Korea Reds Throw Allies in Retreat

Strike to Within 47 Miles of Fallen Capital; Troop Movement in Manchuria Seen; Trap U. S. Cavalrymen

SEOUL, Nov. 3 (Friday) (AP) — Enemy troops today struck to within 47 miles of their fallen capital of Pyongyang, throwing the entire Allied front in Northwest Korea into retreat.

The U. S. 24th Division, whose tanks had bowled to within 15 miles of the Manchurian border, raced back as much as 50 miles to avoid entrapment. Commonwealth forces retreated with the Americans.

Elements of two regiments of the proud and veteran U. S. 1st Cavalry Division were cut off in the Unsan sector on the 24's Eastern flank.

U.S. 2nd Division troops were rushed North to the Chongchon river 40 miles or so North of Pyongyang to try to shore up the sagging allied line.

The enemy battled with rockets, tanks and artillery in surprising strength. Chinese Communist troops by front-line account were in the attack.

U.S. Pilots reported new and ominous movements of Red forces in the Manchuria-Korea border area along the Yalu river. They spoke of these forces as moving "toward Korea." That would imply that the forces were in Manchuria.

Swift enemy jet fighters, possibly from Manchurian bases, flashed over the battlefields for the second day in a row.

Only in Northeastern Korea were U.N. forces on the offensive. U.S. marines jumped off in a general attack this morning toward Changjin reservoir, which is believed defended by Chinese Red troops.

U.S. 10th Corps headquarters did not disclose how many marines were in the attacking force. However, three days ago Maj.-Gen. Edward M. Almond said a big blow would be needed to determine the strength of the Chinese Reds in the Northeast.

The marines began their attack from Sudong, 20 miles South of the hydro-electric complex which supplies most of Northeast Korea's power. There were no early reports on the Marines' progress.

A Communist communique, broadcast by Soviet radios in Moscow and Khabarovsk, claimed the allied drives North toward the border had been checked by Red counter-attacks.

Arrival of the 2nd Division — previously reported in Northwest Korea — came as the United Nations position was described officially as "very serious" by U.S. Eighth Army headquarters. A 1st Corps spokesman said it was "not so good as it could be and not as good as we would like it."

Efforts by other cavalrymen to rescue their 1000 trapped comrades in the Unsan area failed.

The 1st Corps spokesman said about half the American force filtered through the Red ring during the night and got back to U.N. lines. They abandoned all their heavy equipment and vehicles.

While the extent of Chinese Communist participation was not clear, it was obvious the enemy had picked up powerful support, tanks, planes, and artillery, from some quarter. The North Koreans who fled from the debacle in South Korea had left all their heavy equipment behind.

Americans who escaped said there were many Chinese Reds in the attacking force. A captured Chinese prisoner said there were 3000 Chinese Communist troops in the action. The Reds used American equipment against the trapped force. (How they got it was not clear; it could be booty taken from the Chinese Nationalists long ago.)

AP correspondent Tom Lambert, with the 1st Cavalry Division, said the Red attack was effectively carried out.

It began about sunset Wednesday and continued until dawn Thursday.

The Reds came at the Americans with bazookas, Browning automatic rifles, Thompson sub-machine-guns and rapid-firing "Grese-guns."

The trapped troops fought back all night. At daylight a rescue team from other 1st Cavalry units ran into heavy Red fire at Yongson, about a mile from the surrounded men. It was unable to break through.

Tank radios of the surrounded force, which had been silent all morning came on the air late Thursday and directed allied plane strikes at the Reds.

Presumably, it was over these radios that the trapped men were told rescue was impossible and that they should try to get out on their own.

CHINESE "CRAZY"

A sergeant who escaped said the Chinese soldiers in the attacking force acted "crazy."

"They would stand right up in front of you, laughing to beat hell," he said. "We killed them by the hundreds. Stil they kept coming."

NO URANIUM ORE PLANTS FOUND

U.S. 10th CORPS HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Nov. 2 (AP)—Tenth Corps headquarters said today no atomic energy installations have been found in Northeastern Korea.

Headquarters issued a statement which said:

"Uranium ore plants or other plants connected with production of atom bombs have not been discovered in the Tenth Corps area of operations up to the present time."

There have been reports published in the United States that atomic installations were in the Hamhung-hungnam industrial area."

India Sees Likely Peaceful Tibetan War Settlement

By STEVEN N. DAVID

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 3 (Friday) (AP) — India disclosed today she has told Communist China that her invasion of Tibet is unjustified. At the same time it was suggested that a negotiated settlement of Chinese-Tibetan differences still is possible.

Prime Minister Nehru's government made public three notes exchanged between New Delhi and Peiping, Red China's capital, since the Peiping radio announced 10 days ago a Chinese army had been ordered to "liberate the 3,000,000 Tibetans." The Communist vanguard now is reported within 200 miles of Lhasa, Tibetan capital.

An Indian note to China last week expressed surprise and regret at the invasion order. China replied sharply that the issue was strictly domestic. A second Indian note also sharply phrased, contained a paragraph that official quarters said was "a possible opening."

This referred to a seven-man Tibetan delegation now at the border city of Kalimpong on a projected trip to Peiping after talks with Chinese diplomats here for an accord on relations between China and Tibet ,which has claimed autonomy, from China for years.

"In view of these developments the note said, "the government of India is no longer in a position to advise the Tibetan delegation to proceed to Peiping unless the Chinese government thinks it fit to order its troops to halt their advance into Tibet . . ."

The Tibetan delegation nevertheless has planned to leave Kalimpong for Peiping at the weekend. The leader is Finance Minister Tsepon Shakabpa, who said in an interview before leaving New Delhi Oct. 25 that the group had "an open mind and full hopes of an amicable settlement."

Refuse to Accept Guilty Plea

WINNIPEG, Nov. 2 (CP) A jury tomorrow will decide the fate of Walter S. Stoney who three times has attempted and failed to enter a plea of guilty to a murder charge in the ice-pick slaying of Mrs. Martha Perreault.

Today, Stoney took the stand in his own defence and instead of answering questions, repeatedly said he was sick and wanted to plead guilty.

Twice previous the accused attempted to plead guilty, once at his arraignment Oct. 17 and again on the second day of the trial. The court refused to accept the plea on all occasions.

Samuel Freedman, appointed defence counsel by the court, today asked the jury to acquit the 39-year-old transient on a finding of insanity.

CHARGE TORIES TRYING TO STIR UP TROUBLE BETWEEN U. S., BRITAIN

LONDON, Nov. 2 (Reuters)—The Labor Government again charged in parliament today that Conservatives are trying to stir up trouble between Britain and the United States.

Hugh Gaitskell, who has just succeeded Sir Stafford Cripps as boss of the Treasury, attacked Oliver Lyttelton, one of Winston Churchill's chief lieutenants, for suggesting that the government was working out its rearmament plans on a "business as usual basis."

Quiet Tibet Resounds to Communist War Machine

This is an air view of Shigatse, the second largest city in Tibet, surrounded by the typical mountainous ranges of the country. The Chinese Communist radio at Peking has announced that China's Red army has been ordered to march into Tibet "to free 3,000,000 Tibetans from imperialist oppression". The little-known mountain plateau land of Tibet covers 475,000 square miles. It was nominally under the rule of China, but broke China's hold during the 1911 revolution.

Americans Buying Canadian Securities in Large Amounts

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP) — United States investors gobbled up Canadian securities so fast in August that they led to Canada achieving unprecedented net monthly sales of $53,900,000.

This was disclosed today by the Bureau of Statistics in a report of international security transactions for the month preceding announcement of the decision to free the dollar.

When the dollar was set free Sept. 30, officials stated that the main reason was the heavy pressure of speculative or "hot" money flowing into Canada in such large quantities that they could not be matched by Canadian exports.

Today's report showed just how vast this demand for Canadian securities was. Practically all of Canada's bond and security sales in August were made with U.S. investors, the Bureau said.

4 TIMES GREATER

As a result of August's heavy demand for Canadian securities — a repetition of the demand which began to develop sharply in June and July—Canada's cumulative sales balance to all countries during the first eight months of 1950 advanced to $73,300,000.

This compared with a small purchase balance last year. It was almost four times the sales balance recorded at the end of July.

In August, Dominion bond sales accounted for 80 per cent of net sales of securities to all countries, the Bureau said. Practically all net sales of these bonds — at $43,400,000 for the month — went to United States purchasers.

Net sales of other types of securities to the United States amounted to $10,800,000.

These net sales balances cover the surplus of sales over purchases. In August, total gross sales to the U.S. amounted to $72,000,000. Purchases from that country by Canadian investors amounted to $17,900,000.

In security trade with the United Kingdom, the smallest volume since August 1949, was recorded. Canadian investors purchased about 10 times more from Britain than Britain did from Canada. The figures: sales to the U.K., $100,000; purchases from the U.K., $1,000,000.

October Has 60 Hours of Sun, 6.72 Inches Rain

Residents in Nelson District did not see much of the sun during October but according to measurements made at the Crescent Valley Radio Range Station the old sun did shine for 60 hours.

Continued rainy weather throughout the month was the cause of the short hours of sunshine which was a considerable drop from September's showing of 252.7 hours.

The maximum temperature for the month was 68 degrees above on Oct. 7, while minimum was 30.6 degress on Oct. 3.

The mean maximum was 51.8 and mean minimum was recorded at 38.6 above.

Twenty days with rainfall during October saw 6.72 inches measured.

He was sentenced by Mr. Justice Cody after a jury had brought in a verdict of guilty at the Assizes here.

West-German Police Break Up Rioters

BERLIN, Nov. 2 (Reuters) — A West-German police squadron 200 strong, armed with truncheons and fire hoses, today drove off a mob of some 800 East Berlin "peace fighters" outside a courthouse in the British zone of the city.

The crowd was shouting Communist slogans such as "Tommy, go home."

Police made several arrests, and some persons were injured, one a woman.

Police cleared a space outside the courthouse, where a 28-year-old East Berlin "peace fighter," Werner Byszio, was being tried. They cordoned off a large area and combed nearby houses for Communists.

Inside the courtroom several dozen police kept order.

Byszio was arrested six weeks ago and charged with illegally distributing Communist literature in West Berlin.

Truman "Sick" Over Policeman's Death

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP) — President Truman said today he feels he never was in any danger from the assassination attempt yesterday and is "sick over the death of the police officer who was fatally wounded in his defence.

Speaking of Pte. Leslie Coffelt, 40, Mr. Truman told reporters: "He was one of the finest fellows you ever knew and he was murdered outright it just makes you sick."

He called it a "terrible thing" and said he was sick too over the wounding of officers Donald T. Birdzell and Joseph H. Downs.

Mr. Truman's statement that he was never in danger clearly was meant as an expression of confidence in the men who guard him.

"I wasn't in any danger," he said. "I never have been."

Price of Chocolate Bars Down Two Cents

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP) —The price of most chocolate bars has been reduced two cents to the six cents they cost last September, some manufacturers reported today.

Officials of Rowntree's and Patterson's said prices of their bars are being considered.

A drop in the cost of cocoa beans was given as reason for the drop.

COOSA PINA, Ala., Nov. 2 (AP)—The Coosa River Newsprint Corporation has notified all its customers of an increase of $6 a ton on newsprint. The increase became effective yesterday.

A telegram to customers said the increase was 'made necessary as a result of increased costs of both labor and materials."

The mill, newest newsprint producer in the United States, is operating at capacity.

The Coosa River Company's increase was the second such action taken by a U.S. company since the initiative in raising newsprint was taken by leading Canadian producers two weeks ago.

Meteor Lights Skies In Eastern Centres

Blinding Flash of Light Brightens Montreal; Looked Like Explosion But No Sound Heard Citizens Say

By The Canadian Press

A brilliant light that flashed across the sky over border points in Eastern Canada and the United States last night was reported by one source to have been from a Canadian-discharged rocket, although Observatory experts thought it was a huge meteor.

A Syracuse, N. Y., official of Colonial Airlines said the United States Air Forces had informed his Company that the R.C.A.F. had sent up a rocket at Rockcliffe Airport, Ottawa. The Colonial spokesman declined to be identified.

At Ottawa, R.C.A.F. spokesman said no flares of any kind were set up at Rockcliffe.

A Colonial pilot had seen the flash while flying off the Atlantic coast, 735 miles from the Canadian base.

A bright flash also lighted downtown Montreal brightly for a few seconds and sent citizens scurrying to their telephones for information.

Most who saw the vari-colored flash said it looked like an explosion although no sound was heard. Many speculated that a meteor caused it. Weather Bureau officials at Albany, N. Y., discounted lightning.

Officials of the Dominion observatory in Ottawa said there was "no doubt" that the flash was caused by a meteor.

Harvard University observatory also termed the flash "an unusually bright meteor."

A spokesman said the meteor was a "rare phenomenon but not extraordinary. Several millions fall into the earth's atmosphere every day."

"Apparently a large stony or iron mass fell from somewhere in the solar system into the earth's atmosphere," he said.

"The heat of friction during its falling through the atmosphere caused the body to be incandesced (lighted).

"The average size is microscopic. They are the common meteors. An extra large body falls only rarely."

At Plattsburgh, N.Y., persons who had seen the light, said it "lighted up the whole sky." They said it occurred at 7:35 p.m. EST. There was no sound accompanying the light, observers said.

Reports from Massena, N.Y., said that after the flash of light — also timed at 7:35—a streak was observed to the North, travelling East. The streak was described as green, turning to blue and then to yellow.

The phenomenon also was seen at Ottawa, Burlington, Vt., and Albany, Glen Falls and Utica, N.Y.

Richard Herr, civil aeronautics administration employee who was in the control tower at the Albany airport, said:

"It looked like an explosion of some sort—a great big green flash high in the sky."

Residents at Cartierville in the Northend of Montreal reported a rumbling noise which caused their homes to shake "just like an earthquake."

Most eye-witnesses here agreed the flash came from a Westerly direction and seemed to start off like a reddish cigar-shaped spot that streaked like a torpedo across the sky. It turned pink and then blue before disappearing with a trail of sparks behind it.

The glow, brighter than lightning, shattered the darkness over the entire region around Montreal.

LIGHTS FLICKER

Several persons here reported the lights in their homes flickered for several seconds following the glare.

One housewife said the flash had "scared the wits" out of her children.

Import Curbs On Capital Goods To Be Removed

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP) Trade Minister Howe has decided to remove restrictions on the import of capital goods from the United States at the earliest possible date, informed quarters said today.

Capital goods include such items as building stone, locomotives, automobiles in completed form and industrial machinery in general.

All that remains to be decided, said informants, is the timing. Mr. Howe's advisers have suggested the controls may well be lifted Jan. 2, the same day on which remaining restrictions on consumer goods will be withdrawn by Finance Minister Abbott.

However, it still is possible that the controls may be continued until March 31. This would give the Trade Department more time to reorganize the capital goods control branch and possibly turn it into a priorities division.

Such a division would be linked with its counterpart in the United States to deal with allocations and priorities of materials needed in defence production. It would function under the Canada-United States industrial mobilization pact signed in Washington last week.

Emphasis, however, is placed on the Jan. 2 date in view of the general bright picture in Canadian trade, United States pressure to have Canada lift all import controls and the lack of further need in Canada for emergency exchange austerity.

Three Arrested In Assassination Attempt

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP) — Federal Police strengthened the Security Guard around President Truman today and moved with grim swiftness to smash the conspiracy behind Wednesday's gun-blazing attempt to assassinate him.

Secret Service men in New York arrested three Puerto Ricans in the apartment of Oscar Collazo, one of the two Island revolutionists who shot their way to the President's doorstep before guards shot them down.

ROUTED FROM HOME

In Puerto Rico itself, police rounded up heads of the anti-United States Nationalist and Communist Parties. Routed from his home with tear gas was Pedro Albizu Campos, chief of the would-be assassins' party and a key figure in this week's bloody revolt against U. S. rule.

In Washington, Senator Kenneth Wherry (Rep. Neb.) said the assassination attempt proves "the seriousness of the Communist menace" in the U. S. Wherry said a vigorous Red roundup should follow. There has been no evidence the Communists were involved in the assassination plot.

Meanwhile Collazo, the surviving assassin, was formally arraigned in his hospital bed on a charge of murdering White House policeman Leslie Coffelt. The possible penalty is death in the electric chair. Collazo was held for further hearing Nov. 21.

Little by little, relays of investigators pried from the sullen gunman the story of the fantastic assassination attempt, which ended in the death of his confederate, Griselio Torresola, in the shrubbery at the front of the steps that led to Blair House, temporary presidential residence while the White House is undergoing repairs.

Collazo said he and Torresola "just took a chance" that Truman would be in Blair House when they tried to charge up the stairs with their German Luger pistols blazing.

DEBATED TWO WEEKS

The Puerto Rican said he and his confederate debated two weeks before deciding to "take the law in our own hands" in a desperate stroke that — somehow — they thought would aid the cause of Puerto Rican independence.

The new arrests in New York followed the seizure of Collazo's wife Rosa, who was held in $50,000 bail on a charge of conspiring with her husband.

Arrested in the Bronx apartment of the Collazos were:

Juan Pinto-Gandia, 42, self-proclaimed leader of the Puerto Rican Nationalist movement in New York City. He once served six years in the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary for insurrection in Puerto Rico.

John Correa, 43, sporting goods manufacturer. He is reported to have had a loaded pistol in his possession.

Juan Cortes, Cordero, 71, uncle of Mrs. Collazo. He is a ship's cook and part-time clergyman.

Atomic Weapons May Be Used On Battlefields

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP) — Enemy troops on future battlefields may be blasted with atomic weapons launched by both the army and the air force flying its support, a Defence Department report indicated tonight.

The atomic bomb up to now has been a strategic weapon, for mass destruction of cities, but not for tactical use against forces in the field.

In their semi-annual report released tonight the armed forces, now engaged in strictly orthodox warfare in Korea, looked ahead and talked of an arsenal of new weapons being developed or in the research phase.

These were references to the Hydrogen bomb project, radiological poison weapons, germ warfare, of progress in guided missiles, of a device which could be used for making maps of hostile terrain under cover of night or clouds.

But much of the report dealth with defence affairs now out of date. It covered the six-month period ended last June 30, and thus covered only five days of the Korean war. Actually it comprises four reports to President Truman — an over-all one by the Defence Department and reports by the Army, Navy and Air Force.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2 (CP) — A member of the U.S. Federal Bureau of Narcotics said today the arrest of three men thwarted their plans to arrange a narcotics outlet from Vancouver to American cities.

They were among 20 persons arrested recently in the greatest drive against the illicit drug trade in Canadian history.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP) — Bright signs of Broadway were blacked out early today as a tribute to playwright George Bernard Shaw, who died in England at the age of 94.

Campaign to Smash Potato Hoarding

BERLIN, Nov. 2 (AP) — Mass arrests of farmers were reported ordered by East Germany's Communist Government today in a desperate campaign to smash hoarding of the blighted potato crop.

More than 100 landowners in five Soviet zone states were reported jailed and many more faced arrest as alleged saboteurs.

Communist officials accused the "wealthy, reactionary" farmers of "dawdling" in filling potato quotas for the government.

And in This Corner —

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—Pop corn together if you want to strengthen family ties, a Buffalo veterans' hospital psychiatrist suggests.

The psychiatrist, Dr. Bernard Still, spoke at the 17th annual New York State conference on parent education and family life.

"The parent who gives his son a nickel to get the family a package of popped corn does not do so much for family life as he who gives his son the money to get a bag of popcorn kernels which the family group can pop together, achieving that shared emotional experience of working together."

MARYSVILLE, Calif., Nov. 2 (AP)—Mrs. Kate Lenahan started her daily walk at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Members of a 40-man search party finally found her at 12:15 a.m. today in the rugged Sierra foothills.

Informed of the big search, Mrs. Lenahan scolded:

"Why, I was just taking a little walk! Send me the bill."

Mrs. Lenahan is 80 years old.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—A rain of dollar bills from a Hotel McAlpin window today turned hundreds of shoppers into a shoving, scrambling mob that blocked traffic at 34th Street and Broadway.

Police said the money downfall, estimated at between $700 and $800, was a publicity stunt by a zipper manufacturer. Two persons were charged with violating the sanitary code by littering the streets with advertising matter, which was attached to the greenbacks.

Notre Dame College "Cooperative" School; Plan College Building Here

Notre Dame College of Nelson is a cooperative school where students get their education by doing their own work, Kiwanis Club was told at the Hume Thursday night.

But building of a liberal arts college, affiliated with an Eastern University and offering a four-year course, is the objective, A. L. Cartier, M.A., principal, told the Club.

The grade XIII students were engaged in a program similar to one they would have undertaken at University of British Columbia. Although given perhaps a little more freedom, some initiative was also expected.

Students were building their desks, shelves, library tables, and so on, and did their own cooking and janitor work.

Of the 13 students, three were of Protestant faith. All attended classes in religion, and where there was divergence of opinion, Mr. Cartier said he tried to explain the different views, and to create respect for each other's faiths.

There must be tolerance, and where there was tolerance there must be divergence, he said. There must also be respect for the views of others.

Liberal arts were concerned "with perfection of ourselves", he reminded the Kiwanians. Constant exercise of the mind on various types of thinking prepared the students for entry into almost any field.

Building of a new college would also be a cooperative effort on the part of students, parents and others interested in the move.

INTEREST, ADVICE

"We are not looking for money, but we do want your interest and advice", he continued.

The College is located in the former Choquette bakery building on Josephine Street.

He told how Father Athol Murray had organized such a college in Wilcox, Sask., now affiliated with University of Saskatchewan and University of Ottawa. There were 18 professors, but none received salaries. They did receive board and room and money was available for necessary expenditures such as clothing. Non-sectarian, the student population was one-third Protestant. Graduates had included three priests and three ministers.

The Nelson college was based on these lines, and it was hoped soon to be affiliated with University of Ottawa.

Soviet Claim Nearing Transformation Of Non-Living Matter Into Living

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—Russian scientists claim a great new discovery which they say may even help science create life from non-living matter.

The purported discovery is in how living cells—of plants or animals—are formed. It has been given official Soviet blessing as a new theory and marks another split with Western science.

Robert C. Cook, editor of the Journal of Heredity, published by the American Genetic Association, called this "complete nonsense."

He said it is "part of a gallop back into the middle ages or before" by Soviet party-line science.

Scientists outside Russia believe new living cells are formed by a cell's dividing into two new cells. The amoeba splits into two new amoebae. The human baby grows from the union of a human egg cell and a sperm cell, which divided into two new cells, then four, and on into the billions of cells of a complete human being.

NOT ORDINARY

The Russians agree, but say they have found something else: That some living cells come from tiny living particles which are not cells.

The cells generated by these particles are different from ordinary cells, and form a vital part of the new plant or animal, they hold.

These particles may be "a connecting link" between living and non-living matter, declare articles in Soviet newspapers, adding:

"Soviet science is approaching the solution of the great problem of the transformation of non-living matter into living."

The theory also offers support to Soviet claims that wheat has been changed into rye by grafting plants together. The strange particles supposedly figure in bringing this about.

The discovery is credited to a woman biologist, Professor O. B. Lepeshinskaya, who was awarded a Stalin prize.

The Weather

Gales and rain pounded the North Coast and cloudiness from this storm blankets the whole province. Snow has spread through the Northern part of the province and many points in the Southern interior have reported light rain.

Improvement in conditions is expected in the Southern part but a new storm is gathering strength 800 miles West of Vancouver Island and is expected to reach the North Coast by afternoon bringing more rain and gales to that section.

Packers Defeat Kimberley 9-2

KELOWNA, B. C., Nov. 2 (CP)—Kelowna Packers showed little respect tonight for the vaunted power of the Kimberley Dynamiters as they took a 9-2 win over the leaders of the Western International League.

Digging in from the drop of the puck, the Mainline-Okanagan Packers rolled up a 7-0 count before the Dynamiters could retaliate behind Roy McMeekin early in the third period.

The win, earned by a flashy offensive and defensive display, pulled the Kelowna sextet back into second place in the M.O.A.H.L. ahead of the idle Kamloops Elks.

Mike Durban got his second hat trick of the season to pace the Kelowna snipers. Ex-Edmonton Flyer Bob Evans was high point maker with a pair of goals and two assists.

A. G. Smith Named Rural School Area Representative

A. G. Smith, Granite Road resident was elected representative of the Nelson Extra-Municipal Attendance area at a meeting of ratepayers of the area in the Central School library Thursday night.

The area will include the rural section immediately surrounding Nelson in Rosemont, Cottonwood, Uphill beyond the City limits, North Shore to a point 3½ miles on the highway from the Nelson Post Office, Granite Road and Shirley.

Formerly of Manitoba, Mr. Smith has been in the district for only a year.

Officials of the Nelson School District No. 7 school board were disappointed at the lack of interest shown by rural citizens.

Although the meeting was publicized and letters distributed to the school children to take home to their parents, only two ratepayers showed up.

It was necessary to have representatives for each area in the school district, E. E. Hyndman, the School Inspector pointed out. Their opinions, recommendations and help to the school board were vital in connection with rural matters.

The Board is considering a building program. It was hoped that it could have been discussed and questions answered at the meeting.

At present the students of the City Schools were carrying on a population survey of Nelson to help the board decide on the size of a school required. It was by doing the foundation work that the Board would be able to supply information to the citizens when the time for the project came. They felt that a bylaw was not popular with taxpayers, but that people should realize the need for facilities for the increasing enrolment. The present situation was now fair to either the teachers or the pupils.

Shaw Ashes May Rest in Abbey

AYOTT ST. LAWRENCE, England, Nov. 2 (CP)—The ashes of George Bernard Shaw are likely to be buried in Westminster Abbey, final resting place of Britain's great men. But the decision may not be made for several days.

The great Irish playwright, who died at the age of 94 early today in this tiny North London village, did not care.

"I want my ashes mingled with my wife," he told Lady Astor, one of his closest friends, recently. "After that you can do as you like." His body will be cremated privately in London Monday.

His wife was the former Charlotte Frances Payne-Townshend, his "green-eyed Irish heiress," who died in 1943. They had no children.

The Dean of Westminster, Very Rev. A. C. Don, will make the final decision whether Shaw's ashes will be placed in the poets' corner of the Abbey.

New Equipment For T.B. X-Rays Set Up in Creston

CRESTON, B. C., Nov. 2—President D. Andrews of Creston Valley Hospital announced a technician was now installing the new $7000 Photo-Roentgen equipment at the hospital, a donation given to the local hospital (one of seven in the Province) for the detection of T.B.

These machines, it is understood, mark the first progressve step in the fight against T.B., and at the same time eliminate the costly travelling chest clinic.

The chest plates taken are free to the patient, but the T.B. headquarters will pay the hospital the cost for having the picture taken. The machine, weighing approximately 1300 pounds, is being installed along with the other X-ray machine.

Mrs. Von Ferber, local hospital technician, who was formerly employed at the Regina General Hospital, will operate the new Photo-Rontgen equipment, which is as good as an X-ray, but for chest plates only.

Fernie Red Cross Disaster Committee Meets Test

FERNIE, B. C., Nov. 2—Simulating circumstances of a real disaster which wiped clean with fire the town of Fernie in 1908, the Provincial Red Cross Disaster Committee sprang a test on the Fernie Red Cross Disaster Committee, which met the emergency authoritatively, mobilizing within 20 minutes at the Canadian Legion Hall, actual mobilizing point for any real disaster.

Mrs. H. E. Miard, as general chairman, was notified by Coast headquarters that a fire on Fernie's outskirts had leaped to homes in the area and the unit was required. Within 20 minutes she had established headquarters, notified her subcommittee heads, and the medical, cvilian aid and relief, housing, food, transportation and recording chairmen or aides were on the job.

Theoretically there were 25 seriously burned. The Medical Committee arranged for their immediate transport to the hospital, and wired to Vancouver and Calgary for specific plasma, streptomycine and penicillin supplies to be flown to Cranbrook and rushed to Fernie.

The 51 refugees whose homes had been destroyed were accommodated at the disused old Fernie Hospital, where beds were available, and arrangements were made for bedding, soap and night clothes. The Provisioning Committee drew up lists of necessary supplies to feed them for a week and placed the orders. It was assumed a regular agency would take over after a week. Buses were arranged for evacuating people. The Recording Committee set up files to list casualties, refugees and evacuees and maintain records of equipment and supplies and where they were available.

The real Fernie fire, Aug. 1, 1908, was sprung just as suddenly about noon, when the wind shifted at a little brush fire just East of town. By nightfall all that was left of this city of 2000 was the coal company office, surrounded by wide lawns. The whiplash of fire in all directons launched hysterical flight to any place. After the fire a family of four who sought refuge in their well were found boiled there. Six other bodies were found in the city ruins. Many sought refuge in the Elk River. Property damage was $5,000,000, and the 2000 residents were chaotically scattered.

C.P.R. trains in the vicinity, unable to go through on the twisted tracks, shuttled cars of refugees in both directions. Relief centres for 1500 were set up at Cranbrook and Moyie halls. Some refugees were taken as far as Nelson and Medicine Hat. The disaster brought financial aid from a generous world when it was over, and Fernie immediately rebuilt its city on a permanent basis.

Addresses School Meeting, Fruitvale

FRUITVALE, B.C., Nov. 2 — The annual school meeting was held in the old elementary school with twelve people present. Inspector Lucas spoke to the gathering, expressing disappointment at so few in attendance, although he felt their staying away spoke well of the approval they had for the program of the Board. He said they (the Board) would feel better if they would come out to the meeting. Mr. Lucas outlined some of the duties of a representative.

Ralph Leckett was elected chairman of the meeting.

Mrs. Walter Veitch, Mrs. Nels Moller, Ralph Leckett, Fred Peitzsche and Mrs. P. Harrett were elected by acclamation as representatives for Fruitvale. There was no one present from Parks Siding. Their representative will be appointed later by the Crown.

Rural Trustee E. Broadhurst, who has another year to run as trustee, gave a very comprehensive report of the activities of the Board during the past year. Dealing first with the transportation of pupils, he said it costs about $150 a day for transportation. If possible, they didn't want to take out by bus pupils of grades one to three. Discipline on the school buses was very good this year. He urged that parents impress on their children that any distraction on a bus which indirectly drew bus drivers' attention was hazardous.

Plans for the remainder of the Fruitvale School and for Central School will be ready by the end of March, 1951, and it is hoped that all scheduled new school buildings will be finished by the end of 1951. The new Trail High School will be opened by September.

Mr. Broadhurst said the Board was very proud of their teaching staff and felt they were the finest that could be had. It was the aim of the Board that every child in the district receive the same chance for education, he concluded.

Animal Demand Expected to Raise Need for Wheat

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP) Canada's domestic wheat requirements are expected to climb in the new crop year, but there still will be plenty left for export.

The Bureau of Statistics estimated today that in the 1950-51 crop year Canada will need about 155,000,000 bushels of wheat, an increase of some 23,000,000 over last year.

Mainly, the reason for the increase is not so much human demand, as animal. With the world market for beef and pork bouyant and with a greater supply of low-grade wheat available in Canada, livestock feeders are expected to use more wheat as feed than a year ago.

Investors Should Back B. C. Steel

VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 2 (CP)—Every effort should be made to interest industrialists in investing in a British Columbia steel mill, D. J. Proudfoot, Victoria M.L.A. said today.

A mill could be built and put into operation in a year or 18 months.

He thought such a mill could successfully produce and sell its product at less than the existing price of Eastern steel in Vancouver.

Special Squadron Reaches Lisbon

LISBON, Portugal, Nov 2 (CP)—Rear-Admiral E. R. Mainguy, Commander of the Canadian Special Service Squadron, said last night that the Squadron's European cruise is designed to show other members of the North Atlantic Pact that Canada is interested not only in safeguarding peace and freedom but wants to co-operate in making this effective on a world-wide basis.

He said it is also hoped that the Canadian officers and men will see for themselves there's much in common between Canadians and the "peoples of the nations we are visiting."

The aircraft carrier Magnificent arrieved yesterday with the destroyers Micmac and Huron for a four-day visit. It is the first time Canadian warships have visited Lisbon.

24,000 Hospital Beds Provided in Canada

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP) —Health Minister Martin said today that in the last 2½ years 24,000 additional hospital beds—more than 25 a day—have been provided in Canada through the construction of new hospitals and hospital additions.

"Hardly a day passes that I do not approve at least one hospital construction project somewhere in Canada," said Mr. Martin in a speech prepared for delivery to the Ontario Conference of the Catholic Hospital Association in Toronto.

Up to date the production of Alberta oil has reached a level of about $60,000,000 annually.

Bishop To Dedicate Athalmer's Church of the Canadian Martyrs

INVERMERE, B.C., Nov. 2—Dedication of the remodelled Church of the Canadian Martyrs at Athalmer by Bishop Martin Johnson of Nelson is expected to take place Sunday, November 12. The church and adjacent newly built rectory are now almost completed.

The main body of the church has been enlarged and placed upon a new foundation. A new sanctuary has been added to the West end and a small Lady Chapel which will serve also as sacristy is behind the altar.

Style of the church is Franciscan Gothic with adapted gothic windows of sparkling amber glass. Panelling of the lower walls in the body of the church is walnut stained fir with upper walls of mist grey wallboard. The floor will be grey flexstone. Light fixtures are of hammered copper with flood lights over the altar.

The communion table is desighed after that in Da Vinci's famous picture of the Last Supper. The entrance to the sanctuary will be marked by a Triumphal Arch from which will be suspended a cross. The old pews will be used temporarily until new ones in a simple monastic design are ready.

Entrance to the church is from a porch on the East with a new belfry above. Joining the church to the rectory is a cement floored cloister walk in which the Stations of the Cross will be grouped along the West wall. In front of this will be a cloister garth planted in garden flowers next year.

The four room rectory in which the resident priest will live is an attractive bungalow compactly planned and heated with a heatalator fireplace. Built-in bookcases and casement windows add character to the living room decorated in rosewood and windsor blue. Adjacent to this room is the office and the modern kitchen complete with a dining nook has an attractive color scheme of primrose yellow and green.

Exterior finish of both church and rectory when completed will be California white stucco with a Montrose red tiled roof.

Rev. Father Agnellus moved into the rectory this week from Invermere.

Treasure Trove Accessory

Lady Buxton

By PRUNELLA WOOD

This is a mighty pretty girl, and she has on a mighty pretty after-ski, or let's-stay-in lounging costume. But the nugget of the picture is that billfold she is tucking in her pants pocket . . . surely the most feminine and prettiest yet provided for mad money.

Matter of fact, it's been a long year since women limited their cash and carry to mad money; busy careers promote business responsibilities, and a gal needs dough, identification cards, membership ditto, with her at all times, even as does the male. To sugar coat this stern necessity, new billfolds like this one are made of calf suede in the maddest, unmasculine colors . . . chartreuse, shocking pink, Italian blue, poison green, etc., bright as jewels to accent feminine costumes. Gilt metal tabs heighten the fashion effect. Inside is room for usual billfold gear, plus plenty for snapshots, and even samples and receipts, in transparent shutters. On the outside is a coin change purse with snap fastener, handy and capacious. Miss Julia Buxton designed it herself, and she knows what women need in billfolds, having been at this chore for a couple of decades.

Woman Collector Seeks Old Folk Songs for Canadian Archives

By ROD CURRIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP)—A woman who makes a career out of gathering age-old folk songs and folklore says that Nova Scotia has an endless supply—probably the most fascinating in Canada.

Helen Creighton, a Dartmouth native, has been touring Nova Scotia in pursuit of almost-forgotten folk-music since 1928.

Every Summer she packs her car with tape recorder, typewriter, notebooks and pencils and goes on a "collecting" tour of fishing villages and hamlets.

She collects recordings of folk-songs, ballads and dialects and also makes notes of historical interest. A number of her collections of folk stories, traditions, witch craft, legends and ghost stories have been published.

Miss Creighton's latest book "Folk Lore of Lunenburg County", was published recently.

The soft spoken historian, who does most of her writing sitting before a huge bay window overlooking Halifax Harbor, has been awarded three Rockefeller Fellowships. She used two of them to continue her studies at Indiana University, and the third assisted her in the recording aspect of her career.

ORIGINAL LEGENDS

While all the ballads published in her book were found in this province, she said that none of them originated here. They were brought to this country by early settlers. However, the province is rich with original legends.

Miss Creighton, who admits she isn't "too good a musician", says when she first started her collection she used a melodeon, and had to take the music down by hand. Since then the United States Congressional Library, for whom she has done a great deal of work, supplied her with a recording machine.

She now uses equipment supplied by the Canadian Government and all recordings are sent to Ottawa to be archived and transcribed. The folklore notes she makes are also sent to Ottawa.

One of Miss Creighton's most difficult jobs is investigating the foundation for some of the many stories and traditions she picks up.

"Many times", she explained, "residents of a hamlet will tell me a story of a particular event that they believe happened in the village many years ago. Often I find it actually happened in the Old Country and the story was brought to this country by settlers".

Besides her job with the Government, she is a fellow of the American Anthropological Association, represents the American Dialect Association and is correspondent in this area for the International Folk Music Council.

Recipes . . .

Try Tasty Beef Stew

By ALICE DENHOFF

Hearty fare just right for the season, is on the fire today. First off, a honey of a beef stew with toothsome dumplings.

To serve 4, melt 2 tablespoons fat in large frying pan. Flour lightly one pound round steak that has been cut into inch cubes. Brown meat in frying pan. Arrange one medium onion and three medium carrots, all sliced, on top of meat. Add an 8 ounce can tomato sauce, teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon celery salt, ⅛ to ¼ teaspoon garlic salt, and water to cover. Cover and simmer slowly for about 2 hours or until meat is tender. Add more water if gravy cooks down.

THE DUMPLINGS

Drop dumplings by spoonsful on top of boiling stew, cover, and simmer 15-20 min. To prepare dumplings mix and sift one cup sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt. Cut in 2 tablespoons shortening, then add ½ cup milk, ¾ teaspoon dry mustard, teaspoon minced parsley (dry or fresh), ¼ teaspoon each onion salt and celery salt. Stir quickly to make soft dough. Proceed as above. Makes 6-7 dumplings.

A casserole of tuna fish with potato chips makes a hearty supper special. To serve 4 generously, stir ½ cup milk into a can condensed cream of mushroom soup; heat. Put contents of a 7-ounce can tuna fish into a strainer, and pour over it a cup of hot water to take off the excess oil, then break the fish into rather large pieces and add it to the sauce. Crush medium size package of potato chips. Butter a small casserole; pour half the creamed tuna fish in the bottom, then sprinkle with half the potato chips over the fish, then add another layer of the creamed tuna, and top with potato chips. Bake at 375 F. for 20-30 min.

EGG CURRY

A tangy egg curry is a good choice for something different by way of a luncheon or supper dish. To serve 4-6, cream 2 tablespoons butter and 2 tablespoons flour together. Add teaspoon curry powder, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, ½ tablespoon finely-chopped onion and ½ teaspoon salt. Stir well; add 1 1/3 cups scalded milk, then cook until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Chop the whites of 4 hard-cooked eggs and add with one cup cooked rice to the above mixture. Serve in patty shells garnished with the egg yolks, grated.

Bootleg Hats Paris Racket

PARIS, Nov. 2 (Reuters)—"Bootlegged" hats are a secret of Paris millinery circles They're on sale only to those who know their way around the Paris fashion underworld.

The first step is to obtain the address of a good hat-bootlegger — a rare bird because she must have a quick eye, clever hands and many friends.

Then the inevitable climb up one flight after flight of stairs to the door which hides a woman's paradise. An eye appears at a peep-hole. Credentials are checked more closely than if you were being admitted to the vaults at Fort Knox.

Once inside, it is a "prix unique" (one price) system—5000 francs ($14) for any hat. But the choice includes all the latest models from the leading milliners. If you have your heart set on a little Dior or a wonderful Legroux number which has tempted you, there it is—for 5000 francs instead of the 20,000 francs which caused you to quail at the thought's of your husband's reception of the bill.

A careful explanation to Madame Bootlegger sufficies. She knows every hat in town and is capable of copying it so exactly that even its creator would be mistaken.

Love Problems . . .

SHE'S AFRAID TO MARRY FOR LACK OF EDUCATION

By JANE ATKINSON

Dear Miss Atkinson:

Do you honestly believe that a girl who has never had any formal education, but has tried to educate herself through wide reading and observation of life, could make a professional man happy? My friend is a doctor.

Because of my self-consciousness over my inadequate education, I have for years discouraged someone I love very dearly, We like the same things and have the same ideals and interests.

I have tried to forget him by going out with someone in my own circle, but it only made me realize all the more how much I really need him. I am interested in his work and would like to help him in it.

What shall I do? I know he, too, is suffering. V.T.S.

Dear V.T.S.:

If you and this man are as congenial as your letter indicates, then I think perhaps you're making too big a problem out of the situation.

Since you've been wise enough to try and develop yourself through reading and intelligent observation of the world about you, you probably have a good deal of practical commonsense, which is sometimes an even more useful asset than academic achievement. What you learn from books isn't necessarily more valuable than what you learn from life itself, you know.

Think of all the outstanding men and women in this country who had little or no formal schooling, yet managed to reach high places in many different walks of life. If you keep your eyes, ears and mind open, you will continue to learn from what you see and hear about other people doing, and there's no reason at all why you shouldn't be just as interesting a companion as anyone else.

I advise you to talk this whole thing over with your friend, and see how he feels about it. If he agrees with what I have said, then you're foolish to make an issue of what you believe to be your educational lack. On the other hand, of course, if you find that he hesitates merely because you haven't graduated from some school or other, you'd be right in thinking marriage between you would be unwise. Then you'd have to have character enough to close the chapter and turn your attention elsewhere.

Movie Gossip—

Gussie Moran's Father Tells Her to Keep Out of Movies

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 2 (AP)—The wiry, deeply-tanned man who was pushing equipment around the movie set was Harry Moran.

"Been at the studio (Universal-International) 30 years," he said proudly. But though he worked so long in the glamorous industry, fame never touched him—until his young daughter began playing tennis.

Young Miss Moran is named Gertrude, also known as "Gorgeous Gussie". She parlayed a pair of fancy pants into international fame.

BY CHANCE

The panties occurred quite by chance, he declared. "She only posed in them to help out the British designer who made them for her," he said. "And after she posed in them, she got to play in the middle court at Wimbledon, which is usually reserved for champions. Right in front of the Queen and her daughter."

Gussie's latest outfit — leopard shorts — are the real McCoy, he added. "When she was touring in India, some man shot the leopard and gave her the skin," he said. "There was a lot left over after the shorts were made from it."

Despite Moran's long association with the movies, he has advised his daughter against them. "I have told her to stick to tennis, which is something she knows well," he said. "I've seen too many come and go at this studio. It's tough business."

Sixty persons ultimately will receive care in the new home. Supervisor will be Mrs. E. C. Marshall, present matron of the Oliver Home just across the street.

MUSICAL COUPLE GET ROYAL BOOST

LONDON, Nov. 2 (CP)—Queen Mary has given encouragement to two music composers, Mr. and Mrs. William Webb of Fulham. Mr. Webb is a former Saskatoon, Sask., newspaper man.

They have received from Queen Mary's lady-in-waiting a letter saying that the Queen Mother was pleased to accept Mrs. Mary Webb's piano solo "Twilight Tapestry," which has been accepted by publishers and broadcast.

With Mr. Webb composing the lyrics and his wife writing the music, the couple have composed 20 pieces of music ranging from classical to novelty numbers.

An accomplished pianist, Mrs. Webb gave many concerts for charity during the war, but did not become a composer until her husband became ill two years ago. On his release from hospital he was told he would be unable to work, and it was then that he and his wife decided to try composing music.

British Girls May Measure Up to Men on Prairie Farms

WINNIPEG, Nov. 2 (CP)—Miss Beatrice Brigden, President of the Winnipeg Council of Women, said today, she couldn't see any reason why British Land Army girls "shouldn't be as useful as a man" on Prairie farms.

A London report said Canadian immigration officials are trying to interest the British farm girls into coming to Canada to work.

"They could do combining as well as any man," said Miss Brigden "Some farm women, I know, do. Whether a woman's strength could stand up to the size of prairie farms I'm not prepared to say."

CONFLICT

Another view was expressed by H.R. Richardson of Manitoba's Farm Help Service who said there is no place for women farm workers in the province "because of the highly-mechanized type of work."

Miss Brigden said there might be a field for the girls in fruit, corn, sunflower and sugar-beet production but those crops were not too well developed on the prairies.

"I see no reason why we can't absorb a number of the British land army girls, although not too many," she said. "They might bring new techniques, careful and painstaking methods with which Manitoba farmers are not too familiar."

Equal Pay Law Urged for Sask.

REGINA, Nov. 2 (CP)—Saskatchewan should have an equal pay law to eliminate discrimination against women, Miss Ruth McGill, Regina alderman, said today at the convention of the Saskatchewan Implement Dealers' Association.

Miss McGill, immediate past president of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, said the Dominion Government supports the principle of equal pay. The Federal Civil Service had adopted this principle.

All Saskatchewan need do is amend its Bill of Rights Act of 1947. The Provincial Civil Service already has an "equal pay" clause in its agreement with the Government, she said.

Bouquet Cheaper Than Alimony

WINNIPEG, Nov. 2 (CP)—That husband of yours may not be the best or most handsome specimen on two feet, lady, but there's a way to make your wedded life a lot more acceptable.

"It's no farther away than the tip of your tongue," says provincial psychiatrist T. A. Pincock.

The key to domestic bliss? Brag about the guy, do it where people can hear you. If you look hard enough, you can find something in him to brag about.

But Dr. Pincock says you should be cautious: don't extend the bragging to a point where it becomes boring.

The psychiatrist gave his advice at a young couples' club. And he had some advice for husbands, too. He said they should remember anniversaries and show other common courtesies.

"A bouquet costs something," he said, "but it's a lot cheaper than paying alimony."

Marriage failures, the doctor continued, are usually due to "emotional or other personality failures."

"No marriage runs itself; it must be managed."

HOW TO AVOID SPATS

Spats out of proportion to their cause could be avoided if couples would understand each other's moods. By remaining calm, one partner could "usually" bring the angry one around to apologizing.

Incompetent housekeeping, inefficient use of leisure time and unfair division of labor were secondary causes of marriage failures.

Later, Mrs. Greensword, in tipping off Mrs. Lnd about Mrs. Bacon's birthday, said she would like to give a party. Mrs. Lind was again accommodating—and offered her home for the same night.

Two tables of whist were arranged, and Miss Amy Matsuzaki won first prize, and Mrs. Bacon the consolation. Mrs. Greensword and Mrs. Bacon were presented with corsages and gifts.

It wasn't until during the party that the women learned of each other's "surprise".

Inspector R. S. Nelson

It is ill news for Kootenay district to learn that Inspector Robert S. Nelson is being transferred by the R.C.M.P. to Winnipeg. We will be sincerely sorry to see him leave a district where he has accomplished such good work.

Inspector Nelson, though only three years here as commanding officer of B-Division, fitted right into the Kootenay scene, and in doing so gave this district a new outlook on police work. It was not that his predecessors were not good men, but the veteran officer from the outset showed an understanding beyond most that police service was public service—he made it so in every way.

He tackled the vexatious terrorism problem with intelligence and full appreciation of its complex nature. He not only won the cooperation of the fanatical sect with which he had to deal, but, with an able staff instilled with the same approach, made perhaps the greatest gains in the policing aspect of the problem in the 30 years it has existed. The achievement was in the face of bitter disappointments and the demands of excessive hours of duty.

Inspector Nelson's record here was in keeping with his record of public duty. A war veteran, he joined the B. C. Provincial Police Force in Kimberley in 1925. He has served in at least seven different British Columbia centres, and successive promotions brought him as a sub-inspector to Nelson in 1947. He remained when the Provincial Police force transferred to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Inspector Nelson has been a credit to his service in this district, and—with no reflection of any who are his successors—the Kootenay, knowing his qualifications to handle its own peculiar problems, will regret his call to a new post.

The Hallowe'en Party A Real Community Service

A big "Thank you" is due the service club members who staged what certainly must have been this city's largest Hallowe'en party. They performed every task they set, those of giving the youngsters a big time and minimizing the vandalism usual to the ghostly festival.

There was some vandalism, but only by those of an age to control themselves or be controlled only by police. Certainly the younger element was kept from mischief, and it was hard to tell who enjoyed themselves most, the kids or the parents and teacher bystanders. What destruction there was—though the fact is small consolation to the victims—was but a sampling of what had been experienced in greater proportions in other years.

The Nelson Kinsmen Club, with assistance from members of other service organizations, teachers, civic officials, the Fire Department and Police Force, did a splendid job. They deserve the citizens' thanks.

Why Not Yellow Margarine?

(Victoria Daily Times)

The status of margarine in British Columbia has not been altered by the Privy Council's ruling reaffirming Provincial authority over its manufacture and sale. The decision from the law Lords merely drives the argument home.

The butter substitute, properly identified, is acknowledged as a staple in households of this Province. It seems pertinent to ask, however, how long it will be before the spread is given the color which most purchasers appear to prefer. It is illegal to retail yellow margarine. To overcome that difficulty, manufacturers enclose a special non-injurious dye in the packages. That is kneaded or mixed into the product at the wish of the housewife. Why should the extra labor be forced upon her? As long as the spread is so much cheaper than butter, it is going to be bought by those who feel they cannot afford the more expensive dairy product. If the purchaser wants it yellow, why shouldn't it be that color? Pale butter is given a warmer hue artificially.

In the Doctor's Confidence

(The Vancouver Sun)

The medical profession is once more being urged to throw off some of its ethical reticence and tell the people more about available treatments and medicines.

Dr. Russell S. Boles of Philadelphia, writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, urged physicians to cooperate with newspapers in helping them report medical news within the limits of propriety.

"Today," Dr. Boles assures his colleagues, "the physician may feel safe in the confidence of the reporter and can feel assured that interviews and releases will be reported accurately. Also that care will be taken to include reference to any qualification he has expressed concerning his investigations."

As this newspaper has suggested before, the medical profession must ask itself if it is ignoring a public duty as well as a big job in public relations.

The public stands to benefit most from medical science or suffer most through ignorance of its possibilities.

Verse

Neglected Love

A rose as of ev'ning,
My life she is leaving,
And my vows will remain in my heart;
For time drowned by my dreams,
Till now it sadly seems
That a love has been lost at its start.
Her Irish eyes gleaming,
Though never were they seeming
To be now and forever only mine;
For my darling never knew
Of my wishes for her true
Till the twilights stole the golden threads of time.

This tender bud of love
Ne'er unfolded to above,
Where the truest breath of time would do the rest;
But was nipp'd by early frost
Of neglect and ever lost
In the swelling waves of time without rest.

And yet I am to blame
That my vows they were too lame,
And my love therefore never reached her heart;
Her heart that is so pure
Must a diff'rent life endure,
Since her life from mine own is apart.

Yet wherever she resides
Gentle love sincere abides,
And her silver thoughts are planning for the best;
And hence my mind's at rest,
Since in bliss she's softly blest,
Always dwelling on a God-illumined crest.

Spider in the Paper

Many years ago Mark Twain was editor of a small-town newspaper. A reader wrote in saying that he had found a spider in his paper, and wanted to know if that was an omen of good or bad luck. Mark Twain answered: "Finding a spider in your newspaper is neither good nor bad luck. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so he could go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

USES OF GRAMMAR

Grammar is more than a system of rules for the use of the English language; it is a mental discipline which leads toward clarity of thought.

If a man understands the use of a language, he is not likely to slip into the vague and foolish writing which is so common, and so infuriating, today. The question which is always at the back of his mind is not "How am I saying it?", but "What am I saying?" And his ear becomes sensitive not only to grammatical niceties, but to niceties of reason and expression.

The sensitive ear—the outpost of a sensitive intellect and a sensitive conscience—is too rare in Canada today. Those who have it have acquired it, in all likelihood, at home. Our educational system not merely neglects it, but is hostile towards it. And for that the directors and heads of that system must bear the blame.—Peterborough Examiner.

Despite Forebodings Demand Is Certain for Canadian Products

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Peculiarly enough there, just now, considerable talk about a possible fall-off in business.

This comes chiefly from the United States, but it may be heard in Canada also in this time of readjustments.

But the basic fact in all this is that there is virtually certain to be a demand for everything that can be produced — which means that there will be enough to keep everyone more than busy.

That is the over-all situation. The more-detailed picture may show shome people and some business. The more-detailed picture may show some people and some businesses being hit in the process of turning from a half-peace economy to a half-war basis.

The in-between situation seems to have developed further in the United States than here.

"The Government is appropriating, but it isn't spending," says a big Wall Street banker. "So we may be in for an interim deflation."

He thinks it will be a while before much cash is paid out for defence goods. And business may dip in the next few months because the curbs and allocations of materials may cut back consumer spending and production.

INTERIM DEFLATION

The interim deflation would lie between the present full-tilt prosperity and price inflation—which the Government controls are intended to brake—and the time when the big boost from the planned defence production comes along. The banker thinks there may be a time lag between the slowing-down of production for consumers and the start of actual production for defence.

Many, however, argue that a slump isn't in the cards, that inflation has too good a head start, and that the very anticipation of defence orders and shortages will keep civilians buying consumer goods out of bigger pay checks, and keep factories going full tilt.

Either view, of course, depends entirely on the one big "if"—if preparedness doesn't change overnight either to war or to a better prospect for peace and disarmament.

But whatever happens in the United States, there does not appear to be much need for worry in Canada, as far as any over-all fall-off is concerned.

Our raw materials, which are in demand, and the great expansion of our resources—capital investment—which is going on, seem to put us in a strong position.

Simple Comments From R.C.A.F.

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

McCHORD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash., Nov. 2 (SP). — It may get new aircraft and devise new techniques, but the air force hasn't changed since the war.

Sample comments gleaned from members of R.C.A.F.'s 426 Thunderbird Squadron operating on Korean air lift:

An Erk: "There are too many N.C.O.s standing around doing nothing."

An N.C.O.: "There's too much brass sitting around doing nothing."

An officer: "Those jobs are supposed to get 15 minutes for coffee but they usually wangle 25."

An Erk: "I want to get home and get some skating in."

An N.C.O.: "I want to get home and see my wife."

An officer: "I want to get home."

BANG-UP JOB

The usual beefing means, of course, that the R.C.A.F. is doing its usual bang-up job.

The Thunderbird Squadron occupies two or three little corners on this big airfield near Tacoma and Seattle.

The men get more money down here than at home—$30 a month more for an Lac.—But most of them say it doesn't go as far as what they were getting at home. The officers get $4.50 a day subsistence allowance, but have to buy all their meals and extras.

They say the people of Tacoma and Seattle have been wonderful to them.

One of the big grouses has been the weather—it has rained almost constantly here for nearly two months.

Military Service For Pte. Wallace

VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 2 (CP) — Pte. Wallace, regimental number K57000, a proud mascot of a proud regiment died late last night in his sleep.

The 13-year-old Second World War veteran, a namiable St. Bernard, died of old age and a rigorous life. Pte. Wallace was mascot of the Canadian Scottish First Battalion Overseas.

Trustees of the regiment plan a soldier's funeral for the dog — cremation, with ashes scattered to the skirl of the lament.

Dr. M. L. Olsen, veterinarian, said Pte. Wallace died quietly. He said the mascot had a long life for a St. Bernard, a breed which has a lower than usual life expectancy.

Labor's New Proposal Daring and Most Controversial Issue Known

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

One of the most daring and controversial issues yet advanced by Britain's Labor Government is its proposal to make numerous wartime regulations permanent.

These include food rationing, price controls and allocation of scarce materials.

Certainly the Socialists had to have the courage of their convictions to bring forward such a far-reaching program. Naturally it has brought from the Opposition bitter charges of a further swing to the left and of labor being bent on regimenting the life of the country.

You will get a quick denial of these charges of dictatorship if you inquire (as I have done) in authoritative British Socialist quarters. You will be assured that these are "democratic safeguards" supporting the Government's belief that it must have basic controls in order to carry out its program. It is claimed that the Government needs these controls for fundamental nationalization.

GOOD DEAL FURTHER

The extreme left wing of British Socialism goes a good deal further than that and has been vocal of late. However, the indications are that Prime Minister Attlee and the great majority of the Socialist party do not subscribe to these left-wing views.

Attlee is a quiet and unassuming sort of man, but he has maintained firm control of his party organization. He can be tough when he has to, and he has cracked the whip over the extreme left on numerous occasions of late.

CALLED EACH SHOT

Attlee never has concealed from the public his party's program for nationalization. On the contrary, he has called each shot as he made it.

Now he has called the shot again in connection with his project of making various wartime economic regulations permanent. He has placed his proposals before Parliament and they will go through a process of manhandling to determine whether they are acceptable.

New Provincial Jail For B. C. Prisoners

VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 2 (CP) — A new provincial jail to house between 400 and 500 prisoners now is in the process of being designed, Attorney-General Gordon Wismer has revealed.

The building is needed to relieve present overcrowding so a new system of handling prisoners can be introduced. Just where the building will be put up has not been disclosed.

The new system for operating B.C.'s prisons has been developed by a special committee.

While the committee's recommendations have not been made public it has been suggested the aim of the new system is to place emphasis on rehabilitating wrong-doers instead of on puishment.

It may be prison guards, under the new system, may be trained for their duties at the university.

Coast Students Win Awards, London, Ont.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 2 (CP) — Three students from Western Canada were included in a list of winners of scholarhips and prizes, announced by the University of Western Ontario today.

Samuel Laimon of Kamsack, Sask., won a J. William Horsey Fellowship in Business Administration, valued at $500.

Ian H. Fiddes of Vancouver was awarded two prizes in the Faculty of Medicine — the J. G. Campbell Memorial prize in Physiology and the Kahki University and Y.M.C.A. scholarship.

Mary Patricia Leith of Victoria, B.C., won the Charles R. Will prize in Applied Pharmacology or Therapeutics.

When Eddie Wares gets back to town today, he will have two players on the club, new arrivals since he left. One of them, Don Griffith, not Art Griffis as previously named, was on hand to play against Spokane, and another, rightwinger Eldon Willox showed up last night.

Willox seems to be a sure bet. Used at centre at the workout last night, he showed as a good skater, a good passer, and apparently he can get the puck around the goaltenders too, a weakness that has plagued the Leafs so far this season. Last year Eldon played for the Calgary Buffaloes with Jack Steele.

Willox was with Kamloops, but was cut off when the Elks had to drop two imports. Kamloops had applied for more imports, eight, under the special assistance clause in the rule book which allows a club which has lost many players, to receive more than the quota of imports (six for B. C.) if all the other clubs in the loop agree. Apparently their bid fell through, and someone had to go.

He related that the Elks have a powerhouse, but no reserves. Don Campbell had arrived back in Kamloops, but Billy Hryciuk, who phoned the Elks that he was on the way there, placed another phone call the same day, this one from Nanaimo, saying that he had signed to play for Nanaimo Clippers. (Sounds exactly the same as the prank Kelowna's Bud Evans pulled on Nelson Maple Leafs).

Moose McNaughton, who has a good job in Kamloops, didn't like the Kerrisdale offer, and is apparently back in Kamloops again. It's likely the Elks, if they get Moose's release from Nelson, could dump him back into the lineup. By the way, Moose got married last Summer.

A meeting for senior basketball players will be held at the Civic Centre Gym Monday for the formation of a local senior hoop league. Early this week there was a meeting of players interested in such a plan, and this corner has been told that the outlook was promising.

Eddie Wares, who is returning today from Calgary, will continue straight through to Spokane, where he will meet his family, on their way up from Victoria. When Eddie left for Calgary, his father was almost given up for dead, but Pop Wares pulled through, and is very much alive, we're pleased to report.

Konstanty Most Valuable Player in National League

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—Big Jim Konstanty, who rose from obscurity to become the best relief pitcher in baseball today, is the National League's most valuable player for 1950—a precedent shattering feat.

Konstanty, whose superb pitching featured Philadelphia Phillies' first pennant triumph in 35 years, is the first relief pitcher in either League to win the coveted award.

The 33-year-old specialist gained 18 out of 24 first place votes and piled up 286 out of a possible 336 points to win the award with ease. Only two of the 24 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America who participated in the poll failed to name Konstanty anywhere on their 10-player ballot.

"DELIGHTED"

Reached at his Worcester, N. Y., home, the former Toronto Maple Leaf hurler said: "It's something you always work for and never expect. I'm very excited and delighted about it." The right hander praised his teammates and said they deserved the laurel as much as he did.

"I never could have won it without help from the rest of the team. Without them I never could have been mentioned for such an honor," Konstanty said.

Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinal star, finished a distant second to Konstanty. Musial, a three-time award winner and the League's batting champion, drew one first-place vote and finished with 158 points. The only other players who drew first-place votes were Eddie Stanky of New York Giants and Gran Hamner of the Phils, two each and Ralph Kiner, home run king of Pittsburgh, one.

Victoria Swimmers Establish Records

VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 2 (CP)—Three unofficial swim records were established by Victoria swimmers here last night.

Norma Stewart set a record of one minute and 16.8 seconds for the 100-yard butterfly stroke.

Until this year the butterfly stroke and the breast stroke were classified as one. Now the butterfly, a variation of the breast stroke, is a classification of its own. The present junior breast stroke record, set by Irene Strong, is one minute and 18 seconds.

Also being submitted to the C.A.S.A. for the record book is Miss Stewart's 40-yard butterfly swim, made in 26 seconds flat. The present junior breast stroke record for the 40-yards is 26:8, and the senior record 26:1. Both were held by Irene Strong.

In the senior division, Joan Morgan last night did the 40-yard butterfly in 30 seconds. Her time will be the first one to be recorded and so will probably stand as a record.

To Fill Rickey's Shoes

The Power Behind the Dodgers

Obviously happy about the whole thing here are Walter O'Malley, Vice-President-Secretary of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Mrs. John Smith after it was announced that they intend to "exercise prior rights" to purchase Branch Rickey's 25 per cent share of the Dodgers' club stock. This will give them control of the club, with ownership now divided as follows: O'Malley, 37½ per cent; Mrs. Smith, 37½ per cent, and Mrs. Jim Mulvey, daughter of the late Steve McKeever, 25 per cent.—Central Press Canadian.

Fresno Thompson, "Buzzy" Bavasi Named by O'Malley

BROOKLYN, Nov. 2 (AP) — Brooklyn Dodgers today named Fresco Thompson and Emile (Buzzy) Bavasi, two of Branch Rickey's brightest aides, to fill the big shoes of the departed general manager.

Both Thompson and Bavasi, general manager of Montreal last year, were appointed vice-presidents by President Walter O'Malley who said they wil share the general managership duties Rickey handled so ably during the last eight years. The 69-year-old Rickey was both president and general manager until he resigned last week.

Next on O'Malley's agenda is the managership. Burt Shotton, Rickey's field boss, still is manager. But the betting around Brooklyn's headquarters was that Harold (Pee Wee) Reese, Dodger captain and shortstop, would be at the helm when Spring training rolls around.

Dixie Walker, the "Peepul's Cherce," in his Brooklyn playing days also rated a possibility for the manager's role.

O'Malley, however, indicated Shotton still was in the running.

"No decision will be made until I have a good talk with him," O'Malley said. "He is a very fine gentleman."

Under the new regime, Thompson, who has been in charge of scouting, will handle the club's sprawling minor league system and scouting.

Bavasi, an energetic 34-year-old minor league executive, will assist O'Malley in corporate matters and will be in charge of player contracts and deals.

He also will have a big say in the financial affair of the Dodger's triple "A" clubs. The Dodgers own Montreal in the international league and St. Paul in the American association. They also have a working agreement with Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League.

"The three of us wil confer on all important matters," continued O'Malley.

Roy Conacher Nets 200th Goal; Leafs, Hawks Win; Rangers, Detroit Tie 2-2

By The Canadian Press

Roy Conacher, veteran of the National Hockey League, scored two goals to run his lifetime record to 200 as Chicago Black Hawks bolstered their fourth-place hold by a 5-2 victory Thursday night in Chicago over the hapless Boston Bruins.

In other games, Toronto Maple Leafs tightened their hold on first place by edging Montreal Canadiens 2-1 in Montreal, and New York Rangers came from behind to tie Detroit Red Wings 2-2 in Detroit.

The Hawks swept into a 3-0 lead before the first period was half over, Conacher hitting for the third goal at 8:28 after rookie Vic Stasiuk had connected at 1:46 and Gus Bodnar at 4:59.

Johnny Peirson saved Boston from a shutout at 3:21 of the second, when he climaxed a play pattern engineered by Paul Ronty and Loren Ferguson. Then at 18:06 Gordy Fashoway, another Chicago rookie, hit to bring it to 4-1.

Conacher joined the club of rarities, those who have scored 200 or more goals in a lifetime of big league hockey, at 8:10 of the final period when he converted a pass from Adam Brown into a score that raised the Hawk edge to 5-1.

Toronto made it nine games in a row without defeat by downing Canadiens for the second successive night. The Leafs to date have only one loss and two ties in 10 games and now have a five-point lead over the second-place Habitants.

Leafs had a far wider margin of the play than Canadiens but couldn't crack through the sterling netminding of little Gerry McNeil until the final period.

McNeil was the standout for Canadiens who otherwise played a ragged game. In the last few seconds they almost rammed in a goal from a wild scramble just in front of the Toronto net, Maurice Richard missing on one effort and Calum MacKay on another.

TWO HURT

The third period of the Detroit-New York game was rough, with play held up twice while Terry Sawchuk and his teammate, Marty Pavelich, got first aid after being dumped hard. Sawchuk was felled on a hard smash by Gus Kyle, injuring his cheekbone as he fell headfirst into the Red Wings' net. Pavelich suffered a possible chipped bone in his left shoulder when he was ridden into the boards by Mickoski.

League headquarters said today the gain was 3303 paid admissions for the first 29 games. The only points to lose were Victoria, which reported a decrease of 507 for six games, and Vancouver, down 488 in five games.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 (AP) — Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League announced today that forward Jim Conacher has been suspended indefinitely.

General Manager Johnny Gottselig said the 29-year-old Conacher had refused to play for Hawk's farm club in Milwaukee when his salary was cut.

Gottselig said the salary cut was ordered when Conacher "didn't show too much" with the Milwaukee team, the Sea Gulls. Conacher played two full seasons for Hawks. He was obtained from Detroit Red Wings in 1948.

Eskimo Fans Plan Toronto Invasion if in Finals

By CAMERON JAMES, Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON, Nov. 2 (CP) — Dog sleds mushing up Bay Street, an oil derrick "drilling" in front of City Hall, oil-rich millionaires lighting cigars with $10,000 bills—all these and real live Eskimos, too, if Edmonton goes to Toronto to represent the West in the Grey Cup final.

At least, these things are what Eskimos' hottest supporters feel should be in the script if Edmonton wins the best-of-three Western finals against Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Originality will be the keynote if Touchdown Club members—1000 strong—have anything to say in the matter.

One suggestion which has met approval is that huskies and sleds be shipped to Toronto—just as Calgary sent prairie schooners and horses in previous years.

If there isn't enough snow, "small wheels can be attached to the runners for the Bay Street parade and a dozen or so Eskimos might be imported from the Arctic as mushers."

BUFFALO STEAKS

Instead of Calgary's flapjacks, buffalo steaks would make a "tasty dish" for barbecuing on City Hall steps. And just to remind Easterners of Edmonton's oil "an oil derrick wouldn't be out of place on the front lawn."

Some of the Eskimo Club executive, a trifle more cautious than the Touchdown Clubbers, admit they have given some thought to the possibility of an Eastern trip this year.

President Walter Sprague said he has received several letters suggesting ways and means of making Edmonton's presence felt.

One writer said that all supporters going East should "dress to the hilt." This means "wearing silk shirts, expensive suits, and large diamond rings and stick-pins." The fact that the jewellery is to be purchased in the five-and-dime doesn't detract from the idea, which is to impress Easterners "with the oil and industrial wealth that lies in the Edmonton area."

The writer went on: "Everyone could smoke cigars and light them with $10,000 bills—a bale of which can be printed for the occasion."

"I like that idea," said Mr. Sprague.

Another writer thought several thousand imitation cotton-batten snowballs could be carried East on the Eskimo special. Unsuspecting Easterners and even fellow Westerners along the route would be pelted. Investigation of the Ersatz snowballs would reveal (to the surprise of those hit in the eye with them) a brief brochure on the City of Edmonton.

"Not so good," said Mr. Sprague.

Almost everyone in this football-crazy city is giving the trip some thought. Almost everyone agrees it's going to be a lot of fun—if . . ."

The King today sent a message to President Truman congratulating the President on his escape from assassination by two Puerto Rican revolutionists yesterday.

The King's message, one of many arriving in Washington from world figures, said:

"I am indeed glad to hear that the dastardly attempt on your life has been frustrated and send you my sincere and thankful congratulations on your providential escape."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Market Trends

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP) — The market pulled out of a losing streak with a decisive advance today.

Steel shares acted as the backbone of the rise most of the day. In late dealings oils fought for the spotlight. Gains running to about $1.50 a share, though, were liberally distributed in other groups.

Canadian issues showed good strength. McIntyre was the leader, advancing ¾ while Hiram Walker was up ½, Canadian Pacific gained ⅛, and International Nickel added ¼. Dome was unchanged.

On the curb, Lakeshore, Giant Yellowknife and Royalite were unchanged.

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP) — Industrials advanced for the second session today.

Industrials opened mixed and then began a steady climb to the final bell Gains about doubled losses and ranged to over a point. Activity was fairly brisk and volume was 2,400,000.

In the base metal group Consolidated Smelters, East Sullivan, International Nickel, Noranda, and Steep Rock made strong advances.

Quemont lost fairly heavily.

MONTREAL—Strength in papers featured slow trading near the close today.

The market was ahead from the opening bell but the advance was comparatively small. Changes for the most part were minor fractions with a few leaders rising well beyond a point.

Mines moved irregularly after a weak opening but Western oils continued lower. United Asbestos brightened the section with a gain of six cents at a new high of $1.05 under a turnover of more than 115,000 shares. East Sullivan was up 15 cents at $8.40, while Quemont lost $2 at 24.50.

LONDON (Reuters) — There was a blaze of interest and activity in commodity shares today. Buying was encouraged by rising prices of the commodities and minor boom conditions existed in tins and rubbers. Advances of one to three shillings were spread over wide lists and were generally well held at the close.

After an initial decline due to switching of interest to tins and rubbers, copper share prices were inclined to rally. Gold shares were quietly irregular.
