First Toll Bridge Replacing Ferry Gets Gov't Okay

VICTORIA (CP)—The provincial cabinet has approved a plan for private interests to build a toll bridge to replace the Rosedale-Agassiz ferry, Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi said Wednesday.

The announcement seemed to confirm, in part, reports the Social Credit government favors letting private interests construct public works on a toll basis.

One report some time ago said the gov rnment had set up a three-man cabinet committee to consider a multi-million-dollar toll road and bridge progrma which private interests were willing to undertake.

Mr. Gaglardi again Wednesday said the government had only one such project — the Rosedal-Agassiz bridge—before it. No mention was made of the toll bridge proposal for Nelson-North Shore on Kootenay Lake West Arm.

The cabinet had approved the principle, he said, and terms for the construction and operation of the bridge had been worked out.

These terms had been submitted to a Vancouver construction company, Gilpin-Nash Ltd., he said. It is believed Gilpin-Nash is considering both building and operating the toll bridge.

Mr. Gaglardi said the company had not yet signed an agreement with the government, but that he expected word within a few days.

Pirate Ships Infest Hong Kong Seaways

Navy Tries To Protect Shipping as Some 20 Fishing Boats Plunder Ships

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Pirates manning motorized junks and armed with machine-guns are transforming international waters near this British colony into a latter-day Spanish main.

More than 20 pirate ships, which usually pose as harmless fishing boats, recently have been terrorizing small vessels plying between here and nearby Portuguese Macau, on Communist China's mainland.

Cargo junk traffic between the two colonies is practically at a standstill.

The modern pirates go on their plundering forays from secret island bases just outside Chinese territorial waters, reports from Macau say. They stay in business despite attempts by both the Chinese Communists and Nationalists to wipe them out.

The plundering of seems to be a revival of the piracy which was rife in the Far East after the Second World War. Pirates of the early post-war period often used to work this way: a group of about 20, disguised as coolies, would book passage on a coastal vessel carrying valuable cargo. When the ship got out to sea they would loot the ship and transfer their loot to a junk.

When the Chinese Communists took over four years ago, piracy seemed to die out. The Communists seized many pirate shore bases. Those who escaped had to contend with gunboats from the Chinese Communist mainland and from Nationalist-occupied Formosa.

The United States and United Nations embargoes on trade to China, imposed since the start of the Korean war, also reduced possible pickings for the sea raiders.

About two years ago, piracy began reviving. It's been on the increase ever since.

The Royal Navy is doing its best to protect British shipping. But with most of the Far East fleet's strength deployed in Korean waters it hasn't many warships to spare.

Snowmobile Rescues Quartet

EDMONTON (CP) — Four members of an oil exploration crew are moving out of the desolate northern Alberta bushland after being marooned since late last week when a ski on their snowmobile was broken.

The Shell Oil Co., which employs the men, reported Wednesday that the four were coming out of the town of Peace River, 250 miles northwest of here, aboard an RCMP snowmobile. They were expected at Peace River Thursday.

George Cormack and Earl Sharon, both of Calgary, James Turner of Edmonton and Clayton Franks of Grimshaw, Alta., have been sitting it out in sub-zero temperatures since last Thursday when they holed up in an abandoned oil camp 75 miles northeast of Peace River.

U.S. TO CHECK RHODES SCHOLARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional investigators disclosed Wednesday they will take a close look at prospective Rhodes scholars — Americans who are chosen yearly for advanced education in Britain.

Representative Harold Velde (Rep.-Ill.), due to head the House of Representatives Un-American Activities Committee, told reporters there are indications that in the past Communists have been able to obtain Rhodes appointments.

Velde said the group learned in closed hearings at Chicago last Summer that British Communists also tried to recruit Rhodes scholars during their tours in England.

The scholarships, set up by Cecil Rhodes of South Africa fame, go to outstanding Commonwealth and American college graduates for a year of study at Oxford and Cambridge Universities.

TORIES CALL FOR USE OF FLOGGING

LONDON (AP) — A bill to reintroduce flogging of British criminals in an effort to check crimes of violence was made public Wednesday.

The bill, introduced in Parliament by 10 Conservatives, calls for the private whipping with a birch rod of men convicted of crimes of physical violence.

It amends the 1948 criminal justice bill, which banned flogging for all except grave offences against prison discipline. The amendment, due for a second reading in the House of Commons Feb. 13, still forbids the use of the cat-o'-nine-tails—a leather-thronged whip.

Bates, a native of Middlesex, Eng., joined the U.S. Marine Corps to be near the 16-year-old Sumner, Miss., high school junior. They became pen pals after their names were exchanged through the American education authority. Blushingly both said it's too early to talk about romance.

Loggers, Sommers Clash Over Scaling Methods

VANCOUVER (CP)—A dispute over log scaling methods erupted Wednesday at the annual convention of the B.C. Truck Loggers Association.

Delegates clashed with Forests Minister R. E. Sommers and demanded that the government "go slow" in its change-over from the board feet method of log scaling to the cubic scale.

The meeting with the minister was held behind closed doors, but it is understood the minister told the loggers he would take their demands under consideration.

The lumbermen charged that the cubic scaling method was imposed without their knowledge and said it will double the cost of scaling B.C. forests.

Japan Borrows U.S. Ships

TOKYO (AP) — Japan has borrowed 10 ships from the United States as a starter toward rebuilding the fleet she lost fighting the U.S. in the Second World War. Some of the ships formerly had been loaned to Russia. Japanese sailors Wednesday hoisted Rising Sun pennants on six frigates and four landing ships at Lokusaka naval base.

SABRES KNOCK DOWN 8 MiGS

Possibly Eleven More Hit In Big Air Victory

SEOUL (AP) — United States Sabre pilots scored their biggest air victory in four months Wednesday, reporting they knocked down eight Communist MiGs and shot up possibly 11 more over Northwest Korea.

The Fifth Air Force said the jets damaged at least three others. One probable destruction and six damage claims are pending confirmation.

It was the Sabre's biggest victory in North Korean skies since last Sept. 4, when they sent 13 MiGs crashing to the ground.

Reports of any Allied losses would come in a weekend summary.

The Reds' appearance broke six days of relative quiet in MiG alley near the Manchurian border. The MiGs appeared only after the air force had levelled another 150-plane assault on the battered bridge complex North of Sinanju. Then, returning Sabre pilots reported, MiGs "popped up everywhere."

Jet ace Capt. Leonard Lilley of Manchester, N.H., downed his seventh MiG in one of the clashes.

The latest raid against Sinanju was the ninth attack in six days on the vital bridge and rail hub which funnels Red supplies from Manchuria to the front lines.

On the ground, South Korean soldiers forded the Nam River on the Eastern front, killing an estimated 36 enemy troops in a series of clashes.

West of the Mundung Valley on the East-Central front, Allied soldiers holding three outpost positions beat off three pre-dawn probes, killing and wounding an estimated 60 Chinese.

TV May Be Political Issue—Sinclair

VERNON (CP) — Vancouver and possibly Toronto are the only areas in Canada where CBC television policy might become an election issue, Fisheries Minister Sinclair said Wednesday.

He told the Okanagan-Revelstoke federal riding association that Canada is better served by radio than either the United States or Britain.

He said he felt the sharing of radio broadcasting by the CBC and privately-owned stations results in "less stuffiness" than the BBC without the "crass commercialism" evident in much American broadcasting.

TALE OF A HORSE AMUSES COMMONS

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton told a chuckling Commons the details Wednesday of what went into the Petawawa rocking horse.

Answering a series of questions by Hazen Argue (CCF—Assiniboia) arising from the Currie report, he said the child's rocking horse referred to in the report was made by an army private as a Christmas present for the young son of Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, then commanding officer of the army's central command.

It included nails and other material from army stores, hairs in the tail which were obtained from "a civilian workman," and a saddle made from the lining of an old coat owned by Mrs. Vokes.

When Gen. Vokes heard the horse contained materials from the army's stores, he had paid the equivalent value—$9—into the federal treasury.

Oil Well Spouts 100-Foot Flames

CHAUVIN, Alta. (CP) — Rolling black smoke and brilliant flames climbed 100 feet in the air late Tuesday night as an oil-well fire continued blazing in the sub-zero cold four miles West of Chauvin, 190 miles Northeast of Calgary.

Drilling company employees kept a constant watch at the well site, waiting in 30- to 40-below temperatures for dawn when a dynamite blast will be set up in an attempt to cut off the flow of natural gas feeding the flames.

An official of Canbridge Contracting Limited, drillers, said damage to equipment at the well would be well into the thousands of dollars, but he would not give an actual estimate. None of the crew was injured.

Flames, fed by a natural-gas flow of 3,000,000 cubic feet every 24 hours, could be seen for 20 miles.

Drilling equipment at the site was all damaged or destroyed before it could be removed. A rig, derrick and several other expensive pieces of equipment were caught in the sudden fire.

DOLLAR UNCHANGED

NEW YORK (CP)—The Canadian dollar was unchanged at a discount of 2 15-16 per cent in terms of U.S. funds Wednesday. Pound sterling unchanged at $2.81 3-16.

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar Wednesday closed at a discount of 2 27-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, unchanged. Pound sterling, $2.73 3-16, unchanged

FAMILIES MOVE AS BOW RISES

Pressure of Ice Cracking Dike

CALGARY (CP) — Residents near the Bow river at suburban Bowness began to evacuate their homes Wednesday afternoon while the waters rose rapidly behind them in the ice-choked river.

All afternoon officers of the RCMP toured the danger spot, warning families to move before nightfall.

For the second year in succession sudden flood threatened the low-lying township eight miles west of Calgary. In 1952 30 houses were hit by icy water as the river overflowed in sub-zero weather.

This year all officials were being mobilized in preparation for the critical period Wednesday midnight when the "tidal wave" from Calgary Power Ltd.'s Ghost dam was expected to reach the ice-pack.

In a temperature of 10 below zero Wednesday the river ice piled up in the narrow bottleneck between Calgary and Bowness. It stretched far upstream and steadily blocked the river channel.

During the rise of water from the morning peak load at Ghost dam, some water began to overflow on to waste ground in the area. Under severe pressure ominous cracks appeared in the protective dike at that point and engineers rushed to the scene.

By Wednesday night one of the few remaining residents in the danger area was experimental gardener Leonard H. Cooper, who was guarding his $50,000 investment within a few yards of the surging river.

Last year he suffered damage amounting to many thousands of dollars as he watched a life-long business enterprise devastated in minutes.

Mr. Cooper, nervously watching the water rise once again, was bitter. A member of the Bow Flood Committee, he asserted that the floods which occurred in the last few years were entirely due to the construction of the Ghost dam.

Boy Scouts Set Beacons Burning

LONDON (CP)—A line of beacons will blaze again across Britain on coronation night, June 2, on the initiative of the Boy Scouts organization. Scout beacons first twinkled across the country on May 6, 1935, commemorating the silver jubilee of King George V.

$35 Million Road Program Reported Slated for B.C.

VANCOUVER — The biggest road program in the province's history — including major attention to the Southern Transprovincial Highway — is in the book for 1953, reports the Vancouver Daily Province.

"Reliable sources," says the coast newspaper in a despatch from its Victoria bureau, "indicate the road program will amount to a record $35 million or more for paving, road, and bridge building."

The Government, says the paper, "will pay for the program without adding to the provincial debt.

"Just how this is to be done is a mystery that will only be solved when the budget is presented to the Legislature.

"In part it may be the result of Socred government economies combined with booming revenues and increased levies on the use of the province's natural resources.

APPEARS CERTAIN

"Regardless of how, if the Socreds follow their pledged "pay-as-you-go" policy on such a big program it will represent a breathtaking departure in road financing.

"And it now appears certain that this is exactly what they intend to do.

"The pattern over the past few years has been to spend about $17,500,000 on roads. Of that total, $12,500,000 was borrowed money and the remaining $5,000,000 came as Ottawa's 50 per-cent share of work on the Trans-Canada Highway.

"A major proportion of road work to be done this year is likely to be on the Trans-Canada, because for every dollar B.C. spends Ottawa must put up $1.

HALF BY OTTAWA

"If, for example, B.C. were to double its contribution of the past few years and put up $10,000,000 Ottawa would have to fork over a matching $10,000,000.

"But with total expenditures this year doubling the usual it appears other major highways will get more attention, too, including the Southern Trans-Provincial, where several important gaps remain to be closed, and the Okanagan Highway, the Cariboo and Northern Trans-Provincial.

"Other work is planned on less important highways.

"Ten million dollars is being spent on the Trans-Canada Highway this year, half of it put up by Ottawa. But by the end of this year B.C. will have constructed only 119 miles (108 paved) of a total of 685 miles of the Trans-Canada lying within provincial borders.

"The picture is not quite as bad as it looks, because B.C. has tackled its worst and most expensive bottleneck first — the Fraser Canyon, which also must serve the Cariboo Highway to the North.

"One section of only 1.1 miles in the canyon — acknowledged to be as tough a piece of road building as anywhere in the world — cost a whopping $850,000, or more than eight times the present average cost of highway construction in mountainous B.C.

"Other sections of the canyon still to be completed will show costs just as high.

"Total highway expenditures for the current year were a higher-than-usual $32,200,000."

Truman Looks To Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt.-Gen. James Doolittle presented President Truman Wednesday with the first casting, in gold, of a medallion commemorating the 50th anniversary of powered flight. Accepting it, Truman quipped: "That's something I can hock — it's solid gold. It may mean a square meal for me some time."

Moscow Press, Radio Silent on Doctors' Case

LONDON (AP) — Soviet propaganda organs which have been trumpeting murder charges against nine Moscow physicians in anti-Semetic terms have dropped the case abruptly as world reaction has built up.

Obviously acting under orders, Moscow radio and Soviet newspapers turned mysteriously Wednesday from their biggest story of 1953.

This was the story to which they devoted thousands of words Tuesday—the arrest of the nine as a Western-backed "terrorist group" accused of killing Andrei Zhdanov and Alexander Scherbakov and trying to kill other Russian leaders since the Second World War through improper treatment.

Why the muzzle was applied at this stage is a question.

Millions of Rusians and Westerners alike were talking of the case, which was officially represented as linking the physicians with a Jewish relief agency, the American Joint Distribution Committee, and U.S. and British intelligence services.

One exception to the blackout was the official organ of the Soviet health ministry, the Medical Worker. A Moscow dispatch quoted it: "There has now appeared before the whole world, in all its horrifying nakedness, an international Jewish Zionist organization which represents nothing else than a gang of terrorists and murders."

Coupled with this was some self-criticism. The publication said the health ministry's executives had handled poorly one of their major obligations — to choose personnel according to their political and professional qualifications — and "overlooked the wrecking, terrorist work of a group of shamless poisoners and murderers who had sold themselves to American and British war-mongers." All Russian doctors are on the state payroll.

A belief developed in London that the fantastic case heralds a showdown between Georgi Malenkov and Lavrenti Beria, both deputy premiers. Beria has headed the secret police.

If this thesis is correct, the stakes are high. The winner could be the successor to Stalin. The guess — and that's all it is — is that the moon-faced Malenkov holds the strongest hand.

POSSIBLE ALLIANCE AWAKES SUSPICION

SINGAPORE (AP) — The proposal that Britain and the United States organize a southeast Asia defensive alliance against communism revives the old bogey of white imperialism among suspicious Asians. It is a deep-rooted fear that the Reds skilfully exploit among the millions with brown skins in this part of the world.

Reports from New York and London that Prime Minister Churchill proposed an Asian pact to President elect Eisenhower make sense to the military planners in this big British base. If Indo-China fell—and it probably would only fall if Red China sent in troops on a "second Korea" —the rest of southeast Asia would be a push-over.

But politically a military pact carries the danger that it may harden anti-white feelings to the point where Red fifth columns could undermine military strength.

Martin Promises Study Means Test, Blind Pensions

OTTAWA (CP) — Health Minister Martin has promised consideration of representations by organizations representing the blind for an increase in pensions for the blind to $50 from $40 a month and abolition of the means test.

The delegation, including representatives from various parts of Canada, met Mr. Martin, his priliamentary assistant, Dr. E. A. McCusker of Regina, and a number of members of Parliament in Mr. Martin's office.

Col. Eddie Baker headed the delegation representing the Canadian National Institute for the Blind Group.

B.C. May Ask Ottawa For Special Department

VICTORIA (CP) — A program directed at settling British Columbia's Doukhobor problem without relocating the fanatic elements is reported under study by the provincial cabinet.

Government sources were quoted Wednesday as saying the program includes recognition of the Doukhobor form of marriage and voting privileges for Doukhobors, but would not involve an exodus of the Sons of Freedom from the Kootenay region.

The Sons of Freedom, numbering about 2000 of the 10,000 Doukhobors in the province, are held responsible for lawless acts over the last half century ranging from nude demonstrations to bombing railway lines.

The other recommendations of a special cabinet committee were given as provincial government representations to Ottawa to relax punishment for nude parading and establish a new department of Doukhobor affairs to give the sect a closer sense of association with the government.

The Victoria Colonist, in a newspage story, says the program is "aimed at removing the sense of martyrdom, which psychologists say is the dissidents' justification for anti-social acts . . ."

ACTION AT SESSION

The newspaper adds that while the cabinet has not reached a final decision on how to handle the problem, "action is almost certain to come at the next session of the legislature, opening Feb. 3."

The four recommendations were among those put forward in a report handed to the government last year by the Consultative Committee on Doukhobors. But the committee, at the top of its recommendations, urged that the Freedomites be resettled in an other country, or other part of the province.

The Colonist report adds:

"Official recognition of Doukhobor marriages would be the first step toward integration of the sect into the community. Since Doukhobors have no clergy, their marriages are performed by parents of the bride and groom. But children of such marriages are not considered legitimate under the present Marriage Act.

"The cabinet is also considering giving the franchise to Doukhobors, in the hope of making them better citizens.

"The government may also decide to ask the federal government to remove 'discriminatory provisions' against Doukhobors from the Criminal Code.

"Under the present code, the mandatory sentence for nude parading—a Doukhobor protest against conventional society—is three years in a federal penitentiary. Some cabinet members feel this term is too long."

Gov't Considers Lower Car Fees

VICTORIA (CP) — A 10 per cent reduction in motor-vehicle licence fees is under consideration by the provincial government.

It was learned Wednesday the government is studying the advisability of the move, and hopes to amend the motor-vehicle act at the coming session so the lower fees can go into effect next year.

The move would mean a loss in revenue of $750,000 to the government. Estimated revenue in 1952-53 from motor- vehicle licences is $7,500,000.

The reduction would affect roughly 310,000 car owners. A $10 cut is said to be the government's eventual aim, but this will take some years to accomplish.

SAVES PENNIES TO BUY CADILLAC

CHICAGO (AP) — For 23 years automobiles have been whizzing past the corner where John Motley sells newspapers. He just watched, envied and saved his pennies. Motley, wrote a cheque Saturday for $5487.41 for a 1953 Cadillac. He said he had been saving up for it since 1930.

Abbott Would Up Trade Between Canada and U.S.

NEW YORK (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott of Canada says the time is ripe for taking "calculated risks" to solve international economic problems.

Canada will continue to play its part in contributing to progressive solutions, Abbott said in an address Wednesday night before the Economic Club of New York. Eugene R. Black, president of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, also spoke at the meeting.

Black said "no other single factor could do as much, in the long run, to strengthen the world economy as an expansion of American imports." Protectionist sentiment in the U.S. must be changed, he added.

The American expert said he would like to see a country-wide campaign in the U.S. in which leaders of public opinion would participate to show the American people that an increase in imports would be a gain.

16 Cardinals Receive Birettas

By FRANK BRUTTO

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Sixteen of the Roman Catholic Church's 24 new cardinals knelt before the Pope Wednesday and received, in rites centuries old, the scarlet birettas of their office.

Each preceded by his court, Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger, Archbishop of Montreal, and the 15 other new princes of the Church went in turn to the pontifical apartment in the Apostolic Palace where the Pope sat on his throne.

Eight of the new cardinals missed these ancient ceremonies. Aloysius Stepinac of Yugoslavia and Stefan Wyszynski of Poland were absent because their countries are governed by Communists.

Other arrangements had been made for conferring the cardinals' square hats upon apostolic nuncios and two Spanish cardinals.

The ceremonies conclude today with the great public consistory in St. Peter's Basilica, at which the Pope will present the broad-brimmed galeros, or red hats.

Slick Ice Covers Fraser Valley Roads

VANCOUVER (CP) — A slick coating of ice covered roads in the Fraser Valley Wednesday and forced closure of at least 33 schools.

More than 4000 students in the Chilliwack area were turned back home when school buses got nowhere on the icy roads.

The sharp drop in temperatures early Wednesday was preceded by a heavy rainfall Tuesday night.

RCMP said the treacherous belt extends between Chilliwack and about six miles beyond Hope on the Hope-Princeton highway.

Freezing temperatures are expected to continue for the next two days.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Lucille Ball will have her baby next Monday both in fact and in her TV show, the script for which already identifies the child as a boy.

The network which televises the "I Love Lucy" show said Wednesday that Miss Ball and her husband, Desi Arnaz, decided weeks ago, when the final show of the expectancy sequence was filmed, that they'll have to take a chance on guessing the sex of their forthcoming child.

The show has given millions a candid, week-by-week account of Miss Ball's pregnancy.

The next "I Love Lucy" show will be televised the night of Jan. 19. On that day Miss Ball will enter hospital to have her child by caesarean section.

NEW YORK (AP)—Ann T. Kallmeyer, a 29-year-old blonde night-club palm reader, won a court separation from her husband, Kenneth, on grounds of abandonment. Said she:

"Had I read my husband's palm before we were married, I would never have married him."

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Arne Skisted, restaurant owner and singer, has been visiting jails for some time to sing for prisoners. One prisoner told Skisted he enjoyed the entertainment so much that he would visit his restaurant when he got out of jail.

He kept his promise, ate and drank well—and ended up in jail again. He had no money to pay the bill.

Nelson Cagers Take Twin Win From Trail

Nelson's two basketball teams, the Bomberettes and the senior men, on Wednesday night took a double header from Trail. The seniors scored a 49-38 win and the High School girls copped the other game 30-23.

In the senior men's game the Nelsonites started fast and by the end of the first quarter had taken an 18-10 lead. The play in the second quarter was even and at the half Nelson still held a comfortable lead of 22-15. Although being outscored 27-23 in the last half the Trail boys fought gamely, but just couldn't stop the drive of the Nelson team.

The big three of the Nelson crew Don MacKinnon, 13 points, Gene Nutter 13 and Pat Renwick 12, led the Nelson team to victory in a game that saw a lot of action and speed. The Trail team was led by Don Hunter with 11 markers. Grant McNeil and Cal Ford each picked up eight points.

Trail played a rugged game and had no less than 18 fouls called against them by Referee Richard Mason. Nelson picked up nine fouls in the contest.

13 FOR KENNEDY

In the first game of the twin-bill the Nelson Bomberettes led by guard Maureen Kennedy with 13 points took the measure of the Trail Torchettes 30-23.

The game although a little on the rough side at times was fast throughout. A total of 27 fouls were called by referee Richard Mason of Nelson and umpire Melvin Bergman of Trail.

The Bomberettes with the guards showing a lot of drive took an early lead and by half time had piled up a 18-12 lead. The Trail team although outpointed in the first three quarters did show a burst of reserve power in the final quarter outscoring Nelson 8-5.

Barbara Thom was the second high scorer for Nelson with eight markers. For Trail it was Loretta Tambellini with seven points and Drus Babuin with six.

Honorable mention goes to the Nelson guards Marg Vance, Maureen Kennedy, Iris Valentine, and Sylvia Shorthouse who played stellar ball and are proving to be the backbone of the Nelson team.

The Bomberettes will play host to the Castlegar High School girls this Friday and then on Saturday will travel to Creston to take on the Creston High School.

Humor, Drama, Thrills - Ice Show Has Them All

From Mexico to the land of the Totem, from the wild and wooly West to Hawaii — Ice Fantasy of '53 had it all. Its glamor and colorful splendor ranked it high in the winter's entertainment fare, Nelson found Wednesday night.

Gloria Dawn, star of the show, sparkled her flashing blades and graceful body giving original interpretations to her numbers. Miss Dawn mingles acrobatics with her performance and thinks nothing of turning cartwheels. Especially well applauded were her drop spirals, when from a spiral position, she sweeps a graceful curve with her body, her forehead inches from the ice. Dancing, mostly modern, also added to her artistic display.

The High Jinx Adagio duo, Marlene Brewer and Fern Holder, captured the hearts of the audience. Each of their daring acts on ice, swings and twirls in truly pleasing style were heartily applauded by an almost full Civic Centre crowd.

Ontario's Sweetheart on Ice and Miss British Columbia, Francis Shirley and Joyce MacFarlane, gave creditable performances, their polished style and professional grace contributing toward a delightful performance.

The special feature was a never to be forgotten aerial act with Kitten and Gabby Wendt. Stars in "The Greatest Show on Earth", the pair had a number in the audience screaming at their daring performance high above the ice without a safety net. The finale was a breathtaking spectacle when Kitten spins by her neck in midair, supported only by the teeth of her partner.

No show would be complete without its clown and comedy act and this show has plenty. Although the humor begins slowly, it soon reaches a fast moving tempo. The skating horse, a masterpiece of showmanship, thrilled young and old. Ma and Pa and baby, starring the Bergman Brothers, is mainly pantomine, but carries with it many a laugh. Then came Miss Canada of 1953. Looking more like Canada than the miss, the stringy-haired buxom imitation of a beauty queen drew many a laugh.

SKILL, COMEDY

A bit of the old West was shown when Bobby Hill one of the nation's best ropers, twirled the twine in mid ice while he skipped and danced circles around the fast moving lasso. His comedy acts in-between were good.

Although the twin jumping sensations gave out with a number of precisioned three's and axels, jumps were lacking in the show. Few of the star bladsters gave the audience the thrill of an axel and only two or three double axel jumps were performed during the entire show.

The show, sponsored by the Nelson Rotary Club in conjunction with the Nelson Figure Skating Club, will be shown for the last time tonight.

Trail Christian Business Men Install Slate

TRAIL — Perry J. Rich, past president of the Christian Business Men's Committee of Vancouver, urged members and church-goers to be active in "pointing the right way." In his address given to 76 people in the new St. Andrew's Anglican Hall Wednesday evening, Mr. Rich classified the majority of humans into three categories: those interested in acquiring material things; pleasure and thrill seekers; and those occupied with theories and willing to listen to the speculation of man rather than placing faith in God.

Mr. Rich said that while he enjoyed motoring and playing golf, pleasures of this nature were legitimate only if put in their right place. "We must put Christ first . . . 'Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness and all other things shall be added unto you.'"

At the sixth annual meeting of the Trail C.B.M.C. held in Trail the new slate of officers were installed and presideht is W. A. Aslin, vice-president D. F. Rice, secretary-treasurer G. Donelly, executive officers, F. H. Smith and J. K. Evans, past chairman R. D. McAllister, honorary president, Dr. B. P. Sutherland.

Following the banquet hymns were sung by the All-City-Sing Choir. Solo was by Miss Kathleen Cooke.

Don Ure Again Commissioner

Nelson district in the past six years has seen its Boy Scout enrolment doubled under the commissionership of Don Ure. Confirmation of Mr. Ure's re-appointment as District Commissioner, on recommendation of Nelson District Scout Association, has been received from Provincial Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons.

The Scout movement under Commissioner Ure's leadership has encompassed four new communities as well as expanding here. Six new troops have been organized, adding 235 Scouts, to make the district enrolment 458.

New troops organized are the 5th Nelson, 6th St. Saviour's, 1st Kaslo, 1st Ymir, 1st Granite Road, and 1st Emerald Mine.

Mr. Ure, entering his seventh year as commissioner, has been in Scouting 28 years.

Lake Level Still Climbing

The level of Kootenay Lake has risen an inch since Tuesday, increasing water storage for power production by 8920 acre feet.

The total rise since last Friday has been three and one-third inches, equivalent to more than 32,000 acre feet of storage.

The rise since Tuesday indicates that the recent unseasonably mild weather is still having an encouraging effect on the runoff of feeder streams and rivers into the lake.

Water storage in acre feet; a year ago, 933,990; week ago, 542,150; Tuesday, 560,200, and Wednesday, 569,120.

Board Returned To Office . . .

Cranbrook Seeks Library Building

CRANBROOK—Financial aid in construction of a permanent ground-floor library building, through service club aid spearheaded by Rotary support, was reported probable by Cranbrook public library chairman W. A. Burton at the annual Library Association meeting. Meanwhile the service continues to operate three days a week in the second floor of the Cranbrook Mercantile store in rented quarters.

Librarian Mrs. A. B. McKenzie reported circulation of 11,272 volumes among the library's 252 adult and 460 juvenile members. Book stock showed 1669 volumes of adult fiction and 673 of non-fiction with 1387 volumes for juveniles. New stock to the value of $250 was on order the end of the year, and 200 volumes of the travelling library were available to members during the year.

Financial report showed receipts of $1213 of which $500 came from a city grant and $500 from a public library commission grant, and the rest from memberships and operations. Expenditures totalled $974.05 of which $301.69 was spent on reading matter, $420 on salary and $252.36 on rent and light.

The board was unanmiously returned with Mr. Burton continuing as chairman, Mrs. W. O. Green, secretary; W. Irvine, treasurer, and F. Levirs and Miss E. Paterson directors.

Park Traffic Up 48 Per Cent

INVERMERE — Kootenay National Park recorded the highest percentage increase of any national park in Canada in 1952 based on attendance figures. From April 1, the beginning of the fiscal year to December 31, 47,515 cars entered the park from the gateway at Radium Hot Springs. Passengers numbered 144,590. The figures compared with 32,001 cars in 1951 and 98,112 passengers for the same period in 1951.

This was an increase of 48 per cent.

Attendance at the Radium Hot Springs swimming pools was 114,488 in 1952 and 96,737 in 1951, showing an increase of 18 per cent. This figure would have been considerably higher if the polio scare in the late summer had not cut attendance appreciably.

Cominco Engineer H. H. Douglas Laid At Rest

KIMBERLEY—Rev. Eric Bibby officiated at funeral rites at McPherson Funeral Home here for Howard Hawthorn Douglas, resident here since 1925. He died at the hospital after a short illness. His health had been poor for several months.

Born 70 years ago at St. John, N. B., he came to this province at the age of 21 years. He became an engineer and joined Cominco in this work at Kimberley in 1925 continuing until his retirement in 1949.

He is survived by his wife, Laura, at their home here, and a daughter Beverley who teaches school in the Windermere Valley.

Boswell Sailor In Tokyo Hospital

BOSWELL—Word has been received here that Richard Embree, with the U. S. navy has been seriously injured while on manoeuvers. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Embree of Boswell.

The wire, sent from a naval base at Washington, D. C., stated he was currently in Tokyo hospital for treatment.

Greenwood Civic Staff Takes on Gov't Duties

GREENWOOD—An agreement with the provincial government and the city has resulted in civic employees taking over provincial duties.

The city hall staff has been moved to the court house and will carry on government sub agent's duties licence issuing and recording vital statistics.

Because of a minimum of business in the various branches of Government service at Greenwood, it was decided to close the government offices there. However, the city and the government came to an agreement and if the city remains in the building for a three-year period, the building will be turned over to them. Premises are considerably larger than the old city hall which, it is reported, may be turned into rental offices.

East Kootenay Indians Elect Chiefs, Council

CRANBROOK — All five bands in the Kootenay Indian agency have taken advantage of the new provisions in the Indian Act which came into effect in 1952 to change from hereditary chief system to biennial election of a chief and two councillors. The five bands have over 400 members, and the act stipulates voting eligibility for men and women 21 years and over.

St. Mary's band near Cranbrook has named Aloysius Birdstone to succeed hereditary chief Eustace who is now 83 years old, and chose as councillors Basil Andrew and Conrad Williams among seven nominees which included one woman. All details of the nomination and election were according to recognized democratic procedure, with Indian agent James Dunn electoral officer, and his assistant W. A. Anderson as deputy.

Similar elections have been held by the Lower Kootenay band near Creston who named their hereditary chief, Lazarus Louis under the new system, with Isaac Basil and Louis Paul White councillors; and by the Tobacco Plains band, who named Justin Ignatius chief and Moses Joe Dennis and Alec Gravelle councillors. Planning elections soon are the Columbia Lake and Shuswap bands in the Windermere Valley.

The chiefs and councillors deal with matters concerning their respective bands and act as liaison between the bands and the Indian agency in matters concerning the dominion and provincial governments and the band. They also represent the band in forwarding resolutions to the respective governments.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

East Kootenay Oldtimer Dies

KIMBERLEY—Funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon for Howard Hawthorne Douglas, 70, of 328 Marsden Street, who died in McDougall Hospital after several years of ill health. The service was conducted by Rev. E. Bibby with interment in the local cemetery.

Pallbearers were H. Weaver, H. Dolson, O. McWhirter, H. Capp, S. Murray and D. Lang.

Born in St. John, New Brunswick, April 22, 1882, Mr. Douglas came west to Fernie in 1903. A veteran of World War I, he had served overseas in 1916.

He married Laura Caukill in London in 1918, and following his discharge in 1919, they returned to Canada, coming to Fernie in 1920. There, Mr. Douglas was employed as chief engineer by the White Spruce Lumber Company. After some time with the Jaffray Lumber Company and Taylors Mill, he entered the employ of Cominco as a steam engineer in 1924, continuing with them until his retirement on April 1, 1949.

A member of St. John City Lodge No. 2, AF and AM, Mr. Douglas was also a charter member and past patron of Harmony Chapter 45, Order of Eastern Star, Kimberley.

Surviving are his wife, and his daughter Beverley, and three sisters, Mrs. William Journeay of Prince Rupert, Mrs. Ira Bennett and Mrs. E. E. Marson of Boston, Mass. A son, James, predeceased him in 1939.

Canadian Furniture Designs Look Graceful, Pleasant, and Comfortable

By FORBES RHODE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canadians now can get good design in their furniture in virtually any price range.

This is in considerable contrast to a few years ago when eye appeal generally went with the high price tags.

This improvement in design is perhaps the most striking thing to be noted at the current Canadian Furniture Mart in Toronto (Jan. 12-21).

Simple, clean-cut lines have come into the lower-priced field, and even if pieces should become "dated" a few years from now, they should still be pelasant to live with.

This is not to say, however, that bizarre effects do not creep in, or that there is not room for continuing improvement.

IMPROVED DESIGNS

The Furniture Mart now is in its fourth year and C. L. Stark, its managing director, gives it some of the credit for the improvement in design.

He said a number of firms whose goods suffered in comparison with their competitors in the early shows made fast changes.

Swedish designs seem to have been among the influences for good, and some beautiful pieces are being turned out in Canada under Swedish licence.

For those who can afford high price tags, there is plenty to look at both in modern and traditional lines.

Plastics, sometimes virtually like wood in appearance but harder to scratch, are creeping into occasional furniture. In general, new materials, or old materials such as iron in new uses, are testing out their places in the furniture and furnishings field.

USE OF IRON

The use of iron recently led to caustic comment by a big American buyer at an American show. He said:

"You now sit on chairs which combine all the comforts of an oversized coal scuttle, the soft feel of a window screen and the basic ingredients of a picket fence."

Canadian designs, however, if inclined to caution, also escape some of the more extreme efforts of American manufacturers.

Improvement in design is most noticeable in bedroom furniture. Living room furniture also tends toward simpler lines, with much of the over-stuffing gone out of chesterfields.

Teenager Charged With Boy's Death

ROUYN, Que. (CP) — Gabriel Tremblay, 17, today was charged with murder in the death Jan. 17 of Gaetan Gendron, 11, in St. Laurent de Gallichan, 48 miles north of here. Police said Tremblay confessed he had hit the boy several times with a steel pulp hook.

Carpenters Want Wage Parity

VANCOUVER (CP)—Carpenters on the lower mainland will seek this year to bring their wage rate up to parity with 14 other building trades unions.

The two biggest locals of the Carpenters Union TLC at Vancouver and New Westminster voted to go after "parity pay" rather than a specific wage increase.

Present rate for carpenters, following a 10-cent an hour boost last year, is $2.10 hourly. Other workers inthe construction industry earn between $2.15 and $2.40 hourly.

Last year the industry was tied up for 73 days as a result of a company lockout following the union's original demand for a 50-cent hourly pay boost.

The present contract expires March 31. About 4000 carpenters are affected.

Hope for Amnesty

LONDON (Reuters) —Convicts in Britain's jails are hoping for an amnesty to mark the Coronation June 2. About 11,000 prisoners were freed in 1911, when King George V was crowned, but there was no amnesty at George VI's coronation in 1936.

Eye Trouble, Not Love Affair Cause Of Mona Lisa's Smile Says Optometrist

TORONTO (CP) — Mona Lisa's smile wasn't put there on purpose, Toronto optometrist Paul Levy claims.

He told the mid-Winter congress of the Ontario Optometrical Association Monday night that the famous painting might not have been there at all if Leonardo da Vinci had sought correction for myopia.

Mr. Levy was explaining his theory that eye conditions existing in days when expert optometry was unknown had an over-all influence on great art.

If classical painter Paul Rubens had worn glasses, his women might not have appeared so robust.

Renoir was a short-sighted man, Mr. Levy believes, because his paintings are lush in tone, with a hazy blur round the edges of his figures. He should have worn glasses.

Dutch painter Vermeer and Peter Bruegel the elder were far-sighted persons who painted extraordinary detail into distant objects.

Van Gogh, another Dutch artist, was also far sighted. El Greco, the Spanish master, suffered from astigmatism which resulted in his famous elongated people. He had an up and down rather than a lateral clarity.

Mr. Levy, who has 18 months practice in optometry, said he doesn't expect anyone to take him seriously.

WMS Collects $588 For Missionary Work

St. Paul's and Trinity United Churches during 1952 contributed more than $550 to missionary work.

At the regular meeting of the United Women's Missionary Society Tuesday in Trinity Church parlors, it was reported the combined church groups over the past year had contributed $588.63. An allocation of $500 was sent to the Presbyterial for distribution, the balance disbursed to church organizations and local groups.

Reports from other groups showing an active year, were also given at the meeting.

The Study Group collected over $40, used for cards, flowers and fruit for the sick and shut-ins, also for supply work. Supply work of quilts and clothing valued at $25 were sent to the needy.

The visiting committee reported 138 hospital visits and 460 visits to sick at home and shut-ins. Mrs. David Maloney gave the Mission Board report.

Mrs. J. C. Chambers assisted by Mrs. J. A. Wilson and Mrs. James Armstrong read a chapter on Angolia Missionary work in Africa.

Coast Man Weds Invermere Miss

INVERMERE—A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Church of the Canadian Martyrs at Athalmer Wednesday when Katherine Ann Wieler, second daughter of Mrs. David Boyd of Invermere, became the bride of Christopher Dennis Johnson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Johnson of Vancouver.

Rev. Father Agnellus officiated at the morning ceremony. Given in marriage by her step-father, Mr. Boyd, the bride wore a traditional wedding gown of lace and satin with bouffant overskirt of net. The yoke was of lace with a rhinestone studded peterpan collar. Her floor length net veil was caught at the head by a circle of pink rosebuds. Red roses formed the bridal bouquet.

Miss Katherine Hecher was maid of honor in a floor-length gown of daffodil yellow with which she wore a matching coronet. Her bouquet was of pink carnations.

Mr. E. J. Lambert was best man and the organist was Mrs. George Williamson.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at Hotel Invermere to the bridal party and relatives followed by a reception at Hotel Invermere during the afternoon.

The bride's table was set before an archway decorated with cedar sprays and pink roses and the three tiered wedding cake was flanked by turquoise candles in silver holders. The wedding cake was cut by Mrs. George Curtis following the traditional first cut by the bride and groom.

BABY'S COLDS
Help Nature To Fight Them Off
Medical Science denies there is any such thing as a cure for colds—only Nature herself can do it. So when baby's sniffles, or stuffy breathing warn you of a cold's presence—cooperate at once with Nature.
See that baby is kept warm, gets plenty of sleep and take extra care that the bowels are thoroughly cleared of harmful wastes. To do this without upsetting baby's whole system and further weakening it, try Baby's Own Tablets. Mild, yet act promptly in getting rid of irritating materials that make baby restless and feverish.
One Nova Scotia Mother says: "My baby of 26 months caught a nasty cold so I tried Baby's Own Tablets and she threw this cold off quicker than ever before. I certainly am for Baby's Own Tablets from now on." Effective also in teething troubles, constipation and other simple baby ills. Get a package today at druggists.

Leap Year Was a Dud

By JERRY KLEIN
Central Press Canadian Correspondent

Leap Year is now over, but life insurance companies say it was a bust. The insurance companies made a survey of marriages and found that not only had Leap Year not seen more weddings than normal, it had produced fewer.

The figures show that despite the privilege girls had last year of speaking their minds on matrimony, weddings were preformed at a lower rate than any time in 20 years!

It is enough to make St. Patrick spin in his grave. That's right, St. Patrick. Besides ridding Ireland of snakes, he began the custom of giving the ladies the right to propose during Leap Years.

Soon after driving out the snakes, St. Patrick was visited by a representative of the fair sex. She complained that the way the world was being run, women were forbidden by custom to do any proposing, and she asked the saint to correct the situation.

St. Patrick agreed that women should have the right to pop the question without being embarrassed one year out of four—starting immediately.

St. Patrick also is said to have decreed that a man who refuses a woman's Leap Year proposal must "pay the penalty of a silk gown and a kiss."

THE LAW

Girls for whom Leap Year didn't result in a walk to the altar also were benefited by an old Scottish law. It provided that men who didn't answer "lepe yeare" proposals with engagement rings must cough up one pound in cash, instead.

That seems to have made Leap Year pretty rough on Scottish bachelors. However, Scotland tried to even things up by giving men the chance to get away before marriage-minded lassies could so much as open their mouths.

The Scottish parliament decreed that "everie ladie that goes a wooing must weare a scarlet flannel petticote, the edge of whiche must be clearlie seen". One look at the red signal, and the single man bent on staying that way would be off and running.

Incidentally, not only Scotland had laws regulating the behavior of men and women during Leap Year. So did France, England and the city-states of Genoa and Florence.

HEALTHIER

Actually, the reluctance of some men to marry is hard to understand. Doctors tell us time and again how much healthier it is to be wed.

For example, a British physician recently reported that bachelors die before married men, are more likely to have ulcers and "fail to stand up as well to financial crisis." The physician, Dr. Philip Tynan, said incorrigible bachelors fall into two main groups:

1. Men in a rut who don't know they're in one.

2. Men who never find any one quite good enough, or who never think themselves quite good enough for the girl.

A Child Won't Tell, Parents Must Watch For Sight Defects

U.S. National Society for Prevention of Blindness says that one American child in four needs eye care.

The same figures doubtless apply to Canadian children.

The Society lists symptoms that may show a child has potential eye disease:

1. Frequent rubbing of the eyes, or attempts to brush away a blur.
2. Irritability when doing close work.
3. Blinking more frequently than normal, stumbling or tripping over small objects.
4. Oversensitivity to light; ineptness at playing games.
5. Red-rimmed, encrusted or swollen eyelids.

More than one child has been misjudged by teacher and parent merely because there was something the matter with his eyesight. The possibility of eye defects calls for constant vigilance on all persons dealing with children.

Dr. Franklin M. Foote, executive director of the Prevent Blindness Society, says: "A child rarely will complain about poor sight. His vision may be blurred. He may even see double. Yet in three cases out of four he will not tell anyone about it, because he doesn't know just how well he ought to see."

Fires Cost Lives

During the last 10 years 534,775 fires in Canadian homes and other buildings have taken 4087 lives; have seriously injured 15,000 men, women and children; and have destroyed property valued at $542,000,000. Most of these fires need never have occurred. In almost every instance, authorities claim, there wouldn't have been a destructive fire had a handful of common sense rules been observed, had a modicum of effort been expended to avoid or remove a condition conducive to the igniting or feeding of a fire.

Verse

From the Classics:

The God of Music dwelleth out of doors.
All seasons through his minstrelsy we meet,
Breathing by field and covert haunting-sweet;
From organ-lofts in forests old he pours
A solemn harmony. . . .

—EDITH M. THOMAS.

Faith

Faith is not only a personal thing. Certainly we need faith in ourselves. But we also need faith in our fellow-men, and, above all, faith in a beneficent Almighty. We have become so accustomed to mistrust the Machiavellian tactics among nations, to shadowy skullduggery in high places, to unbelieving acceptance of political sayings, that we stand in danger of losing this most important human ingredient. Unconsciously we look for the unsaid meaning, the hidden action.

—Kamloops Sentinel.

What to Eat

The World Health Organization, a branch of the United Nations, has stated that the population of the world has risen by 400 million since 1939. Part of this huge increase was said to be due to a lower death rate, reflecting the progress of medical science and the introduction of public health measures in backward parts of the world. Credence is given this claim by the fact that through swamp drainage and the use of DDT, malaria has been so well controlled that the number of deaths from this cause alone has fallen by three million a year since the war. The improvement of sanitary conditions has helped to reduce diseases due to filth, especially among children.

From one point of view, this is a remarkable and very creditable record. But it is an achievement filled with the utmost danger for humanity. The millions medical science has saved from an early death by disease are doomed inevitably to a slow death from starvation. Confused and misled by the abundance of food in North America and a good part of Europe, the scientists have not borne in mind the frightful consequences of their idealism. There is simply not enough food in the world for all the people there are. Probably half of the earth's population never gets a square meal, and unfortunately the trend of food production is down.

The chief reason for this is the unwise use of the land. Many of our best known deserts were at one time flourishing sources of food for the ancient world. The grim Western Desert of the North African campaign was once known as the granary of the Roman Empire. The deserts of Syria and Lebanon, of Mesopotamia and China, once supported rich and cultured civilizations. Even in our own era, whole districts in Canada and the United States have been worn out in a few generations and are for production purposes utterly worthless.

Why is there no dedicated, enthusiastic effort to restore and maintain soil fertility, which might match the progress and achievement of medical science in the conquest of illness and disease? Why is there no worldwide campaign for soil, water and forest conservation to match the public health crusade? Why is there no such campaign actively being waged right here in Canada? Right now, every pound of food which may be produced is needed to support the human race. Instead of fulfilling its role of a world food supplier, Canada has fallen so far short of its responsibility that it is actually importing food. Thus, because of superior wealth, it is drawing from world stocks food that is urgently needed elsewhere.

Under the Gun

(Toronto Globe and Mail)

Canada, with a population of 14 million, will spend roughly $5 billion on defence during the three-year period from the Spring of 1951 to the Spring of 1954. Denmark, with a population of 4.2 million, will spend roughly $400 million on defence during the same period. But whereas Canada expects to reach April, 1954, with approximately 170,000 men in her active and reserve forces, Denmark is aiming at 225,000.

It is true that Denmark, unlike Canada, is getting arms shipments from the United States under the military aid program. But even when this is taken into account, the Danes still seem to be getting a good deal more for their defence dollar than we are. Among other things, they are getting a draft system which calls up 30,000 men each year for 18 months' service; and a Home Guard numbering 42,000 men—only slightly smaller than our own 50,000-man Reserve Army.

We may well envy the Danes for their good showing. It is the same as if we, by the Spring of 1954, planned to have some 800,000 men trained or training. The question is not so much how the Danes do it, but why they do it. The answer is simple. Like the Greeks and Turks—who also support big forces with a small population—they are under the gun. Russian air power is just 60 miles from Copenhagen.

Few people in Canada would wish to be as close to Russia's war machine as the Danes and the Greeks and the Turks. But if that were indeed the case, our huge, fantastically expensive defence program would be producing more tangible results. We would not be hoping—for it is only a matter of hope—to get 120,000 active and 50,000 reserve troops from a total postwar expenditure (1947-54, inclusive) of approximately $7 billion. We would not be figuring that these men, by the time we get them, will have cost rather more than $40,000 per head.

The most sensational trial of the year was in progress in Iceland, country of the midnight sun. The prosecutor shook a bony finger in the face of the accused and thundered: "I ask you again, sir: where were you on the night of November 8 to March 16?"

Musical Ike

When it turned out that President Truman played the piano tolerably well by ear, that forged a bond between him and others similarly gifted. Perhaps they were not Paderewskis, but at least they were fairly competent amateurs who had a pleasant hobby.

Now it appears that instrumental talent at the homespun level will not desert the White House when President Truman moves out. President-elect Eisenhower, a music group has disclosed, plays the mouth organ and derives considerable enjoyment from it.

The music association called it a harmonica, but that's only a long-hair term for mouth organ.

It may turn out that the General will appeal to an even larger following of elementary musicians than his predecessor. Many of us produce only the wildest of effects with a piano, but who doubts his ability to play a recognizable tune on a mouth organ?

Of all instruments, except perhaps the bass drum, it is the kindest to tone-deafness. Inhaling or exhaling, it responds in lusty volume, and the notes can be true even if somewhat jumbled.

President "Ike", a painter of some stature, can light the way for a horde of mouth organ players who may have felt they were not appreciated enough in the past. Long-suffering talent must be served.—Windsor Daily Star.

Lord Astor

The death of Viscount Astor at the age of 73 closes a career of high distinction. Though born to wealth and in succession to a title, Lord Astor had no inclination to the life of luxurious ease. He regarded his advantages as conferring a public responsibility and he worked hard for a good cause. His services in politics and journalism were especially notable.

A mere list of Lord Astor's activities suggests a many-sided man of unusual energy. In 1910 he entered the British House of Commons at the age of 31. He remained an MP until his father's death obliged him, to his regret, to transfer himself to the House of Lords. As a Parliamentarian, his particular concern was in questions of public health, the national diet and agriculture. These interests remained with him. He headed the League of Nations Committee on Nutrition, wrote books on the proper use of British land, served as governor of a London hospital. For five years he was Mayor of Plymouth—a record tenure in the history of that famous town.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

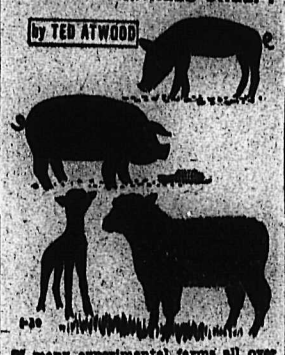
Where on Earth are SKINNY Pigs and UNWRINKLED SHEEP?

by TED ATWOOD



In many experimental farms all over America, science is neither "going whole hog" nor "adding a new wrinkle." The new breeding formulas they've come up with are, in fact, deliberately avoiding both. And farm and dairy animals are coming out as streamlined and functional as a 1953 automobile.

Gone are the obese "porkers" of yesterday's farm. In their place are hogs so slender they might have emerged from a reducing salon. Because vegetable fats have replaced lard on the market, hog-raisers are concentrating on growing pigs with less lard and more pork. The glamorous outcome is a Jack Sprat's dream—no fat!

By crossing sheep without excess skin folds, scientists can eliminate the wrinkled coat which proved a bane in the processing of mouton pelts. The wool from these modern "smoothed-out" sheep will be better suited to weaving and commercial uses. Another goal is to pull the wool from over Mr. Sheep's eyes, making it easier for him to find food and water. In time, he'll grow bigger, fatter—and more profitable.

If this keeps up, livestock shows will soon begin to resemble more and more a "Miss America" contest, with blue ribbons awarded to those with the most streamlined figures and smoothest complexions!

Canadian, U.S. Map-Makers Getting Together

WASHINGTON (CP)—Canada is taking her first step in the science of photographic map-making, a Canadian expert Wednesday told a society of United States mappers.

T. J. Blachut, head of the national research council's photogrammetry research section, in an address to the American Society of Photogrammetry here appealed for closer co-operation between Canada and United States map-makers.

Canada, he said, has a research laboratory and facilities capable of investigating any photographic map-making problem. Tests of instruments and methods, begun last year in the area between Montreal and Ottawa, were continuing.

He also reported on the use of radar in map making. New radar pictures have been taken over the test area in hopes of reducing the errors of this method by using it in conjunction with other methods.

"I believe that the radar profile method can be very useful in photogrammetry and already it offers a quick and convenient, and in some cases the only, solution to many mapping problems."

Small Bag for Coast Robbers

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two gunmen who fled a suburban grocery store Tuesday night when they were disturbed by two garagemen, escaped with $100.

The money was in a canvas bag, but the robbers failed to open a store safe. First reports said the men escaped without loot.

As they fled, the men fired on Gerry Staley, 19, and Ed Fry. The bullets went wild.

Associated Press News Analyst

Allied observers, while not minimizing the loss to their council tables of Robert Schuman, France's great "Mr. Internationalist," are now taking a less pessimistic view of the new Mayer government than they did at first.

For one thing, the revision of the European army treaty which Rene Mayer said he would seek now seems to centre mostly about clauses which France herself originally introduced with an eye to safeguards against Germany, but which could boomerang against France's own military freedom. Other countries didn't want them in the first place.

For another thing, Georges Bidault, the new foreign minister, while by no means the statesman that Schuman is, is a supporter of most of Schuman's general ideas about European unity and the like, which are also America's ideas.

Mayer, the new premier, apparently has been quick to sense the unexpressed but very plain dismay in London and Washington over Schuman's ouster, and is expected to give early reassurances that France is not repudiating the foreign policies upon which her allies have been relying.

Much of the new government's attitude, however, must depend on relations with the United States, to which it will turn in the next few weeks for greater aid in the Indo-China war.

This French business is an important factor in the approach which the new Congress and the new administration in Washington will take to the whole matter of foreign aid.

The U. S. is strongly inclined to predicate future foreign aid programs on the earnestness which Europe displays about its own defence. France, on the other hand, is inclined to base her defence program on the amount of American aid she is to receive.

All this is coupled with a revival of neutralism in some European circles. And there is an amazing tendency among parliamentary factions to risk the fates of their countries on their own evaluations of Russian military intentions.

B.C. Can Claim New Township

VICTORIA (CP) — A new company town has been established in British Columbia.

It's the Kenney dam industrial township and includes the big Nechako River dam in the Alcan project.

The provincial cabinet has approved its formation on the same status as a village municipality, except that it will be under the department of lands and forests, instead of the municipal affairs department.

The lands and forests department will name one member of a three-man township commission, with Alcan naming the second, both for two-year terms. The two will choose a chairman.

Alcan must provide public services to provincial standards and pay provincial land and school taxes.

Truck Driver Dies In Train Collision

VANCOUVER (CP)—Don Campbell, 45, of Dewdney was killed Wednesday when his milk truck was struck by the CPR Kettle Valley train No. 12 outbound from Vancouver.

The accident occurred at McKamie road crossing, one mile west of Dewdney.

RCMP said Campbell's vision was blocked by freezing rain on his windshield.

Public Wants Evening Shopping

WOODSTOCK — Report of a special study made in Woodstock, Ont., by Sanders Marketing Research, Toronto, for its affiliate, the Gallup Poll of Canada, shows that the public wants one evening's shopping a week. Although there was considerable controversy over the belief that Woodstock merchants need not remain open in the evenings, the survey showed that 70 per cent of the people in that city wanted the stores to remain open one night a week. Because there was no evening shopping, 31 per cent did their shopping in neighboring centres.

Friday and Saturday seemed to be preferred as the shopping night, while 80 per cent favoured stores being open five or five and a half days a week.

Rabbi Dies at Radio Hearing Moscow Charge

TEL AVIV (AP)—Rabbi Jacob Calmes, 73, died of heart failure in front of a radio in his Jerusalem flat Tuesday night, the moment he heard the Moscow allegations accusing a group of prominent Jewish physicians of the murder of Soviet leaders.

Calmes has a son who is a professor of medicine at Moscow University, it was reported.

His daughter is a practising physician at Moscow, too.

He himself was from 1927 to 1933 chief rabbi in Moscow.

Parliament sources said Wednesday that a protest against the Soviet accusations would be voiced next week in the Israel Parliament in Jerusalem.

Brighten winter meals with Heinz RED magic

Most mothers know that children are the largest consumers of ketchup—especially Heinz. Many mothers encourage its use, because they find that youngsters are more easily persuaded to clean up their plates if they have lots of Heinz Ketchup.

Men are notorious, too, for relishing spicy condiments. A meal without a dash of Heinz Tomato Ketchup can be a sad disappointment.

Mothers find that the red magic from that famous bottle works near-miracles in the kitchen, especially when it comes to making an appetising dish out of left-overs or dolling up inexpensive meats.

Buy two or more bottles of Heinz Tomato Ketchup the next time you shop, so that you're always sure of one for the table and one for the kitchen.

You know it's good because it's Heinz

Buy, Sell, Trade the Classified Way

Around the KOOTENAY in Sport

By JACK KAVANAGH

Thank goodness only a few copies of the Trail Times ever find their way into Kimberley. After reading Bill McLaughlin's column in the last Friday Times, I wonder if he is related to Kenny Cook. McLaughlin admits he wasn't in Kimberley for the game and still he wrote his whole column on the Calles-Cook feud. I got a big laugh out of the part where he said Cook threw the puck into the face-off circle after the whistle had sounded.

When was Mr. Cook so polite as to bend down and throw the puck to the face-off circle? Calles blew the whistle when Cook grabbed the loose puck to the right of the Trail net and handed him a two-minute penalty for holding the puck. Cook blew his top and called Calles a !*&!%?!!& and said "I'll punch you on the nose." Calles upped the fine with a 10-minute misconduct penalty and with that Cook swung his stick at Calles and hit him across the legs. Calles then ordered Mr. Cook to the dressing room and Trail finished the few remaining minutes with three defencemen.

If Mr. McLaughlin will look back in the record book he will find Cook served a three-game suspension for hitting referee Puffy Kemp with his stick. All the Trail trouble leads to one thing and that is that they are not directed from the bench. Moe Young, their scrappy playing coach, is out on the ice surface more than his share when the Trail crew should be plotting their next move. Trail doesn't have to play this kind of hockey for they have a well balanced club and in my books they will win the league title. Don't feel bad Bill, television isn't too far off and maybe you can see and write the game from Trail.

Kimberley Dynamiters made their best showing of the year across the border last weekend. They blew a 4-2 second period lead on Saturday and had to be satisfied with a 5-5 draw. On Sunday they also held a 4-3 margin early in the final frame, but the breaks turned against them. Spokane's tying goal went in off Yost's skate and their fifth goal deflected behind McLay off Banting's skate. The final score was 6-4 with the Flyers' sixth counter coming on an empty net.

The Kimberley junior pee-wees made the Spokane trip with the Dynamiters and performed for the fans on Saturday night. Fourteen kids, ranging from the ages of seven to 10, formed two teams and gave Spokane customers something to remember. The teams wore the uniforms of Holmes and Redding and the half an hour battle ended in a 3-3 draw. Sammy and Danny Calles proved that they are going to follow their dad's footsteps, by scoring five of the six goals. Danny collected the hat-trick for the Redding team and Sammy banged in a pair for Holmes with Bob Boxer scoring the equalizer. The fans applauded the youngsters for five minutes after they left the ice for their great exhibition.

One spectator asked this scribe if they learn to skate or walk first in Canada. Monty Baertsch, cafe proprietor, treated the kids to free meals during their stay in Spokane and threw in milk-shakes between eating times. Little Allan Fabro and Jackie Teggett topped the show with their neat performances in the nets.

Here 'n' there:

Lyall Swaney, the popular WIHL referee who had the misfortune to break his leg in a game early in the season, returned from the Coast and will sport crutches for some time to come . . . Roy McBride told this writer last Sunday that the all-star game scheduled for last Tuesday in Spokane was cancelled because the rest of the WIHL clubs wouldn't cooperate . . . It cost the Kimberley Dynamiters approximately $100 more to make the West Kootenay swing than it does the jaunt down to Spokane. The trip to Spokane costs in the neighborhood of $622 . . . Dynamiters' hard-working treasurer, George Filker, made a slight error of $1000 when he said it cost the Dynamiters $1800 to eat while on road trips. The actual cost for meals is $2800.

Kimberley Intermediates took over sole possession of first place in the ABC loop by shading the strong Coleman Grands 4-3 last Saturday evening. Toby Collings, a former Nelson Maple Leaf defenceman, is a member of the Grands squad. Bim Barker, Ron Larter and Andy Port starred for the Kimberley Intermediates with the veteran Sandy Sanderson right on their heels. Art Gold turned in a brilliant performance in the Kimberley net.

Kimberley adopted the name Dynamiters in 1932, a sobriquet bestowed by Lloyd Crawl and the late Bill Lindsay. Kimberley could ice a great old timers team with practically the same boys who won the Allan Cup and the world championship. Still in town are Ken Campbell the goalie, Paul Kozak, Tommy Almack, Harry Brown, Hugo Mackie, Ralph Redding, Puffy Kemp, Doug Kelver, Fred Botterill, coach Johnny Atchzener, Dub Mackie, Clarence Reddick, Chris Sorensen and Vic Dick.

Dave Masick, Kimberley's hard-hitting slugger, made short order of Jack Butula in Cranbrook's main bout last Saturday evening. The boys fought in the catchweight class with Masich flooring Butula in the first round for a KO. The fight had no bearing on Butula's welterweight title. Butula is still regarded as the best 147 pounder in Canada.

6 Goals Scored In 34 Seconds

WINNIPEG (CP) — Officials in Winnipeg are scanning the record books to see if a new mark was established here Tuesday night when six goals were scored in one minute and 34 seconds in a Manitoba Senior hockey league game.

It was in the third period when Hec Bourgeois scored for Winnipeg Maroons at 18:15 and Floyd Blight of Poplar Point finished the six-goal outburst at 19:49. Maroons won the game 10-6.

McEwan Hangs Up His Spikes

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Don McEwan of Ottawa, the University of Michigan's great distance runner, has decided to hang up his spikes.

He decided to accept an offer with an oil company that will send him to Canada for three years and then back to the U. S. Details have not been worked out.

McEwen is scheduled to graduate later this month. During his four-year career at Michigan he set the world's record for the indoor two-mile run, the collegiate mark for the outdoor two- and four-mile events and the Big Ten outdoor mile record.

Rangers Down Wings 3-2; Leafs Shutout Hawks 3-0

By The Canadian Press

The resurgent New York Rangers have set a Ranger record for NHL winning streaks this season—two games.

The Rangers took the mighty Detroit Red Wings 3-2 Wednesday night to follow up their win Sunday night over Boston. They hadn't clicked twice in a row before.

In Wednesday night's other contest, Toronto Maple Leafs went on a three-goal splurge in the final period to shut out Chicago Black Hawks 3-0.

New York's high-scoring line of Neil Strain, Paul Ronty and Wally Hergesheimer accounted for the Rangers' first two tallies, while Pete Babando, a former Red Wing, drove home the third and final goal.

The Rangers took a 1-0 lead shortly before the half-way mark of the first period on Hergesheimer's 20th goal of the season. Little Hergy whacked home a pass from Ronty while Metro Prystal of the Wings was serving time for hooking.

Strain made it 2-0 shortly after the second period opened. Goalie Terry Sawchuk of the Wings, back in action after a seven-game lay-off, inadventently laid the puck on Ronty's stick back of the cage and the blonde centre passed it out to Strain, who blasted the rubber home.

KELLY SCORES FIRST

The Wings scored their first goal while Hy Buller was in the penalty box. Red Kelly jammed the puck home during a goal-mouth scramble. Babando sewed it up for the New Yorkers during the first five minutes of play in the third period while Marcel Pronovost of the Wings was off. Then Wings closed the gap with a goal by Johnny Wilson. The loss was only the Wings' second in their last 20 games.

Sawchuk played a brilliant game, coming up with 44 saves to only 31 for Lorne Worsley.

The injury-riddled Leafs looked like third-raters until gangling Bob Hassard drove two pucks past Al Rollins in the last period.

The victory left the Leafs in fourth place with 41 points, one behind the idle Montreal Canadiens. Chicago remained in second place.

Centre Tod Sloan scored the last goal at 11:34 and the Toronto club stood off the Hawks to give Harry Lumley his fourth shutout in 41 games this season.

UBC Football Coach Quits

VANCOUVER (CP) — Hjelmar Jelly Andersen quit Wednesday as head football coach at the University of British Columbia.

Andersen has been outspoken in his criticism of the university's athletic policy. He said UBC should provide athletic scholarships to help build a winning football team. UBC Thunderbirds have been the doormats of the Evergreen conference for years. The conference comprises UBC and several small American colleges.

Andersen became coach two years ago when Orville Burke, former Ottawa Rough Rider star, resigned.

Andersen just beat the men's athletic directorate to the punch. It was preparing to fire him.

Charles Wins Technical KO

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Hard-punching Ezzard Charles, former world heavyweight champion, won a ninth-round technical knockout over stubborn young Wesbury Bascom in their scheduled 10-round fight Wednesday night.

Referee Dick Young stepped between the two boxers and lifted Charles' hand into the air after two minutes and 34 seconds of the ninth round.

It was Charles' fight all the way, vividly showing his advantage of long experience over the 23-year-old East St. Louis, Ill., Negro who was making only his 20th professional appearance.

Mahrt, Pitching Prospect To Giants

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Yankees Wednesday announced their first two signings for the 1953 season, but the rival New York Giants doubled their output in the contract department. The Giants also acquired Jim Mahrt, described as an outstanding pitching prospect" from the Oakland Pacific Coast League club, for outfielder Bill Howerton.

The first Yankees to fall in line are a couple of rookies, pitcher Al Cicotte and outfielder Bill Renna, both with Kansas City in 1952. The giant quartet included veteran left-hander Montia Kennedy, catchers Ray Katt and Ray Noble, and rookie third baseman Rance Pless.

Mahrt, recommended enthusiastically by two Giant scouts, is a six foot ex-serviceman with less than two years of professional experience. He divided his pitching last year between Oakland and Nashville where he had a combined 10-10 record.

LONDON (CP)—The British Travel and Holiday Association estimates total tourist earnings in Britain last year were $322,000,000. This included about $49,000,000 spent by 180,000 visitors from Canada and the United States.

Boxing Board Poser Where To Hold Bout

NEW YORK (AP) —Boxing's new board of review gets as its first case one of the oldest problems in boxing: Where to hold the heavyweight championship bout?

The board, set up by the New York State Athletic Commission and the National Boxing Association three days ago, will attempt to settle a disagreement which threatens to block plans for heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano's April 10 return bout with former champion Jersey Joe Walcott.

Promoter Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, wants the fight in Chicago. No Chicago, no fight, is the way he put it.

The term vitamin was first used in 1912 by Dr. Casimir Funk.

Slaughter Makes Biggest Sports Comeback of '52

NEW YORK (AP) —Enos Slaughter, St. Louis Cardinals outfielder, made the greatest sports comeback of 1952—but not without a tough battle with the Notre Dame football team.

The 36-year-old Slaughter got the nod over Notre Dame by three points in the annual year-end Associated Press poll.

Notre Dame had the most first-place votes, 24 to 23, but the Cardinals' rightfielder picked up enough second and third-place ballots to edge the Irish, 103 to 100.

In 1951, Slaughter was benched for weak hitting. He hit .281, his worst year in the majors.

But Slaughter started 1952 more like the Slaughter of old and finished the season with an even .300. He drove in 101 runs.

Notre Dame, usually dominant in U. S. college football, got off to a slow start but finished the 1952 season with the same won-loss-tied record as 1951, 7-3-1.

Los Angeles Rams football team was third with 59 points.

Novak Wants Inter-America Golf Tourney

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A tournament of the Americas with the best golfers of this hemisphere competing regularly was envisioned Wednesday by Joe Novak, chairman of the international match committee of the U.S. Professional Golfers Association.

Joe plans to have a definite program ready for presentation to the PGA at its annual meeting at Detroit in June.

Last year Canada and the U.S. started an inter-country match series, and Novak says Latin American countries are showing growing interest in the game.

At present Novak foresees small teams representing the various countries. The competitions would be like the amateur tennis Davis Cup play in which eliminations are held prior to the championship play.

"Most of the Latin American countries already have two or more top players and such competitions would help develop more," he added.

TO COACH ESKS?

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Free Press said in a sports page story Wednesday that it has learned reliably that Tommy Thompson, star quarterback with Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League for several years, has applied for the job as coach of Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

"Rubber Man" of Ring Passes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The great heart that carried Johnny Risko through 187 professional and amateur prize fights in a long ring career stopped Tuesday night.

Risko, 50, was attending a meeting at the Elks Lodge when he collapsed. He died en route to hospital. He had suffered from a heart condition for some time.

The Cleveland "Rubber Man" never was champion, but he met such headliners as Gene Tunney, Jack Sharkey, Max Schmeling, Max Baer, Tom Heeney, Tommy Loughran, Mickey Walker and many others before he retired in 1940.

The closest he ever got to the title was in a fight with Tom Heeney in Detroit, which Heeney won. The winner got a shot at Tunney and the heavyweight championship.

Strikes 'n' Spares

Kay Zabawa of the Blaney team took top honors in the Senior Ladies League on Tuesday night with an aggregate of 667. Dot Waterer was tops in the singles with a 313. Only one other 300 was rolled as Sheila Mann scored a 305. This is the second time that Sheila has rolled a 300 as she scored a 313 previously this season. Dot Waterer has been in the 300's four times this season. Her previous scores were 327, 324, and 315. Other aggregate scores on Tuesday were Dot Lyons 658, Sheila Mann 649, Dot Waterer 652 and Rose Browne 603.

In the league standing two teams, the Watson team and the Mann quintette, are tied for first place with 21 points followed by Waterer and Maloney with 17 points each.

Sign With Browns

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Outfielder Johnny Groth and pitcher Melvin Held have signed their contracts with St. Louis Browns, the baseball club announced Wednesday.

Groth came to the Browns from Detroit Tigers, where he had a .284 batting average last season. Held won 14 and lost 15 last year with Scranton, Pa., of the class A Eastern League.

Too Chancy, Say Kootenay of All-Star Hockey

The annual all-star game between the Spokane Flyers and players from Nelson, Trail and Kimberley, which was to be played on Tuesday in Spokane, was cancelled.

George Benwell, president of the Nelson Club, said yesterday that Kootenay teams felt that to take star players to Spokane was too dangerous. Players could be injured, and possibly be unavailable for play in the WIHL scheduled games. It was felt that the players received nothing from the game sponsored by the sports writers and broadcasters of Spokane, said Coach Eddie Wares.

Lynn Goes to Black Hawks

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League obtained Vic Lynn, seasoned left wing, from Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League Wednesday in exchange for a player to be determined within two weeks.

Lynn, 28, formerly played with Detroit Red Wings, Montreal Canadiens, Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins.

Lynn suffered a split head in a fracas several years ago which cost Red Hamill of the Hawks a $200 fine. Lynn then was with Toronto.

The Barons meanwhile called up centre Ray Ross from New Haven Nutmegs of the Eastern Hockey League for the balance of the season.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is LONGFELLOW
AXYDLBAAXR

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Opera Stars Go To Work In Krupp's Plant

By IAN FRASER

ESSEN, West Germany (Reuters) —The name of Krupp usually is associated with the huge combine that turned iron into Tiger tanks for the Nazis.

But now, in one corner of the great ruined Krupp steel plant here, the firm is turning opera singers and pianists into lathe hands and the like.

For West Germany is suffering from a surplus of intellectuals and a critical shortage of skilled workers. The lecture rooms and concert halls are not what they were between the wars.

A cold wind of realism and money-making has swept into Germany since the currency reform of 1948 made money difficut to get.

Most West Germans now are too busy working to have much time left over to go to the opera, attend lectures, or even a night club.

On the other hand, there is a critical shortage of skilled lathe operators, grinders, machine operators and metal cutters for the booming steel industry.

So the Essen labor office has set up a "conversion school" to teach men who have never seen a machine before to grind gearwheels and bore holes in ships' plates.

Their example has been followed by several other Ruhr industrial towns.

MANY 'CONVERTS'

The Essen school has "converted" nearly 1000 men. Ninety per cent of them survived the 13-week course and went on into the metal-working industry to earn wages starting at 42 cents an hour.

One little fellow with the sharp features and unmistakeable accent of the born Berliner, applied to be "re-converted."

The director of the school asked him: "What is your profession?"

"Acrobat," he answered.

But the jump from trapeze to automatic lathe proved too much and after a few weeks the acrobat went back on relief.

A man of 30, bending over his lathe, told his story: "I was a pilot . . . since the war, I have sold a couple of radio plays and I am now working on a book. But there is not much money in it and I have got a family to keep."

An older man said that he had been a baritone in an East German opera, but has now given up hope of getting back to his art. "I want to learn something complicated," he said.

Market Trends

NEW YORK (AP) — Aside from little ripples of strength and weakness, trading was quietly steady.

Canadian issues were lower. Canadian Pacific and Distillers Seagram both dropped ⅛, International Nickel slipped ¼ and McIntyre fell off one point. Hiram Walker gained ⅝, and Dome Mines was unchanged.

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were weak in rapid trading.

Volume was expected to hit 5,000,000 shares.

Utilities led the losses in industrials, followed by banks, agricultures and refining oils. Papers held firm.

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices moved irregularly higher in slow trading.

Placer-Development jumped four points to 43 to chalk up the largest advance. Other major gains were recorded by Dominion Stores, up 1⅝ at 15¾, and Canada Steamships were higher by the same amount at 81.

LONDON (Reuters) — Opening of a new account period helped sentiment. Prices were mainly firm but turnover was moderate.

Upward movement in government securities was mainly in long-dated, and irredeemable stocks.

Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg grain cash prices:
Oats, No. 1 feed, 73⅞.
Barley, No. 1 feed, 1.18⅝.

—Central Press Canadian.

Calgary Livestock

CALGARY (CP) — Trade at the Calgary stockyards was moderately active today with 571 cattle and calves on offer. Good butcher steers of all weights were about 50 cents lower for the week. Butcher heifers were steady to strong. There was a good demand for cows at steady prices. Bulls were not better than steady. Light receipts of stocker and feeder steers were selling at strong prices. Veal calves were were $1 to $2 a hundredweight higher.

Hogs sold Tuesday 25 cents higher at $24 while sows were steady at $12. Good lambs sold at $22.25 and good ewes $8-9.

Good to choice light butcher steers 21 22.50; common to medium 18-20.50. Good to choice butcher heifers 20-21.50; common to medium 12-13.50; canners and cutters 9-11.50. Good bulls 13.50-14.50, common to medium 11-13. Good stocker and feeder steers 18.-20; common to medium 16-16.75. Good to choice veal calves 1-27; common to medium 18-23.50.

METAL PRICES

NEW YORK (CP) — Spot prices:
Lead, N.Y., .14.
Zinc, East St. Louis, .13.

BONDS PRICES

MONTREAL (CP)—Prices were firm and trading quiet on the Montreal bond markets. Short-term government of Canada were in good demand. Other issues held unchanged. Canadian Breweries convertibles were stronger by ½ as were Brazilian convertibles. CPR new fours convertibles slipped ¼.

To Survey All B. C. Wireless Facilities

VICTORIA (CP) — A complete survey of all wireless and communication facilities in British Columbia will be undertaken by the provincial civil defence organization.

The survey will enable civil defence officials to establish an adequate wireless control network in the province.

W. J. Bowerman, retired divisional superintendent of radio, department of transport, has been hired to conduct the survey.

High Production On Clydeside

GLASGOW (CP) — Despite increasing foreign competition, shipbuilding yards on the Clydeside in 1952 enjoyed the highest production record of new tonnage since the end of the Second World War.

Latest statistics show that all Scottish shipyards during the year launched a total of 107 ships with an aggregate of 523,000 gross tons. This was 16 vessels less than in 1951 but 8625 more tons. The figures, however, were far below the all-time high of 377 ships and 766,500 tons in 1913.

Tankers accounted for the bulk of the output with the largest being the 32,000-ton British Sailor, built for the British Tanker Company.

Although new orders, estimated at more than 600,000 tons, are less than half the total placed last year, 1953 opened with about 2,000,000 tons of shipping under construction or still to be laid down. The program will keep yards on the Clyde employed for at least four years.

Farmers' Income Slips Lower

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian farmers' cash income from production sales slipped to $2,787,800,000 in 1952, down from the 1951 peak of $2,825,500,000, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The drop showed up particularly in Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba. Saskatchewan, Canada's biggest wheat-growing province, made a big advance.

Cash from grain sales was substantially higher than in 1951, the bureau said, partially overcoming income declines from livestock and egg sales.

Ontario's cash income slipped to $725,324,000 from $793,726,000 in 1951, while Quebec's dropped to $386,995,000 from $433,360,000. Cash income in Saskatchewan increased to $697,480,000 from $626,627,000.

Cash income for other western provinces with 1951 figures in brackets:

Manitoba, $239,631,000 ($260,654,000); Alberta, $510,071,000 ($470,366,000); British Columbia, $108,535,000 ($119,299,000).

Nelson Fire Loss $206,791 in 1952

No loss of life and no serious injuries were caused by fire during 1952. A detailed annual report, submitted to Nelson's City Council Monday by Fire Chief Gt. A. McDonald was received for study.

The 24 members and volunteers answered 115 alarms and spent 52 hours and 48 minutes in actual fire fighting.

Total loss by fire, the chief stated, amounted to $206,791.89 of which $71,602.43 is damage to buildings and $135,180.46 damage to contents. This, it is stated, amounts to $27.57 loss per capita on a 7500 population basis.

The total value of the buildings involved amounted to $972,130 and the contents' value was $758,995.

INSURANCES

Of a total of $1,012,258 insurance carried on buildings and contents, $654,880 was for buildings only.

Causes of the fires, the report stated, ranged from chimney to spontaneous ignition. The main cause was through chimney fires of which 18 were reported. Rubbish fires were next on the list with 15. Nine were caused by hot ashes, six by chimney sparks, three by smoking in bed, and three fires involved cars.

Six false alarms were turned in and 13 fires were out on arrival while in 12 instances there was no fire at all.

ACTIVE YEAR

In summing up activities throughout 1952, Chief McDonald said the department had experienced an active year in drills, and other work. They have added five rooms to the fire hall and have carried out a number of renovations to make work more efficient.

The chief recommended to council the adoption of a National Building Code in place of a building by-law.

Movie Gossip

Abbott and Costello Keep Up Their Funny Ways Even in Private Life

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bud Abbott and Lou Costello argue so much that sometimes you can't tell when it's part of the act and when it's for real.

I realized this when I had lunch with them during a break in their TV rehearsal.

It started with the limburger cheese.

Bud was having a dish of limburger with raw onion. This pained Lou, who put a napkin over the fragrant repast.

"It's dead," said Lou. "Let's give it a decent burial."

"Cut it out!" snapped Bud. "That cheese doesn't smell." This touched off a heated exchange that lasted several minutes.

IT ALL DEPENDS

After the battle cooled off, I put forth the question of whether it's harder to make the public laugh today.

"Absolutely," replied Bud. "With all the war and taxes and unrest in the world, people don't laugh as readily as they used to."

"I disagree," countered Lou, who used to be the fat one but has slimmed down to Abbott's size. "I think people are more eager to laugh than ever before—because of all their troubles."

"You're nuts," answered Bud. "I'll tell you another reason it's harder to make people laugh today. Thanks to TV, more people are getting more entertainment than ever before in history. Something's got to be really funny."

They argued this back and forth for a while. About the only thing they could agree on was: TV is wonderful.

Ten or 12 years ago, we'd get mobbed wherever we went because of our movies," Lou remarked. "After a few years, that sort of thing died down. But now we're getting it all over again.

"I just took a trip east. When I stopped over in Chicago, I had to make my way through the kids. When I walked through the lobby of the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, it was a mob scene."

Both comics agreed that they work hard for the new revival of their careers. Their show looks like a breezy, easy hour. But Lou said, "I'd rather make a feature picture than do one live show on TV."

Mum's the Word

OTTAWA (CP)—The little man who isn't officially there—a Hansard reporter—became embroiled in a contentious Commons argument Tuesday. And, true to tradition, he didn't say a word.

A team of seven shorthand experts daily record the official report of Parliament, in relays of 10 minutes each. They can be seen working at their desks on the floor of the Commons, but they never speak.

Hansard became involved after Prime Minister St. Laurent had objected to use of certain words by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader. Mr. Drew asked to what words the prime minister objected.

Speaker Ross Macdonald said perhaps the Hansard reporter could read back his shorthand notes—an unprecedented step.

RELIEF AHEAD

At this point the reporter, John Robertson, 39, saw his relief appear. He closed his notebook and began to leave the chamber, seemingly oblivious to the references to him. The Speaker told the sergeant-at-arms to order him back.

Mr. Robertson came back. The Speaker repeated his request, commenting that he would not consider the action unparliamentary.

The man without a voice shook his head negatively.

Mr. Speaker: "Has any honorable member any suggestion to make to get me out of this dilemma."

A hush fell over the House.

P.M. TO RESCUE

Mr. St. Laurent jumped into the breach. He said he could understand the reporter's reluctance to "do a thing which would be unique in the annals of the House of Commons. . . ." If the reporter were allowed to withdraw he could quickly supply a transcript of his notes.

To this the reporter emphatically nodded his head.

PLEASANT ENDING

The Speaker agreed and the reporter left.

Oh, yes. At the night sitting the Speaker said he had the official report and discovered that neither himself, the prime minister nor Mr. Drew had repeated the offensive words correctly — and that nothing unparliamentary had been uttered and all should be forgotten.

Only One Vote Against Premier . . .

Yugoslav Parliament Elects Tito President

By ALEX SINGLETON

BELGRADE (AP) — Communist Yugoslavia's Parliament Wednesday elected Premier Josip Broz Tito the country's first president. The wartime partisan fighter who has headed the government since its Second World War liberation was the only candidate.

Tito, who already heads the Yugoslav Communist party, was named chief of state in accord with the new constitution adopted by Parliament Tuesday night.

A total of 568 lawmakers present endorsed Tito's candidacy in a secret vote. One lone ballot was cast against him.

TUMULTUOUS OVATION

Tito was given a 10-minute tumultuos ovation when he entered the chamber after the vote was counted. He was sworn in immediately as chief of state.

The members of Parliament had three choices on the single ticket. They could mark yes, no, or record an abstention by dropping an unmarked ballot in the box.

The election of Tito to the presidency makes little difference in the powers he has wielded since 1944.

In addition to setting up the presidency, the new constitution provides that Parliament's 40-member Praesidium, which has had little authority in the past, will take over executive affairs from the cabinet.

NEW PARLIAMENT

It also calls for a new two-house Parliament. One house, elected by the entire population will be called the "council of people." The other, chosen only by producers and industrial, mining and agricultural workers, will be called the "council of producers." Both houses will have equal rights.

The present Parliament will continue sitting until it passes a law covering the election of deputies for both new houses. The voting probably will take place in May.

Dulles Willing To Meet Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a move toward a bipartisan United States foreign policy, John Foster Dulles has proposed to discuss Korea and other problems with key Senate foreign relations committee members shortly after the inauguration next Tuesday.

Some committee members said they want to hear more then about his projected trip to Europe.

Chairman Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) called the committee together today for approval of his plan for advance questioning of Dulles and Harold E. Stassen, to be mutual assistance director, so that their appointments—which must be approved by the Senate—can be acted upon Inauguration Day.

James Hagerty, press secretary for President-elect Eisenhower, announced in New York Tuesday that Dulles and Stassen will go to Europe late this month at Eisenhower's request to get information "in relation to U.S. participation in NATO and in economic assistance."

LITTLE MISTAKE

BERLIN (Reuters) — Communist police scrambled Wednesday to gather up all the copies of their party newspaper—a missprint had turned the Communist youth organization into "Fascist bandits." Printers had switched the initials of the group, FDJ, with the initials of an anti-Communist youth group in West Germany, BDJ.

A story told of the ". . . Fascist FJD bandits. . . ."

Claxton Tables Letter in Error

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton said Wednesday that in tabling correspondence in the Commons Tuesday on the Currie report he tabled in error one letter that he had not dictated, signed or sent.

The letter was among a group dealing with how a draft copy of the Currie report reached the CCF before the report was tabled in the Commons.

Mr. Claxton said the particular letter was proferred to me; I didn't agree with it and that was the end of it."

The letter was addressed to George S. Currie, head of a Montreal firm of chartered accountants and former deputy minister of national defence. Mr. Currie prepared a report on irregularities in the works services branch of the armed forces.

WHO SIGNED?

The draft letter, as it appeared in Hansard, referred to statements in the Currie report ". . . open to the possible interpretation that there came to your knowledge evidence of incompetence or irresponsibility of particular senior officers or officials," and concluded:

"In order to assist me in determining what action should be taken I would be grateful if you would advise me whether you have such evidence and if so if you would let me have it."

Opposition members laughed when George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, asked if Mr. Claxton had considered an inquiry to find out who put his signature on the letter. Mr. Claxton said it was probably placed there by a clerk or printer preparing it for printing in the house record.

"Did the CCF get a copy of the letter?" asked Gordon Graydon PC-Peel.

There was no reply from Mr. Claxton.

Good Chance for Rodney Brodie

CHICAGO (AP) — The Brodie twins were still on the critical list Wednesday but barring complications, doctors gave Rodney a "good chance of becoming a normal kid."

Roger, the weaker twin, suffered brain damage from blood congestion, and doctors say the chances are "mighty remote" that he will recover.

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—A Czech newspaper said today the food shortage has become so critical in some rural areas of Czechoslovakia that housewives have to walk 12 miles to buy a loaf of bread.

Whitehorse CC Comes Back With Proposal to Join B.C. to Yukon

EDMONTON (CP) — The Whitehorse Chamber of Commerce reaction to a proposal that British Columbia take over part of the Yukon was a suggestion Wednesday that the Yukon's borders be moved south to take over a great northern section of B.C.

In a meeting here recently, premiers Bennett of B.C. and Manning of Alberta said it would be desirable if the provinces could move their boundaries 335 miles farther north, taking in parts of the Yukon and the Northewest Territories. If it came about, B.C. would get the Yukon chunk.

The Whitehorse chamber resolved to take "all feasible steps to promote the welfare of the residents of northern B.C. by extending the southern boundary of the Yukon to latitude 54 degrees, 40 minutes." That would make the B.C.-Yukon border run east and west immediately north of Prince Rupert and Prince George.

The Whitehorse resolution said annexation of southern Yukon by B.C. would strip the territory of its "most highly-developed and mineralized portion, with its newly-developed wealth."

This area then would become just another part of the "presently unknown" and "disregarded" area that is northern B.C., it said.

The resolution also held that areas of northwestern B.C. are "entirely undeveloped and threaten to become a vacuum between the industrialized south of B.C. and the fast-growing Yukon."

At present, the northern boundaries of B.C. and Alberta run east and west along the 60th parallel.

To back up their resolution the chamber members at Whitehorse, now the Yukon's capital, incorporated a slogan for all Yukon residents.

Smacking the boundary dispute in 1844 between Canada and the United States, the slogan is: "Fifty-four-forty or bust."

Senator Morse Loses Place on Committee

WASHINGTON (CP) — Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, who bolted the Republican party during the presidential election and now sits as an independent, has lost a fight to hold his place on the important Senate armed services committee.

The Senate, in an unprecedented written ballot, accepted a slate of eight Republicans and seven democrats for the 15-man committee which had been worked out previously by party caucuses.

Morse planned to ask for a Senate vote, too, on his fight to retain his other key committee post—the labor body, but it was expected he would lose there, leaving him with jobs on two minor committees.
