All Dealers Cut Gas by Four Cents

Major Oil Firms Follow Imperial Action; All Gas To Be Down Today

Retail price of gasoline was reduced four cents by most Nelson gasoline dealers Thursday.

The action followed announcement by Imperial Oil Ltd. Wednesday of a 3.3 cents cut in wholesale gasoline prices. Imperial Oil garages and service stations adapted their pumps to the new retail prices of 47 and 49 cents during the day, and by nightfall all other oil companies had advised dealers they were reducing their prices similarly.

British American Oil Company Ltd., McColl-Frontenac Oil Company Ltd., Shell Oil Company of Canada, Ltd., and Standard Oil Company of B.C. Ltd. all were notified of gasoline and fuel oil reductions in line with those of Imperial.

FUEL OIL DOWN

Wholesale price of gasoline was cut to 28.9 cents a gallon and furnace oil dropped 1.9 cents a gallon to 23.6 cents.

By today, all premium gasoline will be selling for 49 to 49½ cents a gallon and regular gasoline at 47 cents at retail outlets. The prices include 10 cents government tax and dealer's markup of 20 per cent.

Imperial's announcement apparently caught the other companies by surprise and there was some confusion over the situation in Nelson Thursday. One big garage cut prices immediately, another followed at noon and other dropped prices during the afternoon. Dealers other than Imperial began cutting prices as notifications arrived from the Coast, but some were waiting until today in order to clear old stocks. One dealer didn't wait, and received word of the reductions shortly after putting them into effect himself.

Local dealers applied a reduction of 7/10 of a cent to the 3.3 cent wholesale cut, giving motorists benefit of a full four-cent drop.

Retail prices had been 50½ and 53 to 53½ cents.

At Trail, retail price for regular gas dropped five cents to 46.4 cents. It was explained by one source that transportation costs accounted for the slight difference in Nelson and Trail prices.

Anti-Reds Hard Hit in East German Spy Hunt

BERLIN (Reuters) — The East German government's noisy security drive has struck a heavy blow at democratic underground movements in the eastern zone, anti-Communist sources here said Thursday.

Behind the sound and fury with which East German leaders whipped up a hunt for "spies, saboteurs and terrorists," active anti-Communists were being hit hard and suffering "heavy losses" the spokesmen here said.

At the same time East Germany's state security chief, Ernst Wollweber, claimed that "a serious blow" had been given "American-backed" spies in recent raids by his police.

At a meeting in East Berlin, he said life now has became dangerous for enemy agents.

Wollweber added that the number of persons arrested in the 24-hour operation last Saturday was much higher than in previous security roundup and said that other agents in East Germany could expect arrest as "a matter of course."

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—Mervyn Hutson, 28, Thursday night was convicted of murder in the sex-slaying of three-year-old Susan Hutchins and was sentenced to be hanged Feb. 9.

Hutson showed no emotion when sentenced was passed by Mr. Justice J. C. McRuer.

Money Talked Louder

ATHENS (AP) — She tried passionate advances, she tried poetic love letters. They all failed.

So 44-year-old spinster Catherine Tsakaracos — helped by four cousins—kidnapped handsome, 24-year-old shepherd Athanassios Kapsalas from Castania village, central Greece, and took him to the hills.

Still she failed to win his love.

Then a distant relative died in the United States and left her $3000.

Now Catherine is Mrs. Kapsalas.

All U.K. Food Rationing To End In 1954

LONDON (Reuters) — The government announces that next year it will return Britain's $1,400,000,000 meat business to private industry.

The food ministry said Thursday all food rationing will end next year and at the same time the government will go out of the meat business. Rationing has been in effect for 14 years.

The government has handled the purchase of all meat since the war but has always left its retail distribution in private hands.

The white paper set no date for the change over but unofficial sources in London believed it might be as early as May.

The decision on meat is another step away from government control of industry. This year the steel and transport industries, nationalized under the Socialists, were returned to private control, and Sir Winston Churchill's government has steadily trimmed down the bulk purchasing of various goods and given the job to private business.

PRICE MAY RISE

The sweeping de-rationing order means housewives will be able to buy as much as they like in groceries and butcher shops. But with price controls off meat, they probably will have to pay more for better cuts of meat.

Ten days ago Food Minister Gwilym Lloyd George promised to remove butter, margarine and cheese from the ration list.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Evidence from a drunkometer was used in a Canadian court for the first time here Thursday.

Introduced by the crown, the evidence was used to convict motorist Fred Saprunoff on a charge of driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol. He was fined $50 by magistrate W. W. B. McInnes.

TWO KILLED, 12 HURT IN RIOTS

Police Quell Pro-Italian Demonstrations

TRIESTE (AP)—Pro-Italian demonstrations got out of hand in this disputed city Thursday and territorial police, shooting to break up a riotous, hostile crowd, killed two persons and wounded 12.

Scores of other demonstrators and police were injured in other fighting around the strategic port, a part of the Trieste free territory's zone A that Britain and the United States proposed Oct. 8 to turn back to Italian administration. About three dozen were taken to hospital.

The shooting came in late afternoon near the Roman Catholic Church of St. Anthony in downtown Trieste. A priest was reconsecrating the church because of blood spilled in it during a wild melee between students and police earlier in the day.

As hundreds of students crowded around the church for the ceremoney, a riot police jeep moved into the throng. Students began hurling paving blocks and sticks at the occupants.

TRIED HOSES

Witnesses said the police tried to fight free of the crowd, but failed. Police used fire hoses in a vain attempt to break up the riot, then opened fire. A youth of 17 and an elderly man were killed.

Shortly afterward, trucks bearing armed British and American troops moved toward the centre of the city.

It was the first time they had been called out during the two days of demonstrations and rioting, touched off by Wednesday's celebration of the 35th anniversary of Italy's victory in the First World War.

Officials protested the police actions to the Allied commander.

PM Names First B.C. Woman to Fill Vacancy Left by Ian Mackenzie

OTTAWA (CP)—Gray-haired Mrs. Nancy Hodges has added another "first" to her brilliant public career.

The 65-year-old newspaper columnist and former member of the B.C. legislature Thursday became the first British Columbia woman to be named to the Senate. Her appointment was announced here by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

She made political history in 1949 when she was named Speaker of the B.C. legislature, first woman to hold that position in a Commonwealth legislature.

Mrs. Hodges was cooking breakfast at her home in Victoria when she heard the news of her appointment.

"Oh my goodness gracious," was her startled comment.

(See Also Story on Page 8)

She said she considered the appointment "a tribute to the women of B.C. rather than a personal honor to me."

The appointment brings to five the number of women in the Senate. The others are Senators Cairine Wilson, 68, of Ottawa; Iva V. Fallis, 70, Peterborough, Ont.; Margareta B. Jodin, 71, Montreal; and Muriel McQueen Ferguson, 54, Fredericton. Present Senate standing is Liberals 81, Progressive Conservatimes 13, vacant 13.

The appointment fills a B.C. Senate vacancy left unfilled since the death Sept. 21, 1949, of Rt. Hon. Ian Mackenzie, former Liberal defence minister and later minister of veterans affairs.

Native of London, England, she married Harry P. Hodges in 1910 and two years later accompanied her newspaper man husband to Canada.

She helped him publish the Kamloops, B.C., Sentinel for a number of years until they moved to Victoria, where Mr. Hodges became legislative reporter for the Victoria Times, later being appointed editor of that paper until his retirement three years ago.

LIFE-LONG LIBERAL

A life-long Liberal, she made her first bid for election to the B.C. Legislature in 1937 and was defeated. But she returned to the political wars in 1941 to win a seat and quickly became a major power in provincial Liberal circles.

In December, 1949, she was named first woman Speaker of the Legislature, a position she held with much dignity until the collapse of the Liberal Progressive Conservative coalition government in 1952.

A fast, capable worker, she wrote a newspaper column "One Woman's Day" for the Victoria Times while carrying on her legislative duties.

Mrs. Hodges has repeatedly advised youngsters that the first step towards success is strict adherence to the old maxim of "early to bed, early to rise."

Doctor Says Cancer Will Be Conquered

NEW YORK (AP) — Drugs to conquer cancer are sure to come, Dr. Michael B. Shimkin of San Francisco said Thursday.

He and associates have fired 42 chemical bullets at cancers in hopelessly ill children, men and women in the last five years.

Some drugs did a little good, but about comparable to snipers trying to halt an advancing army. Yet the promise in the few temporary successes gives the basis for hope, Dr. Shimkin told the American Cancer Society's annual meeting.

"We have a tremendous stirring and development in chemicals against cancer which must be crowned with success — whether in 10 to 20 years or when I do not know, not being born a soothsayer."

Dr. Shimkin is chief of the laboratory of experimental oncology study of tumors, at the National Institute of Health. Of 492 patients treated, 467 had advanced cancers, apparently hopeless. In last-ditch attempts to save them, they received one or more of 42 different chemical agents that have come from various research laboratories.

By last September, 90 per cent had died. But seven per cent lived for more than five years from the time their cancers were detected, including 80 persons with acute leukemia or blood cancer, usually quickly fatal.

Three Escape From Oakalla

VANCOUVER (CP)—Prison farm officials here are looking for three escapees—two who made it "the hard way" and one they let out by mistake.

Ronald McGuire, a 34-year-old picture of innocence, murmured not a word as he stepped through the gates after serving only 233 days of a 729-day sentence for fraud.

An Oakalla prison official said that a check showed several men were released Thursday and that "McGuire's card was pulled from the files by mistake."

The two other men, who had to make it without "help," are Edward Johnson, 20, and Kenneth Hupe, 19, who fled from a work gang during a rainstorm Thursday.

FIRST MAYOR BY ACCLAMATION

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP)—John G. McNiven, a mining engineer and chairman of the local trustee board for the last year, was elected Yellowknife's first mayor by acclamation Monday when nominations closed for the Nov. 16 election.

The district no longer will be the administrative district of Yellowknife, but will be called a municipal district. The board of trustees will be named the municipal council and will consist of eight members and the mayor.

Blind Vet Goes Hitch-Hiking

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A blind war veteran who hitch-hiked here from Vancouver early this year set out Thursday to thumb his way to Montreal.

William Kear, who lost his sight while serving in the Second World War, said he expects to return to Vancouver by Christmas.

Kear told friends here he decided to hitch-hike to Montreal to pick up his winter clothes, which were sent there in error, instead of having them shipped to him here.

He said he took up hitch-hiking because "I like to move around."

Fit as a Fiddle

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent was given a routine medical examination about three weeks ago and was found in "very good health," a spokesman in his office said today.

"There was nothing extraordinary about the medical examination," the spokesman said. It was simply a routine check-up."

The spokesman said that most men of Mr. St. Laurent's age visit their doctor regularly for a check-up. The prime minister will be 72 next Feb. 1.

Treated His Friends

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Milton Minchin, 78, was given $554 by mistake at a bank and "I did what any good Irishman or Scotsman would do—I treated my friends."

Minchin, a veteran of two wars, told magistrate Donald B. Menzies he treated his friends to five bottles of whisky. When arrested late on Oct. 29, the day he received the money, he still had $511.

Minchin was convicted of theft and given a six months suspended sentence.

B.C. Woman Marks 100th Birthday

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — Mrs. Alice Jowett, pioneer British Columbia hotelwoman and prospector, celebrated her 100th birthday Thursday.

Her blue eyes sparkling, Mrs. Jowett said she believed she was born in 1849, but that her birth was not registered until four years later in her native town of Bradford, Yorkshire, England.

In 1880 Mrs. Jowett, whose husband had died a year earlier, set out for Canada and set up a confectionery business in Vancouver. Seven years later she purchased a hotel at Trout Lake in interior B.C. remaining there for 56 years. While operating the hotel she staked several gold and silver claims.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ENROLMENT UP

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 10,000 increase in Sunday School enrolment during the last five years was reported Thursday night at the conclusion of the 65th annual meeting of the B.C. Synod of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

The B.C. Synod was charged with raising $35,000 of the $1,000,000 budgetted to operate the church in Canada during 1954.

WOMAN FALLS DOWN ELEVATOR SHAFT

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — A 67-year-old Fort William woman, Mrs. Margaret MacNair Thursday fell 20 feet to her death down an elevator shaft at a sanatorium here. Authorities said Mrs. MacNair apparently mistook the shaft for a corridor.

Religion Only Way Says Massey

MONTREAL (CP)—For Christians, the only way out of the world's confusion is their religion, Governor-General Vincent Massey said Thursday.

In a speech prepared for the Montreal Council on Christian Social Order, the governor-general said social order today suffers from a sense of futility and insecurity born of the intellectual confusion of a largely secular society.

The totalitarian state had sought a way out of confusion through its unifying but blind worship of force.

"It is a terrible synthesis. The Christian paradox represents an alternative; for Christians it is the only alternative."

"Today we seem to have lost sight at once of the Divine Being and of the Divine Plan. We find ourselves instead peering into a great and terrible machine with no one in control."

U. S. Airlines Asked to Close Canadian Routes

OTTAWA (CP)—Two United States air lines, Pan American and Colonial, have been asked by the Canadian air transport board to show cause by next Dec. 15 why they should not discontinue certain operation practices on U.S.-Canadian routes.

The services involved are Colonial's trans-border routes on the Atlantic seaboard and Pan American's West Coast service to Alaska.

RETALIATORY MEASURE

J. R. Baldwin, chairman of the board, said Thursday the discontinuance of the practices referred to would not necessarily mean interruption of the services.

The situation arises from the recent restrictions placed on Trans-Canada Air Lines by U.S. civil aviation authorities, interfering with their proposal to operate a Canada-to-Mexico City service using a single aircraft for each flight.

The U.S. civil aviation authority blocked TCA plans because of the proposal to use a single aircraft to operate two services, in spite of the fact that there was no pick-up of passengers in Tampa for the Mexico City flight.

SIMILAR OPERATIONS

When this action was taken the transport department announced it would review some of the existing operations of U.S. air lines flying into Canada.

The "show cause" order involves similar single aircraft operations carried out by the two air lines into and through Canada.

CHURCHILL RECALLS...

Stalin Was Reluctant to Have Veto

NEW YORK (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill says Premier Stalin agreed at Yalta to president Roosevelt's suggestion that the Big Four nations have the power of veto in the United Nations Security Council.

Stalin was reluctant, at first, Sir Winston relates, saying "he feared that though the three great powers were allies today and would none of them commit any act of aggression, in 10 years or less the three leaders would disappear and a new generation would come into power which had not experienced the war and would forget what we had gone through."

Sir Winston then quotes Stalin as saying:

"All of us want to secure peace for at least 50 years. Therefore we must now think how to secure our unity in the future, and how to guarantee that the three great powers and possibly China and France will maintain a united front. Some system must be elaborated to prevent conflict between the main great powers."

Britain's wartime and present prime minister tells of the Yalta conference in early 1945 in the third instalment published in Life Magazine, of "Triumph and Tragedy," the last volume of his Nobel Prize winning memoirs. In Canada, publication rights are held by Weekend Picture Magazine and its associated newspapers.

Sir Winston relates the late president, "looked frail and ill" when he arrived in the Crimea for the conference. En route home, Sir Winston met President Roosevelt at Alexandria, Egypt, and described him as seeming "placid and frail."

"I felt he had a slender contact with life," Sir Winston says. "I was not to see him again."

A few months later, on April 12, President Roosevelt died.

POLISH QUESTION

A future government for Poland was described at seven of the eight plenary meetings at Yalta, Sir Winston says. Russia was insisting that a Communist-dominated group it referred to as the Warsaw government be used as the base. Sir Winston relates Britain had supported what was known as the London government, a Polish government in exile.

Feeling between the two Polish groups was bitter and Sir Winston says he and President Roosevelt pressed for a new Polish government representative of a majority of all the Poles.

Russia finally agreed to reorganize the Warsaw government, Sir Winston relates, "on a wider democratic basis, with the inclusion of domecratic leaders from Poland itself, and also from those living abroad."

This reorganized government was to hold free elections as soon as possible. He quotes Stalin as saying elections in Poland would be held within a month.

GREEK FIGHT

Sir Winston also tells how the Communist-led party, EAM, and its fighting force, ELAS, tried to seize Athens after the withdrawal of German occupation troops. He sent British forces into Greece in October. A civil war between Communist sympathizers and the police began early in December.

With street fighting raging in Athens, Churchill flew to Greece, arriving Christmas Day. He went to see Archbishop Damaskinos.

"It was agreed I should ask the king of Greece to make him regent," says Sir Winston. "He would set about forming a new government without any communist members. We undertook to carry on the fighting in full vigor until either ELAS accepted a truce or the Athens area was clear of them."

Back in London, Sir Winston and Foreign Secretary Eden told the king of Greece "if he did not agree the matter would be settled without him," and the king agreed.

And in This Corner...

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Joseph Taomaskovich, an $85-a-week steel worker, has a new job, tax collector of nearby Franklin borough at about $50,000 a year.

Taomaskovich's regular job is at the Bethlehem steel plant. But as tax collector he'll take down a 2½-per-cent commission on approximately $400,000-a-year taxes paid by the steel plant, and an additional $100,000 revenue by other property owners.

Tax collecting from the steel company is no problem nor time-consuming endeavor. It takes only about an hour's work annually. And Taomaskovich has the job for the next four years.

CANASTOTA, N.Y. (AP)—A Canastota family enjoyed an unexpected pheasant dinner Wednesday. The bird crashed through a kitchen window at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Debalso and suffered a broken wing. Mrs. Debalso used a sheet as a net to capture it.

FARMINGTON (AP)—Members of the Fur and Fin Conservation Club at Farmington high school worked like beavers to clear a piece of land for a tree nursery.

And what happened?

The cleared land has been chosen as the site for an addition to the school building.

CHEBOYCAN, Mich. (AP)—Put this city along the straits of Mackinac down as likely having the strangest harbinger of winter. It is the disappearance of parking meters.

City council has ordered them picked up Nov. 10 and stored until spring. Icy winds whipping between Lakes Michigan and Huron chill the oil, and they don't work properly in winter.

Doug Cummins Honored At Banquet On Retirement As Branch Manager

About 35 agents, friends, and wives gathered in the Round Up Room Thursday night to pay tribute to F. D. (Doug) Cummins on the occasion of his retirement as branch manager of the North American Life Assurance Company in Nelson.

E. H. Hanley, the company's general superintendent of agencies, travelled from the Toronto head office to take part in the banquet tendered to Mr. Cummins.

A suitable retirement gift in the form of a gold cart was presented to Mr. Cummins by his associates. A beautiful bouquet of 'mums was presented to Mrs. Cummins.

The banquet was also chosen to officially announce Alan Martyn as successor to Mr. Cummins as branch manager. Mr. Martyn has been assistant manager at Nelson since May of this year.

Near a dozen telegrams were read by Mr. Hanley from friends and associates which expressed congratulations to the retiring manager and which paid tribute to his work with the company. Included were wires from the president of North American Life, the general manager of that company, the president of the Imperial Bank of Can, a Justice of the Supreme Court of B.C., and company managers in Vancouver, Penticton and Calgary.

STOOD HIGH

Mr. Hanley spoke movingly of the friendship and association formed in the company over the years and said the present occasion was "very glad and very sad". It was joyful because tribute was being paid to one respected "in the community, eastern British Columbia, and in the North American Life Association."

It was sad, he said because "the clock of time has run down". What really matters in the final analysis, Mr. Hanley went on, is not how a man is rated by dollars and cents, but how he stands in the eyes of his fellow man. "I know Doug has stood high", he said.

"The clock of time has been rewound for Doug and his wife", he pointed out, "because he is stepping out of one role into another". Mr. Cummins will continue to give service and advice as a North American Life representative to his numerous policy holders and friends he has made in the Kootenays during his almost quarter-century of service to the Life Insurance industry, said Mr. Hanley in an earlier interview.

Tribute was paid to Mrs. Cummins for the "unselfish role she has played" while helping her husband in his business.

MODEL BRANCH

The general superintendent of agencies, said Mr. Cummin's branch had kept pace with the growth of the company which increased five-fold in the last 25 years.

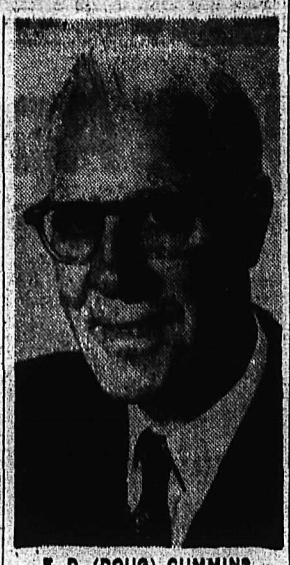
Others testified that the Nelson branch had always been held up to them as a model of efficiency and production.

The new manager, Alan Martyn suggested he would have "large shoes to fill" but felt with the co-operation of all and the guidance of Mr. Cummins, the company would continue to move forward.

Those attending the banquet came from Seattle, Kimberley, Cranbrook, Fernie, Trail, Rossland and Robson.

1929 START

Mr. Cummins joined the company in 1929. While a special representative for North American Life at Nelson in 1936, he was awarded a trip to the company convention in Toronto by qualifying for membership in the Production Club.



F. D. (DOUG) CUMMINS

. . . retires as Branch Manager of North American Life Assurance Company.

While West Kootenay representative for the company in 1941, Mr. Cummins was awarded a Victory Bond as a bonus for his achievements in the insurance selling field.

He was made branch manager in Nelson in 1942 and that same summer the Nelson office was awarded the Midsummer Cup by the company for the greatest amount of business written during August and September in any of the non-metropolitan areas in Canada. Mr. Cummin's branch wrote in those two months double the business done the previous year. It marked the first time the cup had come to Nelson since 1924.

VETERAN

He first arrived in Nelson as a boy in 1896 and is a veteran of four years in the First World War.

He was elected president of the Nelson Gyro Club in 1940, is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, and member of the Knights of Columbus, holding the office of Chancellor.

An ardent hockey fan, his numerous hobbies include curling, golf and gardening.

His successor, Alan Martyn, was born in Victoria and educated at the University of Washington at Seattle.

Mr. Martyn joined the Winnipeg Rifles, went overseas in 1943, was taken prisoner in Holland in 1944, and was a member of the "Death March" from Poland to Western Germany, a distance of some 500-600 miles. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge.

He joined North American Life as a representative at Seattle in 1946 and graduated from the company's head office school. He was appointed assistant manager at Seattle in 1951, and became assistant manager at Nelson in May of this year.

Major Trail City Projects For 1954 Foretold; Safety Drive Planned

TRAIL, B.C.—Trail Junior Chamber of Commerce heard reports from city officials at its annual civic night held Thursday. Acting mayor F. A. Sindell extended greetings for Mayor E. G. Fletcher and the city council.

Having served as alderman and in various city chairmanships during the past seven years, Mr. Sindell reviewed the major developments during that time. Trail had gone through a period of major expansion and development since 1946 and was fortunate in having a progressive and efficient council.

"Building a city that is suitable, safe and pleasant to live in costs money." More or less subdued by finance and unforeseen disaster the program for 1953 was unable to be fulfilled, but the prospects for more major jobs in 1954 looked bright.

Referring to a Trail front-page criticism belittling a year's work well done he thought that this was a poor method of interesting young people in civic affairs.

MILLION-DOLLAR BUSINESS

Alderman L. A. Reid spoke to the members on city financing pointing out that it was big business amounting as far as Trail was concerned to nearly a million dollars. Alderman C. J. Martin gave a report on the UBCM convention. City engineer J. D. Reid also addressed the meeting briefly.

TRAFFIC SAFETY

The juniom chamber conducted a brief business session. After listening to Swel Groutage of the Trail Film Council they agreed to assist in a traffic safety campaign. Mr. Groutage said that suitable safety films will be shown at the Junior High auditorium on Nov. 13.

Well-Known Traveler Dies

Emil Wilkelm Borgens of Calgary died Wednesday night in his sleep at the home of a Nelson friend. His death was caused by a heart attack.

Mr. Borgens was born in Russia 51 years ago, coming to Canada at the age 11. He worked for a butchers and packers supply firm in Calgary and was well known to the food industry retail trade. He has been travelling through the Kootenay for 25 years.

Mr. Borgens was an ardent sportsman in his younger days and was a keen hunter and fisherman. He had just returned from a hunting trip with a Nelson friend in the Creston district.

Surviving are his wife, two daughters, Eileen of Lethbridge and Loretta of Calgary; three brothers, Charles, Victor and Walter, all of Calgary; one sister, Mrs. Mary Wade of Calgary and one stepsister, Mrs. Richard Palmer of Nelson.

Fire Destroys Boyes Home; Fund for Rebuilding Started

Mr. and Mrs. George Boyes, well known Nelson residents for many years, fled for their lives in an early-morning fire which destroyed their Kootenay Lake home Thursday.

The ashes were hardly cool before friends had rallied to their aid.

The Boyes home was situated on the South side of the lake at Nine-Mile, opposite Russels Landing. Mr. Boyes had spent many years building the log home and with his wife had moved there to begin farming only a year ago after selling their Nelson home. Last Spring they purchased 150 chickens as a starter to serious farming. He had just completed two more rooms, including a modern bathroom.

Nelson Lions Club members met at 547 Baker Street Thursday night to open a drive for funds, and the club decided to contribute $100. Additional donations will be collected at this address.

Friends and members of the club plan to assist Mr. Boyes in rebuilding his home this weekend.

Ceiling of their bedroom was ablaze when Mr. and Mrs. Boyes fled, and it is believed the fire may have started in the chimney. The fire in a heater had been allowed to go out as Mr. Boyes had planned to install a new one Thursday.

The couple fled in their nightclothes and all they were able to save were some suits of Mr. Boyes' which he grabbed from a wall hook as he fled. They spent the rest of the night in a house across the tracks where Lieut.-Col. Dunsmore was residing. They are staying there for the time being.

The destroyed home was partly insured.

Mr. Boyes was formerly City Electrician and is well known as a loyal Nelson Maple Leafs hockey team supporter.

Cherry Pie, Brook Trout Lunch Prime Tourist Lure, Says Expert

"Let's encourage British Columbians to see B.C. first", Nelson and Trail Chamber of Commerce representatives were told at a meeting here.

Commissioner of Vancouver Tourist Association James V. Hughes, at an informal dinner suggested to Nelson and Trail Chamber members ways of improving tourist trade in the area.

One of the things a tourist recalls long after the thrill of a snow capped mountain has vanished is the food he was served. "The Kootenays are overlooking a good bet when they don't feature food native to their area," Mr. Hughes felt. Kootenay cherries and brook trout are the finest in the province he said and should be utilized.

To attract the tourist residents "should be direct, friendly and co-operative. There is no advertisement like courtesy", the former Nelson man believed. A good test of your courtesy is the question "what would I like if I were coming to a strange place. They are as human as you", he explained.

Coast travellers are finally becoming interested in the Okanagan, the tourist expert said, "but have still not discovered the Kootenays." "For my part I will do everything I can to publicize the Kootenays from my desk," he told the meeting "and I hope in turn you will encourage your people to see the coastal areas."

"The Kootenays are also overlooking a good bet in road signs," he felt. "Victoria hit on one good slogan when it chose 'Follow the birds to Victoria.' It has done more for Victoria with its human touch that any other form of advertising."

What the Kootenays needs is a good slogan to circulate. Often referred to as the "Queen City of the Kootenays", it has every possibility for a drawing slogan. Trail, too, with the biggest non-ferrous metallurgical plant in the world, has something to show people.

"B.C. lacks road signs," Mr. Hughes told the group.

CO-OPERATIVE ADVERTISING

Mayor Joseph Kary suggested all B.C. bureaus should get together with the government to adopt a fitting slogan for the province as a whole. He also suggested the government should support co-operative advertising. Tourist industry is big business from which the government also derives benefit.

"Don't overlook the possibilities of regional conventions," Mr. Hughes warned. Americans, if given a choice will choose Canada simply because it is "foreign." "Money brought from this business is important to an area," he felt.

DON'T AMERICANIZE

He also cautioned against Americanizing our cities for the tourist. "Don't fly the American flag," he warned. "Americans come to Canada because it is foreign. If they wanted to go to an American city they stay in Salt Lake City or Spokane."

Mr. Hughes came to Nelson as a boy with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Hughes, from England in 1908. He receive his education here and worked with mining companies in the district until 1929 when transfered to a Vancouver mining office.

He is a past president of the Automotive Transport Association of B.C. and of Vancouver Board of Trade Transportation and Customs bureau.

Saturday Is Poppy Day

Nelson will observe poppy day Saturday.

Acting Mayor J. H. Coventry in a proclamation set aside Saturday as the day when all Nelson people should wear poppies to commemorate the fallen of two world wars.

The proclamation stated:

"Whereas 319 men of this district gave their lives in defence of Canada in World War I and World War II;

AND WHEREAS the memory of their service and, sacrifice is a source of inspiration of all citizens as our nation ever faces new difficulties and dangers;

And Whereas this memory is kept ever bright by the annual wearing of memorial poppies in their honor, and the honor of all other Canadians in world war service;

NOW THEREFORE: I, J. H. Coventry, Acting Mayor of the City of Nelson do hereby proclaim Saturday, November 7, to be Poppy Day in the City of Nelson, and urge that all citizens observe the day by wearing the memorial poppy of the Canadian Legion."

Quebec's total area of 594,000 square miles constitutes 15 per cent of all Canada.

Shriners' Ball To Be Gay Event

Fourth annual Shriners Ball promises to be as gay an occasion as the past three.

Nelson Shrine Club members worked late Thursday night and will continue today, to transform the Civic Centre ballroom into a fairyland. Streamers of red, yellow and green, Shriner colors, adorn the hall, but other decorations were being kept under wraps until the first of the expected 600 dancers arrive.

E. L. Vance was in charge of decorations and the workers were led by William Young president; Jack McClelland, convener; and Ed Avery, co-convener.

The well known red fez will be worn by the celebrants and novelties, horns, blowouts, balloons and so on will add to the affair. Jobs Daughters are assisting. A buffet lunch at midnight is planned.

Shriners are well known for their work in aiding crippled children in Canada, the United States, Honolulu and Mexico, and a number of district children are leading normal, useful lives because of the treatment they received in the Shriners Hospital at Spokane.

E. W. KOPECKI

E. W. Kopecki Heads Kiwanis

Well known Nelson businessman, E. W. Kopecki will guide activities of Kiwanis Club next year.

Mr. Kopecki was elected president, succeeding L. S. Gansner, at the club's meeting at the Hume Thursday night. Installation will be in January.

Norman Buckley was elected first vice-president; J. S. Livingstone second vice-president; and Donald Donaldson, W. H. Langridge, Donald Hunter, W. Pfeffer, Frank Eberle, E. W. White and Stanley Morris were elected directors.

Many Attend Last Rites For W. R. Jarvis

A large number of friends attended funeral services for William Reginald Jarvis, pioneer police chief of Nelson, held from St. Saviour's Pro-Cathedral Thursday afternoon.

Very Rev. T. Leadbeater officiated at the service.

Two hymns, "Jesus, The Very Thought of Thee" and "Now The Day Is Over", were sung.

Pallbearers were Thomas Dolphin, C. B. Garland, David Maloney, Alfred M. Noxon, R. Bain Oliver and Walter H. Smedley.

Interment was in Nelson Memorial Park.

Mr. Jarvis died in Nelson, Monday. He was 91.

Trail Sailors Down Air Cadets

TRAIL — The Trail Sea Cadets made a miraculous comeback Thursday night when they defeated the Air Cadets 29-20 in the second basketball game of the season. The Sea Cadets showed a great improvement after their shellacking last week. The win of the Sea Cadets was due partly to the flashy playing of their star centre Doug Byers who stowed away 17 points. Ray Doucet was also an asset to the sailors by hooping eight counters. Fred Walker led the scoring for the Air Cadets with 5 points most of which were obtained on foul shots.

Former Kimberley Man Dies at Coast

KIMBERLEY—A pioneer Kimberley resident, Gus Hedquist, died at Vancouver at the age of 69. He moved to the coast from Kimberley in 1945 with his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hedquist, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hedquist, Edward Hedquist and Mr. and Mrs. H. Cotnoir have returned from Vancouver where they were called by Mr. Hedquist's death.

The blue-and-white United Nations flag was first flown at Lake Success, N.Y., in 1947.

Cranbrook Rink Opens Today

CRANBROOK — In a sudden switch of plans City Parks Board arranged opening ceremonies for Cranbrook Memorial Rink with its new artificial ice facilities for Friday offering free skating for children during the afternoon and for adults in the evening before the rink goes on a commercial operation basis.

Official opening ceremonies of the project—building and installations of which cost $127,400 — are set for Friday evening at 8 o'clock, Mayor Sang and the City Council will be present along with presidents of the Gyro Club, Rotary Club and Cranbrook Branch of the Canadian Legion, all of which gave strong financial support to the project after it was proposed during the war years.

The exhibition hockey game by Western International Hockey League teams could not be arranged at this time and may be played later in the season. New Cranbrook skating club artists will take part in the program which will be followed by free skating for adults.

Castlegar Building Over $14,900

CASTLEGAR—There were 14 building permits issued here during October, totaling $14,925, village inspector David Seaton reported to Castlegar board of commissioners Tuesday night.

A number of building projects were completed during the month, Mr. Seaton said, leaving 59 yet to be completed by Oct. 31.

Skunk, Squirrel, Trailites All on Friendly Terms

TRAIL—"Oops! Certainly no foothold in that foliage," Wilbert, the squirrel, must have surmised as he fell to the floor at the home of Owen Hesketh of Trail. Wilbert looked for a moment with a puzzled air at the undependable window and then scampered hurriedly off to get out of the way of "Stinky", the skunk, who was ambling over in his direction.

The animals are the pets of Mr. and Mrs. Hesketh and children, LaVerne and Velda.

Both pets were acquired near Nelson on the North Shore. Wilbert came up and joined in on a picnic. LaVerne picked him up and he has been one of the family ever since. Once he left the house for awhile and sadness developed the family for they thought he would never be back. But a few hours later an investigation of a scratchy noise upstairs revealed Wilbert trying to get back in through the bathroom window.

Locked in his cage for the night Wilbert performs with somersaults and backflips sometimes for two or three hours at a stretch and has to be placed in some remote part of the house so the family can sleep. With the freedom of the house he thinks nothing of flying for 20 or 30 feet from a chesterfield to window curtains. It was grabbing hold of a curtain which had been unwittingly changed to plastic that Wilbert met his downfall and fell to the floor.

The important thing about Stinky, who is about seven months old, is that he has been propetly deodorized. This way he makes a wonderful pet the family agree. Clean in habits and a friendly little creature, he is able to hold his own against cats and dogs. He stamps his feet and away they go.

Post Office Business Soars

CRANBROOK—Business at Cranbrook post office soared to $63,703.06 in October as compared with $53,424 for the previous month, a summary by Postmaster E. T. Girling shows.

Postal meters and postage stamp revenue was slightly up at $3578.81 compared with $3546.16 for the same month last year. Money orders purchased numbered 2878 compared with 2434 last October and money orders paid numbered 847 compared with 912 for the same month last year.

Tumbling volume of employment in the district during the month, the last nine days of which included the lumber strike, is shown in the sale of unemployment insurance stamps. Sales totaled $3249.48 for the month compared with $6370.72 for the same month last year.

Get-Acquainted Banquet Held

CASTLEGAR—A gay, informal-style social evening was enjoyed in the Twin Rivers Hall at Castlegar by directors of the Kinnaird-Robson-Castlegar Welfare and Recreational Society, their wives and invited guests.

Bert Lamb of Robson was master of ceremonies for the banquet and social evening.

On the program was a number of films by Archdeacon B. A. Resker and songs by talented local vocal artists.

Mr. Lamb set the mood with his light-hearted, extemporaneous repartee. He asked the 27 persons present to introduce themselves just before sitting down to the banquet. Following the meal, he explained the evening was arranged to let directors' wives meet the men whom their husbands meet with once a month at the KRC meetings and let the directors themselves become better acquainted with their fellow directors.

Vocal entertainment was supplied by Tannis and Babs Killough and Wally Walper of Kinnaird.

A committee headed by J. F. Killough was in charge of the program.

Trail Doctor Elected President of West Kootenay Medical Group

NEW DENVER—Dr. F. M. Auld of Nelson was named honorary president and Dr. L. B. Wrinch of Trail, president of the Kootenay Medical Association at the annual meeting here.

Doctors from West Kootenay centres gathered at New Denver to take part in a clinical session, business meeting and banquet.

Other officers elected were Dr. W. J. Endicott of Trail as vice-president and Dr. G. R. Barrett of Nelson as secretary-treasurer.

Guest speakers at the business meeting which followed a banquet in the Knights of Pythias Hall were Dr. Geddes Large of Prince George, president of B.C. division; Dr. G. G. Ferguson of Vancouver, executive secretary of B.C. for the Canadian Medical Association; Dr. R. A. Stanley of Vancouver, representative general practitioner section of the B.C. Canadian Medical Association, and Dr. J. R. Nade of Vancouver, chief medical officer of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

Clinical session was held during the afternoon in the auditorium of Lucerne Junior-Senior High School and included reading of papers accompanied by slides. A film on cancer was also shown.

Commission Sets Nov. 13 As Date For Negotiations

CASTLEGAR—Fixtures for the 33 new street lights recently applied for have been ordered and lights will be installed as soon as possible, commissioner David Campbell told a Castlegar village commission meeting Tuesday evening.

On Mr. Campbell's recommendation present lights in the business section of town and along the highway through town are to have larger bulbs installed.

The meeting, at the request of Trail and District Civic Workers Union, set Nov. 13 as the date for opening of negotiations for a 1954 agreement for village of Castlegar employees.

Considerable discussion ensued when village inspector David Seaton reported that many Castlegar firms are selling merchandise not covered in their trades licenses and suggested that perhaps the trades license by-law should be revised.

The meeting felt, however, that the situation had developed because the by-law had not been enforced in all instances. Mr. Seaton will study the by-law further with village clerk A. T. Horswill to determine how it applies in specific instances and see that it is enforced accordingly.

Waterworks commissioner Harry Sommers reported a failure of water pressure in various parts of the village Saturday night. He said it was first supposed to have been caused by Hallowe'en mischief-makers, but was later discovered to be due to a blown out fuse at the pump house.

HOSPITAL DISTRICT QUESTIONS WE ARE ASKED

(Watch this space each day for questions and answers regarding proposed Kootenay Valley Hospital Improvement District)

Q. What are the objects of a Hospital District?

A "The granting of financial aid towards the planning, constructing, reconstructing, equipping, or operating of a hospital." (Quotation from Section 58 of the Water Act (amended 1951), under which Hospital Improvement Districts are set up.)

Q. What are the rules governing Hospital Districts?

A Each District is set up with its own letters patent which form the constitution. In these letters patent the following points are set out:
Legal description of the various zones (usually 5 or 6).
Rules for election of Trustees.
Duties of trustees.
Qualifications of trustees and electors.
(NOTE — Letters patent vary slightly in each district according to specific wishes of property owners therein.)

Byrne Sees Future For Railway Coal Turbines; To Seek Rate Change

FERNIE—Statements and principles as expounded by Mr. Murphy, recently elected president of the B.C. Social Credit League and Premier W. A. C. Bennett "were ridiculous", stated Jim Byrne, MP for East Kootenay, at a Fernie District Liberal Association meeting Wednesday.

The statement attributed to Mr. Murphy that one could have one's cake and eat it too was contrary to a fundamental truism taught to all from childhood. The action of Mr. Bennett professing he was for free enterprise and then placing a tax on profits from basic industries such as mining and lumbering spoke for itself. Free enterprise was meant to create jobs and provide opportunities for investment. It was definitely a profit system.

Mr. Byrne felt that quite a number of lumbering firms would go out of business. At present many plants were closed due to strikes because the firms could not meet the union wage demands owing to poorer market conditions. The imposition of the new tax would only aggravate the situation in spite of the premier's claim that it would do no harm.

He intended to press for continued research into the uses of coal. He felt that the railways would return to the use of coal within a few years when the development of a coal turbine motor would be sufficiently advanced. There were 1500 years of coal reserves in the country. Although oil reserves were good now they would diminish or disappear in time of emergency.

The Crow's Nest Pass freight rates agreement was, in Mr. Byrne's opinion, an actual subsidizing of prairie grain growers. It did not assist B.C. interior fruit growers or mineral shippers. It was therefore his intention to bring this matter before Parliament for the possible revision of the agreement.

In reply to a question from the floor Mr. Byrne said that he was opposed to a national sweepstake as research and experience showed that only a small part of the money involved actually reached the benefactor for which the sweep was held. He favored local draws and bingo from which all the proceeds went to a community project, and in which all labor was donated.

Mr. Byrne did not think any lottery legislation would be passed at the coming session, but felt quite sure a committee would be appointed to investigate the matter.

Downing Street in London, England, was named after Sir George Downing, 17th century diplomat.

New Denver

NEW DENVER — D. A. MacKellar has left for Vancouver to attend the meeting of the Synod of the Presbyterian Church being held this week in Mount Pleasant Church. He will be away until November 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clarke of Vancouver were guests of their daughter, Miss Thelma Mae Clarke, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker. Miss Clarke is on the elementary school staff here.

George P. Stewart and daughter, Miss Ivy Stewart, were Slocan City visitors. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Stewart's mother, Mrs. J. Law, who will spend the winter with her son-in-law and daughter and their two daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shaw returned to their home from a two weeks' motor trip in the Okanagan, Fraser Valley and Vancouver where they visited friends.

Business Moves From Town That Once Boasted Theatre

NATAL—Move of business from Michel to Natal over the last year has left Michel residents with very poor shopping accommodations.

A few months ago the Trites-Wood store at Michel, which had been operating in the mining town for many years, discontinued its service and is now doing business with its more modern store at Natal. The latter part of last month the government liquor store was also moved to Natal after serving the community for many years.

What the empty buildings will be used for is unknown. They are the property of the coal company. At one time Michel even boasted of a then modern theatre. The theatre was later remodeled to meet the requirements for the Trites-Wood store which has since moved. Without the services of a store Michel still has in operation the Michel Hotel, a post office, CPR station and the Recreation Club which has an ice cream parlor in the building which the members operate.

200,000 Children Live Fuller Lives Because of Shrine Aid

To live in the hearts of those we leave behind is not to die.

So goes one of the slogans of the Shriners, whose members live it to the full in supporting their hospitals which have ministered to more than 200,000 children, without money or price, and without regard to race, color or creed. From these hospitals in Canada, the United States, Honolulu and Mexico have come more than 150,000 children cured or materially benefitted, and thousands of others have received clinical treatment, braces and other artificial aids. These children, crippled, deformed and horribly burned, have, after months of tender treatment, gone skipping out, able to play with their fellows and to take useful positions in life.

It is in support of this great philanthropy that the Fourth Annual Shriners Ball is being held tonight, and district folks attending will be aiding a wonderful cause.

You Can Guarantee Hope for Crippled

No matter which way you look at it, the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society is good business.

Started in Vanacouver only four years ago, it now operates on a quarter-million budget, and 86,000 treatments have been issued to date; treatments which are worth more than dollars and cents to the 4500 recipients; for each treatment was a step towards health, and the hope of rehabilitation.

These 4500, victims of arthritis, and residents of British Columbia, may have been crippled and permanent wards of the taxpayers but for the sound ,enlightened policies of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society.

As shareholders in this society, citizens are reaping the benefits of this program of prevention. Every arthritic saved from infirmary care is a potential taxpayer. Every dollar spent on research and education will return to us with interest if we should develop the painful symptoms of arthritis, or if our children should become ill with rheumatic fever.

Not one cent invested in Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society is wasted. The board of directors is voluntary, and they have a keen personal interest and pride in the efficient and economical operation of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society. The staff members are highly qualified, specially trained people with the interest of the patients at heart and an alert, scientific approach to the many phases of this perplexing problem. The close co-operation and assistance of the B. C. Medical Association, Provincial Health epartment, the Department of Bio-Chemistry at the University of British Columbia, and the public, have made the plans of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society not only workable but successful.

Twenty-one Bluebird mobile units are now taking treatments into the homes of arthritis patients, from Vancouver Island to Fernie and from Revelstoke to the border.

Cortisone, Compound F, ACTH, phenylbutazone and any other promising remedies are carefully tested by the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society's research workers. Special post-graduate courses are arranged and sponsored for doctors who will use their knowledge not only for the patients referred to the Society, but for the benefit of all of us.

If you or yours should get arthritis now, you have a chance to return to work, whereas a few years ago you might have anticipated dependency, excruciating pain or a wheelchair existence. Arthritis is no respecter of persons. The conscientious, aggressive and straight living types form more than 50 per cent of the patient load, and the average age of arthritis sufferers is still 41 years.

Make no mistake about it, whichever way you look at it, an investment in the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society is good business.

The voluntary canvassers are working people like yourselves. Give them a hand when they call this week; your CARS Fund donation will be put to good use.

An Unblunt Instrument

"Come out with your hands up!" is a traditional police order to a rascal who has been cornered. When the person brought in for hoisting one too many is a woman, however, discretion dictates a different tactic.

A piece of incidental intelligence says police of Memphis, Tenn., have learned from bitter experience that a tipsy woman is safer when deprived of her high heels. Self-defence dictates the order: "Bring 'em in with their shoes off."

This caution is defended on the grounds that women drunks, fuming over arrest and resenting questioning, like to seize a shoe and quickly tap the offending officer on the head with it. This impulse, presumably, is not restricted to high-spirited southern girls.

A high-heeled shoe, swung with vigor and careful aim, can make an impression on any man, and especially on his head. At this point chivalry wrestles with an urge to bop the lady right back, or charge her with assaulting an officer. Neither being a suitable solution, procedure among southern gentlemen, at least, is to remove the offending weapon.

Besides, the cold, hard floors of police stations take a lot of the belligerency out of stocking-footed prisoners.—Windsor Star.

Rubber Roads

The Ontario Department of Highways is experimenting with a two-mile stretch of rubber road just north of Toronto, on Highway No. 11. This portion of road is really a mixture of rubber and asphalt, but the idea is to learn how it will stand up to wear and tear, heat and cold.

Various other places, both in Britain and the United States, also are experimenting with rubber-composition roads. Results so far are encouraging enough to warrant continuation of this study. It is good to know that Ontario is not lagging in this research.

A better and safer surface is a possible result of this experimentation. And if it comes, road building will have made one of its most notable advances since Roman times.

Even today there are techniques in road construction that make riding smoother. A new asphalt roadway, like the one just laid on Sandwich Street east between Goyeau and Lincoln, has a cushioned effect. If rubber roads can be an improvement on this, the sooner they come the better.—Windsor Star.

Your Horoscope

Much will depend upon your own actions and tactics during the months ahead. If you do not neglect business for pleasure, success should be yours. Ambition and pride in the chosen career should make the child born on this date successful.

Reader, Creston—Notice you often print recipes. Have you one for making wine of mixed fruits?

To one gallon water allow one pound black currants, one pound red and white currants (mixed, canned will do), one pound cherries, one pound raspberries, and to each gallon of liquor allow three pounds sugar and a gill of brandy. Strain fruit through a fine sieve until pulp is pressed to dryness, measure and add sugar in above proportion. Let this stand for three days, stirring often, then skim off top, put liquor into barrel, reserving some for filling up. Leave to ferment about two weeks and keep barrel full. Add brandy when hissing has stopped, and close up. Gooseberries, too, can be used in this mixture, but they should be processed separately.

SOCIAL SWIM

To keep in the social swim you must be able to float a loan.—Brandon Sun.

There are all sorts of hobbies, but those acquired out of a sense of obligation to have one may not be amusing, thinks the Sydney Post-Record, but "a hobby that expresses to the full a man's instincts can be useful to others as well as oneself."

Teachers can be criticized like everybody else, but it is a "sad, yet honest, observation, often made," says the Melville (Sask.) Advance, "that we too, as citizens, must bear part of the blame for any shortcomings in our present educational system and facilities."

Victoria is part of Canada, not England, points out the Victoria Colonist, and should not pretend otherwise! even for the tourist. "Petrol as a term for gasoline is not part of the nomenclature of this country, and the Bobby helmet is no longer part of the Victorian scene. To revive either as a tourist lure would deny the very Canadianism he urges, and would in essence be nothing but a false front."

In the drops of dew shining on the lawn.
I found God there
In the piano and choir blended in song,
In the chorus of voices answering,
In the messages of men who taught us to build
The Kingdom of God to which all may belong.
I found God there
In the nonsense and gaiety of our play,
In the serious thinking of morning hours,
In evenings of quiet, in circles of prayer,
"In a thousand lovely hearts, young and lifted up."

—Georgia Hampton.

They'll Do It Every Time

Today's Bible Thought

Pompous egotism will put on a poor show. Humility avoids embarrassment.

Surely every man walketh in a vain show.—Ps. 39:6.

Aunt Het

That book of health rules won't help Elsie a bit. There's only one thing wrong with her, and she knows the rule about stuffin' herself.

STOURPORT, England (CP)—Caroline Bayliss, who celebrated her 100th birthday here, is the eldest of six brothers and sisters whose ages total 546 years. The youngest is 84.

Then and Now

. . . F. B. Pearce

Those were the good old days. They really taught us the "three R's" then. Do you remember:

Slap, yak, yak, yakity, yak;
Slap, yak, yak, yakity, yak;
Yak, yakity, yak, slap.

That is Miss X in the cloakroom persuading one of her pupils.

• • •

"What's Miss Y like as a teacher?"

"Oh, she's fine. She stamps her foot, pounds on the blackboard and shrieks, all at the same time."

• • •

"You'd better get after those boys. They are playing bull-in-the-ring again. Bring in a few and strap them. Don't let those boys do that."

• • •

"What's that boy doing over there? Shake him up and make him stop it."

• • •

"I am so top of the class."

"You're not. I've got 750 marks."

"And I've got 757."

"But you cheated. I saw you alter the marks on your geography paper."

"I did not."

• • •

"What about the twins? Don't you think they should both be promoted? One has only seven marks out of 800 less than the other."

"No, she can repeat. It won't hurt her."

• • •

"Why haven't more of your class made passing marks?"

"Most of them have repeated twice and are 14 or 16 years old. They look at me and say, 'I know I'm dumb,' and don't bother to try."

"Keep them in after school and give them extra work. Get right after them."

• • •

And that was 20 years ago.

The rooms are the same, but the cloakrooms are gone. There is no sound of strapping. Teachers no longer pound the blackboard and stamp on the floor. There is no unhealthy rivalry for marks, and promotion is not entirely governed by examinations. But above all, there is a change in behavior. Where once there were countless rules, now there is one guiding principle—the belief that children do not wish to be naughty and that when they come to school at six years old they know what is right and what is wrong.

"You are Grade Six, the oldest children in the school. It is for you to be examples for the younger children. Do you know that the little ones think you are so big and wonderful and copy you?"

Punishment is rare, but not approval.

Grade 1: "Can we come and read to you?"

Grade 2: "Would you like to see our dance?"

Grade 3: "We have finished our project on Eskimos. Don't you think it is nice?"

Grade 4: "The class average is higher this time in reading. We are quite pleased."

Grade 5: "What do you think! All the class got perfect in spelling."

Grade 6: "We are having fun with fraction tests? Good," and a clap of the hands for the pleasure of seeing how well each can do.

There are no marks, but a grade standard, and the child measures himself against that, and not against the other children.

Promotions? Yes, in preference to repeating; and no child remains in the elementary school more than seven years. Do all reach the Grade 7 standard? No, and quite likely some never will.

Meat Rationing Nearly Ended

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill's government announced Thursday it will restore Britain's vast meat industry to private traders next summer and simultaneously end rationing and price control of meat and bacon.

Control over the meat industry—including buying and selling—was imposed as a wartime measure. But it was continued by the postwar Labor government whose leaders claimed the government could do the job more efficiently and economically than private dealers.

Churchill's Conservative party consistently opposed this idea. Announcing its future plans, a government white paper stated:

"The ministry of food will continue for some time to come to import bacon, but will not trade in meat."

The white paper said the annual turnover of the meat industry is more than £300,000,000 home produced and more than £200,000,000 imported.

Amendments to AEA Pending

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times says the United States Atomic Energy Commission is drafting a series of important amendments to the Atomic Energy Act.

A Washington dispatch says the amendments are designed to increase the participation of private industry in the program at home and to liberalize the exchange of atomic information" among the Allies.

In Washington, the ARC had no comment on the reported draft legislation. The Congressional Atomic Committee heldl hearings specifically to determine whether the Atomic Energy Act should be amended to permit broader participation by private industry.

Sabotage Increases In Czechoslovakia

VIENNA (Reuters) — Sabotage by arson is on the upgrade in Czechoslovakia, according to a copy of the Communist newspaper Straz Miru, published at Olomouc in central Czechoslovakia, that reached here Wednesday. It said the Olomouc district alone suffered 104 fires in the first five months of this year.

Cambodia Calls King "Hero"

SIEM REPA, Cambodia (AP)—The Cambodian government Monday declared young King Norodom Sihanouk "a national hero" for his efforts to gain the independence of this Indo-China kingdom from France.

The king, who fled Phnom Penh, his capital, five months ago to draw world attention to his fight for independence, will return to the templed city Friday amid the pomp and ceremony of a national celebration.

The Combodian government, functioning in Phnom Penh during Norodom's self-imposed exile, stated Thurday: "The services rendered the nation by the king were an example of sacrifice and abnegation."

The king said in an interview: "I have decided to return to my capital and renew relations with the French authorities because France has kept the promise made in the government declaration of last July in transferring jurisdiction over the police and military to Cambodia."

The king was optimistic that negotiations scheduled to open soon in Paris would lead to Cambodia's compelte independence.

Ask Weatherman

HALIFAX (CP)—Among a lot of queer questions given to the weather office here was one from the woman who asked "What's causing the cross on the moon?"

Weather forecaster Reid Dexter was puzzled for a moment, until he saw the light.

"It seems kind of silly," he replied, "but are you looking through a screened window?"

She was.

PUZZLING QUESTIONS

Forecasters are still trying to figure out why another woman called three different days at 2 a.m. to ask what the weather would be like at low tide, and the time of low tide.

Still another woman called an hour before dawn every day for a year to ask what the weather would be like for fishing off the harbor mouth.

"Perhaps," mused Dexter, "she was a paragon of a woman and only woke her hubby if the fishing was good."

"The most distressing calls," he said, "are from women terrified by thunderstorms. We get the same calls every storm: 'When will it stop?'"

Hannoverians Learn to Regard Canadian Soldier as Good Friend

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HANNOVER, Germany (CP)—Hannover says it is sorry to lose its Canadian Army visitors even if their deportment during the last two years often was more exuberant than correct.

The barracks the Canadians vacate this months will be turned over to the German border police, which lends a certain point to cabaret quips that the Canadians are "pulling back to the Rhine and leaving the Germans to hold the front line."

The 27th Canadian Brigade, part of the NATO forces in Western Europe, is moving from Hannover to the Soest area. And while it developed slowly,the cordiality between soldiers of the brigade and the people of Hannover seems genuine and mutual.

REGULATIONS EASED

German municipal authorities say relaxation some months ago of restrictive Canadian regulations eased tension they had noted earlier among the soldiers and contributed to a better association.

Brigade officers say the Germans may be right and agree the atmosphere has improved vastly.

Last May Brig. John Pangman of Toronto, the Canadian commander, allowed soldiers in good standing to wear civilian clothes off duty.

He also permitted overnight passes, and said soldiers could break down one of the year's three 14-day leaves into seven long weekends if they wished.

Last February and March when I last visited the brigade, the Canadian uniform was disgraced nightly on downtown streets and in night spots by a minority of toughs who gave the force such a bad name that decent soldiers could not associate with good German families.

This time I met only one soldier in uniform whose conduct in a public place was objectionable.

Soldiers now take pride in their dress and many wear their uniforms in bars and cabarets. Most, however, wear civilian clothes and pass unrecognized unless they come up for a chat.

PLEASED AT PROGRESS

Says Oberburgermeister Wilhelm Weber:

"Many citizens have told me recently about making friends with Canadian soldiers. I think it was a good idea to let them wear civilian clothes. It gave them more opportunity to meet us. Germans have no special sympathy these days for uniforms, even those of the Allies.

"Maybe, to, your men now are used to drinking German beer."

Cooperation between the Canadian Provost Corps and civilian police always has been good. Weber said Canadian Army drivers have earned special appreciation from Hannover police by observing traffic regulations.

"We've not been so lucky with the Americans. American soldiers behind the wheel behave like kings. They make it rough for the rest of us."

FEWED INCIDENTS

Police president John Westphal said the number of incidents between Germans and Canadians has dropped sharply.

"Alcohol and girls are the principal causes of the occasional disturbances," he said. "We can't very well banish either."

Even the usually hostile Nordeutsche Zeitung, a Hannover newspaper, seems to have caught the new spirit.

After reporting that a group of Canadians allegedly beat some German civilians and police with their web belts in mid-September, the newspaper added:

"The reason why such incidents are so very deplorable is that the relationship between the people of Hannover and the Canadians had greatly improved during the last few months, and troublesome incidents, which used to be so frequent some time ago, had abated considerably."

Brigade headquarters officers assert that military crime figures also reflect improvement.

Roessler Jailed For One Year

LUCERNE, Switzerland (AP)—Rudolf Roessler, Russia's wartime master spy, was sentenced Thursday to one year for reviving his espionage service for Red Czechoslovakia after the war.

A Swiss federal court also handed his contact man, Dr. Xavier Schnieper, a nine-month term.

Roessler, a 56-year-old German exile, and Schnieper, a Swiss who served mainly as his messenger, were convicted of spying on Atlantic Pact defence measures in Germany and elsewhere in Western Europe. They operated from 1947 until they were arrested by Swiss police last March.

Both worked for the Swiss intelligence service during the war. Roessler also worked for the Russians.

DEATHS

By The Canadian Press

Toronto—John G. Parker, 70, former president of the Imperial Life Assurance Company.

Halifax—Cmdr. R. Barkhouse, 59, wh commanded the minesweepers which swept German mines from the approaches to Halifax.

New York—Abraham Krotoshinsky, 62, who made his way through German lines to get help for the lost United States battalion in the Argonne during the First World War.

Coldwell Brands Malan Dictator

SASKATOON (CP)—CCF leader M. J. Coldwell recently described Prime Minister Daniel Malan of South Africa as "a Fascist dictator" whose policies in his own country are "bringing disrespect for the white race all over the world."

Mr. Coldwell, a member of Canada's delegation to the United Nations General Assembly, came here from New York to attend the three-day annual convention of the CCF's Saskatchewan branch.

CRITICIZES UN

In a speech at a convention banquet, he criticized UN delegates for "not saying publicly what they say privately" about Malan.

The CCF leader, who spoke in praise of Socialism, said "the greatest act of history performed in the last half century was the decision by a Labor government, to give India her independence of Britain."

BLAMES COLONIAL POWERS

"If the colonial powers would do likewise, there would be no upheaval in Asia and Africa as there is today."

Only those "imbued with the spirit of democratic Socialism" were fitted for leadership in world affairs. He wanted to see a CCF government in Canada "because Canada is such a highly respected country in world affairs."

British Jumpers, RCMP Musical Ride Steal New York Horse Show

NEW YORK (CP) — Col. Harry Lewellyn, 41, British ex-jockey, and his equine partner, Foxhunter, are showing the crowds at the National Horse Show just how Olympic medals are won.

They'll have two more chances in Madison Square Garden, and if they perform as they did Wednesday night in winning the Royce A. Drake Memorial Challenge Trophy no one is going to beat them.

Foxhunter, reputedly the finest jumper in Europe, is 12 years old now, said Col. Lewellyn, "and I think he has another six years of competition left in him. You know, he's the only horse in history to win medals in two Olympics. He took the gold in the 1952 games and a bronze in '48."

GOOD JOCKEY

Lewellyn, incidentally, was a pretty good jockey—good enough to take second in the '36 Grand National on Ego, behind the great Reynoldstown, and a fourth in '37.

In winning the Drake Trophy, Foxhunter went around the course twice without coming even close to the timber. Britain's Pat Smythe and her Princess Pat also cleared all the obstacles the first time around, but flunked out on the fourth hurdle in the jumpoff.

The Canadian team ended up in a fourth-place tie with the Irish Army team. Shirley Thomas of Ottawa knocked down three barriers for a fault total of 12, as did W. R. Ballard of Toronto, although the Toronto rider took the first four jumps without a hitch. The third Canadian rider, Lt.-Col. Charles Baker, Jr., of Toronto was charged with 14½ faults.

A feature of the evening was the famed musical ride by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police exhibition squad, which drew one of the greatest ovations in Madison Square Garden history.

Nancy Hodges, Canada's Newest Senator, Was Bright Spark in Legislature Sessions

By JAMES K. NESBITT

VICTORIA — Canada's new madame senator, Mrs. Nancy Hodges, 65, may be able now and then, though it seems almost impossible, to throw the dignified senate of Canada into uproar, as once she did the B.C. legislature.

For eight years, from 1941 to 1949, when she was silenced as madame speaker, Liberal Mrs. Hodges saw to it that the legislature was often a lively place.

The year Mrs. Hodges was first elected, coalition of Liberals and Conservatives came about. Mrs. Hodges couldn't then very well attack her old enemies, the Tories, being in the same political bed with them and so she concentrated on the CCF. Little did she know then that before she'd be out of B.C. politics, she'd be fighting something she hates far more than the CCF—something called Social Credit.

The CCF always scrapped back at Mrs. Hodges. Once the bickering grew so bad, the Speaker attempted to silence the CCF.

"Oh, don't bother, Mr. Speaker," said Mrs. Hodges. "I don't mind—in fact, I like it," and she set her jaw, and dug in.

The CCF, said Mrs. Hodges, was always running up and down, singing a song of blue ruin, thriving on people's misery. "Oh," she said, across the floor of the House, "you jazz it up and and then, I must admit, but in my book, it's the same old tune of bad times, bunkum and hokum."

There was the occasion when Mrs. Hodges kept sniping at a nimble-tongued CCF'er, Bert Gargrave.

"You can make a speech when your turn comes," Gargrave kept saying, dodging Mrs. Hodges' slingshots. Mrs. Hodges fired away. She and Gargrave shouted at the same time. Nobody knew what they were saying, but enjoyed the confusion and the suspense.

The debate, if it could be called that, went something like this:—

Gargrave: "I've heard women talk a lot, but never in my life have I heard one talk as much as this one."

Mrs. Hodges: "You talk too much yourself."

Attorney-General Wismer: "Keep after 'im, Nancy — you're doing swell."

Mrs. Hodges: "I'll handle him, don't worry—I've handled his kind before."

Gargrave: "There she goes again—I'd hate to be her husband."

Mrs. Hodges: "I wouldn't be your wife."

Gargrave: "Nobody asked you."

SALT OF THE EARTH

The CCF, insisted Mrs. Hodges, rode with the tide, frequently changed its mind. "You aren't what you used to be, she said. "You said one thing then, and now you say another."

This prompted salt-tongued CCF Mrs. Laura Jamieson to butt in to observe Mrs. Hodges was just like Lot's wife, always looking back, and everyone knew what happened to her.

"Nancy's the salt of the earth—and don't you say anything nasty about her," sang out Tom King of Columbia.

Now, it's highly unlikely that even Mrs. Hodges will be able to provoke any chit-chat like this in the senate. Most of the senate is composed of Liberals, and so all see eye to eye. The Conservative senators, the few left, are too old to fight much and, of course, there aren't any CCF or Social Credit senators, and there won't be as long as the Liberals are in power.

But the B.C. Legislature will never forget Nancy's quick come-backs. There was the time she said the highways of B.C. had too many soft shoulders. Herbert Anscomb wanted to know what's wrong with soft shoulders—they could be quite comfortable, he muttered.

"I'm not thing of the kind of soft shoulders you are, my friend," said Nancy. Mr. Anscomb flushed, speedily got back to work on his budget figures.

Harold Winch, as leader of the Opposition, was one day on a tirade against the sales tax. He used every adjective meaning rotten, dirty and mean he could think of.

"You've swallowed the dictionary," barked Nancy. "You ought to be a professor."

"BUT NOT FROM YOU"

Another day Winch asked: "Would you like some advice, Nancy?"

"Yes, I would, but not from you," snapped Mrs. Hodges with a sour look.

Mrs. Hodges boasted in the House she had never had anything stronger to drink than tomato juice. "Think of the fun you're missing," said somebody. "My friend," said Nancy, grimly, "I've had fun when you didn't know what you were having—fun, or anything else."

For years, Mrs. Hodges has successfully combined newspaper, political and domestic career. She's excellent cook and housekeeper. One can't imagine her leaving her house in the morning with beds unmade, dirty dishes in the sink.

WELL DRESSED

She's one of the best dressed women in British Columbia, in a conservative way. She wears mostly tailored clothes, spurns flouncy styles, flossy hats, costume jewelry, corsages, which, she insists, remind her of funerals. Her grey locks are closed-cropped. Years ago she found the style of hair-do that suited her, wisely stuck with it. In a black evening dress, classically cut, set off by a single strand of pearls, Mrs. Hodges is stunning in her own individual way.

As once she shone at state dinners at government house where, so now she'll shine when the governor-general gives a state dinner at Rideau Hall in Ottawa.

Mrs. Hodges has tasted the bitterness of defeat in her political life. She was beaten in 1937 when she first ran for the legislature. In 1952 she saw her beloved Liberal party shrink to six seats in the B.C. House, although she managed to keep one. Last June she was ousted by Social Credit Mrs. Lydia Arsens.

Mrs. Hodges is now in the senate for life, at $6000 a year, and without that pesky bother of having to fight an election every few years, always risking defeat and oblivion.

500 at CWL Bazaar

If you know someone who has a sweet tooth or with a particular liking for pop corn balls you may have found him at Cathedral Hall Wednesday afternoon amongst 500 other guests who came to "bargain" and have a cup of tea at the Catholic Women's League bazaar.

The pop corn balls and other delicious candies were "home-made" by the women of the Blessed Virgin Sodality and school children. A variety of baking, sewing, vegetables, aprons, kitchen novelties, hot dogs, fish, cards, calendars and novelties were also sold by the women.

Conveners for the bazaar and tea were Mrs. Mary DeGirolamo, bake table; Mrs. J. Cullinane, sewing table; Mrs. I. Grenfell, novelty table; Mrs. William Muraro, hot dogs; Mrs. Coletti, vegetable booth; Mrs. A. Hamson, apron booth; Mrs. Douglas Cummins, kitchen novelties; Mrs. P. E. Poulin, fish pond; Mrs. A. A. Perrier and Mrs. Ling, cards and calendars; Mrs. Albert Linsay and Mrs. H. Wilson, tea. Mrs. J. C. Ryan was general convener. Miss Wanda Meyers was in charge of a contest.

W. L. Warren from the Hostel for the Aged was a special guest at the bazaar and offered handiwork for sale.

Bride-Elect Feted At Denver

NEW DENVER—Miss Isobel McKay, who is leaving New Denver for Riverhurst, Sask., where she will be married, was honored at a farewell party at the home of Miss Beverley De'Rosa.

Miss McKay for the past number of years has been office nurse for Dr. S. C. Robinson.

Co-hostesses were Miss De'Rosa, Miss Barbara Thomlinson, Miss Norma Thomlinson, Miss Maureen Peterson and Miss Velma George.

Contests and games were played.

Miss Norma Thomlinson, on behalf of the guests, presented the bride-to-be with a picture of the New Denver glacier.

Mrs. S. C. Robinson, Mrs. C. Caron and Miss Naomi Pow were hostesses in the Canadian Legion Hall at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss McKay.

The hall was decorated with pink and white streamers and vases of fall flowers.

Many lovely gifts were wheeled in to the bride-to-be in a decorated pink and white wagon by Miss Robinson.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. M. C. K. Struve, Mrs. W. G. Thring and Mrs. D. Brown.

Miss McKay left Sunday for her home in Riverhurst, Sask.

Gouzenko to Stay in Canada, Says Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has informed the United States there is no reason for Igor Gouzenko, the Russian who disclosed a wartime Red spy ring in this country, to give information to a U.S. congressional committee, an external affairs department spokesman said Thursday.

Gouzenko has informed Canadian authorities, the spokesman said, that he has no information not contained in the 1946 report of a royal commission that investigated Communist espionage.

The Canadian government attitude was made known to the U.S. after the American state department transmitted a request that Gouzenko, now living in seclusion and under RCMP protective guard, be interviewed by a representative of the U.S. Senate's internal security sub-committee.

NO MORE INFORMATION

The sub-committee's request through the U.S. state department resulted from a recent newspaper interview with the former Russian embassy cipher clerk here in which he expressed willingness to appear before U.S. investigators of subversive activities. He was interviewed by the Chicago Tribune.

The external affairs spokesman said Gouzenko had been quoted as saying he had additional information.

The spokesman added that Gouzenko stated he had no further information and had been misquoted in the original press report.

McCARTHY SURPRISED

NEW YORK (AP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy said Thursday it is "inconceivable" that Canada would refuse to let a congressional committee question Igor Gouzenko in its hunt for Communist conspiracy in the United States.

McCarthy's comment came after Canada informally rejected a request by the state department to interview Gouzenko, former code clerk in the Russian embassy in Ottawa who revealed existence of a huge spy network in 1946.

"It is inconceivable that any friendly government would turn down a request for a U.S. congressional committee to hear testimony of men who might give information that would help crack Communist conspiracy in the United States," McCarthy said.

Polish-Soviet Agreement on Technical Aid

WARSAW (AP)—Soviet Russia has agreed to boost scientific and technical aid to Poland under an agreement announced here Thursday.

The agreement was signed at a recent meeting of the Polish-Soviet commission for co-operation in science and technics, the announcement said.

Under its provisions, Russia will send Poland chemical plants and a factory to make building materials, and will help plan foundry, powerhouse and transport installations.

A group of Polish specialists will go to Russia for training in Soviet factories, laboratories and institutions. Russian specialists will come to Poland to give technical advice.

Alta. to Recruit U.K. Teachers

CALGARY (CP)—Alberta school trustees believe they have found a solution to the current problem of a teacher shortage.

The trustees, in convention here, passed a resolution Wednesday advocating that teachers be imported from England. Sir Arthur Stonehouse of the Red Deer division described England as "a large potential" from which Alberta may draw teachers.

Ready availability of English teachers was verified, he saaid, by a recent advertisement in an English magazine asking for teachers to work in Canada, which was answered by 310 applicants.

It was advised that teaching prospects be "screened" at Alberta House in London.

Whooping Cranes Rest in Sask.

REGINA (CP) — Three of the world's few remaining whooping cranes now are resting near Herbert, Sask., on their way to southern United States wintering grounds.

So far, 16 whooping cranes have flown from summer nesting grounds somewhere in the Canadian Arctic to winter grounds in Texas. Only about 30 whooping cranes, a giant white bird five feet high, are believed still alive.

The Army released this photo in Washington, and said it shows the body of one of 34 Americans slain in the "Hill 303" massacre in Korea. The victim's hands are tied behind his back. The Army, in a new report on Communist atrocities, said the American soldiers were slain two days later after their capture on Aug. 15, 1950.—(U.S. Army Photo via AP Wirephoto.)

Britain to Leave Doors Open for Discussions With Soviet Russia

LONDON (CP) — Foreign Secretary Eden said Thursday Britain will continue to press for talks with the Soviet Union "at any level."

"Despite the disappointment, our broad purpose remains unchanged," Eden said in the House of Commons debate on the Throne speech. "If others choose to slam their doors and barricade them, ours will remain open. Talks at any level remain our objective for our work is a work for peace which we shall not abandon."

He said the latest Soviet note ignoring a Western invitation to discuss Germany and Austria at a Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Lugano, Switzerland, Nov. 9, laid down "extensive and unacceptable conditions."

The Soviet note, in effect, asked the Western powers to scrap the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the European Defence Community before Russia would enter discussions on Germany.

UNDERMINE SECURITY

"If we accepted those conditions it would undermine our security and make it impossible for Germany to regain her unity in freedom," Eden said.

It was only through EDC, "with its many safeguards, that Germany could most acceptably contribute to the defence of Europe."

"Despite this setback and this note we for our part remain prepared to discuss Germany and Austria with the Soviet government at any time and at any place and without any prior conditions at all."

Business Spotlight . . .

Says Alberta Oil Export Would Drive Market Out of Doldrums

CALGARY (CP)—The stock market slump that recently sent western oils tumbling to a low point has brought a rash of financial casualties to small Canadian independents and produced the consequent rumors of mergers and amalgamation.

The slump began eight months ago with a downward trend in world stocks and bonds, caused by the fear of a possible business recession due to lower demands.

Western oils began to slide until forced selling, mainly from marginal accounts, took hold and plunged prices to their depths of about a month ago.

The Calgary stock exchange, which has faithfully registered the changing fortunes of the oil industry for almost 40 years, has entered the doldrums.

RESTORATIVE POWER

Its members contend that a decision by the Alberta government on the export of natural gas might end the situation. But some say that the long delay and uncertainty surrounding the problem has robbed any decision of the restorative power it might have had a year ago.

First hit in the western decline were the fringe organizations. A cut in exploration that resulted from the slump placed oil-well supply companies, drilling contractors and geophysical firms at a greater disadvantage than the exploration and production firms themselves.

At least three geophysical companies have closed so far, and four small independent drilling contractors have become bankrupt.

With the exception of a few larger firms, all operators of rigs for contract drilling have felt, in varying degrees, the cut in drilling operations.

Last year, a number of small operators began buying equipment on time, thus causing a surplus of rigs. When the sledding became tough this spring, they began cutting prices, and soon competition was too keen for some of the smaller firms.

INCREASINGLY RARE

Larger drillers escaped this by purchasing Crown reserves from the provincial government and drilling them with their own idle rigs. But this required working capital—a commodity which was becoming increasingly rare in all branches of the industry.

On Sept. 30 this year 150 geophysical parties were operating in the West compared with 183 on the same date last year. On Oct. 15, 203 drilling rigs were operating, compared with 240 on the same date of 1952.

Drilling activity for the first nine months of 1953 showed a slight increase over the corresponding period of 1952 with 1633 completions compared with 1510 last year.

U.K.-U.S. Open Iran Oil Talks

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain and the United States Thursday began top-level diplomatic and technical discussions of problems connected with the return of Iranian oil to world markets.

Foreign Secretary Eden and American ambassador Winthrop Aldrich met at the foreign office with Herbert Hoover, Jr., the U.S. state department oil consultant, who flew here Wednesday after a two-week survey visit to Tehran.

They discussed diplomatic issues involved in the repair of the two-year breach between Britain and Iran, precipitated when the government of ex-premier Mohammed Mossadegh ousted the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company and seized its big Abadan refinery.

Also present were technical experts from the British ministry of fuel and power and the treasury.

Famous Statesman Lashes Out at British Morals

LONDON (Reuters) — Viscount Samuel, 83, Liberal statesman and philosopher, crashed the front page of almost every British newspaper Thursday with an attack against a vice wave he says is undermining the country's morals.

The famed old Liberal startled his fellow peers Wednesday night by launching into his "clean up Britain" campaign in the middle of the throne speech debate.

He declared: "The vices of Sodom and Gomorrah are rife amongst us.

"If that becomes common, then the retribution will not be found in earthquake and conflagration. The retribution will be found in something more deadly—the insidious poisoning of the moral sense."

His speech coincided with public outcry over the disclosure two weeks ago by a London magistrate that in his court alone he dealt with 600 morals cases a year involving males.

Lord Samuel told the House of Lords that the moral state of the nation, the character of the people, is something more important than all political, economic, financial and even international questions.

"In these days there is, among many careful watchers, a deep anxiety," he said.

Violent crime had greatly increased, and there were cruel and ruthless murders which "in an age of education and enlightenment are a disgrace to us all."

"Further, there is no question that sexual laxity is much more than it has been in earlier generations.

"Adultery is regarded as a jest, and divorce is a mere unimportant incident."

Moral law had weakened partly because the old dogmas of heaven and hell no longer controlled conduct, partly because science taught strange new doctrines in physiology and psychology.

"I believe a great deal of nonsense is talked of this quack kind of psychology. We should return to common sense, which is nothing else than the requirement that rules of conduct should be based on the universal moral law."

Naguib Awaiting Word From U.K.

CAIRO (Reuters) — Egyptian President Mohammed Naguib today said he is "awaiting Britain's final word" on the dispute over evacuation of the Suez Canal zone.

Egypt already has sent Britain her "final word," Naguib said. Informal Anglo-Egyptian talks here were suspended two weeks ago, and no date was fixed for ranother meeting to discuss removal of British troops from the defence base.

In a press statement, Naguib also said Egypt does not consider that negotiation on the dispute is "the only means whereby her rights can be attained."

Settlement of the canal zone dispute is believed snagged on conditions under which British forces could return, and Egyptian insistence that British technicians remaining behind in the base wear civilian clothes rather than uniforms.

Admission was charged for motion picture shows in 3416 theatres and halls in Canada in 1952.

New Canadian Brigade Moves Into New Home

OTTAWA (CP)—The recently formed 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade will officially move into its new $20,000,000 German home next Tuesday.

Elements of the brigade already have begun to take over the huge camp area near Soest in the British occupation zone in West Germany and the entire move will take several weeks. But next Tuesday the new base will be formally placed in Canadian hands.

The United Kingdom high commissioner for Germany, Sir Frederick Hoyer Millar, will turn over the camp to the Hon. T. C. Davis, Canadian ambassador to West Germany. The latter will then hand it over to Lt.-Gen. G. G. Simonds, chief of the general staff of the Canadian army.

OWNED BY GERMANY

Owned, financed, constructed and managed by the German government, the camp's buildings will be occupied by the Canadian army on a five-year lease, subject to renewal for any length of time agreed upon by both governments.

Canada, however, can terminate the lease on three months' notice at any time after the first five years. Annual rent will amount to about $2,000,000, covering services, landscaping, administration and maintenance.

Representing this country's army contribution to NATO defence forces, the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade now is in the process of replacing the 27th Brigade, homeward bound after two years' service in Germany. It was stationed near Hannover, about 90 miles northeast of the new camp at Soest.

CAN BRING WIVES

For the first time, soldiers stationed at the new base will be able to bring their wives and children from Canada at government expense. It is expected that 1100 dwelling units will be ready for occupancy next spring, and a similar number by the end of 1954.

Similar facilities are being constructed for RCAF personnel at their base near Zweibrucken and Baden-Solingen and, in France, at Grostenguin and Metz.

The 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade ,numbering some 5000 men, is part of the new 1st Canadian Infantry Division established last month in a sweeping reorganization of the army. Its two other component brigades will be stationed in Canada.

The new army base in Germany will comprise four camps, all in the Soest area, covering about 25 square miles. The buildings are mostly single storey and of concrete construction, built by German labor to British army specifications.

Archbishop Says Jewish Vote Paralyzed In UN

YORK, England (AP) — The Archbishop of York Thursday said "the Jewish vote in New York has had a paralyzing effect on the United Nations in dealing with Palestine."

The Anglican archbishop, Most Rev. Cyril Garbett, said in an address to the York diocesan conference:

"Unless some strong line is taken the tension which exists will snap and the Middle East will be ablaze.

"The failure of the United Nations in Palestine will affect its prestige throughout the world.

"An immediate step there should be stronger neutral patrols on the frontiers, but it is far more important that another attempt should be made to negotiate an agreement between the Arab states and Israel."

He did not enlarge upon his remarks about effect of the New York Jewish vote on the situation.

Flag-Hoisters Rushed by Police

TRIESTE (Reuters)—Police with batons Wednesday charged a crowd of Italians who tried to raise their flag on the town hall of this disputed city in defiance of Western Allied orders.

Several hundred Italians, marching with an Italian tricolor, reached the city centre in the late afternoon and headed for the town hall.

The Italian mayor, Gianni Bartoli, tried to defy the Allied order by raising Italian flags over the town hall. They were hauled down and confiscated.

The incident, which enraged local Italians, touched off scuffles.

As the Italians tried to raise their flag on the town hall police dashed forward and attempted to move them on. The crowd stood firm.

Hurried radio calls brought jeeps of reinforcements to the spot in a few minutes.

Crouching behind the wire meshes encasing their vehicles, the police officers leaned out and with flailing batons broke up the mob.

English Eye Specialist Joins Trail Clinic

TRAIL — Dr. D. G. Elphick, English-born specialist in ophthalmology, has commenced practice at the C. S. Williams clinic in Trail. Ophthalmic practice has to do with diseases of the eye.

A Londoner, Dr. Elphick was educated at Rugby school and Cambridge university, where he won his B.A. degree. He began his interneship in 1936 as house surgeon at St. George's hospital, London. In 1937-38 he was general house surgeon at Hampstead General hospital and the following year moved to RMO London Lock Hospital.

When war was declared in September, 1939, Dr. Elphick joined the Royal air force. He wore the blue until November 1945 and on demobilization became resident and SRO at Royal London Ophthalmic hospital.

Dr. Elphick began his practice as chief clinical assistant at London Ophthalmic hospital from 1948 to 1953. In June of this year he crossed the Atlantic to Windsor, Ont., and earlier this month came to Trail.

Single and 42 years old, Dr. Elphick is a Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons in England.

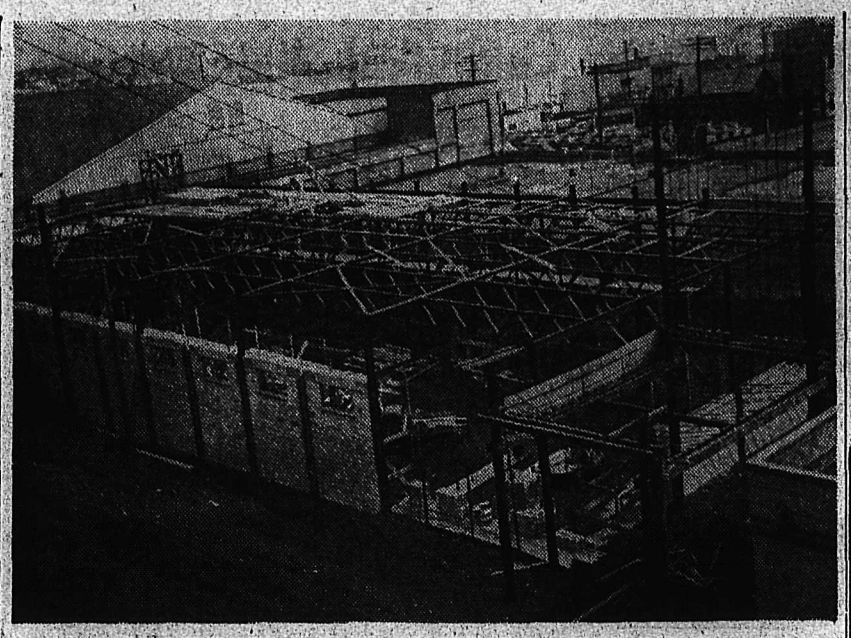
Little Theatre President Ill

TRAIL — Mrs. A. H. W. (Bobs) Busby, president of Trail Little Theatre, has been forced to discontinue active participation in the group's activities for a short period due to ill health. The announcement was made only a few weeks before the Trail Little Theatre's fall production, "For Love or Money" makes its scheduled appearance on stage November 20 and 21.

Norman Mayne has taken over the duties of president as well as handling the post of stage manager. He will co-ordinate all Trail Little Theatre activities until Mrs. Busby returns. Mrs. May Williams is acting promotion manager, taking over from Mrs. Busby. She will handle the production and business details of "For Love or Money."

No major changes are expected in the Trail Little Theatre's plans in the immediate future. Miss Janie Stevenson, director, reports that rehearsals are being held according to schedule and work on the set is well advanced.

"For Love or Money" will be staged in the Junior High School auditorium as announced.



Trail kids will be playing hockey this Winter in the only "Kids' Rink" in Canada. Building is shown here as construction work goes ahead.—A. L. Fryling photo.

455 Young Hockey Players Will Enjoy Trail "Kids Rink"

TRAIL—The Kids Rink, now under construction here, will be the only one of its kind in Canada.

There are artificial kids rinks in some of the larger eastern cities but they are of the open air type. This one will be completely closed in and except for its smaller ice surface will in every way resemble rinks used by adult hockey players. The ice surface will measure 147 by 70 feet, and though there will be no seats surrounding the playing surface, the walkways around it will accommodate many hundred spectators for the games.

The rink won't be completely finished this year. It will be made playable but windows will be boarded up, painting will not be done and the lighting arrangement will be only of a temporary nature. But directors of the Project Society felt that the kids wouldn't mind the lack of frills for this year so long as they are able to make use of the ice surface.

Up to the beginning of October contracts totalling $90,000 had been let. This included all concrete work up to the level of the structural steel and some concrete work necessary for club rooms and the tie-in with the main arena, fabricating of the structural steel and its erection. In addition to this, another contract totalling about $38,000 has been let for construction of walls and roof. This work is now under way and within a short time building of the rink side boards and laying of pipes for the artificial ice will be under way.

The rink, when finished, will be for the use of about 455 kid hockey players who make up 29 teams in the Pee Wee Pool, Pee Wee Bantam, Midget and Juvenile leagues as well as the Bantam and Midget Rep teams. It will also be used by Trail Skating Club which at present has a membership of 215.

$50 Grant Made Kaslo Library

KASLO—Kaslo city council at a meeting Monday passed a $50 per annum grant to support a public library.

A special meeting is to be held Thursday, Nov. 12, to give ratepayers an opportunity to discuss the power plant by-law. It was decided to hold court of revision in the city hall Nov. 14.

Alderman G. D. Bowker was appointed to represent the city on the advisory board regarding activities in the new school auditorium.

Mozart's opera "The Magic Flute" was composed and conducted by the great musician just before his death in 1791.

Trail AOTS Arrange Sunday Radio Series

TRAIL—The AOTS Club of Knox United Church with the co-operation of eight musical groups in the city are to sponsor a radio series of Sunday afternoon programs in Trail through the winter months. They will be held in Knox United Church from 3:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The first three of the series will be on Dec. 6 by East Trail United Church choir conducted by William Thatcher, on Dec. 13 Trail Symphonette conducted by Thomas Reid, and on Dec. 20 Knox United Church choir conducted by G. R. John.

In the New Year through February and March St. Andrew's Anglican Choir, Legion Band, Cecilian Choir, Male Voice Choir and the Rossland United Church Choir will be heard.

The ability of these musical groups has always been audience-pleasing and the AOTS Club felt that by this series a need is being met for many in the city.

Knox AOTS Club program committee of Fred Robins, Bob Lewis, Dr. C. E. Toll and Bill Millard are responsible for the arrangements. Doug Archibald is the acting president and Norman Main Secretary.

Extra Hours For Trail Shoppers At Yuletide

TRAIL — Most stores in Trail will remain open until nine p.m. for the two Saturdays and Tuesday and Wednesday preceding Christmas to provide Trail and district residents with sufficient time to shop for gifts and supplies for Christmas.

The Retail Merchants Association, constituting most of Trail's merchants, decided at a meeting to remain open until nine o'clock Saturday, Dec. 12 and 19, Tuesday, Dec. 22 and Wednesday, Dec. 23.

All stores will be closed Remembrance Day, Nov. 11, as it is a statutory holiday.

$500,000 Invested In Savings Bonds

TRAIL—About 20 per cent of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company's 9000 employees have bought Canada Savings Bonds worth a total of $504,400. J. E. Barrett, who has co-ordinated the employee canvass, reports that most bonds were sold on the payroll deduction plan.

At Trail, 1468 Cominco employees subscribed $382,000 for an average individual purchase of $260. At Kimberley, 383 employees subscribed $98,400 for an average individual purchase of $256. Of the Kimberley total the Sullivan Mine accounted for $59,500 with 225 buying bonds, the Sullivan Concentrator for $30,650 with 117 buying and the Kimberley Fertilizer Department for $8200 with 43 buying.

Cominco's Alberta Nitrogen Department near Calgary, reported sales of $24,000 with some employees remaining to be canvassed. Operations at Riodel and Tulsequah, B.C., are expected to continue their canvass throughout this week.

Short-Handed Leafs Drop Fourth Game as Dynamiters Win 5-4

KIMBERLEY — Kimberley Dynamiters shaded the shorthanded Nelson Maple Leafs 5-4 Thursday evening in a listless WIHL game witnessed by a crowd of 1300 fans.

With the exception of the final minute of play when Nelson had six forwards on the ice there wasn't anything for the fans to get excited about.

A one minute silence was observed prior to play for the late Paul Kozak, a former Dynamiter star.

Coach Willie Schmidt of the Leafs was forced to string along with two lines, but gave the Dynamiters a real going over before giving in.

The initial period ended in a 1-1 draw with Kimberley leaping ahead 4-2 in the second frame.

Boomer Rodzinyak, the catlike Nelson goalie, was in excellent form and booted out many shots that were stamped for goals.

Bill Haldane opened the scoring early in the period on a three-man rush. Cal Hockley deadlocked the count at 12:51 when Buck Kavanagh drove the puck from behind the Nelson net passing to Hockley whose shot deflected into the net off Rodzinyak's skate.

CENTRE ICE PLAY

The sandwich session saw both sides playing strictly a centre ice game with very little action seen over the blueline.

Around the three minute mark Claude Bell broke the tie when he rifled in a short pass from in front of the Nelson net.

Don Appleton put Nelson on even terms at 11:50 banging in a loose puck at close range. Three minutes later Buzz Mellor gave Kimberley the lead once again by shoving the puck past Rodzinyak as he lost sight of it on his doorstep. Red Mathews engineered Kimberley's fourth marker at 18:09 by feeding Les Lilley, the league's top scorer, a perfect pass.

The final period was only a little over a minute old when Buck Kavanagh intercepted a Nelson rush in the Kimberley zone and put Buzz Mellor in the clear. Mellor had Rodzinyak at his mercy on this counter.

LEAFS LEAD

The Dynamiters went into a relapse around the half way mark and the Leafs started to turn on the steam. Clay Lavell scored at 10:56 on a beautiful three-way play and two minutes later Red Koehle slapped in a billiard shot to make the score read 5-4. Marsh Severyn let a hard shot go from the blueline and Koehle was left unguarded in front of Earl Betker to bang in the rebound.

Coach Schmidt yanked Rodzinyak in the dying minute of the game, sending six men up looking for the equalizer. Although they came close often they failed to beat Betker.

The Maple Leafs held the Dynamiters at bay and not a single goal was scored when the teams were shorthanded.

Buzz Mellor sparked the Dynamiters with two goals, singletons going to Hockley, Bell and Lilley. Nelson goal getters were Haldane, Appleton, Lavell and Red Koehle.

ANDREA ON HOOK

Gordie Andrea sat out his first of a four-game suspension handed down by league president Harry Robiee of Spokane for his recent ruckus with Bill McCulley of Trail.

Lineups:

Kimberley — Goal, Betker; defence, Jones, Craig, Hughes, Sullivan; forwards, Kavanagh, Hockley, Buzz Mellor, Red Mellor, McNiven, Bell, Lilley, Larson, Mathews, Port.

Nelson — Goal, Rodzinyak; defence, Gare, Pasqualotto, Barefoot, Severyn; forwards, Hyssop, Haldane, Lavell, Appleton, Maglio, F. Koehle, Head.

SUMMARY

First period—1. Nelson, Haldane (Appleton, Pasqualotto) 2:42; 2. Kimberley, Hockley (Kavanagh, Craig) 12:51.

Penalties—Barefoot, Severyn.

Second period—3. Kimberley, Bell (McNiven, R. Mellor) 3:40; 4. Nelson, Appleton (Haldane, Hyssop) 11:50; 5. Kimberley, B. Mellor (Hockley, Kavanagh) 14:58; 6. Kimberley, Lilley (Mathews, Larson) 18:09.

Penalties—Pasqualotto, Hockley.

Third period—7. Kimberley, B. Mellor (Kavanagh) 1:47; 8. Nelson, Lavell (Maglio, Koehle) 10:56; 9. Nelson, Koehle (Barefoot, Severyn) 12:42.

Penalties—Pasqualotto, Lavell.

Ed Gardenia, husky heavyweight from Pescara, Italy, who makes his Nelson mat debut Monday night, recently arrived in North America after a Latin American tour in which he found that southern mat fans were somewhat different from wrestling followers in other parts of the world.

"We used to wrestle in the big bull rings," explains Gardenia, "and we sometimes drew crowds of more than 18,000. It was dangerous business because because the fans not only got excited, they carried knives—and didn't hesitate to pull them on any wrestler they didn't like."

Gardenia wrestles Lou Sjoberg in the main event of the season's first wrestling card at the Civic Centre, Monday evening.

Canadiens Nip Rangers 4-3 to Tighten Lead

By The Canadian Press

A three-goal rally in the third period gave Montreal Canadiens a 4-3 victory over New York Rangers in a National Hockey League game Thursday night. The Habitants, paced by Bernie Geoffrion's two-goal effort, thus tightened their grip on first place.

Ed Sandford rapped in two goals to spark a 4-2 triumph for Boston Bruins over Chicago Black Hawks.

Maurice (Rocket) Richard supplied the winning goal at Montreal beating Johnny Bower at 8:28 of the finale. The other Canadiens' goal was notched by Ken Mosdell. Hy Buller, Wally Hergesheimer and Max Bentley counted for New York.

The Rangers were quick to take advantage of sloppy clearance by Canadiens in the first two periods. With persistent checking and a high-class display in the nets by Bower, they kept Canadiens off balance although outshot by the Montrealers in every period.

RANGERS FORGE AHEAD

In the first period Geoffrion sank Paul Meger's pass. But Buller evened the count with a backhander on which Hergesheimer got an assist. In the second session, Hergesheimer scored at close range and Bentley counted on Buller's pass with a screened shot.

Then came the Habitants' rally to stir the home crowd of 14,013. Bert Olmstead passed to Mosdell, who beat Bower at close range. Geoffrion sank his second on a hard shot off Paul Meger's pass. And Richard wrapped it up by hammering in the puck from 30-foot range. Rangers' rookie defenceman, Ivan Irwin, was in action and played a strong game.

Sandford had been held scoreless in nine previous games before his stellar performance Thursday night.

Undefeated in their last five starts, the Bruins scored in each of the three periods. Sandford provided the first and last Boston counters. The others were credited to Real Chevrefils and Joe Klukay.

Jimmy Peters, a former Bruin, notched the game's first tally for Chicago during the 12th minute of play and Bill Gadsby was the other Hawk scorer late in the second period.

The game was wide open most of the way, but Gus Mortson, veteran Chicago defenceman, drew three penalties—two minors and a misconduct for heated remarks aimed at referee Bill Chadwick.

Lineups:

Chicago—Goal: Rollins; defence: Fogolin, Gadsby, Mortson, Zeidel; forwards: Wilson, Mosienko, Jankowski, Peters, Gee, McFadden, Bodnar, Conacher, Costello, Wharram.

Boston — Goal: Henry; defence: Garlepy, Quackenbush, Laycoe, Armstrong, Martin, Godfrey; forwards: Gardner, Chevrefils, Peirson, Mackell, Sandford, Schmidt, Klukay, Creighton, Mohns, Dumart.

Referee: Bill Chadwick; linesmen: Herb Gallagher and Sam Babcock.

SUMMARY

First period: Chicago, Peters (Gadsby, McFadden) 11:50; Boston, Sandford (Martin, Laycoe) 19:38.

Penalties: Mortson, 2:35 and 18:44; Gardner, 15:38.

Second period: Boston, Chevrefils (Mohns) 9:14; Boston, Klukay (Creighton, Dumart) 10:02; Chicago, Gadsby (Jankowski) 17:22.

Penalties: Mortson, 2:16 (misconduct), Chevrefils, 4:22; Garlepy, 14:11.

Third period: Boston, Sandford (Mackell, Peirson) 14:36.

Penalties: Martin, 4:57; Gardner and Fogolin, 13:38.

Lineups:

New York — Goal: Bower; defence: Reise, Chrystal, Irwin, Buller, Howell; forwards: Raleigh, Guidolin, Mickoski, Ronty, Bentley, Dea, Hildebrand, Prentice, Hergesheimer, Kullman, Henry.

Montreal—Goal: McNeil; defence: Bouchard, Harvey, Johnson, St. Laurent, MacPherson; forwards: Mosdell, Davis, Mackay, Lach, Richard, Olmstead, Masnick, Geoffrion, Meger, Mazur, Curry.

Referee: Red Storey; linesmen Doug Davis and Bill Morrison.

Watson Shares Scoring Lead With the Rocket

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Perhaps Harry Watson was born 25 years too late.

When Nels Stewart was known as "Old Poison" in National Hockey League circles in the 1920s nobody complained about his lack of speed.

The old Montreal Maroon, first man in NHL history to score 300 goals, got most of them by cruising at a leisurely pace until he saw an opportunity, then driving in before the opposing netminder knew what had happened.

Watson, who scored the winning goal in Toronto Maple Leafs' 3-1 victory over Chicago Black Hawks Wednesday night, might be a lot closer to Stewart's 324-goal total if he could play the same style of hockey today. But every time he forgets to backcheck, Toronto hockey writers start mentioning him as a candidate for the minors.

EARNED NOD

The big, good-natured left-winger currently shares the league lead in goal-scoring with Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens at six apiece. In his 10th season in the big time, with a couple of years out for war service, he needs only 16 more tallies to become a 200-goal man.

But Watson never has earned a nod from the all-star selectors and his critics forget his flawlessly-executed scoring plays as they wonder why a 207-pounder on a club not noted for gentlemanly tactics has never drawn more than 18 minutes in penalties over a full season.

Actually, Watson's goal Wednesday night was not one of his more stylish efforts. At 14:02 of the second period, he picked up a short pass from Tod Sloan a few feet from the Chicago goal and slapped it home.

THREE POINTS BEHIND

Earlier, Watson already had made life miserable for Al Rollins by setting up George Armstrong for the first-period goal that ended the Chicago goalie's streak of scoreless hockey at 160 minutes and 20 seconds. Ted Kennedy fired the insurance tally late in the second frame. Veteran Bill Mosienko scored the only Chicago goal less than a minute after Armstrong's marker.

WIFU Finals Opener A Game of Cripples

EDMONTON (CP) — The opening game here of the best-of-three Western Interprovincial Football Union finals between Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Edmonton Eskimos shapes up as a battle of cripples.

When the teams take to Clarke Stadium's lush turf before some 15,000 fans at 8:30 p.m. MST Saturday, two and perhaps three of the 1953 WIFU all-stars will not be available for action and the 1952 rookie award winner also will be absent.

Definitely sidelined is Edmonton's Oklahoma halfback sensation, Billy Vessels, and a doubtful starter for the first-place finishers is fullback Normie Kwong.

Winnipeg's non-starters are defensive guard Dean Bandiera and their block-busting fullback sophomore, Lorne Benson, who scored a record six touchdowns and ran a record 183 yards in Bombers' 43-5 win in the first game of the WIFU semi-finals against Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Vessels, given only a remote chance of recovering in time for the last game of the finals, if they go that far, suffered a fractured spinal muscle attachment in Edmonton's last scheduled game against Bombers Oct. 24. Kwong hurt his ankle in the same fixture.

Bandiera and Benson both suffered leg injuries in the last game of the WIFU semi-finals last Saturday. Benson still is in hospital.

Earlier in the season, Eskimos lost four players, three of them first stringers, and Bombers one player for the year through injuries. All would be top cogs Saturday if they were fit.

Kansas end Rollin Prather, 1952 all-star who was the top pass receiver in last year's league playoffs, and versatile backfielder Bill Rowekamp from Missouri were lost to Eskimos in their first scheduled game this season.

Gangling Negro halfback Jimbo Chambers from Montreal, a three-year man with Edmonton, injured his knee in two brief appearances this year and finally underwent an operation. In 1951 he finished fifth in the scoring race, topping all halfbacks with 55 points on 11 touchdowns.

In mid-season, veteran guard Frankie Morris, defensive bulwark of the Eskimo line, suffered a broken ankle and was written off for the year.

FORD OUT FOR LIFE?

Two weeks before the regular season ended, Winnipeg halfback Tommy Ford, who excelled both at running and pass-catching, suffered a kidney rupture which may keep him out of football for life.

The fact that Vessels, Kwong, Prather and Rowekamp suffered their injuries in games against Bombers may see the WIFU finals take on a "grudge" fight aspect.

Ralph McAllister, second-year import from Minnesota, will replace Benson Saturday and Bandiera's spot will be taken by Buck Rogers, former Ottawa Rough Rider.

Vessels' stand-in will be second-string homebrew Don Simon, who hasn't seen much action this year. Chambers likely would have been the choice if he wasn't on the shelf. If Kwong doesn't play, Edmonton coach Darrell Royal will have Rod Pantages double at fullback and punting and also could call in Mike King, all-star fullback in 1950 and 1951 who has been used exclusively as a linebacker this year.

Second game of the finals is at Winnipeg Nov. 11 and the third, if necessary, in Edmonton Nov. 14.

GAVILAN TRAINING

SUMMIT, N.J. (AP) — Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan completed his eastern training Thursday for his title defence against Johnny Bratton in Chicago Nov. 13. Gavilan will wind up his training in Chicago.

Sudbury Players Return Home

The Nelson hockey executive, who have been sledding on a rough road, found the going even tougher Thursday morning when three players from Ontario decided to return to their homes in Sudbury.

Durno Rodina, Archie and Martin Burton, apparently became homesick, or for although the executive and Coach Willie Schmidt talked long and loud it made no impression upon the players who were expected to help the Leaf cause.

Archie Burnie said Thursday that when he talked with the trio late Wednesday night he gained the impression they were staying and would be making the trip to Kimberley.

The executive is again burning up the wires in an effort to come up with players.

Leafs are in a bad way for their trip to Kimberley. Loss of the three cut the number of players making the trip to nine. Both Fritz Koehle and Jimmy Lowe were unable to make the trip due to work.

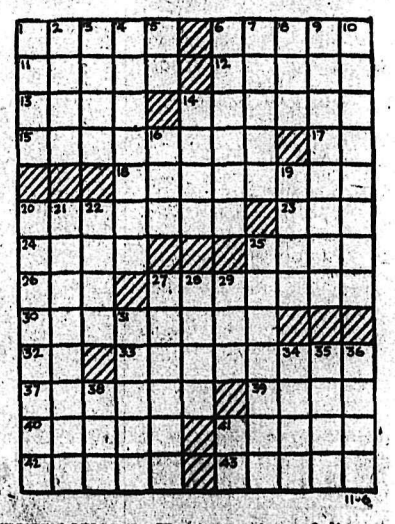
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X B
B L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Y M, N X L; D J U K S J N K N D, Y N D S X N A J L E O R J K N, X N D J U K J H K G Y H F X T C K O J Z D J Q D K H D S J Z N Y H O — N S Y C K N F K Y L K.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: HE PASSED A COTTAGE WITH A DOUBLE COACH-HOUSE. A COTTAGE OF GENTILITY —SOUTHEY.

Equitable Chairman To Leave, February

NEW YORK (AP)—Directors of the Equitable Life Assurance Company of the United States has announced that Thomas I. Parkinson, involved in a controversy with state insurance authorities, will end his terms as a board chairman next February.

Alfred H. Bohlinger, New York state superintendent of insurance, has accused the 71-year-old Parkinson of "nepotism" in guilding the firm's advertising to an agency controlled by his son.

Parkinson has served as chairman of the board and a director of the company for 26 years. The directors announcement said under his direction "the society has grown to third place in the life insurance field."

Bohlinger did not question the financial soundness of the company.

Higher Zinc Duty AZLS Co. Urges

WASHINGTON (AP)—The vice-president of the American Zinc, Lead and Smelting Co. Thursday urged the Tariff Commission to recommend an immediate maximum increase in import duties on zinc.

R. A. Young told the commission the domestic zinc mining industry has been so severely damaged by excessive imports that "relief to the fullest possible extent under the reciprocal trade agreement program should be allowed.

The present import duty on zinc is 0.6 cents a pound. The maximum would be 1.8 cents a pound, or 50 per cent more than the tariff in effect in 1945.

Kept Too Many Cats

WORTHING, England (Reuters) —A retired naval commander admitted in court here Wednesday that he tried to spank his wife with a walking stick, but claimed he had a reason, she kept 14 cats in the house. Cmdr. Hugh Smith Pugh said his wife behaved like a spoiled child, so he decided to treat her like one. The judge fined him £5.

Simple Ceremony Honors Canada's First Sea Hero By Striking Bell

PICTON, Ont. (CP)—The memory of the first Canadian sea hero was honored here recently by striking a ship's bell in Hallowell township chambers.

In a simple service of commemoration conducted by Capt. John Hearn of the Salvation Army and attended by municipal officials, representatives of the Royal Canadian Navy and the Navy League, tribute was paid to Admiral Sir Benjamin Hallowell, a contemporary of Nelson and a hero of the Napoleonic wars.

Ben Hallowell was born in 1760 in the township which bears his father's name. The bell which Mayor Harvey J. McFarland of Picton struck is inscribed "HMCS Hallowell." It belonged to a Canadian Navy frigate of the Second World War.

IN SHIPS OF THE LINE

But the frigates Ben Hallowell knew were the sailing ships of the line of Admiral Lord Nelson and his deeds won him an enduring place in the history of the British sea services.

As a youth he left his home to join the Royal Navy. He rose to the rank of captain, in command of his own ship of the line before he was 35.

A giant of a man—he stood six-foot-four in his socks—Hallowell fought at the battle of Cape St. Vincent in 1797 and his 74-gun Swiftsure was one of the small fleet that scoured the Mediterranean and then crushed the French at Aboukir Bay, Aug. 2, 1798.

For years Hallowell served with distinction in many ships in the Mediterranean and off the coast of Africa.

ABSENT AT TRAFALGAR

Under Nelson's command he took part in the chase of the French fleet to the West Indies in May and June, 1805. But the gallant Canadian seadog had no part in the battle of Trafalgar later that year. At that time he commanded the Tigre, one of the ships detached to Gibraltar.

At Cape St. Vincent he served in HMS Victory, the flagship of Admiral Sir John Jervis, the ship on which later Nelson died, and which is preserved at Plymouth.

When Sir John decided to engage the enemy, although outnumbered, big Ben Hallowell gave the astonished admiral a hearty slap on the back.

"That's the stuff, Sir John," he cried, "It's a damned good licking we'll give them too."

Hallowell's prophecy was fulfilled. In honor of the victory Sir John was created Earl St. Vincent.

COFFIN FOR NELSON

To commemorate the victory at Aboukir Bay Hallowell had a handsome coffin made from the main mast of the French flagship L'Orient which had been destroyed by the Swiftsure. He presented it to his friend Nelson with the wish that it would not be used for years to come.

Nelson was delighted and had the coffin set up behind his chair at table in HMS Vanguard but his seamen took a doubtful view of that.

"We'll have hot work for it now," one remarked. "'Tis plain the admiral intends to fight till he is killed and there he is to be buried."

There was truth in his prediction. Nelson was killed in the moment of victory at Trafalgar but he lies buried with Britain's great in the coffin presented to him by his friend.

Hallowell continued to rise in the service. He was knighted in 1816 and was made an admiral in 1830. He died in 1834.

Bullets From Air Wake Ghost Town

GOLD HILL, Utah (AP)—Gold Hill, like many other western mining towns, probably has seen its share of flying lead, but it wasn't 50-calibre and it didn't come from the sky.

That's why the seven remaining residents of this ghost town in the desert near the Nevada state line are up in arms over an airplane strafing on a recent moonlit night.

Mrs. Leatha Millard, a resident of Gold Hill since 1907, says she had just got into bed when she heard the plane.

"I thought at first it was in trouble because of the sudden chatter and roar," she said. "But when the bullet hit my house and crashed through the ceiling I knew what was happening."

Other slugs hit a cellar across the road and only 10 feet from a house occupied by Mrs. Thelma Davis.

A gunnery range used by pilots from several western bases is on the desert about 10 miles east of Gold Hill. The air force so far is reticent, saying only that the plane and pilot are unidentified and that an investigation is continuing.

"Well, I figure I need at least . . ."

Students Hurt In Trieste

TRIESTE (AP)—Scores of Italian student demonstrators and police were injured Thursday in brawls in central streets of this disputed city. Police went after students who had sought refuge in the Church of St. Anthony, in downtown Trieste, driving them out of the church and causing panic among persons praying there.

First reports said several scores were injured, including police and students. Fighting between the police and students was continuing at noon.

Others being elected were Mrs. Della Mackie, first vice-president; Mrs. Ada Calles, second vice-president, with Mrs. M. McIntosh as secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. I. Hanson was elected executive chairman with the following on executive committee, Mrs. E. Carney, Mrs. I. Leith, Mrs. J. McLay, Mrs. E. Brown, Mrs. S. Ure and Mrs. H. Martin.

Mrs. E. Larson, Mrs. K. Rochon, Mrs. K. Hobden and Mrs. A. Nash will act on the prize committee.

Stamp 'Back Wins Nicklin Trophy

WINNIPEG (CP) — John Henry Johnson, hard-plunging halfback of Calgary Stampeders has been awarded the Jeff Nicklin Memorial Trophy as the most valuable player to his team in the Western Interprovincial Football Union for 1953.

Trustees of the trophy made the announcement Wednesday night after receiving the votes of the three judges. The award was won last year by Jack Jacobs, quarterback of Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

The trophy was donated to the league by officers and men of the Canadian Paratroop Battalion in which Nicklin served. It is to commemorate the memory of the well-known player, who starred for Winnipeg in the 1930s, and who gave his life in the Second World War. Nicklin was a member of the Blue Bombers when they captured the Grey Cup in 1935 and 1939.

Mossadegh Trial Set For Sunday

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Brig. Hossein Azemodeh, chief prosecutor, announced today former premier Mohammed Mossadegh will go to trial here Sunday on treason charges for which the penalty could be death. A government official said the trial would begin next Wednesday and there was no explanation as to why the date was advanced.

The trial will be held in Mirror Hall of Saltanatabad prison, where preparations have been made for seating 50 Iranian and foreign newsmen to cover the military proceedings.

Khan Sells Two Horses in Quebec

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Aga Khan has sold two outstanding European horses, Kerbab, a three-year-old filly, and Nemrod II, a four-year-old colt, to Mr. and Mrs. Vernon G. Cardy of Ste. Marguerite, Que.

Announcement of the sale, said to involve a sum in six figures, was made here Wednesday by Charles T. Spencer of West Los Angeles, who completed a similar deal with the Aga Khan for Noor for the late Charles S. Howard of California in 1948.

Turf experts have called Kerkab one of the finest fillies in Europe, the winner of four of her nine stakes races and out of the money only once.

Eisenhower Clears Way For St. Lawrence Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Thursday cleared the way for construction of the St. Lawrence River power project by the state of New York and the province of Ontario.

The president signed an executive order designating the Power Authority of New York state as the United States partner in construction of the project.

The Canadian government already has designated the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario as its agency.

SETS UP ENGINEERS

Eisenhower also set up, under Thursday's order, the U.S. section of the St. Lawrence River joint board of engineers. He named Army Secretary Robert Stevens and the chairman of the federal power commission as the American members.

"This order completes the executive action needed to go ahead with this project," presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty told newspaper men.

Hagerty described the order as "the last green light needed" to permit construction of the power project at the International rapids area of the St. Lawrence.

Montreal School Favors Quebec Education Grant

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — A Montreal college Thursday claimed before a Quebec royal commission on constitutional problems that the Quebec government "must oppose and resist any direct or indirect interference of the federal authority in matters of education and teaching."

In a brief College Mont St. Louis said the provincial government should assist with grants all colleges which contribute to education in the province.

Founded in 1888 by the Christian Brothers, the college offers science, commerce and art courses.

The brief was one of six scheduled to be heard by the commission, set up last March by the Quebec government.

WILL TRAVEL

The Automotive Transport Association of Quebec Province, the College of Optometrists and Opticians, the Quebec Real Estate Board, the Federation of English-speaking Catholic Teachers and the Seminary of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate were also to present briefs.

Following adjournment, the commission will travel to northwestern Quebec where it will begin Tuesday a two-month tour of the province.

The college brief said it believes the Canadian constitution accorded the provinces exclusive rights in matters of education and teaching.

The brief claimed the Quebec government should have the revenues needed to exercise its power, right and duty to assist those who contribute to education in the province.

Propaganda Checked In Asia, Says Nixon

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Vice-president Richard Nixon of the United States said Thursday on his arrival here from Indo-China that generally speaking he believes Communist propaganda in Southeast Asia has been checkmated.

He praised the "courageous way" the governments and people of Southeast Asia have been tackling the problem, and said their "determination, ability and dedication" is the chief reason the tide is beginning to turn against communism.

Simple Epitaph Poses Problem

LEEDS, England (Reuters) — A plain white gravestone in a local cemetery will be pulled up this week so that its simple epitaph can be altered.

The epitaph has 59 letters. But city council Wednesday decided that 19 letters must be cut out because Leeds cemetery regulations stipulate that epitaphs should have no more than 40 letters.

Now the relatives of the deceased person who lies beneath the disputed stone are pondering how to change the depitaph, which reads:

"In loving memory of a dear wife and mother. Died 26 July, 1953. Aged 75 years."

Alderman Mrs. Mary Pearce, chairman of the parks and cemeteries committee, said the decision was taken because "we are trying to avoid ostentation in the cemetery."

WINNIPEG (CP)—Daniel Juba won by 312 to 311 over Mayor Stan Bowers in the Brooklands village municipal election. One of the votes for the winner was cast by his brother, Stephen Juba, who had won a seat in the provincial legislature last June.

Cliches That Could Be Done Without

CHICAGO (AP — Newspaper editors today took a fresh look at some old, familiar expressions.

A panel discussion at the annual meeting of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association dealt with "sports cliches."

The background: The APME committee on sports has set its sights on elimination of cliches from sports copy.

The report listed the 10 most disliked cliches as selected in a poll of AP member-paper sports editors. Here, in the order of their detestation, they are:

Mentor, inked pact, pay dirt, circuit clout, gonfalon, roaring back from behind, outclassed but game, clobber, gridders, cage or cagers.

Consul's Family Hunger Strikes

WINNIPEG (CP)—Former Polish consul Michael Krycun and his wife Thursday launched a three-day hunger strike in support of a plea that they be granted political asylum in Canada. His 14-year-old daughter missed breakfast before going to school, but Mr. Krycun said he is not forcing her to observe the fast.

Mr. Krycun, who returned home after several days at a secret farm address near Winnipeg, declared he would not pick up a six-month permit to live in Canada which is waiting for him at the office of the federal immigration department here.

"I do not want to become a Canadian citizen. I want to remain a Polish citizen. As soon as the Communists clear out I will be the first one back to Poland."

Mr. Krycun said he wanted political asylum so the Polish government could not trump up a charge and get him deported.

PERMIT GRANTED

After Mr. Krycun announced his plan for a hunger strike in a letter to the Regina Leader-Post, it was learned from the immigration department that he had been granted a six-month permit to stay in Canada.

Krycun said he did not wish to be treated like any other immigrant. He wanted political asylum.

The 42-year-old Pole was under orders to return home when he sent a telegram in September to the Polish government announcing his resignation.

"I do not want to live in dictatorship and slavery in which the Polish people now live," he said. His recall came soon after he forbade his consular staff to take part in a save-the-Rosenbergs demonstration here. Winnipeg Communists paraded in front of the American consulate seeking clemency for Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted atom spies, who were later executed.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ships arriving here included the first commercial vessel equipped with a new turbo-charge diesel engine, the 10,000-ton Danish freighter Songkla. She covered the San Francisco-Vancouver run in record time of 52 hours. The engine uses exhaust gas to drive blowers which keep cylinders clean with forced aid.

Canadian GE Co. Gives Up Jet Engine Repairs

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd. is resigning as operator-manager of the government's big jet engine repair and overhaul plant in suburban Toronto and the government is negotiating with De Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd. to take over the plant Jan. 1.

The defence production department Thursday announced Canadian General Electric's decision arising from government policy to concentrate on production of the all-Canadian Orenda jet engine and use them to power Canadian jet aircraft.

Canadian General Electric was principally interested in the J-47 jet power unit, produced by its parent company, General Electric, in the United States.

This was the engine that Canada imported at the start of its post-war defence build-up to power the Sabre jet fighter built at the Canadair Ltd. plant at Montreal.

Population Heads For 15,000,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's population may hit the 15,000,000-mark before the new year.

In the three months ending last Sept. 1, the national population jumped from 14,781,000 to 14,893,000, the bureau of statistics estimated today. This is an increase of 112,000 and, if the pattern continues, the year's final quarter figure will exceed 15,000,000.

The bureau reported that the third quarterly gain of 112,000 compared with an increase of 104,000 during the same period last year. The increase for the 12 months ending Sept. 1 was 359,000.

The bureau report showed no breakdown of the figures by provinces. This is given only in the annual estimates.
