Khrushchev To Head Delegation To U.N. Debate on Disarmament

Major Reply From Eisenhower Expected

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Nikita Khrushchev will head the Soviet delegation to the United Nations debate on disarmament, it was announced Thursday night.

The strong Soviet delegation will include Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin; Sergei Vinogradov, ambassador to France; and Alexander Soltatov, ambassador to Britain.

Observers pointed out that Khrushchev already has made it clear he intends to present the Soviet case on disarmament at the 15th General Assembly which opens in New York Sept. 20.

Officials in London and Paris Thursday night said it was improbable that Prime Minister Macmillan or President de Gaulle will attend the UN session.

London observers said Khrushchev may want to return to a policy of conciliation with the West or may want to launch a new attack on the West. There is speculation that he is ready to do business with President Eisenhower, despite the Paris summit fiasco, because of the furious debate in the Communist world over peaceful coexistence.

Russia has proposed that the disarmament problem be discussed at the UN session, which should be attended by heads of government.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower appeared almost certain Thursday to go to New York to deliver a major reply to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's United Nations speech.

This was reported to be the initial administration strategy to cope with what was viewed as a bold move the the Soviet leader to press Russia's anti-Western offensive later this month from a forum inside the United States.

Eisenhower was understood to have no present plans for any private meeting with Khrushchev. The White House declined any comment on Khrushchev's plans.

Most authorities expect Khrushchev's visit to be brief but hectic, with the Soviet premier then taking off for a long-awaited visit to Cuba.

His stay is expected to create even more security problems than his spectacular goodwill tour of the United States last September.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold issued a formal statement Thursday night welcoming the announcement that Premier Khrushchev will head the Soviet delegation to the General Assembly opening here Sept. 20.

The statement, issued in response to a request for comment, said:

"I welcome the visit by Mr. Khrushchev to the General Assembly for the possibility it offers for presentation of views on the most responsible level regarding some of the crucial problems that the assembly has to face.

"I see in it also a recognition of the key role of the organization at the present juncture in world affairs."

16-Year-Old First Hunting Fatality

FERNIE — The first fatality of the young hunting season was reported near here a few hours after the opening of the goat season Thursday.

Bill Zuffa, age 16 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Zuffa of Fernie, died shortly after being shot while hunting on Trinity Mountain, five miles north of here.

Zuffa died shortly before 8 a.m. Thursday, before a helicopter bringing a doctor could reach him. The helicopter flew the body out of the rough terrain to Fernie where it was removed to the Fernie Funeral Home.

It is reported that Albert Roberts was leading the trio of men on a trail, with Zuffa following and Vince De Georgio bringing up the rear, a few feet back of Zuffa, when the accident occurred.

Zuffa took a shot at a goat. De Georgio, carrying a lever action rifle, pumped the lever. The firearm discharged and the bullet struck Zuffa in the back.

Roberts ran back and performed what first aid he could render, then ran from the accident to a farm about a mile north of Fernie where he contacted the RCMP.

The helicopter was able to land about one-quarter of a mile from the accident site but by the time the doctor arrived on the scene, Zuffa was dead.

The deer hunting season opens Saturday.

Armstrong New Defence Deputy

By JACK BEST
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — A high-powered human dynamo who operates in low key and has a talent for twisting arms nicely is Canada's new deputy minister of defence.

The appointment of Elgin B. Armstrong, 46-year-old veteran of 22 years in the public service, was announced Thursday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

He succeeds Air Marshal Frank Miller, named chairman of the chiefs of staff committee earlier this year.

Mr. Armstrong has been the assistant deputy minister primarily concerned with the defence budget. In his new job he will be chiefly concerned with administration of the department which eats up more money than any other department of government — some $1,590,000,000 this year.

As deputy minister he will be top man on the administrative side, working under Defence Minister Pearkes and Associate Minister Sevigny, the department's two cabinet members.

Mr. Armstrong is just under six feet tall, slim, mild-mannered and slow-talking. Before entering the defence department in 1951 as assistant deputy minister he was in the treasury board branch of the finance department for 13 years, including the war years.

Strachan Onset Brings Chuckle From Bennett

VANCOUVER (CP) — Premier Bennett Thursday laughed at allegations he had "bought" Communist party leader Tim Buck to make statements that some members of his party are infiltrating the CCF.

The charge came from CCF Leader Robert Strachan after Mr. Buck said his party has men infiltrating negotiations and education conferences discussing the new CCF-labor party to be created next summer.

Mr. Strachan said it was obvious that Buck was nothing more than "a pawn of Mr. Bennett" and his allies.

Mr. Bennett, commenting Thursday, laughed at the allegation and declared:

"Buck is one of Strachan's crew. Probably the chickens are coming home to roost."

B.C. Federation of Labor Secretary Pat O'Neal said "Communists don't get to first base" in his organization or in discussions on the new party. He said Communists supported the Liberals in 1945 and Social Credit in the last election in 1956.

There are 19 Communist candidates running for office in the Sept. 12 election.

He added: "B.C. will never be ready for Red-led socialism and non-socialists have a clear duty now to unite behind Social Credit to rebuff this threat."

Father Charges Czech Gov't Ransom Racket

TORONTO (CP) — A charge that the Czechoslovakian government is running a wholesale "ransom racket" was made Thursday by Josef Brousek, president of the Council for a Free Czechoslovakia.

Mr. Brousek said the case of fur farmer Bohumil Cejnar, who said Wednesday the Czech Communist government wanted $50,000 to free his son, was the latest of many cases.

Mr. Cejnar, 60, who owns three nutria farms in Ontario, said he was told through the Czech consulate in Montreal that he must pay $50,000 to get an exit visa for his son Peter, 15, now in Prague.

Mr. Brousek said similar cases have occurred in Ontario in which ransom demands were paid but the Communist government did not live up to its agreement.

GROWERS RAPPED

VERNON (CP) — A member of the B.C. Fruit Board has rapped growers in the Oyama district for privately shipping fruit in excess of their quotas.

Speaking at a meeting of northern district council of the B.C. Fruit Growers Association, J. C. Campbell, a Salmon Arm grower, said if all growers acted this way of Okanagan Valley's whole marketing scheme would collapse.

"We all have to subordinate our own interests to make orderly marketing of fruit possible," he told grower representatives.

Growers are required to market their crops through B.C. Tree Fruits, marketing agency for the fruit industry. Limited exceptions which permit direct marketing to the consumer are allowed under B.C. Fruit Board regulations.

Shortwave Radio For Canada's North

OTTAWA (CP) — A daily seven-hour shortwave radio service beamed at Canada's north will start Sunday, the CBC announced Thursday.

Antique Shop Locked as Police Seek Missing

SEATTLE (AP) — Police padlocked Guy Raoul Rockwell's ramshackle old antique shop home on Thursday and dug into his past in the deepening mystery of his whereabouts and those of his missing second wife and young stepdaughter.

Jeffrey Heiman, attorney for Rockwell in his divorce action against Mrs. Mazineta Rockwell last spring, said the 37-year-old antique dealer probably had $13,000 when he left Seattle early last month. He was last known to be in San Francisco Aug. 4, after flying south, police said.

Investigators seeking Mrs. Rockwell and her daughter, Dolores Mearns, 18, found human remains in a newly cemented septic tank at their former home Tuesday. They had been missing since April 1. The remains were probably those of a young person.

Several tips are being studied but investigation of the old house is about completed, chief of detectives Frank C. Ramon said on Thursday.

Rockwell is charged with grand larceny on the complaint of Mrs. Clifford Winkler that she loaned him $10,000 to buy antiques at Vancouver, B. C., and bring them back here for resale. Rockwell married Mrs. Evelyn Emerson, 41, daughter of the socially prominent Mrs. Winkler, three days after divorcing Mazineta July 26.

In the search of the Rockwell home, police said the litter of women's clothing and other articles indicated an unplanned, or hurried departure.

Attorney Heiman said Rockwell consulted him about April 15 about a divorce, saying Mazineta had left him two weeks previously. Rockwell said he tried to locate her here and at her former home in Vancouver, B. C., unsuccessfully.

Women, Children Flee Before Raging Flames

HALIFAX (CP) — Fires raced through parched Newfoundland forests Thursday night, driving more than 1,000 people from their homes.

Women and children fled the Burin Peninsula village of Garnish on foot, on bicycles and in boats. Most of the men in the lobstering village of 900 stayed behind to fight the flames.

High winds fanned flames throughout the Atlantic provinces, where more than 100 forest fires were burning.

Two communities of Newfoundland's northern Avalon peninsula, Old Perlican and Caplin Cove, were beginning to evacuate with fires raging half a mile away. Telegraph and telephone communications to the area were cut off by the flames.

The fires were approaching the villages so fast many residents had time only to leave with what they could carry. In St. John's, Nfld., an appeal was made for every available man and vehicle to help in the evacuation. Single dirt roads were the only overland route escape from all three communities.

SAVED BY SHOWERS

Showers saved the western Prince Edward Island village of Ellerslie just before dark Thursday as civil defence co-ordinators prepared to evacuate residents.

A spokesman for the co-ordinators said the wind could increase and the situation become critical by morning.

More than 100 fires were burning in forests in the Atlantic provinces.

Officials in Nova Scotia described the situation in the province as "desperate."

Premier Walter Shaw of Prince Edward Island asked every able-bodied man to battle the dozen major blazes in a 100-square-mile area in the west of the province. Disaster was declared in the area Wednesday as children suffering from smoke-caused bronchial congestion were evacuated. Seventy fire-fighting units moved into the area.

In northern Nova Scotia a mile-wide blaze tore through top-grade spruce timber to within a half-mile of the lumbering community fo Collingwood. Women began evacuating the homes as almost every man in the village of 300 fought the blaze.

In Newfoundland, Deputy Resources Minister Stewart Peters said new blazes "were popping up all over the place." At least 20 big fires were burning but no homes were in immediate danger.

The federal government offered armed forces assistance in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. In Nova Scotia RCAF personnel and aircraft were assisting 1,000 firefighters and volunteers.

Merchandisers Still "Out"

VANCOUVER (CP) — A walkout of Canadian Pacific Merchandise Services employees continued Thursday, with no sign of any agreement and widely differing estimates of how many are affected.

A CPR spokesman said "roughly 250- of the Merchandising Services' 850 employess are off the jobs. A spokesman for the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (Ind.), which has been supporting the disputing employees, said about 500 have left their jobs.

There is even disagreement over the nature of the dispute.

Ray Busch, a spokesman for the employees, said the men aren't on strike, aren't picketing although they carry placards, and haven't walked off the job although many haven't worked since the dispute erupted Aug. 17.

"It's no walkout or strike," Busch said. "We decided all of a sudden we were going to a meeting. The meeting is still continuing."

Groups of men parade outside the service's Vancouver terminal, carrying copies of a registered letter sent to them by the company saying they have committed a dismissable act and cannot return to work until the case has been investigated.

CP Merchandise Serivces operates only in British Columbia. "Information" lines have been set up at Penticton, Nanaimo, Trail, Nelson, Cranbrook and other B.C. centres.

Indians Welcome World Delegates

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (CP) —North American Indian of the Sarcee tribe Wednesday night welcomed delegations from 22 countries of Africa, Asia and Europe attending the World Assembly for Moral Re-Armament (MRA) at a Ceremonial Council.

Wearing their traditional plumed headdress and war paint the Indians described how the Great Spirit had told their fore-fathers that a great teepee would be raised on this historic island and "in it the nations of the world will come together and find peace."

Canada Bank Rate Continues Decline

OTTAWA (CP) — The Bank of Canada interest rate continued its sharp decline Thursday, setting a two-year low of 2.26 per cent with the sale of $95,000,000 in 91-day treasury bills. This was a drop of nearly a quarter point from last week's 2.50 per cent.

The rate, an indicator of conditions in the short-term money market, thus continued an almost unbroken decline from 3.40 per cent on July 14.

Say Children Slaughtered in Congo Fighting

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (Reuters) — Several hundred persons have been killed in fierce fighting between central government troops and secessionist forces around Bakwanga, capital of the breakaway "mining state" in Kasai province, Congolese sources said Trursday.

Along with the battle for Bakwanga, tribal warfare has broken out between the Balubas — who in the area support secessionist president Albert Kalonji — and Luluas in a resurgence of centuries - old fighting between the two tribes.

A government spokesman here said the military commander of Bakwanga reported the whole town is in the rands of central government forces.

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (Reuters) — Belgian officials claimed Thursday Congolese children had been "slaughtered" during heavy fighting in progress around Bakwanga, capital of the secessionist "mining state" in Kasai province.

An official of the Belgian technical mission in Katanga province, another breakaway from the central Congo government, said the children were killed when parents fled into the bush during fighting between Kasai and central government troops.

The official said there was no confirmation of the report Wednesday by Kasai President Albert Kalonji and Premier Joseph Ngalula, both in Elisabethville, that their troops had driven the forces of Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba out of Bakwanga.

90 DAYS FOR MRS. AADLAND

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Florence Aadland, mother of the late Errol Flynn's last girl friend, Thursday was sentenced to 90 days in jail for contributing to her delinquency.

The sentence came as a probation report showed Mrs. Aadland's ex-husband once accused her of "selling" their daughter, Beverley, to the actor when she was 15.

The jail sentence, to start Sept. 8, was part of a one-year term imposed by Superior Judge Lewis Drucker who suspended nine months of it.

Beverley, now 17, travelled widely with Flynn and was with him when he died in Canada Oct. 14, 1959. She now is in custody of a Hollywood minister as a ward of juvenile court.

More Canadians Leave for Congo

OTTAWA (CP) — The Army announced Thursday the departure of seven more soldiers for UN service in The Congo. The Tuesday flight from Trenton, Ont. brought to 232 the number of soldiers listed as having left for The Congo. Seventeen RCAF personnel are on Congo duty as well.

Mennonites Buy B.C. Farm Lands

FORT ST. JOHN, (CP) — Agricultural lands estimated at 80,000 acres have been purchased by a Mennonite group settling north and east of here on Squaw, Snider, Buick and other creeks between the Alaska Highway and the Beatton River Airport.

Individual families are each taking between a quarter section and a full section of land in the area.

The land, unsurveyed, is immediately west of Mennonite settlements in the Fort Vermilion, Alta., agricultural belt.

The land was bought from the B.C. government.

Coldwell Asks Bonner Explain

MERRITT, B.C. (CP) — It is time for Attorney-General Robert Bonner to give an explanation of his conduct in the case of former Forests Minister Robert Sommers, honoray national CCF leader M. J. Coldwell told a meeting here Thursday night.

He said several members of the province's Social Credit government have expressed complete satisfaction with Mr. Bonner's explanation of his handling of the case.

But there is no record of the attorney-general giving this explanation to the public, Mr. Coldwell said.

"When a senior cabinet minister, presumably with the acquiescence of the premier, declines to act on evidence of corruption which is later substantiated in court, then both fall far short of the moral standards the people are entitled to expect," he said.

No Information On Arctic Rescue

OTTAWA (CP) — Army headquarters said Thursday night it still lacks information as to whether or not an amphibian aircraft has been able to pick up seven stranded members of an Arctic survey team.

An army spokesman, reiterating that the men are in no danger, said the plane was to be sent to the stranded men from Cambridge Bay in the Northwest Territories Thursday.

Communications from Cambridge Bay are bad and we haven't been able to determine if the flight was made or not," said the spokesman.

288 STITCHES—Mrs. Laurence White hugs her son Lorence Pottebaum as the 13-year-old boy recuperates in hospital in Phoenix, Ariz., after falling into a hay chopper. Doctors put him together with 288 stitches. He was working on his stepfather's ranch when it happened. The stepfather is county sheriff.

Canada's July Trade Surplus Rolled Up to $38,300,000

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada rolled up a $38,300,000 trade surplus in July—the second month this year in which exports have topped imports, the Bureau of Statistics reported Thursday.

Exports jumped 8.3 per cent from a year earlier to $465,000,000 and imports slumped by 10.7 per cent to $426,700,000.

The resulting trade surplus pared the trade deficit for the first seven months of the year to $168,200,000—about two-fifths of the deficit of $401,200,000 in the corresponding period of 1959.

SALES TO U.S. DIP

Exports to the United States declined sharply in July from a year earlier, following a recent trend in shipments to Canada's biggest customer. But this drop was more than offset by export gains in trade with Canada's other customers.

The resulting trade surplus of $38,300,000 for the month contrasted with the trade deficit of $49,100,000 in July of last year.

July exports to the United States fell to $249,300,000 from $282,200,000 a year earlier, while imports from the U.S. declined by about the same amount to $287,600,000 from $319,700,000. The month's trade deficit with the U.S. was little changed at $38,300,000.

BIG INCREASE

Exports to the United Kingdom in July shot ahead to $88,900,000 from $52,700,000 a year earlier while imports declined to $43,700,000 from $52,000,000. The trade surplus of $45,200,000 with the U.K. more than offset the deficit in U.S. trade.

Exports to other Commonwealth countries advanced slightly to $28,200,000 from $27,100,000 in July, 1959, while imports from these countries made a year-to-year advance to $21,400,000 from $20,400,000.

A more marked change was shown in trade with all other countries in July, with exports rising to $98,600,000 from $67,400,000 a year earlier and imports falling to $74,000,000 from $86,400,000.

And in This Corner . . .

BANGOR, Me (AP) — The Penobscot County sheriff's department told Thursday of an Eddington farmer who complained that someone was raiding his garden night after night.

The farmer, who for obvious reasons wants to remain anonymous, made a bed in his tomato patch Tuesday night, took a pistol and a flashlight — and waited.

He woke up early the next morning. More tomatoes were missing. So were his pistol and flashlight.

BENTON, Ill (AP) — The Benton Public Library last week began a drive to get back into circulation overdue books. All fines were suspended during the "free days."

One borrower returned a novel checked out in 1879. It was 81 years overdue and it would have cost the borrower, long since forgotten, about $2,956 in library's 10-cents-a-day charges.

The book was returned by George Powers, a member of the Benton Library Board.

DETROIT (AP) — Police asked Mrs. Olga Hutchingson, 73, for her driver's licence after she was involved in a minor traffic accident.

She unfolded a document the size of a handkerchief. It had been issued to her in 1919 in Bay City, Mich.

"It's still good," Mrs. Hutchingson said. "There's no expiration date on it."

No ticket was issued.

Two Loaves for 29 Cents

Roar of Nelson Bread Price War To Subside

A bread price war has hit Nelson this week but will be over by next Tuesday just as quickly as it started.

Honeyboy Bakeries, an Alberta firm, began to sell in the Nelson, Trail and Castlegar areas on Monday with an introductory offer for their product of two loaves for 29 cents.

Local bread sells at two loaves for 41 cents.

Some local wholesale bakeries have dropped their price in order that retailers can sell the local bread at the same price as the Alberta bread. Others have kept to their regular price, ignoring the new competition and waiting for it to "pass over."

WEIGHS MORE

Local bread weighs 16 ounces a loaf. The Alberta bread weighs 20 ounces a loaf.

Some stores handling the local product were reported to be selling it at three loaves for 41 cents and four loaves for 49 cents, a direct result of the prices on the wholesale market changing.

The price war began only on Thursday.

Established in Alberta seven years ago, Honeyboy has been eyeing the Nelson and area market for over a year, the sales manager from Calgary stated Thursday night while in Nelson.

He said that it is not his company's intention to take over the bread market in this area but to offer residents their product for only a small percentage of the market.

SHIPPED FROM CALGARY

Presently there is just one truck servicing the area but if the market demands it another truck will be added, the sales manager said. The bread is shipped from Calgary on the C.P.R.

A spokesman for one local wholesaler told the Daily News that the situation is being blamed on a local grocer who stated, "I'll show you. I'll really start a bread war."

Another reason given for Honeyboy starting in the area was that a local wholesaler "line his pockets at the expense of the retailer and the householder."

It is believed that the two loaves for 29 cent price will be effective only until Saturday. After that it will be back to the regular price if further complications don't develop.

Rowdy Beach Party Hangover Disappears

A hangover from a drunken beach party recently terrorized the parents of the community surrounding Six Mile Point, scene of several drownings in the past few years.

But alert work by employees of the Kootenay Forestry Products provided the antidote and undid the damage caused by imbecilic inebriated adults.

Today, on the spot where three young children were pulled under by a treacherous undertow last summer, stands a steel sign, well anchored in the sand bar, warning visitors of the dangers lurking beneath the deceiving calm waters of the downstream bay.

ROWDY PARTY

Until two weeks ago a wooden sign stood there, placed there by P. G. Deakin of Kootenay Forest Products, warning people of the danger.

Mr. Deakin, on his own initiative, raised the seven foot post and sign following the triple drowning of three young people, who unknowing of the danger, began playing on the downstream side of the sandbar and were sucked under by the current.

YOUNG ADULTS

About 30-40 young adults, residents figure, between the ages of 25-30 years, invaded the beach at about midnight.

Not content only to distribute empty beer bottles, broken glass, trash all over the beach, used as a play area by community children, several of the group invaded a private residence's woodpile for fire fuel.

As the party raged on till 4 a.m. someone decided that good fire fuel would be made out of the sign post. It was uprooted and promptly turned to ashes in the beach fire, with very little thought given to the tragic consequences that could happen.

"VERY UPSET"

"People in the community here were very badly upset when the sign was torn down,' said Mrs. S. H. Stewart of Vancouver, whose summer residence fronts the sandbar.

"The mother of the two children who had drowned there, had just come down to the beach for the first time since the accident and was very upset."

"It was a loud racket, a bit hectic," recalled Mrs. Stewart of that evening. "They were all around the house, knocking on the walls."

The following morning neighbors cleaned up the beach as best they could, taking away empty beer bottles, raking up broken glass, litter, but could not replace the sign.

SHIFTING SAND

The next several days a watchful eye was kept on the sandbar to make sure that the young children swam in the bay on the upstream side of the bar.

There is little difference on the surface between the upstream and downstream bays. Both are generally smooth and the water clear and cold. The current lurking on the downstream side is not visible to the human eye.

But if one walks out on the bar into the lake a bit, a tugging can be felt from the left side of the walker. "Not only does it drop off very fast, but the sand there is very shifty" said Mr. Stewart of the downstream side.

Three days following the burning, another Kootenay Forest Product employee, R. C. Wright erected the steel sign.

It is still standing today and neighbors hope it will stand for many years. No one, not even the unwitting rowdy revellers, hope for a recurrence of the tragedy of 1959.

Yates Last Rites Held in Victoria

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Grace Brown-Ryburn Yates, formerly of Nelson, who died in Victoria Tuesday, age 68 years, were held in Victoria Thursday with Rev. J. L. W. McLean officiating.

Cremation followed the service.

Born in Glasgow, Scotland, Mrs. Yates lived in Kamloops, then Nelson, before leaving for Victoria to take up residence two months ago.

INQUEST ORDERED IN MINING DEATH

INVERMERE — An inquest into the death of an Alberta man working at Paradise mines in the Pursell mountains west of here has been ordered by coroner Dr. F. E. Coy of Invermere.

The man, whose name is being withheld pending notification of next of kin, was killed Tuesday when crushed between an ore car and the mine wall. He died instantly.

His name will not be released until his wife, from whom he was separated, has been located and notified.

Two-Car Collision Plus Motor Boat

Extensive damage resulted to two cars and a motor boat Thursday evening when an unidentified Nelson driver collided with a Washington state vehicle towing an outboard motor boat at Longbeach, 15 miles east of the city.

Information is sketchy as investigating RCMP officials had not returned from the scene of the accident at press time.

However, informants reported the Nelson driver was apparently pulling out of a side-road and collided with the side of the Washington car. The local vehicle lurched upon impact and "punched a hole in the side of the boat and destroyed the motor on the rear."

No one was injured.

Famed Orchestra To Open Nelson Overture Concerts

The renowned Hart House Orchestra will appear in Nelson on September 23 to open the Overture Concert season, it was announced recently by the executive.

The orchestra features 18 strings under the baton of Boyd Neel, conductor, who organized the Boyd Neel orchestra in England in 1932, and which gained international fame.

Mr. Neel helped to establish a tradition in string orchestra playing and in the interpretation of both classical and contemporary music for smaller ensembles. In recognition of his services to music he was made a Commander of the British Empire by Her Majesty the Queen in 1953.

The Hart House Orchestra, formed in 1954, is a Canadian counterpart of the Boyd Neel Orchestra. It served as the nucleus of the first Stratford Music Festival in 1955. Since then it has toured the U.S.A., Eastern Canada, played on the CBC and appeared in many Ontario centres and also appeared at the Brussels World Fair in 1958.

Boyd Neel came to Canada in 1953 and is Dean of the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto.

The Overture Concert Association of Nelson is making its contribution to Nelson's finer appreciation of the fine arts and with this goal in mind the new membership campaign beginning next week is aiming at a new high of 500 members.

New Manager For Overwaitea

Manager of Overwaitea Foods since 1948, Carl Linden is leaving Nelson this weekend, and the company, to take a position in the real estate business in Calgary. Mr. Linden and his wife previously lived in Calgary, from 1943 to 1945. His wife and family will join him in Calgary at Christmas.

The new manager of Overwaitea is Norman P. Sperling who comes from Campbell River on Vancouver Island, where he spent 1½ years at an Overwaitea store. He has been with the company for five years.

Vernon Girl Miss PNE 1960

VANCOUVER (CP) — Miss Vernon — 18-year-old Barbara Wolsey — has been selected as Miss Pacific National Exhibition of 1960. Miss Wolsey, a grey-eyed brown-haired student, is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wolsey of Vernon. Her father is a civic employee.

Miss Vernon won the title over 27 other girls from all parts of B.C. and automatically becomes Miss B.C. Lions. She wins a $1,000 scholarship and numerous other prizes.

Time of Great White Hunters Draws Near

The time of the great white hunters is near. The time when boot oil and gun oil is applied and the knives receive a trip to the grind stone for a last minute hone.

What are the chances this year as compared to last? They are on a par. As a matter of fact, everything is on a par. Hunting licences, ammunition sales, camping equipment, liniment, are all on a par.

No official figures have been received from the East Kootenay sports stores regarding early season preparation, but Nelson sportsdealers answer with a quizzical nod of the head, and a retort—"fair, just fair."

OVER 12,000 HUNTERS

Last year, according to road checks by the game department, in the eastern section, 12,032 hunters were checked by game officials. Of these, 2984 deer, 424 elk, 70 moose, 24 sheep, 21 goat, 12 black bear, 343 ducks and 377 grouse were victims of hunters' guns.

It appears as though this year's weather outlook will be a repeat of last year . . . "unusually wet, with unusually cold weather."

A definite change is expected in the head count in all departments, hunters and game, this season as compared to last. This is primarily due to the deer season being thrown wide open in GMA 10 (West Kootenays.)

POACHERS PRESENT

Hunter success in the Eastern section gave the greatest jump upwards around mid-season — best since 1945—with what might be classed as a record. Comparative deer success stories were told by 9.2 per cent of the hunters that were checked by game department officials. The nearest percentage of success was in 1945, also in mid-season, with 7.7 per cent.

Doe season, however, held a par of 34 per cent last year as compared with 1958 in mid-season.

Poachers, by the same token, made their mark on game records last year. In the Bull River area, a minimum of 17 sheep were shot and left. Most of these were ewes and lambs. In the Sheep Mountain area, several cow elk were shot and left during the late season.

HUNTER ETHICS

There is a decided need for improved hunter education in the identification of game animals. Must of the public reaction to heavy game harvesting is based on concentrated hunting. In the annual game report of last years kill in the East Kootenays compiled by the game department, a request for "improved hunter ethics" was stressed.

Again the old, repetitious adage must be brought forward—

LOOK BEFORE YOU SHOOT.

Identify your target before you blow a hole in it.

If you have ever shot an animal with a 220 grain or even 170 grain bullet, you will know what it looks like. It makes the same type of a hole in a human.

McKim Funeral Service Held

Funeral service for the late Walter Earl McKim, who died in Vancouver Monday at the age of 59 years, were held in Vancouver Thursday with Rev. F. J. Nicholson officiating.

Interment followed in Mountain View Cemetery in Burnaby.

A late member of A.F. and A.M., Joppa Lodge of White Rock, he is survived by his wife: Jessie Ruth, son: John W. of Burnaby; daughter: Phyllis Ruth, three sisters: Mrs. B. (Pearl) Haggart of Trail, Mrs. J. (Ruth) Miller of Rossland and Mrs. J. (Evelyn) Brown of Seattle, Washington.

All schools in the Nelson School District are fully staffed and ready for the big day next Tuesday, Charles Cuthbert, the new superintendent of schools, reported Wednesday.

A. I. Collinson, chief maintenance man for the school district, said that summer cleaning and repairs are completed and "everything under control."

Biggest jobs for the school maintenance men were at Balfour and Procter. A new pre-fabricated school was erected at Balfour and the Procter school was re-roofed.

Thatcher Says Industry Dwindling . . .

Hindered by Hostility of Saskatchewan Government

TRAIL — "Hostility of the Saskatchewan government toward private enterprise has hindered the industrial development of the province," Saskatchewan Liberal leader Ross Thatcher said here Wednesday night.

Speaking on "the Saskatchewan story" at a campaign meeting called in support of Dr. Mike Krause, Liberal candidate for Rossland-Trail in the provincial election, Mr. Thatcher told the rally that Saskatchewan had not shared in the spectacular industrial development which Canada, as a whole, had experienced since the Second World War.

Bringing the story of Saskatchewan to British Columbia, Mr. Thatcher paid tribute to the beauty of the Kootenays. "I have vsited this country before but not for many years," he said. "I came to Trail from Kimberely by car and you indeed have a very beautiful country."

Addressing a group of 60 here, he painted a dismal picture of Saskatchewan, with failing government owned businesses and lack of new industry.

In detail he described how nine out of twenty-one business or industries went broke or closed for some reason or other.

It was Mr. Thatcher's second election speech in the Kootenay district of southeastern British Columbia.

Apart from a cement plant and a steel plant no good sized industry had been established in Saskatchewan since the election of the CCF government. Pulp and paper mills and petro-chemical plants had been located in the neighboring province of Manitoba and Alberta, but none in Saskatchewan, the Liberal speaker pointed out.

FIGURES TELL

Manufacturing figures demonstrated how far behind her neighboring provinces Saskatchewan had fallen, said Mr. Thatcher. In May, 1960, Manitoba had 38,300 persons employed in manufacturing, Alberta 32,000 and Saskatchewan only 10,300.

Investment in manufacturing revealed the same frustration under socialism in Saskatchewan.

In 1959 new capital investment in manufacturing was $90,000,000 in Alberta, $70,000,000 in Manitoba and only $30,300,000 in Saskatchewan.

Of that $30,300,000 only $20,000,000 could be regarded as private investment. The other $10,000,000 was a bank loan to interprovincial steel corporation guaranteed by Saskatchewan government.

This was the only provincial government finding it necessary to use the government's credit to induce industry to locate in the province, he said.

Under CCF rule in Saskatchewan workers in that province continued to earn the lowest rate of average weekly earnings in any province west of the Maritimes, said Mr. Thatcher.

And while the population of Canada has increased 49 per cent since 1944, Saskatchewan's population had increased less than eight per cent — the smallest percentage increase in the nation.

Difficulty was experienced in attracting American interests to the province because businessmen from the U.S. jumped to the conclusion that socialism was wrapped up with Communism and they gained the impression that free enterprise was not encouraged in Saskatchewan, continued Mr. Tthatcher.

CORPORATION RATES HIGH

"The only crown corporations in Saskatchewan are those that have a monopoly or some special privilege. Your socialist friends tell you that you should take over the B.C. Electric. In our government-owned power corporation, some rates are indeed excessive."

Most people who joined the CCF during the depression were like himself sincere, but if they ever read the Regina Manifesto through they would be really shocked.

He said there was not any use putting in a CCF party here as in one year there would be no CCF party, but there might be a social democratic party.

"Why are the CCF hierarchy so anxious for amalgamation with labour?"

Approximately 27 years have failed to persuade people of Canada, in most parts that socialism will be a good thing. One party has failed and they are going to try a new one. Every union member C.L.C. will be assessed each year for political action. Trade unions should be neutral so that they can appeal to any party.

R. Bain Oliver of Nelson addressed the meeting urging everyone to read and digest carefully the Liberal program which offered a solution to many ills.

Dr. Mike Krause, Liberal candidate for Rossland-Trail also spoke placing unemployment as the biggest issue in the province.

Lab Man Visits Two Hospitals

Provincial laboratories in Nelson and Trail hospitals were visited Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday by Dr. E. J. Bowmer, director of laboratory services at the provincial government's Public Health Branch in Vancouver.

Dr. Bowmer conferred with the technicians in charge of the provincial branch laboratory in Kootenay Lake General Hospital, Miss M. Petavel, also the medical staff and the administrator of the hospital, R. H. Procter.

Dr. Bowmer, who is also chairman of the subcommittee on laboratory planning, visited Trail - Tadanac Hospital Wednesday for discussions there.

The laboratories, which are separate from the hospital laboratories, are concerned with public health and sanitation. They run tests on milk samples, water samples and tests for bacteriology subjects.

Results Show 73 Pass Red Cross Swim Tests

CRANBROOK — Red Cross practical swimming tests, on completion of instruction at the Gyro Swimming Pool this season, were tried by 86 of those enrolled, of whom 73 were successful in winning proficiency certificates in the four grades.

Instructor and Chief Life Guard Hans Juras enrolled 300 in early July, of whom 180 were beginners. Nearly a third of these completed the summer elementary course, with 55 passing the xamination for certification as swimmers. Mr. Juras also instructed the other three classes including seniors, who are required to swim 300 yards of various strokes, 50 yards backswimming using only legs, 20 yards using onl yarms, and swim 15 feet under water.

Examiner was Jon MacKinnon, East Kootenay recreation consultant for the department of recreation, who qualified in the Red Cross Water Safety course at Kimberley a few weeks ago. The inhospitable 52 degree temperature at the Gyro Pool this final week of August led to transfer of the 86 candidates to Chapman Camp pool's relative balmy 62 degrees Monday for testing. Kind volunteers assisted in transporting the children to Kimberley for this.

Passing the senior test, which also included life saving demonstration and the three varieties of artificial respiration were Sandy Cameron and Sheila Taylor. Passing intermediate test which includes varieties of swimming and diving were Irene Yates, Peggy Mugan, Avis Clifford and Lauren Ross.

Successful junior candidates, whose tests included different strokes and dives, were Sharon Reynolds, Tanny Tanner, Dawn Denby, Patricia Mugan, Olimpio Leschiutta, Frank Leschiutta, Arla Offin, Brent Hughes, Bobby Taylor, Robert Langin and Lorna Kerr.

Beginner swimmers were tested by their instructor acording to the Red Cross regulations that the child must demonstrate he is able to stay safely afloat and swim elementary front and back strokes over a specific distance.

Successful beginners, ranging in age from six to 11 years old, were Janet Tibor, Sheila Panice, Star Bonnier, Linda DeCecco, Ken McFarlane, Brenda Peterson, Linda Gunson, Beth Nichol, Neil Bonnier, Derryl Cowie, Eddy King, Gordon Fiedler, Gordon Campbell;

Carmen Becker, Carrol Wizzek, Ralph Needham, Jesse Pinchak, Sylvia Awmack, Donna Ewen, Bruce Belding, Neil Scribner, Dale Agar, Bobby Simpson, Dawn Weaver and Bill Awmack.

Classes for all these children were free as a city recreation service, and under terms of the original gift of the pool by the Gyro Club to the city no charge is ever levied for any use of the pool. The pool is being drained the last day of August after one of the best weather seasons it has ever had.

"He Loved the Woods So Much," Says Lone Witness

TRAIL — A 17-year-old Castlegar youth swore in city court Wednesday that Fred Makiev, being tried in a forestry arson case, "could not possibly have set fire to woods near China Creek the night of July 29-30 because he loved the woods so much."

John Wayne Irving was the single defense witness for the 22-year-old Castlegar man who is accused of setting fire to the forest along the Southern Trans-provincial highway early one Saturday morning.

Irving swore that he had been told by 16-year-old John James Konkin that he (Konkin) had put a match to the woods on three occasions that night.

Irving said Konkin told him two fires he had lit seemed to have gone out, so he put a match to a beer case, and tossed the flaming cardboard into the bush.

Irving said he had read about Makiev's trial in the newspapers and had earlier gained the impression Makiev would be acquitted.

Then he had been advised by friends that Makiev was really in trouble, and he had recalled that Konkin had told him that he (Konkin) had set the fires.

Accordingly, he had gone to see defence counsel Varcoe, after being denied an opportunity to visit with Makiev in the Trail cells.

Irving said that Konkin had told him not to tell Makiev about the fire setting "because most likely he will get mad."

Earlier Wednesday, three teenaged girls went on the stand as crown witnesses and swore that they had heard a diousion between Makiev and Konkin about setting fire to the woods.

The purpose of such a fire, said the girls, would be to give the men employment.

But, said two of the girls under cross-examination, everyone had laughed and regarded the propsoal as "a big joke."

Wednesday's proceedings were marked by frequent clashes between counsel and magistrate.

Interesting features of the trial Wednesday:

The magistrate excluded defence witness Irving, in the custody of RCMP Cpl. Angus Macdonald, while crown and defence counsel tagled over a point arising in cross-examination. Mr. Moran sought Irving's removal because, he said, the witness would be indirectly warned by defence counsel to change his testimony if he (witness) remained in court during the argument.

A Humanitarian Move

Since the Conservative government took office it has shown itself strongly in favor of abolishing the death penalty and whenever possible it has commuted the sentence on murders to life imprisonment.

While no one doubts the humanitarianism of their motives, this has not always met with the approval of the public, which is by no means convinced that murderers should escape the death penalty. The last session of parliament showed distinctly that it did not approve of the abolition of the death penalty.

When, therefore, the sentence on the sex-murderer, McCorquodale, was commuted there was a storm of protest from the people of Calgary where the slain child lived. Under existing regulations a convict imprisoned for life is paroled at the end of ten years and Calgarians objected to such a person being allowed his freedom. They argued that such persons are seldom completely cured and therefore should not be given the opportunity to again commit such crimes.

The cabinet acted wisely and promptly by ordering the parole board never to release McCorquodale. At the same time it made public a report by a psychiatrist which showed that he was insane and would never recover.

The decision in this case will meet with the approbation of all but there are other cases where, while feeling is not so strong, there is a belief that the convicted individual is escaping the penalty of his crimes too easily. This is particularly so in the case of sex offenders.

Laws and their punishments are changing as well as our reactions towards them. There is, generally speaking, more understanding on the part of the public, but it would be much more satisfactory when a sentence is commuted if the reasons are given and the public press be given access to reports justifying release.

In the case of sex offenders it might be as well to consider imposing indefinite sentences or even confining them for life. Quite apart from the actual crimes they commit is the terror in every mother's heart when such people are loose. Anything to lessen that fear would be a humanitarian move.

Interpreting the News

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Anyone who has suffered through a couple of New York traffic collapses is liable to get as nervous as Governor Nelson Rockefeller.

The New York governor is the man who popped up last year with a $1,000,000,000 idea for mandatory bomb shelters — designed to foil fallout — in every backyard.

The New York legislature killed the idea last, the politicians realizing that such an expensive program would be the one thing likely to ensure the end of their public careers.

You'd have to be as rich as Rockefeller himself, New Yorkers muttered, to think of installing bomb shelters like bathrooms in case the Russians should some day attack New York with the big bomb.

But those thousands who went the agonizing route of the traffic tieup in New York City Tuesday night — when the whole transportation system was thrown out of kilter by a mere rainstorm — may be having second thoughts.

They must be convinced that in the event of a real disaster, no one would be going anywhere. They might just as well resign themselves to staying at home — a significant thought for defence-conscious New York.

New York subway crowds at the rush hours have become a sort of tourist attraction. People talk about them as an oddity of the city. In an inverted way, they're compared with the spray at Peggy's Cove, in Nova Scotia, and the beauties of Lake Louise.

But the crowds can become an unthinking engine of hardship and even terror when the subway system—which carries nearly 5,000,000 people daily — breaks down.

On Tuesday a "cloudburst" disrupted service to Queen's Borough, which accounts for 1,000,000 subway passengers daily. Flooding stopped trains and thousands were trapped underground, sometimes for hours, as the Queen's glut backed into the rest of the system.

The transit authority estimates that 100,000 people were affected. Such main thoroughfares as Queen's Boulevard on Long Island took on the aspect of refugee roads.

Thousands of people, unable to climb aboard overloaded buses, plodded along the streets, girls often walking barefoot, carrying their spike-heel shoes. Elderly folk were shoved aside in the competition for what transportation was available.

Hundreds packed like sardines collapsed on stalled underground trains. Newspapers reported no panic, but there were many cases of individual panic. A reporter watched, for instance, while an impeccably-groomed lady broke down.

First came uneasy glances from side to side, then a restless shifting of the feet, then a clutching at the face, then uncontrollable sobs.

"Away we go," yelled a teenager, collapsing with laughter at his own wit.

"What would be the difference if a bomb dropped — where would we go?" mused a middle-aged man.

"There's this difference," his companion replied. "The traffic is starting to move now — slow, but moving. If a bomb dropped, it wouldn't move."

How Jobs Breed Jobs

When industry hires 100 additional workers in a community, it means much more than just those 100 jobs. In fact, it means a total of 217 new jobs.

Wholesale and retail trade, sparked by the 100 new jobs, has openings for 38 people. The construction industry needs 16, transportation and communication 19, finance and insurance seven, utilities five, services 32. That's another 117 jobs.

That's not all. The 100 new workers will bring the community 427 people, 66 more school children and 131 more households. They will spark nearly $1 million more in retail sales a year and three new retail stores. Nearly 400 new telephones will have to be installed and automobiles registered will go up 187.

This is all pretty impressive proof of the value of secondary industry in helping to expand our economy. And to the cold, hard fact that, in reverse, 100 layoffs can hurt a great many people.—Financial Post.

"Smog" Shortens Tourist's Visit

To the Editor:

Sir—As a three-time visitor to Nelson, Canada, I feel obligated to bring my observations to the attention of the businessmen and residents of your city. I believe it will be a service to you and to other visitors if my letter could be published in your daily.

This year my husband and I with four friends visited Nelson for the third time and spent three days at one of your excellent motels. Up to this year we always managed to remain in Nelson for at least a week. Our two previous visits were memorable occasions with our only complaint being one which we assumed was a temporary condition. That was the terrible blanket of smoke which seemed to hang over the city every evening. Last year, as the smoke persisted during the daytime, we came to the conclusion that there was a forest fire in the area. Upon arrival at the beginning of this week, we were appalled by the "smog" that greeted us as we entered the city. We were even more dismayed to learn that the smoke is caused by local lumber companies and even by the city of Nelson itself.

It seems a shame but for reasons referred to, we have decided to cut our stay short and continue to Lake Okanagan tomorrow. The merchants of your fine city would do well to consider the damage that this smoke is doing to their tourist trade and insist that the practice is discontinued without delay.

Little Red Ranch-House Schools

A sensible primary school plan initiated in suburban Jefferson County, Colorado, has young pupils learning long division right in their own subdivision.

The idea is simple and practical. When a new real estate subdivision is built, district school officials select one or two houses. They rent these, and convert the interiors of each into two large, homey classrooms with an adjoining office. Two or more houses are administered as a single school. This year there will be 30 houses (60 classrooms; 13 schools) in operation. Grades 1 to 3 are included.

This paper's Denver correspondent reports that the Jefferson County system was brought about by a combination of the inventiveness of Dr. Robert H. Johnson and the necessity of population growth.

Its obvious advantage is that it gives the youngest school children an introduction to learning in a home-like atmosphere close to home. Standardized testing of pupils in the little red ranch-house schools showed the young students have kept pace with their contemporaries in the county's large traditional schoolhouses.

In addition, the school district can use current income to pay rent instead of having to make large capital outlays. And, if the elementary school building program does catch up with a population that more than doubled in the past decade, the subdivision schools can be remodeled and sold as houses.

Other fast-growing suburban areas may find this plan the answer to their school space problems. It's an experiment that merits wide consideration.
—Christian Science Monitor.

Difficult Art

It may be the hot weather, but quite a number of people in various countries have taken to predicting the end of the world. So far, it is comforting to report, they've all been wrong.

The style for these groups has been for the senior prophet to announce that on a certain date the world will be blown up. Having offered this warning without charge to the public at large, the congregation holes up in a cave and awaits the end.

The wonder of it is that anyone would take the trouble to predict the end of the world. The odds are that he will be wrong and even if he hit it on the nose, nobody is going to give him a prize. And he himself will hardly have time to exclaim triumphantly, "I told you so!"

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—Trading in lower - priced issues featured an irregularly higher stock market Thursday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .40 to 230.80.

On the Canadian list gains of ¼ were made by Canadian Pacific, Distillers Seagrams, McIntyre Porcupine and Hudson Bay Mining. Dome Mines and Aluminium Ltd. added ⅛.

American exchange prices were mostly higher. On the Canadian list Canadian Marconi added ½ and Scurry Rainbow Oil ¼.

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal and Canadian Stock Exchanges closed Thursday on a much stronger note after a day of lower prices. Trading was moderate.

Closing averages: Banks up 0.20 at 58.22, utilities up 0.6 at 142.8, industrials up 0.8 at 271.1, combined up 0.8 at 228.4, papers up 3.2 at 434.7 and golds down 0.67 at 69.46.

Canada Malting climbed 3 points at 60 to lead winners. BA Oil added 1⅝ at 30½, Dominion Steel at 13 and Imperial Oil at 35 both gained 1½. Alberta Gas Truck rose 1¼ at 24¼, and Abitibi at 40, Texaco at 51. Canadian Marconi at 6½, Banque Provinciale at 36½ and Toronto - Dominion Bank at 57 all gained one point.

Among the losers, Power Corp. at 50¼ dropped ¾, Banque Canadienne Nationale at 53 fell ½ and Foundation Company at 9¼ eased ¼.

In mines, Noranda added ¾ at 40, Hudson Bay gained ¼ at 47½. Falconbridge Nickel at 34 dropped one point and Hollinger lost ⅜ at 20⅞.

TORONTO (CP) — A buying fever struck the stock market Thursday as industrials and western oils leapt ahead after a day of moderate to heavy trading.

Papers, banks, utilities and assorted favorites all combined to give industrials their biggest win in weeks.

Abitibi jumped ¾ at 39¾ to become the liveliest paper stock, with Great Lakes and St. Lawrence both up ½ at 42 and 17⅞, and Price Brothers up ⅛ at 39⅛.

Consolidated Paper lost ½ at 41¼.

Among banks, Imperial gained ¾ at 63½ and Bank of Montreal went ahead ⅜ at 58¼, while Toronto-Dominion eased ⅛ at 56⅞.

Shawinigan was the outstanding utility, up a point at 27¾, with Calgary Power up ½ at 24 and Bell Telephone ahead ¼ at 46⅞.

Steels were mixed. Dominion Steel jumped 1⅛ at 12¼ and Westeel improved ½ at 11½, while Atlas and Algoma both lost ¼ at 21½ and 32¾.

Individual stocks saw some large changes. Canadian Tire jumped 2½ at 37 and Stuart Oils improved 2⅞ at 22, while Dominion Oilcloth dropped ¾ at 28¾.

Noranda was strong among mines, up a point at 40½, with Cassiar, Falconbridge and Hudson Bay all up ¼ at 12½, 34 and 47½.

Labrador dropped ⅜ at 18 and Hollinger eased ¼ at 20¾.

Gunnar was the only senior uranium affected, off 10 cents at $7.

Western oils, dull earlier, made a sudden spurt to score the largest volumes in months. Home B led the advance with a 60-cent gain at $8.80, with Home A up 55 cents at $9.50 and Calgary and Edmonton up ¼ at 16¾.

Pacific Petroleum, too, made a comeback after recent losses, and gained ⅛ at 12⅛.

Says Canada Leads U.S. On A-Energy

VANCOUVER (CP)—The possibility that Canada, a country with a power surplus, was "going overboard" on nuclear power research was laid before delegates to the National Federation of Canadian University Students Wednesday.

Dr. John Davis, director of research and planning for B.C. Electric Limited, said $41,000,000 was being spent on atomic research this year to bring the total to $250,000,000 "far more than the government spends on educations."

The prospects of benefits equal to the great cost was low, he said. Canada already had an abundance of energy.

"The introduction of relly low - cost nuclear power would have its regional advantages and disadvantages. Southern Ontario would undoubtable be better off, but provinces like B.C. and Quebec, still rich in hydro resources, would suffer.

Canada was spending at least twice as much per capita on atomic energy development as was the U.S., he said.

Dr. Davis suggested the need for more general Canadian research work.

As one of the world's most prosperous nations, he said, Canada spends relatively little on industrial research and development. Percentage contributions was small compared to Britain and the U.S.

PLUNGES OVER NIAGARA

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) A woman identified as Della M. Lewis, 50, of Syracuse, N.Y., plunged to her death over Horseshoe Falls Wednesday. Witnesses said the woman jumped into the Niagara River from the Three Sisters Island bridge. The body was recovered on the Canadian side of the river below the falls.

Remove Women And Children From P.E.I. Fire

HALIFAX (CP) — Women and children were evacuated from a 100-square-mile area of western Prince Edward Island Wednesday night as the worst fire in the island's history raged out of control.

Dozens of scattered farm houses lay in the path of the fire that has burned over 30 square miles of moss and softwood forest since Sunday.

Officials reported new blazes breaking out "on all sides," defying efforts of 100 firefighters and all air force and civilian equipment on the western half of the island.

The district was declared a disaster area by Health Minister Dr. Hubert McNeil when children were reported suffering from the smoke. He said all families affected would be removed.

A disaster fund was set up and $1,000 was contributed by the Summerside branch of the Canadian Legion.

At least 55 fires, many out of control, were burning in the other Atlantic provinces. Several had been halted at the edge of communities.

ROBERT G. ROGERS DONALD R. SCHMIDT

Balfour Guides Entertained by Needles Guides

BALFOUR — Guides of the First Balfour Company assembled at the home of Captain Mrs. W. Nelson to meet Sharon Baker of Needles, B.C., who is working on her final challenge towards becoming a Gold Cord Guide.

Sharon prepared and served tea to the Guides and their mothers and was assisted by Sharon Peterson and Lynn McNown. She gave a concise report of her trip to California in August of this year, in the company of fifteen guides and two leaders, lauding hospitality shown the group by Nelson Girl Guides and Spokane Girl Scouts.

In San Francisco they stayed at the YWCA Hotel, and Girl Scouts escorted them on a tour of the city, the Aquarium, Japanese Tea Gardens, Golden Gate Statae Park, and Fisherman's Wharf. They also attended a teenage fashion show where the orchestra played "Canadian Sunset" in their honor.

Claremont, California, was the end of the trip south, and from there they visited places of interest. The Botanical Gardens possessed all of the different native plants, Disneyland was a huge fun zone which they all enjoyed, Marineland had wonderful trained sea animals, Newport Beach gave the girls a chance to swim in the ocean and collect sea shells. They also visited San Juan Capistrano.

On the return trip, the stopover of most interest was Salt Lake City, where they visited the Mormon Temple and heard the famous organs play. At the conclusion of her talk, Sharon was examined in first aid by Mrs. H. Jensen, of Riondel, and Mrs. M. Wellwood.

A WELL-TAILORED jacket of fine leather has a rich variety of uses, especially for suburban and country living. This beauty fills the bill on all counts. It is suede in a soft, golden shade of brown. Cut like a man's smoking jacket, it is trimmed at the collar and one pocket in smooth leather in a contrasting shade of brown.

Returns to Nelson After Several Years

Returning to Nelson after an absence of several years, Mrs. Patricia (Halleran) Green is establishing a music studio here.

Mrs. Green is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. (Mickey) Halleran, well-known in Nelson, Willow Point and Kaslo, who are now residing at Quesnel.

She has accompanied her husband R. B. Green who will teach English at L. V. Rogers High School.

First coming to Nelson at the age of five, Mrs. Green had graduated from the old Senior High in her junior matriculation year.

After receiving her ARCT while living in Kaslo, she studied the organ in Toronto with Dr. Charles Peaker and was assistant organist at St. Mary the Virgin Church there.

She married at Quesnel and she and her husband have spent the past three years at Wells, B. C., where her husband was principal of the Wells School.

Mr. and Mrs. Green have a two-year-old daughter, Vera.

Mr. and Mrs. Halleran are teaching music at Quesnel, Mrs. Halleran at Cariboo High School and Mr. Halleran in his own studio. They both taught music while in the Nelson district, and Mr. Halleran was organist at Trinity United Church.

Mrs. Green will teach piano and theory.

Waistlines Drop, Bosoms Flatten

LONDON (Reuters) — Waistlines were low and bosoms almost non-existent in the London showing Wednesday of adaptations by designer Marc Bohan on the Christian Dior Paris collection.

Models from the wholesale collection featured "corolla" skirts, which puffed out from long, tightly-fitted and often sleeveless torsos in day and short evening dresses.

In suits, the same skirts flowered beneath long, narrow unfittted jackets. Long evening dresses were often straight and tubular.

Several full-length coats were cape-like, with dropped shoulders and deep armholes. Others were described by the designer as "the superior duffel coat," while seven-eighths cats were slit up the sides to the waist, with low-slung half-belts underlining the back fullness.

One red suit, with a knitted collar, was worn with a matching pullover with a wide turtle neck.

Russia's Women Athletes Have Briefest of Briefs

By EDDY GILMORE

ROME (AP)—Women's athletic panties—and what, if anything, should be worn beneath them—today became a delicate issue at the XVII Olympic Games.

One of the West's big but beautiful girl stars has stated she plans to wear a pair of of what officials of her team think are flimsies.

"Then you must put on something underneath them," an official told her.

"I won't," she replied in champion - like defiance, "because that will restrict me. And furthermore, I don't need anything underneath them and neither do the Russian girls."

Like a great many of the West's troubles, the panty problem began with the Russians.

The Soviet Union may be the leader in rocketry and space exploration, but no one before this has ever accused it of setting a fashion style.

But that's just what it's done.

The athletic panties of the Russian girls are the skimpiest ever seen at an Olympiad. They are white, sheer, daringly short and — in some cases—alarmingly transparent.

But the point is, in them the girls from the U.S.S.R. have been winning in spectacular style:

Irina Press set an Olympic record of 10.6 seconds in the 80-metre hurdles.

Galya Bystrova got into the finals with an 11-second performance.

Rita Koshelva also reached the finals in 11.1.

And Vera Krepkina set an Olympic record of 6.37 metres in the women's broad jump.

Do the filmy panties help? Some girls think they do and that's one of the reasons the Western star wants to compete in skimpies minus an old-fashioned G-string.

Kimberley Girl Honored at Shower Event

KIMBERLEY — Vases of summer flowers, pink and white streamers and wedding bells decorated the Catholic Church Hall when 93 guests gathered for a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Barbara Jones, bride-elect of Sept. 3.

On arrival of the guest of honor, corsages were present to her, her mother, Mrs. E. Jones, her grandmother, Mrs. Wirth, and to the grooms' mother, Mrs. Bova.

Bingo was enjoyed by the large crowd under the direction of Mrs. J. Adams and Mrs. Margaret Barr.

Luncheon was served by the hostesses, the head table being centred by a lace cloth, and decorated with flowers and candles.

The lucky prize winner was Miss Mary Richardson.

Assisting Miss Jones in opening the many gifts were her sister, Miss Pat Jones, Miss Mary Humjum, Miss Laura Bova and Mrs. "Tick" Beattie.

On behalf of the hostesses, Mrs. J. Bryant presented the guest of honor with a coffee table and a colonial bouquet bearing the names of all the guests. Miss Jones thanked everyone for their gifts and the hostesses for all their work.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. J. G. Williams, Mrs. B. Rinaldi, Mrs. F. Kocevar, Mrs. A. Woloschuk, Mrs. G. Adams, Mrs. J. Bryant, Mrs. Margaret Barr, Mrs. D. Martin Sr., Mrs. T. Beattie, Mrs. H. Cross, Mrs. A. Bond, Mrs. R. Bova, and the Misses Pat Jones, Mary Humjum, Laura Bova and Barbara Lewes.

Children should be taught how to light and use matches safely, then how to dispose of them.

Evergreen Kitchen Tells How Best To Cook Lamb

B.C.'s Alpine Lamb is making its appearance on the market. It's excellent flavor will help you make many economical meals. If you have a freezer or locker you'll want to store away pounds of tender lamb for tasty meals at a later time.

Roast leg of lamb is at its best when served with garden-fresh new potatoes, topped with butter, green peas and tiny carrots and plenty of mint sauce.

ROAST LEG OF LAMB

Rub leg of lamb (don't remove the thin paperlike skin) with salt, pepper and rosemary or make slits and insert small slivers of garlic. Place on rack in roasting pan. Do not cover. Do not add liquid. Cook in slow oven, 300 degrees F., 25 to 35 minutes per pound. (for 5 to 6 pound roast — about 2½ to 3½ hours, or until done.) For accuracy use a meat thermometer inserted in thickest section of leg, but not resting on the bone or in fat. Temperature will read 175 degrees F., for medium done and 180 degrees F., for well-done.

Dairy sour cream that has been warmed makes a tangy gravy to serve with lamb.

LAMB SUPREME

- 2 pounds boneless lamb shoulder, cubed
- 2 tablespoons butter
- Water to cover
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon dill seed
- ½ cup fresh or canned mushrooms
- 1 cup sour cream
- ½ teaspoon vinegar

Brown meat in melted butter. Cover with water. Add salt, pepper and dill seed. Cover. Simmer for 1½ hours, or until tender. Remove meat. Add mushrooms, cream and vinegar to liquid in pan. Thicken with flour to make gravy. Add meat to gravy and heat. Serve over rice or with baked potato and colrful vegetables. Makes 6 servings.

Vegetables broil to perfection with lamb chops, while the rice accompaniment steams on top of the stove.

LAMB CHOPS, FIESTA STYLE

- 4 shoulder or 8 rib or loin lamb chops
- 2 large tomatoes, halved
- 4 large mushrooms
- 4 medium Zucchini squash, sliced
- ¼ cup melted butter
- Salt and pepper

Place chops on broiler and broil 2 inches from source of heat until brown. Remove. Turn chops and brown on other side. Slide from oven and place vegetables on broiler rack. Brush with melted butter. Return to oven and cook 5 to 6 inches below source of heat until well-browned and done. Serve with steamed rice. Makes 4 servings.

PLASTIC SINKS

Lightweight, colorful and stain-resistant plastic sinks are becoming increasingly popular.

Lewis' Clothes Bill $100,000 Annually

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two of the best-dressed men in town are an impoverished freshman and a one-time Negro valet with six children.

The reason? They're the same size as Jerry Lewis and wear his castoff clothes. Movie designer Sy Devore said the comedian has spent as much as $100,000 a year on his personal wardrobe, most of which he wears once or twice.

The college boy, rated a genius by his high school teachers, won a scholarship to an out-of-town school. But he owned only one suit. A friend told Lewis of the predicament.

Now the young student has 20 tailored suits valued at $250 each, a dozen hand-made $35 shirts, a dozen $50 Alpaca sweaters plus all accessories.

CLOTHES MADE MAN

The valet once worked for Jerry but $250 suits changed his whole personality.

"With that wardrobe," said an associate of Lewis, "he couldn't really put his heart in servitude. He now has a job as an executive."

Most of Jerry's castoffs go to struggling young comics and actors. Tony Curtis, in his hungrier days, wore Jerry's hand-me-downs. So did Sammy Davis Jr.

Devore, who delivers clothes to Lewis the a way a milkman comes to your house and mine, doubts if any other male spends $100,000 a year on clothes.

Devore says Jerry spends more on buttons alone than many men spend on suits.

"He wants solid gold buttons on all his suits. It costs between $56 and $60 a suit for buttons alone.

HISTORICAL SITE. Tourists driving through Kootenay and Inland Empire areas pass through many historical points. This Kootenay River scene viewed from Steamboat Lookout on Highway 3-93 was new to the white man when David Thompson's canoes passed here in 1808. In the sixties, gold seekers rushed to Wildhorse Creek over the dusty Missoula trail on the left bank. Soon after, steamboats like the "Port" and North Star brought in supplies from Jennings, Mont., and shipped ore from the new lode mines. On river at time picture was taken were three canoes. Fishing is good with grayling, char and cutthroat for the casting.

B.C. Sidelights

MORTIMER DEAD

VICTORIA (CP) — Richmond Edward Mortimer, 52, whose father founded one of Prince Rupert's first businesses, died at his home here. He went to Prince Rupert in 1909 where his father founded a real estate, brokerage and insurance firm.

MONEY ORDERS FOUND

VANCOUVER (CP) — A nine-year-old boy Wednesday found 350 stolen postal money orders beside a fence here. Police said the money orders, which had a total possible value of $35,000 were taken in a weekend break-in at a Vancouver postal station.

LITTER PROBLEM

KELOWNA (CP)—South Okanagan Health Unit told city council that the throwing of free samples and advertising material to crowds on parade routes should be banned. The health unit said the practice creates a litter problem as well as a traffic problem.

ELECTION BAN

KELOWNA (CP) — The B.C. government has banned civic elections in Kelowna and Glenmore this year following revoking oof the letters patent of the two communities Sept. 15. An interim council will hold office when the new municipality is formed until the first annual election in December, 1961.

Golfing

with ALEX MORRISON
Teacher of Champions

In the backswing and downswing the left wrist should be free to bend only in the plane of the left arm.

MANY GOLFERS struggle along with one or two strikes against them. They do not know for sure what they actually do and/or they misinterpret the advice they are given. The latter handicap can be eliminated by using a little common sense.

My pupils are given an exercise to afford them a clear understanding and the proper use of the left wrist. The left arm and the hand, with palm facing downward, are placed on a flat surface such as a table top. The palm is kept in full contact with the table as the wrist is bent from side to side.

This particular wrist action keeps the left hand properly moving in the plane of the left arm. This action is entirely different from a pronation of the hand or arm in which either or both members turn up or down in relation to the table top. This pronating of hands or arms accounts for many failures in power or accuracy.

72-Hole Match Play

Hundred Entries Expected for 24th Annual Labor Day Open Golf Tourney

ARNOLD SHERWOOD
Defending Champion

Between 80 and 100 entries are expected for the 24th annual Labor Day open golf tournament opening here Sunday. Finals will be run off Monday afternoon.

Arnold Sherwood, last year's open champion is favorite to retain his title in the 72-hole, match-play tournament with his closest rival, last year's runner-up Bill Wakeham of Nelson.

Sherwood won the Ken McBride Memorial trophy in 1956 by downing Babe Alexander of Sandpoint, Idaho. He lost out the following year to Terry Panton, the 1960 club champion. Panton has been shooting close to par golf this year.

In 1958 Sherwood bowed out to 1957 Canadian Junior Champion, Wakeham. Last year, Sherwood defeated Wakeham on the 15th hole of the final round to tie a course record with 29 and go five-up on the first nine.

Wakeham is fresh from the Trail open where he carded a 75-72. Two other threats in the open are Walter Apostoliuk and Nelson golf club pro Frank Tesluk.

Women's open for the Kootenay Breweries trophy will play Saturday and Monday. Gwen Miller of Nelson won the silverware last year. Lil Lynns of Trail was runner-up.

Liston-Machen Fight Times Changed

SEATTLE (AP) — A change in time for the Sonny Liston-Eddie Machen fight here Sept. 7 and the cancellation of plans to televise the bout were announced after the two heavyweight contenders signed to fight.

Promoter Tommy Moyer of the Northwest Boxing Club said the fight would be at 9 p.m. (PST) instead of 6 p.m. as originally announced. Welterweight contenders Phil Moyer and Cecil Shorts will meet in a televised bout at 6 p.m., he said.

Moyer said the change was made for two reasons. First, he said, many out-of-town fans want to come and wouldn't be able to make it by 6 p.m. on a Wednesday. Second, the new arrangement will make it more feasible to postpone the main event until the next day if it rains.

Canada Hits All Time High . . . Fourth

Swimmers Restore Some of USA's Lost Prestige

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ROME (CP)—American swimmers won three gold medals Thursday night, breaking world records twice, to restore some of the United States Olympic sports prestige that was badly shattered in the track and field.

The men's 400 - metre medley and 800 - metre freestyle relay teams both finished first in world-record clockings and Californian Chris Von Saltza broke her own Olympic record to win the women's 400-metre freestyle as Australian ace Dawn Fraser finished far back.

Canada's 400 - metre medley quartet finished fourth, the highest placing by Canada in the Games so far.

The shocker to the Americans in the track and field was John Thomas' loss in the high jump to a pair of Russians who finished one-two. Thomas couldn't clear seven feet, one inch, a height he has done in the past many times. The American holds the world mark of 7-3¾.

EQUALS RECORD

West Germany's Armin Hary outsped a trio of American speedsters to win the men's 100-metre dash, equalling his own Olympic record set in the heats, and Russian women won the 80-metre hurdles and the javelin gold medals. Germany captured the women's individual foils championship.

Canada suffered a blow when Harry Jerome of Vancouver, who with Hary shares the world 100-metre record of 10 seconds flat, pulled up lame in the semi-finals Thursday morning.

Canadian women all were eliminated in the heats of the 100-metre dash while in the rowing, the Canadian entries in the fours without coxswain and the pairs without coxswain could do no better than third in the second - chance repechages and failed to gain Saturday's finals.

The Canadian hope for a medal in rowing now lies on the shoulders of the University of British Columbia oarsmen who Wednesday whipped the United States to enter the final for eight-oared crews.

In the qualifying heats of the women's 100-metre backstroke, Sara Barber of Brantford, Ont., was fourth in her heat and didn't qualify.

CHANCE FOR CANADA

Yachting continued on Naples bay Thursday, with Canada's best prospects shaping up in the dragon class. Dr. Samuel Macdonald of Montreal placed fourth in the fourth of seven trials and third in the over-all standing.

Russia's three gold medals in the track and field Thursday gave it a total of 12 so far while the Americans have seven—six of them in swimming and diving.

In the swimming, the entire record book was being rewritten.

Only one gold medalist so far has not been able to break or tie a record.

Miss Von Saltza, a 16-year-old blonde, left Australian aces Dawn Fraser and Ilse Konrads far in her wake as she won the 400 - metre freestyle in 4:50.6, shattering the Olympic mark of 4:53.6 she set in the preliminaries.

Farrell swam the 100 - metre freestyle anchor leg of the medley relay and hit the finish in 4:05.4—compared to the 4:08.2 world mark set by the American foursome that swam the medley in the heats.

An hour later, Farrell was back to swim the last 200-metre leg of the freestyle relay and this time he touched in 8:10.2—enabling the U.S. quartet to slash a remarkable 6.4 seconds off the world mark of 8:16.6 set by an Australian group in the Aussie Olympic trials at Townesville last month.

Australia and Japan were second and third respectively in the medley with times of 4:12 and 4:12.2. Canada earned its fourth placing with a clocking of 4:16.8. The Canadian team comprised Bob Wheaton, (backstroke) Victoria, Steve Rabinovitch (breaststroke) Montreal, Cameron Grout (butterfly) Montreal and Dick Pound (freestyle) Montreal.

The Canadians never were better than fifth until Pound's strong anchor leg edged the Russian team's anchor man.

In the 800, Japan finished second in 8:13.2, Australia third in 8:13.8 and Britain fourth in 8:28.1. Japan had set the Olympic mark of 8:17.1 in a trial heat.

CRACKS MARK

World record - holder Lynn Burke cracked the Olympic mark in the women's backstroke trials over the 100 - metre distance with a clocking of 1:09.4 as eight qualified for the finals. Carine Cone of the United States and Judy Grinham of Britain set the Olympic mark of 1:12.9 in 1956.

Canada's Miss Barber was up with the leaders for about 80 metres, before she faded to her fourth-place finish.

In the men's high diving, Gary Tobian of the United States, the newly - crowned springboard champion, moved into the lead with a total of 106.08 points. Britain's young Brian Phelps was second with 101.86.

The four-hour high jump duel in the Olympic Stadium infield produced the major upset of the current games.

In the finals, Thomas was left alone against three Russians and a Swede. The 19-year-old Boston University sensation couldn't clear 7-1.

Russia's Robert Shavlakadze and Valeriy Brumel both cleared 7-1 — beating the Olympic mark of 6-11¼ set by Charley Dumas of the U.S. in the 1956 games. Shavlakadze, who jumped with a bandaged leg and wrist, won the gold medal because he had fewer failures than Brumel.

FIVE FOR GERMANY

Germany, competing as a combined team from the East and West for the first time since the war, boosted their gold medal tally to five with the wins in the 100-metre dash and fencing.

Hary, a 23-year-old salesman from Frankfurt, West Germany, snapped American domination in the century sprint going back to 1928 when Percy Williams of Vancouver was the last sprinter outside of the United States to win the prize.

The German beat the world's best here in a breathtaking final, but there was somewhat of an anti-climax in the race for Canada since Jerome, the up-and-coming youngster, never got a chance to test his skill against Hary.

Jerome suffered a painful charley-horse—an old nemesis of athletes—and had to drop out in the semi-finals.

Hary whipped the field with a clocking of 10.2 seconds, equalling his Olympic record set in the heats Wednesday.

PHOTO FINISH

But the finish was so close it had to be decided by a photograph.

Dave Sime, 24-year-old Duke University medical student, got a silver medal, and Peter Radford of Britain took the third-place bronze medal.

Russia's world record javelin star Elvira Ozolina beat out a dozen other girls with an Olympic record heave of 183 feet, eight inches to win the javelin.

Dana Zatopkova of Czechoslovakia, wife of former Olympic distance star Emil Zatopek, won the silver medal in the javelin and another Russian girl, Birute Kaledene, took the bronze.

Irina Press, one of the Russian sisters, took the 80 - metre hurdles in 10.8 seconds. Carol Quinton of Britain was second and Greta Birkmeyer of Germany third.

The fencing medal went to Adelheid Schmid of Germany.

Record Expected for 19th Highland Games

A record is being established with receipt of entries for the 19th annual Highland games to be held in Nelson on Labor Day, September 5. So far, 90 competitors have registered for piping, dancing and drumming classes in this year's event.

As in former years, it is expected that the Nelson district will resound to the sound of pipe and drum, as entrants arrive during the weekend and practise for the Monday event along the beaches in front of summer cabins o rin open courtyards of city and district motels.

To entertain early arrivals, a dance will be held in the Civic Centre Saturday night and all bands that have arrived by Sunday will take part in a concert at Lakeside Park Sunday afternoon.

A beach party at Six-Mile will complete the weekend entertainment.

Monday, entrants will get down to business, with first classes commencing at 9:30 in the morning. All bands will participate in a parade along Baker Street at 1 p.m.

Seven bands will be heard in competition. Entries have been received from the Edmonton Boys' Pipe Band, the Strathcona Legion Pipe Band from Edmonton, the Spokane Pipe Band, Coeur d'Alene Pipe Band, Trail Balmorals, the Trail Pipe Band and the Kootenay Kiltie Band.

Individual entries have been received from Calgary, Lethbridge, Red Deer, Victoria, Fruitvale, Trail, Cranbrook, Castlegar and Nelson.

Judges will be James McMillan of Burnaby, piping; Miss Georgina McPhail of Vancouver, dancing; Scotty Prout of Coeur d'Alene, drumming. Ben Sutherland of Nelson will be chieftain of the day and official pipers will be B. Eccles of Rossland and J. McCabe, Jr., of Trail.

OLYMPIC RHUBARB—Result of the 100-meter swim event in the Olympics created a rhubarb when John Devitt (right) of Australia was awarded the gold medal over Lance Larson (left) of El Monte, Calif., although the Americans claimed that Larson won by inches. Protest to International Swimming Federation was made out turned down. (Radiophoto)

Pirates Increase NL Lead With 6-1 Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Pittsburgh moved another step nearer to the National League pennant with a 6-1 victory over San Francisco Thursday.

The triumph enabled the Pirates to stretch their first-place lead to seven games over Milwaukee which moved into second place by defeating the Chicago Cubs 10-1.

Cincinnati dropped St. Louis into third place, 7½ games off the pace with a 7-4 victory over the Cardinals.

Roberto Clemente collected three hits and a home run for the second straight day against the Giants. His homer came in the first inning with two on and that was all Harvey Haddix needed to win his 10th game. Haddix and Clem Labine, who relieved him in the sixth, allowed 14 hits between them but the Giants left 15 runners stranded. Rookie Georges Maranda was the loser.

BRAVES HIT HEAVILY

Milwaukee walloped seven extra base hits including a pair of homers by Joe Adcock and one by Billy Bruton enabling Bob Buhl to coast to his 13th triumph. Dick Drott was the loser.

Vada Pinson cracked a three-run homer in the seventh inning to break a 3-3 tie and help Cincinnati's Bob Purkey gain his 15th victory. Bob Gibson was the St. Louis loser. George Crowe homered for the Cards, his fourth as a pinch hitter this season and the 14th of his career.

Johnny Romano slammed a home run and two singles to lead the Indians to victory. Cleveland's Barry Latman was clipped for 15 Kansas City hits but managed to go the distance for his fourth triumph. He has lost five. Johnny Kucks was the loser.

The Los Angeles Dodgers beat Philadelphia 3-2 in 11 innings on a single by pinchhitter Duke Snider with the bases full.

Mid-Summer Ball

Today: Hippersons at Bruins 2 p.m., Civic. (Fourth game of best of five semi-finals.)

Hippersons took a 2-1 lead in games Thursday when they romped to an 18-10 win over Shamrock Bruins in the third game of the smi-finals for the John Jackman Memorial Trophy. The game was conceded with only one out in the fifth inning of a scheduled 7-inning game. It was B. Ferguson's second shutout in succession, he having taken a 5-0 win over the Bruins Monday, after losing 12-5 in the first game Saturday.

Bombers Edge Lions For 6th Straight Win

WINNIPEG (CP) — A 13-point outburst in the third quarter on Thursday night gave Winnipeg Blue Bombers a hard-fought 19-14 victory over B. C. Lions for the defending Canadian champions' sixth consecutive triumph in the still young WIFU schedule.

Bombers held a fair edge statistically as they moved the yardsticks 25 times on 375 yards rushing and 73 through the air. Quarterback Kenny Ploen, who called a masterful game and stuck mostly to a running attack, was good on six of 11 passes.

Lions made 13 first downs, 118 yards rushing and 54 yards passing. Walden, rushed on several occasions by a hard-charging Bomber defensive line, completed only four of 13 passes.

Kristopaitis had a good edge in the punting department as he averaged 45 yards on six attempts. Bombers wound up with a 32-yard average, cut down drastically as Shepard was hurt and linebacker Jack Delveaux took over the punting.

Shannon was the big ground gainer for Bombers as he carried 12 times for 114 yards. James had 72 yards on 13 carries and Lewis 66 yards on five.

Beamer, second-year import from Oregon State, carried the big load for the Lions with 11 cracks at the line for 45 yards.

Canuck Soccer Team Chosen for Tour of Europe

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Canadian Soccer Football Association announced Thursday the players chosen to form a Canadian team to play a series of games in the U.S.S.R. and Great Britain this month.

The 16 players from Vancouver, Winnipeg and Calgary will assemble here Sept. 10 for two days of workouts and an exhibition game before flying to Moscow Sept. 12.

The Canadian team will play against Soviet Union soccer clubs in Moscow, Vilnos, Leningrad and Tallin from Sept. 14-27.

Besides four games in Russia, the Canadians will play at least two contests in the United Kingdom before returning home Oct. 8.

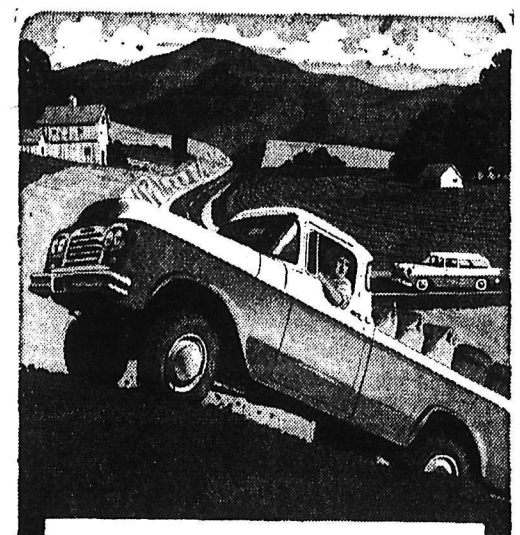
Start Playoffs

Nelson Little League playoffs will begin Wednesday in Queen Elizabeth Park. The playoffs will be the best-of-three games. Games begin at 6 p.m. throughout the week and 2 p.m. Saturday.

Teams will be competing for the Bank of Montreal trophy. Lions have wone it five times, Kinsmen twice and Rotary once.

Schedule: Wednesday, Lions vs Gyros; Friday, Rotary vs Kinsmen; Saturday, Gyros vs Lions; Monday, Kinsmen vs Rotary.



HALT ENGINE WEAR!

RPM Supreme Motor Oil is three oils in one. It gives triple grade protection: flows like a light oil for fast starts ...like a medium oil for short-trip driving...protects like a heavy oil on long, hot runs.

We who make whisky say:

DRINKING AND DRIVING DO NOT MIX

Fine whisky is a luxury and should be treated as such. And, knowing when to say "no" plays a great part in the art of sensible living.

Neither whisky nor any other alcoholic beverage has any place at the wheel of an automobile. Drinking and driving do not mix.

This conviction must be shared by every thinking person who drives a car, particularly this Labour Day week-end when many holiday-ing families will be travelling on British Columbia highways.

If you expect to be at the wheel of a car this week-end, we say to you: Think before you drink. Don't drink before you drive.

Forty Nations Meet in Geneva

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (AP)—Forty nations gather in Geneva Thursday for a shot at "tariff disarmament" that may last up to six months.

The occasion is the fifth postwar tariff review conference held by the contracting parties to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and will be notable mainly for putting the European trade problem into a world setting.

The first phase of the conference, lasting until the end of 1960, will be concerned with an examination of the external tariff of the Common Market countries —France, West Germany, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg and Italy.

The second stage, starting in 1961, will mark the beginning of detailed negotiations designed to lower tariffs on a tit-for-tat basis with indiyidual countries trading concessions.

SEEK REDUCTIONS

Heading the Canadian delegation is Hector McKinnon, former chairman of the tariff board.

Canadian efforts will be directed primarily at reducing tariffs in Europe and obtaining improved terms of access for Canadian products in the United States.

The basic Common Market tariff on aluminum, for instance, is 10 per cent. Canada would like to see the level on this semi-processed product down as close as possible to the vanishing point.

Some forecasts are that a general 20-per-cent reduction in tariffs may emerge from the marathon negotiations, but this may be a highly optimistic estimate. Business pressure, it is understood, has already led to the United States shedding from its negotiating list some items on which other countries would have liked to bargain.

Nevertheless, there are strong hopes that the Geneva talks may mark a major step toward free trade.

Fire-Eating Porter Gets TV Contract

LONDON (AP) — Danny Almond, a 29-year-old Anglo-Indian, was a porter at tiny Woodgrange Park railroad station 25 miles from London.

His method of lighting the station's coal stove was the talk of the town.

He'd gargle in a pint of kerosene, light his breath and blast flames on the kindling.

A television talent scout heard about Danny and sought him out. He found him in his room at the station—sleeping on a bed of nails. Danny signed a contract to light fires before the cameras.

BOY BURNED IN DARE

OTTAWA (CP)—Roger Leduc, 14, grabbed a high-tension hydro wire Wednesday on a dare and 2,300 volts of electricity mangled two fingers on one of his hands. Police said the boy climbed a small bridge for a dive into the Rideau River. He was standing on a railing about 16 feet above the floor of the bridge when companions shouted a dare that he wouldn't touch the wire. The boy grabbed the wire and the current ripped through his hand. He fell to the floor of the bridge and was taken to hospital where his condition was described as good.

Austria's CNE Display Makes Eye-Catching Appeal to Canada

Austria is making an eye-catching appeal to the Canadian luxury-goods market with one of the biggest foreign displays at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Frederick F. Stockinger, Austrian trade delegate in Toronto, says:

"Our aim is to offer things which are not made innCanada, rather than those which compete with the Canadian economy. Look over our exhibit, and you won't find many things that are made here."

The long Austrian exhibit—arranged in co-operation with Canadian dealers in Austrian goods—shows fine laces, leathers, winter wear, crystals, china, brassware and many other products, INCLUDING A BIG DISPLAY OF LANEOUS ITEMS OF A GIFT N t also includes a large exhibition of paintings by young Austrian artists.

In 1959 Canada sold to Austria products worth $8,545,000 and bought from there goods worth $5,800,000—a trade balance well tilted in Canada's favor.

"The trade volume between our two countries is about double what it was a few years ago," Mr. Stockinger comments, "but we wish to increase it further. We need to sell more in Canada if we are to get currency to buy here."

Canadian exports to Austria—which are increasing in variety—include wheat, chemicals, business office machines, whiskey, and canned meat, salmon and fruits.

A bid for tourists is made in a display of posters: Vienna, still looking imperial and gay; great cathedrals; and old castles overlooking rivers or set in the side of mountains.

Mr. Stockinger was minister of authority over transport, public buildings and roads—in various governments between 1933 and 1936. From 1938 to 1940 he fled before Hitler's advance — from Austria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and France.

He arrived in Canada in the fall of 1940 and since then has had a home in Cobourg, Ont., and more recently, also in Toronto. He has been Austrian trade delegate in Toronto since 1955.

Malaya's King Dies Uncrowned

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (Reuters)—The king of Malaya, Sir Hisamuddin Alam Shah, died Thursday, the day he was to have been officially installed in office.

The 62-year-old king succumbed to a long illness only five months after being elected Paramount Ruler of Malaya by his fellow Sultans.

The king was reported to have suffered a heart attack Aug. 5 but he left the hospital a few days ago and returned to his palace at his own request. At the time, however, his doctors said his condition was "serious and causing anxiety."

Alam Shah was chosen to succeed the late Tunku Abdul Rahman, who died April 1. His installation as ruler was then set for Sept. 1 but later was postponed indefinitely because of his illness.

Alam Shah became Sultan of Selangor on his father's death in 1938.

CATCHES FALLING GIRL

DUBLIN (Reuters)—A 12-year-old boy caught a 20-months-old girl in his arms when she fell four storeys from an apartment Wednesday night. Elizabeth McDermott was taken to a hospital with shock but recovered later. She crawled out onto a window ledge and fell just as Liam Burke was passing below. The boy said he put out his arms instinctively.

WRONG CAR

VANCOUVER (CP)—One of two youths who stole $1,048 worth of rings from a store here leaped into a parked car and told the driver, "Get going; get going." The driver later told police that he didn't go because he told the youth he was waiting for his girl friend. The youth said "okay," jumped from the car and ran down a lane.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
