South Korea Troops Take Over Gov't

UN "Expects" Power To Be Returned to Premier Chang

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean military troops under a revolutionary committee staged a coup with flourishes of gunfire early Tuesday but United Nations and United States authorities threw strong support behind the government of Premier John M. Chang.

In their initial statements the revolutionaries under Lt.-Gen. Chang Do-young, army chief of staff, emphasized a claim that they were anti-Communist and pro-American.

A statement by U.S. Embassy Charge d'Affaires Marshall Green said the embassy supported Premier Chang's "freely elected and constitutionally established government."

The statement said Gen. Carter Magruder, American UN commander in South Korea, "expects the chiefs of the republic of Korea armed forces will use their authority and influence to see that control is immediately turned back to the lawful governmental authorities and that order is restored in the armed forces."

There was no comment from the U.S. state department in Washington on the general's statement.

Troopers backing the committee marched into Seoul in the early morning hours. There was a sharp outbreak of gunfire lasting about 40 minutes.

Unconfirmed reports said the troops had exchanged fire with police. The same reports said five or six persons—police and civilians — were wounded, several seriously.

A short time later the committee announced over Seoul Radio that it had seized power from Premier Chang, who succeeded Syngman Rhee last summer.

A later announcement said the committee had taken control of Taegu, Pusan and other major cities.

There was no immediate word on the revolt from government forces.

Chang Do-young, a professional soldier in his early 40s, was appointed chief of staff after Premier Chang took office. He held a number of front-line command posts in the Korean War.

The broadcast said he is serving as chairman of the junta's military revolutionary committee.

Other junta members were not immediately identified.

The Chang government, in power less than a year following the April, 1960 revolution that toppled Rhee, has been plagued by persistent economic instability.

The regime also ran into major opposition over some of its political policies.

In recent months there have been increasingly violent demonstrations demanding Chang's resigation.

The major outbursts were touched off by two government security measures aimed at controlling Communist activities and unruly demonstrations.

The revolutionary committee said the primary purpose of the revolt "is to correct corrupt politics and to drive out incompetent political leaders."

PREMIER UNDER GUARD

Military units took over most of the major government agencies, including the presidential palace, national police headquarters and the Bando Hotel.

Premier Chang and his wife were reported staying in the Bando hotel which was heavily guarded by troops. No communications with the building were permitted.

The U.S. Armed Forces Radio told American troops and civilians to stay in their compounds and homes.

Although Chang's majority Democratic party controls 128 seats in South Korea's powerful lower house of 233 members, it is plagued with factionalism, blocking many promised reforms.

Chang was elected premier by the National Assembly last August.

Rhee's resignation followed six weeks of violent public demonstrations against his autocratic rule. He left South Korea for exile in Hawaii in May, 1960.

Russ Threaten to Quit Test Ban Conference

GENEVA (Reuters) — The Soviet Union Monday threatened to walk out of the nuclear test ban conference and resume testing if any Western power fails to adhere to the existing three-power test moratorium.

Semyon Tsarapkin, chief Soviet delegate to the three-nation talks, issued the warning in one of the most heated sessions since the current negotiations opened March 21.

Tsarapkin charged that the recent series of nuclear tests carried out in the Sahara by France were encouraged by the United States and Britain, both of which had benefitted from the resulting information.

If the French or any other NATO power continues testing, he said, the West will be wholly responsible for the collapse of the test-ban conference.

Under such conditions, Tsarapkin said, the Soviet Union would be obliged to resume testing itself.

The Soviet delegate said he regretted the West had not paid sufficient attention the the Soviet warning about French tests on March 21. The West had closed its eyes to the tests if not actively encouraging the French, he said.

The French nuclear explosions, he said, had "flouted United Nations resolutions" and "greatly compromised" the Geneva negotiations.

The Soviet charges brought emphatic denials from American delegate Arthur H. Dean and British delegate Sir Michael Wright.

HIS OPINION

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A protest at the placing of a female in charge of the male division of the Ontario Hospital here will be made to Health Minister Dymond by a delegation from the London branch of the Civil Servants Association.

Branch president Duncan Nelson said when the former chief attendant retired recently a new position was created and filled by a registered nurse, who is senior to the new chief attendant.

C. M. Laidlaw, past president, said if this policy spreads to other Ontario hospitals there could be a number of resignations.

A male, he said, has a better understanding of the male than a female has.

DOLLAR DOWN

MONTREAL (CP)—The U.S. dollar closed Monday at a discount of 1 3-16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, up 1-32.

Pound sterling $2.76 1-16, unchanged.

U.S. dollar bid 98 25-32, asked 98 13-16.

Unemployment Up in April

VANCOUVER (CP) — There was an employment increase in most Pacific region industries during April, says a National Employment Service report.

Coast logging and sawmilling construction helped out the registered jobless, the government agency said.

Agriculture activity was improving and the demand for personnel has increased. Some improvement came from coast logging with large camps calling back crews laid off last fall. Employment in interior camps was described as still spotty.

British Columbia housing construction industry is estimated at 48 per cent ahead of last year but the activity is not confined to the Lower Mainland. Prospects are for a continued increase in jobs.

Many shipyards have sufficient orders to ensure a continuity of employment levels for several months.

Noted Sportsman Gorman Dies

OTTAWA (CP)—T. P. Gorman, a mischievous Irishman who rose from a parliamentary page boy to become one of Canada's most successful and versatile sports promoters, died Monday.

Gorman, who would have been 75 June 9, died of cancer following a lengthy illness.

Funeral services will be held Thursday with burial in Notre Dame cemetery here.

Mr. Gorman's interests ranged from lacrosse and hockey to horse racing. Until his death he was president of Connaught race track on the suburban Aylmer Road.

The last living founder of the National Hockey League, the Ottawa-born impresario managed hockey clubs to seven Stanley Cup championships — a record that has never been surpassed.

He introduced hockey to New York in the rambunctious 1920s and managed Agua Caliente racetrack in Mexico during the prohibition era in the U.S.

Vatican, Cuba Near Schism

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Diplomatic relations between the Vatican and Cuba approached the breaking point Monday if they have not already been interrupted.

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro has recalled his ambassador to the Vatican, Dr. Jose Ruiz Velasco. A spokesman at the Cuban embassy to the Vatican said "the ambassador has returned to Cuba. We do not know when or if he is coming back."

Vatican sources said the Vatican's apostolic nuncio to Cuba, Archbishop Luigi Centoz, is at his post in Havana, but that it is not known whether "he is moving about freely."

Vatican sources say Castro's recent actions against the Roman Catholic Church threaten him with excommunication, if that has not already occurred. Church law automatically inflicts excommunication on persons who interfere with a Catholic bishop.

Britain, Russia Order Talks Begin Today

GENEVA (CP)—Britain and Russia gave orders Monday night to start the stalled Laotian conference Tuesday despite a threatened boycott of the right-wing Laotian government.

An announcement by British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said the 14-power conference will begin at noon EDT.

It said individual governments participating in the conference could invite representatives from Laos to sit at the table, which meant the Pathet Lao would be invited.

"This conference is solely concerned with the international aspects of the Laotian question" the announcement said.

The announcement followed the lines of a British - Indian compromise plan, half-heartedly agreed to Monday by the United States, to permit supporters of the Pathet Lao, the right-wing government, and the Communist - backed neutralist, Prince Souvanna Phouma, to sit as equals at the conference table.

The United States stated after the announcement that it viewed the right - wing Laotian government as the "constitutional government" of Laos.

U.S. YIELDS

But, the American statement said, other delegations think it "appropriate for the conference to hear other Laotians." And the United States was anxious to find out whether "all the participants desire a genuinely independent Laos."

The right - wing Laotian delegation, however, insisted that it could not attend if other Laotian representatives were admitted on an equal basis.

Canada's External Affairs Minister Howard Green conferred with the Laotian rightists Monday but apparently could not swing them from their stand.

Green also received an unexpected visit from Indian Defence Minister Krishna Menon and was given strong support for the Canadian view that the India - Canada - Poland control commission in Laos should be strengthened to enable it to keep out arms shipments.

Green delayed his departure for home at least until Friday—he had been scheduled to go home Tuesday—in the hope that he will be able to present the Canadian position to the conference in person.

He told reporters Monday that neither East nor West can afford to be placed in the position of appearing to torpedo the conference.

Five Candidates For Byelection

VICTORIA (CP)—Nominations closed Monday for the May 29 Esquimalt-Saanich federal byelection with five candidates having filed their papers.

The four major parties—Progressive Conservative, Liberal, New Party and Social Credit — are all represented.

Also entered is a candidate of the Socialist Party of Canada.

The seat became vacant in October, 1960, when former defence minister Pearkes resigned to become B. C. lieutenant-governor. He had held the seat since 1945.

20 CHILDREN DIE OF MEASLES

MAGOG, Que. (CP) — Some 20 mentally-retarded children died in a private institution near here during the last few weeks after an outbreak of measles, The Gazette says.

The epidemic was followed by what was diagnosed as encephalitis, a brain inflammation described by one Montreal children's specialist as a rare complication.

"I'm nearly dead with anxiety," said Mrs. Lily Butters, superintendent of the Cecil Butters Memorial Home in Austin, near this community 85 miles southeast of Montreal.

Two Charged In Knifing

QUESNEL (CP) — Two Quesnel men, charged in a Saturday night fight and knifing which put Pierre Therrien in hospital in serious condition, were remanded for eight days Monday.

Held are Donald A. Kennelly, 22, who is charged with wounding with intent, and James L. Stoner, 20, who is charged as an accessory.

Escapee Adds Nine Months to Term

TERRACE (CP) — Peter William Harrison, 22, who escaped custody after being sentenced to 15 months for robbery, was recaptured Monday and nine months was added to his sentence.

He escaped custody while awaiting transportation to Oakalla prison.

He was convicted after an empty safe was found in a creek.

$30,000 Going to Doukhobor Policing

VICTORIA (CP)—The B.C. government has authorized a special warrant of $30,000 to meet police costs in the recent outbreak of bombings in the Doukhobor country of the interior.

No money for Doukhobor affairs was allowed in the 1961-62 budget approved at the last session of the legislature.

Provincial officials then hoped Doukhobors administration would not prove costly; the policy of pay-as-you-go by special warrant has been adopted instead.

An order - in - council provides the first payment under the plan this year.

Chamber of Commerce Names Kitimat Man

VANCOUVER (CP) — Don Forward, 53-year-old father of four from Kitimat, Monday was named president of the British Columbia Chamber of Commerce.

He succeeds Maurice P. Finnerty of Penticton, who now serves on the executive as immediate past president.

Vice-presidents are Ralph D. N. Stewart of Fernie.

Mr. Forward's election came at the opening day of the chamber's two-day annual convention here and climaxed years of service in boards of trade and chambers of commerce in Prince Rupert and Kitimat as well as with the provincial organization.

Other directors are John R. Morrison, Prince George, for Central B.C.; Mr. Stewart and C. W. Ramsden, Nelson, for Southeastern B.C.; Donald Bruce, Salmon Arm, and Gordon Lee, Kamloops, for Okanagan-Mainline; Stan Stodola, Osoyoos, for Okanagan-Boundary; D. M. Phillips, Dawson Creek, for Peace River;

W. C. Mearns and G.C. Parott, for Victoria; W. W. Baikie, Campbell River, D. R. Fraine, Victoria, and C. W. Laver, Courtenay, for Vancouver Island; E. R. Boyce, North Vancouver, L. W. Green, Hope and R. S. MacPherson, New Westminster, for Lower Mainland; and

Mr. Baker, J. J. Carson, F.H. Cottrell, A. D. Russell and J.L. Walker for Vancouver.

Kennedy to Meet Khrushchev?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speculation that President Kennedy may meet soon with Soviet Premier Khrushchev mounted Monday night when the Russian ambassador arranged to see Kennedy Tuesday.

Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov asked for an appointment and was given one at 10 a.m. The White House said Menshikov indicated he had a message to deliver to the president but did not disclose its nature.

Menshikov's visit will come a few hours before Kennedy leaves for Ottawa on his first state visit to a foreign capital.

9 Admitted To B.C. Bar

VANCOUVER (CP) — A total of 39 new British Columbia lawyers were called and admitted to the Bar in a Supreme Court ceremony Monday. The new appointees, from various parts of the province, were presented to Mr. Justice Brown by A. J. Cowan, QC, treasurer of the Law Society of B. C.

Parliament

The government introduced a Criminal Code amendment under which Canada would retain the gallows for "capital" cases of murder.

In effect, the Commons was told, it would be a system of defining first — and second-degree murder — with the "capital" stipulation being recognized generally as covering all murders committed with force.

Finance Minister Fleming said he does not intend to bring down his regular 1961-62 budget during May.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker promised "urgent attention" to the question of correcting gaps in Canada's readiness to meet a national emergency through civil defence preparedness.

First reading was given government legislation to increase membership in the CNR board of directors to 12 from seven.

Lionel Chevrier (L-Montreal Laurier) and Douglas Fisher (CCF-Port Arthur) accused the government of diddling and dawdling over transport problems.

Fees for High School Possibility

RED DEER (CP) — Education Minister A. D. Aalborg says the time may be coming when Alberta students will have to pay tuition fees for high school courses. He stressed that he was not saying the government had decided to charge tuition fees to high school students but was predicting that it may be necessary in the future.

Chamber Delegates Agree

Good Employer-Employee Relations Not Legislated

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Chamber of Commerce Monday modified its approach toward labor-management relations, dropping a request for so-called right-to-work laws.

Instead, the chamber stated in a policy statement issued at the opening of its annual convention, that it believes good employer - employee relations cannot be created by legislation.

The statement was adopted by the more than 100 delegates attending the chamber's annual convention.

"Improved relations between employers and employees won't be achieved by government intervention," said John Carson of Vancouver, chairman of the committee which drafted the commentary on labor-management relations.

THROUGH COMPANIES

"The improvement must come through our member companies in strong efforts towards harmonious co-operation between the employer and his employees."

Last year the chamber asked the B.C. government to prohibit closed-shop agreements — in other words a right - to - work law.

It wanted legislation which would have forbidden any trade union agreement which denied or terminated employment of an individual because he was not a member of the trade union.

Mr. Carson said the feeling now is that closed-shop agreements have been permitted by employers for years and that employers now have no right to ask that they be legislated out of existence.

INDUSTRY PROBLEM

The problem is the industry's responsibility, he said.

In the statement, the chamber makes only two requests of the government in connection with labor - management relations.

It asks that in the case of a vote to strike or lockout the date for the strike or lockout must be specified on the ballot and be not less than 10 days or more than 21 days after the vote.

It also asks that the cabinet have discretionary power to refer to arbitration any dispute which might imperil the health and safety of the general public.

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP)—Girls wearing nylon panties can cause explosions or fires, chemist J. L. Howlett told a conference of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents.

"Tests on female clerical staff wearing nylon underwear and leather shoes revealed charges of 600 volts after walking 25 yards."

Howlett suggested women working in dangerous locations should wear "conducting footwear," shoes that would dissipate the electricity as fast as the undies generated it.

BELLEVILLE, Mich. (AP)—Barney Lee, 39, became enraged when he discovered someone had broken the windows of his car at a park, police said, and:

1. Fired a 16-gauge shotgun into the air twice, panicking picnickers and bathers.

2. Then drove his car into five other autos in the parking area, causing $1500 worth of damage.

LONDON (AP)—Two generous youths loaded with boxes and parcels offered to pay taxi man Julian Orlans with 15 packs of cigarets for a five-shilling (70-cent) ride.

At retail prices, 15 packs of smokes come to 61s 3d ($8.58), so Orlans happily accepted.

As his passengers vanished into the night, Orlans had a horrible thought.

He sped quickly back to where he had picked the two men up — in front of his uncle's tobacco shop.

Sure enough, the shop had been broken into and goods stolen.

"I feel like a fool about this," Orlans said. "I wasn't suspicious at first because all sorts of people carrying parcels take taxis at night."

Uncle Hyman Rudinsky said the thieves made off with about £500 ($1400) worth of stock.

Julian returned the 15 packs to Uncle Hyman, who paid his nephew the five shillings for the thieves' cab ride.

30 Small Aircraft Coming Here For Weekend "Fly-In"

Cranbrook pilot Donald Revie will put a Royal Canadian Air Force World War II training aircraft through a series of acrobatics over the West Arm of Kootenay Lake during the airport events scheduled here May 20, 21 and 22.

About 30 small aircraft from Vancouver, Victoria, Kamloops and other B. C. centres will "fly in" to Nelson at that time for a three day holiday program and to attend the executive director's meeting of the B. C. Aviation Council.

Revie, about 50 years of age, will stunt in the well-known Harvard trainer as an entertainment event.

While the majority of airplanes scheduled to take part are light single-engine aircraft, some twin engine jobs are expected. They will land on the 2100-foot gravel surfaced Nelson airstrip and at Castlegar airport. The event is sponsored by the Nelson Pilots' Association and City of Nelson.

Charles Estlin, president Nelson Pilots' Association, and the Queen City service clubs will play a part in the welcome program and as hosts to the visiting pilots.

Thirty-one air cadets of Nelson Squadron No. 561 Royal Canadian Air Cadets will help park the aircraft. They will line the aircraft up just off the airstrip.

BUSY PROGRAM

Program of events for the pilots, their families and friends, includes a banquet and ball scheduled to be held in the Nelson Hotel Saturday night. Also planned are a barbecue, coffee party for the ladies, boating, pancake breakfasts, golfing and airport events.

Business meeting of the executive directors is due to begin at 9:30 a.m., Sunday, in the Nelson Hotel.

B. C. Aviation Council has arranged security for aircraft here and at Castlegar. If bad weather clouds the skies, the light aircraft will proceed to Castlegar. From that point, transportation will be provided to the Queen City of the Kootenays.

North Vancouver headquarters for the BCAC prepared and sent to all members a map of the City of Nelson showing the location of the air park landing strip and all hotel and motel accommodation.

Ronald Grant, president of the B. C. Aviation Council, and Leslie Brice, general manager, both of Vancouver, will preside at the business meeting of the executive directors.

Although over 70 years of age, Mr. Brice still flies his aircraft regularly as a licensed pilot.

Headquarters for those arriving by air, will be the Okanagan Helicopters hangar at the foot of Hall Street. Registration will be held in the hangar.

Henry Stevenson, secretary of the Nelson Pilots' Association, said Monday there is a possibility an ancient antique aircraft dating back to the 1920's, will fly to Nelson from Spokane for the meet.

Air trip from the coast to Nelson by light aircraft takes from two to three hours. Nelson pilots hope to set up a radio contact here but have not yet had the idea approved by the Department of Transport.

Piper Clippers and Cessnas belonging to the Nelson pilots number seven. There could be as many as 40 light planes circling over Nelson the weekend of the "fly-in."

Snow Cover Still Heavy

The weather in most parts of the province was normal during April, states the Snow Survey Bulletin of the Water Rights branch.

Mean monthly temperatures were within one or two degrees of average. Rainfall was average in all regions except at Prince Rupert. Runoff was below median in the extreme southeastern part of the province, above median in the Columbia Basin and excessive in central regions.

The usual decrease in water equivalents is reported. The May 1 snow line was near the 3500 - foot level in East Kootenay and near 2500 feet in West Kootenay and Columbia.

Relatively high flows were caused on major rivers by April temperatures during the first half of the month, tapering to lower than usual stages by the fourth week.

If May and June weather follows the average trends, the remaining mountain snow should be depleted without high flows. A prolonged period of sustained melting could produce high flows.

At low levels in the East Kootenay region, mountain snow is comparable with that generally prevalent near May 1. At levels above 4000 feet, the snowpack is heavy.

Heavier than usual snow cover is present throughout the West Kootenay. Above average May 1 water equivalents exist.

NEAR AVERAGE

Snow course measurements along the Columbia River watershed show water equivalents at approximately their May 1 average.

The Columbia spring and summer water supply is expected to follow this snowpack pattern.

The mean monthly discharge of the Columbia at Birchbank, for which a 47-year record exists was 38,100 second-feet, or 110 per cent of the median of 34,600 sec.-feet.

Maximum daily discharge was 43,300 sec.-ft., compared with 93,900 sec.-ft. in 1943. The minimum daily discharge was 32,000 sec.-ft. compared with 10,200 sec.-ft. in 1917.

Mean monthly discharge of the Kootenay at Wardner, for which a 46 year record exists, was 2900 sec.-ft., or 71 per cent of the median discharge of 4100 sec.-ft.

The maximum daily discharge was 3430 sec.-ft., compared with 34,300 sec.- ft. in 1934. The minimum daily discharge was 2120 sec.-ft. compared with 800 sec.-ft. in 1914.

Talking Rock Gets Fast City Action

A huge boulder perched precariously on a slope near the corner of Park and Carbonate Streets hospital area was dynamited and removed by city work crews Monday morning, but only after its message got through to city hall.

Neighbors in the area were fearful of the rock breaking loose from its perch in the bank about 10 feet up from the road because of heavy erosion on the slope due to recent rains.

They called city hall, the city works superintendent, public works department, to remove the boulder. No action.

To get their message through to city hall, they painted in white these words on the rock Friday night: "Come and get me, Shorthouse," then added in red and black paint with a skull and crossbones the words: "I could kill."

City police investigated trouble Saturday night and asked for immediate action by the public works to do away with the talking rock.

Monday morning its message got through and city crews swept up the pebbles and rubbish of the once defiant boulder.

Mrs. Halstead Of Salmo Dies

Mrs. Helen Agnes Halstead, wife of Donald William Halstead of Salmo, died suddenly in Kootenay Lake General Hospital Monday morning, aged 33 years.

Born in Poland in 1928, Mrs. Halstead came to Willingdon, Alta., with her parents in 1929. Her father was a harness maker for a time in Willingdon. She moved to Kimberley with her mother in 1947 to join her father, where he had moved to work in the Sullivan mine.

She was married at Kimberley in 1947 and continued to live there until coming to Salmo last October.

Besides her husband, she is survived by one son, Mark, at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marchin Pawelek of Kimberley; two brothers, Stanley of Waterways, Alta., and Joseph of Camrose, Alta.

Rotarians See Baseball Film

Nelson Rotary Club members at the regular meeting Friday viewed highlights of the 1960 world series baseball through the medium of a 40-minute color motion picture projected by T. G. J. Whitehead, National Film Board area representative at the Hume Hotel.

A number of slow-motion shots showed Rotarians that big league umpires seldom make a wrong call.

Rotarians were treated to the story of how the Pittsburgh Pirates came from behind to a 10-9 victory over the New York Yankees in the final game of the world series.

Centre of attention in the final game was stocky second baseman Billy Mazeroski. His home run blast in the ninth inning won the ball game for the Pirates' owner John Galbreath.

The film showed Whitey Ford, great Yankee pitcher and Harvey Haddix, the Pirates' lefthander who picked up the victory in relief.

Billy Verdon, fleet-footed centre fielder who made several dazzling catches in the series, beamed with pride as he accepted congratulations.

It was a triumph for the Pirates after 35 years of bitter frustration.

G. R. Norris thanked Mr. Whitehead on behalf of the Rotarians.

Nude Parade At Krestova

About a dozen Doukhobor women and two men paraded nude through Krestova Sunday afternoon for two hours after having burned clothes, jewellery, lipstick and cosmetics.

The paraders carried signs proclaiming to all Doukhobor women who wanted to be true Doukhobors that they must do away with English clothing and jewellery.

The parade that started about two o'clock was entirely peaceful according to police.

No Sign Of Brenda

INVERMERE — More searchers scoured the bush for Brenda Byman, 12-year-old Wilmer girl who has been missing for more than a week, over the weekend, without success.

While rumor, upon rumor, swept through the Windermere Valley, the people who have refused to give up the search pressed on with the job.

Rescue crews from the Cominco plants and mine at Kimberley were joined by about 50 Seventh Day Adventists, who were holidaying at Fairmont Hot Springs.

NEARLY 3 INCHES OF RAIN IN MAY

May was a lovely month for ducks up to this week.

Nelson's total rainfall from May 1 to May 11, as measured by the Nelson Weather Station, stands at 2.88 inches.

The month started out wet with .42 inches measured May 1. May 4 and 5 were wet days with .39 and .42 inches respectively, measured.

Five days of this last week saw a total of 1.15 inches of rain dumped on Nelson's gardens.

Nelson Man Completes Survival Test

LT. P. M. STEVENS

RCAF STATION NAMAO, Alta. —Lt. Pierre M. Stevens PPCLI, 27, of Nelson, B. C., has successfully completed the RCAF Survival Training Course at Edmonton and NWT.

The three-week course was designed to teach students how to keep themselves alive and well in the event of a crash or forced landing in the wilderness.

Theoretical studies were completed at Edmonton and Lt. Stevens then went to the Rockies foothills for 10 days, living only in parachute teepees and brush lean-tos as shelter while surviving on emergency rations. The last week of the course was spent living in an igloo on Cornwallis Island, NWT. Instructors, including an Eskimo resident of Cornwallis Island, taught survival skills throughout the course. Subjects included signalling search planes, emergency shelter construction and living off the land techniques such as netting fish, trapping and snaring.

On completion of the course, Lt. Stevens returned to his base at Rivers, Man., where he is employed as an adjutant pilot, at the Light Aircraft School—Joint Air Training centre. He enlisted with the Army in October, 1954 and after training served at Camp Borden, Ont., Toronto, Germany, Victoria, Vancouver, Centralia, Ont., and at Rivers, Man.

Lt. Stevens was born and educated in Nelson and went to school at Nelson Junior and Senior High, and Notre Dame College, Nelson. His parents reside at 213 Mill Street.

Alderman Quits Council Chamber

Simmering animosity of the past erupted at a special meeting of city council Monday night which saw the city alter its civic renovation plans for city hall, museum and library sites.

Charges of personalities, suppressed by the placing of power into the hands of the Citizens' Committee at the last December civic election, were forgotten and more direct insinuations were used by aldermen.

Alderman Edith Van Maarion sparked the rhubarb by questioning the integrity of Ald. W. K. Massey. Receiving no apology from Ald. Van Maarion, Ald. Massey left the council chamber, bringing Mayor T. S. Shorthouse into the fray to trade sniping remarks with Aldermen J. S. M. Harts, J. W. McClelland and Van Maarion. Ald. B. C. Affleck remained out of the sniping and Ald. F. A. Beresford had left the meeting prior to the explosion.

Prior to this, council had decided to approve recommendations of city hall renovating committee on renovating the old post office building for municipal purposes. The recommendations saw a large chop in the proposed $70,000 renovation project outlined at the last regular council meeting by Trail architects Smith and McCulloch.

Also prior to a special "in committee" meeting of council, Ald. Affleck indicated that the proposed controversial mezzanine for the library quarters in the Civic Centre building had come to a standstill. It was also learned that the Kootenay Museum Association will probably be housed, or its equipment stored, in the former hostel for aged men "indefinitely" until a new location for the Kootenay Museum Association can be found.

When discussion of the library mezzanine, originally intended to house the museum, was brought up with representatives from the Civic Centre Commission, Museum Association and Library Board, Ald. Harts immediately moved that the topic be discussed "in committee" over the objections of Mayor Shorthouse, who asked for an open meeting.

Ald. Van Maarion supported Ald. Harts, stating that originally the intention of council was to meet as a committee of the whole with the representations.

No report was made following the "in committee" meeting but from discussion prior to it, it appears that the present Civic Centre structure is not strong enough to house a mezzanine, and at this time it is not economically feasible to strengthen it.

As both the library and museum need more room, Ald. Affleck, who proposed the mezzanine plan, said this purpose would be defeated under the present plans.

"The present plans do not allow for any further room," he said. "We can not give them more room because of the weakness of the material."

Amongst the city hall renovating committee recommendations was one that the museum people vacate their present premises on the second floor of city hall building by June 15.

Ald. Van Maarion stated that she had taken some association members through the hostel with the purpose of acquainting them with it as future quarters for their museum. She said that they seemed to favor the idea of setting up quarters there.

Among other recommendations for the city hall renovation was temporary disbandment of the $10,000 air conditioning units, electrical changes be kept to minimum and to be done by city staff, and changes in the interior physical renovations. (These will be dealt with in greater detail in Wednesday's paper.)

What prompted the outburst of suppressed bitterness was discussion on the purchase of a city advertisement in a Celgar special edition to be jointly published by the Nelson Daily News, Trail Daily Times and Castlegar News.

DEMANDS APOLOGY

Ald. Harts quickly said that he was against such an undertaking by the city but Ald. Massey disagreed and expressed a desire to see such an undertaking.

"I am sure if Ald. Harts had been in favor of it you would have been against it," remarked Ald. Van Maarion.

"That is an insulting remark and I demand an apology," retorted an angered Ald. Massey.

"I do not intend to give it," retorted Ald. Van Maarion. Ald. Massey then left the council chambers

"You should be ashamed," Mayor Shorthouse began to chastize Ald. Van Maarion on her conduct. Ald. Van Maarion, supported by Ald. McClelland, stormed back about parliamentary procedure, and said that the mayor should not lecture her from the chair. If he intended to do so, he should leave the chair to make his remarks.

Both aldermen questioned the right of the mayor to chastize her, declaring he himself had been wont to outbursts in the council chambers while serving as alderman. At one time he allegedly called then Ald. C. E. Bradshaw "a doublecrosser," they claimed.

The words, "Let's be fair," rang out in the din and the mayor snapped back, "I have heard that all the time I have been in this chair."

"You shouldn't have run for that chair if you didn't want the responsibility," retorted Ald. McClelland.

The latter triggered the final outburst on the subject by recommending adoption of Ald. Harts' expressed wish, supporting his stand by referring to Celgar's policy on such matters.

"For professional reasons you are not going to support it," hotly questioned the mayor.

"Aw! You're nuts!" exclaimed Ald. Harts, who said that Ald. McClelland was not supporting it because of professional reasons.

Ald. Harts' recommendation that the city not purchase an advertisement in the tabloid was approved.

Trail Lawyer Asks Council for Petitions

Organized opposition against amalgamation came out of the shadows Monday in the person of Trail solicitor Richard D'Andrea.

Stating that he represented a certain group in Nelson, Mr. D'Andrea asked Ald. Edith Van Maarion if he could have photostatic copies of the petitions circulated in the three fringe areas last month, council learned Monday night.

Rumors that an Upper Fairview group was attempting to launch an injunction against the proposed amalgamation of Upper Fairview, Rosemont and South Nelson with the city have been circulating for the past ten days.

Ald. Van Maarion asked of council that it pass a motion requesting that Mr. D'Andrea write, naming the group he represented, for permission for access to the petitions whose names are currently being verified by City Clerk C. W. R. Harper.

Council was not in favor of such a move but also stated that Mr. D'Andrea would not be allowed to see the petitions until they have been certified by Mr. Harper.

The matter was referred to the city solicitor for advice.

At the same time Mr. Harper said that the signatures of residents on petitions of Upper Fairview and South Nelson have been verified and certified. Rosemont petition is still being checked.

Council also gave final reading to bylaw 1311 authorizing submission of the boundary extension vote to the municipality.

A motion that the vote take place on June 2, polling booths to be located in the Armory, and that city clerk Harper be named returning officer was also passed.

Youths Fined on Liquor Count

A Castlegar youth, R. M. Metalini, a minor, appeared in both provincial and city police courts over the weekend, to face charges involving liquor.

In police court Saturday morning, Metalini, along with minors Peter Lebedoff and William Goldsbury, both of Castlegar, were each fined $15 and costs by Magistrate R. S. Nelson for being unlawfully in licensed premises.

Metalini was fined $50 by Stipendiary Magistrate William Evans in provincial court Monday when he was convicted of having beer in his possession.

Also in provincial court, Andrew Boolinoff of RR2 was fined $5 when he pleaded guilty to driving a vehicle which did not have an outside mirror.

R. G. Weaver of Mountain Station paid $5 fines to charges of driving without licence plates and driving without a licence.

BLAST REPORT FALSE ALARM

RCMP of the Nelson detachment inspected railway tracks and power lines at the west end of the Canadian Pacific Railway yards from 2:30 a.m. until 5 a.m. Saturday but were unable to find a reported explosion.

CPR employees called police after hearing an explosion at 2:05 a.m. Three CPR men, including Charles Maglio, heard the blast and also told police they smelled burned powder.

RCMP checked the area but found nothing.

Rec Folder Presents Summer Recreation

Nelson residents, and summer visitors, have a ready reference to summer playground programs this season.

Nelson Recreation Department program, which came off the presses recently, presents the entire summer schedule in handy form.

The large folder, about 12 by 19 inches, is printed in brown letters on yellow-buff stock.

Layout of the inside cover is distinctive. The 1961 summer playground program, which opens Saturday, July 1, with "Playground Opening Day," is listed along with playground special highlights.

Programs of "Play-for-Fun" softball, Babe Ruth Baseball, "Sandlot Baseball," Junior Baseball, Senior Citizens, Water Ballet, Swim Team, Family Swim Nights, and Swim Gala are part of the design.

Lakeside Park and the Lakeside Swim Beach are written-up briefly as is the Water and Boating Safety Week.

The public swim schedule for Lakeside Pool is listed, and the "Learn - To - Swim" program is adequately covered.

EVENTS SHOWN

The 1961 summer events in the Queen City of the Kootenays include the mid-summer bonspiel, Nelson School of Fine Arts, Ymir Sports Day, International Ice Hockey Clinic, St. Paul's-Trinity "Mayfair," B.C. Aviation Council "Fly-In," B.C. Elks' Convention, "Amateur Night," Mount St. Francis "Open House," B.C. Credit Union Convention, Films Under the Stars, and the Fall Fair. Dates and places are listed on the program in order of occurrence.

Brief write-ups are devoted to mid-summer baseball league and tournament, private splash parties, soccer, senior baseball, arts and crafts shack, public speaking course, lifesaving courses, girls' and women's play-for-fun softball league, golf, and special events.

The Nelson Recreation Department offers a planning and picnic equipment lending service as one of its many services. Any responsible group or organization, at no cost, can borrow game equipment and also obtain suggestions for planning picnic games and programs. A minimum of two days' notice is necessary when requesting picnic game equipment.

TO BROADCAST CONCERT

Recordings of the 30th anniversary concert of the Studio Boys' Choir held at Nelson Saturday will be broadcast over CKLN tonight.

The recordings will be heard on the weekly program, Fleming Presents, at 6:30 p.m. In this program Ross W. G. M. Fleming, pioneer resident of Nelson, conducts historical interviews, tells oldtime stories and presents local highlights such as the concert to be heard tonight.

Trail Air Cadets Win Events Here

Trail air cadets won shooting and bowling competitions in an inter-city meeting at Nelson Sunday afternoon.

Flight-Lieut. Robert McBain, commanding officer of the Castlegar cadets, and Flight-Lieut. Howard Ross, Trail commander, brought 16 cadets from each squadron to Nelson to vie against 16 Nelson cadets.

The mothers' auxiliary served pie and coffee at the Legion building following the matches.

Hospital Trees Again Attacked by Vandals

Vandals' attack on boulevard trees for a second time has frustrated efforts of the hospital board to beautify approaches to View Street. Police are continuing enquiries in the neighborhood to uncover information on the damage.

Two years ago, when the boulevard of Chinese elm and flowering crab trees was planted, a similar attack destroyed the beautification effort. The trees were replanted and were in the second year of growth and giving promise of real attraction when destroyed again.

Last fall, one of three matching scarlet maples on the hospital grounds and some variegated maples on the east side of View Street approach were also slashed. Only one of these trees has been replaced by a discouraged landscaping committee.

"This senseless damage seems the work of an unhappy mind," a committee member said Sunday. "The trees can do nothing other than make the area more pleasant. They interfere with no one's view, nor traffic.

Damage to the boulevard plantings since they began has amounted to over $200 in value. This is the more regrettable since the money for this program is donated, much of it by members of the hospital's staff. The particular boulevard plantings most recently damaged were provided by a hospital employee as a memorial to a parent."

Students Blocking Roads to Be Hailed Into Court

City Police Chief Robert Harshaw Monday gave school students of Nelson their "last warning" in regards to walking on city streets, coming and going to school.

Chief Harshaw said that many students have been warned by police not to walk on the streets and to use the sidewalks, but the warnings have had little effect.

From now on, students who disregard the warnings will appear in city court before Magistrate R. S. Nelson to explain the situation.

Juvenile Placed On Probation

A Nelson juvenile involved in a recent car theft was placed on probation for 12 months by Juvenile Court Judge William Evans Monday.

His two Nelson cohorts, also juveniles, will be sentenced at a later date.

The three on May 1 stole a car from Nelson and were later picked up in Penticton and returned to Nelson for trial.

Films Shown MHA Meeting

A series of films on different aspects of mental health will be shown by the Nelson Branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association.

At the May meeting last week, it was decided that the first film will be presented June 6 when members will see a patient entering a mental hospital and will follow his treatment until his discharge.

In the fall, films are planned demonstrating the work done by out-patient clinics which are especially needed in the Kootenays.

The membership drive which began in Mental Health Week will continue throughout the month of May.

Camp Administrators' Course Featured in Nelson Workshop

Kenneth Spence, president of the British Columbia Camping Association, will be in Nelson Saturday and Sunday in connection with a camp administrators conference being offered at the Recreation Workshop.

The workshop is sponsored by the department of education, community programs branch.

R. J. McKeen, regional recreation consultant, said representatives from the 17 church and scout camps in the Kootenays are being urged to send representatives.

Counselling, programming and administration will be covered in the two-day session at Nelson Junior High School.

A camp fire will be held at Lakeside Park Saturday night.

Information on the workshop is being made available at Cranbrook and Nelson offices of the community programs branch.

Another feature of the event will be a course in operation and maintenance of swimming pools.

Dr. J. B. Newton, director of the East Kootenay Health Unit, will head the discussions and demonstrations in construction, sanitation and safety. This course is of special interest to public and private swimming pool owners and those who plan to build a pool.

Other courses will be in recreation and parks administration, playground programs, swimming instructions for teachers, lifeguarding, and, in addition to camp administration and programming, family camping.

Arson Charge Heard At Spring Assize

CRANBROOK — The spring assize opened in Cranbrook Monday with Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan presiding.

Initial case was that of Regina vs Ralph Goralski of Fernie. Goralski is charged with arson following demolition of a house in Fernie by fire.

Michelangelo Provenzano is prosecuting the charge on behalf of the Crown and Hislop and McKay are representing the defendant.

The morning was occupied with selection of the jury and initial witnesses were heard during the afternoon session.

Boswell Property Changes Hands

BOSWELL — The property recently owned by Dr. V. Murray of Creston has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Fawcett who with their three children intend to make it their summer home.

Mr. Fawcett is a teacher on the Wynndel school staff.

BOSWELL COUPLE GUESTS AT KCRA MEETING

GRAY CREEK — Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pryke of Boswell were guests at the monthly meeting of the local branch of Kootenay Courts and Resorts Association which met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hellman.

Mr. Pryke will go to Spokane for the Sportsmen's Show to represent this part of Kootenay Lake. He will take a 17-pound Rainbow trout and colored slides of the area.

Reports of several excellent catches have come in lately. Floyd Oliver, Mrs. Clifton Derbyshire, Billy James and Fred Wacheck are among the lucky ones.

PENTICTON (CP)—A link with the Penticton area's early history was broken Saturday with the death of Warwick Arnott, 74. Born in England, he came here at 17. One of his first jobs was driving the horse stage from Penticton to Oroville, through the then-bustling mining town of Fairview.

Slocan Valley Men Complete First Aid

SOUTH SLOCAN — After three months of intensive training in Industrial First Aid, a class of 14 men from the Slocan Valley is prepared for examinations to be held in Nelson and Passmore.

The examination will be in three parts, the oral part will be conducted by Dr. J. C. Carpenter, the written part and the practical tests will be carried out by a First Aid Inspector from the Workmen's Compensation Board.

The instructor for the course has been J. A. Street of South Slocan.

Most of the men will be trying for a "B" Class certificate in Industrial first aid, which is valid for two years.

Men completing the course are as follows: Fred Bojey, Peter Chernoff, Mike Chernoff, George Doi, Larry Doi, William Dunnett, John Fominoff, Mike Kabatoff, Peter Kinakin, Peter Poohachoff, George Swetlikoff and James Andrew Savinkoff, Art Stach, Varney.

On the final night of instruction, the men presented a gift to Mr. Street.

NEW FRUITVALE MINISTER TO ARRIVE JULY 1

FRUITVALE — St. Paul's United Church in Fruitvale has called the Reverend John R. Herdman to be new minister, commencing his pastorate July 1. Mr. Herdman has been serving Enderby Pastoral Charge.

Mr. Herdman is a graduate of Union College of British Columbia, being ordained in 1955. He served three years at the Indian Village of Bella Bella on the coast, and three years at Enderby. He was also chaplain of the Legion at Enderby.

He is the son of the late Rev. Joseph Herdman, who was the minister of several congregations in the Kootenay in the early days.

Mr. Herdman brings his wife Jean, a son, Wesley, age 5 and two daughters, Fern, age 3, and Dale, age 3 months. They are boating and camping enthusiasts.

Mr. Herdman enlisted in the army in 1944. He served with Signals and the Infantry. He received his discharge in 1946. Before enlistment Jack worked in Vancouver and returned there after discharge.

Parents Role in Education Topic

SOUTH SLOCAN — Speaking on the parents' role in education schools superintendent Charles Cuthbert addressed the South Slocan School and Community Club at its meeting in the elementary school.

The club will operate a refreshment booth at the sports day for elementary schools on May 26. Mrs. W. Conkin is the convener for this. Transportation will also be provided by club members if necessary.

One application for the scholarship had been handed in.

Mr. Cuthbert discussed certain aspects of the Chant Report. Schools are more concerned with the mental development of children but these are physical and psychological needs that are the responsibility of the parents, he said. Parents should assist their children to set realistic goals and to achieve them, should teach independence and let them make their own decisions in choosing a vocation.

Parents can help their children develop a healthy attitude towards school and should take a great deal of interest in their education, the superintendent declared.

A question and answer period followed Mr. Cuthbert's address and refreshments were served.

Penitentiary Employee Caught With Drugs

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — John Ashcroft York, 55-year-old B.C. penitentiary employee, was convicted in police court Monday of illegal possession of narcotics with intent to traffic in them. He will be sentenced May 23.

York, a vocational instructor was charged after being found in possession of heroin inside the prison March 8.

Police testified York told them the package containing drugs was for a friend.

But York said in court he was suspicious of the package he had agreed to bring into the prison for an inmate and had planned to turn it over to officials when he was arrested.

Helicopter Picks Up Injured Forestry Man

INVERMERE — After rescue by helicopter, an injured B.C. Forest Service man was resting in hospital at Invermere Monday night.

The Okanagan helicopter piloted by Jim Grady and mechanic Jim Thacker arrived early in the morning near the spot where Adolph Jede, 20, of Wynndel had slipped and fallen from a rock bluff. He was lying surrounded by sleeping bags and fellow members of the forestry crew, who kept vigil by the injured man through the night until help arrived.

Jede's companion, who was working with him at the time of the accident, crawled down the 35 feet of cliff to the injured man and then ran for help. Dr. J. E. Taylor of Golden was called and the helicopter picked him up at Invermere at 6:30 a.m.

The men who stayed with Jede all night carried him half a mile on a stretcher which was then strapped to the helicopter and lifted into Invermere.

He was suffeirng from extensive bruises, scratches and shock but it is not thought his injuries will prove serious.

The accident occurred in the Horse Thief Creek area.

AIR FREIGHT RATES REVISED

MONTREAL (CP) — Airlines flying transatlantic routes reached agreement Monday on what the International Air Transport Association called "a new and drastically revised pattern of cargo rates."

IATA, trade association of the airlines, said the new rates provide "substantial reductions" in the cost of air shipment across the Atlantic.

Many Details in Sawmill Transfer Near Completion

CRANBROOK — Silver Ridge Sawmills Ltd. is nearing completion of its transfer out of city limits to its new 130-acre site just southwest of city limits on the east side of Lake Elizabeth. City limits extension in 1955 brought the plant location, which is between Seventh and Ninth Avenues and just south of Fifth Street, within the city and during the interval new housing has completely surrounded it.

New location has been levelled, graded and gravelled and offers almost twice the space of the old location. On this site a large galvanized iron building has been completed which will house the head-saw edger, automatic cutoff saw and trimmer tables. Sawdust blower will pipe the fuel sawdust to the northwest corner of the yard and an automatic wood fuel conveyor will also terminate there as yard headquarters for the firm's fuel business.

The planer in use at the former yard is going out of service and the company is bringing an electrically operated planer from Edmonton by truck this week for installation.

In approximately two weeks, the company expects to go into production at the new yard. At present it has a small reserve of contract logs, but will be logging on its own limits in Perry Creek area as soon as woods dry out. Truck approach to the new location will be by way of the South Ward Road from the highway. Additional yard space will allow larger log reserve for the mill and also area for yard drying of lumber. Silver Ridge office on Seventh Avenue will be last part to transfer to the new location, probably before the end of the month.

Company president and general manager is Vincent Downey, vice-president and millwright in charge of constructing the new plant S. G. Shypitka, Sr., with D. J. Downey as secretary-treasurer.

Future development plans for the abandoned site in city limits are of considerable interest to the city. Its owner is Mr. Shypitka, and nearly three years ago Warners Holdings, Ltd., of Calgary and Vancouver obtioned the area and announced plans for a shopping centre. Option renewals eventually lapsed, but the issue is not yet considered closed.

The yard is in the exact centre of the area of concentrated housing development since 1955 with NHA homes, a new elementary school, children's park and a church in its immediate vicinity, and almost no residential lots now available around it.

Shavings piles which loomed have been burned and levelled and final lumber piles are now being shipped out.

Fruitvale Legion Attends Honor Roll Unveiling

FRUITVALE—Royal Canadian Legion Branch 196 and Ladies' Auxiliary attended a recent evening service at St. John's Anglican Church to unveil an honor roll of those who served in the First and Second World Wars from the Anglican parish.

Legion president H. Redding unveiled the honor roll. Rev. D. N. Robinson read the roll call of those inscribed and two minutes silence was observed, followed by Reveille and the Last Post.

Flagbearers were A. Toupin, D. Haines and Mrs. I. Barlock. The service was well attended by branch members and Ladies' Auxiliary.

Property at Halcyon Bought By Coast Couple

NAKUSP — Word has been received concerning the recent purchase of the famous Halcyon Hot Springs property by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Massie of Victoria.

The property was owned formerly by the late Brig.-Gen. F E. Burnham, and is situated on the Upper Arrow Lake.

RCMP Sergeant Receives Honor At Investiture

Admitted to the grade of Serving Brother, RCMP Sgt. Donald H. Pye of North Vancouver, formerly of the Kootenay district, was invested at a ceremony of the St. John Ambulance Association at Government House in Victoria.

Sgt. Pye has served with the RCMP in Cranbrook, Nakusp and Salmo. Hon. George R. Pearkes, lieutenant-governor of British Columbia, made the investiture, conferring on Sgt. Pye the office of Knight of Grace.

The ceremony was rich in centuries-old tradition, the principals garbed in mantles of the order. Col. A. G. Cherrier of Ottawa, executive commissioner of the Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem, was director of ceremonies.

Kootenay Lake Road Widening Goes Quickly

BOSWELL — There are big changes taking place in No. 3 highway between Boswell and Twin Bays; the face of 7½ miles is changing fast.

Some of the bad bends are blasted daily and instead of blind corners, auto drivers are getting long views ahead. There are favorable comments on this much-needed road improvement and widening.

This project is expected to be continued until heavy traffic hinders the work crews too much.

Justice Comes First

However deeply we may all be concerned by the latest acts of terrorism, and however much they may excite our indignation, we should strive to maintain a balanced attitude towards our fellow citizens of the Doukhobor sect, and the Sons of Freedom in particular.

There are many high principled and excellent citizens in the group, who are revolted by the excesses of a few.

It is noteworthy that there is apparently no religious issue behind the bombings, which strongly suggests that the terrorist of today is one who loves violence for its own sake. He now seems an outcast among his own people.

To find and bring the terrorists to justice is the aim of the police, but that should in no wise limit the rights of Canadian citizens. We agree with Attorney-General Robert Bonner when he says of the proposals to impose restrictions on persons of Doukhobor origin that it "is alien to the concepts of the teaching of citizens' civil liberties in Canada".

We should be concerned first of all with maintaining justice. Nothing in the present situation calls for the suspension of the rights and liberties of innocent individuals who are Canadian citizens. We strongly insist that the police continue to search for the terrorists, and we should not hamper them with unwise criticism.

It is reassuring to see that the Association of Kootenay Municipalities at its meeting at Marysville Saturday struck a balanced attitude toward the situation, rejected a resolution calling for restrictions on movements of members of the sect, and called for an immediate conference on Doukhobor problems.

Fluoridation Gains Support

The report of a special committee on fluoridation of communal water supplies appointed by the Ontario government in 1959 was submitted to the Ontario government a few weeks ago. After hearing evidence from many sources over a period of many long months the commission endorsed fluoridation, without qualification, rejected all arguments as to its problematic dangers and recommended that legislation be passed permitting municipalities to commence fluoridation by virtue of municipal bylaw without the necessity of a referendum.

It is to be expected that this most exhaustive of reports will have repercussions, not only in Ontario but indeed in all of North America and throughout the world. Fluoridation has already been endorsed by the World Health Organization and by many scientific bodies throughout the world.

The position of governments which hesitate to put into effect the conclusions of scientific bodies is easily understood. Governments in democratic countries retain office because they are elected. However sound may be any proposition, if the electorate is uneducated as to the virtues of any proposal thrown into the arena of politics, they are likely to suffer at the next election.

However, there are some measures which are and should be decided without the intervention of the voters. For example, salt for human consumption is now iodized by law to prevent goitre. This is true because of a decision made by the Dominion government as the result of sound advice from valid medical sources. Similarly Vitamin "D" was added to Canadian bread without asking the electors to make a decision on a subject about which the average voter knew very little.

A referendum on a subject such as fluoridation is just about as ridiculous as asking for a referendum as to whether a dangerous tiger should be disposed of when it is already killing women and children. Caries or tooth decay is a menace to the health and life of people — children and adults alike. It is to be hoped that municipalities, generally, will pass the necessary bylaws to institute fluoridation of water supplies at once. To waste public money on futile plebiscites is senseless. However, one cannot deny that there are thousands of people who know very little about the dangers of caries or the value of fluoridation. For these a continuous campaign of education is obviously desirable. "Where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise" and it was ever thus. The value of spending money on health education is hardly realized yet by either governments or people generally. It is so much easier to spend more and more money on hospitals for people who should not be ill and too much on charities to help people who should not be poor.

Almost four times as many people are drinking fluoridated water now as did so five years ago. In Canada as a whole, the population affected by fluoridation has increased by 980,000.

Toward 'Compact' Meals

Time was when the American breadwinner coming home to dinner had put in a day clearing timber or puddling iron. He was ready to stow away a considerable pile of groceries with a view to providing energy for another day.

Not all jobs have been reduced to button-pushing, but enough of a change has taken place to be reflected in American eating habits. With the growth of population, the main increase of food consumption has been in such ethereal items as lettuce and grapefruit rather than lard and potatoes.

One sign of these times is an item on some chain restaurant and hotel dining room menus which offer a glass of calory-counted liquid, garnished with a stalk of celery and a couple of slices of cucumber.

Where eating places have made a reputation for hearty food in ample portions, it is hardly to be expected that they will risk queries of "You call that a steak?" by turning teashoppe. But viewing the trend toward lighter occupations and statistics on the rising proportion of senior citizens — whose fuel intake does not have to be what it was when they were riding herd on a growing family — there is a place for a certain number of restaurants whose appeal rests not on quantity of food but tastiness.

No Place to Hide

The notion has been pretty general in the layman's world that ulcers are seriously affected, if not caused, by tensions of present day life, not the least of which is the constant rubbing of elbows with other people.

Now come stomach specialists to forecast, however, that when man soars into space he won't be able to escape the ailment. The stress of "aloneness, loneliness, boredom" will be too much for his stomach to bear.

Evidently there is no place to hide from excess acidity.

F. B. Pearce Writes

Just when the parent begins to hope that the adolescent fever has ebbed and the child has become reasonable he finds that a new problem and a new worry has arisen — what the child intends to do when he leaves school.

Report From Victoria

By HON. W. D. BLACK,
Provincial Secretary,
Minister of Municipal Affairs,
Minister of Social Welfare.

Recently statements and criticisms have been made concerning the textbooks and courses being used and followed in our schools.

Hon. L. R. Peterson, Minister of Education, while recently commenting on such criticism stated that some of these reports have been based upon complete misinformation, which has led to considerable misunderstanding and has given the impression that nothing is being done.

The Minister went on to explain that, in actual fact, textbook selection and course revision work has been a continuing concern of his Department. Pertinent studies are, and always have been, an essential part of curriculum improvement.

Thirteen committees representing over one hundred teachers, principals and University personnel are at present engaged in curriculum and textbook revision. Some of the work these committees are pursuing at present are: "Better dictionaries are being selected and will be prescribed on the free and rental textbook plans; revisions in courses and texts for secondary-school English are being made; special courses in the field of chemistry, physics and biology are being developed with the assistance of representatives of the Science Department of the University; new textbooks are being selected for elementary arithmetic and mathematics and priority will also be given to curriculum studies in reading and writing."

Within the last two years, three new social studies textbooks have been authorized for elementary schools. These are recent publications written by Canadian authors for use in Canadian schools. Also, a new Latin text written by two Canadian authors has just been authorized to replace a text written in the United States.

Selection committees are instructed to give priority to those texts written and published in Canada. However, in certain cases, suitable texts have not been available and steps have been taken to revise the best texts to be found for the purpose.

Steps are also being taken to give more encouragement to the preparation of textbooks specifically designed for use in British Columbia schools. In the past, two general science texts have been authorized which were specifically written for the course. Next year, it is hoped that authorization will be given to a new guidance text written by two British Columbia authors to replace the Canadian edition of an American text now in use.

In concluding his comments, the Minister of Education emphasized that it should not be assumed that the Department is unaware of the need for better texts. The present texts, that are in use, are the best available and, in actual fact, are not nearly as inadequate as they are sometimes reported to be. Far more books are now being written and published in Canada and, other factors being equal, they will definitely receive preference for future textbook selection.

He is surprised to find that the boy would like to leave school and go to work. He is inclined to think that this is because of the lure of high wages. Fundamentally this is not true. The boy at sixteen thinks he is a man and wants to assume the responsibilities of manhood. This is another device by Nature to separate the child from his parents, so don't be too hard on him but bear with him patiently.

At this age he cannot look ahead and does not see the pitfalls which life has for those who are imperfectly educated. If it is at all possible persuade him to stay at school and take his junior matriculation, for with that certificate he can always go on to university at any time in the future.

He may not want to go on to university and unless his grades have been consistently good he should not be forced to. Your ambitions for him may not necessarily be the best thing for him. He may prefer working with his hands and a good trade may be just the thing for him, but please understand that apprentices also need brains. Your boy may have to work hard with his studies if he is to be successful.

But whatever he does, keep insisting that junior matriculation is important. I am not a believer that university is essential for everyone, but junior matric is in itself a standard greatly respected by all employers. It is a handy thing to have in the bag when meeting employers.

Girls are different. They seldom fuss about leaving school but they are quite happy if they can leave at the end of high school. Some of course, and they are the lucky ones, know what they want to do. One of my friends is determined to be a scientific crime investigator and is making her way through the science courses at university. Others will be happy to be nurses or stenographers and some are content to be nothing in particular and hope to get married.

They are probably all quite right with their choices but where the parents should insist on junior matric for the boys they should insist that the girls get some definite profession before they get married. Death comes to some husbands when they are young and the widow who has been a nurse or a stenographer has no fear of the future. She can always support herself.

To both boys and girls I would like to say that they should take their young years and try to do everything well. It is the preparatory period for the middle years of responsibility. It is important to build up a solid foundation for the future when they in turn will be raising families and will encounter the same problems as their parents.

Ministers Plan GATT Meeting

GENEVA (Reuters) — Plans for a meeting of trade ministers of the 38 member nations of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) were on the agenda as the organization's 18th conference opened here Monday.

Other items of business for the five-day meeting included proposals for offering aid to newly-independent states which ask for advice and help in preparing their commercial and customs policies.

The session will also set up a working group to review the continued application of article 35 of the GATT constitution by several countries in their trade with Japan. Under this article a GATT member can be exempted from extending most - favored-nation treatment in its trade with another member.

American Judge Testifies Against Adolph Eichmann

JERUSALEM (AP) — An American judge testified Monday that Hermann Goering and foreign minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop told him Adolf Eichmann was a main cog in the Nazi program to exterminate Europe's Jews.

Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court told the Eichmann trial court the defendant even carried his program into the allied prisoner of war camps.

Musmanno testified on the basis of information he collected as a judge at the Nuernberg war crimes trials and as an interrogator for the U.S. Navy during the first Nuernberg trial in 1945-46.

Reporting on his interrogation of top Nazi officials after their arrest, Musmanno told the court:

EICHMANN BLAMED

"Goering said he was not aware that the program of Jewish extermination had reached these reported proportions. The persons most responsible were Hitler, Goebbels, Heydrich and Eichmann."

Asked if anyone else mentioned Eichmann, the judge replied:

"Yes, Ribbentrop said he resented very much Eichmann's interference in his ministry of foreign affairs. He said also he was very sorry that Hitler had put so much authority into Eichmann — into the program of Jewish extermination."

Musmanno told Hans Frank, Nazi governor general of Poland, "decided to wade in blood no longer" and complained to Himmler. The judge said Frank was referred "To Eichmann."

Musmanno is ranked as one of the outstanding experts on the history of the Einsatzgruppen "death commandos" who operated on the eastern front.

Defence lawyer Robert Servatius objected to Musmanno as a witness, contending that a judge could not tstify on questions he had decided himself in a trial.

STATES OBJECTION

"This witness was not in Germany at the time," the lawyer said. "He is not a Jew and not concerned. He acquired his knowledge only later and therefore his testimony is not acceptable."

Servatius added that documents were available on all points on which Musmanno was to testify and that documents were "preferable."

Attorney - General Gideon Hausner in reply said Eichmann's superiors no longer are alive and "therefore, it is very significant to hear this witness who conducted a lot of investigation into the matter."

Hausner said Musmanno, while a U.S. Navy commander, had questioned Goering, Kaltenbrunner, and Ribbentrop, all top Nazis hanged at Nuernberg.

After an hour-long consultation with his two colleagues, presiding Judge Moshe Landau ruled Musmanno's testimony would be admitted on information relating to Nazi's now dead and material he obtained in interrogation of Nazis still alive.

HITLER ENRAGED

Musmanno said he had a long talk with air force Genl Karl Koller, now dead, who stayed with Hitler in his Berlin bunker almost to the last minute. From Koller he learned that Hitler raged over the Allied bombings and demanded all Allied fliers captured be shot.

Cooler heads objected to that but Eichmann insisted that fliers of Jewish descent be liquidated, Musmanno said. Koller told him others managed to foil Eichmann by shifting the prisoners around in the camps.

Musmanno told the court he also questioned Walter Schellenberg, intelligence chief of the Nadi security police, who told him that after the assassination in 1942 of Nazi security police chief Reinhard Heydrich, there was "an interim during which Eichmann ran his office with completely free hands."

DOMINATED PROGRAM

"When Kaltenbrunner (Heydrich's successor) took over, he was reluctant to limit the authority of Eichmann. Thus Eichmann continued to dominate the entire extermination program," Musmanno said.

Musmanno called the Einsatzgruppen organization a slaughterhouse on wheels and said it was "staffed by Himmler on recommendation of Eichmann, Stahlecker, who was a friend of Eichmann, and other Einsatzgruppen leaders."

Musmanno said the name of Eichmann was mentioned a number of times in the Einsatzgruppen trial at Nuernberg over which he presided but conceded he did not refer to Eichmann in his written judgement in the case.

"The Einsatzgruppen was strictly a project of the Reich security head office," said Musmanno, "and Schellenberg said that Eichmann as chief of the Jewish affairs section supervised and directed the activities of the Einsatzgruppen.

Death Sentence Appeal Refused

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada dismissed an appeal Monday by Louis Baldwin Fisher, 25, of Toronto against a murder conviction for the knife-slaying of a Scarborough, Ont., woman June 10, 1960.

Fisher, scheduled to be hanged June 27 for the murder of Mrs. Margaret Bennett, 31, previously lost an appeal against his conviction in the Ontario Appeal Court by a 3-2 decision.

Man Held 22 Years for Crime He Didn't Commit

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A man who spent 22½ years in prison for a crime it appears he didn't commit says he doesn't hold any grudges but admits he thinks he "got a raw deal."

Dave Webb, alias Joe Thompson, was freed from Indiana State prison Saturday night after the victim he was charged with raping told a Muncie, Ind., circuit court:

"It was a negro, not a white man, who assaulted me." The court was hearing Webb's writ of error petition when she made her statement.

Webb, who is white, was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1938 on charges of raping a six-year-old girl.

Now 43, Webb says he received a degree in law while in prison and wrote his own writ of error appeal after he had been denied hearings several times before. The appeal paid off last September, when the court decided to review the case.

Webb admitted he was "a pretty wild man" when he arrived in Muncie at the age of 19. "But I never committed the crime I was sent up for," he contended. "I was railroaded into prison because I refused to get out of Muncie."

TRIAL UNFAIR

Webb said he thought his trial was unfair for several reasons.

For one thing, he commented, the victim was never put on the witness stand. Her parents, who had known Webb, testified they thought it was Webb who raped their daughter, but didn't know for sure.

When Webb's wife came to Muncie, she was jailed before and during his trial and told to "get out of town and stay out."

She remarried while Webb was in prison.

Webb's court-appointed lawyer was not present at his arraignment, did not confer with the prisoner before the trial nor advise him of his rights, and did not cross-examine any state witnesses, Webb said.

Recalling his trial, Webb said it lasted only 10 minutes and the jury deliberated only three minutes before convicting him.

Webb came to Knoxville Sunday to spend Mother's Day with his mother, Mrs. Gussie Webb.

Bomb Threat on Statue of Liberty Phoney

NEW YORK (AP) — Police headquarters put harbor, bomb and waterfront detective units on alert early Monday after receiving a report that the Statue of Liberty "will be blown up in four hours."

The report, telephoned by an unknown male voice to The Daily News and relayed to police headquarters, came at 3 a.m.

At 5 a.m. the police announced they had completed a search of the statue and surrounding Liberty Island and found nothing. The alert was called off.

Challenge Diefenbaker On Trading Stamp Problems

OTTAWA (CP) — In a brief to Prime Minister Diefenbaker, the supporters of trading stamps Monday challenged as "abusive allegations" the opposite view presented to the government in March by the Retail Merchants Association of Canada.

The 54-page brief, presented by Gerald Trottier of Ottawa, supervisor of Loblaw Groceterias Company Limited, J. P. Beaudry, president of Beaudry Groceterias, Montreal, and Jack Lippett, owner of the Rideau View I.G.A. store of Ottawa, recommended that the government bring its 1905 stamp legislation "into step with modern merchandising methods."

The case for trading stamps is supported, the brief said, by 8,519 independent retailers who operate only one store each, 234 Canadian companies who supplied the goods redeemed with stamps, and the 1,626,000 consumer involvements that have resulted in redemption of premiums.

It requested the government "search for advice from the most learned before it considers the allegations of the most vociferous."

RECOMMEND STUDY

To this end the brief recommended that a committee of economists and statisticians study the question.

If such a study supports the view that trading stamps are a legitimate form of sales promotion, the government should amend "outdated restrictions with respect to place of redemption, and property in redemption merchandise."

Under present legislation, stamps can only be redeemed for premiums in the store where they were issued.

The brief stated there was no proof that the use of stamps by retailers results in a proportionate rise in the cost of merchandise.

The brief also claimed the trade in stamps stimulated employment and industry in Canada to the tune of $9,500,000 in 1960. It said 234 firms and thousands of their employees benefited from the increased production.

Bob Hope Honored By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Moments enriched by humor are moments free from hate and conflict, and therefore valued by mankind," said a Senate resolution Monday proposing a gold medal for comedian Bob Hope.

The resolution, prepared for introduction by Senator Stuart Symington, (Dem. Mo.) on behalf of 97 senators, cited Hope's "countless miles of travel around the globe" to entertain American troops.

"Another less known side of Hope's life," Symington said, is that "for many years, quietly but consistently, this American has been engaged in a career of good works." Symington said Hope has appeared in nearly every state on behalf of charitable, civic and philanthropic groups.

Hamburg Court Rejects Grand Duchess' Claim

HAMBURG, West Germany (Reuters)—The Hamburg civil court Monday rejected the claim of Anna Anderson to be the grand duchess Anastasia, the only surviving descendant of the last Russian czar and heir to the czarist millions.

The decision ended a 3½-year case in which 61-year-old Mrs. Anderson maintained she had escaped when the czar and all his family were murdered during the Russian revolution.

The court said that after considering the evidence it had decided that Mrs. Anderson's claim to be Anastasia was unfounded.

Mrs. Anderson said she survived when the czar and his family were shot by bolsheviks in 1918, and was the only surviving member of the Romanov royal family.

The Hamburg hearings were the latest in 40 years of legal moves over the Romanov estate, said to run into millions of dollars.

Chinese Reds Ordered to Leave Uruguay

Montevideo, uruguay (AP)—Three Communist Chinese agents were ordered to leave Uruguay within 24 hours. The action came as reliable sources reported the government may soon demand that Communist countries slash the big staffs of their embassies here.

Interior Minister Storacce Arrosa described the three Communist Chinese as agitators after they arrived here Saturday from Havana allegedly carrying large quantities of propaganda pamphlets in their luggage.

Communist China has no diplomatic representatives in Uruguay, but the Soviet embassy here has a staff of 80.

Antony Sets New Mode

LONDON (AP) — Antony Armstrong-Jones appears to have set a new style for male dress at formal balls.

Princess Margaret's husband turned up at the annual Pied Piper's Ball Thursday night in black tie and single-breasted tuxedo.

So did nearly every other man at the party. It was the first time in the history of the annual Pied Piper's ball that the men have appeared in anything but white tie and tails.

Gossip columnists suggested Armstrong-Jones prefers tuxedos because men are expected to wear military medals and decorations with tails. He was kept out of military service by polio.

At Thursday night's ball, Princess Margaret wore a long, loose fitting gown—so loose that it once more caused whispered speculation that she may be expecting a child. Old friends of the princess, said however they had nothing to suggest the princess might be on her way to becoming a mother. Margaret and Armstrong Jones have been married a year.

Mrs. Harry Acres was ticket convener, Mrs. L. R. Burton in charge of hall arrangement and Mrs. J. P. Rivers, vice-president, was music convener.

Nurses From Nelson, Kootenay District Graduate at Victoria

Nelson and Kootenay District nurses received their diplomas and pins at the 59th annual commencement exercises of St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing May 7 in the Royal Theatre in Victoria.

Among those addressing the graduates were Lieutenant-Governor George R. Pearkes and Dr. R. L. Wiggins, president of St. Joseph's medical staff. Miss Margaret Carol O'Neill gave the valedictory address and the invocation was given by Rt. Rev. G. O. Penfold. Chairman was R. P. Strickland, chairman of St. Joseph's Hospital board of management.

Dr. E. N. Boettcher, medical superintendent of St. Joseph's, presented the graduates, and diplomas and medals were conferred by Mother Mary Angelus, provincial superior; Sister Mary Ann Celesta, administrator of St. Joseph's Hospital, and Sister Mary Ronalda, director of the School of Nursing.

Music was provided by the concert orchestra and by the student nurses' glee club, directed by Ralph Reading and accompanied by Sister Mary Germaine.

Among those receiving awards was Miss Dorothy Hogan of Fernie.

Other nurses in the graduating class from Nelson and district are Miss Lynneth Rose MacKay, Miss Elena Elizabeth Paine and Miss Nina Relkoff, all of Nelson, Miss Relkoff being a graduate of the School of Radiography; Miss Carolyn Rose Desharnais and Miss Sharron Ann Liebscher, both of Cranbrook.

A reception for parents of the graduating class was held at the nurses' residence following the commencement exercises.

Shirley, Taghum Nursing Service Topic WI Meet

Establishment of a nursing service in the Shirley and Taghum districts will be discussed at a meeting to be held in Shirley Hall Thursday, Granite Road Women's Institute noted at its meeting last week.

Held at the home of Mrs. G. R. Pickering, the meeting was attended by 12 members and three visitors, who heard also the report on a recent West Kootenay Women's Institute District conference, held at Slocan City, presented by delegate Mrs. W. Anderson.

Activities of the Nelson branch of the Voice of Women were detailed by members Miss Vera Holliday and Mrs. J. L. Owen.

The Institute spring tea will be held at the Shirley Hall May 27, and arrangements were made for convening the event.

Tea hostesses were Mrs. John Doerksen, Mrs. E. Ironmonger and Mrs. Pickering.

Physiotherapist Takes Soroptimists On Tour of Morocco With Slides, Talk

The Nelson Soroptimist Club was brought close to the people of Morocco through a vivid description of the country and populace presented by Miss Ruth McKinnon, Nelson nurse recently returned to Canada after spending several months in the North African area.

A physiotherapist, Miss McKinnon was sent to Morocco by the International Red Cross to assist in rehabilitation of several thousands of Moroccans struck by poisoning. She spoke at the Soroptimist Club's dinner meeting, held in the Silver Room of the Hume Hotel.

The hospital where she worked was located at Fez, a city of 300,000 people and the centre of refinement and culture of the Arabic world. The city remains today as it was in the eighth century, the nurse told her audience. The populace includes Arabs, Israeli and a few Europeans.

She traced the history and background of Morocco, and the Soroptimists enjoyed the rare feeling of hearing first hand of conditions in a country existing much as it did in biblical times.

Miss McKinnon illustrated her talk with colored slides, showing Arabs in their flowing native costumes, narrow streets and ancient, thick-walled stone buildings, always cool in the extremely warm climate. The city is situated in a mountain range and water from underground streams is plentiful there. Miss McKinnon said she found the people most courteous, many of them Moslems and family life being all-important. She enjoyed many trips throughout the area, including the Sahara desert.

President Mrs. M. G. Jemson conducted the meeting which was attended by 17 members and four guests. Mrs. John Nicol introduced the guest speaker, who was thanked by Mrs. Helen Butling for sharing her experience with the club members.

District Meet Elects Mrs. Merriam President of East Kootenay Institutes

INVERMERE — Five Women's Institutes of East Kootenay's six were represented at the annual district conference held at Invermere. Their delegates re-elected Mrs. Frank Merriam of Wynndel as president for a second term and Mrs. C. R. Cotton of Creston as secretary-treasurer.

Vice-president is Mrs. E. C. Letchner of Grahamere and directors are Mrs. Baher of Fernie and Mrs. A. Marzke of Lister.

In attendance was B.C. president Mrs. R. Partington of Francoise Lake and Mrs. Clyde B. White of Nelson, a provincial director.

Representatives were from the Triangle Women's Institute at Waldo, Grahamere and Rooseville, Creston, Wynndel, Windermere district and Lister-Huscroft. Arrow Creek was the unit without representation.

Winners of the district handicraft competition were Wynndel, first, and Lister, second. Third prize went to Windermere. The competition was marked on articles made from a flour sack, a stuffed toy and a pair of knitted socks. The quality of the work was considered excellent by the judges, Mrs. Partington and Mrs. White.

The conference was opened with an official welcome from Mrs. W. H. Lloyd, vice-president of the Windermere district unit, acting in the absence through illness of the president, Mrs. Louis Newhouser. The financial report was given by Mrs. Heem, district secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Partington, bringing greetings from the provincial board, addressed the meeting on the "splendid accomplishments of WI groups throughout the province." She said Women's Institutes have launched countless activities for the welfare of their communities and have established a reputation for supporting provincial projects of value to women and children by strong co-operation and determination.

Mrs. White spoke on co-ordination between provincial and district institutes and also of the federal board on which she has served. The conference supported a resolution which originated in Crawford Bay and which was reworded at the meeting, asking that the provincial government take a direct part in sponsoring, maintaining and operating waste disposal grounds in unorganized territories

Your Individual Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your oulook is, according to the stars,

For Wednesday, May 17, 1961

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Strengthening Mars aspect now promotes your versatility, your especial type of enthusiastic energy and desire to achieve high aims. Just allocate matters rightly; conserve, too.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Mixed influences. Be careful what you choose, how you react to decisions, authority, where you place confidences. A few snags, but your pleasant disposition can overcome these.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Be in concord with true, proper forces and just measures, and day will please you. Results can be multiplied through use of your innate cleverness backed by integrity.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Satisfactory elements, but some less propitious ones, too. Following thoughtfully duties and obligations you will gain, remain happy, but witless digressions will displease.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Personal demeanor and attitude, constructiveness of plans and work interests will direct this day and balance of week. Be surefooted, soundly cautious; have facts.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Consent to another's wish where it will make for harmony and does show merit. More heads than one acting for good of all make for best all-round results. Look for intrinsic values.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — One of those if-you-really-are-careful-you-can-have-really-good-returns days. More than one way to reach your quota, but never take the uncertain or accept the conniver's.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — You are never happy with an unproductive day, but some annoyingly slow days and periods are good for quieting us down, for reviewing, regrouping our forces. Think!

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Jupiter urges your best foot forward to conquer qualms, misgivings and lack of sufficient incentive to make today the progressive and stimulating one it should be.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Don't be caught between two fires. Stand pat on principles; forget unpleasantness for the many wonderful things there are in God's great universe. Shop for the real values.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Entering a new phase; yields should increase, but you may have to dig a little harder. Perseverance, patience will pay. Effectiveness with quiescence, abiding faith!

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Strategic time for headway in surgery, dentistry, useful travel, assisting worthy causes, technical achievement of various kinds. Show your talents with your usual finesse.

YOU BORN TODAY come from Taurus, with a hint of oncoming Gemini. Versatile, eager to learn and know more aobut life, people, many things. Could become a capable teacher, lawyer, physical instructor, research analyst, writer, social worker, entertainer. You will probably never be happy unless doing one job thoroughly and also carrying an interesting leisure time activity. It is important not to waste free hours in unworthy associations, or with idle pastimes, some may include strong indulgences: Too rich foods, intoxicating liquids, overexertion are enemies. Pray daily; build your spiritual strength. French Begin Plan For Better Athletes

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

If Prime Minister Diefenbaker and his cabinet got past the front and editorial pages the other day and peeked at the sports news, they might have gulped at a yarn from Paris.

It spelled out an ambitious $280,000,000 five-year plan aimed at turning Frenchmen into better athletes.

Diefenbaker and his right-hand men, of course, can say something along the same lines. All they have to do is point to a paragraph in the speech from the throne last Nov. 17 that said:

"You will also be asked to consider means of encouraging the youth of Canada in amateur athletics."

Good. But if they don't get around to this fairly soon, Canada is likely to drop right out of the bottom of the unofficial Olympic points standings.

In the Summer Games at Rome last year, for instance, Canada managed one second-place silver medal by the University of British Columbia eight-oared crew. This was the worst showing by a Canadian team in Olympic history.

The throne speech was made six months ago and a few million words have been bandied about the House of Commons and Senate since then. But amateur sports officials are waiting for MPs to sit down and thrash out the problem of getting young guys and gals to participate in amateur sport.

Maybe the prime minister and his aides have already discussed this little item. It's speculation, but a hint of this was made a few weeks ago in Toronto when starry-eyed amateur officials whispered to reporters to "watch for an announcement from Ottawa." They're still watching.

Political reporters say Parliament may be prorogued early in July. It's likely the question will be introduced before then and, in the event MPs missed the Paris story and need some ammunition to fire at the government, here's what it said:

A bill was introduced for a total outlay of $280,000,000 over the next five years with the state picking up a little more than half the tab. Local government and private groups will foot the rest.

It called for 90 new stadiums, 210 swimming pools, more than 1,000 athletic fields, 933 gymnasiums and a long list of "diverse" installations. The thing came to a head when sports writers and fans screamed about France's dismal showing in the Rome Games when the team managed only two silver and two third - place bronze medals.

FRENCH PRESS PROGRAM

The assembly committee on cultural, family and social affairs gave unanimous approval to the bill and said:

"Whether we like it or not, physical education and sports are henceforth an obligatory part of a program of health, work, studies and military life."

Hear, hear, said Jim Worrall of Toronto, president of the Canadian Olympic Association. "I am very impressed with the French government's report," he said in an interview.

"We in Canada have no reason to be proud of, or even complacent about, our showing in international sport generally and the Olympics in particular. Relatively, we did not do as well as France in the Games in Rome.

"But that isn't the fault of our athletes. I think the emphasis must be on government support —not only federal, but provincial and municipal as well—to provide facilities and trained leadership to improve the standards of physical fitness of the population as a whole, not merely to produce star athletes. Canadian youth has the potential but must be encouraged and developed . . .

"This has become too big a job for the small army of volunteers who for years have been struggling to keep amateur sport alive. What is required now is government assistance to provide the necessary leadership for over-all physical fitness."

Are you listening, Mr. Diefenbaker?

Buchanan Wins 10-Mile Race

MONTREAL (CP) — Bob Buchanan, of Hamilton, Ont., Saturday won the Canadian championship 10-mile race here, winning handily against a field of 15 competitors from Quebec and Ontario.

Buchanan covered the distance in 53:13 minutes, well ahead of Orville Atkins, of Toronto's East York track club, who was second with a time of 59:39.

Roland Michaud, of Mount Royal Francs-Amis athletic club, was third in 1:00:17.8.

63 Eligible For Queen's Plate

TORONTO (CP) — Sixty-three Canadian - foaled three-year-olds are eligible for the 102nd running of the Queen's Plate at New Woodbine race track June 17.

A Jockey Club announcement said Monday the 1¼-mile race will have a gross value of $70,995 if 12 horses start. The owner of the winning horse will receive more than $45,000 in addition to the Queen's gift of 50 guineas and a $5000 gold cup to be presented by the Jockey Club.

Windfields Farm's Victoria Regina, strong favorite for the $25,000 Canadian Oaks, is a likely starter and there are 13 other eligible fillies.

The last filly to win the plate was Canadiana in the 1953 running at Old Woodbine.

The field is top-heavy with Ontario-owned horses, with three eligibles owned in the United States, five in Quebec and three in Western Canada.

All three Western Canada eligibles are from Alberta: Cathy Yates and Maggie Yates named by Mrs. W. J. Yates of Calgary, and Literary Award owned by Lucien Maynard of Edmonton.

Aussie Cricketers in Sight Of Second Victory of Tour

LONDON (Reuters)—The Australian cricketers were in sight of the second victory of their tour of England Monday at close of play on the second day of their match against Surrey.

Surrey, who followed on, were only 27 runs ahead at the close, with seven second innings wickets down. Replying to the Australians' first innings 341 for seven declared, they totalled only 161, then lost seven for 207 in their second innings.

England captain Peter May, Mike Willett ad Ken Barrington were the only Surrey batsmen to put up any show against thee Australian attack. May made 58, run out, in the first innings and was 26 not out in the second when he retired in order to avoid aggravating a slightly pulled groin muscle.

Willett hit 42 and 55, and Barrington, after a first innings failure, redeemed himself with a score of 43 in the afternoon.

Other close-of-play scores:

Glamorgan 129 and 111; Yorkshire 158 (J. Wilson 62 not out) and 83 for 5. Yorkshire won by 5 wickets.

Middlesex 205 and 32 for no wicket; Oxford University 393 for 5 declared (D. Worsley 139, Nawab of Pataudi 144).

Essex 276 and 50 for no wicket; Lancashire 327 (G. Pullar 88, P. Marner 44, K. Grieves 78).

Gloucestershire 241 and 187 for 6 (D. Carpenter 66); MCC 199 for 5 declared (A. Phebey 103).

Sussex 261 and 77 for 3; Cambridge University 273 for 9 declared (J. Brearley 73, R. Jefferson 53 not out).

Hampshire 350 for 7 declared and 42 for no wicket; Northamptonshire 291 (R. Subba Row 64, J. Williamson 75).

Nottinghamshire 280 and 182 for 8; Derbyshire 152.

Kent 325 and 43 for 2; Worcestershire 242 (D. Richardson 59).

Warwickshire 265 and 271 for 5 declared (K. Ibadulla 68, M. Smith 82); Somerset 148 (R. Thompson 5 for 56) and 42 for 2.

Breaks Record

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Tim Kennedy, 10-year-old Hamilton Aquatic swimmer, beat both the Ontario and Canadian records in his heat of the boys 10 and under 100 yards individual medley event during an Ontario Swimming Championship meet here Saturday.

Competing in the final indoor championship meeting of the season, Kennedy was clocked 1:23.4, beating the Ontario record of 1:26 and the Canadan mark of 1:30.2.

He won the final in 1:25.3.

Harvey To Stay With Canadiens

MONTREAL (CP)—Doug Harvey has decided to remain with Montreal Canadiens for another season rather than accept a playing-coach post with New York Rangers, Frank Selke, managing-director of Canadiens, announced Monday.

The 36-year-old all-star defenceman has been with Canadiens for 14 seasons.

"As a result of his decision he will be back in our lineup next fall as playing captain," said Selke. Harvey sat beside him while the announcement was being made.

Harvey went to New York Friday for discussions with officials of Rangers, interested in getting him in a player-coach capacity. On his return, Harvey went fishing to consider his future. Today he called on Selke to inform him of his decision.

Shopping for a new car? Be sure you slip into this one before you put your money down.

It's the new VW Custom Model. The best value ever offered, even by Volkswagen.

What's new about it? The engine for one thing. It's got more power to push you up hills, and past those big transports. (But it doesn't use a drop more gas than the old one.)

The transmission too. Now all four gears are synchronized. You slip into first without stopping the car.

You'll notice these improvements as soon as you drive. But there are others of equal significance. (The greatly enlarged luggage space, for example.) Your VW dealer will get a big kick out of showing them to you, one by one.

And what have we left off to get the price so low? Nothing.

You still get a spare wheel and tire, heater/defroster, tool kit, jack, windshield washer, two padded sun visors, directional signals, bumper over-riders, big 15" wheels and oversize tires.

See your Volkswagen dealer and drive the complete car with a lot missing from its price tag.

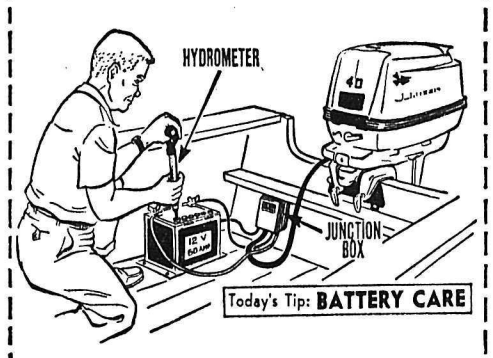
spring tune-up for YOUR OUTBOARD

BY LOU EPPEL
Marine Service Consultant



Today's Tip: BATTERY CARE

Many of your motor tune-up woes of a new season are eased by systematic care before storing. The life of your battery can be lengthened, for example, by keeping it on a "trickle charge" during storage. Decomposition is lessened by keeping a constant trickle of electricity flowing. Before hooking battery back onto your motor, check for corrosion. A wire brush can put a gleam on all terminals and harness corrosion. Learning to use a hydrometer is another saving. The specific gravity of most battery fluids should read 1.280. If the hydrometer shows yours as low as 1.140, the battery is only half-charged. Recharge it or get a new one before launching. The fluid or electrolyte is a dilute sulphuric acid solution. Use distilled water to raise it to the proper level.

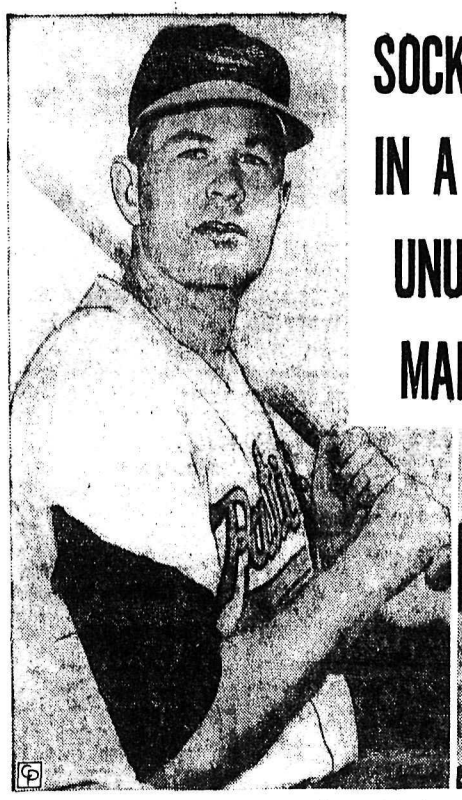
SOCK-CESS IN A VERY UNUSUAL MANNER



Jim Tabor

Jim Gentile . . . big man with bat, now in record books — Tony Lazzeri — Rudy York

BIRDS' BASHER—That "grand slam" guy of the Orioles, Jim Gentile, who powered two bases-loaded homers in two consecutive innings against the Minnesota Twins, now joins a select group of three others who hit two "grand slams" in one game. They are Tony Lazzeri of the Yanks, 1936; Jim Tabor of the Red Sox, 1939, and Rudy York, of the Red Sox, 1946. It was the first time in baseball history that a player hit two in a row.

Tigers Pad Lead Over Idle Yanks

By The Associated Press

Detroit Tigers padded their American League lead over idle New York to three games Monday night with a 15-hit barrage for a 10-5 victory at Baltimore. And the National League leading San Francisco Giants broke loose for 18 hits in a 14-1 romp against Chicago Cubs.

That gave the Giants a 1½-game edge over second place Los Angeles Dodgers, who trailed Milwaukee 6 - 3 after eight innings.

The only other NL game scheduled, St. Louis at Pittsburgh, was rained out after 1½ scoreless innings.

In the other AL games, Minnesota moved within a game of New York by beating Chicago White Sox 5-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Camilo Pascual; Cleveland walloped Boston 13-2 and Kansas City defeated the Los Angeles Angels 5-3.

FIVE-RUN INNING

A five-run seventh inning, in which Dick Brown drove in two runs, broke a 3-3 tie for the Tigers at Baltimore against loser Dick Hall. Paul Foytack gave up 11 hits, including a solo home run by Whitey Herzog, but gained his first complete game in 14 starts going back to April 24 of last year.

VERNON (CP) — A Vancouver North Shore soccer team was fortunate at the weekend to come off with a scoreless tie against Vernon Royalities who have an undefeated Okanagan League soccer record.

The Orioles again were without the injured Jackie Brandt, their batting leader, and Jim Gentile, the Al's home run and RBI leader.

Pascual, squaring his record at 3-3 after losing three in a row gave up three doubles among the White Sox' four hits, but didn't walk a man and struck out seven.

It was his 14th career shutout, first this season and first ever against Chicago. Cal McLish was the loser in a two-run first inning.

Zoilo Versalles led off with a single, went to second when left fielder Minnie Minoso bobbled the ball, and scored on a single by Lennie Green for the only run Pascual needed.

PITCHED THREE-HITTER

Mudcat Grant pitched a three-hitter for Cleveland—for a total of but 14 hits by the Red Sox in their last five games. Johnny Romano belted a two-run homer for the Indians, and Carl Yastrzemski hit a one-on home run for Boston in the fourth. It was the Red Sox' first hit.

The Giants hammered four home runs in their assault on five Cub pitchers. Felipe Alou hit a grand-slam homer in a five-run first off loser Dick Ellsworth. Orlando Cepeda smacked a pair of homers, and drove in five runs. Mattey Alou, Felipe's kid brother, hit the other homer. Mike McCormick won it with an eight-hitter, and put his earned run average at 1.32 for 41 innings this season.

Kansas City, with Jose Gordon managing from the press box, broke a 3-3 tie with two runs in the eighth on Lou Klimchock's pinch single and a sacrifice fly by pinch-hitter Bob Boyd.

Hank Bauer homered for the As and Steve Bilko hit a home run for the Angels, who now have lost five in a row. Bud Daley was the winner and reliever Ted Bowsfield, a native of Penticton, B.C., was the loser.

Gordon, directing the club by telephone, was in the pressbox at the suggestion of general manager Frank Lane, who believes it to be a better vantage point than the dugout.

Mathews Leads Slugging Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Eddie Mathews, Milwaukee Braves' third baseman, seems to be shooting for singles instead of distance and it's paying off with a fine batting average.

Matthews, who has hit 342 Major League home runs, has only four homers, two doubles and two triples this season. Coupled with 27 singles this gives him a .372 mark and the runner-up position in the National League batting race.

Last week Mathews boosted his average 25 points with nine safeties in 19 tries.

Wally Moon of Los Angeles Dodgers regained the lead although he slumped 10 points to .375. Joe Cunningham of St. Louis Cardinals, the pacesetter a week ago, dropped to fifth place at .349. Cunningham collected only two hits in 15 at-bats.

The most consistent among the American League's top batsmen last week was Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota Twins. Killebrew moved into second place behind leader Jackie Brandt of Baltimore Orioles with nine hits in 24 trips lifting his average to .359. Brandt is hitting .364.

Johnny Temple of Cleveland Indians, last week's leader, fell to third place with .353.

Big Jim Gentile of Baltimore, who hit two grand slam homers in two consecutive innings last Tuesday, had four homers all told and took over the American League lead with 11. Mickey Mantle of New York failed to connect and dropped to second with nine.

Gentile also took over first place in runs batted in with 37.

Moon continues to lead the National League in homers. He hit one, giving him 10 for the campaign. Hank Aaron of Milwaukee is top man in RBI with 25.

The figures include Sunday's games.

Giardello Stops Greaves in 9th

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joey Giardello, 162, stopped Wilfie Greaves, 159½, of Edmonton, in 1:39 of the ninth round of the scheduled 10-round feature boxing bout Monday night at the Alhambra. Referee Joe Sweeney declared it a technical knockout when Greaves' left eye appeared about to close in the ninth.

In a scheduled six-round preliminary, Jim Wiley, 198, Philadelphia, ruined the pro debut of Bill Nieder, 216, Olympic shotput champion from Los Angeles, by knocking him out at 2:10 of the first round.

Giardello seemed to be saving it in his bout with Greaves. No hard punches were thrown until Giardello hit Greaves with the right that stopped the fight. Only in the third did Greaves do any damage, cutting Giardello's left eye slightly.

Bonspiel Committee Progressing Well

Executive members of the Nelson Midsummer Bonspiel received nothing but good news at a regular meeting held last night.

The best news received from the committee reports was the fact that there are 44 entries already in. There were only 21 entries at this time last year.

This entry far exceeds those of lsat year which had a record entry. Closing date for entries is June 20.

Unfortunately, only two local rinks have been received—one men's and one women's—and executive members of the spiel expressed their hopes that the Nelson and district rinks will include their names on the entry list before too much longer.

Representatives of the Nelson Maple Leaf hockey club, Cecil Hughes spokesman and Mickey Maglio, playing coach, were reported to have agreed to stage an exhibition hockey game in conjunction with the bonspiel on July 8. Nelson is expected to play the world champion Trail Smoke Eaters although definite word has not yet been received by the spiel committee.

Requests have been mailed to the CBC-TV networks in Vancouver and Toronto, requesting coverage of the bonspiel in Nelson which is advertised as a world tournament.

Mayor Tommy Shorthouse has agreed to write a former Nelson Maple Leaf hockey star, and presently coach of Chicago Black Hawks, Rudy Pilous to attend the bonspiel. However, word has not been received regarding the invitation.

One of the most popular rinks ever to attend Nelson's famous bonspiel — the father and sons rink of Les Battle of Delia, Sask. —were the first to enter their team.

This popular rink has captured the hearts of curlers from all over Canada in the past.

Increasing in Popularity

Play-for-fun softball, which was organized last year for the first time, has leaped to enormous proportions, Ernie Gare, recreation director, said Monday night.

Entries in the men's softball league has increased by four teams this year over the original 10 of last summer. Approximately 75 more ball players have turned out this year. Ninety-one games will be played.

And there could have been more but entry into the popular league was cut off at 14 teams because of the lack of diamond space.

Play-for-fun schedule for the first week starting today is as follows:

May 16—Eagles vs CPR Sparks at Civic park; Firemen vs CPR Cars at Uphill park.

May 17—Taghum vs Ex-Pros at Civic; City Auto vs North Shore Tigers at Civic; Cemetery Ghosts vs Queen's Hotel at Uphill.

May 18—Greyhounds vs Palm Dairies at Civic; Homelites vs KFP Lumberjacks at Uphill.

All games start at 6 p.m.

Executive Named To Ball League

Mary McMaster was named president of the newly-organized Nelson Girls' Baseball Club at an enthusiastic meeting at the Nelson Hotel last night.

Serving with her on the executive will be Verna Chernoff, vice-president; Lucille Johnson, secretary, and Betty Chernoff, treasurer.

The club was organized to enter the midsummer baseball tournament in July and August, but decision as to how many teams will be lined up was deferred until another meeting Thursday, called for the convenience of some members who were unable to attend last night.

Jr. 'A' Hockey Hits Okanagan in 1962

KELOWNA (CP) — An Okanagan Valley Junior A Hockey League with teams from Kamloops, Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton, will make its appearance on the sports scene next season.

The action was approved Sunday at a meeting in nearby Vernon when each of the four cities polled declared they would enter a club.

Snead Needs Trainer As Birthday Approaches

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — Sam Snead, who will be 49 this month, figures a man his age playing competitive golf should have a trainer.

"When you get up there in years you ought to have someone to get you out of bed and make you train," Slamming Sammy drawled. "A little spark here and there will help you win tournaments and a man in good shape gets that spark once in a while."

Because of business ventures which keep him on the go, Snead has abandoned any thought of following his own advice.

"The only chance I have to train is to wake up in the morning and lay there in bed and wriggle my toes—one . . . two . . . three. And then I get out of bed.

He said he hasn't had much time to practise for the 72-hole medal play tournament named after him—the Sam Snead Festival. The four-day event starts Saturday.

Because Snead has been a pro here since before 1937, he agrees that he should win the festival. "Especially if I can get my putter going," he said.

A field of 67 pros, including top money winners Gary Player and Arnold Palmer, will compete for the $10,000 in prize money.

Snead has won this tournament five times in the 14-year history of the event.

H. B. Co.'s Merger With Morgan Co. Year's Highlight

LONDON (CP)—Profits of the Hudson's Bay Co. declined slightly during 1960, the company's annual meeting was told during the weekend.

W. J. Keswick, company governor, said the move into the major Eastern Canadian market through the merger with Henry Morgan and Co. Ltd. was the highlight of a year in which trading conditions "in Canada were noticeably more difficult than they had been for some time."

The trading profit was £5,229,000, including results of Morgans operations from Dec. 10, the date of the merger, and seven months additional profit resulting from a change in the year-end for 51 northern stores.

PROFITS DOWN

After special expenses, the trading profit was £4,893,000 and the profit after tax was £2,432,000, compared with £4,952,000 and £2,495,000 respectively the previous year. Total sales, including Morgans, were £88,032,000.

In November, 1960, an interim trading dividend of 10 per cent and a distribution of 2½ per cent from the land account were paid. The proposed final trading dividend is 14 per cent and the proposed final land account distribution is 2½ per cent. This makes a total trading dividend for the year of 24 per cent which is approximately 4s 9½d per share gross.

"Difficulties experienced by the Canadian economy in 1960," said Keswick, made it "impossible to maintain the rate of increase in the company's retail sales achieved in recent years."

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

TRAMPLED TO DEATH

TUXPAN, Mexico (AP)—Hundreds of moviegoers panicked and four persons were trampled to death when someone shouted a false fire alarm at a local movie theatre Sunday. Seven other persons were seriously injured. Police were unable to find the person who gave the false alarm.

LOST THREE SONS

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A Mother's Day picnic ended in tragedy for Mrs. Calvin Putnam when her three sons drowned in a small lake Sunday. The bodies of the boys—William, 14, Albert, 12, and Robert, 11—were recovered by navy divers several hours after the youths disappeared.

WOMAN IN SPACE?

BONN, West Germany (Reuters)—The head of Bochum Observatory, Heinz Kaminski, said today he has picked up radio conversations of a type usually preceding a Russian space shot. A woman's voice was heard for the first time and this indicated the Russians may send a woman into space, he said.

Diefenbaker Outlines Canadian Sovereignty

WASHINGTON (CP) — An American magazine quotes Prime Minister Diefenbaker as saying he seeks no political unity with the United States but believes joint defence can be improved consistent with respect for Canadian sovereignty.

As for the Cuban issue, the Canadian leader is reported to feel that the threat of Communism can best be countered in the Western Hemisphere by raising living standards.

"There is no way in which you can fill empty stomachs by the promises of congressional or parliamentary government," Diefenbaker is quoted as saying in an interview published in the magazine U.S. News and World Report on the eve of President Kennedy's first visit to Ottawa.

Asked whether he approved of Russia gaining a foothold in the Western Hemisphere, as in Cuba, Diefenbaker is quoted as replying:

"We're naturally concerned about this matter. It's not for us to prescribe how other nations should conduct their internal affairs.

"I recently expressed the hope of all Canadians that the other countries of the Western Hemisphere should so develop their political, social and economic structures that Communism would not have any attraction to any of the peoples in Western Hemisphere countries."

OTHER POINTS STRESSED

The prime minister is quoted as making these other points:

1. Canada has the right under the American constitution to enter into political unity with the U.S. on an equal basis with the original 13 colonies, but "we never sought the exercise of that right and will not. Each of our countries has its own destiny."

2. Since five out of six countries in the Commonwealth belong to a race other than white, the Commonwealth as an organization must be "color blind." Acceptance by the Commonwealth of the principle of opposing racial discrimination "has meant a tremendous strengthening of the Commonwealth in its mission for freedom."

3. Canada is seeking to expand with all countries. Long-term economic benefits would have to be considered before deciding on any alternative course, such as free trade with the U.S. If it ever came to a decision on making a bilateral deal with the U.S., "I would feel that there is greater hope for major reductions in tariffs generally rather than taking specific action, commodity by commodity."

4. Canada is looking for immigrants who bring skills, ideas and capital. Immigration into Canada this year is expected to remain at around 100,000. Canada's total population should be about 40,000,000 by the end of the century.

Diefenbaker, the magazine reports, said he sees signs of economic improvement in Canada. He hoped the trend will become more apparent in the third and fourth quarter of 1961. He believed the growth of European trade blocs will stimulate a need for Canada's natural resources which will be "entering a new and extensive phase of expansion to meet new world requirements."

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels, motors and other blue chips advanced sharply on the stock market Monday. Trading was active.

The rally was linked directly to the news that industrial production in the U.S. last month climbed to the highest level since last October.

The Associated Press 60-stock average advanced 1.70 to 249.20, a record high. The Dow Jones industrial average rose 4.46 to 692.37. Standard and Poor's 500-stock index advanced .38 to a historic high of 66.83.

Volume was 4,840,000 shares. Sperry Rand was the most active stock, off ½ at 34½ on 77,400 shares.

U.S. Steel gained 2⅞, Jones and Laughlin 2⅜ and Lukens 2¾. Ford, helped by news of higher car sales, rose 1¾ to pace the advancing motors.

Reports of another price boost for copper accompanied a rise by shares of this industry. After the close Anaconda increased the price to 31 cents a pound from 30 cents. Anaconda advanced 1⅞ and Kennecott 1⅛. But International Nickel dipped ⅜.

Aluminium Ltd. closed with a late gain of ¾. Hudson Bay Mining dropped a point.

American Exchange turn-over again exceeded the big board's —5,430,000 shares. In Washington, the Securities and Exchange Commission announced an inquiry of the America exchange. Canadian oils were mainly higher. Canadian industries were mixed, mines mainly higher.

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market gained steadily throughout the day Monday and finished strongly during moderate trading.

On the exchange index, industrials rose 2.00 at 585.94, golds .04 at 82.39 and base metals .81 at 195.43. Western oils fell .36 at 100.37.

The final volume was 3,539,000 shares compared with 4,196,000 Friday. Of the 730 issues traded, 255 advanced, 229 declined and 246 were unchanged.

Financial institutions were the best industrial group. Traders Finance A rose ½ at 50½. Canadian Bank of Commerce was up ¼ at 65¼.

In the utilities, Great Lakes Power gained a point to 36.

Foods were good with Weston A up 1⅝ at 57¾ and Dominion Stores 1⅜ at 74⅞.

Mining trading was heavy and produced a mixed market.

Falconbridge rose a point to 55¾, Ventures and Consolidated Mining and Smelting ¼ at 44 and 26¼. Hudson Bay Mining ad Smelting lost ¾ at 54.

Gold trading was generally quiet. Dome rose ¼ at 22 and McIntyre Porcupine fell ⅛ at 33⅛.

In steady western oil trading, Canadian Devonian fell 15 cents to $4.05 and Bailey Selburn A 10 cents to $8.00. Calgary and Edmonton, Great Plains, Home A and B all rose ⅛ while Hudson's Bay Oil gained ¼ at 14¼.

MONTREAL (CP)—Industrial stocks improved on the Montreal and Canadian exchanges Monday. Trading was moderate.

Banks were off 0.13 at 65.82, utilities off 0.1 at 147.0, industrials off 0.7 at 316.0, combined off 0.4 at 259.7, papers unchanged at 462.8 and golds up 0.94 at 76.58.

Industrial volume was 173,300 shares and mines and junior oils 287,100 shares.

Shipping stocks jumped ahead as Canadian Vickers rose three points to 22.

Dominion Glass rose two points to 24, Penman's improved 1½ at 30 and Trans-Canada Pipe Lines gained ⅝ at 24¼.

Steels were mixed. Dominion Foundries improved ¾ at 55¾ and Steel of Canada at 78½ and Atlas at 30¾, both lost ½.

Mines went ahead as Falconbridge rose 2⅝ to 56 and Ventures gained ½ at 44.

Base metals were irregular. Aluminium gained ¾ at 38 but Asbestos eased ⅛ to 29⅛.

Western oils were mainly unchanged.

FELL TO DEATH

PARIS (AP) — A Parisian, identified by police as M. Dufourmantel, fell to his death from the second platform of the Eiffel Tower Sunday night, apparently after his wife had been killed. Police said Dufourmantel apparently committed suicide. Police went to his home and found Mrs. Dufourmantel's body. She had been killed a short time earlier.

Magistrates Often Overworked

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's magistrates are generally overburdened, and in many provinces their position is insecure, Chief Justice J. C. McCruer of the Ontario High Court said Monday.

Mr. Justice McCruer told the third biennial Canadian Congress of Corrections Canada's magistrates hand out 94 per cent of the sentences imposed for indictable offences, yet in many provinces hold office at the pleasure of the government.

With this in mind, he said, "it is elementary and of urgent importance, that there should be no room for any suggestion that they are responsible to any minister of the crown, and particularly the attorney-general of the province whose agent conducts the prosecution of the cases that come before them."

Mr. Justice McCruer also recommended:

Reformatories and prisons be brought under a single national authority;

There be made available throughout Canada a comprehensive means for pre-sentence reports with clinical observations where needed, to help magistrates and judges arrive at a just sentence;

The parole system work in close liaison with the courts, where possible using a full report from the judge or magistrate who passed sentence;

The federal government establish a means of scientific research "of the most objective sort with respect to the causes of crime and the means of correction."

World Press Pays Tribute To Coop

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The body of Gary Cooper lay in a mortuary chapel Monday as the world paid tribute to his greatness.

Rosary was recited for the 60-year-old star, who lost his fight with cancer Saturday. Tuesday his friends among the waning ranks of Hollywood greats will file into the Church of the Good Shepherd in Beverley Hills for the funeral.

The shock of his passing was not lessened by the fact that it had been known for a month that he was dying. As the news swept around the world, it evoked words of appreciation for the lanky Montanan who personified the American hero.

Pope John cabled a message of sorrow to Cooper's widow and daughter. The British Broadcasting Corporation telecast a 15-minute tribute to the actor.

"We feel like we've lost our best friend," penned the movie critic of the Tokyo Shimbun.

'SYMBOL OF VIGOR'

The Washington Post said in an editorial "(Cooper) came to be a symbol of the vigor, courage and heroism in American life . . . It is greatly to his credit that his private life did not mock the screen image, as so frequently happens in Hollywood."

The Times of London devoted 800 words to Cooper, calling him "the all-American hero."

"In the naturally shifting and changing realm of screen reputations, he was one of the really few perennial stars," The Times said. "His place will be difficult to fill."

The Cannes Film Festival in France lost its gaiety with news of Cooper's death. "The entire festival is in mourning," said an official. A special showing of High Noon was scheduled. The Russian member of the film jury said: "His death is a great loss for the film world."

Donald Zec wrote in the London Daily Mirror: "He was a gent. He had guts. He was afraid of nobody and liked by everybody — Gary Cooper, the first, and now the last, of the 'greats'.

From the Frankfurt Allgemeine Zeitung: "He was the favorite of the world." The Milan Il Giorno wrote: "He was a knight and gentleman." In Copenhagen, the Berlingske Tidende said: "He will be remembered as long as the prairie exists."

Even the Communist press paid tribute. In Paris, L'Humanite headlined: "America loses cowboy number one." Rome's L'Unita proclaimed: "A great actor disappears."

The major Yugoslavian daily, Borba, said: "Gary Cooper will survive his physical death because he was one of the best of the great film creators."

Spent with cancer, Cooper died shortly after noon Saturday. "He had great will to live or he might not have survived that long," said his physician, Rex Kennamer.

Cooper's wife Veronica and their 24-year-old daughter Marie were at the bedside, along with the actor's priest, the Rt. Rev. Daniel Sullivan. Also present was Cooper's mother, Mrs. Alice Cooper, 87.

AWARE OF ILLNESS

Dr. Kennamer said the actor was aware of his condition for many weeks. Heavy sedation prevented his knowing the end was near.

The list of honorary pallbearers for Tuesday's funeral showed the wide range of Cooper's acquaintance. They included Ernest Hemmingway unable to attend because of illness), Henry Ford II, Bing Crosby, John Wayne, Burt Lancaster, Peter Lawford, Walter Brennan, Dick Powell, Kirk Douglas, William Wyler, Danny Zinneman.

Only members of the actor's family, which includes a brother, Arthur, will attend the burial at Holy Cross cemetery. Cooper was converted to Roman Catholicism in 1959.

Active pallbearers will be James Stewart, Jack Benny, director Henry Hathaway, producers William Goetz and Jerry Wald and agent Charles Feldman.

Odds . . . and Ends

. . . by M. D. B.

It just takes a little sunshine to make the world seem a brighter, cleaner, happier place, and the bit we've had recently has released youngsters from indoors and adults into their gardens. Before I forget: FROG IS BACK ! Sunday I was doing a tour of the garden before leaving for a look around the park and there he was, sitting so quietly on the edge of the pool, it was only on the second glance that I saw him. He is as broad as usual but I thought a trifle thin. My neighbor came to look at him and said he wondered where the old frog went that always came to their garden. We decided, since there is no tence between us, it could easily be the same one.

"He's an old one, all right," my neighbor said, "and it could be."

* * *

Japonica is out in its flaming sunset colors and the shrub at the corner of Behnsen and Nelson Avenue is one of the loveliest I've seen — large and not too dense and with rosy red blooms.

* * *

At the park the tennis courts were alive with arms and legs and tennis racquets, while the smaller fry enjoyed teeter-totters, merry-go-round and kept the swings in constant action. On the beach a couple of little girls were building sand castles and here and there on the benches young and old enjoyed sunshine filtering through trees just donning their greenery. I noticed the little willow trees planted in the sand are holding their own, but one of them, broken, bore witness to the rough time they have of it.

* * *

Over at the greenhouses there were pots and pots of geraniums and flats and flats of seedlings sitting out in the sun and I suppose nearly ready for planting in the various city gardens. In the greenhouse were the usual flowering plants and the canna lilies were a foot tall in their pots.

* * *

I love the moist earth fragrance of the greenhouse, with the sun coming warm through whitewashed glass. It was quiet there with only the twitter of birds coming in through the open doors and the distant shouts of the children enjoying the May sunshine. The pool has been painted a beautiful tourquoise green inside as well as the four aquariums in their wire enclosures, awaiting their finny occupants.

* * *

Shrubs and small flowering trees have been planted along the fence on the northern boundary where the tall maples stood and may, when they grow a bit, compensate for the loss of the trees. Cars and car trailers were much in evidence along the old ferry slip and launches puttered and darted on a laughing lake. A few of Nelson's oldtime couples could be seen out for their stroll, though this pastime seems to be dying as more and more take to the highways on wheels.

Auto Workers Approve New Health Insurance Program

By A. F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP) — A new health insurance program that features the doctor - team approach has been launched here with the support and blessing of the United Auto Workers union.

Taking what its sponsors say are the best features of a welter of other programs, the Community Health Association is aimed at paying not only the big bills that come with serious illness—but the little ones as well.

CHA has one hospital, Detroit Metropolitan, and one 25-doctor team. In the doctor-team concept, there is a corps of specialists built around a nucleus of general practitioner family physicians.

A CHA member is free to choose any general practitioner he wants as his family physician from this team, and also has a final say on any specialist. But he won't be covered if he goes outside the list.

With the creation of CHA, Michigan's hospital - controlled Blue Cross and its doctor-controlled Blue Shield have their first competition from a citizen-controlled plan.

MODEST START

Blue Cross has 225 hospitals in Michigan, and 83 per cent of the state's doctors participate in the Blue Shield program.

CHA started operating in December with members of its own office staff, plus approximately 10 per cent of the employees of Commonwealth Brass Corporation, for a member total of about 100, counting dependents. But it set out to add quickly to this.

It recently added 519 workers from the Chevrolet gear and axle and Chevrolet forge plants.

For CHA, the break - even point will come with a membership of 35,000. It plans to have facilities by the end of 1961—two neighborhood centres with 15-doctor teams at each—capable of serving the needs of 50,000 to 60,000 members. This is a modest number when placed alongside the Blue Cross-Blue Shield roll calls — 3,500,000 in Michigan.

LOAN FROM UNION

To get CHA going, the United Auto Workers put up $550,000 in loans. Other loans and grants came from the Lasker Foundation, the Michigan Credit Union League and the Detroit AFL-CIO Building Trades Council.

CHA includes home calls by doctors, immunizing shots, physical checkups and home nursing in its benefits package, along with hospital care. You have to be admitted to a hospital to get Blue Cross - Blue Shield benefits.

CHA has one set of fees: $8 monthly for a single person; $18.80 for a couple and $20.60 for a family of three or more. No doctor may charge a patient anything in addition to what he gets from CHA.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield works on three rate schedules in Michigan based on incomes up to $7,500 a year, with the provision that the doctor can get a separate fee from a patient who tops the income scale. The monthly rates range from a high of $20.08 to $17.74 for full family coverage.

PAYS FOR HOME CALLS

Under the doctor-team plan, CHA pays for:

Home calls by doctors. But it assesses members for the first call in any illness; $4 in the day, $6 at night. Blue Shield does not cover home calls.

All service in the doctor's office, including routine care.

Maternity care before, during and after the baby's birth. There is no nine-month waiting period for eligibility.

Eye examinations, but not glasses.

Up to 120 days in a hospital, with another stay permitted after 90 days outside.

Complete medical and surgical care in the hospital.

Up to 60 days of home nursing services.

Preventive medicine: Periodic physical examinations, children's visits to the pediatrician, various inoculations and vaccinations.

REPLACEMENTS

VANCOUVER (CP) — West Coast Woollen Mills has advertised for three stationary engineers to rplace three who struck Wednesday. None one has been hired so far. Members of the International Union of Operating Engineers, the strikers want a 41 cent-an-hour wage increase.

McGovern and Four-Footed Companions Meet Trouble

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—John McGovern and his pet she-wolf Cindy, who have made a business of hitch-hiking across Canada, are being dogged by hard luck.

Several weeks ago McGovern, 22, left his Hull, Que., home and began legging toward the West Coast with Cindy and a German shepherd, Sean, padding after him. They got as far as Perth, Ont., where McGovern was hauled into court.

He pleaded guilty to housebreaking and last week was given a two-year suspended sentence.

Saturday night near Elliot Lake, McGovern was walking and the animals romping after being given a ride when a car roared out of dark and struck Cindy. She suffered a gashed side and several broken bones.

SCUGHT SHELTER

Using $25, all the money he had, McGovern brought the injured wolf here and sought shelter from police. No cells were vacant, but he was allowed to stay the night in a parking lot with his pets. They sought shelter from rain in a parked car.

Sunday a veterinarian set Cindy's broken bones and dressed the wound. Humane society president Bette Gaughan said the society will pay the bill because McGovern had no more money.

Misfortune brought McGovern and the wolf together. Last August he found her lying injured in a ditch near Dawson Creek, B.C., and nursed her back to health. The two hitch - hiked from there to Halifax, often staying overnight in jails.

Police who gave them selter generally did so because of curiosity for is pet. Those who refused them were wary of the shaggy beast.

NEW POSTAGE STAMPS LIKELY AT YEAR'S END

NORTH HATLEY, Que. (CP) A new series of Canadian postage stamps will likely be available by the end of this year, Postmaster General William Hamilton told the Royal Philatelic Society of Canada's 33rd annual convention during the weekend.

Mr. Hamilton said Queen Elizabeth's portrait will dominate the series but each denomination will bear a small, distinctively Canadian symbol, different from those on other denominations.

Two Men And Boy Rescued From Heavy Snowfall

DENVER (AP) — Two men and a five-year-old boy were rescued from a snow - swept northern Colorado canyon Sunday as parts of two Rocky Mountain states burrowed out from a smothering snowstorm that stranded thousands of motorists.

The weekend barrage virtually isolated Cheyenne, the Wyoming capitla, with six-foot snowdrifts.

Telephone and power lines were knowked out in places for more than 24 hours, and highway patrolmen estimated 1,400 cars were stalled in and around Cheyenne and Laramie.

Work crews and rising temperatures returned conditions to near normal. Main highways were opened to traffic throughout the region.

Air and ground parties brought the two men and the boy to safety after they had been trapped since Friday.

David Pettus, 35, an assistant zoology professor at Colorado State University, his son, Tom, and Patrick Stallcup, 23, of Oakland, Calif., were on a research outing when their truck slipped off an icy road.

A light plane spotted their truck Sunday morning and directed a snow weasel—a tractored vehicle for traveling in snow—to them. The weasel crew returned the trio here.

It was rough for other residents of northern Colorado and southern Wyoming, too.

About 1,000 north Cheyenne homes were without electricity Saturday and Saturday night but service was restored Sunday to all but a few isolated farms outside the city.

Hundreds of motorists were stranded overnight in Cyeyenne and Laramie.
