Hees "Undecided" On Leadership

Toronto-Broadview MP Plans To Announce Intentions "Soon"; In District for CM & S Tour

A smiling George Hees stepped from the Canadian Pacific Airlines plane from Calgary at Castlegar early Wednesday afternoon—still keeping the country guessing as to whether he will seek the Progressive Conservative leadership.

The MP for Toronto Broadview, accompanied by his wife, was met at the airport by Dr. C. H. Wright and Mrs. Wright of Trail.

Purpose of his visit to West Kootenay, it was explained, was to tour the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company operations at Trail, planned a year ago but delayed.

Annual meeting of the West Kootenay Progressive Conservative Association in Trail Wednesday night was called to coincide with Mr. Hees visit.

UNDECIDED

Interviewed upon his arrival, Mr. Hees said that he has not as yet made up his mind as to whether he will bid for the party's mantle of leadership cast aside by Hon. George Drew.

He described as "pure speculation" a report from Ottawa Tuesday that he may instead support John Diefenbaker at the December convention at which Mr. Drew's successor will be chosen.

He will, however, announce his intensions "soon."

Questioned on the inter-relation of provincial and federal politics, Mr. Hees saw "no great significance" in the Social Credit party's recent victory at the B.C. polls in the light of the approaching federal election.

In the prosperous economic climate of recent years, it has been common for people to re-elect provincial governments, he noted.

The Conservatives, he affirmed, will be making an all-out effort for resurgence of interest and activity in the party in this province, in view of the forthoming federal election.

Mr. Hees will spend two weeks in his current tour West, speaking on behalf of the party.

This is his first visit to the Kootenays. Today he will take the plane to Penticton and will speak in Vernon tonight before leaving for the Coast.

UBCM Calls For Review Of Education Costs

PENTICTON (CP) — Approval of establishment by the provincial government of a province-wide meat inspection service was one of more than a dozen items of business dealt with Wednesday by delegates to the annual convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

The 53rd annual conference also called on the provincial government to review the rising cost of education, and give serious consideration to assuming more responsibility by relieving the heavy burden of direct taxation on real property.

Special federal grants to the provinces toward the cost of education were asked by the delegates from more than 300 B.C. cities, towns and villages.

Squamish won endorsement of a resolution calling for repeal of legislation that presently exempts the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from taxation of properties in municipal areas.

Ottawa will be asked to amend the Veterans Land Act to permit the spouse of a veteran to be a party to purchase of property under the act.

Turned down was a Nanaimo resolution seeking an amendment to the Milk Industry Act that would prohibit the sale of raw milk in all parts of B.C. and not just in municipalities having a population of more than 500 persons.

No Control Over RCMP Costs, Convention Hears

PENTICTON (CP) — Neither provincial nor municipal governments have any control over the rising cost of RCMP services, the president of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities said here Wednesday.

In a special report to the UBCM annual convention, Prince Rupert Mayor George Hills said there is every indication that RCMP contract costs to municipalities will continue to increase.

"The RCMP are not anxious to increase their responsibilities at the municipal level, but are willing to continue on terms satisfactory to themselves," he said.

SUSPEND PUBLICATION

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Post announced Wednesday night the suspension of publication "until further notice", effective with Thursday morning's edition.

Anxiety Rises In Holland

THE HAGUE (Reuters) — Public anxiety over four months of unattended state business is mounting in leaderless Holland as a cabinet crisis entered its 114th day to become the longest political stalemate in Dutch history.

With political jockeying continuing, there is still no clear sign of an end to the crisis which has left the country without an administration since the inconclusive elections last June.

Negotiations among the parties, depicted by newspaper cartoonists as a never - ending maypole dance, continue.

The political life of the nation is in the doldrums. The newly-assembled Parliament, itself awaiting legislation to expand its membership, has adjourned indefinitely.

An accumulated mass of parliamentary business mutely demands the urgent attention of the as yet unnamed ministers.

Sturdy To Examine Sommers' Account

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy, who charged former lands minister Robert Sommers with taking bribes while in office, has been given the right to examine Mr. Sommers' bank account to back up his charges.

Mr. Justice H. J. Sullivan of B.C. Supreme Court ruled Wednesday that the barrister may look into the former minister's account and those of five firms named in Mr. Sturdy's statement of defence against a slander suit filed by Mr. Sommers.

B[illegible] Soldiers Under Arrest

PROVINCIAL LIBRARY PARLIAMENT BUILDING VICTORIA B.C. 241 31 DEC 56

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — Twenty-one British Army reservists are under close arrest here as a result of an "incident" on the island Monday night, an army spokesman said Wednesday night.

All are NCOs and men who arrived recently with a unit drafted to Cyprus because of the military buildup caused by the Suez Canal crisis.

A spokesman declined to answere questions on the nature of the incident but said: "There was a noisy dissident meeting, a noisy outlet of feeling perhaps."

NO CHARGES LAID

An official statement said the men, from the Royal Army Service Corps, took part in a meeting on the roof of the hotel where they were billeted at Platres in the Troodos mountains in central Cyprus.

It was expected that a summary of evidence will be completed within three days. No charges have yet been made.

It is understood no Cypriots were involved in the disturbances.

BOYCOTT MARKETS

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — An anti-British boycott hit some of Nicosia's food markets Wednesday when colonial authorities lifted a five-day punitive curfew at noon in the city's Greek section.

Hungry shoppers passed grocery stores and butcher shops in silent protest against a rigid "show-and-we-shoot" curfew imposed for the terrorist killing of a woman and three British soldiers last Friday.

As the boycott hit the capital 3000 British troops went hunting in northern Cyprus for EOKA terrorists pledged to unite Cyprus with Greece.

CURFEW IMPOSED

The anti-terrorist hunt, the first by British troops in three months, started as another curfew was imposed on 20 villages in the 50-square-mile area of the search.

Men Trapped in Debris . . .

Building Collapses, Six Workers Die

By JERRY GREEN

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — A four-storey office building being constructed to withstand the shock of an atomic blast collapsed Wednesday, killing at least six workmen and injuring 15 others.

At least four other workmen were trapped beneath tons of steel and concrete which slammed through foot-thick floors into the basement.

Bulldozers and cranes, working in the glare of searchlights, burrowed into the wreckage Wednesday night, removing huge chunks of rubble in an attempt to reach the trapped workers.

The 15 injured were taken to two hospitals, where two were reported in critical condition.

NO WARNING GIVEN

The insides of the building gave way without warning as a construction gang from Herlihy Mid-Continent Company of Chicago was pouring concrete on the fourth floor of the $2,800,000 structure. The building, its shell nearly completed, was to be the general offices for the Consumers Power Company.

Company officials said it was dseigned to be as nearly impregnable against atomic explosions as possible.

CRASHING CONCRETE

The fourth floor buckled and collapsed, sending masses of concrete and steel girders crashing through the lower floors to the basement. Workers, caught with little or no warning, fell with the debris or were trapped on the ground floor and the basement.

Civil Defence rescue teams reached the scene soon after word reached Jackson from the rural construction site.

Tons of debris carried workmen from the third floor down and fell on electricians working in the basement. More than two hours after the building collapsed reporters could hear trapped men moaning from the ruins.

Frank Herilhy, president of the company putting up the building, said 100 men were employed on the project but that only about 40 were in gangs at the time.

POLISH PRESS CENSORS TRIALS

POZNAN, Poland (AP) — The first indication of censorship in Polish press reporting of the Poznan riot trials was noted by western correspondents Wednesday.

They observed that the Poznan newspaper Glos Wielko Polski discarded its own reporter's account of a defence lawyer's final plea in the trial of three youths accused of beating to death a secret policeman during the June 28 riot. Instead the paper published the version of the Communist-controlled official Polish News Agency (PAP).

Glos Wielko Polski said it was doing so because of circumstances beyond the control of its reporter or its editorial board.

St. Laurent Opens Quebec Parkway

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent Wednesday officially opened the Fortune Lake Parkway in Quebec's Gatineau Hills a few miles north of the capital.

He termed the opening of the five-mile parkway, part of the federal district commission's national capital plan program, "another step in the realization of that grand plan which will make the federal capital a source of real pride to every Canadian."

DENY APPEAL

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada Wednesday denied a new appeal to Ovila Boucher, 38-year-old St. Henri de Levis, Que., blacksmith who has been tried three times for a 1951 axe slaying and now is under sentence of death.

Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin said he and four of his colleagues who heard the application for leave to appeal were unanimous that it be dismissed.

But he added that if all trial judges would use the "well-known formula" in charging murder juries with respect to circumstantial evidence "applications of this kind could be avoided."

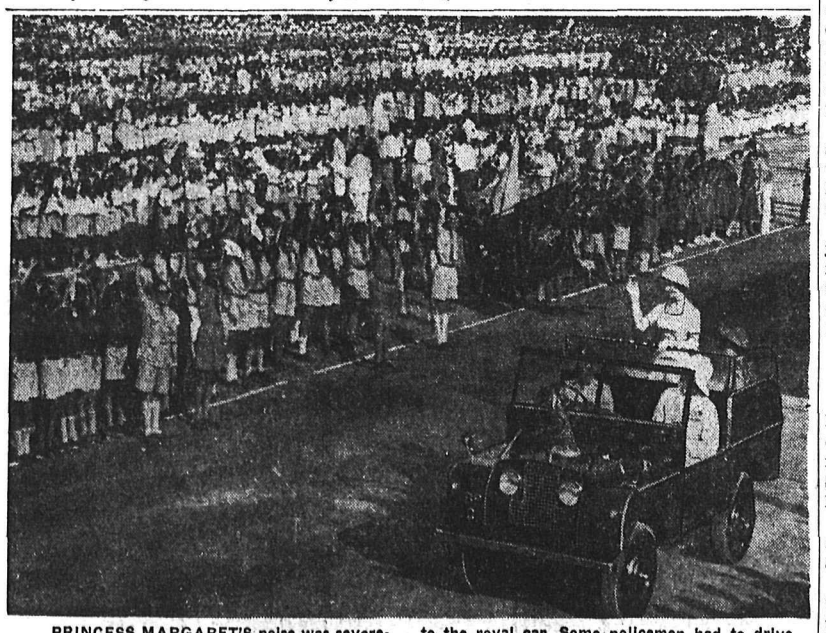
Burned To Death

LADYSMITH, B.C. (CP) — Francis Porter, 82, was burned to death Wednesday morning when fire destroyed his small home at Saltair, between Duncan and Ladysmith.

Neighbors found his body in the smouldering ruins of the frame structure.

Cause of the blaze was not determined. The house had burned to the ground by the time the fire was discovered.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death at an inquest held here Wednesday afternoon.



PRINCESS MARGARET'S poise was severely tested when hysterical mobs at Mauritius staged one of the wildest welcomes ever accorded royalty. Some 150,000 happy but hysterical residents of the island in the Indian Ocean defied police and metal barriers to surge closer to the royal car. Some policemen had to drive their cars into the uncontrollable crowds while others clubbed and kicked the most unruly before restoring roder. Earlier in her tour of Africa, when she visited Mombasa, the Princess, above, found the crowds enthusiastic but well-behaved.—Central Press Canadian.

Britain May Co-operate in "Partial Free Trade Area"

Commonwealth Nations Would Lose Market Preference in Time; Scheme Only "Under Study"–Macmillan

By ADRIAN BALL

LONDON (Reuters)—The British government revealed Wednesday it is considering co-operation with Western European nations in a "partial free trade area" covering a potential common market of 250,000,000 people.

Harold Macmillan, chancellor of the exchequer, said such a vast new economic unit could provide the full advantages of large-scale production now enjoyed by the United States and Russia.

Macmillan addressed a press conference on the talks he and Peter Thorneycroft, president of the board of trade, held with Commonwealth finance ministers in Washington last week.

The chancellor said that because of Commonwealth arrangements, Britain could not include raw or manufactured foodstuffs, feeding stuffs, drink or tobacco in any free trade project with continental Europe.

PLANS STILL FLEXIBLE

Britain's plans for the partial free trade area are still in the formative-stage, Macmillan said.

"There is not a cut and dried plan to which everyone can find a ready answer," he said. "It's a start of plan, but if you don't start you don't get anywhere.

"The government will not be in a position to make final decisions until all these discussions at home and abroad—both Commonwealth and Europe—have gone further."

Macmillan said the trade area he has in mind would cover Britain, France, Italy, West Germany, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg and other members of the Organization for European Economic Co-operation who wished to join. The OEEC was formed by 17 European nations receiving American financial aid under the Marshall Plan.

MIGHT SHAPE PATTERN

Thorneycroft, who attended the press conference, said that if the project went forward, "it might shape the commercial pattern perhaps for a generation or more."

Asked about the position of Commonwealth manufactured goods Thorneycroft said that Britain would be free, as at the moment to continue giving them in the main free entry into the British market.

The Commonwealth countries would also continue to be given preference, for example India over Japan or Canada over the United States but over a period of 10 to 15 years they would lose a preference in the British market over a European competitor.

Thorneycroft added that the real interest of the Commonwealth countries in the long run was whether Europe and Britain were prosperous or not.

Explaining the plan further, Macmillan told the press conference: "I said a partial free state area for this reason — we could not, and this is vital, include raw or manufactured foodstuffs, feeding stuffs, drink or tobacco in a free trade area of this kind.

"Commonwealth farmers' preferential position in the British market must be preserved."

Macmillan emphasized his government has not arrived at a conclusion on the plan, "but we have a responsibility to look for the answer and we shall not shirk it."

The project might be "a way to reconcile and harmonize apparently conflicting interests and responsibilities."

Britain traditionally looks upon herself as a separate economic entity from continental Europe. She repeatedly has resisted efforts from Western European nations to join as a full member in organizations aimed at integrating the European economy.

Suez Plan Draws Shepilov Fire

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov spoke out Wednesday against any attempt to settle the Suez Canal crisis through "hot-headed and impractical projects."

He said in a statement on his arrival from Moscow that he is convinced instead a reasonable solution can be found. Shepilov is here for United Nations Security Council debate on the Suez-Control question, beginning Friday.

Britain and France are drawing up a resolution endorsing a plan approved in London by 18 countries in mid-August. It calls for an international board linked with the UN to operate the canal — a project rejected by Shepilov and by President Nasser of Egypt.

NEW FORCES TO CONSIDER

Shepilov said a reasonable solution could be achieved "through negotiations on a basis of equality and fairness and by means of a correct combination of the interests of Egypt as a sovereign state and the interests of all other states using the canal."

Without naming any countries but obviously referring to the British-French plan, Shepilov said attempts still are being made to settle the Suez problem "from positions of strength"

"These attempts are caused by lack of understanding of the spirit of our times an dof the renovation of the forms of social life that is in progress throughout the vast expanse of the East," he said.

FIVE DIE IN ALASKA CRASH

NOME, Alaska (AP) — An Alaska Airlines plane crashed after running into aerial wires while flying low during a snow storm near here Tuesday night and all five persons aboard were killed.

The six-place plane, piloted by veteran Alaska bush pilot John Hutchinson, was en route from White Mountain to Council, a 30-mile trip, when last heard from.

Russian Ballet Enchants Britons

LONDON (Reuters) — A distinguished audience Wednesday night gave the Russian Bolshoi Theatre ballet an overwhelming ovation on a night in which two weeks of Anglo-Soviet bickering were forgiven and forgotten.

The company presented Profokiev's "Romeo and Juliet" at the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, on a grand scale not seen for many years in Britain.

Galina Ulanova, Russia's leading prima ballerina, enchanted the audience with a performance which sent the audience to its feet at the first intermission.

EDEN ATTENDS

The almost legendary Soviet star took two curtain calls from an enraptured house which included Prime Minister Eden and Lady Eden, 14 ambassadors and leaders of British social and cultural life.

The performance was the first appearance of the Bolshoi company in the West in the 180 years of the Russian theatre's history.

The audience marvelled at the lavish Bolshoi settings and quick scene changes, and unreservedly applauded the brilliant dancing.

Ulanova, dancing Juliet, took two curtain calls with her partner, Yuri Zhadanov, dancing Romeo, and then another curtain call alone.

The slender Soviet dancer, evidently still at her peak despite her 46 years, smiled timidly as the audience roared applause.

Wouldn't Hinder CBC, Hearing Told

OTTAWA (CP)—Private broadcasters said Wednesday their proposals for a shuffle in controlling powers over Canadian radio and TV would not hinder the CBC in providing a national broadcast service.

While new broadcasting legislation proposed by the private operators ran into tough questioning from the Royal Commission on Broadcasting, spokesmen for the non-CBC stations insisted it would do no more than give the private stations an even break with the CBC.

They contended the present broadcasting structure in Canada contains a "built-in bias" in favor of the CBC.

WANT SEPARATE BOARD

The proposed legislation calls primarily for an independent regulatory board to control both the CBC and private broadcasters. The CBC board of governors now regulates both.

Smallwood Plans 3rd Pulp Mill

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Premier Joseph Smallwood, 56, whose Liberal government went back into office Tuesday with a sweeping majority, listed Wednesday a third pulp mill and revision of terms of union with Canada as the two big jobs ahead.

The third mill, long advocated, was expected to become a major point before the election campaign opened, and Mr. Smallwood Wednesday said discussions on a mill "have progressed so satisfactorily that it may become necessary" to call a fall session of the legislature.

The revision of the financial terms of union with Canada goes before a royal commission early next year and the Newfoundland commission preparing the province's case is expected to complete its report shortly.

OTTAWA (CP)—The justice department has desided to launch court prosecution against members of the Winnipeg Coal Exchange for allegedly maintaining a price-fixing combine, a justice department official said Wednesday.

MONTREAL (CP)—Samples of soils which may provide the source of another antibiotic, such as terramycin and penicillin, will be sought this month across Canada for laboratory analysis and research, Pfizer Canada announced Wednesday.

MONTREAL (CP) — Students from 28 Canadian universities will gather at the University of Montreal Friday for the two-day annual meeting of the World University Service of Canada. FISH STOP SUB

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (Reuters) — Jellyfish forced the British submarine Thorough to surface in the middle of the Tasman Sea last week, it was revealed here Wednesday. The crew said the jellyfish blinded the periscope of the vessel and clogged the speed recording apparatus beneath the ship.

Demand End To H-Bomb Tests

BLACKPOOL, Eng. (Reuters)—The Labor party called Wednesday for the end of hydrogen bomb tests and the abolition of all atomic weapons.

A resolution calling for the twin bans was adopted unanimously by 1300 delegates to the Labor party conference here after an emotional appeal recalling the horrors of Hiroshima by veteran Socialist Philip Noel-Baker.

Noel-Baker, ousted some years ago from the party's executive committee by a left-winger, said the "sands of time" are running out and that in the arms race "we may be reaching the point of no return."

Former defence minister Emanuel Shinwell, who also was dislodged from the executive committee by a left-wing rival, successfully urged a resolution supporting the United Nations.

SUEZ POLICY A "BLUFF"

He warned against the "fatal" idea of unilateral disarmament and flayed the Conservative government's handling of the Suez Canal crisis, which he called "bluff and nothing more."

U.N. TRUCE GROUP NOT MEETING RESPONSIBILITIES—ISRAEL

JERUSALEM (CP) — Israel accused the United Nations Truce Supervision Organization Monday of not meeting the responsibilities in maintaining peace along the Israeli-Jordanian border.

The foreign ministry notified Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, chief of the United Nations truce observers, that it "sees no useful purpose in continued routine examinations of border incidents" and will boycott further meetings of the Israel-Jordan Armistice Commission.

A ministry spokesman explained later that Israel will continue to submit complaints to the commission, but will not participate in the discussions of such complaints or of Jordanian complaints against Israel.

LEFT IN PROTEST

Israeli delegates walked out of a commission meeting last Monday in protest against an alleged attempt by its United Nations chairman "to minimize Jordan's responsibility" for an attack last month at Ramat Rachel, south of Jerusalem, in which four Israeli archeologists were killed.

The attack was followed by a reprisal raid in which Israel claimed to have killed about 50 Jordanians. Lt. - Col. C. Moe, chairman of the Mixed Armistice Commission, later supported a Jordanian resolution stating that a single soldier who went berserk was responsible for the Ramat Rachel attack.

The Israel - Jordan commission is one of four such groups—for the four countries surrounding Israel—which serve under supervision by Burns, who Wednesday promptly appealed to the Israel government to reconsider its decision.

ACTED HASTILY

Burns said Col. Moe, a Norwegian, rendered his decisions "after most thorough and painstaking analysis of all available facts and evidence and after obtaining, when appropriate, legal advice."

Burns criticized the Israeli government for issuing announcements placing responsibility on Jordan for attacks carried out against Israelis "without awaiting the decision of the Mixed Armistice Commission or even the completion of investigation."

And in This Corner...

VIENNA (Reuters)—A man wrote to a Hungarian newspaper saying that Hungarian customs officials ordered him to open every can of sardines he had brought to Hungary to feed his family.

When he complained, they agreed he need not open all the cans provided those unopened were given as a gift to the Hungarian state.

He said the officials wanted the cans opened because they feared spies might bring back messages from abroad in sealed sardine cans.

Rock and Roll Nights Planned

Provided sufficient interest is shown, recreations director Joe Johnson plans to include a rock and roll night in his Winter's recreation program.

Mr. Johnson has arranged with radio station CKLN to relay music into the Civic Centre for rock and roll sessions on Friday nights from 9 to 12 o'clock. First such event will probably be held October 19. Considerable interest has been shown by high school students but more is required, he said. Due to alterations under way at the Civic, start of the Winter program has been postponed to the week of October 15.

Suggestions that classes for married women be held in the afternoon instead of evening for their convenience was mentioned by the director, who also urged participants in the program to complete their registrations promptly.

'Embrace the Cross', Says Bishop

The story of the three wise men formed the basis for a sermon by Right Reverend Bishop Lakdasa DeMel, of Kurunagala, Ceylon, in St. Saviour's Pro-Cathedral Wednesday night.

As the Bishop ascended the pulpit, a deep hush fell upon the congregation of about 500 people.

In clear, flawless English, the Bishop echoed words of Mahatma Ghandi given as advice to a famous American evangelist. "Make your people more like Jesus Christ. Although your people are Christians, they must still behave as citizens of their country and the world. Don't reduce the exacting demands of Christianity just to get converts."

In all history, Bishop DeMel said, "there has never been anyone like Jesus Christ. Christianity, he said, "is a universal religion. Those in Asia must be Asian Christians. We in India are working for the day when the architecture of our land, including painting, embroidery, metalwork, and many other fine and beautiful arts, will be part of our offering to Jesus Christ."

Christians in every land must always travel the poet's "Royal Highway of the Cross". Bishop DeMel said that most people seem to like to shun work, referring to the five-day week and other labor demands.

TWO DIMENSIONS

"A Christian lives in two dimensions," Bishop DeMel, who represents the Church of India, Pakistan, Burma, and Ceylon, told his listeners. "While living in this one, he is already tasting the next. You can't 'eat, drank, and be merry,' without having a hangover. The suffering in the world can never be destroyed while sin is about."

If you learn to embrace the Cross, you will have power to reduce suffering by suffering. "Carry the Cross, and the Cross will carry you," the Bishop challenged. However, he cautioned, you can't be "cross with the Cross." Don't be angry at pain, but use it as a stepping stone. "There is victory to one who believes in Jesus Christ."

Bishop DeMel said he is often asked if the Christians in South-East Asia are ever afraid of anti-Christian factions. "The 12 to 13 million Christians in South-East Asia have nothing to fear except the infidelity of the Christians themselves," he answered.

Referring to education, Bishop DeMel said the Church aims to teach young people how to be Christians and live good, clean lives. "We are good because we are the children of one who is good himself," the Bishop stated.

"Until men learn to bow down, as the wise men did when they found the baby Jesus, there can be no peace for the human soul." The present thirst for God "has to be directed to God by the Church."

Bishop DeMel reminded those in the Church that two world wars were started through state worship. "No person in the state is worthy of the honor that belongs to God," the Bishop challenged. However, "man is very much more than an income-tax-paying soul." Most Europeans, he said, are "bored" with the welfare state. In fact, the highest suicide and divorce rates are in welfare state countries.

"CALL MEN BACK"

"We must call men back to the worship of Almighty God," the Bishop declared. He referred to the story of the wise men, telling how they had first bowed before the baby Jesus, then opened their gifts. "If you get your priorities right, then everything else will fall into place. There are rich veins of intellectual gold to be mined for Christ."

Those in DeMel's native land who forsook their ancient religions for the new Christianity found "the incarnation was the complete answer" for which their ancestors had been seeking through sikhs, Buddhas, etc. Members of many religions in India still travel miles and miles to worship at some particular place They show a "thirst which will never be satisfied until it is assuaged by God."

One main theme of Bishop DeMel's address was that Christianity must be modified slightly for different countries. He commended the Anglican Church of Canada, which also stems from the Church of England, for taking steps to revise their prayer book, and reminded them to "make it a vehicle that will bring the people to God."

"The people whose joy is most full and constant very often hide some thorn-in-the-flesh or some terrible sorrow. Very few people believe in austerity for the body" (fasting, abstinence, etc.) The body, or "Brother Ass," as St. Francis called it, "must be kept in place. Many people in India go without a full meal instead of simply abstaining from one particular item, and the Indian prayer book had to be thus revised. Christian austerity disciplines the body in the interests of holiness," the Bishop said.

Turning to the many tortures which the church and its leaders suffered, and are still suffering. Bishop DeMel declared, "The Church is never more formidable than when it is threatened." A top Soviet official put it, "Christianity is like a nail. The harder you hit it, the more it goes in." Bishop DeMel recalled with sorrow that three other bishops in his Church had been tortured, and many other persons had died, because of their Christian beliefs. But, he said, "The seed of the Church has been sown by the blood of martyrs again in Asia.

Bishop DeMel closed his address by quoting Cyprion: "A Christian priest may be a slave, but he cannot be overcome."

The service opened with the stirring strains of "The Church's One Foundation Is Jesus Christ, Her Lord," closing with a missionary hymn, "For My Sake and the Gospels, Go and Tell Redemption's Story." Singing was led by the combined choirs of St. Saviour's and Redeemer Churches, Dean T. L. Leadbeater was in charge.

About 40 clergy and key laity came from outside points in the East and West Kootenays for the service. They were billeted in local Anglican homes. There was a luncheon at 12:30 noon, and a conference at 2:30 p.m., when Bishop DeMel discussed various phases of his church's work, including Sunday Schools, young people's, and women's groups. He also spoke about how the church had fared since India won its independence in 1948, and reported on the Southeast Asia Conference and the South African color question.

ON TOUR

Bishop DeMel is on a speaking tour of the Anglican Churches in Canada, covering about 24 dioceses in his first overseas mission tour. He spoke at Vancouver and Victoria earlier this week, and leaves today for Calgary. Bishop DeMel arrived in Canada on Sept. 1, and will leave for the United States on Nov. 1. He expects to be among his own people by mid December.

The Bishop's ancestors were Christianized more than 400 years ago by Portuguese misisonaries Bishop DeMel went to England to become a Ceylonese landowner, and decided half-way through his course at Oxford that he was more fitted for the Christian ministry. After receiveing his BA and MA in England, he returned to serve the Church of India, Pakistan, Burma, and Ceylon, and headed its newest diocese, Kurunagala, in 1950.

Concert Series Membership Drive Extended

Membership drive for the Nelson Concert Overture Series has been extended to Oct. 9, membership chairman Nelson A. Allen reported Wednesday.

Although many new members have joined, about 75 more are needed to make up for past members who have withdrawn.

Increasing artists' fees have made it expensive to provide programs of high quality. If the required new memberships are not obtained by next Tuesday, the executive may have to cancel one concert, it was stated.

Lions Plan Bulb Campaign

Nelson Lions Club plans its annual light bulb campaign again this year, October 15 to 17. Lions were told at this week's meeting that bulbs have been ordered. Captains have been appointed and club will be divided into groups so that all districts will be covered.

Past president E. M. Cutler inducted Grenville Bill and Gil Chilton, and explained Lionism.

Todd Harmsten and Barry Carmen, a teen-age guitar and vocal duo, delighted the meeting with their take off on popular 'Rock and Roll" singer Elvis Presley.

A suggestion that the club purchase a public address system will be referred to the next executive meeting. Frank Beresford, who suggested it, will attempt to get facts and figures. He suggested buying an amplifier which could be used for stage productions and hooked up through a car for special projects like the coming light bulb campaign.

President W. C. Wicken introduced his brother-in-law, Arthur Green, from Regina. A former member of the Lethbridge Lions' Club, Robert McNab, now living in Nelson, was also presented.

CRITICIZES LIBERAL POLICY . . .

Boldness Needed To Build Canada, George Hees Says

TRAIL — Severe criticism of federal government policy in respect to natural resources in which he singled out Trade Minister C. D. Howe, was levelled by George Hees, MP for Toronto Broadview, in an address to the West Kootenay Progressive Conservative Association in the Crown Point Hotel here Wednesday night.

Commenting on pipeline legislation "forced through" the last session of Parliament, Mr. Hees said:

"The government seems determined to build the line for a company which automatically forfeited its franchise when it refused to live up to the commitment on which the franchise was granted, namely, to build the line without government assistance."

"The legislation," he added, "makes it very clear that if you are seeking financial assistance from the government, you are far more likely to get it if you are a foreign owned corporation and have defaulted on the undertaking which was the basis for the government awarding you a franchise."

On the other hand, Mr. Hees continued, if you are a provincial government such as Saskatchewan applying for federal aid to build a dam for irrigation and cheap power, or New Brunswick, asking for federal backing for power development bonds which, if granted, would not cost the federal government or taxpayers one penny but would enable borrowing at a lower rate of interest, "you can count on being turned down cold."

"And do you see the federal government agreeing to assist this province to develop the millions of horsepower awaiting development on the Columbia and Fraser rivers?" he asked. "Of course you do not, even though such assistance could be given without any cost to the federal treasury or the taxpayers of Canada."

Here Mr. Hees made his two-pronged attack: "It is clear that to get anywhere with this government, you must be a corporation which is predominantly foreign owned, and has the minister of trade and commerce wrapped around your little finger. If you are such a corporation, the sky's the limit, and the government will do whatever you ask."

It was important that the federal government assist provincial governments to develop power and other natural resources within their borders for:

1. Greater industrialization;
2. Through establisnment of branch plants, elimination of the long and costly freight haul from central Canada and a saving in time of delivery.

NATIONAL POLICY

Mr. Hees called for a national development policy to ensure the carrying out of decentralization of industry and development of every part of the country.

"Such a policy should, I believe, put the credit of the federal government behind the bonds of any provincial project which a province can demonstrate to be both practical and capable of expanding that province's economy.

"Federal backing of a province's development bonds would enable that province to obtain the money needed for a project at a far lower rate of interest than that which would be available if the bonds are backed solely by the province's resources.

In this way, the taxpayers of the provinces concerned would have a far lighter tax burden to carry than if the higher rate of interest is charged, and the provincial governments will be able to develop the resources within their boundaries far more readily than would otherwise be possible"

Mr. Hees asserted that Canada "was built by boldness, not by caution." If Sir John A. MacDonald and the Conservative party had adopted the same attitude toward building the CPR that the present Prime Minister and the Liberal government are adopting toward power development in Canada, the railway would have been delayed indefinitely and might never have been built, he declared.

"We need a return to the foresight and boldness of the past to build a Canada for the future."

Well-Known Golden Man To Enter Ministry

GOLDEN — George Keenleyside, resident here for 17 years, has sold the Golden West Market to V. L. Kimpton and V. H. Collins of Golden, and with his wife will leave this month for Vancouver where he will enrol at the Union Theological College at the University of British Columbia.

His resignation as long-time chairman of Golden District School Board has been regretfully accepted by the board. School Inspector J. G. Kirk of Kimberley at the meeting termed him one of the most highly esteemed trustees in the province and also extended the Department of Education's good wishes to him in his new calling.

He is also currently trustee of the Golden Fire Protection District, and has been an active member of the Board of Trade committee laying the groundwork for incorporation of Golden as a village. He is past president of the East Kootenay Liberal Association and was Liberal candidate in 1953. He is founder and for many years was director of the Golden boys' band.

His two sons, George and Robert, and daughter, Shirley, now Mrs. J. C. Ayres, grew up here and now have homes and families of their own.

Invermere Gets New Buildings

It is the first quonset type of construction to be built in the village. The building is 40 by 100 feet in size and will be in use immediately. Contractor is Chris Madson of Radium.

The company is building a new service station at the crossroads and the one at present in use will be torn down or moved. The new building, 22 by 41 feet, is a two bay service unit and will offer increased facilities for customers. Contractor is William Carlson.

A third construction enterprise under way by the company is the erection of a new truck scales at Invermere on the west side of the Invermere Garage. The new scales platform will have a 60,000-pound capacity. The old scales on the other side of the road will be removed.

WINDERMERE RESORT SOLD

INVERMERE — Coldstream Lakeshore Resort at Windermere, formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Phillips has been sold to Jack Veld, formerly of Calgary, and S. Detmers of Windermere. Mr. Veld and Mr. Detmers, who came from Holland about four years ago, purchased the strawberry farm of James Taylor at Windermere earlier this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips have owned the resort on the east side of the lake near Windermere for the past five years.

Rink Builders Race Against Coming Winter

CASTLEGAR — Directors of the Castlegar Projects Society Tuesday night expressed bitter disappointment at the lack of interest shown by people in the construction of the rink.

Virtually all "angles" have been tried to obtain the help needed if the expensive arches and framework are not to be sacrificed to the coming bad weather. In the words of one director: "It is like banging your head against a wall." The same people who scored previous directors for a seeming lack of action, now refuse to come out and help.

These remarks were forthcoming at the special public meeting in St. Albans Parish hall called for the express purpose of acquainting the people with the urgency of the situation. However even this measure failed, as of the 20 people in attendance, all but a few were either project society directors or members of the executive.

Director Murray Little stated: "Had the true quality of the support for a rink been realized earlier, the job would never have been attempted." He felt the only course open to the directors was to each pledge to round up five workers for Saturdays and Sundays, even if it meant personally transporting them to and from the job. Director Art Anderson was skeptical of this plan, saying he had already tried the idea with no success.

George Classen, Castlegar newsreporter, made the suggestion that some plan be worked out which would "glamorize" the voluntary labor, perhaps a prize or a draw among those participating, as this might stimulate interest. The directors felt they could not afford to sponsor such remuneration themselves, but agreed it might get a favorable response.

BOYS HELP

A bright spot is the help the High School boys are giving after school hours. There is a need for adults with some experience to supervise the work parties, however. An offer by Senior High School boys from Trail, who would like to help out this Sunday, was greatly appreciated, and transportation is being arranged by the directors.

Aluminum sheeting is on hand to sheet the entire roof area, and this would ensure the safety of the arches and framework. Also the rink would be useable this year in all probability.

Project society president Carl Loeblich summed up the matter in saying that there is about one month left to get this sheeting on, and "we must go on, we cannot throw up our hands and admit defeat now." Mr. Loeblich endorsed Mr. Little's suggestion for obtaining help, and also a suggestion made by Howard Anderson that some responsible person should be available, if a prospective worker appeared on the job, so that no help might be lost for lack of opportunity. A key to the office on the premises will be left at the Skyline Garage directly opposite, for the convenience of these "supervisors." The directors are making an urgent appeal to all those who have growing boys and girls to help save the rink project, as their children are the ones who will be enjoying the privileges afforded.

Witnesses To Meet Weekend In Grand Forks

GRAND FORKS — The Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society will sponsor a three-day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in Grand Forks at the High School Auditorium, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

A. F. Danley of Toronto, district organizer for Jehovah's Witnesses, will be on the program each day and will deliver the main address, "What Will Armageddon Mean for You?", on Sunday afternoon.

Another highlight of the convention will be the showing of the film, "The Happiness of the New World Society", on Saturday.

In announcing the assembly, Tony Savinkoff, the presiding minister of the Nelson congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, stated that some 30 delegates from the Nelson area are expected to attend.

"The world in general today has no secure future to look forward to, and little cause for happiness, but the accurate knowledge of God's word gives real joy and confidence for the future." said Mr. Savinkoff.

Commenting on the purpose of the convetion, he added: "This assembly will be a demonstration of Christian happiness and fellowship, and by it we hope to make people of goodwill aware of God's promise of a new world in which war, disease and death will be things of the past and show them how to attain it. For this reason, the Watch Tower Society has set the theme of the convention as, 'Happy People Serving the Happy God'."

Some 200 delegates are expected to attend the assembly, which will be open to the public.

Vigilance Always Necessary

Nothing in the affair of the expulsion of the Russian diplomat, Mr. Popov, can be said to reflect much credit on the government or the Prime Minister. But for the Press the whole matter would have been kept secret from the people of Canada because, as Mr. St. Laurent puts it, he wished to save Soviet friendship.

If Soviet friendship is able to survive the expulsion of Mr. Popov it should be able to survive the publication of the matter in Canadian newspapers. Not that the Canadian people are so anxious to save Soviet friendship by being kept in ignorance of the actions of their government, and in that respect most of them will feel that if government can hide its actions in this they can have no confidence that other matters have not been concealed.

From the published reports it does not appear that Mr. Popov made much headway in his spying. In fact the whole affair seems highly reminiscent of gossip in an English pub. Unfortunately a civil servant in the RCAF became involved and although he seems to have reported Mr. Popov's activities to the RCMP, he has been dismissed from the service as a poor security risk, and, according to the Prime Minister is not likely to get another civil service job.

Mr. Staples had no access to confidential material, so that he cannot very well have communicated vital information to the Russians. It seems very likely that because he had had conversations with Popov he became suspect, but apaprently only after he reported to the RCMP. He might have followed the Prime Minister's example, and for the sake of Soviet friendship, said nothing about it. And, it must also be admitted, for his own sake.

The Prime Minister and the RCMP may have ample grounds for believing that Staples is a poor security risk, though nothing has been given out to indicate how convincing this is. If there is sufficient evidence to show that he was aiding a spy he should have been tried under the Official Secrets Act; if not, and there is still an unsubstantiated doubt, he should have been transferred to another post in some department not connected with defence. To wreck the life and happiness of even one Canadian is too high a price to pay for security.

The Prime Minister seems to be annoyed at the attitude of the Press and the part that it played in publicizing the matter, but it is evident that without a vigilant Press much would be concealed from the people.

I believe that you'll make just as big a mess of things as we have; you are absolutely bound to.—Duke of Edinburgh to a group of Ipswich schoolboys.

Choking Off Growth

Premier Hugh John Flemming of New Brunswick spoke for many important Canadian interests when he told the Maritime Provinces Board of Trade that Ottawa's credit control policies "should be supplemented by a more flexible policy which will not choke off growth in these parts of the country where it is most needed."

It is not only true that whole areas are being handicapped by what Premier Flemming characterizes as the "castor oil treatment, for everyone, whether they need it or not": it is equally true that some groups of industry and some municipalities in those areas where credit controls may be needed also are prevented from fulfilling their normal functions.

If the Bank of Canada and the Treasury Department are desirous of slowing down the rate of expansion, the time clearly has come for the specific definition of trouble spots and the application of remedies tailored to fit them. It is futile nonsense to argue at this stage that a systematic application of remedies is a return to a controlled economy. The general application of a tight-money policy is proving to be a most obnoxious form of unsystematic control. It is showing that the economy is being wounded at least as much in some instances as it is being benefitted in others.

There are two main categories into which projects deserving special consideration may be divided. Among those that are essential are expenditure for services to maintain production and employment; education and highways. Among those entitled to high priority rating are mining development; hydro and other energy producing projects, necessary completion of delayed construction of industrial buildings, office accommodation, warehouses and low-cost housing; railway and other transportation equipment renewal and enlargement.

Most of these are associated with the fundamental national need of expanding our volume of more cheaply produced export goods. It is irrelevant that chartered banks may be channelling credit on the basis of their own judgment. The fact is that the tight money policy is affecting the cost of all credit, including municipal debentures, real estate mortgages, corporate bond issues and the new series of savings bonds. It also is irrelevant that the volume of credit outstanding is greater than it was when higher money rates were initiated. It should be regarded as normal that the credit content of aggregate money in use should rise with the gross national product. In itself that is not inflation.

The United States is able to regionalize its credit controls by creating different bank rates in different federal reserve districts—or by issuing treasury notes in varying volume in others. Canada has no such flexibility. The real point at which the Canadian attack on inflation should begin is government spending. After that, the uses to which credit is being put should be examined to see which are putting an extra pressure on prices, without showing a satisfactory influence on the GNP.

The present general choking of credit is not holding the price line. It is having the opposite effect by sending prices higher in keeping with the greater cost of credit where used.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

If papers are old — that is, of historical interest — you might write to the Provincial Library and Archives, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C. If they are not old enough to be of any historical value, try trucking firms. They use papers for packing purposes.

M.A., Nelson — Will you please print recipe for Australian brandy?

Here is an old English recipe for Australian brandy: Another name for this is Potato wine but, if the wine is bottled and stored for a year, in taste and potency it resembles a matured and mellow brandy. If it is not bottled and used after three or four months, maturing in a barrel or stone crock, it is a pleasant dry wine of sherry-like clearness. Well scrub two of the largest potatoes to be obtained, or three smaller ones. When the potatoes are clean, do not peel but grate them into the tub or pan into which you have put a gallon, or rather more, of luke-warm water. Stir thoroughly, then add one pound of wheat, two pounds seedless raisins, four pounds Demerara sugar, and rather less than half-an-ounce of yeast. No boiling is required. Cover and leave three weeks, stirring every day. Strain into barrel or stone crock and, when all fermentation has ceased, close down. For your interest, the recipe adds: A variation, known as Barley Wine, is made by exactly the same method, but barley is used instead of wheat and an orange and lemon, cut in slices, are added to the other ingredients.

Newcomer, Nelson — Is there anyone in town who does mending, such as putting in new ziyppers, turning up hems, etc.?

C. H., Nelson — Can you tell me whether Alston, England, is in the county of Cumberland or Northumberland?

Cumberland. Alston is close to the borderline between the two counties you mention.

Reader, Nelson — Where in Nelson could I get an air-rifle licence? What does it cost and how long does it last? Also, I have a 1943 copper five-cent piece. Is it of any value?

Anyone under 18 years of age has to get written permission from a parent or guardian, and when carying a gun he has to be accompanied and supervised by an adult over 18. Permit is obtained from Game Department and costs $4. It lasts until end of June. We do not think the coin is worth more than its face value.

DADDY SHOULD KNOW

Talking to a close friend, a Fort William mother of four children confided that there was a new addition to the family on the way. Not until the words were out did she notice that her daughter was listening breathlessly.

When she was alone with her little girl, she warned her not to go telling everybody in the neighborhood about the new baby. The youngster promised she wouldn't. But she asked, "wouldn't it be all right to tell Daddy."—Port Arthur News-Chronicle.

JUST IN CASE

It used to be hard enough to get anyone of great political stature to run for the vice-presidency of the United States; for ordinarily it is a thankless post with relatively little prestige attached to it. This year, owing to President Eisenhower's illnesses and the likelihood of his having to retire while in office, assuming he is re-elected, almost every politician wants it—just in case.—Charlottetown Guardian.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

These warnings about "reading the small print" in the document would be more important if the reader could figure out what it means when he does read it.

Russ Accepts Invitation To Send Observers To View U.S. Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia has accepted an invitation to send two or three observers to "view at first hand" the American political campaign and the Nov. 6 elections.

State department officials said Wednesday the Soviet foreign office agreed Monday to the offer extended four days earlier by the state department as part of its cultural exchange program.

The Soviet government in accepting, officials said, said also it would be glad to welcome two or three Americans to observe the elections of the Supreme Soviet. The next such Soviet election is scheduled for 1958 to pick members of this body, which is the Communist equivalent of a parliament.

Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Romania also were invited to send observers to the United States.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Britain Arrests 21 Soldiers in Cyprus

LONDON (Reuters) — The War Office announced Wednesday night that 21 junior non-commissioned officers and men of the British Army are under close arrest as the result of an "incident" on Monday night in Cyprus.

The war office said the arrests followed "a noisy and undisciplined" disturbance.

The announcement said the disturbance took place two days ago in a Royal Army Service Corps unit.

Reports have been widespread in recent weeks that reservists called back into service because of the Suez crisis are bored and discontented. War Minister Antony Head last week denied that any serious trouble or "near mutiny" existed.

Coull-Surina Wedding Held At Kaslo

KASLO — A wedding of interest to many was solemnized in the Sacred Heart Church when Helen Rose Surina, daughter of Mrs. Sophia Surina of Shutty Beach, exchanged vows with Ronald Alex- and Coull of Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Coull of Vernon. Rev. Father E. Berrigan officiated. Mr. Joe Surina gave his sister in marriage.

The bride looked lovely in a gown of white satin and lace, with a nylon net overskirt, a fingertip veil and Juliet cap. Her only jewellery was a gold cross, and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

The bride was attended by her two sisters, Mrs. August Kaupf of New Drayton, Alta., and Miss Virginia Surina, nurse in training, from Vancouver, who wore pretty ballerina floor length gowns of blue and peach color, matching net gloves and stoles, and carried bouquets of carnations.

The groom was supported by Mr. Bob Kaye of Trail as best man, and Mr. Jeff Brown of Nelson ushered. Mrs. A. Jacobs of Shutty Bench was at the organ.

A reception was held at the Surina home. Assisting in receiving the guests were the mother of the bride, becomingly gowned in an aqua dress, navy accessories and pink corsage. The mother of the groom wore a blue and white printed dress, navy accessories and white corsage.

The bride's travelling costume was a teal blue suit with pink accessories and pink corsage. The couple left on a honeymoon trip in the western United States. On their return they will reside in Nelson where the groom is on the staff of radio station CKLN.

At Nurses' Meeting . . .

Service Badge Given To Red Cross Worker

The Red Cross Society's badge of service, given for outstanding and continuous work for the organization, was presented Tuesday night to Mrs. T. H. Glover.

The actual presentation took place in the nurses' home at the monthly meeting of Nelson chapter of the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C., of which Mrs. Glover is a member.

R. B. Morris, in bestowing the award, cited the work Mrs. Glover performed several years ago in organizing and instructing home nursing classes, and of carrying them on in succeeding years. Speaking generally of her contribution to the Red Cross, he said that she had served the Society steadily in various ways.

It was also an honor for the nurses' chapter. Mrs. Glover has been among those members who help at every blood donor clinic, by standing by when blood is given and in caring for donors afterwards.

Miss Flora Maclean, immediate past president, introduced Mr Morris.

The provincial registrar of nurses, Miss Alice Wright, addressed the group on her trip this year to the British Isles and the Continent and showed slides of the cities she visited. She told of attending World Health Organization meetings in Geneva, and executive meetings of the International Council of Nurses in Copenhagen, as well as visiting major centres of nursing and nursing institutes.

Mrs. H. Bentham, acting president, introduced the speaker and Miss Maclean thanked her for the address.

It was announced that women's classes in home nursing, under St. John Ambulance, will start in the next few days. Emergency treatment as given by civil defence organizations will also be taught.

Registered nurses provide the instruction.

UBCM Delegates Told To Watch For Interference In Municipal Rights

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — Increased grants from federal and provincial governments can seriously affect local autonomy, the president of the Union of B.C. Municipalities said Wednesday.

George E. Hills, Mayor of Prince Rupert, told some 350 delegates to the opening session of the Union's 53rd annual convention to exercise "strictest vigilance" against possible inroads on municipal rights by the two senior governments.

"It is becoming more and more obvious that federal municipal aid must be forthcoming in the near future," he said.

Mayor Hills said increased provincial grants will also be needed, particularly in the fields of municipal education and public works.

"WATCH FINANCES"

He urged the UBCM during the "next few years at least" to concern itself principally with the financial aspects of municipal services.

Most important undertaking by the UBCM during the last year has been the study given by its special committee to consolidation of the new municipal act.

This act, he explained, will consolidate the existing statute, the Village Municipalities Act, the Municipal Elections Act, the Local Improvement Act, the Municipal Managers Act and the Town Planning Act.

It is hoped, Mayor Hills said, that the new legislation will be ready in time for presentation to the Spring session of the Legislature.

Executive director T. R. B. Adams reported that the principal gain last year lay in UBCM representation at the 1955 Dominion-Provincial Conference in Ottawa.

"Our outstanding achievement lies in the recognition, for the first time, of the municipalities as factors in dominion-provincial relations," he said.

"We must now use all our influence to bring about, first, a new tax agreement, and secondly, a new allocation of responsibilities," he told delegates.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

Many of the resolutions adopted at the 1955 UBCM convention have been included in the revision of the Municipal Act, Mr. Adams reported.

After three years of trying, he said, the UBCM finally won government recognition of the right of municipalities to assess and tax main power transmission lines.

But the UBCM must continue to press on many recommendations passed at the last convention and not yet acted upon by the provincial government.

These include freeing of municipal cemeteries from control of the Public Utilities Commission, divorce of the cost of education from real property, establishment of a revolving fund from which loans could be made to municipalities at equitable interest rates, and recognition by the provincial government of its obligations toward the maintaining of municipal services to crown property, Mr. Adams said.

Century Sam Has Advance Notice

VICTORIA (CP) — Century Sam has crawled out of a rock mountain crevice and agrees to become the official trademark of B.C.'s centennial celebrations of 1958.

To be honest about it, Sam is nothing more than the brainchild of the centennial committee, which plans to make his face as familiar in the province and everywhere else as any other face.

The knobby little prospector, left over from the big gold rush of 1898, will appear on all newspaper, television, radio and other centennial advertisements, on billboards and on posters.

Not only that, says centennial secretary Larry McCance, Sam will appear in all advertising in foreign countries.

It seems that Sam worked himself out in the mountains and crawled into a crevice to snooze.

Let him take it from there:

"Me and a rattler crawled under the same rock. He bit me 'n' I bit him back. He stiffened out and I used him for a pipe cleaner. Then I guess I keeled over and slept for a while."

He came back for what he calls "the richest, rampagingest party ever staged, the centennial."

Your Individual HOROSCOPE

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Friday, Oct. 5, 1956

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) —Wind up tasks so you will be in a position to relax pleasantly tomorrow. This will afford mental as well as physical respite. Cheerfulness cushions many rough spots.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Some restrictions. Limit personal desires and stress over-all improvements. Be ready to meet and handle possible surprises.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Turn your thoughts to the problems of others. Helping loved ones and friends is not only laudable but beneficial, for you, too. Don't underestimate the strength of competition.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—Avoid a tendency to carelessness; don't take things for granted. Make sure of your course first, then proceed with poise, consistency, confidence. Relax in free time.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Mesh plans and desires into a well-knit program for bigger results. Introduce a novel idea or re-use a proven method clothed in new raiment. The go-getter will be a winner.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — The extra effort you put forth now will be greatly appreciated by recipients of your good deeds. Maintain a steady but not over-exacting pace. Keep top goals uppermost in mind when making plans, decisions.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Look to wise heads for advice, assistance if necessary. Be sure whom you ask, and remember, an engaging personality may clothe a scheming scoundrel. Progress through continued effort.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Don't beat around the bush. A direct approach to current problems is best. Handle essential matters first on busy days. Wasted effort is never regained.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — This day calls for extra attention to financial and home matters, business interests, routine duties. There is a tendency to leave tasks uncompleted. Sabotage this through sustained, pointed activity.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Be discriminating so that you can separate the chaff from the wheat. Benefits through agreeable companionships, sincere associations.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Confusion may rear its ugly head; don't be tricked! Be alert to imminent opportunities and make the most of them.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Be smart; scan your alloted program carefully, eliminate useless red tape and trifles, then go to work on essentials. Honest work will prove profitable.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with kindliness, a neighborly manner and strict conscientiousness. Never let that demon jealousy or a lack of control neutralize these fine qualities. Don't let your generosity be imposed upon. You Librans are generally suited for positions with large and powerful organizations that need people of courage and honesty, steady application, and inventiveness, too. You are a lover of nature, art, music, drama. Avoid overindulging in pleasures. Your success, though it may not come early, will nevertheless be stable and lasting. Birthdate of: Chester A. Arthur, 21st U.S. president.

Lowly Poplar, Once Despised Weed, Takes Place With Maple and Spruce

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Woodsmen in B.C. and Alberta for years have looked with disdain on the poplar tree which grows in abundance in western forests. Now, with the opening of Edmonton's newest industrial plant, a use for it has been found.

"The lowly poplar tree, long considered a 'weed' in the forest, now takes its place with the maple, spruce, fir and pine as a member in good standing," said Forests Minister N. A. Willmore as he pulled the lever that officially opened the Zeidler Plywood Corporation's $1,000,000 plant on the city's southern edge.

"It gives Alberta a new name to add to its wonderful list of natural resources."

MAKES PLYWOOD

The Zeidler mill makes plywood entirely from poplar, which it now is bringing by train from the Lesser Slave Lake area, 150 miles (northwest) of Edmonton.

Known as black, white and balsam poplar, as cottonwood, balm of Gilead and various other names, this type of tree abounds in many areas of Alberta and the supply of raw material for the new mill is almost inexhaustable.

The plant, set on a four-acre site just east of the main Calgary-Edmonton CPR railway line into the city, has 50,000 square feet of floor space in three wings of the one-storey building.

On the grounds are a 65-foot-high burner and conveyors to move the logs into the mill and refuse to the burner. Another section is to be added to the main building and a storehouse and kiln are being built.

The plant which turns out about 500 plywood sheets a shift, is expected eventually to contribute directly to the support of about 650 persons, including about 26 to 30 women, are employed on each shift, operating cutting, drying, patching, gluing, pressing and sanding machines.

SELL IN EAST

At present, only one shift is working each day but the plant soon will have three shifts daily. Other workers will be employed in the woods cutting the trees and trimming them into 8½-foot-long logs ready for the peeling lathe that starts the process. Transporting these logs to the plant will provide employment for many more.

The corporation president is W. R. Zeidler, a man who has more than 30 years experience in the building industry in Edmonton. He has drawn key men from the Pacific coast, with Norman Murray as plant superintendent and Jack Wells and Lionel Boulton as foremen. These three men have a combined experience of more than 50 years in the industry and they are training other staff members, all hired in this area.

Zeidler, which calls its product Zedply, expects to be able to fill local demands without difficulty and plans to market much of its produce in eastern Canada's building industry.

KRAFT'S PARKAY

keeps form when warm!

There's a good reason why Parkay is the margarine most people spread most. It spreads smoothly even when ice-cold . . . won't rip or tear the freshest bread. And when warm it keeps its shape . . . won't wilt or go "runny" even on hot summer days or in a warm kitchen. Matchless quality and matchless flavor, too . . . and, of course, the price is mighty easy on your purse. Why not try it yourself right away?

Remember—Parkay is fresher because it's made right in B.C.

Available in the convenient foil-wrapped quarters or the 2lb. Economy size.

Whitton Decides To Welrome PC Party

OTTAWA (CP) — Mayor Charlotte Whitton, who voted against inviting the Progressive Conservative Party to hold its leadership convention here, Wednesday offered the city's co-operation with convention arrangements.

A board of control meeting Tuesday defeated a motion to invite the Conservatives to hold the convention here a few hours before the party's executive chose Ottawa as the site. In a letter to Leon Balcer, PC national association president, Mayor Whitton expressed "the gratification that I am sure the people of Ottawa feel" on the party's choice of a site.

World Series Inning-by-Inning

Following is a play-by-play inning-by-inning account of the first game of the 1956 World Series Wednesday:

FIRST INNING

NEW YORK — Maglie's first pitch to Bauer was a fast ball that cut the outside corner for a called strike. Bauer worked the count to 2-2 and went out on a slow grounder to Jackie Robinson. Slaughter bounced a single off Hodges' glove wide of first base. Mantle hit a home run high over the right field screen into the parking lot across the street, scoring Slaughter. It was Mantle's sixth world series home run.

Berra walked on a full count.

Skowron struck out, missing a sharp breaking curve outside.

McDougald struck out on three pitches, all sharp breaking curves.

Two runs, two hits, no errors, one left.

BROOKLYN: Ford's first pitch to Gilliam was a high inside fast ball for a called ball. Gilliam bounced the next pitch to McDougald and was an easy out. Reese lined to Bauer who made a nice running catch in the right field corner with his back to the wall.

Snider rolled out, Skowron to Ford who covered first.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING

NEW YORK: Martin fouled to Campanella about 50 feet behind home plate. Maglie threw a third called strike past Carey. Ford went down swinging, becoming Maglie's fourth strikeout victim.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

BROOKLYN: Robinson smashed a line home run into the lower left field stands. It was his second world series home run.

Hodges dropped a single into short centre. Mantle limped noticeably as he charged in.

Furillo lined a double to left centre, scoring Hodges with the tying run.

Mantle failed in an attempt to make a back-handed stop on a ball which was recovered by Slaughter. No error was charged.

Campanella flied to Bauer, Furillo racing to third after the catch.

Ford's attempted pick-off of Furillo got past Carey but Furillo, who had slid back into the bag, was unable to advance. Amoros raised a fly to Mantle and Mickey's perfect throw kept Furillo at third. Maglie struck out.

Two runs, three hits, no errors, one left.

THIRD INNING

NEW YORK: Bauer dropped a single in short left.

Slaughter punched a single between third and short, Bauer stopping at second. Bessent got up to throw again.

Mantle looked at two called strikes, took two balls, then was called out on a fast ball.

Berra raised a high pop-up to Robinson on the infield grass.

Robinson reached up for Skowron's high chopper, then threw to Gilliam forcing Slaughter at second.

BROOKLYN: Gilliam raised a high pop-up to McDougald.

Reese hit to deep short. McDougald made a fine back-handed stop but his throw to Skowron was not in time.

Snider dropped a single in front of Mantle, Mickey again coming in slowly. Reese held up at second.

Hodges hit a home run into the lower left field stands, scoring Reese and Snider to put the Dodgers in front 5-2. It was Hodges' fourth home run in series competition.

Bauer made a nice running catch of Furillo's fly.

Three runs, three hits, no errors, none left.

FOURTH INNING

McDougald flied to Amoros in left centre. Martin hit a home run into the lower left field stands, his fourth world series homer.

Carey flied to Furillo in short right. George Wilson, a lefthanded hitter, batted for Ford. Kucks replaced Morgan in the Yankee bull pen. Wilson struck out, but had to be thrown out, Campanella to Hodges.

One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

BROOKLYN: Kucks went to the mound for the Yankees. Campanella doubled in extreme centre. Amoros rammed a line single, scoring Campanella. Morgan began throwing again.

Maglie, attempting to sacrifice, bunted to Skowron who started a lightning double play, Skowron to McDougald to Martin who covered first.

Gilliam's sharp grounder skipped through Skowron's legs into right field, Gilliam reaching first on the error. Gilliam stole second, sliding under Berra's throw to Martin. Reese was called out on strikes.

One run, two hits, one error, one left.

FIFTH INNING

NEW YORK: Bauer lined a single over Reese's head. Slaughter popped to Robinson behind third.

Righthander Clem Labine started warming up for the Dodgers.

Mantle walked on five pitches. Manager Walter Alston came out to confer with Maglie and Campanella with Reese joining them.

Skowron also flied to Amoros.

No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

BROOKLYN: Snider lined to Slaughter. Slaughter came in fast for Robinson's soft liner in short left. Hodges bounced to McDougald who bobbled the ball but recovered in time to throw him out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SIXTH INNING

NEW YORK: McDougald looked at a third strike to become Maglie's seventh strikeout victim.

Martin popped to Gilliam.

Carey bounced a single over Maglie's head and off the bare hand of Robinson. Bob Cerv, a right handed hitter, batted for Kucks.

Alston again went out to confer with Maglie. Cerv smashed a ground single to centre, Carey stopping at second. Labine was again throwing in the bull pen. Hodges backed up for Bauer's popup.

BROOKLYN: Morgan became the third Yankee pitcher. McDougald threw out Furillo. Campanella lined to Mantle. Amoros flied to Slaughter in left centre.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SEVENTH INNING

NEW YORK: Slaughter went out on a vicious liner to Snider. Mantle walked on four pitches. Bessent and Labine again started warming up. Berra lined to Furillo. Gilliam made a leaping catch of Skowron's liner.

BROOKLYN: Mantle made a running catch of Maglie's fly. Gilliam walked to become the first Dodger to receive a base on balls. Reese punched a hit-and-run single into centre sending Gilliam to third. McDougald cut off Mantle's throw toward third and caught Reese off first with a snap throw to Skowron. In the ensuing run down, Reese was tagged out by Skowron while Gilliam remained at third.

The play went Mantle to McDougald to Skowron to Martin to Skowron.

No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

EIGHTH INNING

NEW YORK: McDougald struck out for the third time. Bob Turley, a righthanded pitcher, started warming up for the Yankees. Martin walked on a full count. That sent the Dodger bull pen in action once more. Bob Grim joined Turley in the Yankee bull pen.

Lefthanded hitting Joe Collins batted for Carey. Jerry Coleman, infielder, started throwing in the Yankee bull pen. Collins struck out on three pitches, the ninth Yankee to go down on strikes. Tommy Byrne, another lefthanded hitter, batted for Morgan. Byrne fouled out to Campanella.

Hodges, Robinson Pace Winners' Attack on Ace Yankee Lefthander

By JACK HAND

BROOKLYN (AP) — Ancient Sal Maglie, culled from the scrap heap to pitch Brooklyn to a pennant, finally won a world series game Wednesday, strikng out 10 New York Yankees for a 6-3 opening victory. His strong support included homers by Gil Hodges and Jackie Robinson.

Sal, 39, came through in the clutches. Although nicked for nine hits, the crafty curve-ball artist from Niagara Falls, N.Y., had his strikeout pitch when it was needed

The cheers from the crowd of 34,479 was a remarkable sight for those who remember the years when Maglie, playing for New York Giants, was the most hated man in Brooklyn.

All through the sunny, cool afternoon the Dodger bullpen toiled diligently. First it was Don Bessent, then Clem Labine and finally both of them in the seventh, eighth and ninth. Although manager Walter Alston twice visited the mound to confer with Maglie, who had thrown a no-hitter at the Phillies Sept. 25, he stuck with Sal.

STARTED WITH SHOCKER

Maglie's greatest day started on a shocking note. Mickey Mantle slugged a two-run homer over the right field wall in the very first inning. Except for another homer by Billy Martin in the fourth, a blow that just reached the friendly left field stands, Maglie shut out the favored American League champions.

Three times Maglie, who in his early baseball days played for Welland, Ont., in the Niagara District senior loop, threw the third strike past Gil McDougald, the Yankee shortstop. He fanned two of manager Casey Stengel's pinch hitters, George Wilson and Joe Collins.

To end the game with a flourish, Maglie made Mantle hit into a double play that brought the Dodgers rushing to the hill to pump his hand and slap him on the back.

Maglie's stint in the Niagara League was in the years 1943-45 One of his last appearances for Welland in an exhibition game against the Baltimore Elite Giants, a negro team, Campanella was the opposing catcher.

PLAYED FOR QUEBEC

Maglie also played for Drummondville in the Quebec Provincial League after the Second World War.

Ebbets Field, known as the graveyard of lefthanded pitchers because of its handy left field stands, turned out to be just that to Whitey Ford, the top earned-run pitcher in the American League and Yankee 19-game winner.

Ford was clipped for five of the Brooklyn runs and six hits—including Robinson's solo homer and a three-run blast by Hodges — before he retired for a pinch hitter in the fourth.

Holding a shiny 2-0 lead on Mantle's homer following the first of three singles by 40-year-old Enos Slaughter, Ford permitted the Dodgers to tie the score in the second.

THIRD MADE GAME

With one out in the third, Pee Wee Reese beat out an infield single to McDougald. Duke Snider, normally helpless against a lefty, dunked a single into short centre in front of Mantle. Stengel came out to confer with Ford but left him in to pitch to Robinson.

Then came Hodges to strike the blow that meant the ball game. On a 1-1 count, the Dodger first baseman drove Ford's third pitch into the lower left field stands for three big runs. It was Hodges' fourth homer in series competition.

Maglie skirted disaster inning after ining. Never was it a sure thing that he was going to last the route, not until Mantle slammed into the game-ending double play.

"LUCKED" IT OUT

In the Dodger clubhouse, Maglie said, "I lucked it out." Manager Walter Alston said he thought Sal would pitch again with only three days rest as he has done on two occasions recently.

Alston said Don Newcombe (27-7) would pitch Thursday's second game at Ebbets Field. He wouldn't name a third-day pitcher for the opener at Yankee Stadium Friday.

ROYALS CUT ROSTER

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — Rookie Dave Stewart was dropped by New Westminster Royals of the Western Hockey League Monday as coach Hal Laycoe prepared the team for their outing Wednesday against Vernon Canadians of the Okanagan League.

Royals have also sent defenceman Freddie Creighton to Seattle Americans in preparation for a three-game exhibition series between Seattle and Winnipeg Warriors, at Phoenix, Arizona.

Creighton was sent following a call for help from the Americans after defenceman Tom McCarthy dislocated a shoulder in a workout Tuesday.

The Royals obtained Creighton from Saskatoon Quakers early last season.

"All we've done is send Creighton to Seattle," said coach Hal Laycoe of Royals. "He still belongs to us. I don't know yet whether we'll let him stay there for the season or not."

Argentine Rowers Banned

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (Reuters) — Argentine rowers have been barred from the Olympic Games and the Argentine Rowing Federation has been blacklisted, it was announced Wednesday night.

The executive board of the International Olympic Committee endorsed a decision of the International Rowing Federation, whose secretary reported infringement of provisions on amateur status by the Argentine federation.

Plans 2-Way Strait Swim

VICTORIA (CP) — Brenda Fisher, the self-confident Grimsby, Ont., girl who beat Marilyn Bell's Lake Ontario swim time last summer, is planning to make a two-way assault on the Strait of Juan de Fuca next summer.

The English - born swimmer wrote to Don Gray, a native of Grimsby now living in Victoria, that she would like to cross the choppy strait from south to north first, then do it from north to south.

Only one swimmer — Cliff Lumsdon of Toronto — has swum the entire 18.3-mile southward distance from here to Port Angeles.

Anti-Professional Pledge Suspended

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) —The executive board of the International Olympic Committee decided unanimously Wednesday night to suspend the controversial anti-professional pledge for the Melbourne Olympic Games.

The board had been convened in emergency session by IOC President Avery Brundage to consider world-wide protests against the pledge, which would have required each Olympic athlete to declare his intention to remain an amateur.

After a three-hour discussion behind closed doors, the board reached full agreement on suspending that part of the pledge. But it declared it is up to the Olympic committee of each country to prevent what it referred to as "professional abuse of the Olympic games."

Stanley Sold

CHICAGO (AP)—Allen Stanley, Chicago Black Hawk defence man was sold to Boston Bruins Wednesday.

The sale of Stanley, 30, who has spent two years with Hawks, follows by 10 days the sale of 32-year-old Lee Fogolin, also a defence man.

The sale was for an undisclosed sum.

British Rugby

LONDON (Reuters) — Results of rugby matches played Wednesday in the United Kingdom:

RUGBY UNION
Cardiff 8, Italian Team 3
Penryn 5, Pontypridd 8

RUGBY LEAGUE
Great Britain 26, Rest of the League 23.

RANGERS OPTION BOWER, 3 OTHERS

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Rangers of the National Hockey League optioned goalie Johnny Bower and three other players Wednesday to their Providence farm team in the American Hockey League Bower, netminder for Rangers two seasons ago, was voted the most valuable player in the AHL last season.

The others shipped down are defenceman Ivan Irwin and forwards Aldo Guidolin and Jim Bartlett. The cutdown pared the Ranger roster to 18, the league limit.

B.C. Grey Cup Committee Get City Grant

VANCOUVER (CP) — City council Wednesday granted $5000 to the Grey Cup committee to help finance British Columbia's entry in this year's parade at Toronto.

City sportsman John Dunsmuir made the request for the committee and said Toronto's "magnificent effort" here last November would have cost about $50,000.

He said the commitee will require up to $25,000 to see that this province is suitably represented and gains valuable advance publicity for the 1958 game to be held in Vancouver in conjunction with B.C.'s centennial celebrations.

Mr. Dunsmuir added he hopes the provincial government will consider a substantial contribution. The B.C. Lions football club has given $2500.

Canucks Dicker For Ray Powell

VANCOUVER (CP) -- Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League were reported Wednesday to be negotiating for Ray Powell, a centre who racked up 77 points in 1955-56 for Quebec Aces.

Powell, a native of Kelowna, B.C., is reported cool towards playing in the east this year. The Canucks have started negotiations with the Aces, with veteran Bill Wylie being offered in exchange.

Coach Art Chapman is expected to cut at least two players today, probably rookies. There are six newcomers in camp and the club need only keep two under the WHL rookie rule.

Lenient View

LONDON (Reuters) — The British boxing board of control Wednesday withheld £200 from an estimated £2000 purse of former world heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles because of his disqualification in a fight here Tuesday night against Welshman Dick Richardson

Charles was disqualified because of persistent holding. The board said it has taken a "lenient view" of the case because of Charles' previous record

Beecham Wins

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Jimmy Beecham shored the 15th victory of his short ring career Wednesday night but added nothing to his prestige in outpointing Hector Constance in a dull 10-round bout for the benefit of the Babe Zaharias Cancer Foundation.

Beecham weighed 153, Constance 148.

DATES SET

FREDERICTON (CP) — Lt.-Col. H. I. Evans, honorary secretary treasurer of the Canadian Badminton Association, said Wednesday the Canadian open badminton championships will be held Feb. 27-March 2 at the Kitchener-Waterloo club, Kitchener, Ont.

MANAGER SAYS BOBO WON'T FIGHT AGAIN

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The manager of Carl (Bobo) Olson cancelled Wednesday the former world middleweight champion's comeback bout scheduled for tonight and announced Olson will never fight again.

"I've known Olson hasn't been right since he's been here," manager Sid Flaherty said. "After his disappointing workout Tuesday, I was convinced he should not try a comeback."

Olson, who has put on weight since being dethroned by Sugar Ray Robinson, had announced plans earlier to campaign as a light heavyweight. He was scheduled for main event bout here against Sammy Walker tonight. His weight was about 170.

NO OTHER WAY

"There is no other honorable course," Flaherty said. "I must be fair to him because he has been a great fighter. I must also be fair to the fight public."

Olson's downfall began last year when, after ruling the middleweight ranks for two years, he moved up to challenge Archie Moore for the light-heavy crown and was knocked out in the third round.

KNOX SIGNS WITH STAMPS

CALGARY (CP)—Ronnie Knox, the glamor boy of the football park, inked a contract Wednesday with his second Canadian team this season.

The former UCLA quarterback who huffily left Hamilton Tiger-Cats last week agreed Tuesday to join last-place Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Present at the signing were club president M. A. (Red) Dutton general manager Bob Masterson, and Ronnie's controversial stepfather-manager, Harvey.

Details of the contract were not released.

"We didn't release contract details on any of the other players and we plan to continue this practice," said Masterson. "However, we figure we got a pretty good deal."

Ex-Quakers Sign With Regals

BRANDON (CP) — Three players, all members of the now-defunct Saskatoon Quakers last season, signed contracts Wednesday for the 1956-57 season with Brandon Regals of the Western Hockey League. They were defence men Bob Chrystal and Howie Yanosik and forward Len Haley.

Durelle 'Free'

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Boxing promoter Chris Shaban said Wednesday Canadian light heavyweight champion Yvon Durelle received his contract from manager Harry Sheppard Tuesday and is "free".

Shaban said there are no obstacles to tomorrow night's non-title bout between the Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., fighter and Chubby Wright of Reading, Pa.

Durelle and his Montreal manager were engaged in a dispute over arrangements for two bouts with a Bermuda boxer. The Canadian Boxing Federation twice suspended Durelle pending settlement of the dispute.

RANGERS WIN

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Camille Henry, last season's top goal scorer in the American Hockey League and purchased only Tuesday from Rhode Island Reds, provided three assists for New York Rangers Wednesday night as they defeated the Providence club 6-3.

Had Ups and Downs Before Hour of Glory

NEW YORK (CP) — Brooklyn manager Walt Alston says that if pitcher Sal Maglie had walked Yankees' Yogi Berra at a crucial moment of the World Series opener Tuesday, "I would have taken him out then and there."

Maglie, of course, was the hero of the day and Dodgers won 6-3. But to be pulled out of a World Series game, crushing disappointment that it is, probably wouldn't faze a player who has been hauled out of major league baseball itself.

Few players have had so many ups and downs.

WITH CANADIAN TEAMS

The man from Niagara Falls, N.Y., started his playing career in 1938 with Buffalo. After pitching for Jamestown of the Pony League and Elmira of the Eastern League he was drafted by New York Giants and sent to their International League farm club in Jersey City for the 1941 season.

In 1943 he left professional baseball but while doing defence work in Buffalo played with Welland in the Niagara District League.

Maglie went back to Jersey City in 1945 and that time was called up by the New York club for the end of the season. That winter, however, he signed to play with the outlaw Mexican League, then raiding major league rosters.

In 1946, after the players had refused to sign their major league contracts, they were banned from baseball for life.

IN QUEBEC BRIEFLY

Maglie stuck with the Mexican League until it folded in 1948. And before the ban on the "outlaw" players was lifted in 1949, played with Drummondville of the Quebec Provincial League and joined a team of barnstorming ex-Mexican leaguers in trips throughout the United States.

In 1950 Maglie joined Giants, helped pitch them to two pennants in the five years he was with them and became one of baseball's top earners.

Giants unloaded him to Cleveland last year and he was picked up on waivers by Dodgers early this season.

Suddenly his arm returned to life and Sal picked up 13 key victories during Brooklyn's pennant fight, including a no-hitter in the last week of the season.

After Tuesday's game Maglie acknowledge that his World Series performance was not as razor-sharp as his clutch triumphs in the closing weeks of the National League.

"My curve ball was good," he said.

"But my fast ball wasn't worth a darn. It was a tougher game for me because I didn't know too much about the Yankee hitters... I had to bear down on every hitter and give them my best pitch but never giving them anything too good to hit at," he said.

Farrell To Succeed Lopez

NEW YORK (AP)—Kerby Farrell, manager of Indianapolis Indians of the American Association, will be the next manager of Cleveland Indians, The Associated Press learned Wednesday night.

An official of the American League club said Farrell will be named Al Lopez's successor during the world series or shortly after. Lopez resigned last week.

Farrell this year guided Indians to the association playoff championship and the Little World Series title, in which they defeated Rochester of the International League in four straight games.

Market Trends

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market staged another good recovery despite competition from the World Series.

Prices of key stocks were up 1 to 5 points. Gains were scored in all major divisions of the list, with the greatest strength in the metals, motors, rubbers and oils.

Aluminium Ltd. scored a gain of 2⅝ to lead upside Canadian issues on the New York Exchanges. McIntyre was ahead a point. Other gainers included: Hudson Bay Mining, up ¾ and Canadian Pacific, up ¼. On the downside, Granby Mining slipped ¾ and Dome Mines was off ⅛.

TORONTO (CP) — Despite a mild selling spurt in the final few minutes of trading, the stock market recovered all of the ground lost in the year's worst plunge two days ago.

Strong issues included Dominion Stores, Aluminium, Algoma, Bank of Nova Scotia, Interprovincial Pipe Line, International Utilities and Great Lakes Paper. Page Hersey dipped 1¼ points but other losses were few and mostly fractional.

Odds . . . and Ends

. . . by M. D. B.

Took my usual Fall tour around Lakeside Park Tuesday. There's something about poking along the shore in warm October sunlight that I can't resist. The little waves came singing in to throw their offering of bubbles at my feet, only to slip under, slide out and hurry in with more.

* * *

I looked at those gnarled old cottonwood roots high and dry above the sand that form such interesting little nooks in which small ones delight to play. We used to fix our towels up over them and pretend we were in mysterious caves where there might be treasure hidden.

* * *

Out on the float I noticed seaweed growing in the pool and everything had a green coating. Water was the only thing going down the slide where children wore out their bathing suits all the summer long.

* * *

Along the shore were bits of seaweed bark, and driftwood and over on the point the three-toed sandpiper's tracks traced cross-stitch designs. On the south side of the point was a small shallow lagoon that the wind barely touched and all was as silent as the seagull's shadow that passed over its surface.

* * *

There weren't many footprints on the sands and no children laughing on the swings. The park reminded me of an old grandmother whose grandchildren have gone back home. All is peaceful and she is happy knowing they will come again. It's only when the leaves are all off the trees and the flowers are dead that I find the park a forlorn and lonely place.

* * *

On my way home I noticed bees working furiously to snatch the last bit of nectar they could get from the clumps of Michaelmas daisies — these flowers were simply alive with the golden honey gatherers.

* * *

To change the subject I couldn't help smiling the other day as I watched a boy with an obviously new pair of skates turning into the shoe repair shop to get them sharpened, he looked so pleased with the world in general.

Nelson Building Permits Over $½ Million Mark; Hotels Renovating

Two Nelson hotels are undergoing redecoration according to building permits issued in September by the City. Permits for work valued at $50,855 were issued in September bring the year's total to date to $571,963.

Chris Trkla of the New Grand Hotel, Vernon Street, is planning to remodel the bar and lobby and construct a new beer-cooler room at an estimated cost of $23,000.

The Madden Estates, Ward Street, will spend $800 redecorating the interior and entrance of the Madden Hotel.

The City of Nelson has been granted a permit for $6700 construction in the Civic Arena. Work on a new concrete ramp, started two years ago to extend to Hall Street, has recommenced, and the new concession booths with entirely replaced equipment are expected to be finished by the first senior hockey game, October 13.

Not included in this cost, but also part of the $100,000 by-law is the stage which is being built in the badminton hall, for quick changing from one activity to another. Plans for the heating system for the upper floor of the building are being draughted in Vancouver.

Only one construction permit for a house was issued — to A. Choquette, 617 Houston Street, who is planning a $10,000 residence.

Major repairs and construction permits were granted to six city residents — G. Coletti, 920 Fourth Street, $600 in order to construct a bedroom and lower the ceiling of the living rpom; Mrs. D. E. Bennett, 924 Vernon Street, $850 for general repairs; Frank DiBella, 414 Falls Street, $11,000 for re-siding; George Scott, 521 Silica Street, $800 for re-siding; George Joseph Miosa, 524 Carbonte Street, $1700 for re-siding and general repairs; and Mrs. Florence Tippie, 112 Vernon Street, $775 for re-siding.

SMALLER JOBS

Permits for under $500 repairs and construction were issued to Harold Beatty, 213 Chatham Street, to build a carport; William Wilkie, 1008 Third Street, in order to complete an unfinished room; Mary and Amy Kershaw, 620 Latimer Street, for re-shingling; S. Brown, 905 Fourth Street, for the installation of a picture window; Miss C. Horton, 1413 Front Street, for roof re-shingling; J. C. Fukala, 1111 Hall Mines Road, for re-siding; G. D. Kaiway, 720 Victoria Street, for general repairs; Mrs. Georgina McLeod, 622 Carbonate Street, for re-shingling the roof; A. D. Schneider, 1011 Front Street, to make a stairwell into two rooms which at one time were a suite, and to change window and door frames to be suitable for stuccoing; J. Marsden, Vernon and Josephine Streets, to build a fire escape as requested by Fire Chief E. S. Owens; John Clarke, 210 Mill Street, to build a garage, frames and concrete foundation; D. A. Hellekson, 1802 Falls Street, re-roofing; John Gauryletz, 203 Innes Street for re-siding; F. W. Cartwright, 704 Railway Street, to rebuild the chimney; Ira A. Hall, 907 Latimer Street, for re-siding; Leonard Nelson, 617 Third Street, for re-roofing; Richard A. Wassick, 316 Cedar Street, for repairs on the front porch; M. L. Guilbeault, 710 Mill Street, for repairs to the garage; and A. Openshaw, 524 Anderson Street, for a foundation.
