Khrushchev Charges U.S. Stalling

Urges Immediate Action To Reduce Mideast Tension

By VINCENT BUIST

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Soviet Premier Nikita Krushchev Monday accused the United States and Britain of stalling on proposed summit talks and demanded a direct reply from President Eisenhower on when he would be willing to attend a top-level conference.

The Russian leader rejected an Anglo-American suggestion that the United Nations Security Council decide on the time and makeup of a summit meeting. He charged this was a procedural stall aimed at camouflaging Anglo-American "aggression" in the Middle East.

Instead, Khrushchev reverted to his original proposal—backed by French Premier Charles de Gaulle—that the meeting be held in some European capital. He suggested Geneva, Paris, Vienna or Moscow as possible sites.

In Washington, a White House statement on Khrushchev's message said the U. S. still feels the Middle East summit conference should be held within the framework of the UN. It said President Eisenhower's views remained the same—that arrangements for a summit conference should be left to the Security Council.

CORDIAL TO DE GAULLE

Khrushchev used the bluntest language so far in the summit negotiations in his letters to Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan. But his note to de Gaulle was cordial, conceding that the French premier was "gravely concerned at the situation in the Middle East."

The Soviet premier said the Middle East situation is "so urgent that the Security Council cannot take effective steps."

"It is imperative," he added, "that the Big Four leaders, Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and United Nations Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold — "should meet and agree on the immediate cessation of the conflict and on measures to preserve and strengthen peace."

In his letter to Eisenhower, the Russian leader said the Middle East is "becoming more like a powder keg which can precipitate a world holocaust" but that the Security Council has been unable to do anything to ease the crisis. If we genuinely want to reduce tension, we must agree that it is the five powers that will have to settle the problem," he said. "It seems that an effort is being made to bury the We cannot accept this."
We cannot accep tthis."

Khrushchev's letters made no mention of having Arab countries attend a summit conference — a point he insisted on last week in his reply to the original proposal that the meeting be held in the Security Council. But they made clear that Russia wants Nehru to attend any top-level meeting.

The Soviet premier said the United States is trying to "drag the summit talks into a labyrinth of talking and procedural matters" in order to shelve a solution of "the most pressing problem of today — the withdrawal of foreign troops from Lebanon and Jordan."

"Mr. President, you do not work for peace, but are extending the conflict and thus assume heavy responsibility before the world for the consequences. Heavy responsibility also rests on Macmillan, who resorts to manoeuvring."

DEMANDS EARLY REPLY

Khrushchev demanded Eisenhower's "earliest reply" to his letter, stating when he would be willing to attend a summit meeting.

His letter to Macmillan accused the British leader of trying to hinder a solution of the Middle East problem by calling for "protracted procedural discussions" on the time and composition of summit talks.

Khrushchev referred to U.S. press reports of possible difficulty in taking security precautions for heads of government attending a conference in New York.

"We do not wish to place the United States government in a difficult position," he told Eisenhower, "and while we are not against New York as a meeting place, we are ready to meet in Geneva, Vienna or Paris.

"We would also be glad to meet in Moscow and can guarantee the security of the participants there."

IKE SENDS SWIFT REPLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has swiftly rebuffed Soviet Premier Khrushchev's new demand for a special five-power summit conference outside the United Nations framework.

The White House made known the president's views Monday less than four hours after Khrushchev fired off another letter objecting to any summit parley within the 11-member UN Security Council in New York.

The White House comment appeared to deadlock Eisenhower and Khrushchev on terms for such a meeting.

LONDON (Reuters) — Monday's latest letters from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, reverting to the view that summit talks on the Middle East should take place in a five-nation session in Europe, came as a blow to diplomatic opinion here.

Herridge Backs Loan Resolution

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is losing her position in the tourist industry "through neglect," the Commons was told Monday by an Ontario member who urged government-guaranteed loans to help resort owners improve their accommodation.

"Travel has developed on the North American continent from a luxury to a way of life," said Gordon Aiken (PC—Parry Sound-Muskoka).

He proposed a resolution asking the government to adopt a plan of tourist loans similar to those available for national housing. A portion of the loan would be guaranteed by the federal government.

Such loans would be granted only with reasonable assurance that the recipient could make his business pay "under normal operating con*ditions," said Mr. Aiken.*

H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) said there are many spots in his British Columbia riding — "Canada's paradise, the Kootenays"—that would especially benefit from the plan.

Walter Dinsdale (PC—Brandon-Souris) said the Commons needs to take a much more detailed interest in tourism and its "tremendous upsurge." Manitoba, the "keystone province," was a tourist mecca but it needed promotion.

B. C. CABINET TO PRINCE RUPERT

VICTORIA (CP) — The B.C. cabinet will journey afield Tuesday and hold its regular bi-weekly meeting at Prince Rupert.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett has left for the north coast fishing centre already.

The cabinet has held meetings this year at Prince George and Nanaimo in keeping with an avowed poilcy to "... take the government to the people."

Briefs on local matters are usually presented on the out-of-town trips.

Three Bombings Rock Okanagan

VERNON, B.C. (CP) — Three separate terrorists bombings damaged two rail lines and a power pole in the Okanagan district early Monday.

One explosion blasted a 22-inch section out of one rail on the Canadian National Railways line and another destroyed a power pole a Oyama, 14 miles south of here.

Police set the time of the bombings as shortly before 5 a.m.

A third bomb tore a two-foot crater in the roadbed and bent one of the rails on the Canadian Pacific Railway line two miles north of Oliver at 6:30 a.m.

The damage was discovered before any trains travelled the lines. No one was injured, but power was cut off for some hours in the Oyama area.

Police are investigating the possibility that the terrorists used timing mechanisms.

The explosions follow withdrawal of the large force of Royal Canadian Mounted Police who moved into the Kelowna area to guard Princess Margaret during her brief stay there. No incidents occurred during the princess' visit.

Police plan to bring a tracker dog into the area in an attempt to trace the bombers.

Oliver resident, Glen Graham, who was sleeping only 100 feet from the scene of the blast at 6:45 a.m. dashed out of his house in an attempt to find the bomber. His car had been tampered with and wouldn't start.

Oliver is near Penticton in B.C.'s Okanagan Valley.

Team To Study Seasonal Unemployment

VANCOUVER (CP) — A British Columbia Research Council team has begun preliminary work in a study of seasonal unemployment in the province, believed to be the first of its kind in Canada.

The provincial and federal governments requested the study, which is expected to take two years.

Dr. Gordon Shrum, head of the UBC physics department and a council director, said Monday the investigators will compare unemployment in the equable climate of the west coast with that of the Prairies and Eastern Canada.

The study will have particular reference to employment problems in B. C.'s primary type of industry.

Dr. Shrum said an interim report will be made in July, 1950.

Overall director of the investigation is economist J. B. Tawaites, UBC graduate formerly with the department of trade and commerce in Ottawa.

Lebanon Election Holds Peace Hopes

By WILTON WYNN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Rebel and government partisans engaged in hard fighting in the north Lebanon town of Zegharta Monday three days before a scheduled election of a new Lebanese president. Upon the election are pinned the hopes of many for peace in this strife-torn nation.

The fighting in Zegharta, four miles northeast of the coastal city of Tripoli, broke out Sunday night *between two families—the Frangi*yehas and the Duwaihys. The Duwaihys have lined up with the pro-Western government, the Frangiyehas with the rebels.

One member of the Duwaihys faction charged the Frangiyehas were backed by a band of infiltrators from Syria and were using mortars brought in from that province of the United Arab Republic. He said many buildings had been destroyed by fire from these mortars.

The Duwaihys occupy hills overlooking the road to Tripoli to prevent the rebels sending reinforcements to the Frangiyehas, he went on. He was unable to estimate casualties.

FAMILIES FIGHT IT OUT

Informants said there were no Lebanese security forces in the town because both families had insisted on settling their differences directly.

A rebel spokesman in Tripoli denied any Syrians were taking part in the fight. He said the fighting was continuing.

Zero hour is approaching for choosing a successor to President Camille Chamoun. If a candidate acceptable to both sides is picked, Lebanon's crisis may end. If not, there may be new and a more serious round of trouble.

Some shooting broke out near the main post office of Beirut Monday. Otherwise the town seemed outwardly calm. U.S. marines have not been involved in any fighting.

In Amman, Jordan accused Syria Monday of plotting to overthrow King Hussein and of slipping agents across the border under orders to undermine the Amman government.

Coast Man Shot in Arm

VANCOUVER (CP) — Norman Wallace, 25, was shot in the arm with an air pistol during a street argument here Sunday night.

Wallace told police a man objected to his behavior on an east end street.

He said he challenged the man to shoot him. The man obliged, going inside a house and returning with an air pistol.

Police arrested a suspect.

14 Killed as Cyprus Violence Continues

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — Violence involving both Greek and Turkish Cypriots continued unabated Monday despite appeals for calm by British officials.

Seven Cypriots were killed — four Turks and three Greeks. A series of explosions rocked the centre of Nicosia. Monda's dead, latest in a mounting toll of casualties during the last month, included two Greek Cypriot women found shot in a west Cyprus village.

A 90-year-old Turk was beaten to death in his bed at Paphos, western Cyprus. His 75-year-old wife was critically injured.

A 70-year-old Greek Cypriot was axed to death in an east Cyprus village. Two Turks were found dead in west Cyprus. Another Turk was shot to death 100 yards from police headquarters here in the island's capital.

Two Turks were wounded by gunfire in Ayos Andronicus, northeastern Cyprus. A British soldier and a Turkish auxiliary policeman were wounded when gunmen ambushed a truckload of police escorted by British troops in southern Cyprus.

British troops threw a cordon around a block of buildings in the heart of Nicosia after a series of seven explosions there. The blasts occurred near a Turkish mosque in the Greek sector.

The renewed violence followed an appeal for an end to strife by Gov*ernor Sir Hugh Foot. The plea was* countered shortly afterward by a call to continue the struggle from the Greek Cypriot underground leader, Col. George Grivas.

U.S. Becomes Partner in Baghdad Pact

Pledged to Defence of Iran, Turkey, Pakistan; Thus Strengthens Alliance

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles Monday night committed the United States to defence of Iran, Turkey and Pakistan as a virtual partner in the Baghdad Pact.

The pact is being realigned to take into account the apparent loss of its only Arab member, Iraq. Dulles signed up after twice talking with President Eisenhower in Washington by telephone.

Automatically, the United States became more deeply involved in the Middle East than ever before.

Without technically joining the pact, the United States virtually became a member through the new obligations undertaken in the declaration that Dulles signed with leaders of Iran, Turkey, Pakistan and Britain.

GAINS STRENGTH

With this stroke, the United States increased the strength of the alliance, weakened after the violent overthrow of the royal government of Iraq, the fifth active member.

Iraq was not represented at the Baghdad Pact council meeting. The late King Faisal's government had been the lone Arab keystone of the pact designed, among other things, to bar Communism from the Middle East. His capital originally gave the alliance its name.

A spokesman for Britain said: "We greatly welcome the strengthening of American ties with members of the Baghdad Pact organization."

The declaration provides that the United States will promptly enter into two-way agreements with Iran, Pakistan, Turkey and Britain.

The document expressed determination of the signers "to maintain their collective security and to resist aggression—direct or indirect."

Some Western statesmen have accused the Soviet Union of indirectly bringing about unrest and revolution in the Middle East and threatening other nations in adjacent areas.

The countries signing the declaration took under consideration whether substantial alterations should be made in the Baghdad Pact and its organization. They feel there may be a bare chance that Iraq will continue its membership.

By not technically joining the pact, the United States is sidestepping an obligation to assist the new government in Baghdad.

VICTORIA (CP)—Holders of forest management licences should be allowed to bid for crown timber only by sealed tender, the Sloan royal commission on forestry was told Monday.

This was one of several recom*mendations submitted by I. H. Mc*Diarmid, vice-president of Merritt Forest Products Co. Ltd., when commissioner Gordon Sloan resumed the week-old public hearings.

The commission is inquiring into allegations that forest management licence holders have "an unfair advantage" over smaller operators in bidding for crown timber.

Kiss Was Costly

TORONTO (CP) — A motorist who claimed he was "protecting" his girl friend when his car "developed a shimmy" was fined Monday $50 or a month in jail for careless driving.

A policeman told Magistrate J. W. Butler he tried to overtake 24-year-old John Wagner's car but it was weaving from left to right.

"Then I saw he was kissing a girl," the officer said. "His face was towards the rear of the car."

Wagner said his car had developed a shimmy.

"I merely put my arm around her to protect her."

"You were obviously intoxicated by love," commented the magistrate.

PRINCESS SENDS THANKS

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — Princess Margaret has telegraphed her thanks to the government and people of British Columbia for the wonderful welcome she received during her tour of the province.

"I enjoyed so very much the two fascinating weeks which I have spent in your lovely province and much appreciate the interesting and varied program which had been so thoughtfully prepared . . .

"I am proud to have shared in the centennial celebrations of British Columbia . . . The time has gone all too quickly and I am indeed sad to leave."

The telegram, addressed to Lieutenant - Governor Frank Ross, and made public here Monday by Premier Bennett was signed "Margaret".

Students Cheer Princess on Way

By RICHARD ANCO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — Princess Margaret, ending a three-day rest in the Canadian Rockies before continuing her tour east across Canada, received a rousing send-off Monday by some 600 summer students attending a mountainside arts school.

The students, dressed in sweaters, shorts and ballet costumes, lined the approaches to the Banff School of Fine Arts, covered its rolling green lawns and sat on the tops of long chalets surrounding the main school.

As the princess completed her drive up 5550-foot tunnel mountain to the 25-year-old school, the students cheered, "Vive la princess."

It was the greatest ovation for Princess Margaret since she arrived here Saturday night from a busy two-week British Columbia centennial tour. She has rested in RCMP - guarded Fairholme Lodge high in the mountains east of Banff, taking occasional scenic drives along the numerous Alpine sites in the area. (See also stories page 8.)

Parliament Monday

By The Canadian Press

Finance Minister Fleming announced increases of federal pensions for retired civil servants receiving below normal pensions.

The Commons debated a resolution urging government loans for tourist resort development.

Gordon Aiken (PC-Parry Sound-Muskoka) the resolution's sponsor, said Canada is losing her position in the tourist industry through neglect.

Douglas Fisher (CCF-Port Arthur) said Mr. Aiken's proposal contains some "pretty good socialism."

Art Smith (PC-Calgary South) and Hugh M. Horner (PC-Jasper-Edson) said the 1968 winter olympics should be held in Alberta.

TRADES WITH HUNGARY

BUDAPEST (AP) — Britain and Hungary have agreed to trade more than £12,600,000 worth of goods in 1958-59, the official Hungarian news agency reports.

Four Boys Take Sewer Swim

CLEVELAND (AP) — A big wave of water flushed four teenage boys through a long storm sewer Monday. They came out wet, scared, smelly, but alive.

Two of them rode the wave —stumbling, swimming, floating— almost down to Lake Erie, a distance of four miles or more. The others grabbed at manholes on the way down and were pulled out.

Thomas Davis, his brother Fred, Terry McGuire and Kevin McInerney had been playing along Dugway Brook below Forest Hills Park. They call it Stinky Creek. Thomas is 14 and the others are 13.

At this point the creek enters a large tunnel. The water flows through a storm sewer system and finally becomes an open culvert.

A sudden deluge of rain sent a five-foot wall of water down the creek, sweeping the boys with it. Playmates reported the incident and police radios sent rescue squads flying to manholes along the route.

Train Catches Fire in Tube

LONDON (Reuters) — Some 60 Londoners were trapped Monday in a stalled, smoke-filled subway train when the motor of the train suddenly caught fire in a pitch-black west London tube.

Bowler-hatted businessmen and pretty young typists staggered more than half a mile with blackened faces along the tunnel to station platforms, helping many who were overcome by smoke.

Dozens collapsed from the effects of smoke and others were cut by splintered glass from train windows smashed to admit air.

More than 20 persons were taken to hospital and others received first aid.

Small Boy Betrayed Premier to Slayers

By ALEX VALENTINE

BEIRUT, Lebanon (Reuters) — Nuri Said, late Iraqi premier and power behind the throne for 17 years, was betrayed to the mob by a little boy sitting in the dust.

An uncensored account of the last hours of Iraq's "iron man" which reached here Monday from Baghdad told how the little boy gave the signal which ended in a mob tearing to pieces Nuri's corpse.

A woman, Sabieh Abbas, died at his side.

Nuri, with Sabieh, escaped from his palace in the early hours of July 14 while the Baghdad mob converged on the royal palace.

The fugitives claimed sanctuary in the house of a friendly doctor. But when Baghdad Radio began broadcasting offers of 10,000 dinars ($28,000) reward for Nuri, the doctor became frightened and asked him to leave.

Nuri shaved off his mustache, made up his face, donned the black clothes of a woman over his pyjamas and put on a veil.

The doctor loaned the fugitives his car and they were driven to the other side of the Tigris. There Nuri and Sabieh left the car and began looking for shelter.

But the chauffeur was suspicious and in the meantime had informed the army.

Within minutes, tanks and cars began to converge on the area. In the wake of the army came the mob.

Nuri and Sabieh were being swept along with the mob and finally reached an acquaintance's house. But the door was slammed in their faces and once again they were pushed out into the street among the mob.

BOY SPOTS PYJAMAS

They wandered through the streets until they passed a little boy sitting on the ground. The boy saw Nuri's pyjamas protruding from his disguise and told a group of soldiers.

The soldiers rushed after the pair and challenged them. Nuri turned, drew a gun from under his cloak and began firing.

The soldiers shot back and Nuri and Sabieh were killed.

The mob rushed to the scene and when it was learned that the bodies were those of Nuri and his friend they began to tear them to pieces.

An army tank pushed through the mob, and soldiers retrieved the already mutilated bodies. They were laid on the top of the tank which drove slowly through the streets while the mob screamed with delight and roared insults at the dead leader.

At last the tank broke clear and carried the bodies away to an unknown grave.

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you see a man with a helicopter on a leash don't question your sanity.

The U.S. defence department announced Sunday night the development of a tether or leash which enables a man on the ground to lead a hovering helicopter around as if it were a kite.

The purpose is to permit precise hovering operations where the helicopter pilot can't see the ground directly below.

PARIS (AP)—Having a pet panther jump in bed with her at 7 a.m. daily was just too much for the wife of France's big game hunting Chevalier d'Orgeix.

She is getting a legal separation from the Chevalier and the panther although remaining friendly with both. The trouble is, she says, that her husband liked the panther better than the wife.

The panther in question, Zouma, is a playful beast used to creating a stir. She got loose a year ago on Rue Daunou and spread near panic.

"I have been patient for months," the Chevalier's wife told reporters. "I like Zouma. But you understand that in the mornings I like to sleep. The panther is an early riser. She wakes up at 7 o'clock, climbs up on the bed and jumps around the furniture."

GODERICH, Ont. (CP)—A Goderich woman hung her clothes out to dry on a new line running over her apartment roof.

A public utilities commission workman took them down again.

He said the clothes were hanging on a new 200-volt electric power line, just installed. The woman said she thought it was a new clothes line put up by the landlord.

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—They're still blushing at the Brantford post office.

Recently the post office's mail-handling equipment was moved to a new addition. Out from behind a sorting counter fell a yellowed letter that had apparently rested there 38 years.

Postmaster Frank McDonald opened it and found it had been written in April, 1920, from the postmaster in Woodstock to the postmaster in Brantford.

The subject?

A complaint about a letter that hadn't reached its destination.

Snowshoe Lake Treated Against Coarse Fish

Provincial fisheries biologist Hugh Sparrow said Monday he had just completed poisoning Snowshoe Lake, 5 miles from the Needles in the Arrow Lakes district. The lake was heavily infested with shiners.

Part of a program for ridding East and West Kootenay lakes of coarse fish, the poisoning is done by using a chlorinated camphene preparation (toxaphene) which replaces the rotenone toxic previously used by the department.

Snowshoe Lake covers an area of some 20 acres and is expected to be non-toxic by August of 1959, depending on the water depth and wind action in the area.

Non-toxic to livestock, the poison kills all fish in the waters in which it is placed at a proportion of 5 parts toxic to one billion parts of water. The length of time required for the toxic effects to clear varies according to the lake, for, in shallow lakes, with lots of wind action, the poison is dispersed more rapidly than in the deeper, quieter lakes.

When the waters are considered safe to fish life, after suitable tests have been carried out, the fisheries department re-stocks the lake with the variety of fish most suited to it. By this method, the department hopes to increase the number and size of game fish of the province.

This lake-poisoning program has been considerably speeded up by the advent of the new toxic which, while taking longer to clear from the water, is available at about 100th less cost than its rotenone predecessor.

Mr. Sparrow hopes to treat five more lakes between now and next fall.

Coast Woman Hit by Heat

The city fire department inhalator crew was called to the bus depot here Saturday night when a White Rock woman was overcome by heat exhaustion.

Fire department officials said firemen and a doctor administered first aid to Mrs. F. Alp, who apparently was en route here from the coast resort.

She was taken to hospital for recovery after successful application of the inhalator.

On Sunday firemen were called to the 100 block Creek Street where a grass fire of undetermined origin was burning. It was quickly extinguished with one booster line.

Accidental Deaths Climb

The British Columbia Safety Council, in a report issued at the end of May, says 314 people in the province met accidental deaths during the first five months of 1958.

The report, compiled by the provincial department of health and welfare, said 53 of the deaths occurred to children under the age of 10.

Forty persons died accidentally during May.

Motor vehicle accidents claimed 90 lives during the period January 1 to May 31.

Fifty-four persons died through accidental falls, 26 through accidental poisoning, 25 by fire and explosion, 37 by drowning, and 46 by other accidental causes.

Most of the accidents, 88 of them, happened in public places. But 74 deaths occurred in the home.

Of the total number of the deaths reported to the end of May, 213 of them occurred to people between the ages of 20 and 79. Twenty people between the ages of 10 and 19 met accidental deaths and 27 people were 80 years of age and over.

Six persons died through firearm accidents during the first five months of the year.

JOHNSON BOY HIT BY JOHNSTON CAR

CRANBROOK — Kenneth Johnson, nine, was hospitalized here Sunday when struck by a car near the intersection of Cranbrook Street and Second Street, north.

The youngster was taken to St. Eugene Hospital, where he is under observation.

Driver of the car was identified as Miss Ruth Johnston of Fernie.

The boy apparently was crossing Cranbrook Street outside a pedestrian crossing when the mishap occurred.

Sunday's accident was the second investigated by police in less than 24 hours.

On Saturday night a two-car collision at the intersection of Fourteenth Avenue, south, and Fourth Street resulted in damage estimated at $1500. Vehicles involved were driven by Jack Scott and Anton Pipars.

No Relief in Sight As Heatwave Continues

No definite relief was in sight Monday night for British Columbia as the province neared the end of its second parched month.

A weather synopsis issued for the next few days offered only scattered thunderstorms over the southern part of the province and continued high temperatures.

In the Nelson area, where daily temperature readings have soared into the high 80's and 90's, Forest Service officials describe the forest hazard situation as "extremely serious."

Sprinkling restrictions in the city are being maintained in the face of the continuing heat wave.

Thousands of city and district residents are spending their free time at beaches and other lake resorts for relief, at least temporarily, from the penetrating heat.

Forest fires are burning over the entire province.

On Friday 277 fires were burning and 478 had been extinguished during the week up to that time.

The estimated cost of fighting the blazes reported this year climbed to $1,446,424—more than $1,000,000 more than during the corresponding period last year.

In the Nelson Forest District alone, 235 fires have been reported this year at an estimated cost of $39,309.

Recreational closures have been imposed in many areas surrounding the city.

High temperatures and low humidity have sparked the high hazard.

Even the B.C. Automobile Association is concerned over the heat.

A report issued by the association says that motorcycle patrolmen and auto club members have reported that numerous bottles are being smashed on highway pavement creating a serious traffic hazard.

"We understand that people prefer cooling refreshment in warm weather, but we ask them for safety's sake to please refrain from tossing bottles from their cars," the report stated.

With the continuing hot spell, forestry officials have asked for public co-operation in reporting any smoke or fires seen in the woodlands.

LAST RITES HERE FOR PIONEER SLOCAN FARMER

Funreal service was held Monday afternoon for Walter Frits Anderson, 69, farmer and rancher for 42 years in the Slocan and Alberta who died in Nelson Thursday.

Mr. Anderson died in Kootenay Lake General Hospital after being rushed by helicopter from his B.C. Forest Service lookout station near Slocan City. He had suffered a heart attack. The aircraft landed in the Civic recreation grounds.

Rev. H. R. Whitmore officiated at the service at Thompson Funeral Home. Hymns sung were, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and "Abide With 'Me". Organist was Mrs. W. A. Manson.

Pallbearers were Charles Varney, Roy Varney, James Varney, Gene Hird, Don Hird and Irwin Anderson. Interment was in Nelson Memorial Park.

BABY MOON SEEN AGAIN OVER CITY

An artificial satellite was sighted over Nelson at 11:05 p.m. Sunday by J. F. Day who lives on the Granite Road.

Mr. Day said he was sitting outside his home shortly after eleven when he noticed an orange glow moving rapidly across the night sky.

"It wasn't nearly as bright as a regular star and from where I was sitting, seemed to be the size of an orange," Mr. Day told the Daily News.

The satellite curved in its trajectory and disappeared towards Fruitvale after being visible over the city for about four minutes.

Mr. Day said he saw it "constantly" until it started entering into a pronounced curve. He wondered if it could be the new U. S. baby moon.

Left Campfire, Fined $50

A man who left a lighted campfire near New Denver during the current period of extreme hazard in the woods Monday was fined $50 and costs.

R. J. Paish appeared before Stipendiary Magistrate James Draper on the charge which was laid under the Forest Act.

The prosecution was the first of its kind in this region so far this year.

Rev. Giovanni Panico Here In Fall

An announcement released by the Diocesan Chancery says that Most Reverend Giovanni Panico, Apostolic delegate to Canada, will pay a short visit to the Diocese of Nelson as part of the Catholic observance of the B.C. Centennial.

As the representative of the Holy See, the delegate each year tries to make a tour of part of Canada to observe conditions in this country at first hand.

In 22 years since the Nelson diocese was established, this will be the first time the clergy will have an opportunity to welcome a representative of the Holy Father in Canada.

Because of other commitments during the month-long tour Rev. Panico will be here only a short time.

According to present plans, he will arrive here September 2 from Victoria and return to Vancouver September 4.

RCMP SERGEANT POSTED HERE

RCMP Sergeant Phillip Drysdale has arrived in Nelson to take charge of the local detachment.

Fire Destroys Coeur d'Alene Mill

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (AP)—Fire Monday night destroyed the planer mill, dry shed and office of Northwest Timber Company, west of here, in less than an hour.

An eyewitness said the main mill, bordering the Spokane River, was being wetted down by fire crews from here and rural fire departments and was still untouched by flames.

Volunteers spread out through the tinder dry woods, surrounding the timber company, trying to smother numerous small fires started by the flying embers sent up on the 100-foot-high flames.

Koolaree Echoes

Hi! Mum and Dad.

After a noisy reunion with last year's camp acquaintances and a boisterous train ride, we arrived at camp. Before we knew it, we had unpacked and had begun our Bible study and handcrafts. Smokey had made sure we wouldn't be at a loss for something to do.

The swimming is perfect and boating is already a favorite pastime.

In Cabin One (The Puddle Pushers) we have Margaret Catley, Nuala Smitten, Marie Dieterman, Wendy Mitchell, Eleanor Perkins, Gloria Watson, Betty Tebo, Joy Byres, Judy Waterer and leader Joan Baines.

Cabin Two (Dolly's Dolls)—Iris Bateman, Judy Schultz, Shirley McRory, Bonnie Brett, Judith Ann Hendron, Judith Foster, Julie Bowen, Karen Gibson, Peggy Morrison, Pam Ross and leader, Mrs. Dahlquist.

Cabin Three (Les Miserables)—Linda Hancock, Leona Anderson, Nancy Greene, Jean Wandruff, Jane Daly, Alice Dieterman, Beverly Rae, Sandra Martin, Rose Ann Barclay, Joan Ross and leader Mrs. Williams.

Cabin Four (Les Girls) — Peg Walton, Lynne Lounsbury, Lorraine Baird, Shiela Stanley, Shannon Norris, Pamela Mitchell, Beverley Dempsey, Linda Christie, Sheila Wait and leader Lynn Beattie.

Cabin Five (The Witchdoctors)—Deborah Lloyd, Wendy Balfour, Elizabeth Richards, Doreen Spiers, Barbara Negus, Francis Malcolm, Donna Drew, Barbara McMynn, Maureen Johnston, Susan Keyes and leader Jean Austin.

Cabin Six (Les Pupees) — Jean Fodor, Darlene Clay, Ann Graham, Isabel Stuart, Lorna Gene Colman, Barbara Lee, Jean Forsyth, Jane Rice, Bonnie McBain, Gayle McMynn and leaders Pam Humphries and Jean Thompson.

At Campfire we had our opening ceremonies. Then Great Brave, Margaret Catley, led us in a rousing sing song and Cabin One presented a skit — a very serious melodrama. The evening was completed by a delicious round of cocoa and doughnuts.

Naturally, everyone went right to sleep after lights out !

Two Bush Fires Reported at Wasa

CRANBROOK — Cranbrook Ranger District fire suppression crew stationed near here brought a one-acre fire under control within two hours Sunday morning.

A crew of eight men equipped with shovels and other tools controlled the blaze south of Wasa.

A second fire a mile away swept over 10 acres of semi-open country and 35 men were recruited by the B.C. Forest Service Sunday to fight the fire.

Fire Blamed On Cigarette

A refuse fire believed caused by a cigaret carelessly thrown between two downtown buildings was extinguished in its early stages Monday afternoon.

City firemen were called to the 600 block Front Street where the blaze was burning between the Frozen Food Provisioners building and the Wood, Vallance Hardware Company warehouse.

Fire department officials said the fire burned into the wall of the warehouse and up the wall of the frozen food building, but caused only minor damage.

Fire Chief E. S. Owens said the blaze was burning in a one-foot space between the two buildings where discarded papers and other combustible refuse had piled up over a long period of time.

Prison Terms For Two Men

Two men who made off with two truck tires valued at $150 from the Cody Reco Mine near Sandon have been sentenced to a total of 18 months at Oakalla prison.

RCMP at New Denver, who laid charges against the pair, said Patrick James Murphy, 26, of Brouse, was sentenced to one year in jail and that his companion, 30-year-old Paul Fiset of Nakusp, was given a six-month term.

Both men were arrested by Nakusp RCMP after the tires were reported stolen from vehicles parked near the mine.

The sentences were imposed by Magistrate James Draper of New Denver.

The tires, stolen July 17, were later recovered.

MINNOW FISHING OUT, WARNS GAME INSPECTOR

B.C. Game Department Inspector C. E. Estlin warned Monday that it is an offence to fish with minnows—dead or alive—and said infractions of this new law would lead to court action by the department.

Since the regulation was brought into force early this year, there has only been one prosecution, which occurred in East Kootenay recently and cost the offender a $25 fine, but minnow fishing is only just becoming popular at this time of the year, Inspector Estlin explained, and persons who in previous years started using minnows in July and August can no longer do so.

The regulation was brought into being by the department in order to curtail introduction of coarse fish into provincial lakes and applies to all areas of B.C.

It is felt by fish biologists that to use live minnows is encouraging the danger of coarse fish infestation in B.C. lakes, since the chance of these small fry escaping and surviving to breed are great.

Senior Captain and Mrs. Thomas Powell of the Salvation Army conducted the evening service at the Nelson Citadel Sunday night.

Captain and Mrs. Powell are visiting his mother, Mrs. Thomas Powell, 1410 McQuarrie Avenue, before moving to a new post at Medicine Hat, Alberta.

They were stationed at North Bay, Ontario, for several years.

Captain Powell was also guest speaker at the evening service.

Creston Phones on Dialing Wednesday

CRESTON — Dial tone, new telephone numbers, and selective ringing are some of the outstanding changes which will be introduced when Creston's automatic telephone system goes into operation at 7 a.m. Wednesday.

B. C. Telephone Company's subscribers have been asked to note a few simple changes in telephone procedure to assist in the conversion, and also to use their telephones as little as possible at the time of the cutover.

New telephone numbers have been allocated to all subscribers. These can be found in the telephone directory published coincident with the change. Consisting of the prefix ELliot 6, followed by four numerical digits, the new telephone numbers will conform with the two-letter-five-figure numbering system now being introduced across the North American continent.

For local calling, subscribers will dial all seven digits, i.e., EL-6-1234 in the number ELliot 6-1234. The full number must be given on all long-distance calls, or whenever the operator requests a subscriber's number.

In addition to dial tone, selective ringing is being introduced. This will mean that party line subscribers will hear only the ring of their own telephone and not the rings of others on the same line. Thus, every time a phone rings, it should be answered.

Nerve centre of the $450,000 system is the new telephone building on Kootenay Avenue. Telephone technicians have been working long hours to complete the final stages of equipment installation in preparation for the big changeover. Last minute tests on equipment and wiring are now in progress.

Sons Warned Must Obey Laws of B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A warning that Sons of Freedom must obey British Columbia laws or live elsewhere, was given in B. C. Supreme Court chambers here on Monday by Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Perepolkin of Crescent Valley and to Sons of Freedom Doukhobors generally.

He reserved his decision on the application of the Perepolkins for the return of their son Bill, 10, who has been in New Denver residential school for the last two years.

The Judge told their counsel J. T. Steeves, that he had been informed that Irene Perepolkin, 12, who was restored to her parents last year on a writ of habeas corpus, has not been attending public school.

Mr. Justice McInnes found that the order committing Irene to New Denver was improperly made by th emagistrate and he released the girl to her parents.

Similar application for Bill was refused and went to the court of appeal, which held that his committal also was invalid.

The appellate court referred the case back to Mr. Justice McInnes, who may leave Bill with the superintendent of child welfare or send him back to his parents.

Addressing Mr. Steeves, the Judge said: "It is a strange commentary to find these people seeking the assistance of the court.

"It might be well for you to point out to these clients of yours and the Doukhobors generally, that inasmuch as they have chosen to live in this country, it is inevitable that they will have to live by the laws of this country."

Mr. Steeves replied that his clients were questioning the validity of the law that says their children must attend school.

Dr. Miller has applied for privileges at the hospital.

He served his internship and took a course in anaesthesia at Saint John General Hospital at Saint John, New Brunswick, and studied at Victoria General Hospital at Halifax.

Juvenile, Firm, Fined in Court

The United Trucking and Storage Company of Nelson last week was found guilty of a charge of allowing a juvenile to operate a vehicle without a chauffeur's licence and was fined $10 and costs.

A representative of the company and the juvenile involved appeared in provincial magistrate's court before Magistrate William Evans.

The juvenile pleaded guilty to a charge of driving without a chauffeur's licence and was also fined $10 and costs.

The company representative said the firm believed the juvenile held a proper licence and was not aware he was violating the Motor Vehicle Act.

Cecil Griffith of Vancouver was fined $10 and costs on a charge of speeding. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

Charged with failing to renew his driver's licence, Hans Lehrke of Nelson was fined $10 and costs after pleading guilty to the charge.

A Coal Harbour man, Sidney Louis, was given a suspended sentence when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving his vehicle over a double line on a highway.

RCMP Warn Dog Owners

RCMP warned dog owners in the Nelson fringe area Monday that strict measures will be taken against them if their animals are allowed to run at large in mischievous packs.

The sharp police warning was issued after several residents complained large packs of dogs were running wild over gardens and through yards, particularly in the Rosemont area.

Some people said dogs were molesting young children.

RCMP said unlicensed dogs found causing disturbances will be disposed of. Other dog owners are liable to prosecution.

Police said they intend to watch the situation closely and will take necessary action to curb the dogs' movements.

It is the responsibility of the owners to keep their dogs in check, RCMP said.

Odds . . . and Ends

.. by M. D. B.

Hello, again. There was such a hue and cry over the scrapping of "Odds and Ends" and nobody seemed to like the new head, (neither did I after I saw it) that I decided we'd go back to it. Somehow it didn't look as friendly as the other and I guess I don't really mind being introduced as "Odds and Ends of the Daily News." So it's really a case of "Here Today — gone tomorrow."

* * *

I'm hoping you'll find my holidays as interesting as I did, for here we go again. Arriving in Medicine Hat late in the evening I discovered the town decked out for its stampede and nary a hotel room to be had. I had checked before I left Nelson, but had been told there were lots of hotels there and it would not be necessary to reserve a room ahead. This would have held good had it not been such a special week, however I managed to get a room at the "Y," where I found people most friendly and accommodation clean, comfortable, and most reasonable.

* * *

It is a lovely prairie town of about 22,000 — clean and not the least bit rough and tough, despite the stampede air it had with cowboys and horses and all. Their parade was something to see — eight bands, no less and the various ranches represented by cowboys on beautifully groomed, magnificent horses. There were any number of well-decorated floats and I thought the parade would never get by. Of course I snapped lots of pictures with which I will bore all my long-suffering friends or even perfect strangers at the drop of a hat, from now until Christmas.

* * *

The stores had their slabwood fronts or little slabwood fences around their windows and one store had used its window to depict a typical homesteader's cabin, complete with hewn table, stool, grindstone, lanterns and a wooden cot with associated crockery. It certainly looked like the real McCoy. On lamp posts throughout the town were slabs of wood with slogans such as "Heap, Big Pow Wow" and such. One bake shop had outdone itself with a grandstand and waving crowd all done in icing with icing cowboys, steers and horses in various rodeo poses in an icing fence enclosure.

* * *

In stores and restaurants, staffs wore cowboy outfits, stetson hats, neckerchiefs and studded belts. I think what really amused me most during the parade was seeing a couple of the "girls" in sack (gunny sack) dresses, well padded and bedaubed with cosmetics rush up to the stately Mountie directing traffic and bestow a loving kiss on his regal cheek. The crowd roared and the Mountie appeared to enjoy the joke as well. But oh, all those horses and ponies — they were wonderful to see! Tomorrow I'll tell you about the pottery works and if I don't run out of space, the glass works. Still glad to be back.

Postmaster-General Meets Opposition On Mail Issue

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Postmaster-General William Hamilton has bumped hard into the same kind of Commons criticism of the postal department that he dished out as a member of the Opposition.

The once-caustic critic of Liberal post office policy took it on the chin for nearly five hours Saturday at the second Saturday sitting of the Commons this session.

Liberal and CCF members came well-armed with extracts from speeches made by Mr. Hamilton when he was chief Opposition spokesman on the affairs of the department he now heads.

They aimed a barrage of questions at the minister asking him why he hadn't introduced twice-a-day mail delivery service in Canada. He had asked for it often in Opposition.

Mr. Hamilton said he began to change his mind while in Opposition on the virtues of twice-daily delivery.

The step was "not now warranted." There had been general public dissatisfaction in earlier years but householders now appeared satisfied. Besides, the change would cost taxpayers $6,000,000 annually.

Mr. Hamilton described Canada's postal service as second to none in the world as he introduced his department's $162,400,000 budget for the current fiscal year. He said his past criticisms had been directed at former Liberal ministers rather than postal employees.

"ONLY A VISION"

Yvon Dupuis (L—St. Jean-Iberville-Napierville) said Mr. Hamilton, in Opposition, had spoken of postal thefts "as if they had been invented by the Liberals." He had claimed waste and inefficiency in the postal service. But Mr. Hamilton now admitted, in effect, that his five years' criticism of Liberal administration had been "only a vision."

Mr. Hamilton said mail burglaries increased during his first nine months in office but that this was the country-wide trend. However, losses had been cut in the period to $130,000 from $160,000.

Harold Winch (CCF — Vancouver East) wondered whether the minister's change of heart was due to the fact that "in Opposition he was irresponsible but that in government he is responsible?"

Chesley W. Carter (L—Burin-Burgeo) said no Commons member was more caustic in his criticism of the postal department than Mr. Hamilton. But while he "waxed loud, long and eloquent" on postal waste and extravagance in the past, he had increased expenditures this year by nearly $6,000,000.

Mr. Hamilton said the next five years will see radical changes in mechanized mail handling. These changes would be in wide use in 10 years but this did not necessarily mean drastic staff reductions. Some jobs, including that of letter carrier, would never be replaced by machines.

Ferry Traffic Up at Castlegar

An increase in number of automobiles and trucks carried by Castlegar ferry in June is shown in a report by P. B. MacCarthy, district engineer, Rossland. A total of 38,077 in the same month last year.

Left-Wing Mirror Belabors Dulles

LONDON (Reuters)—The left-wing London Daily Mirror today in an open letter to John Foster Dulles laid it on the line in big, black headlines—"Who is America fooling?"

In the letter spread over front and back pages the thundering tabloid, which has the world's largest circulation — more than 5,000,000 — bluntly accused the United States of stalling on East-West summit talks on the Middle East crisis.

The reasons for the stalling, The Mirror claimed, is President Eisenhower's health—"Your fear is that he is too ill and uncertain to put up a 100 per cent show. This will not do."

WRONG END OF STICK

The Mirror letter said to Dulles:

"What appalls the British is your point of view—your unerring genius for obstinately getting hold of the wrong end of the stick and refusing to let the damn thing go."

The Mirror said that most Britons and their newspapers believe:

"1. That summit talks are essential.

"2. That the Middle East crisis, with its grave potentialities, is a sane and urgent issue on which to bring the leaders of the nations together, whatever the result.

"3. That America is trying to delay, delay and delay—or perhaps even sabotage—the meeting."

Salmon Fishermen Set Strike Date

VICTORIA (CP)—Strike deadline of Aug. 9 was set Monday by B.C.'s salmon fishermen in a dispute over fish price offers with the B.C. Fisheries Association.

United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union secretary Homer Stevens said in Vancouver the date was only tentative, "and could be changed any time."

He said further talks with the association were set for Friday. "There is no indication of a settlement at the moment."

The 5,000 salmon fishermen in the province voted 90.26 per cent July 1 in favor of strike action following fish price offers by the association that are five to 10 per cent less than those paid last year.

Westerners Safe In Iraq Today

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Westerners appear to be safe in Iraq now, and this ancient capital's large foreign colony reports no trouble at all since the July 14 revolution.

On that day three Americans, a German and a Briton were killed by mobs but the rioters were quickly brought under control by the new republican regime.

Most foreigners here seem convinced the army and the new government did not anticipate anti-Western violence during the uprising. The army's fault lay in letting the mobs get out of control.

Since July 14 the army has taken special precautions to protect foreigners.

A platoon of soldiers guards the Hotel Baghdad, an air-conditioned building of some 200 rooms. Several groups of about 100 demonstrators have marched up the driveway to protest the U.S.-British troop landings in the Middle East or to welcome some visiting Arab dignitary. Each time the soldiers jumped to the alert, unslung their carbines and trained a machine gun on their fellow Iraqis. There was no violence.

The Iraq Petroleum Company, an internationally owned combine which pumps Iraq's main source of income out of the ground, has operated normally throughout the political turmoil.

Strange Roar Opened Iraqi Rebellion

TORONTO (CP) — "A stracge, distant roar interrupted with wild yells coming from the centre of the city" marked the beginning of the Iraqi revolt, Milton F. Gregg, Canada's former minister of labor, writes in The Telegram.

Mr. Gregg, in Baghdad since February as a United Nations technical assistance representative, writes of the revolt in a bylined Baghdad dispatch as told to Peter Worthington, Telegram staff reporter.

"I remember remarking that I hoped it wasn't refugees," Mr. Gregg says. "Just then the phone rang and one of my UN staff hurriedly told me the government had been overthrown and the military had taken over. It seemed impossible."

Dealings with higher echelons of the government, including King Faisal and Premier Nuri As-Said had given no hint of trouble, Mr. Gregg told The Telegram.

WENT TO UN OFFICE

"I phoned UN mission chiefs and suggested they tell workers to get in a supply of food and stay indoors. Then I decided that on such a day my place was at the UN headquarters with the flag up. . . .

"On the way we passed truck loads of yelling soldiers waving palm branches. There seemed a fever - pitch of excitement although the serious business of the army was downtown where I didn't go."

He later closed the UN office where the telephone was cut off and went home.

". . . There was nothing to do but listen to news, phone, read, sleep and eat, but at no time were we or any UN people in actual danger."

Tension eased in the days that followed.

"The new government has offered us help and a guard which we have not felt we needed. As of now we realize the new government has much to settle and it may be some time before they get around to dealing with UN matters. But I think that it is encouraging that some government offices have shown they are aware of us and say they will help us continue to work."

Mill Opens Shift

WYNNDEL — The local sawmill has put on a night shift for the first time in a good many years. The first two nights' running ended in breakdowns, necessitating a trip to Nelson by J. C. Wigen for repairs and a trip to Cranbrook by R. J. Wigen for repairs coming by plane.

Coast Ferries On Regular Run

VANCOUVER (CP)—The CPR west coast ferry service was back in full operation Monday for the first time since the Seafarers' International Union went on strike May 16.

The Princess Patricia left here at 11 a.m. on the triangular Vancouver-Victoria-Seattle run. The Vancouver-Nanaimo, Vancouver-Victoria and Port Angeles, Wash.-Victoria runs were already in operation.

The first sailing, from Vancouver to Nanaimo by the Princess Elaine, was made Saturday night. She carried 19 cars and 100 passengers.

New wage negotiations between the CPR and the SIU and two officers' unions, which also are on strike, are expected to begin this week.

The company has offered the seamen wage increases of eight per cent, accepted by non-seagoing employees. The SIU was asking 25 per cent over two years and the other two unions, the Merchant Service Guild and the National Association of Marine Engineers, was asking 19 per cent over two years.

R. K. Smith, the man appointed by the federal government to administrate the ferries pending a settlement, said Sunday he will play no part in wage negotiations.

Mr. Smith said his job as administrator is to get the ferries moving and to keep them moving until a settlement is reached.

Third Fire Within Month at Capilano

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A third fire within a month in the bunker of the Capilano Timber Company here Sunday produced damage estimated at $20,000.

Two firemen were injured in the two-alarm blaze.

Captain Michael Hyde suffered a gashed hand and fireman Ernie Angelucci suffered smoke exposure. Both men were taken to hospital.

The cause of the fire is undetermined.

Wynndel Girl Playground Leader

WYNNDEL — Miss Ethel Mountford, a local girl is being employed as a playground superintendent at Calgary at the West Mount Pleasant Community playground. The Calgary Herald recently carried a picture of Ethel along with other girls doing the same work. In Miss Mountford's classes the children have been making papier Mache masks, string belts and are now starting basketry. Weiner roasts and talent shows are also forms of entertainment for the children.

Quebec Minister Denies Charges

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Finance Minister John S. Bourque, Sherbrooke's representative in the legislative assembly, said in a weekend interview that during his 23 years in provincial politics his honesty has never been questioned.

Mr. Bourque made the statement after referring to what he described as campaigns being carried on by Montreal Le Devoir and other newspapers.

Le Devoir has been critical of the sale of Quebec Hydro's household gas distributing facilities in Montreal to the privately-owned Quebec Natural Gas Corporation.

The newspaper has named Mr. Bourque and several others as shareholders or former shareholders of the corporation.

Mr. Bourque is among cabinet ministers who have demanded that the newspaper retract. Le Devoir has said it will not retract and is ready to defend itself in court.

Mr. Bourque said: "I can stand constructive criticism and I am even in favor of it, but I am revolted by systematic destructive criticism."

"I have been in provincial politics for 23 years and never, in the seven election campaigns in which I have participated, has my honesty been attacked. Even in the legislature, when I present the budget of my department, I am never questioned."

Russians Detect Nuclear Tests

LONDON (Reuters) — Soviet research organizations have detected 32 nuclear explosions staged by the United States in the Pacific between April 28 and July 26, the Soviet news agency Tass said Monday.

Tass said the intensity of the series was reported to surpass that of all the previous test explosions carried out by the United States. Two nuclear explosions were set off on some days.

The United States has officially reported only 14 explosions in the Pacific during this period.

Fire Fighting Costs Above 1951 Record

VANCOUVER (CP) — Soaring temperatures have brought B.C. forests to the driest point this year—a year which in terms of forest fires has already proved the most disastrous in the province's history.

And it will get hotter. The weatherman says temperatures will likely edge above Sunday's highs because of clear skies and a nearly complete lack of breezes in most areas.

About 280 fires were burning Sunday in the province's five districts.

WORST TO COME

Cost of fighting the fires has already topped the 1951 record of $1,500,000, and the part of the year in which the danger usually is the greatest—the middle two weeks of August—is yet to come.

While sea breezes kept Vancouver's high at 82 Sunday, it was 104 at Hope, 80 miles east.

FIGHT BORDER FIRE

Near the border 40 miles east of Vancouver 42 Canadians and 10 Americans were fighting a fire being held in check by a swamp along the border.

More than 600 loggers and foresters were fighting 61 fires in the Vancouver forest district. Included were four new fires which broke out in the Campbell River area on Vancouver Island.

A big Sikorsky helicopter was chartered by the forest service to transport men and equipment to the sites.

Three fire fighters have been killed so far this year in B.C. forests. Two died when the truck in which they were hauling equipment overturned near Prince George and a third died when hit by a bag of ice dropped from a plane.

Ghana Forces To Serve UN

NEW YORK (AP) — The African republic of Ghana, 16 months old, is willing to supply one-third of its armed forces for a United Nations police force in Lebanon.

Ghana would contribute one of its three battalions—500 men—if the UN Security Council or General Assembly recommends a UN police force for the Middle East nation, Ghana's prime minister said Sunday night.

Dr. Kwame Nkrumah said on the NBC-TV program Meet The Press that if no one else in the UN General Assembly proposes replacing U.S. troops with an international military force, Ghana will make the suggestion.

He neither approved nor disapproved of the U.S. troop movement to Lebanon.

Touring Harlem Sunday, the Negro leader's motorcade was met by a 45-piece brass band and 10,000 Harlemites. Nkrumah lived in Harlem for a time while attending school in the U.S. from 1935 to 1945.

Abitibi Power Dividends Down

TORONTO (CP) — Abitibi Power and Paper Co. Ltd. had net earnings in the six months ending June 30 of $4,437,557 or $1 a share, compared with $6,583,235 or $1.51 in the corresponding period last year.

D. W. Ambridge, president says in a message to shareholders that earnings from Canadian operations were down close to 18 per cent and the remaining decrease was due to the break-in period at the company's new hardboard mill at Alpena, Mich.

Sales of newsprint and other papers decreased, and total net sales were $62,139,478, compared with $66,462,735.

The company's capacity to produce has not been fully utilized for more than a year, Mr. Ambridge said, and in view of this the starting up of the new newsprint machine at Fort William is being postponed "until circumstances are more favorable."

The mill had been expected to go into operation this summer.

Indications are that demand for paper products during the second half of 1958 will continue at about the same level, Mr. Ambridge said.

Current assets at June 30 were $55,350,953 compared with $63,896,660; and current liabilities $19,115,456 compared with $23,443,560.

British Coast Swept by Gales

LONDON (Reuters) — Gales swept the British coasts Monday driving ships to shelter and carrying heavy rain to many parts of the country.

Torrential rain flooded parts of the Edinburgh area of Scotland.

Rivers overflowed in west Wales, sweeping cut hay from nearby fields and blocking roads.

Holiday - makers were driven from south and west coast beaches and several lifeboats went out to small ships in distress.

Neuberger Suggests Free Trade For Canada and U.S.

WASHINGTON (CP) — Establishment of a free trade area between Canada and the United States was proposed in the Senate Monday by Democratic Senator Richard L. Neuberger of Oregon.

He urged both countries to abolish tariffs for a five-year trial period in a continental economic plan designed to develop a free trade area that eventually would be tied to the common market being developed in Western Europe.

Neuberger said his plan could eliminate controversies and recriminations" over national commercial policies which have led to "hard feelings and a regrettable clouding" of traditionally-friendly Canada-U.S. relations.

Neuberger suggested free trade would be in the long-range mutual interest of both countries and would provide "great economic advantages."

"I propose that our government and that of Canada set themselves the goal of abolishing all tariffs, quotas and other trade barriers between our two countries," he said. "This plan, for a five-year trial period, would permit complete freedom of movement of goods in reciprocal trade between Canada and the United States.

"There are no passports required to hinder the free movement of persons across the longest of the world's unfortified borders, so why should there be trade barriers."

Nelson Leads the Way in Traffic Safety

This city's recent award for another fatality free year bestows honor to all those concerned in keeping death off the streets and shows what can be done by a community determined to foster safety as a full-time project.

By the time this editorial is read, provided no fatalities occur after press time, Nelson will have further improved its record and will be in the 2154th fatality-free days, nearly six years without a traffic-accident fatality.

But yet, fate has been kind—there have been accidents which have resulted in only minor injuries, but could easily have resulted in death.

Accident-making law infractions seem to be a daily occurrence in the city and, here again, luck is with Nelson.

Recently, a Daily News reporter counted 30 vehicles improperly parked in one city street and questioned the police regarding this apparent improper-parking habit. City police officials said that whilst this was a dangerous practice, it was not the department's intention to "crack down" on the offenders, a laxness stemming from the difficulty experienced in winter on certain steep city streets.

Conditions of parking in the winter are understandable, and should be taken into consideration, but in summer there seems little excuse for motorists to violate provincial and city traffic laws and less excuse for such a passive police view.

In another instance, a truck was parked on the wrong side of a street, too close to a corner—a motorist turned the corner and saw the truck, but he did not see the two toddlers until they ROLLED OUT from underneath the vehicle. Providence prevented the accident—the car driver was able to stop within two feet of the children.

These incidents are straining Nelson's share of luck and are endangering lives. If each resident assists the police in a permanent "curb accidents" campaign, the city of Nelson will undoubtedly receive a further certificate next year.

Interpreting the News

By JAMES F. KING

LONDON (AP)—A new Western approach to living with Arab nationalism—and Gamal Abdel Nasser—was in the hands of diplomats here as one means of countering Soviet inroads in the Middle East.

A reassessment of the Iraqi revolution, with possible recognition of the new regime in Baghdad, may be one step to a new policy.

Several commentators in the British press also suggested a plebiscite in Jordan under United Nations auspices to give the people a chance to choose between King Hussein and a republic.

The groundwork for a united Western policy was being tested as U.S. State Secretary Dulles began a round of meetings with British leaders and the three Moslem partners in the Baghdad Pact—Turkey, Iran and Pakistan.

PAKISTAN WANTS DATA

Premier Firoz Khan Noon of Pakistan told reporters when he arrived for the talks "we are seriously considering" recognition of the new revolutionary government in Iraq. But he said Pakistan wants full knowledge of the facts before deciding.

Some Western diplomats are having second thoughts about the revolutionaries who killed King Faisal, his uncle and his strongman Prime Minister Nuri Said.

The diplomatic correspondent of The Sunday Observer, an influential independent newspaper, wrote: "There seems to be a growing feeling in Whitehall that the new men in Baghdad may not after all be subservient to President Nasser or to Moscow and they should be given as much opportunity as possible to develop an independent policy."

The newspaper said editorially: "As soon as it is decently possible, we must recognize the new republic and try to make friends with it."

SEE UNION DEFUNCT

Most British commentators regard the Arab Union—linking Jordan and Iraq—as defunct.

Laborite politicians and sections of the press speculated on the future of King Hussein and suggested the possibility of a plebiscite in Jordan.

There is concern here that British troops may be left in impoverished Jordan after the Americans withdraw from Lebanon.

Also, there is a strong undercurrent for inviting the Soviet Union and possibly Nasser's United Arab Republic to join in guaranteeing the neutrality of both Jordan and Lebanon.

F. B. Pearce... ...Writes

My wife remarks that I have not written any humorous pieces lately. That is quite true, but everyone can get amusement out of this world of ours without reading my column. Life is full of amusing and interesting things, if you look for them.

There is the matter of the liver colored dog who comes twice a day and camps a short distance from the house next door where his lady love lives. He now has a new collar which may help his suit, but he seldom sees her. His constancy is amazing and reminds me very much of Mark Twain's description of Tom waiting outside Becky Thatcher's house until a maid came and threw cold water over him.

No one throws cold water over the dog, but he makes off when he sees me coming. He knows I shoo him off. Animals and birds are often quite constant in their affections and the goose in particular is monagamous, which is perhaps why it is a goose, but it is not so funny when you realize that geese often grieve themselves to death for a lost partner.

You may not think this is funny but I do, though I am not sure the doctors will. One of my young friends was kicked by a horse. I am not surprised. The horse probably got sick of amateur riders mauling its mouth about. Well, he was taken to hospital and the doctor operated on him for appendicitis. This reminds me of an incident which took place when I was at normal school. One of my friends was bitten by a mouse and as he was ruefully shaking his finger someone solemnly advised him to be careful as he knew a man who was bitten in the finger by a mouse and blood poisoning set in and he had to have his leg off.

Of course, children will always keep you amused, that is if you like children. If you don't and think they are little monsters, it is just as well to keep an eye on them. We have a crowd of them round this way and the fun they have with my lawn mower and hose is wonderful till I come out and chase them off.

Some jokes get worn rather thin. My friend the Irishman from up the hill keeps calling this road, the rocky road to Dublin. When I told him I had it on good authority that it was to be remade this year he asked what was the good authority. I said the pretty girl in the engineer's office and then he wanted to know if I always took the word of pretty girls. I replied that was all I got from pretty girls nowadays. "Sure, and 'tis a hard life," he replied.

Sheer Bluff

Churchill was not so sure that the Allies could win the war. This appears in cables and messages, hitherto unpublished, which have just been released by the State Department in Washington.

But the publication of such messages and cables is scarcely a revelation. Churchill knew very well that he was only bluffing, and it has long been known that he knew.

In the peril after Dunkerque he made his famous radio speech: "We shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields, we shall fight in the streets, we shall fight in the hills; we shall never surrender!"

Then he put his hand over the microphone and muttered with a smile:

"And we shall hit them over the head with beer bottles, which is all we've really got."

In fact, two years later Churchill made a speech chiding the Nazis for having been bluffed.

"Look at the mistake that Hitler made in not trying invasion in 1940," he said. "We had not, at that time, fifty tanks; we had a couple of hundred field guns, some of them brought out of museums."

The newly published documents are interesting. But they confirm, rather than reveal, the fact that Churchill had to bluff his way through the war's darkest hours.

British Press Tells Colorful Story . . .

Cake, Speeding, and Doukhobors Highlight Reports on Margaret

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — A five-ton birthday cake, the Doukhobor problem and a wild-west ride that was almost too wild are some of the features of Princess Margaret's tour of British Columbia that have received prominent play in the British press.

In pictures and stories, British newspapers have faithfully recorded for their readers the day-to-day highlights of the princess' activities from the time she left by air July 11 for a month-long Canadian tour, including two weeks visiting the B.C. centennial celebrations.

But the dramatic news of the Iraqi revolution that broke just 48 hours after the start of the tour, and the events that grew out of it, have, inevitably, crowded out comment on the province itself.

An exception is The Sunday Pictorial, whose columnist, Rex North, says that at first sight "B.C. seems to be a pulse-quickening province of opportunities that can be landed as easily as fish from its richly-stocked surrounding waters."

NOT SO IMPRESSED

North appears to have been less impressed by his trip along the Alaska Highway to cover the royal visit to Fort St. John, which he described as a "little oil town that looks every inch a set from an old western film."

Says North: "The dust from the Alaska Highway was in my eyes, my mouth, my throat. I could spit it out like spreadshot."

In one of the few criticisms published in Britain about tour arrangements, he suggests it was a mistake to spread some 50,000 gallons of water on the streets of the bustling Peace River area town to keep down the dust. In an open letter to the royal visitor, he says such actions "are killing the tour with kindness . . . tell these Canadians that you want to see their country as it is and to meet the people as they are."

The Daily Express, The Daily Telegraph and the Yorkshire Post are among papers publishing photographs of the princess cutting B.C.'s birthday cake at Nanaimo. Without exception, they describe it as the "biggest cake in the world."

HORSES TRIED TO BOLT

The Daily Mirror publishes a full-page picture of Princess Margaret being taken for a stagecoach ride at Williams Lake, B.C. The Sunday Times, describing the ride, says that for a few moments "it was almost too wild" because the team of horses tried to bolt.

Almost every paper in Britain has carried a report on B.C.'s gift of an island to the princess, but the story commanding the greatest space has been her visit to the province's Doukhobor area around Kelowna and the security precautions taken to prevent incidents there.

Another feature commanding attention is the press conference the princess held shortly after her arrival in Victoria. The Yorkshire Post describes it as a "triumph" and The Daily Mail's Jeffrey Blyth, in an article headed "Princess routs the stuffed shirts," gleefully reports that the royal visitor ignored a roped-off area where she was to "receive" the press and instead wandered freely among the reporters "chatting first with one group then another."

SHED FORMALITY

The Times, describing Princess Margaret's first day on the mainland after five days of Vancouver Island, reports: "During that day her tour had shed the formality which surrounded it in Victoria and had taken on some of the overtones of a country fair."

And on one point all British papers are agreed—that B.C. has given a right royal welcome to the royal visitor.

Several papers report that the princess was "virtually mobbed" at a garden party in the grounds of Government House in Victoria. And The Sunday Pictorial says the reception accorded the princess on her arrival was "one of the more tumultuous" of any royal tour.

Pearson Enjoying Seat on Sidelines

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — L. B. (Mike) Pearson, middle man in many a crisis, is watching one from the outside for a change.

And his big grin is just as broad as ever.

The old pro of Canadian diplomacy, winner of the 1957 Nobel Peace prize for deft surgery on international squabbles, doesn't seem to mind being on the sidelines as Western statesmen try to cool Middle East passions.

"There's something to be said for sitting in the bleacher seats, checking on the umpires, and even on some of the players," he said to a reporter.

Mr. Pearson used to be a semi-professional ball player and this week, at 61, connected for a clean single in his only trip to the plate during a parliamentary exhibition game.

After 25 years as compromiser, go-between and general "Mr. Fix-it" in world affairs, he knows the long hours and little sympathy for his successor as external affairs minister, Sidney Smith.

UNDERSTANDS PRESSURES

In the Commons, Mr. Pearson said he understands the pressure, "physical and mental", that Mr. *Smith and Prime Minister Diefen*baker are undergoing in trying to help arrange a summit meeting to deal with troubled Lebanon, Iraq and Jordan.

So the opposition leader has shown restraint, and Mr. Diefen*baker has acknowledged his par*liamentary opponent's helpfulness.

"I welcome, and this government welcomes, any suggestions that come from him because of his experience, which none of us will try at any time to detract from," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

Thus the Progressive Conservative government, facing its first major foreign policy test in 13 months of office, has the benefit of a virtually bipartisan approach to external affairs.

PEARSON FORMULA

Mr. Pearson's muted manner hasn't stopped him from producing a formula for East-West summit talks. His suggestion is for a "summit subcommittee" of the United Nations Security Council comprising the Western big three, Russia and—by special invitation—India, which is not a council member.

The five would meet "anywhere and any time" under chairmanship of UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

This is the first time in 25 years Mr. Pearson has been outside diplomatic circles in crisis hour, but the friendly man with the big smile, and bow-ties to match, almost enjoys the experience.

During the Suez crisis he was under the gun, working an 18-hour day. Sometimes he did a 20-hour stretch.

In opposition, his voice is still heard respectfully.

Seoul Reports Red Plot Leak

SEOUL (AP) — The South Korean government prosecutor's office reported Monday that an information leak revealed a plot among top Communist officers in North Korea to overthrow the Communist government.

The prosecutor's office said the attempt against Premier Kim Il Sung's regime was led by Lt.-Gen. Chang Pyung San, commander of the 4th Army Corps stationed 10 miles south of the North Korean capital of Pyongyang.

The story of the attempted coup with somewhat different details was reported Sunday by the influential South Korean newspaper Dong A Ilbo.

The prosecutor's office said the coup had been planned for last May Day for two years but an information leak in mid - April squashed the plan and led to the arrest of numerous officers and men of the 4th Corps.

Dulles' statement was made during a survey of the Middle East scene, in the course of which he set forth the significance of the American military landings in Lebanon.

UN Headquarters Getting Ready For August Meeting

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) Monday, proposed by Russia's Premier Khrushchev as the starting date for a summit conference, the preparations for such a top-level meeting at the United Nations were only getting into a hesitant start.

There was little doubt at UN headquarters, however, that the world leaders will gather here in early August to thrash out the problems of the Middle East and perhaps get down to a face-to-face discussion on other outstanding problems of the cold war.

Whether any concrete results will be achieved by such a meeting is doubtful, but a get - together of the world leaders directly concerned with the latest Middle East outbreak could do much to lay to rest the fears of a general world war that followed the July 14 revolution in pro-Western Iraq.

SET UP FRAMEWORK

During the coming week the permanent representatives on the Security Council — from Russia, the U.S., Britain, France and Nationalist China—are expected to confer in private on spelling out the framework of the proposed summit conference.

It is assumed that the council will be able—perhaps by the end of the week—to offer a rough agenda.

Opposition expressed during the weekend by France and Nasser's Arab republic toward holding such a meeting at UN headquarters is not expected to hold up this preliminary work. The feeling is that these two key leaders will go along eventually if the three major powers don't disagree on the principle of a summit conference under the UN roof.

GIVE GENERAL SUPPORT

Such disagreement now appears remote, since Britain, the U.S. and Russia have in devious ways come round in public statements to support of this principle. The main question appeared to be the opening date of this long-heralded summit meeting.

Khrushchev's call for July 28 was an obvious goad to those holding back, and no one at the UN thought for a moment that such a meeting would be even physically, let alone procedurally possible.

The best guess now is Aug. 11, giving the council all this week for working out the ground rules and the interested powers all the week following that for their preparations for the trip to New York.

West Germany Grants Turkey $50,000,000

BONN (Reuters) — West Germany has agreed to grant Turkey a credit of 200,000,000 marks ($50,000,000) from her balance with the Organization for European Econmic C-Operation, authoritative sources said here Monday.

The sources, questioned following Sunday's talks between Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes said OEEC would be the actual creditor.

The sources said West Germany regards the credit to Turkey, to be formally approved by OEEC later this month, as a deputy under the mutual aid clause of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Pravda Sneers At Church Dignitaries

LONDON (Reuters)—The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda said Monday prayers of the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, and the Bishop of Rochester, Dr. C. M. Chavasse, looked like a "black mass" in favor of thermonuclear war, the official news agency Tass reported.

The newspaper attacked a recent sermon by Bishop Chavasse in which he said that a third world war with total destruction and a lingering death for survivors would be a lesser evil than serfdom under a totalitarian domination.

It also referred to Dr. Fisher's recent comment in a book on nuclear policy that "for all I know it is within the providence of God that the human race should destroy itself in this manner."

Pravda commented: "Until now, the Church of England, as well as other churches, prayed to God for the salvation of mankind. Today, the princes of the Church of England pray for its destruction.

"The prayers of the archbishop and bishop look like a black mass, which, according to medieval tradition, was celebrated by the worshippers of Satan."

Wedding Bells Steal Home Economists

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (CP)—College-trained home economists are scarce in Canada because most marry shortly after graduation, the ninth international congress on home economics was told Monday.

Dr. Helen C. Abell of Ottawa submitted a survey of education in home economics in Canada which said:

"In 1957 over 1,000 young women were taking university courses in home economics, but most college-trained home economists marry and either cease or temporarily suspend their activities as wage earners; they are employed as teachers, in industry and by the government, and the demand far exceeds the supply."

The report is one of 12 submitted by countries taking part in the congress, attended by 1,000 home economists from all over the world. The surveys review home economics education in connection with social and economic conditions in each country.

SHARE RESPONSIBILITY

The Canadian report says that Canadians are marrying earlier, living longer and going to school longer. More women are working and "the unquestioned authority of the male is being replaced by a sharing of family authority and responsibility by the husband and wife."

In schools, "education in the improvement of home and family living is an integral part of the education of Canadian youth."

Home economists, not necessarily with special training, improve Canadian homes and family living through organizations like the Canadian Association of Consumers, Women's Institutes, homemaking Clubs, Parent-Teacher Associations and service clubs.

Princess' Banff Residence Has Colorful Background

By DON HANRIGHT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — The unusual interior decor of Princess Margaret's official Banff residence—a big spruce-log mountain lodge—reveals about all that is publicly known of the man who built it.

When the princess dines she sits in a one-armed Swiss chair at a table hand-made of Canadian ash. The hardwood floors of her living room are covered with skins of a tiger shot in India, a mountain lion taken in Alberta, and a Buffalo. Decorations range from the owner's paintings to an English fox - hunting horn, a Byzantine ecclesiastical garment and Georgian silverware.

The man who owns Fairholme lodge and 140-acre Fairholme ranch is Conrad O'Brien-ffrench, about 65, former British cavalry officer, Mountie, world traveller, hunter, mountain climber and artist. He prefers to be addressed as "captain" rather than by his title of Marquis of Castel Thomond.

PERSONAL SUPERVISION

Capt. O'Brien - ffrench, now spending much of his time at a ranch at Hundred Mile House in the B.C. interior's Cariboo country, returned to his lodge here last week to supervise the final preparations for the princess' visit.

It was believed he still was in Banff Monday, but had skillfully eluded all reporters. What is known of him was gleaned from talks with Banff friends. The story was this:

Conrad O'Brien-ffrench — the origin of the name and its spelling is a mystery — was born in London around 1893. He was raised in an old villa in Frascati, Italy—a villa destroyed by Allied bombs after the Germans occupied it during the Second World War.

After spending most of his childhood in Italy, O'Brien-ffrench returned to England briefly before travelling to Canada at age 17 to join the Royal North West Mounted Police. He served with the force in the Calgary area around 1911, then returned to England and joined the 16th Lancers, rising to captain and serving in India and in the First World War. In the Second World War he was in the British Censorship Service in Scotland and Trinidad.

ARDENT ARTIST

He has studied art in every European capital and has done oils wherever he travelled. At one time, he was an art instructor at the Banff School of Fine Arts, a University of Alberta branch here. The lodge walls are covered with his works, ranging from Canadian landscapes to portraits of Trinidad women.

It is believed his income is derived largely from leasing the lodge. It has been rented at a rate of $500 a month.

There were unconfirmed reports that the federal government is paying $100 daily for Princess Margaret's 48-hour stay in it.

The lodge is not luxurious. "The princess doesn't find herself up to her knees in wall-to-wall carpeting," said one tour official.

Capt. O'Brien-ffrench built the lodge himself after, in some manner, becoming one of the few private landowners in Canada's national parks. The 140-acre site is on a rise in open bench-land 4,835 feet above sea level and surrounded by 10,000-foot mountains.

The grounds are covered with pine, spruce and aspen trees. The lodge faces the Bow River Valley, offering a view down the Cascade River which drains Lake Minnewanka, about five miles from Banff townsite.

Movie Gossip...

Anthony Perkins Finds It Better To Go With Crowd Than Walk Alone

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The toughest thing in Hollywood is being a semi-nonconformist, says young Anthony Perkins.

As a result, he no longer goes barefoot or hitch-hikes to the movie studios.

Tony came to town as a kind of off-beat guy. He spoke his mind and did as he pleased. But the town's conventions began closing in on him, and he had to alter his habits.

"The hardest thing is to try to go halfway in non-conformity in Hollywood," he said. "Either you have to be a total non-conformist or you might as well conform all the way.

"Only a few can get away with non-conforming. You take a fellow like Marlon Brando. After a while, people get used to his being independent. When he does something that doesn't fit the pattern, people say, 'well, that's Brando for you.'

TAKE EASY WAY

"Most of the others merely take the easy way out and conform."

If he's so set against it, why doesn't he fight the system?

"I don't have the guts," he confessed. "You've got to have complete independence to be a non-conformist. But I worry about the consequences.

"For instance, maybe I don't like the way a scene is going in a picture. I'd like to call a halt and argue it out with the director. But I don't. I'm afraid people will say, 'that Tony Perkins—what a temperamental jerk.'"

Tony illustrated with his early experience. He's a guy who likes to go without shoes. No affectation—he just likes being barefoot. "But I got so tired of people asking me about it and saying I was eccentric, I gave it up."

STUDIO STEPS IN

Another thing—he used to hitch-hike to the studio when he made pictures like Friendly Persuasion. It seemed like a natural mode of transportation for a kid who did not drive. But his studio used some of its own friendly persuasion and convinced Tony he should learn to use a car.

Tony is back here to star with Audrey Hepburn in Green Mansions after his Broadway hit in Look Homeward, Angel.

Skin Scroll and Buckskin Costume Made for Princess by Indian

By RICHARD NCO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — Princess Margaret Monday received a complete white buckskin costume of an Indian chief's daughter.

Appearing fresh and rested, the princess accepted the dress, moccasins and headdress of a Stoney Tribe princess before continuing her tour of the Canadian Rockies surrounding this summer resort town.

The princess arrived here Saturday night after her busy two-week centennial visit to British Columbia and has rested in a secluded mountain lodge most of the time. She leaves for Calgary early Tuesday.

Dressed in a pink and white dotted summer dress, close-fitting feather hat and slung-back tan pumps, she was given the Indian costume by Miss Eleanor Luxton during a brief ceremony on a blue carpet spread over the New Trans - Canada Highway east of town.

PAINTED SCROLL

She also received a scroll, painted with two Indian heads and teepees, and written in syllabics, a universal Indian language invented by an early Methodist missionary to Western Canada.

The scroll and costume, made of the velvety skin of Canadian mountain deer and stitched by 67-year-old Leah Simeon of the Stoneys, was handed over in a message of welcome by Miss Luxton, long - time friend and historian of the Indian and great-granddaughter of early missionary Rev. George McDougall.

The syllabic-written skin scolll reminded the princess of the high esteem the Stoney Indians held for their "great white mother, Queen Victoria." It also told of other members of royalty who had been received by the tribe—the Duke of Connaught and the Prince of Wales, now the Duke of Windsor.

No Indians were present at the ceremony but a crowd of about 200 tourists and Banff residents shouted as Princess Margaret drove to a stop in a convertible after a whirl-wind inspection of the nearby Canadian Army cadet camp.

John Gray Says Money Transfers Did Not "Look Right" to Him

VANCOUVER (CP)—One of the accused in the Sommers bribery-conspiracy trial testified Monday that at the time transfers of varying sums were being made through his account to that of a company, he remarked that the transactions "didn't look right."

John Gray, a director of Pacific Coast Services Limited and brother of its president H. W. Gray, was questioned persistently by assistant prosecutor Stewart McMorran as to his reactions when former Pacific bookeeper Charles Eversfield asked him to sign cheques to put funds through his own personal account into that of Evergreen Lumber sales.

Gray repeated again and again that Eversfield assured him they were internal transfers for income tax purposes and they had nothing to do with him.

McMorran: "You told Eversfield that the transactions didn't look right?"

Gray: "Yes, I said it didn't look right for a company and its accountant to be transferring funds through an employee of the company that way."

PERSONAL PROBLEMS

The witness continued that he was going through a serious personal situation at the time — his wife was very ill. He said he finally told Eversfield that he "didn't want anything further to do with these internal manoeuvres here—that I didn't want to be bothered with them."

Charged with the Gray brothers are former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers, Charles D. Schultz, C. D. Schultz Company Limited, the Pacific and Evergree firms and B.C. Forest Products Limited.

The Crown alleges that Sommers, H. W. Gray and Schultz split money paid as bribes in connection with issuance of government timber licences. It bases its cases mainly on documents taken from Pacific files by Eversfield when he left the firm in March 1955.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Rookie Officer Has Busy Day

VANCOUVER (CP)—A rookie policeman started his career in an onslaught of action here early today.

Constable John Lucy, who graduated from the police training academy Friday, and his partner, Bill Kirk, were checking a building when burglars blew a safe inside.

Two suspects fled, one from the front door and the other from the southeast corner of the building with Lucy in pursuit.

The two officers arrested one of the suspects after Lucy chased him onto the roof of a building. The other made good his escape.

Lucy had been on patrol for less than two hours.

MARKET TRENDS

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices were generally higher Monday at the close of moderate trading on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges.

Generally strong spots were the papers, base metals and refining oils and pipelines, although Trans Mountain dropped a point at 60. Trans-Canada Pipe went up 1⅜ to 28⅜, and McColl at 61 was up 2. A small volume of Crown Zellerbach sold at 48½, up 2¾.

In other groups, Seagrams went up ⅞ to 29⅜ and Calgary Power at 70 was up one.

Senior mines and oils were up. Calgary and Edmonton at 26¾ was up 3⅛.

Penny issues were irregularly lower.

Closing averages: Banks up 0.18 at a new high of 52.45, utilities up 0.3 at 139.9, industrials up 1.0 at 273.7, combined up 0.8 at a new high of 229.1, papers up 0.2 at 380.0 and golds off 0.96 at 70.65.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market resisted profit taking Monday and moved up a notch to still another high for the year in heavy trading.

Wall Street sources said that President Eisenhower's request for an $8,000,000,000 increase in the government's debt limit reemphasized the inflationary aspect of the economy. Another boost in the steel industry operating rate, talk of higher aluminum prices and reports of steel buying for 1959, model cars were other background factors.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 40 cents to a 1958 peak of $183.10 with the industrials up 70 cents, the rails up 40 cents (both to highs for the year) and the utilities off 10 cents.

Favorable Wall Street comment on Anaconda boosted this stock 1⅜. Other copper shares rose in sympathy.

Canadian issues on the New York exchange generally rose. Two exceptions were Aluminium Ltd and Canadian Pacific, each down ¼. Distillers - Seagrams gained ⅜. International Nickel advanced ⅛. Hudson Bay Mining was up 1¼. McIntyre Porcupine rose 1½.

American Stock Exchange prices also were generally higher. Among Canadian issues, Brazilian Traction and Jupiter Oils gained ¼. Canadian Marconi dropped ⅛. Eureka, Sapphire Petroleums and Scurry-Rainbow Oil dropped 1-16. Molybdenite, Fargo Oil and Richwell climbed 1-16. Preston East Dome was off ⅛.

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials and base metals swept the stock market forward Monday amid a deluge of closing sales.

Among industrials gains of 1½ points went to Ford A, at 88, and Trans Canada Pipe Line, at 29. Salada-Sherriff A was up 1 at 23 while ½-point increases went to Bell, Imperial Oil, and International Nickel.

Senior mines were exceptional, a Hudson Bay Mining was the leader, up 1⅞ at 51⅞.

Home Oil stocks led western oils. Rumors of refinancing and reorganization led to a 1? gain at 21⅞ for Home A while B was up 1¼ at 21⅜. Most other gains were fractional.

Golds, the standouts in the closing sessions last week, were lightly traded and changes were generally small.

Action was light among speculatives. New Hosco was one of the most active, dipping 50 cents at $2.80.

Durelle Seeks Bout With Moore

NEW YORK (AP)—Lew Meyers, co-manager of New Brunswick's Yvon Durelle, said Monday he hoped to talk with President Truman Gibson of the International Boxing Club today about a world title match with light heavyweight champion Archie Moore. Meyers indicated a mid-October date was a possibility.

Montreal promoter Eddie Quinn wants to land the fight. So does promoter Earl Kalani of Vancouver who has contracted Chris Shaban, Durelle's other manager.

"Kalani has the $100,000 that Moore wants for a fight," said Shaban in Moncton, N.B. "All I have to do is sign. However, I think I may be able to get a better financial deal in Montreal, and Yvon would be more at home there. We'll wait and see what happens Tuesday."

Todd Retains Title

SYDNEY (AP) — Billy Todd, Australian welterweight boxing champion, retained his title at Sydney Stadium Monday night when he outpointed Derby Brown, former British Empire champion.

Brown suffered a badly-cut eye early in the 15-round bout.

DeBiase Decisions Archer

NEW YORK (AP)—Tony DiBiase opened cuts around both of Jimmy Archer's eyes Monday night on the way to a unanimous decision at St. Nicholas Arena.

Archer weighed 149¼, DiBiase 151 pounds. Both are New Yorkers.

Dr. Samuel Swetnick of the New York State Athletic Commission visited Archer's corner to look at the cuts after the first, second, fourth and sixth rounds. Each time he signalled referee Harry Ebbets to let it continue.

Archer pressed the action while DiBiase cut loose with counter flurries.

Judges Tony Castellano and Jack Gordon had it 5-4-1 for DiBiase. Referee Harry Ebbets scored it 6-4 for DiBiase.

U.S. Athlete Breaks World Record

MOSCOW (AP) — Rafer Johnson of Los Angeles gave one of the greatest all-around athletic performances of modern times in winning the rugged 10-sport decathlon which featured the two-day track and field meet between the U. S. and the Soviet Union.

Johnson scored a world record 8302 points to 7897 for his top Russian rival, Vasily Kuznetsov, in the competition which wound up Monday. But it wasn't enough to give the U. S. the unofficial championship, which went to the home athletes, 172 to 170 points.

U. S. track officials claimed afterwards that they had been crossed up by the Russians on the scoring system. They said they had understood this would not be one dual meet, but two competitions, for men and women. They claimed the men's title, 126 to 109. The Russian women were superior 63-44.

Johnson won five of the 10 events in the decathlon—the 100-metre dash, 400-metre run, discus, shot put and javelin.

He finished second in the broad jump, and 110-metre hurdles, third in the high jump and pole vault and fourth in the 1500-metre metric mile run, last event on the card.

DeLuca Gets Second Chance

TORONTO (CP) — Tackle Sam DeLuca, who quit the Toronto Argonauts football camp Friday, has been given another chance to make the team, head coach Hamp Pool said Monday.

Pool disclosed that the former New York Giants lineman came to him and requested that he be allowed to rejoin the club. His departure followed what Pool called a "misunderstanding" between them.

DeLuca, the club's best lineman in the final half of last season, came to the Big Four club in mid-season 1957 on loan from the Giants.

Havana Cuban Giants In Nelson Thursday

The 1958 edition of the Havana Cuban Giants baseball team, fast, hard-hitting and with plenty of pepper pot players, meet Nelson Outlaws here Thursday evening.

The Giants are on their eighth coast to coast tour in which they are playing 120 games against top league and independent clubs.

They carry a squad of 21 players, including a mound staff of eight hurlers.

Advance word has it that the Cubans have one of the strongest teams they have ever assembled, picked over hundreds of players for the tour.

The Cubans have placed many players in the major and minor leagues.

Manager of this year's team is Modesto (Mike) Peroz, an active catcher who has played in Mexican league for four years, with Charlotte in Class A and Louisville of the American Association.

Grid Cup Goes To Cranbrook

FERNIE — Cranbrook Rovers won the Crow's Nest Pass Football League central cup in a three team round-robin tournament played in Fernie Sunday by winning both their games. They defeated Fernie 2-0 and Michel 1-0.

In the tournament opener Cranbrook defeated Fernie 2-0 with Sherbo scoring also in the first half and John Pesce in the second.

In the second frame Fernie was eliminated when defeated 4-1 by Michel Buffaloes. All the scoring was in the second half, Michel scorers being Charlie Anselmo, John Finkner, Bob Glasgow, and Frank Donaloud. Fernie's goal was scored by Hans Otto.

The third game between Michel and Cranbrook Rovers was the best of the day with speedy, skillful and rugged play being displayed by both teams. With better team work, Rovers held a slight edge and earned their 1-0 win on Joe Pagarut's goal late in the second half.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The cellar-dwelling Los Angeles Dodgers dumped three players Monday and brought up three from the minor leagues, two of them pitchers.

The team announced these changes:

Pitcher Ed Roebuck goes into voluntary retirement, at his request.

Infielder Dick Gray, optioned to St. Paul of the American Association.

Pitcher Bobby Giallombardo, optioned to Montreal of the International League.

Pitcher Werner (Babe) Birrer, brought up from Montreal. He has a 12-5 record this season.

Infielder Bobby Lillis, recalled from St. Paul, effective Aug. 8.

Pitcher Danny McDevitt, recalled from St. Paul, effective immediately. He has a 9-4 record.

The shuffle came on the heels of an announcement from general manager Buzzie Bavasi saying there would be some player changes, but that manager Walt Alston stays.

Cerv Captures League Bat Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Big Bob Cerv of Kansas City, who suffered a fractured jaw May 16 and couldn't eat solid foods for more than a month, fattened up on Baltimore pitching during the weekend to take over the American League batting lead with a .330 average.

The Athletics' star outfielder moved past Cleveland's Vic Power, now second, and Chicago's Billy Goodman.

Pete Runnels of Boston, last week's leader, fell into a fourth place tie with Nellie Fox of Chicago at .324.

In the National League, Willie Mays of San Francisco picked up 10 points on pace-setting Stan Musial of St. Louis.

Musial slumped seven points to .354. Mays climbed three points to .347.

Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia took over third place at .331.

Pittsburgh's Frank Thomas moved into the National circuit's home run lead. He walloped a pair, giving him 28. Ernie Banks of Chicago is runner-up with 27. Banks leads in runs batted in with 80.

Jackie Jensen of Boston remained on top in the American League home run and RBI races. He has 29 circuit blows and 89 runs batted in.

Bedard Holding Own in Singles

By PETER BUCKLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's main hope for men's singles honors moved through their first matches Monday with straight-set victories in energy-sapping heat at the Canadian tennis championships.

Bob Bedard, defending his singles title and chasing a third men's crown in four years, sweated past husky Len Moxom of Vancouver 6-3, 6-3.

Bedard, 26, of Sherbrooke, Que., was given a run at the start of the match, but his accuracy proved too much for his unseeded opponent. Bedard is first-seeded Canadian.

The No. 2 Canadian, Don Fontana of Toronto, had even less difficulty disposing of John Garbor of San Francisco, 6-2, 6-2.

Like everyone else who took to the grass courts at the Vancouver Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club, they returned from their matches soaked with perspiration. By mid-afternoon the temperature was 90 in the shade.

Bedard and Fontana were the first of the seeded players to move out on the nine grass courts. Other top entries were scheduled for later showings.

The first day of the six-day tournament was set aside for reducing the heavy entry lists in men's and women's singles. Not counting defaults, 96 men and 37 women were entered in the singles.

The women's rankings got a jolt when top-seeded foreign singles competitor defaulted. Patty Miller of Portland, Ore., ranked at the head of a large American field in the singles, pulled out of her first match when she feared commitments next week in the eastern United States would prevent her from finishing if she reached the finals here.

There were no surprises in the men's singles.

The four top Canadians all moved ahead and their foreign competitors followed suit.

Kosei Kamo, the slight young New York importer and Japanese national champion, eliminated Ted Deeks of Vancouver 6-0, 6-0. Kamo is ranked third among the non-Canadians.

Fourth-ranked foreigner Glen Bassett of Santa Monica, Calif., dumped Geoffrey Parkinson of Vancouver, 6-0, 6-1.

ADJUSTS TO GRASS

Louis Surville, the Australian-born Vancouver clay courts champion, adjusted well to the grass at the Vancouver Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club as he put away Martin Diamond of Berkeley, Calif., 6-2, 6-3. Surville was rated fourth among the Canadians.

Third - ranked Canadian, Paul Willey of Vancouver, favoring a pulled ligament in his leg, nevertheless defeated Ron Sandys, La Jolla, Calif., 6-2, 6-4.

Carter Retired Permanently

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The California State Athletic Commission announced Monday that Jimmy Carter, former lightweight champion of the world, has been placed on the permanently retired and unavailable list "in the best interests of boxing."

A commission spokesman said Chief Inspector Clayton Frye watched Carter in action last week against Jimmy Grow and concluded the ex-champion's reflexes were inadequate.

Carter was credited with a TKO when Grow's eye was slashed.

Formality, but Important

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP) — Charlie Cooper learned — the hard way — that there are certain formalities to follow when hitting a home run. One is that all bases must be touched.

Playing centrefield for Kent Panthers of the Western Panthers of the Western Counties Intermediate League Charlie slammed the ball over the fence in the fith inning of a game against Sarnia Braves.

As his mates mobbed him, the Sarnia catcher tagged him. Charlie hadn't touched third base.

In the seventh inning with two men on base, Charlie again hit the ball over the fence which would have given his team a 5-2 lead.

He missed third again.

Panthers, however, won 4-2.
