10 P.C. Down on Housing Projects Urges Coldwell

CCF Leader Sees Lower Down Payments, Interest Rates as Housing Answer

TORONTO (CP)—CCF leader M. J. Coldwell said Friday night the housing needs of the Canadian people can only be met by reducing interest rates to two per cent and by having the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation solely responsible for the issuing of these loans.

In a speech at a convention of the Ontario CCF party called to elect a new provincial leader, Mr. Coldwell said a special fund should be set up for this purpose.

He said money from the fund should be made available not only if the industrial centres in which lending institutions now lend money but in the small communities and farming districts "where private lending institutions will not lend money at all for this purpose."

"The Canadian government should increase loans from 80 per cent to 90 per cent of the lending value of the housing project. This would mean a 10 per cent down payment instead of the 20 per cent demand under the present housing set-up."

Mr. Coldwell said the CCF's program—10 per cent down payments, mortgage money at two per cent, and 31-year amortization periods—would make it possible to acquire a $10,000 house by paying monthly payments of $33.20, inclusive of both interest and capital.

The CCF party leader said there is some indication the government will introduce legislation reducing the down payment and lengthening the amortization period for housing loans "but I would point out that it is imperative that the interest rate should at the same time be reduced."

The federal government, in the throne speech read at the opening of the Commons Nov. 12, announced a new housing program under which a 10 per cent down payment on the first $8000 of the lending value of a new house will be a feature of the housing legislation, together with longer periods in which to repay loans.

Mr. Coldwell said rental subsidy funds should be inaugurated "on condition that only municipal or public housing authorities should receive the subsidy."

"This subsidy would permit a sharp reduction in the present high rents . . ."

Nine p.c. Pay Boost For Military, Civil Services

Cost to Taxpayer Is $57,000,000 Per Year

OTTAWA (CP)—Some 250,000 servicemen and federal civil servants will share in pay boosts to go into effect Dec. 1 and expected to cost taxpayers about $57,000,000 a year.

First basic boosts in two years, the increases average about nine per cent, swelling the government's defence and civil service pay bill to about $687,000,000 a year.

The bill likely will be increased still further with Finance Minister Abbott announcing that the government plans to consider raises for the 4500 RCMP personnel. Salaries for 27,000 federal workers not covered in Friday's announcement will be reviewed.

With the increase Canada's brass hats and her buck privates are about to become the highest-paid fighting men of their rank in the world.

The boost ranges from $5 to $100 a month and will cost the treasury another $27,000,000 annually.

Officials said the boost will affect some 165,000 armed forces personnel, including 60,000 reserve officers and men, and will bring the military payroll total to more than $300,000,000.

For officers, it will amount to about a 10 per cent boost; for men, about 8½ per cent. Pay scales for the three services were standardized in 1946 and the increases apply to all.

A new recruit in the army, navy or air force will receive $92 a month after Dec. 1. The figure now is $87.

In the case of rear-admirals, major-generals and air vice-marshals, the boost is from $881 to $981.

Based on figures obtained from the U.S. embassy and the new Canadian schedule, here is a comparison of the basic pay rates of equivalent ranks in the Canadian and American armies:

	Canadian	U.S.
Pte. (1st class)	$107	$ 99.37
Cpl.	127	122.30
Skt.	144	145.24
S-Sgt.	165	175.61
WO2.	195	219.42
WO1.	224	264.82
2nd Lieut.	185	222.30
Lieut.	230	259.36
Capt.	290	326.04
Maj.	370	400.14
Lt.-Col.	460	474.24
Col.	615	592.80
Brig.	827	800.28
Maj.-Gen.	981	963.30

These figures reflect the difference only in the basic pay rate on assumption of the rank indicated. From that time on, pay rates increase irregularly in the services of both countries and comparison becomes difficult.

Defence Minister Claxton expressed the opinion that the U.S. forces may be a "bit freer" with other benefits, over and above salary such as free medical care for dependents. He noted too that the U.S. army operates PXs-department stores whose goods are sold a little more than cost. The Canadian army has no parallel establishments.

ALLOWANCES

In the matter of allowances, Canadian and American servicemen appear to get roughly the same amounts, but a comparison is difficult.

The American food allowance is $47.88 a month for officers, irrespective of rank or marital status. Their quarters allowances are based on rank and marital status both, beginning at $51.30 for an unmarried private first class.

An unmarried Canadian private first class on pay and subsistence receives $168, of which $61 is allowance. His opposite number in the U.S. army receives, in addition to his $51.30 quarters allowance, a daily food allowance of $1.20 if he does not eat in an army mess.

Increases in armed forces pay since the end of the Second World War have almost doubled the serviceman's salary.

In October, 1946, a private was paid $50 a month. Under the new rates, he will get $92. A private drawing marriage and subsistence allowances received $143 monthly in 1946 and will draw $273 after Dec. 1.

TRADES PAY UP

The new scale also provides higher trades pay, ranging from a $4-a-month increase for the lowest trades group to $20 a month for the highest.

The armed forces pay raise will cost about $27,000,000 a year. This is only a little below the estimated $30,000,000 annual cost for the boosts to 85,000 federal employees—about 75 per cent of all classified civil servants across the country.

Almost all professional classes and most of the employees in the larger departments will share in the increases.

1000 TEACHERS NEEDED IN B.C.

Shortage of 400 Teachers Forecast For 1954-55

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia will need at least 1000 new teachers in the 1954-55 school year, the B.C. Teachers' Federation said Friday.

At the same time the federation told delegates attending the fifth annual western conference of the Canadian Teachers' Federation here that the west coast's three teacher training centres will turn out less than 600 teachers at the end of the current school year.

The forecast of a shortage of 400 teachers in B.C. was matched by Manitoba delegates, while Alberta reported a shortage of at least 180 teachers.

The B.C. federation estimated that 650 teachers will resign or retire from the profession at the end of the current year. New school construction will provide openings for an additional 400 teachers.

The shortage problem is the main topic of study at the convention.

Delegates from the four western provinces said better working conditions and improved salaries, especially in rural areas, were required to make the profession more attractive to young people.

Dr. Myrtle Conway of Winnipeg, CTF past president, added that teachers should make young people feel the teaching profession was worthwhile.

"We must show our pupils that teaching is an interesting and good job," she said.

Bridge Pillar Is Two-Room Home

TORONTO (CP)—Now they're living in bridges.

Steeplejacks Thursday discovered a two-roomed furnished hideout inside a massive supporting pillar of the Bloor Street bridge over the Humber River west of the city limits. The entrance, presumably reached by the bridge girder, was 50 feet above the ground.

The steeplejacks, installing telephone cables, said the entrances were too small for the bunks, benches, tables and chairs inside. These must have been hauled up in parts and assembled inside.

There was no indication who used the rooms, originally compartments of the pillar. Officials said the entrance will be barricaded.

Canada Withholds Answer To Second U.S. Note

OTTAWA (CP)—A new United States request for Canadian government co-operation in interviewing Igor Gouzenko likely will not be answered until next week, officials said Friday.

External affairs department officials said it would take some time to study a note received Friday, asking for the government's acquiescence in having U.S. congressional investigators of subversive activities talk to the former Russian embassy cipher clerk who exposed Canada's wartime red espionage.

Gouzenko, now living in secrecy under RCMP protection, recently expressed willingness to meet representatives of the Jenner or McCarthy anti-subversive committees of Congress.

In response to a first note from the U.S. state department, the Canadian government said Gouzenko has given it all the relevant information he gathered in Russia and at the Soviet embassy here and this has been sent to the U.S.

Later, External Affairs Minister Pearson said a charge in the decision would be probable only if the second note from the U.S. included new information of new factors bearing on the case.

Russia Pays Off $20 Million Debt To Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Russia has made final payment on its $20,000,000 Canadian nickel debt arising out of the Finnish-Russian Petsamo mine controversy.

It was learned Friday that the equivalent of $3,000,000 in sterling was transmitted by the Soviet government to London where it was deposited in the Canadian government's bank account. The money, in turn, was transferred to the London account of the International Nickel Company of Canada which likely will use it to invest in a United Kingdom subsidiary company.

Settlement of the debt was believed to have been discussed when Soviet ambassador Dmitri S. Chuvahin recently conferred with External Affairs Minister Pearson.

Though the Soviet embassy declined to comment, it was understood the Canadian government was notified of the final settlement as part of Soviet policy to dissolve as many outstanding external economic issues as possible.

Payment virtually elimintes all outsanding debt issues with Canada.

Salmon Fishing Nearly Over

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fraser River fishermen have just 42 hours more to fish salmon before this last operation on the coast closes for the year.

Federal Department of Fisheries announced today that the Fraser will close for five days and reopen Wednesday at 8 a.m. for a final two days of fishing.

Howe Sound area was closed today for remainder of the season.

Smaze Bothers New Yorkers

NEW YORK (CP) — New Yorkers continue to differ mildly over identification of the overhanging cloud that obscured its midtown skyscrapers and irritated eyes, noses and throats.

After noting and rejecting the labels of its contemporaries — smoke, fog, haze, smog — the Herald Tribune has come up with one of its own. Its banner line today read:

"Smaze in its fourth day."

DOUKHOBORS IGNORE MARRIAGE LEGISLATION

VICTORIA (CP)—To date no Doukhobors have taken advantage of new legislation to legalize the sect's marriage ceremony.

At the fall session of the Legislature amendments were passed to the marriage Act which gave legal status to the sect's "bread and salt" marriage ceremony.

The law has been in effect for more than a month but no Doukhobors have taken advantage of it.

The amendment stipulated that intended marriages must be proclaimed by the parents or next of kin of either the bride or groom at two successive gatherings of Doukhobors.

Doubts on the effectiveness of the new legislation were expressed in the Legislature at the recent session. Some members felt Doukhobors, who for 50 years have shown distrust of any government agency and reluctance to give information about themselves on any type of government form, would object to the necessity of filing records of their marriages.

Airliner Returns To Gander Safely

GANDER, Nfld., (CP) — A Trans-World Airlines plane which reported a fire in one engine 500 miles over the Atlantic arrived back over Gander airfield at 2:33 a.m. today. TWA said there was no fire aboard, however, and the return was only precautionary. The plane had 57 passengers aboard on a flight from here to Shannon, Ireland.

The TWA dispatcher at the airport had said earlier that fire did not break out despite an SOS from the pilot reporting a fire in No. 3 engine.

Gets 12 Years For Manslaughter

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—Francis Joe Basil, 21-year-old Indian of the Douglas Lake tribe was sentenced Friday to 12 years in penitentiary by Mr. Justice H. S. Wood following conviction of manslaughter in the killing of Chung Fook Sing at Nicola last July 5.

Defence Counsel T. G. Bowen-Colthurst said he would appeal the sentence.

Basil was charged with the murder of the aged Chinese along with Johnny Sampson, 45-year-old Indian of the Coldwater Tribe. Sampson was acquitted.

Evidence at the trial showed that the Chinese was murdered with an ax.

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A B-29 four-engined bomber crashed on landing at Biggs air force base today, burst into flames and killed four airmen aboard. Four other airmen in the plane were injured.

Worst Smog in Memory Choking New Yorkers

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP) — The towering skyline of New York vanished off and on Friday behind an eerie, cottony curtain, as the worst smog in years smothered the eastern United States. It grounded seagulls —but not planes.

The New York Health Department said it was keeping a "close watch" on death reports to see if the smog had reached the killer stage. Death records always lag a couple of days, and a spokesman said there was no sign yet of a rise in the death rate.

A "health alert" was sounded in New Jersey, warning residents to beware of the harsh, irritating smog.

The weather bureau forecast some relief by today, thus apparently insuring the area against any smog as serious as that which killed 12,000 persons in Britain a year ago.

Scores of persons in Jersey industrial plants sought first aid for scratchy throats and irritated eyes. School children doubled over with nausea, headaches and smog-induced irritations.

Elderly people with asthma gasped for their very lives.

It was the worst smog in memory in Elizabeth, N.J., where many business places sealed themselves off by tightly closing doors and windows.

The weather bureau explained that a mass of warm, dry air has moved into the east — where temperatures have been at near-record high 60-degree levels for several days.

The smog forms at night when ground-level temperatures cool and become infused with smoke and chemical wastes from industries and cities.

The still, warm air above ground level traps this smog, as a stove lid traps the fumes of a coal fire.

Hundreds of seagulls huddled on a paved city parking lot adjoining Flushing bay in the eastern section of the city, apparently afraid to risk flight in the haze.

The big man-made airliners flew all day in and out of La Guardia field across the bay with only minor delays until about 9 p.m. EST when a heavy fog set in.

By 10:15 p.m. 12 flights had been cancelled out of La Guardia and 13 inbound flights had been diverted elsewhere.

Ghost Squad Still Watching Drivers

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver's traffic toll has been eight persons killed in a 15-day period, possibly a record.

The latest victim was Jacob Buckshon, 70, killed Friday when he was struck by a trolley coach on a downtown street.

His death brought to an end a 24-hour period free of accidents that resulted in injury.

A police drive against traffic violators continued with 20 speeders arrested during the night.

Several police cars are reported to have been re-painted in two-tone colors to join the "ghost" squad, a fleet of cars without the usual police lights and sirens.

Canada, U.S. Must Unite Against Aggression, Pearson

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CU)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said Friday night Canada must be prepared at all times to join the United States to resist aggression in the Far East or anywhere else.

"Asia is on the march and there is nothing that we can do to stop it," he said in an address to the Canadian Club.

He said he favors a policy of consultation among allies, aimed at reaching common ground before a crisis develops. Every effort must be made to strengthen the western coalition and each of its members, including Canada, had to be ready to deliberate and sometimes perhaps to yield a little ground.

Mr. Pearson said he deplores many of the frantic appeals and sensational headlines based on allied relations and coalition rifts.

Reflector Gloves Advised for Drivers

VANCOUVER (CP) — A new gadget for motorists — reflector-type gloves — has been given the blessing of Vancouver traffic superintendent Gordon Ambrose.

Motorist Bill Rose suggested use of the gloves, made by putting strips of reflector tape on the back of ordinary gloves, to make hand signals clear at night. P.S.—It works.

U.S. FIRM TO START POWER DAM IN MONTANA

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — The Washington Water Power Co. hopes to start work within a year on a new power dam in Montana that would be larger than any presently owned by the company, President Kinsey Robinson said Friday.

The proposed site is at Noxon Rapids on the Clark Fork River, 23 miles upstream from the company's new Cabinet Gorge plant in Idaho. The federal power commission granted the WWP a permit for preliminary exploration at the site last March.

Robinson said the new dam would provide 350,000 kilowatts of new power, at a cost of $100 million for the dam and transmission and distribution facilities.

Hopes Sons Problem Stays in Kootenays

OTTAWA (CP)—Tom Goode (L, Burnaby-Richmond) said Friday he hopes the Doukhobor problem "stays in the Kootenays from now on."

Speaking in the Commons Throne Speech debate, he was referring to the recent trials of the "unfortunate" Sons of Freedom Doukhobors at Burnaby, B.C.

Mr. Goode said justice had never been conducted in a more fair manner and the presiding magistrate had "excelled himself."

But the Doukhobor problem did not belong to his riding and he hoped it would remain in the Kootenays of British Columbia.

MAN SOUGHT

WEST VANCOUVER (CP) — Police at West Vancouver are seeking a middle-aged man whose rented boat was found floating empty among debris at Cooper Cove, near Horseshoe Bay, B.C.

The unidentified man rented the boat from Sewall's boat rentals at Horseshoe Bay, Tuesday. When he failed to return police were notified. The boat was found Thursday.

U.S. To Brief Canada, U.K. on A-Weapon Effects

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is going to give Canada and Britain a fill-in on some of the devastating effects of its latest atomic weapons.

The Atomic Energy Commission said Friday that arrangements are being made to exchange, with its wartime atomic partners, information on the "effects of atomic weapons on human beings and their environment"—effects which would include those resulting from exposure to blast, heat and radiation from bombs.

AEC chairman Lewis Strauss has hailed the new move as one aimed at "improving our ability to defend ourselves against the effects of atomic weapons," but he said the exchange "does not envision any disclosures about the nature of our atomic weapons themselves."

An AEC information spokesman said the new move would mean "updating" Canada and Britain on the potential effects of atomic bombs on people and their environment—as distinguished from the already publicly described effects of the original bombs dropped on Japan in 1945.

Mercy Pilot Picks Up Enemy

VANCOUVER (CP) — The pilot and his passenger once were enemies, but this didn't interfere with a northern mercy flight.

Emerson Wallace, a former Royal Canadian Air Force fighter pilot, was at the controls of a Queen Charlotte Airlines plane which landed here Friday.

His passenger was Alec Wedekin, a stretcher case, who was a fighter pilot with the German Luftwaffe during the Second World War.

But the war was forgotten when Wedekin needed aid. He was injured at Kitimat when struck by an exhaust pipe blown off a tractor.

A call for a mercy plane went out and Wallace, stationed at Prince Rupert, took the controls and flew 750 miles to bring the injured man to hospital.

The pilot even helped ambulance attendants to remove the stretcher onto the seaplane dock at the International Airport.

Wedekin came to Canada from Germany a year and a half ago.

FALSE ALARM ALERTS ABBEY

LONDON (Reuters) — A police cordon was thrown around Westminster Abbey and patrol cars rushed to the spot Friday when alarm bells started ringing at Scotland Yard. They found a church attendant had accidentally set off the alarm system, installed two years ago after the coronation stone was stolen from the abbey.

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP) — Vancouver Island Kinsmen Friday presented a Monaghan respirator to Nanaimo hospital for use in treating polio patients. The presentation was made by Mell Biggs, chairman of the island's joint Kinsmen polio committee and Rae Ball, chairman of the Nanaimo Kinsmen Club polio drive.

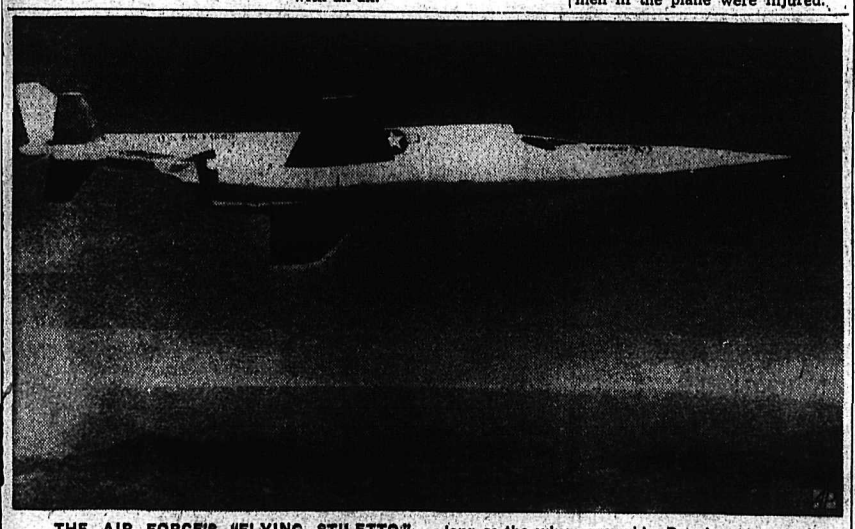
Bombers Off on Goose Chase

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Strategic Air Command bombers are going on a goose chase, but not a wild one.

SAC headquarters said Friday it has agreed to permit fish and wildlife service representatives to go on some training flights to take a migratory waterfowl inventory.

The inventory will begin on the west coast, in Alaska and British Columbia. Central United States and western Canada will be covered during the second week of January.

SAC bombers regularly cover all these sections on practice bombing and reconnaissance missions.



THE AIR FORCE'S "FLYING STILETTO," said to be the shape of planes to come in high speed flight, is pictured over the Southern California desert in test flight. The radically-designed craft, designated the X-3, is nearly three times as long as the wings are wide. Douglas Aircraft, the manufacturer, released first pictures of the plane Nov. 16, but said it has been test flown for more than a year.—AP Wirephoto.

Rearming of Germany 'Fraught With Danger'

OTTAWA (CP) — Colin Cameron (CCF-Nanaimo) said in the Commons Friday that rearmament of Western Germany under its present government is "fraught with danger."

"There are some rather fragrant flowers to be plucked from the Bonn regime," Mr. Cameron said during the throne speech debate.

"Any intention of rearming Western Germany under this extremely dubious regime is one fraught with danger."

The Canadian government should assure Parliament it is "making representations in that regard."

In an apparent reference to the arms industry which had backed Hitler, the CCF member said the Krupp properties had been returned to the "unspeakable" Alfred Krupp.

Dr. Heinrich Lohse who had been in charge of cremation of Jews, now was living in retirement on a pension from the Bonn government.

"Then there is Herr von Grunherr, who was in charge of Jewish deportations from Norway and Denmark and who has since been appointed ambassador at Athens for Cancellor Dr. Adenauer. Then their is Dr. Gerhart Peters, manager of the I. G. Farben industry affiliate which supplied the zyklon gas for the extermination of the Jews."

Mr. Cameron said: "It has been the Socialists of Germany who have stood against Nazi totalitarianism, on the one hand, and Soviet totalitarianism on the other."

And in This Corner . . .

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP)—A diction expert blames the smog pall which hangs over this industrial city for the "awful" accent of its dwellers.

Frank Jones, author of a book on proper English, explained: "Birmingham people who opened their mouths to make the correct sounds found themselves gulping in a mouthful of dirty air. So they developed a technique of opening their lips only to the smallest possible slit and then straining the words through in a way which distorts them."

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—When Rogers Harris won $28,000 last month in the Irish Sweepstakes, he happily told newsmen, "The first thing I'll do is get my divorce troubles cleared up."

Harris' wife, Hazel, took the first step in that direction Thursday. She filed suit for divorce and asked the $28,000 sweepstakes ticket as part of the settlement.

SINGAPORE (Reuters)—On his way home from selecting a coffin for himself, Malayan Tan Joo Chye, 65, was knocked down and killed by a speeding motorcycle. Friday he was buried in the coffin of his choice.

VANCOUVER (CP)—There was sugar to spare for all comers here Friday when a Canadian Pacific Railways locomotive and a truck loaded with sugar collided in east Vancouver.

Assault Adds Year to Pair's Terms; Six Months For "Forceful Seizure"

Further charges against the four men who escaped from Provincial jail here Monday night were laid in city court Friday morning.

The men waived jury trial in favor of a hearing before Magistrate William Brown and all pleaded guilty to the individual charges.

Convicted of assault with intent to prevent lawful detention of themselves were Delore Joseph Gallant and John Hugh Mitchell. They were sentenced to one year of hard labor in the Nelson common jail. John Hugh Mitchell, Lionel Kenneth Martin and Darwin Laverne Sutherland were convicted of "forcible seizure" of Bernard Klein and were sentenced to six months of hard labor in the Nelson common jail.

Maximum sentence for "forcible seizure" is 25 years imprisonment.

The sentences will be imposed upon completion of present terms being served. The four were sentenced to a year hard labor Thursday after conviction of "unlawfully escaping jail."

Previous to the outbreak, Sutherland was awaiting preliminary hearing on a murder charge, Mitchell and Martin were serving year sentences for car theft, and Gallant was serving two weeks on a vagrancy charge.

John McGinn, jail guard, testified that Gallant threatened him with a knife point to his "throat and stomach" and, that Mitchell similarly threatened him with the knife point to his "ribs and throat."

Mr. Klein told of being surrounded and outnumbered by the men and beaten and choked until forced to submit. He testified the men forced him to ride with them in his car from the vicinity of the hospital out along the Ymir road until they abandoned it.

Gallant will probably appear at a later date on a "forcible seizure" charge. Bruce Arlidge was crown prosecutor.

40 Take Pro Rec Leadership Course

Out of pro rec classes here 40 members have been chosen to take a leadership course under Director Ed. Kelter.

The students have been selected from each class to create interest in pro rec and to assist the community recreation director. Mr. Kelter chose half the class and members the other half.

Tests on skill at gymnastics, basketball, track and field and other games, will be given by Mr. Kelter, November 30 for the boys and December 1 for the girls. There are 39 different tests for the old groups and about 25 for younger classes.

The leadership classes will also police the premises during class, recruit members for work parties, take charge of groups and report any infractions.

Those selected for the courses are:

Junior Girls—Marilynn Kary, Shiela McGovern, Tanis Foxall, Barbara Joan Parker, Carol Waldie, Susan Morrison, Gail Meakins, Billie Dyer, Sharon Walls.

Senior Girls—Marjorie Eisener, Denise Greenwood, Mitzie Hufty, Margaret Ross, Verna Strong, Merilyn Ure, Terry Moran, Lynn Derby, Judith Godfrey, Jo-Ellen Kary, Lydia Walton.

Junior Boys—Vernon Hellekson, Harry Peerless, Phillip Bond, Billy Burdenie, Charles Easy, David Grant, Neil McEachern, Bob Haynes, Tom Ramsey, Howie Paxton.

Senior Boys—Barrie Waters, Earl Farenholtz, Ron Rusnock, Douglas Farenholtz, Bill Gibbon, Adelard Nadeau, Mike Horswill, Morris Donaldson.

To assist Nelson Figure Skating Club girl's pro rec classes have been switched from Wednesday afternoon to Tuesday afternoon. Boy's classes will be held Monday instead of Tuesday.

Over 737 Children Attend Film Council Showings; Form Own Club

A review of the month's activities of the Nelson Film Council took place at an executive meeting of the organization.

The Council has won wide recognition for its children's programs and many other councils in Canada are now modelling children's councils on the Nelson pattern, it was stated.

The Children's Committee reported that 737 children had attended the three film showings for children in October. Although nickels and dimes still come clutched in little fists, the committee this year is endeavoring to have all children become members of their own film club with a voice in its operation and programs.

Over 150 children are now paid-up members of the Children's Film Club, a project of the parent organization. The film program on Saturday mornings are carefully picked for children and have included nature pictures, sports documentaries, puppet shows, fairy tales and other stories starring child actors. The J. Arthur Rank "Bush Christmas" was a special request by the children who saw it last year. Recently a showing of an old "Our Gang Comedy" had to be run through twice at the children's insistence.

Cliff Bennett was introduced to the meeting and spoke briefly to the group from his experience in operating a Film Guild in San Francisco. He stated that it was his opinion that TV was having the same effect on films that motion pictures had originally had on the legitimate stage, that of forcing it into an art form, and that there was a definite demand for films that would afford artistic satisfaction as well as entertainment.

The Projectionist Committee reported that a showing had been held at Mount St. Francis and that arrangements were being made to train projectionists at that point.

The Film Library is now located at the Nelson Public Library and films are available there to all member organizations.

Arrangements to hold film showings on the second and fourth Thursdays at the Legion Hall have been approved and the Preview Committee reported that most of their bookings had been confirmed and that excellent programs had been arranged until the Spring of next year.

Lancaster Company's Macbeth Brings Shakespearean Thrill

"Lay on Macduff" and "Sleep no more, Macbeth hath murdered sleep" are famous quotations known to all.

They come from Shakespeare's great tragedy "Macbeth" and Friday night fell on an audience of 550 who lauded players presenting the classic for an excellent performance.

Capitol Theatre was filled for the performance given by the Lancaster Company which is touring B.C. and Alberta staging its show.

Lighting, sound effects and costume did much to lend the play a feeling of reality.

With the first clap of thunder that ushered in the three witches to prophesy Macbeth as king, until the final blow that kills Macbeth, the company held its audience.

Doug Haskins as Macbeth and Monica Dudley as Lady Macbeth were outstanding in their portrayal of a man poised between right and ambition caught in a web of his own making that led finally to distruction, and a woman ambitous for her husband swept by remorse to her death.

Equally effective in their parts were Ian Thorne who played the vengeful Macduff, and Jack Ammon who, as the porter answering the knocking on the South gate, brought humorous relief after the tense scene following King Duncan's slaying.

Ian Dobbie as Ross introduced the play which took place in 1020 and appeared from time to time to fill in breaks in the thread of the story.

Macbeth in the famous soliloquy "If it were done when 'tis done then t'were well it were done quickly", as he builds his courage to kill Duncan and Macduff when he swears vengeance for the brutal killing of his wife and children, were highlights of the play.

Lady Macbeth, pathetic as she suffers from remorse, is equally effective.

Others taking part were Walter Marsh as Banquo, John Potter as Duncan, Derek Redfearn as Malcolm and Seyton, David Conway as servant to Macbeth, Patricia Leith as the gentlewoman, Jack Bowdery as the doctor, Dorothy Davies as the first witch, June Bohrson as the second witch and Pat Atkinson as the third witch.

Play was directed and edited by Ian Thorne. It was sponsored in Nelson by the Parent-Teacher Association and Nelson High School.

House Packed for Trail Comedy Play

TRAIL—The premier showing of Trail Little Theatre's "For Love or Money" Friday night in the Trail Junior High School auditorium was well received by a packed house. Those unable to get seats will be back early for the Saturday showing.

Rib-tickling situations in the witty, fast-moving, spicy comedy kept the audience in gales of laughter. The play, presented by the Trail Little Theatre, was written by F. Hugh Herbert.

The story takes place in the home of a famous stage actor. A young girl comes in to seek shelter from the rain and she stays. The efforts of the actor's "marriage-minded" leading lady to oust the girl and the conjecture as to where the young girl is sleeping lead to a hilarious situation and surprising complications.

The Saturday night performance is to be judged by representatives of the regional festival and if acceptable will lead the way to the provincial and final Dominion Drama Festival.

The players are Chris Wiggens, Pat Trench, Laurie Lynds, Marion Johnson, Dav. Salvin, Gina Landucci, Dorothy Calder and Peter Chase.

"For Love or Money" is the fourth 3-act play which Miss Janie Stevenson has directed for the Trail Little Theatre. She conducts children's classes and night classes for adults in speech and drama both in Trail and Nelson.

Production manager was May Williams, stage manager, Norman Mayne; technical advice and set decoration, Paul Smith; prompter, Connie Nicholson; set construction, Norman Mayne, Jack Nicholson, Arnold Calder, Ernie Langford, Jem Nedves.

Properties, Helen Fitzsimmons, Betti Hall; lighting, Jack Nicholson, Gomer Stuart Jones; sound effects, Norman Mayne, Walter Johnson; costumes, Heather Keighley, assistant, Yolanda Nedves; makeup, Irma Gill, Connie Nicholson; publicity committee, Craig Weir, Chris Wiggins, Connie Nicholson; tickets, Craig Weir; program, Connie Nicholson; ushers, Pearl Haley, Frances Mead, Sheila Kirkpatrick, Betty Tisdale and Barbara Hobbs.

Ask Fertilizer Industry Probe

OTTAWA (CP)—H. A. Bryson (CCF, Humboldt-Melfort) making his maiden speech in the House of Commons urged an investigation of the fertilized industry under the Combines Investigation Act.

He said that since the government sold its fertilizer plant in Calgary to Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Trail, B.C., after the war, fertilizer prices had risen from $19 a ton to $112 a ton. The price in Saskatchewan next year would be $120 a ton. Consolidated held a fertilizer monopoly in Western Canada, he said.

Mr. Bryson quoted Agriculture Minister Gardiner as saying Canadian farmers had priced themselves out of the British market. This was not the fault of the farmers but because of the increases in fertilizer, fuel and farm machinery costs.

He said Canada should accept sterling as part payment from Britain for agriculture products. Canada could invest their sterling in Britain, resulting in higher British production of manufactured goods which could be traded for more Canadian agricultural products.

If the government had had the foresight to accept sterling as part payment, farm surpluses in Canada might never have occurred. The government had "deliberately discouraged" trade with Britain.

Baptist Church Here First Charge Of New Minister

Kutch Imayoshi, who finished theological studies this spring at McMaster University, Hamilton, Ontario, is new incumbent of First Baptist Church here. He will be ordained next year.

Mr. Imayoshi was born in Summerland, B.C., and received all his elementary schooling there. He received his bachelor of arts degree at the University of British Columbia. He spent two summers as a student pastor in Northern Saskatchewan and last winter as youth director of Park Road Baptist Church in Toronto.

This is Mr. Imayoshi's first full-time charge since becoming a minister.

Future Cranbrook Forests Assured With Planting of 300,000 Pine Seedlings

CRANBROOK — B.C. Forest Service reforestation program in East Kootenay this year has resulted in planting of nearly 300,000 two-year-old ponderosa (yellow) pine seedlings in logged over sections of the district. Area covers 357 acres.

Seedlings from district seed were planted at the East Kootenay nursery on Perry Creek in 1951. They grew one year in the seed beds, then were moved to transplant beds for a year where there was more room for individual growth, and finally they were field planted this year.

This spring 117 acres of logged land near the Elko ranger station were planted with approximately 93,000 of these tree seedlings eight feet apart, and 140 acres of bench-land above the Kootenay river at Newgate were planted with 110 seedlings. Fall examination showed 85 per cent of the machine planted seedlings in the Newgate project had survived their first crucial summer, and 78 per cent of the hand planted seedlings. At Elko summer drought took its toll and survival rate was 50 to 60 per cent.

At conclusion of the summer season of tree growth a planting crew was established in a trailer camp near Newgate and an additional 100 acres were planted with 80,000 of the seedlings.

This was the third year of the East Kootenay reforestation program, purpose of which is to re-establish for the future tremendous stands of ponderosa pine destroyed through indiscriminate cutting which prevented natural reforestation.

Plantings previous to this year included Skookumchuck and Wasa districts which formerly sustained forests but had reverted to barren prairie after wholesale logging. Inspection shows fairly good survival with seedlings well established but growing slowly.

ONE OF FOUR

Perry Creek tree nursery is one of four nurseries operated by the reforestation division of the B. C. Forest Service, and is the only one to grow yellow pine seedlings on a large scale.

It has been operating for three years and has well established permanent facilities including a water supply from Booth Creek. Its extensive seed beds are sown each spring for a yield of about a million seedlings nursed along with water, cultivation and soil fertilizing. This special aid in growth is continued for a second year when the seedlings are transferred to transplant beds on the nursery site to produce the sturdiest possible plants for field planting. They are then in top condition to survive under rigorous natural conditions of extreme temperatures and drought characteristic of East Kootenay.

Decades will elapse before planted areas begin to look like forests, and probably close to a century before they are sawlogs.

W. D. Grainger is in charge of the East Kootenay reforestation program as assistant forester to provincial forester-in-charge, H. G. McWilliams, and W. E. Berg is superintendent of the East Kootenay Nursery at Perry Creek.

4 Vacancies At Kinnaird, Castlegar

CASTLEGAR—The terms of two commissioners each in Castlegar and Kinnaird will expire this year and plans are well under way for the annual elections in these centres.

In Castlegar, terms of Victor Jenks, chairman, and Harry Sommers, water commissioner, expire. Neither commissioner was willing to commit himself when asked if he would run for re-election.

In Kinnaird, George Jackson and Bernard Mahoney are the commissioners whose terms expire. The former has indicated he will not run for re-election for another term while Mr. Mahoney has not committed himself as yet.

Nomination day for candidates is the first Thursday in December.

If enough candidates are nominated to make an election necessary, it will be held Dec. 10.

Castlegar polling station will be at the Canadian Legion Hall from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. W. H. Toogood of Castlegar has been appointed returning officer.

Coast Boys Charged With Car Theft

CRANBROOK — RCMP here recovered a car allegedly stolen from Kootenay Bay and arrested three juveniles from Vancouver who were said to be in it. They were escorted to Creston Tuesday to face charges of theft of the car.

In the first charge with regard to the pedestrian crossing crossing on Baker Street, Thomas Beynon pleaded guilty to failure as a driver to yield right of way to a pedestrian, and was fined $10 and $3 costs.

Sven Dahlin pleaded guilty to supplying liquor to an Indian and was sentenced to six months' imprisonment without option of a fine by Magistrate Richard Shiell.

City bylaw infraction in letting horses wander at large in city limits drew a fine of $5 and $3 costs, together with pound fees when Robert Pelton pleaded guilty.

BIG COLLECTIONS

WINNIPEG (CP)—The city's budget for 1953 estimated revenue from parking meters at $140,000. It looks pretty safe. The total for the first 10 months was $121,000. The money goes into the general civic revenues.

Fernie Chamber Hears Expert . . .

Sell Goods, Not Terms Advice to Business

FERNIE—"Business heads do not expect a depression, but do expect a business recession," stated Edward Tanner, of the credit bureau of General Motors Acceptance Corporation at the November dinner meeting of Fernie Chamber of Commerce.

Taking as his topic, "Let's put our own house in order," Mr. Tanner referred to the post World War II period when goods were scarce. The consumer begged for goods, waiting lists were the usual thing and the salesman had become almost extinct.

Today the market was highly competitive with the chief selling points being the low down-payment and easy terms. Mr. Tanner felt it was time the businessman stopped kidding himself and started selling goods and not terms. The businessman should take stock of the situation before it got out of control. Past due accounts often exceed current accounts receivable. This was poor credit practice. Good credit meant good business while poor credit meant poor business being carried on by means of bank overdraft.

"All credit applicants," said Mr. Tanner, "should be carefully screened." In the case of his own company a mint of information is a requirement. The nomad or transient was an especially poor risk. In the case of his own company Mr. Tanner stated that over 50 per cent of recent losses were transient. He suggested it was good practice to appoint only one person to authorize credit.

ELKO WORK FINISHED

Morley Obee of the roads and highway committee reported that the rock work near Elko on No. 3 highway was completed. The provincial government public works crew was working on the McInnis Hill near Crow's Nest. When that project was completed the crew would be transferred to the Elko job for road reconstruction work which is expected to be finished by spring. The new Lizard Creek bridge was opened this week.

The Chamber was informed its request for a wig-wag signal at the loop crossing east of Natal had been granted and the signal would be installed. Similar signals for the Olson crossing and Kootenay Central crossing near Wardner are still under consideration. Mr. Obee recommended that a committee should interview Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi before the estimates are drawn up.

The Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a public meeting with all nominees in the coming civic elections invited to address the electors. C. T. (Bud) Lynch, chairman of the "Get Out To Vote" campaign reported that arrangements had been made for loud speakers, to encourage the citizens to get out to cast their ballots.

Slocan Backs Bid for Jumbo Pass Survey

SILVERTON — Slocan Board of Trade has added its voice to an appeal for a survey of Jumbo Pass as a possible link between East and West Kootenay and connection with the Trans-Canada highway.

At a meeting held at Silverton Municipal Hall the Board decided to recommend to Minister of Public Works P. A. Gaglardi that an exact survey be made to determine feasibility of the route.

The Slocan joins with Nelson, Windermere Valley, Lardeau and Kaslo Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce in seeking a survey of the route.

Members also decided to ask the Public Works Minister for an outline of proposed work on Slocan Highway No. 6 for the coming year.

Guests at the meeting were Randolph Harding, MLA for Kaslo-Slocan, L. Todd, principal of Lucerne junior-senior high school at New Denver and R. Peachey of Silverton.

A letter to Provincial Secretary W. D. Black suggesting a possible method of supplying electricity to the Valley, was read.

The letter suggested power be purchased from large local sources and distributed by the B.C. Power Commission on lines constructed for the purpose through the Valley.

TO STUDY FLOODING

The board also learned an investigation would be made into the relationship between railway development in the Upper Slocan Valley and annual flooding of low lying farm lands in the spring. Survey will be made by the CPR.

Parks Division of the B.C. Forest Service advised the board in a letter that a number of parks had been set aside in the area for recreational purposes. The Board is requesting two sites, one at Lemon Creek, six miles south of Slocan City and one at Wilson Creek, be developed first.

The Slocan Board will also coordinate the district March of Dimes, members decided.

A questionnaire from the Education Committee of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce was discussed by Ian McLeod and a further discussion will be held at the next meeting.

A motion was carried unanimously opposing any direct political activity by the Board of Trade. Instances were cited by some members where before federal and provincial elections advertising by a few boards and chambers expressed clearly partisan feelings. Members of this board felt there was ample scope for political expression in Canada and that boards and chambers ought to remain aloof from party politics.

Students Work To Equip School Gym

SOUTH SLOCAN — Students of Mount Sentinel Junior-Senior High School at South Slocan are raising money to equip a new gymnasium which they hope to have in the near near future.

The Student's Council sponsored a magazine sale plan with great success. Over a week's period starting Nov. 13, they sold $430 worth of subscriptions, amounting to a profit of $177. A camera was given to the school by the company to be awarded one of the students who sold subscriptions. A draw decided the winner Wednesday and the camera was awarded to George Bondreoff of Vallican.

Castlegar To Form Sea Cadet Corps

CASTLEGAR — Sea Cadet Committee of Castlegar branch of the Navy League has been reorganized and recruiting of boys for the proposed Castlegar Corps continued.

At present it is reported there are 27 youths who have expressed their willingness to join.

Lieut. Commander Derek H. Tye, area officer of the Sea Cadet Corps, visited Castlegar in company with P. Marken of Nelson and met with Castlegar Navy League officers and the Sea Cadet Committee. Commander Tye expressed pleasure at the progress being made in the organization of a Sea Cadet Corps at Castlegar.

The Sea Cadet Committee, however, faced with prospects of perhaps having to appoint themselves as officers in the Corps, have been re-organized. Jim Seaton is chairman and committee members are George Tonnellier, Norris Churches and Fred Howes, all of Castlegar. R. Wadey of Kinnaird has been named Canadian Legion representative to the committee.

The Sea Cadet Committee has named Ron Couchman of Castlegar commanding officer of the proposed corps and are recommending Gerry Archibald of Kinnaird as executive officer and Bill McGauley and Fred Howes of Castlegar, as divisional officers.

Castlegar Man In McGill Society

CASTLEGAR — Carl Goresky, son of Dr. and Mrs. Victor Goresky of Castlegar and a third year medical student at McGill University, has been elected to membership in the Alpha Omega Alpha Society, his parents have learned.

Alpha Omega Alpha is a non-secret, College Medical Honor Society, organized and founded in 1902, with the aims of encouraging scholarship and a spirit of medical research. The McGill Chapter is known as Alpha of Quebec. Four third year medicine students, and eight, fourth year, are elected annually to the Society.

Papers are presented by the students once a month during the academic year. Members of the faculty at McGill lead the discussions at these meetings, with the students taking an active part.

Film Council To Open Promotion Campaign

GRAND FORKS — Film projectionists classes, conducted by Doug Feir for Grand Forks film council, have concluded with enthusiastic projectionists emerging as a result.

The Film Council is holding a general meeting Sunday night to make final preparations for the promotilonal campaign which they are sponsoring on November 25, 26, and 27 when many homes will be used ot show interesting films.

$163,500 Issued for Kinnaird Building

KINNAIRD — Construction of new residences in the Village of Kinnaird, has been proceeding at a record pace this year, according to village office records.

Up to the end of September, last month for which complete returns are at present available, the total of new building permits issued in the village, was $163,550, the great majority of which were for new residences.

Highest month for building permits so far was April when the total was $46,000. Lowest month was August with a total of $4700.

Largest single permit so far was for the $20,000 addition to the Kinnaird Elementary School.

Banquet Winds Up Slocan Little League Season

SLOCAN CITY — One day last spring, B. E. O'Neail, principal of the Slocan City elementary school, decided that it was high time the junior boys of the town were organized, as they are in larger centres, for Little League Baseball.

There was, however, a twofold problem in the idea: who would supply the money for the necessary uniforms and equipment, and who would resume the responsibility for these items?

Mr. O'Neail took his quanaries first to the Slocan City Sports Association whose members at a public meeting voted unanimously in favor of purchasing uniforms for 36 boys, and also all the gear needed for the game. The Kinsmen Club, when approached by Mr. O'Neail, just as willingly agreed to look after these purchases.

Practically overnight the problems had vanished, for Slocan City has a big heart for her youngsters and wants them to have all the encouragement possible in the way of organized sports.

It was a big day when the prized uniforms, complete with crests, were distributed, proudly donned, and taken into battle. Unfortunately there were not enough boys for the three teams originally hoped for, but the two which were formed—the Yanks in blue and white, and the Cards in red and white — displayed enthusiasm enough for ten times that number. There was scarcely an evening all summer when one team or the other was not out for strenuous practice, or both teams in full force for a rousing game.

The last game of the season was played on Labor Day when the Sports Association at its annual celebration again won the boys' hearts by posting a handsome trophy for the winners of that game. The park's new bleachers were packed as the kids went at it with big league fervor, and after a close game all the way the Cards emerged victorious by a small margin.

One evening last week, 25 boys —only two were misisng, and those unavoidably—sat down to a sumptuous banquet prepared and served by their mothers in the Women's Institute Hall, the use of which was donated by that organization—"because it's for the kids."

The trophy was formally presented by Kinsmen President Bert Robison to Terry O'Neail, who had, at the beginning of the season, been elected by the Cards as their captain. After Terry's response, Mr. O'Neail, who acted as master of ceremonies, called upon the Yank captain, Mas Fujibayashi, for a few words. Short speeches were then made by the coaches who had given so much of their time all summer to help the boys, and who were invited guests at the dinner. These were Ted Graham, Mickey Murakami, Fred Lindstrom and Bert O'Neail. One other coach, Ted Hicks, was out of town and unable to attend.

Eyes sparkled and tongues wagged joyously during a discussion which folowed, on the subject of bigger and better things planned for next baseball season. Who knows—these youngsters might some day be playing the World Series.

Funds Needed for French Navy

PARIS (Reuters) — France will have only two battleships, one aircraft carrier and one cruiser still in service by 1960 unless the government undertakes a vast shipbuilding program soon, the navy ministry reported Friday. The ministry said France's fighting fleet will become "non-existent" within a few years unless parliament votes funds for a new aircraft carrier and cruiser.

Eisenhower Health Reports Untrue

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower's personal physician said Friday "there is no validity" to reports that the president is suffering from heart disease.

Maj.-Gen. Howard Snyder said the reports emanated from "certain columnists and commentators," whom he did not identify.

Snyder said Eisenhower had been "annoyed recently by the visitation—in modest form—of what is known as 'tennis elbow'."

The doctor did not further amplify this statement, apparently referring to a swelling of the elbow.

400 SEE MACBETH AT GRAND FORKS

GRAND FORKS — The Lancaster company of Vancouver presented Shakespeare's "Macbeth" at the Grand Forks high school auditorium Thursday night to an appreciate audience of nearly 400. The cast of 15, starred Doug Haskins as Macbeth. The director, Ian Thorne, played the role of Macduff, while Monica Dudley handled the part of Lady Macbeth. The company is on a tour of B.C. and the Prairies.

Advantages Offered By Community Chest Warrant Full Study

Charity, we believe, will eventually suffer if a feeling of annoyance develops because of the multiplicity of appeals. These appeals are warranted because of the good work done by the dollars donated as a result of them, but if there is a method of retaining this good work, of still getting the money gifts to the organizations that put them to such good use. but decreasing the effect of irritation, then it deserves a thorough investigation.

Rotarians have taken the lead in assembling information concerning a Community Chest, and at a recent meeting the participation of representatives of various other organizations was arranged. The aim is to create a community organization that will unite all or most appeals into one great annual drive, allocate funds according to their present proportions to the enrolled charities while at the same time achieving an economy in the actual costs of collection and appeal.

The success of a Community Chest is, of course, dependent upon the measure of co-operation extended by all participating organizations. The fact that a Chest offers a large measure of convenience to the supporting public, that in other district centres and elsewhere it has proven highly successful, and has, in fact, where adopted made more monies available to the various organizations, warrants a considered and thorough study by those groups which carry out the citizens' charity works.

Better Pay For Parliamentarians

It is a common lament among Canadians that their counterparts in the United States get more money than they do. Members of Canada's House of Commons and Senate may justifiably make the same complaint, for the legislators at Washington get more than three times as much as those at Ottawa. A Canadian senator or MP is paid $4000 per session, plus $2000 tax-free expense allowance per year. An American senator or representative is paid $12,500 per year, plus $2500 tax-free expense allowance.

The Canadian figure is too low, not only in relation to the American, but in relation to our own wage and salary levels. The MP's indemnity—if only one session is held—comes out at roughly $80 a week.

Legislation is therefore being drawn up at Ottawa to increase the indemnity of MPs and senators to $8000 per year—not per session—leaving the expense allowance unchanged. Thus, in effect, they will get $10,000, with $2000 of it tax-free.

Opponents of this reform will argue that many of the people who sit in the House of Commons are not worth the $4000 they get now, let alone the $8000 they will get if and when the bill is enacted into law. That is true. It is equally true that many able and conscientious members are grossly underpaid under the present scale, and would still be underpaid under the new one. It is the voters' job to choose only the best men for the job at Ottawa.

Betty's Weekly Letter to:

Dear Jane:

All week the snow has been sneaking down the mountainsides. Today it has reached the yard and is playing around there. Some things we grow fonder of as the years go by (tea with me), and some things we don't (winter with me). But I suppose the crocus and the daffodils and all the little seeds and plants are happy, as well as all the little red-blooded boys and girls.

A chap in Calgary by the name of George Dupre has certainly burst the bubble about the modesty of Canadians. Aren't we the people who are supposed to be so hesitant about taking credit even when it's coming to us? Oh, well, we all make mistakes.

Makes me wonder, though, about some of the other stuff we read—maybe no one has caught up with it yet.

The Christmas smells are in the air—both indoors and out. There is a house on Stanley Street where every fall the most delicious pickle smells come out and tickle the salivary juices. The other day, going past it, the aroma of Christmas cakes almost made me go in to see if they wanted a boarder.

Have just been reading in the News about Joseph P. Ryan, who resigned his $20,000 a year lifetime job as president of the International Longshoremen's Association. While facing fifty-one charges of misapplication of funds and of stealing $45,000, he has been appointed president emeritus with an annual pension of $10,000 (what the Association called a comfortable pension). Sounds very comfortable.

What do you think about the Community Chest, Jane? I couldn't follow the reasoning of the B. C. Tuberculosis Society in Vancouver, who were reported to have said: "It seems to us that a united appeal would be a high pressure campaign in which people and businesses would feel compelled to give." I can't see how a united appeal is going to high-pressure them as much as forty-nine separate appeals.

Poor Queen! Now she shouldn't watch a horse race. There's lots to be said for being a common, ordinary individual with not too many people caring what you do. Guess we're the ones with the real freedom.

Funny how many people have been saying this week that they were glad they weren't Bernard Klein last Monday night. Seems, too, that half the men in town were locked out of their homes that night.

Mr. Stevenson

When Adlai Stevenson was asked what he had for breakfast at one session at the Democratic rally in Chicago recently, he remarked, "Boiled agenda."

Mr. Stevenson often makes himself the butt of his own wit. He called his five-month global trip through 26 different countries a "fascinating, fatiguing and fattening journey."

The hazards of a politician in this line were whimsically put by Mr. Stevenson later when he was asked what his program was for a day at the rally. He reported that he was to eat three breakfasts, two luncheons, three teas, and a $100-a-plate dinner.

Mr. Stevenson is noted for felicitous improvisation. Referring to his election defeat in 1952, he said: "My cup of defeat has been sweet indeed. After all, General Eisenhower has been to Colorado—but look where I've been!"

Mr. Stevenson is often called upon to speak extemporaneously. He introduced one such talk by observing: "I always enjoy these moments. I can't wait to find out what I am going to say."—Richard L. Strout, in The Christian Science Monitor.

Power From Coal

Because water is usually free and will run downhill wherever it has a chance doesn't mean, necessarily, that it is the cheapest source of power. The "private power" people have been saying this. Now the United States Bureau of Reclamation is saying much the same thing.

The bureau has been making a study of the future power needs of 22 western states. And it comes up with the recommendation that power plants be constructed in the centres of several big coal and lignite fields and the electricity carried over high-tension lines to the cities and industrial regions which would use it.

Some technical problems have to be solved, it is true, to reach the more distant destinations. But here is one more of those ideas which keep bobbing up every time the public is sure coal is doomed.

Apparently, however, water is still king provided conditions are favorable enough. And favorable they certainly are at the amazing Kitimat aluminum project in Canada: A whole river reversed, a vast reservoir created, and an enormous "head" of water brought to the dynamos after a 2580-foot drop—seven times that at Grand Coulee and 15 times that at Niagara.

An engineer in British Columbia Department of Lands and Forests first saw the possibilities of Kitimat. But it was the Aluminum Company of Canada which, years later, developed them. It will be interesting to see what combination of American companies first explore the possibilities of the long lines and the coal fields. The frontiers of the continent's power resources have not yet disappeared.—Windsor Star.

Your Horoscope

Strive to improve your skills, concentrate on the matters at hand, and possibly slow but sure advances may be made in your affairs. A very clever child is likely to develop if born on this date.

FOR SUNDAY, NOV. 22: A fair amount of success and literary and intellectual activities are well signified for you in the coming months. Artistic abilities and moderate success are prophesied for today's child.

Nakusp Oldtimer's Father Had Hand In Pioneer Settling of Ontario Area

To the Editor:

Sir—I felt your readers would be interested in the history attached to the family of the late Alice Margaret Taylor, widow of the late William Ellison Taylor, who died at Mount St. Francis Infirmary, Oct. 22 at the age of 90.

Her father was the late Rev. Thomas Williams of Ontario pioneer fame.

Born in London, England, the youngest son of Richard Williams, on July 28, 1810, Thomas Williams came to this continent with the family at the age of 11. They first went to the Welsh settlement in Pennsylvania, but preferring British rule, after one year moved to Canada and settled on the Penetanguishene Road, near Craighurst, where they cut a farm out of the bush.

At the age of 14, Thomas Williams became an assistant to the government surveyors who laid out the townships of Medonte, Oro, North and South Orillia and Flos. Sunnidale, Nottawasaga and portions of Vespra, Essa and Tossorontio.

HELPED SETTLERS

Later under the government land agent, Wesley Richey, who settled Oro and South Orillia, and whose office was at Bass Lake, Thomas Williams acted as guide to the incoming settlers in 1832. He had the faculty of making his wage unerringly through the bush and along the trails to the lot indicated on the map. He often helped the settlers to build their first cabin, which was 12x10 feet or 16x14.

Among the setlers whom he placed was Captain Thomas Wood, a half pay officer, who was located on a 200-acre farm near Ardtrea, on part of which Warden Reed now lives. Captain Wood was the first settler in Orillia Township north of Orillia. He lost a good part of his farm because he refused to pay taxes and sections were sold to meet them.

ORDAINED

In the year 1835 Thomas Williams was converted at a camp meeting at Holland Landing. After serving as a loyalist volunteer in the rebellion of 1837-38 and teaching school for a time at Craighurst and Orillia, he studied for the ministry and was ordained in 1845. He served the Methodist Church in a number of places, and was for 14 years a missionary to the Indians at Garden River and Cape Croker. For two years he was chairman of the District of Algoma.

It is recorded that during his pastorate at Dunnville and Oakwood more than 200 persons were converted. He remained in the active ministry for 40 years and at 70 made a tour of the Great Lakes by canoe, on horseback and on foot. Two of his brothers and two of his sons became ministers.

Shortly after his ordination in 1845 Mr. Williams married Deborah Keays of the Township of London, and they lived happily together for fifty-five years. They had four sons and four daughters. The eldest daughter became the wife of Alex T. Reed and the mother of Reeve Reed. The only living member of their family is the youngest daughter, Margaret, who is 88. She cared for her parents during their old age.

After his retirement Mr. and Mrs. Williams lived for a short time at Ardtrea, and then bought a cottage on Cedar Street, where he spent the remainder of his days.

WROTE EXPERIENCES

His mental faculties remained bright to the end, and beginning in 1890, when he was 80, he contributed a series of interesting articles telling of his experiences in the pioneer days in this district. These articles were subsequently published in booklet form by the Simcoe County Historical Society, and are a valuable record of the settlement of Orillia Township, Oro and Medonte.

Reformed Doukhobors Reply Explains Sorokin Standing

To the Editor:

Sir—An answer to the appeal of the members from the Spiritual Community of Christ and the Union of Spiritual Communities in an article of November 17, 1953, in the Daily News: You are pondering why the name of Reformed Doukhobor was acquired, quoting that there never has been any prophecies in writing of such a name.

You are demanding an explanation about Sorokin—whether he is a priest.

The name Christian Community and Brotherhood we have accepted because our Spiritual leader, S. S. Sorokin, when he arrived to the Doukhobors in the year of 1950, found that the Doukhobors had assumed the good name "The Spiritual Community of Christ") and the "Union of Spiritual Communities of Christ", but they have sunk deeply into the mire and have reached to the greatest extremities of peril into which the false leaders had led all the Doukhobors at that time under the pretence of various schemes instigating the people into acts of violence, which had reached to human sacrifice.

Thanks to our Spiritual leader, S. S. Sorokin, we now see our clear way to salvation, and for this we shall never forget him and his teachings of salvation which leads the people away from the perdition. For our future guidance his first instructions are to break away from all acts of violence, which means to be "reformed", or be reborn from the darkness of the evil into the light of goodness, and to become good Christian people.

Our first commandment from Sorokin was to every member of the Christian Community and Brotherhood of the Reformed Doukhobors, which also could be applied by all Doukhobors.

CANNOT USE VIOLENCE

A Doukhobor acknowledges God's divine love, wisdom and understanding within himself. Armed with this Spiritual Light, his first struggle is within himself; then he struggles against the outside world, and with all that is contrary to the Spirit of God's mind.

When a Doukhobor acknowledges God's Divine Spirit within himself he cannot use physical power or violence in his worldly struggle, because he fights only with spiritual weapons, which is the power of word. This power of word is witnessed through love, wisdom and meekness.

The life of a Doukhobor himself should testify of Brotherly Love to all men everywhere. It is a life lived in Peace and Righteousness. Thus is created the Kingdom of God on Earth, which leadeth to Eternal Life and Unspeakable Joy.

As to whether Mr. Sorokin is a priest: Oh! you hypocrites and pharisees! Had not Peter Lordly taught us from the Bible and Peter Second always carried the Bible with him and also preached the gospel? Is it not a fact that the Doukhobor religion is based on the teachings of Christ as also all the other religions? Repent ye from your Godless ways while there is yet time.

Further explanation about Sorokin is in the accompanying document. (See also advertisement on page 6.)

Letters Mailed In Arctic Are Delivered

OTTAWA (CP) — Wrapped in the colors of Norway, a small bundle of historic papers was returned to Norwegian hands Thursday — 34 years after it had been cached in the frozen Canadian Arctic.

The papers, comprising personal letters, maps and documents, were never delivered to the man for whom they had been destined—Norwegian explorer Roald Amundsen. He died in Norway in 1928, without ever visiting the cairn on lonely Ellesmere Island where they had been left for him.

In a brief, simple ceremony Resources Minister Lesage turned the faded papers over to E. S. Bent, Norwegian minister to Canada, at the latter's residence.

HISTORIC FIND

The story of the lost letters was first told last summer when Geoffrey Hatersley-Smith of the Defence Research Board, and his assistant, Robert Black of the geological survey of Canada, returned to civilization from a northern patrol.

Travelling by dog sleigh and on foot, they made their way last May from the weather station at Alert on Ellesmere Island to remote Cape Aldrich, 500 miles from the pole. They opened several cairns left by previous Arctic travellers and in one they discovered a bundle of letters left there in 1919 for Amundsen.

The letters were left by Capt. Godfrey Hanse, a close friend of Amundsen serving in the Danish navy. At the time the Norwegian explorer was attempting to drift across the roof of the world from Alaska to northern Europe by ship.

BIRD SANCTUARY

Moms Abed, Fledglings Need Feed

. . . F. B. Pearce

Life is full of disappointments, frustrations and vexations. After all, a city replete with cathedrals, churches and places of worship should be able to produce one person who can look up references; but no, not one has come forward with the verses referred to in Scripture Cake. This can only lead to the sad assumption that adult scholarship is not what it should be; or is it possible that adults, too, are subject to the same malady as children, laziness? Of course not. Perish the thought!

But to continue with recipes for the man of the family: There are times when Mother retires to bed with the megrims and the father has to roll up his sleeves and set to to feed his hungry brood.

Of course, for breakfast you can feed them such dry fodder as Krummy Krumbles; but you, as a conscientious parent, will want to do the right thing by your offspring. There is nothing more satisfiying than oatmeal porridge, and so easy to make. Just a cup of rolled oats, a couple of cups of water and a little salt. Boil till tender, and do not allow to burn, unless you like your parritch that way. Serve with cream and sugar (salt, if you are Scotch by descent). One beauty of this recipe is that it is very stretchable. If it looks as if there won't be enough to go 'round, just add more water.

SCRAMBLED LUXURY

If the children are small you can probably get by with this, but if you want to be lavish with food and affection, add scrambled eggs to the menu. This is another natural for the amateur male cook. Eggs are beaten lightly with a fork, milk, pepper and salt added, and the mixture heated, stirring all the time until it jells. One egg and a tablespoon of milk for each person will be good enough as a rule, but if you are short of eggs, half an egg and more milk will serve. Do not forget pepper and salt. Serve on toast. The children can make this.

BUBBLE AND SQUEAK

Now lunch. You, as a worker, are not used to rushing home to feed a family. It will, of course, revolt your soul, but at a pinch you can open a can of soup. What about eggs and bacon, and, if cold potatoes and cooked cabbage are available, that delectable dish, Bubble and Squeak? This is highly recommended by no less an authority than George Rector, the celebrated gourmet and restaurateur of New York. After you have cooked the bacon and eggs, dump the potatoes and cabbage into the pan, chop them up together and cook gently, turning frequently so that the flavors of bacon, potatoes and cabbage are intermingled. Serve with the bacon and eggs. The children will love this, and you will suddenly realize that they appreciate your cooking.

By this time you will have discovered that the important thing in feeding children is to fill them up; so here is a good recipe for supper, Stove Taties and Wieners. Stove Taties is a Midland dish from England. Take one medium-sized potato for each person in the family, peel and slice thinly, place in a pot and add a generous tablespoon or two of dripping. Add sufficient water or milk to cover and simmer gently till thick and mushy. Season to taste, and five minutes before serving add the wieners. Pause for applause.

That should be enough for one day, and most likely there won't be another day to take care of (another dangling preposition), for the children will go up and bounce on Mother's bed and tell her what lovely meals Dad makes, and she'll decide to get up before they are all thoroughly spoiled.

Pick On Somebody Your Own Size!!

OTTAWA (CP)—Picking a fight with a bull can be dangerous.

Oscar Gibeault, 55, tried it Wednesday. Now, he is nursing a torn right hand in the city jail, where he'll remain until Saturday.

Morality officer Charles Rayner testified in magistrate's court Thursday that Gibeault strolled into the cattle barn at the Dominion experimental farm. Guards ejected him once but he came back again and began to molest a big bull in his stall.

The bull became vexed and pinned Gibeault's hand against the stall wall. After treatment in hospital, he was charged with creating a disturbance.

The court gave Gibeault a choice of a $12 fine or three days in jail. He chose the three days.

Shelley Winters Lives Up to Tales Of Temperamental Leading Ladies

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's time to check up on the wondrous world of Shelley Winters.

The unpredictable blonde is a throwback to another Hollywood era. There was a time when the temperamental leading lady was considered par for the course. But movie actors on the whole have become more normal.

Shelley is always up in arms about something. Recently she had a much-publicized running feud with a casino when she was appearing in Las Vegas. She claims the place provoked her into blowing her top so the publicity could be reaped.

Even so, the fracas appears to have done her no harm. She said that upon her return she had more job offers than she could handle.

"Yes, I can be," she replied. "I get along fine until people do things to prevent me from doing my best possible work. Then I blow up."

Difficult or not, Shelley has a voracious appetite for work, which is even more pronounced since her retirement to bear a child. Since then she has made thre pictures, played thec lub date and made a TV film. She soon starts a film for her home lot, Universal-International.

On Dec. 23, she flies with baby Vittoria to Rome, where they will join her husband, Vittorio Gassman. Shelley will make a picture with him. At the same time, she plans to make a movie with Vittorio de Sica.

Despite the gossips, she remarked that her marriage to Gassman is in dandy shape, the only distance betwen them being geographic. Recently the pair spent an idyllic few days in Canada, where she was on location. When he returned to Hollywood briefly, he read reports she was divorcing him. He quickly phoned her.

"Are you divorcing me?" he asked. "Maybe later, dear," she replied. "Not now."

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Today's Bible Thought

Paul, the great scholar, met many who had seen the risen Christ. There is no other explanation for the explosive power of the Christian Church that swept over the civilized world in a couple of centuries when no printing press nor radio nor railroads existed. The transformation of Peter from a coward to a flaming evangelist cannot be explained otherwise.

Go quickly and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead.—Mat. 28:7.

Our Father's Business

"Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest"—Matt. 11:28.

We are passing through a period of history which has never been equalled for its nervous strain and tension; nations are piling up atomic and hydrogen bombs, and there are "wars and rumors of wars" on every hand. Closer to home, we have the fast pace of our western civilization, unemployment, strikes, and the rising cost of living. Is there any sure cure for the evils of our day? Yes, there is! But it is only practical when everyone is willing to take part in the plan. Like everything else, there must be a starting point; and since this great wide world of ours is made up of individuals, the starting point must be with the individual. Only when every member of the human race achieves peace with God, his neighbor, and himself, can we have world peace in the truest sense of the word. Looking at it from this standpoint, its achievement may seem impossible. But in the individual sense, the attainment of peace is a very real possibility.

For these days of stress, Jesus offers a practical solution, "Learn of Me, and ye shall find rest unto your souls." Though all around us there may be confusion and turmoil, it is possible to have as inner calm of untroubled peace — as the poet has said, "Though the billows round me rpol, I have peace within my soul. Oh what a wonderful peace". This is the "Peace of God" which the Bible talks about. To find it we must learn of Jesus. He maintained that peace throughout His own life, and He has left us an example to follow—Love God, love our neighbors, and "be careful for nothing", save to do the will of our Father.

"Peace, perfect peace, in this dark world of sin?
The Blood of Jesus whispers peace within.
Peace, perfect peace, by thronging duties pressed?
To do the will of Jesus, THIS IS REST."

Easter Day, 5th of April, 1953

SUPPLEMENT TO THE PROCLAMATION AFTER THREE YEARS.

(Original proclamation of the Sons of Freedom declaring S. S. Sorokin as our chosen Spiritual Leader.)

GLORY BE TO OUR LORD — CHRIST HAS ARISEN!

Dear brothers and sisters, Doukhobors; Today is Easter, (Great Day) that people may understand the meaning of this day of the resurrection of Christ, the day of rejoicing and triumph in the hearts of His followers who themselves became spiritually resurrected according to His teachings— into the life of eternal and unutterable truth.

All Christian churches maintain the understanding that Christ was born only once, in the one place, and in the one person; that He taught, died, and then arose and flew away into the heaven just in the same tortured and suffering body, and that some day He will appear again, the same person, in the same body, and will give mercy to those who believed in his bodily resurrection and ascension into the heavens, and take them with Himself, but to those who believed not in Him, and crucified Him, He will show His wounds and condemn them into hell.

Indeed, people have already lived for almost two thousand years without Christ and the people await when He will appear to them. — Little likelihood of this taking place.

We Doukhobors do not maintain such an understanding, nor do we so believe, and consequently became separated from the other Christian churches and clergy now for over three hundred years. Our beliefs differ, in respect of Christ, and His resurrection.

"Christ", and the "Son of God" — is the Intelligent Spirit of Love and Truth, a Higher Wisdom in man, which is his true and eternal life, emanating from the higher holy and wise cosmic eternal Mind — which is our "Heavenly Father".

Hence Christ incarnates, is born, and resurrects in the body of men from the time when mankind first appeared on earth. Therefore Christ, as the incarnated Spirit said: "Before Abraham was, I am", also: "I am with you to the end of time".

Therefore Christ incarnates and resurrects in each righteous and holy person, and His disciple declared: "He died in the flesh but became alive in the Spirit". For even greater enlightenment of teaching of Christ, the disciples themselves said: "Christ is our life, and the life is Christ". Further they said: "Not I live (as flesh) but the Christ that liveth in me".

Likewise there are other clear testimonials from His disciples that Christ lived in each one of them.—"You seek proof whether it is the Christ that speaketh in me. But He is not powerless to you either. But is strong in you. Or do you not know yourselves? That Jesus Christ is in you, and revealed His Son in me, that I might preach Him among the heathen, I conferred not with flesh and blood".

And in this manner we, according to our faith, did understand and do continue to understand that those leaders that guided our society, were themselves led by the Spirit of Christ — which was in them.

There were times when we were bereft of such guiding people (leaders) who possessed the Spirit of Christ and there was no one to lead us, which caused us to fall into discouragement, and failure, and many lost their faith. However, in those that preserved their faith there abided a trust and a hope that the Heavenly Father has not left them orphans, even as He had said: "Lo, I shall not forsake you, I will come and take you, and you will be there where I will be".

Dear brothers and sisters, you all remember how much we awaited for a leader, how we suffered and how ready we were to sacrifice ourselves only that we could obtain our leader. We were promised that "He will either come here himself, or call us there". And also it was said: "You must ascertain the leader by the words he will speak, and by the fruits of His deeds".

And so, from these words of instruction — it is clear to us what the leader P. P. Chistiakoff indicated, advising us to expect, not necessarily his son according to the flesh, P. P. Verigin III — from the Caucasus — for in that case little identification or ascertaining would be required", "Beware that you not oversleep (miss) the third Petuchha (crowing rooster)". We looked everywhere for him — to be sure as not to lose him and not to pass him by — so we would be the first to whom he will come.

Although we acknowledged our demoralization and sins, and thought that he did not appear to us. But nevertheless we believed that if we all went together, and bent our knees before him with tears, and repented — that he will accept us.

We knew our spiritual brethren and their spite towards us, that they will chase us away from their midst, and even beat us. But we were prepared to bear all this, hoping for a dispensation from God—that the leader would have pity on us. We were laughed at for having such a faith in expectation of our leader, and that we searched for him in places where he cannot be found.

True, we had a variety of leaders who, knowing the nature of our faith, did abuse us, using deception and smoking all kinds of lies into our eyes, that allegedly "this was all necessary" — with the result that we barely survived from the smoke and the fire.

However, the Heavenly Father is compassionate. — He pitied us and our faith although it was perhaps a foolish one, and unintelligent, but for all that—sincere and pure. He sent us His great gift and joy, but specifically, brothers and sisters, for this Great Day (Easter) which we celebrate today in honor of the Resurrection of Christ — our dear and beloved Leader did manifest himself to us.

Brothers and sisters, we will never forget that Day, when he passed Nelson to Brilliant, into the traditional home of the Verigins; then he went to Grand Forks, and later attended a big Easter meeting — visited amongst the Doukhobors there — observing the spirituality of the "Spirituals" (members of the Union of the Spiritual Communities of Christ, Trans. note) and the Heavenly Father Himself only knows what actually was in His soul.

Following that he appeared unto us, as people agitated and disturbed in the anticipation of their leader — reaching the lowest depths of despair. Let us, brothers and sisters, always remember this Great Day (Easter) and make it a day of remembrance amongst the Doukhobors, for that is our obligation.

Because now, brothers and sisters, it is no longer necessary for us to doubt, and inquire of one another: "Is this the One, or not? Is he ours, or is he not ours"? He has proven to us with all his power, with his love and with all his being — giving himself in sacrifice for our salvation.

We will not broadcast testimonials of what he did for us, and what he proved. But He did not identify Himself by scars or birthmarks on his body, but by selfless love in the struggle for our welfare these three latter years —during which time he clearly demonstrated to all that he is our leader.

An alien—one who is not ours—would not be able to take this upon himself — to plunge into a burning house like a mother for the rescue of a forgotten child inside.

How many times he travelled back and forth in crowded trains during the heat of the summer, visiting the brethren in prison, and being physically weak himself, almost fainting from the prison atmosphere. Or during the winter months — trudging through the snowed-in roads to obey the calls of telegrams demanding his immediate presence in the jails. And likewise the conspiracies to take his life, and all the unheard of slander and falsifications.

However, he was not intimidated or deterred by all this but continued to work unsparingly for our welfare, and now already has for the third time crossed the Equator searching a place for the Doukhobors. Why is it so that no one else did these things before him? Because there was nobody: no person who would put out his hand for our sake, Only the most unfeeling and ignoble would fail to acknowledge this self-evident fact.

With his presence amongst us, we felt no longer alone, but as little children with their mother: everything seemed well to us. With his arrival we positively resurrected into the true life of hope and joy.

Only one thing, brothers, we must confess to one shortcoming: that he is not called in the manner proper to what our leader must be called by. Our prophecies and predictions do say that in the period of time following P. P. Chistiakoff (the kingdom of heaven be to him) — the leader must take upon himself the following title, that is — the leader succeeding Chistiakoff must carry the name "Yastribow".

But if we acknowledge this fact, then upon whom does this obligation rest? It is obvious that our spiritual leader, more than any other person, is worthy of this name, and regardless of the fact that he declined when this was formerly broached to him, we nevertheless must carry this matter through.

He is irreplaceable leader, and no other Yastribows do we await for or desire. He indeed is our true "Yastribow".

Why must we delay any longer? Or must we be led around again amongst the bushes and further made fools of? After all, brothers and sisters, such action would be shameful and sinful, and to carry on further like that is unforgiveable.

Today, Brethren, is Easter (the Great Day) and this great day is the day of the arrival into our midst of S. S. Sorokin—Yastribow!

GLORY BE TO OUR LORD.

John J. Perepelkin.

Vancouver Challenges 16 Days Of Rain Charge, Says It Was Only 15

VANCOUVER (CP) — It has rained 10 straight days in Vancouver.

But the Vancouver weather office won't admit to the 16 straight days somewhat boastfully attributed to the B.C. coast by the Edmonton weather office.

In issuing it's daily forecast today, the Edmonton office said while Alberta and Saskatchewan were enjoying their third week of lovely, "above normal" weather, an intense storm was churning the north-west Pacific and that the "B.C. coast was having it's 16th straight day of rain."

ONLY A TRACE

"In our defence," says the Vancouver weather office, "we're not happy about those 16 days because the fifth day had only a 'trace' of rain — less than one hundredth of an inch.

"Most of it fell overnight, and all but one inch of the total 3.66 inches fell in six days. We're just slightly over the average for November.

AND ANOTHER THING

"And that 'intense storm' is way out on the end of the Aleutian chain.

"The next time they have a blizzard and we have sun. we'll mention that, for sure."

For the record, the most waterlogged period in B.C. history was from Jan. 7 to Feb. 3 this year—28 straight days of "real rain, no 'traces.'"

And, finally, B.C. "liquid sunshine" isn't wet. Glug, glug, quack!"

Religious Journal Resents Attempt To Make Duke Into a Royal Moron

LONDON (Reuters)—A church newspaper has supported the right of the Duke of Edinburgh to express his views on controversial topics and said it finds no reason why he should have to act like "a royal moron."

British Weekly, a 67-year-old Liberal religious journal, was replying to criticism of a speech made by the duke two weeks ago. Several Socialist papers said his praise of military service as a "character-building experience" violated the traditional neutrality of the Royal Family on political issues.

"PHILIP THE SILENT"

British Weekly said "we look forward to Prince Philip's next venture in public speaking." Its editorial, headed "Philip the Silent?" added: "We have a prince who has opinions, the intelligence to justify them and the ability to express them.

"He is not a royal moron, and there is no reason in the world why he should be expected to behave like one.

"Prince Philip would have been a major asset in the House of Commons, where we really have some inarticulate nonentities whose inarticulateness is not constitutionally enforced."

U.K. May Thwart 24-Hour Strike

LONDON (Reuters) — The government may act within the next few days to prevent a 24-hour shutdown by 2,000,000 workers in Britain's vital engineering and shipyard industries, it was learned Friday.

The strike, called for Dec. 2, was approved Thursday by leaders of the neutral Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering Unions to back claims for a 15 per cent pay increase. It would be the biggest industrial stoppage since the general strike of 1926.

The situation is being studied by the ministry of labor and a special report will be handed later to Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton, describing possible effects of a strike on Britain's export and defence industries.

The government is not expected to intervene immediately.

Sask. Orders Pipe From Coast Firm

REGINA (CP)—City council has awarded a $3,116,061 contract for steel pipe to the Dominion Bridge Co. Ltd. of Vancouver.

The 36-inch pipe will carry water from the Buffalo Pound reservoir 35 miles northwest of Regina, part of a $7,000,000 project to boost Regina's water supply.

Chemical Haze Hangs Over Eastern States

NEW YORK (AP)—A heavy haze impregnated with chemical fumes in industrial areas hung over the northeast coast area today, causing numerous cases of respiratory irritations. New Jersey was especially affected. Scores of persons were treated at plant first aid stations there for scratchy throats and irritated eyes. Somewhat similar conditions existed in New York City.

Russ in Red for Long Island Tax

EAST NORWICH, N.Y. (AP)—The Russians are in the red on taxes for two mansions they own on Long Island—one of them occupied by Andrei Vishinsky.

An estate here, "Norwich House," has been put on notice for public sale Dec. 1 unless a Nassau county tax bill of $2918, five months in arrears, is paid.

The other estate, "Killenworth," at Glen Cove, has been put on notice for public sale for a $2396 tax delinquency.

The Soviet first deputy foreign ministers and permanent delegate to the United Nations occupies Killenworth with his wife, daughter and staff. Various Russian staff members and children live at Norwich House.

GEC Suspends Two Employees

BOSTON (AP) — The General Electric Company has suspended two employees who were named as Communists by an FBI undercover agent at a stormy hearing of Senator Joseph McCarthy's Red-hunting committee.

Taken abruptly off the General Electric payroll Thursday night were Robert Goodwin, 38, and Nathaniel Mills, 36, both long-time employees of the GE's river works plant in Lynn.

They were pointed out as card-carrying Communists Thursday by William H. Teto, 53, who said he joined the Communist party in 1941 at the request of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Shortly after their suspension from their jobs, Essex county district attorney Hugh A. Cregg said he plans an investigation of Goodwin and Mills with a view toward criminal action.

Bidault Appears on Verge of Collapse

PARIS (AP) — Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, appeared on the verge of collapse when he appeared before the National Assembly Friday in a foreign policy debate. Bidault was helped from the platform after he had read only a third of his prepared address.

The 54-year-old foreign minister is scheduled to depart for Bermuda in 10 days with Premier Joseph Laniel for the three-power conference. When he got up to speak today he rested both hands on the speaker's stand. He spoke with unusual slowness.

The foreign minister, who has been under an extreme pressure of work, was reported to have been up all night preparing his address.

With Straight Face?

NICE (AP)—Spanish surrealist painter Salvador Dali said Friday he is going to make a motion picture nert year in which Italian actress Anna Magnani will be in love with a wheelbarrow.

"The film will be called 'The Wheelbarrow of Flesh' and she will find in that instrument all the qualities and charms of a human being," said Dali, with a straight face.

Peron Sends Polo Ponies to Queen

LONDON (AP)—Two polo ponies presented to Queen Elizabeth by President Peron of Argentina arrived Friday.

The ponies, a Coronation gift from Peron, were taken to the royal mews at Buckingham Palace. An embassy official said the horses, seven and eight years old, still play a fine game of polo, but were presented to the Queen as breeding animals.

Tax System Aims At Canada's Economy, Abbott

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian corporation tax policies are aimed at development of Canada's economy, Finance Minister Douglas Abbott said Friday.

In an address delivered before the American Management Association, Mr. Abbott said the government has tried to develop a corporate tax structure "appropriate to our rapidly-expanding economy."

MAINTAIN HIGH LEVEL

"We must maintain a high level of investment in both manufacturing industry and natural resources," Mr. Abbott said. "At the same time, we must gather in revenue sufficient to pay for a high level of defence preparedness and for an expanded social security program.

"Our tax system is part of our policy of achieving this without imposing the unfair burdens of inflation."

Dealing specifically with primary industries, Mr. Abbott said he wanted to stress that "tax abatement devices have played a quite important part as incentives in our natural resources industries."

Elect Reuther To Second Term

By NORMAN WALKER

CLEVELAND (AP)—Walter Reuther was elected by acclamation Friday to his second term as president of the 5,000,000-member CIO.

Executive vice-president John V. Riffe, secreary-treasurer James B. Carey and eight vice-presidents also were assured of re-election without a contest. The elections ended the CIO's five-day convention.

Before the elections, the convention adopted a resolution throwing the CIO's full weight behind a drive for a guaranteed annual wage for members of affiliated unions.

Either Reuther's United Auto Workers or David J. McDonald's Steel Workers Union is expected to lead the campaign for the guaranteed annual wage—with the odds favoring the auto workers to take the initiative.

DEFENCE PACT FOR BALKAN THREE

BELGRADE (AP)—The Balkan Alliance—Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia—disclosed Friday that they have reached "agreement on all questions relating to mutual defence in case of aggression."

The joint commnique was issued here, in Athens and Ankara at the conclusion of a 10-day conference between the representatives of the military general staff of the three powers on measures to strengthen self-defence in southeastern Europe.

Col.-Gen. Ivan Gonnjak, Yugoslavia's defence minister, told the Turkish and Greek military men:

"Our equal and peace-loving co-operation should represent a rampart against all those who might attempt to endanger the freedom, independence and integrity of our countries and peoples.

"We are endangering no one. We are threatening no one. This co-operation will never be an instrument of threats to other nations."

CNR to Renew Coal Purchase From N.S.

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal and Nova Scotia governments and the Canadian National Railways have reached an agreement on prolonging the life of the Drummond coal mine at Westville, N.S., Mines Minister Prudham have announced. The minister said the first move will be for the CNR to renew an order for 40,000 tons of coal, which lapsed when the mine employing about 280 men recently shut down.

Coming Tour Cramps Queen's 6th Wedding Anniversary Celebration

LONDON (Reuters) — It was "happy anniversary" at Buckingham Palace Friday as the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh observed their sixth wedding anniversary.

Last-minute preparations for their departure Next Monday to New Zealand and Australia prevented special celebrations. A party Friday night at the palace for members of the government and their wives was more in the nature of a semi-official send-off.

Palace circles admit preparations for the royal tour have upset the Royal Family's personal life.

PARTY POSTPONED

Thus a theatre date earlier this week took the place of a night out they might have had on their anniversary. Prince Charles' fifth birthday party had to be postponed because his parents were in the country for a final weekend of relaxation.

Their wedding in Westminster Abbey Nov. 27, 1947, when Elizabeth was 21 and Philip 26, was the most glittering event Britain had known since the war. They have been together for all but one anniversary since, though celebrations have always been on a modest scale.

The third anniversary was spent apart, with Philip still on naval duty in the Mediterranean, and Elizabeth in London helping to entertain Queen Juliana of The Netherlands.

PARIS (Reuters)—Foreign Minister Georges Bidault said Friday France is trying to obtain "precise guarantees" that British and American troops will remain in Europe after ratification of the European army plan.

"All I can say today is that negotiations are progressing favorably," Bidault told the National Assembly.

He said the subject will be fully discussed at the Big Three Bermuda talks in which he and Premier Joseph Laniel will participate.

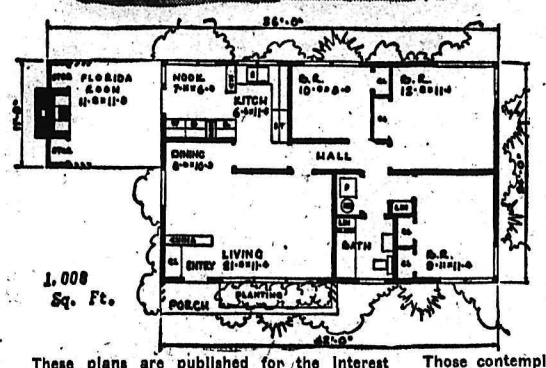
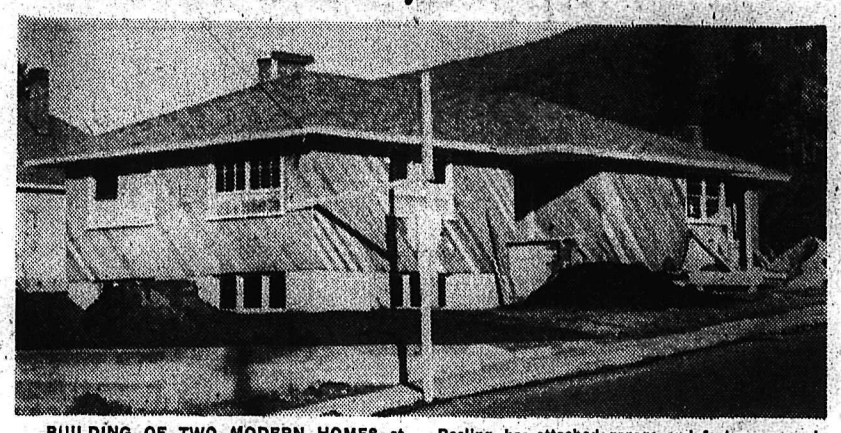
The Modern Home



Unique is the planning of this 3-bedroom home that features an unusual "Florida" room with barbecue facilities for outdoor living. This outdoor room gives the house the popular long, low effect. Large living-dining area, generous kitchen.

These plans are published for the interest and information value only. The Daily News cannot supply detailed blueprints or specifications. Those contemplating building homes should contact a local architect, designer or builder.

Two New Homes for Nelson Avenue



BUILDING OF TWO MODERN HOMES at the corner of Nelson Avenue and Davies Street will leave only two vacant corner lots on the avenue on which many modern homes have been built in recent years. This five-room home, to be completed in about a month for Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Rosling, has attached garage and features a modern fireplace, open at one side as well as to the front. Three front windows have thermopane glass. Automatically oil heated, the home also features double insulation. Contractor is L. Maglio.

ACROSS THE ROAD from the Rosling home, this residence is being built for Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Redel. The six-room home also has an attached garage and features sliding doors between rooms, and large corner windows. Mr. Redel is lands inspector for the Provincial Government. Contractor is N. Apostoliuk. Considerably more construction has been done since these pictures were taken.—Daily News photos.

New Home Construction Continues Up

OTTAWA (CP) — The upward trend in the construction of new homes continued during September and the first nine months of this year, the bureau of statistics reported Friday.

The bureau reported that starts on housing units during the month increased to 10,208 from 8529 in September, 1952, and the the first nine months this year rose to 79,671 from 62,040 in the corresponding period last year. Completions also were higher, increasing to 8643 from 5819 during the month and rising to 62,407 from 46,785 in the January-September period.

Starts during the month rose in all regions over the same month last year. Ontario rose to 3567 from 3359; Quebec to 3229 from 2341; Prairie provinces to 1609 from 1483; British Columbia to 1131 from 786; Maritime Provinces to 472 from 379 and Newfoundland to 200 from 181.

Completions during the month were higher in all areas except the Maritime provinces. Newfoundland rose to 139 from 67, Quebec to 2885 from 1154, Ontario to 2896 from 2136, Prairie provinces to 1524 from 1399 and British Columbia to 881 from 490 while the Maritime provinces dropped to 314 from 573.

PATTERN SERVICE

If you enjoy the beauty of a stained glass window, you'll be more than pleased with the wonderful effect you get by making this Christmas window. When complete, place it in a front window where passers-by can see the colorful Christmas effect.

It's really quite simple, and costs surprisingly little to make. A full-size printed pattern features the beautifuly illustrated Madonna and Child. The pattern provides complete painting outlines and recommends the colors to be used. After painting in the colors, in exact position, the mural is waterproofed with household oil and placed in a frame. Step-by-step directions are easy to follow, and anyone can paint and make the frame required with ordinary hand tools. Directions tell how to fit this mural to add size windows. Since the leaded glass effect is achieved by heavy black lines, printed on the pattern, these lines also insure "amateurs painting with professional results".

The completed window is placed in that part of the window frame usually used for storm windows. The room light bathes the window in a soft glow that gives it the effect of a stained glass window. You will be pleasantly surprised to see what a magnificent Christmas greeting this window extends to all who pass.

Send 55 cents in coin or money order (cheques not acceptable) for Novel Christmas Window Pattern XXXX No. 149 to Carpentry Department, N.D.N., 650 Maitland Street, London, Ont.

Use Dominoes, Checkers For Coasters

Instead of throwing away incomplete sets of dominoes and checkers, use them for constructing unusual and attractive coasters and ash trays for your basement playroom. The dominoes, for example, if arranged so that they form a square of the desired size, make nice coasters. Glue them together with household cement.

Adhere a youngster's playing marble in each corner to form the feet. This can be done by holding each marble in position at the designated corner and striking it with a hammer. Now sand the side of the marble that will face the indenture. Finally, do the gluing. If necessary, touch up the white spots on the dominoes and go over the black areas, using automobile touch-up paint. Paint the marbles either black or white.

Ash trays can be constructed in exactly the same manner. But finish them by cementing an extremely plain glass ash tray in the centre of the square.

To contrive the same kind of articles with checkers, cut circles of plywood with the help of a jigsaw. Now arrange the checkers around the edge of each circle, providing just enough room in the centre for holding a small glass ash tray or a conventional-sized water glass. If the size of the circle of wood is right, the checkers will neatly cover its edge. Paint the wood either black or red, and refinish the checkers in their natural color if it is worn. Alternate red checkers with black ones.

"HEALTH CHART" for your telephone...

In maintaining a service as near certain as possible, your telephone company keeps a close watch on the almost 300,000 telephones under its care. As part of its program of maintenance the company charts the "health" record of every one of these thousands of telephones.

These records are kept on special cards—one for each telephone line—at central offices throughout the province. At a glance these cards tell the history of the telephones on the lines with which they are concerned. They tell the type of telephones used, the details of installation, the past performance and exactly where the wires for those telephones are located amidst the maze of cables and switches that make up your telephone system.

When trouble occurs, this ready reference speeds repairs by providing essential information immediately. It supplies a complete history of your telephone within a moment and assists in bringing you the best possible telephone service.

TRAIL—English-Japanese dictionaries are at a premium around Trail these days. Although no definite word has been forthcoming on just who will represent Canada on the Japanese trip, the expected arrival of Doug Grimston next week indicates the Trail Intermediates are high on the priority list.

Ed Benson, vice-president of the BCAHA, has cautioned the local intermediates that sitting high on the priority list doesn't necessarily mean they'll make the trip. But there's just no keeping the boys down. When the offer first became known it came in the form of an inquiry. The answer to the inquiry was a big yes, the Smokies are definitely interested in going to Japan.

The next move came from Grimston, who in the days of yore was usually to be found in hot water as president of the CAHA. As immediate past persident Mr. Grimston is in less trouble but still very much in the picture. The purpose of his visit to Trail next week is the desire of the CAHA to determine the calibre and breed of players who will be permitted to land on Asiatic shores.

The Trail Intermediates as defending Coy Cup champions undoubtedly have the inside track for the trip. As mentioned before it will be a western club that makes the trip and the further the west the cheaper. Trail can and will ice a strong contender and the cost of financing the trip will rest with the intermediate hockey bosses in the Silver City.

One drawback to the entire Japanese trip is, who will be the brave soul whose courage will allow his to pick the team? With at least 40 players to choose from, some harsh words are bound to result from the choices.

However, if an intermediate challenger is picked then the elimination contest is down to eighteen players and that means less of a headache.

Leafs Whipped 8-2 by Vs

PENTICTON — A walloping 8-2 defeat at the hands of Penticton V's here Friday night left Nelson Maple Leafs with a record of two wins and two losses on their Okanagan tour.

The Leafs took Vernon 4-1 and Kelowna 7-6, but bowed 6-4 before Kamloops before coming to Penticton.

The V's had clear sailing all the way in the first two periods, taking a 2-0 lead in the opener, then blasting in four more to take a 6-0 lead in the second.

Leafs broke into the scoring column early in the third period, however, when Lee Hyssop and Bill Haldane teamed up to beat the Penticton goalie at 1:34. They did it again just past the six-minute mark when Haldane scored on a combined effort in which Clay Lavell and Hyssop figured. But the V's also tipped in another couple of goals.

Bill Warwick led the chase for Penticton, copping three goals for the hat-trick; McIntyre got two and Kilburn, Defelice and Brisson got singles.

Warwick scored the two opening goals in the first period and the initial counter in the second.

SUMMARY

First period — 1. Penticton, Bill Warwick, 5:34; 2. Penticton, Bill Warwick (Dick Warwick, McAvoy) 9:21.

Penalties—Bill Warwick, Gare.

Second period—3. Penticton, Bill Warwick (Grant Warwick, Seindl) 4:08; 4. Penticton, McIntyre (Mascotto) 6:16; 5. Penticton, Kilburn (Brisson) 6:47; 6. Penticton, Defelice (Kilburn, Brisson) 13:55.

Penalties—Geo. McAvoy, Maglio.

Third period—7. Nelson, L. Hyssop (Haldane) 1:34; 8. Penticton, McIntyre (McDonald, Berry) 2:58; 9. Nelson, Haldane (Lavell, Hyssop) 6:18; 10. Penticton, Brisson (Kilburn, Defelice) 14:08.

Penalties—Kilburn, Conway, B. Warwick (3), Conway, Maglio, Schmidt (2), Kernaghan.

Kimberley Here Tonight; Leafs Bat .500 Clip

The Nelson Maple Leafs will tackle the Kimberley Dynamiters in the Civic arena Saturday night in their seventh fracas in eight days.

The Maple Leafs return from a gruelling six game road trip to Spokane and the Okanagan Hockey League where they batted an even .500.

The Leafs dropped the first game of their tour 5-3 to the Spokane Flyers, but bounced back to thrash the American club of the WIHL 7-1 the next night.

Willie Schmidt's boys then trimmed the Vernon Canadians 4-1, but were handed the nasty end of a 6-4 decision in Kamloops.

In their fifth road game, the Leafs rose up and smote the Kelowna Packers 7-6, only to fall at the hands of the Penticton V's by an 8-2 count Friday.

By an odd coincidence, the Leafs had 27 goals scored against them and scored 27 themselves in the six-game stint.

Kimberley Dynamiters last played on Nelson ice November 9 and went home with a 7-4 defeat. They had tied Trail 3-3 the night before.

Smokies Shellac Dynamiters

TRAIL—Sixteen goals were scored at the Cominco Arena here Friday night—13 by Trail and three by the Kimberley Dynamiters. That pretty well sums up a free-wheeling effort in which the Trail Smoke Eaters secured their front running position by virtually catwalking over an outclassed Kimberley Dynamiters 13-3.

It was one of the most decisive wins in the still young Western International Hockey season and was second only to Spokane's 13-2 win over the Dynamiters in a season opener.

Outclassed in every department the defenceless, effortless Kimberley sextette never did get organized and except for a brief lapse in second period the Smokies played an almost perfect game.

Taking a 5-0 lead in the opener the Smokies outscored the visitors four to three in the middle stanza and then sank four unanswered markers in the final.

The Trail trio of Johnny Rypien, Terry Cavanagh and Mike Shabaga netted their second of the night in the final 20-minutes of play, while Kenny Cook, replacing injured winger Bill McCulley, who didn't appear after the second period, rounded out the scoring for the Smokies.

It was one of those nights when the other team could offer nothing effective to counteract the smooth combinations of the winners.

Outplaying the visitors in every department the Smokies jumped into the lead on Louis Corrado's screened blueline drive before the two-minute mark of the first period, and then battled the Dynamiters for the scoreless ten minutes. The Smokies opened their scoring drive just over the halfway mark when Frank Turik tripped home Bobby Kromm's rebound after Terry Cavanagh had snared the puck at the blueline and set up the play.

Moe Young drove home the third Trail tally on a long waist-high shot 20 feet out after Mike Shabaga had picked up a loose puck along the boards.

Cal Hockley was sitting out a two-minute tripping penalty when the Smokies sank two more counters in less than nine seconds. Defenceman Gordie Sinclair figured in both goals as Mike Shabaga tripped in a long drive by Ray Hamilton and Laurie Bursaw combined with Shabaga and Sinclair for the fifth Trail tally.

The free wheeling first period set the pattern for the second with the only difference coming from the Dynamiters, who almost matched the four Trail counters.

Kimberley still weren't in the game when Terry Cavanagh dropped the sixth goal in off Betker's pads, Moe Young was home free from the blueline for his second of the night before Red Mellor spoiled Jack Gibson's shutout bid.

Mellor polished off a two-man break for the first Kimberley counter of the night. Rookie Andy Port scored on a three man scramble with second Kimberley goal when he pushed the puck between Gibson's pads after the Trail goalie had fallen to block the shot.

Dynamiter coach Norm Larson beat Gibson on a rolling shot from close in before the Smokies appeared back on the score sheet.

Rypien racing up from the faceoff at the blueline scored unassisted and then rookie Bobby Kiel, parked at the side of the net tripped home a three-way relay from Sinclair and Rypien.

Lineups:

Kimberley — Goal, Betker; defence, Jones, Sullivan; centre, B. Mellor; wings, Hockley, Kavanagh; subs, Tatchell, Craig, Port, R. Melor, Lilley, Bell, Campbell Larson.

Trail—Goal Gibson; defence, Hamilton, Sinclair; centre, Shabaga; wings, Young, Bursaw; subs, Rypien, Kiel, Paolone, Turik, Kromm, Cavanagh, Cook, Corrado, McCulley.

Referees—Wheatley, McLeod.

Summary:

First period—1, Trail Corrado (Cavanagh) 1:17; 2, Trail, Turik (Kromm Cavanagh) 12:09; 3, Trail, Young (Hamilton, Sinclair) 15:28; 5, Trail, Bursaw (Shabaga, Sinclair) 15:35. Penalty, Hockey.

Second period—6, Trail, Cavanagh (Turik, Corrado) 1:46; 7, Trail, Young (Sinclair) 3:32; 8, Kimberley, R. Mellor (Tatchell) 8:00; 9, Kimberley, Port (R. Mellor, Jones) 16:03; 10, Kimberley, Larson (Lilley, Campbell) 18:43; 11, Trail, Rypien 18:54; 12, Trail, Kiel (Rypien, Sinclair) 19:37. Penalties, Cavanagh, Craig, Corrado (2).

Third period—13, Trail, Rypien (Weil) 4:47; 14, Trail, Cavanagh (Turik, Kromm) 7:01; 15, Trail, Shabaga 11:32; 16, Trail, Cook (Rypien) 10:02. Penalties, Andres, Port.

Canucks Recall Frank Kuzma

TRAIL — Frank Kuzma, starry Trail Smoke Eater right winger, has been picked up on a Vancouver waiver which stipulates he may be recalled to the Western Hockey League club without notice.

The Canucks, at present leading the WHL standings, have suffered a three-game losing streak due to injuries.

Kuzma will be allowed to play three games in professional and still hold his amateur status.

Als Face Win-or-Die Game Against Ti-Cats

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — If psychology can be invoked to save Montreal Alouettes' skins, coach Doug (Peahead) Walker has the opportunity of a lifetime to out-freud anything this side of the spirit world.

Walker can do it by sending big Tex Coulter into Sunday's game against Hamilton's ferocious Tiger-Cats. It's a win-or-go-home game for the Als. The Ti-Cats chawed out a 37-12 victory in Hamilton last Wednesday and are favored to take the best-of-three series and enter the Grey Cup final.

Whether Walker will call on Coulter is problematical. The giant all-star tackle and power punter has been out of action a month recovering from a broken ankle. He has been going through light workouts the last few days.

PLAYOFF IN POINTS?

Walker might wait for an electrifying moment to trot out the big fellow, hoping the psychological payoff will be rich in points and also by a morale-lifter.

Even Coulter's appearance in uniform would have a salutary effect. On the other hand, his injection into the game would rate as a gamble. He might be long on kicking but he'd surely be short on condition.

Possibility of the use of Coulter —and guard Ray Cicia and end Jim Miller — brought this terse comment from Walker: "I don't know whether to suit up a man 50 per cent perfect or use reserves who are okay."

All the cripples were called on for a practice Friday, but whether Coulter and the other two have a hand in Alouettes' last chance stand may not be known definitely until shortly before game time.

The other psychological angles are being worn smooth by the hospital reports from each camp. There is consternation in Hamilton over the condition of Merle Hapes, Vitto Ragazzo, Bernie Custis, Vince Scott, Quincy Armstrong and the rugged Vince Mazza, practically a one-man line in himself.

Wild-eyed Alouette followers lost no time in proclaiming with something akin to pride that Montreal's list of lame and halt is bigger and better than Hamilton's.

16,000 Expected at Bomber-Beaches Game

WINNIPEG (CP)—Football players and fans alike are watching the sky here after a weatherman's warning there would be snow for this afternoon's football.

Some 16,000 fans are expected to crowd Winnipeg Stadium for the battle between the Western champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Toronto Balmy Beach, winners of the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union title. The sudden-death contest will decide the team to meet the winner of the Big Four game between Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Montreal Alouettes in the Grey Cup classic at Toronto, Nov. 28.

Thursday night, the weather office predicted temperatures in the high 30s, but no snow. The change came when a snowstorm blew up in Denver and then moved northward into Canada.

If it snows, stadium workmen will be on hand early today to roll back a new tarpaulin which has been covering the field for 10 days. Manager Johnny Peterson expects the turf to be in "real good shape" for the 1:15 p.m. kick-off.

Indications are that a heavy or slow field would be a boon to the underdog, but speedy, Beaches.

When told of the possible snow, coach Chuck Klein said:

"That's won't worry us too much. We're used to it. We've already played three of our four playoff games in rain or muck."

Bruins Shutout Black Hawks 2-0

CHICAGO (AP)—With his mother in the crowd, Boston Bruins' goalie Sugar Jim Henry shut out Chicago Black Hawks 2-0 Friday night in a National Hockey League game.

Mrs. Essie Henry of Winnipeg, visiting friends in Chicago, saw her son, a big-league veteran, play as a professional for the first time. It was Henry's third shutout of the season and his second against the last-place Hawks who now have lost eight and tied two of their last 11 games.

After a scoreless first period, in which the Hawks outshot the Bruins 11-10, Boston scored two goals within 42 seconds late in the second period.

Leo Labine, off assists by Warren Godfrey and Cal Gardner, connected at 14:55. At 15:37, rookie Doug Mohns took Hal Laycoe's pass near centre ice and swept in to beat Al Rollins from five feet out. The Bruins outshot Chicago 17-7 in the middle period.

With a two-goal lead, the Bruins went on the defensive.

Fred Sasakamoose, 19-year-old Cree Indian rookie centre from Moose Jaw, Sask., made his debut with the Chicago team.

Sedgman Wins Indoor Tourney

LONDON (AP)—Frank Sedgman of Australia, who turned professional less than a year ago, Friday night overwhelmed Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles 6-1, 6-2, 6-2 in the final of the international professional indoor tournament. Sedgman, who lost a professional tour to Jack Kramer in the United States after turning pro, never gave Gonzales a chance.

Strikes 'n' Spares

Tournament-style scores featured Mixed Commercial League bowling.

Leading the ladies was Dot Waterer with a single of 278 and Ollie Watson with an aggregate of 667. For the men it was veteran Clyde Mills with a 336 single and Len Woods with a 724 aggregate.

Also hitting the 700s were Butch Hamakawa, 721, and Dyne Macrae, 705.

Team honors went to Orange Crush with a 1211 single and 3196 aggregate.

TARP DOWN ON VARSITY STADIUM

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Rugby Union's now-famous tarpaulin has been laid down over Varsity Stadium field, scene of the Nov. 28 Grey Cup finals. The tarp went down late Thursday.

It will be removed today in time for the sudden-death Senior Intercollegiate Union final between Western Ontario Mustangs and University of Toronto Blues. The field will be smoothed out after the game and the tarp will go down again during the weekend.

Three college games will be played next week, the final on Thursday, Nov. 26, and the tarp will be removed only during the games.

Three-Team Juvenile League Set For New Season; Coaches Named

Three teams — Bears, Wolves and Elks—will form a new juvenile hockey league in Nelson this season.

Play starts next week in a practice game with the Bears matched against the Wolves and members of the Elks filling in as spares. The teams will be rotated the following week.

All three teams will enter scheduled competition as soon as more ice time is available. Eligible Notre Dame or Commercial League junior players wishing to play in the juvenile league have been asked to contact one of the three coaches or a committee member, and they will be assigned to a team. A rep team is to be chosen later.

Teams and coaches:

Wolves—Slim Porter, coach; B. Pearson, A. Dawson, B. Richardson, L. Kearns, B. Eckstrom, S. Seminoff, A. Ball, R. Skinner, B. Olson, D. Leslie, B. Bealby, D. Barrett and J. Ross.

Bears—George Crothers, coach; J. Duck, G. Lipsack, B. Reid, D. McRory, J. Vecchio, B. Roberts, B. Waters, E. Isakson, R. Mondini, G. Burgess, R. McKenzie and P. Spencer.

Elks—Neil McClenaghan, coach; A. Sherwood, B. Horswill, D. Caunt, W. DeFoe, B. Wilson, W. Marquis, P. Moran, B. Watson, B. Smith, W. Anderson, A. McClellan, J. Stedman and B. Maber.

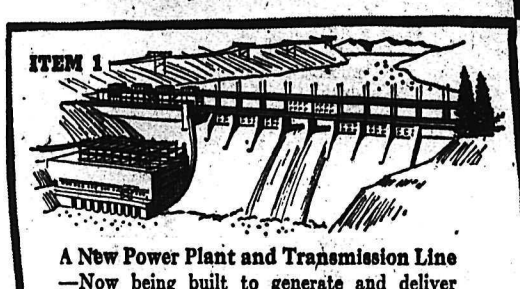
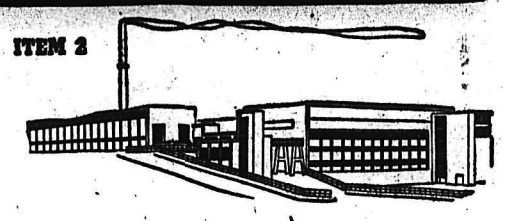
Expansion Announced
$70,000,000 Being Spent in New Development

TRAIL, B.C.—Another great step forward by this progressive British Columbia Company is shown by their latest development program of expansion in the Kootenays. This expenditure of seventy million dollars on increased power, modernization of the fertilizer plant, new mining development and a new zinc plant will increase employment at Trail, Kimberley and give greater efficiency.

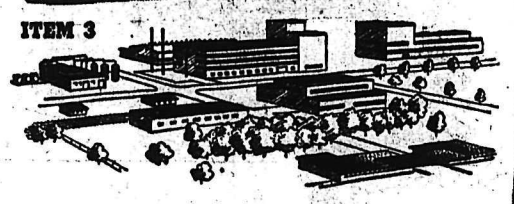
What does SEVENTY MILLION DOLLARS buy?

ITEM 1


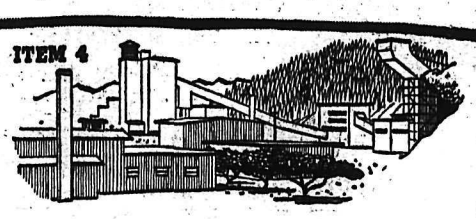
A New Power Plant and Transmission Line—Now being built to generate and deliver power to Cominco's huge plants at Trail. Will add initially 210,000 h.p. to B.C.'s growing power picture. Cost . . . $32,000,000.

ITEM 2


Plant Modernization—Major revision of large lead smelter using latest techniques to give high efficiency and better working conditions. Cost . . . $15,000,000.

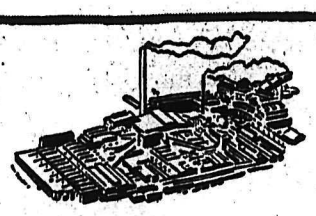
ITEM 3


A New Fertilizer Plant—Built at Kimberley, B.C., for production of 70,000 tons of chemical fertilizer yearly for the Canadian Prairies. Cost . . . $9,000,000.

ITEM 4


Four New Mines*—Developed in the last two years and three now in production making a substantial addition to B.C. mineral wealth. Cost . . . $9,000,000.

*Tulsequah Chief and Big Bull Mines in Northern B.C., the Bluebell and H.B. Mines in the Kootenays.

ITEM 5


New Zinc Plant Capacity—Output of refined zinc being increased by 66 tons daily. Cost . . . $3,200,000.

ITEM 6

A New Power Line—An 86-mile link between the East and West Kootenay districts, paving the way for greater industrial development in Eastern B.C. Cost . . . $2,850,000.

That's what $70,000,000 buys! A program made possible by profits put back into the business.

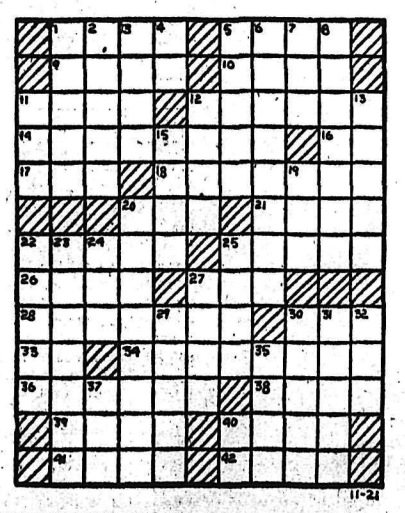
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

R I S V D O R I O O R L Z U V U K L A G T Z L
A T E R O R I M L D B I C L V. — E Z I C.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote—VAIN, VERY VAIN, MY WEARY SEARCH TO FIND THAT BLISS WHICH ONLY CENTRES IN THE MIND.—GOLDSMITH.

No Wedding for Bobby's Slayers

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The government Friday quickly spiked the possibility of a death house marriage for the condemned kidnap-killers of little Bobby Greenlease.

Carl Austin Hall, 34-year-old playboy, and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41-year-old alcoholic, sentenced Thursday to die Dec. 18 for their crime, both were quoted as saying they wanted to marry.

The justice department announced in Washington that such a marriage will not be permitted.

Both Hall and Mrs. Heady are divorced — the woman's marriage ending little more than a year ago. Their confessions, read at their trial this week, said they had been living together as man and wife since last June.

B. C. Corporation Shares Limited

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sale of a new issue of common shares of B.C. Corporation Ltd., parent company of B.C. Electric, will be restricted to residents of British Columbia, the company announced today.

The 150,000 shares to be offered, first voting stock to be sold to the public in more than 20 years, go on sale Monday. Price is $17.12½ each.

Money will be used for a construction and expansion program.

Want Music While They Serve

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's hotel owners want music for their beer parlor patrons and a better system of serving them "red eye."

In resolutions passed by the annual meeting of the B.C. Hotels' Association, the hotelmen recommended that "controlled mechanical music be allowed in public houses for the benefit and enjoyment of patrons."

Under present regulations, all forms of entertainment, including music, are prohibited.

Another resolution asked that beer parlors be allowed to serve a customer with one glass tomato juice with two glasses of beer.

Existing rules, which stipulate that patrons can be served a maximum of only two glasses at a time, mean that patrons must take one glass of tomato juice to one glass of beer, the hotelmen said. They said many customers did not want their "red eye" mixtures to contain 50 per cent tomato juice.

Market Trends

NEW YORK (AP) — Trading was mixed with attention focused on dividend news. Prices moved small fractions either way.

Canadian stocks were mixed. McIntyre was ahead one point and Distillers Seagram gained, Dome Mines fell, Canadian Pacific eased, and International Nickel and Hiram Walker were unchanged.

TORONTO (CP) — Prices mixed in light trading toward the close of session.

Industrials were lower. Western oils and golds were up, and base metals showed a nominal gain. Uraniums were mixed.

MONTREAL (CP)—Few changes appeared on the list. Trading was quiet.

LONDON (Reuters) — London generally gave a good account despite a rather poor start.

Hesitancy was largely overcome and with the possible exception of the industrial section markets took on a steadier note.

Crowd Honors B. C.'s 95th Birthday

FORT LANGLEY, B.C. (CP)—About 300 persons, including several who have resided in B.C. since before the turn of the century, gathered here Thursday to mark British Columbia's 95th birthday.

Prof. W. N. Sage of University of B.C. reviewed the history of the province since it was created by act of the British Parliament in 1858.

Alaska Newspaper Goes Into Color

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—The Fairbanks Daily News-Miner published a 128-page progress edition, printed in nine colors on a rotary press.

The edition was the "biggest newspaper ever published in Alaska and the first to be published in more than two colors," the News-Miner reported.

Western Rural Districts Need More Teachers

VANCOUVER (CP) — Rural areas in Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia continue to be plagued with a shortage of qualified teachers, delegates said Friday at the fifth annual western conference of the Canadian Teachers' Federation.

"We have a shortage of 500 teachers in rural sections of Manitoba," said Adrian Ashley, vice-president of the Manitoba Teachers' Society.

He emphasized, however, that few classrooms had been forced to close because of the shortage. Lars Olsen, president of the Alberta Teachers' Federation, said Alberta "is short at least 182 teachers with reports still not received from several areas."

PRINCE GEORGE AREA

M. V. Allester of Duncan, B. C., president of the B. C. Federation, said 27 out of 170 teachers in the Prince George area are teaching on non-permanent certificates. He gave no over-all figure for the province.

Dr. Myrtle Conway of Winnipeg, CTF past president, said teachers should instill in their pupils the knowledge that the teaching profession is interesting and a good job.

"The inspiration for school students and to go into teaching must come from the classroom," she said.

Want More for Pensioners

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Senior Citizens Association of B.C., Marpole branch, have passed a resolution protesting a proposed increase in the annual salary for federal members of parliament until the old age pension has been increased to $60. The present pension is $40 with an additional $10 payable by the B.C. government providing recipients qualify under a means test provision.

Remit Tax on nine Pentecostal Buses

VICTORIA (CP)—The provincial government has remitted the 1953 licence fees of nine Pentecostal Church Sunday school buses.

The concession, a departure in policy, was made under a section of the Revenue Act which permits remission of taxes when such payments would work a "great hardship to the public."

The section says the provincial cabinet can remit any tax when deemed "right and conducive to the public good."

Licence fees of each of the buses range from $80 to $110 and were remitted by order-in-council. The order noted the religious organization operate buses in connection with their church and Sunday school work free of charge "for the benefit of the public."

Claim Miracle Saves Crew Of Lost Expediter

CALGARY (CP)—Four suffering RCAF fliers who crashed in open country near Claresholm Monday night smiled from their hospital beds here because a "miracle" had allowed them to live.

"A miracle—that's all it was," said Flt.-Lt. H. Henn, of Victoria, B. C., pilot of the ill-fated Expediter that plummeted to earth in a blinding snow sotrm during a routine flight from Yorkton, Sask., to Claresholm.

There was no doubt in the minds of Flt.-Lt. Hen's crew, co-pilot F.O. A. Callegro, of Vancouver, B. C., FO. W. Holland, of Nelson, B. C., and FO. W. Walls, of Strathmore, Alta. —that the pilot had placed the credit for their escape from death where the credit was due.

LONGEST NIGHT

Their story of "the largest night in our lives"—a night of misery spent in the open when the four were denied even the meagre heat of a continuous camp fire, was told in short senences by the plane's pilot.

"I have no idea what happened said Henn. "We were flying along at about 4500 feet. We knew we weren't very far from Claresholm and we were already in radio talk with the control tower.

"Everything was going along on schedule and then suddenly we crashed. I can't understand what happened. The engines never cut out or anything like that.

"I guess I was more or less knocked unconscious in the crash."

Bonner Praises UBC Students

VANCOUVER (CP)—High praise for University of B.C. students was given by Attorney-General Robert W. Bonner before more than 200 UBC graduates when he addressed a joint dinner meeting of the UBC Convocation and the UBC Alumni Association. The minister of education said UBC students had given ample demonstration of their worth in the years following the war.

"The spirit which is advancing B.C. is never more evident than in the undergraduates of this university," he said. "They have constantly indicated their initiative."

Enrollment of UBC had nearly doubled in the last 10 years.

HINT TO BELLINGHAM

A UBC graduate himself, Mr. Bonner skipped over a recent student street riot and complaints of damage to a Bellingham hotel.

"I suggest the Convocation ad Alumni Association set up a sinking funds for future damages and bail costs," he said jokingly.

He said B.C. has $150,000,000 invested in education, and is investing another $41,000,000 annually. The government intended to increase the annual investment by $5,000,000 "for the next few years."

Gangsters Invade U.K. Movieland

IVER, England (Reuters) — A gang of safe-blasters made a getaway today under cover of early morning fog after snatching several thousand pounds pay money from J. Arthur Rank's Pinewood film studios.

Scotland Yard detectives were roused from bed to hunt through the spacious grounds and studios.

The studios, among the largest and most modern in Europe, are buzzing these days with three movies in production.

The stolen funds had been brought from a bank Thursday to pay the staff.

Residents Triumph

HORSESHOE BAY, B.C. (CP)—No further consideration of the application for extension of foreshore rights here by Black Ball Ferries Ltd. will be given by the provincial lands and forests department.

R. E. Burns, land superintendent for the department, said in a letter that because of residents' protests, extensions would not be considered unless further representations were received from the company.

To Close Doors

VANCOUVER (CP)—Blackburn's market, a landmark in downtown Vancouver for 22 years, will close its doors New Year's Eve for the last time. The Robson Street site of the farmers' produce market will be used for a service station.

TO ASK OTTAWA TO PROVIDE COUNCIL FOR B.C. INDIANS

VICTORIA (CP)—The federal government will be asked to provide legal counsel for all native Indians on all major criminal charges.

An order-in-council approved by the British Columbia cabinet this week asks the provincial advisory committee on Indian affairs to take up the matter with the Indian affairs branch in Ottawa.

The order said there is no definite, consistent policy on the matter.

Lots of Gas in B.C.—Bennett

VICTORIA (CP) — There is enough natural gas in British Columbia's northern Peace River district to supply all possible markets in the northwestern United States as well as in Canada, says Premier Bennett.

The premier issued a statement in the hope of influencing a decision by the U.S. federal power commission and to spike "persistent rumors which have been circulating across the country in regard to the natural gas pipeline."

Mr. Bennett was referring to the proposed West Coast Transmission Co. natural gas pipeline which would extend from north of Edmonton to Vancouver and would be fed in part by a feeder line running south from Dawson Creek in the B.C. Peace River country.

AWAITS DECISION

The company is awaiting a decision on its application for permission to pipe gas into the Pacific northwest states. It would start construction soon after such permission was received.

The premier said latest figures show B.C. has 2.2 trillion cubic feet of proven gas reserves—compared to 1.5 trillion in Alberta.

"These figures show a considerable increase from earlier figures," he said. "The northwest states can rest assured they will receive fair treatment when the pipeline is constructed. We have enough gas to take care of all possible markets."

To Build Prison Farm Near Haney

VICTORIA (CP)—A new B.C. prison farm is to be built on a 22-acre site at Haney in the Fraser Valley.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi said in a joint statement today the new farm, to cost several million dollars, will have facilities for 400 prisoners.

Construction will begin as soon as plans are finished.

The farm will be primarily a rehabilitation centre and not for detention.

"It will embody every modern feature necessary for advanced penal reform," the attorney-general said.

Error in Calculation

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP)—Partly empty fuel bins and lower temperatures are worrying this northern B.C. centre's 1800 residents. Fuel dealers said Friday large numbers of resident held off laying in a winter supply of fuel in expectation natural gas service would be available. However, the gas service now is not expected to be hooked up for several weeks.

If Canada today needs a deep seaway from Atlantic to Lakehead, Canada of the future fairly shouts for it.

According to current estimates, Canada will by 1980 have 25,000,000 people compared with today's 15,000,000, and a production of $85,000,000,000 compared with today's $24,000,000,000.

If these estimates are borne out she will be scrambling in the next quarter century to keep up with the needs of her already-strained transportation system.

A deep seaway is part of the proposed St. Lawrence seaway and power project. In its power phase, the project would include development of 2,500,000 horsepower of electricity in the 47-mile international rapids section of the St. Lawrence River between Prescott and Cornwall.

DEEPER CANALS

In its seaway phase, it would consist principally of building 27-foot canals in the 115 miles of river from Prescott to Montreal, to replace the present 14-foot canals.

These shallow passages allow only small ships of about 2500 tons deadweight capacity. The penalty today is transshipment of cargoes from large ships into small ones with consequent increased costs.

In the past, some parts of Canada opposed the seaway with the argument that it would take from one part of the country and give to another; that there was one national pot with just so much in it, and the more one section got out of it, the less another section could get.

Even today objections remain, but the bulk of opinion seems to have swung to the view that the Canadian pot is a growing one which promises bigger helpings for almost everyone.

It is the sort of thinking expressed by Donald Gordon, president of Canadian National Railways, when he said "Whatever tends to open up Canada and help it grow is good for this railroad" —indicating presumably that what the railways may lose to the seaway in one respect they will gain in another.

CHEAPER CARGOES?

Seaway economists estimate that 5 cents a bushel will be saved on the cost of grain shipments to Montreal when the big lakers can go right through; and perhaps another cent through elimination of lake transshipment cost. Further, in the words of G. G. McLeod, department of transport economist:

"Since upbound cargoes promise to outweigh the down—just the opposite of today—competition for downbound grain cargoes should lower rates to give them the greater part of the benefit."

Mr. McLeod says, too, that British Columbia lumber may find the seaway a lower-cost route into central Canada.

Capacity of the present 14-foot canals between Lake Ontario and Montreal is about 10,000 tons a year. Estimated capacity of the 27-foot canals would be about 50,000 tons, and it is proposed to build them so that capacity can be doubled to 100,000,000 tons, and so they can be deepened to 30 feet if desired.

From where will such tonnages come?

As one item, Labrador Iron Ore Company, scheduled to come into production next year, says the seaway would allow it to ship 20,000,000 tons of ore a year instead of the 10,000,000 tons to which it feels present facilities limit it; and the bigger figure is by no means regarded as a ceiling.

As already indicated, a larger movement of grain is another expected item.

Probably the biggest factor, however, is Canada's expected growth.

It is this which promises bigger helping from a bigger pot.

National Flag For Australia

CANBERRA (Reuters)—A bill proclaiming the Australian blue ensign as the national flag—first such legislation in the British Commonwealth—was introduced Friday in the House of Representatives by Prime Minister Robert Menzies.

Menzies called the bill largely a formal measure to give legislative effect to what has already become established practice in Australia.

The measure is expected to be reserved for the Queen's personal assent when she visits Australia early in the new year.

The bill reserves the right of any person to fly the Union Jack in Australia.

The blue ensign was picked in a competition for a national flag in 1901, shortly after the Commonwealth of Australia was inaugurated. The Union Jack is in the corner, as in Canada's red ensign, and the stellar constellation, the Southern Cross, is on the blue background.
