No Free Bridge in '53 for Castlegar

Consideration of Toll Bridge Is Suggested by Member; Only Small Bridge Repair, Replacement Planned

CASTLEGAR—There will be no free bridge in 1953 over the Columbia River at Castlegar.

The following letter was received from Hon. R. E. Sommers, MLA for Rossland-Trail, by Castlegar Chamber of Commerce President Arthur Anderson:

"I very much regret to inform you that no monies will be available for any new bridges for the year 1953.

"The bridge program for '53 entails the replacing and repairing of a number of small bridges only. If it generally meets with the approval of the people in that area may I suggest that you negotiate with the minister of public works for the possible construction of a toll bridge at Castlegar.

"I realize that a toll bridge is not an entirely satisfactory solution. However, from the point of view of the time element concerned it might be worthy of your consideration.

"I am looking forward to having your comments regarding this matter . . ."

The letter will be discussed by the Chamber of Commerce Thursday night.

No Compromise-Reaction of U.S. to Red China Refusal

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United States reaction to Communist China's flat and abusive rejection of the United Nations peace plan for Korea is a strong "no compromise" stand.

The U.S. State Department said in a statement released here Monday night that it "cannot see what useful purpose will be served by having the United Nations propose to the Communists still other plans for implementing" the proposal passed by the UN.

The plan sent to the Chinese by Assembly President L. B. Pearson of Canada, along with a personal appeal, was aimed at ending the deadlock over repatriation of war prisoners which is holding back an armistice.

The U. S. said it has no doubt the 54 governments which supported the proposal will want to "give careful consideration to the situation facing the UN."

"There can be no compromise with the basic humanitarian principles contained in the resolution of the general assembly . . . If the Communists accept the basic UN principles, the proposals now outstanding provide numerous alternative methods for settling the question of prisoners-of-war."

Foreign Minister Chou En-lai demanded in a cable Monday to Pearson that the UN adopt instead a Russian proposal for an immediate cease-fire followed by a conference on the question of repatriating war prisoners.

RESUMPTION OF TRUCE

Chou called alternatively for resumption of the suspended truce negotiations at Panmunjom which have been deadlocked on the issue.

No further assembly action on Korea is expected until February at the earliest.

The assembly's steering committee decided Monday to suspend the session "not later than Dec. 23" and will meet Thursday to decide when the session should resume in the new year.

Prison Inmates Talk Down Two University Grads

NORFOLK, Mass. (CP) — The State prison colony's debating team Sunday night talked down a debating team educated at England's Cambridge University—but the subject matter gave the prisoners an edge.

The two inmates, identified only as Bill and Buzzy, upheld the affirmative of the proposition that "this house regrets the advance of the welfare state." They scored heavily with their audience of fellow-inmates by comparing the welfare state with life at the prison colony.

The Englishmen, hastily recruited for the one-night stand, were Greville E. Janner and Anthony J. L. Lloyd. Both graduated from Cambridge and are graduate students at Harvard University Law Club. Their personal political differences cost them heavily in the set-to. Janner was chairman of the Labor Club in his Cambridge days; Lloyd was a member of the Conservative Association.

A year ago the prisoners trounced a touring team from Oxford University on the merits of the British national health insurance plan.

Gov't to Set Up Atomic Committee

OTTAWA (CP) — Trade Minister Howe today said in the Commons that the government has decided to set up a committee on atomic energy.

Mr. Howe made the statement in replying to Howard Green (PC) -Vancouver South, who asked if Mr. Howe could make a statement on the burst of radiation Friday at the Chalk River, Ont., atomic energy plant.

Mr. Howe said "as far as I can learn, damage was negligible as far as money is concerned. There was a certain amount of contamination from radiation and contaminated areas were shut down. Work now has been resumed."

Mr. Howe said that in view of previous requests for a committee of the Commons on atomic energy the government has decided to set up such a body.

Canadians Get Break On Travelling Costs

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians on duty in Germany now enjoy the same privileges as British soldiers for leave travel to the United Kingdom.

They may buy a return ticket from any point in Germany to any point in the United Kingdom for $26.89. The Canadian Government will pay the difference.

A Canadian soldier serving in the United Kingdom may get a leave warrant for a round trip anywhere within the U. K. for $2.45. A soldier from Germany in the U. K. on leave in the U. K. and wishing to travel from point to point also enjoys the $2.45 warrant privilege.

$2 MILLION ADVANCE OVER '51 . . .

Nelson Retail Spending Up

(Special to the News)

NEW YORK — The better earnings on the part of Nelson residents during the past year were reflected in freer spending and more luxurious living. The story is told by the cash registers in the food markets, by the volume of automotive sales recorded, by purchases of furniture, household and radio equipment and by other factors.

BETTER LIVING STANDARDS

The gains were a reflection of booming business activity and point to better living standards locally.

The breakdown of retail spending is contained in the current, copyrighted survey of Sales Management, showing how money is apportioned in each community.

A chief indicator of general good living is in the indulgence in more and better food. Expenditures for food in Nelson came to $2,247,000, compared with a total of $2,096,000 in 1950. Divided by the number of local families, this represented spending at the rate of $980 per family in the city's meat markets, grocery stores, bakeries, delicatessens and the like.

$595 PER FAMILY

It was more than was spent generally throughout the country for food, the average being $595 per family. It was more, also, than was spent in the Province of British Columbia as a whole, $555 per family.

The importance of food in the Nelson housewife's budget is evident from the fact that out of every dollar she spends in stores 15 cents goes for food.

In the other categories of retail trade investigated, the local market was also found to be flourishing. Sales of automotive equipment, including cars and parts, farm machinery and boats, came to $5,149,000, taking 34 cents of the dollar. Stores selling general merchandise, comprising department stores, dry goods and variety shops, accounted for $1,293,000, another 9 cents. The furniture, household equipment and radio stores did a 1951 business of $680,000, equal to nearly 5 cents. Drug store sales were $299,000, taking an added 2 cents.

These figures, when added to the ones turned in by the other types of stores in Nelson, produce a picture of an active market, with retail business of $14,867,000 for the year. It marks an advance over 1950, when the volume was $12,912,000.

Lost, Strayed or Stolen—52 Radios

NEW YORK (AP)—Members of president-elect Eisenhower's staff have been asked to examine their consciences concerning 52 missing portable radios.

The sets were among 60 radios lent by Radio Corporation of America for use of the staff on Eisenhower's special campaign train. A memorandum circulated Monday said to date only eight of those radios have been returned.

Edgewater Man Dies in Fire

INVERMERE — Louis Conzulman, about 60, was asphyxiated in a fire at his Edgewater shack Sunday night at around 8.

The shack was not destroyed. Conzulman, it is believed, had been aroused from his sleep by the smoke and had attempted to reach the door, but was overcome by smoke. His body was found just inside the door.

An alarm was raised by Xavier Schneider, a neighbor, who did not realize that Conzulman was in the building. He was pulled out a short time later by Don Dufault, and taken to Lady Elizabeth Bruce Memorial Hospital here, but was pronounced dead on arrival.

There were severe burns on his face, head and hands.

The fire is believed to have started when clothes, hanging near the stove, caught fire.

He is survived by a brother, Eugene, at Edgewater, and a sister at Parsons.

Edgewater is 17 miles from Invermere.

Big Top Collapses On Wild Animal Act

PARIS (Reuters) — Police, firemen and circus hands hunted big game for an hour on the busy Boulevard des Batignolles after a circus big top collapsed in a sudden snow squall Monday.

Mrs. Jeanette Macdonald, star French animal trainer, was rehearsing with four bears, two lions, three tigers, two hyenas, four wolves and three seals when the wooden ring collapsed. The animals scattered in all directions.

Police reinforcements armed with sub-machine-guns arived and cordoned off the boulevard, while circus hands armed with iron bars, chains and lassos pursued the animals on foot, on bicycles and in trucks.

Within the hour all the animals were rounded up except one lion, which was caught as he was about to enter the subway station in the Place de Clichy, 300 yards from the circus.

There were no human or animal casualties.

Court Dismisses Pitre Appeal

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada Monday dismissed the appeal of Mrs. Arthur Pitre of Quebec from a murder conviction arising out of the time-bombing of an airliner Sept. 9, 1949.

Mrs. Pitre is scheduled to be hanged Jan. 9.

Two others already have been hanged for their part in the plot which sent 23 plane passengers to their deaths. J. Albert Guay, Quebec jeweler, was hanged Jan. 12, 1951, for the murder of his 28-year-old wife, Rita, a passenger on the plane. Motive was $25,000 insurance money and the love of a pretty waitress.

Genereux Ruest, 54-year-old crippled watchmaker, was hanged last Jan. 25 for manufacturing the time bomb that destroyed the plane en route from Quebec City to Seven Islands, Que.

Mrs. Pitre, Ruest's 43-year-old sister, was convicted of murder on the grounds that she delivered the time bomb to the plane.

Civic Affairs Issue Aired at Hearing

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — Hearing into alleged irregularities in handling of civic affairs re-opened here today with a new commissioner, Donald McTaggart, presiding.

Discussion centred about the question of whether individual civic officials have the right to pay out money without the prior approval of city council.

Mayor Frank Goldsworthy, under questioning, admitted issuing a $409 check to R. W. Richard, as one month's salary, when he resigned as city comptroller. Mr. Richards' resignation touched off the charges leading to the inquiry.

RIVER BREAKS INTO MINE

56 Believed Dead In Philippine Mine Disaster

MANILA (AP) —Rescue workers clawed through rock, mud and water today in a frenzied effort to clear the 400-foot gold-mine shaft where 56 miners were trapped on Monday when a river broke through its walls.

All are believed dead in the Philippines'-worst mine disaster. Relatives, "some sobbing, others stunned," manned the rescue squad, a superintendent reported from the mine 125 miles southeast of Manila.

"We are sure the men are dead," said a mine official. "Chances of recovering the bodies are nil. The whole mine is flooded with water. But we are doing everything we can to pump the water out."

A river running alongside the mine cracked and collapsed the shaft wall Monday. Water gushed into the mine with a deafening roar.

Noose Snuffs Out Suchan, Jackson

TORONTO (CP)—Steve Suchan and Leonard Jackson were hanged back to back early today for the murder of a Toronto detective.

The official hangman, wearing the traditional black hood, sprung the trap at 12:15 a.m. EST.

There were only 10 witnesses. They marched in a solemn procession with the two condemned men down the "last mile"—in this case 26 paces of a Don jail corridor.

Heading the procession was J. D. Conover, York county sheriff. He was followed by the condemned men, each flanked by two prison guards. Behind them in order came Rev. John Kelly, Roman Catholic priest who spent the evening praying with the pair, chief coroner Smirle Lawson of Ontario, and two acting jail governors, Archie Graham and Ralph Ayres. Bringing up the rear was the hangman.

MacArthur to Visit Formosa

TAIPEH, Formosa (Reuters) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur will visit Formosa after his trip to the Philippines next February, Chinese Nationalist sources said today.

His arrival would coincide with that of John Foster Dulles, whom Chinese sources expect here about mid-February after assuming office as secretary of state.

Nationalist sources said MacArthur, former United States far eastern commander, "will assess the military situation on Formosa as part of a wider survey of the strength of anti-Communist countries in Asia."

The Nationalist World News agency said MacArthur's far eastern tour is for the same purpose as Dulles'; to find a solution to the Korean conflict and at the same time promote anti-Communist unification and military cooperation.

Investigator Blames Lax Control, Crooked Personnel In Work Service Breakdown

OTTAWA (CP)—The long-awaited Currie report has disclosed what it describes as "a general breakdown" in control of an army branch concerned with an investment of $750,000,000 in buildings and plant.

Within a short time after the sweeping document was tabled Monday in the Commons, the CCF had charged that it was changed before it got to Parliament, and the Progressive Conservatives accused the government of unfairly hiding the fact they had it a week ago. The House was amazed to hear a CCF spokesman say his party got hold of a copy "a few days" ago and that it doesn't jibe with the one tabled.

The 74-page, 15,000-word report said a seven-month investigation of the Canadian Army works service found "a serious collapse in security," chaotic accounting arrangements, failure to follow up reports of unsatisfactory conditions, and a series of fabulous incidents at Camp Petawawa, Ont., which finally led to prosecutions and to the inquiry.

HORSES ON PAYROLLS

In its discussion of the Petawawa case, it discloses a variety of offences ranging from sale of scrap metal, sale of kitchen ranges, heaters and shower stalls, the celebrated incident in which a CNR spur line was ripped up to cover up the theft of a CPR line, the faking of "non-existent laborers" by putting the names of horses on payrolls, false orders which brought the miscreants a boat and several washing machines, the theft of two freight carloads of pulpwood.

Soldiers were employed to build boats, desks, beds, chests of drawers and one child's rocking horse, on army time and using army materials, some of them subsequently paid for.

The rocking horse attracted wide publicity this year when a reporter wrote a story saying it was made for the child of a general.

A dam was built at a cost of $3000 to $4000. "Its utility is not clear to me and it was not authorized by Army headquarters."

"GENERAL'S DAM"

Reports earlier this year said the dam was a fishing lake for senior officers and was known as the "general's dam."

These and other cases were "the ascertained cases of irregularities" at Petawawa. But how many there were in reality, how much the whole thing cost the public would never be known. Chaotic accounting conditions prevented any real assessment.

By far the greater quantity of stolen goods had been recovered. Mr. Currie considered it probable that the total loss from misappropriations and irregularities was not large.

The report said however, a check of nine camps showed that "extensive irregularities over a prolonged period of time" occurred only at Petawawa. It said the whole army works service shouldn't be smeared because "of the sins of a handful of crooks." It said, too, that the "over-all situation" is not discouraging because remedies can and are being applied.

The document stirred widespread speculation about possible resignations in high places, but some authoritative sources said they did not believe any heads would come off.

Prime Minister St. Laurent tabled the document with the expressed hope that its "sweeping and severe" statements won't be wrenched out of contest for political purposes and used to smear the whole army works services.

There appears little doubt that it will become a big political issue, both in Parliament and in the expected 1953 general election campaign.

On top of the report itself there came the surprise statement by Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) that the CCF got hold of a copy "a few days ago" and finds that there were differences between it and the one tabled.

He demanded an explanation of how and why the differences came about. From Mr. St. Laurent came a reply that he would investigate both that—and how the CCF came to get the document.

Deletions, Mr. Knowles said, include a report of the building of a $1500 cottage Petawawa at public expense and the phrase "over-expenditure on projects" from a list of common faults.

He said, too, that a tabled section which refers to an indifference to administration in the ranks "higher up" referred in the report the CCF got to officers at or near the top.

SIMONDS CRITICAL

This prompted Lt.-Gen. G. G. Simonds, chief of the general staff, to say in a memo to the prime minister that George S. Currie, head of the Montreal accounting firm which made the study and former deputy defence minister, should either say whether he is referring to the Army generally or to the one branch. If he is speaking generally, said Gen. Simonds, he should substantiate the charge.

The inclusion of the memo in Mr. St. Laurent's statement prompted Progressive Conservative leader Drew to question the propriety of Gen. Simonds' action and say such questions should be left to members of Parliament.

Mr. Drew said his party lays "full responsibility" for irregularities on the department of national defence and not on the armed forces.

He later was informed that the report first came to the department a week ago and said it was "unfair" that as late as Friday a government spokesman had indicated he knew nothing about it. Mr. St. Laurent retorted that it was "quite unfair" for Mr. Drew to accuse the government of holding back the report and said he is prepared to let the House and the public decide."

The Currie investigation was launched last April after an anonymous letter tipped off the RCMP to irregularities at Petawawa and started police inquiries which led to prosecutions of soldiers and civilians for thefts and conspiracies. The report indicated more prosecutions may arise from the Petawawa case.

VISITED 9 BASES

It went, however, into the whole broad question of security and accounting for stores equipment. The Currie accountants visited nine bases altogether and, the report indicated, their visits led to some shifts and firings.

Mr. Currie said that as result of this "the conclusion I have come to is that, while there has been a general breakdown in the system of administration, supervision and accounting, it was only at Petawawa that extensive irregularities over a prolonged period took place." At Petawawa, there was "lax control, poor discipline, and the presence of dishonest personnel . . . The combination disastrous."

But "it does not fit the facts to indict or to smear the whole Army works services personnel because of the sins of a handful of crooks."

Mr. Currie said the Army reorganized the headquarters set-up for the works services recently and that the Petawawa works establishment itself has been revamped. There formerly was a director of works and accommodation under the quartermaster-general, Maj.-Gen. S. F. Clark. Now there is a deputy quartermaster-general works with two directors responsible to him, one in charge of works, one in charge of quartering.

The officer in charge of works under the old set-up was Col. L. G. C. Lilley.

POOR ORGANIZATION

Mr. Currie said the works services have been hobbled by poor organization, lack of control and lack of sufficient personnel and that it has been overwhelmed with work since the post-Korea expansion. He recommended four alternative methods of reorganization going from detachments right up to headquarters and with a shift in emphasis from technical to managerial and administrative skills up top.

44 RECOMMENDATIONS

The report makes a series of 44 recommendations ranging from a reorganization of the works services to tighter security arrangements, including the posting of a mountie in each camp, bolstering of the Provost Corps, greater barriers to public admission to camps.

Mr. Currie's view was that the generally lax administrative situation would give rise to waste and inefficiency far more costly in loss than that covered by actual dishonesty.

"The evidence does not disclose irregularities involving relatively large sums of money but, rather, an impressive array of petty irregularities on an extensive scale."

The report regretted that the first tip on the Petawawa crimes came not from the Army, "with its full complement of regulations and supervisory personnel," but through an anonymous letter to the RCMP.

LIVE OAK, Fla. (AP)—A committee is studying Live Oak's city ordinances to bring them up to date.

It's about time.

Right now, it's against the law to drive an automobile down the streets.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—A Great Northern Railway locomotive ground to a halt, the engineer and fireman staring into the muzzles of two drawn six-shooters.

Standing his ground in the middle of the tracks was Larry Meredith, 8, dressed in cowboy boots and hat. "I'm playing Jesse James," he yelled to the trainmen.

Then a policeman took over. While the train went about its business, Larry got a stern lecture about playing in the railroad yards.

"Moider, Mayhem, Hula, and Bands!"

LONDON (AP)—Baffled British sportswriters couldn't figure it all out, but they agreed this American football is wonderful stuff.

"It's Moider!" headlined the Sunday Graphic. "Mayhem, Hula and Bands," exclaimed Reynolds News. "Murder in Midfield," said the Sunday Express. But everyone agreed it was fun.

All the excitement was centred about London's view of a full-scale American football game with all the trimmings—brass bands, pretty cheerleaders in short skirts, a fist-fight in the stands and a couple of dogs chasing around the field.

It was the final of the United States Air Force's European football championships Saturday at the big Wembley Stadium and some 25,000 had gathered to watch the Fursty Eagles from Germany beat the Burtonwood (England) Bullets 26-7.

British sports writers, to whom football used to mean the comparatively gentleman-like game of rugby or just soccer, sat in on the proceedings and tried to explain it all to their readers.

"Twenty-two mastodons in leather shoulders and nylon knees crouched facing each other in what looked like 'the dance of the chuckers-out,' " said the Sunday Graphic.

"At some secret signal, utterly ignoring the ball, the 22 leaped at each other's throats. A whistle blew and the debris was removed."

Stretcher-bearers kept carting off the bodies and the score apparently depended on a coroner's report, the Graphic explained.

"Then the final whistle blew, and we all gave three hearty cheers to the ambulance which had won a fine game," the Graphic added.

But what impressed Britons most was the noise and the cheering. The Sunday Pictorial explained it simply:

"Pretty girls leaped up and down in Maori war dances to stir up the crowd, shouting: 'How do you like your oysters—raw! raw! raw!' "

TRIBAL NOISES

The Graphic described the cheerleaders as "six dainty American girls in red and green skirts circling the ground, occasionally doing the splits and emitting tribal noises reminiscent of a Zulu with acute stomach trouble."

The consensus was that American football was a darned good game. The Express said it liked "its red-bloodednes, its high color and enthusiasm." A Sunday Times sportswriter concluded it was "a far better game than ever he gave it credit for."

Mounties Arrest Szaulski After Acquittal on Dynamite-Carrying

Ten minutes after Konstanty Szaulski was acquitted on a charge of possessing explosives for an unlawful purpose in City Court, he was arrested by RCMP and charged under the Mines Act with removing explosives from a mine without authority. He was fined $50 by Stipendiary Magistrate William Evans after entering a plea of guilty to the charge.

In city court, Szaulski was charged with being in possession of explosives under such circumstances as "to give rise to a reasonable suspicion that he had it not in his possession for a lawful purpose."

Before dismissing the charge, Magistrate William Brown told the court, "In this case against Konstanty Szaulski I find that the accused intended to throw the explosive in the lake. I find that the accused did not intend to blow up Doukhobors or any building.

"While the circumstance of the middle of the night and the concealment of the explosive substance on the person were of suspicious circumstances, I find that these are explained by the intoxication of the accused and also by my finding that the accused intended to leave for Edmonton. I was impressed by his frank and convincing demeanor in the witness box. I dismiss the charge."

Szaulski was arrested for drunkenness by city police on Lake Street December 7. Police later discovered 10 sticks of dynamite, a fuse with cap attached and several caps in his pocket and under his shirt and sweater.

Man Must Adapt to Strain of This Age, Rotary Told . . .

Housing Is the Primary Public Health Problem of Young Adults — Dr. Anderson

One of the most difficult and universal public health problems of the young adult group is housing, Dr. L. S. Anderson, director of the West Kootenay Health Unit told Nelson Rotarians at a luncheon in the Hume Monday.

The young married couples supporting families have little left over to buy houses, Dr. Anderson explained. "Next to 'putting milk into babies'," he emphasized, "there is no national policy that pays a better dividend to the public health than that of putting young couples into homes."

"We have a duty to provide for the old people—healthy and sick," Dr. Anderson said, lauding Kootenay-Boundary's effort in building Mount St. Francis Infirmary for the aged. He said there is a great need to study housing requirements for the healthy seniors. "They need simple, small homes, easily worked, with a small garden," he said. These problems, relating to the prime of life age group must be solved in the next five or 10 years, Dr. Anderson emphasized, or "we will perish as a race."

"One of the most striking facts of the present day is the increase in the rate of death from what may be called the disease of strain in the years from 45 to 65, the prime of life, just when an individual should be pouring knowledge back into the community.

"This loss of life is a direct challenge to public health and to community effort. Its causes are varied, but the main ones are probably over-eating, over-drinking and overworking," he stated.

"Man's environment has always been changing — our environment has altered more, physiologically, in the last 100 years than it did in the preceding 4000," he explained.

If man fails to adapt to the rigors of the age he will succumb—in the mass—for "there has been no repeal of genetic law or the laws of health," he said.

Public health movement started about a century ago and found itself concerned almost entirely with man's outward environment, Dr. Anderson said. Grappling with these problems of the outward environment occupied the public health movement up to now and, although changes in administrative detail are constantly made as new drugs are discovered, the broad principles of public health in these fields are fairly firmly established.

Many of the public health techniques for the younger years are well known and well proved, he said, giving such examples as mothercraft and fathercraft classes to prepare for the new arrival, visits by nurses, well-baby clinics and careful observation at school.

Accidents, however, take their heaviest toll in the school years and accidental death proportions are 40 per cent on the road, 30 per cent by drowning and 10 per cent by burning. "There," Dr. Anderson said, "lies a challenge to prevention."

The young adults, he said, also face tuberculosis and venereal disease.

"If everyone had an annual X-ray, was immunized at birth and had his immunity tested every two years, we could prevent TB almost entirely," Dr. Anderson emphasized. However, if this were done, maintenance of a troublesome and expensive program to keep it from sight would present even a greater problem.

"The problem of control of venereal disease has to be separated from the individual for moral consideration, but in the long view, the communities' best approach is from the moral angle."

Guests at the luncheon included Keith De Armond and Morris McKay of Cranbrook, Emmett Gulley of Newburg, Oregon, and Frank Hedley of Rossland.

Castlegar Fire Chief Resigns

CASTLEGAR — Castlegar Board of Commissioners heard a letter of resignation from R. A. D. West at their Monday night meeting.

Mr. West stated he found himself no longer able to continue as fire chief "due to business reasons." He asked the commissioners to find a new incumbent by the first of next year.

Commissioners decided to ask the Chief to reconsider, or at least to carry on to January 15 to allow time for the new Board to make an appointment.

Mr. West, prominent in the organization of the volunteer brigade, has served as chief since the brigade was formed in 1947.

The hazards from speeding on village streets were intensively discussed, and the Clerk was instructed to write Hon. R. E. Sommers, Rossland-Trail MLA, regarding police enforcement of village traffic bylaws.

A letter of acknowledgement with thanks was received from the British Empire Games Committee to whom a $25 donation had been sent.

Extension of the village's street lighting was discussed and an application for 10 new lights was authorized to be made West Kootenay Power & Light Company.

The Commissioners-elect David Campbell and Gerry Wanless were in attendance.

LAKE LEVEL STILL GOING DOWN

Since last Friday's reading at Queen's Bay, Kootenay Lake water level has dropped about four-fifths of an inch, indicating that present curtailed power requirements are still calling for more water than is flowing into the lake from feeder streams.

A year ago the storage figure stood at 1,042,860 acre feet. A week ago it was 704,360, last Friday, 688,300. Monday's reading was 680,370.

The Weather

Synopsis: A shallow centre of low pressure remained just off the Washington coast this evening. It was causing a southerly flow of fairly moist air over south coastal areas with resulting cloudy skies and occasional very light precipitation. North coastal waters under the influence of a weak offshore flow have been mostly clear.

Interior weather has ranged from cloudy skies with a little very light snow at southern points to almost clear skies throughout the northern sections.

As no major storm development is apparent in the immediate area, no great change in conditions is expected for Tuesday. Some slight decrease in cloud cover will occur in south coastal areas so that some sunshine will break through during the day.

WIN FREEDOM FROM EVIL BY OBEDIENCE TO GOD'S LAW—SERMON

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Preserver of Man" which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist Sunday showed that freedom from evil, including discordant human relationships, can be gained through obedience to God's law.

The Golden Text was: "O my God, I trust in thee: . . . Let integrity and uprightness preserve me; for I wait on thee. Redeem Israel, O. God, out of all his troubles."

—Psalms 25: 2 21, 22.

The Lesson-Sermon included the following passage from the Bible: "Refrain from these men, and let them alone: for if this counsel or this work be of men, it will come to nought: But if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it."

—The Acts 5: 38, 39.

Among the selections from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, was following: "No power can withstand divine Love. What is this supposed power, which opposes itself to God? Whence cometh it? What is it that binds man with iron shackles to sin, sickness, and death? Whatever enslaves man is opposed to the divine government. Truth makes man free."

Jaycees to Attend Hospital Meet

A five-man committee of the Nelson Junior Chamber of Commerce will attend the December meeting of the board of directors of the Kootenay Lake General Hospital Society tonight.

Chairman Earl Wilson of the Jaycee's hospital committee said at a Junior Chamber business meeting Monday that he and his four committee members had conferred with the hospital board's publicity chairman Monday afternoon, and that they would attend the board meeting "to seek information."

The Jaycees formed a hospital committee Nov. 8 following a talk by Dr. N. E. Morrison, who described conditions at the hospital. With the permission of the hospital board, the committee toured the hospital Nov. 20 and reported at a Junior Chamber meeting the same evening that the conditions they had found were "appalling."

A hospital board spokesman said Monday that the condition of the hospital necessitates the building of a new one and poses two serious problems: 1. sufficient work on the present building to ensure that it will be reasonably safe from fire until a new hospital can be built; 2. the organization of a hospital district, followed by the submission of a construction bylaw to district voters.

The hospital board voted to appoint a full-time paid organizer at a recent meeting, but has been unsuccessful to date in its efforts to secure one. No action has yet been taken on interim measures required to make the present building fireproof, though a number of reports have been received and studied.

"The next two or three meetings of the hospital board should see the issue decided," the board spokesman said.

On the Jaycees' hospital committee are Earl Wilson, Jack Morgan, Frank Kennedy, Vic Howard, and Don Hunter.

HAMPTON GRAY

Gray Honored On UBC Scroll

Nelson's Victoria Cross winner of the Second World War, the late Lieutenant Robert Hampton Gray, has been given the place of honor in a new Book of Remembrance for dead and living warriors of University of British Columbia.

The book, which will be placed in the war memorial gymnasium at UBC, contains the names of more than 2000 graduates and undergraduates who served in Canada's armed forces in the Second World War. About 200 were killed.

The illuminated scroll is the work of Chuck Yip, 28-year-old Chinese artist.

Lieutenant Gray, son of Mrs. J. B. Gray and the late Mr. Gray, Nelson jeweller, won the Victoria Cross and Distinguished Service Cross for his heroic exploits as a Canadian naval airman with the Royal Navy in the Pacific. He enlisted in the third week of the war—Sept. 26, 1939, and died Aug. 9, 1945, sinking a Japanese destroyer while under fire from shore batteries and eight enemy warships.

Had your aluminum today?

CHANCES are you have, because practically everything we eat—grains, vegetables, meat, milk, eggs—contains aluminum. This is not surprising, since one-eighth of the earth's crust is aluminum.

Aluminum is most readily available commercially, however, in the form of bauxite ore. Alcan ships this ore from South America to feed its pot lines at Arvida, Isle Maligne, Shawinigan Falls and Beauharnois, P. Que. When the huge new Kitimat development is completed in B.C., refined ore will be shipped up the West Coast from South American or other abundant sources. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Mrs. May Says She'll "Fight to End" As Legal Battle Goes Into 37th Year

KASLO—It has been some time now since the name of Mrs. Minnie Mead May—a name which is known to every student of Kootenay mining history and countless others—has cropped up in newspaper reports.

Yet Mrs. May, who is living in Hotel Dufferin in Vancouver, is as active as she ever was in the thing which she has been fighting for.

For 38 years Mrs. Minnie Mead May has devoted her every waking hour to her efforts to win control of the Gibson silver, lead and zinc mine near Kaslo, for which she claims a prospective buyer once offered two million dollars.

For 36 years the battle over possession of the property has raged in courts of the United States, British Columbia, Canada and the Commonwealth.

For 36 years, Mrs. May has sparked the fight, taking the case time after time before the Supreme court and the appeal court of B. C.; eight times before the supreme court of Canada, three times before the privy council.

Formerly in the real estate and mining business in the United States she has sold all her holdings to meet costs of the lengthy litigation.

UNDAUNTED

But the person who wonders why she doesn't give up hasn't met Mrs. May.

"I'll fight to the end of my life if necessary. Why? Because I know I'm in the right, that's why," she asserts.

"Battler Extraordinary" as she has been called, Mrs. May has won and lost a lot of rounds—her motion was dismissed when the case last came up Oct. 15 of this year—but she's by no means down for the count.

People who have heard Mrs. May in court—five appelate judges once listened to her claims for more than five hours—would never believe that she was brought up "to be seen and not heard."

MRS. MINNIE MEAD MAY

Although she was born in Missouri, the former Minnie Mead Stevens is the daughter of Virginian parents who gave her the soft drawl which turns her "nevers" into nevahs" and knocks the g's off her word endings.

Her early life was that of any southern belle and she says: "I thought I would faint at the very idea of saying a word in public. That first time I went on the stand in Spokane it was, I suffered for weeks beforehand."

HAPPY YOUTH

The woman who has lived in hotels for more than a quarter century—"wherever my hat's off, that's where I live"—once divided her time between her father's 400-acre farm 10 miles south of Mexico, Mo., and his town house in Mexico itself, where she and her nine brothers and sisters went to school.

They were gay days. 'We had a big social life," she recalls happily. "Particularly at Christmas. We used to celebrate right through to New Year's, with crowds of us visitin' back and forth."

Her present life is a striking contrast to that of her youth. For many years now she has lived in near-seclusion. Even she and her husband, David Kind May, "hardly ever see one another." Mr. May, who looks after their property in Thompson Falls, Mont., isn't well enough to journey to Canada and Mrs. May hasn't time to travel south.

She was the seventh of her parents' 10 children—"my twin sister was the eighth"—and she thinks that's why she's always been "spiritually developed". Even as a little thing she could "tell about things before they happened"— she says her husband's name was revealed to her when she was only 5.

Mrs. May vividly recalls the circumstances: "I was sittin' on a swing under a big locus tree, wonderin' how we could get to California—I'd heard all kinds of stories about the oranges and the gold to be found there.

"All of a sudden a voice said to me: 'When you get to be a young lady you will marry a man named May and go to live in California."

Minnie ran indoors to tell her parents but they didn't pay much attention and she forgot all about it. However, her mother remembered the incident when Minnie met a David Kind May on a train on her way to visit her Aunt Cass Debo in Lynchburg, Va., and subsequently became engaged to him.

Sixteen at the time, Mrs. May had no trouble recognizing her husband-to-be. "He was a real fine lookin' fellah, broad-shouldered, dark-haired" and he looked exactly as he had when he had appeared to her in a vision on a previous visit to Virginia.

Mr. May went out to California, his bride-to-be joined him there and they were married in San Francisco when she was only 17.

Admittedly psychic, Mr. May says she used to "lay the cards" for the entertainment of her friends, but she would never take up fortune telling professionally. "You musn't sell the powers God gives you."

She reads books on palmistry and astrology and thinks both subjects should be taught in school—"but they're not fortune telling, they're scientific."

Mrs. May also firmly believes in reincarnation. "You take everything with you that you mastered in a previous life—that accounts for these child prodigies."

Whatever she did in any previous lives, she couldn't have worked any harder than she has in this one. Back at her 36-year-old task, she says: "I want the public to know that the fight isn't over. I've always felt, you know, that the public was behind me."

Whether they're behind Mrs. May or not, people can't fail to be impressed by her singleness of purpose, her unrelenting effort and her game attitude of fight-to-the-finish.

Castlegar School Band Applauded at Debut

CASTLEGAR — The J. Lloyd Crowe high school Symphony Band from Trail, was featured in a delightful two-hour concert in the Stanley Humphries high school auditorium here.

Sponsored by the Castlegar Parent-Teacher Association, the concert also included the first public performance of the Castlegar High School band and an enthusiastically received baton-twirling display by the Trail high school majorettes. Proceeds are being used to buy more instruments for the Castlegar high school band.

In the absence of R. R. Potter, Trail high school music teacher who was ill, the 53-piece Trail band was conducted by Arthur Barrett, deputy conductor of the Trail Legion Band.

The auditorium stage was completely filled with the musicians, with their colorful orange and white trousers.

The Trail instrumental artists displayed versatility and a wide range of group talents in their playing of modern songs, folk dances, marches, a tango and a television suite. In the latter presentation, the group gave a musical portrayal of a Western drama, a "whodunit" and a hayloft hoedown as they might be enjoyed on television.

Their selections included the fine ale of Dvorak's Symphony in E minor, Schubert's Ave Maria, A Deep River Fantasia and Stephen Foster melodies.

Two of the students shared in the conducting honors, George Lamont leading his fellow instrumentalists through the Gypsy Baron march and Bob Cabianca conducting the Bay State march.

In the intermission, the recently-formed 30-piece Castlegar high school band under the direction of R. W. Graham, music teacher at Stanley Humphries High, gave its first public performance. Playing five well-known melodies, they were heartily applauded for a creditable performance after only 4½ months of practice.

The biggest ovation was accorded to the Trail high school majorettes, under the leadership of Miss Shirley Ballantine. The eight girls in dazzling white uniforms paraded briskly onto the floor below the stage and gave a jaunty display of baton-twirling in perfect time to a fast march the band was playing and then marched smartly out again. The audience insisted on an encore, the lassies strutted quickly back and repeated their display.

Butler Holds Talk With Pinay

PARIS (AP)—Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, R. A. Butler, has outlined to Prime Minister Antoine Pinay of France some of the secret decisions reached by the Commonwealth countries at their London economic parley.

The two men met over lunch after the Atlantic Council of Ministers held their first session.

Broad outlines of the Commonwealth discussions already have been reported. But many important issues were left over for confidential talks between British and European leaders.

IMPORTANT ISSUES

Among them, according to well-qualified informants:

The question of a joint Commonwealth and European approach to President-elect Eisenhower's incoming administration early next year on a new world program of trade co-operation.

The general agreement of the Commonwealth group to begin pressing for a higher world gold price above the present level of $35 an ounce.

Finally, early steps contemplated by the British-led sterling area to give the pound more freedom in the money markets of the world were set by the Commonwealth partners.

Butler, the informants said, may have told Pinay that his Government intends gradually to liberalize Britain's strict control of European imports, slashed a year ago in order to allow a buildup of the sterling area's low gold-dollar reserves.

Workers Return To Chalk River

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP)—Workers returned to their jobs Monday at Canada's atomic energy plant here, three days after excessive radiation forced their evacuation.

Dr. David A. Keys, chairman of the project co-ordinating committee, said Sunday that all employees could return following a weekend cleanup of radiation which leaked through a pinpoint hole in the big atomic pile.

The radioactive partices escaped up the 200-foot-high stack which carries off radiation, but they were held close by a heavy overcast and a downdraft of air carried them down on the site of the $40,000,000 plant, 140 miles Northwest of Ottawa.

Dr. Keys said none of the workers—about 350—was in any physical danger Friday, but they were evacuated when 100 alarm sirens gave warning that automatic instruments had found an over-concentration of radiation.

Nehru Hopes For Korean Armistice

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru told Parliament Monday that India's Government still hopes Communist China and Russia will reconsider the Indian-sponsored United Nations proposal for a Korean armistice. If they do, he said, he feels they will appreciate that it is "just and fair".

Nehru's statement was made about the time that China broadcast its formal rejection to the UN of the plan.

He said the Indian proposal, for an international commission to handle war prisoners who refuse to be sent home, was not opposed in any way to the basic principles the Communists themselves had put forward on earlier occasions.

Big Business for World Bank

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The "world bank" has loaned $1,500,000,000 since the end of the Second World War, and has been able to set aside $100,000,000 in reserve from profits received, the bank's top official said Sunday. Eugene R. Black, president of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, said much of the loaned money has been repaid. He said the bank makes a profit of between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000 a year.

Soldiers Complain Of Over-Discipline

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia soldiers who returned from Germany today had complaints about over-discipline, lack of leave and recreational facilities.

The 33 officers and men, members of the 27th Brigade, came home on leave after serving a year in Germany.

Signalman John W. Hickey of Cowichan Lake, told of what he called over-discipline.

"I was a corporal," he said, "and because I made a cup of coffee for the boys I ended up stripped with 14 days' CB and a $10 fine."

He was punished, he said, for being absent from a nightly bed-check. He was in the basement making coffee when the check was made.

Others complained of food and few passes for leave, but the German people treated them "pretty good."

Lack of variety in the daily menu was a main fault, some of the men reported.

"There were sprouts, sprouts all the time," said Pte. Jack Sutton, a cook from Vancouver. "Everything was hard to cook."

Valuable to New President Deep Down

General Eisenhower's visit to Korea was over before the world knew it had begun, so perfectly arranged were the security precautions. Now it is for the President-elect to work out a Korean policy, fortified by the first-hand knowledge he has obtained.

What did he hope to achieve in Korea? Not, the paper believes, a quick and simple answer to a question that has baffled and tormented the Western world for more than a year. In talking with the press at Seoul, he made it plain that he had "no panaceas, no trick ways of settling any problems."

His most specific pre-election suggestion was that the South Korean forces should be strengthened and enlarged so that they might carry the major front-line burden, permitting the Americans to act as a reserve. This proposition is evidently acceptable to the South Koreans; and no doubt Mr. Eisenhower explored methods of carrying it out while he was in Korea. But it is clear that he does not see this plan either as an immediate possibility or as a method of winding up hostilities.

If he had no speedy solution in mind, why did he go? The answer, the Toronto paper suggests, is obvious. On Jan. 20 he will become, as President, the Commander-in-Chief of all American fighting forces and the maker of United States foreign policy. The Korean war, assuming it is still going on at that date, will be by long odds the most complex, expensive and difficult operation of which he will take charge. He went to Korea to inform himself directly about a country, a terrain, a military setup and a political situation he had known only at second-hand.

First-Hand View

This is a good world. We need not approve of all the items in it, nor of all the individuals in it; but the world itself—which is more than its parts or individuals; which has a soul, a spirit, a fundamental relation to each of us deeper than all other relations—is a friendly world.—Jan Christian Smuts.

280 Pages

The biggest newspaper ever produced in Canada came off the presses of the Brantford, Ont., Expositor, when it observed its 100th anniversary with a special issue. There were 280 pages of full-sized eight columns in the issue, and every page was crammed with interesting material about Brantford and Brant County, and, of course, the paper itself.

One remarkable feature of the issue was the publication of a complete novel, "Son of a Hundred Kings", with a Brantford background. Its author was a one-time Brantford Expositor reporter, T. B. Costain, now famous in the literary world.

Much more could be said of the Expositor issue—its reproduction of front pages covering important events over 100 years, the stories of industrial development, the relationship of Brantford to Brant, the famous Mohawk chieftain, and the place the city held in the development of the telephone by Dr. Alexander Graham Bell.

It is a wonderful number, and the Expositor is to be congratulated on its achievement.

That which is given with pride and ostentation is rather an ambition than a bounty.
—Seneca.

Political Football

General G. R. Pearkes, VC, the Progressive Conservative MP for Nanaimo, is to be applauded for his protest against the shabby treatment the Liberal government meted out to Brigadier Alan Connelly over the Koje prisoner episode in Korea.

Brigadier Connelly was Canadian liaison officer to the United Nations Supreme Command in Tokyo. He was peremptorily removed from his post last October and was retired from service 11 years before he was due for retirement. The only explanation that ever came out of Ottawa was the preposterously wishy-washy statement that there was no job for him. Even Ottawa can usually do better than this when it comes to plain or fancy weaselling.

Through a notoriously unfriendly foreign newspaper, The Chicago Tribune, Canadians were told that Brig. Connelly had been fired because he failed to notify Ottawa about Canadian troops being sent to Koje to help clean up the scandalous mess which then existed there.

. . . We take a pallid view of top-grade, expensive army officers being tossed to the wolves because External Affairs lost its shirt in a political poker game. We train high officers to run the army and fight wars when necessary, not to be political tipsters hired to feed cunning ammunition to the backroom boys in the East Block.—Calgary Herald.

Ability Wasted

One thoroughly deplorable result of the United States elections this week must strike all those people who live under the Parliamentary form of government.

The people of the United States have been deprived entirely of the services of a brilliant, great American, Adlai Stevenson.

A man with great gifts to offer, a man who might today have been President and would have been without doubt a fine President, has been cast aside, given no status whatever, and the nation has nothing but a defeated candidate.

To us, this is the most shocking waste.

Nearly 26,000,000 Americans wanted him as President, and many millions more would undoubtedly have voted for him if they could have had him and his principles without the albatross of the Democratic Party record.

By the weird and wonderful workings of the U.S. electoral system, Adlai Stevenson either had to be President or nothing. We think this is a most serious defect in the system, which deprives a nation of the services of what might be aptly called the second-best but still excellent man.

We think this must have occurred to many thoughtful American citizens, and without desiring for a moment to appear smug and superior under our own system, we suggest that it is neither in the best interests of a State nor the interests of our free world to throw such valuable ability and wisdom on to the scrap-heap.—Calgary Herald.

Discrimination

Two days after the Canadian Congress of Labor had called for a non-discrimination clause in Dominion Government contracts, the Cabinet acted accordingly. From Jan. 1, 1953, on, no contractor working for Ottawa may discriminate against employees, or would-be employees, on the grounds of race, national origin, color or religion.

Within its limited field, this may end, or at any rate discourage, four kinds of discrimination. It does not end others. For example, there is the matter of union membership. There are roughly 4,000,000 workers in Canada who do not carry union cards as against roughly 1,000,000 who do. Is the Dominion Government prepared to forbid discrimination against these 4,000,000?

In the matter of contract work, Ottawa has put the Roman Catholic minority on the same basis as the Protestant majority. Why shouldn't it put the non-union majority on the same basis as the union minority, giving them the same right to be hired, the same right to be promoted? If it is wrong to discriminate against men because they refuse to join a particular church (or any church at all), it is equally wrong to discriminate against them because they refuse to join a particular union (or any union at all). Especially when there are 4,000,000 of them.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

Your Horoscope

This time is fine for attending to tasks at hand. Your next year promises a goodly measure of success, especially if you try to differentiate between true and false in all affairs. Born under these auspices, a child will doubtless be most appreciative of all life's activities and achieve success.

There's a divinity that shapes our ends, rough-hew them how we will.

Mrs. H. A. M., Nelson—Could you reprint the two ginger beer recipes, one using lemons and yeast?

To one gallon boiling water allow one and one-quarter pounds cube sugar, one ounce whole ginger, two lemons, half-ounce cream of tartar, half-ounce compressed yeast (or yeast cake), and one teaspoon powdered sugar. Put sugar, cream of tartar and bruised ginger into large vessel. Wipe lemons, peel off yellow rind very thinly, remove white pith, and cut remainder of lemons into thin slices. Add peel and slices to the other ingredients and pour over boiling water. Cover and leave to stand until lukewarm, stirring now and again until cube sugar has dissolved. Then add yeast (which has been mixed until liquid with the powdered sugar). Leave all standing in moderately warm place for 24 hours, then skim, strain free of sediment, bottle and tie down—or use screw-type bottles. The ginger beer should be ready for use in two or three days.

Ginger pop: To two gallons water allow two ounces whole ginger, one ounce cream of tartar, one and one-half pounds cube sugar, one tablespoon yeast, slice of toast. Bruise ginger and place it in large vessel with cream of tartar and cube sugar. Boil water and pour over them. Cover and leave till lukewarm. Add yeast, spread on toast, cover again, and leave all night. Then strain through a jelly-cloth or hair sieve and put into bottles with screw tops. Leave three days before using.

Verse

"Blessed Are Ye, When Men Shall Revile You for My Sake"

(Saint Matt., Ch. 5, Verse 11)

In a quiet little church, in the early morn,
A man knelt down in prayer.
When to fetch a book a Sidesman came,
The worshipper flushed in embarrassed shame
At being caught kneeling there.

The Sidesman, who knew the man, just said,
"How nice to see you here."
But the man, who, tho' he loved His Lord,
Had often openly scorned His Word,
Was troubled with one great fear.

"Do not say," he said, "I was here to pray.
My friends would not understand."
"You're a good-living man," the Sidesman replied,
"Why are you afraid and wish to hide
That you seek the touch of God's hand?"

Said the man, "I'd have no heart to carry on
If I hadn't God's strength and stay.
But my business colleagues would jeer and boo—
'Twould put me 'in wrong' with the neighbors, too—
If they knew I was here each day."

"Go ahead," said the Sidesman, "deny Him not,
And the jeer of the scoffer spurn.
And, brother, remember, in your great trust:
'Tis our souls live on—our forms came from dust,
And to dust they will return."

The Commonwealth conference just ended in London and the NATO and European Economic Cooperation meetings now under way in Paris are tied together in a search which, fundamentally, is just for one thing—a balanced economic base from which to conduct the cold war.

Canadian and American representatives are there too—consultatively in the council of the OEEC and actively in NATO.

In the economic conferences Europe is pointing out that changed concepts are needed in the field of trade if they are to be able to do what they need to do—and what the U. S. strongly urges them to do—in the military field.

As a consequence, the NATO meeting is largely exploratory, although it may work out some organization problems, such as a Mediterranean command. Major programming, such as the amount and nature of increased armed forces for 1953, must await the economic balance sheet and the inauguration of a new administration in the United States.

Europe is talking about a NATO program for the year which would back still further away from the manpower goals originally set and concentrate on quality. This is another way of relying primarily on the help of the United States, which has just announced plans for placing $1,000,000,000 worth of defence contracts abroad.

On the other hand, European economists are arguing more pointedly than ever that real European stability depends on cutting out U. S. economic aid and building up their own industries.

A large part of the European economic studies now under way is devoted to this monetary problem, usually working around to demands for lowered American tariffs to promote Europe's dollar earnings.

They argue that the United States, as the world's greatest creditor, is in an entirely different position from the United States which, a relatively few years ago, needed protective tariffs for young industries.

Where Congress has shown a tendency to sit tight and even extend protection, a surprising amount of business sentiment in the United States has been registered in favor of the European view through recent statements of industrialists. It was widely accepted at a recent forum held by the United States Council of the International Chamber of Commerce.

Fear, Deadly Weapon That Rules N.Y. Docks

NEW YORK (AP) — A sinister figure stands astride the world's biggest port. He is the racketeer, motivated by greed, reigning through fear.

The extent of his power and the ransom he exacts are being explored by the New York State Crime Commission. Public hearings last week showed what he had done.

Along the 700 miles of New York's sprawling waterfront, shipping each year does a $7,000,000,000 business. But racketeers milk an estimated $380,000,000 annually from the industry.

Last week many witnesses were placed on the stand. Longshoremen, shipping executives, heads of stevedoring concerns, labor bosses who would tell the commission no more than their names. Their testimony added up to this picture:

Handling virtually all ship-to-shore freight in the port of New York is the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL) headed by 68-year-old Joseph Ryan.

Ryan, elected to a life-time job as president, receives a $20,000 salary and has a $7200 expense account.

Commission witnesses had told of many embarrassing "goodwill" gifts to Ryan. But a few goodwill gifts were nothing compared with other items the commission dug up. Specifically:

A fur broker testified that a "patriotic" strike by ILA longshoremen in 1950 against handling any Russian goods did not prevent the unloading of $3,000,000 worth of Russian furs. He simply slipped $70,000 to two ILA local bosses.

During a 1949 strike, a produce dealer said he managed to get $100,000 worth of lemons unloaded by passing $10,000 to persons still unknown.

Last year, Michael Clemente, the most powerful ILA leader on the East River piers, asked the vice-president of a stevedoring concern for $11,000 to defray the costs of his daughter's wedding. He got it. Nobody has mentioned a repayment of the "loan."

Nearly every witness had the same sort of story to tell—if he was talking at all, and virtually all the union bosses weren't talking.

SING-SING AGENTS

An ex-convict pictured grim Sing Sing Prison as a sort of auxiliary hiring hall where hardened convicts were recruited for soft jobs on the New York waterfront. Tough ex-convicts can keep dockers in line; their mere strong-arm presence is a not-so-subtle way of showing management who are the real bosses of the piers.

Whether the problems can be alevited by changes or improvements in systems remains to be seen. Meanwhile the commission is turning a harsh bright light among the waterfront shadows.

It is expected eventually to make recommendations to the state legislature and open the way for prosecution of criminals who now wield tremendous power with the simple, dangerous weapon of fear.

Air-Marshall Making Progress in London

LONDON (CP) — Condition of Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, chief of the Canadian air staff, was described Monday as "satisfactory."

A spokesman for the Canadian joint staff said the air marshall spent a "comfortable night" in London's Westminster hospital, where he was taken following an emergency abdominal operation last Thursday.

Curtis was to have accompanied Defence Minister Claxton to Gros Tenquin, France, for Saturday's ceremony formally handing over the RCAF's No. 2 fighter wing.

REDS CLAIM 62 BRITISH, U. S. CONVERTS

TOKYO (AP) — The Chinese Communist radio claims that 62 British and United States prisoners-of-war in North Korea have signed a statement saying they changed their opinions while in captivity and now support the aims of the Communist "peace" congress in Vienna.

The Peiping broadcast, heard in Tokyo Saturday night, alleged the prisoners had written:

"We are men who now possess and voice entirely different opinions and views than those we held upon capture. Through the tireless efforts of our captors we have come to realize the vital necessity of an organization such as yours if the world is ever to attain lasting peace."

WHERE ON EARTH

AT THE turn of the century, every one in America was talking about a gaudy new animal—one which had just been born and which was to become immortal! For one night in 1897 a man wrote 4 lines about a purple cow, a simple nonsense rhyme which was repeated in countless poetry anthologies and spread throughout the world: "I never saw a Purple Cow, I never hope to see one; But I can tell you, Anyhow, I'd rather see than be one." The author was Gelett Burgess, and at the time he wrote the jingle he was a young instructor at the University of California. One night while Burgess and a friend were strolling in San Francisco, they paused for a drink at a water fountain. The fountain had been donated to the city by an ardent prohibitionist. Partly as a protest against this symbol of temperance and partly as a college prank, the two overturned the fountain—and fled! Their mischief earned them a severe scolding by the faculty, and they crept home in disgrace. But as Burgess sat brooding over his damaged reputation, two little boys burst into his study demanding one of the "songs" he often wrote for them. So to amuse his young friends and relieve his own misery, Burgess composed his purple cow jingle. The boys' laughter convinced him to make nonsense writing his career—a decision which was to win him a warm place in the heart of America!

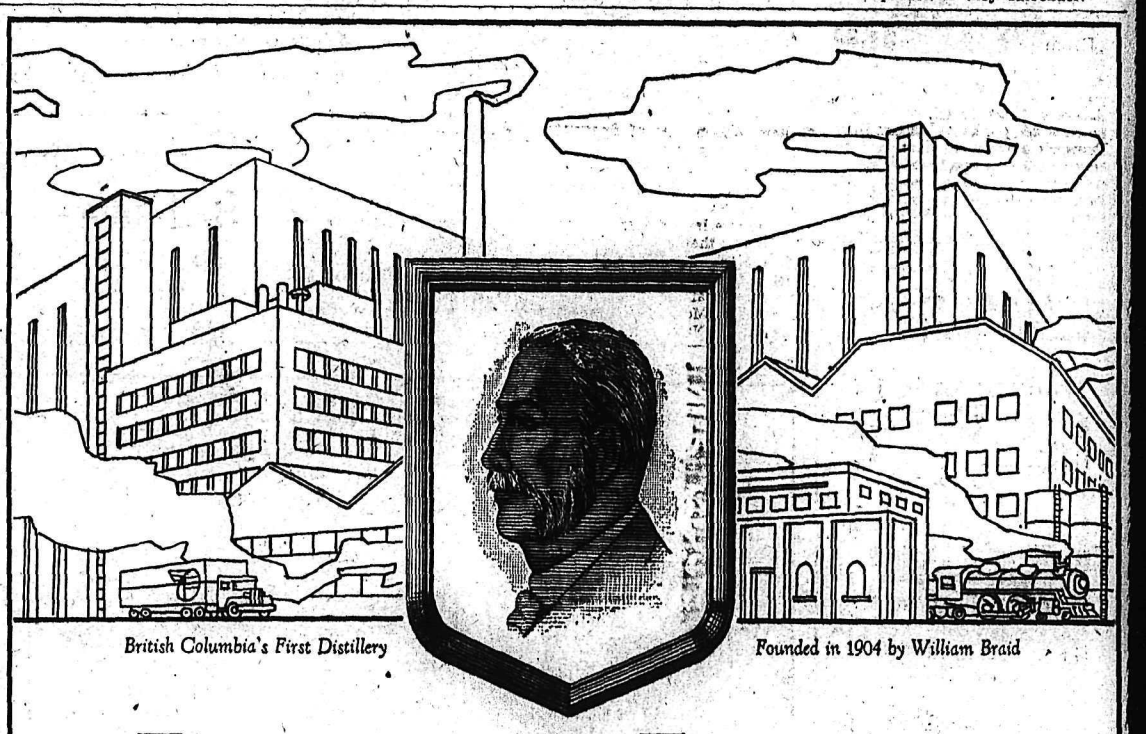
5 SPIES EXECUTED

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Five more alleged Communist spies were executed by firing squads Sunday, bringing the total of announced executions to 59 since Nov. 26.

There were indications that still more Reds would be executed by the Nationalist government following convictions by court-martial.

Authorities apparently hoped the firing squads would stimulate undetected Communists to heed offers to pardon if they surrender.



Founder with Foresight

In the days when British Columbia cities were being hewn out of giant forest stands, few men foresaw the tremendous future in store for Canada's Pacific Province.

One man who did was William Braid. In 1904, he founded the Province's first distillery—The British Columbia Distillery Company Limited in New Westminster.

At a time when that city's population was a mere nine thousand, William Braid was laying the firm foundations . . . setting the policy of quality . . . for an industry that has played an increasingly important part in B.C.'s economic development.

Since 1904, the Company has steadily expanded its facilities to meet the growing demand for its quality products at home and in the markets of the world.

Today, the modern British Columbia Distillery on New Westminster's Braid Street stands as tangible evidence of the foresight of its founder—William Braid.

Christmas Time Calls For Special Cookies

With tins of special cookies on hand, any hostess can make a good showing over the Christmas holidays.

By choosing cookies which will store well, one big baking spree can carry one right over the New Year. Here are some suggestions:

CHRISTMAS MACAROONS

3 egg whites
1 cup berry sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup coconut
½ cup candied cherries, chopped
¼ cup citron, finely shaved
¼ cup almonds, blanched and chopped

Beat egg whites until stiff. Combine sugar, salt, and cornstarch. Add gradually to egg whites and beat constantly. Cook in top of double boiler over hot water until mixture thickly coats the spoon. Remove from heat. Fold in nuts and fruit. Roll in small balls. Bake on well-greased cookie sheet in slow oven, 300 deg. F., for 20 to 30 minutes or until browned. Yield: about 3 dozen macaroons.

CHRISTMAS ROLLS

1 cup coconut
½ pound almonds
¼ pound cherries
1 egg, beaten
¼ teaspoon salt

Put cherries and almonds through food chopper. Add egg; coconut and salt to the ground ingredients. Roll into shape about the size of your little finger. Roll in granulated sugar.

SNOWBALLS

2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 cup chopped dates
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup medium shredded cocoanut
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon baking soda

Beat together eggs and sugar. Add dates and rest of ingredients. Use a teaspoon of mixture to mold into a ball. Roll it in more cocoanut. Bake in moderate oven 350 deg. F., for 18 minutes or until light brown.

CHERRY ALMOND SHORTBREAD

1 cup butter
1 cup brown sugar
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ cup glazed cherries
½ cup blanched almonds, silvered

Cream butter, add sugar gradually, then flour, cherries and almonds. Shape into long rolls. Wrap in foil. Chill. Slice to desired thickness. Bake in moderate oven, 325 deg. F., for 10 to 20 minutes, depending on the size of slices.

MOCHA BALLS

1 cup brown sugar
1/3 cup butter
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup strong coffee
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
⅛ teaspoon salt

Cream butter and sugar together thoroughly. Add eggs, coffee and flavoring. Sift dry ingredients. Add to first mixture, stirring consistently. Drop into small, well-greased muffin pans. Bake in moderate oven 350 deg. F., for 12 to 15 minutes, or until done. This depends on muffin pan size. When cold, dip in mocha icing and roll in crushed or ground browned peanuts. This batter can be baked in a square cake pan, cooled, then cut into squares.

MOCHA BUTTER ICING

4 tablespoons butter
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 cups sifted icing sugar
2 tablespoons cocoa
2 tablespoons strong coffee
½ teaspoon vanilla
Few drops peppermint flavoring (optional)

Cream butter until soft, work sugar sifted with cocoa into butter alternately with hot coffee. Beat until smooth.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W
A X Y D L B A A X B

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

M Y Q R G . Y L Z W G J B I S M Z M Y Q R G T B K W G P I Q . B J J V . Y L Z P I Q B J J V Y M I L J — B K M N I D .

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: VERILY, I SWEAR 'TIS BETTER TO BE LOWLY BORN.—SHAKESPEARE.

Market Trends

NEW YORK (AP) — Railroad stocks were out in front of an advancing market.

Canadian issues were mixed. Canadian Pacific and Hiram Walker each gained ¼. Distillers Seagram was unchanged, and McIntyre was not quoted.

TORONTO (CP)—Oils led a general advance.

Industrials were mixed, but other sections were firm. Base metals and Western oils gained more than half a point on the Exchange's indexes and golds added a smaller amount.

MONTREAL (CP)—Trading was slow, with price variations small and few, as the stock market hovered around dead-centre.

There were only three movements, two up and one down. Consolidated Smelters and B.A. Oil moved ahead, and Famous Players was off.

LONDON (Reuters) — London was becalmed, with activity and movement generally limited.

In British Government securities fractional losses were widespread. Among foreign bonds Germans were steadier, but Japanese eased.

MINING IN THE KOOTENAY . . .

Encouraging Results In Rossland Work

Rossland Mining Company Limited, carrying out an exploration and development program on gold-silver-copper-lead-zinc orebodies in the "South Belt" at Rossland, has announced encouraging results in current work. Interesting information has been obtained from drill hole No. 57, drilled to the Northeast from the No. 2 level to the East of the monzonite dike which is an important geological feature of the Bluebird section of the Rossland's extensive holdings.

Between 133.6 and 139.8 feet this horizontal hole cored 26.2 feet of vein material returning values in gold, silver and copper, particular emphasis is attached to the copper mineralization. Results obtained previously in the program showed good values in silver-lead-zinc ore, but the new discovery appears to be similar to the old Rossland orebodies at the Le Roi, Centre Star and other properties long famous in B. C. mining annals. An analysis of the first 10.65 feet of core from the No. 57 hole showed an average of 0.16 ounce gold, 5.64 ounces silver, and 0.7 per cent copper.

After geological examination of favorable areas on the company's claims, Rossland has carried on steady underground exploration designed to test the possibilities of the Mayflower and Bluebird Zones. First work, which provided an indicated tonnage of 16,000 in the upper horizon of the Mayflower zone, has been followed by a sustained underground program on the Bluebird. To date, the driving of two levels on the Bluebird has required more than 1800 feet of crosscutting and drifting, as well as more than 3500 feet of diamond drilling. Late in November a winze from the No. 2 level was down 78 feet of a projected 160 feet.

* * *

Estimated ore reserves of 15,000 tons in the 1-13 zone, 6000 tons in the 2-18 zone and 2-19 zones, and 16,000 tons in the Mayflower zones are considered assured. From the work done to date, the management feels justified in estimating an additional 90,000 to 100,000 tons of possible ore.

Meanwhile, it is interesting to note that the co-discoverer of this group of mines in Rossland, long believed dead, is residing in Spokane.

Joe Moris, co-discoverer of the Le Roi Mine, once one of the richest gold producers in the world, was recently awarded a life membership in the Northwest Mining Association. Mr. Moris will celebrate his 88th birthday Christmas Day. He left this district in 1895.

* * *

After a closure of more than 10 years, two of the district's best-known mines will likely resume operations, it has been reported. The Yankee Girl and the Dundee, located on adjoining properties, are situated about one and a half miles from Ymir, on Dundee Mountain.

For the past week development work has been started at the mines. A four-man board of directors has been formed. Claims on the gold-lead-zinc producers were staked in the early '90s.

The original workings were on the Bear Creek slope of Dundee Mountain, but these were abandoned and a new shaft sunk at Wildhorse Creek, about a mile away. A new shaft was being sunk and intended to reach the four parallel veins of the Yankee Girl and one of the Dundee at depth. The 1929 stock market crash, however, ended these operations.

Later, the mines were occasionally worked until 1941, but high costs kept success at a minimum level.

The new company has an estimated 1500 feet to go to reach the gold-carrying ore, if present plans are carried out. This will cut the structures 800 feet below the old main haulage level.

Two Doctors Charged With Deaths of Human Guinea Pigs

By GERALD LONG

METZ, France (Reuters) — Two German doctors go on trial before a military court today charged with the wholesale butchering of Jewish and gypsy "guinea pigs" in wartime medical experiments.

Prof. Eugen Hagen, 52, and Prof. Otto Brickenbach, 48, are accused of killing at least 90 inmates of a Nazi concentration camp with injections of typhus and other deadly diseases. But the prosecution says it believes they did away with hundreds of others.

Four other doctors, who assisted Hagen and Brickenbach in their research at the University of Strasbourg but have never been caught, will be tried in absentia.

BENEFITTED MANKIND

The defence is expected to argue that the experiments conducted by Hagen, Brickenbach and their associates really benefitted mankind. The expected testimony on these lines has already aroused great scientific interest.

The prosecution says the experiments began in 1942 when large numbers of German soldiers were dying of typhus on the Russian front. The Nazi high command ordered German scientists to give absolute priority to a hunt for preventative serums and cures.

August Hirt, professor of anatomy at the University of Strasbourg — run by the Germans during the war —and one of the four defendants who will not be in court, complained to his superiors that he needed "fresh, well-nourished corpses" for the anti-typhus research. Emaciated corpses of Russian prisoners who died in the nearby Alsatian camp of Mutzig were useless, he said.

EXTERMINATION CAMP

Nazi leaders told him he could find lots of human guinea pigs at the Struthof extermination camp near Strasbourg.

The prosecution contends that Hirt and the other five doctors visited the camp, where 8000 Jews and gypsies, chosen by Hitler for extermination, were crowded into miserable huts intended for only 3000 prisoners.

Josef Kramer, executed after the war for crimes committed at Belsen death camp, was then Struthof commandant. He paraded his prisoners for the scientists who chose some "specimens" for their research. Others were ordered shipped from Eastern Germany.

Finally, when all the prisoners had arrived, they were isolated and fattened.

KILLED IN GAS CHAMBER

Then 87 of them, including 30 women, were killed in a gas chamber. Their corpses were sent to the Strasbourg laboratories.

The prosecution charges that the doctors also used 80 live gypsies for experiments with anti-typhus serums. Many of them died.

In 1944, as the invading Allied armies swept through France, the six doctors became worried. They ordered that 20 bodies Hirt was studying at the time should be made unidentifiable.

The corpses were cut up into small pieces with a power saw and the heads severed at the shoulders and destroyed.

When French troops entered Strasbourg they found preserving fluid baths full of human remains.

CALGARY (CP) — Trade was only moderately active and prices lower on some classes on the Calgary livestock exchange, though offerings were only 395 cattle and calves. Quality was very ordinary.

Russians Asked to Snoop on Families

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda warned Russian citizens that they'd better keep a close watch on the spending habits of their close relatives and tell the Government if they start living beyond their means.

Pravda also implied that relatives who benefit from the wrongdoing of embezzlers and thieves should also be punished.

"Vigilance also is necessary inside families. It is the direct duty of close relatives to protect every member of the family from a serious sin against society," said the Communist Party organ.

Coast Police to Enforce Gas Law

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police said proprietors of two gas stations will be summonsed on charges of violating Vancouver's new 7 p.m. closing by-law.

The by-law was enacted recently, forcing all stations out of the downtown area to stop selling gas at 7 p.m. every day except Sunday.

A spokesman for one service station said police visited his premises Saturday night, taking down the number of gallons sold and names and addresses of customers.

Korean Casualties

OTTAWA (CP)—A Korean casualty list Monday included two men killed, five wounded and one injured in action. The last list was issued Dec. 10.

The Army list brought to 1260 total casualties so far suffered by Canadian troops in Korea, including 236 dead, 910 wounded, 28 missing, 85 injured and one captured.

No B. C. names were listed.

Chetwynd, Bennett To Discuss Herring Dispute

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fisheries Minister Ralph Chetwynd plans to confer with Premier W. A. C. Bennett on the dispute between herring fishermen and operators.

He told union officials here that he had not entirely rejected arbitration as a means of settling the dispute.

A petition, signed by 200 members of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union TLC, was presented to Mr. Chetwynd.

It said: "If both parties fail to agree on scope of arbitration, the government should use its power under the Fisheries Act to define the scope of arbitration and to establish an arbitration board."

The fishermen seek higher prices for their catch and have been idle since October.

Forty-Nine Trapped In Manila Mine

MANILA (AP)—Forty-nine miners were trapped and presumed killed Monday when a river broke through a gold-mine shaft and engulfed them in a thundering wall of water.

It was the worst mine disaster on record in the Philippines.

The water rushed into a 400-foot-deep tunnel of the United Paracale Mining Co. on Southeastern Luzon.

J. V. Stapler, company spokesman, said:

"The whole mine is reported flooded. There isn't a chance that they survived."

Riddled by Rogues

LONDON (Reuters) — The Russian retail trade is riddled with "swindlers and rogues", the official Soviet Communist Party organ says. Moscow radio, quoting from the Party paper, Pravda, said, "Swindlers and rogues are everywhere infiltrating into the sales organization."

Hume Has $7500 Question

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor Fred Hume hasn't decided what he will do with his $7500 salary next year.

He is still considering whether he will accept the money and spend it on charities, or let the city council decide where it should go, or keep it.

During his first year in office all donations he wished to make had to receive approval of the city council. He said he ended up the year with a surplus in the fund, and that finance officials tried to channel it back into the city's general revenue account.

Mayor Hume got the money back early this year, and accepted his 1952 salary to spend as he saw fit. He said it has all gone to charity and that he has records to show where it went.

Britain to Close Tientsin Office

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain has decided to shut down another of her consulates in Communist China, leaving only one consulate and the embassy at Peiping.

The Foreign Office announced Monday that the consulate general at Tientsin, Northeast China, will be closed. The sole remaining consulate outside of Peiping is at Shanghai.

The declared reason for the British closures is that more and more British firms are leaving China because of conditions imposed upon them by the Communists. There now are about 540 British subjects left in China, of whom 400 live in Shanghai.

Indian Celebrates 176th Birthday

ALLAHABAD, India (Reuters)—A local paper here reported recently that Baba Harainsingh has celebrated his 176th birthday and hopes to live for another 25 years. The paper said Baba had grown a complete new set of teeth, the previous ones having fallen out when he was about 100, in the 1870s. His grey hair is also turning black again.

Queen Has Happy Canadian Memories

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today that in a private audience with the Queen in London, Dec. 1, he had conveyed the loyalty of Canadians to Her Majesty and "the Crown she symbolizes with such distinction."

The Queen, he told the Commons, authorized him to convey to the House her satisfaction with this message of loyalty. She spoke of the happy memories of her Canadian visit a year ago and her esteem for Canada and Canadians.

The Prime Minister relayed the Queen's message to the House both in French and English.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, welcomed the message from the Queen. One reason so many were choosing Canada as a new home was their respect for the institutions of which Her Majesty was the living symbol.

Crack Down on Arena Smoking; To Look Into Alberta Baseball Plan

The installation of a new, all-weather clock at the Civic Arena was approved at a meeting of the Civic Centre Commission Monday.

The clock, which has a 16-inch face, advertises a watch company, and will be installed and maintained at no cost to the commission.

The five commissioners authorized Jack B. Morgan, secretary-manager of the Civic Centre, to send a letter to Nelson's Chief of Police Robert Harshaw asking that the three policemen on duty at the arena during hockey games enforce the "no smoking" regulation more strictly.

Fire rules forbid smoking in any part of the arena, including the concession where refreshments are sold, and there are "No Smoking" signs posted in the concession room and around the arena. Some of the commissioners noted that the rule is being consistently violated, and that little attempt has been made to check on the offenders.

A request by G. P. Beattie of Nelson for the use of the badminton hall for weekly dances was turned down, since the hall is in full use under the present schedule.

BALL ARRANGEMENT

A letter was received from an Alberta Baseball Tournament Association, and the commissioners decided to write requesting further information. When a city affiliates with the association, exhibition games with big-name ball teams are arranged.

The Commission voted to hold the usual free Christmas skating session and party for children on Boxing Day. Free skating tickets will be given away instead of the usual gifts of candy and nuts.

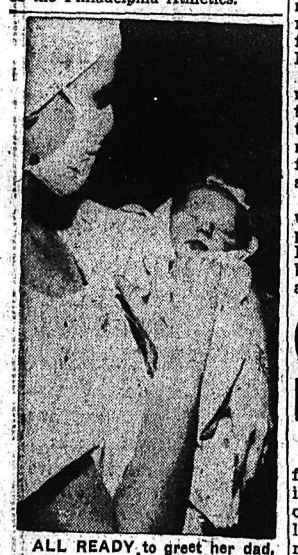
Those attending the meeting were chairman R. (Fritz) Farenholtz, George Eckmier, Earl C. Hunt, Dr. Chester E. Bradshaw and J. J. (Mickey) McEwen.

Connie Mack to See 90th Birthday

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Connie Mack ran out on his 90th birthday party while his sons, Roy and Earle, weren't looking.

The grand old man of baseball is taking in the warm sun of Florida these days and probably will spend his 90th birthday Dec. 23 with his son, Connie, Jr., a shrimp boat owner.

"Dad snuck out while we were at Phoenix, Ariz., attending the baseball meetings," Roy Mack said Monday. He was a little perturbed since he had planned a special birthday celebration for the aged president of the Philadelphia Athletics.



ALL READY to greet her dad, is the 6¾ pound daughter of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, born to Mrs. Marciano at the Brockton, Mass., hospital. Nurse Miriam Simmons, who holds the baby, says "she's a knockout."

Police Unable to Trace Bribers

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police are convinced there was "no serious attempt" to bribe boxer Eddie Jones.

Jones reported last week that two men had offered him $300 "Christmas money" to take a dive in the first round of a fight with Bill Brenner here.

Detectives Monday said they had not located the persons who made the suggestion but were convinced the attempt was "not serious" and not followed up. They were satisfied, however, that someone had spoken to Jones, they said.

Police also said they had been unable to trace the source of a phone call offering money to Dave Brown, coach of the police mutual benefit association, if three of his amateur boxers lost their fights.

Charles Licks Frankie Burford

BOSTON (AP) — Ezzard Charles, former world heavyweight champion, scored a technical knockout over young Frankie Buford of Oakland, Calif., in 2:13 of the seventh round of their scheduled 10-rounder in Boston Garden Monday night.

Charles dropped Buford for a four-count with a two-fisted attack in the sixth and then referee Joe Zapustas stopped it after a straight right to the jaw felled Buford for eight in the next round. Charles weighed 187 to Buford's 202.

Coaches School To Mean Bigger Basketball Doings

Chances are that come the New Year, Nelson basketball enthusiasts will be seeing a good deal of action on the local courts, for plans are now under way to hold a school for coaches. When finished the course it is hoped that the candidates will take over various kids teams and form a league.

Plans for the senior men are also in the early stages, but if things pan out there is a possibility that a four-team city league will be formed, comprised of two school teams, the High School Bombers and the Notre Dame Pups along with two local senior B teams.

Stan Payne, Pro-Rec organizer, said Monday that he was quite confident that the plans would work out satisfactorily.

Brundage Would Ban Women From Olympics

CHICAGO (CP) — Avery Brundage, the solemn watchdog of Olympic amateurism, has come up with some suggestions which are likely to produce plenty of argument.

For one, he suggests that all events for women be eliminated from the Olympics.

Brundage made the recommendation Saturday in his position as president of the International Olympic Committee. It is one of several ideas for streamlining games.

He said the women can have their own private Olympic games as in ancient times.

STOLE SPOTLIGHT

Over the years women have often stolen the spotlight at the Olympics. They include figure-skater Barbara Ann Scott and sprinter Fanny Blankers-Koen. Brundage, who incurred considerable public wrath when he barred swimmer Eleanor Holm from the Olympics for unbecoming shipboard conduct and forced Barbara Ann to give back the automobile the city of Ottawa had given her, may expect to run into a lot more controversy over this suggestion.

Other recommendations listed in Brundage's report:

1. Eliminate some of the optional sports entirely.
2. Transfer some sports to the Winter Games.
3. Eliminate all team sports.
4. Use regional games as elimination events for the Olympics.
5. Impose standards in each sport which must be met by all entrants.

Brundage said that in the 1948 London games it was reported some 800 competitors entered but did not participate at all.

7. Reduce the number of entrants in all individual events.

UNWIELDY SIZE

"Everyone agrees something must be done," Brundage said of the unwieldy size of the Olympics.

He called upon all Olympic organizations not only to "firmly enforce" the amateur code, but also to "initiate and actively promote a program of education on the advantages of amateurism, for the general public and for the press of the world."

"If the games are to become contests between paid gladiators of the different nations and the desire to win at any costs supplants the friendly rivalry of pure amateur sport, the games will have lost all their purpose."

Rangers Call Up MacIntosh

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ian Mackintosh, high-scoring Vancouver Canuck forward, has been called up by New York Rangers, club owner Coley Hall announced Monday.

Mackintosh will join George Senick of Saskatoon, the Western Hockey League's leading scorer, who was called up last week by the Rangers, parent club for both teams.

Mackintosh is expected to be in the lineup when the Rangers meet Toronto Wednesday.

Hall said he expects an immediate replacement from the Rangers, probably Andy Bathgate.

Sugar Ray Retiring?

NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson is back in town from the cabaret floodlights, and there are fresh reports that his retirement as middleweight champion is only hours away.

A close friend and adviser said Robinson, 31, has prepared his retirement announcement and is ready to submit it to Abe Greene, commissioner of the National Boxing Association.

"My understanding was that the announcement would be made today (Monday) and Sugar Ray insisted that it should come from the NBA office," said the source, who asked that he not be identified.

HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION of the world, Rocky Marciano steadies himself for the impact from a Florence Chadwick "special," as the champ engaged in giving a few pointers to the channel swimmer at San Bernardino, Calif., recently. Rocky considers swimming an important part of his training program and exchanged boxing lessons for pointers in swimming. Rocky, who was on a refereeing tour of the West coast, flew back to his Brockton, Mass., home when his wife gave birth to a baby girl, the couple's first.

Moore in Shape for Crack at Maxim's Title

By MURRAY ROSE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Archie Moore has to pinch himself every now and then just to believe that he's actually getting a crack at Joey Maxim's light heavyweight title here Wednesday night.

"Year after year I went along knowing that I deserved the chance at the title and hoping that I would get it and nothing happened," said Moore as he wound up training.

"Then all of a sudden I've got it —and it seems so sudden, just like a dream."

Now that he has his opportunity, the husky, 36-year-old Negro intends to make the most of it. He's trained harder and longer for this 15-rounder than for any other scrap in his 16-year pro career.

9 WEEKS TRAINING

"I've put in nine weeks training and have boxed between 130 and 140 rounds," said Moore. "I'm ready now as I'll ever be and I'm going to take that title. That's what I've been working for these years.

"I've seen Maxim fight and I always did believe I could beat him even in his best days."

Long hailed as the "uncrowned champion" as titleholder after titleholder passed him by for easier opponents, Moore feels that at 36 he's as good now and maybe better than ever before.

"I knew that if I ever was going to get my chance I would have to keep up with the current contenders," he said.

In the last three years, Moore has lost only once in 28 fights and has scored 19 knockouts. His victims included heavyweight contenders Clarence Henry and Jimmy Bivins.

His sole loss was to rugged Harold Johnson, the Philadelphia 175-pound contender, on Dec. 10 last year. He avenged that defeat by whipping Johnson a month and a half later.

Indian Batters Among the Best

CHICAGO (AP)—Cleveland Indians, whose bid for the 1952 pennant folded in the last month of the campaign, won most of the blue chips in batting, according to official American League statistics.

Ferris Fain, Philadelphia Athletics' 30-year-old first baseman, was the 1952 batting champion with .327. He won the crown in 1951 with .344.

5 OTHERS HONORED

While Fain set the percentage pace, five Cleveland players combined for an assortment of honors. Dale Mitchell placed second to Fain with .323; Bobby Avila led in triples with 11; and Larry Doby, Luke Easter and Al Rosen cleaned up all along the line.

Doby took the home-run title with 32 and also scored the most runs, 104, to edge out team-mates Avila with 102 and Rosen with 101.

Easter, the huge first sacker who was deported to Indianapolis, then returned and almost carried the Indians to the flag, slammed 31 homers to press Doby for the crown.

Third baseman Rosen was tops in runs batted in with 105.

Despite the batting power clustered by Cleveland, New York Yankees smashed to the team-hitting crown with a collective .267, five better than the Indians' mark.

London Times Lauds Truman's Policy

LONDON (Reuters)—The Times said Monday President Truman has led the greatest peacetime revolution in United States policy. It says: "Anyone less endowed with moral purpose or with a lower sense of responsibility might have been content to swing with the tide of opinion. B. C. May Get 3rd Horse Race Track

VICTORIA (CP) — British Columbia may have a new horse racetrack operating in 1954.

Royal Portage Parks Ltd. proposes to build a track and exhibition buildings on 530 acres in suburban Saanich. Ratepayers approved the plan Saturday in a referendum, 2188 votes to 1982.

The project still requires approval of the Saanich municipal council.

A. M. Taylor Spittal, Victoria insurance broker and a company director, said today Royal Portage will start negotiations immediately to buy an existing racing franchise or, failing this, ask the provincial government to grant a franchise.

B.C. now has two tracks in operation: Lansdowne and Exhibition at Vancouver.

Nelson Legion Intermediate hockey club will meet the leading Trail Ironmen of the Smelter League Saturday at the Civic Centre.

In the locals' last meeting against a Smelter League team the game ended in a 5-5 stalemate.

The Trail club, which has lost but one game in seven starts, has several ex-Smoke Eaters, such as Jim Mailey, Emil Kwasnie and Kenny Stanton. It will be remembered that Stanton played a prominent role in the Smokies winning of the B.C. championship last season.

The Nelson squad has some fine players in Mickey Maglio, George Scott, Doug Winlaw, Al Larsen, Ron Wylie, Dunc Jamieson and Bob Koehle.

Coach Johnny Fargher predicts an improved performance over the opening game.

Two practices will be held this week with the first one scheduled for Tuesday at 9:30 p.m. and the second 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

"Little Mo" Has 2nd Winning Year

NEW YORK (AP) — For the second successive year, 'teen-aged Maureen Connolly of San Diego has won top ranking among United States women tennis players; and for the first time a Negro player has achieved a top 10 ranking.

These ranking are commendations of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association ranking committee, which still must be approved by the association's annual meeting Jan. 17.

"Little Mo" Connolly, a cub reporter on a San Diego newspaper when she isn't playing tennis, won the U.S. national championship and the Wimbledon title, and led the American women's team to victory over Britain in the Wightman Cup matches.

She now is in Australia, where she has won the New South Wales and Victorian tournaments.

Ranked second behind Miss Connolly is Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., runner-up in the national championships. Miss Hart, 1951 Wimbledon champion, also was second last year. Shirley Fry of Akron, O., retained third place.

Althea Gibson of New York, the Negro player, was ranked ninth in the country.

Australasia Backs Churchill's Plea

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill made it clear today he has won the support of Australia and New Zealand for his demand that Britain be given a voice in the two countries' Pacific defence pact with the United States.

A brief communique from Churchill's office said:

"The prime ministers of the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand took the opportunity provided by the Commonwealth economic conference to discuss the situation in the Pacific and the problem of southeast Asia.

"They reached complete understanding with regard to certain fundamental propositions which will in due course, be the subject of friendly discussion with their allies, the United States."

The joint proposals—details of which still are secret—likely will be put before resident-elect Eisenhower of the U.S. by Churchill himself after the Republican administration takes over early next month.

Little Adjustment

WASHINGTON (CP)—Harry Truman was officially referred to in 1949 as the 32nd president of the United States but his successor, Dwight Eisenhower, will be known as the 34th president. The decision to change the number results from the fact that Grover Cleveland is counted twice since his two terms were separated by the term of Benjamin Harrison.
