Britain May Rely on Canada for Arms, Oil

Shinwell Says England Interested In Aircraft, Small Arms and Warships; See More N.A.T.O. Orders

BY HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Sept 20 (CP) — Britain has her eye cocked on Canada's expanding arms factories to help bolster her defence forces and on Alberta oil to replace oil losses in Iran.

Two British Cabinet ministers disclosed this today in a N.A.T.O. press conference in Canada's House of Commons. Other informants amplified that under N.A.T.O. planning, Canada may soon be supplying certain types of arms not only to Britain but to all other European members of the North Atlantic alliance as well.

First solid indication that any European country war seriously considering placing extensive arms orders in Canada came from Emanuel Shinwell, Britain's stocky defence minister.

Britain, he said, is interested in placing orders here for aircraft, small arms and warships.

So far, Britain's arms orders in Canada have been negligible. A small, secret order has come in for pickrite, powerful ammunition propellant, but outside of this, her main concern has been in picking up sufficient scarce raw materials from this country to develop her own armament industry.

The concept of Canadian arms production under N.A.T.O. planning is shaping up this way: Canada will produce a restricted number of items, including air frames and electronics, on a large scale and become an alternate arsenal to the U.S. for the production of certain other items. This would entail construction of small, initial capacity which could be rapidly expanded.

The idea behind this concept is that should segments of U.S. production be knocked out in another war, the fighting forces will still be able to get some of the equipment from Canadian armament plants.

The subject of Britain's dwindling oil supplies and the possibility of getting oil from Canada was injected briefly into the conference when a reporter asked Herbert Morrison, Britain's foreign minister, whether Britain would complete an oil deal with Romania if she was forced out of Iran.

Mr. Morrison replied tersely that Britain was still in Iran. However, Hugh Gaitskell, Chancellor of the British Exchequer, said that Britain was interested in investing in Alberta's huge oil development. The extent of that investment, however, would depend on Britain's supply of dollars.

Grand Forks Fire Victims To Be Aided

GRAND FORKS, B.C., Sept. 20 —A benefit collection is being organized here to aid Mr. and Mrs. Emil Fisterling, who lost their two sons and their possessions when fire destroyed their home earlier this week.

Organizers have asked that contributions be mailed to The Fisterling Fund, care of Bill's Dry Goods, Grand Forks.

Two youngsters aged eight and 11 died in the early morning blaze.

He Was Cold

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Sept. 20 (CP) — A boarding house tenant here is looking for new lodgings.

Because he was cold, he smuggled in an electric heater to warm his suite.

It was against the rules to have a heater so he hid it in the bottom of a dresser.

He forgot one thing — to turn it off when he left the room.

When firemen arrived they found the room a shambles.

B. C. MAY DROP MILK CONTROLS

VANCOUVER, Sept. 20 (CP)— Possibility that the British Columbia Government may drop all controls on the milk industry loomed today.

Several Government members were quoted as saying that they believe it would be better to drop controls, let nature take its course, and allow the law of supply and demand to take over.

"Obviously, the public is not with us," said one spokesman. "We are having recurring trouble with people in the milk industry. We get no thanks from either side."

Europe Watches Russ Iran Envoy

TEHRAN, Sept. 20 (AP) — Russia's ambassador to Iran is leaving by plane Saturday for talks in Moscow, a government spokesman said today.

Speculation stirred here immediately on what move Iran's Northern neighbor is planning in the oil crisis that has brought Iranian politics to a crucial stage.

The ambassador, Ivan Sadchikov, is dean of diplomatic corps. He visited foreign minister Bagher Kazemi Wednesday and plans to see Premier Mohammed Mossadegh today, the spokesman said.

Iran's small Communist party, the Tudeh, has been lying low in the oil dispute. It has supported oil nationalization and its up-setting effect on Iran's shaky economy, but it has also accused Mossadegh of being too moderate in his attitude toward the British.

Ike to Attend Next NATO Sessions

OTTAWA, Sept. 21 (CP) — Gen. Eisenhower will be invited to the next meeting of the North Atlantic Council, it was officially disclosed today.

The leader of the integrated force in Europe expressed the opinion that he would prefer not to come to the Ottawa meetings ending today since they were largely non-military.

COAST MAN SLIPS OFF ROOF INTO INLET

VANCOUVER, Sept. 20 (CP) — Henry Denno, 62, plunged to his death today from the roof of a shed on the waterfront.

He and a companion, who were going to re-roof the shed, had just stepped from a ladder when Denno slipped and fell 18 feet to a dock from where the body dropped head first into Burrard Inlet.

Denno was employed by Evans, Coleman and Evans, Ltd.

Turkey, Greece Admitted by Last N.A.T.O. Session; to Meet in Rome

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Sept. 20 (CP)—The North Atlantic Council shrugged off Russia's "empty words about peace" today and took steps to make its anti-Communist alliance bigger and broader.

The 12-nation coalition, concluding the Ottawa meetings, voted to admit Greece and Turkey, and pledged member states to a new era of cooperation in such non-military fields as economics, finance, foreign policy and even culture.

Vast problems still faced the 32 Cabinet ministers who met here—notably how to reconcile further rearmament with economies already strained and hampered by inflation.

But the delegates left here proclaiming their "growing strength and confidence" and agreed to meet in Rome in late November to map new military plans that will include some form of participation by West Germany.

Their last act was to turn over to Canada's External Affairs Minister Pearson the chairmanship of the Council for the next year.

United States State Secretary Dean Acheson, probably the dominant figure, told a Press conference later "We are very happy about this meeting . . . it showed that the organization is strong and virile and that it is moving ahead."

As delegates started leaving Ottawa and strong security arrangements eased in the Parliament Buildings, the meeting scene was still shadowed by the big issue of how to pay for more rearmament when every one of the 12 nations thinks it already is doing about all it can.

New Cancer Aid Units for Nakusp, Castlegar; Nelson Aids Six Patients

Organization of new branches of the Canadian Cancer Society at Nakusp and Castlegar are in prospect.

Mrs. Thelma Dawson, field organizer for B.C., visited the district last week, it was reported Thursday night at the Nelson branch meeting, and did preliminary work for the organization of the district branches.

Organization of the two units will raise the total to 65 in B.C. The Society has grown from 35 to 65 branches since January 1, and embraces 1400 volunteer workers in B.C.

It was decided at the Nelson meeting that H. Lupton, president of the branch, would attend the semi-annual provincial meeting of the B.C. division in Vancouver October 1.

Mr. Lupton gave a report on local activity. The educational program had seen the placing of three different books, "Cancer Source Book for Nurses" at Kootenay Lake General Hospital, "Manual for High School Teachers" at the schools, and "Youth Looks at Cancer."

The Nelson branch had assisted six cancer sufferers this year, providing for care and transportation to the cancer clinic at Vancouver.

"This 1951 has seen the most successful Conquer Cancer drive in B.C." saiw Mr. Lupton. Audit to August showed donations totalled $177,684.

MISSION SHIP BREAKS DOWN

QUEBEC, Sept. 20 (CP) — The mission ship Regina Polaris, operated by the Oblate Fathers, developed propeller trouble on its annual tour of sub-Arctic missions and is being towed back to Quebec by the government ice-breaker C. D. Howe.

Students Strike

KAMLOOPS, B.C., Sept. 20 (CP) — A sit-down strike by pupils of Monte Lake School is underway because of a Kamloops School Board order that Grades Seven and Eight attend Westwold School, seven miles away from their community.

C.C.L. BACKS WAGE DRIVE

VANCOUVER, Sept. 20 (CP) — The Canadian Congress of Labor today lent its support to a national wage drive by C.C.L. unions for "substantial" wage increases.

The annual convention of the 350,000-member Congress urged its affiliates to go after wage hoists to try to offset "unwarranted and unnecessary price rises and maintain their standard of living."

It also decided to set up regional wage co-ordination committees to work in conjunction with unions and a national wage co-ordinating committee of the Congress in getting higher pay for members of affiliated unions.

Before adopting the wage-drive resolution, the convention heard George Burt of Windsor, Canadian head of the United Automobile Workers of America, say his 60,000-member union will be going after a guaranteed annual wage in its negotiations with automobile companies.

Czechs Protest Detention

LONDON, Sept. 20 (Reuters) — Czechoslovakia today protested to the United States Embassy in Prague against the "unlawful detention" of 27 Czechs who escaped across the Czech border in a train Sept. 11 to seek political asylum in West Germany.

The protest was reported by Prague radio, heard in London.

Seizure of the train was organized by the engineer and his fireman. Instead of taking their passengers along the scheduled route, they threw a track switch near the border and roared into the U.S. zone of Germany at 60 miles an hour.

Only their families and friends were in on the secret and 86 Czechs taken across the border against their will were returned by the U.S. authorities.

C.C.L. KEEPS CLEAN-UP POWER

Left-Wingers Call For Fewer Executive Rights

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER, Sept. 20 (CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor, which has been wiping up its Red element for several years, today voted to continue its executive committee's power to expel Communist-dominated unions.

A sharp scrap over the issue at today's annual convention of the 350,000-member Congress saw left-wingers take a beating of about 20 to one—another in the series of drubbings they have been absorbing since the convention opened Monday.

The fight developed over a proposal of Toronto local 539 of the United Automobile Workers to give the executive authority only to suspend, rather than expel, Red-run unions.

The expulsion power has been on the books for a year, and it was used for the first time last Spring by the executive to throw out the 5000-member International Union of Fur and Leather Workers, last major Red group in the Congress. The convention this week upheld the expulsion.

Today's debate produced another of the right-left splits that have divided the convention since it opened Monday.

Several left-wingers called for the watering-down of the executive's powers, while executive members demanded that they be retained as a weapon against Communism within the C.C.L.

"We are saying to Communist unions that they peddle their program under their own name and not under the name of the Canadian Congress of Labor," said Sam Baron of Hamilton, executive member.

"The Communist-dominated unions have no place in the free trade union movement," Baron added.

He promptly came under attack from Fred Collins, left-wing former member of the Fur-Leather Union who is a delegate now from the Shipyard Workers' General Federation of British Columbia.

Collins said Baron himself has been a victim of expulsion from his own union and now has the "audacity" to come before the Congress and advocate expulsion.

Trail Chamber Fights for Longer Border Hours

TRAIL, B. C., Sept. 20 — Trail Chamber of Commerce had been successful in lengthening hours from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Standard Time and were continuing to press for a 24-hour service at the Paterson border customs office, it was reported at the Thursday meeting.

Dr. C. A. H. Wright, President of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern B. C., stressed the need of a provincial chamber of commerce. The Canadian chamber was willing to supply secretary and use of offices for this purpose.

The Council of Associated Boards, active for the past three years, while doing a good job was not adequate to handle properly all matters of provincial concern, he said.

Fishermen's Bail Set at $10,000

DUNCAN, B. C., Sept. 20 (CP)— Bail of $10,000 each was set in police court today for each of three fishermen who appeared on charges arising from a running gunbattle at Cowichan Bay last Friday.

The three are William MacDonald, 38; George Hubert, 21; and Albert Tergum, 24. All pleaded guilty to charges of illegal fishing.

No plea was taken on charges of obstructing a police constable, obstructing and assaulting a Federal Fisheries officer, and unlawfully shooting at a vessel in the service of the Government of Canada.

Dr. Moffatt Heads Education Group

SASKATOON, Sept. 20 (CP) — Dr. H. P. Moffatt, Deputy Minister of Education for Nova Scotia, was named president of the Canadian Education Association today at the close of the 28th annual convention here. Retiring president is Dr. M. E. Lazerte, professor of education at the University of Alberta.

Dr. Moffatt said the "Canadian Education Association is the greatest single factor in the unification of education in Canada and as such it plays a great part in Canadian unity in general."

LESTER B. PEARSON

OTTAWA, Sept. 21 (CP)—Canada's External Affairs Minister Pearson today took over the chairmanship of the North Atlantic Council, supreme body of the alliance and will keep the job for a year.

He succeeds Belgium's Foreign Minister Paul Van Zeeland at the end of the Ottawa meeting. The chairmanship revolves alphabetically and Canada, among the 12 members, comes after Belgium.

One of Mr. Pearson's first big jobs will be to name a date for the first big meeting of the new close-the-gap committee in Paris.

The French capital has been selected as the working headquarters of the 12-nation group that will analyze Western defence requirements and resources and try to reconcile them. Mr. Pearson will name the date when he has the names of the 12 nominees before him.

U.N. PREPARES TALK CONDITIONS

Likely to Ask Constant Air Guard Over Kaesong

By TOM BRADSHAW

TOKYO, Sept. 21 (Friday) (AP) —The United Nations command today rushed into final form the conditions under which the Allies will consider resumption of the suspended Korean truce talks at Kaesong.

The conditions were not announced but probably will call for joint Allied-Communist ground patrols of the five-mile neutral zone around Kaesong and a constant U. N. air patrol by daylight over the area.

The Communist High Command Thursday proposed that the negotiations they suspended Aug. 23 be "resumed immediately."

A source close to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway indicated that the Supreme Allied Commander probably will give his conditional reply within 48 hours.

Communist broadcasts indicated eagerness to resume the negotiations but under the same conditions as existed before the 29-day old rupture.

One Peiping broadcast said: "The talks can be resumed as soon as Ridgway tells his liaison officer to meet the liaison officer of this side to fix the time.

"If the Americans accept realities then an honorable armistice can be reached in a very short time."

New Trial for Harold Ryan

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 20 (CP) — Convicted murderer Harold Ryan yesterday was granted a new trial on the grounds that the jury was at times "in a position" to be influenced by the public.

Ryan had been scheduled to be hanged Dec. 2 for the slaying of his common-law wife, Lorraine Rait, at Port Simpson, B.C., last December. The crown said she had been beaten and thrown overboard from Ryan's fishing boat.

Ryan's counsel, T. W Brown of Prince Rupert, based his appeal on the point of law governing the restrictions placed on a jury during a trial. He produced affidavits from nine members of the jury which said that at times they had telephoned their families and had attended a movie.

In granting the re-trial, Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran of the British Columbia Appeal Board said he felt "conduct of the jury had been such as to place them in a position, or to give them the opportunity to be influenced in their judgment."

"Man-Caused" Fire Destroys 20,000 Acres

Town Burning as 1120 Residents Evacuate; Blaze Leaps River, Crosses Barriers; Water, Pumps Limited

FORKS, Wash., Sept. 20 (AP) — A "man-caused" fire which leaped from the Olympic National Forest in the early morning hours raced 18 miles tonight into the little logging town of Forks.

The State Patrol reported the fire reached the town after evacuation was under way for the 1,120 residents.

"The town is now burning" was the word. There were no reports of casualties.

In the path of the flames were a new 16-bed hospital, a new grade school, a new church, two hotels, a new hotel, and many new homes, and a huge logging garage.

Millions of dollars in logging equipment was threatened. "Everything that will roll" was being evacuated.

At Port Angeles, some 50 miles east of here, the Coast Guard air station provided food and quarters for evacuees. The Coast Guard instituted an airlift for expectant mothers in the Forks area. The seaplanes used the mouth of the Quillayute River for landing and taking off.

The Forest Service notified headquarters that the fire was "man-caused" and had burned over more than 20,000 acres.

Authorities ordered evacuation of Forks after concluding further defence was hopeless.

Half of the residents, or more, had fled before the evacuation order was issued.

Evacuees streamed north and south from the town like a wartime scene. Hysterial women cried in the streets. Automobiles, horses, bicycles and pickup trucks formed a procession through the smoke. Those who could carry belongings with them took what they could. They fled along the highway to the north toward Port Angeles and to the south towards Grays Harbor.

Forks is between the Olympic National Park and the Pacific Ocean, about a dozen miles from the sea. It is on the famed scenic Olympic Loop highway.

The worst fire in many years in this timbered region started about 18 miles northeast of the town at 3 a.m. Less than 12 hours later the first partial evacuation order came.

The fire raced from treetop to treetop, unstopable. It leaped the 60-foot wide Calawah River as though it were a creek.

DEFENCE HOPELESS

The complete evacuation order came after one or more farms on the outskirts had burned and the flames were being carried by flying embers to houses on the edge of the town.

Defence of the town appeared hopeless because of limited water and pumping equipment.

Ambulances took a dozen patients from the town hospital to Port Angeles, 50 miles away.

NO SUN

Loudspeaker-equipped cars warned people to leave. School buses and logging trucks were held ready for persons without cars of their own.

Darkness was everywhere. There was no sun all day as ashes rained down during the fire's relentless, awesome march. Lights burned in buildings and on cars all day.

By evacuation time, the fire was so close that an ominous red showed menacingly through the choking smoke.

One volunteer fire fighter, Reed Shearer, said the updrafts from the wind and heat were so violent he could not keep a tin hat on close to the blaze.

Two dozen bulldozers dug vainly around the town in an attempt to stop the fire. The wind carried embers over them and set fires behind.

How much area the fire covered was unknown. It spread too fast for figuring but one Forest Service estimate was more than 20,000 acres. Its cause was not known immediately.

The fire struck so suddenly and spread so rapidly that many loggers barely got out of the hills ahead of it.

Two Forest Service men had to dash through fringes of the fire to escape. They were Dick Woodcock and James Hannah. They were far back in the hills on a creek when the flames nearly trapped them.

Loss in the fire was heavy, even without considering the town.

The Rayonier Company had an estimated $250,000 worth of logging equipment in the path of the flames. There was no chance to save any of it. A new $35,000 bridge which the firm had just built was consumed.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 20 (AP).—Two grass and brush fires near orchards, eight miles northeast of here, destroyed three homes and a dozen outbuildings and threatened a school before they were controlled today.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 20 (CP). — Fires raging through forests left tinder dry by return of summer drought conditions on the British Columbia coast and in the United States Pacific Northwest, still threaten towns in both areas.

Residents of Nanaimo district on Vancouver Island, and of Squamish, at the head of Howe Sound, are watching wind conditions anxiously. A change in wind could move the fires into settled areas.

The blaze at Squamish, 30 miles north of Vancouver, forced evacuation of three homes last night and today had moved closer to the town. The high winds died down however, and the threat appeared to be averted for the present.

Grand Forks Fire Accidental

R.C.M.P. revealed today, that no trace of incendiarism has been found in the Grand Forks fire which claimed the lives of two boys.

Wally Verigen, 11, and Jack Fasterling, 9, died in a fire which completely destroyed their home early Tuesday morning.

A report, following an inquiry by Dr. E. E. Tomashewsky, Grand Forks coroner, read: "The two boys met death by asphyxiation as a result of conflagration at their home. There is no sign to indicate foul play or suspicious action subsequent to completion of investigation."

Police had investigated the possibility the fire was incendiary.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20 (AP) — If the California Bar Association has its way a man will be able to put up a good personal appearance even if he is behind in his rent.

A recent Bar Association conference introduced legislation that would prevent landlords seeking payment of back rent from seizing false teeth, toupees, wooden legs, crutches or other artificial parts of the body.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20 (AP) — Anne Ferguson, Eastern Air Lines employee, was taking care of a customer making reservations for a flight to Mexico City.

The passenger explained she had a friend in Houston, Tex.

"Am I entitled to a hangover in Houston?" she asked.

Replied Miss Ferguson diplomatically: "That's entirely up to the passenger."

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP) — Take it from Angelo Carfara, you build a better mouse trap these days and all it brings to your door are cops.

He was arrested on a numbers charge yesterday because, police said, car after car paused at his parked sedan while the drivers passed bet slips to him.

But when the cops closed in, they said, all they found at first on the 40-yearold Carfara were a handful of betting slips. But they said they finally uncovered 583 hidden slips.

You had to press a button under the sedan's dashboard to release a lock.

Then you had to start the car and turn on the heater.

The heater relayed power through a wire to a small motor beneath the front seat.

The motor raised the top half of the seat next to the driver.

The seat was split in two and hollowed out into a chamber for hiding betting slips, the officers said.

Police admired Carfara's ingenuity, but took him to jail just the same.

Order's Projects in 100th Year Told by Rebekah Leader at Banquet

Queen City Rebekah Lodge No. 16 at a banquet Thursday evening, honored Mrs. K. Haner of Vernon, assembly president here on her official visit while touring the Kootenays.

Following the dinner, Mrs. E. Tickner, Noble Grand for Queen City Lodge, introduced W. S. Fisher, D.D.G.M., who gave the welcoming address and in turn presented Mrs. Haner who extended her thanks for the banquet.

Love, Grand Master of the I.O.O.F., who had requested pie with his banquet, on his official visit to their Lodge. The pie prepared for him was 26 inches by 56 inches, enough to serve 144 persons. It was inscribed "F. Love T."—meaning friendship, love and truth—the motto of the order. Mr. Love was here on official visit Aug. 3.

Mrs. J. E. Papworth, D.D. President of Kaslo District, gave a short address followed by a lodge meeting.

The assembly president, Mrs. Haner, was accompanied into the Lodge room for the specially-called meeting, by Mrs. E. Sinclaire, Vice Grand; Mrs. J. Wood, P.N.G.; Mrs. A. R. Peters, P.N.G.; Mrs. J. H. TELLS OF PROJECTS

Mrs. Haner chose the topic of "Rebekah Oddfellowship," for her speech, touching on the many work-projects of the Order.

The Rebekahs, all over North America on Sept. 20, celebrated their 100th anniversary, she reminded members in opening her address. The Lodge, founded in 1851, by Schuyler Colfax, 17 years after the Odd Fellows, started with only a handful in B. C. Today they were 7000 strong with 70 lodges and three Theta Rho Girls' Clubs, a junior branch of the Lodge.

TO SLOCAN

Mrs. Haner will be in Slocan City Friday for a special meeting at which she will give a talk on "Our Opportunities" and in Kaslo Monday to attend church services with Kaslo Lodge. She will continue on to Golden, Revelstoke, and the Coast. She has been on tour since June 15 and came to the Kootenays Sept. 4.

First Diesel Power For Kootenay Division

First diesel unit for the C.P.R.'s Kootenay division is on its way, a Nelson railway official announced Thursday.

The oil-burner left the Montreal shops Sept. 17 and is "working its way" West, he said, probably arriving in Nelson within a few days.

The locomotive will be assigned to the Nelson-Hope freight run for a two-month trial before being placed on passenger service.

The change will mean faster freight service and lower long-run operating costs for the division.

Trail Prepares Defence Plans, Chamber Advised

TRAIL, B.C., Sept. 20 — A. V. Marcolin, civil defence coordinator for the district, outlined proposed plans in the event of an emergency to the Trail Chamber of Commerce Thursday night.

Since Trail was designated a target area in the Spring an organization was being set up in case of attack. The preparation brought up the question of how the attack might come. In all likelihood it would seem that aerial bombardment would be the method, but the problem of internal sabotage must also be considered, stated the defence coordinator.

NERVE GAS

"Internal trouble is the problem of the R.C.M.P.," he said, "and external attack the job of the armed forces. We cannot call too strongly on these in case of trouble."

He explained that an atomic bomb dropped would kill nearly everyone for a distance of 200 feet and cause serious destruction within the diameter of 12,000 feet. Even more terrifying than the atomic bomb was nerve gas.

"In the event of attack by a bomb some organization has to step in to restore order," stated Mr. Marcolin. "That is the job of the civil defence organization."

Planes are under way to take care of any emergency that may arise under the direction of a control board and the coordinator. Under this direction will come, the Fire Department to fight fire and assist in life saving, a Police Department to maintain order and handle traffic. Warning signals are to be supplied by the government. Rescue unit will take care of the removal of trapped victims collection, disposal of the dead and render first aid and provide ambulances. Other groups would handle welfare of refugees and homeless, emergency cooking, billeting and information to relatives, etc., health service and running of emergency hospitals.

Out of 6000 probable casualties if hit by a bomb, 3500 would have to go out Fruitvale road. Care would be arranged for them.

Engineering units would handle restoration of services water communication, clearing of roads, maintaining bridges and decontamination.

'School children are to be trained to go to shelters" said Mr. Marcolin.

He pointed out that because 70,000 people were killed by an A bomb in Hiroshima, it did not mean that 15,000 could be killed in Trail. "But we must be prepared."

Aurelio and Mrs. Johnson First Joymaker Winners

D. Aurelio and Mrs. H. Johnson took first prize in partner whist Thursday night with 10 tables in play as the Joymakers Club launched its 1951-52 series.

Second honors went to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hipperson, with Mr. and Mrs. Stan Piotrofski taking third. Master of ceremonies was A. H. Smith.

Refreshments were served, followed by a dance.

Smokers Worst Fire Menace, Trail Told

TRAIL, B. C., Sept. 20 — Fire Chief R. W. Ronald, before Trail Chamber of Commerce, gave a short talk on the causes of fire.

Careless smoking caused most fires, he said Thursday night. Other causes of fire were paper placed over smoke pipe holes, 30 amp fuses in 15 amp circuits.

In one case, he recalled, an iron left unattended burned through ironing board, through floor and sub floor. Paint and oily rags left around, cleaning cloths with gasoline, grease boiling over, also were common fire causes.

SATURDAY LAST DAY OF SUMMER

Long before fall marked its birth
Snow did fly o'er all the earth.
Leaves turned yellow, red and brown,
And the cool breeze tore them down.

The poet apparently does not live in Nelson. Clear skies, warm sunshine and swimmers still at Lakeside Park are signs that Summer weather is going to stay a little longer than scheduled, although, according to the charts, Saturday is the last day of Summer and Fall begin at 1:38 p.m. Sunday.

Social Credit Group Formed At Ymir

YMIR, B.C., Sept. 20.—A Social Credit Association was formed here Wednesday at a meeting of B.C. organizer Peer V. Paynter and about 25 interested persons.

G. Shaurette was elected president of the newly-formed group, while A. William becomes vice-president. Secretary-treasurer is R. Classon.

Mr. Paynter, currently touring the Southern Interior on an organizing tour, spoke on the present Canadian banking system.

He compared the present system of creating and destroying money "without connection with the needs of the public" and the Social Credit system which "creates money according to the amount of consumer goods on the market."

Mr. Paynter also compared the Alberta hospitalization scheme with B.C.H.I.S., contrasting the family cost of $12.50 down to $7.30 per year in Alberta to the $42 per year here. Albertans paid an additional $1 a day for actual hospital time but this usually amounted to less than B.C.H.I.S. co-insurance charges, he suggested. The Alberta scheme was optional as well, he added.

Mr. Paynter will speak in Nelson Monday night, together with national leader Solon Low, M.P.

Conveyer Fire Closes Sawmill

A conveyer fire has closed Glacier Lumber Company's sawmill at Nelson for two or three weeks.

About one-half of the crew has been laid off, and the remainder is being employed elsewhere in the Company's operations, while a new conveyer is being constructed.

A spark from a welding torch ignited the wood conveyer which carries refuse from the sawmill to burner.

Completion of the firm's new sawmill has been delayed owing to various factors including late machinery deliveries. It will be finished around the end of the year, depending on the weather.

Catholics Set For Congress

Preparations for Confraternity of Christian Doctrine Congress, which opens Saturday night in Cathedral hall in Nelson, are going ahead. Rev. Father W. J. Harrison, rector, is in charge.

Pro-Rec Delayed Until October

Pro-Rec, scheduled to resume in mid-September, has been delayed until some time in October, Director Eddie Wares advises.

Wares said resignation of the Civic Centre Commission and administrative staff had stymied arrangements so far. Last year Pro-Rec activities were carried on in the badminton hall and no charges were made.

The director said he had been informed by the Commission at the end of last year's program that adult groups would be charged this season. If this is the case, a new hall would have to be found, he said.

Wares left Thursday on a scouting trip for the Nelson Senior Hockey Club and expects to be away at least 10 days.

Trailite Whips Nelson Fighter

TRAIL, B.C., Sept. 20 — Six hundred and fifty people, attending an exciting and varied program of boxing and wrestling at the Cominco Arena put on by the Silver City Boxing, Wrestling and Bardell Club, saw Frank Saunders, 156 pounds, of Trail, score a technical knockout over Billy Trembley of Nelson, 155 pounds. The end came early in the fifth round of the six round bout.

In the first and second rounds, the fighters danced warily around exchanging blows only once or twice. In the third round they began to mix it up a bit and in the fourth a few more blows were exchanged. At 1:52 in the fifth, the referee stopped the fight.

FAST ACTION

The five round semi-wind up between Jack Butula, 155 pounds, of Kimberley and Ike Bosse, 156 pounds, of Trail, was the big thrill of the evening for boxing fans.

Dead game and aggressive all the way, both fighters battled desperately until near the end of fifth, which ended in a TKO giving the decision to Jack Butula.

In the preliminary bouts, Rico Sammartino of Trail, 128 pounds, beat Larry Docherty of Trail, 126. In a three round bout James Dyball of Trail, 134, fought to a draw with Pio Mason of Trail, 126 pounds. A fast third preliminary was won by Steve Dzamka, Trail, 147, when he knocked Warren Langille, 147, of Trail to the canvas several times. All the rounds were of two minutes duration.

A blind fold boxing melee was declared a draw. Jack Bush, Larry Ford, Reno Merlo and Chuck MacKenzie drew laughs from the crowd as they pounded each other around the ring. At the same time they were continually poked by boxing gloves on sticks handled by attendants outside the square.

CHALLENGE MAIN EVENTS

After a ten-minute wrestling bout which ended in a draw against George Shanks, Leo Del Buchie challenged the winner of the main event to a match at the next card. In the main wrestling six-round bout, Victor St. Denis won two out of three falls in a real rough and tumble with Walt Koenders. Three exhibition bouts and a medley wrestling match rounded out the first half of the program.

Exhibition of self defence tactics was given by George Shanks and Roy Brooks, an exhibition of standing throws by Billy Simpson and Don Brooks, of ground wrestling by Elio Girardi and Maurice Van Ronderzelle.

The medley wrestling match elimination contest went to Billy Simpson against Don Brooks, Maurice Van Ronderzelle and Elio Girardi.

Show Brings Local Talent to Stage To Aid Kiltie Uniform Fund

"Going Places" is the title of a talent show being sponsored in Capitol Theatre by Kootenay Kiltie Pipe Band.

A performance was given Thursday night, and final show will go on tonight. Proceeds will boost the band's fund for uniforms.

About 30 youngsters, a group of teenagers and several adults participate in the sequence program which is under the direction of Miss Janice Gay of Portland, Ore. The youngsters provided a gay and happy note.

"Uncle Billy Watson", taken by J. Bruce, introduces each group of performers, and the role of Al Jolson in one group is played by Sam Korbin. Highlight is a performance by the Kootenay Kilties.

Costumes are colorful, particularly in a scene in which children act out the story of Cinderella.

Lieut.-Governor Makes History At Greenwood-Phoenix Ceremony

GREENWOOD, B.C., Sept. 20— For the first time in the history of the Boundary Country, Greenwood was honored by a visit from the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, Col. the Hon. C. Wallace, O.B.E.

Col. Wallace, accompanied by W. Manson, Vice-President, C.P.R. and Colonel R. L. Mitchell, A.D.C., arrived in Greenwood Sept. 16. His Worship, Mayor McArthur and members of the City Council, greeted the party at the station.

His Honor inspected the local Boy Scout Troop and the children of Sacred Heart School, who formed two lines from the station to the waiting cars.

The party then proceeded to the Greenwood Park, where a luncheon was served, under the management of Mrs. M. Holm.

Present were visitors from Grand Forks, R. W. Haggen, M.L.A., Mayor Stephenson, W. Euerby and J. Acres and the members of the Greenwood City Council.

Free coffee, pop and ice cream was served to the general crowd; this was greatly appreciated by the younger fry.

Following the luncheon, Mayor McArthur opened the program by welcoming His Honor to the Boundary Country and mentioned that it was the first time a Lieutenant-Governor had visited the district.

J. Dobbie then sang "The Maple Leaf Forever" in which the crowd joined.

Col. The Hon. C. Wallace, Lieutenant-Governor, of B.C., then spoke to the people, and thanked them for the hospitality extended to him. He also conveyed the sincere regrets of Mrs. Wallace who was unable to attend. He congratulated the Boy Scouts and their leaders for their fine work with the group and mentioned he had never seen a keener bunch of boys. He then announced a school holiday for Monday in honor of the occasion of his visit.

Following the address Mr. J. Dobbie sang "Land of Hope and Glory."

A scroll was then presented to His Honor, conveying the greetings of the school children, by Donna Puddy, of the Greenwood Elementary School, and Clara Marie Nishi, of Sacred Heart School. The scroll was read by Clara Marie Nishi.

After the program Col. Wallace visited the crowd and met a great number of people. Later the party left for the Legion ceremony at the Cenotaph, Phoenix, B.C. with various stops on the way to see the views of Greenwood and Phoenix.

The Memorial Service, at the Cenotaph, under the auspices of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., Greenwood Branch No. 155 and Grand Forks No. 59, was an inspiring experience. The veterans, lined up on parade, the Boy Scouts, and the red coats of the R.C.M.P. lent a colorful display to this moving service.

Rev. D. Green of Grand Forks, B.C., and Rev. A Crisp of Greenwood read the service. This was followed by a short address by the Lieutenant Governor.

Col. Wallace then laid a wreath at the foot of the Cenotaph which was presented by the Greenwood branch. President T. Wassholm of Grand Forks laid a wreath also.

The Last Post was sounded by W. E. Euerby of Grand Forks, followed by two minutes silence, and then "Reveille" was sounded. Benediction was pronounced by Rev. D. Green, followed by the Grand Forks Band, playing "God Save the King."

His Honor then inspected the veterans and from there proceeded to Grand Forks,

The Royal Edinburghs . . .

Deep Devotion Marks Married Life Of Royal Pair; Love Obvious to All

By MARGARET SAVILLE

When the Royal Edinburghs arrive in Canada it will be plain to everybody who sees them that this was a Royal love-match and that the same love still exists between them after their four years of marriage. Princess Elizabeth's soft smile is so often turned towards her husband, just as instinctively as his hand goes to her arm in protection when the crowd is pressing close. They laugh happily at their own little private jokes and "do you remember?" is frequently in their conversation. If they are separated for long, he always brings her flowers on his return and when he is absent on naval service, he sets apart 20 minutes each evening to either call up his wife on the telephone or write her an affectionate letter. He usually begins it "My Own Darling" while Princess Elizabeth signs herself simply "Your Elizabeth."

Her husband always calls her by her full name for Princess Elizabeth greatly dislikes all diminutives. It used to make her furious in her childhood when people referred to her as "Liz" or "Beth". (The only person who ever calls Princess Elizabeth Liz nowadays is Princess Margaret when she feels particularly mischievous and wants to rib her elder sister. Once she addressed Princess Elizabeth that way when they were both much younger and a few minutes later the Royal sisters had to be forcibly separated by their governess and sent to bed in dire disgrace. Similarly Princess Elizabeth always calls her husband "Philip" and insists that their son shall be "Charles". When she decided to christen her daughter Anne she remarked that it would be difficult for anybody to distort that!

QUIET GRACE

It is all in character with the natural dignity that is one of Princess Elizabeth's strongest qualities. She is neither stiff nor stern but she does appreciate that she is the Heiress to the Throne of Great Britain and realizes her responsibilities. She regards them seriously and very conscientiously, bearing her exalted position with quiet grace and expecting others to pay the same respect to the Crown that she does herself. On one informal occasion during the King's recent illness, a woman friend of long standing said to Princess Elizabeth: "By the way, how is your father now?" to receive a steady blue gaze and a cool answer of "Do you mean His Majesty the King?" Trained by Queen Mary herself in matters of etiquette and State procedure, Princess Elizabeth is never amused by any deviations from proper prestige although in other matters she has a cheerful sense of humor and her rich warm laugh rings out easily.

She has the truly regal qualities which belong to a Royal lady, not the least her punctuality and the careful way in which she personally reads every letter among the hundreds sent to her each week and approves the reply even though it will only be typed in the third person by one of the Clarence House secretaries. "I do so hate to say 'No'," she once remarked when explaining a crowded diary of public engagements, "There are such a lot of things I feel I simply must support." She gives regularly to many charities and without any publicity and takes great interest in all the members of her houshold staff. At Christmas she gives them each a personal present which she has chosen herself as something she thinks the individual will enjoy.

Once one of her Corgi terries was run over in the driveway by a Royal car. Princess Elizabeth grieved the loss of her pet but then it truck her that the chauffeur was robably feeling upset by the accident too so she sat down and wrote im a letter explaining that she new it had not been his fault so he was not to be worried.

METHODICAL

Her personal maid Miss Ruby Macdonald has been attending her for yeas, finding it an easy situation as well as a pleasant one since Princess Elizabeth was trained in her youth to be completely tidy and always is. Her dressing-table with its three mirrors is neat and uncluttered and her writing-desk is invariably in order, even when she leaves it after her usual morning of work on her correspondence. She is very methodical too, again resembling Queen Mary, and keeps several small books with addresses, anniversary dates and so on. It would make Princess Elizabeth sincerely sad if she failed to mark a friend's birthday correctly.

It is this innate sense of Royal duty that makes Princess Elizabeth pay such careful attention to her clothes for she is not naturally interested in fashion. Indeed her idea of a perfect vacation outfit would be a tweed skirt and sweater and flat-heeled shoes, fresh and neat but no more. Instead she studies styles as thoroughly as current affairs and in much the same spirit. She is paying particular thought to her outfits for the trip because she knows she is being regarded as a travelling ambassadress for British textiles and design, and it is Princess Elizabeth's habit to carry out her job well. She has chosen romantic exquisitely embroidered evening gowns in white and pale colors for the State occasions and suits and tailored two-piece ensembles cut from the finest new English, and Scottish tweeds and wollens, including deep sage-green and the soft primrose-yellow in which Prince Philip likes her so much. The Princess always asks her husband's advice before she gives her final orders. It is his views on dress that have made Princes Elizabeth more consciously elegant since her marriage. Her efforts have been encouraged by the compliments which he pays her frankly when he is pleased with some new outfit, though equally honest in the reverse case. His disapproval of one honeymoon suit—"It make you look bulky round the middle"—resulted in the Princess promptly taking it off and giving it away.

DEEPLY IN LOVE

Princess Elizabeth really tries to please her husband with her clothes, as in many other ways, because she is so deeply and devotedly in love with him. Everything he does is right in her adoring eyes. Once when his car was in collision with a taxi at Hyde Park Corner, Princess Elizabeth said: "But it couldn't have been his fault." The Princess herself learnt to drive when she was doing her wartime service as an officer-cadet with the Army. Having observed her at the wheel of one of his limousines, the King gave her a car as a 21st birthday present but since her marriage, she always lets Prince Philip drive though many people consider she has much the better sense of road judgment.

Homemakers interested in providing interesting and colorful bouquets for their homes throughout the Winter will do well to begin planning now for these decorative touches. With a little advance programming, you can catch Fall blooms in the peak of their beauty and dry them for use during the cold months.

Housewives Must Fight Inflation

OTTAWA, Sept. 20 CP) — Mrs. R. J. Marshall, President of the National Council of Women of Canada, called on Canadian mothers and housewives today to launch a "thrift campaign" to beat "Canada's No. 1 enemy" — inflation.

A delegate to the annual meeting of the Canadian Association of Consumer's Board of Directors, Mrs. Marshall said some women may not be able to save much — perhaps not more than five or 10 cents a day; others may be able to trim $5 a week from their spending.

"Let each of us examine our own conscience and set our own objective," she said in a speech prepared for delivery before the Association. "By a concerted effort, Canadian housewives may be able to save as much as hundreds of millions of dollars."

PLEADS GUILTY

VANCOUVER, Sept. 20 (CP). — Louis Philippe Masson, Montreal, today pleaded guilty in police court to looting seven Vancouver homes of more than $20,000 worth of goods in six weeks of housebreakings.

He was remanded for sentence.

Largest haul was from Abraham Rothstein's home, when $15,000 worth of jewelry, bonds and clothing was taken.

"Whose Chips, Mr. Alsbury?"

In a recent radio broadcast Stewart Alsbury, President of the I.W.A., said: "Negotiations between the I.W.A. and the representatives of the Interior Lumber Operators have now reached a point where a fight seems to be called for, and let the chips fall where they may."

Some union officials seem more interested in creating "fights" between employers and their employees than they are in improving conditions and helping the industry grow. The status of negotiations at the moment is this: The Labor Relations Boards has appointed conciliation boards to deal with the different situations in the North and South lumber industries. Both the union and the operators are represented on these boards. Everyone gets a fair chance to present his case and argue for it.

The whole purpose of conciliation boards is to bring two sides together — not to widen the rift and start "fights."

The Union's claims that the operators went back on a deal they had made are entirely FALSE and designed to mislead woodworkers in this area. No deal has been made — no agreement signed. The operators' representatives had agreed to RECOMMEND to the operators a certain proposal. There was no guarantee the operators would accept it. In fact, as it turned out, they rejected it.

The operators' representatives were in exactly the same position union officials are in when they make a certain recommendation to you, the members, for you to accept or reject as you please.

We have no quarrel with Mr. Alsbury, and no quarrel with our employees. We DID make wage increase offer of twenty cents an hour, which you may or may not have had a chance to vote on. We are now in conciliation, and we feel that talk of "fights" and "letting the chips fall where they may" contributes nothing but ill will to a situation which required good will and mutual trust.

Remember, those are YOUR chips he was talking about.

Cows can't use crutches

We've heard from Denmark that a cow over there had to have its leg amputated, but gets along quite nicely now on a new one made of aluminum.

Whether or not this artificial leg was made of Canadian aluminum, we wouldn't know. Perhaps it was, because we do produce one quarter of the world's supply. That's quite a big thing for Canada. It means jobs for Canadians, and money from abroad to pay for Canadian imports. Right now we are hard at work on extension projects in Quebec and British Columbia; for we intend to go on playing our part in helping Canada grow. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Audrey Andrew Married at Coast

Nelson interest attaches to the wedding in St. Andrew's Wesley chapel in Vancouver of Mrs. Audrey Eileen Andrew and Robert Wilfred Huestis. Rev. J. A. Donnell performed the ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Emery of Calgary, and a graduate of University of Toronto, is well known in Nelson. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred W. Huestis of Winnipeg and a graduate of University of B. C., where he is affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega.

The bride wore a full-skirted ballerina gown with a redingote of periwinkle blue Chantilly lace over strapless faille taffeta in pomegranate red. Her headdress was of matching Chantilly lace and she carried an all-white bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

Miss Doris Fowler, maid of honor, wore a two-piece dress of faille taffeta in pomegranate red, with a full ballerina skirt, and waist-length jacket. Her flowers were Talisman roses and pale green gladioli.

Best man was Mr. Norman J. Severide and usher Mr. Norval H. Brown.

MAYOR ATTENDS

Reception was held at the Faculty Club at U.B.C. where Mr. N. C. Stibbs, Mayor of Nelson, proposed the toast to the bride.

For the wedding trip to San Francisco, the bride wore a faille taffeta suite of pomegranate red, with a navy bengaline duster coat, navy blue accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Among out-of-town guests were Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Donnell and Mrs. J. Meggs of Chemainus, Dr. Margaret Donnell of Toronto, Mayor and Mrs. Stibbs of Nelson and Mrs. Raymond Newcomb, also of Nelson.

Welcome Newcomers, W.I. Official Says

DEER PARK, B. C., Sept. 20 — Women's Institutes should make newcomers welcome to their communities, Mrs. Stella Gummow of Victoria, superintendent of B. C. Women's Institutes, said here.

Mrs. Gummow, along with Mrs. Mona East of Keremeos, provincial president, and L. W. Johnson of Victoria, superintendent of Farmers' Institutes in B. C., were guests of Deer Park Women's Institute and Farmers' Institute at a joint meeting.

Mrs. Gummow spoke on the work of W.I.s in B. C., and expressed the hope that a Doukhobor W. I. established recently at Hilliers would be the start of new and harmonious relations.

An interesting talk on W.I. aims particularly on national and international levels, was given by Mrs. East. A delegate to Associated Country Women of the World conference in Copenhagen, Denmark in 1950 and Federated Board meeting in St. Anne de Bellevue, Que., in the Spring, she hoped that 6,000,000 affiliated women would use their tremendous powers to prevent another war.

She said she was pleased Newfoundland women had affiliated, and added that the acquisition of the tenth province was not a one-sided deal as Newfoundland brought natural and human resources.

Mr. Johnson, in dealing with problems of farmers, stressed the necessity of cooperation among agricultural producers. He said farmers were vitally concerned with floor prices as well as ceiling prices.

Drives around the district were provided and a lunch was served by the W.I. The guests were further entertained by Mrs. Pat Romaine, Mrs. Roy Coleman and Mrs. Henry Coleman and Mrs. Fred Briggeman, president of the local Institute.

GRANNY HEADS STEELWORKERS

VANCOUVER, Sept. 20 (CP) — All steelworkers aren't husky fellows built along the lines of the legendary Paul Bunyan.

They met Mrs. Brida Gray of Toronto, a grandmother, and one of only three women presidents of Steelworkers locals on the entire continent.

Local 4010 is the bargaining agent for 150 workers at Coulter, Copper and Brass Co. Ltd., Toronto where Mrs. Gray helps assemble automobile parts. Since there are only 25 women among the members of her local, Mrs. Gray's election would seem a big vote of confidence from the men.

No More Delay or Mishandling in Fire Hall Emergency

What started as a disturbance in the Nelson Fire Department has developed into a crisis in this vital service. Largely this results from the same delay, lack of sound approach, and behind-the-door handling that has become the earmark of the present civic administration.

From out of a welter of charges and counter-argument, closed meetings and some public discussion has come the resignations of the remaining 10 men of the Department, and the Council's acceptance of them. It would seem reasonable that had the Department's problems been tackled earlier — the disturbance dates back to February, at least — and a greater frankness with the public been demonstrated, then the attitude of non-compromise that marked the latter days of the development and finally the drastic disbanding of the Department might have been avoided. It is likely that the undercover method in which the plan for a partial volunteer system to succeed the permanent staff setup was introduced was responsible in no small part to bringing to an unmanageable head the Department griefs.

What has gone before is now unpleasant history. What is of the moment is the question of Nelson's fire protection after the 30 days of service offered by the resigning firemen expires.

Are measures being studied without delay to assure that the city will have fire protection service next month? How far has the plan for a partial volunteer system been undertaken? What success, if any, is the effort to organize the volunteer setup meeting? What will be the new costs? Can the partial volunteer arrangement succeed without the nucleus of trained permanent staff members? These and the dozens of other questions brought about by sudden disruption of a vital service need answering immediately. The Nelson public is becoming tired of half-knowledge and lack of assurances in matters that affect the management of their affairs, their welfare and their safety.

The situation with which the city is confronted by the drastic Fire Hall development requires all the capabilities—not just those of any one or two men—that the Council can bring to bear. Nelson citizens want and demand the quickest possible sound correction of the situation.

More People, Fewer Homes

The housing problem at the end of 1951 will be worse than it is now. Canada will have almost 14,500,000 persons, 400,000 more than at the end of 1950. She will have 80,000 new houses, or one new house for every five new persons. Last year she had more new houses and a lower population increase. She had a new house for every 3.6 new persons.

Since World War II the natural population increase has been about double that of the thirties. In 1947 it reached a peak of 19.2 per thousand population. It is still over 15 per thousand. This year immigration will reach a postwar high of 160,000. Emigration is around the 25,000 mark, and is declining.

Employment up 8 per cent and payrolls up 16 per cent over 1950, points out the Financial Post, give many the wherewithal to buy.

Government restrictions have kept housing starts below that of last year. These controls are definitely anti-inflationary in saving materials and manpower. Their effects money- and credit-wise depend on the alternative uses to which the financial institutions and would-be buyers put their funds. If they end up in financing non-essential industrial expansion (difficult with materials control) they will be just as inflationary as if they were in housing.

Money and credit controls in the housing field will be up for criticism, and they should be one of the first sectors to be eased when the Government thinks the worst storm of inflation is over.

Why Labor Is Anti-Red

(Christian Science Monitor)

An eye opener on the techniques the Communist Party uses in labor organizations comes from the former secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Seamen's Union. His story illustrates the extremes to which the Reds will go in manipulating a labor union under their control.

The Canadian Seamen's Union was founded in 1936 in the Communist Party's national headquarters, its ex-officer, T. G. McManus, relates. A Party member for 19 years, he recently quit because he could not swallow its pro-Russian and anti-Canadian Party line in Korea. Though not a seaman by profession, he was assigned by the Party to this union, and two years later the Party made him its secretary-treasurer. Meantime he picked up a meagre experience in the business by a few months' work on the Montreal docks—scant training for so important a post.

The trade union director of the Communist Party, who was not a member of the Seamen's Union, regularly named its officers at a Party caucus the night before the election held by the union's annual convention. The delegates, though nearly four to one non-Communist, then automatically elected the Party slate.

Then in 1949 the President of the union returned from Great Britain enthusiastic for a strike, though the union had had one in each of the previous three years. The British Communist Party had sold him the idea of a Canadian strike for the purpose of promoting a strike on the waterfronts on Britain which might arouse the whole British trade union movement. Without consulting the executive body of his organization or asking a vote of its members, and over the objections of some of his own people, he called the strike. It failed, and ruined the union. This has since been expelled from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and from the International Transport Workers' Federation. Its membership has dropped from nearly 10,000 five years ago to 600, and from 300 ships to barely half a dozen.

Such experiences show not only how badly some workers have been duped, but why union labor in the United States and Canada has become one of the most alert and militant of the forces resisting Communism.

The Joneses

The Joneses are the people you try to keep up with. So did your parents. But in your parents' day the Joneses were simple people compared to what they are now. Modern invention has raised the standards of the Joneses and made keeping up with them a complicated problem.

The Joneses have a radio and phonograph with long-playing records combined. It isn't enough for the Joneses to have an electric refrigerator and washing machine. They have got a deep freeze, automatic ironer, electric drier and a dishwasher as well.

Modern invention and technological progress are great things. But how much more welcome they would be if each one did not increase the distance you will have to cover if you want to keep up with the Joneses.—Vancouver News Herald.

Views From the News Fronts

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

Senator Brien McMahon (Dem. Conn), in his speech advocating an expanding atomic weapons program plus a new United Nations effort to see that they would not be used, opened up several avenues of speculation about just how far the United States has gone in the new field.

Chief among them was his statement that there is virtually no limiting factor upon the number of atomic bombs which the United States can manufacture, given time and a decision to proceed all-out."

This raises the question, among others, of whether the uranium supply problem has bee nsolved. It is said that there is not enough uranium for general use of atomic power for present economic uses. So it seems reasonable that there is not enough for a prolonged war on a world-wide scale.

U.S. scientists are working on a sort of regenerative plant in which it may be possible to make an atom of uranium produce more than an atom of plutonium. If that proves up, then there will be truly no limiting factor on the production of explosives.

McMahon said armies might use fewer flame throwers and more radiological warfare. That suggests the lethal ray, a long-time dream. Whether it is becoming more than a dream only a few men could say. There is insra-red in uranium and plutonium explosions, and it is produced electronically.

CHEAPER

A-bombs at the cost of an ordinary tank, creating explosions at a far cheaper rate than with TNT; a revolution of military fire power substituting for large armed forces; a one-day aerial attack equal to the entire force spent against Germany in six years—these are some of the things McMahon says are available now.

He thinks if the U.S. goes all out in production of such power that it should mean peace, not war. That could be true if the edge can be maintained for a sufficient period of negotiation. But Russia, too, desires to negotiate from a "position of strength." She caught up on the original A-bomb, and will probably catch up on the rest.

The U.S. is in a period when she cannot live safely without arms. But arms races have never yet produced peace.

By JOHN RANDOLPH

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 21 (Friday) (AP) — The North Korean Communists, badly battered in the prolonged and savage battle of the Eastern hills, threw fresh units against weary United Nations infantry Thursday.

These reinforcements, some officers said, probably were responsible for Communist recapture of "Heart-Break Ridge" after three heavy counter-charges wore down the Allied defenders.

At least one fresh North Korean regiment (possibly 3000 men) moved into position to relieve Red formations that had been chewed up by the heavy allied infantry, artillery and air assaults.

Countering the enemy manpower with ultra-modern technique, the Allies made combat history Thursday by depositing a company of U.S. Marines on an Eastern peak via helicopter.

Twenty-one big helicopters delivered the men and their gear in four hours atop a height that would have taken two days to climb.

The location was not disclosed and the number of men was withheld by censorship. (Normally a company would be about 250 men.)

The first marines climbed down knotted ropes from the machines hovering eight feet above ground. They cleared a 25-foot-square area for the others to land. Reds on a nearby hill did not fire a shot.

Pacific Northwest To "Brownout"

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 20 (AP). —Orders for a Pacific Northwest "brownout" and a cutback of industrial electricity use will come around Oct. 1, public power system representatives were told today.

J. H. Gumz, region administrator for the Defence Electric Power Administration, said the orders will be necessary because of the mounting power shortage problem.

He said a further cutback will be ordered on aluminum operations. The October cutback and "brownout" orders will affect virtually all commercial users of power and about 2100 industrial firms.

Frick New Ball Commissioner

CHICAGO, Sept. 20 (AP) — Ford Frick, president of the National League, was named commissioner of baseball tonight to succeed A. B. Chandler.

He was chosen for the $65,000 a year post at a closed session of the 16 Major League culb owners at the Paumer House.

Frick ,who was prominently mentioned as a successor to Judge K. M. Landis in 1945, has long been identified with baseball, first as a newspaper man in the West and in New York City, and since 1934 as president of the National League. He is 56 years old.

Thus ended a search that began last Dec. 11 when the club owners refused to vote Chandler a new contract. Although his contract had until Next April 1 to run, Chandler bowed to pressure and resigned his post, effective last July 15.

Frick is the third baseball commissioner. The first was Judge Landis, appointed in 1921 following the Black Sox scandal. Landis died in 1944 and was succeeded the next year by Chandler, then a U.S. senator from Kentucky.

Announcement of the election of Frick was made by Earl Hilligan of the American League Service Bureau, standing on a chair outside the crystal room where the big league owners had been meeting since 11 A.M. EDT this morning.

FORD FRICK

UNANIMOUS CHOICE

"The term will be for seven years at an annual salary of $65,000," said the announcement.

"The final ballot was unanimous, 16 to 0. Mr. Warren Giles moved that his name be withdrawn and moved for a unanimous vote."

Frick and Giles were the only two candidates voted on during the long sessions. Approximately 20 ballots were taken in all.

The baseball owners decided at the outset of the day to choose a man from the ranks of the game to become the third commissioner of baseball.

"The vacancy in the National League presidency will be dealt with in the immediate future," said the announcement.

Frick, who had been in Florida for the funeral of Bill Klem, famous umpire, returned today to New York and accepted the baseball commissionership by telephone.

Del Webb of the New York Yankees, who acted as chairman of the executive session, said jokingly afterward, "it seems like 50 ballots were taken, but it might have been only 30."

Badminton Play Resumes Oct. 2

Nelson's badminton enthusiasts will swing back into action Oct. 2 when an organizational meeting and informal matches are scheduled.

The executive, headed by President Al Wilson, is looking forward to a big year. Last season the membership totalled 98 and an even larger club is anticipated this term.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP) — New York Yankees announced tonight they will accept orders for World Series tickets starting Saturday.

Yankees Cling to A.L. Lead; Giant Pennant Hopes Dim

Dodgers Need But 5 Wins in 10 Games To Cinch Flag

By The Associated Press

Joe Collins' three-run homer off Saul Rogovin in the eighth inning gave the New York Yankees a half-game lead over idle Cleveland Indians today in the tight American League race.

Brooklyn widened its National League margin to 4½ games by sinking St. Louis 4-3, while Cincinnati Reds knocked off the runnerup New York Giants 3-1.

Collins' blast provided the Yanks with a 5-4 edge over the Chicago White Sox on the eve of their important three-game series at Boston. The game-winning blow by the part-time first baseman may have been the most important hit of the season for Casey Stengel's gang.

It seemed the Yanks were about the drop out of first place under the spell of Rogovin's pitching. Between the second and seventh he retired 12 straight batters.

Phil Rizzuto opened the eighth with a single. Pinch hitter Johnny Mize flied out but Mickey Mantle walked. Then came Collins' homer about six rows deep into the lower right field seats.

The victory went to Bob Hogue, third of five Yank pitchers who worked only one and a third innings. Johnny Sain, the $50,000 buy from the Boston Braves, was knocked out in the first inning on three straight hits following two walks.

YANKS FACE BOSOX

Allie Reynolds will open the big series at Fenway Park against Leo Kiely while Cleveland will send Bobby Feller after Detroit's Ted Gray at Briggs Stadium today (Friday).

Brooklyn reduced the "magic number" to five by beating the Cards behind Carl Erskine. Any combination of five Dodgers wins or five Giants defeats would sew up the pennant for Flatbush. Brooklyn has 10 to play, the Giants only seven. They do not meet.

Gil Hodges' 39th homer in the sixth helped the Dodgers home but they needed a run in the ninth to offset a Card rally that produced a score in the last of the ninth. Cliff Chambers' six-game win streak was broken as Brooklyn made it 18 out of 22 from the Red Birds this season.

Cincinnati bunched four of its 12 hits in the eighth inning with an error and a pair of walks to chase Jim Hearn with a three-run blast.

Kenny Raffensberger, with ninth inning help from Ewell Blackwell, registered his 15th win. It was the Reds' fifth victory in 22 starts against the Giants.

In an American League night game at Washington, Satchell Paige struck out five in a three-inning relief job to give St. Louis Browns a 4-3 victory over Washington while winning his third decision. Paige fanned the last four batters, collaborating with Duane Pillette to hold the Senators to six hits.

Cliff Maples, with his eighth homer and three singles, led the Browns' 13-hit attack on Don Johnson, the loser, and Tom Ferrick.

World Series May Be Delayed by Pennant Playoff

CHICAGO, Sept. 20 (AP)—Possibility that the World Series may start a day later than the previously announced date of Wednesday, Oct. 3, was advanced today by President Will Harridge of the American League.

Harridge said that if a one-game title playoff is required in the red hot American scrap, or a postponed game must be made up, the Series will open Thursday, Oct. 4 in the American League champion city.

The regular season is scheduled to close Sunday, Sept. 30. A playoff might be held either Monday, Oct. 1, or Tuesday, Oct. 2, the same pertaining to playing off of a postponed game.

Previously, the Series was set to start Wednesday, Oct. 3, if Boston or New York won the American League pennant, or Thursday, if Cleveland won.

Paul Ronty Goes to Rangers In Deal for Kyle, Lund

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (CP) — New York Rangers today announced a hockey deal by which they acquired Paul Ronty, 23-year-old centre, from Boston Bruins in exchange for defenceman Gus Kyle and the rights to forward Pentti Lund. An undisclosed amount of cash was involved.

The Toronto-born Ronty played the full 70 games for Bruins last season and had a record of 18 goals and 13 assists, a big drop from his 59 points in the 1949-50 season. Rangers hope to use him on a line with rookie Wally Hergesheimer and Gaye Stewart.

Hergesheimer was obtained from Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League and Stewart from Detroit Red Wings.

Lund, born in Finland, was well down in the National Hockey League scoring list last season with only 20 points. He was traded to Cleveland during the Summer with Rangers retaining the right to call him back. This right now goes to Bruins.

Kyle, from Dysart, Sask., has been with Rangers two seasons. Last year he had two goals and three assists in 64 games.

In senior metals Noranda brightened the group with a net gain of 2½ points after rising three to 84½. Consolidated Smelters was down one to 174.

LONDON, (Reuters) — Announcement of the general election date caused prices to bound higher in active trading.

Gains of one to three shillings were registered by leading issues with buyers seizing on the hope that the proposed dividend limitation will soon be extinct.

All groups participated in the upswing but later reacted slightly on profit taking.

Hamil Raise At Objective Within Month

Reclamation of former underground workings and new development are proceeding on schedule at the property of the Hamil Silver-Lead Mines, Ltd., at Argenta. The main shaft has been rehabilitated to a depth of 78 feet with high grade ore being encountered as the work was being done. A raise being driven from the main haulage level to connect with the bottom of the shaft has been advanced 39 feet and is expected to reach its objective within a month.

Dismantling of the Velvet mill near Rossland is in progress and transportation of this plant will be made to the Hamil property within the next two months. The distance to Argenta at the North end of Kootenay Lake is about 120 miles.

The Hamil engineers have selected a mill site on the highway about one mile from the mine and a survey is now being made.

Extension of the main orebody on the Flora claim has been indicated by mechanical surface stripping now being conducted with the use of the company's TD 9 caterpillar tractor.

The new bunkhouse has been erected and a new compressor house, warehouse and garage are in the course of construction.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Offer Six to Four On Tory Victory

LONDON, Sept. 20 (AP).—British bookies today offered six to four on the Conservatives to win the national election Oct. 25.

Professional politicians among the Conservatives warned against over-optimism, pointing to the United States presidential elections in 1948 when the Democrats won after most predictions.

"Remember the Republicans," one Conservative leader said.

Panic Purchases Discouraged by Ability to Produce More Goods

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

There might be less upset in life these days if the following factors could be kept in mind:

First, the ability of the North American economy to produce virtually any amount of goods, once the necessity becomes clear; a factor which should discourage panic buying by the public.

Second, the present-day ability of the North American public to buy virtually unlimited amounts of goods if reasonable buying conditions are maintained. This should encourage business to remain calm, and keep its eye on prices; for there is nothing more important to business than keeping prices down.

A third factor arises from the extreme swings of thinking in the United States. Public opinion there sees black or white; there is no in-between. A glint of sun makes a fine day; or a speck of cloud a stormy one—according to the mood of the moment.

The succession of recent economic processes in the United States, which have so much influence here, is given in the current monthly letter of the National City Bank of New York, which reads as follows:

Restrictions on personal credit checked the expansion of purchasing power through borrowing. Higher prices themselves induced buying resistance and economy.

The slackening in trade still leaves the volume at very high levels, except when contrasted with the two great waves of buying last Summer and last Winter; and the drop has not been progressive, for, according to the seasonally adjusted figures, retail sales have fully held their ground for about four months.

An anomaly in the situation is that the slackening in retail sales has come at a time when personal incomes have been rising . . . and the rate of "personal saving," which is the difference between income and expenditures and covers both liquid and non-liquid savings, has risen to the highest level since the war ended, both in dollars and as percentage of income.

With potential support of this kind, the current inventory correction is likely to start a downward spiral. Nor does all of the adjustment lie ahead. Retail stocks reached their peak in April and wholesale stocks in May. Outstanding commitments are sharply below a year ago . . .

Manufacturers' stocks are large, but they typically consist of materials or goods in process rather than finished goods; they are on the low rather than the high side when, related to unfilled orders; and in many cases manufacturers would be happy to have even more materials in hand.

Rev. R. J. Morris On Youth Trek

WINNIPEG, Sept. 20 (CP). — A national youth caravan from Toronto wil lroll into Winnipeg Friday, sponsored through the efforts of the United Church of Canada and the Young People's Union, an affiliation of the church.

The caravan is a group of young people authorized and commissioned by the Board of Christian Education of the United Church of Canada. They will travel from coast to coast in the National Young People's station wagon.

The tour is expected to last well into the spring of 1952. The spring tour will embrace Ontario, Quebec and then the Maritimes. Theme of the meetings will be a program for a more active faith in every-day lives.

Included in the party from the East will be Rev. R. J. D. (Bob) Morris of Toronto, secretary of the Youth Division of the Missionary and Maintenance Department, United Church of Canada.

Mr. Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morris, Victoria Street, Nelson, is well known in the city and district.

OIL COMPANY HAS NEW PRESIDENT

CALGARY, Sept. 20 (CP) — Robert B. Curran of Calgary, formerly in charge of Western producing operations for Imperial Oil Limited, has been appointed president and managing director of Home Oil Company Limited.

James R. Lowery of Vancouver, retiring president, made the announcement today. Mr. Lowery becomes chairman of the board of directors.

The changes were effective today.

To make room for Mr. Curran on the directorate, M. M. Porter, K.C., of Calgary has resigned but he will continue as company counsel.

For its area, Great Britain has the most extensive railway network in the world.

Strikers Delay Vital Delivery

LONDON, Sept. 20 (Reuters). — About 2000 dock workers at Tilbury, in the Port of London, decided at a mass meeting today to continue their four-day strike in protest against new labor recruitment plans.

Twenty-two ships carrying food and vital raw materials were tied up.

London's other shipping dispute, a refusal by 4500 tugmen to work overtime, was expected to end Friday.

The tugmen, who are claiming more pay, have been hampering the movement of shipping along the River Thames since Monday.

Anglo-Iranian Co. Buys From Romania

LONDON, Sept. 20 (CP). — The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, its oil supplies blocked by the dispute with Iran, has bought 200,000 tons of fuel oil from Romania for delivery before the end of the year, a company spokesman said today.

The oil, which will cost a little over £1,000,000 will be shipped from Costanza, on the Black Sea, in Anglo-Iranian tankers and chartered vessels to Middle Eastern ports.

The oil will be used by ships in the Middle East.

The A.I.O.C. spokesman said payment is being made in sterling. Romanian price for the fuel oil is "reasonable and competitive," he added.

Parisians Walk More

PARIS, Sept. 20 (AP).—A lot of Parisians walked more and ate less today. Both taxi drivers and butchers were on strike.

About 11,000 cabbies began a 24-hour strike at 5 a.m. in protest against a compulsory medical examination to determine if they are fit to drive.

The butchers are in the third day of an odd buyer's strike. They have refused to buy meat stocks at wholesale markets in protest against a government cut of 10 per cent in retail meat prices.

Since it is illegal to close food stores by striking, the butcher shops are open but most are empty.
