21 Killed, 13 Injured in Crash

Little Girl Escapes Injury; Big Airliner Reported in Trouble in Newfoundland

MELBOURNE, Fla., July 13—A chartered airliner carrying Puerto Rican families home from New York to San Juan crashed in swampland early today near Melbourne. And the latest word on the casualty list says that 21 were killed, 13 were injured and one little girl escaped unhurt.

The Red Cross Chapter Chairman, Leon A. Merrow, said the injured had been brought to Brevard Hospital at Melbourne. He added that the dead were removed from the crash scene by truck. One of the dead was the plane's pilot, Captain Henry Hein.

Rescuers said the plane crashed on a knoll in the swamp, knocking down several pine trees before it came to rest against a tree stump. The ship did not burn. The rescuers were forced to pull away parts of the plane with their bare hands in order to reach some of the injured. They said the dead and injured were tangled together in a heap inside the cabin.

Among the survivors were the agent in charge of the charter filght, Abelardo Gonzales, and his son, Frank. The boy suffered a broken leg and his father's injuries had not been determined. A Puerto Rican stewardess was said to be aboard the plane when it crashed.

The ship was on a charter flight for the Burke Travel Agency of New York City.

Rescue efforts were hampered by the rough terrain and the fact that heavy rains had flooded the countryside. Three trucks with ten men pushing each vehicle, edged through the swamp to bring out the injured.

A chicken ranch operator, Mrs. Helen Budas, said she heard the roar of a plane—and then a deafening explosion. She said she saw a big flash about two miles away, and sent her two sons through the marsh to investigate. The boys found the wreckage of the plane, and called for help through a neighbor's short wave radio.

HALIFAX, July 13 — The RCAF's search and rescue division in Halifax reported that a big airliner was in trouble over Newfoundland. The plane is a four-engined Skymaster but the number of passengers aboard was not known. Two of the Skymaster's engines failed while it was flying over the Atlantic from Shannon, Ireland, to Gander airport in Newfoundland. The plane arrived over Gander only to find that fog had closed in the drome and the machine continued on to Stephenville, Newfoundland, the only clear airport on the island at present.

Announce Tentative Schedule for Golden Jubilee Celebrations Here

Golden Jubilee week, which promises to be the most eventful seven days of Nelson's history, is drawing near.

And to give some idea of the extent of preparations for the gala seven days, the Jubilee Committee has outlined a tentative program of entertainment highlights, covering each day of the week.

Commemorative services in all the City churches will inaugurate celebrations on Sunday. Early Monday afternoon a monster parade featuring three local and two imported bands, will snake through the entire city from Lakeside Park to the station. This will be followed by an official opening ceremony and a band concert. The cavalcade premiere will take over in the evening, and will appear for repeat performances Wednesday and Friday. An opening ball, with music by a Trail orchestra, will conclude the first festive day.

Nelson's oldtimers, later to be feted on Oldtimers' Day, will be guests of honor at a civic luncheon planned for Tuesday noon. Visiting dignitaries will also be in attendance. Caledonian games and a West Kootenay Lacrosse League game are scheduled for the remainder of the day.

Many Trailites are expected for Wednesday, when midget car races are in order. Time trials will be held in the late morning, to be followed by the race program. A second showing of the cavalcade and a grand dance will wind up Wednesday's fun.

The City's pioneers and residents of the "days when" will come to the fore on Thursday, Oldtimers' Day. There will be logsawing contests, bannock baking competitions and other sports appertainent to the days gone by. An extensive boxing card is promised for the evening, followed by oldtime and modern dancing. First aid competitions will also be part of Thursday's attractions.

JUBILEE QUEEN TO REIGN

Friday will see spectators gathered at Lakeside Park for a medley of water sports, including a speed boat regatta, swimming and diving events. Music will be by the Kootenay Kiltie Band. After the final cavalcade presentation in the evening, a giant dance sponsored by the Nelson Kinsmen Club, has been arranged. Crowning of the winning Jubilee Queen contestant will take place at this dance.

Saturday, closing day of the funpacked week, will comprise an intercity baseball tournament, roasting of a whole buffalo at an immense barbecue, a novel fireworks display and street dancing. A Castlegar band will play for the windup dance.

The tentative schedule follows:

SUNDAY

Memorial church services in all City churches.

MONDAY

BOBBIES ALERT FOR SUSPECTED SEX MURDERER

13 Similar Deaths Set Scotland Yard After "Mr. C." DESCRIBED

LONDON, July 13 (Reuters) — Fears that another sex-murderer of the Neville Heath type is loose in Britain were expressed by Scotland Yard operatives today.

Heath, whose gruesome love life shocked Britain last year, was hanged at Pentonville Prison last August for the sadistic slayings of two young women.

"Mr. C." is the object of Scotland Yard's search.

He is wanted by police for questioning primarily in connection with the recent death of Inge Petersen, a 23-year-old Danish servant girl. Investigations have linked her death with at least 12 others which have followed the same pattern of assaults on women in their homes.

Miss Petersen's death occurred 10 days after she had been found, unconscious and gagged with her own underwear, in her employer's gas-filled kitchen.

Only things known about Mr. C. are that he has gone into hiding, that he is 27 or 28 years old and that he was formerly employed by a railway company.

Two of his victims lived long enough to describe him.

As in the case of the Heath investigations last year, police have circulated his picture but have not released it for publication. They say that while publication might prevent further assaults it might also prejudice the prosecution's case should he be caught and brought to trial.

Coast Women Jail Inmates Slash Wrists With Glass

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 13—Three women inmates of Vancouver City Jail were taken to General Hospital yesterday suffering from self-inflicted wrist wounds.

The trio are reported to have broken two light globes and slashed their wrists with the jagged pieces. However, none of the three suffered serious injury, and all are back in custody.

The incident was reported by a fourth woman prisoner.

NO S.A. INVITATION FOR HONEYMOONERS

PRETORIA, South Africa, July 13 (Reuters) — Prime Minister Smuts said here today that he did not intend to invite Princess Elizabeth and Lieut. Philip Mountbatten to spend their honeymoon in South Africa.

"We have been very fortunate in this country already," he said. "We have had our turn, so now let Canada or some other country have the privilege of seeing the princess."

7 DIE AFTER PARTY

KOMATIPOORTS, Transvaal, South Africa, July 13 (Reuters) — Seven persons died and ten are in hospital after a birthday party Saturday and food poisoning is suspected.

Heavenly "Rain of Iron" Wipes Out Siberian Cedar Forest

Explosion of Giant Meteor Probed By Russ Scientists

95-FOOT CRATER

LONDON, July 13 (AP)—A forest of 100-year-old cedars vanished without a trace in the explosion of the Sikhote-Alin meteorite, which fell in the Siberian coastal mountains Northeast of Vladivostok early this year, Tass reported Saturday night from Alma Ata, Kazakh Soviet Republic.

Reporting preliminary findings of an expedition from the Kahakh Academy of Sciences, which travelled across Siberia and back to investigate the phenomenon, the Soviet news agency said:

"The expedition came to the conclusion that the main meteorite in its fall created an air cushion and broke up on hitting it — before reaching the earth at all."

The scientists found 106 craters and holes in an area 1.2 kilometres by 600 metres (about ¾ of a mile by 650 yards) and 250 meteorites weighing five tons in all, ranging in size from 100 kilograms to 150 milligrams 331 pounds to 2-3 grains), scattered in what they called a "rain of iron" after the blast.

The main crater was 29 metres (95 feet) in diameter and six to seven metres (6½ to 7 2-3 yards) deep, Tass said.

"Near the main crater, the dense forest . . . had disappeared without a trace," the agency said. "Around the small craters individual trees remained standing but shot through with fragments."

SEEK RAID ON BUDGETS WITH NEW FASHIONS; BULGING HIPS, LOWER HEMS

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—The greatest fashion furore since the dawn of the hobble skirt is about to break over the United States and Canada. New York designers unveiled to the Press today a series of new Fall silhouettes calculated to knock the family budget for a loop.

The general idea of the new Fall clothes, frankly discussed by manufacturers, is to make it necessary for every woman to toss out her current wardrobe and start again from scratch.

Department store managers and buyers seem dubious, however. No doubt they find their sleep disturbed by uneasy dreams of buyers' strikes.

Crux of the Fall fashion battle lies in hiplines and hemlines. The former bulge, the latter drop. Once again it's going to be fashionable for a woman to have hips as well as a well-defined bust, just so the waistline between these two regions is as small as corseting can make it.

COVER KNEES

Some of the gasps that may be expected this Fall will be the following items:

Accentuated hiplines: These vary from frankly padded hips to those which achieve the new rounded look through inner ruffles of crinoline or through skillful drapery.

Dropping hemlines: You may wear your skirts as long as you like this Fall, and be in style. Knees must be covered. Street clothes may be merely mid-calf, but dressier garments hover near the ankles. This doesn't mean just dinner dresses, but also the afternoon frocks women wear for bridge parties and such.

Full skirts: Many Fall dresses have skirts which are circular, with several yards of fabric around the bottom. Practically all skirts are flared. A favorite silhouette for Fall is the falred skirt with fullness concentrated in back, to give a fan-tail effect.

Believe Alaskan Town Saved

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, July 13—A crew of soldiers—working four days without rest—have cut a gap in a forest fire on Kenai Peninsula. And their officers said today they believe the town of Kenai has been saved from the flames.

The fire has raged out of control more than a month, and latest word said it was 12 miles from the town. Thus far, the blaze has destroyed 250,000 acres of prime spruce trees.

The fire shrouded in towering smoke clouds raced along a 25-mile front toward the Kenai Peninsula village of Kasilof, but swamps and cleared land in the fire's path were believed sufficient to save the settlement.

Superfortress pilots who flew over the fire said flames were flashing along the tree tops with smoke reaching to 18,000 feet.

RIDING FLYING SAUCER?

HAMILTON, July 13 (CP) — Charles E. Smith of Hamilton is one of the few people on the continent who has not seen a flying saucer, but on Saturday he saw a flying rabbit.

In fact he was almost hit by the air-borne cotton tail which plummeted to earth at his feet just as he was walking up the driveway to his house.

Smith said he saw no sign of anyone who might have thrown the dead rabbit his way. It is thought the animal was dropped by a hawk.

DELAY SEARCH

PETERBOROUGH, Ont., July 13 (CP)—Firemen and company employees halted their search Saturday night for the bodies of three men who perished in the $1,500,000 fire that destroyed the G. Whittaker Company's wool warehouse Friday.

Searchers were unable to reach the second floor of the building, where the three men were believed to have died, because sections of the floor were caving and it was covered with wreckage from the third and fourth stories and the roof. Officials said the search would be continued when a new plan of searching could be devised.

OVER 200 KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

HONG KONG, July 13 (AP)—The Central China News said Saturday that more than 200 persons were killed, and scores injured North of Canton Thursday when a passenger train jumped the tracks and plunged into a river.

Two Charged With Theft of Atom Documents

WASHINGTON, July 13 — Military men and the F.B.I. are studying the possibility of atom secrets leaking out to foreign nations.

Under arrest this morning are two former army sergeants accused of taking top-secret atomic bomb documents from the testing station at Los Alamos, New Mexico. They are 23-year-old Alexander von der Luft of Mount Lebanon, Pennsylvania, and 34-year-old Earnest Wallis of Chicago.

It is believed the two ex-G.I.'s took the documents merely as souvenirs. But the F.I.B. said it had recovered papers and photographs of the various phases of the A-bomb, and has filed complaints against the pair charging them with violation of the Criminal Code. Conviction might mean a maximum penalty of a $2000 fine and three years imprisonment.

False Colors

PARIS, July 13 (Reuters) — A minor sensation was caused among spectators waiting outside the French Foreign Office for the arrival of delegates to the aid-Europe conference today when a motor-car with a Czechoslovak number plate drew up at the main entrance.

The sensation was short-lived, for out of the car stepped Alois Vollgruber, the Austrian delegate. His car had been registered in Prague.

Czechoslovakia has declined to participate in the conference.

TAKES SALUTE

LONDON, July 13 (Reuters) — Princess Elizabeth, in the uniform of Chief Ranger of the British Empire, today took the salute of a marchpast of 2000 Girl Guides from all over Europe and the United States in Pall Mall.

SCOUT MURDER POSSIBILITY IN DEATH ON SHIP

Mystery Death in April Brings Police Aboard at Dock

STEWARD CHARGED

MONTREAL, July 13 (CP) — The S.S. Maria G, in from Honolulu via India tied in Montreal harbor today, a ship with a mystery which police fear may turn out to be murder. She sailed from Saint John, N.B., last January and in April came the mystery—the finding of the body of an unidentified stowaway.

The Maria G had scarcely tied up before Quebec Provincial Police boarded her, at the wish of the skipper, Capt. A. Hawkins, to investigate the suspected murder.

No one, to date, has come up with any knowledge of the dead man's identity. His initials might be "H.F." He was a man with "long slender fingers and well-kept nails" who, wrapped in canvas, was consigned to the sea off the coast of India last April 25.

Bernard Mountain, 31, of Saint John, chief steward on the Canadian freighter, was being held on charges of "aiding, helping and hiding" a stowaway.

Hawkins explained it would have been possible for the man to have died of the extreme heat in the locker. Death came sometime prior to discovery of the body last April 25.

FINDS BODY

The story opened on that date when Milas Boucher of Montreal, second cook on the cargo ship operated by the Atlantic Shipping Company of Montreal, went below decks to the equipment room and noticed a strong odor coming from the utility locker.

On opening it he found a body in a reclining position and at the first opportunity the captain notified his owners. They asked that police probe the mystery when the ship reached home port.

KIDNAPPERS DEFY ARMY

JERUSALEM, July 13 (AP)—Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, announced today that two British Army sergeants kidnapped at Natanya Saturday as hostages for three Irgunists under death sentence were unharmed and defied the British Army and police to free them.

(See story on page 3.)

All for Naught

LOS ANGELES, July 13 (AP)—Mrs. Natalie Shapiro, 20-year-old stenographer, was convicted of distributing handbills announcing a Communist meeting in violation of a city ordinance.

"One hundred and eighty days," intoned the judge. Mrs. Shapiro fainted.

When she revived he finished his announcement.

". . . but the sentence is suspended."

MODERN KNIGHTS OF ROAD DON'T RIDE RAILS

WINDSOR, Ont., July 14 (CP)—More than 25 "hoboes" met here this weekend for the annual convention of the International Conference of the Knights of the Road, but they arrived by train and automobile.

"King Hobo" Jeff Davis of Cincinnati, who started the parent Hoboes of America Organization in 1908, said: "Hoboes don't have to ride the rails or thumb rides today. They are all doing well at various 'obs."

Force Attacks Greek Town From Albania

Emergency Cabinet Session as Effort to Set Up Provisional Government by Communists Seen

By L. S. CHAKALES

ATHENS, July 13 (AP)—The Greek Government said today that a force of more than 1000 men, moving and fighting as an organized army rather than as a guerrilla band, crossed into Greece from Albania and attacked the town of Konitsa, six miles from the Albanian border.

"On Albanian territory near the frontier," said a communique issued by the Foreign Ministry's press office, "are large contingents, including parts of an international brigade."

When the attack was launched, two companies of about 200 soldiers were defending the town of 2000. Alir Minister Panayotis Kanellopoulos said the defenders still held the town tonight and that the Government was sending reinforcements to Konitsa by air.

Kanellopoulos said the attacking force contained a large number of Elasites, members of the fighting arm of the Leftist National Liberation Front (E.A.M.), many of whom had left Greece. He added that a force of Chamourans, Moslems living along the Greek-Albanian frontier, were being held as reserve troops b ythe attackers.

The Chamourans frequently have accused the Greek Government of persecution, while the Greeks charge that the Chamourans collaborated with the Axis during the war.

WELL ARMED

A cabinet member said the attackers were well armed and equipped, possessing heavy machine guns, automatic rifles and motars.

The Greek cabinet was called into an emergency session.

The invasion was looked upon by some sources as the possible forerunner to the proclamation of a Communist "provisional government" on Greek soil.

GOV'T EYES LEAN MAJORITY AS HALIFAX VOTES

Campaign by Big Guns of Three Parties Concludes BALLOTING TODAY

HALIFAX, July 13 (CP) — The quiet handshake replaced the shouting from the Hustings tonight as formal campaigning for the Halifax Federal by-election ended and candidates waited for the opening of the polls tomorrow to signal the final round in the three-corner fight.

The last meeting of the 10-weeks campaign, which brought out the greatest array of political stars this riding has seen, was held at Chezzetcook last night when C.C.F. candidate H. L. MacIntosh addressed a group of Eastern Halifax County fishermen and farmers.

Progressive Conservative Candidate A. A. MacDonald and John Dickey, Liberal, held no meetings but travelled the riding Saturday meeting electors.

Radio broadcasts, which formed an important part of the campaign, ended Friday night.

IMPORTANT

The result will have an important bearing on the slim Liberal majority in the House of Commons.

Nine Cabinet ministers helped the 32-year-old Liberal candidate stump the riding.

Liberals urged electors to make a team of Mr. Dickey and Gordon B. Isnor, Halifax merchant who holds the other seat for the dual constituency.

Mr. Dickey, who retired from the Army as a major after assisting at Japanese war criminal trials, was a law partner of W. C. MacDonald, Liberal, whose death last November left the seat vacant.

The C.C.F. slogan urged supporters to make Mr. MacIntosh "a fighting partner for Clarie Gillis," member of Parliament for Cape Breton South and only C.C.F. member from an Eastern Canada riding. R. MacIntosh was the first candidate nominated while the parties waited five months for announcement of the by-election date.

Progressive Conservatives advocated the election of "a big man for a big job," and made much of the business success of Mr. McDonald, a six-foot Cape Bretoner who retired as a construction company head last year.

39th PARALYSIS CASE AT COAST

VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP)—The 39th case of infantile paralysis this year was reported today in the Greater Vancouver area.

Total number of cases of the disease in Vancouver alone remains at 32 with no new cases reported during the weekend, Dr. Stewart Murray, City Medical Health Officer, said.

He said the disease had reached epidemic proportions here.

May Balk at U.N. Membership for Russ Neighbors

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., July 13 (AP)—The United States will urge early admission of Austria and Italy to the United Nations, but may oppose the entry of three Russian satellites in the Balkans, authoritative sources said today.

A Security Council Membership Committee begins work tomorrow on nine bids, including three previously vetoed by Russia.

The old applicants are Eilre, Portugal and Trans-Jordan, blocked by Russia, and Albania and Outer Mongolia, voted down by the Council.

The new ones are Italy, Austria, Hungary and Romania. Finland and Bulgaria also may apply in time for Summer consideration.

The United States is considering opposing Hungary, Romania and they are peace-loving states and are Albania by questioning whether willing and able to carry out the obligations of the charter.

HUMAN SLOT MACHINE

DANVILLE, Ill., July 13 (AP) — The long arm of the law hit the jackpot when an officer tapped Jasper McQueen, 47, on the shoulder. Nickels and dimes poured on to the street. He was carrying $1.30 in coins in his mouth.

McQueen was charged with drunkenness and was released on his promise to pay $7.50 fine.

BERLIN, July 13 — The Soviet Military Administration said today a new one-year trade agreement has been reached between Switzerland and the Russian-occupied zone of Germany. There was no estimate of the amount of goods expected to be exchanged.

The agreement goes into effect July 20. It replaces a pact which was negotiated in August, 1946.

Arrow Lakes Voters Defeat Bylaw on New School Building

NAKUSP, B.C., July 13—Voters of Arrow Lakes School District No. 10 Saturday defeated 376 to 220 a money bylaw which asked provision of money with which to build a new two-room school at West Arrow Park.

A public meeting was held in Nakusp Thursday evening for the purpose of discussing the importance of school building in School District No. 10 and the Arrow Lakes District money bylaw. Some 25 people were present with Ralph Islip in the chair.

W. J. Claridge of Arrow Park, Chairman for the central area school board gave a comprehensive history both ancient and modern of the down lake school situation, clearly showing the absolute necessity of new and adequate school room space for the ever growing population. Mr. Claridge stated that the present schools had served the purpose of the past but that the time had come when someone had to do something about the deplorable situation now in existence. On the advice of the Minister of Education, School Inspector, etc., a two-room up-to-date building was proposed to be built at West Arrow Park, which would in time be enlarged. The first two rooms would be the largest units and would house pupils of grades 7 to 11.

Alec Bedard, Secretary-Treasurer of the consolidated School Board, gave figures showing the cost of pupils being sent to Nakusp school if board could be found at $15 per month, as alternative to the proposed new school, and are as follows:

1948—$3730, 870, $4.28 7-10.
1949—$3655, 870, 4.20 1-10.
1950—$3080, 870, 3.54.
1951—$3020, 870, 3.47 1-10.

24 pupils from Central Arrow Lakes to Nakusp at $15 per $360 monthly; one year $4320; 20 years $86,400; still no school. Or $3730 for school against $4320.

SAYS CHINESE CULTURE FACES COLLAPSE

WHITBY, Ont., July 13 (CP) — Rev. Tsu-chen Chao, Dean of the School of Religion at Yenching University in Peiping, Saturday told the International Missionary Council that Chinese culture faces "a wholesale collapse" and that if it comes a new opportunity for Christianity to present itself to the Chinese will be opened.

The 3000-year-old Chinese culture stood in danger of going down as a result of contact with the West, the intellectual, social and political revolutions sweeping over the Chinese people and because of wars and continued internal and international difficulties.

"The Chinese have long believed in a moral cosmic order in moral human relationships governed by laws that are eternal," he said. "This faith has been undermined and has fallen. Many leaders of thought believe that little in China's old past can be conserved."

THIEVES BUSY AT VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, July 13 —Frank Sages, Empress Hotel, reported that his room was entered sometime last night and $240 cash and other articles taken.

However, he said this morning that he had found the money but was still missing a radio, two clocks and other personal property.

Mrs. D. McNamara has reported to police that her suite was entered and a number of articles stolen. A radio, a set of double squirrel furs and a bed spread are among the goods listed as missing.

Thieves who broke into the station wagon of Frank Thompson escaped with a quantity of tools valued at $20. The vehicle was parked on a Vancouver street when the theft occurred.

"DOG PATROL" CAPTURES MAN

LONDON, July 13 (Reuters) — The Scotland Yard "Dog Patrol" today made its 13th arrest since police dogs were introduced to the police service last year.

Jessie, one of six Labradors on the night beat, captured a man in Hyde Park early this morning after a woman's screams for help had attracted the attention of [illegible] stable master.

Trained by the Army and the Royal Air Force, each dog obeys only one person, the constable who handles it.

They have been used for patrol work in Hyde Park during the last few weeks after complaints of attacks upon women.

Two Suspects In Ontario Robbery Grabbed

HAMILTON, Ontario, July 13 — Police have picked up a second man as a suspect in connection with the Campbellville bank robbery. The first suspect—John Krywiarchuk—was arrested in a tourist cabin on the Niagara Highway yesterday. A woman was also taken in for questioning.

Krywiarchuk is being formally charged with bank robbery. The second man is still being held in Hamilton police cells. He was picked up on an uptown Hamilton street. Police said that no more of the $212,000 loot has been found. Some money was found on Krywiarchuk.

Police recovered $2000 of the loot yesterday.

They made the arrest and recovered part of the $200,000 in bonds stolen by the men who wore makeup as a disguise when they robbed the bank in a raid on a tourist cabin in just outside the city at about 11 a.m.

Inspector John Thompson of Hamilton said "only a small quantity of the bonds have been recovered so far." The four bandits who staged their holdup Tuesday afternoon, took $200,000 in bonds and $12,000 in cash.

The raid was the result of combined efforts of the city and provincial police in following up "hot tips" reported Thursday. Patrols were dispatched to pick up other suspects.

Philpott Amused by Jacques Charges

VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP)—Elmore Philpott, Vancouver radio commentator and syndicated news columnist, today replied to the charge made Saturday in the Commons by Norman Jacques, Social Credit Member for Wetaskiwin, that he had done his "level best to wean away the loyalty of the Canadian people."

Mr. Philpott said "I find it (the charge) more amusing than disturbing especially coming from a man who has appeared at least 10 times [illegible] Fa[illegible] K[illegible]ch.

"Jacques has done more to lower the status of the present Parliament than any other member by saying those things under parliamentary privilege which he could not get away with if he said them outside," he added.

TOAST and TEA

BY J. V. McAREE

Writing in The Atlantic on his friend and neighbour George Bernard Shaw, Sir William Beach Thomas says that Shaw once consulted an oculist who told him that he had perfectly normal sight. The expert went on to explain that what he called perfectly normal sight was very rare indeed. Each eye was just what an eye ought to be, not myopic or astigmatic, or too long- sighted or tender. From that moment G.B.S. knew himself better. He understood for the first time, so he explained, certain things that had puzzled him. One was the reason why no one would take the several novels he had written in his youth. The reason now was clear; he was seeing things perfectly, as they ought to be seen, while the rest of the world was seeing them askew. He was a normal person in a crowd of abnormals. Henceforth this view, as first opened by the oculist, was a solace and indeed an inspiration. The secret was disclosed, he was sane in a mad world.

Pickled Walnuts Appear on Market

Pickled walnuts from locally-grown walnut trees, made their appearance Saturday for the first time in the history of Nelson Farmers' Market. An oddity in the common run of relishes, the walnuts were readily bought up.

Fruits and vegetables remained relatively stable in price, and no new additions were noted on the stalls. Cherries, including Bings, Lamberts and Royal Anns, strawberries and raspberries sold for $4.50 per crate, while black and red currants marketed for 20 cents a small basket.

Cabbage, cauliflower, peas, cucumbers, carrots, turnips, lettuce, radishes and onions were the mainstay of the vegetable booths. Hot house or field tomatoes have not yet appeared.

Roasting chickens sold for 40 cents per pound, and fryers, 45 cents per pound. Peewee eggs were priced at 20 cents a dozen, Grade A large, 45 cents a dozen.

Parade, Picnic Mark Orange Day at Nelson

Nelson Orangemen Saturday celebrated the 237th anniversary of the Battle of Boyne with a colorful parade to Lakeside Park, where sports, races and a picnic supper took place. The locals were assisited in their annual commemoration of the "glorious twelth" by members of Trail Loyal Orange Lodge, the ladies' lodges and visiting Orangemen from Wininipeg.

A peanut and orange scramble at the Park created fun aplenty for the kiddies, and ice cream and pop were served free to all those participating. The day's entertainment closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and "God Save the King."

Two Trailites carried off prizes. They were Miss May Anderson and James Clark.

Race results follow:

Boys and girls 5 and under—Tony Beadie, first; Joan Sinclair, second.

Asks Inquiry Into Crimes In Yugoslavia

LONDON, July 13—The Archbishop of Westminster, Bernard Cardinal Griffin, wants the United Nations to make an inquiry into "crimes against humanity" in Yugoslavia.

In an address prepared for delivery at a Catholic rally today, the Cardinal said that some Roman Catholic priests in Yugoslavia have been warned not to refer in their sermons to the fifth commandment —"Thou shalt not kill." Any mention of that commandment, he said, is considered as a criticism of the government.

In addition, the Cardinal said that priests in one sector have been told not to speak about the troubles of Job in their sermons because it might be a reflection on the government.

According to the Prelate public worship has become impossible in many areas. This is due to the execution and imprisonment of priests and the confiscation of churches for other uses, such as storing grain.

Cardinal Griffin added that all Catholic printing presses have been confiscated by the state. He said that the Yugoslav government not only controls the press but uses it as a means of spreading Communist propaganda.

Jack London Yacht Leads Rescue In Boat Explosion

SEATTLE, Wash., July 13—Author Jack London's former sailing yacht, the "Manzanita," played the leading part in a rescue off Seattle last night. Thanks to the craft's timely assistance, 11 persons are alive after diving overboard from the yacht "Jaytee" when it suddenly exploded and burned.

The 40-foot "Jaytee", owned by Mrs. Ruth Young of Seattle, was homeward bound from a short cruise when a son of the owner, Richard Young, lifted a hatch to inspect the engine. Instantly there was a violent blast which hurled him against the cabin overhead. Flames quickly engulfed the yacht.

All 11 persons aboard the "Jaytee" managed to get over the side into the water. Other vessels in the vicinity, led by Jack London's yacht, succeeded in rescuing all hands.

None of the passengers from the "Jaytee" suffered anything worse than slight burns.

The "Jaytee" sank about 90 minutes after the explosion.

Medals for Soviet Athletes

MOSCOW, July 13 (AP) — An announcement by the Council of Ministers that medals would be awarded henceforth to Soviet athletes who set national and international records appeared today to have eliminated the last technical obstacle to Russian participation in next year's Olympic Games.

Since a Government decree in 1945, Soviet record-breakers have been awarded cash prizes ranging from 5000 to 25,000 rubles (official exchange rate 5.3 to $1) for their feats.

New Denver Nine Chalks Up Close 5-3 Victory Over Nelson Seniors

Steadier fielding plus some timely clutch hitting enabled the New Denver ball club to post a close, but nevertheless well-earned 5-3 baseball decision over Nelson F.O.E. seniors Sunday afternoon at the Civic ball diamond.

Although marred somewhat by a number of fumbles on the part of the local nine, a good, exciting ball game was dished up for the fans on hand with never more than two runs separating the clubs. Several double plays and fielding gems also highlighted the exhibition match.

McASKILL WINS

Lanky Bob McAskill pitched the full nine innings for the winners and allowed but five bingles, the same total as issued by his mound opponent Steve Scott, who rejoined the Nelson squad after a brief stay in East Kootenay. Scott boosted his strikeout total by whiffing nine while McAskill fanned seven. Errors which played no small part in deciding the winner, were not proportioned as evenly, seven miscues going to Nelson and a pair passed out to New Denver.

The visitors opened the scoring in the third inning registering two runs on a pair of singles and a double by Forsythe, who incidentally came up with three smart catches while patrolling the centre field garden for New Denver. Third sacker Tateishi also drew a hand for his spearing of a Texas leaguer in short left field that appeared ticketed to fall for a single.

Nelson came right back in the fifth to even things up when Nash and Scott aided by Anderson's single worked their way around the paths to score. However New Denver broke the deadlock an inning later when they bunched their hits to score a trio of runs and make the scoreboard read 5-2. Nelson wound up the day's scoring in the seventh frame by tallying a run that was something of an oddity.

LOST BALL

Anderson teed off on one of McAskill's offerings and sent it flying to the left field fence for what should have been a clean two-base hit but turned into a homer when the embarrassed New Denver outfielders could not locate the pellet probing eventually uncovered the among the tall grass. Considerable ball.

Line score:

		R	H	E
New Denver	002 003 000	5	5	2
Nelson	000 020 100	3	5	7

Lineups:

New Denver — W. Forsythe, G. Hayashi, D. Crellin, R. Butler, R. McAskill, C. Yamada, R. Bates, W. Tateishi, W. Thring, I. Flint and W. Takahashi.

Nelson—R. Anderson, R. Porteous, A. Abrosimo, S. Tatchell, J. Lang, D. Porteous, R. Nash, S. Scott, W. Heatherington and R. Collinson.

Umpires—Tozer and McDonald.

Nelson Firm To Build 23 Houses at Trail

TRAIL, B.C., July 13—Twenty-three houses are to be erected in the Upper Warfield area. They will be built by the Interior Development and Construction Company, it was announced Saturday by firm head K. W. Jensen.

To be constructed on land purchased from the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, the units will be for sale only, with preference going to veterans. First of the new houses is expected to be completed by the beginning of October.

Excavation of full basements for the houses will begin this week, the work of pre-cutting the lumber having already started in the Company's Nelson plant. They will be of one and a half storey size, and four different floor plans are available.

The plans were drawn by W. F. Williams, Nelson architect.

Lewis May Try For Presidency Of A. F. of L.

WASHINGTON, July 13 — There's speculation in Washington that United Mine Workers Chief John L. Lewis may make a try for the Presidency of the American Federation of Labor.

The prestige of the Mine Union boss in labor circles is at a high point, thanks to the record contracts with his organization now holds with the coal industry, and since Lewis brought his union back into the AFL fold in January, 1946, friends of Lewis declare that he has wielded as much influence in the organization's councils as President William Green himself.

Green is 74 years old now and has headed the AFL since 1924, although neither he nor his aides have mentioned the matter, observers are taking into account the possibility that he may decide to retire. The next AFL elections will take place at the annual convention in San Francisco, beginning October 6. Preparatory to the convention, the 15-man Executive Board, of which Lewis is a member, will meet for ten days beginning September 8th in Chicago.

Some AFL officials are of the opinion that if John L. Lewis really wants to make a fight for the Presidency, he probably could get the votes in the Executive Council to win the spot.

Mission Is Cover-Up While U.S. Decides on Asia Policy

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

The White House has announced that a new fact-finding mission is being sent to China and Korea, headed by Lt.-Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer, to "appraise the over-all situation."

Whatever the detailed purposes, one likely will be to gain a little time for the United States Government to decide on an over-all policy for those countries. One question is whether Russia has to be dealt with in open rivalry in East Asia as now is the case in Europe.

In a purely technical sense, the United States needs such a mission about as much as a duck needs a mail-order umbrella. In both China and Korea—but especially in China —Washington has had all along diplomatic and military personnel who send in regular reports on economic, political and military affairs.

PURGE NEEDED

Only last week American military observers from China returned to Washington with the word that Chinese Communists would overrun that country unless the Nanking Government purged its reactionary and corrupt elements to conform with American suggestions and thereby merit American aid.

One doesn't have to be an expert or go to China to grasp this, this.

However, the American people and Government are slow to face the unpleasant China dilemma which is partly of their own devising.

*This dilemma, as commonly ex*pressed, is whether to see China go Communist or to support the weak and corrupt Chinese Government which was a formal wartime ally and which now is about the only thing preventing China from going Communist.

This is the more unpleasant because the Nanking Government, while it makes motions in the direction of reform, actually has no real incentive to reform as long as it can hope for American rescue anyway.

Heads Western Reclamation Body; Creston Men Named Directors

LETHBRIDGE, July 13 (CP) — A. P. (Art) Burns of Medicine Hat was elected President of the Western Canada Reclamation Association at a meeting of directors from the four Western Provinces here Saturday.

Other officers elected were First Vice-President H. W. Pope of Mose Jaw, Second Vice-President A. W. Gray of Rutland, B. C.; Treasurer, Dr. W. H. Fairfield, Lethbridge.

Delegates from British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan placed their provinces into the new association, shortly after the organization came into existence. Delegates from Manitoba explained that their group would prefer to give furthe rstudy to the association before entering their province.

A constitution of 10 sections was unanimously adopted for the association, 11 directors were elected and the association decided to hold its first annual meeting next February.

The Association, patterned largely after the National Reclamation Association in the United States was established as a Federation consisting of provincial divisions, each of which is to have four directors on the board of directors.

DIRECTORS

Elected to the Board of Directors for British Columbia were A. W. Gray, Kelowna, Guy Constable, Creston, and Frank Staples of Creston.

Making provision for expansion of the association, delegates passed a section of the constitution stating that "the territorial scope of the association may be enlarged by the addition of provinces when they formally request."

Before the general meeting ended delegates passed a resolution placing the new association on record as strongly favoring the retention of the waters of the Belly and Waterton Rivers for irrigation in Western Canada.

In another resolution the Association expressed its appreciation to the P. F. R. A. and other Federal and Provincial Government organizations doing and furthering work such as that advocated by the W. C. R. A.

It was stressed by organizers of the Association that it was not intended to become "a pressure group" but rather "an association that will help governments and people to bring into effect the things we feel we need in Western Canada."

It was designed to further the common objectives of members organizations to make representations to governments and to educate people along lines of water conservation.

Seek Husband After Discovery of Body of Slain Wife

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal., July 13 —Object of a widespread search is a 46-year-old restaurant operator, Morley King, of San Luis Obispo. He vanished 30 hours before the discovery of the body of his slain wife, a reputed former Portuguese Countess. A warrant has been issued charging King with her murder.

The manhunt—spurred by wanted *-for-murder bulletins—has been ex*tended as far as Reno, Nevada. Just before his disappearance King said he intended to do some gambling.

Pineapple Industry Hit by Strike

HONOLULU, July 13 — There is litle hope of an early settlement of the walk-out in the Hawaiian pineapple industry. That's the view taken this morning by a Federal mediator, Nathan Feinsinger, in Honolulu. He plans to fly to San Francisco. Soon after Feinsinger's announcement, the union representing the striking workers scheduled an emergency meeting for tomorrow.

Earlier, Feinsinger had proposed that the new Taft-Hartley Labor Bill be applied as one means of settling the three-day strike of 12,000 pineapple workers.

He retired from first class cricket seon after his return to Australia from England in 1921.

Grotto Dedicated At Camp Lourdes

(Contributed)

CAMP LOURDES, July 13—At 7:30 Saturday evening, His Excellency, Bishop Johnson, dedicated the new Grotto to the Patroness of the Camp, Our Lady of Lourdes. The procession left the rustic chapel and wended its way to the beach and back to the site of the grotto to the left of the chapel.

En route the campers sang "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," and "Mother Dear, O Pray for Me." When the procession reached the grotto a decade of the Rosary was recited, after which the seminarians sang "Salve Regina." His Excellency then imparted the Pontifical Blessing to those assembled for the occasion.

This grotto which was completed within one week during the work periods, stands as a permanent tribute to the Trail Boys 1947 Camp. It was real manual work to carry and assemble the stones in the solid, artistic grotto which now graces the camp site. The boys, working under the direction of Pete Pasqualotto, were John Hughes, Freddy Matteulci, Vinio Zanier and John Pistak. In the procession the statue of Our Lady of Lourdes was borne by Pete Pasqualotto, Freddy Matteulci and John Hughes.

Conference Still Open to Russia

Absence Worries Committee; Russ Press Continues Marshall Attacks

PARIS, July 13.—The Steering Committee of the European Economic Conference met briefly in Paris this morning and made sure that the welcome mat at the door was in plain sight for Russia and the nations in her orbit. The 16-nation committee discussed the absence of the Russian bloc with evident concern, and adopted an amendment to make even plainer the conference intention of leaving national sovereignties inviolate.

This was one of the points of criticism which Russia had raised against the parley. Today the delegates adopted wording which stated that nothing would be done which might imply a violation of sovereignty. The previous wording of the committee report had stated that the organization to be set up to assess European needs would do nothing in violation of national sovereignty.

Delegates of 16 countries began the conference yesterday on European economic recovery with United States aid and were told that Britain and France would give the Marshall plan firm backing.

Foreign Secretary Bevin was elected President of the conference and immediately pledged in support of the plan the resources of the whole British Commonwealth—"insofar as we can influence it."

Foreign Minister Bidault in opening the meeting in the Foreign Ministry's grand dining hall said Britain and France would spare no effort to make the conference a success.

Russia and eight other Eastern states were not represented. Foreign Minister Molotov had declined to join Bevin and Bidault in sponsoring the parley, and the other countries, following Russia's lead, had turned down invitations to the affair.

Bevin stressed that the conference was economic and not political.

"I emphasize again," he declared, "that this is a voluntary arrangement. We are attempting to organize tthe economic resources of the continent for the benefit of all Europe . . ."

Bidault said the primary objective of the meeting would be to form an organization to determine Europe's resources and needs as a preliminary to requesting United States financial assistance.

Bevin added:

"It is a matter of regret that certain countries have not been able to attend this conference. I am sure that they regret it themselves. We regret their absence, but we fully understand and express our sympathy.

"It is the sentiment of Britain and other countries at this conference, and countries outside the conference as well, that the door is always open to all countries of good will who wish to contribute to the health of Europe."

Bevin labelled as "just nonsense" the Russian charge that the Western powers were interfering with the sovereignty of small countries.

The Italian Foreign Minister, Carlo Sforza, only delegate besides Bevin and Bidault to speak, said the program fashioned here must be kept open to Eastern European states, and that "the German people must remain in the community of industry and trade." He offered Italy's ports, factories, railways and manpower to implement the program.

At Bevin's suggestion a working committee of representatives from each of the 1½ countries was named to study the British-French proposals for economic cooperation and to report back to the conference by Tuesday. The conference then adjourned until tomorrow.

DIRECT RIDICULE

MOSCOW, July 13.—The Russian official news agency, Tass, sent a dispatch from Paris today which ridiculed use of the word "European" in describing the Marshal aid plan conference.

The agency said that of the 16 nations taking part in the conference, only half of them fought against Hitlerite Germany. Also, it repeated previous Russian expressions of doubt that the conference would succeed. Said Tass:

"The so-called conference of European states cannot be considered even by a fertile imagination to be a European conference."

It also declared that the small attendance caused an attitude of reserve among those at the Paris gathering.

Izvestia, the official Russian Government newspaper, carried an article denouncing what it called "American economic penetration" of Sweden. It declared Sweden's economic interests were at odds with those of the United States, France and Britain.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, July 14.—The Premiers of Romania and Bulgaria today pledged eternal friendship, and economic and political cooperation between the two countries. The occasion for the pledge, was another in a series of such mier Petru Groza and Foreign Minister Tatarescu in Sofia.

They were welcomed officially by Bulgarian Premier Georgi Dimitrov and his Cabinet. The Bulgarian-Romanian ceremony was another i na series of such exchanges among nations in the Soviet sphere of influence in recent weeks.

WREXHAM, Wales (CP).—Pentrebychan Hall, three-storied 17th Century manor house, is a private home again after seven years as an evacuation centre for blind persons.

FIRES SHOTS AT U. S. SENATOR JOHN BRICKER

Assailant Blamed Bricker for Financial Losses

FACES CHARGE

WASHINGTON, July 13—A discharged capital policeman, William Kaiser, who allegedly fired two shots at Senator John Bricker of Ohio, Republican, in Washington yesterday has been charged with assault and intent to kill.

After his arrest, Kaiser calmly told police that he shot at Bricker "to refresh his memory."

The shooting took place in the subway which links the capitol with the Senate office building. Bricker was carried to safety by the small monorail subway car as it rounded a bend out of Kaiser's range.

Bricker said that Kaiser blamed him for financial losses in a building and loan association at Columbus, Ohio, about 15 years ago.

Investigating police said they discovered a fresh chip on the subway wall apparently caused by a bullet from the gun fired near where the Senator waited to board a car to take him from the Senate office building to the capitol.

Bricker himself had expressed belief the shots were blanks, saying he did not hear the bullets strike.

Apparently unperturbed by the incident, the Ohio Senator and 1944 Vice Presidential candidate continued on to the Senate chamber where debate was under way on the revived $4,000,000,000 income tax cut bill.

John Eckler, Administrative Assistant to the Senator, told reporters that the man who fired the shots had lost his job on the government payroll.

Capitol police said the weapon used apparently was a .22-calibre pistol. Empty shells of that type were found in the subway.

"The man has talked with Senator Bricker numerous times," Eckler said. "He complained that he had lost some money in a building and loan association some years back. But the Senator said he could do nothing about it."

As Bricker went down to the Senate office building basement about noon to ride the monorail underground car to the capitol, Eckler said, the man approached, drew a pistol and fired.

"Senator Bricker told the car operator we better get out of here. I think that man is crazy," Eckler recounted.

News of the incident spread about the capitol and Bricker soon was surrounded by other Senators on the floor. He laughed as he told about what had happened.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS MAY OPEN FOR UNEMPLOYED

VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP)—British Columbia unemployed received word Saturday that "possibly within a month" Canadian vocational training facilities would be thrown open to all except veterans still eligible under their own C.V.T. scheme.

Col. H. E. Goodman, Regional Supervisor of Special Placements, National Employment Service, declared that during such courses, subsistence pay would be granted learners, and that 21 committees would be established through the Province to review applicants.

To qualify, Col. Goodman said, a candidate must be over 16, have been in paid employment, and be unemployed at the time of application.

Subsistence rates will be paid at the daily scale of: Single man at home, $1.15; single man away, $1.50; married man at home, $2.15; married man away from home, $3.

The Selecting Committee will have to be satisfied there are jobs for the trainees after completing their courses.

Dance Band Leader Lunceford Dies

SEASIDE, Ore., July 13 — Popular negro hot-music band leader, Jimmy Lunceford, 45, collapsed last night and died while enroute to a hospital.

At the time of his collapse, Lunceford's band was playing one-night stand at a Seaside ballroom as part of a current West Coast tour. The dance-band followed the tradition of show people and carried through with the night's program.

MAY WIND UP ACTION ON U. S. TAX BILL TODAY

Night Session Fails To Jam Through Income Tax Slashes

PUSH ARMY BILL

WASHINGTON, July 13 — Final Senate action on the new bill to slash personnal income taxes is scheduled for Monday. A vote has been arranged by an informal gentlemen's agreement between the leaders of the Republican and democratic parties.

The same agreement was turned down earlier by the G.O.P. leadership. It was accepted after democratic leader Alben Barkley of Kentucky told the Republican Senators that President Truman will veto the measuhe promply Barkley assured them that Mr. Truman in this case will not wait the customary ten days before acting.

The democratic leader, while predicting the presidential action regarding the bill, shouted that he was astonished to find that same Republican senators feared that as he put, some sort of chicanery would be used to delay adjournment of congress on July 26.

While the republican-controlled Senate failed in its efort to Jam the four-billion-dollar income tax bill through last night's session 'the administration's plan to unify American Armed Services advanced in a house subcommittee.

The bill—which would merge the army, navy and air force under a single secretary of National Defense—received the approval of the house expenditures committee late yesterday. But the approval came only after the addition of a provision of which requires that a civilian direct the military intelligence office created by the bill. The restriction also would prohibit the office from having police or internal security powers. The idea of the prevision is to prevent creation of a gestapo within the armed forces.

Republican chairman Clare Hoffman of Michigan said he would summon the full House Expenditures Committee on Monday to push the measure to the house floor.

In slightly different form, the merger bill already has been approved by the Senate.

Floyd Boettger Castlegar Teen Town Mayor

CASTLEGAR, B.C., July 11 — Castlegar Teen Town has a new mayor and four new aldermen, who were put into office by acclamation. A by-election was set for Friday but there was only one candidate running for mayor, two for boy alderman (two vacancies) and two for girl alderman (four vacancies). The council will operate with only two girl aldermen until such time girls with the necessary qualifications move to Castlegar.

Floyd Boettger, 16, steps in to head the Teen Town. He served half a term as alderman, being deputy-mayor, Chairman of the Public Relations Committee and Chairman of the Membership Committee.

George Landis, who organized Teen Town and served a term and a half as mayor, resigned to become an Alderman.

Gordon Parker filled the seat vacated by Alderman Jack Smith who is now working in the Kettle Valley District with the Forest Department.

Bertha Boettger and May McLure filled two of the four vacancies caused by the resignation of Carol Davis, Joy DeFoe, Phoebe Flynn and Ara Reid.

SET DEADLINE FOR RELEASE OF BRITISHERS

Promise Martial Law in Palestine For 60-Mile Area

MEETINGS ON

JERUSALEM, July 13 —British authorities in Palestine have set a new deadline for the release of two British Army Sergeants who were captured yesterday by the Jewish underground.

Army officials have served notice that unless the two soldiers are returned alive by midnight tonight, martial law will be put into effect in a 60-mile area, including the town of Natanya.

It was in Natanya, Palestine's diamond capital, that the soldiers—Mervin Paice and Clifford Martin—were kidnapped yesterday.

Earlier, the British had set two other deadlines for imposing martial law. They were two o'clock yesterday afternoon and at dawn today. However, in each case the deadline passed without the clampdown.

The Jewish underground organization, Irgun Zvai Leumi, admitted abducting the soldiers from a sidewalk in front of a Natanya cafe.

Irgun informed Natanya's mayor that the Sergeants will not be turned loose unless the British High Commissioner commutes the death sentences ordered for three Jews. The three have been convicted of taking part in the mass break from Acre Prison last May.

Two important meetings are in progress in Jerusalem. Top officials of the Palestine Government are in a huddle, attempting to decide whether to put Natanya under military rule.

Leaders of Hagana are meeting to decide whether their organization should rejoin the search for the kidnapped men.

Hagana is a moderate organization and is known as the Jewish National Defence Army. The organization is pledged to maintain order in the Holy Land during the meetings of the United Nations Commission on Palestine.

Yesterday, Hagana threw 500 men into the search. But they withdrew at dusk, complaining of what they termed "interference" by British troops.

The troops, have made a house to house search in four villages.

Meanwhile, the U. N. Commission continued its hearings on the future of Palestine.

The group heard testimony from Samuel Mikunis, the Secretary of the Jewish Communist party of Palestine. He advocated British evacuation of the Holy Land, and called for the establishment of an independent Palestine in which Arabs and Jews would have equal rights.

Another official of the Jewish Communist party of Palestine, Dr. W. Erhlich, told the commission that the U. N. should demand that the British pull out of the Holy Land.

Persons attending the hearing applauded Erhlich's speech. They were warned by Chairman Emil Sandstroem of Sweden not to show their feelings by demonstrating. Said Sandstroem:

"I emphasize that this is an investigation and not a show for the education of the public."

Disease Strikes Hospital Babies

PHILADELPHIA, July 13 — An outbreak of a dreaded disease—gastro-entritis—has claimed the life of one baby in the maternity ward of Philadelphia's General Hospital. Victim of the illness was 20-day-old Allen Bennefield who died Thursday. The death was revealed last night by hospital authorities who disclosed that 10 other children have been stricken by the disease since it was detected originally three weeks ago.

The outbreak was made public by the quarantining and closing of the maternity ward of the General Hospital until further notice.

Three of the stricken children have recovered and been sent home. Six others still are in the maternity ward, and one other baby has been transferred to the children's ward.

Explaining the closing of the maternity ward, Philadelphia's inspector of communicable diseases, Bernard Segal, says there's no cause for alarm. He says that health authorities are—as he puts it—playing it safe.

Fire Sweeps Block In Downtown Calgary

CALGARY, July 13 (CP)—Damage estimated at more than $250,000 was caused late Friday night when fire swept a downtown 8th Avenue block housing four business premises and a furniture warehouse.

Loss was suffered by the Neilson Furniture Co., Ltd.; Beard Electric Company; McFarland & Wilson Sporting Goods; Western Music Supply, and Kepler's Radio Service.

Origin of the fire was not immediately determined.

HEAVY LIST OF WORK LEFT OVER BY COMMONS

Many Problems Left Unsettled By Present Session

STILL SEEK FLAG

OTTAWA, July 13.—Parliament is nearing the end of a tough six months' session. But tough as it was there is still a lot of work that has to be left over for next year.

Probably starting next February it will be confronted with the routine items that come up every year and with the new business that arises out of the Throne speech. But besides that it will have to deal with some familiar problems it did not settle this session. These include the proposed new labor code, human rights and fundamental freedoms and a long-awaited reform of the Income Tax Act.

Also on its agenda it will find a continuing study of the Elections Act and the Indian Act. And if Prime Minister King and Opposition Leader John Bracken stick to their guns, Members will have to deal with a committee probe into reform in the Senate.

The reintroduction of the new labor code has been asked by the Commons Industrial Relations Committee. During the session that is drawing to a close the Committee listened to reactions of 12 major labor and management bodies.

A joint Commons-Senate Committee just got nicely started on the problem of considering Canada's obligations to the United Nations in the field of human rights and fundamental freedoms when it called it a session and asked to be set up again next year.

Finance Minister Abbott's bill to revamp the Income Tax Act was introduced late in the session and should be good for a lot of debate after Members spend the recess looking it over.

The bill to revise the Elections Act was completed in committee and referred to the Commons. Then the Government decided there was no general election near enough to warrant putting it through this year.

Mixed up with these issues are a few legislative headaches that have been side-tracked but not wiped off the slate this time—such things as: What sort of flag should Canada have? And, should July First be called Dominion Day? or Canada Day? or National Day of Canada?

The answer to the whole problem of the increasing legislative burden may lie in a suggestion by Mr. Bracken that has been accepted by Mr. King. The Opposition Leader proposed that a joint committee be set up to study Senate reform. It has been argued that the answer to the lop-sided Commons portion lies in initiating more legislation in the Senate. The Government leader — Senator Wishart Robertson — has proposed that Cabinet Ministers be allowed to pilot legislation in the Senate. If that doesn't work Senator Robertson says he is willing to consider alternatives.

NOT A SAUCER

AMARILLO, Tex. July 13 (AP)—Detective Captain J. L. King of the Amarillo police force said today a metal apparatus, found afire in an alley here, following an explosion, had been identified as equipment from the wing of an army plane.

Many residents felt that a flying disc had come to earth when the object, containing a mass of wires and electrical apparatus, was found, the Amarillo Globe-News reported.

Radio Fee Disposal Rouses Storm In House; Communism Suggested

OTTAWA, July 13—The House of Commons Saturday held a stormy debate on the question of national radio in Canada. The sitting —the first Saturday meeting of the session —was lightly attended but those who were there joined in the debate with gusto.

The storm rose when Revenue Minister McCann asked the House for the second reading of a bill to provide the CBC with the full return from the C. B. C's $2.50 receiving set licence. The minister said the CBC costs were going up and it was still in the red. He said if this extra revenue was not provided, its services will have to be cut.

Then the Progressive Conservatives and social crediters lined up to criticize not only the legislation but the radio committee report. One Progressive Conservative—Donald Fleming of Toronto Eglinton—charged the CBC with legalized robbery. Others asked for a full investigation of Canadian radio.

During the CBC debate, a Social Credit member—Norman Jacques of Wetaskiwin—brought up the question of Communism. Mr. Jacques named two executives and two commentators on the CBC and he referred to three of them as having had Communist affiliations. He said Commentator Elmore Philpott has done his level best to wean away the loyalty of the Canadian people. Of Matthew Halton he said:

"I know that those who know him will admit that he is a Communist."

He also mentioned a Richard Stanton Lambert who, he said, was CBC supervisor of school talks at one time. Mr. Jacques said Lambert encouraged subscriptions to the Canadian Tribune, the Labor-Progressive paper in Toronto. He also mentioned Raymond Arthur Davis, who he said is prominent in Communist activities. He said the CBC refers to Davies as Canadian correspondent in the Soviet Union.

Smaller Apple Yield, More Pears Expected From Creston District

Estimated apple yields in the Creston District this Fall show a considerable decrease over figures for the previous year, the weekly crop report issued from the office of E. C. Hunt, District Horticulturist, indicates.

Apple produce is expected to drop some 86,000 crates, while crabapples will be down 3000 boxes. The pear crop, however, promises a slight increase in yield over last year's results.

General growing crop conditions have improved during the past week, and in the strawberry line, a better-than-average crop is expected. Picking will be completed within the next two weeks. Raspberry picking is in "full swing," with high yields anticipated. Black currants are also being picked and "favorable" yields are in store.

The report continues:

"In tree fruits, the early cherries are now being picked. Bings and Lamberts are ripening rapidly, with some isolated areas taking off the odd crate. Generally reports indicate an average crop. To date very little splitting is being experienced. In apples the thinning program is still in full swing and considerable pinpoint scab is showing up. In many orchards a scab spray is now being applied for codling moth control. In the peach and apricot crop a great deal of coryneum blight is developing and will in all probability reduce the crop.

FIRST HAY CUT

The greater percentage of the first hay has been cut and cured. The majority of this crop was harvested in first class conditions, but in some localities the grade was reduced by rain. Heavy yields were recorded in all areas in this crop. On the reclaimed lands, the Winter wheat is showing a heavy yield and Spring wheat is heading out, showing prospects for good returns.

The field pea crop in most cases is in the pod development with some early varieties showing signs of maturity. Throughout all crops in the reclaimed areas, the weed problem is causing a great deal of trouble and in many instances chemical weed control is being tried."

Fruit tree estimates, in boxes and crates, manufactured tonnage included, follow:

	1946	1947
Apples	550,608	464,600
Crabapples	5,394	2,500
Pears	38,796	39,000

Lantigen "E"

TAKEN BY MOUTH — NO PAINFUL INJECTIONS

LANTIGEN "E" contains extracts of pollens of grasses, weeds, and spores of Canadian origin to which Hay Fever sufferers in Canada are usually allergic. Sufferers from Hay Fever are well advised to start taking LANTIGEN "E" about a month before their usual attack begins. The severity of the attack may be greatly reduced, if not eliminated entirely, when LANTIGEN "E" is taken as directed. Since bacterial infection of the upper respiratory tract frequently occurs with Hay Fever, LANTIGEN "E" combines the antigens of these organisms, a vaccine, with the pollens of grasses, weeds, and spores.

If a chicken is not as young as it once was, try steaming it for that Sunday dinner. You can brown it in the oven after it is tender.

Green peas are especially good at this time of the year and go well with chicken or fowl.

Did you ever try Cucumber Jelly Salad? It is a refreshing salad (remember we were talking about refreshing dishes earlier in the week). You can make it plain or use the walnuts as suggested in the recipe as you choose. Then, with a Coffee Pudding, our dinner is complete.

TODAY'S MENU

Steamed Chicken
Gravy Green Peas, Buttered
Cucumber Jelly Salad
Boiled New Potatoes
Coffee Pudding
Coffee or Tea

STEAMED CHICKEN OR FOWL

1 fowl (about 5 lbs.)
1 onion
1 bay leaf
Salt and pepper
Flour

Have the fowl prepared as for roasting, and wipe it dry inside and out. Rub inside and out with salt and pepper, place onion and bay leaf inside, and tie the fowl into shape for roasting. Flour a cloth and wrap it around the bird; lay chicken; back down, in a steamer and allow to steam continuously for 3 to 4 hours, according to its age and size. If properly steamed it will be as good as roasted chicken, and you may brown it in the oven after it is tender.

CUCUMBER JELLY SALAD

2 cups grated cucumber
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon oil
Lettuce leaves
1 teaspoon plain, unflavored gelatin
6 halves walnut meats
Mayonnaise
2 teaspoons cold water

Peel cucumbers and grate enough to give 2 cups; season with salt, paprika, vinegar and oil. Add gelatin mixed with cold water, place over the fire until warm and well mixed; do not boil. In the bottom of an individual mold put one half kernel of walnut, then pour in the cucumber mixture and when it has cooled, chill. When ready to serve, turn each mold on to a nest of tender, crisp lettuce leaves, and top with a spoonful of mayonnaise. Serves 6.

COFFEE PUDDING

¼ cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teapsoon salt
¾ cup chopped raisins
2-3 cup strong coffee
2½ cups cookie crumbs
2 tablespoons melted butter
2 eggs, beaten
2-3 cup milk
¼ cup chopped maraschino cherries
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Sift flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon and sugar together; add chopped raisins and cherries, cookie crumbs and melted butter to dry ingredients. Combine beaten eggs, milk and coffee and add to crumb mixture. Bake in a 1½ quart greased casserole in a moderate oven (350 F.) for 1 hour. Serve with whipped cream. Serves 8.

40 Planes Visit Cranbrook

CRANBROOK, B. C., July 13 — Eleven building permits were issued in June by the city to an estimated value of $13,275, the City Works Department reported to the City Council.

The City airport had visits during the month from 40 aircraft. Airport work in June by the city included a program against weeds and gophers and fence repairs.

Revenue at the City Tourist Camp to the end of June totalled $2805 compared with $1544 to the same date in 1946, the previous record.

During June final repairs on Winter damaged surfaced streets in the city were effected. Provincial Public Works have completed reconstruction and tarring of their half of van Horne Street.

The Water Department completed eight new water connections in the city during the month. Surplus daily runoff at the city reservoir averaged 5,544,000 gallons, which was considered more than satisfactory by the department.

Cost of social assistance issued to 27 individuals and five dependents in the city in June was $661, city's share $132, a drop from May's $765, city's share $153.

Twelve memorial tablets and 18 flower urns were installed in the City-maintained Westlawn Cemetery.

750 Displaced For Canadian Lumber Camps

BERLIN, July 13 (Reuters) More than 750 timber workers from among displaced persons in the British and American occupation zones will sail from Bremerhaven July 21 to work in Canadian lumber camps, the British zone headquarters of the International Refugee Organization announced today.

The men, mainly Balts and Ukrainians and all single men between 20 and 40 years old, were selected by Canadian officials for the work.

They were expected to be allowed to apply for Canadian citizenship after the normal qualifying period of residence.

Also aboard the ship will be nearly 200 displaced persons who will go as sugar beet workers to join relatives in Canada under a scheme prepared by the Inter-Governmental Committee for Refugees before it was incorporated into the new international organization.

"The Authority on Authorities"

MUST KNOW THIS PLAY

A TRICK stealing play, which you should know for your own use upon occasion, and which you also should understand if you hope to protect yourself against it, involves the effort to prevent a loser in a suit in which a finesse against a king is marked to lose. It is a lead by a suit declarer to the ace in dummy, instead of finessing the queen, and then a return of the suit for an apparent ruff in the endeavor to establish the suit by trumping.

North: ♠ A Q 10 9 4 ♥ A 10 ♦ Q J 8 5 ♣ J 3
West: ♠ 6 3 2 ♥ 8 3 2 ♦ A K 9 4 3 ♣ 10 4
East: ♠ K 7 5 ♥ 6 5 ♦ 10 7 ♣ A Q 9 6 5 2
South: ♠ J 8 ♥ K Q J 9 7 4 ♦ 6 2 ♣ K 8 7

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	2 ♣	2 ♥	3 ♦
Dbl	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♥

When South saw that dummy, he was gosh-awful sorry he had taken out his partner's business double, and felt that the weight was on him now to be sure that he made his contract as partial amends for loss of a juicy penalty against the opponents. West took the diamond K and A and led a third round for East to ruff and South to over-ruff. Seeing the certainty of losing a trick in clubs, South did not dare also lose a trick in spades.

Reflection told him that East, for his vulnerable overcall in clubs, must have the spade K, so that the finesse was marked to lose. What to do? Then he remembered a play the old-time expert Wilbur Whitehead had taught him years before, for use in just such an emergency, and he had the perfect situation to try it. He led his spade J to the dummy's A. Then he brought forth the spade 4 from the dummy. East was sure South meant to ruff that, having had a singleton in the suit. Covering it with the K would only set up the suit quickly for South. So he played the 7, then was flabbergasted when the 8 won the trick. The heart A and 10 were scored then, and the declarer was in position to use his diamond Q for a club discard, then lead a club to assure his contract.

If East had known the play, he would have smelled a rat when the spade 4 instead of the 10 was led from dummy, and should have covered it if he guessed right.

Guard Against Frightening Tot When Introducing Him to Water

It's a fine thing for a tot or older child to enjoy wading, splashing and finally swimming in water. The child's first fears of water may arise in connection with his bath. He may have tipped over in the water or been frightened at water splashing into his face.

As with all other fears, this tyke can be helped through your great patience at helping him gain very gradual adjustment. This principle I discuss at length in my special bulletin on fears (to be had in a stamped envelope.)

TO THE RIVER

It is delightful to take the tot or runabout along to the river, lake or seaside where you go bathing. He may be over-eager at first or very fearful. If over-eager he easily can face early fright. If very timid, you must be patient with him, not hurrying him by forcing him into the water. It may be a marked victory if on the second or fifth visit he merely steps into very shallow water. The main problem is to prevent his falling face-forward into the water or getting his mouth or nose full of it. Some silly adults, even a very few parents, will throw the child into the water. What could be more cruel?

After the youngster has gained confidence he may enjoy wading and splashing in shallow water and later floating while held up by an adult or by water wings (floats).

TEACHING SWIMMING

It is fine to teach children as young as five or six to swim. They can learn rapidly with proper guidance, being protected from undue fears.

A few children who cannot swim or swim much may go out too far. Without talking about dangers merely show them the boundary beyond which they must not go. Check carefully till you are sure your instructions are obeyed. For the first or slightest disobedience spank the youngster right then and there or make him sit alone doing nothing for a good long time on the bank or shore. That may save his life. Don't waste words and emotions.

STRICT DISCIPLINE

Youngsters from six to fourteen need strict discipline regarding safety limits in the water. Many a mother (or father) must spend periods of agony looking on helplessly while the heedless son or daughter swims beyond the ropes. Occasionally parents look on helplessly while the child goes down to his grave or is rescued by a life guard. Such a child needs better discipline at home. Manage your child well at home if you would enhance his safety at a bathing place.

Then there are some water tragedies at Summer picnics. Sometimes there are no life guards or a few children won't obey them. Let me urge those responsible for the picnic to provide enough responsible life guards at the swimming place and give these guards complete authority to manage the youngsters in or near the water.

Some children are drowned in streams near their home, to which they will wander during a freshet. Another hazard is the rafts boys improvise. A good rule is always to know where your child is especially during the long Summer days.

MacArthur Says Jap Treaty Should Set Firm Pattern

TOKYO, July 13 (AP) — Gen. MacArthur declared Saturday that the Peace Treaty with Japan, "without yielding firmness in its essential mandates," should avoid "punitive, arbitrary and unrealistic provisions," and by its terms set the pattern for future peace throughout the world.

The allied supreme commander outlined his views on the principles to be embodied in the Peace Treaty in a statement lauding the far Eastern commission's policy decision as "one of the great state papers in modern history."

The action by the 11-power commission announced Friday in effect approved the occupation directive MacArthur received from President Truman Sept. 6, 1945.

No date has been set as yet for the Japanese Peace conference. MacArthur has advocated that it be held as soon as possible.

Infectious Hepatitis Caused By Disease Producing Virus

A virus is the smallest of disease-producing organisms known, so tiny that it can be seen, if at all, only with the most powerful of electron microscopes. There are perhaps thousands of different kinds of these trouble-makers. Many of them seem to have a special affinity for certain tissues, producing disease by attacking these and these alone.

For instance infectious hepatitis, a disease affecting the liver, is thought to be caused by one of these viruses. It has been shown that the virus is present in the blood, in the secretions from the nose and throat and in the stools of patients suffering from this disease, but in its attack on the liver, it does its greatest damage.

From various studies and reports it is thought that the disease is spread at times by contaminated water, milk and food.

DEVELOPMENT OF CONDITION

The condition seems to develop within 20 to 40 days after a person has been exposed to it. It begins suddenly with fever, sometimes with chills, pain in the joints and general aching of the muscles. The fever is seldom very high and usually returns to normal after three to four days. Sometimes there are symptoms present like that of a cold, occasionally with sore throat. Loss of appetite, sickness to the stomach, and vomiting and diarrhea often occur.

About four to five days after the onset, the patient develops jaundice which is a greenish-yellow discoloration of the skin. However, the jaundice often may not appear for several weeks or may develop even on the first day of the sickness. The jaundice may last for two weeks up to seven months or even longer. Enlargement of the lymph glands as well as increase in the size of the liver is also present.

NOT USUALLY SERIOUS

Infectious hepatitis is not, as a rule, a serious disease. However, in occasional cases, it may even be fatal. Hence, the doctor should be called at once whenever it is suspected.

According to Dr. George Blumer of California, it is most important that the patient gets enough rest during the period of recovery. In addition he should receive a diet containing plenty of starchy foods and sugars as well as enough proteins from such foods as meat, milk and eggs.

During the early days of the illness, the patient should be kept at complete rest in bed and given plenty of fluids, easily digested foods and such medicines as are necessary to relieve discomfort and sleeplessness. During the period of jaundice, the diet should be free from fats. Occasionally a substance known as methionine may be administered since it seems to help protect the liver cells from damage.

Epidemics of infectious hepatitis are by no means infrequent and when such an epidemic is occuring persons should be on the lookout for the symptoms of this disease and report to their doctor without delay.

Coupons Lack Will Curb Royal Trousseau Buying; Live With Mother

LONDON, July 13 (AP).—There won't be any buying spree for Princess Elizabeth when she prepares her trousseau — unless Britain's clothes rationing scheme is lifted before then.

And, like so many other newlyweds, it's likely that the young Royal couple may have to "live with mother."

Coupons, the housing shortage, lack of domestic ware, furnishings and bed linen, probably will hit Britain's No. 1 engaged couple as it does the humblest of her future subjects. And, like many of her generations, she'll probably depend a good deal for her luxuries on the generosity of friends abroad.

Throughout the war years and until the Royal family went to South Africa, the Princess lived on the same coupon allocation as any other British girl. Again and again Princess Elizabeth attended functions in the same ensemble — with new coupon-free hats for variety.

When gifts of shoes or stockings were given from British firms, the Royal family was scrupulous to surrender coupons in exchange.

It is unlikely in these days when production problems are as bad as they've ever been, and when the glare of publicity is on the bethrothed couple, that any extra coupon allocation will be granted.

Like everybody else, Elizabeth must make her ration coupons last until the end of September. Like everybody else, she'll be wondering how many will be allowed for the next period — and just how long they'll have to last. And she'll have to be much more careful than girls in whom reporters aren't interested not to infringe any regulations.

Clothes for the Royal tour to South Africa were classed as "for export only" and the Royal princesses had their first opportunity to buy as they liked. But unless the honeymoon is to be abroad, it is unlikely that the same licence will be taken by the Princess.

Freeze Soya Sauce In U.S.; Causes Illness of 56 People

LOS ANGELES, July 13—Arsenic-laden soya sauce which has caused the reported illness of at least 56 persons on the West Coast has been impounded as officials of the Decatur, Illinois, company which made it announced that all United States stocks of the condiment had been ordered frozen.

Forty Japanese-Americans here were treated after using soya sauce which, City Health officers say, contained nearly lethal amounts of the poison.

Two cases have been reported in San Francisco, and at Ontario, Ore., 14 are ill but none seriously enough to require hospital treatment.

Sale of ten barrels of the sauce was stopped at Ontario after Oregon authorities found arsenic in it.

Czech Announces Trade Agreement With Soviet

PRAGUE, July 13 (Reuters) — Klement Gottwald, Czech Prime Minister announced Saturday that a five-year trade agreement between Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union had been concluded in Moscow. Gottwald made the announcement on his return from the Russian capital.

"Our negotiations had great results proving again the invaluable support of the Soviet Union for Czechoslovak security and independence," Gottwald added. "We discussed mainly economic questions," he said.

He continued:

"I want to stress that Czechoslovakia under the agreement will receive next year 200,000 tons of wheat and 200,000 tons of feeding stuffs.

"This, without doubt is important for the population and agriculture. On the other hand, we shall deliver great amounts of heavy and light industrial products.

"That will be important for the development of our industry, for the employment and for the fulfilment of our two-year plan.

Impractical to Meet Demands of Lonashore Bosses

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13 (AP) —Spokesmen for stevedoring operators, confronted with the threat of a Pacific Coast waterfront strike over the status of 1000 longshoremen walking bosses, contended Saturday it was impractical to meet union demands for bargaining with the bosses.

Vincent P. McMurdo, acting Pacific Coast Manager for Luckenbach Lines, struck Friday by the CIO Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, said, "This company is not opposed to the principle of collective bargaining, but, as applied to foremen, it has always been apparent to us that it just plain won't work. We believe that our foremen know this too."

One Out of Every Five Quarrels Said to Be Caused by Jealousy

Dear Miss Atkinson:

I am a girl 18 years old and in love with a man 22. He tells me he loves me, and even talks of marriage, but he makes me very jealous by fooling around with my girl friends when he comes to see me. He knows I get jealous, yet he keeps on doing it.

Please tell me how to overcome my jealousy.

"Heartache"

Dear "Heartache:"

In my opinion, few 18-year-old girls are mature enough to be thinking about getting married, and you show your immaturity very plainly in being jealous. Jealousy is a very childish quality, and unless you begin to grow up emotionally very soon, you're not going to make a success of any marriage at any age.

One out of every five quarrels between husbands and wives is said to be caused by jealousy on one side or the other, and nearly half of all divorces. Anyone who knows anything at all about marriage will tell you that a jealous person is an extremely poor risk as a marital partner.

It's only human for this man to keep on flirting with your girl friends when you make it so plain that it irritates you. If you took it in your stride, and laughed it off, he'd probably stop doing it because it wouldn't give him any more satisfaction. Teasing isn't any fun if a person doesn't mind it.

If a girl is afraid to have the man in whom she is interested pay any attention at all to any other girl, it simply shows she doesn't trust his feeling for her. If she were sure she came first with him, she'd know nobody else could win him away from her, and a little harmless flirting wouldn't worry her.

Beauty Hints

By IDA JEAN KAIN

The triceps, resting inertly on the backs of the upper arms are the laziest of muscles. It's the biceps that do the work . . . the biceps are those muscles that men flex so impressively. No lady is particularly keen about being Mr. Muscles, or having bulging biceps but along about this season she cares even less for sagging triceps. However, fat gravitates to the least used spots and when fat is piled on flabby muscles, they sag sadly.

This part of the arm represents a dead area, muscularly speaking, which explains why they get flabby and droop with fat. Or just droop. And needless to point out droopy thin arms are no ad for short sleeves either!

The best way to figure out the corrective exercises for remedying this blunder on the part of nature and putting on some snap back in those muscles, is to learn what happens when they get out of commission. Loss of their use deprays a person's ability to put force behind a blow, or to extend the elbow without force. Our favorite pill w punching exercise is worked out on scientific lines, really does tell the fat where to get off, and firms and rounds the upper arms.

Rig up an old sofa pillow, preferably one with a lot of stuffing in it, suspend it in a doorway about shoulder level, or just slightly above, then punch, punch, punch! This exercise is really fun to do, and besides toning the arm muscles, helps restore tone to the pectoral muscles which support the bust.

Hold the right arm out at shoulder level, tense the muscles and make tiny circles. To make sure you are working these back arm muscles, place fingers of the left hand on the spot as you circle. Make 12 circles in one direction then 12 in the other, keeping the circle small, as wide ones miss their mark.

Forcible extension of the elbow puts these muscles vigorously to work, so start with arms down at sides, raise to shoulder level, bend elbow touching finger tips to shoulders, back out to shoulder. . . twice bend to shoulders, then down, swinging rhythmically and forcibly.

Any exercise done with the arms at shoulder level, is helpful, it is even more effective against resistance. From those tips you can work out any number of exercises.

SOLVE MYSTERY OF LOGANBERRY

CORVALLIES, Ore., July 13 (AP) —The mystery of how Judge J. H. Logan produced the loganberry which has plagued horticulturists for 60 years—has been solved.

Logan said he crossed the California wild trailing blackberry with a raspberry, in developing the loganberry at Santa Cruz, Calif., in 1880. No one since could do it, however, until George F. Waldin experiments at Oregon State College were confirmed by Dr. D. G. Darrow, head of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Berry Fruit Breeding work.

Darrow said that Waldin, Federal small fruits specialist stationed at the college, acted on a tip from English experimenters and crossed the wild loganberry with a French variety of raspberry.

Improved loganberry varieties are likely to result from the experiment.

Waldin's experiments also proved of this year that Judge J. H. Logan produced the mammoth cane of the blackberry family in the year of 1880. I read the article that Professor [illegible] said was [illegible] numerical [illegible] to be [illegible] blackberries [illegible] of [illegible]

Use CERTO to get
50% MORE JAM or JELLY
Quick...Easy...Sure Results

1 SHORT BOIL saves time and work. To make jam with Certo you need only a one to two-minute full, rolling boil . . . for jellies only a half-minute to a minute.

2 YOU GET 50% MORE jam or jelly than with old-fashioned, long-boil recipes. The Certo boil is so short that very little of your precious juice has time to boil away in steam.

3 FRESH FRUIT TASTE and colour are retained in Certo jams and jellies. They taste delicious, look appetizing because the boil is too short to spoil the fresh flavor or dull the natural colour.

4 TESTED RECIPES Give sure results. See booklet under the label. Follow exactly the one for the particular fruit you are using. Certo is fruit pectin the natural jellying substance extracted from fruit.

A pound of jam or jelly made with Certo contains no more sugar than a pound made the old long-boil way

Barefoot, Miss Agnes Stewart Wed at Kimberley

KIMBERLEY, B. C., July 13 — A quiet wedding ceremony was performed Saturday in the United Church manse, Cranbrook, when Rev. W. H. MacDannold united in marriage, Mary Agnes Stewart of Nelson, daughter of W. F. Stewart and the late Mrs. Stewart of Nelson, and George Richard Barefoot, also of Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Barefoot of Winnipeg.

The bride was charming in an afternoon frock of pale pink jersey with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white roses and carnations.

Mrs. A. Gordon of Kimberley, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her afternoon dress was of rose print crepe, with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

A. Gordon supported the groom who is well known in hockey circles and a member of the Nelson Maple Leafs.

Mr. and Mrs. Barefoot left by car for Winnipeg where they will visit the groom's parents. On their return they will reside in Nelson.

To Query 50 in New York Death

NEW YORK, July 13 — About 50 persons remain to be questioned in the investigation of the strangling of Mrs. Sheila Mannering in New York City on Wednesday. The 50 are among the persons whose names were found in address books in the apartment of the former movie picture and radio actress.

Today authorities continued to question other persons whose names were contained in the books of addresses. Assistant District Attorney Anthony Fowler said that he questioned two persons yesterday but he declined to give their identity or reveal what they gave.

Meanwhile the body of 49-year-old Mrs. Mannering remained unclaimed in the morgue of Bellevue Hospital. A sister of Mrs. Mannering, Lee Wallace of Denver, has been expected to reach New York Saturday night or this morning but no word was said to have been received from Wallace this morning.

Looking Ahead in Ottawa . . .

Starts Campaign to Give Senate Some of the Load Held By Commons

By the Ottawa Staff of the Canadian Press

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP) — Armed with the backing he sought, Senator Wishart Robertson is set to campaign among his cabinet colleagues for more work for the Senate he leads. Any effects of his campaign will make themselves known when parliament reconvenes early next year.

The Senate, within two days, approved his request for a change in rules that would allow committees to introduce and pigeonhole bills, and other Government matters there. The same proposal has been made in the past, the first time in 1888, the last time in 1934, but never put to the test.

Now it is up to the Government to decide whether this expression of Congress to assume part of the legislative load now borne by the Commons.

Senators attach importance to the statement by the Prime Minister that he felt the usefulness and usefulness of ministers and officials in the House of Commons to answer questions and explain the great mass of legislation coming first to the Commons.

This they feel is tantamount to an admission that the Senate, the Government's chief critic, is to be given a chance to operate. The Senate has come a long way since the days when the Commons used to refer to it as the "chamber of sober second thought" and "the graveyard of the Commons."

In the Cause of Inefficiency

The proverbial reluctance of Governments to face unwelcome facts is amply demonstrated by the bookkeeping gymnastics indulged in by Canada's Post Office as revealed by Watson Sellar, the Auditor-General. According to Mr. Sellar's careful calculations, the Post Office, by taking no account of some $3,000,000 of expenditures and claiming as revenue more than $20,000,000, which should have gone to another Department, has shown an apparent profit out of operations that have, in truth, produced a thumping deficit, says the Toronto Globe and Mail.

In making his report, the Auditor-General called attention to a fact that is perhaps not widely known. It is that the first-class letter rate is still only two cents for letters weighing an ounce or less. The other half of the four-cent stamp we put on sealed letters belongs to the Department of National Revenue, since it represents a two-cent tax imposed by the Special War Revenue Act. In 1946, total revenue from first-class mail was roughly $40,000,000, but in the Government ledgers the whole amount was credited to the Post Office. Had half of it been credited to the Revenue Department as the tax income it properly represents, Mr. Sellar reported, the "profit" of $4,000,000 shown on the Post Office books would have turned up as a deficit of almost four times that amount.

Whatever justification may be advanced for this sort of mathematical legerdemain, the fact remains that it is nothing more or less than dishonest bookkeeping. The Post Office is simply deluding itself—and 12,000,000 Canadians—by juggling figures to show a profit where none exists. It is no defence to suggest that the total profit and loss picture for all departments was unaffected by this deception and that funds to meet the deficit would have to be voted by the Government in any event. The important fact is that the Post Office is presented as a money making organization, paying its own way and showing a profit, when, in truth, it is not.

A few months ago, the Postmaster-General defended Canada's high parcel post rates for overseas packages on the grounds that shipping space was so costly. That is surely straining at a gnat and swallowing a camel—and a $20,000,000 camel at that—with a vengeance, continues the Globe and Mail. Justification of high postal rates would come with greater conviction if it were based on the truth, which is that the Department is a losing proposition and cannot afford to reduce its rates unless it can first increase its efficiency.

Limitation of the Parliamentary franking privilege would not do much to reduce the real deficit, since the revenue from all of last year's franked mail, if postage had been paid, would have amounted to only $1,500,000. But it is more than likely that members and departments would have sent out far fewer than 28,000,000 pieces of first-class mail and 100 tons of third-class matter if they had been required to think about postage. That, in turn, would undoubtedly have made it easier for Post Office employees to handle the revenue-producing mail, probably at a lower over-all cost.

The practice of handling accounts to produce a false picture of profits and losses is as indefensible in Government as in private business. It can only serve to perpetuate inefficiency by glossing over inadequacies in Departmental administration and permitting conditions to continue which would undoubtedly be corrected if public attention were drawn to them by the existence of deficits on an accurate balance sheet.

A Word From Scotland

To the Editor:

Sir—I am enclosing a composition by my uncle, Mr. William MacPhail, of Glasgow, Scotland, and which I thought might interest some of your Scottish "Heiland" readers.

Loch Erisort is in the Island of Lewis and the rest of the history he has put at the end of the poem.

His pen-name of "Clach Oich" is, I believe, Gaelic for "Cuckoo Rock".

MISS C. MacPHAIL.

Kimberley, B. C.

REFLECTIONS
At the Old Churchyard of Colincille, Loch Erisort.

Stranger, tread softly o'er each mound,
This spot, this dust, 'tis hallowed ground.
Disturb thou not the peace profound
Within these beds of clay.
"God's Acre" this, all sown around
The shrine in ruins grey.

Nor deem to 'scape the common doom
Of those who sleep within the tomb
In this lone isle, the shrine and home
Of saints in days of yore,
Whose faith illumned the mystic gloom
Of Pagan rites and lore.

Tread softly here, 'tis sacred all:
The sod, the shrine, the mouldering wall.
Among crumbling dust thy footsteps fall.
Scoff not, nor yet profane
The dead, asleep till the trumps' call
To Judgment wakes again.

Thy step withhold, dread thou to lay
Impious foot 'pon mortal clay.
Presumptuous man, their fate today
Tomorrow will be thine.
Death is the tribute all must pay;
'Tis Nature's law divine.

Exemption none can urge or claim;
The rich and poor, their fate the same.
All must submit—man's mortal frame
The grave, the dust his bed.
'Tis Heaven's decree; can wealth or fame
Revoke the edict dread?

Within this spot, "God's Acre" sown,
The rank weeds hide each old tombstone,
The name, the year inscribed thereon
Time's wasting hand well-nigh
Hath blotted out; scarce aught is shown
That records would supply.

Scarce relic left, or script to show
Whose ashes moulder here below.
Ye who their lineage fain would know,
Approach with reverence near.
Th eturf that veils these mansions low,
O! moisten with a tear.

Your kindred rest in this remote,
Neglected, rude, sad, silent spot.
Unknown, obscure, unsung, forgot,
Wrapped by the sacred soil.
Oblivion's dreamless sleep their lot,
And destiny the while.

They lie unhonored and unknown
In this rude island churchyard lone,
Their names effaced, the records gone,
The meek, the sage, the just;
Each underneath the gold grey stone
Forgotten in the dust.

The victims of the stormy wave
Are gathered to earth's breast - the grave.
There, in the ancient ruined nave
Of younder shrine, they sleep
My kith and kin, whom none could save,
They perished on the deep.

Yet shall they live, let none gainsay
What Holy Writ, the Scriptures, say.
The dead shall rise, and hope's bright ray,
All radiant from on high,
Shall usher in eternal day
O'er faith's triumphant sky.

—"CLACH OICH."

The old island-churchyard of Colincille, Loch Eriscort, founded and consecrated by the pious monks of Iona, sent forth by St. Columba to convert our heathen ancestors from paganism to Christianity, was the burial ground for the Parish of Lochs from the earliest times until about 75 years ago, when the last interment took place. It has a Southeastern exposure on the margin of the sea, and appears to have been once enclosed by a stone wall, of which only the foundations can now be traced, with the exception of the side bordering on the shore, where a portion of the original wall is still standing. This, however, sad to relate, is slowly but inevitably being encroached upon and undermined by the ceaseless action of the sea.

One part of the burial-ground is occupied by the roofless walls of the "shrine in ruins grey" (the old church or chapel) forming a prominent feature in the scene of ruin and decay that meets the visitor's gaze on entering, while all around and within the old edifice, and obscured by a tangled profusion of rank vegetation and other noxious weeds, the green mounds, and the old tombstones, marking the silent mansions of long departed humanity, may be seen.

These old tombstones are flat, slaty slabs, over which old time has spread a covering of moss, hiding the records of those who sleep beneath. A few upright stones scattered here and there are still in a fair state of preservation. Others, however, are time-worn and decayed and their inscriptions completely effaced. The services of an "Old Mortality" to remove the rank growth of years, renew their original inscriptions, and otherwise repair and restore these old monuments are, alas, long overdue, yet much to be suggested and desired.

Briefly stated, the old churchyard has an aspect of dreary, melancholy desolation, but withal of tranquil seclusion and repose, harmonizing appropriately with those sombre reflections that "God's Acre" is so well calculated to excite, and which I have endeavored to express in verse. A few years ago while on a visit to the old churchyard to pore over the records of mortality, and study the doleful literature of the tombstones, whose melancholy lore always presents a dreary charm to the pensive mind, I was deeply impressed at the air of ruin and desolation pervading the hallowed spot. Surely it is not too much to hope, or too late to suggest, that something ought to be done now to preserve the ancient churchyard of Colincille, the last resting place of our kith and kin, from the ravages of time and the elements.

WILLIAM MacPHAIL

MOLOTOV GETS HIS ANSWER

The promptness with which Great Britain and France acted together to call a new conference and President Truman's plain speech at Monticello answer more loudly than the words of either Foreign Minister Bidault or Foreign Secretary Bevin the threatening note with which Molotov broke up the Three-Power Conference.

In the light of what happened at the final session in Paris, Moscow's motive in joining that conference seems no clearer than Soviet strategy ever is to those outside the Kremlin. This time there was no disposition to talk the conference to death, as at the last Moscow meeting. Neither was there lip service to an ideal of cooperation, followed by a course of sabotage or boring from within. The time had come, Stalin apparently felt, to get tough: "to caution the Governments of Great Britain and of France of consequences" if they persist in a course of which Moscow disapproves. At a diplomatic conference table these are harsh words. The promptness with which Bevin and Bidault have acted indicates clearly that their intent was not lost on either of these statesmen.

If the Soviet spokesman expected either to quail he was promptly disillusioned. Bidault went to considerable length to expose the speciousness of the Russian objections. But he prefaced this exposure with the observation that if warnings were in order, the Soviet delegation should be warned against action designed to divide Europe into two groups. Bevin, observing that Britain would refuse to be deterred from working for the betterment of Europe and the independence of its component units, declared: "My country has faced grave consequences and threats before. It is not the sort of prospect which will deter us from doing what we consider our duty." Both now have proceeded in line with that duty. The speed of their action cannot fail favorably to impress Americans who like to see convictions backed by courage. It is possible that response to the invitation may draw more clearly the line of demarcation in Europe. If so, the responsibility, as Bidault said, lies with Russia.—New York Sun.

Takes Years for the Cartoon Feature Picture to Show a Profit Says Disney

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 12 (AP) — As an investment, the cartoon feature picture is getting to be like a toll bridge — you are sure to get your money out of it if you wait long enough. That can be gathered from the words of Walt Disney.

The economics of the movie industry are enough to make a business administration professor turn in his cap and gown. And trying to figure out the wherefores of cartoon profit-making might cause him to blow his top. For instance, it might be 10 years from the moment an idea pops into Walt's head until the time the finished picture shows a profit.

As the cartoon wizard pointed out, an ordinary movie can show a profit within a year of its conception. Four months of shooting, two of editing and printing and a half-year in the theatres can put a film in the black.

"Now we have to depend on a reissue for a profit from cartoons," said Disney. The timetable of a feature reads something like this: preparation — one and a half years; drawing — two years; release — three years. Then it is withdrawn for two years and reissued. By that time it starts paying off.

"ALICE" TWO-YEAR JOB

Disney will throw his whole staff into work on "Alice in Wonderland," his first post-war superspecial, and even so, production will require two years, maybe more. The picture's cost, now estimated at $3,500,000, may be a long time coming back.

Disney's business flourishes in times when moviegoers are discriminating and are concerned more with quality entertainment than the sure-fire formula movies that have crowded the screens in recent years. Not that he wishes for a theatre slump, mind you, but he isn't afraid of it.

"I don't mean that everybody likes cartoons," he smiled. "Some people can't stand them.

"There are times when I can't stand them myself!"

Damage Reports Exaggerated in Violent Windstorm

SEATTLE, July 13 (AP).—Two days after a sudden, violent windstorm cut a swath of death and destruction across the rich Inland Empire, estimates of wheat crop damage were revised downward sharply from the first figure of a half million dollars.

Willard Crawford of Walla Walla, Field Secretary of the Pacific Northwest Crop Improvement Association, said Saturday after tour of Northeastern Oregon and Southeastern Washington that damage reports were greatly exaggerated.

Warns Against Dependence on Grain From N. A.

PARIS, July 13 (Reuters).—Clinton P. Anderson, United States Secretary of Agriculture, warned delegates of the International Cereals Conference here against "unrealistic dependence" on a "limitless supply of grain" from North America in a statement read to the conference Saturday.

WOULD CURB ABUSES IN INSTALMENT SALES

By JACK LANGLOIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC, July 12 (CP) — Under the watchful eyes of other Provincial Governments and United States authorities, Quebec soon will blaze a new trail in economic regulation with a bill to limit instalment sales. Present indications are that the only sizable discontent over the legislation exists in a section of mercantile life.

Provincial Treasurer Onesime Gagnon told The Canadian Press that the aim of the measure is to "curb past abuses in instalment sales and protect the buyer."

The bill, an amendment to the civil code, provides that in instalment sales the sale price will be made up of an initial payment of at least 15 per cent and deferred payments, the term of which shall not exceed six months if the amount of sale is less than $50, 12 months if less than $100, 18 months if less than $500 and 24 months in other cases.

SOLVING HOUSING SHORTAGE NOT FOR FEDERAL GOV'T

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP).—Reconstruction Minister Howe contended Saturday it was "ridiculous" to lay full responsibility for solving Canada's housing shortage on the Federal Government and said its obligations ended with veterans.

Cecil Merritt (P.C.—Vancouver Burrard), raising the issue on departmental estimates, called for a loosening of the regulations governing the integrated housing scheme which he said was the only Government agency now stimulating home construction.

The scheme, which grants priorities to construction firms building low-cost housing, was good but for some reason or other only a small portion of builders were making use of it, Mr. Merritt said.

EXPAND SCHEME

All the facilities of private enterprise should be placed behind an expanded integrated scheme with "a fairly generous profit limit" and which would benefit veterans. Returned men should be able to use their reestablishment credits and should be given the same aid as they get under the eVterans Land Act which makes a grant of $1400 on a $6000 home.

Mr. Howe, replying, said every house the Government had built was for a veteran, added that any veteran could get a $6000 home with a down payment of $600 and said 200,000 homes would have been put up by Government agencies by the end of the year.

But the Government took no responsibility for solving the whole housing problem. "It was "ridiculous" to suggest that it should.

HAS HOPES OF RECEIVING SHIRT TO MATCH TIE

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP).—William Irvine (C.C.F.-Cariboo) created a bit of parliamentary history Friday when he spoke in the Commons without a necktie.

The apparent affront to parliamentary decorum escaped the notice of most Members by later Mr. Irvine received a neatly-wrapped package, a bright, flashy red tie, donated by "Little Chicago," a boisterous group of Members in the far corner of the Liberal side of the House.

Mr. Irvine sent back at note of thanks, announcing that he next woul dappear in the House shirtless in the hope of receiving a new shirt to match the tie.

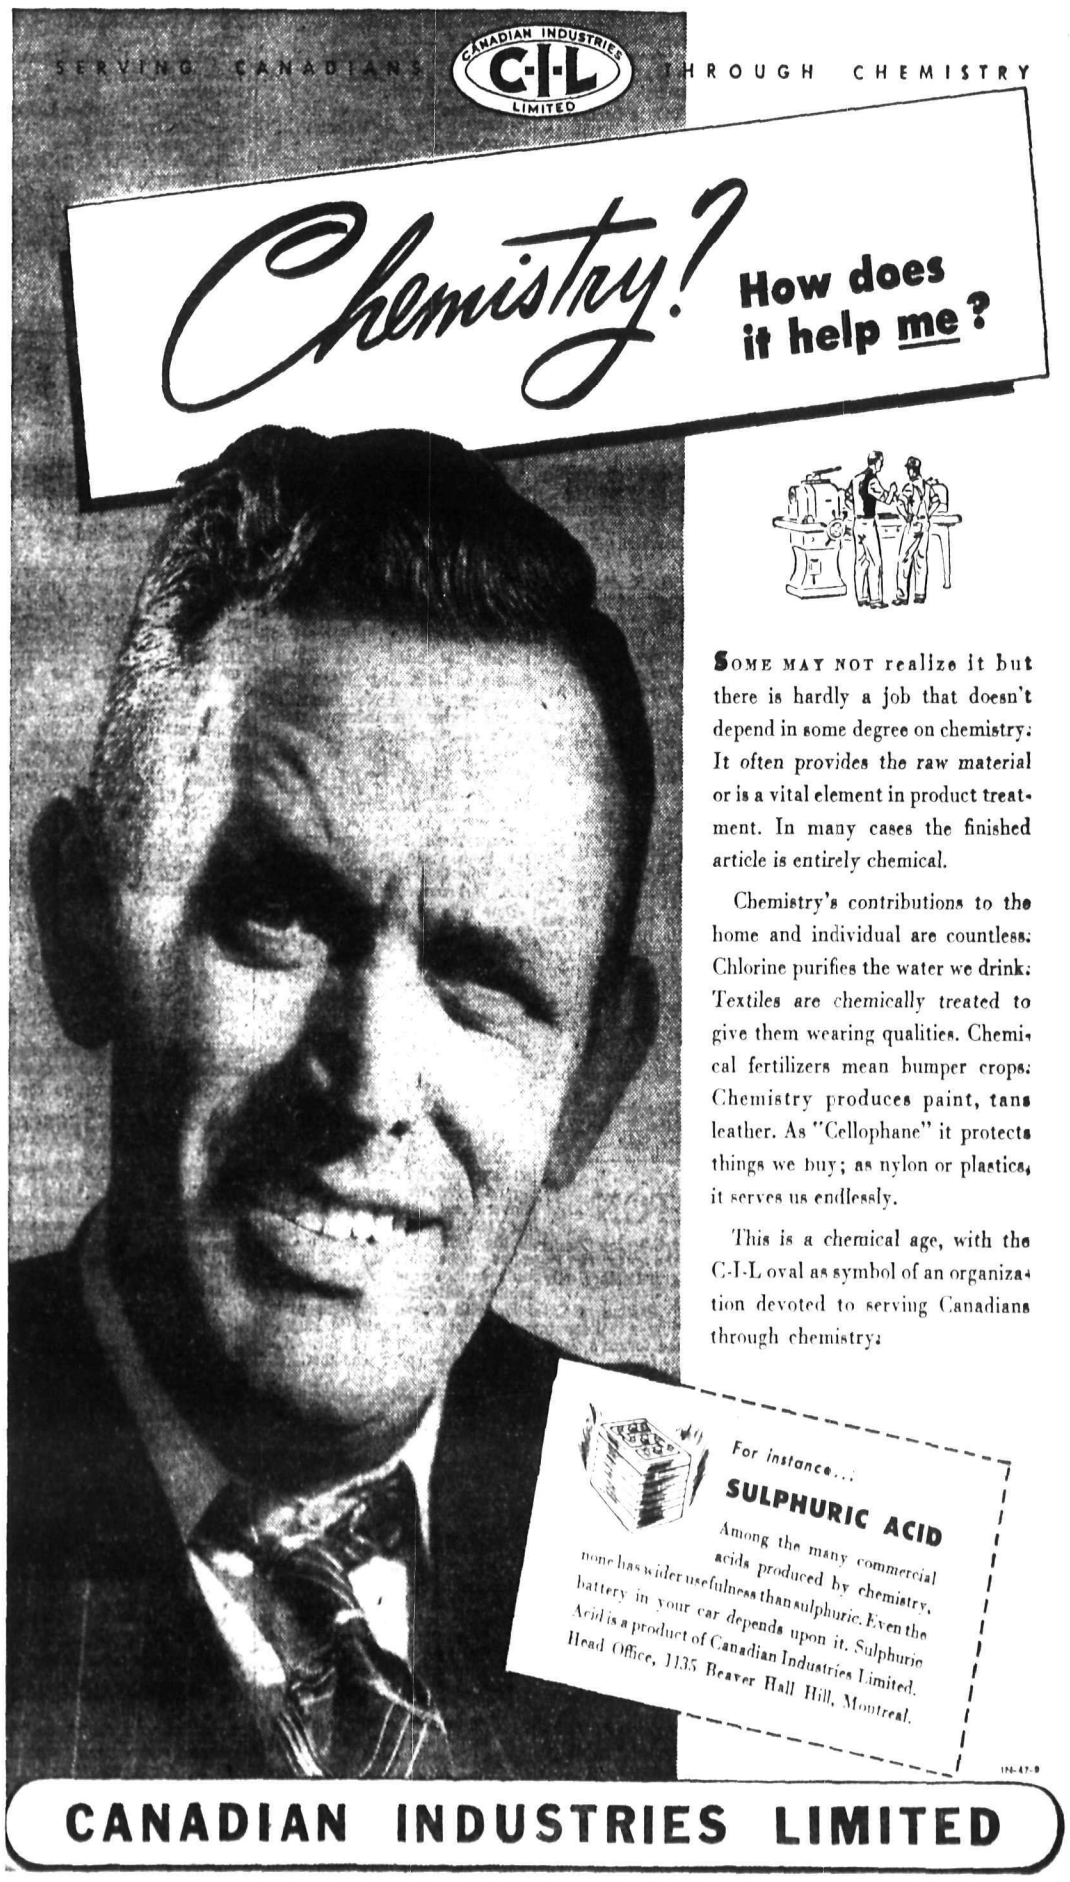
SERVING CANADIANS CANADIAN INDUSTRIES C-I-L LIMITED THROUGH CHEMISTRY



SOME MAY NOT realize it but there is hardly a job that doesn't depend in some degree on chemistry. It often provides the raw material or is a vital element in product treatment. In many cases the finished article is entirely chemical.

Chemistry's contributions to the home and individual are countless. Chlorine purifies the water we drink. Textiles are chemically treated to give them wearing qualities. Chemical fertilizers mean bumper crops. Chemistry produces paint, tans leather. As "Cellophane" it protects things we buy; as nylon or plastics, it serves us endlessly.

This is a chemical age, with the C-I-L oval as symbol of an organization devoted to serving Canadians through chemistry.

Leafs Slam Out 17-10 Win Over Redman

Exhibiting peak form of the season, Nelson Kiwanis Maple Leafs walked over the Rossland Redmen 17-10 at the Civic Centre Saturday night.

It was a Leaf game all the way. The Redmen went down to a bitter defeat at the hands of the inspired Leafs to see their short lived winning streak cut short. Earlier in the week the Redmen won easily from the Spokane Dynamos and the Trail Smelters to add to their claim to the league leadership. But the game here indicated something else—the thought that Coach Cooper has courted all along—that the Leafs will be the team to watch.

Griffin and Mayo were the towers of strength for the Leafs. Each scored five goals and played a hard game from the opening whistle. "Baldy" who in recent home games has been jinxed around the goal, was on like a button. His drives from almost any angle caught corners while team mate Griffin played with his usual fan-pleasing color and floor-length breaks.

Coach Cooper donned the pads and put on one of the prime performances on the Nelson lacrosse floor to date. He figured in the three-star section for his play making and general proficiency in directing the Leaf attacks.

The locals shone throughout the entire game. At the end of the third quarter they led the hapless Redmen 14-5, a humility seldom suffered by the Rosslanders.

The one bright spot of the Redmen was Jack Laface who was in for six goals. His shots along the floor from well out had Graves' number on three occasions. Laface was checked close and hard but his generosity saved the Redmen from from a worse walloping.

During intermissions the Nelson dressing room was the scene of a reunion of lacrosse cronies. Dave Gibbons, who starred with the Leafs in pre-war games, banged old hands in the back and passed kind remarks about the game upstairs.

What do you think of this lacrosse?" Cooper shot at him. "Much better than we played" smiled Gibbons and in the same breath whooped "Aren't you ever going to die?" to Fred Graves. Graves, who was perspiring profusely, jokingly ceded that he was near the state of rigor mortis.

Mayo opened the game with a rally 45 seconds after the whistle sounded and the score was 3-1 for the Leafs when the horn sounded to end the first quarter.

Anderson scored from a break at the start of the second frame. Five minutes later Ray Scott broke by himself to tie the game momentarily with a register from well out.

From therein the Leafs departed for a scoring spree. They notched up 11 goals in a quarter and a half to which there was only a two-counter answer from the Redmen. They led 7-3 at the end of the second quarter, 14-5 in the third.

In the final canto the Redmen rallied after a three period dormancy with a five-goal push but were not able to approach within shooting range of the Leaf lead.

Although the Redmen played closer lacrosse in the fourth frame their attacks usually came at the heels of Nelson penalties of which there were many. The Leafs dominated the play for the first five minutes with fast passes and highly organized territorial manoeuvers. They could afford to wait for the breaks while the Rosslanders had to carry the game to get back into the race.

As Leafs filled the sin bin, Jack Laface spearheaded a three-goal attack on the Nelson citadel. Laface used the scoop shot effectively from efforts that were about 30 feet out. Fellow players screened until the last second and moved out of the way as Laface let drive.

In the closing minutes of play with the Lakesiders at full strength the Leafs pressed hard to mark up two goals in 17 seconds to prove that their win wasn't a fluke.

Lineups with goals and assists in brackets follow:

Nelson—Mayo 5, Griffin 5 (1), F. Graves 2, Wassick 2, Townsend 1 (2), Appel 1, LaPointe 1, A. Choquette (2), Cooper (2), Maglio (1), Morris, Jones, L. Choquette, V. Graves.

Rossland—J. Laface, 6, Anderson 2 (2), R. Scott 1, Campbell (1), Davis 1, Page, Neil, R. Laface, J. Doig, Saundry, Dupperon, Richardson.

Al Hooker chose the three star players, Bud Cooper and Mayo of the Leafs and J. Laface of the Redmen.

ESTIMATE TRIAL SPEED OF BLUEBIRD AT 150 M.P.H.

POOLE, Dorset, Eng., July 13 (AP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell today drove his jet-powered 26-foot long boat, Bluebird III, at a speed estimated by engineers at 150 miles an hour in a trial preparatory to an attempt to break his own speedboat record of 141.76 miles an hour.

Sir Malcolm said the boat's excessive snaking from side to side which caused him to delay in June his scheduled attempt on the record apparently had been corrected by undisclosed modifications. He said the Bluebird would be returned to Lake Coniston in Lancashire "as soon as possible" for another attempt on the record.

CRESTS AWARDED

Sunday a.m., before the train arrived, saw the closing of the Trail boys camp for 1947. Not until the last bit of dirt was removed from the cabins would the leaders announce that all important decision as to who had won the honors for 1947. To Dennis Plamondon went the crest for the camper who best displayed the spirit of "the other fellow" during his stay at Camp Lourdes. Dennis' thoughtfulness for all others ahead of himself, his work around the chapel and his cooperation in all things that pertained to the welfare of the Camp made this decision unanimous.

To Roger Plamondon, the leader of Cabin 5, went the crest for the best cabin leader.

To Bill McConnachie and Freddy Matteuici went the crests for copping the honors at the field and swim meet on Saturday.

Peter Pasqualotto, John Hughes, John Pistak and Vinio Zanier were awarded the crests for the work they had done on the Grotto. (See elsewhere in this issue for the dedication of the Grotto).

Jimmy Lynch and Tommy Fulkco received the crests for good work around the Camp. Jimmy won his crest by his willing efforts to beautify the Camp by keeping the walks and campus neat and tidy. Tommy went in for the manual labor, towing logs being one of his specialties.

Bob Carney won his crest by best portraying the spirit of gentlemanliness and all around good fellowship.

To Kelvin Mailey went the crest for winning the most points in junior sports.

The boys had their choice of colors of the new Lourdes crests. Some chose the red on black, while others preferred the green on gold. The new crests are beautiful in their simplicity with the word "Lourdes" on a plain background.

Before leaving the Camp the boys cheered all who had helped to make the camp a real success.

Trail Umpire Flouted In Two Upsets for Coeur d'Alene Nine

TRAIL, B.C., July 13—Baseball, Trail's popular Summer sport, gave the friendly neighbor policy with the U.S.A. a minor set-back here Sunday afternoon, although it is not likely that the matter will come up before the U.N. in Paris.

The Coeur d'Alene nine lost both their games with Trail, played Saturday and Sunday, by scores of 16-5 and 1-0.

Saturday's lop-sided match produced six home runs, four by Trail and two by the Idaho team. Most of them were over the short 200-foot left field fence.

Sunday's game was strictly a pitcher's duel between Trail's ace Clint McNeil and Coeur d'Alene's Lefty Auer. The two port-siders gave up a total of seven hits, four by McNeil and three by Auer.

A home-run by Trail shortstop Julie Bilesky over the left field wall in the first inning, gave Trail the victory.

But the feature of the game was the mid-game upheaval over an umpire's decision. Plate umpire Paddy Lanmon, generally acknowledged a good umpire, ordered Coeur d'Alene shortstop George Hoffman out of the game for allegedly using abusive language and continually disputing his decisions. But the Idaho team refused to play if Hoffman was thrown out and Umpire Lanmon refused to alter his decision. Thereupon the visitor's manager, Stan Webb, picked up the bats, etc. and walked off the field.

The game finally continued but without Manager Webb and Umpire Lanmon. To satisfy the Idaho Club and to give their fans their money's worth, the Coeur d'Alene player Ted Baftus took over behind the plate as Hoffman was allowed to remain in the game.

Hostilities between the two teams will resume next weekend when Trail's artillery and a host of supporters invade Coeur d'Alene for perhaps a similar two-game stand.

Portlanders Golf Champs

PORTLAND, Ore., July 13—Golfers from Portland captured top honors in the Pacific Northwest Golf Association Tournament. Ray Weston and Mrs. Babe Freese Bowman, both of Portland, won the men's and women's titles Saturday. Weston defeated Charles Gordon of Seattle one and two to take the men's crown, while the veteran Mrs. Bowman overwhelmed young Gracie Demoss of Corvallis, Wash., six and five for the women's title.

Winner of the sixth flight was Gordon Verley of Victoria, B. C. who downed O. J. Miller of Portland five and four.

TO FORM MIDGET REP NINE

Slim Porter, Nelson kid baseball sponsor, plans on forming a youthful all-star Midget baseball team with a view to playing a Nelson Oldtimers ball team or any team of corresponding age classification. All kids to be eligible must have been born in 1932 or later years. So far some 15 boys are slated to turn out for the first practice this Tuesday at four-thirty. Those lined up include Laurence Ludlow, Bill Stringer, Rod Carmichael, Don Kennedy, Sil Benedetti, Eugene McInnes, Lorne Irwin, Ken White, Ron Brown, Gene Nutter, Ross Burgess, Lorne Dyke, Jim Todd, Bob Burns and Joe Postnikoff.

BOXER IN POOR SHAPE AFTER COLLAPSE

HOLLYWOOD, July 13 (AP) — Condition of Benny Cleveland, 21-year-old Los Angeles bantamweight boxer who collapsed after losing a four-round preliminary bout at Hollywood Legion Stadium last night, was reported "very precarious" following a brain operation.

The boxer's physician said he suffered a haemorrhage of the brain.

Cleveland, 118½, fighting his second pro bout, lost a decision to Bob Adame, 117½, Los Angeles. He fought a good battle against Adame and was on his feet at the end. In the dressing room he complained of feeling ill and 10 minutes later fell into a coma. Ringsiders said Cleveland did not appear to have taken a severe beating although he was down for no counts twice in the first round.

Stars Tangle for Canadian Tennis Davis Cup Berths

VICTORIA, July 13 (CP)—Eight Eastern and Western tennis stars tangle here next week vying for berths on Canada's four-man Davis Cup team which meets an Australian squad at Montreal early in August.

Henry Rochom, the slim Quebec and Ontario champion, heads the Eastern players who include the Macken brothers, Brendan and Jim, and Don McDiarmid, warming up at the Victoria Tennis Club in preparation for the East-West tests July 15, 16, 18 and 19.

Walter Stohlberg, Vancouver City champion is No. 1 players for the Western squad, all from Vancouver except Don Hodges, lanky Regina law student and Saskatchewan champion.

OVERSEAS CRICKET

BELFAST, July 13 (Reuters) — The South American cricket team scored a brilliant one-day victory over the Gentlemen of Ireland here Saturday, winning by an innings and 125 runs.

As the game was scheduled for two days and Monday is a holiday, the tourists agreed to give the Irishmen a third match. The Gentlemen of Ireland made two changes from the side which played the South Africans in Dublin Friday.

They batted first and were all out for 32 runs. South Africa replied with 218 runs, leaving the Irishmen 186 to avoid an innings defeat, but the latter's batting again broke down and they were all out for 61.

Athol Rowan, South African bowler, was the man of the match. He claimed 12 wickets for 24 runs which made his record for the two days 21 wickets for 63 runs.

IT HAPPENED IN BROOKLYN

BROOKLYN, July 13 (AP)—Of course it happened in Brooklyn!

It was a bright, sunny Saturday and in the third inning of the second game against Chicago's Cubs.

The Dodgers' Peewee Reese was on first base. Dixie Walker was at bat and when he missed a curve the bat slipped out of his hands and skidded toward first. Reese leisurely stepped off the bag to pick up the bat and as he started to return it the business-minded Bruins tagged him out, the ball going from Clyde McCullough to Ed Waitkus to Len Merullo.

Fawcett; D. Dunbar and Miss F. Openshaw won by default.

Relieler Pitches Brooks To Win; Yanks Notch 13th and 14th

By STEVE ROBERTSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Don't be surprised if one day you read about the Ebbetts Field groundkeeper winning a game on the mound for National League Brooklyn Dodgers. It wasn't quite that bad Sunday but the Brooks did send in a relief pitcher—Clyde King—for his first start and he turned in a six-hit 9-1 victory over Cincinnati Reds.

The triumph was the Dodgers' seventh straight victory. Kent Peterson, the Reds' rookie righthander, stayed with King for six innings, trailing by one run when King came up in the seventh inning with two on and two out. The first time starter doubled to break the game wide open. Brooklyn knocked out Peterson in that inning, scoring four runs and added three more off Ed Erautt in the eighth.

In other games in the senior circuit, St. Louis Cardinals lost a first game to Philadelphia Phillies 4-2 but took the nightcap 3-2 in 10 innings on Howie Pollet's seven-hit hurling; Pittsburgh Pirates downed New York Giants 6-3 before losing the afterpiece 3-1 and Boston Braves took two from Chicago Cubs, 8-7 and 6-5. The Cub losses were the eighth and ninth defeats in succession.

HOMERS AID

At New York, homers by Bill Rigney and Bob Thomson helped Larry Jensen take the nightcap for New York after veteran Fitz Ostermueller pitched a six-hitter for the opening Pittsburgh win.

Over in the American League, the leading New York Yankees scored their 13th and 14th straight victories as they swept a doubleheader from Chicago White Sox, winning the first game 10-3 and the second 6-4.

Old Bobo Newsom, recently acquired from Washington Senators, made his first Yankee start a winner as he hurled five-hit ball in the opener. The New Yorkers used three hurlers in the nightcap as they scored two runs in the first of the ninth and withstood a one-run rally by the Sox.

TIGERS BACK

Meanwhile, Detroit Tigers edged back into undisputed possession of second place by taking two games from Philadelphia Athletics, 6-2 and 7-6. Roy Cullenbine's 11th homer provided the winning marker in the nightcap after Virgil (Fire) Trucks limited the A's to five hits in the opener.

Boston, previously tied with the Tigers, dropped back as they lost two to Cleveland. Steve Gromek and Ed Klieman combined to hold the Red Sox to five hits for a 6-2 victory after Mel Harder's ninehitter was good for an 8-0 triumph in the first game.

At St. Louis, Jerry Wittee singled home Vern Stephens in the last of the ninth to give the Browns their first victory in eight starts—a 3-2 second game victory over Washington Senators. The opener went to the Senators 4-2.

10,000 SEE FORT GARRY COP COAST HANDICAP

VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP) — About 10,000 race fans braved lowering skies and rain here Saturday to watch the K. and K. Stable champion, Fort Garry, spread-eagle his field in the $2000 Memorial Handicap over the mile and one-eighth route in the seventh and feature race at Lansdowne Park.

Sprinting to the top at the break, the strong son of Osiris II was on top by four lengths at every pole and a good five at the wire.

Laurel Lady was second and Mythologist came in to show. Fort Garry, a veteran of Western tracks, paid $3.25, $2.70 and $2.40 across the board.

The biggest price of the day was returned in the sixth race by the place horse, Air Sure. He paid $28.90 to place and $11.25 to show. Saxon Jr. scored an easy win in the race with Deckhand getting up in the stretch to be third.

Side Guide captured the opening race and combined with the winner of the second, Bahask, for a $48.30 daily double, while Rural Parade and Dalmahoy returned a $21.70 quinella in the eighth.

ASSAULT WINS BUTLER HANDICAP

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP) —Assault won the Butler Handicap at Jamaica Saturday to regain racing's all-time money-winning championship with $613,370 in earnings.

Before a crowd of 32,395, the Texas terror romped home by a neck over Stymie, who had held the money record for a week, with Gallorette another 1½ lengths farther back in third place.

WHIPS CHAMP

WINNIPEG, July 13 (CP)—Colin Maass, 18-year-old Montrealer who holds No. 2 spot in junior Canadian tennis rankings, Saturday defeated defending champion Herb Richard in four sets to take the men's singles title in the Manitoba tennis championship tournament here. Maass has held the title thrice previously.

Elaine Fildes, of Montreal, who earlier had won the ladies singles title, combined with her finalist opponent, Montreal's Pat Macken, and annexed the ladies double crown.

CHAMPS REPEAT

CALGARY, July 13 (CP)—When all statistics were checked by Roy Chown in the Stampede office Sunday, both defending all-round champions were found to have repeated.

Bill Linderman, Red Lodge, Mont., won the North American all-round for the fourth time in succession, while Frank Duce of Cardston made it two straight in the Canadian division.

Johnny Phelan of Red Deer successfully defended his crown as king of the chuck wagon racers at the Calgary Stampede Saturday evening when his wagon circled the track in 1:14.1, giving him a gross time for six days of racing of 7:40.4. Besides being acclaimed as world's champions, the win was worth $1000 to the Phelan crew. Second money of $700 went to Slim Fenton of Cochrane while the third prize worth $500 was copped by Allen O'Bray of Innisfail. Fenton won Saturday's day money with a run of 1:13.1 which was good enough to advance him from fifth place to second among the 12 finalists when times for the week were posted.

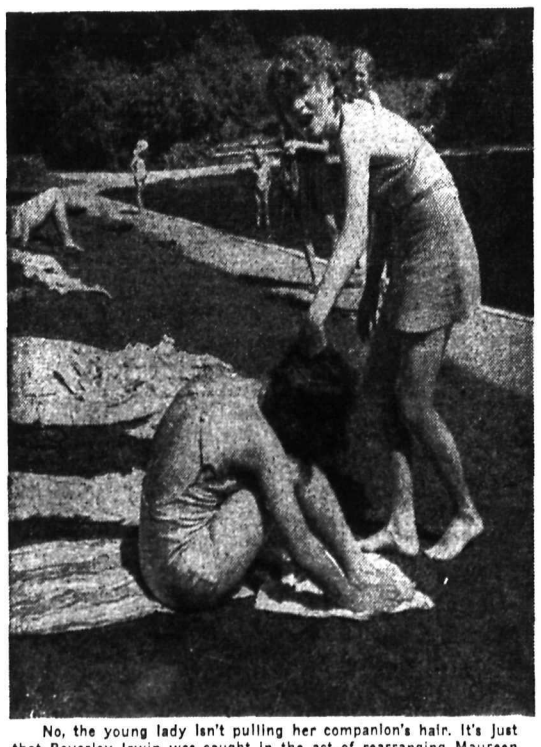
A Couple of Pals

Keeping a watchful eye in this interesting picture on 11-month-old Kenneth Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, 918 Kootenay Street, Nelson, is 13-year-old "Buster," owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson.

Popular Nelson Summer Spot



No, the young lady isn't pulling her companion's hair. It's just that Beverley Irwin was caught in the act of rearranging Maureen Kennedy's tresses after cooling off in the pool at Gyro Park, a popular Summer picnicking spot for City youngsters and their parents. A startled, "Oh!" escaped when Miss Irwin saw the Daily News photographer.

Wins Prize in Coast Derby

David Macfarlane of Nelson, who in June won third prize in the Mammoth Derby of Garrow Bay, Whitecliffe, B.C., near Vancouver. Mr. Macfarlane is shown holding the 10 pound salmon he caught during a two-week holiday there to prove Interior fishermen can hold their own with Coast sportsmen.

Wimbledon Winner, Loser

Texans Believe Flying Saucer "Captured"; Object Starts Fire

BY CANADIAN PRESS

Once upon a time there was a flying saucer. Then there was another one. And now they are all over the world.

One has been reported in Northwestern Ontario at Kenora. Mrs R. Sharples, says she spotted the air-borne object at about two o'clock on Saturday morning.

Mrs. Sharples, lives at Black Sturgeon, about four and a half miles from Kenora. She says that when she first saw the object it was cone-shaped and very bright. As it travelled away from her it changed into a half-moon shape. Then, as it flew at a slow speed about a foot above tree level, the object changed into a large ball becoming less luminous at the centre. Mrs. Sharples says the flying what-ever-it-was finally disappeared into a cloudbank.

The mystery has caused a new flurry of excitement in Texas—where some people believe they have captured one of the elusive objects—and has reached across the Atlantic to France.

According to the Amarillo Globe News, an explosion and fire in an Amarillo alley last night leed to the discovery of a metal object. Some residents of the area—who beat out the flames with brooms—are fo the opinion that the flaming object is a flying disc come to earth..

It is three-and-one-half feet long, two feet wide, and six inches thick. A label identified the apparatus as a "Micro Positioner," and named the manufacturer as the Barber Colman Company of Rockford, Illinois.

Witnesses, noting a mass of wiring thought at first that a transformer had exploded and fallen into the alley. But the Electric Power Company in Armarillo said it had no transformer in that area.

The European flying disc incident is reported by a Paris Newspaper, Parisien Libere.

The paper quoted a resident of a town 100 miles Southwest of Paris as saying that he sighted what he thought were two flying scaucers yesterday.

Seek to End Nanaimo Strike In Meeting Today

NANAIMO, July 13 (CP) — In an effort to end the strike at the Imperial Laundry Company here, where 30 women workers walked out June 9, a meeting of labor and management will be held tomorrow under the sponsorship of Mayor George Muir.

Three representatives of management and three from the Laundry Workers Union Local No. 1 (CIO) will participate in the conference. Mayor Muir will act as chairman.

The Provincial Labor Department will not participate because the issue now is before the courts with the strikers charged with participation in an illegal strike under the new Labor Code.

The strike was called when two women employees were dismissed for being absent from work without permission.

Arrangements have been made for Hon. E. T. Kenney, Acting Minister of Labor, to attend the July 22 Nanaimo Police Court proceedings in the strike case. He will represent the Labor Conciliation Board with reference to "questions for reference" asked by the Special Prosecutor F. S. Cunliffe. These questions are to clarify the exact status of the laundry workers in relations to newly amended labor legislation and under new procedure must be "referred" to the Board as a preliminary to prosecution procedure.

Coast Youth Collapses After Soccer Game

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 13 — Twenty-four-year-old William Leslie is in good condition in General Hospital following his collapse at Callister Park in Vancouver Saturday.

The youth had been playing soccer at the Park and had collided with another player, William Leigh of Nanaimo, B.C. He suffered a bad eye cut. However, he continued to play the second half of the game.

He collapsed in the Park dressing room atfer the match had ended.

YORK, Eng. (CP)—A resolution deploring the Government's requisitioning of large moorland and coastal areas for service training was unanimously adopted at a joint conference of the Preservation of Rural England Council and the York Civic Trust Association.

Turn Out Lead Concentrates At Lucky Jim

By ANGUS DAVIS

The six new lead cells were thrown into the circuit at the Lucky Jim mill on July 12 and they are turning out lead concentrates there in substantial quantity, as well as zinc.

The Lucky Jim Mine, as it is still called in the Slocan, is now Zincton Mines Ltd., and a subsidiary of Sheep Creek Mines.

The mill is running at approximately its capacity of 350 tons a day.

This lead ore was found in an extensive area, recently opened up in the upper levels of the mine and further into the hill than any of the mine workings had so far penetrated. As it would have meant an excessive handling of the ore to get it down to the mill through the mine a short aerial tramway was built to drop it down the sidehill to the mill and this tram is functioning well and effecting a material saving in costs as compared with any other method of getting it there.

A. E. Jukes, President of Sheep Creek Mines Ltd has been at the mine and left for the coast on the 13th.

Says Bitterness Led To Odlum Criticism

VICTORIA, July 13 (CP)—Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C. (P. C., Nanaimo), says "Progressive-Conservative bitterness" over the fact that old age pensions were not increased to more than $30 a month led to Col. Douglas Harkness' (P.C., Calgary) criticism of Major-Gen. Victor Odlum's handling of troops. Gen. Pearkes was here today en route home from Ottawa.

He said that "feelinig was running high when the Government would give old age pensioners no more money and at the same time brought in amendments to give diplomats, with only five or 10 years' service, good pensions."

ST. BONIFACE, Man (CP)—Two men recently appeared before City Council requesting $30 bounty money for six coyote cubs caught within the city limits. The men told Council that they were caught in traps set for rabbits.

Willingness of the People As a Whole Lacking in Russian Bloc

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

Now that the Russian "bloc" of satellite nations in Eastern Europe has been designated clearly we shall find it illuminating if we pause to devote a bit of thought to the meaning of the term "bloc."

A bloc of nations, in its generally accepted sense, is a group which has willingly combined to achieve some objective of common interest. Membership in the bloc is voluntary.

Now in examining the Russian bloc we find an interesting deviation from the ordinary definition. The element of willingness is lacking in much, if not all, of this association, that is, willingness on the part of the people as a whole in the various nations. For example, Hungary, Romania and Poland were among countries communized over protests by the United States and Britain that strong-arm methods were being employed so the will of the general public was being smothered.

FIGHT REDS

The most recent demonstration—and it has drawn shocked expressions from the Western world—is Czechoslovakia's withdrawal from the Paris Economic Conference on orders from Moscow. And in passing we can't overlook that Greek troops have been fighting a hot battle near the Albanian frontier against Red Guerrilla forces which Greece charges are supported by her Communistic neighbors and are aiming to establish a Communist state. A majority report of the United Nations Balkan Commission recently upheld the charge that Communistic Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria were aiding the Red Rebellion against the Athens Government.

RUSS BLOC UNHAPPY

So the Russian bloc is an unwilling and unhappy one. The mere fact that a Communist Government may be in control of a country doesn't necessarily mean that it speaks for the population as a whole. It means that the opponents of the government are, for the time being, either afraid to protest or are unable to register a useful opposition.

Moscow had several reasons for creating this bloc. One was to spread Communism. Another was to increase the political and economic prestige of the Soviet Union. A third and very important one, was to extend its sphere of influence Westward for military security.

UNSTABLE BARRIER

On paper the bloc is a formidable one that at first glance would seem to fulfill all the purposes for which it was built. However, when we consider that it is made up of unwilling units we see that it provides a highly unstable barrier between Russia and the Western democracies which she distrusts so much.

It is unstable because it cuts across a section of Europe which includes countries that long have been famous for their love of liberty and for their fierce defence of freedom. Among them are sturdy fighting folk like the Bohemians, the Serbs, the Poles, the Czechs, the Slovaks and the Finns.

FIGHTING RACES

Can any doubt that Russia will have to sit on the lid of this melting-pot? She herself, better than anyone else, must realize this because many of the populations in her bloc belong to her own Slavic race of fighters who so often have revolted against oppression.

Coercion isn't the right cement to hold a bloc together indefinitely.

Decreased Yields in Apple, Pear Crops Expected in Forks' District

Estimates on the tree fruit crops in the Grand Forks District are down from last year, but a good crop is expected, the weekly crop report issued from the office of E. C. Hunt, District Horticulturist, shows.

A drop of 35,000 crates is anticipated in the apple yield, while lesser decreases in the crabapple and pear crops are expected. Apple thinning was necessary in some orchards, it was pointed out.

Strawberry plots are producing abundantly and show only slight damage from rains, although a killing disease has been reported in a few patches and chlorosis has also appeared. The raspberries are beginning to ripen and an average crop is promised.

The report follows:

"Vegetation grew abundantly and livestock is in good shape. First cutting of hay has been completed but much of it deteriorated in quality during the rains. The second growth is very good. Grain crops in the Western sections of the District are very promising.

Commercial vegetables are doing well and it is expected that shipment of early potatoes will commence soon. The seed potato crop promises to be a success again. No disease has shown up in fields from local grown foundation seed but several fields planted with imported seed have shown considerable virus diseases as well as blackleg and rhizoctonia.

Seed crops are progressing favorably although considerable mildew has shown up on onions during the period. The carrot seed crop has not done as well up to the present as in other years and the plants have a stunted appearance. The crop has been saved from aphis and plant bug destruction by plane dusting. Considerable damage has been noticed to onion seedlings from root maggots. Corn seedlings have been doing poorly as 90 per cent appear infected with a disease that stunts the plants.

Stone fruit estimates, in boxes and crates, manufactured tonnage included, follow:

	1946	1947
Apples	97,564	62,500
Crabapples	711	800
Pears	2,506	2,000

VICTORIA, July 13 (CP) — High-ranking officials of the Canadian National Railway will arrive in Victoria Sept. 18 to confer with Premier John Hart in connection with the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and its proposed extension into the Peace River District, it is anounced by the Premier.

The C.N.R. party will include S.W. Fairweather, Vice-President in charge of research and development; M. W. Maxwell, Chief of development; K. M. Ralston, Mining Engineer, and F. V. Seibert, Industrial Commissioner stationed at Winnipeg.

Social Changes Give New Opportunities For Church in India

By TIM DICKSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WHITBY, Ont., July 13 (CP)—Political and social changes in modern India have given rise to new opportunities for the Christian church, David Gnanaprakasan Moses of Nagpur, India, said at the International Missionary Council. The Council, which has brought missionary leaders from 40 countries, Saturday reached the halfway mark of its two-week meeting.

"India is on the eve of achieving her full political independence," Mr. Moses said, "and in many of the Provinces she is acting as though she is already free."

Expects Production Of Atomic Materials By Private Interests

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP) — Reconstruction Minister Howe told the Commons Saturday there was no hope that production of atomic energy raw materials by private interests would appear in Canada in the future.

But for the present, he said, in answering questions by Howard Green (P.C., Vancouver South), the only production was that of the Government-owned Eldorado mining firm in the Northwest Territories whose uranium is used in the Chalk River, Ont., pilot plant.

Find Coast Boy

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 13 — Eleven-year-old Allen Jensen is safe at home today after he spent Friday night in an abandoned wagon in Burnaby.

The boy was found by police today following his disappearance Friday afternoon. He told police he had accompanied a man to the shack. Police found that the shack was an old wagon.

E. C. Senkler, Former Nelson Lawyer, Retires at Coast

VICTORIA, July 13 (CP)—Edmund C. Senkler, 82, Secretary of the British Columbia Law Society for 34 years, will retire from office Monday.

He was Gold Commissioner in the Yukon during the nectic gold rush days, and before going North practised law in Nelson, B.C.

Born in Brockville, Ont., Mr. Senkler came to British Columbia in 1896.

FOREST FIRES DOWN IN B.C.

VICTORIA, July 13 (CP) — Number of forest fires in B.C. to date is below that for a similar period in 1946, according to a report issued today by the Forest Service. To the week ending Saturday there were 476 fires, costing $19,634, as compared with 493 fires costing $26,652 in 1946.

A summary of fires to date showed 73 in the Nelson District, costing $1,067, as compared with 71, costing $2,846.

In 1945, the number of fires in B.C. for a similar period was 502, costing $11,255.

Fires burning last week numbered 10, fires occuring this week 64, extinguished this week, 49 and fires still burning, 25.

No Clear-Cut Answer for Defective Houses

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP) — The Government said Saturday that no concise, clear-cut answer could be given to the question of how many houses constructed under the Veterans Land Act Small Holding Project were "defective" because there is no precise definition of defective workmanship or defective materials and no known standard of what is perfect for comparison.

Elizabeth Detained At Race Course

ASCOT, Berks., England, July 12 (Reuters) — Princess Elizabeth, probably the most photographed girl in the world two days ago when her engagement to Lieut. Philip Mountbatten was announced, was stopped by a race course official as she tried to enter the paddock at Ascot today.

Princess Elizabeth, who attended the races with the King, Mountbatten and Princess Margaret, had left the paddock to mingle with the crowd and was stopped by a gateman as she tried to return. She was not wearing a member's badge and was detained until a detective stepped forward to identify her.

Ministerial Discretions In Income Tax Law Reduced to Two in Proposal

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said Saturday in the Commons that the number of "ministerial discretions" in the existing income tax law would be reduced from 43 to two under proposed government legislation, in introducing a government bill embodying sweeping changes in income tax legislation.

"Further," said Mr. Abbott, "these remaining two do not affect the amount of any tax payable."

One of the two changes requires the concurrence of the minister upon the change of a fiscal period of a taxpayer and the other gives the minister power to determine who shall be the taxpayer where multiple trusts are set up in favor of the same beneficiary.

NEXT SESSION

Indicating the government did not intend to proceed with the legislation at the current session of Parliament, Mr. Abbott said the purpose of introducing the bill now was to give members and others "full opportunity" to study it before the next session.

The result, of many months of study by finance and other authorities, the new and revolutionary bill, forecast in the last two government budget speeches, will bring simplicity and directness to the income Tax Act.

As one example of the simplification to be introduced, Mr. Abbott pointed out that the subject matter had been reduced to eight parts as compared to 18 parts previously.

In view of the reductions in "ministerial discretions" proposed, Mr. Abbott said it would not now be necessary to proceed with the income tax advisory board proposed in last year's legislation. He therefore would recommend that this board and appeals from ministerial discretions be repealed.

By the Starting Gate

What is the characteristic working machine of the present age?

Those interested in transport will name the motor-truck, which enters into every field of activity. But we have always had some kind of heavy duty road vehicles, even before the days of gasoline. The motor-truck does the work better than the old low-floored drays pulled by teams of Clydesdales, but it is the same work.

Anyone thinking of construction will think of the power-shovel, and its brother, the drag-line. But in the old days excavations were often made with horse-drawn hand-held scoops—primitive power-shovels.

To my mind, the bulldozer, the glorified grader, which, gasoline driven or oil driven, pushes unwanted earth, rocks and stumps before it, to cut new roads, tunnel through forests, and perform many varied kinds of service, is the work machine of the present age. In driving the Alaska Highway through the North Country, giant bulldozers worked in trios, three abreast, to plane a roadway through rough terrain, including forested country.

In every part of the Kootenay-Boundary, bulldozers are working today, doing their share of this most varied territory's work.

They are available everywhere, everybody is familiar with them, samples of their work are on display on every hand. They are every-day power machines, whose services can be hired.

I think we, in the Kootenay-Boundary, should act as if we were in the bulldozer age.

In all the Kootenay-Boundary, there should not be such a thing today as a sloping playground, whether attached to a school, or used for community play purposes.

All the larger municipalities own power equipment. Smaller unorganized communities can hire the work done. I have no doubt that if organizations were formed to take the work in hand, most communities would find the cost only nominal. A work bee, in conjunction with a bulldozer, is all that most communities would require. The smallest community is capable of the small financial outlay required.

RADIO WAS MENTIONED

Just to keep the record straight: In Saturday's By the Starting Gate, on the subject of "Captains Courageous," which was written in the Age of Steam, but filmed in the Age of Radio and Air Transportation, typographical errors made me say that radio was not mentioned in the screen portrayal. The correct reading would have been as follows:

"Radio was mentioned; not wireless, mind you—wireless, Morse-transmitting, was still some years away commercially, but radio, or voice-wireless, a post-war development."

OLD HOSS.

In the future, I think any Kootenay-Boundary community that hasn't a level playground should be regarded as backward.

Rural communities are up against a problem of their own, in that the land used for play purposes is usually privately owned. But where community committees are formed to consider provision for community play, some improvement can usually be brought about.

NELSON GROUNDS SHOULD BE MODEL

I have been hoping to read, in the case of Nelson, that the new City *Engineer has been requested to re*port upon a model plan for the Recreation Grounds, Nelson's oldest public playground.

Back in 1920, as I recall, I worked with a hoe filling ruts there, preparatory to a Trail soccer team coming over. That was a quarter of a century ago, and while one city council did put the grader to work on the baseball diamond, hoes and shovels still have to be used to make repairs.

Nelson's Recreation Grounds should be graded to a spirit-level standard. The earth along the North fence should be removed, and that along the Cedar Street end should be excavated. A sand surface should be provided to furnish playing conditions for baseball, softball, soccer, rugby, cricket, and field sports, all of which sports use it.

If it is absolutely necessary that trucks use the cinder track in front of the grand-stand and the Civic Centre, then the cinder track should be moved over bodily. But in my estimation, trucking on the cinder track should be absolutely forbidden. At present, every Spring and Fall, while the ground is wet, trucks servicing the Civic Centre or Curling Club cut deep ruts in the cinder track. In my opinion, there should be a truck entrance to the grounds from Cedar Street. Perhaps this will be taken care of in the plans for the proposed extension to the Curling Rink.

It is certainly time that this community asset, so widely used, should be given the benefit of the best engineering. It is more than just a glorified back yard. It should be brought up to the standard of the Civic Centre and Lakeside Park.

OLD HOSS.

Coast Scientist Says "Saucers" Were Remnants of Comet

VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP) — An anonymous scientist affiliated with the University of British Columbia, said that he saw Friday night "a group of seven" so-called 'flying saucers" shooting through the night sky.

The scientist, who asked that his name not be disclosed, described the objects as being flounder-shaped with little tails and exulding a flourescent-like light.

He explained them as remnants of a comet not yet discovered.

"They lasted only a few seconds, and dissolved when they hit the atmosphere," he said. "We are passing through the tail of a comet which has been here for 5,000 years. The object definitely was not foreign missles. No country could develop anything that fast."

Seek Radical New Legislation for Benefit of Disabled

VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP)—The Council for the Guidance of Handicapped Saturday was seeking radical new legislation for the benefit of the disabled. Rhona Kickley, Executive Secretary, said that the object of the drive was to obtain a Federal program for the handicapped civilian equal to those in other countries.

Indian Woman Dies From Severe Beating

VANCOUVER, July 12 (CP) — A severe beating caused the death today of an Indian woman, Christine Beauchine, 37, and police have booked a 37-year-old laborer for investigation.

The dead woman was admitted to St. Paul's Hospital July 1 suffering multiple bruises on the head and body, and a deep forehead gash.

Also sought in connection with her death are three men and women.

Pioneer Victoria Taxi Firm Sold

VICTORIA, B.C., July 13—C. and C. Taxi Service Limited, the oldest established taxi firm in Victoria, has been sold for $125,000.

Established in 1904 by A. A. Calwell, the history of the firm goes back to pioneering days in Victoria when it was composed of hacks and stables.

Edward Tucker of Victoria is the new manager.

Names of the interests that bought out the firm have not been disclosed.

Anscomb Boosts Lake Traffic

The ferry Anscomb, plying her maiden trips on the Main Lake run, contributed to an above average influx of traffic carried in the month of June.

In round trips numbering 94 the Nasookin and Anscomb carried 1833 passenger cars as compared with 1703 in June of last year. Paid passengers were also up, from 4686 in June 1946 to 4799 last month.

Round trips by the Nelson ferry in June were up from 1848 last year to 1864 in the last month. Considerably more passenger cars were carried during June 47,15,172 last month as compared with 13,481 at the same period in 1946.

The Castlegar ferry made the most round trips—2895. Passengers carried numbered 48,718 this year against 37,460 in June, 1946.
