by a wide margin during the early stages, got rolling late in the second period when Pat Egan headed a five-man rush that ended with the burly defenceman driving through Goalie Johnny Mowers from 50 feet out.

LEAFS HOLD ONE-POINT LEAD

CHICAGO, Dec. 15 (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs whipped Chicago Black Hawks, 4-3, tonight on Don Metz' third-period goal on a pass from Ted (Teeter) Kennedy, and maintained their one-point hold on first place in the National Hockey League before a capacity 17,000 house.

The victory was second of the weekend for Leafs, who beat New York Rangers 3-2 at Toronto Saturday, and kept them ahead of Montreal Canadiens.

Whitespots Beat Cubs 5-3

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Dec. 15 (CP)—Vancouver Whitespots beat the New Westminster Cubs 5-3 here today thereby moving into second place in the Pacific Coast Junior Hockey League.

Roddy McLeod, Ernie Dougherty, Ken Reeves, Andy Rabichuk and Gordy Langton tallied for the Spots while Denny Barkley with two counters and Mickey Maguire with o singleton scored for the Cubs. The game was rough with 10 penalties, including two majors for fighting, were handed out by referees Bill Wilkes and Stan King.

Nuremberg Widow Bitter

Frau Brigitte Frank, widow of Hans Frank, former Nazi Governor of Poland who was hanged as a war criminal at Nuremberg, is shown with two of her five children, Brigitte, 11, and Norman, 17, in their Munich home. Since the execution of her husband Mrs. Frank has grown bitter, but not against the Allies who hanged him, but against the Germans who punish the children for the sins of their father. The children are ostracized by former comrades. Most recent blow to fall on the Frank family was when a gang of armed thugs broke into the home of Mrs. Frank's married daughter and cleaned it out of furs, jewels and clothing to the value of $20,000.

$1500 in Goods Stolen From Coast Store

NORTH VANCOUVER, B. C., Dec. 15—Thieves who struck in North Vancouver stole $1500 worth of loot, which may force Mrs. Lilly Gordon and her bedridden husband to close down their only source of livelihood. The Gordons are proprietors of Gordon's Men's Shop.

Mrs. Gordon runs the shop, and when she arrived to open the premises Saturday morning, nothing was left except a bathrobe and sweater in the display window. An entire shipment of Christmas stock, including dozens of pairs of hand-knit men's socks, just arrived Thursday, is missing.

Police say the job was the work of an expert. It was so well handled that it went undetected by the Constable on the beat. The building was littered with boxes. Mrs. Gordon, however, believes she is lucky, she had taken her cash home with her the night before.

Heavy Rope Sales Follow Hotel Fire

ATLANTA, Dec. 15 (AP)—Hotel residents and travelling men are getting prepared for fires as an aftermath of the Winecoff Hotel blaze.

Many are buying long pieces of rope—one as much as 250 feet—and plan to carry them wherever they spend the night away from home.

One dealer said a man reported he would have a special suitcase made to carry his rope and added, "Where I go, the rope goes."

Another store reported it was cutting about 1000 feet of rope a day. Most of the increased sales were reported by stores near the Winecoff where many persons were trapped and 121 killed last Saturday.

Stone Collector's Hobby Aiding Veterans in Rehabilitation

CALGARY, Alta., (CP)— F. M. Hoffman of Calgary has an unusual hobby—the cutting and polishing of semi-precious stones, and many of them he has fashioned into beautiful pieces of jewelry. Others he displays in showcases. They are not mounted in settings.

Mr. Hoffman has the stones on display in a basement room, where he has a workshop. Agates predominate, but emeralds, opals, jade, quartz and garnet crystals and tourmaline are also on display. In separate cases are petrified wood specimens and fossils collected from many parts of the world.

One of the stones Mr. Hoffman values most highly is an agate which shows a perfectly-formed floral pattern in red and black in the centre of a cloudy white square. Other agates give the illusion of sunset scenes; trees appear to be silhouetted in black against orange sunset and reflected in wavy blue water. Those known as "iris agates" show a spectrum of color when catching the light.

"Thunder eggs," properly known as geodes, are part of the collection. They contain agate of multiple shades and design when cut.

Mr. Hoffman started his hobby in 1938, his assets being an interest in minerals and one small grinder. Since then he has improvised four more machines. From the ceiling of his workshop are suspended dozens of buffers and metal polishers, wood and felt "laps," each used for a different process in finishing the stones.

The hobby has become a part of his life for Mr. Hoffman. He now is teaching the polishing of the stones to several ex-servicemen under the government rehabilitation plan.

Most of his raw material is shipped in from the United States—agate from Montana, Oregon and Washington, Jade from Burma, opal from Australia and Mexico and tiger-eye from South Africa are also supplied when shipping is available. American mineralogists often exchange agates and semi-precious stones for fossils Mr. Hoffman has gathered from the beds of the Red, Elbow and St. Mary Rivers.

60-Year-Old Stars as Art Model

BOSTON, April 26 (CP)—A top-flight model who poses for painters, sculptors and art schools in five states, Mrs. Laura Nichols Bragdon insists she is not the "glamor type" as—"my goodness, I'm past 60!"

But many a photogenic teen-ager might envy the perky, white-haired matron who started her career seven years ago and now is a successful portrait-and-costume character model whose date book bulges with appointments all year round.

A widow whose businessman husband lost his money during the depression, Mrs. Bragdon was induced to take her first posing job by an art student nephew. She explains: "The school head hired me because he liked my bone structure, and when I told him I used to be considered a very pretty girl, he said 'but you weren't able to earn money with your face then.' "

Her bright brown eyes twinkled as she added: "Not that I earned much my first year as a model. I had just one week's work and some sassy people said I should go on the welfare."

The excellent bone structure, fine eyes and graceful hands combined with a knack of holding a pose without tiring have since made her invaluable to painters, commercial artists, sculptors and commercial photographers.

BIG YEAR

In 1945, her best season, she had engagements in Massachusetts New York, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Pennsylvania.

The hotel shortage forced postponement of recent engagements, although she had the good fortune to be allowed to stay in one New York hotel for two weeks, because she reminded the desk clerk of his mother.

Although childless, Mrs. Bragdon is considered by artists to be the ideal mother type. Unlike the typical cover girl, she does not tote an oversized hat box, but stuffs her costume changes into a paper shopping bag. This, and her lack of cosmetics, makes her seem less like an artist's model and more like a housewife set to buck a butter line.

After posing stints ranging from waif to Queen (Victoria) clad in everything from ragged dresses to rare period costumes, Mrs. Bragdon is still enthusiastic about modelling as an after-50 career. She has three rules for success in her field:

"Never be late, never break an appointment and learn to sit still."

Acclaim Canadian's Verse

TORONTO (CP)—Charles Bruce, Canadian newspaperman who was well-known as a Nova Scotia poet before he came to Toronto 11 years ago to direct news-development for The Canadian Press, has just come out with a second book of verse. He calls it "Grey Ship Moving." (Ryerson).

Its 15 poems done over the last dozen years include "Personal Note," a tightly-written column-and-a-half in verse which set down in 1941 Bruce's "statement of belief" at a time when the world was in turmoil, many of his friends were overseas, and he was in Toronto. Within three years he was CP's London Superintendent overseas and as a war correspondent crash-landed safely in Belgium with a flak-hit bomber's crew.

This working Canadian newspaperman's verse is acclaimed in Britain, where "Grey Ship Moving" is published simultaneously. An introduction by the well-known English poet, Wilfrid Gibson, says Bruce's work, "like that of Walt Whitman and Robert Frost, is vital with the very stuff of life, and never merely a rehash of literary reminiscences."

In his 20 years as a newspaperman, Bruce never went literary. Now General Superintendent of The Canadian Press, he started out to be a reporter and wound up handling other men's copy. He explains his leisure-time poetry thus:

"It is perhaps only natural that a desk man, who rarely gets a chance to go out on a big story, should sometimes feel like having his say. Under the circumstances, it is not unusual if the form in which he says it differs radically from that of the writing he turns out or handles every day. At that, a study of poetry may come almost unconsciously to the aid of the newswriter seeking to picture people and actions as he sees them; and a few years writing or editing news would tighten up and make more effective the work of many poets."

WIRE CHIEF KEEPS TAB ON HOUSE-MOVING BOOMERS THROUGH METER

By JACK GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Only radar can outdo Vivian (Wag) Wagner's system of reporting house movings by telegraph out western Ontario way. Wag, jovial Canadian Pacific Telegraphs wire chief here, has a periodical headache in offsetting these movings.

People in that section are enterprising. When they can't find work in their own city, they seek it elsewhere and once it is found, just pack up their houses and move them on rollers to where the work is. Sometimes these removals are 90 or more miles away.

That's where Wag's headache comes in. As the houses coast along the western Ontario roads, they meet Canadian Pacific telegraph wires at intersections. So Wag has to arrange for two or three of his linemen to sit on the roofs of the two-storey buildings and lift the wires over the high spots by means of wooden cross pieces.

Every time this lifting is done it causes a "kick" on the telegraph line and this electrical impulse causes the meter needle to jump at the Canadian Pacific office here.

Hanging over his motors, Wag exclaims to Stan Paul, his chief assistant: "There goes the chimney of that house down at Sarnia.

"There goes the centre roof." Another kick. "There goes the kitchen—say, that's a pretty big house."

Of course, smaller buildings at the back of a house do not register so Wag's "radar" ends with the kitchen roof. But householders 200 or more miles away would be surprised to learn a friendly eye at Toronto was keeping tab on their home's progress to greener fields.

Salmo Forms Branch of Canadian Legion

SALMO, B. C., Dec. 15—The returned men of Salmo Valley, at a meeting, decided to form a branch of the Canadian Legion. Principal speakers were Stanley Dawson, President, and Harold Cann, Secretary, of Branch No. 11, Canadian Legion, Trail.

In outlining the principles and objects of the Legion, President Dawson stressed the importance of returned men uniting together to discuss their problems and acting on any recommendation as an organization and not as individuals. He pointed out that a resolution from the small branch would have the same effect at headquarters as that from a branch the size of Trail, with its 1000 members, and, furthermore, by uniting in a branch they are fostering the spirit of comradeship engendered on the battlefields of the world.

Mr. Cann spoke at considerable length on the administrative side of the branch, and the keen interest of the returned men was evident by the questions asked. The result was an application should go forward immediately to Provincial Command for a charter.

Voting was keen for the 1947 slate of officers, the following being declared elected: President, A. B. C. Dodds; Vice President, C. K. MacDonald; Secretary-Treasurer, W. Battan; and Sergeant at Arms, M. J. Bush.

In view of the lateness of the hour and the fact that President Dawson and Mr. Cann had to return to Trail the same evening, the elections of the executive were left over until the first Friday in January.

Arrangements are being made to install the officers and present the new branch with the charter at a public meeting, for which the Trail Legion Band will be in attendance, Friday, January 10.

Moslem Leader Trusts no Court To Solve Dispute

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP)—Mohammed Ali Jinnah, Moslem league President, declared Saturday he would "trust to court" to resolve the fundamental issues in the Moslem-Hindu dispute threatening plans for Indian independence.

Calling upon Britain to stand behind the independence plan formulated by a cabinet mission and announced last May 16, he said at a news conference:

"I can not understand why His Majesty's Government adopted the course of taking legal advice to interpret the independence plan, seeing that it was the author of the proposals."

In an attempt to bring agreement between Hindus and Moslems of the grouping of provinces in an independent India, Britain proposed this month that the dispute be submitted to the Federal Court of India for settlement. The predominantly Hindu Congress party agreed to this.

Jinnah described himself as a spokesman for 100,000,000 Moslems—the chief Indian minority. He warned of the possibility of further outbreaks of communal strife there.

"If His Majesty's government and the Parliament do not realize the gravity of the situation and handle this issue boldly and frankly," he declared, "Frankly, I'm afraid things will get worse."

Jinnah accused congress leaders of preparing to "torpedo completely" Moslem demands for Pakistan (separation of Moslem Provinces from Hindu.)

"Separation is the only practical way of solving this complicated problem," he said. "The sooner the British decide that, the better, divide India: Pakistan and Hindustan.

"We cannot participate in this constituent assembly (meeting in New Delhi to draft a constitution) until and unless the congress is prepared to accept the long term scheme."

$97,000,000 Paid To Grain Farmers

WINNIPEG, Dec. 15 (CP)— The Canadian Wheat Board handled 1,200,000,000 bushels of wheat and paid $97,000,000 to Canadian Grain farmers between Aug. 1, 1943, and July 31, 1946, it was revealed in a statement made public Saturday.

The statement said the Board issued 1,400,000 cheques as payments supplementary to initial payments for grain and that 66,842 cheques still are uncashed.

The supreme devotion of a citizen of ancient Greece was to his city, and not to Greece as a whole. The laws he obeyed were those of his city, and the city alone was entitled to ask him to give his life for it.

PARIS, Dec. 15 (Reuters) — A black market in newborn babies, with prices at 60,000 francs ($480) was reported by M. J. Navier, Councillor-General of the Sein Department.
