POWs SCREAM REJECTION . . .

Explanation Experts Make Little Headway

490 of 500 Interviewed Return To UN Custody After "Explanation"

first Chinese prisoners interviewed by the Reds Thursday chose the United Nations in a screaming, face-to-face repudiation of Communism.

Of the first 500 who reluctantly went to the explanation booths—after Indian troops had threatened to drag them there—only 10 walked through the door carefully pointed out to them as the one leading back to Red rule.

The other 490 walked through the door back to UN custody after shouting insults at the sweating and embarrassed Red persuasion experts.

One Chinese, left alone for five minutes to make his decision, was still there when everybody came back. He said he was too afraid he might go out the wrong door—the one back to Communism.

"Do you ever think of your family?" was the first question asked.

"Yes," shrieked one prisoner. "They were all killed by the Communists."

The Reds get the chance to try it again today with 1000 more of their former soldiers—at least 500 of them North Koreans.

If Thursday's proportion of two per cent should hold for all the 22,400 Chinese and North Korean prisoners, the Reds will get back only between 400 and 500 of the men they claim have been held against their will be the United Nations.

It was too early to make any solid predictions. The rules of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission give the Reds almost unlimited opportunity to call prisoners back for repeated questioning.

The long-awaited explanations started at 3:12 p.m. Thursday after the 5000 neutral Indian guard troops barely averted mass riot.

Questioning was to have opened at 8 a.m. The nervous Chinese, fearing Communist trickery, staged a sitdown strike when the Indians started to move them out. Finally, with a combination of threats, explanations and persuasion, the Indians got the Chinese moving.

Each prisoner was led by Indian guards to the dirty gray tent to make one of the biggest decisions of his life. Inside sat 10 men.

THREE EXPLAINERS

Three were Red explainers, five were representatives of the neutral commission—one Swiss, one Swede, one Pole, one Czech, and one Indian. Two were the rival observers, Communist and United Nations.

"Don't you want to go back to your home, your family?" the young Chinese Red "persuader" would begin. "Don't be cheated by the United Nations . . . Now is the time you save yourself. It is not too late to make the right choice. Father Mao Mao Tze-tung, top Chinese Communist wants you back."

Some prisoners answered with obscenities.

Some screamed "yes, we want to go home! We'll land on the beaches soon and kill you all!"

CHOOSE DOOR

At the end, a calm Indian voice would explain patiently to each Chinese that everyone would leave the tent except him. Then, if he wanted to go home, he should walk out of that door, and if he wanted to stay with the UN he should walk out of this door. In solitude, the prisoner made his decision—in most cases going out of "this" door. The 10 who walked out "that" door were handed over to the Reds Thursday night.

The Red talkers gave up easily in many cases. There were no reports that any tried improper or unduly intense "explaining."

Forgotten men in the bustle were 23 Americans, one Briton, and 335 South Koreans represented by the Reds as electing to stay behind the Bamboo Curtain. The UN has said repeatedly it is in no hurry to do its own explaining which physically could be done in a single day if necessary.

SOVIET WANTS SAY IN TRIESTE

Vishinsky Charges Violation Italian Peace Treaty

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Chief Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky served notice Thursday that Russia never will agree to a Trieste settlement reached without Moscow's participation.

He gave this blunt warning to the United Nations Security Council at the end of a 40-minute speech in which he charged that Britain and the United States violated the Italian peace treaty by deciding to turn over the administration of the Anglo-American zone A to the Italians.

Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., chief U. S. delegate, touched off fireworks in the council by charging that the Russians brought up the Trieste issue only to make trouble and spread propaganda.

Vishinsky angrily lashed back that Trieste long had been on the council agenda and was no new problem in that body. He charged that the West had nominated persons to be governor of Trieste but had repudiated them as soon as the Russians approved them.

"It seems our approval is a taboo or a plague," Vishinsky said.

Vishinsky raised the Trieste issue, long dormant in the Security Council, as the foreign ministers of Britain, the United States and France prepared for a meeting this weekend in London. Trieste is high on the list of problems facing the Big Three and Vishinsky put at the top of that pile his warning that Russia will not countenance any unilateral action on Trieste reached by Britain, the United States, France, Italy or Yugoslavia. This was a reference to a proposal by President Tito that the problem be considered at a conference.

Vishinsky called on the council instead to approve a Soviet resolution which provides for internationalizing the Trieste territory under a Swiss governor, Col. Hermann Fluckiger. He said this was the only way to assure lasting peace in the troubled Adriatic zone.

Careless Motorists' Rates Higher

Kimberley Fertilizer Plant Starts Production

NEW KIMBERLEY FERTILIZER DEPARTMENT of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, a $9,000,000 project which has taken two years to build and is one of the most up-to-date chemical plants in Canada, is pictured from the air. Startup of the operation was announced Thursday. It is designed to produce about 190 tons of ammonium phosphate per day. Beyond the plant is the huge pond where iron sulphide from Cominco's Sullivan Concentrator is stockpiled. Accident Free Drivers' Insurance Rates Normal

VANCOUVER (CP)—A new automobile insurance rate structure with stepped-up levies against accident-prone and irresponsible drivers will go into effect in British Columbia Nov. 1, insurance underwriters announced Thursday.

Under the new plan, a motorist with two or more traffic convictions on his record may be charged two or three times as much as an accident-free driver for the same amount of insurance protection.

Impaired, drunken or reckless driving convictions will bring a 100 per cent jump in premiums.

The rate increases concern only public liability and property damage coverage. Collision, fire and theft coverage is not involved.

The new rate structure is incorporated in changes in the assigned risk plan under which the 150 companies writing car insurance in B.C. share the burden of providing coverage to motorists considered poor insurance risks.

The plan, which affects some 10,000 motorists in B.C., was outlined to underwriters here Wednesday by K. F. V. Malthouse, manager of the B.C. Assigned Risk Plan, and made public Thursday.

Motorists considered good insurance risks by the companies may obtain from any company desired the public liability and property damage coverage mandatory under B.C. traffic regulations.

Applications from motorists considered poor risks are dealt with under the assigned risk plan which classifies motorists in two groups—those who have not been convicted of major traffic violations in the previous three years and those who have.

The applications are spread among the 150 companies on a prorata basis.

Motorists with a three-year clean record will obtain insurance coverage at normal rates.

Cancellation HIS Arrears Draws Opposition Fire

VICTORIA (CP)—Members of the opposition in the Legislature Thursday charged the government with "putting a premium on law-breaking" and "validating wrong-doing", by cancelling arrears in B.C. hospital insurance premiums.

The House was considering a bill that would amend the Hospital Insurance act to, among other things, cancel the arrears the government had "suspended" in May. It would also allow the government to cancel any subsequent arrears.

Members finally gave the bill second reading approval in principle.

Bob Strachan (CCF, Cowichan-Newcastle) said the government was introducing the bill to make an honest woman out of the BCHIS."

He said the government had left the impression that it had cancelled arrears last May instead of just suspending them. This was government "by press release."

Health Minister Eric Martin said the persons who owed arrears were mostly people who could not make payments. He also said the cancellation would place the insurance service on a sound basis.

But opposition members denied this and said a large percentage of those owing arrears were able to pay.

They demanded that the hospital insurance service be amended to give a break to persons in the low-income brackets.

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing said the bill was a "bill to validate wrong doing."

Randolph Harding (CCF, Kaslo-Slocan) said if the government was going to force 75 per cent of the people to pay through payroll deductions then the other 25 per cent should be forced to pay. Otherwise, he said, the government should take complete responsibility for the debts accrued through non-payment by patients not insured under the hospital insurance scheme.

Mr. Laing said the about $2,000,000 lost through cancellation of arrears belonged to the people.

Mr. Martin said that since the suspension of arrears last May there had been 20,875 additional registrations of which 11,962 were family heads and 8,914 were single.

The House also gave second reading to a bill that will allow appointment of two more justices to the B.C. Appeal Court. At present there are five.

The bill to legalize the Doukhobor "bread-and-salt" marriage was slightly amended and given third and final reading.

$50,000 GOLD STOLEN

NEW YORK (AP)—A shipment of gold bullion valued at $50,000 was stolen Thursday from an Idlewild airport cargo warehouse. The gold was consigned to the American Smelting and Refining Co., Perth Amboy, N.J., by the New York and El Salvador Mining Co.

Guiana Strike Picture Brighter

GEORGETOWN (CP)—British Guiana sugar producers said a "slight improvement" on their strike-bound plantations Thursday as more leftist-led workers came back to their jobs.

Sugar refineries also reported more action, with one resuming full-time operations. Eleven are on partial operation anad two are completely stopped.

There is still no estimate of the exact number of laborers who have answered the strike call on the People's progressive Party to protest Britain's actions in turning out the colony's left-wing government, suspending its constitution and moving in troops.

PPP leaders spent the day trying to rally support and sympathy abroad.

BELIEVE THUGS GOT RANSOM MONEY

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The police officer whose work led to a solution of the Greenlease kidnap-slaying case expressed belief Thursday St. Louis hoodlums have the missing $300,000 in ransom money.

Lieut. Louis Shoulders said he is convinced the money was taken the night of Oct. 5 from a motel just west of St. Louis where Carl Austin Hall, the confessed killer of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease, spent the night.

The officer said it is almost certain that persons other than Hall, Sandra O'Day and taxi driver John Hager were present in Hall's motel room that night.

Pipeline Terminal Plaque Unveiled

By GEORGE FINLAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — A simple plaque, marked "Burnaby terminal" was unveiled Thursday, on completion of the $97,000,000 Trans Mountain oil pipeline from Edmonton to Vancouver.

Oilmen from the United States and Canada were present at the unveiling ceremony at the suburban Burnaby tank farm terminal, eight miles east of Vancouver.

But no oil flowed through the 24-inch pipeline designed to carry the black gold from Alberta at the rate of 1½-miles an hour. A leak near the Alberta - British Columbia boundary halted plans to put the line "on steam." Welders worked throughout the day on the break and the first oil is expected to move into the big Burnaby tanks late today.

The plaque has a carved picture of the pipeline as it snakes its way across the Rockies, and bears the colorful T-M emblem of Trans Mountain Pipe Line Company, operators of the line built by Canadian Bechtel Limited under the supervision of S. D. Bechtel.

Mr. Bechtel and R. L. Bridges of San Francisco, retiring president of Trans Mountain, unveiled the plaque as the new president J. Grant Spratt of Calgary watched the ceremony.

Dulles in London for Big Three Conference

By STANLEY PRIDDLE

LONDON (Reuters)—State Secretary John Foster Dulles arrived here Thursday night for a crucial big three conference aimed at easing world tension "caused by the menace of war."

At the same time, Dulles told newspaper men at the airport that his talks opening today with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault will not produce "any magic formula for peace."

Before hurrying off for dinner with Prime Minister Churchill and Eden at 10 Downing Street, Dulles expressed his happiness that both Britons who were ill through the summer are again "playing their full and always distinguished part in world affairs."

In a prepared statement, he said: "I am confident that this coming exchange of views among three friends will advance the cause of world-wide peace and justice."

There will be no shortage at the two-day conference of "complicated situations" mentioned by Dulles. High on the list is the incendiary situation in Trieste as a result of the Anglo-American decision a week ago to hand over their occupied zone to Italy.

The three foreign ministers will weigh the seriousness of Yugoslavia's threat to open hostilities the minute Italian troops move into this zone next month. They will discuss President Tito's proposal to hold four-nation talks before the hand-over decision is implemented.

BIG FOUR MEETING

Russia, which has urged United Nations security council intervention in the Trieste issue, figures in virtually every topic to come under review here in the next two days. The three Western ministers will study Soviet intentions in Korea, Indo-China, the Middle East and Europe.

Canada Due For Prosperous Era

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada is on the threshold of an era of unparalleled prosperity, Gen. Lucius Clay, former military governor of the United States zone of Germany, said here Thursday.

"Canada is forging ahead at an astounding rate," he told a large audience in suburban Burnaby as he officially opened the new $2,000,000 plant of the Continental Can Co. He is chairman of the board of the company.

Gen. Clay said Canada had reached "the eminence of fourth place among the trading nations of the world, and there appears no limit to your horizons."

Churchill Wins Nobel Prize

By KAI MYRING

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill, the greatest phrase-maker of his time, won the Nobel Prize for literature Thursday, but he disclosed that he still thinks Kipling and Shaw were better writers.

The Swedish Academy, which awards the prize annually under the will of dynamite-maker Alfred Nobel, voted it to Churchill as both author and orator. It cited his "mastery in historical and biographical writing, and the brilliant art of oratory with which he has stepped forth as a defender of high human values."

The award carries with it a prize of $33,840. The 78-year-old prime minister, he has been writing books for 55 years, received the news officially in London from Swedish ambassador Gunnard Hagglof.

"I am very proud indeed to receive an honor which is international," Churchill said. "I have received several honors which are national, but this is the first time that I have received one which is international in its character. It is a literary distinction, and I am particularly proud of that."

Report from Victoria

BY JAMES K. NESBITT

VICTORIA — It's all smooth sailing where the new Liquor Act is concerned.

The government never expected to have it so good!

On second reading, one after another, the oppositionists got up and praised the government for such a fine Act.

They all had their own ideas, of course, how best the new act could be made to work, but all agreed that, in principle, the new act should do much to outlaw the disgraceful drinking habits that have grown widespread in B.C.

For weeks MLA's had expressed great sorrow for Attorney-General Bonner, because he was faced with the responsibility of bringing in the new act. Poor Mr. Bonner, wailed everyone—he has an awful job on his hands. Nobody wanted to be in poor Mr. Bonner's shoes.

There were those who were suspicious that these were crocodile tears, and that when the act finally reached the floor of the House Mr. Bonner might get kicked around.

CO-OPERATION

But, no, they weren't crocodile tears! When the liquor bill was discussed, everyone pledged co-operation, determination to help make it work out in the best interests of all the people.

MLA's forgot politics, as they discussed liquor, there was no sparring for position, no wisecracks about booze. Everyone was deadly serious, realizing that liquor is a tremendous problem, a great social problem and it is up to the province's highest law-makers to do their level best to encourage moderation in drinking.

Yes, you'd have been proud of your MLA's if you could have seen them put their shoulders to the wheel in a sincere effort to do their best for the people and the province.

Session Expected To End Saturday

VICTORIA (CP)—British Columbia's 24th legislature is expected to be prorogued Saturday, ending the first session of a majority Social Credit government in the province.

It was learned Thursday that the government hopes that all new legislation will have been approved by the legislature Friday night and that Lt.-Gov. Clarence Wallace will be able to give his approval to the bills Saturday morning.

The House will be recessed Friday so members may attend the funeral of Education Minister Mrs. Tilly Rolston in Vancouver.

If the legislature prorogues Saturday it will have been in session for five weeks and four days.

Cabbie Prevents Suicide, Loses Fare

VANCOUVER (CP)—Taxi driver Gerald McRae prevented his fare from leaping from Lions Gate bridge Thursday, but he's still out $15 the man owed him.

McRae told police the man had hired him to drive around Stanley Park while the fare consumed a case of beer, then told him to proceed to a West Vancouver address. In the middle of the span, the passenger told McRae to stop the car, then got out.

"The next time I saw him, he had one of his legs hanging over the side of the bridge."

The cabbie hustled his erstwhile fare back into the car and drove to the bridge toll gate, where the man was turned over to police. It was the second suicide attempt on the bridge in two days.

Immigration Ruling May Split Up Family of Five

MONTREAL (CP)—The plight of a family of five, which may become separated in three countries, was related Wednesday in Superior Court.

Attorney John M. Schlesinger, seeking a writ of habeas corpus, told Mr. Justice Andre Demers that under the ruling of a board of inquiry of the immigration department the family would have no hope of reunion.

He said the board's decision will have these consequences: the American-born mother and her American-born son will have to live in the United States; the father and his Austrian-born son will have to return to Austria; the couples Canadian-born son, 2½ years old, will have to live in Canada.

FOUGHT THE RUSSIANS

The family is that of Paul Walter Glazer, 34; Mrs. Glazer, 28; Austrian-born Tony, 7; U.S.-born Richard, 10, and Canadian-born Gary, 2½.

In seeking habeas corpus proceedings and invalidation of the board's ruling, Mr. Schlesinger gave this history of the Glazer family:

Glazer fought against the Russians in the Second World War and after the liberation of Austria was stationed in the Eastern zone of Vienna. He was then employed by the U.S. army as an interpreter.

Suddenly he was whisked away by the Russian police without explanation. After six weeks in Russia he was released. Some time later he met the woman he married. She was working in U.S. offices in Vienna and had a child, American-born, by a previous marriage. The family came to Canada in 1950, believing it would be dangerous for Glazer to remain in Austria. The family was given a temporary permit to remain here. Glazer found a good job; his wife stayed home looking after the children.

ORDER MADE FINAL

A few months ago, said Mr. Schlesinger, the board of inquiry gave its deportation decision. Representations were made to the immigration department and extensions were periodically granted. Later the deportation order was made final. The attorney said the department gave no reason for the order.

Rev. S. C. McBride of Ephriam Scott Memorial Church testified the Glazers were regular church-goers and he considers them a model family. He offered to go bond for them so they could remain in Canada.

Mr. Justice Demers said he was impressed and suggested Mr. McBride accompany Mr. Schlesinger to Ottawa to see the minister of immigration.

CITIZENSHIP CLAIM

"I am not suggesting this as a judge but really off the record," he added in taking the case under adavisement.

It was stated during the hearing that Glazer has applied for citizenship papers, but the application cannot be seriously considered because he is not officially "a landed immigrant."

Mr. Schlesinger said he will accompany Mr. McBride to Ottawa next week.

Geologist to Testify In Whatshan Inquiry

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Karl Terzaghi, geologist, will be brought here next month to testify at a Royal Commission inquiry into the Whatshan power plant slide, commission counsel said today.

C. W. Tysoe, conducting the hearing for the crown before Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne, made the announcement as the commission prepared to move today to Lower Arrow lake, in the West Kootenay valley, scene of the Aug. 11 and 16 mud slides which crippled the huge power development.

Mr. Tysoe described Dr. Terzaghi as "one of the world's foremost soil experts. He will report on an investigation he made of the B.C. Power Commission's hydro-electric plant after the slides had struck it.

With the commission in the interior will go lawyers, court officials and newspaper men.

AUCKLAND (AP)—Vice-president Richard Nixon was standing on the veranda of the Maori king's palace when a buxom, tatooed woman walked in front of him, stared, then leaned forward and solemnly rubbed noses with him.

Nixon smiled and rubbed back. That made it official.

The Maoris, descendants of the original settlers of New Zealand, staged the traditional ceremony at Ngaruawahia, a Maori village 34 miles south of Auckland.

The nose-rubbing ceremony was repeated by six Maori women with the U.S. vice-president and Mrs. Nixon as well.

Earlier, Nixon inspected one of New Zealand's rich dairy farms.

The two side trips highlighted the end of a three-day visit to the first country of Nixon's 16-country tour. Australia is the next stop.

LONDON (Reuters)—Dr. C. H. Andrews' voice was husky when he told a television audience about his battle as a top British expert against the common cold.

"I've got a bit of a cold myself," he confessed.

CANBERRA (AP)—Australian troops in Korea complain they are getting too much chicken, turkey, veal and ham in their United States rations, Army minister Josiah Francis said Tuesday.

He said they want more red meat but it is not possible to make separate arrangements with the U.S. forces.

This is the only complaint against the food, which is the best ever eaten by Australian troops in a war zone, he added.

SINGAPORE (AP)—Women members of the RAF waxed indignant Tuesday because their superiors banned them from visiting Singapore tattoo parlors.

The 150 WRAFS in the Far East command headquarters here thought it a great joke when the story got around that one of them had become a tattooed lady.

But they frowned after reading Tuesday's order.

One complained: "Airmen may be tattooed if they want to, so why not us? It's discrimination. Besides, the girl who was tattooed had only a little artistry done."

Jail Sentences Given Couple in Baby's Death

A Creston Indian couple was convicted on a charge of manslaughter by an assize court jury Thursday. The jury deliberated for almost an hour before bringing in a guilty verdict. They asked Mr. Justice A. M. Manson for leniency in sentencing the woman, Mrs. Mary Basil. Her husband, Isaac Basil, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and the woman was given one year in Oakalla.

The couple was charged with manslaughter in the death of their 10-month-old infant son. Judge Manson, before passing sentence, said the charge was a grievous one. "Drunkenness is not an excuse in law and in the case of the two of you, you were on a spree of drinking that lasted several days."

Mrs. Basil burst into tears when the Judge directed his address at her. "You, as a mother," he said, "should have taken your kiddies and gotten away from the drinking party." She sobbed quietly while he told her he was "sorry" for them both.

An RCMP dogmaster told the jury his service dog Wolf found the body of the Creston Indian baby in dense grass near the Creston village dump.

The young couple conducted their own defence. D. T. Wetmore of Trail and E. McGauley represented the crown.

The baby, Ronald George Basil, missing since August 1, was found on the morning of August 7, one day after the child's absence was reported to RCMP. When discovered by Corporal S. A. Rammage and the police dog, the baby was lying face down on a marshy field just outside the dump, clad only in a soiled white T-shirt. The babe was lying some 450 feet from where a "drinking orgy" was carried on for more than three days.

Dr. V. L. Smith, who conducted an autopsy, testified that the infant had been dead for "three or four days at least." Dr. Smith said death was due to exposure—lack of normal things to sustain life such as proper temperature, food, drink and cleanliness.

DRINKING SPREE

In a statement made to police by Mrs. Basil and ruled admissable evidence by His Lordship at Thursday's trial, Mrs. Basil told of a drinking spree in the Creston dump area on August 1, the last time she saw her infant son.

With Anastasia Basil, sister of Isaac, and their two children, the infant and a three-year-old son, Lloyd, they arrived in Creston from Bonner's Ferry in Alex Andrew's car. They stopped at Creston, the statement said, bought liquor and drove to the dump. There they consumed two cases of beer. They went to the Indian Mission and returned to the dump with a fifth person added to the party, Joe Seymore.

"I started getting drunk and don't remember seeing anybody leave," Mrs. Basil said in the statement.

"I remember Isaac holding the baby outside the car and asking for more beer. I got two, one for him and one for myself. I guess I passed out then. The next thing I remember I was back in the car and had the baby asleep on the seat beside me. Ike (her husband) and Andrew were on the outside of the car." Anastasia and Lloyd were in the car with her, her statement continued. "The next thing I remember was standing at the back of the car and had the baby in my arms. A car came down the road and I guess I flagged it down. There was a woman driving it. I told her we were all drunk. I put the baby on the seat of the car. I don't remember when the car left or whether I took the baby out."

She said in the statement that she could remember nothing "till I woke up the next morning. It was just getting daylight and I was lying on the road by the dump." She told of walking aimlessly about Creston and the dump. Monday night she spent in an abandoned car behind a Creston cafe.

"Tuesday morning I went to the station to go to Wynndel on the train," her statement continued, "and my mother saw me there. They said they were looking for me and the baby." ("They" were her husband, Andrew, and her mother.) "I told them the baby was with Isaac's mother and they said the baby wasn't there." We all went down to the dump and looked for the baby. After going to the dump we went to the mission and asked the Indians there if they had seen the baby. We came back to the dump and started all over. We went to Wynndel that night (Tuesday) and on Wednesday we searched around the dump again." She also stated that they checked at the Creston Valley hospital.

Thursday morning "we searched all around the dump again. Then I told my mother to tell the police."

Isaac Basil's story to RCMP corroborated Mary's statement up to the time they separated Saturday, Aug. 1, circumstances of which neither could recall.

Alexander Andrew of Bonner's Ferry told the same story of events leading up to the drinking spree in the Creston dump Aug. 1.

Anastasia Basil told the court "Mary had the baby and Isaac was trying to take it." (This allegedly took place at the dump on Aug. 1.) "He struck Mary once. Ike had the baby after that." When Anastasia left the dump she took Lloyd with her to her mother's home. Charlotte Basil and Mary Michel, mother of the defendant, Mary Basil, also gave evidence.

Cpl. N. E. Elphick and Constable D. Poole said that the first they heard of the missing child was Aug. 6 when Mrs. Michele reported the missing infant.

The jury is composed of C. F. Blakeman, foreman; Leslie P. Bond, Jack D. Lewis and A. J. Romano of Nelson; F. M. Turik and Walter Davis of Trail; A. J. Popplewell and Arthur J. Lees of Rossland; Eric Ira Box and Donald McDonald of South Slocan; Joseph A. May of Montrose, and Peter Harder of Kinnaird.

Trail Chamber Tackles Dental Problem at Meet

TRAIL—A uniform plan of preventative care is the proper solution for better teeth, Dr. Andrew F. Balkany, director of the West Kootenay health unit, told the Chamber of Commerce Thursday night.

He emphasized the need for proper care of the teeth, starting at an early age. He pointed out that 72 per cent spend nothing on teeth while family units in income groups of under $1500 spent an average of $2.50. This, he thought, was not a healthy state of affairs. Diet, fluoridation and long range planning of prevention were essential.

Dr. D. A. Sinclair, chairman of the health committee, who introduced the speaker, submitted four separate recommendations, each of which was discussed and approved by the Chamber.

Recommendation of a dental service plan for grade one and preschool children was made. A second resolution recommended the development of a publicity campaign to educate the public on the merits of fluoridization of drinking water. Trail water tested .05 about one-twentieth of the amount necessary to properly reduce tooth decay.

The Chamber went on record as endorsing the need for a new and adequate respirator for poliomyelitis for the Trail-Tadanac Hospital. It was pointed out that definite need existed for up-to-date equipment of this nature. A recommendation was passed that government funds be provided for out of the next budget for a dental faculty at UBC. It was pointed out that there is an acute shortage of dentists and the population is increasing by 45,000 a year.

The Trail Chamber endorsed a resolution approving a merger of the Trail Merchants' Association as a section of the Chamber. The resolution, drawn up by both organizations, will be presented to the TMA at its next regular meeting.

J. V. Rogers, past president, and E. H. Gautschi, president, will be delegates to the provincial Chamber convention on Oct. 26.

Whatshan Units Sent East

CASTLEGAR — Two wrecked electrical transformers from the Whatshan power plant which was devastated a few weeks ago by two mud slides, were loaded onto railway cars at Castlegar Tuesday and Wednesday to be taken to Toronto for rebuilding.

The mudpacked, 35-ton units were dug out of the mud at Whatshan, loaded onto a CPR barge and ferried down the lake by the tug "The Widget" to Castlegar. A truck took them from the landing near the Castlegar ferry to the CPR track where a crane loaded them on flatcars.

General Construction Company handled the removal project and also were in charge of bringing in the three new transformers which were unloaded from the train at West Robson and taken up the lake by boat to Whatshan two weeks ago.

SCOUT LEADER VISITS KIMBERLEY

KIMBERLEY — R. K. Jordan, provincial executive Scout commissioner, this month visited Kimberley, addressing leaders and the executive. He stated that a training course will be held here in November.

Mr. Jordan presented first class Scout Ray Turner with his Queen's Scout badge. Tommy Meddlicott received his silver arrowhead badge on completion of an advanced course for patrol leaders. Scouter warrants were presented to Cubmasters H. Van Wyck, J. Martin and G. Williams.

Fruitvale Union Opens New Home

FRUITVALE — Thursday was a big day in the history of the Fruitvale Progressive Credit Union. As well as commemorating Credit Union they officially opened their new office building. They are the only group in the West Kootenay Chapter of Credit Unions to own their own building.

Of frame construction, the building is 22 feet by 18 feet and is insulated. Carpenter on the building was Joel Walgren. It has two rooms, one for use by the manager while the secretary is busy with clients.

The Fruitvale Credit Union was formed ten years ago in March, 1943 and had a membership of 15. President was Harry Patterson and secretary-treasurer was first Fred Haines, Mrs. J. DeBruyn and finally John Wood, who kept the post till last year. Present membership is over 390, close to 400, and of these over a 100 are children's accounts. President president is Cam Weir of Beaver Falls and secretary is William Pratt. Vice-president is Dennis Miller.

The local Union plans an open house to view their new home.

To Produce 190 Tons Of Phosphate a Day

Chemical fertilizer for Canadian crops holds the spotlight at Kimberley, B.C. The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada Limited has announced the start-up of its newest operation, the Kimberley Fertilizer Department, designed to produce about 190 tons of ammonium phosphate per day.

The $9,000,000 project has taken two years to build and is one of the most up-to-date chemical plants in Canada.

The planning stages were handled by Cominco engineers and designers drawing on information and experience gathered over a period of twenty years in the company's chemical fertilizer operations at Trail, B.C. In October, 1951, Stone and Webster Canada Limited, construction contractors, began work at the site located near the Sullivan Concentrator. The job was completed last September.

EIGHT MAJOR BUILDINGS

Eight major buildings are being used to treat raw materials, to turn out the finished product and for service purposes. They are the roaster, acid, rock, phosphate and storage plants as well as a supply warehouse, central shop and combined change room—office.

Raw materials for ammonium phosphate production come from three sources. Phosphate rock, mined at a Cominco subsidiary operation in Montana, is shipped by rail to Kimberley where initial treatment takes place in the rock plant. Ammonia comes from Cominco's Alberta nitrogen department near Calgary, Alta. Iron sulphide, isolated during the treatment of lead-zinc ore from the Sullivan mine at Kimberley, comes from the nearby Sullivan Concentrator. The iron sulphide is treated in the roaster plant and the generated sulphur dioxide is used in the acid plant for sulphuric acid production.

Phosphate rock, ammonia and sulphuric acid enter the phosphate plant where the finished product, ammonium phosphate is synthesized.

EFFICIENT LAYOUT

Layout of the plants is designed for maximum efficiency in handling the flow of raw materials and the finished product. Working conditions and general plant appearance were also big factors when the plants were planned.

Actual production of ammonium phosphate fertilizer started on October 14. It is expected that all of the finished product will be shipped to the Canadian Prairies.

L. J. Nicholson heads the Kimberley fertilizer department for Cominco. About 150 men are employed in all phases of the operation.

Originator of vaccination was Edward Jenner, English physician, who died in 1823.

Memory

An investigator has written in the Family Doctor, published by the British Medical Association, that memory failures are due primarily to emotional upsets. He conducted a classroom test to prove it, giving students a list of words to remember and then causing a nerve-shattering explosion that made them forget most of the words.

He urged as a cure for poor memory to concentrate only on remembering the important things, holding that such memories would survive any upsetting experience if the mind is not cluttered up with inconsequentials.

That thesis can be argued fairly convincingly, but no one seeking a cure for forgetfulness should ignore causes other than emotional upsets.

The school pupil who forgot to do his homework, for instance, needed no explosion to keep his mind off the neglected duty. More often, certainly, the homework is forgotten because it is not looked forward to with pleasant anticipation, homework being what it sometimes is.

The man who forgets to pay a bill in a period of financial embarrassment would, if the truth were known, have no excuse except that payment was too disagreeable a thought to keep in mind.

Many a date is forgotten when the engagement would mean visiting an unfriendly host, perhaps because the agreement was buried in some pigeonhole of the subconscious mind. Yet it is remarkable how often an umbrella or a hat can be forgotten where it would be a pleasure to go back and get it.

Most frequently forgotten of all things are people's names. Not all are lost to memory because their owner made no impression. Just as often, the person's appearance or character or good deed was so memorable that the name did not matter.

If one were to take the Briton's advice, trying to retain names of only the "important" ones, the result would be highly unsatisfactory. Any person's name is important at the moment there is need for remembering it.

Humor

Humor implies a sure conception of the beautiful, the majestic and the true, by whose light it surveys and shapes their opposites. It is a humane influence, softening with mirth the ragged inequalities of existence, prompting tolerant views of life, bridging over the space which separates the lofty from the lowly, the great from the humble.

Horse and buggy days are passing out in Montreal. A cab imported from England in 1786 has been wrecked in collision with an automobile.—Vancouver Province.

Laughter, Liberty and Love for All

There was, in the sixteenth century, a famous French monk and physician who taught that "laughter is the right of man" and that cheerfulness is the best cure for human ills.

His philosophy is needed today as much as it was in the years before 1553 when Francois Rabelais lived and wrote his eloquent allegories. Yet it required Americans to start and to sustain a drive that is gaining headway to honor the author and again popularize his principles. The French, who for too long have neglected him, are traditionally a gay and happy people, but the Americans of today, apparently, have more to laugh about.

Shortly after World War II a California couple "adopted" the French village of Maille, near Tours, and discovered that it contained the neglected birthplace of Rabelais. Deciding that the world could use more happiness and good fellowship, they joined with France's Friends of Rabelais to form the international society of Companions of Rabelais. All its dues have gone into the work of restoring the birthplace and establishing a Rabelais museum. Although the society has members in 23 countries on five continents, fully half are here in the United States.

Even without joining, there is nothing to deter anyone from indorsing wholeheartedly the Rabelaisan principles upon which the movement is founded: To love one's fellow man, to treasure liberty of thought, and to believe that laughter is the inalienable right of everyone.—Spokesman Review.

Love in Print

"Well over a hundred thousand editorials appear each year in the daily and weekly newspapers of this country. Few of the articles deal with love. This is a bit odd, as, the pieces being unsigned, it might be thought that the authors could feel free to let themselves go. If they had love in them it could come out with not so much embarrassment as if the articles were signed. Yet columnists deal with love, or at least what passes for love, and they put their names to this intimate subject. Authors of novels let themselves go on at great lengths about love, and poets make a full-time job of it; but in unsigned articles in the press? Not love.

Perhaps this is because the unsigned article is the opinion of the paper, rather than the individual writer, and a newspaper, however adequate in other respects, scarcely qualifies as a great lover. A girl could love a pressman, and a pressman might even love a certain press, but the whole newspaper is something else. Yet, understandable though the lack of love editorials may be, this lack is indeed a flaw in our society. These short items of comment that appear daily or weekly in the newspapers of Canada are an important part of the realm, and no country can flourish largely if it is concerned only with meat and potatoes. Perhaps at least those few papers that are run by women could be expected to get up nerve enough to tackle an editorial or so on love.—Printed Word.

Man's Yearly Intake

(Windsor Star)

Astounding as it may seem, the food, water and air a man receives in a year amount to more than 300 pounds—about one and one-half tons, or 20 times the average man's weight.

This fact shows the gigantic expenditure of material required for life, and proves better than words the changes which are caused hourly by every living being.

About two and one-quarter pounds avoirdupois of dry food are required daily for each individual. Of this, about three-quarters are vegetables, and the rest animal. At the close of a full year the amount is upward of 800 pounds.

Enumerating under the title of water all the various drinks, the estimated quantity is about 1500 pounds per annum.

The air received by breathing may be taken at 800 pounds.

A consuming creature indeed is man.

Your Horoscope

Avoid getting nervous and tense, for this may be a disappointing day when you will feel baffled and unable to get ahead. Just keep plugging along and get a good rest in the evening.

Homemaker, Nelson—Please print formula for good paste that will keep.

Two cups of flour. Use cold water. Add water to flour, stir till heavy paste and all lumps smoothed out, and keep adding water until the consistency to pour easily. Cook over low heat until transparent. Add four to five drops of glycerine to prevent hardening, and about one-quarter teaspoon formaldehyde, which will prevent spoiling. Keep tightly covered when not in use.

Subscriber, South Slocan—Do you know where I can buy 30 pounds of raw wool? I need it as soon as possible.

Perhaps other readers can help.

Reader, Trail—How many letters are there in the Hawaiian alphabet?

The Polynesian languages, one of which is spoken on the Hawaiian Islands, belong to the great Oceanic family of speech, of which there are four branches, the other three being Melanesian, Micronesian, and Indonesian. These four are clearly marked off from each other and so definitely spring from one common parent that it is customary to refer to each as mere dialect. With dialects and subdialects Polynesia has almost a hundred variants of the original tongue, all with varying alphabets and phonetics. The quickest way to answer this question is to reply there are five vowels (a, e, i, o, u) and seven consonants (k, p, h, w, l, m, n), which are the backbone of the language as spoken in Hawaii. There are also inflections that can alter meanings, and reduplication of certain consonants (hh, for instance, nn, and sometimes v) that make it very difficult for one who has not studied the question, and who has not been brought up on the Islands, to give a comprehensive answer. The Encyclopedia Britannica mentions that owing to a lack of direct words it is very difficult to translate Polynesian languages into European speech.

K. L. F., Nelson—Is there any way of making a waveset lotion at home?

Boil together for ten minutes eight ounces of water and one tablespoon flaxseed. Strain, add vegetable coloring if desired. Keep in cool place, as it will turn sour after a few days.

We Can't All Retire

The people of France for years have been steadily cutting down the hours of work. They have cut it down per day, per week, per year, and per lifetime. At the same time they have lagged far behind their neighbors in modernizing plant and equipment. As a result output per man in the factory, mine and mill has fallen far behind the rate of other Western nations, in some lines as much as 50 per cent.

Virtually everyone in France retires automatically on pension at 65, and some favored classes such as miners, railway men and merchant marine sailors, may quit 10 or even 15 years earlier than that. There are mighty few "Quarter Century" clubs among employees for the simple reason that when a man or woman works that long usually a pension is waiting.

Years ago Marie Antoinette advised the French people to eat cake when they ran out of bread. By cutting hours of work without increasing output per hour, the modern Frenchman is trying to keep his cake and eat it too. It can't be done, either in France or Canada.

It takes a definite amount of real goods and services to keep any country clothed, sheltered and fed. Regardless of any other factor, somehow we must produce that definite amount and much more than that if we wish to live well.—The Financial Post.

The Teachers' Convention

. . . F. B. Pearce

It is sometimes very pleasant to be on the outside looking in, and after years of attending teachers' conventions, it is pleasant to go as a visitor and be able to appraise one objectively.

The West Kootenay-Boundary convention is held annually in different cities. This year it is in Rossland, a very pleasant place at this time of the year.

The program is a long one and shows evidence of much thought, though one gets the impression that the people in charge suffer from over anxiety to do the right thing—and have teachers do the right thing also. So the banquet and dance are on Saturday night in the hope they will refrain from going home 'til early Sunday morning. That is hard on teachers who have a long way to go, but doubtless they will stay, for the Rossland people have a reputation for good banquets.

SERVANT OR MASTER

The convention opens with a public meeting. The subject is a panel discussion entitled the "School, Community Servant or Master." What they mean by that they don't say, but the panel members include representatives of the church, city government, industry, recreational groups, the press and radio, service clubs as well as the teaching profession. Every body in fact but the parents. But it is noteworthy that everyone else knows all about education except the parents.

COFFEE NOTES

Friday starts the real work of the convention with morning coffee, 9 to 9.30. It is surprising how many bright young things will last through the morning sustained only by a cup of coffee and a doughnut, and in this half-hour they will exchange notes on all sorts of things, from the number of children in the class to where they got that pretty hat. The rest of the morning is devoted to demonstration lessons. These are hard on the demonstrator, but highly popular with both young and old teachers. Everyone has a curiosity to see how someone else handles the job.

Elementary teachers have always had a suspicion that high school teachers don't know how to teach and the senior high isn't demonstrating. They have a panel "The Effects of Extra Curricular and Community Activities on Academic Standards." In other words, it is all the stuff your child does after school affecting his homework and studies.

Dr. John Frieson, newly appointed director of the Department of Extension UBC, will speak on "Adult Education for What?" It would be nice also if he said for whom and why. Adults seem quite nice even if not educated.

EXAMPLES NEEDED

No convention could possibly be held without some display of our national concern for the poor retarded student, so the first item on Saturday's program is "Teaching Reading to the Slow Learner." It is a pity that they could not have on hand Tommy and Henry, big, handsome blonds, and six-foot-two, who never learned to read but who are now in the automotive industry and seemingly quite content. It would relieve somewhat the sensitive professional consciences of our primary teachers.

There are other luncheons on Saturday with more speakers, and more BCTF business in the afternoon. The whole affair will end with a banquet and dance in the evening.

All this you will agree is a retty fair weekend's work. Do teachers get much out of it? They do. It comes at a time when the work ahead looks pretty grim, but they meet others teachers and find that they have troubles too. They exchange experiences and gain ideas which send them back to their classes with more confidence and hope.

But, if anything, the convention is too intensive. There should be one afternoon of relaxation, one afternoon when the teachers can go shopping. Merchants should put on convention specials. For the young teacher just out of Normal has her first pay cheque, and what happier moment is there than when she first chooses and pays for her own clothes?

The program stands in need of better proof-reading. It has recreational goups instead of groups, snior high instead of senior high and speaks of Rossland in the Gay Ninties, not to mention a new and extraordinary verb in the sentence "Mr. Johnson will chair the meeting." In these days when business men are threatened with chronic astigatism through looking for spelling mistakes more care should be exercised.

Nevertheless, and taking it by and large, it is a good program and worth anyone's $10.

Canada Designs Secret Aircraft

OTTAWA (CP) — A top British aviation industrialist said today Canada is designing secret aircraft projects so revolutionary in concept there is nothing to equal them in the free world.

Sir Roy Dobson, chairman of the board of A. V. Roe Canada Ltd. and managing director of A. V. Roe and Co. Ltd., Manchester, told a press conference that Canada "takes no back seat" to any country in aircraft design.

He declined to disclose details of the secret projects, except to say they are being blueprinted at the Avro plant at Malton, Ont., and to make this prediction:

"Within 15 years, there will be vertical take-off of planes, eliminating take-off and landing-speed problems. The planes will go straight up and then shoot straight ahead."

Sask. Hospital Bars Reporters

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask. (CP)—The Union hospital board has decided to bar members of the press from future meetings.

Little Confusion At London Airports

LONDON (AP)—A French Skymaster from Paris with 37 passengers aboard received permission to land at London airport Wednesday night. The pilot soon radioed: "Landed safely."

"Put on your landing lights," said the puzzled airport control tower. "We can't see you."

Then the control phone rang.

"You lose a four-engined airliner?" asekd a voice. "This is Northolt. We have it here."

Northolt airport is sight miles from London airport.

The pilot set his wandering Skymaster down at the right airport 20 minutes later. He explained: "My compass was out and I took a wrong turning."

Both airports were using the same direction runway.

Enough Is Enough, Says U. K. Soldier

ACCRINGTON, England (AP)—Rifleman James Hibbert came home from an enemy prison camp for the second time in eight years.

Hibbert, 33, was captured by the Japanese when the British Army surrendered Singapore in 1942. He spent 3½ years as a POW.

Back in the uniform of the Royal Ulster Rifles for the fighting in Korea, he was captured by the Chinese when his tank hit a land mine in January, 1951. Hibbert spent another 2½ years behind barbed wire.

Asked whether he will re-enlist when his enlistment expires next month, Hibbert replied: "Not me. I've had enough."

Nuptial High Mass Sung At Rossland Wedding

ROSSLAND — Nadine Helen, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Fleury of Rossland, and John Lloyd McInnis, only son of Mr. John McInnis and the late Mrs. (Blackburn) McGinnis of Vancouver, were united in holy matrimony at an impressive nuptial high mass sung by Rev. A. K. McIntyre, Vicar-General, in the Sacred Heart Church here Saturday morning.

The altars were decorated with large mauve and white chrysanthemums and green fern and cedar, the guest pews marked with tiny sprays of white button 'mums and white satin ribbon. The wedding music, with Dr. Richard Bourchier as organist and Mr. E. B. O. Bourchier as choir leader, was lovely.

The fair, stately bride entered the church on the arm of her father; her formal white wedding gown fashioned of soft silk velvet featured sweetheart neckline and lily point long sleeves, a shirred bodice and full circular skirt. With it she wore a veil of net illusion held in place by a coronet of pearls. Big white chrysanthemums were used for the bride's bouquet.

Mrs. W. Skelcher and Miss Yvonne Fleury, sister of the bride, were her attendants. They were gowned alike in forest green silk velveteen strapless formals made with full circular skirts with which they wore matching boleros; their bouquets were gold 'mums and plunosa.

Mr. Vern Cody attended the groom. Alfred Fleury, the bride's brother, and Mr. Frank Fertig were the ushers.

Following the double ring ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to seventy wedding guests, all intimate friends and relatives, in the Masonic Temple banquet room, which was decorated with baskets of gladioli and large yellow chrysanthemums. The bride's table, covered with a hand-made all-over cutwork ivory colored cloth, was lovely with silver and was centred with a massive green pottery bowl filled with yellow and bronze 'mums, flanked with ivory lighted tapers in matching pottery holders. The three-tiered wedding cake, made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. E. M. Fleury of Nelson, was on a separate table which was covered with a linen cloth with fine drawn work and solid silk colored embroidery, the work of the bride's maternal grandmother, the late Mrs. Alfred Tregillus of Nelson; this cloth being 60 years old. A wreath of orange blossoms and a pair of doves each carrying a wedding ring, topped the cake.

Monsignor McIntyre said the grace. George Lambert, uncle of the bride, proposed her toast to which the groom responded. Following the toasts and the reading of telegrams, the bride and groom made the first cut in the wedding cake, after which Mrs. George Lambert cut the cake.

Following the wedding breakfast, "open house" was held at the home of the bride's parents, when more than 100 guests called. Autumn flowers graced the living rooms. On the receiving line with the bride and groom were the bride's mother and the groom's sister, each attractively attired in navy blue with light accents and wearing corsages of pink carnations and fern.

For her honeymoon, the bride chose a smart navy woollen jacket and soft light plaid dress with matching wide scarf in the new autumn fashion. A close-fitting light yellow hat and gloves and navy bag and shoes completed her costume. Her corsage was of pale yellow carnations and she carried a grey all-wool fleece topcoat. Miss Catherine Irwin caught the bride's bouquet.

Out-of-town guests included J. McInnis, father of the groom, Mrs. Marie Brown, the groom's sister, Donald Brown, nephew; Mrs. Cody, Vern Cody, Mr. and Mrs. W. Skelcher, Miss Catherine Irwin, all of Vancouver; Mrs. Dave Bell of South Slocan; from Nelson came Mrs. E. M. Fleury, George Fleury, Mr. and Mrs. George Lambert; also Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fleming, Dolores McLeod, Mrs. Fred Nichols, Mrs. Cox and Mr. A. Tregillus. The bride's sister, Miss Yvonne Fleury, flew down from Fort St. John to be present.

The bride, who has been with the RCAF in eastern Canada for over two years, is well known in Nelson, where she attended high school for three years. She was with the Canadian Bank of Commerce staff before being transferred to Calgary and Vancouver. The groom has recently been stationed at Penhold, Alta., by the RCAF. The young couple will live there.

Former Nelson Miss Wed at Vancouver

VANCOUVER—A lace handkerchief worn by the bride's mother and grandmother on their bridal days, was the "something old" in the lovely ensemble worn by Katherine Elizabeth Hincks for her marriage to Harry Lindsay Cantlin.

The ceremony took place in St. Mary's Anglican Church Oct. 10, with Canon Dudley Kemp officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriageby her brother, Mr. H. A. Hincks, is the daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Henry Hincks of Nelson, B.C. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Cantlon, came from Saskatoon for the wedding.

A floor-length gown of Chantilly lace was worn by the bride. Her lace headdress was outlined with seed pearls and held a chapel veil. She carried a white prayer book, topped with an orchid.

Miss Connie Cantlin and Miss Lois McElheran were her attendants. Frocked alike, they wore toast-colored net over taffeta in ballerina style, and they carried baskets filled with bronze mums and wheat heads.

Mr. Kenneth A. Downey was best man, and ushering were Mr. Bill Cantlon, Mr. Bob Olsen and Mr. Douglas Heal.

At the reception held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Fisher, the host proposed the toast to the bride. She is a 1953 graduate of Vancouver General Hospital ,as is Miss McElheran.

The honeymoon is being spent in the Interior of B.C. and at southern points. For travel, the bride chose a suit of ancient hunting Fraser tartan with mitching hat. Accessories were brown and her topcoat of camel hair, to which a white orchid was pinned.

The popular newlyweds will reside at 352 West Eighteenth in Vancouver.

Advertisers Favor Newspaper Columns

MONTREAL (CP)—Advertising men were told Thursday that national advertisers are beginning to return to the newspaper as their principal advertising medium.

Eric Wilson, advertising director of the Montreal Star, in his presidential address to the Newspaper Advertising Managers' Association of Eastern Canada, said advertising lineages have generally shown satisfactory increases during the last year.

Among newspaper executives in advertising there had been an awakening to the realization that more can be done about selling their medium to advertisers, he said.

Greetings from Western Canada were conveyed by John Toogood, president of the Newspaper Advertising Managers' Association of Western Canada.

With the objective of welcoming to the city newcomers, who have children attending the Central school, a committee was formed by the school's Parent-Teacher Association at its monthly meeting Wednesday.

Consisting of the mothers of one child from each grade, the purpose of the committee is to make strangers feel welcome and to encourage parents to join the P-TA.

Election of officers was held, with Mrs. L. Catley who headed the association last year, again being acclaimed president. The position of vice-president was left vacant for the present.

Others elected were Mrs. Peter Robinson, secretary; Eldred K. By an almost unanimous vote, membership fees were set at $1 per year, President Mrs. Catley emphasizing that the P-TA was not a money-making organization.

Desert Pitted by Weird Craters As Angry Cloud Soars 10,000 Feet

By DUNCAN HOOPER

WOOMERA, Australia (Reuters) —Scientists Thursday moved into the dead "moon crater" seared into the Australian desert by the explosion of Britain's second atomic weapon.

Shielded from deadly atomic rays in "space suit" costumes of heavy protective clothing, they began to assess the results of the explosion set off at 7 a.m. local time.

Electronic devices in a 200-foot-high steel lattice tower carrying the weapon had flashed data to waiting experts until the explosion vaporized it in a huge blast, which burned a circular blotch a quarter of a mile across in the desert.

The whole countryside was deluged with light, dimming the morning sun.

The blast rocketted a peach-colored cloud more than 10,000 feet into the air. It whipped across the red plain country of the secret test site, scarred with "claypan" craters like the surface of a dead planet.

Stunted trees and vegetation were either incinerated or laid flat like scythed grass.

Sir William Penney, chief British atomic scientist, watched the blast with more than 100 other scientists and about 200 technicians.

Reporters watched the blast from a ridge 15 miles away.

From there the weapon tower was visible projecting above the eastern horizon.

A loudspeaker crackled a time check at 4:14 a.m. . . . again at 6:15 a.m.

White-clad technicians scrambled in the distance and somewhere desert birds could be heard twittering.

ZERO HOUR

The zero hour neared.

The last man left the power area in a jeep.

The loudspeaker voiced counted the seconds: "four, three, two, one, zero." A sudden flash of light and, "You may turn around now."

The atomic flash swept across the arid country like a super-searchlight casting strange fleeting shadows where in bright sunlight no shadows should have been.

An angry boiling mass of incandescence forked with violent red and gold flashes was transformed in a split second to a mounting column of dust and smoke.

The column tore upwards to form a mushroom which almost immediately bent first into cauliflower shape and then into a strange quickly passing resemblance of some fantastic human profile.

EARS TINGLE

The blast struck with a feeling of slight spongy pressure and a tingling in the ears as the resounding crack came from the vaulted sky to be followed within seconds by a second bang.

The brown and peach colored cloud drifted away, frayed by winds.

Later when the press party made an aerial survey after the blast the target area looked like a gigantic bottle of ink hurled on a red table cloth.

Jagan Calls to Nehru for Help

GEORGETOWN (Reuters)—Former Premier Cheddi Jagan Thursday urged Premier Nehru of India to help combat Britain's "undemocratic action against his deposed regime in British Guiana.

Jagan sought permission from Nehru to present his case before India's Parliament in New Delhi. Earlier, Jagan cabled the Indian delegation at the United Nations for help but received no reply.

Nehru has campaigned incessantly for greater independence of Britain's colonial possessions. So far, however, he has not stepped into the British-Guiana dispute.

Duke Has Success Formula

LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh said Thursday an industry that wants high productivity must concentrate on building up a happy work force.

And this is a matter of spirit, a question of "the proper handling" of employees, the duke told a luncheon of the National Union of Manufacturers.

"No amount of efficiency experts, labor saving devices, canteens or even pension schemes will necessarily make any difference to the spirit of the work people. Like the old song—'It's not what you do, it's the way that you do it.'

"That's what get results. In my opinion, the working formula is: Happiness plus efficiency equals high productivity."

Capital Memo

BY JAMES K. NESBITT

Now that the Bennett government is in full swing, people ask: "Is this a good government? Is it a bad government? How can people inexperienced in government give any kind of government at all?

The Bennett government, at this moment, is neither a good, nor a bad government. It is a government adequate for its times. It is giving the people what they want. It's doing the job for which it was elected.

Looking back, we cannot say that any of our governments in the last quarter century have been either good or bad. They were adequate to the times in which they lived. They did their good deeds, and they made their mistakes. Even the much maligned Conservative government of Simon Tolmie was not a bad government; it just got caught up by bad times. In other words, it was similar to the times in which it lived.

All governments, of course, leave their marks for good. The Pattullo government left us state-control of some public utilities, implanting the idea that big business should not be permitted to ride rough shod over the people; the Hart government left the B.C. Power Commission; the Johnson government, hospital insurance.

The Bennett government is young, fresh, eager. The fact that the Premier is the only one with legislative experience is of little important. Men learn, and they learn quickly. It is good ot have men in government who have no ties with the past. Liberals or Conservatives could never have brought in such a good liquor act as the Bennett government. Liberals and Conservatives have too many friends who'd have been hurt by such drastic changes in the liquor law. And governments, any more than individuals, don't like to hurt their friends.

In time, of course, the Bennett government will grow old, will lose touch with the times in which it lives. Then the people of that day, impatient for change, will put it out.

• • •

In the Legislature Social Crediters fairly burst with pride as they contemplate hospital insurance. They say hospital insurance is wonderful. They never, for some strange reason, give any credit to those who brought this great social reform into being — Byron Johnson, who conceived the idea in the first place, and staked his whole political future on it; George Pearson, who wore himself out getting it going, and Douglas Turnbull who worried about it, took heaps of undeserved abuse, and yet put it firmly on its feet.

When oppositionists ask: "Who started hospital insurance?" Social Crediters mutter, and say "we made it work." Wouldn't it be simpler, and more straight-forward if they answered: "The record shows that the Coalition government, headed by Byron Johnson, a Liberal, started hospital insurance."

As CCF Randolph Harding of Kaslo-Slocan said to Health and Welfare Minister Martin: "Stop trying to kid the troops—."

Supermarket Originator Dies

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Clarence Saunders, 67, originator of today's supermarkets who made and lost $15,000,000, died Wednesday of a heart attack.

Saunders changed the grocery business 36 years ago with his 2400 Piggley Wiggley stores. They made him a rich man in his early 30s. He lost the stores in a complex Wall Street battle.

Saunders recently announced plans for a mechanical grocery store that he believed would put him "back in the million-dollar class within a year." The mechanical store was to be completely self-service with the customers not only sacking their own groceries but also adding up the bill.

Trailites Go To Border to Hear Banned Speaker

TRAIL—Mine, Mill Smelter Union met in Trail Wednesday to hear an address by Asbury Howard, a candidate for office of International vice-president, but Mr. Howard was stopped at the border by Canadian immigration authorities and police.

"The entire membership of Trail Local Mine, Mill, Smelters was most disappointed, and by unanimous decision instructed the officers to protest to Ottawa against this interference with union activity," a spokesman said Thursday.

The meeting also decided that as many as possible should go to the border and hear an address by Mr. Howard. About 50 attended this meeting at the border which lasted till approximately midnight.

Trail Local is urging Member of Parliament H. W. Herridge and James Byrne to act for them.

Mr. Howard is taking advantage of the right of appeal. No reason has been given so far for the refusal by the Immigration authorities.

Union officials at Trail said no reason was given by immigration officials here for their action. They said Howard had been informed he could obtain a hearing before immigration authorities within 30 days.

The mine-mill union was ousted from the Canadian Congress of Labor in 1950 on charges that it was Communist-led.

Howard was the third American union leader to be turned back by immigration officials in B.C. within a week. Last Saturday Karly Larsen, ousted IWA district vice-president from Everett, Wash. and Ray Glover, business agent of the Enumclau, Wash., local of the IWA, were denied entry when they tried to attend the International Woodworkers convention now under way in Vancouver.

Immigration officials said Larsen, recently acquitted in Seattle on charges of conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the United States government, was "a member of a prohibited class." No reason was given for turning back Glover.

Roy Rinaldo Rinaldi was named director, Division No. 4 and Donald Krug, director, Division No. 5.

Throwing Bottle On Road Brings Fine

TRAIL—It doesn't pay to toss an empty bottle on the highway, especially when a policeman is watching.

For doing so, D. L. Woodliffe of Waneta paid a fine of $20 and $ costs in Rossland RCMP court when he appeared before Magistrate J. C. Urquhart on a charge of throwing a bottle on the highway.

Rossland RCMP were patrolling the highway and heard the bottle as it was shattered against the roadway.

Trail AOTS Told Of Hawaii Trip

TRAIL—The Trail (As One That Serveth) Club held its first meeting of the new season Wednesday in Knox House. Plans for AOTS church Sunday were discussed and include an exchange visit of speakers with Fruitvale.

A guest, Alec Barclay, manager of the Strand theatre, was introduced by Dr. C. E. Toll. Mr. Barclay gave an account of a trip made by his wife and himself to Hawaii, being the successful contestants for a plane journey sponsored by Famous Players.

The 3200 mile journey started at Castlegar and continued non-stop to Hawaii 14,000 feet above ground. Stopping at the Royal Hawaii hotel Mr. and Mrs. Barclay made many side trips by car and plane.

The pineapple plantation growing on the high levels and the sugar canes (requiring irrigation and lots of water) growing on the lower levels were visited.

Craters emitting sulphur fumes were impressive. A scene of an eruption only last year showed where a newly built road had been constructed. A church had also been pushed down to the sea, its bell tolling all the way.

Mr. Barclay said he was impressed with the beauty of Hawaii and particularly with the tremendous growth.

First I'd like to congratulate the mothers and fathers who have arranged for their daughters to aid the Nelson Booster Club by appearing at games to sell refreshments.

Secondly, bouquets ta the girls themselves; they are doing one grand job, without them the Booster Club now handling the concession booth wouldn't hear as often the ring of the till that is helping hockey in Nelson.

It is only by this working together, of young and old, that Nelson Maple Leafs will come up with what we hope will be their best season thus far.

Nelson fans Wednesday evening were treated to a fine brand of hockey, and although we hear much talk on the subject of why we didn't win, the fact remains that we didn't lose.

Spokane iced a team which compares favorably with last year's aggregation. In fact their third-period drive that produced three goals to even up the game, brought back sad memories to many fans of a similar performance in the final game of the playoffs last season on this same ice surface.

Bill Haldane opened the season in great style with a hat trick. Last season Haldane was tied with linemate Lee Hyssop in this department with five triples each. Haldane's performance was all the more remarkable because he is far from being in shape yet—and admits it.

• • •

Boomer Rodzinyak played a great game in the nets for the Leafs, especially in the first frame when he did everything but stand on his head to stop hard drives by the goal-hungry Flyers.

Boomer, in five games this winter, counting the exhibition games, has an impressive record. He has registered one shutout and allowed just 10 goals for an average of two a game.

Marsh Severyn, we thought, played a good game for the Leafs. On many occasions he cleared the puck well, proved to be valuable up front by collecting two assists. The one penalty he received was thought by many to be undeesrved.

The two work horses of the team, Red and Fritz Kpehle, again came up with stellar performances. Like roaming gypsies they checked the Flyers into the ice, especially when Leafs were short-handed. On four occasions they killed off penalties with their aggressive play.

Red scored the goal of the year so far when he poke-checked Danny McDougall in front of the Flyer net with the result the puck hop, skipped and jumped right into the twine.

Trail Goes on Scoring Spree To Razzle Dazzle Flyers 8-3

TRAIL—A goal-hungry crew of Trail Smoke Eaters erased the bitter reminder of four exhibition losses from the minds of their rabid followers Thursday night as they swamped a badly outplayed Spokane Flyers 8-4 in the Western International Hockey League opener at Cominco Arena.

Saving their all-out attack until the free-wheeling final, Moe Young's Smokies batted home four tallies while Hebe Lundmark and Wingy Johnston answered with a pair for Flyers.

Safeguarding a two-goal lead going into the period, coach Moe Young split Fodey's pads for the first goal of the period, while Terry Cavanagh notched his second of the night less than a minute later.

Gino Rozzini was sitting out a two minute hooking penalty when the Smokies counted up their two final tallies, with Bill McCulley collecting his second of the night, followed by Young with his second to round out the scoring spree.

Lundmark evaded an out-of-position Trail defence for Spokane's third and final marker after Wingy Johnson had set up the play in the Trail zone.

A four goal outburst with both teams splitting a pair of tallies set the pace in the first period, Spokane's Gino Rizzini move the Flyers out front with the game less than two minutes old as he slapped home Doug Toole's pass from close in.

Rookie Frank Kuzma got that one back for the Smokies before the minute mark as he tipped in App Dorohoy's perfect goal mouth pass on a three-way play with Bill McCulley getting the other assist.

The game was delayed 25 minutes when Flyer goalie Gerry Fodey was creased by a high shot from the stick of Bob Kiel, but he returned to the ice apparently none the worse.

As play resumed coach Wingy Johnston put the Flyers back in the lead as he slapped in Ralph Luke's rebound off the stick of Tommy Hodges. The teams went into the second period on even terms, however, after Laurie Bursaw converted a three man scramble into the second Trail tally.

A one man disadvantage and the aggressiveness of rookie Bill McCulley sparked a steamed-up Trail attack late in the second period. Coming into the middle session on even terms the Smokies fought Spokane in a dazzling display of end to end rushes but it was Danny McDougal's tripping penalty just over the bidway mark that gave the Smokies the lead for the first time in the game.

Terry Cavanagh completed a three-man ganging attack when he beat Gerry Fodey from the side of the net after McCulley had slapped a rinkwide pass to Laurie Bursaw for the third Smokie marker. The rugged McCulley, working well from an unfamiliar defence position, took Gordie Robertson's pass from the corner and then rifled home his own rebound to give Trail a two goal lead with less than a minute remaining in the period.

KELOWNA—The Kelowna Packers of the Okanagan League handed Kimberley Dynamiters their fourth straight setback here Thursday night when they outscored the Dynamiters 9-6.

The Packers rapped home six goals in the initial frame while holding Kimberley to three. In each of the second and third periods the teams split the goal-scoring honors.

Kelowna's front line of Dunbar, Carlsen and Culley picked up 10 of the 21 scoring points amassed by the club.

Dunbar notched the hat trick and got one assist to make him top man for the night.

Les Lilley was Kimberley's top man, snaring two goals, while Red Mellor assisted on a like number.

Canadiens Whip Rangers 6-1

By The Canadian Press

Montreal Canadiens, behind the two-goal scoring of star rookie Jean Beliveau and youngster Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, whipped New York Rangers 6-1 Thursday night in a National Hockey League game at Montreal.

At the same time, Toronto Maple Leafs rattled home three goals in the first period and went on to a 4-1 win over Boston Bruins before 7619 at Boston.

A crowd of 14,449 watched at Montreal as Beliveau scored his first goal of the young season in the opening period and then added his second in the final session.

The loss left Rangers without a regular schedule win on Montreal ice since Feb. 18, 1950.

The win put Montreal in first place in the league standings.

TORONTO SECOND

Toronto moved into a second-place tie with the idle Detroit Red Wings, two points behind Montreal.

Ron Stewart and Rudy Migay each broke through Boston goalie Jim Henry during the first 10 minutes. A Toronto player, Leo Boivin, was in the penalty box when defenceman Jimmy Thomson trapped the attacking Bruins and set up Eric Nesterenko for the Leafs' third marker.

The other Toronto goal, in the third period, came from Harry Watson's high 10-foot angle shot while Milt Schmidt, the veteran Boston captain, was serving a penalty.

Johnny Peirson scored the lone Boston goal mid-way in the second period. The Bruins, in ragged form most of the time, were outshot by a 20-18 margin.

Trail Loses Kuzma to Cougars

TRAIL — Alex Kuzma, 24-year-old right winger with the Saskatoon Quakers for the past two seasons, has been picked up on waivers by the Victoria Cougars.

Kuzma, who arrived in Trail Thursday with brother Frank, will pause only briefly before continuing on to Victoria where he'll report Saturday.

The Trail Smoke Eaters, who had purchased Kuzma's contract from the New York Rangers only last week, were informed of the Victoria move by Norm Couch, who had asked waivers on the high-scoring Saskatoon-born winger. Two weeks of negotiations were completed over the Thanksgiving weekend and Couch released Kuzma to the Smokies only to be informed Wednesday night that his attempts to clear Kuzma from the Western Hockey League had been halted by Victoria's Lester Patrick, who will now get Kuzma for the waiver price.

Kuzma will join Victoria Saturday, but his 21-year-old brother, Frank, who was optioned to Trail by the Vancouver Canucks, will spend the season with Coach Moe Young's squad.

Shoemaker Ties DeSpirito Record

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Jockey Willie Shoemaker Thursday tied the United States record of 390 victories in a season when he brought home Haltafire in the feature race at Golden Gate Fields.

It was Shoemaker's first victory in 13 races Thursday and Wednesday. The record was set last year by Tony Despirito.

Shoemaker, 22, born in El Paso, Tex., failed Wednesday to win on six mounts. He could do no better than second on the first six races Thursday. He left nothing to be desired in Thursday's feature, however.

Haltafire broke almost on top, took the lead away from Southborne, an English import, and lengthened out to lead the rest of the way. He beat Home Free by one and a quarter lengths. The favorite, The Green Lion, raced third. Haltafire's time for the mile and a sixteenth was 1:43 1-5.

A crowd of 8006 gave Shoemaker a big cheer when he finally reached the winner's circle.

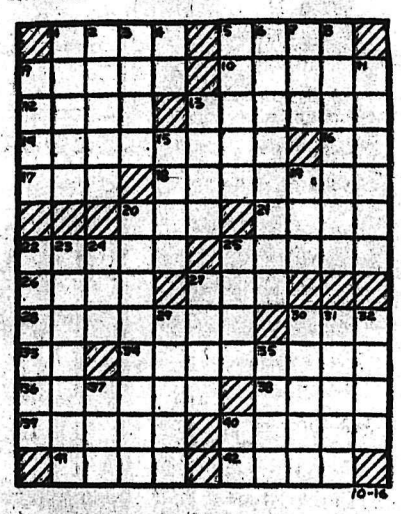
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X E is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

P S R W L P M T Y W M R T K M F W R S J E T M F R K' M T P T I T S R W L P M T U I F M T R F F — R T T M I F.

District Beauty Wins Visiting Spokane Jaycees

Nelson Jaycees played host to five Spokane Junior Chamber of Commerce members and their wives. The U.S. visitors included Mr. and Mrs. Jack Eachon, Mr. and Mrs. Ed English, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Rutherford and Paul Alison.

Mr. Eachon is the President of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce. Mr. English is at present a State Director and Mrs. Rutherford is President of the Spokane Jayceettes.

When in Spokane recently a group of Nelson Jaycees and their wives visited the Eachon Ball Field, so named after the Spokane Jaycee President. This field was constructed by the Spokane Jaycees and is of great benefit to the city of Spokane. It is valued at approximately $42,000 and is equipped with benches, a wonderful lighting system and is grassed. All ball game proceeds are given to the Jaycees and will continue to be done so until the field has been paid for.

A dinner was held at the Shamrock grill for the U.S. Jaycees at which Mayor and Mrs. Joseph Kary were present; Mayor Kary officially welcoming the guests. Also present were Dante Pascente, president of Trail Jaycees and other members and their wives from Trail.

Following dinner the Spokane people were taken to see their first hockey game and thoroughly enjoyed an exciting two hours. So much so they decided they should not miss games being played in Spokane in the future.

The visitors spent a busy day taking pictures of Nelson as they toured the Queen City and then journeyed up the lake to Balfour, completely captivated with the beauty of the lake and countryside.

This was their first visit to Nelson, but all stated it wouldn't be long before they would be back bringing their families to enjoy holidays in this district.

On leaving an invitation was extended to Nelson and Trail Jaycees to attend a State Board meeting in Pullman, Wash., October 31. More such international Jaycee visits are planned in the future.

Trans-Mountain Pipeline Spills Alberta Oil Into Burnaby Tanks

By GEORGE FINLAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — The "big inchers," the rugged high-booted men who know the oil fields of the world, watched Thursday as the fabulous oil-wealth of Alberta was "tapped" for Pacific coast service.

The 24-inch pipeline running from near Edmonton to the big tank farm in suburban Burnaby, costing $97,000,000 and stretching 711 miles across the Rockies, opened for business.

At strategic pumping stations, giant valves turned and $1,000,000 worth of oil gushed through to Burnaby, from where it will be distributed to tidewater refineries.

TOOK 1500 MEN

Started in the spring of 1952 the Trans Mountain Pipe Line Company's "big pipe" snaked its way over the mountains as 1500 men toiled through rocks, muskeg, rangelands, and the lush farmlands of the Fraser valley.

For British Columbia motorists it will mean all-Canadian gasoline, and for the fast-expanding industries of Vancouver and other industrial centres will come a future of cheaper oil supplies. The surplus will go to Pacific northwest markets in the United States with a $75,000,000 Washington refinery tapping the line next year.

Ninety-eight per cent of the crude oil brought into British Columbia has come by tanker from California. The other two per cent was shipping by rail in the last two years from the Alberta field.

Completion of the pipeline is three months ahead of schedule, marking Vancouver's first direct link with a major oil producing area.

It was designed and built under the engineering management of Canadian Bechtel Limited, internationally famous in the pipeline field. The principal contractors included Mannix Ltd. of Calgary and Comstock Midwestern Limited of Toronto.

120,000 BARRELS DAILY

The line is designed to transport initially up to 120,000 barrels a day with more than 50,000 required daily to meet the B.C. demand. The ultimate goal is for a daily capacity of 200,000 barrels.

Coast refineries have spent millions of dollars modernizing and enlarging plants to handle the flow of "black gold" from Alberta. Imperial Oil, the largest refinery here, has spent $13,500,000. It will handle 22,500 barrels daily.

One of the key pumping stations is at Kamloops, where the coming of the pipeline has brought a $3,000,000 refinery. The stations were built at a cost of $4,000,000 each.

The "big inchers" who built the line came from Texas, from the South American oil fields, and from Arabia.

The Americans brought the know-how to teach Canadian workers to build a pipeline in sunshine, rain and early snows.

It was open house at the 200-acre Burnaby terminal Thursday where a plaque to mark another milestone in B.C.'s industrial history was unveiled by S. D. Steve Bechtel, and R. L. Bridges of Toronto, president of Trans Mountain.

Percy C. Hiles Passes at Trail

TRAIL—Percy Cecil Hiles, 63, active community worker, died suddenly in Trail-Tadanac Hospital Thursday morning.

Born at Hot Springs, Arkansas, in 1890, he was a resident here for 14 years and had lived in British Columbia 20 years.

Past president of Trail Kiwanis Club, deacon in the Emmanuel Baptist Church, Mr. Hiles had also taken active part in Trail Chamber of Commerce and Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern B.C.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. O. Pennington of Princeton, and Mrs. R. M. Corrigan of Salmon Arm, and one sister, Mrs. F. G. Dunlop of Hamilton, Ont. He is also survived by four grandchildren.

Prevost Convicted For Detaining

WINNIPEG (CP)—George Prevost, who chose a five-year-old girl as a traveling companion on a trip ended by his arrest, was convicted Thursday on one of three chargss laid under the abduction section of the Criminal Code.

Chief Justice E. K. Williams remanded the 55-year-old Churchill, Man., labor for sentence at the end of the assizes on a charge of detaining a child under the age of 14 years.

ALL-MALE JURY

An all-male jury, which acquitted Prevost of taking a child under 14 years from the possession of her parents and another charge of taking a child under the age of 16 from the possession of her parents, recommended mercy in bringing in the one guilty verdict.

The child, Linda Verfaillie, who testified at Prevost's trial, was the object of a country-wide search last June after she and Prevost failed to return from a visit to a farm near Winnipeg. Police arrested Prevost in Vancouver.

Says Canada's Roads Useless in Wartime

VICTORIA (CP) — A top Canadian army engineer said Thursday Canada's roads would be unable to carry the traffic that would roll throughout the country in the event of another war.

Lieut.-Col. D. W. Cunnington, commandant of the Royal Canadian School of Military Engineering at Vedder Crosisng, B.C., painted a muddy picture of Canadian roads, from a strategic standpoint, to the 34th annual convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association.

MUST NOT RELAX

A study under way by National Defence Headquarters in Ottawa, Lieut.-Col. Cunnington said, "leaves no doubt that Canada's roads are inadequate for strategic purposes. Though immeasurably improved since 1945, from the military point of view the time for relaxing present construction programs is not in sight."

"In general, the study has shown that our roads . . . are mostly unsatisfactory for large-scale military movements. Of 3809 bridges examined, less than 50 per cent are suitable for such traffic. The main route crossing one province, 563 miles, has 160 bridges. But only 21 have the necessary minimum width of 24 feet and 32 are only 14 feet or under."

Alex Frame, deputy minister of roads for Alberta, reported the most successful season, in construction and maintenance, in his province's history. He said approximately $37,939,000 had been spent on building and maintaining bridges, ferries, main and secondary roads.

LABOR DIFFICULT

A $1,000,000 increase in the gross road budget for Saskatchewan was reported for 1953 by L. T. Holmes, construction engineer with the Saskatchewan highway department.

"This year's gross budget was $18,289,000, compared with $17,186,000 the previous year," he said.

"Supply of materials and equipment is a minor problem, but the labor situation is difficult. Trained engineers are unavailable in sufficient numbers."

The convention continues through Saturday.

ESPIONAGE REPORTED

TOKYO (AP) — Kyodo news agency said Wednesday large-scale red espionage is being conducted in Japan by Japanese captured by the Russians in the Second World War and trained as spies. Kyodo quoted repatriates as saying that the Russians intimidated policemen industrial researchers, newspaper men, teachers and other educated prisoners into doing espionage on their return.

Preliminary Teacher Training Is Proposed

Faced by a growing shortage of teachers and consequent employment of persons lacking top qualifications, B.C. School Trustees Association will ask the provincial government to set up a committee to make a full study of the increasingly serious situation.

The study would include supply of teachers, qualifications, salaries and so on.

Cariboo's proposal that the Department of Education consider establishing preliminary teacher training courses in high schools, to encourage students to go into teaching and ultimately increase the number of teachers was endorsed by the trustees convention here Wednesday.

New setup for election of the BCSTA executive emerged from the convention.

Basically it provides for district branches—there are seven at present—to elect representatives to the executive instead of choosing them from the floor of the convention. It also increases the executive committee from four to seven.

Power has been given the executive to appoint a full-time secretary-treasurer and other officials as needed.
