Germans Strike at Allies in Dodecanese

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press Staff Writer

CAIRO, Oct. 3 (AP)—Germany unleashed a sea and air-borne attack against newly-won Allied positions on the Island of Kos in the narrow Aegean Sea today, striking back in her defence of Europe in a new theatre—the ancient battle-lanes of the Athenians and Spartans.

A terse British announcement of the air and amphibious attack on Allied-held Kos, second largest island in the Italian Dodecanese Group, added the cryptic statement:

"Necessary counter-measures have been taken by the defending forces."

It was not believed here that a German assault had yet been launched on a large scale.

Kos and its excellent airfield were seized by British parachute troops and sea-borne forces Sept. 22 along with Leros in the Dodecanese Group and the Greek Island of Samos to the North.

A dispatch from Ankara said Saturday that watchers from the Turkish Coast estimated at least 60 planes were hurled against Kos and Leros in a German attack last Saturday.

Possible Allied penetration of the Aegean much farther than has been announced officially was seen also in the Turkish dispatches which told of reports from steamer passengers that the Greek Island of Khios (Chios), midway between the Dodecanese and the Dardanelles, had been occupied by the Allies. The passengers said also that they heard cannonading from the direction of Mytilene (Lesbos), another Greek island 50 miles South of the Dardanelles.

Previously, refugees from Castelrosso, another of the Dodecanese Islands, said that Southernmost island of the group also had been occupied by the Allies. There has been no confirmation, however, of this report.

Any sea forces the Germans mustered in the Aegean for today's attack necessarily were small, since they are forced to rely on surface craft captured from the Greeks and Italians or hastily constructed after the occupation of Greece by Germany and her satellites.

Crete, however, 70 miles South of the Greek mainland and little more than 100 miles below Kos, affords excellent air bases for German thrusts at the Allied island positions.

Allied naval forces have been reported in the Aegean Islands from time to time, but the position of German-occupied Crete probably hold Allied surface activity to hit and run operations.

The size of the British forces occupying the islands has not been revealed but they are believed to be well dug in and probably prepared to meet stiff enemy thrusts. They also have the assistance of the Greek inhabitants and the Italian garrisons which went over to the Allies after the Italian capitulation.

Big Bomber Force Again Heads for Continent

LONDON, Oct. 4 (Monday)—(AP.)—Large formations of heavy R.A.F. bombers headed over the continent for the third consecutive night last night after wide daylight sweeps by United States medium bombers against enemy airfields in France and Holland.

Residents on the Southeast coast of England said the R.A.F. formations appeared larger than the R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. groups which dropped 500 tons of bombs on Munich Saturday night.

In one of the day's sweeps Fighting French pilots, flying medium bombers, attacked a power station on the outskirts of Paris. The fliers said bombs and cannon shell hit the targets, and huge orange flames and a 3000-foot pillar of smoke rose in the sky.

The Paris radio said five buildings were destroyed and eight persons were killed and 40 injured in a Southeast suburb.

AUSSIES TAKE AIR, SEA BASE OF FINSCHHAFEN

Famous African Unit Wins Base in Final Charge

JAPS FLEE

By OLEN CLEMENTS
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Oct. 3 (AP)—The bitterly defended air and sea base at Finschhafen in Northeast New Guinea was captured Saturday morning by Australia's famed 9th Division in a final charge that drove the Japanese defenders before them.

Supported by a damaging aerial assault by American bombers, the Australians attacked the village from two directions and overcame opposition from the enemy's pillbox defences.

Japanese marines who defended the base held on as long as possible and then scattered before the Australians' rifle and machine-gun fire.

Some Japanese took to the hills and jungle and others fell on the field.

There was no mention of the Australian "diggers" taking any prisoners in their final assault. No official estimate had been given of the size of the garrison defending Finschhafen.

Elements of the Australian division which took Finschhafen originally landed 12 miles East of Lae on Sept. 4. While another force which landed only 10 days ago six miles North of Finschhafen was held on the Northern outskirts of the village by fixed defences, the Lae force fought through 48 miles of the worst jungle country in New Guinea to make the capture.

Finschhafen is the third major Japanese position to fall since Sept. 12 when Salamaua fell to the Allies. Lae was captured Sept. 16.

The Australian 9th Division won fame for its action at El Alamein with the British 8th Army. Later it was brought from the desert in Egypt and given extensive training in jungle warfare.

NOW CONTROL GULF

The capture of Finschhafen by breaking through fixed Japanese defences gave the Allies complete control of Huon Gulf which overlooks Japanese-held New Britain only 70 miles away. An Allied spokesman said 100 bodies of Japanese marines, generally considered the enemy's best troops, were found at Finschhafen when the Australians broke through.

The capture of Finschhafen in 10 days was Gen. Douglas MacArthur's shortest operation yet against a major Japanese position. Lae, 60 miles to the West, fell in 12 days.

In other campaigns, at Buna, Gona and Munda, weeks were required to rout the Japanese from their machine-gun emplacements such as were encountered at Finschhafen, a one-time German missionary village.

Four Nova Scotia Miners Killed

GLACE BAY, N. S., Oct. 3 (CP.)—Four coal miners were killed late yesterday when they fell from a lift in No. 2 colliery here and plunged 500 feet to the bottom of the shaft. The miners, with five others, were coming to the surface on what was described as a "makeshift" lift.

Those killed were Albert Chipman, 56, Thomas Foley, 64, James Stevenson, 50, and Carl Adamson, 28. All except Adamson were married.

The men were on a lift improvised from a large eight-ton tank used to hoist coal through the shaft. The regular cage was undergoing its regular monthly inspection at the time.

A wooden platform was placed over the tank, and a wooden "umbrella" fastened overhead to shield the men from falling debris. This conveyance had been used before, and was regarded as safe.

When some projection on the lift snagged the shaft wall, the platform tilted the men off. The survivors were able to seize something before they slid off the edge of the swaying bucket platform.

CBC Worst System in World Says Sir Thomas Beecham

VANCOUVER, Oct. 3 (CP.)—Sir Thomas Beecham conducted the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra today, but not before a characteristic interview in which he declared the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation was "not only the worst broadcasting system in the world but has the reputation of being the worst."

Sir Thomas asserted the CBC was "weak" and "spineless" and blamed it for what he said was a constant migration of Canadian musical talent to the United States."

He had a good word, however, for Canadian music but cautioned "it is not good enough to regard music as something that is to be heard on records or kept on library shelves. Beethoven, Wagner, Tschaikovsky, Bach wrote their music to be played in concert halls."

ALLIES KNOCK DOWN 24 NAZI FIGHTERS

Airfields, Munich Hammered in Continuous Attacks

ENGLAND RAIDED

By ROBERT STURDEVANT
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 3 (AP)—United States bombers attacked enemy airfields in France and Holland without loss today following a heavy R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. attack on Munich Saturday night less than 48 hours after the Nazi Party's birthplace was blasted by Africa-based American heavy bombers.

Twenty - four German fighters were shot out of the air by R.A.F., R.C.A.F. and Allied fighters during a series of daylight sweeps. An Air Ministry official said this was the greatest number destroyed by R.A.F. in any one day's offensive operations over enemy territory. Allied losses were four R.A.F. medium bombers and 11 fighters.

The Air Ministry and United States Military Headquarters announced that medium bombers attacked airfields at Woensdrecht, Haamstede and Amsterdam-Schipol in Holland this morning and the Beauvais-Tille airfield in France late this afternoon.

Escorting R.A.F., R.C.A.F. and Allied fighters shot down 14 enemy fighters, to the loss of two Spitfires.

The Beauvais-Tille airfield, about 45 miles North of Paris, is the most-bombed airfield in France, having been attacked nine times in the last 30 days.

The Paris Radio said the "Anglo-American Air Force" bombed the Southeastern suburbs of Paris during the afternoon.

German - controlled radios fell silent Sunday night, indicating the possibility of nocturnal raids.

DROP 500 TONS

Five hundred tons of bombs were rained on Munich in a 25-minute attack the Air Ministry News Service said, with 10 two-ton bombs dropped every minute.

Through the official news agency D.N.B., the Germans acknowledged "major damage in several quarters of the town" as a result of the British raid. Nine bombers were lost from this and other night operations including attacks on the German Ruhr and Rhineland and minelaying in enemy waters.

Formations of American medium bombers, escorted by Allied Spitfires, winged Eastward in great waves after daylight to hit Nazi fighter plane bases at Woensdrecht, Haamstede and Amsterdam-Schipol.

The Spitfires destroyed seven enemy planes without loss. All the bombers returned safely, Headquarters said, and the daylight procession continued with other formations of medium bombers striking at a German airfield at Beauvais-Tille in France late in the afternoon. These planes were covered by R.A.F., R.C.A.F. and Allied Spitfires.

Three of the seven enemy planes fell to the Canadian "Indian" squadron led by Sqdn. Ldr. R. W. McNair of North Battleford, Sask.

Fo. D. A. MacDonald of Rockglen, Sask., pilot of one of the many Canadian bombers in the Munich raid, said the Nazis, seeking to light up the attacking aircraft, began by dropping flares 150 miles from the target and laid a complete flare path by dropping some from a great height and others beneath the attacking bombers.

McNair himself bagged a Focke-Wulf 190—one of 12 which sought to intercept the Allied raiders. As his victim went down the engine of McNair's Spitfire gave out and, while attempting to glide over the Channel, dropped 9,000 feet before it picked up.

There was some aerial activity over Britain itself Saturday night and London had a short alert when one or two enemy planes penetrated to the metropolitan area and dropped bombs at scattered points. Little damage was done and no injuries were reported. British defences brought down one raider.

R.A.F. light bombers attacked electrical power and transformer stations between Paris and the Brest Peninsula under escort by squadrons of fighters, which shot down 10 challenging German planes, the Air Ministry announced tonight.

Typhoon fighter-bombers, escorted by fighters, were reported to have attacked Nazi shipping at Flushing.

"Four medium bombers and nine fighters are safe," the communique said.

RETREATING GERMANS FACE SEVERAL POSSIBLE "DUNKIRKS"

"Dunkirk" evacuations may become bitter pills the Germans will be forced to swallow as they continue their retreat in the face of advancing Allied armies. On this map, small dark arrows show where the Nazis face such "Dunkirk" flights by sea. The present front of advancing Allied armies is shown by the heavy black line, while possible points of Allied invasion are indicated by the white arrows. Neutral countries are shaded on this map.

RUSS CRACK PRONYA RIVER LINE

Five Boats Taking Nazis From Caucasus Bombed

CRIMEA RAIDED

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 3 (AP) — The Red Army cracked the Pronya River line 28 miles East of Mogilev in White Russia today, Moscow announced tonight, while Soviet airmen sank five troop-filled German boats apparently trying to evacuate the final Nazi rearguard from the enemy's shattered foothold in the Caucasus opposite the Crimea.

A midnight supplement to the regular Soviet communique said the Russians had smashed across the Pronya, threatening to turn the enemy's Upper Dnieper defence line, and hurled the Germans "into a hasty retreat" in Central White Russia.

More than 2,000 Germans were killed and 70 villages seized in the drive toward Mogilev and Gomel, to the South, said the communique recorded by the Soviet Monitor.

The Caucasian campaign apparently was in its last stage. Berlin's High Command admitted the loss of Staro-Tamanskaya, virtually the last Axis foothold on the Kerch Strait East of the Crimea, and the Russians said their airmen killed hundreds of German troops in that area, ashore and at sea.

Three barges and several motor boats filled with Germans and 60 trucks were destroyed, the communique said, and three Nazi companies dispersed or annihilated.

The Soviet airmen also struck into the centre of the Crimea, a Moscow broadcast said, touching off 26 heavy explosions amid freight cars laden with enemy war equipment at the Dzankoi Junction.

Dzankoi is on the line running Northwestward out of the Crimea to Kherson—the last available Nazi escape route by land from the peninsula. The other railway running North to Melitopol already is under Soviet artillery fire, and the latest Russian aerial announcement said three German troop trains were wrecked at Melitopol.

Orsha and Mogilev also were pounded by Russian airmen ranging ahead of Soviet ground forces converging on those key junctions in White Russia.

Berlin told of heavy fighting along the Central Dieper, the High Command asserting its army had "succeeded in further narrowing the enemy bridgehead," inflicting heavy losses on the attacking Red Army.

This announcement did not make clear whether the Soviet bridgehead was on the Eastern or Western bank, but a propaganda broadcast later located the fighting in the Dniepropetrovsk sector and claimed that numerous Russian attempts to cross to the Western bank had been frustrated.

The fall of Staro-Tamanskaya in the Caucasus left the Germans only a few miles of untenable marshes on the Peninsula opposite the Crimea. Staro-Tamanskaya is 10 miles across the Strait from the Crimean port of Kerch, which already is under Soviet air attacks.

The freeing of the Caucasus and the Soviet attacks near Zaporozhe apparently foreshadowed an early Soviet attempt to liberate the Crimea by a pincers movement. A Soviet break-through across the Middle Dnieper also would imperil Nazi garrisons there.

Big California Fire Takes Five Lives

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 3 (AP)—A timber and brush fire which has swept 6500 acres and taken a toll of five dead and 17 injured broke out in new fierceness today and was reported completely out of control.

Additional fire fighting experts came here by plane to augment hundreds of civilian and military personnel battling the raging blaze in hilly country 45 miles Southeast of San Diego.

Naval officials pressed an investigation into the deaths of the five and the injury of 75 other Marines, all trapped by the flames yesterday along with two civilian fire fighters.

Bombers Start Huge Fires in Jap Held Akyab

NEW DELHI, Oct. 3 (CP)—Huge fires, one of which was visible for 60 miles, were started when R.A.F. Wellingtons bombed the town of Akyab in Burma, a joint Allied communique said Saturday.

Other bomber formations attacked Japanese troop positions at Gwason on the Mayu Peninsula and the village of Homalin on the Upper Chindwin River. Direct hits were scored on buildings and huts and Mohawks, taking part in the Homalin attack, followed up the bombing with machine-gun strafing.

Beaufighters swept enemy shipping and land installations along the Chindwin and Irrawaddy Rivers. A large river steamship was left in flames and four paddle steamships, two smaller steamships and several sampans were attacked.

All Allied aircraft returned to base safely, the communique said.

American medium bombers dumped more than 36 tons of explosives on Japanese troop concentrations and rail installations at Thazi, 60 miles South of Mandalay in Burma, yesterday without losing a plane, U.S. Headquarters announced.

The bombers destroyed much rolling stock and trackage and levelled nearby buildings with direct hits. One formation destroyed enemy-occupied barracks West of the yards.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 3 (CP.) — Mrs. Watson Andrews of Oakville, Man., was fatally injured and nine other persons injured, six of them severely, in a head-on collision of two automobiles 20 miles West of Winnipeg last night.

BIG SHIP WITH OVER 500 ABOARD LOST

British Liner Ceramic Believed Sunk by Sub in Atlantic

DETAILS MYSTERY

CAPETOWN, Oct. 3 (AP) — News of one of the worst ocean tragedies of the war—the sinking without a trace of the 18,700-ton British liner Ceramic with more than 500 passengers aboard last November—was officially released today by naval authorities.

The Ceramic was sunk, presumably by an enemy submarine somewhere in the Atlantic while en route to Capetown from England. The official announcement was withheld almost a year because of uncertainty over the fate of passengers and crew.

The exact number of casualties was not known but it was reported the ship carried more than 500 passengers and authorities are still without official news of any survivors.

The Germans announced in December they had sunk the Ceramic with a submarine torpedo in heavy seas and claimed to have picked up one survivor at the time. A person representing himself as the survivor later broadcast over the German radio a version of his rescue by a Nazi U-boat.

According to the German version the Ceramic sank quickly during a gale and lifeboats could not be launched.

The passenger list included many South African and Australian families which were completely wiped out. The German announcement had said the ship was carrying troops to North Africa.

The Ceramic, owned by Shaw, Savill and Albion Co., had its home port at Southampton, England. It was built in 1913 at Belfast and was 635 feet long. It normally ran between Australia and England.

The ship battled a submarine in the South Atlantic in 1942, and was said to have probably sunk the submarine. She had left Liverpool carrying 360 passengers to South Africa but turned in at Rio de Janeiro with fuel and stores exhausted after that U-boat encounter.

Czechs Ask Mutual Assistance Pact With Soviet Russia

LONDON, Oct. 3 (AP) — The Czechoslovak Government announced yesterday its desire for a mutual assistance pact with Soviet Russia despite the desires of both Foreign Secretary Eden and the Polish government for a delay.

Eden had asked Eduard Benes, President of the Czechoslovak Government to hold off his trip to Moscow until Eden has another opportunity to confer with the Soviet Foreign Commissar, Vyacheslav Molotov.

8th Army Chops Off Big Area on Adriatic Side

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Oct. 3 (AP) — The 5th Army troops have struck up to the German river line North-east of Naples by entering Benevento, while the British 8th Army plunging up the famous road of conquerors has lopped off a wide area on the Adriatic side of Italy, it was announced today.

The Germans have pulled back from the entire Melfi salient in the Central sector, official reports disclosed.

Benevento, 32 miles Northeast of Naples, is high in the mountains on the main lateral road and railroad running from the big port, and dominates the valley of the Calore River which flows into the Volturno River. It is along the Volturno and Calore Rivers that the Nazis have been expected to make a stand against the Allied advance along the Appian way to Rome.

In Corsica, Moroccan Goumiers and sharpshooters seized Teghime Hill, the "Key to Bastia," after beating off violent counter-attacks and now hold the whole ridge dominating Bastia and Biguglia Lake, a French communique announced.

French shock troops and American Rangers closed in on the Bastia area in nearby sectors, routing several German detachments and pushing to the Northern point of Cap Corse. All Corsica thus has been cleared of Nazis except for a strip along the East coast from the area of Cervione to Luri on Cap Corse. This strip, virtually cut in two, is some 30 miles long and four or five miles wide at the most, and the Germans are attempting to escape by sea.

Fifth Army armored units also made contact with deploying Nazi elements along the West coast just North of Naples.

The 5th Army captured Frigento, 45 miles inland from Naples in clearing the central salient.

The front line now runs from Naples to Benevento, to Frigento, and almost due North to the mouth of the Fortore River on the Adriatic coast.

A great area was chopped off by the collapse of the enemy's Melfi salient. Towns occupied here by the right wing of the 5th Army and by the 8th Army along the Adriatic include Vallata, Monteleone, Biccari, Orsara, Savignano, Torremaggiore, Lucera, Apricena, Bisaccia, Grottaminardo and Lesina.

While the main battlefield of the immediate future appears to be the plains between Naples and Rome, it is the Adriatic coastal area that has been the historic route of armies invading Italy.

Most such armies have come from the North, but the 8th Army, which includes the Canadian 1st Division, is reversing this direction on the conquerors' highway.

The Adriatic coastal road leads to the Emilian Way, running into the heart of the Po Valley. There are no high mountains there such as would face the 5th Army North of Rome, but the Germans surely would not leave this door into the strategic Po Valley open, and undoubtedly are planning a stand somewhere between the Fortore River and Rimini, where the Po Valley opens like a fan.

Much of yesterday's fighting occurred in heavy rains that hindered progress in some places. Bad weather grounded a large part of the Allied air fleets, but American fighter bombers hit enemy transportation in the Isernia-Campobasso area and a bridge at Cancello.

With yesterday's advance, the Allies gained control of the main water sources for Naples, Bari, Brindisi and Taranto, whose water supply had been reduced to dangerous levels by demolitions of aqueducts. Engineers began repairing them with Italians as laborers.

AIR DAMAGE HEAVY

Headquarters announced that photographs showed heavy damage in the Friday attack by African-based Liberators on the Messerschmitt aircraft works and Henschel locomotive plant at Wiener Neustadt in Austria.

Bombs damaged a large assembly shop in a factory producing Messerschmitts and also struck a camouflaged hangar, other buildings, stores of materials, and railway tracks.

Several hits were scored on a Henschel Works building making locomotive tenders, the official statement added, and in storage areas and sheds, while bombs fell on the North end of the Setyr Daimler Works making armored cars.

Three Allied planes were lost yesterday in attacks that included destruction of 20 motor trucks and damaging of 25 more in the Isernia-Campobasso area some 50 miles Northeast of Naples, and three direct hits on the bridge at Cancello. R.A.F. Spitfires downed three German planes in another sortie.

The enemy retreat North of Naples gave every indication of being a hard-fought one.

"It should be a masterly retreat," said an Allied military spokesman. "They have got Rommel in Italy and he is a master at rearguard fighting. He ought to be. He's done a damn sight more of it than anyone else."

NAZI SUBS TOOK BEATING IN CONVOY BATTLE

Corvette Tells of Days and Nights of Fighting

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Oct. 3 (CP Cable)—The wolf pack of submarines that trained its torpedo tubes on an Atlantic convoy at the moment Prime Minister Churchill was speaking in the British House of Commons two weeks ago took something of a beating.

Ships of the United Nations were lost, too, in a running battle waged for days across vast stretches of the turbulent North Atlantic.

The British Frigate Itchen and the British Corvette Polyanthus also were sunk, it was announced in London Friday night.

Just what kills they scored likely won't be chalked up by the Royal Canadian Navy until the shooting on the Atlantic has subsided. The convoy got through to its destination, this North Atlantic port.

There's one corvette—she was in this "kafuffle", as her skipper of Saint John, N. B., calls it. All she did, her modest sailors say, was help beat off wolf-pack attacks for several days and nights, engage a surface submarine at close range, pick up half the crew of a torpedoed merchantman and then bring them safely into port.

For several blistering seconds this corvette had a sea battle. There was a submarine on the surface near her for that time, but it was long enough for her to score a hit on the U-boat.

Seven seconds doesn't allow much time for the intricacies of gunnery at sea, to get full play, but the men had time enough to get their oerlikons in action.

The actual signal brought many Canadian ships into the fight. That's all that can be said now for publication.

But the corvette still had something to add to her record. She was ordered to stand by a merchant ship that was torpedoed. The Canadian craft and another vessel stood faithfully by with the torpedoing sub presumably still in the vicinity, and carried out the ticklish job of taking off her crew. They took them off to a man, and not a seaman was lost by torpedo or otherwise.

That was something in the way of routine for the corvette which probably has brought more survivors into port than any other Canadian corvette.

Nazi Sub Rammed and Sunk

LONDON, Oct. 3 (CP) — A German submarine, depth-charged to the surface in an attack by allied destroyers in the Mediterranean recently, was rammed and sunk by one of the destroyers when it attempted to escape, the Admiralty announced Saturday.

Five officers and 38 Nazi crew members were picked up.

The British destroyer Eaton rammed the German craft after it and the Greek destroyer Pindos had forced the U-boat to the surface.

Luke Appling and Stan Musial Win 1943 Batting Titles

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP.) — Luke Appling, shortstop for the Chicago White Sox, and Stan Musial, outfielder for the championship St. Louis Cardinals, won the 1943 batting titles in the American and National Leagues, Appling with the lowest average in the junior loop in 35 years and Musial with the highest mark in the senior circuit in six years.

The final tabulation of figures shows Appling banged out 192 hits in 568 times at bat for an average of .328, the lowest since Ty Cobb hit .324 for Detroit in 1906. It is the second time Appling has won the batting crown. He hit .388 in 1936, Ted Williams, of the Boston Red Sox now in the United States Navy, won the batting title a year ago with .356.

Musial went to bat 617 times and socked 230 hits for an average of .376, the highest in the National loop since Ducky Medwick's .374 for the Cards in 1937. Ernie Lombardi, then with the Boston Braves, won the crown last year with .330

Rudy York of Detroit and Bill Nicholson of the Chicago Cubs each won the runs-batted-in and home-run championships in their respective leagues. York hit 34 homers and drove in 16 runs in the American circuit. This compares to Williams' 36 homers and 137 runs batted in last year.

Nicholson whacked 29 roundtrippers in the National loop and batted in 128 runs. Last year Mel Ott, of the Giants, topped the senior circuit with 30 homers while his teammate, Johnny Mize, led the runs batted in with 110.

Nazi Prisoner Recaptured

OTTAWA, Oct. 3 (CP.)—Eckbert J. Brosig, 23-year-old Nazi Air Force private who escaped from an Ontario prisoner-of-war camp two months ago, was recaptured today in Ottawa's Union Station.

Brosig, who fled the Ontario camp Aug. 5, was taken into custody by Detective Edgar Kedey of the Ottawa Police Department.

When Brosig escaped from the Ontario camp, officials said guards had uncovered plans for a mass escap of prisoners-of-war from the camp.

Brosig, believed a leader of the escape plot, was said to have escaped through tunnels, dug laboriously by prisoners with shovels fashioned from tin cans. His escape tipped off the plot before the mass exit could be made.

More than 100 food kits, which an official said must have taken months to put together, were found. They were made up of food from their own supply and from parcels sent them through the Red Cross.

A.F.L. Refuses to Admit C.I.O. to Joint Committee

BOSTON, Oct. 3 (AP) — The American Federation of Labor today credited the rival Congress of Industrial Organizations with only 2,250,000 members, less than half of the C.I.O.'s claimed membership while reporting its own paid up membership as nearly 6,000,000.

This estimate of C.I.O. strength was contained in a hitherto unpublished note which A.F.L. leaders handed to British Trade Unionists last February in explanation of the A.F.L.'s refusal to admit the C.I.O. and the four independent Railroad Brotherhoods to the Anglo-American Trade Union Committee. The document also set forth the A.F.L.'s reasons for rejecting the British proposals for a three-power committee which would include the Soviets.

"AIR STRENGTH JUST ENOUGH AND THAT'S ALL"

SEATTLE, Oct. 2 (AP.)—The air might of the United Nations over Italy has been just barely enough to get the job done and that's all, Gen. H. H. Arnold, Commanding General of the U. S. Army Air Forces, said here tonight.

Speaking at the University of Washington Stadium War Games, held in connection with the drive to recruit 9000 new Boeing aircraft workers, General Arnold credited the United States and British Air Forces with saving "our troops a Salerno."

"We had to employ every available airplane that our North African force could muster," he added. "We could not have done with less—as a matter of fact, we had to gather these planes together from every source possible—from our training centers, from depots, from modification centers, to do the trick.

"Understand me, from my own intelligence sources, I know that to be true.

"The task would have been easier with more planes—it could not have been done with less."

New Jap Attacks Launched in Southeastern China

CHUNGKING, Oct. 3 (AP) — Reinforced Japanese divisions have launched a new offensive in Southeastern China and the Chinese High Command announced today its troops had been forced to give up several towns including the railway city of Suancheng, 80 miles South of Nanking.

The Japanese appeared to be aiming at dispersing Chinese concentrations and forestalling attacks on their strongholds in the triangle formed by Shanghai, Nanking and Hangchow.

The action was centred in Northern Chekiang, Southern Kiangsu and Southern Anhwei Provinces.

"The fighting is assuming more and more extensive proportions," the Chinese communique said.

Field Marshal to Tour Canada

OTTAWA, Oct. 3 (CP.) — Field Marshal Sir John Dill, senior representative in Washington of the British Chiefs of Staff, will begin Oct. 5 a flying tour which will take him from Vancouver to Hamilton, and during which he will visit a number of Canadian Army and Air Force establishments, aircraft and gun plants.

The Defence Department announced tonight that Sir John will arrive in Vancouver Oct. 5 and visit the Boeing aircraft factory and R.C.A.F. station at Sea Island. The following day he will visit the school of infantry at Vernon, B. C

Beauty Parlors Change Tariff Only by Permit

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 3.—B. C. beauty parlor operators are asked by the Services Administration to report to the nearest regional or local office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, any additional service or services to consumers instituted after October 12, 1941. "Additional services" are those rendered since—but not during—the basic period September 15 to October 11, 1941.

Unless beauty parlor operators obtain from the Services Administration written approval of any new service and price, they are contravening the Board regulations.

The Board wishes to establish that new service prices are not in excess of basic period rates which may have been charged by a former operator, if transfer of ownership has taken place.

Umberto Likes Canadians

SOMEWHERE IN ITALY, Sept. 28 (delayed) (CP Cable) — Crown Prince Umberto of Italy in his first press interview since the Italian capitulation told this correspondent he would like to pay tribute to the "all around thoroughness" of Canadian troops he met on the road after his dramatic escape from Rome which he said had been filled with rumors of the death of Count Galeazzo Ciano, Mussolini's son-in-law and Italian Minister to the Vatican.

He said that this morning Canadian soldiers had "courteously" helped his chauffeur to get his car out of a ditch. "They did that," he said "with the usual all-around thoroughness I noticed while going along our way."

During the interview, which was given in French in a small dining room of a small inn, Prince Umberto said he was a "great admirer" of the United Nations air power and of the precision bombing of our airmen.

Speaking of his family the Italian Crown Prince said that his wife, Princess Maria Jose and their four children had safely reached Switzerland.

Norwegians See U-Boat Crews Stage Mutinies

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 3 (AP) — New reports from Norway confirm previous rumors of declining morale and mutinous tendencies among German submarine crews in far Northern Norway, a Norwegian Legation statement said today.

Townspeople in Tromsoe, one of the largest U-boat bases in Norway, said in the middle of the night heavy fighting between U-boat officers and their marines can often be seen in the streets.

Mutiny also had been reported in Nazi crews in Norway after the Allied anti-submarine warfare took a heavy toll of submarines in the Spring and early Summer. It was reported June 26 that six crews had refused to go to sea, and that 200 officers and men had been sent to prison at Oslo.

Battleship Dakota Made Big Score

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP.) — The battleship which shot down 32 planes in one engagement and then sank three Japanese cruisers, was identified today by the Navy Department as the U.S.S. South Dakota.

Under command of Capt. Thomas L. Gatch—now Rear Admiral Gatch, Judge Advocate General of the Navy—the South Dakota made her big score the night of Nov. 14 off the point of Savo Island in the Solomons.

BASRA—Indian Sappers are performing an amazing engineering feat on the Persian Gulf where it was necessary to have a bridge for shipment of war supplies from Basra to Russia. Because of a muddy river bottom, seasonal gales of 70 miles an hour, a four-and-a-half knot tide, and the necessity of providing a 40-foot overhead clearance for inland traffic, there seemed to be insurmountable difficulties. The British officer in charge conceived the idea of building a bridge on piles, with a sinking span in the centre, and the Indian Sappers have carried out his instructions. A sinking span has never been used before in the history of bridge building, but after exhaustive tests the Brigadier in charge and engineering critics from far and wide are convinced that this simple alternative to a raising span has come to stay.

PRIORITY SALES PLAN FOR CANNED MILK

Guarantees Supplies for Babies, Essential Users

TO ISSUE CARDS

OTTAWA, Oct. 3 (CP) — A system of priority sales for evaporated milk to ensure supplies for babies and other essential users has been worked out in cooperation with the trade and went into effect today, the Prices Board announced tonight.

Stocks of evaporated milk which are not required for these essential users will be available to consumers generally.

"Babies will be guaranteed supplies of evaporated milk by the issuance of special evaporated milk cards," the Board said in a statement. "Others requiring evaporated milk for health reasons will also obtain evaporated milk cards.

"Institutions such as hospitals will be supplied with special purchase permits.

"Adequate supplies for sale without purchase documents will be allocated to those areas which normally depend on evaporated milk."

The Board said this is not a rationing plan because it affects a relatively small portion of the population.

The evaporated milk card has a maximum of 16 coupons attached. Each coupon is good for six 16-ounce tins of evaporated milk, or not more than 96 ounces if cans of other sizes are bought. If an applicant does not require the full amount of coupons, those not used will be detached by the local Ration Board before issuance.

The coupons have no expiry date, and the card is renewable three months after date of issuance.

Parents or guardians will obtain the new evaporated milk cards at their local ration board. If the baby is under two years old the parent or guardian must—

1. Present a medical prescription or doctor's formula to satisfy the local ration board that the infant is on a diet which requires evaporated milk; or

2. Present a certificate of need signed by a physician, public health nurse, day nursery, well-baby clinic or other recognized public health agency; or

3. Complete and sign a "consumer's application for evaporated milk forms" which are in the hands of all local Ration Boards.

The infant's ration book must be taken to the local Ration Board when the application is being made, unless the baby is less than a month old and a ration book has not been issued.

In applying for an evaporated milk card for a child two years old or over, or for a person who requires evaporated milk for health reasons, a doctor's certificate must be presented. If no certificate is presented, applicants will be obliged to complete a consumer's application for evaporated milk which must be signed by a doctor before the evaporated milk card is issued.

HALIFAX STRIKE "ILLEGAL"

OTTAWA, Oct. 3 (CP) — Labor Minister Mitchell has informed F. H. Hall of Montreal, Vice-President of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers Express and Station Employees (A.F.L) that a strike of Halifax freight handlers was "illegal."

Replying to a telegram from Mr. Hall saying that the freight handlers stopped work Saturday on the basis of press reports that the National War Labor Board had granted them an increase of only four cents an hour, Mr. Mitchell said action of the Union's members in refusing to handle shipments "shows flagrant disregard of the interests of the nation at war, the welfare of our fighting forces and those of our allies."

Wilk has received word here from Royal Canadian Air Force headquarters at Ottawa that her son, Flight Sergeant Henry Wilk, for the last year a prisoner of war in Germany, has been promoted to Warrant Officer, Class 1. Wilk was a prewar flier, and while on active service overseas reported regularly on the Kimberley service personnel whom he met.

Good news was also received concerning Pilot Officer Barney Allen, R. C. A. F., posted missing a fortnight ago. Further word from casualty headquarters to his parents in Kamloops state he is now a prisoner of war.

Horse Run Over Necessitates Train Repairs

A horse came to a sad end in the early morning hours of Saturday, under the wheels of the Westbound Crow train, somewhere West of Sentinel, the last Alberta point before the B. C. border. It was not seen by the engineer, and apparently came up from the left immediately in front of the cowcatcher, and was run over.

Subsequently it was found that the steam hose was ruptured at various points, where hanging low under the car couplings, and repairs at Cranbrook consumed a good part of an hour. The under part of the locomotive, as well as the cowcatcher, bore vestiges of horse, which led to positive identification of the cause of the "bump" that had been felt by members of the train crew.

Expect Gov't Decision on Labor Policy, Family Allowances

OTTAWA, Oct. 3 (CP) — Decisions of far-reaching importance to all Canadians, having to do with a new policy on labor and the proposal to pay family allowances, are expected to be reached by the Government this week.

For weeks the Government had had before it the unpublished report of the National War Labor Board, made after a wide inquiry into labor conditions.

It is understood this makes recommendations for a new labor code, compulsory collective bargaining with approved labor unions, and relief from wage restrictions of those in the lower income group.

In addition to these recommendations, the Government is reported to be studying a proposal to initiate a scale of family allowances to relieve the pinch of high living costs and heavy taxation as applied to lower-salaried people with large families.

Six Die as Big Bomber Crashes

SYDNEY, N. S., Oct. 3 (CP.)—The entire six-man crew of a big R. C. A. F. bomber were killed here late today when the plane crashed just after taking off from the Sydney airport. Cause of the crash is unknown.

AUSSIES WHISTLE BACK AT HUNS

CAIRO, Oct. 3 (AP)—Australian fighter pilots operating from a captured Italian airdrome in the Middle East are whistling back at the Germans with the Nazis' own whistles. The Australian squadron found an ammunition dump at the airfield containing German-made bombs with whistles attached. They fastened the whistles to their planes, four to a plane, and now are diving on the Germans in Italy with terrifying screeches.

Budapest Dispatch Says Nazis Made Peace Offers to Russ in 1942

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERNE, Oct. 3 —A Budapest dispatch to La Suisse yesterday brought into the open reports of Axis origin that Germany offered Russia an armistice in June, 1942, and that Russia now is expected to take surprising new political measures in relation to Germany comparable with those of 1939.

In 1939 Russia and Germany signed a non-aggression pact, a move which proved a prelude to Germany's opening hostilities against Poland.

(For several weeks Berlin propagandists have been busy circulating "denials" of rumors of a separate peace with Russia. The denials, apparently were planted with the objective of creating mistrust among the Allies.)

The Budapest dispatch attributed its information directly to a Rumanian Foreign Office Press conference.

Similar stories from Berlin, Bucharest and Vichy last week spoke of Russian negotiations through Japan.

The Budapest dispatch said official German denials served to increase rather than halt the rumors throughout the Balkans. Official Balkan circles were reported much concerned because any understanding might seriously involve their own positions.

The Budapest dispatch said Rumanian informants did not believe in an armistice in the full sense of the word but "in an event of a political nature which could surprise world opinion."

Private information, still of German origin, said that Russia was using the free German committee of officers organized in Moscow in discussions with the German military set, hoping that any armistice understanding would include replacement of the Nazi regime.

The reports of negotiations had become of such a serious nature that the Rumanian Premier Marshal Ion Antonescu, was said to have made a demand of Berlin for information and was assured that the German High Command was "firmly determined to defend Rumanian territory."

Housewives of Rossland Ask Probe of Waste

ROSSLAND, B. C., Oct. 3—Mrs. Kate Glover, Secretary-Treasurer of the Rossland Dairymen's Association was the guest speaker at a meeting of the local branch of the Housewives' League Friday night.

Mrs. Glover brought invoices showing that hay had steadily advanced from $16.60 per ton in November, 1940 to $25.70 in January, 1941, and up to $30.30 in September 1943. Only by drastic action, the threat to go on strike, had they been able to bring matters to a satisfactory agreement, stated the speaker, who gave dates, starting in December 1942, and continuing right up to the end of September, just past, of communications written to Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Mrs. Glover stated that with the rising cost of production Rossland dairymen could not continue to operate at the price which had been placed on Rossland milk, 10½ cents per quart to the consumer, and that they had been forced to take extreme measures.

The Association had been informed that the last test showed that the majority of dairies went 4 per cent butter fat content, which was above standard.

The C.C.F. Club, Junior and Senior Boards of Trade, the C.I.O., and W. K. Esling, M.P., had all sent wires to Ottawa on behalf of the Trail and Rossland dairymen stated Mrs. Glover and at 12 midnight preceeding the threatened strike a satisfactory agreement was reached whereby the price was allowed to be raised to the consumer to 13 cents per quart, with the government paying a subsidy of 2 cents per quart. Satisfactory promises were also made regarding the hay situation.

A question period followed Mrs. Glover's address.

HAY DEALERS NOT TO BLAME

A letter from S. B. Welliver of the Trail Wartime Prices and Trade Board advised the meeting that dealers were not receiving any more profit now than during the basic period, and that the producer was the man who was holding up the price of hay. This was written in reply to a letter sent by the Rossland Housewives League on behalf of the dairymen.

A letter from the Vancouver Consumers' Council asked Rossland to assist its Research Committee by taking a survey on a few items contained in the Cost-of-Living Index. Forms were given to the members to be filled in. These dealth with the quantity required, quality, cost of work clothes, amount of rent, conditions, and conveniences of such houses or apartments, also the district, size of family, occupation and salary. The Vancouver Consumers' Council expressed the view that this index was unsatisfactory, with which the Rossland League agreed.

A discussion took place regarding the raise recently of 4 cents per pound, of one brand of coffee.

APRICOTS DUMPED

A motion was passed that the Trail Wartime Prices and Trade Board be asked to investigate regarding a carload of apricots which was dumped owing to such an exorbitant price being placed on them that there was no sale.

There were also complaints regarding high price and alleged waste of cantaloupes. It was hoped that by calling attention now to these wastes, due to high prices, similar conditions would not happen next season.

It was decided to send a protest to Ottawa regarding the scarcity and poor quality of children's shoes and rubbers.

Mrs. R. W. Haggen, Chairman of the Program Committee, called attention to important projects undertaken by the Vancouver Branch of the Housewives' League, such as the Housing Survey and Day Nurseries. She also mentioned an article on the Parent-Teacher Conference in the latest B. C. Consumer, which dealt with problems of youth, family and community life, and the need for recreational and cultural centres.

Mrs. Leonard Swift presided.

It is expected a recheck of the money today will bring the total up slightly.

EVACUATION OF NORWAY BY NAZIS HINTED

LONDON, Oct. 3 (CP Cable)—Dispatches to London morning papers yesterday from Stockholm reported belief is current that the German High Command has taken initial steps toward evacuation of Norway. The reports coincided with rumors heard in Stockholm that some Nazi officers are advocating a showdown with the Royal Navy this Winter.

"Some 20,000 troops—mostly belonging to armored units—have been withdrawn from Northern Norway in th the last six weeks," said Ralph Hewins, Daily Mail special correspondent in Stockholm. "A few replacements have been made. Evacuation now is speeded up owing to the rapid Russian advance and particularly because of increasing probability that the Red Army will reach the Gulf of Riga before Winter."

Guerillas Attack Hun Reinforcements Moving From Italy

LONDON, Oct. 3 (CP) — Croat and Slovene Guerilla units are attacking German reinforcements moving from Italy toward the Yugoslav coast, especially along the Pol-Trieste road, a Liberation Army radio communique announced.

Partisan forces are still holding out against Nazi attacks inside the Adriatic port of Susak and are fighting the Germans behind the port of Split, it continued.

A Berlin broadcast admitted today that Split had been held for 16 days by Yugoslav partisans and "Badoglio troops" who expected an Allied landing on the Adriatic coast. Tanks and artillery eventually broke the resistance, however, and German troops occupied the Dalmatian capital, it said.

Bitter, inconclusive struggles continue around the Northern Italian communications centre of Gorizia and the Northern Yugoslav city of Ljubljana, the liberation Army's broadcast communique concluded.

Hundreds of Jews Flee From Denmark to Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 3 (AP) — Hundreds of Jews who preferred to risk being shot to death by German patrols along the Danish Coast rather than be deported to Nazi labor camps spoured into Sweden today as Hitler's anti-Semitic purge in Denmark fanned Swedish feeling.

Skirmishes and bloodshed were reported when a few Jews resisted arrest in Copenhagen.

Deportation of Danish Jews to Germany and Poland started from Copenhagen Saturday as the Nazis ignored, at least temporarily, a Swedish Government offer to provide haven for 8,000 of the 10,000 Jews whom the Germans blamed for the militant opposition to German occupation of what once was Hitler's "model protectorate."

Claims Chaplin Father of Girl

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 3 (AP) — Joan Berry, 23, has given birth to a six-pound, five ounce baby girl, whose father she claims is Charlie Chaplain, movie comedian. Both mother and child, whom she named Carol Ann, were reported doing well.

Shortly after the birth, the infant's footprints were taken on legal documents. When the child is four month old, blood tests will be made in an effort to determine whether or not Chaplin is the father.

Christian Church Must Lead or Be Trampled

"After Easter and Pentecost, this World Communion Sunday is the most thrillin got all the Sundays of the year," said Rev. H. Stewart Forbes in St. Paul's United Church Sunday morning. He pictured the natives of the Fiji Islands starting the day with the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper," then New Zealand, and Japan and China, and hour by hour round the world people of every race and nation partaking of the Communion, till, when the day was well-spent, those living on the Pacific Coast partook in turn.

Mr. Forbes took as his subject the title of Wendell L. Willkie's recent book, "One World". Mr. Willkie had discovered that the world was one, but the followers of Christ had long known this, and that they were living at a strategic moment for the establishment of the new social society, which men called "the Kingdom of God".

He quoted Mr. Willkie as saying "Men and women all over the world are on the march, physically, intellectually and spiritually," and added that if the Christian Church did not keep step, did give the lead, especially in spiritual matters, it would be trampled under foot, and left behind, wounded, perhaps mortally. The nations, he declared, were looking for leadership "neither hesitant, incompetent nor unafraid."

One of the most encouraging signs was the growing consciousness among Christians that all were one in Christ. "We are becoming aware of the Church Universal, and this consciousness of unity is one of the best fruits of the mingled harvest of war," he noted.

As a demonstration of the fact that war could not divide Christians, Mr. Forbes spoke of help given to the orphaned missions of the world. These were missions that were formerly conducted by the churches in the Occupied countries of Europe and by Germany. Churches in Britain, China, South America, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, the United States, and other countries had contributed, and helped these missions.

He asked the congregation to give a retiring collection, as a gesture of Christian love and brotherhood, declaring, "the world church is an accomplished fact."

Following the sermon, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was dispensed.

In the "retiring" collection, $16.50 was contributed to the Orphaned Missions.

Naxis Have New Land Torpedo

LONDON, Oct. 3 (CP) — The Germans are using a new anti-tank land torpedo that resembles a small tank about the size of a motorcycle sidecar and is operated by remote control, the Moscow Radio said Saturday in quoting a Tass dispatch. The broadcast said the torpedo carries about 150 pounds of explosive in its nose and has a reel of cable at the rear leading back to an operator who might be in a shelter up to 1500 yards away. The operator guides the machine and sets off the explosive by electricity.

Attack on Emden Follows Night Raid on Ruhr City

By GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 3 (AP)—United States heavy bombers escorted by fighters attacked the German port of Emden yesterday afternoon, following an R. A. F. - R.C.A.F. night assault on the Ruhr industrial city of Hagen.

It was the second time that Emden, Germany's prime North Sea shipbuilding centre, U-boat base and shipping port since the virtual destruction of Hamburg, has been bombed this week.

The raid marked the third major blow in two days in the Allies' two-way aerial offensive against Germany from both British and African bases.

Emden was bombed twice on Monday, at night by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F., in daylight by the Americans.

Planes from the R.C.A.F. Bomber Group participated in the attack on Hagen and all returned safely, R.C.A.F. Headquarters announced.

Hagen, which has a population of 150,000, is 10 miles South of Dortmund, often the target for the big R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. night bombers. It is the centre of the Ruhr region with important iron and steel foundries, engineering and armament works and has a big railway centre.

One of the principal industries is the Accumulatoren Fabrika A.G. which makes batteries, motors and other electrical equipment for submarines.

An announcement that two bombers were lost underscored evidence that Allied planes have made inroads on the strength of the German Air Force in recent months.

The target—the eleventh Nazi city bombed by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. in the last 10 nights—represented a blow at both industry and communications.

The Berlin Radio claimed that American heavy bombers were along on Friday night's raid. This, if true, would mark the first occasion on which American bombers have accompanied R.A.F. raiders, their particular chore being the day attacks against the continent.

The Berlin Radio said the bombers were over the Rhineland and Westphalia — which includes the Ruhr industrial areas.

It was pointed out that fliers of the United States Army Air Forces had been trained for night-flying operations for months.

The night's operations marked the fourth anniversary of the R.A.F.'s first wartime flight over Berlin but only leaflets were dropped on the German capital at that time.

A Berlin broadcast last night said that Allied planes were over Rumanian territory dropping leaflets. Two parachutists, "an air lieutenant and captain," were said to have been carrying large sums of Rumanian money, drugs and food.

There was no confirmation of the report from London or other Allied sources.

U-Boats Back In South, Sink Brazilian Ship

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 3 (AP)—German U-boats, inactive for weeks in South Atlantic waters, returned Sept. 25 to sink the 4998-ton Brazilian motorship Itapage, it was announced Friday night.

Saturday Brazilian newspapers published new demands that Brazil avenge its losses to its merchant fleet. The Itapage was the 33rd Brazilian ship lost in 19 months.

Late dispatches from Maceio, where survivors were landed, indicate six passengers and 19 members of the crew still are missing from the sailing list of 35 passengers and 72 crewmen. Approximately 80 survivors were reported suffering from wounds received when the U-boat crew machinegunned the ship's lifeboats, and from the effects of an explosion on board which followed the torpedoing.

Nazis Put Torch to Great Pile of War Materials

ALLIED HEADQUATRERS, North Africa, Oct. 3 (AP)—Balked by heavy Allied bombings of docks and shipping at Castellammare, South of Naples, the Germans put the torch to great piles of war materials which they had intended to to move Northward out of reach of the Anglo-American 5th Army.

The harbor itself is a shambles with some 30 wrecks of ships blocking the quays. Warehouses were left in splinters.

Larger stores were found by the 5th Army at Torre Annunziata where the Germans set fire to gasoline, oil and ammunition which they were unable to move. At this place they were forced to abandon 40 trucks loaded with airplane parts.

An Italian naval officer said the Germans were furious over having to scuttle small craft and burn vehicles which they badly needed but were unable to move for lack of fuel, tires or spare parts.

The roads North of Naples were said to be littered with dozens of such vehicles.

Kimberley Patriotic Society With $40,000 Raised Since War's Start Lifts Sights to $2000 Per Month

By STAFF WRITER

KIMBERLEY, B. C.—The job of finding the funds for financing Greater Kimberley's "war services" and of being the channel for the community's contributions to various funds of war origin, in very large degree is handled by the Kimberley and District Patriotic Society, which was organized in October, 1939, the month following the outbreak of war.

Since then, to the end of August, just past, the Society has taken in $40,474.

It is the financial backbone of the Kimberley Branch of the Red Cross to which its cash contributions have aggregated $16,266.

It contributed to the various national War Services up to the time the Government took over their maintenance, a total of $8675.

From the start it has had in view a contribution to the rehabilitation of those left with disabilities, and has built up a trust fund for this purpose containing at present $5750, consisting of $5000 in Victory Bonds and $750 in cash toward the next bond purchase.

GRANTS TO MANY WAR FUNDS

It makes allotments to all patriotic objects for which national appeals are made. Thus, its direct contributions for Chinese Relief have been $2200 of which $2000 was a grant made in the recent drive on the assumption that the District's quota would be $3000. To further assist, it put out subscription lists for voluntary subscriptions.

The Russian Relief Fund received a grant of $450, and the Society assisted in the independent drive that raised a further $3000.

Total grants of $700 have been made to the Queen's Canadian Fund for bombed-out victims. A separate contribution of $150 was made to the Fund for Christmas for bombed-out British children.

The Salvation Army's Home Front Service has benefitted by a grant of $450.

MONTHLY SMOKES FOR OVERSEAS BOYS

In addition to the financial backing given all the foregoing services, the Society represents the "home community" in maintaining direct touch with all those who have enlisted from the Kimberley area and providing them with comforts.

From the start to the present time, 321,000 cigarets have gone to the Kimberley District's Overseas Enlistments, together with 1700 pounds of fine cut tobacco, and $237 in cash in presents of money to be spent on leave.

In addition, Christmas presents have been sent to the overseas contingent each Christmas, aggregating about 500 such presents to date.

The present list of Kimberley men and women overseas contains exactly 150 names, and to each of these persons 300 cigarets and one pound of fine cut tobacco go forward each month. Scores of signed acknowledgments tumble in every month.

MONTHLY NEWS BUDGET

It is now nearly three years since the Society inaugurated a newsletter for those overseas, as a means of giving them the home news, and this "publication" also goes forward monthly to all the overseas addresses. The current Newsletter, the September issue, is N. 9 of Volume 3. It bears the superscription, "Edited by W. E. Leaman, from news by Stanton, McGillivray, Waites and Moll. Editorial Secretary, E. Almack."

Altogether, the Society has on its lists at present the names and complete addresses of 467 "Kimberley enlistments"—150 overseas, and 317 in Canada. In the case of C. M. & S. employees enlisting, full particulars are obtainable without any difficulty, and by eternal vigilance all other Kimberley enlistments are soon on record. It is doubtful if any other Canadian community of Kimberley's size has a more complete record of or keeps closer touch with its young people in uniform.

FINANCIAL BACKBONE OF RED CROSS

The Society's support of the Red Cross organization is basic.

When the Patriotic Society was first formed, it worked out a plan of allocation, which was in force for a considerable period. It handed over 45 per cent of its general fund to the Red Cross, assigned 30 per cent to District Welfare Fund, set apart 15 per cent for the Rehabilitation Trust Fund, and designated the remaining 10 per cent as an Emergency Fund.

Experience later suggested a variation of this plan, and now those who subscribe to it have the privilege of indicating a preference of preferences as to the object or objects to which their subscriptions will be directed.

In the case of the Red Cross, instead of giving it a set percentage of its receipts, the Society now grants it $500 per month up to such time in each year that it attains the quota set for it by the Provincial Headquarters, the Red Cross having some other sources of revenue, such as proceeds of salvage, and proceeds of entertainments of one kind or another, that supplement the Patriotic Society's grants. Its aggregate grant to the Red Cross is still several thousand dollars each year, and the base on which the Red Cross builds.

Where does the Kimberley and District Patriotic Society obtain its funds?

No, it holds no financial drives, makes no canvasses for money.

Its funds come from regular subscriptions from a widespread and constantly growing membership.

At the present time it has approximately 1200 members, who make an average subscription of $13 a year. In the case of C. M. & S. Company employees, most authorize the Company to make a regular monthly deduction from their pay. Others may authorize the bank to make a monthly payment from their accounts. The same applies to employees of business firms. Some subscribers pay in other ways, spaced over the year.

Is the Patriotic Society satisfied with its 1200 present members and its annual revenue of between $14,000 and $15,000, or its record of having raised over $40,000 since it began?

It is not.

A NEW TARGET

A year ago a Booster Committee was formed, J. R. Giegerich being its Chairman, its aim being to enroll every possible member.

The Executive and the Booster Committee regard the $1200 now being secured monthly as only a stage on the way to something bigger.

They are aiming at an aggregate subscription of $2000 per month $24,000 a year.

Covering Kimberley, McDougall and Ritchie, Upper and Lower Blarchmont, Chapman Camp, Marysville, and Meadow Creek, the Society wants the Kimberley area to be out in front in patriotic effort, among all communities of its class.

Its 1943 Executive consists of L. W. Bonell, President; Archdeacon B. A. Rosker, Vice-President; S. Waites, Secretary; J. B. M. Barnum, Treasurer; and H. R. Banks, A. Mennie, Mrs. R. G. H. Edmonds, Mrs. E. Nesbitt, and Fred Burrin, Directors.

Coal Situation a Challenge to Gov't Control

CALGARY, Oct. 3 (CP)—The coal situation which has developed in Alberta and Eastern British Columbia constitutes in the opinion of the Western Canada bituminous coal operators association a serious challenge by the United Mine Workers to the Government's control and anti-inflation policy according to a brief submitted by C. Stubbs, Secretary-Commissioner of the Association, to the Federal Government Coal Inquiry.

This brief was in answer to the demands of District 18 United Mine Workers of America.

This situation has been permitted to develop in defiance of Government regulations, stated the Operators' Brief. It could not betaid at the door of the Association which had lived up to the general agreement between operators and mine workers and supplementary agreements.

"We now face a situation in which it would appear that the U.M. W.A. have exhausted all the means provided by Government regulation for upward adjustment and have taken the position of refusing to proceed under the procedure laid down by Dominion law.

"They have taken such steps as to indicate they now seek to force by other than legal means upward adjustment of all wage rates regardless of the ability of the operator to pay, the effect on Government regulations; the war effort; the welfare of the people of Western Canada.

Ducking Kisses From Peasants and Bullets From Nazis Part of War for Troops on Italian Roads

By BELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Correspondent

WITH THE 5TH. ARMY IN ITALY, Sept. 30 (delayed). (AP)—War, as it passes through these little Italian towns along the road to Naples, is a mixture of comic opera and high tragedy.

You spend half your time ducking kisses from bewhiskered Italian peasants and other half ducking bullets from German snipers hidden in the houses less than a half a block away.

The snipers aren't so bad. They lie in houses, usually on the second floor and occasionally kill somebody, a soldier or civilian. It seems to make no difference to the snipers which it is.

The German tactics have been to leave a few sharpshooters or gun crews behind when they abandon a town with the main force. One tank or anti-tank gun well hidden can delay a long column for hours. It has to be found and shot or chased out of concealment.

The Italians invariably plead for the chance to lead patrols to the point from which the ermans can be caught. The depths of their hatred for their erstwhile Allies defies all description.

There are hundreds of Italian patriots who are getting some measure of revenge today. They slip back and forth through the German lines by night and get the accurate location of the main forces and report the information to the Allies as soon as possible.

Frequently they are caught and killed but they continued operating. They are fighting harder now than they ever fought while Italy was actually in the war.

Yugoslav Chief Awaits Allied Signal to Attack

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 3 (AP)—A dispatch reaching here from Switzerland quoted Gen. Draja Mihailovic, Yugoslav patriot chieftain, as declaring his army was "ready and waiting the promised signal from the Allies" to attack Nazi occupation forces.

The dispatch quoted him further as saying his troops are not at present participating in the battles being waged against the Axis in Northeastern Italy and along the Adriatic coast.

The dispatch was from the Dagens Nyheter's Zurich correspondent who said Mihailovic had sent him a personal letter by a traveller recently arrived from the Balkans.

"I already have told the British and Americans my army is ready and will begin to fight when the first Allied division lands in Yugoslavia," the letter said, adding:

"What we are going to do then will completely put in the shade the efforts of the Partisans (led by Gen. Josip Broz, known as "Tito") by well organized and equipped regular army to liberate the country."

Hess Relative Is Arrested in U.S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (CP) — A middle-aged woman, described by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a second cousin of Rudolf Hess, former Hitler aide now a prisoner of war in Britain, has been arrested with 41 other German aliens, E. E. Conroy, special agent in charge of the F.B.I. office, announced Saturday.

The agent explained that the woman was arrested with her husband who told the F.B.I. he would not fight against Germany even if the United States were invaded.

The 42 arrests made last month, brought to 1951 the number of German aliens arrested by the F.B.I. since the United States entered the war.

CANADIANS ARE TREMENDOUS SAYS ROSS MUNRO

LONDON, Oct. 3 (CP Cable) — Ross Munro, Canadian Press War Correspondent, who returned to London Saturday from the battlefields of Sicily and the Italian mainland, said the Canadian troops there "are tremendous."

"Our troops seem absolutely tireless," said the bespectacled correspondent who got out the first word of the Canadian landing on Sicily, then marched Northward with them and the 8th Army, and crossed the Messina Straits with the Dominion's invasion force into Italy.

Munro has returned for a rest. He sailed from England with the attack force June 8, landed in Sicily July 10 and in Italy Sept. 3. Except for one week lay-off due to fever attacks, he had been constantly with the fighting men.

Expect Dimout to Be Changed About October 10

VICTORIA, Oct. 3 (CP)—It was learned in A.R.P. circles here today the new dimout regulations now being drafted and which will probably made effective on or about Oct. 10, will relax the orders now enforced in Vancouver and Victoria.

With promulgation of the new dimout law, the whole Pacific coast from Mexico to Alaska will have similar dimout laws, the reports said. A.R.P. authorities did not comment but it was believed the new order would permit use of porch lights while householders were at home. Citizens would be asked to continue drawing blinds to prevent sky glare, however.

No change in the regulations for Neon signs or outdoor display advertising is anticipated.

The new regulations in B.C. are being made by Provincial A.R.P. authorities in cooperation with U.S. and Canadian military chiefs.

Factory Hands Can Be Smooth

By IDA JEAN KAIN

It used to be that toil worn hands were expected of anyone working in a factory. But no more—not since women have gone into industry. The girls in the war plants have found out how to keep their hands from showing the grease and grime.

I think their suggestions are well worth passing along.

If it is necessary to use a strong soap, rinse off every particle of the soap and dry your hands thoroughly, then put on a cream rich in lanolin. The cream works better if the hands are completely dry.

To remove the dirt from under the nails, wrap a bit of cotton around the point of your orange stick, dip it in cuticle remover, and slip under the nail. Some of the girls find it helps to scratch the nails lightly over the surface of a jar of hand cream before going on the job. Cream packed under the nail protects it and there's no trouble dislodging the grime at the end of a day.

Of course, the nails should not be too long.

Hangnails are an especial problem because of the danger of infection. Do not cut the cuticle. It encourages raveling and hangnails. Soften the cuticle with oil at night before retiring.

Another aid to smooth nail tips is to apply polish so that it covers the nail edge. Polish is a protective and in working in grease and grime it should cover the under edge of the nail as well as the surface.

When your hands get stiff and tense, relax them by shaking loosely from the wrists. To develop strong hands, crumple up a sheet of waste paper in each hand and squeeze it into a tight ball. Relax. Repeat.

Screen Star Lucille Ball turns her hand to exercise. Holding handkerchiefs or sheets of paper in either hand, clench and then relax the hands. Care of the hands is the topic of Ida Jean Kain's column today.

Call Doctor for Ear Trouble

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE BABY is sitting on the kitchen floor helping mother, and a pea or bean drops on the floor and baby picks it up and finds it just fits in the ear, so in it goes.

And then the trouble starts. Why does the baby do it? Heaven knows One who was old enough to understand the question replied, "I didn't know any other place to put it." Which is about as good an answer as any.

While it is usually babies who put foreign bodies in the ear, the practice is by no means confined to them. Some show-off starts to impress his girl friend at a party and before you know it he has a small button in his internal auditory canal.

The situation is a serious one and requires a doctor to handle it. Clumsy efforts of parents or friends often result in simply pushing the foreign body further into the ear. One of the worst things to do is to squirt water into the ear with the idea of washing out the invader. In the case of a pea or bean or a seed the water simply makes the object swell up and get tighter stuck than ever. One ear specialist instills alcohol in such cases in order to shrink the vegetable matter.

Sometimes no one is to blame but by bad luck an insect crawls into the external ear and makes a nice, warm nest. Wood ticks commonly are the offenders, the victims being a camper. It is good practice for the doctor to kill the insect first by instilling a drop or two of chloroform before starting removal because in the case of wood ticks they hang on. That much chloroform will not injure or blister the ear drum.

COMPLICATIONS AND INFECTIONS

The complications of foreign bodies may be as serious as a bad ear infection. One extraordinary case is related of an eraser from the end of a lead pencil removed from the ear. One year later the ear started to discharge and finally a radical mastoidectomy was done and a fragment of the eraser removed.

Husband Worries About Snapshot

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Miss Fairfax

I'm a man, 33 years old, and my wife is 28. We have been married seven years. My wife took the first vacation she ever had away from me, and she and her mother (who isn't very well) stayed at a hotel in the mountains.

My wife promised me they would just take it easy and rest, but instead, she was on the go most of the time, and without her mother. She met a man, 42 years old, at one of the places she visited and had a snapshot taken with this man. When she returned, she showed me all the pictures which they had taken and forgot to take out the one of herself and this man. I was much surprised that my wife would do this, and now we are constantly arguing over this matter.

She sees nothing wrong in having the picture taken, but I believe it's terribly wrong. We would like your opinion, please.

M.G.

Aren't you altogether too rigid in your point of view? If all the married people who've had snapshots taken with other women's husbands and wives were considered unfaithful, the law courts would be jammed like troop trains.

No, I don't see any harm in the snapshot, and I hope you will stop arguing about it, and never have anything worse to worry over.

Child Should Like School

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph. D.

As I have said in this column before, the child who enters school for the first time, should go hopefully and enthusiastically. So also should the older child returning to school. The attitudes and learning habits of the pupil and student toward his school learning during the days and weeks at school have more to do, as a rule, with his school success, than they have at any other time during the entire school year.

LIMIT GOING OUT

See that your child is home on nights before school and is in the house after the street lights appear. So far as possible, even the high school student should limit his evenings out to Friday and Saturday nights.

Do all you can to build in your child cooperation with the school and a wholesome regard for his teachers. Let him know you expect him to abide by the rules of the school. As early as possible, get acquainted with his teachers.

Hold your child to regular and prompt attendance when ill health does not interfere. Train your young school child to come directly home from school and the older child to take responsibility for letting you know in any case when he cannot return home at the usual time.

HOME WORK

If your child has no home work before the fifth or sixth grade, require him to devote half an hour at a regular time each evening to wholesome reading. This is to cultivate the habit of some regular mental exercise.

As soon as your child has home work assignments, see that he goes at this work at a regular time and place every evening and that no one interrupts him then.

Get READY TO MAKE ANOTHER WAR-WINNING INVESTMENT

● Fighting men trained and equipped in Canada, and tools of war made here, financed with money borrowed by Canada from her people, have had much to do with keeping the enemy away from our shores. Truly, our beloved country has been spared.

And our men and women, and the ships, planes and weapons we are still sending to the front, are keeping Canada's name notable in what well may be the decisive stage of the greatest war of all time. In light of latest developments, it must be clear to all that Victory Bonds do, indeed, foreshadow Victory. The temporary sacrifices, and the readjustments in our normal financial plans that we may have to make to buy them, are surely a cheap price to pay for the rewards they win.

There is reason to believe that the great struggle that has for so long disrupted our way of life is approaching a decision. Money must be had to keep our ships sailing, our planes flying and our fighting forces on the road to success. Soon there will be another issue of Victory Bonds. The proceeds will give impetus to our forces to push home the sword of triumph. No matter what the temporary sacrifice, be ready to buy more Victory Bonds when the call comes. Prepare now to buy all you can. Every bond you buy will contribute to the downfall of the enemy. And remember, the war won't be over till we win it!

Recipes to Help in Adjustment to Meat Rationing Problems

By LAURA C. PEPPER
Chief, Consumer Section, Department of Agriculture

Adjustment to meat rationing includes some change in meat buying habits and also in meat recipes, for in addition to price, suitability and availability, the coupon value of the meat has to be considered.

Coupons must be budgeted and buying planned in advance. If this is done families will be just as well fed under meat rationing as in the pre-ration days. Here is Mrs. A. She plans to have a stew for dinner and can afford to spend two coupons for her family of six. She consults her Meat Coupon Value Chart and Cooking Guide and jots down on her marketing list several alternatives in case the butcher has not got her first choice. Her marketing list reads Stew . . . 2 coupons.

Lamb, front	Group D	2½ lbs.
Stewing beef	Group B	1½-lbs.
Rump	Group C	2 lbs.

Mrs. A realizes that the weight of the meat she buys will vary according to the group to which it belongs but that there is little actual difference in the amount of meat she gets for her coupons in any of these cuts. If she gets stewing beef she gets 1½ lbs. of solid meat for her two coupons, whereas if she buys the lamb front she gets a total weight of 2½ lbs. but that includes considerable bone.

The Home Economists in the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture have been working out new and old favorite meat recipes in terms of rationing. Most meat dishes may be made from any of several cuts of meat and in many recipes the type of meat may also be varied. Today's recipes list suitable alternate cuts of meat and include their coupon cost.

MEAT AND POTATO CASSEROLE

(1 coupon—6 servings):

1 pound hamburger (group C) or
1 pound front shank meat, ground (group C)
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 medium onion, chopped
3 medium potatoes
1½ cups sieved canned tomatoes
¼ cup bread crumbs

Mix meat, onion, salt and pepper.

Place a layer of sliced raw potato in the bottom of a greased casserole, cover with half the meat mixture. Repeat layers. Add tomatoes and cover with bread crumbs. Cover and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees F., for 1 hour, then uncover and bake about 30 minutes longer, until potatoes are tender and crumbs are browned.

SCALLOPED LAMB, BEEF OR VEAL

(2 coupons—6 servings):

2½ pounds front of lamb (group D) or
1¼ pounds boneless chuck steak or stewing beef (group B) or 1½ pounds round steak (group B) or
1½ pounds boneless stewing veal (group B)
Flour
2 medium onions, minced
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1¼ cups hot water
1¼ cups sieved canned tomatoes
¾ cup sliced fresh mushrooms (optional)

Trim excess fat from meat, melt in frying pan. Cut meat in pieces for serving, roll lightly in flour, seasoned with part of the salt. Saute minced onion in fat, skim out. Saute meat until lightly browned. Put meat, onions, mushrooms, tomatoes and hot water in a casserole, add rest of salt and pepper. Cover and cook in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F, until meat is tender—1¼ 3 hours, allowing the longer time when beef is used. Serve with cooked macaroni, noodles or spaghetti.

A Bird for Thanksgiving

That we can still plan a traditional dinner in this fifth year of war is truly an occasion for thanksgiving

When we sit down next Monday to the Traditional Thanksgiving festivity, let us remember how incredible such a meal would seem to the vast majority of the peoples of this world. Let us determine, too, not to waste any of the good things which are still relatively so abundant in this Canada of ours.

Whether you serve Turkey, Goose, Duck or Chicken this year, you will find the recipe in the next column of real value both in pleasing palates and extending meat. Bread sauce is an Old Country trimming not widely enough known in Canada, it is delicious with all birds, it is nutritionally tops and it does help meat go farther.

There are more than 90 good recipes in Martha Logan's famous handbook of meat cookery; "Meat Complete." Send 10¢ for your copy to Swift Canadian Co. Limited, Dept wcss, New Westminster.

2 cups milk
1 tbsp. butter . . . salt, pepper

"Unreality" Theme of Lesson-Sermon

Christian Science Churches have no preachers; they have the same service everywhere. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday was "Unreality."

The Golden Text was: "If God be for us, who can be against us?" (Romans 8: 31).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "He hath made the earth by his power; he hath established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heaven by his understanding." (Jere. 51:15).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The perfect Mind sends forth perfection, for God is Mind. Imperfect mortal mind sends forth its own resemblances, of which the wise man said, 'All is vanity'."

Mrs. Lydia Tarry Celebrates 102nd Birthday

VERNON, B.C., Oct. 2 (CP)—Mrs. Lydia Tarry, a resident of Vernon, celebrated her 102nd birthday Friday. Born in London, England, she is the 12th and youngest child of James and Sarah West. She married at the age of 22, and had six children, four of whom are now living. The only one of her family to live in Canada is her son, Frank Tarry, who resides in Squilax with his wife.

In 1863 the Tarry family came to Canada, residing at Saltcoats, Sask., Kamloops and near Nelson in the Kootenays, where the settlement Tarrys was named for the family.

When her husband died in 1917 they returned to England but in 1927, at the age of 86, she again crossed the Atlantic, and settled in Vernon where she has resided ever since.

She has 12 grandchildren, and 12 greatgrandchildren. She is a regular attendant at All Saints Anglican Church, and knits for the Red Cross. Her sight and hearing are only slightly impaired, and she enjoys good health. Church dignitaries and civic officials called on her on her birthday to tender their congratulations.

SOUTH SLOCAN, B.C.—Mrs. Tarry was born on Bishopgate Street, London, England October 1 1841. She was married April 2, 1863, in Hackney Church by Rev. Charles Lamb, to James Tarry, one of the early pioneers of the Kootenay and the first to plant an orchard.

At the time the Tarry's settled in the Kootenay at the place which now bears the name of Tarrys, the nearest post office was at Robson. Mrs. Tarry often walked there in those days. When more settlers came into the district Mr. Tarry was postmaster.

The first Church services were held in the Tarry home with Mrs. Tarry as organist. Their first home was a spacious log house built in 1896, after clearing enough land for a home and orchard. There was nothing but dense timber when they started in which they cleared, then shipped cordwood to the Hall Mines Smelter at Nelson and also sold wood to the C.P.R. when the engines were wood burners.

In May, 1906 the Tarry's moved into their new frame house, which was built at the front of the old log house and has on the law the old cherry tree which Mrs. Tarry brought with her in a flower pot from Kamloops.

Mrs. M Irving now occupies the Tarry home.

We Can't Be Too Careful With Fire

This in Canada is Fire Prevention Week, so set aside by Royal Proclamation designed to impress upon us the enormous waste of life and property occasioned by fire, and the need for exercising every possible means to reduce this tragic and unnecessary wastage.

When it is considered that Canada's loss by fire in 1942 was 304 lives and over $31,000,000 property damage, it is easily apparent that something must be done about it. Fire is a disease that annually saps our national wealth and every citizen should resolve to do his bit to wipe out this menace to our happiness and prosperity, and on occasion to our lives.

Every citizen owes himself and Canada the duty of being careful with fire, by disciplining himself in his smoking habits, by seeing that every fire hazard in his home, store or factory is removed and by knowing what to do should a fire start. Our soldiers, sailors and airmen are battling a grim enemy on far-away fronts. Let us battle that other enemy—the Fire Demon—on the "Home Front". We too can help to win the war by preventing fires. Every fire is small in its incipiency but it might reach the proportions of a conflagration. Our duty is to see that a fire does not start.

We need only to call to mind two holocausts which have occurred during the past year to show the tragedy which can follow in the wake of fire. These are the Cocoanut Grove Night Club fire in Boston in which 491 people lost their lives, and the Knights of Columbus Hostel fire in St. John's, Newfoundland, in which 99 lives were snuffed out.

Changes in German Viewpoint

Reports of impaired morale in Germany must be accepted with reserve. It is tempting to make too much of incidents that lack major importance. A strike of German workers does not necessarily mean more than a strike of Canadian workers. Both weaken war efforts, but neither may signify any desire to retire from the war.

That German enthusiasm for war has passed is true enough. No longer do the Germans fight with the hope of winning control of the world, of vast profits in loot. They are fighting a defensive war, and know it. We also have fought a defensive war, but the knowledge of our defensive position did not cause us to consider surrender.

Some developments recently have perhaps more significance. At the beginning of this year total mobilization of all German civilians, men and women, was ordered. Instead of meeting with the docile response that is usual in Germany, the edict met with widespread passive resistance and evasion. Under the decrees everyone was to be conscripted for service to the state in the job in which he or she would best fit. The first step was to be a special registration.

Soon there were public complaints that "very many people" had failed to register, that some had even ignored three separate summonses.

Oswald Dutch, an expert on Central Europe, writing in the London Daily Telegraph, says that what happened in Germany amounted almost to a mass strike and that the Nazi party for the first time was unable to support its commands by force or at any rate did not do so. It showed unaccustomed signs of leniency and toleration. That initial sign of weakness was enough to demonstrate that the party's omnipotence was threatened. Women especially resisted the calls for the severe general mobilization.

Most of the men who tried to stay out of the newly conscripted classes pleaded ill-health. Medical officers had to work hard to pass as fit the great numbers suddenly reporting sick. "Whether so many people," said the Voelkischer Beobachter, "will succeed in their attempts to convince the doctors by well-feigned symptoms that they are ill is a matter for professional examination. An acute shortage of doctors slowed down the examination process.

Lack of eagerness to work for the state marks a radical change in German viewpoint.

It Will Take Time

Establishment of a Democratic Government in Italy, once the country has been cleared of Germans, is not going to be an easy matter for the Italian people, no matter how much friendly assistance we may give them.

That military control of the country by the Allies will be necessary until the menace of Germany has been destroyed is therefore all to the good. Such government under the occupying forces as will be provided by the United Nations will exercise no more power than is necessary for the defence of the Allied cause and the maintenance of order, so that the Italians will have plenty of opportunity to develop their own ideas on the form of government which can be instituted when peace is finally reestablished.

Italy cannot go back to the pre-Mussolini era before 1922. Establishment of a democratic government is not as simple as all that. Times have changed, ideas generally of today are not those of two decades ago, and a governing consideration is that since Mussolini's march on Rome, Italians have had eduction only along anti-democratic lines. Adjustment and development of ideas for true government by the people will take time.

When Mussolini gained dictatorship, Italy had a Chamber of Deputies composed of a variety of parties, with none in majority control. Hence arose the chaos which made Mussolinism possible. The brand of democracy which Italy knew had not proved attractive.

For the past 20 years the Italian mind has been corrupted by Fascist ideas. With his country defeated in war, the average Italian is now less interested in the true ideals of democracy of which vaguely he has heard than in where he is to get his next loaf of bread.

Press Comment

PARAMUSHIRU

The Chinese, always quicker than anyone else to appreciate the significance of our operations in the Pacific theatre, have enthusiastically welcomed the recent American raid on Paramushiru. Compared to Allied aerial activity over Europe, of course, this attack on the Japanese base in the Kurile Islands was small stuff. But, as the Chungking spokesmen point out, by implication it was an enterprise of considerable importance.

The Kuriles, to be sure, are in a sense only the Japanese counterpart of the Aleutians, and Paramushiru lies near their Northeastern extremity. But these islands stem directly from Japan—not, as in the case of the Aleutians, from another comparatively remote outpost of their sovereign power. An assault on Paramushiru, therefore, is not the equivalent of one on, say, Amchitka or even Dutch Harbor. It is more like a bombardment of Anchorage, which is situated on the Alaskan mainland approximately as far from Seattle as Paramushiru is from Tokyo.

This raid serves to emphasize the reversal of military positions in the North Pacific, consequent upon the fall of Attu. Had the Japanese been able to establish an effective air base in the Attu-Kiska region, they would have been capable of the kind of operations, we now begun against them. But although they still hold Kiska, they have manifestly failed, and from that failure they have derived a new danger.—Kansas City Times.

PRECIOUS FREIGHT

A $1,050,000 consignment of strategic and delicate war equipment one morning recently in Eastern Canada was moved 350 miles by tractor semi-trailer in convoy and arrived on the scheduled minute. With two other trucks spaced 200 yards before and behind and accompanied by two guards in an automobile, the shipment was an emergency order, closed timed, secret. Called the most valuable single industrial truckload known in Canadian highway hauling records, it moved off at 3 p.m. and, traversing the distance at a measured 27 m.p.h. average was checked in at 4 a.m.—Financial Post.

FITTING

Touching epitaphs are often inscribed by comrades on the graves of men who fall in battle. Befitting the sacrifices of every hero who gives his life in this conflict is the inscription on the grave of an American soldier in Guadalcanal: "Where he fell, may freedom stand."—Hamilton Spectator.

J. C. H., New Denver—Further to your inquiry about soy beans Orville Dow of Cranbrook writes the following: "I saw a couple of items about soy beans. They sometimes require inoculation before they do very well. It's best when growing them in new soil or for the first time to protect with an inoculus which is carried in stock by several seed companies. Other beans besides soyas need inoculation occasionally. Bulletins from the Department of Agriculture cover about everything necessary for the culture of soy beans."

Today's Horoscope

You are self-reliant, dependable and aggressive, if you have a birthday today. You have a wonderful capacity for detail. You are practical, shrewd in your judgments and refuse to accept defeat. Success in life and a happy marriage are indicated. If you have to rise very early on this, your birthday, and are not in the mood to be gracious, it won't help you to be resentful. Others also have to make the best of inconveniences. This early morning, also, a friend who is calm in meeting annoyances may give you the inspiration to handle all sorts of demands for the rest of the day. Do not be tempted to gamble this evening. It would be unwise to take a long chance.

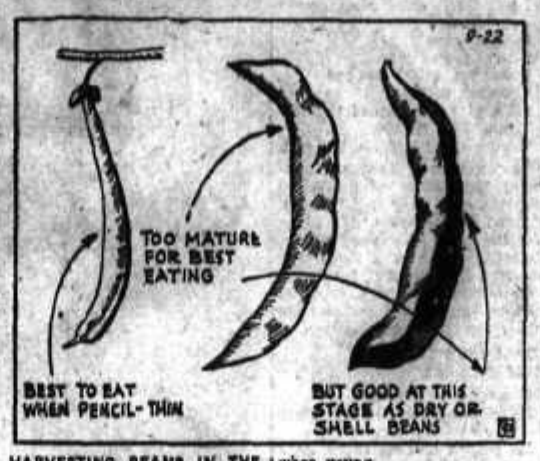
Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

By DEAN HALLIDAY



HARVESTING BEANS IN THE VICTORY GARDEN

The Victory gardener who planted early bush beans for the first pickings, and pole beans for mid-season and late pickings, with a third planting as late as the first week of August (especially the early maturing varieties) should have ample amounts of beans for the table and canning until the plants are completely killed by frost.

When beans are permitted to dry on the vine, production halts. If the pods are kept picked, the bearing season is prolonged. A good picking plan is to go over the plants every few days. Some varieties of beans become stringy unless used when young.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, beans are at their best when streamlined, or in other words, pencil-thin and still smooth of shape. When, however, beans become too mature to use as snap beans, which condition is indicated by the bulge of the seeds, they can be opened and the bean seeds can then be used to advantage as shell or dry beans.

The Mexican bean beetle feeds voraciously on late bean plants, therefore extra precautions must be taken to protect the plants against these enemies. Dusting with a rotenone dust is one of the best safeguards.

GUARDIAN ANGEL IN STEEL HAT

While U. S. Marines of an engineering battalion take a much needed bath beside the bridge they have thrown across a river on a South Pacific isle, one of their number plays the role of guardian angel. He sits behind a cocked machine-gun with his eyes also cocked on the opposite shore for the first sign of a Jap patrol or a sniper.

Can hard work injure your health? I've been working long hours for many years now.—Jack C. L.

You have been doing the same kind of work for years—by now it must be second nature to you, and my advice to you would be to declare war on your laziness. You are beginning to like a soft chair and slippers, you are beginning to love super comfort. You feel the need of constant diversion and entertainment! Laziness is getting you down. This is no time to get soft. Hard work—and especially mental work—never yet killed a man. Letdowns after a spurt of work is a sign of the slowing-up process. First thing you know, you will be fighting, hating, stalling. James T. Mangan, an outstanding business success, says when you think of letting up, remember laziness is your bitterest enemy. Conquer him if it is the last thing you do on earth. Give him no quarter. Don't yield a single inch. Rather do MORE that you have been doing than LESS. When your bitterest enemy bites the dust, then the little enemies will scamper after him.

Canadian Prisoners in Italy May Not Return Yet Awhile

OTTAWA, Oct. 3 (CP)—The External Affairs Department yesterday issued a "warning" that "no immediate hope can be held out for the early return to our own forces" of Canadian prisoners of war formerly held by Italy.

These Canadians, chiefly R.C.A.F. personnel, numbered fewer than 100 before the invasion of Sicily, the Department said in a statement. It added:

"While the release of Allied prisoners of war was a prime condition of the military armistice with Italy, it must be emphasized that many of these prisoners fell at once into German power.

"The Germans claim that nearly half of the British prisoners of war held in Italy have been transferred to Germany. Some have escaped into neutral territory where they are temporarily detained. Relatively few British prisoners of war are yet known to have reached Allied lines.

"While the number of Canadians in any group is not yet known, every effort is being made by the Canadian Government to locate our men. These difficulties and delays are due to the present confused situation and large-scale military operations in Italy."

War Correspondents Ordered to Stay Behind Combat Troops

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, Oct. 3 (AP)—War correspondents were ordered Saturday by the United States Army to stop going ahead of combat troops.

The order followed a complaint by Army men that correspondents with the British 8th Army in Italy had linked up with the Anglo-American 5th Army before combat forces had joined.

The order said that for correspondents to form themselves into the vanguard of the army men at taking unjustified risks, and added such expeditions also were damaging to Army vehicles assigned to them as they frequently entailed leaving the road and driving over rough country.

George Formby, stage and screen star, is entertaining for the forces on the Italian mainland.

DUBLIN, Eire (CP)—Large scale emigration to Britain since war started has partly solved Eire's unemployment problem. During 1942 nearly 52,000 travel permits were issued, compared to 35,000 in 1941 and 26,000 in 1940.

Zuber Hurls Yankees to Win Over Browns

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP)—Bill Zuber, who may be a surprise starter for the Yankees in the World Series, pitched three-hit ball today as the American League Champions beat the St. Louis Browns 5-2 in their last game of the season.

In chalking up his eighth victory against four defeats Zuber had a one-hit abutout going into the eighth. Denny Galehouse held the Yanks scoreless for three innings, but was touched for a run in the fourth on Charley Keller's triple and Bill Dickey's single. In the sixth five straight singles and a double play accounted for four more Yankee runs. Dickey singled twice in three times at bat to finish the season with a .351 average.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP)—When Charlie Grimm's signature on that 3-year contract to manage the Milwaukee Brewers still was damp, President Bill Veeck had a sudden thought . . . "Charlie", he remarked, "we'll have to have your Social Security number on this contract. Let's see, you're 45 now . . . 45 years; that means you'll be 70 when this contract runs out."

JUST TOO NERVOUS

Before last Saturday's Yale-Coast Guard game, Coach Howie Odell of Yale was too worried about the game to sit still . . . he decided a little golf might soothe his nerves, went to the New Haven Country Club, entered a tournament that was in progress and shot a one-under-par 71 to lead the field.

LEANING THE CUFF

Tom Lockhart, President of the Eastern United States not-so-amateur hockey league, is starting a hockey "school" in Brooklyn in hopes of developing some home-bred talent . . . Jake Fodoloff wants to enter a New Haven team in the same league if he can locate enough players among the war workers.

Cardinals Blast Giants Then Hit for New York

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 3 (AP)—St. Louis Cardinals successfully finished their second consecutive National League championship campaign today by bowling over the last-place New York Giants 8-4 to run their total string of victories to 105, one less than last year.

Two hours later, confident and happy, they were on their way to New York to open the World Series against the Yankees Tuesday.

The Cardinals became the first champions in 30 years to repeat with more than 100 victories. New York Giants scored 103 in 1912 and repeated with 101 in 1913.

It was the Cards' 27th triumph in their last 33 games, an achievement comparable to their sensational stretch finish of a year ago when they won 29 of their final 34 games.

Southworth again kept Stan Musial, 22-year-old right field star, on the bench further to rest his weakened ankle, twisted in Friday's game. However, he permitted Musial to pinch hit for Rookie Righthander Pitcher Billy Byerly in the fifth inning and Musial blasted a long single to right that started a three-run scoring spree to put the trailing Cardinals ahead 5-4.

Musial remained to run, tearing for third on Lou Klein's hit and scoring on Debs Garms' double. It was Musial's 220th hit of the season, in which he competed in all of the Cardinal's 157 games, including three ties.

More than 9000 fans saw the games.

Bill Nicholson, Cub rightfielder, went to bat eight times in the two contests and was retired but once. He singled twice, walked three times, doubled once and accounted for his 29th home run. In addition, he drove in his 127th and 128th runs and himself crossed the plate five times.

FIRE PREVENTION

"Fire prevention is definitely more important to the business man and to every citizen now because of building restrictions and material shortages. No matter how well a place of business is covered by insurance, if it burns now there is a definite loss, because it is, in almost all cases, impossible to rebuild."

SALLY'S SALLIES

AUNT HET

By ROBERT QUILLEN

"If nature arranges everything for our good, I'd like to know why a fat woman always hankers for sweets like I do."

THREE GROUPS GRADED

Once in a while a hand comes along in a duplicate game which enables you to classify the players into three distinct groups. The first includes those who think mainly of ruffing out losers in a suit contract. The second consists of those who prefer to drop the trumps and then attempt to discard their losers on a side suit. The third figures out the timing of the hand and sees that the entry situation calls for the side suit to be set up before the final round of trumps is played.

North: ♠ K 7 4 ♥ A Q J 9 7 ♦ A 7 ♣ 8 5 3

West: ♠ Q 6 5 ♥ 10 5 4 ♦ Q J 10 8 ♣ K 10 7

East: ♠ 3 2 ♥ K 8 6 ♦ 9 6 4 3 ♣ Q J 6 2

South: ♠ A J 10 9 8 ♥ 3 2 ♦ K 5 2 ♣ A 9 4

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

Three declarers who reached that contract played it three different ways, following the diamond Q lead. One took that with the A, led to the K, ruffed the 3, scored the spade K, lost the spade J finesse to the Q, took the club 7 return to the J with the A, lost the heart J finesse to the K, and then dropped two club tricks, being set one.

Another took the diamond Q lead with the K, took the spade K and lost the J finesse to the Q, won the diamond 3 with the A, cashed the spade A, won the heart Q finesse when East held up the K, then scored the heart A and led the J, which East covered, South ruffing. The dummy lacking re-entries now to use the heart remainders, two clubs had to be lost, so he was set.

Where a better player was at work, he won the diamond lead with the K, at once took the heart finesse, losing to the K, and had that suit established while the dummy still held two entries. Conserving these, after East returned a club, he took in the spade A and K, then led hearts. On the A he followed suit, on the next he discarded the club 4 and on the third he discarded the club 3. West ruffed, that with the spade Q, but that was the last trick his side could get, as the diamond A remained in dummy as a re-entry for the hearts to furnish a diamond discard. That declarer made an extra trick, due to soundness.

An unbid small slam could have been made if South had finessed West for the spade Q, but nobody tried that as that grade of player was not in the game.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ K Q 10 4 ♥ Q 8 7 ♦ J 6 5 2 ♣ 9 4

West: ♠ J 6 3 ♥ J 5 ♦ A Q 10 ♣ K J 10 3 2

East: ♠ 8 7 2 ♥ 10 2 ♦ 9 7 4 3 ♣ A 8 7 6

South: ♠ A 9 5 ♥ A K 9 6 4 3 ♦ K 8 ♣ Q 5

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

If West leads the club J against South's 4-Hearts, how should East figure out his correct line of defensive action?

Bonneville Geologist Seeks Information Industrial Materials

VANCOUVER, B. C.—A visitor to the B. C. & Yukon Chamber of Mines was Dr. Edwin T. Hodge, Consulting Geologist, of the Industrial Raw Materials Division, Bonneville Power Administration, at Portland.

Dr. Hodge is compiling a complete record of raw materials available for the establishment of new manufacturing industrials in the Pacific Northwest.

He is particularly interested in obtaining information on occurrences of industrial minerals in British Columbia, believing there will be a large market created by the Bonneville power development. A list of minerals of what their department is anxious to obtain a record has been left on file at the Chamber of Mines, which has been asked to assist in stocktaking.

Sheep Creek Prospect Is International Tungsten's Project

VANCOUVER, B. C. — A gold and base metals prospect in the Sheep Creek camp, recently acquired by International Tungsten Mines Ltd., will be examined by an engineer for the new owner with a view to instituting a development program. The property, about nine miles from Salmo, is in the heart of the gold mining area, adjoining Sheep Creek, Gold Belt and Kootenay Belle mines.

International Tungsten's property at Great Slave Lake, acquired from Slave Lake Gold Mines Ltd., is under examination by Consolidated M. & S. Co., which, having expended $5000, is entitled to an option on a two-thirds interest.

Indium, $12.50 an Ounce, Is Trail Product

VANCOUVER, B. C.—Indium, used for plating and as an alloy with other metals, is one of the by-products of the zinc refinery of the Consolidated M. & S. Company at Trail. This metal has important uses in the automobile, aircraft and other industries. In view of this the following account of its occurrence, production and uses issued by the Department of Mines, Ottawa, is of particular interest:

Many zinc ores contain indium, which is frequently associated with gallium. Indium also occurs in tin and tungsten ores and in some iron and manganese ores. Indium production in Canada was reported for the first time in 1942. It is being recovered in small quantities at Trail from treatment of the residues obtained at the zinc refinery of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company.

HEAVIER THAN ZINC

Refined indium has a silvery-white color somewhat resembling that of platinum. It is ductile and slightly heavier than zinc. It has a low melting point (155 degrees C.) and a relatively high boiling point (1450 degrees C.)

Canadian production figures are not available for publication. World production is still relatively small.

Indium is being produced commercially in the United States, Germany, Belgium, and possibly in Japan and Russia.

In the United States indium is now recovered as a by-product of zinc and lead operations by American Smelting & Refining Company, Anaconda Copper Mining Company, and National Zinc Company.

FOR PLATING AND ALLOYS

Indium is used for plating and as an alloy with other metals. It is deposited on and alloyed with cadmium-nickel and copper-lead on bearings for aeroplanes, etc., and resists the corrosive action of lubricants containing organic acids. Coatings of indium alloys appear to have a diversity of uses. They are easily polished and burnished. Indium is alloyed with gold and silver and with various base metals. It is used in dental alloys and in making low melting alloys. Augmented production of engine bearings and war restrictions on ordinary plating metals have stimulated interest in indium during the past two years.

The price of metallic indium was reduced in December, 1940, from $15 to $12.50 a troy ounce, at which price it remained throughout 1941 and 1942.

The Kootenay Division has a quota of $94,000.

$13,683 Building Total September

Construction at a total estimated cost of $13,683 was authorized by 48 building permits issued by City Engineer H. D. Dawson during September.

The three largest permits alone totalled a cost of $8500. One was issued to T. N. Waters & Co. Ltd., to erect a concrete building, at 464 Baker Street, at an estimated cost of $6000; one to the Civic Centre Commission through Ed Kelter, for insulation of the pipes in the Badminton hall at the Civic Centre, at an estimated cost of $3000. A permit was also issued to M. K. Mathews to build an addition to a house, 518 First Street, at an estimated cost of $500.

The word fahrenheit comes from Gabriel Daniel Fahrenheit, who invented the mercury thermometer in 1714.

Toronto Stock Quotations

NEW YORK,—It was another of those selective markets Saturday, so far as stock buyers were concerned and leaders generally shifted over a slightly uneven terrain. Transfers of around 250,000 shares were among the smallest for the year to date.

Wall Street was cheered by the oversubscription of the third United States War Loan. The question of taxes still was a restraint for bullish contingents.

TORONTO— The stock market rounded out the week on a moderately soft tone. Losses predominated in the gold and base metals groups and the industrials and Western Oils were steady to slightly lower. Turnover totalled about 250,000 shares. Hiram Walker was less active than on Friday and the price slowed down a fraction.

The golds slipped off in quiet selling.

MONTREAL — Selected leaders showed some strength in deals up to near the close of transactions.

Hiram Walker amplified yesterday's gain of 4½ by jumping another 2½ to a new peak as the feature of the light transfers.

VANCOUVER — Trading was light.

Premier dropped 2 to 1.10 and Sheep Creek was up 3 at 98. C. & E. Corp., climbed 2 to 1.90. Pacific Pete remained unchanged at 49.

WINNIPEG—Sales of 1,500,000 bushels of oats and barley for shipment East under the Federal Feed Assistance Plan featured trading on Saturday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Shipment will be made direct from Western points on a deferred basis.

Trading in the rye market was light, with prices holding firm throughout the short session. Buying was credited to United States interests. Oats and barley values remained at ceiling levels.

CHICAGO— Belief that Government efforts to get corn off farms may result in an improved grain situation brought selling into all grains yesterday, oats meeting the most pressure. Oats were off a cent at times while wheat and rye were down fractionally.

WHERE are they now . . . the boys who brought your newspaper to you a few years back? You may have read their names in the news columns recently. Many are on active service. Interpreting

The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Nazi Germany came to its greatest crisis of the war this past week along the West bank of the Dnieper River.

No important bridgehead outpost beyond that stream remains firmly in German hands and even the Vitebsk gateway to Poland, the Baltic States and East Prussia appear to be cracking under the weight of the Russian steam-roller attack.

Berlin admitted Russian toeholds West of the River at unstated points. That probably means North of the Russian-besieged Kiev bastion in the sector North of the confluence of the Pripet and the Dnieper as well as Southwestward of Kiev where a Russian break-through to reach the Warsaw-Bel Tserkotv-Dnieprepetrovsk railway would gravely jeopardize the whole Nazi right flank in Russia.

Either threat to the Dnieper line is critical. It could not be held against Russian penetration in force to the West bank of the river on either end. Yet it is on the extreme flanks, North and South, that the first evidence of a Nazi retreat from the Dnieper must come if it is actually an early prospect as all reports suggest.

South of the lower elbow of the great bend of the Dnieper a great battle to stall of a Russian flanking movement is reported by Berlin. Moscow has not mentioned it. It is clear, however, that heavy Russian forces, hampered by mud and rains, are trying to storm in to the flat triangle South of the broad Dnieper Estuary and possibly cut off the Germans still in the Crimea. The narrow Perekop Isthmus, fitted by Nazis with a military railroad since the last Crimean campaign, is the only German escape route from that trap.

The Russian siege of Vitebsk North of the Upper Bend of the Dnieper at Orsha is pointing a dangerous thrust at the whole left flank of the enemy clear to the Gulf of Finland Coast West of Leningrad.

It seems clear that the first symptoms of a disastrous Nazi retreat from the Dnieper, even though the Russian penetration might occur in the centre, are to be expected on the extreme North and South flanks of the present line. Both hold possibilities of entrapment of large German forces.

By these and other signs, it seems probable that the next week or two along the Dnieper will see the crisis for the enemy.

Combines Win Lacrosse Opener

TORONTO, Oct. 3 (CP)—Precision paid off for Mimico-Brampton Combines last night as they smothered Lachine R.C.A.F. 20-6 in the first of a two-game series for the right to represent Eastern Canada in the Dominion Lacrosse finals in British Columbia.

Superior in all departments, the Ontario Lacrosse Association champions scored early and late behind a cohesive passing attack to carry a 14-goal lead into the second game of the goals-to-count series, scheduled for Monday night here.

Last year Mann Cup champions, Combines held undisputed sway over the Quebec Lacrosse Association title-holders and after the first period never were threatened.

Dixon, leading scorer in the O.L.A. this season, paced the Combine attack, scoring six goals and two assists. Bill Brunskill scored four goals for Combines and Bill Isaacs had three goals and an assist.

The Combine defence quartet of G. Thompson, Whoopee Arthurs, W. Thompson and Ross Gimblett, maintained a stout rear wall the airmen seldom managed to penetrate.

PAT EGAN EFFECTIVE

Charlie Phillips, who scored two goals for Lachine, and Pat Egan, former professional hockey player and a star in the Quebec loop this season, were the only consistently effective players for the Quebec team. Both played for Valleyfield Army and joined Lachine for the series.

Navy gained its initial triumph at Ottawa by defeating Combines 8-6. It was Ottawa's third straight defeat.

Krol, former Windsor, Ont., athlete, gave a convincing display of all-round football skill as he led the Wildcats to their triumph. His forward passing paved the way for most of the Hamilton scoring and he personally accounted for 15 of the 34-point total.

Ottawa Combines found that victory does not necessarily go to the team having the greatest number of yards.

The home forces plunged Ted Morris' H.M.C.S. York squad from Toronto all over Landsdowne Park here Saturday but found themselves on the short end of the score.

Actually, Combines hung up 20 first downs against four for the Navy—19 of them along the ground—but Navy emerged with the greater number of points because they failed to fumble as often.

Record Crowds in Prospect for World Series

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP) — Another World Series, a sports spectacle which instead of losing its lustre in wartime seems to have gained new glamor, will open in Yankee Stadium Tuesday with the St. Louis Cardinals again facing the New York Yankees.

Record crowds of more than 70,000 fans are in prospect for one or all of the three games to be played in New York and there is no doubt that Sportsman's Park, seating 33,000 will be sold out when the series is moved to St. Louis next Sunday.

All box and reserved seats at the Stadium have been sold for approximately two weeks and scalpers have been reported reaping as high as $50 for a strip of tickets to three games valued originally at $16.50. However 28,000 grandstand and bleacher tickets will be on sale on the day of each game.

Although the Stadium has never been sold out for a series tussle, indications are that last year's all-time record turnout of 69,902 on Sunday, Oct. 4, will be topped.

The Yankees have been established favorites to beat the Cardinals, although last year when the same situation existed the Redbirds won the world championship with four straight victories after losing the opening installment.

The reason for the odds favorite New York apparently is two-fold—the apparent pitching superiority which the Yankees hold for a short series and their home run punch which in eight years has brought them seven American League pennants and five world championships.

This year the Yanks have the acknowledged outstanding pitcher in baseball, 24-year-old Spurgeon Spud Chandler, who has won 20 games and lost four while compiling a notable average of 1.57 earned runs per nine-inning game. He is considered the choice of Manager Joe McCarthy for the opening assignment Tuesday.

He probably also will pitch at least one other game in the series and perhaps two if it lasts the full seven games.

On the other hand the Cardinals' pitching prospects are shrouded by question marks.

The ace of Manager Bill Southworth's staff is Morton Cooper, winner of 1 games against eight defeats but he was knocked out twice by the Yankees in the series last year and also failed twice as the National League's starting pitcher in the final all-star games against the American League. To complicate this problem further, Cooper developed a sore arm last week.
