To Revoke Immigration Restriction

To Revise Prohibited List In Promised "New Deal"

OTTAWA (CP) — The government is revoking a widely-criticized new immigration restriction and will revise the list of persons prohibited from entering Canada as immigrants.

Immigration Minister Fairclough said Wednesday in the Commons that she plans to ask the cabinet to rescind an order made public April 2 restricting sponsored immigrants from certain countries to all but the closest relatives of Canadian residents.

She said the Immigration Act is being thoroughly reviewed and that she hopes to suggest amendments in a few months' time to bring about "a new deal in immigration matters."

In one of the strongest attacks this session against the record of the former Liberal government, Mrs. Fairclough denied that the order being rescinded was designed to curtail immigration from Italy.

Speaking in the final day of the budget debate, Mrs. Fairclough charged that the Liberal party had deliberately misconstrued and misrepresented the intention of the order.

"CRUEL AND INHUMAN"

J. W. Pickersgill (L — Bonavista - Twillingate), former Liberal immigration minister, had described the order as "cruel and inhuman." On April 10 he urged that the order be revolked and that Mrs. Fairclough "admit her mistake."

The budget debate ended shortly afterwards with the House voting 180 to 47 to approve in principle Finance Minister Fleming's budget for the fiscal year that started April 1.

Under the controversial order, residents of Canada may no longer sponsor immigration and unmarried children under 21 of these two classes of relatives from certain European countries, including Italy, Israel, Lebanon, Turkey, South America, Mexico and Central America.

The only relatives who may be sponsored from these countries are a husband or wife, unmarried son or daughter, parent, grandparent, fiance, or unmarried orphan newphew or niece under 21.

The order does not affect British subjects from the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand or South Africa or citizens of Ireland, France and the United States.

Mrs. Fairclough said there are "many things in the (immigration) act that I don't like."

HOPE FOR NEW DEAL

"Out of all this, it is my hope we can produce a new deal in immigration matters: Positive approaches, democratic programing, raising of standards (of immigrants), flexible practices for selective immigration to replace rigid restrictions in the present act and regulations."

She said when amendments were drafted it was planned to consult with representatives of various ethnic groups, the ethnic press, immigrant aid agencies, labor, business, the church and welfare groups.

Mrs. Fairclough said Section 20 of regulations under the Immigration Act—setting out persons prohibited from entering Canada as immigrants—will be replaced.

Russia Levels New Accusation

Condemns U.S. Move To Give Nuclear Weapons to W. Germany

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia accused the Western powers Wednesday night of attempting to "wreck in advance" forthcoming East-West talks on Germany.

The charge was made in a note to the United States condemning steps to give nuclear weapons to the West German armed forces.

The note also criticized American moves to equip other Atlantic Pact powers with nuclear and rocket weapons and to station rocket ramps in those countries.

Details of the note, handed over Tuesday in Moscow to U.S. ambassador Llewellyn Thompson by Andrie Gromyko, Soviet foreign minister, were released Wednesday night by the official Soviet news agency Tass.

Plans to equip West Germany, Greece, Turkey and other NATO countries with nuclear and rocket weapons and deploy American rocket ramps in these countries "contradict the targets of the foreign ministers' meeting and the top-level conference," the note declared.

The note said that at the present moment, when the Big Four had agreed to discuss the question of a peace treaty with Germany at the May 11 Geneva talks, "measures for the atomic armament of the Federal Republic of Germany cannot be assessed otherwise than as an attempt to wreck these talks in advance."

In Washington, the state department said the Soviet Union had shown a hypocritical attitude in its notes to the United States and earlier to West Germany.

It described the notes as "propaganda" on the eve of the western Big-Four foreign ministers conference opening in Paris April 29.

The delivery of the note to the United States coincided with one sent to West Germany Tuesday warning that the nuclear arming of the federal republic and the concentration of foreign nuclear weapons on its territory could "considerably increase the danger of a military clash."

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization agreed in principle in December, 1957, that bases for U.S. intermediate-range missiles should be established in Western Europe. Under the agreement, Italy already has agreed to receive missiles and missiles have been delivered to Britain under a separate agreement.

BONN (Reuters) — Each West German army division will be equipped with Honest John missiles, Defence Minister Franz-Josef Strauss said in an interview published here Wednesday.

American Honest John short-range ground-to-ground unguided missiles can be equipped with atomic warheads.

Strauss said that the navy would need guided missiles to provide a floating air defence in the Baltic.

Tear Gas Puts Quick End to Prison Riot

CONCORD, Mass. (AP) — A band of Concord reformatory prisoners staged a mutiny Wednesday night, but a relentless attack on their stronghold by state police brought it to an abrupt end within four hours.

The rebels seized several hostages and holed up in a prison building.

State troopers, called to the 80-year-old institution from all over the state, laid down a tear-gas barrage in their successful drive to rout the rebels.

35 IN REVOLT

Thirty - five convicts were involved in the revolt, the second in a Massachusetts penal institution within six weeks. They held 14 hostages, including 12 guards and two civilian workers, according to figures given out by Governor Foster Furcolo's office.

Originally, it was reported 63 prisoners were rebelling, but when the uprising ended, officials said some were involuntary participants. It also had been announced that 16 hostages were held but the governor's office corrected that total.

As the gas bombs hurtled through windows into the prisoners' stronghold, helmeted and gas masked troopers moved in on the attack.

Lt.-Col. John C. Blake, state police executive officer, said no one was injured and no one escaped.

SOUGHT CONFERENCE

Blake said the prisoners demanded a conference with officials as their price of surrender. He rejected this demand and told reporters "I never negotiate with anyone. We were here to get them out and restore order."

The gas barrage scattered convicts but they maintain control of hostages in the retreat to upper floors.

As the grim battle went on, the rest of the prison population of 440 set up a din in their cells, hooting and hollering at the police.

The reformatory is on Route 2, main highway between Boston and Fitchburg, about 18 miles northwest of Boston.

TRAIL REBELS

The troopers flushed the rebels and their hostages from a ground floor stronghold, then trailed them to the second and finally the third floor. Originally, the rebels had control of the kitchen, a store room and the security room.

As the drive continued, acetylene torches were used to burn through steel doors which the fleeing convicts were locking behind them in their retreat. Officials said they took the keys from the guard-hostages.

When they could no longer escape from the advancing troopers, the mutinous band meekly surrendered.

The Food, an Consumers "Stodgy"

TORQUAY, England (CP) — A six-nation gastronomic festival opened here Wednesday with an oven-hot indictment of English cooking.

"The crimes which are committed against food in this country should be a hanging offence," declared Lady Lewisham, 29, pretty politician and television personality.

She had a few warm words for Englishmen, too, roasting them as "the most stodgy and unimaginative eaters in the world".

Predict Lower Prices for Dairy Products

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Consumers may soon find prices somehwat lower for cheddar cheese and dry skimmed milk, though the price of butter is likely to remain unchanged for another year.

Qualified informants said Wednesday the government has decided—in efforts to reduce surpluses—on a new dairy price support program involving some floor reductions and the use of deficiency payments to ease the impacon farmers' earnings.

To go into operation May 1, the new program likely would include these major points:

1. Farmers would get a subsidy on milk sold to plants producing cheese and concentrated milk products. This subsidy, in the form of a deficiency payment, would amount to about 25 cents a hundredweight.

2. The present floor price on butter of 64 cents a pound wholesale, expiring April 30, would be renewed without change. This would be a major victory for dairy farmers since the government had been advised by some of its experts to reduce this floor to overcome a surplus of about 50,000,000 pounds.

3. The cheddar cheese support price would be reduced to 32 cents a pound from 34 cents, basis Toronto.

4. A reduction also would be made on the skim milk floor. The support on spray - processed powder will be decreased to 10 cents from 15 cents a pound; on the roller type to eight cents from 10 cents a pound.

Hudson Bay Pelts in Payment to Queen

WINNIPEG (CP)—Queen Elizabeth will be presented with two elk heads and two black beaver pelts when she visits Winnipeg this summer.

The Hudson's Bay Company says the heads and beaver pelts are due the Queen under a royal charter granted the company by King Charles II in 1670.

Man Jumps Off Coast Bridge

VANCOUVER (CP) — A former Edmonton man ignored the pleas of onlookers and plunged 200 feet to his death into Burrard Inlet from the Lions Gate Bridge Wednesday.

Dead is Allan Cemm, 24.

His 20-year-old companion told police Cemm raped her twice before he drove to the bridge and leaped to his death.

Four men pleaded with Cemm to climb back to safety as he clung to a girder. "To hell with you," he shouted.

The woman told police Cemm raped her in his car after they had been drinking beer together. He forced her to stay in the car while he drove to the bridge.

She said Cemm stopped the car in the centre of the span, walked to the west side and climbed over the rail. She drove the car to the toll gate and West Vancouver police were called.

For several minutes, as Cemm clung precariously to the girder, a tugboat patrolled below, playing searchlights on the water. Then he released his grasp and plunged to the water, landing 50 feet from the tug.

24-Cent Increase For Carpenters

VANCOUVER (CP) — Some 10,000 carpenters throughout British Columbia have accepted a 24-cent-an-hour wage increase spread over two years, it was announced Wednesday.

The decision by members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (CLC) was made in a referendum. It removes the main threat of disruption in the B.C. construction industry, hard hit by strikes last year.

The new contract will establish a basic rate of $2.80 an hour from next May 1 and $2.92 from Jan. 1, 1960. The agreement expires March 31, 1961.

The carpenters had previously rejected a 24-cent offer from the employers, members of the Heavy Construction Association of B.C. and the B.C. General Contractors Association.

Says More GPs Needed to Schools

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. J. B. Rose of Edmonton said Wednesday that increased specialization is having a bad effect on medical teaching and general practitioners are needed on medical school staffs.

Dr. Rose, retiring president of the Canadian College of General Practice, said the general physician has all but disappeared from the teaching staff of medical schools.

Because of the emphasis on research, the pure research specialist was getting advancement over the pure teaching specialist.

"This may provide for better research," said Dr. Rose. "But it doesn't necessarily provide better medical teaching."

Her Absence . . . Unavoidable

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — The name of Charlotte E. Bryant of Missoula was drawn Tuesday for a jury to hear a traffic manslaughter case.

She won't be there.

Larry D. Blankney was charged with manslaughter after Mrs. Bryant's death in an accident June 15, 1958.

Witness Insane, Trial Told

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—A psychiatrist told an assize court jury here Wednesday that a witness in the murder trial of Olin Lee Brage, 53, is insane.

Prosecutor J. S. Aikins introduced testimony from Dr. J. C. Thomas of Vancouver in an application for the evidence of John Morrison given at the preliminary hearing on the murder charge to be read to the jury.

No objection was raised by defence counsel Frank Christian and Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson consented to the move.

Brage has pleaded not guilty to a charge of murdering German immigrant Anita Budde at Kaleden Aug. 3, 1958.

Her partially-clothed body was found in a fruit picker's cabin rented by Brage.

The search for the suspect centred for a time around Morrison who was later charged with the attempted murder of a police officer who questioned him in connection with the Budde murder on a lonely road in West Summerland.

Morrison was eventually captured in a gun battle near Tonasked, Wash.

Wednesday three witnesses testified the accused man pounded on their doors early Aug. 4, shouting "Anita is dead, Anita is dead."

Dr. W. A. Wickett of Penticton who performed an autopsy on the woman said she died from a severe blow to the head caused by a blunt instrument. Asked if the murder weapon could have been a gun, Dr. Wickett said no, but said later it could have been a rifle.

He said the blow would have required a "great deal" of force.

Truckers Go Back to Work

TORONTO (CP) — Striking members of Teamsters' Union Local 938 in Toronto began a return to work Wednesday night at the request of Detroit troubleshooter Dave Johnston, representative of James Hoffa, Teamsters' international president, and their own four-man committee.

The return - to - work report came late Wednesday night in a meeting between the trouble shooters and representatives of the strikers who began the wildcat walkout in Montreal last Friday.

Lead, Zinc Cutbacks Forecast

NEW YORK (AP) — American Smelting and Refining Co. will make drastic cutbacks in production of lead and zinc at foreign mines to meet a "serious over-supply" of the two metals.

12 Years for Drug Trafficker

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bail-jumping Louis Melvin Bronson, 37, was sentenced Wednesday to 12 years in prison as a trafficker in narcotics.

"I have come to the conclusion that you were in the drug business in a big way," said Judge R. A. Sargent in county court.

The 12-year term will follow consecutively on a two-year sentence given Bronson in January for skipping bail three years ago on a charge of possessing drugs for the purpose of trafficking. His $20,000 bail, posted after his arrest here in May, 1956, was forfeited.

Bronson was picked up in San Diego, Calif., three months ago and deported. He was found guilty of the trafficking charge last Thursday.

Judge Sargent said Bronson testified he was not a drug addict himself and the judge said Bronson apparently was in the business for profit.

OTTAWA TO CREATE ENERGY BOARD

OTTAWA (CP)—The government started parliamentary machinery rolling to create a national energy board which would exercise a measure of control over Canada's gas and oil industries.

Trade Minister Churchill gave customary notice on the Commons order paper of a resolution to precede formal introduction of the necessary legislation.

The brief notice gave no details of how the board would function or how much control it would have over the industries.

The Borden energy commission, which recommended that the board be set up, suggested that it have power to fix company profit rates through company financing and selling prices for gas and oil. This brought deep concern in the industry but various government spokesmen have made clear that not all of the commission's recommendations are being accepted.

The Borden commission, in its report last October, urged tighter federal control over the industries and rapped pipeline officers for reaping huge paper profits on stock deals.

The six - man commission, headed by Toronto lawyer Henry Borden, now is in the midst of writing a second report of the feasibility of an Alberta-to-Montreal oil pipeline as proposed by independent Canadian oil companies.

The companies proposed this to offset the loss of markets in the United States. The Montreal market now is served by imports, mostly from Venezuela.

Drought, 'Hoppers May Hit Prairies

REGINA (CP) — Farmers are preparing to fight drought and grasshoppers as one of the driest springs on record shapes up on the Prairies.

"Prospects are generally most unfavorable," R. E. McKenzie, of the Saskatchewan agriculture department's plant industry branch said recently.

"Many fields in the south are so dry that grain would not germinate now."

Jack Forbes, assistant director of weeds and publications for Manitoba, said parts of his province, west of Portage la Prairie, are extremely dry.

"It could be quite serious unless we get moisture, either rain or snow, soon," he said.

GOOD IN SOUTHWEST

R. E. English, provincial statistician in Alberta, said some Alberta districts are concerned that there will not be enough moisture for germination. Only in southwestern Alberta is the moisture situation reasonably good, he said. Sub-surface moisture was "fair to poor" in other regions.

Mr. McKenzie added that the first grasshoppers will hatch during the first week in May. They will live on weeds until the first grain breaks the surface of the ground.

"Then they'll be ready to move right in," he said.

An extremely bad grasshopper infestation has been predicted for 1959.

The dry spring follows a winter of only moderate snowfall and an exceptionally dry season in 1958. Precipitation in the Regina district in the first three weeks of April has been only .10 inches, compared with a norm of .77 for the month. In 1937, a year of drought in which many farmers did not bother to cut their crop, there were .18 inches of moisture in April.

DRIFTING BAD

L. J. Hutchison, director of Saskatchewan's agricultural representative branch, said soil drifting is quite bad in parts of southern Saskatchewan.

"There is one area where the highway ditches are drifted full for three miles," he said.

Saskatchewan is already considering assistance to move livestock out of dry areas to regions where there is pasture, Mr. McKenzie said.

Are prospects as bad as in the dusty 1930s?

"The signs are there," says J. D. Stratychuk, of the Saskatchewan wheat pool's country elevator organization.

"Sloughs are dry; water in lakes is right down.

"But many fields have a trash cover now and a rain could change the story as it couldn't have in the 1930s."

Plan Public Hearing on Train Service

OTTAWA (CP)—A public hearing on the CPR's troubled Kettle Valley train service across southern British Columbia is planned soon by the board of transport commissioners.

H. W. Herridge, CCF MP for Kootenay West, said Wednesday he has been informed by Transport Minister Hees that the board plans to hold a public hearing in the area as soon as possible.

An official said later a date for the hearing, probably in Nelson, will be set shortly.

INTERNATIONAL CODE PROPOSED

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — An international code to ensure fair treatment for foreign investors was suggested Wednesday at the congress of the International Chamber of Commerce.

The suggestion came during a discussion entitled: The Developing Nations — Forward in Partnership.

The discussion centred around the need for private investors of developed countries to invest in enterprises of newly - developing countries.

It emphasized that aid from government to government is not the right answer — except as an emergency measure.

Developed countries were criticized for their slowness in investing money where it is most needed; and developing countries were criticized for failing, in many instances, to provide an atmosphere that will create confidence.

Canada, Australia Trade Pact Ready for Signatures

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA(CP) — Canada and Australia have speedily completed foundations for building bigger trade between these two Commonwealth partners. The next step will be formal signing of a new trade pact.

Trade Minister Churchill Wednesday announced that a Canadian delegation, led by Mr. Churchill's deputy, John English, now has completed preliminary negotiations with Australian counterparts.

The entire job of preparing the basis for a new Canadian - Australian pact, the first in 28 years, was done in just three weeks. This contrasts with Canadian negotiations with Russia for renewal of the three - year trade agreement with that country which have been going on for some three months with no sign of any successful completion.

Along with bargaining on a new trade pact, Canada and Australia also discussed various other trade issues and Mr. Churchill said of these: "I am sure these discussions have been most fruitful and valuable and will contribute to the further expansion of Canada - Australia trade and to the close co-operation between our two countries in our approach to Commonwealth and world trade developments."

EXPORT CARS

Australia is a medium - sized Commonwealth market for a number of Canadian products, including passenger cars and trucks, woodpulp, newsprint, aluminum, tobacco, canned fish, lumber and chemicals.

In 1958, Canada's exports to that country rose to about $53,000,000 from $49,000,000 in 1957. Imports from Australia, including wool, sugar, meat, dried fruit and wine, increased to $33,000,000 from $28,700,000.

This total 1958 trade of $86,000,000—imports and exports — contrasts with the $10,800,000 trade when Canada and Australia signed their 1931 agreement.

The two countries participate in the Commonwealth preferential tariff system, providing special lower tariff rates to Commonwealth members.

It is understood that some tariff reductions may be involved in the new trade pact being prepared. Any reductions agreed to by the two countries would be passed along to all other Commonwealth members.

And in This Corner . . .

CORNING, N.Y. (AP)—This city has a new ordinance requiring the confinement of all dogs, and a city councilman's nine-year-old scotty was the first to be arrested.

Councilman George Montopoli, who opposed the ordinance, said his dog Bimbo was sleeping on the sidewalk in front of the family home when dog catchers grabbed him.

Montopoli's children were playing nearby.

"I'll resign from the city council, if necessary, to fight this miscarriage of justice," he said.

The law, which went into effect last Saturday, was intended to rid the streets of stray dogs, not family pets, Montopoli said.

The scotty was taken to the Humane Society's shelter, where room and board is 50 cents a day. His owner must pay a fine of up to $25 before his pet is freed.

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP)—Vincent Van Derhoof, of Chester, N.Y., answered an Orange County summons for jury duty with a letter saying:

"I got good sense and if you really want me I'll be there."

He continued: "But first I think I should square it with you. You see, I'm only nine years old."

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan has been outfitted with a new head to make him look older.

The old one on the Macmillan statue at Tussaud's Wax Works has been doing duty since 1951. Today there is a remote look in his eyes which betrays the heavy burden of responsibility he carries.

The new head also has more grey hairs and wrinkles.

The Tussaud record for new heads is held by Sir Winston Churchill. He has had 13 of them.

W. W. Wait was named acting president and George Burns acting secretary. Others attending included Dr. G. R. Barrett, H. W. Ramsden, R. B. Allan, A. H. Sinclair, N. C. Stibbs and Fraser Tees.

Adult collectors from Nelson and district interested in joining the club are being asked to attend the meeting at the Hume. It is hoped to form a junior division at a later date in time to have activities in full swing by next fall.

A club already exists in Trail and a new one was formed last year in Castlegar. It is expected that at least once a year a meeting of all the clubs in the district will be held. Spokane club may also take part.

It was stressed Wednesday that collectors living outside the city would be welcome and that Mr. Wait would provide information to those wishing fuller details.

Cranbrook To Vote On Substation May 7

CRANBROOK — Ratepayers will vote here May 7 on a bylaw which would authorize issuance of debentures for $77,000 for the proposed purchase of lighting plant equipment to add a third substation to the city's electrical system, which is supplied by the East Kootenay Power and Light Company.

The city electrical superintendent considers need for the additional substation urgent in view of the fact that the city demand already exceeds the capacity of the two existing substations, and that a number of industrial developments indicate the demand will be greater this year.

About six months will be required for delivery of the equipment which the electrical department would install. This means that if approval is obtained, it would be fall before the project could be undertaken.

Growers Urged To Apply Apple Scab Sprays Soon

CRESTON — Kootenay apple growers are being advised that the time for application of the first apple scab control spray is fast approaching.

Spores ("seed" of the disease) which are produced in diseased leaves on the ground are now fully developed. When there is sufficient rainfall to moisten the leaves, the spores will be "shot" in to the air. The spores can be carried for great distances by winds.

Therefore, apple growers would be well advised to apply the first apple scab control spray as soon as there is any indication of the approach of a prolonged ariny period, says J. E. Swales, district horticulturist at Creston. However, regardless of weather conditions, it would be advisable to apply the first apple scab spray not later than the cluster-bud or pre-pink stage. This will be at the end of this week in orchards in earlier sections of the district.

It is recommended that lime sulphur be applied in the first spray for control of apple scab. For information on timing of succeeding apple scab control sprays and fungicides recommended for use in Kootenay orchards, apple growers are referred by Mr. Swales to their 1959 spray calendar.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Brigadier Hector Nyrerod, correctional services officer, said Tuesday the Salvation Army's correctional services department saved British Columbia taxpayers an estimated $150,000 last year. He said the estimate was based on the fact 3,000 men were turned over to the Army by the courts who normally would have been sent to jail for short terms at a cost of $6 to the government.

The Cranbrook entry, "Sounding Brass", is being directed by Mrs. Joe Stropky. Two entries will be presented by the Fernie Little Theatre. They are "The Late Miss Cordell", directed by Mrs. Dewi Morgan, and "Color Bar", with Patsy Caravetta as director.

The Fernie Little Theatre group, which is in charge of local arrangements, has been divided into committees to look after accommodation, publicity, ticket sales, scenery, stage properties and other necessary details in connection with a drama festival.

Club Bids Farewell to Salmo Man

SALMO — A past president and charter member of the Salmo Rotary Club, Frank Burger, was honored at a farewell ladies' night gathering here Tuesday night.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Burger were presented with gifts. They leave shortly for the Coast to make their home.

Harry D. Harrison of Nelson Rotary Club, past district governor and founder of the Salmo club, attended, and inducted a new member, E. McNaught, manager of the Bank of Commerce branch.

Mr. Harrison gave a resume of Rotary growth and reminisced on formation of the Salmo club and on Rotary history in the Kootenay. Nelson club sponsored formation of the Salmo club four years ago.

A sing song was conducted by Fred T. Middleton and Nigel Doyle, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. W. A. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Burger came to Salmo in November, 1951, from Edmonton to operate the Salmo Hotel. Mr. Burger has been an active member of the Board of Trade, chairing the tourist and publicity committee, was Centennial chairman last year and for several years sponsored a Salmo softball team.

Mrs. Burger has also been active in community affairs and was a member of the curling club. Mrs. Burger and their three children here will leave for Burnaby this weekend and Mr. Burger will join them early in May.

Announcement of the new hotel ownership will be made shortly.

Celgar Names Mill Manager

CASTLEGAR — Celgar Limited has announced the appointment of Eugene De Luca as mill manager of the bleached kraft pulp mill under construction near here.

Mr. De Luca, born in Montreal, graduated from the University of Toronto as a chemical engineer in 1937. He has 20 years of experience in kraft pulp manufacturing, sales, and sulphite dissolving pulps, with Canadian International Paper Company, Fraser Companies Ltd., Irving Pulp and Paper Company Ltd., and Alaska Pine and Cellulose Company Ltd.

During the past two years he has been manager of the western division of Electric Reduction Company Ltd. in North Vancouver.

VICTORIA (CP)—Labor Minister Lyle Wicks Tuesday night said here representatives of the International Woodworkers of America (CLC) and the Forest Industrial Relations met in a "very amicable meeting" to discuss a new wage contract for the province's 27,000 wood workers. Mr. Wicks did not comment on an IWA proposal that he act as a mediator in the dispute rather than apply for normal conciliation procedure. The IWA is seeking a 20-per-cent across-the-board increase.

FAMOUS COMEDY "Charlie's Aunt" will be presented in Castlegar May 13 by the Players' Club of University of B.C. Left to right are Pamela Rutledge as Kitty Verdun, John Sparks as Lord Fancourt Babberley and Valerie Dowling as Amy Spettigue.

Cranbrook Renewing Garbage Site Bid

CRANBROOK — City council this week accepted the recommendation of works superintendent Emil Erickson that it drop consideration of re-locating the city garbage dump to the Second Alkali Lake. Soil surface in that area would require gravel road construction which would double the present cost of garbage disposal, he reported.

Under East Kootenay Health Unit sanitarian department pressure for a new dump, the city is now considering a site about one mile east of the present dump and north of the Cranbrook Golf Club property. Objection to city purchase of this was filed through the Farmers' Institute by two dairies which graze cattle there. The city will renew its purchase application for 40 acres there, to be completely fenced if necessary.

This week's council meeting confirmed appointment of H. M. Wurzer to the city works staff as maintenance mechanic at its garage and workshop on Baker Street. It also accepted the tender of A. E. Jones Company Ltd. of cement at $1.32½ per 87½-pound bag f.o.b. for its cement needs for the current year.

Applications for extra-municipal water connections were approved for L. DeCecco in Slaterville, and Shaw's Service on Van Horne Street for three properties in that area, and for a sewer connection for property of M. Malkiewicz on the Wattsberg road just west of the city.

The city plans to make efforts to option for purchase a 100 by 150 foot piece of land adjoining its Memorial Arena as the location for additional parking space required with increased rink use. Application by Cranbrook school district for a three-inch water extension from the city to serve the new playing field at Mount Baker School was approved, and the connection fee was set at $285.

Final reading was given a bylaw establishing the 1959 city tax rate at 42 mills; unchanged from the 1958 rate. Its composition is 21.67 for schools, 15.53 for general purposes and 4.80 for debenture purposes, compared with 21.03 for schools, 15.04 for general purposes and 5.93 for debentures last year.

UBC President Says Thanks for Support

CRANBROOK — Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, president of the University of B.C., on a tour through the Kootenays acknowledging support of the university development fund last year, reported at three meetings in this area the "excellent" use to which money contributed is being put in meeting long-standing facility needs on the campus. Alumni Associations in East Kootenay contributed $39,000 to this drive last year.

In Cranbrook, hosts at the dinner at which he spoke were Cranbrook alumni, the Cranbrook Chamber of Commerce and the Cranbrook district school board, with the Parent-Teacher Association, which prepared and served the dinner. J. S. Johnston was chairman of the after-dinner program, and alumni president W. G. Klinkhamer introduced Dr. MacKenzie.

Pickets Continue To Prevent Nfld. Unloading Ship

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Pickets continued Wednesday to prevent the unloading of a British ship carrying 700 tons of Newfoundland-made newsprint.

Members of the International Woodworkers of America, an affiliate of the AFL-CIO, areseeking to organize at the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company.

T. J. Pick, steamship division manager for T. Smith and Sons, agents for the vessel Bestwood, Tuesday said, "we don't see any relief right now. The picketing is continuing and we don't have any idea how long it will last."

Union longshoremen and laborers are honoring the picket line.

Meanwhile, the mill manager of the company in Grand Falls, Nfld., said Tuesday night company efforts are being made to obtain an injunction against pickets preventing the ship from unloading.

C. R. Tittemore said the Montmorency Paper Company of New York is sales outlet for the Grand Falls company.

He said lawyers representing Montmorency are trying to work out the legal aspects and "are seeking an injunction against the picketers." Tittemore said he was "certain they would get the injunction."

FERNIE MAN'S TERM INCREASED

REGINA (CP) — The Saskatchewan Appeal Court Tuesday increased to 2½ years the sentence on a Fernie man convicted of robbery and assault.

The crown had appealed against a sentence Feb. 12 this year by Judge T. M. Hanbidge in district court in Prince Albert on Kenneth Ronald Dunlap, 40.

The original sentence was one year for robbery and six months concurrent for assault causing bodily harm.

The crown argued that the sentence was inadequate both in regard to the offence and to Dunlap's record, a multiple one for various crimes.

Appeal court increased the one-year sentence for robbery to 2½ years, and the concurrent sentence for assault to two years.

Greenwood's "Gold" Find Is Either Cache or Fake

GREENWOOD — An answer is still being sought here to the "gold" mystery.

Three Greenwood men, out on a logging operation Saturday, were given several pounds of a yellow metallic substance which may or may not prove to be gold.

Stan Ruzicka, superintendent for Cooke Lumber Company, and Dick Robinson and Bob Albright, contractors for the same firm, aren't saying how they came into possession of several bottles of the substance.

But they don't believe it to be water-washed gold from Rock Creek, as reported earlier by a Coast newspaper.

Mr. Ruzicka told The Nelson Daily News Wednesday:

"It's either a cache of stolen concentrate, or it's phoney."

Although the particles ranging in size from rice to pinheads weigh heavily and appear to be gold, samples have been sent away to be assayed.

If the find should be gold, at $35 an ounce the value of the lot would amount to several thousand dollars.

RCMP are checking reports and have most of the substance in safe-keeping, Mr. Ruzicka said.

While the discovery touched off a minor flurry of excitement, it also gave rise to false stories of a rich placer strike in the area, according to Mr. Ruzicka, who is president of Greenwood branch of the Canadian Legion.

$1 Million Contract Awarded on Cutoff

A contract for $1,055,310 has been awarded to P. F. Law construction company of Vancouver for a 9.56 mile section in the Sheep Lake area on the Blueberry-Paulson cutoff between Christina Lake and Kinnaird.

"Work on this latest contract will begin soon," highways minister P. A. Gaglardi said in making the announcement.

Only one more contract remains to be let on the 55-mile highway through the Monashee range—one for about 5.35 miles of road.

Gyro Canvass Unique—Support It

It was very early recognized by medical men in past ages that blood was the important factor in life and despite the life saving achievements of science in the realms of antibiotics, blood still remains in a class of its own, for which there is no substitute.

In addition to its fund raising the Red Cross annually makes a drive for blood which can be used for transfusions in those desperate cases where loss of blood in a patient is severe or where it will aid in a speedy recovery.

In 1958 Nelson's quota was 800 pints, of which 517 were actually collected. Of this 338 pints of whole blood were used and an unrecorded amount of plasma. In the whole of B.C. 57,846 pints were donated, which though a considerable achievement is still far short of requriement.

In 1959 the quota for Nelson will be 900 to 1000 pints, which will call for 400 new donors between the ages of 18-65 years. Blood, however, cannot be taken from those who have had jaundice or malaria.

Under the chairmanship of Robert Emory, the Gyro Club is making the drive on behalf of the Red Cross. Immediately after their meeting at seven o'clock on April 27th they will make a house-to-house visitation to sign up all who are willing to donate.

Cards will later be sent to those who sign up telling them when to attend the Blood Clinic in the Canadian Legion at the times set aside for that purpose—the afternoons and evenings of June 4 and 5.

There is only the slightest discomfort in donating blood and there should be no hesitation in signing up for this purpose. Besides the routine requirements of hospitals there is also the need to provide a reserve for unexpected emergencies. This is a loan which cannot be oversubscribed.

England's Patron Saint Honored Today

Today, April 23, is St. George's Day and St. George, though some people, including a great many Englishmen, do not know it, is England's patron saint. This is not remarkable for the Englishman is not wont to make a display of his patriotism. He much prefers to keep it locked away in his heart and to bring it out only on special occasions and then its expression is apt to be in the form of deeds rather than words—as the battle honors of his flags attest.

But at heart the English are sentimentalists. They have a deep and abiding love for their country—"England's green and pleasant land," but despite this they have gone to the four corners of the world bringing law and order to savage peoples and justice to the downtrodden. They have left their dead on many battlefields and the sea holds an uncounted number of those who died for her freedom.

Everywhere they went the English left their mark. Their empire spanned the world and to each of her colonies and dependencies now independent nations she left the legacy of an ideal of justice born at Runnymead. She gave to the world, too, her conception of the high ideals of sport and the words, "It is not cricket," attest to those ideals carried from sport to the realms of the everyday working world.

As the years go on may the country which lost an empire and gained the Commonwealth still continue to go from strength to strength and may the Englishman of the future still cherish the virtues which made his ancestors famous.

Interpreting the News

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A leaderless Western world listened with nostalgia to the voice that rang with its old authority from a town hall in Essex.

Sir Winston Churchill could not have chosen a better time to break his long public silence with a message that echoed far beyond the hearing of the 700 constituents who gathered to listen to their member of Parliament.

Few of the things he had to say were new. But the old warrior has retained his knack of putting ideas across with a force and clarity unmatched by the world statesmen of today.

Perhaps the West owes a bit to Nikita Khrushchev, whose revival of the old charge that Churchill began the cold war stung the 84-year-old MP for Woodford into devastating rebuttal.

"It is not Britain who has advanced her frontiers, absorbing many sovereign peoples who had made great contributions to history."

And he was not talking only to the Russians when he added:

"On the contrary, I suppose we are the only nation who fought throughout the war against Germany and who, far from receiving any reward, have greatly diminished in our tenure on the surface of the globe."

While the so-called Anglo-American rift on foreign policy undoubtedly has been exaggerated by newspapers on both sides of the Atlantic, many Britons have resented accusations by some U.S. columnists of British timidity in foreign affairs.

But Churchill did more than resume his old slanging match with the Russians. In the course of his speech, he managed to state Prime Minister Macmillan's position on the forthcoming summit talks in clearer terms than have been achieved by Macmillan himself:

"With the background of the last war, Russian fears of a resurgent Germany are reasonable, even if they are not justified. We must take account of them.

"The Soviets, on their side, must realize that we cannot contemplate a further increase in the number of countries and peoples they so tyrannically control. West Germany is our ally in NATO."

Then, with equal sharpness, he called for the Western Allies to show more sympathy for each other's problems.

As he spoke, it seemed as if the old leader had taken charge again, to create order out of diplomatic chaos, in defiance of the years.

His speech made, Churchill shuffled out to his car, an old man again, and the illusion faded. Younger voices will speak for the West at the summit.

But they could do worse than incorporate a few of the magic Churchillian phrases into their vocabulary.

F. B. Pearce... ...Writes

Here am I car-less and car-free with my new car idling along, so the agent tells me, on the road from Vancouver. Meanwhile the sun shines and there is a lot to do in my garden which should keep my mind off the open road, but it doesn't.

I've lost my enthusiasm for gardening. I used to have a nice garden on Hoover Street and my friends would come along and admire it and then say, "But you are lucky. You don't have any weeds." I never gave them any answer to that, but when I left that house I decided that I was not going to spend any more time weeding or being a slave to a garden.

As the proverb says, "Man proposes and fate disposes" and I still have a garden to dispose of. I must say I am grateful to the city for building me such a nice wall and giving me plenty of fill. When and if I ever get it finished it should be very attractive.

It should lend itself very well to landscaping though I don't know where to put this and that or even what this and that to get. I think I shall have to invite my colleague MDB to come and lean over the rail and tell me what to do. I hope, however, that she does not suggest a pool. The doctor, God bless him, says I must not dig because of my poor back, but I know the neighborhood kids would enjoy one. They are into everything as it is.

Still, what is a garden without kids? Beautiful, no doubt, but lifeless. But when the children scamper across the grass and pull a flower off when mother isn't looking and sometimes more than one, then the garden begins to come to life and when father comes home in the evening and finds footmarks in the borders he knows who to blame, but he doesn't very much.

So a garden should start when a man marries and should grow as the family grows. The children should learn to love the flowers and plants and enjoy all the beauty which nature affords, but once the family is gone much of the joy goes out of gardening, the work which was once a pleasure now becomes oppressive and there is not so much happy anticipation of the future and what it will bring. But much of the magic still remains and if the Lord God walked in the cool of the evening for His pleasure those in the evening of life can do so also.

There is too much talk these days of wars and rumors of wars, satellites and rockets, and we are led to believe that science is the most important thing in the world, as perhaps it may be to some people; but it seems that science tries to do so much that is productive of little in the way of happiness. Nothing it has done so far has equalled the pleasure in the flowers of the garden, or the open air, or the lake, or the things which grow or run through the forests, or fly or swim, which comes to those who love them.

Two-Storey House

Those of us who have lived through the bungalow and split-level years in multi-storey stodginess should know that redemption is at hand.

The two-storey house is coming back with full architectural respectability. No longer is a house old-fashioned enough to have rooms instead of "areas" considered a throwback to dark Victorian decades, but it is welcomed to the contemporary scene.

The welcoming committee is a group of judges who have examined the best new houses in Canada for the Canadian Housing Design Council awards. They report that the comeback of the second storey is among the most interesting developments in the latest designs.

Perhaps the modern house which tries to be "an airy tent for casual living," has been found to be too tent-like and too casual. One does not need to prefer a cave to fly from a house that offers only open spaces and versatility instead of privacy.

Reporter Finds Russ People Friendly Despite Barriers

Editor's note — This is the second of a series of four uncensored articles written by Harold K. Milks after nearly three years' service as Associated Press chief of bureau in Moscow.

By HAROLD K. MILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

How does an American reporter find living in the Soviet Union on the eve of the battle for West Berlin?

I found it little, if any, different from living there at any time since 1956. The Russian people are still just as friendly, individually, and just as hostile collectively, to an American as they have been since that time.

Soviet officials have perhaps tightened their controls, become even more non-co-operative and harassing than before. But in day-to-day living there has been little change.

During nearly three years in the Soviet Union I never received the slightest insult nor felt any danger of physical attack—aside from the two times Russian crowds staged well-organized and directed "spontaneous attacks" on the American Embassy.

INVISIBLE BARRIER

But at no time during that period was there much break in the invisible barrier which separates non-Communist foreigners from the Russian people.

I have had many Russian friends abroad—in China, in India or elsewhere.

Some of them were in Moscow when I was there. But aside from occasional meetings at formal and official affairs they no longer were friends.

"Who were your friends in Moscow?" I have been asked frequently. They were, without exception, foreigners.

Soon after my arrival I met and invited to dinner a Soviet journalist. He accepted and showed up with his English-speaking wife. But they never came back, and I learned later that his job was 10 per cent journalism and 90 per cent working for the secret police.

LIKE OTHER CAPITALS

Aside from that invisible barrier—reinforced by the official warning to foreigners that too much contact with Soviet citizens can mean expulsion—life in Moscow differed little from life in other capitals abroad.

Taxi drivers, some talkative, some reserved, were invariably polite to foreigners. estaurant waiters were the same as in any other country—and just as willing to be tipped. Even the militiamen who stood guard around the clock outside the apartment building in which we lived and worked became friendly enough to discuss the weather or results of the latest Soviet football match.

In recent months, dating back roughly to the time Khrushchev challenged the West to "free" West Berlin, official contacts in Moscow tightened. Representatives of the foreign office press department, who control all correspondents in the Soviet Union, became more chillingly correct. There were fewer smiles and more long-winded lectures on objectivity in every meeting with such officials.

NO MISTREATMENT

But there never was in my experience any personal threat or mistreatment by either official or non-official Russians.

Members of the Central Telegraph staff did their work just about the same. The Soviet censors, hidden behind the famous green door in the telegraph office, remained equally unpredictable, slicing copy heavily one day, letting it pass almost untouched the next.

I watched several Western colleagues fly away after varying times of service in the Soviet capital. Their reaction to stepping past the last police and customs barrier and boarding an airplane for "outside" was unvaryingly one of happy relief.

I was no exception when I left Moscow this month. As the plane started to roll and we were at last on our way "out" it felt as though a heavy weight had been lifted from the back of my neck.

Oil President Hopes U.S. Will Amend Crude Curbs

TORONTO (CP) — Hope that the United States government will soon exempt Canadian crude oil from import restrictions imposed last month was expressed Wednesday by E. D. Brockett, president, British American Oil Co. Ltd.

"With other phases of the U.S.-Canadian joint defence program following a continental pattern, it would appear to us that Canadian crude is as vital to the needs of the U.S. as its own domestic production," he told the company's annual meeting.

Mr. Brockett urged that the two governments also approve the export of Canadian natural gas before present available markets are lost.

COST-PRICE SQUEEZE

'In Canada, the major factors contributing to reduced earnings for the industry were the decline in export market and a further narrowing of profit margins on refining and marketing operations," Mr. Brockett said.

British American was no exception to this general rule, he said, with the net profit for 1958 down 36 per cent from the record level achieved in 1957. The company earlier reported 1958 earnings of $20,517,934 or $1.00 a share on 20,454,583 shares compared with $32,179,717, or $1.74 on 18,448,156 shares in 1957.

"The competitive cost - price squeeze on refining and marketing operations has been so severe that earnings from this source fall far short of providing an adequate return on the very heavy capital investment required to support these operations.

BLEAK FUTURE

"I must be very frank about this problem of depressed price structures. We can see nothing in the immediate future that might improve the situation. The minor price adjustment for gasoline and diesel fuel some days ago does no more than compensate for the increase in federal sales tax, and does not represent an increase in income to the company."

Mr. Brockett said the company's sales of all refined products in 1958 showed a 9.6-per-cent increase over the previous year.

For 1959, Mr. Brockett said demand for refined products will increase at least five per cent, and that production in Western Canada will regain the ground lost in 1958 and approximate the record level of 500,000 barrels a day attained in 1957.

Major Railways Tackle Time-Distance Problem

By IAN DONALDSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — The problems of time and distance, traditional bugbears of Atlantic ports, are being tackled by the major railways.

The CPR and the CNR are making multi-million-dollar improvements to their freight channels in the Maritimes. Port cities are their loudest cheerleaders.

The 800-mile overland run from Montreal to Halifax can't be shortened, but the railways have promised shippers faster schedules.

The CNR, major carrier in and out of Halifax, says a $15,000,000 electronic classification yard at Moncton will slice time off freight schedules between here and Central Canada. Freight runs have already been cut by 24 hours in the past year.

TRIPLE CAPACITY

The yard will speed car classification, enable the handling of more trains in a shorter time and clear congestion along on-line points. Scheduled to be completed late next year, the yard will be capable of sorting 2,000 freight cars in 24 hours, tripling the capacity of present Moncton yards.

Meanwhile the CPR plans construction of a 2,000-car marshalling yard at Lancaster, N.B., and it is expected to speed up freight movements at adjoining Saint John.

Howard A. Mann of Moncton, executive manager of the Maritimes Transportation Commission says the two yards represent a "major contribution" to the ports' efforts to handle a larger share of exports and imports.

"Time is one of our major difficulties," Mr. Mann says. "We are so far away from the shippers that anything that can be done to speed things up is welcome."

LOOK FOR BUSINESS

The ports want more business. Mr. Mann says that in 1957 80 per cent of the American automobile industry's exports went through United States ports. Canadian ports handled only 14 per cent of U.S. rubber exports.

On the other hand, "vast quantities" of Canadian goods were shipped through U.S. ports.

"Think of what some of that traffic would mean to Canadian Atlantic ports. Take the earnings only of their longshoremen, freight handlers, checkers and watchmen . . . estimated at $9,000,000."

Mr. Mann told the Canadian port committee in Toronto in February that Canadian business has "given away" potential purchasing power in Canadian Atlantic ports by shipping through American ports.

He said the ports offer Canadian industry "a neglected opportunity for profit."

Freight rates between Central Canada and Maritime ports are equal to those between Central Canada and U.S. ports on the eastern seaboard.

Senate, Congress Welcome Herter

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Christian A. Herter's promotion as state secretary was viewed in Congress Wednesday as a big boost for closer bipartisan co-operation on foreign policy at a critical time.

Herter, whose nomination was quickly and unanimously confirmed by the Senate, formally took office Wednesday at a White House swearing-in ceremony.

Chairman J. William Fulbright (Dem. Ark.) of the Senate foreign relations committee said he felt certain Herter "will co-operate closely with the Congress in every way."

UNITE BEHIND HERTER

As Democratic Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate majority leader, put it: The Senate wanted Herter and the whole world to know "we are united behind our secretary of state."

Eisenhower was reported ready to announce his support for Herter. Reports that Herter was a reluctant choice developed when Eisenhower delayed naming Herter for several days after announcing the resignation of John Foster Dulles.

A ringing declaration of presidential support is needed to make clear to foreign diplomats that Herter speaks with complete White House authority in difficult diplomatic negotiations in the weeks ahead.

Fulbright said Herter wants to talk with key members of Congress before he leaves Monday for a Paris meeting with other western foreign ministers. That meeting will lay the groundwork for negotiations with the Russians in Geneva May 11.

Woman Hostage Pleads for Prisoners

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Two small time burglars who escaped from San Quentin prison and held a woman hostage at knifepoint for six hours say they were bluffing.

"We really didn't want no hostage, just a car to get away," said Billy Joe Wright, 26.

Auburn - haired Mrs. Louise Gschwend, 54, agreed. "I hope these boys get a break," she declared. "They didn't hurt me. They gave me a break."

"I don't think they ever would have killed me," she added.

At the beginning of the ordeal Tuesday, she continued, "I was scared. I felt sick and I was faint. When I almost fainted, one of the boys wrapped my coat around me."

The trusty who did that was William D. Werner, 24. Both he and Wright had jail break records.

TRAPPED ON PIER

They broke away from work parties outside the huge prison 20 miles north of San Francisco. Failing to find a car, they ran down the half- mile -long wharf that juts into San Francisco Bay near the prison entrance.

Mrs. Gschwend, a beauty parlor operator was fishing there with Doug Harrison, 62, a hotelman and friend of 35 years. Her husband, Walter, was working as a hotel bellman. All live in San Francisco.

Harrison recalled that "Louise let out a scream and I saw they had a knife at her neck." He added that Wright "told officers 'don't come any closer or I'll kill her' but I think they were just bluffing all the time."

Wright and Werner, with Harrison carrying messages between them and the guards, demanded a speedboat with plenty of gasoline and, at another time, the keys to Mrs. Gschwend's car and a half hour's start.

WON'T PROSECUTE

The prisoners gave up when Marin County prosecutor William Weissich promised not to prosecute them for escaping and they were given a chance to tell their grievances to newspaper men.

Weissich later said, "I'll keep my word, but it breaks my prosecutor's heart to do it."

Wright was asked what he would have done if guards had rushed the end of the pier. "We would just have given up," he replied. "We didn't want to harm them people."

Royal Dutch Petrol Offers To Buy Canadian Eagle Oil

LONDON (Reuters) — The Royal Dutch Petroleum and Shell Transport and Trading Companies announced Wednesday they have offered to buy the Canadian Eagle Oil Company.

Royal Dutch and Shell made a share exchange offer worth more than £100,000,000 ($280,000,000) for the whole assets and business of Canadian Eagle.

A company of the Royal Dutch-Shell group already owns about 21 per cent of Canadian Eagle's share capital. For the other 79 per cent, nearly 24,000,000 shares, the bid is two Royal Dutch and three Shell for every 12 Canadian Eagle.

On the London stock exchange after the announcement, the bearer shares of Canadian Eagle jumped 24s to 80s.

At pre - announcement prices, the bid worked out at nearly 90s ($12.60) per Canadian Eagle share, compared with a ruling price of 55s ($7.70). Prices of Royal Dutch and Shell eased slightly, because acceptance of the bid will mean a larger supply of them.

The bid is made to the Canadian Eagle Oil Company, which would distribute the Royal Dutch and Shell shares to its shareholders. It is conditional on approval by Canadian Eagle shareholders at a meeting not later than July 31, and is also subject to governmental approval.

After the Royal Dutch and Shell shares have been distributed by Canadian Eagle among its shareholders, Canadian Eagle would be dissolved.

It has long been closely associated with the Royal Dutch-Shell group in the joint ownership of companies and enterprises in the British Isles and in Latin America.

Informants said the new energy board likely would be composed of five members, appointed for terms of seven years, with the chairman getting a salary of about $18,500 annually.

Nationalist China Woman's World Says Formosa Legislative Member

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—Nationalist China today is a woman's world, says pert, petite Elizabeth Wang, a member of Chiang Kai-shek's Formosa legislature, now visiting the United States at the invitation of the state department.

"We have 64 women members of the legislative yuan (upper house) out of 500," says Mrs. Wang. "In the National Assembly there are 210 women. There is no field in business, the professions or the arts where women are not making distinguished records."

Mrs. Wang resembles a Chinese doll in her traditional Oriental dress, but she has a brain like a Supreme Court judge. A graduate of the University of North Carolina, she is married to C. Y. Chang, also a member of the Formosa legislature, and has three sons: Bobby, 17, a student at Cheng-Kung University; Eddie, 15, and Frank, 3.

"We call them by American names," laughs Mrs. Wang. "They have long Chinese names, too, but these are easier."

Daughter of a high official, Elizabeth was born in Kiangsu Province, on the mainland of China, and was educated in Chinese schools and colleges before coming to the U.S. to take a master's degree at Chapel Hill, N.C. She then returned to China.

"I was married in the early days of the war, and then afterward came the Communist conquest of our country. My husband and I escaped to Formosa with our children. We thought it would be only for a short time—we couldn't imagine that the Communists could take over a country of 500,000,000 people permanently. So we left most of our possessions there. And we have been in Formosa ever since.

"The constitution of Taiwan (Formosa) was adopted in 1947, and I have been a member of the legislature since 1948, as have many other women. There is so much to be done, the need and the opportunity are so great, that the days never seem long enough to get everything done."

Mrs. Wang and her family live in a modern Japanese-style home in Taipei and have three servants —a nursemaid, a housekeeper and a chauffeur.

Women of Formosa don't waste time debating about whether to have a career or marriage, says Mrs. Wang—they have both. As a matter of course, they work at their jobs during business hours, taking part in all community and national issues and running their homes with graciousness and ease. Three servants are helpful in this, of course.

PLENTY OF JOBS

"Everybody who wants to work can get a job in Taiwan," says she. "We have great prosperity, and great development. We have no beggars, no illiteracy and no juvenile delinquency.

"Taiwan has seven universities and 13 colleges, and there are thousands of students there from overseas—many from Europe and America."

On this island there is a renaissance of art and literature as well as general culture, says this lady legislator. Women are eager to attend art and drama classes, they are interested in all modern things for their homes, and they are doing great and important work in all fields open to men. Says she:

"Sometimes it takes disaster to bring out the full powers of people. I think that is true today of Free China."

Commissioner Honored At Provincial Meet

A Guide leader for many years and divisional commissioner for the West Kootenay district, Mrs. H. F. Hyson of Robson has received the Medal of Merit for exceptionally fine service in Guiding from Mrs. Frank McKenzie Ross, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia.

The presentation was made at a recent provincial Girl Guide annual meeting held in Victoria, the largest held so far, with 500 delegates representing 23 areas and divisions throughout the province.

Mrs. Hyson spoke on the subject of badges and their place in the Guide program as one of her assignments at the meeting. Stressing the necessity of maintaining a high standard for badge awards, Mrs. Hyson pointed out that requirements of the badge develop mental and physical skills and create initiative.

Minnesota Fugitive Found in Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Charles W. Forbes, tiny, 63-year-old man who has been a fugitive four years, Wednesday faced a return to Minnesota for his part in a murder 40 years ago.

Forbes escaped four years ago from the Minnesota Anoka State Hospital, where he had been transferred from prison after serving 36 years of a life sentence.

He was found a few days ago, working on a railway job near Sept-Iles in the rugged country of northeastern Quebec. He was brought to Montreal and left Tuesday night with Montreal detectives for Toronto, where United States authorities have begun extradition proceedings.

Forbes, who is only five feet tall, fled to Canada after his escape from the Minnesota institution. He worked at a number of menial jobs and finally found work on the railway built to serve iron mines at Knob Lake.

He adopted the name James W. Wilson. Eventually Toronto police found he had been in Montreal and tipped authorities here. They traced him to Sept-Iles through employment records.

"They said I went nuts," Forbes said here Tuesday of the transfer from the prison to the hospital. "Who wouldn't. I served 36 years before it finally got me. My companion in a roadside holdup, who had done the actual shooting, served only 15 years because his family was rich and had pull. I had nothing."

Forbes said he was born in Lowell, Mass., and after some schooling wandered west. He "hit bad times" and became involved in the robbery which ended in a fatal shooting. He was caught and convicted.

After his escape to Canada he worked in restaurants, cookhouses and similar places.

Royalty Dons Black For Visit With Pope

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Sombrely dressed in black with black veils and mantillas, the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret Wednesday were received in private audience by Pope John XXIII.

It was Princess Margaret's second audience with a pope. Pius XII received her 10 years ago when she spent a holiday in Italy.

Sir Marcus Cheke, British minister to the Vatican, has denied press reports that the audience means the princess wishes to join the Roman Catholic Church, or that the papal representative in London will be elevated from apostolic delegate to papal nuncio.

The royal visitors arrived in Rome Monday night. They are staying at the British Embassy.

More than 400 British and Commonwealth Catholic priests and students were gathered in the large clementine hall of the Pope's official apartment to watch the royal procession.

WARM GREETING

The 77-year-old pontiff met the two women at the threshold of his quarters, shook their hands warmly and ushered them into his library for the private audience.

The Queen Mother and the princess made slight curtseys, but did not kneel, as Roman Catholics do when meeting the Pope.

They wore black dresses and veils customary for papal audiences. But the somberness of their costume was brightened by tiaras, and the Queen Mother wore the jewel and blue ribbon of the Order of the Garter.

The conversation was in French, which the Pope, Queen Mother and princess all speak fluently. The Pontiff opened the audience by apologizing for being unable to speak English.

"It will be the next language that I will learn," he said.

STRONG OBJECTIONS

Britain's militant Protestant Truth Society had complained about the audience because of Queen Elizabeth's position as titular head of the Church of England. The Queen Mother replied that she was calling on the Pope as head o the Vatican state during her state visit to Italy, and that the visit implied no concurrence in his religious beliefs.

Princess Margaret's other main engagement is a nightclub outing.

Friends have taken over La Cabala nightclub, which occupied a thirteenth - century building near the Tiber where Dante once lived.

Reports here Tuesday night said that journalists, who will not be admitted to La Cabala, had offered bribes to waiters at the club for photographs and details of the evening's entertainment.

Other main event of the day for the Queen Mother will be the unveiling of a statue of Lord Byron in the gardens of the Villa Borghese.

Former Governor Would Leave Ghana Alone

OTTAWA (CP) — Sir Charles Arden-Clarke, former governor-general of Ghana, said Tuesday night that country should be left alone to tend to its problems in the African way.

"It can do without the uninformed criticism which causes an immense amount of damage in racial relationship," he said. "They don't want your advice, until they ask for it."

Sir Charles addressed a meeting of Ottawa members of th Royal Commonwealth Society.

He noted that Ghana's preventive detention act gives the government power to arrest and imprison for up to five years without trial any person considered by the cabinet as dangerous to the security of the state.

This is a deliberate show of force and power because that is what the Ghana people respect, he said.

Set May Date For Liberal B.C. Leader

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Liberal party, without a leader since Arthur Laing resigned last Friday, must elect a new man at a convention here May 15-16.

The latest of a field of possibles suggested for the post is Alex Sharp, a 44-year-old Vancouver lawyer.

Mr. Sharp said Tuesday he had not been approached for the job and doesn't particul rly want it because he has other ideas for the leadership.

"It would be nonsensical for a party with only three sitting members to ask one man to lead it now," he said.

"I would put forward the idea that we form a committee to assume the leadership and form a policy for the next election."

Nehru Denies Llasa Arrested Consul

NEW DELHI (Reuters — Prime Minister Nehru Wednesday denied that the Indian consul-general in Lhasa was put under house arrest during last month's Tibetan revolt.

Nehru told Parliament that for some days after fighting broke out in Lhasa, the Tibetan capital, Chinese troops were not in full command of the city.

Restrictions put on the movements of the consul-general and his staff were allowed to enter and leave the consulate freely.

Nehru also told parliament the Chinese Communist government gave an inadequate answer to India's representations about the circulation of Chinese maps showing large parts of India as being Chinese.

Nehru said that the Chinese government had said that the maps published by them had in fact been drawn up by the Kuomintang (Nationalist) regime and that they had not so far had time to correct them.

Fruit Growers Oppose Vinegar Plant Appeal

PENTICTON (CP) — Delegates to a special meeting of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association wrapped up a heavy session late Tuesday opposing an application by Western vinegar to build a plant here.

Delegates, from many points in the Okanagan Valley, handled more than 70 resolutions during the day, most of them connected with the MacPhee royal commission report on the fruit industry.

The Western vinegar vote was left until the last at the request of delegates. The company had planned to build a $50,000 plant here, making their product with windfall apples.

James Donald, Naramata spoke in favor of the offer.

He said the growers had not received their fair share of returns from the grower-organized Sun-Rype Products Limited and asked that Western Vinegar be located "somewhere in the Okanagan."

Several delegates argued that Sun-Rype had done the best job possible in keeping the orchardists solvent.

Girlie Magazines Shock Ontario MLA

TORONTO (CP) — Magistrate W. F. B. Rogers is studying four British "girlie" magazines which a Liberal member of the Ontario legislature and a crown attorney allege corrupt public morality."

The magistrate Tuesday reserved decision in the case of Morris Singer, 57, a midtown tobacconist charged with selling obscene literature. Decision will be handed down April 28.

Liberal member Ross Whicher for Bruce riding said his morals had been corrupted by the publications. Mr. Whicher told how he shopped for magazines he felt were obscene, finally singling out four he found in Mr. Singer's store.

Crown attorney Lloyd Graburn said each of the magazines—Kuties Kontinental, Lovelies, Line and Form No. 21 and Line and Form No. 22 — emphasized the bosoms of women photographed.

"All the way through the emphasis is on the breasts of the persons being photographed."

Defence counsel Pat Hartt said: "Sure, the female bosom has become a cult in the United States and also in this country." They might be suggestive, even provocative but that does not make them obscene, he said.

Mr. Graburn said they were obscene for the sake of obscenity. Some of the photographs he tagged as being nothing more than an "inducement, an invitation to morality."

Play over the Desert Inn Country Club course, a par 36-36—72 test, starts Thursday. The 7,000-yard layout has been toughened up since the 1958 event. The 72-hole tournament winds up Sunday.

Top money is $10,000 and Gene Littler of San Diego, Calif., rates the betting favorite. He is quoted at 5-to-1 for this one, but many observers are divided between Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa.

All but overlooked is Stan Leonard of Vancouver, the 1958 winner. Leonard put together three straight rounds of 69 then a 68 for 275 in last year's event.

Indians Make It Eight Out of Nine

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cleveland continued to slug American League pitching to all corners of the lot, whipping Detroit 10-1 Wednesday for the Indians' eighth victory in nine starts.

While Gary Bell held the Tigers to seven hits, Jim Piersall, Rocky Colavito and rookie Gene Leek hit home runs. A small crowd of 3,254 spectators at Briggs Stadium booed lustily.

Boston broke loose with five runs in the fourth inning on the way to an 8-4 decision over Baltimore. Murray Wall who replaced Tom Brewer in the fifth, allowed only one hit in 4 1-3 innings and was credited with the victory over Arnold Portocarrero, first of five Baltimore pitchers.

BREAKS STREAK

Alex Grammas hit his first home run since Sept. 8, 1955 as St. Louis whipped Chicago Cubs 8-2 in the only National League day game. Vinegar Bend Mizell scattered five hits to beat Taylor Phillips. Gino Cimoli had a homer among his three hits and Curt Flood also hit a home run for the Cardinals.

Piersall drove in four Cleveland runs with his homer and single and Colavito knocked in three more with a homer. Leek, playing his first major league game, hit a two-run homer and a single. He is a 21-year-old bonus boy off the University of Arizona campus.

It was the Tigers' fourth straight defeat and their eighth in nine games. Tuesday night the Indians rolled up a 14-1 score and collected 16 hits.

Frank Lary was knocked out in the seventh inning after giving up 10 of the 15 Cleveland hits. Gail Harris' homer accounted for the lone Detroit score.

WERTZ IN STRIDE

Vic Wertz, who has been sidelined by the flu, hit his first homer for Boston in the sixth inning. Jackie Jensen was the chief hatchet man for the Oriole pitchers, collecting a double and three singles on his first four trips. The last time up Jensen was robbed by Willie Tasby who made a fine catch against the centre field wall.

Grammas, a weak hitter, had a big day at Wrigley Field. In addition to his homer, he hit two sacrifice flies and dumped a squeeze bunt for a total of four runs batted in.

Ernie Banks was the only Cub with two hits as Phillips failed to go the route for the 16th straight time since last June 20.

Dunlops Win Second Game

Beat Vernon 5-2; 3rd Game Friday

TORONTO (CP)—Playing-coach Sid Smith and captain Harry Sinden each scored two goals and one assist Wednesday night to spark Whitby Dunlops to a 5-2 victory in the second game of the Allan Cup final.

Whitby, which won the opener of the best-of-seven set by the same score Sunday, takes on the Canadians in the third game Friday. The fourth game is here Saturday. No further dates have been set.

Sinden widened the gap to 3-0 at 3:13 of the second period, hitting the bottom of the left goal post with a hard 15-footer that caromed into the net.

Agar, veteran of 21 years of hockey, put the Canadians on the score sheet at 4:16, treating the sparse crowd of 2,543 fans to the prettiest goal of the night. Left winger Billy Hryciuk, picked up for the final by Vernon from Kamloops Chiefs where he is playing coach, started the play at Whitby's blue line with a pass to Jim Moro at the edge of the crease. Moro passed across the goalmouth to Agar, who slapped it in.

Sid Smith made it 4-1 for the Dunlops at 5:14, shooting the puck into the top left corner.

With Whitby's Tom O'Connor off for slashing, Vernon narrowed Whitby's lead to 4-2, Schmidt slapping a 15-footer past Henderson.

Sid Smith, a member of three Stanley Cup teams with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, rounded out the scoring at 7:13 of the third period. He put the puck into a Vernon net packed with three players. The Canadians protested the goal but referee Al Paradise of Winnipeg allowed it, apparently ruling that Whitby's Tom O'Connor lying across Gordon was held in the net by Swarbrick.

The game threatened to break out into fisticuffs several times but each time the officials stepped in quickly to prevent any real outbreak. The Canadians were tagged with seven of the nine minors.

The Dunlops, Allan Cup winners in 1957 and world amateur hockey champions in 1958, sandwiched strong first and third periods around a good second-stanza showing by Vernon for the victory.

The Canadians, who won the Allan Cup in 1956, were outplayed in the first period when Whitby took a 2-0 lead as they peppered Vernon netminder Hal Gordon with 19 shots.

Whitby, which got its other goal from Fred Etcher, playing his first game of the series, led 4-2 going into the third period.

Vernon marksmen were playing-coach George Agar and defence-man-captain Willie Schmidt.

Gordon, with the 1956 cup team, made a total of 40 saves while six-foot-four John Henderson turned aside 24. Henderson was tested only three times in the first period.

The Dunlops played the last two periods without left winger Pete Babando, who suffered a broken nose when struck by teammate Bobby Hassard's shot near the Vernon goal in the first period. It is believed Babando will be back for the next game.

Etcher, who missed the first game because he is opposed to Sunday hockey, opened the scoring at 8:10 of the first period, knocking down Sinden's blue line shot and golfing it past Gordon. Bill Swarbrick and Walt Trentini, both of Canadians, were in the penalty box at the time.

Sinden boosted the margin to 2-0 at 14:08 with each club playing five a side, with a 20-foot backhander which Gordon apparently didn't see.

SUMMARY

First period—1. Whitby, Etcher (Sinden, Air) 8:10; 2. Whitby, Sinden (Smith) 14:08. Penalties: Swarbrick, 6:18; Trentini, 7:42; H. Smith and Chasczewski, 12:55.

Clinch Soccer League Title

LONDON (AP)—Wolverhampton Wanderers lashed lowly Leicester City 3-0 Wednesday night and clinched the English Soccer League championship for the second straight year.

The Wolves' victory sent them into the European Cup of Champions next season. The Wolves lost in the first round last year to Schalke of West Germany.

A crowd of 42,000 turned out at Wolverhampton to see the Wolves wrap up the championship. Most stayed on to watch Leicester chairman Len Shipman hand over the trophy to captain Billy Wright.

Leicester held the Wolves to a scoreless first half. Then Norman Deeley, recently picked for England's tour of the U.S., hit the Wolves' first goal in the 61st minute. Mike Lill and Bill Murray added the others.

SPIDER WEBB WINS TECHNICAL

CHICAGO (AP)—Spider Webb of Chicago, No. 3 ranked middleweight, chopped up Neal Rivers Wednesday night to win on a technical knockout of 2:49 of the fourth round of their scheduled 10-round televised boxing match.

In an action-filled third round, Webb blasted Rivers to the canvas for an eight-count with a powerful right to the side of the head.

Webb, 27, was in control all the way in scoring his 33rd victory against four defeats. It was the second meeting between Webb and Rivers, 25, who was outpointed by the Spider in New York in 1957.

Webb weighed 158 and Rivers 159.

In the Dressing Rooms . . .
Playing "Lousy" Says Vernon Coach

TORONTO (CP)—The feeling was general in both dressing rooms Wednesday night that neither the victorious Whitby Dunlops nor the defeated Vernon Canadians are playing up to their potential in the Allan Cup hockey final.

After Whitby won Wednesday night's game 5-2 to take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series, Whitby playing-coach Sid Smith said:

"I still think we can play better hockey. We're not nearly as sharp as we were in the Ontario finals against Kitchener. I don't know what's the matter, but I'm sure that our guys and the other club will improve."

George Agar, 40-year-old playing coach of Vernon who fired one of his team's goals, echoed Smith's feelings.

"It's not that Whitby is a better club. I don't think so. It's just that we are playing lousy," said Agar. "Don't count us out though. With any breaks at all we'll come back. We've done it before this season. And I still think this series will go the limit."

AGAR BITTER

Agar was bitter about two calls by the officials. One, in the first period when a shot by Vernon's Harry Smith seemed to bounce off the top cross bar of the Whitby net.

"That puck definitely went into the net and came out again but the referee didn't see it that way. We complained but it didn't do any good," said Agar.

Agar also said that there should have been a whistle on Whitby's last goal in the third period scored by Sid Smith. Three players were bunched in the net when Smith lifted a shot past the Canadians' Hal Gordon.

"Two Whitby guys were in the crease and there should have been no goal," said Agar.

Whitby manager Wren Blair praised and criticized the western champions.

"They're the dirtiest club we've played in a long while. But the penalties are hurting them. Still, Vernon has a lot of good hockey players and they're bound to be better. I just hope we get better too," he said.

Strikes 'n' Spares

Junior Women's League completed playoffs in grand style Wednesday night with Corner Pins taking the trophy with a team total of 2914. In second place were Dynamos with 2865.

Third were Spartans with 2753; fourth, Flyers, 2700; fifth, Mixups, 2627; sixth, Throwabouts, 2615.

The playoffs wound up another season of bowling for the Junior League. Next week they plan their annual bowling banquet.

Football Association Elects 1959 Officers

NATAL — Officers for the 1959 football season were named at the annual meeting of the Crow's Nest Pass Football Association recently at Michel Hotel.

President is Walter Barber, Kimberley, who was re-elected. Others heading the organization are Jimmy White, Cranbrook, first vice-president; Frank Mitchell, Michel, second vice-president, and Albert Oliver, Kimberley, secretary-treasurer.

Members decided that registration fee for each club would remain at $15, and referee fees at $3 a game. The semi-annual meeting will be held at Fernie during the time of the annual Central Cup competition in July.

Lethbridge Bombers, 1958 Crow's Nest Pass Football League champions, were presented with 18 player trophies, and the Walter Barber trophy for the most valuable player went to Nick Ewaniuk of Fernie United, the choice being that of the trophy's donor. Next year, under new rules, each team will select its most valuable player.

The association will again affiliate with the Alberta Football Associtaion. With two Lethbridge teams withdrawing this year, the Army and Navy Maple Leafs and Italia, it was decided to accept another Lethbridge entry, under the sponsorship of the Bombers.

The league will consist of six teams—Michel Bluffs, Fernie United, Cranbrook Rovers, Kimberley Trotters, Lethbridge Bombers and the second team, the name of which is not known.

The season will open May 16, 17 and 18, when both Lethbridge teams will travel to the East Kootenay.

A three-man delegation from Trail Football Club attended the meeting, with a view to entering playdowns. It was expected that a West Kootenay league would be formed, and that exhibition games would be arranged with the Crow's Nest Pass League.

Sportsmen Protest Coffee Creek Damage

The West Kootenay Rod and Gun Clubs Association probably won't give up its attempts to have Coffee Creek spawning grounds for Dolly Varden restored.

"Serious obstruction" of the creek through dumping of rock into its bed as a result of highway widening on both sides of the canyon was the subject of a motion endorsed at the association's last quarterly meeting at Appledale. A wire was sent to Hon. E. C. Westwood, minister of recreation and conservation. Now the association has received this communication from the government:

"Coffee Creek is located in a very deep canyon. It would have been economically impossible to undertake the necessary road improvements without affecting this stream. This stream is blocked to fish by a waterfall approximately three miles upstream, therefore the amount of possible spawning in three miles of mountainous stream would be very limited. The value of the road would far surpass the value of any fish which might spawn in this stream. It is economically impossible to remove the rock from the stream bed."

Installation of a culvert would have provided a simple remedy to the situation, the sportsmen feel.

From a short distance below the highway bridge, the stream flows into debris resembling "the Frank Slide," J. D. Wallach, association vice-president, said Wednesday.

"The rock dumped down there is 60 feet deep if it's a foot deep," he said.

The fact that the extent of the grounds is three miles was an inadequate excuse, it is further contended, since local conservationists maintain that spawning grounds, if even a quarter of a mile long, should be preserved if their worth has been proved.

VICTORIA (CP) — Alderman Geoffrey Edgelow said a woodpecker tapped out loud signals on his television antenna each morning at 5:45. So he went out one day armed and ready for the annoying bird. When the time came, he took aid and fired. The antenna tumbled down and the bird flew away.

Newspaper Pictures of Canada Deter Would-Be Emigrants

HAMILTON (CP)—A picture-story of Canada published by a British weekly newspaper has caused three United Kingdom residents to cancel their air passages to Hamilton, relatives here reported.

The paper, The People, published pictures showing people grubbing for food in garbage bare floors in overcrowded mission homes.

The 55-year-old Yugoslav-born mother of Hamiltonian Mike Jaic, 38, along with the parents of his English wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parr, cancelled their reservations two weeks ago when they saw the pictures in the weekly paper.

The three were due to arrive at Toronto Malton airport Tuesday to begin a new life with their children and grandchildren.

"They have sold up everything over there," Mr. Jaic said. "It's ridiculous. There is unemployment in any country but Canada is a fine place for anyone who wants to work."

Mr. Jaic is a real estate agent making $8,000 to $10,000 a year. He, his wife and four children live in a comfortable east - end home.

Mr. Jaic said his mother wrote him saying the pictures in The People reminded her of her internment in a Nazi prison camp during the Second World War and that she would not come to Canada "under any circumstances."

Money-Minded Naval Officer Not Worth Anything—Sellar

OTTAWA (CP) — Auditor-General Watson Sellar said Wednesday no naval officer is forth anything if he is money-minded.

He made the statement to the Commons public accounts committee in replying to questions about accounting procedures used in the navy's destroyer-escort program.

Art Smith (PC—Calgary South) said the country still doesn't know the total cost of vessels built six years ago.

Mr. Sellar said he has no criticism of the a counting procedure used by the navy. He said the vessels cost more than originally forecast due to frequent changes in plans and specifications to improve the fighting qualities of the ships.

"No good naval officer is worth anything if he is money-minded," Mr. Sellar said.

WANT THE BEST

The designer of a naval vessel "wants the best we can get." The committee should "temper" its criticism with this in mind.

Mr. Sellar also criticized accounting procedures under which the Canada Council received grants from the federal treasury.

Mr. Sellar said that after establishment of the council in March, 1957, the government credited a special account with $100,000,000 to be held until the council could get into operation.

The $100,000,000 represented $50,000,000 to be used by the council under its university grants program and $50,000,000 to be placed in an endowment fund. Revenue from this fund is used to make grants in the arts, humanities and social sciences.

Mr. Sellar said the $100,000,000 was in the special account for about a month before being turned over to the council. During this period it earned interest of $143,000 which also went to the council.

He said that such action is not consistent with parliamentary control over all funds advanced to the council.

Harold Winch (CCF — Vancouver East) said it appeared to him that the government had paid interest on its own money.

Bonn Diplomat Convicted In Slander Case

BONN, Germany (AP) — Herbert Blankenhorn, West German ambassador to France, was convicted Wednesday of slandering a lesser official and given a four-month suspended prison sentence.

A court acquitted Walter Hallstein, president of the European common market commission, of the same charge.

Both men are intimates of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer as well as being in the front rank of West Germany's diplomatic service. The guilty verdict cast a shadow over Blankenhorn's future career, but he is expected to appeal the case.

The accusations were filed by Hans Strack, a longtime official in the West German economics ministry. He claimed that Hallstein and Bankenhorn in 1952 had post by reporting unconfirmed statements that he had accepted bribes.

At that time both Hallstein and Blankenhorn were in the foreign ministry, which Adenauer himself headed.

China's Peasant Communes Need Lower Taxes

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — Red China disclosed Wednesday its peasant communes are in trouble and will need both a subsidy and tax relief to bail them out.

Chairman Mao Tse - tung launched the communes last year with the hope that these big camps, now harnessing the labor of a large percentage of China's 500,000,000 peasants, would give quick impetus to his program for a "great leap forward."

Sober facts came out in a report of Finance Minister Li Hsien-nien on the 1959 budget to the National People's Congress, the rubber-stamp parliament, in Peiping.

Radio Peiping broadcast the news:

By order of Mao and the Communist party central committee, a subsidy of 1,000,000,000 yuan will be used for pump-priming in communes and production brigades which are lagging behind.

FEELING THE PINCH

The subsidy—the equivalent of $435,000,000 by Peiping's reckoning—indicates that many are in straitened circumstances.

In addition, the seven-per-cent agricultural tax of 1958 will be cut to 5.2 per cent.

With all this, the Communes are expected to contribute a smaller percentage to Red Chinas over-all revenue than they did last year.

Li asked the Parliament to approve a 16-per-cent increase in defence expenditures for 1959 and its assen is assured. Presumably part of this is to meet the cost of reinforcements and supplies required to combat the rebellion in Tibet. The increase will raise Red China's military spending to about $2,500,000,000.

Quick Thinking Saves Aircraft

SHANNON, Ireland (AP)—The pilot of an Alitalia airliner shook off a wildly spinning propeller over the Atlantic Wednesday and made the 100-mile trip back to Shannon on three engines.

The plane was bound from Milan to New York with 18 passengers and a crew of 10. The speed controller of the left inboard engine went out and the propeller shaft snapped. The pilot put the big plane through a flight manoeuvre which shook the prop free.

Youth Killed In Accident Near Lillooet

LILLOOET, B.C. (CP) — One youth was killed and two others severely injured when their car left Moha Road near here and crashed 450 feet into the Bridge River.

The dead youth was identified as James Maclean, 17, of Vancouver. Gavin Idler, 16, suffered severe head injuries and broken ribs and Glen Leblanc, 15, a fractured pelvis. Idler was in cricial condition.

The accident was believed to have happened Monday night. A native from the Bridge River Reservation brought police first news of the accident. David Terry said a new car was wrecked in the shallow river and told of the three boys, one dead, lying where they had fallen on the mountainside.

Neither Leblanc nor Idler knew their friend had been killed when they were brought to hospital Tuesday night in this town 100 miles north of Vancouver.

Peace River Project Rouses U.S.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Peace River power, if relatively unnoticed in British Columbia "has caused all hell to break loose in the United States," Lands Minister Ray Williston said here.

Mr. Williston who resumes negotiations with U.S. official for downstream benefits on the Columbia river next week after a two-year break in the talks, said "that job on the Peace will return more on a long-term basis than any other development in B.C. in years."

"U.S. power interests now realize for the first time they haven't got B.C. at their mercy."

Mr. Williston said he is convinced the U.S. "has been waiting to get us over a barrel" ever since talks broke off in 1956.

"They knew we would eventually have to develop the Columbia and were prepared to sit back and wait.

"They were sitting with four aces until power was reported on the Peace" and overnight they lost their advantage.

The minister told a university group here he will also seek compensation for flood-control benefits on the lower Columbia as well as a substantial power return.

"U. S. interests followed engineering reports on the Peace closer than any group in B.C." he said.

"When and if the Peace is developed it will never be completely utilized in Vancouver. The main bulk market must be in the Peace area."

He said it was important the Peace be developed by private capital "to generate a market for the power."

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market Wednesday took its sharpest loss in a month as it topped out a drive that took it to record highs on each of the four prior sessions.

A drop of 5 points in American Telephone went far toward cutting back the averages. Its when-issued stock based on the 3-for-1 split, dropped 1½ to 86½. Its previous advance spearheaded the rise of blue chips which put the market barometers at successive new peaks.

It was apparent Wednesday that the rise of the high quality issues had run afoul of profit taking. Meanwhile, the more-speculative issues continued to come to the fore.

Wednesday's losers included aircrafts, coppers, rails, utilities, oils, airlines, most electronics and chemicals and the big three autos. Smaller automotive stocks rose moderately.

The AP 60-stock average fell $1.60 to $227.10.

Canadian stocks were lower. Canadian Pacific, Granby Mining, Hudson Bay Mining and Walker Gooderham were off ⅛, Aluminium Ltd. ¾ and International Nickel ½. Distillers Seagrams gained ½.

American Stock Exchange prices were mostly lower. Canadian Marconi was off ⅛ and Molybdenite 1-16. Eureka was up 1-16.

TORONTO (CP)—Western oils scored a narrow advance but the rest of the stock market was easier Wednesday in light trading.

On index, western oils added almost one - quarter point after a slow start that left them trailing most of the session. Industrials were up in the first hour, then slipped back for a few decimal point loss. Base metals dipped more than three-quarters as coppers and uraniums were weak. Golds lost a few decimal points.

The final volume was 3,065,000 shares, compared with Tuesday's 2,763,000.

A few select industrials were strong. Moore Corp. gained 2 at 115 while Atlas Steel and Weston A and B added at least 1 point. Interprovincial Pipe Line lost ½.

Geco dipped ¾ at 19 for the major loss among coppers. Hudson Bay was off ½ at 55. Gunnar Uranium was down ¼ at 15¾.

Canadian Eagle Oil gained 3½ at 11¼ following an offer by Royal Dutch Petroleum and Shell Transport and Trading companies to purchase the company. Its move was made on a single 300-share sale.

Among other oils Calgary and Edmonton added ¾ at 30 while Home B and Hudson' Bay were up ¼ each.

In golds McIntyre eased ⅜ at 81½, a 1959 low for the issue.

Index changes: Industrials off .13 to 530.50; golds off .50 to 89.73; base metals off .84; western oils up .22 to 131.97.

MONTREAL (CP) — Industrials racked up another narrow advance on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges Wednesday. Trading was moderately active. Industrials have been firm since the budget April 9.

There were more declines than gains, but five of the six stock indexes showed advances.

Utilities were down on the index. Losses were narrow. Bell declined ⅛ at 40½ and Shawinigan was off ¾ at 33½.

Other weak spots were base metals, pipelines and steels. In base metals Hudson Bay was down 1 at 55 and Aluminium declined ½ at 28¾.

The rest of the market was mixed to higher.

Among the most active issues Trans Mountain Pipeline lost ⅛ at 13½, Trans - Canada Pipeline declined ½ at 28, Massey was off ⅛ at 14⅜, Combined Enterprises was unchanged at 13¾, Dominion Tar failed to move at 17, Atlas Steel was up ¾ at 28 and Celanese advanced ¾ at 23¼.

Penny mines and oils closed about mixed. Bateman Bay was up 9 cents.

Closing averages show banks up .22 at 63.63, a new high, utilities off .2 at 157.1, industrials up 1.2 at 312, combined up .7 at 260.4, papers up .9 at 458.8 and golds up .56 at 88.26.

Mrs. Thomas Dunn of Pioneer Family Dies

Word has been received in Nelson of the death in Portland, Ore., on April 16, of Mrs. Clara Dunn, at the age of 83.

Mrs. Dunn was the last surviving member of the Bulger family who were well known in the Kootenays. She went to Nakusp from Portland in 1898, and lived with her father, Thomas H. Bulger, who built the steamers Nakusp, Rossland, Kootenay and Minto, the tugboat Columbia and the many barges required for service on the Arrow Lakes. James Bulger, her half-brother, built the CPR steamers, tugboats and barges in Nelson for Kootenay Lake service.

In 1899 she was married to Thomas Dunn, a veteran of the Spanish-American War. He was employed for some years at Nakusp as freight checker. He predeceased her many years ago. When her father retired from boat-building, she and her two sons, Norman and Morley, moved to Fairview where she lived for some years before returning to Portland. Norman was an outstanding school athlete in Nelson.

Some years after the retirement of Thomas H. Bulger, his son, David, had charge of the Nakusp shipyard. He then returned to Portland.

Her two sons survive her, Norman at Marysville, Calif., and Morley, in Portland. Morley was in the Second World War and was one of the small number who survived the onslaught of the Japanese in the Guadalcanal area.

Dentistry is known to have been practiced as a profession as early as 500 BC, and probably even earlier.

Junior College Has Role, Says UBC Head

A junior college in Nelson could serve in B.C.'s educational program, Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, conceded in a discussion with the Nelson Chamber of Commerce junior college committee Tuesday.

With up to 40 per cent of UBC students dropping out in their first or second year of university, there was a place for a school which could provide what he called a "terminal" schooling in those two years.

He explained that two years of university left a student trained for nothing in particular, but that if courses were planned to that end two-year graduates could enter the working world fitted for technical jobs if not for professional positions. He likened it to the difference between a laboratory specialist and a doctor. One career did not require the same length of time to acquire, but present university curricula were aimed only at the second category.

Dr. MacKenzie warned, however, that the biggest obstacle to establishing a junior college would be in the field of finances. He felt public acceptance of any increased tax burden resulting must be built up before any campaign would be successful.

The setting up of a provincial government committee or commission to study the problem of junior colleges, how to finance them and how to maintain proper standards, was, Dr. MacKenzie thought, indicated by the growing interest in the subject.

Too rapid a start on a junior college program could have bad effects if sufficient qualified staff members were not available. Standards could not be maintained, he remarked, if staffs were overtaxed in handling too many classes and too large classes.

One danger was discussed in that if a start on a controlled junior college growth was not made soon, there might develop, a "mushrooming" of enthusiasm for the idea with the result private institutions of all kinds, and without programs geared to the whole educational program of the province, might spring up. This, he acknowledged, would create chaos.

A direct appeal to Dr. MacKenzie to take the leadership in creating a junior college program for B.C. was made by C. W. Ramsden, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee on junior college matters.

CRACK DOWN ON LOAFERS EFFECTIVE

Department of education's "get tough" policy in regard to pupils who loaf and otherwise take up classroom time without making much real effort to learn, is having satisfactory effects.

G. H. Lee, principal of L. V. Rogers High School, reported to this week's school board meeting that the plan of placing students on probation when their work fell below acceptable standards achieved its aim of relieving the school of the drag of such pupils on class progress.

In eight examples he gave, two had left school of their own accord, two had quit after consultation with parents, and of the four others all had improved, two being "noticeably" better.

Mr. Lee felt the program was getting results in both spurring on laggards and in taking the burden off teachers.

Civil Defence Exercise to Open Friday

Nelson will join in a nation-wide civil defence exercise which starts at 8 a.m. Friday and continues until 4 p.m. Saturday.

Objectives are to train control centre staffs in various functions including co-operation with armed forces, to test communications and warning systems procedures, and to study certain problems which might arise in implementation of the survival plan including their impact on a small number of government departments and to make preliminary assessments of the ability to meet immediate demands arising from some of these problems.

"Since Nelson district is designated as a reception area for evacuees from large cities, planning how to care for people on arrival is one of our greatest problems," J. A. Wilson, civil defence co-ordinator for West Kootenay, said Wednesday.

A central control centre will be set up in the old post office building, and will be in continuous operation throughout the exercise. All civil defence officers and personnel in West Kootenay will take part.

All members of the local organization are being asked to report to the headquarters between the hours of the exercise.

Salvation Army Set for Appeal

The Salvation Army's annual Red Shield campaign in Nelson and district starts Monday.

The objective is $3700, Lieut. Bernard Wiseman said Wednesday.

House-to-house calls will be made and donations may also be sent to campaign headquarters, the Salvation Army citadel at 513 Victoria Street.

The area includes Salmo, Nakusp, New Denver, Silverton, Slocan, South Slocan, Kaslo, Ainsworth, Procter and Riondel.

Fined for Speeding

Peter H. Shayler of Nelson was fined $15 and $3 costs Wednesday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding on Front and Anderson Streets. He told magistrate R. S. Nelson that his speedometer was out of order. Police said that he was clocked at a speed of 45 miles an hour. His licence was endorsed.

MARRIAGE COUNSELLOR for B.C. division of the Canadian Mental Health Association, Dr. Gordon A. Bryenton of Vancouver is pictured as he addressed a meeting in Nelson on adjustments needed for a successful marriage. Officers of Nelson branch of the Association seated from left are Mrs. H. W. McLellan, secretary; Malcolm Brandon, president, and Miss Marion Boyd, vice-president.

Five-Year Low in Hospital Patient Days Hits Finances

Three factors — a lower occupancy, higher overhead and increased wages — have contributed to a deficit in the new hospital's operation in the first quarter of 1959.

Overhead and wages account for $16,206 of the $17,496 red figure.

Fewer admissions and patient days than experienced in any first quarter of the last five years have affected hospital revenues.

Board of Directors of Kootenay Lake General Hospital Tuesday night faced a financial statement with far more red figures than any they had seen in recent years.

Patient days and admissions for the first quarters compare as follows:

Patient days, 1959—7364; 1958—7740; 1957—7614; 1956—8144; 1955—7583.

Admissions, 1959—897; 1958—934; 1957—927; 1956—931, 1955—842.

Net revenues in March were $37,600 against $38,074.

It was evident, a report from the Finance Committee stated, that the effect on occupancy from the availability of hospital beds in the new Castlegar District Hospital was still being felt by the operation here. The Nelson hospital average occupancy has been 74 adult and children patients per day compared to 78 daily average in the 1958 first quarter.

Another complicating factor for the Finance Committee was the fact that the 1959 budget allowances will not be made known until July. The new budget, calling for an increased per diem rate, was approved for submission to the Hospital Insurance Service.

1959 COMMITTEES

Standing committees for the year were named by Chairman E. M. Stiles. They comprise:

Executive — Chairman; H. D. Harrison, vice-chairman; T. C. Lambert, treasurer; R. H. Procter, secretary; J. A. Cullinane, J. H. Coventry, C. H. Bland and Mayor T. S. Shorthouse.

Finance — T. C. Lambert and W. P. F. Green.

Personnel — Mr. Coventry, chairman; K. D. McRae, Mr. Cullinane and F. E. Parsons of Salmo.

Property — H. J. Witchell, chairman; Mr. Bland, W. A. Taylor and K. R. Yale.

MORE DONATIONS

Donation funds for sponsorship of wards and equipment for the new hospital continue to come in, the meeting learned. Received were a $600 cheque from the Nelson Rotary Club increasing their gift to date to $1000; $120 from the Women's Institutes of the hospital district increasing their gift to date to $395; the Procter Junior Red Cross and District sent $79 for a wheelchair and children of the Procter Elementary School $17 for crutches.

The residents of Slocan Park have also expressed interest in furnishing a ward as has a Canadian Doukhobor Women's Auxiliary.

Largest projects undertaken in the past month were the removal of the rock outcrop on the parking lot and the erection of a lighting standard, Mr. Witchell said in his Property Committee report. These improvements, done at a cost of approximately $1100, created an improvement in the accessibility and size of the parking area.

Three telephone pay station mobile carts were manufactured by the staff, Mr. Witchell said. Made at a cost of about $100 each, these would have cost $1000 if purchased.

REVIEW INSURANCE

A full review of the insurance arrangement for the new hospital has been carried out during the past month following receipt of the Commonwealth Appraisal Co. report, Mr. Procter reported.

Values are $1,836,353 for the building, $384,731 for equipment, $60,000 for staff home, and $8000 for staff home equipment.

To set up a clear-cut program all existing contracts were signed off and the entire program rewritten as of January 1, 1959. There was no lapse in coverage, he said. Specific insurance contracts on the old buildings are $100,000 on old hospital and $25,000 on the old nurses home.

The balance of a $20,000 policy on the accounting building or isolation hospital due to expire a year hence has been transferred without charge to the City of Nelson recognizing the value the hospital received from use of the old city building, Mr. Procter said.

With passage of the city budget Monday the paving of View Street and the installation of a sidewalk from Carbonate-Park Street intersection to the hospital is assured. Permanent street lighting is not in the 1959 program, the meeting learned.

Arrangements have been made for permanent concrete monuments to be installed this month to mark the boundaries of the hospital society's property. Cost will be under $150 for 12 monuments.

Power Mower Safety Being Urged Here

A safety campaign for the owners of power-operated lawn mowers has been launched by the Nelson branch of the British Columbia Safety Council.

Paul Deakin, first aid supervisor at Kootenay Forest Products and a member of the Nelson Safety Council steering committee, said that stickers have been distributed to all retail stores handling power mowers, and to mower repair shops. Most of the outlets contacted have placed the safety stickers directly onto the mower bodies.

The tags outline these points of safety:

1. Adults only should operate power mowers;
2. Clear your lawn of all obstacles—stones, toys and children;
3. Know your mower, how to start it safely with the guards in place, how to stop the motor quickly and safely;
4. Turn off the motor even when you leave it for a minute, disconnect the spark plug wire before clearing the blades or repairing;
5. Keep the hands, feet and clothing clear of the moving parts;
6. Store the gasoline in an approved safety container.
