"West Threatens War"
Russ Unveil Record Budget

1962 Shows 50 Percent Increase for Defence

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government Wednesday unveiled a record budget for 1962 calling for large increases in military spending. It justified the increase in defence spending by saying the West "is openly threatening war."

The over-all budget for 1962 totals 81,900,000,000 rubles, with 13,400,000,000 rubles going for defence expenditures. This is an increase of almost 50 per cent in military spending over that originally planned for 1961.

But the defence increase is not so great considering that Premier Khrushchev decreed the emergency expenditure of an extra 3,144,000,000 last July.

SEE CONTINUED RISES

That was when he was trying to scare the West out of Berlin. The requested new increase indicated the Russians expect the crisis to continue.

Finance Minister Vassily Garbuzov read the figures to 1,378 delegates at a session of the Supreme Soviet or parliament.

"The Soviet government cannot disregard the real international situation," he said. "The aggressive NATO bloc is feverishly building up its armed forces, improving weapons and openly threatening war."

(United States defence outlays for the next fiscal year are expected to be from $50,000,000,000 to $51,000,000,000 compared with iture. There have been no firm estimates yet of the over-all U.S. budget but it is expected to top $90,000,000,000.

(Figured at the official rate of $1.11 for the ruble, the Soviet military outlay would be $14,-800,000,000 out of an over-all budget of $90,900,000,000. However, it is impossible to compare American and Soviet budgets. Many Soviet military expenses are covered under items ostensibly for civilian production.)

TO INCREASE LOANS

Garbuzov also announced that loans for economic assistance to socialist and underdeveloped countries would be increased. He said more than 300 industrial enterprises and agricultural programs and other projects would be undertaken abroad next year with the help of Soviet loans.

The 1962 budget is 3,600,000,-000 rubles bigger than last year's. However, Garbuzov said the government actually plans to spend 80,300,000,000 rubles, leaving a deflationary surplus of 1,600,000,000. He reported a surplus of 1,600,000,000 rubles for 1961.

Garbuzov said that 30,500,000,-000 rubles—one third of the budget—is being allocated for industrial expansion in 1962. He reported the outlay for financing agriculture would be 7,600,000,-000, an increase of 1,400,000,000 over 1961. Another 4,300,00,000 will go to science, which includes the space program.

The Supreme Soviet also heard Vladimir Novikov, chairman of the Soviet planning committee, predict that 1962, the fourth year of the current seven-year plan, would be of great importance "for our victory in peaceful economic competition with capitalism."

He said that more attention will be paid "to the growth of the output of consumer goods."

U.S. Backs Thant Plan

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The United States approved Wednesday night a comprehensive plan by Acting Secretary-General U Thant to bring secessionist Katanga province under United Nations control.

Adlai Stevenson and other top U.S. officials conferred privately with Thant for 50 minutes at UN headquarters.

"The United States is very pleased with the plan of the secretary-general to bring Katanga under control," Stevenson said after the conference.

A U.S. spokesman said the plan included both the use of force in the present Katanga fighting and a broad plan for restoring peace in The Congo.

Thant said last week he was preparing a plan for The Congo but did not disclose any details. He made the statement before the outbreak of the shooting between UN and Katanga forces.

Thant was being filled in on the military action against Katanga forces by cablegrams from Sture Linner, his chief representative in The Congo, but was not in direct communication with him during the day.

"Our operations are going well," a UN spokesman said.

The United States offered 21 additional transport planes to the United Nations for transport of troops and supplies. They are in addition to six already being employed.

Ferry Service On Arrow Lakes

VANCOUVER (CP) — Highways Minister Gaglardi said Wednesday the provincial government plans a pasenger, car and freight ferry service between Castlegar and Revelstoke.

He said in an interview the system will use the new waterway which will connect the two towns after proposed development of the High Arrow dam on the Columbia.

The reservoir will combine Upper and Lower Arrow Lakes and extend them.

"This will be an addition to the 60-car ferry fleet we already operate in the interior of British Columbia" Mr. Gaglardi said of the proposal.

The minister said it was too early to say how many ferries would go on the run but said they would be at least 50-car ferries similar to those now employed on Kootenay Lake.

HIT SAME TRAIN

PLYMOUTH, Ind. (AP)—Two drivers smashed into opposite sides of a freight train at the same time near here Tuesday night. Both said they didn't see the 68-car nickel plate train waiting to move into a factory. Virgil Bradford, 50, was taken to hospital, where he was reported in fair condition today. Herbert Davidson, 33, was not hurt.

U.S. Halts Plans To Orbit Man

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Wednesday dropped plans to orbit a man around the earth this month and aimed at achieving this feat early next month.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration also said the next orbit attempt in the Mercury program will be made by a man—ruling out any more tests with animals.

Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., a 40-year-old marine lieutenant-colonel already has been chosen to take the ride.

No firm December target date had been announced for orbiting the first American. But U.S. space officials for months had been pushing to accomplish it in this same year the Russians orbited their two space pioneers. Word had been passed that the attempt might be made as early as Dec. 20.

There was no official explanation for the decision to wait until next year.

There had been reports of technical troubles interfering with plans for an orbit this year, but NASA has insisted all is progressing normally.

Officials at Cape Canaveral said a launch attempt this year would have put extreme pressure on everyone and this might have affected the success of the venture.

Sentenced on War Crime

FRANKFURT (Reuters) — A former Nazi police colonel was sentenced to 21 months hard labor by a West German court Wednesday for the attempted manslaughter of a Canadian air force lieutenant during the last weeks of the Second World War.

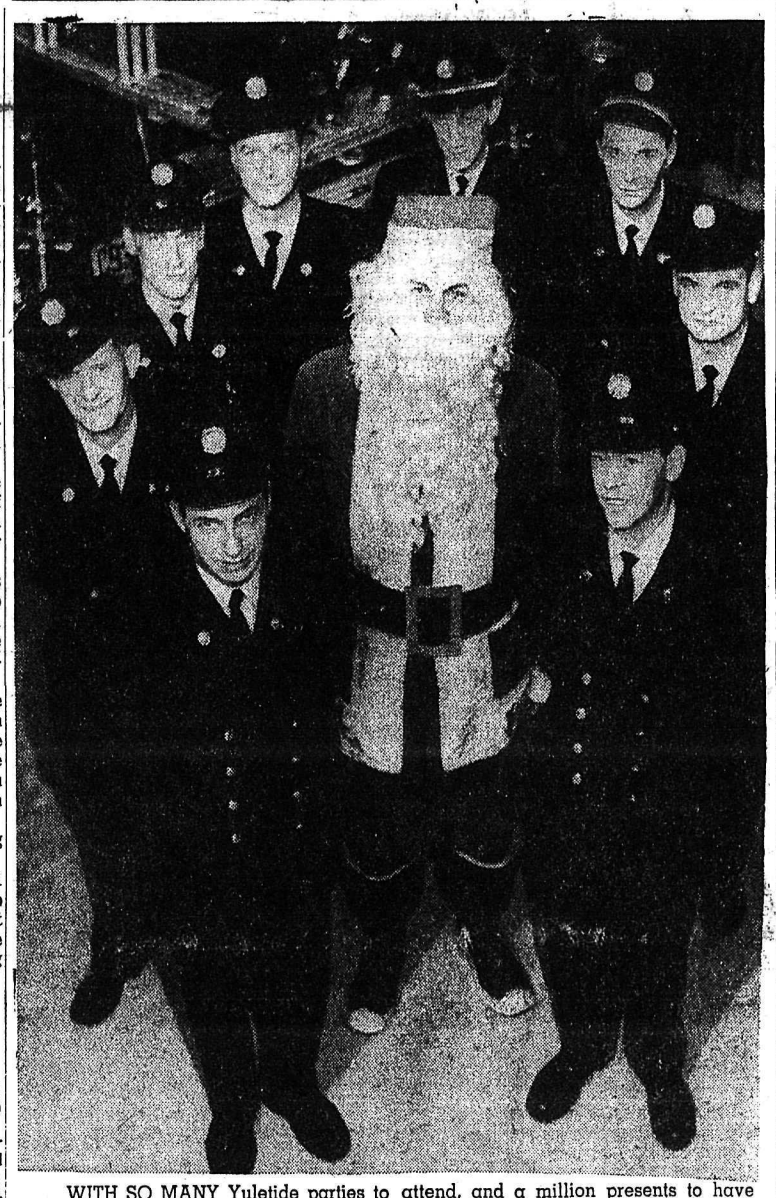
The court president said in the judgment that Albert Hahn, 69, had ordered the illegal shooting of the Canadian, identified only as McDonald Moore, 20, who had bailed out from a bomber during an air raid on Graz, Austria, March 4, 1945.

Hahn, then police chief of Graz, ordered another police officer, Franz Turber, to shoot Moore and make it look as if it happened while the prisoner attempted to escape.

Turber told the court as a witness that his conscience forbade him to carry out the order and that he let Moore escape.

Earley Cheques

VICTORIA (CP) — December family allowance cheques will be sent out more than a week early to help families with Christmas preparations. Family allowance director William Bone said the 235,000 cheques will be delivered next Monday.



WITH SO MANY Yuletide parties to attend, and a million presents to have ready for all good boys and girls on Christmas Day, old Saint Nick has enlisted the help of the Nelson Fire Department. In his interview with the firefighters last night, Santa tested them for HO HO's and Ha Ha's. All the firemen in this picture passed with flying colors, including the test of sliding down the chimney. And why shouldn't they? . . . After all, they are experts.

Britain's First Attempt in Spring

LONDON (AP) — Britain plans to fire its first space satellite around the earth next spring aboard a United States Delta rocket, the House of Lords was told Wednesday night.

Viscount Hailsham, minister for science, said "it is flattering to be told the Americans regard the payload of the first joint satellite as one of the most sophisticated in their experience."

Policemen Charged In Prairie Theft

MEDICINE HAT (CP) — Constable Jim Gehring, 28, of the city police force, and former constable Bill Plotsky, 26, appeared in court Wednesday on a charge of theft in connection with a $33,000 robbery at the city police station more than a year ago.

The men were remanded without plea until Dec. 13.

Magistrate A. Y. Spivack ordered bail of $20,000 for each. Plotsky was arrested Tuesday night and released on bail of $20,-000. Gehring was arrested Wednesday.

A cash box, containing $20,000 in cash and $13,000 in cheques, was left at the police station Oct. 30, 1960, for weekend safekeeping by Ron May, manager of Medicine Hat's co-op store.

The men were charged with theft of a cash box with a value of more than $50.

Plotsky, then a constable, was found unconscious after midnight behind the main desk of the police station. He was taken to hospital for treatment of a scalp wound. The cash box was missing.

He told police at that time that two masked men had entered the station and slugged him.

Tshombe Lashes Out at U.S. Support of UN Action

CP from A.P.-Reuters

ELISABETHVILLE — Cannon-firing United Nations jets wiped out part of Katanga province's air force, the UN command announced Wednesday as both sides took to the air in a second day of fighting in the secessionist province.

In fighting inside this provincial capital, the UN claimed to have seized an underpass controlling traffic to the suburbs. Katangan mortar fire shook UN headquarters and there was fighting around a roadblock leading from the city to the main airport.

(Tshombe President Moise Tshombe reported from Paris that the fighting had become more general with a UN attack on Manono, 275 miles north of here.

(Tshombe cancelled his plan to go to a Moral Re-Armament conference in Brazil and decided to depart for home by air Wednesday night.

(Lashing out bitterly at United States support of the UN Tshombe said he was "inclined to believe the American government perhaps wants to make a concession to the Soviet Union, at the expense of Katanga." He asked "are there Communists in the state department itself?")

The fighting erupted after Katanga denounced a new UN resolution directed against Tshombe's secession from the central Congo government.

Katangan Foreign Minister Evariste Kimba, ranking official in Tshombe's absence, declared he would never ask a cease-fire, and asserted: "We shall follow a scorched earth policy."

He threatened to arrest United States Consul Lewis Hoffacker because of UN air attacks which he blamed on the U.S. Air Force.

COUNT 15 DEAD

A count of the dead at Queen Elisabeth Hospital in two days of fighting was 15. The dead included four European civilians. Earlier, UN sources had estimated 40 persons had been killed among the fighting forces, all but one of them Katangans.

Katanga radio claimed the UN already had lost more than 50 dead, including officers.

The UN air strikes were a dramatic reversal of the lack of air support last September when the UN command agreed to a cease-fire after eight days of fighting.

The UN said two Indian Canberra jets—not U.S. planes as charged by Kimba—blasted to bits four Katanga planes, including a French Fouga jet fighter, in an attack on Kolwezi air base, 120 miles northwest of Elisabethville. A fuel depot and tower also were damaged.

Other UN planes destroyed a highway bridge at Lufira, linking this capital with the military base of Jadotville, 65 miles northwest of here, it was announced.

(An official message reaching the Katanga mission in Paris claimed that despite "fairly heavy material damage" at Kolwezi, "the essentials have been saved."

(One message to the mission from Elisabethville declared there was no doubt the UN was preparing to launch a strong attack in the next few hours.)

The UN air strikes were carried out after the Katangan air force swung into action in a bid to repeat its September successes.

HAVE 20 PLANES

The Katangan air force was believed to have not more than 20 planes at Kolwezi—including a lone Fouga mounting rockets and twin cannon, five Dornier transports, two twin-engined de Havilland Doves converted to bombers, a DC-3 transport and assorted light planes.

A visitor to the air base a month ago found there were only about 20 pilots—Canadians, Belgians, South Africans, Rhodesians and French—some of whom said they had not been paid recently.

The UN air force of 15 jet fighters was ordered into action Tuesday by UN Acting Secretary-General U Thant to destroy hostile aircraft and support ground troops.

Differences between Washington and London developed when Britain's Deputy Foreign Secretary Edward Heath declared in London that UN forces have no right to impose by force an end to Katanga's secession.

The U.S. declared its full support to the UN in carrying out its mandate in The Congo and U.S. Globemasters began ferrying armored cars and anti-aircraft guns from Leopoldville, The Congo capital, to UN forces in Elisabethville.

It was the first time since the start of the UN Congo operation that U.S. Air Force planes have been used to fly military reinforcements.

Katanga Interior Minister Godefroid Munongo went on the air to warn that "the hour is grave." He called on Katanga's people to "defend" themselves with spears, arrows and knives.

Scores Hurt as Frenchmen Clash

PARIS (Reuters) — Nearly 60 persons were reported injured Wednesday night as tens of thousands of Frenchmen staged demonstrations against the plastic-bomb-terrorism of the right-wing secret army organization.

Police said 14 policemen and 14 civilians were injured in clashes in the Paris area and about 30 persons were injured in Toulouse in the protest action against the army organization. It violently opposes President de Gaulle's policy of self-determination for Algeria.

The largest demonstration took place in southern Paris where 5000 persons shouting "assassins" marched through the streets in response to calls by left-wing and Communist organizations.

Smaller demonstrations took place in other parts of Paris and suburbs, where many workers left factories half an hour to an hour early to join them.

Demonstrations also were reported in dozens of other French cities.

White Settlers Behind Trouble?

OSLO — A Norwegian army officer who recently served as United Nations intelligence chief in Katanga charged Wednesday thta a "small, hard core of white settlers" is behind the disorders there.

"These whites were born in Katanga and regard it as their home, although they are European citizens," Lt.-Col. Bjorn Egge said in an interview with the Oslo newspaper Verdens Gang. He added:

"This hard core, with a fascist tendency, represents important financial interests and controls Katanga's puppet government. The Katangans are peaceful people and basically are not hostile to the United Nations."

Tshombe Sends Appeal for Aid

PARIS (Reuters) — The Katanga government Wednesday appealed to world leaders to intervene in the battle between United Nations troops and the forces of the secessionist Congo province.

The appeal issued here and sent in President Moise Tshombe's name by two of his cabinet ministers, said intervention is needed to rpevent "carnage" following an American decision to put "aerial forces destined to bombard peaceful Katanga populations at the disposal of the United Nations."

The appeal was sent from Elisabethivlle, the Katanga capital, but the text was released by Tshombe's mission here.

It said the American state department decision could have "ertremely grave consequences" and reaffirmed the pledge of the Katangans "to resist to the death against the inhuman aggression of the UN forces, acting in collaboration with the American army."

British Buck UN

LONDON (AP)—The British government said Wednesday United Nations troops fighting in The Congo's secessionist Katanga province have no "permit to try to impose a political solution by force."

The statement was made by Deputy Foreign Minister Edward Heath in angry debate in the House of Commons.

Opposition Labor's foreign affairs expert, Harold Wilson, immediately asked Heath if he was aware the United States government had publicly stated its support for the UN operation in Katanga.

Heath did not reply directly, declaring Britain believes "the United Nations should try continually to achieve conciliation between the two sides in The Congo." He referred to Katanga and the central Congo government in Leopoldville.

Britain also opposed UN military action against Katanga during fighting there last September and made strenuous efforts to get a cease-fire.

Dr. Conor Cruise O'Brien, who has resigned as the chief UN official in Katanga and from the Irish foreign service, charged last week that Britain, among others, acted against UN interests. Gen. Sean McKeown, Irish UN commander in The Congo who also has asked to be relieved of the post, said Tuesday this charge was "perfectly true."

Moscow radio said Wednesday O'Brien's resignation was a "slap in the face of the colonialists who are playing a dirty and criminal game in The Congo."

ARREST THREATENED

ELISABETHVILLE — Katanga Foreign Minister Evariste Kimba Wednesday threatened to put United States Consul Lewis Hoffacker under house arrest.

Kimba told a press conference the reason was the air raids on Kolwezi and Jadotville today, for which he held American planes responsible.

Hoffacker commented later: "I feel in no danger. I am still a consul and consider myself under Katanga government protection."

JFK A COMMIE—SOME DAY

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev said today that when American President Kennedy becomes a Communist "we shall have a common language," but conceded "that won't be for a very long time."

The Soviet premier made the remark as he told stories and cracked jokes at a Finnish National Day reception.

Khrushchev, taking time off from sessions of the Supreme Soviet (parliament), began the party rather solemnly but cheered up when American Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson and British Ambassador Sir Frank Robert came up to him.

He threw up his hands in horror when a waitress approached him with a tray of champagne but eventually accepted a glass after being persuaded by another ambassador.

JOKINGLY COMPLAINS

He laughed when Thompson jokingly complained he would like a two - week vacation but could not have one because "you are stirring things up all the time."

Khrushchev grabbed him by the lapels, laughed, and said "you are the one who stirs up the mud."

Asked about President Kennedy's interview last month with Alexei Adzhubei, editor of the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia and Khrushchev's son-in-law, the premier said:

"It was a good interview but I cannot agree with everything. When Kennedy becomes a Communist we shall have a common language but that won't be for a very long time."

Referring to Thompson's complaint, Khrushchev said Moscow was the best place for a holiday.

But he said "I can't take a vacation—people said I was on holiday in Yalta. But that was all lies. I was busy preparing for the 22nd congress (of the Soviet Communist party in Oct.)

"But I am hoping to go on holiday in January, on a hunting trip to Byelorussia."

Then he admitted he had had time for a short hunt when he was in Tashkent recently addressing agricultural meetings —"I shot five pheasants."

Asked about reports he might go to Warsaw, Khrushchev replied: "No, but I shall be in the woods near the Polish border on my hunting trip in January and I may meet (Polish Communist party leader Wladyslaw) Gomulka while I am there."

Khrushchev also told correspondents and ambassadors who were crowding round him that he would be going to the Ukraine to continue his agricultural tour on Dec. 15 but he would not be addressing the current session of the Supreme Soviet.

And in This Corner . . .

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—William (Pat) Perry said he was 109 years old Wednesday and he told these stories:

He beat Red Cloud's son in a footrace in 1878 — or was it 1876? — and won six squaws. "I gave them back to Red Cloud."

In 1901 he flattened the great Ruby Robert Fitzsimmons in a sparring match at Sausalito, Calif.

Sitting Bull, famed Indian chief, "was not an Indian — his mother was a French woman."

Perry mined gold, ran a San Francisco cable car, was a professional boxer, a gold mining camp cook and worked many years for the Southern Pacific Railroad. He retired in 1929 when he was 76.

He quit smoking and chewing tobacco in 1922. He eats like a horse; likes sauerkraut and frankfurters for breakfast. He likes one brandy a day and lots of coffee.

Perry lives with a daughter, Mrs. Louise Mowatt, in San Francisco.

LONDON (Reuters)—Queen Elizabeth's homecoming from her African tour Wednesday night was marred by a traffic jam.

Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys and Aviation Minister Peter Thorneycroft were to have been among the welcoming party at the airport here after the Queen's jet flight from Dakar, Senegal.

But their cars became snarled in traffic and they still had not arrived by the time the Queen's car left to take her to Buckingham Palace, where her family waited to greet her.

3600 Eligible To Vote In Today's Election

The largest electorate in the city's history will decide today at the civic election polls if a precedent is to be established in the city's 64-year-old history.

For the first time since the city's inception a woman, Ald. Edith Van Maarion, is contesting the mayoralty race. She opposes Mayor T. S. Shorthouse, who is seeking his third consecutive two-year term of office.

More than 3600 persons are eligible to vote in electing a mayor and three aldermen from candidates D. C. Coen, E. T. Bodard, A. R. Ramsden, Albert Maida, J. R. Ford, J. H. MacMillan, Dr. C. E. Bradshaw and Ald. J. S. M. Harts, the only retiring alderman seeking re-election.

Voters will also decide the fate of the school district No. 7 (Nelson) $829,000 school referendum.

Over 1000 names were added to the city voting list through the successful amalgamation of Upper Fairview, South Nelson and Rosemont with the city. For most of them it will mark the first time they will exercise their franchise in a civic election.

The polls at St. Saviour's Memorial Hall, corner of Ward and Carbonate Streets, will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Entry of Ald. Van Maarion increased attention on the mayoralty race, forcing the aldermanic contest into its shadows.

In attempting to secure the city chief magistrate position, the four-year alderman of city council is bucking tradition and superstition that the mayor's job is a masculine one. She has already defied both by allowing her name to stand for the office.

Increased interest in the election is reflected by the advance poll which saw 19 citizens cast their votes as compared to 13 at last year's advance poll. It is also reflected by a city woman who phoned CKLN Tuesday night to ask who had won the election.

Number one plank in aldermanic platforms is the promise to implement the Boundary Extension bylaws and programs.

The Civic Centre Commission hassle which resulted in the dismissal of commissioner R. N. Bradshaw also edged into the aldermanic platforms. Some of the candidates have indicated that a review of recreation and Civic Centre activities will be forthcoming if elected.

Others have also stressed the need for streamlining the lines of authority in the city by appointing a city administrator.

Only Ald. Harts and former Alderman Bradshaw and MacMillan, have ventured before into the realm of civic politics.

Monies from the $829,000 referendum, will be used to renovate, build additions to present schools and build new elementary schools in the district. The expenditure is needed to avoid overcrowding in the present schools.

Nelson's share of the referendum will be $191,291. The provincial government, Salmo and rural area will contribute the remaining finances.

A number of candidates set up transportation phone numbers that were advertised up to the deadline Tuesday, but the Municipal Act forbade them from advertising after that date.

The Act forbids any advertising the day before, or the day of, the election. This is the reason no advertising appeared Wednesday or today. No advertising of any kind is permitted whether by way of newspapers, radio, posters, pamphlets and leaflets, section 136 of the Act rules.

STORK BUSIER IN NOVEMBER

Births and marriages were up and deaths down last month as compared to November, 1960, figures for the city and district show.

In October, 1961, there were 26 births, 10 deaths and eight marriages.

There were 32 births, 10 deaths and five marriages in the city last month and three deaths and two marriages in the district. In November, 1960, there were 29 births, 14 deaths and three marriages in the city and four deaths in the district.

Trial Adjourned

Trial of William Kichard of Nelson, charged with pointing a revolver at a city policeman, was adjourned until Dec. 15 in city police court Wednesday.

Kichard is alleged to have greeted city policemen, answering a call at his home, at the doorway of the building, waving a gun in his hand. The gun was later discovered to be not loaded, they said.

William Lipsack of Nelson was fined $15 for fighting. The fracas occurred in the alley between Josephine and Ward Streets and Vernon and Baker Streets.

283 Bottles of Blood Given Hospital So Far

More than 95 per cent of all blood transfusions are absolutely necessary for complete recovery of patients, the Nelson branch of the Red Cross Society was told Tuesday night.

Speaking to the annual meeting, Col. W. A. Freeman, director of blood donor services of the society, told of recent studies in Vancouver General Hospital. He added that in only one per cent of patients receiving transfusions was there any doubt for the need.

Col. Freeman made reference to an article in a national magazine which questioned the necessity of blood transfusions. He said studies will continue.

To the end of October of this year, 283 bottles of whole blood were given to Kootenay Lake General Hospital by the Red Cross.

Col. Freeman said each bottle costs the Red Cross $6.85 and if the government were to handle this service, the costs would likely triple.

CLINIC DATES SET

He said clinics will be set up in the interior the week of June 11, reaching Nelson June 14 and 15. Monday night of that week, a clinic will be set up at Princeton, Tuesday at Grand Forks, Wednesday at Fruitvale, Thursday and Friday at Nelson. Monday of the following week the clinic will be at Castlegar, Tuesday at Rossland, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at Trail.

Of the 99 hospitals in B.C., Col. Freeman said they use between 4800 and 5000 bottles of whole blood per month.

Col. G. P. Stirrett, a past president of the B.C. Division of the Canadian Red Cross, praised the volunteer workers of the Red Cross. He said because of the attitude of such people, the full time staff "seems to get infected with the voluntary spirit and become devoted and work beyond the normal call of duty." He said the society has less overhead than most charitable organizations and has the best record.

He urged the Nelson chapter to keep on working and recruit others, and to help with financial assistance to keep the society going.

Because the Red Cross is world wide in scope, Col. Stirrett said, it is the only medium where delegates of all creeds colors and ideologies can meet and talk and be friends.

Miss Janice Clerihew gave a report on the Junior Red Cross study centre in Boyes Springs, Calif., last summer. Miss Clerihew and a girl from Dawson Creek, B.C., were the only delegates from Canada.

NEED BOYS

Included in the five days at the centre were simulated disasters and the junior members reacted as the Red Cross would in any emergency. She said the Junior Red Cross needs more boys to join to help with the technical aspects of the organization.

Junior Red Cross members from Central School, Junior High and L. V. Rogers high schools presented reports on their schools' progress.

Committee chairmen gave reports on their activities for the year. A. J. Cleeton reported the campaign committee has raised more than $8400 to end of September.

Leigh M. McBride was re-elected president; E. W. White, first vice-president; K. D. McRae, second vice-president; Miss Enid Etter, secretary; and P. D. V. Murison, treasurer.

Langridge Heads KLU

W. H. Langridge of Nelson was elected president of the Kootenay Life Underwriters Association at the group's annual meeting in the Nelson Hotel Monday.

Mr. Langridge succeeds Vincent Watson of Trail. George Pettigrew of Trail was elected first vice-president; Andrew Zuk of Nelson second vice-president; and Thor Anderson of Nelson secretary. Albert Maida continues as public relations chairman.

SWEDEN ENTERS WORLD CURLING CHAMPIONSHIP

TORONTO (CP) — Sweden has agreed to join Canada, Scotland and the United States in play for the world curling championship next March in Scotland.

The announcement was made Wednesday at a press conference by E. T. Simmons, chairman of the Canadian committee of the Scotch Whisky Association, sponsors of the championship.

The 1962 matches for the Scotch Cup will open at Falkirk, Scotland, March 15-16 and then shift to Edinburgh for play March 19-20. If a playoff is necessary it will be held March 21 in Edinburgh.

Canada has won the championship every year since its inception in 1959.

The Ernie Richardson rink from Regina went undefeated through the matches against Scotland in 1959 and 1960. This year, with the United States competing for the first time, Canada, Scotland and the U.S. owund up in a three-way tie.

Canada's entry, the Hec Gervais rink from Edmonton, won the playoff.

District Roads Free of Fatalities

November was a fatality-free month for the Kootenays, RCMP report.

During the week ending December 2, there were 24 accidents and five prosecutions in the Nelson RCMP sub-division.

For the province there were 362 accidents, four fatal accidents, and 96 prosecutions.

The last fatality in the Kootenays occurred the last week in October.

Another 200 Enjoy Comedy

Some 200 people saw a polished performance of My Three Angels Tuesday night, to bring to 400 the number who saw the play.

It was the second night for the three-act comedy presented by the Nelson Little Theatre. After a shaky opening night, the cast settled down and jitters and prompting were at a minimum.

The play as sponsored by the Nelson Kiwanis Club.

The set, well made and authentic, was designed by Rosalind Grant and Hielmar Ikron.

AGREES TO REFORMS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government of South Viet Nam has agreed to internal reforms, clearing the way for more U.S. aid in the Southeast Asian country's battle against Communist guerrillas. Officials said Tuesday President Ngo Dinh Diem had agreed to the reforms after several weeks of negotiations with U.S. Ambassador Frederick Nolting.

City To Purchase Vernon Street Lots

In a committee of the whole meeting Wednesday afternoon, city council resolved to make the best deal possible in purchasing two vacant lots adjoining its seven lots in the 400 block Vernon Street.

The city would not elaborate on its decision.

The city property several years ago was suggesed as a site for the Towers Hotel, a large building combining a shopping and business centre as well as a hotel.

Last summer an unnamed buyer approached the city on the possibility of purchasing the lots, but no details of the proposal were made public.

Recently Ald. B. C. Affleck proposed that the area be converted to a parkade to ease the parking problem in the business section.

Talk along coffee row of late has been of a major construction in the area, but the city has been silent on plans for the area.

In the open portion of the special meeting, council approved Christmas shopping hours for the week preceding the holiday. Major differences from the present schedule will see stores open all day Monday, Dec. 18, and open to 9 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 16.

In connection with late shopping hours, Ald. F. A. Beresford told the Daily News that bus service during this time has been placed on a half-hour schedule. It began last Friday and was received favorably by the public. It will continue, the chairman of the transportation committee said, during Christmas late shopping, and if it proves successful may be continued on Friday night shopping next year.

CELGAR PLANS EARLIER CLOSING

VANCOUVER (CP) — Columbia Cellulose Company will close its 35-man bleached kraft pulp mill at Castlegar a week or 10 days before the scheduled Christmas layup, company officials announced.

The shutdown is due to a high inventory from the mill and a temporary slackening in demand for kraft pulp. The officials said the mill will reopen after New Year's.

Council Urged To Study Closing Bylaw

A suggestion that the incoming city council should reconsider the city's business closing hours bylaw was made to city council.

"It think it's about time that we took another look at these bylaws," said Ald. B. C. Affleck, referring to an application of Mrs. Bernie Florio of 306 High Street for different business hours.

"I am opposed to prohibiting people from honest business at any time of the day or night."

"The incoming council might think of easing these restrictions," he mused in reference to correspondence from the Automotive Retailers Association.

Mrs. Florio, who operates a handicraft business in her home, wished to remain open all day Monday, and close Thursday and Wednesday of each week. Because of the city bylaws establishing business hours, council was unable to approve Mrs. Florio's request.

The automotive dealers asked that the city enforce their bylaw establishing operating hours, (8 a.m.-11 p.m. with permit in the summer and 8 a.m.-9 p.m. in the winter).

The matter was referred to the city police commission for action.

60 Men Walk Off Jobs at Passmore

A protest walkout by its employees shut down the giant Passmore Lumber Company sawmill and planing mill at Passmore Wednesday.

The 60 men walked off their jobs Wednesday morning protesting there had been mounting violations of their contract by management.

Elmer Atwood of Nelson, union representative of International Woodworkers Association, Local 1405, indicated that a meeting will be held today in Passmore to decide what action the employees should take.

Investigation of their grievances by the Department of Labor may be sought, it was hinted.

Yesterday afternoon and night Atwood and other union bargaining officials met with a lawyer representing Axel Erickson, owner of the company, in Castlegar to seek settlement of 10 grievances listed by the union. Little progress towards a solution was made, it was stated.

As yet the men in the lumber camps have not been affected by the walkout; nor have any men in other mills operated by the company in the Slocan Valley.

The possibility of the walkout spreading throughout firm's operations is not too distinct as the union claims that other mills face the same problem of contract violations.

The spark which ignited the mounting friction between employer and employees was recent firing of two employees, union officials said.

They had been members of a four-man loading gang, but had been fired, it was reported, when the loading was contracted to two men. The contracting had not been done in accordance with the contract, the union claims.

Among other grievances, the union charges that the management has refused to bargain collectively or to hear their grievances and has constantly referred them to the company's lawyer in Vancouver, and indicated there were more serious grievances than those released.

The union also charges that the company has unjustly fired several men and has violated its contract frequently since the contract was signed in the fall of 1960.

Mr. Erickson was not available for comment Wednesday night.

Health Units Meet Here

Progress on the proposed Health Centre is slow but satisfactory, the Selkirk Union Board of Health learned at a recent meeting in Nelson. Representatives from New Denver, Salmo and School District No. 7 attended.

School lighting was discussed and gratification at improvements expressed along with misgivings about some of less than desirable standard. Visit of the pollution control board was reported on, with "apathy of the public" stressed.

Under a proposed new itinerary of the Mental Health travelling clinic, it was stated that though they would come more frequently, total time here would be less per year than at present. This new form of visitation is the first step towards a static mental health clinic based in Trail, it was explained.

Reports outlining work of the past two months were read by the director, senior nurse, senior sanitarian and dental assistant.

Trail Will Undertake Only Wall Construction

TRAIL — A provincial government change in policy has brought Trail's proposed winter work program to an almost complete halt, it was learned here this week.

As matters stand at present, projects will be confined to the Daniel Street wall construction job now under way.

Whether it will become possible to engage in five or six other planned projects this winter has been left to the incoming council for decision.

Source of the slow-down is refusal of the provincial government to contribute its customary 25 per cent of Trail's winter work labor cost — unless the council hires social welfare recipients.

Victoria now has turned down a procedure which has enabled Trail to employ men and carry out considerable work over the past two winters.

It has said that Trail cannot rehire laid-off specialists, such as rock-masons, or keep at work men who otherwise would be laid off, and still qualify for a 25 per cent labor cost grant from Victoria.

Kootenay Ratepayers Vote In Cities, Villages Today

Trail will decide between two city men for its new mayor today, while Mayor Leslie Read, who has been chief councillor for the past six years, retires from city business for the time being. G. W. Barnsley and Joe Palyga are contesting the mayoralty.

They will also choose from nine candidates the three they wish to conduct the city's affairs as aldermen for a two-year term. Their bylaw issue is appointment of a city manager.

Castlegar will vote for chairman of the village commission, with Aage Sylvest applying for reelection and competing with R. C. Maddocks. Two commissioners will be chosen from V. R. Cook, W. W. Thorp, Frank Richardson, Bill Reed or Bob Rivers. C. Gorse, Eddie Conroy and Murray are contesting one-year term commissioner.

A bylaw vote watched with interest by many neighboring communities will be Castlegar's decision on expenditure of $420,000 for a sewage system.

Kinnaird has Carl Loeblich returned as chairman by acclamation and will vote for two commissioners from Pat Romaine, Ron Giles or Jake Hendricks.

In Creston, chairman C. W. Allan was returned by acclamation and two commissioners will be chosen from John DeYoung, Richard Hood, Dr. Keith Marling or Charles W. Perry and for one trustee from Willam Irvine or J. Roland Robinson.

At Fruitvale, G. A. Barrow and J. S. Bryan are running for chairman, Otto Schewe, Patrick Rockford and Orville Jamieson for commissioners.

In Rossland, Harold Elmes was returned as mayor by acclamation and John C. Miller, David L. Shaw, William Douglas, Cecil Skinner and Arthur J. Lees are running for three aldermanic seats.

Warfield's chairman and commissioners were returned by acclamation and the village will vote on a $100,000 paving bylaw.

At Montrose, K. A. Manton, M. Walsh and Alfred Webb are candidates for chairman; W. J. Casselman, Spencer Davies, L. C. Haas, Leonard Heinrick and C. L. Herne are running for two-year terms as commissioners and S. C. Henke and R. S. Webber are running for one-year terms. Montrose will vote on a $70,000 water works bylaw.

Salmo will vote on a bylaw for $16,000 to purchase a new fire truck. All the commission slate was returned by acclamation.

At Grand Forks, Mayor Alfred Downey was returned by acclamation and two seats for aldermen are being contested by William Areshenkoff, Jack Goddard and C. F. Wolfram.

In Greenwood, three aldermanic vacancies are being contested by Edward W. Berg, Thomas Kjorsvik, Allan R. Morrison and Herbert H. Sammersgill. Greenwood will vote on appointment of a city manager.

In Cranbrook, R. E. Sang and George Haddad are competing for the mayoralty. Mrs. W. O. Green, Edward Leonard, Joseph Ward, Jurgen Heyer and E. T. W. Rose are candidates for three vacancies on the council. A referendum of $450,000 will be asked for school construction program.

At Kimberley, former mayor R. C. Thompson is being opposed by Clifford Swan. Mark Beduz, D. F. Lane, David Ure, R. F. Aikins, John Peter Rokosh, M. E. Garden and J. H. R. Davis are competing for three aldermanic vacancies.

Chapman Camp will choose a trustee between L. E. Barrett and Matthew Malnarich.

Invermere is choosing a chairman from A. E. Erickson, and Eugene J. Lambert and two commissioners from Rudolf Becher, Jack Collins, Henry De La Salle, John Koralewics and Arthur Trapp.

Golden will see competition between G. E. Marrs and W. J. Zazulak, Stanley Lim, Gordon Milum, Clarence R. Sadler and John D. Sigalet will compete for two commission seats and Mrs. Myrtle M. Kimpton and Dr. E. Gordon Lapp will contest one seat as school trustee.

New Denver, Silverton, Taddanac, Warfield and Salmo slates were returned by acclamation.

Natal is holding is first official elections since incorporation this year.

In Fernie, E. T. Dicks, J. R. Minton, John Sweeney, Bruno Megale and L. A. Rushcall are contesting three aldermanic seats. David Chester, Dr. Sparling East, Albert Gotzy and Percy Starr are running for school trustee (two seats). Mayor James White was returned by acclamation.

New Denver Gov't Employees Elect Officers

NEW DENVER — The annual meeting of the New Denver Branch, B.C. Government Employees Association was followed by a dinner and dance.

President T. J. Bohan requested a few words at the dinner table from Randolph Harding, MLA, and D. Westaway, district engineer for the Kaslo-Slocan district.

Caterers were Mr. and Mrs. Charlwood and Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson.

Reelected president and president of the New Denver branch were Mr. Bohan and L. Crellin. Mrs. R. MacDonald of the Social Welfare Department was elected secretary, a position she held prior to 1960.

Trail Churches Advised Can Be No Tax Refund

TRAIL — Exemption of taxation of Christian Education centres does not apply in the case of churches which did not file appeals this year, city solicitor Douglas Wetmore has advised the city council.

Accordingly, the council decided Monday night, there can be no refund of taxes made to the Anglican and Baptist Churches of Trail.

The two churches had asked for refunds on the grounds that an appeal board had exempted the Knox and East Trail United Churches from payment of taxes on Christian Education centres.

"With respect to those who did not appeal the assessment," Mr. Wetmore wrote to the council, "there is no authority in the act for the collector to vary the assessment roll after it has been certified, nor for him to forgive taxes.

"Accordingly, it is not in order to remit any taxes back to the payer in these cases."

Harvey Murphy Speaks To Kimberley Local

KIMBERLEY — International organizer Harvey Murphy addressed a special meeting of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Local 651 Tuesday night.

Mr. Murphy reported on the situation in the Sudbury-Port Colborne area in Eastern Canada. Mr. Murphy reported that more than 3500 members in attendance at large membership meeting held in that area gave the national executive and Thomas Taylor the power to intervene on their behalf when President Gillis denied them membership meetings as regularly scheduled.

Local 651 endorsed a motion to invite three members of the Steel Workers Union of Sault Ste. Marie to come to Kimberley to review with local union members a medical plan which is giving complete coverage to the union members in the Kimberley area.

Local 651 officials say they hope in this way to assist another local union whose national officers are trying to force them to accept what Local 651 considers on inferior medical health plan.

The meeting cheered a telegram from the Mine Workers of America condemning the raid by the Steel Workers Union against the Sudbury and Port Colborne Mine, Mill and Smelter Worker Locals. The telegram from the United Mine Workers expressed full solidarity with the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers in the fight. It was sent on behalf of District 18 by President Edward Boyd.

The meeting dealt with the wage and contract proposal to be made by the Union to the C. M. & S. Company.

Miner Killed by Planks at Michel

MICHEL — John Rastocnik, age 40, a Michel miner, was fatally injured in the south mine at Michel Colliery Tuesday afternoon.

While working on the afternoon shift, Rastocnik and partner were building a chute at the time of the accident. A heavy plank which was being lowered down the chute with a rope, came loose and went down the chute out of control. It struck some planks piled in the chute and knocked them down against Rastocnik.

The victim received severe head injuries and it is believed death was instantaneous.

Surviving are his wife and one child.

Mr. Rastocnik had been employed by the Crowsnest Pass Coal Company at Michel for the past one and a half years. He originally came from Yugoslavia, coming to Canada in 1951. He came to Michel from Edmonton.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed but an inquest has been ordered by coroner L. F. Cheston to be held on Monday, Dec. 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the Union Hall at Natal.

Freedom's Cause Served by Your Vote

Today is election day in the cities, towns and villages of British Columbia with the exception of Vancouver and Victoria.

Today is an important one in this land of freedom of choice. It is well that we keep this in mind and be sure we exercise our right to vote, for by so doing we are keeping alive our freedom to choose. Looked at in this light then, our privilege becomes a duty, and with this in mind we urge you, the voters, to get to the polls today and elect the candidates of your choice.

The election campaign in Nelson has been a quiet one in comparison with former years when a mayor was to be elected, but this does not lessen the importance of the decision to be made at the polls today.

It has also been a cleanly contested affair with only slight evidence of personalities being involved.

We hope this does not mean a lack of interest among the voters. We trust there will be a large turnout today at the Memorial Hall, where the ballotting takes place from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Yes, today you choose. Today you vote as you please, but please vote.

Compensation for Cominco

In Cominco's brief to the Water Rights Comptroller it should be noted that the company does not take exception to the building of the Columbia dams nor express any opposition to them. It merely asks that in the event of production from their existing power plants being lessened that they be compensated for the loss of energy.

In the case of the Kootenay River the company feels that regulation of the flow from the Duncan dam would insure that there is no loss of power at the plants there, but believes that any of the dams, Mica, High Arrow or Duncan River as well as the proposed alternative of the Associated Boards of Trade of Southeastern B.C., will adversely affect the flow of the Pend d'Oreille River.

Whether this is so depends on engineering studies, but the company is preserving its right by asking for the condition to be added to the licence granted to B.C. Power Corporation. It is interesting to note that if loss occurs it asks that this loss be made good in terms of water or power.

This appears to be an eminently sensible arrangement to which no government could possibly fail to agree.

If They Had Known

Everyone on this continent should be fascinated to hear that, according to a Communist Chinese newspaper, Christopher Columbus has a new rival. America, says the newspaper, was discovered by Chinese Buddhists a thousand years before Columbus crossed the Atlantic.

In making this claim, the Chinese Communists are following a familiar pattern. Not so many years ago, the world was astonished to learn that almost everything from safety pins to telephones had first been discovered in Russia.

Since Russia has achieved its space triumphs these claims have diminished; the national ego no longer needs their dubious support. Instead, we can expect that China will take over where the Russians left off in this business of gobbling up inventions.

Alas, Watt, Stephenson, Edison, Bell and all the others toiled in vain. And so did poor Columbus. Someone had been there before them!

People Canada Wants

Not long ago the open acres of Canada welcomed most eagerly immigrants with strong arms and a love of the soil.

In the first nine months of 1961, 27,872 immigrants classified by occupational groups came to Canada.

Of these, 5130 were laborers or agricultural workers. Of the remainder, 15,357 were in the professions, or came to work as clerks or in manufacturing, mechanical and construction trades.

Canadians who wonder whether they could continue with their education for university or skilled work, should read these figures and learn what their country needs. Muscles and green thumbs are not so important now.—Ottawa Journal.

It's Been Said

Whoopers Win

To railroad builders above all, as a rule, an article of faith is the proposition that the shortest distance between two points is the best one.

But the straight line to link the Canadian National Railways with a new lead and zinc mining area near Great Slave Lake is through Wood Buffalo Park, within sight and sound of the summer nesting place of the world's only surviving flock of whooping cranes. Construction crews and rumbling ore trains might well upset the highly nervous birds to the point of complete extinction.

CNR engineers mapped an alternate route nineteen miles longer than otherwise necessary, giving the nesting ground a safe wide berth, and put it up to Parliament whether to spend the extra money. The lawmakers of conservation-conscious Canada unhesitatingly took the responsibility of saying yes.

Since the CNR is government owned and runs a big deficit, Canadian taxpayers will thus invest a considerable added sum in the international effort to save the whoopers. Heartwarming in our hardheaded culture it is to see this sense of values prevail.—Milwaukee Journal.

PRESS COMMENT

EFFECTIVE STUNT

The Americans as the whole world knows have an outstanding talent for publicity stunts and Texas, the part that is bigger and better than the whole, is outdone by none of them.

So we can be forgiven for suspecting that Moscow, Texas, is engaging in nothing more than a publicity stunt — and an effective one— in preparing to petition the United Nations to ask the U.S.S.R. to change the name of its capital.

If the people of Moscow, Texas, are serious, however, it might be suggested that they change the name of their own town to New Moscow, or even New New Moscow since they claim it was named after Moscow, Tenn. The Russians would only be confused by a request to change the name of their capital, which to them isn't Moscow. It's Moskva.

Business Spotlight . . .

Primary, Secondary Industries Confusing

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

One of the most difficult Canadian debates to follow is that concerning the relative importance to Canada of her primary and secondary industries.

This is because the many thousands of words spoken on the subject give little clear idea as to what the speakers actually advocate.

Spokesmen for primary industries — agriculture, mining, forestry — say nothing must be done in the way of protection for manufacturing that would bring reprisals from other countries and endanger the present huge markets for Canadian primary products.

Spokesmen for manufacturing declare that Canada cannot employ her people unless manufacturing grows at a faster rate, and they indicate that added protection or encouragement of some kind is needed in certain areas.

REGRET ROLES

Both sides recognize the necessity of both primary and manufacturing industries, and some express regret that they appear to be cast in such opposing roles, because they have so many mutual interests.

They sometimes appear to be as far apart as "free trade" versus "high tariffs," but probably hardly anyone on either side takes an extreme view. Altogether, it is difficult to judge how far they are apart, or how near they may be, in their thinking.

A. T. Lambert, president of the Toronto-Dominion Bank, referred to the problem in his address to the bank's annual meeting Monday and said, in effect, that it is time to get the situation clarified.

"We are rich in many natural resources but with few exceptions they are also in ample supply in other parts of the world. Competition for world markets is keen and we know that if we are to sell abroad we must also be prepared to do some buying abroad. There is conflict between this and our desire and need to support and stimulate production for home use.

"We know we must have a healthy secondary industry if we are to provide the employment necessary, just as we appreciate that our exports are also an essential part of maintaining our standard of living."

Mr. Lambert said only limited progress had been made in attempts to rationalize these opposing aspects.

Another challenge was to find a formula under which government, management and labor could work together to improve productivity "and make us more able to prosper in the new atmosphere of international competition."

Interpreting The News

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

United States authorities greatly admire the work, sincerity and fortitude of Conor Cruise O'Brien but they suggest his charges against Britain and France may be a bit out of focus with the facts in the Congo war against rebellious Katanga province.

That is why, officially, the U.S. remains silent on the accusations of the 44-year-old Irishman who charged the British and French governments with frustrating the United Nations effort to tame mineral-rich Katanga and force it to submit to the rule of the central Congolese administration.

American authorities feel that perhaps Britain and France could have done more to help end the Katanga struggle; that perhaps they may be guilty of "sins of omission." But in general the U.S. has no complaint of the propriety of British-French operations in The Congo.

While there is a great deal of sympathy for O'Brien in American quarters, there also is a view O'Brien may not have been in the best position to judge whether his charge against Britain and France is entirely accurate.

HAD LOCALITIS?

The Irish diplomat, who quit his own career job as well as that of UN chief in Katanga, may have suffered from "localitis," one American official suggests. This is a diplomatic disease of reaching sweeping conclusions on the basis of local incidents.

In his latest accusations, O'Brien has placed particular emphasis on actions of local British officials in Katanga. Americans acknowledge that O'Brien is "a pretty good judge" of what went on locally, but he also has rounded into his accusations such other officials as British Prime Minister Macmillan.

Lack of American support may tend to reduce the strength of O'Brien's charges. But it appears the U.S. may support the British-French position with something less than full enthusiasm.

It is unlikely that Afro-Asian nations, as well as the Communist bloc, will allow the O'Brien charges to die. Focus of a stronger United Nations light on the Congo entanglement could possibly tend to quieten the struggle and force removal of the European mercenaries known to be still active in Katanga.

F. B. Pearce ...Writes

The Good Book says that the young men shall dream dreams and the old see visions. I am afraid Mr. Affleck has been looking at the spinning generators in the power plant until he has become hypnotized. He sees it as a super cow pouring out milk for the ratepayers of Nelson, while I see it is a separator skimming the cream off my wage check.

He says the power plant is worth $2,000,000. Who says so? I don't and who would give that amount for it? The truth of the matter is that the plant has been in operaton since 1906, which is 55 years ago. Since industrial plants become obsolete long before that it is reasonable to suppose much of the plant is obsolescent. Hence it is not likely to be worth $2,000,000.

Still for the purpose of argument I am willing to accept that figure.

Mr. Affleck says that the system earned $636,046.06 in 1960. Don't expect me to lead loud shouts of applause. It is far too much. The ordinary public utility is allowed to make 6 per cent on its investment. Six per cent of $2,000,000 is $120,000 and one-fifth of what the customers were actually mulcted.

On the other hand if you want to insist that is fair then allowing for a six per cent profit the system is worth $10,600,767 which we know isn't true.

Mr. Affleck tells us that the amount earned was actually $77,618.93 more than taxes. Once again my applause is conspicous by its absence. For who pays the light bills and the taxes? We do, so we cannot possibly be saving any money through this over-fat profit.

In fact it is impossible to save any money by producing and selling to one's self, otherwise all manufacturers would sell their products to themselves and become rich. A much simpler example is to suppose yourself making an article which cost you ninety cents to make and selling it to yourself for $1. Do you really think you would have ten cents?

Councils in the past have too often resorted to subterfuge when they wanted to gull the people into believing that they were keeping taxation down. A few years ago the water rates were raised to an amount which, added to the taxes would have resulted in a raise of several mills and there was not the slightest warrant for the last increase in electricity was entirely unwarranted. If the rates had been raised by a private company, this community would have squealed to high heaven.

Actually we may not be very much better off under this system of camouflage and subterfuge but for goodness sake don't let's kid ourselves. We are not getting rich enough to pay our taxes by selling electricity to ourselves.

About Books

Daughter of Silence (George J. McLeod Ltd., Toronto) by Morris L. West is a novel, discerning and compassionate in its approach to basal issues.

Contemporary Italy is the scenic environment for this fiction story which primarily deals with a young woman's murder trial. More than 16 years of sinister history are unearthed throughout the course of the trial.

A young lawyer defends the girl in the hopes of breaking the despotism of a brilliant father-in-law and regain the affection of a wife who repels him.

There are taut conflicts in the courtroom countered with the troubled intimacies of a summer villa near Siena.

Always, the characters are set against the landscape of Tuscany, "where the wine is sweetened by the blood of forgotten mercenaries and the cypresses grow out of the mouths of dead princes."

Chracterizations are drawn with vitality and force and richly painted. The tragic Anna will linger piercingly in the mind. Her story is one of Vendetta, boccon' di Dio, (Vengeance — a morsel for God).

Modern love is woven throughout this poignant tale with all its mazes of dignity, corruption and entangled intrigue.

Certainly Italy is an ideal setting for such a story — a land where historic passions erupt into dramas of sometimes tragic dimension.

Daughter of Silence possesses force, impact and suspense.

VANDALS HIT SCHOOLS

MONTREAL (CP) — Four juveniles and one adult were being questioned Wednesday by police in connection with an outbreak of vandalism in 20 Montreal-area schools since last September. Police said the vandalism has caused $15,000 damage. About $600 in cash and cheques were stolen from the schools.

SIX MOSLEMS KILLED

ALGIERS (Reuters) — Six Moslems were killed and 15 persons were injured Tuesday in attacks throughout Algeria, military officials said Wednesday. At Lyons, France assailants machine-gunned two cafes from a car Tuesday night, killing four Algerians and wounding two Moslems and a European. The occupants of the vehicle were believed to be Moslems.

Britain's Prime Minister Has Many Baffling Worries

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan's administration is floundering in one of those sticky patches that confront governments every so often.

Macmillan himself, always a political realist, would probably disarmingly admit that things aren't going exactly as planned.

First, there's the immigration bill. After a lot of pressure from Conservative backbenchers headed by Sir Cyril Osborne, who visualized Britain becoming a sort of Afro-Asian society, the government decided it had to do something to control the numbers of immigrants coming to the country.

To avoid any suggestions that the bill was aimed principally at brown and black newcomers from India and Pakistan, the government indicated that the restrictive provisions would apply also to white-skinned Irishmen, the largest single contingent invading these shores.

HARD TO CONTROL

Anybody could see, however, that immigration from the republic would be almost impossible to control. They could "escape" to Britain by way of Northern Ireland, which is part of the United Kingdom.

So things went, as The Times said, from "bad to worse." The opposition parties accused the government of hypocrisy, and many Conservatives joined the attack.

Lord Altrincham, in The Guardian of Manchester, says that the bill is the misbegotten child of popular prejudice and ministerial cowardice. He calls it a "vile piece" of legislation and asks why the royal family doesn't do something to break down color barriers.

"An unscheduled visit to Southampton when a boatload of West Indians was disembarking; Prince Philip discussing employment prospects with the men; the Queen speaking with gentle affection to the wives and children—this would do a power of good."

There is no doubt about the depth of feeling the legislation has aroused. The government seems to have felt that something had to be done to regulate the increasing rates of immigration, and that the bill would have a lot of popular support in constituencies where the concentration of colored population has caused friction.

BUTLER BLAMED

Parliamentary observers are openly talking of a blunder. They say the blame belongs on the shoulders of R. A. Butler, the home secretary, who has been having a rough time recently. It seems a safe bet that the bill will have to be amended, even though it has already received second reading.

From time to time, the government is also being criticized for failing to give a strong lead to public opinion on economic issues. It is frequently said that the British people are conscious that there is a financial crisis of sorts, but that they don't know what the government wants them to do because there are so many contradictory statements.

Habitues of the House of Commons are inclined to say that much of the fault lies with Selwyn Lloyd, the chancellor of the exchequer. In sophisticated comment, Lloyd is regarded as a worthy, well-intentioned man whose "public face," the critics say, somehow does not inspire confidence.

As foreign secretary, Lloyd's dismissal was regarded as imminent nearly every week for about two years, but he stayed stubbornly in office. Now another round of "Selwyn-to-resign" reports may be in prospect, this time with a better chance of fulfilment.

Kennedy Calls for Lowering Tariffs

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy called Wednesday for a lowering of tariffs in a "new and bold" program to frustrate Communist plans for economic encirclement of the West.

He urged U.S. co-operation with the European Common Market along with the lowering of tariffs to stimulate trade among friendly countries.

If the countries of the West can agree "on a common program of action as extraordinary in economic history as NATO was unprecedented in military history," the president said, "the long-range Communist aim of dividing and encircling us all is doomed to failure."

He added:

"I am not proposing—nor is it either necessary or desirable — that we join the Common Market, alter our concepts of political sovereignty, establish a 'rich man's' trading community, abandon our traditional most-favored-nation policy, create an Atlantic free trade area or impair in any way our close economic ties with Canada, Japan and the rest of the free world."

BROAD PREVIEW

Kennedy picked a conference of industrialists to preview in broad terms the authority he will seek from Congress to give him greater freedom in bargaining for tariff favors.

That authority would reduce levies on some U.S. imports and increase foreign competition with U.S. industry.

But, Kennedy said in a speech prepared for the National Association of Manufacturers' Congress of American Industry:

"Economic isolation and political leadership are wholly incompatible."

He said reciprocal cuts in tariffs on both sides of the Atlantic would increase U.S. sales abroad and thus strengthen both the U.S. and its allies.

He proposed economic co-operation between the United States and the European Common Market, an association of six nations in which Great Britain has applied for membership. Some 90 per cent of free world industrial production may soon be concentrated in these two great markets, he said.

"I am proposing, in short, a new American trade initiative which will make it possible for the economic potential of these two great markets to be harnessed together into a team capable of pulling the full weight of our common military, economic and political aspirations," Kennedy said.

CONFIRMS SPECULATION

The president confirmed speculation that he would ask Congress for power to bargain with other nations for tariff reductions by such entire categories of goods as industrial equipment or textiles, for example, instead of item-by-item.

If the West is to take the economic initiative, and if the U.S. is to keep up with revolutionary changes in world commerce—and if U.S. exports are to expand — "then we need a new and bold instrument of American trade policy."

The president did not give any particulars on the authority he wants, but he did draw enough of a picture to ordain an explosive debate in Congress between protectionists and free trade forces next year.

He left no doubt that he would launch at once his own campaign for a greater flow of international trade.

"The hour of decision has arrived," he said. "We cannot afford to 'wait and see what happens' while the tide of events sweeps over and beyond us."

Leave for New York After Nelson Wedding, Reception

A three-week motor trip to New York, where they will arrive in time for Christmas, follows the recent wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cumming at Blessed Sacrament Church in Fairview.

Of wide interest is the marriage solemnized by Rev. Dominic Langi between Ilsa Baker, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. H. U. Baker of Perth, Australia, and niece of Mrs. Ilsa Williams of Nelson, and Mr. Michael Cumming of Perth. The quiet, pretty morning service was witnessed by close friends and relatives.

Mrs. Cumming, who has been resident in the Nelson and Kaslo area since Easter, was given in marriage by Mr. Kurt Thomas of Kaslo, and Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Arlidge of Nelson were attendants of the bride and bridegroom.

A charmingly appointed reception followed at Mrs. Williams' home on the North Shore. Dr. A. M. Barrera of Kaslo, who proposed the bridal toast, read many telegrams from friends and relatives in all parts of the world.

Attending the reception were Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Arlidge and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Stewardson of Nelson; Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Thomas, Joy, Robin and Alan, and Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Barrera, all of Kaslo; Mr. Frank Siebert of Kaslo and Calgary and Mr. David May of Balfour.

Mr. and Mrs. Cumming plan to visit England and Ireland at a later date before returning to Australia.

During the six months they will be in New York, Mr. Cumming will be foreign correspondent for the Sydney Morning Herald of Australia.

Popcorn Balls in Plastic, Favorite Lebkuchen . . .

Favorite Yule Confections Get Slightly New Twist

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Do you want to start collecting traditional Christmas recipes? Then two great favorites, popcorn balls and lebkuchen, should be among them.

The popcorn balls look so pretty decked out in plastic wrapping and bright trimmings to hang on the Christmas tree, to give as gifts, to use as favors at youngsters' parties. This recipe is a reliable standard one, but this year it's flavored with peppermint. Although it always surprises us, small fry favor that essence as much as do oldsters.

Lebkuchen is a famous cookie of German origin. It's usually rolled, but in this recipe it has undergone a transformation. Its old-time spicy flavor is still there, but a quick trick is added to the making: this version of lebkuchen is a time-saving drop cookie.

These cookies need to be stored to mellow, so you can make them well ahead of the holiday.

PEPPERMINT POPCORN BALLS

One-quarter cup corn oil, ½ cup popcorn, ½ cup dark corn syrup, ½ teaspoon peppermint essence (may be bought at drugstore), ½ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt.

Heat oil in a 4-quart kettle over medium heat for 3 minutes. Add popcorn. Cover, leaving a small air space at edge of cover. Shake often over medium heat until popping stops. Meanwhile mix together corn syrup, peppermint essence, sugar and salt; add to popped corn in kettle and stir over medium heat for 3 to 5 minutes or until corn is evenly coated with mixture. Remove from heat. Form into balls, using as little pressure as possible. (It may be easiest for you to do this shaping if you butter your hands.) Makes 10 to 12 medium-sized popcorn balls. Do not double this recipe; make another batch of it if you want more of the confection. Wrap popcorn balls in transparent plastic wrapping and decorate with bright holiday trimmings.

NEW LEBKUCHEN

Two and three-quarter cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon each nutmeg and cloves, ¼ teaspoon ground cardamom, ½ cup finely chopped mixed candied fruit, ½ cup finely chopped walnuts, 1 cup dark corn syrup, ¾ cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 egg (slightly beaten).

Sift together the flour, baking soda, cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves and cardamom; mix in candied fruit and walnuts.

Add corn syrup, brown sugar, grated lemon rind and lemon juice to egg; mix well.

Add flour mixture and mix thoroughly.

Cut rounds of waxed paper so each is 4 inches in diameter; you can use a saucer to trace around; grease top side of each paper. Place papers, greased side up, about 2 inches apart on a greased cookie sheet. Place 2 heaping tablespoons of the cookie dough in the center of each greased paper. Dip fingers or palms in hot water and spread dough evenly to within ¼-inch of outer edge of papers. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven for 12 to 14 minutes or until lightly browned and firm to the touch. Remove to wire racks to cool, but do not remove papers from cookies. Makes 2 to 3 dozen giant-size cookies.

To Frost and Decorate: While cookies are still farm, brush with a thin confectioners' sugar and water icing or add a chocolate glaze; decorate with colored sprinkles or whole or slivered blanched almonds.

To Store . . . These cookies must be stored in a tightly covered container for overnight to 2 weeks for their flavor to develop and mellow. To have their texture get slightly chewy, put half an apple (on a piece of waxed paper or transparent wrapping) in the cookie container.

Note: . . . For the candied fruits that go into these cookies, we used a pleasant mixture of candied cherries, citron and lemon peel.

LEBKUCHEN GOES MODERN
It is dropped instead of rolled.

POPCORN BALLS with new flavor. This year there's a hint of peppermint.

Marriage Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. John Bonacci announce the marriage of their only daughter Virginia Ann to John Blackwood Bennett, only son of Mrs. D. E. Bennett of Victoria. Marriage took place on November 12 in Bellingham, Washington.

Edgewood

EDGEWOOD—Mrs. R. A. Yeld and Mrs. H. Watson spent a week visiting friends in Nelson.

Miss Annette Hopp has returned from Trail where she has completed a course at business college.

H. E. Farrer is a business visitor to Vancouver.

Kaslo WI Elects Mrs. Green as '62 President

KASLO — Kaslo and District Woman's Institute held its annual meeting at the Senior Citizen's Club Room.

President Mrs. Fred Speirs gave a report on activities and accomplishments of the past year.

An election of officers for the forthcoming year took place with Mrs. R. E. Green chosen president; Mrs. F. Chandler, vice-president; Mrs. M. Dameron, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. M. Johnson, Mrs. H. Carlson, Mrs. Kerby, directors. Mrs. Speirs was appointed hospital visitor.

Arrangements were made for Christmas parcels and cards to be sent to the Old Folks Home, out of town members and shut-ins.

Mrs. Hugh Herbison of Argenta addressed the meeting, her topic the origin of "Voice of Women" and its aims and objectives, which are concerned with world peace. She plans to address the WI at a later date when the project can be discussed more fully. A pleasant social period was enjoyed, with refreshments served by Mrs. Kerby, assisted by Mrs. Green.

Arrives for Work, Finds Gift Shower

The bride-elect attended a shower in her honor, dressed in jeans and shirt and carrying a bucket and floor mop.

Mrs. Walter Rilkoff, nee Stella Lebedoff, was honored prior to her marriage December 2 by a number of friends who entertained in her honor at a surprise miscellaneous shower at the Crescent Valley Community Hall.

She had arrived at the hall to clean it for the wedding and was dressed for work when she found on arrival that her friends were there to greet her and the event turned into a social affair instead of a work day.

Many gifts were presented to her, displayed under an opened umbrella and a good luck sign.

Corsages were presented to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Tim Lebedoff.

Bingo and other games were enjoyed and many prizes won.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. John Rilkoff, Mrs. Nick Rilkoff and Mrs. Pete Rilkoff.

Your Individual Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is according to the stars.

For Friday, December 8, 1961

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Take a well defined non-partisan viewpoint, you can come through with flying colors. Show sane altruism where needed and rate top-notch returns. Don't hedge, be direct.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) —you could be imposed upon in matters you handle well yourself. Be firm but diplomatic in using your better judgment. Review facts before decisions in business, finances.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Mercury rays do not register heavily. Be circumspect in choice of endeavor, method of approach. Permit no random or unconnected thoughts to rule the roost.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) —Very auspicious indications: your planet Moon. Action must be screened thoroughly to weed out the non-essential. Aim to keep pace with, and even pass, current competition.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Good prospects for sound, financial and other matters. Pretty much on your own today but there is help for the asking. Just be certain you are asking right sources. Have confidence in self.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Note advise to Gemini. Some uncertainties could cause confusion, disillusionment if you don't take things sensibly. Be thorough in all dealings; check for possible loopholes.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Desire is half the battle. To know that it is pointed in the right direction is another quarter. Finally, to give the proper impetus and pace and results will certainly be forthcoming.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — May find competition keen. All benefits, openings not readily discernable. Elect to stride forward with full knowledge that correctly applied effort brings home the prize.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Carrying out vital activities at the opportune time helps steady progress. Conscientious handling of current issues important. Pour into efforts proper ingredients for success.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Partly eventful day. Planets speak of not permitting work, new duties, exacting demands to cause you to feel "let down." You are capable, efficient; be yourself and achieve.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 20 (Aquarius) — Uranus tends toward the vividly propitious, using your keen sense of deduction and working at peak efficiency augurs for advancement. Change course to fit circumstances.

FEBRUARY 12 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Neptune rays parallel Aquarius' now. Be strong in trust placed in you. Shy away from reckless acts which do not portray wishes and desires of the true Piscean.

YOU BORN TODAY are idealistic, roundly gifted; at time impulsive to point of hurting loved ones who are trying to help your career. Set aside one-sided ideology which is at variance with your true democratic intentions. Curb overwork and any leanings toward boastfulness, over-assurance. You have so many versatile capabilities which exercised fully can bring you straight up the ladder of achievement to the top. Keep improving constantly and strive for understanding when a difficult situation arises that calls for immediate and unrehearsed action. One does not always have time to call on valued advice, but your intuition can assist notably. Birthdate of: Horace, Roman poet; Christina, Queen of Sweden; Wm. C. Prince Philip Favors Own School For Son

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP) — It looks as though Prince Philip is determined that Prince Charles should follow in father's footsteps.

Charles is coming up to his 13th birthday, and an announcement is expected soon about the next stage of his education. Although Eton has long been favored, the choice now seems likely to fall on Gordonstoun, a public school near the rugged Moray sea coast in northeast Scotland.

Gordonstoun's most famous graduate is Prince Philip, and there are persistent reports that he has been pressing to have his son follow suit. The Queen is thought to prefer Eton, the famous school near Windsor that traditionally produces Britain's ruling elite.

Eton is a special favorite with Queen Mother Elizabeth, who often visits the school. Putting one's son down for Eton, it is said, is like stamping a coronet on the baby's bottom. It breeds what Britons call "Top People," leaders in politics and industry whose easy urbanity sometimes borders on arrogance.

About half the present British cabinet went to Eton.

There is a feeling that Eton's social snobbery may be ill attuned to a time of declining imperial grandeur. Whereas Eton caters for bluebloods, Gordonstoun goes in for classlessness. Some regard it as significant that the Queen recently paid a visit to the Scottish school.

Gordonstoun would mark a definite break with precedent. It was founded in 1934 by Dr. Kurt Hahn, a German Jew who fled from the Nazis. It puts emphasis on outdoor activities, including a mountain rescue service, a fire station and a navigation classroom full of model ships, flags and charts.

The fire station houses two engines, complete with pump, helmets and axes.

Some have portrayed Gordonstoun as a school accenting a Sandhurst - style toughness, but in fact it has a good record with delicate children. Its academic standards are high. Scottish Field, a magazine published in Glasgow, recently called Gordonstoun a "dynamic and progressive school . . . as sound in its training of the mind as . . . of the body."

PLEASING SETTING

The school buildings, with a pleasing touch of Dutch colonial architecture, have been fashioned out of farm holdings of the 17th and 18th century. Avenues of trees, flower displays and a lake complete the setting.

The headmaster is Robert Chew, who helped Dr. Hahn in the founding of Gordonstoun. Dr. Hahn has left to establish similar schools elsewhere.

Two old Etonians, Lord Altrincham and Lord Kilbracken, have said publicly they hope Charles won't go to their old school.

Altrincham, whose father was equerry to King Edward VIII, now the Duke of Windsor, describes Eton as the snob school par excellence.

LITTLE IN COMMON

"Charles III will have little in common with his Stuart namesakes," he writes. "If the contrast is to be fully observed between the feudal monarchy based on Divine Right and the new democratic monarchy, he had better not be an old Etonian."

Lord Chatham long ago said he "scarce observed a boy who was not cowed for life" at Eton—but the queue for places nevertheless remains a long one.

Charles now is in at Cheam, a small "prep" or preparatory school near Newbury, founded in 1646. Prince Philip also went to Cheam. Although the boy who will one day be king is said to be more like his mother than his father, there seems reason to believe that Philip's preference for Gordonstoun will be decisive.

Britons Brood Over Battle Of Hastings Celebrations

By DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP)—While Canadians bubble with plans for their 1967 centenary celebrations, Britons are brooding about the impending 900th anniversary of the Battle of Hastings.

No one doubts the battle's importance. Despite strong challenges from dates like 1588, 1805 and 1940, the year 1066 retains its unique connection with the greatest invasion England has ever known.

Because of this every self-respecting Englishman is perfectly aware that the creative conscience of his race was forged in the battle heat at Hastings.

But there are problems—as Hastings borough council learned recently when it announced plans to mount a joint Anglo-French mock invasion to commemorate the Norman Conquest.

Although 900 years of integration makes it difficult for many people to decide whether Hastings was a tragic defeat or a glorious victory, reaction to the council's plans reveals that Anglo - Saxon attitudes are bitter still and Norman blood can boil yet.

TAKING SIDES

Battle ranks began to form in the letters column of The Daily Telegraph and the first arrow—a Saxon shaft — came from the bow of Rear - Admiral G. J. Creswell.

He deplored the fact that an English defeat by a foreign "gangster" should be celebrated at all. Harold, the admiral asserted, was undoubtedly the "noblest figure" of the fray.

Retaliation came from Norman sympathizer Mary Darby. She pointed out that "by the standards of the day the Bastard of Falaise had the strongest possible claim to the crown of England."

A Celt named O'Connor sided with the anti-Saxons by damning Harold as a murderer's son, a bigamist and a usurper who met his just reward by dying with a Norman arrow in his eye.

As the ranks began to close, an impartial bystander suddenly turned anger into confusion by announcing that William did not land at Hastings at all.

"It is indisputable that William landed at Pevensey, some 12 miles west of Hastings," wrote Trevor Norman. "Accordingly the worthy villagers of Pevensey are going ahead with plans to celebrate the landing in their own willage."

BATTLE STEPS IN

At this point an historical society in a Sussex community called Battle, named after the inland village where the forces met, decided it was time to soothe the belligerents with a "band of brothers" theme.

Chairman C. T. Chevallier—a suspected Norman—said the society fully appreciates all the graces and virtues of Harold but also believes that the Normans, although cruel, "imparted organization and cohesion to the previously discordant English."

"We of Pevensey, Hastings and Battle are surely right to commemorate this great if tragic happening. For in us, as demonstrably in all Englishmen everywhere, mingles the blood of conquerors and conquered alike."

The society's compromise may end hostilities but some experts have suggested it would be better to adopt the solution first worked out by W. C. Sellar and R. J. Yeatman in 1066 and All That.

Their version says that Harold was good and weak, William was good but ruthless; the battle was both a "Good Thing" and a "Bad Thing" and its principal purpose was to make England "top nation" so that history proper could begin.

Spiritual Cause Topic of Sermon

Spiritual understanding of God's creation helps man meet everyday problems. This was a leading point of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Only Cause and Creator" heard at Christian Science churches Sunday.

From the Bible was read the account of the healing by Christ Jesus of the centurion's son (Matt. 8).

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy included this: "Jesus of Nazareth was the most scientific man that ever trod the globe. He plunged beneath the material surface of things, and found the spiritual cause."

PROFIT EXPECTED

VANCOUVER (CP)—A $200,000 profit is expected from this year's Pacific National Exhibition, despite a poorer attendance. The profit would be an increase of $25,000 over the previous year.

Frondizi Accustomed To Crises

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Arturo Frondizi, the slim, austere Argentine president who starts a four-day state visit to Canada Nov. 27, has lived in an almost continuous atmosphere of crisis since he took office three years ago.

The 53-year-old politician, a gaunt six-footer with a prominent nose and a talent for compromise, has calmly survived one attack after another—from right and left.

The military leaders who ousted dictator Juan Peron in 1955 and supervised the 1958 elections that swept Frondizi to inently in the background, bristling at any sign that leftists or Peronistas were gaining power in the administration.

These latter groups, meanwhile have been accused of fomenting the labor unrest and terrorist bombings that have plagued the government. In one count, Frondizi was said to have survived 22 separate crises in his first 18 months in office.

FORCEFUL SPEAKER

The president, a solemn and dignified man but credited with a lively sense of humor, is a forceful speaker who tends to make his arguments intellectual rather than emotional.

One of 13 children of an Italian immigrant family, he was born Oct. 28, 1908, in the north-central province of Corrientes. He joined the left-of-centre Radical party as a teen-ager and kept up his political activity through law school at the University of Buenos Aires.

He practised law while continuing to dabble in politics and gradually worked his way to the upper levels of the party.

He was the Radical party's candidate for vice-president in 1951 when Peron won re-election with his own men supervising the ballot counting. Shortly afterward Frondizi was imprisoned briefly by the Peron regime for his outspoken opposition.

With the overthrow of the dictator in 1955, Frondizi set his sights on the presidency and broke with his party when he felt he was being squeezed out of the presidential nomination. He formed his intransigent Radical party, campaigned long and hard and became what was termed the first honestly-elected Argentine leader in 30 years.

IMMEDIATE CRISES

He inherited a political and economic ruin, legacies of the corruption and extravagances of the Peron regime, and almost immediately was forced to begin crompromising his way through a series of crises that threatened to topple his government.

On one occasion in 1959, after three days of tense jockeying with unhappy military chiefs, he met with reporters and told them;

"Well gentlemen, good evening. I have received you because you wanted to see me. You are seeing me and I am here working in my constitutional duties. Tomorrow I will attend flag swearing ceremonies to which I invite you. Good night gentlemen."

At times Frondizi has been forced to sacrifice key officials of his regime under pressure from military or political sources. So far this year two foreign ministers have resigned.

PRESSURE DWINDLES

Also leaving the government this year was Alvaro Alsogaray, a onetime opponent whom Frondizi named economy minister in 1959 to lead an austerity program that helped to stabilize the Argentine economy.

With the pressure less intense recently, Frondizi has had more time to spend with his wife and grown daughter, Elena, in the spacious presidential residence in the suburbs of Buenos Aires.

But crises still pop up—the latest major one in August when a handful of men led by an air force officer seized the government radio briefly and called for overthrow of the regime.

Throughout, Frondizi has resisted all demands for his resignation with a stock reply:

"I was elected president of Argentina and I intend to serve."

PROTESTS ATTACKS

NEW YORK (AP)—The Inter-American Press Association says police attacks on newspaper men are continuing in the Dominican Republic despite President Joaquin Balaguer's promises of unrestricted freedom of the press. Andrew Heiskell, chairman of the board of directors of Time Incorporated, and president of the association, urged in a message to Balaguer Tuesday that "Dominican authorities take immediate steps to prevent such incidents."

11,000 Indian Students Attend Classes Off the Reservation

OTTAWA (CP)—School bells across Canada this fall rang out an invitation to some 11,000 Indian youngsters to attend classes off the reservation alongside non-Indians.

With one - quarter of the Indian school population of 43,000 now registered in 1,055 non-Indian schools, Canada's Indian school integration program is in full swing.

In some quarters, however, the speed and manner in which integration is being carried out are causing concern.

The Anglican church, which operates 15 residential hostels for Indian school children, says it fears the ultimate success of the program is being endangered by "the zeal of those who want to do too much too quickly."

Roman Catholics, who run 43 hostels, say that forcing classroom integration without adequate preparation of teachers and pupils may be unfair to the Indians.

The criticism is directed mainly at the federal government which has responsibility for education of Indians.

Since 1947 the Indian affairs branch has pushed a program of increasing the number of treaty Indians in regular schools. It has also increased its financial control of Indian education and now owns the buildings and almost wholly subsidizes operation of 68 church - supervised hostels.

Federal officials acknowledge that at times the program has encountered resistance both from Indians and non - Indians but add that once integration was under way, no school board ever requested withdrawal of an Indian child.

An Indian affairs branch spokesman emphasized that action is taken only with parents' consent.

"Indians need to learn what attitudes and social behavior are acceptable in their association with other ethnic groups as they join the broad stream of Canadian society," the spokesman said, explaining the need for integration.

Church and government agree on the principle that there must be closer association between Indian and non - Indian and that one way this can be achieved is through schools.

Rev. Henry Cook, superintendent of the Anglican Indian school administration, declares, however, that some Indian children are forced to make the transition too quickly.

"We're interested in going gradually rather than putting a great number of Indian children into white classes when many are ill - prepared to cope with their new experience."

Mr. Cook suggests setting up an intermediate stage between reservation and ordinary school. Children with no previous contact with non - Indians would be boarded in church-supervised hostels where they would be given day-by-day guidance on how to make the social adjustment for entering the non-Indian world.

In many cases only the brighter Indian students were able to cope with the academic and social requirements of a non-Indian school. The rate of Indian students failing to complete courses was higher than among non - Indans.

Father Renaud recommended more emphasis on teaching Indian children fundamental skills of reading, writing and arithmetic in terms of their own cultural background. The child should also be exposed, through movies, slides and field trips, to aspects of non-Indian society about which he is ignorant.

Classroom integration was not a cure-all and officials should not try to flood Indians into non - Indian schools just to make the integration program look good in terms of statistics.

Teachers had to be trained to detect the varying needs of each pupil. Among problems they had to contend with was how to instill incentive for study in Indian pupils. Another was how to avoid complaints from non - Indian parents that education of their children was suffering because of teacher concentration on Indian pupils.

The federal government acknowledges that such problems exist and that not even all Indians themselves support school integration, some out of fear of eventual loss of Indian identity. However, it feels the best solution is to iron out quietly the difficulties as they occur and to avoid repeating mistakes.

"We have set no final deadline to complete our integration program," said the Indian Affairs branch spokesman. "In the long run its success will depend on the over - all development of Canada as well as the favorable attitude of both the non-Indian and Indian community."

CPR To Study Coast Ferry Situation

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadian Pacific Railway Company said Tuesday night it will study the position of its Vancouver-Vancouver Island ferry service in view of a provincial government plan to go into competition with the line.

Premier W. A. Bennett of British Columbia said last week the provincial toll authority had assumed control of the Black Ball Ferry Line and tenders would be called immediately for construction of two new vessels for the Vancouver - Nanaimo service.

He said the government will pay $6,795,476 for the total assets of the firm which, with the addition of the extra ships, would also operate an hourly service between Nanaimo and Horseshoe Bay.

R. E. Emerson, CPR vice-president, said the company will study the position of its present services if and when the government completes the purchase of Black Ball.

OFFICES DAMAGED

PARIS (AP) — An explosion which police said was caused by a plastic bomb damaged the offices of the newspaper France-Soir Wednesday. Two persons were slightly injured. Plastic bombs are frequently set off by right-wing activists opposed to the government's Algerian policies. Recently the secret army organization, which groups many of the activists, sent threatening tracts to France-Soir for publishing critical articles about the secret army.

UN Aerial Power in Congo Consists of 15-16 Jets

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—An air arm of 15 or 16 jet planes from three countries provides the aerial sting for the United Nations force in The Congo.

This was the total air power that Acting Secretary - General U Thant had to draw upon Friday when he ordered jet planes to Katanga province "to support ground operations and to destroy any aircraft taking hostile action against any United Nations positions."

UN information officers at headquarters in New York, pleading security instructions, were reticent in giving details of air strength in The Congo but from delegation sources a picture emerged.

India, Sweden and Ethiopia provided the jet aircraft and pilots for the UN force and, in some cases at least, the personnel for servicing them on the ground. Armament is similar on all the planes.

India's six British-built twin-engined Canberra jets are non and fitted to carry rockets but not bombs.

Reports from Elisabethville said six Swedish jets were based in Kasai province, adjacent to Katanga, when the fighting began around Elisabethville Tuesday. Some sources here put the number at five. They are Swedish - built J-29s, each also armed with four 20-millimetre cannon and fitted for rockets.

PROVIDES SABRE-JETS

Ethiopia has provided four American-built F-86 Sabre-jets —a type familiar to Canadians and somewhat similar in performance to the J-29s—with 20-millimetre cannon and equipped for rockets.

Sources said they understand the combat aircraft have not been painted white — in the usual manner of UN transport planes—but have been left wivh their camouflage colors in case of action. They understood the UN emblem with its laurel wreath had been placed beside national markings on the fuselage.

The UN formed the jet squadron only after its unsuccessful fight against Katanga forces early in September when a marauding Katanga jet—flown by a European—ruled the skies for days and figured in the death of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

Because of the jet, Hammarskjold elected to fly at night to a scheduled meeting with Katanga President Moise Tshombe and was killed when his transport crashed near Ndola Airport in Northern Rhodesia.

Precise information on Katanga's air equipment is hard to come by but UN sources say that recently only a couple of British-built transport planes—de Havilland Doves—have been sighted from the air. They are a type sold all over the world. Also seen has been a small German-built Dornier jet transport which would have to be flown by a European because there are no Congolese jet pilots.

TSHOMBE HAS TRAINERS

Tshombe actually had three French-built Fouga jet trainers at the time that one of them terrorized the skies in the earlier conflict. But one of them was wrecked in a training accident and another was unserviceable so that only a single plane was generally seen. It has since vanished.

Canada has never provided fighter aircraft to the UN Congo operation which began in July, 1960, but did send two C-119 transports for temporary internal work in The Congo.

Total air personnel in the UN Congo force amounts to about 500 from nine countries and 30 have died in accidents — not counting the 13 Italian airmen recently massacred by rampaging Congolese troops.

One military source said the UN air force is "formidable—certainly formidable in comparison with what Tshombe has shown so far." But another noted that perhaps not more than 10 aircraft out of 15 could be put in the air at any one time in The Congo, which stretches nearly one-third the length of Canada.

"Does the air force still sound formidable?" he asked.

U Thant Puts UN Troops on War Footing In the Congo

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Possibility of a new meeting of the United Nations Security Council on The Congo was seen today after Acting Secretary-General U Thant ordered strong action to quell fighting in Katanga province.

U Thant moved swiftly to place the UN on a virtual war footing in Katanga and hinted he might make a personal mission to The Congo.

Delegates felt that U Thant's promise to give the council a full report on the latest Katanga events indicated he will be quicker to seek guidance from the UN's top security body than his predecessor, the late Dag Hammarskjold.

They also expressed belief that the new UN chief's quick dispatch of jet planes and troops reinforcements into Katanga showed that he intends to take a tough stand and use all means at his disposal to quell disorder in The Congo.

U Thant ordered up reinforcements as word reached here that the U.S. Embassy in Leopoldville had placed U.S. Globemaster planes at the UN command's disposal to ferry troops into the Katanga capital of Elisabethville.

A state department spokesman in Washington said U Thant had the full support of the United States in dealing with the Katanga crisis.

MAY SEEK MEETING

U Thant did not say definitely whether he would go to The Congo, but he said he did not rule out the possibility.

Delegates believed that Russia might use the latest Katanga upheaval to demand a new council meeting on The Congo.

This would give it a chance to air charges by Conor Cruise O'Brien of Ireland, who resigned Saturday as UN chief in Katanga, that Britain and France had sabotaged the UN by encouraging the continued secession of the mineral - rich province.

The Russians have accused the Western powers of abetting Katanga President Moise Tshombe in his revolt against the central Congo government.

Gen. Sean McKeown, Irish commander of UN troops in The Congo, described as "quite true" O'Brien's charges that the force had been hindered by certain powers. McKeown said Britain should have taken "more vigilant steps" to get British mercenaries out of Katanga once it found they were operating there.

McKeown said that he will quit his command Dec. 31, but only because he had no wish to make a career with the United Nations.

The British government answered critics of its Congo policy with a promise to try in every way to reduce tension in the strife-torn land.

VENGEANCE COSTLY

HULL, Que. (CP) — An 18-year-old Hull youth Wednesday learned that vengeance wreaked by hurling a rock into a policeman's home is far more costly than paying a parking ticket. Richard Roy was sentenced to eight days in jail and $492 damages for throwing a rock through a window at Constable Jacques Carpentier's home after receiving a parking ticket from the policeman.

U.K. Against UN Troops In Congo Strife

LONDON (AP) — The British government declared Wednesday that United Nations forces in The Congo's strife - torn Katanga province have no right to attempt to impose a political solution by force.

Deputy Foreign Secretary Edward Heath, in the House of Commons, reiterated that the British government believes the United Nations should try continually to achieve a settlement between the central Congo government and President Moise Tshombe's breakaway regime in Katanga.

11-Year-Old Boy Steals Show From Diefenbaker

By BEN WARD

CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP)—A young boy stole the show Tuesday as Prime Minister Diefenbaker made a brief but busy tour of this Saguenay valley industrial city.

Prime Minister and Mrs. Diefenbaker spent 4½ rain-hours here and then flew to Summerside for a day's swing across Prince Edward Island.

Mr. Diefenbaker shook hands with close to 500 persons during visits to the nearby Bagotville RCAF base, the Roman Catholic bishop's palace, city hall, Ste. Famille Seminary, Hotel Dieu Hospital and Le Regiment du Saguenay armouries.

During his tour of the seminary Mr. Diefenbaker was followed everywhere by 11-year - ld Tommy Reeve who insisted the prime minister declare a school holiday to mark the visit.

'YOU CAN DO IT'

"I know you can do it," said the youngster, one of the few students at the seminary school of 660 who speaks perfect English.

Mr. Diefenbaker explained several times that education is a provincial matter over which he has no authority.

At one point the boy turned to Mrs. Diefenbaker with his plea, but she told him it was out of her authority as well. Tommy stopped the prime minister a little later with his final suggestion :

"If you can't give us a holiday, what about giving the professors a day off."

Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker rocked with laughter joined by the priests of the seminary staff. But the answer still was no.

Traffic Deaths Lowest Polled

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Four persons were killed in traffic fatalities throughout the Dominion Tuesday, the lowest daily toll since Canada's Safe Driving Week started Dec. 1.

Seven provinces, including Ontario, were fatality-free.

Total dead is 35 for the first five days, 10 fewer than were killed during the same period last year.

The Canadian Highway Safety Council forecasts a traffic death toll of 53 for the Dec. 1 to 7 week.

Only Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland have had no fatalities for the five days. Saskatchewan began the program with three fatality-free days but had one death on Monday and two Tuesday. The remaining two fatalities were in Alberta and Quebec. Last year there were 10 deaths on the fifth day of the program, compared to four on the fifth day this year.

Purpose of the week, sponsored by the Canadian Highway Safety Conference, is to promote safety consciousness among drivers. It was started in 1950 and has been held Dec. 1 to 7 of every year since.

REMOVE STATUES

BELGRADE (Reuters)—Two statues of Stalin were removed during the night from prominent sites in Sofia by squads of workers, a report from the Bulgarian capital said today.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—A smart recovery by savings-and-loan shares and a spurt by makers of anti-smog devices for autos were features in an irregular stock market which posted a small decline on average Wednesday. Trading was active.

With trends sharply divergent, the list of 15 most active stocks produced 12 gainers and only three losers, reflecting a bullish attitude toward the volume leaders.

Most of the aircraft-missile stocks also advanced, spurred by a report that the U.S. defence department will call for bigger spending in the next national budget and news that Russia has announced a 50 per cent increase in military spending.

The savings-and-loan stocks, battered downward last week and this, apparently had reached low enough levels to entice traders and they won back part of their steep losses.

RECOMMEND DEVICE

Makers of anti-smog devices for autos were spurred by news that the board of directors of the Automobile Manufacturers Association has asked that all new cars of the 1962 model be equipped with anti-air pollution devices.

Financial Federation gained 5 points as the loan companies recovered.

North American Aviation, up 1⅞, was a prime performer in the defence group.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 1.22 to 730.09. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .40 to 265.60. Volume was 4,200,000 shares compared with 4,330,000 Tuesday.

On the Canadian list, Dome Mines and Hudson Bay Mining each added ⅜ while Granby Mining was up ½. McIntyre Porcupine lost ¾, Aluminium Ltd. ½ and Canadian Pacific ¼.

On a mixed American Exchange, Shawinigan climbed ⅜ while smaller gains were registered by Brazilian Traction and Canadian Marconi. Preston, Jupiter Oils and Scurry Rainbow Oil were off narrowly.

TORONTO (CP)—Industrials and speculatives alike declined during moderate heavy trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange Wednesday.

Industrials fell .48 to 612.50 after touching a record high of 613.58 at the 1 p.m. compilation of the 20-stock industrial index.

The decline was due to late-day weakness among foods, refining oils and utilities — the same groups that brought the index to its high.

Typical among stocks that lost ground were BC Telephone, International Utilities, Canadian Husky, Texaco and Salada Shirriff all off in the ⅛ to ⅝ range.

Oshawa Wholesale A, Anglo Newfoundland Paper and Union Gas bucked the falling trend and reached new highs with gains ranging between ¼ and 1¼.

DUFAULT DOWN

Speculatives were led down by Lake Dufault's drop of 50 cents to $9.50.

On index, golds rose .48 to 92.25 and western oils .33 to 109.72, while base metals fell .66 to 211.73. The final volume was 3,839,000 shares compared with 3,431,000 Tuesday.

The senior base metals list wavered all day. Ventures and Falconbridge led the drop with losses of $1, while International Nickel and Quemont had falls in the 10 to 35-cent range. Labrador and Hudson Bay Mining fought the tide and advanced ½ each.

Gold trading was light and sporadic amid rising prices.

Western oil trade was steady in the senior list with Home A and B, Pacific Petroleum and Dome all up as much as ⅝.

Special - size transactions included 5,000 shares of Pacific Petroleum at 12½.

MONTREAL (CP) — Lake Dufault fell $1.45 to $9.05 after announcing poor assay results.

Papers were lower, led by Consolidated Paper, off ⅞ to 42⅛ after falling ½ Tuesday. Price bucked the trend by gaining ⅞ to 56⅝ after rising to a new four-year high of 57¾.

Among utilities, Calgary Power rose ½ to 25 in heavy trading after adding ⅝ Tuesday and Shawinigan added ¼ to 25¾.

Trans Canada Fund at 80 gained a point.

In western oils, Home A gained ⅜ to 13⅛, Pacific Pete advanced ¼ to 12⅝ and Home B added ⅛ to 12½.

On index, banks were off 0.12 at 72.46, utilities unchanged at 143.5, industrials up 0.2 at 338.7, combined up 0.1 at 273.6, papers off 2.8 at 299.3 and golds up 0.76 at 86.26.

Montreal Starts Big Tree Planting Program

By BERNARD DUFRESNE

MONTREAL (CP) — Faced with the prospect of Montreal's pride and joy going bald, the city has started a big tree-planting program for Mount Royal.

In the next five years, 50,000 saplings, mostly evergreens from the city's own 50 - acre tree farm, will be planted and carefully nursed to make an ornamental park out of a dilapidated forest.

As mountains are measured, Mount Royal is small stuff. It is only 753 feet above sea level and little more than 250 feet from street level.

It is just north of the central downtown area and represents a major hazard to planners trying to do something about Montreal's tangled traffic problem.

But the 500-acre park means a lot of things to Montrealers.

For young lovers in the spring and summer, it's a favorite spooning spot. In winter, it offers skiing and tobogganning for kids who can't manage a weekend in the Laurentians.

OUTDOOR CONCERTS

Music-lovers listen to concerts under the stars, and theatre-goers patronize a summer stock theatre. A few go horseback riding. The brilliant fall foliage provides a multi-colored backdrop for football games at McGill Stadium.

Tourists ride in caleches around the top. Hundreds of families, many of them immigrants, picnic there on Sunday afternoons.

Less than two years ago when somebody wanted to build a big apartment complex high up the mountain side, the save-the-mountain cry from indignant Montrealers forced the city to kill the project.

The toll of all this activity by pleasure - seekers has been heavy. Trees have also been killed by frost and winter storms and insects. Spring run-offs have caused considerable soil erosion.

Even squirrels and field mice setting up house in tree trunks have been blamed for some tree-killing.

Most of all, city experts say, the biggest danger to Mount Royal's tree life has been in the lack of care and reforestation by city authorities.

As J. J. Dumont, the city's chief forester, said in a report, Montrealers have abused the forested mountain ever since Jacques Cartier planted a cross on it more than 400 years ago.

His report led city fathers to estimate that Mount Royal would be bald within 10 years unless new trees were planted in reconditioned soil, insects controlled and drainage systems dug up to halt erosion.

Last year, 31,000 trees were planted. Close to 12,000 are to be planted this year and about 10,000 more each year for the next five years.

As of last March, there were about 87,000 trees on Mount Royal, including various maple species, elms, poplars, lindens, oaks, evergreens and other species.

The plan of forester Dumont a Belgian-born Canadian who once spent five years doing forestry work in The Congo, is to rebuild the mountain's soil and fertility with fast-growing evergreen species, then to plant such long-life trees as oaks.

With careful nursing and elimination of sick trees, he estimates that Mount Royal will have 50,000 healthy trees in 25 years.

HELICOPTER SERVICE

VANCOUVER (CP)—A helicopter service may be established between suburban West Vancouver and Vancouver International Airport to serve the North Shore. West Vancouver councillors have recommended Copter Cabs Limited acquire a landing site and apply for a permit for the proposed service.

FEWER JOBS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Russell St. Eloi, business manager of the Plumbers and Pipefitters' Union told Vancouver Labor Council Tuesday 10,000 jobs promised by Frank McMahon in the petroleum fields of B.C. and pipeline construction amount to less than 2,500. He apparently was referring to a statement by president Frank McMahon of Westcoast Transmission on the eve of the 1960 provincial election.

GIVE BETTER,

ELECTRIC GIFTS ARE WELCOME UNDER ANY TREE

Give Electric Gifts this Christmas—if you want to be remembered for your thoughtfulness long after the tree and tinsel are gone.

Have you a "problem" on your list—someone who has just everything? Jot down a few Electric presents. You'll be amazed at the variety and versatility of these gifts! There are toasters, frypans, waffle irons, coffee makers, radios, clocks, mixers, power tools, television, lamps—to name only a few—and there are larger appliances such as dryers, washers, ranges, dishwashers, etc.

LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY
WEST KOOTENAY POWER

THERE IS A PERFECT ELECTRIC PRESENT FOR EVERYONE. AND REMEMBER, AN ELECTRIC GIFT KEEPS ON GIVING ALL YEAR LONG - FOR YEARS TO COME.

HERE'S WHY Wilt Chamberlain, 7-foot, 2-inch Philadelphia Warrior basketball star, is called "The Stilt." He is intercepting the ball headed for the basket in a game with the Los Angeles Lakers in Los Angeles.

Leafs Meet Smoke Eaters Tonight

Two weeks ago tonight Nelson Maple Leafs travelled to the Smelter City with a full, healthy squad to meet the high flying Trail Smokies. They returned from the encounter with four men injured and smarting from a 4-2 loss.

Again tonight Leafs make the trip to Trail; again with a full, healthy team and again trying to tumble the unbeaten "orange and black."

For Nelson it will be their sixth attempt for a victory over Trail and they are well prepared for what may come their way. Leafs after the four-man loss are not ready to sacrifice more men on the Trail alter and will hand out what is given.

Leafs coach Mickey Maglio is once more juggling his lines. On the first line Maglio has moved Bob Wales up between Howie Hornby and Fritz Koehle, while he has teamed up Don Mackenzie with Doug Kilburn and Jim Pilla. The third line will be made up of Vic Poirier, Dave Stewart, Charlie Burdette, Bob Walker and Bill Taylor.

Defensively Nelson will have Ted Leboda, Ernie Gare, Shorty Malacko and Reo Touzin, along with Gerry oKehle in the net.

Saturday night at the Civic Centre arena Maple Leafs will be active again when they meet the reinforced Rossland Warriors.

Seals, Bucs, Stamps Score WHL Wins

PORTLAND (AP) — Portland Buckaroos scored two unanswered goals in the second period Wednesday night then hung on for a 3-2 Western Hockey League victory over Seattle Totems before 6,000 fans.

The game was tied 1-1 at the end of the first period.

Portland climbed to 36 points on top of the southern division standings, five points ahead of Spokane whch lost 8-3 to Calgary Wednesday night. Seattle remained second in the northern division 10 points behind Edmonton.

It was Portland's eighth straight victory.

Arlo Goodwin, Ron Matthews and Art Jones scored for Portland. Don Chiupka and Howie Hughes scored for Seattle.

Jones scored what proved to be the winning goal late in the secon period, back-handing a short shot past Seattle's Al Millar.

Seattle battled desperately in the last period and got one back on Chiupka's sizzling shot with Portland one man short about nine minutes before the end. But goalie Bruce Gamble and a stout defence throttled the Totems the rest of the way.

Portland opened the scoring less than a minute after the opening face-off when Goodwin tipped in a rebound of a Doug Macauley shot at the goal mouth. Hughes tied it near then end of the period, breaking in alone on Gamble and finding the left corner of the net.

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampeders skated to an 8-3 Western Hockey League victory over Spokane Comets before 2,179 fans Wednesday night.

Two goal efforts by Jim Moro and Gord Vejprava paced Calgary to their highest goal production of the season. Single goals were scored by Cliff Bristow, Ron Leopold, Doug Barkley and Sid Finney.

Steve Witiuk, Dick Lamoureux and Colin Kilburn did the Spokane scoring.

The first period ended in a 1-1 tie. Calgary moved ahead 4-1 after two periods and scored four of six third-period goals.

Vejprava and Witiuk traded goals to force the first-period stalemate before Moro put Calgary in front to stay with a low backhander to open second-period scoring.

The score moved to 3-1 when Vejprava scored after being sent in on a breakaway by defenceman Fred Hucul. Finney's screened shot eluded Johnston in the Comets' net to give Calgary a three-goal lead.

Spokane took advantage of a third-period penalty to Calgary defenceman Doug Barkley to narrow the margin to 4-2 when Lamoreaux' shot was deflected past Babiuk.

Calgary got two more goals in the next six minutes from Bristow and Leopold.

Kilburn's screened shot gave Comets their third goal before Barkley and Moro finished the game's scoring.

SAN FRANCISCO (CP) — Goalie Bev Bentley recorded his second shoutout of the year Wednesday night as San Francisco Seals defeated Vancouver Canucks 2-0 to strengthen their hold on third place in the Western Hockey League southern division standings.

The Seals scored the only two goals of the game in the second period.

Black Hawks Take Over 4th Place, Dump Rangers 8-3

NEW YORK (AP)—Chicago Black hawks erupted for their highest goal output of the National Hockey League season in turning back New York Rangers 8-3 before 12,017 at the Garden Wednesday night.

The victory was the Stanley Cup champion's first over the Rangers in five games and boosted Chicago into fourth place, one point ahead of idle Detroit.

Big Ab McDonald led the way with three goals as the hard-hitting Hawks bolted to a 6-0 advantage at the end of two periods. Bill (red) Hay accounted for four assists.

The setback snapped the Rangers' nine game unbeaten streak on home ice. During that span they had won five and tied your and hadn't lost at the Garden since Oct. 22 when they bowed to Detroit, 5-4.

SECOND HIGHEST

The Hawks, who had only scored six gials in their previous three losses and a tie with the New Yorkers, chalked up the second highest goal total in the league season. Earlier Toronto tallied nine times against Boston.

Eric Nesterenko had a pair of goals for the Hawks and Guy Gendron scored twice for the Rangers.

Murray Balfour, Nesterenko and McDonald gave Chicago a 3-0 edge in the first period. Then the Hawks clicked for three goals in a span of 67 seconds to wrap up the verdict in the second period. McDonald got the first two in less than a minute and Bobby Hull made it 6-0 at the end of the period.

Andy Bathgate, the league's leading scorer, broke Chicago goalie Glenn Hall's shutout early in the third period. The goal, the 11th, gave him 36 points, four more than runner - up Claude Provost of Montreal.

Return Bout

Greaves Sure He Can Top Robinson

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, back on the comeback trail, battles Canadian middleweight champion Wilf Greaves in a return 10-round middleweight bout Friday night at the Civic Auditorium.

Robinson gained a split decision over Greaves in Detroit last Sept. 25, but not before the Edmonton-native floored him for a nine-count. Sugar Ray claimed a low blow.

Greaves now fights out of Detroit.

His skills admittedly corroded by father time, Robinson is still around with two important goals—to win the middleweight title for the sixth time and to challenge Archie Moore for the light-heavyweight crown.

WINS VIA TKO

In his last outing Nov. 20, the 40-year-old boxing master floored Al Hauser four times and won on a six-round technical knockout at Providence, R.I.

Greaves arrived in town last Monday beaming with confidence.

"I have never been so sure of winning a fight in my life as I am of this one," he said. "I know I beat Sugar Ray in Detroit and I also know if my corner had not told me to slow down in the last two rounds, I may have knocked him out.

"Another thing, in my last fight I started slow and did not get going until after the fourth round. But this time it will be a different story. When the bell rings I'm going to be on Robinson and won't stop until he is down and out."

In preparation for the fight, Greaves has boxed 64 rounds.

Ivy Quits as Head Coach of Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Frank (Pop) Ivy quit as head coach of St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday, saying he felt he did not get the "desired results" with the injury-riddled National Football League team.

He is the third head coach of a St. Louis major league team to resign, or be fired, in exactly five months. The baseball Cardinals fired Solly Hemus July 6, and the basketball Hawks dismissed Paul Seymour Nov. 17.

The resignation—effective "as of right now"—came in Ivy's fourth season as coach of the Cardinals, now tied with Pittsburgh for fourth place in the eastern division.

Each has won 5 and lost 7.

Managing director Walter Wolfner said Ivy's duties would be divided by assistant coaches Chuck Drulis, Ray Prochaska and Ray Willsey for the balance of the disappointing NFL season.

Wolfner said he would not hire an interim head coach to finish out the campaign. Asked if he had anyone in mind for next year, Wolfner replied: "Not a soul."

However, one possibility might be Willsey.

In a brief statement Ivy, one-time coach of Edmonton Eskimos, said:

Frank Ivy

"I greatly appreciate Mr. and Mrs. Wolfner's offer to renew my contract. They have given me the fiest co-operation I could ask for.

"However, my feeling is a coach can only work so long. Then if he does not get the desired results, it is in the best interest of everyone concerned that a change be made."

NO PLANS

The 45 - year - old Oklahoman said he had no immediate plans.

Ivy played end for the University of Oklahoma and the Cards. He returned to Oklahoma in 1948 as an assistant to [illegible] Wilkinson and stayed for [illegible] years.

In 1954, he became head c[illegible] of the Eskimos, and proceeded to win three straight Grey Cup championships. He rolled up a four-year record at Edmonton of 61-18, including the playoffs.

In the Grey Cup wins, in 1954, 55, 56, his team met Montreal Alouettes, under quarterback Sam Etcheverry. Sam was involved in a mis-fire deal last year between Hamilton and Montreal. He was to go to the Ticats along with end Hal Patterson for quarterback Bernie Faloney and defensive end Don Paquette.

The Patterson-Paquette deal worked, but Etcheverry claimed he had a no trade contract and heeded the call of Ivy to go to the NFL Cards. Faloney stayed with the Ticats and led them to the Big Four title.

Etcheverry, bothered by a shoulder injury, had a so-so season with the Cards, alternating with ex-Notre Dame star Ralph Guglielmi.

Ivy took over the Cardinals, then in Chicago, in 1958, succeeding Ray Richards. Ivy attracted immediate attention with his imaginative offenses, including the Double T wing which worked so well for him in Canada.

Minor Hockey Roundup

Comets won the opening game of the midget league when they defeated the Beavers 9 to 1. Goal getters for the winners were Pat Laughton with a hat trick, Bruce Ferguson with two, Eric Beauchamp, Gerry Westmacott, Bobby Jeffs, and Murray Dodds one each. Assists went to Beauchamp, Jeffs, Dodds, Westmacott, D. Hennig and Kuhn. Lone goal for the Beavers came from the stick of Don Stephenson with Evans assiting. Comets drew two of the three penalties issued by ref Donny Ross.

Warriors won their first game of the season as they tripped up the Comets 6-3 in a midget league game at the Civic last Wednesday. Todd Phillips was tops for the Warriors with two goals while Brian Ludlow, Alan Smythe, Dave St. Thomas, and Alan Vass scored once each. Boyce drew two assists and Ludlow one. For the losing Comets Bobby Jetts potted two of their three goals with Gerry Westmacott getting the other one. Laughon, Deakin and N. Westmacott drew assists.

Beavers hammered out an 8 to 3 victory over Spartons in a midget league game at the Civic last Saturday. It was the first win in two starts for the Beavers.

Ken Preston, Larry Zimmer and Bill Evans paced the winners with two goals each while Ross Tozer and Rickey Lipinski notched the other goals. Assists went to Joyce with two, Lipinski and Stephenson one each. Sparton goal getters were Reggie Cherenko, Alan Olisoff and Derek Bennett, with the latter also getting an assist. Spartons drew three of the four penalties.

Pee Wee Canadiens won their first game of the season last Friday as they squeezed out a 1 to 0 shut-out over the Bruins at the Civic. Lone Hab goal came from the stick of Brian Rogers on a play from Charlie Cuthbert.

Rangers on their opening Pee Wee League game as they bounced the Leafs 5 to 2 at the Civic last Saturday. Terry Wickstrom was tops for the Rangers with two goals, with Bobby Sommerville, Sandy Keith and Denis Cherenko tallying a goal each. Cherenko and Jones drew the only assists. Brad Fyfe and Terry Lippingwell drove in the Leaf goals with McAdams and Lippingwell earning an assist each. Rangers drew the only penalty of the game meted out by ref Ernie Gare.

Redwing Pee Wees took over top place in the league as they handed Blackhawks a 5-3 loss at the Civic last Saturday. Wings drove in three goals in the opening period and added two more in the middle frame while Hawks scored once in the opening session and added two more in the third. Scott Hueston tallied all three of the loser's goals. Larry Arishenkoff and Danny Jmaeff paced the winners getting two goals each while Robert Richardson banged in the other one. Jim McDonald drew two assists. Only one penalty was dished out and that went to a Blackhawk.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Toronto Exchange Suspends Rocky Petroleum

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Stock Exchange announced Wednesday that trading in shares of Rocky Petroleums Ltd., has been suspended because the company has failed, contrary to exchange bylaws, to issue an annual report this year.

The company's last annual report was issued for the year ended March 31, 1960. It has head office in Toronto and executive offices in Chicago.

Shares of the company were quoted at eight cents each Tuesday, its high for the year, compared with a low of three cents.

Inspection Agency Campaigns To Raise Hospital Standards

By CARL MOLLINS

TORONTO (CP)—An inspection agency that depends on the consent of the inspected and hands out no penalties is campaigning quietly to raise the standard of hospital care across Canada.

The Canadian Council on Hospital Accreditation, founded three years ago, relies on persuasion rather than discipline to achieve its declared aim of prodding hospitals into improvement.

So far only 40 per cent of Canadian hospitals with more than 25 beds have been inspected and approved. Between 12 and 15 per cent fail to pass the minimum standards each year. As many as half the hospitals fail on first inspection.

The council is supported by four influential organizations and gets government help as well.

The Canadian Hospital Association, the Canadian Medical Association, the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons and l'Association des Medecins de Langue Francaise du Canada established the council Jan. 1, 1959. They supply its 12 - man board of directors and provide two-thirds of its annual $75,000 budget.

MUST BE INVITED

The council's two permanent and seven part-time inspectors —all doctors with hospital administration experience — may check a hospital for the first time by invitation only. Once a hospital has enrolled in the program, however, it is subject to regular inspections.

The council cannot compel improvement. Unlike the situation in some parts of the United States, governmental agencies and health insurance companies in Canada impose no official sanctions on a hospital that fails to gain accreditation.

"Conscience and public opinion" are the chief stimulus to improvement, says CCHA executive director Dr. William I. Taylor, although the CMA and Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons will not recognize internships and specialist courses completed at non - accredited hospitals.

Dr. Taylor, 57-year-old wartime Canadian Army doctor who spent seven post-war years organizing and inspecting veterans affairs department hospitals, says the council prefers to rely on the good intentions of hospital staffs to achieve its ends.

PUBLIC HELPS

The force of public opinion is also beginning to aid the improvement program.

"We've had phone calls from people as far away as Montreal asking if such-and-such a hospital is accredited."

A Northern Ontario hospital that applied for inspection and accreditation did so after repeated demands of its women's auxiliary. The ladies were disturbed because a nearby hospital was accredited and theirs wasn't.

The CCHA took over in 1959 from a joint U.S.-Canadian accrediting commission. Dr. Taylor, born in Lindsay, Ont., notes with native pride that it was an expatriate Lindsay man, the late Dr. Malcolm MacEachern, who was the guiding light of the U.S. syytem for more than 25 years.

Of 780 eligible Canadian hospitals—those with more than 25 beds—328 now have full or provisional accreditation. A provisionally accredited hospital is inspected after a year to see if a relatively minor shortcoming has been corrected. A fully accredited hospital is checked every three years and it must do more than maintain minimum standards to retain accreditation; it must improve.

PULL UP SOCKS

A large Toronto hospital two years ago was dropped from full to provisional accreditation and the same thing happened to a Montreal hospital a year ago. Dr. Taylor, who will not name the hospitals, says that when hospitals lose accreditation "they really pull up their socks." Both hospitals regained full rating within a year.

A hospital seeking accreditation must show that it is safe from the twin hazards of fire and infection. More important, Dr. Taylor says, it must demonstrate that it has a capable staff.

Dr. Taylor notes that a higher percentage of hospitals have been accredited in the Maritimes than in other provinces. About 62 per cent of Nova Scotia hospitals have passed inspection compared with the national average of 40 per cent and the British Columbia rate of 38 per cent.

Of 158 hospitals inspected last year, 23 failed to get full accreditation. Of 22 inspected for the first time, only two got full accreditation and nine were given provisional approval.

Figures for this year won't be available until early in 1962, and Dr. Taylor hopes the tally will show improvement over past years.

Bennett Says U.S. Would Lend Money For Columbia River Plan

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett said Tuesday British Columbia could borrow in the United States all the money required for the Columbia River project providing it gets a firm contract for the charge of downstream benefits.

He said in an interview the long-term advantages to Canada of the sale of those benefits are so great that they can be disputed only on political grounds, and not on economics.

The major point in a dispute between the federal and provincial governments over the $458,000,000 project involves the sale of downstream benefits—a portion of the power generated in the U.S. which is returnable to Canada for controlling the flow on the upper reaches of the stream.

He said if B.C. was allowed to sell that power in the U.S. it would have enough money to pay for the entire project over a period as great as 35 years.

"This (a firm contract for sale of downstream benefits) would allow us to borrow at 4½ per cent rather than the 5½ per cent we would have to pay in Canada," said the premier.

Over a period of 35 years the lower U.S. interest rates would save Canada as much as $15,000,000 in financing charges.

SEES NO COMPROMISE

Mr. Bennett said there cannot be a compromise on the question of selling downstream benefits.

"We cannot sell part of it and take the rest as we need it because it would mean we would have the expense of transmission to look after for part of our entitlement," he said.

"This would make the price of such electricity out of our economic range.

"All that is needed to make the sale of downstream benefits legal under Article 8 of the treaty is an exchange of notes between the Canadian and U.S. governments."

He said he does not think the international treaty would be abandoned by the U.S. because of any delay in nullification by Canada.

The treaty is considered so valuable by the U.S. that it will wait until Ottawa changes its mind, said Mr. Bennett.

Canadian Union Bakery Workers Face Problem

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian union bakery workers will be faced with three choices at their international convention next month.

The 10,000 bakery union members in Canada have to decide whether they will join the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (Ind.), return to the fold of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations or continue their independent position as an affiliate of the Canadian Labor Congress.

The Bakery and Confectionery Workers International Union was expelled from the AFL-CIO in 1957 on corruption charges, but the Canadian section retained its affiliation with the CLC.

Next month's international convention in the United States will consider whether or not to merge with the Teamsters or join the bakers' union established by the AFL-CIO after it expelled the Bakery Workers.

Canadian locals are expected to draft a common position prior to the convention, but there may be defections if the international body moves toward merger with the Teamsters.

Teamsters President James Hoffa has been after the Bakery Workers since early 1959, promising them near-autonomous status. A merger of the Bakery Workers with the Teamsters would give the transportation union virtual domination of the bakery field since most of the drivers now are organized by the Teamsters.

Willy Brandt Against Making Nato Fourth Nuclear Power

MONN (AP) — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt Wednesday told Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government it should not push to make the North Atlantic Treaty Organization a fourth nuclear power.

Brandt said the question of giving NATO control over the use of nuclear weapons must be decided from the standpoint of political cleverness and military usefulness.

"Under political considerations I put into first place that any American disengagement from Europe must be prevented. The unity of the alliance must be maintained."

Brandt was speaking for the opposition Socialists before the West German Bundestag (parliament), opening the debate on the new government's declaration of policy made last week.

In connection with military considerations, Brandt indicated it was sufficient that there were members in Nato which had the power to use nuclear weapons.

'MUST NOT BE FIRST'

Therefore, West Germany should not push for nuclear weapons control by NATO and it must "in no case be the first country to be additionally equipped with nuclear weapons," Brandt said.

Adenauer has said West Germany does not want national control over nuclear weapons but that the 15 NATO members should exercise control jointly because it is feasible that in an emergency, the U.S. president, who now is the only person empowered to order nuclear retaliation, cannot be reached.

Brandt warned that the existence of the Communist wall in Berlin can lead to serious demonstrations by the West Berliners.

Citing a recent demonstration by 50,000 youths in his city, Brandt said, "in the long run, we will not be able to prohibit anyone from expressing his feelings about the wall in even stronger terms."

"The wall must go," Brandt added. "It remains a constant provocation and we cannot have any false conceptions about a status quo."

New South Wales Gamblers Grouped With Alcoholics

By HAROLD TILLEY
Canadian Press Correspondent

SYDNEY (CP)—The adjective "compulsive" is being applied in a scientific context to a great number of Australians who gamble away their pay trying to win jackpots on legalized poker machines against odds of up to 160,000 to 1 in favor of the machines.

Such people are being grouped in New South Wales with alcoholics and with shoppers who cannot resist the urge to buy things they don't need.

Some laymen might think a remedy for the gambling type of compulsiveness would be to restrict the money that provides the original stake but Charles Kenna, lecturer in applied psychology at the University of New South Wales, says the problem is not so easily resolved.

He told the Australian overseas branch of the British Psychology Society he had begun the first Australian survey of compulsive gambling.

It is unofficially estimated that people in New South Wales now are pouring the equivalent of $675,000,000 a year into poker machines — better known as "one - armed bandits" because they are operated by a single lever.

BIG BUSINESS

Producing the machines has become an industry of magnitude.

An official in one company said that until eight years ago he knew nothing about poker machines. A team of men designed one and now the firm employs 200 workers turning them out for sale locally at $900 each. Last year he exported nearly 1,000 to the United Kingdom at nearly $950 each.

There have been instances of men and women buying machines to play through the night from their bedsides in the hope of working out the jackpot odds or just for the plain heck of it.

Kenna said he had noted the effect gambling had on people he knew. "It gives them a thrill they could not get otherwise."

He said he had a particular interest in what made women compulsive gamblers who played poker machines endlessly. Up to now he had not found a woman to volunteer as a guinea-pig.

COMES FROM GREED

Early survey impressions indicated that compulsive gambling appeared to be more prevalent among white collar workers who often were trying to outdo their neighbors. It resulted from an uncontrollable urge, satisfied personal greed and was part of a quest for quick riches.

A malicious factor in this type of gambling, Kenna said, was that a lower's only hope of getting any money back was to keep on gambling.

He regarded compulsive gambling as a more malignant disease than alcoholism because it was secretive, harder to trace and reached a climax over a longer period.

Odds... and Ends

... by M. D. B.

I was shown around the new telephone building recently and I do hope that when it is completed the company will hold open house, for it is certainly an interesting operation. The new switchboard is in its place and men are at work installing the intricate wiring for the dialling system. It looks to the layman like an endless task. The large garage can accommodate 24 trucks, I was told, and a huge filter system draws off gases quickly and efficiently. There is also a vast storage room for the huge reels of wire and other maintenance equipment.

* * *

It was a hurried tour and I had little time to make notes, but everywhere there was the latest in lighting fixtures with the labyrinth of hallways as well as stairwells done in pale blue or green. The whole plant is geared for efficiency. Public and private offices are spacious with striking interior decorating and lunch rooms and kitchen are bright and well equipped. There is also a teaching room with a blackboard where both operators and linemen will be trained. I found it a little difficult to realize that the new dial equipment and comparatively small toll board with 12 positions would eliminate the great long switchboard that has grown to 24 positions over the years.

* * *

The whole building reflects the vast growth of the Kootenay area. The original office was across the street from its present location where there is now a coffee shop and barber shop. In 1917 the firm moved to its present location, discarding the old magneto board with its crank type system, which had two toll positions and three local, in use from 1907. In June 1917 there were 687 telephones in use in Nelson, while today there are 4579.

At that time H. A. Nicholson was district plant representative; Miss Fox, district traffic supervisor and W. H. Haynes, commercial manager. On May 19, 1917 at midnight when the cutover was complete, Mayor J. E. Annable called J. R. Hunter, Chamber of Commerce president and they congratulated each other on the fine, up-to-date telephone service in Nelson.

Europeans Find Canada Cranky

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Once hailed by Europeans as the land of the future, Canada now is viewed by them as a cranky, touchy and fearful nation, Dr. V. P. Lyons of the University of Western Ontario said Tuesday night.

Dr. Lyons, associate professor of political science at Western and former member of the external affairs department, told the Junior Chamber of Commerce that "Canada looks to Europeans today as Europeans looked to us 15 years ago."

"Economically, they are puzzled by our stagnation. They're entranced, surprised by our neutralism toward Berlin."

Dr. Lyons said he was dismayed during a recent tour of Europe to find Canadians far less popular than they used to be, and that because of present economic difficulties, Canada has lost much of the confidence of other countries, particularly in Western Europe.

Zulu Leader To Collect Nobel Prize

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—South African Zulu Leader Albert Luthuli left Johannesburg again Wednesday for Oslo to collect his 1960 Nobel Peace Prize.

Luthuli stayed at the airport overnight under guard after the plane taking him and his wife to London was forced to return Tuesday because of mechanical trouble.

Luthuli said the white police at Johannesburg's segregated airport treated him and his wife courteously during their stay.

The couple spent the night in private sleeping quarters at the airport. Other passengers on the flight—all whites — were taken to a luxury hotel downtown.

Luthuli is travelling on a 10-day passport granted by the South African government. The government has condemned his being awarded the prize for his non-violent fight against South African segregation policy.

Ottawa Reports Living Costs Rose To Record High Figures

OTTAWA (CP)—Living costs rose to a record high in October as the consumer price index bounced upwards half a point to 129.7 at Nov. 1.

The increase from 129.2 Oct. 1, reported Wednesday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, was spread among almost all fields of consumer buying but much of the upward push came from new car prices and costs of drugs and personal care services.

The increases boosted the index above its previous peak of 129.6 Nov. 1, 1960. The index is based on 1949 prices equalling 100.

The two largest items of living costs — food and shelter—had relatively small increases during October.

But the index of transportation costs, covering some 12 per cent of the consumer budget, jumped to 141.5 Nov. 1 from 140 a month earlier as 1962 model cars came on the market.

The index of health and personal care costs advanced to 156.7 from 155.3, due to higher prices for drugs, men's haircuts and women's hairdressing.

HEALTH COSTS ADVANCE

The October advance in living costs followed a further rise during September in industrial wages. The index of average industrial wages and salaries at Oct. 1—latest date available—was 183.3 compared with 182.2 a month earlier and 178.2 a year earlier. The index is based on 1949 wages equalling 100.

The food index rose to 123.6 from 123.3. The index of housing costs edged up to 133.7 from 133.6. The clothing index advanced to 114 from 113.6. The index of recreation and reading costs also rose, to 146.3 from 146.2.

The only price yardstick to show no change was the tobacco and alcohol index, steady at 117.3.

The index of 30 industrial materials rose to 246.4 from 246.2 between Oct. 27 and Nov. 24. In the same period the price index of Canadian farm products at terminal markets rose to 218.5 from 215.7. Both indexes are based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100.
