Nelson Musicians In Festival Lead

Nelson's young musicians Wednesday presented a first-day lead in the Kootenay's competition for the City Challenge Cup as the 17th annual Kootenay Music Festival opened here.

The trophy, presented by the Hume Hotel, was won by Trail competitors last year.

Nelson, with winners in both vocal and instrumental groups and a percentage of 86.72, held only a small lead over Trail, which had 85.25. Creston won 82.

Pianists, male and female vocalists, choirs and violinists were heard by over 250 people during Wednesday's three sessions.

(For results see pages 2, 3 and 6).

Adjudicator for the full day was Dr. C. S. Lang, of England. He had a pleasantness that quickly attracted the audience and took any sting, but none of the sincerity, out of his criticisms.

CHOIR PRAISED

The world-known adjudicator expressed only one regret during the evening sessions. There was only one entry, the Nelson Junior High School, in the day school choir classes. "I am sorry there is only one school choir. I love school choirs. And I am particularly sorry there are no others, if this choir is a taste of what Nelson choirs are like."

Wednesday night Nelson took first places in junior piano, male vocal, instrumental ensemble, and oratorio, while two Trail young ladies were first in the piano duet.

The highest marks of the day went to two Nelson singers. Guilford Brett was given 88 marks, the first of the Festival, for his rendition of " OThou Billowy Harvest Field"; Ray Thompson of Nelson was also awarded 88 points after he sang "It Is Enough' from Elijah.

ELOCUTION TODAY

Elocution classes, adjudicated by Mrs. Dorothy Dunbar, L.T.C.L., will open the Thursday classes.

Ducharme To Appeal Death Sentence

"I'm Not Guilty" Mumbles Convicted Man as Manson Passes Sentence; Adds New Light to Trial; to Hang June 30

VANCOUVER, March 22 (CP) — A 14-day trial of red-haired Frederick Rodger Ducharme, charged with the sex slaying of a 45-year-old spinster, ended today in conviction.

He was convicted of the murder of Blanche Ferne Fisher, whose body was found in the murky waters of False Creek, a few blocks from downtown Vancouver last Nov. 9.

Calmly, but apparently somewhat puzzled, he heard Mr. Justice A. M. Manson sentence him to hang June 30.

But he added a new disclosure to the bizarre trial as before a hushed court he mumbled:

"I am not guilty. . . The woman whose body I took from the water was still alive. I took it and put it in my floathouse, waiting till five o'clock in the morning.

"Only I know what happened that particular night. I have solved that part of the mystery.

"I still say I am not guilty."

He did not elaborate, but apparently was referring to the evidence of two False Creek shack-dwellers who testified Ducharme had a woman's body in a boat on the night of Nov. 8.

Previously, he had denied the evidence, claiming Miss Fisher fled from his automobile across a bridge and disappeared in the darkness. He never admitted recovering the body from the creek.

Defence Counsel Dugald McAlpine said later he would file notice of appeal immediately.

The jury returned its verdict to Mr. Justice A. M. Manson at 3:51 p.m. It had retired at 2:21 p.m.

At the end of a four-hour charge, Mr. Justice Manson told the 12-man jury:

"The defendant must be found guilty or not guilty of murder."

Ducharme was charged with the murder of Blanche Fern Fisher, whose body was found in False Creek, near his floathouse home, last Nov. 9.

The subject of manslaughter in connection with the law was not dealt with by Mr. Justice Manson during his charge.

He declared it a case of "substantially circumstantial evidence."

If a guilty finding were made it must be "beyond all reasonable doubt."

"It is not some fanciful doubt or imaginary doubt that is to determine the verdict. If you are satisfied as reasonable men, if the Crown has proved its case beyond a reasonable doubt, you are to convict—otherwise acquit.

"The defence has not actually raised the subject of insanity, and yet, even if the defence didn't raise it, if you are satisfied the accused was insane at the time of the homicide, then it would be your duty to bring in a verdict to that effect. . . Not guilty by reason of insanity."

In his review of evidence, he said:

"The Crown says Miss Fisher came to her death by drowning at the hands of the accused. It does not put forward any other theory. It does not say that she ran away and fell off the bridge or that she committed suicide as a result of fear or anything of that sort.

"The defence says that is not so—that the accused did not drown Miss Fisher, that she came to her death when she ran away and by accidental drowning or by suicide by drowning.

"In your deliberations, you will keep the two positions clearly in mind."

SUBMITS NEW METHOD FOR STUDYING PROPOSED FEDERAL EXPENDITURES

OTTAWA, March 22 (CP)—The Government's top Auditor said today it is time estimates of proposed Federal expenditures were presented to Parliament in intelligible form and time, too, that the Commons adopted an effective method of studying them.

Watson Sellar, Auditor-General, in two lengthy and important memos submitted to the Senate, made proposals for improving both situations and for altering others as he called for closer Parliamentary scrutiny of the spending of various branches of Government—including his own.

Recommendations included:

1. The Commons should submit groups of estimates to special committees rather than trying to handle them all in the House itself; there should be greater consolidation of the estimates and it should be made clear what each item covers.

2. The Franking Privilege that allows mail from Federal Departments in Ottawa to go free of charge costs the Post Office about $4,000,000 a year and probably encourages centralization of administration. Economies would result if it were eliminated. He made no mention of ending the Franking Priveleges enjoyed by members of Parliament.

3. Consideration should be given to evolving a new method to finance such self-supporting activities as the Post Office which now are bound by "the long-established rule that revenue may not be used until appropiated."

4. Senate Committees might well review spending in such branches as his own which, in effect come under no Cabinet Minister; of "Corporate Instrumentalities" such as Canadian Arsenals Limited and National Harbors Board which are expanding in number and now are subject to limited scrutiny in Parliament; of Federal Expenditures in the Northwest Territories and National Parks and for International Organizations.

Mr. Sellar's memos were submitted to the Senate as it launched a plan to have various committees consider Federal estimates, now running beyond $2,000,000,000 a year. They were issued at a meeting of the Trade Committee which sat for an hour to hear officials discuss trade estimates and then adjourned for lack of a quorum.

Do Not Interfere With Commissioners

OTTAWA, March 22 (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said today in the Commons that it has been the general rule for the government not to interefere with the decisions of the Board of Transport Commissioners.

He made the statement in reply to Solon Low, Social Credit leader, who asked why the government had not used its power to delay application of the latest freight-rate increase granted by the board.

Armed Bandit Holds Up Vancouver Theatre

VANCOUVER, March 22 (CP)—An armed bandit, his face covered with adhesive tape, tonight held up the cashier at the suburban Kitsilano Theatre and escaped with about $100. He fled on foot.

The cashier, Irene Dye, said the bandit escaped with the night's receipts. He walked to the wicket as though he were going to buy a ticket, then threatened her with a gun.

END OF CLINICS

Promises to Reconsider Quitting Mobile X-ray Units

VICTORIAI, March 22 (CP)—Announcement that mobile clinics giving free X-rays for T.B. would be discontinued brought protests from members of the Legislature today. Purpose of the clinics was to discover cases of T.B. in the early stages.

Acting Health and Welfare Minister E. T. Kenney said the Health and Welfare Department planned to abandon the truck-mounted clinics in favor of placing miniature X-ray equipment in 34 hospitals through the Province.

Following the protests, Mr. Kenney promised that the plan would be given more consideration before being put into effect.

Explaining the proposed change Mr. Kenney said mass surveys lose their appeal after the first two or three visits. There were more and more broken appointments after the first survey.

Cost per case discovered went up with each survey, the Minister said. In 1946 99,000 X-rays were taken and 127 active cases discovered at a cost of $215 a case, in 1947 there were 155,000 X-rays with 87 cases discovered as a cost of $520 and in 1948 with 127,000 tests there were 48 cases discovered at a cost of $995 per case.

It was considered more economical to place units in hospitals where all patients will be tested as well as cases referred by doctors. They will still be free to the public, he said. The Government will give the equipment to hospitals on loan.

Transfer 8 Units To New Local For Nelson Area

Eight units of the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union, Local 480, have been transferred to a new local, No. 901. All are organized in mines of the Nelson district.

Local 480, generally, takes in the membership of Trail district.

John Moffatt is business agent for Local 901, and offices are to be set up in Nelson. Units transferred are those including employees at the Reeves MacDonald near Nelway, Zincton, Emerald, Bosun, Kenville, Blue Bell, Mammoth and Standard mines.

Venizelos Forms New Greek Gov't.

ATHENS, March 22 (AP)—Sophocles Venizelos, head of the Liberal party, accepted today a mandate from King Paul to form a new government.

Venizelos has agreed with the National Progressives headed by Gen. Nicholas Plastiras and the Social Democrats to form a centre coalition.

Greece has been under a caretaker regime headed by Premier John Theotokis pending formation of a new government based on the outcome of the March 5 parliamentary elections.

In the elections the Populists (Royalists), headed by Constantin Tsaldaris won the most seats, 60. Venizelos and his Liberal party won 55 seats.

Sad Little Tale Of Playful Mouse

JERSEY CITY, N.H., March 22 (AP)—A tiny mouse who thought he was a kitten died today of the rodent equivalent of a broken heart.

He had sauntered up Monday to a cardboard box in a corner of an express company shed and plunked himself down among the new little of three kittens produced by Minnie, a cat with a fearsome reputation as a mouser.

But motherhood must have changed Minnie. She just looked, then lolled on her side and let the newcomer in. He joined quickly in the family routine, frolicked with the rest of the brood, cuddled up beside Minnie for his midday nap and came to believe . . . well, that he was just another kitten.

SENT REPORTERS . . .

But someone in the shed called the newspapers. They sent reporters and photographers who peered inquisitively and fired flashbulbs at the family for hour after hour.

At first the mouse leaped happily about the box, jutting his whiskers forward to put his best profile within camera range. Everybody looked at him, purred silly kittenish noises at him and made him think he was just the prettiest little one in the brood.

But when the photographers came again last night, the mouse lay quietly back in the box and cuddled in a worried way next to Minnie.

This morning he was found dead. His friends who knew him said he must have seen his reflection in some cameraman's lens and found out . . . well, that he was just a mouse.

Fishermen Support Mine-Mill at Trail

VANCOUVER, March 22 (CP)—United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (T.L.C.) today voted to support the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers at Trail.

The fishermen, holding their sixth annual convention here, voted suport after hearing Ken Smith British Columbia President of the Mine-Mill Union, condemn the C.C.L. for setting up a rival union in the Smelter City.

STALL C.C.F. RESOLUTIONS

Harding, Haggen Lose Bids on Social Welfare, Pensions

VICTORIA, March 22 (CP) — Two CCF resolutions were stalled in the House today.

One, moved by Randolph Harding (CCF-Kaslo-Slocan) asked that the operation of the Hospital Insurance Act be referred to the standing committee on social welfare and education which should hear views of representative citizens organizations on services already provided and suggestions for further improvements.

Hon. E. T. Kenny, Acting Minister of Health, contended the resolution was out of order and cited decisions of former speakers in similar acses. The resolution anticipated what already was before the House in amending of the Hospital Insurance Act.

Opposition Leader Harold Winch, however, countered that the standing committee could deal with the report on correspondence between former Commissioner J. M. Hershey and Health Minister G. H. Pearson, now before the House, which told of difficulties in administration of the act.

Madame Speaker Hodges reserved decision on Mr. Kenney's contention.

Another resolution by R. W. Haggen (CCF-Grand Forks-Greenwood) asking that the Legislature petition the Ottawa Government to remove means test in old age pensions, to raise the maximum pension to meet living costs and to lower the age of eligibility to 65 years for men and 60 for women, was defeated.

It caused a prolonged discussion in which a dozen members on both sides of the House participaetd. Coalition members all agreed with the motive behind the resolution but asked where the money was to come from in finding considerably more than $600,000,000 to take care of people in the 60-65 age group.

Tom Uphill (Labor-Fernie) said he had been in the House too long (30 years) to hope for success of the resolution, but asked Government members to at least endorse the abolition of the means test clause.

The resolution was defeated without division.

Overdue on Dog Team Journey

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, March 22 (AP)—A man, his wife and their 14-month old daughter are overdue on their 350-mile dog team journey from Old Crow, in Yukon territory, to Fort Yukon on the Yukon river.

Herb Wilson, Fort Yukon Commissioner, today told the Marshal's office here that Mr. and Mrs. Judson Hughes and their child set off from Old Crow March 6, expecting to reach Fort Yukon in 10 to 14 days.

Wilson said he was told that the family was not well equiped for the long, chilly journey, and that Hughes was unfamiliar with the route.

Claims Americans Dumping Turkey Eggs On Canadian Market

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., March 22 (CP)—Reports that American breeders are dumping low-price turkey eggs on the Canadian market led the British Columbia Turkey Association today to protest the release of foreign exchange funds for the purchase of American eggs.

G. L. Landon, poultry inspector, said he had received numerous complaints that U.S. breeders are dumping eggs on the Canadian market at 22 cents each. Current turkey egg prices in Canada are about 32 cents.

PLAN TO PADDLE CANOE OVER FIVE RIVERS

NORTHPORT, Wash., March 22 (AP) — A canoe, a paddle and a set of strong biceps will take a person over a large area of the Western United States.

Working on this theory, two young Englishmen paddled into town here yesterday from Castlegar, B.C., on the first leg of a canoe jaunt from Canada to New Mexico.

James W. Kerswill, a 25-year-old surveyor and engineer, and Ewert Alford, 26, admit it's a big bite they are trying to chew. Their itinerary will take them over five rivers in six states. Their estimated travelling time is six months.

Their planned route goes like this: down the Columbia to the Snake River at Pasco, Wash., from there, upstream along the Snake to Pocatello, Idaho. From Pocatello, they will have to carry their canoe about 150 miles into Wyoming where it will be relaunched in the Green River. They will follow the Green River to Utah where it joins the Colorado River, which they will follow to its confluence with the San Juan River.

They will then go up the San Juan into the heart of New Mexico near Albuquerque.

Kerswill is from Bigsbury Kingsbridge, South Devon, England, and Alford from Lira Plymouth.

The launching of the adventure was not generally known at Castlegar, apparently. Residents and B.C. Provincial Police officers said Wednesday night they were unaware of Kerswell and Alford leaving. They were unable to identify the men as Castlegar or District residents.

Says Amalgamation Of Railways Would Solve Costs

OTTAWA, March 22 (CP)—A Liberal senator from the Prairies said today amalgamation of Canada's two great railway systems into a single government-operated line is the only solution to soaring freight costs that bear, he said, with increasing unfairness on the Prairie provinces.

Senator George H. Ross, a Calgary lawyer, said he is "much concerned" about the way freight rates have been pyramiding "in the West" and proposed:

1. The Canadian Pacific Railway should be nationalized and linked with the CNR.

2. Freight rates should be set after due regard to competitive rates prevailing in land, sea and air transportation.

3. The rates granted the single system should pay operation, maintenance and repair costs but not interest on investment; that should come out of general federal revenue. Any profit should go into the federal treasury.

Such a change, Senator Ross said in the Throne Speech debate, would cut costs, eliminante duplication and waste, help producers both in domestic and foreign markets and eliminate the "undue burden" of freight costs now falling on the West. It had been estimated amalgamation would save $75,000,000.

Starts Trek Across Canada to Test Wartime Friendship

HALIFAX, March 23—Her home address — Cheshire, England. Her future address a log cabin at Mile Post 1200, Beaver Creek, Yukon Territory. And (maybe) pretty Miss Freda Cooling will change her name when she arrives at her destination 200 miles South of the Arctic Circle.

Arriving here aboard the Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Canada, the attractive shorthand typist told reporters that behind her 6000-mile journey lies a romance that started in 1941 at a Seamen's Institute dance in England where she met Canadian radio operator John Livesay, a native of Vancouver.

She related that after the war, John took his mother and set up a trading post in a lonely log cabin off the Alaska Highway. Last year his mother died. John wrote to Freda, asking her to come out to see him and discover whether their wartime friendship would develop "into something more permanent."

A WITCH FLYING ON A BROOMSTICK?

WILMINGTON, Del., March 22 (AP)—"Do they mean I'm one of those things that fly around on broomsticks?" Mrs. Helen Evans, 23-year-old woman charged with practising the "art of wichcraft," asked today.

"If that's what they mean, then I should have a big, black cauldron and be stirring things up in it, shouldn't I?" the slim, nervous woman asked a reporter.

When Mrs. Evans goes to trial some time next month, she'll be tried under an old law that dates back to 1603 when James I was King of England.

Leon Da Valinger, Delaware's chief archivist, traced the present-day witchcraft and conjuration portions of Delaware's state law to the first year of King James. The penalty has been modified from "public whipping and sale into slavery," but the statute still is on the books.

Under Delaware's revised code of 1935, the maximum penalty for practising witchcraft, conjuration, fortune-telling or dealing with spirits is $100 fine and one year in jail.

Mrs. Evans is accused of taking money from a young woman for advice on a cure for nervous condition. She was charged with telling the woman she was under a curse which could be cured by Mrs. Evans upon payment of $10.

Premier Johnson Urges Britain To Use More Timber, Building

LONDON, March 22 (CP)—Premier Byron Johnson of British Columbia tonight urged Britain to abandon the use of timber substitutes in the building trades.

Johnson, on a four-day visit to Britain, was the chief speaker at a dinner of the British Timber Trade Federation.

He said the use of substitutes, including steel, has cut British timber import to half of the pre-war figure.

"We can all understand how, when the right material is not available, something else must be used," he said. "What is not understandable is that a practice introduced under the pressure of war should be continued in times of peace."

TWO-WAY TRADE

Johnson said British Columbia relied on the timber industry for its main source of income. But the province believed in two-way trade and the premier listed large orders placed in Britain by British Columbia interests.

"We believe that where you want to sell, there you must be prepared to buy," he said.

Johnson denounced as "wholly destructive and subversive" what he called "ill-formed criticism" on both sides of the Atlantic of United Kingdom and Canadian trade policies.

Cowichan Citizens Convinced Road Victory Theirs

COWICHAN BAY, B.C., March 22 (CP) — An air of victory settled over this small seaside settlement today as heavy Provincial Government road-building equipment rumbled into action right on the heels of a citizens' revolt over poor road conditions.

Although Government officials in Duncan contended a grader was scheduled before the protest, Cowichan Bay citizens were firmly convinced the Government had yielded to the pressure.

(In Victoria, Hon. E. C. Carson, Minister of Public Works, declined to comment).

ALL THAT MATTERS

The fact that the grader was plowing under most of the 200 yards of gravel the volunteers had spread Monday didn't appear to bother the resident. They had budged the Government and that appeared to be all that mattered.

CONTROL FIRE IN U. K. ARSENAL

LONDON, March 23 (Thursday) (AP)—A blaze described by firemen as "very big" was controlled early today about an hour after it had broken out in the Woolwich Arsenal, largest munitions plant in the London area.

Teachers' Convention At Coast in April

VANCOUVER, March 22 (CP)—More than 50 resolutions, ranging from salary to politics, will be discussed when the 600-member British Columbia Teachers' Federation meets here next month.

The annual convention, to be held April 10 to 13, will be one of the City's largest this year.

Guest speaker will be Dr. A. L. Doucette of the University of Alberta.

Costs Increase For B. C. Japanese

VICTORIA, March 22 (CP)—British Columbia faces a bill of $240,000 for the care of Japanese indigents uprooted from the coast by the Federal Government during the war. This is almost double the amount paid last year.

Acting Health Minister E. T. Kenney explained today that an agreement whereby the Federal Government paid half the cost expired this year.

Acquit Coburg 'Mercy Killer'

COBOURG, Ont., March 22 (CP)—Ralph Kilbon today was aquitted of murder in the "mercy killing" of his mentally-ill wife, Irene.

An all-male Ontario Supreme Court jury returned the verdict after deliberating less than 70 minutes.

The decision upheld the defence contention that Mrs. Kilbon, who mortally wounded herself in a suicide attempt, was "legally and medically dead" when Kilbon fired a rifle bullet into her brain.

And in This Corner —

OTTAWA, March 22 (CP)—Wanted: A Canadian bride by a tall dark Englishman.

Larry Bassman, who says he's 20, brown-haired and five feet, 10½ inches tall is looking for a Canadian bride. He's written Ottawa Mayor Bourque to help him find one.

Possibly at the risk of bringing the wrath of all England's femininity down on his head, he says "the girls of England are very slow in making up their minds whether to answer 'Yes' or 'No.'" He admits to being refused many a time.

In case you're interested Larry's address is Choir Street, Lower Broughton, Salford, Lancashire, England.

MONTREAL, March 22 (CP)—A plate of spaghetti, a misplaced sense of humor and a body that wasn't there combined to bring taxi-driver Fernand Fredette into Criminal Court today on a charge of reckless driving.

Fredette explained his alleged misdemeanor to Judge T. A. Fontaine this way:

He was eating spaghetti with a police friend when the latter jokingly told him he was going to report to police that Fredette was driving around with a body in his taxi.

"Some time later, while driving on St. Francois Xavier Street, I heard a police radio car siren. I believed it was the police wanting to question me about the body—so I accelerated and was arrested for reckless driving."

The judge listened attentively, then told Fredette to plead not guilty. Trial was fixed for March 29.

WARSAW, March 22, (AP)—Even cocktail party invitations must be passed by the censor under Poland's new law governing all printed material.

The British Embassy found out about it yesterday when a Warsaw printer refused an order for invitation cards to a farewell party for Sir Donald Gainer, the retiring British Ambassador.

The printer cited a new law which requires prior approval by the Press censor of all material to be printed. The Embassy sent a formal note to the Press Ministry asking it to approve the wording of the invitations.

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C., March 22 (CP)—Gardens at Campbell River, B.C., have received a thorough spading—but not because Spring is in the air.

One resident who prefers to remain unidentified, dug up some buried treasure, shared his luck with his friends and the hunt was on.

The treasure was a whole case of unwatered scotch whisky, found after the man's mattock struck an object among the roots of a wild cherry tree.

It is believed the whisky was distilled about 1912, and was by a party of trappers and prospectors who camped in the area about 30 years ago.

OSLO, Norway, March 22 (Reuters) — Microphones, cameras, powerful undersea lamps, sound recording and echo apparatus with scientists to operate them, left here yesterday in the Norwegian research ship G. O. Sars to find out whether codfish talk to each other when they woo.

American scientists have found out that herrings have the "hiya babe" and the "come down and see me some time" know-how, Norwegian icthyologists recall, and add that there is no reason to suppose that their cod is in anyway a bashful fellow.

Anchoring in the cod spawning grounds, the scientists will lower their equipment down to the cod's boudoir—180 feet down. If she says anything to him, or he says anything to her, the world can expect to hear about it next week.

Firsts for Nelson, Trail Musicians, Singers in Festival Evening Session

Four first places fell to Nelson contestants, while a Trail duo received the other first in the Wednesday evening Kootenay Musical Festival events.

Results were:

Junior High School Choir, Nelson—"Ash Grove." "They all looked as if they were enjoying themselves, and that's half the battle. Diction was very good and intonation was good. There was very nice graduation of tone. The performance was musical, but look out for last syllables in words such as 'remember'!"

"Land of Dreams"—"Tone was not so well controlled, singing was not done so easily, quietly. Contraltos were rather loud. Notes were true in both parts."

Pianoforte Duet:

Under 11 years, "Polka" by Alex Rowley—Beverley Salter and Gordon Service of Trail, 84, first—"A very good duet, they played so well together. Nice phrasing and good steady rhythm. Graduations were well managed, but the end came a little abruptly."

Billie Lambert and Neil Morrison of Nelson, 82, second—"Some quite nice effects, but don't spoil them by an overdose of pedal. A good steady rhythm and nice contrast of tone."

Joanne Davies and Elizabeth Daly of Trail, 81, third—"Very nicely done until misunderstanding arose. Graduations of tone were well managed; rhythm was steady."

Arthur More and Edward Inkster of Trail—"Marvelous beginning. Did very well until near the end."

Jimmy McClennan and Douglas Long of Creston—"Not always quite unanimous. On the second page playing became unstable, but the bass player held on valiantly. Bits that did go well, went very well."

Denis Williamson and Kathleen Fishwick of Trail—"Not always quite together. Bass player lost out. Phrasing and contrasts were well managed."

Pianoforte:

Under 14 years. Venetian Boat Song No. 2 by Mendelssohn, and "Walking Tune" by Thiman.

Douglas Skilton of Nelson, 86, 87, first—"Musical playing, with a nice cantabile. Nice graduations and tonal effects. (2) Real style and musical interest."

Mike Fraser of Nelson, 84, 86, second—"(1) Very nice musical playing, with right feeling for the style of piece. (2) Style and musical interest."

Mary Ann Swanson of Nelson, 83, 84, third—"(1) Nice cantabile tone in right hand; keep left hand a little quiet. Notes commendably accurate and some nice graduations of tone. (2) Good lilt to rhythm, accurate musical playing."

Eleanor MacDonald of Creston—"(1) Rather uncertain beginning. Try to bring out the tune better and the left hand in subordination. (2) Much better, although not altogether at home with the piece."

Norman Hughes of Nelson—"(1) Much more tune wanted in right hand. (2) Good, fluent and accurate playing. There was musical interest in it."

Joyce McClennan of Creston—"(1) Note enough interest in right hand tune. Some untidiness. (2) Began well, but tempo got out of control."

Hillary Lee of Trail—"(1) Nice lilt to rhythm. More right hand tune wanted at beginning. (2) A little untidiness, but was some nice musical playing."

Edith Mary Middlemass of Nakusp—"(1) A very nice cantabile tone. Some inaccuracies in left hand chords; accelerando and rubato a little overdone."

Barclay Creighton of Castlegar—"(1) Not enough interest in right hand tone. Left hand should only be accompanist. Did good phrasing and crescendos. (2) Rather too slow to sustain interest of music, too timid and cautious and seemed to be afraid to let himself go."

Young Men with Changed Voices; under 21 years:

Guilford Brett of Nelson, 88, first—"O Thou Billowy Harvest Field" by Rachmaninoff. "Really good performance of this lovely song. Phrasing, intonation particularly good. Resonance in voice good to hear and his tone is well controlled and musical; he has the knack of being able to bridge the gap between the stage and the audience."

Wilfred Maze of Trail, 86, second—"Rolling Down to Rio." "A very nice tone, with a good natural resonance in it which is very pleasant to hear. Intonation is particularly good and phrasing too. He is a little apt to swallow his words, instead of getting them across the footlights. But he has a musical voice and knows how to use it."

Gary T. Barnhardt of Nelson, 85, third—"Tally-Ho" by Franco Leoni. "A good performance to convey the sense of excitement, though he could have made it more so by better contrast of tone. His tone is pleasant, if a little limited, but he knows how to sing."

Gilbert Johnson of Nelson—"The Red Haired Bo'sun" by Harrhy. "Nice middle register and a natural resonance. He is apt to sound forced in top E flat; phrasing and breath control are good. He presented the song well and tune and diction was good."

Douglas Hughes of Rossland—"Silent Worship" by Handel. "A pleasant tone, although a little unequal on some notes. There is a feeling of strain in the upper register, which he must try to overcome. Diction and tuning good and he presents the song well."

David M. Williams of Nelson—"The Sea Hath Pearls" by Franz. "This song was not a very wise choice for this rather immature voice. The compass of 13 notes is too big for any but the most accomplished of singers. Some ugliness is apt to creep into vowels, that is, vaster, heart, etc."

Ralph S. Lewis of Nelson—"Skye Boat Song" "Quite a pleasant voice, although vowels need watching very carefully. He got the feeling of the lilt of this charming boat song."

FINE SINGER

Oratorio Solo: Open

Ray Thompson of Nelson, 88, first—"It Is Enough" from Elijah. "He managed to put quite a lot of pathos into this lovely and moving song and then he got real excitement into the middle section. Some excellent change of mood and color; he has real control both emotionally and musically. A fine singer with a sense of style and dramatic effect."

Jack Havard of Nelson, 84, second—"O God Have Mercy" from St. Paul. "Some of the rhythm was far from strict, a pity for he has a most musical voice with plenty of color, variety and resonance in it. Recitation was not very successful either from a rhythmic or tonal point of view—high notes became forced and unnatural. But at return of the Adagio, the whole picture changed and tone became lovely again."

Paul M. Hielscher of Nelson, 83, third—"Honor and Arms" from Samson. "Well done with that tremendous long phrase. A little unequalness of tone, though he has quite a fine tone on low A. There was a new change of color for the middle section. This singer chose a difficult song and when he can get a little more robustness into his voice, he will do it very well."

Stan Fisher of Nelson—"Lord God of Abraham" from Elijah. "Top E flat wasn't quite so controlled and the rest of the scale was done so awfully well. The middle and lower register of his voice is good. Pace was too fast in places, the rhythm occasionally shaky, and tuning not always quite right, but if he can control his tone better, his singing should be quite good, for he has a good legato."

Marjorie D. Bradshaw of Nelson—"Hear Ye, Israel" from Elijah. "An unsteady vocal line; such a pity for some of her notes are very pleasant. Phrasing and legato, tuning and diction are all good. Of course, some natural vibrato is wanted, but not to that extent."

Roland Anderson, Nelson—"Comfort Ye" and "Every Valley." He has a very good legato and musical phrasing, but tone is a little uncontrolled and is apt to lighten up on top F sharp and G sharp. He must try and get the vowels right and secure a little better control over his tone."

SHOW ENJOYMENT

Elementary Instrumental Ensemble

"Passacaglia" by C. S. Land and "Rondo Allemande" by Hockner.

Nelson Students' Violin Ensemble, 80, 82, first—"I don't know how this extraordinary composition ever got into Canada," Dr. Lang commented on "Passacaglia." He recalled hearing it twice before, once in England, "so naturally I have no remarks on the composition."

"The students' performance was a little slow for 'Andante Maestoso', tuning in some of the difficult intervals was particularly good. From Fig. 3 the pace should gradually quicken. If they could have worked up a little more excitement both tonally and rhythmically this would have been quite good."

"(2) Quite well together and a nice balance between the parts, though a little more contrast of tone would make playing more interesting. Phrasing and intonation were good. Obviously this ensemble had a lot of enjoyment at rehearsals."

The Weather

SYNOPSIS

Gale warnings were issued for the entire B.C. coast. Rain and Southeast gales are expected to buffet the coast as still another active storm of major proportions pushes in from the Pacific. In the interior mixed rain and snow will accompany the storm as it continues its Eastward motion. By that time most of the winds should have blown themselves out. More showers are in store for coastal regions while temperatures remain much the same as they were.

Colors, Cottons, Capes Captivate at Style Show

Every sign of Spring was in the air Wednesday when the latest styles in sports and casual clothes for women, teeners, and tiny tots were brought before Nelson style lovers. The opening Spring fashion show, sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, featured complete wardrobes from Canada's leading fashion centres.

Over 150 women, and a few gentlemen, gathered in the Legion Hall to see the show during the afternoon sessions while visitors also crowded the hall Wednesday night.

Tea was later served. The hall was tastefully decorated with pussy willows and Spring flowers while the charming tea tables were centred with fresh tulips, daffodils, carnations, and other early flowers.

Mrs. A. O. Allen, President of the Auxiliary, opened the show of fashions' decrees in floral fantasy, while Mrs. W. G. Harold described the different ensembles.

Little Sandy McTavish, a tiny tot model, opened the show by displaying a green taffeta dress, just the thing to wear to a party. Sally Ann Olson, Terrance Moran and Francis Johnson modelled a red plaid taffeta dress trimmed with navy, a bright red coat and a smart sports outfit including grey alpine slacks, a pink sweater and a popular navy blue blazer.

BEACH WEAR BRIGHT

The 1950 trend of styles was towards finer fabrics and exciting new colors. This was shown by the one-piece, eye-catching yellow bathing suit modelled by Eunice Mott. The suit was made of elasticized satin of sun yellow. The second beach suit was a two-piece green displayed by Marie Holmberg. Something new in the line of beach wear was the large figured towel.

A brown short suit with a contrasting long sleeved blouse was a perfect combination for the tennis player modelled by Alice Kellog while a cool, pink tropical short suit, one of the top sports wear features was shown by Barbara Serres.

Other sports costumes included a two-piece slack suit topped with a grey corduroy shortie modelled by Rene Stockey, a sunset orange slack suit of creaseless rayon gabardine by Edith Kellog, a grey slack suit of English flannel by Connie Wilks and a spectator sports ensemble by Joy McEwen.

The modelling of suits was next on the program. Joyce Goodwin displayed a white flannel skirt topped with a smart navy blue double-breasted jacket, a suit that can be worn all Summer long. Mrs. Betty Simms next showed a royal blue sports outfit with slash pockets while an eye-catching suit was the blush pink plaid worn by Mrs. Nina Smiley. She matched this with a silver grey straw hat and navy blue accessories. A comfortable gadabout jacket and copper colored skirt featuring front and back pleats was modelled by Lorraine Jarrett.

Crisp, cool, cottons, the pick of the crop, were one of the highlights of the show. These included a panama blue cotton dress with pink hat and gloves to match, a green plaid sun dress, a plaid gingham frock and a white eyelet dress.

Models for the cotton dresses were Alice Kellog, Marie Holmber, Eunice Mott, Joy McEwen and Evelyn Perdue.

All set for the rainy weather were the two rain coats shown by Lorraine Jarrett and Connie Wilks. The coat worn by Miss Jarrett was of hound tooth check with a hat to match while Miss Wilks featured a detachable hood and cuffed sleeves.

DATE DRESSES

Two and three pieced suits and charming date and dinner dresses also took their place among the many garments. These were modelled by Doreen Kalyniuk, Joyce Goodwin, Nina Smiley, Edna Robison, Beda Havard, Connie Wilks, Betty Simms, Barbara Serres, Mary Redmond, Edith Kellog and Fred Dawson.

Two dresses for the maturer women were shown by Mrs. W. Hudson and Mrs. Robert Moen.

Beautiful fur coats, capes and jackets brought ohs and ahs from many. Among those displayed was a fur cape modelled with a sheer nylon evening dress, a full length brown squirrel coat, a black Persian lamb coat and a mink jacket.

The show concluded with the display of a breathtaking bridal gown complete with crown, veil and lovely bouquet. This was worn by Beda Havard while dressed as her two bridesmaids in matching sheer pink and blue gowns were Evelyn Perdue and Edna Robison.

FEATURED

The feature costumes of the show were a three-piece navy blue costume set off by a matched platinum fox fur worn by Beda Havard, the sky blue cotton dress worn by Alice Kellog and a green afternoon ensemble by Barbara Serres.

Mrs. A. O. Allen was show convener while committee heads were Mrs. J. H. Johnson and Mrs. G. J. Verkerk, models; Mrs. L. Browett, dressing room; Mrs. C. O. Anderson, refreshments; Mrs. Len Bicknell, tea tables; Mrs. A. Dunne, entertainment; Mrs. J. Nash, decorations and Mrs. A. D. Oliver, tickets.

5-Month Sentence On Three Charges After Accident

George A. Kabatoff of Kelowna was sentenced to five months in Provincial Police jail here Wednesday on three charges.

The charges included failing to make a written report of an accident, failing to stop and give name and address following an accident and driving with his licence under suspension. On the first charge, he had a choice of a $25 fine or one month in jail while on the other two had a choice of $50 fines or two months. He decided to serve the sentence.

The charges arose from an accident at Blewett Feb. 11 between a car driven by Kabatoff and a car driven by F. J. Hawkins of Bonnington.

Kabatoff pleaded guilty to all three charges in Provincial Police Court Wednesday morning before Stipendiary Magistrate William Irvine.

The awards were presented at the first annual awards dinner of the Academy of Radio and Television Best Arts and Sciences.

Crosby and Miss Shore were named top vocalists on radio and television, and Godfrey won the award for the television "program of the year." All three are CBS artists.

National Broadcasting Company's Milton Berle was named outstanding comedian of the year on television, and Groucho Marx was named radio's outstanding comedian for his CBS show.

The awards were made on the basis of selections by a board of judges including more than 1250 persons in broadcasting, newspaper, education and other fields.

A DOG'S PAL . . .

CALGARY, March 22 (CP)—Dogs may be man's best friends but "Whiskers," a one-year-old West Highland terrier, proved he was also a pal to a dog in trouble.

A collie was shot last night by an unidentified person and his owners, when informed of the incident by a witness, searched fruitlessly for the injured dog. Police also joined in the hunt and so did Whiskers.

Everybody gave up the hunt finally except the little terrier. Later his yelps attracted searchers again and under a bridge nearby the bleedying collie was found.

Whiskers' patience had saved the collie's life.

Nelson, Creston, Rossland Contestants Win Vocalist, Pianoforte Firsts

Four firsts were won by Nelson contestants in the six Wednesday afternoon events of the Kootenay Musical Festival. A Rossland duo and a Creston soloist also were awarded firsts.

The afternoon session featured chiefly intermediate girls and boys vocal solos and pianoforte classes.

An official opening was given the Festival by Mayor N. C. Stibbs.

Results:

Girls solo, under 12, high, "I Hear Spring Calling" — Denise Greenwood, Nelson, 82; Jo Ellen Kary, Nelson, 81; Margaret Ferguson, Trail, 80; Louise Scott, Nelson, Eva Pistak, Trail, Sheilah Lawrence McPhail, Nelson.

Dr. C. S. Lang, adjudicator, said: "These were nice little songs, but they had proved a bit of an ordeal for small girls to sing in such a large hall. Denise Greenwood had a small voice, but she used it well. Intonation particularly good. Jo-Ellen Kary had a tiny voice but she sang simply and unaffectedly. Margaret Ferguson had good phrasing and breath control. A little more tonal variation is needed."

Boys' solo: over 12, unbroken voice, 'Care Flies From the Lad That Is Merry," by Arne—Roland Gillis, Nelson, 85; Billy Horswill, Nelson, 83; Edward Thompson, Nelson, 78.

"Very nicely done Roland. He had good style. He was not afraid of himself, of the audience or the adjudicator. Billy Horswill had a style of his own. His voice had a nice resonance, but a slight tendency to force the tone. Edward Thompson's presentation was quite nicely done. He had a pleasant unforced tone and diction was good."

Pianoforte, under 12 years, "Once Upon a Time," by Dunhill and "The Bosun's Pipe" by Wood—Rochelle Crawford, Nelson, 83, 87—170; Joanne Dunlop, Castlegar 82, 86—168; Sandra Faulder, Trail, 85, 82—167; Doreen Jacobs, Trail, Sheilah-Lawrence McPhail, Nelson, Diane Cameron, Trail, Eva Pistak, Trail, Norma Calvert, Trail, Anne Butorac, Rossland, Maureen Creighton, Castlegar, Carol Lynne, Trail.

"Rochelle Crawford's playing was beautifully done. Neat and nimble playing with style to it. Joanne Dunlop's phrasing and tonal contrasts were both good. Sandra Faulser was a tidy and careful player. Tonal contrasts were well under control.

Duet for Violin and Pianoforte, "Le Bavolet Flottant," Couperin — Joyce and Frances Sutherland, Rossland, 78.

"The violinist's intonation was mostly good. The pianist was accurate but rather too discreet as this was a duet. More contrast of tone were needed from both players."

Pianoforte, under 10 years, "Merrymakers," and "Noontide Rest" by Felix Swinstead — Moira Carmichael, Nelson, 87, 87—174; Frederich Nudd, Nelson, 86, 87—173; Lucy Sutherland, Rossland 85, 87—172; Audrey Wyder, Trail, Douglas Long, Erickson, Lynne Leeming, Nelson, Arthur More, Trail, Beverley Salter, Trail, Eileen Goresky, Castlegar, Diane Armstrong, Nelson, Jo-Ellen Kary, Nelson, Marolyn Ann Ellison, Nakusp, Kathleen Hollington, Nelson, Gail Couling, Nakusp, Judith Elliott, Castlegar, Kathleen Fishwick, Trail, James McClennan, Creston, Ruth Presley, Nelson, Arnold Bate, Nelson, Gail Seaton, Castlegar.

"There was real life and vigor in Moira Carmichael's playing. It was full of musical interest. Very good indeed. Frederick Nudd's presentation was most musical and poetic. He had charming tone. Lucy Sutherland had real musical feeling and the music was under control."

Girl's solo, Sacred, under 15, "I Will Sing of Thy Great Mercies" by Mendelssohn — Frances Herd, Creston, 82; Patricia Martin, Nelson, 81; Norma Williamson, Trail, 80; Doris Thatcher, Trail, Thora Hawley, Creston, Beverley Barber, Creston, Susan Swendson, Nelson, Clair Williscroft, Trail, Joyce Stuart, Nelson, Joyce McClennan, Creston, Dorothy Jean Foster, Nelson, Irene Johnson, Trail.

"Frances Herd had a nice tone but she must try to take the marked phrases in one breath. Pat Martin had quite a pleasant tone if she would keep the vocal line steady. Norma Williamson sang the recitative, but the style was not free enough."

Commission Advises Britain Not To Recognize Seretse as King

LONDON, March 22 (Reuters) —The official commission that inquired into the chieftainship dispute in the Bamangwato tribe of Bechuanaland has unanimously advised Britain against recognizing Seretse Khama as tribal king, the Government discolsed today.

The Commission—whose report has been kept secret—also recommended that Seretse be exiled from his tribe.

In a white paper published today on Britain's thorniest Empire problem for years, the Government gave its reasons for refusing to publish the Commission's report and for banning Seretse and his white wife from his native Bechuanaland for five years.

The Government, stressing its paramount responsibility for good government of the protectorate, summarized its case against Seretse's recognition as follows: to prevent the disruption of the Bamangwato tribe; because of doubts whether Seretse would discharge with success the grave responsibilities of the chieftainship and whether Seretse could retain adequate tribal support.

"There is the added uncertainty as to the tribe's future attitude towards the children of the marriage."

Dr. A. Millikan Doubts Man Can Make Powerful Hydrogen Bomb

PASADENA, Calif., March 22 (AP)—Dr. A. Millikan, Nobel Prize-wining scientist, says he is not at all certain that man can make a hydrogen bomb.

He is frankly skeptical that any man-made device will ever split the earth asunder.

It is true, he says, "that we and our possible adversary now possess the instruments to destroy each other."

Millikan is 82 today. In an interview commemorating the occasion, the man who first isolated and measured the electron and opened the way for present day atomic research observed:

"With all that talk about the hydrogen bomb, I'm not yet convinced that it's at all certain we can build such a bomb. Of course, if it were possible to make the hydrogen in all the seas combine at once into helium, we could probably explode the whole earth and transform it into a nebula.

STILL SKEPTICAL

"However, I'm still skeptical. I think it would take a warmer lady than mother earth to make such a horror possible.

Life for 2 White Men Who Killed 3 Negro Children

KOSCIUSKO, Miss., March 22 A 38-year-old white man was sentenced to life imprisonment last night in the massacre of three negro children.

Leon Turner, a former convict, was convicted of the murder of four-year-old Ruby Nell Harris last Jan. 8. The jury of 12 white men, eight of them farmers, was unable to agree on punishment. Under Mississippi Law it was mandatory for Judge J. P. Coleman to sentence Turner to life imprisonment.

The State had asked the death penalty—rare punishment in Mississippi for a white man convicted of murdering a negro.

There was no demonstration by the audience of about 500 whites and negroes when the verdict was read.

These bills accused him of slaying of two other Negro children at the same time that Ruby Nell was murdered. They were Mary Burnside, 8, and Frankie Thurman, 12.

ALSO SENTENCED

Windol Whitt, 25, was also convicted of the murder of Ruby Nell, As in the Turner case, the jury was unable to agree on punishment, and the court sentenced Whitt to life imprisonment. Scheduled to be tried Monday in the same case is Windol Whitt's brother, 27-year-old Malcolm.

At Windol's trial, the Whitt brothers testified that Turner, armed with a .38-calibre pistol, was the trigger-man in the midnight raid on the home of Thomas Harris, Negro sharecropper.

Parking Meters To Be Installed in Kimberley; To Build Concrete Curbs

KIMBERLEY, B.C., March 22—Approximately 110 parking meters will be installed in this city this Spring. This will necessitate the building of 1700 feet of reinforced concrete curb at a cost of $2165. Where there is no sidewalk, the curb will be built in its proper place and the intervening space filled with packed gravel until proper sidewalks may be laid. This was decided at a City Council meeting here.

Mayor C. Swan was appointed to represent the city on the 1950 school budget Arbitration Board. N. G. Randall will be the School Board representative with a third member yet to be named.

Health reports for January and February as read at the March 17 meeting listed the following communicable diseases:

January — German measles 124, mumps 17, whooping cough 1.

February — German measles 64, mumps 107, red measles 4.

Street lighting is now controlled by an electric eye relay which turns the lights on and off at sunset and sunrise, resulting in a considerable saving of power.

Alderman Shaw, Fire Chief, reported all alarm boxes tested and schools inspected. The Department was called out to three chimney fires during the past two weeks. A resolution was passed that a recommendation be made in the Press that householders using sawdust burners clean their chimneys twice a year to avoid a fire hazard.

February Police Court convictions were 49 with fines collected totalling $310.

Insurance on the curling rink will be increased by $10,000 and on the arena by $40,000.

Following numerous complaints about garbage collection, the Health Inspector will be asked to make a report on this to the Council.

An application for a trade licence for three apartments at 591 Beale Avenue was considered. The basement apartment was declared unfit for habitation and the present tenant will be ordered out. If recommendations are complied with the licence will be issued. The other two apartments have already been approved. The Auto Body Garage was declared a fire hazard and given 30 days to comply with the fire marshall's recommendations. Failure to do so will bring suspension of their license.

BYLAWS ADOPTED

Bylaws Number 141 — Wiring Amendment Bylaw, No. 142 for acquisition of substation site, and No. 143, Employees Agreement Bylaw were all given first, second, and third reading by the Council. Bylaws No. 144, 145 and 146 were finally read and adopted, they dealt with increased rents for wartime houses, disposal of wartime houses and acquisition of these properties.

A referendum vote will be taken on March 22 at the Sullivan Mine and mill and the union office on the proposed medical and dental clinic. This was announced by the Kimberley Medical and Hospital Services Society following the annual meeting on March 20. The meeting aprpoved the choice of the old Elks Club as the ideal site. To pave the way for its possible purchase, an amendment, allowing the Society to own property, was passed. The architect J. Lovatt Davies of Vancouver had recommended this site for its wide frontage and availability of parking space. Purchase price would be $8500.

The meeting elected the following directors—R. M. Ford, Doug Gold, A. F. James, E. K. White, Doug Lang, R. H. G. Edmonds, G. R. McColl, H. W. H. Whellan, and J. R. McFarlane.

Movie Gossip—

Suggestions From Stars on How To Improve the Academy Award

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 22 (AP)—Oscar, Hollywood's biggest target, better start ducking again.

The Academy Awards affair, which will be held tomorrow night, is Hollywood's most criticized as well as its most publicized event. Everybody has his own idea of how the Oscarizing should be handled. So the AP Hollywood forum put the question to a number of film performers:

"How do you think the Academy Awards can be improved?"

Ida Lupino—"I think it's time the public was let in on the voting. After all, the audiences are the final judges of motion pictures. Let the industry pick the technical awards, but leave the major selections to the movie goers."

Ronald Regan—"How can we improve Academy Awards? Improve pictures."

Lucille Ball—"Many great performances are overlooked because they are given in obscure pictures. We should get a chance to vote on all pictures and performances, whether it's a Western from Republic or an epic from some other studio."

Mark Stevens—"Academy Awards will never be completely fair because the voting is sentimental and prejudiced. There's no way of eliminating the human element. An actor gets a vote because he needs a break or loses a vote because someone doesn't like him. Voting is often on the basis of personality, which is contrary to the purpose of the academy."

Wants Women to Cease Labelling Themselves as "Mere Housewife"

VANCOUVER, March 22 (CP)—Women should stop belittling themselves, says Miss Lillian Thomson of Toronto, national executive director of the YWCA.

"Every time a woman describes herself as a 'mere housewife' or 'only a housewife,' she pins a label on herself as a second-class citizen and other people are apt to accept her at her own valuation," says Miss Thomson.

Speaking at the Vancouver YWCA yesterday, Miss Thomson said women seem "hounded by a feeling of inferiority."

"I don't think the average woman realizes how much her community and her country need her contribution."

She was asked for her opinion on "Why Canadian women seem to be failing to get women into the House of Commons and, to a large extent, into the provincial government."

Miss Thomson said she did not entirely subscribe to the theory that "women don't vote for women."

On the question of whether a sufficient number of women belonged to political parties, she said a show of hands at meetings in Regina and Lethbridge had revealed that "in some cases about one-third and in others as low as one-tenth of those present belonged to a political party."

Miss Thomson will visit Victoria, B.C., before returning to YWCA headquarters in Toronto.

Increase of E. Kootenay Hospital Facilities Recommended; New Site for Cranbrook Hospital Urged

CRANBROOK, B.C., March 22—Increase of present East Kootenay hospital facilities from the present 204 beds to 250 beds by 1971 to provide adequate care through the district is the recommendation of the 1949 survey of the district made by the international hospital consultant firm of James A. Hamilton and Associates for the Dominion Government in connection with a health service grant, and for a Provincial survey for future planning.

The final report set East Kootenay population at 23,700, compared with 17,029 in 1921 and forecast a population of 28,000 by 1971. Listing district industries as base metal mining, forest industry, coal mining, transportation and distribution, the report stated most of the population increase would be in Cranbrook-Kimberley section of the district. Area was reported at 11,074 square miles with 2.1 persons per square mile.

Boards in the five hospital centers, Michel-Natal, Fernie, Invermere, Kimberley and Cranbrook now have copies of the report which analyzes in detail their hospital needs and recommends revisions to meet the new needs.

The report recommended complete replacements by 1971 at a new site of St. Eugene Hospital, Cranbrook. It listed age of the present hospital at 48 years, facilities 76 beds and 12 bassinets, average patient stay 10.7 days, average patients per day 55.7 at 73.3 per cent of complement. No expansion was recommended to 1951.

Report of Fernie's hospital for 1948 listed accommodation at 31 beds, average patient stay 8.4 days, average patients per day 22.7 at 73.22 per cent of complement. The new hospital occupied since then offers 43 beds. On this basis no expansion by 1951 was recommended, but addition of 27 beds by 1971 to meet Michel-Natal needs was advised.

Replacement by 1951 of Michel's present 17-bed hospital with a temporary community clinic of 20 beds, and by 1971 with a community clinic without beds was advised. Michel's 47-year-old hospital averaged 45.9 percent of complement at 7.8 patients with average stay 12.1 days. Location and lack of obstetrical facilities was criticized. Hospitalization of Michel-Natal patients at Fernie by 1971 was advised.

Complete replacement of Kimberley's hospital by 1971 with a 60-bed hospital was recommended. Kimberley hospital was reported for 1948 at 57 beds, 12 bassinets, average patient stay 6.7 days, average patients per day 36.5 at 64.03 per cent of complement. The building is 27 years old. No expansion by 1951 was recommended.

Substitution at Invermere of a new community clinic of 20 beds was recommended for the present hospital of 11 beds and four bassinets. Average patient stay was 6.6 days with the average number of natients four at 36.4 per cent of complement.

With the present accommodation at 204 beds, the report predicts loss of 17 of these for various reasons by 1951, and an aditional 164 beds between 1951 and 1971, so that its recommendation for 250 beds by 1971 will require provision of 227 beds in that period under existing conditions. This would offer 8.93 beds per 1000 population against the present 8.61 beds per 1000 population.

WINNIPEG, March 22 (CP) — Teen-Agers are to be allowed to hold dances in Winnipeg schools only if policemen are hired for door duty.

This decision was taken last night by the Winnipeg School Board after Trustee Adam Beck urged that school property be protected against "hoodlums". He cited an attack upon a 15-year-old boy last Friday during a dance at the Luxton School.

The Trustees decided permits for use of schools by community clubs and other organizations for dances will be issued only on condition police protection is provided.

Hospital Site Question Receiving Full Consideration Meeting Told

The Directors of Kootenay Lake General Hospital Society have kept themselves fully informed on the various sites being considered for a new hospital, questioners at the annual meeting of the Society were assured by President George Turner Tuesday night.

Attendance at the meeting, held at the City Hall, was 50, compared to 16 a year ago.

Mr. Turner said that there had been criticism of the site near Mount St. Francis because of its remoteness, but he said he had been assured that Interior Stages (Nelson) Ltd. would provide necessary transportation when it was required.

Suggestion that more consideration be given Gyro Park as a site was made by Boyd C. Affleck.

When Alderman Alex Sutherland declared that this site had not received any consideration during his term of directorship on the Hospital Board, Mr. Turner said that in the years before Ald. Sutherland became a member, Gyro Park and various other sites had been studied by the Board.

R. D. Barnes said that four years ago many sites had been investigated, among them Gyro Park, Rosemont, the Marquis gardens in Fairview, the Fleury and Balding properties and other areas.

He reminded the meeting that the Dominion and Provincial Governments contributed heavily to new hospitals; that Government-approved experts had recommended the Mount St. Francis site, and that because of the prominent part played by the Government in the project, "we naturally had to fall in line."

Alderman Sutherland declared that the taxpayers would have to put up dollar for dollar with the Government, that in the long run the taxpayers would have to shoulder the whole cost. Two sites were under consideration, but the Gyro Park location "has never come up."

Mr. Affleck told questioners that the minimum five acres required for a site by the Provincial Government would be available in Gyro Park. He said this site was convenient to the bus routes and had the additional advantage of having an ideal setting for hospital grounds. He thought the five-acre minimum was meant to ensure pleasant surroundings for hospitals, and this would be taken care of automatically in Gyro Park.

However, as long as the site had been investigated thoroughly, he would not question the choice of another site.

Three options were available and had been referred to City Council, Mr. Turner explained. The Council had been given reports from the Provincial Architect and there had been no effort to "hogtie" the Council in any respect, he continued.

NO EARLY ACTION ON PROCTER SCHOOL REQUEST

The Building Committee recommended to the Board of Trustees of School District No. 7 meeting Tuesday night, that action on the addition to the Procter School asked for last month by a delegation, "be left at present."

F. N. Emmott said the Committee had come to this decision after visiting the school. The Board approved the recommendation.

The additional room would have provided accommodation for Grade XII students now being transported to Nelson or boarding here.

B.C. Leading in Indian Franchise

OTTAWA, March 22 (CP)—Canada's 135,000 Indians are going to get a new deal.

That was made clear in the Commons yesterday when Citizenship Minister Harris disclosed that legislation establishing a new bill of rights for the Red man probably will be introduced by the Government within the next month.

The question now, he said, is what procedure to follow to give Indian bands a chance to have their say on the contents of the legislation, product of a long study of the Indian question by a Parliament Committee a couple of years ago.

John Blackmore (S C — Lethbridge), suggesting a Commission be appointed to deal with complaints from Indians, said the way they had been treated was a "scandal."

Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancouver East) noted that the franchise has been extended to Indians in British Columbia and said he does not think it can be very long maintained that an Indian is a citizen when he is considered a British Columbian, but is a ward of the State when he comes under the Federal authority.

SEEK AMENDMENTS TO PETROLEUM ACT

VICTORIA, March 22 (CP)—Important amendments to the Petroleum and Natural Gas Act were introduced in the Legislature Tuesday.

They included:

Elimination of the subsurface permit in favor of a geophysical subsurface licence.

Fee of $250 for permit and rental fee of $500 for each 10,000 acres remains, but minimum unit for rental purposes is reduced from 15,000 to 10,000 acres. However, provision is made for rentals on areas of less than 10,000 acres at the same rate, with a minimum of $250.

Where sufficient work is done the Minister may refund the rental fee.

Provision also is made for increase of acreage.

One-year extension instead of three months renewal of a permit may be given but no permit shall be renewed more than twice. This is only in cases where regulations have been complied with.

Where terrain and unforeseen difficulties prevent carrying out detailed investigation or examination of a plan, within specified times, the permit may be renewed three or four times for six months' intervals.

Rentals to be based at one year renewals with same rates as previously.

Simplifies procedure for acquiring rights to do geophysical prospecting.

Provides for $25 licence fee and $1000 deposit for guarantee of satisfactory performance and settlement of claims.

Permittee may take out whole permit in licences to allow him to licence areas proven up and to hold balance of permit for future exploration.

Since Crown will ultimately get half the licenced area when petroleum is found, licencee will not have to pay full rentals on the Crown's half, permitting licencee to carry twice the area for the same rental.

As the ultimate maximum lease area is to be 5760 acres and this can only be secured up to half the licenced area, it is necessary to provide a licence area of 11,520. Minimum area is provided on the same basis.

Robson and Trail Junior Pianists Lead in Opening Festival Classes

Junior piano and violin classes started the 17th annual Kootenay Music Festival Wednesday morning in the Civic Theatre.

Junior piano class winners were Leslie Waldie of Robson, John Barron of Trail and Harold Menkes of Trail.

Invocation was given by Rev. I. M. Presley.

Results, with marks shown for first three only, follow:

Pianoforte, under 8 years, "Russian Song" by Jacobson, "A Romp" by S. James Ching—Leslie Waldie, Robson, 83- 82—165; Bruce More, Trail, 83, 80—163; Bernadette Bergeron, Trail, 80, 82—162; Joyce Miles, Trail; Kathleen Moore, Roosland; Kenneth Carmichael, Nelson; Katherine Hallam, Trail.

"Nice accurate playing and well under control. Very nicely done," was Dr. Lang's adjudication of the work presented by Leslie Waldie. Bruce More did "tidy and careful playing." "Good playing for such a tiny tot," he said of little Bernadette Bergeron.

FLUENT PLAYING

A good deal could be put into these two pieces, which were of contrasted style, and the contestants did this, Dr. Lang remarked. John Barron's presentation was good, with the right idea of the piece and with fluent playing. Ethel Lefevre was a fluent and tidy player. There was life and spirit in Louise Scott's second piece.

Violin under 10 years, "Minuet," Frank Blatchford—Wayne Collett, Nelson, 76. "Intonation mostly good."

Violin under 12 years, "Bourree," Handel—Eva Pistak, Trail, 78. "A good steady rhythm, but there was not enough tonal variety."

Violin under 14, "Andante, from Orpheus," Gluck—Bernard Loff, Shoreacres, 78; Edward Gaines, Trail, 77.

"Bernard Loff played quite accurately and was tidy and careful. The second competitor's intonnation was quite good, but the bowing often too untidy and unsteady. These young violinists have more to contend with than a pianist, because a violinist has to make his own notes, therefore the intonation must be really right."

Piano under 13 years, "At Dusk," E. Markham Lee, and "A Windy Day," Evelyn Sharp—Harold Menkes, Trail, 86, 86—172; Bill Chaddock, Trail, 85, 85—170; Ann Hargrave, Trail, 84, 83—167; Margaret Ann Philpot, Nelson; David Barrett, Nelson; Michael Kobluk, Trail; Marquerite Fletcher, Castlegar; Sally-Ann Butling, Nelson; Elizabeth Sutherland, Rossland; Marilyne Salter, Trail; Linda Hanson, Trail; Donna Elsie More, Trail; Barbara Humphries, Trail; Norah Carney and Danny Dolphin, Nelson.

"This was good playing. I don't think the audience envies me my position. I did enjoy the high standard of playing in this class."

Harold Menke's playing "was very nicely done, the playing was full of musicl ainterest, phrasing and expression were well managed." His playing had style.

"Bill Chaddock's presentation was well under control and he made a spirited performance. His playing had plenty of style."

Ann Hargrave gave a "musical performance, with pleasantry of musical interest in playing."

If You Want to Buy a Skeleton, Try M. Guy

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 22 (CP)—Medical students all over the world know Monsieur Raymond Guy—the man who deals in bones and skeletons.

In his bright-lit West end office, skulls grin at customers from green, baize-topped tables; skeletons, hanging inside glass-fronted cupboards, smile a hideous welcome.

Those who wish can buy a complete skeleton for £30 ($93). Or they can acquire ownership of a skull with a full set of teeth for £10.

"Business? It is so-so," said Monsieur Guy, absent-mindedly patting the shining skull of a deceased African native. "I buy bones for this work mainly from Africa and Austria, where supplies are plentiful.

HIGH DEMAND

"We sell a lot of bones and skeletons to Commonwealth countries and the United States. The demand from the Commonwealth is particularly high."

Fitting the bones together keeps Monsieur Guy and his staff of five—all men—busy 5½ days a week. For there are 206 bones in every complete skeleton.

M. Guy, who queues daily for a ride to work on a London bus, looks like an absent-minded professor and sometimes behaves like one.

"I never take samples home," he said, "because I am afraid I might leave them on a bus and give someone a fright."

A human hand can be bought as cheaply as 15 shillings, but a foot costs twice as much because feet are in greater demand.

"At present more and more British shoe shops are buying feet for display purposes. Good for trade but rather difficult as it leaves us with so many hands in stock."

Canada's Darling To Skate in U.S. and Overseas

BARBARA ANN SCOTT

World's championship skater has just completed a 15,000 mile coast-to-coast tour seen by over 500,000 Canadians.

This month the 21-year-old bladester will start off on another tour, this time to the four Eastern Canadian cities of Quebec, Chicoutimi, Moncton and Halifax. Following this showing she will then go to the United States where she will appear in Troy and Clinton, N.Y. and South to Washington, D.C.

During mid-Summer, Miss Scott will vacation for six weeks and then will stage shows in London and Paris in August and September.

Earlier in the season it was hoped that Miss Scott would include showings at Trail and Nelson during her tour of Western Canada.

U. N. SURVEY SHOWS WOMEN WITHOUT RIGHTS IN 12 LANDS

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 22 (CP)—A United Nations survey showed today there are a dozen countries where women haven't the legal right to vote or hold public office.

The survey, made at the request of the U. N. Commission on the status of women, listed the countries as Colombia, Costa Rica, Egypt, Haiti, Honduras, Iran, Iraq, Hashemite Jordan, Lebanon, Liechtenstein, Nicaragua and Switzerland.

Hospital Board, Workers Continue Contract Discussions

Negotiations with Kootenay Lake General Hospital employees are "proceeding satisfactorily" President George Turner said at a meeting of the Hospital Board Tuesday night.

Further meetings are to be held between the Board's Labor Commitee and the Hospital Union shortly.

The employees were seeking wage increases and other considerations in their new contract.

First Steps Towards Reaching Canada's Own Film Production

By JOHN PATERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, March 22 (CP)—Canada's first major steps in the field of motion-picture production may turn out to be seven-league strides.

A group of Canadian financiers is behind a plan to purchase the 475-acre estate of R. S. McLaughlin at Oshawa, 30 miles East of Toronto, and turn it into a movie factory. The plan, now in blueprint stage, calls for the erection of film-processing buildings and studios for production of motion pictures for theatres, industry, Government documentaries and television.

R. G. McMullen, spokesman for the financial interests, said in an interview that Michael Powell and Emeric Pressburger, internationally-known British film producers, are "definitely interested" in the project. Mr. Powell is due in Canada next month.

McMullen said "We intend to establish studios and film-processing facilities for rental to anyone interested in making movies in Canada."

"The plan calls for an entirely new approach to film production which will make unnecessary the huge, expensive overhead often found in Hollywood and England."

A start is planned for next Summer. First, full-scale production will be by the British team, noted for its work in "Red Shoes" and other films.

Until Canadian technicians can be trained to the high calibre required for important motion-picture production, it will be necessary to "import" experts, Mr. McMullen said. Eventually, the plant will be as fully Canadian as possible.

Murder Trial Divulges Shanty Town Conditions

By ADAIR STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 22— A tiny community of three nondescript floathouses on the bank of False Creek, as bizarre as the long murder trial in which its three occupants figure, was deserted today.

One inhabitant, Frederick Rodger Ducharme, 37, probably will hear a jury's verdict late today on whether he is guilty of the sex murder of Fern Blanche Fisher. The other two, "Half-Rock Joe" Derewenko and "Little Joe" Holmgren, have appeared as witnesses for the Crown.

The three little shacks, visited by hordes of curious persons since the 14-day-old trial began, show that Ducharme, who has given strange testimony on the witness stand, lived in a strange world.

The dwellings of Derewenko and Holmgren are similar to the dozens that crowd both banks of False Creek, almost in the heart of downtown Vancouver. They are small, gable-ended buildings constructed on log floats below the high-water mark.

OLD SCOW

Ducharme's shack was once a square-ended, closed-in power-scow. It is some 20 feet long and seven feet high. A channel cut in the windowless end toward the shore prohibits a full-length door. A swinging pane at the top is the only means of entry and exit. Two small windows overlook the water. They once served as a windshield for the scow.

There is no running water, electricity or sanitary facilities in the little community beneath towering Burrard Bridge.

Hidden from Ducharme's shack by the abutments of the bridge is a similar community of half a dozen buildings, and above these is the trampled sawdust pile where Ducharme testified he made love to Miss Fisher the night she disappeared.

On this sawdust pile Ducharme, who had been working in a sawmill when he was arrested Dec. 5, kept one of the two automobiles he owned. In the 1934 model car, police found bloodstains and a pair of Miss Fisher's shoes.

Need Wheat Stored At Proper Marketing Points

OTTAWA, March 22 (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said tonight in the Commons that Canada is losing export sales of wheat because of the lack of wheat in storage at marketing points in Vancouver and at the head of the lakes.

He said the statement in reply to J. A. Ross (PC-Souris) who asked why the Canadian Wheat Board did not make greater use of the wheat elevator at Saskatoon, Sask. Mr. Howe said Saskatoon was not a marketing point and if the elevator there was used now further export sales would be lost.

Earlier, the Minister told Mr. Ross that as a result of Germany's recent accession to the International Wheat Agreement Canada will ship to that country about 8,000,000 bushels of wheat in the 1950-51 crop year.

In the 1951-52 crop year Canada's shipments to Germany will amount to about 16,000,000 bushels and in 1952-53 to about 18,000,000 bushels.

If Japan becomes a member of the Agreement before the end of the current crop year on July 31, Canada will also ship wheat to that country.

Castlegar Man Brother of Pilot Injured in Crash

Robert L. Michelin, with the B.C. Police detachment at Castlegar, is a brother of the R.A.F. pilot officer seriously injured in a plane crash in England Monday. News of the crash was reported in Tuesday's Daily News.

Robert Michelin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Michelin of Victoria, visiting in England, have flown to Bristol where their son is in hospital.

The father was one of a party of 29 Canadian automobile distributors on a goodwill tour of Britain.

Mr. Michelin joined the B. C. Police in Victoria and has been stationed at Castlegar since last April. He and his brother were born and raised in Victoria. His brother went to England in 1939 and later joined the Royal Air Force.

A total of 72 were reached before the deadline and sent to Stevenson & Kellogg, Vancouver firm of management engineers, for screening.

TALK OUT GAS LINE BILL AGAIN

OTTAWA, March 22 (CP)— An hour of noisy discussion tonight marked another stage in the Commons' marathon debate on bills that would incorporate companies planning to build oil and gas pipe lines from Alberta fields to the Pacific coast.

E. D. Fulton (PC—Kamloops) and J. W. Noseworthy (CCF—York South) spoke for the full hour devoted on Tuesdays to private bills. As a result bills that would incorporate the Alberta Natural Gas Company and Prairie Transmission Lines Limited failed again to advance.

TON OF COAL BURIES ALBERTA TRANSIENT, FOUND STILL ALIVE

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., March 22 (AP)—Police today told of the nightmare experience of a 64-year-old Alberta transient who was buried under a ton of coal for 13 hours, within inches of the jaws of an automatic stoker on a Canadian Pacific Railway engine tender.

Fred Rawley of Alliance was discovered by railway employees when the push engine pulled into the yards here after a 30-mile weekend trip from Suffield where Rawley hitched aboard.

The engine crew, which had pulled up under the coal chute to reload the tender, heard muffled groans beneath the remaining coal. They dug out Rawley, his clothes torn to shreds and his knapsack and bedding chewed to ribbons by the heavy mechanism of the coal stoker.

Rawley's foot had become entangled in one of the gears and he suffered a badly bruised ankle. He also suffered from shock.

Rawley told police that soon after he crawled into the tender at Suffield a jolt showered the coal over him, pushing him towards the coal stoker.

The elderly transient is recovering in Lethbridge Hospital Jail.

SEATLE, March 22 (AP) — A conference called in the hope of averting a threatened strike in the Puget Sound tugboat industry broke up here late with conditions "almost hopeless," a Union official reported.

Today's meeting of representatives of operators and the two AFL unions involved was attended by a Federal Labor Conciliator. It was called after Capt. John M. Fox, leader of the Masters, Mates and Pilots and the Inland Boatmen's Unions, said negotiations had been stalemated.

Arrest Two Coast Men for Daring Alberta Robbery

EDMONTON, March 22 (CP)— One of Edmonton's most daring robberies in months was disclosed today after two men were arrested in Vancouver and charged with the crime.

Last Saturday, two men walked into a large jewelry store (Birks) and within a few minutes had disappeared with two rings valued at $2000 and $800.

Detective Inspector Bert Petheram said one of the men walked behind a show case in the busy store, pulled out a tray containing the rings, pocketed two of the rings and walked hurriedly to the door. His partner, had the revolving door moving while the robbery took place and then both disappeared.

CLERKS AMAZED

"The store clerks were dumbfounded by the boldness of the theif," Mr. Petheram said, "and it was not until the men were out of the door that an alarm was sounded."

Police rushed to the scene but failed to find a trace of the culprits. Circulars sent to cities in Western Canada led to the arrest at Vancouver of James R. Johnston of Vancouver, and James F. Putnam of Calgary. They are being brought to Edmonton to face the charge of stealing the rings.

Inspector Petheram said the rings have not been recovered.

A similar daylight robbery took place recently in Calgary. Six rings were taken.

Johnson today offered his apologies "for any inconvenience or suffering I have caused."

He was remanded in custody for a week for a medical report.

Gordon Says Coal Must Push Ahead Or Oil Will Win

TORONTO, March 22 (CP)— Donald Gordon today warned Canadian coal interests that their product must be made more efficiently or they would lose their Canadian National Railways market to a rival fuel—oil.

"It will be no use crying after the market is gone; they should be taking action now," the Railway's President told a press conference.

Mr. Gordon said diesel engines now are saving the C.N.R. up to one-third of what it would cost to use of coal, on certain jobs.

"I would like to see coal people take more interest and push ahead with research," he said. "To my knowledge, none of our coal operators are doing any research toward the more efficient utilization of coal by the railways."

Talent Windfall

Every boatload of newcomers from war-wrecked, politically-split post-war Europe has brought Canada something more than just new citizens. The ships have brought talent—skills and abilities which have added immeasurably to the arts in Canada.

This windfall of Old World culture has been most evident in the field of music, and it's reflected to a great extent in Canadian broadcasting, Alan Donnelly, Canadian Press staff writer, has pointed out.

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation seems to have absorbed much of this talent, probably because of its emphasis on classical music, but also because immigrants, coming from countries where national radio, national opera and national orchestras are taken for granted, naturally turn to Canada's national radio for a chance to show their talents.

Walter Kaufmann, 42-year-old Czech who came to Canada in 1947, is a prime example of what Canada has been getting in composers, singers, instrumentalists and teachers.

Mr .Kaufmann took a long time to get to Canada after leaving Germany, where he directed an opera company. From 1934 to 1946 he was music director of the All-India Radio and was music director for the J. Arthur Rank film organization in Britain before coming to the Halifax Conservatory in 1947. In 1948 he went West to reorganize the Winnipeg Symphony orchestra and has been there since.

His contribution to Canada's music world has been wide. He's a noted recital pianist; he has built the Winnipeg Symphony into a top musical organization; his compositions have made news—the music for the ballet "Visages" shown at last year's ballet festival in Toronto, a concerto for piano and orchestra whose premiere was broadcast recently over CBC.

But Mr. Kaufmann, as Donnelly wrote, is only one of many new Canadian musicians who have raised and broadened the standards of competence in Canadian broadcasting and music.

Two men who have taken leading roles in Canadian opera are also top teachers at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto.

Dr. Arnold Walter, 48-year-old Czech, has built an opera company from graduates of his senior school at the Royal Conservatory. Nicholas Goldschmidt, 40, a Czech-born Belgian, is conductor and behind-the-scenes figure in operas produced over CBC's Trans-Canada network. The two were instrumental in the success of the colorful opera festival in Toronto this Winter.

Two have stepped into full-time CBC jobs through the Montreal talent-finding show "Opportunity Knocks." Baritone Kalle Ruusunen was for seven years the leading baritone of the Finnish Opera Company. George Lapenson, a Latvian violinist, was walking the streets of Montreal looking for a job when he walked into an audition at "Opportunity Knocks" which led to a position as concert master of a CBC Dominion network show.

CBC officials say a large number of new Canadian musicians are given auditions, and they are considered strictly on their merits.

New Canadian singers don't find the transition to Canadian radio too difficult. Jan Rubes, who saw his opportunity to escape Czechoslovakia through Switzerland and took it, is now a top operatic singer. Polish soprano Lucinda Tchaikowska and Netherlands soprano Frieda Van Hessen both are heard in recitals from Montreal.

Instrumentalists who emigrated from Europe find the transition easiest. Music is an international language and they compete on an equal basis with Canadian artists. Among those who have succeeded in Canada are cellist George Horvath, Swiss flutist Mario Duschenes, concert pianist Bela Nagy, harpsichord artist Greta Kraus, and Dutch violinist Lola Himbury.

At least two new Canadian composers have written prize-winning music since they arrived in Canada. Janis Kalnins from Latvia, now leading the music in a Fredericton, N.B., church, recently won first prize in a CBC music writing contest. Oscar Morawetz, a Czech composer, walked from Paris to Lisbon and freedom during the war. Now several of his works written in Canada have won awards from the Composers, Authors and Publishers Association of Canada.

For these artists, and many others, Canada has meant much—a refuge from political domination of themselves and their art, and an opportunity to exercise their talents in freedom.

British Police Handle Truncheon With Deadly Accuracy on Suspects

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

Britain's epidemic of crimes of violence, similar in many respects to the postwar problems in numerous other countries, has produced a heated public argument on how tough the law should get in dealing with the outrages, largely the work of youthful gangsters.

The debate has been revolving about whether flogging with the cat-o'-nine-tails — abolished two years ago — shall be revived. Judges are demanding that it be restored.

The Lord Chief Justice, Lord Goddard, recently said he believed the violence was due to the fact "that men know they can no longer be whipped for it."

MORE POLICEMEN

However, the conscience of the Labor Government yesterday brought out a refusal for a revival of flogging. Instead of the lash, more policemen are to be provided. In this connection it's interesting to note that a couple of years ago hanging for murder was suspended under the Socialists, only to be revived six months later.

You have to know your Britain to appreciate just what the present crime wave means.

One of the amazing aspects of police administration is that Bobbies never carry guns excepting by special assignment in connection with a desperate mission. The police weapon is a truncheon, which the Bobby can throw with the accuracy of an Australian aborigine handling a boomerang.

FEW GUNS

Because the police didn't carry firearms the underworld, on the whole, responded in kind. Robberies and similar crimes rarely involved the use of guns by the perpetrators. Under the law a householder could not employ a gun against an intruder unless the householder thought a life was in danger.

In short, the mere fact that you saw a burglar climbing out of a window with all your silver and jewelry wouldn't entitle you to shoot at him. If you wounded a burglar under those circumstances, you were for it under the stern English law.

I suspect that the demand for revival of flogging is based on these circumstances, which made England relatively free of crimes of violence. The law doesn't want to see the police and the underworld armed.

Once an armed underworld has been created, and the custom of carrying guns has been established, it is difficult for the authorities to wipe out the evil. The United States knows that.

C. N. R. Finances "Very Inferior"

OTTAWA, March 22 (CP)—Proposals for a $1,000,000,000 capital reorganization of the Canadian National Railways would still leave the National line in a "very inferior" financial position to the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Royal Commission on Transportation was told today.

T. H. Cooper, C.N.R. Vice President and Comptroller, gave this evidence as he continued testimony on the plan advanced to the Commission last week by Donald Gordon, C.N.R. President. This involved adjustments to improve the C.N.R.'s annual income position by about $30,000,000.

Mr. Cooper said the plan was aimed broadly at putting the National system on an equal basis with the C.P.R. in its capitalization.

Discussion developed over the C.N.R.'s stand on the question of setting freight rates by the "rate increase" method, and C.N.R. counsel Hugh O'Donnell said the Company had no submission on that point.

(Under this method, used in some utility rate-making, tolls are based on a rate of return founded on investment in the concern. The system now used for Canadian railway rate-setting is based, instead, on the actual financial requirements of the railways. The C.P.R. is urging that the rate method be applied.)

Mr. O'Donnell said that the question of changing the basis would require very careful consideration by his Company.

India Offers Her Vast Wealth to World Trade

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

India's import policy for the first half of this year is summarized in the current edition of the India Commercial News, issued by the India Government Trade Commissioner in Toronto.

Says the News:

Capital goods and machinery essential for developing industry once again enjoy a high degree of priority. There is a more liberal policy for raw materials than in the previous half-year. Raw materials such as raw silk, non-ferrous metals and heavy chemicals will be allowed entry more liberally if they come from soft currency areas.

Need for drugs and surgical instruments is recognized. High priority is given to newsprint. Import of motor parts will continue to be permitted from all areas.

The News reports inquiries from Indian firms interested in buying in Canada silk bolting cloth and woven wire cloth for flour milling machinery. Other Indian firms are interested in selling here raw wool, tanned skins, spices, textiles, leather, piecegoods, yarn and embroidered goods.

Considerable interest has been aroused by the possibility that India may be able to export coal to Canada.

Large deposits of bauxite (from which aluminum is made) have been discovered in the Bombay Presidency, with total reserves placed in the neighborhood of 30,000,000 tons.

Three thousand tons of coffee have been earmarked for export from the 1949-50 crop.

Canada has been doing a good postwar business with India, though it is threatened by currency difficulties and the fact that the balance of trade has been much in Canada's favor. In 1949, Canada sold India goods worth $72,551,000 and bought from her goods worth $26,233,000.

Some of the more important Canadian sales to India in 1949 were locomotives and parts, automobile parts, copper ingots, bars and billets and electrical apparatus. Our chief purchases there were tea and jute, the latter a plant fibre used for canvas and cordage.

ALL-TIME HIGH OIL OUTPUT SET

OTTAWA, March 22 (CP)—Canada hit the oil jackpot in 1949, boosting her production of crude petroleum to the all-time high of almost 21,500,000 barrels. And Alberta accounted for 20,000,000 barrels of it.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics, issuing preliminary figures in last year's production, said tonight the sharp increase — actually an advance of 74 per cent on 1948 production—was due to new drilling development in the West. This development is still going on.

New Plans Laid for Midsummer Bonspiel

Nelson's Midsummer Bonspiel Committee decided Tuesday night that the colorful event had grown to such proportions that assistance from a wider group of citizens must be obtained.

The Committee at present is composed of the Civic Centre Commission and members of the Curling Club.

At a meeting at the Civic Centre, it was decided to approach Nelson service clubs and the Board of Trade to ask them to appoint representatives to the Committee. This was necessary, it was felt, because of the enlarged scope of the Bonspiel. Last year there were more than 90 rinks.

A new program of entertainment for members of rinks entering the Bonspiel and their families was discussed and a host of suggestions listed for further consideration. Suggestions included changes in opening ceremonies and parade plans; a big picnic at Lakeside Park; a square dance; beach parties; a golf tournament and curling for the lady visitors.

Entries from Prairie centers and from as far East as Ottawa are being received at the Civic Centre offices. One inquiry came from the far Northern British Columbia center of Fort St. John.

Puck Pourri

To the Sports Editor:

Sir—With the close of another hockey season, I would like to pass along a few of my observations and comments along with others who wonder at the present day trend in hockey.

There is nothing wrong with hockey which cannot be easily remedied. The present calibre of what is now known as hockey and the reasons why it is in its present stages of degeneration can be laid directly in the lap of those gentlemen who rule the moneyed hockey systems.

With the advent of the past war and the depletion of players of high calibre the hockey moguls, in order to keep the turnstiles turning put in the centre ice line. This was done, so they first told the public to eliminate whistle tooting and speed up the game. The truth was, it was put in there for the sole purpose of covering up the deficiency of the poorer grade of players who lacked the stickhandling and speed of the better players, because they couldn't absorb the fundamentals of hockey.

Thus, all a player has to do is slap bang the puck up from deep in his zone to another teammate who is parked at the red line, who then takes a stride or two and slap-bang the puck deep into his opponents end. After that, those who can skate, pour into that end of the rink and after much banging around, high sticking, wrestling, hugging, holding, charging and very little of true body checking, the puck is found in the net. The fans, who have grown along with the red line, are convinced that they are seeing top-notch hockey.

Frank Boucher, one of hockey's immortals, resigned from the Rules Committee when his attempts to alter the red line and bring in rules to try and bring back hockey to a higher standard were turned down by moneyed interests who control the NHL. The reason these gentlemen turned down Boucher's suggestions is that since they have for a number of years propagandized the public fan into believing this mayhem farce to be hockey and have drained their pocket book accordingly, and naturally don't want to see it changed now.

Mr. Patrick should have no cause to be worried about hockey. He belongs with others in the big league as much responsible for the present dearth of hockey talent and the way it is played as anyone. After all they did everything possible to make hockey, not hockey, in order to fatten their dividends at the expense of many a green youth in the early days. Their farm system has practically eliminated dozens of amateur clubs throughout Canada.

RINK SCARCITY

It is true that kid hockey is too regimented today but that is due largely to the limited ice arenas now available and also to the over-organization of open air rinks which formerly were used for open play. Continuous weeding out of the better players even reaching down into midget age classes by the pros has its bottleneck effect on the overall production.

Even eduaction has its effect. The smarter player of today is usually the brighter student and will continue his education in preference to having his head cut off by some wood-butcher in the minor pro leagues. There is another thing that worries Mr. Patrick and others. The youngster of today with hockey brains does not play for the low wages, which were handed out to the hockey greats of yesteryears.

I am quite sure that hockey can be brought back to some semblance of its former greatness, by elimination of the Centre Ice Line, enlarging of the goal crease, strict adherence to rules, and last and most important a better deal for kid hockey, playdowns, not only in B. C. but throughout the whole of Canada. Unless kid hockey which is, after all, the foundation of all our hockey is given a better deal than at present, then curling which is making great inroads on ice sports-minded boys will soon obscure hockey entirely.

Canada World's Hockey Champs for 12th Time

By MICHAEL O'MARA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 22 (CP) — Edmonton Mercurys tonight regained the world amateur hockey crown for Canada, whipping Sweden 3-1 in the final game of the tournament.

The victory gave the Western Canada intermediate champions a clean sweep in seven tournament games and Canada's 12th title since 1924.

Immediately after the torrid game, Team Captain Marsh Darling received the world trophy from Professor W. G. Hardy of the University of Alberta, Council President of the International Ice Hockey Federation, as the 8000 fans applauded the popular outcome of the tournament.

When Coach Jimmy Graham was called to the ice to receive his medal, the Canadian players knelt and slapped the ice with their sticks almost loudly enough to drown out the cheers of the crowd.

The game, the last of the six-team round-robin final pool, was unexpectedly stiff for the Mercurys, who had gone on the ice confident of rolling the score into double figures again.

But the Swedes put on a gallant defensive display and their five-men-back tactics slowed down the Canadian speedsters. The referees handed out 10 penalties, six to Canada, in the rough contest.

In an afternoon game, Switzerland defeated Britain 10-3 to win the European amateur hockey title, awarded to the top European team competing in the world event. Switzerland placed third in front of Britain, Sweden and Norway.

The United States team was runner-up to Canada. The Americans defeated Norway 11-6 in tonight's other game. The Americans' only defeat was a 5-0 drubbing they received from the Mercurys.

Centre Doug MacAuley scored the first goal for the Mercurys midway through the first period when he rifled home a rebound from the end boards with Sweden short-handed

The second Canadian counter also came with a Swede in the penalty box when Hassie Young, using Leo Lucchini and Ab Newsome as decoys, drifted through the defence to score from close in.

Young combined cleverly with Lucchini for the third and last Canadian goal, late in the second period.

The prettiest goal of the night was the Swedish counter in the third period. Goesta Johansson swerved sharply around the Canadian defence and slipped a perfect pass to Holger Normela, who beat Goalie Jack Manson from point-blank range.

The last Canadian team to take the coveted trophy back to Canada was the R.C.A.F. Flyers who copped the crown in 1948 at the Winter Olympics.

Final standing:

Canada	5	0	42	3	10
United States	4	1	29	20	8

McDougald Returns to Trail Lineup In Kamloops Opener; Anderson Out

TRAIL, B.C., March 22 — Danny McDougald, ace defenceman of the Trail Smoke Eaters, will return to action tomorrow night when the Smokies meet Kamloops Elks in the B.C. finals here, Coach Mike Buckna announced tonight.

McDougald has been out of the Trail lineup since March 7 when he was stricken with an appendix attack. High scoring Don Anderson replaces McDougald on the Smokie injured list for the best-of-five series with the Okanagan champions.

Anderson, top scorer in the W.I.H.L. and the league's most valuable player, broke his ankle Monday when Trail eliminated Kimberley Dynamiters. Coach Buckna is still undecided on the remainder of his lineup for tomorrow night's opener.

Kamloops defeated Nanaimo Clippers three games to one to enter the British Columbia finals. The top team in the Okanagan-Mainline League led the fledging senior circuit most of the season and lost only one game in their playoff rounds. They defeated Vernon Canadians three straight in the semis.

The Kamloops lineup includes five former players in the Western International Hockey League. Returning to the Kootenay scene are Buzz Mellor, Bill Hryciuk and Jack Forsey, formerly of Kimberley, and ex-Spokane puckmen Jack Kirk and Johnny Ursaki. The visitors are coached by Paul Thompson, one time National Hockey League coach and late of the Pacific Coast circuit. The series will be played in Trail's Cominco Arena.

Four Figure Skaters Pass Tests; Barbara Cowan Returns to Calgary

Miss Cowan has given 26 tests altogether and Sunday gave preliminary tests in which all four students entered were passed.

Successful were Dawn Peck, Doreen Evans, Rochelle Crawford and Terence Moran.

Miss Cowan, here five months as Nelson Figure Skating Club pro, has conducted local skaters in two successful revues on Civic Centre ice. In addition she led local troupes in shows at Trail, Rossland, Creston and Cranbrook.

Stengel Worried Over Pennant Fight?

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Casey Stengel, preparing his world champion New York Yankees for another sizzling pennant fight, views the coming season with something approaching doubt.

No matter what he says for publication, a neutral observer gets the impression the miracle manager of 1949 is worried. He knows for sure things look better now than a year ago.

But is that enough? Frankly, Casey doesn't know. He'd feel a lot better if he were certain Joe Dimaggio would be ready to open the season, if Tommy Henrich would be in shape to take over first base, and if Phil Rizzuto would rid himself of the soreness in his right elbow.

Robinson Downs Costner

PHILADELPHIA, March 22 (AP) —Welterweight champion Ray (Sugar) Robinson made short work of George (Sugar) Costner tonight, knocking out the Camden, N.J., boxer in 2:49 of the first round of a scheduled 10-round fight at Convention Hall.

Robinson weighed 154, Costner 150.

A crowd of 11,747 which paid $53,762—$39,089 net—saw the champion dispose of Costner with a left hook to the chin.

The victory was the champion's 109th in 110 professional starts, 74 of them by knockouts. His only defeat was to Jake Lamotta, seven years ago.

Mercurys Exhausted After Gruelling Game

By MICHAEL O'MARA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 22 (CP)—It was unusually quiet in the Edmonton dressing room tonight after the Mercurys had wrapped up another world hockey title for Canada.

The players were just so tired following their gruelling 3-1 victory over Sweden that they hadn't a holler left in them.

"It was so hot in the rink I thought I was going to die," said Pete Wright, the big Edmonton defenceman. "I was playing with a headache. I got hit on the head last night and it's been aching ever since."

The rest of the team agreed tonight's game was the toughest they'd played for a long time.

"You didn't miss anything, Don," Hassie Young told Don Stanley, who missed the game because of a sprained knee.

Harry Allen, one of the Mercurys' brightest stars during the tournament, sat slumped in a corner in a state of near-exhaustion, trying to unlace his skates. Suddenly he jumped up and yelled, "Well, it took 38 games to win her, but we finally won her."

That sparked the team out of the daze, and all the players began to laugh and joke as they headed for the showers.

"Fill that up with rye and let's get a party going," whooped Jim Kilburn.

But the only liquid refreshment handy was water, and the dressing-room celebration didn't last long on such fuel.

"It's a wonderful thrill," beamed J. A. Christiansen, the team's sponsor.

Coach Jimmy Graham, wearing a wide grin, hardly had a word to say. It was an old story to Graham, who played on the Edmonton Superiors team which won the world title before the war.

Canadiens Take Over Second Spot

By The Canadian Press

It took them almost until the last minute of play but the Montreal Canadiens last night climbed into sole possession of second place in the National Hockey League.

With but 61 seconds left in the game, stocky Norm Dussault scored to give the Canadiens a 2-1 decision over Toronto Maple Leafs and moved the Montreal crew two points ahead of the Leafs in the battle between the two clubs for the runner-up spot.

The victory gave the Habitants a commanding position to keep that second spot in the final standing as each team has two games to play this week-end to finish up their schedules. The second-place team tangles with the fourth-place New York Rangers in the playoffs while the third-place club meets the league-leading Detroit Red Wings.

The Wings, meanwhile, rapped in eight goals in the last two periods to take a high-scoring 8-7 victory from the Rangers at Detroit. In the other game of the night the fifth-place Boston Bruins whipped the cellar-dwelling Black Hawks of Chicago 7-5 at Boston. Both clubs are out of the money series.

Besides getting the winning marker, Dussault also earned himself $100 on the goal, Coach Dick Irvin had promised his players that the winning goal scorer would receive $100. Dussault said he'd give Maurice Richard and Bill Reay $25 each for assisting on the play. The players now can pick up an additional $150 if they wind up in second place instead of third.

The Detroit-Ranger game, which didn't mean anything to the standings, saw 13 players from both clubs share the scoring. George Gee and Leo Reise, both of Detroit, were the only players to score twice.

Witness Flight of Object, Like "Flying Saucer," at Delhi

On returning from a Hungarian party at Burford, five Hungarian-Canadians from Delhi, Ont., saw an object which they thought might have been a "flying saucer" hurtle through the sky. But because they thought their friends would think they "were crazy or had been drinking," they kept quiet for a week and a half about witnessing the strange sight. All five said they watched the eerie object, which was first thought to be an electric light on a pole in a farmer's yard, gradually gain altitude from close to the horizon. After observing it for 20 minutes, the object got smaller and smaller, and eventually disappeared in the distance "like a star." Witnessing the sight, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hertel are seen trying to draw a sketch comparing it with the moon, while daughter Margaret looks on.

Death Scene

Emanuel T. Woodard, 24, and James R. Hudson, 22, both sailors stationed at the Mare Island Navy Yard, were killed when Woodard's car crashed head-on into a tank truck on U. S. Highway 40, a mile South of Pinole, Calif. The car was shoved back down the highway by the truck approximately 250 feet.

Like Daughter, Like Mother

Mrs. Bell Leighty of Chanute, Kansas, is getting the "feel" of a rifle as she looks forward to a big game hunt in Africa. She is 73 years old, and mother of famed Osa Johnson, world-famous hunter and explorer, who will lead the first helicopter expedition into Africa in a few weeks. Mrs. Leighty, who always dreamed of such a trek when her daughter and her husband Martin were setting off on safari, will join Osa in June. After explorations in Africa, she plans a trip around the world. Mrs. Leighty's neighbors in Chanute are not surprised. They say that Mrs. Leighty acts like a woman of 35.—Central Press Canadian.

Monaveen Second National Favorite

LONDON, March 22 (AP)—The favored Freebooter tonight eased from 7 to 1 to 15 to 2 in the next-to-last betting callover for Saturday's Grand National Steeplechase classic at Aintree, near Liverpool.

Monaveen, owned by Princess Elizabeth and Queen Elizabeth, shortened from 100 to 8 to 100 to 9 to become a clear second favorite.

Last Monday, Monaveen was 100-8 along with Roimond and Cromwell, who held at that figure tonight.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

D S L D S M G I O M F L B V M L D M V B R A D

Streetcar Collision at Coast, Eight Injured

VANCOUVER, March 22 (CP)—Eight passengers were injured and 20 others were shaken up in a streetcar collision today on downtown Hastings Street.

A Westbound car crashed into the rear of a standing car waiting for a traffic light. Officials of the British Columbia Electric Railway said a brake failure was responsible.

Five of the injured were taken to hospital and the others were treated at the scene.

In hospital are:

Robert Whiessiel, 43, injured shoulder and arm.

Miss Bea Woodward, 17, lacerated lip.

Charles Donaldson, 49, Westbridge, B.C., back injuries.

Mrs. Martha Harris, 65, back and chest injuries.

Miss Lois Grey, 21, back injuries.

CAR LOADED

"I put on the brakes, and nothing happened," said motorman Joe Stewart. "Then we hit."

He escaped injury.

The rear section of the forward car was shattered, windows were broken and the exit doors wrenched out of position.

"People were thrown into the aisle," said W.T. Irvine, a passenger. "Many passengers were standing prior to getting off. The car was fairly well loaded."

Damage to the streetcars was estimated at more than $500.

Market Trends

TORONTO (CP)—Prices settled into a narrow rut on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Volume was about 940,000 shares.

Industrials steadied. The majority pushed higher but market leaders were among the losers. In the groupings, papers, steels and constructions were higher while liquors and refining oils sagged.

LONDON (Reuters)—Small support from the provinces today created a harder tone in domestic issues on the London Stock Exchange.

Textiles, breweries and tobaccos were better where changed and there were small improvements in the leaders of the miscellaneous group. The trading volume, however, remained insufficient to shake off the apathy and lethargy that besets most sections.

MONTREAL (CP)—Plus signs generally dominated the list near the final hour on the Montreal Stock Exchange and curb market today.

Changes were generally held to fractions, but a few issues moved more than a point.

NEW YORK (AP)—A steady buying drive today lifted the stock market to a 3½-year high.

Divers Bring Up Signs of Spanish Treasure Ship

TOBERMORY, Scottish Western Isles, March 22 (Reuters)—Royal Navy divers have brought up parts of the wreckage of a wooden ship during the first week of a search for a Spanish galleon treasure ship, reputed to have sunk here 362 years ago. The discoveries have increased hopes that the wreck may be uncovered on the seabed and its treasure salvaged.

Chinese Seek New Immigration Laws

OTTAWA, March 22 (CP)—The Federal Government today was asked to repeal the present Chinese Immigration Law and give Chinese the same immigration rights enjoyed by Europeans.

The request was made in a brief presented to Citizenship Minister Harris by a delegation representing the Committee for the repeal of the Chinese Immigration Law. The Committee is made up of groups on non-Chinese and Chinese residents throughout Canada.

Set April 17 for Freight Appeals

OTTAWA, March 21 (AP) — The Board of Transport Commissioners today set April 17 as the opening date for hearing of an appeal by the railways for a greater freight-rate increase than the Board awarded them March 1.

The Board tentatively assigned two days for argument on the railways' claims that the Commissioners made a legal error in the March 1 award by failing to grant an increase large enough to cover a "deficiency" in rail revenues which they had estabilshed.

The increase amounted to 16 per cent over rates in effect in 1948, when the railway's aplication was filed.

The railways seek another 3.4 per cent over this amount.

Wheat and rice crops in Pakistan cover over 36,000,000 acres.
