GOV'T PLANS RACIAL DISCRIMINATION BILL

Disarmament Plans Proposed At Geneva

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GENEVA (CP)—The East-West disarmament conference Wednesday heard formal presentation of two blueprints for total abolition of the world's military forces.

The essentials of the Western plan introduced by Britain's David Ormsby-Gore and Russia's alternative advanced by Valerian Zorin are already widely known.

Both envisage general disarmament in three progressive stages with nuclear weapons reached at the final stage. Both provide machinery for controls at all stages to be worked out before a treaty is signed.

The chief difference lies in Russia's inclusion of a four-year time limit as against the Western belief that the timing of the later stages should depend on the degree of early progress.

TIMETABLE NEEDED

At a press conference following Wednesday's session Zorin argued that the lack of a specific timetable inhibits progress in implementing essential measures. He criticized the lack of Western response to the Russian plan since it was first announced by Premier Khrushchev before the United Nations General Assembly six months ago.

It was evident that Wednesday's closed session did not bring serious discussion of either plan and progress appeared likely to be slow.

The Canadian delegate, Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, takes the conference chairmanship at today's session under the agreed procedure of alphabetical rotation among the participating countries.

FAVORS MODEST START

The West urged Russia Wednesday to accept a "modest" start instead of a dramatic move. Ormsby - Gore said the West's plan would lead to "real and comprehensive disarmament as soon as possible."

"It is realistic because it is modest in its beginning, carefully balanced . . . and practical," said the British minister of state.

Zorin reserved detailed comment until a later date on the plan, a joint presentation by the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Italy. But at the press conference he declared:

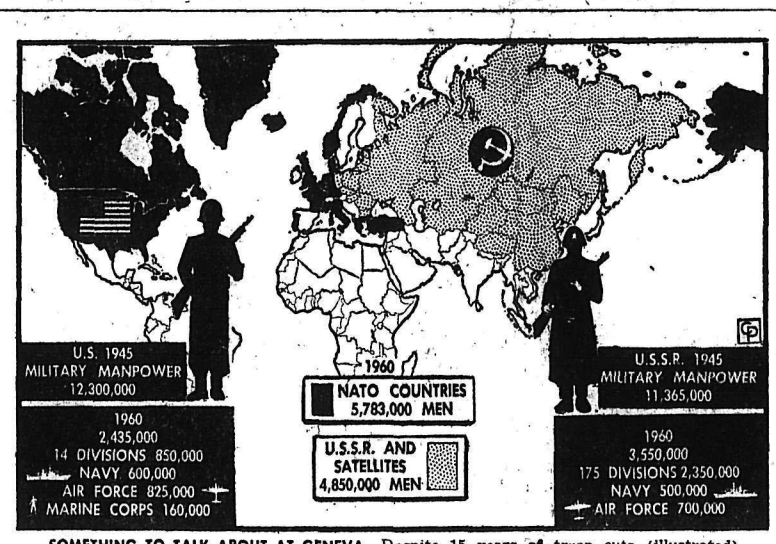
"It would be impossible to control its implementation since you cannot control a plan without a time limit."

Zorin spoke for the five Communist countries in the 10-power East-West conference — Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Bulgaria. The Communist formula calls for sweeping troop reductions by the U.S., Russia and Communist China.

DOLLAR UNCHANGED

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian dollar unchanged at $1.05¼ in terms of U.S. funds. Week ago $1.05 7-32.

Pound sterling up 1-64 at $2.80 11-16.



SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT AT GENEVA—Despite 15 years of troop cuts (illustrated) that have slashed millions from their armed forces since World War II, Russia and the West are arming at a terrific speed as the West and East seek a disarmament plan in Geneva. The arms race today is in nuclear rockets. Facing each other across the Geneva conference table are NATO United States, Britain, France, Canada and Italy, and Russia and her satellites, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Bulgaria. Russia wants total disarmament within four years. The West reportedly wants a gradual stepdown ending with complete disarmament under strict controls. (Central Press)

Fair Accomodation Act To End Discrimination in the Province

VICTORIA (CP) — Attorney-General Bonner told the Legislature Wednesday the government has a fair accommodation act under study to put a stop to that and other kinds of racial discrimination in the province. It was planned for next year.

He made the disclosure as the House debated a bill proposed by Arthur Turner (CCF—Vancouver East) which would make it an offence to refuse accommodation to anyone on the grounds of race, religion, color or creed.

It would have also outlawed the displaying of discriminatory signs or symbols against such persons.

The veteran Vancouver East member told the House there had been many cases of discrimination against people because of color in Vancouver. A Negro had been refused service in a beer parlor. A white man with a Negro wife had been refused accommodation at a motel which had later been picketed because of the proprietor's act.

If the government believed in the principles of the United Nations it should give B.C. an anti-discrimination act.

Mr. Bonner said the government was most sympathetic to the principle. But it had a draft of a similar bill in hand after consultations with representative organizations in Vancouver.

The government planned to introduce the legislation next year but it would be different from Mr. Turner's bill.

Premier Bennett said the government would give an outright committal for the legislation next year if Mr. Turner would withdraw his bill.

CCF leader Strachan thanked the premier for the committment. He said he would make a similar committment for his party should it become the government in the meantime.

Mr. Turner said he would withdraw the bill in view of the government's plans.

The debate was the most amiable of a legislative afternoon revolving around private bills. It saw the CCF and Liberal house leader George Gregory make two attempts to get amendments to the controversial Trade Union Act passed at the last session. They got voted down each time.

Among the legislation given final reading as the House pushed for proguation by Friday was legislation to increase the pay of jurors to $8 from $6 a day. Also given third reading was an act by which the B.C. Telephone Company may acquire the Northwest Telephone Company, an act the CCF claimed would put Northwest under federal jurisdiction.

Ah! Trust The Irish

CALGARY (CP) — The St. Patrick's Society won't be flying an Irish flag from the city hall flag pole on St. Patrick's Day after all. The whole idea was a misunderstanding.

Two weeks ago the Society applied to fly Ireland's national flag at the city hall on March 17. Sure, go ahead, said the clerk's office, and the Society fired off a rush order to Ireland for a flag.

Back from Ireland this week came the green, white and gold Irish tricolor, which as it turned out, wasn't exactly what the clerk's office had in mind.

"We thought they were talking about the Cross of St. Patrick," said Deputy Clerk H. S. Sales, referring to the red and white diagonal cross which forms part of the Union Jack.

"If they want to fly the St. Patrick's Day flag that's fine, but the tricolor is definitely out. If we allowed this we would soon be flying the stars and stripes on July 4 and the Hammer and Sickle on May 1."

MONTREAL (CP) — Faith and begorra, a couple of leprechauns would add a finishing touch to the plans this Paris of North America has for celebrating St. Patrick's Day.

The feast of the patron saint of the Irish actually is today, but the official celebration has been postponed to Sunday.

Between now and parade time workers will go about with buckets of green paint, dressing the city in a manner fitting for the never-forgotten feast.

The crosswalks at Peel and St. Catherine Street, in the heart of the city, will be painted first. Other crosswalks along the parade route will also be painted if time permits.

Martin Greene, president of the United Irish Societies, said the societies will supply the green paint. The city will supply the painters.

"Twill be a fittin' touch fir the day," said Mr. Greene.

In the background one could almost hear a leprechaun chuckle: "Shure now, wouldn't it be grand fun to stage a bit of game to see how many sons of Erin could walk a straight line across the green crosswalks at the end of the day."

Women Killed In Park Cave

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP) — The wives of three prominent Chicago business executives were found beaten to death Wednesday in a state park where they had come for a winter holiday.

Their bodies, two nude from the waist down and the third still wearing a girdle, were sprawled face up on the floor of a cave in a deep canyon a half mile from the park lodge.

The women's heads were beaten and bloody and sheriff Ray Eustley called the deaths "definitely murder."

The victims, all mothers of grown children, were:

Mrs. Frances Murphy, 47, wife of R. W. Murphy, vice-president and general counsel for Borg-Warner Corporation;

Mrs. Mildred Lindquist, 50, wife of Robert Lindquist, vice-president of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank;

Mrs. Lillian Oetting, 50, wife of George H. Oetting, general supervisor of internal audits for the Illinois Bell Telephone Company.

Gov't Urged to Strike Down Newfoundland Labor Laws

OTTAWA (CP) — The government was pressed Wednesday to protect fundamental freedoms and human rights by striking down year-old Newfoundland labor laws.

However, an 11th-hour bid by Arnold Peters (CCF — Timiskaming) for an emergency debate in the Commons on the issue was ruled out of order by Speaker Roland Michener.

Within a few hours of this attempt, CCF House Leader Hazen Argue said in an address to a men's group here that Prime Minister Diefenbaker "has refused to protect basic rights of citizenship in this country" by not upsetting the Newfoundland legislation.

The acts, described by Mr. Argue as "reprehensible, undemocratic and un-Canadian," outlawed unions whose leaders are guilty of "heinous" crimes and decertified the International Woodworkers of America (CLC) as bargaining agent for Newfoundland loggers.

They were passed March 6, 1959, by the Newfoundland legislature at the end of a bitter loggers strike.

Under the British North America Act, the cabinet has the power to take such action within a year of receipt at Ottawa of copies of provincial bills. The year expired Wednesday.

ASKED EMERGENCY DEBATE

Mr. Peters, an IWA organier from New Liskeard, Ont., proposed that the Commons set aside all other business to discuss "a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely the immediate need for the government to protect human rights and fundamental freedoms by giving consideration to disallowance" of the Newfoundland legislation.

However, Speaker Michener upheld the view of Justice Minister Fulton that disallowance is exclusively the cabinet's power and under Commons practice the House cannot demand that the cabinet take a specific course of action until the cabinet has used that power.

During the brief procedural debate that followed, Mr. Argue said trat "if action is not taken at this time then fundamental rights and human freedoms of Canadian citizens, on this occasion in the province of Newfoundland, will have been abrogated and infringed upon."

Rival Unions Join to Handle Railway Talks

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Two rival railway unions have decided to join forces in dealing with Canadian employers on some joint problems.

Instructions to this effect have gone out from United States international headquarters of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers (Ind.) and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC), who for many years have contested for membership among engine crews.

Top Canadian officers of the two unions are to meet with international chiefs at Cleveland, headquarters of the unions, during the next week to work out details of the arrangement.

They are vice-president W. E. Gamble of the firemen and assistant grand chief O. J. Travers of the engineers, both of Montreal.

TRUCE REACHED EARLIER

The agreement is a followup to a truce reached late last year by international heads of the unions, which have about 8,000 members each in Canada. Under the truce, neither will try to take a Canadian contract away from the other through labor board procedure.

It is effective until 1962, and then subject to cancellation on 30 days' notice.

The new agreement on co-operative action is regarded by observers as possibly setting the stage for similar joint action in the U.S.

As a long-range proposition, it could be the forerunner of outright amalgamation of the two groups. Firemen president H. E. Gilbert has been urging this as a means of strengthening their hands.

JOINT ACTION OUTLINED

Meanwhile, he and engineer grand chief Guy L. Brown have sent Canadian officers a six-point program outlining procedure for joint action in dealing with the railways on such matters as grievances, claims, discipline and other issues.

No Answer Yet To P. R. Proposal By B.C. Hydro

VICTORIA (CP) — B.C. Hydro has given no definite answer to an invitation by the Peace River Power Development Company to participate in the proposed giant hydro scheme on the Peace River.

This was disclosed Wednesday by Premier Bennett. He was replying to a question placed on the legislative order paper by CCF leader Strachan.

The CCF have long claimed the Peace plan should be a wholly-public development with B.C. Hydro doing the job.

The big government-owned public utility is the designated agency for physical development of the Columbia River on behalf of Canada and the province.

Kamloops Midgets Applauded by House

VICTORIA (CP) — Highways Minister Gaglardi rose proudly in the legislature Wednesday and told members about the midget hockey club from his home town —Kamloops.

He wanted to advise members that the club had won the B.C. Midget Championship. And in New Westminster, where they had won it, old time hockeyists had told him they had never seen a better balanced club.

He paid tribute to team coach Ron Reed and members cheered.

Outlaw Trading Stamps Sought

VICTORIA (CP) — The provincial government Wednesday night introduced legislation to outlaw the use of trading stamps or other merchandising devices in British Columbia.

The legislation follows the recommendation made Monday by a special legislature committee which studied the matter for weeks and heard numerous representations.

The committee, headed by Dan Campbell (SC—Comox) found that the stamps must be paid for eventually by the retailer or the consumer and recommended restrictive legislation.

Alberta already has such an act and a similar bill now is before the Saskatchewan Legislature.

United States Prepares for Underground Nuclear Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States announced Wednesday it is preparing for an underground nuclear blast in New Mexico. It said it would welcome observers from Russia and other countries.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced that it has approved construction of a site for a proposed detonation of a nuclear explosive deep underground in salt formations 25 miles southeast of Carlsbad, N.M.

It would be a new phase in the AEC's program designed to explore the possibility of using nuclear detonations for such peaceful uses as producing electric power, blasting out harbors, tapping oil from oil-bearing shales and tar sands, digging canals and controlling surface and underground water resources.

Democratic Senator Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, chairman of the congressional atomic energy committee, said he understood the shot is planned for some time in January, 1961.

The AEC said detailed studies and experiments have been conducted to assure the safety of the planned blast.

CONTAMINATION UNLIKELY

Anderson said no contamination of the atmosphere with radioactive fission products is expected because the detonation would be deep underground.

The AEC said:

"During the current nuclear test suspension negotiations in Geneva, the U.K., the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. have agreed in principle on the use of nuclear explosions for peaceful purposes.

"The scientific results . . . will be made available on a worldwide basis and the United States will welcome observers from the United Nations or any of its member countries which are interested in the project."

One of the scientific objectives of the program is to explore the feasibility of converting the energy from the nuclear explosion into heat for the production of electric power.

Three More Bodies Found

LOGAN, W. Va. (AP) —Three more bodies were found Wednesday in the deep reaches of a West Virginia coal mine still reeking with deadly fumes.

The find brought the total to 16 and virtually made it certain that all 18 men suffocated in the slate fall and resulting fire from a broken electric line eight days ago.

Meanwhile families and friends mourned as squards of workmen made the arduous trips to bring the bodies to the surface.

The miners' lives were snuffed out by carbon monoxide within hours after the accidents that set the mine afire the morning of March 8.

Six-man rescue crews made repeated trips under hazardous conditions 2½ miles into the mine to recover the dead.

Ralph Allen Resigns As Maclean's Editor

TORONTO (CP) — Ralph Allen, editor of MacLean's magazine for 10 years, resigned Wednesday to get more time for writing. He is succeeded by Blair Fraser, the magazine's Ottawa editor since 1943.

Allen, 46, will keep his association with MacLean's as an editorial consultant and writer, and as a director of MacLean - Hunter Publishing Company Limited.

Tornado Hits Florida City

PLANT CITY, Fla. (AP) — Hundreds of people were evacuated from their homes through drumming rain Wednesday night as Plant City's streets filled with muddy water in a storm that followed a tornado.

State militia trucks and local vehicles carried residents of the city's east end to temporary shelters. Teams of Red Cross workers fed refugees who police estimated totalled close to 600 by dark, with people still being moved out of their flood-menaced homes.

States of emergency were declared in Plant City and Dunedin, both in the general Tampa area of central Florida where U.S. weather bureau measurements of rain totalled up to 11 inches since Tuesday afternoon.

The emergency at Plant City was proclaimed following a morning tornado which caused an estimated $100,000 damage to an airport and heavy rains that filled the streets.

Irish Prepare For Wet Visit

DUBLIN, Ireland (Reuters) — Drinking Irishmen tucked shamrocks in their hats Wednesday night and prepared for their last "wet" visit to Northern Ireland for today's celebrations of St. Patrick's Day.

An act of Dail (parliament) now in the legislative works will end 36 years of dry festivities here next year on the date set aside for the honoring of Ireland's patron saint.

Taverns in Belfast and border points were braced for a flood of southern Irishmen, determined to make their last international fling a good one.

Suggests Plebiscite To Be Held for West Berliners

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer suggested Wednesday that a plebiscite be held before the East-West summit meeting in May to ask West Berliners whether they wanted to change their status.

"I am convinced that the result of that plebiscite would be an overwhelming majority for the present status to remain and no change to be made," he told a National Press Club luncheon.

"With this in mind, the Western powers could go to the summit and point to the fact that the people immediately concerned absolutely rejected Khrushchev's demand which consists of a change in their status."

In answer to a question, Adenauer said he had not brought up the suggestion at his conference with President Eisenhower Tuesday "because I got the idea only this morning."

The chancellor said he does not believe Russia would start a war over access to West Berlin, which is surrounded by Communist East Germany.

COULD REMOVE OBSTACLES

"If the Soviet-occupied zone put real obstacles—I do not speak of words—into the way of the Western allies in West Berlin, then I believe that the Western allies would be strong enough to remove those obstacles.

"I do not believe the Soviets would start a war because of that. The Soviet Union needs peace."

Adenauer praised press conference comments made earlier in the day by Eisenhower with regard to their talks on Germany and Berlin. Eisenhower said they were agreed there was no change in their policies over Berlin.

NEW YORK (AP)—Gino Prado, the shoe repairman who won $48,000 in television quiz contests with his knowledge of opera, is back at his last, and happy about it.

Prado's disclosure that he was cobbling—as well as managing—at a Times Square shoe repair shop came as Teddy Nadler announced in St. Louis he is seeking a $13-a-day job as a census taker.

Nadler, who won $264,000 on quiz shows, denied reports that he was broke, but said he is not wealthy. He said he hadn't worked since his TV days.

Prado said his winnings too are gone, but he stressed that this does not mean he is broke. He has held jobs steadily.

Prado said federal and state taxes accounted for a substantial share of his winnings and that the rest went to charity—ranging from a $2500 cheque for a religious order to handouts to shoemakers supporting large families.

LONDON (AP)—They've done it! They've proved Princess Margaret isn't really marrying a mere commoner after all

Within the next few days the Queen's sister will receive a lineage chart showing that husband-to-be Antony Armstrong-Jones is a direct descendant of Edward I, King of England from 1272 to 1307.

Of course, British bluebloods probably sensed it all the time. As Patrick Montague-Smith, assistant editor of Debrett's Peerage, said:

"I was certain in my mind that Mr Armstrong-Jones had a strong connection with royalty, but it required many hours of research to prove it."

Beaver Tells Nelson Tale

Nelson, "Queen of the Kootenays," is paid tribute in an article by that name in the spring 1960 edition of the Hudson's Bay Company's respected Beaver magazine.

Author of the story is George V. Ferguson, editor of the Montreal Star, and himself, an early-day resident of this city. Mr. Ferguson recounts how when he arrived in 1904 "Nelson was going strong. It was then the biggest city between Winnipeg and Vancouver."

"Nelson was the undisputed* Queen of the Kootenays. The Slocan boom was over. Rossland was dying. Trail was nothing.

Nelson held the centre of the stage, the big distributing town with the Canadian Pacific running its steamers on the lake and its trains both east and west. The Great Northern ran north from Spokane . . . and when Nelson people wanted to do some outside shopping it was to Spokane they went."

Mr. Ferguson's nostalgic article deals with the human things which happened. He recalls the tremendous indignation when the 1911 census showed a city population of only 4500 while people had proudly been claiming 7000.

He remembers "Bogustown" now better known as the Fairview section of the city.

Pictures of the old sternwheelers, the early street cars, Baker Street as it looked then, and other views of the city add to the interest of the story. They were furnished by Richard Spurway of Nelson and the provincial archives at Victoria.

Nelson and the Kootenays represented a boisterous period in history in those years; but looking back, Mr. Ferguson says "there was a sense of democracy — a real social democracy — I have never found anywhere else.

"Though," he concludes his article, "in those days of course, we didn't use two dollar words to describe the kind of life we had."

Chamber to Appeal Directly For Better KVR Rail Service

As a result of the Freight and Transportation Committee meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday an application will be sent to the Board of Transport Commissioners for better and daily CPR passenger service from Nelson to Vancouver.

This action followed the reading of a letter from George Hees, Minister of Transport, in reply to a letter which had been sent by the Nelson Chamber informing him they were going to press for renewed daily passenger service between the two points.

The Chamber also informed Mr. Hees that they would urge both the dominion and provincial governments to find the funds to provide the necessary protection for the railway in the danger zones.

Mr. Hees' explained that last September a latter was received from the provincial government requesting the federal government to participate in the cost of policing the CPR danger lines.

The federal government said that they found no sound basis for their participation in this matter and that it was the provincial government's responsibility.

It has since been established that the Board's judgment allowed cutting of CPR schedules was granted with the proviso that when "a reasonable" time had elapsed to indicate no further danger to the line or passengers, that if the CPR itself failed to provide satisfactory service of its own accord, the Attorney-General of B.C. or the Minister of Transport could then make application to the Board for such service.

In view of this it was moved that J. H. Coventry and L. M. McBride prepare an application to send to the Board of Transport Commissioners. Copies will also be sent to the Attorney-General, Mr. Hees, Hon. W. D. Black, H. W. Herridge, M.P. for Kootenay West, Leo Nimsick and D. L. Brothers, MLA's.

Resolutions are to be submitted to the B.C. Chambers of Commerce and the Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce scheduled for May 16-17 and May 6-7, respectively.

Women Played Big Part in Success

The K.L.G.H. Women's Auxiliary, with eighty active and associate members, contributed greatly to the hospital during the past year.

Report of the auxiliary was given Tuesday. With money raised through bridge parties, tea and bake sales, booth at Fall Fair and other monies donated them by district organizations and clubs, the K.L.G.H. Women's Auxiliary was able to donate the following to the hospital:

Bed rails, coffee urn, anaesthetic gas machine for surgery, three medicine carts, four laundry hampers and bags, steam kettles, a deodorizer and Christmas decorations for the hospital.

Total money contribution was $1,745.

The ladies began the year (1959) with $811; raised $1,339, spent $1,745 which leaves them with a balance on hand at the end of 1959 of $405.

The K.L.G.H. Junior Women's Auxiliary report showed it began the year 1959 with $675, raised $557 and spent $489 which left them with a cash balance of $742 at the end of the year.

The senior auxiliary report was submitted by Mrs. L. Hanic and Mrs. H. E. Doelle, and the junior group's report by Miss Mae McFarlane and Mrs. A. H. Acres.

Pallbearers were Melvin Kraft, Doug Gibbon, W. W. MacLaughlin, Aubrey Burgess, Ed John and Les Lund.

Farmers To Hold Line On Wheat Production

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian farmers plan to hold the line on wheat production this year, a bureau of statistics survey indicated Wednesday.

A total wheat acreage of 23,100,-000 — unchanged from last year — is forecast on the basis of a March 1 survey, with flax and rapeseeed showing the most substantial increases. Prairie spring wheat planting is expected to be 22,418,000, slightly below last year's level.

The total wheat acreage figure is nine per cent above the 1958 level and remains two per cent above the 1954-58 average level.

But the report emphasized that a number of factors can work to throw out the estimate.

"Cruelty" To Force Some Students Into University

"Cruelty" was the way members of a panel speaking on "Why Parent's Are Insistent On Sending Their Children to University" at the Hume School PTA meeting Wednesday night commented.

The panel, consisting of Bernard Clarkson, James Todd and Mrs. G. W. Barnes, were of the opinion that parents should not make a child attend university if he hasn't the ability. Some parents, said the panel, went by the opinion that "I didn't get the chance but my children are going to."

PARENTS' IDEAS

The panel pointed out that some students who do not have the ability to get through university must struggle with classes that they will never understand simply because their parents want them to.

University and general programs offered in high school were the subject of much discussion between the panel and audience.

The panel explained that teachers usually know by the time a student is finished grade nine whether or not he is university material. If he is not university material then they try to guide him in the direction where he will benefit most. This is on a general course where he can take preliminary training in the industrial arts line or commercial courses.

Nelson has fewer number of students on the general program compared with other cities and towns in the province.

Mr. Todd pointed out that "since sputniks have been flying around" people have become more concerned about education. The Department of Education now insists on a student graduating from grade nine to have at least C average if he wants to continue through high school on a university program.

KNOWING IQ GOOD?

A member of the audience asked the panel if it would benefit parents to know their child's IQ — know his capabilities — in order that they may or may not urge him to attend university.

The panel said it would be of no advantage in that IQ tests are not always accurate because of the different types.

They said they have known a students IQ to vary 15 points from one type of test to another and that teacher's do not rely on an IQ test to see how capable the student is.

A. Dingwall Buried Here

Funeral services for the late Alexander Dingwall of Nelson were held at the Thompson Funeral Home Wednesday.

Rev. E. Donovan Jones of St. Paul's-Trinity United Church officiated and interment took place in the Soldiers' Plot, Nelson Memorial Park. Mrs. W. A. Manson was organist for "O God Our Help in Ages Past" and "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross."

Pallbearers were C. Grizzelle, A. Kraft, W. Smith, A. Manson, G. Thompson and J. Habegard.

Canadian Legion services were conducted by Nelson Branch, No. 51 under the direction of H. E. Thain.

Too Many Places Want Junior College

VICTORIA (CP) — Victoria University Building Fund seems assured of financial support from the British Columbia Interior despite feelings that the money should be spent instead on a junior college for the area.

Prof. Robert Wallace, university vice-president, Wednesday returned from a 14-day trip to seven Interior cities where he set up fund-raising committees.

Prof. Wallace said he found "a desire for a junior college — serving Nelson, Penticton, Kelowna and Vernon but there has not been a decision on where such a college would be built.

He visited Trail, Nelson, Penticton, Kelowna, Vernon, Oliver and Kamloops during the tour.

Former students of the university will be the nucleus of the committees.

"The trip was very worthwhile. The people of the Interior centres are well aware of our plans and I think we will receive good financial support from them," Prof. Wallace said.

Castlegar Delegate Guest Speaker At UBC Trustee Day

CASTLEGAR — Mrs. W. Jacobson, chairman of School District 9, was chosen by the B.C. School Trustees Association to speak at the annual Trustee Day held at the UBC on Monday, it was reported at the board meeting here March 15.

Mrs. Jacobson addressed the graduating students who intended to make teaching their careers, acquainted them with the duties and responsibilities of trustees and their relationship with the teachers.

Trustees from all over the province were invited to meet the students for the purpose of getting acquainted and supplying information on the various school districts, their salaries and schedules.

TA ATTEND CLINIC

C. King, secretary for School District 9, reported that permission had been granted to the music teacher at the high school, N. Fishwick, and six chosen pupils to attend the instrumental clinic to be held in Chilliwack March 24-25.

The selected students from all districts who have bands will discuss and interchange musical matters and will have the experience of forming a composite "all-star" band of between 80 and 100 players under the leadership of a highly qualified bandmaster.

Mrs. King announced that the contract with Southwest Construction for the building of additions on Kinnaird and Twin Rivers schools had been signed and the work will commence as soon as the ground and the weather permits.

The board has approved the adding of acoustical plaster to the ceiling of one of the classrooms in the high school as an experiment to see if it softens the resonance between rooms. This will be done during Easter vacation.

STUDY PROPOSALS

The Castlegar and Kinnaird village commissioners and rural representatives attended the meeting to review and discuss the 1960 school budget. The proposals were taken back to their respective bodies for study and decisions are to be returned to the school board by the end of the month.

Several points in future school accomodation were discussed and the board reports close co-operation and cordial relationship between the civic groups and itself.

The board expressed its appreciation to all teachers of the district for the work and time they put in to make Education Week a success. They also thanked Castlegar District Teachers Association for their effort and the response they achieved at the book display held recently in the Twin Rivers school.

Burton Credit Union Shows Steady Growth

BURTON — Eighth annual meeting of the Burton and District Credit Union was held in Burton on March 12. Over 200 people from Burton and Arrow Park sat down to a Smorgasbord supper.

The supper was supervised by Mrs. DeBoni. After the opening of the meeting by the president, E. Balaam, L. Parkyn recited "The Credit Union Tree." Guest speakers were A. Illot and N. Bentley of the West Kootenay Chapter of Credit Unions.

J. Adshead gave the directors report, commenting on the starting of a School Savings Club in December with savings to date of $64. Members have increased from 159 to 188 during the year, with 60 junior members.

C. Guinard, treasurer, used charts and graphs to demonstrate the growth of the credit union to its present $76,000 in assets. G. Dettman, supervisory, gave a favorable report on the affairs of the credit union. E. Walton, credit committee, reported 95 loans granted during 1959 to the amount of $40,862.

G. Gaenard showed the flow of money in a credit union by means of graph presentations.

Re-elected to the directors was J. Adshead; new is director O. Buerge. Re-elected to the credit committee, V. DeBoni. Re-elected to the supervisory, G. Dettman; new supervisory Mrs. Scott and H. Buerge.

The evening concluded with the showing of the film "A Penny Saved."

Upper Arrow Ferry Halt Temporary

The Upper Arrow Lakes ferry will be out of action from April 4 to 14, while M.V. Lardeau undergoes dry-docking at Nakusp.

During that period the road from Trout Lake to Gerrard and Nelson will be kept open, assuring residents to Beaton, Trout Lake, Ferguson and Galena Bay.

These communities, however, will be temporarily cut off from the Arrowhead to Revelstoke road, until the ferry is back in service.

Announcement of this plan was made by A. E. Staite, District Superintendent, Department of Highways, Revelstoke. At the same time he stated summer schedules would be in effect after April 14.

Special Assize Session Hears Four Divorces

CRANBROOK — Special session of civil assize for East Kootenay last week, with Mr. Justice J. G. Ruttan presiding, granted four divorce petitions and heard one additional civil suit.

Divorce petitioners, all represented by Fred Barry of Kimberley, were Barbara Mary Johnston of Vancouver vs. Rodney David Johnston of Meadowbrook; Russell Alvin Paulin of Vancouver vs. Mary Joan Paulin of Radium; Harold Clarence Barbour of Canal Flat vs. Gladys Barbour of Radium; and Adolphe Woodske of Canal Flat vs. Lillian Eleanor Woodske of Langford.

Civil suit for damages claimed by Patrick Hewson of Edmonton for injuries for which he claimed Gateway Lodge of Radium was responsible was dismissed. Peter Graham represented Mr. Hewson and the firm of Hislop and McKay of Fernie and Cranbrook the defendant.

Regular spring assize session for East Kootenay, both civil and criminal, has been set for opening Tuesday, May 3 at Cranbrook.

Prospector E. Keller Dies at 72

CRANBROOK — One of the district's best-known mining prospectors, Ernest Keller died at St. Eugene Hospital Tuesday at the age of 72 years.

He was born in Switzerland and learned the machinist trade there. In the early 1900's he emigrated to Australia, then to the United States where he followed his trade until 1917, when he came to Canada and this district.

His earliest prospecting was for several years in the placer beds of Wild Horse Creek before he moved to the Weaver Creek tributary of the Moyie River in Lumberton vicinity. There he constructed a permanent log cabin and trapped and mined for over 30 years.

He retired in 1952 and had made his home with friends here since then. Only surviving relative is a sister in Switzerland.

Rev. A. L. Anders, Lutheran minister at Kimberley, will officiate at the funeral Friday at 1:30 p.m. at McPherson Funeral Chapel in Cranbrook and burial will be in Westlawn Cemetery.

Visitors Sign 1900 Guest Book

KASLO — Education Week was observed in Kaslo School with Visitors' Day on Thursday, March 10 and Elementary School Academic Night on Friday.

Almost 100 visitors signed the Visitors' Book which carries signatures dated back to August 1900. Classroom visiting commenced at 1:30. At 2 o'clock a program consisting of rhythm band numbers, dancing and the school band under R. R. Potter were enjoyed by an audience of over 200 people.

This was followed by a most successful bake sale sponsored by the Elementary School pupils. They were assisted by Mrs. E. Linn and Mrs. W. Higgins. Tea was served by members of the students' council of the High School.

At the academic night Friday evening the majority of the pupils from Grades 1-6 aired their knowledge of the three R's plus competitions in drawing, brain-teasers, general knowledge and concluded with an hilarious session of "Twenty Questions." The competitions were on a house basis and the Lions emerged victorious over the Leopards and Lynx.

A large crowd of parents and interested friends attended and expressed unanimous approval of this innovation and expressed the hope it would be part of Education Week in future years.

Minister Denies Columbia River Plans Settled

VICTORIA (CP) — Lands and Forests Minister Williston told the Legislature Tuesday night that answers to questions about what dams will be erected on the Columbia River cannot be given right now, they are not known.

The minister was pressed for information by Randolph Harding (CCF—Kaslo-Slocan). He said there was information in a letter from the minister to Donald Brothers (SC—Rossland-Trail) that the government was seriously considering the proposed High Arrow dam.

Mr. Harding, a skilled house debater, shouted across the floor that the letter had been quoted by a newspaper (The Trail Times) but the House was given no information.

He said the High Arrow would flood out communities in his region and put 40,000 acres of farm land under water. People in the area were concerned.

"If we are going to flood a valley for eternity and get benefits for only 25 or 30 years we better take another look," the Interior member declared.

Mr. Williston, obviously wearying from the long, four-hour night debate, rose and said there had been no decision on the High Arrow dam in the proposed Columbia River development.

There wasn't a person who could give the answers regarding either the High Arrow or the proposed Low Arrow dams at this point because they depended on negotiations now going on with the U.S.

But certain information had been made available to the House in the report of the International Joint Commission outlining the two propositions.

Mr. Williston said the High Arrow with Duncan Creek storage did offer certain atractions, but only if certain agreements were reached. If certain benefits could not be gained from the High Arrow then there would be no reason for it.

Fire Loss Estimated At $100,000

SALMO — Canadian Exploration Ltd. general manager C. M. McGowan yesterday issued a report giving details on the fire which destroyed a Canex warehouse at the mine, located just outside of Salmo.

"Fire broke out in the Canadian Exploration Ltd. warehouse on Sunday, March 13, at approximately 6:15 p.m., destroying most of the building and contents.

"At one time flames were shooting 300 feet into the air, however by 8 p.m. the Canex fire department had the fire under control and managed to save a small section of the building and kept the fire from spreading to other buildings.

"Total loss is not known at present but it is expected to exceed $100,000.

"It is hoped that the loss of the warehouse will not curtail operations in any way," his report concluded.

It is not known if the warehouse was covered by insurance.

Heavy Entry List Expected For Festival

CRANBROOK — Cranbrook is to be host for the first time this year to the annual East Kootenay Regional Drama Festival of one-act plays. It will be staged at the Mount Baker School auditorium the end of April.

The newly organized drama section of Cranbrook Arts and Crafts Association has undertaken the arrangements, with Mrs. J. M. Grieve chairman, Mrs. B. D. Beattie secretary-treasurer, and committee members Robert Fleming, Robert Duthie, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Downey and Mrs. Harry Dorris. Adjudicator to be named by the provincial department of recreation has not been named yet.

Entries appear certain from Invermere, Edgewater, Brisco, Fernie and Kimberley, and a Cronbrook entry is also being prepared. Further entries will be accepted up to mid-April and the committee is welcoming inquiries.

Winner of the festival continues to the annual B.C. Drama Festival for one-act plays at Vernon May 29 and 30. East Kootenay festival is April 30, but if there are sufficient entries for two days April 29 will be added.

Adds New Books

SALMO—Eleven new titles have been added to the lists of the Salmo Community Library, Mrs. K. M. Gradian, librarian, reports. They are:

"Wild Animals of the World" by Baker and Bridges, "The Empty Shrine" by W. E. Barrett, "The Rape of the Fair Country" by Alexander Cordell, "The Three Edwards" by Thomas Costain, "Too Many Ghosts" by Paul Gallico, "The Final Diagnoses" by Arthur Hailey, "The Lively Lady" and "Captain Caution" by Kenneth Roberts, "On the Beach" by Neville Shute, "Seven Wonders of the World" by Lowell Thomas, "War and Peace" by Leo Tolstoy, and "Cavalcade of the North", a collection by Canadian authors

Green Refutes B.C. Statement No Offer Made

The Hon. Howard C. Green, minister of external affairs, in a direct answer in Parliament to H. W. Herridge, Kootenay West MP, said that the federal government has made a definite offer of financial assistance to the province on Columbia-Kootenay power developments.

Mr. Green, however, refused to give any details, on the grounds "negotiations are under way. It would be improper for me to" . . . say what the federal offer was.

The Kootenay-West member's inquiry was prompted by a press release which had stated that Hon. W. A. C. Bennett, premier of B. C., had remarked "that no offer to the province of British Columbia for financing the Columbia River development" had been made by the federal government.

Mr. Green quoted in reply "the policy liaison committee both considered the domestic and international aspects of the proposed Columbia River development. Among the domestic aspects of the problems which ministers discussed again "(I stress the word 'again')" was the federal offer for financial participation which had been made at the last meeting of the policy liaison committee in Ottawa Feb. 9 and 10, 1960."

The minister went further to point out that "the press release had been agreed to by the two provincial ministers as well as by the three federal ministers."

Jaffray Scouts and Cubs Hold Ceremonies After First Year

JAFFRAY — March 4, 1959, marked the beginning of a new adventure in the First Sand Creek Cub Pack. On that evening in the Jaffray High School auditorium four Cubs: Brent Thompson, Ronnie Breakwell, Terry Corbett and Jimmy Schepens "Leaped Up" to the First Sand Creek Scout Troop. This was the first occasion of this type for these groups. More than 100 people watched as the boys went through their paces without a hitch.

The evening began with the "Going Up" ceremony which included an inspection of the Scouts by Doyle Rae, Group Committee Chairman, and the Cub Pack by worked with and shown interest in Mrs. W. Craig, of Fernie, who has Cub and Scout movements for many years. She complimented the boys on their smart appearance.

Akela Blysak also spoke to the boys and explained to them some of the differences they would find when entering the Scout Troop. Then, as the boys went over to join the Troop, Scout Master Hendy welcomed the boys and presented them to their patrols.

This section of the evening completed, the adults then joined the boys in games and contests. The evening was concluded with community singing led by the boys, and the serving of refreshments by the Mother's Club.

Both the Scout and Cub groups are relative newcomers to their respective fields having only been organized since early last spring. Since that time both groups have developed well and events such as this will do much to spark their interest further.

A Peaceful Way To Beat Communism

There are signs that the missionary force of Russian communism in the Western countries is spent, that those who espouse its ideologies are the older dedicated communists while the younger generation pays little attention to it.

It is possible, too, that the Russians realize that communism is not a synonym for brotherly love and that the growth in power and arrogance of the Chinese show that nationalism can still, even with those of the same ideology, be a dividing force.

Moral Rearmament has taken the psychological moment to stage an attack against communism. It is sending its booklet Ideology and Co-Existence to all the peoples of the world in a drive to counter the effects of communism propaganda. How far it is succeeding is shown by its results in India and Scandinavia, where communism has been decisively defeated when the people were told of Moral Rearmament.

Basically Moral Rearmament is simple. It consists of the belief that the world is controlled by God and thus there is hope for the present and the future. The Communistic belief is based on the thesis that there is nothing greater than the mind of man, that there is no future, only the present, and hopes of an after life are an illusion. It is an ideology which has to be kept alive by force since it is entirely opposed to the normal instincts of the human race.

But Moral Rearmament should go further than a re-affirmation of our faith in God. It should recall to us those ancient virtues which are in danger of being lost, honesty, integrity and a love of justice. We need to cleanse society of many corruptions in public and private life; we need to adopt a less tolerant attitude towards the excesses of individuals, and we need a higher standard of conduct for each of us. We must in fact, cease to be passive and become militant in our rearmament against Communism.

But even if it appears that communism is making little headway, this is no time to sit down with self-satisfaction, for it is at such times that communism can make its greatest headway. Everyone should read the booklet, "Ideology and Co-Existence," ponder all its implications and then resolve to present a stern front to anything which may threaten our Christian way of life.

Interpreting the News

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

The question of Canada joining the Organization of American States, taking her place beside the United States and the 20 Latin American republics, is getting another workout.

Foreign Minister Horacio Lafer of Brazil, who is scheduled to arrive in Ottawa soon on an official visit, apparently has hopes of talking Canada into OAS membership.

It happens that he's striking while the iron is hot. External Affairs Minister Howard Green said last week the matter is being reviewed.

Green plans to visit Argentina for Independence Day celebrations in May and it's likely he'll also visit other South American countries.

OAS goes back to 1890 and a chair marked "Canada" has rested for years in the Pan-American Union building in Washington. The chair was ordered at a time when the inter-American organization was known as the Union of American Republics.

In 1910, after consultations by President Theodore Roosevelt and Latin-American leaders, the Canadian coat of arms was installed with those of the 21 republics in the newly-erected Pan-American building.

Some countries may have been slightly suspicious of Canadian entry in the early days, but this vanished after Britain proclaimed Canadian independence in the Statute of Westminster in 1931. No one could then claim that London, which once handled Canadian external affairs, could dabble in hemispheric matters through Ottawa.

The U. S. — obviously harassed and frustrated in its Latin-American relations—would welcome a sign from Canada that it is time to dust off the chair. The idea received new encouragement in 1948 when the group was renamed the Organization of American States, dropping the reference to republics, in an overture toward the northernmost country.

Traditionally, the issue has hit the Canadian public with the impact of a wet sock. Many Canadians have been inclined to feel that their country of comparatively small population already has plenty of commitments through the Commonwealth, the UN, the NATO and such organizations as the Colombo Plan. Their country has always enjoyed cordial relations with the Latin countries.

The increasing importance of Latin America and vast changes in its political and social structure, including the toppling of dictators, are seen as reasons why Canada should take a greater interest in the area and full membership in OAS.

F. B. Pearce... ...Writes

Even without the assurance of the minister of education that English in the B. C. high schools is not all that it might be, it has been known for a long time that a great many graduate of our high schools cannot speak or write good English. As the minister says, this is not entirely the fault of the school system.

Despite its many irregularities, English is not a difficult language to learn. Many foreign-born learn it and some, like Conrad, who was a Pole, and Andree Maurois, who is French, write it with distinction. In many ways it is a fascinating language and in the hands of a master like Shakespeare becomes a thing of beauty.

All languages are learned by imitation and by reading. In a family where the parents speak good English, the children will copy their parents' speech and if all the members of the family read considerably the children will learn to speak and to write correctly.

External influences should not corrupt the good English learned in the home. It is true that many TV performers speak abominably, but children are not so likely to be influenced by them as by the example of their fathers and mothers. They will, of course, speak this TV language at times, but it can be said of many individuals that they have two languages at their command, that of the educated person and a colloquial one which they use on occasions.

Far too much time is spent in schools on the mechanics of language. To use good English is not necessarily to be competent to parse or analyse. If good oral English can be learned by imitation so good written language may be learned by extensive reading, for there is this to be said of written language, that it is thoroughly policed by those who write and read. Indeed, of all means of communication, the press is the only one which consistently maintains a high standard of English. No-one's English can ever be debased by reading a daily newspaper.

To speak good English the individual will therefore have to mix with those who speak it well; to write good English they will have to read extensively. It should be expected of all teachers that they speak correctly and the chief role of the school should be to provide the stimulus and the encouragement to read.

For this purpose they will have to provide larger school libraries where the books have been carefully selected for their literary value and their interest to the student. It is doubtful if the school libraries at present have much value to the student.

It will follow as a matter of course that school librarians will have to be specially trained in library science at a recognized university.

Lastly, and most important, all teachers — and not English teachers only, should read considerably and have an enthusiasm and a knowledge of their mother tongue that they can communicate to their pupils.

Letters to The Editor

Letters to the editor on any topic of genuine interest are welcome if they are brief, accurate and fair. They may be published over a nom de plume, but the name of the writer must be given to the Editor as evidence of good faith. Anonymous letters go into the wastepaper basket. Typewritten letters must be double-spaced.

Names Confused

To the Editor:

Sir—In your report of the Monday luncheon meeting of the local Rotary Club, at which Mr. J. M. Morley, Mr. R. J. Patrick and I spoke on examinations and testing in schools, your paper reported me as saying, "If the pupil hasn't learned, the teacher hasn't taught." It was not I who made the statement.

It appears that your correspondent confused our names. It was, of course, Mr. Morley who opened the session by speaking on testing in elementary schools. Mr. Patrick's remarks concerning the position the Junior High School were attributed to Mr. Morley, whilst my remarks "in closing" were attributed to Mr. Patrick.

I would request the courtesy of your columns to correct any misunderstanding that may have arisen over this mistake.

Says Petition Not Complete Enough

To the Editor:

Sir—Should not this petition being circulated give the taxpayer the opportunity to vote as to which of the buildings, old post office or old hospital, they prefer for city hall? The latter building being the better building for that purpose.

C. H. B.

R.R. 1, Nelson, B.C.

Would Use All City Buildings

To the Editor:

Sir—As one of the 61 per cent who voted last June in favor of utilizing the former post office for city hall, I find the present situation very confusing.

It seems difficult to understand why we were urged so strongly to vote on this question. We were told that it was our duty as well as our privilege to choose as we thought best. And so it seemed then that the City Council was honestly seeking to determine the will of the people. Now with that will clearly expressed, it seems about to be negated by the casting vote of one person.

Assuming that both mayor and councillors are all acting sincerely in this matter, it must be that the December vote has been interpreted to mean that the mayor has unlimited authority to ignore the bylaw and to decide the matter according to his own wishes. If his 886 votes gives him the privilege, what happens to implement the wishes of the 1008 people who formed the majority of the mayoralty votes? Again, if the December vote is to be taken as authority for the Council's decisions, how do they propose to carry out the wishes of the 2169 people who voted for Mrs. Van Maarion and Mr. Harts, both of whom frankly committed themselves to stand by the people's vote in the bylaw. As Mr. Shorthouse stated that he had no definite policy, it is quite likely that many of his 886 votes represented people who fully expected he would be democratic enough to bow to the wishes of the people.

Again the people by a majority said they were willing to pay $140,000 for the post office. Now that we are assured of an even better arrangement of the building, at a reduction of $53,000, is it likely that the public mind would change? There seems to be much growing public opinion in favor of putting all of our three empty buildings to good use — the hospital as dormitories for Notre Dame College; the provincial jail for use as a city jail at the proffered rental of $1.00 a year; and the former post office for municipal offices and council room, etc.

In our chase after modernity, what a joy it is to see the beautiful stone of the post office still standing four square to the storms and stresses of the seasons. Its architecture is superb in comparison with the much criticized strawberry-box style now in vogue. Its durability far exceeds anything we could afford to build today, and its convenient situation would be a real blessing to all the busy people who must frequent its offices. We have been assured it can be made both adequate and convenient for the city's needs for years to come, for $87,000. What more do we want?

FOR DEMOCRACY

Board Rejects Teamsters' Union Decertification

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canada labor relations board has rejected an application by the Canadian Transport Workers' Association to have the Teamsters Union decertified as bargaining agent for employees of Dominion Auto Carriers of Windsor, Ont.

The board ruled that owner-drivers in the association, a breakaway group from the Teamsters, are not employees of the company under the Canada Labor Relations Act and cannot have the board act on their behalf.

The board heard the case here last week, with the Teamsters Union opposing the application of the association. The company is one of 13 firms with which the Teamsters negotiated an over-all agreement in Winnipeg last year.

Better Conditions Increase Revenues Says A. E. Grauer

VANCOUVER (CP) — President A. E. Grauer said better business conditions and electric rate and transit fare increases in 1959 resulted in a 16.5 per cent increase in gross revenues of the British Columbia Power Corporation.

The corporation's annual report, released Wednesday, showed the parent company of the B.C. Electric grossed $96,923,531.

Operating expenses, including purchases of natural gas, also were up—by 18.3 pper cent to $70,744,913.

Volume of electricity sold during the year was 3,300,000,000 kilowatt hours, an increase of nine per cent over the previous year.

Gas consumption jumped 60 per cent to 138,322,367 therms. Residential customers using gas to heat their homes increased from less than 2,000 at the end of 1955 (the last year preceding the arrival of natural gas in the Lower Mainland) to about 59,400 at the end of 1959, the report showed.

Over 16,000 new natural gas customers in 1959 brought the total using gas at year's end to 108,327.

Net earnings in 1959 were $11,271,492 or $2.48 a share on the 4,549,756 common shares.

This represents a recovery from a depressed earning position in 1958 of $1.95 a share to the level that prevailed in 1956 and 1957 of $2.34 and $2.33 a share respectively.

Return on investment, for regulatory purposes, was 5.2 per cent in 1959, up slightly from five per cent in 1958. This compares with the 6.5 per cent rate of return set by the public utilities commission as fair and reasonable.

Trading Stamps Under Fire In Two Parliaments

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Trading stamps came under fire in the British Columbia and Saskatchewan legislatures Tuesday.

In other provinces business ranged from university grants to social assistance.

The controversial trading stamp legislation of Saskatchewan's CCF government survived strong opposition criticism to pass through the second reading. Attorney - General Walker referred the bill to the legislature's law amendments committee, however, instead of to the whole assembly.

POWERFUL GROUP

Premier Douglas said the bill, designed to outlaw gift coupons and other promotional gimmicks, is necessary because of a situation—not found in Eastern Canada—in which a powerful group handling the stamps has "wreaked havoc on thousands of small businesses."

A special committee of the British Columbia legislature recommended legislation to outlaw trading stamps and other such merchandising devices. The legislation would exclude offers by manufacturers for a premium or reward for the return of wrappers or containers.

Another commission recommended an investigation of the entire problem of forest tenure in B.C. and advocated action for damages against companies failing to carry out timber sale contracts.

New Brunswick's Conservative government introduced its Social Assistance Act, designed to bring up to date the province's relief and rehabilitation provisions.

BREAK DEADLOCK

A disclosure by Premier Barrette that Quebec universities have accepted several million dollars in federal grants held in trust for them was seen as the end of a constitutional deadlock between the Quebec and Ottawa governments.

In the Alberta legislature, a bill was introduced to allow mayors or councillors with only small interests in large companies to vote on municipal dealings with the companies.

In Ontario the CCF and Liberal opposition failed to force a vote on the conservative government's bill calling for tighter control by the Ontario farm marketing products board over producer marketing organizations.

Senators Disagree

WASHINGTON (AP) — New cracks showed up Wednesday in the structure of Republican unity Vice-President Nixon has been laboring so hard to build in this election year

Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona outlined in a senate speech Tuesday a Republican conservative's idea of what the foreign policy program should be It differed sharply with policies pursued by President Eisenhower.

Goldwater, who heads the party's senatorial campaign committee, advocated breaking off relations and negotiations with Russia. He proposed staging a "test of wills"—which he conceded could end in war — with Russia under conditions and in a location picked by the United States. He urged "risks on our terms, instead of on Communist terms."

There were more Goldwater suggestions, but these were enough to draw the fire of Senator John Sherman Cooper (Rep. Ky.) who calls himself a Liberal.

Cooper said in an interview that "the worst thing that could happen right now would be to withdraw American recognition of Russia and to refuse to negotiate."

Cape Breton City Centre For Rand Commission Hearings

By DON HOYT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SYDNEY (CP)—Key hearings of the Rand commission on the Canadian coal industry open in this industrial Cape Breton city Wednesday. They are slated to continue through Friday.

Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, which controls all but a bandful of Nova Scotia's coal output, is scheduled to make a lengthy presentation to the commission. The Dosco brief will be followed by one from District 26 of United Mine Workers of America (Ind.), whose 8,000 members make up more than half of Canada's coal-mining force.

Top Dosco officials headed by company president Albert L. Fairley Jr. will attend. Their submission is expected to take about six hours to deliver and will detail the production, freight rate and marketing problems assailing the industry.

Mines Minister E. A. Manson of Nova Scotia will represent the provincial government at the hearings here. The province's own brief was presented at Halifax hearings last Friday.

The first brief to be presented will be from the Newfoundland government.

SUBVENTIONS URGED

In Halifax, the Nova Scotia government urged continued subventions to keep the industry going until expanded power demands create an expected new market for coal. Diversified industry to open new job opportunities and more research into cutting costs, possibly by opening new pits to replace expensive operations, were also urged.

Nova Scotia Light and Power Co. Ltd., said it would be wrong to assume that goal will necessarily be the source of power to meet future generating needs of the Maritimes. Hydro resources, atomic power and new methods of thermal power generation might supplant present types of thermal plants.

Costs of getting coal out of Cape Breton mines — which produced more than 90 per cent of Nova Scotia's 1959 production of 4,391,000 tons—are likely to get an airing here.

A. R. Harrington, Nova Scotia Light and Power general manager, told the commission last week that United States coal can be landed in Halifax for about 20 per cent less than Cape Breton product.

STUDY BY BRITISH

It may have been this that prompted Mr. Rand to invite British coal experts to study Dosco production methods. They will arrive here March 20 and tour the collieries after conferring with the commission.

The UMW, led by district president Bill Marsh, is expected to press for information on Dosco's pit-by-pit costs of getting out the coal. The company declined to give the information to a provincial fact-finding committee set up after Dosco said three Cape Breton mines would be closed down because of lack of markets.

The province has pledged every effort to keep all mines operating until Mr. Rand makes his report to Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Despite this, there have been reports that Dosco is going ahead with plans for the permanent closure of three mines employing 2,300 men, more than one-quarter the Cape Breton mining force.

Coalbrook Mine To Be Reopened

COALBROOK, South Africa (Reuters)—The owners of a coal mine here where 435 men died in January announced Tuesday night that the mine will be reopened immediately with new safety measures.

The announcement came after the South African government ordered the mine closed Monday—a move described by the owners as unjustified and unacceptable.

A company statement said the government, replying to an appeal, had sanctioned "the immediate resumption of mining operations" with the introduction of increased safety measures.

TELEPHONE PIONEER

MONTREAL (CP) — Funeral services were to be held today for John Leonard Clarke, former Bell Telephone communications engineer, who died Monday. He was 73. Mr. Clarke, who joined the company in 1910, was instrumental in arranging the first coast-to-coast telephone hook-up in Canada during the diamond jubilee celebration of Confederation in 1927.

Spring Is in the Air at Legion Ladies' Auxiliary Fashion Show

The large Canadian Legion Hall was filled with women interested in the latest word in spring fashions for the mid-March fashion show and tea of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion Nelson branch.

Tables were crowded with behatted, style-conscious guests who viewed 54 ensembles in the latest shades and design with sleek, frilly, flowered or frothy hats, matching gloves and shoes and complementary coats, all Irene's Fashion Shop models.

Guests were welcomed by Miss Evelyn Forbes, Mrs. Fred Castle and Mrs. K. H. Wickens. Conveners of the event were Mrs. A. O. Allan and Mrs. B. McCreight. Mrs. O. Anderson and Mrs. Allan were in charge of the kitchen and hall kitchenette respectively.

Table centres were vari-colored crepe paper-dressed dolls, each in a different Spring style, made by Mrs. S. Cameron.

During the evening, Mrs. E. S. Elliott, president of the Auxiliary, presented the wife of Legion branch president A. P. Jeffery with a pink carnation corsage.

Draw prize winners were Mrs. William Day, Mrs. E. L. Vance and Mrs. W. Dinwoodie.

EASTER PARADE

Models were introduced and fashions described by commentator Mrs. G. E. Thompson. Music was provided by vocal soloist C. H. Baker, accompanied by pianist Mrs. Robert Percival.

The fashion display opened with "The Easter Parade" sung by Mr. Baker, accompanied by Mrs. Percival.

Ensembles and suits were an important part of the fashion show. Suits were tailored or cardigan types, with slim walking skirts. Imported all-wool boucle with raglan sleeves, authentic tartans, dress suits of silk shantung in novelty check print, or a two-piece suit dress in novelty black and white print with veiled coachman hat and a washable tailored suit in melon shade were shown in exciting variations.

A jacketed sheath in two-toned print of synthetic fabric feeling like pure silk and a sheath with stroller-length coat were worn with matching or softly contrasting accessories and smart millinery. A fashion suit featured collar interest and short sleeves vied for importance with a costume suit.

SPRING COATS

Spring coats showed a luxurious trend with cloth coats in white wool and mohair, a spring coat in black and white woollen mohair, a Hollywood wrap in coral blush shade.

Appetizing was a clutch coat in all-wool lime sherbert with accessories in cherry fizz.

All-weather coats included one in moss green, a reversible trench coat in beige and moss.

Hats were coachman style, cloche style in woven straw and Breton sailor in woven straw for the younger generation.

Everyday dresses included shirtwaists in drip dry material, also a white embroidered material and a youthful style in yellow eyelet embroidered top and broadcloth skirt. A sailor-type in navy cotton had a young look.

TOFFEE BROWN FORMAL

More formal dresses included a toffee brown semi-formal silk organza, the bodice lined with Alencon lace, pleated cummerbund effect and bouffant skirt; and ice cream pink princess style; bouffant sheer nylon in polka dot design and a flowered printed nylon over rustling rayon taffeta. A graduation formal was in nylon organza with wide hem on the bouffant skirt.

For the teenagers, a bulky knit cardigan of mohair looked cozy with tartan slims.

Mauve to purple was the newest color style.

HERE COMES THE BRIDE

Highlight of the show, as always, was the bridal party. Miss Loreen Bystrom, as bride, was gowned in floor-length imported Chantilly lace. The Sabrina neckline was accented with pearls and sequins. The skirt featured tulle ruffles cascading down the skirt back with panels of lace at the front and sides. The skirt was gracefully hooped.

A pearl coronet trimmed with sequins held her illusion tulle fourtiered veil.

Her bridesmaids, Miss Sharon Purcello and Miss Darlene Roos, were in nylon sheer over crisp taffeta in buttercup yellow and blue aqua, with flouncy matching hats.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. L. T. Gregoire, was gowned in an elegant style featuring tiers of scalloped lace underlined with shell pink satin. The neckline was scalloped, and her wide-brimmed hat was covered with rose petals.

During the show, Mr. Baker and Mrs. Percival presented other musical selections.

Models were Mrs. B. McCreight, Mrs. R. L. Lowe, Mrs. C. Whitelock, Mrs. Hector Mackenzie, Mrs. Shirley Stafford, Mrs. R. B. Smith, Mrs. F. F. Day, Mrs. H. Glowachuk and Mrs. Gregoire; Misses Peggy Broadfoot, Pat Day, Gloria Renwick, Louise DeFerro, Sharon Fisher, Sharon Purcello and Darlene Roos and Loreen Bystrom.

Vice-president is Mrs. E. W. Mercier; Mrs. J. I. Laughton is corresponding secretary; Mrs. N. W. R. MacLeod is recording secretary; Mrs. T. E. Cartlidge is treasurer and Mrs. MacLeod is City Council representative.

Colored slides of Roman architecture were shown to the members during the evening.

Co-hostess at the meeting was Mrs. D. R. Nuyens.

Government Worker Honored At Surprise Party

KASLO — A pleasant evening was spent at the Scout hall when over 40 government employees and their wives gathered at a surprise party in honor of Cameron Clark, who has been superannuated after being employed by the Public Works as grader man for many years.

Mr. Clark has resided here for over 50 years. Being an ardent fisherman, he was presented with an ice chest and a camp stove, and the residents do not expect to see much of him once the weather is warmer and the big ones really begin to bite.

Color slides were shown by another government employee, Albert Edwards.

Spring Hats Will Be Something To Behold

By PEGGY MASSIN

PARIS (Reuters) — High hats are the order of the day for spring.

Everything is up in the air with towering beehive and flower pot hats worn over high-piled hair styles.

Another new effect is the curious combination of Abraham Lincoln's stove-pipe crown paired with Greta Garbo's slope-brimmed cloche.

The over-all treatment of spring millinery is destined to make short women look tall, while women over five feet six inches in height resemble animated copies of the Eiffel Tower. It is a season for fun and exaggeration when simpering prettiness gives way to bold abstraction.

FOLLOW THE LEADERS

All Paris suddenly has decided to follow those two avant garde leaders, Balenciaga and Givenchy, who for years have been styling hats in the unlikely shapes of casseroles, bird cages and pudding bowls.

Dior shows chignon cages in enormous olive or dome shapes destined to fit over upswept coiffures. These hats come in a variety of interesting media such as white pique, glace leather, or rough, shiny straws.

They are featured in bright flower colors and are usually without trimming. Worn with simple, collarless necklines, "Miss Dior's" shoulders, neck and head emerge with swanlike purity through these smooth, uncluttered effects.

Ironically, Brigitte Bardot, who never wears a hat in private life, is responsible for another leading trend in Paris millinery. She pinned up her blonde locks for the film Babette Goes to War and appeared on the screen in masculine-looking motorcycle and parachutist's helmets.

DARE DEVIL THEME

Since then, her young fans have taken to helmet hats, poplin raincoats with expandettes, and the heavy black leather gloves usually worn by motorcyclists and racing car drivers.

A second theme in the Dior millinery evokes this trend with motorcycle crash helmets and modernized versions of a Persian warrior's helmet.

The mannish influence, already strong in the Paris millinery picture for the last two years, continues for spring with the new trend towards high crowns. Sombreros and ten-gallon hats, which appeared on the French Riviera for beachwear last summer, now invade the street.

LARGE PIECES

Crewel work is large pieces of embroidery done in colored worsted yarns, such as tablecloths and furniture covers.

Vancouver Arthritics Arts And Crafts Viewed by WA

Samples of the artistic work done by arthritis patients in Vancouver were examined by members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society Tuesday afternoon when they met in the CARS room of the hospital.

Gaily painted Christmas cards and hasti-notes, woven place-mats, hand-made jewelry and ceramics were on exhibit. They are the result of a program to help persons handicapped by arthritis to become self-sufficient. Mrs. A. T. Godfrey was named chairman of the local committee.

Reports from various committees were made: Mrs. C. H. Hamilton for the driving committee: Mrs. Vincent Fink, visiting committee, and Mrs. H. O. Borch, representative to the official board.

Arrangements were made to visit patients at Mount St. Francis, Kootenay Lake General Hospital, the Hostel for Aged Men and in private homes during the month. Members also volunteered to serve tea for members of the arts and crafts group during their weekly meetings.

Mrs. E. J. Boyes, representative from the arts and crafts committee, was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. Borch was named representative to the April meeting of the board.

London Critics Praise Coast Ballerina

LONDON (CP) — Vancouver dancer Lynn Seymour returned to the Covent Garden stage Saturday in the dual Swan Lake role of Odette and Odile and the critics gave her an even warmer reception than when she made her debut a year ago.

"It now is practically certain that she will be the British ballet star of the future," says The Observer critic. "Her pure dancing, especially in the second act, was gloriously fluid, musical and expressive."

The Daily Express says that Miss Seymour, 21, "today is standing on the treshhold of a great career." A week ago when she made her second starring appearance at Covent Garden — as the heroine in Giselle—The Express said she had a promise of greatness.

"But in Swan Lake, a ballet she has dance frequently on tour, she proved infinitely more than promising."

WARM PRAISE

"Obviously Miss Seymour, who started dancing in Vancouver 12 years ago, still has far to climb before she reaches the heights of a Fonteyn or Markova. Yet hers is one of the most precious hopes British ballet has ever had."

The Guardian says that between Miss Seymour's two appearances in Swan Lake she has "well learnt her lesson."

"The brashness has gone, and with it, the roughness which was the coltish blemish of her very promising performance last year.

"In Miss Seymour's stage manner are fire and temperament—and to spare; her Odette, softened as in Saturday's performance, is indeed not tame but alive, strong and grand with a young grandeur which is touching and charming."

The Guardian, however, goes on to say that Miss Seymour's Odette and Odile have "not yet quite got there."

"Her Odette needs more characterization . . . and a touch or two of starry virtuosity judiciously applied; her Odile has farther to go; the present subdued quality is a half - way stage, a necessary withdrawal from the initial roughness but some way short of the polished, seductive brillance which is requisite."

Senate Committee Delays Churches' Amalgamation

OTTAWA (CP)—Incorporation of four amalgamating groups of Western Canada Lutheran churches were delayed Wednesday in the Senate private bills committee.

Acting committee chairman Senator Salter A. Hayden (L—Ontario) said the committee could not proceed without evidence that the four organizations want to merge.

On a motion by Senator John T. Haig (PC—Manitoba) the incorporating bill was set aside until such time as the representatives could produce certified resolutions or agreements from the church bodies showing they want incorporation as one organization.

The bill, an act to incorporate the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Canada, would bring together the Canadian district of the American Lutheran Church; the Norwegian Lutheran Church of Canada; the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Canada; and the West Canada district of the United Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The present Evangelical Lutheran Church was incorporated in 1951. The four bodies have a total baptized adult membership of about 60,000, all in Canada's four Western provinces and northwestern Ontario.

TO PRODUCE DOCUMENTS

Rev. W. E. Riekert, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church in Regina, representing the churches joint union committee, indicated he would return as soon as possible with the requested documents.

Another stumbling block in the way of immediate passage of the bill was revealed in testimony before the Senate committee of an Ottawa Lutheran minister objecting to the name chosen for the proposed new body.

Rev. Arthur F. Conrad of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, speaking in the name of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Canada, said other church bodies "feel the title is too all-embracing to be granted to a portion of the Lutherans in Canada."

He said his group, with 45,000 members in Ontario and Quebec, objects only to the words "the" and "of" in the proposed title for the new Western Canada body. It would be satisfied with the name "Evangelical Lutheran Church—Canada," or some other such title.

A letter from the Lutheran Church Missouri synod was tabled at the meeting adding its objection to the granting of the proposed name.

Mystery Wreck Retains Secret

By JOHN MATTERS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VICTORIA (CP)—A "mystery" shipwreck on the rocky, storm-lashed west coast of Vancouver Island has once again refused to give up a century-old secret.

A team of navy diving and salvage experts returned early Wednesday without a clue as to the identity of the wreck, resting in the murky bottom of Sidney Inlet, 145 miles northwest of here.

It was the second attempt the navy had made in five months to establish the identity of the vessel and ascertain its owners, where it was built and its cargo.

Lieut.-Commander Ernie Cassels, curator of the British Columbia Maritime Museum, says pieces already salvaged from the wreckage indicate it is decades—"possibly a century"—old.

ADD TO COLLECTION

Despite extremely adverse weather, the minesweeper Miramichi was able to haver over the wreck six days and recovered several relics which will be added to a five-ton collection obtained in a previous expedition.

Divers said the biggest problem encountered exploring the vessel are mud-laden logs on its sides and in the hull.

Using a compressed air-operated saw and a high - pressure hose, they moved 80 logs, but at least 100 remain in the hull. There is speculation the logs were once used in an effort to refloat the vessel.

The old sailing ship, broken and scattered, rests at the bottom of the bay at a rakish angle, the bow in 35 feet of water and her sterm some 70 feet down. She is approximately 150 feet long with a beam of 35 or 40 feet.

She was discovered last summer by a party headed by Dr. George Cottrell of Portland, Ore., whose hobby is skin diving for sunken ships.

He tipped the navy on the discovery and the auxiliary vessel Laymore and a minesweeper moved in with a crew of divers and a photographer during November.

They brought up a 62-foot Phillipine mahogany mast which is being made into a flag pole for the naval technical school here. Teakwood planking and a cast iron pump also were recovered along with a wooden bollard, a 15-foot section of a stern post and a 10-foot section of the ship's stern.

Navy officials, without logs or diaries from the ship, would not speculate on the route or cargo of the vessel. They say it could have foundered far out in the Pacific and been blown into the inlet.

Britain Launches Biggest Liner

BELFAST (Reuters)—The biggest passenger ship to be built in Britain since the launching of the transatlantic liner Queen Elizabeth in 1938 was launched Wednesday with an eye toward traffic between the United States and Australia.

The 45,000-ton Canberra is primarily intended for traffic between Britain and Australia, but with its sister ship the Oriana, launched last year, it also is intended for service between San Francisco, Los Angeles and Vancouver and Sydney, Australia, and Auckland, N.Z.

The 820-foot ship, being built for the Peninsular and Orient Line, will be able to carry 2,500 passengers between Britain and Australia in 25 days, compared with 31 at present.

One innovation is that the engines are at the stern to provide more passenger room, save weight on shafts and keep passengers away from the noise and heat of the engines.

The prefabricated cabins are arranged around courts and verandas so that occupants of inside cabins can have both light and a view of the sea through a small window.

Each cabin has a radio and taps for hot, cold and ice water. Television apparatus provides for the reception of programs using the differing line systems of Britain, Australia, the U.S. and Canada.

Estimated to cost about £15,000,000, the two-class ship is due to sail on its maiden voyage next year. Six hundred of her passengers will travel first class and 1,650 tourist class.

He Couldn't Win

LONDON (CP) — A divorce court judge decided Tuesday that the normal wear and tear of married life may include the following:

1. Being slapped in the face by your wife in front of your stepmother.
2. Being left in the middle of the dance floor by your wife.
3. Seeing your wife walk out on you in front of your brothers.
4. Having your wife lose her temper in front of mutual friends.
5. Being clobbered over the head with a potted plant, heaved by your wife.
6. Having your wife hide the tea.

After hearing of all these events—and the plaintiff swore they all happened to him — Mr. Commissioner Flowers decided that "if ever there was a case of ordinary wear and tear of married life it is this."

In the witness box stood Edward George Carter, 39 - year-old unhappily married man of Dagenham, Essex. He had been married to Mrs. Mary Anne Carter, 40, for 15 years and told the court he wanted no more of it.

His wife denied being cruel. The judge agreed.

"It cannot be too firmly stated that the divorce court is not the proper place for people to come and ask for dissolution of marriage because they don't get on well together," said the judge.

Then, along with all his other troubles, the husband was assessed with court costs.

Passamaquoddy Power Project Not Practical – McNaughton

OTTAWA (CP) — Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton said the proposed Passamaquoddy tidal power project is not economically practical at this time.

DELICATE NEGOTIATIONS

Gen. McNaughton also said negotiations between Canada and the United States concerning Columbia River development are "delicate and intricate."

These negotiations were being handled by an inter-government committee and they were so important that at a future meeting of the Commons committee he would deal only with information on the Columbia gathered by engineering boards.

He said Canada is the upstream country on the Columbia but that the position is reversed on other international rivers. He would be happy if the division of benefits applied on the Columbia would apply on rivers where Canada was the downstream country.

The division of benefits of the Columbia "could be the touchstone for enormous development by our two peoples."

Gen. McNaughton said New Brunswick can't go ahead with power development similar to Beechwood on the St. John until the U.S. affords Canada storage facilities on the upstream portion of the river in Maine.

He hoped Canadian engineers and economists would be able to tackle soon studies of the power potential in the Alaska - Yukon border area.

Bjorling Suffers Mild Heart Attack

LONDON (AP) — Tenor Jussi Bjorling suffered a minor heart attack just before curtain time Tuesday night, but insisted on going ahead with his appearance as Rodolfo in La Boheme at the Royal Opera House.

After the performance, the Queen Mother received Bjorling and wished him a quick recovery.

Ireland's Big Day

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It's the great day for the Irish, all over the world, on March 17.

The feast day of St. Patrick has been celebrated for two centuries now on this side of the ocean. Observance of St. Patrick's Day was a leading purpose of the first of many Irish historical societies in Canada—the group founded in Halifax about 1786. Smaller gatherings had marked the day long before that.

The sprig of shamrock and the green tie will be worn by many who themselves are not descended from the sons of Erin, or who did not actually emigrate from the ould sod.

There were 1,439,000 people of Irish origin in Canada at the last census in 1951, and there is a steady flow of immigrants from both the Irish Republic and Northern Ireland. Irish immigrants totalled 6,398 in 1957, compared with only 1,261 in 1955.

LESS FIERCE

Church services are a prominent part of the feast day but the ancient antagonisms between Irish of opposing faiths have softened in recent years. The celebrations in the old days in Ireland saw many a head broken with a shillelagh as Roman Catholics and Protestants collided.

The life of the great missionary who became Ireland's patron saint still affords material for historical research in an attempt to reconcile various contradictions. Even his nationality has never been confirmed beyond argument—he has been called a native of England, of Ireland, of Wales, Scotland or France.

Generally, the accounts of his life suggest St. Patrick was born in England about 396 AD and was kidnapped from his father's farm as a youth by pirates who sold him to a chieftain in County Antrim as a slave.

This version holds that St. Patrick escaped to France, where he became a monk, and then went to Rome in 431.

From Rome he was sent to preach in Ireland. For the subsequent period there are solid evidences of his work. He founded 365 churches and personally baptized about 12,000 persons. The church and monastery he established in County Armagh in 444 became the ecclesiastical capital of Ireland, attracting scholars from far and wide before it ceased to exist about the 12th century.

Japanese Air Liner Collides With Jet

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese air liner, carrying 28 passengers, and a Japanese Air Force Sabre jet collided tonight on the runway at Komaki air base, in central Japan. Three passengers were reported dead and more than 19 injured, some seriously.

A spokesman for All Nippon Airways in Tokyo said a DC-3 of the line landed on the runway after a flight from Tokyo and was turning to go to the unloading area when the jet fighter crashed into its tail.

The jet went up in flames, but the pilot escaped.

No-Hitter Marks Shutout by Bucs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bennie Daniels and Jim Umbricht of Pittsburgh combined for a no-hitter Wednesday to highlight major league baseball's spring exhibition action. There was also a five - inning scoreless performance by veteran Warren Spahn of Milwaukee.

Daniels worked five innings and Umbricht four as the Pirates defeated Detroit 5-0. The only Tiger to reach base was Eddie Yost, who was hit by a pitched ball by Daniels in the fourth.

Spahn turned in his usual effective job as the Braves handed the Chicago White Sox their first defeat 4-2. In other games, New York beat Washington 1-0 in a rain-shortened encounter, Kansas City trounced Baltimore 8-1, Boston whipped Cleveland 8-2 and San Francisco downed the Chicago Cubs 7-6 in 11 innings.

The Cincinnati-Los Angeles and St. Louis - Philadelphia games were cancelled because of inclement weather.

Outfielder Bill Virdon shared the star role with Daniels and Umbricht in Pittsburgh's victory. He had a pair of triples and a single.

The Braves piled on Barry Latman for three runs in the second inning, with Red Schoendienst's first hit of the spring a part of the rally. After Spahn and Don McMahon blanked the White Sox over seven innings, Chicago collected its two runs in the eighth on doubles by Dick Donovan and Earl Torgeson and a single by Joe Hicks.

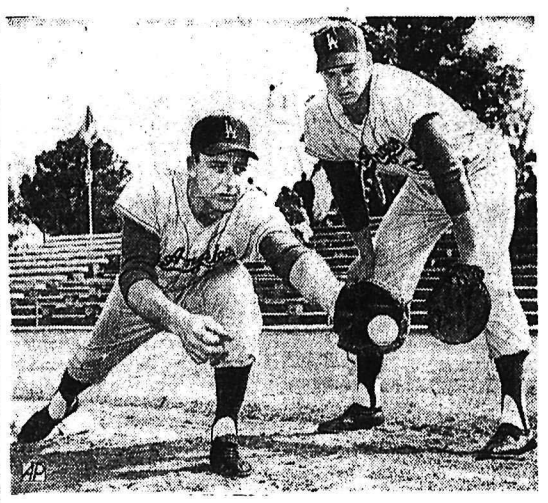
An error by Harman Killebrew, Washington third sacker, let in the only run of the Yankees-Senators game, which was called after eight innings. Jim Katt, rookie southpaw, allowed only two hits in five innings but was charged with the loss when Killebrew's wild throw and two walks brought in the New York run in the second. Johnny James, Yank right - hander, fanned seven in four innings.

THREE GIVE SEVEN HITS

Ned Garver, Bud Daley and Dick Hall collaborated for a seven-hit effort for Kansas City. Lefty Art Quirk of the Orioles was charged with the defeat.

Frank Malzone batted in four runs with three hits in as many trips in the Red Sox triumph, their fourth in a row. Tom Sturdivant, Frank Sullivan and Ted Bowsfield combined to limit Cleveland to nine hits. Walter Bond led the Indians' attack with two safeties and an RBI.

Hobie Landrith broke up the Giants - Cubs encounter with an 11th inning homer off Bob Anderson. The Cubs roughed up Ramon Monzant in the first to take a 3-0 lead, but the Giants bounced back and finally tied the game at six-all in the eighth. George Zuverink, the former Baltimore reliever, was the winning pitcher. He hurled three scoreless innings for San Francisco.



TRICKS OF TRADE. Frank Howard, right, Los Angeles rookie outfielder, watches veteran first baseman Gil Hodges, whom he will try and oust, at a workout at Dodgers' spring training camp at Vero Beach, Florida. The 6' 7" Howard was named minor league player of 1959, a year in which he slammed 44 home runs, 27 with Victoria, 16 with Spokane and one as a pinch-hitter for the Dodgers.

Tiger Floyd's Earnings Taken

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Unrated Clarence (Tiger) Floyd upset previously unbeaten Von Clay, fifth-ranking, light - heavyweight, and then had to borrow train fare home to New York.

Minutes after earning a split-decision for his greatest triumph, Floyd learned his purse of some $750 had been attached. The The fighter and his trainer were staked to train fare and a midnight snack by promoter Herman Taylor.

Taylor and Floyd wouldn't say who attached the purse or why.

"It's a personal matter," said Floyd. "Anyway," added the unemployed truck driver, "It's the victory that counts this time. The money is chicken feed. Maybe this will open a few doors."

MATTHEWS OVER GODIH

In another 10-rounder on the card, young Len Matthews won a unanimous decision over Algeria's Lahourai Godih. The Phladelphia lightweight, fourth-ranked in his division, weighed 137 and Godih 138.

While the Matthews - Godih match was billed as the feature attraction, Floyd stole the show with his stunning upset of Clay, 20. Violating all the fundamentals of boxing, he nevertheless staggered the 10-to-1 favorite in at least four rounds.

Floyd claimed he was rusty and had only two other fights in more than a year because of "a lack of willing opponents."

Floyd weighed 185½, Clay 172.

Name Tough, But Face Hard To Forget

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The name Carl Yastrzemski may be hard to spell but it shouldn't be difficult to remember.

Yastrzemski, 20, a native of Long Island, N.Y., picked up a reported $100,000 for signing with Boston Red Sox.

The young second baseman spent last season with Raleigh of the Class B Carolina League, hitting .377 in his first year in organized baseball.

This spring, Yastrzemski has has been amazing Red Sox camp followers. He'd probably stick now if he was an outfielder because the Red Sox have been weakened by the sudden retirement of slugger Jackie Jensen and a sub-par Ted Williams.

Yastrzemski came up with another impressive performance Tuesday, cracking a homer as the Sox ran their exhibition record to 3-0 with a 6-5 victory over San Francisco.

In other games on a program abbreviated by rain, Chicago's American League champion White Sox remained undefeated, blanking New York 3-0; Pittsburgh outlasted Kansas City in a 17-13 slugfest; Cleveland edged Chicago Cubs 7-5 and Cincinnati Reds turned back Baltimore Orioles 5-2 in a night game.

TI-CATS SIGN NEW CENTRE

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Football Union Wednesday announced the signing of Sean O'Brien, a Canadian centre from London, Ont.

Although only 19, the six-foot-one, 220-pound O'Brien played regularly with London Lords last year in the Ontario Rugby Football Union Senior series as an offensive centre and defensive tackle.

Alouettes Sign U.S. Import

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four Football Union Wednesday announced the signing of import Sidney Williams to a try-out contract.

Williams, a long-passing quarterback from the University of Wisconsin, was a late cut from New York Giants last year and is finishing a tour of army duty.

Italian Centrefielder Has Ball Slang Pat

NEW YORK (AP) — Italy's Mickey Mantle—a grinning, crew-cut youngster named Roberto Gandini—stopped over in New York Tuesday en route to a try-out with the Pittsburgh Pirates, and immediately passed his first baseball test.

"Kill the umpire!" he said. "Slide, durnit, slide! Hit the dirt!"

"I speak English not too much but I know all of—what you call it? — baseball slang," he added proudly. "Pretty good, si?"

"Si," agreed Gerry Coleman, Jim Hearn and Carl Erskine, three former big leaguers who were on hand to give the Italian import a welcome and a bit of sage advice.

Gandini is 21, a ruggedly built athlete of five feet-nine and 175 pounds, only son of a Milan artist. He got interested in baseball at 14 from watching American GI's and has lived and breathed the sport ever since.

Centerfielder on the Milan team of the semi-pro Italian League, he won the batting championship in 1958 with a .373 mark, slumping last year to .312. But he hit seven home runs in his team's 30 games and became the most popular player in a sport which draws little more than yawns from the soccer-minded Italians.

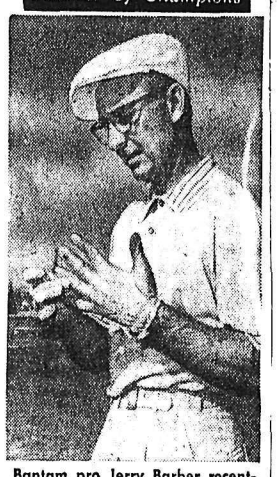
Golfing with ALEX MORRISON

Teacher of Champions



Bantam pro Jerry Barber recently won the Yorba Linda Open from a top pro field competing in rain and mud on extra long course.

GOLFERS who handicap themselves with worry over playing conditions, length of the course and competition should take heart from the latest feat of bantam pro Jerry Barber. Jerry won the 1960 Yorba Linda Open from a top field of golfing giants, including Bill Casper, U. S. Open champ; long-hitting Mike Souchak and George Bayer, athletic and victory - hungry Arnold Palmer, Bob Goalby, Julius Boros, Tom Nieporte and Dave Ragan.

The 7,203-yard, par 72, hilly Yorba Linda course plays long and difficult without rain, freezing cold or chilling winds. Due to heavy rains play had to be cancelled one day. The next day ladies tees and winter rules had to be used.

The frail looking 134-lb. Barber's rounds of 67-70-69 gave him a lead of three strokes going into the final round.

Before he started I wished him luck and added: "It would mean a big saving of your time, energy and money to go ahead and win this tournament."

"That's right," he agreed, "and a three-stroke lead could be lost on just one hole, so I'm going - to play every shot to win."

His 12-foot birdie putt on the last green gave him a winning total of 278, one stroke ahead of challenging Billy Maxwell.

Sudden Death Playoff Rule

Could the Nelson Maple Leafs have salvaged a tie if they had held off the Smoke Eater onslaught another two minutes in the overtime period in Tuesday's WIHL final series game here?

That was the question being heatedly debated by Nelson fans after the game and the answer, Walter Duckworth, Leafs' representative on the WIHL reaffirmed yesterday, is "No".

All games in the playoff series were to be played to a finish, it was decided by team representatives at a meeting in Nelson more than six weeks ago. This decision was never changed, and the ruling applied to Tuesday's game here. The teams would play till a goal was scored to end the game.

There was no authority for an announcement that the game would be left tied if no goal was scored by the end of 10 minutes, Mr. Duckworth said.

NEW YORK (AP)—The weekly Friday night radio and television fights on the National Broadcasting Company network will shift to Saturday nights over the American Broadcasting Company network, it was learned Wednesday.

As part of the shift, ABC will end its Wednesday night television fights and the Saturday night program will be the only boxing show on network television starting Oct. 8.

Lester Bromberg, boxing writer of the New York World-Telegram and Sun, wrote Wednesday that Madison Square Garden, which put on the Friday night bouts for NBC and the sponsoring Gillette Safety Razor Company, will continue to sponsor the fights both at the Garden and in other cities.

Bromberg said that Gillette also will sponsor an ABC college football television games for 1960 and 1961, and a major league baseball game of the week for either Saturday or Sunday on television.

ABC announced Tuesday that it had acquired the rights for the National Collegiate Athletic Association's football program for the next two years. No figures were released but it was learned ABC had bid $6,250,000 for the college football package, outbidding NBC by nearly $1,000,000.

The Wednesday night fights on ABC have been provided by National Boxing Enterprises of Chicago, headed by Truman Gibson and James D. Norris. Both Gibson and Norris formerly headed the now dissolved International Boxing Club which once controlled both the Wednesday and Friday night network boxing shows.

CAPETOWN, South Africa (Reuters)—Golf champion Bobby Locke played four holes Tuesday —the first golf since he was seriously injured last month when the car he was riding in was hit by a train.

Locke, four-time winner of the British Open, played with pro Maurice Bodmer, who was injured in the same accident.

Ont. Mayors Issue Flood Warnings

TORONTO (CP) — A warning of the possibility of floods when the winter's snow melts has been issued to Ontario mayors and reeves.

Planning Minister Nickle said in a letter to all the civic heads Tuesday: "Over the southern and eastern sections of the province the snowfall has been very heavy with depths of snow on the ground above the high 1959 figures.

"Water content of this snow is considerable and should there be an extended period of high temperatures or heavy rains, flooding would result in many districts."

Mr. Nickle urged the formation of local flood committees, comprising the heads of all civic departments, welfare organizations and conservation authorities.

Ten Year Search Ends for Trail

2nd Period Explosion Sinks Nelson Hopes

TRAIL—Trail Smoke Eaters ended a ten-year search here Wednesday night for the Western International Hockey League championship when they defeated the Nelson Maple Leafs 7-4 before 900 fans.

Immediately following the game, WIHL president Don McAdam presented the Spokane Athletic Round-Table Trophy to playing-coach Bobby Kromm and Smokie captain Cal Hockley.

Smoke Eaters now advance into the Savage Cup finals against the Okanagan with the best-of-seven series opening in the Okanagan centre, Monday, March 21. At present Vernon Canadians lead their best-of-seven OSHL final with the Kelowna Packers 3-2 with one game tied.

In the late minutes the game slowed down to a crawl as both teams realized the eventual end. Before the final horn had sounded fans had swarmed on to the ice to congratulate the players.

With its first Savage Cup contender within a decade only two players on the club were with the last team, coach Kromm and veteran Frank Turik.

The black and orange won the title in three straight games, winning 7-3, 7-6, 7-4.

Trail will strengthen itself with the additions of Pinoke McIntyre, Hal Jones and George Ferguson, all of the Rossland Warriors.

Leafs entered Wednesday's game minus three of their top pucksters, Hyssop, Dave Stewart and Fritz Koehle, all on the sick list, while Trail was at full strength.

Smokies continually sliced through Nelson defence sparked by Kromm and Hockley, each with a pair of goals while Ernie Secco, Howie Palmer and Ad Tambellini each tallied a single.

Nelson lamplighters were Rob Carmen, Garth Lipsack, Red Koehle and Neil McClenaghan.

Trail led throughout the sixty minutes with period scores of 2-1, 7-3, 7-4.

Coach Kromm ignited the Smokies in the second period when he scored once and set up two others as Trail broke the game wide open with a five goal outburst.

At the other end of the rink, Leafs ran into solid opposition from goaltender Seth Martin, who stopped them cold several times on potential scoring scoring plays.

Palmer opened the second at 6:45 whacking in a loose disc over a sprawled Gerry Koehle in the Nelson net.

Following Palmer's effort Trail started on a relentless attack on Koehle which paid off when Tambellini and Hockley each clicked with a marker within two minutes, to give the Smokies a 5-1 advantage.

Leafs shortened the lead when Lipsack scored immediately following a faceoff outside the Trail blueline.

A screened shot by Secco from the blueline at 15:45 restored the Smokies' huge lead.

With less than two minutes remaining Red Koehle beat Martin with a backhander from directly in front of the net but Kromm, in a scramble with 6 seconds remaining, once again gave Trail a healthy margin.

Both clubs remained scoreless till the midway mark of the third when McClenaghan shook off the bodily checking of Harry Smith, beating Martin with a 15-footer to the near side.

In the first period Trail jumped into a 2-0 lead on goals by Hockley, a tip-in, and Kromm, on a solo effort after picking up a loose puck, before Rob Carmen cut the margin with a backhander from directly in front of Martin.

Lineups:

Nelson — Goal, Koehle; defence, Malacko, Hamilton, Gare, Severyn, Gibson; forwards: Maglio, Cirullo, McClenaghan, R. Koehle, Hornby, Lipsack, Carmen.

Packers and Vernon Rule OSHL Stars

KELOWNA (CP) — Vernon Canadians and Kelowna Packers, Okanagan Senior Hockey League finalists, captured six of the seven positions on the league's first all-star team.

Results of voting by the four league coaches, released Wednesday by president Bob Gilhooley of Kelowna, placed three Canadians and three Packers on the top team and one from Kamloops Chiefs.

Only two players were members of last year's dream team — defenceman Tom Stecyk of Vernon, making his fifth consecutive team, and playing-coach Billy Hryciuk of Kamloops, gaining his fourth straight selection as the league's all-star right winger.

Gaining all-star recognition for the first time were centre Bill Jones, left winger Greg Jablonski, and defenceman Andy McCallum, of Kelowna and rookie netminder Jimmy McLeod of Vernon.

Ailing New York Yankees Begin Climb Back in 1960

ST. PETERSBURGH, Fla. — The "Old Perfessor" of the Yankees, the part - time banker Casey Stengel, is trying to find the right prescription to revive his former champions this year. From his approach to the situation in camp here, Dr. Stengel is ready with the diagnosis.

As Casey talks, and the finish last year hasn't left him speechless, one might think this was a hospital, not a baseball training camp, for Casey begins by talking about his patients in numerical order.

"No. 1," he says, "we're in good physical shape. No. 2 Skowron reported very good and he's healthy. No. 3, McDougald had the flu but he can play ball. No. 4, Andy Carey is well, thank you, and he's ready.

"No. 5" — Casey pauses "that's about our cripples. They're not crippled and not sick and I can't tell you much about our pitchers exceptin . . ."

Excepting, of course, that Casey can tell you about his pitchers, and he never stops from here on in.

* * *

"WE HAVE FORD, and he's all right. Bobby Shantz said he felt a little tickling feeling at the end of the season but he's all right," Casey rattles on.

"Now Turley, he can pitch. He said he'd try something and take off some weight. However, his arm isn't sore and he can pitch.

"Now for the rest of our pitchers. Ditmar is okay and he pitched good for us last year. Coates might become a good pitcher.

"This kid Short had the best record in the minors last year but he's in the Army yet. Grba came up last year after all our officials picked him as the one to help the club. Johnny Gabler? . . . Well, any guy who can win as many games as he did for Denver the last three years *may be able to pitch, for Den*ver's not in a pitching league.

"Then we have Jim Bronstad and that Zack Monroe might just help us. You know we have Duke Maas, too, and he won 14 games for me last year."

Casey went on and on, but a word of explanation. Short, who is ranked high, won 17 and lost six for Richmond. Bronstad was at Richmond, as was Grba and Monroe.

Casey also talked about a young reliefer, John James, also up from Richmond, and Casey commented that "if we were to play a game tomorrow, James would be in there ready to go five innings."

Outfielders? Casey says:

"We've got six of them. Some days that Mantle is amazing. Ken Hunt (up from Shrieveport) has a good throwing arm. We have Maris and he's a good hitter. He can help us win at home.

"Then we have Hector Lopez, and it's only a question of where we should play him. He knocked in 93 runs last year to lead this club so you know he can hit.

"We've Deron Johnson and he can play the outfield and infield. Frank Leja is about ready and he can hit. In the infield there's those first basemen, Skowron and Kent Hadley, and I ask you what's wrong with Hadley.

"That Brickell at short is a good one and what about Cletis Boyer? He has a good arm and can make the rouble - play. We have Elmer Valo to pinch-hit and we have Demaestri to play short and he can play it."

Bev Bell Scores Trio As Spokane Wins 6-3

VICTORIA (CP) — Forward Bev Bell scored three goals and led Spokane Comets to an impressive 6-3 Western Hockey League victory over Victoria before 2,233 fans Wednesday night.

McCartan's Magic Spell Broken by Boston Goals

NEW YORK (AP) — Boston Bruins ended Jack McCartan's almost magical goaltending spree in just 34 seconds of the third period Wednesday night. When they scored two quick goals for a 3-2 National Hockey League victory over New York Rangers.

The loss was the first in four games for the Olympic star and snapped the Rangers' unbeaten string at five.

The victory kept alive Boston's chances for a Stanley Cup play off berth. The Bruins trail fourth place Detroit by two points and both have two game remaining.

McCartan, who played his last game this season for New York, had done an outstanding job when bubble burst. After he had blocked a close in shot by Bronco Horvath, Ranger defenceman Irv Spencer's pass was intercepted by the same Horvath who fired it past McCartan at 6:38.

SECOND GOAL

Thirty-four seconds later Boston's Dick Meissner took a pass from Don McKenney and fired a 35-foot screamer that McCartan did not see.

The Olympic goaltending star was lifted with only 47 seconds left to play in favor of another forward as the Rangers tried to pull this one out. He received a rousing ovation from the Madison Square Garden crowd of 11,185.

Dean Prentice and Andy Hebenton helped give the Rangers a 2-1 first period lead while Doug Mohns scored for Boston. Mohns' goal tied the score at 17:19 of the *period and Hebenton put the Ran*gers ahead a minute later.

Horvath's goal gave him a one point scoring lead over Chicago's Bobby Hull. Chicago was idle Wednesday night.

FLASH FLOORS CHAMP 8 TIMES

MANILA (AP)—Flash Elorde, a 24-year-old Filipino who was believed nearly washed up, floored Harold Gomes eight times Wednesday night and knocked out the world junior lightweight champion from Providence, R.I., in the seventh round of a title fight.

ON-SPOT COVERAGE

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP)—The U.S. Army fired a Redstone missile Tuesday equipped with its own television station. A capsule containing a TV transmitter was parachuted from the missile as it fell toward its target and pictures of the impact and damage caused were transmitted to a ground control point.

Cheddi Jagan Optimistic

LONDON (Reuters) — A compromise solution was seen as a possibility Tuesday between demands of British Guiana leaders for immediate independence and British proposals offering less for the South American colony.

Delegates continued a detailed study of proposals made by Colonial Secretary Iain MacLeod at the conference here on the constitutional future of the little territory which has been a colony for 150 years.

The talks, which began March 7, have not yet progressed anywhere near to agreement on demands of British Guinans for full independence at once, some delegates said.

But Dr. Cheddi Jagan, minister of trade and industry and leader of the colony's Peoples' Progressive party, said he is "still optimistic that a compromise solution will be reached on all major points of difference."

NEW £1 NOTE

LONDON (AP)—A new £1 note bearing the portrait of the Queen will be issued by the Bank of England Thursday. Present pound notes carry a figure of Britannia. The new note, first in Britain since 1928, is the same length as the present one but about half in nich narrower.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Ceylon Slated For Election

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — This restive Indian Ocean Commonwealth island is slated to elect a new Parliament Saturday, but with 23 parties in the field it is doubtful that any will emerge with a clear victory.

Political leaders agree that firm and decisive government is vitally needed to tackle Ceylon's pressing economic and social problems. But they don't see much hope of a solution after a confused campaign in which 693 candidates competed.

Only the United National party of former Prime Minister Dudley Senanayake has predicted with any conviction that it will win a majority in the 157-seat house. The present prime minister, Wijayananda Dahanayake, insists no party will get more than 40 seats, thus making a coalition government necessary.

DISSOLVED PARLIAMENT

CEYLON has had no stable government since Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike was assassinated last September. His successor, Dahanayake, dissolved Parliament two months ago because of a shrinking majority and unrest in his cabinet.

Dahanayake has charged that some elements are trying to sabotage the elections, but Colombo newspapers accuse him of seeking an excuse to postpone the balloting and opponents accuse him of trying to perpetuate himself in office. However, the campaign has lacked any major issue with enough emotional impact to rally the voters.

The slain prime minister's widow, Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike, 44-year-old mother of three, has been drawing large crowds at rallies of the Sri Lanka Freedom party, which has 108 candidates in the field. She has moved audiences to tears saying her husband sacrificed his life for the nation. She asks voters to help carry on her husband's program, although a frequent charge is that Bandaranaike had no program and was only a political opportunist.

LEANS TO WEST

The UNP, which has governed Ceylon since it achieved independence in 1948, is Western-oriented and considered a party of the middle and upper classes. It has 127 candidates in the running.

Dahanayake succeeded Bandaranaike as a member of his Freedom party, but soon quarrelled with other party leaders. He threw them out of his cabinet and they drummed him out of the party. So he formed the Ceylon Democratic party, which is running 98 candidates.

The UNP, Freedom and Democratic parties are all moderately conservative groups with little difference in their policies.

The Communists have only 50 candidates.

OFFER SCHOLARSHIPS

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Australian government is offering scholarships to Canadian university students to enable them to take post-graduate studies in that country. Applications for the two-year scholarships re available from Dean Walter Gage, chairman of the University of B.C. awards committee.

Quarter of Bond Offering Averaged 50-Cent Premium

OTTAWA (CP)—One-quarter of the government's new $200,000,000 public bond offering, put up for competitive bids, sold at an average 50-cent premium over the rest of the issue distributed under firm offerings.

This was shown Wednesday as Finance Minister Fleming reported results of the bond issue announced Monday. Books closed at 8 p.m. EST Tuesday night.

The offering, in two maturities, was divided into $120,000,000 in three - year 5½-per-cent bonds, and $80,000,000 in nine-year 5½-per-cent bonds.

The government made firm offerings of $75,000,000 in each maturity to dealers, the three-year bonds at a price of $99.75 to yield about 5.59 per cent to maturity, and the nine - year bonds at a price of $97.75 to yield about 5.82 per cent.

TENDER HIGHER

The balance was made available to distributors at competitive tender, and the average price of accepted tenders was about 50 cents higher than the price of the firm offerings.

A total $44,120,000 of the three-year bonds was sold at an average price of $100.23 and $5,125,000 of the nine-year bonds at an average price of $98.25.

Proceeds of the new $200,000,000 loan and of $129,000,000 of three-year bonds which the Bank of Canada has agreed to acquire April 1 are to be used to refund in full $329,000,000 of 2¾-per-cent bonds maturing April 1.

The central bank's purchases will be in partial refunding of its holding of the maturing issue.

One feature of the three-year bonds is that holders will have the option of exchanging them on or before Dec. 31, 1962, into an equal par value of 5½-per-cent bond maturing April 1, 1976. At the firm issue price of $99.75, this would mean a yield of about 5.52 per cent for 16 years.

Convicted Man Faces More Murder Charges

DOWNIEVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Convicted of one murder Tuesday night, Larry Lord Motherwell Wednesday found himself the target of prosecution efforts to send him to the gas chamber by also proving that he murdered his second wife and defective child as well.

The 42 - year - old construction worker was convicted by a jury of murdering Mrs. Pearl Putney, wealthy 72-year-old Washington widow, in 1958 after driving her across the country on a "last fling" tour.

Shortly after the jury brought in the verdict and had been told to return Monday to determine Motherwell's sentence — death or life imprisonment—his co-prosecutors announced that they would seek the death penalty by proving that Motherwell also had murdered his second wife and their mongoloid child in Frederick, Md.

The wife, Sarah, was found floating face up in the bathtub of their apartment Nov. 8, 1953. The death was ruled accidental.

BURIED CHILD

Motherwell was left with their mongoloid child, Heather, whose body was found in a pet cemetery near Frederick Nov. 19, 1958, during the search for Mrs. Putney. Motherwell said the child had choked to death June 24, 1954, and that he had buried her in a panic.

In the month-long Putney trial Motherwell admitted he had been a liar, a con man and a lothario, but insisted he was innocent of murder.

Mr. Putney's bones were found Aug. 15, 1959, scattered along a logging road 27 miles east of here. The skull was identified through dental work.

Motherwell's defence consisted of his claim that he left her in Las Vegas, Nev., after she made sexual advances to him in a motel.

Odds... and Ends

by M. D. B.

We were commiserating with one of the printers who has to drive to Procter after his late shift, the other night when a light snow was making the roads greasy. He said that wasn't all, there were ever so many deer on the road to watch out for as well. With spring at hand and their winter feeding grounds eaten bare these beautiful wild creatures are venturing nearer civilization for food.

* * *

I had forgotten the pungent fragrance of willow until the other day when I nipepd off a few pussy willow wands growing by the wayside. No sooner had I broken the first one off than quick as a flash, the years disappeared and we were children wading in deep snow in the bush vying to see who could get the most beautiful ones. It is an exciting fragrance—the very essence of spring—warm sunlight, little streams racing downhill and best of all, the chance to get into less bulky clothes and that glorious feeling of freedom.

* * *

I still have about a foot and a half of snow in my back yard and with every snowflurry we get I despair of ever seeing green grass and garden again. The snow lady we built to greet the youngsters across at the school has melted down until only a diminutive hoop skirt is left to mark where she had been. Well, I suppose Spring is bound to come some time—it has most every other year.

* * *

A friend sent me a poem (I had read it before somewhere) but for all those who have a curler in the family I thought it worth repeating here:

"Who's the stranger, mother dear?
Look he knows us, ain't he queer.
Hush, my own, don't talk so wild,
He's your father, dearest child.
He's my father? Not at all,
Father died away last fall.
Father didn't die, you dub,
Father joined the curling club.
But they've closed the club so he
Has no place to go, you see—
Has no place left for him to room
That's why he's coming home.
Kiss him, he won't bite you child,
All these curling guys look wild."

Wheat Board's Price Decision Pleases Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—A decision by the Canadian wheat board to quote prices on all grades of wheat for export through the port of Toronto has been hailed here as a step toward balanced, two-way trade between the port and overseas countries

During the 1959 shipping season, when the St. Lawrence Seaway was opened, many overseas vessels entered Toronto with cargo and left only partly loaded because of lack of export commodities.

Now wheat will be handled at the port in a 4,500,000-bushel elevator owned by Toronto Elevators Limited, which participated in negotiations for export price listings with wheat board officials and the Toronto harbor commissioners

Wheat export prices will be quoted also for the Ontario lake ports of Sarnia, Port Colborne and Prescott. An arrangement for quoting prices at Kingston is being worked out, said chief commissioner W. C. McNamara of the wheat board in Winnipeg, and is expected to be completed in a few days.

In the past, selling prices have been quoted only for the Lakehead, Montreal and ocean ports.

TWO FOR ONE.

E. B. Griffith, general manager of the Toronto harbor commission, said that of the 713,000 tons of cargo which moved through the port last year, two tons were imported for every one exported.

A. D. Clark, general manager of the grain division of Toronto Elevators, said his company is expecting a brisk trade. Oats, barley, rye, flax and other grains would be handled, but the biggest volume was expected in wheat.

Mr. Griffiths said overseas cargo movement at the port this year was expected to be at least 1,000,000 tons.

Wheat was not handled at Toronto because the wheat board had not been requested at that time to quote prices and the Toronto Elevators' slip had not been dredged to seaway depth.

FLOOD CONTROL

HOPE (CP)—The Associated Boards of Trade for the Lower Mainland and Fraser Valley has called on the federal government to make an immediate start on Fraser River flood control. Resolution supporting a plan to install a series of storage dams on the upper reaches of the river was passed at the annual meeting here Tuesday.

Britain Would Allow Bonn To Use Rocket Range

LONDON (Reuters) — If West Germany asked for the use of the British guided missile range at South Uist, an island off Scotland, the government would "certainly give it sympathetic consideration," Air Secretary George Ward said Wednesday.

Ward told questioners in the Commons that NATO was informed last year of Britain's readiness to make the range available for firing practice. But the offer has not been taken up by any member country.

Labor MP Malcolm Macmillan said there was widespread and growing resentment at the prospect of "bringing in General Speidel's jack-booted troopers" against whom Britain was defending herself not many years ago.

Ward told another questioner: "There is no question of setting up a German base of any kind. Any foreign units which practiced at South Uist would only do so occasionally and for short periods."

U.S. Corps of Engineers Take Winnipeg Bid

OMAHA (AP) — The corps of engineers Tuesday accepted bids, the lowest from a Winnipeg firm, on more than $2,000,000 worth of equipment for the Oahe dam project near Pierre, S.D.

The largest project calls for the 10 transformers valued at approximately $1,500,000.

The low bid came from Pioneer Electric Limited of Winnipeg, which offered to supply the transformers for $1,149,316.

Second lowest bid was $1,179,195 from General Electric.

The corps of engineers district office here will evaluate the bids and make a recommendation to the chief of engineers. There was no government estimate.

Canadian Brewery Sales Increased

TORONTO (CP) — Earnings and sales for Canadian Breweries Limited for the first quarter ended Jan. 31 were up seven per cent and the best in the company's history, president Ian R. Dowie said Tuesday.

Mr. Dowie reported that, despite the increased number of shares outstanding at Jan. 31, 1960, share earnings showed an increase.

Canadian Breweries' net income for the January quarter in 1959 was $2,091,593, or 62 cents on 3,211,397 common shares outstanding.

He said the company hoped to improve its present position in Canada where it commands more than 35 per cent of the market, and looks for large-scale expansion in the United States.

Net income for the year ended Oct. 31, 1959 was $12,395,922, or $3.62 per share on 3,340,904 shares. Net sales were $333,700,000.

Find More Bodies In Holden Mine

By ROBERT E. MILLER

LOGAN, W.Va., (AP) — Until they found the first body Tuesday, searchers held some hope that the 18 men trapped in Holden coal mine 22 might still be alive.

By early Wednesday the bodies of 13 had been brought out of the gas-filled passageways, and the last wisp of hope for the others was gone.

But the search went on.

Somewhere in the dank honeycomb of tunnels were the other members of the digging party imprisoned March 8 by a cave-in and fire nearly three miles from the mine opening.

Jack Matheson, of the rescue team which found the first 13 bodies, said death by asphyxiation came early for the men.

DASH FOR SAFETY

Passing up three carved - out rooms in which they might have sealed themselves off from the deadly fumes until help came, they had dashed for an opening in the abandoned section. But there was no opening. It had been barred within recent weeks by the crumbling walls and low ceiling in that part of the mine.

"There's no doubt," said Matheson, 34-year-old former section boss of the digging, "that they've been dead since a few hours after the fire."

State and company officials withheld the names of those first found dead until all 18 could be accounted for. Among the 18 was W. K. Donaldson, 55, a company safety inspector.

Wrapped in blankets and plastic bags, the first bodies recovered were carried to the base of the 485 - foot elevator shaft and neatly aligned to await their return above ground.
