25 Floats To Add Color to Parade

100 To Participate in Mile-Long Procession

By JOHN SHORT

KIMBERLEY—At least 25 floats will participate today in the third annual Snow Fiesta parade, an event that will cover nearly a mile along four of Kimberley's streets, involve an estimated 100 people and provide nearly half an hour of pleasant view. Parade marshal John Rokosh, a member of the Kinsmen Club, which agreed to contribute time and effort toward the parade, told the Daily News that expectedly B.C.'s Lieut.-Gov. Frank Ross will not take part in the actual parade. A change of plans has been made which will see him along with a host of other dignitaries on the reviewing stand beside the snowman in front of the post office.

Floats sponsored by local and district business firms, the Kimberley and Cranbrook Kinsmen clubs, Marysville Business Men's Association and the Junior Forest Wardens of B. C. will serve to carry visiting beauty queens, Century Sam and the three contestants for the title of Snow Fiesta queen, as well as reigning queen Florence Brown.

Mr. Rokosh, who will lead the parade on a white horse if, he says, the horse doesn't buck him off "and it likely won't", said a big feature of the parade will be seven bands from the Kootenay region. Visiting beauties include Miss Greater Spokane, the Lady of the Lake from the Kelowna Regatta, Queen of the Valley from the Windermere district and perhaps others may show up.

With an almost certain minimum of 100 participants, parade marshal Rokosh said he believes the parade will be one of the biggest participation-events the Fiesta will have, excluding of course, the mammoth Mardi Gras at McKim Junior High School Friday night which attracted upwards of 430 people. The parade was due to start in front of the Junior High, proceed along Rotary Drive, Wallinger, Spokane and Deer Park Streets in Kimberley before disbanding.

LLOYD'S JOB SAFE SO FAR

LONDON (CP)— Selwyn Lloyd's job as Britain's foreign secretary appears to be safe for at least a little while longer.

Government sources close to Prime Minister Macmillan indicated Friday night that, because of the crucial state of world affairs, the 53-year-old foreign secretary was not likely to be dropped for the time being.

But as the long-time anti-Lloyd sniping swelled suddenly into a barrage, the word in Whitehall was that the prime minister could not afford indefinitely to carry on without changing his foreign secretary.

The Macmillan government already has been jolted by adverse electoral results. It is trying hard to provide a basis for restoring a bi-partisan foreign policy just when prospects of an east-west summit conference seem to be strengthening. And there are rising demands that Britain must contribute greater vision, force and clarity to the efforts of the allies to underpin world peace.

FIND PLANE WAS INTACT WHEN IT CRASHED

MONTREAL (CP) — Experts who examined the wreckage of a DC-4 airliner that crashed in a Quebec bog last August with the loss of 79 lives agreed Friday the plane was intact when it crashed.

Their testimony still left the real cause of the crash—Canada's worst aviation disaster—an unsolved mystery.

Should Take Own Medicine?

VANCOUVER (CP) — An American heart specialist says it's high time doctors heeded their own advice and gave their tickers a break.

The specialist, Dr. George C. Griffithe, director of the American Heart Foundation, told a dinner audience Thursday that 60 per cent of all doctors die of heart disease.

The dinner was sponsored by the B. C. Heart Foundation.

Dr. Griffithe said doctors are negligent where their own health is concerned. He advised doctors to avoid fats in their diets, exercise regularly, take more time for relaxation and avoid sudden strenuous exertion.

Minister Says Mine Closing May Help Fernie

VICTORIA (CP) — The city of Fernie may boom because of the coal mine shut-down in that city, Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle C. Westwood said in the legislature Friday.

Mr. Westwood, leading off the budget debate, said the mine closing may be the best thing that ever happened to Fernie.

He drew a parallel to the time "many years ago" when Nanaimo's coal mines closed down and said he "can feel sympathy with Fernie."

Civic officials from the city of Fernie say the city is threatened with extinction because the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company's mine there is closing down. The mine is the city's basic industry.

"From the time the Nanaimo mines closed down the city has never looked back," Mr. Westwood said.

"I suggest the same thing will apply to Fernie."

The city should start looking around for another type of industry.

CREW OF 22 STILL SOUGHT

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The fate of 22 men in a missing U. S. Navy plane was still in doubt on Friday night after two days of intensive searching over the Atlantic.

Search planes reported sighting a red flare and several small lights in the ocean but no other trace of the big four-engine radar plane was found.

A U. S. Navy spokesman at Argentia, Nfld., said 50 U. S., Canadian and Portuguese planes and 18 U. S. Navy ships searched Friday.

WILDERNESS GIRL Janet Benson has been "discovered" by civilization and she is giving up her sled dogs and trap lines for a quick jaunt by air to Toronto. Janet lives in the wild Saganaga Lake country, Ontario, and, with her mother, traps beaver, mink and otter in a 90-square-mile territory, often living alone in the bushland for months. An airplane will drop beside her log cabin to transport her to Fort William for her trip by train to Toronto, where she will appear on television shows and at women's clubs.

Oil Import Curbs Not Felt Yet Here

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has suffered no apparent ill effects from the voluntary oil import curbs ordered by the U. S., and Canadian protests evidently were aimed at possible future effects.

Since last August output of Prairie wells has been steadily declining. The sharpest production cutbacks followed the Christmas Eve announcement of the import restrictions, but qualified government sources here say the two developments are unrelated.

The quota established by President Eisenhower's advisory committee on petroleum now is much higher than actual shipments of Canadian crude to the area.

The big import reductions in the U. S. Pacific Northwest are attributed to a variety of factors—chiefly a general economic slowdown and overstocks at some refineries in the area.

The huge market for Canadian oil in California, which developed during the Suez crisis, vanished when tanker rates dropped and ships again became available to move crude petroleum from South America, the Middle and Far East.

Officials here, however, fear the U. S. government, acting under pressure from American independent producers, in the future may scale down still more the "voluntary" quotas to a point where they would seriously hurt the Canadian industry. The independent companies are those which have no oil fields outside the U. S.

Similar views are expressed by Canadian industry spokesmen, who view the curbs as an entirely new risk element in what is considered now an extremely risky business.

Two Scouts To Get Silver Cross

OTTAWA (CP) — Two young Ontario scouts will receive the Silver Cross, second-highest bravery award of scouting, for "gallantry with considerable risk."

They are Scouts John Bateman, 15, of Willowdale, who rescued a two-year-old girl from a runaway motorboat, and David Norton, 12, of St. Catharines, who helped save a chum from the Old Welland Canal at Port Dalhousie.

The two top a list of 59 scouts and officials receiving honors and awards recognizing bravery and services to scouting. Announcement of the awards coincides with the 100th anniversary of the birth of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the movement.

Among others receiving awards will be Donald Gordon Shannon, 15, of Riondel, B.C., who will receive a certificate of merit for gallantry.

140,000 NEW HOUSING STARTS PREDICTED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Public Works Minister Howard Green predicted Friday night that a record 140,000 starts will be made on housing units in Canada this year.

He made the statement at a convention which nominated him as candidate for Vancouver-Quadra. Elected to the House of Commons first in 1935, Mr. Green has represented Vancouver - Quadra since 1949.

Mr. Green said the Progressive Conservative government moved faster than any other government in history to relieve unemployment.

A total of $212,000,000 was made available in loans or committed for housing. This represented 22,000 housing units and 100,000 jobs.

Other steps taken to counteract unemployment were construction of access roads in the north country and assigning $100,000,000 for defence production.

Herridge to Speak To Mine-Mill Men

H. W. Herridge, MP for Kootenay West and CCF candidate in the March 31 federal election, Friday left for Winnipeg. He will address the national convention of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Monday.

Churchill Recovering

ROQUEBRUNE CAP MARTIN, France (CP) — Sir Winston Churchill appeared on his way Friday night to winning his battle with pneumonia.

Doctors said the 83-year-old statesman's condition showed "very definite improvement" and that the pneumonia is clearing up. Churchill remains in bed but his secretary reported he is in excellent spirits.

UN Leaves Sudan, Egypt To Resolve Difficulties

Permanent Education Group To Carry on

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Conference on Education, assured there is nothing wrong with schooling in Canada that millions of dollars couldn't put right, dispersed Friday to the corners of the country, leaving behind a permanent organization to carry on its work.

The 850 delegates to what had been billed as the broadest-based conference on any subject in Canada's history, were en route home with mixed opinions of what had been accomplished.

Called to consider the "crisis" in Canada's education, they found that after 4½ days of spirited, critical discussion on eight specific aspects of the problem, little of what they thought they had learned was reflected in the 32 generally-phrased resolutions that ultimately were passed.

The approved recommendations included hiher federal grants for universities, technological institutes and adult education, federal-provincial grants for handicapped children, similar payments towards the eradication of education inequalities throughout the country, and equalization grants by the provinces to ensure equal education opportunities within their own areas.

A teacher - qualification target of a four-year degree course or its equivalent was set, with the suggestion that no permanent certificates be issued henceforth to candidates without that standard.

Observers said the country can't wait that long for teachers it needs now, and that existing colleges are not set up to cope with the volume of students such courses would keep on their hands so much longer.

Apart from a watered-down resolution advocating "equal opportunities in education for all Canadian children", the conference produced nothing in answer to what had been a fundamental question — the kind of education needed for intelligent citizens, regardless of level, in the advancing space era.

RCA Indicted

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal grand jury Friday indicted the Radio Corporation of America on charges of monopolizing the electronics equipment field. The criminal accusation was brought under anti-trust laws.

The jury claimed that RCA controls more than 10,000 patents covering radio and television equipment and also electronic devices used in radar and guided missiles.

Snow Conditions Worry Kimberley

KIMBERLEY — Due to the hard work of officials and citizens of Kimberley, Friday's weather, which clambered into the lower 60s on the wide open stops of North Star Mountain, was not expected to cause much more damage to either the slalom run today or the ski jump before Sunday's jumping.

Immediately after the Canadian downhill ski championships had been decided Friday afternoon all competitors were urged to assist in tramping ski jump and most concurred. There is no doubt, however, that another bout with the supremely pleasant, but bothersome, weather will dig more furrows into the brows of officials of the third annual Kimberley Snow Fiesta.

Big concern with the weather, of course, is the fear of lowering times and distances in the slalom and jumping but the weather is almost certain to provide handicaps for those associated with today's parade. Fortunately the parade is the only event, apart from the Canadian championships, which depends upon good weather for its success.

DOLLAR LOWER

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian dollar was down 5-64 at a premium of 2 1-64 per cent in terms of U.S. funds Friday. The pound sterling was unchanged at $2.81-23-32.

Egypt Assures Secretary-General Will Not Aggravate Border Trouble

UNITED NATIONS,, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations Security Council Friday tossed back the Egyptian-Sudanese border issue to private negotiations between the two Arab neighbor countries.

It acted after Egypt announced a willingness to resume the negotiations with Sudan after the Sudanese parliamentary elections which begin for 10 days Feb. 27.

Sudan brought the issue to the council Thursday after negotiations broke down in Cairo.

The council will continue to keep the issue on its books and promised to meet should the situation become grave on the border.

The key factor in the council's decision was an Egyptian announcement that it had assured Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold it would take no action to aggravate the border situation. Hammarskjold had asked for such assurance.

NO RESOLUTION

There was no formal resolution before the council, but Soviet delegate Arkady A. Sobolev, this month's president, summed up its position after hearing breif speeches from a number of delegates.

He took note of the Egyptian statement and added "it goes without saying the Sudanese question continues to figure on the agenda of the Security Council."

Sudan had requested a meeting of the council to halt an "impending Egyptian aggression" in the frontier area. Both Egypt and Sudan are claiming two border regions — one a triangle along the Red Sea and the other a sliver along the Nile. They involved about 2000 square miles north of the 22nd parallel.

Sudanese Ambassador Yacoub Osman told the council that deferring negotiations until after the elections would be "in the interest of good, friendly relations" between the two countries.

CAIRO (AP) — An Egyptian spokesman said Friday Sudanese have seized an Egyptian boat and two barges on the Nile in an area north of Wadi Halfa.

Wadi Halfa is a village of about 12,000 in the Sudan just south of the Egyptian border.

The Sudanese earlier had claimed the boat was carrying light automatic weapons and its passengers were military personnel in disguise.

Stumping With The Leaders

EDMONTON (CP) — The Social Credit party is placing increased emphasis on monetary reform — "the economy demands it"—Solon Low told a press conference here Friday.

A "realistic" 10-point election platform was outlined by the national Social Credit Leader, who said his party is "not trying to raise the pot on anybody" in making promises "nobody could possibly implement."

Provision for a periodic national dividend for all Canadian consumers was made in the first point of the Social Credit program.

An extensive farm program was announced by Mr. Low.

Also proposed was a two-price system for farm products, at parity prices for those sold on the domestic market.

Other measures proposed included low-interest loans to farmers and home-builders, acceptance of foreign currencies for farm products, and extension of the national hospital insurance plan to include mental, tubercular and the chronically ill patients.

The Social Credit leader said the party would nominate candidates in every constituency in Alberta and B. C., and "seven or eight, and possibly 10 in Manitoba." The situation was not yet clear in Saskatchewan.

In Ontario, 10 supporters had signified they would run in the 14-seat Toronto area, and two candidates had been nominated in Quebec. One candidate has been nominated in Nova Scotia and three or four would be named in New Brunswick.

PEARSON QUIZZED

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Lester B. Pearson said Friday he had to admit—"though not cheerfully" —that the attitude of the United States is one reason why Canada has not recognized Communist China but it was not the governing factor.

There were such other reasons as the controversy the issue had aroused in Canada and the attitude of the Peiping government which demanded that recognition be given its ownership of the island of Formosa. The Liberal leader said he would never agree to that.

He touched on this and a number of other issues as he opened himself to the "inquisition" of some 800 University of Western Ontario students who jammed into the convocation hall to question the former external affairs minister.

About 300 students had to be turned away because of a lack of seats.

Mr. Pearson, in reply to questions, said if the Liberals won the March 31 election he would "press hard" for a permanent United Nations police force and a strengthening of the North Atlantic alliance in an economic way to halt "the danger of its falling apart."

SHELL OF A PROGRAM

MORSE, Sask. (CP) — C C F Leader Coldwell said Friday night the government's farm prices stabilization legislation is "only a shell of a program—attractive on the outside and empty on the inside."

The legislation was passed at the last session of Parliament but has not yet come into force. It provides for floor prices on certain farm commodities based on the average price in the preceding 10 years.

Mr. Coldwell, speaking at a public meeting here, said the Canadian Federation of Agriculture has already calculated that the floor prices will be set at less than current prices.

"It (the legislation) may seem to promise security for the farmer but it does not. The greater the drop in farm prices, the lower the floor price. Even if farm costs continue to rise, the floor price remains unaffected.

GANDER, Nfld. (CP) — With a promise to return to Newfoundland when the salmon are running, Prime Minister Diefenbaker Friday wound up his election tour in this province and headed by plane into Quebec.

The Progressive Conservative leader, campaigning in low gear throughout an easy-going day, made three railway whistle stops on a 60-mile trip here from Grand Falls, visited a hospital and sipped tea at this air terminal, but made no major speeches.

Bryan Wants Bennett Probe "Packed" Issue

VICTORIA (CP) — Rebel Social Credit MLA Mel Bryan Friday challenged Premier Bennett to investigate charges that he "packed" the convention which nominated him Social Credit candidate for North Vancouver.

Mr. Bryan, who crossed the floor of the legislature Feb. 3 to sit as an independent in protest against the government's handling of the Sommers bribery-conspiracy case, made the challenge in a speech in the budget debate.

The charges that the convention was "packed" were made by the premier when Mr. Bryan crossed the floor of the House.

Making his first speech as an Independent, Mr. Bryan said Friday "it is only fair that an investigation should be conducted into the premier's charges about my nominating convention."

"I would welcome the investigation and I challenge the premier to bring into this house the results of that investigation," he said.

"I can assure you it won't be me who will be embarrassed. And besides, it will open up for discussion by this house an entirely new field—an intriguing field—the whole subject of Social Credit nominating conventions."

Mr. Bryan called Premier Bennett's "personal attack" on him when he crossed the floor, a display of "ridiculous childlishness."

Premier Bennett was absent from the House when Bryan made his speech.

Feared Investigation . . .

Eversfield Tells of Taking Pacific Documents to U.S.

By H. L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — A crown witness testified Friday he removed records from the files of one of the companies now charged in the Sommers bribery-conspiracy case, carted them off to California in a trunk and later returned them to Canada to spark an investigation which led to the present charges.

Charles Eversfield, 46-year-old former Pacific Coast Services Limited bookkeeper, said under defence cross-examination that he took the documents from Pacific offices because of his "apprehension" of an investigation.

He said officers of Pacific, including company president H. W. Gray, were apprehensive that an investigation might uncover a fund from which certain monies were to be split three ways between Pacific, the C. D. Schultz Company and former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers.

He said this apprehension increased when Gray learned the matter had been discussed in government circles in Victoria and was mentioned in the legislature. He said there was increasing awareness in Pacific offices early in 1955 to make the operation of the split fund "the least traceable possible."

SAW PHOTOSTATS

Eversfield, chief crown witness in the case involving Sommers, three other individuals and four companies, testified that Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy first saw the photostatic and other documents in Los Angeles. Later the documents had been gone over in Vancouver by Mr. Sturdy and by J. Gordon Gibson, wealthy B.C. lumber man and former MLA. He said a Ronald Howard also was at the Vancouver meeting.

The accountant told defence counsel Alfred Bull that he took the documents after realizing a conspiracy existed. He said he thought he might be called as a witness before the Lord commission on forest management licences in February, 1955, and wanted the records to substantiate anything he might be called on to say.

For Eversfield it was his fourth day in the witness box in preliminary hearing of the crown's charge that Sommers while minister took bribes worth some $15,000 in connection with issuance of lucrative forest management licences to certain firms.

And in This Corner . . . .

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lincoln White said the Reds can try until they're blue in the face but that can't change white to black.

White is the state department press chief. He made the statement at a press conference Thursday, denouncing new charges by Communist China that the United States was the aggressor in Korea.

A reporter told White his statement was a "very colorful" one. The greying White turned crimson, then joined in the laughter.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Want to be the life of the party? Dream of tossing off uproarious quips?

If you do, man, you're sick.

That diagnosis comes from a psychiatrist, Dr. Martin Grotjahn of the University of Southern California.

"A wit," says Dr. Grotjahn, "is an angry man in search of a victim. A witticism is his way of releasing repressed hostility. If he doesn't find a victim, he will probably suffer from a migraine headache attack.

"A witticism starts with an aggressive tendency or intent—an insult-like, shocking thought. By clothing the insult with the veneer of laughter and the convention of a joke, the wit brings his bottled-up hostilities to the surface in a manner acceptable to society.

"If the wit didn't have this outlet, a headache might occur. Thus, a thought murder (the witticism) a day keeps the doctor away."

Council Protests CPR Train Cut

TRAIL (CP)—City Council will seek an explanation from the federal transport department for the reduction of service on the CPR Kettle Valley line between the West Kootenays and the coast.

Mayor L. A. Read said: "It is a little disturbing that we are supposed to have some peace of mind and that a mainline railway has to curtail service because of threatened bombings.

"Something is wrong. There must be an answer. If the government can't handle the situation, why don't we get someone who can."

The mother thought the boy would recover if at home and said she did not believe in doctors.

L. S. Gansner appeared for the superintendent of child welfare and J. T. Steeves of Vancouver for the mother.

$75,000 on Telephones For Nelson Exchange

B. C. Telephone Company officials report that projects costing more than $75,000 are either under way or scheduled to begin shortly in the Nelson exchange area.

A crew under the supervision of foreman John MacLean is placing additional crossarms and open wire circuits on the North Shore of the West Arm of Kootenay Lake and cable extensions are planned for the business and residential districts of the city itself. An indication of the extent of these additions is that the cable—much of which will be underground—contains more than 2000 miles of wire.

"These projects are aimed primarily at reducing the number of subscribers on multi-party lines." said V. C. Owen, district commercial and traffic manager at Nelson, "but they will also establish a reserve of plant facilities to meet future telephone requirements."

Mr. Owen revealed that further plans call for three additional positions of switchboard in the Nelson exchange building. The first of these—to handle local calls—will be in operation by April. The remaining two will handle long distance calls and are scheduled for July. These additions will bring the total of positions to 24—12 local and 12 long distance.

"The switchboard additions are necessitated by the increasing amount of local calling, and Nelson's growing importance as a centre handling much of the long distance calling to and from the West Kootenays," said Mr. Owen.

An indication of telephone activity in Nelson is provided by the fact that during December, 1957, more than 450,000 local calls were placed from the 4200 telephones in service in the exchange area—an average of more than 100 calls per month per phone.

MUSIC LOVERS ENJOY PROGRAM

Nelson music-lovers enjoyed a varied program of choral singing featuring fine color and blending, presented by the Gonzaga Glee Club of Spokane Friday night in the Capitol Theatre.

A compact group, under the expert direction of Lyle W. Moore, university men produced some beautiful tones and harmony in a precise and musicianly manner. There were several Canadian members of the choir, one of them, Eric Buckley, conducting fellow members during the singing of the "German Students Song."

The program opened with selections of Vecchi, Ippolitof-Ivanof, Arcadelt and Bach. Soloist Don Laver of Edmonton followed with "Agnus Dei", "Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair" and "Thine Alone".

A wonderful effect was produced in the "Echo Song" by diLasso, with precision tonal and volume quality giving forth an echo illusion quite uncannily.

This was followed by two of Schubert's compositions, "Liebe" and "Widerspruch" and "Viver Lieto".

The accompanist, Robert DeCeunynck, gave fine performances of Scherzo in B-flat by Schumann and Two Fantasie Dances, excellently played.

Several well-known selections, "Vidality" and "Song of the French Partisan", by de Paur, two spirituals, "My Lord, What a Mornin'" and "Were You There?" were rounded off with the "Coyote Prayer" in the Indian dialect, all selections being popular with the audience.

Don Barrows, Dick Troeh, Jim Fletcher and Brian Finegan sang "Old Dan Tucker", "Autumn Leaves" and "Brother and I Went Hunting".

The final portion of the program started off with "The Old Chisholm Trail", with accordion accompaniment; "Sixpence", arrangement by dePaur; "Aura Lee", "Sound Off" in a forceful arrangement.

Director Moore, addressing the audience, said there would be several encore numbers before the final selection on the program.

These included zestful performances by the quartet, solos by Dick Troeh and Mr. Mitchell, the "German Students Song" and the "Whiffenpoof Song" by the choir.

The final selection was the well-liked "There's Nothing Like a Dame" from "South Pacific" by Rogers and Hammerstein.

Odds ... and Ends

... by M. D. B.

I received a letter Thursday from a reader at Slocan City, the kindness friendliest letter a person could wish to receive and from someone I do not know. Its sincerity made me feel both honored and humble. It thanked me for the column, saying it was missed on the days it didn't appear and suggested I try to put one in every day. I also learned the person has lived in the district since 1918, raised a family and watched Nelson grow in the intervening years.

* * *

Nor was frog, my pool or my garden forgotten for I was asked how they were getting along. As I tucked the letter in with others I've received over the past two years I riffled through them. There was the birthday card with a one-year-old button on it and I realized that in less than two weeks the column will be two years old! It seems only a few weeks ago since its first birthday, time has flown so fast.

* * *

Yes, I have kept all your letters in a folder and sometimes when I think, "oh, goodness I've written enough columns" I read a few over and think of all the friends I'd lose touch with and I know it is really worth the effort. If this sounds a little on the sentimental side you'll have to blame that letter, for it warmed my heart no end.

* * *

I would like to be able to write one every day, but it seems as though some days my eyes are out of focus and I simply do not see a single thing to write about and I hate writing you if I have nothing at all to say. I grant you, some days I do this against my better judgment and I am always sorry. Then too, some days the paper is short of space and Odds and Ends gets held over.

* * *

Now as for Frog, I haven't seen him yet, but I don't imagine frogs come out till April or May, or do they? I would tell you my pansies are coming out right and left, but everyone would be phoning me to tell me so are theirs. I have been afraid to do anything in the garden for fear we get that weather that freezes the lake over in March that the oldtimers recall, so I'm just sitting waiting, and wondering.

* * *

Certainly it feels like spring, especially when the sun decides to bless us with a few golden rays and the birds shout their happiness from every tree and even the unpaved street from my place to the avenue is dry enough that I don't need rubbers. I just can't believe that the winter months are about over. But let's all hope that this is really spring and we'll be able to go gardening soon. Thank you all again for your letters and your kind thoughts.

Sincerely,
M.D.B.

STRANGE FIREBALL IN NELSON AREA

Daily News telephone lines were busy Friday evening as reports were received from persons who sighted a brilliantly lighted object flashing through the heavens at "terrific speed".

Reports were varied, some had noticed a "sheet lightning" effect which turned into a large, red fireball; others said "the object had the shape of a giant tea towel flapping in the wind."

One observer reported a "comet-shaped object", while another sighted a "bulb-shaped" light, of great intensity.

N. R. Sardich, who was on Nelson Avenue at about 8:40 p.m., said the phenomenon appeared to come from the mountain directly behind Fairview gravel pit and as it travelled north he thought at first it would hit the residential area near the Blaylock estate. "Boy, was she travelling!" he said.

Reports were also received from Kaslo, one of which claimed an explosion was heard shortly after disappearnce of the object.

The Daily News was unable to obtain explanation for the occurrence and no reports were received from outside this area.

Crescent Valley Man Guilty of Assault

Witnesses at the trial of a Crescent Valley man who was charged with assault here Friday, gave evidence through an interpreter after being sworn Doukhobor fashion on bread, salt and water.

Peter Rezansoff, Crescent Valley, was fined $25 and costs when found guilty of assault on John Lebedoff, Wynndel, on Feb. 7. The offence occurred in Nelson.

On the date of the occurrence, Mr. and Mrs. Lebedoff and friends were walking on Baker Street when Rezansoff crossed over to them and, according to a witness, asked Lebedoff, "How many times have I told you not to come to Nelson?" He then struck Lebedoff.

Mrs. Lebedoff intervened and her husband went towards the bus depot. He told Magistrate R. S. Nelson that he turned on reaching the depot and saw accused hitting Mrs. Lebedoff, whereupon he returned and a fight ensued. A further scuffle occurred later in the bus depot.

Lebedoff said he did not defend himself at first because he did not want trouble. He said Rezansoff had beaten him before.

Mrs. Polly Berikoff, a witness, called police from the bus depot.

Rezansoff said he and another man were waiting for a friend in the depot. He went to look for the missing man. Because Rezansoff and his family had been living in fear of fires at Krestova, threatened by Lebedoff's followers, he decided to speak to Lebedoff. Mrs. Lebedoff grabbed Rezansoff's arms and Lebedoff struck him twice. Rezansoff shook himself free and struck Lebedoff in self-defence. During the fight in the depot, Rezansoff said Lebedoff broke a broom against his head and speared him with the broken end. This Lebedoff denied.

Rezansoff said he was an enemy of Lebedoff. The two belonged to different religious sects. He said Lebedoff had threatened him three years ago when Rezansoff came here from Hilliers, B.C.

Peter Elasoff of Crescent Valley said he was walking near Baker and Hall Streets when the fight took place. Alec Sherstobitoff of Crescent Valley, with Elasoff, said Mrs. Lebedoff called everyone devils.

Sherstobitoff and Elasoff had come to Nelson with Rezansoff in a car belonging to Nick Hadiken.

J. T. Steeves of Vancouver, who appeared for the defence, reminded Magistrate Nelson that Rezansoff had invited Lebedoff, "if you want a fight, come on outside" before the two scuffled in the depot.

Paris Rounds Up 102 Algerians

Paris (Reuters) — Paris police have rounded up 102 suspected Algerian terrorists here in the last 24 hours, including two alleged ringleaders, and seized the complete membership lists for southern Paris of the outlawed Algerian National Liberation Front.

The announcement came while police were still on a city-wide hunt for two North African terrorists who Thursday night murdered a policeman and a member of a rival Algerian nationalist gang.

The two gunmen fired into a cafe, killing one gang rival and wounding another. Chased into a subway station, they surrendered to a policeman—then one killer shot him in the back. In a mounting terrorist campaign in Paris, three policemen have been killed and another eight wounded in the last year.

Reports received in Algeres said French Foreign Legion paratroopers killed 91 nationalist rebels and captured eight Thursday in two clashes south of Guelma in northeastern Algeria.

German Consul Says Views Misinterpreted

VANCOUVER (CP)—The German consul here says his criticism of anti - Nazi propaganda has been misinterpreted.

Dr. Heinrich Liebrecht said "I would be the last one in the world to say a word against criticism of the Nazis—I spent three years in a concentration camp."

"However I don't think its the right time for NATO countries to do anything that would hurt their mutual understanding," he said Thursday in an interview.

London Daily Herald columnist Douglas Swarth reported recently Vancouver's German colony was boycotting television for showing anti-Nazi films.

He quoted Dr. Liebrecht as saying the films showed Nazis "not as normal people but more like criminals, sadists or even idiots."

Swarth wrote: "I'd hate to think that Germans secretly sympathized with the ruthless clique that took slaughter right across Germany."

Dr. Liebrecht said the Gestapo were "criminals and sadists" but apparently some of the television films, although he said he hadn't seen any, pictured the German people generally like this.

Of Swarth's report that he criticized a recent television showing of John Steinbeck's The Moon is Down, Dr. Liebrecht said: "I haven't seen the movie but I understand it is about the underground movement in Norway. If that is so it is an important page from history."

He said some Vancouver Germans had threatened to boycott the firms which sponsored the television movies because they were frightened feeling "would rise against Germans" because of them.

It is hoped that Mr. Clark will arrive in time to attend the meeting of the Creston Valley Artificial Insemination group to be held in the Deer Lodge Hall, Lister, Monday evening, February 24.

To Revise Council Bylaws

FRUITVALE — Redrafting of the constitution and bylaws to be presented at the next meeting of the Advisory Council of the Recreation Commission was ordered at the Council meeting in the Memorial Hall.

It was suggested that the Commission should inform the public on the functions of the Recreation Commission. R. Stangroom, regional consultant was present and A. R. Olson was acting chairman.

The election of the 1958 officers was held with Karl Monk and Mrs. Veitch elected for two-year terms and Glen Cooper and A. Sandrin for a one-year term to fill two vacancies on the Board of Recreation Commission.

Members from the Canadian Legion, its Ladies' Auxiliary and members of the Advisory Council will meet to plan the Centennial Project canvass.

The meeting instructed the commissioners to redraft the constitution and bylaws and present them to the next meeting of the Council for full consideration.

The secretary, Mrs. Walter Veitch and the treasurer, Helmet Kruger gave reports of the 1957 activities of the Council. Treasurer reported that the balance on hand at December 31 was $44.93, with one outstanding bill of $14.00.

Mrs. O. G. Rogers reported on the arrangements for the square dance clinic, the report of its success was given by Mrs. Veitch. This report revealed that 111 people had attended the dance, while 34 had taken part in the clinic conducted by Les Boyer of Okanogan, Wash.

Mr. Stangroom spoke briefly on the responsibilities and duties of a Recreation Commission and Advisory Council stating that it is a co-ordinating group and a service to the community.

Lieut.-Governor And Party Enjoy Fiesta Square Dance

KIMBERLEY — It's alamand left to your corner and a right hand to your own to the tune of the banjo and fiddle swing your partners high and low. The rhythm is old time and the fun is on at the old tune dance held here Thursday night.

A large crowd almost filled the Elks Hall as Kimberley's three square dance organizations played host to each other and the public in one of the most enjoyable evenings of the Snow Fiesta.

Everyone was in a gay mood and many colorful costumes were noted among the dancers. A touch of dignity was added by the presence of Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Frank M. Ross and their party, who seemed to enjoy it as much as the dancers. During a break His Excellency went around the hall and shook hands with everyone.

Lieut.-Governor Ross will not be here for the Chamber of Commerce dinner Saturday as previous engagements make it necessary for him to return to the coast.

Full-Time Bank Service for Fruitvale Later

FRUITVALE — At their recent meeting the Village Board of Commisisoners had two delegations. Hugh McCutcheon, Fruitvale Civil Defence officer, approached the commissioners for a grant for Civil Defence needs. Purchase of waterproof clothing for the volunteer firemen was what the Civil Defence recommended. The delegation received favorable reception and were assured that their request would be budgeted for. The Commisisoners paid high tribute to the work of the Village Volunteer Firemen.

Ron Carter presented a proposed subdivision he and his immediate neighbors are contemplating. Several changes were suggested by the Commissioners, who also outlined the requirements for roads needed in a subdivision. The proposed subdivision was taken back to the people concerned and will be revised according to the suggestions made.

Commissioner Alfred Nuttall, in his road report, stated that every effort was being made to keep the village roads in as good a condition as possible and that as soon as possible in the spring the roads would receive another coat of gravel. He stated that replies had not been received to date on offers made for land to widen Columbia Garden Road, and that unless such reply was received within ten days, arbitration was the only alternative.

In discussion on health needs, the representative to the Kootenay Board of Health, Commissioner Austin Olson was instructed to ask the board to try to locate a dentist in Fruitvale.

A reply was received from the Bank of Montreal on the Commissioners' request for full time banking service in Fruitvale. The reply stated that it had been hoped that such a service could have been inaugurated by now but that growth of business had not warranted such an increase. As soon as business increased to warrant full time opening the matter would be taken up again with the head office and a report would be sent the commissioners on their action.

The clerk, Don Morissette, reported no word had as yet been received from the Edmonton consulting engineers firm on the sewerage system. It was expected to be here by mid-February.

Severe Weather Puts N.Y. State On Emergency Basis

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The entire state of New York was on an emergency basis Friday following an appeal by Governor Averell Harriman for federal aid to the cold, hungry and sick stranded across snowbound wastes.

The weather began to co-operate Friday, too, as winds slackened and temperatures crept up into the 20s.

The discovery of an asphyxiated family of five on a farm home, sending the state's death toll in last weekend's storm up to 44, added emphasis to the governor's call for help for uncounted marooned residents imprisoned by snowbound roads.

In a telegram to federal defence officials, Harriman asked for military helicopters for food drops and for army and air force snow-removal equipment.

CRAWL TO FOOD

Many people "are in desperate condition," he said. "Their fuel and food supplies are near exhaustion. They are without feed for farm animals. All state and local snow removal equipment is being used."

Meanwhile, marooned families were told by radio to stamp distress signals in the snow to attract attention from planes flying over.

In the Ginger Lakes region, the Red Cross, the air force and police teamed to organize a gigantic rescue effort. Drifts were reported piled to the second-storey windows of some homes.

A helicopter pilot who dropped food packages to isolated farms Thursday said "people scrambled out of their houses like ants —some crawling on their hands and knees—and ripped open the sacks to devour the food on the spot."

Imports Continue Downward Trend

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian imports continued their sharp downward trend in November, declining 14 per cent from the corresponding month in 1956, the bureau of statistics said Friday.

Value of imports in November decreased to $450,600,000 from $521,500,000 in 1956. The October drop was about 18 per cent.

For the first 11 months of 1957 compared with $4,782,000,000 the previous year.

INQUIRING MINDS

LONDON (CP) — "Children are the most shrewd tourists," says Len Jones, who supervises guides at London Airport. Likely questions are: "What is the weight of the control tower? How many bricks are in the Queen's Building? Where does the last rivet go in an airliner?"

A New Approach to an Old Problem

Most people find the election campaign exceedingly dull and all the speeches a resume of the same old things hashed over until the flavor is gone, but those who attended Mr. Dewdney's meeting at Procter must have been pleasantly surprised. He has a new idea. Whether it will work is another matter, but he gives us something to talk about.

West Kootenay has always been looking around for new industries but so far without much success. Mr. Dewdney's idea is that our government should adopt the plan the British have had in effect for some time. This consists of surveying the whole country for decentralization of industry and building new factories for rent or purchase in the areas best suited for particular industries.

With this he couples the fact that there must be many defence items which could be produced in this area. This means, in effect, that he not only builds the factory but provides, the customer for its product.

It is not quite as simple as that and this country is so much larger than Great Britain that such a plan might not be easy to put into effect at once. Nevertheless, Mr. Dewdney's proposal is one which is well worth consideration for it is definitely a new approach to an old problem. There may be means of adapting it to our conditions through both federal and provincial assistance. We have so many of the pre-requisites for industry that it seems frustrating that they cannot be established here.

We Should Do It More Often

It is purely co-incidental that this *is Brotherhood Week and that the Spo*kane Chamber of Commerce has been paying fraternal visits to chambers on this side of the line; nevertheless it exemplifies the spirit of brotherhood which should exist between Canadians and other nations.

The Spokane Chamber and those here have common interests inasmuch as all are concerned with the welfare of their respective cities. Today, with the growth in tolerance and understanding, such organizations have come to believe that their own peculiar interests are best served by co-operation with others. Thus they believe that one city which is a tourist attraction will help those cities nearby through which tourists will travel. In these days of high speed travel this is important.

While the visit had its serious side, it also had its frivolous and ridiculous moments. This is as it should be. Life in these days can be pretty grim if we just attend to business. There is no more complete relaxation from the cares of modern life than for a moment to escape into absurdity. True, there are so few moments when this can be done, but the visit of the Spokane Chamber will remain as a pleasant memory in the minds of many Nelsonites.

There might indeed be an improvement in the international situation if, instead of summit talks, the heads of state and their cabinets hired a bus and went visiting their opposite numbers. Who knows, the Russians might be a huge success in America. But that *is perhaps carrying the idea of Broth*erhood too far.

Canadians Need to Increase Knowledge of Own Country

The lack of knowledge about things Canadian on the part of our American friends has always annoyed Canadians. When a tourist arrives at our borders loaded with skis and snowshoes in July it is irritating, but it is only one of the many incidents which happen all too frequently and which demonstrates the appalling lack of information about Canada which exists in the United States.

But this lack of knowledge about Canada does not unfortunately apply only to the Americans. It applies to Canadians as well. Eastern Canadians know all too little about the west and, sad to relate, there is little more knowledge about the east in the west. It used to annoy this newspaper intensely to observe that Canadian business executives visit Vancouver, spend a day in Victoria and think they have seen British Columbia, when in reality they have seen only the very lesser part of it.

The truth is that Canada is a country of such vast distances and diverse interests many of its people are not adequately informed about their fellow Canadians. If that is a state of affairs understandable at least among ordinary citizens, it is a matter for regret and a barrier which must be overcome if we expect to feel kin and sympathy with those other millions with whom we share occupancy of half a continent. There are difficulties before such a goal could be realized but they are not insurmountable. Men in public and business life might show the way of removing parochial restrictions on such knowledge.

It was necessary recently for the member of Parliament from St. John's, Newfoundland, to point out in the House that the 400,000 people living in the tenth province are not in the Arctic Circle nor do they experience Arctic conditions.

The people of the rest of Canada have much to learn about the newest province. This condition is by no means limited to Newfoundland. The folk who make their homes in this part of the province frequently have had cause to marvel at the lack of knowledge displayed by fellow British Columbians when they have been referring to this valley. In Ontario not so long ago a native of Parry Sound remarked to a man who had just moved to that place from Iroquois Falls that the paper town must be fairly close to native settlements on Hudson's Bay shores. He was quite serious, too. A news item recently told the story of the reeve of Calvert, Ontario, complaining that until recently Ontario government officials at Queen's Park, Toronto, did not know the place existed.

There is no suggestion that ignorance of this nature is a one-way street. It might be successfully argued that British Columbians know more about the east than the east knows about British Columbia, simply because many British Columbians have come from the east. Nevertheless there is among a very large section of our population a tremendous ignorance about the east and things eastern. British Columbia citizens, through their travels, know much more about the western states and Hawaii than they do about their own country east of the Great Lakes. Certainly our knowledge of and our acquaintance with the people living in Ontario, Quebec and the four Maritime provinces could be greatly enlarged with profit all round.

Travel, of course, is one answer to the problem. "Know Canada First" is a slogan with merit; a slogan applicable to every province. It has been suggested that each member of Parliament should have the opportunity to visit all ten provinces at least once during his term at Ottawa. This has much to commend it; at least it would be a start. Certainly it could do much to promote greater knowledge and understanding among the men elected to direct their country's affairs.—Kelowna Courier.

Harmful Competition

Recent developments in disputes between teachers and school boards in different districts accentuate doubt as to the wisdom of the system provided by statute for the determination of salary scales. Having regard for the welfare of education in the province as a whole, the system appears capable of causing serious harm to some of the schools due to factors over which their trustees have lost control because of the way in which the wage settlement formula works in practice.

Under the act the provincial department of education sets basic wage scales for teachers and leaves the school boards at liberty to build higher on this foundation as they see fit, but with responsibility for all expenditure above the basic minimum thrown onto the local taxpayers. In theory this may appear to be a reasonable way of taking care of such considerations as isolation, variations in cost of living in different regions of the province, and so forth. In practice, however, it throws upon local boards a burden of responsibility which many of them are not equipped to handle.

Worse than that, the effect of this month's negotiations and arbitration in various districts is to put boards paying higher salaries in a position, unsought though it may be, to out-bid other boards for teachers, always in short supply. A striking example of this is provided by what has happened in North Vancouver and Surrey, two parts of the same economic region where a common scale of wages for teachers would seem appropriate. In North Vancouver a pay increase of 13.5 per cent has been arrived at by mutual agreement. In Surrey an increase of 7.9 per cent has been awarded by arbitration.

It is only natural to expect that teachers will favor districts like North Vancouver and Nanaimo where large increases have been won, at the expense of others where the fixing of scales has been taken out of the boards' hands, but not the responsibility of staffing their schools.

This situation creates the strongest of several arguments in favor of province-wide salary scales, in the determination of which the government would be the only negotiating party on the employers' side. It would involve surrender of part of the board's jurisdiction, but in view of what has occurred this year few of them would be likely to put up a fight against that. Not to be forgotten in this connection either are the municipal councils and their taxpayers, who must pay for the outcome of negotiations over which they have virtually no control.

—Victoria Colonist.

Educationists Decide All They Need Is Money

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Called to consider "the crisis" in Canadian schooling, the Canadian Conference on Education wound up Thursday with an assurance that all it needs is more money.

Dr. Wilder G. Penfield of Montreal, addressing the windup session as conference chairman, told the 850 delegates from coast to coast that "Canadian education is fundamentally sound" but "it needs more support."

A University of Ottawa forum discussion of the conference's accomplishments Thursday night agreed that the conference succeeded in arousing public opinion on education but missed the boat on recommending what's to be done about it.

Participating were Dr. Claude T. Bissell, president-designate of the University of Toronto; Rev. Henri Legare, vice-rector of the University of Ottawa; Gordon S. B. Hawkins, acting director of the Canadian Association for Adult Education, and George Cummings, industrial relations expert for the E. B. Eddy Company, Limited. All had attended the conference.

Said Father Legare: "The con*ference could have produced a* few sound principles on educating youth for the modern world."

Mr. Hawkins: "If there had been a great deal of preparatory research there would have been a different kind of conference, which could have achieved a great deal more, but perhaps at the expense of arousing public opinion."

Mr. Cummings: "I came in ignorance, sat in ignorance and left in ignorance, with no more statistics now to make decisions than I had before."

Conference Director George Croskery told a press conference that delegates showed a hesitancy "to speak out and be forceful in their resolutions."

Discussion in the workshops had been stimulating but the conclusions had not found expression in the resolutions accepted by the over-all conference.

Major recommendations included in the conference's approved resolutions were that teacher - training be lengthened and toughened; that teachers share with the state in setting teachers' qualifying standards and certification requirements; federal-provincial grants for handicapped children plus provincial registries of such children; uniform statistics on education; a national organization for the promotion of educational research and government grants towards the eradication of inequalities of education.

Scouting Called "Vital Force"

Scouting can be a vital force in building character of young men, J. V. Scrivener of Penticton, field commissioner, told members of Nelson District Boy Scout Association Thursday night.

"Holding and inspiring boys in Scouting" is the movement's biggest problem, he reported. Many boys, he said, leave the movement after they have been Wolf Cubs or before completing Scout training. He blamed this on more attractions to boys of Scout age, not enough leaders, television and extra-curricular school activities.

A leader's attitude towards the uniform determined the boys' attitudes and they also copied leaders in other ways, Mr. Scrivener continued. Leadership and program were Scouting's two biggest factors.

The movement demanded a great deal of time from leaders. Mr. Scrivener decried the fact some leaders do not have any camping or hiking, two important parts of the Scout program. Camping was a "priceless asset".

He congratulated the new executive and district commissioner-designate E. K. Evans, assistant commisisoner many years and spoke of considerable personal sacrifice by the outgoing executive.

Mr. Scrivener also showed pictures of last year's World Scout Jamboree in England.

Indonesia Turns Down Ultimatum

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno Friday rejected an ultimatum from the rebels on Sumatra and called for action to eliminate the rival government set up at Padang last Saturday.

Premier Djuanda promised economic retaliation against the rebels, and warned that "we can't guarantee 100 per cent there will be no shooting because to carry out an economic blockade we must employ the army, air force and navy."

Neither the central government nor the rebels have sufficient military forces to overthrow the other, but Jakarta at least can make a stab at controlling the sea and air around the island of Sumatra. The rebels have neither planes nor warships.

The rebels asked a change in the central government to give the outer islands a bigger share in the proceeds of their exports, which so far have mostly benefited Java, and to end what they called a pro-Communist drift in Sukarno's government.

Sukarno and Djuanda rejected their demands at ceremonies restoring presidential powers to Sukarno after a 40-day foreign tour from which he returned Sunday.

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian newsprint companies shipped 474,791 short tons of newsint in January 1958, a decrease from 513,598 short tons in January 1957, the Newsprint Association of Canada reported Thursday. Total exports were 444,064 short tons against 475,530 in January, 1957.

Talent Show Broadcast

The last, at least for a while, of the Talent Show broadcasts was aired over CKLN, contestants having formerly participated in the Talent Shows produced by the Recreation Commission during the fall and winter season.

Those taking part in the broadcast were mainly vocal and accordion artists with a piano and recitation selection.

Vocal performers were Cedric Planedan, accompanied on the guitar; Jennifer Paterson; Anna Maria, Florence and Armando Maglio, trio; Gail and Wayne Johnson, vocal and accordion; Walter Khadikin; Cecilia Buckley and the Buckley quintet, piano accompaniment, and Reg Fairhurst.

Accordion selections were played by Blain Bachynski, Ronald Hall and Wilfred Playdon. Richard Joyce presented a recitation *and Donnie Stewart a piano selec*tion.

Our Father's Business

"For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." I. Cor. 3:11.

In Matt. 7 Jesus gives us the Parable of the Two Builders. The one Wise and the other Foolish. Now, the wise man is a builder. He is constructing something. He is building his own character. He is building his soul-home. He is building the temple in which he is to spend eternity. The same is equally true of the foolish man. He, too, is building. He, too, is constructing the temple or the hovel or the sty in which he is to spend eternity. Both are builders alike.

This is true of all of us. We are building all the time, whether wisely or foolishly. We are building by everything that we do. We are building by every thought that we think. We are building by every word that we speak, every dream that we dream, every picture that we hang upon the walls of our imagination, every ambition that we cherish. All these go to make up the material that enters into the structure that we are building for the ages.

Some are putting some shoddy stuff into their buildings, while others are building nobly, but whether we build wisely or foolishly the buildings are going to be tested. Jesus tells us that all who do not build upon Him are going to suffer loss. The building of their souls will collapse. "For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ."

We must accept the Lord Jesus Christ and His finished work on Calvary's cross. We must personally accept Him as Lord and Saviour or we cannot build to the satisfaction of God our Creator. Only those who have built their lives upon Jesus Christ who is the Rock of Ages will find the building strong in the storms of death.

May God help us to build wisely.

Veteran Movie Cowboy Has Good Word For Present TV Westerns

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's a safe bet that Bob Steele has led and been chased by more posses than any other westerner ever.

Steele represents the middle period of the western movie, when Hollywood ground out dozens of low - budget horse operas yearly to satisfy the public's crazing for outdoor adventure. He started in films when he was 14, starred in 180 westerns, has appeared in dozens of others.

Now, still trim and handsome at 51, he is enjoying new activity, thanks to television. The old Bob Steele westerns have been played and replayed on the home screens, creating a new generation of fans for him. And he's playing roles in the new crop of adult westerns, the latest being as a killer in The Californians.

"Oh, we really turned them out in the old days," said Bob. "I did eight western features a year. For two years, I did two series, making 16 a year.

FAST WORKER

"In the silent days and even in the early talkies, we could grind out a feature in six to eight days for $18,000 to $20,000. Once I did two five - reel features in five days. The star would get $3,000 to $5,000, which wasn't bad pay considering the times."

He admitted that the quality of the films was not of the best.

"We didn't have time to be subtle. We were working too fast; 80 per cent of the pictures were chases or some form of action. The plots were variations of the same themes — the settlers vs. the cattlemen, sheep owners vs. cattlemen, water rights, gold, cattle rustlers, desperadoes, etc."

Working and reworking the same lode, the program western prospered in the silent and talkie period. Besides Bob Steele, favorites included Tom Mix, Buck Jones, Ken Maynard, Hoot Gibson, Tim McCoy, Johnny Mack Brown, William Boyd, Tom Tyler, George O'Brien, Tim Holt and Charles Starrett.

Then came the period of the singing cowboy, which pained most of the old-timers.

PAUSE FOR A SONG

"We all thought it couldn't last," said Steele. "It did not make sense; the whole action stopped while the hero played a guitar and sang a song."

But the warbling cowhands, led first by Gene Autry and then Roy Rogers, dominated the western field until after the war.

Unlike some old - timers, Bob has good words to say for the new crop of gun slingers: "They have much better scripts than we did, and they're remarkably good on the draw."

Home Workshop

Building a house or baking a cake have one thing in common. Both require a recipe. Today's pattern provides an easy to follow recipe anyone can use in building his own house. By buying materials pattern suggests and using each piece in exact position pattern specifies, anyone can build a house. In fact, thousands of families each year move into homes "they built themselves."

If it all sounds very easy, it isn't. Those who build their own homes in their spare time usually have very limited means and can't afford to make mistakes. These who are careful usually are successful. Those who fail (and some do) are the "know-it-alls" who take short cuts or refuse to follow simple, step-by-step directions.

Building a house takes courage, hard work and a willingness to spend practically all your spare time for at least a year. The reward is enormous. You not only get twice as much house for your money, but you develop a self confidence and inner satisfaction that can't be bought at any price.

Contrary to popular belief, you don't need a lot of money to start building. If you own your lot, have a steady income and a little cash, you can usually get a line of credit at the local lumber yard as easily as you can get one at department store of service station.

The pattern offered below contains a complete material list that not only tells what to buy but also where each piece of lumber is used.

In talking to people who have built their own houses, all agreed it was the lumber dealer who helped make the task possible. In almost every case, the dealer had gone along in extending sufficient credit to permit their getting a first payment on a bank mortgage when they completed framing in.

When the term "build it yourself" is used, it doesn't necessarily mean that you do all the construction yourself. Far from it! A sizeable savings in the overall cost of a house can be effected by merely acting as your own purchasing agent, buying the materials the pattern specifies when needed. Nor is there any need to attempt doing work you are not physically capable of doing. The pattern explains each step of construction so you can do part, or all the work, or hire someone to do it for you. If you only act as a mason's or carpenter's helper, you'll make a sizeable savings in overall costs.

Two questions usually crop up when people start talking about building a house. The first is: "How do I finance it" The second — "Can I do the work myself?" In reviewing hundreds of letters received from people who live in houses they built in their spare time, two factors stood out. The first was the great difference in ages. One couple was 22 and 19, another 71 and 68. Age seems to mean very little — it's the spirit and the will to do, that counts. The question "how much money will I need to build my own home" is one most frequently asked. Here again the difference in financial position defies comparison. One fellow who owned a lot that cost him $450 started building a five room, two bedroom ranch house with only $500 cash in the bank. By using his building site as collateral and cash to pay his initial lumber dealer purchases, he was able to get a line of credit that carried him to a point where the mortgage company made a construction loan on the work done to date.

With this loan he was able to let contracts for rough plumbing, wiring and heating. When completed another inspection by the mortgage company was made, and he received a second payment on the construction loan.

I've come to the conclusion that almost anyone can build his own home if he'll spend the same amount of time working on it as he does talking about the house "he's going to build". While the folks who write the longest letters seldom do anything towards solving their housing problem, it's the ones who write the penny postcards saying — "we are making good progress building our home from your pattern" that proves the point — if you want something bad enough to work for it, you'll get it pretty quick.

As the floor plan indicates this house contains three bedrooms, each with excellent closet space, a large living-dining area and a parlor. A carport near the road and a kitchen off the carport saves many steps when bringing groceries into the home. The roof overhangs the walk to the street, thus providing shelter in any weather.

Remove Old Linoleum Before Laying New

For various reasons, old linoleum should be removed before new is laid. Although it's a messy job, removal is well worth while in the end result, because outworn linoleum, however old, still contains enough oil to make a poor adhesive surface for new mastic.

Most linoleum is underlaid with a sheet of heavy paper or felt, which is glued to the floor proper and to which the linoleum is glued. Both are commonly held down with the same type of mastic, which is water soluble.

One of the best tools for lifting the old linoleum is a square nosed lawn edger or ice scraper, which looks like a hoe with its gooseneck straightened. A small straight-edged spade is also good; even a square nosed shovel can be used if you aren't planning to save the old flooring for re-use in a less fancy environment.

Whatever the lifting tool, keep its edge straight and sharp. As it dulls in use, touch it up occasionally with a flat file. Be careful when jabbing with it not to nick the wood floor.

It may not be necessary to retile under appliances such as the range, sink cabinet, or dishwasher that aren't likely to be moved during the floor covering's life. Around the base of such an appliance, however, trim off the old flooring squarely with a sharp linoleum knife, so the new covering can be fitted exactly.

After lifting the old surfacing, remove as much of the underlay felt as possible. Then slosh water liberally on the remainder, and give it an hour or more to soak through and soften the hardened mastic. Add water if necessary during this soaking time. Stubborn spots may need rewetting even after all the felt underlaying has been scraped and sponged away.

When the wood floor is bared, let it dry thoroughly, using an electric fan to hasten the process.

CURE SQUEAKS

Now is a golden time to cure any floor squeaks that have been bothering you. If old nails are riding high, pull them and drive new, coated nails in solid wood near them. If old nails can't be pulled, whack them down to a new, secure hold by countersinking them deeply with a nail set.

Often a floor that is being recovered needs no new resurfacing. However, if the boards are badly warped, it's wise to rent a sander and smooth them off, being sure first to counter-sink all nail heads so they can't ruin expensive sanding belts.

If there are only a few uneven spots, they can be dressed smooth by scraping and sanding. Remember that any high board edges are likely to show through new linoleum in time, even where heavy underlayment is used.

Should you plan to re-use the old floor tiles for your workshop or utility room, pile them loosely in a tub of water and let soak several hours, until their undersurfaces can be scrubbed clean of felt and mastic.

Do's . . . And Don'ts

ELECTRIC HANDSAW

DO . . . know that tests have demonstrated that an electric handsaw can zip through a piece of wood 28 times faster than a non-powered handsaw.

DO . . . know that the circular blade sizes of these saws range from 4 to 12 inches, with anything under 8 inches generally considered suitable for ordinary home use.

DO . . . be sure that the blade projects only a fraction of an inch below the material being cut.

DO . . . place the front of the saw base on the edge of the work (without the blade teeth touching the material), then press the trigger and allow the motor to run freely a few seconds before guiding the saw to make the cut.

DON'T . . . appiy too much pressure while making the cut, because excessive pressure causes the blade to slow down, producing a rough cut and straining the motor.

DON'T . . . if the motor should stall, release your pressure on the trigger. Instead, back off the saw a little, allowing the blade to run free, after which you can resume cutting or lift the saw out of the cut.

DON'T . . . make any adjustments on the saw unless the cord has been pulled out of the electric outlet.

CAREFUL CHOICE OF TOOLS PAYS WAY

Tools are probably the best investment any man ever made, or woman complained of. Carefully chosen, they will last the home handyman a lifetime. They will give him more hours in the house. And, unlike the TV set, they will quickly pay for themselves.

There are two common fallacies about the handyman's tool requirements. Ane is that he needs a lot of fancy tools — he doesn't. The other is that he doesn't need to buy quality tools — he does.

The number and variety of tools needed will always depend, of course, on the experience of the craftsman and the type of work he does.

What tools should you start with? If you want, just buy a hammer, saw, plane and square and add to them as needed. But if you want to start out equipped here is a basic list:

Claw hammer (13 ounce), crosscut saw (26-inch, 10 point), coping saw, keyhole saw, pack plane, ratchet brace and bits (¼ inch to 1 inch), combination square, hand drill, drill set, pliers, cold chisel, pocketknife, flexible steel rule.

Most of these are obvious purchases, but here are a few more just as essential for your basic list:

Wood vice, hand scraper, electric soldering iron, set of screw drivers (3-inch to 10-inch), ripping bar, set of crescent wrenches, dividers, scratch awl, rosebud countersink, nail sets.

With these, and modern easy-to-work fir plywood used almost universally by the handyman, you can handle just about any project that comes to hand.

As soon as the budget permits, begin to add the following:

Claw hammer (7-ounce), mallet claw hammer (16-ounce), rip saw (26-inch, 5 point), back saw (14-inch), mitre box, hack saw, rabbet plane, fore plane, bullnose plane, T-bevel, framing square.

Next comes a level, an assort*ment of files* (mill, draw, flat bastard, wood rasp, ratail, three corner), expansion bit, Phillips-gauge, butt chisels (1½-inch and 2-inch), metal snips, hatchet, clamps.

Maintenance tools (so you don't have to call the repairman so often) include plumber's snake, pipe wrench, glass cutter, plumber's force pump, putty knife, plumb bob, oilstone, burnishing *tool. If you branch out into metal*working, you'll have to add more.

SAVE 42 FROM FIRE

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP)— A nursery school operator and her daughter saved 42 small children from a burning school Thursday—some of them several times. Mrs. Myrtis Burkett, 41, said some of the children followed her back into the burning building. "I'd get a bunch of them out and they'd follow me right back in the fire," Mrs. Burkett said.

Repair Garden Furniture Now

Though structurally strong and seemingly built to last forever, garden furniture made of aluminum, chrome, wrought iron and steel, still requires your care to keep it in first-class condition for years of good service.

A good time to examine and repair furniture is now — while you have it stored for the winter. Give your furniture's appearance a quick overhaul, too, by mending, cleaning, or replacing fabrics which pad or cover the framework. Match colors and patterns to make odd pieces appear to belong to one set — let new fabrics give old furniture the neat, new look it had when you first got it.

NORTH COLLINS, N.Y. (AP) A family of five was found asphyxiated in their home Thursday near this Erie County village. A doctor said they had been dead since Tuesday. The victims were Harvey White, his wife Barbara and their three children. Police said a heater in the living room, an oven in the kitchen and a water heater in the bathroom were all burning.

Growers Launch New Association

PENTICTON (CP) — Launching of a new organization by discontented growers of the Okanagan as a rival to B.C. Fruit Growers Association, was disclosed Thursday. The news came as a surprise to BCFGA officials.

Called Canadian Fruit Growers Association, western division, the new group is being organized in each of the 30 B.C. communities where a BCFGA local existed, Lorals have already been established at Oliver, Rutland, Creston, Cawston, Summerland, Cold*stream and Salmon Arm, and or*ganization of others if proceeding in Penticton and Kaleden.

Alfred T. Beich of Oliver, acting central secretary of the new group, said that after preliminary organization of locals it is planned to hold a valley-wide organizational meeting at Penticton or Okanagan Falls, in late March or early April.

Told of the new organization by a reporter, Arthur Garrish, BCFGA president, said it was "all news to me."

"I can't conceive of anybody trying to split the fruit growers organization at this time," Mr. Garrish said. "That's the sole objective which this new group could hope to achieve—splitting the growers and making confusion."

Harold Smiley, Salmon Arm, secretary of the new organization, said the "revolt" came as a result of growers' dissatisfaction with "undemocratic market*ing cliques" in the BCFGA and* that the Canadian Fruit Growers' objective would be to promote the maximum sale of growers' products.

A statement of the provisional principles and aims of the new group, obtained through George Morrison of Penticton, said Canadian Fruit Growers would provide B.C. fruit growers with a choice of economic administrations since the CFGA is "formed to oppose and compete with the BCFGA for control of the B.C. tree fruit industry."

The CFGA statement also pledges a "grass-roots controlled association on a voluntary basis incorporating ballot voting as much as possible, thus avoiding the formation of controlling cliques, social coercion, intimidation and retaliation."

A growers' contract is proposed to replace the present tri-party contract which, the statement claims, "divests the grower of almost all rights."

Revised fruit board regulations to facilitate and promote buying and consuming of B.C. fruit, especially to tourists, consumers and established retailers, is also pledged.

Other provisional objectives listed are:

A better and more proficient use of Canadian fruit distributors "with direct grower-control of its scope and purpose;"

A program for grower-owned and grower-controlled canneries, cider plants, distilleries, "in the real sense of the word."

Economic co-operation and liaison with foreign tropical and semi-tropical fruit growers and-or sales agents.

An open opposition "to all forms of social, economic, legal or political totalitarian encroachments and impositions."

Space Lawyers Argue Rights To Astral, Lunar Territory

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER

Washington — The legal eagles are getting ready to soar off into space and develop a whole new branch of law.

Already it has a name—metalaw—and it relates to such things as rights of discovery on the moon and planets, rights of nations to territory "straight up," and even how John Q. Citizen on Earth can perfect claims to real estate on heavenly bodies.

If you want to be in the swim of things among the rocket lawyers, you now toss around words and phrases such as territoria nullia", the right right of innocent passage" Celestia, and the Karman line.

The first problem the space lawyers have tackled in earnest desire is whether launchers of satellites are trespassers. Andrew G. Haley, counsel of the American rocket society, thinks that only the agreements in connection with the international geophysical year kept Russia clear of that charge.

Ironically, he bases this on the Soviet's own protests two years ago against alleged launchings of high-level weather balloons from Germany and Turkey.

U. S. secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, no mean lawyer himself in private practice, said there was no recognized international law on the subject, but the Soviets quoted a French legal expert who in 1915 wrote that sovereignty straight up is unlimited.

Space lawyers now are veering to a view that outer space is like the open seas doctrine which created the famous three-mile limit on coastlines of nations.

Dr. Welf Heinrich of Frankfurt, *Germany, grandson of th elate Kai*ser Wilhelm II, and one of the first exclusively space law scholars says that whether a satellite trespasses depends on whether it flies so low that it is in "the zone of sensitivity."

Oscar Schachter of the United Nations legal department suggests that the bottom layer of air, about *30 miles, over a nation is its ab*solute property. The next layer up to 150 miles, belongs to the country but there is "a right of innocent passage" for non-warlike gadgets through it. This is also known now as the Karman Line, named after Theodore von Karman rocket and missile expert who puts the limits of the atmosphere that high.

Staking out territorial claims in space, or "Celestia" has the experts in a dither. Most of them are opposed to the United States and Russia carvinig out any broad areas for their own at present, re*calling that in 1494, just after Col*umbus launched that other great era of exploration into what then was outer space, the Pope yielded to the request of Portugal and Spain to partition the new world between them.

Until more is known about outer space, a modern attempt might not be any more realistic. However, the law of discovery now is pretty clear. If Russia were to hit the moon with a rocket and plant a flag there, most lawyers believe *it would be only a symbolic or "in*cipient claim."

If someone actually lands on the moon and takes possession, it will be a still better claim.

As the moon now stands, it is "territoria nullia"—belongs to no one, says Haley, the rash of claims and deeds recently filed in various vice: Don't, for heaven's sake, county recorders' offices through-buy part of the moon from anyout the United States by space en-body yet, any more than you thusiasts notwithstanding. His ad-would buy the city hall steeple.

Try and Stop Me

There are countless stories about Joe Frisco, the stuttering individualist who made a fortune starring in night clubs and lost it all at various race tracks. One of them concerns the day Bing Crosby found Frisco sadly staring into space at a coffee stand in Palm Springs. "What's the matter now?" inquired Bing.

"It's that t-t-third race I'm thinking about," said Frisco. "I only put $10 on Royal Tiger. I s-s-shoulda put down f-f-fifty."

"Did it win by much?" Crosby asked. "It didn't win at all," admitted Frisco. "B-b-but it almost did!"

"I'm glad you're going out with Willie," a UCLA senior told her roommate. "You'll find him a gentleman from the word go."

The roomate returned some hours later, somewhat upset. "You had Willie just a bit wrong," she reported. "He turned out to be a gentleman from the word stop!"

The lady of the house, entering the kitchen, unexpectedly, caught the maid with her face and hands unwashed, and a pile of greasy dishes filling the sink. "Goodness, Jane," she exclaimed, "you're pretty dirty, aren't you?"

"Thank you, m'am," Jane smirked. "And I'm even prettier clean."

"A boy," said the father. "Well, this time you got a girl," the nurse told him. "That's okay, too," philosophized the father. "A girl was my second choice."

A boatload of sardines arrived in port, and was duly sold to a food broker for $50,000. The broker turned them over for $80,000, and after changing hands several times more, the load fetched the nice round sum of $150,000. Finally the sardines reached the consumer, who found them inedible. The complaints were relayed from the last broker all the way back to the captain of the boat that had brought them into port. "So what?" he complained angrily. "Those sardines were for selling—not eating!"

STAMP CORNER

By JAMES MONTAGNES

News of possible political union of Egypt and Syria brings these two countries to special attention of stamp collectors. Egypt for many years listed in stamp catalogues as part of the British Commonwealth, is fairly popular with collectors. Spria has never been popular with Canadian stamp collecors, though its stamps are of interest as the country changed from a part of the former Turkish empire to its present status as a republic.

Egypt in the past few years has issued numerous stamps, mostly tied in with a fairly current event. Thus late in 1957 it issued stamps for the nationalization of the Suez Canal a few months earlier, and in July last year for the re-opening of the famous Shepheard Hotel which had been wrecked by mobs a few years earlier when the monarchy was ousted.

Egypt began issuing stamps in 1866 featuring Arabic insignia. The Sphynx and Pyramid ap*peared on stamps of 1967 and have* appeared on numerous issues since. Not all catalogues list the first stamps issued to mark the opening of the Suez Canal in 1868, stamps which are rare today. A scenic set of views of the country *and some of its ancient monu*ment was issued in 1914.

After World War I Egypt became a kingdom and portrait stamps of King Fuad appeared for the first time in 1923. This was also the start of numerous commemorative stamps for events in Egypt's history and for various international meetings held in the country. King Farouk made his postal appearance in 1929 on his 9th birthday and as a youthful king in 1937 following the death of his father. In 1936, it is of interest to note, a set was issued showing the signers of the Anglo-Egyptian Eden signing for Great Britain. It is one of the few stamps issued anywhere showing a living Englishman other than a member of the royal family.

King Farouk appeared on a number of other sets including stamps for his first and second weddings and in 1946 on a set featuring rulers of other Arab countries durinng formation of the Arab League. When he was deposed in 1952 stamps with his portrait were overprinted with bars.

Syria's postal history started in 1919 when Turkish stamps were overprinted for the short-lived Arab kingdom proclaimed after World War I. France was given a mandate over the region by the League of Nations and French stamps were overprinted in 1919 for use in Syria after French troops ousted the Arab monarchy. Definite stamps with scenic views were issued in 1925. In 1934 a republic was formed and among first stamps were a number featuring the first president. Other presidents have since appeared on Syria's stamps. There have been numerous commemorative issues and the country's flag has appeared in full color on some values. There have been numerous stamps in recent years to modern buildings in the capital city of Damascus and to Syria's military forces.

New issues . . . Canada will issue a five-cent stamp to the International Geophysical Year on March 5, while the United States will issue such a stamp on May 31, and Czechslovakia has just issued a multi-colored set for the IGL . . . Finland has issued stamps for the world's ski championships and for the 400th anniversary of the town of Bjorneborg . . . Ghana has a set for its first independence anniversary.

United Nations issues this stamp on April 14, showing the Central Hall in London where the 1946 UN meeting was held.

Hope Looms For Dental Technicians

VICTORIA (CP) — Legislation believed to contain provisions giving dental technicians the right to deal with the public will be introduced by Health Min*ister Eric Martin later this leg*islative session here.

Although details of the legislation have not been disclosed it is believed the act will at least permit technicians to mend "clean breaks" in dentures brought in by the public.

In the past Mr. Martin has opposed any move by the technicians to make or repair false teeth unless they deal through dentists.

Cyril Shelford (SC—Omineca) has given notice he will present a private bill asking that technicians be given the right to deal directly with the public and eliminate the dentist. It is believed Mr. Martin's bill is a compromise.

*A special inquiry into the situa*tion by a committee headed by Dean S. F. Chant of the University of B.C. some 18 months ago found the technicians could repair "clean breaks" but that it was not in the interests of public health for them to take impressions and supply the public directly with dentures.

MONTREAL (CP)—Air France Thursday announced the opening of a base at Achorage, Alaska, under the command of Bernard Cheron, Anchorage station manager. A long-range Super - Starliner made the first flight using the new station when it flew from Paris to Tokyo in January. The first regular Paris-Tokyo service is to begin in April.

ICBM IN MANCHURIA

TAIPEI, Formosa (Reuters)—Russia has begun building an intercontinental ballistic missile base in Manchuria, a Chinese Nationalist spokesman told a press conference here today. He said construction of the base is part of an over-all Soviet design to conquer the world under the cloak of a peace offensive.

WALDORF LIKE THE ARK

NEW YORK (AP)—Two hundred farm animals, including steers, hogs, turkeys, sheep and hens, checked in Thursday at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel. They were brought from an Indiana farm by a pharmaceutical company to show the advantages of adding the company's products to the animals' diets.

MARKET TRENDS

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal and Canadian stock markets recovered somewhat from an early decline and closed mixed Friday.

Refining oils were still down at the close. International Petroleum was off 2¼ at a new low of 32½. Pipelines recovered from their bottoms but closed on the downside. Trans - Mountain finished the session with a loss of ½ at 43½. It had dropped to a new low of 41 during the day.

Base metals, beverages and miscellaneous stocks were up. Utilities, constructions, newsprints and steels were mixed. Mines and oils were lower.

Industrial volume was 51,700 shares; mines and oils 363,900.

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market staged a mild recovery Friday near the close to pull up from earlier lows but buying was not strong enough to save prices from their third straight decline.

Western oils showed little reaction to Thursday's announcement that the United States government was not prepared to make an exception on its oil import restrictions for Canadian producers.

Trading opened at the fastest pace in more than a week but after noon it slowed down considerably. The final volume of 2'539,000 shares was a little lighter than Thursday's 2.696,000.

Imperial Life recorded the best gain among industrials, up four points to 62 on a few sales. Confederation Life, International Utilities, Ford A, Weston A and B, and Page - Hersey Tubes gained between one and two points. Most losses were fractional.

Golds were strong in the mining list with gains ranging to 20 cents and a point. Uraniums fell off sharply before noon but were only narrowly lower at the close. Senior base metals lost fractional ground.

Western oils had losses ranging to 20 cents but Canada Southern went the opposite way, jumping 35 cents to $3.70. Other gains were small.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market relapsed into sluggishness Friday and dipped slightly on average.

Gains and losses were generally within a point. A number of stocks were unchanged.

Volume slipped to 1,700,000 shares compared with 2,060,000 Thursday.

Tobaccos continued a technical rebound from the sell - off of Wednesday on the harsh congressional words about filter-tip advertising. Coppers got a bit of a lift late in the session when Kennecott paid the same dividend it has in previous quarters.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 20 cents to $159.30 with industrials down 10 cents, rails down 20 cents and utilities down 30 cents

Hudson Bay Mining gained ¾ and International Nickel ½ to lead Canadian issues on the New York exchange. Canadian Pacific and Distillers-Seagrams were up ⅛ each and Walker - Gooderham ¼.

Fargo oils lost ⅛ and Preston East Dome 1-16 in the Canadian sectionc of the American exchange. Molybdenite gained 1-16.

British Priority Given to New Ballistic Missile

LONDON (Reuters) — Highest priority was announced Friday for work on a British ballistic missile as the United Kingdom's main future "nuclear deterrent."

Air Minister George Ward said in the annual air estimates that meanwhile Britain's present deterrent power has been "greatly increased" as a result of her successful hydrogen-bomb program and the current built-up in high-speed multi-jet bombers.

The estimates ask £467,000,000 for the coming financial year, a reduction of £20,000,000 from last year.

Ward said Britain's "ability to reinforce the Western deterrent will be increased by the acceptance of U.S. intermediate-range ballistic missiles.' Agreement on bases in Britain for these missiles is expected to be announced next week.

Britain's own ballistic missile will be of intermediate range—1,500 miles. A government statement last week said it will be "more advanced" than U.S. designs and would be fired from underground bunkers, safe from any enemy knockout blow.

The statement said development of this weapon and of "powered bombs"—guided rockets to be used against enemy missiles—will be pressed at "the highest priority."

RELY ON JETS

Present preparedness remains with conventional jet bombers.

The statement said that "plans have been prepared and are being progressively exercised which will enable a large proportion of our bombers to be ready to take off in emergency." It also noted progress with mid-air refuelling equipment.

RAF fighter strength already has been reduced considerably and planned cuts will be completed in the coming year.

The new and smaller fighter force will deal with manned aircraft, especially at longer range, to prevent reconnaissance and to investigate unidentified movements.

The English Electric P-1 fighter—its speed has been estimated at more than 1,500 miles an hour—and its associated air - to - air guided weapon are being developed for this purpose.

Missile trials are going ahead well, the statement said, and "ultimately it is to developments of surface - to - air guided weapons systems that we look for anti-ballistic missile defence."

Students Hurl Missiles at R. A. Butler

GLASGOW (Reuters) — Glasgow University students Friday bombarded Deputy Prime Minister R. A. Butler with rotten fruit, bags of flour, toilet rolls and other missiles—then sprayed him with a fire extinguisher.

Civic officials seated behind him on a platform at his installation as rector of the university were hit on the face with overripe tomatoes and smothered in soot.

Ignoring the missiles, Butler faced the 2,000 students and delivered a speech on the wealth that will flow from the taming of hydrogen energy.

But he could scarcely be heard because a four-piece band in one corner of the hall beat out rock 'n' roll music and other students provided a deafening chorus of whistles, bugles, trumpets and bells.

PROFS WALK OUT

The rector in a Scottish university holds an honorary yearly post and his installation traditionally starts out by being boisterous.

Fights broke out among the students and several professors walked out of the ceremony complaining of hooliganism.

At one point a huge cabbage was thrown from the gallery and hit a press photographer on the head. He was carried out unconscious.

As Butler spoke, a bag of flour burst open on his face. Toward the end of the ceremony he was sprayed with the fire extinguisher. But he carried on as though nothing was happening.

At another installation ceremony Thursday, Edinburgh students narrowly missed Prince Philip with a paper dart.

He smiled broadly at the University of Edinburgh installation of Actor Jaies Robertson Justice as rector when a roll of toilet tissue missed him and hit the university chairman.

N. Korea Puts Strings on Release Offer

TOKYO (AP) — The Communists Friday offered to give up anyone who wants to quit North Korea from the South Korean airliner that flew north Sunday, but it hedged by demanding that the South Korean government negotiate the release directly with the Red Korean regime.

Previously the South Korean government had refused to deal with the Communists on the issue, maintaining their legal position that the Red regime is an illegal government which the Seoul government does not recognize.

The 34 aboard the Korean National Airlines DC-3 included two American pilots, a West German couple and 30 Koreans, two of them children.

KIND TREATMENT

"Since they came to the northern part of the republic, all of them have been well and in good health and accorded warm kindness and humanitarian treatment," a Communist radio broadcast said.

The new Communist demand for negotiations with President Syngman Rhee's government aroused immediate speculation that the Reds are seeking talks into which they could introduce their demands for withdrawal of United States troops from South Korea and unification elections under the auspieces of "neutral" countries.

U.S. and South Korean spokesmen have rejected both demands, contending that the Americans cannot pull out until the peninsular is safely unified and elections in the north will be free only if held under United Nations supervision.

The SHORT CIRCUIT

By JOHN SHORT
Sports Editor

KIMBERLEY—Officials of the third annual Kimberley Snow Fiesta have reached the stage—at least most of them have—where they are looking eagerly forward to the end. Months and months of preparation have all but concluded and first impressions — if such they may be called after nearly six days in this East Kootenay city—are that they will long be remembered for their part in the first centennial celebration of any size in B.C.'s interior.

Weather, as everyone must be aware, has complicated matters considerably and several "name" skiers have failed to appear. The tiny flaws caused by circumstance have been all but conquered. And the body of individuals which did most of the work is tired. Not tired of the Fiesta, not even tired of the continuing hullabaloo, but tired of the demands any worthwhile project makes of a man's time and energy. Under the co-ordination of Bill Campbell, with tremendous personal and group contributions, Kimberley's Snow Fiesta has come to the point where it must be outstanding to prove nobody wasted his time. And if there is a wasted minute here from the vast majority of workers I can't find it.

Although the ski jumping and the annual Snow Fiesta mixed bonspiel will conclude the affair Sunday night, most of the labor had been done by early Thursday evening when this was written. The basketball tournament between potent high school units from East and West Kootenays was under way. All but the final touches had been applied to the parade, local decorations — especially the snowman and snowcastle — which had yielded partially to the demands of old Mr. Sun, has been retouched. Arrangements for the Snow Fiesta's biggest event for residents, the Mardi Gras, had been completed and a crowd of more than 400 was anticipated.

Pressure is mounting by the minute for Barbara Lowes, Patricia Jones and Shirley Sanderson, while attractive reigning Florence Brown is prepared to relinquish her crown to her successor. Lieut.-Governor Frank Ross will crown the new monarch. By Monday morning the Fiesta — biggest in its three-year history — will be written okay in souvenirs and in slow fading ink on the walls of time. Looking back, everyone connected with the affair woh has had a chance to see the growth of the fruits of hard labor, will ask himself a question, "Was it worth it?" I say yes.

Ski Slants

By SITZMARK

Skiing on Wednesday night was definitely on the sloppy side. It rained on the hill most of the night. We were almost sorry we had scheduled skiing for that night but until late evening it did look like the snow would be good. However the gang that showed up enjoyed themselves.

For the weekend, we do not know what to predict. There is enough snow for skiing and if the weather tightens up in the night the course should be good. However, if rain persists we don't think the sliding will be very good. So our advice to you is to get out to ski if the temperature at night drops at all.

Actually, we have had some wonderful weekends at our favorite spot, especially when you realize the skiers in some areas like Vancouver have had to forsake their own mountains and head for Mount Baker and Stevens Pass. Kelowna had to cancel their ski meet a week ago.

On our big lift, we will have a crew working on Saturday to make No. 11 tower rigid. This is the tower that guides the cable onto the upper bull wheel and has to be without movement. During a test run Monday we found it shimmying like a dancer. When it has been straightened we will be able to test the lift again, possibly on Sunday.

We were quite amazed at the snow depth at the top of the hill. There is certainly plenty for a long season of skiing but of course, we won't be able to ski on it much until all the brush is cleared off. But it is nice to know for another year there will be plenty of the white stuff. Certainly we should never have a winter with less than this one.

Several members are off to Kimberley to watch the weekend skiing in the Canadian championships. They should see some real experts.

Another year and we will probably be able to invite the experts to test our course.

Leafs Host To Flyers

Nelson Maple Leafs, still smarting over a 6-0 shellacking administered them by Spokane Flyers in their last meeting, will be revengeful hosts tonight to the Flyers in a WIHL game at the Civic Arena.

The two teams have given fans good hockey in past games here and a club that can claim three 30-goal men — Lee Hyssop, Wendy Keller and Don Appleton—is likely to earn its revenge in a hurry.

Spokane took Trail Smoke Eaters 9-6 Thursday night at Trail. Four of the goals were fired in by Lloyd Maxfield, third highest scorer in the league and hot on the heels of Keller and Hyssop. Maxfield, Kubasek and Nadeau picked up 15 points — six goals and nine assists.

In between periods, Nelson and Spokane Junior Chamber of Commerce members will stage a broomball display.

JOHANSSON NIPS ERSKINE HOPES

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Ingemar Johansson, Sweden's undefeated European heavyweight champion, Friday night ruined Joe Erskine's hopes for a world title contest.

Erskine's seconds tossed in the towel at the end of the 13th round of the scheduled 15-round title contest after the husky Swede had piled up a huge lead.

It was the 19th victory in as many pro fights for the six-foot-one Swede.

MITEFF WINS SPLIT DECISION

NEW YORK (AP) — With blood streaming from his split nose, Argentina's Alex Miteff smashed out a split decision over Cuba's Nino Valdes Friday night in a savage brawl at Madison Square Garden.

Valdes weighed 209½ pounds, Miteff 205.

Fights

Los Angeles — Davey Moore, 126, Springfield, Ohio, outpointed Fili Nava, 126, Mexico, 10.

Rossland Skier, Vern Anderson Captures Senior Downhill

By JOHN SHORT

KIMBERLEY—Young Vern Anderson, an all around athlete from Rossland who represents Red Mountain Ski Club here at the Canadian ski championships which highlight the annual Snow Fiesta, upset the experts Friday afternoon.

Not only did he upset the experts, he upset the guessperts, who had picked the experts to win the senior downhill, and what's more he did it by 5.1 seconds over his nearest rival, former Canadian junior champ Gerald Gannon of Port Arthur Ski Club.

Anderson's triumph was almost completely unexpected, but fellow members of the high-riding Rossland club claim they knew all the while that he was capable of many things, among them a victory in the downhill. It has been noised about that Anderson is almost equally proficient in the slalom, which will be held today.

Another Anderson—blonde Beverley, skiing for the Mammoth Mountain Club of California—won by nearly half a minute over her nearest follower, Ginger Edwards of Vancouver-Seymour Ski Club. Miss Anderson, a slight, daring skier who is rated one of the best in the U.S., currently completed the shortened women's course in 1.22.4, while Miss Edwards, who fell in the late stages, clocked 1.51.1. There is no relationship between the Andersons, although each is fair haired if that can be classed as pertinent information.

Third in men's competition was Franz Gabl, a professional who competed with Bill Irwin of Fort William, Ontario's, Loch Lomond Ski Club as only entrant in the "open" class. Gabl, 6.3 seconds behind the Rosslander in elapsed time, defeated Irwin by nearly six seconds, neither Gabl nor Irwin was eligible for victory.

Although somewhat less than consistent, snow conditions were far better than Fiesta officials had anticipated. It was extremely fast at the top of the 6200-foot run, slightly softer and therefore slower towards the middle and fast again at the bottom.

Fortunately the run of accidents which had been forecast failed to develop to mar the day for spectators on the picturesque North Star Mountain with awe-inspiring view of the Canadian Rockies. A pair of juniors, Mickey Johnson and Dick Thorpe of Red Mountain, took headers during their runs and incurred facial cuts. Johnson, who fell near the start of the run, was treated for minor abrasions.

Anderson's time was spectacular, of course, but only slightly slower and no less outstanding was junior competitor Butch Boutry of Red Mountain who further attested the rising power of the West Kootenay club with a time of 1.45.3 seconds. Although Boutry was racing for time only, he hit the finish line only a half second behind Gabl, a bronze medallist for the Austrian Olympic team at the 1948 Olympics and coach of Canadian girls and boys in 1952 and 1956 respectively.

Gail Achtzener of Kimberley, only junior woman to show although racing exclusively against the clock, posted a time of 1.53-8, which would have been good enough for third place ahead of Lorna Turner of Seymour whose 1.57.3 was 2.2 seconds better than Ruth Eek of Rossland.

Gail, a high school student, so impressed ski officials with her showing that she has been invited to attend tryouts for the B.C. junior women's team.

Kimberley Hoopsters Rack Up 50-42 Win

KIMBERLEY — Kimberley's Selkirk High School hoop quartet posted the biggest upset of the first East Kootenay - West Kootenay high school basketball tournament on their home floor Friday night with a 50-42 victory over one of the two West Kootenay powerhouses entered.

Kimberley took advantage of the absence — for the rest of the season — of large Gerry Fabro to control both backboards aginst the weary J. Lloyd Crowe aggregation of Trail which had opened the six-team double knockout affair with a 42-31 victory over Sparwood.

In other games Friday, first day of the affair which will end tonight, Nelson's L. V. Rogers High School Bombers tripped Creston 54-34 and Creston topped Salmo 38-31.

HELD ADVANTAGE

Kimberley's general advantage in height and tight zone defence held the leg-weary Hawks to seven points in the last quarter while piling up 14. That made the difference as throughout the final quarter Trail refused to shoot from far out in an attempt to loosen the victors' defence.

L. Hendrickson paced Kimberley with 15 points while J. Nelson added 10 and D. Ure had nine. Manducca had 14 for Trail, Thorpe led Trail with 13 points in their opener, while Bressanutti had seven against a surprisingly stubborn Sparwood aggregation. Only three men scored for Sparwood with Krall notching 18. Kybachuk eight and Podrasky five.

High-scoring Bernie Monteleone potted 15 points in the last half to pace Nelson in a scoring way although the all-round play of Earl Farenholtz who picked up 15 points held Nelson in the early going when the big gun was shackled. Joe Liens was best for Creston with 12 points. Leins picked up nine points in the defeat of Salmo, while Ed Mesenchuk had 12, W. Postnikoff had 15 and M. Dorey 11 for Salmo.

Northern Ontario Wins School Curling Title

By ED SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — The Fort William Collegiate rink skipped by 19-year-old Tom Tod won the Canadian high school championship for Northern Ontario Friday night, defeating British Columbia 8-5 in the 11th and final round of the round-robin tournament.

The win was a must for the experienced Fort William crew as Prince Edward Island edged New Brunswick 8-7. An Island win coupled with a Northern Ontario loss would have forced a playoff. Prince Edward Island finished second with eight wins and two losses.

Tod gave himself partial insurance by tripping Art Burke's Prince Edward Island quartet 7-6 Friday afternoon. That win broke their first-place tie. Northern Ontario's only loss was to Ontario by an 8-6 score in the seventh round.

TIED AT THIRD

In other evening matches Saskatchewan took an extra end to beat Ontario 10-7 and Alberta drubbed Nova Scotia 12-4. This tied Ontario, Nova Scotia and Alberta in third place, each with 6-4 records.

Saskatchewan and New Brunswick tied for sixth with five wins and five losses. British Columbia and Manitoba, who dropped an 11-end 8-7 decision to Quebec, finished with 4-6 marks. It was Quebec who ended their campaign Friday afternoon with a 7-5 loss to Manitoba, and a winless record.

Tod was presented with the trophy by the company's Canadian manager, Frank W. McIntosh of Toronto. Each member of the Fort William rink received replica plaques.

Standings follow:
