Alberta Babies To U.S., Alaska, Central America

I.O.D.E. Lawyer Claims Records Show 75 P.C. of 241 Adoptions Approved Without Interviews, No Homes Visited

EDMONTON, May 11 (CP)—David Jones, a lawyer for the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, today testified that Alberta babies have been adopted by residents of 24 of the 48 United States, Costa Rica, Guatemala, El Salvador and Alaska.

He told a provincially-appointed Royal Commission investigating child welfare practices in Alberta that his statements were based on records of 241 adoptions in each of which the child left to make its home in a foreign country.

The Commission, headed by Chief Justice W. R. Howson of the Supreme Court of Alberta, is sequel to a survey made for the I.O.D.E. by Dr. Charlotte Whitton, Ottawa welfare authority.

Mr. Jones charged that departmental files on 40 of the 241 "foreign" adoptions had been tampered with and that not one case was revealed in the files of an Alberta welfare worker visiting the foreign home to which a baby was being entrusted.

75 P.C. OKAYED BEFORE INTERVIEWS

He said his study was made jointly with Mrs. Cameron Parker of Toronto, a child welfare expert. In 75 per cent of the cases, he maintained, "rubber stamps of approval" had been put on the applications before the adopting parents visited Edmonton or were interviewed. He did not say what proportion of the prospective parents were interviewed at any time.

Most of the adoptions were made during the war. Every passport photostat bore the signature of C. B. Hill, Child Welfare Superintendent, as guardian. Mr. Jones said 23 files indicated the adoption was carried out exclusively by correspondence.

The day's proceedings produced argument between Mr. Jones, Chief Justice Howson and Judge E. B. Feir, a Commission member, on the desirable income for adoption parents.

The I.O.D.E. counsel said one file showed the parents had an income "of only $2400 a year and yet were given two children."

The Chairman asked whether Mr. Jones meant that persons not earning more than $2400 a year ought to be prevented from adopting "although they could have 22 natural children if they wanted."

MORE STUDY

Mr. Jones replied only that he felt there should have been more study in the case.

"How many children have you?" asked the Chief Justice.

"Two," answered the youthful lawyer.

"Then you must be earning more than $2400 a year," pursued the Chief Justice.

Mr. Jones said that did not follow.

Judge Feir then interjected that the point seemed to be that $200 in the City of New York might pay for only one bedroom or a walk-up flat with cold water. It was reasonable to want investigation, he said.

Mr. Jones said that discrepancies between departmental and court records indicated that judges approving adoption applications did not always have all the information before them.

The hearing continues tomorrow.

25-PER-CENT INCREASE IN WAR PENSIONS

Third Time in Session Gov't Announces Revise

400,000 BENEFIT

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP) — A 25-per-cent increase in war pensions to benefit 400,000 Canadians was announced in the Commons today by Veterans Minister Gregg.

The change means that a single, totally-disabled veteran will get $94 a month instead of $75; a married, totally-disabled veteran $125 instead of $100 and a widow $75 instead of $60. Other pensions and dependents' allowances will go up accordingly.

It was the third time this session that the Government announced an upward revision in the pension scale and possibly the first time in Canadian Parliamentary history that a Government has changed its mind that often in one session. Its first proposal of 10 per cent last December drew heavy objection, was followed this Spring by another raising it from 16 to 20 per cent, and now by a boost to 25 per cent.

The 25 per-cent hoist was unanimously recommended by the veterans committee of the Commons at the request of the Canadian Legion.

KIN CHARITY CHAIRMAN FACES LOTTERY CHARGE

Food-for-Britain Ticket Sales Halted at Coast

HEARING TODAY

VANCOUVER, May 11 (CP) — Kinsmen Club here Tuesday halted the sale of tickets in its food-for-Britain drive.

Syd Welsh, charity chairman, has been summonsed to appear in court tomorrow. He will face a charge of conducting an illegal lottery.

In a statement issued today club officials said: "We think we are within the law in what we are doing . . . If it is found that our plan is illegal, we will not be able to carry on. In that case we will not be able to assist the general public as we have in the past."

The statement claims that more than $200,000 have been spent by the Vancouver and West Vancouver clubs for hospital equipment, milk for Britain, and food for Britain.

Words, Feasts Join Rotarians Of Two Nelsons

Banquet Air-Speeded to Nelson Club In England by Nelson, B.C., Group; Trans-Atlantic Phone Carries Message

"Our hearts go out to you, our Colonial friends and Americans . . ." These words came across the Atlantic Tuesday as Rotary Clubs in the Nelsons of two nations joined hands and hearts in a token of friendship.

For Nelson, British Columbia, where representatives of over 30 Clubs were gathered in conference, they were a "thank you" for an air-speeded banquet to a cousin club.

For Nelson, Lancashire, England, where members were celebrating their "coming of age," they were an expression of gratitude for a sharing in the bounties of Canada.

The banquet, sent through a Montreal firm, was a special goodwill feature of the third annual conference of Rotary District No. 103 held here Monday and Tuesday. The clubs sat down to banquet at precisely the same hour—12 noon in British Columbia and 8 p.m. in England.

President R. R. Langley of the Nelson, Lancashire Club addressed the 200 delegates in the Civic Centre Auditorium over a two-way amplified communication via Trans-Atlantic Telephone, telling of the thankfulness of the 50 members of his Club.

The Lancashire men were celebrating the 21st anniversary of the establishment of Rotary there and commemorated the occasion by unveiling a picture of their three charter officers.

A "glow of good will" had permeated their meeting, Mr. Langley said, again expressing "heartfelt thanks."

"Here in Lancashire, the men, women and children are all working together, and, relying on your continued support, we are confident of getting through. As Rotarians, we will work together.

"Two members of our Club have visited Canada, in the midwestern provinces, but did not get to British Columbia. They have told us many times of the warm welcome they received in the Dominion, and we all hope some day to visit your Club.

"And in closing, thank you for the privilege of addressing you.

"This is goodbye from Nelson, Lancashire."

Communications were snarled, and it was not possible to hear the full five-minute talk.

Greetings from here were extended by H. A. Doak, Nelson President, and Herb Clark of Trail, District Governor. Connections were made by A. B. Gilker, who had made arrangements for the banquet and call.

The Lancashire menu was:

Fruit cocktail (10 tins), baked ham (48 pounds), green peas (10 tins), whole kernel corn (10 tins), buttered rolls (12 dozen), fruit cake (12 pounds), ice box cookies (6 pounds), sliced Hawaiian pineapple (10 tins), cheese (5 pounds), mixed nuts (3 pounds), assorted chocolates (5 pounds), sugar (6 pounds), pure cream (5 pounds), tea (2 pounds), coffee (3 pounds).

The suggestion for the air-mailed banquet came to him from His Honor Eric P. Dawson, County Court Judge of West Kootenay and a Rotarian, Mr. Gilker explained previous to the telephone conversation.

GOOD WILL DEVELOPMENT

"Development of good will, the fourth aim of Rotary, was established further by the gesture," Mr. Gilker said.

Nelson, it was told by Blake Allan who visited the centre while in the Armed Services, is in the Northeast corner of Lancashire, on the West Coast of England. A city of 40,000 population, it is a cotton textiles centre, incorporated as a City in 1890, just seven years previous to Nelson, B.C.

Charge Creston Indian With Murder

CRESTON, B. C., May 11—Gabriel Luke, 35-year-old Indian, today was charged with murder in the May 6 death of Melanie Michel, 22-year-old expectant Indian mother. He was remanded to Saturday.

Police report the woman disappeared April 23 following a drinking party and returned hours later with cuts and bruises on her body. She did not call a doctor until the day of her death.

A Coroner's Jury of Frank Nadon, G. Barber, W. S. Camerson, H. Boffey, R. McNeal and R. Ibbotson was held to view the body Saturday. The jury hearing is set for May 13.

Mike Mangan Promoted To Penticton Post

C. T. (Mike) Mangan, for three years telegrapher with the Canadian Pacific Telegraph office here and active in sporting circles, will leave Nelson to take the post of operator at Penticton. The promotion becomes effective May 15.

Mr. Mangan joined the Communications Department of the C.P.R. at Fernie in 1930 and since that time has seen service with the company in many parts of the Province. Prior to coming to Nelson his longest term was at Victoria. He was transferred to Nelson in September of 1945.

During his stay here Mr. Mangan belonged to the executive of the Knights of Columbus Lodge and actively supported junior sports, especially hockey, baseball and fastball. He has two sons, one of whom played hockey with Art Wallace's Maple Buds.

Though Mr. Mangan has been an operator for the past 18 years he first started with the C.P.R. in the railroad department, transferring to communications at Fernie in 1930.

UNION CREWS MIX

MONTREAL, May 11 (CP) — Fighting broke out today between rival-union crews of two ships engaged in lightering operations. The crews were from the grounded Nova Scotia-owned vessel, Hants County, which was being lightered and the lightering vessel, the Barrie.

When the disturbance ended with the withdrawal of one ship to mid-stream, police aid was asked.

TORONTO SAID CENTRE FOR DOPE PEDDLERS

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., May 11 (CP)—Col. C. H. L. Sharman of Canada told the United Nations Narcotics Commission today that in 1947 Toronto was the distribution centre for Canadian dope peddlers, especially of Mexican heroin.

He was commenting on a Mexican report on the drug traffic situation, in which Mexico pledged greater efforts to combat narcotics distribution. Canadian and United States representatives had complained that opium and its by-products, smuggled in from Mexico, were creating a serious problem.

Col. Sharman said he did not know how the Mexican heroin got to Toronto, but his reports from Vancouver indicated opium smokers, morphine addicts and users of other narcotics had all switched to Mexican heroin.

The stuff sold on the streets of Vancouver at $12 a grain, Col. Sharman said, and it was adulterated from 40 to 80 per cent. At that price an ounce would cost $5244.

To Seek Standard Mines Legislation

EDMONTON, May 11 (CP) — Mines Minister N. E. Tanner of Alberta today announced Mines Ministers of all provinces except Prince Edward Island, will meet at Jasper Sept. 2, 3 and 4. P.E.I. has no Mines Department.

Discussions will explore means to uniform mines legislation in all provinces.

Ministers will be accompanied by their deputies and sub-committees made up of mining. About 100 delegates are expected.

JOIN CALL FOR $50 WAR VETS ALLOWANCE

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP)—A second large organization today requested that the ceiling for war veterans' allowances, paid to aged and needy veterans and widows as well as orphans, be raised to $50 a month.

The Government, in a bill now before the Commons Committee on Veterans Affairs, proposes to raise the maximum from $30 to $40 for single recipients, from $60 to $70 for those who are married.

Today's request came from the National Council of Veterans Associations, parent body for six organizations, in an appearance before the Committee. Last week the Canadian Legion made the same submission and also asked that the second ceiling be raised to $85.

Would Extend Loan Companies Powers

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP)—A bill extending the investment and borrowing powers of loan companies was adopted in principle today by the Commons.

After second reading the legislation, already adopted by the Senate, was referred to the Commons Committee on Banking and Commerce for further study.

R. W. Mayhew, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, said the new legislation will amend the Loan Companies Act of 1927. It will apply to all loan companies whether or not they were federally incorporated before 1914, when the first Loan Companies Act was passed.

Powers which will go similarly to all companies include the right to elect an executive committee of the Board of Directors, to establish branch offices; to reduce the par value of the company's stock from $100 to $10 or multiples of $10; to invest, with some limitations, in common stock of no par value; to increase their powers to accept deposits; and to borrow money.

Frank Jaenicke (CCF-Kindersley) said there are several features of the bill which he will question in committee, including a loan company's right to invest its funds in common stock without par value.

BUTTER, CHEESE OUTPUT SPILLS

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP)—Canada's decreased butter and cheese production last month was noted today in a report from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Butter production in April totalled 18,314,000 pounds, a decrease of 11 per cent from April, 1947. Cheddar cheese production in April totalled 3,300,000 pounds, a decrease of almost 46 per cent from the corresponding month a year ago.

TORTURING, SWASTIKA BRANDING OF BOY LAUNCHES COAST MANHUNT

VANCOUVER, May 11 (CP) — A mauled and tortured 12-year-old school boy nursed an ugly swastika scratched on his chest by a safety pin in this city's worst case of sadism in recent years.

Police said the attack was "vicious" and launched an intensive manhunt for the black-caped and goggled stranger who yesterday lacerated Gary Cuthbert, son of Sgt. and Mrs. Stewart Cuthbert.

The boy, a newspaper carrier, said the wierdly-dressed man accosted him while on his way home from school. The man ended a three-hour orgy of beating the boy by scratching a swastika on his chest with a safety pin.

Police report the man told the boy: "You have something valuable of mine." He dragged him into nearby shrubbery, trussed him with the boy's belt and then mercilessly beat him. No indecent act was attempted.

The area is a former Army barracks now used as a joint service married quarters. Fear has gripped other resident parents and children are being constantly watched.

Guerrillas Shoot Down Gov't Planes

ATHENS, May 11 (Reuters) — Greek guerrillas, believed to be using anti-aircraft guns for the first time, shot down two Government planes near Grevena, North Greece, yesterday, according to reports today.

COMPLAINS FIVE DOCTORS IGNORED NIGHT CALL TO DYING INFANT

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 11 (CP)—A young father said last night that five doctors ignored emergency calls the night his infant daughter died.

Martin A. Filipich, appealing to City Council to ensure 24-hour medical service, said the six-weeks-old child died 10 minutes before a sixth doctor arrived.

Council previously heard two complaints that physicians are refusing night calls. Last month it authorized Clerk G. M. Tolley to suggest to the Sault Medical Association that a rotation system be worked out to make sure at least two doctors are available at all times.

Mayor W. H. C. McBrien, commenting on Mr. Filipich's complaint, said he had received another "of similar nature."

"I don't know what we can do," he said. "Our hands are tied. We don't run private individuals."

He agreed, though, that "we will have to do something, even if we have to bring in a doctor."

Council voted to invite the Medical Association to discuss the matter with the council's Public Relations Committee.

Argue Scope of Jurisdiction in Labor Relations

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP)—Argument over the power of the Dominion to assume jurisdiction in labor relations developed today before the Commons Industrial Relations Committee.

Upshot of the debate was that the Committee deferred consideration of a clause in the Government's proposed labor code that would define the scope of Federal authority in labor matters.

Controversy broke out, too, over provisions of the code authorizing the Government to exempt employees of the Crown and Crown companies from collective bargaining under the proposed statute. Action on these clauses also was deferred.

TRAIN SEVEN HOURS LATE

Due to a freight train collision at Cowley, Alta., Monday night, the passenger train due to arrive in Nelson from the East at 11:25 a.m. Tuesday was more than seven hours late.

ONE MAN HURT

CALGARY, May 11 (CP)—One man was slightly injured when two C.P.R. freight trains collided in the Cowley, Alta., yards Monday evening, at a spot close to where a similar accident occurred last Saturday.

James Ganter of Lethbridge suffered cuts and bruises. C.P.R. officials said an Eastbound freight had sideswiped a Westbound freight, turning over eight freight cars and derailing the two engines on the Eastbound train.

Anaesthetic Kayo

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 11 (AP) —Four-year-old Edward (Mickey) Londrigan didn't want his tonsils taken out at the hospital because he wanted to play prize fighter at home with his new boxing gloves and trunks.

But he agreed to go after his mother, Mrs. Estelle Londrigan, told him jokingly that the doctor wanted to enter him in a boxing match against other children at the hospital.

Later, when Mickey — minus tonsils—came out of the anesthetic, he apologized to his mother:

"I don't remember a thing. I don't even remember who the kid was that knocked me out."

FIREMEN FACE BLAST THREAT FIGHTING BLAZE

VANCOUVER, May 11 (CP) — Fear of an explosion in an 1100-gallon tank of coal tar today drove eight families from their homes in the Kitsilano industrial area.

Firemen concentrated on the tank as they battled, and subdued within 30 minutes, a two-alarm blaze in the Canada Roof Products. Traffic was re-routed and people were kept a block away. Five-year-old William Bileski was seriously injured when struck by a hose as firemen worked at top speed to quell the flames before they could reach the dangerous tar.

Firemen fought, through heavy columns of acrid tar smoke which had spectators coughing a block away. Cause of the blaze was unknown.

Down With French Fried Potatoes Is Cry of Park Lover

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP) — Jean Francois Pouliot (L—Temiscouata) just doesn't like the smell of French-fried potatoes.

Last night he launched what may be a campaign to have them banned from Canada's national parks.

"The smell of French-fried potatoes ought not to be breathed at the same time as the perfumes from the pines and the firs," he told Acting Resources Minister MacKinnon during debate on the National Parks Act.

"I hope there will be a regulation . . . forbidding French-fried potato wagons entrance to the parks.

"They smell bad enough along the streets, and I hope the Minister will make that prohibition in due course."

Menus Creator Sits Fence Neatly

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP) — The guy or gal who recently prepared sample menus for the United States Department of Agriculture to show how cheaper foods often may be substituted for scarce ones, certainly knows how to walk that straight, narrow line.

The menus were published in the middle of a Congressional argument over which is better, butter or oleomargarine. The recipes avoid any controversy—they don't mention either.

LONDON, May 11 (Reuters)—The five remaining prisoners of eight who escaped from Canterbury, Kent, prison, yesterday, were recaptured last night, it was learned at the Home Office. Three companions were caught earlier after hundreds of police had turned out to block all roads around Canterbury.

MOSCOW, May 10 (Reuters) — A new Russian oil producing region —"second Baku"—is growing in the Ural Mountains around Kuibyshev, seat of the Russian Government during the German advance on Moscow, Tass News Agency reported today. Baku, capital of Soviet Azerbaijan on the Caspian Sea, is the centre of Russian oil production.

Manitoba Farms Go Under Water

WINNIPEG, May 11 (CP)—Flood waters from the Assiniboine River are pouring over rich farm lands in a 40-mile belt between Portage La Prairie and St. Francois Xavier in Manitoba today. An estimated 25,000 acres already are inundated and damage is close to $750,000. Portage La Prairie is 65 miles West of here.

In Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia the situation continues to improve. Saskatchewan is drying up rapidly. Alberta's railway tie-up is ended with trains slow in spots because of soft road beds.

British Columbia is not worried. The Fraser River rose six inches today, but officials say there is no danger and that the runoff from the mountains is normal.

More than 100 volunteers from Portage La Prairie labored last night and today to strengthen dikes two miles East of the town. If the dikes break, several thousand additional acres of farm land will be flooded and possibly part of the city itself. In other spots the water is level with the top of the barriers which are being reinforced with sand bags.

Reeve R. Allard of the St. Francois Xavier municipality says farmers will lose approximately $30 an acre on wheat land unseeded in the area. "The water still is going up and it will be at least another month before we'll be able to touch the land. There's not much chance of a crop in the district this year."

Ask Bond Against Illegal Strikes

VANCOUVER, May 11 (CP) — Coast lumber operators today asked the International Woodworkers of America to put up $50 bond for each Union man employed, as guarantee against "illegal strikes and lockouts."

Stuart Research, operators' representatives, said the operators had rejected two major demands of 40,000 woodworkers and added they are "considering" a third demand for a 35-cent-an-hour wage increase.

The Union bond would amount to $1,350,000. The operators would pledge $2,000,000.

The statement said the 35-cent increase would cost operators $28,000,000 a year. The statement also said the Welfare Fund to be paid by the employer on the basis of a five per cent payroll levy (a Union demand) would cost $6,000,000 yearly.

Spring Brings Activity to Slocan Mines; To Expand Victor Operation

NEW DENVER, B.C., May 11 — Mining activity has started up again in the Slocan mining district. Several properties are being opened up this Spring including the Slocan Rambler.

An Eastern company has five men hauling in a carload of supplies for the property.

The Victor property has been sold to G. McMillan of Toronto. The mine is the only one that operated steadily all through the depression. It is going to be operated on a larger scale by the new owners.

Mr. McMillan has some nice samples of pure silver with him from his trip to the mines. Ernest Doney is going to be the mines supervisor for the new company.

The Queen Bess is opening up under the supervision of W. S. Ellis of Vancouver.

An option has been taken on the old Silversmith Mines, one of the most prosperous mines in British Columbia at one time. It will be opened in the Summer.

Several other mines are under option at the present time to Eastern companies.

More Music, Less Meanness Called For in World Today, Assembly Told

Music "always enduring" was the subject of a plenary session address Tuesday morning by D. H. Elton, K.C., of Lethbridge, Alta., speaking to delegates to the third annual conference of Rotary District No. 103.

The Tuesday morning session, second and final of the conference, was attended by over 400 Rotarians and Rotary Anns. A Governor's ball in the evening closed the conference, highlighted by a Trans-Atlantic conversation between Nelson and Nelson, Lancashire, Rotary Clubs.

Music always had played an important part in civilization, Mr. Elton pointed out. "Before the foundations were set, from heavenly harmony this earth was laid.

"Music ranks first — although only heard, it lasts because it is permanent, it is most enduing because it lives in the heart. It redeems, sanctifies and saves."

Taking the word, the speaker broke it into Mutual, Understanding, Secure, Intelligent and Co-operation—the qualities of "music" held in its name.

NEED MORE MUSIC

"We need more music and less meanness, more harmony and less hate."

Liberty, as regulated by law, was achieved only by wholesome restraint, Mr. Elton commented, mingling the two subjects.

"Eeternal vigilance is always the price of liberty. We can enjoy liberty only by being willing and ready to defend it. Those have liberty most who have the faith and courage to die for it."

New frontiers in international service was the subject of a brief talk by Bruce M. Hay of Spokane, Wash., while C. R. Ernst, Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., in Yakima, Wash., spoke on "Youth Service."

In following the fourth object of Rotary, the promotion of understanding and goodwill throughout the world, the international organization did a great part, Mr. Hay said.

Exchange of students, the airplane and the radio were mentioned by Mr. Hay as circumventing national control.

"International understanding of minds is a new frontier to be scaled," he closed.

"It is entirely in your hands."

District Assembly this year will be held in Wenatchee, Wash., while the meeting place for the 1949 conference will be in Spokane.

Entertainment for the delegates during the session was provided by Crawford Clark of New Denver, young accordionist who will be taking part in the music festival that opens here Wednesday.

Mr. Clark, whose skilful playing of the accordion Monday had returned him to the stage twice, was again applauded heartily by the audience, playing one encore.

Community singing, both at the banquet and the morning session, was led by Harold Hay of Saskatoon. Jack Glover of Nelson was piano accompanist, also offering musical selections before the meetings were called to order to by Conference Chairman H. D. Harrison of Nelson.

"It dries so quickly! Redecorating walls and ceilings used to mean upsetting the whole house for ages . . . until I tried QUICK-DRYING Monaseal. Now I can apply Monaseal knowing it will dry in a few hours—so clean and fresh—no lingering odor. WASHABLE too, that's why I always use Monaseal and recommend it to my friends."

Olympic Hoopers To Come From All Four Squads

TORONTO, May 11 (CP) — Two good basketball clubs, bounced out of the Olympic picture on the floor of Maple Leaf Gardens Monday night, were bounced back in today in a committee-room decision.

Canadian amateur basketball officials announced today that Vancouver Clover Leafs and University of Western Ontario Mustangs, who lost in the opening games of a special Olympic trial tournament, still might be represented on the Canadian entry that heads for London this Summer.

Clover Leafs, who beat Montreal Y.M.H.A. Blues in the Canadian senior finals last week, dropped a close decision to those same Blues Monday night while the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds were taking the measure of the Mustangs.

At that point it was announced that members of the U.B.C. and Y.M.H.A. clubs would be chosen for the Olympic team, with players from the losing clubs eligible only if some of the original selections proved unable to make the trip.

But today C.A.B.A. President Laurie Irwin said the Olympic squad's 14 players would be picked by the coaches of the U.B.C. and Montreal clubs from the four competing teams.

Colorful Exhibition of Handicraft, Paintings Opens in W.I. Rooms; Demonstrations Interest Spectators

One of the most extensive exhibitions of the arts and crafts yet to be held in Nelson opened Tuesday at W.I. Rooms in Civic Centre, attracting a steady stream of Nelson citizens and City visitors.

The two-day showing, which will bring before the public a wide variety of works, is being sponsored by Nelson Art Club assisted by the Leather Craft Club.

Exhibits ranged from fine carpets made by the West Kootenay's Doukhobor women to paintings by Nelson and district artists, from professional leather work to wood carvings.

As spectators glanced from one display to another, the artists themselves were demonstrating their skill and workmanship. A second sideline was a display of books on arts and crafts arranged in Nelson Municipal Library.

Showing of Doukhobor work is the first of its kind ever to be displayed in Nelson. It is being exhibited under the auspices of the Union of Spiritual Communities of Christ at Brilliant. Fine examples of embroidery, weaving, knitting, home-made carpets, in bold designs, and wood carving drew plaudits from onlookers.

Operating a home-made spindle was Mrs. Polly Kanigan of Brilliant. William Gevatkoff, also of Brilliant, carved a birch-wood spoon in front of a table of other wooden cutlery made in his spare time. Prize among the Doukhobor exhibits, which included multi-colored shawls, white table cloths and colthing by Castlegar and Brilliant Doukhobors, was a 100-year-old blanket from Russia.

FIRST SHOWING FOR LEATHER CLUB

Members of the Leather Craft Club, two-year-old Nelson organization, have entered expertly-fashioned leather articles including belts, purses, gloves, book and photograph album covers, slippers and umbrella cases. Demonstrating in the afternoon were Mrs. H. Peacock and Mrs. A. L. Lythgoe. The leather work is being shown for the first time.

Principal contribution of the Art Club is a selection of paintings by a number of well known Kootenay artists. Not all paintings exhibited, however, were by members of the Art Club.

Loaned by A. P. Allsebrook, Kaslo painter, was a portrait by Francois Baude of Armentieres, France, one of the greatest painters in his country today. Entitled the Head of a Girl, it was given to Mr. Allsebrook by the French painter, who was a friend of his in Paris in 1901 in the Academie Julian. Francois Baude is a member of the Societe des Artistes Francais, and was for many years on the jury of the Salon International des Beaux Arts, Paris.

Nelson and district painters represented were Alec J. Garner of Procter, H. MacLean Angus, Ruby M. Young, Mrs. Z. Snider, J. C. Ingram Rogers, Mrs. A. G. Pentland, Mrs. L. J. Maurer, Doug Collinson, Mrs. E. Dickinson, C. M. Young, E. C. Whitelock, Lance Pearce, and Mrs. H. Peacock of Nelson, Miss Janet A. Shiell of Needles, the late William Bayliss of Crawford Bay, Mrs. J. Fletcher of Ainsworth, Mrs. E. Attree of Queen's Bay, and A. P. Allsebrook of Kaslo, who sketched a few people during the afternoon. Oils, watercolors, and sketches constituted the painting exhibit for the most part.

Samples of handweaving were shown by Mrs. A. G. Pentland, who also operated a hand loom for the information of bystanders. Patchwork pictures were contributed by Mrs. L. Clark of Gray Creek, miniature figures by Mrs. Snider, and needlework by Alex Marshall. Shellwork was also included.

Among exhibitors of Doukhobor handicraft were Agaia A. Holuboff of Castlegar, Mary Eodokimoff, Mrs. Peter J. Relkoff of Brilliant, Mrs. Dora Potapoff of Shoreacres, Mrs. P. Demoskoff of Castlegar, Mrs. Dora Ozeroff of Castlegar, Mrs. Mary Marozoff of Brilliant and Peter Chernenkoff of Brilliant.

Believes E. R. P. Buying Too Much Canadian Goods

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Senator Milton R. Young (Rep., N. D.) said today too much Canadian and not enough American food is being purchased for European relief.

In that connection he wrote Paul G. Hoffman, head of the Economic Cooperation Administration:

"You announced that $33,500,000 expenditures for the purchase of Canadian wheat, flour and bacon for the United Kingdom had been authorized by you, bringing total E.C.A. commitments to date to $107,700,000—a large share of which is for food purchased elsewhere than in the United States.

"These purchases of food, including large quantities of wheat and wheat flour from Canada, come at a time when there is twice as large a carryover of wheat in the United States as there was last year, and at a time when wheat is selling here at approximately parity.

"So far as I know, no expenditures for American farm products have been authorized under E.C.A. to date, at least of any size."

Young said that when the United States Senate was considering the European Recovery Program it was indicated that $1,800,000,000 of first-year funds would be used for American agricultural products.

McCarthy Still in There Says Dowd

BOSTON, May 11 (AP) — Five successive defeats have started the "whats wrong with the Red Sox" chant again, but the Boston club today denied rumors Manager Joe McCarthy had quit.

Travelling Secretary Tom Dowd told a reporter: "As far as I know, McCarthy's still manager. And if I know the man he will be winning when he quits, not losing. He isn't built that way."

The Red Sox, picked by many experts to win the American League pennant, have won eight and lost 11 in their first 19 games under McCarthy.

English People "More Cheerful" Rotarian Tells

"The British people were not to be licked by a war," Jock Ridland, British Vice-Consul from Spokane, told the delegates to the third annual convention of Rotary District No. 103 at luncheon in the Civic Centre auditorium Tuesday.

Mr. Ridland said that on a trip to England he had found the English people "more cheerful." Their food and clothing were being made to go further, their industrial exports were well above the 1947 average and while textiles were not up to pre-war level of manufacture, they were improving.

"This is due wholly to the efforts of the workers themselves," the British Consul stated. "They are working longer hours, and they are working harder, on meagre rations."

SUFFICIENT, IF MEAGRE

British people were not suffering from lack of food, he said, although their rations are not large. "Before the war there were two classes of English people and they ate either too much or too little. Today rations are equal to each, all eat the same and they are sufficient, if meagre."

The "menace of Communism" which was depriving men of the right to live as they wanted, was touched on by Mr. Ridland.

"In Russia, where Communism was first set up, 14 men rule a nation. This is a dreadful blow—we thought we had abolished slavery, but there are more slaves now than ever before.

"Liberty can be lost, it must be constantly guarded."

The Marshall Plan, and the Le Hague conference were cited as steps towards guarding democracy and a union of European states.

The luncheon, attended by some 200 Rotarians, was closing official event of the two-day conference. During the afternoon the Rotarians played a golf tournament, winding up the event with a Governor's ball Tuesday night.

Highlight was the trans-Atlantic conversation between President R. R. Langley of the Nelson, Lancashire, England, Club and conference leaders. The two-way communication system was set up to hear the English club thank Nelson for an air-mailed banquet dinner. Thomas Layfield, a delegate from Spokane, is a former Nelson, Lancashire, resident, it was announced.

Seated at the head table during the luncheon were Herb Clark of Trail, District Governor; Blake Allan of Nelson, Jock Ridlands, H. J. Snell of Red Deer, A. W. Carlson, Governor-nominee from Spokane, C. R. Ernst of Yakima, Monty Brothers of Trail, Eric A. Ayler of Trail, Harry Hay of Saskatoon, R. A. Peebles, A. B. Gilker, H. D. Harrison, J. Coventry, J. R. McLennan and Gene Bodard of Nelson, and David Elton, K.C., of Lethbridge.

ELECT EINAUDI NEW ITALIAN PRESIDENT

Independent Wins Majority Vote In Fourth Ballot

IS BUDGET HEAD

ROME, May 11 (CP) — Luigi Einaudi, 74-year-old Governor of the Bank of Italy, tonight was elected Italian President.

Einaudi won the office on the fourth ballot, in which he had to secure an absolute majority from the combined Senate and Chamber of Deputies.

It was believed that the issue was swung in his favor by the Socialist Unity party—the breakaway anti-Communist wing of the Italian Socialist Party — which commanded about 50 votes.

Einaudi received 518 votes to 320 for Vittorio Orlando, pre-Fascist Premier.

Earlier, the third ballot—which required a two-thirds majority—failed to elect a President. In that ballot Einaudi received 462 votes—far short of the required 66 2-3 per cent.

Einaudi, who also holds the post as Budget Minister, is a political independent.

His total vote amounted to more than a simple majority of the 900 votes, however, and the constitution provides that the two-thirds majority rule applies only on the first three ballots.

Einaudi has been frequently attacked by Communist and other Leftists who accuse him of a money-pinching attitude towards spending for unemployment relief.

Enaudi was once a member of Mussolini's Cabinet but left after one of its frequent shakeups.

Carriers' Group Told of Dominion Truck "Roadeo"

Plans for a Dominion truck "roadeo" were outlined at Nelson Golf and Country Club to a gathering of Kootenay Motor Carriers Association here Monday night by Gene Buckman, Secretary-Manager of the Automotive Transport Association of B.C.

The Transport administrator also spoke briefly on the policy of his Association for the coming year and urged his listeners to improve their service where possible. He appealed to members of the Association to belong to community groups as a means of promoting better relations between business and transportation.

Eliminations for the truck roadeo will start here in the near future with high point holders graduating to provincial eliminations later in the year. Primarily to stimulate a high standard of driving, the roadeo will see entries from the nine provinces compete for Dominion laurels in Eastern Canada.

Besides Mr. Buckman, guests were T. Miard, Assistant District Public Works Engineer; Denis StDenis, representing the Nelson Retail Merchants Association; H. J. Maddaford, Inspector of Motor Carriers and Constable N. H. Elphick of the Provincial Police Highway Patrol. Representatives of the shippers and suppliers in the city were also in attendance.

Delayed Plane Lands

SEATTLE, May 11 (AP)—A DC-3 cargo plane, unreported for several hours today on a flight between Annette Island and Anchorage, Alaska has landed at Anchorage.

The Coast Guard here said the ship, with three crewmen aboard, reached Anchorage at 10:38 a. m. PST Radio transmitter trouble had prevented the plane from giving its position.

The plane is operated by General Air Cargo of Portland. The Coast Guard cancelled plans to send a Coast Guard cutter and planes to search for the DC-3.

DES MOINES, May 11 (AP) — Two-year-old Jimmy Brown choked to death tonight when he swallowed a balloon at his home. He was given artificial respiration at his home and while en route to a hospital, where an incision into the child's throat was made, but all efforts failed.

Communal Fighting Feared To Be Rekindled in State of Hyderabad

B. R. SATAKOPAN

NEW DELHI, May 11 (AP) — Both Moslem and Hindu leaders in India fear that the torch of communal murder, snuffed out by the assassination of Mohandas K. Gandhi, may be rekindled in the fabulous princely state of Hyderabad.

The kindling is there, the pitch is hot and the touchy reactions of Moslems and Hindus alike to developments in Hyderabad reflect apprehension.

Hyderabad, ruled by a Moslem Nizam reputed the richest man in the world, has a population of 17,500,000, of which 88 per cent are Hindus. The Nizam has refused thus far to follow some 600 other princely states in acceding to the predominantly-Hindu Dominion of India.

THREATENS OPPOSITION

He has been under heavy pressure from the Indian Government but he is well aware of a bearded, little Moslem fire-eater by the name of Kasim Razvi, who threatens holy war against any who oppose Hyderabad's present status of independence.

Razvi heads the state's United Moslem Party and its armed band of Razakars (volunteers). He has proclaimed that he, and his party, will not stand either for establishment of a democratic government within the state—which would mean rule by the Hindu majority — or for accession to India.

One of two things easily could spark communal warfare:

1. Razvi and his 20,000 Razakars could turn on the Hindu population of Hyderabad.

2. The Indian Government might send in troops to achieve accession by force, failing that end by negotiation.

One thing or the other may happen soon. There are reports almost daily of Razakar raids on villages in provinces around Hyderabad.

With this troubled atmosphere for a background, the negotiations continue. India wants just one thing—the surrender of Hyderabad's authority over defence, foreign affairs and communications. Other than in those fields, Hyderabad would have autonomy. Hyderabad is ready to enter into some sort of treaty relationship with India but insists on retaining independence, particularly freedom to establish trade and other contacts with Pakistan and other Moslem countries.

Believe Jews Winner of Present Phase of Battle

Predict Warfare Will Start Again When Arabs Begin Threatened Invasion

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

JERUSALEM, May 11 (AP) — Neutral military observers expressed belief today that the present phase of the bloody battle for Palestine has ended with the Jews on top.

These observers said yesterday's Jewish capture of the key Northern city of Safad and last night's victory at Bab El Wad reopening the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv supply route, have put a period for the time being to the struggle.

It will recommence, they believe, when and if the Arab states begin their oft-threatened invasion after Britain relinquishes her mandate Friday at midnight.

Hagana the Jewish Militia, spearheaded by its crack Palmach Commandos, now controls all the territory assigned to the Jews under the United Nations partition vote, plus more than enough to secure Jerusalem.

Only some outlying Southern settlements and a few on the Syrian frontier constitute weak points.

Hagana's conquests have placed well-trained, well-equipped Jewish troops athwart all but the Southern invasion route into the Holy Land.

Trans-Jordan's Arab Legion, if King Abdullah makes good his threat to lead his armies into Palestine, will find the Jews awaiting him in Jerusalem

EGYPTIANS READY

Egyptian forces, now reported massing in the Sinai Desert for a possible move into the Holy Land, have a virtually clear route into the Negeb (Southern Desert) where the Jews have 23 agricultural colonies with only token defences.

In the North, however, Jewish control of Safad gives them command of invasion routes from Syria, while their occupation of Haifa blocks Lebanon's path to Jewish Palestine.

Jewish fears of an Arab invasion have lessened. Hagana is battle-seasoned and equipped with the best available infantry arms. There are reports of bigger guns in their arsenal, also of Jewish fighter and bomber aircraft ready to land in Jewish airfields within hours after Britain's departure.

Hagana can put 40,000 men into the field and still have home guard defences.

Its supply lines are tenable and reinforcements can be recruited quickly. Arab states will be hard put, military experts declare, to do as well, and Arab supply lines are long and thin.

U.S. Railways Run as Usual

Lift Embargo on Perishable Goods As Unions Forced to Call Off Strike

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The railroads of the United States ran as usual under Government direction today and the Army lifted the emergency embargo on shipment of perishable goods.

The action restoring freight service to normal came after the Government forced the engineers, firemen and switchmen to call off a strike set for this morning.

Eighty-eight lines had banned shipments of perishables during the weekend to prevent them from being stranded in event of a walkout. Many cancelled the embargoes last night, however, in advance of the Army order.

The rail unions called off the threatened strike in compliance with a court order from Justice T. Alan Goldsborough — the Federal Judge who twice fined John L. Lewis for contempt in mine strikes.

With the Army in charge of rail operations, the White House withdrew from direct attempts to get the unions and management to settle their wage dispute.

MORE TALKS

Charles R. Ross, Presidential Press Secretary, said he assumed there would be further talks between the operators and Brotherhoods.

There appeared to be plenty of stumbling blocks ahead.

But Goldsbury's "temporary restraining order" (a type of injunction) expires May 19, eight days from today. The Judge set a hearing for that date on the Government's request for a longer injunction. The three unions will have their chance then to fight back.

There were other question marks, too.

President Truman had to seize the railroads to ward off the strike. The Army thus found itself in technical possession of the country's immense network of railroads.

How would it deal with the unions?

When could it turn the properties back to their owners without risking a new deadlock and an actual strike?

The 11-month-old dispute over wages and working rules is not settled. Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman had labored for days to persuade the railroad operators and the unions to come to an agreement.

Yesterday's seizure order was the only result.

Army Secretary Kenneth Royall planned to confer again some time today with the heads of the three unions—David B. Robertson of the Locomotive Firemen and Eginemen, Alvanley Johnston of the Locomotive Engineers, and A. J. Glover of the Switchmen's Union.

COOP SELVES UP

Last night, after facing reporters and photographers at frequent intervals all through a dramatic and swift-changing day, the three union chiefs cooped themselves up in their hotel rooms and let a young assistant, Eddie Gloss, make the announcement the country was waiting to hear.

"The Brotherhoods will comply with the court order. Steps to that effect are being taken immediately."

The "steps" were telegrams the three union heads were rushing to their local officers. The messages went out so late that not all the 150,000 workers involved were expected to get the word on time. Some confusion appeared probable.

Without the court order and the unions' obedience the strike would have begun at 6 o'clock in each time zone this morning.

Wide Publicity Given Russian Acceptance of U. S. Offer of Talks

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, May 11 (AP) — Announcement that Russia and the United States have expressed readiness to try to patch up their quarrels created excitement among the Russian people today. American observers here attached great significance to the development.

Newspaper stands sold out as soon as editions appeared carrying the story. Laborers and office workers on their way to their jobs lined up at the news stands for their copies. Many read the story as they walked along the streets.

The press and radio gave wide publicity to the development, without editorial comment. The newspapers announced that the United States had suggested a two-power meeting to discuss the state of Soviet-American relations, and that Russia had accepted.

The Russian people appeared to welcome the news that "the Soviet Government views favorably the desire of the Government of the U.S.A. to improve these relations." These were the words of the Tass News Agency's version of Russia's statement to the United States Ambassador, W. Bedell Smith.

NOT SOLUTION

American observers warn that this, of course, will not solve everything. The Russian note said the Soviet Union is unable to agree that the present tension is "caused by the policy of the U.S.S.R. in Eastern Europe." Moreover, the Soviet note said that the Russians will continue a policy of consolidating relations with countries of Eastern Europe just as the United States "is also pursuing a policy of consolidating its relations with neighboring countries."

Pravda, Communist Party organ, devoted almost half a page to the story, under the headline: "Soviet-American relations."

The Government paper, Izvestia, devoted almost all of its page two to the story, with the same prominent headline, and Trud, the trade union paper, printed the story on page three, just as promienntly displayed.

Envoys Meet Bevin; Believe Move To Clear U. S., Russ Differences Under Discussion; Unexpected Step

LONDON, May 11 (Reuters)—Lewis W. Douglas and Rene Massigli, United States and French Ambassadors in London, called on Foreign Secretary Bevin today. It was believed that they were to discuss the implications of the Soviet-United States exchanges on the possibility of discussions of outstanding differences.

(See page 3 for further details).

No statement was given out about the meetings, but a Foreign Office spokesman said Britain had not been consulted about the United States approach and had not expected the move.

He was under instructions not to comment on the development as the Foreign Office had not yet seen the text of the American note.

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—President Truman said today that the American bid to Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia for "decent and reasonable relations" between the two countries "represented no new departure in American policy."

Its purpose, Truman said in a formal statement, was to make it "unmistakably clear that the United States has no hostile or aggressive designs whatsoever with respect to the Soviet Union."

The President's statement did not indicate whether the note of Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith to Molotov May 4 might be construed as an American proposal for discussion and settlement of existing differences between the two countries.

The two main points of the statement by Smith, Truman said, were these:

"1. The policies of the United States Government in international questions have been made amply clear in recent months and weeks, they have the support of the overwhelming majority of the American people. They will continue to be vigorously and firmly prosecuted."

"2. On the other hand, this Government wishes to make it unmistakably clear that the United States has no hostile or aggressive designs whatsoever with respect to the Soviet Union."

In a response Sunday to Smith's statement, Radio Moscow said the Soviet Union is ready to pursue a "policy of peace and cooperation with the United States."

The Soviet further interpreted the Smith note as a bid for "discussion and settlement with Russia of differences which have split the postwar world."

The Moscow broadcast said Molotov had agreed to the proposal for talks ascribed to the United States.

HOPED FOR UNDERSTANDING

"At no point in this latest move in Moscow did Smith encourage any hope on the part of the Russians that the American Government would enter at this time into negotiations with the Russians for an overall settlement of differences between the two countries."

What Smith said originally was that it was hoped to find the basis of a "decent and reasonable relationship" between the Soviets and Americans. He added that "the door is always wide open for full discussion and the composing of our differences."

Apparently the State Department's purpose in making Smith's latest statement to Molotov public was to try to show that the United States is not proposing to compromise its policy at any point in seeking a settlement with Russia.

And since Russia in its note was officially regarded here as showing no tendency to compromise, American officials said that they had difficulty at this time in trying to discover on what basis a meeting might be usefully held.

VIOLATE CONFIDENCE

BERLIN, May 11 (Reuters) — Walter Bedell Smith, United States Ambassador to Moscow, who negotiated the projected American-Russian talks, said here today that the Russians had violated a confidence in releasing the story of his conversations with Foreign Minister Molotov.

He said he considered his talk with the Soviet Foreign Minister as "completely confidential."

Smith, who passed through here en route to a vacation in the U. S., last week presented to Molotov American diplomatic views on outstanding differences between the United States and the Soviet Union. Moscow's newspapers and radio today said Russia had accepted a suggestion for a two-power meeting to discuss these differences.

The Russians, Smith declared, in releasing the details of his talks with Molotov had, for the first time in his experience, violated the confidential nature of such discussions.

He asserted he knew nothing of the Moscow version of the agreement to hold discussions with the United States.

His assertion that Russia had violated a confidence came after correspondents had asked him for comment on the projected talks.

"If anyone reveals his diplomatic conversations it will not be me," he declared.

JERUSALEM TO BE DECLARED OPEN CITY TODAY

Jews Root Arabs to Claim Victory of Vital Supply Line

CONVOYS MOVE

GENEVA, May 11 (Reuters)—Jerusalem will be declared an open city tomorrow or Thursday unless unforeseen circumstances intervene, the International Red Cross announced today.

A Red Cross communique said that Britain, the United Nations Commission in Jerusalem and the Jewish and Arab political and military organizations had given favorable consideration to the scheme which will make the entire Holy City a security zone for the protection of non-combatant civilians, especially children and invalids.

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

JERUSALEM, May 11 (AP) — Jews claimed victory today in the battle to open their vital Jerusalem-Tel Aviv supply line.

A spokesman said Jewish Commandos smashed through Arab resistance last night in the Bab El Wad Gorge, then swarmed over the hills to wipe out Arab entrenchments.

Hagana militia engineers, moving in behind the Commandos, used bulldozers and dynamite to root remaining Arabs out of hillside positions along the winding mountain road, the spokesman said.

Once Arab resistance was broken, the engineers blasted through a series of stone barriers straddling the highway at the bottom of the gore, 10 miles West of here. Convoys are to start moving today.

TAKES 5 DAYS

The engineers had been ready for five days to clear the highway, supply lifeline for 100,000 Jews in Jerusalem. Arabs and Jews have fought bitterly for control of the convoy route.

A Jewish Agency spokesman said the first convoy in three weeks will travel this morning over the highway from Jerusalem to Tel Aviv. A food convoy also is expected to head towards Jerusalem from Palestines coastal plains.

Cairo dispatches said the Saudi Arabian legation announced last night that King Ibn Saud has decided that Saudi Arabia "will participate with other Arab countries in the military defence of Palestine at a time which has been agreed upon."

The Military Council for the Arab states met secretly in Damascus, Syria, yesterday. Informants said Arab leaders were assured that differences have been settled and a new degree of Arab unity attained.

RECOGNIZE STATE

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

LAKE SUCCESS, May 11 (CP) —Russia and her satellite group of Eastern European countries will recognize the new Jewish state in Palestine, a high-ranking United Nations delegate said last night.

The Zionists have announced that they will proclaim a new state in their section of Palestine under the U. N.'s partition decision reached last November. It is expected that the state will be proclaimed immediately on termination of Britain's old League of Nations mandate at midnight Friday.

CAN SHIP ARMS

Regardless of any delay in full recognition of the new state, the delegate said, the Soviet bloc immediately will grant it belligerent rights. This would provide for legal shipment of weapons to the Holy Land and Jewish land, sea and air forces would be recognized in International Law.

It was not certain, however, whether diplomatic recognition would be extended immediately on proclamation of the new state, the delegate added.

Treaty Time on Sask. Indian Reservations

REGINA, May 11 (CP) — It's treaty time on Saskatchewan Indian reservations and this year a record number of Indians are expected to receive the annual bounty due them under various treaties.

J. P. B. Ostrander, Regional Supervisor of Indian Agencies, said approximately 16,000 Indians in the Province will receive treaty money —$5 for each man, woman and child —this year. Each Chief receives an additional $20 and each tribal councillor $10.

Payments began yesterday at the Duck Lake Agency and will continue throughout the Province until mid-July.

Indians this year will receive the largest amount of treaty money to be paid since the first treaties were made around 1870.

Payments in Northern Saskatchewan probably will be delayed another three weeks until lakes become open for travel.

Winnipeg Chinatown Only A Nostalgic Recollection

WINNIPEG, May 11 (CP)—One of the most colorful features of Winnipeg during the years after the First World War—its Chinatown—rapidly is becoming only a nostalgic recollection.

The truth is that Chinatown no longer really exists as a section reserved distinctly for one race. Its early settlers either are dying out or returning to their homeland.

Although never as opolent as the Chinatowns of Vancouver, Toronto or Montreal, Winnipeg's Chinese quarter covered an area of about 30 blocks during its halcyon days. Nearly 1500 Chinese lived within the area. Now the most liberal estimates would set the figure at less than 750.

Several reasons are advanced for the decay of the once-thriving Oriental section. Many of the Chinese remaining are old. Others, said Restaurateur Charlie Foo today, are returning to their native land to die.

The Civil War in China, Mr. Foo said in an interview, did not affect the exodus appreciably. No new settlers are coming to Canada; they cannot penetrate Canada's tight immigration barrier.

Mr. Foo said Winnipeg Chinese resented what he termed discrimination against Orientals. Little action had been taken since the Chinese Immigration Appeal Committee from Winnipeg, headed by C. V. McArthur, a local barrister, had presented to the Dominion Government a plea for relaxation of the restrictions.

"Chinatown is as quiet, peaceable and law-abiding as any other Japanese now living in the area once designated as Chinatown met with no hostility from the Chinese.

The three main restaurants in what remains of Chinatown do a thriving business in Oriental food, but Mr. Foo says it's difficult to obtain native foods. Restricted trade with the Orient has sent prices sky high; no imports are being obtained from Japan. Much of the food sold consists of American or Canadian imitations of Oriental dishes.

Wife's Topic of Conversation Leads To Husband "Hiding Behind Paper"

When a husband comes home from work and spends every evening behind his newspaper, listening to the radio, or sleeping in his chair, whose fault is it, his or his wife's? And what's to be done about it?

In answer to a wife who wrote me a few weeks ago complaining about this sort of situation in her own home, I suggested that she should leave her husband to enjoy his silence alone, and go out and have fun with her own friends, or invite some of them in for a hen party.

Now, a husband who had his attention called to these remarks of mine by his wife comes to the defense of such husbands in no uncertain terms.

Here is what he writes.

"My wife just drew a circle around your column, dropped it into my lap, and went to bed. I gather she wrote the letter that was hinting that I am one of those silent Joes you spoke about. Well, in a way I am.

"When I put in a good day's work, and have to come home and listen to backyard gossip, I can't stomach it. Sometimes when I come home, I find four or five women in my living room, all chatting away like hoot owls. Each is picking some other woman apart. Either they don't like how their neighbor hangs her curtains, or Millie had a un in her stocking. Then they start on Anna's little girl, who had a runny nose and still was allowed outside. From one neighbor, they jump on another. To see them all together, you'd think they were blood sisters. But let one leave, and they begin: 'Tisk tsk, notice her hips and she says she takes a size 9!' Miss Atkinson, you can have that gossip. I'll stick to the sporting column till women stop being parasites and the two-faced dears that they are.

"Dont get me wrong. I love my wife, but she has the fault of most women, that of being catty.

"Should I ever come home, and find my wife ready to talk sports, radio, boxing, tennis, even tic tack toe, I'd throw the paper in the wastebasket and talk. But till women who remain behind that screen of petty talk stop talking like back-stabbers and meet us on more pleasant subjects, I'll remain behind my paper.

"So don't be too much in a hurry to jump on us, husbands. You would do better to tell the wives to assert themselves in a more human manner than to tell them to go out and have fun. Get hep, Atkinson, we deserve companionship too. But who wants to hear about Bertha running around while her husband is working? Tell the women to be companions to us, not to bring us gossip as soon as we open the door."

There is no doubt at all but that thois husband is making a point. So perhaps we'd better say that of a wife finds her man going into his soilence every evening, she might, before going out to have fun on her own, try my correspondent's suggestion and think up some entertaning things to talk about. If this does not work, then she can try the other plan.

I think a husband shouldn't necessary require his wife to be up on sports before being ready to talk withher. If he doesn't want to hear heminine gossip, why should he expect her to make herself an authority on masculine interests?

My suggestion is that they get together on some middle ground, say a hobby or other form of recreation or interest, that they can enjoy companionaly together.

For Parents

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

Parents Shouldn't Scold the Child Who Won't Concentrate at School

Several times in this column I have deplored the practice by some teachers of complaining to parents that a certain child does not concentrate or pay attention at school. Such a vague report suggests to the parents that by rebuking and punishing the child at home she can make him concentrate at school. Many parents do just this, and in vain.

A certain mother writes of a similar problem: "I have been told by my six-year-old daughter's teacher that her memory is over-developed. What is an over-developed memory? She also said I should improve her reasoning power. Please advise how to improve reasoning power." I answered that mother to this effect:

WHAT TEACHER MEANT

I should also like to know what that teacher meant. How could anybody's memory be over-developed. Have you ever known of such a person? If only you and I had a better memory, how useful it could be to us, even if we remembered some things before we wholly understood them! Otherwise we might never have learned by heart the Lord's Prayer, the Twenty-third Psalm or other choice gems of literature.

That teacher probably meant that this child depends too much on her memory of mere words and statements, whose meanings would be very useful to her right away, and seldom thinks through things for herself, which she is easily able to think hrough.

Practically every child (every adult, too) is lazy about reasoning things out and inclines to use many words and statements uncritically. Some teachers are wonderful in their ability to challenge children to think. Discerning parents often say they wish the school would do more to make their children think.

REASON MORE OFTEN

But here is a teacher telling a mother she (the mother) should improve at home the child's reasoning power. She probably means that the mother should induce the child at home to reason more often and more critically. Although the mother probably supposes this is solely the teacher's job—and teachers are, presumably, trained for such—any parent can, by taking the trouble, do more than she has ever dreamed in this direction.

In the first place we parents should encourage the normal zeal which the average child has for reasoning. From the time he begins to ask questions, even by gestures, grunts or words, we should answer him as well as we are able, even if we must search long and hard for the answer, especially when he is seeking causes, reasons.

If we do answer all the youngster's questions he may wear us out at times. Yet we dare not be lazy. We dare not run away from this opportunity—this duty, indeed — for stimulating his healthy search for facts and reasons.

We can do still more. We can, by words or by setting situations stimulate him to make more enquiries and help him learn ways to find answers to his own questions. But instead of telling him rather angrily that he knows the answer, we shall remind him kindly that he knows this, and this, and this, leading to the answer. As we do so we help him use his memory. Without such use of memory how could there be reasoning? How precious a good memory is when we are able to use it at the right time and place!

Symptoms of Bronchial Asthma Are Difficult Breathing, Slight Fever

People with bronchial asthma are different from the vast majority in that they belong to an allergic group, estimated to include from 10 to 15 per cent of the population. For some unknown reason, people of this type are sensitive to substances which are harmless to the ordinary individual. Some of these people suffer from hay fever due to pollen in the air at certain seasons; others dare not eat certain foods for fear of hives or eczema, and it is thought that asthma is due to a similar allergic reaction in those whom it afflicts.

The chief symptoms of asthma are attacks of difficult breathing, characterized by a labored wheezing, coughing and, now and then, a slight fever.

BETWEEN ATTACKS

Patients feel well between attacks so that today's treatment concentrates on preventing the attacks. In this connection it has been suggested that worries about family and financial matters may increase the tendency for the attacks to occur.

It is also important, in warding off these attacks, for the patient to be put in the best possible condition of bodily health, with rest, fresh air, sunshine, exercise and proper diet. Many times an attack may follow a simple cold, so efforts must be made to prevent colds. In other cases, the asthma may be brought on by fatigue or overtiredness.

PREVENTING ATTACKS

Thus, it would appear that in preventing attacks of asthma, the living of a well-regulated life is of great importance. Persons who are subject to such attacks should eat their meals at regular times and avoid overeating. They should also avoid fatigue, and get plenty of fresh air and moderate exercise.

If a person has a severe attack of asthma, it may be important to place him in a hospital for treatment. An injection of epinephrine into a muscle or under the skin often will control the attack for several hours. This preparation is of no value given by mouth, and is rarely given by injection into a vein. It must be used cautiously in those patients with high blood pressure and heart disease. Some patients get relief by breathing in a watery solution of the epinephrine, which is vaporized before it is breathed in.

MILD ATTACKS

If attacks of asthma are mild, many patients are relieved by taking ephedrine. This drug may be taken by mouth. It may also be combined with other drugs, such as aminophylline or phenobarital. Tthe aminophylline may be given by injection into a vein to relieve severe asthmatic attacks. It may also be given in the form of a suppository introduced into the lower bowel.

Have High Food Prices Put a Jinx On Your Chances of Gaining Weight?

At ease, thin girls, we'll take it from your corner today. And it is'nt going to cost you anything...

I know—you're convinced that if you couldn't gain when food was within reason, you sure can't with prices sky high. Besides, you've tried gaining diets and stayed with them too, perhaps as long as a couple of weeks, without adding a pound—not even a half!

Wait, you have to build up to it. You won't gain on the first extra glass of milk you consume! You won't may not gain for a month, even with regular eating. I asked some English girls who had been rationed for an extended period how long it took them to start picking up pounds once they were eating heartily. One said it took four weeks before she gained a pound; the other didn't gain anything for six week. But they both noted a tremendous increase in their feeling of vigor before the scales registered any change in weight.

But back to our budget. To gain, cut out the fancy trimmings and stick to good, nutritious fare. Start by taking an extra slice of bread and butter with each meal. Restaurant dinners can have more on request, without extra charge.

For the first day or two you won't actually crave that extra slice. That's because you've shrunk your stomach to the size of a wizened potato! Stretch it and your appetite by eating just a bit more. Appetite comes with eating. And always eat meals regularly—otherwise you'll fill up a few bites.

That's partly fatigue...you've gone too long without food. One sure way to gain is to get more rest. That improves your assimilation powers. If you could lie down, completely relaxed, and rest for thirty minutes before a meal, you'd gain! That can't always be managed; but try to eat in a quiet place, even if you have to carry your lunch to do it!

MILK OR COFFEE

Instead of having coffee in the middle of the morning and afternoon, have a glass of milk at both times. Not only because milk furnishes more calories, but because it supplies calcium which acts as a buffer to the nerves. Once you take the edge off your nerves, adding curves is easy. And have a glass of warm milk at bedtime.

And, thin girls, eat a good breakfast—please! Then you won't be too tired to eat lunch. And a glass of milk in midafternoon can prevent a four o'clock fadeout, and you can relax and have a good dinner. Remeber...iit's not only what you eat that counts, it's what you assimilate. With ten pounds on you'll look like a new girl—and feel like one!

Charges Vancouver Getting "Raw Deal"

VANCOUVER, May 11 (CP) — Acting Mayor George Miller charged today that Vancouver is receiving a "bald-faced raw deal from Ottawa" in regard to social assistance work.

A letter from Prime Minister King's office to the Civic Social Services Committee said "responsibility for any unemployment assistance rests with the municipalities" until all provinces have signed financial agreements.

An agreement, signed last year by former Premier John Hart and the Federal Government, will be studied by Corporation Counsel D. E. McTaggart. He will determine whether the agreement states specifically that the Dominion Government is not obligated to undertake social assistance responsibilities until Ontario and Quebec join other provinces in signing.

CANCER HOSPITAL A FAITH VENTURE FOR NUN; FOUNDED IN SPEAKEASY

By E. L. PRIZER

DETROIT (AP)—With only faith and determination to go on, Sister Loretta Mary Gibson founded a cancer hospital in a padlocked speakeasy in 1931.

Today Detroit's determined cancer fighter has built the hospital, Mercy Hall, into a $500,000 institution. That's only the beginning, she says.

Now she's helping pioneer a program to help average families cope with cancer. In the face of a disease that kills more than 188,000 yearly in the United States, costs tremendous sums for treatment, and has no sure cure, the job is overwhelming.

But Sister Gibson hasn't a doubt she will succeed. Her whole career has been full of events like this:

One hot Summer day Mercy Hall did not even have the few pennies needed to buy lemons to make lemonade for the patients. Sister Gibson knelt and prayed.

"Within an hour," she says, "a lady stopped at the door and left a bag of lemons."

Or take the time she bought a new clinic. Who would think of going to a real estate man and offering $150 down on a $75,000 building? Sister Gibson did. The astounded broker asked time to think it over.

"But four days later he phoned up and accepted," she says. "In two years the building was paid for."

INVINCIBLE FAITH

Such audacity, coupled with invincible faith, has been behind almost every forward step for Mercy Hall. Without an idea where the money would come from Sister Gibson has increased the size of the hospital, purchased treatment equipment worth tens of thousands of dollars, set up an operating room recognized as one of the best in the country.

"Ten per cent of those who come here to die walk out and go home," says the Sister of Charity. "We allow no defeatism. Every case is treated as if it had never been diagnosed before."

Mercy Hall is a homey place, painted in cheery colors, with large glass porches. Organ music is piped to the rooms. Patients are accepted regardless of race, creed or color. With its 60 beds it is a far cry from the six-bed treatment center Sister Gibson set up in the padlocked speakeasy which she rented 17 years ago.

This is headquarters now for the administration of the National Cancer Foundation's new program in Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio. It's the first hospital to enter into the program.

Sister Gibson says the fact that 80 per cent of cancer cases die in poverty is proof that help is needed for middle class families stricken with the disease. The program works this way:

Worthy advanced cancer patients in the four-state area are admitted to Mercy Hall. They pay what they can. The foundation foots the rest of the bill with the funds raised in the patients' home states. It's that simple.

If you're wondering how Sister Gibson can handle so much with only a 60-bed hospital, you're slow on the guess. She's already working on plans to build a new $4,000,000 hospital.

CRAMBLED ANYWAY

LONDON, May 11 (AP)—Careful Mrs. Annie Sumner did not put all her eggs in one basket, and it helped—but only a little bit.

When she left Chicago for shortstationed Britain she put her three dozen eggs in three boxes. During the trip she dropped two of the boxes. When she got to London airport, she dropped the other one. Six eggs survived.

A South African heard the sad story, however, and gave her a dozen more, for her sister, ill in a London hospital.

Gene Autry Plans to Visit Both Republican, Democratic Conventions

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 11 (AP) — Gene Autry is trying to arrange his plans so he'll be able to visit the Republican and Democratic national conventions to name presidential candidates this Summer.

An ardent sideline observer of politics, Gene probably will attend the conventions as representative of new newspaper and radio interests, but no doubt they'll ask him to sing. The guitar-plunking cowhand stresses his impartiality; he's a longtime friend of both the Republicans' Harold Stassen and the Democrats' Bob Hannegan.

LACK OF ENTHUSIASM

George Brent makes no secret of his lack of enthusiasm for his next film at U-I, "Wildfire." He's supposed to play Ann Blyth's father instead of the romantic lead in the Zane Grey story about the pursuit of a wild mustang across hundreds of miles of desert. "The only horses I'll be following," says George, "will be running at Hollywood Park" . . .

AP STORY

Glenn Ford still has the inside track for the lead in "The AP Story." The script now is shaping up and it will cover the 100-year history of The Associated Press in three parts: From the beginning to the Spanish-American War, from there through the First World War, and from there to the present. The first two will be treated briefly, in semi-documentary style; the third will portray a reporter (Ford) who is a composite of six AP figures . . .

Edgar Bergen will play London's Palladium when he visits Europe this Summer . . . Bing Crosby must be mellowing. He went to his first Press party in New York and he promises to attend "The Emperor Waltz" premiere here. Strangely, it is the first local premiere of one of his pictures . . .

SPRINKLING-BLACKWELL

● A wedding of interest to Nelsonites was that performed Saturday afternoon at three o'clock when Rev. A. L. Anderson, pastor of St. Paul's Church, united in marriage at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mayor and Mrs. T. H. Waters, Verna Mae Blackwell, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Blackwell, 719 Vernon Street and Don Francis Sprinkling, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Sprinkling, 993 Southgate Street, Victoria, B.C. For her attendant, Miss Blackwell chose Miss Beryl Mae Calbick, also a former Nelsonite now of Victoria, and the groom was supported by Melvin F. Brundrige also of Victoria. For her marriage the bride wore a dusky rose dressmaker suit with white lace halowhite accessories, a corsage of white Sweetheart roses and pale blue hyacinth. During the signing of the register Miss Frances Boyes sang "I'll Walk Beside You," and was accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Waters. About 40 guests attended the ceremony at the Waters home, 1223 Stanley Street, which was gaily decorated with many Spring flowers. A three-tiered wedding cake centred the hand crocheted table cloth flanked by ivory colored candles in silver candle sticks. Out of town guests included Mrs. H. Crombis, Miss C. Campbell, Miss Daphne Deane and Miss Betty Garrison all of Trail, the last three with the bride and bridesmaid are all of the 1947 graduating class of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Victoria. For travelling the bride donned a light grey wool gabardine coat over her suit. The couple left by motor to spend their honeymoon in Spokane, Seattle and Portland, before returning to Victoria where they will make their home. The bride is on the staff of the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

For her attendant the fair-haired bride chose her school friend Mrs. Stuart Muckle of Vancouver as her matron of honor while the groom was supported by P. Atbeko of Castlegar. As the bride descended the stairs on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, she was radiant in her white jersey silk floor length wedding dress featuring cape sleeves over which hung a silk net veil and wreath of orange blossoms. Her dress was delicately adorned with silk soutache braid and completing her ensemble she wore long white gloves and matching shoes. Her bouquet was composed of Yellow Sweetheart roses. The ceremony performed by Rev. J. S. Horricks of Castlegar took place in front of the bay window prettily arranged in a profession of narcissi and yellow primroses. Following the ceremony a reception was held when about 135 guests assembled to congratulate the bride and groom who were assisted in receiving by the bride's parents and the groom's sister, Mrs. McFayden of Vancouver. Albert Martin of Robson acted as toastmaster and Rev. Horricks proposed the toast to the bride, Frank Webster proposed the toast to the matron of honor to which the best man replied. Brightening Up the Railways

Their traditional love of color and pageantry thwarted by war-born austerity, Britons are showing great enthusiasm over the colors, heraldic designs, station signs and livery to be adopted by the British railways.

Ever since the railways became the property of the nation, countless letters to daily newspapers and feature articles have been written on the subject of brightening up the British railway systems.

The many forceful arguments and suggestions brought forward, particularly by daily commuters, have revealed a national pride and almost boyish delight in the appearance of the locomotives. As a result, Sir Eustace Missenden, Chairman of the Railway Executive, has announced that eight trains on the main lines are to be painted in various colors and put into service in May.

The engines of the fastest and most important main line expresses will be blue, probably in one or two shades, the ordinary passenger locomotives will be green, and others, freight trains and so on, will be black. Carriages on the steam-trains are starting in a two-color scheme of cream and chocolate; the all-electric lines will have green engines and green stock and different colors will be chosen for diesel engines.

Improvements in passenger train service are being put in to effect. Many additional trains are being introduced with extended restaurant car facilities; cheap day excursions, special trains for sporting events and special rates for larger parties are again being introduced. Once again it is possible to book seats on British trains in advance.

Beating the Frost

In the past few years science has solved many major problems for the farmer, but several important ones continue to challenge the ingenuity of technical agriculturists. Foremost among these is the protection of crops from frost damage in early Spring or at the end of the growing season.

The smoke screen method of protecting trees and seedlings from frost injury has been successful on many occasions, but was found inconvenient because of the constant attention necessary to maintain smudge fires. In Michigan, agriculturists have been working on the development of infrared and fuel-burning radiant heat generators to reduce the frost hazard. While these have been successful, their cost appears to be too high for wide commercial use since the area each unit can cover is too limited.

Agricultural chemists are also working on this problem, and have two definite angles of approach. One is to find a chemical which will increase the frost resistance of plants. Investigations along this line were prompted by the discovery that potatoes treated with certain fungicides were not killed as readily by Fall frost as those sprayed with different materials.

The second approach is through the use of hormones or hormone-like materials. In England, for example, formulations of naphthalene acetic acid, the same chemical which stops apples from dropping, have been used to delay the blossoming of peaches in the Spring until danger of frost has passed. Development of plant varieties which will grow to maturity within the frost-free period is another defence being tried by Canadian plant breeders against the frost menace.

Help From Wives

One who makes a career of helping firms out of their difficulties, George Trundle, of Cleveland, has made a discovery. He has found that the wives of executives are about as important as the executives themselves. In other words, that a man can't be expected to do a good job if his wife is a handicap to him.

Mr. Trundle's discovery is not exactly new, but it is rather amazing that there has not been more general recognition of it. The occasional firm now makes a practice of getting a report on the wife before they hire the husband.

No man can be at his best in an office or at a machine if he is subject to the constant yammering of a nagging wife when he is at home. Nor can either the boss or his employee produce his best if he has a spouse who keeps him circulating around night clubs when he should be home sleeping. And, naturally, a man must be well fed if he is to be an efficient and contented worker.

Mr. Trundle also puts his finger on the gossiping wife. It is an all too common experience to have one of these cause disturbances in almost every kind of business by the setting of one employee up against another. Other ways in which a wife can spoil her husband's career is to spend more than he makes, or to be overly-ambitious for him, making him dissatisfied with what he is doing.

He does not suggest all wives possess these faults; only that some of them do, and they are obstacles to their husbands' progress. Most wives, of course, are of assistance to their husbands—or how else would one account for the success of some of the men who appear to have succeeded!

Urges Council to Rectify Playground Situation

To the Editor:

Sir—It seems now that further alienation of public property is being considered by the City Council as a result of its decision to sell Fourways Playground. The latest news from the Council meetings is that a section of Falls Street that was incorporated in the playground area must be declared closed and sold if the trailer camp concern is to find sufficient space for its proposed project.

Our objection to any such action is a continuation of the protest against depriving youngsters of the Hall Mines Road section of their Fourways Playground, and of the sale of the park property by the Council.

There are a number of factors our Mayor and Aldermen should consider before they take any further action toward facilitating the erection of the widely-disapproved trailer camp:

1. No alternate nearby and suitable location exists to provide another playground in the neighborhood for the displaced youngsters.

2. That permitting the opening of a trailer camp that does away with the neighborhood playground of a large number of youngsters has been disapproved by a petition signed by a majority of taxpayers in the playground area.

3. That the position of residents of the area with families, who, though not householders, are taxpayers, is worthy of consideration. These people when interviewed opposed, as a majority, the conversion of the playground.

4. No suitable sanitary connections exist at the site to provide for a tourist accommodation.

5. There already exists a fine tourist trailer camp in Nelson, providing more than ample facilities to meet the demand. The possibility of having this camp operated under a lease might be explored, if the Council is too worried about competing with private enterprise.

6. Conversion of the playground will mean wiping out a lot of hard and good work by the Fourways Playground Committee, and the contributions of private citizens.

7. That every playground contributes to the fight against juvenile delinquency, and that it is the Council's duty to extend, not detract in any measure from, this effort.

The sale of the playground against the wishes of the people most concerned was a mistake. Any further action by the City Fathers to further encourage the conversion of the grounds would be adding to the error. The Council is urged now to do everything possible to rectify the situation.

While the need for all types of tourist attractions here is recognized, nevertheless the wishes of the taxpayers and the needs of the kiddies should come first.

Modern Manners

It is not necessary for a man to rise when a woman employee enters his office. If a visitor comes in, however, he should rise to greet her and remain standing until she is seated. When she leaves, he escorts her to the door.

Mrs. M. S., Nelson—How can I take proper care of a piano that must be near a heat register or radiator?

Keep a pan of water under it. When the pan dries out, refill it. This will give the piano the necessary moisture it requires.

A. R. G., South Slocan—Further to your inquiry as to where you may have woollens made into blankets, we have been advised that Saskatchewan Wool Products, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, does this work.

F. K., Thrums—Is there any black alder grown in this District? What is it like?

No. The black alder, widespread in wet soils in Europe, Asia and North Africa and naturalized in Eastern North America, is the only alder native to Great Britain. It grows to a height of 75 feet, with smooth glossy leaves that are somewhat sticky when young. The soft brown wood, very durable in water is used for piles and similar purposes.

The Finnish Way

Janet Graham, a young artist from Australia, who is now painting in Britain, told in the BBC's Pacific service of her recent trip to Northern Europe. She and two companions hitch-hiked across Norway and Sweden until they reached the Baltic coast, and then decided to have a look at Finland. They found the country interesting, but the thing that impressed them most was the Finnish mode of bathing. The Finns, the three Australians agreed, were certainly a clean people; it was their method of attaining that cleanliness, which shook Janet Graham and her companions.

"The Sauna or steam bath is an amazing experience," said Miss Graham. "It's a national institution, as well as being very much of a social function. The men told me that beer was served to them in their section, but I'm afraid the women weren't so enlightened. Baths are scattered throughout the city, two or three to a block. They consist of three rooms. The first is filled with lockers of the bathing shed type; the second is where the fun starts. This room is arranged with benches around the walls rising to the ceiling like a miniature amphitheatre, and in one corner a huge pile of stones heated from beneath by a raging fire. Nearby stand dippers and buckets of cold water, and every now and then some maniac throws more water on the stones, and blasts of suffocating steam rise to settle in hot clouds over the bodies on the benches, the hardy souls on the highest benches taking the brunt of it, of course. The Finns have enough energy left, in spite of this procedure, to beat themselves vigorously with birch twigs. For my part, I was beginning to feel like something in a cannibal's cauldron when the grinning attendant (she thought me a huge joke) rescued me and hustled me into the next room to be scrubbed down, literally, with a great scrubbing brush and masses of soap; hair and all! I was finally released to come very much alive again under an ice-cold shower. It was a shattering experience, but I certainly felt marvellous after it was all over."

It Happened Today

In World War II, May 12, 1943, remnants of the German Afrika Korks were trapped on Cape Bon, Tunis, Africa. On the same date in 1932, the kidnapped child of Col. Charles Lindbergh was found slain in a brush pile in New Jersey. On May 12, 1937, George VI was crowned King of England and Emperor of Great Britain in Westminster Abbey, London.

Wide Variations In Seeding

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP)—Seeding conditions have been "extremely variable" across Canada so far this season, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today in the first of its 1948 series of telegraphic crop eports covering the Dominion.

On the Prairies, wet weather and low temperatures have delayed drying of the land and seeding cannot become general before May 15 to 20. Some seeding has started in Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan and at scattered points in Manitoba.

Cold, dry weather has prevailed through the Maritimes. Work on the land is general in New Brunswick, with seeding under way on well-drained soil there and in Southwestern areas of Nova Scotia. Elsewhere, however, operations have been delayed.

In Ontario and Quebec, the season is more advanced than usual, with weather generally favoring field work in both provinces.

In British Columbia, a late Spring has delayed operations but warmer weather will permit rapid progress. Fruit crop prospects are reported "promising."

22 Ties or You're Not Average, They Say

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—Papa, do you own 22 neckties? Do you buy or does somebody thrust upon you 13 neckties a year?

If these figures hit the bull's eye, you are "the average man" as selected today in a survey of 22 merchants composing the style committee of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers cooperating with the Neckwear Institute.

The stylists weren't unanimous. You can squeak by with only 12 ties in a pinch, but to be really safe you ought to have 40, they figure. And if you buy only four ties a year you get passing marks. However, 25 new ties a year puts you at the head of the class.

"The Authority on Authorities"

TO BID OR NOT TO BID

WHETHER to bid or not to bid—that is the main question that confronts fourth hand after the first three players have passed. The question of what to bid is easy in comparison, if you hold a hand which is right on the borderline. To open it or pass the deal out depends on a number of factors. Most players realize that the main element is the total amount of honor strength. Many know also that the total playing tricks, resulting from suit-lengths and intermediates, also counts. But there is still another vital consideration which a lot overlook. Notice South's hand on this deal.

North: ♠ A 9 8 ♥ A 8 5 ♦ 3 2 ♣ J 9 8 6 3

West: ♠ 5 ♥ K 10 6 4 2 ♦ A Q 8 7 ♣ 10 5 2

East: ♠ K Q 4 3 ♥ 7 ♦ J 9 6 5 ♣ K Q 7 4

South: ♠ J 10 7 6 2 ♥ Q J 9 3 ♦ K 10 4 ♣ A

(Dealer: West. North - South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♠
2 ♥	2 ♠

South's hand, just a jack and a ten better than an average one containing one honor of each size, was nevertheless a sound opening bid for a player who values small scores in preference to blanks and realizes that in the long run the aggregation of little advantages makes for success.

It would not have been a sound opening, however, if his spade and club holdings had been transposed, with him holding five clubs and only one spade. Why? For answer you could not find a better illustration than this very deal. It is one on which either side, against probable defense, can make a contract of two, but not one of three. In the actual play, South made exactly two after the normal lead of a spade, losing two in trumps, two in diamonds and one in hearts.

Now notice what would have happened if the East-West pair had gone further and overbid the 2-Spades in their best suit, diamonds. To do that, they would have had to call at the three level. The club A, spade A, ruff of a club, heart A and ruff of a second club would have set the contract one.

In other words, when the predominance of your thirteen cards happen to be in the majors, especially in spades, the chances favor a plus for your side from a fourth-hand opening with a borderline hand, and a minus is indicated if your length is in minors.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ K Q 8 7 5 3 2 ♥ 6 ♦ 10 ♣ J 9 8 5

West: ♠ A 4 ♥ K 10 ♦ A J 9 8 5 ♣ K 10 6 3

East: ♠ J 10 9 6 ♥ Q 9 7 4 3 2 ♦ Q 4 2 ♣ None

South: ♠ None ♥ A J 8 5 ♦ K 7 6 3 ♣ A Q 7 4 2

What play on the spade A lead will enable South to tempt a mistake from West that gives him a chance to make 5-Clubs doubled?

SPORTS

Role in Sport of Kings Changes, But Monarch Still a Winner

LONDON, May 11 (AP) — Horse racing in Britain is living on its reputation as the sport of kings.

The King, one of the country's foremost owners, has nine thoroughbreds in training, but he rarely sees them. He's too busy.

Even so, racing followers are satisfied the King isn't letting the sport down.

"Our present King has had a more beneficial influence on racing affairs than any of his predecessors," wrote Meyrick Good of the daily newspaper, Sporting Life, in Cope's Racegoer's Encyclopedia.

The King picks the best racing manager and trainers to put his filks in the money—which they often do. Now and then he finds time to get out and see his horses win.

WINDSOR RODE OWN

That's far cry from the days of Ascore when horse racing earned its nickname. Then it really was the King's sport.

Charles II rode his own horses at Newmarket. Another royal jockey of recent vintage was the Duke of Windsor. When Prince of Wales he rode in a race at Sandown Park and finished third.

It is a disappointment to the king that he cannot take a more personal interest in the sport. He is a good horseman.

The King's horses made him the leading owner in 1942, winning £10,535 ($42,140) during a wartime season in which purses were far less than normal.

His triumphs included four of the five classic races. Sun Chariot bagged the Thousand Guineas, the Oaks and the St. Leger. Big game won the two thousand guineas. The only prize that eluded him was the greatest of all, the Derby.

But his grandfather won that. King Edward VII, then Prince of Wales, swept the triple crown — the Two Thousand Guineas, Derby and St. Leger—in 1900 with Diamond Jubilee.

A DERBY WINNER

Four years earlier, Edward won the Derby with Persimmon.

Edward also scored in the Grand National Steeplechase, the blue ribbon of jumping, with Ambuss II in 1900. Winning both the Grand National and the Derby is a feat claimed by only one other owner in history—Dorothy Paget.

King George V followed in his father's stirrups. During his 25 years on the throne he won £100,000 in prize money.

The Duke of Windsor revived memories of the jockey kings. While Prince of Wales he broke a collar bone in one fall. A horse was killed under him in another.

The King's jockey is Billy Carr, one of the better booters, although never much of a threat to champion Gordon Richards, who rode all the King's four classic winners in 1942.

CITATION TO RUN AGAINST FOUR; COALTOWN OUT

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP)—It took a railroad strike threat to keep Coaltown out of the Preakness and Citation had little company today in waiting for Saturday's race.

The known probable field was reduced to the Calumet Comet and four other three-year-olds by two new withdrawals. W. L. Brann announced in New York he would keep Escadru there. In Baltimore, trainer Sylvester Veitch pulled out J. V. Whitney's Mount Marcy.

Mount Marcy finished second yesterday here to Sylvester Labrot's Bovard. eVitch said the Whitney colt finished with a sore shin. Escadru was last in the Kentucky Derby.

This left Whitney's Vulcan's Forge, third in yesterdays race, King Ranchs Better Self, William Helis Salmagundi and Bovard to tackle eCitation in the $100,000 race. All but Salmagundi, who is at Garden State track in New Jersey, are on the Pimlico grounds.

Pirates Live in Mansion With Own "House Mother"

PITTSBURGH, May 11 (AP) — Nine Pittsburgh Pirates who could not find apartments now live in a 22-room former mansion, complete with "house mother".

The Pirates—Danny Murtagh, Bob Chesnes, Johnny Riddle, Johnny Hopp, Elmer Riddle, Forrest Main, Stan Rojek, Grady Wilson and Don Gutteridge—admit they never had it so good.

The lady they've dubbed "Mom"—Mrs. V. W. Daniels—declares openly, "I love my boys." She not only houses the Pirates, but prepares their meals. The cook quit and the Bucs like "Mom's" cooking so well they won't let her hire another one.

But Mrs. Daniels finds being too close to the team has its drawbacks.

"The boys only let me go to the night games," she complained. "They know I can't go during the day and get their dinner, too. And they like to eat."

BANTAM A's TAME TIGERS

The Athletics began to display a little of their last year's form as they drove out a 12-7 victory over the Tigers in a Bantam Baseball League game at the Civic Monday afternoon.

Backed up by the four hit chucking performance of Joe Postnikoff, the Athletics also put on plenty of power at the plate as they drove in three runs in the second inning, one in the fourth, two in the fifth, five in the sixth and one in the ninth. The Tigers came through with one run in the opening and two in each of the second, third and seventh. Postnikoff on the mound for the winners struck out nine batters, gave two passes to first and allowed four hits. Gerry Koehle, going the full route for the Tigers, whiffed five batters via the strikeout route, gave three walks to first and yielded 10 hits.

All the extra base hits of the game came from the A's bats, Kennedy getting two doubles, Jarrett one, while Nutter drove out a double and a triple. Jarrett paced the Athletics with three runs, Nutter and Kennedy scored two runs each, while Burns, Postnikoff, Langstaff, Carmichael and Pickering scored one run each. The Tigers runs were brought in by Cooper, Koehle, Burgess, McNabb, Benedetti, Hunter and Hood.

Umpires were Gil Johnston and Mark Burgess.

Cherokee Reynolds Finds Tribe Weakness

Yankee Hurler Scatters Hits and Strands Former Mates to Break Cleveland Win Streak; Phils Win

By STEVE ROBERTSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Two winning streaks met full-tilt in the American League Tuesday and Cleveland Indians' five-game victory skein shattered in the impact.

Allie Reynolds, the Cherokee Indian who used to do his pitching for the Tribe, scattered nine hits to give New York Yankees a 4-1 win and chalked up his fifth victory of the season without a loss—the best hurling record in the majors.

Reynolds yielded Kenny Keltner's 10th home run of the season, but he was unbeatable with men on base, leaving two of his former mates stranded in each of the seventh and eighth innings.

Bob Lemon, the Tribe's most consistent pitcher, yielded all four Yankee runs and had most of his trouble with Charlie Keller who collected two doubles and a single.

The hapless Chicago White Sox dug themselves deeper into the cellar, dropping an 8-0 verdict to Boston Red Sox for their 13th loss in 16 starts. Boston's Jack Kramer allowed only one base runner as far as second base in his six-hit performance.

Two home runs by Vern Stephens and a third by Bobby Doerr did for Chicago Starter Glen Moulder in the first three innings.

In the National League, Bucky Walters missed out in a bid for his 199th victory when Philadelphia Phillies got their hits when they needed them to down Cincinnati Reds 4-3. Del Ennis clubbed a homer, two doubles and a single to lead the Phils into fourth place. Ed Heusser, who held the Reds scoreless in the last 4 1-3 innings, was the winner.

PEEWEE SENATORS DEFEAT SOX

The Pee Wee Senators hammered out a 15-2 win over the youthful White Sox in a Peewee League ball game at the Civic Tuesday afternoon.

Both teams used two chuckers, southpaw Jimmy Burgess and Dale Jarrett sharing the hill work for the Nats, while Ken Derickson and George Trainor divided the mound chores for the White Sox.

E. Nuyens led the winners with three runs, Jarrett, Crosby, Apostoluik, Edgar, Gillies and Newstead scored two runs each; while Bob Nuyens and Moran scoed one run each. Laishley and McArthur crossed the plate for the White Sox runs.

Batteries were:

Senators — Burgess, Jarrett and Crosby; White Sox — Derickson, Trainor and Laishley.

Locke, Leonard To Tour W. Canada

VANCOUVER, May 11 (CP) — Golf enthusiasts from eight Western Canada cities will have an opportunity this Summer of witnessing the putting wizardy which has made Bobby Locke, South African professional, one of the top link artists on the continent.

Stan Leonard, Marine Drive Golf Club pro here who will accompany Locke, said tonight the two-week exhibition tour would start from Winnipeg about mid-August and work West.

Cities in which the two golfers would give exhibitions included Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Saskatoon, Lethbridge and Edmonton. Leonard said three other cities would also be included but arrangements were not yet completed.

"I'm looking after all the matches," said Leonard.

Leonard, who is considered one of Canada's brightest hopes to lift the Canadian open title here in September, sai dhe laid the plans for this Summer's tour with Locke last Fall. It was understood then that Leonard would handle all arrangements.

Buddy O'Connor First Player to Win Hart, Lady Byng Trophy in Season

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, May 11 (CP) — Buddy O'Connor, 31-year-old centre for New York Rangers, became a figure for the National Hockey League record books today when he was named as the first player in hockey history to win the Hart and Lady Byng trophies in the same season.

Thus he took rank as:

1. Via the Dr. David A. Hart Trophy, the player judged to be most valuable to his team; and,

2. Via the Lady Byng Trophy, the player who during the season was most gentlemanly and most sportsmanlike.

Too, this dashing oldster, traded to Rangers at the start of the season by Canadiens, became richer by $2000 since each trophy award carried a cash value of $1000.

The prizes brought O'Connor's extra earnings, not counting his regular salary for the season, to $4150. He received $500 from the League for finishing second in the individual scoring race and to this Rangers added another $500. Selection as second-team all-star centre brought him $500 and his share of Rangers' playoff money ran to $650.

BRIMSEK NEXT

Buddy polled 36 of a possible 54 points in taking the Hart Trophy on the say-so of hockey writers and broadcasters in six N.H.L. cities. Frankie Brimsek, Boston goalie, was next with 16 votes.

In balloting for the Lady Byng award Buddy polled exactly twice as many votes as Toronto's Syl Apps, his nearest rival. The vote scoring: O'Connor 32, Apps, 16.

A year ago Maurice Richard of Canadiens won the Hart Trophy and Bobby Bauer of Boston Bruins took the Lady Byng award.

At 143 pounds, O'Connor is the lightest player in the League and his trophy-winning crowned a professional career he started with Canadiens in 1941-42. He played six seasons with the Habitants before Rangers bid for him last Summer. He made the just-concluded season his best.

Not only did he fight tooth-and-nail to the last gasp with Elmer Lach for the scorng leadership — Lach scored 61 points and O'Connor 60—but he has spent only 30 minutes in the penalty box in seven complete N.H.L. seasons. He played in everyone of Rangers' last 60 games.

Twelve players were considered for the Hart Trophy and 13 for the Lady Byng. Their names and the number of points they totalled:

HART TROPHY

1. Buddy O'Connor, Rangers (36)
2. Frank Brimsek, Boston (16)
3. Elmer Lach, Canadiens (13)
4. Max Bentley, Toronto (10)

Golf Fans Hopeful Native Might Win Canadian Open This Year

By The Canadian Press

Canadian golf fans, ever hopeful that a native may win the country's premier event—the Canadian open—will keep a close watch this Summer on such hopefuls as Rudy Horvath, Harold Eidsvig, Stan Leonard, Bob Gray, Jerry Kesselring, Bill Ezinicki and Joe Poulin.

Perhaps one of these shotmakers will come through with the added "oomph" to annex Canada's top golf award.

It has been a long time, 34 years, since Ottawa's Karl Keefer copped the trophy for Canada. Bobby Locke a South African, won it last year to break a long run of American triumphs.

As the 1948 tournament season opens, a Canadian Press survey shows amateurs, professionals and juniors crowding the country's courses. Their predicament of the past few years, a scarcity of good golf balls, will be remedies this season. Some will have their troubles getting used to the larger sized ball adopted by the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

The Canadian open will be held toward the end of the season. Vancouver's Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club will be host club for the $10,000 classic Sept. 22 to 25.

The Vancouver Golf Club is the scene of the first amateur tourney. British Columbia linksmen vie for the Provincial title there May 21 to 24. Pros and amateurs go after the B. C. open title at Vancouver's Quilchena Course July 11.

Canadian junior championship play is scheduled for the Hamilton Golf Club at Ancaster, Ont., July 12 with the Canadian amateur over the same course July 13 to 17. Kesselring copped the junior title last year with the Canadian amateur going to Toledo's Frank Stranahan.

Manitoba amateur aspirants get a clean shot at the title June 23 as last year's champion, Harold Eidsvig, has since turned professional. He also won last year's Provincial open which will be held this year Aug. 20. The junior championship is slated for July 2 and 3.

TO DEFEND TITLE

The golf setup for Saskatchewan is as yet unsettled with the open and amateur play slated for early in July at Prince Albert.

Stan Leonard, Vancouver pro, is expected to defend his Alberta open title at Calgary this year where the tourney will be held Labor Day weekend. Edmonton plays host to the the amateur championship with the date to be set later.

Only 22 Entries For Kootenay Mixed Bowling Do

Mel Goldberg, sponsor of the annual West Kootenay Mixed Five-Pin Bowling Tournament slated to start at Trail Wednesday, is wondering what can be the matter with District alley fans.

With $1500 on the slate for prizes and an imposing array of silverware for high scores as special attraction, only 12 entries have been checked in to date. Whatever happens Mel was still determined to go ahead with the tourney even if the entry list hadn't expanded by deadline time Tuesday midnight.

Entry channels for the event now have been open for two months and the tourney was scheduled to run from May 12 to 22. Unless there is a terrific last minute rush of entries someone's going to have a heyday with the $1500 and silverware up for competition.

Injuries Bench 50 Baseballers

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—Baseball's injury list is beginning to read like a disaster casualty report with almost as many men on the bench as on the playing field.

Only three weeks of the regular major league playing season have elapsed. Yet about 50 players have been sidelined because of injuries.

Some clubs, like New York Giants and Detroit Tigers, have been hit especially hard, losing key players for long periods.

The Giants, battling for the National League lead, must face the next couple of months without Walker Cooper, their hard-hitting catcher. Big Coop chipped a knee bone in a home plate collision on the second day of the season.

The Tigers received a staggering blow when third baseman George Kell, their top hitter, suffered a fractured right wrist when hit by a pitched ball last Saturday. He is expected to be out for about four weeks.

The Cooper injury was just another in a long series of mishaps encountered by first line Giant players. Centrefielder Bobby Thomson, second baseman Billy Rigney, shortstop Buddy Kerr, first baseman Johnny Mize, pitcher Bobo Newsom and utility infielder Jack Conway all have been sidelined at one time or another because of injuries.

Brooklyn Dodgers also have been regular visitors to the clinic. Pitcher Harry Taylor, recuperating from an appendicitis operation, will not be available for duty for another three weeks. Rookie first baseman Preston Ward is nursing a charley horse.

Schoolboy Rowe and Dutch Leonard, mainstays of Philadelphia Phillies pitching staff, are nursing injuries.

Cincinnati Reds were dealt a rude jolt when catcher Ray Mueller broke a leg in a home plate collision. No one knows when he will be ready to resume work.

14 Countries in Quarter-Finals of Europe Davis Cup

LONDON, May 11 (AP) — Fourteen countries bid this week to join The Netherlands in the quarter-finals of the European zone Davis Cup tournament.

The Netherlanders, led by veteran Dr. Hans van Swol, jumped the gun on the second round, sweeping all five matches from Portugal last week.

Britain and Norway are next up, starting play today at Oslo, and all the quarter-finals bracket will be filled out by May 18.

The zone winner will play the survivor of the North American zone tournament for the right to challenge the United States, holders of the Davis Cup.

Hungary boasts a "one-man" team in 31-year-old Josef Asboth, greatly improved over last year, he beat Czechoslovakia's great Jaroslav Drobny on the Riviera this Spring. On that form he is favored to beat any two singles men that France can put up.

Marcel Bernard and whoever plays the other French singles will be too tough for Asboth's running mate, Andras Adam, so the duel will swing on doubles.

In Paris, it was announced that France will go into the series with a three-man team—Bernard, Bernard Destremau and Robert Abdesselam. The fourth member, Henri Bolelli, who was to team with Bernard in doubles, suffered a broken thumb in a practice match.

3-Way Fight for Second Chess Honors

MOSCOW, May 11 (CP) — Two draw games featured the 23rd round of the 25-round world chess tournament today and failed to untangle the three-man battle for second place.

Mikhail Botvinnik, the Russian civil engineer who clinched the title Sunday, drew with Vassily Smyslov of Russia in 17 moves. Samuel Reshevsky of the United States and Paul Keres, Russian champion, drew in 26 moves.

Smyslov now has a 10-9 score and has only one game left to play. Reshevsky has 9½-8½ with two games to play and Keres score is 9½-9½ with a single game remaining.

Prima Donnas Turn Ball Into Game of Masses

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—Baseball, a game for the masses, has developed into a game by the masses. Any team which plays nine innings with less than a dozen men in the line-up should, well, it should be investigated.

We weren't really aware of this tendency toward mass participation until we noted the Giant-Cub box score of last Sunday's game. It looked so short we were sure some names had been left out.

It turned out okay. It looked short because only nine men played on each side. We checked back and made an astonishing discovery.

That was onl the second major league game this season in which the nine starters on each team finished the game. The only other such encounter was the Senator-White Sox game of May 4.

As a marked contrast to these performances was the doubleheader played Sunday between the Dodgers and Pirates. In the two games a total of 64 men were used, including 35 by the Brooklyns.

Leo Durocher of the Dodgers is the foremost exponent of baseball by the numbers. Leo wants to overpower 'em, with the result that the Brooklyn box scores look like delinquent tax rosters.

In the second game of the season he sent 24 men into action in an effort to beat the Giants. Four different men played second base for him that day.

SPECIALISTS

It doesn't seem so long ago that you could go to a ball game and expect to see at least the eight starters exclusive of the pitcher finish the game. The men were expected to be all-around ball players.

It's different in this age of specialization. Now they have fellows who can hit left-handed pitching but can't hit right-handed pitching, and vice versa. They have players who can hit but not run and who can run but not hit, and men in the field who can catch the ball but can't throw or throw the ball but can't catch it.

So the managers take these prima donnas and try to juggle them around to suit the occasion, with the result that when one team makes a line-up change it might result in three or four changes in the other team's line-up.

Maybe that's the way to play the game, but it isn't much of a compliment to the players.

Richards Adds To Win Record

NEWMARKET, England, May 11 (AP)—Champion Jockey Gordon Richards rode four winners in a seven race card today—his best afternoon this year.

That brought his total for the season to 56, his lifetime winners to 3526, a world record.

Spokane Indians Unable To Play Home Games Here

Senior lacrosse has been written off the sports board in Nelson this Summer, it was announced from the Civic Centre Tuesday.

Executive of the Spokane Indians, who were to use Nelson as their home port after it was made definite that the Leafs would not come out this year, informed the Civic Centre Tuesday afternoon that the move was necessitated by pressure from Trail and Rossland. It was disclosed that the managing staffs of the Golden Bears and Redmen threw cold water on the Indian's plans on the grounds that cost of transportation would entail too heavy an expense.

Gionfriddo Toast Of Canadian Fans

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP) — Al Gionfriddo, who gained fleeting fame in the 1947 World Series, is making a strong impression in his new surroundings at Montreal.

The hustling former Brooklyn Dodger outfielder, who robbed New York's Joe DiMaggio of a homer with a spectacular catch in the sixth game of the Fall classic, is rapidly becoming the toast of Canadian fans.

Gionfriddo is hitting International League pitching at a .372 clip in addition to playing his usual fine defensive game in centrefield.

The 26-year-old outfielder went South with the Dodgers this Spring, but was released outright to the Royals before the start of the season. Among his 16 hits this season, he has clouted three homers, matching his entire output for the last five seasons.

Because of his size—five feet, six inches—Gionfriddo never has been regarded as a good hitter, although he batted better than .300 in his first three seasons in the Minors.

After hitting .329 for Albany of the Eastern League in 1944, Gionfriddo joined Pittsburgh Pirates. He played in 122 games for the Pirates in 1945, batting .284. The following season he appeared in only 64 games and in 1947 he was shipped to Brooklyn along with a reported $200,000 for five players.

He saw limited action during the regular season, but appeared in four World Series games.

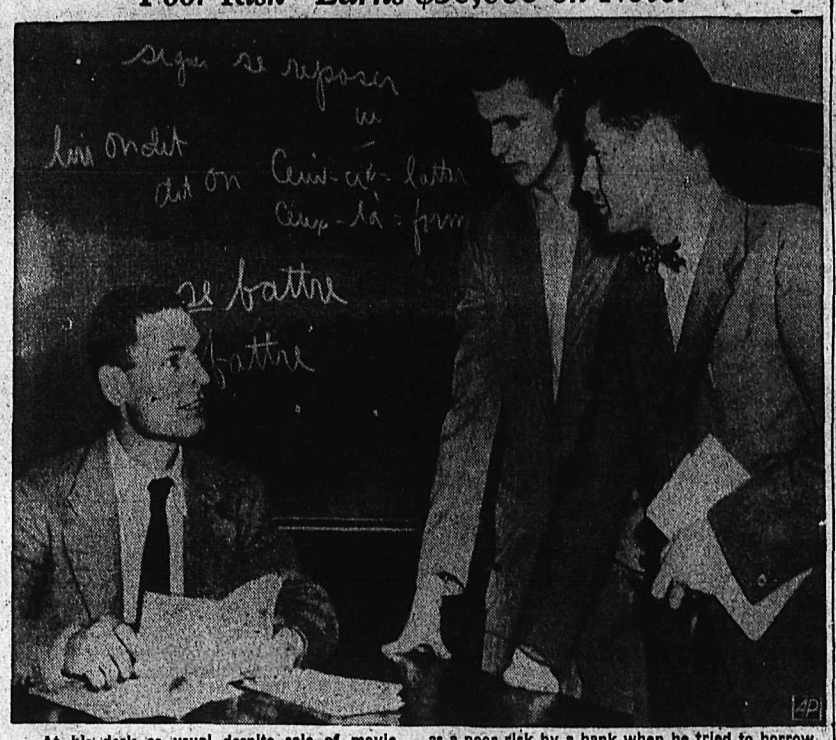
"Poor Risk" Earns $50,000 on Novel



At his desk as usual despite sale of movie rights to his novel "Lona Hanson" for $50,000, Thomas Savage (left), 33-year-old instructor at Suffolk University in Boston, talks to students Edgar Peedin of Washington, D.C., and Robert Devin (right) of Manchester, Mass. Turned down as a poor risk by a bank when he tried to borrow $500 several weeks ago for household expenses after moving to Boston, Savage says the same bank called him asking him to deposit his money in their institution—an offer Savage declined. —AP Wirephoto.

TOOLS

The garage and service station proprietor's outlay in tools alone is enormous. It is to be kept in mind that a good quality of tools is usually considered less expensive in the long run than is the cheaper quality of tools. Also remember that tools must be well cared for if the best results are to be had, for this enables the work to be done more quickly and efficiently. To give better service new types of box wrenches etc., have been designed so that hard to get at parts may be reached easily and efficiently.

There is also special types of tools in use that show the actual amount of pressure a bolt has on it. This enables engine heads to be replaced equally so they will not warp and cause compression loss. There is also electrical testers for spark plugs so that they can be set to operate efficiently. There are testers to see what ratio of air and gasoline mixture are going into the engine and many other devices so that the repairs on your automobile may be carried out as accurately as possible.

Market Trends

TORONTO, May 11 (CP)—Trends were mixed in improved volume as industrials held steadily for minor advances while mining stocks showed definite weakness. The Western oils were about evenly balanced in quiet action.

MONTREAL (CP)—Trading was active and prices continued to display firmer trends. Mines were quiet and easier.

NEW YORK (AP)—Stocks had to contend with "selling on the good news" although many leaders were able to extend their recovery.

LONDON (CP)—Optimism tempered with caution was the reaction to the news of the Russian acceptance of the United States proposal to discuss differences of opinion.

MONTREAL (CP)—Dominion of Canada 3's of '57, '59 and '60 were in good demand and up the minimum fraction in quiet trading on the bond market.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Oats prices showed a firm trend with moderate buying by mills and, to some extent by shippers. Offerings were light.

CHICAGO (AP)—Corn and oat prices advanced on the Board of Trade, but rallies in wheat were not sustained.

Scientific Doodads To Time, Measure, Film Olympic Feats

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 11 (CP) — The Summer Olympics probably will be recorded in history as the "Push-Butto" Games.

Practically everything connected with the colossal July-August sports festival is mechanical, except the athletes. There's the secret gas fuel to keep the Olympic torch burning in all weather, electrical timing, photo-finish apparatus and other scientific equipment to make the judges' decisions critic-proof.

A burst of inventive genius was fired at organizers when London was awarded the Games two years ago. Some ideas were good, others bad, but each was given a trial.

Early this year Olympic "possibilities" ran around parks and heaths just outside London with flaming torches held above their heads. They were assisting scientists in the search for fuel that would stay alight in any weather.

This has been found and when the torch is put to the urn at the July 29 opening ceremony of the Games the flame will burn continuously until it is extinguished at conclusion of the 14th Olmpiad, on Aug. 14.

A remote-control starter's pistol for races starting in echelon and sited to give a report heard simultaneously by all runners has been evolved. It also starts the electric timing clocks.

NO BUMPY PITS

Judges in the pole vault won't have to perform balancing feats to replace the bar—a patent pulley and hoist has solved that problem.

Long jump and the hop, step and jump measuring apparatus will be metal, hairline measurements ensuring accurate recording, while the bogey of bumpy sandpits is taken care of by a special automatic sand leveller.

The photo-finish apparatus shows the order of runners as they cross the line and also gives the exact period of time between each runner.

The problem of presenting results to the public and athletes—there will be 58 countries including Canada represented at the Games—has been overcome by a series of eight scoreboards giving distances in metres, feet and inches. In addition, results will be announced over loudspeakers in English and French.

NO ARM SALUTE

One interesting, although not scientific, change will operate. The old salute of raising the right arm with open palm facing downwards has been scrapped and competitors will simply turn their heads to the right or left.

Reason for the change: the old method savored too much of the Nazi salute.

WOMAN MINISTER FINDS OPPOSITION DOESN'T LAST IF GOOD JOB DONE

VICTORIA, May 11 (CP)—There is one woman who moved in on a completely masculine field and found no opposition. She is Dr. Norah L. Hughes, minister of the United Church at Hatzic, B.C.

In Victoria today to attend the 24th annual meeting of the British Columbia conference of the United Church of Canada, Dr. Hughes was one of the first registrants.

She is the only woman to date who has been ordained in the B.C. United Church Conference, having taken up the ministry in 1940. Before that she was a teacher of biology at the University of British Columbia. It was during her teaching that she felt the first inclination to become a minister.

"I have found no opposition although there are always some people prejudiced at first but it does not last long," said Dr. Hughes. "If you do a good job they don't care whether you are a woman or a man."

She feels there is no difference of scope whether a ministry is in a large city or a small town. There are the same people and the same problems to be met. Prior to coming to Hatzig, Dr. Hughes was at Ashcroft, B.C.

Although she works extensively with young people in her parish, she like working with all age groups and finds the work "thoroughly enjoying."

As Chairman of the Committee on Students and Education, she will present Student P. H. Mallett of Vancouver for ordination during the conference.

MODERATION DRESS MAKERS KEYNOTE AS HE FOLLOWS THE NEW LOOK

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, May 11 (CP) — It took one world war to hoist women's dresses and another to lower them. But maybe the drop came too fast.

Refuge for this statement minus facetiousness and innuendoes is taken behind the ample heft and girth of Sam Farber of the Montreal Dress Makers' Guild, who knows his dresses.

As Mr. Farber expounded today:

After the First World War dresses ascended to such a height they almost reached the bathing-suit sunburn mark. Then zingo! After the Second World War they came down like a busted window blind.

Mr. Farber takes no responsibility himself for this phenomenon. As a dress manufacturer he accepts things as they are. But he does hold there should be moderation in all things, especially dresses.

"I suppose this New Look is here to stay," Farber told The Canadian Press. "But the idea should have been introduced slowly.

"If there had been a gradual dropping of the hem-line, no one would have noticed the difference, not even the men. I can't agree with those who think we should have a drastic change in styles each year as a means of promoting buying.

"The average woman can't afford to buy under such a system. But she will buy regularly and keep her wardrobe reasonably well stocked if she knows her clothes won't be outmoded in a few months."

TO FIT THE TIMES

So what does Mr. Farber propose to do himself? Well, like other Canadian dress manufacturers, he's going ahead on his own, not disregarding, of course, the accepted trend in styles.

For next Fall's wear he is already turning out slimmer styles. This business of exaggerated fullness is out. The need, said Farber, is to fit the style-trend to every-day living.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., (CP) — A half-penny coin, dated 1854 and issued by the defunct Bank of Upper Canada, proved worth only its face value when presented. The bank, founded in 1820, went into liquidation about 1870 and although 11 tons of their coins were melted for old metal, large numbers still are in circulation.

Good news in the "Classified" today.

Writes of Inner Feeling of Men at War

By GUY GAGNON

MONTREAL, May 11 (CP). — When 34-year-old Jean Jules Richard of Montreal went to war—and he fought actively for 11 months in Europe—there were nine terrible days. Now he has drawn on these for his first full-length novel, recently published.

The book is "Neuf Jours De Haine (Nine Days of Hatred)" and, writing it in French, Richard sought to tell the psychological story of nine heroes representing eight Canadian regions and the United States as a whole.

The former Black Watch soldier discharged in January, 1946, said he came home to find that when fighting raged in Europe the inner feelings and nervous reactions of himself and his fighting comrades left a deep impression.

Thus the book, in which his fighting with the 2nd Canadian Division served as the necessary background depicts the fears, hates, hopes, loves and despairs of a soldier.

Richard said his purpose was to tell of his hate for war. He was wounded during the battle for Caen, in France. A few days later, while he still was nursing his minor wounds behind the front line, the Black Watch suffered heavy losses during a major engagement with the Germans. Most of his friends—who now live in his book—did not return.

The young French-Canadian author from St. Raphael in Bellechasse County left school at 14 and worked on a farm. When he wrote "Neuf Jours De Haine" in 1946, he had already completed 20 novels which he destroyed before joining the Black Watch. He did not think they were worth publishing.

Now, he says he needs two to three months to complete a second book. This time, he will tell man "How to become human."

CANADA THIRD AMONG SELLERS, FOURTH BUYER

Set Marks Undreamed Of by Any Similar Number of People

REVIEWS TRADE

By The Canadian Press

Canada is third among the world's sellers of goods, following the United States and the United Kingdom, and fourth among the buyers, following those two countries and France.

This compares with her position of fifth among exporters and eighth among importers in 1938.

Figures of this sort are an old story to Canadians—up there near the top for a long time—so old that they may be inclined to forget what they mean.

Some say Canadians have a sense of inferiority, which others deny vigorously, but if they have, it is because they are playing in such a big league. They can't be first in overall figures to the large populations of the United States and the United Kingdom. They can be first per capita in many things, but the very words per capita have a sound of the hazy realms of economics.

However, it isn't hazy economics that some 12,000,000 Canadians are setting up marks undreamed of by any similar number of people. True, in case they should think too much of themselves, they are 12,000,000 people with the good fortune of having a half-continent and its resources at their disposal.

The current monthly review of the Bank of Nova Scotia is the latest document to deal with this saga of Canadian trade, making a point of doing so in view of the coming Canadian International Trade Fair, first of its kind in North America, to be held in Toronto May 31-June 12, and Canadian Trade Week, May 31-June 5, to be observed across the country.

From its very beginnings the bank review states, the Canadian economy has been built up through external trade.

"Large export surpluses of a growing number of staple commodities—fish, furs, wheat, lumber, newsprint, gold and base metals—have been traded for capital goods necessary to develop the economy"

However:

"The growth of Canadian exports reflects the development from an economy based largely on wheat to one with a much greater variety and a high degree of industrialization . . .

"In 1913 farm products, fish and furs made up nearly two-thirds of the value of Canada's exports, roughly $280,000,000 of a total of $440,000,000.

"By 1947, though this group had increased in value to nearly $1,000,000,000, it constituted only a little over a third of all exports. Wood products and minerals, on the other hand, as a result of the development between two wars, made up almost half of the large 1947 total compared with less than a third of the small figure of 1913 . . .

"Manufactured goods also have risen to a position of importance among Canada's exports. In 1947 nearly one-fifth of the total consisted of goods in this group as compared with one-eighth in the inter-war period and only about one-fourteenth in 1913 . . .

"The proportion of Canada's primary products now exported in processed forms is very large. Of the total export value of copper, lead, zinc, nickel and their products in 1947—$180,000,000—only a little over one-sixth was in unrefined form, the bulk of the remainder consisting of refined metals and simple fabricated forms"

MARKETS MONDAY

New York stocks made a brisk comeback in the final hour yesterday on the prospect that the railways would remain operating under Government seizure. The Associated Press 60-stock composite gained .1 at 68.1. Canadian exchanges had a mild decline.

In Chicago grains mostly advanced, but coarse grains were lower in Winnipeg. New York cotton futures were $2.10 to $3.15 a bale higher.

Claims Towel Left Inside Stomach

We have had stories "Inside Europe" and "Inside Asia," but the story of "Inside Jefferson" has 'em all stopped. The Jefferson is Arthur K. who is holding a towel bearing the brand of the Medical Department, U.S. Army, which he avers was left in his stomach by army surgeons after an operation in an army hospital. The veteran is suing the U.S. Government for $100,000 for the oversight. The towel was removed from Jefferson's stomach in an operation at Johns Hopkins Hospital in 1946.

Research Solution to World Peace, Speaker Tells Rotary Conference

A glance into a world of permanent peace through research was given to a gathering of 800 Rotarians Monday evening by Edward Flynn of St. Paul, Minn., guest speaker before a Rotary conference banquet at the Civic Auditorium.

Mr. Flynn told his listeners that a world of peace was a world of plenty and that research was the sounding board of progress. He deplored the wastage of money and human life on war, but declared that research was necessary to keep ahead of warring nations, thus ensuring lasting peace.

"Research," he said, "is that price of peace, but a cheap price comparable to the cost of war."

The speaker singled out the need for cancer research as one of the pressing needs in the world of today. While lauding the efforts that Canadians had made towards cancer treatment, Mr. Flynn pointed out that in the United States last year only $25,000,000 was spent on cancer research against 12 billion dollars expended on liquor and tobacco.

Speaking in rapid fire time, Mr. Flynn quoted from industrial records and stressed the impact that research had had upon the evolution of industry in the last 100 years. He stated that in 1884 the United States Patent Department had issued a statement reading that practically everything that could be invented was invented and that man's progress had come to an end. However, pointing to the steps which science had made since that time, the speaker stated that progress through research would never reach an end.

"Even since 1940 many industrial methods have become obsolete," he said.

Said Mr. Flynn: "All reasearch is a gamble, but no research is the greatest gamble of all." The speaker laid stress to the fact that during the war Britain had retained 35,000 men in fields of research while the United States emptied its schools for total war. In the future, he said, "we must do more research to prevent wars."

SHOWS PLASTICS

Mr. Flynn exhibited the results of research in the form of new materials which had been produced in laboratories in the United States. Among the samples shown to the banquetters was a variety of cloths and a host of materials produced by plastic chemistry. At the close of the program the head table was surrounded by delegates who inspected the articles and listened to explanations given by the speaker.

Chairman of the conference banquet was Herb Clark of Trail, Governor, who was presented with a large silver tray from the delegates for his services at the head of District 103 in the past year. H. A. Doak, in making the presentation, attributed to Mr. Clark "much of the good work in our District." Mrs. Clark was presented with a blanket.

Tributes in recognition of service were paid to Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Doak of Nelson, H. J. Snell, R.I. President's representative from Red Deer and Mrs. L. Carlson, wife of L. Carlson, Governor of District 103 in the coming year.

A special presentation was made to Mrs. Gilker, mother of A. B. Gilker, one of the charter members of Nelson Rotary Club. She was presented with a corsage of red roses both for her service to Rotary and on the occasion of her 81st birthday.

Entertainment was supplied by the Trail Glee Club which was called back for encores. The Trail group was given a tremendous ovation for their interpretations of sea shanties and a variety of light airs.

Communists of U. S. Accused of Advocation to Overthrow of Gov't

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The Communist Party of the United States was formally accused today of advocating "the overthrow of our Government by force and violence."

The House of Representatives Committee on Un-American Activities made the accusation and called upon the Government for "vigorous enforcement" of existing laws to curb Communist activities.

"What the Chinese or Greek Communists are doing today is what the American Communists plan to do tomorrow," the Committee declared.

In a 160-page report distributed to members of the House, the Committee also said it has voluminous evidence that:

"1. The teachings of Marx, Engels, Lenin and Stalin constitute the credo of the Communist Party, U. S.A.—in fact of the Communist movement throughout the world. The doctrine of forceful and violent overthrow of anti-Communist Governments is a basic premise of these teachings.

"2. The model Party of the American Communist is the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, whose history forms a basic 'guide' or textbook for American Communists on the practice of force and violence.

"3. The American Party now is and always has been under the direction of an international Communist organization dominated by the leaders of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union . . .

"4. The Communist Party, U. S.A., and its leaders, both present and past, are on public record as advocates of the forceful and violent overthrow of the American Government, despite their recent disavowals. Many of these leaders have received training in Moscow on the practical application of such methods."

The Committee said the threat to national security by the "continued, almost unrestricted operation of such a movement within our own borders should be obvious to everyone."

Pointing to the recent bloody uprising in Bogota, the Committee said, "We cannot continue to blind ourselves to the menace of our own Communists, who form a greater proportion of our population than the Colombian Communists in the Colombian population."

The United States Administration has failed to "appreciate and understand the potentialities of Communist agents within our nation."

$2500-$3200 Tag On Wartime Houses

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP)—Negotiations have been completed for sale of 391 wartime housing units in North Vancouver, B.C., Reconstruction Minister Howe said today in the Commons.

Answering a question by Angus MacInnis (CCF--Vancouver East), he said present tenants will have first option to purchase.

Anticipated prices for the houses were: Small four room, $2500; large four room, $2750; large six room, $3200. These prices compared with original building costs of $2477, $2847 and $3015.

A discount of 17½ per cent could be obtained by buyers agreeing to live in the houses for five years before obtaining title.

Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation would instal permanent foundation walls and replace metal chimneys with masonry.

Tenants not wishing to purchase may be asked to move to suitable alternative accommodation, Mr. Howe said, but no veteran will be required to move to accommodate a non-veteran.

Seek Housing For 122 Families

QUEBEC, May 11 (CP) — How would you like to start house-hunting for 122 families—100 children included? No? Well, neither does the chore appeal to municipal authorities of Quebec where lodgings are as hard to find as snowballs in mid-August.

But from Mayor Lucien Borne down to the janitor at the City Hall here, everybody's joined in Quebec's great hunt—with a deadline in mind. By Aug. 1, the City is expected to have to find new living quarters for a whole community, now living in Cove Fields on Government property.

It's a tall order. On May 1—traditional moving day—the City managed to place but 12 of its many families in need of housing. At that those 12 had to leave Quebec for homes in nearby municipalities.

The Cove Fields community, complete with softball diamond, chapel and classroom, sprouted up in 1945 almost as soon as the Army moved out. The City leased the military huts from the Government, and, after some alterations, sublet them.

No renewal of the lease is expected, since the National Battlefields Commission is reported anxious to start improvements on the historical battlegrounds.

It's doubtful that the City is anxious to negotiate a renewal of the lease as keeping those 122 families housed in the huts cost it $14,000 on the deal in 1947.

The situation has reached such a crucial stage that the City has managed to talk some of the families themselves into joining the hunt.

Mrs. Moody, delegate to the recent I. O. D. E. Conference held in Victoria, read an excellent report.

Leavey Becomes U.S. Rail Boss

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP) — This is the fourth time in 30 years that the United States Government has seized the railroads. The other occasions were in 1918, in 1943 and in 1946.

This is how the present seizure goes:

President Truman has ordered Army Secretary Kenneth Royall to take over the railroads.

Royall, in turn, has turned the job over to Maj.-Gen. Edmond Leavey, an expert in transportation.

That makes Leavey top man over the railroads. And he can give orders, if necessary.

But the actual running of the roads will be done by the present officials of the roads.

So nothing much is changed unless things get tough. Then Leavey, backed by troops, can step in.

If the Brotherhoods, which threaten a strike at 6 a.m. tomorrow, keep working now that the Government has taken over, then—

That will give them and the railroads more time to settle their wage dispute and, in the meantime, keep the trains running.

What if the Brotherhoods refuse to work, even with the railroads under Government control?

The Government could use troops but the troops could hardly run the railroads.

COSTLY SEIZURE

Here is a little history on what happened before:

During the First World War — when railroad transportation was breaking down—the Government took over the roads on Jan. 1, 1918 and held them until March 15, 1920.

President Woodrow Wilson at that time made William McAdoo, then Secretary of the Treasury, Director General of the roads.

There wasn't any labor trouble at that time. The railroad companies kept on running the trains.

The Government added new equipment and hired thousands of people, at the same time guaranteeing a profit to the roads. That seizure cost the Government hundreds of millions of dollars.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

In 1943, to prevent a strike, the Government took over the roads again and held them about 20 days. The Government got out when the labor dispute was settled. There again, as in 1918, the railroad companies just kept on doing business as usual.

In 1946, because of a brief strike, the Government again took over the roads for a couple of days. Truman broke this strike by asking Congress to pass a law drafting the strikers into the Army.

Congress was in an angry mood and the workers went back on their jobs. No troops were used.
