Macchia and Red Wagon Make It To Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 27-year-old Italian who quit his job in a Toronto department store and decided to take a walk arrived here Tuesday after a 5000-mile hike from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Guy Macchia took only 130 days to stroll from Halifax to Vancouver. He wore out four pairs of desert boots walking at a five-mile-an-hour clip.

The bearded immigrant's first move here was to present a bottle of Atlantic sea water to Mayor Tom Alsbury at city hall.

Macchia, who came to Canada in 1952, set out from Halifax May 1 with a packsack and a little red wagon for his food supply.

He lost 20 pounds on his journey.

Mr. Macchia passed through Nelson Sept. 28.

Provinces To Press Fleming For Better Tax Sharing Deal

DOCTORS WANT GOV'T DEFINE CHRONIC CARE

VICTORIA (CP)—A demand for a government definition of chronic care and a streamlined blood donor - transfusion services was made Wednesday in a report to the opening annual convention session of the B.C. Division of the Canadian Medical Association.

The report, from the association's hospital committee headed by Dr. Frank Turnbull of Vancouver, urged "clear cut public and governmental definitions of certain highly-abstract words and phrases such as 'chronic care', 'convalescent care', 'home nursing care' and 'boarding home care.' "

The committee urged:

1. A greater pooling of transfusion services, with one laboratory acting for several hospitals in Vancouver.

2. The Red Cross reconsider its policy of not pressing for replacement blood from relatives and friends of a person given a transfusion.

It was presented at a brief opening session after which delegates took time off for golf and a navy cruise. Today they get down to scientific discussions involving many of the new fields of research.

Provincial Treasurers To Meet Finance Minister Today

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Provincial treasurers make a fresh attempt today to pry open a federal purse that has already been snapped shut to federal government employees.

The question of a better tax-sharing deal for the provinces — shelved at a two-day conference last July — comes to the fore again with the resumption of meetings between Finance Minister Fleming and provincial treasurers.

They will meet behind closed doors today and Friday in a Parliament building committee room.

The provinces will seek an early reply to the request that almost all of them made when they were last here on July 6 and 7: for a negotiating conference soon to revise the existing five-year tax-sharing agreements.

Mr. Fleming made it clear last July, when decision on the request was postponed, that such a conference wouldn't be called unless the federal government was ready to talk in terms of more cash.

There have been a number of recent indications that Ottawa isn't ready to do that right now, at least not to any major extent.

On Wednesday the government turned down a general pay increase for federal employees which had been recommended by the civil service commission. Mr. Fleming said it would seriously affect his budget position — a $393,000,000 deficit has been forecast for this fiscal year ending next March 31.

Four premiers will be in the provincial delegations for the new talks, which will pick up where the July meeting left off. Three of them are here in their dual roles as treasurer of their provinces: Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia, Roblin of Manitoba, and Bennett of British Columbia.

Considerable attention will focus on the fourth—Premier Sauve of Quebec, attending his first federal-provincial fiscal conference with Provincial Finance Minister Bourque. He is following the lead of the late Premier Duplessis who attended the July meeting.

Premier Sauve has said he is bringing to Ottawa a concrete suggestion that he believes will solve the question of federal grants to Quebec universities. The grants have been turned down by universities in the province because of the Quebec government's opposition to federal grants in a field of exclusive provincial jurisdiction.

This conference also is scheduled to discuss several other matters of interest to both levels of government, including current problems of borrowing funds for capital expansion. Provinces and municipalities across Canada have felt the pinch of tight money and high interest rates in their bond borrowings.

Other subjects on the agenda: the whole field of federal grants-in - aid and programs jointly financed by federal and provincial governments, and the possible establishment of a joint ministerial committee for co-operation in programs of joint interest.

The ministers also will receive a report from a federal-provincial committee made up of their deputy ministers. This committee has been studying a number of problems, mostly of a technical or administrative nature.

Most of the interest, however, will centre on provincial attempts to get a better tax-sharing deal from Ottawa.

Present arrangements allocate the provinces 13 per cent of federal personal income tax collections, nine per cent of taxable corporation income, and 50 per cent of inheritance taxes.

Election Results

EDMONTON (CP)—Reform-candidate Elmer E. Roper Wednesday night won the mayoralty race in the Edmonton civic election, defeating three other candidates.

Mayor Don Mackay of Calgary trailed as ballot counting headed into the final stage with 308 of 338 polls reported. Challenger Harry Hays had 26,956 votes, 987 ahead of Mr. Mackay.

Blast Kills Four

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) — Something slipped in a truckload of waste explosive near Los Alamos scientific laboratory Wednesday, causing an explosion that killed four men.

Spokesmen for Atomic Laboratory said no radioactive materials were involved.

Not even parts of two of the bodies could be found. The two men were listed as missing and presumed dead.

The blast took place at a disposal dump at the top-secret A-site two miles south of Los Alamos.

Nine Resign In Opposition To de Gaulle

PARIS (Reuters) — Nine of the 219-member Gaullist group in the French National Assembly resigned from the group Wednesday night over Algerian policy.

The nine members of the governing union for the new republic held out for integration of Algeria with France in opposition to President Charles de Gaulle's offer of self-determination for Algeria.

The party line on de Goulle's offer prevented them from declaring themselves in favor of keeping Algeria as part of France — "the only solution capable of maintaining Algeria French," the resigning members said.

Heading the resigning group of nine are four men who played a prominent part in the right-wing revolt of May 13, 1958, which led to the return to power of de Gaulle—Leon Delbecque, Col. Jean Thomazo, Pascal Arrighi and Jean-Baptiste Biaggi.

Despite the resignations, de Gaulle's bid to end five years of fighting in Algeria by offering self - determination to Algerians appeared sure of acceptance by the National Assembly.

Screen Veteran Errol Flynn Dies

VANCOUVER (CP) — Veteran actor Errol Flynn, whose swashbuckling career sometimes surpassed his glamorous movie roles died in an ambulance en route to hospital here Wednesday night. He was 50.

The thrice-married screen star had come here five days ago, accompanied by a 17-year-old protege, Beverly Aadland, to sell his $100,000 schooner Zaca.

He was being driven to the airport by George Caldough of West Vancouver, the man reported to be buying his yacht, when he complained of chest pains.

He was driven to a doctor in the West End but collapsed en route. The doctor called an inhalator and ambulance but Flynn was dead on arrival at hospital.

Flynn told reporters on his arrival here Oct. 9 that movies were no longer important to him.

In typical Flynn manner he declared:

"The rest of my life will be devoted to women and litigation."

During his lifetime he was often involved in litigation because and over women.

Miss Aadland was not with the veteran actor when he died.

Flynn was reported under doctor's care during his Vancouver stay.

A native of Hobart, Tasmania, Flynn rose to movie stardom in the 1930s in such romantic, adventure roles as Captain Blood and The Charge of the Light Brigade.

Parole System Said Showing Good Results

CALGARY (CP) — Parole can work with amazing success in the reform even of murderers, drug addicts and habitual criminals, National Parole Board chairman T. George Street said Wednesday night.

In a speech to the John Howard Society of Alberta he said people who are cynical about parole of convicts should read some of the board's files and "learn of some of the phenomenal successes there have been in converting what seemed to be hardened criminals to useful, productive and respected citizens."

"There are two murderers who were trained as hospital attendants and now are working in this capacity outside (prison), and many others convicted of murder who now are respectable citizens."

One man sentenced for armed robbery had shown a desire in prison to reform, had been granted a parole and became a uniformed security officer "which means he now is in effect a policeman."

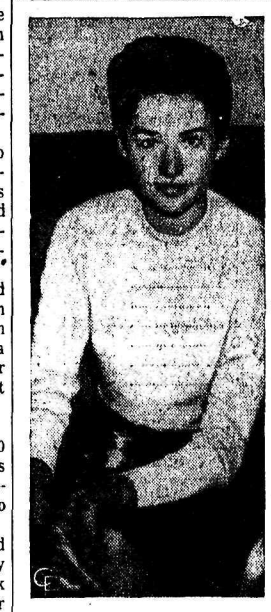
EIGHT STAY OUT

"During the last four years, 10 men who had been sentenced as habitual criminals have been released, and of these only two were returned to the institution.

"Four of these have established such a stake in the community that there is practically no risk of their committing another crime and two were former drug addicts and they have not returned to the use of drugs."

Mr. Street, a former Ontario magistrate, added, however, that he is not naive enough to think that of all the convicts released on parole none will get into trouble or commit another crime.

"There are bound to be some that do—if there weren't then we are not being positive enough in our approach to this problem. Anyone can keep saying 'no, don't let them out, they might get into trouble again.' But our job is to say yes wherever it is possible to do so.



TOWNSEND'S — Marie Lance Jamagne gives the camera a pensive look in this closeup from her home in Brasschaat, Belgium. She will be the bride of Group Capt. Peter Townsend, once a suitor for the hand of Britain's Princess Margaret.

Blew Own Horn Once Too Often

VICTORIA (CP) — Jubilation apparently triumphed over discretion for an airman who drove with horn blaring on a downtown street during a wedding party.

Wednesday in police court Brian S. Wylie of RCAF Station Comox was fined a total of $210 for driving while under suspension—his second conviction—and using his car horn "unnecessarily."

Wylie said he was best man at the wedding .

Commented Magistrate William Ostler: "If you are going to commit a crime there is nothing like blowing your horn to draw attention to yourself, is there?"

Three Jet Crashes Probed

LONDON (CP)—To find out why three of Britain's latest jet aircraft crashed within the last eight weeks, the manufacturers have started the biggest aviation inquiry since the first Comet airliner exploded over the Mediterranean seven years ago.

The Victor II H-bomber, which disappeared Aug. 20, lies in about 400 feet of water off the Irish coast. The supersonic Lightning fighter, from which the pilot escaped two weeks ago, is somewhere off the Isle of Man. The NA-39 low-level strike bomber which plowed into a field near Portsmouth, is in thousands of mangled pieces.

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Probation officer Jack Selkirk said Wednesday plans for a juvenile detention home here are meeting obstacles. Attempts to provide staff and buildings appeared to have slackened off. The John Howard Society, Kamloops Council of Women and RCM officials said recently a detention home here to serve the Okanagan area is absolutely essential.

U.S. Urges Study Of International Police Force

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge attacked the "all-or-nothing theory of disarmament" Wednesday and urged instead a step-by-step approach guaranteed by inspection and control.

But Lodge, addressing the United Nations political and security committee, said the U.S. will give "the most careful scrutiny" to the total disarmament proposals placed before the UN General Assembly Sept. 18 by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

In this connection, Lodge called for a UN study on what type of international police force would be needed to preserve peace and security if all nations left themselves naked of defensive arms.

The U.S. also sought detailed answers to the questions:

1. What principles of international law should govern the use of such a force.

2. What internal security forces, in precise terms, would be required by nations if existing armaments are abolished?

In outlining U.S. policy in the committee's disarmament debate Lodge declared:

"We are willing to take large steps or small steps—as long as they are real steps taken in confidence, and all concerned take equal steps together. The road to complete disarmament is long. The U.S. will be happy to travel to the end of it."

URGES CARE

After enumerating his questions regarding "institutions" that would be needed in a world without arms, Lodge added:

"We should not overlook the many other practical steps which lie right before us and not fall victims to the 'all - or - nothing" theory of disarmament. We welcome the Soviet Union's expression of willingness to seek progress through limited steps."

Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos also spoke on disarmament in a visit to the UN Wednesday, stating in a speech to the General Assembly:

"Disarmament is a subject of such consequence that none would dare refuse to consider it, no matter in which aspect it may be stated, no matter in what way . . . true, the question is greater than can be encompassed by many of the smaller or medium-sized nations, but though these may lack the argument of force, they must take in hand the instruments of persuasion and create—to the utmost of their capacity—social, economic and political conditions conducive to peace."

CZECHS AGREE

Czechoslovakia's Jiri Nosek addressed the 82 - nation political committee after Lodge and extended unqualified support — as was expected — for the Khrushchev plan which envisages a world without arms within four years.

Leukemia Tests Show Promise

LONDON (CP)—Professor Gordon Townsend of the Ontario Agricultural College, who started experiments with royal jelly in the treatment of leukemia and cancer, said here Tuesday night the tests are "promising."

He said the tests, which he began on mice, are going on in two Canadian hospitals "and the results are encouraging."

Royal jelly is the food secreted by bees for the rearing of queen bees.

Dollar Hits New High For 1959

NEW YORK (AP) — The value of the Canadian dollar in terms of United States currency reached a 1959 high Wednesday.

Foreign exchange dealers quoted it at $1.05 11-16 in U.S. currency, up 5-32 from Tuesday's close of $1.05 17-32. The previous peak for the year of $1.05 21-32 was set on Oct. 1.

Dredge Overturns

SEATTLE (AP)—The yell, "low bridge," didn't bother skipper Charley Ackley of the 86-foot freighter Nunivak.

He borrowed a saw from a nearby tugboat. Off came three feet from the top of his mast.

Then he steamed under the Ballard Bridge during the 4 to 6 p.m. traffic rush hours. It's closed then to ship movements along the Lake Washington ship canal.

"I thought he was kidding when he called for a saw," said bridge tender Gorton Herdeck.

The 162-ton Nunivak, owned by the Marine Medical Mission, serves Indian communities along the British Columbia coast and was outward bound to Vancouver.

HANCOCK, N.H. (AP)—At least to designer Augusta Bartholomew Dillon, the recent hurricane Gracie was not an ill wind.

She said Tuesday night she has sold a design based on Gracie's whirling eye to a manufacturer of rugs and carpets.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—At the Portland city jail the prisoners will be served bear meat, probably in stew.

A motorist telephoned police Tuesday and said he had run over a bear on the Columbia Gorge highway near Cascade locks east of Portland. Would the police like it? Yes.

The bear, which appeared to be about seven months old, yielded some 60 pounds of meat, police said.

HOPKINGTON, R.I. (AP)—Parents, not pupils, find homework burdensome, according to a member of Hopkington's school board which Tuesday night acceded to parents' contention that their children were overworked.

The board limited home study to two hours.

Said the unconvinced board member, Paul Mackay, himself a teacher:

"The main trouble is the parents have to do the work for the kids. That's where the squawk comes in."

Abdication Pained, Angered Queen Mary

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — A long-secret letter discloses the late Queen Mary was angered and pained by the abdication of King Edward VIII in 1936 for love of Wallis Warfield Simpson.

The Queen had begged her son not to give up the throne.

"You did not seem able to take any point of view but your own, she chided him 18 months after he abdicated and started a semi-exile abroad with his bride as the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

The letter forms an essential part of the official biography of Queen Mary published today. She died at 85 on March 24, 1953.

TRUE FEELINGS

"You ask me in your letter of 23rd June (1938) to write you particularly about my true feelings with regard to you and the present situation and this I will now do," Queen Mary wrote.

"You will remember how miserable I was when you informed me of your intended marriage and abdication and how I implored you not to do so for our sake and the sake of the country.

"You did not seem able to take any point of view but your own.

"I do not think you have ever realized the shock which the attitude you took up caused your family and the whole nation.

DECLINED SACRIFICE

"It seemed inconceivable to those who made such sacrifices during the war that you, as their king, refused a lesser sacrifice.

"My feelings for you as your mother remain the same and our being parted, and the cause of it, grieves me beyond words.

"After all, all my life I have put country before everything else, and I simply cannot change now."

The letter was made public by permission of the Queen.

She gave the biographer, James Pope - Hennessey, unrestricted access to Queen Mary's private papers.

The biographer pored over Queen Mary's papers for three years.

"Queen Mary told members of her family that no single event in her life had caused her so much real distress or left her with so deep a feeling of humiliation as the abdication of her son," Pope-Hennessey wrote.

"To Queen Mary the idea of a twice-divorced woman, a woman with two husbands living, marrying her son and becoming queen consort was out of all question."

Though she was stern and unyielding when questions of the monarchy arose, she had her motherly side.

When the Duchess of Windsor once became ill in New York, Queen Mary wrote her son with concern:

"I feel so sorry for your great anxiety."

Her wisdom is shown in another hitherto - unpublished letter which she wrote on the eve of the Second World War.

"However victorious this country might be," she said, "a Second World War would spell the decline of the British Empire."

One night she penned in her diary:

"In case of invasion, I do not wish to become a prisoner of Hitler."

From the last great emotional shock of her life—the death of King George VI in 1952—Queen Mary never fully recovered.

"I suppose," she wrote in her diary, "one must force oneself on to the end."

Nine Pledge Allegiance, Receive Citizenship Papers

A group of nine Nelson and district residents became Canada's newest citizens Wednesday.

In a dignified ceremony in the court house, four women and five men swore allegiance to Queen and country and were presented with their citizenship certificates.

His Honor Judge E. P. Dawson, pointed out that in taking Canada as their adopted land the new citizens are not called upon to forget the good and useful things of their homeland.

He said that besides conforming to the laws of the land they should learn more about Canadian affairs and take part in them.

"You should not live here in isolation, but do what you can to assist in the betterment of the communities in which you live," Judge Dawson said.

C. W. Ramsden, president of the Nelson Chamber of Commerce, reminded the group that they have joined people who enjoy many frtedoms withheld from citizens of other lands.

"You can choose your own vocation and there are many activties in which you can take part for the good of yourself and your community," he said and in extending congratulations expressed the hope that the new Canadians would remain in the district and enjoy the "inevitable future prosperity" of the Kootenays.

E. T. Bodard, president of Nelson Rotary Club, told the gathering that his organization is an international one dedicated to "building bridges of friendship."

"I can think of no better way to achieve this than to extend a warm, friendly greeting to new Canadians. Canada needs you just as much as you need Canada," he said.

"Today I envy you. I was born a Canadian and my citizenship came without work, sacrifice or effort on my part. You have worked hard to discover what is required of a good Canadian citizen. Many of us who gained this honor by birthright are apt to forget the responsibilities it entails," he said.

"Perhaps time will prove this to be the greatest day of your life," said Canon W. J. Silverwood.

He extended a welcome to the new citizens on behalf of the Christian church. The minister said he came to Canada 37 years ago and has been "forever grateful" for the abundant opportunities he has enjoyed.

K. D. McRae, court registrar, in presenting the certificates to the group said that although there are larger countries "there is none better."

"There is no country in the world where citizens have as much reason to be proud as those in Canada," Mr. McRae claimed.

BIBLES GIVEN

F. S. Aikens, representing the British and Foreign Bible Society, presented each applicant with a bible, explaining that it is not the aim of his group to channel them to any particular denomination but to urge all to worship God.

Mrs. A. E. Dalgas, regent of Kokanee chapter of the Imperial Order Daughter's of the Empire, told the gathering that a great honor was being bestowed upon them.

Mrs. Dalgas presented each with a certificate of greetings and told those present "we take a keen interest in your welfare."

C. H. Hamilton, Nelson lawyer, extended greetings and congratulations and said he felt confident those assembled would prove to be good citizens.

Certificates were presented to: Hannelore Davis of Blewett, Edwin Battles Gates of St. Leon, Corinne Louise Hanson of Salmo, Wallace Eli Jenks of New Denver, John Lodder of Salmo, Mrs. Flora Seamark, Josef Somsak, and Mrs. Gerharda Jozefina Van Feggelen, all of Nelson and Mrs. Kazimiera Wynnyczuk of Castlegar.

Fire Loss Heavy In September

Destruction of the South Nelson elementary school sent property damage through fire soaring to $285,290 in the city in September, fire chief E. S. Owens reported to City Council Wednesday night.

It was one of only four alarms responded to by the department last month, the monthly report stated, only two of which involved fire. Value of the school building was stated as being $263,000 and the contents, $22,200.

In August, however, the department responded to seven alarms and property damage amounted to only $254.

"The vital importance of Nelson fire safety has been most obvious, and all spare time has been spent in preparing fire prevention activities in schools, homes, mercantile and industrial establishments," the chief stated.

Creek Street To Be Inspected

City Council Wednesday night authorized its public works committee to investigate the condition of that part of Creek Street lying inside city limits.

Condition of the street, a small part of which is inside city limits, was deplored in a letter to the editor published in the Oct. 7 issue of The Daily News.

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse raised the subject at Wednesday's meeting, and recommended that a study be made.

FERRY DECK TO BE RAISED

Kootenay Lake ferry Anscomb is going to have its boat deck raised.

Kimberley Ski Club To Borrow $8000

KIMBERLEY—A special general meeting of the Kimberley Ski Club Oct. 13 to consider the amendment to money bylaw 2. Discuss and vote on complete amended proposed bylaw. Operating under bylaws drawn up in 1947 which were inadequate due to many major changes since that time.

Both motions were carried. The directors were empowered to arrange a bank loan of $8000 to be repaid in the next two years. Under the old bylaw $100 was the total amount allowed.

Money will pay balance due on new T-bars on order, lodge improvements and present bank loan of one thousand excess of expenditures over revenue Dec. 1, 1958, to Sept. 30, 1959.

Arrangements have been made with the drive-in theatre at Cranbrook to run a full-length color movie, "Ski Crazy", Nov. 2 and 3 with proceeds going to the national ski team of thirty Canadian top amateur skiers who will train in Kimberley and compete at principal ski meets in future. The Olympic alpine team of probably five men and four girls will be chosen from these.

Father, Son Hurt In Truck Crash

KIMBERLEY — Leonard Dovall is in Kimberley hospital suffering from chest injuries and his father A. C. Dovall received face injuries and a dislocated hip in an accident on McDougall Townsite hill.

A three-ton truck in which the men were riding ran into a bank after failing to make a turn at Morrison subdivision junction. The front wheels were sheared off by the impact.

Mr. Dovall sr., was flown to Vancouver Wednesday for further treatment.

Marysville To Install New Drainage Pipe

MARYSVILLE — Marysville Village Commission, meeting this week, instructed the clerk to enquire into the cost of 10-inch pipe for drainage on the main street. The Commission proposes to have the pipe laid before winter.

Financial problems and a study of the budget also occupied Commissioners at the meeting.

Sang, Zeljko Kujundzic, internationally recognized sculptor who now lives in Nelson, who designed and made the fountain, and Mr. Fink's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Fink of Nelson. —Photo by Jim Nelson.

Invermere Bank Being Extended

INVERMERE — Exterior construction is nearing completion in the Imperial Bank branch extension at Invermere which will house a new manager's office and additional office space downstairs and a staff lunchroom and washrooms upstairs.

Manager W. H. Lloyd has left for Winnipeg for a special course in the office of the western superintendent. Accountant Al Adam is acting manager during his absence.

Water Supply Issue Studied at Rossland

ROSSLAND — A circular summarizing proposals to ensure a better water supply and distribution system for the city of Rossland is being sent to every householder.

Accompanying the circular will be a questionaire allowing citizens to indicate how much additional water is required and how much they are prepared to pay for it.

The summary has been compiled from the investigation and analysis of the problems associated with Rossland's water supply which has been carried out during recent months by the fire, water and light committee, headed by Alderman William Wadeson, and which was made public at Tuesday's meeting of the city council.

Ald. Wadeson described what he called "a minimum program of work" to restore the suply system to the physical condition that prevailed in the year 1929, with minor improvements, after the big reservoir was completed.

This work would include raising the intake dam at Murphy Creek, re-location of the Stoney Creek dam, inspection, re-laying and extensions of pipe, installation of chlorination equipment, erection of tank, and placing of pressure reducing valves.

A rough estimating cost for this program of work is given as $85,000.

Then, Ald. Wadeson went on to describe a suggested plan which would increase the assured delivery to about 870,000 gallons per day in a dry summer.

This would be to bring the south fork of Little Sheep Creek into the system and would have the advantage of providing an alternative supply of water to the city in case of a break in the present main supply lines. It would entail a cost of roughly $40,000, and is put forward by the committee as the very minimum program that could be carried out.

Farmers Okay Land Purchase

CRANBROOK — Final recommendation for approval of a Crown land purchase application by Glen Bower of Bull River has been given by Cranbrook Farmers' Institute. The application was for the purchase of 320 acres for grazing five miles southeast of Fort Steele, which had met with some opposition within the Institute. The applicant already held a long-term lease on the acreage.

An outline was given to the Cranbrook Institute meeting by the East Kootenay Central Institutes secretary, Ken Miles, of matters to be placed before the provincial advisory board meeting at Victoria in November by its board member, R. B. Harris of Windermere. Resolutions to be presented at that time were discussed. The meeting clarified its request for contiuned gopher poisoning with 1080, stating its purpose was to cope with colonies adjacent to cultivated land, not blanket extermination. Other resolutions for forwarding dealt with need for a full-time clerk in the provincial government agricultural office here, now open only mornings, increase of maximum weight limit of produce farm trucks under the new auto-carrier licence increase due next year, use of purple gas in farm vehicles and widespread pine seedling reforestation. Calf vaccination matters were also discussed.

Dwindling financial aid to East Kootenay Central Institute was reported to the meeting, with three of the Upper Columbia Valley locals failing to continue to function this fall. Financial contribution is based on the number of locals affiliated in the Central.

Frank Hill was chairman of the meeting, and A. B. Smith secretary in the absence of the permanent secretary, E. P. Becker.

Credit Unions Celebrate Today

The 11,135 members of Credit Unions in West Kootenay will celebrate the founding of the movement today.

The West Kootenay chapter of Credit Unions, embracing 20 groups, is joining others throughout the world in observing "Credit Union Day." Besides being the birthday of the movement, it marks the growth of Credit Unionism since its inception more than 100 years ago.

The individual organizations making up the West Kootenay chapter have grown phenomenally in the last few years, from a membership of a few hundred persons to 11,135 today. Their total assets stand at $6,307,396.

The biggest is that of Trail, with a membership of 3857 and assets of $2,230,582.

The various groups will celebrate the day with activities ranging from a children's party in Nakusp, to opening of a new Credit Union building in Fruitvale. It is expected that a large number of credit union people from elsewhere in the district will attend the Fruitvale event.

At Nelson, Nelson Savings and Canadian Pacific Railway credit unions will sponsor a party at the Legion for all members and their friends. Bingo and a dance will be highlights of the program.

In the Western hemisphere there are 22,500 Credit Unions run by volunteer officers on a non-profit basis, with a membership of approximately 10,000,000 persons.

Fringe Benefits

There was a time when all the worker asked for was a job, reasonable hours and good pay. He still wants his job, his hours have been cut considerably, and his pay is frequently revised upwards. He is in a much more satisfactory position than he was a few years ago, but he is not yet satisfied. He wants fringe benefits, and other people beside the workers want them, too. They have become a part of our welfare system.

Nobody can deny that these fringe benefits do add much to the peace of mind of the workers, and in a sense they may be of more importance than an increase in pay. They are not entirely lost money to the employers, for the psychological effect on the workers must serve to increase production. Whether this is true or not, they are regarded as very important by those who seek them.

The fringe benefits make a long list. They include the following: Paid vacations and holidays, pension plans, welfare plans, savings and thrift plans, free lodgings, workmen's compensation and old age security.

All this adds up to a large amount of money. In a percentage of the payrolls of 108 companies surveyed recently, it comes to 16.4 per cent, or $701, per employee per year.

Thus it appears that fringe benefits are almost a second salary, and when added to the regular salary become quite impressive. What is often forgotten is that these benefits are a charge on industry, and eventually on the whole community. It is well known that all the benefits of the British welfare state are conferred by taxing the nation. The amount of that taxation is known, whereas the total cost of our fringe benefits is not known.

It should be realized that these fringe benefits are an invisible form of taxation since they are direct charges on industry and eventually on the whole of the nation. By adding to the cost of production they raise the price of merchandise and help to restrict the sale of goods. They should be considered not only from the point of view of their effect on the workers but of their effect on the cost of production.

Interpreting the News

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Whitehall's game of musical chairs is in full swing as Prime Minister Macmillan ponders impending changes in his cabinet.

Only one minor government change was dictated by Thursday's general election — replacement of Nixon Browne, an under-secretary of state for Scotland who lost his seat. But it is generally accepted that the changes will not stop there.

The manifesto on which Macmillan fought and won his electoral victory pledged addition of a minister of science to the cabinet. He is likely to be drawn from its existing members, with Defence Minister Duncan Sandys frequently mentioned as a possible choice.

Unmentioned in the manifesto but a source of considerable speculation was the possibility that Macmillan plans to split the present portfolio of transport and civil aviation in order to give a minister full-time charge of the aircraft industry.

Meanwhile there were reports of other changes. Apart from Macmillan himself, only Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Derick Heathcoat Amory, chancellor of the exchequer, were generally accepted as immune from possible moves.

Amory, who took over at the treasury less than two years ago, has come in for little criticism. Lloyd, although much criticized ever since the 1956 Suez crisis, is seen as indispensable in negotiations toward a summit conference.

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd, another minister frequently under fire, is one cabinet member whose retirement has been frequently predicted. Lennox-Boyd, 58, has held the arduous portfolio for five years and has recently suffered ill health.

Although he is given much of the credit for the promotion of Ghana and Malaya to Commonwealth status, his replacement would give Macmillan opportunity to re-examine colonial policies in Africa, particularly in Kenya, and Nyasaland, where constitutional talks have run into difficulty.

Younger cabinet members such as Labor Minister Ian Macleod and Paymaster-General Reginald Maudling were seen as ripe for promotion. And a government vacancy may be created if the solicitor-general, Sir Harry Hulton-Foster, is chosen speaker of the new House of Commons. The last speaker, W. S. Morrison, did not seek reelection.

Masters and Servants

Mr. Dal Grauer, president of the British Columbia Power Corporation, pointed out in a speech in Vancouver last week that Canada's installed capacity of electric power is 18,000,000 kilowatts. This means that each Canadian has a kilowatt working for him, supporting and largely accounting for his high standard of living.

Canada's potential capacity of electrical power is, of course, much greater. Mr. Grauer went on to say that British Columbia alone has a potential capacity of 30,000,000 kilowatts. In other words, British Columbia alone could support, at their present electrical standard, almost twice as many people as there are in all Canada today. Yet there still are those who say Canada has enough people.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

Myth or Monster

The case for sea serpents has taken a most distressing turn—distressing especially for the more popular monsters.

If Kelowna's Ogopogo and the Loch Ness Monster heard what Dr. Anton Brun, a Danish scientist, said recently in New York, they will be horrified to discover that they aren't. They don't exist. Not possibly.

But if Victoria's Cadborosaurus had lifted his unlikely head from the salty waters of Cadboro Bay, he would have been reassured to hear that he might —just might—be a bona fide, 100 per cent living sea serpent, as real as real can be.

Dr. Brun recently told the World Oceanic Congress that sooner or later he's going to haul a seprent-like creature at least 40 feet long out of the South Atlantic. An authority on life in the abysmal depths, he has found an eel larva nearly six feet long with 450 ribs, which, at a conservative estimate, would grow up to be 60 feet long.

Dr. Brun casually did in Ogopogo and his ilk by saying that gigantic eels couldn't possibly get enough to eat in small lakes. With enormous appetites to feed enormous bodies, they would be able to find enough food only in the sea.

With any luck, Ogopogo and his Scottish cousin didn't hear Dr. Brun and are still swimming about like DTs incarnate.—Financial Post.

On Butter Stocks

To the Editor:

Sir—A recent statement in the press said that our government has several million pounds of butter they want a market for.

How many users of margarine realize that while they use it because it is cheaper, they are contributing to butter that they don't eat?

If farmers cannot produce butter without government assistance, why produce it? Support prices are not paid to other lines of goods. Why eat margarine and pay for butter you don't get? C. H. B.

F. B. Pearce. . . . . Writes

I was asked if a notice in the Post Office which reads "do not put cellulose tape on postage stamps nor on the flaps of registered enveldpes," is correct. It is. "Nor" is used as a negative form of "or." We say "either" and "or" but "neither" and "nor" as in Either you or Joe may go; neither you nor Joe may go. As far as I know there is no reason for this beyond custom, but the "nor" certainly make the negative emphatic.

Pronunciation of unfamiliar words is often difficult to many people who did not receive a good phonic training in school. Pyramus, in our new column, is pronounced Piramus. All "py's" have the sound of the first syllable as in pyramid.

It is just as well to look the pronunciation up in a dictionary. Contoneaster is the name of a bush with shiny red or black berries. It is not pronounced co-ton-y-aster but co-ton-east-er. Cheam in the Fraser Valley has not got two syllables but rhymes with cream.

I often wondered what is meant when Americans talk of clipped British accents. As far as I can see it is not the British accents which are clipped but that Americans and Canadians place an accent on the last syllable. It surprised Capt. Burrard when he came to see the inlet named after his ancestor to find that the people of Vancouver called it Bu-rard. He calls himself Burr'd. I can quite understand, however, that people called Tickell wuold not be fussy about being called tickle.

Accents have another use. They show your acquaintance with good speech (perhaps). Where do you put the accent in such words as formidable and controversy. Here again you had better look them up in the dictionary if you don't want your friends to give themselves airs of superiority.

Speech has always been an indication of a person's education and social standing. You will remember that the Roman soldiers accused Peter of being with Christ because as they said, his speech betrayed him. Even in Canada where there is no greatly marked difference in accents, the vocabulary and the grammar used mark the individual and give the listener some appreciation of his education. It is not by any means the best test, for many people with little or no formal education have, by extensive reading, acquired an extensive vocabulary and excellent grammar.

These people have also enlarged their minds considerably, for a large vocabulary goes with an active mind. Parents of young children watch with anxiety when the children begin to speak for unconsciously they feel that a child's ability to learn to use words is an indication of its ability to learn in school.

Expect Northern Oil Drilling In the Arctic

OTTAWA (CP)—Oil drilling in the north this winter is expected to include the first conducted above the Arctic Circle, Northern Affairs Department officials said Wednesday.

They said that Peter Bawden Drilling Ltd., of Calgary, contract drillers, are moving bargeloads of equipment via the Mackenzie River to a point near Fort ood Hope, about 225 miles down river from the Arctic Ocean.

The proposed drilling site is held by Scurry-Rainbow.

Other wells may be started this winter just north of the British Columbia boundary and north of Great Slave Lake.

The Scurry-Rainbow location is about 200 miles west and a little north of the producing well brought in in the Yukon last summer.

Titled Eccentric Dies in London

LONDON (Reuters)—Lady Flavia Seton, 56, who despite her aristocratic title worked as a chambermaid and other odd jobs and became known as a spokesman for the "titled poor," died Tuesday night.

Lady Seton also had worked as a barmaid. Her last job was demonstrating packages of dehydrated soup in a department store.

She and her husband, Sir Alexander Hay Seton, lived for some time in a single rented room. Earlier they had lived in a country cottage in Scotland where Seton was employed as a groundskeeper. More recently he was working for a sideshow company at a London amusement park. They were divorced last year.

Lady Seton won her title as spokesman for the "titled poor" through a series of newspaper articles she wrote about the "curse of a title" when the bearer of it has no money.

Lady Seton was thrice-wed. Her first two husbands were former attorney-general Sir Lional Heald and Capt. Lione Herbert de Pinto.

Born the honorable Flavia Forbes, she was a niece of the Duchess of Sutherland, the Countess of Westmorland, the Countess of Warwick and the Earl of Rosslyn.

Exporters Cite High-Priced Dollar as Sales' Handicap

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP) The high-priced Canadian dollar, currently quoted at more than five cents above the United States dollar, is being freely cited here as one of the big handicaps to the sale of Canadian goods in other countries.

A number of delegates to the annual convention of the Canadian Exporters' Association are asking that the organization make some specific recommendation about it.

The association's policy and resolutions committee told the meeting Tuesday it had decided against making any recommendation because—unless it asked for controls of a wartime nature —it could see no effective remedy.

Among delegates disagreeing with this stand are Senator A.N. McLean and Dr. A. M. A. McLean of Connors Brothers Ltd., fish-packing firm of Black's Harbor, N.B.

BUY IN U.S.

Dr. McLean said the premium on the Canadian dollar is diverting more and more purchases to the United States.

If the current premium continues, he states, his own firm would feel forced to purchase its box shooks, used in the outer packing of fish products, from the United States — an item of $100,000 yearly. Other firms, he said, are being forced into similar steps.

Senator McLean said he felt the present premium is unnecessary to the extent that it is caused by borrowing by Canadian provinces and municipalities in the United States.

Crux of the premium problem is that it makes Canadian goods more expensive for other countries to buy and thus discourages sales; it reduces income from sales which are made; and it encourages Canadian purchases of the products of other countries.

TRADE RELATIONS

Other delegates disagree with the near-silence of the association's resolutions committee on the subject of trade relations with the United States.

Ivan E. Lenard — of International Patented Products, Toronto, and a former association president—suggested it is time for the organization to try again its direct approach of a few years ago to the United States administration.

Four years ago the association decided on a direct communication with President Eisenhower.

As a result a delegation was received in Washington by represenatives of the president and of the state and commerce departments.

This led to the appointment of E. J. Cannon, chief appraiser of the United States customs at Buffalo, N.Y., to help Canadian exporters with their problems.

Mr. Lenard said Mr. Cannon's work had been "admirable" but that within the last 18 months the program had started to break down. He felt the time had come for another Washington visit.

Workmen Delay Efforts To Free Barge

MONTREAL (CP) — Workmen Wednesday called off temporarily efforts to free a dynamite-laden barge that ran aground in Lake navigation on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Two tugs failed to get close enough to the barge to budge it. The barge became mired in the shallows off an island 10 miles southwest of Montreal after skittering wildly through the shipping channel for two hours with a helpless watchman aboard.

Workmen continued to unload the 229 cases of dynamite aboard the barge, placing it first in rowboats, then in motorboats and then aboard tugs. The dynamite is needed for a construction project at Beauharnois, Que., where the barge was anchored when gale-force winds swept into the shipping channel.

Marine Industries Limited, owners of the barge, hope to move a floating derrick close to it Thursday and put a cable aboard. The barge then would be gradually winched off the sandbar.

A gripping situation.

Civil Service Spokesman Denies Strike Action Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—Spokesmen for the main civil service organizations Wednesday announced plans to arouse Canadian public opinion against the government's decision to hold the line on employee salaries.

But they said there is no thought of strike action.

The spokesmen were commenting at a press conference on Finance Minister Fleming's announcement Tuesday that the government cannot at this time see its way clear to grant civil service salary increases recommended by the government's central employment agency, the Civil Service Commission.

J. C. (Cal) Best, president of the Civil Service Association of Canada, said, "I think we have become pawns in the budgetary and fiscal operations of the government."

Of all the sections of Canada's economy, the civil servants were the only ones being forced to subsidize federal expenditures, he said.

EXPECTED INCREASE

Fred W. Whitehouse, president of the Civil Service Federation of Canada, said that for 2½ years the present government "has given us one story after another," leading its employees to believe that they can expect at least some salary increases.

After learning Tuesday however that none would be forthcoming, "we couldn't help but conclude that the civil service is being victimized and penalized in having to subsidize the government deficit."

He added that "anything that happens now must be the responsibility of the government" for its decision against salary increases.

Asked whether this meant possible strike action, Mr. Whitehouse said "I wouldn't want to think of the possibility of a strike. We are not in favor of that."

British Gov't To Try Again With Adenauer

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) — Britain is planning a major diplomatic drive to improve relations with West Germany after seven months of ill-concealed bickering with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Relations between London and Bonn have been frankly bad since Prime Minister Macmillan journeyed to see Nikita Khrushchev in Moscow last February at the height of the Berlin crisis. Macmillan went without first consulting Adenauer.

Now the British leader has ordered his experts to get cracking on a program to restore relations between the two countries and he has labelled the task a top priority.

Both sides admit strains and stresses exist.

BLAMES PRESS

Adenauer has tended to blame the British press which he suspects is inspired by people he once described as "wire-pullers" in the foreign office.

Macmillan and his associates have been inclined to find fault with Adenauer himself. Some speculated out loud whether Adenauer, at 83, is able to follow new concepts of Allied policy.

The West German chancellor told reporters Tuesday that anti-German "discord" among the British public and press has saddened him. He said he had complained of this to Macmillan personally when they met last March.

Some British newspapers don't conceal their dislike of Adenauer.

Lord Beaverbrook's Sunday Express—an extreme case — discussed reports that the chancellor soon will be visiting London and said editorially:

"The British people . . . have no love for Dr. Adenauer.

"They know that he resents British power.

"They know that he has frustrated every British move for peace in Europe.

"They do not want him here."

Other British papers have been more tactful but not less critical.

And last year when former West German president Theodor Heuss made a state visit here, his welcome was generally regarded as chilly.

NATURAL HANGOVER

All these things have upset Adenauer and many West Germans. In fact, they are probably no more than a natural hangover from the war.

British officials deny they inspire the newspapers to be unfriendly towards Adenauer's Germany.

And they resent suggestions that the West Germans have been the lilly-whites and the British the dark schemers, in the difficulties that have arisen.

British officials—and lately the British people — have insisted Macmillan was right to travel to Moscow in his trail-blazing initiative last February in quest of an East-West accommodation.

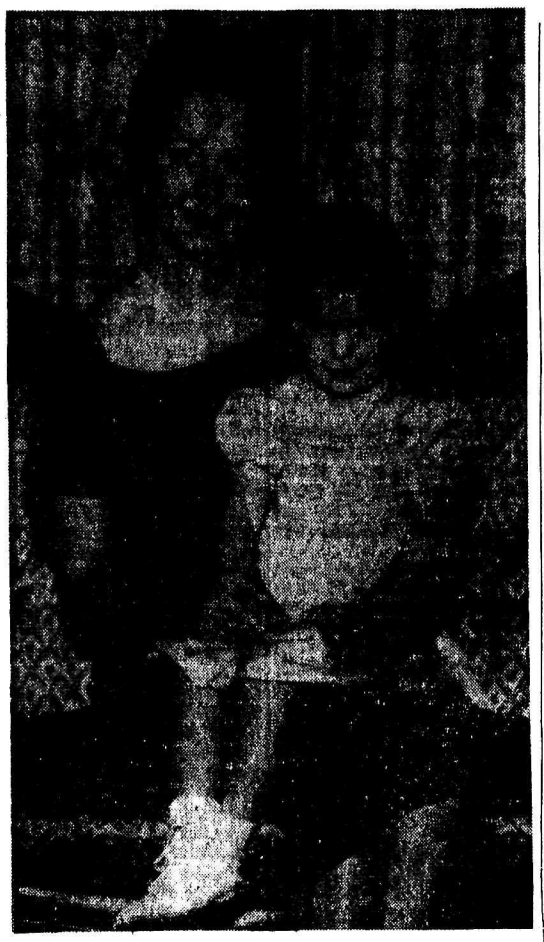
FEARS HIGHER-UP DEAL

Adenauer evidently thinks any deal with Russia must be at Germany's expense. And he rejects any role insinuating an inferior status for his people.

Macmillan seems to reason that Germany is not going to be united again on Allied terms. Therefore the West should make the best of things.

Today both men seem to want to patch up their personal and their inter-governmental feud.

Adenauer said Tuesday he is sure the major difference will be settled during his visit to London expected in November or December.



LEAVES FOR EAST. After visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Argyle, 415 Observatory Street, for the past few months, Mrs. James E. Kennedy and her daughter, Catherine Margaret, of London, Ont., have returned to their home in eastern Canada.

Soroptimists Hear Talk On Origin of Language

History of the English language was topic of a humorous and interesting talk by Gordon L. Webb at a dinner meeting of the Nelson Soroptimist Club in the Hume Hotel.

From early "grunts" to present day speech, Mr. Webb traced development of the English language, pointing out that many of our words are of Scandinavian and French origin. He illustrated his talk with examples of the peculiarities and contradictions of English as defined in dictionaries.

He said that one word — "Mother" — means the same in almost any language.

A notable visitor was Miss E. M. Curry, past president of the Liverpool Soroptimist Club, who brought greetings from the sister club and spoke briefly on projects for World Refugee Year. Miss Curry, who was wearing a colorful past president's pin, mentioned briefly the types of pins worn by various clubs in England.

Mrs. H. M. Whimster introduced Mr. Webb, and president Mrs. J. H. Nicol introduced Miss Curry.

Other guests at the meeting were Mrs. Webb and Miss Kay Harris.

Former Nelson Girl, Trail Man Exchange Vows at Invermere

INVERMERE — Trinity United Church at Invermere was decorated with gladioli for the marriage Saturday, October 10, of Anne MacKill, formerly of Nelson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. MacKill of Invermere, to Mr. William O. Pistak, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pistak of Trail.

Rev. J. P. Staniland of Invermere officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The lovely gown of the auburn-haired bride was fashioned with full skirt of silk net worn over a hoop, and featured a lace panel at the front and back, joined by tiny side peplums. The lace bodice was trimmed with seed pearls and sequins and had lily-point sleeves of lace.

Her lace and net veil fell from a lace coronet trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. Her bridal bouquet was of red and white roses.

Mr. MacKill gave his daughter in marriage.

Gowns of the three bridal attendants in coral chiffon velvet lent a brilliant color accent. Mrs. Lillian Scott of Trail, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. Miss Doreen Harrison of Edgewater was maid of honor and Miss Jeannie MacKill, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Their identical frocks were in afternoon-length. They wore matching feather headpieces and carried white chrysanthemums.

The bride's youngest sister, Heather, was flower girl in a powder blue nylon frock with pleated front panel and matching feather headpiece. She carried a Victoria nosegay of white baby mums.

The bride's youngest brother, Stewart, was ring-bearer.

Mr. John Nichol of Golden was best man and ushers were John Pistak, brother of the groom, of Calgary and William Pitt of Invermere. Mrs. Alfred Davidson was organist.

At a reception at Lake Windermere Memorial Community Centre, Mrs. MacKill wore an ensemble of royal blue with a two toned petal hat to match and Mrs. Pistak fore a black flecked wool suit and a small black velvet hat.

A toast to the bride was proposed by Dr. K. J. Williams of Edmonton. Mr. W. A. Hayden of Cranbrook was toastmaster. A toast to the bridesmaids was given by Mr. John Nichol, who also read congratulatory telegrams.

For her honeymoon, the bride donned a delphinium blue boucle suit, with which she wore a matching hat and black accessories. Her corsage was of yellow gladioli. The newlyweds left for Spokane, Vancouver and Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Pistak will live at Beaverdell, where the bridegroom is assistant forest ranger.

Nova Scotia Cuts MacDonald Bridge Tolls in Four Years

By DAVE NICHOLSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — Each year since the Angus L. Macdonald Bridge opened in 1955 there has been a record volume of traffic and a steady reduction of tolls.

Officials of the Halifax-Dartmouth Bridge Commission estimate traffic will be up another 20 per cent this year. Last year's traffic totalled 3,980,672 vehicles, while 3,387,386 crossed the span between Halifax and Dartmouth, to Sept. 30 this year.

Perhaps the most significant factor in the bridge development has been the lowering of tolls.

When the 5239-foot bridge opened, there was a five-cent charge for pedestrians. It has been eliminated. A 40-cent toll for a car and driver, with an additional five cents for each passenger has been reduced to a flat 25-cent toll for all cars. It costs extra for taxis, buses and trucks.

Toll charges must be approved by the Nova Scotia Board of Public Utilities. The bridge commission is made up of representatives from Halifax and Dartmouth, the county and province.

Leo Burke, secretary-manager of the commission, says future traffic conditions will determine any further increase or decreases in tolls. Mr. Burke said the "full effect of the recent decreases won't be felt until 1960."

Mr. Burke feels the increase in the traffic using the bridge is natural, and not necessarily dependent upon toll reductions. He credits only three or four per cent of the recent increase of traffic to cuts in tolls.

A one-day record for the bridge was set Aug. 14, 1959, when 17,22 vehicles crossed the span.

However, complexities in traffic control are the natural outgrowth of increased traffic volume.

JOHANSSON IN NEW ROLE — Heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson, a newcomer to the ranks of movie actors, gets his face made up for the cameras as he prepares for a day of shooting on the set of "All the Young Men." Boxing Champion Seen as Gary Cooper's Successor

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Found: The successor to Gary Cooper. He's none other than the heavyweight boxing champ, Ingemar Johansson.

It's too early to judge his acting prowess; he has only started his first film role in Hall Bartlett's All the Young men. But as an interview subject, Ingo beats the veteran Coop by three yups.

Here is a sample of his dialogue:

Q. Did you ever act before?
A. No.
Q. In school, perhaps?
A. Oh, yes.
Q. Do you remember what roles?
A. No.
Q. Are you a movie fan?
A. Yes.
Q. Who are your favorite stars?
A. Lots of them.
Q. Are you nervous about acting?
A. (wry smile) No.

Admittedly, the champ may be more voluble in his native tongue. ging. A ,oifq , he is going to give interviewers the fits. Undaunted, I followed him through his first day in films.

STOLID SWEDE

In the Columbia makeup department, Ben Lane applied pancake to the broad face of the stolid Swede, darkened his eyebrows and gave him a day's growth of beard with a darkened sponge. Ingo's brother Rolf, who will also play a role in the film, watched nearby and scoffed at the suggestion that the champ would be nervous.

"They expected him to be nervous when he fought for the championship," Rolf said, "but he wasn't. He certainly wouldn't be nervous about acting."

Meanwhile back in the makeup chair—

Q. How much money are you getting for the picture?
A. I don't know. (It's reported in the neighborhood of $50,000 which is the kind of neighborhood Ingo likes.)
Q. What are your plans after the picture?
A. I have to fight (Floyd) Patterson fi[illegible]
Q. What about Archie Moore?
A. (wry smile) I have to fight Patterson first.

Johansson changed from his slacks, red sport shirt and blazer into the uniform of a United Nations soldier. He plays a navy gunner (he manned an anti-aircraft gun during his 15 months in the Swedish navy) who has lost his ship during the Korean War.

Six Members of Common Market Urge United States of Europe

By DAVE OANCIA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BRUSSELS (CP) — Six European members of the 10-months-old common market have just about decided its time to speed up the process of creating a United States of Europe.

The six-Germany, France, Italy Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—now are hoping to double the pace at which they will merge their economies into a larger and stronger entity.

During the sessions of the common market's council of ministers now in progress here, Belgium proposed the move to complete the merger by 1966 instead of 1970 or 1973 as originally planned.

In a series of interviews with senior common market officials, a Canadian Press reporter gained the impression a sense of urgency —almost as though the community's "civil servants" wanted to take their countries to a point of no return on the road to economic union.

The broad aim of the original plan, embodies in an elaborate treaty, was to pool the resources of these industrial powers in 12 to 15 years. Now, if the accelerated program is carried out, it will mean that by the mid-1960s trade will be as free within the common area as it is within Canada.

Around this area, as around Canada, there will be a tariff wall just as if the six countries were one: This European community will then negotiate trade treaties with other states as a powerful unit.

Marked progress already has been reported in speeding up the program.

The commission, or executive, of the common market now plans to speak for the six as a unity at next year's meeting of the General Agreement on Trade and Tariffs. This is a conference convened especially to bargain on U.S. proposals to cut free world tariffs by up to 20 per cent.

There is little doubt that if the six negotiate as a unit next year, it will mean that these countries will have taken the long—possibly decisive—step down the road to economic union.

Gov't Considers Rural Program

MONTREAL (CP) — Agriculture Minister Harkness said Wednesday the federal government hopes to institute a rural development program to solve the problem of farmers whose holdings are so small they are unable to earn an adequate living.

Mr. Harkness addressed a concluding session of the 66th annual convention of the Farm Equipment Institute. More than 1,000 representatives of the farm equipment industry in Canada and the United States attended.

"The toughest problem in Canadian agriculture is the third or more of our farmers whose holdings, or production, is so small that no scheme of price support, farm credit, crop insurance or anything else will ensure them an adequate living," Mr. Harkness said.

"We have had this problem under study for the last year and hope to institute a rural development program which will result in the consolidation of some of these small farms into economic units, and provision of training and other employment for those who cannot hope to reach an adequate standard of living in agriculture."

Mr. Harkness said he looks on agricultural price supports as something temporary.

"With the rapid increase which has taken place in the world's population — an increase which last year for the first time since the Second World War was greater than the increase in the production of food—I look forward to the time in the future when the support price programs will no longer be necessary, and the emphasis once again will be on increased production, rather than on marketing expedients and holding production down to the amount which can be marketed."

Brush Fire Sweeps California Canyon

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A brush fire fanned by strong winds swarmed across impenetrable Arroyo Seco Canyon Wednesday, devouring acres of valuable watershed and menacing foothill communities north of Los Angeles.

The east side of the fire, which has consumed some 1,200 acres, raged to within 1½ miles of the Caltech jet propulsion laboratory, a key centre in space research, but the laboratory was not considered in any immediate danger.

Flames lit the slate-gray hills overlooking the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, south of the blaze, burning along a 15-mile perimeter.

It is believed the blaze was caused by a careless smoker.

1,000 FIGHT FLAMES

About a dozen air tankers began dropping chemicals on the area at daybreak. The firefighters number about 1,000.

Two fiery fingers of the flames' southern front pierced the northern edges of the fashionable foothill community of La Canada, 30 miles north of Los Angeles. Firemen quelled the threat after the flames damaged several homes.

The flames also routed actor Dennis Morgan and his wife out of bed, and they went to an emergency evacuation centre set up by the Red Cross in a school.

About 200 to 300 residents were evacuated from nearly 69 homes but most of them returned by daybreak as the threat to La Canada eased.

Argonauts Have Valued Player In Gilchrist

TORONTO (CP)—No one can blame Cookie Gilchrist if Toronto Argonauts fail to hit a Big Four football union playoff spot this season. He can score the points with his boot or by running over the opposition when he carries the ball.

Statistics complied by The Canadian Press show that the 24-year-old Gilchrist has scored 65 points, nearly one-third of Argonauts' 164 - total in 11 games. Twenty-seven of these have been scored in the last three games to give him the lead in the league's scoring race.

Cookie holds an 11-point margin over Ron Howell, Hamilton's punt-return and deep - pass specialist who has scored 54 points on nine touchdowns. Gilchrist's scoring is made up of five touchdowns, 14 converts and seven field goals.

Third place is shared by Dave Thelen and Bobby Simpson of Ottawa Rough Riders, each with 48 points on eight touchdowns. Next in line is Tiger-Cats' Gerry McDougall with 42 points.

MEYER LEADS ORFU

Terry Meyer of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen heads the Ontario Rugby Football Union scoring list with 72 points, 20 more than runner-up Mike Norcia, also of the Dutchmen.

Bill Mitchell of the University of Western Ontario leads the Senior Intercollegiate scorers with 12 points after two games in the college circuit. Terry Porter of Queen's is second with eight.

Adjournment Expected In Trial Of 17 Pulp and Paper Companies

MONTREAL (CP)—The trial of 17 pulp and paper companies, charged under the Criminal Code in connection with conspiracies in restraint of trade, was expected Wednesday to come to an early adjournment until some time in November or December.

This was indicated Tuesday when the trial opened. The Crown contends the companies acted in concert for nearly eight years to impede normal competition between their farmer - settler suppliers of pulpwood.

Mr. Justice Harry Batshaw is presiding at the trial without a jury.

Dollar Dansereau, special Crown prosecutor, said Tuesday that he will bring evidence to show that the companies maintained an agreement to fix their pulpwood purchase prices from April, 1947, to the end of December, 1954.

He indicated there are 11 co-conspirators who are not accused "because they were more or less agents for the accused only and were not responsible for the conspiracy itself."

ARRANGE PRICE FIXING

He said proof would be brought to show that when the wartime prices and trade board control of pulpwood prices was abandoned, the accused companies agreed to carry on a price-fixing arrangement among themselves.

The companies charged are: Abitibi Power and Paper Co., Ltd.; Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills, Ltd.; Armstrong Forest Co.; Consolidated Paper Corp., Ltd.; Canadian International Paper Co.; Donnacona Paper Co.; E. B. Eddy Co.; Gair Company of Canada, Ltd.; Gaspesia Sulphite Co., Ltd.; Howard Smith Paper Mills, Ltd.; KVP Co., Ltd.; James Maclaren Co., Ltd.; Ontario Paper Co., Ltd.; Richmond Pulp and Paper Co., of Canada, Ltd.; Ste. Anne Paper Co.; St. Lawrence Corp., Ltd., and Spruce Falls Power Co., Ltd.

All were arraigned almost a year ago on summonses and pleaded not guilty.

Maximum penalty under the Criminal Code for an individual convicted is a two-year penitentiary sentence.

Hazen Hansard, representing several of the companies, said agreement had been reached among all the parties with regard to admission of certain facts for the purpose of shortening and simplifying the proceedings.

The charges arose indirectly as the result of a commission report in 1958 on restrictive trade practices, following an investigation under the Combines Investigation Act.

Diefenbaker Discusses Coal Situation With N.S. Premier

OTTAWA (CP)—Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia Wednesday conferred with Prime Minister Diefenbaker on Nova Scotia's critical coal-mining situation and later said he is hopeful hard-pressed Cape Breton collieries can be kept working.

Mr. Stanfield, here to attend this week's federal - provincial meeting of finance ministers and treasurers, met alone for 45 minutes with the prime minister.

Later, he told reporters Mr Diefenbaker had agreed to meet a provincial - municipal - company-union delegation from Nova Scotia and had expressed concern about the plight of the province's coal industry.

Dominion Coal Company recently indicated it proposes to close three more Cape Breton mines because of lack of coal markets.

Premier Stanfield told reporters he did not suggest any specific solution to the problem at this preliminary meeting.

"The aim," he said, "is to keep these three mines open at least until the royal commission on coal has reported and government policy has been determined in the light of the report.

The federal government has appointed Hon. Ivan C. Rand, former justice of the Supreme Court of Canada, as a one-man royal commission to study and recommend on the coal problem.

Wives Back Steel Strikers Despite Growing Hardship

MORRISVILLE, Pa. -(AP)—"It's getting difficult. As a matter of fact we are at rock bottom, although there are other families far worse off than we are."

This, explains Mrs. Helen Galambos, 33, is how the steel strike has affected her family. Her husband is one of the 6,100 employees on strike at United States Steel Corporation's Fairless works here. They have a 6½-months-old daughter.

Mrs. Galambos says they are a month behind on their mortgage payments and have not been able to pay certain other bills.

"We're cutting on food where we can. We are not eating the way we used to. Many of our meals are stews. We are buying less meat, and when we do get it, it's the cheaper grades."

And many other families like the Galambos are in financial trouble. Mortgages are going unpaid. Bills are piling up. Christmas is approaching and there's no money for the things the children want.

But still the wives are not pressuring their husbands to rush into a settlement. Most take the position that since they've been out this long, they might just as well stay out a little longer until they get what they want.

The strike is in its 92nd day.

IKE TOO LATE

Mrs. Margaret Gribbin, 28, feels that President Eisenhower "should have stepped in before this" to effect a settlement.

"Too many families are hard up for food, clothing and money to have allowed this thing to go this far. As far as the strike is concerned I think the men are right. They are trying to take away things that the men fought for years to get."

Mrs. Mary Riblett, 35, says her family is two months behind on the mortgage, and they are being "carried" by the milkman and the baker.

"I hope for the best, but the best has got to be what the men want."

PALACE GUARD SAFE BEHIND BARS—A Buckingham palace guard stands watch in London, safe behind the iron fence surrounding Queen Elizabeth's residence. This new sentry arrangement was decided upon to protect the guards from cap-pulling, shutter-clicking, talkative tourists.

Tax-Free Bonus In '68 For New '59 Bonds

OTTAWA (CP)—A tax-free bonus of three per cent will accrue to those who cash the new Canada Savings Bonds at maturity in nine years.

The premium, never before offered on previous series of Canada savings bonds, is aimed at encouraging buyers to hold the bonds for their full term.

Thus the holder of a $100 bond, for instance, will be able to cash it in for $103 on and after Nov. 1, 1968. He won't have to count the $3 as taxable income.

A Canadian Press report on Oct. 11 carried the erroneous impression that the bonds are being offered at three per cent below par value.

Antarctic Conference May Organize Project

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 12-power Antarctic conference opening here Thursday may provide the world with a pilot project for an international inspection system against secret military bases.

Even though the project would operate in the frozen wastelands of the south polar area, experience gained by the United States, Russia, Britain, France and other participating countries could prove extremely useful in developing more elaborate systems to safeguard eventual disarmament agreements.

For this reason, as well as for the prospect of a new venture in general international co-operation in Antarctica, the conference may prove tobe of extraordinary interest. Some authorities in Western capitals see it also as a test of Premier Khrushchev's declared interest in improving relations with the U.S. and other non-Communist countries.

The Soviet government has assigned Vasily V. Kuznetsov, first deputy foreign minister, to head its delegation of diplomats, legal experts and scientists.

"FREEZE" CLAIMS

The aim of the conference is to produce a treaty which would eliminate international friction by freezing national claims, dedicate the south polar continent to peaceful uses and assure scientific co-operation in exploring the vast regions of ice and snow.

In preparatory negotiations over the last 15 months, representatives of the 12 conference countries are reported to have reached substantial agreement that a treaty provision committing the continent to peaceful uses should be backed up by an international inspection system.

President Eisenhower first proposed an Antarctic treaty in May of last year. His immediate purpose, he then said, was to continue the international co-operation in scientific research in the Antarctic continent which had been developed during the International Geophysical Year.

Countries involved, in addition to the big four powers, are Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Chile, Japan, New Zealand, Norway, and South Africa. Seven of the 12 have made territorial claims, some of which overlap.

Canada-U.S. Co-operate On Launcher

OTTAWA (CP)—The Defence Research Board, in co-operation with the United States Army, is developing a railway - mounted launcher which will propel test nose cones of rockets at more than 8,000 miles an hour.

The board said Wednesday in a statement that the launcher at the Canadian Armament Research and Development Establishment at Valcartier, Que., has already fired models at speeds of about 5,000 miles an hour. The 14-inch launcher fires the models down a 400-foot range of 10-foot diameter tanks.

The experiments are part of the board's research into development of a counter - missile system for North American defence.

The U. S. Army rocket and guided missile agency from Redstone Arsenal, Ala., has established a project office at Valcartier.

Steelworkers Union Accused of Offering Only Two Alternatives

WASHINGTON (AP)—The striking Steelworkers' Union gives the United States only two alternatives, the industry's chief negotiator charged Wednesday—"another inflationary wage increase in steel, or go without steel."

R. Conrad Cooper, who has headed the industry's negotiating team throughout the strike since it started July 15, defined this as the union's position in a statement prepared for a White House fact-finding board Wednesday.

"Plain hogwash" is what Cooper called the union's contention that the real issue in the strike is the companies' desire to break the union.

Cooper's statement pounded again and again at what the industry calls the danger of inflation if a large wage increase is granted.

INDUSTRY'S CASE

It was the industry's "day in court" before the inquiry board, which heard the union present its side Monday and Tuesday.

"There are two basic and clear-cut issues in this dispute," Cooper said.

"First, whether the companies should submit to the union's rule-or-ruin demands for another inflationary increase in wages and benefits in the face of the intense and steadily increasing competition which confronts our industry both at home and abroad; and

"Second, whether the new agreements will permit reasonable latitude in the management of the business, in the interest of improved efficiency and economy of operations."

Union President David J. McDonald completed the union's arguments before the board Tuesday night. The union claims the company's cry of inflation is phony. McDonald also said the companies would get their way in changing local working conditions only "over our dead bodies."

Ottawa Extends Unemployment Pay Ceilings

OTTAWA (CP) — Between now and the end of October, many Canadians will find a deduction in their pay envelope for the first time for unemployment insurance.

Effective Sept. 27, Parliament this year extended the salary ceiling for coverage to $5460 from $4800. This added about 80,000 persons to the 4,000,000 already insured.

For payroll purposes, the effective date actually was the first day after Oct. 1. This means that many of those on a monthly pay basis, and some on a fortnightly basis, will be getting deductions in their mid-month or end-of-the-month cheques.

For the two classes above the $4800 mark, the deductions are, respectively, 86 and 94 cents a week.

Relics of Pre-Historic Culture Spell Story of Early Dwellers

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Hundreds of flint fragments gathered in the Eastern Arctic this summer are regarded as archaeological evidence that spells a major breakthrough in the story of prehistoric man in that area.

The flints—about 200 pounds of them ranging down in size to pieces smaller than a finger-nail —were collected by William E. Taylor of the National Museum's archaeology division.

They include whole or partial skin-scrapers, choppers, incising tools and spear tips indicating an ancestral link between the forerunners of the present Eskimo—or Thule culture — and the prehistoric Eastern Arctic dwellers of 2000 BC to 1000 BC.

CLASH OF THEORIES

The ancestral link clashes with a theory that the prehistoric, or pre-Dorset culture, was of Indian origin. And the finds appear to fill out a pattern of early East Arctic populations, traces of which had been located near Churchill, Man., Greenland and the Melville Peninsula, 250 miles inside the Arctic Circle north of Hudson Bay.

Mr. Taylor, an informal young man of 31, spent his ninth straight summer in the Eastern Arctic. For seven weeks he worked on rainswept Mansell Island, at the mouth of Hudson Bay just off Ungava.

Assisted by as many as nine Eskimos, none of whom spoke much English, he gathered thousands of pieces, most of which will prove to be nothing more than rock on closer examination.

He found 14 sites in all, including five of the ancient pre-Dorset culture succeeded by the Dorset about 1000 BC and which in turn gave way about 1300 AD to the Thule peoples. One site was huge — 6,000 feet long. Another stretched 3,000 feet. Most of the flints were plucked from the surface.

WILLING HELPERS

The Eskimos as usual proved willing workers in their hunt for traces of "tunit," Eskimo for the "old people." The flints support discoveries last year by Mr. Taylor, in the same general area, which included an Eskimo jawbone about 2,600 years old—the oldest Eskimo bone yet discovered.

Mr. Taylor believes the present Eskimo culture began moving out of northern Alaska about 900 AD and succeeded the Dorset in Eastern Canada and Greenland by 400 years later. There is no evidence to show whether the transition was peaceful or otherwise, he says.

He views the Dorset culture as a people with Eskimo characteristics physically, a similar language and living mainly by hunting sea creatures. But they had no dogs and dog-pulled sleds, and no bow-drills, features of the following culture still evident today.

He does note—with particular emphasis—one recurring Eastern Arctic legend that deals with the old people or Tunit. In the legend, the Innuit, or present - day Eskimos, crept into the homes of the sleeping Tunit and drilled holes in their skulls with the bow-drill.

Some anthropologists feel that the pre-Dorset peoples were the first into the Arctic after the last ice age and that today's Eskimos are direct descendants who have progressed by means of better tools, hunting methods and housing.

In other words, there was gradual change rather than migrations or invasions — simply a movement of ideas from their Asian source in the West to the East.

Mr. Taylor went north this year with only a portable record player for company aside from the Eskimos.

He brought back one important piece of incidental intelligence. The Eskimo dotes on Harry Belafonte singing calypso, on airs from My Fair Lady, and on Negro minstrel songs. Longhair stuff including Beethoven is for the seals.

One song that tickled the Eskimo funnybone was A Little Bit of Luck as sung by Stanley Holloway in My Fair Lady.

One Eskimo was named Odluk —pronounced Owdluk — and the similarity created mirth every time the records were played each night.

Steel Layoff May Affect Canadians

TORONTO (CP) The United States steel strike may force General Motors, Canada's largest auto manufacturers, to stop production next month.

A spokesman at GM's Oshawa plant said Wednesday the company had enough steel to ensure continued production at least to early November, but a shutdown seemed inevitable, even if the strike ended soon because stockpiles have been depleted. It was impossible to forecast how long the plant would be out of production or how many of the 9,000 workers would be affected.

Ford Motor Company is now checking its steel stocks, and an official said the company would not know for a few days how long the plants could continue production.

"We will certainly be able to continue into November, but we cannot say yet how far into November," he added.

Ford has about 8,000 hourly-paid workers at its Oakville and Windsor plants.

New Version of Polly Wolly Doodle Sung

WINNIPEG (CP)—A verse in the song, Polly Wolly Doodle, containing the word "nigger," has been banned from Winnipeg schools.

In an administrative bulletin to teachers this week, schools superintendent Dr. W. C. Lorimer said: "The word 'nigger' is an example of a derogatory term that should not be used in any school. This word occurs in some versions of the song, Polly Wolly Doodle, and, therefore, either the verse containing this word should be omitted or the song not used."

The verse referred to is: "Oh, I came upon a river an' I couldn't get across. An' I jumped upon a nigger 'cos I thought he was a hoss."

An objection to the verse was raised at a recent school board meeting last week by trustee Joseph Zuken. He called for a ban of the verse, contained in a song book used by some grades in Winnipeg schools. The song is in the Club Song Book for Boys, published by a British firm.

Ottawa Calls for Tenders on 10 Million Pounds of Butter

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has called for tenders on the handling and shipping of 10,000,000 pounds of butter to be sent from its surplus stocks to dealers in the United Kingdom, it was learned Wednesday.

The government's butter is held at various storage points and it has asked the dairy industry for a price on the assembling and exporting of the stocks, since it isn't equipped to handle the job itself.

Informants said the tenders were circulated in the dairy industry Tuesday and call for offers to be in by Oct. 19.

The government is asking for a price on premium butter manufactured in 1958 and the tender forms state that it will be sent to the United Kingdom only.

The government is asking the industry for a price on the handling of the butter only. The government has some 100,000,000 pounds of butter in its own larders which it bought at a support price of 64 cents a pound.

SHORTAGE IN BRITAIN

It is considered likely that the government will receive about 50 cents a pound from British butter distributors, who have been pressing the Canadian government to sell some of its surplus butter to relieve a current drought - produced shortage in Britain.

The government has had the request under consideration for a couple of weeks. It posed two problems.

Britain's traditional butter suppliers — New Zealand, Denmark, The Netherlands and Australia in particular — have long been opposed to any suggestion of "dumping" of subsidized agriculture products on world markets at below-cost prices.

This is a practice the Canadian government has frequently decried itself.

But it is understood Canada has been given the word from the other countries that, just for this once, it would be all right to sell butter in Britain. The idea is that this might help hold down butter prices there and thus avoid loss of butter customers to other cheaper products such as margarine.

The other problem the government had to consider was the effect at home of its selling 64-cent butter abroad at well below that price, and the price at which it sells in Canadian stores.

Middle and Southeast Asians Learn Facts Behind Red China

By RUKMINI DEVI
Canadian Press Correspondent

BOMBAY (CP)—India is reported to have advised most of the Middle East and Southeast Asian countries of the real facts behind the current hostile Red Chinese moves against India and the Himalayan states.

Heads of diplomatic missions of these countries have been requested to convey to their governments New Delhi's "deep concern" about the present situation, said the well-informed and influential newspaper Indian Express.

The paper said it was emphasized that "these diplomatic moves are not being made to seek any external assistance but just to let the countries judge for themselves the situation by assessing all the facts."

WEST STAND HELPFUL

In governmental circles, there is appreciation of the helpful attitudes taken by the governments of the United States, Britain and other Western countries. Indian correspondents have reported from Washington and London that "while the West is prepared to come to India's help if such help is specifically asked for, there is no tendency to fish in the India-Chinese troubled waters."

Canadian and American newspaper editorials are held to reflect the general impression that "Indians should be allowed to deal with the crisis according to their own light without any interference from abroad."

The Moscow call to India and China to settle their disputes has been described in press comments here as 'patronizing" and "hypocritical."

"Nobody is driving a wedge between India and China except Peking itself," said one editorial.

COOLING DESIRE

Meanwhile, there is speculation about the impact of Peking's aggressive border action on the desire of certain Asian and African countries to establish mutual diplomatic relations with Red China. There is a feeling that their eagerness may have cooled.

There also is the possibility that some Asian countries may not now be as ready to accept Chinese experts and send delegations to China as hitherto.

When India's Parliament recently held a debate on food supplies, Mahavir Tyagi, one of the top-ranking members of the ruling Congress party, asked New Delhi not to send a rice delegation to Red China.

Leafs Pulled Off Ice as Comets Explode; Civic Centre Door Kicked Down in Fracas

Most hockey fans in the Nelson area are now wondering what kind of team the Spokane Comets are sporting this year as the Nelson Maple Leafs took them 7-6 in a rough and tumble, fisticuffs battle in the Civic Arena last night.

A fair crowd turned out to see Nelson's first game of the season, and latest news has it that the wild horde from Spokane will not be given a chance to play or practice in the Nelson Rink again. The excitement started in the closing minutes of the third period when Buddy Bodman, Trail Smoke Eaters' "Bad-boy" last year, was given a minor penalty for slashing. Bodman immediately started shoving referee George Barefoot for which he was given a misconduct penalty. It was then that practically all the Spokane team stormed after Barefoot.

Jack MacMillan, Leafs' manager, headed down to the rink from his seat and told Barefoot that if the Spokane team did not settle down he was going to pull the Leafs off the ice as he didn't want to take a chance of getting any of them hurt in just an exhibition game.

MacMillan's threat was carried out two minutes later and Leafs left for the dressing room. Spokane then vacated the ice and a few of their players proceeded to break down a locked door separating Comets' dressing room from referees quarters. After doing so they started hurling foul language and threats at Barefoot, and returned to their dressing room only when Nelson City Police arrived on the scene.

Jack Morgan, manager of the Civic Arena, said the Comets would still be paid their guarantee, but it would be minus the damage they had done to the arena.

If any action is to be taken it will be between Al Leader, president of the Western Hockey League and Roy McBride, manager of Spokane Comets.

Most of the fans attending the game seem to feel that none of this would have happened had Joe Crozier, playing coach of Comets, been able to control his team.

'eehaee

The Nelson club trounced the hapless Comets in the first two periods, winding up the second with a 7-1 score.

Mickey Maglio started the Leafs off early in the first by beating Emil Francis to the punch on a drive about ten feet in front of the Spokane net. McLeod tied the score at 1-1 for the Comets only to have the team go behind again when Charlie Burdett, an intermediate Nelson player, slammed the puck home for Nelson's second goal.

Bill Taylor and Wendy Keller wound up the period for Leafs a short while later, making it 4-1.

In the second Nelson again went wild with Keller banging in his second goal of the game and Lee Hyssop and Dave Stewart picking up singles.

Going into the third period the Comets finally started playing a better brand of hockey and chopped Nelson's 7-1 lead as Al Johnson tallied his first of two goals. Two minutes later Topoll peppered in the third Spokane goal followed seconds later by Ching Johnson to make it 7-4 for Nelson. The determined Leafs fought gamely to ward off the Spokane rally but Lilley and A. Johnson managed to bang in two more big points before Bodman's exhibition.

Cougars, Flyers Win in WHL

VICTORIA (CP) — Arlo Goodwin's goal at 18:12 of the third period Wednesday night provided the insurance for Victoria Cougars to win their second consecutive Western Hockey League game by defeating Calgary Stampeders 3-1.

Gordie Wilson and Gordie Haworth were Victoria's other scorers while Calgary's lone marksman in the rough and tumble game was Jim Moro.

The result left the Cougars sharing second place with the unbeaten league champion Seattle Totems who are due here Saturday.

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Flyers beat Winnipeg Warriors 5-3 Wednesday night in a fast but ragged early season Western Hockey League game before a crowd of 2800 fans.

The Edmonton scorers were Len Haley, Murray Oliver, Don Poile, Chuck Holmes and Roger Dejordy.

Counting for Winnipeg were Ray Brunel, Norm Waslowski and Barry Ross.

Flyers shot into a 4-0 lead by the end of the first period. Winnipeg tallied the only two markers in the second period and each team counted once in the final 20 minutes.

It was the first win for Flyers in six starts against Warriors, who meet Flyers in Edmonton again Saturday night.

Wings Blank Hawks; Bruins Edge Rangers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Detroit Red Wings made two first-period goals stand up all the way and Boston Bruins came from behind a three-goal deficit as the two visiting teams won their Wednesday night National Hockey League games.

Detroit took Chicago Black Hawks 2-0 on Illinois ice on goals by Gordie Howe and Val Fonteyne. Bruins spoiled New York Rangers' Madison Square Garden debut by eking out a 4-3 win.

The results left Boston atop the league with six points and Detroit a close second with five. Toronto and Montreal, the third and fourth respectively, were idle. Chicago remained in fifth with two points while New York—which has lost all four starts so far this year—stayed in the cellar.

CLOSE CALL

The New York game was close—Vic Stasiuk won it for Boston with 30 seconds left on the clock. He shared honors with rookie Dick Meissner, who is on a five-game tryout in the big league.

Meissner tied the score 3 - 3 in the ninth minute of the final period, batting his own rebound past goalie Gump Worsley before 13,378 spectators.

For 30 minutes, New York appeared on its way to its first win of the season. Defencemen John Hanna and Bill Gadsby scored in the first period. Dean Prentice sent the puck past Harry Lumley midway in the second for a 3-0 Ranger lead.

Within six minutes, however, Leo Labine and Bronco Horvath had it down to 3-2.

HART WINNER

The night wasn't a total loss for Rangers. League president Clarence Campbell presented the Hart Trophy to Rangers' Andy Bathgate, winner of last season's most valuable player award.

In Chicago, goalie Terry Sawchuk needed no more than Howe and Fonteyne's first - period efforts as Detroit barred the door. It was the first shutout of the young NHL season.

Sawchuk kicked out 23 shots while pacing Red Wings to their second consecutive victory. They have tied once in the three games they have played.

Glenn Hall, former Detroit netminder, also made 23 saves but was helpless on Red Wings' two successful sorties.

Toronto goes at Montreal tonight and Chicago returns Detroit's visit in the only action scheduled.

Williams KO's Lee in Tenth

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Cleveland Williams used a powerful left Wednesday night to knock out tough Curley Lee after 58 seconds of the 10th and final round of a nationally - televised heavyweight boxing match. Williams weighed 211 and Lee 181¼.

Lee ignored two eight-count knockdowns and the 30-pound weight disadvantage to come back gamely and win two of the last three rounds.

Williams staggered Lee in the second round and knocked him down twice in the fifth round. The much bigger Williams, from Houston, also staggered Lee with a right late in the sixth.

But in almost each case, Lee, from Los Angeles, fired back strongly.

The final left—from the floor—almost lifted Lee from his feet. He landed on his head and was unconscious for a couple of minutes.

This was Williams' 38th knockout and ran his record to 46-3. Lee lost his second of 16 fights.

Lee was substituting for Sonny Liston, the No. 3 heavyweight, who signed for a rematch after beating Williams in April, but hurt his hand.

Walter Alston Takes Managerial Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers is the National League manager of the year.

The distinction was voted the one-time high school mathematics professor Wednesday by the members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America in the annual poll conducted by the Associated Press.

Alston, who guided Dodgers successfully through a torrid National League race and to a world series triumph over the Chicago White Sox, was named on 132 of the 173 ballots. Bill Rigney of the San Francisco Giants was a distant runnerup with 31 votes.

Winning the world series in six games climaxed a Cinderella story for Alston and the transplanted Dodgers. In 1958, their first year in Los Angeles, Dodgers finished seventh.

ALSTON EDICTS

In spring training this season, Alston told his pitchers to forget that left field screen at the Coliseum and told his batters to stop trying for home runs on every swing.

Blending youngsters with veterans, the 47-year-old Alston kept Dodgers in contention throughout the season. Then on Sept. 20 the club swept a three-game series from the Giants to move into first place.

That took care of the fading Giants, but there still was Milwaukee. Braves, looking for a third straight pennant, eventually pulled ahead. But an exciting finish left the teams tied for first place at the end of the regulation season.

OVERTIME WIN

Los Angeles took two straight from the Braves — tying the deciding game with a three - run rally in the ninth inning and winning the game and the pennant in the 12th.

The rest was history. The Dodgers halted the Go-Go Sox in the series after Chicago won the first game 11-0. Los Angeles, riding its pennant and playoff momentum, won three straight, lost the fifth game and wrapped it up in the sixth.

This gave Alston his second championship with the Dodgers who became the only team ever to go from seventh place one season to a world's championship the next.

GREY CUP TO BE WEEK - LONG DO

TORONTO (CP) — Grey Cup fever has struck the Toronto Junior Board of Trade which says plans for this year's festival are the largest and longest.

B. E. Harris, chairman of the board, announced Wednesday the festival will run a full week, starting Nov. 23 and finish on Saturday Nov. 28, when the annual Grey Cup football classic is played in the Canadian National Exhibition stadium.

Theme of this year's festival is Canada on Parade and the 650-member board is hoping to feature more than 75 floats, 20 bands and special attractions from across Canada in the parade on Grey Cup day.

Greaves, Flamond Title Bout Tonight

CALGARY (CP) — Middleweight Wilf Greaves of Edmonton, warming up for a crack at Sugar Ray Robinson next month, places his Canadian championship on the line tonight against Leroy Flamond of Calgary.

Greaves, 23-year-old slugger who won the Canadian title 18 months ago when he knocked out Cobey McCluskey in Windsor, Ont., has a tentative date with Robinson in Madison Square Garden Nov. 13, but needs a win to be sure of the fight.

Should Flamond win, there is a chance he could land the shot at the former world champion, but Greaves has been made a heavy favorite on the basis of his experience and performance against top-rated boxers.

BRANDON (CP) — Alderman Charles Wilson officially entered Brandon's mayoralty race in the Oct. 27 civic elections when he filed nomination papers Tuesday. Mr. Wilson is the only opponent facing incumbent James Creighton.

PROJECT DELAYED

REGINA (CP) —Heavy September rain and snow in the last few days has slowed construction on the South Saskatchewan River Dam project. Little progress has been made since a few weeks ago when a large embankment foundation was completed.

MARKET TRENDS

TORONTO (CP) — Steels were the major industrial losers as the stock market faded Wednesday in one of the slowest sessions in more than a year.

The final volume was only 1,426,000 shares, compared with Tuesday's 1,539,000. Speculatives did little, with New Mylamaque, the most active issue, off 6 cents at $1.20 on a turnover of 58,000 shares.

Aside from steels most industrial groups were mixed. North Star Oil had the best gain among the active issues, up 1⅜ at 20. General Motors slipped 1¾ at 51¼ but Ford A added 2 at 172.

Falconbridge added ¼ at 26¼ but other senior base metals were down.

Seniors were down among western oils. Home B and Pacific Pete each lost ⅜ while Hudson's Bay gave up ⅛ at 12½.

Index changes: Industrials off 1.15 to 510.83; golds up .38 to 88.74; base metals off .16 to 162.87; western oils off .97 to 99.94.

NEW YORK (AP) Stocks drifted lower Wednesday as the effects of the steel strike spread further throughout the economy.

Steels, motors and rails, all tied in with the steel impasse, were subjected to the most selling pressure.

Oils, chemicals, aircrafts and electronics generally declined. One strong spot was in tobaccos, which climbed.

More layoffs were tied in with the steel strike. General Motors dropped 1¼. Ford sank 1⅛ even though directors declared an extra dividend.

A standout performance in the motor group came from American Motors. It hit a 1959 high of 65⅝ and closed at 64⅝, up ⅛ for the day. The firm introduced 1960 models, some with lower price tags than the 1959 offerings.

On the Canadian list, Aluminium Ltd. lost ⅞, Hudson Bay Mining ⅛, International Nickel ⅝ and Walker Gooderham ½. Canadian Pacific gained ⅛. Distillers Seagrams ⅝ and McIntyre Porcupine ¼.

Prices were lower on the American Stock Exchange, where volume dipped to 760,000 shares. General Development gained ⅞. Draper lost 1¼, and Fairchild Camera ¾. Among the Canadians Preston East Dome lost ⅛.

WINDOWS SMASHED

VANCOUVER (CP) —Vandals smashed 15 windows at Van Horne School and five more at Charles Dickens School, police said Tuesday.

B.C. Highlights

APARTMENTS TOO HIGH

VANCOUVER (CP) — A proposed $30,000,000 shopping centre and apartment block development in West Vancouver received general approval at a public hearing Tuesday night. The only objections centred on plans for 24-storey apartment buildings which were termed "monstrously high."

NO MORE CHANGES

SURREY (CP) — A controversial $3,500,000 water bylaw will be re-submitted to voters with no further changes, council decided Tuesday. A North Surrey fact-finding committee has insisted the bylaw be pared to a maximum $2,000,000.

PRESS STILL BARRED

BURNABY (CP) — A motion by Councillor Camille Mather that the press be admitted to committee meetings was turned down by council. Councillors said there is nothing wrong with the practice since no legislation is enacted in committee.

BOGUS MONEY

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — RCMP have warned banks, business men and merchants to be on guard against counterfeit $20 bills which may reach here from Eastern Canada.

Iraqi Papers Report Communists' Demands

By STAN CARTER

ROME (AP) — Iraq's leftist press is calling for reactivization of the Red-infiltrated civil militia in the wake of the attempt on the life of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem.

It also is talking again of a need for a popular-front government.

Iraqi newspapers of the last several days, flown here from Baghdad, showed the Communists reasserting their demand for power.

But they were considerably more cautious in their demands than in the days after the Nasser-ite-inspired Mosul revolt, when it looked as though nothing stood in the Communists' way.

WITHSTOOD PRESSURE

Then Kassem bowed under Communist pressure for a while, but he finally raised a restraining hand.

Ittihad Al - Shaab, the Iraq Communist party's official organ, said on the day after Kassem's escape from death that the assassins were sent by President Nasser's United Arab Republic.

Kassem was shot twice in the left arm and once in the right hand the evening of Oct. 7. He is recovering.

A leftist weekly said Saturday that the near success of the assassination attempt showed the militia, called the Popular Resistance Force, should be recalled to duty to protect the premier.

NIGHT PATROLS

In accord with the demand of the Communists the PRF was given arms after the Mosul revolt in March and assigned to night patrols of the major cities. But the arms had to be checked in at army warehouses during off-duty hours.

Kassem disbanded the PRF after some of its members took part in the Communist - incited massacre at Kirkuk last July 14.

Soviet Citizens Get Five Times As Much as Americans—"Mr. K."

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev has said the Soviet Union can give its citizens five times as much as their American counterparts.

In a speech published Tuesday night, the Soviet leader called on all Russians to overfulfill the seven-year economic plan saying:

"Who said that a Soviet man must eat only half of what an American does?

"I think that if necessary—unless the stomach disagrees—we can provide five American rations for every Soviet citizen."

The speech, reported by Tass news agency, was delivered in Novosibirsk last Saturday on Khrushchev's trip home from Peking.

SUMMIT MEET SOON

Khrushchev declared East-West relations are beginning to thaw and spoke of a meeting at the Summit in "the none-too-distant future."

He accused "some warlike leaders in the United States," however, of "taking urgent measures to retard the improvement of relations between our countries."

"Fearing a real thaw, they are beginning to panic and are doing their best to keep international relations under a deep freeze."

The Communist chief also commented on a recent suggestion by former New York Governor W. Averell Harriman that the West abandon the term capitalism.

"Even now some leaders in the capitalist states are beginning to realize how unpopular capitalism is becoming with the working people," Khrushchev said.

FOOL WORKERS

"It is no accident that they invent various new terms, new names like 'people's capitalism' and 'humane capitalism' in order to fool the working people, to mislead them. . .

"Whatever new words the advocates of capitalism may seek out, they will not alter the exploiting essence of the capitalist system."

Attacking Western pacts and alliances, Khrushchev said they will "all disappear leaving nothing but unpleasant memories, because the peoples will not tolerate irons on their hands."

GERMAN STAND

On the question of Germany, the Soviet premier indicated his positions has not changed.

"We are for talks, and we want to prove that if the Western powers really want to clear the way for friendly relations between our states we should together remove the stones from the road along which we should advance, each from his side, to ensure peace and the security of the peoples.

"These stones are remnants of the Second World War. It is necessary to remove them from the way and to sign a peace treaty."

Odds . . . and Ends
. . . by M. D. B.

I trotted out to the job department Wednesday to see the new "baby". Sure enough there were printers and staff looking like proud fathers, or at least like youngsters who had just received a new toy, admiring the new 3800-pound monster. I call it a monster because it almost seems to have a mind of its own as it goes about its business turning a cam here, whirling its rollers there and shuffling and huffling paper through at a great rate.

* * *

They proudly told me it has a cruising speed of 5000 with a top speed of 6000, that there are only about 15 of the things in the whole of B.C. and not over 200 in Canada. I chatted with the Japanese chap, Len Yamauchi (his brother plays football for Vancouver, I believe he said) who was installing it.

* * *

He gazed at it, fondly as a doctor regards the newly-born he has spanked into life, and told me he had been interested in such work all his life. He had worked in a machine shop in Calgary for 15 years all the while studying up on printing machines. It takes him about three days to install this particular type—an offset printing machine using a lithographic process.

* * *

It sounded Dutch to me so he explained that you start with a negative. The image is superimposed onto a sensitized zinc or aluminum plate which is then put on the roller. This process gives a clearer image for brochure and really fine work. It can print any number of colors, though four is the usual.

* * *

Its 21 rollers, rubber, copper, steel, chrome along with the other five in the water system make it resemble a mangle. It purrs along like a big cat and in an hour it can send through 6000 printed sheets. They stood there pointing out "her" wonderful features and all the things "she" can do. So I guess you'd say the job shop had just had a baby girl.

Franco's Cabinet Divided On Certain Policy Issues

MADRID (Reuters) — Gen. Francisco Franco's desire to keep a constant watch on repercussions of his government austerity policy is seen as the reason he postponed a provincial trip planned for this week.

The Spanish head of state was to have left for central Spain Friday. He also postponed until next spring a visit to Barcelona.

His cabinet is divided on some issues arising from the policy of stabilization and austerity put into effect on July.

Spain then devalued the peseta 40 per cent and became a full member of the organization for European Economic Co - operation.

The cabinet at its last meeting took the unusual step of suspending a decree signed by Franco in July to confer health insurance and other welfare benefits on 2,000,000 farm workers and small farmers and their families.

The suspension seemed prompted by opposition from farmers and land owners to the contributions required and the need for the state to contribute 2,000,000,000 pesetas (about $34,600,000) a year.

The government wants to keep food prices from rising following the peseta devaluation, and has had some success with staple foodstuffs.

The regime also is closely watching the employment situation, particularly in the building trades, as the credit squeeze takes effect.

Some ministers want to restore to Spanish industrialists the right to dismiss workers without the intervention of labor magistrates. This is understood to have come up at recent cabinet sessions.

Present law gives the worker the right to appeal to a magistrate. In cases of wrongful dismissal, he has the option of returning to his job or receiving an indemnity.

Many industrialists claim the right to hire and fire freely is essential for greater flexibility of operation.

But labor unions say if this right is restored to employers the right to strike, still outlawed in Spain, must be restored to the workers.

Women Prisoners' Freedom Brief

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two women prisoners who escaped from Oakalla prison—first to do so in 10 years—were back within its walls in just under two hours Tuesday because a taxi driver recognized them from their descriptions.

The women were identified as Rosemary Miller, 33, and Lenora Watson, 24, both serving terms for narcotics possession.

Police alerted taxi companies when the women escaped and cab - driver Earl Sheppard of Burnaby, who was hailed by them, telephoned his dispatcher and brought police to the scene.
