$2 Million Damage in Lanark Fire

16 Businesses, 20 Homes Razed As Fire Hits Village of 900

By DON ATTFIELD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LANARK, Ont. (CP)—Emergency relief was planned for this village Monday night a few hours after a sudden fire destroyed some 20 homes and 16 businesses, nearly wiping out Lanark as an economic unit.

Resources of the Ontario government's disaster relief fund were made available to the town. Federal civil defence officials were arranging food and accommodation for the homeless. Police put a cordon around the fire area to prevent looting.

The fire, in winds gusting up to more than 40 miles an hour, roared out of control for more than four hours. By the time it was contained at about 4:30 p.m., it had caused more than $2,000,000 damage.

Fire chief Delbert Storie was taken to hospital at the height of the blaze, suffering the effects of smoke and fatigue. There were no other reported injuries.

The main street — George Street —was a desolate scene of smoldering ruins when rain began falling at about 5 p.m. The town hall, containing the fire station and Canadian Legion headquarters, was a shell.

Because the fire spread quickly, almost nothing was saved from the destroyed buildings.

MANY HOMELESS

More than 100 persons lost their homes. They were taken in by neighbors in Lanark and residents in Balderson, three miles south of this village about 35 miles southwest of Ottawa.

Two women escaped death, due to the courage of Mrs. Eleanor Murphy, 55, who dragged them to safety. They were Mrs. John Beachman, 86, and her invalid daughter, Annie, 50.

Another woman collapsed from shock.

The village records were saved by J. Elmer Paul, the village clerk.

At the height of the fire, women and young girls wept on the streets while more than 100 men, equipped with 16 pumper trucks, fought the blaze.

USED RIVER WATER

Firefighters from Ottawa and several neighboring communities used water from the Clyde River that meanders through this village of 900 persons, to fight the blaze.

Reeve Bob Dowdall said the fire started in shavings in the planing mill of the Campbell Sash and Door Shop that he owns. He estimated damage at $2,000,000 or more.

Buildings in about 10 different places in the village were damaged by small, separate fires started by flying embers. Thick clouds of purple smoke were visible 10 miles from Lanark.

St. Vital Braced for Flood Crest

50 Families Warned Prepare for Evacuation as 6-Foot Crest Nears

WINNIPEG (CP) — Premier Duff Roblin announced Monday he has called a meeting with civic officials of Southeastern Manitoba communities hit by flooding of the Seine River.

Mr. Roblin made the announcement in the legislature as the Winnipeg suburb of St. Vital prepared to receive the crest of the flood that has inundated thousands of acres farmland and swamped communities along the Seine's banks.

The peak of the flood, moving slowly downstream since last Wednesday, was expected to hit St. Vital Monday night, raising the river level some six feet and spilling over low-lying areas.

ISSUED WARNING

St. Vital police said Monday they had warned some 50 families along the river to be ready to evacuate if the flooding became serious.

Mr. Roblin said it is hoped the meeting will be held Friday.

"We will discuss the nature of damage and put matters on a satisfactory footing," he said. "We also intend to investigate measures to deal with their problems."

In reviewing the situation, the premier told the House there was no room for complacency, although it doesn't "seem to be a disaster of overall magnitude."

The Seine rises near Marchand, 45 miles southeast of Winnipeg, and empties into the Red River between St. Boniface and Winnipeg.

CLOUDBURST HIT

The flood developed last week when a cloudburst at the headwaters aggravated a saturated moisture condition in the soil.

At Ste. Anne, 40 families were forced to temporarily evacuate their homes as three feet of water surged through the streets Thursday.

Monday, the river level began to recede and homeowners returned to the task of pumping out their basements and surveying the damage.

Provincial engineers at Ste. Anne have said the damage likely will total thousands of dollars. However, an official estimate will not be available for a few days. Mr. Roblin told the House that damage in the Ste. Anne area to bridge structures and crops is not as great as originally thought.

He said health and sanitary officials will remain in the area aiding clean-up operations.

A provincial water conservation official said late Monday flooding at St. Vital likely would be worse 12 to 24 hours after the crest arrives when the water has had time to spread out.

The high water is expected to remain two to three days, following the same pattern it has established en route downstream. Low water in the Red River, however, raised the possibility that the runoff would be somewhat faster at St. Vital.

By Monday noon, three bridges had been covered with water in eastern St. Vital and traffic was being re-routed. Three or four homes on the east bank of the river were cut off.

IWA STRIKE THREATENS

Union Turns Down Conciliation Board Report

VANCOUVER (CP) — Threat of a strike by 30,000 forest industry workers in British Columbia loomed Monday on the heels of a conciliation board report on a wage dispute between the industry and the International Woodworkers of America (CLC).

Joe Morris, regional president of the IWA, said Monday night the union's regional policy committee has rejected as totally unacceptable the majority report of the board and now will recommend that the membership authorize strike action.

The conciliation board recommended acceptance of the employers' offer made in negotiations before the board was established. This was for an increase of seven cents an hour during the first year and another five cents an hour boost during the second year of a two-year agreement. An extra six cents an hour would be provided for tradesmen.

The union had sought a 20-per-cent across-the-board increase with an additional 20 cents hourly for tradesmen. Present basic rate is $1.72 an hour.

Mr. Morris, in a statement released shortly after the board's reports were issued, said the board in its recommendation had "apparently forgotten that the workers of the forest products industry of the coast area of B.C. received no wage increase in 1958".

DOLLAR UP

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian dollar closed up 3-64 at $1.04 15-64 in terms of U. S. funds. A week ago it was $1.04 3-32.

Pound sterling up 3-64 at $2,81 5-16.

Royal Pair Give Perkins Slip

LONDON (Reuters) — Princess Anne startled a very correct army sergeant and a royal detective Sunday by invading the men's dressing tent during a polo game near Windsor Castle.

The eight-year-old princess and her brother Prince Charles were on hand to watch their father, Prince Philip, play. Wandering around the grounds followed by detective Albert Perkins—Anne suddenly grabbed her brother's hand and made off to "hide from Perkins."

They scuttled into the tent used as a dressing room and set the sergeant on guard sputtering and puzzling how to handle this one.

But Perkins was hot on the trail and the sergeant gave away the royal hideout with a sigh of relief.

"I was wondering when you'd manage to find us," Anne said to Perkins.

Then, wheeling away and jumping a tent rope, Anne looked back at the perspiring detective and challenged: "Can you do this, Mr. Perkins?"

"No, I can't," Perkins was heard to mutter as he shepherded his lively charges back to mother.

Cominco Profits Reported Holding Up

The first half of 1959 is expected to run at about the same rate for Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company as last year, so far as earnings are concerned, the Northern Miner reports.

The 1958 net was 85 cents. Somewhat higher zinc and lead prices this year are offset by smaller sales, higher freight rates, and the decreased value of the American dollar. Fertilizer sales so far this year have been about average as to price and volume.

"On June 1, the company started cutting its exports of lead by 15 per cent and exports of zinc by 13 per cent. Relative production cuts are on the cards but for a short time Cominco may do some stockpiling of the two metals. There is hope that higher lead and zinc prices will be secured, through the concerted cutbacks of important world producers. These may compensate for lowered sales," the mining journal states.

Fertilizer business continues intensely competitive and a big fight for markets rages. The $4 a ton jump in prices recently announced by a leading American group of producers is not taken too seriously as the business is now entering its off season. The company, looking ahead to growing uses, is going ahead with the 100-ton addition to its Calgary plant. This will make urea which finds both industrial and agricultural demand on the increase.

Another current expansion is, of course, the entry into the iron and steel business by way of a smelter to recover the iron content of stockpiled tailings. For the first stages of the 100,000 tons of steel a year program an outlay of $15 million is being made. Work is already well along.

Long Returned To Mental Clinic

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Governor Earl K. Long of Louisiana was ordered back to his mental clinic for another week Thursday night. He drove away from the Galveston courthouse yelling "still in jail, still in jail."

District Judge L. D. Godard ordered the week delay in order to study evidence through which the governor hopes to free himself and through which the Long family hopes to force hospital treatment on the fiery 63-year-old governor.

Judge Godard also postponed for one week a sanity hearing that was to have begun Monday. Probate Judge Hugh Gibson concurred after a conference.

Later, Gibson said there was no limitation on the order he issued June 2 putting Long in the protective custody of the hospital.

Investors' Bureau Idea Acclaimed

VANCOUVER (CP) — Liberal leader Ray Perrault said Monday he has presented his recent proposals for establishing a consumer and investor protection bureau in British Columbia to Premier Bennett.

"Our proposals, which are strictly non-political, have received a tremendous response from ordinary citizens by telephone and letter to our office," Mr. Perrault said in an interview.

"All we hope for now is that the government studies the need for this kind of protection."

Raise Lead, Zinc Tariffs Congress Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of Congress from mining states want Congress to raise tariffs on lead and zinc imports. This would be in addition to import quotas imposed last year which brought angry reactions from Canada, Mexico, Peru and Australia.

Senator Mike Mansfield (Dem.-Mont.) said he and other senators are sponsoring a bill for a flat increase to four cents a pound on lead and zinc in metal form and of 2.8 cents a pound on ores and concentrates.

A group of members of the House of Representatives from mining states plan to introduce similar bills.

Present U. S. tariff rates are ¾ of a cent a pound on lead ores; on lead pigs and bars 1 1-16 cents a pound; on zinc, 6-10 of a cent in ores; and 7-10 of a cent on metals.

Last Sept. 28 President Eisenhower issued a proclamation limiting imports of lead and zinc to 80 per cent of the amount imported from each supplying country in the 1953-58 period.

Kelowna Man Threatened

KELOWNA (CP) — A Kelowna carpenter said Monday his family has been threatened twice in the last week by an anonymous telephone caller. Police are investigating.

Abe Harder, a towering former amateur wrestler, said his wife answered the phone on both occasions and was told once: "I'm coming over to blow your brains out."

Mr. Harder was away both times at a job in Castlegar.

He could give no definite reason for the threats, but said in an interview Monday: "The man said I was a Doukhobor, which I am not."

"My wife is naturally disturbed by this. I only wish he'd call while I was home. I might recognize the voice."

Mr. Harder, a resident here for the last 11 years, weighs 270 pounds and stands six feet, two inches tall. He spent eight years in amateur wrestling.

The couple has a four-year-old son, Danny.

Police said they are not sure whether the calls are the work of a crank, a prankster or someone who feels he has a reason for revenge.

Talks Recess as Ministers Seek Compromise Proposals

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers, seeking to save the Geneva conference from total failure, recessed Monday night until Wednesday to search the diplomatic byways for a new compromise formula on Berlin.

After a crucial private session lasting two hours and 35 minutes, a French press officer announced only that there would be another such session Wednesday afternoon.

He refused to indicate whether the ministers had made any progress toward staving off the collapse of the talks, now in their sixth week.

COULD RENEW DANGER

Collapse of the Big Four parley could doom prospects of an early summit meeting and raise anew the danger of an East-West collision over Berlin.

State Secretary Christian Herter and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville were reported set to end the conference unless Foreign Minister Gromyko backed off on the new Soviet demand for a one-year deadline on the West Berlin occupation.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, just back from consultations in London with Prime Minister Macmillan, showed more readiness to prolong the conference in hopes of obtaining even a limited agreement on Berlin.

At a Western strategy meeting before the Big Four session in Couve de Murville's villa, Herter heard both Lloyd and the French foreign minister report on their urgent weekend consultations in London and Paris respectively.

TALKED WITH LLOYD

Then Herter talked with Lloyd alone until Gromyko arrived to open the Big Four meeting.

That meeting ended in an apparent atmosphere of mounting tension, and the Western ministers went immediately into a huddle to discuss the results of their talk with Gromyko.

One Western source said there was a "total impasse" at the Big Four meeting, and that the ministers now are trying to "find a way to wind up the conference."

French and American informants said no new proposals were made on either side.

Riddled Russian Plane Found

LONDON (Reuters) — The wreckage of a Russian air force bomber found in the Murmansk area beyond the Arctic Circle showed it had taken part in an air battle, Moscow radio reported last night.

The radio said parts of its cockpit were riddled with bullet holes and the plane's supply of ammunition was exhausted.

Three Soviet airmen were killed in the crash but the radio did not say when it happened. The Murmansk military command has opened an inquiry.

Documents found aboard the plane were almost illegible, the broadcast said. This appeared to indicate that the bomber might have been a Second World War casualty although Moscow Radio said nothing on this point.

Moscow radio carried the report as the 10th item of its regular main evening newscast. This seemed to indicate that no great importance was attached to it.

Parliament Monday

By The Canadian Press

Prime Minister Diefenbaker rejected Opposition Leader Pearson's suggestion that Canada halt spending on the American Bomarc missile until "apparent" U.S. uncertainty about continental air defence is cleared up.

Defence Minister Pearkes said proposed changes in U.S. air defence plans do not affect Canada's plans to set up two Bomarc bases.

Defence Production Minister O'Hurley announced Canada is buying 10 Albatross planes from Grumman Engineering Corp. of the U.S. for RCAF Search and Rescue.

Finance Minister Fleming said the government's financial borrowing requirements this year will be "substantially" less than he had anticipated in his April 9 budget.

Lionel Chevrier (L — Montreal Laurier) suggested party politics were involved in some Conservative appointments to the CNR board of directors.

Religion Expected To Live in Russia

By LARRY COLLINS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SASKATOON (CP)—Prof. B. R. Bociurkiw, of the University of Alberta, said Monday he doubts the Communists will be able to eradicate religion in Russia.

"Religion goes deeper than the Soviets publicly admit. There are spiritual needs that only religion can meet," Prof. Bociurkiw said in an interview. "No regime can eliminate religion altogether."

Prof Bociurkiw delivered a paper on the church movement in the Ukraine from 1920-30 to the Canadian Association of Slavists, meeting as part of the Conference of Learned Societies.

SUB SEARCH CONTINUES

VICTORIA (CP) — The navy and the RCAF clamped a tight security blackout Monday on the search for an unidentified submarine believed off the coast of Vancouver Island.

The fact that the submarine was reported and ships and planes from the navy and the RCAF were searching for it was announced Sunday night. Other than to say that the search was continuing, no further news was issued Monday.

Several ships, believed to be frigates and smaller vessels, left Esquimalt naval base when the report was received Saturday. It is reported that an RCAF Argus, latest in submarine hunters, has joined the search.

The navy declined to say whether the six destroyer escorts of the Second Escort Squadron due to leave Portland, Ore., Monday after a courtesy visit, would join the search. The destroyers, which contain the most modern submarine hunting gear, are the Assiniboine, Fraser, Skeena, Margaree, Saguenay and St. Laurent.

BURNED BOY DIES

VICTORIA (CP) — A 10-year-old boy who was burned over 80 per cent of his body died in Victoria hospital Monday.

Wolfgang Bradasch threw a can of gasoline on a burning log near his home in suburban Saanich on June 7. The gas exploded and showered him.

He had been in critical condition since that day.

Polio Victim Leaves Lung To Support Blind Groom

SEATTLE (AP)—A blind university graduate was married here and his best man was a polio victim who left an iron lung long enough to take part in the ceremony.

John Clark, 26, married the former Sydney Meyers, 22. The best man was Donald Parker, who had not been away from hospital in Portland for eight years.

Clark received a degree in English literature Saturday from the University of Washington, the same day his bride graduated as a dental hygienist. They were wed the next day.

Parker was Clark's "eyes" during months of mutual rehabilitation, Clark from the blindness of a welding accident and Parker from polio. Clark would push his friend's wheelchair along hospital corridors while Parker steered by dragging his feet.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—"Leave a little sideburn, heavy on the top and it's okay by me if you brush the hair off my neck."

That's the situation in Utah now that the state business regulation department has issued a new set of regulations for barbers.

The new rules prohibit barbers from using shaving mugs and lather brushes. They must dispense lather from canisters or machines.

Barbers must sterilize the brushes they use to whisk away cut hair and they can use them only if they get the customer's permission.

Reduction May Be Made In School Bylaw Costs

Ratepayers of Nelson school district were given some hope Monday night that a money bylaw being drawn up may not be quite as big as at first thought.

Monday night's meeting of the board of trustees decided to reconsider a proposal for construction of a four-room addition at Hume School, with the hope the anticipated $165,000 estimated cost might be saved.

This could possibly reduce the bylaw total from just under one million dollars to around $830,000.

It was felt, in view of figures showing Hume School enrolment appeared to be levelling off, that erection of a prefabricated emergency type of room would serve until the situation changed. This type of structure can be built from emergency construction funds, and would not require the board to go to ratepayers with a bylaw for the likely $10,000 to $15,000 cost.

Alternatively the board will consider erection of a one or two-room elementary school on the North Shore. The 63 grade 1 to 6 children from that area now attending Hume School might be switched to the new school, thus relieving the pressure at Hume.

If this did not prove satisfactory owing to the age-distribution of pupils, board members will consider opening a North Shore school for grades 1 to 3. Final decision on the several possibilities will be made after investigation of costs and effects on Hume School by board members and district superintendent of schools Nelson Allen.

EXTRA SESSION

G. H. Lee, principal of L. V. Rogers high school, told the meeting that his plans to hold a summer school from July 6 to 31 for students wishing to progress more rapidly, were going ahead satisfactorily. He expected that there would be enough students willing to pay for the privilege, to finance it.

At Mr. Lee's request the board agreed to subsidize a pay telephone in the school, as he felt it would in time pay its own way and was needed to keep the regular line open for school business. The subsidy was estimated at $50 for the year.

A case of malicious damage at Central School was reported to the board, and it was agreed to request payment from the father of the pupil responsible, and to take small debts court action if no response was received. Damage was only $7, but the board decided the matter should not be dropped in view of the manner in which the damage occurred.

Wire Thrown Over Line, Upper Fairview Power Off

Upper Fairview power snapped off for about half an hour late Monday afternoon when a piece of reinforcing wire was tossed over the city line on Cottonwood Street above L. V. Rogers High School.

The wire, ⅜ of an inch in diameter, about four feet long and bent in a half circle, was thrown 30 feet into the air to reach the line.

The piece of steel burned down the line, city electrical superintendent A. C. VanSacker said. Fortunately for the person involved, a breaker switch was tripped automatically and the line was dead when it hit the ground. If it had remained alive, there would have been great danger to anyone in the vicinity.

Power to upper Fairview homes went off about 5:15 p.m.

Busy Day Shapes Up For Transport Board

It is more than likely that the Board of Transport Commissioners will find a full docket when it holds a public hearing in Nelson Monday on Canadian Pacific Railway service between Vancouver and Medicine Hat.

Fullest and most comprehensive brief protesting the present passenger service on the route is expected to be that presented by the Nelson Chamber of Commerce, acting for the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Southeastern B.C.

Under the chairmanship of J. H. Coventry, the local Chamber has part of the Kootenays solicited support from civic groups and community organizations from every part of the Kootenays, and has appealed to the public for specific information regarding instances when rail service has proved inadequate or otherwise unsatisfactory.

On behalf of the city of Nelson, Mayor T. S. Shorthouse will hold a watching brief at the hearings but will make no formal submission.

It is anticipated that the provincial government will present a brief as well as being represented by legal counsel.

In addition it is believed several labor unions will present their views, and there is always the possibility of briefs being brought forward by individuals at the time of the hearing.

Trail Council Ponders Rejected Subdivision Plan

TRAIL — A request by a local contractor to build a multi- and single-dwelling subdivision on the north side of the highway through the Glenmerry area of Trail has been turned down by the town planning commission, although City Council decided Monday night to consider the matter further in committee before making a final decision.

In a memorandum to the city, the commission stated it had discussed the matter at great length. One of the many meetings had lasted over a five-hour period. While the decision to refuse the request was unanimous, the commission nevertheless commended the contractor, Domenic Moro, for his enterprise in his scheme.

Monday night's City Council meeting, one of the shortest on record — lasting only an hour — received correspondence from the B.C. Drama Association and from the adjudicator in the recent drama festival, Mrs. Gwen Pharis Ringwood of Williams Lake. Both letters highly praised the city and its residents for outstanding support and hospitality offered to the visiting groups.

The council also received an invitation from the Nelson Midsummer Bonspiel committee to attend a parade July 6. The parade coincides with a regular council meeting and the invitation will be declined for that reason.

$500 IN FINES ON IMPAIRED COUNTS

Three men were fined a total of $500 and costs when they appeared before Magistrate R. S. Nelson in city police court Saturday and Monday on charges of impaired driving.

S. M. Stasyn of Nelson was fined $150 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while impaired. He was apprehended by city police Saturday night on Hall Street. His driver's licence was suspended for two months.

Nick Derhousoff, RR 2, was fined $150 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a similar charge. He was picked up by police after an accident on Railway street, when a vehicle he was driving ran into the back of a car.

T. A. Tremblay of Trail was fined $200 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while impaired Sunday night.

Physiotherapist Takes Up Duties

Arthritis and rheumatism patients in Nelson and district will receive their treatment from a new physiotherapist, Miss Nancy Coppin of Surrey, England, who has been in Canada three weeks.

Former physiotherapist here, Anne Featherstone, also from England, has completed her six months' work in this area and has left for Brandon where she will spend two months before leaving for overseas.

Miss Coppin received her training at St. Mary's Hospital, Paddington, London, and besides working in England has spent three years in New Zealand.

Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society's Nelson branch and the Women's Auxiliary to CARS will drive arthritis patients to Balfour today for an afternoon's outing. They will be accompanied by Miss Hazel Southard, supervisor of physiotherapists for the B. C. division of CARS, and Miss Mary Martin of Toronto, consultant physiotherapist for CARS.

Members and their guests will have tea at Balfour, returning late in the afternoon.

Registrations Up to 82 for Arts School

Registrations for the Nelson Summer School of Fine Arts, scheduled for July 6 to July 31, may be sent in up to the opening day, it was revealed Monday by E. D. Baravalle, director.

Mr. Baravalle said that 82 registrations have been received for the 18 courses.

"I would like to see two or three more in each course."

Word has been received from Fay Pearce, ceramics teacher, that she has received one of the three Canadian scholarships to study under Louis Archambault, regarded as the dean of Canadian ceramicists and sculptors. The scholarship will include four weeks of study starting July 27.

Included in the school's summer session will be courses in art, weaving, ceramics, drama, music, French and rhythmics and ballet.

Instructors are Fay and Robin Pearce, Myrtle Creighton, Desmond Scott, Marion Poggemiller, Hugh McLean, Elfreda Sewell, Mr. Baravalle, Christiane Hermanson and Joyce Hirst.

Voting on Bylaws Set for June 29

Ratepayers of the city of Nelson will vote June 29 on three money bylaws which in total amount to $780,000, but the greatest amount they may actually approve will not total more than $640,000.

Bylaw 1287, in the amount of $230,000, provides for construction of a new city hall. Bylaw 1288, in the amount of $140,000, provides for renovation of the old post office building for use as a city hall. Whichever of the two proposals receives the larger number of votes will automatically cancel the other.

To be adopted all money bylaws require a 60 per cent majority vote in favor. There is thus the possibility both bylaws could be rejected.

Bylaw 1286, for the amount of $410,000, is to provide funds for extensive street and sewer extensions and improvements. It is intended to eliminate or reduce present such capital expenditures from current revenue.

The $410,000, with interest at six per cent, would be repaid over a period of 15 years, ending in 1974. Yearly payments have been scaled so that cost per year will vary only slightly from $41,600 to a peak of $42,680, with the average running close to $42,200.

If ratepayers approve bylaw 1287 for the construction of a new city hall, it is proposed to amortize the debenture issue over a period of 20 years, ending in 1979. Yearly payments would approximate $20,000, with slight variations.

Adoption of bylaw 1288 for renovating of the old post office building would bring into effect a 15-year repayment schedule, ending in 1974. Yearly payments would run close to $14,000. Debentures on these bylaws would also bear interest at the rate of six per cent.

Voting on all three bylaws will be held in the old post office between the hours of 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. City clerk C. W. R. Harper will be returning officer.

Highway Deaths First Since March

The first highway deaths in the Nelson RCMP subdivision since the week of March 29, marred the traffic picture last week.

Both deaths occurred in an accident 12 miles west of Rossland when an excavating machine overturned. Crushed underneath were Floyd Lonnie Powell, 24, of Castlegar, and Raymond John Savage, 16, of Greenwood.

There were 20 accidents during the week, resulting in nine prosecutions.

Alex Johnson Dies at Coast

Born in Scotland, March 18, 1891, he came to Canada in 1911, settling in Calgary where he was instrumental in starting the Fourex Bakery branch office.

In 1916, he returned to Scotland where he joined the 10th Royal Highlanders (Black Watch). During his three years with the unit, he won the distinguished conduct medal in France as a second lieutenant. It was presented to him by Field Marshal Ferdinand Foch of the French Forces.

Demobilized in 1919, he returned to Calgary where he worked with the Fourex firm as a master baker until 1938 when he came to Nelson to form a branch office.

In 1942, he became a security guard for the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company in Trail, where he stayed until late in 1943 when he moved to Edmonton to start the Dainty Cake Bakery.

He returned to the Kootenays in 1953, working as master baker for the Dutch Maid Bakery in Castlegar. On his retirement in 1957, he moved to Nelson where he had resided since.

He is survived by his wife, two sons, Alexander (Pat) in Nelson and James in Hamilton, Ont., three sisters, Mrs. Mary Kay in New Westminster, Mrs. Mary G. Davies in Nelson and Mrs. J. Allen in Scotland, and four brothers, James, William and Robert in Scotland and Walter in England.

Rossland Trustee Resigns Post

TRAIL—The resignation of J. F. Buckingham of Rossland has been accepted by the school board of Trail district with regret. Mr. Buckingham is leaving for the east shortly, while still in his first year as a trustee. The city of Rossland has 30 days to hold an election for a replacement. If candidates are not forthcoming, the school board may appoint a new member for the balance of the term.

More resignations from teachers were accepted by the board at Monday afternoon's meeting. Music teacher G. A. Mallette is leaving for Kingston, Ont. Schools super*intendent S. J. Graham said that* Mr. Mallette will be "sorely missed" at the school, and difficult to replace.

As far as appointments are concerned, Mr. Graham said all senior high school vacancies have been filled, and negotiations are under way to fill other vacancies.

Speeding Brings Fines Totalling $80

Most of the charges came as a result of radar checks by the RCMP.

Edward Williamson of Leamington, Ont., was fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding. Hugh Kirk of Lethbridge and E. D. J. Buckley of Nelson were fined $10 and costs each when they pleaded guilty to the same charge. C. R. Eden of Vancouver and D. H. Granstrom of Nakusp were fined $25 and costs each when they pleaded guilty to speeding.

"All Have Benefitted From Work of Legion"

E. T. Bodard, guest speaker at Saturday night's convention during the West Kootenay zone conference of the Legion, said that all Canadian citizens have received benefits, directly or indirectly, from the work of the Canadian Legion.

"Not only have they (citizens) been helped financially but they have been helped spiritually and morally," he said, and pointed out that for their diligent efforts Legion members receive the bonus of "good comradeship."

The speaker said he felt that because the last war was a more mobile one than the first, there was not the same "front line trenches comradeship" and because servicemen were more in touch with civilian populations there is not the same bond of unity among the younger veterans.

He cited this as a possible reason many ex-servicemen are supporting organizations other than their own. He felt that it is human nature to shy away from regimentation and expressed the view that the Legion possibly reminds many of the regimentation of the armed forces.

"Comrades are now coming back to the Legion. They are coming better equipped, having served in other organizations. They will be the workers and the leaders of the Legion in the future," he said.

"Remember always that what is good for a comrade is good for the Legion. What is good for the Legion is good for the community and what is good for the community is good for Canada," he concluded.

"Smuggled" Truant Is Picked Up

An early morning raid on Thrums *and Krestova resulted in the re*turn to the New Denver dormitory school of Violet Tarasoff, 15, and the apprehension of two other Sons of Freedom children.

The girl, who had been in the dormitory for four years and was smuggled out on Victoria Day, May 24, was discovered in the home of her parents at Thrums.

After the disappearance of the child, a no-visiting ban was imposed by principal John Clarkson. The ban was to remain in effect until the child was returned to the school.

Two children who have never attended school were found in the shack village of Krestova. Helen Boolinoff, 12, and Kenneth Tomlin, 11, were apprehended at their homes. Parents are Mr. and Mrs. William N. Boolinoff and Mr. and Mrs. Peter S. Tomlin.

There were no incidents during the raid.

The children appeared before family court magistrate William Evans Monday afternoon for identification. They will appear again in one week for formal committal.

Sternwheeler Float Catches All Eyes at Colville Parade

The Chamber of Commerce gave a helping hand to Colville, Wash., centennial week celebrations Saturday, and at the same time made Nelson popular there.

The model of the pioneer sternwheeler SS Nelson, built by the fire department and familiar to parade viewers here, won more attention than any other entry in Colville's show.

Fire chief E. S. Owens and Mrs. Owens left here at 5 a.m. in order to arrive in Colville on time. There, before the parade went on the road, the chief decorated his car with slogans and signs proclaiming the tourist and recreational advantages of Nelson.

The fire chief estimated that at least 500 snapshots of the Nelson entry were taken by the crowd which jammed the streets of Colville to view what he called "an excellent parade". The show kicked off a week-long celebration which is a part of the State of Washington's centennial year entertainment.

LAND REGISTRY SURVEYOR GOING TO KAMLOOPS

John Jackson, Nelson land registry office surveyor, has been transferred to the Kamloops registry office, where he will take up a similar position.

Mr. Jackson was transferred to Nelson from Kamloops two years ago. He is due to report at the Kamloops office Monday.

Active in scouting, he is the assistant Scout master of the Fourth Nelson troop.

Mr. Jackson said he has found Nelson "very friendly" and has enjoyed his stay here. His wife and three children will join him at Kamloops later.

Holden Named Salmo Principal

John Holden, vice-principal at Salmo junior-senior high school, was named principal for the 1959-60 year, at Monday night's meeting of the Nelson district school board.

The meeting was informed that the resignation of principal F. T. Middleton was expected, although it had not been officially received.

The meeting received with regret the resignations of two other members of the Salmo staff, J. G. Exner and George R. Lewis. Terry Elmes of Nelson will replace Mr. Exner.

Kimberley Graduates Number Nearly 100

KIMBERLEY — In the beautifully decorated Selkirk High School gymnasium hundreds of parents and visitors watched nearly 100 graduates receive their diplomas.

The student to win the highest award for outstanding achievement was Gerald Mackie, with runnerup Dale Joe.

Highest student scholarship for girls went to Karen Bradford of Skookumchuck. Runnerup was her sister, Ruth Bradford. Ian Mennie won the citizenship award for boys and Helen Giegerich the citizen award for girls.

Ian Mennie also won the athletic award for boys, and Jean Anne Ure, the girls' athletic award. In arts no boy won, but Lorraine Iverson won for girls. For specializing in one field, Ian Mennie again was the winner. He was prime minister of the student parliament. The drama club award was won by Lorraine Iverson. Students cup for "Student of the Year," to be kept permanently, went to Karen Bradford.

Competitive scholarship for the outstanding East Kootenay student went to Cranbrook, L. Garsten, principal of McKim; Junior High and president of the Lions club, awarded William Allen Richardson with the Kimberley Lions club scholarship. Honorable mention went to Gerry Mackie.

Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire scholarship was won by Adrian Rynesveld, and M. Profit won the Canadian Legion scholarship presented by J. H. Rayner. Ruth Bradford accepted the Kimberley Ladies' Liberal award from Mrs. James Byrne. Last year's winner of the Yarwood musical award, Tannis Mason, presented Gerry Mackie with this year's award.

Mr. Young, principal of the high school, thanked Mrs. W. Poole, Harry Broadhurst, Rev. F. A. McPhee and R. Yarwood and the band for their co-operation in helping to make the evening a success.

Valedictorian was Adrian Rynesveld.

G. H. Richmond, Kimberley, Dies

KIMBERLEY — One of Kimberley's longest-time residents, George Herbert Richmond died suddenly at his home in the O'Neill block at the age of 74 years. His services for the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company started at Kimberley in 1915, long before the extensive development of the Sullivan mine on which Kimberley and Chapman Camp grew. He was born in Beverley, England, and came to Canada and East Kootenay in 1915. His Cominco employment continued at Kimberley until 1941 and he has continued to live here since then.

Surviving him are his wife, a son, John, and a daughter, Mrs. William Beynon in Kimberley, a second daughter, Mrs. M. McRitchie in Fernie, six grandchildren and a nephew, Herb Richmond in Kimberley.

Rev. F. A. McPhee officiated at the funeral, and burial was in Kimberley cemetery.

Boswell Man Dies Suddenly

BOSWELL — Sidney Raymond Cummings, 48, died unexpectedly at Creston Valley Hospital Friday night. He had been under medical treatment for several weeks.

The first white baby born in Boswell, he attended the Boswell school. For many years he has been managing and developing the Cummings Camp at Ghost Creek, and has made it a well-known hunting and fishing camp.

He was a member of the Gray Creek Rod and Gun Club, the Resort Owners Association of Boswell, and the district Farmers' Institute.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. S. J. Cummings, Boswell, brothers Frank and Arnold, Boswell, Lloyd, Vancouver, and two sisters, Mrs. A. (Mary) Woods, Rossland, and Mrs. R. (Ruth) McGregor, Crawford Bay.

SON OF BOSWELL COUPLE DIES

BOSWELL — Word has been received here of the death at Campbell River of Albert Charles Mackie, 40, youngest son of the well-known Boswell fruit grower Alec Mackie.

He has been in hospital at Vancouver and Campbell River for several months and was expected to holiday in Boswell in the near future.

He is survived by his wife and three children, Bonnie, Albert Wayne and Louanne, Rotunda Bay; his mother and father; two brothers, William, Creston, and Percy, Kimberley, and one sister, Mrs. William (Grace) Milligan, Drumheller, Alta.

The funeral will be conducted in Campbell River.

Celgar Awards Contracts

CASTLEGAR — Contracts for raising the steel for major sections of Celgar Limited's $50,000,000 pulp and paper operation at Castlegar, first to be built off tidewater in British Columbia, have been let.

Celgar officials also said a contract to build a well system providing 40,000,000 gallons of water daily has been awarded and that tenders for the foundation have been called. Value of the contracts was not announced.

Ian Barclay, assistant to the president, said bunkhouses for 400 men will be ready this month and that up to 800 men will be employed on the job by this fall.

CONTRACTS LET

Two contracts were let for the erection of the steel.

Western Bridge and Steel Fabricators Ltd. won the job of erecting it for the "woodroom" where logs are reduced to chips for pulping.

American Iron Manufacturing Company won the unit price contract for all other steel work required in building the mill.

The contract for the well system went to the Ranney Wells Co. Testing is beginning immediately and if successful, work is expected to be finished in eight months.

1960 PRODUCTION

Celgar has also announced its construction and engineering schedules. During 1959 all engineering work will be completed on the woodroom, log and refuse handling, and the chip handling. The chip silos will be completed and a start made on the conveyor foundations.

Most of the engineering for the pulping group, pulp machine, finishing room, recovery, evaporators, precipitators, steam plant, and recausticizing, and the structural work on the foundations and frame will be completed during 1959.

Engineering scheduled for completion or near completion during 1959 includes such services as the mill water supply, effluent disposal, steam, power and water distribution, spur railways, and the fire protection main loop and standpipe.

The woodroom and chip handling will be in operation about October 1960 in order to stockpile chips for spring operation in 1961. To meet this production, the steam plant must also be operative together with the booming grounds, mill water supply, and effluent disposal. The main pulping group, machine and finishing building will continue under construction into 1961.

Teacher, Housewife Win Support For Petition to Diefenbaker

CRANBROOK — An independently and personally sponsored petition for peace, bearing 240 adult signatures, will be forwarded shortly by its originators, Mrs. I. M. Anderson and Mrs. Robert D'Etcheverrey, to prime minister Diefenbaker. The petition is addressed to him and the Parliament of Canada.

The petition asks a "complete halt to all Canadian participation in the arms drive to be initiated immediately by banning the project for bacterial warfare at Suffield, Alta., and a speedy formulation of entirely new policies leading to genuine negotiations for peace and disarmament, with the banning of all future nuclear tests, except for peaceful purposes . . . with absolute safeguards to human welfare."

Mrs. Anderson, a grade 4 teacher at Central School, and Mrs. D'Etcheverrey, a housewife with four children ranging from 12 to 17 years of age, are next-door neighbours on Cranbrook Street.

They drafted the resolution themselves, then submitted it to Dr. Brock Chisholm for approval. He proposed two minor changes which were incorporated, and they published it first as an advertisement in late April, drawing 30 supporters.

They followed this with personal separate canvass of their own general area north of Baker Street from 14th Avenue to Van Horne Street and through Slaterville. They report a total of 260 interviews in this canvass, and that only 20 persons refused to sign. They said they were highly pleased by the reception of the petition which indicated to them that "people in general were conscious of the grave emergency to survival of the human race under threat of nuclear fission and other extermination threats." Those refusing to sign the petition said they believed democratic procedure should govern matters of such grave concern, and one stated flatly he refused to believe his country would engage in bacterial warfare.

"PUBLIC APATHY"

The sponsors said their reason for circulating the petition and forwarding it to the prime minister was their concrn for the children and youth of the world, and was a gesture of protest against general "public apathy" toward a matter of personal concern to every living person. They said they would not be surprised if there were no official response to the gesture.

Pastor Arrives

INVERMERE — Jess Jespersen, formerly of Spruce Grove, Alta., has arrived in Invermere to take charge of the Lake Windermere Christian Missionary Alliance Church for the next three months. Mr. Jespersen graduated from the Canadian Bible College at Regina three weeks ago. He is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Walker.

Best Interests of All Should Be Served

There is still a long way to go before agreement on the joint use of the Columbia River by the United States and Canada is reached. The matter is being discussed by the International Joint Commission, which ordinarily has power to deal with matters concerning the two countries in border problems, but since this problem is of great importance to both countries and has features not before met with, the final decisions will have to be made by treaty between them.

A successful outcome of the negotiations can only come through a genuine spirit of co-operation between the two countries. This should not be hard to achieve. The United States seems to have grown past the one time spirit of belligerence it displayed in its expansionist days and towards Canada it shows considerable tolerance and attempts at understanding.

Canada, however, seems at this time to have developed a nationalistic attitude which expresses itself in criticism of its more powerful neighbor. The criticism is not always warranted and is often quite unnecessary. Fortunately, the U.S. takes it good-temperedly in its stride, but the constant complaints by Canadians might well be harmful to international relations and particularly to the discussions now going on on the Columbia question.

Bearing in mind the example of the Ontario hydro-electric which, once it exported power across the line, found itself obligated to continue to do so, the Liberals in the House of Commons moved an amendment to the National Energy Bill to the effect that power could only be exported for one year. Fortunately, through the efforts of the British Columbia members of the House, this was defeated.

Such a provision would have killed the Columbia River development completely, for the whole success of the project depends on export and interchange of power through long term agreements. The matter is complicated by the fact that two countries are concerned, but essentially the American Pacific-Northwest and British Columbia have identical and interlocking interests. How best to further the mutual interests of the two, not only in the power situation but in other ways, should be the aim of those on both sides of the border.

What About Rush-Bagot?

The news story that 27 American warships will soon call at U.S. ports on Lake Erie must have elevated the eyebrows of Canadians, and no doubt Americans too, who remember their history back to the War of 1812 and its sequel.

Conferences on disarmament rarely lead anywhere. Whatever argument they may produce is likely to be short-lived. But there is one treaty for the limitation of arms that has, at this writing, stood unbroken for 142 years. This is the Rush-Bagot agreement of 1817.

Robert Rush was the acting U.S. Secretary of State at the time. Sir Charles Bagot was the British embassador at Washington. Their bargain was that never again would their two countries fight, as they had just fought, a war on the Great Lakes. Each party pledged itself to keep no more than one armed ship on Lake Ontario, two on the upper lakes, none of these to be larger than 100 tons or carry more than one 18-pounder cannon.

Has any naval person in the Pentagon looked into the question whether the proposed display of seapower on Lake Erie can be squared with the Rush-Bagot agreement? To "keep" warships on the lakes is perhaps not the same thing as to stage a ceremonial parade across the lakes for the purpose of showing the flag. Even so, it's to be hoped that the proposed expedition will be called off.

It isn't that anybody in Canada would doubt the peaceful intent of the U.S. fleet and fear an assault on Toronto, Hamilton or Windsor. It's simply that American armed might is already in evidence in so many forms, quantities and places it's a relief to have an oasis of tranquility like the Great Lakes. To break the spell of a century and a half would be a pity, especially as the main practical result would be further overcrowding and delay in the already choked Welland Canal.—The Financial Post.

A Sound Idea

Russia and Canada share a common problem in the development of their Arctic regions. Russia is a long way ahead of Canada, and, if Russia is willing, Canada should take steps to profit from this experience.

The request from Canada to the Russian government for permission to send a team of experts into the Russian Arctic to study progress in this field is a sound, sensible idea.

It should work both ways. Russian scientists should come here, too, to see what we are doing, so long as the question of defence is not involved. It's wasteful to duplicate all work because of a political schism.

Now that both sides have progressed to the atom bomb, the hydrogen bomb, the earth satellite, scientific barriers are losing some of the rigidity that set in with the Cold War.

Russian scientists now frequently come to Canada, and the traffic is two-way. This type of exchange improves understanding and goodwill, and there is plenty of room for both.

The figures about Russian progress in the Arctic are startling. Russia's population north of the 60th parallel is 5,000,000. Canada's is 300.

Russian research in the Arctic, says Deputy Northern Affairs Minister R. G. Robertson, has been "more than the rest of the world put together."

Their success is of special interest to Canada, where there is a great revival of interest in opening up the last frontier, the Arctic.—Victoria Colonist.

Work A Blessing

People talk nowadays as if work were a curse. Such chatter is nonsense. Work is a blessing provided the hours are not unreasonably long and the task is agreeable to the worker.

What a miserable, discontented place the world would be if there were no work for human hands to do!

What happiness would result if all were employed at congenial labor that would provide adequate compensation!

—The Brooks Bulletin.

F. B. Pearce. . . . . Writes

My daughter-in-law asked us to go up to tea today to celebrate my birthday, which happened when we were away. So we went up to tea and had a nice time. But I never missed the celebrations of my birthday at any time, because mine was a lonely one all on its own in the year, while the rest of the family had theirs all together around Christmas. When mine came round everybody forgot it—except my mother—and as she said I never knew what I wanted, I seldom got presents. Which did not worry me in the least.

Now my birthday is not so apt to be forgotten, for Kerry and Donald and Frances have their birthdays in May, and grandmothers seldom forget the grandchildren. They also remember their husband's, too.

It is not the same with men. They remember none of the birthdays, anniversaries or deaths, which means that they get into a lot of hot water.

But so much of a woman's life is bound up with marriage and birth that these things rank importantly in their lives. When I was a boy there used to be many smart weddings at the church at the end of the street. The nursemaids would wheel their charges in their perambulators to watch the proceedings. I used to declare that even in those early days it was easy to tell the sex of the childlren by their behavior. The boy babies lay on their backs kicking their legs, while the girls were sitting up taking it all in.

Funerals were funerals then, with all the pomp and trimmings of those days, and one could tell something of the cost by the hearse and mourners. One old lady invariably went to all of them, and would come out with streaming eyes declaring it was a lovely funeral. She really enjoyed them.

Little girls sitll like weddings, and here is a little story which amused me very much. I found it in a magazine.

The little girl, having attended her sister's wedding the day before, was describing the bride's ensemble to her playmates.

"Her dress was beautiful," she enthused. "Real Georgian with embrocation all round the bottom, and her going-away coat was lined with imitation vermin."

Today when I walked into the office I told the lady in charge that she was looking very pretty. She liked the compliment, though she disclaimed being pretty. But prettiness is not the prerogative of youth alone. Older people can be pretty too, though often their prettiness is a matter of health and happiness.

One phrase has stuck in my mind because of its truth. "She walked down the street with the air of a well loved wife." I know several wives like that. They radiate love and happiness and their beauty is a thing of joy to the beholder, even when they are very old.

Suggestion has a lot to do with our conduct. I have thought since that the reason I did not get birthday presents as a boy was because my thoughts were not broadcasting my desire for them. But I still think my birthday might have been remembered.

Suggestion had a lot to do with making over Patty—that is not her real name. I suppose she hated to come to school, for she was always late. She sat at the back of the room and looked a little grub, until one day the class was discussing a dancing exhibition given the night before. They described how much they had enjoyed it, and one boy said, "But who was that pretty girl in pink at the back of the stage?" The teacher said, "Why, that was Patty." The boys all turned round with wonder and speculation in their eyes. As for Patty, she was never late for school again, she took particular care with her hair and dress, and, strangely enough, her ranking improved.

No New Major Issues In Alta Election

EDMONTON (CP) — No major political issues have cropped up in the current Alberta election campaign. Voters go to the polls Thursday.

Among the issues worked over repeatedly were education, municipal taxation and farm problems. The Social Credit government's oil and gas royalty dividend program, which had been in operation for two years, did not stir up much controversy.

Liberal Head Grant MacEwan, opposition leader in the last legislature, has criticized the government's oil and natural gas policies. He argued the government is not doing enough to protect Alberta gas consumers against rate increases.

Conservative Leader W. J. C. Kirby has attempted to gain the rural vote by suggesting a Conservative government would carry a greater portion of the cost of rural electrification. He also promised to decentralize industry so that small centres could benefit financially from new industry.

CCF PROGRAM

CCF Leader Floyd Johnson has suggested the people of Alberta have not received the full benefits from the province's oil industry, arguing the government has allowed private companies make large profits at the expense of the citizens of Alberta.

All three party leaders in the meantime have stated at rallies and through radio and television broadcasts that the government is not doing all it should to improve education standards in the province.

They also argued that municipalities are going into debt while the government boasts it had pulled the province out of debt and has accumulated a sound financial reserve.

Premier E. C. Manning has made no promises. He repeatedly stated in his campaign speeches that Alberta has had a good government since the election of the Social Credit administration in 1935 and there is no reason to elect another party.

Mr. Manning said that "so long as a government is doing its job, surely the more experience it has the better." He said Alberta spends more per capita on education than any other province.

CITES RESERVES

The total reserves of the province and its municipalities is $340,000,000 or $62,000,000 more than their combined debt, he added.

The government's dividend program, which cost the province about $20,000,000 in 1957 and 1958, was not brought up as an election issue. The program, which resulted in $20 annual payments to Albertans in 1957 and $17.50 in 1958, was suspended this year.

The program had been severely criticized by all opposition parties before Mr. Manning announced the government's five-year development plan last August. The dividend program was suspended for the duration of the plan, the money being turned over toward development of the province.

A total of 216 candidates are contesting the election. The Social Credit put 64 candidates in the field, Progressive Conservatives 60, Liberals 51 and CCF 32. Four Labor Progressive party candidates have also been nominated, two Independent - Social Credit, one Coalition and two Independents.

Standing at dissolution was: Social Credit 37, Liberal 15, Progressive Conservative 3, CCF 2, Liberal-Conservative 1, Coalition 1, Independent 1, Independent Social Credit 1. Total 61. There will be 65 seats in the 14th legislature.

"BUT MY DEAR FELLOW! THIS'LL TAKE YOUR MIND OFF THE OTHER FOOT!"

Nasser Ends Screening Candidates

CAIRO (Reuters) — President Nasser has moved toward a more liberal policy in national elections by calling a halt to the government's screening of candidates.

Nasser decreed an end Sunday night to the system of screening all persons seeking political office as the first of a series of steps leading to formation of a new national assembly.

The screening committees' approval was essential to any candidate seeking nomination in the last National Assembly election two years ago.

Public Employees Dub Act Anti-Labor Law

PENTICTON (CP)—The British Columbia Federation of Public Employees described the province's new Trades Union Act Sunday as "without doubt a most vicious anti-labor law."

A resolution passed at the closing session of the federation's convention here called on the organization's 6,000 members, employees of municipalities and school boards, to vote at the next provincial election for candidates pledged to repeal of the Act.

During the two-day convention delegates heard two guest speakers describe the act, passed at the last session of the B.C. legislature, as a measure aimed against organized labor.

President William Black of the B.C. Federation of Labor said Saturday the act was passed by the Social Credit government to "pay off its indebtedness to big business" and because the government "made certain commitments when it came to power."

PLANNED ATTACK

He said the measure, known originally as Bill 43, was part of a "deliberate premeditated and well-planned attack" on organized labor throughout North America.

Director R. P. Rintoul of the National Union of Public Employees said the Act is part of a trend across the country against the working man. He said members should be "wide awake" because "if these things don't directly affects us today, they could tomorrow."

The Act renders trade unions subject to suit for damages, forbids publication of no-patronage lists and makes sympathy picketing and sympathy strikes illegal.

Another resolution passed by the 85 delegates representing 40 locals across the province called on the federal government to extend its winter employment grants to include all municipal projects and cover employment of persons already on the payroll as well as extra help.

The convention was told some municipalities had to dismiss men and then rehire them in order to qualify for grants last winter.

Other resolutions passed at the close of the two-day meeting called for retirement of women employees at the same age as men—women now are retired at 55 or 60 and men at 60 or 65, depending on classification—and unemployment insurance for all public employees.

The convention approved a change in its constitution to bring its name in line with that of similar organizations in other provinces. It will be known in future as the National Union of Public Employees.

Farm Loan To Be Replaced With Long-Term Mortgage Credit

OTTAWA (CP) — The government plans to scrap the existing Canadian farm loan board established 30 years ago and replace it with a new type of long-term farm mortgage credit under Agriculture Minister Harkness. The present board is under the jurisdiction of Finance Minister Fleming.

Mr. Harkness Monday gave Parliament customary notice of legislation to establish the new credit system, incorporating provisions of the present farm loan act but adding "a new type of supervised farm mortgage credit." He said the present act would be repealed.

He gave no further details but from other sources it was understood the new legislation would provide farmers with bigger individual loans.

Under the present act, a farmer can get a maximum loan of $15,000 for a 30-year period at five per cent interest, based on 65 per cent of the appraised value of his land and buildings. One source said the individual loan may be boosted to $20,000 or more.

ASSISTED VETERANS

The veterans affairs department has maintained a "supervised" form of credit for veteran farmers for years. Under it, farmers got detailed assistance from skilled federal field supervisors.

Now the work of these technicians may be nearing an end in the veterans affairs department and they likely will be shifted to the agriculture department under the new legislation.

At present, the Canadian farm loan board makes loans taking only the value of the land and structures into consideration. With the use of field supervisors, the new organization likely will take a close look at the farmer himself and judge his farm ability and possibilities before deciding on making the loan.

Last week, the government gave notice of extending the present Farm Improvement Loans Act for another three years. This legislation provides government - guaranteed bank loans up to 10 years on livestock and machinery and other purchases to improve farms generally. Informants said the maximum individual loan under the extension will be raised to $7,500 from the present $5,000.

Reds Battle Catholics In Kerala School Issue

By RUSSELL ELMAN

TRIVANDRUM, India (CP)—Communist sympathizers and Roman Catholic youths battled with stones for 30 minutes Monday as pro - Communists tried to force open a private high school in this capital of Communist - governed Kerala state.

About 15 youths were injured—none severely—during the 30-minute battle before police arrived to break it up.

The outbreak came as the anti-Communist opposition sought to keep schools closed to protest the government's education law, which the opposition says will result in Communist control of class rooms.

POLICE SCATTER PICKETS

No one was arrested at Monday's clash, which came at the same school where state police arrested 137 Roman Catholic youths and fishermen Sunday.

Elsewhere in the city, police patrolled in strength and within minutes removed pickets demonstrating against the Education Act outside government-operated schools.

The Catholic church had closed the private high school, as part of its anti-government campaign. A group of about 20 Communists or party travellers had been reported planning to force their way into the school to open it, so 50 youths were recruited from coastal villages to camp inside the school grounds to keep it closed.

The pro - Communists broke through the gate but were pushed back by the defenders. Then the stone-throwing started. Both attackers and defenders appeared to enjoy the fight, watched by several thousand spectators.

Thirty minutes later steel-helmetted police arrived and scattered the attackers.

Gas Stations Favor Strike

TORONTO (CP) — Kenneth Langdon, managing director of the Ontario Retail Gasoline and Automotive Association, said Monday some 85 per cent of Toronto service station operators favor locking up gasoline pumps and going on strike to end a price war.

Complete results of a poll of 1,200 service station operators won't be known until Wednesday.

The association is trying to bring to an end the gasoline price war involving a number of metropolitan Toronto service stations.

Refugees May Stay In India

KATMANDU, Nepal (CP) — Prime Minister Nehru said here Sunday he does not think that 12,000 Tibetans who fled to India after the anti-Chinese revolt in March will return home "in the foreseeable future."

Speaking at a press conference at the end of a four-day visit to this Himalayan kingdom, was asked if he thought the defences of India and Nepal—both bordering on Chinese-controlled Tibet—were adequate in the light of the Tibetan development. Nehru said that if this meant any threat from China, then "I do not envisage any such threat."

Thousands of refugees fled to India after the Chinese put down the March revolt.

Davis-Horne Vows Exchanged in St. Mary's Church, Cranbrook

CRANBROOK — A number of guests from Nelson, the bridegroom's home, attended a recent wedding ceremony of widespread interest in the Kootenay in St. Mary's Church here. Baskets of white and yellow chrysanthemums ornamented the church for a double ring service uniting in marriage the former Helen Arlene Horne, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Horne of Cranbrook and Angus Ward Davis, only son of Mrs. A. W. Davis of Nelson.

Rev. J. Dulong read the service.

White taffeta fashioned the bride's gown. Given in marriage by her father, she was attended by her sisters, Miss Anne Horne of Nelson and Miss Bonnie Horne of Cranbrook as maid of honor and bridesmaid. Her floor length gown featured a floating panel of lace over the skirt, lace bodice and cap sleeves. Her fingertip veil of illusion net was held by a coronet of pearls and her bouquet was of white gardenias.

Her attendants were gowned alike in ballerina-length dresses of white organza with embroidered floral clusters. Their picture hats were blue and they carried yellow daisies tied with yellow satin ribbon.

Best man was Ken Ackert of Nelson and ushers were Marc Poulin and George Buckley, also of Nelson.

Vocal soloist Mrs. E. G. Tobey was accompanied by organist Mrs. L. Selwyn as she sang Panis Angelicus and Ave Maria.

The bride's mother was attired in a powder blue sheath with matching accessories and pink carnation corsage. Mrs. Davis wore a green figured afternoon gown with beige duster and accessories en tone. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Early summer flowers in baskets, with white streamers and wedding bells, were arranged throughout the spacious lounge of the Cranbrook Golf and Country Club where the wedding reception was held.

The bride's table, covered with a cloth crocheted by Mrs. Horne for her daughter's wedding, was centred with a three-tiered cake embedded in tulle sprinkled with violets and flanked by white tapers in silver holders.

Presiding at the tea table were the bride's great aunt, Mrs. Honeysett of Appledale, B.C., and Mrs. I. Jacobsen of Calgary. Serviteurs were Miss Tootie Little and Miss Jeanette Wiznowich of Vancouver. Miss Janice Jacobson, Miss Ann Beynon and Mrs. Andy Drobot. Miss Ann Scribner was in charge of the bride's guest book. The bridal toast was proposed by A. V. Scribner and several telegrams from Vancouver were read by the best man.

Among out of town guests were the bride's sister, Miss Anne Horne, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. A. W. Davis, of Nelson, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Paulette Davis of Trail. Others from Nelson were Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Clark and Glen, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. R. Barber and daughters, Mrs. P. L. Trainor, Miss Marie Stangherlin, Miss Janice Jacobsen, Mike McDermott, Charles DeFerro, Eugene O'Genski, Eric Buckley, George Buckley, J. S. Craig, Marc Poulin, Ken Ackert and Al Smith. Also attending were Miss Joan Carter and Bill White of Trail; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Honeysett and Mrs. R. E. Horne of Appledale, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Robinson and daughter of Creston; Mr. and Mrs. George Eccleston of Chapman Camp; Mrs. J. Jacobsen of Calgary; Miss Tootie Little and Miss Jeanette Wiznowich of Vancouver.

For a honeymoon in Washington and Idaho, the bride donned a brown suit with pink and brown accessories and corsage of pink daisies. Mr. and Mrs. Davis will reside in Nelson for the summer months and will make their home in Spokane in the fall, where the groom will resume his studies in business administration at Gonzaga University.

Women Receive Top Awards for Canadian Plays

OTTAWA (CP) — Three women have won top awards in the Ottawa Little Theatre Workshop's annual Canadian playwriting competition.

Winners, selected from 62 entries judged by Dr. W. G. Hardy of Edmonton, classics professor at the University of Alberta, were announced Friday by competition chairman Mrs. R. M. Watt of Ottawa.

Top award — the $100 Birks Award — in the one-act English language competition went to Owen Ringwood of Williams Lake, B.C., for a work titled Maya.

Mrs. Eileen Warren, West Vancouver, won the $75 Dorothy White Award with her entry, Whatever The Guise.

Third prize, the $50 Ottawa Women's University Club Award, went to Mrs. Marjorie Buckley of Edmonton for a play called Prologue.

Mrs. Watt quoted Dr. Hardy as saying that the plays in general were of high calibre and that few poor plays were entered.

STAGED IN FALL

The winning entries probably will be staged here this fall by the Little Theatre Workshop, Mrs. Watt said.

Three playwrights won special mention: Elsie Park Gowan of Edmonton for Cakes and Alumni; Philip Grayson of Toronto for No More Octobers, and Marion Passmore of Montreal for Beat Up the Rain.

Honorable mention also went to A Quiet Half Hour by Mrs. Mimi Edgell, Sannichton, B.C., and Back to the World by Anne B. Flavell, Saskatoon.

Final Sunday School Session Held at S. Slocan

SOUTH SLOCAN—Final session of St. Matthew's Anglican Sunday School honored four teen-agers who were confirmed recently.

White Bibles were presented to Irene Street, Margaret Hill and Judith Hendren, and a black Bible to John Decker. Presentations were made by Sunday school superintendent Mrs. D. James, who also expressed appreciation to the confirmed and their parents for their faithful attendance and completion as "graduates" of the Sunday school.

There were displays of various class projects of the six classes, ranging in age from three years, who learn by doing and seeing, up to 11 and 12 years.

Many parents attended the Sunday school to view results of the year's work.

Mrs. James presented small gifts to Rhoberta and Helen Sinclair, who will be moving to Trail in the near future.

Among parents attending were G. Craft, vicar's warden of the church, and people's warden B. Hammond, who announced that considerable renovation and redecoration is planned for the Sunday school hall during the summer.

Rev. Canon W. J. Silverwood, vicar of St. Matthew's, was unable to attend because of church services in Nelson.

Women of Canada Take Stand on Vital Issues at Council Meet

By PAUL GRESCOE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASAGAMING, Man. (CP) — The National Council of Women of Canada Saturday resolved to urge the Canadian government to give social services to persons who move from community to community.

Existing laws governing legal residence do not allow social service benefits to Canadians whose work causes them to travel throughout the country.

The resolution was one of four passed in a morning session during the six-day annual council meeting here.

RADIO-ACTIVE WORRY

The council also carried unanimously a resolution requesting the federal government to continue intensive effort for protection against radio active waste material used for peaceful purposes.

The Manitoba provincial council presented a resolution asking the national council to urge government listing of tranquilizers as prescription drugs. Council passed the resolution.

Another resolution from the Manitoba council described the need of ex-prisoners to collect unemployment benefits, providing they had contributed to the insurance fund before imprisonment.

The national council passed the resolution.

The National Council of Women of Canada will study the possibility of a higher achievement standard in governmental training of future applicants for Canadian citizenship.

The standard, based on training in language and citizenship, would be used for the guidance of the courts in examining applicants.

Three resolutions backing the study of art in Canadian schools were carried. They called for the appointment of art supervisors or resource teachers to local school boards and a provincial director of art education to co-ordinate the art education program within each province, and the inclusion of art lessons in regular school broadcast schedules.

The British Columbia council initiated a request passed by the national council that urged governmental control of the sale of carbon tetrachloride with labels warning of its poisonous nature.

ESKIMO AID

The national council also resolved to review the matter of federal aid to Eskimos. A resolution to be studied asks for an increase in funds, "to enable federal departments concerned to add to their administrative and field staff and equipment, so that all Eskimo communities in our far north may receive adequate help, education and counselling to meet present emergencies."

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Another resolution carried by the council stated that the organization should study the subject of capital punishment "and consider its abolition or continuation" in order to decide if the national council should assume any responsibility of leadership in the question.

Minimum security penal institutions are urgently needed in Canada, council was told by the Montreal local.

TV PROGRAMS

The Council of Women also claimed an over-abundance of western drinking scenes and plays depicting violence is shown on Canadian television screens.

The report of Mrs. Florence Bird of Ottawa, national radio and television chairman, was adopted at the annual council meeting here.

Mrs. Bird said there is "still some suspicion that television has a bad effect on adults as well as children."

Radio is regarded "with almost complete enthusiasm."

She said, however, local councils had condemned the preponderance of records on local stations.

Local councils recommended the television programs Open House, Front Page Challenge, Fighting Words, Press Conference, Father Knows Best and the Perry Como Show.

Chicago, Detroit on Heels Of League-Leading Indians

By The Associated Press

Cleveland Indians regained first place in the American League on Monday night—by .002 points over Chicago — defeating Boston Red Sox 5-1.

Detroit's third place Tigers climbed within a game and a half of the top with a 6-4 victory over Baltimore as they snapped Hoyt Wilhelm's nine-game winning streak.

Washington's last place Senators snapped a five-game losing streak, pounding out an 8-5 triumph over Kansas City.

Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees were idle.

Young Gary Bell handcuffed the Red Sox with only three hits and struck out nine as he went the distance for the Indians to register his sixth victory. Minnie Minoso, who drove across nine runs in Sunday's doubleheader sweep over Washington, batted in three more with a home run. The veteran outfielder added two singles to raise his batting average to .306. Jim Baxes and Woody Held homered for the other Cleveland runs.

SIXTH FOR INDIANS

The victory was the sixth in a row for the Indians.

The Tigers, held to two infield singles through five innings, shelled Wilhelm from the mound in the seventh inning and went on to hand the veteran kunckleball expert his first defeat. Harvey Kuenn got three of the eight hits off Wilhelm —a single, double and homer — and figured in the two Tiger rallies which finished Hoyt. Kuenn's home run, only his second of the season, was the first yielded by Wilhelm in 115 innings. Detroit's Al Kaline hit the last homer off Wilhelm Sept. 12, 1958.

Harmon Killebrew clouted his 22nd home run and Jim Lemon got his 17th to help Washington's John Romonosky gain his first victory of the year. Kansas City, shut out for eight innings, kayoed Romonosky with a five-run outburst in the ninth but the rally fell short as Bob Cerv, representing the tying run, popped up. Kent Hadley hit a homer for the A's in the ninth.

Los Angeles Dodgers, scoring all their runs in the seventh inning—three on Wally Moon's homer —blanked Milwaukee Braves 4-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Don Drysdale. Jim Gilliam doubled in the first run before Moon capped the burst against longtime Dodger tormentor Bob Buhl with his third home run of the season.

ROTARY TAKE KINSMEN

Rotary Little League ball club hammered out a 22-11 victory over Ken White's slumping Kinsmen in a league fixture Saturday. The win moved the Rotary up into second place and cut down the league-leading Kin's margin to one game.

The game featured some good hits, several nice plays and some costly errors. Blair Cooper banged out two homers, Bruce Ferguson a triple and Paul Joyce a double for the extra base hits for the Kin. For Rotary, Bobby Jeffs and Dave St. Thomas hit a homer each, Jimmy Frame hit a triple and Eddie Clem a two-bagger.

Rotary used two hurlers. Bobby Jeffs, a rookie, went the first two innings, giving up five hits, striking out four, walking one and hititng one batter. Reggie Cumiskey, a fast-balling hurler, worked the last four innings, allowing two hits while striking out six and walking three.

Pat Laughton on the mound for the losers hurled a fair game until the fifth when a couple of walks plus some errors by his teammates led to his removal. Blair Cooper, who went in, also had trouble and eventually was replaced with Larry Black, who finished out the inning. Laughton yielded seven hits, gave up four walks and struck out four. Cooper gave up two hits, walked one and struck out one. Black allowed one hit and walked three. Losing pitcher was Pat Laughton and the winner Reggie Cumiskey. Umpires were Gordon Jeffs at the plate, Trevor White at first and Don Trozzo at third.

KIWANIANS WALLOP GYROS

Kiwanis Little Leaguers shoved Gyros into the cellar as they hammered out an 18-6 win at Queen Elizabeth Park Saturday.

After a scoreless first inning, the Kiwanis exploded for ten runs in the second frame and were never in serious trouble although the Gyros came back in their half of that inning with three runs for their best effort of the game.

Better pitching was the keynote for Kiwanis as Lew Frederickson, who chucked the first five innings, scattered eight hits, walked one and hit one batter and struck out nine. Ross Tozer, working the last half of the sixth, struck out two and gave up no hits or walks.

Lanky Dave Shankland went the full route for the losing Gyros, striking out 10, walking six and hitting two and yielding 12 hits. Kiwanis' big eight extra-base hits, Brent McNabb getting a homer and a double, Bobby Ludlow a homer and a triple, Bobby Ringrose a homer, Ross Tozer a homer, and Lew Fredrickson a triple and a double. Big guns for the Gyros were Rickey Beauchamp and Marv Elliot with a triple each and Dave Shankland a double.

Winning pitcher was Lew Frederickson while Dave Shankland absorbed the loss. Umpires were Roger Florio, Harry Berekoff and Don Wah at the plate, Harry James and Derek Bennett on the bases.

LITTLE LEAGUERS SEEK OPPONENTS

Two out-of-town Babe Ruth League teams are angling for games with Nelson squads. Both Ed Clough's Slocan City team and Graham Roberts' Montrose nine want to exchange games with local teams.

Coaches interested can obtain more information from recreation director Ernie Gare.

Slocan High Wins Two on Weekend

SLOCAN CITY — Slocan City High School played host to two visiting teams over the weekend but treated them to a rough welcome.

Friday night pitcher Danny O'Neail led his team to a 6-2 victory over New Denver. A return match will be played Sunday.

Sunday the Nakusp team was trounced 7-1 by Slocan City High School, with brothers Terry and Danny O'Neail sharing mound duties.

WIFU Schedule Opens August 13

WINNIPEG (CP) — A revised 1959 schedule for the Canadian Football League's western division issued Monday by football commissioner Sydney Halter makes four changes from the schedule issued last January.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers and the British Columbia Lions will open the season Thursday, Aug. 13, instead of Friday, Aug. 14. Calgary Stampeders and the Saskatchewan Roughriders will play Aug. 14 as scheduled previously.

Saskatchewan will play the Lions at Vancouver Thursday, Aug. 20, instead of Friday, Aug. 21, as originally scheduled. The Edmonton at Winnipeg game set for Saturday, Sept. 26, will be played instead on Monday, Sept. 28. Calgary will play at Winnipeg Monday, Oct. 5, instead of Saturday, Oct. 3.

Trout Catch at Kaslo Stays Good

KASLO — Nice catches of rainbow trout are still coming into Kaslo, as the successful fishing season continues.

Last week it is estimated that between 18 and 20 rainbows weighing between four and eight pounds were brought into Kaslo.

Larger catches were made by N. Sety of Chewelah, Wash., who landed a 15-pounder; F. Simurdak of Libby, Mont., who caught 11 and 14-pounders; Henry Gallas of Trail with a 15½-pounder, a 10-pounder and a nine-pounder, and Alex Alexander, veteran devotee of Kootenay Lake fishing from Prosser, Wash., who caught seven and nine-pounders.

RAINIERS BEAT MOUNTIES TO TAKE TOP SPOT

The Pee Wee League Seattle Rainiers defeated the Vancouver Mounties 14-10 and hopped over the Mounties into first place, leaving Vancouver in a two-way tie for second spot with the fast improving Indians from Spokane.

The Phoenix Giants were downed 4-1 by Spokane in the other Pee Wee baseball fixture Saturday.

Over in Shrimp League the New York Yankees walked over the Milwaukee Braves 9-5 and thereby created a three-way tie for first place. Boston, New York and Milwaukee are currently running along with the same percentage points in the league.

NEW MARK II ZEPHYR
6-passenger 6-cylinder sedan

Room to pack up... and plenty of pickup!

Give your family—and your budget—a Zephyr-style holiday! You'll all enjoy more room, more performance than you'd ever expect in a thrifty imported car. See for yourself how six tall people ride in cushioned comfort . . . there's plenty of headroom and legroom wherever you choose to sit. Then check the trunk for luggage space . . . it takes a family-size load.

And the new Mark II Zephyr has power to spare for all types of driving. You'll enjoy the feeling of confidence you get from that smooth 6-cylinder engine . . . the easy way it eats up highway miles . . . its instant acceleration. Handling and parking are easy, too—thanks to compact design. All this, and you still drive 25 to 30 miles per gallon of gas. And, all across the country, low-cost Ford of Canada service is close at hand.

See the Zodiac, too—the Zephyr's luxurious sister car!

You'll find more choices . . . more style . . . more value . . . more fun . . . in Canada's largest line of imported cars!

Surgeon Tests Sound Waves

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A neurosurgeon at the University of Utah College of Medicine is using high frequency sound waves as a treatment for disabling emotional disturbances.

He reports encouraging results among a high percentage of the first patients treated by the promising new method.

Dr. Petter A. Lindstrom says that of 75 psychoneurotic patients treated at Salt Lake General Hospital since late 1955, at least 80 per cent have enjoyed "prolonged and gratifying improvement" without bad side effects.

Dr. Lindstrom, actress Ingrid Bergman's first husband, now is head of the division of neurosurgery in the department of surgery, University of Utah College of Medicine.

Under his system, the benefits result from an altered physiology of brain cells, rather than anatomical changes. For this reason the patient does not undergo personality changes or loss of memory, such as may occur following numerous electroshock treatments, or the old-style lobotomy involving surgical separation of the fromtal lobes from the rest of the brain.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints, each day the code letters are different.

U.S. To Exhibit New Russian Medical Devices

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two new Russian developments in medical equipment will be shown in the United States and the technical knowledge on the new devices may be imported.

This was reported Sunday night by H. James Rand, head of Rand Development Corporation here.

One device, termed by Rand "a completely new approach to suturing," uses staples to put the patient back together quickly after an operation.

The other device is a machine to put the patient to sleep electrically before an operation.

Rand said he has paid $50,000 for a nine-month option on the devices. The Russians will send technicians along with the two devices to demonstrate them in medical schools here.

$200 Million Short-Term Bond Issue Put On Sale

OTTAWA (CP) — The government Monday announced immediate offering of a new $200,000,000 short-term government bond issue —at high yields—to help finance repayment of a $500,000,000 issue maturing July 1.

Finance Minister Fleming said the new offering, split into two maturities, will complete the financing operation for the $500,000,000 repayment. This financing began with a $200,000,000 one-year treasury bill offer May 29, the government's first move into the money market since the April 9 budget.

The new short-term issue, on which Bank of Canada books will be opened at 8 p. m. EDT (6 p. m. MDT) tonight, will be split into two issues:

1. Nine-month bonds of 2¾ per cent due April 1, 196. offered at 98.00 per cent, yielding about 5.50 per cent.

2. Bonds of 17½ months, at 3 per cent, due Dec. 15, 1960, offered at 96.30 per cent and yielding 5.68 per cent.

The government's decision to continue short - term borrowing will mean a heavy job of refinancing in 1960 for it already has $385,000,000 worth of 2¾ per cent bonds due next April 1 and $515,000,000 of three per cent bonds due Dec. 15, 1960. These are in addition to the new $200,000,000 treasury bill issue due June 10 next year.

The new short-term bonds are offered immediately to investors through investment dealers and chartered banks.

Mr. Fleming said the new $200,000,000 offering will provide sufficient additional funds to cover the $500,000,000 maturity for these reasons:

Of the $500,000,000, the government itself holds $75,000,000. It will cash this amount in and not replace the bonds.

The Bank of Canada holds $38,000,000 of them and has agreed to convert them into the new issues, putting $19,000,000 into each issue.

When the government floated the $200,000,000 one-year treasury bill June 10, agreeing to accept bill June 10, agreeing to accept it got $187,000,000 in exchanges.

That left $200,000,000 worth still to be refinanced.

Your Individual HOROSCOPE

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook, is according to the stars,

For Wednesday, June 17, 1959

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Don't rely on instinct and intuition too much; concentrated thought and direct methods will work. Appearances may be deceiving; seek out the truth. Profit by past experience.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Putting off things you should do now might result in loss of valuable time, prestige. Take an interest in unfamiliar matters; they may come in unusually handy sometime. Recognize the worth of hard work.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—You born today can make outstanding advances if you think and act quickly and conclusively (though not rashly). Promptness urged. Don't put complete trust in untried schemes.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—If things are not going so well, don't be discouraged; self-pity should be avoided. Let superiors advise you on serious matters. Be relentless in pursuit of true achievement.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Take care that dreams of fame and distinction don't sidetrack you from developing personal worth and merit. Avoid the bizarre. It's time for a "down-to-earth" attitude.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Give credit where credit is due; don't forget favors or gifts bestowed on you. Lackadaisical tendencies should be exchanged for those of vigilance. Be observant.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Don't be afraid to expound your views when you believe them to be correct; but avoid arrogance and inconsistency. Be critical but not narrow-minded.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Your Mars' position, which is not so auspicious, suggests gentleness, patience, kindly understanding. All these will help to make it a pleasant as well as fruitful day and bring a better tomorrow.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Your planetary influences augur for progressive, lucrative returns generally, with unusual matters out front. Pioneer, yes, but also keep within reasonable bounds.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — You of strong character need not fear a restraining hand in some activities. Rather, let it urge you toward further advancement in matters important to your future, family needs. Saturn in good position.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Your planet Uranus, well aspected now, favors occupational tasks and the development of your talents. It should also urge you to fresh incentive, concentrated effort. Good going!

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Be watchful of health needs, the character of those with whom you associate. Day stresses caution in the handling of chemicals and liquids, and suggests that you put forth your best efforts in whatever you do.

YOU BORN TODAY have a likeable personality, are sincere, gracious, wholly honest if living true to your innate good qualities. Gemini folks have much talent for writing, acting, any career in direct contact with the public; are able racconteurs, historians. You have a fine memory and a talent for mimicry. You make excellent journalists, advertisers, promoters. Overcome a tendency to worry about family, household; it could upset everyone. Birthdate of: Chas. Gounod, French composer; Sir Wm. Crookes, chemist, physicist.

Industrialist Criticizes Welfare Benefits

OTTAWA (CP)—T. W. Kent of Montreal, former Winnipeg Free Press editor and now an industrial company official, said Monday that further extension of universal welfare services would not be a response to real Canadian welfare needs.

Specific measures would be more effective than additional universal payments to whole categories of people, he told the annual meeting of the Canadian Welfare Council.

Mr. Kent added that if politicians are not prepared to levy the necessary taxes for welfare services, "neither they nor welfare workers have any business dangling extra welfare benefits before the electorate as if they were carrots."

STILL NEED AGENCIES

He said that although new welfare projects will have to come through the state and be financed largely through taxes, there still is a need for the autonomous community agency doing specific welfare work.

The fundamental challenge to welfare in Canada came from outside the country for "exported aid" and "imported people."

To contribute to a stable world, more capital would have to be contributed for overseas development.

With mounting demands for external aid "we will continue to have more ambitious ideas about welfare policies than we have resources to carry them out."

He suggested there might be better ways to receive, educate and assist immigrants so that larger numbers may enter Canada "without any more tensions than now arise from a relatively small immigration movement."

62 Perish On Weekend

Twelve drownings were reported in Canada during the weekend as chilly weather curtailed water sports but traffic and other accidents jumped the accidental death toll to 62.

In Ontario alone, 26 persons died accidentally between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday, a Canadian Press survey showed. Quebec had 16 deaths.

British Columbia and Saskatchewan each recorded three traffic fatalities and one miscellaneous death.

Financial Experts Told Canadian Expansion Good

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian and United States financial analysts were told Monday that Canada's economic expansion should move ahead at a faster rate than that of the U.S. after 1960.

Hardwick Stires, chairman of the Committee of Canadian Investment Companies, said this expansion would be spurred by population growth and increasing opportunities for both external and internal economic development.

Mr. Stires spoke at the convention of the National Federation of Financial Analysts Societies.

Text of his remarks was issued to the press in advance of delivery.

He expressed confidence that "as the economies of the world grow, the position of Canada in world trade will be maintained." However, foreign trade through the years "will become less important to the Canadian economy but this will result more from Canada's greater internal growth rather than from adverse external developments."

Mr. Stires is president of Sudder Fund of Canada, Ltd., first of eight publicly-held registered Canadian investment companies formed since June 14, 1954, to enable U.S. investors to participate in diversified mutual-fund investments in Canadian enterprises.

He said these eight Canadian mutual funds now have built up their Canadian portfolio investments to total net assets of approximately $410,000,000. These assets, he said, are managed in behalf of 129,000 U.S. shareholders.

Underlying forces bearing on supply and demand for stocks had recently been more conducive to rising stock valuations in the U.S. than in Canada. For example, institutional demand for common stocks had had a much greater impact upon security prices in the U.S. than in Canada and the supply of new common stocks had been relatively greater in Canada.

Growth in institutional demand for Canadian securities would probably follow the pattern of U.S. growth.

New industrial developments not economically feasible before in Canada now are under way, said Mr. Stires. Problems arising in Canada as the result of foreign direct investment are "problems of detail rather than principle."

Sightseers Flock To View Yacht

SYDNEY (CP) — One of the best-known ships in the world, the royal yacht Britannia was an attraction for hundreds of sightseers at the nearby Point Edward naval base Monday.

The blue and white vessel docked here at 5:30 p.m. ADT Sunday after a rough Atlantic crossing. Sightseeing boats, the RCMP cutter Burin and a fire boat from the United States naval base at Argentia, Nfld., escorted the yacht to her berth.

She will lead a flotilla of ships at the official opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway. The yacht will remain here until Thursday to take on fuel and provisions before sailing to Sept Isles, Que., where Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip will go aboard.

A Royal Marine band in full-dress blues played The Scottish Emblem, favorite marching song of the Queen and Queen Mother, as the yacht docked.

Seamen coming ashore from the yacht were easily distinguished from Canadian sailors by white running shoes, white instead of red arm flashes and capbands bearing the inscription "Royal Yacht."

Base superintendent Cmdr. James Steele went aboard to welcome the ship's skipper, Rear-Admiral Peter Dawnay.

Fifteen ratings and two officers of the Royal Canadian Navy were among the crew. In addition. 29 Royal Marines, made up of 19 bandsmen, four drummers and buglers and six orderlies were aboard.

Duke Ellington Starts Career In Movie Score

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Here's something new in movie scores —one composed by Duke Ellington and played by his famous band.

Background music has featured ballads (High Noon), choruses (Lady in the Lake), jazz (I Want to Live) and zithers (The Third Man). Always searching for something new, producer-director Otto Preminger assigned the Duke to compose and play a jazz score for Anatomy of a Murder.

It was a swift job. The film was completed on location in Michigan a month ago. It is being previewed this week, Ellington and his band recorded the score in three days, while normal films require weeks.

I caught up with the jazz great on his final day here and found him stimulated by the experience.

"It's a real thrill to explore another facet of a career," he said. "I had never done anything like this.

DUET WITH STEWART

"I read the script in January and ideas started coming to me. Then I visited the company in Michigan for three weeks and that's when I began to get the feel of it. I even acted the role of a roadhouse operator and jazz man and James Stewart and I played a duet on the piano.

"The score runs the gamut, from Dixieland on up the scale—yes, even some progressive. I used only my band for the recording."

The Duke is 60, but he appears unchanged from the days when he was bringing sophistication to jazz. His secret seems to be activity, for he is leading the same strenuous life as in the early days of his band.

"I pay rent on an apartment in New York, but I seldom see it," he said. "We're working 52 weeks a year.

"I like it that way. Supposing I worked only six months a year. Then I'd have to reorganize the band. I'd have new players and I wouldn't know their capabilities. The way it is now, I know what each man can do."

Alberta History Lives Through Colorful Names

CALGARY (CP)—The history of all Alberta can be read in the names passed on by Indians, pioneers, ranchers, railroad men, police and postmasters.

Unusual happenings are the root of many a town or river name. Committee Punch Bowl Lake for instance, a tiny lake at the summit of the Athabasca Pass, was named by old fur traders who used the spot to drink a toast to the Hudson's Bay Company.

Marlin Lake in Banff National Park is named after the legendary magician. Wizard Lake, south of Edmonton, is close to Conjuring Creek.

OLD DUNKING

Bath Creek, which feeds the Bow River, got its name back in 1881 when a Canadian Pacific Railway engineer was thrown from his horse and given a sudden bath.

Pincher Creek in southern Alberta originally was known by the Indian name of Little Spitzee but was renamed after a trader lost a valuable pair of pinchers there in the 1860s.

The village of Mirror, west of Lacombe, was named after a London newspaper, The Daily Mirror, and the post office of Bingville near Medicine Hat was named from an old comic strip.

East of Coutts is the town of Aden, named by a postmaster after the Arabian seaport. Harmattan in the Didsbury district was named after the hot, dry winds which blow on the African coast.

INDIAN NEGATIVE

Kahwin, a post office in the Smoky Lake area, recalls the violent opposition of the non-Slavik residents to a suggestion that it be given the Russian name of Ostaskik. Kahwin in the Sioux language means no.

Bruderheim, east of Fort Saskatchewan, is the German name for "brethren's home," and the Ukrainian settlement of Myrnam is named for a Russian term meaning "peace to us."

Seven Persons near Medicine Hat is believed to have been named by early settlers after a small camp of seven people who were slain by Indian raiders.

Deadhorse Coulee near Milk River marks the spot where 40 police horses starved while being driven to winter pasture, and Bullpound Creek which flows into the Red Deer River southeast of Drumheller marks the site of a Blackfoot Indian buffalo slaughter.

Some of the better-known Indian names are Athabasca—Cree for "place of reeds"—and Wetaskiwin, named after the nearby Peace Hills which the Indians called Witaskioo Chakatinow. It was in these hills that the Crees made their peace with the Blackfoot tribe.

Peace Point in Alberta's north is the place where the Crees signed a peace treaty with the Beaver Indians, and it has given its name to the town of Peace River and the whole Peace River region.

Tour Official Pooh-Poohs Paper Comments

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—R. C. MacInnes, chief information officer for the Royal Tour said Monday he does not think there is much substance to a report by a British newspaper of a Canadian "conspiracy" to present the Queen as an unwanted mother-in-law.

"I personally haven't seen any lack of enthusiasm for the Royal Tour," Mr. MacInnes said. "It seems the other way around.

"In my opinion there is not much substance to it all."

The London newspaper The People, a mass circulation Sunday publication, said there is "open hostility" in Canada to the Royal Tour "and even to the Queen herself . . ."

Hikers of All Ages Take Carmi Trail

CARMI, B.C. (CP) — Fifty-two Penticton residents, showing anything but fatigue, arrived here Sunday afternoon after a 13-mile trip on foot over the old Carmi Trail.

The hike to this community 32 miles East of Penticton was promoted by the Penticton Junior Chamber of Commerce to publicize the need for a road linking Penticton with the Carmi-Beaverdell area. It began at 8 a.m.

Jeeps transported the group about 19 miles to the jumping-off point and the hikers arrived here at 5 p.m., 7½ hours after leaving the jeeps.

Included among the hikers were seven women, one of them 65, and two boys, aged nine and 10.

A number of Carmi and Beaverdell residents were on hand to greet the hikers at Carmi after which they were taken by bus five miles to Beaverdell. There they were treated to a reception and lunch by Highland Bell Mine.

Mine manager Orton Perry of Beaverdell and Doug Hunter of Carmi were prominent at the Carmi-Beaverdell end in promoting the hike.

Residents of this area have advocated for years a road link with Penticton.

Surgical Supplies' Firms Accused of Price Fixing

OTTAWA (CP) — The restrictive trade practices commission said Monday price fixing was practised by two manufacturers of surgical supplies, one Canadian and one American.

The report made public by Justice Minister Fulton said Bard-Parker Company of Danbury, Conn., which manufactures surgical blades and other products, employed a contract system "intended to secure resale price maintenance." The system "cannot be regarded as inoffensive" under the combines investigation act.

It said further that Sterling Rubber Company of Guelph, Ont. which makes surgeons' gloves, attempted to induce dealers to sell its products not below its suggested resale prices on threat of termination of dealership or delays in filling orders.

Mr. Fulton said in releasing the report that "the usual consideration will be given to the question of what further steps ought to be taken."

The report made no recommendations, although it suggested at one point that the combines act is lacking in that "relating to resale price maintenance (it) makes no distinction in the matter of liability between a principal and an agent, when the latter is a dealer within the meaning of the section."

The question arose during the inquiry of whether Cooper Campbell of Toronto, Bard-Parker Canadian agent, could be considered a dealer, defined in the act as "a person engaged in the business of manufacturing or supplying or selling any article or commodity."

The investigation of Sterling Rubber followed complaints that it refused orders for or delayed delivery of gloves to Hyman Surgical Supply Limited, Winnipeg; Sterling Surgical Supply Company, Edmonton; Gilbert Surgical Company, Toronto; Imperial Surgical Company, Winnipeg; Allen and Hanburys Company, Toronto.

Purpose of what the company called its "education program" was to reduce price cutting by its dealers. It submitted that dealers push sales of higher-priced foreign makes of gloves when Sterling gloves are reduced by price competition.

The commission said Sterling can put gloves on the Canadian market more cheaply than can foreign producers, partly because of a 20- to 25-per-cent import tariff on foreign makes, and this advantage "should suffice to overcome the unfavorable reaction on the part of distributors alleged to result from instances of price cutting."

Odds . . . and Ends

. . . by M. D. B.

Well, I lost that bet. Mr. Cone's water lily is blooming and my buds haven't shown above the water yet. But that's the way it goes, everything in my garden is later than in other gardens. My tulips are only in the last stages of blooming and are dropping their petals while other gardens have long since seen the last of them.

* * *

Well, let Mr. Cone lord it over me on the water lilies. I was fortunate to have a little ammunition of my own—I have a water iris blooming—a delicate mauve bloom and two more promising. When I put them in the pool this year for the third time I said to myself, "Oh, well, their long slender leaves look nice in the pool," for I had given up on their ever blooming. So it was with great joy that I hailed this lovely flower on its slender stalk among its green rapiers of leaves—and the water lilies will come.

* * *

And another thing, Frog is back. Well, I guess that isn't quite right, for frog was a big fat fellow and this is just a little one. The other night when I stepped into the garden there was a resounding plop in the pool. Next day I went out to give him a welcome home and there was that little fellow sitting on the edge of the pool among the mauve alyssum. Last summer at odd times two small frogs had happened by to stay for a day or two and perhaps this is one of them returned. At any rate I am pleased to see him for frogs do help to keep down insects.

BANK OFFERS NEW FINANCE LOAN

MONTREAL (CP) — The Bank of Montreal, in a move designed to bring it into closer competition with finance companies, has announced a new consumer - finance loan at six per cent annual interest.

In a statement announcing the new loan plan — to go into effect at all offices immediately — president G. Arnold Hart said the interest would apply to the actual outstanding balance and payments would be made once a month. Although there is a charge to cover processing and service, "the overall cost to the customer . . . is lower than generally prevails for consumer-financing in Canada".

Announcing the NEW
BANK OF MONTREAL
Family Finance Plan
Bring all your personal credit needs under one roof with a low-cost B of M life-insured loan

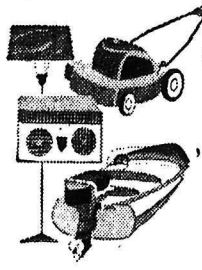
Here is the modern approach to finance the things you want to buy for your home and family . . . to take care of expenses for school, college, vacation and so on . . . and, of course, to meet emergencies.

The Bank of Montreal Family Finance Plan enables you to plan your purchases and helps you meet unexpected expenses under one single comprehensive plan.

Here are four good reasons why — whether single or married — you should use the Bank of Montreal Family Finance Plan . . .

"MY BANK" TO 2 MILLION CANADIANS B of M



1. All loans are automatically life-insured. Should you die before your loan is repaid, your debt to the Bank will be cancelled.
2. Monthly repayments can be extended up to two years — or even three, if need be. This means that FFP can be tailored to suit any salary.
3. You can borrow up to $3,500, depending on your income, to buy the things you want for your home and family, or to meet emergencies.
4. Planned repayments help you run your income — instead of letting it run you.

If you have a steady income and can make monthly loan-repayments without hardship, you can finance almost any useful purpose through the Bank of Montreal Family Finance Plan. Why not talk to the people at your neighbourhood B of M branch . . . you'll like their helpful attitude. Whether you are a B of M customer or not, you will find a warm welcome.
