KHRUSHCHEV LEAVES IN HUFF

ABOMINABLE BEAST. It may not look like the 'thing' spotted by Nelson hunter John Bringsli in the Lemon Creek area, but this monster monkey gave its receiver almost as severe a jolt. The picture and appropriate greeting at the side was a Christmas gift from Nelson sportsman Dr. Bill Murphy to Art Reid, a token of the esteem one hunter felt toward the other. This beastie was described as having admirable goose-hunting characteristics, all of a questionable nature. Nelson Chamber of Commerce is seeking a name for the Bringsli sasquatch or abominable snowman.

Mice Survive Space Journey

Tiny Trio in Nose Cone Go 700 Miles Up, Through Radiation Belt

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Three black mice named Sally, Amy and Moe rode a missile nose cone 700 miles into space Thursday and survived radiation, weightlessness and a blazing dive back through the earth's atmosphere. They were recovered alive and in good condition.

The air force reported the mice appeared to have suffered no harmful effects during the jarring 25-minute journey in an Atlas cone.

The tiny travellers made the radiation ride in a miniature model of a man-in-space capsule. The experiment took the mice into the dangerous radiation belt at speeds up to 18,000 miles an hour.

THOROUGH TESTS

Just how well the mice came through the trip probably won't be known for several weeks, after scientists have an opportunity to study them thoroughly. Any ill effects may not show up until later generations. Plans are to mate the space rodents among themselves and with other mice. Sally and Amy are female, Moe a male.

The initial report from the recovery ship which fished the cone from the south Atlantic 5,000 miles from Cape Canaveral was that the three were "alive and in good condition."

The Atlas missile thundered away from this test centre at 5:35 a.m. EDT and 25 minutes later plunked the 1½-ton cone on a oullseye. Within 20 minutes, the vessel Coastal Crusader spotted the cone, buoyed in the water by a balloon - like device which popped out and inflated.

Several other scientific experiments, most of them instruments to measure various types of radiation, also were tucked in the cone. These instruments will report how much radiation the mice were subjected to.

The air force said the flight was primarily a test of the Atlas and the nose cone's ability to survive the searing 13,000-de- scientific gear were carried along was primarily a test of the Atgree re-entry heat. The mice and because there was extra room in the section of the cone which in wartime would house the nuclear payload.

Eisenhower, Hammarskjold Targets of Russian Wrath

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev said goodbye to the United Nations Thursday night after triggering new proposals like buckshot and using the label "fool" for President Eisenhower and UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

Khrushchev said that because he was leaving for Moscow he wanted to make a general statement to the 15th General Assembly. He then launched into an argument that included disarmament and the structure of the United Nations.

Neither of these had bearing on the topic the assembly was supposed to be debating at the time —Khrushchev's proposal for direct debate of his charge of aggression arising from flights of United States reconnaissance planes.

Before his departure after a stormy stay at the UN, Khrushchev was rocked with a defeat when the assembly harshly voted down his demand that the plane incidents be debated in assembly plenary rather than in the assembly's political committee.

The vote was 54 against raising the debate in the full assembly and 10 in favor, with 33 abstaining. Cuba was the only non-Soviet bloc country to vote with the Russians. Then the assembly decided by acclamation to send the proposal to the political committee, which includes all UN members.

The issue was purely procedural—apart from the prestige at stake. Khrushchev could boast of a victory on a similar procedural assembly decided unanimously to issue earlier Thursday, when the er's demand for an immediate debate in plenary the Soviet leadend to all colonialism,

APPLAUD BOLAND

The day began with an accolade by delegations for the assembly president, Ireland's Frederick Boland, who abruptly adjourned sessions Wednesday night when Communist - bloc oratorical fireworks threw the hall into a rowdy scene — the worst ever seen at the UN.

Thursday's session was another of bitterness, of repeated table-pounding by Khrushchev and other Communist leaders—a day of threats and scolding and sharp rebuttal.

The tone of Khrushchev's attacks obscured the points in debate.

"If you want war, you'll get war," he told the United States.

After U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth noted that the 11-member Security Council had twice rejected Khrushchev's charges that U - 2 spy plane flights and another flight by an RB-47 plane that was brought down near Russia constituted aggression, Khrushchev said:

"If a maiden has a baby, then another, then threatens to produce a third, in two months and nothing is seen and the U.S.A. says the maiden is still a virgin, and the Security Council agrees, what kind of a Security Council is that? It is worse than a spittoon . . ."

U.S. PROTESTS

Wadsworth protested after Khrushchev referred to Eisenhower in connection with the U-2 spy plane incident, which the Soviet leader claims was responsible for wrecking the Summit conference in Paris in May.

Khrushchev said he did not mean to be offensive to the U.S. president although Wadsworth declared he was intimating Eisenhower was "on a leash" held by military leaders.

But then Khrushchev launched into a parable about Russian and German "czars" who were fools, leaving the clear implication that he considered Eisenhower in that category.

Khrushchev referred at one point to "fools like Hammarskjold" — UN Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold — whom he said were using the machinery of the UN against Soviet interests.

NEW PROPOSALS

The Soviet boss called again for a tearing down of the UN secretary-general's post to be replaced by a three-man executive with representatives from the Communist, Western and neutralist countries.

He also launched into a new outline of Soviet disarmament proposals and said that if they are not adopted in the assembly's political committee the Soviet will boycott debate there and in any negotiating body.

Before the vote on Khrushchev's charges of aggression was taken, Hammarskjold spoke in reply to Khrushchev's statement that he had once rowed the secretary-general in a friendly manner on the Black Sea.

Khrushchev had said, in a twitting manner, that Hammarskjold was "beholden" to him for the courtesy.

Hammarskjold replied:

BY "MY COMPASS"

"I am unable to repay in kind but my promise to do so still stands. I want to assure him of that. I know how to row following only my own compass."

Hammarskjold laughed—one of the few times he has been observed to do that since Khrushchev denounced him as a tool of imperialists in the Congo crisis.

Khrushchev said the United States went beyond the brink of war in its U-2 intelligence plane flights. He said Soviet forces were on the alert with rockets.

Then he stepped from the rostrum, saying farewell and that he was sorry if he had spoken out of turn at times or offended anybody.

The United States responded by challenging Khrushchev to permit the spy plane discussion in the political committee to be broadcast to the Soviet Union without the customary jamming.

Khrushchev said his defence minister had told him before his departure that NATO was holding manoeuvres near Soviet frontiers and that he put Soviet forces on the alert and "put atomic warheads in our rockets."

AN INTERRUPTION

"I told him that sounded like sense, because we didn't know what the manoeuvres might turn out to be."

"The defence of our country is not entrusted to this tribunal," Khrushchev told the assembly, "but to our minister of defence. The sentence of our court is that the invader will be pushed out. There is no other court. Remember that."

Appeal Fails To Halt American's Execution

By RICHARD VALERIANI

HAVANA (AP) — Cuban firing squads early Thursday executed an American adventurer and 12 Cubans only hours after they were convicted of trying to topple Fidel Castro's government.

Despite a last-minute U.S. appeal for clemency, Anthony Zarba of Somerville, Mass., was shot and buried in Santiago.

The 13 executions, carried out at Santiago and Santa Clara, raised the unofficial total of executions to 574 since Castro came to power. Nineteen of these have been shot since the revolutionary tribunals were re - instituted a year ago.

PRISON TERMS

Moving swiftly in the last few days, the tribunal also gave prison sentences to almost 200 persons. Among them was another American, Richard Pecoraro of Staten Island, N.Y. The former New York City fireman was reported to have received a 20-year sentence for collaborating with insurgents in the Escambray Mountains of central Cuba.

Zarba 27, and seven Cuban companions were convicted Wednesday night in Santiago. Zarba told the court during the one-day trial that he landed with an invasion force of would-be guerrillas, but was only a member of the boat crew.

He said he tried to leave the expedition in the Bahamas before it got here but was forced to stay on. Zarba said the boat sailed from Miami, Fla.

Near Santa Clara, a provincial capital in central Cuba, blue-shirted civilian militiamen shot five convicted insurgents charged with waging Guerrilla warfare in the Escambray Mountains.

The Santa Clara proceedings—at which Pecoraro was tried—was the biggest conspiracy trial under Castro's rule. Four Russians were the only foreign reporters permitted to attend.

Living Costs Up In Nine of Ten Regional Cities

OTTAWA (CP) — Living costs rose during August in nine of 10 regional cities across Canada, the bureau of statistics reported Thursday.

Higher food prices were responsible for the increases, the bureau said. City food indexes rose by amounts varying from a high of 2.6 per cent in Vancouver to a low of 0.5 per cent in Montreal.

Indexes for nine of the cities are based on 1949 prices equalling 100. The St. John's, Nfld. index is based on June, 1951, prices equalling 100.

Rhodesia Calls Up Territorial Reserves

SALISBURY (Reuters) — Southern Rhodesia called up white territorial reserves Thursday amid civil unrest and fears of rioting this weekend.

Federal Prime Minister Sir Roy Welensky said the troops were summoned as a "precautionary measure" at the request of Southern Rhodesian Premier Sir Edgar Whitehead.

Welensky said the units would act only in support of the civil power.

"The purpose of the move," Sir Roy said, "is to ensure that the ordinary man and his family, of all races, can go about his business activities free of the threat of riot. In particular, the African must be freed from the threat of intimidation and violence."

The callup followed racial rioting here last weekend — the worst ever experienced in Salisbury. Seven Negroes were killed and 80 Negroes and whites injured in 10 hours of riots.

Lawyer Gets Year in Oakalla

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 56-year-old Vanrouver lawyer was sentenced Thursday to a year in Oakalla prison farm for his part "in a most disgraceful scheme" — helping three Hong Kong Chinese enter Canada with phoney passports.

An elderly Chinese barber — who had "taken part in a most disgraceful plot to flout the laws of the country under whose protection you have lived for more than 50 years" — was sentenced to six months and fined $5000 or another six months.

George Edward Gordon, a barrister for more than 30 years, and Sun Tong, 72, had been convicted respectively on seven and two charges in connection with an illegal passport racket.

Trading Stamps Decision Reserved

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada resrved decision Thursday on the legality of trading stamps issued by two of Canada's largest chain food stores.

The case involved an appeal by the attorney-general of Manitoba against lower court judgments ruling that stamps issued by Loblaw Groceteria Company Manitoba Limited and an Independent Grocers Alliance store are not illegal trading stamps within the meaning of the Criminal Code.

RUTHIN, Wales (AP)—A widow of 65 went on trial for murder Thursday in the weird case of the mummified corpse kept around for 20 years.

LOUIS BATTAGLIA FUNERAL TODAY

VANCOUVER (CP) — Louis Battaglia, 73-year-old ex-miner whose fight for a silicosis pension is still making headlines six weeks after his death, will be buried Friday.

Battaglia died Sept. 1. An inquest into his death to determine if he had silicosis began Oct. 4 and is continuing.

His battle with the Workmen's Compensation Board to get a silicosis pension began in 1954. The board has been asked to pay a posthumous pension to his estate.

Izvestia Raps Diefenbaker

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia Thursday rebuked Prime Minister Diefenbaker for his recent speech to the United Nations General Assembly which Izvestia called "slanderous" and "a cheap masquerade."

Said Izvestia: He attempted to portray himself as the liberator of the Ukrainian people.

"The Canadian prime minister's speech has caused indignation among all Ukrainians and especially among all Soviet citizens, who after many years of wandering and plight in Canada, were able to return to their homeland and now are living in Lvov.

BCE Building Must Replace Windows

VANCOUVER (CP) — Every one of the 3000 windows in the $6,500,000 B.C. Electric building will have to be replaced because the sealing has failed on some of the double-plated windows. Fog patches have appeared on them as a result of condensation.

A company spokesman said Wednesday that B.C. Electric is planning legal action in connection with the problem.

The firm which installed the windows is no longer in business. However, the windows were guaranteed by a bonding company.

World News Briefly

PENTICTON (CP) — The former secretary-treasurer of the Oliver Co-Op Store Association was fined $500 and sentenced to seven days in jail Thursday for misappropriating $12,000 from the firm over a period of six years.

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Labor Congress appears to be accepting a period of peaceful coexistence with the maverick Teamsters Brotherhood, informants indicated Thursday night.

COMOX (CP) — Social Crediter Dan Campbell's election in Comox riding in the Sept. 12 provincial election was confirmed in a judicial recount Thursday.

The recount cut his slim majority over CCFer Fred Wood to 28 from 39 votes. The totals were 6,100 to 6,072.

The result also confirms Social Credit's total of 32 seats in the provincial legislature. The CCF has 16 and Liberals have four.

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP) —National Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson said Thursday that if the United Nations had accepted Soviet Premier Khrushchev's demand that Dag Hammarskjold resign as secretary-general it would have meant "the destruction of the United Nations."

"I was glad to see nearly all the UN members support Mr. Hammarskjold by resisting this suggestion," Mr. Pearson said in an interview.

"Mr. Hammarskjold has done a magnificent job. He is fair, objective and very intelligent."

FIRST SNOW FALLS

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — The first snow of the season fell at Lethbridge Thursday. It was too light for the department of transport to measure accurately but together with a heavy rainfall Wednesday it accounted for the first appreciable precipitation in almost a month.

BURSTING PAST RESTRAINING HANDS, a fanatical Japanese teen-ager rushes at Socialist party leader Inejiro Asanuma, wielding a long knife. "We Will Do Our Best" — Pearkes

VICTORIA (CP) — One of Canada's distinguished old soldiers Thursday came back to the province he calls home to become its 20th lieutenant-governor.

Maj. - Gen. George Randolph Pearkes, at 72 still a tall, straight soldierly figure, accepted the seals of his new office in a short, formal ceremony in the white, chandeliered drawing room of Government House before members of the provincial cabinet and their wives.

With Mrs. Pearkes by his side, the man who won the Victoria Cross at Paschendale in the First World War, commanded a division in the Second and then guided Canada's defence policy for three years, pledged that "we will do our best to play the part now assigned to us."

After being sworn in by Chief Justice A. C. Desbrisay, acting-lieutenant governor since the departure of Frank Ross from Government House more than a week ago, Mr. Pearkes told the distinguished guests:

"The world has already entered an era of fantastic speeds, the electronic brain and the satellite. We see now the dawn of the space age.

"The recent achievements in science hold unimaginable prospects for greater happiness and nobler human beings. Danger and pitfalls, of course, lie ahead.

"These we can avoid provided we retain our faith in God's infinite wisdom and the moral discipline in our homes. British Columbia is indeed a province of happy homes. I pray that these advances in science and technology be used only to help mankind in his quest for a dignified, happy and peaceful life."

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal police are wondering what they can do with 500 pounds of top-grade beefsteaks if they can't eat them.

The problem arose Wednesday after Clement Cloutier, 37-year-old longshoreman, pleaded not guilty to a charge of theft of the meat from a truck.

Judge Paul Hurteau ruled the beefsteaks could not be returned to the owners until 30 days after Cloutier's conviction or acquittal at trial.

To return the meat might prejudice the case for the prosecution, said Judge Hurteau.

Cloutier was released on $950 bail pending trial Oct. 19 and police sought out a cold storage plant for the meat.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Bargain hunters Thursday were warned to beware of anyone offering elevator doors for sale cheap.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A set of false teeth may be all old bossy needs to add a few more useful years to her life. Dr. Nelson Cruz Arias, a dentist from Cali, Colombia, said Wednesday that by wearing false teeth, a cow can start gaining weight again and have several more years of useful life. He is in Dallas to attend the Pan-American livestock show. He said he fitted a number of cattle with false teeth in Colombia and in one case a 15-year-old cow gained 45 pounds after getting the teeth.

Grinsted Returns as Immigration Officer

Returned to Nelson as Canadian immigration officer in charge of the district of Kootenay is Ronald J. Grinsted, who left here in July 1956 for England.

Mr. Grinsted was West Kootenay immigration officer at Nelson for three and a half years before going to England to become counsellor and visa officer in London. He and Mrs. Grinsted left England in July.

While overseas, Mr. Grinsted worked in immigration offices in Bristol, Leeds, Liverpool, Glasgow and Belfast, but spent most of his service in London.

With other staff members, he talked to thousands of persons interested in Canada, giving talks and showing films on the country and explaining requirements necessary to those planning to make Canada their home. Booklets and pamphlets are also distributed.

Every effort is made to provide accurate, up-to-the-minute information on economic conditions in Canada, Mr. Grinsted said.

A member of the service since 1946, Mr. Grinsted came to Nelson in 1953 from Mission.

A former director of the Rotary Club, he will again become a member. He is also a member of the Masonic lodge.

R. J. GRINSTED

Mrs. Grinsted was also active here as a member of the Eastern Star lodge and the Rebekah lodge.

They are residing at 703 Radio Avenue.

Marking of Access Roads To Beaches Urged By Club

Another "hot potato" has landed in the lap of the Chamber of Commerce.

This was the view of the Roads and Bridges Committee which met Thursday to discuss recommendations for the provincial cabinet to use in calculating 1961 estimates.

The hot potato is in the form of a demand by the Rod and Gun Club that the Chamber press the government to mark all access roads in Nelson area, thereby pointing them out to the public as access roads to beaches.

From early rumblings, the group learned that North Shore residents look upon such a move with disfavor.

NO COURTESY

"You know what it is. They (the public) come to your beach, bust beer bottles and make a mess," said Herbert Harrop, committee chairman said. "It's a matter of common courtesy."

"General feeling up the lake is everyone who comes from town wants everything free, but when you go to town you hit the bridge. It's four bits right there!"

Though most lakeshore residents own land only from the high water mark up, many have come to regard their beaches as private because of the labor they have put into maintaining them, said Vincent Fink, a lakeshore land owner.

It is the claim of the Nelson Rod and Gun Club and some citizens that many of the access roads created by the government have been taken over by private landowners who refuse admittance to beaches via road to the public.

This has led to harsh words between the hopeful sun worshipper and the home owner. It is believed that if all government access roads are properly marked, confusion over indecision on the legality of each party's stand would end.

"If its marked, there is a referee, an umpire. There is no one to tell them (the public) where to go," said V. M. Killeen. "Nobody has any right to kick them off."

The matter was referred to the publicity committee in conjunction with the roads and bridges committee to ponder and to bring in a recommendation to the Chamber.

NEED FERRY SPARE

The group also passed a motion requiring that letters be forwarded to Highways Minister Hon. P. A. Gaglardi, Nelson-Creston MLA, Hon. Wesley D. Black and D. F. Martin of Nelson, regional engineer for the Department of Highways, requesting that the government place a spare engine in this vicinity for the ferries of Kootenay Lake.

The committee believed that such a move by the government would end costly and annoying delays to the public when ever one of the engines on either of the two ferries broke down.

This they believed would help ease situations such as that which occurred over the Thanksgiving holiday weekend when the Balfour was aided by a tug because one engine was out of operation.

Juvenile Fined

A 17-year-old Nelson juvenile was fined a total of $35 on two charges in juvenile court Wednesday.

He was found guilty of impaired driving, fined $25, and of driving without a driver's licence.

He also was placed on probation.

Judge E. P. Dawson dismissed an appeal of R. A. Gorsline of Nelson Thursday in County Court. Gorsline had appealed a conviction of impaired driving.

Sasquatch Expert May Visit Area

One man in British Columbia doesn't smile when you mention the word "Sasquatch" and Thursday via telephone he got in touch with John Bringsli of Nelson who spotted the beast in September.

John Green of Agassiz, who has made a study of the legends and sightings of the beasts, was interested in Mr. Bringsli's encounter with such an animal near the headwaters of Lemon Creek, six miles east of here.

Mr. Bringsli stated that over the telephone he told Mr. Green no more than what has been said before, but the coast man appeared interested enough to drop a hint that he will visit Nelson to see the area.

As for Mr. Bringsli, once again Thursday his 1931 coupe bounced up the old logging road to the area where he met "it" while huckleberry picking.

Keeping to his promise, he was well armed, carrying a 30-06 and a shotgun as he prowled around the bush. What he saw, if he saw anything, Mr. Bringsli is keeping to himself.

He hinted that in the next few days there may be more developments, especially in the line of organizing a search party.

Nelson-Castlegar Highway Completion No. 1 Request

Completion of a "super-deluxe" highway between Nelson and Castlegar was cited as No. 1 recommendation by the roads and bridges committee of the Nelson Chamber of Commerce for the provincial cabinet, which is now compiling its estimates for 1961.

This would mean, the board stated, improvement of the road at Taghum hill, Thrums, Beasley Bluffs and hooking up of the South Slocan overpass.

Rockblasting at Taghum hill, Beasley Bluffs and Thrums, the group believed, should be included in the winter works program, meaning the federal government would share 50 per cent of the labor cost.

Second recommendation was that work continue on the Rose Pass to Kimberley.

Other recommendations were improving the highway between Coffee Creek and Kaslo, widening and straightening of Kootenay Bay-Creston section of highway 3, improving Riondel road, also from Balfour to Nelson, an extension of View Street, improve Harrop ferry service, improve Kootenay Lake ferry service via Queen's Bay, Ymir Road diversion between Porto Rico and Ymir, keeping highway on left side of the Salmo River.

Teachers Travel To Trail for Annual Meet

A large delegation of Nelson teachers travelled to Trail Thursday night for the start of a three-day annual educational conference of the West Kootenay and Boundary Teacher Federation.

They will join some 500 other delegates and their wives in attending the program which this year has been divided into two sections, elementary and secondary.

To accomodate the departure of the teachers, students will have a holiday today.

The kickoff of the three-day affair was Thursday evning when former principal of J. Lloyd Crowe High School Walter Hartrick addressed a public meeting.

The 38-year-old Vancouver native is now in Chicago as a staff associate, Midwest Administration Centre, University of Chicago, where he is studying toward his Ph.D.

The elementary program will feature art workshop, phonetics, music teaching techniques, physical education, remedial reading.

The secondary program will feature mathematics, English and remedial reading, science, social studies, home economics and physical education.

The conference ends Saturday.

Talk Preceded Knights' Meeting

A broadcast over CKLN by Supreme Knight, Luke Hart, preceded the dinner meeting in the Hume Hotel Wednesday night of the Nelson Knights of Columbus Council 1560. Theme of his talk was a challenge to youth of today.

SAYS CITY NOT TO BLAME FOR POLLUTION

Ald. W. K. Massey is convinced that the city of Nelson is not responsible for pollution of the Kootenay River.

He said so when city council received minutes of a joint meeting with the Kinnaird village commission Oct. 4 along with a letter from Hon. W. D. Black, provincial secretary and minister of municipalities.

It is not the city, but "commercial things, like Celgar," that are responsible for river pollution, Ald. Massey charged. It is "a silly notion" that Nelson is the source, he said.

"Public health departments are beginning to get embarrassed because they are looking for evidence and cannot find any," he stated.

He scored "blaring headlines" in the Daily News following the Oct. 4 meeting.

(The headlines read, "Nelson, Kinnaird Tackle Kootenay Pollution." The sub-heading read, "Steering Committee Set Up; To Invite Kootenay Centers.")

MOOSE LOSES TO TRAIN

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — A bull moose lost Wednesday when it charged a freight locomotive at nearby Taft. The 1,300 - pound moose rushed headlong into the side of a 380,000 - pound Duluth, Winnipeg and Pacific freight engine, smashed his antlers, broke all four legs and lost his life, but dented a "grab iron" and buckled a heavy iron pin used to uncouple cars behind the engine.

CPR Scored for Poor Service

Charges of Overcharging, Double Billing Levelled at Merchandisers

KIMBERLEY—According to the Kimberley Retail Merchants' Association, the Canadian Pacific Railway is providing slow and unsatisfactory service with their merchandising services, which were formed earlier this year in place of the CPR Express.

Charges of slow service, overcharging, weight differences, double billing and slow action on damage claims were levelled at the CPR.

It was unanimously decided by members of the association to send a letter to the CPR explaining the unsatisfactory service and asking a representative to attend a meeting of the retail merchants in order to thresh out the many freight problems confronting merchants.

Merchants were warned by Jim Milne, president of the association, to check and double check their bills and statements as duplications of billings are very common.

He stated in some cases the merchants pay for merchandise when it arrives and are sent another another bill and in other cases they are billed for an item one month and then rebilled the following month for the same item.

CHARGED DOUBLE

Another merchant complained he had been charged double to have an item shipped while an*other cited a case where the dif*ference in weight on the bill of lading and the actual weight of the goods received was in excess of 200 pounds.

He said with the high cost of shipping into this area, 200 lbs. additional charge on an item increases cost of the item to the consumer if the merchant expects to receive his usual mark up on the item.

Most merchants present at the meeting presented actual cases of discrepancies in charges or complained about slow service.

All agreed that freight service from Vancouver had slowed down considerably and, what normally took two or three days now takes five to six days.

Some merchants have been waiting for several months for settlement of damage claims, one of them as far back as last May.

Several of the merchants, when making complaints to the local office were told, "The service is still quite new and there are still a few kinks to be ironed out."

Trail to Hold Three-Day Birthday Party

TRAIL — Directors of Trail's Diamond Jubilee committee were elected at the group's first meeting this week which was chaired by Mayor L. A. Read.

Progressing with plans for their 60th birthday celebration in 1961, the committee elected as directors Geno LeRose, Mel Monkhouse, Mrs. L. A. Read and Isadore McLaughlin.

The committee plans to limit duration of the celebration to three days and it was suggested that the year mark the beginning of an annual celebration of some description distinctive to Trail.

A public meeting may be held in five weeks time.

Cancer Society Head Addresses Meeting

NAKUSP — H. R. King, Executive Secretary of the British Columbia and Yukon Division, Canadian Cancer Society, addressed a meeting the of the Arrow Lakes-Slocan Unit in the Canadian Legion at Nakusp.

The B.C. Division "Conquer Cancer Campaign" for the year ending September 30, 1960, had an objective of $310,000 and was oversub*scribed by $43,000 which is an indi*cation of the zealous support being given to the Society, reported Mr. King. The Arrow Lakes-Slocan contribution was $918.91.

Accomplished by the Society in* the past year was the start of a Cancer Research Institute at U.B.C. This institute, which will cost $450,000 will have equipment and appartus worth $175,000 and should be completed in the fall of 1961, said Mr. King.

At the present time Mr. King said that 72,000 patients were being examined per year in B.C. With the facilities of the new institute 150,000 will be able to be examined by June 1961 and 200,000 by the end of next year.

He stated that cancer of the cervix was the second largest cause of death of women in B.C. However, the present cure rate was 66% and it was hoped to attain a 100% cure rate in five years.

Another objective of the Society was the formation of "Well Women Clinics." One of these is now in operation in the City of Trail. The members of these clinics are given an examination once a year and the results showed that these examinations were justified in that detection of the cancer was discovered soon enough to effect a cure in most cases.

This year as in previous years, the Society is sponsoring an essay contest in all B.C. schools. This year's contest theme is "To Smoke or Not To Smoke."

Mr. A. B. S. Stanly, president of the Arrow Lakes-Slocan Unit, was chairman of the meeting.

TAKEN ILL ON TRIP, DIES AT INVERMERE

INVERMERE — Funeral services were held from Christ Church in Invereme for Mrs. Mary Isabel Gallagher, of Invermere who died *suddenly in the Windermere Dis*trict Hospital following a brief illness.

Mrs. Gallagher was born in Carlisle, England. She accompanied her husband to Canada in 1929, two days after their wedding in Carlisle. She had been an active member of the Invermere Senior Ladies Aid, of the Chirst Church Guild and of the Ladies Auxiliary to Canadian Legion Branch No. 71.

Surviving are her husband, Thomas, three brothers and three sisters in England. One sister, Mrs. Helen Normington of Leeds, had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher all summer. They had taken her to Calgary on the first lap of her journey home when Mrs. Gallagher was taken ill and had to return immediately to Invermere, where she was hospitalized.

Rev. F. D. F. Kimmitt officiated at the services and the Canadian Legion Auxiliary formed a guard of honour.

Interment was in the Invermere and district cemetery.

Imperial Oil and Gas

To Sign Contract In Calgary This Week

CRANBROOK — Canadian Bechtel Ltd., agents here for Alberta Natural Gas in construction of the 107 miles of 36-inch natural gas trunk line between Crowsnest and Kingsgate, expect the contract between Alberta Natural Gas and Price-Poole of Canada, Ltd., to be signed in Calgary this week.

Bechtel, which is also engineering firm and management for the Alberta Natural Gas, anticipate the contracting company will probably open separate offices here soon and hope work forces will be in the field early in November. Initial work will be clearing and grading the pipeline right-of-way and from previous experience in pipeline construction, the Bechtel office believes this will probably be done under section sub-contracts by existing equipment operators in this district.

*C. D. Shultz Ltd., forest engin*eering firm who contracted with Bechtel for the timber evaluation along the right-of-way, which is now mapped in detail, have completed their field work and are now compiling findings. Fair price will then be established on the timber to be removed from privately owned and crown land through which the line will be laid following clearance and grading.

School Administration Subject of PTA Speaker

INVERMERE—Informative talks by the principals of the Invermere schools highlighted the Parent-Teacher meeting held in the David Thompson High School at Invermere. Miss Alice Curtis, principal of the David Thompson High *School, and Harold Bates, princi*pal of the Invermere elementary school, discussed various aspects of local school administration.

Mr. Bates explained the organization of the seven divisions in the elementary school. Miss Curtis explained and clarified the high school courses. This last talk sparked a lively and informative "buzz" session on high schools in general and a comparison with English high schools in particular. Mr. French of the DTHS staff added much to the discussion because of his knowledge of the English school system.

The meeting voted to donate $10 to aid the Women's Institute in paying shipping charges on clothing collected to send to refugee camps in Europe.

It was reported that the proceeds of the games night were $216.94 and proceeds of the concession booth at the track meet were $84.49.

The meeting was well attended. Refreshments were served by a committee.

Intersection Problem Solved

CRANBROOK — Left turns on Baker Street intersection with Cranbrook Street will be permitted except between the hours of 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. and 6 p.m.

This traffic bylaw amendment is a result of the department of highway's experimental program toward solving traffic tieups at this intersection. Guidance markers will now be removed from this point.

Pedestrian crossing lights will not be installed at present, since equipment ordered is not available and substitute sent is not suitable.

This matter will stand until installation in 1961 of automatic control lights for this arterial highway route through the city.

Hon. W. D. Black, minister of municipal affairs, has requested letters of approval from the medical health officer and city planning officer concerning the proposed garbage disposal area northeast of the gold club property toward Alkili Lakes.

Kinnaird Plans New Public Works Building

KINNAIRD — Plans for a new public works building for Kinnaird were shown to the village commission at their meeting this week by T. J. Gwilym Hughes.

The building to be used for storage and office work, will be built next to the spot where it is hoped a new village office will be constructed, on Milestone Road at the Sixth Avenue intersection.

Commissioners considered breakdown of labor costs to facilitate application for construction to be included in the winter works progrom.

It was pointed out that since this year's budget will just balance, only such public works as could be accepted under the grant-aided winter works program could be carried out.

Constructed of concrete blocks, the building will have an area of 36 feet by 31 feet.

It will be partitioned for storage and office space. Estimated labor cost is $3000.

PUBLIC WORKS REPORT

The main on the highway has been completed and service connections were to have been finished by Thursday, when contractors will begin work on Upper Bench, said Ross Williams in his public works report.

New pump house floor has been poured, he said and installation of blocks would begin.

Sewage treatment plant serving Woodlands Park was to go into operation Wednesday.

Taxation on mobile homes should be levied by the provincial government, it was suggested at the UBCM meeting, said C. M. Loeblich, with permit granted to local authorities for collection.

Education Department Approves Cranbrook School Construction

CRANBROOK — Cranbrook District School Board proposal for an additional 12-room school for the city has been approved by the Department of Education toward providing accommodation for the continuously increasing school population, at present about 240 pupils over the number which can normally be accommodated at the four existing schools.

Split level standard plan has been found acceptable by the department and the board for location on the former Laurie property north of South Second Street and just east of city limits which the board bought last year. The two-storey section will provide six classrooms, science, arts, home economics rooms and library and the single-storey section the gymnasium-auditorium, activity room and administration offices.

Detailed cost estimates are now being prepared for a planned plebiscite of the school district to coincide with the December municipal elections, and if the by-law passes, tenders will be called early in 1961 in hope the building would be ready for occupation by start of the Fall term.

Though shift-classes have so far been avoided in handling the total school population, to accommodate the surplus enrolment three temporary classrooms in Central School basement and music room have been arranged and two in Tenth Avenue School.

Specific grading for the proposed new school will be delayed until most urgent needs at the opening date are indicated. Tentative plan was for elementary-junior high school grades for school population on the city's east side, which would relieve pressure at both Central Elementary and Mount Baker High School. At present Central is accommodating two junior high school classes while Mount Baker is operating at top capacity.

Ideal objective is eventual separation of junior and senior high schools.

Trades Licensing Handling Comes Under Fire

KIMBERLEY — Retail Merchants' Association has invited Alderman Jack Glennie to appear at its next meeting to explain inconsistencies in handling of trades licences.

Merchants were objecting to many businesses operating without a licence, a majority of them from homes.

J. Milne, president told members some plan should be in effect whereby members would be protected against too many business establishments in the same line of business.

Door to door peddling was scorned by the association and an investigation as to whether bread companies delivering in the city have a licence will be made.

It was pointed out that in the last three weeks, 4X baker, City bakery and Variety bakery had been making door to door deliveries of bread and Honeyboy bread was being left at homes as samples.

Invesigation will also be made as to the legality of the distribution of wholesale catalogues in the city by mail and every effort be made to discourage this type of buying. One merchant pointed out that in the majority of cases the provincial 5 per cent tax was not collected on items purchased outside the province.

A request for advice will be made *to the British Columbia Retail Mer*chants' Association in an effort to help curtail the distribution of the catalogues.

Former Sawwmill Operator Dies

INVERMERE—Funeral services for Frank Koski, who died in Windermere District Hospital at Invermere after a long illness, were held from Trinity United Church.

Mr. Koski was 42. He was a sawmill operator until illness necessitated his closing down two years ago. He had previously lived at Cranbrook.

Surviving are his wife, Edith, and five children, all at Invermere.

Rev. J. P. Staniland officiated at the services.

A Strengthened Cabinet

The appointment of cabinet ministers is probably the most difficult decision a premier is called upon to make. It is often a matter of trial and error and changes made after a few sessions reflect the premier's appraisal of his cabinet ministers.

Mr. Diefenbaker has lost two of his oldest members, Mr. A. F. Brooks, 69, who has been appointed to the Senate, and the Minister of Defence, George Pearkes, 72, who now becomes lieutenant-governor of British Columbia. Age, not lack of ability, seems to be the reason for their retirement, for both have been successful in their former posts.

Gordon Churchill, who is 61, leaves the Ministry of Trade and Commerce and takes over the lighter portfolio of Veterans' Affairs. The difficult portfolio of defence will be held by Douglas Harkness, who was a defence critic when the Conservatives were in opposition and who has been Minister of Agriculture for the past three years.

The accent seems to be on youth with the new appointments. Mr. George Hees, who succeeds Gordon Churchill in the difficult Ministry of Trade and Commerce, is, at 50, a successful businessman while Leon Balcer, 42, takes over the Ministry of Transport. The average age of cabinet ministers has now fallen from 55.18 to 53.8.

Most of the other newly appointed ministers have had no experience in opposition and it must be presumed that the prime minister regards them as good cabinet material. Political expediency is always given by the opposition for cabinet appointments and perhaps, from the larger view, this is not such a bad thing if it makes for stronger government. Certainly the astute Mr. Diefenbaker by his appointments of two Queebc ministers and one from Newfoundland has done well by sections of the country which have not done so well by his party.

But looking at the appointments from a broader point of view it is clear that the government will benefit from the changes. With the growing number of problems at home and in foreign affairs which confront the government it needs to have a strong and vigorous cabinet to deal with them. Under the circumstances it should enter its next session with confidence.

Interpreting the News

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Commonwealth prime ministers today find themselves in the position of a married couple debating the advisability of spanking junior because he said a naughty word.

The collective culprit is the 25-member Monckton commission, which returned from a year's study of the Central African Federation and distinctly uttered the word "secession" after both Prime Minister Macmillan and Federation Prime Minister Sir Roy Welensky distinctly said it mustn't.

Sir Roy is the more aggrieved of the two. As soon as he spotted the word in the commission's report, he protested that the commissioners had no authority to discuss a possible breakup of the federation, which consists of Northern Rhodesia, Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

Sir Roy's agitation is understandable. While the disfranchised Negro majority in the three territories strongly opposes the federation because of fear of white domination, a vocal minority of European residents dislikes it on the grounds that the Negroes may eventually take it over.

While echoes of the latter sentiment are audible in the British Conservative party, Macmillan has made it clear that he is committed to the federation as an attempt to set up a harmonious and economically viable state in central Africa, in which both races could work together.

Sir Roy's slogan of racial partnership appears to express the same view. But some of the ramifications of his policy appear to run counter to the meaning of the phrase.

As the commission observes, a successful partnership depends on agreement by both parties that the relationship should exist. Any attempt to shackle them together would only intensify the resistance of the African nationalist parties of Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland, which already react to federation with the same degree of enthusiasm Sir Roy displays towards secession.

Macmillan's "wind of change" speech in South Africa last winter indicates a considerable degree of sympathy with African claims for a greater share in their political destiny, although he will undoubtedly give equal weight to the commission's strong arguments in favor of keeping the states together.

He has offered no personal comment on the commission's advice that the federation's member territories be given the right to secede at some later date.

The government spokesmen, however, have indicated that the commissioners will get away with a slap on the wrist for their calculated indiscretion in exceeding their terms of reference.

And, whether Sir Roy's constituents like it or not, the question of secession will be on the agenda in the next phase of the talks designed to bring the federation to independence within the Commonwealth.

F. B. Pearce. . . . . Writes

I suppose now that I shan't get those Black Hamburg grapes. It is my own fault. We went to Creston, and instead of stopping there went on to Cranbrook and used up all our time. We had only twenty minutes to spare, and that is not enough for a real visit. Perhaps if the weather is good we make a short run across the lake. The scenery is very colorful just now.

We stopped at Creston for apples, and the conversation drifted to the ancient history of the schools. We spoke of G. P. Smith, who was principal at Creston when I was there. He was a strong, husky man, who should have been a farmer, and eventually, of course, he bought orchard land.

G. P., though he came from back east, was as much of a greenhorn as I was. He saw a butt log on the hillside, and Brother Learmonth promptly gave it to him, with a straight face but a smile in his heart.

It was a bull pine log about three feet through, and one solid mass of pitch pine. G. P. took a peavey and gave the log a heave, and it went to the bottom of the hill and nearly took him with it. Then we got it home and sawed it in half, and I spent many days after school trying to split my share. I did eventually get it all into small pieces. So did G. P., and he crammed his airtight heater full of it and then sat up all night watching it. Every now and again it would give a whoosh and flames and smoke would blow the lid off, and he wondered if the house would get on fire.

Those were prohibition days, and G. P., who was not a heavy drinker, had all sorts of schemes and recipes for making hootch. One I remember had to do with potatoes, molasses and water placed in a cask and buried for six months. I don't know that he ever tried it, but he borrowed my recipe for dandelion wine and made some in a crock, which he set behind the stove. Two weeks later, when I asked him if it was fermenting, he said it was gone. He made another lot, and when the plasterers did the walls of his new house he discovered he had not included the chimney in the contract, so he bribed them with dandelion wine to plaster it. I gathered that on that occasion the plasterers were well plastered.

The water supply to his new house was not steady and reliable, so G. P., who was a man of resource, bought an iron tank for a reservoir. He was a strong man, and proud of his strength. When he unloaded the tank from the rig he could hold his end up but the other man could not. The tank fell on his fingers, and when he shook his mitt his fingers fell out. He said they never hurt him until the doctor sewed the stubs up.

I only saw him once after I left Creston, but I always liked him, and was sorry to hear of his death a few years ago. He was a man who should have lived much longer.

Steel Helmet Usually Discarded, Says Veteran

To the Editor:

Sir—Your editorial from the Calgary Herald, printed 7 Oct. 60, "Bureaucracy at Its Bungling Worst", is a bungling bit of foolish prepaganda. The Canadian soldier in wartime shucks many of his peace-time habits, and the first to go is his "chicken" discipline. With this relaxation of restrictions, the soldier becomes more of an individual, subject to fads, to pride and to thought.

The police action in Korea (it can not be called a war, because it had no set objective) consisted of a few short battles implanted in constant patrol activity. Now, as any infantryman could have told the Calgary Herald, the eternal work of the soldier when not in offense is the improvement of his defense. A slit trench is dug if there is the slightest chance of remaining stationary for half an hour, and this is continually enlarged to become bunkers that resemble catacombs.

Below a three-foot roof of steel, timbers and earth, a steel helmet (even the U.S. type) is worse than useless. It hampers movement and is of no assistance should the roof cave in. (The latter would be a rare occurrence, as a man builds his own bunker and is not likely to want it to leak rain, let alone cave in.)

In a patrol action, stealth, speed and silence are essentail. A tin hat is liable to cause sound, and slows movement, so is not permitted. It follows, then, that a tendency develops toward leaving the "pot" behind.

A third and likely most important consideration finally decides the matter. The Canadian soldier is a proud man. He doesn't want to be dressed in the same way as the GI or the Aussie or the Kiwi or the Brit or the Korean. He is too brave and fearless to wear a steel helmet or steel vest, or to stay in his bunker when the shelling ceases. He must be exposed and impress the enemy with his courage. His cherry beret shows up a mile away, and he knows it. The Van Doos even go to the extreme of erecting signs over the enemy dead to proclaim the slayer. No sense being a soldier if you dress like a turtle and avoid all risk. If the sign says "Out of Bounds", "Danger", "Do Not Enter", the Canuck swaggers in.

Well, you guess the rest. The helmet, respirator and greatcoat are packed into the kit bag and shipped 'way back; extra Stens and Brens are acquired, and we're ready for action.

I do not believe that "officers have said frequently that it was a 'real tragedy' " that we did not have the Yank helmet, because personal observation has shown me that the officer is the first to discard the helmet, even in peacetime, when helmets are worn simply because they are issued.

HOPE

You say the singing earth is still—frozen
the rill?
But, no! stoop low,
And you will hear beneath the snows
Hepatica and Christmas rose.

You say the human heart is dead—that hope has fled?
Ah, no! stoop low,
And you will see a vital spark
That glows and grows against the dark!
For hope springs ever in the breast,
And it is blest!
A ray

Times Square Bomb Knocked Over Dozens

NEW YORK (AP) — A home-made-bomb which exploded in a subway station beneath Times Square Wednesday, shattered train windows and knocked over dozens of victims.

At least 34 persons were injured, none seriously. It was the third device to explode in 11 days in the Times Square area.

The explosion and gush of black smoke touched off momentary panic as the bomb went off behind an automatic phototaking machine. The blast, which also destroyed a metal clothing locker was felt at street level, and some windows rattled in adjacent buildings.

Witness said they saw two youths, their faces powder-blackened, race from the blast scene. Transit authority inspector Patrick J. Coughlin, 49, said he overheard one of the pair say, "We got too close, I lost my hat," and the other reply, "I lost my hat, too."

Two hats were found near the blast scene.

Three Crimes Per Minute In U.S. Says Edgar Hoover

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States has one of the highest crime rates in the world.

FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover estimates that one serious crime is committed in the U.S. every 20 seconds—three a minute. Automobiles are stolen at the rate of one every two minutes; murders and rapes are committed at the rate of one every four minutes.

"America enjoys the world's highest standard of living," remarks Hoover with a touch of irony, "but at the same time suffers one of the world's highest crime rates."

Hoover has no political axe to grind. At 65, he has headed the Federal Bureau of Investigation for 36 years under Republican and Democratic administrations. He has a special agent staff of 6,000.

Wherever he speaks, Hoover keeps hitting this big point:

"American people are being fleeced by the criminal element as never before. Our nation's annual crime bill now totals $22,000,000,000—an amount equivalent to $128 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

"The spectre of juvenile terrorism and gang-style intimidation hangs menacingly over community after community," says Hoover. "A surging teen - age underworld—one which practises open defiance of the law and utter contempt for the rights and welfare of others—has arisen to challenge the forces of law and order."

URGES LESS LENIENCY

Juvenile arrests have more than doubled during the last 12 years in an age group whose population has risen by less than 50 per cent in the same period.

"Today youthful offenders account for more than one-fourth of the arrests for robberies, one-half of the burglary and larceny arrests and nearly two-thirds of the arrests for automobile thefts."

Hoover advocates a tougher policy on juvenile delinquents. Too often, he says, the juvenile view that he can get away with anything is fostered by leniency of officials involved.

In this, Hoover may be reflecting some of the views of President Eisenhower, who seems to agree that American children tend to be coddled and over-protected by their parents.

Eisenhower made that point at a press conference where he observed that generally European children seemed to be in better physical shape because they walked and cycled more. The average American child usually goes to school by car or bus. Part of the reason for this, apart from distance, is parental fear that the child may be molested or kidnapped.

Freedom Lies In U.K.-U.S. Ties Tories Told

SCARBOROUGH, England (CP)—The freedom of mankind depends fundamentally on the Anglo - American alliance, Britain's foreign secretary told the ruling Conservative party's annual convention here Thursday.

The Earl of Home also declared to his fellow party members that he "rejected absolutely" the conception that if Britain got too close to the United States, this country would "inevitably be dragged along behind them as a dog was dragged on a lead."

Home spoke before the delegates passed a resolution lauding Prime Minister Harold Macmillan for his "leadership" in trying to "secure relief of world tension." There was only one dissenting vote.

Delegate A. C. Alexander called the resolution "platitudinous and misleading."

"If the government tells you the international situation is improving, it deceives you." "Rather, it is growing worse,"

Home, whose speech was cheered loudly, said that Europe "by now would have been overrun by the Communists" had it not been for the presence of the U.S. there following the Second World War.

"So long as the Communists act on the doctrines of Stalin with force as a legitimate instrument of foreign policy," he continued, "then communism must be militarily contained."

Col. Mobutu Not Seeking UN War

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — The Congolese army commander and strong man, Col. Joseph Mobutu, said Thursday he has no intention of making war against the United Nations over the fate of deposed premier Patrice Lumumba.

Mobutu thus pulled the rug from under his provisional government of technicians, which two days ago asserted that if the United Nations did not permit Lumumba's arrest they would order a military assault against UN troops guarding him.

In an apparent attempt to save face for the technicians he put into office, Mobutu announced the Congolese army blockade of Lumumba's plush residence would continue indefinitely.

"And if Lumumba dares to leave his house again to hold political meetings I will arrest him immediately," Mobutu asserted.

Mobutu's statement, made to reporters after a two-hour conference with UN officials, served to ease the tension which has built up since the provisional government flung its ultimatum to the UN high command. The ultimatum was rejected by UN Congo Chief Rajeshawar Dayal of India.

U.S. Using More Steel Than Made

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

TORONTO (CP) — Steel consumers in the United States now and for the last few months have been using more steel than is being produced, Roger M. Blough, chairman of the board of United States Steel Corporation, said Thursday.

Addressing the National Industry Conference Board, he said said American steel consumption this year is expected to substantially exceed that of the last two years, and to approach the record levels of 1955-57.

Steel ingot production, however, will range between 100,000,000 and 105,000,000 tons, compared with the average of 115,000,000 tons in the period 1955-57.

CHANGED POLICIES

Mr. Blough said the explanation lies in changed inventory policies—a change from inventory building in the first quarter to inventory cutting since, which he ascribed to the following reasons:

"Capacity in the steel industry that assures ample and quick supply; the prospect of labor peace for some time to come; foreign sources of supply if domestic shortages develop; better management techniques in control and planning of inventories; the cost of funds for carrying inventories; and an increasing squeeze on profits which makes the carrying of even normal inventories burdensome."

Mr. Blough said he believes inventory cutting "has gone about as far as it can go," and he expects some improvement in the fourth quarter.

BRIGHT SPOT?

Mr. Blough said this year's inventory - cutting could be a bright spot in the outlook—with most steel consumers going into 1961 with stocks perhaps too well trimmed.

His preliminary view for early 1961 is that somewhat less across some major steel markets, such as machinery, automotive, appliances and railroads, but other markets such as containers and certain types of construction seem to have better prospects, although at this point the container market is down.

He also expects exports to improve gradually in a comparison with imports, although, for the long range, the export-import problem "looms large."

The National Industrial Conference Board, with headquarters in New York and a Canadian office in Montreal, is a non-profit organization supported by various organizations, for the purpose of business and industrial research.

Goldfine Ruled Unfit For Trial

BOSTON (AP) — Industrialist Bernard Goldfine, whose gift list once included former presidential aide Sherman Adams, has been ruled mentally incompetent to stand trial for tax evasion.

Federal Judge George Sweeney handed down the ruling Wednesday after three court-appointed psychiatrists testified Goldfine suffers from manic depressive psychosis with suicidal tendencies.

The 70 - year - old textile man was ordered committed to custody of the U.S. attorney-general until he is able to stand trial on indictments charging him with evading nearly $80,000 in personal and corporate income taxes or until some other disposition is made of the case.

Goldfine's controversial gifts to Adams led to the resignation of the Eisenhower aide after a congressional investigation.

Your Individual Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, October 15, 1960

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Seeking an outlet is all right IF you do not go at it for sake of change that disregards stability and neglects due interests. Today will tempt several ways, some good, others to shun.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Alterations, implementation needed in some places and respects. Use your talents to assuage, soften harsh tendencies about. Do not let truth be clouded; seek facts, not guesswork.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—If there is a job you can do especially well, take it on to assist a worthy cause, for where we help others, we also help ourselves immeasurably. Enjoy free time sensibly.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—Interruptions can cause endless redoing, beginning again. Have some time for quiet repose, contemplation, decision-maikng NOT under pressure. Listen, talk little till sure.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Inattentiveness, distorted figures and plans, resentment may run high, but you can steer clear of these, SHOULD do so with vigor. The winning opposites are conscientiousness, good will.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—Please note Leo, suggestions similar now. Mercury's oncoming favorable aspect urges incentive. Freshen up that outlook, demonstrate constructiveness to offset ill feeling.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Re-check on a proposition, is it all it purports to be? Some trading and domesticity could stand bolstering. Assist favorable conditions, journeys, and changes to take place.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio)—Looking to the past can only be helpful if it is for noting what not to do in future, but for day-dreaming or pointless backtracking, it is harmful. Today asks your stamina, faith.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)—Waiting for new interests and happy occasions to come is a fault of many. We must be interested in others and life itself, then good things will naturally involve us. Initiative!

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Troubled thoughts are in many minds, but living rightly, aiding those seeking to eliminate wasted effort and material resources are the answer. Much good can be pronounced.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Working under difficulties often brings out the best in us, and that may be the case today. Take matters in your innate capacious, perceptive way; you and others with you will gain.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Note Aquarius, some tendencies of mixed quality exist here. Planetary configurations say not to let matters pile up, nor to neglect minor issues. Boost inner strength.

YOU BORN TODAY may, like most, have hardships growing up, but you are equipped mentally (and normally physically) to cope with "toughest" problems, conditions. It is natural for you to work, strive, and respect due authority, thus become adept at what you undertake and take over responsibilities others could not master. Libra innately remains aloof from schemers, underhanded tactics, many of our finest judges, attorneys, heads of humane organizations in this Sign. Curb desire for pleasure that disturbs health; shun companions that flatter, waste time; maintain your understanding, sane manner of life. Imitative capacity. Birthdate of Virgil, first century B.C. Roman epic poet; many dramatists, civic leaders, reputable politicians, lecturers, historians.

Understudy Gets Lead

TORONTO (CP) — Latvian-born Marguerite DesJardins, a last-minute replacement, gave her first solo performance Wednesday night as Desdemona in Verdi's Othello, this season's opening production by the Canadian Opera Company.

Miss DesJardins, who had been understudying the role, took over as leading soprano after Ilona Kombrink lost her voice in a bout with laryngitis.

Critics praised her performance. Globe and Mail music editor John Kraglund calls the production "one of the most exciting on record."

Miss DesJardins said she was "kept too busy" all day Wednesday to be nervous and jittery at the performance.

"I fully expected to be thunderstruck at my first entrance" she said. "But I had absolutely no butterflies in my stomach."

WI Seeks Action on West Arm Pollution

Municipal authorities will be requested by the Granite Road Women's Institute for immediate action on the problem of pollution of West Arm waters.

This is the result of a letter from the South Slocan community, which was read at this week's meeting at the home of Mrs. J. Muraro of the Granite Road.

The group will also send a letter to Donald Brothers, member for Rossland-Trail riding, and to Hon. W. D. Black, minister of municipal affairs, asking for action.

A petition will be sought from members of the Shirley community requesting a solution to the problem.

The Institute named committees for the tea and bazaar to be held this Saturday.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Verne Johnson, Mrs. Wilbur Anderson and Mrs. Miles Crowley.

Have Anniversary At Bonner's Ferry

GRAY CREEK — Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Kelson have left their summer home at La France to celebrate their sixtieth wedding anniversary at Bonner's Ferry, Idaho.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelson were married at Big Timber, Montana, on October 9, 1900. They have five children, 13 grandchildren and 22 great grandchildren; most of whom will be in Bonner's for this great occasion.

The Kelsons built their place at the mouth of La France Creek fourteen years ago. They spend most of their time fishing. The 'big ones' have been scarce this year and they have unfortunately lost two outboard engines; one was stolen, the other dropped in the lake.

The Kelsons say they spend more of their time in Canada than at Bonner's.

Arthritic's Bequest Makes Opening CARS Research Unit a Realization

An event of great importance to arthritis and rheumatism victims is the opening of a research unit at University of British Columbia, the culmination of 14 years of planning.

The research unit investigating rheumatic and connective tissue diseases is the realization of a dream started 14 years ago by founders of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society.

The realization has been made possible through the bequest of the late E. E. P. Cunliffe of Kamloops, an arthritis sufferer, who set aside a portion of his estate — $171,830.81 — to CARS "for the sole and exclusive purpose of research carried on by that body."

These funds will be amortized at $20,000 a year over a 10-year period.

The new unit is the first of its kind in Canada.

Dr. Denys K. Ford, graduate of Cambridge University and recently appointed associate professor of the Faculty of Medicine at UBC, will head the unit. Dr. Ford has done previous research into both arthritis and cancer.

Dr. Ford commented on the newly established unit, "The program as I see it, must be a mixed one of clinical observations and investigation, and basic research. We will be able to study more carefully than hitherto individual cases of arthritis that present unusual or partcularly interesting features. We will improve our follow-up observations of cases of rheumatism and start population studies to evaluate the incidence and types of arthritis in different areas, occupations or particular groups of people.

"We are now developing methods of studying gout more accurately and believe that this will increase the interest of physicians in the diagnosis and treatment of gout as well as providing a better understanding of the disease.

RHEUMATOID FACTOR

Initially, the unit will be interested in "the rheumatoid factor" as now being studied by Dr. Grofton, the relationship of arthritis to hypersensitivity as now being investigated by Dr. Taylor in the department of pathology, and the relationship of viruses and virus-like organisms to various forms of arthritis, a particular interest of mine.

"I believe that the future will lie in a fuller understanding of the arthritis individual's response to certain inflictions and particularly in the response of the body to virus-like organisms that are capable of remaining in the body in a dormant state.

"Our research facilities will expand considerably in several months' time when a new laboratory becomes available and equipped in the department of medicine area of the Vancouver General Hospital.

"This will enable 'new blood' to be brought into the unit and the team to expand."

The Nelson branch of the CARS has sent out appeals to service clubs and lodges to help the society to double their research budget this year and to help with bursaries for five $500 bursaries.

There are four girls in the final year of physiotherapy and one wanting to start training in Canada, who will be assisted by CARS bursaries. All four at present in training have had to keep up a standard of sufficiently high marks to warrant a bursary being issued.

Physiotherapy is a new vocation which has come into its own just since the Second World War.

Intl. Joint Commission At Work On Passamaquoddy Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—The International Joint Commission has made progress in working out the nature and scope of the report to the Canadian and American governments on the proposed Passamaquoddy tidal-power project, a statement said Thursday.

Informants said the U.S. section of the commission has undertaken to prepare the first draft of the report, based on extensive engineering and fisheries studies in the New Brunswick - Maine tidal-boundary area.

It was indicated the next commission discussion of the proposal, which Canada views with reserve at this stage, will depend on preparation of the first draft.

The commission which met here last week, also reported briefly on discussions in other areas.

It heard plans by the advisory board on water pollution in the Rainy River and Lake of the Woods area of northwestern Ontario. Investigations will be made before a report is turned in—which may be three years away. A progress report will be made soon to government authorities.

PEMBINA CONTROLS

Preliminary studies will be continued by the international Souris - Red Rivers engineering board on possible projects that would assist in controlling and conserving Pembina River waters near the Manitoba-North Dakota boundary. On these will be based a final decision whether to proceed with a detailed study.

The international Columbia River engineering board and the engineering committee gave a final detailed explanation of the board report covering the Okanagan and Similkameen rivers of British Columbia. This project was set up as part of the study of the Columbia River preparatory to working out co-operative Canadian-U.S. development of the Columbia.

A negotiating team has already reported to the two governments on agreement in Columbia planning.

Lesage Claims No Cheap Labor In Quebec Province

TORONTO (CP) — Quebec Premier Jean Lesage said Thursday cheap hydro-electric power has replaced cheap labor as the prime factor for investment in Quebec province.

"The days when Quebec was a province of cheap labor now are part of history," he told the National Industrial Conference Board.

"Quebec now is a province of cheap power and will become increasingly so as we progressively develop our hydro-electric resources."

PM Urges Canadians To Get Behind Northern Expansion

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) Prime Minister Diefenbaker Wednesday issued a fresh challenge to his countrymen to get behind the Conservative vision of northern expansion.

The challenge came during a 21-hour day that stretched from his Ottawa office to his home constituency of Prince Albert where he took part in ceremonies officially opening a new bridge built expressly to help open up the north.

"There can be no delay in making accessible Canada's northland, containing mineral and petroleum resources which more and more will be needed to assure the preservation of the free world," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

ENDURANCE MARK

In attending the opening of the 1,000 - foot-long, $2,500,000 bridge spanning the North Saskatchewan River in Prince Albert, the 65-year-old prime minister established some sort of endurance mark.

He was up at 4 a.m. EDT to breakfast and put in some work on his mail before his plane left Ottawa for the west at 6:30 a.m. On the plane, he had a lengthy George Hees, who left the flight talk with his new trade minister, at Regina to open a new airport his old position of transport minister.

The prime minister spent the rest of the trip working on his speech and dealing with official papers—two dispatch cases full of them.

There was a municipal luncheon before the ceremony and a Prince Albert Chamber of Commerce reception afterwards. The day ended with a banquet given by the Saskatchewan government. By the time the prime minister and Mrs. Diefenbaker, accompanying him on the trip could leave it was well after 10 p.m. in Prince Albert (1 a.m. Ottawa time).

The prime minister, who will spend the remainder of the week visiting his contsituency, has another heavy schedule ahead today. He expects to visit about eight communities between 9 a.m. and an 8 p.m. engagement in Prince Albert when he is scheduled to receive a life membership in the Prince Albert Branch of the Canadian Legion.

"HI, JOHN"

The impressive opening ceremony was conducted with an air of dignity befitting a structure which Highways Minister C. G. Willis of Saskatchewan described as the largest bridge in the province.

But combined with it was a folksy informality, with many spectators shouting "Hi, John" to the prime minister, who established his law practice in the riding more than 30 years ago.

Both the prime minister and Premier T.C. (Tommy) Douglas of Saskatchewan spoke of the bridge as a co-operative effort. The federal government paid half the cost, the provincial government 37.5 per cent and the municipality 12.5 per cent.

Mr. Diefenbaker said Canada must maintain its sovereignty over its northland and expressed the hope its resources would be processed to an increasing extent in Canada.

He urged Canadians to invest their savings in Canadian development.

Not Referring To Ottawa City

WASHINGTON (CP)—With official assurances that it was not referring to the Canadian capital, the U.S. agriculture department Thursday nevertheless concluded that "Ottawa" is still susceptible to "stinking smut."

The department was referring to a new hard wheat variety—named after the Ottawa Indian tribe—considered to be highly resistant to steam and leaf rust and soil-borne mosaic virus.

The new variety also has good resistance to Hessian fly, the department added, but not against "stinking and loose smut and streak mosaic." Smut is a fungus growth that attacks wheat in Canada as well as the U.S.

Hudson Bay 1960 Shipping Season Closes Earlier

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—The 1960 shipping season at this northern port, 610 miles north of Winnipeg on Hudson Bay, ended Wednesday, two working days earlier than last year, and with the same vessel taking the final cargo.

The S.S. La Bahia, carrying a cargo of 333,266 bushels of wheat, left at noon for the United Kingdom. It was the 48th grain vessel to call this year compared with 58 in 1959 and 55 the year before.

The total shipment of wheat to foreign markets from the port was down from 1959 at 19,600,000 bushels compared with 21,700,000. In addition 108,377 bushels of mixed feed oats were shipped.

The decline in the number of cargoes shipped is due in part to the larger ocean vessels arriving at Churchill, the Canadian Wheat Board said. Cargoes this year averaged 410,000 bushels, compared with 376,000 in 1959 and 354,000 in 1958.

RECORDS STAND

This year was the first since 1946 that grain shipping records have not been established. During the 1946-1959 period, the shipments increased to 21,700,000 bushels from 2,900,000.

The smaller shipments were due to the delayed and wet harvest in Europe which has caused a rush of European domestic wheat to mills because of high moisture content, the wheat board said.

A further diversification of market outlets for wheat from Churchill will be required to break the established shipping records, the board said.

The port's first caller this year was the Norwegian ship Margrit Brovig, which arrived July 27. The La Bahia left 65 working days later. Last year, the British vessel North Devon arrived July 28 and the La Bahia ended the season 67 working days later, Oct. 15.

The Swijndrechth, of Rotterdam registry, sailed with the largest cargo ever loaded here —601,066 bushels of wheat.

A total of 87 ships, including coastal vessels and four ocean-going tankers, called this year, two fewer than in 1959.

ORE BROUGHT IN

During the season, the S. S. Dashwood made eight trips to the North Rankin Inlet nickel mine at Rankin Inlet, N.W.T., 300 miles north of here. It brought more than 25,000 tons of nickel ore for rail shipment to the Sherritt-Gordon smelter at Fort Saskatchewan, Alta.

Another ore ship, the Ithaka, ran aground 13 miles east of here Sept. 14, the only casualty of the season. It was abandoned after its 24-man crew was taken off.

The C. A. Pitts company, in charge of dredging operations to enlarge the harbor, said Wednesday the work may take another two years. About 180,000 cubic yards of mud have been dredged out and dumped at sea. Next year's plans include widening the main channel by 190 feet.

"Churchill again maintained its record of being the world's fastest grain handling port, the wheat board said. "The port came close to loading an average of one full cargo of wheat, through the single elevator facility, during each working day of the season."

BOMBERS CRUSH LIONS' ATTACK

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers clinched first place in the Western Interprovincial Football Union Thursday night with a resounding 49-21 victory over British Columbia Lions.

Bombers rolled up 28 answered points in the second half after the Lions, paced by the brilliant running of halfback Willie Fleming, battled the defending champions to a 21-21 first-half tie.

Fleming scored all three B.C. touchdowns, two on separate 56-yard runs. George Grant converted all three.

EARLY B.C. LEAD

B.C. led 14-7 after the first quarter. Bombers tied it 21-21 at the half, then rolled to a 35-21 lead at the three-quarter mark.

The Lions fumbled four times in the game and Bombers grabbed three of them for touchdowns.

In the first quarter, Warren grabbed a fumble by B.C.'s Nub Beamer and romped 25 yards for a touchdown to give the Bombers a 7-0 lead.

After the Lions had come back and taken the lead 21-14 mid-way through the second quarter, the fumble bug came to Winnipeg's rescue again.

Quarterback Jim Walden rolled out on a pass-or-run play and was tackled hard. He dropped the ball and Delveaux scooped it up to dash unmolested for a 42-yard touchdown.

Late in the third quarter, Bombers were forced to punt on third down. Shepard lofted the ball from the B.C. 46 into the end zone, where Sonny Homer grabbed it and attempted to run the ball out. He was tackled at the goal line and the ball squirted loose. Piper pounced on it inches inside the end zone to give Bombers a 35-21 advantage.

Bombers had a wide statistical advantage along the ground, rolling up 28 first downs and 191 yards rushing. B.C. had 11 first downs and 123 yards rushing.

The Lions rolled up 128 yards in the first half, but in the second their "total" was a five-yard loss.

A crowd of 17,773 watched as the Bombers took advantage of costly Lions fumbles to prevent the B.C. club from moving into third place — the final playoff spot — in the league standings. The Lions remain one point behind the third-place Calgary Stampeders, although they have one more game to play than Stamps.

The crowd, celebrating "Buddy Tinsley Night," roared its approval as the big veteran tackle went in at fullback and banged over for a one-yard touchdown—Bombers' last in the game.

Other Winnipeg touchdowns were counted by centre Garland Warren, guard Cornell Piper, linebacker Jack Delveaux, fullback Charlie Shepard, end Ernie Pitts and quarterback Ken Ploen. Gerry James converted all seven.

Canadiens Stay Undefeated in Fifth Game

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens surged ahead in the National Hockey League Thursday night with a 4-3 win over Detroit Red Wings on the third-period goals of Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion and Dickie Moore. Attendance was 13,819.

The outcome left Montreal undefeated in five games—three wins and two ties—and gave the Habs a one-point edge over Chicago's runner-up Black Hawks in the standings.

It was the second loss in five games by Detroit. The Red Wings share fourth spot with three points on as many ties.

Big Jean Beliveau and hard-skating Claude Provost also scored for the Canadiens while Val Fonteyne counted twice for the Red Wings and Alex Delvecchio added the third.

TIED AFTER TWO

The teams headed into the final period battling from a 2-2 stand-off before Geoffrion and Moore tallied and Delvecchio connected with 47 seconds left to play.

Moore's goal—his fifth of the season—proved to be the winner and was the prettiest effort of the night.

He broke in alone on Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk, deked him into falling to the ice, and smartly tucked the puck behind him at 13:46.

Doug Harvey and Henri Richard set up the payoff play.

It was Moore's ninth point of the season. He leads the individual scoring race.

Scarface, Rocket Gone

What's Happened to NHL Color Guys of the Past?

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Some time in the next few weeks, someone is going to ask the inevitable question: Where are the National Hockey League color guys, the chaps who fill the arenas simply by lacing on a pair of skates?

The league has a few now, but no sport can afford to lose such flaming, crowd-pleasing players as Rocket Richard and Ted (Scarface) Lindsay in one swoop without people feeling let down at their departure. Who can they taunt or cheer now?

The end of the road came this summer for Scarface and, within weeks, the Rocket. They bowed out amidst great gobs of publicity due a pair of battlers who have enlivened the big-league scene for many years.

BOTH PLAYED HARD

Great hockey players, they had lost some of their flamboyancy in the past couple of seasons. Neither one was ever seriously considered as a candidate for the Lady Byng Trophy as the most gentlemanly player in the league although there were chuckles a couple of seasons back when a sports writer, noting the placid behavior of the Rocket, suggested he might qualify.

Both Lindsay and Richard knew every splinter in every NHL penalty box.

The record books are jammed with the exploits of the Rocket, who now is goodwill ambassador with Montreal Canadiens. Lindsay, who also owns some records, is in business with Gordie Howe, his old team-mate with Detroit Red Wings.

They arrived in the NHL about the same time. The Rocket joined Canadiens in the 1942 season and Lindsay made his debut with the Red Wings two years later. Lindsay was a step behind the Rocket for the title as the most colorful performer in the big time, but the crowds always knew when he was around.

COCKY LITTLE GUY

He was a snarling, richly-talented left winger for the Red Wings until he was traded to Chicago Black Hawks at the start of the 1957-58 season. Only five-feet-eight and 160 pounds, he battled on the ice with his own team - mates and opposing players, and off the ice with fans, policemen, his own employer, general manager Jack Adams of the Wings, and even team owners.

"A little guy's got to be cocky," he once said. "The first thing they find out in this business is if you can take it. I had the idea that I should beat up every player I tangled with, and I'm still not convinced it wasn't a good idea," he told a reporter two years ago.

He has lost some battles, including one to President Clarence Campbell and the team owners, who proved to be his toughest opponents.

It started in February, 1957, when Lindsay, the players' arch-enemy during working hours, popped up as their spokesman for the newly-organized NHL Players' Association.

"We have organized to promote and protect the best interests of the players," he said. "We don't intend to start a revolution. We aren't displeased or discontented about a single thing."

The owners weren't reassured by these words. They fought the union and it gradually petered out.

Lindsay was traded to Chicago after a blowup with Adams, and Scarface, who never backed out of a fight, refused to get into what he termed a "name-calling exchange" with his employer.

"I'm not sore at Adams. I pity a man like that," he said.

At least he had the last word.

PIRATES FINALLY DID IT

Bucs Celebrate With Jugs, Song

By JOE BRADIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Champagne bottles popped a merry tune in the Pittsburgh Pirates' dressing room Thursday after their come-from-behind 10-9 victory over New York Yankees in the final game of the world series.

The players hugged, they kissed, they danced and they drank champagne. The centre of attention was young Billy Mazeroski whose home run blast won the ball game.

"I hit a fast ball," chortled the Bucs' second sacker, and I knew it was going all the way as soon as I did it."

It took reporters almost 15 minutes to get into the jubilant Pirates' dressing room. They took a worse mauling than the players inside.

John Galbreath, the Pirates' owner, was the first to work through the vast throng of sports writers to congratulate his team.

"They did a helluva job," he said.

Turning to Harvey Haddix, the lefthander who picked up the victory in relief, Galbreath said:

"This boy and I grew up in the same county—Madison County, Ohio. He was great, simply great."

Rocky Nelson, the balding first sacker, said he hit a high and away fast ball for the homer in the first inning off Bob Turley to put the Pirates ahead 2-0.

Nelson, used chiefly on defence this year, also figured in an important play in the ninth that saw the Yankees knot the game at 9-9.

With Mantle on first Yogi Berra hit a shot down the first base line. Nelson grabbed the ball behind the bag and just missed Mantle for the double play as Gil McDougald scored the tying run.

"He (Berra) didn't hit it good, but it fooled me," said Nelson, a top defensive man. "I just missed Mantle. He slid inside the bag. He certainly made a good play."

Billy Virdon, the fleet - footed centrefielder who made several dazzling catches in the series, beamed with pride as he accepted congratulations:

"It's hard to believe it's ture," he cracked. "I've never seen anything more exciting - or dramatic."

BILL MAZEROSKI
. . . Winning homer.

Bill Mazeroski Is Toast of Pittsburgh

By JACK HAND

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Bill Mazeroski's ninth-inning home run gave delirious Pittsburgh its first with a 10-9 victory Thursday over the favored New York Yankees in a heart - stopping seventh world series game.

Wild-eyed Pirate fans surged onto the field to greet Mazeroski as the stocky second baseman became the biggest hero of them all in this frantic city.

Hats skidded through the hazy autumn air and pennants waved gaily as men, women and children surged around the two dugouts to celebrate this triumph after 35 years of bitter frustration. Horns blared and impromptu choral groups blended in offkey versions of the Pirates' theme song—The Bucs are Going all the Way.

It was a dramatic comeback for the fighting Bucs.

FIVE-RUN RALLY

It was the third Pirate championship in five world series and the third defeat for manager Casey Stengel in his 10 series and probably his last year as manager of the Yankees.

The Pirates had come back with a big eighth inning to go ahead 9-7 with five runs, climaxed by catcher Hal Smith's three-run homer. Up until then, the Yankees were riding high with a 7-4 edge. New York tied it 9-9 in their half of the ninth, but that merely set the stage for Mazeroski's heroics.

Happy faces among the crowd of 36,683 glowed with joy when Pittsburgh knocked out Bob Turley and scored two in the first and two more in the second for an early 4-0 lead.

The Yanks routed Vern Law and continued to blast Elroy Face, the scrawny relief ace, with a three-run homer by Yogi Berra in a four-run sixth inning after Bill Skowron had hit a homer by Yogi Berra in a four-run sixth inning after Bill Skowron had hit a homer in the fifth.

TRAIL 7-4

Leading 5-4, the Yanks pushed over two more runs and hearts were heavy when the Pirates came up for the eighth trailing 7-4.

Then came the fantastic accident that opened the gates to the surging five-run pirate inning.

Gino Cimoli opened the attack on Bobby Shantz, who had been pitching superb relief ball, when he dropped a pinch single into right.

Dick Groat's single knocked in one run and brought Jim Coates as a replacement for Shantz. A sacrifice, an outfield fly and Roberto Clemente's single on a ball hit to Bill Skowron but on which Coates appeared slow covering first, narrowed the Yank lead to 7-6.

Up came Smith, who plays second fiddle to Smoky Burgess most of the time. Smith endeared himself to Pirate fans forever and ever by hitting Coates 2-2 pitch over the left field wall, a drive of more than 400 feet, for three runs that brought hats, confetti and scorecards fluttering to earth.

YANKS FIGHT BACK

Premature victory celebrations quickly were cancelled when the Yanks started to maul Bob Friend, the third Pirate pitcher, in the top of the ninth.

Singles by Bobby Richardson and pinch - hitter Dale Long ended Friend. Manager Danny Murtaugh brought in Harvey Haddix, his southpaw winner of the fifth game, to face an array of left-handers.

Haddix made the dangerous Roger Maris foul out but Mickey Mantle singled to right centre, scoring Richardson. Now the score was 9-8.

The Yanks tied the score with Gil McDougald, running for Long scoring from third, when Rocky Nelson took Yogi Berra's smash, stepped on first for the out and then missed Mantle sliding back. That play rubbed most of the gloss from Rocky's two-run homer off Turley in the first inning.

So the scrappy Pirates, who had been no match for the Yankees in home runs and power in those wild scoring orgies of the second, third and sixth games, beat the New Yorkers at their own game Thursday with three big home runs. They had hit only one in the first six games. Skowron's blast in the fifth was the Yanks' ninth of the series.

HERO AFTER HERO

It was a game of revolving heroes. First there was Nelson, a former first basemen with Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League. Then it was Vern Law who was rolling back the Yanks in the first four innings.

Then came Berra, who has played more series game than any other, 68, with his 11th series home run in the big Yankee rally in the sixth.

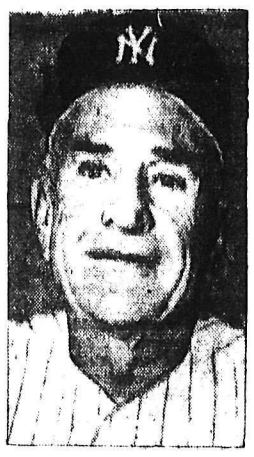
In the frantic eighth, a golden crown was being fashioned for Smith and his three-run homer that seemed to have won the day.

But in the end it was Mazeroski with the home run that meant about the difference between $9,000 and $6,000 for each Pirate.

For goats you had Coates who threw the home run ball to Smith in the eighth, Nelson who missed the tag on Mantle while the tying run scored from third, or Terry, who fed the pitch to Mazeroski.

STENGEL KEPT BUSY

Stengel, managing in his 10th series at the age of 70, kept hopping from dugout to mound through the long, sunny afternoon. His starter, Turley, didn't have it, and Bill Stafford, his second man, had to go out for a pinch hitter after giving up two more runs.



CASEY STENGEL
. . . Future still undecided.

Yankees Fought All the Way Down the Line Says Stengel

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Staff Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Casey Stengel, one of the legendary figures of modern baseball, held court Thursday for possibly the last time in the Yankee dressing room and said in his gravelly voice:

"I won't say anything about the future. I'm going to decide what I'm going to do later in October. I've got to find out a lot of things first.

"I just told this team that they fought like everything right down to the last inning. We were behind once and we caught 'em. We were behind again and we caught 'em a second time.

"It's a good club. It showed it all the way through. At least every series I lost went to the last game."

The proud Yankees were beaten 10-9 in the ninth inning of the final 1960 world series game on Bill Mazeroski's homer over the left field wall.

This could be the end of the baseball road for Stengel, despite his fabulous record. There are strong rumors he does not see eye to eye with his Yankee bosses.

"What's the pitch on Stengel" as he edged into the gloomy, tiny visiting dressing room to talk to the team and Stengel.

"I won't talk about it now," he snapped.

Stengel has won seven world championships and lost three. His seven victories tied the record of Joe McCarthy, another Yankee manager, and he has managed in more series than any other man. But he is 70 years old and he has critics as well as admirers in the ranks of baseball.

NEW CAMPBELL CAR ON THE WAY

LONDON (Reuters) — Work has begun on a new jet-powered car to replace the one in which British speed ace Donald Campbell crashed on the Utah Salt Flats last month, it was disclosed Thursday.

Lewis Norris, one of the chief designers of the ill-fated Bluebird said work started on the new car this week and he hoped another attempt could be made on the land speed record in June or July of next year.

It was not known whether Campbell would drive the new Bluebird, but he had expressed a desire to do so.

Campbell is just ending a convalescence in Los Angeles after his 300-mile-an-hour brush with death which wrecked the $4,200,000 car and left him with cuts, bruises and a hairline skull fracture.

Venezuelan Oil Not On Sale West of Quebec

OTTAWA (CP) — Venezuelan oil won't be sold west of the Quebec boundary to compete with Ontario or Western Canada products, the Venezuelan Embassy announced Thursday in a statement.

Venezuelan oil, imported in large quantities for refining at Montreal, "must serve as an aid to Canadian oil but not as a substitute for it," said the statement.

After careful study of the oil importing situation in Canada, it had been decided that Venezuela oil should "give way to products derived from Canadian oil in Ontario as recommended in the report of the Borden royal commission."

That report suggested that the Canadian oil industry be given 18 months to improve its depressed sales—in Canada and in the U.S.—before any consideration of the possibility of building a pipeline to Montreal to bring western oil to eastern markets.

MANY WELLS CAPPED

There has been little improvement with 40 per cent or more of Alberta's wells capped.

Meanwhile, Canada is Venezuela's second best customer, buying petroleum chiefly.

Said the embassy statement: "Venezuelan oil shall not be sent to places where it is not accepted or received by the government of the importing country."

One oil company official here said some Venezuela oil has moved as far west as Toronto to be sold at "distressed-market prices."

Blames Snobby Parents For Idle Teenagers

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Arthur Pigott, president of the Canadian Adult Education Association, says many teen-agers are unemployed because their parents are social snobs.

"Because they are social snobs they want their sons and daughters to become doctors or lawyers or architects and they're not happy with anything else," he told the Scarborough Social Planning Club Wednesday night.

When teen-agers could not attain their parents' objectives at school, they dropped out and became casual laborers.

"Instead of attending a good trade school and becoming craftsmen in some lesser vocation, they are faced with a lifetime of unemployment," he said.

Strikes No Nearer Solution

MONTREAL (CP)—Two long-standing industrial strikes—one affecting some 4,000 steelworkers in 11 plants across Canada and the other about 350 employees in a Montreal factory appear no closer to a solution than the day they started.

An 11-plant strike at Dominion Bridge Company started Aug. 16 after the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) called a walkout at the company's suburban Lachine and Toronto factories.

The dispute hinges on the union's demand for bargaining on a national level rather than separate contracts at a local level.

In dispute at Sperry Gyroscope Company of Canada, 350 employees walked out Sept. 14 to back up demands that the company accept recommendations of a conciliation board.

The board recommended a two-year contract incorporating a progressive wage increase totalling eight per cent.

The company's contract with the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CLC) expired Dec. 2, 1959.

17,000 Japanese Stage Mourning Parade For Assassinated Idol

TOKYO (CP) — A flag-waving, lantern-carrying crowd of 17,000 students and white-collar workers shuffled through the streets of Tokyo Thursday in a massive demonstration of mourning for their assassinated idol, Socialist chairman Inejiro Asanuma.

The 3½-hour parade was generally orderly. There was a spurt of violence when 50 ultra-leftist students, members of the Zengakuren Association, broke away to storm the gates of Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's official residence.

Shouting abusive language, they threw rocks and used flagstaffs to poke at the 1,000 policemen forming a cordon at the gate. Six policemen were hurt, none seriously.

The demonstration, second since Asanuma was stabbed to death Wednesday by a young right - wing fanatic, was kept within bounds by powerful details of police. Its mood appeared to be one of sorrow rather than deep anger.

Ikeda, who was at his private home three miles away, earlier in the day had denounced the use of violence.

In his first public statement since Otoya Yamaguchi, 17, stabbed the 61-year-old Asanuma Wednesday, Ikeda warned that he will crack down on terrorism no matter what its source.

Meanwhile, the Communist party delivered a message to Ikeda demanding his resignation.

Ikeda's cabinet met in extraordinary session to accept the resignation of Public Safety Minister Iwao Yamazaki, who took responsibility for failing to prevent the assassination of the Socialist leader.

Police raided the headquarters of the Nazi-like Greater Japan Patriotic Society and said they had seized documents indicating a possible link with the slaying. Earlier police said Yamaguchi told them he had no accomplices, and the society denied any connection with his crime.

KILL-OFF ONE BY ONE

Asahi, Japan's biggest newspaper, said there were reports extreme rightists were planning to kill off the leftists one by one.

Yamaguchi also was reported to have told police he had resolved to kill Japanese Communist party chief Sanzo Nosaka and Takeshi Kobayashi, the chairman of the leftist Japan Teachers Union, because he believed they were scheming to set up a "Kerensky - type" government that would set the stage to turn Japan into a Communist nation.

Police said Yamaguchi had been arrested at least seven times for participating in violent rightist attacks on left wing groups.

Train Crash Due To Heavy Fog

BENARD, Man. (CP)—A slow-moving passenger train collided with a second one standing on the CNR main line early Thursday as dense fog shrouded a switching area near this community, 31 miles west of Winnipeg.

A CNR official said no serious injuries were reported. An early report that a trainman had suffered a possible broken arm was not correct, the spokesman said.

Some passengers were thrown from their seats in day coaches. But a railway spokesman said that others in berths on the standing train "did not even know they were involved in a collision."

The spokesman said train 5, westbound for Regina from Winnipeg, was standing on the main line waiting to be switched into a siding to allow eastbound train 12, bound for Winnipeg from Saskatoon, to pass.

The crew of No. 12 apparently saw the headlight of No. 5 and applied emergency brakes. The railway spokesman said the speed of No. 12 at impact was "less than 10 miles an hour—just a little faster than shunting speed."

Train No. 12 was derailed. No. 5 returned to Winnipeg under its own power and proceeded along another track about four hours late after replacing its diesel unit.

coaches suffered cuts and bruises

A number of passengers in day but required only first aid treatment, the railway spokesman said.

Omer Lemieux of Arrow River, Man., a passenger on the westbound train, said he felt a "tremendous jolt." He said a girl sitting on a seat opposite him was thrown to the floor of the coach. As he helped her up, he noticed her face was cut.

"PULL PIN SOON"

MONTREAL (CP) — The 111,000 non-operating employees on Canada's railways must vote to strike if they hope to maintain their economic dignity and their bargaining power, Frank Hall, the non-ops' chief negotiator, said Wednesday night. And "if you mark your strike ballot the right way," Mr. Hall told more than 500 Montreal members of the 15 unions representing the non-ops, "your negotiating committee won't wait long before setting the date to pull the pin."

Teenagers Run Own Factories

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP) — A group of teen-agers got their own factory here Wednesday — the third in Canada to be formed and operated by the Junior Achievement Teen-agers Club.

The factory was purchased by businessmen and equipped with machinery to be used in manufacture of a product to be decided by an elected executive of the club.

Members sell shares to raise capital to buy materials. At the end of the school year the company is dissolved and dividends and wages paid.

Two similar groups are at Windsor, Ont., and Vancouver Calgary recently received a charter.

STOPPING WHILE AHEAD

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — Alex Uhryn says he is giving up betting. The winner of $140,000 in the Irish Sweepstakes earlier this year he was fined $25 this week for selling lottery tickets in connection with a baseball pool. "I'm not buying any more tickets and I'm not selling any more," he said.

CHILDREN TESTIFY

PINCHER CREEK, Alta. (CP) Five children, ranging in age from seven to 13, testified Wednesday at the second day of the preliminary hearing of a charge of murder against Andrew Creighton of the Blood Indian Reserve. Creighton is charged with shooting his wife, Delores. The woman, her two children and her mother were found dead Feb. 2.

Debbie Not Campaigning For Favorite Candidate

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Among the movie stars who are not campaigning for a favorite presidential candidate this Autumn is a girl named Debbie Reynolds.

It's not because she isn't asked.

"My phone is ringing all the time," she said. "Friends call me up from both sides to appear for this candidate or just lend my name for that candidate. I tell them, 'ask me to do a benefit; politics—no'.

"I don't object to campaigning by stars. It's fine for those who want to do it. But it's not for me. I have my own feelings about the election; I'll express them on election day."

This year, Debbie has managed to achieve a degree of private life after a couple of years in the goldfish bowl. In the Debbie-Eddie-Liz triangle, she lived under public scrutiny. But 1960 has been different.

WORK, LOAD LIGHT

"I've hardly worked at all," she said. "I've done half a picture—The Pleasure of His Company, which was interrupted by the strike and which we'll go back and finish next month. I've done my TV show. The rest of the time I've been with the children. I've been three months at the beach and I've loved it."

The only intrusion in her placid life has been the fan magazines. She is a hot item with the flicker mags, most of them requiring a Debbie article monthly. Some of them wax quite fanciful.

"One of them had a story titled 'Debbie is the woman for Glenn Ford,'" she commented. "All the story said was that Glenn went for my type."

As a matter of fact, shoe tycoon Harry Karl appears to be the man for Debbie, at least on her current social calendar.

"Marriage? I have nothing to say on that because I haven't made any decision. If I do make a decision, I'll let everybody know about it. Right now, I'm happy the way my life is."
