German Taganrog Army of 41,000 Wiped Out

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Red Army advancing in the Donets Basin has wiped out the German Taganrog Army killing or capturing more than 41,000 enemy troops and routing or mauling eight divisions totalling 120,000 men, Moscow announced tonight.

An additional 6,000 Germans fell today trying to stem Soviet Armies hacking their way toward Stalino, Poltava, Bryansk and Smolensk along a 600-mile front.

The Taganrog debacle was the greatest single German defeat since Stalingrad: More than 35,000 Germans were killed and 5100 captured in final liquidation of the encircled troops caught West of the Sea of Azov City, the communique said.

RETREAT IN DONETS

German troops were withdrawing in the Donets Basin—Berlin military circles telling Swedish correspondents that Axis fears of an Allied invasion in the West prompted the retreat. German lines also were sagging East of Smolensk, South of Bryansk, and deep inside the Ukraine, the Russians indicated.

The Germans, in a frantic effort to halt the wide Russian breakthrough beyond Taganrog, were reported in today's Moscow communique to have hurriedly shifted some of their inland forces to the South.

The Russians then promptly went over to the offensive Southwest of Voroshilovgrad, punching out gains of four to six miles toward Stalino and Debaltsevo, which lie on the network of railways feeding the Germans in the Central Donets.

Complete erasure of the collapsing German Donets front apparently was foreshadowed in a Berlin broadcast which said the Russians were amassing a tremendous striking force along the stretches of the Middle Donets River. This area is on the "roof" of the extended German salient. A Russian break-through there probably would result in an even larger encirclement of German troops than those trapped at Taganrog.

Soviet bombers pounded German troop trains and truck convoys rushing into the area between Mariupol and Taganrog. Several trains were smashed, more than 100 trucks destroyed and 25 planes shot down.

Advances of four to 7½ miles also were announced on the Bryansk and Smolensk fronts as the Russians recaptured 300 villages today in their unprecedented display of summer power.

Of the Smolensk front, where the Russian troops are reported within 45 miles of that Central anchor, the Moscow communique said:

"The enemy is bringing up his reserves and throwing them into counter-attacks straight from the march."

These attacks collapsed under coordinated Russian artillery blasts and 2000 Germans were killed in an unchecked Russian advance, the bulletin said.

MATERIAL LOSSES HEAVY

The regular daily bulletin told of fabulous German equipment losses in the Russian breakthrough at Taganrog. The toll as announced by Moscow:

Destroyed—535 German tanks; 212 planes, 404 guns of various calibre, 1500 machine guns, 3600 trucks, 10 fuel dumps, 29 ammunition dumps.

Captured—93 tanks, 195 guns of various calibre, 217 mortars, 409 machine guns, 594 trucks and 22 ammunition dumps.

Last of Nazi Prisoners Nabbed on Border

CLAYTON, N. Y., Sept. 1 (AP)—Three men identified as the three remaining escaped German war prisoners from Fort Henry, Kingston, Ont., were captured today by an immigration border patrolman.

Sixteen other prisoners who escaped from the prison last Thursday night had been apprehended by Saturday night in an intensive manhunt centering about Kingston.

An immigration official said the three captured here would be turned over to Canadian officials tonight.

He identified the trio as Wilhelm Joestling, 36, Ernest Muench, 22, and Heinz Wirtz, 21.

POLITICAL SIDE OF WAR TO DOMINATE TALKS

War Leaders Likely to Push Plans for Stalin Meeting

ENJOY SOCIAL

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (CP.)—Prime Minister Churchill arrived here today from Quebec for additional conferences with President Roosevelt, out of which may develop a tripartite meeting with Premier Stalin of Russia.

Accompanied by Mrs. Churchill, the Prime Minister arrived here by special train to be greeted at the station by the President. Their daughter, Mary, is expected later, at the conclusion of a trip through the Southern United States inspecting training facilities for the American Women's Army Corps.

White House officials said the Prime Minister's Washington trip did not represent the beginning of new war conferences, but the conclusion of those started at Quebec. The two Allied leaders are expected to devote most of their time to political considerations arising from the rapidly-changing military developments in Europe, including a study of post-war problems.

White House spokesmen, however, made it plain that Mr. Churchill's visit to Washington will be partly social and a start was made tonight by a small, informal dinner party at which Mrs. Elliot Roosevelt, the President's daughter-in-law, was the hostess, in the absence of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who is in New Zealand.

It was presumed here tonight that Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill will and expedite a meeting of British, American and Russian political experts as a prelude to a possible conference with Stalin.

The two Allied leaders have made no attempt, during and since the Quebec conference, to hide their desire for a round-table conference with Stalin but observers here do not believe such a meeting is an immediate possibility.

Observers here considered it improbable that military conferences with the Russians will be arranged until the eve of combined operations with the Red Army, largely because of the reluctance of the Soviets to discuss military details with the Western democracies, a practice they have followed throughout the war.

No Prisoners Sent to Germany Since Fascist Fall

LONDON, Sept. 1 (CP Cable)—Sir James Grigg, War Secretary, announced today that the Italian Government has given assurances that no British prisoners have been transferred to Germany since the fall of the Fascist regime in July.

"We know a certain number were transferred shortly before the change of government but still await details from the protecting power," he said.

Inquiries had been made through the International Red Cross which reported it had no information on any such transfer since the collapse of Mussolini's Fascist dictatorship.

ALLIED PATTERN FOR INVASION GROWS CLEARER

Powerful Weapon of 3-Service Attack Prepared

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN SICILY, Aug. 29 (Delayed) (CP Cable)—In the year of Dieppe and North Africa and Sicily the Allied pattern for European invasion has been gradually developed, and by patient planning and steadily enlarging Combined Operations an all-powerful weapon of three-service attack has been given a razor edge.

Sicily proved that Combined Operations of the colossal magnitude necessary for invasion of Europe are feasible.

Sicily showed, too, that the cost of invasion is not as high as had been estimated. A year ago the cost in lives, ships and material for an invasion seemed almost too terrible to contemplate.

It is possible that Sicily was unique, perhaps the weakest point in the European defences, but the fact remains that the Allies have worked out an invasion pattern.

AIR DOMINATION VITAL

After watching the campaign in Sicily from start to finish I am convinced the principal factor in cutting down losses was Allied air domination and that a successful invasion must be based primarily on his domination.

Air strength helped greatly to reduce losses in the fighting ashore. Seldom were our transport rads attacked. Night raids, of course, were made on our shipping and ports, but during the whole push on Messina the Allied forces scarcely were touched by Axis planes.

The Germans had committed a considerable air force to the defence of Sicily, but it stood no chance against the R.A.F. and the United States Army Air Corps.

When the time comes to move on into Europe Allied air supremacy is assured, according to Air Force chiefs.

THE NAVY'S ROLE

On the naval side of the picture, with North Africa and Sicily in Allied possession the sea runs to Southern Europe are vastly shortened. This means less drain on the resources of the Allies in big troopships and more use for small vessels which can be built rapidly.

The most important combined operation vessel on the sea is the tank landing craft, 160 feet by 30 feet and of about 300 tons. It's an ugly craft, looking like a Great Lakes freighter, but it can carry tanks, vehicles and troops right into the beach. The landing craft can answer for short sea runs, such as a cross-Channel attack or even for Mediterranean operations. They were used extensively in Sicily.

British naval strength has reached the point where it can give support for practically any combined operations.

But the Air Force and the Navy could not themselves invade. That is the Army's job and it faces the most difficulties of all.

A year ago an unofficial estimate was made that it would take 30 divisions to establish a bridgehead in Northern Europe and continue a successful advance for the first few weeks.

It is possible German forces in Northern Europe have been thinned out since then because of Russian front claims, but even at that the defenders on strongly-prepared positions have immense advantages as was shown in Sicily where sometimes a single Nazi company held up a couple of battalions or more until shelled out.

The Allied Command has to plan to have a predominate force in an attack. In Sicily this was so.

NO MORE BLOODBATH TALK

German forces now are scattered around Europe. There are thin spots in the line where the Allies conceivably could hit most effectively in Western France or the underbelly of Europe in the Mediterranean.

The cost of such operations would perhaps be much higher than in Sicily, for Dieppe illustrated how difficult it is to storm strongly-fortified ports and coast.

However, using the combined operations pattern now developed there is a good chance there would not be the bloodbaths which many envisaged as part and parcel of an invasion landing.

ALLIES MARK UP NEW GAIN AT SALAMAUA

In Solomons Raiders Find No Ack Ack at Santa Isabel Isle

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sept. 2 (Thursday) (AP)—Japanese in two strongly dug in positions South and Southeast of the Salamaua, New Guinea, airdrome, finally have been overwhelmed by American and Australian jungle fighters now closing in on the enemy base.

Several days ago, Allied forces approaching the airfield from the West and Southwest, supported by artillery, were reported within rifle range but today's communique was the first in more than a week to tell of an advance along the Coast.

(Last previous advices concerning the right flank were that the Japanese were holding to Dot Inlet as their only position South of the Francisco River which flows below the airdrome into Bayern Bay.)

In the Solomons sector, an attack Monday by a small force of Liberators on Santa Isabel Island, site of a Japanese seaplane base, for the first time drew no anti-aircraft fire, prompting conjecture that the Japanese may have evacuated it.

Such an evacuation would mean the Japanese had decided the island was untenable because it has been outflanked by American occupation of New Georgia and Vella Lavella Islands to the West.

On other recent attacks on Santa Isabel, the American raiders had encountered intense ack ack.

The communique did not elaborate on the Salamaua showdown battle but a spokesman for Gen. Douglas MacArthur said Japanese rearguards were contesting from long prepared positions the forward-moving Americans and Australians.

SINK 12 BARGES

The sapping of the Salamaua garrison's power to resist by sinking supply barges went forward with motor torpedo boats now augmenting bombing planes in New Guinea coastal waters where until recently Allied ships scarcely dared venture. Today's communique said these light surface craft sank 12 barges in the Huon Gulf, into which the isthmus town of Salamaua extends, during the week ending Aug. 30.

Monday Air Force Mitchells, flying along the South New Britain coastline, sank 10 barges.

In the vicinity of New Ireland, where a Japanese destroyer and cargo ship were attacked among small enemy convoys Monday, Allied reconnaissance planes Tuesday night attacked another enemy destroyer and an 8000-ton merchantman.

Barges, on which the Japanese also must rely almost entirely to supply their isolated garrison of 10,000 men at Vila, on Kolombangara in the Solomons, were targets in that area. In the Vella Gulf, between Kolombangara and American-occupied Vella Lavella, motor torpedo boats sank a loaded supply barge and damaged two others Monday morning. The day previously, Navy Corsairs destroyed two barges and a small cargo vessel.

CHINESE RECAPTURE TOWN

CHUNGKING, Sept. 1 (AP)—Chinese forces have recaptured the town of Hengli, near Canton, after killing more than 300 Japanese, a Chinese High Command communique said today.

Musfelt Returned to Oakalla After Serving Year in Regina

VANCOUVER, Sept. 1 (CP)—A 20-year-old prisoner who escaped from Oakalla prison farm May 29, 1942, was brought back from Regina today by Provincial Constable Peter Kelsberg to finish serving sentences totalling two and a half years. He is Albert Musfelt, Jr., who served a year in Regina for theft of a car since he made his getaway from Oakalla, 15 months ago, while serving a year for car stealing and 18 months for a previous jail break.

3 of 70 Survive Collision and Fire at Sea

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Sept. 1 (CP)—A bare three men out of a crew of more than 70 survived a collision and subsequent fire at sea that transformed an Allied freighter into a blistered hulk, according to evidence given tonight at a coroner's inquest over the bodies of 34 of the victims.

Inquest testimony disclosed that of the complement of the ship—which was towed in here afire yesterday from a spot 300 miles off Nova Scotia—three survivors have been taken to St. John, Nfld., 34 are known dead and more than 30 are "missing."

While the inquest was held, the still smouldering ship lay beached in a corner of this harbor, smoke and flame still rising from her cargo. Apparently, she had carried ammunition for from time to time in the last 24 hours a rolling of explosive such as small arms ammunition could be heard by those on shore.

The number of men in the merchant and gun crews were given to the inquest jury by a representative of the owners.

This witness testified a collision had caused the loss of life and Royal Canadian Navy witnesses declared no enemy action had been involved. There was no evidence as to the condition of the other vessel involved in the crash.

The ravaged vessel was carrying "general cargo" the owner's representative declared.

Netherlands Rail Yards Bombed

LONDON, Sept. 1 (CP)—Allied planes, serving notice on Hitler that his fifth year of war may be his most bitter, followed up Tuesday night's hell of bombs for Berliners with air attacks on railway yards in the Netherlands and a Nazi seagoing barge off the Dutch Islands.

Medium bombers raided the marshalling yards at Roosendaal, Holland, with escorting fighter pilots reporting accurate hits on the junction of four busy rail lines, the Air Ministry News Service said.

On the return journey the fighters attacked a large sea-going barge off the coast.

Northern Resources Good Says Anscomb

VANCOUVER, Sept. 1 (CP.)—Prospects for developing the natural resources of Northern British Columbia are exceptionally good, Public Works Minister Anscomb said today as he returned from a tour of the area during which he attended the opening of the new Peace River suspension bridge near Fort St. John.

"Coal and other minerals undoubtly are present in vast quantities in the Peace River areas connected by the new bridge," Mr. Anscomb said. "All that it needs is opening up. There will be room for many thousands more people in our Province."

SUGGEST AIR TRANSPORT PLAN FOR BRITISH

Would Form Board to Develop World Air Routes

By FOSTER BARCLAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 1 (CP)—Four outspoken Conservative members of Parliament, carrying their agreed views on civil aviation outside the House of Commons, have submitted to the Government an "air transport policy."

The parliamentarians proposed formation of an Empire Air Board for development of Empire air transport without infringing the domestic liberty of the Dominions.

Their pamphlet, signed by Ronald Tree, W. R. D. Perkins, J. A. Wright and Alfred Bell, was distributed to members of the House of Commons and lobby correspondents.

Publication of the document coincided with an appeal to the Government by the Joint Transport Committee of the Association of British Chambers of Commerce, the Federation of British Industries and the London Chamber of Commerce, for immediate action to frame a unified commonwealth air transport policy.

The Conservative parliamentarians extended the following recommendations:

Formation of an air registration board for the United Kingdom to plan air routes and hear applications from would-be air line operators.

Formation of a European Air Board for the control of trunk routes throughout the continent and a European Air Transport Company in which each nation would be interested on an equal basis to operate European routes;

The transfer of government control of civil air transport from the Air Ministry to a Civil Transport Command.

The Conservatives said they believed that a world air transport system internationally owned and operated would not be acceptable to the United States or Russia and would not command general support in the British House of Commons.

Instead, they advocated an international convention embodying the principle that the fundamental concern of air transportation is to render genuine public service to the largest number of people; an international authority for the technical regulation of air navigation and agreed machinery for the promotion of air transport and air commerce among nations.

Hull Says Allied Meeting Desirable

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—State Secretary Cordell Hull said today an Anglo-Soviet-American conference to discuss urgent problems of the war is highly desirable.

Asked if he was prepared to attend a London parley of British, American and Soviet foreign ministers, Hull told a press conference he has no plans and that he did not know yet whether the proposed conference might be held.

Later, the Department issued the following statement:

"The Soviet Government has been consulted and has been kept fully informed by the United States and British Governments in regard to all aspects of the military situation as it has developed in connection with operations against Italy and other operations in the European theatre, and with respect to political situations arising directly out of military operations."

Bombs, Shells Hit Marcus Island; Attack a Screen?

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—In a direct threat to the security of the Japanese homeland, a powerful task force of the United States Navy has bombed and shelled Marcus Island, outpost guarding the approaches to Tokyo.

The raid obviously had a strong psychological impact on the Japanese, for the Tokyo Radio said:

"The enemy could have raided the mainland if he wanted to, so the people of Japan must further solidify the defence against the enemy."

First word of the raid on Marcus, only 1200 miles from Tokyo, came from a broadcast Japanese communique, which said the island was attacked at dawn Sept. 1—Aug. 31, Washington time. It said, "Many planes raided Minamitou Shima (Marcus) at dawn today, and the enemy shelled the land by naval guns."

This report was substantially confirmed by a Navy Department statement here a few hours later. The American naval spokesman said:

"A carrier task force raid planned for Sept. 1 is presumably in progress at Marcus Island. The United States task force should have arrived on schedule time. However no report has been received from the raiding force and it is presumed there will be none until need for radio silence ceases to exist."

Not since the United States entered the war had the Navy issued a statement reporting a raid while it still was in progress. The announcement today indicated complete confidence of the High Command here that the task force was so powerful as to be able to cope with any forces the Japanese might attempt to throw against it.

Whether the phrase "in progress" meant that the island was still being battered today or simply that maneouvres following the assault were considered a part of it was not explained and no details are expected for many hours.

AIR, RADIO BASE

Marcus Island, which the Japanese own, lies 900 miles Northwest of enemy held Wake Island. It is an air and radio base and because of its strategic location holds dominance over the Southeastern approach es to the Tokyo area.

The makeup of the task force which delivered the assault was not indicated beyond the fact that it contained one or more airplane carriers. It seemed likely, however, that it also included one or more battleships since the Navy has found that the heavy anti-aircraft wallop of the big fellows is an effective defence for carriers.

The immediate purpose of the raid was a subject of great speculation in naval circles here, although no one outside the High Command knew anything about it. One theory was that it either covered or served as a preliminary diversion for a more significant operation. A landing to recapture Wake Island and make it an advance American base might be screened by an attack on Marcus, or an amphibious assault on Paramushiro Island in the Kuriles far to the North might be preceded by such an action.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Tokyo radio said today that the chief of staff of the China Sea fleet and the chief of staff of Personnel at the Yokosuka naval base have been "transferred" to "important sea duties."

The changes in command, as announced by Tokyo, made Vice Admiral Kanji Ugaki Chief of Staff of the China Sea Fleet. The broadcast did not name his predecessor.

Rear Admiral Katsuzo Akiyama was named as the new Yokosuka Personnel Chief, succeeding Rear Admiral Masatsugo Hoshino, and Rear Admiral Tadayuki Matsunaga as Chief of Staff, succeeding Vice Admiral Minoru Kanai.

BIG WARSHIPS BOMBARD ITALIAN COAST

U.S. Planes Smack Pisa's Yards, Big Electric System

OTHER AREAS HIT

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 1 (AP.)—Suddenly switching their hammer assaults to Northern Italy, United States four-motored bombers delivered a mighty blow to railroad yards at Pisa of Leaning Tower fame yesterday, while Britain's big battleships Nelson and Rodney led a thunderous shelling of the Western Italian toe.

The bombers on a 1000-mile roundtrip, poured explosives on the centre of freight yards at Pisa and the electrified system capable of handling at least 96 trains daily between Rome and Genoa, and also hit the nearby San Guisto airfield and Piaggo aircraft factory.

Pisa lies 170 miles North of Rome. The famous tower, completed in 1350, and other historic monuments were spared by the bombers.

Assaults on Southern points continued with medium bombers and fighter-bombers attacking Salerno, Cosenza, Catanzaro, Sapri and Cetraro. Bombers from the Middle East smacked Pescara on the Eastern coast opposite Rome.

Leading the cruiser Orion and nine destroyers, the battleships Nelson and Rodney steamed into the Southern end of the Messina Strait and bombarded Italian coastal defence batteries with their 16-inch, one-ton shells, meeting only feeble shore resistance. The warships also shelled the area near Reggio Calabria and near Cape Pellaro. They knocked out at lehst one big enemy coastal gun.

The big bombers met only 25 enemy fighters at Pisa and shot down six of them.

Only two Allied planes were lost in all the day's attacks.

Canada Preparing for Action in Post War Trade—Ilsley

QUEBEC, Sept. 1 (CP)—Finance Minister Ilsley in a speech here today said that Canada must be prepared after victory to do its share in developing trade between countries, "possibly even in helping other countries develop themselves to the point where they can trade effectively with us and with others."

In an address delivered at the 59th annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, he said, "We are pushing ahead now in Ottawa with efforts to prepare ourselves for such international action."

After the war, "we must pursue better housing with the same effort and effectiveness that we are devoting now to price control," he said. "We must conceive and carry out social insurance with the same boldness and thoroughness with which we have raised the income tax for war purposes. We must have the same courage and faith in financing useful peacetime development as we have had to apply in financing the war.

"If we have sought to control increases in prices or wages, it is not because we want to deprive farmers and workers of any benefit which at first blush would stem to result therefrom," he continued.

It was rather "because we believe that such increases, here, there, and ultimately everywhere, will in the end, under war conditions, bring untold grief to agriculture and the working class—and will also lead to a confusion that will hinder our efforts in the war."

Danish Minister to Sweden Cuts Home Ties; Danes Keep Up Fight

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Danish Minister to Sweden, Johan C. W. Kruse, severed diplomatic ties with his homeland tonight, declaring that a constitutional government had ceased to exist there with the advent of a German military dictatorship.

Kruse's announcement was considered significant by Danes hoping to form an exiled government affiliated with the United Nations because the 62-year-old Minister is a personal envoy of the interned King Christian X.

The Kruse announcement said the King, as a prisoner of the Germans, was unable to perform his constitutional functions.

Asked by the Danish Free Press in Stockholm whether the move meant the Minister was joining the Free Danish movement, the Minister said: "I can add nothing to this at the moment."

The major political development came as the revolting Danes continued passive resistance, and, apparently, sabotage.

Refugees reaching Sweden said an 8000-ton barracks ship in Copenhagen harbor was blasted by a magnetic mine early today.

Industrial slowdowns were reported in factories in Copenhagen, Aalborg, Aarhus, Ringsted and Roskilde.

Five-Point Program for Canada's Foreign Policy Given Newsmen

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (CP.) — More than any other country, Canada is dependent for future greatness and prosperity on a world system of collective security, Brooke Claxton, Parliamentary Assistant to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, told newspapermen here today.

On his way back to Ottawa from a speaking enagement in the Mid-western United States, Claxton met a group of Canadian and American newspapermen at lunch.

He laid down a five-point program as his version of Canada's foreign policy:

1. The promotion of cooperation between Britain and the United States.

2. Cooperation with the United States in the protection of the North American continent and of Britain which, in this day of rapid transport, should be regarded as an outpost and bastion of this continent.

3. The formation of some permanent organization of the United Nations as soon as possible.

4. Representation of the individual United Nations on wartime boards and commissions on a functional basis.

5. The promotion of freer trade in the post-war world and the freer interchange of goods.

He was questioned by American newspapermen on Canada's willingness to abandon the restrictive trade policies embodied in the agreements signed at the 1932 Ottawa Imperial Conference and said he believed the Canadian people would be willing to abandon them providing mutual arrangements on a wider scale could be substituted. In any event, the Ottawa agreements have been modified by war conditions to such an extent they are practically in a state of suspended animation today.

Kimberley Rotary Club Has Dinner and Social

KIMBERLEY, B. C. — Over 40 members of the Kimberley Rotary Club, including their wives and lady friends, enjoyed a splendid dinner and social evening at the Marysville Hotel. Following the dinner community singing was enjoyed.

Solos were rendered by Miss Haye of Marysville, and accordion solos by her brother, Albert Haye. The latter also accompanied the community singing. Solos were rendered by Mrs. S. Crawford of Kimberley, and Don Brown. Mrs. Suert accompanied the soloists on the piano.

Much fun was created by the giving of a type-written questionnaire to those present. First prize was won by Mrs. E. Whistlecroft and the second by S. Waites.

The highlight of the evening was the showing of pictures on the screen by Steve Waites. They comprised scenes of Kimberley, and District, also East and West Kootenay and Dominion Day celebration pictures. They were all in natural colors.

Buzz Beurling Sworn in as R.C.A.F. Member

LONDON, Sept. 1 (CP Cable).—FO. George (Buzz) Beurling of Verdun, Canada's ace airman who rolled up the impressive score of 27 enemy planes shot down over Malta, was sworn in today as a member of the R.C.A.F.

Beurling had been a member of the R.A.F., which accepted him after the R.C.A.F. rejected the Verdun airman because he did not have the required educational qualifications.

After the ceremony Beurling explained why he made the change. "Only by transferring can I get back into the air," he said.

The Verdun air ace had been protesting vigorously since he was assigned to an instructor's job in an R.A.F. gunnery school after his return from Canada.

Recalls Poland's Four-Year Fight

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP.)—Poland's four-year fight against Nazi aggression and repression was recalled tonight by Victor Podoski, Polish Minister to Canada, in a radio address on the fourth anniversary of the outbreak of war.

Poland fought without outside help when attacked from the West, South and North Sept. 1, 1939, and from the East Sept. 17, he said. Later a reconstituted Polish Army fought in France and Norway, stood guard over part of the Scottish coast, and now is poised in the Near East ready to fight its way back into Europe.

"Had Poland yielded to the overwhelming forces and not accepted the challenge, the whole unleashed fury of the Teutons, superbly mustered, fresh and defiant, would have turned Westward against our Allies," he said.

"The story of the world would read differently had Hitler been able to attack Norway, the Lowlands, France and Britain in September, 1939, instead of eight months later."

Poland had paid a high price for resistance and refusal to collaborate.

"The population of Poland has fallen by 7,000,000 to 8,000,000," said the Minister.

Nelson District Nears Goal for Chinese Fund

With a few more contributions, the goal of $3000 for Nelson District in the current drive for the Chinese War Relief Fund will be realized, Mayor N. C. Stibbs, Chairman, stated Wednesday night.

"We have about $1725 now, and I know of a few more contributions to come," His Worship said, "so that our objective is within reach."

Chinese, representing a small proportion of the population, have contributed $716.50, almost half of the total so far.

During the present campaign few contributions have been received from district points," Mayor Stibbs said. "We have several lists at different points in the district, but they have not yet come in, so the $1725 represents almost entirely contributions in Nelson. In the last campaign, for the Russian Relief Fund, we sent in $3900. But in that campaign district contributions were fairly heavy."

Military Mission Seeks Effective Way to Finish Japs

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1 (AP)—What kind of guns, planes and ships will most effectively kill the enemy "when we turn the full heat on Japan" is the purpose of a 26-man British military mission headed by Maj. Gen. J. S. Lethbridge, he said today.

In his first press conference since their arrival in the United States, the General said that "Germany must be defeated first" and "then we will turn every gun and every ship and every available man on the Jap."

"This Pacific war is entirely different from the war we are fighting in Europe and Africa and our specialists on my mission are here to go to the front lines—an infantryman with the infantry in New Guinea, a artilleryman with the artillery in New Georgia, and an air man with a carrier in the Pacific— and after studying the needs, we will make our recommendations."

May Require All Employers to Check Up Employees

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP)—Regulations requiring employers to satisfy themselves that all male employees of age and marital classes designated under mobilization regulations are in possession of papers showing that they have been rejected by the Army, discharged from the Forces or have otherwise complied with Mobilization Regulations are under "active consideration," Arthur MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service, announced today.

"While it may be some little time before an order to this effect is actually issued," Mr. MacNamara said in a statement, "the delay will be due largely to the necessity of giving the men an opportunity of securing the necessary documents, if they do not already possess them."

Apple Crop Outlook Better

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP) — The Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today that estimates of the apple crops in New Brunswick, Ontario, and British Columbia have been revised upward since July, but that the gain had been somewhat offset by a reduction in Nova Scotia.

Indications now are for a Canadian crop of 3,494,400 barrels, an eight per cent reduction from the 1942 harvest of 4,330,900.

The outlook for pears has improved and the crop now is estimated at 506,000 bushels, a "sharp reduction" from the 1942 crop of 752,900 bushels.

The plum crop, including prunes, now is estimated at 331,500 bushels, a further drop since July, and compared with 365,500 last year.

The peach prospect also declined during the last month and a crop of 571,100 bushels is expected, a drop of 70 per cent from 1942.

The British Columbia apple crop prospects also improved slightly during the mont and a harvest of 1,399,100 barrels now is anticipated. The earliest varieties are practically all harvested and Gravenstein and Wealthy now are moving to market in volume. McIntosh are maturing rapidly and all varieties are sling well and taking on a fine color.

Supplies Are Only Problem Before Tokyo Is Bombed

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1 (AP) — The problem of supplying bases in China and the Aleutians is the only major problem to be solved before a U. S. shuttle-trip bombing of Japan will be possible, says Lt.-Gen. John L. Dewitt.

Speaking at a Press conference, his first since he returned from a visit to the Aleutian Islands, the Commander of the United States Western Defence Command, and Fourth Army said the United States now has airfields as close to the Mikado's home islands as was the aircraft carrier Hornet when the "Shangri-la" bombing of Tokyo was launched.

Turning to the situation on the West Coast of the United States, Gen. Dewitt said the danger of air bombings still exists because "the Japs can always run a carrier through, if they're ready to lose it."

He said ousting of the Japanese from the Aleutians has "decreased the threat of invasion on the West Coast," but warned of the possibility of the Japanese landing saboteurs from submarines.

Super-Bomber Engines Under Construction

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—Engines for super-bombers, predicted by Gen. H. H. Arnold yesterday are under construction in a plant of the Wright Aeronautical Corporation, the United States Army Air Forces announced today in a statement made public by the Corporation.

Arnold, Commanding General of the Air Forces, forecast that the new bombers, soon to go into action, would dwarf the Flying Fortresses and could carry half a carload of bombs across the Atlantic and fly home without a stop.

The Wright Corporation said the Air Force announcement contained information that the new bombers would be powered by cyclone 18 engines, which it said were the most powerful service engines now being built in the United States.

Deny U.S. Keeping Russ in Dark

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) — The United States State Department sharply contradicted recently-published reports that Britain and the United States have been playing a lone game in the Mediterranean, keeping Soviet Russia in the dark.

A statement by the Department said:

"The Soviet Government has been consulted and has been kept fully informed by the United States and British Governments in regard to all aspects of the military situation as it has developed in connection with operations against Italy and other operations in the European theatre, and with respect to political situations arising directly out of military operations."

Summer Complaint

Few people, especially children, escape an attack of summer complaint during the hot weather.

Summer complaint begins with a profuse diarrhoea very often accompanied by vomiting and purging. The matter excreted from the stomach has a bilious appearance, and that from the bowels watery, whitish, ill-smelling, or even odorless.

When the children show any sign of looseness of the bowels the mother should administer a few doses of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry so as to bring quick relief.

This medicine has been on the market for the past 94 years. Refuse substitutes. They may be dangerous.

Flaming Raid on Berlin Opens 5th Year of War

By GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Great fleets of R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. heavy bombers blasted Berlin last night in a flaming, 45-minute concentrated assault of block-buster and incendiary bombs to usher in the fifth year of war for Germans with an ordeal of fire and exploding steel.

"Great damage" was inflicted on the Nazi capital in this second massive assault in eight days, the Air Ministry announced.

Forty-seven bombers, eight of them Canadian, were lost as the bombers bored through stiff defence by German fighters. R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. Mosquitoes struck targets, including airfields, in France and the Low Countries. "Several" Nazi fighters were downed. One Allied plane was lost on this operation.

The first formations of bombers, with Britons and Canadians throwing their heaviest planes into the attack, began pouring down explosives at 11:30 p.m. and continued the hail into the morning of another year of war.

Again the Germans relied on new tactics of defence—throwing out swarms of fighters while hundreds of searchlights probed for the attackers and anti-aircraft fire was lightened. This was tried in the raid on the capital last week and later over Nuremberg.

"Last year when I took part in two attacks on the German capital there seemed to be even more guns then in the Ruhr, but then there were few fighters around," said one veteran of 1942 attacks.

"Now it is the other way around. There were droves of fighters last night but the anti-aircraft fire was only moderate."

It was the 77th raid of the war upon Berlin, and preliminary reports "indicate great damage was done," the Air Ministry declared.

"The enemy put up very large fighter forces over the capital and its approaches in an unsuccessful attempt to prevent the launching of the concentrated attack," and a large number of them were destroyed, the Air Ministry said.

"Broken clouds at low levels made it difficult to assess results visually, but large fires were seen and indications are that great damage was done in this 76th assault on Berlin," the communique said.

Observers on the British South-east Coast declared the droves of the Berlin-bound bombers was heard overhead for two hours, suggesting that the attacking force was as great or greater than that hurled against the city a week ago Monday night when 2,000 tons of explosives and incendiaries were dropped.

Characteristically the German radio described the assault as a "new terror raid" and asserted that the British and Canadian bombers had been dispersed with heavy losses by newly reorganized anti-aircraft defences.

The German Air Force struck back at England on a comparatively small scale. A few Nazi planes were reported to have swept over the East Coast of England during the night, dropping bombs which caused only slight damage.

Japs Pull Back Bases on New Guinea

By OLEN CLEMENTS
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Japanese Airforce, so badly mauled on New Guinea that its reinforcement bases are being pulled back, counted losses at Wewak alone above 360 as the result of a new Allied raid in which from 20 to 25 Japanese planes were wrecked on the ground.

Big four-engined raiders blasted Wewak's airdromes with 92 tons of bombs Monday without opposition, and suffered no losses.

Headquarters disclosed that the Japanese have been rushing in air reinforcements to New Guinea. But these are being pulled back dangerously far from the garrisons they are intended to support and are being based at such points as Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea.

The majority of Monday's bag were medium enemy bombers blasted to bits on the Dagua Airfield.

At the airdrome of But, three huge blazes broke out among aircraft in revetments. Other raiders struck at Tadji, 75 miles North of Wewak.

Allied planes have been pounding at the Wewak airdromes, 360 miles above the land fighting at Salamaua, since mid-August.

In the first two raids there, 215 out of 225 planes were wiped out, most of them on the ground. By August 21, after the raids reached four it was estimated at least 306 planes had been destroyed. Sunday's raiders added at least 37 and possibly 49 to the total.

The latest reports on the fighting for the big airdrome at Salamaua told of see-saw, close grips action yesterday. Australian and American troops scored limited advances. A few days ago, the Allied force was at the Southwestern edge of the airstrip but since then have given ground slightly before bitter Japanese counter-attacks.

Study Request for More Liquor in West

VICTORIA, Sept. 1 (CP)—Federal authorities are studying the request of British Columbia and Alberta for special liquor consideration in view of increased populations, W. F. Kennedy, Chairman of the B. C. Liquor Control Board reported today on his return from Montreal, where he attended a meeting of Canadian Liquor Commissioners with David Sim, Deputy Minister of National Revenue and Administrator of alcholic products.

"We (B. C. and Alberta) claimed that due to the increase in our populations we should have special consideration," Mr. Kennedy said. "Ottawa is making a study of the situation now."

Mr. Kennedy said he could foresee no universal liquor ration across Canada. All the Provinces would not agree to this, he said, since Provinces with sufficient liquor are not prepared to share their rations with other Provinces, as Provincial revenues would be adversely affected.

He said the B. C. liquor ration would remain the same as in recent months during September and October. What will happen in November, when a new liquor year starts he is unable to forecast.

"We are hoping some of our work in Montreal will bear fruit by that time," he said.

At the Montreal meeting Mr. Kennedy was elected President of the National Association of Liquor Commissions of Canada, representatives of eight Canadian Liquor Boards. Prince Edward Island is a dry Province.

Fighters Battled 50-60 Zeros at Kahili Field

By WILLIAM HIPPLE
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTH PACIFIC, Sept. 1 (AP)—U. S. fighters battled 50 to 60 Zeros which attempted to intercept an American attack on Kahili Airfield on Bougainville Island and destroyed 36 of the enemy planes, a spokesman at South Pacific headquarters disclosed today.

The air victory was achieved Monday. American losses were "very light," the spokesman said.

For the first time South Pacific headquarters disclosed a new Japanese fighter plane, called Type 3, had been in action in the South Pacific area. One was shot down in Monday's raid on Kahili Airdrome.

The new plane has a liquid-cooled, in-line motor and greater speed and power than the Zero's air-cooled, radial engine. The Type 3's are thought to have more armament than the comparatively light-gunned Zeros.

Glamor Girl Goes to Work on Farm

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

The dumpy figure in the field might almost have been a scarecrow. But it straightened up and greeted me with a "Hi, ya." And I walked across the newly plowed field to where this parody of a girl, picking beans, brushed a smocked sleeve across her face that seemed wet from a thousand invisible spigots.

"You didn't know me, did you?" she challenged. And then, as a mouthful of gleaming white teeth, brilliant blue eyes, with long upcurling lashes asserted themselves in my memory, I recognized a glamor girl from among season before lasts crop of debutanies.

"Trying to get thin? I inquired cynically. "I hadn't noticed traces of a spare tire around your midriff."

"No, I've just got down to brass tacs, that's all. When Will went overseas and I kissed him goodbye, I had a sudden realization that I might never see him again, and it seemed to me a shabby substitute for what he was doing— my going to recreation centres, canteens, dancing with soldiers, and sailors and handing out soft drinks and all that sort of thing. Good enough in its way and helpful but not going far enough when the only man you ever loved and promised to marry is courting death nightly in a bomber."

"And how do you get along with the family?" I couldn't resist the temptation of inquiring, knowing this particular farm carried on under the most primitive conditions.

She laughed heartily. "The first night I sat down to supper, the old man removed his false teeth at the table. I couldn't touch a thing but a glass of milk that night. His daughter, I believe, must have tipped him off, for the next night, he either kept them in or took them out before we sat down. He's a man of few words, so I couldn't tell. At first they were very doubtful about accepting my services. In fact, I've never had such a hard time crashing an entrance anywhere as at this farm, where there isn't even a bathtub."

"What do you do about that?" I asked.

"Bathe in a washtub Wednesdays and Saturdays; the rest of the time sponge in a basin. But dont feel sorry for me; I couldn't exist any other way except working so hard that I don't go crazy over Bill and his bomber, and sleeping at night from all-out fatigue. It's good for me, and I'm learning a lot about people I never knew before."

MISS CONTRYMAN N. MCPHAIL WED KIMBERLEY

Cranbrook United Church, resplendent with Summer blooms, was the scene Aug. 25 of the wedding of Annie Irene, elder daughter of Mrs. M. Countryman and Neil MacPhail, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. D. MacPhail of Kimberley. Rev. S. T. Galbraith officiated at the ceremony. Given in marriage by her uncle, J. Hesson of Cranbrook, the bride was gowned in a floor length jersey gown cut on princess lines and featuring a high-neckline, full shirt and long sleeves with embroidered yoke and waist. Her only ornament was a heart-shaped locket, the gift of the groom. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a heart-shaped halo of shirred net, and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses and fern.

Miss Jean Countryman as bridesmaid wore a floor-length jacket frock of chartreuse brocaded net fashioned on princess lines, with matching picture hat, and carried a bouquet of mauve gladioli and baby's breath.

John MacPhail supported his brother, while Martin Harris acted as usher.

During the signing of the register Miss Nan McLeary sang "I Love You Truly." Miss Betty McLeary was organist.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle, J. Hesson, for immediate friends and relatives. Assisting in receiving were the bride's mother, gowned in a powder blue afternoon dress with white accessories and corsage of red roses, and the mother of the groom, wearing a two-piece tan floral sheer with white accessories and corsage of white roses.

The bride's table was covered by a Scotch lace cloth and centred by a three-tier wedding cake embedded in white tulle. Pink and white sweet peas graced the table, while white tapers and pink phlox flanked the wedding cake. Serviteurs were Miss Luba Zilli and Miss Pat Condon.

For a honeymoon to West Kootenay points, the bride donned a two-piece silk suit of British tan with white accessories and corsage of white roses.

The happy couple will reside in Kimberley.

The bride has been on the staff of the Kimberley schools for the past three years.

Out-of-town guests included the uncle and aunt of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Fraser and family of Vancouver.

Doctor Refreshes Knowledge of Small Children

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

The war has helped refresh my knowledge of babies. My daughter and her baby, whose husband is a physician in the Navy are with us, probably for the duration. They were also with us when this baby girl was from two to three months of age. Now she is fourteen months old and I can observe her daily.

She walks a bit and creeps and climbs anywhere allowed. As any other baby at this stage of development, she needs constant supervision when not asleep.

Fortunately she sleeps from seven to seven at night and has a forenoon and afternoon nap of two hours each daily, on schedule. Like her mother at this age, she is a very good-natured, happy youngster.

With a normal amount of wriggling, she seems to be unusually calm, thanks, perhaps, to her ample sleep, good routines and serene mother. There are no apparent nervous habits and thumb-sucking has not been a problem. No temper tantrums as yet nor prolonged spells of crying. The radio is silent while the child is awake.

Occasionally, a suitable record is played for her which she enjoys and responds to with some show of rhythm. The grandparents are trying not to hamper this child's upbringing but to cooperate with the mother.

PLAYS IN BABY PEN

This baby spends numerous short periods in her baby pen or baby chair-table. The latter is 25 by 25 inches and 21 inches high with a comfortable seat in the middle of it with an adjustable foot-rest reaching to about nine inches from the floor.

READING TO BABY

Gradually she has come to enjoy being read to for very brief periods and likes to have us recite nursery rhymes to her and verses from Robert Louis Stevenson. She eats well. Food is not forced on her.

A coffee table with two ash trays and potted plant on it were selected as the first thing for her to learn to avoid. It cost her having her hand slapped three times to effect this avoidance, but there were no exceptions. Next she learned to avoid a vase and lamp at each end of the davenport, costing her only two more handslaps. From all other things she is merely kept away for the time, though she is not yet left near the learned-to-avoid objects alone, lest she might be unduly tempted. Gradually this little girl will learn to avoid other things about the house and be happy with the many things she can have. I know that carefully planned, consistent training in the meaning of word "no" works, and at very little cost.

Hints for Housewives

By BETSY NEWMAN

A simple but appetising main dish which would serve for luncheon, dinner or supper is Bacon and Fried apples. Many of you doubtless serve it fairly often, but to some it is new. You can use sausage instead of the bacon if you prefer or if it is more convenient.

TODAY'S MENU
Fried Bacon and Apples
Mashed Sweet Potatoes
Buttered Cauliflower
Raw Vegetable Salad
Light Chocolate Cake Tea

FRIED BACON AND APPLE

Fry bacon, and when nicely brown take out and keep hot. If there is a great deal of fat, pour off all but about 2 or 3 tablespoons. Wash and slice apples without paring. Put a layer of sliced apples into the hot fat, skin side down, sprinkle with brown sugar, and when nearly done, turn and brown. Place apples on platter around bacon and sprinkle with brown sugar. Set in a heated oven to keep hot and continue frying apples until all are done.

LIGHT CHOCOLATE CAKE

1 cup sugar, ½ cup shortening, 2 eggs, beaten, 1 cup buttermilk, 2 cups cake flour, ½ teaspoon vanilla, pinch salt, 1 teaspoon soda, dissolved in 1 tablespoon warm water, 1 square chocolate, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup water.

Melt chocolate, then add sugar and water and heat until sugar is dissolved. Cool.

Cream shortening, add sugar and cream in well, add beaten eggs. Dissolve soda in warm water and add next. Sift flour, measure and sift again with salt, and alternately with sour milk; add vanilla and chocolate mixture last, and bake in loaf or layer in 350 degree oven for 40 to 45 minutes in loaf; 25 minutes if baked in layers.

CHILI SAUCE

Five pounds ripe tomatoes, 3 large onions, 3 sweet green peppers, 3 sweet red peppers, 1 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons salt, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, ½ teaspoon cayenne pepper, 1 teaspoon ground cloves, 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon, 3 cups vinegar.

Peel and core tomatoes, peel onions, remove seeds from peppers and chop altogether. Add all ingredients except vinegar and boil gently for 2 hours, stirring occasionally. Add vinegar and cook slowly until thick. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal.

Preserving Fruit Situation Serious

The preserving fruit situation is very serious, Nelson wholesalers reported Wednesday, due to the poor crop in British Columbia this year, and the fact that the established price ceiling does not allow importation of U. S. fruit where it can be handled at a profit.

Oranges are very scarce and hard to procure. There are sufficient supplies of B. C. cantaloups at the present time.

Vegetables, such as cucumbers, tomatoes and roots, are plentiful. Corn on the cob is moving well but supplies are limited.

The steady demand for cooked meats far exceeds the supply, one wholesaler reported. Fresh meat sales have fallen off during the hot weather but are picking up now.

Car arrivals included one car of meats, one of feed and feed products, one of alfalfa hay, one of flour and feed, grain and grain products, and one of clam shell.

Gray Creek Ladies Hostess to Crawford Bay W. I.

CRAWFORD BAY, B. C. — The Gray Creek members of the Crawford Bay W. I. were hostesses for the August meeting in the Gray Creek Hall. Arrangements for raising money for servicemen's parcels were made, and Mrs. Mooney, Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Fraser were reappointed as the Committe to attend to packing the parcels.

A donation of $5 was voted to the Red Cross jam project, Mrs. Neal brought a beautifully made quilt to be sent to the Red Cross and Mrs. Watson reported nine quilt squares on hand. A letter from the Creston Red Cross was read, giving information on prisoner-of-war parcels

Of interest to all members was a clipping read from the Vancouver Sun mentioning Bob Francis, a former Crawford Bay boy, now a public relations officer with the R.C.A.F. Peter Stursberg, ace reporter for the CBC in Sicily, reported he and Bob visiting together a town "run" by a young American Lieutenant and paratrooper.

Mrs. Watson read an article and Mrs. Lymbery a recitation.

Jams and Preserved Fruit Come Under Rationing Today; Details of Plan; 6 Liquid Oz. Means Half Lb.

D coupons in No. 3 book will be used. Two coupons will become valid each month on the same dates as sugar ration coupons.

Values of coupons are quoted in "liquid" ounces, so that in cases in which the weight is given on containers in avoirdupois, the value in the terms generally used by retailer and the public will be greater than the "liquid" weight. Six ounces liquid weight means eight ounces ordinary weight, 12 ounces means one pound. A 4-pound can of jam will thus require eight coupons, or equal to the monthly allowance in coupons of a family of four. Two coupons, each good for six "liquid" ounces, will cover a pound can of jam.

Families which buy little jam or preserves can obtain instead one-half pound of sugar for each coupon.

VALUE SCHEDULE

The coupon value schedule is as follows, each classification providing alternatives:

Spare D, will permit purchase of not more than:

(a) 6 fluid ounces jams, jellies, marmalades, (including fountain fruits), extracted honey, apple butter, maple butter, honey butter,

or

(b) ½-pound net comb honey (in squares), maple sugar,

or

(c) 10 fluid ounces canned fruit,

or

(d) 10 fluid ounces molasses, maple syrup,

or

(e) 12 fluid ounces corn syrup or cane syrup or any blended table syrup,

(f) ½ pound net sugar.

Note—Six fluid ounces equals 8 ounces net; 12 fluid ounces equals 1 pound net; 9 fluid ounces equals 12 ounces net; 24 fluid ounces equals 2 pounds net.

When purchasing goods in containers it will not always be possible for the consumer to get the exact value shown above for his coupons.

For example, if buying jam in containers (contents indicated in fluid ounces):

One coupon is good for one 4, 5, or 6 ounce jar (which means up to half pound avoirdupois) or two 3 ounce jars.

Two coupons are good for one 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, or 12 ounce jar (which means up to one pound avoirdupois), or two 6 ounce jars, or three 4 ounce jars, or any combination adding up to not more than the total value of the coupons presented.

Canada is short of jams, preserved fruit, honey, etc., and the Nelson office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board points out that rationing cannot guarantee sufficient supplies of each commodity to satisfy consumer choice. The Board will attempt to assure consumers that at least one of the articles covered by rationing will be available.

The inclusion of sugar as an alternative means that it will always be possible for the consumers to spend their coupons. "Naturally, efforts will be made by the Allocation Branch of the Foods Administration and by the Coordinator of Distributive Trades to provide sufficient quantities of the articles in short supply but the public should understand that they will not always be able to obtain exactly what they want."

Two Youths Drown

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., Sept. 1 (CP)—Provincial Police reported today that Robert Carr of Prince Rupert and Douglas Brew of Haysport, B. C., both 16, had drowned early yesterday at Haysport where they had docked the Dominion Fisheries patrol boat Wanderlust on which they were employed. There were no witnesses of the drowning but police believe one of the lads fell in the water and that his companion made a vain attempt to save him.

New Vitamin B White Flour makes white bread and cakes more nourishing . . . gives a perfect baking every time!

IT'S WINNING FRIENDS all over western Canada! For Kitchen Craft Vitamin B White Flour (Canada Approved) works like magic in all your regular white flour recipes. Gives white bread, cakes, and pies a richer, more wheaty flavor . . . a truly wonderful texture. Every time you bake.

• More important! Kitchen Craft Vitamin B White Flour is milled by a revolutionary new process that retains most of the vitamin B-complex of the whole wheat berry!

This means Kitchen Craft Vitamin B White Flour contains 5 times more vitamin B₁ (thiamin) than pre-war white flours. (At least 400 International units per pound!) More niacin . . . more riboflavin . . . more of all the B-complex vitamins.

Thousands of Canadian housewives are baking with this all-purpose, top-quality flour. Why don't you try it? Canada milled, Kitchen Craft Vitamin B White Flour is guaranteed to work perfectly every time—or money back.

Says Mrs. G. L., "I've been baking for years and I can truthfully say that with Kitchen Craft Vitamin B White Flour I turn out better baked foods than ever before! Cakes, pies and breads are perfect in texture and flavor. Best of all, I like knowing that this fine white flour gives my family the important B vitamins they need every day for good health."

"You should hear the compliments I get on all my baked foods nowadays," exclaims Mrs. O. D. "My family says my cakes and pies and breads have a much finer, wheatier flavor since I've been baking with Kitchen Craft Vitamin B White Flour. And it's a grand way to make sure my two small growing sons get their B vitamins."

Canada Saved the Day in the Battle of the Atlantic

Under the heading, "Canada Saves the Day," appears an editorial in the Saturday Evening Post. It is notable because of the full recognition that it gives to the part Canada is playing in the now victorious "Battle of the Atlantic" and for the widespread publicity for Canada through the more than 3 million circulation of the Saturday Evening Post. Says the Post in the course of a column and a half editorial:

"As this is written we seem to be well on the way toward victory in the Battle of the Atlantic. The menace of the U-boat recedes as Allied naval power grows and new techniques are developed for antisubmarine warfare. Land-based patrol planes and the rapidly-growing use of converted carriers on Atlantic convoy have helped enormously. Britain, Canada and the United States are all sharing in this triumph over Hitler's strongest weapon.

"What most Americans don't realize, however, is that there were many desperate months when Canada stood between us and disaster.

"There was a time before Pearl Harbor when the United States contributed substantial help in the way of escort ships for the freight convoys. But after Japan struck, much of our naval strength was needed in the Pacific, and we also had to use our fighting ships to guard the troop convoys crossing the Atlantic. The burden of protecting the freighters fell chiefly upon England and Canada. Britain, with a very limited amount of help from the Norwegian, Polish and Fighting French navies, supplied 51 per cent of the escort vessels for the trade convoys; the United States contributed 2 per cent, and little Canada, amazingly, provided 47 per cent.

This does not mean, of course, that the United States was drowsing during those long and critical months. We supplied aircraft for freight convoy patrol and extensive ship and plane repair bases on both sides of the Atlantic. We guarded the growing stream of troops on their way to a global war. And after the fall of Singapore and Java we held the line almost alone in the Pacific. Also, it should not be forgotten that long before Pearl Harbor we had handed over to the British 50 of our over-age destroyers.

Yet the fact remains that we probably would have lost the war if the Canadian navy hadn't come through in a spectacular and heroic way. It is not surprising that Britain, with her great sea power and resources, should have been able to shoulder 51 per cent of the job. But it is one of the marvels of this war than Canada, an agricultural nation of less than 12,000,000 people, could have contributed 47 per cent of the vast fleet of fighting ships necessary to get the freighters across.

"How Canada accomplished such a feat is an epic that should be written in large letters. When the war began in September, 1939, the Canadian navy was composed of a handful of destroyers manned by a personnel of less than 2000 men. Today that personnel has expanded twenty-five-fold. As for ships of war, Hitler would like to know the exact figures. Canada's performance in the North Atlantic tells the story.

"Of the 50 American destroyers which were traded to the British, Canada got seven, but while these were a real help they were only a beginning—a stop-gap. During the early months of the war, the need became apparent for a new type of war vessel; a ship designed to combat the U-boat, to be launched in large numbers, in a hurry. There was no time to be lost. The answer was an improvisation—a happy improvisation called the corvette.

"Once the Canadians had the design for the corvette and knew it was the answer, they set about building it in numbers that would shock the Nazi high command if it knew. Large shipyards and small ones, even tiny boatyards whose experience had been limited to fishing boats and pleasure craft, responded in a way that made history. And husky young lads from the Prairie Provinces went down to the sea to man them. Canada made do.

"Now the vast resources of the United States are being brought to bear on the U-boat problem in a larger way, and the ratio of escort craft provided by Britain, Canada and America may be changing. But Canada is still doing her part and will continue to do so, we may be sure, until the day of peace."

Changed His Views?

It isn't any of our business in Canada, of course, but it is amusing to see that Vice-President Wallace of the United States, who by nature seems rather inclined to the expression of views which change with the wind, is now itching to get into a fight for "all-out production" and arguing that business interests seek "a return to a capitalism of scarcity"—a phrase of which some of our Canadian Socialists are fond. It sounds so damning of the capitalists.

"There's only one program under which agriculture, labor and business can prosper after the war," said Mr. Wallace in a recent speech "and that is all-out production." With that most foresighted people will agree. No one with any sense, whether capitalist or not, can see anything but advantage in an increase in the production of the world's goods. Only by that route can we raise the standard of living. Only by increased production can labor, business or any other section of the population make profits.

Yet it was the same Mr. Wallace, then Secretary of Agriculture, who attributed the hardships of the depression to over-production, and dished out millions of dollars to farmers for refraining from raising hogs, wheat, corn and cotton.

If experience has reformed Mr. Wallace's economic views the change is to be welcomed. He is an able and popular speaker.

Some Questions From a Nakusp Resident

To the Editor:

Sir—Here are some "things to ponder while knitting".

What do you think about—

1. Japan, has she enough territory on the map to take care of her ninety millions of people who rightly or wrongly do not practice birth-control?

2. Is it necessary for the British race to rapidly increase its birth-rate in order to maintain its strength as the greatest Commonwealth of Nations?

3. Would birth-control be necessary for any race if there was adequate distribution of the social and economic system throughout the world?

4. For the mental-deficient what do you think the correct procedure, sterilization or birth-control?

5. Do you think the world owes every person a free entry into, and a free departure from it, with a nominal standard fee for undertakers?

6. Would the so-called Freedom from Want and Fear solve the present social and economic system?

7. If the World's Goods was divided equally, do you think there would still be those who would want more for less?

8. Taking into consideration the human factor, could any equality of distribution remain equal, could it effect in any way man's initiative?

9. Has there been an equality of distribution in Russia since the Revolution, is it so today?

10. Lastly Mothers, what do you think of a bonus for every child after the fifth?

I'm only asking YOU?

NAKUSPIAN.

Reco Mountain—Where does the difference of 1 per cent between buying and selling rates of U. S. exchange go, and who gets the benefit?

Most of it goes to Ottawa. The chartered banks, which are agents of the Foreign Exchange Control Board get less than 10 cents on a $100, which is far less than on the pre-war open exchange market.

F. D., Creston—Could you give me some information on making cheese in the home, such as what utensils, etc., would be needed and also the method to follow?

Utensils—A good vat—one that can be kept clean and sweet and large enough to hold whatever milk is to be used at one time. A press, for the product of from five to eight cows, as a simple lever with weights. Accompanying the press must be hoops; a good size is 10 inches in diameter and eight inches deep, made of heavy tin, edges strong and no top or bottom. A drainer or vessel with perforated bottom, in which the curd is drained; a large basket will do, lined with strainer cloth. A dozen cloths a yard square. A thermometer. A curd knife or knives. These come in pairs, one to cut horizontally and one vertically, but a long, slim knife will do or a strong piece of galvanized wire netting, or even a strong strip of tin. A suitable room for curing, with a few wide shelves on which to cure the cheese.

Rennet—Use about one tablespoonful of rennet extract for three gallons of milk. If the curd is over one half hour in coming, increase the quantity of rennet; if less, decrease it. Rennet tablets may be used. Preparation of the Curd: Warm the milk to 85 degrees Fahrenheit, add the rennet and mix thoroughly, then cover and let stand at this temperature for about one half hour or until the curd will break, leaving the whey clear. Then cut each way, leaving it in columns about one inch square. Now let it stand until the whey rises an inch on top of the curd, then warm the whole gradually, taking two or three hours to reach 98 degrees Fahrenheit, lifting and stirring and breaking it gently with the hand all the time until the pieces are the size of grains of corn. Be careful not to crush the curd, as that will cause the cream or fat to escape with the whey. Then let it stand at this temperature, stirring it occasionally to keep from packing, until the curd is so firm that when squeezed gently in the hand and the hand opened, it will separate into particles again. The whey should a slightly acid taste. Then dip the basket into a basket lined with cloth to cool and drain. Salt: Salt the curd after it is drained, using four ounces of salt to 10 pounds of curd, mixed in carefully but thoroughly; or salt by brine bath or rubbing, after pressing. Pressure: The pressure must be gentle at first or the milk fat will run out. Increase the pressure gradually and in a few hours take the cheese out, turn it, rearrange the bandage and press as before. Curing: This is a very important part of cheese making. The room for curing (and it may be in a basement if conditions are right) should be first of all, capable of being kept at an even and medium temperature. From 50 to 60 degrees Fahrenheit is now regarded the best for domestic purposes, although the time in curing may be somewhat lengthened thereby. The cooler the room the slower the curing. If the room at any time gets much warmer than 65 degrees Fahrenheit, even for a short period, the cheese is likely to be permanently injured. The room should be fairly dry, but not too dry, and, while being well ventilated, should be free from currents of air. If too dry or subjected to dry currents, the cheese will lose weight and be apt to crack. Great care must be taken to keep out all flies. The bandage should be greased and rubbed and the cheese turned over on the shelf every day or two for a month; later this need only be done once or twice a week. If the cheese should crack, paste strips of cheese cloth or stout paper over the openings. More information on cheese making may be obtained from the Department of Agriculture, Victoria, B. C.

Hitler's Fatal Mistake at Stalingrad.

CHAPTER 26

The Red Army won a major victory of its civil war at Tsaritsyn. It won the most important battle, to date, of the second World War at the same city, now called Stalingrad. Both victories were personal to Joseph Stalin.

He, according to civil war legend, ordered all boats sent up the Volga from Tsaritsyn so that there could be no retreat, only victory or death. His men, according to modern war legend, burned their own boats behind them, for the same purpose.

Tsaritsyn, a fact not always recognized now in official Soviet history, was lost, but finally and decisively, rewon. Stalingrad, another little-known fact, was almost completely occupied by the Germans, but the city became a graveyard for its occupants.

Stalingrad in 1941, was a burgeoning industrial giant of half a million people. It had grown from a frontier post and trading town into a manufacturing city, to which came steel, from which went machines. It sprawled for 40 miles along the high West bank of the Volga. Its Northern suburbs were the site of the Dzerzhinsky tractor plant, largest in the Soviet Union, the Red October Metal Works, and other great factories, each with its workers' settlement.

Who could have foreseen, on September 3, 1940, when the war began in the West, that one of its great battles would be fought at Stalingrad?

Yet fate or geography, the German or Soviet High Command, or a combination of all of them, decreed that here should be fought the great battle of 1942.

The crux of the battle was not possession of Stalingrad, for that was only incidental to the larger issues. Neither was it immediate destruction of the Red Army, for that had proved impossible in the German offensive of the previous year all along the front. It was territorial advance North along the Volga to isolate Moscow.

The Germans struck their first main blow early in August across the steppes from the Southwest, advancing along the Salsk-Stalingrad railway with a force of 11 divisions, two of them armored one motorized. Their aim was to break quickly into Stalingrad from Kotelnikovo, about 100 miles to the Southwest. They were stopped just Northeast of Kotelnikovo.

The second phase developed with an attack by six divisions, coordinated with the Southern group of 11, striking through the Kalach sector, about 45 miles West of Stalingrad. They also were stopped. The forces used in these efforts swelled in mid-August from a total of 17 divisions to 23 and then to 23—without avail.

Late in August came the third, and grand assault from the Northwest. The Germans crossed the Don, about 40 miles Northwest of Stalingrad, on August 23. They reached the Stalingrad region August 26. That day, they made a terrible air raid on Stalingrad, leveling three quarters of the city with a cold brutality rivaling that shown in the earlier bombings of Rotterdam, Belgrade, and London. On that same day began the battle for Stalingrad proper.

The Germans, using great superiority in tanks and aviation, bunched their blows on the main sector Northwest of Stalingrad, hoping to take the city by storm. Again they were disappointed. They were able to advance, but their hoped-for rush was slowed down to a walk. They were within 15 miles of the city limits on September 1. On September 15, they reached the outskirts of the city. On September 22, they were engaged in street-fighting within the city.

By then the Red Army had taken its stand, both inside and—more important—around the city. The Germans attacked daily with as many as eight infantry divisions, 500 tanks and 1500 to 2000 plane flights, but no longer could they break through the Russian lines. The struggle for Stalingrad became a pitched battle, like those of the first World War.

How were the Russians able to halt this formidable foe? Why were the Germans not able to advance further? There was really no mystery about it. The answer, quite simply, was that the Germans did not have sufficient strength to carry through the attack, and the Russians did have sufficient strength to repulse the attack.

The Germans had made the (for them) fatal mistake of dividing their forces. It was the same mistake they had made during the First World War when they diverted a few divisions Eastward, instead of concentrating everything on the Schlieffen plan for capture of Paris. This time, they sent a few divisions chasing off into the North Caucasus in an effort to deceive the Soviet Command into believing their major objective was the oil of Baku. They concentrated many more divisions in the Orel sector for the later, supposedly decisive, action against Moscow. What was left was not enough to win victory at Stalingrad.

Stalin phrased it neatly in his November 6, 1942, address:

"Their attempt to chase two hares at once—oil and the encirclement of Moscow — landed the German Fascist strategists in difficulties. Thus, the tactical successes of the German Summer offensive were not consummated, owing to the obvious unfeasibility of their strategical plans."

The Russian strength, that was more than enough to meet this German force, lay in leadership, manpower, and materiel.

General Andrei Yeremenko took command in August of the Stalingrad front, meaning the group of armies defending the entire region. He was one of the finest, toughest, smartest, most direct of that group of high Red Army officers, whose biographies read so much alike.

He was wounded four times quite seriously, three times lightly, as his heavy-set, short figure limped through the ruins of Stalingrad under mortar and shell fire. Even in the hospital, he retained and executed his command of the front.

Inside Stalingrad itself, he placed the 62nd Red Army of Lieutenant-General Vassily Chuikov. With Chuikov, as Chief of his Staff, served Major-General Nikolai Krilov, a big, burly, easy-going, pleasant man who had been Chief of Staff in the defenses of Odessa and Sebastopol.

They took charge of Stalingrad with a firm hand, throwing out anyone who showed signs of defeatism or pessimism, as ruthlessly as Stalin had done 24 years before them. They brought in reinforcements for the 62nd Army.

The Germans, having failed to take Stalingrad settled down in late September to an effort to batter the city into subjection. Their timetable was already ruined, and they were attacking on two and three mile wide sectors, attempting to occupy the Northern factory district, where the resistance was strongest, and to split the defence of the city. The Russians had succeeded in checking the enemy at Stalingrad and building powerful defences around the city, but still it was a hard fight. Then, on October 9, came a startling reversal in the situation.

The German Command announced on that day that it had adopted new tactics at Stalingrad. Withdrawing the bulk of its infantry and tanks from the fray, and substituting artillery and dive-bombers for them, to save lives in completion of the task. The only lives it saved were Russian. For the slaughter then diminished and eventually virtually every German there lost either his life or his liberty.

Despite the Germans' announcement, they put on a strong offensive during the first half of October, storming the brick walls and fire-swept yards of the Northern factory section repeatedly. But they had withdrawn their infantry and tanks to the extent that the fronts of their action were reduced. They gained an average of fifty yards a day during this period, according to Red Star, and they lost an average of one thousand to four thousand men a day. They ceased this action November 5, on the eve of the anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, by which time they had hoped Stalingrad would be theirs. They put on a new offensive November 12, narrowing their attacks down to sectors two hundred to four hundred yards wide, instead of two to three miles wide. Then their objective was only to take the shortest way to the Volga, break through the junctions of defending units, and disrupt the Red Army—a far cry from the original ambitious plan to take Moscow.

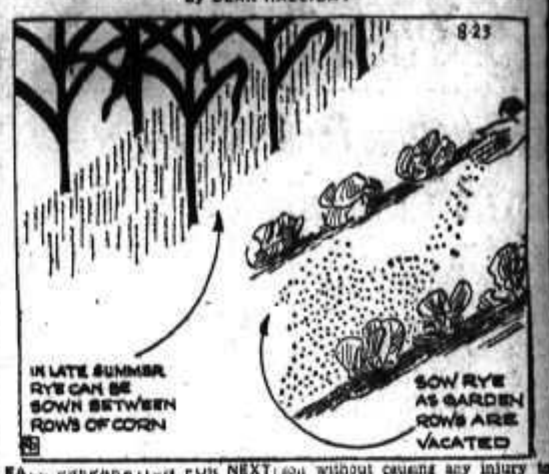
Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

By DEAN HALLIDAY



FALL PREPARATION FOR NEXT SPRING'S VICTORY GARDEN

Nearly everyone who had a Victory garden this year is beginning to plan now for an even better vegetable garden next season.

One step in proper planning for next year's Victory Garden is the planting of cover crops for the purpose of improving the soil.

Cover crops when turned under are beneficial to the soil in many ways. They add humus and plant food to the soil as they decay after being turned under. Soils which are lacking in humus are usually stiff and difficult to work. Such soils also dry out quickly and then bake hard.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, rye can be used as a cover crop in the Victory garden. It grows rapidly and can be sown any time up to freezing weather. Many gardeners plant rye between rows of corn or other crops during August and September, as illustrated. Rye can be sown fairly thickly and then raked into the soil without causing any injury to the corn.

Any of the cover crops or green-manure crops should be turned under while they are still green and succulent to be of the most value.

Anglers From Three Points Enter Big Trout In Gyro Derby

Queen's Bay, Sunshine Bay and Nelson anglers added three more entries to the Gyro Club's Kootenay Lake Rainbow Trout Derby this week. The three entries bridged a gap of a week in a flow that previously this season had been unbroken.

Derby Statistician J. A. Ballantyne listed the three new entries as follows:

R. Bashford, Queen's Bay — 10 pounds, 9 ounces; caught August 23 off Queen's Bay Point on Gibbs Stewart No. 6. Weighed in by A. Merz, Queen's Bay.

G. D. G. Barwis, Sunshine Bay—9 pounds, 11 ounces; caught August 29 off Lime Quarry on Silver Plug. Weighed in by D. Philpot, Balfour.

George Fleury, Nelson — 6¼ pounds; caught August 23 off Irving Creek on Willow Leaf. Weighed in by D. Philpot, Balfour.

Seeded Tennis Stars Easily Win Net Opener

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sport Writer

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 1—(AP)—The first round of the United States singles tennis championships was completed today and Frankie Parker, Pancho Segura, Pauline Betz and the rest of the seeded stars raced through their opening matches without difficulty.

Only sixth-seeded Sidney B. Wood, New York, went out of the event. Wood, who has been ill, defaulted to Jack Tuero, a junior Davis Cup squad member from New Orleans.

Fifth-ranked Seymour rGeenberg of Chicago, national clay courts champion and a possible "dark horse" in this tournament because of his victory over Segura in the Southampton meet, had to go an extra set to eliminate Tom Falkenburg of Hollywood, Calif., 2-6, 6-2, 6-0. Co did Helen Bernhardt of New York, sixth seeded in the women's division, who beat Nancy Corbett of River Forrest, Ill., 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Segura, who has won every tournament he entered in this season's campaign to take the national singles title outside the United States for the first time since Fred Perry won in 1936, walloped Dick Bender, Princeton University court captain from Elizabeth, N. J., 6-3, 6-3.

Parker trimmed John H. Cushingham of the Pensacola, Fla., Naval Station, 6-2, 6-3.

Pauline Betz, defending women's champion easily disposed of Mrs. Eleanor Purdy Cushingham, wife of Parker's victim, 6-3, 6-4.

Cards Gain Two Wins Over Bucs as Cubs Beat Reds

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 1 (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals played 11 innings today and gained two victories over Pittsburgh Pirates 6-5 and 5-4.

The first triumph came with the completion of two final innings of a game suspended July 18 when Pennsylvania's Sunday curfew stopped the second half of a doubleheader at the end of seven innings.

The two frames played today were scoreless and the contest went into the books just as it might have when it was interrupted.

BEAT REDS 12-9

CINCINNATI, Sept. 1 (AP) —Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds went at each other hammer and tongs today and the Cubs finally won 12-9, on a three run 10th-inning homer by Phil Cavarretta, their 22nd hit of the day.

The Cubs had the game 9-6 going into the last half of the ninth but old Estel Crabtree homered with a man on to tie the score after a walk, a balk, and Max Marshall's double had made a run. Then in the 10th Ed Stanky and Stan Hack singled and Phil hit over the centre field wall.

Bombers and Rockets Deadlocked in Cranbrook Softball

CRANBROOK, B. C., Sept. 1 — Sport fielding by Bombers with bases full in the sixth and seventh rescued them 6-5 against Rockets and evened their best of three softball playoff series at a game apiece for the semi-final spot. Bombers led 4-1 in the fifth when Rockets hit their stride, got four runs and left three men on bases. Tomorrow, school and Lumberjacks' series continues.

Rockets—Malcolm, Stanley, Kasser, Kinder, MacDonald, Caldwell, Dunlop, Bepple, Yedernuk.

Bombers—H. Lancaster, J. Lancaster, Pommier, Mergens, Bell, Christianson, Bruce, Tiller, Lomard.

Rabbit Maranville, when he was 50 and on crutches, said he'd play ball again, and he did.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP.)—The public is always what—after the starting gate at Aqueduct busted down Wednesday and the favorite was left at the post in a "flag" start, the Racing Commission ordered the tracks to have a spare on hand hereafter—But that didn't help the customers who had bet nearly $62,000 on Light Lady.—

And while the fight fans still were cheering Henry Armstrong's decision to retire for good after his dismal showing against Ray Robinson, Hank up and decided to go through with one more against Slugger White in Los Angeles because the contract already had been signed.—Wonder if these fellows ever stopped to think that they have an unwritten contract with the public, too—with a clause that says "if you can't give the kind of show we pay for, get out."

WHAT A PAL, AL

Al Simmons took his seven-year-old son for a swing around the American League this Summer.—After watching for some time while his dad either decorated the bench or tried with litle success to get a few hits, the youngster asked: "Pop, do you get as much pay as the other players"—Simmons allowed that he got about the same as most and maybe a little more than some, then inquired what prompted the question.—"Well, I've been watching," said the kid, "and you don't seem to do as much as they do."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

If you need a chilling breeze some day, ask Clark Griffith about Rip Sewell's "new" blooper pitch — it was only about 40 years ago that Griff used to kid the batters until they were ready to murder either the ball or the pitcher and then toss up a soft one underhand and watch 'em break their backs swinging before it got there.—

Pitchers Headed for New Highs

By DAVE HOFF
Associated Press Sport Writer

CHICAGO, Sept. 1 (AP.) — Facts and figures compiled in the American League office show that the pitchers are having a mighty fine year this season.

The boys have thrown shut-outs no less than 84 times up to the present three-day lay-off, as against a season's total of 90 last year and 67 up to the same point in the 1942 race.

That 90 of a year ago was regarded as a symbol of mighty fine pitching, a sort of modern milestone although it didn't stack up too well against the record 145 produced in 1909, when hurlers threw spit balls, emery balls and almost everything but a bean ball.

There have been five one-hit games thrown this year—three of them against New York Yankees. There have been 26 two-hitters, 35 three-hitters, 61 four-hitters, and 77 five-hitters, ammounting to 185 "small-hit" games. There were only 192 such projects in all of 1942 and only 139 up to the same point in 1942.

Thus the pitchers are getting the bulk of the blame for the fact only two American League hitters—Luke (.337) Appling of Chicago and Dick (.325) Wakefield of Detroit — are over the .300 mark.

Kimberley Men Overseas Hold Reunion

KIMBERLEY, B. C.—Kimberley overseas personnel, who are posted of each other's whereabouts regularly through the home-issued News Letter, had an overseas reunion according to recent word received here.

Of the 250-odd serving abroad, 50 were able to attend the reunion smoker and dinner and catch up on home-town gossip. Angus Scott, Canadian Army and erstwhile piper in the Kimberley Pipe Band, piped the guests to dinner.

Harry Brown, Air Force, and a member of the world champion 1933 Dynamiters, was Smoker Chairman, with Walter Slade, Knights of Columbus Supervisor and former Bulletin Editor, Chairman of the dinner.

NEW YORK, (CP) — Gregg Rice could not race Gunder Haagg until he received permission from his superior officer at the Kings Point (N. Y.) Merchant Marine Academy.

NEW YORK (CP)—About $15,644,512, one-fourth of the 1939 total factory value of sporting goods, was spent on golf equipment according to the Census Bureau.

32 Enter So Far for Nelson and District Labor Day Golf Title Play

So far there have been 32 entries for the Nelson and district golf championship to be played at Nelson this weekend. Rossland-Trail, Creston, Kimberley and Cranbrook are already represented and it is likely entries will be coming from Fernie, Kaslo and the Slocan.

Last year Harry Donaldson of Trail won the championship, with T. E. Wilson of Nelson as runner-up.

So far S. A. Maddocks of Nelson is the low qualifier with a score of 71. Entrants qualify on their home courses, and scores are adjusted on the basis of par for each course compared to par for the Nelson course.

The low 16 will go into the championship flight.

Ralph Redding, Hugo Mackie, Ken Campbell and Frank Sullivan, all former Dynamiters, are among the Kimberley entries.

Qualifying scores to date, adjusted according to par, follow:

Kimberley—Hugo Mackie, 75; Ralph Redding, 78; James McLay, 79; Frank Sullivan, 80; H. R. Banks, 85; E. C. Guille and A. Drysdale, 87; Ken Campbell, 90.

Cranbrook—Allan Graham, 79; Dr. W. A. Fergie, 84.

Creston—T. Baldwin, 85; C. Bothamley, 86; Russell Joyce, 88; Art Dickinson, 89.

Nelson—S. A. Maddocks, 71; Walter Duckworth, 73; J. D. Kerr and B. Townshend, 74; Gordon F. Allan, 76; Harold Lakes, 79; J. B. Stark, 81; Dr. T. H. Bourque and St. T. McCulloch, 82; A. H. Allan, 83; C. J. Hughes and T. R. Wilson, 84; Sanford Addison, 85; W. W. Wait and Norman Roscoe, 87; T. S. Shorthouse and H. A. Doak, 89.

Kelly, Douglas & Co. Ltd.
PRESENTS
"Harmony House"
The first commercial network show to ever originate at Vancouver, will be heard for the first time over CKLN Monday evening at 8:30 p.m.

Another radio "first" will be recorded in Canada on Monday, Sept. 6th, when Kelly Douglas & Co. Ltd., makers of Nabob products, releases its new network programme on that date. It will mark the first commercial origination from Canada's Pacific Coast to the full basic Western network of the CBC. The artists to be heard on the programme are shown at the right.

Nabob is a familiar name to radio listeners. For years Kelly Douglas & Co. Ltd. has made consistent and wise use of the airwaves. In expanding to a full Western network the Company not only pays new tribute to the value of radio as a modern advertising medium, but acknowledges too the increasing recognition of Canadian talent.

"Harmony House" is the title of the new show, format of which is musical variety. Featuring the trio harmony of the Nabobettes, the songs of the new singing star, Suzanne, selected guest stars and modern strings, the programme will highlight melodies old and new, brilliantly arranged by the young Pacific Coast arranger-conductor, Richmond Hyslop.

Shown above are the artists who will be featured. Richmond Hyslop, dynamic arranger-director of the Pacific Coast, is shown in the upper left hand corner. His sparkling arrangements, prepared especially for strings, will be a continual feature of the new show.

Shown below are the modern strings, an ensemble that deals in streamlined versions of popular songs, new and old. John Rae, CBC announcer, whose voice is well known to Canadian listeners, is pictured in the lower right hand corner.

Highlights of Programme

"Johnny Got a Zero", "Coming in on a Wing and a Prayer", and a medley of old favourites including "The Band Played On", "Mary Is a Grand Old Name" and "Josephine in My Flying Machine" will highlight "Harmony House" Monday, September 6th, when the programme debutes over the basic Western network of the CBC.

Featured vocally will be the Nabobettes, girls trio, the new singing star, Suzanne, and guest of the evening, Pat Morgan.

The modern strings, under the direction of the brilliant young Pacific Coast arranger-conductor, Richmond Hyslop, will be heard in a popular treatment of "Concerto in A Minor" by Greig.

"Salute of the Week", a feature of the programme dealing with the armed forces, will pay tribute to the men of the Elementary Flying Training School at Regina.

"Harmony House" will be heard over CKLN at 8:30 p.m. Monday evening, September 6th.

$200.00 in cash prizes will be offered weekly. $100.00 to a listener each week, and another $100.00 to a studio participant in a uniform of His Majesty's Forces. Awards will be given in connection with a contest plan embracing a Nabob "Question of the Week." Continuity theme will take the form of a tribute to various camps and well known regiments of Western Canada.

BE SURE TO LISTEN TO

Propaganda Ammunition Fired at Nazis

A type of ammunition though not lethal but one that brought a great deal of results was the propaganda shells used by the Allies in Sicily. Private G. Harper of Aberdeen, Scotland, and Sergt. J. USE AN ENTRY RIGHTLY

HOW OFTEN we see declarers waste a valuable entry, instead of employing it to some useful purpose. This is especially true when one of the two holdings, the dummy or closed hand, has no entries to spare. In such cases, if there is some suit which can be led just as well from one hand as the other, it usually should come from the hand with plenty of entries. Some other suit or suits, which must be led in a particular direction when the lead is in the desired place, should be selected in the right spot.

North: ♠ K J 4 ♥ K Q 9 7 ♦ A K J ♣ A K 4

West: ♠ A Q 6 3 ♥ A J ♦ 8 7 4 ♣ Q 10 9 8

East: ♠ 9 7 5 3 ♥ 10 ♦ Q 10 9 3 ♣ 7 6 3

South: ♠ 10 8 ♥ 8 5 4 3 2 ♦ 6 5 2 ♣ J 6 2

(Dealer West North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	Dbl	2 ♠	Pass
Pass	Dbl	Pass	3 ♥
Pass	4 ♥

Offhand, you would say, after study of all four hands, that the declarer could not possibly fail to make his contract on this deal, unless he was trying to get beaten. Most especially, you would consider his defeat a virtual impossibility if he received the fortunate lead of a club. Yet that is exactly what occurred, and his errors were only of the kind you see rather frequently among average players.

Taking the first trick with the club J, he immediately led the heart 2, playing the dummy's 7 after West put on the A. Little did he realize that he had made two mistakes on one trick, and had in one stroke caused defeat of his contract. West returned the diamond 8, which the Q won, and the club 7 came back to the K. No matter what South did now, he could not get into his own hand for a spade lead, so had to drop two tricks in that suit.

If South, after winning the first trick, had led the spade 10 and later, when hearts were led, had preserved the 7 in the North hand to make the 8 an entry into South, for a second spade lead, he could have made not only his contract, but an extra trick, as he could have discarded his own losing diamond on a spade.

What rare and beautiful play must South make on this deal to score 5-Diamonds after West leads the spade K and A?

Pope Calls Upon Leaders to Reach Just Peace

By WILLIAM SMITH WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP) —Pope Pius XII, appealing for peace and expressing hope that it comes before the end of this, the war's fifth year, declared to the world's leaders today that "real strength need have no fear of generosity in behalf of nations less favored than others by the trend of war at any given time."

Speaking of "the powerful and the leaders of the peoples," the Pope declared:

"May their wisdom, their moderation, their strength of mind and their deep sense of humanity throw a ray of comfort upon the tear and blood-drenched threshold of the fifth year of war, and give the survivors of the immense conflict, bent under a load of sorrow, the joyful hope that the year may not end under the sign and in the shadow of slaughter and destruction—but may be the beginning and dawn of a new life of brotherly reconciliation, and a thorough and concordant reconstruction."

In a 14-minute message to the world from Vatican City, translated here and made available by the Ministry of Information, the Pontiff did not mention the Allied terms of unconditional surrender.

He dwelt at length, however, on the theme that all belligerents must be given justified hope of a worthy peace which does not clash with their right to live and their sense of honor."

He made no more specific mention of those countries having ill fortune in the war's course, but asserted "the minds and hearts of the peoples" were filled with doubts that continuation of conflict "can be in accordance with national interest, reasonable and justified before Christian and human conscience."

The Pope offered his prayers that a way would be opened to "the hearts and decisions of those who hold in their hands the fate of afflicted humanity," and added:

"Blessed be those—to whatever group of belligerents they may belong—who . . . cooperate so that the deadlock wherein the fatal balance of war and peace now is kept in suspense may be overcome."

"Through the gigantic struggles the exterior happenings of a war approach us and converge towards the culminating point," he continued.

Generosity in the making of peace would have within itself the means by which the generous could fully protect their interests, the Holy Father said.

Through the whole of his address ran repeated admonitions to war leaders to accept some spirit of compromise. He urged:

"Do not disturb or impede the desires of the peoples for peace by actions which instead of encouraging confidence rather inflame hatreds anew and strengthen determination to resist."

Pope Pius recalled efforts to halt hostilities before they began and suggested that his present words of mediation—addressed especially to "all those willing to cooperate for peace"— would be to the advantage of every belligerent without exception.

Speaking of the day that opened the fifth year of the greatest and bloodiest struggle in human history, the Pope was at pains to stress his concern not for any one nation but for the whole human family— to those he saw as seeking now for nothing but "peace, bread and work."

He placed his special blessing upon those who "understand the great work of a real new order," apparently an indirect thrust at Hitler's "new order" of passion and violence.

"Woe to those who in this terrible moment do not reach full awareness of their responsibility for the fate of the peoples, who feed hatreds and conflicts among them, who build their power upon injustice, who oppress and torment the unarmed and innocent," he said. "You will see that the wrath of God will be with them until the end."

The Holy Father's message to the world was uttered at an hour that found Italy's "war impulse" dead and gone, as Mr. Churchill put it, and Russian armies storming forward along an immense and terrible battleline in the greatest successes they ever achieved.

A sense of approaching crisis in the course and direction and even duration of the struggle was implicit in the Pope's address. Although he mentioned no country specifically, what he said strongly suggested he believed the time of crisis had arrived, and that the war was in or near its last great act.

The Holy Father began with a reference to "the terrible day which saw the beginning of the war" and recalled that a few days before hostilities opened he had told the leaders of the nations:

"Not everything yet is lost."

"Our words," he went on, "were addressed to all peoples without any exception. We are now speaking words which will be of advantage to all without exception."

"After so many promises, after so many agreements which were not respected, confidence among nations has dwindled. That is why we are addressing ourselves to all those who are willing to cooperate for peace," he said.

"Blessed be those who respect God the Father of all and the true God of Justice. Woe to those who incite to conflicts between peoples who oppress unarmed and innocent peoples. Upon those the anger of God will descend."

He blessed all those who "also lend their ears" to mothers bereft of sons lost in war and those "who lend the suffered so much and who do not ask anything but peace, bread and work."

"Leaders of the peoples should lead nations towards reaching a just peace," he said. "Their moderation, their strength of will and of human feeling should give to the survivors of this conflict the hope that the present year will see the end of this conflict and a new dawn of peace over the world.

"In this hope, in this faith we give to all the peoples of the world our Apostolic blessing."

Says Reparations Should First Be Paid to Russ

MOSCOW, Sept. 1 (AP)—Germany has inflicted on the Soviet Union damage amounting to billions of dollars and on all other Allies only about half that much, Professor Eugene Varga estimated today in a lecture, adding the Russians would claim reparations to prevent the Germans from having a higher standard of living than the countries on which they inflicted the damage.

As a matter of economic necessity, said Varga, Hungarian, and former Professor at the University of Budapest, reparations should be first paid to the Soviet Union and other countries which suffered occupation and then to Britain and the United States where the relief is not needed immediately.

He specified that Russia would not claim reparations as a punishment for the defeated powers.

Varga said 10 years of work by 10,000,000 skilled laborers would be required to repair the property damage, but after the war in Germany and the vassal states, "there will be unemployment and it will be possible for several million of their workers to come to Russia to repair the damage."

He said the labor should be supplemented by repayment to Russia in money, goods, livestock, machines and other deliveries.

Varga asserted Germany and associated states would have funds available for the payment since they would be disarmed and relieved of large arms budgets after the war. He also suggested that a reduction of one per cent in the German standard of living would provide 1,500 million marks yearly for payments.

Rapist Shot and Killed by Police

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 1 (AP)—A police detective today shot and killed the confessed rapist who had been twice wounded yesterday at the police show-up here by United States Coast Guard Lieutenant Commander, whose little daughter had pointed him out with cries of "that's the man."

The dead man is William Stevens, 36, who confessed, police said, to at least five assaults upon young girls enticed to his car with promise of a ride and candy and then threatened with a knife. He was trying to escape, the detective reported.

The temperature of the sun on its surface has been estimated at about 10,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

Market Trends . . .

LONDON, Sept. 1 (CP) — Shipping shares contributed to a steady tone in the stock market today by developing firmness in late dealings.

Steel and brewery issues also were bought at higher prices.

NEW YORK— Modest advances were well scattered today without generating much bullish enthusiasm.

Aside from driblets of profit cashing, however, selling pressure was absent.

A mixed trend prevailed in Canadian issues.

TORONTO — The market tone weakened slightly in the afternoon trading today, leaving the list bereft of most of the early gains. Losses widened mainly in the gold group. The base metals held to the up side.

Turnover for the day was 600,000 shares, with volume heavy in some of the cheaper golfs.

MONTREAL — Golds were headed upward in trading. Other sections were irregular.

Donnacona, Consolidated Paper and St. Lawrence Paper preferred were stronger in newsprints.

VANCOUVER —Vancouver Stock Exchange held steady today.

WINNIPEG — Wheat futures finished ⅛ cent a bushel higher to ⅛ cent lower today.

October closed at 1.09⅛.

Trade in the pit was on a fair scale with mills credited with buying 800,000 bushels and exporters and shippers 200,000 bushels.

Rye was the only coarse grain future traded and values advanced to good upturns at Chicago.

CHICAGO — Rye futures surged upward about 3 cents at times in an active, nervous trade today, supported by buying from a leading commission house with connections throughout the East. Price changes were rapid and the market lost more than a cent of its upturn toward the close.

War Enters Fifth Year With United Nations on the March

By ERNEST AGNEW
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP) — The second Great War enters its fifth year today, with the United Nations everywhere on the march and the dream of Hitler and his Axis satellites of world domination slowly but surely disintegrating.

It was just four years ago that the mighty German military machine began history's most catastrophic conflict by attacking Poland. In 102 days more this most terrible of all wars will have lasted as long as the first Great War and today's headlines blazon the upward surge of the United Nations against the might of the Axis.

The Nazis are on the run in Russia, Germany is trembling under mighty Allied aerial blows, Italy is facing catastrophe and Australian and American forces are on the march in the Pacific.

Signs multiply that the nerve of the German people is breaking. Nazi commentators are warning the harassed and harried population of the imminence of an Allied invasion of Europe. One Berlin broadcast said today:

"As soon as Gen. Eisenhower has brought his divisions up to strength he intends to attack Calabria and Apula, Southern Greece and the Adriatic appear to offer a better chance to the Allied forces and there is also a strong possibility of an attack against the Southern French Coast."

The commentator told the German people of "strong contingents of troops in Southeastern England and of concentrations of invasion boats along the South England Coast" but attempted to reassure his audience by telling them that "Germany has countered British invasion preparations by the appropriate regrouping of her forces."

Berliners had another warning dinned into their ears from the Berlin radio—to remove their furniture and other belongings "without delay to a place out of the reach of the R.A.F."

A third spokesman warned Germans against giving in to "weakness and despair."

"We have gone so far," this voice said, "that if we despair we shall never complete the job we have begun."

But the terrific losses in Russia, the collapse of Fascism, the incessant Allied air bombardment of German cities, the disastrous North African and Sicilian campaigns, the failure of the U-boat to sweep the seas of Allied shipping have taken their toll of the German faith in victory.

PLANES SHUT OFF GERMAN GUNFIRE

LONDON, Sept. 1 (CP)—German long range guns on the French Coast opened fire at 8 a.m. today and shell warnings sounded in areas on the British Southeast Coast a short time later.

The shelling lasted about a half hour, with the Germans lobbing over a steady stream of two-gun salvoes. Buildings in the Dover area were shaken by explosions.

The firing ended abruptly when R.A.F. planes streaked out across the English Channel. Shortly after the planes disappeared observers saw flames rising on the French cliffs between Cape Gris Nez and Calais.

During the night firing was heard in the Channel and German guns in the Boulogne area went into action.

Hun Ship Sinking Claims in Aug. Lowest in Months

LONDON, Sept. 1 (CP) — The German News Agency in a dispatch broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press today listed German submarine sinking claims for August which were the lowest for at least nine months.

The Agency asserted U-Boats sank 23 merchant ships totalling 142,00 tons and four sailing ships in August.

The German International Information Bureau in another broadcast set total submarine sinkings by the Germans during the fourth year of the war at 6,064,800 tons.

The Bureau claimed 18,428,800 tons of merchant shipping and warships had been sunk during the four years of the war and added that naval and air forces of the Axis powers had sunk "roughly" 23,400,000 tons.

Christmas Tree Business Meant $150,000 in B. C.

VICTORIA, Sept. 1 (CP)—Ban on commercialized Christmas tree cutting in British Columbia woods by National Selective Service will mean the end of yearly $150,000 business to this Province, it was said by the Government's Forest Branch today.

Last year Christmas tree cutting brought $162,000 to B. C. farmers and woodsmen.

Usually Christmas trees bring a welcome bit of cash to farmers at a slack time of the year. Now, however, there is other work for these men.

"It will not have much effect on forest revenue of the Province," a Forest Branch official said.

The new orders, however, do not forbid private individuals from going into the woods, in their spare time, and cutting Christmas trees, either for themselves or for sale on the street or from house to house. It forbids commercialized cutting in a big way and shipping, mostly to the United States in car load lots.

First Shipment of Wheat Made to U. S. by Water

SEATTLE, Sept. 1 (AP)—First waterborne shipment of Canadian bulk wheat purchased by the Commodity Credit Corporation as feed for Washington livestock was discharged on the waterfront here today.

The 4,000 ton shipment came from Vancouver, B. C., the first ever to be unloaded in Seattle.

Interpreting The War News

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
Associated Press War Analyst

Japan appeared to have the jitters as a result of the well-advertised Anglo-American preparations for "heating and inflaming"—as Prime Minister Churchill put it—the war against her.

Nervous anxiety is clearly reflected in the Tokyo radio's shocked declaration that American sea and air forces which bombed and shelled Marcus Island, 200 miles Southeast of Tokyo, could have raided the Japanese mainland itself just as well.

That is a far cry from the boast Tokyo used to voice that the Japanese homeland was safe from attack—a boast which was being broadcast at the very moment American raiders came winging over 16 months ago.

It is probable that neither the Marcus Island demonstration of Allied sea power nor the frank talk from Quebec, London and Washington of a large-scale campaign in Burma is as ominous news for Tokyo's war lords as the word from Gen. Henry H. Arnold that a new and revolutionary bomber will be in use in the near future.

The Chief of the Army Air Forces described battleships of the air capable of carrying half a carload of bombs and with a flying range for a round trip to Europe.

Attu lies about 2000 miles from Tokyo, with Chinese bases 1000 miles beyond—a distance only a little more than American bombers covered in the round trip to bomb Rumania's Ploesti oil fields.

Putting aside the problem of supplying Chinese bases, the bombers Gen. Arnold described could fly the round trip from Attu to Tokyo and return. That might be, in fact, no more than half the operating range of a plane able to carry a bomb load from United States shores to Europe and return.

And there can be no question of Army-Navy ability to supply the Attu base which was wrested from the enemy.

It is not an isolated raid from sea-borne aircraft such as hit Marcus Island that Tokyo has to fear, but sustained air attack from land-based planes.

And that, judging from Gen. Arnold's statements, is in store for the early future.

Reserves Judgment in Race War Case

MONTREAL, Sept. 1 (CP)—Recorder Desire Deabois of nearby Plage Laval last night reserved judgment until Sept. 14 in the case of Andre Bijras, charged with disturbing the peace and resisting a constable during a recent "racial war between Jews and French-Canadians."

The Recorder said that the fight at the Summer resort "is clear to me now." "This was in reality,' he said, "a racial war between Jews and French-Canadians, and not merely an accidental outburst."

During the hearing, the Recorder asked Police Chief Louis Bolduc why his son, Rene, for whom a warrant has been issued on the grounds that he instigated the riot, had not been arrested, Chief Bolduc replied that all attempts had been made to bring his son into custody, but had failed.

"I would advise you," the Recorder said, "to enlist the aid of the Provincial Police to find him as soon as possible."

The Recorder expressed regret that Moe Herscovitch, well-known Montreal football player and boxer, who suffered serious eye injuries during the fight, was unable to attend the hearing.

Herscovitch's sister said that doctors will decide this week whether her brother will suffer the loss of one eye as a result of the injuries.

U. S. AIRCRAFT OUTPUT BEHIND SCHEDULE

WASHINGTON, Sept 1 (AP). — July aircraft production in the United States was 12 per cent behind schedule, a War Production Board spokesman disclosed today, despite Monday's announcement that plane output was 4 per cent above June, with a total of 7373 aircraft produced.

Doukhobor Girl Back In Jail on Two Charges

Polly Sockerookoff, young Slocan Valley Doukhobor who recently completed a month's jail term on an assault charge, returned to the Provincial Jail at Nelson Wednesday—this time to serve two months on two charges.

On the complaint of Fanny Ocepoff, who charged Polly pulled her hair and struck her on the back, she was charged with assault, and took a month's jail term in preference to paying a $10 fine.

She was also charged with doing wilful damage by throwing a stone through the window of Abe Goldman's poolroom at South Slocan, pleaded guilty, was ordered to pay $4 damages, and again took a jail term in preference to a $10 fine.

Stipendiary Magistrate William Irvine, before whom she appeared Wednesday, made the jail terms consecutive, so that she will spend two months in jail.

New Trail School Inspector Setting Up Office

TRAIL, B. C., Sept. 1—J. F. K. English, newly appointed Inspector of Schools for the Trail District, has arrived in Trail and will open an office shortly. Mr. English will be the first District School Inspector to reside in Trail for some years and this is the first time that the Inspector will have an office in Trail. Previously the office has been in Rossland.

Mr. English, previous to his appointment here, was Director of Education and Inspector of Schools for the Peace River Educational Administration Area for four years. Previous to that he was Principal of the Kamloops Junior-Senior High School for 10 years.

Mr. English was accompanied to Trail by his wife and two sons.

Cohen Says Gov't Delay on Wage Report Aids Axis

QUEBEC, Sept. 1. (CP)—J. L. Cohen, K.C., member of the National War Labor Board, told delegates to the 59th Annual Convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today that every moment during which the Government "delayed institution of an effective, a sound and a just labor policy is a moment dedicated to the enemy, a contribution to defeat."

In an address prepared for delivery at a convention session in the Chateau Frontenac, Mr. Cohen, who submitted a minority report following the National War Labor Board's inquiry into labor relations and who announced he would not sit in controversial cases before the Board, said he deplores and regrets failure to publicize his own and the majority report of the other Board members.

He gave no indication in his address of the details of his submission.

"One would think it obvious that it is just as necessary to mobilize and equip the nation with a proper and workable labor policy, so that the industrial front can function effectively, as it is necessary to mobilize the fighting forces and to equip them with weapons and materials and services—to say nothing of strategy and planning."

Strikes in the critical wartime period are to be condemned, Mr. Cohen said.

Roosevelt Cable Says Conference "Went Very Well"

AUCKLAND, Sept. 1 (CP) — New Zealanders attending a civic reception today for Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt heard Defence Minister Frank Jones say that he had suggested to President Roosevelt while in Washington that the next Churchill-Roosevelt conference be held in New Zealand.

Referring to this, Mrs. Roosevelt said she had received the following cable from her husband, "I feel everything went very well at Quebec."

Mrs. Roosevelt said she used to think Mr. Churchill used the "V" sign to bolster up courage but now she considers he did it because of an inner conviction that victory was certain.

Free Enterprise Can Make Canada Great Industrial Country After War Maitland Tells Creston Board

CRESTON, B. C., Sept. 1 — Canada's war activity had shown that this could be a great industrial country. Capital would come to Canada, and would build up the country, if it was assured free enterprise.

These assertions were made Wednesday night by Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., Attorney-General of British Columbia, when he spoke at a banquet arranged by Creston Board of Trade. The affair was held at the Canadian Legion. D. K. Archibald, Board President, was in the chair.

Dr. F. W. Green, M.L.A. for Cranbrook, was a guest.

Lieut. Col. E. Mallandaine welcomed Mr. Maitland to Creston.

Frank Putnam, M.L.A. for Nelson-Creston, spoke of the value of the Attorney-General's visit so that local problems could be discussed with him, and so that the industry and beauty of Creston Valley could be shown to him.

The people of B.C. would have to make up their minds, said Mr. Putnam, whether they wanted Government along socialistic lines or wanted free enterprise. British Columbia had been good to him, and he hoped he had done some good for the community and the Province.

REHABILITATION BIGGEST PROBLEM

Dr. Green recalled Creston's early days and said he built the first hospital here. He felt the big question of the day was to decide what this country was going to do to help the men returning from the war. It was up to every citizen of British Columbia to do his part in post-war rehabilitation. The members of the Provincial Legislature were doing all in their power, he asserted.

Guy Constable advocated B.C. Cabinet representation for the Kootenay area. It was one of the richest areas in the Province and should be represented.

Dealing with Creston's relation to power interests of the Kootenays and power interests of the United States Columbia Valley, Mr. Constable suggested that water should be taken out of Kootenay Lake below the low water level. To build up the lake level further would be detrimental to many besides Creston business men, he contended.

He asked that when pioneers of the District were buried at public expense, the Government would arrange for a headstone to be placed on their graves.

Mr. Maitland told his listeners that he welcomed suggestions, for they could help the Government.

FAITH STRONGER THAN MACHINE

Thursday would be the fourth anniversary of the war. The four years of war so far had proved that the faith of the people of the free nations was stronger than the Axis machine, declared Mr. Maitland.

The war was brought about by indifference, the indifference of peoples who were free, of people who could not conceive of any powers taking away the freedoms of the little nations which wanted to be left alone. The present problem was to see the war through and afterward to see that rehabilitation was successful, he said.

Canadians would have to choose between freedom of choice and free enterprise; or a system of bureaucracy that would burden the citizens with boards, regulations and government. Today two propositions were being put forward—Government control of everything, and equal division of everything, which boiled down to bureaucracy.

SOCIAL SERVICES

Speaking of social services, he stated history showed social legislation had come in an orderly and steady manner. British Columbia was the first Province to look after the necessities of its people. He traced the building up of workmen's compensation, minimum wage and maximum hour laws, pensions and so on.

Of post-war Canada Mr. Maitland said that present production had shown Canada could be a great industrial country after the war. He asserted capital would come to Canada, invest, and build up the country if it knew this country offered free enterprise.

All must get down to brass tacks and study forms of government. He urged a fight for free enterprise, declaring this would be the salvation of Canada.

August Raid on Berlin Caused Greatest Havoc

BERNE, Sept. 1 (AP)—British bombers striking Berlin in six waves August 23 created greatest havoc in the Marienfdorf area, and the Southern Periphery of the capital was "transformed into a miniature Stalingrad" of destruction, a German frontier dispatch to the Gazette De Lausanne said today, quoting an eyewitness.

Western Berlin was left a mass of flames, he said, and fires still were burning last Friday. The impressive destruction was reported in the Fehrbelliner Platz, the most modern sector of the city.

It was estimated 6,000 buildings were smashed and burned, the account said, in addition to 2,000 hit in the raid March 1.

All buildings in the Fehrbelliner Platz, Bayrischer Platz and Guntzelstrasse were smashed, and the Steglitz quarter was destroyed, the eyewitness said.

This same witness visited Hamburg, reporting the city "completely ceased to exist as a living metropolis" with only 20 per cent of its buildings not damaged, and with the greater portion of its people having abandoned the city.

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 1 (AP) — Destruction in last night's assault on Berlin was not so extensive as in the saturation raid of August 23, which was the heaviest blow ever struck the German capital, the Berlin correspondent of Stockholm's Aftonbladet reported today.

Censorship prevented his giving any details of last night's damage.

Howard Green's Son Found Safe on Camping Trip

VANCOUVER, Sept. 1 (CP) — Provincial Police said today they had been advised six teen-age boys missing on a camping expedition on Howe Sound, about 10 miles Northwest of here, had been found unharmed.

Fears for their safety were aroused yesterday by the discovery of one of three small sailboats in which they were travelling drifting overturned off Cambier Island. C. H. Turland, father of one of the youths who went to the scene in a speedboat, gave no details in his report to police except that the lads were safe.

Parents of the missing boys said it was possible the boat slipped its moorings during the night and was upset by the running sea. Lack of communications in the district made it necessary to conduct a search, however.

Alex Konkin Is Released on $3000 Bail

Alex W. Konkin of Shoreacres, committed for trial on a manslaughter charge as the result of the death of Mrs. Leonard J. Evans of Trail in a truck-bus accident at Corra Linn Aug. 9, was released on bail Wednesday afternoon.

His Honor Judge W. A. Nisbet set bail at $3000. Harry Burns and Konkin's brother, Fred Konkin of Shoreacres, were bondsmen.

The application for bail was presented by H. C. Irving, counsel for Konkin at the coroner's inquest and at the preliminary hearing Monday and Tuesday at which the young man was committed for trial.

Konkin was the driver of a Burns Lumber & Coal Company truck which figured in a collision with a bus of Western Canadian Greyhound Lines Ltd., in which three women were fatally injured—Mrs. Evans, Miss Mary Eileen Cain of Nanaimo and Mrs. Natasha J. Gritchin of Brilliant.

SECOND INCREASE IN U.S. NEWSPRINT

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP) —The second increase of the year in the price of newsprint in the United States became effective today, lifting the basic cost to $58 a ton or 16 per cent more than the price before the United States entered the war. The latest increase, $4 a ton, was on top of a previous war rise granted last March 1.

It is a punishable offence to waste food or paper in Britain.

43 Forest Fires in Week Due to Lightning

Forty-three forest fires—almost entirely from lightning strikes—were reported in Kootenay-Boundary in the past week, Forest Branch officials at Nelson stated Wednesday. They brought the season's total to 294.

At the end of the week four were listed as still burning. Of these two were in East Kootenay, one being near Marysville and the other near Wigwam, in the Fernie District; one was in the Nakusp Ranger District; and one was near Kettle Valley, in the Grand Forks area. All were small and under control.

The week's total of 43 consisted of 22 in East Kootenay, 18 in West Kootenay and five in the Boundary. East Kootenay has had a total of 131 this season; West Kootenay has had 121; and the Boundary has had 33.

In the corresponding week a year ago, the final fire report for the season was made up. Last year's final and the past week compare as follows:

	1942	1943
Burning	2	4
Reported in week	18	43
Total for season	271	294

Forestry officials stated September was still a "red month" on the Forest Branch calendar, and explained that ordinarily forest fire danger continued during the month. Heavy rains would, of course, eliminate the danger, but until the heavy rains occurred, close watch would be kept on the forests. The officials pointed out permits were still necessary during September for fires to burn brush.

Ten million pounds of cod fillets were produced in Newfoundland last year, valued at more than $1,000,000.
