Canada Proposal Wins Unanimous Support

IKE AND MAMIE — President and Mrs. Eisenhower are shown outside the presidential headquarters at the Augusta National Golf Club Nov. 14 as the chief executive and first lady posed for photographers on her 63rd birthday. Later a dinner party was held for very close friends. The president wore his green National Golf Club jacket.—AP Wirephoto.

Truman To Travel With Ike?

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A White House spokesman said Tuesday President Eisenhower has under consideration a suggestion that he invite former president Harry Truman to accompany him on his 11-nation overseas trip.

Wayne Hawks, acting White House press secretary, was asked at a press conference whether Eisenhower has under advisement the matter of asking his predecessor to go along on the trip starting Dec. 3, as Democratic Senator Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut has urged.

"He has it under consideration, yes," Hawks replied.

Battle of Behemoths

OTTAWA (CP)—A weird battle between two men on bulldozers was described Tuesday in magistrate's court.

John Susin, 29, mounted on a 40-ton machine, duelled with Raymond Clement, on a 15-ton bulldozer, over possession of a pile of sand July 30 at a road construction site in west end Ottawa.

"This is the strangest case I have dealt with in my 19 years on the bench," said Magistrate Joachim Sauve after convicting the operator of the larger machine of deliberately causing property damage. Susin was remanded to Nov. 23 for sentence.

Susin was working on storm sewer installation and Clement, of a rival construction company, was grading the road surface when the argument broke out.

After the verbal exchange, the tangle of the titans began with the iron monsters manoeuvring and charging like angry armored bulls.

Susin slammed his 40-tonner into the side of Clement's machine. Clement backed off, then pressed home a brief advantage into Susin's mount. There was a fierce interchange of smashing blades and grinding treads until weight began to assert itself.

As Susin's charger took command, Clement said he was forced to "jump for my life" as his mount was rolled unceremoniously into a ditch. He escaped unhurt.

Calls for Sampling of Air, Soil, Food, Water for Radiation Taint

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada's proposal for a global study on atomic radiation received unanimous approval in the 14th General Assembly of the United Nations Tuesday.

Assembly President Victor A. Belaunde of Peru declared the vote unanimous on a show of hands after 14 countries—from both sides of the Iron Curtain—spoke in support of the resolution co-sponsored by 11 countries.

The vote in the 82-member assembly was 78 in favor, none against and no abstentions, four delegations—apparently caught by surprise when the vote was called—being absent.

External Affairs Minister Howard Green termed the vote "particularly gratifying" since by its across-the-board nature it indicated that all other members of the UN took the same serious view of the radiation problem as Canada.

SPOKE IN FAVOR

Britain, the United States, France and the Soviet Union all spoke in favor of the resolution, which calls for sampling and analysis of air, water, soil and food on a standardized basis all over the world to determine the hazards of radiation.

Communist Czechoslovakia was a co-sponsor of the proposal, along with Argentina, Austria, Ghana, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Mexico, New Zealand and Norway.

In introducing the resolution, Green reiterated Canada's offer to receive from other states radiation samples collected according to methods recommended by the UN scientific committee on the effects of radiation.

At least three other countries—the U. S., Japan and Norway—have already offered to utilize their laboratory facilities to help other countries. Similar offers were expected from other nations. Said Green:

"If other governments indicate their readiness to participate in such a co-operative program of collection and analysis, the Canadian government as an initial offer is prepared to receive and analyze on a regular basis samples of air, water, soil and food from 20 to 25 foreign sampling stations in each category.

"Once it is known that others are prepared to co - operate in such a program, these analyses could be undertaken within the space of the few months required to expand existing Canadian laboratory facilities and analytical staff."

Green said earlier Canada is ready to spend nearly $500,000 to get the plan working.

The resolution is designed to encourage genetic and biological studies of the effects of exposure to radiation, including the physical and biological problems concerned with carbon-14, a product of fallout which "remains radioactive for centuries."

Russian Ambassador Arkady Sobolev and Czechoslovakia's Jiri Nosek both stressed the need of ending nuclear tests "forever and universally."

Czechoslovakia had earlier introduced a resolution of its own—as had Canada—and Tuesday's resolution was what an Australian spokesmn termed a "composite" of the two.

The report of the UN scientific committee showed, said Nosek, that nuclear weapons testing produced more harmful effects than had originally been assumed and this posed "enormous danger to the health of mankind."

UNANIMOUS CONCLUSION

Sobolev said that prominent scientists of the 14 countries on the committee had come to the unanimous conclusion that the radioactive pollution of man's environment produced ever-increasing world levels of radiation and that this was linked to new and, to a great extent, still unknown dangers.

Diplomats attached considerable importance to the unanimous reaction to the Canadian proposal, since it was inevitably linked with disarmament although specifically described as an issue apart from the cold war by Green on numerous occasions.

Cold Shows Signs Of Moderating

By The Canadian Press

The icy cold that has covered most of Canada for the last few days wil moderate gradually, the weather office said Tuesday.

But a continuation of the high winds that have whipped snow across the Prairies and hampered Great Lakes shipping will keep some of the warmth from being felt.

The weather office in Toronto said the cold will take its biggest bite out of Ontario early today with temperatures dropping to 10 or 15 above in the south, five below in the Sudbury-North Bay region, and 20 below at White River. There will be some snowflurries with most of the snow falling along the north shore of Lake Huron.

On the Prairies, warmth seeped into the foothills of Alberta Tuesday with temperatures rising to the 30s. Further moderation is expected today. Strong winds blew in southern Alberta, particularly in the Lethbridge region. The milder air was accompanied by a few snowflurries.

Cold still hung over Saskatchewan and Manitoba after record lows were set during the weekend.

Mikoyan Hints Khrushchev Interested in Canada Visit

By DAL WARRINGTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan of Russia flew here from Moscow Tuesday for an overnight visit en route to Mexico. He hinted he might like to see more of Canada in the future.

He also threw a hint that Premier Khrushchev might visit Canada if the government invites him.

Mr. Khrushchev's right - hand man seemed in a jovial mood as he stepped from a Soviet airliner at Shearwater Airport. He was greeted by Fisheries Minister Angus MacLean for the federal government, Premier Robert L. Stanfield of Nova Scotia and Dr. Amazasp Aroutunian, the Soviet ambassador to Canada.

He quipped with reporters who questioned him and waved his black homburg to a crowd of about 100.

MAYBE ANOTHER VISIT

"In the future anything can happen," he said when asked if he would visit other parts of Canada sometime. But he added that he may stop in this country again on his way home from Mexico, where he will open a Soviet trade fair.

On a possible Canadian tour by Premier Khrushchev, he said, "Mr. Khrushchev is a very mobile person and he likes to travel."

He told reporters through an interpreter that there is no special significance in the choice of Halifax for a stopover on the Moscow-Mexico flight. That had been decided by the captain of the aircraft—a four-engine Turboprop Ilyushin - 18 of the Soviet Aeroflot Airline.

A party of 27, including trade officials and Russian reporters, accompanied Mr. Mikoyan. They stopped for two hours at Keflavik Iceland, en route.

TALKED FREELY

The deputy premier talked freely about bomb tests and trade. But he hedged on policy matters. He reiterated the Soviet view that nuclear tests should be banned.

"We have plainly stated that we are not going to resume the tests if other powers do not. I hope it will be possible to ban the tests completely.

"I know Mr. Macmillan (the British prime minister) has expressed his views on this subject. I understand the United States is not likely to resume the tests but undoubtedly there is some opposition to this course . . .

"Public opinion demands that the tests be stopped."

Mr. Mikoyan said he thinks there are prospects for increasing trade between Canada and the Soviet Union but some difficulties have to be solved first.

Anti-Communist Trend Seen

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Sudbury's nickel workers voted in strength Tuesday in a trend taken as favorable to anti-Communist union leaders bucking the animosity of the national headquarters of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.). But both sides expressed confidence.

The climax of a bitterly-fought campaign for control of Local 598, at 16,000 members the largest single unit in Canadian labor, began with early balloting Tuesday. Voting ended at 7 p.m. and ballot boxes under police guard were being whisked to union headquarters for an all-night job of tabulation before the result is made known, probably about noon today.

Observers said that in any election in the turbulent 15-year history of the local a vote exceeding 8000 has always spelled trouble for the old guard faction supported by the Red-tinged national executive. A strict watch was being kept for any attempt to vote more than once — not an unknown practice here.

Ginger Beer Gardens Planned

BRISBANE (Reuters) — The Methodist Church plans to establish ginger beer gardens in Brisbane in a bid to entice young people away from liquor.

The director of the church's young people's department, Rev. I. W. Alcorn, said the gardens will serve soft drinks and cordials and supply floor shows with good, clean humor.

"I have some of the best comedians in Brisbane willing to take part in the floor shows," he said.

He added that the gardens will have all the bright lights and trappings of the regular night clubs.

Oakalla Prison Guard Murdered

Suspect Held After Fatal Shooting; Police Dogs Aid in Bush Search

PORT COQUITLAM, B.C. (CP)—An Oakalla prison guard was blasted to death with a dum-dum bullet from a heavy rifle at his home here Monday night.

A suspect in the slaying, picked up in the woods near the scene after a night-time search, was remanded to the same prison on a charge of murder.

The body of Harold Cordoni, 24, was discovered by his sister, his estranged wife Peggy, 26, and two friends.

They arrived home before midnight to be greeted by the Cordoni children, Gene, 4, and Lloyd, 3. The children, dressed in pyjamas, told them: "Daddy's been hurt by a firecracker."

Cordoni's body was found on the kitchen floor, his arm almost torn away by the force of two soft-headed bullets from a .30-06 rifle. Dum - dum bullets expand when they strike and are used for hunting.

Cordoni was still dressed in the uniform he wore a few hours earlier in his job as prison guard.

Police arrested Garth Robert Allison, 30, a logger from Port Coquitlam, after a suspect was spotted hiding in the bushes near the house. It took a three-hour search with police dogs before Allison was arrested. Police said a rifle was recovered.

MADE NO PLEA

Allison was remanded without plea until Nov. 26. His wife, Phyllis, was with Mrs. Cordoni when the body was found.

RCMP in this Vancouver suburb said Cordoni was apparently taken by surprise. They gave no hint of possible motive.

Bernice Proctor, 17 - year - old baby-sitter, said she left the Cordoni home about 11 p. m., shortly after Cordoni arrived home from work.

"He made some joke about being afraid of someone and not wanting to sit with his back to a door," Miss Proctor said. "But I'm sure it was just a joke."

However, neighbors said they heard Cordoni being threatened by a man earlier in the day.

Mrs. Cordoni, separated from her husband three weeks ago, collapsed when informed of his death and was taken to hospital in New Westminster for treatment of severe shock.

Churchill Under The Weather

LONDON (CP) — Sir Winston Churchill was seized Tuesday night in another bout with his old chest trouble. He is two weeks short of his 85th birthday.

Friends and family alike insisted that his illness is not serious. But it sent him to bed Tuesday and forced him to cancel a meeting with West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer who is visiting London.

Belleville Has Added Trouble

Macmillan Firm In Talks With Adenauer

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer began talks Tuesday to settle their differences. But the signs were that Britain was standing firm on her main political dispute with West Germany.

Flanked by advisers, the Allied leaders conferred at Macmillan's residence five hours after Adenauer's plane landed.

About 1,300 Londoners witnessed the chancellor's arrival in virtual silence. There were no flags, no flowers, no fuss. But there were warm handshakes from Macmillan and other government ministers.

As the talks began one new possibility was reported by informed diplomats. Macmillan and Adenauer may discuss the future of Alfried Krupp's giant coal-steel empire in West Germany.

1953 AGREEMENT

Under a 1953 allied agreement Krupp was ordered to divest himself of 74 per cent of his holdings. This was to ensure against the resurrection of a combine that had helped build Hitler's war machine.

An American-British - French-West German commission is weighing whether to grant a request by Adenauer that Krupp be allowed to keep his multi-billion-dollar interests.

The United States seems to share Adenauer's belief that an enforced sell-out by Krupp would dislocate European economy to the Allied disadvantage.

Another development was the announcement that illness forced Sir Winston Churchill to cancel an appointment with the chancellor.

British and West German spokesmen said Macmillan and Adenauer ranged over three main topics:

1. The timing and agenda for an East-West summit conference. Macmillan wants an early meeting with an interim agreement on Berlin as the top item. Adenauer wants to go slow on a summit meeting and is fearful of any deal with the Russians on Berlin.

2. Economics. Both men apparently agreed on the need for links between the "outer seven" economic group in Europe led by Britain and the "inner six" Common Market led by France and West Germany.

3. Disarmament. Adenauer pressed his case for making this the main subject of summit negotiations with Russia.

A British foreign office spokesman described the atmosphere as "frank and intimate."

B.C. Cranberry Stocks Okay

VANCOUVER (CP) —Samples of all stocks of cranberries sold in Alberta and B. C. have been found entirely free from the weed killer aminotriazole, H. O. Tomlinson, regional director of the food and drugs division of the national department of health and welfare, said Tuesday.

However, he said, examination for the weed killer, which has been known to cause cancer in rats, will continue as new stocks arrive from the United States.

Building Permits Show Decline

OTTAWA (CP) — An August-to-September drop of 5.5 per cent in the value of building permits issued by Canadian municipalities was reported Tuesday by the bureau of statistics.

September's total of $231,314,000 was down by $13,534,000 from the month previous, but still 4.4 per cent higher than the September, 1958, values totalling $221,990,000.

Motorists Warned Of "Black Ice"

VICTORIA (CP) — Highways Minister Gaglardi warned British Columbia motorists Monday that icing conditions are bad on a number of roads and asked them to be careful.

He said in an interview that motorists should watch out particularly for "black ice" which is often hidden. It occurs when rapid weather changes cause rain or melting snow to form on black-top, especially in shaded places.

MORPETH, England (Reuters)—Sixteen cows Monday were back on a grass and water diet after a lost weekend.

They had spent the weekend falling all over the place on the Potts farm here.

Each time farmhands helped them up they staggered off blissfully to the feeding trough.

Finally, the source of their "hooch" was found—too much barley meal in their feed.

It fermented in their stomachs and produced a liquor strong enough to fell a steer, or at least a cow.

He can't keep the treasure, though, and must try to find the owner. But he wasn't too excited to forget to bag his fox and collect a 45-kroner ($6.42) bounty.

Hospital Board Backs Rail Service Action

The Board of Directors of Kootenay Lake General Hospital Tuesday night endorsed the actions of Nelson Chamber of Commerce in seeking improvement of rail service to and from the city.

The directors agreed to write the Board of Transport Commissioners urging no further adjournment in the board hearing into rail transportation.

The decision was reached following the reading of a copy of a letter to Transport Minister Hees from the freight and transportation committee of the chamber pressing for a decision on the hearing in Nelson last summer.

A board member who asked not to be quoted said it was his opinion that no concern should be asked to operate at a loss and pointed out this was the situation with the Canadian Pacific Railway service from Nelson to Vancouver.

J. H. Coventry, board member and chairman of the chamber's committee, said the railway has never provided a good service for residents of the area and maintained that improved service on the Nelson to Lethbridge run has resulted in a 50 percent increase in patronage.

"The hospital and the medical profession should be very much concerned, having in mind getting patients and supplies to and from Vancouver in an emergency," Mr. Coventry said.

He claimed to have frequently seen stretcher cases coming off the baggage compartment of the dayliner at Nelson. In seeking support of the committee's action, Mr. Coventry pointed out that there has been no air service into Castlegar in the last week.

"The railway has had the monopoly for years; they owe a debt to Canada. We're entitled to a decent service," he said.

The committee chairman said it is important to impress on the transport commissioners that the hearing must not be "a flash in the pan."

More than 10 miles of construction have been completed and work on a 7.45-mile section is under way on the Creston side. Completion of the 10.6-mile stretch on which tenders are being called will leave about 13 miles of construction.

Tenders were also called recently for erection of a bridge over Summit Creek.

Kootenay Courts Group Would Hold Lake Level To Help Growth

Roger J Gagne of Nelson was reelected president of the Kootenay Courts and Resorts Association at the annual meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in Nelson recently.

B. B. Clark of Nelson was reelected secretary-treasurer.

A resolution asked that the Kootenay Lake level be held at the six-foot level to help maintain water plant life required by young growing fish to maintain vigorous growth.

Present agreement allowing the lake to be lowered to the six-foot level, then raised to the six-foot at a time of year when the water plants are blooming and seeding caused the plants to die, the resolution said.

Another resolution said closing of the lake from Feb. 1 to April 15 had shown that fishing in the south end did not affect the Lardeau spawning, as spawning fish were caught in the north end of the lake after the season opened. It asked that the south end of the lake be left open all year.

Stocking of creeks in the Slocan and Arrow Lakes district and specifically the Slewiskin and Kuskanax creeks, near Nakusp, was asked.

The Highways Department was asked to act promptly in bringing Highway No. 6 from Vernon to Nakusp up to at least minimum standards.

SEEK FINANCIAL AID

The Auto Courts and Resorts Association is to be asked to pursue requests for financial assistance to Hotel-Motel and Resorts by writing directly to Hon. Alvin Hamilton, minister of northern affairs and natural resources. If results are not obtained, all allied association of the tourist industry will be "enlisted to make a direct appeal and drive to get action."

During discussion, need for a nationwide plan of financial assistance by the federal government to aid the small businessman in business development was emphasized by speakers. Aid of chambers of commerce and boards of trade to have federal legislation passed enabling loans to be made for the assistance of small operators should be enlisted, and support given to Mr. Hamilton at Ottawa.

Another resolution urges that all trucks travelling at night be required to conform to laws pertaining to mufflers.

Game-Loaded Truck Crashes Down Bank

A load of deer and elk shot in the East Kootenay and being transported in a half-ton truck was strewn about the landscape when the truck plunged off the road at Crawford Bay and rolled 175 feet down the embankment Tuesday.

The two men riding in the vehicle were not hurt, but the truck, which was insured, was reported a total wreck. The accident was blamed on slippery road conditions.

The two men were part of a six-man hunting party which shot four deer and two elk in the Bull River area near Cranbrook. The other hunters were in a car following the truck.

The six men are Don Roland, Charles LeBlanc and his brother Pete, Tom Chamberlin, Bob Wood and Bill Stringer, all of Lumby, B.C.

A wrecker sent out from Nelson required six hours to pull the truck back onto the road. Previously, the scattered game was winched back onto the road and loaded onto the retrieved truck which was towed into Nelson last night.

The six hunters will transport the deer and elk by trailer to Lumby.

Mom Whyte In Okanagan For Winter

WEST SUMMERLAND, B.C. (CP) — Mrs. Bertha (Mom) Whyte, ordered to close a children's home in Ontario, and recently negotiating for a similar home near Nelson, B.C., may find winter quarters near this Okanagan centre.

Mrs. Whyte said here Tuesday 12 adult helpers and 15 children will take up residence in a lonely old folks' home on the side of Giant's Head mountain, known as Mountain View.

Mrs. Whyte said her brood will leave the closed home in Bowmanville, Ont., Saturday for British Columbia.

The property near Nelson, will be available if Mrs. Whyte leaves Mountain View in the spring.

Mrs. Whyte, her staff and the children will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. K. V. Hlavac, who operate Mountain View.

"Whether we will take over the operation of Mountain View, will depend on whether Mr. and Mrs. Hlavac decide to leave to take up foreign missionary work," said Mrs. Whyte.

Mrs. Whyte, who is leaving for Winnipeg Thursday to meet her car caravan from Bowmanville, said British Columbia's welfare minister Eric Martin had been "most kind" in recent talks with her.

Nancy Brown, a United States resident, was fined $10 after she pleaded guilty to driving without a licence and on the wrong side of the road in city police court Monday.

A $25 fine was levied against T. G. Pollard of Argenta Monday, charged with driving without due care and attention. Pollard pleaded guilty before Magistrate R. S. Nelson.

New Interceptors Needed, Says Chief

OTTAWA (CP)—Gen. Lawrence Kuter, commander-in-chief of the North American Air Defence Command, said Tuesday new Cahadian manned interceptors are needed in the air defence system "at an early date."

The U.S. Air Force general, who took over command of NORAD Sept. 1, said that now is the time for the Canadian government to make plans for replacement of the subsonic RCAF CF-100 jet interceptor which would be "obsolete in a few years."

J. A. MacMillan, Railroader, Dies at Nelson

A railroader of about 45 years standing, John Alfred MacMillan, 77, died in Kootenay Lake General Hospital Tuesday.

Mr. MacMillan had made his home at Kelowna for the past eight months, and was visiting here en route to Minnesota and Florida. At Nelson he visited Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Paterson, 919 Carbonate Street.

Chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, he had been retired for 13 years. He worked in many parts of British Columbia, including Revelstoke, Kamloops, Vancouver and Nelson, and towards the end of his career was engineer on trains Nos. 11 and 12 on the Canadian Pacific Railway Kettle Valley line.

His home was in Nelson for 35 years, and he had lived in British Columbia for 50 years.

Survivors are four daughters, Mrs. Leo Winters (Maynie), Vancouver; Mrs. C. Beaton (Ruth), Kelowna; Miss Alice MacMillan, Decatur, Georgia; Mrs. Charles Bennett (Naomi), Westview, B.C.; one sister, Mrs. Alice Wilson, Vancouver; one brother, Howard MacMillan, Daytona, Florida; eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

New Party Not Likely to Succeed, Says CCF Member

TRAIL — A CCF member of the legislature says it is unlikely the "ill-conceived" creation by the CCF and the Canadian Congress of Labor will succeed.

Cedric Cox of Burnaby said in an interview Monday the proposal is doing untold harm to the cause of socialism in Canada and at least 40 per cent of British Columbia CCF members oppose it.

"The only reason for this new party is that a lot of labor men are looking around for new ways to exercise some power."

Buying Policy For Hospital To Be Studied

A committee to recommend on "purchasing policy" for the Kootenay Lake General Hospital was set up by the hospital board at a regular meeting Tuesday night.

The action followed a question by H. J. Witchell concerning meat purchases amounting to some $1200 a month. He expressed the opinion that all meat dealers should be given a share of the business.

After it was pointed out that one dealer had supplied the needs, Mayor T. S. Shorthouse suggested the hospital could compile its weekly order from dealers' distributed price lists.

R. H. Procter pointed out that the dietary department had been operating within the budget. He said that when shipments began coming from Edmonton and Calgary, the hospital had changed from its rotation system of meat buying. Most hospital purchasing was well distributed as the accounts payable report showed.

Upon a request from Dr. H. H. Smythe, the board agreed to study the hiring of an orderly to assist in the operating room, but pointed out its budget position made the move unlikely.

MINORS FINED FOR POSSESSION

Friday the 13th, proved to be unlucky for two Nelson youths when they were picked up by police on charges of possession of liquor while being minors.

William B. Abbot was stopped by city police as he walked along Vernon Street carrying a half case of beer.

Joseph Mock, another Nelson youth, was stopped by police as he drove his vehicle through town.

Police said they found four full bottles, one partially full and one empty bottle of beer in the car. A friend riding with Mock was not charged as he was not found to have any of the beer in his possession. Both youths pleaded guilty and were each fined $25 and costs by Magistrate R. S. Nelson in City Police Court.

$1000 Donation to Hospital Planned by WA, Board Told

A $1000 donation from the Women's Auxiliary to the Kootenay Lake General Hospital will be made in the near future.

Mrs. H. E. Doelle informed the hospital board through a monthly report read Tuesday that the money will be turned over to her next Friday for presentation to the board.

She said that about $175 was made from the annual tea held last month. The $1000 is to be earmarked for the equipment fund.

A financial report disclosed that salary, staff relief, electric power, telephone costs and provision for doubtful accounts were improved at the new hospital in October over September.

Receipts exceeded disbursements by $1075.

Relief staff to provide for annual vacations, statutory holidays and weekly days off was down to 12 from 19 in September. Total budgetted staff is 105.

Patient days in October were reported to the board of directors as numbering 2274, some 66 over estimates. When patient days exceeded the estimate made at the beginning of the year, the hospital's income is adjusted downward by $13.65 per patient day. October's downward adjustment was $990.

The transfer of the new hospital construction accounts into the operating accounts, a major accounting undertaking, was completed in October, T. C. Lambert finance chairman, reported. Because these dealt with transactions over several months, the October financial statement gave an adjusted view of the operations. However, the general effect was $8706 additional costs attributed to operating, but a $23,290 improvement to working capital.

Barring the transfer, operating costs in October were $39,206, some $31,157 of which was salary and wages.

Electric power costs were $523 in October against $526 in September. Telephone exchange costs were cut from $414 in January to $329 in October.

Heating, cooking fuel and steam for sterilizers and laundry cost $1059 in October against $969 in September.

Argue Tells Nelson Audience PCs Leading Way to Bankruptcy

Hazen Argue, CCF House leader, Tuesday night said the Progressive Conservatives "are leading Canada towards national bankruptcy."

He accused Prime Minister Diefenbaker, in an address at Nelson, of concealing Canada's trade deficit and of "trying to hide the serious trouble we are all in because of his policies—or possibly I should say lack of policies."

Mr. Argue said that in a Nov. 3 speech Prime Minister Diefenbaker dwelt upon increase in exports and imports but gave no indication that Canada's trade deficit in the first nine months of this year rose to $503,400,000 from $196,700,000 in the corresponding period last year.

"The day will come when we will have to start repaying all the foreign money that we are borrowing, for that is what a half billion dollar trade deficit is: borrowed money . . .

"The Tories are leading Canada towards national bankruptcy. At the rate we are going, five years from now we may well not be able to buy any more American consumer goods. Instead all our foreign exchange may well be going towards paying back the interest and dividends on the massive investments in Canada and on redeeming the loans our provinces and cities are being forced to make in New York because of the Tory tight money policy in Canada."

He said the tight money policy began when the government offered to convert bonds at a higher rate of principal.

BIG "PAYOFF"

"What wasn't known by the Canadian people was that 90 per cent of the bonds are held by banks, mortgage firms, and insurance companies. More than $60,000,000 were poured back into the coffers of these big businesses, surely the biggest election payoff in the history of Canada. This was the beginning of the present tight money policy."

Mr. Argue maintained the Conservatives have failed to keep the greater portion of their election promises. Commenting on a promise made before the last election by Mr. Diefenbaker that a bill of rights would be formulated, he said, "Where are the rights of the federal civil servants when they cannot even have collective bargaining?" He went on to describe the present public works set-up as "pork-barrel politics."

A report on old age pensions, made up by a Royal commission last year, has gathered dust since it was presented, Mr. Argue said. "He (Prime Minister Diefenbaker) made promises to the people that if given a chance, they would be fulfilled. These promises, six pounds of them, are lying in a book which has remained literally unopened."

CLIMB IN DEBT

The national debt and the interest on it have increased since the Conservatives went into power, income and excise taxes have risen to the level they were originally.

Mr. Argue then described some of the benefits the CCF government has given Saskatchewan, where the party has been in power since 1944.

He told the more than 50 people attending the address at the Eagle Hall that Saskatchewan has a publicly developed insurance program, where car insurance ranges between $40 and $45 per year. "It is the most comprehensive on the continent."

"The province-wide health plans, becoming so popular now in the other provinces of Canada, were pioneered by the CCF government in Saskatchewan."

Mr. Argue urged that a greater amount of Canada's defence budget should be channelled to other uses.

"There are only two countries that can afford to be in the arms race, the United States and the Soviet Union. Our present weapons are obsolete; we have contracted to buy $30 million worth of Bomarc missiles, but by the time these are in readiness, they too will be obsolete. At the present time, according to the men who developed them, the best they could do would be to knock out about 70 per cent of any aircraft attacking over the North Pole."

"We should use our position for leadership of the smaller countries of the world, and to lead in disarmament and welfare work. There is no country in a better position."

Following the address, there was a question and answer period.

Rod and Gun Club Strives To Stay Alive

A local club, struggling against apathy, showed new signs of life Tuesday night at its monthly meeting in the Canadian Legion hall.

The Nelson Rod and Gun Club has managed to hold the public's interest in the outdoor sports through "incentives" and public functions.

However, this year, with only five members in attendance at the first meeting of the year, signs of the advancing apathy have caused alarm in the club.

Members agreed in a general discussion on the desperate condition of the club, that television has played the part of the "villain" and is helping to cause the public to lose interest in hunting and fishing.

Members agreed that to prevent the club from folding, they must organize public functions such as camping, hunting and fishing excursions.

However, despite similar programs in latter years, which included many children participation events in the district, adult interest still remained low.

The main fear of the club members is that lack of public concern may lead to abolition of outdoor clubs, social organizations and similar "healthy and Canadian" organizations.

Drank Beer Before Death Discovered

VERNON, B.C. (CP) — An assize court jury was told Tuesday that Gilbert Louie, 23, drank beer and wine intermittantly on the day before his foster mother was found dead July 25.

Louie is charged with murder in the death of Mary Jack, 60. Her body was found in a one-room cabin on the Similkameen reservation, south of here.

No Report Yet on Boys' Town Project

VICTORIA (CP)—A spokesman for the office of the registrar of companies said Tuesday no report has been received on the Boys Town project for delinquent youths by the deadline set and the attorney-general's office is aware of this.

The deadline previously set by the registrar for a financial accounting from the New Hope Benevolent Society on its ranch for boys near Hope was Monday.

The spokesman said there was no set policy as to what might now be done. But under the Societies Act the attorney - general could appoint an investigator to look into the affairs of the project and report his findings.

There was no immediate indication from the attorney-general's office as to what action might be taken.

The office requested the accounting on Boys Town when that project was not included in a report from the New Hope Benevolent Society on its other activities.

100 Scouts, Fathers At Fairview Banquet

Yellow and black neckerchiefs were greatly in evidence Monday evening as more than 100 wolf cubs, boy scouts, leaders and fathers of the Third Nelson Boy Scouts and Wolf Cub group held their annual father-son banquet in Fairview United Church.

Included in a well-balanced after-dinner program were short speeches, demonstrations by the scout patrols, a showing of slides and movies and the presentation of several scout awards.

Presentation of the district Scout association camp shield, vied for each year by all troops of the district, was made to Third Nelson scoutleader, Gordon Fleming, by district scoutmaster, J. D. Flamank. He mentioned that last year's winner was Kaslo's troop, now inactive.

AWARDS MADE

In presenting badges to two scouts, Mr. Fleming said he was proud of his troop which he feels is the best troop in the world. In whimsical vein, he endeavored to prove this fact. A camper's badge, which requires at least three years' effort, was presented to Garry McCandlish and a first class badge to Keith Meakins.

Garry McCandlish also received a book on woodcraft from R. Gale, a guest at the banquet, who has spent many years in the scouting movement. Silver arrowheads and certificates were presented by E. K. Evans, district commissioner, to Angus Whitmore, Keith Meakins, Terry Day and Gerry Koe, who completed a week long, extensive training course during the summer.

Chairman of the Third Nelson group committee, Rev. H. R. Whitmore thanked the leaders, saying he felt certain with its leaders Third Nelson has no equal in the Interior. He commended the work of the group committee, the secretary and transportation convener in particular. Dave Meakins, secretary of the group committee, thanked members of the Ladies' Auxiliary which prepared the banquet.

Speaking to the cubs and scouts in attendance, Mayor T. S. Shorthouse reminded them that they are future leaders who will be judged by their deeds as well as their actions. He asked that full co-operation be given their scout leaders and parents.

Mayor Shorthouse expressed his best wishes to H. M. Peverley, newly-appointed regional commissioner, who was unable to attend. With Nelson as headquarters for the region, he felt the future of scouting here should be good.

"Our biggest assets today are our children," stated Magistrate R. S. Nelson, president of the Nelson Boy Scout Association and second vice-president of the Boundary region, as he asked that parents share the responsibility of training them. He told his listeners that the region of which Nelson is a part is the first of its kind authorized by Ottawa. It includes the East and West Kootenay to Grand Forks, from the border to the outskirts of Revelstoke.

Stating that Third Nelson is unusual as a community sponsored group, for most of them soon "fall by the wayside", Mr. Evans said he has been associated with the group for 20 years. Today, he said, it has given the lead to other groups for it has 29 scouts and a full-complement of 34 cubs. Mentioning that it is the largest group in the district, he said, "it's big and it's tops."

DEMOCRATIC WAY

Representing the dominion council, K. R. Yale said, "Scouting is the first taste most boys have of democratic living. It has taught thousands of boys how to get along together; how to live together and work together." He spoke of the sense of achievement in rising from a cub to a Queen Scout and the pleasure in living outdoors where "some of the greatness of nature rubs off on a boy."

Cubmaster Fred Walgren thanked parents for entrusting their boys to his care and spoke of his able assistants. Slides of several camping trips and hikes taken by the troop during the past year and a half, were shown by Mr. Fleming.

Those seated at the head table for the banquet were Mayor Shorthouse, Mr. Evans, Mr. Yale, Mr. Fleming, Fred Westfall, assistant scoutmaster; Dave Meakins, secretary of the group committee; Mr. Nelson; Mr. Flamank, Mr. Walgren, Mrs. F. Walgren, assistant cub leader; Don Sweet, assistant cub leader; Andrew Niven, group committee transportation head; Mr. Gale and Rev. Whitmore. Angus Fraser was pianist.

Disillusioned Flocking to Liberal Banner, Claims Liberal Leader

KIMBERLEY — Ray Perrault, 33-year-old provincial Liberal leader for B.C. speaking in Kimberley in support of candidate Jack Glennie Monday night said the Liberals have the finest political platform in B.C. and are in the best position to win.

Hundreds of dissilusioned members of other parties are flocking to the Liberal banner, he claimed. Referring to Premier Bennett's statement, "they could hold their convention in a telephone booth," he said there were 1600 at the Liberal Vancouver rally, the "largest ever assembled."

Liberals stand for practical responsible reform, he said. Responsibility was needed in government and the need of society was integrity of government at all levels. The government is guilty of lack of integrity in recent years, he claimed. Only one person in seven in B.C. believe B.C. is debt free, he said.

In analyzing the CCF, he said "for 27 years they have been a myth." The Liberals were responsible for 80 per cent of social and labor reform, citing old age pensions, unemployment insurance, family allowances and hospital insurance. Quoting Colin Cameron in 1958, "our views have not changed, we will not rest content until every vestige of capitalism is destroyed," Mr. Perrault said Liberals believe instead of the government assuming the people's responsibilities and cutting down on freedom in order to do so, that the standard of living must be increased so the worker can cope with his daily problems and still keep his freedom.

Planning is the key but the battle was to keep men free. With probably 30,000 unemployed in B.C. this winter, industry and government must work together to retrain men for other jobs due to automation.

Portable pensions scheme in B.C. was a must. He said labor management warfare cannot continue indefinitely.

A labor-management partnership must be worked out or "we will all lose in the long run." He said the present government is creating a "black top" society with its roads program. The Liberals believed in roads, too, but not at the expense of other social needs.

B.C. has the highest alcoholic, dope, divorce, juvenile delinquency and indictable offences in Canada. It costs $85 million a year for social damage due to drinking, $12 million in traffic accidents, 50 per cent of which are caused by drink, he stated. Women also constitute a large percentage of alcoholics in B.C. The government is making $26 million a year profit from sale of liquor, yet only $75 thousand a year is spent on alcoholic education, he said.

Parents are worried more about juvenile delinquency than anything else, he said; "we need to channel their energy into sports and constructive activities."

Physical fitness councils, sports instructors, conciliation courts for husbands and wives were needed to help cure social ills. The Liberals want a quarter of a million for research on alcoholism alone. Speaking on tourism, Mr. Perrault criticized the federal government for "lack of initiative" in establishing a west coat tourist bureau on the west coast of United States, for the mere cost of $40,000 per year. B.C. is spending $80 million a year on roads, but only $46,000 on tourist promotion, less than Nova Scotia, he said. "We should try for a billion dollar tourist industry. The income from the sales tax alone on goods they buy would pay for all our roads," he claimed.

With 100 million less board feet exported this year than last B.C. was losing the British market to Russia. Kitimat has empty houses because Europeans can supply material five per cent cheaper, he said.

He said the Liberals want a department of consumer affairs, preferably with a woman at the head to coordinate groups in each city and district to combat this fraud deception, which he said was at an all-time high.

C. Kinrade, vice-president, Kimberley, introduced speakers.

Alderman Jack Glennie, candidate for East Kootenay riding, gave a short talk on the taxation dollar.

A banquet preceded the meeting put on by the Liberal Association women members.

Postal Workers To Back Appeal

OTTAWA (CP)—The Postal Employees National Association is going to press a Vancouver suggestion that a legal appeal be made to the Queen over the government's refusal to grant the civil service a pay increase.

Jack Roberts, national secretary of the postal group, said Tuesday he will press for consideration of the plan by the national joint action committee set up by civil service associations to continue the fight against the government decision last month.

The suggestion for a petition of right, a legal device to seek the Crown's intervention against a moral or legal decision of the government, was made in Vancouver by Stanley Stonier, chairman of the Vancouver joint action committee.

Government House sources said the petition likely would go to Governor-General Vanier who probably would follow the course of referring it to the minister concerned—in this case Finance Minister Fleming, who announced the government's decision not to give the civil servants a pay raise.

LAMP FALLS IN BUCKET OF GAS, GARAGE RAZED

MERRITT (CP) — An extension lamp slipped off a hook and fell into a bucket of gasoline Tuesday causing an explosion and fire that destroyed a garage on the city's main street.

The owners of the Odison garage estimated their loss at $100,000. Fire chief Frank Hadden described the blaze as "sudden and terrible." Firemen battled 30 minutes to prevent the fire from spreading to other buildings.

The gas had just been drained from a truck that was dragged from the Nicola River near this central British Columbia community.

The truck was stolen Friday by Billy Harris Gabriel 23-year-old Indian who was sentenced to a year in jail Monday. Harris had been turned over to police by the chief of his tribe.

Two employees saved two of the three vehicles in the garage.

CHAPLIN'S SON DRUNK

SAN FERNANDO, Calif. (AP) Actor Charles Chaplin Jr., 34, was fined $300 Monday after he pleaded guilty to drunken driving. The son of the comedian was arrested Nov. 2 when police spotted his car weaving down the wrong side of a street.

ACHTZENER TAKES POST IN CRANBROOK

CRANBROOK — Ross Pascuzzo, president and manager of Hanson Garage Co. Ltd. has announced appointment to the sales department of John Achtzener of Kimberley, one of the province's most widely known sportsmen. Mr. and Mrs. Achtzener have transferred their residence to Selkirk Manor here.

As a youth he was a player on the Regina junior hockey team which won the Memorial Cup, and of the first Regina junior football team to win the dominion championship. He was also a member of the professional Regina Rough Riders who played in the Grey Cup final against Sarnia Imperials. In 1934 he moved to Kimberley where he began coaching and management of the senior A Kimberley Dynamiters who won the Allan Cup in 1935-36, and were first Canadian team to win the world championship in 1936-37. He also organized and sponsored the baseball Kimberley Dynamos.

In business in Kimberley he was owner-manager of the Kimberley Hotel which he sold last year.

Only one man took time to phone his thanks. He was an off-duty policeman.

Province - Wide Works Standards Advocated

PENTICTON (CP)—Adoption of province-wide standards for road access, water supply, sewage disposal and drainage is recommended in one of two resolutions to be considered Thursday by the quarterly meeting of the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association in Summerland.

Copies of the resolutions were reviewed by Penticton city council Monday night.

The second resolution calls for Okanagan municipalities to either set up a regional advisory planning commission or ask for establishment of an office of the community planning branch, department of municipal affairs, in the valley to advise on land use, planning of residential subdivisions and other pertinent matters.

The resolution notes that the population of the Okanagan is expanding rapidly and that residential subdivisions extend beyond municipal boundaries in many cases, giving rise to many community planning problems.

Columbia Holds Key, Says Bonneville Official

PORTLAND (AP)—The future of the United States Pacific Northwest hinges in part on how well Canada develops the upper Columbia River, J. Lane Morthland, assistant administrator of the Bonneville power project said Tuesday.

He told Bonneville's regional advisory council that the U.S. hopes to have an agreement with Canada by next year on broad principles for the division of benefits to come from Canadian storage projects.

Morthland said 40 per cent of the flow of the Columbia as measured at the Dalles, Ore., is from Canada.

He mentioned the huge proposed Mica Creek project in British Columbia.

"Development of the Mica Creek project on the Big Bend of the Columbia in Canada would create more than 10,000,000 acre feet of average annual storage, have "at-site" generation of 2,000,000 kilowatts and, through controlled release of water, would produce 1,500,000 kilowatts of additional power at downstream federal and non-federal plants in the United States.

"Alternate storage plans include the Cooper Creek and door plans, which involve diversion of part of the Kootenay River flow," he said.

Indian Tot Dies As Home Burns

PEMBERTON, B.C. (CP) — A three-year-old Indian girl died of burns Monday shortly after she was dragged with three other children from their flaming wood cabin home in the nearby Indian reserve village of Mount Currie.

The young victim, Yvonne Williams, was trapped with her elder brother, Rudy Joe, 4, and two younger sisters when the blaze engulfed the three-roomed home.

Indian agent Vaughan Jones roused firefighters and Fred Collister, a hardware merchant, and Ralph Proudlock, crawled into the cabin to find the children.

The two men found the children lying unconscious on the floor. They dragged them to a window and handed them to safety.

Rudy Joe was reported in serious condition in hospital and the other two children suffered less severe burns.

Their mother, Mrs. Harvey Williams, left the home to buy groceries shortly before the fire started. Their father was working at a logging camp.

Witnesses said the fire was believed to have started when one of the children spilled gasoline from a bottle and it exploded.

Pemberton is about 70 miles north of Vancouver.

NO WORD FROM BONNER ON TOI WONG APPEAL

VICTORIA (CP) — Attorney-General Bonner said Tuesday he has received no report from Crown counsel indicating there would be grounds for an appeal of the acquittal of Tony Toi Wong at Vernon on a major traffic charge.

The 22-year-old Vernon youth had been charged with criminal negligence in the traffic death of a five-year-old girl. The girl's father, Richard Sommerfield, said at Kelowna he intended to write the attorney-general because of the dismissal of the charges against Wong.

"This appears to be an acquittal on a straight basis of facts," Mr. Bonner said. "But no report has been received from Crown counsel and we will wait for that report before making any categorical statement."

SEA CAPTAIN REPORTS STRANGE SIGHT

SEATTLE (AP)—Stranger sights than the northern lights were seen off Prince Rupert Aug. 27 by a couple of ship captains homeward bound from Alaska, one of them reported Tuesday.

A pillar of blinding light plunged straight downward from the night sky, said Capt. Otis D. Treiber of the cruise yacht Sea Otter. It appeared just as the watches was about to change. Capt. Arne Monson was beside him in the pilot house.

The greenish-yellow light faded, said Capt. Treiber, and from its base "a black disc about a fourth the size of the moon" hurtled away at right angles.

"It was as if gravity had repelled the object," he said. "It was lighted in front by a crescent-shaped greenish light. There were yellow streamers of light extending back from the disc."

The sight lasted 10 to 15 seconds.

A Paralell in Our Own Civic Life

Theoretically it may be true that democracy is the rule by the majority, but in practice it often works out the other way with a minority imposing its will on the majority. All that is necessary is for the minority to be determined to have its own way.

This appears to be the case with France at the present moment. In order to enhance her prestige, de Gaulle is prepared to use his nuisance value by insisting on her right to set off an atom bomb in the Sahara, to have Mr. Khrushchev visit him, and to delay the summit meeting until he chooses to have it held.

He will probably succeed in having his way in all these things, not because he is right, but because he can wreck the alliance if he does not get it.

So now we have another example of the tail wagging the dog. It has always been understood that President Eisenhower should speak for the free world, because without American leadership there would be no free world. It has been her money for armaments, and her determination to resist communism which has prevented Russia from overrunning Europe. She has earned the right to speak for the democracies, and however much can be said about that leadership it has so far kept the western nations together.

Now de Gaulle challenges it. It may look like patriotism—and France badly needs enlightened patriotism—but it is more probably a case of a man who is convinced that he is always right. He may be right in many instances, but the damning factor is his belief in his own infallibility. He cannot give way or compromise on anything. He has become an exponent, not of democracy, but of autocracy. He becomes contemptuous of the opinions of others and expects nothing but agreement from his followers.

Such people are by no means uncommon in humbler ranks of life than the head of a republic. They can be found in clubs where one individual will often force the others into some course of action of which they only half improve. They can be found in civic life and our own city council might be a parallel of France and de Gaulle. It is not a happy situation, but one to which voters should give careful consideration to before the next civic election.

Interpreting the News

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Dag Hammarskjold's mission to Laos is one of the most delicate of his numerous tasks in quiet diplomacy since becoming secretary-general of the United Nations in 1953.

It may, in fact, be the most ticklish of the lot. Hammarskjold often has tackled toughies but in earlier interventions his actions were authorized by the UN security council or the assembly, or else he had the backing of both the U. S. and Soviet Union.

In confirming expectations that he would station a representative in Laos, Hammarskjold appears to have gone against the wishes of Russia as expressed by Soviet Ambassador Arkady Sobolev just before the UN chief left New York.

Diplomats note that the previous secretary-general, Trygve Lie, resigned because he feared the Soviet opposition to his role in the Korean intervention undermined his effectiveness and made it unwise for him to try to continue in the job.

This may sound ominous for Hammarskjold's future in the UN, but the same diplomats stress that the Korean War was a much more serious affair than what is happening in Laos.

Some clues for a solution of Hammarskjold's difficulty may be seen in the diplomatic double-talk that was exchanged just before he undertook his mission to Laos, which says it is the victim of aggression from neighboring North Viet Nam.

Sobolev told Hammarskjold then that a visit to Laos by him or "the proposed stationing of a personal representative of the secretary-general in Vientiane, as well as any other action on the part of the United Nations in this question can only further complicate the situation there."

Hammarskjold said his trip had no implications regarding "the international situation in Laos, the external relations of that country, or the arrangements agreed upon in Geneva in 1954."

The Russians have repeatedly said the Laotian crisis could be solved by application of the 1954 agreement which ended the Indo-China war and established an international truce commission for Laos, including Canada, India and Poland.

Although Hammarskjold originally said his trip had no connection with the 1954 agreement, his new statement Sunday apparently took a different tack.

One phrase indicated that in making a judgment of the kind of assistance that might be supplied in Laos, Hammarskjold would take into account the UN charter and "also other international agreements which provide a framework for the development of Laos."

Diplomats saw reason to hope this attitude might placate the Russians, who are believed to be acting in this matter mainly to satisfy their comrades in Peking.

Narrow Globalists

Long ago, if you wished to insult a person, all you had to do was to call him parochial and he would resent the suggestion his interests did not extend beyond the boundaries of the parish.

Later it became — and to a large extent still is — equally derogatory to call him a provincial.

Now the term "nationalism" has fallen into disrepute among those who realize we are all occupants of the same shrinking planet.

And tomorrow the fashionable term of opprobrium will be "global" —"A nice fellow, you know, but distinctly global."

This fact was brought home to us forcibly the other day by T. Keith Glennan, American chief of aeronautics and space administration, who outlined to a Detroit audience six reasons why he felt the U.S. was justified in spending $900,000,000 on space enterprises this year. The reasons:

(1) To counter the spreading Communist influence based on Soviet space accomplishment;

(2) To contribute to the defensive strength of the U.S.;

(3) To obtain new knowledge of weather forecasting, communication, navigation and earth science; (4) to extend man's frontiers in the pioneering tradition; (5) to reap incidental rewards . . . "significant improvements in technique and processes in many fields of industry"; (6) to discover whether life exists on other planets.

Almost everyone is agreed that to contribute to the defensive strength of the U.S. is urgently necessary and probably should have come first on the above list. But why is the question of life on other planets placed last?

Sheer globalism, we say.

F. B. Pearce. . . . . Writes

The man in the black leather jacket eased himself gently into the seat beside me. Later when the bus was on its way he glanced at the book I was reading and said. "Do you like detective stories?"

I was deep in the book and not really anxious to talk, but I said I did.

"Is that a Nero Wolfe story? Do you like him?"

No I don't like Nero Wolfe very much and when I told him so he said, "Neither do I. I don't think a fat man could ever be a good detective. They are far too lazy and that Nero keeps a bunch of flowers growing at the top of the house. For my money a man can only think of one thing. It would be either crime or flowers. Not both.

"I came across an English book the other day," he went on. "It had a professor fellow who had all the answers and all the other people sat and listened to him. He was fat too."

"Was that Dr. Fell? I don't like him either. He is too stuffy for me."

"Did you ever notice," he said after awhile, "that most murders in books are of people with money and position. Like the last one I read which took place in a yacht on the Pacific. You'd wonder why ever they have to murder anyone. They all seem to have money and drink. It might be the drink which addles their brains, but in real life murders are different. Look at Vancouver. Man killed in a rooming house or a woman thrown down stairs. A drunken party and someone kicked to death. There are lots of murders unsolved because the murdered man did not amount to anything and had no friends, or at least any friends who were any good."

"What do you think of Erle Stanley Gardiner's Perry Mason?" I asked him.

"I like him," he said. "It's like being on a long train journey. Things go by and you see them and you look ahead to see another and presently the journey is over and you've had a good time, but you have forgotten all you have seen. Perry goes rushing along and you rush with him, enjoying it all the way, but when you have finished the book you can't tell anyone what it is all about, you have forgotten it already."

"Do you ever try to puzzle out the murderer?"

"No," he said. "I'm a logger and not a detective. Besides I've noticed that a lot of these authors sort of get to the end of the book and they say to themselves 'Now I'd better finish.' and they end the book, but not very tidily. Perry Mason gets to the last chapter and comes up with a bunch of clues and the mystery is solved."

"I get off at the next stop and I have to solve the mystery of finding my camp in the dark. The only clue is a muddy road."

Girl Teen-Ager

The two old gentlemen on the promenade seat contemplated in absorbed silence the two teenagers in slacks and gay shirts who sauntered past.

"It's got me licked," declared one old gentleman at length. "Their hair is long for a boy and short for a girl, so I can't decide whether they're two boys with long hair, two girls with short hair or a long-haired boy with a short-haired girl. And if it's one of each I don't know which is which."

"You're making it much too difficult," replied his companion. "It's really quite simple. It's a boy and girl. And the one smoking a cigarette and doing all the talking is the girl."

In the Wash

There is no end to the varieties of human wickedness. A news report from Norfolk, Virginia, tells of an oysterman who was convicted of the crime of washing oysters too long. It seems he kept the bivalves in water for more than 30 minutes. This caused them to swell, and the customers were charged for the extra weight. The culprit was fined $1000. We trust that his punishment will be a warning to others, and will help to keep oysters honest, if dirty.

Geneva Told Teenagers Not To Be Executed

GENEVA (Reuters)—The Hungarian delegation to the United Nations at Geneva has denied reports that 150 teen-agers are awaiting execution in Budapest, the international committee of the Red Cross said Tuesday.

A spokesman for the international committee said the reports originated with the leader of Hungarian refugees in the United States, Dr. Bela Fabian.

The spokesman said the international committee asked the Hungarian delegation in Geneva for information following letters from the Canadian Red Cross and an American woman who heard the report on television.

The Hungarians replied by sending a clipping from a Hungarian newspaper which quoted the Hungarian Communist party leader, Janos Kadar, as saying the report was untrue and that it was part of cold war propaganda.

Fleming Sees Record Savings Bond Sales

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming Tuesday forecast record sales of Canada Savings Bonds in the current campaign, but indicated that about half of the new sales are offset by cashings of previous issues of savings bonds by the public.

In a progress statement on the campaign, he said sales in the first month up to Nov. 13 total $1,127,000,000.

This compares with $667,000,000 for the comparable period last year and $941,000,000 in 1957. He said that when reports for this year are completed the total sales are expected to top the previous record of $1,217,000,000 set in 1957.

He added that redemptions of savings bonds by the public during November are running at a slightly higher rate than in the same period of 1957. In the entire month of November, 1957, a total of $642,000,000 in savings bonds were turned in by their holders for cash—equal to slightly more than half of the new sales that year.

The new nine - year savings bonds offer a record average interest yield of 4.98 per cent compared with 4.19 last year and the previous record yield of 4.46 per cent in 1957.

Canada Must Be Prepared Says Survival Director

ARNPRIOR, Ont. (CP) — The army's director of survival training told a civil defence conference Monday that although Russia is unlikely to start a general war, Canada must be prepared for the worst.

And, said Maj.-Gen. Arthur A. Wrinch, if the Soviet Union struck with intercontinental and submarine - launched missiles, North America would get only a few minutes warning.

Gen. Wrinch was speaking at a national conference on civil defence health and welfare planning at this town near Ottawa.

He warned that the Soviet Union has the world's largest submarine fleet and up to 1,000 long- and medium-range jet bombers—all capable of carrying atomic weapons.

CONTROL CENTRES

Another speaker, J. F. Wallace, assistant to the director of the federal government's emergency measures organization, said a miniature of the central government is being set up in each of the provinces. This would assume the central government's duties in the event nuclear attack isolated the provinces from Ottawa.

Gen. Wrinch told the 125 representatives from across Canada that it is unlikely Russia would deliberately start a general war, "because they are as well aware as we of the damage both sides would suffer."

MUST BE PREPAPRED

"However, there is always the possibility of circumstances under which the U.S.S.R. might decide to do so. Therefore, we feel we must be prepared for the worst case, and appreciate the Soviet's capabilities.

"If the Soviet Union attacked with bombers only, we could expect to receive, say, three hours warning from the radar lines and we must be prepared for that.

"However, when ICBMS and submarine-launched missiles are used, they would be able to hit any target in North America from launching sites well inside the U.S.S.R. or at sea, and warning would be only a matter of minutes."

RCMP Investigate Oakalla Guard's Gunshot Death

PORT COQUITLAM, B.C. (CP) RCMP Monday night began investigating the shooting death of an Oakalla prison guard at his home here. The possibility of murder was indicated.

Police called to the home of Harold Cordoni, 24, found Cordoni lying on the kitchen floor dead of gunshot wounds believed inflicted by a .30-.30-calibre rifle.

A baby sitter who had left earlier, Bernice Proctor, 17, said Cordoni had "made some joke about being afraid of someone and not wanting to sit with his back to the door."

"But it was a joke," she repeated.

Other neighbors said they thought they had heard a man openly threaten Cordoni earlier in the day. They said he only laughed.

Mrs. Peggy Cordoni, 27, who was reported separated from her husband, collapsed shortly after the shooting. She was taken to hospital suffering severe shock.

Police said Cordoni's arm was almost blown off by an exploding type of bullet. His two sons, Gene, 5, and Lloyd, 4, were believed in bed at the time of the shooting.

Cordoni returned home to take charge of the boys about an hour before the shooting.

RCMP dogs were called in to aid in the search for the rifle in bushland near Cordoni's home in this centre 20 miles northeast of Vancouver.

Working Mother May Find She Has To Supervise Home Chores

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D

Suppose you were a working widow with two girls, ten and 12. How much could you hope to have them ease your household work?

A Florida mother, who is a widow, writes:

"I am raising two lovely girls, ten and 12 years old. To do this, I must work hard and must leave the girls at home alone after school. I am hoping for the best.

NEED MORE RESPONSIBILITY

"Without me with them at all times, I sometimes feel they need more responsibility than they take, so that I will have more time to spend with them, rather than being burdened with so many household chores. I find that rather than helping, so I will have more time with them, they are doing their chores sloppily or not at all. I, in turn, am fussing at them to help and do more.

"In your opinion, is there any way they may be made to understand that my free hours would be much better spent with them if they would help; and that I would be in a much better mood and humor if they would do the things I ask them?

My reply, in part:

I can easily see how difficult it is for you to train your daughters to take home responsibilities.

If I were you I would not, for some weeks, assign them any jobs to do when you are not at home. Make clear to these girls that they must be in the house to help you after you arrive. Also require regular jobs that you can supervise during the weekend and holidays.

The more you talk about this, the less good it will do. Just make clear the regular jobs they must do while you are there to see that they do them. Don't argue. Don't let yourself get mad. Just act. Set some penalties if they neglect regular jobs or do them sloppily.

It won't be long before they will learn to respect your authority.

SHOW APPRECIATION

When they have learned this respect, try to have more good times with them. Gradually prevail on them to volunteer to do some jobs when you can't be home. Show great appreciation for their doing these jobs well. Make their friends welcome, after their chores are done, while you are home.

When that last household chore seems to be one too many, stop and eat a piece of chese. Home economists claim that cheese is an excellent supplier of quick sustaining energy and recommend it for people who don't like milk. It's high in protein value and should be served to the family at least three times a week.

Cowpokes of TV Ranges Stage Mass Insurrection

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The whole town's talking about the Burbank mutiny.

Never have so many actors been so unhappy as in the Warner Brothers television productions. Here is the scorecard on the series stars:

Wayde Preston (Colt .45) has walked off the lot and gone into the airplane business, complaining that his contract was "as equitable as a lynching party."

Ed Byrnes (77 Sunset Strip) refused to report for work until he got a raise. He gets $400 weekly, says he takes home only $284.

James Garner (Maverick) and Clint Walker (Cheyenne) are bitter about their contracts. Says Garner: "I feel like a slab of meat hanging there; every once in a while they cut off a piece."

Peter Brown (Lawman) is trying to get a new contract.

Will Hutchins (Sugarfoot) says he feels like a "peon actor."

Jack Kelly (Maverick) feels he is working "in an area of servitude."

ACTORS ALWAYS COMPLAIN

Of course, it's not unusual for actors to complain; it's chronic with their craft.

But there has neverbeen such a mass uprising as among the cowpokes of the TV range. A meeting between the Screen Actors Guild and studio officials reached an agreement to rectify certain working conditions.

The actors claimed they were due money in six figures for alleged contract violations, mostly involving overtime.

But the settlement hasn't stopped the beefs. The battle is an old one, between the studio which feels it created stars from nothing and the stars who feel they are misused. It is aggravated because of the immense volume of work required for TV, plus the fact that the new medium creates stars so fast.

William T. Orr, television executive producer for Warner Brothers and himself once an actor said:

"Warner Brothers contracts have made it possible for many players to develop from complete unknowns in a brief time. These contracts, signed in good faith by both parties, have opened the door to opportunity and advancement. . . .

"The studio has every rightful reason to expect players to respect their contractual obligations.

"Look for yourself and see what some of these unhappy people were doing before they became associated with Warner Brothers. Their plaint reminds me of the story of an actor complaining that there must be an easier way to make a living. An office boy overhearing spoke up and said: 'There are a lot of easier ways to make a living—but not at the salary you're getting."

Fire Kills Two Indian Children

PEMBERTON, B.C. (CP)—Two Indian children died Monday after fire swept their log cabin home on a reserve at nearby Mount Currie.

Yvonne Williams, 3, died here after being dragged from the blazing home with her two brothers and an infant sister. The sister died later on a train carrying her to hospital at Squamish, B.C.

Pemberton is 75 miles north of Vancouver.

The two boys, Rudy Joe, 4½, and a younger brother, Larkin, were in satisfactory condition in Squamish Hospital.

Village merchant Fred Collister said he and another villager, Ralph Proudlock, crawled into the cabin to rescue all four unconscious children.

Their mother had left the house five minutes earlier to buy groceries.

Disgruntled Steelworkers See Injunction as Stab In the Back

NEW YORK (CP)—"A stab in the back" was the way one disgruntled steel worker described the United States Supreme Court's decision upholding the government injunction that ended the strike 10 days ago.

Another unionist told a guard at the gate to a big United States Steel Company plant in Pittsburgh to "change this gate for a revolving door . . . because we'll be going right out again when this injunction is over."

The injunction, ordering the United Steelworkers of America to send its 500,000 members back to work after the longest strike in the industry, was granted the government for 80 days under the Taft-Hartley labor act after it declared that the stoppage threatened the national health and economy.

STRIKE AGAIN?

The return-to-work order expires Jan. 26 and the general belief is that the union will resume the strike then.

There were reliable reports as the 116-day walkout started July 15 that the union would have been prepared to settle for a 10-cents-an-hour increase above the old $3.10 hourly average wage. It had begun by asking 15 cents and fringe benefits.

What nerved the union for a long siege on the picket line was the companies' demand that they should have more say in deciding working conditions within the mills.

It is this issue, on which the companies show little sign of softening, that is expected to lead to another walkout in mid-winter.

MAIN ISSUE

When the steel management presented its list of demands for greater freedom to change working rules to make for greater economy and efficiency, union members became convinced that their jobs, seniority, work schedules, lunch breaks, washing-up time and other routines would be changed.

The AFL-CIO, which began collecting a strike-aid fund at its annual convention in San Francisco in September, calls the steel dispute "a struggle for the survival of the entire labor movement."

The steel companies eventually offered to leave the work rules question to outside arbitration but the union, convinced of strong support in its ranks, rejected the proposal in such a way as to indicate it would give no ground.

Employers want the work rules changed and wages held to present levels because they say costs must be lowered to meet foreign competition and prices must be kept stable to check inflation. The union counters that record profits and production earlier in the year could have provided a wage increase without higher prices.

Civil Air Transport Could Cause Western Headaches

By GEORGE FRAJKOR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Soviet Russia is eager to put its aviation industry into competition with the Western world, says a report of the Canadian-American committee.

The competition could hurt the free world badly and gain political and economic influence for the Russians, the report said.

The committee, sponsored by the National Planning Association of the United States and the Private Planning Association of Canada, comprises some 60 business, professional labor, and agricultural leaders in both countries.

The section on civil aviation is part of a general report on the repercussions of the Soviet trade offensive.

Geography and technological short-cuts have given the Soviets some advantages the West cannot afford to take lightly.

REFUSE TRANSIT RIGHTS

The Soviet land mass lies across some of the world's most important air routes, and Russia has consistently refused transit rights to foreign airlines.

The distance from London to Japan via Moscow is only half the distance via India and Southeast Asia, which Western airlines have to fly. From Ottawa to India via Moscow is less than two-thirds the distance via Europe and the Middle East. Russia has already secured landing rights in London, Paris, Copenhagen, New Delhi and Kabul and is trying for landing rights in New York and Japan.

It may soon be in a position to offer regular intercontinental service via Moscow faster and cheaper than Western services.

The newer Russian jets and turbo-prop planes are reliably reported to perform at least as well as or better than Western designs.

COMPARABLE TO WEST

With the new planes, Russia now can provide technical services comparable to those of the West, and to sell or give away modern aircraft equal to the best the West can supply. Moreover, for political reasons, the Russians are willing to cut their prices as low as necessary. They can squeeze out foreign airlines and get a firm grip on the transportation systems of under-developed nations, which would be dependent on Soviet parts and technical services.

This could be important in countries that rely heavily on air transport.

The report says Russian aviation aid to small nations is increasing and will continue to increase as production makes older planes obsolete.

Airlines of the West now are converting to jets and turboprops, the report said. This will make available thousands of surplus twin - engined and four-engined piston planes, many of them in top condition and suited to the needs of under-developed nations.

Ways must be found to put these planes to work where they are needed and to provide the technical and managerial skill needed to run them efficiently.

". . . The field of civil air transport is shaping up as a major economic and political battlefield," the report concluded.

Link Herter's Speech With More Buy-American Policy

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — State Secretary Christian Herter Tuesday reaffirmed full United States support of the North Atlantic alliance, but gently suggested it is time a prosperous Western Europe contribute more to the free world's military and economic effort.

Mainly because of development the 15-country NATO alliance, Western Europe now has obtained more wealth than it has ever known, Herter told the annual conference of NATO parliamentarians which includes a 16-man Canadian delegation.

"As the Western European countries gain in economic strength, they gain also in their capacity to exert leadership and to contribute to the over-all effort of the fre world—both economically and militarily."

Herter spoke against a backdrop of recent press speculation that the United States, concerned over a drain in its huge gold reserves may urge European NATO powers to bear a nincreased share of European defence costs.

Linked with this speculation were reports that a relatively new "buy American" policy might spread. Initially, it has been applied to U. S. Development Loan Fund loans to needy countries. There has been some question of whether this policy would be applied on the bigger loans-and-grants operation of the International Co - operation Administration.

Herter assured reporters at a press conference following Canada-U.S. joint defence talks a week ago that the "buy American" policy would not apply to the ICA. But Monday in a New York speech he disclosed that the new policy would actually apply to certain specific ICA projects which would be transferred to the Development Loan Fund.

"Projects so transferred would then be financed under the new procedures of the DLF," he said.

Today, facing NATO parliamnntarians, he seemed to be anticipating possible criticism of U.S. lack of world leadership and lack of market co-operation wit hthe small powers of NATO. The habit of consultation and co-operation among the NATO powers, he argued, has increased to "an unparalled extent."

As for world leadership, Europe's increasingprosperity held the promise of broadening and expanding "the world leadership which Western Europe has traditionally exercised." The most critical need in this world leadership was for prosperous countries to share more fully in the responsibility of aiding needy countries.

Germany Partner, Ally — Macmillan

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Macmillan, in a speech Monday night on the eve of Chancellor Adenauer's visit, said that in the long run "trade may prove the solvent of many political difficulties between East and West."

He told the annual banquet of the lord mayor of London that Germany now is "our joint partner and ally," and "our aim is the widest and most fruitful association of European countries."

Meanwhile, the earnest search for greater political understanding between East and West must continue."

The British minister called for a series of summit meetings and reaffirmed his government's view that it "should be possible to decide at the end of such a meeting to arrange for another."

The great powers should, in the British parliamentary jargon, "adjourn and ask leave to sit again."

STEP BY STEP

"In this way, I believe that the tension in the world may be reduced and problem resolved little by little, step by step."

He did not expect "sensational results" from the first summit.

"Naturally such a meeting should be properly prepared, and this certainly involves on our side the fullest consultation between the Western Allies.

"We may regret the time taken by this formative process. But if the exchange of visits and conversations between statesmen of East and West go on happily as they are, then I feel that at least the impetus is being maintained."

ANGLO-FRENCH BASIS

Dealing with European relations, the prime minister said "Britain is part of Europe—sharing in the life and tradition of Europe. The "basis of our European policy has been the Anglo-French friendship.

"This has spread into the wider association with the other European members of NATO. It is true that the Anglo-French Entente began over 50 years ago in a common fear of expanding German militarism.

"Now that these friendships have mercifully been broadened, Germany is our joint partner and ally . . . our aim is the widest and most fruitful association of European countries."

Horse-Opera Addicts Puzzle Gary

WINNIPEG (CP) — Movie star Gary Cooper said Tuesday he can't figure out the public's interest in television horse operas.

"I don't know what it is," he said in an airport interview. "They're looking at the same show most of the time.

"Maybe it's because the public is getting them for nothing and they can sit at home and keep warm by the stove."

The actor stopped here on his way home from a month-long trip to Europe, most of it spent in Moscow and Leningrad as part of an exchange program between American and Russian movie makers. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter, Maria.

New U.S. Labor Law Knocks Out Rackets

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—A knockout blow is being aimed at labor rackets by all branches of the United States government.

Labor Secretary James Mitchell said the new labor law passed by Congress and administered by his department already is beginning to rid unions of corrupt elements. He said it's also giving union members a full voice in running their organizations.

And court-appointed monitors today charted a speedy new cleanup drive of the big scandal-rocked Teamsters union.

The Supreme Court refused Monday to set aside lower court decisions arming the monitors with sweeping reform enforcement powers. Teamster president James R. Hoffa said the union, though disappointed at the ruling, will "live up to the court's decision." But he said it still may challenge individual reform orders.

Martin F. O'Donoghue, monitor chairman, said his group now will move on a variety of fronts including charges that could result in removal of Hoffa as president.

MOVE FAST

"We can move very vast now because the last legal roadblock is out of the way," O'Donoghue said before a strategy meeting Tuesday with his two fellow monitor board members.

Mitchell, reporting on the first two months of operation of the anti-corruption provisions of the union officials with criminal or Communist backgrounds already have quit union office. He said nearly 100 complaints are under active investigation.

"Members of one local wrote to tell me that for years their union had been organized so that out of 5,500 members only 600 had a right to vote. This will be changed now, they said.

Mitchell said eight local unions which had been under trusteeship of their national unions have been returned to local control.

Reduce Some Freight Rates East To West

OTTAWA (CP)—Reductions in freight rates on some traffic between Eastern and Western Canada were announced Tuesday by the board of transport commissioners.

They were ordered in the board's annual adjustment of rates under Parliament's "bridge" subsidy, a $7,000,000-a-year grant for lower rates on the long haul across northern Ontario between East and West.

Effective Dec. 1, the railways are ordered to reduce rates on the traffic affected by 4.72 per cent and 15 cents per 100 pounds from the normal charges. Existing reductions are 3½ per cent and 10½ cents.

The reductions are changed yearly in accordance with the type and volume of traffic over the East-West "bridge." A decrease in the type of freight coming under the subsidy accounts for the greater reductions to maintain the over-all amount at $7,000,000.

This traffic is of the non-competitive type, which normally would bear the full effect of freight rate increases. The reductions do not apply to such special rates as the Crowsnest Pass rates on export grain or those that have been lowered to meet competition.

Fulton Will Not Interfere In Editor's Term

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton said Tuesday he will not interfere in the case of George North, Vancouver editor sentenced to 30 days in jail for contempt of court.

Mr. North, editor of the Fisherman, weekly publication of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) was sentenced for an editorial in the paper during an Ironworkers strike at Vancouver last summer. He began serving his term last month after losing a court appeal.

Mr. North's lawyer, John Stanton, wrote Mr. Fulton asking for clemency and remission of a $3,000 fine against the Fisherman Publishing Society.

What price auto insurance?

Many things help decide what the insurance premium on any motor vehicle will be. Eventually, however, they all have to boil down to two things — the number and the costs of accidents in any particular area. Here are the main factors used to determine your car insurance rates:

1 Where You Live — Generally those people who live in a small town will pay less than those living in a large city. More accidents, per number of cars, occur in and around the city. Canada is divided, for car insurance purposes, into 44 different "rating areas"; and costs of insurance in each area depend on the number and the severity of claims involving cars from that area.

2 Your Age Group — Statistics show that single men under 25 years of age have the worst driving records. They, therefore, pay the highest rates. Because the probabilities that they will be involved in a costly accident have been repeatedly shown to be greater when people under 25 own their own car, the rates are higher than if they just drive the family car now and then.

3 Your Driving Record — If you have not had an accident in the past three years, most companies give you a 35 per cent discount off the prevailing rate for third party liability and collision insurance for your group and for your area. If you have a two year accident free record you get a 20 per cent reduction and for one year "clean" record, 10 per cent. Therefore, your own driving record plays an important part in the cost of your automobile insurance.

4 Use of Your Car — If your car is used mainly for business, your rate is higher than if it is only used for pleasure, because the business car is basically driven more often at peak traffic periods and in congested areas. Therefore, it is more exposed to the risk of accidents than is the pleasure car. Driving to work, however, is not considered as business use.

5 The Variety of Coverage you have — There are many different types of car insurance available; to protect you for the claims of others, to reimburse you for damage to your own car, to pay you in the event of fire or theft and a variety of other hazards. Naturally, the greater the number of insurance coverages you have, the greater the protection to you — and also the greater the cost.

CHUVALO RETAINS TITLE

KO's Durelle 12th Round

TORONTO (CP)—Canadian heavyweight champion George Chuvalo of Toronto retained his title Tuesday night with a 12th-round knockout over Yvon Durelle, Canadian and British Empire light-heavyweight titleholder, in a bloody battle before a crowd of about 10,000 at Maple Leaf Gardens. Durelle went down for the count at 1:01 of the round after taking a beating most of the way.

The 22-year-old Chuvalo, jittery and obviously nervous in the early part of the fight, gave Durelle a fearful beating. Durelle was down for a three count in the second round, again for nine in the ninth and was dropped to the canvas twice in the 10th, for counts of eight and seven.

Durelle, who says he is "past 30," was repeatedly beaten to the punch by Chuvalo who won the Canadian heavyweight title in September, 1958, and had only two fights since.

The fighting fisherman from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., who weighed in at 186¼ pound against Chuvalo's 210 and was three inches shorter than the six-foot-one-half-inch Chuvalo, proved only one thing to the big crowd—that he could absorb punishment.

FORCED THE FIGHT

Durelle forced the fight most of the way, but took only stiff lefts, right smashes and left and right uppercuts to the head and stomach for his trouble. He bled from the nose in the wild second round, his right eye started to puff in the fifth and he was bleeding from a gash around his right eyebrow from the sixth round on.

Chuvalo, who had been anything but impressive in his last two fights, had a cut over his left eye in the 11th round and the eye was almost shut as referee Jackie Silvers of Toronto tolled the count over Durelle in the final round.

The fight was billed as a pier six brawl and it lived up to advance notices as both battlers went for the knockout blow.

Durelle had a hard time tagging his taller opponent. He fought from a crouch most of the distance and was clipped smartly with short lefts and rights as he leaped in efforts to land looping rights.

Chuvalo, cool and with his nerves under control after the opening round, repeatedly scored with short left crosses and right uppercuts.

LOW BLOW

Durelle went down for the first time in the second round when he was hit low by Chuvalo. The Marimer winced and dropped his guard and Chuvalo leaped in to pump lefts and rights on the head of the defenceless Durelle. Silvers counted three and Durelle hopped to his feet, but he was hurt.

He took two or three more stiff lefts to the face as the round ended and the crowd sensed an upset was in the works. Chuvalo, who went into the ring the 8 to 5 underdog, took charge from there in and won every round except the fifth when Durelle landed a left and right flush on the champion's chin that sent him to the ropes.

This was Chuvalo's 17th fight in the money ranks and his 10th knockout. His record now stands at 13 wins, three losses and one draw.

The record books show Durelle with 103 fights made up of 80 victories, 22 losses and one draw. Durelle has said, though, that he has had 160 fights.

The fighters were guaranteed $8500 each or a percentage of the gate, whichever is greater. Receipts were not immediately available.

Durelle Says He's Finished

TORONTO (CP) — "I'm all finished. I'm an old man. My legs are gone. Completely finished and I won't be coming back nowhere."

Thus spoke a battered and bruised Yvon Durelle Tuesday night after absorbing a 12-round knockout from George Chuvalo, Canadian heavyweight champion from Toronto.

"All true," Durelle said in his dressing room in emphasizing his retirement from the ring. The Canadian and British Empire light-heavyweight champion from Baie Ste. Anne, N. B., needed repairs to his right eye.

Six stitches were necessary to close the wound.

His manager, Chris Shaban, supported Durelle's announced departure from the ring wars.

WOULD BE BARRED

"I'm glad he's through," declared the Moncton, N. B., grocer. "I hope he sticks to it. I still hold Yvon's contract and I will have him barred from fighting any place where there is a boxing commission before I see him put on another glove."

Shaban told reporters that he appealed to Durelle to quit after the seventh round and again after the eighth, "but he wouldn't listen to me."

"He sure has courage."

Shaban added that his boxer was leaving for home by plane this morning. "He isn't even staying around to get his money." Each fighter will receive $8500 or a percentage of the unannounced gate, whichever is greatest.

Durelle, cheerful in defeat, paid tribute to Chuvalo as "a good, strong boy and a hard hitter."

JOCKEY SUES FOR $2 MILLION

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — A jockey is suing the Monmouth Park Racing Association and another jockey for $2,000,000 damages as the result of a fall he suffered last year.

The suit was filed Monday on behalf of Jerry Truman of Merchantville N.J. It says he suffered permanent injuries when he was thrown from his mount during a race at Monmouth Park track June 21, 1958.

The suit charges jockey Robert L. Stevenson of Florida with recklessness and careless riding. It says the track should have provided "safe racing conditions."

Stone Rink Dissolving

VANCOUVER (CP) — Reg Stone of Trail announced Monday that his famed curling rink is breaking up.

The Totem bonspiel here at the end of the month will be the last time the quartet that has won five British Columbia curling championships will play together. Stone said lead Ernie Gordon is dropping out and moving to Vancouver to enter the auto business with his three brothers.

"Of course we are quite disappointed about Ernie leaving," Stone said. "No, we haven't even thought about a replacement."

Gordon went to the Canadian championships with Stone in 1957.

The rink, defending champions in the Totem, is considered the one to beat in the $9000 bonspiel. Reg's brother, Roy, is third and Buz McGibney is second.

Cooper Stops Erskine

LONDON (AP)—Henry Cooper, British and British Empire heavyweight champion, stopped challenger Joe Erskine of Wales Tuesday night in the 12th round with a vicious combination of punches that left the former titleholder sprawled between the ropes.

Cooper dropped Erskine twice for seven - counts before he finished him off at 2:55 in the 12th. Although Erskine was helpless after Cooper's final two-fisted attack and obviously was out for the count, referee Eugene Henderson stepped in immediately after Erskine went down. He stopped the fight, so the result was a technical knockout.

Cooper weighed 188¾ pounds to Erskine's 192½ pounds. In finishing off Erskine, Cooper revealed a vicious killer streak never before seen in the 23 - year - old champ.

It was a sensational fight throughout the 12 rounds with Cooper throwing the heavy punches while Erskine boxed brilliantly before a sellout crowd of 18,000 at Earls Court Stadium.

In the fifth round, Cooper landed a swinging left after the bell and Erskine staggered away, glassy-eyed with his arms hanging limply by his side.

VIOLENT PROTESTS

Erskine's seconds jumped into the ring and violently protested to the referee. But Henderson waved them aside and allowed the fight to go on after warning both fighters about punching after the bell.

With blood flowing from the cut over his left eye, Cooper waded in with a strong attack to the body and had Erskine hanging on at the end of the 11th.

Then came the 12th. It all started quietly enough with Erskine jabbing. Cooper landed a vicious left hook and followed up with both hands.

Erskine was down twice but got up each time at seven. The referee stepped in when he went down once more.

In a 12 - round bout that preceded the heavyweight match, Mike Holt, South African light heavy champion, fought a draw with Johnny Halafihi of Tonga. The bout was aimed at finding a challenger for Canada's Yvon Durelle, the British Empire light heavy king. Halafihi weighed 171, Holt 170¾ pounds.

Rider Veterans See Victory for Ottawa

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa isn't bound for the Grey Cup game—yet—but there are three players on the squad who remember the last time Rough Riders played in the football classic.

That was in 1951, when Ottawa defeated Saskatchewan Roughriders 21-14.

The three players are end Bobby Simpson, centre Bruno Bitowski and tackle John Bove. All three were rookies that year.

They're old pros, now, and they're sure the team will make it past the last remaining hurdle to meet Winnipeg Blue Bombers in Toronto Nov. 28.

12-POINT LEAD

Riders are taking a 12-point cushion into Hamilton Saturday for the second game of the Big Four's two-game total-points final. Riders defeated Tiger-Cats 17-5 here last Saturday.

Simpson, team co-captain and a perennial all-star offensive end even in his rookie year, is 29 now, a step or two slower, a little bald on top, a little heavier around the belt and the prosperous operator of a restaurant in Ottawa.

Bitkowski, now 28, missed one season with Riders—1957—due to business pressure, but is back at offensive centre, after being converted from a defensive end. He is an advertising salesman with radio station CKOY.

Bove, at 32 the oldest man on the club, now is a Canadian citizen and operates a service station here. Bove, former import from the University of West Virginia, has played six seasons with Ottawa, making a comeback this year at guard and tackle.

COMPARE TEAMS

They were asked, in separate interviews, how the 1959 team compares with Ottawa's last championship team.

Here's how Simpson put it: "The club in 1951 had great spirit and desire to win. Our club, this year, has that same kind of spirit and drive.

"But on the whole, football has made such great progress in the last few years, that I believe we're a better team now. If we're lucky I think we'll make it. We have the spirit to go and spirit is 90 per cent of the game."

Bitkowski said "the last championship team seemed to have more old pros, but this club has more determination. It showed it, coming back as it did after losing five straight at the start of the season. We have a better balanced club now than we had then."

"We have a better offence," said Bove, "but we have the same kind of drive and spirit we had then. We have a few more good players. The defence was just as good then as now."

Cougars Beat Winnipeg 4-2

WINNIPEG (CP) — Victoria Cougars outplayed Winnipeg in every department Tuesday night to beat the Warriors 4-2 in a Western Hockey League game played before an estimated 4,000 fans.

The Cougars margin of victory came from two unanswered goals in the second period. The clubs traded goals in the first and third.

Gordie Fashoway, George Ford, Art Jones and Arlo Goodwin scored the Cougars' goals. For Winnipeg it was Dick Lamoureaux and Gerry Brisson.

Outstanding goal-tending by Al Rollins in the Winnipeg nets kept the score down, particularly in the second period when the Warriors were outshot 14-2. Victoria goalie Marcel Pelletier had 21 saves against 29 for Rollins.

Cougars opened the scoring at 3:58 of the first period just after Rollins had made a good save on Jim Hay's slap shot from the blueline. Fashoway pounced on the rebound and poked it home.

SCORED FROM SCRAMBLE

Lamoureux evened the count 10 minutes later when Lamoureux scored from a scramble on Steve Witiuk's rebound.

Ford made it 2-1 for Victoria early in the second and while the Warriors were shorthanded later in the period Jones scored the winning goal on the short side of the net after taking a pass from Arnie Schmautz.

Winnipeg was so inept they couldn't get a shot on goal when they had a two - minute manpower advantage in that period.

Goodwin made it 4-1 when he deflected Hay's shot from the blueline behind Rollins. The scoring ended at 18:43 when Brisson beat Pelletier after he and Barry Ross broke from their own zone and had only one defenceman to beat.

Referee Bill Papp called only three minor penalties, all in the middle period, Winnipeg drew two of them.

Aussies, Africa, U.S., Canada Cup Favorites

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

MELBOURNE, (AP)—Australia, South Africa and the United States are favored in the Canada Cup professional golf competition which starts today amid much talk of international goodwill and a simmering feud about caddies.

Two golfers from each of 30 countries start the first of their four daily treks over the 6,853-yard, par 34-36 — 70 Royal Melbourne golf course in quest of the team title won last year by Ireland. There also is an individual competition, based on each golfer's 72-hole total.

Final practice rounds did nothing to change the outlook for a three-way duel. Australia's Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle, who won the title five years ago, shot subpar totals in an informal round.

Gary Player and Harold Henning of South Africa came in with a pair of 68s, and the United States representatives — Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff—whirled around in approximately par figures, using the small British ball.

NEED LONG BALL

They can use the American ball if they desire but Snead said: "We can't afford to give our opponents any distance on this type of course." The layout has wide, open fairways and mammoth greens.

Many of the golfers will have caddies who today were given hurried lessons on how to replace the clubs in the bags.

University students and amateur golfers were drafted to tote the bags when imported caddies from Sydney refused to work for the prevailing wage of 30 shillings (about $3.50) a round. Caddying is a fading art here where even members of the swank Royal Melbourne carry their own clubs.

Caddies were assigned through a blind draw, and through what officials termed "an amazing coincidence," the two Australians, Thomson and Nagle, drew their own pro caddies.

Others weren't so lucky. Player, a top candidate for the individual trophy, had to teach his assigned boy how to replace the clubs. Snead drew a 21-year-old junior champion.

Snead and Middlecoff were paired against the Mexico team in the first round, and Australia meets the defending champions from Ireland.

Warriors Score Second Win

Crush Leafs 7-4 In Penalty-Filled Game

ROSSLAND — The Rossland Warriors smarting from a 5-3 loss Saturday night at Nelson last night turned the tables on the same Maple Leafs and skated to an easy 7-4 win before a good crowd at the Rossland Arena.

Captain Hal Jones sparked the Warriors with two goals, George Ferguson, Pinoke McIntyre, Wiggy Davis, Ray Demore and Bud Andrews counted the other markers for the winners.

Fritz Koehle, Lee Hyssop, Mickey Maglio and converted defenceman Zeke Hamilton split the Leaf scoring evenly.

Ferguson opened the scoring after one minute when his drive from the right point caught the upper left hand corner. Fritz Koehle on a break-away evened the count eight minutes later. With playing coach Joe Conn sitting out a slashing penalty, Pinoke McIntyre stole the puck and scored a clean goal on a breakaway.

Wiggy Davis, deflecting a Ferguson slap shot, gave Koehle no chance and moved Warriors up 3-1. Lee Hyssop, standing beside the goal, lifted a shot over the shoulder of Forlin to move the Leafs up.

Jones, Demore and Jones again scored three quick goals to salt away the victory. Mickey Maglio and Shorty Malacko, combined at 16:05 to draw the Leafs back into the hockey game. Andrews scored the last goal of the period.

15 PENALTIES

Zeke Hamilton scored the final goal of the game at 10:58 of the third. Dave Stewart a real thorn in the side of the Warriors all evening long, drew an assist on Hamilton's goal. The game, rough from the opening whistle, produced 15 penalties.

At 14:50 of the second, Al McClusky and Zeke Hamilton began shoving one another around. They dropped their sticks and gloves and went at it. Conn and Burdett, trying to intervene, began their own feud. All were given five-minute majors. Burdett was the only "casualty", having been clipped on the side of the face with a fist.

In the third period, Ernie Gare, objecting too strenuously over a penalty to Severyn, was given a 10-minute misconduct by referee Harry Harris. Gare, incensed at the call, went after the referee and was given a game misconduct.

Shorty Malacko followed Gare when he was given a 10-minute misconduct when he objected to his slashing penalty.

Forlin kicked out 29 Nelson drives while Koehle at the other end blocked 22.

JEWS GET HARD LABOR

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — A Syrian military court Monday sentenced two Jews to 12 years at hard labor after they were convicted of attempting to flee the country to join the Israeli army. Two other Jewish youths were given six-year prison sentences for the same offence. An Arab convicted of complicity in the attempted escape also drew a six-year sentence.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X E
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Yard Pooh-Poohs Kidnap Rumors

LONDON (AP)— A British newspaper says Irish fanatics are plotting to kidnap Prince Charles, but Scotland Yard has laughed the story off.

"It's a load of nonsense," said a police spokesman Tuesday.

The Daily Herald claimed that fear of a swoop by Irish gunmen is the real reason for a stepped-up security screen at Cheam school in Berkshire, where the 11-year-old heir to the throne gets his education.

"There is nothing sinister about the increased guard on the school," said the Scotland Yard man. "It was done to prevent any annoyance from persons wandering near the school."

The Daily Herald said it had learned from Irish sources "that the Fianna Uladh — warriors of Ulster — a fanatical group of wanted gunmen who broke away from the Irish Republican Party, have been planning to hold the prince hostage until the British government agrees to turn over Northern Ireland to the Irish republic.

FIREMEN WANT RAISE

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — Firemen here are asking for Vancouver rates in current wage negotiations. The request would give first-year firemen $341 a month, up $8.02; second-year men $386, up $9.17; third year $414, up $30.23; fourth year $451, up $49.17. Council is studying the bid.

MARKET TRENDS

MONTREAL (CP)—Papers survived a general downtrend to finish up on index Tuesday on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges.

Steels made a partial recovery, but not enough to save industrials from a loss on index. Steel of Canada added ¾ at 84¼ and Standard Structural ⅝ at 19.

International lost ½ at 35 for the larger change in utilities. Calgary Power lost ¼ at 94¾.

Consumers Gas had a loss of ¾ at 40½ in its section among a rash of minor fractional losers including Imperial Oils and Trans-Mountain and Union Gas.

Royal was strong at 79½, up 1, but the banks section finished down on index on the strength of a 2½-point loss by Toronto-Dominion at 57¾.

Speculatives were generally off a few cents in halting turnover. Volumes were 60,300 industrials and 221,000 mines and oils.

Closing averages showed banks off .16 at 59.57, utilities off .5 at 143.3, industrials off .5 at 304.2, combined off .4 at 250.6, papers up 1.8 at 425.7 and golds off .65 at 82.33.

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market, for the second day in a row, continued to ramble about a lower level.

Base metals led index losses falling off more than a point.

The final volume of 1,876,000 shares compared with Monday's 1,938,000.

Confederation Life was the biggest industrial loser, dropping seven points to 142 on a small turnover of shares. Dominion Stores lost 1¼ points at 51 and Royal Bank of Canada was up 1½ points at 79½.

Senior mines were solidly lower but declines were fractional. Several of the lower - priced issues were off in a 10-20 cent range.

Western oils, for the second straight day, were quiet and most issues traded showed moderate losses, usually 15 to 20 cents among the lower-priced issues and fractions in the senior oils.

Index losses: Industrials .25 at 511.00; golds .45 at 85.99; base metals 1.05 at 166.96; and western oils .42 at 99.23.

Royal Twins Not Expected

LONDON (CP)—The Daily Express says there is no evidence that the Queen is going to have twins, despite rumors to that effect.

Columnist Anne Scott - James writes:

"The doctors cannot be absolutely certain because she has not been x-rayed, but the beat of only one infant heart has been heard through the stethoscope." The Queen's baby is expected late in January or early February. The "rumors" of twins have not been published in Britain. A reporter who asked at Buckingham Palace about the rumors was told that there would be no comment from the palace.

There have been reports that the baby will be born either at Buckingham Palace or Windsor Castle. The Daily Express, in its story today, says "present planning" is that the birth will take place in the Buhl room at the palace, where Prince Charles was born.

Irish Envoy Sends Son To Ireland

WASHINGTON (AP)—Irish Ambassador John Joseph Hearne announced Tuesday that his son, David Patrick, whose brushes with the law were climaxed last week when his automobile killed a woman pedestrian, is being sent back to Ireland.

The ambassador, former Irish high commissioner in Ottawa, telephoned the Washington Star with this brief statement:

"In reply to inquiries which have been made by the press, I wish to announce that I am sending my son, David, back to Ireland to continue his education there. He will leave for Ireland in the near future."

David, 21, who has been studying at American university for the last year, was driving last Wednesday evening when his car struck and killed Mrs. Jossie Hamlin, 54. Her body was knocked 41 feet.

The fatal accident touched off a furore when David invoked diplomatic immunity. That prevented police from charging him.

Warmer Air Sweeps Over U.S. Rockies

DENVER (AP) — Warmer air flooded over the American Rockies Tuesday in the wake of a numbing blizzard that set early season records for sub-zero cold.

Montana, paralyzed by temperatures as low as -45 Monday, felt the first warming trend in a week. Overnight readings were 30 degrees and more warmer than 24 hours earlier.

Tales of heroism and close brushes with death became known as the tail-end of the two-day blizzard cleared out of the region.

FAST THINKING

Truck driver John McEvoy of Butte, Mont., was half-way down a steep grade on Woodville hill near Butte when the brake air lines of his rig froze.

To avoid a built-up area, he wheeled the truck and trailers, carrying 21 tons of wheat, onto a side road. One trailer overturned. McEvoy was badly shaken and burned by battery acid.

"I thought I would be killed," McEvoy said, "but I didn't want to kill anyone else."

Police said that if McEvoy hadn't turned off as he did, the huge truck and cargo would have slammed into a residential area at a speed greater than 100 miles an hour.

HUNTERS FREED

A bulldozer cleared four - foot snowdrifts to free 30 hunters snowbound in the mountains west of Great Falls, Mont. All were in good health. Some were surprised that anyone worried about them, as they had plenty of food and clothing.

The threat of floods from ice-jammed rivers in parts of Montana was diminishing today. Although some new jams were forming in the sparsely settled south-central Montana area, officials said there would be little damage if the rivers overflowed.

Aussies Near Winning In Cricket Test

DACCA, East Pakistan (Reuters)—Ken Mackay, who took six wickets for 42 runs and Richie Benaud, 4 for 42, bowled Australia into a winning position against Pakistan in the first cricket test Tuesday.

With one day of the five - day test remaining, Australia needed only 46 runs to win with nine second innings wickets in hand when play closed.

It was then 64 for one in its second innings, having dismissed Pakistan for 134. The home side made 200 in its first knock, Australia replying with 225.

Mackay took three of the five Pakistan wickets, which fell for 60 runs today. He finished with figures of 45-26-42-6.

ANY MORE ACCURATE? — Marion Capron of Tiffany's in New York holds a solid gold putter the jewelry firm made in its Newark, N. J., plant. It's the second such putter the firm has made, and retails at a tidy $1,475. This one's sold. Anyhow, does the golf ball know?

Nehru Says Reds Used Threats On Prisoners

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—India Tuesday accused the Chinese Communists of using "pressure and threats" to "extort" statements from Indian border police captured by Chinese troops on Oct. 21 in a border clash in the province of Ladakh. Nine policemen were killed in the incident.

The external affairs ministry said reports from 10 prisoners returned by the Chinese last Saturday showed they were "subject to continuous interrogation from the time of their capture to their release."

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Nehru told Parliament that border police continue to be in physical charge of India's entire frontier with THibet, even though the Indian Army has taken over control.

Only some checkposts in Ladakh were in actual army control, he said.

CRITICIZED BY OPPOSITION

Nehru was speaking during opposition party attacks on the reported withdrawal of Indian troops from the Bara Hoti plateau on the Indo-Tibetan border.

The Indian leader said there were no troops in the Bara Hoti area. Under an agreement with *the Chinese, only unarmed civil*ians were sent there pending settlement of the dispute about its ownership.

Nehru said that the dispute over Bara Hoti was a minor one compared with the recent border incidents, and had been going on even before the Chinese occupied Tibet in 1950.

French Atomic Test To Be Aerial One

PARIS (Reuters) — Francis Perrin, French atomic energy high commissioner, said here Tuesday that France's first atomic explosion would be "an aerial one" —not underground.

Perrin, who was speaking at an Anglo-American press lunch, declined to say when the test would take place.

*Perrin, who was answering cor*respondents' questions after a brief luncheon speech, said:

"The French explosion will be aerial. Precautions have been taken so that there will be no victims."

He told one questioner it would be arbitrary to say that this test was needed for scientific progress.

"The world has made enough aerial explosions to get all possible scientific knowledge from them. For underground explosions this is not the same, and it is possible one could get some knowledge from them."

France's atomic test, for which a site has been prepared in the Sahara, will produce "infinitely small dangers for the world and negligible ones for the African people," Perrin said.

There would be much less danger than from the American blasts in the Nevada desert a the resultant increase in atmospheric radioactivity would be "microscopic."

Any criticism of the test could, therefore, only be of a political nature, Perrin maintained.

Safety-Belts Not Favored by B.C. Drivers

VANCOUVER (CP)—A survey taken here indicates British Columbia drivers would rather risk being thrown through the windshield than use safety belts in their cars.

Car dealers and safety officials say, despite the fact that the belts were the most publicized safety devise in recent years, the "fad" has petered out.

Premier Bennett installed the belts in his car and received nation-wide publicity. Most provincial government cars have belts.

Jim Plaskett, spokesman for the Vancouver Traffic and Safety Council, said the council has no plans to continue publicity on the belts. Safe driving was more important than belts but the belts were "the only thing for highway travel."

Picket Lines Crossed Again By Builders

HAMILTON (CP) — Building tradesmen continued Tuesday to cross picket lines in the third day of a strike by 1,000 carpenters against the Hamilton Builders' Exchange. The carpenters are picketing about 30 city and district building sites.

Teamsters truck drivers were reported crossing lines despite *being told by their leaders Mon*day not to do so. Ray Taggart, business agent for Local 879, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, said the union had instructed its members not to cross lines.

Both Local 18 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and the Teamsters local are members of the Hamilton Building Trades Council.

The Teamsters voted earlier to support the council stand to cross carpenter picket lines.

The council has agreed not to do work which comes under the jurisdiction of the carpenters but is having members of its affiliate unions honor agreements signed earlier with the exchange.

Officials of the Builders Exchange and carpenters union said no move has been made to reopen negotiations, broken off when they were unable to agree on wages and a carpenter demand for establishment of a pension and welfare plan.

Toronto Police Ask Ontario To Ban Some Rifles

TORONTO (CP) — Police here have asked the federal government to ban the sale of 20,000 war surplus rifles similar to the sawed-off type *favored by crim*inals.

The firearms, .22-calibre rifles with 14-inch barrels, hold eight bullets.

Though the Criminal Code makes it an indictable offence to possess a rifle with a barrel sawed off to less than 20 inches in length, these guns are not illegal because they are manufactured with short barrels.

Police fear the guns are too well-suited for criminals planning holdups. They can easily be concealed under a coat.

The rifle, manufactured for the RCAF as a survival weapon, weighs less than four pounds. It has a retractable tubular stock and can be converted from rifle to pistol-type firearm.

The Crown Assets Corporation recently released 20,000 of these guns.

Uncheering Crowd Greets Adenauer

By JOHN EARLE

LONDON (Reuters) — Quiet, uncheering crowds Tuesday greeted Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany upon his arrival in London.

About 300 persons inside Victoria Railroad Station and another 1,000 on the streets outside watched impassively as Prime Minister Macmillan welcomed his aged guest.

For the next three days Mac*millan and the German govern*ment chief will try to bolster sagging relations between their two countries.

As Adenauer drove away from the station there were a few shouts of "go home" from the crowd.

The 83-year-old West German leader's blue-and-white Lufthansa airliner landed at Gatwick airport, 20 miles south of London, in cold, misty sunshine.

Odds . . . and Ends

. . . by M. D. B.

I think this will be my last garden column for this year, for it's really getting too cold for gardening now. The roses that I had hoped just might come out if the cold held off are nothing but browned off wizened looking things and the leaves hang bedraggled. I did get them banked with dirt and leaves before the cold struck, so I guess they'll be ready to waken next spring.

* * *

Among the things I discover I forgot to do when I lifted the lilies out of the pool was to put chunks of wood in for the ice to creep up so it won't crack the pool. Now I am keeping my fingers crossed that no harm is being done. And another of my sins of omission at the same time was forgetting to turn off the outdoor water supply. There seem to be so many things to remember.

* * *

The first falling snow flakes found me high in the apple tree, pruning. I have found it is safe to prune in the fall if you wait late enough. I waited late enough all right, and all but froze at the job, but it was a relief to get it and the pear tree done and not have that job to look forward to in the spring. Each fall I have high hopes of being able to garden in a gentler manner — you know — rake up a few leaves here, get down on my knees with a trowel and go after a few weeds — just an easy sort of business.

* * *

Never has this been the case. Spring has found me going after the dirt hammer and tongs, pick and shovel, rooting out rocks like a veritable earth mover. I have discussed this state of affairs with other gardeners and find it a not uncommon complaint.

* * *

Some have visions of lying out in the shade dozing in deck chairs, some have visions of taking a dainty panier basket out, pulling on a pair of CLEAN gardening gloves and gathering delicate blooms in a delicate manner — but they're just dreamers. With a garden you are either spraying some foul concoction or other on roses, weeds, worms or moths, you are tearing rockeries to pieces to get the grass and weeds out, you are pushing a lawnmower or whittling edges with clippers and in between times you are madly going after weeds, weeds and more weeds. To parody an old favorite hymn, it's a case of "Gardener seek not yet repose, cast thy dreams of ease away."

Ike Tentatively Approves Military Budget Decision

By C. YATES McDANIEL

WASHINGTON (AP) — More missiles, less manpower is what emerges from the Eisenhower administration's 1961 military budget.

The president gave tentative approval to this concept Monday at Augusta, Ga., after a four-hour meeting with defence leaders and government budget planners.

Spending will remain at about the present $41,000,000,000 for the year starting next July 1.

Defence Secretary Neil H. McElroy said the navy and air force had volunteered to cut their manpower a little in 1961. But they can look forward to more and better missiles and more atomic - powered submarines. A second nuclear-powered aircraft carrier for the navy failed to get approval, however.

The army and marine corps resisted pressures to cut their forces.

OVERSEAS WITHDRAWALS

McElroy, foreshadowing the new shape of war in the missile age, said the United States must face some time in the future the question of calling back some of its troops now overseas. But no cut in these forces is in the cards for the next 18 months at least.

In concert with McElroy's thinking, the air force chief of staff told the meeting of NATO parliamentarians here Monday to expect cuts in U.S. conventional forces, including manned aircraft, in the future.

Gen. Thomas D. White told the NATO group other changes are in prospect, such as creation of a fast-striking combat unit based in the U.S. but ready for action anywhere.

U.S. military manpower now is about 2,500,000. Just where and how many will be pared was not disclosed.

Counterfeiters Report Being Investigated

TORONTO (CP)—A report that several coin collectors here have been fleeced by a gang of rare coin counterfeiters is being investigated by RCMP.

Albert Rosen, operator of the Toronto Coin Centre, said Monday night a man tried to sell him a 1921 half-dollar worth about $3,000 and a 1936 penny valued up to $1,200.

Mr. Rosen said he offered to have them tested for authenticity, but the man took his coins and hurried from the shop. He learned later that a private collector paid $200 for a similar half-dollar. A fake one-cent coin was bought by another Toronto dealer for $200.

An international coin-doctoring racket was disclosed last weekend when two men were arrested in Vancouver. RCMP and Vancouver police said the scheme involved lifting dates of coins and stamping on old dates to make the coins appear rare.

They found hundreds of coins estimated to be worth up to $200,000 if treated and dumped on the market, Mr. Rosen said.

Lawyer Blocks Move To Deport Hirsch

OTTAWA (CP) — A move to de*port Imre Hirsch, 27-year-old Hun*garian, has been blocked by Toronto lawyer Andrew Brewin, national treasurer of the CCF party.

Hirsch, who arrived in Canada Sept. 27, was ordered deported by the immigration department on grounds that he was likely to become a public charge and had entered Canada only to visit relatives in Toronto. His visitor's permit expired last month.

His deportation has been stayed by a writ filed in Toronto by Mr. Brewin. Under the writ an Ontario Supreme Court judge will determine whether the department's deportation order is valid.

Hirsch left Hungary in 1950 and son.

Predicts Jet Passenger Service Coast-To-Coast

WINNIPEG (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines hopes to inaugurate jet service in Canada April 1, 1960, on the Montreal - Toronto-Vancouver run, TCA President G. R. McGregor said Tuesday.

Inauguration of the jets will be "subject to anticipated aircraft deliveries," Mr. McGregor told a service club meeting.

The jets are 127-passenger, 550-mile-an-hour Douglas DC-8s.

Daily return jet service between Vancouver, Winnipeg and Toronto is expected to start June 15. Transatlantic jet service probably will begin June 1 between Montreal and London.

ALL-TURBINE FLEET

"By mid - June, TCA will be *operating jets from all four ma*jor Canadian cities and to London and Prestwick, Scotland," Mr. McGregor said. "And by 1961, TCA expects to operate the world's first all-turbine international air fleet, flying Viscounts, Vanguards and DC-8s exclusively."

With the inauguration of the Vancouver - Winnipeg - Toronto jet service TCA will schedule daily round-trip service, without change of aircraft, between the four Canadian cities and London, Mr. McGregor said.

DC-8 travel time between Vancouver and Winnipeg is expected to be two hours and 25 minutes; Winnipeg to Toronto, two hours; and Winnipeg to London, approximately eight hours and 35 minutes.

TCA's DC-8s will be the first powered by Rolls-Royce Conway bypass jet engines, he said. Each engine develops 17,500 pounds of thrust. The aircraft have been on order for several years.
