Reds Believed Behind Gas Strike

Troops Keep Essential Transport Moving; Milk Deliveries Threatened

By JOHN DUDMAN

LONDON (Reuters)—The army and air force moved into London Friday night to check the ever-widening effects of a strike by gasoline and oil delivery men.

Drivers from the two services will be on the road at dawn today in tanker trucks that have been idle for four days. They will see that essential transport is kept moving.

The government claims Communists are behind the wildcat strike, which so far has affected 6000 London drivers and threatens to spread to other parts of England.

At Newcastle-on-Tyne, on the northeast coast, 200 oil depot workers struck Friday in support of the Londoners. Dock workers here balked of refusing to handle oil supplies for the troops.

Strike leaders say they want wage increases and union recognition by contractors employed by the major oil companies. They have ignored appeals from the Transport and General Workers Union to go back to work.

Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton told the House of Commons Friday: "There is serious ground to think that those who are inclined to Communist views and are members of the Communist Party are keeping this strike alive."

London streets began to have a "Sunday look" today as more and more cars were laid up. Wholesale and retail deliveries were drastically reduced, taxis were vanishing into their garages, and bus services were cut.

Garages 50 miles from the centre of the city began hanging out "sold-out" signs as gas-hungry motorists widened their search.

Monckton said industry is already "experiencing serious difficulty" because of interrupted deliveries. He added that milk deliveries were threatened, bakeries were running out of fuel oil for their ovens and sewage and water services would soon be affected.

The government has worked out a priority system to insure delivery to doctors, fire brigades, ambulances and public transport.

Minimum weekly wage for a 44-hour week for London tank drivers ranges from $14.75 to about $21 a week.

FOR LOW INCOME BRACKET . . .

BCHIS Premium Exemption Favored by Health Minister

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Social Crediters listened to a request from Health Minister Eric Martin Friday and went on record as favoring B.C. hospital insurance premium exemptions for the low income brackets.

The 500 delegates to the annual convention of the B.C. Social Credit League here passed a resolution "urgently" requesting the government to give favorable consideration to extending premium exemptions to single persons with an annual income of $720 or less and to married persons with an annual income of $1200 or less.

The resolution has been tabled at Thursday's session of the two-day convention but was taken off the table Friday.

Mr. Martin asked that the resolution be given favorable consideration by the delegates.

He did not amplify on his remarks.

In all, the convention had dealt with more than 100 resolutions submitted by constituency associations throughout the province by the time it ended Friday night.

Two more officers were elected Friday to end an election that started at 8 p.m. Thursday. Noel Murphy was elected president Thursday night and Friday Bill Hodgson of Omineca and Percy Hawkins of Cowichan-Newcastle were named fifth and sixth vice-presidents respectively.

Many resolutions slated to be dealt with by the convention were turned over to the incoming executive when it was found the convention did not have time to deal with them.

One resolution that had all the makings of a strong debate on the controversial Catholic school question was quietly withdrawn by the Fort George Association without debate.

Funeral directors would come under scrutiny by the government under another resolution. The government was asked to enquire into the funeral directing profession in B.C. with the view to enacting legislation to bring it up to the standards of other provinces in Canada.

Clark to New Post

COLUMBIS, S.C. (AP) — Gen. Mark W. Clark announced Friday he will accept the presidency of the Citadel, the South Carolina military college at Charleston. The former supreme Allied commander in the Far East will retire from the army Oct. 31.

Atomic Cannon Disturbs Russia

MAINZ, Germany (AP) — The U.S. Army gave its awesome atomic cannon its first public showing in Germany Friday. East German Communists immediately accused the Americans of placing the lives of Germans in "utmost danger."

A non-firing demonstration of the 280-mm (11-gun) cannon at the army ordnance depot here placed emphasis on the gun's mobility in a seeming answer to critics who contend it is too unwieldly and could be captured easily.

SAYS THREAT TO GERMANS

ADN, the official Soviet zone news agency, claimed in Berlin that newly-arrived guns will be deployed near Gaiserslautern in south west Germany. Such a move, the news agency declared, "means that the safety and lives of the southwest German people are in utmost danger already."

ADN asserted that "practising with live ammunition is planned for an early date so that precsiou farmland is threatened with devastation."

The American command has not divulged where it will station the six atomic guns which arrived earlier this month, with a specially trained 900-man field artillery battalion.

American officers said only conventional shells will be used in practice firing.

Markets Needed For U.S. Lumber

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — An expanded market was suggested Friday as the only solution for the problem posed by heavy import of Canadian lumber into the United States.

H. V. Simpson of Portland, Ore., executive vice-president of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, blamed skidding U. S. lumber prices in part on British Columbia timber coming into this country.

"The only immediate solution to the problem is to find markets for the Canadian as well as the American lumber," he commented.

Simpson said he anticipated no depression in the lumber industry, but stated there might be a "slight recession."

Socreds Spend $23,158 for Radio Advertising

VANCOUVER (CP)—It cost $89,255 to run the B.C. Social Credit League in the year ending Sept. 30.

Of the total, $23,158 went for radio advertising, most of it during the provincial and federal election campaigns. Another $18,742 was spent for newspaper advertising.

Salaries totalled $8009, travelling expenses were $14,599 and organizational expenses were $6047.

These major items of expenditures were included in the auditors report submitted to the Social Credit convention Thursday by treasurer W. H. Dickerson.

The report passed unanimously.

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian dollar was unchanged at a premium of 1 27-32 per cent in terms of U. S. funds today. Pound sterling unchanged at $2.81.

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar closed at a discount of 1 13-16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, unchanged. Pound sterling $2.75 15-16, up 1-16.

Strike Action Closes District Sawmills

West Coast Steamers Collide

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two West coast passenger steamers collided bow-on in dense fog Friday at the entrance to Vancouver harbor.

The impact tore a gaping 35-foot hole in the port bow of Union Steamships' SS. Cardena and two of her crew received minor injuries. The 353-foot, 5251-ton Princess Elizabeth owned by Canadian Pacific Steamships, escaped almost unscathed.

Close to 150 pasesngers aboard the two ships were hurled from their feet in the grinding crash that locked the two vesesls together but all escaped with nothing worse than a shaking up.

The Elizabeth, outbound for Nanaimo with 96 passengers and 30 automobiles aboard, was passing under Lions Gate bridge at the harbor entrance when the crash occurred at 9:20 a.m. PST. The ships, both travelling at slow speed, loomed out of the fog and smashed together a moment later.

The Elizabeth's sharp prow knifed into the lighter Cardena, inbound with 50 passengers, ripping her plates. The Elizabeth's anchor was driven part way into the Cardena's hull.

In the recoil from the jarring impact, the Elizabeth swung around almost parallel to the lighter vessel with the Cardena's jagged plates grinding into the CPR vessel's starboard bow leaving the two locked and a section of the Cardena's bow stretching from the deck halfway to the waterline was ripped loose.

Locked by anchor chains, the vessels were towed clear of traffic lanes into English bay, where the tug Burnaby Straits of Straits Towing Ltd. managed to pry them apart.

Electricians Vote For Strike

VANCOUVER (CP) — Shutdown of Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island industries is threatened as a result of a strike vote taken by electricians employed by B.C. Electric.

More than 95 per cent of the 503 eligible workers voted in favor of strike action. On Vancouver Island, 65 per cent of the 111 workers eligible voted to strike.

George Gee, union manager said Thursday night in announcing result of the government-supervised strike ballot, that service to domestic consumers, police and hospitals would be maintained in event of a strike taking place.

The union is expected to set a strike date at a meeting Sunday.

First Atomic Sub Half Completed

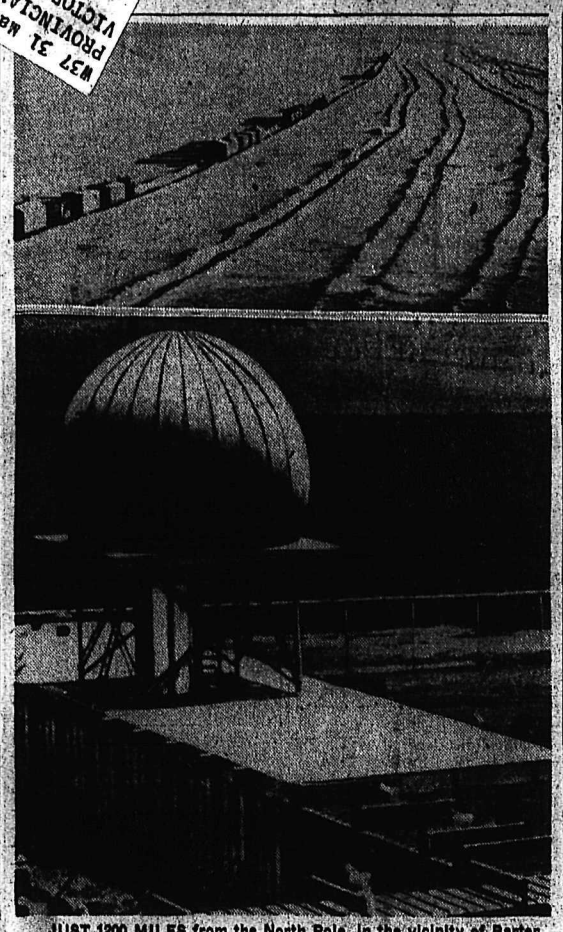
GROTON, Conn. (AP)—The submarine Nautilus, the world's first atomic-powered submersible designed for unheard-of range, speed and depths, is well over half completed.

Reporters Friday climbed aboard the boat. They saw that already much of propulsion machinery is in place, the intricate plumbing of her steam plant to be heated by an atomic furnace woven through the hull, the turbine set on its frame.

Topside the progress was the same. Her conning towner had taken form, work was going ahead on the superstructure.

She slides into the water in launching ceremonies next Jan. 21.

Capt. Robert L. Moore, naval supervisor of the Nautilus building, said the boat is "well over 50 per cent complete." She will be turned over to the navy for trials in 1954.



JUST 1200 MILES from the North Pole, in the vicinity of Barter Island, Alaska, the U.S. is completing installation of the first experimental units of a radar station system known as the "distant early warning line." Tests soon to be made will determine whether the "radar fence" will be extended from Alaska to Greenland. At top, tractor-drawn "Wanigans" carry construction materials for laying groundwork in the new line. At bottom is a typical Arctic test site. The radar equipment is within the big rubber dome.

$83 Million Budget Deficit for September

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government went into the red by $83,092,000 in September's budgetary operations as spending rose for defence, payments to provinces and interest on the national debt.

Second monthly deficit in the first six months of the 1953-54 fiscal year, it pared the half-year treasury surplus to $200,161,000 from $290,867,000 a year ago, the finance department reported Friday.

September's deficit was almost double the $47,701,000 deficit last year and more than 10 times as much as the $10,000,000 adverse balance last June.

Officials predicted, however, that the government will end the year with a small over-all surplus, not far from the target of $11,000,000 set by Finance Minister Abbott last spring.

September's revenues edged ahead to $324,712,000 from $316,859,000 last year, boosting the half-year total to $2,088,617,000 from $2,000,101,000.

But expenditures jumped sharply during the month to $407,804,000 from $362,560,000, increasing the half-year's spending to $1,888,456,000 from $1,709,134,000.

The take from the personal tax field increased slightly to $80,049,000 from $79,951,000 in the month and to $617,029,000 from $590,938,000 in the six months. Corporation tax collections declined slightly to $93,959,000 in September from $94,543,000; but were still higher in the half year at $588,864,000 compared to $585,365,000.

With Canada buying heavily in world markets, customs import duties rose to $33,392,000 from $30,556,000 in the month and to $208,262,000 from $174,141,000 in the half year.

Excise tax collections increased also to $72,370,000 in September form $70,031,000, pushing the half-year total to $415,481,000 from $384,104,000. But excise duties slipped to $21,869,000 from $23,650,000, dropping the half-year's collections to $117,106,000 from $128,479,000.

DEFENCE SPENDING LEADS

Defence spending still led the government expenditure field, with outlays in September rising to $162,688,000 from $156,967,000, bringing the six-month defence bill to $773,914,000 from $732,001,000.

While defence led the spending field, biggest increase was in payments to the provinces under the federal-provincial taxation agreements. Payments rose to $77,168,000 from $54,266,000, pushing the half-year total to $168,117,000 from $111,248,000.

Other increases were scattered among government departments. Biggest among these were family allowance payments which rose in the month to $29,167,000 from $27,826,000, increasing the half-year total to $173,121,000 from $165,251,000.

SC League Asks Ottawa For Low Cost Housing Plan

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Social Crediters Friday asked for a royal commission to review the National Housing Act and to investigate the possibility of the federal government making a greater contribution to mortgage funds.

A resolution passed at the annual convention of the B.C. Social Credit League also asked that the Bank Act be revised when it comes up for revision in 1954 to allow banks to make loans on real estate.

The Housing Act resolution also urged loans on already-constructed houses whether new or old.

The resolution will be sent to all B.C. and Alberta members of Parliament.

WOULD RAISE MARKETS

The resolution said a low-cost housing plan would permit the average worker to build or buy his own home, using the forest products that now are "piling up and not saleable on world markets."

Convention chairman Thomas Irwin rejected a resolution from the Esquimalt constituency association which said conditions of "subversive socialism" existed in B.C. schools. The resolution called on school inspectors to see that only subjects included in the curriculum were taught.

Mr. Irwin ruled the resolution out of order because no proof was submitted that subversive socialism did exist in the schools.

Other resolutions called for the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway into Vancouver and dealt with the marketing of fruit and vegetables.

ASK FOR COMMISSION

The government was asked to appoint a fact-finding commission to investigate all phases of production of distribution of fruit, vegetables, eggs and meats and to institute by legislation any necessary changes to provide for a more equitable system of production and marketing.

Other delegates said the consumer was suffering because various boards were controlling prices.

The election of officers, hampered by an alternative choice ballot and numerous candidates continued from Thursday night through Friday.

Bill Hodgson of Omineca was elected fourth vice-president and Mrs. Evelyn Fingerson of Vancouver East, fifth vice-president.

A resolution that would refuse the request of the B.C. Education Association for equal treatment for parochial schools and public schools was withdrawn without comment.

Resolutions asked that qualified dental technicians may be permitted to sell dentures direct to the public.

100 ESTIMATED DEAD IN FLOOD

400 Square Miles Devastated; 1000 Homeless

REGGIO CALABRIA, Italy (CP) —One hundred persons were officially estimated Friday night to have died in disastrous floods ravaging more than 400 square miles of the "toe" of Italy.

The figure may mount higher. Villages are still cut off from the outside world by swirling waters and landslides caused by torrential rains.

Army engineers, police, firemen and volunteers have recovered 49 bodies, most of them in Reggio province which has borne the brunt of the two-day deluge.

Makeshift barracks and tents put up by the Red Cross and the army are packed with 1000 homeless people. Army transport planes have rushed emergency food and medical supplies, clothing and blankets to Calabria. Helicopters dropped supplies Friday to people marooned in water and mud.

The floods wiped out entire families, devastated olive and orange groves, washed out bridges, and cut power and telephone lines. Some villages were without drinking water. Hundreds of houses and cottages collapsed.

Two big landslides moved slowly toward the hamlets of Cirella and Croce Valanide, threatening to engulf them. The inhabitants abandoned their homes Friday night.

Soviet To Up Internal Trade

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's announcement of measures to boost development of internal trade underscores once more the determination of Premier Malenkov's government to give the closest attention to strengthening the domestic economy.

The report indicates some of the best brains have been assigned the task of making good on the government's promise to boost living standards.

There seems little doubt that First Deputy Premier Nikolai Bulganin, whose official role is that of defence minister, will play a large part in whipping the new trade program into shape.

Bulganin is noted for his business ability. He is known as the outstanding financial and banking expert of the Soviet government.

Ring-Rot Attacks Coast Potatoes

VANCOUVER (CP)—A dangerout potato disease, "bacterial ring-rot," which will destroy stored tubers in a few weeks, has appeared in Lower Fraser Valley.

Coast Vegetable Marketing Board reported discovery of eight cases, and has warned all registered growers of steps necessary to eradicate the outbreak.

The board said 769 tons of infected potatoes were found.

TARIFFS BLAMED FOR LOW U.S. LEAD-ZINC PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representative William Dawson (Rep. Utah) told a Senate sub-committee Friday American government policies "are making us increasingly dependent on the whims of foreign government for our strategic metals."

For instance, he said, U. S. mines normally produce two-thirds of the country's lead-zinc requirements but this industry has become increasingly depressed because of low prices and large imports.

Canada exports much lead and zinc to the U.S.

In his home state, Dawson said, there normally are about 250 lead-zinc mines but only three are in operation now. And more than 1000 Utah miners are out of work, he said.

Dawson appeared before a Senate interior sub-committee looking into American minerals resources and their prospective availability in war.

Dawson said lack of adequate tariff protection was the root trouble in the U.S. lead-zinc mining industry.

Last-Minute Attempts To Settle Dispute Fail

Sawmills at Castlegar and Nakusp closed Friday along with IWA-affiliated lumber operations throughout the Kootenays and Okanagan.

More than 174 men, 40 at Nakusp and 134 at Castlegar, left their jobs. Plants affected were the W. Waldie Division and Big Bend Division of Celgar Development Company.

At Nakusp, mill officials said the men struck without warning Thursday night after the union had given assurance in the morning that there would be no strike this week.

Of the 40 men affected there, 22 had voted for strike action and 18 opposed it. Operators said union officials in from Cranbrook had not contacted them. Manager Howard Jeal said the strike will force the camps and woods operations to shut down as there is not sufficient storage space for the logs when the mill is not working.

The strike had not yet affected the Bell Pole Company in Nakusp, where workers voted solidly against striking.

At Castlegar, workers had voted 71 for and 63 against strike action.

Workers of Kootenay Forest Products of Nelson and Passmore Lumber Company belong to the rival Woodworkers Industrial Union of Canada and therefore continued to operate. WIUC members are to take a strike vote next week, however.

Powell Lumber Company employees did not participate in the IWA vote.

Clayton Walls, executive secretary, IWA, at Nelson, said operators offered the men a renewal of last year's contract, but the offer was rejected. The 1952 contract was a renewal of the IWA's 1951 pact and allowed for no wage increase he said.

DEADLOCK

Earlier this week, some 2000 southern interior woodworkers in 39 plants voted 795 for a strike and the same number against. Workers in 19 individual operations approved strike action, while those employed in the other 20 rejected it.

However, IWA officials said they expected the walkout to spread to all 39 operations. The union sought an 18-cent hourly wage increase to bring interior workers' wage levels up to those of coastal loggers. The present interior basic wage is $1.29½.

CRANBROOK — International Woodworkers of America strike action began suddenly in this district Friday morning following failure of Thursday's conference at Vancouver among department of labor officials, the Southern Interior Lumber Manufacturers Association and the IWA with reference to renewal of a master contract overdue since August 31.

Strike issue is pay increase and other concessions. Original negotiations of early summer ended with a conciliation board hearing at Kelowna with a majority award of three cents increase and minority award of ten cents increase. Operators Osociation rejected this and a vote among union members also rejected it. In a recent government supervised strike ballot in the southern interior IWA both votes and mills were almost evenly split, and an emergency conference has been under way at Vancouver this week without success.

Impact of a woodworkers strike in East Kootenay and Nelson district is dulled by the fact that slightly over half the lumber workers in the area belong to rival Woodworkers Industrial Union of Canada certified operations whose controversy with the Operators Association will not reach the strike vote stage until next week.

RESPECT LINES

Consequently in WIUC operations business is continuing as usual except that IWA picket lines are being respected. In Cranbrook strike action is conspicuous at the Cranbrook Sash and Door Ltd., IWA certified planer and yard which employs about 50 men. However, its lumber feeder plant Mineral Lake sawmill and Lamb Creek logging camps are WIUC certified and are in full operation, but are not delivering milled lumber to the Cranbrook yard. All other planers in the immediate Cranbrook district are WIUC certified, and are working. Same situation applies to Cranbrook Sash and Door Clumbia contracting planer at Canal Flats which is IWA certified, but its Canal Flats portable mills and logging camps are continuing as WIUC certified.

WIUC contract renewals were also due September 1st and negotiations bogged down. Its separate conciliation board hearings resulted in a 12½ cents majority award together with Sloan Formula for compulsory dues in certified operations. This was also rejected by the Operators Association, resulting in WIUC application for strike vote which will probably take place next week.

Rough estimates put the number of logging and mill workers of the southern interior including both Kootenays and Okanagan at slightly under 4000 with approximately 1000 WIUC Affiliated, over 2000 IWA Affiliated and others unorganized. Consequently the strike cannot be any more than 50 percent effective until the WIUC strike vote is taken under supervision next week.

Fresh Angles On Wright's Status

VICTORIA (CP)—Percy Wright's status at city hall remains a riddle.

City Manager Cecil Wyatt, who is considering Wright's application for re-instatement as assistant city clerk, is continuing to give the matter study. He indicated Friday his decision won't come until early next week.

There have been indications the city hall employees' associations' view of the matter might be a factor in determining the decision. The association has made no policy statement concerning the case.

It has been pointed out that since the city manager held Wright quit when he walked off the job a month ago to attend a session of the B.C. legislature, the union would be within its rights to demand that the vacant position be advertised if it is going to be filled.

Wright did not ask the union to take grievance proceedings on his behalf when he had the chance to do so.

He said he will abide by whatever decision the manager makes, and would not appeal to city council if it should be against him.

U.S. Offer Scored By Arabs

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters) — Arab nations have rejected a plan presented here by President Eisenhower's special envoy for a joint irrigation and power project with Israel, Lebanese Premier Abdullah El Yafi said Friday night.

"No Arab state will agree to such a project designed mainly for the benefit of Israel," the premier told a reporter.

Eric Johnston, Eisenhower's envoy to the Middle East, disclosed the plan after his arrival here Thursday night. It proposes that Jordan, Syria and the Lebanon cooperate with Israel in an American-financed scheme for harnessing the waters of the Yarmuk and Jordan Rivers. The project would provide irrigation waters for large areas of Jordan and electric power for the other countries involved.

Acquitted Woman Collapses in Court

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three hours of suspense while an Assize Court jury decided her fate proved too great an emotional strain for Mrs. Edith Margaret Rigby, 23, of Vancouver.

The jury acquitted her on a manslaughter charge, laid as a result of the death of James Cameron Burnett, 26, of Winnipeg, injured here August 29.

Mrs. Rigby collapsed when the verdict was read.

TORONTO (CP)—The fog was so bad in Toronto early Friday that even the pigeons were grounded.

One bird perched atop the car of a motorist inching his way along downtown Bay Street. The bird hopped off as the mist cleared momentarily, crashed blindly into a store window and limped away —afoot.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Want to know if you're fat?

Dr. Olaf Mickelsen, of the National Health Institute at Bethesda, Md., told Florida public health workers in a speech here Friday of this test for anyone who wants to know if he is overweight:

"Slightly pinch the skin fold thickness just beneath the lower ribs. If the fold measures a half inch, or even one inch, you are normal. If it is over an inch, you need to do something."

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—Trucker Ernest Chartrand told the court he was just taking a shortcut home when he drove his truck across graveyard plots and tombstones in Fraser cemetery.

Magistrate George Cassady's rejoinder was also short: $200 and costs."

Jerry Pickering Shatters Bowling Mark With a 370

Jerry Pickering, bowling like a master, came up with a record shattering performance Friday evening to roll a big 370 for a new season record.

Jerry, bowling for the Chugalugs, showed a good many bowlers of the Government Mixed League just how it should be done when he came up with the high single in his first of three games.

In gaining the season's high he eliminated the old mark of 342 set earlier in the season by Bruce Malcolm. Pickering's mark, however, was 33 pins shy of the Nelson record set in 1950 by Norm Nelson.

His good fortune did not last, however, for in his second and third games he rolled a 222 and a 170 to give him an aggregate of 762, far short of the all-time record of 835 set in 1951 by Al Herchuk and the season high of 904 by Bruce Malcolm this season.

MILLS HOME

In other bowling news from the Bowladrome Friday night, the grand old fellow of the bowling lanes, Clyde Mills, arrived back in town for his season of bowling.

Mills, the 72-year-old gent who last season showed up many youngsters by rolling high scores, drove in from his home in Mankato, Minn. After travelling all day starting at seven in the morning from Butte, Montana, Mills arrived at four and was on the alley just one half hour later.

It will be his fourth season of bowling in Nelson. In his second season here Mills bowled a 409. Only eight bowlers have reached this mark, with Al Herchuk being the only bowler to tumble the pins for a perfect score of 450. Herchuk did this in 1948.

Carl Locatelli has the distinction of reaching this almost impossible 400 mark a total of five times to lead all bowlers for top honors.

Injured Salmo Youth Improves

Condition of Dick Greggory, Salmo youth injured in a motorcycle accident, was reported "satisfactory" Friday night. He will remain in Kootenay Lake General Hospital until Monday. The youth received a head injury when his machine went out of control on the highway near Salmo.

Services Held For Nonagenarian Mrs. A. Graham

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie Graham, Nelson resident for the past 20 years, who died Tuesday were held here Friday from the Thompson Funeral Home. Two hymns sung were, "What a Friend We Have In Jesus," and "Safe In the Arms of Jesus."

Rev. G. W. Payne of Trinity United Church officiated at the services. Mrs. W. A. Manson was organist. Pallbearers were S. C. Latornell, Herbert H. Logan, David Maloney, A. T. Richards, W. G. Stewart and N. C. Stibbs. Interment was in Nelson Memorial Park.

Born in Halifax, Nova Scotia, Mrs. Graham was 92 years of age. She was the daughter of Superintendent and Mrs. Duncan Macdonald, relative of the late Lady Tupper of Vancouver and widow of Sir Charles Tupper, prime minister of Canada from May 1, 1896 to July 8, 1896.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. J. Horne of Nelson, a son, Guy Graham of Osoyoos and two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Brown of Providence, Rhode Island, and Mrs. Jessie Rutherford of Del Rio, Texas.

Strikes n' Spares

In Ladies Variety Club play, Rose Dahlsten of the Mad Hatters took the single honors with her 256 and Doris Holliday the aggregate honors with a 641.

Also bowling in the 600's were Marg Laughton with a 602, Gwen Macrone, 636; Rose Dahlsten, 611, and Marg Rombo, 600.

Bowlers hitting the 200 mark, but failing to make the 600, were Mary Arnot, 248; Billy Moore, 203; Helen Hooker, 204; Jannett Thomas, 212.

Mad Hatters took three points to move into first place in the league standing with eight points. The Hot Shots hold down second place, 3½ points behind.

Dyne-Macrae led the bowlers in the Men's Commercial League in both single and aggregate honors. Dyne rolled a 275 single and a 634 aggregate.

Team honors went to Bank of Commerce with a single of 972 and an aggregate of 2794.

Only three other players hit the 600 mark; Don Iceton, with 620; Bill Horner, 627, and Elroy Strong, 620.

The Buerges lead the league with 20 points, followed by Queen's with 18.

In the Mixed Commercall League, Bea Mills took the women's honors with a single of 269 and an aggregate of 649. Butch Hamakawa captured the men's single with a 288 and Frank Beresford with an aggregate of 783. Butch Hamakawa also hit the 700 mark with a 736.

Hitting the 600 bracket were Bill Day, 602; Jake Koenig, 624; Bill Horner, 618; Vern Miller, 603; Doug Hall, 612; Gwen Macrone, 633, and Rose Browne, 608.

Team honors went to the Question Mark with a single of 1131 and the Playmors with an aggregate of 3005.

The top five players for women and men, based on 18 games played, sees Ollie Kelly leading with a 215 average, followed by Rose Browne, 208; Dot Waterer, 202; Isabel Locatelli, 201, and Bea Mills, 199, and Don Iceton, 242; Bruce Malcolm, 228; Al Liness, 214; Frank Beresford, 212, and Bill Hille, 208.

City Completes Sidewalk Plan For Front Street

About 2000 feet of sidewalk construction has been completed on the Front Street project, according to G. Q. Lake, city public works superintendent.

Substantial aid was granted by the Provincial government which agreed to share a portion of the cost. Front Street represents a large section of the No. 3 Southern Trans-Provincial Highway as it passes through the city.

The city constructed 1500 feet of sidewalk of which the Provincial government paid the cost of the curbing, amounting to about 10 per cent. Since retaining walls had to be built, this sum only figured to about three per cent of the overall cost.

The remaining 400 to 500 feet was built entirely by the Province, completing the sidewalk link in front of the government shops.

Mail Delivery From Door to Door Sought for Cranbrook, Kimberley

CRANBROOK—Possibility of establishment of door-to-door mail delivery in Cranbrook and Kimberley, replacing the present post office box system was discussed at the annual meeting of the Cranbrook District Liberal Association here.

J. A. Byrne, MP, who was present at the meeting, has undertaken to press for the service at federal headquarters if conditions in the two centres indicate such service could be offered, and also has undertaken to investigate possibility of provision of lights for night landing facilities at the Cranbrook airport which is now being surfaced.

General Construction Company has contracted with the Department of Transport for the airport improvements here, with Marwell Construction Company subcontracting the mulch surface. Mr. Byrne reported every effort was being made to have the work finished by the end of the year. Estimated cost is about $90,000

The meeting re-elected the association's honorary officers, Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent and Arthur Laing, presidents; Senator J. H. King and J. A. Byrne, MP, vice-presidents.

George Haddad was re-elected president with Mrs. C. P. Lane of Kimberley and Mrs. H. J. Caldwell of Cranbrook, vice-presidents; Ray Meredith, treasurer, and M. G. Klinkhamer, secretary. Directors are Vincent Downey, Joe Provenzano, Dr. C. W. Brockington, Mrs. Herb Bradley, Walter Jostad and R. E. Read of Cranbrook; Daniel Boone, Armand Lauzon, Mrs. A. E. Oliver and Len Sambell of Kimberley; C. B. Kerwin, Marysville; Mac Rothwell, Mayook; Per Williams, Yahk, and R. S. Stanton, Moyie.

Annual reports covered work of the association in the provincial and Dominion elections. Treasurer's report showed all accounts paid and a balance carried.

Social Evening Will Honor H. W. Herridge

A social evening honoring H. W. Herridge, MP for Kootenay-West, will be sponsored this evening by the CCF Club of Nelson and District in Memorial Hall in honor of his election to the House of Commons for the third time.

Highlight of the evening will be remarks from Mr. Herridge and a talk by Very Rev. T. L. Leadbeater, Dean of Kootenay, on his impressions of Hollywood.

The evening will open with a buffet supper and music and games will be enjoyed later.

J. R. Andrews, president of the CCF Executive in Nelson, will be master of ceremonies. Co-conveners for the supper will be Mrs. J. E. Gray and Mrs. H. Erickson. Mrs. W. A. Tickner and Mrs Ronald King are in charge of the program. General convener is the secretary of the West Kootenay executive, Mrs. R. A. Custer.

Fred Goldsbury Shools Moose In East Kootenay

The hunting crew of Fred Goldsbury, his brother Reg and father-in-law, Harry Cox, found big game hunting much to their liking for they came out of the East Kootenay with a good sized moose.

Fred Goldsbury shot the moose on the first day of hunting season while hunting in the St. Mary's district above Marysville. The following day the three men again spotted three moose, but rainy weather and brush made it impossible to determine whether they were bull moose or not.

The head and the horns alone weighed in the neighborhood of 100 pounds. After the meat was cut up each man had about 185 pounds in their lockers.

Fred Goldsbury last season also hit the jack pot, getting an elk, in East Kootenay.

Fernie Chamber Pushing Crow's Nest Tourist Route

FERNIE—Fernie Chamber of Commerce, continuing its support of the proposed Crow's Nest Pass Tourist and Good Roads Association, has named a membership canvassing committee.

Those appointed to canvass were John Onysko, Ross Colgur, Dan Dudas, Tony Taverna, Jim Cameron, William Corrigan, Isaac Haile, Jack Minton, Frank Amantea, Eli Sochowski, Stanley Edgar and George Lees. Others will be named.

Mr. Lees reported present interim officers of the Association would carry on until the membership canvass was completed. The canvass is to be carried on throughout the entire Crow's Nest Pass area from Fort Macleod to Cranbrook with Boards of Trade carrying out the canvass in their areas. At completion of the canvass a general membership meeting will be called and a full slate of officers elected.

Following a lengthy discussion on the coming civic election the Chamber of Commerce, because it is a non-political group, decided it should not sponsor candidates, name a slate of candidates and as a group should not take active part in the elections. However, the Chamber took steps to promote a get-out-the-vote campaign and an educational campaign to induce the electorate to utilize their full voting privileges. A study of recent elections showed that many electors, although having the right to vote for three aldermen, were casting ballots for only one candidate.

Paul Polomark drew attention to the serious traffic hazard created at the corner of Victoria Avenue and Thompson Street by construction of the school addition. He moved that a letter be sent to City Council that crosswalk lines be painted at that corner. In second the motion a Chamber member stated, "Let's, before we have the funeral of a school child to attend."

The City Council is to be requested to consider the feasibility of changing street names to numbers and altering the house numbering system so there would be some relation between street numbers and house numbers. The Chamber felt that some consideration should be given to this before the city proceeded with its plans to paint and put up new streets markers.

Chamber of Commerce secretary, Frank Butala, was instructed to write to the Board of Trustees of Fernie School District No. 1, drawing to their attention the dangers created by passing traffic at school bus loading, unloading and turning points along No. 3 highway, and requesting the board to consider some possible safety precaution.

The Chamber is also seeking (1) improvement of the free truck parking area along Thompson Street opposite the Arena by cleaning up the grounds, (2) putting up better signs as present signs do not appear to be adequate, (3) enlarging the figures 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. on the "No Parking—11 p.m. to 5 a.m." signs on Lindsay Avenue paralleling No. 3 highway. The Chamber felt that many truckers were passing through Fernie as the impression seems to be given that the signs mean "No Parking" rather than limited parking.

Request for installation of "blinker lights" along No. 3 highways at main city street junctions could not be forwarded members were told, as traffic was too small. Another count is to be made. No reply has been received to the request of the Chamber of Commerce for the installation of wig-wag signals at level railroad crossing on No. 3 highway.

Fernie Chamber of Commerce endorsed the resolution of the Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers fo Commerce of South-eastern British Columbia that the B.C. Public Works Department delay action on the definite location of the No. 1, Trans-Canada Highway, until the Jumbo Pass survey is completed. Three routes are proposed for the Trans-Canada Highway, the Big Bend route along the Columbia River, the Rogers Pass route which somewhat follows the route of the CPR mainline, and the Jumbo Pass route farther south near Invermere.

LAST RITES HELD FOR KOOTENAY PIONEER

CRANBROOK—A resident of this district for 48 years, mostly at Canal Flats, Mrs. Ben Johnson died in the hospital here after a long illness. She was 58 years old.

She was born in Sweden Minnie Elizabeth Bylander and came to Canada and Jaffray district in 1905 with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bylander.

Following her marriage she moved with her husband to Canal Flats, where he survives her. Also surviving are two sons, Oscar in Port Melon, B.C., and Arthur in Kimberley; three daughters, Mrs. H. Erskine and Mrs. S. Ingstrom of Canal Flats, and Mrs. R. Campbell of Wasa, and 10 grandchildren.

Rev. S. H. Irving officiated at the services. Interment was in Westlawn Cemetery.

Castlegar Night Classes Close

CASTLEGAR—Lack of interest in night classes here has resulted in Castlegar School Board dropping all but woodworking classes.

At a meeting of the board, trustees decided to drop other classes because of lack of registrants. Classes are held in Stanley-Humphries Junior-Senior High School.

A report on fire conditions in No. 1 Elementary School, which was inspected by the B.C. fire marshal during Fire Prevention Week, has not yet been received by the board. The marshal made a number of "minor recommendations" to ensure fire protection.

Mrs. Helen McLeod was appointed board stenographer, replacing Miss Alice Sopow.

Applications from the village for easements on school properties, for street widening purposes, were approved in principle with some minor adjustments.

Also accepted was the village proposal that the village be in charge of maintaining fire hydrants at the high school charging the cost to the school board.

MacDonald To Try For Joliffe Post

OTTAWA (CP)—Donald C. MacDonald, national organizer and treasurer of the CCF, announced he will be a candidate for the Ontario leadership of the party at its provincial convention Nov. 20-21 in Toronto.

The 39-year-old former newspaper man, a member of the Ontario provincial council of the CCF since 1946, will seek the post left vacant in August by the resignation of E. B. Jolliffe.

Born in Cranbrook, B.C., he ran in the last federal election in that area—Kootenay East—losing to a Liberal. It was his first try for legislative office. He was raised on a farm near Ormstown, Que.

Mr. MacDonald taught school in the 1930s and later worked on the Montreal Gazette.

P. A. Ritchie Heads Procter Club

PROCTER—Members of Procter Community Hall Society at their annual meeting named P. A. Ritchie president and G. J. McMullin, vice-president of their club.

Mrs. C. Fitchett was elected secretary, C. Major and W. A. Henke, executive members and Mrs. A. J. Garner and N. E. MacLeod, auditors.

Improvements of the hall carried out during the summer including building two exit doors, pouring a cement furnace foundation and other repairs, were outlined by retiring president Colin Major.

Retiring secretary Mrs. C. A. Brady gave the financial report.

Example of Service Before Youths in Sea Cadet Corps

It does not take long participation in public affairs to recognize that one of the most important needs is more men of leadership quality. Public service in almost any line quickly reveals that there is a lack of leaders. Anything therefore that promises to improve the future supply of men with leadership training or qualities is of importance.

The various cadet corps of the navy, army and air force, we believe, though they may be primarily designed to assure that there will be a backbone on which to build our defence if necessary, are at the same time contributing to build youths who when adults will have something of the importance of self-discipline and the habits of alertness and service instilled in them. In fact we are inclined to believe that is their greatest importance.

The week past happens to have been Navy Week, a week launched on Trafalgar Sunday. It has provided an opportunity for the public to witness some of the values of the Sea Cadet Corps Hampton Gray, V.C., sponsored by the Nelson Branch, Navy League of Canada.

During times of war the work of the Navy League covers a great variety of fields applicable to men in the Royal Canada Navy and the Merchant Marine, including the operation of hostels in the large seaport towns and supplying comfort to the men at sea. During times of peace the emphasis is on youth training as exemplified in the Royal Canadian Sea Cadets. The title "Royal" was bestowed on the Sea Cadets in 1941 by Act of Parliament and by consent of the late King George VI, in recognition of the Sea Cadets contribution to Canada's war effort.

The name Hampton Gray V.C. for the corps here was chosen to commemorate the name of a son of Nelson who won the Empire's highest award for valor. Hampton Gray was a member of the Fleet Air Arm in the South Pacific and met his death while sinking an enemy destroyer.

Thirty-five boys of Nelson and District are benefitting from the training available through the corps and of the example of men who have at one time or another placed service to country first. That example is the most important thing available to these youth through the sea cadet movement.

Post Office Tenders Call Still Awaited

Tenders, it was reported some time back, would be called for a new federal building for Nelson District in the Fall. Well, the Fall's here. Perhaps someone should be sending reminders to the post office and federal public works departments.

Betty's Weekly Letter to:

Dear Jane:

If one more cucumber, plum or green tomato comes into my life this year I think I'll scream. Of course, while I'm screaming on the one hand, I'll likely be reaching for the preserving kettle on the other.

I wish I could can and jam and pickle without getting goo all over the place. Some women seem to manage to have themselves spotless, the kitchen spotless, the meals ready on time and still be pleasant to the family. Such a woman, I feel sure, could organize the United Nations or the hockey team.

* * *

There's been much talk about "Should it be permissable to fire teachers?" Taken as a group or a union, the teachers might put up an argument, but talking to them individually some of them are the first to say "Yes, if we aren't doing a good job."

For what could be more boring and less challenging than a job where you know you can't be asked to leave unless you have committed a serious crime? Sounds too much like "For better, for worse, for richer, for poorer . . . till death do us part." This may help to hold a marriage together, but certainly could tend to make slipshod working habits which wouldn't be good for the teacher, the pupil or the taxpayer.

* * *

Some weeks ago there was a letter in the News written by Mr. Hugh Herbison, who was a member of the Consultative Committee and is now teaching in one of our schools. He probably knows more about the Doukhobor situation than any of us. His argument was that we, the people of this district, must unite our efforts and our protests and our thinking; that we won't get action from Victoria unless we have a united, dynamic group knowing what it wants and pressing constantly for it.

Such a group sounds like the only solution if we don't want another forty-year runaround. Mr. Herbison suggested that such a group could weigh the effectiveness of different proposals. It might study the merits of the recommendations of the Consultative Committee. It might also study the merits of the dispersal theory. To me that has always seemed the only permanent solution and isn't it time we were aiming at a permanent solution—something that would be best for the Doukhobors and best for us.

Anyway, with Mr. Herbison's help, we might be able to unify our proposals and present a united, dynamic force to Victoria.

Duty of a Citizen

In Toronto recently a policeman attempted to break up a street brawl, and was promptly set upon by three men and beaten up. Of a crowd of 200 or so watching the incident, not one attempted to give the policeman a helping hand.

The peculiar psychology involved is that the gawking bystanders apparently took a delight in watching the "cops" get roughed up. It never occurred to them that they were actually breaking the law in doing so—for the Criminal Code provides that any citizen must give aid to the police in carrying out their lawful duties. Not only that—if some of the spectators had gone home and found their homes broken into, the first thing they would have done would be scream for the "cops", with perhaps some salty comments on the police force not doing its job.

In Canada, as in any democratic country, the police are the servants of the people, not the bosses. Whether handing out traffic tickets or breaking up street fights, they are acting in the interests of the community as a whole, under the terms of laws passed by the community. The legal obligation to assist the police may not be known to everyone, but any thinking citizen should be able to recognize his moral obligation to do so—and act.—Fort Erie Times-Review.

Supreme Season

(Halifax Chronicle-Herald)

Every season of the Canadian year can find its panegyrists. The warm-scented nights of summer, the harsh contrast of winter's colors, the tenuous budding of the spring—all have their attraction. But to us at least the supreme season of the year is the fall; with its clear skies and sharp-etched outlines, its bracing air and wood-smoke smell, its clear-ringing sounds and its glory of color, it ministers to all the senses in a riot of beauty.

"President McCarthy"

(Peterborough Examiner)

The notorious American Senator Joseph McCarthy seems to have constituted himself a U.S. Government above and beyond the constitutional one headed by President Eisenhower. The mighty in the land hold themselves breathless at the call of McCarthy.

McCarthy's pronouncements on topics as various as religion and taxes, literature and generalship, and his innuendos and threats on anything under the sun or above it, are broadcast to the world and discussed in whispers behind closed doors.

There has not been a revolution in the United States since the eighteenth century, nor an armed challenge to the central government since the Civil War. Are we not now witnessing a coup d'etat, vicious though bloodless, when this notorious man can usurp governmental authority, impale individual freedom on the spikes of his calumny, pollute the air with police-state suspicions, and change the home of the free into a chamber of inquisition, as outsiders see it and him?

If McCarthy gets much more rope he will hang not himself but the American democracy, and make a gallows of the American constitution.

Men's Fashions Startle London

LONDON (Reuters).—There was some fancy footwork—and a few dandy suits to boot—at a male fashion show presented here by the British shoe industry and the Men's Fashion Council.

Pointed toes, wedgie moccasins and high-buttoned boots sat on tables and tried to look dashing instead of downright embarrassing.

They hope to get the menfolk into something livelier in the way of footwear. Like the white buckskin and black patent leather combination, adorned with three pearl buttons, or the wedgie with the dangling tassles.

The pointed toes is also creeping back into men's affections, the trade says.

There were plenty of raised eyebrows in the audience too for the splendor of the clothes worn by the models.

A bearded one modelled an Englishman's weekend suit—hard-to-miss checked cloth in a fawn mixture, with a single-breasted jacket which was pleated at the sides to give an illusion of splits. Another model strode out in magnificent heather green plaid plus-fours. With it he wore a green fur felt cap.

Then came the man-about-town in his "Bermuda green dinner jacket and midnight blue trousers."

Mistaken Identity Kept Man In Jail 41 Years; Judge Orders Release

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP)—Seven men, found to have been illegally committed as prisoners, were free Friday after serving terms in state institutions for periods of from six to 41 years.

All seven wept with joy when their freedom was ordered Thursday by Superior Court Judge Felix Forte on the grounds their commitment was illegal and without even a hearing in some cases.

Judge Forte found one of the men, Elmer Bridges, had been a prisoner for 41 of his 51 years on a case of mistaken identity.

The judge said Bridges was locked up, as a boy of 10 on a charge of truancy from Tewksbury schools when, in fact, it was Bridges' brother who was the truant.

OVERCOME WITH JOY

Bridges was so overjoyed on his release he shook hands with everyone in the courtroom, from the judge to reporters covering the hearing.

All seven were sentenced to indefinite terms as defective delinquents.

The release was made possible under a new law which permits inmates to file a petition to have their cases considered. If a Superior Court judge finds they have been illegally committed he may release them. Or he may have the petitioners re-examined for a 35-day period by psychiatrists before making a decision.

OTHERS SET FREE

Several others were released in recent months when it was found they were committed illegally.

In the past, defective delinquent—feeble-mined cases with delinquent tendencies—could be committed on a petition signed by doctor and approved by a judge. Present-day methods require psychiatric examinations and court appearances.

The state corrections department now is in the process of studying all such cases and will report later to a legislative recess commission.

Burglars Tie Up Coast Couple

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three bandits forced their way into an isolated home on South East Marine Drive shortly after midnight Friday and escaped with $1000 in cash and $2000 in jewelry and household effects.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Law, young Chinese couple, told police they were awakened by the men who bound them, then proceeded to ransack the house.

YOU probably won't buy a pig of lead, a slab of zinc or a bar of silver. But you do buy many things containing these metals.

Ethyl Gasoline and the battery in your car need lead . . . a flashlight battery and galvanized pipe need zinc . . . your newspaper or magazine cannot be produced without both. In your tableware and in your camera film there is silver . . . So, eventually, Cominco comes to you in many ways.

Cominco is a typical Canadian industry—men of faith invested in it—men of vision built it—men of skill operated it. The combination was successful, and customers approved and the product sold. The Company grew and prospered. As it grew, part of its prosperity was ploughed back into new buildings and equipment. As a result it grew and prospered on a larger scale—to provide more jobs—to build communities—to develop further resources and to bring to millions, products which play an important part in their every day life.

Australian Women Horrified by "Shocking" Taste of Royal Train

By RICK STEVENS

SYDNEY (Reuters)—The museum piece" Royal train to be used by the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh during the New South Wales section of their tour of Australia has roused a storm of protest here.

Critics, mostly women, claim that the coach in which the Royal visitors are expected to travel is "uncomfortable" and in "shockingly bad taste."

The coach was built 53 years years ago for the Queen's grandfather, the late King George V, when, as Duke of Cornwall and York he visited Australia to open the first federal parliament May 9, 1901.

The New South Wales transport authorities who are responsible for refurbishing the coach for the forthcoming trip claim the train will provide "the last word in comfort."

The same coach was used by the Duke of Windsor, when as Prince of Wales, he visited Australia in 1920. Later, it was used by Queen Elizabeth's father and mother, the late King George VI and the present Queen Mother, when, as the Duke and Duchess of York, they visited Canberra to open the federal parliament buildings in 1927.

Successive governors-general, including the Duke of Gloucester, have used it since.

AMPLE BUT OUTMODED

Refurbished, the coach will have a main bedroom suite and two other suites, each with bathroom attached, lounge, dining room and small kitchen. The three suites will be enamelled in cream with gold lines.

Fittings will be gold-plated. Blinds, carpets and cushions will be Royal blue.

But critics describe the dining room furniture as "straight out of a fruity melodrama." The furniture in the lounge, they say, is "clumsy and out of scale," while the bedcovers, curtains and blinds are "gloomily suburban." They object, also, that the electric fans fitted to the walls are no substitute for air conditioning.

Whatever the Queen thinks of the train, she will have to spend only seven or eight hours traveling in it. She will make only two short journeys of about 258 miles in all. The rest of her tour of New South Wales will be by air and road.

Their flying program will take them about 10,000 miles. The Queen's willingness to fly will make it possible for her to see the spawling "outback" as well as the capital cities. Most of the time, the Queen and the Duke will fly in a special Royal Australian Air Force Dakota airliner.

SPARE PLANE

The silver twin-engined aircraft will have a lounge and observation cabin decorated in the Queen's favorite colors. It will be piloted by a Royal Australian Air Force crew headed by Sqdn. Ldr. J. G. Cornish.

Wherever it goes, a "ghost" Dakota will follow, ready to take over in case the Royal plane is held up.

The Royal couple will make 35 flights in all, the longest single hope being a little more than 1000 miles from Adelaide, in South Australia, to Kalgoorlie, in western Australia. On their only overwater flight, from Launceton, Tasmania, to Melbourne, Victoria, a four-engined flying boat will be used.

On their visit to the great barrier reef, off Queensland, the Royal pair will travel in a glass-bottomed boat which will enable them to see the multi-colored coral and marine life.

Procter Greets New Principal

PROCTER—T. Wickstrom, new principal of Procter Superior School, and Mrs. Wickstrom, were welcomed to the community by members of the Parent-Teacher Association at their October meeting. The meeting was followed by a social evening.

Plans for a Christmas party and a Hallowe'en party were discussed with a committee of three, Mrs. I. Persello, Mrs. Stoochinoff and Mrs. J. Dvorak, to order Christmas gifts. Money will come from sale of P-TA cook books.

West Arm School trophy, awarded May 28th sports day to be presented to Willow Point School, was on display at the meeting.

Re-organization of the Junior Badminton Club will be undertaken by the P-TA. The Recreation Club, which has been in charge, is dissolving.

WILLOW POINT WI HOLDS CARD PARTY

WILLOW POINT—Mrs. L. Duff, Mrs. W. Spooner and Mrs. G. J. Barr were winners at a Women's Institute card party held in St. Andrew's By-The-Lake Church rooms. Mrs. H. Aitchison won consolation prize.

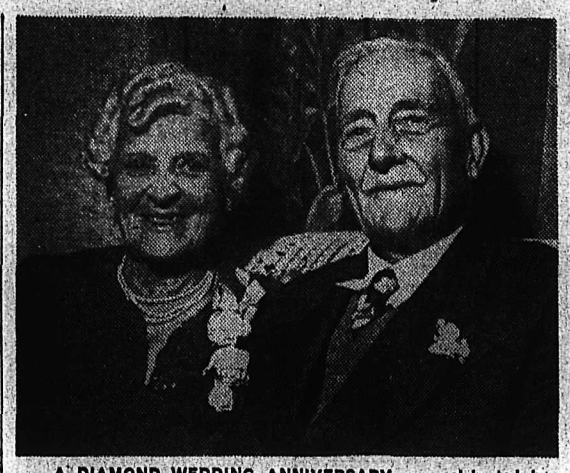
Mrs. A. M. Banks and Mrs. L. Sekay were co-hostesses.

Moyie Notes

Weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Smith were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Warren and daughter Myra, Mr. McKeil and Mr. Warren's sister, Miss Myra Warren, all of Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone and sons of Kimberley spent the weekend at their summer home.

Miss Myra Warren, teacher in Calgary is spending two weeks, the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Smith, while on a sick leave from her duty.



A DIAMOND WEDDING ANNIVERSARY was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Amas, former residents of Nelson who now reside in Victoria. They were married 60 years ago in Qu'Appelle, Sask., and came to B.C. the following year. They resided in Nelson until 1930 when they moved to Victoria.

A reception was held at the home of Mrs. Amas' sister, Mrs. W. Milburn. Among the many congratulatory letters and telegrams received by the couple, was one from Queen Elizabeth II.

Their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Grizzelle, reside at 609 Latimer Street in Nelson.

Canadian Furs Part of London Anniversary

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Period furs rubbed sleek shoulders with modern Canadian mink and sable garments at a West End fashion parade covering 75 years of fur styles.

To celebrate its 75th birthday, a British company, National Fur, reconstructed styles they had sold through the years.

So, for photographic purposes, a mannequin wearing a £3500 wild mink coat strolled down Park Lane linking arms with a period model in egg-plant satin gown topped by a sealskin jacket bound with skunk and trimmed with jet.

ELEGANT MINK

The elegant Canadian mink, with its full swing back, deep Magyar sleeves tapering to small turn-back cuff and "sunray" treatment across shoulders and back, is typical of the high-priced Commonwealth furs now sold by most ranking British furriers.

Back in 1878, however, it was a different story. In those days founder Arnold Barder opened a small shop in Kensington's Brompton road. He started production of fur jackets in sealskin, skunk and Persian lamb at prices acceptable to a wide markt, at a time when furs of ermine and sable were worn mostly by queens and princesses.

By 1901, the year of the Boer War and the death of Queen Victoria, the firm produced chinchilla coats for day wear and Russian sable lined with ermine for evening capes in the expensive bracket.

The Edwardian lovely of 1907 fancied ermine capes and coatees. In 1911, coronation year of George V, fur taste reverted to moleskin, seal and coney. Post-war year 1919 saw coats of antelope in loose-fitting styles and by 1928, when women first got the vote, favorite furs were Persian lamb and skunk.

MUSKRAT POPULAR

By 1933 the trend towards Commonwealth skins was evident in the popularity of muskrat, known here as musquash. It remained a first favorite for many years. Just before the Second World War, women tired of muskrat might purchase black-and-white African kid coats. Then, with the 1947 new look, the trend turned to soft skins like natural otter.

Now, from the Queen downwards elegant women with money to indulge their fancy choose Canadian wild mink, ranch mink, sable and dyed ermine. Muskrat and Canadian squirrel have lost ground to the lesser-priced brushed beaver, lamb and baby beaver skins.

Fur preference and styles have changed little since last year. Coat backs are straighter with side fullness, important sleeves have wide or narrow cuffs and collars range from small roll to deep capes that can be drawn around the ears.

Stoles still hold favor and a new favorite is Canadian sable in wide stoles of around six skins. Priced at £30 a skin, they are elegant choice for day or evening wear.

Tea, Sale Brings $160

GRAND FORKS—More than $160 was realized by the Grand Forks Hospital Auxiliary at a tea and bake sale held in the IOOF Hall here.

Attic Could Provide More Growing Space

Remodelling the attic is an old dodge for the man whose offspring are growing faster than his income—but it's never been as easy, as cheap, or as fast as it is today.

Casting around for some place to bed down his expanding family, his eyes usually wander upward to that ugly square panel in the hall ceiling that leads to the attic.

"Ah," thinks he, "there's enough room up there to quarter a regiment. If only we had the money to hire a carpenter.

"That's no problem," chirps up his wife. "I was reading just the other day how any modern husband can remodel the attic himself with no more tools than . . ."

And that's how it usually begins.

Actually, hubby's got no real worries. There's nothing in the job that thousands of amateurs aren't ding successfully all across the country.

When they started most of them knew less about squares, levels and plumb-bobs than they knew about Tibet.

Because attics vary so much in size, style and construction, step-by-step instructions are hard to come by. But with a few basic rules, any handyman should be able to come up with a couple of handsome bedrooms for well under $1000 overall cost. Some have done it for half that. And, of course, it's easy to double the price if you want a luxury job.

First of all, the whole project should me thoroughly planned on paper. Close measurements should be taken, and the rooms you want, their windows and the stairway leading to them should be carefully laid out.

If you're not positive you've done the paperwork correctly, see an architect, draftsman or apprentice and have him check it over. Sometimes building supply dealers keep an expert on the staff to help with that job.

The stairway, particularly may be tricky to plan. And if you need dormer windows, they should be balanced with the rest of the house for a harmonious overall effect.

Here are a few pointers to help from there on:

FLOOR: Check your attic floor joists. Ask an expert if they're strong enough to support the new load. If not, you may have to double them over the longer spans.

Cover them with fir plywood, about five-ply, then linoleum, or tile, or wall-to-wall rugs. But save this step 'till the last.

INSULATION: If the attic floor was insulated before you decided to put it to use, it may pay you to remove the insulation and replace it in the attic walls or roof. It won't do much good where it is, except keep out of your new attic rooms the floor heat they should be getting from below. If you're worried about sound control, however, you may prefer to leave it.

WIRING: If possible, run a line of BX cable from a space in your utility panel. Put in wall switches, outlets and ceiling lights before you finish the walls. Your electric company, or the municipal office where you get your permit may be a good source of information. (They'll tell you, too, if the by-law requires a licenced electrician to do the job!)

HEATING: You can probably run a couple new ducts up from your furnace, if the furnace has sufficient capacity to handle the extra load. If not, look into electric or gas space-heaters.

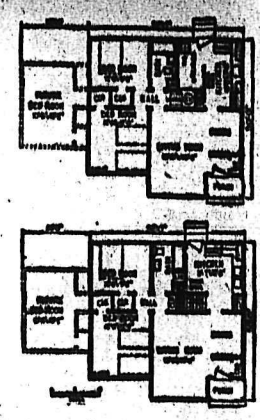
DORMERS: They're not nearly as difficult as they look. Get instructions from your lumber dealer, enlist the help of a carpenter-friend for an evening or two if you're in doubt.

WALLS: If they're correctly sized, your 4x8 plywood panels should fit exactly and nail up in a few hours. Pick out a decorative plywood for unusual effects.

That's your sailing orders, mate. Take it from there!

Pilley's Island in Notre Dame Bay on the north coast of Newfoundland was once an important copper-mining centre.

The Modern Home



The introduction of stone and change in roof design affords two choices of exterior for this four-room home. Planned for the possible addition of an extra bedroom, this ranch type home has a large living room with dining alcove, plus two spacious bedrooms. Snack space in the kitchen gives added efficiency.

These plans are published for the interest and information value only. The Daily News cannot supply detailed blueprints or specifications. Those contemplating building homes should consult a local architect, designer or builder.

Painting Schools Now Is a Science

That little red school house probably wouldn't have become such a fond memory among older generations had it been painted any other color.

Children are attracted to red. That's why toys are often painted red. Red is the color they associate with so many of their happiest moments like Santa's red suit, the excitement of clanging red fire engines, bright Valentine cards and rosy-colored candy sticks.

Strangely enough, few seem to remember much about the appearance of the old fashioned school room such as the colors of the walls or whether they were painted at all.

Today, the only red on the exterior of modern schools is usually in the brick. If some of the present crop of pupils grow up to associate a particular color with happy school days, it will probably be the cheerful but restful walls of a special classroom, of a gym or a kindergarten. Red is, too stimulating and distracting for school interiors.

UNDERSTANDING

The development and effective use of paint in schools is now based on a thorough understanding of scientific color principles. According to a color conditioning manual issued as a guide to architects, school trustees, principals, teachers and maintenance staffs, color creates an environment that helps form viewpoints and attitudes of children who can then enjoy their school as much as their home.

They become more regular in their attendance, more orderly in their habits and it has been found that they have greater respect for well-kept premises and show less tendency to deface them.

Proper color conditioning makes it possible for children to see more accurately and quickly with less fatigue. Their health, as related to nervous strain, is improved and their alertness increased.

The manual urges school authorities to select colors with the thought that the rooms are being used by children and so the atmosphere being created should be condusive to their enjoyment of the activities in which they participate.

KINDERGARTEN

Among the color schemes suggested is one for a kindergarten which consists of soft lime green walls, window sashes and frames with accents of salmon pink on the mouldings and cupboards. Since these tots are still in the play period of their lives, the rooms should be cheerful and bright to awaken in them quick, lively responses.

Color schemes for a regular classroom with a northern exposure include walls of soft yellow with doors, dado and trim of nutmeg brown. Two subtly blended tones of blue are worked out for a classroom facing south and two shades of green with a ceiling in tusk ivory for one with a western exposure. Two tones of yellow with deep salmon pink and dark squirrel grey are recommended for domestic science rooms. One color scheme for school kitchens is planned around yellow walls and white enamelled cupboards and cabinets with sharp jade green shelves.

Research in the popular acceptance of colors has revealed decided color preferences clearly divided by sexes. The majority of women prefer warm tones, while men largely select blue as their favorite hue. Recommended color combinations for school washrooms are frank attempts at catering to these known preferences. They feature Wedgewood blue and horizon blue for boys and beige with a greyed pageant red for girls.

Bath Towels In New Role

If you'd like to add a bright new note to your bathroom, devise a clever new way to hang your towels. After all, there's no law that says towels must always be "wall flowers," hung limply over the old familiar towel bar. And today's towels are so attractive that they really deserve special display.

A handful of pennies plus a headful of inenguity can go a long way toward transforming your towels from the aforementioned "wall flowers" to glamorous decoration.

For instance, if the man of the house is handy with a hammer, you might urge him to have a fling at the few hours carpentry it takes to make an attractive lattice-work towel ladder.

This is a natural for towel-hanging. It provides all the bar space you need, is highly decorative, and serves as a good separator between bath and lavatory areas in your bathroom.

Be Sure To Hang Draperies Right

Draperies are usually among the first objects to attract a visitor's eye, and they can often do wonders to give a room color, warmth and character.

If the draperies are not hung correctly, however, the whole effect may be marred and the room wil lnot look well-groomed.

Fortunately, this pitfall is easily avoided. Decorators' secrets for hanging draperies so they'll afll into graceful long lines, are not hard to learn.

First of all, the drapery rod must be even and straight. And for the draperies themselves to be effective, fullness of fabric is of paramount importance.

The rule is "two to one." In other words, the fabric should be twice the width you want the drapery to be when it's pinch-pleated.

HELPFUL HINTS TO HOMEMAKERS

Specially designed for infants and toddlers who pop everything into their mouths, are new "chewable" toys that are completely nontoxic, will float in the bathtub and can be cleaned with lukewarm soap suds.

Waste paper baskets that can be rinsed out under a cold water tap are among the plastics industry's latest contribution to easy housekeeping. Moulded of flexible polythene, they will outlast most conventional types.

Once every six weeks is often enough to replace the nutrients which potted ferns absorb from the soil. If the fertilizer is in powder form, measure out one level teaspoonful and mix it into the top soil. Ferns should not be over-fed.

To make wallpaper really washable in quickly soiled spots such as around light switches, sinks, stoves or in children's rooms, brush or spray the area with thin, white shellac. Test on a piece of wallpaper first as the shellac may change the walls' reflective properties, though it won't normally alter the color. Two coats will protect wall decorations such as maps and posters.

Around the KOOTENAY in Sport

By BILL McLOUGHLIN

TRAIL—As Randy Turpin was reported to have said following his loss to Bobo Olson, "I was mentally out of shape," the Smoke Eaters might very well have said the same thing following their loss to Nelson Thursday night.

The Smokies were victims of a mental condition that has been diagnosed by more astute observers as overconfidence. Trail was all set to make it three straight and by the same token Nelson Leafs were almost willing to admit they couldn't beat Trail. Somewhere along the line the thinking process of the two clubs became intertwined and as the results indicate the Leafs were the beneficiaries of a much needed shot in the arm.

Not that Trail gave up. On the contrary, they were working, but apparently at cross purposes. The type of organization that gave the Smokies the two straight wins in two league starts was lacking almost entirely in the Thursday night destruction of Moe Young's machine.

Willie Schmidt, the former Penticton Vee rearguard, set about to destroy the Smokies and he accomplished this feat with the able assistance of a weak Trail defence and the meanderings of an attacking force which concerned itself with the puck and ignored the basic and sound principle of how to win games and influence the fans. For the most part, it was a game that drew the attention of the customer and satisfied him to the tune of his ticket stub receipt. A win would of course have sent him home happier. However, it would be both unfair and unsound to accuse the Nelson Maple Leafs of being the fortunate victims of a host's generosity.

There was no denying that the Leafs looked the better for a "get tough" policy and the return of Lee Hyssop and Willie Schmidt to the lineup didn't dim their lustre. Despite their improved showing, the Leafs did have a clear field and their activities behind the Trail blueline were rewarded to the extent of eight goals.

YOUNG TO TRY CURE

Trail coach Moe Young returned to his inner sanctum following the game and has come up with what he hopes will be a cure for the club's ailment. The cure should have far-reaching effects. They will be pronounced either satisfactory or inadequate following tonight's game on the home ice of Nelson's pride and joy—The Leafs.

The first part of Doctor Young's prescription calls for a bolstering of the defence. This will come in the form of Gordie Sinclair. As you may recall, Mr. Sinclair had a change of heart of late and after considerable consideration reached agreement with the Smokie executive which before was termed improbable if not impossible. Sinclair, marking his third season with the Smokies, will replace Kenny Cook, who will thus be able to regard Don Appleton from the far reaches of the bench.

As a second part of this prescription, Young has shaken up the third line with a vigor that would do justice to the most determined host wishing to satisfy the thirst of his guests.

Frank Turik, who, until last Sunday, was in a similar position as Gordie Sinclair, will centre the line which will include Young and Bobby Kromm. Kromm, who rejoined the Smokies along with Turik and Sinclair, will take over from Gordie Robertson, while Young will replace Norm Hyssop.

As we said before, the results of the treatment will be available late tonight.

SPORTING EXTRAS . . . Hockey fans in Trail will be able to stroll down to the Cominco arena again this Sunday as the Cominco Big Four Hockey League resumes operation . . . Three familiar entries and one new sextette will step to the ice as the yearly Sunday wars commence to the satisfaction and observations of the critics . . . If anything an improved and colorful league is anticipated this year . . . Earl Braemer has permitted his name to precede the new entry (lovingly referred to as the Braemer Bulls) while the OK Recaps and the Metallurgical Mets have banded together under the OK banner . . . Rossland forms the third entry and 'tis rumored that former Smokie Louis Secco will be playing coach of the club . . . Fourth and final entry comes the Trail Juniors, who, although lighter and smaller than the past two seasons, will be a hustling club . . . Bert Milne will mastermind the Juniors, Johnny Fischer the Bulls and the OK Recaps are trying to decide between Chuck Casey and Herby St. Jean . . . STORY OF THE WEEK concerns a Trail hockey fan who sat in on the Vernon-Penticton game a week ago Friday . . . The scholarly, silver haired gentleman in company with a friend was perturbed in his corner seat at the repeated remarks of Referee Bill Nielson. Nielson, so the story goes, made good use of his command of the English language in telling Penticton players to keep their sticks down . . . As the cross-checking continued and Nielson's remarks became hotter, the fan suggested, in a voice loud and plain, that Nielson might be more effective if he refrained from speech and made more use of the space provided in each arena for the use of players who run afoul of the rules. It isn't definitely known just what effect the remarks had on Nielson, but they obviously shook the Okanagan referee. The next two incidents sent two Penticton players to the penalty box.

Dynamiters Blast Spokane For Second Night in Row

KIMBERLEY—Taking advantage of a series of first-period penalties, Kimberley Dynamiters came from behind and defeated the Spokane Flyers 6-4 before a gathering of 1200.

The Dynamiters had fashioned their margin for two goals in the opening stanza, three in the middle frame an done in the final period. Young Art Gold replaced injured Earl Betker in the Kimberley net and turned in a remarkable showing.

Betker suffered a nasty cut above the left eye in Thursday's game which required six stitches to close, but he will be available for Tuesday's fixture against Kamloops.

Spokane drew first blood at 14:22 when Johnston blasted in Rozzini's passout.

An elbowing penalty to Ramsden opened the gate to the Dynamiters' next two goals. Buck Kavanagh scored at 18:08 and a minute later Gordy Andrea rifled in a long screened shot to give Kimberley a two-to-one lead.

The Dynamiters started the sandwich session like a roaring fire and slapped three goals behind Fodey before the clock had passed the eight-minute mark.

Les Lilley goaled at the 4:18 mark when he broke at a mile-a-minute clip and practically shifted defenceman Ralph Luke and goalie Jerry Fodey out of the arena.

Spokane came roaring back with two counters before the period ended to make the count read five to three.

Play continued to shuffle up and down in the third stanza and finally at 6:56 Buzz Mellor scored his second goal when he rapped in Cal Hockley's rebound.

Two minutes later Ramsden closed the scoring book for the evening when he tested Art Gold with a high shot.

The Flyers never recovered from the two-goal deficit and a 10-minute misconduct penalty to captain Red Tilson took the starch out of their hats.

Buzz Mellor sparked the Dynamiters to their second straight victory with a brace of goals, singletons going to Andrea, Kavanagh, Lilley and Sullivan. Johnston, Rozzini, Toole and Ramsden were the Flyers marksmen.

Doug Toole deserved a star for the splendid job he turned in killing the Spokane penalties.

Doug McDonald was sent to the hospital bay when he went headfirst into the boards late in the second period.

Spokane picked up eight of the 12 called penalties.

Lineups:

Kimberley—Goal, Gold; defence, Andrea, Jones, Craig, Hughes, Sullivan; forwards, Kavanagh, Hockley, B. Mellor, R. Mellor, McNiven, Bell, Lilley, MacDonald, Larson.

Spokane—Goal, Fodey; defence, McDougall, Reeves, Grebinsky, Luke; forwards, Hodges, Rozzini, Johnston, McNally, Scott, Toole, Ramsden, Tilson, Lundmark, Carlson.

SUMMARY

First period—1, Spokane, Johnston (Rozzini, Grebinsky) 14:52; 2. Kimberley, Kavanagh (Sullivan) 18:08; 3. Kimberley, Andrea (Hockley) 19:46.

Penalties—McDougall, B. Mellor, Grebinsky (3), Reeves, Andrea, Ramsden, Hodges (2 mins., plus 5 mins.).

Second period—4. Kimberley, B. Mellor (Sullivan, Kavanagh) :42; 5. Kimberley, Lilley (Larson, Andrea) 4:18; 6. Kimberley, Sullivan (McNiven) 8:40; 7. Spokane, Rozzini (McNally, Johnston) 10:28; 8. Spokane, Toole (Lundmark, Luke) 15:14.

Penalties—Hodges (2), Bell.

Third period—9. Kimberley, B. Mellor (Hockley) 6:56; 10. Spokane, Ramsden (Tilson) 8:14.

Penalties—Craig, Tilson (10 min. misconduct).

TWO TO TRY TOM FOOL

BALTIMORE (AP)— Hampton Stables' Alerted and E. P. Taylor's Navy Page were named to try to deal Greentree Stables' Tom Fool his first defeat of 1953 today in the Pimlico Special.

There will be no betting on the mile and sixteenth race, the third time this year that Tom Fool has run in what amounts to an exhibition because of scarcity of competition.

The winner will receive $30,000, second $10,000 and third $7500 so that all starters will collect.

Tom Fool has won all nine starts this year.

Basketball Thrives At Notre Dame College; Many New Faces

Basketball is beginning to bud into a big thing for boys at Notre Dame College. This year's aggregation of players should be the best crop in the three years the school has had this sport, it is felt.

Only five players of last season's crop have turned out for the team this semester, but an additional six newcomers are working into the fold.

Of last year's members, hard working Bud Godderis will be the best known. This will be Godderis' third season with the club and his aggressiveness along with his ability to pot baskets will no doubt see him again as one of the stars of the team.

Reni Masi will be serving his second term with the club as a centreman and guard. Masi was well up in the team scoring column, but had to take second place behind the high scoring Bud Godderis, last season.

The other three returnees are Tom Spencer, Pat Poulin and Nils Sjoberg.

Of the newcomers, Gene Godderis, brother to Bud, looks to be the most likely prospect to make good. In practice sessions Gene, who last season was rated as the top centreman on West Kootenay while playing for the Rossland High School, has looked like a star in the making, for he can shoot baskets from various positions and his checking is superb. He, along with brother Bud, should give the club a one-two punch that will win them many a game this season.

FROM COAST

Ray Paris also is expected to add strength to the club, for he has seen a lot of court action while playing for Vancouver College.

Both Gordon Guidi and Leo Smith come to the team via the Okanagan where they played with the Oliver High School last season, winning the South Okanagan championship.

Another Rosslander, Tom Spring, is also trying out with the club. Tom, a brother to Jack Spring whom fans saw this past summer playing lacrosse for the Rossland Redmen, remained out of basketball last season, but when rounded into shape should prove a value to the team.

One other player, Terry Keaugh of Revelstoke, is also working out.

Again this season the club will be coached by "Dez" Corry, who needs no introduction to the basketball fans, for he played last season with the Nelson seniors and the season before was a help to the Castlegar Dominoes in the Trail league.

Corry is returning for his second year of coaching Notre Dame and he believes this season's club to be much stronger than that of last season.

The club hopes that this season it will play many more games than were played last season, which was a fair season for the club.

Besides playing the Nelson senior team and the High School Bombers it is hoped to have games with Rossland, Trail, Castlegar and possibly Fernie and Creston.

Last season against the Bombers the club split a pair of contests and also split a pair with the Fernie High School team.

The club will also play a two-game, home and home exhibition series with Spokane's Gonzaga freshman team.

MONTREAL (CP)—A group of dental experts say there isn't a "drug, medicine or toothpaste" that can cure pyorrhea—the greatest single cause of toothache. A panel of McGill University dental faculty experts told the Canadian Dental Association pyorrhea causes loss of more teeth than all other dental diseases combined.

Humez KO'd In 6th By Durando

PARIS (AP)—Ernie Durando of Bayonne, N. J., Friday night knocked out Charles Humez of France in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round middleweight boxing match. At the finish Humez was on his knees and apparently fully conscious but he failed to get up as the referee counted 10.

Durando floored Humez at 2:30 of the round with a hard left and a right to the head. As Humez tumbled backward, he almost pulled Durando with him.

Referee Rene Schneman waved Durando to the opposite neutral corner as Humez sat on his haunches. After Durando reached the designated corner, Schneman started his count. At four Humez rose to his knees and seemed to be ready to get up and resume the combat.

As Schneman tolled eight, nine and 10, Humez seemed eager to get back into the fight but he did nothing about rising to his feet. As soon as Schneman designated Durando the winner, Humez got to his feet in great consternation and seemed completely befuddled.

Nelson Cricket Club Reports Great Season

Members of the Nelson Cricket Club held their end-of-season meeting in the Civic Centre Wednesday night. Honorary President Bob Main, Chairman Charles Rushby and Captain Ted Young expressed gratification for the Club's successful first year addition to sporting circles, and held high hopes for the future. A number of potential players has already been lined up for next season and it is within the realms of strong possibility that Nelson can produce two teams for local competition.

In addition to the Trail games, it is hoped to arrange matches against Naramata and Kelowna, and possibly an All-Star Okanagan team, and in this connection the Club intends to contact the Civic Centre Commission early next year for an allocation of playing time on the ball grounds in order that a fixture list may be drawn up. The Club grateful for the assistance the Commission had given this season in granting playing time, but it had been difficult to arrange home games depending on week-to-week planning.

With the printing of a fixture card it is intended to approach interested supporters who would not be actual playing members but who might wish to be honorary members.

The management committee reported on efforts made to obtain practice nets from Vancouver, and these should be ready for use well before the opening of next season.

Secretary Bernel Ford's financial statement showed that the club had been self-supporting, with a small balance in hand. It was pointed out that it is not the object of the club to make money, but to provide recreation facilities for those who possibly would not be taking part in other summer sport.

A letter to Bob Main from the Trail Club was read, in which Trail Members expressed pleasure at having competition close at hand, and commending the local club on the standard of play obtained in a short space of time. The season had been enjoyed by both clubs, and there is no doubt that 1954 will see even better duels.

School Curlers To Hamilton For Championship

Word has been received by T. A. Wallace that the Canadian School Curling championships will be played in Hamilton, Ontario, this winter.

It was reported that in the past difficulty was experienced in declaring a provincial champion due to the early date set for the finals for the province. This year Hamilton has agreed to start their playdowns February 22 instead of the 15th, the previous date.

Wallace said that he thought the B.C. playdowns would be run off in Trail on the last Friday and Saturday in January.

H. C. Oersted, noted Danish physicist who died in 1851, was 22 years old before he earned his high school certificate.

Leafs, Smokies Resume Ice War In Nelson Tonight

Nelson Maple Leafs, after getting back into the good graces of their fans with an 8-5 victory over the Trail Smoke Eaters Thursday evening, will attempt to make it two in a row tonight at the Civic Arena.

Coach Willie Schmidt, after expressing delight in his team's performance on Trail ice, said he would go along with the same aggregation that came through with the win in Trail.

Boomer Rodzinyak will be between the pipes with Bruno Pasqualotto, George Barefoot, Ernie Gare and Coach Schmidt himself on the defence corps.

Lines will remain as they were on Thursday, when Lee Hyssop centred Jimmy Lowe and Bill Haldane on one line; Clay Lavell centering the two Koehles, Fritz and Red, on another line, and Don Appleton working between Mickey Maglio and Herb Lovett.

Schmidt was well pleased with this lineup as each line and the defensive crew produced.

It is possible that coach Moe Young of the Smokies may shuffle his lineup for this encounter in an effort to again hit the win column.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

H V J L C H D T E S V L C Z W V K V J B V A, T L C Z F V V W D H C J V Z A L T D K C T W J V Q J V A — D T W Q R V A P W.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: WHAT WE DO DETERMINE OFT WE BREAK. PURPOSE IS BUT THE SLAVE TO MEMORY—SHAKESPEARE.

Japanese Buying Barley On Largest Scale

WINNIPEG (CP) — Japan has made the largest-scale purchase of Canadian barley this season.

Trade reports said Friday that Japan bought 15 cargoes, representing about 6,200,000 bushels, of Canadian barley. The higher grades were involved, with 6-row and 2-row purchased. Shipments were scheduled from both Atlantic and Pacific seaboards.

Small sales of Canadian feed barley also were made to the United Kingdom.

Market Trends

market turned mixed after a higher start.

Canadian stocks were mixed. Canadian Pacific advanced ⅛ and Distillers Seagram added ¼. Dome Mines slipped, McIntyre lost ¼.

TORONTO (CP) — Most prices were lower toward the close of trading, as volume continued brisk.

Industrials were the only gaining group, led by refining oils and steels.

MONTREAL (CP)—Prices continued quiet in afternoon trading. Fractional minus signs held the edge over gains.

Mines were irregularly higher in slow trading as Dominion Asbestos, Merrill and Steeloy firmed. Western oils continued to decline fractionally.

LONDON (Reuters)—London was unsettled but the undertone remained firm.

Featured was a rise in banking issues. This followed a reorganization of the capital of Barclays Bank and a dividend increase for some of the shareholders.

Socreds Reject Sweepstake Vote

VANCOUVER (CP) — A suggestion that the people be asked for their opinion on a government-supervised sweepstake was rejected by the almost 500 delegates at the annual convention of the B.C. Social Credit League here Thursday night.

A resolution submitted by the Vancouver East Constituency Association would have had the government conduct a plebiscite to determine the people's feeling on a sweepstake, the profits of which would be used to assist hospitals, public welfare and worthy charitable organizations.

If the people agreed to the scheme, the provincial government would be asked to request the federal government to amend the criminal code to allow a sweepstake.

One-Time Atom Commissioner Warns Russians

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, Friday said "the next Soviet aggression" anywhere must be regarded as an invitation to use atomic bombs—possibly on Russia herself.

Dean said in a speech delivered in connection with the 50th anniversary of the motor truck industry of Southern California that "the time has come when we must be very clear and very blunt in our dealings with the Soviet."

"I believe the time has come to make Russia understand that if she moves in any quarter of the globe she will be struck and struck hard, not simply at the front line of her aggressive troops but at every element which supplies those troops.

TOLERATE NO DEBATES

"Let's tell them, and mean it, that while we hate the thought of using atomic bombs, the next Soviet aggression must be regarded as an invitation to use them, if need be, to stop the aggression.

"Let's tell them we will tolerate no debate as to the meaning of aggression. Such debate might take years. We'll know aggression when we see it.

"But if there be any doubts on this score, let's make it plain that it is aggression when a mortar or weapons carrier from Skoda works of Czechoslovakia is found next to a dead man from the Western world. That's enough. It is enough when a MiG, employed to assist an aggression, can be traced to a Russian factory."

U.K. Buys Less Canadian Wheat

By SYDNEY GAMPELL

LONDON (Reuters) — An overnight statement by a Canadian wheat board spokesman that Canada was selling wheat to Britain in "substantial quantities" occasioned little comment here.

No figures for Canadian sales are available here but British importers estimate that in the new international wheat season which started Aug. 1, Canada's sales both to Britain and other countries must be less than a third of those in the corresponding period last year.

SALES LOWER

Sales under the International Wheat Agreement are officialy disclosed. Excluding Britain from last year's figures—since she is not a member of this year's agreement—Canada's sales are 31 per cent of what they were in the same period last year.

British experts reckon htat current sales to Britain are unlikely to be in higher proportion, if as high.

British mills are getting half their requirements of imported wheat from the British government, which has large stocks. They are buying the balance on a hand-to-mouth basis in the open market for fear prices will decline.

Shipments from Canada, as distinct from sales, are only moderately lower than last season. Traders say this is because purchases made by the British government and others before the end of last season are still being shipped.

COMMANDER VISITS

OTTAWA (CP) — The commander-in-chief of Pakistan's army, General Mohammed Ayub Khan, is coming to Ottawa next Monday for a series of conferences with senior Canadian defence officials. He also will tour Ontario military installations during a four-day visit.

India's rice production of 28,400,000 tons in 1952-53 was the highest on record.

Now is the time to take stock of your Winter requirements for utility vehicles.

Lima President Greets CPA Party

LIMA, Peru—This South American country rolled out there carpet Friday to greet Canada's first direct air service inaugurated by CPAL.

Grant McConachie, head of CPAL, and his party of Canadian government and airlines officials were formally received by President Manuel a Odria of Peru at the palace and later met the Peruvian cabinet at the Canadian Embassy as guests of H. E. Emile Vaillancourt. A luncheon was planned by the minister of aeronautics to honor Hon. Ralph Campney, senior Canadian government representative on the flight, and a dozen other official and private functions were on the list.

20-HOUR FLIGHT

Meanwhile, top pilots of the Canadian Pacific Airlines are using the big plane, which flew here in approximately 20 hours from Vancouver, to familiarize themselves with the routes and landing places which they will use in the regular service from Canada which opens next Saturday. These men are all veterans of CPAL Australian and oriental services including the Korean airlift. Mr. McConachie and his pre-inaugural party will take off on the return flight to Canada across the equator next Monday.

'King' And 'Queen' Of Cocos Isles To Entertain Elizabeth And Duke

COCOS ISLAND, Indian Ocean (Reuters).—Queen Elizabeth and he Duke of Edinburgh, on the way ome from their tour of Australia nd New Zealand, will pause for a rief visit to the tiny group of Cocos islands, in the Indian ocean April 5, 1954.

There, they will meet John and Daphne Clunies-Ross, "king" and "queen" of Cocos.

The Cocos islands have played a valuable part in two world wars. On North Keeling island lies the wreck of the German cruiser Emden, marking the scene of Australia's first naval victory. That was in the First World War.

CORAL AIRSTRIP

Today, it has an airstrip of crushed coral which cost nearly $3,000,000 to build, and it was an air base of importance in the Second World War.

On approaching Cocos, the first the Queen and the Duke will see of the islands will be a great mass of palms, apparently floating on the horizon. A break in the reef allows ships to enter a safe, calm harbor and as the liner Gothic draws into this anchorage, the deep green of the sea gradually becomes lighter and the coral sea bed can be clearly seen through the crystal-clear water.

The natives of the Cocos Islands are already excited about the prospective Royal visit. Festivities will go on for days. A highlight will be the dancing, by the natives, of traditional scottish dances and reels.

NATIVES IMPORTED

The first John Clunies-Ross who settled the islands in 1827 imported from Malaya the ancestors of the present natives to work the coconut plantations.

The Clunies-Ross family has remained ever since. In 1886, the islands were ceded to George Clunies-Ross and his successors in perpetuity. Every successive head of the family has become governor —,or more usually, "king."

Handyman Sentenced To Hang For Peace River Trapper's Death

PEACE RIVER, Alta. (CP) — Henry Alexander Alfred, 23-year-old handyman, has been sentenced to be hanged for the murder of George Craig, a Peace River district trapper whose charred body was found in the ruins of a burned cabin early this year.

The guilty verdict was returned after a trial of three days, with two night sittings. The jury deliberated less than 90 minutes and Mr. Justice E. B. Wilson sentenced Alfred to be hanged Jan. 26, 1954.

Alfred was also charged with the murder of Harold Sherris, Craig's partner, whose body was found about three miles from the burned cabin, buried under a light covering of earth, branches and snow. However, the crown proceeded with the Craig murder charge first.

Asked if he had anything to say before sentence, Alfred said, "No."

HIGHLIGHT OF CASE

Highlight of the hearing was a trial-within-a-trial in which three statements by Alfred were presented for consideration by the court.

The trial judge ruled two statements admissable but barred the other.

In one statement admitted to the court, Alfred told RCMP of going to the cabin of the two trappers March 26. The men were not there but arrived shortly after. Craig went into the cabin but Sherris and Alfred remained outside.

Alfred said that after a few words, Sherris threatened him and told him to leave, and threatened him with a gun. Alfred said he shot Sherris, the bullet knocking him down. Alfred shot him again in the back of the head.

Craig had barred the door to the cabin and Alfred then threw gasoline on the door and started a fire which destroyed the cabin and resulted in Craig's death.

USED TRACTOR

Alfred said he used Craig's tractor to transport Sherris' body to a point three miles away where he buried it in frozen muskeg.

A search for the men started April 14 and Craig's body was found a short time later. Sherris' body was not found until April 24.

Alfred was arrested April 15 shortly after a bank robbery at the town of Grimshaw. He was convicted and sentenced to three years. While in custody he was questioned in connection with the missing trappears and made a statement leading to his being charged with murder.

Prince Rupert School Head Dies; Aged 55

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) — Allan M. Hurst, 55-year-old principal of Booth Memorial High School here, died suddenly while playing cards with friends on a cruiser at the Prince Rupert Yacht Club.

During the Second World War, Mr. Hurst was director of YMCA war services in British Columbia. He served overseas in the First World War in which he was severely wounded.

Ottawa Licenses New TV Stations

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier Friday authorized the licensing of five new, privately-owned television stations.

The television stations concerned include those operated by Calgary Television Ltd. in Calgary, Alta.; the Sunwapta Broadcasting Co. Ltd. of Edmonton and A. A. Murphy and Sons, of Saskatoon, Sask.

May Extend Korean Deadline, Pearson

WINNIPEG (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson says "there is no reason" why the Oct. 28 deadline for the start of the Korean peace conference cannot be extended if necessary.

In Winnipeg to attend the annual convention of the Manitoba Young Liberals Association, Mr. Pearson was commenting at a press conference Friday on the visit to the Far East by Arthur Dean, U.S. special envoy.

The envoy will meet Communist officials Monday to discuss the peace conference, and Mr. Pearson said "we are anxiously watching to see if Mr. Dean succeeds at Panmunjon."

But, if he failed, there was always the possibility the deadline would be extended.

Korean Casualty Figures Issued by United Nations

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Final casualty figures for the Korean war, still clouded by uncertainty over the fate of thousands missing who may be dead, indicate both sides suffered a toll of more than 3,000,000.

Based on figures from official and United Nations delegation sources, total casualties for the UN side are figured at 1,476,269, of which the Republic of Korea total is 1,312,836, the United States 144,173 and the 15 other UN Allies 17,260. Canada's total was given as 1,396.

In all but a few instances, the figures ran past the July 27 armistice date.

ABOVE STANDARD UNIT

Along with almost-complete casualty tolls, delegation sources have revealed that the UN Allies actually put onto the front thousands more men, through rotation and replacement, than the standard size of a unit. From three to six times the strength of a unit finally served on the front.

Turkey, for example, with a unit of 5000 men, had personnel numbering 29,882 during the three years Turkish troops were on the front.

Troop losses generally figured in ratio to the standard size of the unit involved.

BREAKDOWN

Republic of Korea: Dead 415,004, wounded 428,568, missing 459,428, returned prisoners of war 7848, prisoners still claimed to be in enemy hands 1988. Total 1,312,836.

United States: Dead 25,604, wounded 105,961, missing and presumed dead 7955 as of Oct. 9, captured and returned 4631 (adjustment of Aug. 19 figures), prisoners now in repatriation compound 22. Total 144,173.

Britain: Dead 710, wounded 2278, missing 1263, captured 766. Total 5017.

Canada: Dead 291, wounded 1072, missing 21, captured 12. Total 1396.

Turkey: Dead 717, wounded 2246, missing 146, captured 219. Total 3349.

Australia: Dead 291, wounded 1240, missing 39, captured 21. Total 1591.

France: Dead 288, wounded 818, missing 18, captured 11. Total 1135.

Greece: Dead 169, wounded 543, missing 2, captured 1. Total 715.

Thailand: Dead 114, wounded 794, missing 5. Total 913.

Bridges Calls For Trade With Reds To Spur American Merchant Marine

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Harry Bridges declared recently more federal aid was needed to bring "strength and stability" to the shipping industry and called for the reopening of trade with Red China and Eastern Europe to help stimulate the American merchant marine.

The powerful president of the independent International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union gave his views at a hearing by a Senate subcommittee on maritime subsidies.

GENERAL DISAGREEMENT

Bridge's plea for renewed trade with Communist and satellite nations brought general disagreement from the congressional probers.

"Until those countries stop being our enemy and stop killing our kids, we shouldn't even send them a piece of cotton," snorted Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.).

Bridges shot back: "You've asked me to talk about economic problems in the maritime industry, but now we're bringing up political problems."

Bridges suggested government assistance in the shipping industry—also voiced by shipowners, builders and cargo forwarders.

"You mean then, Mr. Bridges, that you want to see a healthy free enterprise situation for the shipping industry?"

Smiling, the union chief said:

"I know ships are run for profit, and they don't run unless they make a profit and we want to see the ships run. Now anyone can put that together the way they like."

DENIES DIFFICULTIES

Bridges denied that "waterfront labor difficulties," as asserted by some witnesses, were responsible for shipping troubles. He said labor conditions were good and will "probably improve in the future."

Harry Lundeberg, leader of the AFL Sailors Union of the Pacific and a longtime enemy of Bridges, listened to the ILWU leader's testimony and declared:

"He spoke just like an employer. He's the best spokesman they have."

N. Ireland Keeps Link With U.K.

BELFAST (CP)—The Northern Ireland Unionist government, firm advocate of maintaining the link with Britain, is once again firmly entrenched in power as a result of the recent election.

With 13 results to come, the state of the parties bidding for the 52 Ulster House of Commons seats was: Unionist 31; Nationalists 4; Labor and Independents 4.

In the previous House the Unionists had 37 seats and the Nationalists, who advocate union with the neighboring Republic of Ireland, had nine.

The Unionists have been in office since 1921, when Northern Ireland was given a separate Parliament.

Lord Brookeborough, who has been prime minister since 1938, heralded his party's victory as a wholehearted endorsement of the government's policy to keep Northern Ireland "part of the great Commonwealth and to have the British way of life."

Coast Shipping Office To Close

VANCOUVER (CP)—A shipping firm which has been operating in port of Vancouver for half a century will go out of business Oct. 31.

Canadian Australasian Line is ceasing operations, says general manager T. W. Brawn, because it has no more ships.

Last of the company's vessels was the MS Aorangi which was taken off the run recently and broken up in a British shipyard.

The company's office will now become a branch of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand which jointly owned Canadian Australasian with the Canadian Pacific Railway.

U.N. Soldiers To Face Japanese Police Courts

TOKYO (AP) — An agreement giving Japanese police and courts jurisdiction over British and other United Nations soldiers who commit crimes against Japanese while off duty was reached here Friday and will be signed next Monday.

It follows closely a pact covering the jurisdiction of American security forces which goes into effect Oct. 29.

Commonwealth countries refused for more than a year to give Japan criminal jurisdiction over their troops stationed in Japan or visiting Japan from Korea.

Commonwealth countries represented were the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

London Denies Churchill Report

LONDON (CP)—A government spokesman Friday denied a United States press report suggesting that Sir Winston Churchill is considering attending the current United Nations General Assembly to urge a settlement of critical East-West issues.

The report, carried in the New York Times, said Churchill had discussed with his advisers the possibility of attending the assembly session to "use this dramatic means to urge settlement of critical issues between the Soviet Union and the Western powers."

The Times quoted "a reliable source" as saying Churchill discussed the plan with several Conservative members of Parliament at the Conservative party conference at Margate, England, held Oct. 5-11.
