West Leaderless —Montgomery

Former Military Leader Outlines Plan for Reducing World Tension

OXFORD, England (Reuters)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery said Friday night the West has no one to lead it in negotiations with Russia to end the cold war.

Britain's outspoken wartime commander, whose recent criticism of American leadership touched off a furor on both sides of the Atlantic, returned to his attack on Western politicians in the last of two lectures at Oxford University.

Montgomery said the Western alliance never would reach the necessary degree of unity for successful negotiations with Russia without leadership.

"And at the moment, there is no obvious acceptable leader in sight — if by leader we mean someone who is able and willing to give clear and sensible guidance to the whole group and in whom all the member nations [illegible] absolute confidence."

SIX FACTORS

Montgomery, although he conceded that few military leaders make good politicians, advanced six "realistic factors" which must be accepted by both sides before East-West tension can be brought to an end:

1. The West must realize that Russia has no intention of launching a nuclear war on the West.

2. The West will never attack the East;

3. It is illogical to expect Russia to agree that a united Germany armed with nuclear weapons can be integrated into the Western alliance — in any case, the reunification of Germany is not practical politics at present;

4. It is illogical to try to solve the German problem without first solving the problem of European security;

5. It is illogical to work on the assumption that the East German government does not exist;

6. It is illogical to work on the assumption that the true government of China is in Formosa.

WORLD-WIDE STRUGGLE

He criticized some NATO nations for failing to regard the struggle against international communism as a world-wide one and not just confined to the NATO area.

"Because of their lack of vision the West is badly placed at the present time in what is essentially a global problem.

"The difficulty is that there is in NATO a large group of nations with purely parochial interests which are confined to the NATO area. There is another small group with world-wide interests. It has not been possible to hammer out a common policy between these two groups."

But because of the achievements of the last 10 years in building up the West's economic and military strength, Europe now was the area where the military danger was least.

"The real dangers now lie elsewhere — notably in Asia and Africa."

Montgomery said it was essential to work for a friendly China.

But Not That Sort of Hold-up

SPOKANE (AP)—Mrs. Robert Larson heard a radio report Thursday night that a south side drug store was being robbed.

She put in a fast call to her husband, a pharmacist due home soon from the late shift at a south side drug store.

"Is someone holding you up?" she asked.

"Yes," he said, "I'll call you back."

Mrs. Larson quickly telephoned police.

Within minutes, two officers burst in on a startled Larson who was just cleaning up for the night.

It took some time to straighten things out. Someone hadn't really held him up, at least not in the police blotter sense. He said he meant to tell his wife he was being "held up"—delayed by a late cash customer.

The robbery was at another drug store 20 blocks away. A gunman there got $250.

NAMED AS outstanding scholars of Notre Dame College in Nelson when commencement exercises took place Friday night were Leone Jurick of Trail and Tom Siska of Grand Forks. Miss Jurick the previous night won the provincial finals in the Knights of Pythias public speaking contest in Burnaby. For another picture and story on the Notre Dame exercises, see page 2.

New Energy Board Legislation Explained

Argue Says Speculators Will Benefit; Winch Labels Board 'a Sham', 'Stooge'

OTTAWA (CP)—Flexibility to protect the public interest and to maintain healthy conditions in the oil and natural gas industry is the objective of the government's proposed national energy board, Trade Minister Churchill said Friday.

A set of rules rather than a statutory formula will provide the firm framework guiding the five-man board in regulating pipeline tolls, tariffs and traffic conditions.

Spelling out the details of the bill in the Commons, the minister said this explains why there is no reference to the tolls formula recommended in the first report of the Borden royal commission on energy.

It suggested pipeline tolls be set to allow fair and reasonable returns on shareholder equity.

That omission, CCF House Leader Hazen Argue repeated Friday, means that "Texas Buccaneers" and Canadian speculators will reap fresh benefits at the consumer's expense.

Most pipeline financing depends on bond issues rather than sale of stocks, he said. Thus, gas pipeline tolls would be based on "bloated" capital gains rather than the small amount of actual investment that the promoters had sunk in their ventures.

At little or no speculative risk, these promoters had reaped fabulous and unwarranted profits merely through exercising options to buy stock cheap and sell dear.

Armand Dumas, Liberal party spokesman from the Quebec constituency of Villeneuve, said the bill clearly repudiates the recommendations of the government-appointed Borden commission.

RETAINING POWER

The government was retaining wide, arbitrary power to be exercised through cabinet order-in-council rather than through Parliament. But the Liberals approved the bill's principle of establishing the national energy board.

Mr. Churchill said the bill will simplify existing legislation and regulations. It would control import and export of gas and the export of electricity and — only through cabinet proclamation if that was deemed necessary—import and export of oil.

Cabinet approval would be required for board certificates to build and operate pipelines as well as import and export permits.

The bill establishes the energy board as the sole pipeline authority replacing the board of transport commissioners—a step contrary to Borden report recommendations which urged retention of some transport board duties.

WOULD STUDY

The board would provide a continuing and consistent study of hydrocarbon and electric energy matters during a time of swift change, Mr. Churchill said.

At its heart lay the matter of traffic, tariffs and tolls, previously not controlled. The government had felt for some time that the gap should be closed between regulation of prices at the pipeline point of intake and regulation of prices at the point where it left the pipeline for distribution to consumers.

Import-export licences now would be issued only after a public hearing where those affected could state their case.

Mr. Churchill said the cabinet is retaining control of oil import-exports because of various factors. Canada now was selling where it could and there was a threat of price collapse inherent in the world oil surplus. Fast action might be required in that event and it was deemed better to leave the matter in cabinet's hands rather than with Parliament.

"BETRAYAL OF CANADA"

Harold Winch (CCF—Vancouver East) described the proposed board as "a sham" and a "betrayal of Canada" because it would give the board no real power, retaining this for the cabinet.

"You cannot have a national energy policy that does not take in every province and everything of an energy-producing nature in this country," he said.

But as far as he could see in the government bill "no authority whatsoever . . . is included to enable this board when established to be able to proceed."

At another point he said:

"The board is not a policy-making or administrative board at all; it is a political stooge of the government in power."

The board could not issue a licence without cabinet approval and it could not revoke or suspend a licence without similar approval.

It would be subject at all times to cabinet approval and that, he said, "makes it a political stooge and not a policy-making or administrative board."

PLANES, ARMS SEIZED IN U.S.

12 Charged With Conspiracy to Bribe Officer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Federal officers Friday seized an arms-laden plane and charged 12 persons, including a Dominican Republic official, with conspiracy to export the guns and ammunition to that island nation.

The Dominican government man — Augusta Ferrando, consul at Miami — also was charged with conspiracy to bribe a United States officer to let the arms go through. He furnished $25,000 bond.

Admitted to $10,000 bond on the same charges was Joseph Liquori, a Miami policeman who once worked for the Dominican Republic.

Liquori formerly was bodyguard to Dominican strong man Rafael Trujillo's playboy son, Rafael Jr., and accompanied young Trujillo on a west coast yacht cruise which made headlines in connection with parties attended by Hollywood film beauties.

Leonard Trento, Newark, N.J., was admitted to $25,000 bond on charges identical to those against Ferrando and Liquori.

Machine Guns Fire on Crowds

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Brazilian marines opened fire with sub-machine-guns and pistols Friday on an angry crowd that rioted for three hours after a ferryboat strike stranded thousands of commuters.

The mob burned the ferry dock, offices and a restaurant in downtown Niteroi, a town of 200,000 across the bay from Rio. Stores were looted and a dockside warehouse destroyed.

Government sources said marine gunfire killed one person and wounded between 30 and 50. Newspaper reports said up to 12 were killed and 64 wounded.

The trouble broke out during the morning rush hour after ferry workers staged a sudden strike at midnight demanding pay increases promised them May 1.

HOW JAILS TO HANDLE DRUNKS TO BE STUDIED

VANCOUVER (CP) — An official of the British Columbia Alcoholism Foundation Friday called for a full-scale medical-legal study on the treatment of persons arrested and jailed for drunkenness.

Edward McRae, executive-director of the foundation, said the attorney-general's department should investigate how intoxicated persons are handled from the time they are arrested until they complete a prison sentence.

Mr. McRae's comments follow the death last week of a man in Vancouver city jail after he was arrested for drunkenness for the eighth time in a year. The prisoner was noticed ill and taken to hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

"Our officials know a better method of handling drunks can be devised but frankly we don't know what it is. The system needs overhauling but any improvements can only come from an investigation," Mr. McRae said.

Harriman May Visit Red China

WASHINGTON (AP)—W. Averell Harriman, former governor of New York, Friday received U.S. state department permission to visit Communist China in the role of newspaper man if the Chinese Reds will let him in.

The department said the decision to validate the New York Democrat's passport was approved personally by State Secretary Christian A. Herter, now attending the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting in Geneva.

Prisoners Granted Amnesties

OTTAWA (CP) — Some, at least, of the 20,000-odd convicts serving time in Canadian prisons and jails will have special reason to welcome next month's visit by the Queen and Prince Philip.

Justice Minister Fulton announced Friday that on the occasion of the royal visit beginning late next month, sentences of six months or longer will all be reduced at the rate of 30 days for each year left to serve.

He noted that similar amnesties were granted in 1935 on the silver jubilee of King George V, in 1939 when King George VI visited Canada, in 1953 at the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II and in 1957 the year the Queen opened Canada's Parliament, the first reigning monarch ever to do so.

Amnesty was granted in 1957 on the same basis as this one will be. Remission of sentences will be made as of June 23.

Mr. Fulton's announcement gave no figures as to how many prisoners will be affected and how many will be released on amnesty day as a result of the action.

Application Rejected

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia labor relations board has rejected an application by the Canadian Trainmen's Union (Ind.) for certification on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

John Inkman, vice-president of the CTU, said 100 of the 190 PGE employees had signed up when application for certification was made in March.

The labor relations board, in turning down the bid, said the CTU was "not a trade union within the meaning of the Labor Relations Act."

The latest decision was the second major rebuff for the union. Last year it failed to become the bargaining agent for employees on B.C. Electric Railway lines in Vancouver and the board gave the same reason for rejecting the application.

Homeowners' Grant To Be Increased

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier Bennett told a press conference Friday that the provincial home owners' grant will be increased from its present $28 level next year.

But he would not say by how much.

FIRST LIFE GOVERNOR

TORONTO (CP)—Governor-General Massey is to become the first life governor of the Dominion Drama Festival.

The honor will be bestowed at the closing ceremonies of this year's DDF tonight at the Royal Alexandra Theatre.

Herter Urges Resume Disarmament Talks

GENEVA (CP) — U. S. State Secretary Christian A. Herter made a new bid to the Soviet Union Friday to resume the long-stalled general disarmament negotiations.

Herter told Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in the Big Four conference that the U. S. does not irrevocably link disarmament measures with German unification.

"We are prepared to resume general disarmament negotiations in an appropriate forum at any time," he said.

Herter appealed to Gromyko to accept the Western peace plan linking German unification with successive stages of a system for European security and a start on global disarmament.

He said that in the West's view "there is a definite relationship between reunification of Germany, European security and certain disarmament measures."

But he made plain that the United States is prepared to resume the general disarmament talks—which stalled in the United Nations two years ago—apart from Big Four efforts to bridge the East-West differences over Germany.

In the fast-paced session of little more than an hour that wound up the second week of the Conference, the Western powers also called on the Russians to accept a stopgap solution of the Berlin crisis.

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, speaking for the U. S., Britain and France, told Gromyko that "it is normal and the easiest thing to do" to reunite Berlin under four-power control as the first step toward ending the division of Germany.

Nurses' Salaries "Disappointing"

VANCOUVER (CP) — Salaries paid to nurses in provincial government hospitals were described Friday as "very disappointing" during closing sessions of the annual meeting of the B. C. Registered Nurses Association.

"The salaries are below what is being paid by the general hospitals," said Evelyn E. Hood of Vancouver, the association's director of personnel services.

Latest agreements with B. C. general hospitals resulted in basic salary of $280 a month, she said.

The association had made representations to the civil service commission of B. C. for salary adjustments for nurses employed by provincial hospitals. Miss Hood said the salaries finally approved were "very disappointing."

Parliament

By The Canadian Press

Trade Minister Churchill said the government's national energy board bill seeks to protect the public interest and maintain a healthy oil and gas industry without rigid toll and regulation formulas.

Liberal spokesman Armand Dumas (Villeneuve) said the bill gives the cabinet wide arbitrary powers.

CCF House leader Hazen Argue said oil and gas speculators—once "pampered pets" of C. D. Howe—now are Prime Minister Diefenbaker's "dear dollies".

Mr. Churchill said prospects for increased export of oil are encouraging, particularly to the west coast.

Agriculture Minister Harkness announced continuation of price supports on wool, amounting to 60 cents a pound based on the average wholesale price for western and Ontario wool this year.

Red China Goods May Travel U.S. Roads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The treasury Friday agreed to permit Canadian trucks carrying goods from Communist China to travel over United States roads en route to other points in Canada.

The cargoes will be locked up and placed under bond for the trip over U.S. highways. Such goods cannot be delivered to any point in the U.S. because of a law prohibiting imports from Communist China.

The state department recommended the action after the stopping of some Canadian truckers by U.S. customs agents drew criticism in Canada. The trucks stopped carried shrimp which had been picked up from ships at Vancouver for delivery to Eastern Canada.

Canadian truckers often use U.S. highways in the northwest to travel from one Canadian city to another.

The ban went into effect Feb. 19 when Gill-Pix Express Line trucks were stopped at the border, near Vancouver. The shipments were destined for Eastern Canada.

Canadian protests brought the U.S. reply that the prohibition was invoked as a protection of American national security. The Americans argued that an article in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade permits such action.

The Canadian answer was that the stoppage constituted a breach of the 34-country GATT pact. Another article, officials here maintained, binds member countries to allow merchandise of pact nations to travel freely over national territories.

Anti-Combines Laws Revision Difficult

By DON PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The government is drafting revisions in the anti-combines legislation to allow certain types of competition-eliminating business mergers, it was learned Friday.

Well-informed sources say that framers of the new legislation are encountering some difficulty in writing this modification into the long-standing principle of anti-combines law that maintenance of business competition is its chief purpose.

Some idea of what the government has in mind was given in a recent Toronto speech by Justice Minister Fulton.

Among principles and purposes he said the government intends to retain in the legislation is "by maintaining competition, to bring about the most effective allocation of resources and the highest possible standard of living."

Informants say elimination of competition for the purpose of getting control of prices, restraining trade or other factors detrimental to the public interest will still be illegal under the legislation.

But they say the government plans to ask Parliament to approve a modification which would add to the existing principle — that free competition is in itself in the best interests of the public—a qualification as to what kind of free competition is desirable and what isn't.

Other changes to be proposed, sources say, include a provision aimed at penalizing businesses that engage in misleading advertising, such as misrepresenting prices as being wholesale prices.

The government is understood to want to make possible merger of competing companies that might actually result in a more efficient operation and be of greater benefit to the public interest than under normal competition.

The prospective changes in the anti-combines law—which in its influence on the pricing of goods in every section of the economy has an effect on the buying of virtually all Canadians — follow protests in recent years from various business elements.

SHIPBUILDING ON DOWNHILL

VICTORIA (CP)—A shipbuilding industry spokesman said Friday Canada is "disintegrating" as a shipbuilding nation and the industry faces an uncertain future after completion of present contracts.

Harold Husband, president of the Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repair Association and president of Victoria Machinery Depot Limited, made his comments in an interview during the trial run of the recently completed RCN destroyer-escort Terra Nova.

DOLLAR HIGHER

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian dollar closed up 3-32 at $1.04 1-16 in terms of U. S. funds. A week ago it was $1.03¾.

Pound sterling up 1-16 at $2.81⅝.

Looks Deceiving

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) Boats bob at their moorings on three sides of it and flags fly gaily from its roof. Saucy seahorses adorn its walls.

It looks just like a yacht club.

Actually, it's Clearwater's new sewage treatment plant, designed to be a showplace rather than an eyesore.

The new plant had to be located near a luxurious residential development. Its designers took this into consideration and came up with a building which looks like anything except what it is.

Picket Test Case Appears Doomed

VICTORIA (CP) — Victoria's labor men's "test case" against British Columbia's controversial new Bill 43 seemed doomed to fizzle out Friday unless a city contractor seeks redress as an injured party.

Backed by the B. C. Federation of Labor, Victoria Building Trades Council Thursday picketed a non-union construction project and challenged the government to take punitive action under the new labor legislation.

The Bill prohibits picketing of non-union shops.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Thursday that "it is quite impossible to challenge the government by these manoeuvres."

He pointed out that the Act makes provision by which the injured party may seek redress.

But the "injured party" J. Henson Jr., said the picketing did not hamper his operations.

He charged the unions with having failed to ask him to sign any agreement but said he was paying his men union wages anyway. His basic wage for carpenters, he said, was $2.65 an hour. Some men get more.

He said he had not considered taking action against the picketing group "because I have been too busy."

Union officials said it is not true that the contractor has never been asked to sign a union agreement.

"We have approached him before—we have asked him many times in the past," said Don Bushnell, secretary of the Victoria Building Trades Council.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Traffic officers erected a new sign at a busy street intersection on the North Carolina State College campus this week. It said: "Yield."

It bears a new message now. Someone appended: "Not to temptation."

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP)—Clifton High School announced its honor roll Friday. The list includes Charles Brain and Nancy Scholar.

CHICAGO (AP)—Museka and Aribi, Brookfield Zoo's okapis, are showing signs of an historic parenthood.

If Museka becomes a mother, the offspring will be the first okapi born in an American zoo, Robert Bean, director, said.

The okapi is an unusual antelope, resembling a zebra at the bottom and a giraffe at the top.

Aribi, Bean said, is strutting about like a proud father already. Museka is a bit quieter, decidedly chubbier and is eating with an appetite for two.

BAYONNE, N.J. (AP)—The fortunes of war are fickle. Thursday the escort carrier Guadalcanal was towed a few miles upstream form the naval base here to be scrapped. She is listed in U.S. Navy records as the only American vessel to capture an enemy submarine on the high seas during the Second World War.

The submarine she captured—a German U-boat—has been preserved as a museum attraction in Chicago.

Chin Injury Led to Death Of Garrett, Court Is Told

Cause and time of the death of Clarence Douglas Garrett, 35, were brought out in Nelson Friday in the fourth day of the trial of Larry Popoff, 23, one of three Ootischenia men accused of the alleged murder of Garrett.

Testifying before an all-male jury and Mr. Justice F. K. Collins, Dr. Lawrence Duggan, of Trail, pathologist for the West Kotenay area, said death was apparently caused by loss of blood through a two-inch jagged slash in the man's chin.

The doctor said that the cut was outside the jawbone, and penetrated through to the inside of the mouth. The flesh was completely torn away from the jaw, he said. The upper lip was also separated from the upper jaw.

"I have never seen wounds like this before.

"There were numerous head wounds; cuts over the eyes, a two-inch laceration on the right side of the head, cuts on and about the lips, and a multitude of bruises and cuts on the head and upper body."

He said that the small cuts and bruises on the head, with the exception of the slashed jjaw, would not have had an effect on the cause of death.

"Death occurred between 12 and 24 hours prior to my preliminary examination." It was revealed under examination by Crown prosecutor Leo S. Gansner that death occurred between 11 p.m. Oct. 4 and 11 a.m. Oct. 5, the day the body was discovered.

Dr. Duggan said the man died one or two hours after the jagged slash on the chin had been inflicted.

He said the injury to the chin was caused by a blow below the chin.

SUGGESTS KICK

"I doubt very much if the blow was done with a fist. It would take a great amount of force to separate the flesh from the bone as this was. A kick would be much more like it."

Asked by Mr. Gansner if .33 per cent alcohol content of the blood would make Garrett intoxicated, Dr. Duggan replied that with that amount of alcohol, a normal person would be in a coma. The possible lethal dose is .5 per cent.

"I doubt if he would have been able to move around quickly, if at all."

Under cross-examination by defence counsel Douglas T. Wetmore of Trail, the doctor said Garrett could conceivably have died of exposure. "It is possible but not probable. I may have been a contributing factor in his death."

He said the position in which the body was found was consistant with both sleep and death. It was also noted that there was some blood in the lungs, and three quarters of a pint of blood in the stomach.

He stated there was no evidence of pneumonia in the lungs.

Testimony of Sgt. Arthur Zimmerman, RCMP, was interrupted in mid-afternoon at the request of the Crown prosecutor that the jury be excused while testimony concerning a statement was given. Judgment by Mr. Justice Collins as to the admissibility of the statement will be given today.

Sgt. Zimmerman is non-commissioned officer in charge of the Saskatoon general investigation department. At the time of Garrett's death he was temporarily attached to the Nelson RCMP subdivision.

TELLS OF FOOTPRINTS

He said he found a series of partially o b literated footprints leading from the place where Garrett's body was found to the road and on toward Kinnaird for a distance of about 25 feet. Scattered along the prints were fragments of Garrett's shirt and underwear.

He said he removed Garrett's wallet from a pocket. It was smeared with blood on the outside, and there were several smears of blood on the inside. The wallet contained a number of receipts and a single 10-cent coin. There were no bills. The wallet was introduced as Crown evidence.

On the afternoon of the next day, a series of inquiries were made by Sgt. Zimmerman and Corporal R. J. Mills. Purpose was to determine identity of persons last seen with Garrett.

He stated that Larry Popoff was discovered working at a building in East Trail with his cousin Harry Popoff. Larry Popoff was taken to RCMP headquarters in Trail for questioning in connection with Garrett's death.

Sgt. Zimmerman said the questioning of Larry Popoff was done by himself with Cpl. Mills in attendance.

Cpl. Angus McDonald, in charge of the Castlegar detachment, testified he was unable to recognize the body of the man as being that of Garrett, even though he had known him for about 18 months.

He identified a pair of shoes and a torn shirt found near the body, as well as some hair found in the cab of a truck belonging to Larry Popoff.

He said he had noted marks of a scuffle on the road near the body. "They were unusual marks. The soil was disturbed as though something had been thrashing around."

He testified that there was blood on the foliage around the body, and a large pool of blood under the man's head.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Wetmore, Cpl. McDonald said that there were no upper teeth in the man's mouth.

"I have never been satisfied on whether or not he had an upper denture."

He said that Garrett had been taken into custody for drunkenness two days before the discovery of the body. He said Garrett was held overnight, then fined and released. At the time of his release, he had $33.50 in his posession.

The trial will continue at 10:30 this morning.

Two Promoted To Corporals

Promotion of two Nelson subdivision RCMP officers has been announced.

Constables R. J. Davidson of the Crescent Valley detachment and J. D. Flamank of the Nelson detachment have been promoted to the rank of corporal.

Cpl. Flamank has been with the force for nine years. Previously he was a member of the British Columbia provincial police. He served in Prince George with the provincial police and was transferred to Trail when the law enforcement of that city was taken over by the force in 1949. He was transferred to Kaslo in 1955, and joined the Nelson detachment Aug. 1, 1958.

Married with four children, Cpl. Flamank is extremely active in Scouting. He is district Scoutmaster.

Former Nelson Man Joins Royal Tour

A former CKLN announcer now with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in Montreal has been placed in charge of all broadcast arrangements for the royal tour in Canada this summer.

Tom Derbyshire, who was a member of the Nelson radio station staff in the early war years, will be a member of the press and radio staff accompanying the touring party. He is supervisor of engineers for CBC in Montreal.

"Open Friendship, Trust" Given College, Bishop Says

Only the "co-operation, patience and assistance of the people in and around Nelson" have made possible the progress of Notre Dame College, Most Rev. Wilfred E. Doyle, Bishop of Nelson, told the 1959 graduating class at a banquet Friday night. Parents and friends of the graduates filled the dining room of the college to hear the Bishop's address.

The "open friendship, trust and confidence" which the city and district had given Notre Dame were, the Bishop said, the inspiration toward a move which would soon double the college's enrolment. "We can only continue so successfully with the support of the citizens of Nelson."

His Excellency looked forward to the "ready acceptance by students and their parents" of the problems attendant upon increasing the staff and facilities. He added that past success was due in great part to the work of staff members, to the assistance of the Catholic Women's League, which prepared the banquet, and to the co-operation of civic groups including City Council.

The college was unique, the Bishop said, in that its students not only learned in the classroom but also "from scrubbing floors and winning awards." The college tuition fees are partly paid by maintenance work by the students.

"The better kind of leaders are not just born — they are made," Bishop Doyle added, saying "and that is the purpose and hope of Notre Dame. We want to assist the Holy Spirit by using our talents to their greatest extent."

Armand Lalonde of Natal, president of the Student Council, as valedictorian, said: "Tearing up your roots is not a pleasant contemplation, but we are going to carry on the principles and ideals of our dedicated professors in larger fields."

Washing dishes had turned out, said Mr. Lalonde, to be almost as educational as studies, not only in cutting expenses but also in the social rewards this co-operation brought about.

AWARDS PRESENTED

William Laurie of Trail, member of the graduating class, announced the presentations of student awards. Rev. LeRoy McKenzie presented awards for outstanding scholarship to Thomas Siska, Grand Forks, and Miss Leone Jurick of Trail, both first-year students.

Ben Sutherland gave trophies he had presented, to Donald Buchignani of Trail and Florence Kracher of Spokane for outstanding citizenship. Terry Bressanutti of Trail received the athletic award.

William Gaines accepted from Rev. Thomas Hassett the softball trophy on behalf of the Trojan team and Joe Leins the basketball award from coach Terry Wayling.

Armand Lalonde took the table tennis singles trophy and teamed up with Ken Ramdin to win the doubles as well.

William Laurie was presented by A. L. Cartier with the dramatics award, and Father McKenzie presented the public speaking trophy to Miss Jurick, who had won the Knights of Pythias provincial oratory contest.

Rev. L. J. Smith, rector of Notre Dame, made the opening address, welcoming the parents and telling the graduates that "we hope and pray you will go on to make a success of life and that this will lead to higher educational steps."

"We are a small family, small enough and big enough to get along together. "College spirit," he said, "of a family working together, living together, playing together and praying together" was the essence of the success of Notre Dame.

Alderman A. K. McAdams on behalf of the city, wished the graduates success and said the fact Notre Dame students came from "everywhere from Edmonton to Hong Kong" had established the school's success.

In publication of the school's annual, Don Buchignani paid tribute to the assistance of Miss Myra McGillivray, dean of women, in assisting in its preparation.

SEES NEED

At Mass, held in the college chapel in the afternoon, Rev. J. A. Clarmont, Calgary, said the world today is in dire need of educated leaders ready to play a vital role toward the betterment of mankind.

"We need men and women with clarity of reason and courage—the type of people who will help stem the rushing avalanche of immorality, selfishness and greed enveloping the world today," he said.

"Notre Dame College is dedicated to Christian and intellectual advancement. This college has not failed its graduates and I pray they will not fail their college."

Ex-Nelson Man To Be Interne At Spokane

A former Nelson man who is switching from a career in pharmacy to medicine, received his doctor's degree from University of B. C. during graduation this week.

He is Norman Staley, who received elementary and high school education in Nelson.

He received his degree in pharmacy from UBC and practised in Kelowna for one year, then decided to return to the university to earn his degree in medicine.

Mr. and Mrs. Staley and two young children, Donna and David, will move soon from Vancouver to Spokane, lhere Mr. Staley will be an interne at Deaconess Hospital. Mrs. Staley is the former Mildred Hawes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hawes, 111 Richards Street.

Mr. Staley's family is well known in the city, having lived here for a number of years. Mr. Staley Sr., was foreman of Williams Transfer on Ward Street; he now operates a garage in Vancouver.

FUNERAL HELD FOR B. D. FRANK

Friends from Nelson, Trail, Kimberley and Alberta points attended the funeral service at Thompson Funeral Home Friday afternoon for Bernard Doffner Frank, 57, of Kimberley, who died in Mount St. Francis Infirmary earlier this week.

Rev. Canon W. J. Silverwood officiated, and hymns sung were "Abide With Me" and "Unto the Hills Around." Mrs. W. A. Manson was organist.

There were many floral tributes.

Pallbearers were William Bain Jr. of Trail, C. Shonsta of Kimberley and E. W. Craig, A. P. Jenkins, William Hall and James Leeming. Interment took place at Nelson Memorial Park.

Another Bottle Drive Planned

Nelson and District Boy Scout Association will hold another in its series of bottle drives June 20, proceeds again going to buy equipment for Scouts and Cubs.

The lads will be knocking on doors in quest of gifts of milk, beer and pop b ottles, flower pots and clean cotton rags, which are re-sold.

The last collection day earlier this spring realized about $300.

Suspended Sentence For Burnaby Youth

In the only case heard in provincial court Friday, Stipendiary Magistrate William Evans extended the court's mercy to a young offender, found guilty of obtaining goods over the value of $50 by false pretences.

The magistrate suspended sentence in the case of Barry James Wilson, 19, of Burnaby, and placed him on a $100 bond for 12 months in surety of good behavior.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION SET FOR JUNE 4

Graduates from L. V. Rogers high school will have their day on June 4 when at 8 p.m. graduation exercises will be held in the school auditorium.

R. A. Phillips, school board chairman, will introduce the speakers.

Elmo Wolfe of Argenta will make the keynote speech on the subject of "Men to Match Mountains," referring to man's contest against nature in the rugged country of B. C.

The valedictory will be given by Colin Horwood, and the school choir and band will present musical numbers.

Awards for scholarship, athletics and other endeavors will be given at Awards Day June 11. A banquet and dance for the graduating class have already been held.

In the junior high school the custom of holding a graduation ceremony will be dropped this year in favor of an Awards Day, to be held probably June 19. Principal B. B. Crawford expressed the opinion that "graduation" was probably a premature statement for young people who still had several years of school ahead of them, and that the presentation of awards won for good citizenship, scholarship and achievement in other school activities, seemed more fitting.

"ABOUT FACE" FOR SOME RESIDENTS...

Highway Diversion Brings Changes at South Slocan

SOUTH SLOCAN — Work on the new cut-off of the Southern Transprovincial Highway to bypass South Slocan has seen considerable blasting and rock moving at the bottom of Bonnington Hill, but the only evidence thus far in the village itself is a wide swath left by a bulldozer chewing its way along the proposed route west of Bonnington.

For the most part the new road will follow Canadian Pacific Railway tracks, being situated just above them. Motorists will have a magnificent view of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company No. 3 Plant, the Kootenay River as it foams down the gorge and enters the Slocan Pool, and the entire valley, overlooking Shoreacres. This view is almost entirely hidden to the motorist travelling on the present highway.

Owners of the first five or six homes on the lower side of the present road west of the St. Matthews' Anglican Church are faced with the prospect of an "about face" in their gardening efforts.

One homeowner, Mrs. I. R. Jones says: "For many years we have concentrated our gardening on this side of the house, facing the present road. Now, look what we have for a front yard," she said, as she waved her arm down the steep, rocky slope. What once was just thick underbrush and tall trees is now just a rocky jumble for several hundred yards behind six homes, including Mrs. Jones'.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Dahlquist are probably the ones who will benefit most by the new construction. Their house, which was built by the late Mrs. Holden with the new road in mind, is situated just above the railway tracks. They have had a long hike down the hill to the present road, at approximately the "Entering South Slocan" sign. Access to their home in winter has been determined by amount of snow.

This new route through the village is not only a blessing to some like the Dahlquists but will also bring problems, some considerably more serious than the prospects of new gardening projects.

The four businesses in the village, with all the traffic now passing their doors on the present road, are waiting and watching the new construction route which will direct traffic away from their places of livelihood. Most dependent on traffic of the highway, is garage operator R. Dunsmore, J. Hendren who operates a grocery and variety store, will also face a drop in business when the new road is opened. Shoe repairman W. Woiken takes a "wait and see" attitude and this is typical of the others. J. Stuart, whose grocery is combined with South Slocan Post Office, expects some effect to his business, but people will still come for mail.

"Fair Deal" Urged By Chamber Speaker

Employment Situation Shows Improvement

CRANBROOK — The National Employment Office for Cranbrook district covering the area from Kootenay Lake to Elko, reports that unemployment insurance benefits totalling $94,376 were paid to claimants during April.

The report concerning employment applicants and claimants shows a wide margin of improvement in employment compared with the situation a year ago. Registered for employment were 1,150 persons, compared with 1,644 persons for the week last year, and 1,214 persons registered for the previous week. Of the unplaced applicants 918 were men, compared with 1,375 for the week last year.

Active claimants of benefits this week numbered 1026, compared with 1,513 active claimants a year ago.

SOUTH SLOCAN SCHOOL HOLDS TRACK MEET

SOUTH SLOCAN — Mount Sentinel high school held a day of track and field events with competition between the three school houses — Apache, Blackfoot and Cherokee. The Blackfoot "tribe" scalped the other two houses, and took the honors for most points in the competitions.

Students with the individual championships were, their houses signified by letters:

Senior boys' champion, John Soukeroff, C; runner-up, Pat Latondras, B; senior girls' champion, Janice Plotnikoff, A; runner-up, Leslie Hammond, C; junior boys' champion, Michael Brewster, A; runner-up, Albert Cunningham, B; junior girls' champion, Lena Zaitsoff, B; runner-up, Gloria Catton, A.

Several students are slated to enter the West Kootenay inter-high school track and field competitions today at Nelson. Best bet will be Janice Plotnikoff.

Slocan City's Lucerne high school girls' softball team journeyed to South Slocan Thursday night to trounce the Mount Sentinel girls 24-15. A return match will be played at Slocan City on May 28.

Testing of Cattle Completed at Creston

Hon. Newton P. Steacy, minister of agriculture, has announced that the livestock branch of the B.C. department of agriculture has completed blood testing of cattle in the Creston district. This marks the completion of blood testing work in the entire East Kootenay brucellosis control area, which has now been declared free of brucellosis.

Some 800 herds of cattle were tested under this eradication program, over an area extending from Riondel to Alberta and from Donald to the international boundary. All breeding stock over the age of six months was tested. Because many of the animals were range cattle these were available for testing only during winter months, which necessitated the program being spread over several years.

The minister has pointed out that the immunizing of calves each year has been an important part of this eradicatino program in building up a reserve of immune animals. This is a major factor in reducing the incidence and spread of brucellosis in the area.

INSTITUTES HELPED

Mr. Steacy paid tribute to the "valuable assistance" given by Farmers' Institutes throughout East Kootenay in this work. "This co-operation in supplying information and help has made it possible to complete this important work with a minimum of delay."

With the completion of this phase of the control program, the area is being turned over to the federal department of agriculture and will henceforth be known officially as a federal brucellosis control area under the federal "Animal Contagious Diseases Act".

Kimberley Firemen Called as Relief

CRANBROOK — Kimberley fire department was summoned because more hose was needed and because Cranbrook firemen needed relief, Fire Chief V. Doll said here in clarifying reports on this aspect of a fire which destroyed two hotels here last Saturday.

Fire Chief Doll said his men had been working on the fire for four or five hours and were badly in need of relief. All the Cranbrook fire department hose, a mile and a quarter long, had been used.

Hotel Builder Dies At 78

KIMBERLEY — Builder and operator for many years of the Canadian Hotel in Kimberley, Donald Alexander (Dan) MacKinnon died at St. Eugene Hospital in Cranbrook at the age of 98.

He was born at Mount Young, Cape Breton Island, and lived at Coleman, Alta., for several years before settling in Kimberled in 1926. He and his wife operated the hotel there until its sale in 1947 when they moved to Cranbrook and built and operated the Almo Tourist Court. Mrs. MacKinnon died in 1951.

Since his retirement Mr. MacKinnon lived at Kimberley and at a rest home in Cranbrook. Surviving him are two daughters, Mrs. G. A. Giovannetti of Sidney, N.S., and Miss Catherine MacKinnon of Kimberley, four grandchildren, and one brother and four sisters in eastern Canada.

Burial in Westlawn cemetery at Cranbrook followed the funeral service at Kimberley Presbyterian Church Thursday afternoon.

New Gov't House Not Really An Expense, Premier Says

VICTORIA (CP)—New Government House is not really an expense to the province, Premier Bennett maintained Friday.

"It is an investment that repays itself many fold in industrial development," he said at a press conference, adding this is "cash return."

Asked whether this meant the palatial suites of Government House would be used to host visiting industrialists, the premier declined further comment.

He said B.C. is the most British part of Canada, "therefore we have the best Government House, and so we should."

"The Case Of The Invisible Ear" Is Solved By Perry Mason

Erle Stanley Gardner was one of the first to discover what a tremendous advantage in both comfort and clarity "Target Hearing" brings to an active person. "I can't begin to tell you how much satisfaction I get out of it", he says.

Erle Stanley Gardner, creator of "Perry Mason", says, "I think more people should realize the extent to which recent scientific discoveries can help in restoring lost hearing, just as glasses can sharpen dim vision". Like Mr. Gardner, you'll be amazed at the ease and clarity with which Otarion's exclusive, patented "Target Hearing" lets you hear where you look. You'll be amazed, too, when you discover that with "Target Hearing" even your best friends may not know you're wearing a hearing aid unless you tell them. There are no irritating, old fashioned cords or wires in your hair or clothing, no unsightly "blobs" behind your ear. With revolutionary "Target Hearing" a tiny, almost invisible tube leading to your ear brings you a whole, wonderful world of sound without the annoyance of unwanted "background" noises.

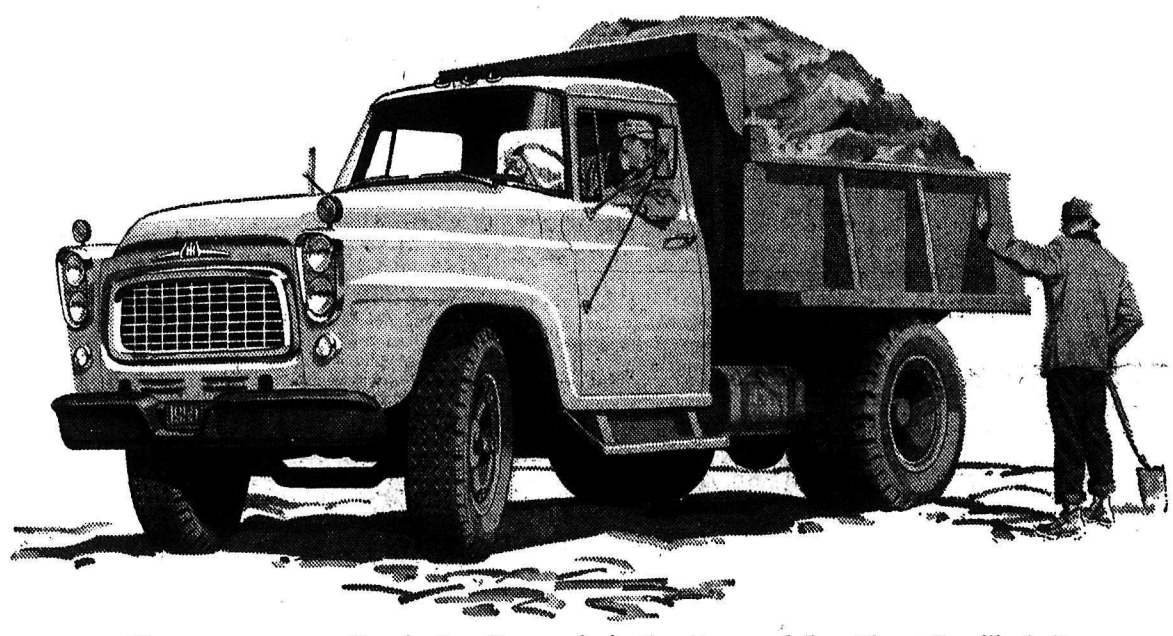
What's most important in a DUMP TRUCK?



You may answer . . . "engine" . . . "transmission" . . . "rear axle" . . . "frame" or "body."
And taken one by one, these are all important factors. But remember . . .

BALANCED Truck Engineering
is the key to dependable truck performance

YOU'RE depending on the whole truck for long and profitable service. Only when all components are balanced can a truck do your job as it should. For example, engine power can be put to work efficiently only if the transmission, propeller shaft and rear axle are matched to the engine's capacity.

How can you be sure of getting balanced truck engineering? Your best plan is to buy your trucks from truck specialists. INTERNATIONAL engineers have long experience in solving the special problems of truck design. INTERNATIONAL sales representatives are trained to analyze your job and recommend the balance of components that will be ideally matched to your job.

Just as important, INTERNATIONAL truck specialists offer prompt and efficient truck service to keep your trucks on the job.

Mayor vs Council

Mayor C. E. Oliver of Penticton has flown to Victoria to ask the department of municipal affairs who city clerk H. G. Andrews obeys, him or the city council.

This looks like a simple question which has a simple answer. The city council was elected to run the city affairs and the mayor was elected as its head. It is customary to describe a mayor as a chief magisrtate, though there seem to be no records of magistrates trying cases unless the present case is one. In this he seems to have decided that he runs the city. His councillors disagree.

No doubt the mayor objects to the tail wagging the dog, or in this particular instance, the body of the council telling the head what to do, but he evidently does not believe in bowing gracefully to majorities.

Particularly at this time of the year when tax assessments are in the mail there are many taxpayers who will approve of Mayor Oliver's action. They would like to defy the council, too, and they will watch his battle with the council with sympathy as well as amusement.

But underneath all this farcical situation is a minor defect in our municipal elections which can bring about such situations as this. Our mayors are elected to their office with the presumption that they should head and direct the council while the council is elected to run city affairs. They may have nothing in common and the council may decline, as in the case at Penticton, to follow the mayor's leadership. In which case they can make the mayor's life unhappy.

There is something of a suspicion that much the same thing is happening in other cities and that the mayor has far from a decisive voice in city matters. This does not necessarily mean that such cities are badly governed, but rather that they are not as effective as they should be because there is a lack of cohesion and unanimity of purpose.

The abolition of separate elections for mayors by the taxpayers and the substitution of an election by the council of one of its already elected members would be much more serviceable than the present system. It would be more likely to result in the choice of an individual agreeable to the council and there would be no question of the mayor forcing his policy on the council since he would be acting as chairman and thus without policy of his own.

Interpreting the News

By STEWART MACLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Although missiles are gradually taking over as Britain's chief air weapon, the end of the manned fighter era is nowhere in sight.

In fact, say defence ministry spokesmen in London, the manned fighter will be required indefinitely — "unless missiles learn to make positive identification of aircraft." They also say manned aircraft are the only weapons that can hedge-hop into enemy territory without being spotted by radar.

British defence planners took a long look at the future of manned aircraft before deciding that the new TSR-2 fighter-bomber should be brought into production about 1965 at a cost of £200,000,000. They made the decision about four months ago.

It will be about 1967 before the RAF is equipped with a full complement of TSR-2s. Since defence spokesmen say the aircraft will be in service "for a good many years" this means that Britain's manned fighter planes would be going strong until 1975, even if no additional models are designed.

The TSR-2 will be essentially low-level aircraft which Defence Minister Duncan Sandys has described as "highly suitable for limited war operations."

It will be capable of high-altitude all-weather performance and will carry air-to-air missiles. It will also have space for an atomic bomb and will take off from 600-yard unsurfaced runways.

Defence spokesmen describe the TSR-2 as a "completely versatile aircraft, capable of doing any job."

The need for manned aircraft was brought out sharply at the time of the 1956 Suez action when British pilots were ordered to destroy military installations without striking nearby towns. Pilotless missiles, say the defence planners, could never accomplish such a mission without large-scale destruction.

Manned aircraft appear to be winning renewed favor in some other European countries because of their ability, by changing height at random, to sneak under the radar screens. Both French and West German defence spokesmen have publicly pointed out the advantages of aircraft over missiles.

Rules in Rhyme for the School Bus

When in the queue, I mustn't try
To trip, or push, the passer-by.
I must not chalk up words obscene,
Nor put slugs in the slot machine.
I must not fight to get upstairs,
Nor gamble for the unpaid fares.
I really must not slash the seat,
Nor on the upholst-ry wipe my feet.
I must not push folk off the bus,
Nor shout, nor kick, nor smoke, nor cuss.
I must not smash the window glass,
Nor spit upon the folk we pass.
I must not keep a chain or razor
In the pocket of my blazer —

But if you do, you need not fret,
A talking-to is all you'll get.
We can't deny the simple truth —
You're just a maladjusted youth,
You're really mummy's pride and joy,
Her mixed-up, teenage Teddy-boy.

PRESS COMMENT

POLITE SNARL

A psychologist says that breakfast should be eaten in silence. Oh come, can't we even snarl "Good morning" to the children?

—Peterboro Examiner.

Not laws against certain speeds but against certain drivers are needed to make our highways safer. — Fredericton Gleaner.

F. B. Pearce. . . . . Writes

When I was down beside the sea,
My little grandson said to me,
"Let's go and see the sea."
So we went and saw the sea.
And when we had seen the sea
He said, "We've seen the sea
Now let's go home and see
What grandmother has for tea."

And in between times he would say, "Let's play ball," or "let's go for a car ride." From which it may be gathered that he was a little boy though even quite big boys say the same things.

Of course, if a little boy has a librarian for a mother he will want to read, and if all his family read he will conclude that it is the proper thing to do and will try to learn for himself. This little boy knows and can write all the capital letters learned from the breakfast food boxes. His next step will probably be to learn words and if his mother is not careful he will learn to read before he goes to school. This is unfair to the teachers and leaves them frustrated. Well, wouldn't you be frustrated if you were all set to teach the child,

Look, look!
See Spot run,
See Bobby run
See Betty run.

and the child is already reading something intelligent?

But the fact that he knows all his letters reminds me of the days when little girls would come to school on the first day of school with an eager little youngester in tow and announce proudly "This is Bill. He is six on the tenth and he knows his alphabet and can count to a hundred."

In those days the whole family took an interest in seeing that the youngest child learned and my memory may be at fault but I cannot remember any child in the rural schools in which I taught who did not know how to read. It is true that many of my pupils of those days never went to high school, but there was not one who went through the eighth grade who had any difficulty in reading.

But teachers complained that parents were teaching their children by wrong methods and the rebuffed parents left everything to the teachers and the result was the need for remedial reading classes.

In particular the teachers objected to the children learning their alphabet first. It was unscientific by their methods. They much preferred the looks and say method where guessing was at a premium and they were doubtful about phonics. The truth being that they did not know their phonics very well themselves and it never occurred to them that many of the letter names are an easy introduction to phonics and reading. The child puts its mouth in the same position when it says "b" as it does when it says "boy" and "big" and though some letters like "c" do not follow the rule the exceptions are easy to learn.

But the worst effect of the teachers' assumption that only they could teach reading was the destruction of the belief that learning to read is easy. Once it became a matter for skilled teachers only, then the children acquired a belief of their own that it was difficult and they began to find it so.

Tempus Fugit

To calculate the time of day, choose a point on the celestial sphere as the time reckoner. This may be either the vernal equinox, the apparent sun, or the mean sun. It is noon when the time reckoner is in upper transit, and noon plus the hour angle for any other position. This is simple enough, as any schoolboy will testify.

But when you remember that the sidereal day is approximately 3 minutes 55.909 seconds shorter than the solar day, and that the solar day is longer when the earth is near perihelion than when it is near aphelion, it becomes a bit more complicated.

To simplify matters, then, the businessman in Chattanooga sets his watch by the local civil time, which is deduced from civil time at the meridian of Greenwich, England. Now difference of local time corresponds to difference of longitude, so if this Chattanooga businessman is flying to Chicago, all he has to do is gain an hour by losing an hour on his watch. So far so good. But now comes the hard part. Is Chicago on Daylight Saving Time? Or maybe Chattanooga is. And did he start from Chattanooga on Eastern Standard Time or Central Time?

At this point the businessman may well sigh resignedly and give up his quest for the right time.—The Christian Science Monitor.

RCN Ships, British Frigate, To Escort Royal Yacht Britannia

OTTAWA (CP)—Eighteen RCN ships and a British frigate will escort the royal yacht Britainnia into the St. Lawrence River next month when the Queen begins her tour of mainland Canada, it was announced Friday.

Following the initial two-day visit in Newfoundland, the Queen and Prince Philip will board the Britannia at Sept-Iles, Que., June 20, sailing across the river mouth to Gaspe under escort by the Royal Navy's HMS Ulster — an anti-submarine frigate — and the Canadian vessels St. Croix and Restigouche.

The following morning the royal yacht and her escorts will be met off Gaspe by the destroyer escorts Gatineau, Kootenay, Crescent, Cayuga, Athabaskan and Micmac; the frigates Swansea and Fort Erie; the submarines Ambush and Alderney; and minesweepers Resolute, Fundy, Thunder, Chignecto, Quinte and Chaleur.

HEADS WEST

The two submarines and six minesweepers will drop out of the escort shortly after the royal yacht leaves Gaspe that afternoon, and that night the Fort Erie and Swansea also will leave.

On Monday, June 22, the Britannia will be escorted up the Saguenay River to Port Alfred by the Ulster, St. Croix and Restigouche, while the six other Canadian destroyers anchor at Tadoussac, where the Saguenay meets the St. Lawrence.

All nine ships will accompany the Britannia from Tadoussac to Quebec City, where the Queen will arrive June 23. The following day, the Ulster will be joined in escort by the Kootenay and Gatineau — the other Canadian vessels dropping out — for the trip to Trois-Rivieres and Montreal.

U.S. ESCORT

The United States Navy destroyer Forrest Sherman, along with the Ulster and Gatineau, will escort the Britannia at the official opening ceremonies for the St. Lawrence Seaway near St. Lambert lock Friday, June 26.

During the rest of the royal yacht's passage through the seaway and the Great Lakes, escort duties will be shared by the Ulster, Gatineau and Kootenay, along with three U.S. ships joining in Lake Huron and Lake Michigan while the Queen is in American waters. She visits Chicago July 6.

Later in July, when the Queen sails from Shediac, N.B., for visits to Charlottetown and Cape Breton, the Britannia will be accompanied by the Canadian destroyer escorts Algonquin, Iroquois and Huron, plus the Ulster.

REDS FIND KASSEM HARD TO PRESSURE

By TOM MASTERSON

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Communists appeared Friday to have lost their bid for a quick power grab in Iraq.

They still are the strongest single political group in Iraq but they seem to have backed away from any kind of showdown — at least for the moment.

At the same time Abdel Karim Kassem, the Iraqi revolutionary premier, is gaining new stature in the Middle East.

It seems clear that Kassem has not only stiffened his back against Communist pressure, but also apparently has forced the Reds to back down and has made it stick.

The Communists, who have long commanded the street mobs, have been making an open grab for power since the abortive Mosul revolt in March.

But what looks like an almost complete reversal in tactics was disclosed during the last 72 hours by Radio Baghdad. A series of broadcasts and programs quoting newspaper editorials gave the situation a different look.

The Communists have suddenly ended their intensive campaign to get into Kassem's cabinet.

Until three days ago the Communists had carried out an unceasing drive aimed at getting representation in the cabinet. The subject was dropped on Wednesday.

BACK DOWN

Obviously reluctantly, the Communists backed down Thursday from their demand for immediate official recognition of political parties.

This followed an announcement Wednesday that the left-wing National Democratic party, which holds most of the cabinet posts, was quitting political activities in response to Kassem's insistence.

Kassem earlier this month said the time was not ripe for political parties in Iraq.

An editorial in the main Red newspaper, Ittihad el Shaab, said in effect the Communists will not now press for immediate recognition. "This question can be solved in time," it added.

Duke of Windsor Has No Comment Oakes Murder

PARIS (AP) — The Duke of Windsor Friday declined to reply to a request that he return to the Bahamas in connection with the proposed re-opening of the Sir Harry Oakes murder case.

The duke was governor of the Bahamas at the time of the 1943 slaying and following murder trial, at which Alfred de Marigny, son-in-law of the Canadian multi-millionaire, was acquitted.

A resolution to re - open the case was passed by the Bahamas assembly and member Cyril Stevenson said it was imperative the duke return to tell what he knows of the case.

Informed of the new developments, the duke authorized his secretary to say that, after consultations with his lawyers, he has no comment at this time.

NEW YORK (AP)—Private detective Raymond C. Schindler, disputing a statement by a member of the Bahamas House of Assembly, says he has no new evidence in the unsolved slaying of Sir Harry Oakes.

Schindler said Thursday:

"I've had no information since 1944 . . . when I offered to break the case. Then I was told by Government House that if I investigated the Oakes case or interviewed anybody about it, I would be deported."

The resolution for renewal of the investigation, passed by the assembly, was introduced by Cyril Stevenson who said Schindler had new evidence in the case. He did not specify the nature of the purported evidence.

Major Pumice Deposit To Be Worked In B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A road builder plans to spend $600,000 to develop a find of pumice, a rock that has stepped from grandmother's kitchen into the construction industry.

John McIsaac, 41, of Whitehorse, a road builder in British Columbia and the Yukon for 17 years, will develop a claim staked by veteran prospector John Ryan, 56, last year on the Lillooet River northeast of here.

Mr. McIsaac says development of the only major deposit of pumice in B.C. will be launched within a month.

It will require construction of 16 miles of new roa to join a road being punched from the Lillooet River to Bralorne Pioneer Mines Ltd.

USED IN CONCRETE

Pumice, grandmother's kitchen abrasive, is used principally as a lightweight aggregate in certain types of concrete. It is also used as a cement additive in small quantities.

Mr. McIsaac hopes to have an open pit quarry in production by the fall.

His biggest and nearest market is Vancouver, which now takes about 100,000 cubic yards a year. The current price is $9 a yard.

Vancouver's supply now comes from Crater Lake, Ore.

Mr. McIsaac hopes to be able to cut the price to enlarge the local market and compete in Seattle.

Mr. Ryan staked his deposit in August, 1957. The lease covers 563 acres. There is visible pumice of unusual purity on a cliff face 220 feet high and 2,600 feet wide. estimate of visible pumice runs to 20,000,000 yards.

One of the teams which open the way for amateur explorers, settlers and home-makers will be active again on the west coast this summer.

On foot, by helicopter and boat, about 50 men will be mapping and charting the British Columbia terrain and coastline.

They are part of the larger force of more than 1,000 men being sent into the field this summer in 81 separate field-survey parties by the federal mines and technical surveys department.

The crews will be paying special attention to regions with potential mineral, water power, forest and other resources.

In B.C., crews will be working in the interior, along with the north coast, in the Fraser Valley, on Vancouver Island and among the Queen Charlotte and Gulf Islands.

Grant Starkweather Stay of Execution

LINCOLN, Neb. (CP) — Mass killer Charles Starkweather Friday was granted a two-week stay of execution a little more than an hour before his scheduled appointment with death in the electric chair.

Federal district Judge Richard Robinson of Omaha granted the stay to allow Starkweather to appeal the denial Thursday of his application for a writ of habeas corpus.

John Greenholtz, acting Nebraska penitentiary warden, gave first word of the development to reporters and witnesses as they showed up at the prison during a pre - dawn thunderstorm this morning to witness the execution.

Greenholtz said he received the word in a telephone call from Robert Conrad, administrative assistant to Governor Ralph Brooks.

HAD NO COUNSEL

Conrad said Judge Robinson, after study and conferences through the early-morning hours, found that Starkweather had been without the help of counsel in his habeas corpus efforts Thursday.

The 20 - year - old condemned killer had sought the writ on grounds his constitutional rights had been violated.

Eleven knife and gun slayings were blamed on — and admitted by—the youthful former garbage hauler following a murder rampage 16 months ago.

U.S. district judge Robert Van Pelt Thursday rejected applications for a writ of habeas corpus and a stay of execution, filed by the youth's parents.

KILLING SPREE

Starkweather, a five- foot -five, bow-legged redhead, vaulted into notoriety in January of 1958.

Accompanied by his 14-year-old sweetheart, Caril Ann Fugate, he set out on a killing spree. Nine victims in and around Lincoln were counted in three days as the fugitive teen-agers kept one jump ahead of the law.

The trail ended with capture of the pair near Douglas, Wyo., Jan. 29 after a parting-shot killing of a shoe salesman on a Wyoming highway. Starkweather subsequently admitted the previously unsolved slaying of a Lincoln filling station attendant, bringing his string to 11.

Starkweather was tried specifically in the Jan. 27 shooting of a Bennet, Neb., high school student, Robert Jensen, whose body was found in a storm cave with that of his girl friend, Carol King.

GIRL FRIEND CONVICTED

Caril, now 15, was convicted of murder on grounds she aided and abetted Starkweather in the Jensen killing, and drew a life sentence. Her appeal to the state supreme court is pending.

Starkweather was a principal witness against Caril at her trial, and the girl's lawyers have since contended, in seeking a new trial, that false testimony by Starkweather convicted the girl.

Only Wednesday Caril asked Governor Ralph Brooks to stay Starkweather's execution so he would have "plenty of time to tell the truth." She also asked the governor to arrange a face-to-face meeting with Starkweather before his execution in the hope of drawing from him a statement that Caril was innocent. Brooks rejected the pleas.

Segregationists Complain About Tale of Black and White Rabbits

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A book for young children about a white rabbit marrying a black rabbit has drawn protests in Alabama.

It was withdrawn from general public library circulation after segregationists complained that it reflected pro-integration views.

The book is The Rabbits' Wedding, published by Harper Brothers last year for children between the ages of three and seven. It was written and illustrated in color by Garth Williams.

The story tells of the marriage of the black and white rabbits at a moonlight wedding attended by all the other animals of the forest.

After criticism of the book appeared, Miss Emily Wheelock Reed, director of the Alabama public library service division, which lends books to local libraries throughout the state, ordered the book placed on the agency's reserves shelves.

Miss Reed said the rabbit book had not been banned, but merely withdrawn from general circulation. Librarians seeking the volume for their local libraries now may obtain it only by specific request.

GOT COMPLAINTS

She said she and members of her staff had received complaints about the book and that a member of the legislature, Senator E. O. Eddins, questioned it.

Meanwhile, the publishers issued a statement from the author, now in California, who said:

"I was completely unaware that animals with white fur, such as white polar bears and white dogs and white rabbits, were considered blood relations of white beings. I was only aware that a white horse next to a black horse looks very picturesque."

Williams said his story was not written for adults. He said they "will not understand it, because it is only about a soft furry love and has no hidden message of hate."

Presbyterians Plead For United Churches

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A plea for church unity was addressed to the other churches of the Presbyterian and reformed tradition in the United States and Canada Thursday by the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

The invitation to union was extended to five groups in the United States and two in Canada, which have total membership of 3,250,000. The United Presbyterian Church itself has 3,159,562 members.

A combination of these bodies would produce a church ranking well up among the largest Protestant denominations in English-speaking North America.

The United Presbyterians' 171st general assembly adopted a committee recommendation that a letter be sent to the seven other church bodies.

The unity plea was addressed to: Associated Reformed Presbyterian Church, Cumberland Presbyterian Church, Cumberland Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and Liberia, Evangelical and Reformed Church Hungarian Reformed Church in America, Presbyterian Church in the U.S. (Southern), and Reformed Church in America, all ... the United States; and the resbyterian Church in Canada and the United Church of Canada.

All of these churches trace their origins to John Calvin in Geneva or John Knox in Scotland during the 16th-century Reformation, when Protestantism arose through separation from the Roman Catholic Church.

United Church Plans 600 New Edifices

VANCOUVER (CP) — The United Church of Canada plans to build 600 new churches in this country in the next five years, the church's associate secretary said Thursday.

Rev. James Fraser of Toronto told the British Columbia conference that $53,000,000 was raised last year, the largest amount in one year in the church's history. Present property was valued at $300,000,000.

But he warned against smugness.

"Last year some 727,000 families gave $6,810,000 to our missionary maintenance fund," Mr. Fraser said. "In round figures that sounds wonderful, but break it down and it is $9 a year per family, or the price of a package of cigarets every two weeks."

He told the conference that next month 113 ministers will be ordained and 18 more will come from other churches.

"This is the highest since 1925, and we are in the position where we now can only accept the best candidates for the ministry."

Our Father's Business

The foundation of Christian practice must be laid in Christian knowledge and faith.

We must first understand how we receive Christ Jesus the Lord, and then we shall know better how to walk in him. There is a great deal of duty prescribed in Romans: Chapter 12. The exhortations are short and to the point, briefly summing up what is good, and what the Lord our God in Christ requires of us.

Romans: Chapter 12: "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God.

For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith. For as we have many members in one body, and all members have not the same office: So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another. Having then gifts differing according to the grace that is given to us, whether prophecy, let us prophecy according to the proportion of faith; or ministry, let us wait on our ministering: or he that teacheth, on teaching; or he that exhorteth, on exhortation: he that giveth, let him do it with simplicity; he that ruleth, with diligence; he that showeth mercy, with cheerfulness.

Let love be without dissimulation. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good. Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another; not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord; Rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation; continuing instant in prayer; Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality. Bless them which persecute you: bless, and curse not. Rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep. Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits. Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men. If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men. Dearly beloved, avenge not yourselves, but rather give place unto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord. Therefore if thine enemy hunger, feed him: if he thirst, give him drink; for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head. Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good."

Spring Outing Planned for Arthritis

Plans were made for arthritis patients' annual spring outing when members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society met Tuesday afternoon in the hospital.

In place of a June meeting, members will drive patients to Balfour for tea, and it was estimated that guests will number 40.

Patients who are able to get about will be entertained at members' homes during the summer months in place of regular auxiliary visits.

Several reports were made during the meeting: Mrs. C. H. Hamilton for transportation committee, Mrs. Vincent Fink for the visiting committee, Mrs. N. E. Morrison for the window display committee. Mrs. J. A. McDonald represented the group at a CARS board meeting and was in charge of clinic assistance during the month.

Mrs. Cecil Alexander was welcomed as a new member.

IODE to Purchase Film for Schools

A film to be purchased by Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire chapters in East and West Kootenay was shown to Kokanee Chapter at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Nelson A. Allen, 621 Gore Street, this week.

"The Sceptre and the Mace", a film of the opening of Canadian Parliament by Queen Elizabeth, also outlines the story of parliament's origin. IODE chapters will purchase the film for availability to all schools in their districts. T. G. Whitehead, Kootenay representative of the National Film Board, gave the showing. Kokanee Chapter ha sgiven $50 towards the film purchase.

Provincial headquarters will receive $10 from the Kokanee Chapter to further extension of their work against cancer.

Education secretary Mrs. R. B. Brummitt reported that applications for bursaries had been received and decisions on their award will be made by principal of the high school and Mrs. Brummitt.

Chapter members will attend church parade at St. Saviour's Pro-Cathedral Sunday, May 31.

Co-hostesses at the meeting were Mrs. A. E. Murphy and Mrs. H. A. Mackenzie.

Full Program Includes Election Of Officers at Hume PTA Meet

With a full and varied program including election of officers, members of the Hume Parent-Teacher Association brought their current season to a close Wednesday night in the school activity room.

Versatility of 46 members of the Nelson junior band, conducted by B. E. Ryall, delighted their audience as they mastered a well-chosen program. Largely composed of boys and girls from the sixth grades of all Nelson public schools and the seventh grade of the junior high school, the band is brought into full complement by a few students from grades eight and nine.

After a welcome by J. M. Morley, Hume School principal, Mr. Ryall explained the purpose of band music — to make harmony with all instruments working together. Because "very young musicians favor clarinets and trumpets", instruments from the higher grades had to be included, he said.

"You Asked for It" was the subject chosen by first grade teacher, Miss Agnes Jerome as she spoke to parents of children who will enter grade one next fall. She said parents must accept their children's limitations in the learning situation. Many children are slow to mature and may be only five years old mentally.

"Some find it more difficult than others, but all need sympathy and understanding," she stated. Children with a wide range of experience and vocabulary are the best students. "They get that from being read to," said Miss Jerome as she listed ways in which parents might prepare their children.

Parents can listen carefully, correct pronunciation and grammar, correct baby talk, show children how to cut out pictures, which develops arm and finger muscles, and help them to hold crayons properly in coloring. They should not be taught writing beyond printing their names, with a capital letter at the beginning only, she pointed out.

If parents try to teach spelling, Miss Jerome said, they should remember that in grade one only phonetic sound is used, never the alphabet. In teaching numbers only concrete things should be counted.

"A child who has been taught to listen and follow directions will progress much more quickly than the over-indulged child, " said Miss Jerome. She felt teaching of discipilne and manners is the parents' job, not the teacher's. "We have gone a long way lately in forgetting to teach children manners," she told her listeners.

Because some children will require two years to complete grade one work, she asked parents to accept the situation. Those who have completed the first year will forget 65 per cent of what they have learned during the holidays, and she asked that they be encouraged to read books during that time.

Miss Jerome concluded her talk by asking parents to mark clothes plainly and to state any physical handicap when registering children for their first year of school.

Mrs. W. L. Carter was elected next year's president of Hume School PTA during the business meeting. J. M. Morley was named honorary president and A. R. Ramsden, vice-president. Others elected were: Mrs. Paul Berekoff, recording secretary; Mrs. J. M. Morley, corresponding secretary; Mrs. M. Cushner, treasurer; Mrs. H. F. Lake, publicity and history.

Other committee members are: J. M. Boates and Mrs. G. C. Burns, membership and magazines; Mrs. Robert Irving and Mrs. C. H. Jones, social and hospitality; Mrs. G. A. Fleming, Mrs. R. L. Short and Mrs. Walter Greavison, ways and means; Mrs. M. A. Martyn and Mrs. N. H. Wesley, program; Mrs. G. A. Clark, health; Rev. H. R. Whitmore and Rev. Canon W. J. Silverwood, community standards; Mrs. D. Irwin, pianist and Mrs. B. MacLean, sunshine.

In the roll call of parents attending the meeting, Miss Jerome's room won the travelling award with 10 parents present. Miss Nancy Chernenko was named winner of a blanket contest.

Proceeds of the year's activities will be used to purchase an adding machine for the school. Mrs. Louis Hanic, president, announced that $197.37 was added to the Bursary Fund this year through collections at the Christmas carol sing and the Shamrock tea. Bonds totalling $1600 now make up the fund.

Refreshments were served by the social committee.

Early Days in Boswell Recounted

BOSWELL — At the Boswell Women's Club meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Paul L. O'Sullivan, Mrs. Cummings, president, gave an interesting account of her arrival in Boswell 19 years ago. Ray, her eldest son, was the first white baby to be born here.

There were very few settlers along the lake at that time, she said, and transportation had to be by boat or horse, riding along a trail.

Compressed Air Propels Newly Developed Levacar

By BEN PHLEGAR

DETROIT (AP) — I rode 15 miles an hour on a film of air in a sleek white and red vehicle some experts believe is a prototype of the train of the future.

The vehicle is the first, full-scale Levacar, a wheel-less, air-propelled car, which slides on air about 1-32nd of an inch above a metal strip.

The Levacar is a development of the Ford Motor Company, pioneered by Dr. Andrew A. Kucher, vice-president of engineering and research.

The model is built for one passenger and is slightly smaller than a Volkswagen. It has a 1½-horsepower blower to propel it. Compressed air is forced through three metal pads on the underside of the car. These look somewhat like the bottom of a household steam iron.

INTER-CITY TRANSPORT

Dr. Kucher envisions the Levacar as highspeed ground transportation between cities such as Detroit and Chicago.

"It would skim over flat rails, like the present railroads," he said, "at speeds of 200 to 500 miles an hour."

Power would come from gas turbines. The rails would provide an even surface for the compressed air and would be used in braking.

Dr. Kucher said the Levacar has no application as a free road vehicle. Neither would it be practical for short commuter trips because it would need 15 to 20 miles to gain full acceleration and a similar distance to slow down.

The model which Ford has installed at its rotunda in suburban Dearborn weighs 450 pounds, is 94 inches long, 48 inches high and 54 inches wide.

STRAPPED IN

When you ride in it you are enclosed in a transparent canopy. You are strapped in with a car-style safety belt. The air is turned on and the car moves slowly around a circular platform.

You feel as if you were getting ready for a takeoff in a light plane. As the car speeds up, the sensation from the inside is one of considerable speed, and centrifugal force pushes you against the fancy, white leather upholstery.

The model has no brakes. When you turn off the power, you begin an eerie, coasting ride, which in some ways must be similar to the feeling of weightlessness which comes at extremely high speed.

London Negroes Seek Special Police Duties

LONDON (Reuters) — Negroes in Britain will apply to become special policemen to protect themselves and their community, Alao Bashorun, chairman of the Committee of African Organizations in Britain, said Friday.

The move follows the slaying last Saturday night of Kelso Cochrane, 33-year-old West Indian, in Notting Hill, scene of last year's racial riots in London.

The special constabulary is made up of unpaid volunteers who carry out certain police duties in their spare time.

Bashorun said: "In view of the continued tolerance by the authorities concerned of propaganda inciting hatred against colored residents, we demand that we be given authority as special constables to protect ourselves in the community." Police at Scotland Yard said: "The applications will be dealt with in the same way as those from white people. The forms are obtainable at any police station."

Thorough Cleaning Before Paint Used

If a wall is not thoroughly clean before it is painted, chances are the paint will peel off after it is dry.

This is because it's impossible to get a good bond on a dirty surface. If there is oil or grease on it, often the case in kitchen walls, paint does not dry properly.

Blast furnaces for smelting iron ore were first used in Belgium about 1340.

Care of Carpets Not Costly If These Ingenious Tips Used

Rug care needn't be rugged, nor carpet conservation costly. You can look and feel more appealing at day's end, save money, too, just by using the ingenious tips and shortcuts carpet experts have devised.

Take your staircase, for example. The edges of stair steps take the heaviest blows, and in many homes the carpet over the step edges is badly worn. The rest of the carpet is in perfectly good shape, yet the whole stair carpet needs replacement.

Solution? There are two. First, use a felt or rubber cushioning under all stair carpets: the base absorbs much of the punishment, makes the carpet last longer.

The other idea is to lay the carpeting with an extra foot folded against one of the risers. Then, at the very first sign that the carpet is beginning to wear along stair edges, just lift the tacks and move it down an inch or two! It's foolproof!

The same principle works for room carpets. Turn them around every few months, and you'll distribute the carpet wear evenly. Moving the furniture now and then is another carpet saver, and you might consider using scatter rugs immediately in front of chairs.

WARM IRON HELPS

If furniture you move leaves behind a circle or square of crushed carpet pile, don't despair. Place a warm (not hot) iron over a damp cloth, and apply to the crushed area. Don't press too hard, and you may be able to bring the pile up like new.

As in car maintenance and weight control, the time and money-saving idea in carpet cleaning is to attack the problem while it's small. The kids have just romped through the room . . . or the party is over and there are tobacco ashes on the floor . . . or the TV show is over and you notice that a few crumbs from your munchings have fallen to the carpet. Sweep the litter up now, and it won't have a chance to become imbedded in the tufts. It's imbedded dirt that makes cleaning harder, cuts carpet fibres, dulls carpet color.

To avoid imbedded dirt, use a carpet sweeper daily. And keep a small sweeper handy, if your home is large, to pick up soil as soon as it's made. Among full-size sweepers, the newest are so smartly styled, so there's no need to hide them in closets. You can keep one handy anywhere.

For the dust and grit that does manage to sink in, use a vacuum cleaner once a week. The upright kind, because of its beating action, generally does a better job than the cleaner that relies on suction alone.

SHAMPOO

Even the most careful carpet sweeping and vacuuming can't prevent your carpets from becoming stained and soiled, and so shampooing from time to time is necessary. Recent tests showed that a shampoo every few months will lengthen the life of a carpet. It takes no tests at all, however, to know that the average home-maker hates like the dickens to bear the expense of outside carpet shampooing yet is no more fond of the exhausting work in home shampooing.

Enter the hero. A designer recently came up with a long-handled applicator that makes it possible to apply shampoo evenly with no more effort than it takes to vacuum. No bending! You pour some shampoo and water into the tank of the applicator, then a plastic sponge releases it gradually and two sturdy brushes work the cleaner deep into the carpet. As the foam dries, dirt is concentrated in powder residue. You wait for the carpet to dry, then vacuum and the whole job is over.

But the most important thing is planning. If you set yourself a schedule, decide when you'll sweep, when to vacuum and when to shampoo, then stick to it, you'll find that you are saving work, making your carpets look better, and last longer and doing the very same thing for yourself.

5-Man Union Jury To Try Mine, Mill Executives

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Three suspended executive members of Local 598, International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), will be tried by a five-man union jury established here at a general meeting Thursday night.

Executive members Jack Quenneville, union warden; Ray Fortin, trustee, and Tom McQuaid, conductor, are charged with unbecoming conduct.

Two general members will be tried at the same time on charges of manhandling the union's secretary-treasurer, Raymond Poirier, after a meeting earlier this month when he was knocked out during a fracas.

Date for the trial has not been set.

Conviction would mean expulsion from the union for life.

Pope Receives Greek Royalty

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Pope John Friday received King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece in audience at the end of their three - day state visit to Rome. Informed sources believed the meeting could lead to better understanding between Greece and the Vatican, which withdrew its apostolic delegation from Athens in 1950.

One cause was the refusal of Greece to allow a permanent representative of the Holy See in Athens with purely ecclesiastical functions.

Class A Ford Shares Touch All-Time High

TORONTO (CP) — Class A shares of Ford Motor Company of Canada Friday rocketed ahead on the Toronto Stock Exchange following Thursday night's announcement that its parent firm, Ford Motor Company of Detroit, has offered oo purchase thhe outstanding stock of the Canadian firm.

Ford A, which closed on the exchange Thursday at $138 a share, opened at $175 and touched $17, an all-time high, before retreating to $172 in the first half hour on a volume of nearly 1,000 shares.

The Canadian company's B stock, which seldom trades, didn't move.

Critic Pans Glen Gould

LONDON (CP) — Neville Cardus, dean of British music critics, deals harshly with the London debut of Canadian pianist Glenn Gould.

Cardus writes for the Manchester Guardian, which went to press too early Thursday to permit its reviewer's jarring comments to coincide with the praises of the London colleagues for Gould's Royal Festival Hall performance Wednesday night.

The 70-year-old critic writes that Gould's playing of Beethoven's Fourth Piano Concerto lacked intensity.

"How could anybody play intensely with crossed legs? For my own part, I might be unable to listen intensely to Beethoven with my legs crossed, let alone play him."

"BONELESS"

Cardus says the 27 - year - old Torontonian is "refined and musical" in his playing but that his rhythm sounded "boneless" and that his rendition of the concerto's slow movement "fell far short of sublimity or any kind of Beethovenish eloquence."

"The effect often suggested a musical box."

Cardus disapprovingly comments on Gould's use of a low chair with a back rather than the customary piano stool and makes the acid suggestion that the pianist might find a deck chair even more comfortable.

"Yet he is obviously talented and musical in a thoughtful, if self-conscious way. More of creative and energetic rhythm might go into his playing if he were to build up his strength so that he could sit up erect on the austere piano stool of common usage."

Ford To Purchase Non-Voting Stock

DETROIT (CP) — Ford Motor Company announced Thursday that it will make an offer early next month to purchase up to a maximum of 775,628 shares of the class A (non-voting) stock of Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited.

The parent firm is offering $188 (U.S.) a share, approximately 30 per cent more than the closing price of the stock on the American Stock Exchange Thursday.

The company announced it would also purchase at the same price all 30,208 shares of Ford of Canada's class B (voting) stock not now owned by Ford Motor Company.

Ernest R. Breech, chairman of the board of the U.S. company, said Ford proposes to acquire the additional shares to give it a more representative ownership in Ford of Canada.

The Detroit company now owns 27.5 per cent of Ford of Canada outstanding stock Aim of the U.S. firm is to boost total holdings of stock in the Canadian firm to about 75 per cent.

Two Leading Automobile Firms Plan Small Cars

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two of the automotive industry's big three—Ford and Chrysler—have announced plans for a "compact" car, likely to be in production next year.

Rhys M. Sale, president of Ford Motor Company of Canada, said in Toronto Thursday his company plans to make a car known as the Falcon for distribution through its Ford-Monarch-Edsel dealers and a somewhat similar automobile, still unnamed, for sale in Canada through Mercury- Lincoln -Meteor dealers.

Frank Hogan, executive vice-president of Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited, said in Windsor that the Valiant, a new small car planned by his firm's parent company in the United States, will be built in Canada should it be decided to offer the car for sale in this country.

MADE IN CANADA

Mr. Sale said Ford is planning for production of the Falcon and the other model in its Canadian plants.

There was still no word from General Motors of Canada Limited. A spokesman at shawa, Ont., said he had "nothing to say on the subject" except that the matter of building a small car is being investigated.

Mr. Sale said:

"The economy cars will be added to our existing range of passenger cars . . . We will continue to import Anglia, Prefect, Consul, Zephyr and Zodiac cars from Ford of England and the Taunus 12M and 17M from Ford of Germany."

Despite silence from General Motors, industry spokesmen say they, too, will have a smaller car —probably called the Corvair. Rumors place the GM introduction date at Oct. 9.

French Play Pleases Adjudicator

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — The work of a Montreal cast from L'Atelier du Promescenium was admired by adjudicator Michel St. Denis, at Thursday night's Dominion Drama Festival performance.

The Eugene Ionesco drama, Victimes du Devoir was done in French by the Montreal group. Most of the adjudication was also in French, which set the English-speaking critics into a flurry of comparison of notes.

Mr. St. Denis had little fault to find with the play. He admired the actors, the costumes, the set and the precision of the play. He thought the play was directed "too lyrically" and complained of the diction of leading man, Uriel Luft.

KNEW THEIR WORK

However, the adjudicator, obviously pleased with the play, said it was done with "a clear mind by artists who know what they are doing." Mr. St. Denis singled out leading actress Claude Brabant for her performance.

Plaudits were also given for stage management and music.

"That is theatre," Mr. St. Denis said of all the minor parts of the show.

A second French play, Le Militaire Fanfaron will be performed Saturday night by La Compagnie Nina Diaconesco of Montreal.

The only western entry in the DDF, the Medicine Hat Civic Theatre, presents The Diary of Anne Frank tonight.

Eight drama groups between Medicine Hat and Halifax are competing in the eight-day festivial which ends Saturday night. The top prize is $1,000.

City Dwellers Find Gardening Joy In Window Boxes, Foundation Areas

Continuing increases in population these days put living space at a premium. In small towns and large cities, land is becoming more and more limited.

If you live in an apartment, two-flat, town house or other residence with little or no yard space, you and your family can still enjoy the fun of gardening. Attractive window boxes which will beautify your building's exterior may be inexpensively purchased or built in the home workshop.

Space (and your landlord, if you have one) permitting, you can extend your gardening to the foundation area.

For most colorful results, select annual flowers and start from seed. Annual flowers are especially bred by skilled horticultural scientists to give you widest choice of color, shape and size.

Try some vegetables, too. Many vegetables can be quickly grown from seed in relatively small spaces. You'll harvest a bushel of enjoyment when you place fresh-picked vegetables from your very own window box or foundation area on your family table.

Your Individual HOROSCOPE

By Frances Drake

For Sunday, May 24, 1959

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) Sensible caution urged in all business activities. There are some splendid rays for social and cultural pursuits however; also for sports and other outdoor activities.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Rays not so auspicious for gains in business, but the day can be otherwise productive of much good if thoughtful, conscientious action prevails. Personal matters favored.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—It may be necessary to hold emotions and judgments under control now. Mistakes can be made if you are not alert. Talk things over with those who have helped in the past.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—More can be realized in familiar activities than in untried ventures now. Be careful about details. There's a tendency to overlook them here.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Note Gemini and Cancer. Your indications similar. Small, seemingly unimportant details are very necessary in order to produce satisfactorily. Finish tasks carefully. And be patient while doing so.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Relish this type of day since it can give you time for serene study, for action, planning for the days ahead. Don't try too much; even small accomplishment is fine.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Don't make changes unless absolutely necessary. Look ahead; be prepared. Carry a surplus of good will and you will want for little.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — The aspects governing most persons are somewhat restrictive today. Not yours. Handle all tasks in Scorpio's competent manner and head straight for your goals.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Good influences continue. Keep eyes and ears open now for some very constructive leads.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — This day may not be entirely easy. Watch what you say, how you act. And that means YOU — not just the "other fellow". If you care about harmony and good results from efforts, co-operate NOW.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — A good day for revising outmoded methods and gathering more knowledge in your own line. Improve associations, too. Be guarded in answers where others are touchy.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Good Neptune influences. Especially favored: Water sports, travel, confidential matters and those pertaining to the sea.

YOU BORN TODAY are among the most interesting and capable of the Zodiac's children. You have diverse talents, well-rounded capability, a likeable personality. Sometimes you are too restless and changeable to be understood. Cultivate a steady and reliable tempo in all things. You folks are so receptive to knowledge and have the knack for disseminating it so cleverly that you should never stop studying, experimenting, researching. Birthdate: Victoria, Queen of England; Sir Arthur W. Pinero, English dramatist.

For Monday, May 25, 1959

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) —Top influences for those who are businesslike, practical, not supersensitive or touchy. Get a good start and follow through competently—as Ariens usually do.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Get out your scissors and cut all red tape. Get to the core of important matters early in the day and resolve to leave none incompleted. Avoid even the slightest tendency to procrastinate.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—You can have a goodly share of fresh advantages, perhaps unusual gains, if you will be concise (without being abrupt), heed fair play, and maintain harmony. Creative pursuits encouraged.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—Do not be gullible now. Be properly suspicious of high-sounding proposals. If you need advice, go to those who really know the answers.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—The grass is not necessarily "green on the other side of the fence." Dig deeper to find your own opportunities. Emphasize your talents and self confidence.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Please read Leo. Your indications similar. Show your wares with cleverness and skill.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — You may tend to work too hard and to play too hard during this planetary period. Be your sensible self and strive for a happy medium. Despite a few tricky spots, the day generally favors all sound enterprises.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — The quality of your efforts and the soundness of your action are the factors which will help you now. Personal interests may have to take a back seat for the time being. Concentrate on important matters.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — You can make fine headway now in worthwhile endeavors. Be analytical if you would avoid unnecessary mistakes. And do keep emotions under control.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Sift through problems to find those which should be handled first. Occasional quiet thinking can often unearth hidden points of vantage.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Hard work, shrewd action, will pay dividends. Play the game straight, be upright and fear no one.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Give special attention to matters close to your special sphere of activity. True friends will help to put you on the right course, bring you home a winner—plus. Heart and home interests highly favored.

YOU BORN TODAY are a most versatile person; are conscientious and industrious—in fact, may be too active at times. Be sensible about health and avoid rushing, nervous tension. You have many talents but choose occupation and associations wisely. These are great days for specialists and you can be an efficient one. Curb wasteful haste. Study best methods, then move discreetly. Keep your aims lofty. You can reach the heights.

Birthdate: Ralph Waldo Emerson, poet-essayist; Bulwer-Lytton (Baron Lytton), statesman, novelist.

Coast IWA Calls For Special Convention

VANCOUVER (CP)—A special convention of delegates from the 30,000 - member International Woodworkers of America (CLC) on the coast has been called for May 30 to consider postponement of a strike set for June 16.

Union policy-makers Thursday named Jim Bury, secretary of the British Columbia Federation of Labor, to represent the IWA on a conciliation board being formed in the union's dispute with the B.C. forest industry.

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said he had ordered the conciliation board to handle negotiations because "it was obvious that negotiations were not being carried out in good faith."

"TOO GRAVE"

"The issue is too grave for me to put the responsibility on one man," he told his constituents at nearby Maillardville Thursday night.

The current contract between the union and employers expires June 16. Conciliation proceedings are not expected to be completed by then.

The union seeks a 20-per-cent increase over the present basic hourly wage of $1.72.

Earlier this year the IWA adopted a no-contract, no-work policy during its annual convention in Vancouver.

Mr. Wicks said earlier Thursday in Victoria that "There is no such thing in this province as a no-contract, no-work agreement."

"The old collective agreement carries on until a new agreement is signed," he said.

UNION CRITICISM

The IWA criticized the government's move to set up a conciliation board, saying it had entered talks under a conciliation officer's supervision on the understanding that a report would be made and a conciliation board would not be necessary.

Mr. Wicks denied having joined in a gentleman's agreement that negotiations would be allowed to be completed under conciliation officer Reg Clement.

"No minister is in a position to give a commitment on a situation, the development of which is not entirely clear," said Mr. Wicks.

"However, the law is clear that a minister, at his discretion, may not call for a conciliation board."

He believed there is a "real hope" for settlement of the dispute.

The three executive members are holdovers from the seven-year regime of Mike Solski who was defeated by Mr. Gillis in an upset election two months ago.

WENT TO MEETING

They were suspended temporarily last Friday for attending a special membership meeting May 3 which Mr. Gillis did not sanction.

At Thursday night's rowdy meeting, nominations were called for members of a trial committee and 10 men were named. Four declined to stand and one was not present. The other five wr appointd.

Mr. Quenneville told the meeting he was only "performing my duty" by attending the May 3 meeting. He said he was shown a petition signed by 2,500 members and felt it was his duty to attend. The local has 13,000 members.

Mr. Poirier was attacked following a meeting two weeks ago when an overwhelming vote of confidence was given to the Gillis executive for its action in dismissing recreation director Weir Reid.

A-Clocks May Check Relativity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atomic space clocks may be used to check on Einstein's theory of relativity.

In brief, the theory of the late physicist Albert Einstein holds that time moves more slowly in space because of a gravity factor—primarily the earth's gravity force.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Friday it is investigating three types of atomic space clocks for possible use in satellite tests of the Einstein theory.

The tests would be made by taking simultaneous ground and space readings from extremely precise clocks.

Tour Commissioner Suggests Priority For Red Ensign

OTTAWA (CP)—Lt.-Gen. Howard D. Graham, commissioner for the Royal Tour, has suggested to provincial program co-ordinators that where flags are flown for decorative purposes, the Red Ensign should take precedence.

Tour officials said the commissioner listed an order of priority. In this, the Red Ensign would come first, the Union Jack second and the provincial flag, if there was one, third.

Officials said Gen. Graham had given this as guidance rather than as a directive.

Coast Legion Plays Bingo Without Tax

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bingo was played at a Canadian Legion branch here Thursday night without collection of a 10-per-cent provincial amusement tax required by a cabinet order-in-council announced Wednesday.

Officials of Mount Pleasant branch of the legion said they were acting on legal advice that the British Columbia cabinet's order-in-council is invalid.

A statement said the B.C. Supreme Court "has found that the branch is not liable to collect amusement tax from its club members."

"The premier has sought to nullify the court decision and to impose taxation by executive decree, retroactive to 1957, and we say that only the legislature, not the premier, can change the law."

AMUSEMENT PLACES

The order-in-council declared three legion branches in Vancouver area to be places of amusement in order to collect special hospital aid tax from the bingo games.

The order was retroactive to May 8, 1957. The government claims about $300,000 is due from two years' back taxes.

The matter was taken to the courts last November after the legions refused to pay. In two subsequent appeals, the final one last Tuesday, the courts held that the branches didn't have to pay the tax.

The legions claimed immunity from the taxes because their premises are not open to the public. The new order-in-council is effective whether the club is open or is restricted solely to members.

STAMP CORNER

By JAMES MONTAGNES

On June 18 Canada will issue a stamp to commemorate the visit of Queen Elizebeth to Canada this summer. The stamp will feature a recent portrait of the Queen and will be the first time this portrait has appeared on a postage stamp.

In recent years there have been numerous stamps to mark international visits of reigning monarchs and presidents of republics. Canada has had a number of such stamps. For the topical collectors a display of these various head-of-state-visit stamps make an interesting sideline.

In 1957, Canada had a 5 cent stamp for the visit of Queen Elizabeth and in 1951 there was also a 4-cent stamp for the visit of the couple that year. In 1939, the visit of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth brought out a special three-value set of stamps.

Throughout the British Commonwealth there have been other such stamps for royal visits. In 1954, Australia had a set for the visit of Queen Elizabeth. A set issued by Australia in 1951, recalled the visit of King George V as the Duke of York. New Zealand had a set for the visit of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip in 1953.

African parts of the Commonwealth have also issued a number of royal visit stamps. South Africa, Southwest Africa, Southern Rhodesia, Basutoland, Bechuanaland and Swaziland issued stamps for the visit of King Georgle VI and the royal family in 1947. Kenya and Uganda overprinted two values of the regular set in 1952 for the visit of Princess Elizabeth from which she was recalled on the death of her father and returned as Queen Elizabeth.

In the Caribbean area Bermuda overprinted a six-penny stamp for the 1953 visit of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip, and Jamaica overprinted a two-pence stamp for the visit. Elsewhere Nigeria had a stamp for the royal visit of 1956, Gibraltar, Ceylon, and Aden in 1954.

Other countries have also issued such stamps. France, in 1938, issued a stamp for the visit of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. Egypt, in 1946, issued a stamp for the visit of King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, Ghana last year overprinted its first stamps for the visit of its prime minister, Kwame Nkrumah, to Canada and the U. S., Italy overprinted an airmail stamp for the 1956 visit of its president to Canada and the U. S. Philippines had a stamp showing its president Quirino and Indonesia's President Sukarno on a 1953 visit, Iran in 1957 issued stamps for the visit of Italy's President Giavanni and Iraq's King Feisal, while Brazil as early as 1920 marked a royal visit of King Albert of Belgium with a special stamp.

Recent new stamps to reach Canada include (top, left to right) from Russia a stamp for an atomic powered ice-breaker, from Poland a stamp to a navigational congress, from Italy a stamp for the 10th anniversary of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and (lower, left to right) from Vatican City a set featuring Pope John XXIII, and from Romania a set showing regional costumes.

France has issued this stamp to the 175th anniversary of its national mining school.

Besides these, there are many more such stamps, of visits of heads of state.

New issues . . . West Germany has issued a stamp to mathematician Adam Reise who died 400 years ago . . . Italy has issued a stamp to British poet Lord Byron who died in 1824. . . . Netherlands issues its annual summer charity stamps on May 11, depicting work of protecting is low-lying land from the sea . . . Japan has issued stamps for the wedding of Crown Prince Akihito.

First regular meeting of the newly-formed Nelson Stamp Club will be held at the Hume Monday night. The meeting will be in the nature of a get-acquainted affair and members have been asked to take their albums to the meeting. Duplicates and catalogues are also suggested as it is hoped there will be time for trading. Prospective members and visitors are also invited, G. C. Burns, secretary-treasurer, advised.

Canada issues this stamp on June 18 for the visit of Queen Elizabeth II.

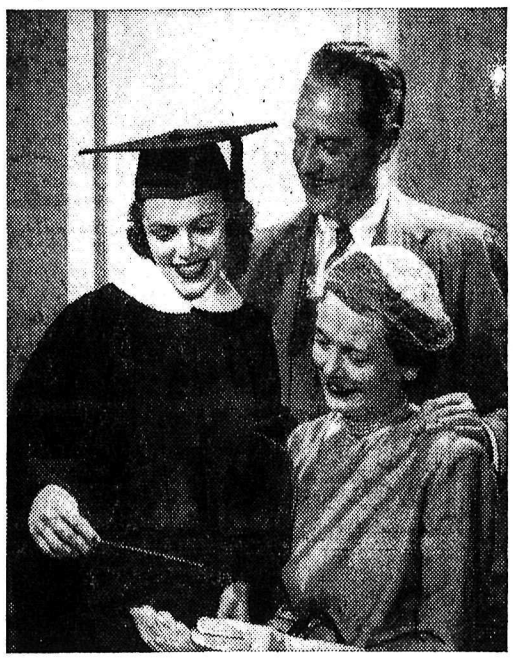
the Snapshot Guild



What a wonderful story a picture like this can tell! Daughter receiving her graduation gift from a proud father and mother. Be sure to include something like it in your graduation snapshots.

Remember Graduation Day in Snapshots

Graduation is a day to be remembered — and what better reminder could there be than an album of snapshots? It's so easy to do, there's really no excuse for letting such an opportunity go by.

Begin with a snapshot of the student as she studies for her final examinations. There will be a lot of other preparations like selecting the dress she's going to wear. You could show her holding and admiring it as she displays it to friends.

It's a good idea to plan your pictures to tell a connected story. That makes them much more interesting. Then too, excitement increases as graduation day draws closer, so try to capture that "feeling" in all your pictures.

On graduation day you might start with a picture of the one who is to graduate wearing her graduation gown and mortarboard. She could be standing on the steps of the university with members of her family.

A general shot of the students lining up for the parade to the convocation would add color to your story followed by a close-up of your special subject among her fellow students. Your next important shot would be when the graduate kneels before the chancellor to receive her degree. Use a flash bulb for this and all your interior shots. In fact, you would get better outdoor pictures if you used flash bulbs for fill-in lighting.

Take another flash-shot after your subject has turned and is facing the audience. After the graduation exercises, you will have many opportunities to get some interesting candid shots on the campus; and now is the time to get a good picture of her alone and showing her with her roses. This would make an excellent color picture.

Remember that you are the one to remain calm in all this excitement so that each shot will be free of camera movement. Then too, watch your lighting and place yourself in such a position that your light source is behind you or to one side. Cameras with set focus and shutter speed should not be closer than five feet unless you are using a close-up attachment.

Graduation day comes but once and an album of snapshots telling the story, whether the graduate be a young woman or a young man will be treasured always.

Bureau of Statistics Corrects Errors

OTTAWA (CP) — The bureau of statistics said Friday imports of British and European motor vehicles in the first quarter of 1959 totalled 21,919, not 30,306 as it reported Thursday.

A bureau official said the error was its own.

The bureau also corrected an error in the value placed on imports in the first quarter of 1958, placing it at $30,306,000, instead of $21,919,000 as it reported Thursday.

The imports this year, valued at $43,754,000, compared with imports of 15,539 units in the first quarter of 1958.

RESCUE TRAPPED HORSE

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—A horse trapped in an abandoned well since Sunday was rescued Wednesday in nearby Miramonte. Owner Clay Thompson found the horse after a three-day search. With the aid of three state forestry men he pulled it out with ropes.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—Industrials Friday paced a moderate stock market gain which pushed the Associated Press average to a record high.

Rails faltered after a brief continuation of Thursday's big rally. The carriers and utilities finished the day irregularly lower.

Gains by rubbers, tobaccos and chemicals combined with selective strength among steels, motors, electrical equipments and other groups to give the market a routine upturn.

The Associated Press 60 - stock average rose 50 cents to a record $230.20, topping the May 14 high of $230.10.

Boeing was the most active [illegible] up ½ at 37½ on 42,100 shares.

[illegible] Motor, up 1, was heavily traded following Thursday's meeting of shareholders at which Henry Ford II expressed "reasoned optimism" and confirmed reports of the company's new economy car, the Falcon.

Ford also announced offers to purchase at a substantial premium 775,628 shares of class A non-voting stock of Ford Motor Company of Canada Ltd., its Canadian subsidiary, and also all outstanding class B voting stock that it does not own. This led to a delayed opening of these issues on the American Stock Exchange as a flood of buy orders jammed the exchange facilities. The Amstock had a net gain of 33¾ at 177¾ while the B stock rose 33½ to 184½.

International Nickel was up ¾, McIntyre Porcupine ⅜, Aluminium Ltd. and Dome Mines ¼ each. Hudson Bay Mining lost ⅜, Canadian Pacific and Distillers Seagrams ⅛.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed. Canadian Marconi gained ⅛, Shawinigan ⅞, Preston East Dome 1-16 and Sapphire Petroleums 5-16. Fargo Oil lost ⅛, Eureka and Molybdenite 1-16.

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market, led by Ford A, Friday an announcement Thursday night that the parent United States company of Ford Motor Company of Detroit has offered to buy 47.5 per cent of the outstanding stock of Ford of Canada at $188 (U.S. funds) a share or $191 in Canadian currency.

Ford A opened at 175 and touched 176, an all-time high, in the first hour. It slowly settled to its closing price.

Volume in the stock was extremely heavy at 4,675 shares.

The rest of the market advanced in most sections on index. Industrials added a bit more than a point to their index while base metals gained a point. Western oils were up one-quarter and golds lost a little ground although gains in the section outnumbered losses.

The final volume of 2,885,000 shares was the second-heaviest this week. Thursday's sales totalled 2,357,000.

Golds were led by a one-point gain to 90 by McIntyre. Coppers moved up with Opemiska and Campbell Chibougamau leading. Senior base metals were fractionally higher.

---

carved out its strongest advance in two weeks as most sections moved higher amid heavier trading.

Ford A featured trading with a 33½-point leap to 171½ following

Western oils were featured by Sapphire Petroleum which jumped 43 cents to $1.49 on a 155,150-share volume.

Index changes: Industrials up 1.07 to 526.15; golds off .17 to 94.17; base metals up 1.00 to 174.48; western oils up .28 to 128.12.

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges, with Ford of Canada A providing the spark, bounced back from three straight declines and moved narrowly ahead Friday.

Ford A gained 33¼ at 171¼ following the announcement Thursday night that U. S. Ford offered to buy at least 540,000 shares of its Canadian subsidiary at $188 a share in U. S. funds.

The issue opened at 176 and slipped back to 168 before closing at 171¼. Turnover in the stock was exceptionally heavy.

Five of the six stock indexes were ahead.

Besides banks, the only index losers, the foods and base metals were narrowly lower. In the foods Loeb declined ¼ at 12¾ and Steinberg's was off ¾ at 31.

Gainers included pipelines, constructions, steels, papers and beverages.

Penny mines and oils closed about mixed.

PLAIN TALK FROM PEEBLES

There's a Place for Shimmy . . . but NOT on the Highway!

Remember the "Shimmy" . . . a wierd, hip-swinging dance that originated somewhere in the Pacific islands? The same word was used to describe the front wheel wobble that plagued the cars of the twenties. I saw a car doing that the other day . . . first one for a long time. I've forgotten that cause of shimmy . . . loose or worn king pins, I think.

You seldom if ever see shimmy on a modern car, but steering and wheel alignment can be the cause of trouble . . . and that's one of the points you should check when shopping for a used car.

Tires give some clues. Uneven wear, cuts and bruises are danger signals that should warn you to check steering and wheel alignment carefully.

If the car looks right on the lot, try a hand off test on a quiet street. Get the car headed straight, then take both hands off the wheel. If the car tends to wander, there may be wheel alignment or steering troubles that could cost you a stiff repair bill after a few thousand miles. If you still like the car, play it safe. Have it well checked by a competent mechanic.

You won't find any cars on our lot with steering or wheel alignment troubles. Every car has been tested, and adjusted . . . worn parts have been replaced . . . and every car is ready to give you miles and miles of trouble-free, economical driving. Come in soon, look over our big stock of used cars — all makes, models and priced right. They are REALLY the best buys in the Kootenays today!

HARRY D. HARRISON

P. S.—If you have a "shimmy" in your present car, our "BEAR WHEEL ALIGNER EXPERT" can fix it!

McElroys Bow To Whiteleys

It's early in the season and even the big-leaguers are having their troubles. In Nelson's Babe Ruth League McElroy's ran into tough luck Thursday night when they dropped a 16-6 decision to Whiteleys.

It wasn't by any means a pitchers' duel. Jim Cain for Whiteleys allowed only five hits and walked nine, while Reg Bunt and Dayton Klein gave up nine hits and 10 walks for the Macs. Big difference was in fielding with McElroy errors giving them their main trouble.

Heading into the third inning, it was a tied-up ball game at 3-3, but things came apart and Whiteleys scored six more runs and then added five in the fourth. McElroys made a comeback in the fifth with three runs but it wasn't enough.

Three Whiteley players, pitcher Jim Cain, Gordie Schmidt and Gordon Dewar banged out doubles.

Miteff Wins Unanimous Decision

NEW YORK (AP) — Argentina's Alex Miteff closed Wayne Bethea's left eye to a narrow slit Friday night on the way to a unanimous decision over his substitute opponent in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden. Miteff weighed 204½, Bethea 208½.

There were no knockdowns in the heavyweight match which was marred by much tugging and shoving in the middle stages. Referee Ruby Goldstein warned both men for holding.

Both referee Goldstein and judge Frank Forbes scored it 7-3 and judge Artie Aidala 5-4-1, all for Miteff.

Bethea, a plodding 3½-to-1 underdog, replaced high - ranked Zora Folley who had beaten Miteff in January Folley pulled out of the rematch when his doctor advised him not to box for a month because of a cracked bone in his hand.

The 24-year-old Miteff now has an 18-3-1 record for 22 pro fights. Bethea's career record now is 19-10-2 for 31 starts.

Rain Washes Out Golf Tourney

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A rainstorm swept the $25,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament Friday, washing out all scores, including a seven-under-par 63 posted by Bob Goalby.

The washout came with 11 threesomes still on the course. It was a bitter blow for some, a break for others. The 18 holes must be replayed today. The delay moves the final round to Monday.

Tom Veech, a rookie pro from Milwaukee, remains the leader by virtue of his course record-equalling 63 fired in the first round. When the rains came, he was on the 18th and two under par.

The blow was particularly severe for Goalby, of Crystal River, Fla., and Pete Mazur of Buffalo, N.Y. Mazur's 30-34—64 was the best round of his pro career. His first round score was a mediocre 72.

Goalby was the third to equal the competitive record over the 6501-yard 34-36—70 Colonial Country Club course. It was the best tournament round of his career, too. His first round was a par 70.

Cary Middlecoff, the Memphis pro, was among those who greeted the stroke of weather with cheers. His putter got out of control today and he added a 34-38—72 to his first-round 69.

Al Balding of Toronto remained among the leaders with his 32-36—68 on the first day.

Pee Wee, Shrimp Ball Today

Pee Wee and Shrimp League baseball will go on at 10 a.m. today at Queen Elizabeth Park. A work party for coaches, parents and other interested persons will be held at 1 p.m. today and again at 9 a.m. Monday. Those coming out to help are asked by recreational director Ernie Gare to come equipped with rakes, hammers and saws.

Wilhelm Pitches Orioles To 5-0 Victory Over Yanks

By The Canadian Press

Knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm of Baltimore Orioles poured salt into the wounds of the reeling last-place New York Yankees Friday night, shutting them out 5-0 on a one-hitter.

Wilhelm held the world champions hitless through the first seven innings. Jerry Lumpe, leadoff man in the New Yorkers' eighth, slapped out a single which spoiled Wilhelm's chances of duplicating his no-hitter against the Yanks on Sept. 20.

The defeat kept the battered champs glued to the cellar where they tumbled Wednesday for the first time in 19 years.

TRIBE SITS TIGHT

The Cleveland Indians held their first-place position in the American League with a 1-0 triumph over the revived Detroit Tigers. The Boston Red Sox handed Washington's Senators their fifth straight setback 4-3. Chicago White Sox kept on the heels of Cleveland by nipping Kansas City 2-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Bob Shaw and Turk Lown.

In the National League, Hank Aaron led the first-place Milwaukee Braves to a 10-5 victory over Philadelphia Phillies. Aaron got his 13th home run and added a double and pair of singles to boost his average to .468.

In other games, Pittsburgh Pirates beat Cincinnati Reds 4-3 on a ninth-inning home run by Dick Schofield and St. Louis Cardinals won a 14-inning marathon from Chicago Cubs 3-1.

At Baltimore, Wilhelm walked six and struck out two in his masterful pitching performance. The Orioles knocked Bob Turley from the mound with a four-run first inning, which included Gus Triandos' ninth home run of the year.

BRINGS IN TED

Frank Malzone doubled home Ted Williams with the seventh-inning run for the Red Sox which beat the Senators. Dick Gernert also homered for the Red Sox and Jim Lemon and Reno Bertoia hit homers for the Senators.

Cleveland's Garry Bell and Detroit's Paul Foytack were engaged in a scoreless pitching duel until Vic Power and Minnie Minoso hit a pair of doubles in the seventh to provide the Indians' single run.

A double by Gino Cimoli in the 14th inning broke the 1-1 deadlock at Chicago and a walk by Bill Henry, the losing pitcher, gave the Cards a second insurance run. Jim Brosnan was the winning pitcher.

The Los Angeles Dodgers shot San Francisco out of second place in the National, beating them 2-1 on Don Drysdale's nifty six-hitter and Gil Hodges' single with two on in the thirteenth inning.

Robinson, Basilio Both Want Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Both Sugar Ray Robinson and Carmen Basilio said Friday they wanted to fight for the world middleweight title. They made their statements at a hearing before the New York State Athletic Commission considering removal of Robinson's title. The hearing was adjourned until Wednesday.

Tempers rose with the temperature in the crowded meeting room as the lawyers bickered with one another and with the witnesses.

Martin Machat, Robinson's lawyer, introduced a new contract for the Sept. 21 fight in Philadelphia. The commission had declared a previous contract invalid at its meeting last Wednesday. Under the new contract Basilio would receive a $225,000 minimum guarantee and Robinson 45 per cent.

Machat spent most of the afternoon questioning Basilio as to whether he already had signed a contract to box Gene Fullmer for the title, in case Robinson's crown is vacated. All Basilio would say was, "no contract is on file with the New York commission for me to fight. I'm free to fight Robinson."

Robinson flared back at Melvin Krulewitch, commission chairman when he was being questioned.

"I'm not going to argue with you," he said. "Go ahead and take the title away. You have been trying to take it away right along."

The commission is considering vacating Robinson's title apparently because he declines to defend it. The National Boxing Association has already taken the title from Robinson.

Agar Says Canadians End Season in Black

VERNON (CP) — George Agar, manager, coach and sometimes player with Vernon Canadians of the OSHL, doesn't claim to be a magician. But some here believe he must be in view of his statement Thursday night before a civic banquet recognizing the club's achievement in reaching the Allan Cup final this spring.

Canadians, Agar said, will be absolutely free of debt when the club's financial statement is released next week.

This statement was considered remarkable in the face of the financial losses experienced in the Western Canada championship playoffs en route to the Allan Cup final and in the final, in which Vernon lost to the champion Whitby Dunlops at Toronto.

Agar said following that series that the club had gone thousands of dollars in debt financing the playoff trips.

His newest statement also was considered remarkable in view of the crippling losses suffered by the OSHL's other three clubs this season—one of the poorest, financially, in the league's history.

Kelowna Packers went $7000 in the hole. Penticton Vs lost $13,000 and Kamloops accumulated debts totalling $10,000, some of which was carried over from previous seasons.

Agar praised the co-operation of his players, but he didn't say how the club had cleared off its debts.

Three years ago, Canadians became the first senior club in Canada to operate on a co-operative system whereby players split any profits at the end of the season. At the start of last season, Agar handed the franchise back to the citizens of Vernon, but when the elected executive experienced financial disaster, the club returned to the co-op basis.

Queens Fall to Beavers 6-4

Nelson Queen's just aren't experiencing good luck these days. They dropped another game in the West Kootenay fastball league here Friday night, and then only in the last inning after having held a lead over Montrose Beavers all the way up to the wire.

Final score was 6-4 for the Beavers, who shoved home three counters in the last inning on two walks, an error and a double by Montrose's Paugh.

Up until that disastrous ninth Queen's looked headed for a win as MacFarland, who chucked the first four innings, and Malinkowski scattered hits to keep Montrose nicely bottled up.

Brown went the route for Montrose, giving up eight hits, but having no serious trouble except in the sixth when Queen's put together four hits for three runs. It was a tight game which established the fact this is going to be a tough league for anyone's money, and that Queen's just need a bit of luck to be the team to beat.

Score by innings:

Montrose	000 110 103—6
Queen's	001 003 000—4

Frick Certain Third League In Offing

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball commissioner Ford Frick said Friday talk of a third major league was "no nebulous thing." He said he was certain that such a league was being organized.

Some time ago Frick said he believed baseball would have a third major league within five years. "I still stand by that," he said. "It might be sooner. It all depends. At the present time I have no meetings scheduled, actual or tentative, with anybody about the third league."

According to the rules, spelled out in Columbus, the third league would have to apply to Frick at least 10 months before it planned to operate. That would leave only a few weeks before the deadline for operation in 1960. As ball parks would have to be built, players acquired and numerous other deals completed, 1961 or 1962 probably would be the earliest possible date for operation.

Frick said the qualifications for becoming a major league, first listed in 1951 when the Pacific Coast League was talking of going big time, had been altered somewhat.

Under the old rules, a city had to have a park with a capacity of 25,000. Under the new rules, it must be committed to build such a park.

SEATTLE (CP) — Emil Sick, owner of Seattle Rainiers of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, said Friday a proposal for a third major league will "have to be developed a little more before I can take it seriously."
