History Made as Sovereign Opens Parliament

Tax Cuts Seen; Federal Aid To Farmers, Fishermen Forecast

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Through Queen Elizabeth, the Progressive Conservative government Monday presented Canada's new Parliament with forecasts of a varied fare of legislation that included higher social security payments and the prospect of early tax cuts.

In the traditional speech from the throne read at Parliament's opening by the Queen, the four-months-old government also indicated moves for parliamentary reform are in prospect and forecast federal assistance for primary farm and fish producers.

While much of the program for the new session had been reported unofficially earlier, an unexpected section predicted legislation to make it mandatory on employers to provide workers with annual paid holidays.

CAMPAIGN PLEDGES

In general, the speech appeared to point to attempts at implementing many of the pledges made by John Diefenbaker's party when it was campaigning for the June 10 election that saw it overthrow the Liberals after 22 years of power.

For this opening of the 23rd Parliament, the members got the customary legislative forecast in an historic setting, with the Sovereign delivering it couched in the usual general terms without going into details of the prospective legislation.

One of the major predictions in the speech was for measures to be brought down from time to time for a national development policy and these points were specified:

1. The government will seek to resume talks with the Saskatchewan CCF government with a view to "early commencement" of the long-discussed power and irrigation project for the South Saskatchewan River. This would be a joint federal-Saskatchewan proposition.

2. Assistance will be provided towards the development of hydro and coal-produced electrical power in the Maritimes.

3. The government is discussing with the United States the removal of international obstacles to join federal-B.C. development of the Columbia River.

Of its "national development policy" generally, the government said in the speech that it is one to be carried out in co-operation with the provinces and is needed to enable all regions of Canada to share in getting the most out of the country's resources.

Aid for agriculture mentioned in the speech consisted of measures to stabilize farm prices and also to pay cash advances on farm-stored grain that Prairie growers have not been able to market.

For the fishery, the government promised to look into ways of stimulating markets and also to seek to develop international rules for the protection of the ocean fish resources.

INCREASE PENSIONS

In the field of social welfare, a general increase in pension payments to the aged, blind and disabled and to "burned-out" war veterans was forecast.

Expectations were there would be a boost to $55 a month from the present $46 in the universal federal old age pension to all over 70 and in the maximum federal-provincial payment to the needy aged, blind and disabled.

This would cost some $90,000,000 a year. It might go into effect by Nov. 1.

For those receiving war veterans' allowances, it was believed the government planned to raise the ceilings on outside income that "burned-out" veterans might earn and still qualify for the pension.

TAX CUTS

On the possibility of tax cuts, the throne speech said nothing more than that there will be proposals for "changes in certain of the taxing statutes."

But it was recalled that Conservative spokesmen including Prime Minister Diefenbaker have stated that a session of Parliament would be called this fall to reduce taxation.

The wording of the speech appeared to indicate that the Conservatives would not bring down a new budget but would introduce amendments either to the budget of the Liberals brought in last spring—and which did not go through Parliament in entirety — or to existing legislation.

In line with the suggestion of tax cuts was an intimation in the throne speech that the government might be thinking of eliminating Canada's reserve forces.

WHALE OIL SURPLUS

LONDON (CP) — British and Norwegian whaling interests report that about 60,000 tons of last season's production of whale oil remains unsold.

Find Pair Dead at Cranbrook

CRANBROOK — The bodies of Armand Ruault, age 79, and his wife Estelle, age 75, were found in the barn of their farm property near here Saturday by RCMP Cpl. E. E. Smith. Death of both, probably about Wednesday, was the result of hanging, it was believed.

The couple, who were born and married in France, came to this district about 1910, and had farmed ever since on their property near the city reservoir.

Both had been in failing health recently and they had planned to spend the winter in town because of difficulties of heating their farm home.

They had lost two sons in the Second World War and only surviving son, Maurice, lives in Invermere and a daughter lives in Alberta.

No Holiday

VICTORIA (CP) — Education Minister Leslie Peterson said Monday night there will be no holiday for British Columbia schoolchildren today (Tuesday).

The minister announced his decision after conferring with education ministers of the prairie provinces.

At State Dinner . . .

Conversation Hums As Queen Entertains

By SHIRLEY GILLESPIE

OTTAWA (CP) — Despit protocol, 35 footmen serving in white tie and tails and the tremor usually felt by guests supping at a banquet table laid with the finest of crystal, china and silver, the state dinner at Government House Monday night was notable for its relaxed atmosphere.

Queen Elizabeth and Governor-General Massey who was seated at her right, chatted with animation throughout the meal.

The Queen frequently struck the table with her left hand as she emphasized a point. She discussed the printed seating arrangement with His Excellency and jotted notes on the margin with a tiny pencil.

The other guests—the ladies in pastel, gold and silver toned evening gowns and the men in white tie and tails—kept up a constant hum of conversation.

Transport Minister George Hees, handsome in evening dress, laughed heartily as he chatted with Mrs. Alistair Fraser, wife of the lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia, and Mrs. John S. McDiarmid, wife of the lieutenant-governor of Manitoba.

Her Majesty wore a magnificent gown of pale green satin, trimmed with dark green velvet in a maple leaf motif, sprinkled with crystals and emeralds. The white rose of York in crystals with pearls and diamonds mingles with the maple leaf design.

She wore the simple diamond tiara given her by the late Queen Mary as a wedding present. Her necklace was a triple row of graduated diamonds, and she wore diamond-dropped earrings.

A blue sash of the Order of the Garter was worn over her left shoulder.

Project To Cost Over $400 Million

By The Canadian Press

The biggest hydro project in the world from the standpoint of energy is in prospect for British Columbia with plans to harness the Peace River.

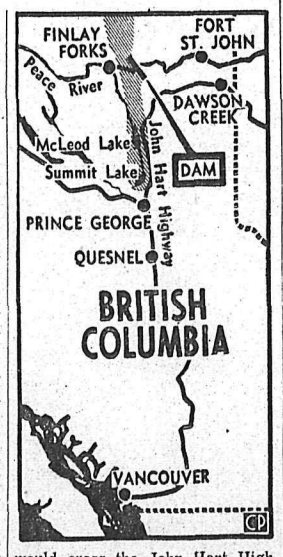
The Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Company which has been exploring the province's interior, reports that a 4,000,000-horsepower development on the Peace River would be feasible. Premier Bennett says he believes the mammoth development actually will take place, revolutionizing the economic development of the central and northern parts of his province.

The project would cost $400,000,000 to $600,000,00 and would begin supplying power in 1964. At full capacity it would generate four times the power turned out now at Boulder Dam in, Colorado, the world's biggest power project at present.

A dam in Peace River Canyon would create the world's longest man-made lake, 260 miles in length, and the development company says it would improve the flow of the Peace River so that Alberta also could benefit from its power potential.

The man-made lake, varying from five to 30 miles in width, would cross the John Hart Highway which would have to be relocated.

While the exact site of the proposed dam and limits of the lake will not be finally determined until after further surveys next year, this map shows their approximate location. —CP Newsmap.



Poem to a Queen

LONDON (Reuters) — Poet laureate John Masefield Saturday published an eight-line poem celebrating Queen Elizabeth's North American visit.

Entitled On Our Sovereign Lady's Western Journey, it read:

Not altogether strange, those distant states,
To which you go as sovereign
or as guest;
In both, our speech and law
are manifest,
Throughout them both delighted welcome waits.
Most beautiful, most happy,
be your stay,
And when the carlets of the
sumac burn
And maple forests change from gold to grey
May all blest spirits guard your safe return.

PRESENT'S QUEEN'S COLOR . . . One of the Army's most solemn and brilliant ceremonies took place Saturday at Petawawa military camp when the 1st Battalion, Canadian Guards, were presented with the Queen's and regimental colors by His Excellency the Right Honorable Vincent Massey, Governor-General. Here receiving the Queen's color is Lt. Michael Pillar of Toronto, subaltern of the colors, who also celebrated his 21st birthday the same day. The colors were paraded for Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth during the opening of Parliament in Ottawa Monday.

Pearson Wins Peace Prize

OSLO (CP)—Lester B. Pearson of Canada has joined the world giants honored with the Nobel peace prize.

Award of the 1957 peace prize to the former Canadian external affairs minister was announced Monday by the Nobel committee of the Norwegian parliament after a two-year drought in which the committee found no worthy candidates.

Pearson is the first Canadian to win the prize, which carries with it a cash award of $40,275. The 60 - year - old diplomat and scholar said in Ottawa, where Parliament was opened Monday by the Queen, that he hopes to go to Oslo to receive the award Dec. 10.

The Nobel committee does not give any details as to why a certain person or organization has received the prize, but the congratulations which began pouring in pointed to Pearson as the diplomatic dynamo behind the United Nations Emergency Force which separated the belligerents in last year's Suez crisis.

Pearson in his nine years as external affairs minister engaged in many behind-the-scenes conferences on world problems. He was a member of a UN committee which tried vainly to win a ceasefire in Korea in 1950. Later he was president of the UN General Assembly when an agreement was reached for the Korean armistice. He was a leader in the formation of the Atlantic alliance.

All these activities served to make him the Canadian best known to the rest of the world.

Pearson joined the ranks of Nobel peace prize winners who, in the last 10 years, have included Lord Boyd-Orr of Britain, Dr. Albert Schweitzer, Dr. Ralph Bunche of the United States, Leon Jouhaux of France and Gen. George C. Marshall of the U.S.

LESTER B. PEARSON

OTTAWA (CP) — Lester B. (Mike) Pearson, the Canadian diplomat with the bowtie and razor-keen wit, Monday joined the ranks of acknowledged great peacemakers with humility, awe and some feeling that it just couldn't be true.

"Gosh, gee," he murmured as a Canadian Press reporter gave him his first word on the Oslo report that he had won the $40,000 Nobel peace prize.

Later, after the bedlam in his office subsided, he told reporters he considered his selection for the Nobel peace prize—first for a Canadian — a tribute to Canada's peace efforts since the Second World War.

"I am proud beyond words to be the Canadian chosen to receive it."

Queen Mother Rumors Surprise Elizabeth

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Pulished suggestions that the Queen Mother might come to Canada as this country's next governor - general appear to have been dampened by Queen Elizabeth.

The Queen seemed surprised Saturday night when, at a press reception in Government House, one reporter asked whether the 57-year-old Queen Mother might succeed Governor - General Massey next spring.

"As governor - general?" the Queen replied, as though it was the first time she had heard the idea.

"My, what a novel idea. Oh, I'm afraid we would miss her too much."

She said no more on the subject—an idea which some newspapers in Canada and the United Kingdom have been promoting. Reporters could only speculate on how strongly the Queen and other members of the Royal Family might feel about a prolonged separation from the Queen Mother.

Mr. Massey was appointed early in 1952 for a five-year term, which has been extended one year until next March. Mr. Massey is the first native - born Canadian governor-general and the 18th to hold the post since Confederation. All his predecessors were members of the English nobility.

Queen Reads Throne Speech; Roland Michener Named Speaker

By ALLAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) – With history at its elbow and a nation looking on, Canada's 23rd Parliament was opened Monday by Elizabeth, Queen of Canada.

History was made as a monarch for the first time opened Parliament here by reading the speech from the throne.

And history was re-enacted in brilliant ceremonial dating back to the days of England's first Queen Elizabeth and earlier.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, heading the first Conservative federal government in 22 years, named it The Queen's Day.

Opposition Leader St. Laurent, who as prime minister last spring laid plans for this occasion, picked up the phrase. Both said the day will be remembered in Canadian history.

The formal opening unrolled in hour-long ceremonial in the red-carpeted Senate chamber as the Queen read the speech from the throne written by her Canadian government.

PACKED GALLERIES

The speech was more than a recital of government legislation to be introduced in the Parliament's first session.

"I greet you as your Queen," the Queen began, before the assembled Commons and Senate.

Around her and in the galleries sat dignitaries of the land and brilliantly - gowned women. Blazing lights, for television and motion picture cameras, made the chamber uncomfortably warm.

The Commons, back in its own chamber following the throne speech, unanimously adopted a motion expressing loyalty, love, joy and gratitude to the Queen, and sealed the motion with the singing of God Save the Queen.

ANCIENT RITUAL

The ritual, adopted from English parliamentary tradition, began when the Senate met at 10 a.m. EDT for the swearing in of nine new senators, including its newly - appointed speaker, Mark Drouin of Quebec.

Then the Commons; which met an hour later without a speaker, was summoned to the upper chamber, where Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin presided, and was told to appoint a speaker.

Back in the lower house, the man picked for the post was Roland Michener, 57-year-old Conservative member for Toronto St. Paul's, a lawyer and financier.

Opposition Leader St. Laurent seconded the prime minister's appointment motion. Then together they took Mr. Michener's arms and escorted him to his throne.

Following the throne speech, the Commons gave first reading to a bill which, as legislation introduced without royal approval, asserted the Commons claim to the right to do business without the Crown's assent.

Only one slight hitch occurred in the smooth-running day.

That came following the unanimous choice of Henri Courtemanche (L-Labelle) as deputy speaker and chairman of committees of the whole House. Mr. Diefenbaker nominated veteran MP A. C. Casselman (PC-Grenville-Dundas) to be Mr. Courtemanche's deputy.

Mr. Casselman said he was taken by surprise. He was given time, at his own request, to "have an opportunity to look into it."

Through the day there were no evidences of political rivalry.

Any political infighting was postponed until Wednesday when opposition party leaders will have their first chance to criticize the policy and program of the government as expressed in the throne speech.

BURNS TO DEATH

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Vancouver mother was burned to death in a fire at her home Sunday. Her husband and 25-year-old son suffered serious burns attempting to rescue her.

Ethel May Quinlan of suburban Burnaby was trapped by flames in her upstairs bedroom.

Kimberley Lad Hunting Victim

KIMBERLEY — A 16-year-old Kimberley boy was accidentally shot and killed Monday morning while hunting with four young companions. Dead is Jack Olson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Olson, 42 Wallinger Avenue, who was reported mistaken for a moose by another member of the party, in the Wasa Lake area.

It was the third tragic death in the Olson family. A young daughter was drowned while on vacation some years ago, and a brother of Mr. Olson's was drowned while fishing in the upper Kootenay area.

Names of the other three boys were not available. The body will be viewed by a coroner's jury Tuesday and the inquest is expected to be continued at a later date.

This is the season's third hunting fatality in the Kootenays.

KNOWLES TURNED DOWN SPEAKERSHIP

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker in August offered the Commons speakership to Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, on a permanent basis, it was learned Monday night.

Mr. Knowles, member of Parliament for Winnipeg North Centre and an acknowledged expert on Commons procedure, declined the offer on the grounds that his first duty was to his constituents, it was learned.

Colleagues said Mr. Knowles felt that he should not "quit the fight" after arguing for years for more and better social security measures.

Mr. Knowles declined the Progressive Conservative prime minister's offer on his own initiative and without consulting party colleagues beforehand.

Colleagues said Mr. Knowles' decision was a personal sacrifice.

The CCF member makes $10,000 a year as an MP. As speaker, he would have made a total of $23,000 annually.

DOLLAR UP

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian dollar was 5-32 higher at a premium of 3 17-32 in terms of U. S. funds Monday; a week ago 3 3-32 per cent premium. The pound sterling was 5-32 lower at 2.80 11-32.

Smokers Cause $1 Million Fire Damage

VANCOUVER (CP) — Careless smokers caused more than $1,000,000 fire damage in B.C. last year, says the annual report of Fire Marshal Basil Nixon.

Of the 7838 fires in B.C. in 1956, 2935 were caused from smokers' carelessness.

A total of 95 persons—38 men, 16 women and 31 children—died in fires during the year.

It was the heaviest toll in the last decade.

Property loss rose 41 per cent, from $10,889,620 to $15,308,745.

Visitors to Nelson on Extended World Tour

Two engaging visitors to Nelson have just embarked on long-dreamed-of travels and an entirely new life, after over half a century of well-established living in the city of Winnipeg.

Miss Ruth Monk, who has recently retired from the position of chief librarian of the Medical Library of the University of Manitoba, and Miss Bea Holmes, who shares her dreams of life in far lands, are visiting Mrs. Hugh M. Greenwood, Radio Avenue, on their way to the Coast to catch a freighter bound for New Zealand. They will leave Nelson today.

Miss Monk states that she is not retiring but is simply leaving a well-established life for a venture into the unknown, and she and Miss Holmes are looking forward to their new life with anticipation.

They plan to board a freighter crossing the Pacific and stopping at Honolulu and the Fiji Islands before reaching their destination, New Zealand. There they will stay for some time in a house obtained for them by a friend. It overlooks Auckland harbor.

Both travellers plan to work during the time they are in New Zealand at any suitable occupation, "books, flowers, anything—."

Christmas in summer weather will be quite a novelty to the two new residents.

Next year Miss Monk and Miss Holmes will sail for the Balearic Islands in the Mediterranean, then to England and France. They hope to spend a good deal of time in each place. Home to Canada at last, the wanderers will stay until the wanderlust overtakes them again.

Parents Should Set Reading Example, Teacher Tells PTA

Children who read library books usually had little trouble in school and were frequently at the top of their class, S. Bragagnola, teacher at Central School, told Central-South Nelson Parent-Teacher Association.

An audience of 75 parents and teachers listened to Mr. Bragagnola discussing Young Canada Book Week and telling how to encourage children to know and read better books.

He spoke of the various ways in which parents could help their children to become good readers. He recommended recreational reading in the home. Parents should make books available to their children as one way of encouraging them to read.

"Do you provide an example to your child at home? Do you read at home?" Mr. Bragagnola asked. He suggested that if the child saw the parent sitting down to read a book or magazine, the child would often follow the parent's example.

He advocated taking a personal interest in the child's reading. He suggested that the parent read orally to the child, stop at an interesting part of the story, and let the child finish it himself.

COMICS PROBLEM

He was aware that comics could be a problem. They did have eye appeal, he said, but many books today were not dull either. He thought parents should read some of the comics their children read and see what they were reading. If comics were a problem the parent should talk it over with the child, asking that he read books rather than comics. This could be made a rule if the parent thought it necessary.

Mr. Bragagnola was introduced by Mrs. H. McGowan and thanked by Mrs. M. Juriloff.

Since new library books are still badly needed at both Central and South Nelson schools, the PTA resolved to again hold a skate sale, proceeds of which would go to buying new library books. Some books were obtained last year by a similar effort. It was decided to hold the sale at Central School on October 15, 16 and 17.

Mrs. McGowan welcomed all present at the meeting, particularly any newcomers to PTA, an organization which, she said, was unique in that it was the only one devoted exclusively to the welfare of children. Teachers of the two schools were individually introduced by principals B. B. Stallwood and E. K. Evans.

Mrs. McGowan announced that the joint PTA bursary of $100 had this year gone to Louise Sjoberg. Proceeds of the Shamrock Tea and the Carol Festival went towards this bursary fund.

On a suggestion by Mrs. J. Cherenko, secretary Mrs. F. Booth was asked to send a letter to Fire Chief E. S. Owens thanking him for the school zone signs that had been placed outside Central School.

It was decided to write a letter also to the City Council commending them for the recreational work that was done during the summer, such as the supervised playgrounds.

The possibility of showing films at Central School on Saturday mornings was discussed. These films would be supplied by the Film Council, who would also supply the projector and projectionist, but the showing of the films would have to be a PTA project. All ticket sales would be the responsibility of the PTA as would supervision of the children. Insufficient interest was shown in the idea and it was decided not to go along with it.

Three new members had had to be found for the program committee, Mrs. McGowan announced. She introduced the present committee as Miss M. Macdonald, Mrs. M. Juriloff, Mrs. R. Sommerville and Mrs. R. Quin.

Miss Macdonald gave a report on the activities of the program committee. She announced that as Canon G. W. Lang was ill he would be unable to speak on Better Parenthood to the meeting as had been planned.

Mrs. J. Crozier was elected as new magazine convener, while Mrs. T. Clem, sunshine convener, was introduced. It was explained that she sent cards to chronically ill children.

Membership convener, Mrs. L. Catley, spoke briefly. She gave a resume of the objectives of PTA.

Retiring treasurer Mrs. I. Black read the treasurer's report and gave the books to Mr. Stallwood for auditing. Mrs. P. Mason is the new treasurer.

Miss L. Johnson told the meeting of a Hallowe'en skating party to be sponsored by the Job's Daughters for pre-school and school-age children.

Children are still to be given a treat for best parent attendance at PTA meetings, it was decided. Winner of the award for the October meeting was Mrs. M. Walls' Grade 2 room.

Fulton Tells Sons Unable Intervene In School Problem

Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, after a meeting last month in Vancouver have sent an appeal regarding the detention of their children at New Denver to Minister of Justice Hon. Davie Fulton.

The letter, signed by the chairman and the secretary of the meeting, stated the children were "the victims of some dubious policy which reveals a deplorable lack of understanding on the part of the authorities."

The letter refers to the home as a "penal institution" and calls their enforced stay "medieval tactics", contradicting the "most rudimentary concepts of Christianity, humanism and democracy."

Mr. Fulton, in his reply stated that as minister of justice of Canada "it would be neither proper nor possible" for him "to intervene in any way with the statutes in question." He was referring to the statutes of the British North American Act which makes education exclusively a provincial legislature matter.

The Minister assured the Sons the problem was receiving his close attention from the points of view mentioned.

An appeal, similar to the one sent to the justice minister, was sent to the Secretary-General of the United Nations.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following selections were read: "Instead of God sending sickness and death, He destroys them, and brings to light immortality . . . God does not cause man to sin, to be sick, or to die."

The Golden Text was from Proverbs: (12:28): "In the way of righteousness is life; and in the pathway thereof there is no death."

Good Progress on Castlegar Hospital

CASTLEGAR — Satisfactory progress on the Castlegar Hospital was reported by Architect Paul D. Smith of Trail, when he attended the recent Hospital Society meeting at the High School.

Mr. Smith said the last of the structural concrete was being poured for the roof slab. Preparation for installing plumbing in a future second storey had been incorporated in the roof slab.

He also stated all re-inforcing steel for the main structure had been placed, and remaining to be put in is that of basement floor, entrance, steps, etc., and the septic tank.

Some work has been done on excavation of the drainage field, and electrical work is ahead of schedule. In Mr. Smith's words, "Progress in general appears to be good."

The meeting approved payment of the fourth progress claim from Imperial Builders.

Delegate to the convention of the B.C. Hospital Association in Vancouver next week will be W. J. Banigan, secretary of the Hospital Society.

Details of the switchboard and telephone system to be used were explained by J. Bainbridge, administrator, who quoted from the B.C. Telephone Company.

Mr. Bainbridge announced the Junior Red Cross group at Robson and Brilliant Schools plan to provide two wheel chairs. He felt the children were doing a fine thing in this endeavor.

The Hospital Society had been pleased to learn of the Centennial Committee's proposal to undertake the landscaping job as the 1958 Centennial project.

The Society felt this was something they would not be able to have done themselves for some time to come, since all funds must be allocated to vital equipment.

With the Centennial Committee's offer, and a fairly large sum of money at their disposal, it would be possible to have it done right, and to install sprinkling systems, purchase equipment for keeping the grounds in order and have the satisfaction of seeing the Hospital grounds develop into a beautiful and orderly setting, for the building now being erected, while providing a fitting memorial to the B.C. Centennial year, it was felt.

W. F. Shkwarok, chairman of the Centennial Committee, will be in charge of the plan, and experts on landscaping will be consulted and appointed to carry it out.

Detailed Civil Defence Forum Held at Kinnaird

KINNAIRD — Extensive civil defence forum was held recently at Kinnaird demonstrating how the thousands of evacuees would be handled by the Castlegar-Kinnaird - Robson area in the event of a disaster elsewhere.

Delegates arrived in Kinnaird at 9:30 a.m. and the first session was held in the Kinnaird Improvement Society Hall, where a typical mobile registration centre was set up. Here delegates went through the procedure of registration, were alloted billets and transportation. First aid attendants Frank Richardson and Bill Dalling were present to handle any problem cases such as evacuees suffering shock, etc., and were directed to Mrs. A. Gallo, RN.

This demonstrated how registration would be set up in the parking areas, in the event that it became necessary to bring several thousand evacuees from a danger area into the Castlegar-Kinnaird area.

From the community hall, the delegates then moved to the Kinnaird school auditorium, where S. C. Muirhead, chairman of the Kinnaird Village Council gave an address of welcome.

Mrs. V. Green then gave her presentation of the registration problem stressing the reasons why registration was necessary and how it was being looked after in this staging area.

TRANSPORTATION ANGLES

S. J. Jankola, local civil defence chief, presented the transportation angles, emphasizing the fact that evacuees coming here in cars would be parked and evacuees, afseven parking areas. Here cars would be directed to one of the ter being registered would be transported by buses, to private billets.

At no time would the cars be allowed to leave the parking areas unless authorized by the transportation officer, Floyd Peterson. Cars would be serviced and ready to move when orders to do so were received. Figures giving the amount of gasoline available as well as the capacity of the parking areas were recorded.

"Billeting evacuees is a great problem," said Harry Bate, but a solution was given with figures that are present "on our records." Kinnaird and Castlegar would receive the greatest proportion with some evacuees being sent to Robson. "Floors would certainly have to make a temporary bed as extra beds and bedding are not too plentiful in this area."

Frank Richardson, first aid civil defence chief for this area, gave figures on the number of trained personnel in first-aid, industrial first-aid and home nursing. "We are very fortunate to have such a large number of trained personnel here, as well as an ambulance service, complete with first-aid attendants.

"Fire departments and civil defence have the same thing in common and that is lives," stated Rene Archambault in presenting the fire problems. Capacities of water systems and availability of the equipment in the area were given. Problems regarding fire in case of large numbers of evacuees coming to this area, were presented, and the solutions arrived at.

Civil Defence Officer Steve Jankola presented the welfare side and explained how the Kinnaird Elementary School could be used for a welfare centre. Diagrams were presented to the delegates which show how any school could be adapted to this purpose. Policing problems were also presented. Auxiliary police would be required in large numbers.

FOUR TAKEN

In the afternoon a tour was taken showing the different areas used in the solution of the problem as a staging area for Kinnaird and Castlegar. S. J. Jankola, H. Bates and W. Leduc gave an explanation and on their return to Kinnaird Hall, Brig. N. McCarter gave his comments and views on the exercise. He stated that the problem had been handled well and felt that solutions were satisfactory. He had high praise for the work being done by the local civil defence organization.

A. V. Marcolin also gave a few words expressing his thanks to the visiting delegates for attending.

Traffic control convoy was handled by RCMP and CD Auxiliary police from this area.

Besides two delegates from Edmonton were Ray Miller, civil defence officer of Rossland; K. McRae, CD co-ordinator for East Kootenay, of Kimberley; Donald Neale, transportation officer from Cranbrook; Stan Latar, transportation officer, Fernie; Allan Watson, civil defence officer of Kimberley; A. V. Marcolin, CD co-ordinator, civil defence officer, Fernie; Gor- Trail; J. Buchannan, deputy CD co-ordinator, Trail; Edgar Wilson, don Lees, Kimberley; Doug Foster, Creston; P. Stenholt, welfare, Ottawa; L. Hart, train operations, Victoria, and Brig. N. McCarter, deputy civil defence co-ordinator of B.C. from Victoria.

To Get Trophy

LONDON (CP) — A nostalgic Briton, who commanded Canada's first naval air squadron, is going to Canada to give the navy a souvenir of their happy association.

Lt.-Cmdr. David Wilkinson, who took charge of No. 803 squadron when it was formed in Arbroath, Scotland, early in 1945, is presenting the navy with a silver trophy depicting a 14-inch model of the Mark 15 Seafire, the aircraft with which the squadron was originally equipped.

Now a businessman and insurance executive, Wilkinson is flying to Vancouver Sept. 13 and hopes to meet original members of the squadron during visits to Calgary, Winnipeg and Toronto before formal presentation of the trophy in Ottawa Oct. 7.

Wilkinson has suggested that the trophy be put up for competition between air squadrons and, ultimately, ships equipped with surface-to-air missiles on a general efficiency basis.

"Sigs" Have Important Role at Official Functions, Big Events

By ROY LaBERGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—If it's a large official function in Canada's capital chances are that the "sigs" will be there.

They are the 140 members of Ottawa's No. 3 signal regiment of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals, a militia regiment that provides communications services—either by radio, telephone or dispatch rider—needed for major functions.

For example, the part-time soldiers set up telephones to tell artillerymen in nearby Major's Hill park when to fire the 21-gun salute as the Governor-General arrives to open Parliament.

HIDDEN MUSICIANS

They can explain something that puzzles many visitors to Ottawa—how the band can be heard so clearly in every part of the ballroom at Governor - General Massey's soirees when the musicians are in another room. The "sigs" instal microphones and loudspeakers throughout the room, camouflaged with flowers.

At the Governor-General's annual garden party when 3,000 persons swarm through the beautiful grounds of Rideau Hall the "sigs" set up and man the public address system, and the telephone lines that call dignitaries' autos from the parking lot to drive them home.

At the Nov. 11 Remembrance Day services at the National War Memorial they again signal the artillerymen. And at the annual inspection parade of all 11 militia units in the Ottawa area, commands are given over a public address system they set up and operate.

When Queen Elizabeth — then Princess Elizabeth — and the Duke of Edinburgh visited Canada in 1951 the unit's walkie-talkies scattered along an eight-mile route kept officials informed of their progress in a motorcade through the city.

BIG SPORTS EVENTS

The services are not confined to officialdom, however. They operate public address systems, telephone and radio communications at big regattas, dog derbies and similar outdoor events.

The unit's biggest job is at the annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meeting at Connaught Ranges, about 11 miles west of Ottawa. There a 24-man squad, living in tents, mans about 75 telephone lines to control the firing on the ranges and provide camp communications.

Nakusp Park Area Surveyed

NAKUSP — A meeting of the Nakusp Hot Springs Provincial Park Board was held at the home of Mrs. Heather Gates.

Present were president A. G. Elder, vice-president H. G. Gardner, commissioners A. J. Butt, D. E. Johnson and H. W. Herridge, and secretary Mrs. Heather Gates.

The Board has now received the survey plans for ten acres of land which includes the springs, bathhouse and other buildings. This ten acres is being donated to the Nakusp Hot Springs Provincial Park Board by the present owner, Mrs. Florence Leary, the Board being responsible for the costs of the survey.

The Board found it necessary to borrow $375 to pay for this survey. It was decided to ask various organizations in Nakusp and immediate district for assistance in repayment of this loan.

The Board feels that the road between Nakusp and the Hot Springs is essential for the further development of the Nakusp Hot Springs. In the knowledge that the Hot Springs are a great asset to the community, the Board hoped that the people of the community make a united effort to secure the building of the road as soon as possible.

West Should Pool Scientific Knowledge

The achievement of the Russians in successfully launching a satellite is of profound importance to the whole world and may be regarded as the most outstanding event in its whole history. It will inevitably change our thinking and give us larger horizons and greater aims.

It is unfortunate that the United States has lost the race to launch a satellite. It had given its plans so happily to the world by announcing the kinds and time when they would be sent into space. They had taken the whole world into its confidence, secure in their belief that they alone had the skill and the scientific knowledge to achieve this.

There may be many reasons why Russia was able to steal a march on the rest of the world but undoubtedly the chief one is that she has many excellent scientists and technicians. Brains and intelligence are not the monopoly of one nation. It is purely in the use and application of those brains that one nation is better able to succeed than another.

Concentration on an objective has much to do with ultimate success and the Soviets were able to concentrate on the conquest of inter-stellar space largely because of their totalitarian system which enabled them to direct scientists to this problem.

The U.S., on the other hand, had dispersed its efforts on rocket research because of the rivalry of its three armed services. In addition it had ignored or discounted the achievements of the other western nations and collaborated with none of them. The result of its refusal to share its secrets is the absurd position where both Britain and the U.S. independently and at considerable cost and waste of much scientific brain-power, arrived at the hydrogen bomb.

Mr. Duncan Sandys, the British minister of defence, spoke of this recently at Brighton, England, when he urged the United States, in the light of recent developments, to allow British and American scientists to pool their brains. He recalled that the exchange of nuclear weapon information is banned under the U.S. McMahon Act and said, "We regret very much that we should now be duplicating the efforts of rare scientific brains in this field."

Time is going on and events march with great rapidity. If the West is to maintain its leadership in the world then it must make the fullest use of all its resources and of these the scientific brains are the most important.

There must be a free and unrestricted sharing of all scientific knowledge and there must be an interchange of scientists where necessary. Good leadership is important and while the U.S. should retain its leadership it should regard itself only as the first among equals.

Whooping Cranes Fly Again

The last wild flock of whooping cranes will soon be on the move again. Their fall migration from Canada to Texas will be eagerly watched all along the migration highway.

Aerial surveys conducted by the Canadian Wildlife Service in the vicinity of Wood Buffalo Park, Northwest Territories, indicate that some of these rare birds are already concentrating in the Sass River area in preparation for their 1800-mile journey southward. For years these carefully guarded birds have commanded the attention of the entire continent during their dangerous fall migration. Every year the heartening sight of a few newly hatched cranes accompanying their parents on the migration have stirred renewed hopes that the birds can be preserved from extinction.

This year the Canadian authorities have already observed three young cranes which were successfully hatched this summer. These young birds raise the known total of wild whooping cranes to 26. Once again the cranes seem to justify the faith of authorities that they can maintain a good population level as long as losses during their migration can be kept at a minimum.

The greatest danger to these birds will be from the many hunters who crowd the flyway during the duck hunting season which corresponds to the whooping crane migration period. During the past few years the cooperation of sportsmen's groups, state and national conservation officers, and private citizens has helped to keep the loss to a minimum. Their slogan is: "Do Not Shoot at Any Large White Bird."

The National Audubon Society, in conjunction with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has conducted a research project on these rare birds. The birds do not migrate in one large flock, but as small groups and individuals. Those birds which did not nest, or are too young to have mated, usually migrate ahead of the family groups. These first migrants usually appear in the Dakotas after the first of September. Parents with young travel much more slowly, stopping to feed and rest along the way. The last of these family groups may still be along the flyway during early December.

No one could possibly mistake a whooping crane for a duck or a goose, and yet in the past many of them have been shot by hunters along the flyway. The adult whooping crane is a large, white bird, with a red crown on his head and jet black wing tips. It stands about three and a half feet tall. The young cranes are usually a brownish color, splotched with a few white markings. Their call is similar to the sound of a bugle or a whoop. They feed along river edges, marshes, and ponds during migration.

The migratory route extends across the states of North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. People within these areas are asked once more to watch for these birds, and to give them safe passage through their states. These cranes are the last remnants of a fine and noble species, part of America's great natural heritage. They are rigidly protected at their summer nesting site in Canada, and at their wintering grounds at the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge in Texas. The safety of the birds during their migration is a major factor in their preservation. You can help! If you see a whooping crane, notify your game warden or state conservation department. Let's keep them flying!

Socialism Said Cure For Economic Ills

To the Editor:

Sir—Can North America take arms reductions "in its stride"? "Yes," say the capitalists' soothsayers. "No!" says the socialist Labor party.

If capable of using its man-power and resources for peaceful purposes, why did it not do so in the "hungry thirties"? After a decade of government schemes, over 10 million were jobless on the eve of World War II, which put them back to work.

Today's defence production cannot arrest capitalism's peacetime decline. Capitalists are less afraid of military expenditures than their elimination or reduction. "If Russia decided to be a good neighbor," said U.S. Senator Edwin Johnson, "there would be hell to pay."

Let's end a system which depends on a colossal destruction of resources and human life for its survival, a system which, by its exploitation of the working class, creates huge surpluses of commodities and war-bleeding "export or die" struggles for markets. Under socialism, the workers, by democratically planning production through their own industrial councils, and retaining the full product of their labor, will end the problem of unmarketable surpluses and industrial stagnation, and thereby the economic necessity of directing labor into wasteful and destructive channels to keep the wheels of industry turning.

Month's Fishing in B.C. $8 Million

British Columbia fishermen caught $8,141,000 worth of fish in August to record an increase of 11 per cent compared with August 1956.

Department of Fisheries monthly statistical report reveals that the value of salmon landings was better than $1,000,000 more than last year's August figure. Heavy pink salmon runs to the Skeena and in Johnstone Straits provided the bulk of the salmon catch.

Fishermen working Juan de Fuca Straits in August caught 1,249,800 pinks, down considerably from the 1,598,700 taken in the 1955 cycle run. Net caught coho also were down sharply, with total landings of 3,460,000 pounds as compared with 4,850,000 pounds taken in 1956.

Troll landings of coho and springs were up slightly from a year ago with a total of 5,360,000 pounds. Trollers also landed 1,200,000 pounds of pink salmon. Landed values for all troll caught springs, coho and pinks amounted to $1,320,000 as compared with $1,728,000 a year ago.

Value of August halibut landings was down in comparison with the 1956 August fishery. The total of 2,649,000 pounds, valued at $466,000 was ten per cent lower in volume and $177,000 less in value than the 1956 comparative period.

Production of soles, principally caught in northern areas, was 15 per cent higher than last year, the total catch of 1,067,000 pounds bringing $56,000 to trawl fishermen.

Verse

IF I SHOULD PRAY

If I should pray, my only prayer would be
That God would let me live again on Earth
Each time I die—on Earth eternally,
So that each death would only mean re-birth;
An everlasting chance to right the wrong
That we have done, or try again to tell
In truer words, another sweeter song
That here on Earth does Heaven truly dwell.

And who can say that this my only prayer,
Would not come true? These fields I love so well
For me may bloom forever, just as fair,
And God's most gracious heart may let me dwell
On Earth, may think it not unkind of me,
That it is only here I wish to be.

TODAY'S BIBLE THOUGHT

Charity suffereth long and is kind: Charity envieth not, charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up. I Cor. 13:4.

If we filled out the picture of true charity we would be wonderful friends and neighbors and citizens. It is within our reach.

Economy (?) Of Marriage

. . . F. B. Pearce

Is marriage a luxury? asks a daily paper and then it goes on to quote a University of Minnesota authority as saying "Economically speaking marriage has become a luxury."

This will not strike any of the older married men as anything new. Since, when, they will ask, has marriage ever been a paying proposition. Younger men may believe in fairies and that two can live as cheaply as one but a few years experience soon convinces them that their pre-marital education was in this respect quite fallacious.

Probably marriage was most successful in the caveman days. Then the ardent young swain went out with his bludgeon, clubbed the fair one and dragged her into his burrow. It was by no means a hard job. He did not have to wade through sections of her family to reach her. She was guilessly picking flowers within easy reach. The first thing she did on recovering consciousness was to tidy the cave and the second was to tell her lord and master not to make it dirty.

One of the important functions of the wife in all times has been to provide good meals for her husband. Now what does this fellow Rube Hill tell the Kansas State College pupils? "Today a man can get his meals cooked more cheaply without a wife than with one." Well if you like that kind of cooking it will be cheaper and it will be cheaper still if you don't like it because you will eat less.

ENJOYMENTS

But there are aesthetic enjoyments for those who have wives who cook. The perfume of flowers on the evening breezes is not nearly so potent as the aroma of steak frying in conjunction with that prince of vegetables, the onion, and what can give the tired husband more pleasure than, after kissing his wife, to lift the top of each pot in turn and smell of the contents. The mixed medley of smells, with French fried predominating, from the local eatery can be revolting but the aroma of home cooking is more love provoking than Chanel No. 5.

Yes, it may be true, as Mr. Hill so wisely remarks, that a man can get his clothes better mended without a wife than with one, but there is one thing he forgets, a married man can wander into his wife's presence clad only in his underwear and demand a button for his shirt. He can hardly do that in the local mend and make establishment.

I must say that I think his assertion that most able-bodied women with a college education can provide better for themselves than by splitting a husband's pay cheque has a very sinister and improper sound. But whoever believed that marriage was a share the wealth scheme?

ONE GREAT BENEFIT

What the learned professor forgets is that there are a lot of things without much economic worth which go with marriage — like the right of putting your cold feet on your partner's back on cold winter nights.

Mr. Hill says that parenthood is a positive expense since it costs an estimated $20,000 to rear a child to the age of eighteen. I don't believe it. I never had that much money, but I can understand now why my young friend thinks I am wealthy. Four times $20,000 is $80,000 and toss in another $20,000 for myself and I would be worth a hundred thousand. If it were only true.

If everyone believed Mr. Hill's variety of misinformation few children would be born to any but the non-college trained — which might be better for the country. It might not be so good for the individual. As far as I can see just now the great benefit of parenthood is that eventually with luck the parent graduates to the high estate of grandparentcy. Then it is their right and privilege to bring up children without the unfortunate necessity of changing their so-frequently-wet clothes; they can spoil them to their hearts content and when they are tired of them they can turn them back to their parents.

Ike Passes Busy Birthday

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was 67 Monday. The anniversary finds perhaps more controversy swirling about him than at any time since he became president in 1953.

But domestic and international troubles are going to have to make way temporarily for happy birthday salutes to the president.

Only one formal tribute was announced in advance—a late afternoon White House call by a delegation of several hundred Republican party fund raisers. Eisenhower's business engagements for the day dealt with both domestic and world problems.

He booked one conference to look at the U.S. economy. Another meeting was with the new defence secretary, Neil McElroy, possibly on intercontinental ballistic missiles programs and the jump Russia is claiming in the missiles field.

LITTLE ROCK TROUBLE

Besides international problems, Eisenhower is confronted with bitterness stirred by his callout of federal troops to quell violence in Little Rock, Ark., and ensure admittance of Negroes to Central High School.

Eisenhower is not eligible under the constitution to run for a third term. He has expressed doubt the ban has worked to diminish his influence—with Congress for example.

But he would be the last to deny that his trouble has increased a good deal since the start of his second term last January.

Syria Welcomes Egyptian Troops

DAMASCUS (AP) — Syria's army chief of staff, Maj. - Gen. Afif Bizry, sounded an "open warning" to Turkey and Israel in welcoming Egyptian troops to this country, the Syrian press reported Monday.

"Imperialism, which is massing troops along our northern and southern borders, should know Monday that any anti-Syria aggression will be regarded as directed against the entire Arab nation," Bizry was quoted as saying in a welcoming speech.

Egyptian land forces and naval units arrived in Syria's Mediterranean port of Latakia Sunday under the terms of a mutual defence pact.

There is no word whether the Egyptian troops will be stationed on the Turkish or the Israeli border.

Bizry, addressing officers of the contingent which arrived Sunday, said the unity of the Syrian and Egyptian armies "is realized completely today" under the leadership of Maj. - Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, commander - in-chief of Syrian and Egyptian armed forces.

Damascus newspapers hailed Egypt's move as "the greatest historic Arab event in modern times." They said it demonstrated Egypt's determination to fight at Syria's side against any aggression.

Currency Blitz Blow To East Germans

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

BERLIN (AP) — Western officials said Monday the East German Communist regime's blitz changeover of currency threatens to wipe out millions of East marks held by the satellite's population.

East Germans who tucked away savings rather than trust the Communist banks were hard hit by the Red government's surprise order Sunday to turn in the old currency for a new issue.

The government paid out cash only up to 300 marks — about $16 at the Western exchange rate.

The balance, the Reds said, would be made available from banks starting next Saturday. But West Berlin and Allied officials said the terms of the Red decrees made plain that the old marks would not be honored unless the holders could certify where the money came from.

AGAINST ILLEGAL TRADE

Under the Communist economy of rationing and scarcity, millions of farmers, workers and small businessmen have gone in for illegal trade. The Reds said the currency switch was designed to wipe out this kind of "illegal speculation."

Premier Otto Grotewohl went on the air at 8 a.m. and sent the population scurrying to currency conversion booths with a warning that the old currency would become valueless at 8 p.m.

Grotewohl said the lightning changeover was aimed at making worthless the millions of East marks held by what he called espionage organizations and speculators in West Berlin and West Germany.

SEAL OFF BORDER

While police and soldiers virtually sealed off the satellite nation from its neighbor, the conversion operation at a rate of one new mark for one old one was completed by about midnight.

The West Berlin Exchange Office Association estimated West Berlin banks and exchange offices were caught with about 20,000,000 East marks ($1,100,000) which are worthless.

It could not estimate how many millions were held by other businessmen, by official organizations including underground agencies and by individual West Germans.

Modern Service Swings Prayers

LONDON (Reuters) — Trumpets blared, pop singers crooned the Lord's Prayer and the congregation sang "cool" hymns in a televised church service Sunday night.

Rev. Geoffrey Beaumont's controversial 20th Century Folk Mass, complete with 25 - piece band, was performed in St. Augustine's Anglican Church in Highgate, North London, as millions watched.

The BBC program started with Rev. Gerald Fitzerald, church vicar, walking to the altar as the band beat out a popular tune.

The Lord's Prayer was duly "swung" with blaring trumpets, after which the packed congregation sang a jazzed-up hymn. Then two boy scouts brought bread and wine for holy communion to the strains of a fast waltz.

"There's nothing irreverent about the swing mass," Beaumont told reporters. "It will only appeal to church people. Non-churchgoers will not like it."

The BBC said it received a total of seven phone calls after the program — six against, one for.

MacMillan Says "No" To Japan

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain told Japan Monday that to suspend nuclear weapon tests "would not by itself be a measure of disarmament" because countries able to manufacture nuclear arms would continue to do so.

Macmillan was replying to a cable from Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi asking British support for Japan's resolution in the United Nations General Assembly calling for immediate suspension of nuclear weapon tests.

Macmillan's message said:

"An atmosphere of mutual confidence can only be established by the knowledge that the governments concerned have not only suspended their nuclear tests, but have also undertaken to halt the production of fissible material for weapons and to start reducing their armed forces and conventional armaments under effective international control."

Name Queen Best-Dressed Woman in Capital City

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Pacific Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Queen Elizabeth won hands down the title of the capital's best-dressed woman during her public appearances this weekend.

Her wardrobe was evidently put together to fit the background of Ottawa's gold and red autumn hues. The effect was stunning.

Crowds in the capital have seen her in two outfits so far, but the knockout punch came to Monday's opening of Parliament when the Queen wore the dress in which she was crowned in 1953.

FULL-SKIRTED SATIN

It is a white satin gown embroidered with the floral emblems of Great Britain and the Commonwealth countries and is encrusted with seed pearl and crystal.

For her arrival Saturday, the Queen wore an afternoon dress of full-skirted satin in shades of red with elbow - length sleeves. Her coat was of claret-red velvet with a mink collar and red velvet hat. Her gloves and bag were black.

TAILORED SKIRT

For a press reception Saturday night, the Queen simply removed her red hat and coat and donned white gloves. Prince Philip for both the arrival and the reception wore a dark charcoal grey suit.

At Sunday morning worship in Christ Church Anglican Cathedral and the remembrance ceremony at the National War Memorial, the Queen wore a tailored skirt and jacket of champagne beige wool. The prince wore a dark blue suit and matching tie but no coat or hat.

The Queen's jacket had a small stand - away collar trimmed in beige mink while her off-the-face, beret-shaped hat was of toning taffeta. Again, she favored pearls and brooches as jewelry.

For her radio-TV address to the nation Sunday night the Queen wore a powder blue dress of lame with silver-thread embroidery, a tudor bow brooch on her left shoulder, and pearls.

By TRACY ADRIAN

HERE IS A CLASSICALLY simple and elegant gown for the girl who is planning to walk down the aisle this fall or winter. This traditional and romantic bridal gown is in a mood reminiscent of a Flemish painting. The dress is of yarn-dyed acetate taffeta with long pointed sleeves, a wide curved V-shaped neckline and a waistline dropped on the diagonal with the full skirt shirred from the sides to the back. The front panel is cut princess style and adorned, like the bodice, with large appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace. Her lace headpiece is a bandeau with double-back sides and a fingertip veil of double fullness silk illusion.

Castlegar Hospital Auxiliary Making Plans for Opening Day

CASTLEGAR — Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Castlegar and District Hospital are working out plans for holding a home made candy sale December 14.

At a meeting of the Auxiliary in the High School, it was decided to ask members for donations of candy for the sale, and shortbread will be sold also.

Mrs. F. Chernoff of Robson has volunteered to bake a Christmas cake for raffling.

The Junior Auxiliary, which has been formed by the Grade Eleven girls at the high school, has joined the Ladies' Auxiliary as a group, and representatives attending the meeting were Rosaday Williams and Jocelyn McIvor. They will report back to their group when next they meet. The girls are busy collecting books and toys for the children's ward.

It was agreed that each member should contribute one nickel on meeting nights, with the money going towards sending cards to sick members, and to provide some form of social evening for the members who cannot attend regular meetings, but do sewing and knitting at home.

Mrs. Brownlie of Kinnaird will be looking after the cards for sick members.

The Ladies' Auxiliary is at present endeavoring to obtain a cupboard to be placed in the hospital lobby for display of knitted articles on sale. The members felt this was something which would make a good project for a local organization to sponsor.

The suggestion was made that wrapping paper, ribbons and cards also be kept on hand in the cupboard, for those who might wish to make a purchase and gift-wrap it "on the spot."

Plans are being formulated for opening day, which is expected to be some time in March. The Auxiliary plans to serve tea, and at that time would accept donations of fruit, etc., for the Hospital.

It is pointed out that membership in the Auxiliary is not limited, and it is hoped to obtain many more members. The present membership is about 45.

Mrs. W. Banigan, president has been delegated to attend the provincial convention in Vancouver next week.

15 Troops Make Light Of Barren Station

By DAVE OANCIA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

RAS NASRANI, Egypt (CP)—"Welcome—this is Ras Nasrani," said the Swedish sign by the road leading to two dusty brick buildings on the barren sands along the Straits of Tiran at the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba.

The area was a maze of barbed wire and minefields. The islet of Tiran and the mountains of Saudi Arabia beyond were obscured by the blue haze in the blazing noon sun. A dozen miles to the west the barren, saw-toothed Sinai Mountains erupted out of the flat, yellow desert.

"Big midsummer resort," boasted the sign. "Music and dancing under the trees. Ladies admitted free."

HOT SPOT

The bleak, treeless, grassless area roasted in temperatures frequently hitting 140 degrees.

The two buildings house the 15 Swedish troops who watch shipping in the gulf through binoculars and report movements to United Nations Emergency Force headquarters.

Between the buildings stood a lone blue cross, capped by a set of ram's horns and tarnished Egyptian helmet. The cross was garlanded with ammunition belts, helmets and articles of clothing abandoned by the Egyptian army when the Israelis struck. Circling its base were empty beer bottles pointing inwards.

Sgt. Boye Kanppi grinned as he translated the Swedish signs for Canadian transport drivers visiting his post.

"This is our maypole — our trees," he said.

ONCE BLOCKADED

The troops are part of the Swedish rifle company stationed in the southeastern Sinai area in which Egypt once blockaded shipping bound for the Israeli port of Elath.

Both Ras Nasrani and Sharm el Sheikh, some 15 miles to the south, had been Arab hamlets. But the Arabs were moved out five years ago when Egypt decided to hit Israel economically by cutting its shipping lifeline.

Gun batteries were set up at the mouth of the gulf where the passage between the island of Tiran and the mainland is about three miles wide. Shipping had to pass much closer inland because coral reefs and other obstructions narrow the passage.

NO FIGHTING

Now all that remains of these costly installations is a heap of rubble, twisted metal and minefields.

The Israelis captured the place without firing a shot when the Egyptian commander withdrew to concentrate his force at Sharm el Sheikh, which fell in a six-hour battle to end the four-year blockade of Elath.

"We do not see many ships pass here," the Swedish sergeant said. "Some days there are as many as four or five, but then for maybe a week we don't see any."

Names, registry and other details are carefully noted and passed through a chain of wireless stations to UNEF headquarters in Gaza.

Father and Son Run Flower Farm

HARROW, Ont. (CP)—Farming is a colorful occupation for Ralph Wright and his son Donald. They grow annually 250,000 gladioli spikes and 15,000 chrysanthemum cuttings in all colors, as well as other crops.

Mr. Wright says the flowers require more attention than the peaches, cherries, apples, prunes and vegetables he also grows, but the flowers provide work for eight employees and a profitable return.

The Wrights make three plantings a year from March to June. From July to November the blooms are cut and shipped to a Montreal florist, with 300 dozen gladioli packed weekly at the peak of the season.

POPULAR SHADES

Just as the gladioli season ends mum cutting begins in October and lasts through January. The mums, unlike the gladioli, are grown in four big greenhouses. The Wrights specialize in 40 of the more than 1,000 varieties of mums. Pastel shades are the most popular, Mr. Wright says.

Mr. Wright, who has grown gladioli since 1944, rotates the five-acre crop on a three-year basis, giving the sandy soil a change and discouraging any disease.

To combat insects he sprays the plants every 10 days. An overhead irrigation system provides moisture and helps control fall frost damage.

TV Broadcast Halted by Blown Fuse

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC's television broadcast of the Queen's historic opening of Canada's 23rd Parliament got off to a shaky start Monday when the main power supply into the Parliament buildings' main block failed.

All lights in the building were off for about two minutes, as well as the power for the CBC's television control panel.

The failure was caused when National Film Board photographers turned on all their Senate chamber floodlighting equipment and blew a fuse.

Tudor Traditions Rule Parliament

OTTAWA (CP) — Modern-day Parliaments under Queen Elizabeth II are a far cry from those under Queen Elizabeth I, but the traditions are maintained.

That was the lesson in history given Monday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker in his first Commons speech as prime minister as he proposed the nomination of Roland Michener as Speaker of the House.

As his words were carried across Canada by radio and television, Mr. Diefenbaker reminded the Commons that a Speaker was necessary before the lower house could take part in the formal opening of Parliament this afternoon by the Queen in the Senate chamber.

"Having no Speaker, we have no voice to speak on our behalf and no means of communication with Her Majesty."

SOMETIMES DANGEROUS

In olden days, when the Commons faced "the overwhelming sovereignty of the monarch," the Speaker's task as the link with the Crown was arduous and even dangerous.

In 1562, he said, Speaker Williams of the British House of Commons, addressing Elizabeth I, asserted the rights of the Commons to free access to the queen, the right to interpret to her the wishes of Commons members, and "frank and free liberties to speak their minds without any controlment. . ."

Today, Parliament was supreme. Although the apparent power of the throne was lessened "its authority has gained in dignity and significance and in the hearts of the people."

One main task of the present Speaker of the Commons was "to be the jealous guardian of its prerogatives and rights."

Royal Society Honors Prince

OTTAWA (CP) — Prince Philip Monday became the first member of the Royal Family to be made an honorary fellow of the Royal Society of Canada.

A delegation of five senior officials of the Royal Society called on the prince at Government House to present to him the diploma naming him an honorary fellow.

Dr. Thomas W. M. Cameron, president of the 475-member Royal Society, said the award was made in connection with the 75th year of the group's existence and also to recognize the prince's interest in scientific matters.

To Investigate Cyprus Position

STRASBOURG, France (Reuters)—The 15-nation Council of Europe will investigate Britain's treatment of the Cyprus population, it was announced here Monday.

A committee of legal experts will conduct the investigation on the investigation on the British Island colony at a date to be determined. The council, an advisory body of members of Parliament from the 15 member states, approved a European human rights convention last year.

Greece, which seeks self-determination for Greek Cypriots, has charged that Britain violated the convention in its campaign against terrorists.

Legion Fixes Convention Date

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Legion's 1958 Dominion convention is to be held at Edmonton May 25-29, the Dominion executive council decided at a meeting here Sunday night.

The council agreed to continued Legion sponsorship in 1958 of the $20,000 Canadian Olympic training plan. This year, Franz Stampfl of Australia, long-distance runner and coach, held a 10-day clinic for athletes and coaches at Toronto in August.

Bert Hunter of Vancouver, president of the Legion's tuberculous veterans' section, said the defence department has adopted a section recommendation that Canadian servicemen in countries with a high incidence of tuberculosis, get anti-TB inoculations.

Grant Amnesty To Prisoners

OTTAWA (CP) — Approximately 300 prisoners in federal penitentiaries were released Monday under a grant of amnesty marking Queen Elizabeth's Ottawa visit.

Some 5,000 penitentiary prisoners, including the 300, will have a portion of their sentences remitted under the amnesty. All prisoners will be entitled to remission of about one-twelfth of the period of their sentences.

Prisoners in provincial jails—those serving terms of less than two years — also are entitled to amnesty.

Each province determines whether amnesty will be granted to prisoners convicted of offences falling under provincial statutes.

Ovation Greets Diefenbaker

OTTAWA (CP)—Rt. Hon. John Diefenbaker got a 30-second ovation from all parties in the Commons Monday when he entered the House for the first time as prime minister.

Members thumped their desks as he made an entrance in morning clothes, last member to go into the chamber.

Movie Gossip...

Film Made Behind Iron Curtain With Russ Consent Shows How Workers Live

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — North American moviegoers will get a chance to see how the Russians really live, thanks to a tough little capitalist who roamed behind the Iron Curtain with cameras and film.

The man is Sid Feder, and he has brought a documentary called This is Russia which universal-International is releasing. A vaudeville actor as a child, Feder has some film theatres and other interests.

Feder's Iron Curtain caper arose while he was in London during the Bulganin-Khrushchev visit last spring. He figured he would test whether the Kremlin leaders were serious in their offers of friendship, so he applied to the Russian Embassy for permission to photograph Russia.

"I was lucky," he admits. "The Russians have a great respect for inventions. I happened to have been in on the first 3-D picture, Bwana Devil. I put up the money. Since the Russians have a theatre where 3-D movies are shown without glasses, they were interested in my visit."

After much red tape, Feder was admitted to Russia. He was not allowed to bring a cameraman, so he had to shoot the film himself. He brought along three cameras and lugged 160 pounds of equipment.

FIRM NOTIONS

The Russians had firm notions of what he should photograph, he said, but he had other ideas.

"They showed me the huge factories, which were impressive but not what I was interested in," he says. "I wanted to see the faces of the people—see them at work and at play, in their homes, at the theatres and on vacation.

"They arranged for me to visit a model apartment—and it was a model! It was all fixed up with a refrigerator, television set and electric toaster. There was only one trouble. There was no electricity in the building, nothing to plug into.

"I used my camera for all of the things they wanted me to shoot. I always kept one with no film in it just for that purpose."

Though often harrassed by the police, Feder managed to get what he wanted. He travelled to Georgia at a time when the region was seething with unrest. He went to remote areas of Asian Russia — Samarkand and other areas where Marco Polo travelled and Genghis Khan ruled.

He saw another sight forbidden to most Western visitors — the slave labor camp of Siberia.

With some hairbreadth escapes, he managed to get his film out of Russia. Most of it was in good shape.

Britain Gets B.C. Contract

HAMILTON (CP) — A $25,000,000 contract for steam turbine generator equipment for the B.C. Electric Company has been awarded to Metropolitan Vickers Electrical Export Company, Limited, of Britain, Canadian Westinghouse Company said Sunday.

A Westinghouse spokesman said the contract went to the British firm despite keen competition from continental and United States companies. Westinghouse acted as Canadian agent for Metropolitan Vickers.

The contract calls for building six turbo-generators capable of producing 1,200,000 horsepower.

Dr. Thomas Ingledow, Vice-President of B.C. Electric, said in a statement: "It is significant that an order of such magnitude should be placed so soon after the meeting called by Mr. John Diefenbaker (Canadian prime minister) to discuss the furtherment of trade relations between Canada and the U.K."

Eight companies including German, Swiss and U.S. firms made tenders.

The generators will be built at the firm's United Kingdom plant and erected at Vancouver.

Prince Charles Back In Class

Elizabeth Presides At Privy Council

OTTAWA (CP) — Queen Elizabeth Monday became the first monarch to preside at a meeting of the committee of the Canadian Privy Council—the cabinet.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said after the 21-minute meeting at Government House that "certain decisions were taken which will be announced after the speech from the throne."

After the meeting, Prince Philip was sworn in as member of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada.

During the cabinet session the Queen authorized the signing of an agreement between Canada and Belgium for the avoidance of double taxation, a type of agreement Canada has with a number of other countries.

AT EARLY DATE

The external affairs department said the taxation agreement is expected to be signed at Ottawa at an early date.

Prince Philip's appointment was the highest honor Canada can bestow on the husband of the Queen. It makes him one of her advisers on Canada. However, in practice she is advised only by the council's committee, the cabinet.

Prince Philip swore that he "will serve Her Majesty truly and faithfully in the place of her counil in this, Her Majesty's Dominion of Canada."

Only three other living non-Canadians are Privy Council members. They are Sir Winston Churchill, former prime minister of Britain; the Duke of Windsor, the Queen's uncle; and Earl Alexander, former Governor-General of Canada.

Those With Know-How Get Rich In Poland

By SIDNEY TAYLOR

WARSAW (Reuters) — The Polish government's campaign to stamp out the racketeering now rampant all over the country is showing that big fortunes can be made under communism.

Although the highest salaries are supposed to be 5000 or 6000 zlotys ($200 to $240) a month, the Communist party's monthly journal Nowe Drogi (New Paths) says that there are people to whom twice these sums means nothing.

By various swindles, bribery and "methods known only to themselves," they are earning up to 100,000 zlotys ($4000) a month.

SOMETHING WRONG

No one is surprised, observe the Communists, at fortunes being made in capitalist countries ("out of the working classes"), but when it happens in the socialist state, something must be wrong.

The Warsaw prosecutor's office has stated that in one month alone, 10,000,000 zlotys ($400,000) was made in swindles in the city. Seven men cleared nearly 1,000,000 zlotys ($40,000) each.

It takes a first-class miner 16 years to make 1,000,000 zlotys. In that time, he would produce thousands of tons of coal — and perhaps damage his health as well. But the same amount of money can be made by a racketeer in a month.

From the point of view of those who rule Poland, the economic underground is immense and frightening. It permeates everything.

NEW ARISTOCRACY

There used to be two aristocracies: the old, threadbare nobility, living pathetically in single rooms, with a few old pictures and sticks of furniture gathered around them; and the aristocracy of the Communist party, privileged in every way and taking the best of everything.

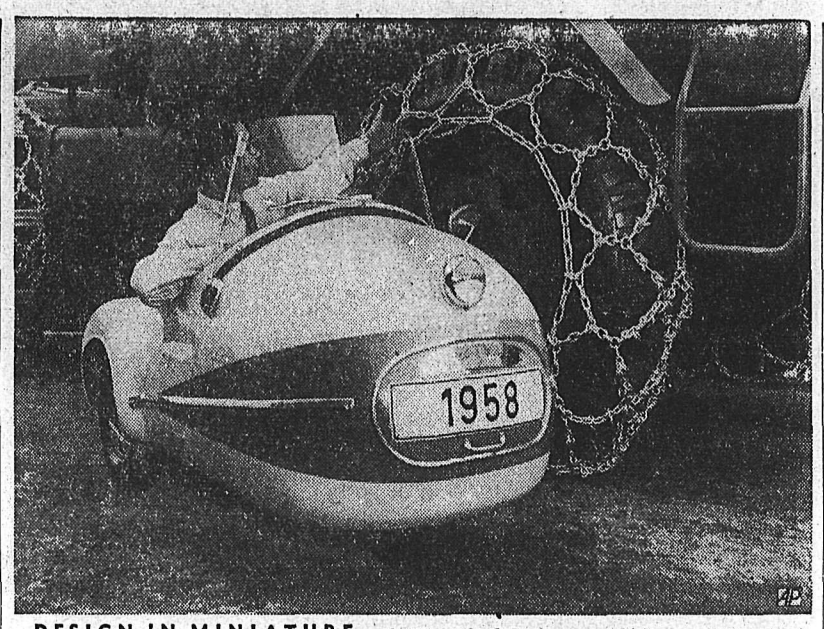
Today, there is a third "aristocracy," based on swindling. They are to be seen at the best pleasure resorts on the Baltic Sea or in the Carpathians. They drive luxurious cars, bought from foreigners at prices which no ordinary Poles could dream of paying. They wear English suits. Their wives or mistresses have dresses from the Western capitals.

Mixed up with racketeers are many people in high places.

Gunman Kills Greek Cypriot

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—A Cypriot-Greek village headman, Loizos Pierou, was shot to death by a masked gunman Monday in what may be the first political killing since a truce was declared in Cyprus last March.

An official statement said Pierou was killed in his office at Dhali village in the Nicosia district. The killer escaped.



DESIGN IN MINIATURE — A three-wheeled one-man vehicle named Mopetta is dwarfed by huge wheel of another vehicle at Frankfurt exhibition. The German-manufactured car has 2½ horsepower air-cooled engine, can cruise at 27 miles per hour and sells for $250.

Queen's Press Talk Pleases Newspapers

LONDON (CP) — The Queen's televised talk to the Canadian people and her Ottawa press conference has provoked favorable comment from the London press.

The Liberal News Chronicle notes that the Queen's press conference wss the first by a reigning British monarch since her father's North American visit in 1939.

"It seems it can only happen on the far side of the Atlantic," the News Chronicle comments, although it adds that it would be neither possible nor desirable for the Queen to "submit to the American ritual" of regular press conferences.

But relations between the palace and the press would be improved if court officials adopted "a more flexible and less formal attitude."

The Laborite Daily Herald praises the Queen's TV performance in an Ottawa dispatch.

"She was a hit," The Herald correspondent says. "She relaxed, she smiled, she had a word for the children, she spoke French." The correspondent also notes the informal atmosphere f the press conference and adds: "That's the kind of thing that is endearing her to Canadians."

Judge Bars Hoffa From Taking Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal district judge Monday barred James R. Hoffa from taking office Tuesday as president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

A temporary restraining order was signed by Judge F. Dickinson Letts at the request of a 13-man New York rank-and-file teamsters group.

The order not only bars Hoffa from taking office but also bars others elected with him from being sworn into office. The temporary restraining order will remain in force for 10 days, but may be continued for another 10 days.

Judge Letts' order also calls upon Hoffa and others elected with him to show cause why the entire proceedings of the recent teamsters convention at Miami Beach, Fla., should not be voided as unconstitutional and why Hoffa and other officers should not be permanently barred from taking office.

The New York group charged that Hoffa's overwhelming election was rigged, with delegates improperly chosen under the union's constitution.

Markets' Autumn Pickup Failed to Materialize

By ED MORSE

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market last week suffered a break equal to the one in the week ended Oct. 1, 1955, the first week following President Eisenhower's heart attack.

To find a worse weekly setback you have to go back nearly 24 years, to the third week of July 1933, in the hectic depression days of the early New Deal.

An estimated $10,000,000,000 was clipped from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange based on the fall in the average.

10-PER-CENT DROP

Since the first of this year the stock market's estimated cash drop has been roughly $22,000,000,000, putting the quoted value of all listed stocks down to the neighborhood of $198,000,000,000. The falloff since Dec. 31, 1956, has been about 10 per cent.

The battering the market took this week accounted for more than one-third of the decline so far this year. The turnover of shares soared to 15,575,710, or a daily average of 3,115,710. This was the biggest weekly volume since Eisenhower's first post-heart attack week.

The week brought the highly unsettling news that Russia had launched its space satellite and this brought big gains to certain aircraft and missile stocks but created a shaky atmosphere for the market as a whole. When official statements indicated that there would be no defence buildup to meet the Soviet challenge, stocks weakened again.

BUSINESS FACTORS

In addition to this, there was a series of unfavorable business news — layoffs, lower earnings, and so on. It became apparent the traditional autumn pickup in business was just not coming off.

The fall climaxed a steady drop since July 12 when the market hit its high for 1957, coming close to the all-time bull market high of 1956. Wall Street rooted for a topping of that peak, but it didn't happen.

Since then, the market has been haunted by two spectres which have bothered it all year: Tight money, which has cramped business expansion; and inflation, which has squeezed profit margins.

Name Oct. 14 Queen's Day

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker Monday named this Thanksgiving Day "the Queen's day" for Parliament.

"I call this the Queen's day," he said in the Commons a few hours before Queen Elizabeth was to open Parliament.

"The Commons, and the Senate as well, will walk with history today.

"It is a great and joyous occasion, a shining moment of rededication and of exemplification of our history."

Gov't Urged To Continue Naval Shipbuilding Plan

VICTORIA (CP) — The federal government must continue its naval shipbuilding program if Canada's shipyards are to stay in business, Harold Husband, president of the Canadian Shipbuilding Association said here.

Russia's perfection of an artificial earth satellite and an intercontinental ballistic missile prove the need for continuing defence work, he said at the recommissioning here of HMCS Antigonish.

Mr. Husband also is president of Victoria Machinery Depot, where the recommissioning was carried out.

HMCS Antigonish, a frigate rebuilt from the hull up, was turned over to the RCN at the ceremony.

The shipyards of Canada were in "dire straits" after the War but the shipbuilding program enabled them to grow out of that situation Mr. Husband said.

MUST CONTINUE

However, "there must be a continued naval program if the yards are going to continue to exist."

Russia now has the largest submarine fleet in history, he said. Ships like the new destroyer escorts and the Antigonish, fitted with the most modern anti-sub armament, will be needed in large numbers.

Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner, flag officer Pacific Coast, agreed it was "never more important than now to have well trained ships at sea."

There is a "more serious land and sea-borne threat than at any other time in the submarine-launched guided missile that could pound West Coast cities."

The navy must be "immediately and fully capable" of hunting down these and any other sea-borne attackers, he said.

Russ, U.S., To Exchange Moonlet News

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Russian and American scientists have arranged to exchange information resulting from Moon Watch observations of earth satellites.

Leon Campbell, director of the U.S. Moon Watch program, just back from a conference at Barcelona with his Russian opposite, told reporters: "We made arrangements for swapping Moon Watch operations between the Smithsonian Observatory and the Russian Academy of Science. Details are to be worked out."

Campbell identified the Russian as Mrs. A. G. Massevitch, described as an outstanding Russian astronomer.

Over 3000 See Flyers Win From Vernon Canadians

SPOKANE — Spokane Flyers Saturday night still were masters of Vernon Canadians, whom they eliminated in a scintillating eight-game Savage Cup final series on the way East to oppose Whitby Dunlops in the Allan Cup finals.

Flyers took advantage of their famliarity with the soft ice and warm atmosphere at Spokane Coliseum to score three times in the second period while defeating Vernon 3-2 in an exhibition encounter before 3059 fans.

The contest was tied in with a Western International Hockey League press and radio banquet that was attended by radio men and reporters from league centres.

A referees' school conducted by Curley Wheatley, Trail's representative on the WIHL board of vice-presidents, occupied the greater part of the afternoon.

The banquet was considered a success by all concerned. Spokane vice-president on the WIHL board of governors, Bill Bantz, spoke briefly before the dinner and expressed the wish that league officials, reporters and broadcasters could iron out their steadily decreasing list of differences.

Everyone's satisfaction with the arrangement was so obvious that there is little doubt Mr. Bantz' wish will be granted.

Highlight of the evening, for almost everyone but Vernon Canadians of the Okanagan Senior Hockey League, was the hockey game. Canadians, who will be pushed to the limit by Kelowna Packers this season in league competition, jumped into a 2-0 lead in the first period as tiny Hal Gordon did everything but a series of handstands to keep the Flyers off the scoresheet.

Con Madigan, formerly of Penticton Vs, opened the scoring after only 46 seconds, with Danny Moon scoring at 15:05.

Three holdovers — Frank Kubasek, Jack Lancien and John Zahara — tallied for Flyers, and, as usual, John Sofiak was a marvel.

John kicked out nine shots in the first frame, 14 in the second and four in the windup, when play slowed considerably due to the torrid pace.

Canadians during the first period looked like world - beaters. Playing without George Agar, and with Walt Trentini at reduced efficiency after large Larry Plante decked him twice in the opening minutes with wicked body-checks, they nonetheless dominated play, contrary to what shots-on-goal for the period might indicate.

Madigan broke away with a pass from Frank King and appeared to have been forced too far out to shoot by Tom Hodges. Sofiak had moved out to cut down the angle, and when Madigan regained possession, he slid the puck behind Sofiak inside the post.

Gordon blocked 36 shots in his terrific effort, but Lancien's effort to start the reconstruction of Flyers may have been a trifle on the easy side.

The Flyer defensive ace took setups from Kubasek and Buddy Bodman to rifle a 40-footer past Gordon's stick side. Seven minutes earlier, Bodman and Lorne Nadeau had tested Gordon and Kubasek poked home the rebound from directly off the toe of Gordon's skate.

The winner, only 25 seconds before Rock Crawford was caught for cross - checking, came from a scramble, as Zahara slapped the puck off a Vernon stick into an open corner.

Plante, whose rugged checking forced Vernon to slow down ever so slightly when he was on the ice, drew a five-minute boarding sentence early in the third period for a wild charge at King. Less than two minutes later, King and Bodman departed for roughing.

To the credit of Bing Juckes and Al Toikko, the WIHL's two chief officials this season, the uprising was quelled right away. The refereeing was as good as any seen in this league in two years, although a few press-box observers thought Zahara's goal was offside.

Jones to Join WHL Royals

SPOKANE (AP) — Art Jones, star centre with the Spokane Flyers of the Amateur Western International Hockey League the last two years, said Monday night he definitely will launch his professional career this season with New Westminster of the Western League.

Jones, who has been working out with Westminster since the Royals started practice this fall, scored 94 regular-season goals in his two seasons with the Flyers. He was voted the League's rookie of the year in 1956, and was a first-team League all-star choice last year when Spokane went to the Allan Cup finals.

Flyers' manager Roy McBride said he wasn't surprised by Jones' decision. "We can't bid with the Western League on salaries," he said, "and that's what it boiled down to in Art's case."

McBride said Jones' replacement probably would be rookie Bryan Whittal.

GATESHEAD WINS

LONDON (Reuters)—Gateshead beat Stockport 3-0 in the only English League soccer game played Monday night. This third division northern contest was postponed from Sept. 30th.

Winnipeg	8	4	0	276	242	16

REGINA (CP) — Clem Crowe's rejuvenated British Columbia Lions climbed to within three points of the third-place Calgary Stampeders Monday afternoon with a 30 - 10 victory over the tail-end Saskatchewan Roughriders before 10,061 fans. It was Lions' third straight Western Interprovincial Football Union victory.

This makes up Lions' strongest unbeaten streak since joining the league in 1954. They started with a 21-21 tie with the Riders at Vancouver, then defeated Calgary 27-1 and Winnipeg Blue Bombers 22-16.

With an offence that kept the Riders off balance through most of the game, the B. C. club went to the front in the first quarter and never looked back.

TWO TD PASSES

Quarterback Maury Duncan threw two touchdown passes to Paul Cameron, and another to end Rick Kaser. By Bailey smashed off tackle for another touchdown. Ted Hunt converted all touchdowns and Vic Chapman kicked a pair of singles.

Ron Dundas scored the Saskatchewan touchdown on a pass from quarterback Frank Tripucka. Reg Whitehouse kicked the convert and a 28-yard field goal.

The Lions outrushed Saskatchewan 127 yards to 99 along the ground, and had a 240-207 edge in passing yardage. Each team had 18 first downs.

Duncan completed 13 of 24 attempted forwards, while Tripucka and Ron Adam completed 15 of 28.

CALGARY (CP) — Johnny Bright and Jackie Parker powered Edmonton Eskimos to their second consecutive victory over Calgary Stampeders in three days with a 32-6 win Monday afternoon before more than 14,000 fans.

Bright scored one touchdown and carried the ball for 89 yards to move to within 37 yards of the individual Western Interprovincial Football Union rushing record of 14440 yards set last year by teammate Normie Kwong.

Kwong, Parker and Ken Hall counted the other Esk touchdown while Joe Mobra added a field goal and four converts. Hall also booted a single in the final seconds of play.

FAKED PASS

Calgary's only touchdown came early in the second quarter when Ron Clinkscale faked a pass and ran over from the nine. Bud Korchak's convert attempt was wide.

The defeat for Stamps, coming after a 47-6 drubbing at the hands of Eskimos in Edmonton Saturday night, left them still out of reach of the third and last WIFU playoff spot.

Ti-Cats Gain Firm Hold

By The Canadian Press

Hamilton Tiger-Cats shot into undisputed possession of first place in the Big Four Football Union by defeating Toronto Argos 22-16 Monday before a Toronto crowd of 18,604. The defeat was Argos' ninth in 10 games and wiped out their last chance of making the playoffs.

The Tiger-Cats victory was their third straight and sixth in their last eight games. It gave them a 7-3 win-loss record and moved them two points ahead of Montreal Alouettes and Ottawa Rough Riders, deadlocked for second place with 12 points on six wins and four losses each.

The Ticats, tied for first place with Ottawa before Monday's game, took over the lead as the Rough Riders lost to Montreal 32-24. Hamilton swept their Thanksgiving weekend doubleheader against the Argos while Ottawa and Montreal split their two games.

Parker, Pilla In Leaf Gear

Two of Nelson Maple Leafs' most useful operators last season turned over the weekend to lend credence to optimistic fans' hopes for a second-place finish.

Murray Parker, probably the Western Interprovincial Hockey League's outstanding rearguard in the gentle art of blocking opposition thrusts, came to terms with Leaf manager-coach Pat Egan Friday night and began working out over the weekend.

Jim Pilla, who scored 18 goals last season in his rookie year and received solid consideration behind Adolph Tambellini of Trail and Garth Lipsack as rookie of the year, was also in gear.

Both are expected to play the first game of the season in Trail Thursday night.

FIVE ROOKIES SIGN

After Monday's two-hour show, Egan signed five rookies, Cliff Schockey, Norm Ryder, Mickey Boston, Jack MacAuley and Lionel Martini, to forms. Others will be inked before Thursday's opening. If not, the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association will be noticeably distressed.

As the club is now organized, Leafs will probably line up Thursday with Gus Adams in goal, Dave Stewart, Parker, Ryder and either Ernie Gare, Marsh Severyn or Jack Heselton on defence; Don Appleton at centre between MacAuley and Martini; Lee Hyssop pivoting for Mickey Maglio and Wendy Keller, and Boston operating between Schockey and Lipsack.

Egan doesn't expect to see action until the club shakes down into playing shape. If he deems it necessary, he will activate himself as 15th man, and operate exclusively as a point-man on power-plays and a penalty-killer.

Leafs may be a bit shorthanded for their opener. Hyssop's linemates are both handicapped, Keller by a touch of 'flu and Maglio by a six-stitch cut over the eye inflicted by a high stick during Saturday's workout, which Appleton handled because Egan was in Spokane at a WIHL affair.

Parker's physical condition is a question. If the burly former professional star rounds quickly into playing shape, Leafs will be tough. But Parker is believed to be at least 20 pounds above playing weight.

He was playing exceptionally well — even for Parker — until his wrist was broken in an along-the-boards collision with Spokane Flyers' Larry Plante. That injury, Leaf fans will recall, marked Leafs' quick exodus to the lower depths.

Pilla, on the other hand, will have few conditioning problems. He worked on construction during the off-season and his job — in Trail — has kept him from reporting earlier. The hard-shooting and strong-skating left-winger should far surpass his rookie season.

Montreal Canadiens put on the sharpest display of the weekend's National Hockey League action but Boston Bruins got the most out of it.

Three-goal performances by Maurice Richard and Dickie Moore sparked the Habitants to a 6-0 win against Detroit Red Wings Sunday after a 2-2 tie against New York Rangers Saturday.

Meanwhile the Bruins, in their first two regular season outings, clipped Chicago Black Hawks and New York by identical 3-1 counts.

Boston was the only team to gain four points in the weekend action. Montreal garnered three, while Detroit counted two from a 5-3 win against Toronto Maple Leafs Saturday.

Richard's three-goal show, the 32nd of his 15-year career, brought his all-time regular season total to 497. The usually hostile Detroit crowd gave him a standing ovation when he got his third goal.

GOLF CLUB PRO TAKES NEW POST

Leo Atwell, president of Nelson Golf and Country Club, has announced that Jim Martin, club professional, will not return next season.

Always popular here, Martin has returned to Powell River on a year-round basis. He was professional in Powell River for seven years until illness sidelined him. Upon recovery he came to Nelson three years ago and remained until now.

Atwell said he was extremely sorry to see Martin leave, but wished him well in his new position. He said the club would definitely have an instructor next season.

Weekend Burst of Buying Puts Brake on Big Decline

By RON ANDREWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Under the strong influence of Wall Street, Canadian stock markets last week suffered their worst loss of the year.

Only a brief but reasonably strong burst of buying near the close of Friday's session put a brake on what could have easily been one of the worst declines in recent years.

Wall street slid down Monday, pulling Canadian markets with it. Tuesday New York rallied smartly and Canadian exchanges pulled up with a late recovery. Both sides of the border experienced the only gain of the week Wednesday, despite some profit-taking late in the session.

WEEK'S END WORST

The brunt of the decline was taken Thursday and Friday when Wall Street underwent its worst decline of two years and Canadian markets had one of their steepest losses of the year. Friday some buying appeared late in the session but the markets still suffered a rather severe loss.

No single piece of bad news accompanied the decline but rather an accumulation of discouraging notes from various sources, observers said. There was disappointment on Wall Street about failure to increase defence spending in view of heightened fear of Russia.

Brokers in Canada said the main reason for the drop here was the influence of Wall Street plus the tight money situation which has hampered market upswings for months.

There was one note of importance which makes brokers happy both in Canada and New York. Sales increased on the week and Wall Street had some of the heaviest trading of the year.

WORLD SERIES CUT

Activity, however, was somewhat dampened by the baseball world series which drew most of the traders' interest in mid-week.

Volume on the Toronto Stock Exchange totalled 11,286,000 shares for the week, one of the best totals in the last three months. The previous week had a total of 9,495,000 shares.

At the end of the week there were six losses for every gain on the Toronto board. Of 832 issues traded, 611 declined, 100 advanced and 121 were unchanged. During the five sessions 462 stocks touched 1957 lows, some of them breaking through the level repeatedly. Only three stocks gained 1957 highs.

Index losses at Toronto: Industrials 15.40 to 412.79; golds 3.97 to 73.80; base metals 5.95 to 160.01; western oils 13.32 to 139.93.

Index losses at Montreal: Banks 1.86 to 45.03 (new low); utilities 4.7 to 128.2 (new low); industrials 8.5 to 240.3 (new low); combined 7.2 to 202.9 (new low); papers 32.66 to 1069.30; golds 5.97 to 65.49.

Week's volumes at Montreal: 311,553 industrials and 1,598,087 mines compared with 253,143 industrials and 1,227,836 mines the previous week. Of 351 issues traded, 28 advanced, 190 declined and 133 were unchanged.

Selwyn Lloyd Arrives N.Y.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain arrived here Monday by plane from London en route to Williamsburg, Va., to participate in the welcoming celebration for Queen Elizabeth Wednesday.

Lloyd declined to make any statement on recent articles critical of royalty appearing here and in Britain.

Lloyd, who appeared tired, said to reporters: "I am sorry—when you say I had no comment to make, also please say it was 6 o'clock in the morning."

Prince Philip Shoots 8 Duck

OTTAWA (CP) — Prince Philip went duck shooting in marshes about 30 miles east of here on the Ottawa River early today and bagged his limit of eight black ducks, mallards and teals.

The prince, clad in a green hunting jacket, left Government House Sunday night for a private hunting lodge. The party got up at 4:30 a.m. and left for the marshes after a breakfast of bacon and eggs.

In one party were the prince and W. L. S. O'Brien of Montreal, a stockbroker, in the other, Air Commodore Joe Stephenson and the Duke's private secretary, James Orr.

Market Trends

NEW YORK (AP) — Aircraft and missile shares continued to rise while steels and other industrials rallied late in the session Monday to give the stock market its best advance in nearly two weeks.

No less than eight gainers of the 15 most active stocks were aircrafts or missile — related stocks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.10 to $160.50 with the industrials up $2, the rails up 40 cents and the utilities up 30 cents.

Volume totalled 2,770,000 shares compared with Friday's 4,460,000 the greatest turnover in two years.

Among Canadian issues on the New York Exchange, Aluminium Ltd. rose 1⅜ on sales of 108, Hudson Bay Mining rose ¾, International Nickel ¼ and McIntyre Porcupine 1. Granby Mining and Canadian Pacific each dropped ¼.

BURGES, Belgium (Reuters) — A commission of experts has assured the citizens of Bruges that their famous 13th-century belfry tower, though leaning, should stand for centuries more. The 266-foot tower leans slightly at the summit.

Irish Nationalist Has Visa Trouble

SHANNON (Reuters) — Jim South, 35-year-old clerk selected to lead Irish nationalist demonstrations against Queen Elizabeth in the United States, Sunday night was forced to cancel a booking on a flight to New York.

He told reporters he was not granted a visa to enter the United States. But he added:

"If I receive my visa any time up to Thursday, I will be in time for the duties which have been planned for me in New York."

South would not say what form these duties would take.

South is a former regular Irish Army officer who resigned his commission when his brother was killed during an Irish Republican Army raid on a police barracks in Northern Ireland last New Year's day.

INDIAN CHIEF STANDING ARROW, 24, leader of a Mohawk tribe that settled on the banks of Shohoharie Creek, near Fort Henry, N.Y., is shown, right, holding copies of treaties which, he says, give his tribesmen title to land in that area. One of his followers points to the disputed land as they make a survey after their claims had been turned down by New York state. "On the warpath," they will take their case to the U.S. court of claims in Washington and, if refused, they will appeal to the United Nations.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Blesses Wedding

MISSION (CP) — More than 2500 people crowded the flower-decked minor seminary of Christ the King at Westminster Abbey Sunday to witness the blessing of the recently-completed building by Most Rev. William Mark Duke, Archbishop of Vancouver.

The seminary is situated atop Mount Mary Anne overlooking the Fraser Valley at Mission.

Assisting with the dedication and blessing were co-adjudicator, Archbishop of Vancouver, Most Rev. Martin M. Johnson and Abbot Eugene of Westminster Abbey.

Hand That Uses Pen Sees World

EDMONTON (CP)—Gwen Peck of Sydney, Australia has literally written her way around the world since leaving Australia in 1953.

Gwen spent six years working for a Sydney newspaper and then set out to see the world—by royal train, native bus, army plane and barge.

One of the stories which helped the Australian girl to finance the world trip was a 1953 article, A White Christmas in Africa. In gathering her material Miss Peck climbed 19,500-foot Mount Kilimanjaro.

Miss Peck was one of three women and 32 correspondents who covered the tour of the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret through Rhodesia in 1953.

In Kenya she covered trials of Mau Mau leaders and with eight policemen armed with grenades travelled to a Kikuyu village.

She interviewed the Sultana of Zanzibar and toured her summer palace.

In Canada, Gwen interviewed the Dionne quintuplets, Charlotte Whitton, former mayor of Ottawa, and long-distance swimmer Marilyn Bell as well as touring the north talking to Eskimos, army personnel and clergy.

Recently she signed as cook aboard a barge bound from Aklavik to Hay River on the Mackenzie River in the Northwest Territories.

After a stop here she headed for Vancouver, the Fiji Islands and home.

Electric Chimes In Great Demand

TORONTO (CP) — Science has caught up with the old church bell.

A Toronto firm reports that sales in Canada of bronze bells which weigh anywhere from 50 pounds to 12 tons have dropped considerably.

Instead, new and in many cases old churches are installing electronic systems which cost between $5000 and $6000, about $45,000 less than a carillion of 25 bells.

A representative for an electronic firm here reports that in the last 25 years, since the advent of the electronic chime system, the demand for such chimes has been on the increase.

He said more than 90 per cent of Quebec churches have made the changeover. Universities and municipal governments are also putting in orders, he said.

New Yorker Has Plans For Winnipeg Ballet

WINNIPEG (CP)—The new director of the Royal Winnipeg Ballet is a New Yorker whose aim is "a Canadian company dancing for Canadian audiences."

Benjamin Harkarvy was appointed after the company considered applications from England, New York, Minneapolis and Winnipeg. He will also be choreographer and ballet master during the 26-week season scheduled to start Nov. 11.

In an interview he said the em*phasis will be on Canadian dan*cers and the company will use Canadian ballets whenever possible.

The Royal Winnipeg Ballet has a fine reputation, he said, "and we must do all we can to maintain and improve its already high standard."

Mr. Harkarvy said "aside from teaching and coaching I would like to do as much choreography work as possible in the coming season and to encourage choreographers from all over the world to create for the Winnipeg group. Canada is ripe for new and exciting ballet and it is up to the companies established here to do their upmost to maintain their high standards of work."

The new director began to study ballet at the age of 14. During the last seven years he has taught in New York at the Fokine Ballet School, in his own studio and at the June Taylor School.

2 Hours Homework Expected Nightly Whether Assigned or Not, PTA Told

The flu bug which has been nibbling away at the Nelson school population during the past weeks was blamed when last minute changes had to be made in the program of the Junior-Senior high schools Parent-Teacher Association October meeting.

When seven or eight of the high school teachers were unable to attend the meeting because of illness, it was impossible to meet in the home-rooms of the instructors as planned. Instead, parents and teachers formed discussion groups based on the three grades of the senior high school.

A. L. Cartier, senior matriculation teacher and member of the PTA program committee, acted as chairman for the discussion period. He mentioned that the purpose of the meeting was to meet the teachers and said he felt the subject of "homework" might well be discussed by all groups.

After Mr. Cartier had distributed a list of homework problems to be studied by the groups, G. H. Lee, principal of the L. V. Rogers high school, introduced the teachers and explained the teaching duties of each.

HOMEWORK RESPONSIBILITY

Grade 10 was best represented when the meeting divided into individual groups. With 25 parents and seven teachers present, discussion was lively. Parents were told that two hours' homework is expected of each student each night whether that much is assigned or not, in order that students may learn the responsibility of homework. It was felt that a great deal depended upon the parents in this respect.

The Grade 11 group agreed that a definite time and place should be set where homework could be done without interruption. It was felt that in Grade XI, students are really beginning to train themselves to study, a training which will be used throughout life.

One point raised by the teachers was that the parents who never appear at meetings are the ones whose children have the most prolems. Most parents who show interest have children who are really well adjusted.

Parents of Grade XII students discussed several aspects of the grade as too few were present for a lively homework discussion.

CARNIVAL ANNOUNCED

The second annual carnival that the PTA will sponsor in the Junior high school on Nov. 9, was announced by Mrs. John Applewhaite of the ways and means committee. She mentioned many features of the event—tickets which will be available next week, prizes for games, refreshments, pie sales, a picture for children, cake raffle, two fish ponds, door prizes and sale of plants, comics and pop.

Mrs. N. Collett for the membership committee, announced that 77 persons have paid annual dues to date. She also spoke for Mrs. W. W. Wait, in urging members to attend the formal opening of the Nelson branch of the mental health association on Nov. 5.

PTA president Mrs. C. Alexander announced that two vacancies exist on the executive. A vice-president and publicity chairman are needed. After the program, refreshments were served by executive members.

India Promoting Co-op Farms

By V. M. NAIR

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — In a bid to solve the country's chronic food shortage, the Indian government has decided to persuade peasants to pool their resources to start co-operative farms.

India urgently wants to be self-sufficient in food, so that the money now being spent on food imports can be diverted to finance development projects. Last year, India had to buy from other countries food grains worth about 563,400,000 rupees ($112,680,000).

SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT

Increased use of fertilizers and better seeds have improved the yield from Indian farms and increased the annual food output to an estimated 56,200,000 tons this year compared with 43,700,000 tons 10 years ago.

But the average yield an acre is still low—about 760 pounds of grain. Agricultural experts say that the only way to increase food production is to eliminate uneconomic holdings and persuade the peasants to start co-operative farms.

A seven-man government team visited China and Japan last year to study the working of the agricultural co-operatives there. In majority report, five members of the team have recommended that co-operative farms on the Chinese pattern be started in India.

The report recommended the following measures for the immediate introduction of co-operative farming in the country.

1. A demonstration program of co - operative farming societies should be worked out with the object of establishing 10,000 co-operative farming societies by 1960-61, that is, one society for every group of 50 villages.

2. All sizable vacant government lands should be settled with co-operatives of landless agricultural workers. Small farm owners also should be admitted to these co-operatives.

3. The farms should be between 35 and 100 acres, depending on the fertility of the soil and the nature of crops grown.

Odds... and Ends

... by M.D.B.

Hope you had a happy Thanksgiving day. By the way, did any of you hear that radio program on Monday with nine and 10-year-old students reading their Thanksgiving letters—written to people to whom they had cause to offer thanks? They were most revealing of the child mind which finds things for which to be thankful that adults would least expect. I imagine the recipients of these letters would probably have forgotten the kind deed for which they were being thanked, but think of the glow of warmth such letters would bring!

Now they are trying to bully women into wearing hats, with such statements as "To look ladylike, you must wear a hat" and "a woman is definitely not in style unless she is wearing a hat." This, it seems to me, would be enough to make the more stubborn of the female sex refuse point blank to wear one of the confounded concoctions.

* * *

Do you realize that babies are about the only things that come these days with neither a two-year guarantee or free servicing for the first thousand miles?

* * *

On a visit to Spokane over the weekend found one died-in-the-wool Canadian born woman, wed to an American, celebrating the Canadian Thanksgiving with a turkey dinner for her and her husband and three small boys. She also confessed to a feeling of homesickness as she watched with avid interest the queen's arrival in Canada on their TV set.

* * *

Something that always strikes my funny bone is seeing the modest little Canadian immigration office looking no more impressive than a second-rate filling station, sending out its small light into the Canadian darkness as compared to the palatial, dazzlingly-lit U. S. office a few yards off, looking somewhat like a colonial residence of the deep South.

Canada May Reduce Contribution to UNEF

By DAVE OANCIA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GAZA, Egypt (CP) — Canada will likely reduce drastically her air contribution to the United Nations Emergency Force in December.

Informants say the reduction is probable because the international force just doesn't need the great air movement capability of the RCAF unit stationed in Naples.

They say the need for air transport was greatly over-estimated when the UNEF was formed last November and that only political considerations could prolong the service of the air unit with the force.

REACTION FEARED

Some UNEF staff officers fear the withdrawal of part of the Canadian contingent could start a chain reaction in the police force stationed along the potentially-explosive Israeli - Egyptian frontier.

They feel such a move would pave the way for other countries to make similar cuts in infantry, armored and service units now in Egypt. If this happened, UNEF would not be in a position to meet all its patrol requirements along the armistice demarcation line and the international frontier.

Despite this, Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the Canadian commander of the force, is reported in favor of the cut. Sources say he reached his decision after consideration of the force's procurement policy, the potential of the Canadian air unit and the actual air transport needs of his force.

UN'S DECISION

The final decision on whether the cut should be made now rests with UN headquarters in New York.

Canada's air contribution consists of two flights, one at Naples and the other in Egypt.

The 114 communications flight at Naples has four C-119 Flying Boxcars and a total strength of 180 officers and men.

The flight was formed and based in Naples to provide logistics support for the force in Egypt. Its main job has been to air-lift mail, passengers and priority freight between Italy and the Middle East.

The two Dakotas and four single - engined Otters based in Egypt are used for frontier reconnaissance and desert transport.

CHANGE EXPECTED

Expectations are that the flight based in Naples will return to Canada soon after the current rotation of Canadian troops is completed in late November.

Senior RCAF officers have been trying to get their personnel and planes back to Canada for several months. They feel that, if strengthened, the flight in Egypt could handle most of the UNEF's transport requirements.

Priority freight, passengers and mail could be moved from Italy to Egypt more economically by chartered commercial aircraft.

The Canadian air unit at Naples is considered one of the UNEF's most costly units. Reliable sources indicate provision of air transport on the same scale as that of the last nine months is a $5,000,000-a-year operation.

Eliminating this cost would be a great saving for the economy-minded UN. Last spring Secretary - General Da Hammarskjold was authorized to spend $16,500,000 to keep UNEF operating until the end of this year. The actual cost to date has topped the $25,000000 mar,k.

Informants say the Naples operation is also costly from another point of view—the lack of utilization of the carrying capacity of the four big aircraft. This is pointed up by the rotation of 700 Canadian troops now under way. The planes, their crews and ground service personnel are handling the movement of soldiers between Naples and Egypt in addition to regular tasks.

Hay Shortage Plagues Farmers

HALIFAX (CP) — Nova Scotia farmers are stepping up their efforts to fill a forecast gap of 25,000 tons in their hay mows, caused by dry weather during the early growing season.

J. E. Shuh, director of field crop services for the provincial agriculture department, says farmers are buying standing hay in abandoned areas, cutting oats in the unmatured stage and curing them as hay, and seeding winter rye to make up the deficit.

Planting of winter rye, a recent development in the province's farm management program, is increasing in popularity, Mr. Shuh says. Winter rye, seeded by early September, allows a possible 10 days of barn feeding in the fall and three weeks' early pasture the following spring.

SAVES BARN FEED

"This means I can save about 15 per cent of my barn feed," one farmer explained. "In any event I don't think my hay crop is much more than 15 to 20 per cent below normal."

Sidelights On Royal Weekend

OTTAWA (CP) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip commented frequently about the size of Ottawa's welcoming crowds, their driver says.

Sergeant Robert P. Monteith, 36, of Nashwaak, N.B., drove the royal couple Saturday from the airport to Government House.

Prince Philip has a sharp eye for a necktie in regimental colors. He spotted one on an unidentified veteran at the war memorial in Confederation Square Sunday and said: "I see you belonged to the 48th?"

"I'm afraid not, sir," replied the veteran.

"Then why are you wearing the 48th tie?" asked the prince.

"I got it as a gift," he was told.

OTTAWA (CP) — The Queen's arrival in Canada was marked by a rare event — the catching of a 350-pound sturgeon off the Nova Scotia coast.

The huge fish was the first caught in 10 years by the crew of a fishing boat owned by Lloyd R. Crouse, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for Queens-Lunenburg.

Veteran fisherman Tony Wilbraham, manager of Acadia Fisheries Limited of Mulgrave, N.S. recalled that every sturgeon caught in the waters of the British Isles is presented to the Queen.

Mr. Crouse offered his "royal sturgeon" as a gift to the Queen, who has consented to accept it. It is expected that part of it will be sent to a charitable institution.

Ottawa police reported a high weekend accident rate resulting from unusually heavy traffic in the capital. By Sunday night there had been 60 traffic accidents, about three times the usual number. Ten persons were injured, none critically.

Mrs. Casgrain Stands Back For Chartrand

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que. (CP) — Mrs. Therese Casgrain stepped down from the leadership of the Social Democratic party of Quebec (CCF) Sunday so the group could have a trade union man at its head.

Michel Chartrand, prominent Montreal union leader, was elected president by the group at Mrs. Casgrain's suggestion. He is a business agent for the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor and was unsuccessful CCF candidate in Longueuil in the June 10 federal election.

Mrs. Casgrain had been head of the party, the national CCF's Quebec branch, since 1952. She said the time had come to entrust the group to trade union leaders.

NSW Wheat Crop At Low Record

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Worried officials are considering importing wheat to feed starving stock in New South Wales, one of Australia's rich wheat growing areas faced this season with a crop failure.

Emergency talks between government and wheat board officials, opening here Monday, follow increased alarm at the failure of wheat crops and the present drought threat. The wheat board has estimated that this season's whole marketable Australian crop will be only 70,000,000 bushels instead of the normal 178,000,000.

Today's meeting will consider importing wheat into New South Wales from other states. The New South Wales marketable crop is expected to be as little as 5,000,000 bushels compared with the usual 57,000,000.

Michener Chosen New Speaker

OTTAWA (CP) — Roland Michener, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for Toronto St. Paul's, Monday was chosen Speaker of the new House in advance of Parliament's opening late in the day by Queen Elizabeth.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker moved the selection of the 57-year-old member as successor to Liberal Rene Beaudoin of the last Parliament. It was seconded by Opposition Leader St. Laurent.

CCF Leader Coldwell and Social Credit Leader Low expressed approval of the choice.

Toughie Has Tough Time

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A race horse named Toughie lived up to his name Sunday night. But he lost three teeth in the process.

Police in suburban Whitehall said Toughie wasn't enjoying his trailer ride so he tried to hurdle a restraining bar. He didn't make it.

He wound up hanging over the bar by his hind legs, his posterior up in the air. His face dragged along the pavement for about 20 feet before the driver of the car pulling the trailer noticed something amiss and stopped.

Bulgaria Aims To Improve Peoples' Living Standard

By SIDNEY WEILAND

SOFIA (Reuters) — Bulgaria's Communist regime is slowly relaxing a policy of industralization at the expense of improving living standards for the masses.

The relaxations so far appear modest to the visitor from the West. But foreign diplomats resident here say that there have been striking changes in the last two or three years.

Greater attention is reported to have been paid to the needs of the man-in-the-street since last fall's uprising in Hungary.

In order to improve standards, resources had to be diverted from heavy industry which in Stalin's time took priority as it did in the Soviet Union.

MORE GOODS

As a result, there are more goods to buy in the stores and a new housing program is under way.

Foreign visitors who have travelled extensively in the Communist countries believe that living conditions now are a little easier and the standard of dress better in Bulgaria than in other East European countries, with the exception of Czechoslovakia and East Germany.

The average man and woman seen on the streets of Sofia seems better clothed than the average citizen of Moscow. This is partly due to a better developed sense of taste and color.

CHEAPER THAN MOSCOW

Athough there is general agreeent that the Bulgarian worker must scrape to make ends meet, he pays less in proportion to his wages for a suit of clothes than the average Soviet worker.

Unlike Moscow, however, the stores are not crowded. There are fewer "luxury" items such as referigerators and washing machines available, and less inclination to buy them than in the Soviet Union. In Moscow, such goods are cheaper, while clothing and other necessities are more costly and less plentiful.

A Soviet - made refrigerator costs the equivalent of about six months' wages for a skilled worker in Bulgaria, while in Moscow a skilled worker can buy the same model for a month's pay. A medium quality suit in Sofia costs about two weeks' wages, while in Moscow a worker has to spend an entire month's pay for a similar suit.

Banker Brings Money To Gov't House

OTTAWA (CP)—A banker Monday delivered a sum of money — said to be $1000 in $10 bills — to the royal household at Government House.

It is understood the money, drawn against the royal account at Coutts Bank in London will be used by the Queen for gifts to Government House staff and others who are helping to care for the Queen during her visit here.

Frenchman Sets Sail On Raft

NEW YORK (AP) — A French adventurer who crossed the Atlantic last year in an 18-foot sailboat left Sunday for a solo cruise to Nova Scotia aboard a rubber life raft.

Jean Lacombe's 15-foot surplus air force raft has no engine but carries a sail. The 38-year-old Frenchman carried no water or food aboard, saying he hopes to prove he can live on fish and small plant life during the trip.

His raft is equipped with one oar, a radio receiver, leeboards to maintain stability, and a canvas cover to protect him from rolling waves.

Lacombe said he intends to sell his raft when he reaches Halifax, return to New York and then buy another raft to sail home to France.
